It is the first time since World War II that trade with other nations has declined during a period of economic growth.	这是第二次世界大战以来美国与其它国家的贸易首次在经济增长期间出现下降。
Sluggish global economic growth is both a cause and a result of the slowdown. In better times, prosperity increased trade and trade increased prosperity. Now the wheel is turning in the opposite direction. Reduced consumption and investment are dragging on trade, which is slowing growth.	全球经济增长放缓是贸易减少的原因和结果。在经济看好时，繁荣增加贸易，贸易促进繁荣。目前的情况正相反。消费和投资的减少拖累了贸易，继而导致经济增长放缓。

It may be hard, however, to muster public enthusiasm in the United States and other developed nations. The benefits of globalization have accrued disproportionately to the wealthy, while the costs have fallen on displaced workers, and governments have failed to ease their pain.	但是，激发美国和其他发达国家的公众对贸易的热情可能很难。全球化的好处已不成比例地让富人变得更富，全球化的代价却落在了失业的工人身上，政府则未能缓解他们的痛苦。
The Walmart revolution is over. During the 1990s, global trade grew more than twice as fast as the global economy. Europe united. China became a factory town. Tariffs came down. Transportation costs plummeted. It was the Walmart Era.	“沃尔玛革命”结束了。在 20 世纪 90 年代，全球贸易的增长速度是全球经济增长速度的两倍以上。欧洲联合起来了。中国成了世界工厂。关税下降了。运输成本大幅下降了。那曾是沃尔玛时代。
But those changes have played out. Europe is fraying around the edges; low tariffs and transportation costs cannot get much lower. And China’s role in the global economy is changing. The country is making more of what it consumes, and consuming more of what it makes. In addition, China’s maturing industrial sector increasingly makes its own parts. The International Monetary Fund reported last year that the share of	但是，这些变化的后果已经出现。欧洲正在分崩离析；低关税和低运输成本不能再下降多少。中国在全球经济中的作用正在改变。中国正在为国内消费制造更多的东西，也在消费更多本国制造的东西。另外，中国日益成熟的工业也在越来越多地生产自己的零部件。国际货币基金组织（简称 IMF）在去年的这份报告中说，“中国制造”的产品中使用的进口零部件份额已从 1990 年代的 60% 下降到 35%。

Hanjin, like other big shipping companies, bet that global trade would continue to expand rapidly. In 2009, the world’s cargo lines had enough room to carry 12.1 million of the standardized shipping containers that have played a crucial, if quiet, role in the rise of global trade. By last year, they had room for 19.9 million – much of it unneeded.	与其他大型海运公司一样，韩进把赌注下在全球贸易将继续快速增长上。2009 年，世界上的货运公司有运送 1210 万件标准集装箱的充足能力，这些集装箱在全球贸易增长上起了至关重要的作用，虽然人们很少知道这点。截至去年，这些货运公司有运送 1990 万件集装箱的能力，但很大一部分都用不上。
India is not China redux. Most trade flows among developed nations. The McKinsey Global Institute calculates that 15 countries account for roughly 63 percent of the global traffic in goods and services, and for an even larger share of financial investment.	印度不是中国再现。大多数贸易是在发达国家之间进行的。据麦肯锡全球研究所计算，15 个国家占全球货物和服务贸易的 63%，它们在全球金融投资上占的份额更大。
China joined this club the old-fashioned way: It used factories to build a middle class. But the automation of factory work is making it harder for other nations to follow. Dani Rodrik, a Harvard economist, calculates that manufacturing employment in India and other developing nations has already peaked, a phenomenon he calls premature deindustrialization.	中国用老式的方法加入了这个俱乐部：中国用工厂养起来一个中产阶级。但是，制造业的自动化让其他国家走这条路变得更难。哈佛大学经济学家丹尼·罗德里克(Dani Rodrik)的计算表示，印度和其他发展中国家的制造业就业已经达到了顶峰，他称这种现象为“过早去工业化”。
The weakness of the global economy is exacerbating the trend. Infrastructure investment by multinational corporations declined for the third straight year in 2015, according to the United Nations. It predicts a further decline this year. But even if growth rebounds, automation reduces the incentives to invest in the low-labor-cost	全球经济的疲软正在加剧这个趋势。据联合国的数据，跨国公司的基础设施投资在 2015 年连续第三年下降。联合国预计这种投资今年将进一步下降。但是，即使经济增长反弹，自动化也降低了对低劳动力成本的发展中国家进行投资的动力，从而减少这种投资为发展中国家居民带来的好处。

developing world, and it reduces the benefits of such investments for the residents of developing countries.
The political reaction is global, too. The economist Branko Milanovic published a chart in 2012 that is sometimes called the elephant chart, because there is a certain resemblance. It shows real incomes rose significantly for most of the world's population between 1988 and 2008, but not for most residents of the United States and other developed countries.	政治的反弹也是全球性的。经济学家布兰科·米拉诺维奇(Branko Milanovic)曾在 2012 年发表过一条曲线, 该曲线有时被称为“大象曲线”, 因为两者有一定的相似性。该曲线显示, 在 1988 年至 2008 年期间, 世界上大多数人口的实际收入大幅上升, 但美国和其他发达国家的大多数居民的收入没有上升。
The chart is often presented as a depiction of the consequences of globalization. The reality is more complicated, but perception is undeniable. Voters in developed nations increasingly view themselves as the victims of trade with the developing world – and a backlash is brewing.	这条曲线常被作为全球化后果的刻画。虽然现实更复杂, 但这种看法不可否认。发达国家的选民们越来越认为自己是本国与发展中国家贸易的受害者, 一种政治反弹正在形成。
Donald J. Trump's presidential campaign is an obvious manifestation, as is Hillary Clinton's backing off from her support of the Trans-Pacific Partnership trade deal. A study published in April found that voters in congressional districts hit hardest by job losses are more likely to reject moderate candidates, turning instead to candidates who take more extreme positions.	唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Economic stagnation is turning European voters against trade, too.	经济停滞也让欧洲选民对贸易持反对态度。
Professor Rodrik said that proponents of free trade were guilty of overstating the benefits and understating the costs. Asian Markets Dive as Trump Shows Strength in Swing States	美大选选情牵动世界经济，亚洲股市大跌
Markets in Asia were trading lower on Wednesday morning, as investors reacted to early results and predictions for the United States elections, which showed gains for Donald J. Trump in crucial states.	周三，美国大选初步结果及预测信息显示，唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)在一些关键州颇有斩获，投资者对此作出反应，亚州市场应声下挫。
Stocks in Tokyo, Hong Kong and other major markets were down by more than 1 percent as of midmorning, after shares in Tokyo initially opened higher.	尽管东京股市高开，但截至上午十点左右，东京、香港等主要市场的股价均下挫超过1%。
In some cases, early trading seesawed, tracking live election returns for battleground states like Florida.	早盘有时随着佛罗里达州等关键州实时选情的变化而出现相应波动。
"We've seen reactions to swings back and forth from Hillary to Donald," Stephen Innes, a senior currency trader at Oanda in Singapore, said in a phone interview, referring to the nominees, Hillary Clinton and Mr. Trump. The Japanese yen and Mexican peso in particular were weakening significantly in Asian trading, he said, whenever live election results from Florida showed gains for Mr. Trump, the Republican nominee.	"我们已经看到了市场在希拉里和唐纳德你追我赶之际作出的反应，"万达(Oanda)驻新加坡资深外汇交易员斯蒂芬·英尼斯(Stephen Innes)接受电话采访时说，他提到的是希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)和唐纳德·特朗普这两位候选人。他说，每当佛罗里达州的实时选情显示共和党候选人特朗普领先的时候，在亚洲市场的交易中，日元和墨西哥比索会尤其呈现出明显的疲弱态势。
However, Mr. Innes added that overall volumes were light, suggesting that many investors were taking a wait-and-see approach until results became clearer.	不过，英尼斯还表示，交易总量很小，这意味着许多投资者采取的是观望策略，会等到选情明朗再做定夺。
Traders "aren't taking on an ultimate amount of risk at the moment and are waiting for the dust to actually settle," he said. "The lack of liquidity is amplifying these moves."	交易员们"眼下不愿冒太大风险，正等待尘埃落定，"他说。"流动性的缺乏正让这些颠簸得到强化。"

The mixed reaction in early trading on Wednesday followed a spell when investors around the world appeared to have been on edge over the United States election.	在世界各地的投资者似乎全都紧张不安地等待美国大选结果出炉之际，周三早盘中的复杂反应遵循了一个魔咒。

BEIJING — Weijian Shan, chief executive of the Hong Kong fund management firm PAG, says the global economy is dangerous for investors these days. Years of easy money from central banks have helped inflate the prices of just about everything an investor can buy, like stocks or property.	北京——香港基金管理公司太盟投资集团(PAG)首席执行官单伟建说，全球经济状况目前对投资者来说有危险。中央银行多年来的宽松货币政策，帮助增长了投资者能够购买的像股票或物业等几乎所有东西的价格。
"I think that clearly we are in an asset bubble," Mr. Shan said in a phone interview from Hong Kong.	“我认为，我们明显地处于一个资产泡沫之中，”单伟建在香港接受电话采访时说。
So what should investors do? Mr. Shan recommended a return to the basics. His firm, with $16 billion under management in funds that specialize in fields like private equity and real estate, is looking for value in areas still growing in a sluggish world economy.	那投资者该怎么办呢？单伟建的建议是回到基础上去。他的公司管理着 160 亿美元的基金，擅长于私募股权和房地产等专业领域，在世界经济低迷的情况下，公司在仍有增长的领域寻求价值。
"We are not chasing bubbles as many of our peers do," said Mr. Shan, a former professor at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. "I only want to look at the fundamentals. I	单伟建曾在位于费城的宾夕法尼亚大学沃顿商学院担任教授，他说：“我们不像许多同行那样在追踪泡沫。我只想看看基础的东西。我想知道这家公司赚多少钱。” want to know how much money this business makes.”

In that, Mr. Shan is positioned well. PAG focuses mainly on investments in or related to Asia, where the fortunes of China, India and other countries remain buoyant even as the global economy sags.	在这点上，单伟建已经准备好了。太盟投资集团主要关注在亚洲或与亚洲相关的投资，尽管全球经济下滑，但亚洲的中国、印度和其他国家的发展趋势仍然保持旺盛。
“If you look around the world, Asia is where the growth is,” he said.	“如果你环顾一下世界，（你会看到）亚洲是增长的地方，”他说。
Mr. Shan said that China, where he was born, “is the most interesting market because of its growth.”	单伟建出生在中国，他说中国“是最有意思的市场，因为它仍在增长”。
But that growth has declined. In the third quarter, China’s gross domestic product rose 6.7 percent, in contrast with the 9 percent to 10 percent the country enjoyed for years. The downturn has intensified the struggles of what Mr. Shan called China’s “bad economy” — mainly manufacturing and heavy industries, which have too many factories and too much debt.	但这种增长的速度已经有所下降。中国第三季度的国内生产总值增长了6.7%，与多年来9%到10%的增长率有明显差异。经济增长放缓加剧了单伟建称之为中国的“坏经济”的困境，这主要是指产能过剩、债务沉重的制造业和重工业。
Mr. Shan, however, also sees a “good economy” in China. As the government tries to shift the country’s engine of growth away from investing in steel mills and apartment blocks, it is encouraging more private consumption. That is opening opportunities in areas that cater to Chinese consumers.	但随着政府试图将中国的增长动力从投资钢铁厂和公寓楼转向鼓励更多的私人消费，单伟建也在中国看到一个“好经济”。这种经济给迎合中国消费者的行业带来了机会。
“China has a split personality at this moment,” Mr. Shan said. But “the good economy remains quite resilient in spite of the bad economy.”	“中国经济此刻具有双重性，”单伟建说。“虽然坏经济仍然存在，但好经济保持着相当的适应力。”
Mr. Shan, who once served as a senior partner at the investment firm TPG, is focusing his money on companies that can benefit from China’s rising consumerism. In October, PAG’s private-equity arm invested an undisclosed amount in the Paradise Group, based in Singapore, which operates restaurants across China and Southeast Asia.	单伟建曾在美国投资公司德克萨斯州太平洋投资集团(TPG)担任资深合伙人，他正把投资的重点集中到能够从中国不断增长的消费中受益的公司上来。今年10月，PAG的私募股权部门对新加坡的乐天餐饮集团(Paradise Group)投了一笔未披露的资金，该集团在中国和东南亚经营饭馆。

In August, it spent about $250 million to acquire Golden Apple, which runs a chain of private schools from Chengdu, China's western metropolis.	今年8月，公司花了约2.5亿美元收购了金苹果，这家机构在中国西部大都市成都经营私立连锁学校。
In its most prominent deal, PAG in April joined Apex Technology, a Chinese producer of ink cartridge components, and others in the acquisition of the printer maker Lexmark International, based in Kentucky, a transaction valued at $3.6 billion. The deal was appealing to PAG, in part because the new owners hope to raise the profile of Lexmark printers in the Chinese marketplace.	PAG最重要的一笔交易发生在今年4月，公司与中国墨盒组件生产商珠海艾派克科技(Apex Technology)及其他公司一起，收购了总部设在肯塔基州的打印机制造商利盟国际(Lexmark International)，这笔交易的估价为36亿美元。这笔交易对PAG有吸引力，部分原因是公司的新股东希望提高利盟打印机在中国市场的地位。
Mr. Shan also wants to take advantage of some of Asia's bad economy. With debt levels continuing to rise in China, PAG is developing a strategy for buying and profiting from bad loans at Chinese banks. He also says his firm has generated good returns from buying distressed debt backed by real estate in the region. PAG, which has 30 percent of its capital in real estate, is still sniffing around for reasonably priced property as well.	单伟建也想利用亚洲坏经济的一些方面。随着中国债务水平持续上升，PAG正在制定一个从中国的银行购买不良贷款并从中获利的策略。他还表示，他的公司通过购买由该地区的房地产作抵押的不良债务已经获得了良好的回报。PAG资产的30%在房地产，公司仍然在寻找价格合理的物业。
"We invest in real estate where the price is not out of whack," he said.	"我们在价格不出格的地方投资房地产，"单伟建说。
"It is in times like this that you really can differentiate among investors who will be more focused on fundamentals," he said, "who invests along with the rest of the bandwagon."	他说，"在这样的時候，你才能真正能把那些將更專注於基本面的投資者與其他那些搭便車的投資者區別開來。"

JPMorgan Chase to Pay $264 Million to Settle Foreign Bribery Case	雇用中国权贵子女，摩根大通在海外反腐案中认罪
Vying for lucrative deals in China, JPMorgan Chase deployed all the usual wining-and-dining tactics that big banks use to woo clients.	为了在中国获得利润丰厚的交易，摩根大通(JPMorgan Chase)采取了大银行常常用来吸引客户的各种餐饮招待策略。联邦当局现在说，摩根大通还有

JPMorgan, federal authorities now say, also had ways of sweetening the deal that crossed a legal line.	办法把跨越法律界限的交易洗白。
Federal prosecutors and regulators announced on Thursday a settlement of roughly $264 million with the bank and its Hong Kong subsidiary, accusing them of a vast foreign bribery scheme that may have spread to a number of Wall Street banks.	本周四，联邦检察官和监管机构宣布与该银行及其香港子公司达成约 2.64 亿美元的和解协议，他们指控摩根大通在境外大量行贿，而且可能波及华尔街的其他银行。
The case centered on JPMorgan's hiring practices in China, where it hired the children of Chinese leaders to win business in the fast-growing nation. Some of the well-connected candidates were unqualified, the authorities said, and often "performed ancillary work" — telltale signs of hidden bribery.	该案集中在摩根大通在中国的招聘工作上，该银行聘用了中国领导者的子女在这个快速增长的国家赢得业务。当局说，一些有着优越社会关系的候选人其实并不合格，而且经常“执行辅助工作”——显示了暗中进行贿赂的迹象。
The case could lay the groundwork for the authorities to pursue penalties against other big banks as well. Banks including HSBC, Goldman Sachs and Deutsche Bank have hinted that they face investigations into their hiring practices in China as part of a larger sweep by the agency that began in 2013	该案可为当局对其他大银行进行惩罚打下了基础。包括汇丰银行(HSBC)、高盛(Goldman Sachs)和德意志银行(Deutsche Bank)等银行暗示，他们在中国的招聘活动正在面临调查，这是从 2013 年开始的一个大清查行动的组成部分。
"We do not expect this to be the last action resulting from that sweep," Andrew J. Ceresney, the head of enforcement at the Securities and Exchange Commission, told reporters on Thursday.	"我们并不认为这是此次大清查的最后一个行动。"证券交易委员会执行主管安德鲁·J·塞雷斯尼(Andrew J. Ceresney)本周四对记者说。
It is unclear what will happen to the investigation under the president-elect, Donald J. Trump. Mr. Ceresney and other officials who led the investigation are expected to leave the government in the coming weeks.	在当选总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)治下，这宗调查会怎样发展目前尚不清楚。塞雷斯尼和其他领导调查的官员预计将在未来数周内离开政府岗位。
In the investigation of JPMorgan, it was not immediately apparent whether the bank would be accused of carrying out a quid pro quo	在对摩根大通的调查中，该银行是否会被指控进行了利益交换安排现在还看不出来，那是摩根大通是否违反了美国颁布的外国贿赂法的核心问题。

arrangement, an issue at the heart of whether JPMorgan violated United States law governing foreign bribery.
The bank argued that the hiring of well-connected employees was routine in China, and that its own hires fell into a gray area of foreign bribery laws.	该银行认为，在中国雇用有良好人脉的员工是种惯常做法，是自己的招聘做法陷入了外国贿赂法的一个灰色地带。
But the prosecutors and regulators say that as JPMorgan hired more and more candidates based on referrals from Chinese leaders, senior bankers in several instances explicitly tied those jobs or internships to securing deals with Chinese government-run companies.	但检察官和监管机构表示，摩根大通聘用了越来越多的由中国领导者推荐的求职者，在几个案例中，高级银行主管明确地将那些工作或实习岗位与和中国政府运营的公司达成交易联系起来。
To be hired, a referred candidate had to have, in the bank's own words, a "directly attributable linkage to business opportunity," a scheme that enabled the company to win or retain business resulting in more than $100 million in revenue for the bank or its affiliates, prosecutors and regulators said.	用摩根大通自己的话来说，推荐来的求职者要想被聘用，就必须拥有“与商业机会的直接联系”，检察官和监管机构表示，该公司通过这种做法来赢得或保住业务，为它及其附属机构带来超过1亿美元的营收。
"The common refrain that this is simply how business is done overseas is no defense," said Robert L. Capers, the United States attorney in Brooklyn, whose office helped lead the criminal investigation into the bank. "This is no longer business as usual; it is corruption."	“人们通常认为这只是在海外开展业务时的做法，但这不能成为为它辩护的理由。这不再是正常的做生意，这是腐败。”布鲁克林的联邦检察官罗伯特·卡佩斯（Robert L. Capers）说。他的办公室参与领导了对该银行进行的刑事调查。
Still, the authorities acknowledged that JPMorgan cooperated extensively with the investigation and they lowered the penalty accordingly. The bank, the authorities stated, also disciplined nearly two dozen employees and "took significant employment action" that led to the departure of six employees who participated in the misconduct.	不过，当局承认摩根大通对这项调查非常配合，因此他们相应地减轻了处罚。当局称，这家银行对20多名员工进行了处罚，并“做出了重大的人事决策”，后者可能会导致6名参与不端行为的员工离职。

unacceptable.”
“We stopped the hiring program in 2013 and took action against the individuals involved,” Mr. Marchiony added. “We have also made improvements to our hiring procedures and reinforced the high standards of conduct expected of our people.”	“我们在 2013 年停止了招聘项目，对参与的个人采取了行动，”马尔基奥尼还表示。“我们也在改进自己的招聘流程，加强了对员工行为的高标准要求。”
When the China hiring investigation first came to light in a front-page article in The New York Times three years ago, it topped a growing list of regulatory problems at the bank. In addition to the $6 billion so-called London whale trading scandal, the bank reached a $13 billion settlement with the Justice Department over its sale of mortgage securities in the lead up to the 2008 financial crisis. The settlement in the China hiring case puts to rest one of JPMorgan’s last big regulatory headaches.	中国招聘调查于三年前在《纽约时报》的一篇头版文章中首次曝光，之后便成为这家银行不断增长的监管麻烦中的首要问题。除了价值 60 亿的所谓“伦敦鲸”交易丑闻，这家银行还与美国司法部(Justice Department)就它导致 2008 年金融危机的抵押贷款证券销售问题达成了 130 亿美元的协议。就中国雇佣案达成的这项和解协议，解决了摩根大通仅剩的几个令人头疼的重要监管麻烦之一。
The United States attorney’s office in Brooklyn and the Justice Department’s criminal division in Washington imposed a $72 million penalty on the bank but did not charge any of the bankers who doled out the jobs, though the investigation is ongoing.	美国布鲁克林检察官办公室和司法部在华盛顿的刑事分支机构对摩根大通处以 7200 万美元的罚款，但没有对任何一个提供工作机会的银行高层提出指控，不过调查仍在进行中。
The bank itself also secured a moral victory by avoiding criminal charges, and instead negotiated a rare nonprosecution agreement.	通过达成一个罕见的不起诉的协议，免遭刑事指控，摩根大通也获得了精神上的胜利。
The S.E.C. will assess the largest punishment, about $130 million of the overall $264 million settlement, while the Fed will impose a roughly $62 million penalty.	美国证券交易委员会(SEC)的罚款占最大头，即整个 2.64 亿美元和解协议中的 1.3 亿美元。与此同时，联邦当局也将对它处以大约 6200 万美元的罚款。
JPMorgan competed with other big global banks to secure lucrative assignments in China as state-controlled companies were selecting banks to help them go public. And at one point, some JPMorgan	摩根大通与其他全球性大银行展开竞争，以便在中国国有企业选择投行帮它们上市时，获得利润丰厚的业务。在某个时刻，一些摩根大通银行高管层得出结论，觉得他们需要增加招聘，以便更好地与对手竞争。 bankers concluded that they needed to escalate their hiring to better compete with their rivals.

"We lost a deal to DB today because they got chairman's daughter work for them this summer," one JPMorgan investment banking executive remarked to colleagues, using the initials for Deutsche Bank.	"今天我们有一桩生意输给了 DB, 因为他们今年夏天聘用了董事会主席的女儿," 一名摩根大通投资银行业务高管曾这样对同事讲。这里的 DB 是德意志银行的缩写。
Another JPMorgan managing director in Asia wrote that bank needed to ramp up its client referral program, adding that people thought the other banks "are doing a much better job." It was later decided that referrals by so-called decision makers – Chinese clients who had the ability to influence a deal – would receive priority.	摩根大通在亚洲的另一位常务董事曾写道, 这家银行需要加强自己的客户推荐项目, 还表示人们觉得其他银行"在这方面做的要好得多"。之后公司决定, 对于来自决策者(有能力对一桩交易产生影响的中国客户)的推荐会给予优先考量。
JPMorgan's hiring effort, known within the bank as the Sons and Daughters program, began a decade ago. Initially, the program sought to prevent violations of the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the law that underpins the case against JPMorgan and essentially bans United States companies from giving "anything of value" to a foreign official to win "an improper advantage" in retaining business.	摩根大通在十年前开启了这个招聘项目, 它在银行内部被称为子女项目。最初, 这个项目曾试图避免违反《反海外腐败法》(Foreign Corrupt Practices Act)。这项使摩根大通案件得以成立的法律, 根本上禁止美国公司为了"维持业务"赢得"不当优势", 给外国官员提供"任何有价值的东西"。
But as the bank faced increased competition, and it expanded the program in 2009, senior JPMorgan bankers "institutionalized" the hiring, federal authorities say.	但联邦当局表示, 随着这家银行面临更激烈的竞争, 它在 2009 年扩大了这一项目, 摩根大通银行高层开始将这类招聘"制度化"。
They explicitly tied those jobs or internships to securing deals with Chinese government-run companies, the prosecutors and regulators say, using them as "a tool to influence senior officials."	检方及监管机构表示, 他们明确将这些职位或实习机会与和中国政府的企业达成协议之间联系起来, 把它们当作"影响高层官员的工具"。
"The so-called Sons and Daughters program was nothing more than bribery by another name," Leslie R. Caldwell, the head of the Justice Department's criminal division, said in a statement.	"这所谓的子女项目只不过是另一种形式的行贿," 司法部刑事部门负责人莱斯莉·R·考德威尔(Leslie R. Caldwell)在一份声明中表示。

Over a seven-year period, JPMorgan hired about 200 interns and full-time employees at the request of clients, potential clients and foreign government officials, authorities say. Around half of these candidates were referred by government officials at Chinese state-owned companies and government agencies. JPMorgan's executives in Asia then used their connections with these government agencies to help the company and clients navigate tangled regulatory landscapes.	当局表示，在过去的七年里，摩根大通应客户、潜在客户和外国政府官员的要求，先后雇佣了大约 200 名实习生和全职员工。在这些候选人中，有大约一半是由在中国国有企业和政府机构的官员所推荐。摩根大通在亚洲的高管便利用他们与这些政府机构的关系，帮助公司和客户顺利通过复杂的监管程序。

LIMA, Peru — A toxic political war over money, jobs and globalization killed the vast and complex trade deal that was supposed to be a signature legacy of President Obama. But the deal, between the United States and 11 Asian and Pacific nations, was never just about trade.	秘鲁利马——一场关于金钱、就业和全球化的毒性政治战争扼杀了一项庞大且复杂的贸易协议，而这个协议原本是奥巴马总统的标志性政治遗产。但是，美国与 11 个亚太国家之间的这项协议从来就不只关乎贸易。
The agreement, the Trans-Pacific Partnership, was conceived as a vital move in the increasingly tense chess match between China and the United States for economic and military influence in the fastest-growing and most strategically uncertain part of the world. Mr. Obama, in comments just before meeting his counterparts, who laboriously negotiated the pact, made no reference to its near certain burial.	这些国家的领导人为达成协议进行了艰难地谈判，在即将与他们见面前，奥巴马的发言只字未提协议即将面临的必然失败。
"This is always a useful occasion for us to get together and examine how we can make sure that we're creating more jobs, more opportunity and greater prosperity for all of our countries," Mr. Obama said. "So it's wonderful to see all of you again, and I look forward to a constructive discussion."	"对我们来说，聚在一起的场合总是颇为有益，让我们可以共同探讨如何确保为我们所有的国家创造更多就业、更多机会，以及使国家更加繁荣，"奥巴马说。"所以很高兴再次见到你们，我期待着与你们进行建设性的讨论。"

For the United States, such trade ties have geopolitical undertones.	对于美国来说，这种贸易关系具有地缘政治色彩。
Much of Asia has for decades quietly accepted American security guarantees while also running large trade surpluses with the United States, turning them into prosperous manufacturing powerhouses. But China is now the largest trading partner for most of the region, while at the same time making territorial claims against many of its neighbors.	几十年来，亚洲的大多数国家在默默地接受美国安全保障的同时与美国产生着巨大的贸易顺差，使它们成为繁荣的制造业大国。但中国现在是亚洲大部分地区的最大贸易伙伴，同时却与许多邻国有针锋相对的领土主权要求。
The neighbors fear they could soon face a stark choice among money, pride and place: Accede to China's security demands, or lose access to China's vast market.	中国的邻国担心，它们很快会面临金钱、国家自豪感和领土方面的严峻选择：要么同意中国的国家安全要求，要么失去广阔的中国市场。

When it comes to Asia, the shift in American policy is likely to be among the most pronounced in the new administration.	美国就亚洲的相关政策的转变可能是下届政府中最为显著的。
Born in Hawaii, in the middle of the Pacific Ocean, and raised partly in Indonesia, Mr. Obama has, since his earliest days as president, pushed Asia as his nation's best opportunity for growth. Other than efforts to end two wars begun by his predecessor, Mr. Obama's principal foreign	奥巴马出生在太平洋中部的夏威夷，并在印度尼西亚生活了一段时期，他从最早担任总统以来，就把亚洲作为美国经济增长的最好机会。除了努力结束自己的前任发起的两场战争之外，奥巴马的主要外交政策目标是，将美国的注意力和军事资源，从日渐衰老的欧洲以及与俄罗斯的无益竞争上，转向快

policy goal was to shift the nation's attention and military resources away from an aging Europe and an unproductive rivalry with Russia and toward the fast-growing Asia-Pacific region.	速增长的亚太地区。
It is a goal he partly shared with President George W. Bush, whose administration began the negotiations for the Trans-Pacific Partnership. Mr. Bush, too, saw the pact as a bulwark against China's rising strategic ambitions.	在这个目标上，他与乔治·W·布什总统部分地一致，跨太平洋伙伴关系的谈判始于布什政府。布什也将 TPP 看作是对抗中国不断增长的战略野心的堡垒。
Mr. Obama has spent much of the last 10 days putting a brave face on the crushing blow that Mr. Trump's surprising electoral victory represented to his legacy.	在过去 10 天的大部分时间里，面对特朗普令人惊讶的大选胜利对自己政治遗产的巨大打击，奥巴马一直摆出一幅勇敢面对的样子。
Hours after the results became clear, he told the country and his own weeping staff that "we're all actually on one team." On Monday, he suggested Republicans would find replacing his health care law difficult. And in visits on Tuesday and Thursday to Greece and Germany, he told panicked Europeans that Mr. Trump would preserve the NATO alliance.	在大选结果变得明晰的几小时后，奥巴马对美国以及自己的流着泪的工作人员说，“我们其实都在同一个团队。”他在上周一暗示，共和党人会发现，取代他的医疗保健法不那么容易。在周二访问希腊和周四访问德国时，他告诉人心惶惶的欧洲人，特朗普将保留北约联盟。
But the meetings this weekend, at the Asia-Pacific trade summit, will very likely have a more funereal feel.	但是，这个周末在亚太贸易峰会上的见面很可能会给人带来更多的伤感。
More than on any other issue, Mr. Obama and Mr. Trump have diametrically opposing views on Asian trade. And Mr. Trump has won. Even White House aides have admitted to their boss's bitter defeat.	在亚洲贸易上的问题，奥巴马和特朗普的观点比其他问题上更为截然相反。结果是特朗普赢了。就连白宫助手们也已承认了他们上司的惨败。

Just three days before Mr. Obama's arrival here, Peru's foreign minister, Eduardo Ferreyros, said the country still hoped the Pacific pact would someday become a reality. But given the changing dynamics, his government also opened talks this autumn with Beijing to join the rival, Chinese-led trade pact, the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership.	在奥巴马到达这里的三天前，秘鲁外长爱德华多·费雷罗斯(Eduardo Ferreyros)说，该国仍希望跨太平洋伙伴关系有朝一日会成为现实。但鉴于事态的变化，他的政府也在今年秋天开始，与北京展开就加入“区域全面经济伙伴关系”的谈判，这个以中国为首的贸易协定是跨太平洋伙伴关系的竞争对手。
"Since Mr. Trump is not so interested in requiring economic integration and trade liberalization, why not have other countries follow this free-trade proposal?" asked Song Guoyou, a longtime trade specialist who is the deputy director of the Center for American Studies at Fudan University in Shanghai.	"既然特朗普先生对经济一体化的要求和贸易自由化不感兴趣，为什么不让更多国家跟进这一自由贸易的建议呢?"长期研究贸易的专家宋国友说，他是上海复旦大学美国研究中心的副主任。
Since the election, Australia's government has also called for rapid progress in concluding that rival trade pact. Even Japan, despite facing territorial demands from China and close, but peaceful, confrontations between the two countries' military jets and coast guard vessels, is paying more attention to China's vision for global trade.	自美国大选以来，澳大利亚政府也已呼吁在缔结“区域全面经济伙伴关系”的贸易协定上取得迅速进展。就连日本也在更多地关注中国对全球贸易的愿景，尽管日本面临着中国的领土要求，而且中日两国的军用飞机和海岸警卫队之间不时发生没有武力的冲突。
Australia and Japan have been bargaining for years with China on the deal. But they wanted it as a complement to the Trans-Pacific Partnership, to balance their economic relationship with the United States instead of replacing it with ties to China.	澳大利亚和日本多年来一直在与中国进行谈判。但他们曾希望把双边关系作为对跨太平洋伙伴关系的补充，作为他们与美国经济关系的平衡，而不是用它们与中国的关系取代与美国的关系。

Showdown Looms as U.S. Questions Chinese Deal for Aixtron	中资收购德企，为何奥巴马说了算
HONG KONG — A Chinese company is setting up a rare and potentially tone-setting showdown with the American government over its deal to buy a high-tech firm that the United States says could impact national security.	香港——一家中国公司希望收购一家海外高科技公司，美国声称该交易可能会影响其国家安全，这家中国公司目前打算与美国政府进行最后的较量，此举不仅罕见，而且可能会为今后定调。
The showdown involves Aixtron, a German semiconductor firm being acquired by a Chinese company, Fujian Grand Chip. In a statement on	这个较量涉及中国公司福建宏芯基金对德国半导体公司爱思强(Aixtron)的收购。爱思强在上周五的声明中说，美国一个向白宫提供海外交易建议的安

Friday, Aixtron said an American security panel that advises the White House on foreign deals had recommended the two sides drop their plan, citing unspecified national security concerns.	全小组表示，出于国家安全考虑，建议双方放弃计划，但未指明具体原因。
Normally, a recommendation like that would be enough to persuade the companies to scotch their plans. But in its statement, Aixtron said it and its Chinese suitor would do something unusual: They would appeal to President Barack Obama directly to approve the deal.	通常，像这样的建议就足以说服公司放弃计划。但爱思强发表声明说，它和福建宏芯基金将采取非同寻常的举动：他们将呼吁奥巴马总统直接批准这宗交易。
Chinese and German companies “plan to continue to actively engage in further discussions to explore means of mitigation that may be amenable” to the White House and the American security panel, according to the Aixtron statement.	根据爱思强的声明，该公司和福建宏芯基金“计划继续积极进行进一步的讨论，探讨可以缓解”白宫和美国安全小组的“担忧的措施”。
Mr. Obama has 15 days to decide the fate of the deal, though most likely Mr. Obama will scupper it given presidents usually follow the recommendations of the panel. If the deal is struck down, it would send the message that the United States will continue to carefully scrutinize similar deals – and may act quickly to kill them for national security reasons.	奥巴马有 15 天时间来决定这宗交易的命运，不过奥巴马很可能会否决它，因为总统通常会遵循专家小组的建议。如果交易被阻止，就会传达出这样的讯息：美国将继续仔细审查类似的交易——并有可能出于国家安全方面的原因，迅速采取行动来阻止交易。
The unusual move is sure to spotlight the growing tensions between the United States and China over the latter country’s ambitions to become a power in microchips. While China has made major advancements in technology and computers in recent years, its chip industry is in its infancy, and it still relies on foreign companies for the chips that power even sensitive systems.	这种不寻常的举动肯定会突显中美之间因为中国希望成为微芯片强国而日益紧张的关系。虽然中国近年来在技术和计算机方面取得了重大进展，但其芯片业仍处于起步阶段，甚至是很敏感的系统，也仍然要靠外国公司来提供芯片。
The move will also shine a light on the shadowy security panel that recommended the deal be dropped. The panel – called the Committee	建议放弃该交易的安全小组鲜为人知，它也因此举而曝光。该小组名为美国外国投资委员会(Committee on Foreign Investment in the United

on Foreign Investment in the United States, and commonly known as Cfius — has been increasingly at odds with an expansive new Chinese effort to spend billions acquiring foreign high-tech companies.	States), 通常简称为 Cfius。随着中国花费数以十亿的资金收购外国高科技公司, Cfius 与其产生的矛盾也越来越多。
The panel is composed of representatives from major departments and intelligence agencies like Commerce and Justice and the Central Intelligence Agency. Cfius has the power to review any deal that could impact American national security, and either come up with ways to mitigate that impact or recommend the president block the deal. While the Aixtron deal does not involve an American company, Aixtron itself does considerable business in the United States, and lack of American approval would shut that business off.	该小组由主要政府部门和情报机构的代表组成, 比如商务部、司法部和中央情报局。Cfius 有权审查任何可能影响到美国国家安全的交易, 并且提出减轻这种影响的方法, 或是建议总统阻止交易。虽然爱思强的交易不涉及美国公司, 但爱思强本身在美国有相当广泛的业务, 如果美国不批准, 它就会失去这个市场。
Beijing has highlighted its intentions of catching up to the rest of the world in semiconductors. It has spent hugely to help fund efforts by private Chinese companies and state-run national champions to acquire foreign firms that make microchips, the brains of everything from supercomputers to smartphones to guided missiles.	北京极力想在半导体领域赶上世界其他地区。他们花费巨额资金, 资助私企和国企收购制造微芯片的外国公司。从超级计算机、智能手机到导弹, 微芯片是所有这些东西的大脑。
But Cfius reviews or concerns about them have derailed a number of proposed Chinese acquisitions of chip makers around the world. Earlier this year a group of Chinese investors abandoned plans to spend $2.9 billion on a majority stake in a business owned by Philips of the Netherlands after Cfius noted the business specialized in a material key to making semiconductors.	但 Cfius 的意见或关注已经挫败了中国在全球各地并购芯片制造商一些努力。今年早些时候, 中国投资者斥资 29 亿美元, 收购荷兰飞利浦下属一家企业多数股权的计划被迫终止, 因为 Cfius 注意到, 该企业经营着半导体材料领域的一项关键材料。
In the case of Aixtron, the companies are asking Mr. Obama to decide directly — a move that has been made only twice before. In 1990 President George H.W. Bush canceled the sale of an aviation company	在爱思强收购案中, 两家公司要求奥巴马直接做出决定——这种情况只有两次先例。一次是 1990 年乔治·H·W·布什(George H.W. Bush)总统取消了将一家航空公司出售给中国投标人的交易。另一起是 2012 年, 奥巴马总统迫使

to Chinese bidders. In 2012 President Obama forced a Chinese firm to divest from a wind project deemed too close to a Navy facility in Oregon.	一家中国公司放弃一个风电项目，因为认为该项目离俄勒冈海军设施太近。
The continuing Aixtron saga is a study in how difficult it can be to track which Chinese investments are private and which are state led.	一波三折的爱思强收购案，是一个很难追踪哪些中国投资来自私人企业、哪些是由国家主导的好案例。
In October, The New York Times highlighted how a Chinese customer that dropped a large order – in turn crashing Aixtron’s shares – had a relationship with the acquirer, Fujian Grand Chip, through government investment funds. The connection doesn’t indicate wrongdoing, but does illustrate the blurred lines between Chinese industrial policy and the constellation of privately owned but state-supported companies that have been tasked with acquiring new Chinese technological capabilities.	《纽约时报》10月曾报道过，一家中国客户取消了大量订单，导致爱思强股价暴跌，而这个客户与爱思强的收购方福建宏芯基金都有政府的投资基金在里面。这种联系并不意味着存在不法行为，但也确实表明中国产业政策和一些私企之间的界限很模糊，这些私企背后有政府支持，任务之一就是收购外企，为中国扩张技术能力。
In a surprise move last month, German authorities withdrew approval for the takeover without specifying a reason.	德国当局上个月意外撤回了发放给这起收购案的许可，但没有说明理由。
Because Cfius decisions are considered confidential, the regulator did not say what concerns it had with the acquisition. One possibility is Aixtron’s leading position making technology that creates chips based on an advanced semiconductor material called gallium nitride.	因为 Cfius 的决定被认为是保密的，该监管机构没有透露这起并购案令其不安的原因。一种可能性是爱思强拥有领先的制造工艺，可以用先进的半导体材料氮化镓来制造芯片。
The technology has been used in tech as mundane as Blu-ray Disc players, but its resistance to heat and radiation give it a number of military and space applications. Chips based on the technology are used in radar for antiballistic missiles and in an Air Force radar system, called Space Fence, that is used to track space debris. Cfius’s recommendation against the Philips deal earlier this year stemmed in	一些公司用这种技术来制造蓝光播放器这样的普通产品，但其耐热耐辐射的特性也让它具有多种军事和太空用途。基于该技术的芯片已经搭载在反弹道导弹雷达和用于跟踪空间碎片的“太空藩篱”(Space Fence)空军雷达系统中。Cfius 今年早些时候阻止飞利浦那起交易，部分原因就是因为它涉及氮化镓业务。

Shenzhen Connect Offers Chinese Stocks. Will the World Buy?	“深港通”来了，外国投资者会买账吗？
HONG KONG — Global investors in two weeks will get direct access for the first time to the stock market in the Chinese city of Shenzhen, giving them a chance to bet on a tech-heavy clutch of private companies on an exchange sometimes called China's Nasdaq.	香港——两周后，全球投资者将首次获准直接进入中国深圳的股市。这让他们有机会在一个有时被称作中国的纳斯达克的交易所，对一系列偏重科技的私营企业下注。
But many investors will be skeptical, and the tale of Baofeng Group explains why.	但很多投资者会持怀疑态度，暴风集团的故事则解释了其中的缘由。
A largely unknown tech firm that designs online video players, Baofeng conducted a modest debut on the Shenzhen exchange in March 2015. Over the next three months, its stock rose 4,200 percent.	暴风是一家设计在线视频播放器的科技公司。2015年3月，基本上籍籍无名的暴风在深圳交易所低调上市。在接下来的三个月里，其股票上涨了42倍。
The company went public at the height of China's share market frenzy, as speculative investment in stocks became the national hobby. Vast fortunes were minted — Baofeng's chief executive became a billionaire almost overnight.	该公司上市时，正值中国股市狂潮的巅峰时期，投机股市成了全民爱好。股市创造了大量财富，暴风的首席执行官几乎在一夜之间成了一名亿万富翁。
Then, just as quickly, investors' hopes were dashed. Chinese stocks imploded in June of that year. The government's attempt to stem the losses with trading suspensions, bans on selling and a campaign of state-directed buying only added to the concerns of private investors.	然后，投资者的希望落空的速度也同样快。同年6月，中国股市崩盘。政府试图通过暂停交易、禁止卖出和国家指导的买入来止损，却只是增加了私人投资者的担忧。
Many fled the market and still remain on the sidelines more than a year later. As a result, shares of Baofeng — while up nearly 10 times from the day they began trading — are still down more than half from their year-ago peak.	很多人逃离股市，在一年多以后的今天仍持观望态度。因此，暴风的股票——尽管同开始交易那一天相比涨了近十倍——仍比一年前的最高点跌了一半以上。

"Every stock went down largely," Wang Jing, an investor relations representative at Baofeng, said of the crash in an interview this month. "This has also had a big impact on the company."	"每一只股票都是跌了特别多特别多的，"本月接受采访时，暴风的投资关系代表王静在谈到股市暴跌时说道。"这个对公司的影响也是蛮大的。"
The long-awaited connection between the Shenzhen market and the rest of the world will be open on Dec. 5. The timing was announced Friday by the stock market operator in the nearby city of Hong Kong that will serve as the way point. The move is partly intended to give Baofeng, the rest of the Shenzhen market and Chinese stocks over all a shot in the arm.	期待已久的深圳股市与世界的联通将于12月5日开启。这一时间由与深圳毗邻并将充当中转站的香港股市运营机构在周五宣布。此举部分是为了刺激暴风、深市的其他股票和整个中国股市。
Called the Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect, the venture opens a small door in China's regulatory wall restricting money from moving across its borders. The plan, similar to one in Shanghai, allows investors in Hong Kong — a Chinese city long open to foreign investors — to buy and sell shares in Shenzhen, and vice versa.	名为深港股票市场交易互联互通机制（简称“深港通”——译注）的这一探索，是在中国禁止资金出入国境的监管高墙上开了一个小洞。该计划和上海的一个计划类似，允许长期对外国投资者开放的中国城市香港的投资者买卖深市股票，反之亦然。
The move is the latest test of China's readiness to allow a more open financial system. Despite China's status as the world's second-biggest economy after the United States, the country's financial markets are still comparatively immature.	此举是对中国是否愿意进一步开放金融体系的最新考验。尽管中国是仅次于美国的全球第二大经济体，但其金融市场相比较而言仍不成熟。

China Tightens Controls on Overseas Use of Its Currency	控制资本外逃，中国加强人民币海外交易审查
SHANGHAI — As an exodus of money adds to the pressure on a slowing economy, regulators are trying to put the brakes on overseas use of China’s currency by increasing the scrutiny of certain overseas deals.	上海——资金的大量外逃，给已经放缓的中国经济带来了更大的压力，监管机构正在加强对某些海外交易的审查，以便阻止中国货币在海外的使用。
The decision to restrict overseas use of the renminbi represents a	限制人民币在海外的使用，这个决定意味着中国长期以来推动人民币在全球

setback in China's long-term drive to turn the currency into a rival to the dollar and euro in the global marketplace.	市场上与美元和欧元竞争努力的倒退。
Beijing had pursued a greater role for the renminbi as a way to increase its economic influence. Part of the renminbi's appeal in international finance was that most Chinese companies could borrow and spend it overseas while seldom seeking approval from financial regulators in Beijing.	北京之前希望让人民币发挥更大的作用，以便增强其经济影响力。人民币在国际金融中的一个吸引力在于，大多数中国公司可以在海外借款和消费，不再需要经过中国金融监管机构的批准。
But that leniency created a problem for China. The currency flowed out of the country in recent months and then traded heavily overseas, beyond the control of China's regulators.	但是，这种宽松给中国带来了一个问题。最近几个月，人民币大量流出中国，然后在海外大量进行交易，超出了中国监管机构的控制。
The situation has contributed to the currency's steady weakening against the strong dollar this autumn. That weakness, in turn, has prompted some Chinese businesses and households to move even more money out of the country before its value can erode further.	这种情况推动人民币今年秋天相对于坚挺的美元汇率稳步下跌。人民币走弱反过来又促使一些中国企业和家庭在人民币的币值进一步下降之前，将更多的资金转移至境外。
"The authorities, under the relentless pressures of capital outflows, are poised to impose extensive restrictions on capital movements, marking a reversal of the gradual liberalizations introduced in recent years," Fred Hu, the chairman of the Primavera Capital Group, an investment firm based in Beijing and Hong Kong, wrote in an email reply to questions.	"在资本外流的持续压力下，当局准备对资本流动施加更加广泛的限制，这标志着近年来逐步推进的自由化的逆转"，北京和香港春华资本董事长胡祖六(Fred Hu)在回复提问的电邮中写道。
"While such capital controls may be intended to be temporary," he wrote, "they will introduce mounting uncertainties for Chinese outbound investments."	"虽然对资本的这种控制可能是暂时的，"他写道，"但是这会给中国的对外投资带来不确定性。"
In an effort to slow the exodus, an affiliate of China's central bank, the State Administration of Foreign Exchange, issued a directive to bankers on Monday that amounted to additional scrutiny.	为了减缓资本外逃，中国央行附属机构国家外汇管理局本周一向银行业发布了一项指令，要求加大审查力度。

The directive, which was quickly and broadly circulated within China's financial community, told banks that their domestic customers must check with the Beijing regulator before transferring $5 million or more – in dollars or renminbi – out of the country. The rules will also cover renminbi that is sitting in overseas accounts, which had previously escaped most regulation.	该指令在中国金融界迅速传播开来，指令中说，国内客户如果要将价值 500 万美元以上的美元或人民币转出该国，必须向北京的监管机构上报。规定还涵盖了海外账户里的人民币，以前这些账户逃避了大多数监管。
"The People's Bank of China in Shanghai is facing great pressure to keep a balance" between inflows to and outflows from China, said the directive, referring to the Shanghai office of the central bank. The directive said that 5.1 trillion renminbi, or $740 billion, sluiced out of China in the first 10 months of this year while only 3.1 trillion came back into the country.	该指令称，“上海的人民银行面临着巨大压力，要在资金流入和流出之间保持平衡”。该指令说，今年前 10 个月，中国流出 5.1 万亿人民币，相当于 7400 亿美元，流入资金只有 3.1 万亿美元。
The State Administration of Foreign Exchange declined Tuesday evening to respond to a faxed question regarding offshore renminbi, suggesting that the question should be submitted instead to the People's Bank of China. The central bank did not respond to questions late Tuesday evening.	国家外汇管理局本周二晚上拒绝回答有关离岸人民币问题的传真，建议这个问题应该去问央行。央行周二晚上没有回复提问。
Government directives are not supposed to be public in China. In a sign of government irritation at the unauthorized distribution, censors reached into private WeChat social media accounts on Tuesday and deleted copies of the directive.	在中国，政府指令按理不应该公开。未经授权就传播这样的指令似乎令政府感到恼火，本周二，检查员要求私人微信社交媒体帐户删除这份指令的副本。
The rules appear to take aim at a relatively discrete set of overseas deals that largely allow companies to pull money out of the country, rather than more strategic acquisitions.	这些规则针对的似乎是一系列相对独立的海外交易，在大部分的这种交易中，公司将资金从国内抽走，而不是进行更具战略性质的收购。
Many Chinese companies, for example, have used their overseas	例如，很多中国公司利用其海外子公司，从中国的银行在香港、伦敦、纽约

subsidiaries to buy or borrow renminbi in Hong Kong, London, New York and elsewhere from the international arms of Chinese banks. Some of them then sell the renminbi and buy dollars, in a bet that the dollar will strengthen.	和其他地方的海外分支机构购买或借入人民币。然后一些公司卖出人民币，购买美元，押注美元将走强。
The new rules will apply broadly to Chinese companies. In the past, only companies with headquarters in Beijing typically had to notify the government of big moves in offshore renminbi.	新的规定将广泛适用于中国公司。之前，一般只有总部设在北京的公司才必须通知政府自己将对离岸人民币采取大动作。
Even so, the new rules amount more to a modest tweak than an outright overhaul.	即使如此，新的规则也更多的是一个小幅调整，而不是改弦更张。
Capital controls in China already restrict the movement of money. Individuals, for example, are not supposed to move more than $50,000 out of the country annually. Companies, too, have limits and other approval processes. The latest directive basically adds another layer of approval and closes some additional escape valves.	中国的资本管制已经限制了人民币的流动。例如，个人每年不得转移超过5万美元的资金至海外。公司也面临限制和其他批准过程。最新指令基本上是增加了另一层限制，并关闭一些额外的资金外逃阀门。
"They are not changing the rules," said Jeffrey Sun, a partner in the Shanghai office of Orrick, Herrington and Sutcliffe, a global law firm. "It's that, internally, they need to go through this extensive process."	"他们并没有改变规则，"奥睿律师事务所(Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe)驻上海的律师孙捷(Jeffrey Sun)说。"只是说，在内部，他们需要通过这个繁复的过程。"
While Chinese regulators are increasing their scrutiny, they have been reluctant to ban overseas investment outright. Four different regulators issued a joint public statement on Monday through the official Xinhua news agency to emphasize that it was still acceptable for Chinese companies and households to invest overseas.	虽然中国监管机构正在加大审查力度，但他们并不愿意直接禁止海外投资。四家监管机构本周一通过官方通讯社新华社发表了联合公开声明，强调仍然许可中国公司和家庭进行海外投资。
China's overseas investments have "played an important role in deepening China's mutually beneficial cooperation with other countries and promoting domestic economic restructuring and	中国海外投资对于"为深化我国与各国互利合作、促进国内经济转型升级发挥了重要作用"，该声明说。 upgrading," the statement said.

But even those more strategic deals may soon get a second look. Regulators are also drafting rules that would require prior approval from Beijing for very large overseas corporate acquisitions.	即便是那些更具战略性质的交易，可能不久后也会受到审查。监管机构正在起草规则，要求大规模海外并购需要事先获得北京的批准。
The draft rules on very large acquisitions, first reported by The Wall Street Journal last Friday and subsequently confirmed by bankers and executives who were briefed on the plans, would mandate that prior approval be obtained for deals exceeding $1 billion in real estate or in industries outside the Chinese company's main area of business. Any acquisition would also require prior approval if it exceeded $10 billion.	对于大型并购规定的草案，《华尔街日报》上周五率先进行了报道，知道内情的银行人士和高管后来表示确有此事。该草案要求，涉及房地产或者中国公司主营业务之外的行业时，交易超过10亿美元需要获得事先批准。所有超过100亿美元的并购都需要事先申请批准。
But some bankers are skeptical that such rules will make much of a difference. Most large Chinese deals, like the pending acquisition of Switzerland's Syngenta by the state-owned China National Chemical Corporation, involve well-connected companies that have long received top-level endorsement for their bids in advance anyway.	但一些银行人士怀疑这样规定会起多大的作用。大多数大型交易，例如国企中国化工集团收购瑞士先正达(Syngenta)的交易，涉及的公司有非常良好的人脉，它们的行动很早以前就已经获得过最高层的提前批准了。
"The companies behind these large acquisitions are themselves very influential, and many will still find ways to close targeted deals," said Brock Silvers, the chief executive of Kaiyuan Capital, a Shanghai investment advisory firm.	投资咨询公司上海 Kaiyuan Capital 董事总经理布洛克·西尔沃斯(Block Silvers)说：“开展这种大型收购的公司本身就有很大的影响力，很多公司仍然有办法来完成交易。”

Though Awash in Fakes, China Rethinks Counterfeit Hunters	中国职业打假人，这条路还能走多远？
BEIJING — Ji Wanchang strolled through a Beijing luxury mall one recent morning with an eye out for luxury coats. But at one store, a clerk told him a fur-collared Moncler and other coats were "sample	北京——最近的一个上午，纪万昌在北京一个豪华购物中心漫步，他在仔细挑选奢华大衣，但一家商店的售货员告诉他，那里的一件带毛皮领子的盟可睐(Moncler)羽绒服及其他大衣都是“尺码样品”，不出售。

sizes" and not for sale.
A second clerk, selling a wolf fur-lined Yves Salomon, said the coat was reserved.	另一位出售伊夫萨露蒙(Yves Salomon)牌的狼毛皮衬里服装的售货员说,大衣已被人预定了。
Mr. Ji sighed. In both cases, the fur wouldn't match their labels, he suspected — and the clerks knew selling a fake to Mr. Ji, who is well known on sight in many of China's shops, meant big trouble.	纪万昌叹了口气。他怀疑这两件皮大衣都与它们的标签不匹配,而且店员也知道,把它们卖给纪万昌意味着会有大麻烦,他在许多中国商店里都能被人认出来。
"Ma'am, I don't want to make things difficult for you," he told a sales clerk, who nodded and bowed. "I've found problems with your clothes, so please correct them."	"女士,我不想给你制造麻烦,"他对一名售货员说,售货员点着头,向他鞠了个躬。"我发现你们卖的衣服有问题,所以请你们自行改正。"
Mr. Ji is what is known in China as a professional counterfeit hunter. Part Ralph Nader, part bounty hunter, Mr. Ji rummages for fake or substandard goods in shops. Then, using China's consumer protection laws, he collects tens of thousands of dollars from the companies that make or sell them. The laws are part of China's growing effort to weed out the fake clothes, electronics, food and furniture that swamp its stores and frustrate companies and consumers alike.	纪万昌在中国从事所谓职业打假的工作,他有点像拉尔夫·纳德(Ralph Nader),也有点像赏金猎人。纪万昌在商店里搜寻假商品或不合格的商品。然后,他利用中国的消费者保护法,从制造或销售这些商品的公司那里索取数万美元的赔偿。消费者保护法是中国不断努力清除假冒商品的行动的一部分,中国的商店里到处都是假牌子的衣服、电子设备、食品和家具,让厂家和消费者很无奈。
But Mr. Ji's livelihood is now under threat. Some government officials say Mr. Ji and the unknown number of others like him abuse a law that was meant merely to empower consumers to report fakes. If proposed new government rules get accepted, people like Mr. Ji will no longer be able to go pro.	但是现在,纪万昌的生计受到了威胁。一些政府官员表示,纪万昌和像他这样的数量不详的职业打假者在滥用消费者保护法,该法律原来只是为了赋予消费者举报假货的权利。如果政府新起草的规则得到通过的话,像纪万昌这样的人将不再能以打假为职业。
Even as China grows and matures, and moves to protect brands and ideas, it still struggles with how to get rid of fakes. Overseas governments, overseas companies and even its own increasingly choosy consumers complain that China's counterfeit products hurt	即使中国在发展成熟,也开始更加注重保护品牌和创意,但在如何摆脱假货的问题上,情况依然不容乐观。外国政府、海外公司,甚至日益挑剔的消费者自己也抱怨说,中国的假冒产品损害了品牌和普通人的利益。中国领导人已经加大了打假力度,目的之一是保护正在生产自主创新产品的中国公司。

brand names and common people alike. Chinese leaders have stepped up efforts to cull them, in part to protect homegrown companies that are starting to produce their own innovative products. Last year, China's courts handled about 120,000 intellectual property cases, up 9 percent from 2014, according to official media.	去年,据官方媒体报道,中国法院处理了大约 12 万件知识产权案件,比 2014 年增长了 9%。
One anti-fake effort was intended to empower the consumer. In 2009, the government promised consumers that if they found a product that flouted food safety laws, they could win 10 times the value of that product in compensation. In 2013, China bolstered an earlier consumer protection law by increasing payouts to buyers of other kinds of fake goods, while a decision from China's supreme court was widely seen as supporting counterfeit hunters.	一些打假活动旨在赋予消费者权力。2009 年,政府向消费者承诺,如果发现违反食品安全法的产品,他们可以获得该产品 10 倍价值的赔偿。2013 年,中国通过增加对其他类型假货的买家的赔偿力度,强化了之前发布的消费者保护法,而中国最高法院的一个裁定也被广泛视为对职业打假人的支持。
Mr. Ji and his peers have used these laws to their advantage, buying knockoffs in bulk — the more they turn in, the more they are paid — and filling their storerooms with counterfeit products. Mr. Ji's group, the Jinan Old Ji Anti-Counterfeit Rights Defense Work Studio, has a network of about 20 informers who report suspected fake products. He says his biggest success to date is collecting about $178,000 in compensation from a company that tried to pass off its blankets as pure cashmere.	纪万昌和同行们利用这些法律来获益,他们大量购买仿冒产品——买得越多,获得的赔偿也越多——他们的仓库里装满了假冒产品。纪万昌的团队济南老纪维权工作室有大约 20 个线人,向他们汇报疑似假冒产品。他说迄今为止,他最成功的一个案例是从一家公司那里获得了大约 17.8 万美元(约合人民币 120 万元)的赔偿,这家公司出售的毯子号称是纯羊绒的。
China's e-commerce boom has given counterfeit hunters a new front. "The main purpose of suing them is to ask them to correct themselves," said Yu Fengsheng, another counterfeit hunter, who chases merchants who sell fakes on online marketplaces run by the Alibaba Group, China's largest e-commerce company. Among overseas companies, people like Mr. Ji have fans. "A lot of my clients would, in some circumstances, support the activities of these kinds of consumer warriors because ultimately they may be uncovering information that helps us do our job," said Scott Palmer, an intellectual property lawyer at Sheppard, Mullin, Richter & Hampton, which represents American corporations in China.	像纪万昌这样的人在海外公司里也有粉丝。美国盛智律师事务所(Sheppard, Mullin, Richter & Hampton)的知识产权律师彭明(Scott Palmer)说：“在某些情况下，我的很多客户都会支持这些打假斗士的活动，因为他们最终可能会发现一些信息，有助于我们做好工作。”
But government officials complain that the program is increasingly expensive and increasingly abused. Even some foreign business groups complain. Counterfeit hunters often profit "from complaints that target minor product labeling errors instead of true quality or safety issues," said James Zimmerman, chairman of the American Chamber of Commerce in China, in emailed comments.	但政府官员也抱怨说，这个法律程序的成本越来越昂贵，遭到滥用的时候也越来越多。甚至一些外国商业团体也有怨言。中国美国商会主席吉莫曼(James Zimmerman)通过电邮评论说，职业打假人通常会“从小产品的标识错误，而不是真正的质量或安全问题投诉”中获利。
Proposed government rules released in August and under official consideration said that payouts for fakes would not be available to those who sought them "for commercial purposes."	政府8月发布了一个拟议的规则，目前处于正式考虑阶段。规定说，为了“商业目的”而购买这些假货的人不会获得赔偿。
Mr. Ji, defending his work, says he has to recoup his legal fees, which he incurs when the companies he accuses of selling fakes fight back. He says he makes about $148,000 a year but his take-home pay is only about $30,000 to $44,000 after expenses.	纪万昌辩解说，如果他指控售卖假冒产品的公司进行反击，就会产生法律费用，他需要收回这些成本。他说自己每年赚大约14.8万美元，但是支付了这些费用之后，只有大约3万到4.4万美元的入账。
"When they encounter a fake product, more than 80 percent of Chinese people will just suck it up and not take it very seriously, as long as their	"80%中国人忍气吞声，面对假货只要不危及生命就不很认真对待，"纪万昌说。"如果有更多职业打假人，商品质量一下子就提高。"

lives are not in danger," Mr. Ji said. "If there are more professional counterfeit warriors, the quality of goods will improve at once."
Mr. Ji never set out to be a consumer rights activist. Born in the northern region of Inner Mongolia, he was so poor he could not afford to enroll in a university. His jobs have included running a carwash, selling clothes on the street and operating a late-night food stall.	纪万昌一开始并没有想过要成为消费者权益活动人士。他出生在内蒙古北部，家里很穷，读不起大学。他曾经开过洗车店，在街头卖过衣服，还经营过夜间食品摊。
In 2000, a friend of his bought a children's educational compact disc that turned out to contain pornographic content. Furious, he and his friends "laid siege" to the store where they had bought it, demanding compensation, Mr. Ji said. "At that time, I did not understand what defending your rights is," he said.	2000年，他的朋友买了一张儿童教育光盘，发现里面有色情内容。他和朋友们愤怒地“围攻”了出售这张光盘的商店，要求赔偿，纪万昌说道。“当时不懂维权，”他说。
Later, Mr. Ji bought a copy of China's consumer law and a manual on how to tell fakes from genuine products. From that point, he had a new career.	后来，纪万昌买了一本中国消费者法律和一本关于如何辨别真假商品的手册。从那以后，他开始了新的职业生涯。
On a recent week in October, Mr. Ji traveled to four courthouses in five days across China, filing lawsuits against shopping malls, accusing them of fraud for selling substandard goods. Based in the eastern city of Jinan, he says he goes to court about 100 times a year.	在今年10月的一周，纪万昌在五天时间里前往位于不同地方的四家法院起诉了一些商店，指控他们欺诈，销售不合格商品。他住在中国东部城市济南，他说每年大约要去100次法院。
Mr. Ji's work has earned him the enmity of counterfeiters and their thugs, who he says have beaten him up, bound his hands and feet, and telephoned him with death threats. In 2007, police in the southern province of Fujian detained him for 37 days, charging him with extortion, but released him.	纪万昌的活动引来了造假者及其打手的敌意，他说这些人殴打他，绑住他的手脚，还打电话威胁说要杀了他。2007年，南部省份福建的警方拘留了他37天，指控他敲诈勒索，但后来将其释放。

Mr. Ji told the aspiring fraud-buster that he could not "just casually enter any shop and buy eight or 10 pieces and demand compensation." His profession was built on navigating tricky relationships with local courthouses and police, Mr. Ji said, adding that recently some thugs from Tai'an wanted "my life, my arms and my legs."	纪万昌对这个想当打假者的男子说，你不能“随随便便走进一家商店，买上十件八件假货，然后要求赔偿”。如何处理与当地法院和警方的棘手关系是他打假事业的基础，纪万昌说，最近一些来自泰安的暴徒“想要我的命、我的胳膊和腿”。
"Not everyone can be a counterfeit hunter. This industry isn't a gift that falls down from heaven," Mr. Ji told the caller. "You haven't seen the hardships and suffering we've gone through. You've only seen our glorious side."	"职业维权人，不是说人家要干都能干的。这个行业不是天上掉馅儿饼，"纪万昌对那名男子说。"我们辛酸的过程你们没看到，你们只看到我们辉煌的一面。"

After Meeting Trump, Japanese Mogul Pledges $50 Billion Investment in the U.S.	携手富士康？软银承诺在美投资 500 亿美元
The brash and outspoken founder of SoftBank, Masayoshi Son, has long been known for his outsize ambitions, from taking on the United States' biggest telephone companies to creating a $100 billion fund for technology deals.	非常自信、直言不讳的软银(SoftBank)创始人孙正义(Masayoshi Son)一向以雄心过人闻名，他曾与美国最大的电信公司竞争，而且还创建了一个 1000 亿美元的科技交易基金。
On Tuesday, Mr. Son, a Japanese mogul, struck another big pledge after meeting with President-elect Donald J. Trump: to invest $50 billion in the United States, a move that he said would create some 50,000 jobs.	本周二，日本大亨孙正义在与候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)见面后，又许下了一个重大承诺：在美国投资 500 亿美元，他说此举将创造约 5 万个工作岗位。
But the $50 billion investment pledge is not an entirely new initiative	但是这 500 亿美元的投资承诺并不是软银的一个全新举动。实际上，这笔

Speaking to reporters on Tuesday, Mr. Son said the new jobs would come from investing in American start-ups. Mr. Trump later declared on Twitter, "Masa said he would never do this had we (Trump) not won the election!"	孙正义周二对记者说，新工作岗位将来自于他们对美国初创企业的投资。特朗普后来在 Twitter 上宣布，“正义说，如果我们（特朗普）没有赢得选举，他永远不会这样做！”
Mr. Son's visit to Trump Tower in Manhattan on Tuesday was the latest outreach by global business leaders to an incoming president seen as friendlier to corporate interests. On Friday, the Trump transition team announced the formation of a business advisory group, led by Stephen A. Schwarzman, the chief executive of the private equity behemoth the Blackstone Group, that would consult monthly with the Trump White House.	孙正义周二对曼哈顿特朗普大厦的拜访，是全球商业领袖对未来总统的最新示好，一些人认为特朗普对企业利益更加有益。上周五，特朗普过渡团队宣布组建一个商业咨询小组，由私募股权投资巨头黑石集团(Blackstone Group)首席执行官苏世民(Stephen A. Schwarzman)担任领导，在特朗普任内每月与白宫开展讨论。
The advisory group was noticeably shy of technology names; Mr. Son is perhaps the most prominent tech executive so far to have met with the president-elect.	咨询小组里没有什么科技业大牌；孙正义可能是迄今为止与特朗普见过面的最有名的科技高管。
Although it has its headquarters in Japan, SoftBank has deep roots in the United States. It is the majority owner of the wireless operator Sprint, which two years ago unsuccessfully pursued a takeover bid for T-Mobile. That effort was effectively blocked by the Obama administration on antitrust grounds.	软银虽然总部设在日本，但在美国有深厚的根基。它拥有无线运营商 Sprint 的大多数股权，Sprint 两年前试图收购 T-Mobile 未果。奥巴马政府以反托拉斯为由对收购进行了阻拦。

Shares of Sprint and T-Mobile briefly rose Tuesday afternoon, before giving up their gains.	据一个了解内情的人说，没人预计孙正义在与特朗普会面的时候会讨论具体问题，包括重启 Sprint 对 T-Mobile 的收购。这两家公司的股价周二下午短暂上涨，之后回吐了涨幅。
Beyond what Mr. Trump and Mr. Son said, “we aren’t able to say more,” a SoftBank spokesman in Tokyo, Matthew Nicholson, said.	除了特朗普和孙正义自己的说法，“我们无法透露更多情况，”软银在东京的发言人马修·尼克森(Matthew Nicholson)说。

Such bold talk is customary from the American-educated Mr. Son, who has built one of Japan’s biggest personal fortunes through sometimes brash deal-making. SoftBank, which began life as a software distributor, became one of Japan’s biggest phone service companies through shrewd negotiations that gave the company early exclusive rights to the iPhone. It has since become a global empire with stakes in the likes of Sprint and Alibaba Group of China and in a welter of start-ups in the United States and abroad.	在美国接受教育的孙正义很习惯这种夸张的说法，他通过商业交易成为了日本最大的富豪之一，其中一些交易很大胆。软银最初是一家软件经销商，通过精明的谈判成为日本最大的电信服务公司之一，早年拥有 iPhone 的专卖权。现在软银已经成为一个全球性的帝国，拥有 Sprint、中国阿里巴巴集团，以及美国和其他国家各种初创公司的股份。
This year, Mr. Son struck a $32 billion takeover of ARM Holdings, a British chip designer whose products sit at the heart of devices like the iPhone.	今年，孙正义斥资 320 亿美元收购了英国芯片设计公司 ARM Holdings。该公司的产品是 iPhone 等设备的核心组件。
Like the president-elect, Mr. Son has been known for sometimes impolitic remarks. And he threatened to set himself on fire in the offices of Japan’s	就像特朗普一样，孙正义有时也表现得言语失当。当 Sprint 试图与 Verizon 和 AT&T 进行竞争，孙正义将美国无线服务的质量类比为北京的空气质量。他威胁要在日本电信监管机构的办公室里自焚的事情至少发生过一次。 telecommunications regulator on at least one occasion.

In speaking with reporters alongside Mr. Trump on Tuesday, Mr. Son clutched what appeared to be a presentation from the meeting. One page featured the logos of both SoftBank and Foxconn, the Taiwanese manufacturing giant that assembles Apple's iPhone. On the page – and circled – was the text committing to investing $50 billion in the United States and generating 50,000 jobs over the next four years.	本周二与特朗普一起见记者的时候,孙正义似乎把会议中的演示内容搬了出来。页面上有软银和富士康的标志。富士康是台湾制造巨头,为苹果公司装配 iPhone。页面上用圆圈标出了未来四年内在美国投资 500 亿美元,创造 5 万个工作机​​会的承诺。

Foxconn said in a statement that it was in preliminary discussions about a potential American expansion, adding that the scale had not yet been decided. Foxconn has said in the past that it plans to expand its limited operations in the United States.	富士康在一份声明中说,它正在对在美国的潜在扩张计划进行初步讨论,但其规模尚无定论。富士康过去曾表示要扩大其在美国的有限的业务。
Any Foxconn investment is not likely to mean a major flow of jobs back to America. The company has been plowing funds into automation and has said in the past that it would invest in a plant to build robots in Pennsylvania, indicating that new American jobs would probably be higher-end and limited in number.	富士康在美国进行的任何投资都不太可能意味着大量的工作岗位回流美国。该公司一直把资金投入自动化领域,之前曾表示要在宾夕法尼亚州投资一家建造机器人的工厂,这表明美国的新岗位可能会比较高端,数量有限。
Foxconn employs about one million workers in China. But many of those jobs are low skilled, and as overall wages have risen in China, their pay levels have become less appealing to workers there. Maintaining enough staffing to meet production needs can be a challenge.	富士康在中国拥有约 100 万名工人。但是很多岗位对技能要求都很低,随着中国工资整体水平的上升,富士康的工资水平对中国工人不太有吸引力。留住足够多的员工来满足生产需求可能会是一个挑战。

Small Investors Join China's Tycoons in Sending Money Abroad	除了富豪,中国中产阶级也在向海外转移资产

Adam Dahill saw promise in the three-story brownstone on a quiet Bedford-Stuyvesant street, despite its weather-beaten facade, crumbling front steps and broken windows. But he needed nearly $1.3 million to buy it and turn it into the sort of Brooklyn dream home for which the city's lawyers and bankers pay big money.	亚当·达希尔(Adam Dahill)发现在安静的贝德福德-斯维森特街有一栋三层褐砂石的房屋很有投资价值。尽管它的外墙年久失修，门前的台阶损毁了，窗户也是破的，但他需要差不多 130 万美元才能买下它，并把它装修成布鲁克林的梦中家园，让这座城市的律师和银行家们愿意为它花大价钱。
No problem. For funding, Mr. Dahill borrowed money from a new and eager group of international financiers: middle-class Chinese investors.	没问题。达希尔可以从一个新的、急切的国际资金来源那里借到钱：中国的中产阶级投资者。
"I don't discriminate if someone wants to finance the property we developed," said the 36-year-old Mr. Dahill, who works as a mortgage broker by day. "Chinese? Great. American? Fine. I don't care as long as they're interested."	"如果有人想为我们开发的物业提供资金，我会一视同仁的，"36 岁的按揭经纪人达希尔说。"中国人？很好。美国人？不错。只要他们有兴趣，我是不会在乎的。"
China's wealthy have long bought up properties around the world. Now, technology is opening the door for the small-timers.	中国的大富豪很早之前就开始在世界各地购买物业。现在，技术正在为普通的有钱人打开大门。
A new generation of smartphone apps and online lending platforms in China and around the world are helping small investors leap legal and language barriers to put their money to work globally. This informal lending network — which allows Chinese investors to fund overseas projects and buyers — largely bypasses banks and other traditional sources of funds, bringing money to places as varied as a sports center in Illinois and apartment blocks in Tennessee.	中国和世界各地的新一代智能手机应用和在线贷款平台正在帮助小型投资者跨越法律和语言的障碍，在全球各地进行投资。有了这种非正式的贷款网络，中国投资者就可以为海外项目和买家提供资金，这些网络很大程度上绕过了银行和其他传统的资金来源，为伊利诺伊州的体育中心和田纳西州公寓楼等多种不同类型的项目注入了资金。
But it also adds to the fire hose of money pouring into flush places like New York and the San Francisco area, where foreign investors are among the reasons property prices are high and rising. That includes Halsey Street, which is only blocks from big developments like Brooklyn's Atlantic Yards, which have long received funding from	不过这也导致更多的资金流入了纽约和旧金山地区这样的繁华富裕之地，外国投资者是导致这些地方房价高涨和继续上涨的原因之一。其中就包括哈尔西街(Halsey Street)，它和布鲁克林的大西洋广场等大型开发项目只有数个街区之远。这些项目早就已获得了中国的资金。金钱正在改变社区，推升房地产的价值，但是老住户担心价格飙升会让自己待不下去。

"It's causing a lot of resentment," said Angelo Richardson, a 45-year-old self-described entrepreneur who lives nearby. Mr. Richardson, who has lived in Brooklyn for 24 years, said his monthly rent had nearly doubled to $1,500 from $900 in just two years.	"这引发了很多不满，"45岁的安吉洛·理查森(Angelo Richardson)说。他自称是创业者，家住在附近。他说自己在布鲁克林已经住了24年，月租从两年前的900美元到现在几乎翻了一番，涨到了1500美元。
The digital flow of money from China's teeming cities to Brooklyn's brownstone-lined streets is part of an exodus of wealth outside the country, as people in China look to diversify at a time of worries about the slowing economy and the country's growing political and social challenges. But China heavily restricts the flow of money out of the country, and the new technology represents undefined territory.	货币以数字形式从中国人潮汹涌的城市流向布满褐石建筑的布鲁克林街道，是中国资金外逃的一部分，中国人担心经济放缓和国家日益增加的政治和社会问题，因此希望实现资产多元化。虽然中国严格限制货币外流，新技术却带来了一个模糊的领域。
These new financial platforms "hire really good lawyers," says Xiaochen Zhang, a co-founder of the advocacy group CrowdFund China Society. "This is still a gray area, so lawyers play a big role."	这些新的金融平台"聘请了真正的好律师"，倡导团体众融中国总会(CrowdFund China Society)的创始人之一张晓晨说。"这还是一个灰色地带，所以律师扮演了重要角色。"
Zhang Xiaowen, a 36-year-old serial entrepreneur from Jiangsu Province in China, put up about $4,500 that Mr. Dahill tapped on an online lending platform. The deal promised a quick 13 percent return that — crucially, for Mr. Zhang — will be paid in American dollars. Mr. Zhang initially invested Chinese renminbi, meaning he is effectively moving part of his wealth offshore.	连续创业者张小奔今年36岁，来自中国江苏省，他通过在线贷款平台为达希尔的项目提供了4500美元资金。这笔交易承诺13%的快速回报，对于张小奔来说，关键是这笔钱将以美元支付。张小奔最初以人民币投资，这意味着他实际上正在将自己的一部分财富移向海外。
"Otherwise," Mr. Zhang said, "transferring money out of the country can be so difficult."	"除了这样以外，"张小奔说，"把钱转到国外还是很难的。"

China cracked down on money flowing abroad this year after investors began shifting funds out of the country at an alarming rate, contributing to a sharp drop last year in the country's foreign exchange reserves. Last month, China took new steps to stop the outflows, increasing scrutiny of big foreign deals and requiring clearance for transfers of $5 million or more.	继中国投资者开始以惊人的速度向国外转移资金，导致去年中国外汇储备大幅下降后，中国在今年打击了流向海外的资金。上个月，中国采取了新的措施来阻止资金外流，加大对大额海外交易的审查，并要求在将 500 万或以上的美元转移到境外时进行申报。
So far, the new investing channels have largely been unaffected. Mobile apps like Niuniu, Jimubox and Tiger Stocks allow investors to buy and sell foreign stocks from their smartphone. Online portals allow them to pool their money to buy a piece of international real estate outright, or to fund buyers abroad like Mr. Dahill in New York.	到目前为止，这些新的投资渠道在很大程度上没有受到影响。像牛牛(Niuniu)，积木盒子(Jimubox)和老虎股票(Tiger Stocks)这样的手机应用程序允许投资者通过智能手机购买和抛售国外股票。在线门户网站允许他们吸纳资金，直接购买一块海外房地产，或者为纽约的达希尔那样的海外买家提供资金。
Unlike other ways China's wealthy invest abroad, these new services are often priced for ordinary people. Micai, a "robo-adviser" app that also provides online investment services, has an investment threshold of $5,000. Wealth Migrate, a South African crowdfunding platform that was introduced in China this year, is experimenting with $100 real estate investment products.	与其他中国富人在海外投资的方式不同，这些新服务的价位往往是针对普通人的。“弥财”(Micai)是一个“机器人投资顾问”型应用程序，也提供在线投资服务，它的投资门槛是 5000 美元。财富转移(Wealth Migrate)是今年进入中国的一个南非众筹平台，目前正在试验 100 美元的房地产投资产品。
"The Chinese people have the same needs as other investors," said Scott Picken, the chief executive of Wealth Migrate. "They want wealth preservation and peace of mind."	“中国人与其他投资者有着同样的需求，”财富转移的首席执行官斯科特·皮肯(Scott Picken)说。“他们想要财富保值和安全感。”

China limits Chinese currency transfers abroad by individuals to no more than $50,000 worth a year. But Haitou360 structures its investments so that a legal entity essentially acts on behalf of individual investors, bypassing those limits.	中国限制境内货币向海外转移，规定个人向海外转移货币每年不得超过 5 万美元。但海投 360 将其投资组合起来，让法律实体实质上代表众多个人投资者，绕过这些限制。
“We solve multiple problems – we manage the risk of overseas real estate investment, and we overcome the capital control limits everyone has,” said Jerry Wang, the chief executive of Haitou360. The structure puts the onus on individual investors to make sure they comply with China’s capital controls, he said.	“我们解决了多个问题——我们管理海外房地产投资的风险，我们克服了每个人都受到的资金控制限制，”海投 360 的首席执行官王金龙(Jerry Wang)说。他说，这种组合把遵守中国资金控制措施的责任交给了个人投资者。
Through these channels, Chinese money has found its way into real estate projects far beyond a few Brooklyn brownstones: homes in New Jersey, medical facilities in Georgia, motel chains. Oversea Crowd, a Chinese private equity firm, has used crowdfunding to raise investments starting at $10,000 from Chinese clients to help fund several luxury student apartments near public universities in Georgia and North Carolina. Their latest apartment complex financed through crowdfunding will soon open near Harvard’s business school.	通过这些渠道，来自中国的资金找到了进入各种房地产项目的途径，远远不止于布鲁克林的褐石建筑，还包括了新泽西州的住宅、乔治亚州的医疗设施、连锁汽车旅馆。中国私募公司海众(Oversea Crowd)利用众筹向中国客户融资，底线为一万美元，所得资金用于修建在乔治亚州和北卡罗来纳州的公立大学附近的几所豪华学生公寓。他们在哈佛商学院附近通过众筹修建的新公寓综合体即将落成。

Before he helped fund Mr. Dahill's loan for the Brooklyn brownstone, Mr. Zhang, the Haitou360 investor, invested a small amount of money online as a test. Two months later he received a return of a little more than $6, a tiny amount but one that won his trust in online investment.	在资助达希尔的布鲁克林褐石建筑贷款之前,海投 360 的投资者张小奔曾在网上投资了一小笔钱作为测试。两个月后,他收到了一笔回报,价值是 6 美元多一点,这是一个很小的数字,但是令他对在线投资产生了信任。
He is now considering a "study abroad" investment product that would allow him to begin investing in American real estate immediately. Future returns would be directly transferred monthly to his son, now a child, to pay for tuition and living costs if he were to attend college in the United States.	他现在正在考虑一个“留学海外”的投资产品,该产品令他可以立即开始投资美国房地产。未来的回报将每月直接转移给年幼的儿子,如果他将来在美国上大学的话,这笔钱将用于支付他的学费和生活费用。
Some on the receiving end of that money flow are looking for ways to deal with it. In Bedford-Stuyvesant, Halsey Street is in transition. Down the street from Mr. Dahill's house, city notices and plywood affixed to brownstones denote more homes under construction. Another house nearby had a "for sale" sign.	在资金流的接收端,一些人正在寻找办法来处理它。在贝德福德-斯图维森特,哈尔西街正在发生变化。在达希尔的房子所处的街道另一端,市政通知和贴在褐石上的胶合板表明更多房屋还在建设之中。附近另一座房子上挂有“出售”标志。

Japan, Looking for Money, Is Poised to Legalize Casino Gambling	不能光靠中国人爆买，日本打算解禁博彩业
TOKYO — Japan is set to deal itself into the multibillion-dollar casino industry.	东京——日本打算进入数以十亿美元计的博彩行业。
Lawmakers in the country this week cleared the way for the removal of a longstanding prohibition against gambling on blackjack, roulette and other casino games. The legislation was passed by a crucial panel on Tuesday and was expected to be approved as early as Wednesday.	本周，该国立法者为取消对 21 点和轮盘赌等赌博游戏的长期禁令扫清了道路。周二，这项立法得到一个重要审议小组的通过，预计将在周三早些时候获得批准。
If enacted, as widely expected, it would complete an effort to make Japan attractive to gamblers. For years, Japanese businesses and the tax authorities have watched enviously as vast sums have poured into jurisdictions like Macau and Singapore, which have built sparkling casino resorts catering to international gamblers, especially those from China.	如果它能像广泛预期的那样得以实施，将实现让日本吸引赌博者的目标。多年来，日本商业和税收当局羡慕地看着大量金钱流入澳门和新加坡等地区，那里修建了绚丽的赌场度假区，迎合国际赌博者的需求，尤其是中国的赌博者。
Japan is experiencing its own boom in Chinese tourism, and it sees casinos as an added way to cash in. Estimates of the potential size of the industry have ranged as high as $40 billion a year.	日本正从中国旅游业中实现自己的繁荣，它把赌场视为增加收入的新方法。对该行业潜在规模的估计有的甚至高达每年 400 亿美元。

be willing to invest as much as $10 billion to develop a casino resort in the country.	开发一个赌场度假村。
"For the investment community, Japan is seen as the crown jewel of Asian gaming development outside of Macau," said Grant Govertsen, a research analyst at Union Gaming, an investment bank focused on gambling.	"在投资界，日本被视为澳门之外亚洲博彩业发展皇冠上的明珠，" 联合博彩集团(Union Gaming)分析师格兰特·戈弗森(Grant Govertsen)说。联合博彩集团是一家专做博彩业的投资银行。
The most recent major market in Asia to legalize casinos was Singapore, which approved the introduction of two casino hotels a decade ago. With casino revenue of about $3.5 billion last year, Singapore, a Southeast Asian city-state, ranks as the second-biggest market in Asia behind Macau.	在亚洲，最近一个让赌场合法化的主要市场是新加坡，它在10年前批准设立了两家赌场酒店。去年，新加坡的赌场收入约为35亿美元。在亚洲，这个东南亚城市国家是仅次于澳门的第二大博彩市场。
The Japanese market, with its large and affluent local population, could be even bigger.	日本市场可能更大，因为这里人口更多，更为富有。
"It would be shocking if Japan doesn't become the No. 2 market in Asia on an overnight basis" once big resorts open, Mr. Govertsen said, adding that the exact size of the market is difficult to gauge until regulatory elements, like the number and location of licenses, are known.	戈弗森说，一旦这些大型赌场度假村开业，"如果日本没有在一夜之间成为亚洲第二大市场，我会非常意外。"他还说，在相关的监管规定出台之前——比如审批的数量和地点——很难估量该市场的具体规模。
Uncertainties remain, even if the law passes. The first casinos would take years to license and build, and competition is already stiffening. Newer industry players like South Korea and the Philippines, chasing the same Chinese cash, are building big resorts of their own. China itself is under a cloud, as its breakneck pace of economic growth slows and as the authorities in Beijing seek to tighten control over outflows of money from the country.	即使法案得以通过，此事也仍存不确定性。第一批赌场将需要花费数年时间获得审批和修建，而竞争本身已经非常激烈。韩国和菲律宾等该行业新生力量也在追逐中国的金钱，修建他们自己的大型度假村。中国本身则处境艰难，因为它快速的经济发展开始放缓，而且北京当局试图加紧对资金外流的控制。

The scheduled vote comes as Japan looks for new sources of economic growth. Tourism is emerging as a newly powerful force in the country, where the economy has traditionally been geared more toward exporting cars and other manufactured goods than importing pleasure-seeking visitors. More than 20 million foreign tourists have made trips to Japan this year, triple the number from a decade ago, many from China's swelling middle class.	在该立法即将得到表决之时，日本正在寻求新的经济增长点。旅游业正成为该国一股强大的新力量，尽管其经济在过去主要依靠出口汽车等制造产品，而非吸引玩乐的游客。今年，日本接待了2000多万外国游客——这个数字是10年前的三倍——其中很多是中国不断壮大的中产阶级。
An end of the prohibition on casinos would not mean that anyone could build the next Caesars Palace in Japan. At first, licenses would be granted to two or three so-called integrated resorts — which combine casinos with hotels, conference halls and shopping centers — in major cities. Rules governing the bidding and licensing process, as well as the regulation of the casinos themselves, would be detailed in a separate law next year. Actual gambling is unlikely to begin before 2023, several analysts said.	赌场禁令的取消并不会意味着，任何人都能在日本修建下一个凯撒宫(Caesars Palace)。一开始只会在大城市批准两三个所谓的综合度假村——它们将赌场与酒店、会议厅和购物中心结合起来。竞标和审批过程的规则以及赌场本身的管理规定将于明年在另一部法律中详细说明。几位分析人士称，2023年之前，赌场运营不大可能真正开始。
Takashi Kiso, chief executive of the International Casino Institute, a consultancy that has been advising would-be entrants into the Japanese market, said ownership would probably take the form of joint ventures between international gambling groups and Japanese companies. MGM Resorts, Wynn Resorts and other large operators have also expressed interest, in addition to Las Vegas Sands.	国际博彩研究所(International Casino Institute)首席执行官木曾隆(Takashi Kiso)表示，赌场的所有权形式很可能是国际博彩集团和日本公司组成的合资企业。该咨询公司已经在为打算进入日本市场的几家公司提供咨询。除了拉斯维加斯金沙集团，美高梅国际酒店集团(MGM Resorts)和永利度假村(Wynn Resorts)等大型博彩公司也表示有兴趣参与。

Some forms of gambling are already legal in Japan. The country allows betting on horse, bicycle and boat racing, and it has a publicly run national lottery. Pachinko, a derivative of pinball played at thousands of noisy parlors around the country, has a gambling element that is technically illegal but is universally tolerated by politicians and law enforcement.	在日本，博彩业的某些形式已经是合法的。该国允许对赛马、自行车和赛艇比赛下注，还有一个公开发行的全国性彩票。日本各地成千上万家嘈杂游乐厅里玩的日式弹珠游戏含有赌博成分，从严格意义上讲，它是违法的，但是得到了政治人士和执法者的普遍容忍。
Japan has been debating whether to legalize casinos since at least 1999. A bill similar to the one passed on Wednesday made progress in Parliament two years ago but never made it to a vote. Some lawmakers balked at the potential social problems caused by casinos. To Problems With China's Financial System, Add the Bond Market	中国债券市场危机显露，投资人惊慌
SHANGHAI — Chinese officials cheered on the country's stock market when it reached heady new highs, offering hope that it could become a new source of money to fix China's economic problems. Then, last year, the market crashed.	上海——去年，当中国股市令人兴奋地屡创新高时，中国官员欢欣雀跃不已，希望它可以成为一个新的资金来源，帮助解决中国的经济问题。然后，股市崩盘了。
Now another fast-growing part of China's vast and increasingly complicated financial market is showing signs of distress: its $9 trillion bond market.	现在，在中国庞大且日趋复杂的金融市场中，另一个快速增长的部门正在显露出危机迹象：9万亿美元规模的债券市场。
Prices for government and corporate bonds have tumbled over the past week, a sell-off that continued on Tuesday. The situation has spooked investors, prompting the government to temporarily restrain some trading and to make emergency loans to struggling financial institutions.	上周，国债和企业债券出现价格下跌，本周二抛售仍在继续。这种情况令投资者感到惊恐，他们敦促政府暂时限制一些交易，并向处于困境的金融机构提供紧急贷款。
The price drops have resulted in higher borrowing costs at a time when more Chinese companies need the money to cope with slowing economic growth. Yields reached new highs again on Tuesday.	当更多的中国企业需要货币来应对经济增长放缓时，债券价格下降导致了借款成本的增加。周二，债券收益率再次创下新高。
In part, China is reacting to financial shifts across the globe. With the Federal Reserve raising short-term interest rates and many expecting the presidency of Donald J. Trump to lead to heavier government spending, investors worldwide are selling bonds.	从一定程度上说，这也是中国正在对全球金融变化做出反应。随着美联储提高短期利率，以及很多人认为唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)上任后会加大政府支出，全球投资者都在出手债券。
But China is struggling with its own balancing act. The Chinese bond slump also stems from Beijing's efforts to wring excess money from its financial system and to stop potential bubbles that may lurk in shadowy, hard-to-track corners of its economy. Should it continue with those efforts, bonds could fall further.	但中国在实施自己的平衡措施时步履维艰。中国债券下跌的另一个原因是北京力图从金融体系中挤压出超发的货币，防止潜在泡沫出现，这些泡沫可能藏在阴暗的、难以追踪的经济角落。如果北京继续这些努力，债券价格可能还会进一步下跌。

“The adjustment has not yet finished,” said Miao Zuoxing, a partner at the FXM Brothers Fund, a Shanghai-based investment fund that trades stocks, bonds and futures. “It will continue and normalize until money is put where the government can see it.”	“这一轮调整还未结束，将继续修正、规范化，使钱放在政府看得到的地方。”在上海开展股票、债券和期货交易的投资基金FXM兄弟基金合伙人苗作兴说。
At least 40 companies have said they would postpone or cancel bond offerings rather than risk being forced to pay high interest rates to sell the bonds — or being unable to sell them at all. Among them was the Jiangsu Sumec Group Corporation, an industrial trading house that exports items as varied as gardening tools and auto parts; the company said on Thursday that it would not go through with the sale of $130 million in short-term bonds.	至少有 40 家企业表示，他们将推迟或取消债券发行，因为销售债券会有被迫支付高额利率的风险，或者根本就销不出去。江苏苏美达集团就是其中之一，这家工业贸易公司出口的商品五花八门，从园艺工具到汽车零部件都有。上周四，该公司取消了 1.3 亿美元短期债券的发行。
“Due to recent, relatively large market fluctuations, our company decided to cancel the issue of the current bond,” Jiangsu Sumec Group said in a statement, “and will reissue it at a chosen time.”	“鉴于近期市场波动较大，本公司决定取消本期债券发行，择时重新发行。”江苏苏美达集团在一份声明中表示。
China has particular reason to worry. As the world’s second-largest economy, after the United States, it relies on a rickety financial system that is mired in debt and susceptible to hidden stresses. Higher overseas interest rates could also prompt more Chinese investors to move their money out of the country, either to chase higher returns elsewhere or to avoid what some see as China’s growing problems.	中国有特别的理由感到担心。作为仅次于美国的全球第二大经济体，它的金融体系相当脆弱，眼下深陷债务，容易受隐性压力的影响。海外利率升高也可能会促使更多的中国投资者将资金转移出国，以追求更高的回报，或者是避开一些人眼中中国正在日益加剧的问题。
The outflows are “adding to domestic banking system stresses and weakening the already fragile foundations of the entire financial system,” said Eswar S. Prasad, a professor of trade policy at Cornell University who was formerly chief of the China division at the International Monetary Fund.	这种资金流出“增加了国内银行系统的压力，削弱了整个金融体系已经很脆弱的基础”，康奈尔大学贸易政策教授埃斯瓦尔·S·普拉萨德(Eswar S. Prasad)说道。他曾任国际货币基金组织的中国事务主管。

A healthy bond market is crucial to China's restructuring plans. The country has been counting on its fast-growing bond market as one way to bring market discipline to its traditionally state-directed — and wasteful — economy.	健康的债市对中国的重组计划至关重要。中国一直指望其快速增长的债市可以成为一种途径，将市场约束机制引入其传统的、浪费资源的政府导向型经济。
In the mature financial system of the United States, businesses have plenty of ways to get money. They can borrow from a bank, raise money selling stocks or bonds, or seek funds directly from any number of investors.	美国的金融体系比较成熟，企业有很多种办法筹到资金。他们可以从银行借款、靠出售股票或债券筹资，或者直接从任意数量的投资者那里筹集资金。
But in China, state-run banks are by far the main source of funding. That helped power the country's economic rise, but it also led to loans going to politically connected borrowers rather than to where the economy needed it most. That is one reason the Chinese economy is now stuck with more steel, glass, cement and auto factories than it needs.	但在中国，国有银行是迄今为止的主要资金来源。这有助于推动中国的经济增长，但它也使得贷款流入了有政治背景的借款人那里，而不是经济最需要它的地方。这就是中国经济如今陷在供过于求的钢铁、玻璃、水泥和汽车厂里的原因之一。
Particularly in the past two years, China has taken steps to encourage the development of robust stock and bond markets as well as private lenders, needing a way to ensure the flow of money was being directed by profit-minded investors rather than politicians and their allies at state-owned banks.	特别是在过去两年中，中国已采取措施，鼓励股市、债市，以及私人贷款机构的健康发展，它需要一种方式来确保引导资金流向的是重视利润的投资者，而不是政界人士及其在国有银行的盟友。
The stock market crashed last year, and private lending has been slow to take off. But until this past week, the bond market had performed well. The investment arms of local governments and other large borrowers rushed in recent months to issue bonds at low interest rates and to pay off bank loans issued at higher rates — just as the government intended. Bond issuance jumped 47 percent in the first 11	去年股市崩盘，私人贷款发展缓慢。但在上周之前，中国债市一直走势良好。地方政府的投资部门和其他大型借款机构最近数月涌入债市，以低利率发行债券，偿还利率更高的银行贷款——这也正是政府的意图所在。今年前 11 个月，债券发行量比去年同期增长了 47%。 months of this year from the same period last year.

What the government did not foresee was an explosion of speculative bond trading by Chinese banks.	政府没有预见的到是，中国各家银行进行的投机性债券交易出现了爆炸式增长。
Banks have increasingly raised money by selling wealth management products, investments that have the look and feel of dependable bank deposits and are usually sold to average investors. Banks rarely disclose what is behind those wealth management products and generally keep them off their books.	银行越来越多地通过出售理财产品筹集资金，这些产品看上去像是可靠的银行存款，通常出售给普通投资者。银行极少披露这些理财产品背后的内幕，而且通常也不把它们计入资产负债表。
Still, it is becoming increasingly clear that many of them are backed by bonds. The bond holdings of wealth management products more than doubled over the 18-month period that ended in June. Adding to the risks, banks are also making large, leveraged bets on the direction of bond prices.	然而，越来越清楚的是，很多理财产品都在以债券为支撑。理财产品的债券持有量在截至今年6月的18个月内翻了一番。除了这种风险之外，银行还使用大规模杠杆押注债券价格的走向。
Now the government is moving to rein it in. On Monday evening, The Financial News, a newspaper controlled by China's central bank, published questions and answers with ad central bank official who was identified only as being in charge of the reviews of banks' financial soundness. The official told the newspaper that starting next year, the central bank would include wealth management products in these reviews.	现在政府正在努力控制它。周一晚上，中国央行主管的报纸《金融时报》(The Financial News)发表了对一名央行官员的采访，文中只提到该官员负责评估银行财务的健全性。这名官员说，从明年开始，央行将把理财产品纳入评估范围。
A press officer at the central bank confirmed that the interview was an accurate reflection of the institution's views but declined to elaborate.	央行的一名新闻官员证实该采访准确地反映了该机构的观点，但拒绝进行详细阐述。
On Tuesday, the yield on one-year government bonds rose to 3.11 percent, compared with 2.35 percent two weeks ago, a considerable jump for bonds. Yields go up when bond prices go down, and a higher	周二，一年期的国债收益率从两周前的2.35%上升到3.11%，对于债券来说，这个涨幅已经很大。当债券价格下跌时，收益率就会上涨，导致发行债券的成本增加。 yield makes it more expensive to issue bonds.

Corporate bond yields are also rising fast, as investors have begun demanding a better return from entrusting their money to China's frequently opaque companies. That reverses a trend from earlier this year, when investors were so enthusiastic for Chinese bonds that they bought corporate bonds as well, narrowing the natural spread between government and corporate bonds.	企业债券的收益率也在快速上升，对于将资金注入到常常不透明的中国公司，投资者已经开始要求获得更好的回报。这反转了今年早些时候的趋势：当时投资者对中国债券非常看好，他们也购买了企业债券，导致国债和企业债券之间的自然差距缩小。
Mr. Miao, of FXM Brothers, predicted that corporate bonds would continue to sell off until the spread between government corporate yields was wider again.	FXM 兄弟基金合伙人苗作兴预测说，企业债券将会继续遭到抛售，直到政府和公司债券收益率的差距再次拉大为止。
"When the corporate bubble has burst," he said, "then we could say the adjustment is finished."	"去除了企业债泡沫后，"他说，"这一轮调整才算完成。"

Alibaba Faces Growing Pressure Over Counterfeit Goods	淘宝又被美国列入假货黑名单，阿里不服
Alibaba has a fakes problem.	阿里巴巴有假货问题。
On Wednesday, American trade officials said that they had added Taobao, the Alibaba Group's sprawling online shopping bazaar in China, to their list of the world's most notorious markets for counterfeit goods. The addition — an embarrassing setback four years after Alibaba successfully lobbied American officials to drop the platform from the list — comes as the owners of brands increasingly complain about the proliferation of fakes on the company's sales platforms.	本周三，美国贸易官员表示，他们将阿里巴巴旗下的淘宝——中国一个庞大的在线购物市场——列入全球假货泛滥最严重的恶名市场名单中。四年前，阿里巴巴成功地游说美国官员将其从这份名单中移除，随着品牌拥有者越来越多地抱怨其销售平台上假货泛滥，它再次被列入名单，这是一个令人尴尬的挫折。
It also comes as Alibaba moves to satisfy increasingly sophisticated Chinese consumers who want higher quality goods — a shift that has also drawn intensifying competition from Alibaba's rivals.	而且如今中国消费者正在变得日益精明老练，对产品质量提出了更高的要求，阿里巴巴开始迎合这种需要，而它的对手也在加大竞争力度。

Alibaba says it has increased efforts to find and eliminate counterfeit goods. In its report on Wednesday, the Office of the United States Trade Representative acknowledged those efforts — but said they were not enough.	阿里巴巴表示，它已经做出了更大的努力来寻找和清除假货。美国贸易代表办公室(Office of the United States Trade Representative)在周三的报告中承认了这种努力——但表示这还不够。
Taobao “is an important concern due to the large volume of allegedly counterfeit and pirated goods available and the challenges right holders experience in removing and preventing illicit sales and offers of such goods,” said the agency, citing complaints from brand owners about the proliferation of fakes on Taobao.	淘宝“备受关注，因为那里可以买到大量假冒和盗版商品，权利持有人在清除、防止此类商品的非法销售和提供上遇到了挑战”，该机构表示。他们提到了一些品牌的拥有者抱怨淘宝上假货泛滥。
“While recent steps set positive expectations for the future,” it added, “current levels of reported counterfeiting and piracy are unacceptably high.”	“虽然他们最近采取的一些做法让人期待一个积极正面的未来，”报告说，“目前遭到举报的假冒和盗版商品仍然多到令人无法接受。”
Alibaba, which maintains that counterfeit goods are an industrywide problem, called the move “counterproductive” and questioned the motives behind the agency’s decision. In a statement from Michael Evans, the president of Alibaba, the company said the decision “leads us to question whether the U.S.T.R. acted based on the actual facts or was influenced by the current political climate” — an apparent reference to the negative language about China that Donald J. Trump espoused during the campaign and as president-elect.	阿里巴巴坚称假货是一个行业性的问题，他们说此举将“适得其反”，并质疑该机构做出这个决定背后的动机。阿里巴巴总裁迈克尔·埃文斯(Michael Evans)在一份声明中说，该公司认为这个决定“令我们质疑美国贸易代表是在根据实际情况行事，还是受到了当前政治气候的影响”——显然指的是唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)在竞选期间和胜选之后提到中国时使用了消极措辞。
In an email to the group that oversees how Alibaba’s platforms are governed, Daniel Zhang, the company’s chief executive, pushed the group to continue fighting counterfeiters, whom he described as being “like bacteria in the air that we breathe.” But he also compared the American move to trade protectionism and said Alibaba would face	阿里巴巴首席执行官张勇(Daniel Zhang)向监督该公司平台治理状况的部门发了一封电邮，敦促他们继续打击假冒者，电邮称假冒者像“空气里的细菌”。但他也把美国此举和贸易保护主义联系起来，表示阿里巴巴在进行海外扩张时，在其他国家也会面对类似的举动。

similar efforts elsewhere as it expanded abroad.
"It wouldn't come as a surprise if we encounter other situations similar to that of 'Notorious Markets' in the future, where protectionism leads to malicious acts to players in the market," he wrote in the email, which the company shared publicly.	他在电邮中写道：“将来用类似‘恶名市场’的事情，来自贸易保护的‘市场恶意’行为，可能还会发生，也许会越来越多。”这封电邮在公司内部公开传阅。
The decision by the agency, which does not come with any official punishments, will have little practical impact on Alibaba's main China operations. The company is enjoying rising sales as Chinese consumers shrug off the country's slowing economic growth and continue their online buying spree. In after-hours trading on Wednesday after the announcement, its shares fell less than 1 percent.	没有任何官方惩罚措施与该机构的决定一同发布，它对阿里巴巴在中国的主要业务也没有实质影响。该公司的销售额正在增长，中国消费者并未受到该国经济增长放缓的影响，继续在电商上大买特买。周三这个消息公布之后，阿里巴巴的股价在盘后交易中下跌不到1%。
But the listing could complicate the Chinese company's ambitions to move into other markets. Alibaba has made forays into the United States, Southeast Asia and elsewhere, and it is moving into industries like entertainment that could take it further abroad. The listing is also a blemish for a company that symbolized China's rising sophistication when it held a landmark initial public offering of stock two years ago in the United States.	但这件事可能会让中国公司进入其他市场的努力变得更加复杂。阿里巴巴已经进入了美国、东南亚和其他地区，目前它正在进军的娱乐业等行业，可能会让它进一步走向海外。而且，两年前阿里巴巴在美国进行了里程碑式的首次公开募股时，它成为了中国日益复杂老练的一个象征，对于这样一家公司来说，此事也是个污点。
The listing represents a stumble in Alibaba's lobbying efforts in the United States. Four years ago, American officials removed Taobao from the list, citing its efforts to fight fakes. The move came after Alibaba tapped a former official from the trade representative's office, James Mendenhall, to work on its behalf. Since 2012 it has spent $2.4 million lobbying the American government, according to lobbying data compiled by Opensecrets.org, a website run by the Center for	这次被列入名单，意味着阿里巴巴在美国开展游说的努力遇到了挫折。四年前，美国官员从这份列表中移除了淘宝，理由是淘宝在打击假货。在那之前，阿里巴巴请来贸易代表办公室的前官员詹姆斯·门登霍尔(James Mendenhall)为其奔走。响应性政治中心(Center for Responsive Politics)旗下网站 Opensecrets.org 编制的游说数据显示，自 2012 年以来，阿里巴巴游说美国政府的花费达到了 240 万美元。

Responsive Politics.
In recent years Alibaba has de-emphasized Taobao, a vast platform where sellers big and small can set up online stores, resembling eBay. Analysts say its growth prospects are limited, and a growing number of Chinese consumers say they want to buy from sources they can better trust.	近年来，阿里巴巴不再把淘宝作为一个重点。淘宝是个庞大的平台，有点类似于 eBay，大大小小的卖家都可以在该平台上开网店。分析师认为其增长前景有限，而越来越多的中国消费者也表示他们想从更加可信的渠道购买商品。
“The problem is that anybody can open a Taobao shop and sell anything,” said Shaun Rein, founder and managing director of China Market Research Group.	“问题在于任何人都可以开淘宝店，卖任何东西，”中国市场研究(China Market Research Group)的创始人兼董事总经理雷小山(Shaun Rein)说。
Yu Yang, a 36-year-old information technology engineer in Beijing, said he started using Taobao more than a decade ago. “But I almost stopped completely about three or four years ago,” he said, adding that it had become difficult to tell fake from real basketball sneakers, which he collects.	北京 36 岁的信息技术工程师于洋说他十多年前就开始用淘宝了。“但三四年前，我几乎完全不用了，”他说。收藏篮球鞋的他接着表示，球鞋的真假很难区分。
“Fakes are getting more and more real,” said Mr. Yu, who said he had switched to shopping on JD.com and also buys more when he travels to South Korea or Japan. “Unless you compare a fake with an authentic, it would be almost impossible to tell.”	“假货变得越来越真，”他说。于洋称自己转向了京东，也会在去韩国或日本时多买一些。“除非把真货和假货拿在一起对比，否则几乎分辨不出来。”
Alibaba said its core Chinese retail business had 439 million annual active users during the year that ended in September, though it does not break out how many of them are Taobao users. That business makes its money by charging fees to, and providing advertising for, vendors.	阿里巴巴称在 9 月份结束的年度里，其核心的中国零售业务年活跃用户达 4.39 亿，但它未透露其中有多少是淘宝用户。这项业务通过向商家收费和为其提供广告赚钱。
Alibaba has tried to steer business to its Tmall platform, which is geared toward larger sellers of higher-end name brands like Nike and Estée	阿里巴巴试图将业务引向自己的天猫平台，后者面向的是耐克(Nike)和雅诗兰黛(Estée Lauder)等规模更大的高端品牌卖家。但这项业务面临来自京东

Lauder. But that business faces intense competition from JD.com and others that manage their own inventory and act more as curators for finicky customers.	和其他公司的激烈竞争。这些公司自己管理仓储，充当的角色更像是为挑剔的消费者提供服务的监督者。
Tmall is the dominant player in the business to consumer segment, as Tmall and its rivals are called, with a little more than half of the market, according to figures from the data firm iResearch. But the data also shows that it has slowly lost market share to others.	天猫及其竞争对手所在的领域被称作 B2C (商家对消费者)，数据公司艾瑞咨询(iResearch)的数据显示，天猫在该领域占据主导地位，市场份额略超一半。但相关数据额也表明，天猫的市场份额正在慢慢流向竞争对手。
Last year, in a warning to Alibaba, the United States Trade Representative also mentioned Tmall as a source of complaints about fakes, though the platform was not mentioned in this year's list. Alibaba has also defended Tmall's efforts to fight fakes.	去年，在对阿里巴巴的警告中，美国贸易代表也提到天猫是假货投诉的源头之一，不过该平台没有出现在今年的名单中。阿里巴巴也为天猫的打假行动进行了辩护。
The American government's move adds to mounting pressure on Alibaba to do something about fakes. Last year, the owner of the Gucci and Yves Saint Laurent brands sued Alibaba in New York federal court, claiming that the company encouraged sales of fakes on its online platforms. In October an industry group, the American Apparel and Footwear Association and others openly called for Alibaba to be added to the government's notorious markets list, saying its members saw little change despite the company's efforts to fight fakes.	美国政府的举动增加了阿里巴巴应对假货的压力。去年，古驰(Gucci)和圣罗兰(Yves Saint Laurent)品牌的拥有者将阿里巴巴告上了纽约联邦法院，声称该公司鼓励在其在线平台上售假。10月，行业机构美国服装与鞋业协会(American Apparel and Footwear Association)和其他一些团体公开要求将阿里巴巴加入政府的恶名市场名单，称尽管该公司采取了多项打假行动，但该协会的成员几乎没有看到变化。
In May, the International Anticounterfeiting Coalition backed away from a plan to give Alibaba membership in its ranks as part of a united effort to fight fakes, after other members objected and raised questions about financial ties between Alibaba and the group's leadership. The group defended its leadership but said it had hired an outside firm to review its internal controls.	5月，国际反假联盟(International Anticounterfeiting Coalition)在其他成员反对并对阿里巴巴和该组织的领导层之间的经济往来提出质疑后，放弃了让阿里巴巴加入联盟，这本来是一项联合打假行动的一部分。国际反假联盟为自己的领导层进行了辩护，但表示已聘请一家外部公司对其内部管控措施进行审查。

G.M.'s Venture in China Fined $29 Million Under Antimonopoly Law	上海通用被中国处以反垄断罚款
BEIJING — General Motors's main joint venture in China was fined $29 million on Friday on charges that it suppressed competition by enforcing minimum sales prices for dealers. It is the latest in a string of penalties against non-Chinese auto brands under the country's antimonopoly law.	北京——通用汽车(General Motors)在中国的主要合资企业上周五被处以2900 万美元的罚款，原因是经销商设定最低限价，阻碍了竞争。这是中国依据反垄断法对非中国汽车品牌施以一连串惩罚的最新一起。
Chinese regulators have punished companies in several industries, likemilk and medical devices, under the 2008 law in what appears to be an effort to force down consumer prices.	这部反垄断法制定于2008年，其目的似乎是压低消费物价，中国的监管机构以它为依据，已经对乳业和医疗设备等几个行业的企业进行了惩处。
G.M. had announced in August 2014 that Shanghai G.M., its joint venture with the state-owned Shanghai Automotive Industry Corporation, was under investigation by antimonopoly regulators.	通用汽车于2014年8月宣布，它与国有上海汽车的合资企业上汽通用公司正在接受反垄断监管机构的调查。
The Shanghai Price Bureau said that Shanghai G.M. improperly hurt competition by enforcing minimum prices dealers were allowed to charge for Cadillac, Chevrolet and Buick models.	上海市物价局称，该公司设定经销商销售凯迪拉克、雪佛兰和别克一些车型的最低价格，阻碍了竞争。
That "disrupted the normal order of market competition," said a statement by the price bureau.	物价局表示，这种做法“扰乱了正常的市场竞争秩序”。
Setting minimum retail prices is a common practice in many markets, but lawyers say Chinese regulators appear to regard it as an improper restraint on competition.	设定最低销售价格的做法在很多市场都是惯例，但律师们表示，中国监管机构似乎认为这是对竞争的不当约束。
The price bureau's statement said the penalty was set at 4 percent of Shanghai G.M.'s annual sales, or 201 million yuan, about $29 million.	物价局的声明称，对该公司处以上一年销售额4%的罚款，共计人民币2.01亿元。
G.M. vies with Volkswagen for the status of the top-selling vehicle	通用正在和大众争夺中国最畅销汽车品牌的地位。

brand in China.
Sales of G.M. vehicles in China are up 8.5 percent so far this year, to 3.4 million.	通用汽车今年在中国的销量到目前为止增长了 8.5%，达 340 万辆。
"G.M. fully respects local laws and regulations wherever we operate," the company said in a statement. "We will provide full support to our joint venture in China to ensure that all responsive and appropriate actions are taken with respect to this matter."	"通用汽车完全尊重营业所在地的法规，"公司在一份声明中表示。"我们将对在华合资企业提供全力支持，以确保合资企业针对此事采取相应的适当举措。"
President-elect Donald J. Trump has criticized Chinese trade practices, but there was no indication the case was linked to that.	候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)批评过中国在贸易上的做法，但没有迹象表明这个案件与其有关。
Audi, Volkswagen's luxury unit, was fined $40.5 million, and Fiat Chrysler Automobiles' Chrysler brand received a smaller penalty in 2014 on similar charges of enforcing minimum sales prices.	大众汽车的豪华品牌奥迪被罚款 4050 万美元，菲亚特克莱斯勒汽车公司(Fiat Chrysler Automobiles)的克莱斯勒品牌曾因限制最低销售价格，在 2014 年遭受了类似处罚，不过罚款金额较少。
State media cited an official saying Daimler Benz's Mercedes unit was guilty of violations, but no penalty was announced. Toyota Motor Corporation said its Lexus unit was under scrutiny, but no results have been announced.	官方媒体引用一个官员的说法，称戴姆勒奔驰(Daimler Benz)的奔驰品牌也有违规，但没有宣布具体惩罚措施。丰田汽车公司(Toyota Motor Corporation)表示，其雷克萨斯品牌正在接受审查，但尚未宣布结果。
The industrywide investigation began in 2014 after complaints of foreign auto brands abusing their control over supplies of spare parts to overcharge consumers. In the case of Mercedes, regulators said purchasing the spare parts needed to assemble one car would cost as much as 12 new vehicles.	2014 年，中国开始进行全行业的调查，之前有投诉称外国汽车品牌利用它们对配件供应的控制权，向消费者收取过高费用。监管机构表示，更换某款奔驰轿车所有配件的花费可购买 12 辆新车。

China Reassures Homeowners Worried About Land Rights	温州一小步：住宅土地使用权免费续期
BEIJING — China has clarified for the first time a closely watched issue over land rights that has caused uncertainty for the millions of Chinese	北京——中国首次澄清了公众密切关注的一个土地使用权问题。数以百万计的中国人将财富投入到了房产上，这个问题一直让他们感到很不踏实。

who park their wealth in their homes.
Chinese officials said that a group of homeowners in the eastern city of Wenzhou would not have to pay a fee to extend the rights to the land under their residences. Homeowners in China own their actual dwellings but not the land underneath them. All land in China is owned by the government, which parcels it out to developers and homeowners through 20- to 70-year leases.	中国官员说，东部城市温州的一群房主不必支付费用来续期住房的土地使用权。中国的房主拥有的是住房本身，但不拥有住房下面的土地。中国的所有土地都属于政府，政府把土地出租给开发商和房主，租期 20~70 年不等。
In Wenzhou, the local government had told some homeowners whose 20-year leases had expired that they would have to pay a hefty fee to renew, and the situation there was being monitored closely across the country. Many Chinese homeowners — a bedrock of the country's economy and growing consumer sector — worried that they would have to pay dearly to keep using the land under their homes.	在温州，地方政府曾告诉一些 20 年租约已到期的房主，他们必须支付大笔费用来续期，这引起了全国的密切关注。房地产是中国经济的一块基石，也是一个日益增长的消费门类，中国的很多房主都担心自己必须付出大笔金钱，才能继续使用住房下面的土地。
The decision — announced on Friday by Wang Guanghua, China's vice minister of land and resources — stops short of providing homeowners all over the country a clear legal framework on their land ownership rights. Nevertheless, it could set a precedent that would pave the way for similar moves in other cities.	这个决定是国土资源部副部长王广华在上周五宣布的，它没有为全国各地的房主提供一个明确的土地所有权法律框架。不过它可以成为一个先例，为其他城市的类似举措铺平道路。
At a news conference, Mr. Wang said that the measures were temporary and that the government was working on "relevant legal arrangements" for those holding 70-year leases, according to a transcript of the briefing on the ministry's website. Much of China's residential land is covered by 70-year leases.	根据该部网站上的文稿，王广华在一次记者招待会上表示，这些措施是暂时的，政府正在为那些持有 70 年租约者“作出法律安排”。中国大部分的住宅用地使用期限都为 70 年。
The issue of land ownership rights came into focus in Wenzhou in April after the local government demanded that homeowners whose	今年 4 月，土地所有权问题在温州成为了一个关注重点，因为地方政府要求，土地使用权 20 年到期的房主需要缴纳房价的三分之一，才能出售住房。该

land-use rights had expired after 20 years pay fees of up to a third of the value of their homes before they could sell their apartments. The decision provoked protests from property owners in Wenzhou, a coastal city of eight million that was one of the first to set up private enterprise after the government opened up the economy in the late 1970s.	决定引发了当地房主的抗议。温州是一个 800 万人口的沿海城市，是中国政府 1970 年代末开放经济后首批建立私营企业的城市之一。
Xinhua, the main state news agency, hailed the government's decision, calling it "one small step for Wenzhou, one giant leap for China." Global Times, a nationalist tabloid owned by People's Daily, the Chinese Communist Party's official newspaper, said it was "the biggest news of the year."	官方通讯社新华社赞扬了政府的这个决定，称之为“温州一小步，中国一大步”。中国共产党党报《人民日报》旗下的民族主义小报《环球时报》说，这是“本年度最重大的消息”。
Land-use rights are set to expire in the cities of Qingdao, Jinan and Shenzhen, according to Xinhua.	据新华社报道，在青岛，济南和深圳等城市，很多居民的住宅土地使用权也将要过期。
The measures "conform to the expectations of the masses," Xinhua said in a commentary on Saturday.	新华社星期六在一篇评论中说，这些措施“顺应了群众的期盼”。
"For all citizens, it is transmitting spring's first glow of warm air," it said.	“对于所有公民来说，是传递春天信息的最早一缕暖风，”文章写道。
The number of residents affected by the 20-year land-use rights in Wenzhou is relatively small. China Youth Daily, a state-run news outlet, said that about 600 households had 20-year leases that expire next year and 1,700 others by 2019. But their property transactions have been in limbo because of the uncertainty over their land-use rights.	温州 20 年土地使用权影响的居民人数相对较少。官方新闻媒体《中国青年报》报道，约有 600 户家庭的 20 年租约将在明年到期，2019 年还有 1700 户。但由于土地使用权的不确定性，他们的房产交易一直处在尴尬境地。
In 2007, China moved to reassure homeowners by requiring that local governments renew 70-year leases automatically. Yet the law did not make clear whether homeowners would have to pay for the renewal or what would happen to those with shorter leases.	2007 年时，中国为了安抚房主，要求地方政府为 70 年使用权自动续期。然而，该法律没有明确房主是否需要为续期付费，以及租赁时间较短的房主会面临怎样的问题。

China has one of the highest rates of homeownership in the world, about 90 percent. Many people see it as a good investment in a country that has not experienced a sustained housing slump. Homeownership also plays a social role: Buying a home is widely seen as part of getting married. And in the past two decades since the government has allowed private homeownership, many people rushed to buy homes without thinking of the legal issues governing their limited land-use rights.	中国是世界上自住房比率最高的国家之一，约为 90%。该国没有经历过楼市的持续低迷，很多人认为房产是一项好投资。住房所有权也扮演了社会角色：公众广泛认为结婚的时候需要购房。自从 20 年前政府允许私人拥有住房以来，很多人都急于买房，并没有考虑到其有限的土地使用权涉及的法律问题。
A majority of them also expected that the government would grant them full ownership of their homes without repossession or a huge fee to renew their land rights. Those moves could hurt the Chinese property market and anger China's middle class — an important constituency of the ruling Communist Party — that is richer, larger and more aware of its rights than ever before.	大多数购房者还认定，政府将让他们完全拥有自己的住房，不会收回土地使用权或是收取巨额续期费用。这些做法可能会冲击中国房地产市场，引发中产阶级的怒火——他们是执政党共产党的重要支持者，而且比以往任何时候都更富有、规模更大，对自己的权利也有更强烈的意识。

BEIJING — He is known in China as the “godfather of real estate,” helping lay the groundwork for private homeownership in China, a move that enriched millions and laid the foundations for a vibrant and thriving Chinese middle class.	北京——在中国，他被称为“房地产教父”。他帮助奠定了中国私人房屋所有权的基础，此举让数以百万计的人变得富裕起来，为中国形成充满活力的、繁荣的中产阶级铺平了道路。
Now, Meng Xiaosu wants a lot of Chinese — the older ones, specifically — to cash out.	现在，孟晓苏想要大批中国人抵押房产——特别是老年人。
Older people need to mortgage their homes to address China's looming demographic bust, Mr. Meng argues. Because of China's now-defunct	孟晓苏认为，老年人需要抵押住房，以应对中国即将到来的人口老龄化状况。由于中国的独生子女政策和其他一些社会趋势的终结，中国老龄人口迅速增

one-child policy and other social trends, the country has a rapidly graying population that someday soon may become too expensive for the Chinese government to support.	长使得养老很快就可能变得太过昂贵，让中国政府无力背负。
Mr. Meng's proposed solution is to bring reverse mortgages to China. Called a house-for-pension plan in China, a reverse mortgage allows homeowners to tap the equity in their homes by taking out loans against it.	孟晓苏提出的解决方案是提供反向抵押贷款，这在中国被称为以房养老计划，指的是房主抵押自己的房子，获得贷款。
His argument faces deep business and cultural opposition — mortgaging homes is a tough sell in a country where parents traditionally passed them on to their children — and only a few dozen people in all the country have signed up so far. But he argues that China may have little choice.	他的主张在商业上和文化上都面临着重大阻碍——中国的传统是父母把住房传给子女，抵押住房的做法难以推广——迄今为止，全国只有几十人签署了抵押住房协议。但他认为，中国可能没有其他选择。
"China's elderly do not have much money," said Mr. Meng, who drew much of his inspiration about the Chinese property market from a stint studying in America, "but they have valuable homes."	"所以中国老人要钱没多少，要房有就很值钱。"孟晓苏说。他对中国房地产市场很多想法，都是在美国短暂学习期间获得的启发。
China is increasingly pondering tough questions as it looks to a graying future. Right now, China's 215 million elderly people account for 15 percent of the total population. By 2050, that number is expected to rise to 350 million — nearly one-quarter of the population.	中国正在越来越多地考虑老龄化社会将会带来的一些棘手难题。目前中国有 2.15 亿老年人，占总人口的 15%。到 2050 年，这一数字预计将增加到 3.5 亿，几乎是人口总数的四分之一。
That has China scrambling to find a more sustainable pension system for its people. In the 1990s, the government dismantled the cradle-to-grave welfare system and borrowed money from younger workers to pay older ones. The country's pension fund will be $116 trillion in the red by 2050, according to the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, a top government think tank.	中国正在努力寻找一种更具持续性的养老金制度。在 1990 年代，政府取消了“从摇篮到坟墓”的福利制度，从年轻工人那里借钱来给老人养老。政府顶级智库中国社会科学院的资料显示，中国的养老基金的赤字在 2050 年将达到 116 万亿美元。

Enter Mr. Meng.	孟晓苏登场。
The apparatchik turned businessman, who now runs a Chinese private equity firm, argues that it is not practical for retirees to live on slow-growing pension benefits while home prices have soared over the past two decades.	他本是共产党官员，后来成为商人，现在经营一家中国私募股权公司。他认为，房价在过去 20 年里出现了飙升，在这种情况下退休人员靠缓慢增长的退休金生活是不现实的。
"Under these circumstances, participating in the house-for-pension plan can be regarded as an important option for China's elderly to improve their living conditions and live better in their later years," he said.	"那这种情况下以房养老，可以认为是所有中国老人想改善自己的生活条件，想在晚年生活得更美好的一个重要选择。"
"If the elderly in China had a lot of insurance or a high savings rate like in Japan, then they don't have to participate in the house-for-pension plan," Mr. Meng added. "But they don't have either."	"如果中国老人有很高的保险金，或者像日本老人那样有很高的储蓄，那么搞不搞以房养老也都没关系了。"他说，"但是他前面两项都没有。"
Reverse mortgages invite skepticism in America, too. But in China they defy traditional attitudes about family.	反向抵押贷款在美国也有很多怀疑者。但在中国，这种做法与家庭传统观念背道而驰。
Yu Yue, a 61-year-old widow and former factory worker in Beijing, is considering the plan. She scrapes by on $434 a month in pension payments, and her son gives her the same amount monthly.	61 岁的于月丧偶，现居北京，以前在工厂工作，她正在考虑这个计划。目前她每月的退休金有 434 美元（约合人民币 3000 元），儿子每月还会再给她这么多钱。
"I would like to give my apartment to my child," Ms. Yu said. "But I'm helpless. I need some form of safety net."	"我也是愿意把房子给孩子，"余月说。"但是我也是无奈，我要保命。"
Insurance companies say they were worried about the prospect of a real estate crash as well as longer life expectancy in China. China also lacks the fundamental legal framework to govern the program, said Hu Jiye, a professor who studies pension finance at the China University of Political Science and Law.	保险公司说，他们担心房地产可能崩盘，而且中国的预期寿命会增长。中国政法大学的退休金融研究教授胡继晔说，中国也缺乏管理这种计划的基本法律框架。
"Mr. Meng Xiaosu is the proponent of the house-for-pension plan, and	"孟晓苏先生，他是以房养老的倡导者，所以的话，他是想我即使赔钱也要

as such, he's willing to go ahead with it even if it's a money-losing venture," he said. "But the cultural environment doesn't support it. Neither does the legal environment."	先做。”他说。“这个文化的环境，是不支持的，法律的环境也不支持。”
Mr. Meng dismissed concerns about legal issues. Regarding insurance industry worries about a housing slump, he said, "I told them: 'Stop asking me this brainless question. It doesn't exist. It has never fallen even in a year. How can it be a bubble?'"	孟晓苏觉得对法律问题的担心是多余的。对于保险业担心房价下跌，他表示：“我说‘你不要再问这种脑残的问题了，不存在。从整体上没有任何一年下降，全上升没有下降。那么这个怎么会是泡沫呢？’”
Mr. Meng helped create the program, which is offered in Beijing, Shanghai and two other Chinese cities. As of the end of October, only 89 people had participated, according to Happy Life Insurance, an insurer founded by Mr. Meng in part to offer the policy — and, currently, only one of two insurers offering it.	孟晓苏帮助创建了这个在北京、上海以及另外两个中国城市开展的计划。幸福人寿保险公司的资料说，截至10月底，只有89人参与了这个计划。孟晓苏创立该保险公司的目的之一就是为了提供这个险种，目前一共只有两家保险公司提供它。
But the Chinese government said in July that it would extend the pilot plan to dozens of cities — Mr. Meng estimated 60 — over the next two years, and the People's Insurance Company (Group) of China, a major insurer, said it had started offering the plan in October.	但在7月，中国政府表示将在未来两年把这种试点计划扩展到几十个城市（孟晓苏估计为60个），大型保险企业——中国人民保险公司（集团）表示，将在明年10月提供这个险种。
Mr. Meng, 67, never graduated from high school, coming of age amid the turmoil of the Cultural Revolution, and became a Red Guard, writing up posters denouncing people who were deemed political enemies. "I never beat anyone," he said.	孟晓苏现年67岁，高中没有毕业，在文化大革命的动荡期间成年。他当上了红卫兵，写大字报谴责所谓的“阶级敌人”。“没有打过人，”他说。
In 1978, he enrolled in the prestigious Peking University, among the first group of students who passed the first higher education entrance exams held after the Cultural Revolution. He was 28. Premier Li Keqiang was his classmate.	1978年，他入读著名的北京大学，成为第一批在文革后通过高考的学生。当时他已经28岁。李克强总理是他同班同学。
Mr. Meng eventually became the aide to Wan Li, the former vice	孟晓苏日后成为了中国前副总理、农业改革先驱者万里的助手。

premier of China and the pioneer of agricultural reforms.
In Mr. Meng's office are dozens of framed photographs of him with other senior Chinese politicians as well as Bill Clinton, whom he calls a "close friend." ("At first, I thought about sending Hillary a note but didn't," he said the day after the presidential election. "In the end I thought, since a real estate magnate is president, we will have a bigger say. Will the U.S. real estate mogul turned president be willing to speak with China's godfather of real estate?")	孟晓苏的办公室里摆放着数十个相框，里面是他和中国其他高级政要以及比尔·克林顿(Bill Clinton)的合影。他称呼克林顿是“好朋友”。（“本来我是想给希拉里发一个贺信去的，结果也没发出去，后来想想也罢，房地产商当总统了，我们发言权会大一点。”）
In 1995, Mr. Meng traveled to the United States as a visiting scholar to study economics and real estate for six months at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; the University of California, Berkeley; and Indiana University. That experience had a profound impact on Mr. Meng — and ultimately, China's middle class. It led him to believe that the Chinese people could have their version of the American dream — "one house, one car," as he put it.	1995年，孟晓苏以访问学者的身份赴美，在麻省理工学院(Massachusetts Institute of Technology)、加州大学伯克利分校(University of California, Berkeley)和印第安纳大学(Indiana University)学习了六个月的经济学和房地产。这一经历对孟晓苏，最终也对中国的中产阶级产生了深远的影响。它使孟晓苏相信，中国民众可以有中国版的美国梦。用他的话说就是“一套住房一辆车”。
Once home, he persuaded skeptical banks that Chinese people would pay back their mortgages. That helped introduce a housing market in which prices are controlled by the market, not the government, leading to the price appreciation that has enriched millions of Chinese households.	一回国，他就说服持怀疑态度的银行相信，中国民众会偿还抵押贷款。这帮助引入了一个由市场而非政府控制价格的房地产市场，带来了让数以百万计的中国家庭富裕起来的价格上涨。

the United States," he said.
As home prices in China soared, Mr. Meng began studying the reverse mortgage systems in countries such as the Netherlands and the United States. In 2003, he wrote a letter to his former colleague Wen Jiabao, who had just become premier of China, telling him that Chinese retirees "will be able to live comfortably" with the house-for-pension plan.	随着中国房价飙升，孟晓苏开始研究荷兰和美国等国家的反向抵押贷款制度。2003年，他给前同事、新任中国总理温家宝写了一封信，告诉他通过以房养老计划，中国退休人员“可以衣食无忧”。
That year, Beijing approved the pilot program, stoking widespread controversy. Several people blamed the government for shirking its responsibility in providing for their old age. Under the plan, if the borrower's children are not willing to buy the property, it will be sold in an auction. The insurance company would deduct the capital and interest payments, and any leftover money would be given to the borrower's children.	那一年，北京批准该试点项目，引发了广泛的争议。有些人指责政府逃避自己的养老责任。根据该计划，如果借款人的子女不愿购买，房屋将用于拍卖。保险公司会扣除本金和利息，再将剩下的钱交给借款人的子女。
Mr. Meng said he would join the plan when he formally retired. His 31-year-old son approves of it, according to Mr. Meng. "I'm in no rush now," he said. "When I enroll, I want to create an impact and make the elderly feel at ease."	孟晓苏说自己正式退休后便会加入该计划。据他说，他31岁的儿子赞成这个做法。“但现在还不急，”他说。“我入保我要起个效应，让老人家放心。”

How China Built 'iPhone City' With Billions in Perks for Apple's Partner	中国“苹果城”（上）：尽享政府优待的富士康
A vast, boxy customs center acts as a busy island of commerce deep in central China.	巨大的四四方方的海关中心，仿佛中原地区腹地一个繁忙的商业孤岛。
Government officers, in sharply pressed uniforms, race around a maze of wooden pallets piled high with boxes — counting, weighing,	身穿笔挺制服的政府工作人员在一个堆放着高高码起的箱子、以木制货板构建而成的迷宫周围忙碌着——点数、称重、扫描并同意装运。不带标记的卡

The well-choreographed customs routine is part of a hidden bounty of perks, tax breaks and subsidies in China that supports the world's biggest iPhone factory, according to confidential government records reviewed by The New York Times, as well as more than 100 interviews with factory workers, logistics handlers, truck drivers, tax specialists and current and former Apple executives. The package of sweeteners and incentives, worth billions of dollars, is central to the production of the iPhone, Apple's best-selling and most profitable product.	《纽约时报》(The New York Times)查阅过的保密的政府记录，以及对工厂工人、物流从业人员、税务专家、苹果公司现在和以前的高管进行的超过100次采访显示，此种精心安排的通关程序是全球最大的iPhone工厂暗中享有的一系列特别待遇、税收减免和补贴的组成部分。这些甜头和激励的价值以十亿美元计，居于iPhone生产的核心位置。而iPhone是苹果最畅销、最赚钱的产品。
It all centers on Zhengzhou, a city of six million people in an impoverished region of China. Running at full tilt, the factory here, owned and operated by Apple's manufacturing partner Foxconn, can produce 500,000 iPhones a day. Locals now refer to Zhengzhou as "iPhone City."	一切都以坐落在中国贫困地区、拥有600万人口的郑州市为中心。当地的这座工厂由苹果的合作伙伴富士康拥有和运营，一旦全力运转，每天能生产50万部iPhone。当地人现在都把郑州称作“苹果城”。
The local government has proved instrumental, doling out more than $1.5 billion to Foxconn to build large sections of the factory and nearby employee housing. It paved roads and built power plants.	事实表明当地政府帮了大忙。它为富士康提供了超过15亿美元资金，去修建工厂的大片设施以及附近的员工宿舍。它还铺了路，建了发电厂。
It helps cover continuing energy and transportation costs for the operation. It recruits workers for the assembly line. It pays bonuses to the factory for meeting export targets.	它帮助工厂分担不断产生的能源和运输费用。它为流水线招募工人。在工厂实现出口目标之后，它还会提供奖励。

All of it in support of iPhone production.	所有这些都服务于 iPhone 的生产。
"We needed something that could really develop this part of the country," said Li Ziqiang, a Zhengzhou official. "There's an old saying in China: 'If you build the nest, the birds will come.' And now, they're coming."	"我们需要某种真的能让中国的这片地区发展起来的東西，"郑州的一名官员李自强（音）说。"中国有句老话：'筑巢引凤。'现在，凤凰来了。"
American officials have long decried China's support of its state-owned companies, calling the subsidies and other aid an unfair competitive advantage in a global marketplace. But the Zhengzhou operation shows the extent of China's effort to entice overseas multinationals to set up production facilities in the country.	美国官员向来反对中国为其国有企业提供支持，说相关补贴以及其他帮助让那些企业在全球市场上具有了不公平的竞争优势。但郑州的做法表明，为了吸引海外的跨国公司前来投资建厂，中国可谓不遗余力。
Local and provincial officials, in an effort to create jobs and drive growth, have courted manufacturers with incentive packages that make it easier and cheaper to do business. Beijing, for decades, has encouraged such efforts at the national level, by developing special economic zones that offer tax breaks to multinationals and exempt them from costly and cumbersome rules.	地方及省级官员会讨好制造商，许以会让它们用更低的成本更便利地做生意的一揽子激励计划，旨在创造工作岗位、推动经济增长。数十年来，通过开办让跨国公司得以享有税收减免并避开所费破糜的繁琐规则的经济特区，北京当局一直在国家层面如此行事。
In this way, China is not unlike other countries, including the United States, where states and cities vie for companies. To compete in the era of globalization, multinationals, which face pressures from shareholders and customers, must seek the best opportunities, relying on a highly interconnected supply chain spread across the world.	在这方面，中国和别的国家并无不同，包括各州市正对企业展开争夺的美国。面对来自股东和消费者的压力的跨国公司，要在全球化时代参与竞争，就必须寻求最佳的机遇，依赖一条遍及全球、紧密关联的供应链。
But the reasons behind their choices are not always transparent. In China, the competition for companies is secretive and rarely exposed to public scrutiny or debate — and it is often focused on manufacturing partners, rather than multinationals themselves.	但它们所做选择背后的原因并不总是透明的。在中国，对企业的争夺是秘密进行的，很少受到公众的审视或引发社会的讨论——而且事情通常主要跟跨国公司的生产合作伙伴，而非跨国公司本身有关。

China's lure is strong. Dell, Hewlett-Packard and Samsung have all flocked to China to lower their production costs, bolster their bottom lines and tap into the world's largest consumer market. And many rely on local manufacturing partners like Foxconn.	中国的诱惑力很强。戴尔(Dell)、惠普(Hewlett-Packard)、三星(Samsung)等企业纷纷来到中国，想要降低生产成本，提高利润，并开拓世界上最大的消费市场。很多企业都要依赖富士康这样的当地生产伙伴。
While Apple came later than many technology companies, it now generates nearly a quarter of its revenues from sales in China and has some of the fattest profit margins in the business. As such, the Zhengzhou operation provides an especially illustrative look at China's importance to American technology companies — and specifically iPhone production and more recently, Apple's consumer sales.	苹果来到中国的时间晚于很多科技公司，但其销售收入有将近四分之一源自中国市场，而且其利润也是业内最为丰厚的。郑州的这家工厂就其本身而言尤为说明了中国对美国科技企业的重要性——特别是对 iPhone 生产以及苹果公司近几年的市场销售的重要性。
A 32-gigabyte iPhone 7 costs an estimated $400 to produce. It retails for roughly $649 in the United States, with Apple taking a piece of the difference as profit. The result: Apple manages to earn 90 percent of the profits in the smartphone industry worldwide, even though it accounts for only 12 percent of the sales, according to Strategy Analytics, a research firm.	据估计，一部内存为 32G 的 iPhone 7 生产成本是 400 美元。它在美国的零售价约为 649 美元，差额部分则是苹果的利润。结果：根据调查公司 Strategy Analytics 的数据，苹果成功地将全球智能手机产业 90% 的利润收入囊中，尽管它的销售额仅占全行业的 12%。
It is difficult to tally the total value of government benefits for the Zhengzhou operation, or to determine the exact effect on the profits of Foxconn or Apple. The subsidies aren't disclosed by the Chinese government or Foxconn. They aren't available in public records. And Apple says it was not a party to Foxconn's negotiations.	现实中，很难统计政府给郑州工厂提供的所有好处的价值，也很难确定这些好处给富士康或苹果的利润带来的确切影响。中国政府和富士康均未就补贴进行过披露。公开记录里找不到相关信息。苹果则表示，它没有参加富士康的谈判。
The confidential government records obtained by The Times detail multiple meetings over several years in which Zhengzhou city officials discussed their "support" for iPhone production, calling the benefits a "preferential policy." The records offer a snapshot of those benefits,	时报拿到的一些保密的政府记录，记载着若干年间多次会议的详情，郑州市的官员在会上讨论了他们对 iPhone 生产的支持，把相关好处称为“优惠政策”。从记录中可以大概了解这些好处，其中比较具体的包括在基础设施、劳动力、税收、出口等多个方面为富士康提供的特别帮助。

including the specific aid for Foxconn in multiple areas, like infrastructure, labor, taxes and exports.
As China's largest private employer, Foxconn, a Taiwanese company, has enormous leverage in the negotiations for those incentives. The company's size and scale — and the sway that they afford in China — is connected to Apple. Foxconn is Apple's largest supplier. Apple is Foxconn's largest customer.	作为中国最大的私营企业，台湾公司富士康在争取这些奖励的谈判中握有大量筹码。该公司的规模——及其在中国的影响力——与苹果有关。富士康是苹果的最大供应商。苹果是富士康的最大客户。
The two companies are intertwined in Zhengzhou. When the factory opened, Apple was Foxconn's only customer here. Even now, the American technology company accounts for almost all of the production at the Zhengzhou plant, where about half of the world's iPhones are made. Apple is also the main exporter using the customs facility here.	两家公司在郑州有着密切的关联。工厂开张时，苹果曾是富士康在这里的唯一一个客户。即便现在，郑州工厂的所有产品也几乎都是为这家美国科技公司生产的——全世界约一半的 iPhones 都出自该工厂。苹果还是利用这里的海关设施的主要出口商。
In response to questions, Apple said it was aware of the government's infrastructure support. But the company added that it had no knowledge of specific grants, subsidies or tax breaks given to its manufacturing partner.	苹果在回答有关问题时表示，它知道政府提供了基础设施方面的支持。但该公司还表示，它并不掌握生产合作伙伴得到拨款、补贴或税收减免的信息。
Foxconn, in a separate statement, said it was grateful for the support of the government, noting that it was "no different than similar tax breaks all companies get in locations around the world for major investments." The company added that it had purchased some of the factories originally built and paid for by the government.	富士康在一份单独的声明中对政府的支持表示感谢，并指出：这些支持“与所有公司在世界各地进行大规模投资时会获得的税收减免并无二致”。该公司还说，它买下了某些最初由政府建造或者出资的工厂。
A growing backlash against globalization puts Apple and other big multinationals directly in the sightlines of two increasingly combative giants: the United States and China.	在全球化遭到日益强烈的反对之际，苹果以及其他大型跨国公司被争斗愈发激烈的两个大国——美国和中国牢牢盯住。

President-elect Donald J. Trump has vowed to bring down the full force of the government on American companies that move jobs overseas, threatening punitive tariffs on the goods they sell back at home. Apple has been a frequent target of Mr. Trump, who said during the campaign that he would get the technology company to “build their damn computers and things in this country.”	候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. China, under the leadership of President Xi Jinping, is growing less tolerant and more suspicious of Western influence, particularly American technology companies and the huge influence they have over Chinese consumers. China, no longer content with just being the world’s factory floor, is moving aggressively to develop its own technology giants. The two countries are playing a high-stakes game.	两国正在玩一个事关重大的游戏。
Apple, like many multinationals, depends on a vast global supply chain that includes multiple companies and countries, each with its own expertise and advantages – a complexity that is often lost in the political discussion over trade. As China and the United States both brandish a new form of economic nationalism, they risk disrupting the system, without necessarily achieving their goals. And multinationals and their manufacturing partners would face serious financial trade-offs.	随着中美两国都高举一种新型的经济民族主义，它们可能会扰乱相关制度，却不一定能实现各自的目标。并且跨国公司及其生产商可能会在财务上面临严峻的权衡。
As the Zhengzhou operation shows, China not only provides a large pool of labor; it also offers incentives that would be difficult to replicate in the United States or anywhere else. The bonus is small on each of the tens of millions of iPhones produced during that period. But the subsidies add up: The government records list more than a dozen other forms of financial aid at the Zhengzhou operation.	在那期间，该厂生产了数千万部 iPhone。这笔奖金分摊到每一部 iPhone 上的金额不足挂齿。但相关补贴积少成多：政府的记录列出了对郑州厂其他十多种形式的财务援助。
The Zhengzhou government eliminated corporate taxes and value-added taxes that Foxconn pays for the first five years of production; they are half the usual rate for the next five. The city lowered Foxconn's social insurance and other payments for workers, by up to $100 million a year.	郑州政府免去了富士康前五年的公司税和增值税。接下来的五年里，它们仅为常规税率的一半。该市还降低了富士康为员工交纳的社会保险和其他费用，这些优惠一年高达 1 亿美元。
The customs operation is also in a so-called bonded zone, an area that China essentially considers foreign soil, subject to different import and export rules. This setup allows Apple to sell iPhones more easily to Chinese consumers.	海关业务也设在一个人们所说的保税区内。中国基本上认定保税区属于海外，适用不同的进出口规则。这种设置使苹果能够更加轻松地把 iPhone 卖给中国消费者。

Apple was late to China.	苹果入华，姗姗来迟。
In a bid to lower costs, some of the biggest American technology companies, including Compaq, Dell and Hewlett-Packard, began dismantling their domestic manufacturing in the 1980s and moving work overseas, largely to Asia. Not Apple. The company's co-founder, Steven P. Jobs, believed that software and hardware development had to be closely integrated.	80 年代，为了降低成本，美国最大的一些科技公司，包括康柏(Compaq)、戴尔(Dell)和惠普(Hewlett-Packard)，纷纷拆除国内的生产设施，将生产转移至海外，其主要目的地则是亚洲。但苹果没有。该公司的联合创始人史蒂文·P·乔布斯(Steven P. Jobs)认为，软件和硬件的开发必须紧密结合。
Rather than close plants, Apple decided to build them — in Colorado, Texas and California. Apple would maintain some of them long after Mr. Jobs left the company in 1985. The plants were highly automated, with	苹果非但没有关闭工厂，更是决定在科罗拉多、德克萨斯和加利福尼亚州兴建工厂。在乔布斯 1985 年离开公司很久以后，苹果仍保留着其中部分工厂。这些工厂高度自动化，墙面就像乔布斯喜欢的那样被漆成了白色。它们被宣

the walls painted white, just as Mr. Jobs liked them, and they were promoted as a symbol of American ingenuity.	传成了美国聪明才智的象征。
"This is a machine that is made in America," Mr. Jobs trumpeted in 1984, after Apple opened a manufacturing facility in California to produce the Macintosh personal computer.	1984年，苹果在加利福尼亚州开设了一座生产麦金塔(Macintosh)个人电脑的工厂后，乔布斯宣称，“这是一款美国制造的机器。”
Finances forced Apple to change course. As Mac sales plummeted and inventories began to bulge in the mid-1990s, Apple had to embrace outsourcing, something with which it had only just experimented. After Mr. Jobs returned to the company in 1997, he turned to his new operations chief, Mr. Cook, who had recently joined from Compaq, to figure out how.	资金问题迫使苹果改变路线。90年代中期，随着Mac销量暴跌，库存开始激增，苹果不得不接受外包。而对于外包，苹果当时仅仅只是展开尝试。乔布斯1997年回归苹果后，他让新上任的运营负责人库克制定具体方案。彼时，库克刚从康柏加入苹果不久。
Under the direction of Mr. Cook, Apple shifted more business to Foxconn, then an up-and-coming Taiwanese contract manufacturer that had started to gain a following among big American brands like Compaq, IBM and Intel. The partnership freed up Apple to focus on its strengths — design and marketing. Apple would come up with a new idea, and Foxconn would find ways to produce millions of units at a low cost.	在库克的指挥下，苹果将更多业务转移给富士康。当时的富士康是台湾一家前景看好的合约制造商，已开始与康柏、IBM和英特尔(Intel)等美国大品牌中赢得了支持者。与富士康的合作让苹果得以腾出精力，聚焦于自己的长项，即设计和营销。苹果想到一个新点子后，富士康会想办法以较低的成本展开规模化生产。 hundreds of thousands of workers.

Foxconn's founder, the Taiwanese billionaire Terry Gou, provided political clout. Over the years, he frequently visited China to meet local officials and members of the decision-making Politburo to lobby for subsidies, cheap land, workers and infrastructure for facilities that churned out iPods, iPads and iPhones.	富士康的创始人、台湾亿万富翁郭台铭(Terry Gou)提供了政治影响力。多年来,他频繁前往大陆,与地方官员和决策机构中央政治局的成员会面,为生产 iPod、iPad 和 iPhone 的工厂争取补贴、廉价土地、工人和基础设施。
"The reason Foxconn's so big is Terry Gou," said Tony Fadell, a former Apple executive who helped design the iPod. "He said he'd create the manufacturing, and the Chinese government would give him some of the money to do it. As Terry grew with the Apple business, no one else could compete."	"富士康实力如此之强的原因在于郭台铭,"曾参与设计 iPod 的前苹果高管托尼·法代尔(Tony Fadell)说。"他说过,如果他办厂,中国政府会给他提供部分建厂资金。随着郭台铭的实力凭借苹果的业务而与日俱增,没有其他人能和他竞争。"
After the first iPhone was rolled out in 2007, Foxconn moved to expand production and began scouting new locations around China — unleashing a fierce competition among cities eager for the business. Officials from various regions camped out at hotels in Shenzhen, where Foxconn had its main operations.	2007 年第一款 iPhone 推出后,富士康着手扩大生产,并开始在全中国考察新址,导致渴望引进该公司的城市之间出现了激烈的竞争。来自各地的官员,在富士康主要业务所在地深圳的各家酒店里安营扎寨。
"These have become like Olympic competitions," said Gao Yuning, who teaches public policy at Tsinghua University in Beijing.	"变得像奥运会比赛一样,"在北京的清华大学教授公共政策的高宇宁说。
The Zhengzhou government saw the factory as a huge opportunity for development in an area that had been bypassed by China's boom. Officials wanted to rebrand a place derided as a source of migrant laborers and unfairly tarnished as a land of thieves and counterfeiters.	郑州政府认为,在一个被中国的繁荣抛在身后的地区,该厂是一个巨大的发展机遇。该地区因为是农民工的一大来源地而受到嘲笑,并遭到有失公允的诋毁,被认为是一个充斥着小偷和骗子的地方。官方希望重塑该地区的形象。
City officials lavished money and favorable investment terms on Foxconn, according to the government records. They promised discounted energy and transportation costs, lower social insurance	政府记录显示,市一级官员慷慨地给予了富士康资金和有利的投资条件。他们承诺对能源和运输费用打折、降低社会保险费用并为修建厂房和安置数十万工人的宿舍提供超过 15 亿美元的经费。 payments, and more than $1.5 billion in grants for the construction of factories and dormitories that could house hundreds of thousands of workers.

The city created a special economic zone for the project and provided a $250 million loan to Foxconn. The local government also pledged to spend more than $10 billion to vastly expand the airport, just a few miles away from the factory.	郑州为该项目设立了一个特殊的经济区，并为富士康提供了 2.5 亿美元的贷款。当地政府还承诺再投入逾 100 亿美元，用于大幅扩建距离工厂仅几英里的机场。
"We know that China has all sorts of policies to promote development, and this one ticks all the right boxes," said Barry Naughton, an authority on the Chinese economy at the University of California, San Diego.	"我们知道中国有各种各样的促发展政策，而这项政策则满足了所有需求，"加州大学圣迭戈分校(University of California, San Diego)中国经济问题权威巴里·诺顿(Barry Naughton)说。
The city moved quickly. Factories were built, licenses were approved and assembly lines began operating in August 2010, just a few months after the government signed the deal. In Zhengzhou, the Chinese government effectively took a huge tract of land on the barren, dusty plains of central China and transformed it into a sprawling industrial park.	该市动作迅速。厂房拔地而起，证照获批，装配线于 2010 年 8 月开始运行，此时距政府签订协议仅过去了几个月。在郑州，中国政府实际上是将该国中部贫瘠且尘土飞扬的一大片平原土地，变成了一个庞大的工业园。
"I was impressed," said Jeff Williams, Apple's chief operating officer, who was part of the early discussions about setting up a factory. "They were very focused."	"我很佩服，"参加过关于建厂的早期讨论的苹果首席运营官杰夫·威廉姆斯(Jeff Williams)说。"他们非常专注。"

3 Men Made Millions by Hacking Merger Lawyers, U.S. Says	中国黑客被控入侵美国律师电脑，获利 400 万美元
Law firms that advise on mergers once had to worry about a rogue employee trading on deal tips. Now, they have to worry about hackers doing the same.	以前，负责并购交易的律师事务所需要担心行为不轨的员工用与交易有关的内部信息买卖股票。现在，他们也要小心黑客会做出同样的行为。

Federal prosecutors in Manhattan have charged three Chinese citizens with making more than $4 million by trading on information they got by hacking into some of the top merger-advising law firms in New York. The three men targeted at least seven New York law firms to try to obtain information about deals in the works, according to an indictment unsealed on Tuesday.	曼哈顿的联邦检察官已起诉三名中国公民，指控他们用黑客手法，从纽约几家最大的律师事务所窃取信息，并用有关信息进行股票交易，获利逾400万美元，被窃取信息的律师事务所均从事并购业务。据周二公布的起诉书显示，这三人的目标包括至少七家纽约律师事务所，他们试图获取律所正在进行的并购业务相关信息。

How China Built 'iPhone City' With Billions in Perks for Apple's Partner	中国“苹果城”(下): 苹果的扩张与妥协

Made, and Sold, in China	在中国制造, 在中国销售
When Apple first moved into China, the country was largely a low-cost production site. It quickly evolved into one of the world's biggest consumer markets, with more than a billion potential customers.	当苹果首次进入中国时, 这里主要是一个低成本的生产基地。后来中国迅速发展成为世界上最大的消费市场之一, 拥有超过10亿的潜在客户。
But Apple initially had to take the "Hong Kong U-turn" to get its products into the hands of Chinese consumers.	但苹果最初不得不靠“从香港返销”的方法, 让中国消费者得到它的产品。
Since China began opening its economy to the outside world in the 1980s, the government's policies have encouraged manufacturing and exports with the creation of special economic zones. But those same policies have discouraged domestic consumption of overseas brands.	自从上世纪80年代中国经济开始对外开放以来, 政府政策设立了经济特区, 一直在鼓励制造业和出口。但同样的政策却阻碍了国内对海外品牌的消费。

Most products made in China by big multinationals had to be physically shipped out of the country and then brought back so that they could be taxed as imports – hence, the U-turn employed by many companies.	大型跨国公司在中国制造的大多数产品必须先运到国外去，然后再运回来，这样它们就可以作为进口商品征税，因此，许多公司采用了从香港返销的方法。
In 2005, Apple’s best-selling portable music device, the iPod, was manufactured in southern China. To comply with the country’s stringent rules, iPods were loaded onto a cargo ship and sent to Hong Kong. Often, when the ship arrived, it was simply turned around and sent back to China.	2005年，苹果最畅销的产品是便携式音乐播放设备 iPod，这款产品是在中国南方制造的。为了遵守中国的严格法规，iPod 被装载到货轮上发到香港。通常的情况是，货轮抵达香港后，它只是掉个头，就返回中国大陆。
“This was really a legacy of China’s old export-oriented economy,” said Edwin Keh, the former head of global procurement at Walmart, who worked for the retailer and other multinationals in China for 20 years. “Back then, we built supply chains good at making things in the East and selling them in the West.”	“这其实是中国以前以出口为导向的经济遗留下来的，”曾任沃尔玛全球采购部负责人的葛仪文(Edwin Keh)说，他为沃尔玛和其他跨国公司在中國大陸工作了20年。“那时候，我们建立的供应链擅长于在东方生产东西、在西方卖东西。”
Apple and other multinationals wanted a better system.	苹果和其他跨国公司希望有一个更好的体系。
By the time Apple released the iPhone in 2007, China faced growing pressure to loosen its restrictions and give global companies easier access to its market. Apple and other multinationals believed that shipping goods to Hong Kong was a waste of time and energy. They wanted to send goods from the factory gate in China directly to their stores and distribution centers inside the country.	当苹果在2007年发布 iPhone 时，中国面临要求其放松限制、允许全球公司更容易进入国内市场的压力越来越大。苹果和其他跨国公司认为，把货物运到香港既浪费时间、也浪费精力。他们想把货物从中国的工厂大门口直接送到公司在国内的商店和经销中心。
In discussions with Zhengzhou officials, Foxconn insisted that the operation be located inside a bonded zone, equipped with customs right at the factory gate to facilitate iPhone exports. It also wanted the factory to be built within a few miles of the city’s airport, to expedite Apple’s global shipments.	在与郑州官员的讨论中，富士康坚持要把工厂建在保税区内，并在工厂大门外设立海关，以方便 iPhone 的出口。富士康还要求把工厂建在距离郑州机场几英里的距离内，以加快苹果的全球发货速度。

Although it wasn't the first city to create such a cohesive operation, Zhengzhou provided a convenient system, since it would serve what would become the world's largest iPhone manufacturing facility.	虽然郑州不是第一个创造了这种全方位操作工序的城市，但它提供了一个方便的体系，为郑州后来作为世界上最大的 iPhone 制造中心提供了便利。
A bonded zone functions much like a diplomatic territory, in that the government regards it as foreign soil. The zone eliminates the need for global brands to pay duties or taxes on imported components. And it makes it unnecessary to physically export the goods. In those zones, products can be imported and exported virtually at customs, without crossing a single border. After that, they can move swiftly around the country, or out to the rest of the world.	保税区的功能与外交领域颇为相似，因为政府将保税区作为外国领土对待。保税区消除了全球品牌企业为进口组件支付关税或税收的必要性。而且保税区使货物实际出口到国外变得不必要。在保税区，产品可以在海关进行虚拟的进出口，而不必跨越任何国界。过海关后，这些商品就可以快速地送往全国各地或世界其他地方。
As the final assembly point for the iPhone, China also functions as a base for Apple's global tax strategy.	作为 iPhone 的最终装配地，中国也成了苹果全球税务策略基地。
In the Zhengzhou bonded zone, typically at customs, Foxconn sells the finished iPhones to Apple. After purchasing the iPhones, Apple then resells the goods to Apple subsidiaries. The process largely takes place electronically.	在郑州保税区，富士康通常是在海关将组装好的 iPhone 出售给苹果。苹果购买了这些 iPhone 之后，再把它们转售给苹果的子公司。整个过程基本上以电子的方式进行。
The process also plays out with other Apple goods that are produced in the country. Apple can assign some profits on these goods to an affiliate in Ireland, a tax-advantageous locale, according to a 2013 American congressional report on the company's tax practices. It is a practice commonly employed by many big technology brands and is not unique to China.	这个过程也会用于在中国生产的其他苹果产品上。美国国会 2013 年发布的一份有关该公司税务策略的报告显示，苹果可将这些商品带来的部分利润分给一个设在爱尔兰的分支机构。爱尔兰在税收方面具有优势。这种做法被不少大型科技品牌广泛采用，并非中国所独有。
"U.S. multinationals are the world leaders in tax avoidance strategies," said Edward D. Kleinbard, the former chief of staff of the congressional Joint Committee on Taxation. "In doing so, they create stateless	"在避税策略上，美国的跨国公司是全世界的领导者，"前国会税收联合委员会(Joint Committee on Taxation)幕僚长爱德华·D·克莱恩巴德(Edward D. Kleinbard)说。"这么做时，他们创造出了无国籍收入，也就是脱离了和它有

income — income that has become unmoored from the countries to which it has an economic connection.”	经济联系的国家的收入。”
According to the congressional report, the process allowed Apple to move tens of billions of dollars offshore and substantially reduce its tax bill, which one senator called the “holy grail of tax avoidance.” The European Union in August ordered Ireland to claw back more than $14.5 billion from Apple in unpaid taxes from a decade-long period.	国会的这份报告显示，这个过程让苹果能够将数百亿美元转移至境外，极大地减低了其税额。一名参议员称其为“避税圣杯”。8月，欧盟责令爱尔兰追回苹果十年期间的逾145亿美元未交纳税款。
Apple said it follows all applicable tax rules, insisting that the company pays all its taxes. The company said it had made some changes to its tax procedures to comply with new laws, including registering a subsidiary in Ireland that previously had no tax jurisdiction. It is appealing the ruling in the European Union.	苹果称，该公司遵守适用的一切税收规定，并坚称自己交纳了所有税款。它表示，为了遵守新法律，已对纳税程序做出了一些改变，包括为一家设在爱尔兰的子公司办理登记。此前，爱尔兰没有税收管辖权。目前，苹果正在就欧盟的裁决进行上诉。
In Zhengzhou, local officials have lauded the package of incentives provided to Foxconn, confident that the city’s iPhone production will continue to pay huge dividends.	在郑州，当地官员对提供给富士康的一整套优惠措施表示称赞，确信该市的iPhone生产会继续带来巨大的收益。
In August 2014, the city’s top leaders held a special meeting to discuss “deepening collaboration” with Foxconn, according to the government records obtained by The Times. They crowed that Zhengzhou was the “biggest production base for Apple iPhone worldwide.”	时报拿到的政府记录显示，2014年8月，该市的高层领导召开了一次特别会议，讨论与富士康“深化合作”。他们对郑州是“全球最大的苹果iPhone生产基地”颇为得意。
There were 94 production lines producing the iPhone 6 and iPhone 5s, and the government said about 230 million smartphones had already been exported from Zhengzhou, making it one of the nation’s crucial export centers. Production capacity had reached half a million iPhones a day. The city’s tax revenue was rapidly rising.	郑州有94条iPhone 6和iPhone 5s的生产线，政府称已有约2.3亿部智能手机从郑州出口，这使郑州跻身中国至关重要的出口中心之列。产能现已达到一天50万部iPhone。该市的税收收入正在迅速增加。
Officials had a name for it all: “Zhengzhou Speed.”	官员给这一切起了一个名字：“郑州速度。”

Bitcoin Price Soars, Fueled by Speculation and Global Currency Turmoil	中国投机者推动，比特币价格堪比黄金
SAN FRANCISCO — The virtual currency Bitcoin has been swept up in yet another speculative frenzy, pushing its price toward the peak it last reached in late 2013.	旧金山——虚拟货币比特币的价格在新的一波投机狂潮中飙升，冲向了2013年年底达到的峰值。
The price of Bitcoin has been buoyed by increased interest from places like Venezuela, where the local currency has lost much of its value, and India, where the government recently removed the largest cash notes from circulation.	来自委内瑞拉和印度等地的兴趣推高了比特币的价格：委内瑞拉的货币已经失去了大部分价值，而印度最近不再流通最大面额的钞票。
More broadly, a tilt toward isolationism that has emerged in American and European politics — highlighted by Donald J. Trump's election victory — has given a new sheen to a currency that can move between countries with little oversight.	从更广泛的角度看，美国和欧洲政治中出现的孤立主义倾向——唐纳德·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)的当选突显了这种倾向——给比特币带来了新的优势，因为它可以几乎不受监管地在国家之间流动。
"The more there is an expectation for new barriers to be erected, the more there is an expectation that Bitcoin will be valuable for moving money across borders," said Gil Luria, the director of research at Wedbush Securities.	"人们越是预期会出现新的障碍，就越会预期比特币会对货币在国家之间的流通具有价值，"韦德布什证券(Wedbush Securities)的研究主任吉尔·卢里亚(Gil Luria)说。
Still, most of the people actually buying and selling Bitcoin these days	不过，如今大部分真正买卖比特币的人来自一个国家：中国。 are coming from a single country: China.

Some wealthy Chinese have used Bitcoin to evade their government's strict controls on moving money in and out of the country, according to Bitcoin specialists in China.	中国的比特币专家们称,有些富有的中国人用比特币逃避政府对向境内外转移货币的严格控制。
But the heavy trading on Chinese Bitcoin exchanges, much of it by automated software, suggests that most of the price movement is a result of bets by speculators.	但是,中国比特币交易所的大量交易——很多是通过自动软件进行的——表明,大部分价格浮动是投机者下注的结果。
In recent days, the price of a Bitcoin has been about 3 percent higher on these exchanges than on dollar denominated exchanges, suggesting more demand in China than outside.	近些天,中国比特币交易所的比特币价格比美元交易所的大约高3%,这表明中国的需求大于其他地方。
The importance of speculators suggests that the value of Bitcoin is still driven by the hope of how it might be used someday, rather than real world use today, which has generally been hard to quantify.	投机者的重要性表明,比特币的价值依然是由对它未来潜在使用方式的期望所推动的,而不是被当下现实世界的使用所推动,后者通常很难量化。
In dollar terms, a Bitcoin was going for about $1,025 on Tuesday, or about 140 percent more than what it cost at the beginning of 2016.	按照美元换算,周二,1比特币大约能兑换1025美元,比2016初的价格高了约140%。
The volatile price has led many analysts to conclude that is less similar to a currency than to a commodity, like gold, which has a value resulting from its scarcity. In Bitcoin's case, the rules of the network dictate that only 21 million Bitcoin will ever be created.	它动荡的价格令很多分析师认为,它不太像货币,而更像黄金这样的大宗商品,它的价值源于稀缺性。就比特币而言,该网络的规则决定了最多只能创造出2100万比特币。
The recent rise has brought the price of one Bitcoin to within striking distance of the price of an ounce of gold, which was about $1,150 on Monday.	由于最近的价格上涨,1比特币的价格已经令人震惊地接近1盎司黄金的价格——周一,1盎司黄金大约价值1150美元。
The price has increased in the last year despite the lack of interest in Bitcoin from banks and a majority of more sophisticated investors.	尽管银行以及大部分更成熟的投资者对比特币缺乏兴趣,但它的价格在过去一年里还是上涨了。
After showing early interest in the currency, most big banks have	在早期对这种货币表现出兴趣之后,大部分大银行转而在区块链上进行投资

moved on to make investments in the blockchain, the new type of ledger technology introduced by Bitcoin, while eschewing Bitcoin itself.	——区块链是比特币推出的一种新型记账技术——但回避比特币本身。
Some central banks have talked about issuing their own national currencies on some sort of blockchain inspired by but unrelated to the blockchain that Bitcoin uses.	有些中央银行讨论过在某种区块链上发行自己的国家货币，那种区块链是以比特币所使用的区块链为启发，但与之无关。
Bitcoin and the blockchain were introduced in late 2008 by a mysterious coder who used the name Satoshi Nakamoto. Anyone with a computer and internet access can open a Bitcoin wallet and help maintain the blockchain ledger where all Bitcoin transactions are recorded.	比特币和区块链是2008年由一位化名为中本聪(Satoshi Nakamoto, 音译)的神秘编码员推出的。任何一个有电脑和互联网接入的人都可以开设一个比特币钱包，帮助维护区块链账簿——所有的比特币交易都记录在上面。
Because it is run by a decentralized network of computers around the world, Bitcoin does not require a central authority like a central bank or financial institution. That has made it attractive to people who hope to do financial transactions anonymously, such as the drug dealers who have sold illicit goods for Bitcoin on the Silk Road website and its successors.	由于比特币是由世界各地分散的电脑网络运作的，所以它不需要中央银行这样的中央权威机构或金融机构。这一点吸引了那些想进行匿名金融交易的人，比如在丝路网站(Silk Road)及其后继者上出售非法商品以获取比特币的毒贩。
New Bitcoins are released at regular intervals to computers helping to support the Bitcoin network, and previously released Bitcoins can be bought and sold on exchanges around the world.	新比特币定期向帮助支持比特币网络的电脑发行，之前发行的比特币可以在世界各地的交易所买卖。
Since 2009, the price of Bitcoin has generally been defined by long periods of stability marked by short periods of speculative excitement.	从2009年起，比特币的价格总体来说表现出长期的稳定和短期的投机兴奋。
Many Bitcoin businesses have wanted to edit the basic Bitcoin software to change the number of transactions that can move through the network every day. But the proposed changes have run into opposition from the team of coders responsible for maintaining the basic Bitcoin	很多比特币企业想要编辑根本的比特币软件，改变该网络每天可以处理的交易量。但是，那些提议的改变遭到负责维护根本比特币软件的编码员团队的反对。中国的很多比特币公司站在那些编码员一边。

software. Many Chinese Bitcoin companies have sided with the coders.
That disagreement has led to slowdowns on the Bitcoin network, with some transactions taking days to be processed. The slowdowns have made it harder to use Bitcoin for everyday payments.	这种分歧导致比特币网络的运转速度慢了下来,有些交易要花费数日才能完成。这种减慢导致使用比特币进行日常支付更为困难。
But through the controversy the security of the basic Bitcoin wallets and transaction software has held up, making it a potential alternative for people in countries with less secure currencies and financial institutions.	但是,在争议持续期间,根本的比特币钱包和交易软件的安全性一直相当稳固。因此,在那些货币和金融机构较不安全的国家,它可以成为潜在的替代选择。
In November, interest in Bitcoin spiked in India after the government announced moves to quickly ban the largest Indian bank notes, in an effort to crack down on corruption.	去年11月,为打击腐败,印度政府宣布将采取行动快速禁用最大面额的印度货币,因此,印度人对比特币的兴趣急剧上升。
The continued fall in the value of the Venezuelan currency, the bolívar, has led to reports about Venezuelans desperate to exchange their money for Bitcoin.	有报道称,委内瑞拉货币博利瓦的持续贬值导致委内瑞拉人疯狂地把货币兑换成比特币。
But despite the new demand, the total value of all outstanding Bitcoin, about $16 billion, is still only that of a medium-size American company, and is not large enough to sustain the demand of even a moderate number of Indians or Venezuelans looking to store their wealth in the virtual currency.	尽管出现了这些新需求,但目前发行的全部比特币的总价值约为160亿美元,仅相当于一家美国中型公司的资产,甚至不足以维持期望用这种虚拟货币储存财富的少量印度人或委内瑞拉人的需求。
That points back to the importance of speculators, who are betting that someday soon people worldwide will turn to Bitcoin for their daily financial needs, and push the price much higher.	而这一点再次指出投机者的重要性,他们为自己的判断压上赌注,认为在不久的将来,全世界人将使用比特币满足日常金融需求,比特币的价格会被抬高很多。
"I ascribe only 10 percent of the value of Bitcoin to current day usage, and more like 90 percent of it to the expectation of future usage," Mr. Luria of Webush Securities said.	"我认为,只有10%的比特币是供当下使用,超过90%是与对未来使用的期待相关的,"韦德布什证券的卢里亚说。

China, Seeking to Stop Weakening of Currency, Issues Restrictions	人民币汇率大涨，中国央行否认干预
HONG KONG — Global markets spent most of 2016 adjusting to the reality of a slow but steady weakening of China's currency.	香港——全球市场在 2016 年花了大部分时间来适应中国货币缓慢但稳步走软的现实。
Now, it is Beijing that appears uncomfortable with that state of affairs.	现在，北京看来对这种状况感到不舒服了。
Financial regulators appear to have grown increasingly concerned in recent weeks about the pace of the renminbi's depreciation and the amount of capital flowing out of the country.	最近几周，金融监管人员似乎越来越关注人民币贬值的步伐以及中国资金外流的数额。
On Saturday, they issued stricter rules on individuals moving renminbi offshore in exchange for dollars. On Wednesday, Bloomberg News reported that the authorities were considering ordering state-owned companies to sell their foreign currency and to hold renminbi instead.	上周六，他们发布了限制个人兑换美元外汇的更严格的规则，以防止人民币转移海外。彭博新闻周三报道说，当局正在考虑下令国有企业出售它们持有的外币，改持人民币。
Against a pause in the dollar's resurgence, the result of those measures has been to temporarily reverse the slide in the Chinese currency's value.	在美元升值暂停的背景下，这些措施的结果是暂时扭转了人民币汇率的下滑。
The effect has been most pronounced in Hong Kong, where a small pool of offshore renminbi trades more freely than in mainland China. After a two-day rally, the offshore renminbi rose as much as 2.5 percent to 6.7853 against the dollar on Thursday, an exceptional gain for a currency that is usually subject to staid trading.	效果在香港最为明显，那里有一小部分离岸人民币进行比在中国大陆更自由的交易。周四，在经过两天的反弹后，离岸人民币已升值高达 2.5%，汇率上升到 6.7853 元兑一美元，这对一种通常交易平淡的货币来说是罕见的涨幅。
Beijing's capital controls, and fears that more measures could be on the way, have tightened conditions in a city where the Chinese currency is already in short supply.	北京的资本管制，加上人们对政府可能采取更多措施的担忧，已使人民币在香港进一步收紧，那里的人民币已经供不应求。
"A limited offshore C.N.H. pool and expectations for renminbi	"有限的离岸人民币资源以及对人民币贬值的预期，正使得离岸人民币的流

depreciation are keeping C.N.H. liquidity tight," said Frances Cheung, head of rates strategy for Asia outside of Japan at Société Générale, referring to offshore renminbi.	动性紧缩，“法国兴业银行(Société Générale)亚洲（除日本）利率策略主管张淑娴(Frances Cheung)说。
Because of the restrictions on capital, borrowing costs for offshore renminbi have been edging up for weeks on the interbank market, where lenders and other major financial institutions seek funding. But by Thursday, that overnight deposit rate briefly rose as high as 100 percent — by comparison, it hovered between 1 percent and 3 percent for most of October and November.	由于资本管制，离岸人民币的借款成本在银行间市场上已经持续逐渐上升好几周了，银行间市场是放款者及其他主要金融机构寻求资金的地方。但到周四，隔夜存款利率一度短暂升高到100%，相比之下，在去年10月和11月的大部分时间里，这个利率一直在1%和3%之间徘徊。
Some analysts said the sharp swings in offshore exchange rates and borrowing costs appeared to be engineered by the Chinese leadership, as a way to ease depreciation pressure on the renminbi and to discourage short sellers, or investors who bet on declines in the currency, often by using borrowed funds.	一些分析师说，离岸汇率和借贷成本的急剧波动似乎是由中国领导人操控的，以作为一种缓解人民币贬值压力和阻止卖空者的方法。卖空者指那些通过货币贬值来盈利的投资者，他们通常用借款来进行操作。
“Movements of this speed and magnitude have to be either official intervention or officially directed action by Beijing,” said Christopher Balding, an associate professor of finance at the Peking University HSBC School of Business in Shenzhen, China. “The purpose is to remove renminbi from offshore centers like Hong Kong, which had been continuing to be a factor placing downward pressure on the renminbi.”	“这种速度和规模的变化一定是来自北京方面的官方干预或指导下的行动，”北京大学汇丰商学院副教授克里斯托弗·鲍尔丁(Christopher Balding)说。“目的是从像香港这样的离岸中心撤走人民币，离岸中心一直是对人民币施加下行压力的持续因素。”
The Chinese central bank, the People’s Bank of China, denied that it was behind recent movements in the offshore currency market.	中国央行中国人民银行否认操纵了离岸货币市场的近期走向。
In an emailed response to questions, the central bank’s press office said claims that it had directly or indirectly intervened in the offshore renminbi market in Hong Kong were “not true.” It declined to elaborate.	央行新闻办公室在一封回答有关问题的邮件中表示，关于央行直接或间接干预香港离岸人民币市场的说法“不真实”，但拒绝做出更详细的解释。

Some economists noted that the tight conditions in the offshore market were enough to set off the squeeze without the central bank having to intervene directly.	一些经济学家指出，离岸市场紧缩本身已足以让汇率上升，无需中央银行的直接干预。
"Liquidity had been tight since September, and the market had widely expect tight liquidity condition to continue," said Becky Liu, the head of China macro strategy at Standard Chartered Bank in Hong Kong.	渣打银行在香港的中国宏观策略部门负责人刘洁(Becky Liu)说：“自去年9月以来，流动性一直紧张，市场普遍预期流动性紧张的情况将持续下去。”

It is a philosophy that he developed in the 1980s as a deputy United States trade representative and fine-tuned in the decades-long career that followed as the main trade lawyer for the American steel industry. Now he appears ready to train that focus sharply on China.	这种处世态度,是他在20世纪80年代担任美国副贸易代表时形成的,在后来作为美国钢铁行业主要贸易律师几十年的职业生涯中,得到了进一步完善。现在,在他看来已经准备好要把精力集中到对付中国上来。

Over the years, Mr. Lighthizer has consistently taken the position that foreign countries are subsidizing their exporters while quietly but systematically blocking imports to protect jobs in their own countries. His answer is to pursue a long list of trade measures limiting America's imports — even if those actions may be barely permissible, if at all, under World Trade Organization rules.	多年来,莱特希泽一贯的观点是,为保护国内的就业机会,外国一直对其出口商给予补贴,并同时暗中系统地阻止进口。他的对策是找寻一系列贸易措施,限制美国的进口,即使世界贸易组织的规定只是勉强许可那样做,况且这种做法有可能得不到许可。
"To attack a problem as large as our trade deficit with China, U.S. officials must be prepared, at a minimum, to consider very aggressive positions at the W.T.O.," he said.	他说,"为了解决像我们与中国的贸易赤字这样大的问题,美国官员必须有所准备,至少要考虑在世界贸易组织做出非常声势浩大的表示。"
The choice of Mr. Lighthizer — and the trade tensions it underscores — leaves China in a difficult spot. He is part of a group of Trump trade appointees with close links to exactly the kinds of metal-bashing old-economy industries in which China faces the greatest overcapacity, and the toughest choices about how to close factories and lay off	提名莱特希泽为贸易代表,以及这一选择突显的紧张贸易关系,让中国处于一种艰难的境地。包括莱特希泽在内,特朗普选择的与贸易有关的一票提名人都与以传统金属制造为主的旧经济产业有密切关系,而中国恰好在这些产业面临最大的产能过剩问题,以及如何关闭工厂和让工人下岗的最棘手选择。限制这些工业向美国的出口将使中国的选择更加困难。

workers. Restrictions on exports to the United States will make those choices even harder for China.
Wilbur Ross, the billionaire investor who is Mr. Trump's choice to become commerce secretary, made large chunks of his fortune in steel and auto parts, two huge industries that in China are ramping up exports. Peter Navarro, the head of the new White House office overseeing trade and industrial policy, is a vociferous critic of globalization who has contended that American purchases of imported goods at Walmart are helping China pay for nuclear-tipped missiles aimed at the United States.	特朗普的商业部长人选是亿万富翁投资家威尔伯·罗斯(Wilbur Ross),他的财富有一大部分是从钢铁和汽车零部件产业赚来的,中国的这两个行业十分庞大,同时也在大幅增加这类产品的出口。新白宫的贸易和工业政策办公室负责人彼得·纳瓦罗(Peter Navarro)是一位全球化的猛烈批评者,他声称,美国人在沃尔玛购买进口商品,是在帮助中国为制造针对美国的带有核弹头的导弹埋单。
The timing is bad for China.	这个时机对中国来说不怎么好。
The Chinese economy is slowing despite vast amounts of fiscal and monetary stimulus. Big manufacturers in most industries are struggling with overcapacity, pushing them to sell goods overseas at cut-rate, even money-losing prices, just to cover their operating costs. Mr. Lighthizer has argued for years that the United States should keep out goods made with government subsidies or sold below the full cost of making them.	尽管有大量的财政和货币刺激措施,中国的经济仍在放缓。大多数行业的大型制造商都在努力解决产能过剩的问题,迫使他们以极低、甚至亏损的价格向海外销售商品,只要能保住他们的运营成本。莱特希泽多年来一直主张,美国应该不让用政府补贴制造出来的商品入境,或不让以低于全部成本的价格销售的商品入境。

Exports are important for China. It consistently sells $4 worth of goods to the United States for each $1 of imports. That mismatch has produced a bilateral trade surplus for China equal to about 3 percent of the country's entire economy, creating tens of millions of jobs.	出口对中国很重要。长期以来,中国每进口1美元的东西,就向美国出售价值4美元的东西。这种差异给中国带来的巨额双边贸易顺差约占中国整个经济的3%,创造了数千万个就业机会。

The benefits to China from that surplus have been increasing rapidly in the past few years. Many exporters have stopped importing components and switched to increasingly capable local suppliers for everything from high-quality steel to advanced computer chips. Multinationals have moved entire supply chains to China, and transferred the technology to run them.	在过去几年中，这个贸易顺差给中国带来的好处一直在迅速增长。许多中国出口商已停止进口零部件，改为从越来越有能力的当地供应商得到一系列产品，从高品质钢材到高级计算机芯片，不一而足。跨国公司已将整个供应链转移到中国，并将技术转让给中国来运行这些供应链。
Many Democrats and many economists have also become increasingly disenchanted with the effect on American workers and the American economy. The Obama administration filed a long series of trade cases at the W.T.O. against China, although they involved fairly narrow policies and limited categories of goods. It has been preparing more, filing the latest trade case on Thursday over Chinese subsidies to aluminum producers.	对于这个问题给美国工人和美国经济带来的影响，许多民主党人和经济学家也越来越不满。奥巴马政府向世界贸易组织提交了长长的一大串针对中国的贸易案件，虽然这些案件所涉及的政策面较为狭窄，所涉及的商品类别也很有限。奥巴马政府一直在准备更多的案子，政府本周四提交的最新贸易案针对的是中国对铝生产商的补贴。
If Mr. Trump goes even further in that direction, Mr. Lighthizer will bring a long background in such actions.	如果特朗普要在这个方向更进一步的话，莱特希泽可以带来他在采取这类行动方面的丰富经验。
When he was in the Reagan administration, Mr. Lighthizer was the deputy United States trade representative overseeing industrial policy in old-economy industries like cars and steel. But when the W.T.O. was created the next decade, member nations agreed, with a few exceptions, to renounce imposing such export limits on other countries.	汽车和钢铁的限制。这两个都是大胆的举动，尤其是考虑到里根总统有过大力支持自由贸易的时候。但是十年后，当世界贸易组织成立时，除少数几个成员国外，其他成员国都同意放弃了对其他国家的这种出口限制。
The auto industry could be ripe for action again. China is an enormous exporter of auto parts to the United States. Under President Obama, trade tensions over automotive trade have already risen, and the Obama administration has won two W.T.O. cases. The cases forced China to abandon certain anti-dumping and anti-subsidy taxes on American autos and to dismantle a few, fairly narrow subsidies.	在汽车行业采取这种行动的时机可能已经成熟。中国目前向美国出口了数量巨大的汽车零部件。在奥巴马总统领导下，在汽车贸易问题上的贸易紧张关系已经上升，奥巴马政府赢得了两个提交到世界贸易组织的案件。这些案件迫使中国放弃了对美国汽车征收某些反倾销和反补贴税，并取消了一些涉及面相当狭窄的补贴。
"He was squarely in the trade talks with Japan," said He Weiwen, a former commerce ministry official who is now a senior fellow at the Center for China and Globalization, an influential Beijing research group, "so maybe Donald Trump wants him to do something similar on China."	"他在与日本进行的贸易谈判中直截了当，"前商务部官员何伟文说，何伟文现在是北京有影响力的研究机构中国与全球化智库的高级研究员，"所以，也许唐纳德·特朗普想让他对中国做类似的事情。"
The intersection of tax and trade is a specialty of Mr. Lighthizer, who was an architect of a Reagan administration initiative to cut corporate taxes for exporters. 1990s.
Republicans now appear to be taking a similar — albeit more ambitious — tack. They are exploring how to raise corporate taxes for importers and use the extra revenue to reduce taxes for all other companies.	现在，共和党人似乎在采取同样的策略——尽管更具野心。他们在探索如何提高针对进口商的企业税，利用这种额外税收减少其他企业的税收。
China, as the biggest exporter to the United States, would face a major blow. But it would also affect American retailers, electronics companies and other multinationals that depend on supplies from anywhere overseas.	作为美国最大的出口国，中国将面临重大的打击。但这项计划也会影响美国的零售商、电子产品企业，以及其他依赖海外供应的跨国公司。
A big obstacle for Republicans is whether the W.T.O. would declare such a tax to be a trade barrier. China and Europe effectively penalize imports by imposing a type of national sales tax, an approach the W.T.O. has approved. It is a steep 17 percent in China.	共和党人面临的一大障碍是，世界贸易组织是否会宣布征收这样的税收是设置贸易壁垒的行为。通过征收一种全国性的营业税，中国和欧洲实际上对进口进行了限制，这一措施得到了世贸组织的批准。在中国，这项税收比例高达 17%。
But House Republicans, leery of imposing any new national taxes, want to change existing corporate tax laws instead. W.T.O. rules discourage, although they do not necessarily prohibit, modifying corporate taxes in ways that penalize imports.	然而，众议院共和党人对施加任何新的全国性税收都存有疑虑，作为替代，他们想改变现存的企业税制度。世贸组织的规则不鼓励以限制进口的方式改变企业所得税，尽管他们不一定禁止这么做。
The W.T.O. review process, though, is lengthy. So Mr. Lighthizer and Congress could well go ahead with the tax plan, lightening the tax burden for American manufacturers as well as inflicting plenty of damage on China and the global supply chain.	只是，世贸组织的评审过程十分漫长。所以莱特希泽和国会完全可以继续这项税收计划，减轻美国制造业的税收负担，同时给中国和全球供应链带来巨大的损害。
And the W.T.O.'s response — if it found the plan invalid — would not have much heft. Mostly, the global trade group could authorize Beijing to impose trade restrictions on the United States' much smaller exports to China.	世贸组织的反应——即便它裁决这项计划无效——也不会产生太大影响。这个全球性的贸易组织多半会授权北京对美国规模小得多的对华出口业务进行贸易限制。
That prospect does not scare Mr. Lighthizer very much, as he made	这一前景不太会让莱特希泽感到害怕，他在 2010 年的证词中就表明了这一

clear in his 2010 testimony.	点。
"W.T.O. commitments are not religious obligations," Mr. Lighthizer said, and violations "are not subject to coercion by some W.T.O. police force."	"世贸组织的约定不是宗教义务，"莱特希泽说，就算违反它，"世贸组织的警察也不能采取强制措施"。

Li Ka-shing Sweetens Deal for Australian Energy Company	李嘉诚欲斥资 380 亿人民币收购澳大利亚能源公司
HONG KONG — Hong Kong's richest man has taken a step closer to winning control of a big Australian energy company, as he seeks to overcome Australia's occasional wariness toward foreign investors from China.	香港——香港首富采取进一步行动，试图获得一家大型澳大利亚能源公司的控股权，他需要克服澳大利亚对中国投资者间或表现出的戒心。
Companies controlled by Li Ka-shing, the Hong Kong billionaire, on Monday announced a sweetened deal worth 7.4 billion Australian dollars, or about $5.5 billion, for control of the Sydney-listed Duet Group, which operates natural gas pipelines and electricity distribution companies in the states of Western Australia and Victoria.	本周一，香港亿万富翁李嘉诚控制的几家公司宣布了一项富有吸引力的竞购方案，希望斥资 74 亿澳元（约合 380 亿人民币）获得悉尼上市企业 Duet 集团的控股权，该集团在西澳大利亚州和维多利亚州经营天然气管道和配电业务。
The offer, valued at 3.03 Australian dollars per share, including a special dividend, was a step up from the 3 dollars Mr. Li's companies had bid in December. Not for nothing, China carries a reputation as a country willing to bend the norms of global commerce when such a course suits its interests. Clearing Out the App Stores: Government Censorship Made Easier	互联网走进政府信息管制的包围圈
There's a new form of digital censorship sweeping the globe, and it could be the start of something devastating.	一种新的数字审查形式正在席卷全球，它可能是某种灾难性过程的开始。
In the last few weeks, the Chinese government compelled Apple to remove New York Times apps from the Chinese version of the App Store. Then the Russian government had Apple and Google pull the app for LinkedIn, the professional social network, after the network declined to relocate its data on Russian citizens to servers in that country. Finally, last week, a Chinese regulator asked app stores operating in the country to register with the government, an apparent precursor to wider restrictions on app marketplaces.	在过去几周里，中国政府迫使苹果公司(Apple)把《纽约时报》的应用程序从它的应用程序中国区商店中移除。之后，在职业社交网络领英(LinkedIn)拒绝把俄罗斯公民的数据转移到该国的服务器上之后，俄罗斯政府迫使苹果和谷歌移除了该应用程序。最后，中国的一个监管机构上周要求在该国运营的应用程序商店向政府注册，这显然是对应用程序市场进行更广泛限制的一个前兆。
These moves may sound incremental, and perhaps not immediately alarming. China has been restricting the web forever, and Russia is no bastion of free speech. So what's so dangerous about blocking apps?	这些措施可能听起来是一点一滴、徐徐而来的，也许不会马上引起人们的警觉。中国一直在限制网络，俄罗斯从来都不是自由言论的堡垒。所以，封锁应用程序为什么就那么危险呢？
Here's the thing: It's a more effective form of censorship.	问题在于：它是一种更有效的审查形式。
Blocking a website is like trying to stop lots of trucks from delivering a banned book; it requires an infrastructure of technical tools (things like China's "Great Firewall") and enterprising users can often find a way around it. Banning an app from an app store, by contrast, is like shutting down the printing press before the book is ever published. If the app isn't in a country's app store, it effectively doesn't exist. The censorship is nearly total and inescapable.	封锁一个网站就像是努力阻止很多卡车运送一部禁书，它需要一些技术领域的基础设施（比如中国的“防火长城”[Great Firewall]），胆大心细的用户往往能找到一个方法绕开它。相比之下，禁用应用程序商店里的一个应用程序就像是在书还没印出来之前关掉了印刷机。如果这个应用程序不在一个国家的应用程序商店里，那它就相当于不存在。这种审查方式几乎是彻底且无法逃避的。
But that's not the end of this story. The banning of apps highlights a deeper flaw in our modern communications architecture: It's the	但这还不是最终的结局。应用程序的禁用突显出现代通讯架构的一个更深层次的缺陷：简而言之，信息集中化。

centralization of information, stupid.
"I think the app store censorship issue is one layer of ice on the surface of the iceberg above the waterline," said Eben Moglen, a professor at Columbia Law School and a leader in the free software movement of activists who have long been warning about the dangers of centrally managed, commercial software.	"我认为，对应用程序商店的审查是在水面以上的冰山表面再加上一层冰，"哥伦比亚大学法学院(Columbia Law School)教授、自由软件运动领导人埃本·莫哥伦(Eben Moglen)说。该运动长期以来一直在警告集中控制的商业软件的危险性。
For more than a decade, we users of digital devices have actively championed an online infrastructure that now looks uniquely vulnerable to the sanctions of despots and others who seek to control information. We flocked to smartphones, app stores, social networks and cloud storage. Publishers like The New York Times are investing in apps and content posted to social networks instead of the comparatively open World Wide Web. Some startups now rely exclusively on apps; Snapchat, for instance, exists only as a mobile app.	十多年来，我们这些数字设备的用户一直积极支持在线基础设施构建，但是现在看来，它极易受制于专制者和其他企图控制信息的人。我们纷纷使用智能手机、应用程序商店、社交网络和云储存。《纽约时报》等出版商正在应用程序以及社交网络发布内容方面进行投资，而不是在相对开放的万维网(World Wide Web)上。有些初创公司现在完全依赖于应用程序，比如Snapchat 就仅以手机应用程序的形式存在。
Compared to older forms of distributing software, apps downloaded from app stores are more convenient for users and often more secure from malware, and they can be more lucrative for creators. But like so much else online now, they risk feeding into mechanisms of central control. In most countries, the Apple and Google app stores are the only places to find apps for devices running their respective operating systems (there are more choices for Android app stores in China, where Google does not offer its store).	与以往的软件发行形式相比，从应用程序商店下载应用程序更便捷，往往也更安全，可以避免下载恶意软件，对创造者来说，它们也更有利可图。但是，和现在网上的很多其他东西一样，它们有可能被卷入集中控制机制。在大部分国家，在使用苹果和谷歌各自操作系统的电子设备上，它们的应用程序商店是唯一能找到应用程序的地方（中国的安卓系统有更多应用程序商店，因为谷歌没在那里开设自己的商店）。
Just about all of the internet's economic value is instead connected to two very specific somewheres: the San Francisco Bay Area and Seattle, the homes of Apple, Amazon, Google and Facebook, the four	互联网的几乎所有经济价值都与两个具体的地方有联系：旧金山湾区和西雅图，它们是苹果、亚马逊(Amazon)、谷歌和 Facebook 的总部所在地，这四个异常庞大的公司拥有互联网的中央信息平台。随着这些公司开始在网上

monstrously large companies that own the internet's central information platforms. As these companies began to build ever-larger empires online, they have evolved into convenient choke points – the very points of control that the internet had been designed to eliminate.	建立更庞大的帝国，它们已演变成极易受控的要津，而这些正是互联网最初设计时想要消除的控制点。
Like all companies, online companies must offer some level of deference to governments. They obey local and national laws, court orders and national security authorities, and bend to other, less transparent means of coercion. They can fight governments – as Apple did when it battled the FBI over unlocking a terrorist's iPhone last year – but they often must pick their battles and balance their interests. Apple makes a significant fraction of its profits from China. Can it really risk all those billions to protect a handful of apps?	和所有的公司一样，在线公司必须对政府表示一定程度的尊重。它们要遵守地方和国家法律、法院命令以及国家安全机构的指令，并屈从于其他一些不太明显的胁迫。他们可以与政府抗争——比如去年，苹果公司拒绝为联邦调查局(FBI)解锁一名恐怖分子的 iPhone——但他们往往必须对进行哪些对抗予以选择，以实现利益平衡。苹果的很大一部分利润来自中国。它真的愿意为了保护少数几个应用程序而承担损失数十亿美元的风险吗？
Apple offered this statement in response to my queries on how it decides to take down apps: "For some time now the New York Times app has not been permitted to display content to most users in China and we have been informed that the app is in violation of local regulations. As a result, the app must be taken down off the China App Store. When this situation changes, the App Store will once again offer the New York Times app for download in China." Google declined to comment.	我向苹果询问它在移除应用程序方面如何做决定时，它给出了这项声明：“《纽约时报》的应用程序不被允许向中国的大部分用户展示内容已有一段时间，我们被告知，该应用程序违反地方法规。所以，该应用程序必须从应用程序中国区商店下架。如果情况发生变化，该商店将再次提供《纽约时报》的应用程序，以供在中国下载。”谷歌拒绝作出评论。
But Eva Galperin, the director of cybersecurity at the Electronic Frontier Foundation, a digital rights activist organization, said the internet giants were not without leverage in this fight.	数字权利活动团体电子前沿基金会(Electronic Frontier Foundation)的网络安全主管伊娃·加尔佩林(EvaGalperin)表示，在这场斗争中，这些互联网巨头并非没有砝码。
"The flip side of that is, is China going to block the entire Apple App Store over a single app?" she asked. Interestingly, the internet giants'	"另一个方面是，中国真的会为了一个应用程序而封锁整个苹果应用程序商店吗？"她问道。有趣的是，这些互联网巨头对网络生活各个方面的控制都

hold on every aspect of online life works toward their advantage in battling governments.	让自己在与政府的对抗中更具优势。
"The bigger a company is, the bigger the risk that blocking them will lead to riots in the streets because you have come between people and their pictures of cats," Galperin said. "Those are the companies that governments are going to be more wary of blocking, and they should be the ones that stand up to government pressure. They have a special responsibility."	"公司越大，封锁它们会导致街头骚乱的风险就越大，因为你挡在了人们和他们的猫的照片之间，"加尔佩林说。"政府在封锁这些公司时会更加谨慎，所以它们应该抵抗政府的压力。它们负有特殊的责任。"
Users and app developers who are now at risk of being censored also bear some responsibility. When I asked Moglen at Columbia about app bans, he was incensed that I didn't recognize The New York Times's own complicity in this story.	现在面临审查风险的用户和应用程序开发者也负有一定的责任。我对哥伦比亚大学的莫哥伦教授谈起应用程序禁用问题时，他非常愤怒地说，我没有意识到，在这个故事中，《纽约时报》也是共犯。
The Times, he argued, could have stuck with the old way of publishing news. The company could have declined to create a downloadable app and instead invested all of its engineering resources into making its news available on the web, anonymously. The Times could have refused to profile users for advertising purposes, or to have its articles hosted on Facebook, or to monitor what people read in order to recommend more articles to keep people engaged. In short, The Times could have refused to play the modern digital-publishing game. But like every other publisher, it went along.	他认为，时报本可以坚持传统的发布新闻的方式。本可以拒绝创建一个可以下载的应用程序，本可以把所有的工程技术资源投入到在网上匿名提供新闻上。时报本可以拒绝为了广告目的制作用户档案，本可以不把文章发布到 Facebook 上，本可以不为了推荐更多文章吸引读者而监视他们的阅读内容。简而言之，时报本可以拒绝参加现代数字出版游戏。但是，和所有其他出版者一样，它也加入了。
"What did you expect would happen?" Moglen said. "China didn't have to build a Great Firewall to do this. You all offered them an opportunity to piggyback onto your disrespect for the privacy and integrity and autonomy of your readers and users."	"你们原以为会发生什么？"莫哥伦说。"中国不用建防火长城就可以做到这一点。你们都给它们提供了一个机会，让它们可以利用你们对读者和用户的隐私、正直和自主权的不尊重。"

I don't agree with Moglen that The Times disrespects its readers by offering a news app. (I think it's a very nice app.) But he is right that a lot of people online walked blindly into the no-win position we are in now, where our only recourse against censorship might be the goodwill of a few giant corporations that control most of the internet.	我不赞同莫哥伦认为时报提供新闻应用程序是对读者的不尊重这个观点(我认为它是一个非常好的应用程序)。但有一点他说对了:网上的很多人无意中走进了我们目前所在的无望取胜的位置,我们对抗审查制度的唯一资源可能就是少数几个控制互联网大部分资源的大公司的善意。
There has to be some other way. Let's maybe work on finding it.	一定有什么其他方式。也许让我们一起来寻找吧。

Investors have often looked to Alibaba to see how the broader Chinese economy is doing. Alibaba has repeatedly argued that it should outperform the economy because online buyers have grown more quickly than total consumption. As that customer growth has slowed, Alibaba has worked to make more money from users, especially those using mobile phones. To that end, the company said the jump in revenue came from an increase in how much its online vendors spent per consumer as well as an increase in clicks because of improved targeting to customers.	投资者经常想通过阿里巴巴来看中国更广泛的经济情况。阿里巴巴一再表示，它的表现应该比中国的经济更好，因为网上购物者的增长速度比国内总消费的增长速度要快。随着网上购物人数增长的放缓，阿里巴巴一直在努力从现有用户那里赚到更多的钱，尤其是那些使用手机的用户。为了这个目的，公司表示，收入的增长既来自于其在线供应商在每个消费者身上的花费，也来自于因为对客户的营销变得更有针对性而带来的点击次数的增加。

How China Lost $1 Trillion	中国外汇储备跌破3万亿美元，这意味着什么？
It's a lot of money — but it's shrinking.	这是相当大一笔资金——但它正在萎缩。
On Tuesday, China's central bank said its foreign exchange reserves slipped to $2.998 trillion in January. While they dropped only a modest amount from December, the fall still put the reserves below the psychologically important $3 trillion level. Three years ago, they were at nearly $4 trillion.	中国的中央银行周二表示，该国今年1月的外汇储备金降至2.998万亿美元。尽管相比于去年12月降幅不大，但依然跌落在了心理上非常重要的3万亿美元水平线。三年前，这个数字是将近4万亿美元。
When they were last at $3 trillion, in early 2011, China's economy was growing at a much faster pace — and the central bank's foreign-exchange reserves were growing rapidly.	外汇储备上一次达到3万亿美元时，也就是2011年初，中国经济正以快得多的速度增长——中央银行的外汇储备也在迅速增长。
What are China's foreign exchange reserves?	中国的外汇储备是什么？
China keeps a firm grip on the value of its currency, the renminbi. For years, that meant keeping the renminbi steady as vast amounts of the world's money flooded into the country to buy the toys, shoes,	中国对人民币的币值严加控制。这意味着数年来，在世界上的巨额资金涌入这个国家购买它生产的玩具、鞋、电子产品和其他商品之时，也令人民币的币值保持了稳定。 electronics and other goods it makes.

Under the rules of global finance, that flood of money should have driven up the value of the renminbi against other currencies, like the dollar. Instead, China kept the renminbi from rising as a way to help its manufacturers compete abroad. The mechanics of how it did that are complicated, but the process resulted in China holding large sums of money denominated in other currencies.	在全球金融规则之下，那样规模的资金流入应该推高人民币相对于其他货币，比如美元的价值。但相反，中国避免让人民币升值，以此作为帮助其制造商在国外竞争的方式。实现这一点的机制比较复杂，但这个过程导致中国持有大量以其他货币计价的资金。
At the peak, in June 2014, the reserves totaled nearly $4 trillion. Inside China, the foreign exchange reserves have been seen as a financial cushion for times of trouble. But they have generated deep frustration in places like Washington — including from President Trump during the campaign.	在2014年6月的巅峰时期，中国外汇储备总额曾接近4万亿美元。在中国内部，外汇储备一直被看作动荡时期的金融缓冲工具。但它们在华盛顿等地方激发深深的不满——包括竞选时期的特朗普。
Why are they now falling?	其数额为何在减少？
China is still running huge trade surpluses with the rest of the world, with $40 billion to $60 billion a month sluicing into the country as exports exceed imports. But the country's economic growth has slowed considerably, and that changes the dynamics.	在世界其他地方，中国依然享有巨额贸易顺差。因为出口额超过进口额，每月有400至600亿美元资金流入这个国家。但中国的经济增长已经明显放缓，从而改变了动态。
Worries about China's economy are prompting companies and families to send their money out of the country for investment or safekeeping. If the Chinese central bank did nothing, the net outflow of money would cause the renminbi to weaken against the dollar.	有关中国经济的担忧正促使企业和家庭将资金移至海外，进行投资或保管。如果中国央行不采取任何措施，这种资金净外流将导致人民币相对于美元贬值。
Beijing wants to stabilize the value of the renminbi and keep money within its borders. China's central bank has been spending billions of dollars from its reserves each month to prop up the renminbi and slow its weakening. If the renminbi were to start falling sharply, many	北京想稳定人民币的币值，让资金留在境内。中国的中央银行每月用数十亿美元的外汇储备维持人民币币值，减慢其贬值的速度。如果人民币开始剧烈贬值，许多家庭和企业很有可能会急着将资金挪到海外，将损失降到最小。逐渐减少的外汇储备额是一个迹象，表明中国正在努力将资金留在国内，以

families and companies would most likely race to move their money out of China to minimize their losses. The dwindling reserves are a sign of China's efforts to keep money in the country by protecting the renminbi's value.	维持人民币的价值。
Isn't $3 trillion still a lot of money?	3 万亿美元不依然是一个大数目吗?
Yes it is. Foreign reserves have not fallen to levels that should sound alarm bells in Beijing or other capitals. And China has other stores of wealth it can rely on, like a vast pool of savings.	没错。外汇储备没有降到让北京或其他国家敲响警钟的地步。而且中国还有其他可以依靠的财富储备，比如大量的储蓄。
But that does not mean China is out of danger. China still needs considerable reserves in case it runs into financial trouble. It has the world's second-largest economy, after the United States. If many more Chinese families and companies try to swap more renminbi for dollars, that could swamp the central bank's ability to prop up the renminbi.	但这并不意味着中国就脱离了风险。中国依然需要相当多的储备，以防遭遇金融困境。它是世界上仅次于美国的第二大经济体。如果有更多中国家庭和企业试图将人民币换成美元，可能会让中央银行难以维持人民币的价值。
More broadly, the dwindling reserves say something about the direction of the Chinese economy. It shows that the era when the world rushed to invest in China to build factories or apartment buildings — generally, to get a piece of the action — is fading.	从更广泛的层面讲，逐渐减少的储备多少说明了中国经济的走向。它显示出，世界涌入中国投资建厂或公寓楼——一般而言是为从中分一杯羹——的时代正在过去。
What does this mean for the United States?	这对美国来说意味着什么?
China's currency is an enigma with which the Trump administration has not yet come to grips. Based purely on trade flows, the renminbi is still undervalued relative to the dollar. Each month, China exports about $4 worth of goods to the United States for each $1 of imports. China's devaluation of the renminbi in August 2015 further upset American critics of China who contend that China is rigging its currency.	中国的货币问题是一个难解之谜，特朗普政府还没能解开。基于纯粹的贸易流通，人民币的价值相对于美元依然偏低。每个月，当中国从美国进口价值 1 美元的东西，就会往那里出口价值 4 美元的商品。中国的人民币在 2015 年 8 月的贬值让批评中国的美国人士更加气恼，他们认为中国在操纵自己的货币。
But by other measures, groups like the International Monetary Fund	但从另一方面看，国际货币基金组织(International Monetary Fund)等机构

consider the renminbi fairly valued. Tensions over the renminbi also put China in an odd position, as Mr. Trump criticizes China for keeping its currency unfairly weak, even as Beijing tries to keep it from weakening further.	认为人民币价值合理。有关人民币的紧张关系也让中国处在尴尬的位置，尽管北京在努力避免人民币进一步贬值，但特朗普依然指责中国让自己的货币保持在不公平的弱势水平。

China's Answer to Tesla Is Hopeful Entrant to Global Car Market	电动汽车的竞技场上，中国公司挑战特斯拉
BEIJING — On a windswept lot near Beijing's main airport, Lu Qun talks up the electric sports car he hopes will transform him into China's Elon Musk.	北京——在北京主要机场附近的一块狂风肆虐的地方，陆群对一款电动跑车赞不绝口，他希望自己可以凭借它成为中国的埃隆·马斯克(Elon Musk)。
"This is a real performance car," the entrepreneur boasted of his sleek, gray-and-black Qiantu K50. "It's fun. You can feel the quality. You'll love driving this car."	"这是一款真正的性能跑车，"这位企业家这样夸赞自己时髦的灰黑色前途K50 跑车。"它很好玩。你能感受到它的品质。你会爱上驾驶它的感觉。"
For Mr. Lu, 48, the roadster is his best chance to make it big. After a lifetime of obscurity creating vehicles for other companies, the bespectacled engineer is betting that the rise of electric cars will propel his company — and his country — into the automotive spotlight.	对 48 岁的陆群来说，这款跑车是他把事业做大的最佳机会。这位戴眼镜的工程师前半辈子默默无闻地为其他公司设计汽车，现在他打赌，电动汽车的崛起将让他的公司以及这个国家成为汽车行业的焦点。
"Traditional auto manufacturers are constrained by their old models," he said. "We can see things with fresh eyes."	"传统汽车制造商受到旧模式的束缚，"他说，"而我们可以用新眼光看事物。"
Across China, government officials, corporate executives, private investors and newcomers like Mr. Lu are in a headlong rush to develop a domestic electric car industry. The country's goal, like Mr. Lu's, is to capitalize on the transition to electric to turbocharge the country's lagging automobile sector to become a major competitor to the United States, Japan and Germany.	在中国各地，政府官员、公司主管、私人投资者以及陆群这样的新来者正在蜂拥开发国内电动汽车产业。该国的目标和陆群的一样，是想利用向电动汽车的转型振兴该国落后的汽车行业，成为美国、日本和德国的一个主要竞争对手。

That has been a goal of China's industrial planners for decades, as the government has lavished resources on building homegrown automakers and discriminated against foreign players.	数十年来，这一直是中国工业规划者的目标，政府在建设国产汽车制造厂方面投入了大量资源，并对外国竞争者予以不平等待遇。
But so far, that effort has failed.	但到目前为止，这项努力没有成功。
Local manufacturers have lacked the brands, technology and managerial heft to outmaneuver their established rivals, either at home or abroad. Chinese consumers have preferred more reliable Buicks, Volkswagens and Toyotas to the often substandard offerings from domestic manufacturers, while little-known Chinese models have struggled to gain traction overseas.	国内汽车制造商缺乏打败成熟对手的品牌、技术和管理能力——不管是在国内还是在海外。中国消费者青睐更为可靠的别克、大众和丰田，而非通常表现不佳的国产汽车，与此同时，鲜为人知的中国汽车在国外也很难引起注意。
Electric vehicles could offer a second chance — one China's policy makers do not intend to miss.	电动汽车可能提供了第二次机会——中国的政策制定者不想错失它。
They targeted electric cars for special support in an industrial policy called "Made in China 2025," which aims to foster upgraded, technologically advanced manufacturing. By 2020, Beijing expects its automakers to be able to churn out two million electric and hybrid vehicles annually — six times the number produced in 2015.	在—项名为《中国制造 2025》的产业政策中，电动汽车获得了特别支持，目标在于构建升级的、技术领先的制造体系。到 2020 年，北京预计它的汽车制造商每年能生产 200 万辆电动或混合动力汽车，是 2015 年产量的六倍。
This time, China's carmakers may be better positioned. Since electric vehicles are a relatively new business for all players, Chinese manufacturers and international rivals are largely starting from the same point.	这一次，中国的汽车制造商可能处于更有利的位置。由于电动汽车对所有生产者来说都是相对较新的领域，所以中国汽车制造商和国际对手们总体来说站在同一个起跑线上。
"There is a smaller gap between where China is today and the rest of the world" in electric cars, said Bill Russo, managing director at Gao Feng Advisory, a Shanghai consultancy, and a former Chrysler executive. "There is room for newer start-up companies to dream big in	上海高风咨询公司董事总经理、前克莱斯勒首席执行官罗威(Bill Russo)表示，如今在电动汽车方面，“中国和其他国家的差距更小，较新的初创公司在中国拥有实现更大梦想的空间”。

China.”
Mr. Lu is one of those dreamers.	陆群就是其中一个追梦者。
Fascinated by cars since he was a boy, he studied automotive engineering at Beijing’s prestigious Tsinghua University. Upon graduating in 1990, he joined the research and development team at the China-based joint venture of Jeep, then a division of Chrysler.	他从小就痴迷汽车，曾在北京著名的清华大学学习汽车工程学。1990年，他毕业后加入了当时克莱斯勒旗下的Jeep合资企业，在其研发部任职。
During his time there, which included two years in Detroit, Mr. Lu came to feel such overseas operations had limited prospects in China – the ventures’ partners would try to balance their interests, and so were slow to develop strategies and make decisions.	在那里工作期间，包括在底特律的两年，陆群感到国外的运作方式在中国的前景有限——合资公司的合伙人会努力平衡利益，所以在开发策略和做决策时，行动缓慢。
So in 2003, he and nine colleagues started CH-Auto Technology Corporation as a specialty research and design shop for the local car industry. Since then, the firm has designed vehicles for some of China’s biggest automakers.	2003年，他和九名同事创立了长城华冠科技公司，它是一个为当地汽车行业服务的专业研究设计小组。从那以后，该公司为中国最大的一些汽车制造商设计了多款汽车。
Mr. Lu decided to start manufacturing his own vehicles because of the shift to electric. Since producing electric cars requires new parts and technologies, he believed a small entrant could better compete with these new vehicles than traditional automakers.	鉴于向电动汽车的转型，陆群决定开始生产自己的汽车。他认为，由于生产电动汽车需要新零件和新技术，所以在这方面，一个小型新公司可能比传统汽车制造商更具竞争力。
“Electric vehicles won’t just replace cars with conventional engines, but they will bring a huge change to the entire car industry,” Mr. Lu said. “We wanted to be part of this revolution.”	“电动汽车不只是会取代使用传统发动机的汽车，而且将给整个汽车行业带来巨大变化，”陆群说。“我们想成为这次变革的一部分。”
The result is the K50. Designed at his research center, the two-seater has a light, carbon fiber exterior and a console stuffed with touch screens. Rows of batteries propel the roadster to a top speed of about 120 miles per hour and carry it as far as 200 miles on a single charge.	他们的成果是K50。这款双座汽车是在他的研发中心设计的，外部框架采用超轻碳纤维，驾驶室里满是触摸屏。在多排电池的驱动下，这款跑车的最高时速可达120英里左右（约合200公里），单次充电续航里程可达200英里（约合320公里）。

No longer content to watch others produce his designs, Mr. Lu is currently constructing a $300 million factory in Suzhou, a city near Shanghai, to manufacture 50,000 cars a year. In all, he expects to invest as much as $1.4 billion into his venture over five years.	陆群不再满足于看着他人生产自己设计的汽车，他正在上海附近的苏州市投资 3 亿美元建厂，预计每年生产 5 万辆汽车。他期望在未来五年里为自己的企业总计注资 14 亿美元。
He did not specify what the car would sell for, but Mr. Lu intends to price the K50 at the top of the market when it goes on sale this year.	陆群没有给出 K50 未来的具体定价，但是这款车今年上市时，他打算按照市场高端价位定价。
That sets CH-Auto on a collision course with the industry's flagship: Tesla.	这样，长城华冠就将与该行业的佼佼者特斯拉(Tesla)展开竞争。
Elon Musk's company already has an edge. While Mr. Lu is building his business from scratch, Tesla has been established in China since 2013. CH-Auto will have to persuade wealthy customers to plunk down a large sum on an unfamiliar brand — Qiantu — over Mr. Musk's recognizable models.	埃隆·马斯克的公司已经具有一定的优势。陆群正在从零开始创立自己的企业，而特斯拉 2013 年就登陆中国了。长城华冠将必须说服富有的顾客花费巨资购买一个不熟悉的品牌——前途——而非马斯克已经获得认可的车型。
Mr. Lu nevertheless remains confident. He argues the sporty K50 will appeal to a more leisure-oriented driver than Tesla's cars. As a logo, the company has chosen the dragonfly, because its managers believe the speedy, nimble insect has similar attributes to his electric car. To market it, Mr. Lu is considering opening showrooms in major Chinese cities, backed by a platform to sell online.	不过陆群依然充满信心。他认为颇具运动性的 K50 将比特斯拉更能吸引以休闲为目的的驾驶者。该公司把蜻蜓作为车标，因为经理们认为，这种飞行速度快的灵巧昆虫与他的电动汽车具有类似的属性。为了进行推广，陆群正在考虑在中国的主要城市开设展厅，同时在网上设立销售平台。
Elon Musk "is someone I can learn from," he said. "Tesla has huge symbolic significance because it is the first company to make people believe a business model solely around electric vehicles is possible."	他说，“我可以向埃隆·马斯克学习。特斯拉具有强大的象征意义，因为它是第一个让人们相信，完全围绕电动汽车的商业模式是可行的公司。”
But, he added, "we are not looking to create the Chinese Tesla."	不过他补充说，“我们不打算创造中国的特斯拉。”
When it comes to competing with Tesla, Mr. Lu can count on ample help from the Chinese government.	在与特斯拉竞争时，陆群可以依靠中国政府的大力支持。

To bring down costs and spur demand, the state has unleashed a torrent of cash. It has offered subsidies to manufacturers and tax breaks for buyers, and plowed investments into charging stations to make electric cars more practical.	为了降低成本，刺激需求，中国发行了大量现金。政府给制造商提供补贴，为购买者提供税收减免，大力投资兴建充电站，让电动汽车更实用。
In all, UBS Securities estimates that the government spent $13 billion promoting electric vehicles in 2015 alone. So far, Mr. Lu has financed the K50 through loans and injections of fresh capital, but says he "won't refuse" government subsidies if they become available.	总体而言，瑞银证券(UBS Securities)估计，单在 2015 年，中国政府就投资 130 亿美元推广电动汽车。到目前为止，陆群主要通过贷款和新资本为 K50 融资，但他说，如果政府提供补贴，他“不会拒绝”。
Some analysts fear the state's largess could prove as much bane as boon.	一些分析师担心国家的慷慨资助可能被证明是福祸参半。
China may be recreating the waste and excess in electric cars that has plagued other state-targeted sectors, like steel and renewable energy, without spurring the technological innovation the economy needs to compete. And even though China's car market is the world's biggest, it is still unlikely to absorb all of the electric vehicle projects underway today.	就像钢铁和可再生能源等其他被政府瞄准的行业所受的困扰一样，中国或许正在电动汽车行业再次制造浪费和过剩，而没有激发出其经济展开竞争时所需要的技术创新。尽管中国的汽车市场是世界上最大的，但它依然不大可能吸收目前正在进行的所有电动车项目。
"They are fueling overcapacity, with a lot of wasted money, and I'm doubtful that in the end you'll have a successful electric car industry," says Crystal Chang, a lecturer at the University of California, Berkeley who studies China's auto industry policies.	"他们是在助长生产力过剩，浪费大量资金，我很担心，到最后中国的电动汽车行业依然不成功，"研究中国汽车行业政策的加州大学伯克利分校 (University of California, Berkeley) 讲师克莉斯特尔·常(Crystal Chang)说。
Significant sums have already been squandered. In September, the Finance Ministry fined five companies for defrauding the government of $150 million by fabricating sales of electric vehicles to obtain more subsidies, and several companies have failed to make an impression.	有大量资金已经被浪费了。去年 9 月，财政部对诈骗政府 1.5 亿美元的五家公司进行了处罚——它们伪造电动汽车销售额，以获得更多补贴——好几家公司没给人留下一点印象。
Mr. Lu is certain, however, that the K50 stands out in a crowded field.	不过，陆群确信 K50 会在这个竞争激烈的领域脱颖而出。这款车已经提前

The car has already gotten some advance buzz; a review on one popular Chinese website praised its design as “beautiful” and “avant-garde” and its body as “very muscular.”	引发了热烈讨论；中国一家热门网站上的评论称赞它设计“漂亮”、“前卫”，“车身线条肌肉感十足”。
“A big advantage they have is their knowledge of what it takes to build a quality vehicle,” said Jack Perkowski, managing partner of the Beijing-based consulting firm JFP Holdings and a veteran of China’s car sector. “They have a better chance than many others because of that.”	“他们的一大优势是，他们知道制造一辆高品质汽车需要什么，”位于北京的咨询公司杰克控股(JFP Holdings)的管理合伙人、中国汽车行业资深人士杰克·佩尔科夫斯基(Jack Perkowski)说。“因此，与其他很多企业相比，他们成功的机会更大。”
Mr. Lu is counting on it.	这正是陆群所期望的。
“There are a lot of electric vehicle companies and hot projects attracting a lot of money,” he said. “Not every company and not every car will be successful.”	“有很多电动汽车企业和热门项目正在吸引大量资金，”他说。“不是每个公司、每款车都会成功。”

“I play to people’s fantasies,” he said in 1987’s “The Art of the Deal.” “People want to believe that something is the biggest and the greatest and the most spectacular. I call it truthful hyperbole. It’s an innocent form of exaggeration — and a very effective form of promotion.”	“我会满足人们的幻想，”他在 1987 年的《交易的艺术》(The Art of the Deal)中说。“人们愿意相信某种东西是最大的、最棒的、最了不起的。我称之为真诚的夸张。它是一种善意的夸张形式，一种非常有效的宣传方式。”
Some of Asia’s biggest deal makers already understand that principle — and are making big promises accordingly.	亚洲最重要的一些生意人已经领会了这项原则，正在做出宏大的承诺。
In recent months, Alibaba’s founder, Jack Ma; the Japanese tech investor Masayoshi Son; and the head of Foxconn, Terry Gou, have made big, public plans to invest in America. Together, the deals	近几个月，阿里巴巴集团创始人马云、日本科技投资人孙正义(Masayoshi Son)和富士康总裁郭台铭(Terry Gou)公开发表了在美国投资的宏大计划。这些提议中的项目总计将帮助为美国创造 100 多万个新工作机会和数百亿

Their promises have set off a host of other offerings from Asia in recent weeks — even if those offerings are not entirely new or solid. Toyota Motor of Japan promised last month to spend $10 billion in the United States over the next five years, which would essentially match its previous spending levels. News reports that Samsung of South Korea may also build an American plant won praise from Mr. Trump on Twitter. Samsung said it continued “to evaluate new investment needs in the U.S. that can help us best serve our customers.”	近几周，他们的承诺引发了亚洲的其他众多提议——尽管那些提议并不是全新的或可靠的。上个月，日本丰田汽车公司(Toyota Motor)承诺未来五年在美国投资 100 亿美元，这基本上与该公司之前的投资水平相当。新闻报道称，韩国的三星公司也可能在美国建厂——特朗普在 Twitter 上称赞了这条消息。三星表示，它会继续“评估在美国的投资新需要，帮助我们为客户提供最佳服务”。
In contrast, American firms have made largely symbolic or modest promises to keep a small number of jobs in the United States, while European companies have been mostly silent. Only Intel seems to have borrowed a page from the Asian tycoon playbook, as its chief executive, Brian Krzanich, appeared with Mr. Trump to announce a $7 billion Arizona plant that was conceived in 2011 and then delayed.	相比之下，美国公司大多只做出象征性的或适度承诺，在美国保留少量工作机会，而欧洲公司则大多保持沉默。只有英特尔公司(Intel)似乎效仿这位美国大亨的游戏规则，它的首席执行官科再奇(Brian Krzanich)和特朗普一起亮相，宣布在亚利桑那州投资 70 亿美元建厂，该计划构想于 2011 年，后来被延迟。
The promises from the big Asian business leaders will be tough to keep, experts say. But they show that Asia’s tech titans see a familiar figure in Mr. Trump.	专家表示，这些亚洲商业领袖的承诺很难实现。但它们表明，亚洲的科技巨头在特朗普身上看到了一个熟悉的身影。
American leaders have largely shied from interfering in individual business decisions, instead relying on competitiveness to keep American companies ahead in a global market. But Mr. Trump’s focus on job protection, tariffs and the dictating of terms to business leaders is closer to the more mercantilist outlook that Mr. Ma, Mr. Son and Mr. Gou see to varying degrees in China, Japan, Taiwan and other places in	美国领导人大多避免介入个人商业决定，而是依靠竞争力保持美国公司在全球市场上的领先地位。但是特朗普对保护工作、关税以及商界领袖强制要求的关注更接近马云、孙正义和郭台铭在中国、日本、台湾以及亚洲其他地方看到的不同程度的重商主义面貌。

Asia.
"They see where this guy Trump is coming from, and, at a visceral level, identify with him," said Alberto Moel, an analyst at Sanford C. Bernstein.	"他们看出这个叫特朗普的家伙是什么样的人，而且本能地认同他，"桑福德·伯恩斯坦公司(Sanford C. Bernstein)的分析师阿尔贝托·默尔(Alberto Moel)说。
"It plays directly into their style," he said. "These guys are political animals. They live in Asia, where things are different. There's more autocracy and more connected transactions. In the U.S., people still expect things to be fair."	"这与他们的风格不谋而合，"他说。"这些家伙都是政治动物。他们生活在亚洲，那里的情况是不一样的。有更多独裁，更多关联交易。而在美国，人们仍然期待公平行事。"
The Asian executives come from a region Mr. Trump accuses of using unfair trade practices and stealing American jobs — and all three have a lot to lose. It is not clear whether their lofty promises will lead to better treatment from the Trump administration.	这些亚洲高管来自一个特朗普指责利用不公平贸易行为和窃取美国工作机会的地区——三家企业都会面临巨大损失。目前还不清楚他们美好的承诺是否会换来特朗普政府的优待。
Alibaba, which has shares that trade in the United States, has been under fire there for the fakes that proliferate on its Chinese sales platforms. It also has an eye toward expanding into places like Hollywood. Mr. Son's SoftBank owns Sprint, the American telecom company, and has long desired to expand.	因其在中国的销售平台上假货泛滥，在美国上市和交易股票的阿里巴巴在这里备受打击。它也在着眼于扩展市场，进入好莱坞等市场。孙正义的软银公司掌控着美国电信企业 Sprint，一直以来他都渴望进一步扩大地盘。
Foxconn — a Taiwan-based company with many factories in China — assembles iPhones and other gadgets for Apple, which Mr. Trump has said should make its products in America. Foxconn also has plants in Mexico that benefit under the North American Free Trade Agreement.	总部位于台湾、在中国有多家工厂的富士康为苹果公司(Apple)组装 iPhone 等产品。特朗普曾表示这家公司应该将生产环节放到美国。受益于《北美自由贸易协议》(North American Free Trade Agreement)，富士康在墨西哥也有工厂。
A SoftBank spokesman said, "Mr. Son was greatly encouraged by the economic agenda of the new administration, and he intends to invest significant resources in the U.S. in the years ahead." A Foxconn spokeswoman said that the company was evaluating an investment in	软银公司的一位发言人表示，"新政府的经济议程极大鼓舞了孙正义，他有意于未来数年在美国投资大量资源。"富士康的一位女发言人则表示，该公司正在评估一项在美投资，它预计一个新的美国项目会创造"许多直接和间接的工作机会"。阿里巴巴的一位女发言人拒绝予以置评。

America and that it expected a new American project would create “many direct and indirect job opportunities.” An Alibaba spokeswoman declined to comment.
Of course, the United States has a long history of supporting its homegrown industries. Still, East Asian governments often intervene more directly in business, and many of Mr. Trump’s proposals suggest he wants to adopt similar strategies.	当然，在支持本土工业方面，美国有着悠久的历史。但东亚各国政府往往是更直接地干预商业行为，特朗普的许多提议显示他也想采取类似的策略。
In China, government officials give public and financial support to building up industries to make the country less dependent on exports. In Japan, the government is supporting a new effort to build an aerospace industry. In South Korea, the government has lavished subsidies and tax breaks on its largest exporters, like Hyundai and Samsung.	在中国，政府官员给予公共和财务上的支持，促进行业发展，以便让这个国家更少依赖出口。在日本，政府正在支持一项打造航天航空工业的新努力。在韩国，政府为现代和三星等最大的出口企业提供慷慨的补贴和税收优惠。
Even Mr. Trump’s public praise and cajoling, including the photo ops in Trump Tower and the Twitter posts broadcasting investment vows as political victories, have an East Asian feel.	就连特朗普的公开称赞和劝诱——包括在特朗普大厦(Trump Tower)的合影机会，以及在 Twitter 上像发布政治成果一样宣布投资承诺的帖子——也有一种东亚的感觉。
“In Japan and China you need to go through these rituals,” said Willy Shih, a professor at Harvard Business School. “You could argue that looking at Mr. Trump, they’re saying, ‘O.K., I have to figure out what the ritual is and go through it,’ and these guys know how to do that stuff.”	“在日本和中国，你需要经过这些程式，”哈佛商学院(Harvard Business School)教授史兆威(Willy Shih)说。“可以说，他们在看着特朗普说，‘好，我必须搞清楚这个程式是什么，然后完成它，’这些家伙知道怎么做那些事。”

In all three cases, the Asian companies appear to have fostered good will.	在以上三个例子中，这些亚洲企业似乎都抱着良好的意愿。
After meeting with Mr. Ma, Mr. Trump said that the Alibaba founder loved America and China and that the two of them would “do some great things.”	在与马云会面之后，特朗普曾表示，这位阿里巴巴创始人热爱美国和中国，他们两人会“做一些大事”。
It is not clear how many of the pledges will come to pass.	目前还不清楚这些承诺有多少会兑现。
Mr. Gou has cautioned that the Pennsylvania plant is more a wish than a promise. Putting a flat-panel production center in Pennsylvania places it far from the electronics supply chain that crisscrosses Asia. There is also less experience in building such factories in the United States, and regulatory risks could threaten to turn a multibillion-dollar investment into a big money loser if there are delays in opening it.	郭台铭提醒，宾夕法尼亚工厂更多是一种愿望，而非承诺。在宾夕法尼亚建造一个平板生产中心，会让它远离分布在亚洲各地的电子产品供应链。在建造此类工厂上，他们经验也更少，如果开业时间拖延，监管风险可能将一项数十亿美元的投资变成一个巨大的亏损企业。
“They’re making these promises that I wouldn’t say they have no intention of keeping, but they’re less a promise than an aspiration,” Mr. Moel said. “If they have to they’ll do it, but they’d rather not.”	“我不会说他在做出无意兑现的承诺，但与其说它们是承诺，不如说是一种渴望，”默尔说。“如果没有别的选择，他们会兑现，但他们宁可不要这样。”
All three of the tech leaders are consummate showmen and self-promoters. Mr. Ma says he would like Alibaba to span three centuries by sticking around for at least 102 years. In a recent investor letter he said that in the next 20 years the company would create 100 million jobs. Mr. Son has a 300-year plan for SoftBank, and he often follows up big deals with big promises.	三家技术公司的领导人都是技艺精湛的表演者和自我推销者。马云表示，他希望阿里巴巴能至少存在 102 年，由此跨越三个世纪。在最近一封致股东的信件中，他表示在接下来的 20 年里，这家公司将创造 1 亿个工作机会。孙正义期待软银长存 300 年，他常常跟进有重大承诺的重大交易。

In places like China, Mr. Gou has used the lure of a huge factory to extract major tax breaks. But in other countries, such as Indonesia, long talks about building a plant failed to bear fruit.	在中国等地方，郭台铭利用建大厂的诱惑获取了不少税收优惠。但在其他国家，比如印度尼西亚，有关建厂的谈判持续了很久，也没能达成什么成果。
Still, their tactics could work with a president who has said he wants to emulate East Asian tactics even as he fights them over jobs.	不过，他们的策略或许会对一位总统有效。这位总统曾表示，他想模仿东亚策略，尽管他在与他们争夺工作机会。
"We got to bring back the jobs from China, we got to bring back the jobs from Japan, and all these countries that are ripping us off," he said at one campaign event. I want to get away with things."	"我们得把工作从中国拿回，从日本拿回，从所有占我们便宜的国家拿回，"他在一次竞选活动中说。他还表示，"我不会因此对这些国家抱有成见。我是说，如果他们能免于惩罚，就随它去。我也想做事能免于惩罚。"

LONDON — Donald J. Trump has cast himself as the anti-globalist president.	伦敦——唐纳德·J·特朗普把自己塑造成了一位反全球主义的总统形象。
During the campaign, Mr. Trump's organization continued to file dozens of new trademarks, in China, Canada, Mexico, the European Union and Indonesia, and one of his companies applied for trademark protection in the Philippines more than a month after the election, a review of foreign records by The New York Times showed.	《纽约时报》查看了外国的记录后发现，竞选期间，特朗普集团继续在中国、加拿大、墨西哥、欧盟和印度尼西亚提出了数十项新的商标申请，且选举结束一个多月后，他名下的一家公司还在菲律宾申请了商标保护。
His trademarks in recent years have covered all manner of potential products, including soap and perfume in India, engineering services in Brunei and vodka in Israel. Even last week, the government in China, where his companies have filed for at least 126 trademarks since 2005,	他近年的商标覆盖了各种各样的潜在产品，包括在印度的肥皂和香水、文莱的工程服务和以色列的伏特加酒。就在上周，中国政府宣布授予特朗普在建筑项目中保护特朗普品牌的权利，确认了去年11月作出的一项裁决。自2005年以来，他的公司在中国至少注册了126件商标。

announced it was granting Mr. Trump rights to protect his name brand for construction projects, affirming a decision made in November.
The contrast with his hard-line anti-globalism since taking office is stark. During his first weeks as president, Mr. Trump denounced China and Mexico for unfair trade practices and derided the European Union as “basically a vehicle for Germany.” He ended American involvement in the Trans-Pacific Partnership, a sprawling trade pact with Asian nations, and said he would renegotiate the North American Free Trade Agreement.	这与他上台后强硬的反全球主义态度形成了鲜明的对比。在担任总统的前几周里，特朗普谴责中国和墨西哥不公平的贸易做法，并奚落欧盟“本质上是德国的一件工具”。他让美国退出了同亚洲多国签订的广泛贸易协定跨太平洋伙伴关系(Trans-Pacific Partnership)，并称他会重新就《北美自由贸易协定》(North American Free Trade Agreement)展开谈判。
“Trump seems to be the archetypal businessman with mercantilist instincts,” Dani Rodrik, a professor at the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard, said in an email. “Open your market for me to do business in it, but you can have access to mine only on my terms.”	“特朗普似乎是一个典型的带有重商主义本性的商人，”哈佛大学约翰·F·肯尼迪政府学院(John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard)教授丹尼·罗德里克(Dani Rodrik)在一封电子邮件中说。“开放你的市场，让我进去做生意，但你只能按我的意思进入我的市场。”
The trademarks are the natural outgrowth of a global-spanning strategy. Like any businessman, Mr. Trump has long sought to protect his brand and products legally with trademarks, whether by registering a board game he once tried to sell, slogans like “Make America Great Again” or simply the name “Trump.”	商标是放眼全球的战略自然发展的结果。和所有商人一样，特朗普一向寻求用商标来合法地保护自己的品牌和产品，不管是通过注册曾试图销售的一款棋盘游戏，以及像“让美国恢复伟大荣光”(Make America Great Again)这样的口号或者单纯“特朗普”这个名字。
But the trail of trademarks offers further clues to his international business ties, which leave the president vulnerable to potential conflicts of interest, or at least perception challenges. The Chinese government’s trademark announcement last week came just days after Mr. Trump retreated from challenging China’s policy on Taiwan in a call with China’s president, Xi Jinping.	但商标的踪迹为了解其国际商业联系提供了进一步的线索。这些联系使得这位总统容易受到潜在的利益冲突，或者至少是观念挑战的影响。就在特朗普在与中国国家主席习近平的电话通话中放弃质疑中国对台政策的几天后，中国政府便在上周公布了前述商标决定。

There are most likely many more trademarks, because there is no central repository of all trademarks from every country. The Trump Organization has been filing trademarks for decades, and has said that it has taken out trademarks in more than 80 countries.	记在特朗普公司名下，涉及 28 个国家，包括新西兰、埃及和俄罗斯，还有欧盟。实际的商标数量极有可能比这多得多，因为没有来自所有国家全部商标的中央数据库。特朗普集团数十年来一直在申请商标，并称已在 80 多个国家获得了商标。
“Over the last 20-plus years, the Trump Organization has filed trademarks in numerous locations,” the company said in a statement. “Although the company will not be doing any new international deals, it will continue to take steps to protect its various brands.”	“过去 20 多年里，特朗普集团在很多地方提交了商标申请，”该公司在一份声明中说。“尽管不会进行任何新的国际交易，但公司将继续采取措施，保护自己的各种品牌。”
The organization did not address specific questions posed about deals that emerged from the trademarks.	对于有关从商标中产生的交易的具体问题，该公司未作回应。
The Trump Organization also has international designs for its new Scion hotel brand. The organization took out trademarks last year for Scion in Indonesia, the European Union, China and Canada, though an executive recently said expanding domestically would be the focus while Mr. Trump is in office.	特朗普集团还为新的 Scion 酒店品牌设计了国际路线。该集团去年在印尼、欧盟、中国和加拿大获得了 Scion 商标，不过一名高管最近表示，在特朗普当政期间，国内扩张将是重点。

ward off copyright infringement.
Some trademarks reinforce that for Mr. Trump, the “art of the deal” has often proved elusive overseas. His record is littered with numerous failed or stalled projects, including development deals in Cozumel and Baja California, Mexico, in Russia and in Brazil.	一些商标强化了一点，即对特朗普而言，“交易的艺术”在海外往往证明是难以掌握的。他的记录中不乏失败或陷入停滞的项目，包括在墨西哥的科苏梅尔和下加利福尼亚，以及俄罗斯和巴西的开发协议。
A number of his trademarks are curiosities. He took out a European Union trademark for “Numquam Concedere,” Latin for “Never Give Up,” which is part of the crest at one of his Scottish golf courses. His Israeli trademarks highlight that his failed Trump vodka was revived in Israel, where the brand was licensed by another company and made with potatoes and not grain, helping its popularity among observant Jews during Passover.	他的很多商标都很奇怪。他在欧盟获得了“Numquam Concedere”商标，这是“永不放弃”的拉丁文，这句话也出现在他在苏格兰的其中一家高尔夫球场的饰章上。他在以色列的商标则突显了他曾经失败的特朗普伏特加在以色列获得了新生。在那里，该品牌授予给了另一家公司，用土豆而非谷物酿酒，帮助它在逾越节期间赢得严格遵守教义的犹太人的欢迎。
And while Mr. Trump is known to be involved in a high-rise project in India, he also has a trademark there in a category that covers laundry detergent, perfume and soaps. It is not clear if he envisions himself an Indian soap king or was simply laying down markers for branded products in his developments.	在特朗普据知参与了印度的一个高楼项目的同时，他在印度还拥有一件商标，涉及衣物洗涤用品、香水和肥皂。尚不清楚他究竟是想成为印度的肥皂大王，还是只是为自己开发的项目中所使用的品牌产品定下商标。
What will become of all the overseas ventures remains unclear. Mr. Trump has said he is turning over control of his businesses to his two eldest sons, though he remains closely tied to his empire.	所有这些海外尝试会带来什么结果，现在还不得而知。特朗普自称正在将名下企业的控制权交给他的两个大儿子，但他和自己的帝国依然联系密切。
Foreign entanglements led a group of former White House ethics lawyers and constitutional scholars to file suit, charging that Mr. Trump is violating the Constitution by allowing his businesses to receive payments from foreign governments. The president’s lawyers have disputed the merits of the suit.	错综复杂的外国关系使得一批前白宫伦理道德律师和宪法学者提起诉讼，指控特朗普允许自己的企业收受外国政府的付款违反了宪法。总统的律师则质疑诉讼的法律依据。

Concerns about benefits flowing from foreign governments to the Trump Organization have generally focused on payments and large loans held by lenders like the Bank of China. But trademarks, too, could pose problems.	对从外国政府流向特朗普集团的利益的担忧,总体上集中在付款和中国银行等债权人提供的巨额贷款上。但商标也可能会带来问题。
"We're not talking about an isolated situation where some government official has won longstanding protection for a book he wrote in a far-off land some time ago," said Norman L. Eisen, an Obama administration ethics lawyer who is part of the group that filed suit.	"我们讨论的不是某个政府官员,因为之前某个时候,在远方某个国家写的一本书而获得长期保护这种孤立情况,"奥巴马政府的伦理道德律师诺曼·艾森(Norman L. Eisen)说。艾森是提起诉讼的律师之一。
"We're talking about a candidate who was aggressively seeking large quantities of these foreign government intellectual property protections during the campaign, and who through the businesses he will continue to own will not only seek to maintain but expand those, presumably," Mr. Eisen said.	"我们讨论的,是一名候选人在竞选期间大力寻求外国政府的大量知识产权保护,并且通过他将继续拥有的那些企业,他不仅会寻求维持,大概还会扩大那些保护,"艾森说。
Mr. Trump's sons have said they will forgo new foreign deals and drop some existing overseas projects, including a stalled development deal in the Republic of Georgia that ignited renewed interest after the election.	特朗普的儿子们称他们将放弃新的外国交易和现有的一些海外项目,包括在格鲁吉亚共和国的一项已陷于停顿的开发交易。选举结束后,该交易重现引起了兴趣。
But there are already some signs of continued growth overseas. Mr. Trump's organization recently took steps to build a new 18-hole golf course in Scotland as an expansion of one of its two existing resorts in the country.	但已经有一些迹象显示他的海外业务在持续进行。特朗普集团最近开始在苏格兰修建一个新的18洞高尔夫球场,他在该地有两个度假村,这是其中一个的扩建项目。
Being an "America First" president with a past as a globe-trotting businessman can make for problematic appearances.	特朗普之前是一个全球性的商人,在担任总统期间奉行"美国优先",可能会导致表里不一的问题。
That was underscored after Mr. Trump signed an executive order barring immigrants from seven nations with majority Muslim populations. While the Obama administration had lesser restrictions on	特朗普签署了一项行政命令,限制来自七个穆斯林人口占多数的国家的移民之后,这个问题突显了出来。虽然奥巴马政府对这些国家也有相对较少的一些限制,但特朗普遭到的批评是,那些和他有已知商业利益来往的国家被排

the same list of countries, Mr. Trump was criticized for excluding nations with which he is known to have pursued business interests, like Saudi Arabia and Egypt.	除在这个名单之外，比如沙特阿拉伯和埃及。
Mr. Trump registered eight trademarks in Egypt in 2007, mostly related to what appears to be an abortive golf resort venture. A campaign filing last year revealed his involvement in several companies set up in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia.	特朗普 2007 年在埃及注册了 8 个商标，主要和一个流产的高尔夫度假村计划有关。去年的一份竞选文件显示，他和设立在沙特阿拉伯吉达的几家公司有关联。
Mr. Trump has also made corporate plays in places that have been in his political sights. During the campaign, he assailed Mrs. Clinton and her family foundation for taking donations from Brunei, whose government, he said, "has pushed oppressive Shariah law, including the punishment of death by stoning for being gay."	特朗普还在其政治视野所及之处用这个问题攻击别人。在竞选期间，他指责克林顿及其家庭基金会接受了文莱捐款，他说文莱政府“推动压迫性的伊斯兰教法，包括用石头砸死同性恋者”。
But Mr. Trump himself has had an eye on the country, taking out a trademark there in 2007 covering categories that included contracting, financing and engineering services, records show.	但是，特朗普本人也关注着文莱，多项记录显示，他 2007 年时在该国拿到了一个商标，涉及承包、融资和工程服务。
Dana E. Stewart, president of Global Trademarks Inc., the firm that filed the Brunei trademarks, said in an interview: "I would have no idea of the purpose and the nature of the filing. We are instructed to file and we do that."	帮助申请文莱这个商标的是全球商标公司(Global Trademarks Inc)，其总裁达纳·E·斯图尔特(Dana E. Stewart)在接受采访时说：“我不知道申请这个商标的目的和性质。他们要求提交申请，于是我们就提交了。”
As for Mexico, though Mr. Trump is moving forward aggressively with his plan to build a wall along its border with the United States, the country has been one of his most frequent business targets over the years. In the last decade, his company filed 25 trademarks, including some for two failed resort ventures as well as his Donald J. Trump Signature Collection clothing line, alcohol and furniture.	至于墨西哥，虽然特朗普对于在美墨边境修建隔离墙行动很积极，但该国多年来一直是他业务目标最为频繁的地方一。过去 10 年里，他的公司提交了 25 件商标申请，其中涉及两个失败的度假村，以及特朗普品牌服装系列、酒和家具业务。

In China, the large number of trademarks filed during the campaign were in categories including restaurants, bars, hotels, brokerage services, advertising and management consulting.	在中国，特朗普集团在竞选期间申请了涉及餐厅、酒吧、酒店、经纪服务、广告和管理咨询业务的大量商标。
Spring Chang, founder of Chang Tsi & Partners, a Beijing-based law firm that has represented the Trump Organization, said she did not want to comment on Mr. Trump's specific trademarks. But she said she encouraged a "defensive strategy" for her clients to prevent a celebrity's name from becoming treated as a generic term.	在代表特朗普集团的北京铸成律师事务所，创始人苍雨春说，她不想评论特朗普的具体商标。但她表示鼓励客户采取一种“防御策略”，以防名人的名字被视为一个通用术语。
While the Trump Organization has battled for years over infringements on its name in the country, it has also pursued a large number of hotel development deals in China, though one of his executives recently suggested that the organization would drop those projects.	虽然特朗普集团多年来一直在中国为名字侵权而战，但在中国也有许多酒店开发协议，不过他的一个高管最近表示，该集团会放弃这些项目。
But his strategy in the country certainly has not been entirely defensive. "Made a lot of money in China," he once boasted during the campaign, adding, "I deal with Europe, I deal with Asia, I deal with China all the time."	但他在中国的商业策略并非完全是防御性的。“我在中国赚了很多钱，”他在竞选期间夸耀说，“我在和欧洲、亚洲打交道，我一直在和中国打交道。”

Jury Rejects U.S. Seizure of Luxury Cars From Exporters	美国政府打击向中国倒卖豪车以失败告终
The Mercedes-Benzes, the BMWs and the Land Rovers were largely brand new when federal agents seized them in late 2013, claiming that the small Tennessee company that planned to resell them to wealthy buyers in China was engaging in an insidious fraud.	在 2013 年底，一批梅赛德斯-奔驰、宝马和路虎汽车被联邦特工扣押的时候，大部分都是全新的。联邦特工声称，田纳西的一家小型公司暗中欺诈，计划将这些车转售给中国的富裕买家。

It was a rare courtroom defeat for Preet Bharara, the United States attorney in Manhattan. It represents something of a conclusion to an aggressive crackdown by federal law enforcement on a cottage industry of auto export companies that used middlemen and "straw buyers" to buy luxury cars from dealerships in the United States and quickly resell them for big profits in China.	对于联邦检察官普里特·巴拉拉(Preet Bharara)来说, 这是一次罕见的法庭失败。这代表着联邦执法机构积极打击一系列小型汽车出口公司的行动就此终结。这些小公司利用中间商和"稻草人买家"(straw buyers)从美国经销商手里购买豪华车, 然后迅速转售到中国, 赚取高额利润。

New York Times.
In 2015, federal prosecutors began to back away from bringing straw-buyer luxury export cases as part of an overall review of the federal government's asset forfeiture program. Justice Department officials in Washington counseled prosecutors to either drop or settle forfeiture cases filed against auto export firms unless the authorities could find evidence of real criminality — like tax fraud or evidence that export firms had hired people using forged driver's licenses to buy cars for quick resale in China.	2015年，在对联邦政府资产没收行动进行全面审查的时候，联邦检察官开始放松关于通过稻草人买家购买奢侈品出口的案件。华盛顿的司法部官员向检察官提出建议：针对汽车出口公司的没收案件或者撤诉，或者庭外和解，除非能找到可靠的犯罪证据——例如税务欺诈，或者是有证据表明，出口公司雇用了伪造驾驶执照的人购买汽车，然后快速转售给中国的顾客。
A number of open civil forfeiture cases brought by federal prosecutors against auto export firms were either settled or dropped — but not the case that Mr. Bharara's office had brought against Efans.	联邦检察官对汽车出口公司提起的公开民事没收案件中，一些被撤销，一些进行了庭外和解，但是巴拉拉的办公室对伊凡斯公司提起的诉讼不包括在内。
Mr. Razi and another lawyer at Covington, Bruce Baird, said they had asked prosecutors in Mr. Bharara's office to drop the case in light of the Justice Department's guidance, but to no avail.	拉奇和科文顿·柏灵律师事务所的另一名律师布鲁斯·贝尔德(Bruce Baird)说，他们已经要求巴拉拉办公室的检察官根据司法部的指导方针撤销该案，但是对方不同意。
A spokeswoman for Mr. Bharara declined to comment.	巴拉拉的发言人拒绝就此事予以置评。
In November 2013, when Mr. Bharara's office filed the forfeiture case, he issued a statement that said Efans had "defrauded dealerships, insurance companies and authorities in its scheme to export luxury automobiles in violation of the law."	2013年11月，当巴拉拉的办公室就该案提出指控时，他发表声明说，伊凡斯公司“违反法律出口豪华汽车的安排，对经销商、保险公司和当局进行了欺诈”。
The jury reached a unanimous verdict in favor of Efans after a seven-day trial before Judge Katherine Polk Failla of Federal District Court in Manhattan.	在曼哈顿的联邦地方法院的凯瑟琳·波尔克·法伊拉(Katherine Polk Failla)法官进行了为期七天的审判后，陪审团达成了一致意见，做出了有利于伊凡斯的裁定。
In recent years, asset forfeiture proceedings have come under broad criticism because of the ability of federal and state authorities to seize	近年来，资产没收行动遭受了广泛批评，因为联邦和州当局可以在证明有犯罪行为发生之前，不必提出刑事指控就没收财产。有鉴于这种批评，奥巴马

China Names Guo Shuqing, a Rapid-Fire Regulator, to Oversee Troubled Banks	郭树清担任银监会主席传递怎样的改革信号
SHANGHAI — As a top stock market regulator, Guo Shuqing cemented a reputation as an economic reformer who tried to bring market-oriented changes to China's fraud-ridden and heavily politicized financial system.	上海——郭树清作为经济改革者的声誉，是在他担任股票市场最高监管官员时树立起来的，当时他试图把以市场为导向的变革引入中国充满欺诈和严重政治化的金融系统。

Whirlwind Guo.
Now Mr. Guo has returned to Beijing to tackle an even bigger problem: the murky, debt-laden Chinese banking system.	现在，郭树清已回到北京来解决一个更大的问题：不清不白且负债沉重的中国银行系统。
On Friday the state news media said that he was named chairman of the China Banking Regulatory Commission, succeeding Shang Fulin, who had reached the mandatory retirement age of 65. The Chinese commercial news media widely reported and filmed Mr. Guo's arrival at that agency on Friday morning, where he was greeted by Mr. Shang.	中国官方新闻媒体上周五称，他被任命为中国银行业监督管理委员会主席，接替已达到65岁强制退休年龄的尚福林。中国商业新闻媒体大量报道了这条消息，并拍摄了郭树清上周五早晨到该机构上班、受到尚福林欢迎的录像。
Mr. Guo's appointment offers a sign that China is taking a financial overhaul seriously, though it was made among other moves that could send mixed signals about that commitment. The stakes are high: Experts widely believe that China's weak financial system is holding back its economy, the world's second largest.	郭树清的任命提供了一个迹象，表明中国正在严肃对待金融改革问题，虽然这个任命的同时所采取的一些其他举措，可能使得对改革的承诺发出的信号不明确。改革面临的风险很大：专家们普遍认为，中国软弱无力的金融系统阻碍着中国经济的发展，中国是世界上的第二大经济体。
China is trying to broaden its economy beyond its traditional dependence on manufacturing, but its financial system still operates on a state-directed lend-and-spend model that has generated alarming amounts of debt even as it hinders money from reaching entrepreneurs.	中国正在努力把经济扩展到超越传统上依赖的制造业之外，但中国的金融体系仍按照以国家为导向的借贷花钱的模式运行，这种模式已经产生了惊人的债务，尽管其阻碍了企业家获得资金。
Bad loans are widely expected to soar as the economy continues to slow. At the same time, banks have become increasingly dependent on raising money through often speculative investment products that they keep off their balance sheets, making it hard to assess the risks they pose to financial stability.	随着经济继续放缓，人们普遍预计坏账会飙升。与此同时，银行越来越多地依赖用往往是投机性的投资产品来筹集资金，这类产品并不出现在银行的资产负债表上，让人难以评估它们给金融稳定性带来的风险。
Yet other appointments suggested a commitment to the status quo. The state news media on Friday said the No. 2 officials at the National	但是，其他的任命暗示了维持现状的承诺。国家新闻媒体上周五称，中国的最高经济规划机构国家发展和改革委员会的第二把手和商务部的第二把手，

The choice to run the National Development and Reform Commission, He Lifeng, served from 2009 to 2012 as the deputy secretary of Tianjin. He helped oversee the construction of a forest of office and residential skyscrapers at the city's fringes that have barely been occupied and have become one of the many symbols of China's dependence on investment-led growth that is often wasteful.	何立峰被任命为国家发展和改革委员会的主任，他曾于 2009 年至 2012 年担任天津市委副书记。在他的主管下，天津在城市边缘地区建设了成片的办公楼和住宅摩天大厦，这些建筑一直几乎空着，并已成为中国依赖投资主导型增长的许多标志之一，这种经济增长模式往往制造很多的浪费。
China could signal its commitment to a financial overhaul with any changes at the top of its central bank, the People's Bank of China. Zhou Xiaochuan, widely considered a reformist voice in China, is more than two years past retirement age, so predicting his departure has become a popular parlor game in China's financial world. Appointing Yi Gang, Mr. Zhou's deputy, to the top could be seen as an endorsement of Mr. Zhou's gentle advocacy of reform, though elevating Mr. Yi could also reflect Beijing's lack of interest in rocking the boat.	中国可以通过更换央行、即中国人民银行的领导人来表示其对金融改革的承诺。普遍被认为代表中国改革派声音的央行行长周小川已超过退休年龄两年有余，因此，预测他何时离任，已经成为中国金融界内一种流行的猜谜游戏。任命周小川的副手易纲担任央行行长将会被看作是对周小川温和倡导改革的一种认可，虽然易纲的晋升也会反映北京对打破现状不感兴趣。
The shuffle comes at a delicate time for China's financial leadership. Trump Is Off to a Slow Start on Trade Promises	贸易问题上，特朗普雷声大雨点小
WASHINGTON — President Trump keeps firing verbal broadsides at Mexico and China, but so far his new administration has not acted to keep specific campaign promises about trade policy.	华盛顿——特朗普总统一直在嘴上炮轰墨西哥和中国，但迄今为止，他的新政府尚未采取行动，兑现竞选期间做出的有关贸易政策的明确承诺。
Mr. Trump did not declare China a “currency manipulator” on his first day in office, as he had vowed, nor has he after his first month. Steven Mnuchin, the Treasury secretary, said on Thursday that his department was conducting a standard biannual review of the currency practices of China and other trading partners.	特朗普没有像他起誓的那样，在上台第一天宣布中国是“汇率操纵国”，上台一个月后也没有。美国财政部长史蒂文·努钦(Steven Mnuchin)在周四表示，财政部正在对中国和其他贸易伙伴的汇率政策进行标准的一年两次的评估。
Mr. Trump also has not initiated the renegotiation of the North American Free Trade Agreement with Mexico and Canada, something he promised to “immediately pursue.”	特朗普也没有就《北美自由贸易协定》(North American Free Trade Agreement)与墨西哥和加拿大重新进行谈判。他曾承诺“立即着手”此事。
“There’s definitely a huge gap between rhetoric and reality,” said Chad P. Bown, a senior fellow and specialist on trade policy at the Peterson Institute for International Economics.	“言论和现实之间肯定存在巨大差距，”彼得森国际经济研究所(Peterson Institute for International Economics)的高级研究员、贸易政策专家查德·P·鲍恩(Chad P. Bown)说。
Mr. Trump made trade one of his signature issues during the campaign, excoriating what he described as failed policies that have allowed foreign countries, notably China and Mexico, to profit at Americans’ expense. And he has not changed his tune since he moved into the White House.	竞选期间，特朗普让贸易成了他的标志化话题之一，斥责他口中失败的政策，称其使外国，尤其是中国和墨西哥以美国的利益为代价获利。入主白宫后，他并未改口。

"Take a look at Nafta, one of the worst deals ever made by any country having to do with economic development," Mr. Trump told the cheering crowd on Friday at the Conservative Political Action Conference, held just outside Washington. "It's economic undevelopment, as far as our country is concerned."	"看看《北美自由贸易协定》，它是所有国家签订的经济发展协议中最糟糕的之一，"特朗普周五在华盛顿郊区举行的保守派政治行动会议(Conservative Political Action Conference)上对欢呼的人群说。"就我国而言，是经济不发展。"
Mr. Trump has fulfilled one campaign promise on trade, signing an order to withdraw the United States from the Trans-Pacific Partnership, a unsigned deal that the Obama administration negotiated with Pacific Rim nations but had not submitted to Congress for approval.	特朗普兑现了竞选期间做出的其中一个贸易承诺，签署了美国退出“跨太平洋伙伴关系协定”(Trans-Pacific Partnership, 简称 TPP)的命令。该协定尚未签署，是奥巴马政府同太平洋沿岸国家达成，但还未提交国会，获得后者的批准。
But the absence of clear action on China and Mexico is striking, both because Mr. Trump's language remains so bellicose and because the administration has moved quickly to keep many of the other campaign promises that it made.	未对中国和墨西哥采取明确行动这一点颇为显眼，这既是因为特朗普的语言依然非常强硬，也是因为特朗普政府已经为兑现竞选期间的其他承诺而采取了迅速的行动。
The "Contract with the American Voter" that Mr. Trump announced in October has proved in most respects an accurate guide to the first month of his presidency.	特朗普 10 月宣布的“与美国选民的约定”，在大多数方面证明是他第一个月总统任期的精确指南。
Mr. Trump has nominated a conservative judge to the Supreme Court and announced a freeze on federal hiring. He has reversed some Obama-era regulations and sharply shifted the government's policies on immigration. The White House is pressing Congress to approve a new health care plan and overhaul the tax code.	特朗普提名一位保守派法官进入最高法院，并宣布冻结联邦政府的雇用。他撤销了奥巴马时期的部分规定，并大幅调整了政府的移民政策。白宫正在向国会施压，要求批准一个新的医疗保健计划，并改革税法。
Trade policy has emerged as perhaps the most notable exception.	贸易政策或许是最值得关注的例外。
Mr. Trump's views on trade diverge widely from the mainstream of the Republican Party, more so than on any other issue of economic policy. And some Republicans were quick to warn Mr. Trump against	特朗普在贸易问题上的观点与共和党的主流观点分歧很大，比在其他任何经济政策问题上的分歧都大。部分共和党人迅速警告特朗普不要采取保护主义措施，担心这可能会破坏美国的经济增长。

Another farm state Republican, Senator Ben Sasse of Nebraska, this week celebrated the 200th anniversary of the publication of David Ricardo's economic theory of comparative advantage, which shows that trade between two nations benefits both. "It's still brilliant & beautiful," Mr. Sasse wrote on Twitter. He suggested in a second post that parents should read Ricardo to their children.	另一名来自农业州的共和党人、内布拉斯加州参议员本·萨瑟(Ben Sasse)本周庆祝大卫·李嘉图(David Ricardo)的比较优势经济理论发表 200 周年。该理论显示，贸易对双方都有利。"它依然耀眼美丽，"萨瑟在 Twitter 上写道。他在另一篇帖子中建议家长给孩子读李嘉图的著作。
Mr. Trump said during the presidential campaign that he would declare China a currency manipulator on "Day 1" of his administration. He reiterated that commitment in his "Contract with the American Voter," which said, "I will direct the secretary of the Treasury to label China a currency manipulator."	特朗普在总统竞选期间称，他会在上台"第一天"宣布中国是汇率操纵国。在"与美国选民的约定"中，他重申了这一承诺，称"我会指示财政部长将中国列为汇率操纵国"。

In a televised interview with CNBC, Mr. Mnuchin said that China's currency practices would be evaluated on the same schedule as those of other American trading partners. The Treasury publishes biannual reports on April 15 and October 15.	在接受 CNBC 的电视转播采访时，努钦称会按照相同的日程安排评估中国和美国其他贸易伙伴的汇率政策。财政部在 4 月 15 日和 10 月 15 日发布一年两次的报告。
"We have a process within Treasury where we go through and look at currency manipulation across the board," he said. "We'll go through that process. We'll do that as we have in the past. We're not making any judgments until we continue that process."	"财政部内部有一个从整体上评估汇率操纵的程序，"他说。"我们会走这个程序，会遵循以前的惯例。在继续这个程序之前，我们不会做出任何判断。"
Specialists in currency policy say that they see no evidence that China is suppressing the value of its currency to increase exports, as it did in previous decades.	汇率政策专家称，他们没有发现中国像过去几十年那样，为了增加出口而压低自己货币价值的证据。
The White House and the Treasury Department did not respond to requests for comment.	白宫和财政部未回复记者的置评请求。
If the United States determines that China is manipulating its currency, a step the Treasury last took in 1994, the government would seek to reach an agreement with China, but could eventually impose tariffs on Chinese imports.	如果美国断定中国操纵汇率——就像 1994 年那样，政府便会争取同中国达成协议，但最终也可能会对来自中国的进口商品征收关税。
One reason for the stuttering start may be the paucity of administration officials. Mr. Trump has said that Wilbur Ross, his nominee for commerce secretary, will lead the renegotiation of Nafta and play a major role on trade policy. But Mr. Ross is awaiting Senate confirmation. A vote is scheduled for Monday.	开局不顺的一个原因或许是联邦政府官员人手不足。特朗普曾表示，他提名的商务部长人选威尔伯·罗斯(Wilbur Ross)将领导就《北美自由贸易协定》重新展开谈判，并在贸易政策上扮演重要角色。但罗斯目前正在等待参议院的确认。投票定于周一举行。

FOSHAN, China — At first glance, given the way that China controls its currency, the Guangdong Chigo Air Conditioning Company might seem like a winner.	中国佛山——鉴于中国控制货币的方式，广东志高空调有限公司乍一看似乎是个赢家。
For the past three years, China has allowed its currency, the renminbi, to weaken in value compared with the American dollar. On paper, that should bolster Chigo's profits. Half of its $1.2 billion in annual sales come from abroad, mostly in dollars, and a weaker renminbi gives Chinese companies an advantage when they sell their products in other countries.	过去三年里，中国让自己的货币人民币相较美元贬值。理论上，这应该提高志高的利润。其12亿美元（约合80亿元人民币）的年销售额中，有一半来自国外，且主要是以美元结算；人民币贬值让中国的企业在其他国家销售产品时占据优势。
Yet the renminbi's slide has provided only a marginal benefit, said Li Xinghao, the company's founder and chairman. Big Western department store chains have learned to pit manufacturers against one another — and China is full of air-conditioner manufacturers. When the renminbi weakens, the chains simply tell factory bosses to cut their prices or lose the business to another Chinese factory.	但该公司的创始人、董事局主席李兴浩表示，人民币贬值只带来了边际收益。西方大的连锁百货公司已经学会让制造商相互竞争，而在中国，空调制造商遍地都是。人民币贬值时，那些连锁公司只是简单地让工厂老板降价，否则生意就会流向另一家中国工厂。
"It only brings benefits for the first month," Mr. Li said. "For the next month, clients are recalculating what they'll pay. The supply is much greater than demand, so profits can't go up."	"只有一个月的好处，"李兴浩说。"之后客户又要算账了。供大于求的前提下，没有说利润多了的。"

country. President Trump had heavily criticized China during the campaign, saying that Beijing for many years used an artificially weak currency to unfairly help its businesses and steal American jobs.	地帮助中国企业，并窃取美国的就业岗位。
Mr. Trump has not acted on a campaign promise to label China a currency manipulator, and Steven Mnuchin, the new Treasury secretary, has said the administration is conducting a standard review of China's currency policy. Still, Mr. Trump has kept up his rhetoric.	特朗普尚未兑现竞选时的承诺，将中国列为汇率操纵国，新任财政部长史蒂文·努钦(Steven Mnuchin)则表示，联邦政府正在对中国的汇率政策进行标准评估。但特朗普的口风并没有变。
Investors and economists widely expect market forces to push the renminbi to weaken even more. And that leaves China with some tough choices. If Beijing lets its currency slide, it will risk worsening relations with Washington.	投资者和经济专家普遍预计，市场力量会推动人民币进一步贬值。这会令中国面临棘手的选择。如果北京放任人民币贬值，就可能会导致与华盛顿的关系恶化。
On the other hand, a weaker currency would help its factories. But economists and business executives are increasingly throwing cold water on that thinking, saying the dynamic has changed: These days, they say, a weaker currency may hurt China and its companies more than it helps.	另一方面，货币贬值可能会有助于中国的工厂。但经济专家和企业高管越来越多地向这种想法泼冷水，称形势变了：他们说，如今货币贬值对中国和中国公司的伤害也许比帮助大。
Chinese officials, who keep a tight grip on the currency's value, appear to be aware of that. In recent months, they have kept the value from falling to 7 renminbi to the dollar, a level the currency has not seen since May 2008. Currently, it is hovering at about 6.9 renminbi to the dollar. That support is expensive — China has drawn nearly $1 trillion from its huge stash of foreign money to hold its currency steady.	严格控制人民币价值的中国官员似乎也意识到了这一点。最近几个月，他们防止人民币汇率跌至自2008年5月以来从未出现过的7元人民币兑1美元。目前，人民币与美元之间的汇率在6.9元人民币兑1美元左右徘徊。这种支持代价昂贵：中国已从其庞大的外汇储备中抽出近1万亿美元，以维持人民币汇率稳定。
The currency is under pressure to depreciate for a number of reasons. Among them: Families and companies are sending their money out of China, looking for safer places to store it as the country's growth cools.	人民币面临贬值压力的原因有很多，其中包括：随着中国经济的增长降温，家庭和公司正在把资产转移至国外，寻找更安全的存放地点。

China keeps a tight rein on the amount of money that flows over its borders. But between the semiautonomous Chinese city of Hong Kong, which has a separate currency and legal system, and its neighbor on the mainland, Shenzhen, "there are thousands and thousands of smugglers, and they just bring billions of dollars" out of China, said Kevin Lai, the chief economist for Asia excluding Japan at Daiwa Capital Markets. A weaker currency could push more Chinese people and companies to send their money abroad, for fear of further losses if they continue to hold renminbi.	中国严格控制流出国境的资金金额。但大和资本市场(Daiwa Capital Markets)负责除日本外亚洲市场的首席经济学家赖志文(Kevin Lai)说, 在有着单独货币和法律制度的中国半自治城市香港及其位于中国大陆的邻居深圳之间, "有千千万万的走私者, 把数十亿美元"带出中国。人民币贬值可能会促使更多的中国民众和公司把资金转移到国外, 因为他们如果担心继续持有人民币, 会蒙受进一步的损失。
That isn't all. The weaker currency makes it harder for many of China's heavily indebted companies to pay off what they owe overseas or to raise more money. A weaker currency also does not pack the same competitive punch because so much of the world's manufacturing base is now in China; four-fifths of the world's window-mounted air-conditioners are made in the country, for example. Basically, a weaker currency is not as much help if a company's competitors all use the same currency.	这还不是全部。人民币贬值会增加很多债台高筑的中国公司还清海外债务或筹集更多资金的难度。人民币贬值也并不会增强竞争力, 因为全球制造业基地中很大部分都在中国。比如, 全球五分之四的窗式空调是中国制造。总的来说, 如果一家公司的竞争对手用的都是同一种货币, 货币贬值就不会起太多作用。
Today's dynamic signals a big shift from a decade ago. Back then, Beijing kept the currency artificially weak compared with the dollar — and Chinese businesses benefited. A cheap and stable currency was one of a number of reasons that companies like General Electric, Mattel and Samsonite shifted production there. The shift gave China tens of millions of manufacturing jobs, stoked its economy and helped create a world power.	今天的态势与十年前相比已经发生了很大的变化。那时, 北京人为压低人民币相较于美元的价值, 中国企业获益。低廉、稳定的货币是通用电气(General Electric)、美泰(Mattel)和新秀丽(Samsonite)等公司把生产转移到中国的众多原因之一。这种转移给中国提供了数千万个制造业工作岗位, 刺激了中国经济, 并帮助中国成为世界大国。
In time, it also helped nurture homegrown competitors. The Carrier	最后, 它还帮助培养了本土竞争对手。目前, 在特朗普的压力下, 开利公司

Corporation — which has partly reversed plans to move some production from the United States to Mexico after coming under pressure from Mr. Trump — built seven air-conditioner factories in China more than a decade ago. But in 2008, Carrier put them into a joint venture with Midea, one of Chigo’s main rivals in the Chinese air-conditioner industry. Carrier said it still held 40 percent of the joint venture but declined to comment further.	(Carrier Corporation)已经部分改变了把一些生产从美国转移到墨西哥的计划。但十多年前，开利在中国建了七座空调厂。不过2008年，该公司把它们并入了与美的成立的一家合资企业。美的是志高在中国空调行业的主要竞争对手之一。开利自称仍持有该合资企业40%的股份，但拒绝进一步置评。
The weaker currency still helps a number of companies, especially a small but growing group of Chinese companies that export specialized or high-quality products and compete with Western companies. One such Chinese company is Broad Air Conditioning, a maker of specialized central air-conditioning systems that are more energy-efficient but also considerably more expensive than most central air-conditioning systems.	人民币贬值依然会帮到很多公司，特别是一批出口专业产品或高质量产品，同西方企业竞争的中国公司。它们数量虽小，却在不断增加中。远大空调有限公司就是这样一家中国公司。该公司生产的专业中央空调系统比大部分中央空调系统更节能，但也贵得多。
“However much the U.S. dollar rises, our profits rise the same,” said Wu Zheng, general manager of Broad’s international operations.	“美元上涨多少，我们的利润就上涨多少，”远大空调国际公司总经理吴正说。
But for most companies, other issues dwarf the currency. Wages have risen to the point where global manufacturers of low-cost items like shoes and clothing are shifting work outside China. Economic growth is slowing. Global trade has weakened. And in many industries, like window-mounted air-conditioners, a surplus of Chinese factories has undermined pricing and wiped out profits.	但对大部分企业来说，其他问题盖过了人民币问题。工资水平上涨，导致服装和鞋履等低成本物品的跨国制造商正在把生产从中国转移出去。经济增长放缓。国际贸易疲软。并且在很多行业，比如窗式空调行业，中国工厂的过量影响了定价，吞噬了利润。
Chigo — which is headquartered in Foshan, on the outskirts of the city of Guangzhou — lost money from operations in 2014 and 2015. In the first half of last year, Chigo eked out a tiny profit as the renminbi began	总部设在广州附近佛山的志高空调，2014年和2015年连续亏损。去年上半年，随着人民币开始暴跌，志高勉强小幅盈利。在外国零售商提出折扣要求之前，它能在短时间内从人民币的贬值中获得一些好处。

to tumble. It was briefly able to capture some gains from the currency's depreciation before foreign retailers demanded price discounts.
Chigo sells air-conditioners in 180 countries, including outlets in the United States like Menards, a Midwest chain of home-improvement centers.	志高的空调在 180 个国家有售，包括美国的卖场，如中西部的家装连锁梅纳兹(Menards)。
Three years ago, Chigo experimented with its own shift overseas. With wages rising at home, it chose two countries with even lower wages as well as steep barriers to imports: Nigeria and India.	三年前，志高尝试向国外转移。鉴于国内工资水平上涨，志高选择了两个工资水平更低且进口壁垒颇高的国家：尼日利亚和印度。
Chigo found that in both countries, worker productivity was much lower while government corruption was a problem. In Africa, security was also an issue. A car carrying Chigo sales managers in Ghana was approached in broad daylight by two armed robbers who demanded the managers' wallets and pistol-whipped their driver. Now its Indian and Nigerian operations have nearly shut down.	志高在这两个国家发现，工人的生产效率要低很多，同时政府腐败也是一个问题。在非洲，还有安全问题。在加纳，曾有两名武装劫匪在光天化日之下走到志高的销售经理们乘坐的车前，要求他们交出钱包，还用手枪柄打了司机。现在，志高在印度和尼日利亚的工厂几乎都停工了。
"In China, companies feel a sense of safety, which is already a huge support" for business, said Jackie Cheng, the vice president of Chigo and general manager for its overseas marketing. China's high-speed rail network and its world-class network of new expressways also make it easy to do business, he added.	"中国能够给私营企业安全感，已经是非常不错了，"志高空调副总裁、海外营销本部总经理成剑说。他接着表示，中国的高铁网络和世界级的新高速公路网络也让做生意变得容易。
Persuading Chinese managers to live overseas is also difficult, Chigo found. "That's serious," Mr. Cheng said. "We can't get used to the food outside, and many Chinese can't really speak English."	志高发现，说服中国管理人员在国外生活也很难。"这不是开玩笑，"成剑说。"中国人吃不惯国外的菜，许多中国人也不会说英语。"
The factory in Foshan ran only four days a week late last year because of weak orders and overcapacity in the Chinese air-conditioning manufacturing sector. In interviews, some Chigo workers expressed	去年年底，因为订单少和中国空调制造业产能过剩，佛山的工厂一周只生产四天。在采访中，志高的一些工人表示了恼火，因为这意味着他们挣的钱少了。 irritation that this meant they earned less money.

But Mr. Cheng said that the company's sprawling, 23-year-old factory had become busier in recent weeks as orders have risen. He attributed this mainly to an acceleration in the American and Chinese economies but also to the fall of the renminbi, which makes air-conditioners slightly cheaper and more affordable around the world and results in slightly greater demand.	但成剑说，最近几周，随着订单增加，该公司规模庞大且已有 23 年历史的工厂已经忙起来了。他把这种情况主要归因于美国和中国经济加速，同时也有人民币贬值的原因。后者让空调在全世界变得稍微便宜一些，更实惠，导致需求小幅增加。
Yet if the renminbi weakens further this year, as many economists expect, Mr. Cheng expects further demands from overseas retailers for discounts, coupled with threats to move orders to other Chinese air-conditioning manufacturers if Chigo does not comply. Frowning, he added, "Our clients have already told me, 'The renminbi will reach 7.1. Please reduce your prices.'"	但如果人民币今年像很多经济专家预计的那样进一步贬值，成剑估计海外零售商会进一步提出折扣要求，威胁如果志高不照办，它们就把订单交给其他中国空调制造商。他皱着眉补充说，“我的客户已经告诉我我要涨到 7.1，他们要我降价。”

The Workers Who Regret Trump's Scrapping of a Trade Deal	特朗普退出 TPP，劳工权益或成牺牲品
HO CHI MINH CITY, Vietnam — Do Thi Minh Hanh, a labor activist, had grown accustomed to being beaten, hospitalized and jailed for her work in a country where independent trade unions are banned.	越南胡志明市——在这个禁止独立工会的国家，劳工活动人士杜氏明杏(Do Thi Minh Hanh)已习惯了遭殴打、入院治疗，以及坐牢。
So it gave her hope for a reprieve when Vietnam reached a trade deal with the United States and other countries that called for its members to bolster workers' rights and protect independent unions.	因此，当越南与美国以及其他国家达成一个贸易协议，要求成员国支持工人的权利、保护独立工会时，她看到了情况缓解的希望。
That hope fizzled in late January, when President Trump pulled the United States out of the trade deal, the Trans-Pacific Partnership, with the stroke of a pen.	但这个希望在今年 1 月下旬破灭了，因为特朗普总统大笔一挥，让美国撤出了这个“跨太平洋伙伴关系协定”(Trans-Pacific Partnership, 简称 TPP)。
"The Vietnamese government will use this as an excuse to suppress the	"越南政府将以此为理由，继续压制劳工运动，"杜氏明杏说。"他们从来不希

labor movement," Ms. Hanh said. "They never wanted to have independent unions in Vietnam."	望越南有独立的工会。”
That labor-rights promise has become collateral damage as the United States turns inward under Mr. Trump. As the new president vows to rip up or rethink relations with trading partners, he could also abandon accompanying pledges the United States has won from other countries to protect workers' rights and the environment.	随着美国在特朗普任内转向关注本国事务，对劳工权利的承诺也连带受到损害。鉴于特朗普誓言要推倒或者重新考虑美国与贸易伙伴的关系，他可能也会放弃美国从其他国家获得的关于保护工人权利及环境的相关承诺。
Critics of the labor and environmental protections in the T.P.P. and other trade agreements consider them a political sop that amount to unenforceable window dressing. Still, America's new trade retreat could allow countries like China to set the terms of global commerce — countries that are unlikely to use their economic heft for moral persuasion.	有些人批评 TPP 和其他贸易协议中关于劳动和环境保护的规定是政治安慰品，是无法执行的橱窗布置。然而美国撤出这个贸易协议，可能会让中国这样的国家获得制定全球商业条款的机会——这些国家不太可能利用经济影响来开展道德说服工作。
For example, America's withdrawal from T.P.P. paves the way for China to advance its own Asian free-trade deal, the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership. The China-led deal, said Rajiv Biswas, the Asia-Pacific chief economist at IHS Global Insight, "is less ambitious in its scope of coverage, and does not include major reforms to labor protection standards."	例如，美国从 TPP 中撤出，给中国推进自己的亚洲自由贸易协定“区域全面经济伙伴关系”铺平了道路。环球通视(IHS Global Insight)亚太首席经济学家拉吉夫·比斯瓦斯(Rajiv Biswas)说，中国牵头的这个协议“在涵盖范围上没有那么雄心勃勃，并且不要求在劳动保护标准上进行重大改革”。
American negotiators in recent years have added labor and environmental protections to trade deals as anti-globalization sentiment rose in the United States. Over the past 24 years, the United States has struck 13 free-trade agreements covering 19 countries that include worker and environmental protections. In most cases, the deals merely call for the countries to follow their own laws.	随着美国的反全球化情绪高涨，美国谈判者近年来为贸易协定增加了劳动和环境保护内容。在过去 24 年中，美国已经达成了 13 项对工人和环境保护有要求的自由贸易协定，涵盖 19 个国家。在大多数情况下，这些协定仅仅是呼吁各国遵守自己的法律。

Supporters of these measures argue that they can have an impact. Following the American example, the European Union has started adding similar requirements to its trade deals. American negotiators have also strengthened the language somewhat in more recent trade deals, including the T.P.P.	这种做法的支持者认为，它确实可以产生影响。欧盟已经开始效仿美国的做法，在自己的贸易协定里增加类似的要求。美国谈判者最近也在更多的贸易协定中多少强化了这些立场，包括 TPP。
Those agreements had “real teeth in terms of trade sanctions” said David A. Gantz, a law professor at the University of Arizona in Tucson who is an expert on international trade agreements. “They might have made a real difference had T.P.P. gone forward.”	位于图森的亚利桑那大学法学教授戴维·A·甘兹(David A. Gantz)是国际贸易协定方面的专家，他说，这些协议“在贸易制裁方面具有切实的意义”，“如果 TPP 继续推进，它们可能已经产生了切实效果”。
He added, “These provisions in U.S. free-trade agreements can be more than fig leaves, but with an important caveat: The U.S. government in particular has to be willing to be active in enforcing them.”	他还说，“美国自由贸易协定中的这些条款可以超越装饰品的作用，但一个重要提醒是：美国政府尤其得有强烈的执行意愿才行。”
That can be tough, given that the country on the other end of the treaty may have to pass new laws to comply, labor groups say.	劳工组织说，这可能会很困难，因为协定另一方的国家若是要遵守协议相关条款，恐怕得先通过一些新的法律。
“Any trade agreement must have strong labor provisions to mitigate a race to the bottom,” said Sharon Waxman, the president of the Fair Labor Association. “But what we find is that trade agreements are often wrongly viewed as a substitute for national laws that protect workers’ rights and ensure they are compensated fairly.”	“任何贸易协定都必须带有强有力的劳工条款，以减少向下竞争的现象。”公平劳工协会(Fair Labor Association)主席沙伦·韦克斯曼(Sharon Waxman)说：“但是我们发现，贸易协定常常被错误地视为一种替代品，用来代替保护工人权利、确保他们获得公平报酬的国家法律。”
In a 10-page side agreement, the T.P.P. would have required Vietnam to criminalize the use of forced labor and broaden enforcement to apply to cases of debt bondage. On labor unions, workers would be allowed to form their own grass-roots unions that could bargain collectively and lead strikes. Vietnam has started drafting some of these changes but timing on their execution is uncertain, said Oliver Massmann, a	在一份长达 10 页的补充协议中，TPP 要求越南将强迫劳动定为刑事犯罪，并将扩大执法以适用于债役案件。关于工会，工人将可以形成自己的基层工会，进行集体谈判并领导罢工。越南杜安—莫里斯律师事务所(Duane Morris Vietnam)的合伙人奥利弗·马斯曼(Oliver Massmann)表示，越南已开始起草一些法律变更，但执行时间尚不确定。越南和欧盟之间的单独贸易协定将在明年 1 月生效，它也包含针对劳动条件的内容，但缺乏 TPP 那种更加强有

Vietnam's economy has taken off as China's labor costs have risen, sending factory owners to look for cheaper labor elsewhere. Labor activists say many of its factories have improved from the blatant sweatshops that prevailed in the 1990s, prompting companies like Nike to impose monitoring and compliance standards on suppliers in Vietnam.	随着中国劳动力成本升高，工厂所有者前往其他地方寻找更便宜的劳动力，越南的经济已经开始起飞。劳工活动人士表示，很多工厂的前身都是1990年代盛行的那种赤裸裸的血汗工厂，这促使像耐克这样的公司给越南供应商制定了监管和合规标准。
Still, Vietnam remains plagued with labor problems. A 2015 survey of its garment industry found that most of the factories that were inspected suppressed independent unions and failed health and safety checks.	然而，越南仍然存在许多劳工问题。2015年对该国服装行业的一项调查发现，参加检查的大多数工厂都对独立工会进行压制，而且通不过健康和安全检查。
In Vietnam, organizing is done quietly. To pave the way for one strike at a shoe factory, a colleague spent weeks in the area talking to workers and building contacts. Ms. Hanh wrote fliers and taught a core group of workers how to organize and strike. She counts the resulting January 2010 strike of 10,000 workers as a victory because it resulted in big pay raises for workers, even though she and two of her colleagues were thrown in prison.	在越南，组织工作是悄然进行的。为了给一家鞋厂的罢工铺平道路，一位同事花了数周时间在该地区和工人交谈并建立联系。杜氏明杏写了传单，教一组核心工人如何组织和开展罢工。她将2010年1月的万名工人大罢工视为一大胜利，因为尽管她和两个同事被关进监狱，工人们获得了大幅加薪。
Released four years later, Ms. Hanh found grass-roots organizing had become much harder. She said she was often followed now, making it difficult to meet with timid workers. She was skeptical that local authorities would have complied with the toughest labor protections in T.P.P., adding that chances were good they would have sought out loopholes. Still, she says, the pact could have given her a tool to use when pushing labor issues with lawmakers and factory bosses alike.	她对于地方当局是否遵守 TPP 中最严格的劳动保护条款表示怀疑，觉得他们很可能会找到漏洞。不过她说，这个协议本来可以给她提供一个工具，便于她敦促立法者和工厂老板推动劳工问题的时候使用。

Chinese Lawmakers' Wallets Give Sweden's G.D.P. a Run for Its Money	习近平时代，人大代表的财富迅速增长
BEIJING — Mao once branded capitalists enemies of the Chinese people. In the era of President Xi Jinping, those capitalists are billionaire lawmakers — and they're getting even wealthier.	北京——毛泽东曾经把资本主义形容为中国人民的敌人。在习近平执政的时代，这些亿万富翁资本家成为了立法者——而且他们正在变得越来越富有。
The combined fortune of the wealthiest members of China's Parliament and its advisory body amounts to $500 billion, just below the annual economic output of Sweden. Among that group of 209 entrepreneurs and business tycoons, the 100 richest saw their net worth rise 64 percent in the four years since Mr. Xi took power, according to the Hurun Report, an organization based in Shanghai that tracked the wealth of the delegates, ahead of their annual joint sessions that start	中国人大和政协最富有的成员总资产达到了 5000 亿美元，仅略低于瑞典的年度经济产出。周五，人大政协在北京开始举行一年一度的两会，而上海追踪中国最富裕人群财富状况的《胡润百富》(Hurun Report)指出，这些成员中有 209 位企业家和商业巨头，其中 100 个最大富豪的净资产，在习近平上台后的四年中增长了 64%。

on Friday in Beijing.
Since he was anointed leader, Mr. Xi has pledged to tackle income inequality, alleviate poverty and crack down on corruption. Despite Mr. Xi's austerity campaign, the influence of the rich in Chinese politics continues to grow. While delegates to China's Parliament, or the National People's Congress, do not have a lot of power as they rubber-stamp most of the policies set out by the party's leadership, they get access to top leaders at the gathering. China set a slightly lower economic growth target for this year as the country's lawmakers began their annual meeting on Sunday. At the meeting of the National People's Congress, China addressed issues such as pollution, debt and foreign policy.	在全国人民代表大会上, 中国提到了污染、债务和外交政策等方面的问题。

Projecting Slower Growth	预期增长放缓
Li Keqiang, China's premier, called on Sunday for economic growth this year of "around 6.5 percent or higher, if possible," slightly more modest than last year's target of 6.5 to 7 percent. Actual growth last year, according to official data, was 6.7 percent.	中国总理李克强周日称，今年的经济增长目标是“6.5%左右”，略低于去年6.5%至7%的目标。根据官方的统计数据，去年的实际增长率为6.7%。
Even with the slight drop in projected growth, many economists argue that China's annual target remains too ambitious and is adding to its long-term problems. But Mr. Li defended the target.	即使预期增长率略有下降，很多经济学家认为，中国的年度目标仍然过于雄心勃勃，会加重其长期问题。但李克强为此做了辩护。
"The projected target for this year's growth is realistic," Mr. Li said in a report issued on Sunday before lawmakers convened. "An important reason to stress the need for stable growth is to ensure employment and improve people's lives."	"今年的经济增长预期目标，符合经济规律和客观实际，"李克强周日在人大会议召开之前作的报告中说。"稳增长的重要目的是为了保就业、惠民生。"
In a separate report issued to the legislature, the National Development and Reform Commission — which helps steer the economy — said the growth target was meant to reassure the public at an anxious time. Later this year, the Chinese Communist Party will undergo a leadership shake-up, and officials have said that stability is essential.	在提交给人大的另一份报告中，帮助驾驭经济的机构——国家发展与改革委员会表示，这个增长目标是在这个令人忧虑的时期给公众吃的定心丸。今年晚些时候，中国共产党将进行领导层改组，官员们表示，稳定非常重要。
"This rate of growth is conducive to fostering healthy public expectations," the commission report said. China, it added, was "facing complex and volatile" conditions this year.	这个增长率“有利于稳定社会预期”，发改委的报告说道，而且，它还指出今年中国面临“复杂多变”的局面。
Since the global financial crisis in 2008 and 2009, China has rapidly expanded debt to stimulate the economy and to make sure that it hit fairly ambitious targets for economic growth. Reformers have called for lower targets that would not require so much debt to achieve.	自2008年和2009年全球金融危机以来，中国迅速扩大债务规模，刺激经济发展，确保了实现其雄心勃勃的经济增长目标。改革者已经在呼吁降低目标，这样就不需用那么多的债务来实现它。
Lingering Pollution Problems	污染问题仍待解决

Mr. Li also tried to reassure a public that has grown increasingly angry about noxious air, water and soil left by decades of feverish industrial growth, and burning coal is a main culprit.	李克强试图安抚公众对于数十年来工业迅猛增长留下的有毒空气、水和土壤日益增长的愤怒，燃烧煤炭是产生污染的一个主要原因。
"We will work faster to address pollution caused by coal burning," Mr. Li said. Those steps would include trying to cut the amount of coal used for winter furnaces and heaters. "All key sources of industrial pollution will be placed under round-the-clock online monitoring," he said.	我们将“加快解决燃煤污染问题”，李克强说。措施包括减少冬季锅炉和取暖设备的用煤量。“对所有重点工业污染源，实行24小时在线监控，”他说。
But China's appetite for coal remains enormous. Mr. Li said that China would keep cutting excess coal production this year, but more slowly than previously. He said that this year the government aimed to shut down at least 150 million metric tons of coal production. Last year, he said, the government cut 290 million tons.	但中国的煤炭需求量仍然很大。李克强说，中国今年将继续减少煤炭产量，但是步子比以前有所放缓。他说，今年政府的目标是退出煤炭产能1.5亿吨以上。去年退出煤炭产能超过2.9亿吨，他说。
In terms of other pollutants, Mr. Li said that sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxide emissions would be cut 3 percent this year and that fine particles of pollution in the air, which are of particular threat to health, would decrease "markedly" in "key areas." He also said that energy consumption would decline by 3.4 percent per unit of economic output — a calculation that will still allow increases in emissions of global warming gases.	在其他污染物方面，李克强表示，今年二氧化硫、氮氧化物排放量要分别下降3%，而在“重点地区”，对健康威胁特别大的细颗粒物污染浓度要“明显下降”。他还说，单位国内生产总值能耗下降3.4%以上——按此计算，仍然允许全球变暖气体排放量增加。
World Stabilizing Force	维护世界稳定的力量
Mr. Li did not mention President Trump, whose campaign language suggested a tougher stance against China on trade and regional issues. These annual reports by China's prime minister are traditionally used for laying out generalities, not specific policies. But Mr. Li built on an effort by the president, Xi Jinping, to promote China as a reassuringly	特朗普在竞选中声称要在贸易和区域问题上对中国采取更强硬的立场，不过李克强在报告中没有提到特朗普。中国总理的年度报告往往只提出大政方针，不涉及具体政策。但李克强的报告是本着习近平主席的一个精神阐述的，即努力把中国宣传为在一个不确定的时代中，一支令人放心的稳定而成熟的力量。 stable and mature power in uncertain times.

"In the face of profound changes in the international political and economic landscape, China will always be on the side of peace and stability," he said.	"面对世界政治经济格局的深刻变化，中国将始终站在和平稳定一边，"他说。
On trade, Mr. Li said China will continue to oppose protectionism. "Economic globalization is in the fundamental interests of all countries," Mr. Li said. "China will not shift in its commitment to promoting global economic cooperation."	在贸易方面，李克强表示中国将继续反对保护主义。"经济全球化符合世界各国的根本利益，"他讲道。"中国将坚定不移推动全球经济合作。"
But Chinese officials were circumspect about the government's latest increase in military spending.	但在谈到政府最近增加军费开支时，中国官员表现得比较谨慎。
On Saturday, a spokeswoman for the National People's Congress, Fu Ying, told reporters that the rise would be about 7 percent. But the documents released at the opening of the legislative meeting left people guessing about the exact size of China's official defense budget for 2017, unlike previous years.	周六，全国人大发言人傅莹告诉记者，军费开支将增长约7%。但是这次代表大会开始时披露的文件与往年不同，令人不禁猜测中国2017年官方国防预算的确切规模。
Dealing With Debt	解决债务
Credit in China grew about 20 percent a year between 2009 and 2015, and the level of corporate debt in particular has alarmed economists who worry about a rising number of bad bank loans.	在2009至2015年间，中国的债务以每年约20%的速度增长，其中企业债水平尤其令经济学家们警惕，他们担心银行坏账会不断增加。
Mr. Li said that the government was looking to lower debt loads in the economy from a splurge of bank lending, but he suggested it would be done a "prudent" way that would not risk an economic shock.	李克强表示，政府会着力减少因大肆批贷而造成的经济债务负担，但他表示会"积极稳妥"地采取这种措施，不会带来引发经济动荡的风险。
But the Ministry of Finance budget report, issued alongside Mr. Li's report, outlined a tougher approach to local governments that have collected debt to pay for infrastructure. "Higher priority will be given to	但与李克强的政府报告一起发布的财政部预算报告提出，将对募集资金支付基础设施费用的地方政府采取更严厉的措施。"把防控地方政府债务风险放在更为重要的位置，"预算报告中写道。它还说，省级政府要制定本地区地

preventing and controlling local government debt," the budget report said. Provincial governments would develop "local contingency plans" to deal with debt risks, it said.	方政府性债务风险事件“应急处置预案”。
Making Nice With Multinationals	向跨国企业示好
Foreign companies have become increasingly vocal about business barriers, international property theft and other problems in the Chinese market. Some are turning elsewhere to establish a base for production.	外资企业越来越多地表达对中国市场中的商业壁垒、窃取国际知识产权等问题的不满。有些外资企业正转向别处建立生产基地。
Mr. Li held out an olive branch, promising to "make big moves to improve the environment for foreign investors." He said that service industries, manufacturing and mining would become more open to these investors.	李克强抛出橄榄枝，承诺“大力优化外商投资环境”。他表示，将进一步放宽服务业、制造业和采矿业的外资准入。
He also promised that, contrary to most expectations and previous experience, foreign companies would not be discriminated against on license applications, setting standards or government procurement. The country has laid out plans — called the Made in China 2025 initiative — for it to seize a global lead in a long list of key high-tech and manufacturing industries in the next eight years.	与大多数人的预期和此前的经验相反，他还承诺不会在资质许可、标准制定或政府采购方面对外资进行区别对待。中国还制定了被称为《中国制造2025》的计划，以便于未来八年里在一系列关键的高科技与制造行业获得全球领先地位。
Biggest Applause Line	获得最热烈掌声的话
Legislators gave polite applause to most of Mr. Li's plans. But one new policy drew vigorous clapping in a country where a national grid of bullet-train routes has quickly made long-distance travel commonplace: Mr. Li said the government would end roaming charges on cellphones used outside the province in which the phone numbers were initially registered.	对李克强的大部分计划，代表们都报以礼貌的掌声。但是在一个全国性的高速列车路线网迅速将长距离旅行变得稀松平常的国家，这样一项新政策却引发了热烈的掌声：李克强表示政府将取消手机漫游费。

Xi Jinping's Failed Promises Dim Hopes for Economic Change in 2nd Term	习近平的经济改革只是一纸空头支票?
BEIJING — For years, China's president, Xi Jinping, has talked the talk of economic reform. In January, he dazzled business executives in Davos, Switzerland, with a defense of international trade. Last month, he urged officials to "seize hold of reform and make it an even bigger priority." And the annual meeting of China's legislature, starting Sunday, appears sure to echo that theme.	北京——多年来，中国国家主席习近平谈起经济改革来头头是道。今年1月，他在瑞士达沃斯为国际贸易辩护，令企业高管们赞叹不已。上个月，他敦促官员们要“带头抓改革”。周日开始的中国立法机构年度会议看来肯定会重复这个主题。
But as Mr. Xi nears the end of his first five-year term as Communist Party leader, his record has not lived up to the bold statements, critics say.	但是，批评人士说，随着习近平作为共产党领导人的第一个五年任期即将结束，他的记录并不与这些大胆的声明相符。
The question now is whether he was ever really serious about taking the painful steps needed to repair the economy, or merely paying lip service to reform to justify his tightening grip on power.	现在的问题是，他对真正采取改革经济所必须的痛苦措施是否认真过，或者他只不过是口头上谈改革，把其作为紧紧抓住权力的理由。
Mr. Xi's defenders argue that he had to consolidate his authority first, before he could make the potentially wrenching decisions needed to open markets and trim bloated state-owned industries. With weak growth in the rest of the world and demand for China's exports flagging, they contend, there was little margin for error and caution was warranted.	习近平的捍卫者认为，他必须首先巩固自己的权威，然后才能为开放市场、缩小臃肿的国有工业部门做出那些可能是十分艰难的决定。他们声称，由于世界其他地方的经济增长乏力，对中国出口的需求疲软，几乎没有犯错误的余地，因此有必要小心谨慎。
The proof will be in the second term, they say, when Mr. Xi finally has the power to push through difficult economic adjustments.	他们说，这种说法将在习近平的第二个任期内得到证明，那时习近平将终于拥有推动艰难的经济调整的权力。
Mr. Xi is already China's most powerful leader in decades. He has repeatedly used his authority, though, to undercut reforms he says are	习近平已经是中国几十年来权力最大的领导人。然而，他一再使用他的权力来削弱他称为必要的改革，比如，下令在股票市场使用强力干预，以及限制

necessary, ordering heavy-handed intervention in the stock market, for example, and restrictions on the movement of money abroad and property prices.	货币向国外流动，限制房地产价格。
The problem, critics say, is that Mr. Xi's demands for centralized control, stability and political conformity have often drowned out hesitant steps toward economic liberalization. And his second term is likely to bring more of the same, they say.	批评者说，问题是，习近平对中央控制、稳定和政治一致性的要求常常压住了经济自由化犹豫不决的步骤。他们说，他的第二个任期可能只会是更多相同的做法。
"I'm highly skeptical, since I don't think it's a lack of authority or the opposition of special interests that have kept him from moving in that direction so far," said Scott Kennedy, the director of the Project on Chinese Business and Political Economy at the Center for Strategic and International Studies in Washington. "Rather, he's operated according to his instincts in the face of economic challenges. And I don't expect his instincts or those challenges to change much."	"我非常怀疑会有不同，因为我不觉得迄今为止阻止他朝改革方向转移的原因是缺乏权威、或特殊利益集团的反对，"华盛顿战略与国际研究中心的中国商业和政治经济项目主任甘思德(Scott Kennedy)说。"相反，他在经济挑战面前，一直在根据自己的直觉操作。我不指望他的直觉或那些挑战会有多大改变。"
Many economists, executives and policy advisers in Beijing do not disguise their disappointment about what has happened to Mr. Xi's promises of an audacious overhaul of the economy.	北京的许多经济学家、高管和政策顾问并不掩饰他们对习近平承诺的大胆经济改革没有付现的失望。
In 2013, he and his premier, Li Keqiang, laid out big plans to give markets and entrepreneurs more room to grow. The market would play a "decisive role" in allocating resources, Mr. Xi declared.	2013年，他和总理李克强制定了给市场和企业家更多发展空间的大计划。习近平宣布，市场将在分配资源方面发挥"决定性的作用"。
Wu Jinglian, one of China's most prominent economists, said at a recent meeting in Beijing that "the direction of reform laid out in these documents is clear, and the measures are right, but the problem has been implementation."	中国最著名的经济学家之一吴敬琏最近在北京的一次会议上说，"这些文件规定的改革方向明确，措施得当。问题是执行上。"
"Putting it relatively tactfully," he continued, "it hasn't been vigorous	他接下来说，"比较婉转地说，还不够得力。"

Economists abroad have been less tactful.	国外的经济学家措辞却不这么得体。
“Virtually across the board, China is falling short of its own self-declared objectives for reform,” said Daniel H. Rosen, a founding partner of the Rhodium Group, an economic research company. “Even the G.D.P. growth that we have is ever more reliant on debt, and this is a consequence of falling short on reform.”	经济研究公司荣鼎咨询(Rhodium Group)创始合伙人荣大聂(Daniel H. Rosen)说,“几乎在所有方面,中国都没有达到自己为自己设置的改革目标。就连我们看到的GDP增长也越来越依赖于债务,这是改革不到位的结果。”
To be sure, the Xi years have not been static.	可以肯定的是,习近平的这些年并非没有变化。
China has loosened controls on its domestic bond market, allowing more foreign participation. The policy that limited most urban households to one child was abolished and replaced by a “two child” policy and even measures to encourage couples to have two children. Mr. Li, the premier, has made it his mission to cut down paperwork and regulations that weigh on small businesses.	中国放松了对国内债券市场的控制,允许了更多的国外参与。曾经限制大多数城市家庭只生一个孩子的政策被废除了,由“两个孩子”的政策取代,甚至出台了鼓励夫妇生两个孩子的措施。李克强总理一直把减少给小企业带来沉重负担的文书工作和法规作为自己的使命。
“I feel that a lot of changes actually have happened,” said Jianguang Shen, a China economist in the Hong Kong office of Mizuho Securities. “People expect faster, radical reform after the party congress” late this year, when Mr. Xi starts a second term as party leader.	瑞穗证券香港办事处的中国经济学家沈建光说,“我觉得实际上发生了很多变化。人们期望(今年晚些时候的)党代会之后,将有更快、更彻底的改革,”届时,习近平将开始其作为党领导人的第二个任期。
Some experts argue that Mr. Xi will then be politically secure and more willing to let his new team push through contentious changes, including cutting more excess industry, shedding jobs in ailing state companies and giving private businesses a bigger share of bank loans.	一些专家认为,那时,习近平将在政治上更有把握,更愿意让他的新团队推动有争议的改革,包括减少更多的行业过剩产能,减少不景气国有企业的就业人数,并让私营企业得到更大的银行贷款份额。
With the economy still growing at an impressive 6.7 percent last year, officials say the government has kept the right balance between change and stability.	因为去年的经济增长率仍保持在惊人的6.7%,官员们说,政府在变化和稳定之间找到了适当的平衡。

“The boat sails best when the winds and waves are steady,” Liu Shiyu, the chairman of the China Securities Regulatory Commission, said at a news conference last Sunday. “Without stable market conditions, no reform can make progress, and there may even be reversal of the strides that we’ve made.”	“风平浪静好行船，”中国证监会主席刘士余上周日在记者会上说。“没有稳定的市场环境，任何改革都无法推进，甚至已经迈出的改革步子可能要倒回来。”
But even many who accept China’s model of gradual, government-guided reform say that under Mr. Xi, promised changes have stalled or been reversed. Mr. Xi, who dominates economic policy and much else besides, has flinched from the harder changes needed for long-term prosperity and has yet to find a way to keep the economy growing without administering ever larger injections of debt.	但是，即使许多接受渐进的、政府引导的中国改革模式的人仍说，在习近平领导下，承诺的改革或停滞不前、或出现逆转。习近平不仅主导经济政策，而且主导许多方面的事情，他在长期繁荣所需的更艰难的改革面前退缩了，还没有找到不让债务的规模变得更大来保持经济增长的方法。
And while many economists, including some of Mr. Xi’s top advisers, continue to lobby openly for more market-oriented policies, the government has also become less tolerant of those who directly and publicly criticize it for not doing enough, including by censoring them on social media.	虽然包括习近平的一些顶级顾问在内的许多经济学家仍在为更多以市场为导向的政策继续公开游说，但政府对那些直接公开批评其做得不够的人却变得不那么宽容了，包括不让他们在社交媒体上说话。
The economy has been slowing steadily and has required larger and larger amounts of debt each year just to avoid a much steeper slowdown.	经济一直在稳步下滑，每年都需要注入越来越多的债务，以避免发生更严重的经济衰退。
It is Mr. Xi’s own policies, though, that raise the biggest questions about his commitment to change. As more and more capital has left China, the government has restored restrictions on moving money abroad.	不过，习近平自己的政策才是让人们对他的改革承诺有最大疑问的东西。随着越来越多的资本逃离中国，政府已经恢复了对资金向国外转移的限制。
While taxes have been increased on service industries, promises to introduce a property tax and other fiscal changes have made little headway. That logjam has left the finances of local governments in	虽然服务业的税收有所增长，但是，引入财产税和其他金融改革的措施却没有取得多大进展。这种停滞不前让许多依赖制造业的城市的政府财政，陷入了依赖于土地出售收入的危险。

Mr. Xi also promised to make state corporations leaner and more focused on achieving financial health in their core businesses. But he also demanded that party committees have a bigger say in company decisions, leaving plenty of room for party officials to undercut corporate reorganization.	习近平还曾承诺要精简国有企业，让它们更着重于在自己的核心业务上实现良好财务状况。但他还要求党委在公司决策中有更大的发言权，这给党的官员在削弱公司重组上留下了足够的空间。
“On the one hand, there’s the talk of strengthening reform. On the other hand, all the agencies are stressing enhancing leadership by the party,” Li Weisen, an economist at Fudan University in Shanghai who advocates market liberalization, said in a telephone interview.	“一方面说要加强改革。另一方面，所有的部门都在强调加强党的领导，”主张市场自由化的上海复旦大学经济学家李维森在接受电话采访时说。
“We’ve maybe issued over a hundred of these reform documents,” he added, “but which ones have really been implemented, including fiscal reforms?”	“我们可能已经发布了100多份改革文件，”他接来说。“但哪些得到了真正的实施，包括财政改革？”
Business leaders say more should be done to lighten their burdens. Liu Hanyuan, the chairman of Tongwei Group, a large manufacturer of solar panels based in Chengdu, in southwest China, used a Chinese aphorism to describe the burden of regulations, taxes and local fees on Chinese companies:	商业领导说，应该做更多的工作来减轻他们的负担。中国西南地区城市成都的太阳能组件制造商通威集团董事局主席刘汉元，用了一个中国谚语来描述中国企业面临的法规、税收和地方性收费的负担：
“We should abandon the idea that as many fees and taxes should be collected as possible. We should keep enough water to raise fish.”	“税费能不收尽量不收，能收尽量收，应收尽收是错误的观念。我们应该‘放水养鱼’。”
Some of the initial hopes that Mr. Xi would turn out to be a market liberalizer were probably never realistic. The Chinese government’s idea of reform has never been the free-market bonanza that some economists advocate.	人们对习近平可能会让市场自由化的最初希望中的一些可能从来都是不现实的。中国政府的改革思想从来不是一些经济学家倡导的自由市场机制。

Even Deng Xiaoping, who first injected elements of capitalism into the Chinese economy in the 1980s, stressed that the government must retain control. His approach has delivered decades of growth that has lifted living standards for hundreds of millions of people while creating hundreds of billionaires.	即使是在 1980 年代首次将资本主义元素注入中国经济的邓小平也强调，政府必须保持控制。他的改革方式已经给中国带来了几十年的经济增长，提高了数亿人的生活水平，同时创造了数百个亿万富翁。
During the 1990s, President Jiang Zemin pressed ahead with changes that shut down thousands of struggling state-owned factories, encouraged private entrepreneurs to join the party and prepared for China's entry into the World Trade Organization in late 2001. Yet he, too, remained committed to state ownership, and his successor, Hu Jintao, proved even more committed to steering development through state planning.	20 世纪 90 年代，江泽民担任国家主席时推动的改革，关闭了数千个国有工厂，鼓励了私营企业家加入共产党，并为中国在 2001 年年底加入世界贸易组织做了准备。但江泽民仍然坚持了国家所有权，事实证明，他的继任者胡锦涛更加致力于通过国家计划来指导发展。
Most experts expect Mr. Xi will stay much the same leader he has been for five years, unless slowing growth and rising debt produce a shock. Yet the cost of inaction could be an increasingly debt-ridden, inefficient economy.	大多数专家预计习近平仍将保持他这五年的领导方式，除非增长放缓和债务上升给经济带来冲击。然而，不作为的代价可能是日益沉重的债务和低下的经济效率。
"If the government keeps meddling in the markets to ensure growth, then this road will become impassable," said Mr. Li, the professor in Shanghai. "The problems won't be solved and will only get worse."	"如果政府继续对市场进行干预，以确保增长，那么这条道路会变得走不通，" 上海的李维森说。"问题不会得到解决，只会变得更糟。"

Jim Rogers, Intrepid Investor, Finds Bumpy Road to North Korea	看好朝鲜，吉姆·罗杰斯的投资指南不适合胆小者
HONG KONG — China was an economic backwater when Jim Rogers began traveling its dusty byways more than three decades ago. Still, Mr. Rogers, a former partner of George Soros, saw its promise.	香港——三十多年前，吉姆·罗杰斯(Jim Rogers)开始在中国尘土飞扬的偏僻小路上旅行时，它还是一个闭塞落后的国家。不过，乔治·索罗斯(George Soros)的这位前合伙人看到了它的希望。

Today, Mr. Rogers, 74, doles out advice to China's rising investor class at financial seminars, where he often draws a crowd. Part of his message involves another unloved market, where he sees promise despite authoritarian leadership and international sanctions: North Korea.	如今，74岁的罗杰斯在金融研讨会上向中国不断增长的投资阶层提供建议，他经常能吸引很多观众。他的部分信息涉及另一个不被看好的市场：朝鲜。尽管那里实行独裁统治，遭到国际制裁，但他在那里看到了希望。
"It's very exciting. The kid has been opening up North Korea," Mr. Rogers said in an interview, referring to Kim Jong-un, the country's ruler.	"这非常令人兴奋。这孩子一直在开放朝鲜，"罗杰斯在接受采访时提到该国统治者金正恩(Kim Jong-un)时说。
But North Korea can be a murky place to tread — as Mr. Rogers's experience shows.	但朝鲜可能是一个晦暗不清的地方，罗杰斯的经历表明了这一点。
A Hong Kong company called Unaforte that is involved in several North Korean businesses named Mr. Rogers as a shareholder a year ago, according to a corporate filing. Investing in a North Korean business like that would probably violate American sanctions if it happened now, though experts say it was legal at the time.	与朝鲜几家公司有业务联系的香港旺福特有限公司(Unaforte)的备案文件显示，一年前，它将罗杰斯列为股东。如果是现在，投资这样一家朝鲜公司很可能违反美国的制裁规定，不过专家们认为在当时是合法的。
Mr. Rogers said he gave Unaforte $100 as a token of good will but never expected that it would name him as a shareholder. Asked about his stake in the company in October, he interrupted an interview with The New York Times to call Unaforte and told the English-speaking sister of its founder that the company had agreed he could not be a shareholder.	罗杰斯称，他给了旺福特100美元，作为善意的象征，但从没期望成为股东。去年10月，他在接受《纽约时报》采访时被问及他在该公司的股份，他打断采访，给旺福特致电，告诉其创始人会讲英语的妹妹，该公司曾同意他不能被列为股东。
Speaking into his phone, Mr. Rogers said, "I know I have told you, 'Never, never, never.'"	罗杰斯对着电话说，“要知道我已经告诉过你，‘绝不，绝不，绝不。’”
Unaforte no longer lists Mr. Rogers as a shareholder in its filings but will not release shareholder records that might show more details about the shares given to Mr. Rogers. Officials at Hong Kong's corporate registry	在公司申报文件中，旺福特不再将罗杰斯列为股东，但它没有公布股东记录，而那也许能显示罗杰斯持股的更多详情。香港公司注册处的官员表示，他们正在调查旺福特是否遵守该市的披露法律。旺福特没有回复要求置评的电子

said they were investigating whether Unaforte is complying with the city's disclosure laws. Unaforte did not respond to emailed questions for comment.	邮件。
Investing in North Korea is not for the faint of heart. Many countries heavily restrict what foreign companies and investors can do there. With records in North Korea inaccessible to most outsiders, claims there cannot be easily verified. Intrepid overseas investors have little choice but to work through middle men, often based in China.	胆小的人不适合在朝鲜投资。许多国家严格限制外国公司和投资者在朝鲜的行为。大部分外来者无法获得朝鲜的相关记录，所以其权利的主张在那里很难得到核实。胆大的国外投资者别无选择，只能通过中国的中间人。
"A lot of times there are these very, very murky series of transactions that need to occur where you may not know who your partners are," said J. R. Mailey, a visiting scholar at Johns Hopkins's U.S.-Korea Institute in Washington, who has studied fraudulent investment in North Korea.	"很多时候，在很多需要发生的非常阴暗的交易中，你可能不知道自己的商业伙伴是谁，"华盛顿约翰·霍普金斯大学(Johns Hopkins University)美韩研究所的访问学者 J·R·麦利(J. R. Mailey)说。麦利研究过朝鲜的欺诈投资案例。
Others who saw promise in North Korea have retreated. One firm that counted as an investor a high-profile North Korea bull, James Passin, ended a joint venture there in January because of tightened American sanctions.	其他曾在朝鲜看到希望的人已经撤退。今年 1 月，迫于美国加强制裁，一家将高调看好朝鲜的詹姆斯·帕辛(James Passin)列为投资人的公司最终关闭了在朝鲜设立的一家合资公司。
Still, for some, the attraction can be considerable. Asia's fast-growing economies are now well-trod ground, leaving fewer opportunities to get in early and make it big.	不过，对有些人来说，朝鲜的吸引力是巨大的。亚洲快速增长的经济体现在都已经过深度开发，没有留下多少早期进入并做大的机会。
"The country is like an El Dorado that lures people in," Mr. Mailey said. "They're willing to risk everything because the payout is so high."	"这个国家像埃尔多拉多一样诱惑着人们，"麦利说，"他们愿意冒各种险，因为回报丰厚。"
In interviews, Mr. Rogers said his relationship with Unaforte was distant. He said he spoke at investor events held in mainland China by Unaforte and companies controlled by its founder, Zhao Chunhui, about North	在采访中，罗杰斯称自己与旺福特关系疏远。他说，他在旺福特及其创始人招春晖控制的多家公司在中国内地举办的投资活动中谈到过朝鲜等很多话题。"我面向数百人发言，"罗杰斯说。他拒绝透露演讲费金额。

Korea, among many other subjects. "I make speeches for hundreds of people," Mr. Rogers said. He declined to disclose the amount of his speaking fees.
Mr. Zhao appeared to see his relationship with Mr. Rogers differently. In Chinese-language marketing materials and on social media, Mr. Zhao called himself "Jim Rogers's business partner in China." A fund promoted at speaking engagements organized by Mr. Zhao or his businesses referred to Mr. Rogers as a shareholder.	招春晖似乎对自己与罗杰斯的关系有不同看法。在中文营销材料和社交媒体上，招春晖称自己是“吉姆·罗杰斯的中国合伙人”。招春晖或其公司组织的演讲活动中推介的一个基金将罗杰斯列为股东。
Chinese corporate records show no evidence that Mr. Rogers owns shares in the fund, called Gold Quantum.	中国的公司记录没有证据表明，罗杰斯持有这个名为金量子(Gold Quantum)的基金的股份。
Then there was Unaforte's share allocation to Mr. Rogers. The American investor said he gave Unaforte $100 as a gesture of good will. "It was a token investment once upon a time," Mr. Rogers said.	然后就是旺福特分配给罗杰斯的股份问题。这位美国投资者称，他给了旺福特 100 美元，作为善意的表示。“它是从前的一次象征性投资，”罗杰斯说。

While the stake is valued at $19,000 on paper, its true value is not clear. Mr. Rogers said he sent a letter to Unaforte asking that it return his $100 and take back an unspecified number of shares. It was dated March 17, 2016, a day after President Obama signed an executive order imposing new sanctions on North Korea.	罗杰斯称，他给旺福特发了一封信，要求退还他的100美元，并收回未说明具体数字的股份。发信日期是2016年3月17日，就在奥巴马总统签署了对朝鲜实施新制裁的行政法令之后一天。
A copy of the letter that Mr. Rogers shared with The New York Times was stamped by Hong Kong tax authorities on Sept. 29, the day after The Times first asked Unaforte about Mr. Rogers's stake in the company. Mr. Rogers said he was comfortable with other statements by Mr. Zhao's companies about him. His Chinese-speaking staff members reviewed them, he said, and "my guys are extremely protective of my name." Mr. Zhao's companies removed some references to Mr. Rogers following inquiries.	罗杰斯表示，他对招春晖的公司对他的其他陈述感到满意。他说，他懂中文的工作人员审查了那些陈述，“我的人非常保护我的声誉。”招春晖的公司按要求删除了一些提及罗杰斯的内容。
Unaforte is one of a generally quiet group of companies that use China as a jumping-off point to invest in North Korea. Such companies sometimes come under official scrutiny from the United States and China alike.	旺福特是以中国为跳板在朝鲜投资的多家公司之一。这些总体低调的公司有时受到美国和中国的官方审视。
Its sole director is the 44-year-old Mr. Zhao, who also goes by Willam Zhao.	该公司唯一的董事是44岁的招春晖，他的英文名是威廉·招(Willam Zhao)。
Documents show Mr. Zhao is a Chinese national but also a citizen of the Dominican Republic. He has identified himself on one of his social media accounts as the chairman of First Eastern Bank, which is incorporated in the North Korean special economic zone of Rason and which Unaforte says it operates.	文件显示招春晖是中国国民，但也是多米尼加共和国公民。他在一个社交媒体账户上称自己是第一东方银行(First Eastern Bank)的董事长，该银行位于朝鲜罗先(Rason)经济特区，旺福特称该银行在其旗下。
Mr. Zhao also has an office in Guangzhou, for the mainland-registered Unaforte company. When visited by a Times reporter last fall, that office featured a poster of Mr. Zhao arm in arm with Mr. Rogers.	招春晖在广州也有一个办事处，也就是在内地注册的旺福特公司。去年秋天，时代记者造访该办事处时，那里挂着招春晖和罗杰斯挽着手臂的海报。
In an interview, Mr. Rogers said he did not recall how he first met Mr. Zhao. "He seems to be doing a lot in North Korea," Mr. Rogers said. "He says it's profitable."	罗杰斯在接受采访时表示，他不记得自己最初是怎么认识招春晖的。“他似乎在朝鲜有很多生意，”罗杰斯说，“他说很赚钱。”

China's Plan to Build Its Own High-Tech Industries Worries Western	中国全面推动制造强国战略，引发欧美担忧

Businesses
BEIJING — China has charted out a $300 billion plan to become nearly self-sufficient by 2025 in a range of important industries, from planes to computer chips to electric cars, as it looks to kick-start its next stage of economic development.	北京——中国在启动下一个经济发展阶段之际，制定了一项耗资 3000 亿美元的计划，到 2025 年之前要在包括飞机、计算机芯片和电动汽车在内的一系列重要行业基本实现自给自足。
But big companies in the rest of the world worry that it is more than that: an unfair advantage in China's home court, and perhaps elsewhere.	但世界其他地区的大企业担心的不止于此：在国内市场，或许还有其他地方，中国恐怕会享有不公平优势。
A report by a European business group on Tuesday said the "Made in China 2025" program, which calls for enormous Chinese government assistance to 10 industries, would force out competitors from abroad and lead to government-subsidized global players that would compete unfairly. Indeed, the Chinese government's plan says Chinese industries that benefit should own as much as 80 percent of their home market in just eight years.	欧洲一家商业机构周二发表报告称，《中国制造 2025》号召为十个行业提供巨大的政府支持，会将国外竞争者挤出中国市场，造就拿政府补贴进行不公平竞争的全球玩家。实际上中国政府的这项计划称，在短短八年时间里，获益的中国行业在国内市场的占有率应该达到 80%。
"The Chinese make it clear that they want to be the global champion" and are trying to carve out market share now, said Joerg Wuttke, the president of the European Union Chamber of Commerce in China, which wrote the report.	现在，“中国明确表示它想成为全球冠军”，而且在竭力开拓市场份额，撰写该报告的中国欧盟商会(European Union Chamber of Commerce in China)主席约尔格·伍德克(Joerg Wuttke)说。
The plan's mechanism is simple: It would provide large, low-interest loans from state-owned investment funds and development banks; assistance in buying foreign competitors; and extensive research subsidies, all with the goal of making China largely self-sufficient in the targeted industries.	这项计划的机制很简单：国有投资基金和发展银行将提供大量低息贷款；协助收购国外竞争者；提供大量的研究补贴，目的都是让中国在目标行业基本实现自给自足。
Although European and American government officials have expressed	尽管欧洲和美国政府官员表达了对这项计划的疑虑，但中国政府在最近几天

misgivings about the plan, the Chinese government has made clear in recent days that it plans to press on.	明确表示，它打算加紧推进该计划。
"We will fully implement our plan for developing strategic emerging industries," Premier Li Keqiang said in his annual speech to the National People's Congress on Sunday. "We will accelerate R. & D. on and commercialization of new materials, artificial intelligence, integrated circuits, bio-pharmacy, 5G mobile communications and other technologies, and develop industrial clusters in these fields."	"全面实施战略性新兴产业发展规划，"国务院总理李克强上周日在一年一度的人民代表大会发言中讲道。"加快新材料、人工智能、集成电路、生物制药、第五代移动通信等技术研发和转化，做大做强产业集群。"
In addition to the sectors Mr. Li cited, the plan also covers the manufacturing of aircraft, robots, electric cars, rail equipment, ships and agricultural machinery. China seeks to wean itself off imports from companies like Boeing, Airbus, General Electric, Siemens, Nissan, Renault, Samsung and Intel.	除了李克强提到的这些行业，该计划还覆盖了飞机、机器人、电动汽车、铁路设备、船舶和农业机械制造领域。中国力图使自己摆脱从波音(Boeing)、空中客车(Airbus)、通用电气(General Electric)、西门子(Siemens)、日产(Nissan)、雷诺(Renault)、三星(Samsung)和英特尔(Intel)等企业进口产品的局面。
The Chinese government has long worried that the country's economy is still too concentrated in fairly low-end manufacturing. Making and assembling Apple iPhone components, for instance, is done by hundreds of thousands of workers in China, while the better-paid, value-added design and marketing work is done in the United States, although by many fewer employees.	一直以来，中国政府担心本国经济太集中于低端的制造业。比如，制造和组装苹果公司(Apple)的iPhone手机零件是在中国由几十万工人完成，而报酬更高、附加值更大的设计和市场营销工作则是在美国进行，尽管这类工作需要的员工要少很多。
Although a large-scale shift of factories from the West to China has created tens of millions of Chinese jobs, the country's leaders worry that an increasingly well-educated younger generation is rejecting factory work for higher-paid office jobs.	虽说工厂大规模地从西方搬到中国为其创造了数以千万计的工作机会，但这个国家的领导层担心受教育程度越来越高的更年轻一代不愿意在工厂工作，而是寻找报酬更高的办公室工作。

The Chinese Communist Party has long relied on five-year plans to guide national economic growth. But "Made in China 2025" sets out broader targets.	中国共产党长期依赖五年计划来指导全国的经济增长。但《中国制造 2025》开始制定更广泛的目标。
"It feels like a five-year plan, but this time not only domestic but international," Mr. Wuttke said.	"它看起来像一个五年计划，只不过这一次不限于国内市场，而是国际的，"伍德克说。
The timing is delicate. President Trump had campaigned about confronting China on trade and currency issues. He has not yet done so, but his advisers have been considering a revision to corporate taxes that would effectively impose a 20 percent tariff on all imports, not just from China.	时机也很微妙。特朗普总统在竞选期间曾呼吁在贸易和货币问题上直面中国。他还没有具体落实，但他的顾问一直在考虑修改企业所得税，对所有进口商品——不只是来自中国的——征收 20% 的关税。
China is also laying the legal groundwork for challenging at the World Trade Organization a refusal by the United States to accept that China is a market economy for purposes of anti-dumping trade cases. It will make a similar challenge to European Union rules.	为了反倾销贸易诉讼，美国拒绝接受中国是市场经济，为了在世界贸易组织 (World Trade Organization) 中就此事发起挑战，中国也正在打下法律基础。它还将对欧盟的规则提出类似挑战。
China's top Commerce Ministry officials will hold their annual media briefing Saturday and may outline China's trade policy goals for this year.	中国商务部高层官员将于周六举行一年一度的媒体吹风会，或许会概括地提出中国今年的贸易政策目标。

Still, the Mercator report said that the policy is likely to bolster a "small vanguard" of leading Chinese companies, adding, "These front-runners are likely to dominate their sectors on the Chinese market and become fierce competitors in international markets."	不过，墨卡托那份报告称，这项政策有可能增强作为“一小群先遣部队”的中国领军企业的实力。它还表示，“这些领先者有可能主导自己所在行业的中国市场，并成为国际市场上的有力竞争者。”

Citigroup Dips Cautious Toe in Chinese Bonds	花旗银行将把中国政府债券纳入多个指数
Citigroup is playing a smart game with China's government bond market.	花旗集团正在和中国政府债券市场玩一个聪明的游戏。
The American bank on Tuesday said that it would include sovereign debt issued by China in three existing fixed-income indexes — becoming the first major international benchmark provider to do so. That is a propaganda victory for Beijing, which has struggled to entice foreign investors. For Citigroup, it is a relatively low-risk diplomatic win.	这家美国银行周二表示，将把中国发行的主权债务纳入其三个现有的固定收益指数中——该银行也成为了第一个这么做的主要国际基准提供者。这是北京宣传工作的胜利，一直以来，北京努力吸引外国投资者。对于花旗集团来说，这则是一个风险相对较低的外交胜利。
China has been trying to attract more foreign bond buyers since the International Monetary Fund designated the renminbi as an official reserve currency last year. It has been a tough sell. The country's capital account is not fully open, and regulation of financial markets remains ham-fisted. The renminbi has also been sliding against the dollar, while	自从国际货币基金组织(IMF)去年指定人民币作为正式储备货币以来，中国一直试图吸引更多的外国债券买家。这并不容易。该国的资本账户尚未完全开放，对金融市场的监管仍然不得法。人民币对美元汇率下滑，而美国长期利率的上升导致中国债券的吸引力下降。

rising long-term United States interest rates make Chinese yields less attractive.
Regulators' efforts to squash capital outflows while encouraging inflows have made fund managers worry that recent reforms are a honey trap. Foreign investors owned Chinese bonds worth just $126 billion at the end of 2016, according to the State Administration of Foreign Exchange – equivalent to less than 2 percent of the onshore bond market.	中国监管机构努力压缩资本流出，同时鼓励资本流入，基金经理难免担心近期的改革是“美人计”。中国外汇管理局的统计显示，截至 2016 年底，外国投资者持有的中国债券价值仅为 1260 亿美元，不到境内债券市场的 2%。
Adding China's $1.1 trillion of government bonds to international benchmarks is therefore potentially a big deal. Funds that measure their performance against that index will have to increase their allocation to Chinese bonds. For example, China will account for almost 53 percent of the Citigroup index that tracks emerging-market sovereign debt.	因此，将中国 1.1 万亿美元的政府债券纳入国际基准恐怕是一件大事。对照该指数衡量表现的基金必然会增加中国债券的配比。例如，中国将占据花旗银行跟踪新兴市场主权债务指数的近 53%。
The prospect of mechanically moving large amounts of cash into China is likely to unnerve fund managers. That is the main reason MSCI has so far declined to include Chinese equities in its popular emerging-market indexes, despite the risk of upsetting Beijing.	将大量现金不加思考地转移到中国，这种前景可能使一些基金经理感到不安。这也是摩根士丹利迄今拒绝将中国股票纳入其人气很高的新兴市场指数的主要原因，尽管这么做可能会令北京不快。
Citigroup has skirted this conundrum by choosing indexes that are not major benchmarks. Though the bank has not said how much money tracks its indexes, the financial consequences are likely to be small.	花旗集团选择的指数并非主要基准，因而绕过了这个难题。虽然该银行没有说用多少钱来跟踪指数，但财务影响可能很小。
There may be a tacit quid pro quo at work. A month ago, Chinese authorities granted Citigroup a bond settlement license. JPMorgan Chase, which operates the leading emerging-market bond index and is also contemplating including Chinese sovereign bonds, received a bond underwriting license around the same time. Watch this space.	这里面可能存在着一个心照不宣的交换条件。一个月前，中国给予花旗集团银行间债券市场结算代理人资格。管理着领先的新兴市场债券指数、同样也在考虑纳入中国主权债券的摩根大通(JPMorgan Chase)，也几乎在同一时间获得中国银行间债券市场企业债券承销资格。这个领域值得注意。

U.S. Fines ZTE of China $1.19 Billion for Breaching Sanctions	中兴因违反美国制裁禁令被罚 11.9 亿美元
HONG KONG — As one of China’s few truly international technology companies, ZTE is often held up by Beijing as part of a new generation of firms that is able to compete beyond Chinese borders.	香港——作为中国极少数真正意义上的跨国科技公司之一，中兴常被北京当作能够参与国外竞争的新一代公司中的榜样。
On Tuesday, the United States government made an example of ZTE in a different way.	周二，美国政府以另一种方式把中兴树立成了榜样。
As part of a settlement for breaking sanctions and selling electronics to Iran and North Korea, ZTE agreed to plead guilty and pay $1.19 billion in fines, the United States Department of Commerce said in an announcement. The penalty is the largest criminal fine in a United States sanctions case.	美国商务部在一份通告中称，作为因违反制裁，向伊朗和朝鲜销售电子产品而达成的和解的一部分，中兴同意认罪，并支付 11.9 亿美元（约合 82.2 亿元人民币）罚款。这是美国制裁案件中金额最高的刑事罚款。
The action is the latest in a series of skirmishes between the United States and China over technology policy. It also offered a chance for President Trump’s young administration to make a statement about the seriousness of United States sanctions. In addition to ZTE, the Commerce Department is also investigating the company’s larger Chinese rival, Huawei, for violating United States sanctions.	此次行动是美国和中国围绕科技政策发生的一系列小冲突中的最新一起。它也给特朗普总统的新政府提供了一个机会，表明美国对待制裁的严肃态度。除中兴外，美国商务部还在调查中兴的竞争对手华为是否违反了美国的制裁。同为中国公司的华为规模比中兴更大。
“We are putting the world on notice: The games are over,” said Commerce Secretary Wilbur L. Ross. “Those who flout our economic sanctions and export control laws will not go unpunished — they will suffer the harshest of consequences.”	“我们警告全世界：游戏结束了，”商务部长威尔伯·L·罗斯(Wilbur L. Ross)说。“那些公然藐视我们的经济制裁和出口管控法律的人不会逍遥法外，他们将承担最严重的后果。”
ZTE was found to have breached United States sanctions against Iran by selling American-made goods to the country last March. At the time, the Commerce Department said it would force American companies to	去年 3 月，中兴被发现违反美国对伊朗的制裁，向其销售美国制造的商品。当时，美国商务部表示将迫使美国公司获得一种特别许可证，才能向生产智能手机和电信基础设施设备的中兴销售产品。这些限制本来有可能会破坏中

The ban, however, was never put in place, and instead the Chinese company was given a series of reprieves.	然而，这一禁令从未实施。这家中国公司获得了一系列缓刑。
Still, ZTE, which is China's second-largest maker of telecom equipment, has not fared well over the past year. Its revenue from the expansion of China's 4G cellular networks has slowed and its smartphone business has faced major competition from new Chinese handset makers, as well as Huawei.	但作为中国第二大电信设备生产商，中兴过去一年里的经营状况并不好。它从中国 4G 手机网络扩张中得到的收入开始减缓，智能手机业务也面临中国新兴手机生产商以及华为的激烈竞争。
On Tuesday, the Commerce Department said that along with selling prohibited American electronics to build Iran's telecom networks, ZTE also made 283 shipments of microprocessors, servers and routers to North Korea, violating American embargoes in that country as well.	周二，商务部表示，除销售违禁美国电子产品供伊朗建设电信网络外，中兴还违反美国对朝鲜实施的禁令，向朝鲜运输了 283 批微处理器、服务器和路由器。
"ZTE engaged in an elaborate scheme to acquire U.S.-origin items, send the items to Iran and mask its involvement in those exports," said the acting assistant attorney general, Mary B. McCord. "The plea agreement alleges that the highest levels of management within the company approved the scheme."	"中兴参与了一个精心制定的计划，购买美国生产的物品、将它们运送至伊朗并掩盖自己在这些出口中的作用，"代理助理司法部长玛丽·B·麦科德(Mary B. She added that ZTE repeatedly lied to and misled federal investigators, its own lawyers and internal investigators.	她补充说，中兴一再欺骗和误导联邦调查人员和该公司自己的律师及内部调查人员。

and remains committed to positive change in the company," said Zhao Xianming, chairman and chief executive of ZTE.	革,“中兴董事长兼总裁赵先明说。
Although China and the United States have occasionally traded barbs over technology policy and cyberattacks, the actions against ZTE by the United States government have not had a major impact on the relationship of the two countries, though Beijing could respond harshly to the new fine.	中美两国偶尔会因科技政策和网络袭击而展开言语交锋,但美国政府对中兴采取的行动并未对两国关系产生大的影响,不过北京可能会对新公布的罚款处理进行猛烈还击。
It is unclear whether the Commerce Department has completed its investigations into Chinese telecom equipment makers.	尚不清楚商务部是否已完成了对中国电信设备生产商的调查。
In a rare step accompanying the announcement last March, the Commerce Department provided two internal ZTE documents.	去年3月,除发布通告外,商务部同时还提供了中兴的两份内部文件。此举颇为罕见。
One, from 2011 and signed by several senior ZTE executives, detailed how the company had “ongoing projects in all five major embargoed countries — Iran, Sudan, North Korea, Syria and Cuba.” Another document laid out in a complex flow chart a method for circumventing United States export controls.	一份是2011年的文件,上有多名中兴高管签名。文件详细列出了该公司如何“在全部五个主要禁运国家——伊朗、苏丹、朝鲜、叙利亚和古巴获得正在开展的项目”。另一份文件用一张复杂的流程图说明了一种避开美国出口管控的方式。
Citing an unnamed company as a model for circumventing United States sanctions, that second document seemed to implicate ZTE’s more politically important rival, Huawei.	第二份文件把一家未具名的公司作为规避美国制裁规定的榜样。它似乎指的是该公司政治色彩更浓厚的重要竞争对手华为。
The New York Times reported last year that the United States government was also investigating whether Huawei broke export controls. The Commerce Department subpoenaed Huawei, demanding it turn over all information regarding the export or re-export of American technology to Cuba, Iran, North Korea, Sudan and Syria.	《纽约时报》去年报道,美国政府也在调查华为是否违反了出口管控。商务部曾用传票传唤华为,要求其呈交有关向古巴、伊朗、朝鲜、苏丹和叙利亚出口或再出口的所有信息。
Huawei has said it is committed to complying with laws and regulations	华为称其致力于遵守业务所在地的法律法规。

where it operates.
Huawei and ZTE are private companies, but they have deep ties to the Chinese government, in part because they supply much of the equipment that makes the country's telecom backbone function.	华为和中兴都是私营公司，但它们和中国政府渊源深厚。这在一定程度上是因为承担中国电信中枢功能的设备中，很多都是它们供应的。

In China, Trump Wins a Trove of New Trademarks	中国初步批准特朗普注册 27 个新商标
BEIJING — President Trump has won preliminary approval to register 27 new trademarks in China for industries including restaurants and advertising, business interests that could add to criticism over his potential conflicts.	北京——中国已初步批准特朗普总统注册 27 个新商标，涉及餐厅和广告在内的行业，这些商业利益可能会招致更多关于存在潜在冲突的指责。
As a businessman, Mr. Trump has amassed a vast portfolio of trademarks around the world, as he seeks to protect his brands and his products. Those trademarks, at times, clash with the vision of a populist president who has espoused an “America First” strategy.	作为一名商人，特朗普寻求保护自己的品牌和产品，在世界各地囤积了大量商标。这些商标有时候与一位信奉“美国优先”策略的民粹主义总统形象格格不入。
China has been among the biggest targets for his business prospects. Including the latest batch, his companies have filed for at least 126 trademarks in China since 2005 for restaurants, bars, hotels, brokerage services, advertising and management consulting.	中国已是他商业前景最大的目标之一。包括最近这批商标在内，他的公司自 2005 年以来已在中国申请了至少 126 个商标，涉及餐厅、酒吧、酒店、经纪业务、广告和管理咨询。
But as president, Mr. Trump has criticized China for its trade practices. On the campaign trail, he threatened to impose punitive tariffs against the country.	但作为总统，特朗普不断指责中国在贸易上的做法。在竞选期间，他威胁要对中国征收惩罚性的关税。
The timing of the new trademarks could create a perception problem for Mr. Trump because they came so soon after he took office.	这批新商标获得批准的时机可能会给特朗普造成不好的看法，因为它们和他上台的时间离得太近了。
In February, the Chinese government announced that it was granting Mr. Trump the right to protect his name brand for construction projects,	2 月，中国政府宣布授予特朗普在建筑项目领域保护特朗普品牌的权利。在那之前，双方打了 10 年的官司。但就在特朗普与中国国家主席习近平的通

after a decade-long legal battle. That trademark approval was announced just days after Mr. Trump pulled back from his challenge to China's policy on Taiwan in a call with Xi Jinping, the Chinese president.	话中放弃质疑中国对台政策的几天后，中国便宣布批准了该商标。
A number of trademarks have followed, with China's Trademark Office giving preliminary approval for the 27 new ones on Feb. 27 and on Monday, according to the agency's website.	接着便是大量商标获批。中国商标局的网站显示，该机构在2月27日和周一初步批准了27个新商标。
The latest trademarks, which were under the name "Donald J. Trump," were initially approved for use in golf clubs, insurance services, child-care centers and nursing homes, among other categories. They will be formally registered three months later, if the agency receives no objections. The Associated Press reported earlier about the trademarks.	最近这批名为“唐纳·川普”的商标起初获准用于高尔夫俱乐部、保险服务、育儿中心和养老院等等类别。如果商标局没收到反对意见，它们将在三个月后正式获得注册。美联社早前报道过这些商标。
Matthew Dresden, a lawyer with Harris Bricken in Seattle who specializes in Chinese intellectual property law, said it was atypical that all the trademarks were "approved at once."	马修·德累斯顿(Matthew Dresden)是西雅图哈里斯-布里肯律师事务所(Harris Bricken)专攻中国知识产权法的律师，他说，“一次批准”所有这些商标不符合常规做法。
"I think that's really odd. That makes you look and think: 'Somebody got some instructions at the trademark office that these should be approved,'" Mr. Dresden said. "It's unusual for that many trademarks to go through the examination process without any problems."	“我觉得这件事真的很奇怪。它令你看了之后觉得‘商标局有人收到一些指示，要求批准这些’，”德累斯顿说道。“那么多商标顺利通过审查很少见。”
Scott Palmer, an intellectual property lawyer at Sheppard, Mullin, Richter & Hampton, which represents American corporations in China, played down the significance of the timing, emphasizing that the country's law specifies that the trademark office should complete its examination of a filing within nine months. Mr. Trump had registered the trademarks last April.	代表在华美国企业的盛智律师事务所(Sheppard, Mullin, Richter & Hampton)知识产权律师斯科特·帕尔默(Scott Palmer)却并不认为这个时间节点有什么重要涵义，强调中国的法律明确规定，商标局应在九个月内完成对商标申请的审查。特朗普是去年4月注册相关商标的。

“There’s nothing inherent in that timing that is questionable or strange or should be viewed as out of the ordinary,” Mr. Palmer said. “The Trademark Office has been working on getting this timing right for a few years now, and the fact that they are hitting the target doesn’t mean they are likely to have played favorites.”	“这个时间本身没什么可疑、奇怪或应该被视为反常的，”帕尔默说。“最近几年里，商标局一直尽力遵守这个时间限制，他们实现了目标的事实，并不意味着他们在袒护。”
Critics say Mr. Trump’s trail of trademarks could leave the president vulnerable to potential conflicts of interest. In February, Senator Dianne Feinstein of California sounded alarms about China’s decision to award Mr. Trump his trademark in construction services, saying it could be a breach of the United States Constitution and that foreign governments could use his trademarks to influence foreign policy decisions.	批评人士称特朗普的一系列商标可能会导致他易受潜在利益冲突的影响。2月，中国决定在建筑服务领域授予特朗普商标一事引起了加利福尼亚州参议员黛安娜·范斯坦(Dianne Feinstein)的警觉，称此事可能违反了美国宪法，外国政府可能会利用他的商标来影响外交政策的决策。
It is unclear whether the Trump Organization will profit from the new trademarks. While the company has pursued a large number of hotel development deals in China, one of its executives recently suggested that the organization would drop those projects.	目前尚不清楚特朗普集团(Trump Organization)是否会从新商标中获利。尽管该公司在中国争取过大量酒店开发协议，但它的一名高管最近表示，该集团将放弃这些项目。
The Trump Organization has said it would not be doing any new international deals. Mr. Trump has said he is turning over control of his business to his two adult sons.	特朗普集团表示不会从事任何新的国际交易。特朗普自称正在把企业的控制权交给他两个已成年的儿子。
Alan Garten, executive vice president and chief legal officer at the Trump Organization, said in a statement: “The Trump Organization has been actively enforcing its intellectual property rights in China for more than a decade and its core real-estate related trademarks have been registered in China since 2011.”	特朗普集团执行副总裁兼首席法律顾问阿兰·加腾(Alan Garten)在一份声明中表示：“十多年来，特朗普集团一直在中国积极维护自己的知识产权，从2011年便开始在中国注册核心的房地产相关商标。”

demonstrates a complete disregard of the facts as well as a lack of understanding of international trademark law.”
In recent years, China has enhanced its trademark laws to bring them more in line with the international legal system. In January, China’s top court said that celebrity names cannot be registered as trademarks in ways that could mislead consumers. The interpretation came a month after the court ruled largely in favor of Michael Jordan, the former basketball star, in a landmark decision that sets the ground rules for protecting personal names in trademark cases.	近年来，中国对商标法进行了完善，以便使其更加符合国际法律制度。1月，中国最高人民法院表示，不得以可能会误导消费者的方式将名人的姓名注册为商标。这个解读出来的一个月前，该法院在一份具有里程碑意义的裁决中基本裁定前篮球明星迈克尔·乔丹(Michael Jordan)胜诉。这份裁决为在商标案件中保护人名奠定了基本原则。
The Trump brand has been a ripe target for trademarks. Mr. Trump’s name can be found on toilets, cosmetics and leather goods in China — trademarks that have been registered by other people.	特朗普这个品牌已经成为了理所当然的商标注册目标。在中国，可以在抽水马桶、化妆品和皮革商品上看到特朗普的名字。其他人已经将其注册。
In a recent interview, Spring Chang, founder of Chang Tsi & Partners, a law firm in Beijing that represents the Trump Organization, said she did not want to comment on Mr. Trump’s specific trademarks. But she said she encouraged a “defensive strategy” for her clients to prevent a celebrity’s name from becoming treated as a generic term.	在最近的一次采访中，代表特朗普集团的北京铸成律师事务所创始人苍雨春说，她不想评论特朗普具体的商标。但她表示鼓励客户采取一种“防御策略”，以防名人的名字被视为通用术语。
Asked whether Mr. Trump plans to sue people who have registered his name as trademarks in China, Ms. Chang, who also represents Lady Gaga and Linkin Park in the country, said: “We haven’t discussed our strategy with him. As you know, he’s very, very busy.”	被问及特朗普是否打算起诉那些在中国把他的名字注册成商标的人时，同时担任 Lady Gaga 和林肯公园(Linkin Park)在中国代理人的苍雨春说：“我们还没和他讨论我们的策略。你知道的，他实在是太忙了。”

After $225 Billion in Deals Last Year, China Reins In Overseas Investment	中国释放严控海外收购的强烈信号

Chinese families and companies have been rushing to move money out of the country for more than a year amid worries over a slowing national economy, a weakening currency and numerous other problems. The outflow has been expensive — China has spent $1 trillion over the past two and a half years to shore up the value of its currency — and threatens to damage the country's efforts to help its rising middle class.	一年多来，中国的家庭和企业因为担忧国民经济放缓、货币贬值和其他诸多问题，一直忙着把资金转移出中国。资金外流问题代价高昂——过去两年半中，为了稳定币值，中国已经动用了一万亿美元——且可能会破坏中国帮助日渐崛起的中产阶级的努力。
In recent months, China has increased its efforts to stanch the flow, considerably tightening enforcement of its strict limits on how much money can move across its borders. The effort appears to be showing success: The most recent data, for February, showed a slight increase in the size of China's huge holdings of foreign money managed by its currency administrator, one of the rough proxies for the sum of money moving out.	最近几个月，中国加大了阻止资金外流的力度，大幅收紧了对允许出境金额的严格规定的执行力度。这项行动的作用似乎正在显现：据最新的数据，也就是2月的数据显示，中国的外汇管理机构手中庞大的外币资产规模出现小幅增加，这是衡量资金出境规模的粗略指标之一。

That rule has complicated not only mergers and acquisitions but also the way many global companies move their China-made profits overseas, in the form of dividends. Foreign executives describe broad difficulties moving money out of China. Chinese officials appear eager to portray China's tougher stance on deals abroad as an effort to prompt more responsible investing rather than an effort to shore up the country's financial system. Mr. Zhong, the commerce minister, said the country had not changed its long-term policy of encouraging Chinese companies to become more global.	中国官方似乎迫切地想把自己对海外交易的更强硬立场说成是为了促进更负责任的投资，而不是为了加固该国的金融体系。中国商务部部长钟山称，鼓励中国企业变得更加国际化的长期政策没有变。
But Chinese officials have a strong incentive not to acknowledge the administrative limits they have put on large movements of money out of the country. Such limits may make foreign investors more wary of putting money into China, at a time when Chinese leadership is trying to encourage more bond purchases by foreigners and other investments into the country to offset the money moving out.	但中国官方有强烈的动机不承认对大笔资金转移出境实行的行政限制。在中国领导层正试图鼓励外国人购买更多债券并增加在中国的投资，以抵消资金外流的影响之际，这类限制可能会让外国投资者对把钱投进中国更加警惕。

Many Chinese companies already have a lot of money overseas. More than $500 billion sluiced out of the country in the few months after the stock market plummeted in summer 2015 and before China began gradually enforcing previously dormant rules on money transfers in February 2016. Much of that money is still being allocated to longer-term investments, along with another $50 billion or more that is leaving the country each month and the accumulated earnings on previous investments made overseas.	很多中国公司已经在海外拥有大量资金。在 2015 年夏天中国股市暴跌之后和 2016 年 2 月中国开始逐渐执行以前搁置的资金转移规定之前的几个月时间里，流出中国的资金超过 5000 亿美元。这笔钱中的很大一部分，连同现在仍在以每月 500 亿美元或以上的规模逃离的资金，以及之前的海外投资积累起来的收益，仍在进入长期投资领域。
Qiang Li, a managing partner for China at the law firm DLA Piper, said that only a quarter of the many deals in which he was involved relied on transferring money out of China and might face obstacles. McDonald's Says Twitter Account Compromised After Anti-Trump Post	推文大骂特朗普，麦当劳称是被盗号
McDonald's said one of its Twitter feeds was compromised on Thursday after the fast-food chain's corporate account sent out a message insulting President Trump.	麦当劳周四表示，该公司的一个 Twitter 帐户遭到入侵，之前这家快餐连锁店的企业帐户发出了一条 Twitter 消息，对特朗普进行了侮辱。
"@realDonaldTrump you are actually a disgusting excuse of a President and we would love to have @BarackObama back, also you have tiny hands," the tweet from the account read.	"@realDonaldTrump 你真是一个令人厌恶的总统，我们很希望 @BarackObama 回来，而且你的手很小，"该帐户发帖说。
The message was quickly removed. A spokeswoman for McDonald's,	该消息迅速删除。麦当劳的发言人贝卡·哈利(Becca Hary)表示，Twitter 通

Becca Hary, said Twitter notified the company that its account had been compromised. "We deleted the tweet, secured our account and are now investigating this," Ms. Hary said in an email, echoing a message the company posted on Twitter later in the morning.	知他们这个帐户已被入侵。“我们删除了那条消息，对帐户采取了安全措施，现在正在调查此事，”哈利在一封电邮中重复了公司在 Twitter 上发布的消息。
Ms. Hary did not respond to a question about whether the company had any idea about who may have been responsible.	哈利没有回答一个问题：该公司是否知道可能谁对这个事件负责。
Will Stickney, a Twitter spokesman, said, "We do not comment on individual accounts for privacy and security reasons."	Twitter 的发言人威尔·斯迪肯尼(Will Stickney)说，“出于隐私和安全的原因，我们不会对个人帐户置评。”
The tweet criticizing Mr. Trump was shared many hundreds of times and set off a furious round of comment. The company's corporate Twitter account has about 150,000 followers, far fewer than the 3.4 million on its main account.	这条批评特朗普的帖子被分享了好几百次，并引发了一轮激烈评论。麦当劳的企业 Twitter 帐户有大约 15 万个关注者，远远少于其主帐户的 340 万。
The comment about Mr. Trump's hands in the initial message was an apparent reference to last year's insults directed at Mr. Trump from Senator Marco Rubio, his former rival for the White House. Mr. Rubio said Mr. Trump had "small hands" and "spray tan" during a campaign stop.	那条推文中关于特朗普的手的说法，明显是来自去年竞选的时候，竞争对手、参议员马尔科·卢比奥(Marco Rubio)对特朗普的侮辱。卢比奥在一次竞选活动中说，特朗普有一双“小手”，而且使用“美黑喷雾”。
"You know what they say about men with small hands," Mr. Rubio said at Roanoke College in Salem, Va. "You can't trust them."	“你知道，他们怎么说手小的男人吗，”卢比奥在萨勒姆罗阿诺克学院说，“你不能相信他们。”
The remarks came after Mr. Trump had repeatedly dismissed the Republican senator as "Little Marco" at his own campaign rallies. Mr. Rubio later apologized for his comments.	卢比奥说这番话之前，特朗普曾在自己的竞选集会上再三把共和党参议员卢比奥称为“小马可”。后来卢比奥为这番话道了歉。

Trump Adviser Gary Cohn to Sell Stake in Chinese Bank Giant	白宫经济顾问将出售 1600 万美元工行股份

The White House economic adviser Gary D. Cohn is selling a significant holding in the world's largest bank — which happens to be in China — as he clears potential conflicts of interest to serve in his new role.	为了撇清新角色带来的利益冲突，白宫经济顾问加里·D·科恩(Gary D. Cohn)正在出售其持有的全球最大银行的大量股份。这家银行恰好是一家中国银行。
The stock that Mr. Cohn is selling is in the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China, which with nearly $3.5 trillion in assets is the biggest on the planet, and it would be valued at about $16 million based on Thursday's trading, according to details of his holdings in a set of documents issued by the Office of Government Ethics.	科恩要出售的是中国工商银行的股票。该银行拥有近 3.5 万亿美元(约合 24 万亿元人民币)的资产，是全球最大的银行。据政府道德事务办公室(Office of Government Ethics)发布的一系列文件列出的资产详情显示，按照周四的交易情况计算，科恩要出售的股票大约值 1600 万美元。
The Chinese bank position appears to be the largest stock, private equity or hedge fund holding — apart from his shares in Goldman Sachs, where he was president — that Mr. Cohn will have to sell because of his new job. The timing of his initial purchase of the Industrial and Commercial Bank shares and of his planned sale are not clear.	除他曾担任总裁的高盛(Goldman Sachs)的股票外，这家中国银行的仓位，似乎是科恩因为新工作而不得不出售的规模最大的股票、私募股权或对冲基金资产。尚不清楚他最初买入工商银行股票的时间和他计划中的出售时间。

likely be on the table.
Richard W. Painter, who served as an ethics lawyer in the administration of President George W. Bush, said the sale of the Chinese bank shares made sense, given China's importance on the global economic stage.	曾在乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)总统的政府担任伦理道德律师的理查德·W·佩恩特(Richard W.Painter)说, 考虑到中国在全球经济舞台上的重要性, 出售这家中国银行的股票是明智之举。
"If we get into a big spat with China, it is obviously going to have an effect on that bank economically," Mr. Painter said. "There is no way you should be a senior adviser on economic or military policy, and have a big stake in a Chinese bank. That's an invitation for trouble."	"如果我们和中国发生大的分歧, 显然会在经济上对那家银行有影响," 佩恩特说。"没办法既担任经济或军事政策上的高级顾问, 又持有一家中国银行的大量股份。这是自找麻烦。"
The ethics documents issued to Mr. Cohn, known as certificates of divestiture, and a separate set issued to his wife, Lisa Pevaroff-Cohn, indicate that the couple will reinvest the proceeds of the Chinese bank stock sale and other asset sales into certain widely held assets, like Treasury bills or exchange-traded funds.	发给科恩的伦理文件"出售证书"和发给他妻子莉萨·佩瓦罗夫-科恩(Lisa Pevaroff-Cohn)的另一套文件表明, 他们夫妇二人将用出售上述中国银行的股份和其他资产获得的收益, 投资某些广泛持有的资产, 如短期国库券或交易所交易基金。
The certificates of divestiture issued on March 8 are not a complete picture of Mr. Cohn's assets. They list only those that he and Ms. Pevaroff-Cohn will sell and then reinvest as a means of legally avoiding certain capital-gains taxes. Once the positions listed in the documents are liquidated, the couple will have 60 days to make the new investments.	3月8日发出的"出售证书"中所透露的, 并不是科恩的全部资产。它们只列出了科恩夫妇将卖出然后重新投资, 以便合法地避开某些资本利得税的资产。一旦文件中列出的仓位被卖出, 科恩夫妇将有60天的时间重新投资。
But the documents do provide a window into the assets that Mr. Cohn and his wife held at the end of his 26-year tenure at Goldman Sachs, from which he resigned in December.	但相关文件的确提供了一扇窗户, 让外界能够了解科恩结束在高盛26年的职业生涯时, 他和妻子两人的资产持有情况。去年12月, 科恩从高盛辞职。
In addition to his stake in the Chinese bank, Mr. Cohn is selling roughly $216 million in Goldman stock, plus 18 other stocks, and plans to reinvest the proceeds.	除在中国工商银行的股份外, 科恩还将出售价值约2.16亿美元的高盛股票和另外18支股票, 并计划用相关收益重新投资。

The other holdings include some major consumer brands, like the tobacco companies Philip Morris and Reynolds American, as well as the food company Kraft Heinz; and a passel of tech companies including Facebook, Twitter, Box, Intel, HP and Hewlett Packard Enterprise. Aside from Goldman, his holdings include only one other major United States bank, Bank of America. (Mr. Cohn is selling 9,174 Bank of America shares, valued at roughly $230,000.)	他的其他资产包括一些大型消费品牌的股票，如烟草公司菲利普莫里斯 (Philip Morris)和雷诺兹美国(Reynolds American)，以及食品公司卡夫亨氏 (Kraft Heinz)和一系列科技公司，包括 Facebook、Twitter、Box、英特尔 (Intel)、惠普(HP)和慧与(Hewlett Packard Enterprise)。除高盛外，他的资产中只有一家美国大型银行，即美国银行(Bank of America)。(科恩即将出售 9174 股美国银行的股份，大约价值 23 万美元。)
Taken together, Mr. Cohn and Ms. Pevaroff-Cohn are selling small minority stakes in 11 private investment vehicles, including a group of Goldman Sachs-operated private equity funds, some of which were set up specifically for firm employees.	加在一起，科恩和佩瓦罗夫-科恩即将出售他们在 11 家私人投资机构中的少量少数股份，包括高盛运营的一批私募股权基金，其中一些是特意为公司员工设立的。
Mr. Cohn's detailed ethics plan and personal financial disclosure statement, which would include further information about his income and assets, have not yet been made public.	科恩详细的伦理计划和个人财务披露声明尚未公开。后者可能包含有关其收入和资产的进一步信息。
In a filing on Jan. 24, Goldman Sachs explained that because of Mr. Cohn's new government role, he would sell stakes in a variety of private equity funds and hedge funds managed by the firm. In some cases, the stakes were repurchased by Goldman itself, at a discount.	在 1 月 24 日的一份备案文件中，高盛解释说，因为科恩在政府中的新角色，他将出售在该公司管理的各种私募股权基金和对冲基金中的股份。在一些情况下，相关股份被高盛以一定的折扣回购。
Mr. Cohn is not the only Goldman Sachs executive to invest in the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China. When he became Treasury secretary in 2006, the former Goldman chief executive Henry M. Paulson Jr. sold an individual position worth as much as $25 million in the bank, according to government documents issued at the time.	科恩不是唯一一名投资中国工商银行的高盛高管。当时发布的政府文件显示，2006 年成为美国财政部长后，前高盛首席执行官亨利·M·保尔森(Henry M. Goldman itself held a sizable position in the Chinese bank for seven years, selling the last block of it to end the investment in 2013.	高盛自己也曾持有该银行相当大的仓位七年。2013 年，高盛结束这笔投资，卖掉了最后一批工行股票。

The Fed Acts. Workers in Mexico and Merchants in Malaysia Suffer.	美联储加息影响波及全球，中国如何应对？
CIUDAD JUÁREZ, Mexico — Francisca Hervis Reyes and her family have persevered on the border, working in factories more than 1,300 miles from their hometown. They remained even as deadly warfare between drug cartels turned this city into one of the most dangerous on the planet.	墨西哥华雷斯——弗朗西斯卡·埃尔维斯·雷耶斯(Franisca Hervis Reyes)和家人一直坚持在边境的工厂里上班,这里距离他们的家乡超过 1300 英里(约合 2100 公里)。即便是在贩毒集团之间的火拼让这座城市成为全球最危险的地方之一时，他们仍留了下来。
But they may not endure the changing predilections of the Federal Reserve.	但面对美联储(Federal Reserve)的口味变化，他们大概要挺不住了。
Reyes is paid in Mexican pesos, a currency that has been losing value as the Fed, the central bank of the United States, has signaled plans to raise interest rates this year. In the parched terrain just south of the U.S. border, the prices of food and other necessities follow the dollar, whose value has been climbing. It is as if the Fed has slashed her pay.	雷耶斯的工资是墨西哥比索结算的。随着作为美国央行的美联储今年发出计划加息的信号，墨西哥比索不断贬值。在这片美国边境以南的干燥地带，食品和其他必需品的价格追随美元的价值不断攀升。这就像是美联储在扣她的工资。
Like millions of other people from Southeast Asia to Africa to Latin America, Reyes and her family are absorbing the consequences of a major shift playing out in the global economy.	和从东南亚、非洲等地来到拉丁美洲的数百万人一样，雷耶斯和家人正在承受全球经济中正在发生的一个重要变化的后果。
As the Fed lifted rates Wednesday, it added momentum to a steady stream of money that has been abandoning emerging markets and flowing toward U.S. shores. With further Fed increases expected this year, developing countries are bracing for additional impacts: more investment departing, more currencies falling, more economies weakening.	随着美联储周三上调利率，资金放弃新兴市场、稳定流向美国的势头增强。在外界预计美联储今年会进一步加息的情况下，发展中国家正在为其他影响做准备：投资撤离加剧，货币进一步贬值，更多经济体趋于疲弱。
By mandate, the Fed is answerable to the people of the United States.	美联储受命只对美国民众负责。

When times are lean and businesses are reluctant to hire, the Fed makes money more available by nudging down rates. When times are good and concern builds about elevated prices, it cools things off by lifting rates and tightening credit.	在经济困难，企业不愿招聘时，美联储会通过下调利率来降低资金成本。在经济形势看好，对物价攀升的担忧加剧时，美联储会通过上调利率并收紧信贷来给经济降温。
Yet in reality, the Fed is the central banker to the world.	但实际上，美联储是全世界的中央银行。
The dollar is the money used most widely as the repository of savings and as the currency for trade. When the Fed lowers rates, it makes the dollar less attractive, encouraging investors to seek rewards elsewhere. When the Fed lifts rates, investors switch gears, yanking capital and selling off other currencies.	美元是使用最广的储蓄和贸易结算货币。当美联储下调利率时，美元的吸引力会降低，这会鼓励投资者去其他地方寻求回报。当美联储上调利率时，投资者会改变策略，撤出资金并变卖其他货币。
Across China, hundreds of millions of people who have plowed their savings into real estate are vulnerable if too much money washes out at once and housing prices drop. In Turkey, shopkeepers who have withstood an attempted military coup, a subsequent crackdown and relentless terrorist attacks now grapple with the plunge of the Turkish lira, which has lifted the price of imported wares.	在中国，如果外逃资金太多，房价下跌，把积蓄投入房地产市场的数亿人很容易受到影响。在土耳其，熬过了军事政变未遂、随后的镇压和接连不断的恐怖袭击的店主，现在正在努力应对土耳其里拉大幅贬值的问题，这种贬值已经导致进口商品涨价。
In Malaysia, businesses struggle with higher costs for items priced in dollars as the local currency falls. In Mexico, families are buffeted by a volatile currency that was already flagging on threats from President Donald Trump to tax goods coming over the border.	在马来西亚，由于当地货币贬值，企业要为以美元定价的商品支付更高成本。在墨西哥，家庭因动荡的货币而受到强烈冲击——该国货币本来就因唐纳德·特朗普总统威胁对墨西哥货物征税而变得疲软。
"Every time the peso goes down, we can afford less and less," Reyes said on a recent evening, as pale desert light gave way to chilly darkness. "We're thinking about going back to Veracruz. People are leaving the factories and going back to their towns."	"比索每下跌一次，我们买得起的东西就越少，"雷耶斯在前不久的一个晚上说。当时，苍白的沙漠黄昏让位给寒冷的黑暗。"我们在考虑返回韦拉克鲁斯。越来越多的人正离开工厂，回到故乡。"
The Fed forces can be traumatic, especially in less affluent places.	美联储的威力可能造成巨大创伤，尤其是在不太富裕的地方。

As the financial crisis unfolded in 2008, the central bank took extraordinary measures to keep credit flowing. The result was a surge of investment into emerging markets.	2008 年金融危机爆发后，该中央银行采取了非常措施，保持信贷流动。结果导致投资涌入新兴市场。
More than $259 billion poured into developing countries the next year, according to the Institute of International Finance, a trade association. From 2010 to 2015, the annual capital flows to those places averaged $328 billion.	根据贸易协会国际金融研究所(Institute of International Finance)的数据，2009 年就有逾 2590 亿美元流入发展中国家。从 2010 年到 2015 年，那些地方的年均流入资金为 3280 亿美元。

reacted to the Fed's action with its own interest-rate increase Thursday.
Within the investing world, the peso functions as a proxy for all developing countries — the thing to bet against when sentiments go negative. "It's kind of the first port of call for anyone who thinks something bad is going to happen to emerging markets," said Mark Weisbrot, a director of the Center for Economic and Policy Research in Washington. "Mexico is vulnerable."	在投资界，比索成为所有发展中国家的代表——在情绪转为负面时会遭到打压。“对任何认为新兴市场将出现糟糕情况的人说，它算是会去造访的第一站，”华盛顿的经济与政策研究中心(Center for Economic and Policy Research)主任马克·韦斯布罗特(Mark Weisbrot)说，“墨西哥很脆弱。”
BARRICADING THE EXITS	阻止资金外流
Chinese leaders have long nursed fears about an uncontrolled exodus of cash.	中国领导人长期以来一直担心现金不受控制地大量流出。

Shadow Lending Threatens China's Economy, Officials Warn	中国官员警告影子银行风险
BEIJING — The chairman of China's biggest bank and a senior Chinese insurance regulator issued strong warnings on Saturday about the dangers of shadow banking to the Chinese economy, in the latest signs of growing top-level concern here about a rise in highly speculative, poorly regulated lending.	北京——周六，对于影子银行给中国经济带来的危害，中国最大银行的董事长和中国保险监管机构高官发出了严重警告，这是显示中国高层日渐关切投机性强、监管不善的贷款的最新迹象。
Shadow banking, or lending that takes place outside official banking channels, plays a major role in the Chinese economy, where big government-controlled banks are often slow to lend to private businesses and entrepreneurs. But experts worry that untrammelled shadow lending could lead to ticking time bombs that could threaten the financial system of the world's second-largest economy.	影子银行指的是在官方银行渠道以外发放的贷款，它在中国经济中发挥了重要作用，因为政府控制的大银行往往在借钱给私人企业和创业者时动作迟缓。但专家们担心，野蛮生长的影子贷款可能会是一个滴答作响的定时炸弹，给世界第二大经济体的金融体系造成危害。
Yi Huiyan, the chairman of the Industrial and Commercial Bank of	按资产计算，中国工商银行是世界上最大的银行，其董事长易会满警告说，

China, which is the world's largest bank as measured by assets, warned about the rapid spread of unregulated investment vehicles, such as wealth management products. Wealth management products are often sold by banks and other Chinese financial institutions to ordinary Chinese investors with the promise of interest rates much higher than what banks offer for deposits, but the obligations are often kept off bank balance sheets.	不受管制的投资工具正在迅速蔓延，比如理财产品。理财产品经常是通过银行和其他金融机构销售给普通中国投资者的，其承诺的利率远高于银行存款，但债务常常没有显示在银行的资产负债表上。
Shadow banking "is not subject to full regulation, or any regulation at all," Mr. Yi said. "We have to focus. If not, the real economy will suffer."	影子银行“不受监管，或者监管不到位，”易会满说。“我们应该正视它。如果管制得不好，对实体经济的影响也会非常大。”
Chen Wenhui, the vice chairman of the China Insurance Regulatory Commission, said Chinese regulators were particularly trying to understand the swift expansion of internet lending platforms that are raising huge sums of money from the general public. Many of these lending platforms, which offer big returns and accept minimum contributions low enough to entice common workers, have disclosed fairly little about how they will invest the money they raise.	中国保险监督管理委员会副主席陈文辉说，互联网借贷平台从公众手中筹集了巨资，引起了中国监管机构的特别重视，他们正在试图理解这种平台的迅速扩张。很多平台都承诺提供很高的回报，而且最小贷款额很低，因此对普通人有很大的吸引力，但是对于平台将如何将投资这笔钱，他们披露的信息却相当少。
The general public appears to be pouring large sums into new investment vehicles despite receiving scant disclosure, Mr. Chen said.	陈文辉说，尽管一般公众看到的细节很少，他们似乎还是在把大笔资金投入新的投资工具中。
"They just buy the investments," he added, "They have no idea what the product is."	“他们只是在买投资产品，”他说，“他们根本不知道产品是什么。”
Mr. Yi and Mr. Chen spoke at a panel on Chinese finance at the China Development Forum, an annual, three-day gathering that started here on Saturday and has mustered a long list of the world's most famous economists in addition to many top Chinese government and business leaders.	易会满和陈文辉是在中国发展高层论坛的中国金融业小组中发表这番言论的。该论坛每年举办一次，为期三天，今年的会议于周六开幕，很多全球知名的经济学家以及中国政商领袖都参加了这个会议。

Credit has been expanding swiftly in the Chinese economy, as the government has resorted to heavy stimulus to prevent the economy from slowing further. The Chinese economy expanded 6.7 percent last year. But to achieve that, Chinese financial regulators allowed total outstanding credit to expand by the equivalent of about 15 percent of the economy's annual output.	由于政府采用强刺激方案，以防中国经济进一步放缓，经济中的信贷规模一直在迅速扩大。中国经济去年增长6.7%。但为了实现这一目标，中国的金融监管机构放手让信贷总额扩张到相当于这个经济体15%的年度产出。
Part of that borrowing went to pay for heavy investments in new infrastructure, like high-speed rail lines, and new factories for state-owned enterprises.	这类借贷中的一部分花在了新的基础设施上，比如在高速铁路线和国有企业的新工厂上进行了巨额投资。
But much of the lending appears to represent a speculative frenzy, often involving residential real estate, that has become of increasing concern to some Chinese officials, bankers and economists. Real estate prices in large and medium-size cities climbed 12 percent in the 12 months that ended in February, the National Bureau of Statistics said this week.	但是大量贷款似乎代表了一场疯狂的投机，而且往往涉及住宅房地产，这已经成为了中国官员、银行家和经济学家日益关注的问题。国家统计局本周的数据显示，在今年2月截止的12个月中，大中型城市的房地产价格攀升了12%。
Some kinds of shadow banking have seen spectacular growth, like entrusted loans. Entrusted loans are loans from one company to another, usually done through a bank to get around a ban on Chinese companies lending directly to each other. These loans — which are also kept off the books of banks — jumped 20 percent in the 12 months through the end of January, and now account for 9 percent of overall credit in China, according to a report last month from Natixis, a French-owned financial services firm.	有些种类的影子银行出现了激增，比如委托贷款。委托贷款是一个公司对另一个公司的贷款，通常通过银行进行，以便绕过中国禁止公司直接互相贷款的规定。这些贷款也不显示在银行的账本上，法国独资金融服务公司Natixis上月的一份报告显示，在今年1月底截止的12个月内，这种贷款增加了20%，现在占中国总体信贷的9%。
China's leaders insist that they understand the risks and contend that they will be able to control them. They say measures such as	中国领导人坚称自己了解风险，并声称有能力控制风险。他们说，按照国际标准来看，一些指标并不是很危险，比如政府债和家庭债占经济产出的百分

government and household debt as a percentage of economic output are not alarming by international standards, nor have bad loans as a percentage of overall bank loans reached a worrying level.	比等等，而且不良贷款占银行整体贷款的比例也没有达到了令人担忧的水平。
"We are fully aware of potential risks and will take prompt and targeted action," Premier Li Keqiang said at his annual news conference on Wednesday.	"我们充分认识到潜在的风险，将会采取迅速和有针对性的行动，"总理李克强周三在年度新闻发布会上说。
But as Mr. Yi's and Mr. Chen's comments underlined on Saturday, worries in China are focusing on how Chinese financial institutions raise the money that they lend – and what could happen if investors suddenly demand much of that money back.	但是正如上周六易会满和陈文辉的评论所突显的那样，中国人担忧的主要问题是：中国金融机构如何筹集它们贷出去的钱——如果投资者突然要求偿还这么多的钱，会发生什么事。
Mr. Yi's remarks to some extent represented an unusually blunt criticism of his bank's smaller competitors. I.C.B.C. is one of the so-called Big Four state-controlled banks that make up nearly half the country's banking system. Each of the four – the others are the China Construction Bank, the Bank of China and the Agricultural Bank of China – has thousands of branches to collect deposits, a stable source of financing, although the banks also sell some wealth management products.	从一定程度上说，易会满这番话是在对规模较小的银行进行异常直率的批评。工商银行是国有四大银行之一，其他三家是中国建设银行、中国银行和中国农业银行，它们占了国家银行体系的将近一半，其中每一家都有数以千计的分支机构来吸纳公众存款，这是比较稳定的融资来源，虽然四大银行也销售一些理财产品。
Lacking that big deposit base, many smaller banks rely more heavily on the sale of wealth management products. Because banks usually keep those obligations off their books, they have greater flexibility to lend to more speculative projects and use the proceeds to pay higher interest to investors – provided that the more speculative borrowers repay their loans.	很多中小型银行由于缺乏那那么大的存款基础，就会更多地依赖理财产品的销售。因为银行通常不把这类债务写入账本，它们在向投机性更高的项目发放贷款时有更多灵活性，并用这种收益向投资者支付更高的利息——前提是这些投机性更高的借方可以偿还贷款。
Mr. Yi took aim at all risky forms of borrowing on Saturday. "If we do not	易会满周六把矛头指向了所有存在风险的借贷形式。"如果管制得不好，'影

deal correctly with shadow banking, the risks could be huge," he said, adding that the result had been "higher leverage, too many derivatives and too many products with no transparency."	子银行'的风险是非常大的。"他说, 其结果就是"更高的杠杆、太多的衍生品工具和太多缺乏透明度的产品。"

China Defends Plan to Bolster Its High-Tech Industries	中国官员为高科技产业制造强国战略辩护
As the country tries to move away from low-end manufacturing, Beijing's plan, Made in China 2025, is designed to juice economic development in emerging industries by providing $300 billion in low-cost loans, research funds and other government aid. But big companies in the rest of the world worry that the program gives an unfair advantage to homegrown players, with the stated goal of Chinese companies' owning as much as 80 percent of specific domestic markets in eight years.	随着中国试图从低端制造业上转移, 北京的《中国制造 2025》计划的设计意图, 是通过提供 3000 亿美元 (约合 2 万亿元人民币) 的低息贷款、科研资金和其他政府援助, 促进新兴行业的经济发展。但其他国家的大公司担心, 该计划会让中国市场的本土参与者占据不公平的优势。中国的既定目标是八年内让中国公司对国内特定市场的占有率达到 80%。
China's minister of industry and information technology, Miao Wei, said the new policy was not meant to wall off the country's companies from outside competition. Yet he also conceded, without offering specifics, that the plan might need changes.	中国工业和信息化部部长苗圩称, 新政策不是为了把中国公司和外部竞争隔开。但他也承认该计划可能需要调整, 不过没有详细论述。

economic policy makers with corporate leaders and top economists from around the world.
And while China may want more local suppliers in some sectors, Mr. Miao said, in most industries “we still open up and welcome foreign companies to China.”	苗圩说，中国可能希望在某些领域有更多的本土供应商，但在大部分领域，“我们还是遵从对外开放这个基本国策，欢迎国外的企业和机构到中国来。”
The Chinese program plays into the increasing sensitivities over global trade.	中国的计划涉及到日益敏感的全球贸易问题。
While President Xi Jinping of China has trumpeted the merits of globalization, his country has also been criticized for protectionist policies that favor Chinese companies. Adding to the frictions, President Trump has espoused an America First strategy, specifically calling out China on trade and currency.	尽管中国国家主席习近平大力宣传全球化的好处，但他领导的国家也被指实行有利于中国公司的保护主义政策。特朗普总统奉行美国优先的策略，并在贸易和货币问题上点名指责中国，进一步增加了这种冲突。
Western companies fear that the Made in China policy could be used to justify government demands to hand over their latest technology as the price of staying in the Chinese market. They also worry that government-backed investment funds and other resources could be used to acquire many Western companies with key technologies while subsidizing their Chinese rivals.	西方公司担心，中国制造政策可能会被政府作为依据，要求它们交出最新技术，否则不能留在中国市场。它们还担心政府支持的投资和其他资源，可能会被用来收购很多拥有关键技术的西方公司，同时补贴它们的中国竞争对手。
One of the most contentious parts of the plan is how the country wants to meet Chinese demand with Chinese products. The two main approaches — requiring that a large part of a product’s value be created in China or setting a specific market share for domestic players — are strictly prohibited by the World Trade Organization.	该计划最有争议的内容之一是中国希望用中国的产品满足中国的需求。两种主要的方式——要求产品的很大一部分价值是在中国创造的，二是为本土参与者规定明确的市场份额——是世界贸易组织(World Trade Organization) 严厉禁止的。
Such rules also have market-moving consequences.	这类规定还会造成市场变局。
Chinese regulators made a rule in 2005 requiring that wind turbines	中国监管机构曾在 2005 年制定过一条规定，要求在华出售的风力涡轮机主

sold in China be made up largely of local components. The requirement prompted many of the world's big wind turbine manufacturers to move factories to China and transfer their latest technology to domestic suppliers.	要使用本土零部件。这项要求导致全球很多大型风力涡轮机制造商将工厂转移到中国，并把它们的最新技术移交给中国国内的供应商。
Although Beijing removed the policy four years later after protests by the United States, the competitive damage was done, with Chinese companies gaining significant scale and expertise. China has dominated production of the world's wind turbines ever since, with 42 percent of the market last year, according to the Global Wind Energy Council.	尽管四年后在美国的抗议下，北京取消了该政策，但竞争已经遭到破坏，中国公司实现了规模的扩大，并掌握了重要的专业技术。据全球风能理事会(Global Wind Energy Council)称，自那以后，中国一直主导着全球风力涡轮机的生产，去年的市场占有率为42%。
Mr. Miao, the Chinese official, said the local content requirement in the latest plan was important, given Western nations' own restrictions. Many governments do not allow certain high-tech products, with both military and civilian uses, to be sold to China and other countries, he noted.	前述中国官员苗圩称，考虑到西方国家自己的限制规定，最新计划中有关本土产品的要求颇为重要。他指出，很多政府不允许向中国和其他国家出售某些高科技产品，有军用的，也有民用的。
"In some areas, we emphasize local content," Mr. Miao said at the forum on Sunday. "That is forced on us — some equipment is restricted for export in developed countries, but China has the demand."	"在某些领域，中国之所以强调本国产品的自给率，"苗圩周日在中国发展高层论坛上说，"也是不得已而为之，有一些装备和产品，发达国家对中国采取了限制出口的政策，而中国市场又有需要。"
But Jörg Wuttke, the president of the European Union Chamber of Commerce in China, dismissed Mr. Miao's justification. While many countries, including China, do have such export rules, he noted that they affected a tiny share of high-tech goods.	但中国欧盟商会(European Union Chamber of Commerce in China)主席约尔格·伍德克(Jörg Wuttke)驳斥了苗圩给出的理由。尽管包括中国在内的很多国家的确有这种出口规定，但他指出，它们只影响到了一小部分高科技商品。
"With 30 billion euros in E.U. exports of high tech to mainland China, plus another 6 billion euros' worth to Hong Kong, it is difficult to claim that we apply any export restriction," Mr. Wuttke said.	"欧盟出口给中国大陆的高科技产品价值300亿欧元(约合2000亿元人民币)，再加上出口给香港的价值60亿欧元的产品，声称我们实行出口限制的说法难以成立，"伍德克说。

A Small Table Maker Takes On Alibaba's Flood of Fakes	直面淘宝，美国小企业主的艰难打假路
PHOENIX — From his desk in a downtown workshop, Greg Hankerson is at war with a Chinese company half a world away.	凤凰城——在市中心一家工作坊的办公桌前，格里格·汉克森(Greg Hankerson)正在和半个世界之外的一家中国公司交战。

But Mr. Hankerson wants to know why Alibaba doesn't do more to defeat counterfeiting, which damages the very same small businesses Mr. Ma says he intends to aid.	但汉克森想知道阿里巴巴为什么不在打假方面做更多努力，因为假货伤害的正是马云有意帮助的小企业。
Mr. Ma "is making himself look like someone you can trust," Mr. Hankerson said. But, he added, his company is selling counterfeit products.	马云“在把自己塑造成看起来值得信任的人”，汉克森说，但的公司却在销售假货。
Alibaba is a company valued at $260 billion, with hundreds of millions of buyers using its sales platforms. Millions of Chinese shop there for things as varied as snacks and knickknacks and phone charging cables, while global brands flock to its high-end sales platform, Tmall. In China, Alibaba is a kingmaker for hopeful tech start-ups, while an affiliated online mobile payment system is the envy of Silicon Valley. It has a growing cloud-computing business and increasingly extols its prowess with big data.	阿里巴巴是一家市值 2600 亿美元的公司，有数亿卖家使用它的销售平台。数千万的中国人上面购买从零食到小摆设再到手机充电线等各种东西，各种全球品牌也涌入阿里巴巴的高端销售平台天猫。阿里巴巴在中国对有望成功的科技创业公司是一个极具影响力的角色，与此同时它旗下的一个在线移动支付系统也令硅谷公司艳羡。它还拥有不断增长的云计算业务，也愈发频繁地夸耀自身在大数据领域的实力。
That leaves many businesses, big and small, wondering why it has such a hard time finding fakes on its sites. Its online system for reporting counterfeits, many say, is cumbersome and prone to hiccups. Against one of the world's biggest tech firms, Mr. Hankerson employs his iMac, $74-a-month image-searching software, his phone and a lot of time — sometimes, he says, 12 hours a day.	这让大大小小的许多企业想不通，为什么它在自己的网站上找假货就那么艰难。许多人表示，阿里巴巴举报假货的在线系统十分繁琐，很容易出现问题。面对世界上最大的科技公司之一，汉克森的装备是自己的 iMac、74 美元一个月的图片搜索软件、他的电话，还要搭上很多时间——他说有时一天要花 12 个小时。
Yet if he doesn't invest the effort, he worries that a flood of cut-rate replicas could undermine the future of his business. Shops on Alibaba — shops that sometimes sell outside China — offer their copies at a	然而，如果不做这些努力，他担心一大批廉价复制品会损及他未来的生意。阿里巴巴上的店铺——有时也在中国之外销售商品——提供的仿品的价格只有汉克森售价的零头。一家淘宝店铺把他标价不低于 5295 美元的 A 字形桌

"If this gets out of hand, people are going to be able to buy our stuff for next for nothing," he said. "It could be devastating for us."	"如果这种情况失去控制，人们下一次就会想以极其便宜的价格买我们的东西，"他说。"那对我们来说将是毁灭性的。"
Fighting Fakes	打假
Alibaba has long faced accusations that its sales platforms are a haven for fakes, and big organizations have been effective at bringing the problem to the fore.	长久以来，阿里巴巴一直被指控其销售平台是假货的天堂，大机构实际上已经将这一问题摆上了台面。
Following complaints from industry groups, the office of the United States Trade Representative last year added Taobao to its list of "notorious markets" for counterfeit goods, after removing it four years earlier. The corporate owner of the Gucci and Yves Saint Laurent brand names, Kering, sued Alibaba two years ago over the prevalence of fakes on its services. Alibaba, which is fighting the suit in a New York federal court, says it has no basis.	在行业组织提出抗议之后，美国贸易代表办公室（United States Trade Representative, 简称 USTR）去年将淘宝列入了出售假冒商品的“恶名市场”名单——该机构四年前曾将淘宝从这个名单中删除。拥有古驰(Gucci)和伊夫·圣罗兰(Yves Saint Laurent)品牌的开云公司(Kering)在两年前就阿里巴巴网站上假货肆虐的情况对它提起诉讼。正在一座纽约联邦法院应对这场官司的阿里巴巴表示，这项指控没有依据。
In a report submitted to the U.S.T.R. in October, Alibaba boasted about the technology and resources it uses to clean counterfeits from its platforms. The company says its systems are powerful enough to scan 10 million product listings each day. As a result, Alibaba said, it proactively removed 380 million suspect product listings in one 12-month period.	在去年 10 月向 USTR 提交的一份报告中，阿里巴巴竭力夸耀自己用以清除平台假货的技术和资源。这家公司表示，它的系统十分强大，每天可以扫描 1000 万个产品清单。阿里巴巴表示，结果它在 12 个月内就主动下架了 3.8 亿个可疑产品。
"There are few companies (indeed, none, to our knowledge) that have taken the combination of steps Alibaba has taken, and has concrete plans to take, and certainly none that have put in place measures on the scale of Alibaba's," the company told the U.S.T.R.	"很少有公司（实际上，据我们所知一个也没有）采取阿里巴巴这样的组合步骤，制定这些具体的计划，当然也没有哪家公司曾以阿里巴巴这么大的规模落实措施，"这家公司对 USTR 表示。

Alibaba also argues that many of the complaints against it are unfair. Counterfeiting and piracy are widespread in the Chinese economy. As private businesspeople, Mr. Ma and his team cannot shut down the culprits producing fake goods.	阿里巴巴还认为，许多针对它的投诉是不公平的。假货和盗版在中国经济中非常普遍。作为私营经济参与者，马云和他的团队无法彻底阻止生产假货的负责人。
Additionally, Alibaba suggests that it has been made into a scapegoat. In a statement in December, the company protested that the U.S.T.R. decision “leads us to question whether the U.S.T.R. acted based on the actual facts or was influenced by the current political climate” — presumably referring to heightened anti-China sentiment amid last year’s United States presidential election.	此外，阿里巴巴表示，它已经成了替罪羊。在12月的一份声明中，公司抗议称，美国贸易代表办公室的决定“不得不令我们质疑，这一决定是否基于事实，还是受到当前政治氛围所影响”——这可能是指去年美国总统选举期间反华情绪高涨的情况。
The U.S.T.R. and industry experts contend that there is a lot more Alibaba could and should be doing to tackle fakes.	美国贸易代表办公室与业内专家认为，在处理假货上，阿里巴巴本可以，也应该做更多事情。
“They are a leading technology company,” said Stephen Lamar, executive vice president at the American Apparel & Footwear Association, which represents many brands hurt by counterfeiting. “It is our hope that they use this technology to develop solutions and make sure those solutions are available for everybody.”	“他们是一家领先的技术公司，”美国服装和鞋业协会(American Apparel & Footwear Association)执行副总裁史蒂芬·拉马(Stephen Lamar)说，“我们希望他们使用这些技术来开发解决方案，并确保所有人都能获得这些解决方案。”这家协会代表了许多受假货影响的品种。
The U.S.T.R. notorious-markets report cited the extra challenges that small and medium enterprises face in dealing with fakes on Taobao. Smaller firms have a harder time qualifying for Alibaba’s streamlined program for removing fakes, the report said, which means small firms often encounter more bureaucracy and longer response times than some large ones. The report said that businesses regularly experience problems with Alibaba’s reporting system, including persistent error messages that stall submissions.	美国贸易代表办公室那份恶名市场报告引述了中小企业在处理淘宝上的假货时所面临的额外挑战。报告说，在向阿里巴巴要求移除假货的快速流程中，小型公司更难以符合条件，这意味着小公司往往要比大公司遇到更多的繁杂程序和更长的响应时间。该报告说，企业经常遇到阿里巴巴报告系统的问题，包括持续的错误消息，从而延迟提交。

For small enterprises, fighting fakes on Alibaba's sites "can become expensive, it can become frustrating, it can take time away from your sales, marketing and other creative endeavors," Mr. Lamar said.	对于小企业来说，打击阿里巴巴网站上的假货“可能会很昂贵，可能变得令人沮丧，可能会花费本应用于销售、营销和其他创造性工作的时间，”拉马说。
An Alibaba spokesman said that suggestions that small businesses do not get its attention are "false" and that they can qualify for the streamlined process if their submissions prove reliable. He added that its process for removing suspect listings is in place to address the large number of fraudulent claims the firm receives.	一位阿里巴巴发言人表示，小企业没有得到关注的说法是“错误的”，如果他们提交的信息被证明是可靠的，就可以符合快速流程。他补充说，阿里巴巴移除可疑商品信息的流程已经到位，可以解决该公司收到的大量假货投诉。
"There are places that our systems can be improved to make them more effective, efficient and user-friendly," he said, "and we are working hard every day to make these improvements a reality."	“我们的系统在一些地方可以有所改进，使它们更有效，效率更高，更加用户友好，”他说，“我们每天都在努力使这些改进成为现实。”
She first tried contacting the stores directly, ordering them to take down the offending goods. Some complied, but others didn't. Next she filed a couple of complaints to Alibaba, asking the firm to remove the copies. Although those were successful, she quickly realized that the scale of the problem and the paperwork Alibaba required were too much for her to handle as a one-person business.	她首先试着直接联系那些店铺，要求他们撤下假冒商品。有些店铺同意配合，但也有些不予理会。接下来，她向阿里巴巴提出了几起投诉，要求该公司撤掉那些仿制品。虽然那些努力取得了成功，但她很快意识到问题的规模，对她这个一人公司来说，阿里巴巴要求提供的文件是太过沉重的负担。
"There was no way I could go through the process," she said. There were "too many."	“我不可能完成所有那些手续，”她说。“太多了”。

Despondent, Ms. Stennett said she stopped making jewelry for nearly a year. "If someone is going to take my design and mass-produce it, it is hard for me to compete with them," she said. When she resumed, in 2013, she decided to source her components only from American suppliers, hoping to make it harder for counterfeiters to replicate her products.	沮丧的史泰尼表示，她有近一年的时间没有制作首饰。“如果有人窃取我的设计去批量生产，我很难和他们竞争，”她说。2013年，她重新开始生产后，决定只从美国供应商那里购买配件，希望这能让造假者更难复制她的产品。
Now Ms. Stennett rarely checks Alibaba, afraid of what she'll find. After a quick search of Alibaba.com one day in March, she spotted an image of one of her pendants, which she reported to Alibaba. It is no longer on the platform, but she said she still does not have time to hunt for fakes.	现在，史泰尼很少查看阿里巴巴，害怕看到她会发现的东西。今年3月的一天，在快速搜索阿里巴巴网站后，她发现了自己设计的一款吊坠的图片，她向阿里巴巴报告了此事。现在，那款商品不在那个平台上了，但她说她还是没时间去搜索假货。
"You're losing out on money," she said, "because time is money."	"那样你就等于是亏钱，"她说，"因为时间就是金钱。"
Alibaba did not respond to a request for comment on Ms. Stennett's predicament.	阿里巴巴没有回应关于史泰尼困境的置评请求。
In Los Angeles, Color Long simply had no idea how to tackle her counterfeiting problem. The 46-year-old founder of the clothing line Reignland Concept started creating, sewing and selling her children's wear and marketing it online in 2015. Even today, she makes most of the 200 pieces of clothing she sells each month herself, with one assistant.	洛杉矶的科洛·朗(Color Long)根本不知道该如何应对假货问题。46岁的朗是Reignland Concept服装系列的创始人，2015年，她开始设计、缝制和销售童装，并在网上推广。即使到现在，她每月所售出的200件衣服中，大部分依然是她在一名助手的帮助下亲手制作的。
Last year, a friend told her that she had found her designs being sold by a store in Australia. Confused, Ms. Long contacted the proprietor, who informed her she had purchased the clothing on Alibaba.com and had no idea the designs were originally from Reignland. Ms. Long did not know she could ask Alibaba for assistance in removing these counterfeits. Instead, she contacted several shops, which, in some cases, have cooperated and removed the offending products. But Ms. Long blames the spread of copies from Alibaba for the sudden decline in sales of one of her best-selling products, a pair of children's pants.	朗不知道自己可以要求阿里巴巴协助撤下这些假冒商品。她联系了几家店铺，在某些情况下，这些店铺愿意合作，撤下了假冒产品。不过，朗指责阿里巴巴假货的泛滥导致她的一条畅销童裤销量突然下滑。

Mr. Hankerson had worked at his father's financial firm and in I.T. services, building websites, before he began tinkering with furniture.	汉克森开始鼓捣家具之前，曾在父亲的金融公司和 IT 行业工作，负责建立网站。
He unexpectedly started Vintage in 2009, when his wife said she wanted a new patio table. Mr. Hankerson hammered one together and posted a picture on a website. He began making more tables and advertising them on the internet, too. "I loved the experience so much that I just wanted to make a better table," he said. "Like a mad artist."	2009 年，他的妻子说想要一张新的露台餐桌，他因此意外地创立了 Vintage 公司。汉克森敲敲打打，做出了一张桌子，并把它的照片发布在一个网站上。他开始制作更多的桌子，也在互联网上推广。“我非常喜欢这种经历，我只想做一张更好的桌子，”他说，“就像一个疯狂的艺术师。”
Today, the Vintage factory is abuzz with the sounds of welding, sawing and hammering. There is one nod to modern automation — a recently acquired computerized steel-cutting machine — but much of the manufacturing is done by specially trained employees with woodworking or metalworking skills.	如今，Vintage 的工厂充满焊接、锯切和锤击的声音。最近，他购买了一个电脑切割机，算是实现了一点现代自动化，但大部分生产是由经专门培训，具有木工或金属加工技能的员工完成的。
While his business was quickly growing, Mr. Hankerson had no idea counterfeiters were profiting off his work as well.	虽然汉克森的公司很快壮大了，但他并不知道假冒者也在从他的工作中渔利。

One furniture maker in India, Raja Rani Art Handicrafts, said two pieces of furniture it sells on Alibaba.com are based on Mr. Hankerson's designs. "This design is from Vintage Industrial, but we also manufacture the same design in our company," said Bobby Shukhla, who answered queries from The New York Times.	印度家具制造商拉贾·拉尼艺术品公司(Raja Rani Art Handicrafts)表示,它在阿里巴巴网站销售的两件家具是基于汉克森的设计。“这个设计来自Vintage Industrial,但是我们公司也生产相同的设计。”鲍比·舒克拉(Bobby Shukhla)在回复《纽约时报》的询问时说。
Mr. Hankerson tried contacting sellers directly, asking them to take down his images. Most of them complied. He was also encouraged when Alibaba staff members removed all of the photos he targeted on Alibaba.com through its infringement-fighting process.	汉克森试着直接联系卖家,要求他们撤掉他的图片。大多数卖家同意配合。阿里巴巴员工撤掉了他通过打击侵权流程在Alibaba.com网站上找到的所有照片,这也令他受到鼓舞。

He tried submitting and resubmitting the required paperwork on the site, even on different computers, only to have it return error messages.	不过之后他遇到了困难。去年,本来他可以向阿里巴巴发送移除可疑照片请求的网站停止运行了。他用不同的电脑在该网站上多次尝试提交所需的文件,结果都因信息错误而被退回。
An Alibaba spokesman, in written responses, said that in October the company started an improved online system through which companies and people can report possible infringement on any of its platforms. He argued that he shouldn't have to go to such lengths to get Alibaba to act. Once Alibaba has been made aware of his company's intellectual property, he said, the firm should proactively prevent additional postings of his photos or clean any suspect products from its platforms. Yet despite Alibaba's boast to the U.S.T.R., combing the millions of listings could be difficult or expensive.	汉克斯认为自己不应该费这么大力气才迫使阿里巴巴采取行动。他认为，阿里巴巴一旦知道知识产权属于他的公司，就应该主动防止他的更多照片被发布，或清理自己平台上的任何可疑产品。然而，尽管阿里巴巴向美国贸易代表办公室夸下海口，但筛查成百上千万件商品可能是困难或昂贵的。
Mr. Hankerson tracks images with the help of a service called Plaghunter, which both regularly monitors the use of his photos on the web, including Alibaba's sites, and allows him to conduct a search when needed. What frustrated him the most, he said, is that the same photos keep appearing on the company's marketplaces.	汉克森借助一个名为 Plaghunter 的软件追踪这些图片，该软件能够定期监视他的照片在网上的使用情况——包括在阿里巴巴的网站上——还能让他在需要时进行搜索。他说，最令他沮丧的是，同样的照片不断出现在阿里巴巴的市场上。
"It should be click and forget," he said. "Our products should never be on their site."	"这本来应该是一劳永逸的，"他说，"我们的产品本应该再也不会出现在他们的网站上。"
An Alibaba spokesman said the company had tried to work with Mr. Hankerson to remove his images and resolve his technical problems. Mr. Hankerson remains unmollified. He is talking to lawyers about his options and is trying to rally other small-business owners to the cause.	汉克森依然没有释怀。他在和律师商谈自己还可以采取哪些行动，并试图召集其他小企业主参与这项事业。

China’s Taxes on Imported Cars Feed Trade Tensions With U.S.	汽车进口税突显中美贸易冲突加深
BEIJING — A Jeep Wrangler can cost $30,000 more in China than in the United States — and the reasons illustrate a growing point of tension between the two countries.	北京——一辆牧马人吉普车(Jeep Wrangler)在中国的售价可以比美国多出 3 万美元，其中的原因显示出导致两个国家关系日益紧张的一个问题。
Manufactured in Toledo, Ohio, the Wrangler is a descendant of the Jeeps that were used by American forces in World War II. Equipped with a 3.6-liter engine and a five-speed automatic transmission, the Rubicon edition of the Wrangler has a suggested retail price of $40,530 in the United States.	在俄亥俄州托莱多制造的牧马人是美国军方在二战期间使用的吉普车发展而来。配备有 3.6 升发动机、五速自动变速器的鲁比肯(Rubicon)版牧马人在美国的建议零售价是 40530 美元。
But in China, the same vehicle would set a buyer back by a hefty $71,000, mostly because of taxes that Beijing charges on every car, minivan and sport utility vehicle that is made in another country and brought to China’s shores.	但在中国，同样的汽车则会卖出 7.1 万美元的高价，这主要是因为北京对每辆在其他国家生产、来中国销售的轿车、小型货车和 SUV 收税。
Those taxes on imported cars have become a growing area of friction between the United States and China. American former officials and current advisers to President Trump say that concern about the widening United States deficit in automotive trade has become a pressing issue ahead of the president’s meeting in Florida next month	这些对进口汽车征收的税已经成为一个引发越来越多中美冲突的领域。美国前任官员和特朗普现任顾问表示，对日益扩大的美国汽车贸易逆差的担忧，已经成为特朗普于下周在佛罗里达与中国国家主席习近平举行会晤前一个急需考虑的问题。

Hinting at potentially tough talks to come, Lawrence H. Summers, a former Treasury secretary, raised the issue of auto trade in the first question to Li Keqiang, China's premier, at a closed-door meeting on Monday, participants in the meeting said on the condition of anonymity because the discussions were private.	在周一举行的一场闭门会议中，前财政部长劳伦斯·H·萨默斯(Lawrence H. Summers)一上来就向中国国务院总理李克强提起了汽车贸易问题，这多少显示了即将进行的谈判的艰难程度，该消息来自几名与会人士，由于是私人谈话，他们要求在本文中匿名。
Mr. Li did not answer the question directly, the people said, instead responding that every country faced trade issues, and that China had its own trade deficits with a few countries, like Australia, from which it imports a lot of raw material.	他们表示，李克强没有直接回答那个问题，而是表示每个国家都有自己的贸易问题，中国也对几个国家存在贸易逆差，比如澳大利亚——中国从那里进口了许多原料。
President Trump has made trade a major issue, saying he wants a level playing field and similar terms on both sides. Due in part to China's taxes, less than 5 percent of cars in the country are imported, compared with one-quarter in the United States. Major American, European and Japanese carmakers have built huge assembly factories in China with the help of local partners, contributing to China's rise as the world's largest automaker.	特朗普让贸易成为一个主要问题，称他想要一个公平的贸易环境，希望双方有相似的待遇。中国的进口车占比不足5%，一定程度上是因为进口税，相比之下，美国的进口车则占到四分之一。美国、欧洲和日本的大汽车厂商在当地合作伙伴的帮助下，在中国建造了巨大的装配工厂，为中国成为世界上最大的汽车制造国做出了贡献。
Mostly because of taxes in China, "an imported car can be double the price when compared with a domestically produced car," said Bill Russo, the former chief executive of Chrysler China. "This acts as a powerful motivation, especially for mass-market brands, to localize their products in China."	"一辆进口车的价格会比在国内生产的汽车的价格高出一倍，"主要是因为中国的税，前克莱斯勒中国公司首席执行官罗威(Bill Russo)说。"这成为汽车厂商在中国将产品本地化的一个强大动因，尤其是对大众品牌而言。"
But the dynamics are complex. The American auto industry, which has come to depend on China as a major source of revenue, has been largely quiet despite Mr. Trump's rhetoric. Building cars in China keeps	但事情并不是那么简单。美国汽车业将中国市场作为主要收入来源，对它日益依赖，因此尽管特朗普大肆指责，这些厂商却大体保持沉默。在中国生产汽车让他们与规模巨大的中国供应链距离很近，可以节省运输费用。

them close to a vast Chinese supply chain and saves on transportation costs.
Companies like Fiat Chrysler, the manufacturer of the Wrangler, also set prices in China that allow somewhat higher profit margins.	牧马人的制造商菲亚特克莱斯勒汽车公司(Fiat Chrysler)等汽车厂商也在中国设置比较高的价格，以便获得更高的利润空间。
Pricing can depend on factors like taxes, shipping, certification costs, equipment options, the size of the market and other details, said Ariel Gavilan, a Fiat Chrysler spokesman, in an emailed reply to questions. "We also take a look at the competitive landscape — i.e. what are the prices of the vehicles we compete against — before determining our pricing strategy."	菲亚特克莱斯勒发言人阿里埃尔·加维兰(Ariel Gavilan)在一封回答时报问题的邮件中表示，定价取决于许多因素，比如税务、运输、认证费用、配置选择，以及市场规模等其他细节问题。“在确定自身的定价策略之前，我们也会看看眼前的竞争格局——比如我们的竞争对手设定的价格。”
Industry figures have also long talked about the possibility of exporting big volumes of China-made cars to the United States. In an early test, General Motors started shipping the Buick Envision model from a factory in eastern China's Shandong Province to the United States last year. That decision irritated the United Automobile Workers union. G.M. officials said that the Envision, a midsize sport utility vehicle, was designed for the Chinese market and is made only at the Shandong factory.	业内人士也一直在谈论将大量在中国生产的汽车出口至美国的可能性。通用汽车公司(General Motors)早前进行了尝试，从去年开始将中国东部省份山东一家工厂生产的别克昂科威(Buick Envision)车型运到美国。这项决策激怒了全美汽车工人联合会(United Automobile Workers)。通用汽车的高管表示，中型SUV昂科威是为中国市场设计，只在那家山东工厂生产。
There is only a small chance that Chinese automakers would set up assembly plants in the United States, the way Japanese automakers did in the 1980s to allay trade tensions. China's highly fragmented industry includes a number of fairly small manufacturers producing low-cost models, making the economics difficult, while Chinese automakers must still deal with quality problems.	中国汽车厂商不太可能像日本汽车厂商在上世纪80年代为缓解贸易紧张关系所做的那样，在美国建立装配厂。中国的汽车行业高度分散，有许多制造低端车型、规模非常小的制造商，导致了棘手的经济状况，而且中国汽车厂商还必须解决质量问题。
Parts are also an issue. In January, the most recent month for which	零部件也是个问题。今年1月，也就是可以获得数据的最近一个月份，美国

data is available, the United States had $817 million in automotive exports to China, including finished cars and auto parts, and $1.71 billion in automotive imports.	对中国的汽车出口额为 8.17 亿美元——其中既包括整车，也包括零部件——汽车进口额则达到 17.1 亿美元。
Still, American negotiators might have better luck in that area, as some Chinese parts makers are already investing in the United States to diversify. Fuyao, one of the world's largest makers of automotive glass, has built a large factory in Ohio to supply car-assembly plants in the state. Officials with Fuyao have been criticized on social media in China, however, for investing offshore instead of keeping jobs within China.	不过，在这方面美国谈判人员或许更走运一些，因为一些中国零件制造商为扩大业务已经开始在美国进行投资。世界上最大的汽车玻璃制造商福耀在俄亥俄州建造了一个大型工厂，以便给该州的汽车装配厂供货。然而，福耀的高管在中国的社交媒体上却受到指责，原因是他们在海外进行投资，没有把工作机会留在国内。
Fuyao declined to comment on its plans in the United States.	福耀拒绝就它在美国的计划置评。
Yale Zhang, the managing director of Automotive Foresight, a Shanghai consulting firm, said that Fuyao's Ohio factory could be the start of a larger trend that might help soothe trade frictions.	上海咨询公司汽车市场预测(Automotive Foresight)总经理张豫(Yale Zhang)表示，福耀在俄亥俄州的工厂有可能是一个更大的趋势的开端，这个趋势或许有助于减少两国的贸易摩擦。
"Those large local suppliers are willing to invest in the U.S.," he said. "It won't be a major issue for those large, local suppliers. They are willing to do that."	"这些本地大供应商愿意在美国投资，"他说。"对它们来说，那不是个大问题。他们愿意那么做。"

Airbnb's Rivals in China Hold Hands in a Nervous New Market	Airbnb 深耕中国市场的雄心面临挑战
HONG KONG — Sun Huifeng liked the idea of tapping Airbnb or one of its rising local competitors to rent out his spare Beijing bedroom.	香港——孙慧峰喜欢通过 Airbnb 或其他当地正在兴起的竞争对手的网站出租自己在北京的空卧室。
The problem: He didn't like the idea of a stranger in his house.	问题是，他不喜欢陌生人来家里住的想法。
"I mainly worry about the quality of guests," said Mr. Sun, 31, a marketer for an information technology company. "Or, to speak more plainly, I was even worried that some criminals might come."	孙慧峰在一家信息技术公司担任市场营销员，他说，"我主要是担心客人的素质。或者更直截了当地说，我甚至担心一些罪犯可能会来住。"

Airbnb sees big promise in China, where travel spending reached nearly $500 billion in 2015 thanks to a new generation of domestic tourists. On Wednesday in Shanghai, Airbnb unveiled a new Chinese name — Aibiyang, which means “welcome each other with love” — as well as efforts to increase local hiring and deals to draw visitors to Shanghai with offers such as behind-the-scenes visits to the Chinese opera.	Airbnb 在中国看到了很大的前景，由于新一代国内游客的涌现，中国 2015 年的旅游市场已达到近 5000 亿美元的规模。Airbnb 周三在上海推出了一个新的中文名称“爱彼迎”，意思是“用爱来欢迎彼此”，公司也在努力招聘更多的当地雇员，并用各种优惠来吸引游客来上海，比如提供沪剧剧场的后台游。
“Our mission is to create a world where anyone can belong anywhere,” Brian Chesky, Airbnb's chief executive, said in Shanghai on Wednesday. “If we are going to achieve our mission of belonging anywhere, anywhere must include China, and anyone must include Chinese travelers.”	“我们的使命是，创造一个所有的人在所有地方都有归属感的世界，”Airbnb 的首席执行官布莱恩·切斯基(Brian Chesky)周三在上海表示。“如果我们要实现我们在所有地方都有归属感的使命，所有地方必须包括中国在内，所有的人必须包括中国游客在内。”
But like other global tech firms with an eye on China, Airbnb faces challenges. Chief among them are domestic versions of the site, including Xiaozhu and another rival, Tujia, that offer more local listings. To counter Airbnb's advantage with cosmopolitan Chinese who may have used its service in New York, Paris or Tokyo, the competitors are taking big steps to educate other skeptical Chinese about renting out — and crashing in — a spare bedroom.	但是，和其他渴望中国市场的全球技术公司一样，Airbnb 面临着挑战。其中最大的挑战是包括“小猪”和另一个竞争对手“途家”在内的国内同类网站，这些网站上有更多的本地信息。Airbnb 对也许在纽约、巴黎或东京使用过其服务的见过世面的中国人有吸引力，为了抵消 Airbnb 的这种优势，国内的竞争对手正在积极采取行动，教育其他持怀疑态度的中国人，如何将多余的卧室出租赚钱。

getting used to.
"There is a manager behind every property," said Kelvin Chen, the chief executive of Xiaozhu. "We still need time to educate our users."	"每处房产背后都有一名经理,"小猪首席执行官陈驰说。"我们仍需要很多时间来教育我们的客户。"
Airbnb offers the latest gauge of whether an American technology company can make it in a politically and commercially thorny market. The government blocks Google, Facebook and Twitter. Uber and the online arm of Walmart bowed in the face of intense domestic competition and sold their businesses to local rivals.	Airbnb 为美国技术公司是否能在一个政治上和商业上棘手的市场中站住脚,提供了一次最新的检验。中国政府封锁了谷歌、Facebook 和 Twitter 的网站。Uber、以及沃尔玛的在线业务,在激烈的国内竞争面前退下阵来,已将自己的业务出售给了当地的对手。
Perhaps mindful of its regulatory scuffles in the United States and Europe, Airbnb is taking a careful approach in China. It has worked out agreements with Chinese tech giants like Alibaba and Tencent. It has also teamed up with officials in cities like Shanghai to promote tourism.	或许是因为对在美国和欧洲的监管冲突记忆犹新, Airbnb 正在中国采取一种谨慎的策略。它与阿里巴巴和腾讯等中国科技巨头公司达成协议。还与上海等城市的官员合作,推动旅游业发展。
Crucially, like LinkedIn, another international hopeful in China, Airbnb complies with Chinese laws requiring it to keep Chinese data only on domestically based Chinese servers. That could expose it to requests from the Chinese surveillance authorities to track any of its users. Last year, Airbnb sent a message to its users in China informing them that data would be stored in the country.	至关重要的是,就像另一个有望在中国取得成功的国际公司领英(LinkedIn)一样, Airbnb 遵守中国的法规——要求它将中国的数据只保存在位于中国的服务器上。由此,它可能会被中国监管当局要求追踪用户信息的请求。去年, Airbnb 给中国用户发了一条信息,表示他们的数据将被保存在中国的服务器上。
For Airbnb, which has only about 80,000 listings in China, its more than three million listings around the world put it in a strong position to cater to the millions of Chinese who travel overseas each year. It also has outreach efforts, like informational events for hosts and occasional promotions offering free photography for hosts with apartments they want to rent out.	对于在中国只有大约 8 万个房源的 Airbnb 来说,遍布世界各地的超过 300 万个房源,令它在满足每年数百万去海外旅游的中国游客的需求方面拥有了巨大优势。它也有一些延伸服务,比如为房东举办国际活动,有时也免费给房东和他们想租出去的公寓拍照。

Natasia Guo, a longtime Airbnb host and entrepreneur in China, said most visitors tended to be younger, while the odd middle-aged guest did not seem to understand how the service was supposed to work. Of one 40-year-old guest, she said: "He treated my place like a hotel. And the reason I say that is he started smoking in the room."	娜塔西亚·郭(Natasia Guo)是一名中国创业者，长期在 Airbnb 上出租自己的房子。她表示大多数住客往往比较年轻，零星的几个中年住客似乎不太会用这种服务。她这样谈起其中一位 40 岁的房客：“他把我家当成了旅馆。我这么说，是因为他开始房间里抽烟。”
"I think he was using one of our bowls as an ashtray," she said.	“好像他当时拿了我的一个碗当烟灰缸使，”她说。
Xiaozhu, which has about 140,000 listings, seeks to reassure hosts against such problems. It also works with the internet censorship department and the public security bureau, which helps weed out users with a criminal record. For the benefit of guests, it offers its own cleaning services as well as training events to teach hosts how to get along with customers and decorate their homes.	有 14 万条房源的小猪短租竭力打消房东的这种顾虑。它也和互联网审查部门和公安局合作，这有助于剔除有犯罪记录的住户。为房客的利益考虑，小猪短租提供自己的清洁服务，也举办培训活动教房东如何与客人相处，如何装饰自己的房子。
Tujia, a competitor with more than 420,000 listings, more directly manages many of the apartments it showcases, either itself or through management firms. In some cases, it works with property developers sitting on unsold units. For those it does not manage, it conducts inspections and also maintains a blacklist of problematic guests. Many of Tujia's users stay for a longer period of time or use the properties for vacation.	有 42 万条房源的竞争对手途家会更直接地对网站上展示的许多公寓进行管理——自己管理或通过管理公司。有时候还和有未出售单元的房地产开发商合作。对于那些并非由途家管理的出租房屋，它会进行检查，还维护着一个问题房客黑名单。途家有不错用户租住时间更长，或是在度假时租住。

Zhu Jiamin, a 28-year-old from Shanghai, said he just started hosting on Airbnb, in part because of the positive experiences he had traveling overseas using the site and other services like Couchsurfing. He said he had no problem having long conversations with guests or sometimes showing them around. Other friends rent out apartments and pull out the stops to attract guests.	28岁的上海居民朱家明(音)表示，他刚开始在Airbnb上出租房间，促使他这么做的一部分原因在于，他在国外旅行时使用这个网站和Couchsurfing等其他服务，给他留下了好印象。他表示跟房客长时间聊天或偶尔带他们游览，对他来说没有问题。他有其他朋友也出租自己公寓，他们会使出浑身解数吸引住客。

Chinese firms have become significant investors in American start-ups working on cutting-edge technologies with potential military applications. The start-ups include companies that make rocket engines for spacecraft, sensors for autonomous navy ships, and printers that make flexible screens that could be used in fighter-plane cockpits. Many of the Chinese firms are owned by state-owned companies or have connections to Chinese leaders.	在具有潜在军事应用的尖端技术领域，中国企业已经成为美国初创公司的重要投资者。这些初创公司中有些制造航天器火箭发动机、自主海军船舶传感器，有些制造可以给战斗机驾驶舱印刷柔性屏幕的设备。这些中国投资者中有很多都隶属于国企，或者是和中国领导人有联系。
The deals are ringing alarm bells in Washington. its economy.
The white paper, which was distributed to the senior levels of the Trump administration this week, concludes that United States government controls that are supposed to protect potentially critical technologies are falling short, according to three people knowledgeable about its contents, who spoke on the condition of anonymity.	三位不愿具名的知情人士说, 这本白皮书本周分发到了特朗普政府的高级别官员手中, 它总结说, 美国政府本来应该保护这些潜在的关键技术, 但目前的控制力度还不够。
"What drives a lot of the concern is that China is a military competitor," said James Lewis, a senior fellow at the Center for Strategic and International Studies, who is familiar with the report. "How do you deal with a military competitor playing in your most innovative market?"	"中国在军事上是美国的竞争者, 这引发了大量担忧, "国际战略研究中心 (Center for Strategic and International Studies)高级研究员詹姆斯·刘易斯 (James Lewis)表示, "你的军事竞争对手成为了你最有创新力的市场上的玩家, 你要拿它怎么办? "
The Chinese deals can pose a number of issues. Investors could push start-ups to strike partnerships or make licensing or hiring decisions that could expose intellectual property. They can also get an inside glimpse of how technology is being developed and could have access to a start-up's offices or computers.	中国的这些交易可能会带来一些问题。投资者可以向初创公司施加压力, 以达成合作伙伴关系, 做出可能会曝露知识产权的授权或招聘决定。他们还可以深入了解技术是如何开发的, 可以使用初创公司的办公室或计算机。
Trump administration officials and lawmakers are raising broad questions about China's economic relationship with the United States. While the report was commissioned before President Trump took office, some Republicans have called for tighter regulation of foreign takeovers by giving a broader mandate to the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States. Known as Cfius, the committee reviews foreign takeovers of American companies, but critics say that its scope does not include smaller deals and that it has other weak spots.	对于中美经济关系, 特朗普政府官员和立法者正在提出一系列涵盖面广泛的问题。虽然报告是在特朗普总统上任之前委托制作的, 但一些共和党人已经在呼吁对国外收购案进行更加严格的管制, 他们要求向审查外国收购美国公司状况的美国外国投资委员会 (Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States, 简称 Cfius) 授予更大的权限, 然而批评者说, 该委员会的工作范围不包括规模较小的交易, 而且它还有其他薄弱环节。
Ashton B. Carter, former secretary of defense under President Barack Obama, had tapped Mike A. Brown, the former chief executive of	据两位了解白皮书内容的人士透露, 奥巴马政府的国防部长阿什顿·B·卡特 (Ashton B. Carter)找到了网络安全公司赛门铁克公司(Symantec)前首席执

Symantec, the cybersecurity firm, to lead the inquiry into the Chinese investments, according to two of the people aware of the white paper's contents.	行官麦克·A·布朗(Mike A. Brown), 让他领导了这项对中国投资的调查。
A spokesman for the Department of Defense said it "will not discuss the details or components of draft internal working documents."	国防部发言人说, 他们“不会讨论内部工作文件草案的细节或内容”。
The size and breadth of the deals are not clear because start-ups and their backers are not obligated to disclose them. Over all, China has been increasingly active in the American start-up world, investing $9.9 billion in 2015, according to data from the research firm CB Insights, more than four times the level the year before.	这类交易的规模和广度并不清楚, 因为初创公司及其投资者没有义务披露这些信息。研究公司 CB Insights 的数据显示, 中国在美国创业界的行动日益活跃, 2015 年的投资额为 99 亿美元, 是 2008 年的四倍多。
Neither the high-tech start-ups nor their Chinese investors have been accused of wrongdoing, and experts said much of the activity could be innocent. Chinese investors have money and are looking for returns, while the Chinese government has pushed investment in ways to clean up China's skies, upgrade its industrial capacity and unclog its snarled highways. Proponents of the deals said American limits on technology exports would still apply to American start-ups with Chinese backers.	这些高科技初创公司及其中国投资者都没有被指控有不当行为, 专家们说, 这些活动大部分都是无害的。中国投资者手里有资金, 想要寻求回报, 而中国政府则想推动投资来改善污染状况, 提升产业能力, 解决高速公路拥堵问题。这些交易的支持者表示, 美国对技术出口的限制仍然适用于获得中国投资的美国初创公司。
But the fund flows fit China's pattern of using state-guided investment to help its industrial policy and enhance its technology holdings, as it has recently done with semiconductors. China has also carried out efforts to steal military-related technology.	但这种资金流动也符合中国的一种常规做法, 即利用国家指导的投资, 来帮助贯彻其产业政策, 增加技术持股, 就像中国在半导体领域那样。中国也在努力窃取军事相关技术。
Still, some start-ups — especially those making hardware rather than money-drawing mobile apps like Snapchat — said Chinese money was sometimes the only available funding. But even a company struggling for money can ultimately come up with a big breakthrough.	尽管如此, 一些初创公司, 尤其是那些开发硬件而不是 Snapchat 之类手机应用的初创公司, 称他们有时候能找到的唯一投资就来自于中国。而即使是一个缺钱的公司, 也可能会获得很大的突破。

Chinese investors have a bigger appetite for risk and a willingness to do deals fast, said Neurala's chief executive, Max Versace.	Neurala 的首席执行官麦克斯·凡塞斯(Max Versace)说, 中国投资者更愿意冒险, 而且也很愿意快速达成交易。

"We were told by the secretary of the Air Force, 'Your tech is awesome, we should put it everywhere,'" he said. "No one followed up."	"空军部长告诉我们, '你们的技术太棒了, 我们应该把它运用在所有地方,'" 他说。"但没有人跟进这件事。"
Neurala finally took a minority investment from a Chinese fund called Haiyin Capital as part of a $1.2 million round, Mr. Versace said. He did not disclose the size of Haiyin Capital's commitment. Haiyin Capital is backed by a state-run Chinese company, Everbright Group, according to a statement from one of its subsidiaries.	凡塞斯说, Neurala 终于从一只名叫海银资本的中国基金那里获得了少数投资, 加上这笔钱, 那一轮投资总共筹集了 120 万美元。他没有透露海银资本的投资条款。根据中国国有企业光大集团子公司的一份声明, 该集团是海银资本的大股东。
American military officials have "figured out a very good way to give $10 billion to Raytheon," he said. "But to give a start-up $1 million to develop a proof of concept? That's still very, very hard."	他说, 美国军方官员"想出了拨给雷神公司(Raytheon)100 亿美元的好办法", 他说。"但是要给一个初创公司 100 万美元, 做一个概念验证? 那还是非常非常困难的。"
Late last year, a research firm called Defense Group Inc. argued in a report prepared for Congress that the Neurala investment could give China access to the company's underlying technologies. It also said the deal could create enough uncertainty that American officials would steer clear of Neurala's technology, effectively wasting any American money that had gone into the firm.	去年年底, 一家名为防务集团(Defense Group Inc.)的研究公司在为国会编写的一份报告中表示, Neurala 获得的这笔投资, 可能会导致中国取得该公司的基础技术。报告还表示, 这笔交易可能产生足够大的不确定性, 让美国官员开始避开 Neurala 的技术, 从而浪费掉那些已经投入到该公司的美国资金。

To address concerns that it was not tapping innovations from start-ups, the Pentagon in 2015 set up a group called Defense Innovation Unit Experimental to enable investments into promising new companies. The unit also prepared the white paper.	为应对有关它没有发掘创业公司创新项目的担忧，五角大楼成立了国防创新实验小组(Defense Innovation Unit Experimental)，将投资引入有前景的新公司。尽管开始的时候举步维艰，但它在 2016 年帮助达成了一连串交易。白皮书也是由该小组准备的。

China's New Limits on Money Outflows Hit a Would-Be Paradise	中国严控资金外逃，海外购房热遭受打击
HONG KONG — China's intensifying efforts to keep money from leaving the country have cast doubt over big Hollywood deals and other marquee investments.	香港——中国不断加大力度阻止资金外流的措施，令跟好莱坞有关的大交易和其他大型投资蒙上了阴影。
Now, they are blocking Kitty Zhu from buying her dream home.	现在，它们又在阻碍姬蒂·朱(Kitty Zhu)购买梦寐以求的房子。
The 39-year-old Ms. Zhu, who runs a cosmetic center in the southern Chinese city of Zhuhai, is one of hundreds of Chinese investors who have bet money on an ambitious but troubled residential project in Malaysia. More than 1,200 miles from China, the $40 billion Forest City housing complex — when completed — will combine lushly green beachfront property with amenities for children and the elderly alike, according to its developer.	39岁的她在中国南方城市珠海经营着一个美容中心，是数百位在马来西亚一个宏伟但麻烦不断的住宅项目买房的中国投资者之一。这个名为森林城市的项目距离中国逾1200英里（约合1900公里），投资额为400亿美元（约合2800亿元人民币）。据开发商称，该项目建成后将有绿树成荫的海滨房产，又有针对儿童和老人的便利设施。
But while the developer is Chinese, the payments must be made in Malaysia. Ms. Zhu and other buyers now say they have run into problems making payments on their Forest City apartments.	尽管开发商是中国的，但付款却必须在马来西亚进行。姬蒂·朱和其他买家现在说，他们在森林城市买的公寓在付款上遇到了问题。
"I've lost confidence in this project and I don't want to pay any more," said Ms. Zhu, who has already paid nearly $44,000 of the $334,000 purchase price. "I told my salesman that I want a refund, but he just avoids me."	"我已经对这个项目失去信心了，不想再付钱了，"已经付了33.4万美元房款中的近4.4万美元的姬蒂·朱说。"我和我的销售说要退款，他就躲着我。"
Chinese officials are scrambling to keep money in its borders, and the efforts are hitting big companies and people like Ms. Zhu alike. China spent $1 trillion shoring up its currency since 2014 as big companies and regular investors shifted their money out of the country over worries about slowing economic growth and the prospect of better	中国官方正急着把资金留在境内，相关措施既打击了大公司，也影响到了像姬蒂·朱这样的普通人。自2014年以来，大公司和普通投资者因为担心逐渐放缓的经济增长，并希望在其他地方获得更好的回报，而纷纷把资金转移到国外，中国花了一万亿美元稳定币值。针对资金外流，中国对中国公民可在国外投资和使用信用卡的方式实行了新的限制。

returns elsewhere. In response, China has put new limits on the ways Chinese can invest and use their credit cards abroad.
The limits now appear to be hitting Chinese efforts to buy real estate globally. In December, China's currency foreign-exchange regulator said it would take a harder look at how some were buying property, among other investments. On Friday, the overseas arm of UnionPay, the state-owned firm that dominates bank card payment processing in China, said it would prohibit the use of its cards for cross-border property acquisitions.	现在，这些限制似乎影响到了中国人在全球买房的行动。去年12月，中国外汇监管机构称将更加严厉地审查海外购房等投资行为。周五，在中国境内的银行卡支付处理领域占主导地位的国有公司银联的海外部门表示，将禁止使用该公司旗下的银行卡在境外购买房产。
The moves could hit a large group: The Chinese invested $33 billion in overseas commercial and residential property deals last year, according to Jones Lang LaSalle, a real estate services firm. Building homes in overseas markets like Hong Kong, Malaysia, Australia or New York City and marketing them to investment-minded buyers back home has become a cottage industry for China's larger property developers, who also promote the strategy as a way to help export China's industrial overcapacity.	这些举措可能会打击一大群人：据房地产服务公司仲量联行(Jones Lang LaSalle)称，中国人去年在海外的商业和居住房产交易金额达330亿美元。在香港、马来西亚、澳大利亚或纽约市等海外市场建房，并把它们推销给国内有投资意识的买家已经成了中国较大的房地产开发商所热衷的事情。它们还把该策略宣传成一种帮助出口中国行业产能过剩的方式。
"It is a major problem for some developers that have megaprojects overseas, as it appears they sell, and were intended to sell, mainly to Chinese investors rather than local buyers," said Nigel Stevenson, an analyst at GMT Research in Hong Kong. "Anecdotally it does seem much harder for Chinese buyers to transfer money offshore to pay for properties," he added.	"对一些在海外有大型项目的开发商来说是个大问题，因为它们现在和计划中的销售对象似乎主要是中国投资者，而不是当地买家，"GMT Research 驻香港的分析师奈杰尔·史蒂文森(Nigel Stevenson)说。"根据传闻，中国买家现在把资金转移到境外买房的难度的确像是大大增加了，"他说。
Country Garden, the Chinese developer building Forest City in Malaysia, has also been affected. In a Chinese-language statement sent this	马来西亚森林城市项目的中国开发商碧桂园也受到了影响。《纽约时报》查看了该公司本月发给路透社(Reuters)的中文声明。在声明中，碧桂园称其决

A Country Garden spokeswoman said the closure of the sales centers was "not a knee-jerk reaction" to the policy and reflected a shift to selling internationally. Speaking to reporters in Hong Kong on Wednesday, Yeung Kwok-keung, the chairman and founder of Country Garden, skirted the question and struck the same point.	碧桂园的发言人表示，关闭销售中心不是对相关政策做出的“本能反应”，而是反映了面向国际销售的转变。周三在香港接受记者采访时，碧桂园董事长兼创始人杨国强(Yeung Kwok-Keung)避开了相关问题，并表达了同样的观点。
"This project is for sale to the entire world," Mr. Yeung said.	“这个项目面向全世界销售，”杨国强说。
Forest City bills itself as "a dream paradise for all mankind." A promotional video for the project highlights a special duty-free shopping zone and its proximity to Singapore, and includes video of tropical fish and sea turtles swimming in turquoise waters.	森林城市把自己宣传成“人间天堂”。该项目的宣传片突出了一个特别免税区和它接近新加坡的地理位置，还出现了热带鱼和海龟在碧蓝的水中游来游去的画面。
It is also surrounded by freighters. Just to the west of Forest City is Malaysia's Tanjung Pelepas container port, which is busier than the ports of Los Angeles or New York. Across the water in Singapore lies an industrial district.	该项目还被货船包围着。马来西亚比洛杉矶港和纽约港还要繁忙的集装箱港口丹戎帕拉帕斯(Tanjung Pelepas)，就在森林城市的西边。与它隔海相望的则是新加坡的一个工业区。

sculptures of seals perch incongruously in the equatorial heat.
For some, buyer's remorse has set in. On online forums in China, a number of Forest City home buyers said they suddenly found making their payment difficult.	有些买家已经开始后悔。在中国的网络论坛上，很多在森林城市买房的人说他们突然发现付款变难了。
Last year, Rafael Liu and his father were in the showroom of a Country Garden development in China's eastern Jiangsu province when they learned about the Forest City project in Malaysia.	去年，在碧桂园位于中国东部江苏省的一个项目展厅里，拉斐尔·刘和父亲听说了马来西亚森林城市这个项目。
"We felt that it could be a place for my father to go in the winter," said Mr. Liu, a 27-year-old banker from Nanjing. His father went on a buying tour last year to Malaysia and liked what he saw. When he came back to China, father and son went to a Country Garden sales office and paid more than 30 percent down on an apartment costing over $130,000.	"我们觉得那里可能适合父亲去过冬，"27岁的拉斐尔·刘说。他在南京从事银行业。去年，他父亲参加了去马来西亚的购房团，对看到的情况感到满意。回国后，他和拉斐尔·刘去了碧桂园的一个销售办事处，交了一套房子的首付款。那套房子总价超过13万美元，首付比例为30%。
Since then they have been transferring payments once every three months to a bank account in the southern city of Foshan, where Country Garden is based. But recently, the developer told Mr. Liu he could not make payments in China any more, and instead gave him details for accounts in Malaysia or Hong Kong to use. Mr. Liu balked, worried about violating China's restrictions on foreign currency transactions.	此后，他们每三个月就向南部城市佛山的一个银行账户付一次钱；碧桂园的总部就在佛山。但最近，开发商告诉刘先生，他不能再在中国付款了，让他把钱打到马来西亚或香港的账户。刘先生不乐意，担心这会违反中国的外币交易限制。
"I am not paying any more," he said.	"我不再付钱了，"他说。
But now he and his father are in limbo. They do not want to forfeit the 30 percent penalty for a refund. And pursuing arbitration could also result in steep legal fees.	但是现在他和父亲左右为难。他们不想因为退款而损失30%的罚金。申请仲裁可能也有高昂的法律费用。
Like many other Chinese developers, Country Garden has borrowed money from overseas, which could leave it vulnerable to any	与中国的很多开发商一样，碧桂园也从海外借了钱，如果中国的货币走弱，美国的利率上升，它就会处于险境。因为对公司来说，货币走弱后，偿还债

More than half of Country Garden's $12.8 billion in debt is denominated in American or Hong Kong dollars, though the company said on Wednesday that its overall cost of borrowing had declined.	务就会更加昂贵。碧桂园的债务为 128 亿美元,一半以上以美元或港币计价,虽然该公司周三表示其整体借款成本已经下降。
In domestic Malaysian politics, Forest City has also become something of a political lightning rod.	在马来西亚国内的政治中,森林城市也成为了某种政治引雷针。
The country's former prime minister, Mahathir Mohamad, has taken to his blog repeatedly to criticize the project — and the administration of current Prime Minister Najib Razak — for allegedly selling land, residency and other benefits to relatively affluent mainland Chinese and bringing little economic benefit to locals in return. Mr. Najib has rejected these criticisms, saying Malaysia is merely taking a page from Dubai's playbook by building giant projects to attract outside investors.	由于所谓向相对富裕的中国大陆华人出售土地、居住权等福利,但给当地人带来的经济回报非常少,该国前总理马哈蒂尔·穆罕默德(Mahathir Mohamad)在他的博客上多次批评了这个项目,以及现任总理纳吉布·拉扎克(Najib Razak)的管理方式。纳吉布否认了这些批评,说马来西亚只是在借鉴迪拜的做法,通过建立巨大的项目来吸引海外投资者。
In a blog entry March 13, Mr. Mahathir said he recently visited Forest City for the first time.	在 3 月 13 日的一篇博文中,马哈蒂尔说,他不久前第一次访问了森林城市。

But these withering findings on China's reforms come from a startling place: from within the government itself.	但这些关于改革效果不佳的发现，来自一个令人吃惊的地方：政府内部。
Just as striking, this unflattering report card from a Chinese state think tank — published this month with little fanfare — faults misconceived "top-level design" in policies, as well as local bureaucrats and state managers reluctant to change.	同样引人瞩目的是，这份直言不讳的报告来自一个中国官方智囊团，它在本月低调发表，批评政策中的“顶层设计”构想不当，也批评地方政府和国家管理者不愿意做出改变。
It concludes: "Reform has to some extent fallen into stalemate."	它得出结论是：“改革在一定的程度上陷入胶着状态。”
The report brings into focus a sharpening debate in China about economic priorities. Experts inside and outside China say the country's economy needs to be overhauled to continue growing fast enough to provide jobs and higher incomes for its people.	这份报告突显出中国关于经济优先事项的激烈辩论。中外专家都表示，中国经济需要动大手术，才能获得足以为公众提供就业机会、增加人民收入的持续增长速度。

meeting on Friday, according to state media. "Those who don't shoulder responsibility, who shirk the burden and go through the motions, must be held accountable."	革的，要严肃问责。”
The report comes ahead of a Communist Party leadership shake-up later this year that is likely to further solidify Mr. Xi's hold on power. While the report's few mentions of Mr. Xi are laudatory, it may add to arguments that he needs to move faster to fix economic problems.	报告发表于可能会进一步巩固习近平权力的共产党领导层大洗牌之前——大调整将在今年晚些时候进行。报告有几次以称颂的语气提到习近平，但它或许也证明了他必须加快解决经济问题。
Most prescriptions call for China to ease reliance on exports and government spending, nurture its growing ranks of middle-class consumers and let companies make decisions based on market forces instead of political mandates. Toward many of those ends, in 2013 Mr. Xi unveiled a set of 60 main reform goals.	绝大多数的建议都是在呼吁中国减少对出口和政府支出的依赖，培养正在增长的中产阶级消费者群体，让企业根据市场力量而不是政治任务做出决策。针对其中的许多目标，习近平在 2013 年就公布了 60 项主要改革目标。
The new report, a 217-page study titled "The Reform Obstruction Phenomenon," was written by researchers from the Economic System and Management Institute of China's National Development and Reform Commission, which steers policy on industry, energy and many other sectors. The head of the commission, He Lifeng, and his deputy, Liu He, both have ties to Mr. Xi. But nothing in the report suggests that it had their blessing. The authors declined to be interviewed.	这份名为《改革梗阻现象》的新报告篇幅达 217 页，由中国国家发展和改革委员会经济体制与管理研究所撰写。这家研究所指导工业、能源等多个领域的政策。委员会主任何立峰及副主任刘鹤都和习近平有联系。不过，报告并没有提及获得了他们的支持。报告作者拒绝接受采访。
Chinese leaders say they have struck the right balance between maintaining robust economic growth and jobs and fixing problems threatening long-term growth, such as excessive dependence on state investment. Their catchphrase is "progress through stability."	中国领导人说，他们在维持强劲的经济增长和就业机会与解决威胁长期增长的问题之间，比如对国家投资的过度依赖，已经取得了平衡。他们的说法是“保稳定促增长”。

indicates that some government insiders agree.
"There must be more political courage and wisdom," the report said. Despite the vision laid out in 2013, it said, "it's been quite difficult to reach consensus on specific reform measures, and there have even been policies at odds with this general direction."	"必须以更大的政治勇气和智慧,"该报告说。尽管这一愿景是在 2013 年提出的,"即较难形成具体改革措施的共识,甚至出现与大方向相左的决策。"
The report credits the government with some progress, including trimming red tape and abolishing the "one-child" policy that limited most urban families. But the researchers found that changes announced at the top often delivered less on the ground.	该报告把一些进展归功于政府,比如减少官僚作风,废除了限制大多数城市家庭的"独生子女"政策等。但是研究人员发现,顶层宣布的改变在基层的实施往往不力。
Efforts to redefine how different levels of government spend and tax have become mired in bureaucratic feuding. Local governments fear losing revenue from selling off land while they must pay for growing demands for services. Personal income and property tax changes have been discussed, "but ultimately it's brought loud thunder but little rain."	重新界定各级政府的支出和税收已经在官僚争执中陷入了困境。地方政府担心损失出售土地的收入,同时又必须为不断增长的服务需求买单。个人收入和财产税的变化已经有了讨论,"但最终都是雷声大雨点小。"
Repeated attempts to make hospital care less expensive and more accessible have been frustrated by bureaucratic rivalries and a failure to take on monopolistic hospitals and train more doctors, the report said. The result, it said, is that "seeing a doctor has become even more difficult."	报告说,因为官僚对抗,以及拿垄断性医院开刀、培训更多医生的努力失败,使得降低看病费用、让人们更容易获得医疗服务的多次努力受到了阻碍。报告称,结果就是"看病变得更难"。
China's hundreds of millions of migrant workers, who leave their farms and villages for jobs in the cities, usually don't qualify for urban benefits like health care or education for their children. Experts have called on China to ease up on the limits in order to help turn migrant workers into bigger consumers. But many cities have created point systems that still exclude them, the report said.	中国有亿万农民工离开农田和村庄到城市工作,他们通常无法享受医疗保健等城市福利,子女无法享受教育。专家呼吁中国放宽限制,帮助农民工转型为更大的消费者。报告说,很多城市建立了分数制度,仍然把农民工排除在外。

State companies — many of which suffer from overcapacity and heavy debt, burdening the broader economy — have resisted plans to rein them in while rival agencies have bickered over the direction of change.	国企——很多存在产能过剩和债台高筑的问题，导致整体经济承压——抵制对它们的控制计划，它们的竞争对手则对改革的方向持有异议。
“Over all, progress in every reform of state-owned firms has been quite sluggish,” it said.	“总体来看，国企改革在各项改革中进展较为缓慢，”报告说。
Above all, the report said, local officials have been besieged by conflicting demands to be both cautious and courageous, and have become allergic to taking risks that could end their careers or even land them in detention on charges of violating party discipline.	报告称，最重要的是，地方官员左右为难，对他们的要求相互冲突，既要让他们小心谨慎，又要让他们勇敢。他们变得不愿承担可能会终结其职业生涯、甚至导致他们以违反党纪的罪名被抓的风险。
“It’s an inescapable objective fact that the enthusiasm of many local governments to get things done has fallen greatly,” said the report. “The lack of vigor in implementing reform plans has become the most pressing difficulty in our country’s efforts to comprehensively deepen reform across the board.”	“许多地方政府做事的积极性下降不少，这是不得不面对的客观现实，”报告说。“改革方案落实不力已成为当前影响我国全面深化改革工作全局的最突出的矛盾。”
Instead, they say that the “top-level design” of promised reforms in state-owned business and other areas has been marred from inception by confusion, vagueness and unrealistic or conflicting demands.	他们说，从一开始，困惑、含糊和不切实际甚至相互矛盾的要求，就破坏了承诺中的国企和其他领域改革的“顶层设计”。
“Currently, a bigger reason why reforms in some of our country’s key sectors have had difficulty moving forward may lie in the thinking behind the top-level design of these reforms,” the report said.	“目前，我国一些关键领域改革迟迟难以推动，更大原因可能在于该领域改革顶层设计思路的问题，”报告说。
It added, “the source of the obstructions lies in the policy making.”	报告又接着说，“即梗阻根源在于决策。”
For example, the report said, a rule that slashed the salaries of managers	比如，报告说，国企管理层降薪的规定适得其反。“反而打击了央企积极性，

at state-owned companies backfired. "This undermined the enthusiasm of central state-owned enterprises, so they had even less vigor and dynamism," it said.	央企更没活力和动力，"报告说。
Some senior officials have also been making the case for more urgency in overhauling the economy.	一些高级官员也以此作为增加经济改革紧迫性的理由。
China's former finance minister, Lou Jiwei, said at a forum in Beijing this month that governments were using debt sustained by lax monetary and financial policies to delay making difficult changes. He didn't name China but did not exclude it, either.	中国前财政部长楼继伟本月在北京的一个论坛上说，政府利用宽松的货币和财政政策支撑的债务手段推迟进行困难的改革。他没有说出中国的名字，但也没有把中国排除在外。
"This has made people unwilling to endure the pain of reform," said Mr. Lou, who stepped down from the ministry in November and now runs the state agency that manages social security funds.	"使得人们不愿意忍受改革的阵痛，"去年 11 月卸任财政部长一职，现任全国社保基金理事会理事长的楼继伟说。
Mr. Xi said in 2015 that his reforms faced "obstruction," and the party has said that his elevation to "core" leader — a vague but powerful title he received last year — was intended to help push through difficult economic changes.	习近平曾在 2015 年说他领导的改革面临"梗阻"，共产党称他上升为"核心"领导人——这是他去年获得的一个模糊但权力巨大的头衔——是为了帮助推动困难重重的经济改革。
But the researchers also urge the government to become more open and consultative in drawing up policy — something that may not come easily to Mr. Xi, who has centralized power and warned officials against bending orders.	但研究人员也呼吁政府在制定政策时变得更加开放，多进行商讨。对集中权力并警告官员不得变通命令的习近平来说，这一点可能不容易。
"Give local officials more room to explore and experiment," the report said. "Don't settle scores with them even if their efforts fail."	"给予地方干部更大的探索实验空间，"报告说。"即使失败了事后也不要算旧账。"

Didi Chuxing, China's Ride-Hailing Giant, Holds Talks With SoftBank	滴滴出行可能获得软银数十亿美元投资

HONG KONG — Didi Chuxing, a company in China that last year bested Uber in that huge ride-sharing market, is in negotiations to get SoftBank of Japan to take part in a multibillion-dollar investment round, according to people familiar with the talks.	香港——据熟悉情况的人士称，中国公司滴滴出行正在进行谈判，希望让日本的软银(SoftBank)参加一轮数十亿美元的投资。去年，它在中国庞大的网约车市场上打败了优步(Uber)。
Should a deal be reached, it could be the latest big bet that SoftBank's eccentric leader, Masayoshi Son, has placed on a significant technology company. Mr. Son has been raising $100 billion for what he calls the SoftBank Vision Fund and has already pledged to invest $50 billion and create 50,000 jobs in the United States. While it is unclear whether that fund is involved in the talks over Didi Chuxing, analysts say it could be further used to make sizable investments in big, global tech companies.	如果达成协议，这可能是软银古怪的掌舵人孙正义(Masayoshi Son)最新一次押宝重要的科技企业。孙正义一直在努力为他的软银愿景基金(SoftBank Vision Fund)筹集 1000 亿美元（约合 7000 亿元人民币）资金，并已承诺在美国投资 500 亿美元，创造 5 万个就业岗位。尽管尚不清楚围绕滴滴出行的谈判是否涉及该基金，但分析人士称，它可能会被进一步用来大规模投资大型跨国科技企业。

Since the company bought Uber's business in China in the summer to form a business valued at $35 billion, it has been mired in regulatory pressures.	与软银达成协议也有助于以苹果(Apple)等为重要支持者的滴滴出行应对一连串的困难。自去年夏天收购优步在中国的业务、变成了一家估值 350 亿美元的企业后，该公司面临诸多监管压力。
Still, executives at the company have said that they harbor international ambitions, and it is pushing aggressively to catch up in the development of driverless car technologies. A deal with SoftBank is also intended to increase Didi Chuxing's value, said one of the people familiar with the talks.	但该公司的高管仍表示他们有国际化的雄心，并称公司正在大力推进，以便参与到无人驾驶技术的发展中。其中一名熟悉谈判情况的人士称，与软银达成协议也是为了提高滴滴出行的估值。
It is unclear whether Didi Chuxing will reach a deal with SoftBank and at what amount or whether it will involve other investors. The people familiar with the talks spoke on the condition of anonymity because they were not authorized to speak publicly about the discussions. Bloomberg earlier reported the talks on Tuesday.	尚不清楚滴滴出行是否将与软银达成协议，达成的金额是多少，以及是否会涉及其他投资者。熟悉谈判情况的人士要求不具名，因为他们无权公开谈论谈判情况。彭博社(Bloomberg)早前于周二报道了谈判一事。

The fund-raising efforts by Didi Chuxing show how foreign investors currently value dominance in China, an internet market largely closed to foreign competition that has the largest smartphone-using populace in the world. A new multibillion-dollar round would also put Didi roughly on par with the total funds raised by Uber. It has also raised money at home from the two biggest internet companies in China: Alibaba, an e-commerce giant, and Tencent, a games and social media conglomerate.	滴滴出行的融资行动表明了外国投资者现在对在中国占主导地位的重视。作为一个基本不对外开放的互联网市场，中国的智能手机用户规模是全球最大的。数十亿美元的新一轮融资可能还会让滴滴在总融资额上与优步不相上下。该公司已从中国国内两个最大的互联网公司那里拿到了融资，它们分别是电商巨头阿里巴巴和游戏与社交媒体集团腾讯。
Didi Chuxing's longer-term expansion is likely to be closely watched as a touchstone of the prospects of China's homegrown internet champions. The company has a number of high-profile investors, both Chinese and foreign, and whether it develops important technology for autonomous cars or is able to expand into other markets will become a new barometer for the abilities of companies that have grown large in China's relatively isolated market.	滴滴出行的长期扩张可能会受到密切关注，当作中国本土互联网王牌企业前景的试金石。该公司有大量引人注目的投资者，既有中国的，也有外国的。它是否能开发出重要的自动驾驶汽车技术或是否能够进入其他市场，将成为新的晴雨表，用来考量那些在中国相对孤立的市場里发展壮大起来的公司能力。
Along with receiving a bigger valuation, analysts said Didi would most likely use the money to invest in next-generation technology, like autonomous vehicles, and potentially also on international expansion, though the company has so far done little outside its domestic market.	分析人士称，除获得更高的估值外，滴滴极有可能把这笔钱用在投资下一代技术，如自动驾驶车辆，可能还有国际扩张，尽管迄今为止，该公司在国外市场几乎没有什么动作。
Didi has been content to invest in and work with a band of similar ride-hailing companies in India, Southeast Asia and America. The partners include Uber's main rival in the United States, Lyft. It is uncertain whether Didi would consider introducing its own service to challenge those partners as part of an international push, look to other markets in developing countries or continue to invest in promising	滴滴愿意投资并与印度、东南亚和美国的一批类似的叫车服务企业合作。其合作伙伴包括优步在美国的主要竞争对手 Lyft。尚不确定滴滴会不会考虑引入自己的服务以挑战那些合作伙伴作为国际扩张的一部分、进入其他发展中国家市场或继续投资前景看好的公司。

Even so, the company has put money into recruiting foreign talent. In March, Didi said it was creating a research and development lab in Silicon Valley that is focused on developing artificial-intelligence technologies to help with security and driverless cars. It also said that it would use A.I. to aid it in the data analytics required to improve transportation in China's many traffic-snarled cities. As a part of the effort, the company poached Charlie Miller, a well-known computer scientist who once worked for Uber.	即便如此，该公司已经在出资招募外国人才了。3月，滴滴称正在硅谷创建一个研发实验室。该实验室的重点是开发人工智能技术，以帮助改善安全和无人驾驶汽车技术。该公司还表示将利用人工智能协助其进行数据分析。在中国很多交通拥堵的城市，要改善交通状况，必须进行数据分析。作为这项行动的一部分，滴滴挖来了曾任职于优步的著名计算机科学家查理·米勒(Charlie Miller)。
Yet even as it speeds ahead with technology, Didi has faced a more prosaic challenge at home. New rules in China that have required drivers in some of the country's biggest cities to have registration documents have pinched the company's ability to respond to customer demand.	但即便是在加速发展技术时，滴滴在国内仍面临着一个更没有新意的挑战。中国新出台的规定要求部分大城市的司机必须拥有当地户口，导致该公司响应消费者需求的能力受损。
Regulations have "had a direct impact on the supply of cars," said Xue Yu, a senior analyst at IDC, a market research firm.	市场研究公司 IDC 的高级分析师薛宇表示，相关规定“直接影响车辆的供给”。
"For customers, it will be a lot more difficult to order a car than before the new regulations were announced," Mr. Xue said. "This has largely raised the operation costs for Didi."	“从消费者的角度来看，现在打车明显是比网约车新政出来前要难很多，”薛宇说。“这个提高了滴滴很大的运营成本。”

In China, Deals Thought to Be With Disney Turn Out Less Than Magical	“迪士尼来了！”在一些中国城市，这不是真的
BEIJING — In 2013, Meng Dekai, a Disney executive in China, signed a deal with the mayor of Hefei to build a $1.3 billion "Disney cultural and industrial park."	北京——2013年，迪士尼中国高管孟德楷与合肥市长签了一项协议，计划投资13亿美元修建“迪士尼文化产业园”。

The only problem: He was not allowed to do so.	唯一的问题是：他并未获得这样做的授权。
The Walt Disney Company said on Wednesday that it had parted ways with Mr. Meng — it did not say whether he resigned or was fired — after opening an investigation into allegations that he had signed deals with local governments for Disney-related projects.	周三，华特迪士尼公司(The Walt Disney Company)表示，在对孟德楷与地方政府签署迪士尼相关项目的指控进行调查之后，该公司已经与他分道扬镳，但是没有说明他是辞职了还是被解雇了。
The brazenness of the apparent duplicity highlights the risks for foreign companies operating in China, where counterfeiting and corruption are still rampant despite repeated government campaigns to crack down. Reports of Mr. Meng’s deals across the country have also led to widespread confusion about Disney’s future plans across China, the world’s second-largest economy.	这种肆无忌惮的公然欺诈突显出外国公司在中国经营的风险，尽管政府多次展开打击行动，但假冒和腐败依然猖獗。关于孟德楷在中国各地签署的协议报道，也导致人们对迪士尼未来在这个全球第二大经济体的计划普遍感到迷惑。
The company said it started the investigation after The Paper, a Chinese news website, reported in February that Mr. Meng had signed deals for projects with several Chinese cities.	该公司表示，今年2月，中国新闻网站澎湃新闻报道称，孟德楷已与中国的几个城市签署项目协议，迪士尼因此展开调查。
A Disney spokeswoman said the company was “investigating,” when asked whether it would push for a criminal inquiry. Mr. Meng could not be reached for comment.	当被问及该公司是否会要求刑事调查时，迪士尼的一位发言人称，该公司正在“调查”。记者无法联系到孟德楷置评。
“This is the weirdest thing I’ve ever heard of when it comes to fraud against a foreign business,” said James McGregor, chairman of the greater China region for the consulting firm APCO Worldwide. “I mean, it’s so big and it’s so public, it’s such a big name company. What was he thinking?”	“这是我听说过的关于欺诈外国公司的事件中最奇怪的一件，”安可顾问公司(APCO Worldwide)大中华区主席麦健陆(James McGregor)说，“我的意思是，它的规模如此之大，而且如此公开，还是这么著名的一个公司。他当时是怎么想的？”
Along with the Hefei deal, Mr. Meng, who was employed by Disney as a	孟德楷曾被迪士尼聘为特别项目总监。除了合肥的协议，他还分别在中国东

director of special projects, signed agreements in the cities of Ningbo, on the eastern Chinese coast, and Zhengzhou, in the center of the country.	部沿海城市宁波和中部城市郑州签署了协议。
The Henan Daily said on its public account on WeChat, an instant-messaging app in China, that Walt Disney Company (China) Limited had signed a memorandum of understanding with the Henan government to build a site in Zhengzhou, which could include “even the Disneyland parks that everyone knows so well.”	《河南日报》在中国即时通讯应用程序微信的公众号上称，华特迪士尼公司（中国）有限公司与河南省政府签署了一份谅解备忘录，计划在郑州建一个项目，其中甚至可能包括“大家熟知的迪士尼乐园”。
“Disney is here! Disney has really come to Zhengzhou!” the paper said.	“迪士尼来了！迪士尼真的来郑州了！”《河南日报》称。
And the Hefei Network, a news website, said in 2013 that the “Disney project” that Mr. Meng signed with the city’s mayor, Zhang Qingjun — who has since been dismissed for corruption — would stretch across 1,300 acres and be built over three years.	新闻网站合肥网称，2013年，孟德楷与合肥市长张庆军签署的“迪士尼计划”将占地1300亩，用三年时间建成。张庆军后因腐败被撤职。
In January of this year, the state-run Jianghuai Morning News reported that a Disney project in the same province would consist of a theme park based around the mobile video game Angry Birds (which is not produced by Disney, but the Finnish company Rovio), film special effects production offices, and other offerings. It is unclear whether the 2013 deal announced in Hefei, in one of China’s poorest provinces, is the same one.	今年1月，官方报纸《江淮晨报》报道称，该报所在的安徽省的一个迪士尼项目将包括一个以移动游戏《愤怒的小鸟》（Angry Birds，它不是迪士尼制作的，而是芬兰公司Rovio制作的）为主题的公园以及电影特效工作室等内容。尚不清楚合肥2013年公布的协议是否与此是同一项协议。合肥所在的安徽省是中国最穷的省份之一。
In February, The Hangzhou Daily reported that a building in Ningbo was emblazoned with a Disney logo.	今年2月，《杭州日报》报道称，宁波的一幢建筑物上贴着迪士尼的商标。
A search on Tianyancha, a corporate database in China, showed that Mr. Meng’s name was linked to 21 companies in the country, with him listed either as the legal representative or executive director. Most of the	中国企业数据库天眼查的搜索结果显示，孟德楷与21家中国公司有联系，他被称为这些公司的法定代表人或执行董事。大部分公司的名字都以迪士尼中文译名的第一个字开头——比如“迪梦”——并包含“美国”二字。香港数据库

companies' names start with the same Chinese character for Disney, "Dee Magic," and contain "America" in them. Mr. Meng had also registered two companies in Hong Kong, a search on the city's database found.	的搜索结果显示，孟德楷还在那里注册了两家公司。
The Disney spokeswoman said that neither Dee Magic nor any of its affiliates had been authorized by Disney to promote projects or sign deals on behalf of the company, and that they had been told "to immediately cease any unauthorized activity."	迪士尼的那位发言人表示，迪梦及其所有附属机构均未获得迪士尼授权，无权代表该公司推广项目或签署协议，并已告知它们“立即停止任何未经授权的活动”。
She added that while Disney had signed a memorandum of understanding with the Henan government for a "very limited consumer products license agreement," it appeared that "they've maybe gone beyond the bounds of the licensing agreement."	她补充说，虽然迪士尼与河南省政府就“非常有限的消费品许可协议”签署了谅解备忘录，但“他们似乎做了一些超出许可协议授权范围的事”。
Last year, Disney opened a $5.5 billion resort in Shanghai, its first in mainland China. It also has a park in Hong Kong, the autonomous former British colony.	去年，迪士尼投资 55 亿美元在上海开设了一个度假区，那是它在中国内地开设的第一个度假区。它还在曾为英国殖民地的自治区香港有一个公园。
Perhaps because of its high profile in the country, the company's products have long been copied and faked. In 2015, a Chinese government agency singled out Disney as the focus of a new "special action" to stamp out imitation goods that infringe on its trademarks, including fake Snow White dolls and "Frozen" backpacks.	也许是因为迪士尼在中国非常引人注目，所以该公司的产品长期以来被仿制和假冒。2015 年，中国的一个政府机构以迪士尼为重点开展了一项新的“特别行动”，以清除侵犯其商标的仿制品，包括假冒的白雪公主玩偶和《冰雪奇缘》(Frozen)背包。

Trump Talks Tough on Trade but Delays Real Action	特朗普在对华贸易政策上为何说多做少
SHANGHAI — President Trump appeared to follow through on Friday on his promises to get tough on trade with China, less than a week before he is to meet with President Xi Jinping of China.	上海——周五, 特朗普总统似乎履行了他要在贸易问题上对中国保持强势的承诺, 此时距离他与中国国家主席习近平即将举行的会面不到一周时间。
In two executive orders, Mr. Trump called for tighter enforcement of tariffs imposed in anti-dumping and anti-subsidy trade cases, as well as a comprehensive review of the United States trade deficits — measures that reflect America's economic tensions with China. A pair of earlier presidential Twitter posts played to the tough talk: Mr. Trump said next week's meeting with China "will be a very difficult one," given the "massive trade deficits" and "job losses."	特朗普在两条行政命令中要求对反倾销和反补贴贸易案件更加严格地征收关税, 并对美国贸易赤字进行全面审查——这些举措反映出美中在经济上的紧张关系。早前总统发的两条 Twitter 消息提到了这个艰难的谈话: 特朗普说, 鉴于"大量的贸易赤字"和"减少的工作岗位", 下周与中国领导人的会面"将会非常艰难"。
But beneath the surface, the moves betrayed a trade policy in disarray, with the administration troubled by staffing deficiencies and a lack of consensus over strategic direction. With more talk than action, the orders so far seem more like a delaying tactic that gives administration officials the time to come up with a unified trade policy, which has eluded them so far.	但是在表象之下, 这些举动暴露了一个混乱的贸易政策, 以及人员配置不足, 和对战略方向缺乏共识给管理造成的困扰。说得多做得少, 这些政令目前看起来更像是一种拖延策略, 给行政官员留出时间提出一项统一的贸易政策, 这件事一直没有人来做。

The delays in instituting an overall trade policy, particularly the 90 days for reviewing trade deficits, could also have geopolitical advantages. By putting off decisions on economic policy, Mr. Trump gets an opportunity to focus next week with Mr. Xi on North Korea. American officials are increasingly concerned that North Korea may already have mounted a nuclear weapon on an intercontinental ballistic missile that can reach the United States or will very soon be able to do so.	对制定一项整体贸易政策的拖延，特别是花90天的时间来审查贸易赤字，也可能具有一定的地缘政治优势。通过推迟经济政策上的决定，特朗普在下周与习近平会晤时，可以把侧重点放在朝鲜问题上。美国官员越来越担心朝鲜恐怕已经有能力在洲际弹道导弹上搭载核武器，发射到美国领土，或者很快就能做到这一点。
The executive orders, though, do not really address those problems.	然而，这两条行政命令并没有真正解决这些问题。
The 90-day review of the trade deficit, described as a comprehensive examination of the products and countries responsible for the gap, looks more like an economics classroom exercise than a foundation for policy. While portrayed as a new approach, it is the latest in a very long lineup of federal reports on trade.	对贸易赤字进行90天审查，被描述为对导致贸易差距的产品和相关国家进行全面审查，它看起来更像是经济学的课堂练习而不是政策基础。在一长串的各种联邦贸易报告中，它是新来者，同时也被描述为一种新方法。
Every year, the Office of the United States Trade Representative produces a voluminous report on foreign failures to protect intellectual property and another massive report on foreign trade barriers. The United States International Trade Commission, a separate federal agency, is constantly being asked by administrations and by Congress to produce lengthy reports on specific issues. And the Commerce	美国贸易代表办公室(Office of the United States Trade Representative)每年都会就其他国家未能有效保护知识产权以及外贸壁垒问题撰写长篇报告。美国国际贸易委员会(United States International Trade Commission)是一个单独的联邦机构，一直在按管理部门和国会要求就具体问题编写冗长的报告。而商务部(Commerce Department)则会编制一份非常详细的贸易统计月报，其中包括按国家和行业分列的数据。

Department produces a very detailed monthly report on trade statistics that includes data by country and by industry.
As for improving enforcement, that is a somewhat technical issue. In the order, Mr. Trump wants to ensure that the steep tariffs imposed in anti-dumping and anti-subsidy cases are collected.	至于提高执法力度，那多少是个技术性问题。在政令中，特朗普希望确保对于采集的反倾销和反补贴案件征收高关税。
Over the years entrepreneurs have been suspected of setting up new companies in the United States to import goods, often from China, in the monthslong period after the government imposes such tariffs but before their exact amount is calculated. The companies bring the goods into the United States and sell them, and then the companies disappear or file for bankruptcy before the final duties can be collected.	多年来，一些人涉嫌在政府征收这些关税之后、在确定具体金额之前的几个月内，在美国创办新公司，进口商品，而且往往是从中国进口。它们将货物运到美国并出售，然后公司在收取最终关税之前消失，或是申请破产。
"There are many unscrupulous tricks of the trade being used — especially by China — to evade hard-won duties and thus continue cheating through the use of dumping and subsidies," said Thomas M. Sneeringer, a former steel industry lawyer who is now the president of the Committee to Support U.S. Trade Laws, a manufacturing trade group. "These include falsifying the country of origin, transshipping, misclassifying products and outright criminal fraud."	"有很多不道德的贸易技巧，用来避开我们得之不易的关税，从而继续使用倾销和补贴来进行欺骗，中国对它们的使用尤其猖獗。这些技巧包括伪造原产国、转运、错误分类和彻底的犯罪行为。"前钢铁业律师、现任制造业贸易集团——支持美国贸易法委员会(Committee to Support U.S. Trade Laws)主席的托马斯·M·斯林格(Thomas M. Sneeringer)表示。
But these cases aren't an economic game changer. As little as 1 percent of American imports are covered by steep tariffs, and the actual effect of illegal violations of these tariffs is far narrower still.	但这些案例并不能改变这场经济游戏的胜负。美国仅对1%的进口商品征收高关税，而那些违法行为的实际影响则更是窄得多。
"They're politically sensitive, but in terms of the overall trade balance, they're going to have a limited effect," said Alan Wolff, a former American trade official who is now a senior counsel at the law firm Dentons.	"它们在政治上很敏感，但从整体贸易平衡的角度讲，其效力很有限，"前美国贸易官员、现德同律师事务所(Dentons)高级顾问艾伦·沃尔夫(Alan Wolff)表示。

What really could make a difference for the trade deficit would be if the United States imposed a so-called border-adjusted tax. Such a move would essentially impose a tax on goods from other countries.	如果美国实行所谓的边境调整税，倒是有可能对贸易逆差产生真正的影响。这样的举动实际上是对其他国家的所有货物征税。
It would strike at the heart of the trade deficit. Each year, the United States buys $4 worth of Chinese goods for each $1 worth of American goods that China buys.	它会击中贸易赤字的核心。每年，中国每购买价值1美元的美国商品，美国就购买了价值4美元的中国商品。
The border-adjusted tax has strong similarities to the way China and the European Union assess taxes.	边境调整税与中国和欧盟评估税收的方式有很多相似之处。
The combined value of import tariffs and average state sales taxes in the United States is just 9 percent. Import taxes plus value added taxes — a kind of sales tax — total 27 percent in China and roughly 25 percent in Western Europe.	美国的进口关税和国家平均销售税合计只有9%。而中国的进口税加增值税——一种销售税——总计27%，西欧的约为25%。
Above all, the Trump administration still has not made the most fundamental strategic decision. Will the main priority on trade be a border-adjusted tax as part of tax reform in Congress? Or will the main priority be a long series of narrow, industry-specific trade disputes?	最重要的是，特朗普政府依然没有做出最根本的战略决策。贸易的优先事项是作为国会税收改革一部分的边境调整税，还是长长的一系列针对具体行业的狭隘贸易争端？
Peter Navarro, the director of Mr. Trump's National Trade Council, and Wilbur Ross, the choice for commerce secretary, appear to favor a more aggressive approach like the border tax. Others, like Gary Cohn, the head of the National Economic Council, and Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin, could have a moderating influence.	特朗普的国家贸易委员会(National Trade Council)主席彼得·纳瓦罗(Peter Navarro)和商务部长候选人威尔伯·罗斯(Wilbur Ross)似乎倾向于边境税这种更具攻击性的方式。而国家经济委员会(National Economic Council)主席加里·科恩(Gary Cohn)和财政部长史蒂文·努钦(Steven Mnuchin)等人可能倾向于更温和的方式。
Chinese officials have been watching the issue with rapt attention.	中国官员一直在密切关注这个问题。
Zhong Shan, China's new minister of commerce, was asked at a news conference during the National People's Congress annual session in early March which of two difficult outcomes he might prefer. A	3月初，在一年一度的全国人民代表大会的一次新闻发布会上，中国的新任商务部长钟山被问及，对于这两种艰难的结果，他可能更喜欢哪个。边境调整税将给中国的出口和经济带来沉重的财务负担，但它只会造成有限的外交

border-adjusted tax would impose a heavy financial burden on Chinese exports and the Chinese economy, but it might result in limited diplomatic friction. The tax would amount to a single action by the United States and would apply equally to trade with all foreign countries — not just China.	摩擦。这种税收只需美国发布一项法令，它将平等地适用于所有其他国家——而不只是中国。
A flurry of sector-specific trade restrictions by the United States might not add up to a lot of money, because bilateral trade is divided into thousands of categories. But it could produce a long series of diplomatic confrontations.	因为双边贸易被分成了成千上万个类别，所以美国针对某个行业的短期贸易限制累积起来可能不会增加很多税收，但它可能会引发众多外交冲突。

Behind Trump's Trade Deficit Obsession: Deficient Analysis	特朗普的贸易逆差论背后: 严重的事实偏差
In the world according to President Trump, trade deficits are among the clearest indication that Americans have become habitual chumps in the global marketplace. The United States sells fewer goods and services than it buys from the rest of the planet, and this is supposedly evidence that Americans are getting rolled.	在特朗普总统的世界里, 贸易赤字是证明美国人已经习惯了在全球市场上犯傻的最明显的证据之一。美国售出的商品和服务比从世界其他国家购买的商品和服务要少, 这表明美国人正在遭到打劫。
This is the central assumption behind Mr. Trump's repeated vow to take a meat cleaver to the North American Free Trade Agreement, redrawing the terms of commerce with Mexico. This is the spirit in which he has promised to confront China over its systematic job-killing machine, beginning later this week as he greets the Chinese president, Xi Jinping, at his Mar-a-Lago resort in Florida.	特朗普反复发誓, 要把北美自由贸易协定(North American Free Trade Agreement)大卸八块, 重新制定与墨西哥的贸易条款, 其背后的核心假定正是这种观点。他承诺挑战中国那种令美国工作机会减少的系统性机制。这种思维, 就从本周早些时候在佛罗里达州马阿拉歌庄园会见中国国家主席习近平开始。
But Mr. Trump's portrayal of trade deficits entails crucial departures from economic reality.	但是特朗普对贸易赤字的描述却极大地背离了经济现实。
In his accounting, international trade is a zero-sum affair, as if every country were jockeying for a share of forever limited amounts of business. An auto part made in Mexico and later included in a finished	在他的盘算中, 国际贸易是一种零和博弈, 好像每一个国家都在不择手段, 谋求一个永远有限的业务份额。墨西哥制造的汽车零部件, 之后会被装进停在加利福尼亚州郊区房前车道上的成品车, 这代表着从美国中西部工厂抢走

vehicle destined for a suburban driveway in California represents jobs hijacked from the Midwestern factory that should have employed American hands to build everything.	了工作机会，这些工厂应该雇佣美国人手来制造一切。
Trade is not zero-sum. Expanded trade has historically tended to support economic growth, which generates more spoils to be divvied up for all.	贸易不是零和博弈。历史上，贸易扩张往往会带来经济增长，产生更多收益，供所有人分享。
Obsessing over the balance of trade with any single country misses all of that. It also distracts from the force that, by many accounts, is the real threat to employment: automation. The decisive problem facing American workers is that making more products has not translated into sufficient numbers of new jobs, leaving millions of people searching for full-time work at wages high enough to pay the bills.	执着于同任何一个国家保持贸易平衡，就会失去所有这一切。这样做也会分散对自动化问题的关注，从许多方面来说，自动化才是对就业的真正威胁。美国工人面临的关键问题是，制造更多的产品，并没有转化为足够的新工作岗位，导致数百万人仍在寻找工资高到足以支付账单的全职工作。
Economists generally dismiss bilateral trade deficits as essentially meaningless, for reasons easily recognizable in the rest of everyday life. Most people surely run lopsided trade deficits with their dentists, handing these professionals their dollars without expecting them to purchase anything in return.	经济学家普遍认为，双边贸易赤字实质上是没有意义的，其原因在日常生活中就可以轻易看到。大多数人对他们的牙医负有极大的贸易赤字，人们要向这些专业人士付钱，而不指望这些专业人士从自己手中购买任何东西。

jobs and income for other people. So it is with countries.
China's trade surplus with the United States, which reached $347 billion last year, does in part reflect dubious Chinese practices, including lavishing state credit on favored exporters and flooding world markets with low-cost goods to keep its laborers employed.	去年，中国与美国的贸易顺差达到了 3470 亿美元，一定程度上的确反映了中国的一些争议性做法，包括对出口商提供慷慨的国家贷款，以低成本的货物淹没世界市场，以便保持劳动者的就业。
Yet even if China were a paragon of fair trading practices, it would almost certainly run a surplus with the United States. Despite tremendous economic advances, China remains a relatively low-income country, home to hundreds of millions of people who cannot afford the more sophisticated fruits of the American economy. Though wages have risen in recent years, China's fundamental advantage still involves making goods cheaply.	然而，即使中国是公平贸易的典范，它几乎也肯定会对美国保持顺差。尽管取得巨大的经济进步，中国仍然是一个相对的低收入国家，它有数亿人口无力负担美国经济产出的那些更高端的产品。虽然近年来工资有所上涨，但中国的根本优势还是在于让货物更为廉价。
Trade imbalances with the world are a more complex matter, one that is subject to genuine debate among economists. But the story is different for every country, depending on its size, the maturity of its economy, the sorts of goods and services it tends to export, and the reason for the imbalance in trade at any moment in time.	与整个世界的贸易不平衡是一个更为复杂的问题，经济学家在就这个主题展开真正的辩论。但是，每个国家的情况都是不一样的，这取决于国家的规模，经济的成熟度，出口商品和服务的种类，以及任何时候贸易不平衡的各种原因。
In the case of the United States, trade deficits with the world have been a feature of economic life for more than three decades, a sweep of time that has seen economic booms, the worst downturn since the Great Depression and plenty of events in between.	就美国而言，世界范围内的贸易赤字已经是 30 多年来经济生活的一个特征，这期间有过数次经济繁荣，也有过大萧条以来最严重的经济衰退，以及介于两者之间的种种事件。
"Trade deficits aren't a good barometer," said Chad P. Bown, a trade expert at the Peterson Institute for International Economics in Washington.	"贸易逆差不是一个好指标，"华盛顿彼得森国际经济研究所(Peterson Institute for International Economics)的贸易政策专家查德·P·鲍恩(Chad P. Bown)说。
Fluctuations reflect a host of factors that have little to do with the	波动反映出许多因素与贸易条款的公平性几乎没什么关系。在政府于周二通

fairness of trade terms. As the government on Tuesday reported that the American trade deficit contracted by nearly 10 percent in February, analysts noted that exports from the United States had been aided by a recent weakening in the value of the dollar, which makes American goods cheaper on world markets.	报美国的贸易顺差在今年2月缩小了近10%之时，分析人士指出，美国出口增加是得益于最近的美元贬值，这令美国的商品在全球市场上变得更便宜。
The only thing one can say with certainty is that the deficit reflects how Americans have consumed more than they have been willing to save, purchasing from foreigners who have in turn invested in the United States. To the degree that this is a problem — and opinions vary — most economists suggest that it is best addressed with tax policies and incentives to save, rather than by impeding trade.	唯一可以确定的是，贸易逆差反映出美国人的消费意愿大于存储意愿，他们从外国人那里购买商品，而后者又反过来在美国进行投资。就算这是个问题——对此大家观点不一——大多数经济学家也建议，解决它的最佳办法是调整税收政策和刺激储蓄，而非阻碍贸易。
The American trade deficit with the world contracted sharply in 2008 and 2009, but this was not the result of a sudden resumption of old-school saving. It reflected a cratering of consumer spending in the midst of the Great Recession. Calling that progress would be like applauding a nation gripped by famine for limiting its intake of saturated fats.	美国与世界各国的贸易逆差曾在2008年和2009年大幅缩小，但这不是老派的储蓄习惯突然恢复的结果。它背后反映的是大衰退(Great Recession)之下消费支出的减少。称它为进步，就好像称赞一个陷入饥荒的国家限制饱和脂肪的摄入量。
But if trade deficits do not lend themselves to certain conclusions in the realm of economic policy, they have served as highly useful political fodder. Politicians use trade deficits — money departing the nation! — as a handy, if flawed, explanation for why paychecks are inadequate.	但如果贸易逆差在经济政策领域无法达成某种结论，它们就会变成十分有用的政治素材。政客们会把贸易逆差——资金在从这个国家流失！——当作方便的借口，解释为何大家的工资不够花，尽管这种说法并不完全准确。
Back in the 1980s, it was Japan that played the boogeyman in the American political conversation, the goliath believed to be gobbling up American prosperity with every Sony Walkman it sent toward American shores. More recently, China has assumed that role.	回想上世纪80年代，是日本在扮演美国政治谈话中的假想怪物，认为它是通过送往美国的每台索尼随身听吞噬美国繁荣的巨人。最近，这个角色落到了中国的头上。

Now, with Mr. Trump in the White House, much of human civilization has seemingly been cast as the predator class — Germany, Mexico, China, willfully fleecing Americans through a series of trade deals extended by a Washington elite too clueless to fight them.	现在随着特朗普入主白宫，整个人类文明的一大部分似乎都被塑造成通过一系列贸易协议蓄意薅美国羊毛的掠夺者——德国、墨西哥、中国——这些协议则是由太过愚蠢而没能反抗这种剥削的华盛顿精英所推进。
Liberalized trade has proved punishing for lower-skilled factory laborers clustered in the American South and Midwest. Entire industrial communities have been upended by joblessness, mass foreclosure and attendant ills like substance abuse, domestic violence and depression.	事实已经证明，自由化的贸易会给集中在美国南部和中西部的技术水平较低的工厂工人带来沉重打击。整个工业界都被失业、抵押品赎回权大规模丧失，以及随之而来的药物滥用、家庭暴力和抑郁症等问题搅得天翻地覆。
But trade has proved a boon to bankers, executives and multinational corporations that harness low-wage labor in distant lands to make their products. Much of Walmart’s business model was built on a reliance on Chinese factories. American consumers have grown accustomed to low prices for clothing, shoes and other goods.	但贸易已被证明对银行高级职员、高管和跨国企业十分有益，他们利用遥远土地上的低薪劳动力来为自己制造产品。沃尔玛的商业模式在很大程度上就建基于对中国工厂的依赖。美国消费者已经习惯于用不高的价格买到衣物、鞋和其他商品。
None of this action gets captured in narrow obsessions over trade deficits.	在有关贸易逆差的狭隘执念中，所有这些都忽略了。
“Trump hugely mis-frames it,” said Dean Baker, co-director of the Center for Economic and Policy Research in Washington, who is a persistent critic of trade deals. “We have U.S. companies that are hugely profiting by having access to low-cost labor in China. Portraying that China won and we lost is 180 degrees wrong. Factory laborers are the losers.”	“特朗普极大地扭曲了对它的理解，”华盛顿经济与政策研究中心(Center for Economic and Policy Research)联席主任、贸易协议的持续批判者迪安·贝克(Dean Baker)说。“我们也有美国企业通过使用中国的低成本劳动力获利巨丰。将情况描述成中国赢了、我们输了，完全是错误的。工厂工人才是其中的受害者。”

Often start-ups and leading internet companies like Facebook and Google are working on products as sophisticated as anything the military has at its disposal.	该报告发现，越来越精密的商业技术模糊了军用消费者和民用消费者可获得的产品之间的界线。通常，初创公司及 Facebook 和谷歌(Google)这种处于领导地位的企业研发的产品，精密程度不亚于军方使用的产品。
"For example, V.R. for gaming is at a similar level of sophistication as the V.R. used in simulators for our armed forces," the report said, referring to virtual reality. "Facial recognition and image detection for social networking and online shopping has real application in tracking terrorists or other threats to national security," the report continued, which added that much of the autonomous vehicle and drone technology of today was developed using grants from the Pentagon.	"比如，用于电脑游戏的 VR 的精密程度，与我们的武装部队使用的模拟装置所采用的 VR 相类似，"该报告说。这里的 VR 指的是虚拟现实。"用于社交网络和网购的面部识别和图像检测，在追踪恐怖分子或对国家安全的其他威胁上都有实际应用，"报告继续写道，并表示，今天绝大多数的自动驾驶车辆和无人机技术，都是用五角大楼的拨款开发出来的。
In some cases, companies aided by those grants have since raised money from Chinese investors. Velodyne, for example, started developing light sensors for driverless cars after participating in a competition set up by the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency, a unit of the Pentagon, in 2005. Since then, those sensors have been used on the United States Navy's unmanned surface vehicles.	有些情况下，接受这些经费资助的公司之后曾向中国投资者融资。比如，在 2005 年参与了由美国国防部分支机构国防高级研究计划局(Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency)设立的一项比赛后，Velodyne 开始研发无人驾驶车所需的光传感器。自那时开始，这些传感器便被用于美国海军的无人驾驶水面工具。

But it does take exception to tactics that it says Chinese funds have used to skirt government oversight. For example, it singles out Canyon Bridge, a venture capital firm that it says was formed to buy Lattice Semiconductor, an American microchip company. The firm has Chinese capital and American management expertise. The purpose of creating Canyon Bridge was to obscure the source of capital to “enhance the possibility” that the transaction would be approved by Cfius, the report said.	但报告对其中提到的中国基金用来绕开政府监管的一些策略表示抗议。比如，文中单独提到了风险投资公司 Canyon Bridge，称它之所以成立，就是为了收购美国微芯片公司雷特斯半导体(Lattice Semiconductor)。这家公司拥有中国的资金和美国的管理人员。报告称，成立 Canyon Bridge 的目的就是为了模糊资金来源，以“增加”交易被美国外国投资委员会(Cfius)批准的“几率”。
Peter Kuo, a partner at Canyon Bridge, said that there was never any intention to obscure the source of the fund’s capital, as shown by meetings it had with Cfius before the deal was signed.	Canyon Bridge 的合伙人彼得·郭(Peter Kuo)表示，公司从来没有掩盖该基金资本来源的意图，这在协议签署之前公司与 Cfius 进行的数次会面中就可以看出。
Chinese investors plowed about $30 billion into early-stage technology through more than 1,000 funding deals between 2010 and 2016. During that time, participation from China rose to about 10 percent of total venture deals, with investment in crucial industries like artificial intelligence, robotics and augmented reality accelerating in 2016, according to the report.	在 2010 至 2016 年间，中国投资者通过 1000 多项投资协议在早期技术领域投资了大约 300 亿美元。报告还显示，那段时间中国的参与增加到整体风投交易的 10%左右，并在 2016 年加快了在人工智能、机器人和增强现实等关键行业的投资。

The rising trend in venture capital investments has occurred alongside state-directed industrial espionage and online theft, which the American government has been unable to slow, the report says. Why the U.S. Fears a Chinese Bid for Westinghouse Electric	特朗普政府为何担忧中国收购西屋电气?
The Trump administration is worried that Chinese investors might try to buy Westinghouse Electric, the troubled American nuclear power company that the Japanese conglomerate Toshiba has offered for sale. It is not clear if Chinese buyers might be interested in the business, which filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection last week. But the worries highlight the new administration's stance on China's global acquisition strategy, and its plans to build up American industries.	日本集团公司东芝(Toshiba)准备出售陷入困境的美国核电公司西屋电气(Westinghouse Electric), 特朗普政府担心中国投资者可能会试图收购它。目前尚不清楚, 中国买家是否对这桩生意感兴趣——该公司在上周根据破产法第 11 章申请了破产保护。但这些担忧突显出新政府在中国的全球收购战略上的立场, 以及它提振美国工业的计划。

Why would China want Westinghouse?	为什么说中国有可能收购西屋电气?
China is a rapidly expanding nuclear-energy power. It has more than 20 reactors under construction and is aiming to double the amount of electricity it can produce at its plants in the next three to four years.	中国是一个规模快速增长的核能强国。它有 20 多个建设中的核反应堆，而且计划在接下来的三四年里将其核电厂的发电量翻番。
But it lags behind the West in technology. Advanced reactors in China are being built by foreign groups, including Westinghouse, which is installing its next-generation AP1000 units at two facilities in the country.	但它在技术上落后于西方。中国在建的先进反应堆是由包括西屋电气在内的外国集团建造，后者正在为这个国家的两处设施安装下一代的 AP1000 机组。
Westinghouse is believed to have been targeted by Chinese spies. If a Chinese entity were to buy the company, China could obtain secrets without the cloak and dagger.	据信西屋电气之前曾被中国间谍当作目标。如果一个中国实体买下这个公司，中国无需采取这些谍报活动就可以获得那些秘密。
What's alarming about that?	这种情况有哪些值得担忧的地方?
The Trump administration has not explained why it does not want China to own Westinghouse. Part of its concern could be economic: A widely predicted "nuclear renaissance" has stalled across most of the developed world — few plants are being built or planned in Western countries — but it is possible Washington does not want China to dominate a future revival. China is an increasingly wealthy and ambitious rival, and an advanced nuclear energy program could help it catch up to the United States faster.	特朗普政府没有解释它为何不想让中国拥有西屋电气。它的担忧有一部分可能是出于经济考量：被普遍预测的“核能复兴”在大多数发达国家已经陷入停滞——西方国家很少有在建或计划建设的核电厂——但华盛顿有可能不希望中国主导未来的产业复兴。中国是一个日渐富裕和富有雄心的对手，先进的核能项目会令它更快地赶上美国。
Security is most likely a bigger concern. Although Westinghouse does not make nuclear weapons, the Trump administration may fear that China could find ways to use the company's technology to improve its nuclear arsenal, another pillar of its growing power.	更大的顾虑可能还在于安全。尽管西屋电气不生产核武器，但特朗普政府或许担心中国会找到利用该公司的技术改善其核武库的办法，那可是中国日渐增长的力量另一个支柱。
How might Washington block a sale?	华盛顿会如何阻止这项交易?

It has options. The most direct involves the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States, or Cfius, a government body that reviews acquisitions with possible national security implications. Its members include the secretaries of defense, state, energy, commerce and the Treasury. While only the American president has the power to block a cross-border acquisition on national security grounds, a recommendation by the committee to squelch a deal is widely considered a death sentence.	它有多种选择。最直接的选项与美国外国投资委员会（Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States, 简称 Cfius）有关，这是对收购意向进行审核以确认它是否威胁国家安全的政府机构。其成员包括国防部长、国务卿、能源部长、商务部长和财政部长。尽管只有美国总统有权以国家安全的因素阻止一项跨境收购，但如果该委员会提议阻止一项交易，这便被普遍认为是宣判了死刑。
Alternatively, the administration could encourage a rival bid from a business based in the United States or in a friendly country – though that could be a challenge, given the small number of nuclear-plant builders and Westinghouse’s history of losing large amounts of money.	或者，政府鼓励一家总部在美国或友邦的企业参与竞购，但考虑到核电厂建造商数量不多，而且西屋电气在过往亏损了大量资金，这可能并不容易实现。
Does Japan have a say?	对于这项交易，日本有发言权吗？
If anything, Japan is more wary of China than the United States is, and the government in Tokyo has no wish to see China get its hands on Westinghouse’s technology. That means that Japan would most likely welcome moves by the Trump administration to block a Chinese bid.	其实，日本也比美国更警惕中国，东京的政府不希望看到中国获得西屋电气的技术。那意味着日本很有可能对特朗普阻止中国竞购的举动表示欢迎。
In any case, since Westinghouse is based in the United States, Cfius has jurisdiction, regardless of what the Japanese might want.	总之，不管日本持什么样的想法，既然西屋电气总部位于美国，Cfius 就有管辖权。
Yet Japan does need someone to buy Westinghouse, whose problems have caused billions of dollars in losses at Toshiba, one of Japan’s largest and proudest conglomerates, pushing it perilously close to collapse. Eliminating Chinese groups from the pool of potential buyers would come at an economic cost.	不过，日本的确需要有人来收购西屋电气，该公司的问题已经导致日本最大、最值得骄傲的集团公司之一东芝损失了数十亿美元，令它濒临破产。将中国企业排除出潜在买家的行列，可能需要付出不小的经济代价。
So of all the ways Washington might block a Chinese bid, simply saying	所以，在华盛顿可能用来阻止中国竞购的所有办法中，单单通过 Cfius 说“不”，

"no" through Cfius, but without arranging a "yes" elsewhere, would be the least appealing to Japan.	而不在别处安排一个说“好的”，对日本而言是非常没有吸引力的。

Even Amid Trade Tensions, Ford Pushes Pickup Trucks in China	中美贸易冲突升温之际，福特向中国出口皮卡
SHANGHAI — Liu Qipeng has a passion for rock climbing and camping, but for those activities, a Chinese-branded vehicle just won't do.	上海——刘启鹏喜欢攀岩和露营，但对这些活动，国产汽车品牌派不上用场。
So even in this era of rising trade tensions between Washington and Beijing, Mr. Liu, 38, a chemicals recycling entrepreneur in southeastern China, chose to wait for the chance to buy what might be the most American of rides: a Ford F-150 Raptor pickup truck imported from the United States.	因此，即便是在华盛顿与美国之间的贸易紧张关系日渐升级的时期，在中国东南部从事化学制品回收行业的38岁企业家刘启鹏仍选择等待，希望有机会买一辆从美国进口的福特F-150猛禽皮卡。这也许是最具美国特色的车了。
"I like this model because it is very masculine and powerful," Mr. Liu said, adding that his friends "start to lean toward Ford when they plan to change their cars."	“我喜欢它这个车够霸气吧，”刘启鹏说，并表示身边的朋友“在考虑换车的时候慢慢开始向福特这个品牌靠近了”。
Ford Motor is putting the premium version of the F-150 on sale on Saturday in a country where pickup trucks are virtually unheard-of except on farms. Detroit's automakers see a potential new world of Chinese drivers, who in recent years have embraced sport utility vehicles and want to drive bigger, beefier cars.	周六，福特汽车(Ford Motor)将在一个除了农场地区之外，皮卡几乎没人听说过的国家开始销售高配版的F-150。底特律的车企在中国的驾驶者身上看到了一个潜在的新世界。近年来，中国的司机已接受运动型多功能车，并希望驾驶更大、更结实的车。
As President Trump and President Xi Jinping of China meet in Florida this week to address growing trade tensions, Ford's interest in sending American-made pickup trucks to China underlines the debate's complexities. Despite lopsided trade between the countries, Chinese consumers show a persistent and lucrative appetite for American	在特朗普总统和中国国家主席习近平本周在佛罗里达州进行会面，以应对日渐加剧的贸易冲突之际，福特把美国制造的皮卡卖给中国的意愿，突显了这场会谈的复杂性。尽管两国之间存在贸易不平衡，但中国消费者对美国的品牌表现出了持久且利润可观的需求。

brands.
Fords and Chevrolets — mostly made in China, but profitable either way for Detroit — are common sights on the streets. “They think American-brand vehicles are reliable, strong and tough,” said Yale Zhang, the managing director of Automotive Foresight, a consulting firm in Shanghai.	福特和雪佛兰汽车——大多在中国生产，但对底特律来说不管怎样都是有利的——在街头很常见。“他们认为美国牌子的汽车可靠、强悍、结实，”上海咨询公司汽车前瞻(Automotive Foresight)董事总经理张豫(Yale Zhang)说。
It goes beyond cars. Apple’s iPhone has faced growing competition but remains a sign of affluence and success. Chinese consumers wear Nikes and buy lattes at Starbucks. For many buyers, the brands connote sophistication and an indication that they have made it.	不仅汽车是如此。苹果(Apple)的 iPhone 虽说面临着越来越激烈的竞争，但仍然是富有和成功的象征。中国消费者会穿耐克(Nike)，在星巴克(Starbucks)买拿铁。对很多消费者而言，这些品牌代表着精致品位，意味着他们取得了成功。
Ford, which will import the pickups from Dearborn, Mich., is not alone. General Motors this year began to import Chevrolet Silverado full-size pickup trucks from Flint, Mich., and the Chevrolet Colorado midsize pickup from Wentzville, Mo. Ford plans to start importing the Ford Ranger midsize pickup next year as well. Both have modest expectations compared with the United States, where nearly 2.7 million pickup trucks were sold last year, almost eight times as many as in China last year, according to LMC Automotive, a global consulting firm.	福特即将把产自密歇根州迪尔伯恩的皮卡出口到中国，它这样的做法并不是特例。通用汽车从今年开始出口产自密歇根州弗林特的雪佛兰西尔维拉多(Chevrolet Silverado)全尺寸皮卡，以及产自密苏里州温茨维尔的雪佛兰科罗拉多(Chevrolet Silverado)中尺寸皮卡。福特还计划从明年开始出口福特游骑兵(Ford Ranger)中尺寸皮卡。比起美国市场，中国市场并未让两者抱有多高的期望——来自全球咨询公司 LMC Automotive 的数据显示，美国去年的皮卡销量为 270 万辆，几乎是中国的八倍。
For years, Chinese consumers saw pickup trucks as polluting rural rattletraps suitable only for bringing in produce from the farm. Pickups made in the country sell for as little as $7,000. Many provinces ban trucks, including pickups, from being driven in cities by day.	在很多年里，中国消费者眼中的皮卡一直是乡间那种又老又破、容易造成污染的车辆，只适合运送来自农场的农产品。产于中国的皮卡售价可以低至 7000 美元。很多省份都禁止卡车白天在城里行驶，其中也包括皮卡。
Interest in the cars began to grow early last year, when central government officials urged Chinese provinces to lighten restrictions on pickups as part of a broad plan to encourage consumption in the	人们对皮卡的兴趣从去年初开始上升，当时，中央政府官员敦促中国各省放松对皮卡的限制，以便推进一个更为宏大的计划：通过鼓励消费，包括购买汽车，来拉动经济。中国本土汽车生产商也呼吁放宽相关规则，以便它们发

economy, including purchases of automobiles. Chinese-brand automakers had also called for a relaxation of the rules as a way to develop their pickup truck businesses.	展皮卡业务。
Ford plans to introduce its “Built Ford Tough” marketing campaign in China this spring, said Peter Fleet, the company’s vice president for marketing, sales and service in Asia and the Pacific. Its marketers experimented with various Mandarin translations of the phrase before concluding that the English version worked.	福特亚太区市场营销、销售和售后服务副总裁彼得·弗利特(Peter Fleet)说,福特计划把“Built Ford Tough”(打造强悍福特)市场营销活动引入中国。其营销人员曾拿这句话的各种普通话译本做试验,最后认定还是用英文版比较好。
“The research came back resoundingly clear: No, we understand ‘Built Ford Tough,’” Mr. Fleet said.	“研究结论非常清楚:不,我们明白‘Built Ford Tough’是什么意思,”弗利特说。
Cars are a particular sticking point between the United States and China because Beijing charges heavy taxes and duties on imported cars. While Ford has not released the official price for the Raptor, Mr. Liu said that he had been told it would be about $81,000. A similarly equipped Raptor sells for $50,000 in the United States. Chinese import and value-added taxes would make up most — but not all — of the difference.	由于北京对进口汽车征收高额税赋,汽车是中美关系中一个尤为突出的症结。福特尚未公布猛禽的官方价格,但刘启鹏表示,他听说售价将是8.1万美元。在美国,简装版猛禽的售价仅为5万美元。其间的大部分差额——但并非全部——是由中国的进口税和增值税造成的。
The price could be even higher if Ford were importing cars from the United States instead of pickup trucks. China classifies pickup trucks as trucks and not as passenger vehicles, a category that in the country encompasses cars, sport utility vehicles and minivans. That truck classification exempts pickups from a Chinese consumption tax on passenger vehicles with large engines that can go as high as 40 percent.	如果福特出口的不是皮卡,而是小汽车,税赋还会更高。中国把皮卡归类为卡车,而非乘用车,后者在中国是一个包含小汽车、运动型多功能汽车(SUV)和面包车的范畴。被归类为卡车,让皮卡得以避开中国对大引擎乘用车征收的、可高达40%的消费税。
Mr. Liu said that if he faced a consumption tax like that, he would not buy the Ford pickup.	刘启鹏说,如果要交很高的消费税,他不会考虑购买福特皮卡。

"If it has a 20 percent tax, I wouldn't consider buying it, because one of the major motives for me to buy it is that it's a very cost-effective model," he said. "It's a toy for me after all, not a must-have."	"如果这个车有额外 20%的税的话，我肯定不会考虑了。因为它这个车一个很大的吸引我的点就是它性价比很高吧，而且怎么说呢，这个车总归对我来说就是个玩具，不是刚需嘛。"
China also exempts pickup trucks entirely from fuel economy averages. It sets a much higher corporate fuel-economy average — 38 miles per gallon — than the United States for all the cars, minivans and S.U.V.s that each automaker sells in the country.	在中国，皮卡还完全不受平均燃油经济性标准的限制。中国针对每家汽车生产商在中国销售的所有小汽车、面包车和 SUV，制定了高于美国的综合平均燃油经济性标准——每加仑 38 英里。
This has forced manufacturers to design and sell models with engines that are much smaller and less powerful than in the United States but also more fuel efficient.	这就迫使生产商设计和销售那些与美国市场上的车辆相比引擎较小、性能不那么强劲，但燃油效率更高的车型。
By contrast, Mr. Trump announced last month that he would roll back increases in American fuel economy averages that President Barack Obama had mandated.	与此形成鲜明对照的是，特朗普于上月宣布，他将把被贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)总统提高的美国平均燃油经济性标准降下来。
Attitudes toward pickups are softening in parts of China. Ford said six provinces had exempted pickups from urban driving restrictions widely imposed on trucks in the country.	在中国部分地区，对皮卡的态度正在软化。中国各地普遍限制卡车在城里行驶，但福特说，已经有六个省份取消了对皮卡的相关限制。
That liberalization could help the fight against air pollution. It could shift the mix of vehicles purchased by farmers away from heavily polluting tractors and toward pickups instead, said Hui He, a senior researcher in the San Francisco office of the International Council on Clean Transportation, a nonprofit research group based in Washington best known for its role in exposing Volkswagen's diesel emissions deception.	这种松动或许有助于对抗空气污染。总部位于华盛顿的非营利研究机构国际清洁交通委员会(International Council on Clean Transportation)旧金山办公室的高级研究员何卉(音)说，这可能会让农民在购买车辆时把目光从严重污染环境的拖拉机转向皮卡。该委员会因其在揭露大众柴油车排放作弊丑闻过程中发挥的作用而为世人所知。
Mr. Liu lives in the southern city of Guangzhou, in Guangdong Province, which has not changed its rules. He said that while he owned other vehicles, he planned to drive his pickup around town sometimes as	刘启鹏生活在南方城市广州，其所隶属的广东省尚未改变规则。他说，虽然还拥有其他车辆，但他打算偶尔像开小汽车一样开着皮卡在城里转转，看警察是否会试图加以阻拦。

"As long as the local authorities don't ban me from driving it here," he said, "I'll drive it."	"只要地方政府有关部门没有出台禁令的话，那我肯定会开的，"他说。

Book Pins Corporate Greed on a Lust Bred at Harvard	哈佛商学院为何成了培养贪婪的地方
If you were to look for one ingredient that binds together the nation's chief executives, top managers and boards of directors, you'd find a remarkably consistent commonality, now and in generations past: A disproportionate number of them are graduates of Harvard Business School.	如果要找出这个国家的首席执行官、高层管理人员以及董事会成员之间的联系，你会发现一个极为一致的共同点：他们中哈佛商学院(Harvard Business School)毕业生的比例格外高，现在是如此，过去几代也是如此。
An M.B.A. from H.B.S., as those in the know refer to it, has long been the ultimate Good Housekeeping stamp of approval on any résumé. Jamie Dimon of JPMorgan Chase, Jeffrey Immelt of General Electric, Sheryl Sandberg of Facebook — and the list goes on and on. The number of Fortune 500 chief executives who earned their business degrees at Harvard is three times the total from the next most popular business school, the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania.	正如了解情况者所言，不论在任何简历上，哈佛商学院的 MBA 文凭都是对卓越管理能力的终极认证。摩根大通(JPMorgan Chase)的杰米·戴蒙(Jamie Dimon)、通用电气(General Electric)的杰弗里·伊梅尔特(Jeffrey Immelt)、Facebook 的谢莉尔·桑德伯格(Sheryl Sandberg)——这个名单可以拉得很长很长。在财富 500 强公司的首席执行官当中，哈佛商学院毕业生总数，比第二受欢迎的商学院，也就是宾夕法尼亚大学沃顿商学院(Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania)的毕业生总数多出两倍。
It is hard to overstate the school's influence on corporate America.	无论如何强调该学院对美国商界的影晌都不过分。
That's why a new, exhaustive history of the school is causing a stir before it is even out. The book, "The Golden Passport," by the veteran business journalist Duff McDonald, is a richly reported indictment of the school as a leading reason that corporate America is disdained by much of the country.	因此，一本详尽记录其历史的新书尚未发行便引发了轰动。出自资深商业记者迪夫·麦克唐纳(Duff McDonald)之手的《金牌通行证》(Golden Passport)，对哈佛商学院提出了一项被媒体广为报道的指控，说它是美国商界受到这个国家的很多人厌弃的一个重要原因。
"The Harvard Business School became (and remains) so intoxicated	"哈佛商学院变得（并且依然）如此沉迷于自身的重要性，以至于在帮助改

with its own importance that it blithely assumed away one of the most important questions it could ask, which was whether the capitalist system it was uniquely positioned to help improve was designed properly for the long term," Mr. McDonald writes in the book, to be released in two weeks.	良资本主义制度方面有着得天独厚优势的它，愉快地忽视了它本可以提出的一个极为重要的问题：这一制度的设计从长期来看是否恰当？“麦克唐纳在将于两周后发售的新书中写道。
His answer? "With economic inequality at a hundred-year high and meaningful progress on climate change and other social and environmental issues embarrassingly paltry, the answer to that question is obvious. It is not."	他的答案？“鉴于经济不平等程度达到百年来的高点，我们在气候变化以及其他社会和环境问题上取得的颇有意义的进展也少得可怜，这个问题的答案显然是否定的。”
Citing a report from the Aspen Institute, Mr. McDonald explains that "when students enter business school, they believe that the purpose of a corporation is to produce goods and services for the benefit of society."	麦克唐纳援引阿斯彭研究所(Aspen Institute)的一份报告解释道：“当学生进入哈佛商学院的时候，他们相信企业的目标是提供产品和服务，增进社会福利。”
"When they graduate," he continues, "they believe that it is to maximize shareholder value."	“等到毕业的时候，”他继续说道，“他们相信实现股东价值最大化才是企业的目标所在。”
Mr. McDonald brilliantly tells the story of the school's creation in 1908, when its mission was to educate the next generation of business managers. Edwin Gay, its first dean, defined business as the "activity of making things to sell at a profit – decently."	麦克唐纳精彩地讲述了该学院于1908年诞生的故事，当时其使命是培育下一代商业管理者。第一任院长埃德温·盖伊(Edwin Gay)把商业定义为“一种通过生产和销售产品获取利润的行为，但要行事端正”。
But, the author says, somewhere during the mid-1980s, something went very wrong: "The money got too good."	但麦克唐纳说，及至1980年代中期，事情开始不对头了：“钱被看得太重要。”
The money he refers to is the tsunami of job offers that Harvard students received from Wall Street, and the funding the school raked in from its well-heeled alumni.	他口中的钱是指哈佛学生收到的来自华尔街的大量工作邀约，以及院方从富有的校友那里获得的大量资助。
In fairness, Harvard Business School makes an easy punching bag, given	说句公道话，作为大企业人才的顶级供应基地，哈佛商学院很容易被人当成

its stature as the top feeder for big business. This is hardly the first time the institution has been criticized.	靶子。这不是它第一次遭受批评。
And it is too much to paint all 76,000-plus alumni as being ethically challenged, as Mr. McDonald appears to imply. Indeed, many of the school's vaunted alumni are among the most talented executives in the country, and many are trying to think about stakeholders holistically.	此外，如果把该学院的超过 7.6 万名校友都说成在道德上有缺陷的人——麦克唐纳似乎是这个意思——未免有些过了。事实上，很多被该学院引以为傲的校友，都是这个国家里最具才干的高管，而且很多人正试图对利益相关者进行通盘考虑。
Yet in example after example, Mr. McDonald sets out his thesis that money and influence have distorted both the school's curriculum and the worldview espoused by its professors, who themselves are on the payroll of corporate America as part-time advisers and consultants.	不过麦克唐纳通过举出一个又一个例子，阐述了自己的观点：金钱和权势既扭曲了哈佛商学院的课程，又扭曲了其教授所秉持的世界观，那些教授本人常常以兼职顾问和咨询师的身份受雇于美国商界。
"For a whole semester, for example, the school is basically bought and paid for by the consulting firms," Mr. McDonald writes, quoting Casey Gerald, a member of the class of 2014 whose rousing speech at the school went viral on YouTube.	"例如，在整整一个学期里，商学院基本上被咨询公司给包了，由它们支付费用，"麦克唐纳援引 2014 级学生凯西·杰拉尔德(Casey Gerald)的话写道。杰拉尔德在哈佛商学院发表的激动人心的演讲曾在 YouTube 上广为流传。
Mr. McDonald's book also makes a provocative argument that Harvard Business School, and, by extension, the American business school complex, is responsible for out-of-whack compensation schemes for top management.	麦克唐纳的新书还抛出了一个带挑衅意味的观点：哈佛商学院，乃至美国的所有商学院，都对涉及高层管理人员的不正常的薪酬计划负有责任。
He quotes Julian Birkinshaw, professor of strategy and entrepreneurship at the London Business School, saying, "There's no doubt that business schools are complicit" in the exorbitant pay packages in boardrooms.	他援引伦敦商学院(London Business School)战略和创业学教授朱利安·伯金肖(Julian Birkinshaw)的话说，"毫无疑问，商学院之间串通一气"，在董事会会议内促成了过高薪酬的出炉。
"We benefit financially from it as well," the quotation continues. "Clearly, the fees we can charge M.B.A. students are correlated with the salaries they can get when they go get jobs."	"我们也从中得到经济上的好处，"他继续引用道。"显然，我们从 MBA 学生那里收取的学费，与他们日后工作时拿的薪水有关。"

In the end, Mr. McDonald acknowledges that “one shouldn’t expect Harvard Business School to be teaching courses on how to overthrow the capitalist economy.”	最终，麦克唐纳承认，“人们不能指望哈佛商学院教授如何推翻资本主义经济秩序的课程。”
But Mr. McDonald does raise enough salient questions that maybe the school should be asking: Should we create a case study about ourselves?	但麦克唐纳的确提出了足够重要的问题——或许哈佛商学院应该自问：我们是否应该开展关于我们自己的案例研究？

When Solar Panels Became Job Killers	当中国的太阳能电池板成了美国的就业杀手
WUHAN, China — Russell Abney raised two children on solar power. The 49-year-old Georgia Tech graduate worked for the last decade in Perrysburg, Ohio, a suburb of Toledo, pulling a good salary as an equipment engineer for the largest American solar-panel maker.	中国武汉——拉塞尔·阿布尼(Russell Abney)在太阳能行业工作，以此养育了两个孩子。过去十年中，这位49岁的佐治亚理工大学毕业生在俄勒冈州托莱多市郊区佩里斯堡工作，在美国最大的太阳能电池板制造公司担任设备工程师，有一份不错的薪水。
On the other side of the world, Gao Song boasted his own solar success story. A former organic fruit retailer who lives in the dusty Chinese city of Wuhan, he installed solar panels on his roof four years ago and found it so lucrative that he went into business installing them for others. By last summer, he and a team of 50 employees were installing solar-panel systems on nearly 100 roofs a month.	在世界的另一边，高松也有着靠太阳能起家的成功故事。他之前是一个有机水果零售商，住在尘土飞扬的中国城市武汉。四年前，他在自家屋顶上安装了太阳能电池板，发现这方面有利可图，于是开始进入这一行业，为其他人安装。到去年夏天，他和一个拥有50名员工的团队每月都为近100个屋顶安装太阳能电池板系统。
Then China shook the global solar business — and transformed both their lives.	然后，中国震撼了全球的太阳能业务，也改变了这两个人的生活。
“A small vibration back in China,” said Frank Haugwitz, a longtime solar industry consultant in Beijing, “can cause an avalanche in prices around the world.”	“在中国的一点小小振荡，”驻北京的太阳能行业资深顾问韩飞(Frank Haugwitz)说，“就可能导致世界各地的价格暴跌。”
Late last summer, Chinese officials began publicly toying with slashing	去年夏末，中国官员开始公开考虑削减他们给国内太阳能电池板买家提供的

the subsidies they offer domestic solar-panel buyers. Mr. Gao's business dried up, and he laid off half his workers. "I have been working hard and was just off to a good start," he said. "Now I have to start over."	补贴。高松的公司业务枯竭，裁掉了一半的工人。“我辛辛苦苦几年，好不容易开了个好头，”他说。“现在又得重头再来。”
China's solar-panel makers cut their prices by more than a quarter to compensate, sending global prices plummeting. Western companies found themselves unable to compete, and cut jobs from Germany to Michigan to Texas and points beyond.	中国的太阳能电池板制造商将产品降价逾四分之一，对补贴的减少做出补偿，这导致全球价格暴跌。西方企业发现自己无法与之竞争，从德国到密西根到德克萨斯，各地都在裁员。
Those points included Perrysburg — where Mr. Abney and about 450 other employees suddenly found themselves out of work. "Within just a few months, it all came crashing down," Mr. Abney said. "It's like a death in the family. People feel awkward talking about it."	其中包括佩里斯堡，也就是阿布尼和大约 450 名员工突然失业的地方。“不到几个月，一切都坍塌了，”阿布尼说。“就像家人去世一样。人们谈起它会感到尴尬。”
President Trump, who pressed President Xi Jinping of China on trade and other issues this week when they met at Mar-a-Lago in Palm Beach, Fla., has vowed to end what he calls China's unfair business practices. Much of his oratory has involved old-fashioned smokestack industries like steel — industries in which the jobs were already disappearing even before the rise of China.	特朗普总统曾承诺结束他所说的中国的不公平商业行为——本周在佛罗里达州棕榈滩的马阿拉歌庄园与中国国家主席习近平会晤时，他曾在贸易等问题上向后者施压。特朗普的豪言壮语主要涉及钢铁等老式烟囱工业，这些行业的工作机会早在中国崛起之前就开始消失。
But economists and business groups warn that China's industrial ambitions have entered a new, far-reaching phase. With its deep government pockets, growing technical sophistication and a comprehensive plan to free itself from dependence on foreign companies, China aims to become dominant in industries of the future like renewable energy, big data and self-driving cars.	但经济学家和商业团体发出警告，称中国的工业雄心已经进入了一个影响深远的新阶段。凭借政府雄厚的财力、日渐成熟的技术和让自身摆脱对外企依赖的综合计划，中国有意成为再生能源、大数据和自驾车等未来产业的主导者。
With solar, it has already happened. China is now home to two-thirds of the world's solar-production capacity. The efficiency with which its	在太阳能方面，这种情况已经发生。中国现在拥有占世界三分之二的太阳能产能。其产品将阳光转化为电力的效率越来越接近美国、德国和韩国公司生

For much of the past century, the ups and downs of the American economy could spell the difference between employment or poverty for people like Chilean copper miners and Malaysian rubber farmers. Now China's policy shifts and business decisions can have the same kind of global impact once wielded by power brokers in Washington, New York and Detroit.	在过去一个世纪的大部分时间里，美国经济的起伏可能会决定智利铜矿工人或马来西亚橡胶农民的就业抑或贫困。现在中国的政策转变和商业决策，也可能产生一度由华盛顿、纽约和底特律的权力中间人所带来的这种全球影响。
The story of China's rise in solar panels illustrates the profound difficulties the country presents to Mr. Trump, or to any American president. Its size and fast-moving economy give it the ability to redefine industries almost on a dime. Its government-led pursuit of dominance in crucial industries presents a direct challenge to countries where leaders generally leave business decisions to the businesses themselves.	中国太阳能电池板崛起的故事，展现了这个国家给特朗普或任何美国总统构成的严重困扰。它的规模和快速发展的经济使它能够很快重新定义各种产业。在政府主导之下，它追求在关键行业内的统治地位，对于那些领导者通常让企业自身做出商业决策的国家来说，这构成一个直接的挑战。
Already, China is the world's largest maker and buyer of steel, cars and smartphones. While it does not necessarily dominate those industries, its government ministries are moving to replicate that success with robots, chips and software — just as in solar.	中国已经是世界上最大的钢铁、汽车和智能手机制造者与买家。虽然它不一定主导这些行业，但其政府部门正在复制机器人、芯片和软件领域的成功——和在太阳能方面一样。
Chinese panel makers "have the capital, they have the technology, they have the scale," said Ocean Yuan, the chief executive of Grape Solar, a distributor of solar panels based in Eugene, Ore. Of American rivals, he said, "they will crush them."	中国太阳能电池板厂商“拥有资本，拥有技术，拥有规模”，位于俄勒冈尤金的太阳能电池板分销商 Grape Solar 公司首席执行官袁海洋(Ocean Yuan)说。至于美国的竞争对手，他说：“他们会击垮他们。”

The son of peasants from China's hardscrabble southwest, Mr. Liu sold some of the family's pigs in 1983 for what was then around $100 to buy some fish. Soon he went into the even more lucrative business of selling fish feed, and he eventually moved into pig feed and duck feed. The brand name, Keli, is a combination of the first and last Chinese characters from a famous paraphrasing of Karl Marx by Deng Xiaoping, the father of modern China: Science and technology are primary productive forces.	刘汉元出身中国穷困的西南部地区一个农民家庭，1983年，他卖了家里养的几头猪，换来当时约合100美元的现金，买了一些鱼。他很快就进入了更加有利可图的鱼饲料销售行业，最终进入了猪饲料和鸭饲料行业。他的品牌名称“科力”来自“科学技术是第一生产力”的第一个字和最后一个字，这是现代中国之父邓小平对卡尔·马克思(Karl Marx)理论的著名释义。
According to Mr. Liu's authorized biography, he faced local criticism at first for his early embrace of capitalism, and responded by saying that his fish feed was an improved product that followed Deng's dictum. "When my business grows bigger," he said at the time, "I will build another floor for labs."	据刘汉元的授权传记，起先他因为早早接受资本主义，在当地遭到批评，他回应说，自己的鱼饲料是遵循了邓小平理论的改良产品。“等发展了，”他当时说，“我要在上面再加一层做化验室。”
Plans to shift into computer chips did not pan out, so by 2006, he shifted to solar technology, after taking control of a company that made chemicals for the production of polysilicon, the crystalline raw material for solar panels. That move proved fortunate: China was just then embarking on a concerted effort to become a solar-industry powerhouse.	转行进入计算机芯片行业的努力并没成功，所以到了2006年，他转向了太阳能技术，控制了一家生产用于制造多晶硅的化学原料的公司，多晶硅是构成太阳能电池板的一种结晶原料。这一举动证明是幸运的：当时的中国正展开全方位合作，致力于成为一个太阳能产业大国。
Over the next six years, Beijing pushed state-owned banks to provide at least $18 billion in loans at low-interest rates to solar-panel manufacturers, and encouraged local governments to subsidize them with cheap land. China had more on its mind than just dominating solar	在接下来的六年里，北京推动国有银行以低利率向太阳能电池板制造商提供至少180亿美元的贷款，鼓励地方政府用廉价的土地资助这些制造商。中国希望的不仅仅是主导太阳能出口：它有严重的污染问题，而且担心气候变化导致的海平面上升可能会破坏沿海许多城市，因此迫切需要开发绿色技术。

exports: Its severe pollution problems and concerns that rising sea levels from climate change could devastate its teeming coastal cities lent urgency to efforts to develop green technology. At the same time, China also became a major player in wind power through similar policies.	与此同时，中国也通过类似的政策成为风电的主要参与者。
With ample assistance, China's solar-power production capacity expanded more than tenfold from 2007 to 2012. Now six of the top 10 solar-panel makers are Chinese, including the top two, compared with none a decade ago. The solar division of Mr. Liu's company, the Tongwei Group, which discloses few financial details, is one of the fastest-expanding players in the industry.	在这样的大量协助之下，从2007年到2012年，中国的太阳能发电量有了十倍以上的增长。世界十大太阳能电池板生产商中有六个来自中国，其中包括前两名，要知道，十年前的十大生产商中还没有一家中国公司。刘汉元公司的太阳能分公司通威集团极少披露财务细节，它是业内增长最快的企业之一。
In 2012 and 2013, the United States and the European Union concluded that Chinese solar-panel makers were collecting government subsidies and dumping panels, or selling them for less than the cost of producing and shipping them. Both imposed import limits. Chinese manufacturers and officials denied improper subsidies and dumping, and still do.	2012年和2013年，美国和欧盟认为中国的太阳能电池板制造商获得政府补贴，倾销电池板，也就是以低于生产和运输成本的价格出售。两者都实行了进口限制。中国制造商和官员否认不当补贴和倾销，而且依然在这样做。
Several large Chinese manufacturers that had previously overexpanded and had been selling at heavy losses for years then closed their doors. But Western solar companies say Chinese banks still lent heavily to the survivors despite low loan-recovery rates from the defaults of big Chinese solar companies like Suntech, Chaori and LDK Solar.	过度扩张、多年严重亏损的几家中国大型制造商后来倒闭。但西方太阳能公司称，尽管尚德、超日和赛维LDK等出现债务违约的中国大型太阳能公司的贷款回收率很低，中国的银行依然向存活下来的企业发放大量贷款。

"The main subsidy is massive, below-market loans by Chinese state-owned commercial banks to finance new capacity and also the massive ongoing losses of Chinese companies," said Jürgen Stein, the president of American operations for SolarWorld, a big German panel maker.	"主要补贴是中国国有商业银行的大量低于市场水平的贷款，它们为中国企业的新产能和持续巨额亏损提供资金，"德国大型太阳能面板制造商 SolarWorld 的美国业务总裁于尔根·施泰因(Jürgen Stein)表示。
Li Junfeng, a top architect of China's renewable-energy policies until he retired from that responsibility in early January, said that the West had exaggerated the role of the state in helping to finance Chinese solar-panel manufacturers. "The market can decide for itself," he said. "The good companies can get money, the bad companies cannot."	李俊峰曾是中国可再生能源政策的首席规划者，直到今年1月初退休。他表示，西方国家夸大了中国政府在资助太阳能电池板制造商方面起到的作用。"市场会自行决定，"他说，"好公司能赚钱，坏公司不能。"
Like the Chinese solar industry as a whole, Tongwei is thinking bigger.	和中国的整个太阳能产业一样，通威在考虑做得更大。
Mr. Liu's company bought an enormous solar-panel manufacturing complex in central China in 2013 from LDK Solar, which had run into severe financial difficulties. Now it plans to build factories of five gigawatts apiece in the Chinese cities of Chengdu and Hefei. By comparison, the entire global market is only about 77 gigawatts each year, while world capacity is 139 gigawatts.	2013年，刘汉元的公司在中国中部从赛维 LDK 手中买下了一个庞大的太阳能电池板制造群——赛维 LDK 陷入了严重的财务困难。现在，刘的公司计划在中国的成都市和合肥市分别建设一个产能为5千兆瓦的工厂。相比之下，整个全球市场每年只有77千兆瓦产能，而全世界的产能是139千兆瓦。
At the same time, Mr. Liu is dismissive of companies in the West that pioneered many solar technologies but have lost their market shares to China. "They are very jealous," he said, "and cannot catch up with China's pace."	与此同时，刘汉元对西方的公司表示不屑，他们开创了许多太阳能技术，却把很多市场份额输给了中国。"他们羡慕嫉妒，"他说，"但就是赶不上中国的速度。"
From an environmental standpoint, China's solar push has been good for the world. Solar-panel prices have fallen close to 90 percent over the past decade. Many of the solar panels in America's backyards and solar power plants are made by Chinese companies.	从环境角度讲，中国对太阳能的推动对全世界来说是有利的。太阳能电池板的价格在过去十年里下降了近90%。美国家庭后院和太阳能发电厂的许多太阳能电池板都是中国公司制造的。

But for the solar industry, Chinese expansion could mean an extended period of low prices and cutbacks for everybody else.	但对太阳能产业来说，中国人的开疆拓土可能意味着价格在很长一段时间里都处于低位，其他所有人都要收缩。
"The solar industry is facing again, I would say, a new winter," said Patrick Pouyanné, the chairman and chief executive of Total, the French oil and gas giant, which owns a controlling stake in SunPower, an American solar-panel maker.	"我得说，太阳能产业正面临又一个冬天，"法国石油天然气巨头道达尔(Total)董事长兼首席执行官潘彦磊(Patrick Pouyanné)说。道达尔拥有美国太阳能面板制造商 SunPower 的控股权。
China now hopes to replicate its solar industry's growth in other areas.	中国眼下希望将其太阳能产业的增长复制到其他领域。
Under a plan called Made in China 2025, China hopes to become largely self-sufficient within seven years in a long list of industries, including aircraft, high-speed trains, computer chips and robots. The plan echoes the solar-panel and wind-turbine buildup a decade ago, but with a larger checkbook. Made in China 2025 calls for roughly $300 billion in financial backing: inexpensive loans from state-owned banks, investment funds to acquire foreign technologies, and extensive research subsidies.	按照一项名为“中国制造 2025”的计划，中国希望于 7 年内在多个产业基本实现自给自足，其中包括飞机、高铁、计算机芯片和机器人。该计划与十年前的太阳能电池板和风力涡轮机热潮相呼应，但要动用更多资金。“中国制造 2025”大约需要 3000 亿美元的资金支持：包括来自国有银行的低息贷款，用于获取外国技术的投资基金，以及大量研究补贴。
If successful, Made in China 2025 would represent a fundamental shift in how China deals with the world. Initially, most of the industries that moved to China, such as shoe and clothing production, were already leaving the United States anyway. Heavy industries such as steel followed. While the shift was profound — some economists estimate that up to 2.4 million American jobs were lost to China from 1999 to 2011, though others dispute that analysis — China has struggled in some areas like autos to create viable global competitors.	“中国制造 2025”若取得成功，便意味着中国与世界打交道的方式发生根本性转变。最初转移到中国的大多数产业，比如制鞋和制衣，本就正在远离美国。随后是钢铁之类的重工业。这种产业转移具有深远影响——一些经济学家估计，1999 至 2011 年间，多达 240 万个工作岗位从美国流向了美国，不过也有一些人对此表示怀疑——但中国在汽车等某些领域一直难以培养出能在全球市场独立生存的竞争者。
American and European business groups have warned that the China 2025 plan means that a much wider range of Western businesses will	美国和欧洲的商业团体一直警告称，“中国制造 2025”计划将让更大范围内的西方企业面临已经改变了太阳能产业的那种有政府背景的竞争。

face the same kind of government-backed competition that has already transformed the solar industry.
"The policies started in solar and are now starting to infect the higher reaches of the economy with Made in China 2025," said Jeremie Waterman, the president of the China Center at the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington.	"这些政策始于太阳能产业，目前随着‘中国制造 2025’的实施，开始在较高的经济层面发挥影响力，"华盛顿美国商会(United States Chamber of Commerce)大中华区主任王杰(Jeremie Waterman)说。
In the end, China did not slash subsidies for rooftop solar panels, and cut them only slightly for large power-plant arrays. But prices barely rebounded from last year's slump.	最终，中国没有大幅削减对屋顶的太阳能板的补贴，只是轻微削减了对电厂的大型太阳能板阵列的补贴。但价格几乎没有从去年的低谷反弹。
Mr. Gao, of Wuhan, is a slender 37-year-old whose dark hair is already thinning. He said that his business had depended not on homeowners but on profit-minded investors who made use of the subsidies.	武汉的高松现年 37 岁，身材消瘦，头上的黑发已经变得稀疏。他说他的生意所仰仗的并不是业主，而是希望利用补贴牟利的投资者。
The investors would pay three-fifths of the cost of a homeowner's system. The homeowner would take only enough electricity from the panels to power the home. The investor would sell the rest of the electricity to the grid at a high, government-assisted price.	这些投资者会为业主的太阳能面板系统支付五分之三的费用。太阳能板发的电有一部分被业主用来满足自家的用电需求。剩余的电力则被投资者以得到政府补贴的高价卖给电网。
The suggestion that the government might cut the subsidy, even though the government did not follow through on it, panicked his investors. So they stopped financing further deals.	政府或许会削减补贴的迹象——尽管政府并未如此行事——让他的投资者感到惶恐。因此他们不再为以后的交易提供资金支持。
"They fear that the year after next, they may have nothing," he said. He recently hired four more employees to drum up sales, even as installations creep along at a small fraction of demand a year ago.	"他们担心，一年一年地，最后他们什么都拿不到了，"他说。尽管需求跟一年前比只是个零头，安装量很低，他最近还是又招了四个人以便提振销售。
In Perrysburg, Mr. Abney lost his job at First Solar, the largest solar-panel manufacturer based in the United States, and looked in vain for a job in the auto industry in the Toledo area. He ended up taking a job three	在佩里斯堡，阿布尼丢掉了自己在美国最大的太阳能面板生产企业第一太阳能(First Solar)的工作，一度徒劳地想要在托莱多地区的汽车行业谋个差事。他最终于三周前接受了宾夕法尼亚州兰开斯特一家建筑材料公司的工作邀

weeks ago at a building materials company in Lancaster, Pa. His daughter is going off to college in the autumn, while his wife and son, a high school freshman now, will follow him to central Pennsylvania this summer.	约。他的女儿将于今年秋天离开家去上大学，而他的妻子和目前念高一的儿子将追随他的脚步，于今年夏天搬到宾夕法尼亚中部。
"It's hardest on him because we're pulling him away from his high school and his activities," Mr. Abney said.	"这对他来说是最困难的，因为我们将硬生生地把他带离他的高中以及他熟悉的生活，"阿布尼说。
First Solar struggled with improving Chinese technology as well as dropping prices.	中国的技术水平不断提高，再加上价格不断下降，让第一太阳能公司面临着重重困难。
It laid off workers in Perrysburg partly because it decided not to produce its Series 5 generation of panels, which represented a limited improvement over its existing Series 4 panels. First Solar, to better compete with Chinese producers, will wait for its lower-cost, high-efficiency Series 6 panels to be ready for production in 2018. In the end, First Solar, which is based in Tempe, Ariz., laid off 1,600 people worldwide.	它在佩里斯堡裁员，部分是因为决定放弃生产第五代太阳能面板——第五代产品只在第四代基础上做了有限的改进。为了更好地和中国厂商竞争，第一太阳能将等待其成本低、效能高的第六代产品准备就绪，在2018年投产。最终，总部位于亚利桑那州坦佩的第一太阳能在世界范围内裁掉了1600人。
"It's just kind of a shock factor when a lot of families realize they're no longer going to have a job," said Michael Olmstead, the Republican mayor of Perrysburg.	"当很多人意识到自己不再有工作的时候，肯定很震惊，"佩里斯堡市的共和党市长迈克尔·奥姆斯特德(Michael Olmstead)说。
Though Mr. Abney has started his new job at almost the same pay as his previous one, he says part of him pined for the days when the United States still led in solar energy, and when First Solar was at the forefront of that leadership.	阿布尼已经开始了新工作，薪水和前一份工作差不多，但他说，每每想起从前的日子，他就颇为伤感——美国那时候还在太阳能产业当中占据着领导地位，第一太阳能则居于那种领导地位的最前端。
"They were good for us," he said. "And it was great while it lasted."	"从前的日子对我们来说很美好，"他说。"可惜好景不长。"

Has the United States mismanaged the ascent of China?	美国是否对中国的崛起处理不当？
By April 15, the Treasury Department is required to present to Congress a report on the exchange rate policies of the country's major trading partners, intended to identify manipulators that cheapen their currency to make their exports more attractive and gain market share in the United States, a designation that could eventually lead to retaliation.	4月15日之前，美国财政部须向国会提交关于美国主要贸易伙伴汇率政策的报告，旨在指出哪些是操纵国，通过贬低自己的货币，来增加其出口产品的吸引力，在美国抢夺市场份额——这项认定可能最终导致报复措施。
It would be hard, these days, to find an economist who feels China fits the bill. Under a trade law passed in 2015, a country must meet three criteria: It would have to have a "material" trade surplus with the rest of the world, have a "significant" surplus with the United States, and intervene persistently in foreign exchange markets to push its currency in one direction.	如今很难找到一位经济学家认为中国符合这个说法。根据2015年通过的一项贸易法，一个国家必须满足三个标准才能算得上货币操纵国：它必须和世界其他国家间拥有“实质性”贸易顺差；对美国存在“巨大”顺差；并持续干预外汇市场，推动其货币价格往一个方向发展。
While China's surplus with the United States is pretty big — almost $350 billion — its global surplus is modest, at 2.4 percent of its gross domestic product last year. Most significant, it has been pushing its currency up, not down. Since the middle of 2014 it has sold over $1 trillion from its reserves to prop up the renminbi, under pressure from capital flight by Chinese companies and savers.	虽然中国对美国的顺差相当大——近3500亿美元——但它的全球顺差并不大，去年仅占其国内生产总值的2.4%。最重要的是，它一直在推高而非压低其货币价格。自2014年中期起，迫于中国公司和储户资金外流的压力，中国已经出售了逾1万亿美元的外汇储备，以支撑人民币的汇率。
Even President Trump — who as a candidate promised to label China a currency manipulator on Day 1 and put a 45 percent tariff on imports of Chinese goods — seems to be backing away from broad, immediate retaliation.	甚至连特朗普总统——他竞选时承诺在上任第一天就把中国列为货币操纵国，对中国进口商品征收45%的关税——似乎也不再打算立即进行广泛报复。
And yet the temptation remains. "When you talk about currency manipulation, when you talk about devaluations," the Chinese "are world champions," Mr. Trump told The Financial Times, ahead of the	然而诱惑依然存在。上周中国国家领导人习近平到美国进行国事访问前，特朗普在接受《金融时报》(The Financial Times)采访时表示，“当谈到货币操纵，谈到货币贬值时”，中国人“是世界冠军”。

state visit of the Chinese leader, Xi Jinping, to the United States last week.
For all Mr. Trump's random impulsiveness and bluster — and despite his lack of a coherent strategy to engage with what is likely soon to become the world's biggest economy — he is not entirely alone with his views.	尽管特朗普冲动随意，喜欢夸口恐吓——尽管他在与可能即将成为世界最大经济体的中国打交道时缺乏连贯的战略——但并非只有他持这种观点。
Many learned economists and policy experts ruefully acknowledge that the president's intuition is broadly right: While labeling China a currency manipulator now would look ridiculous, the United States should have done it a long time ago.	许多有学识的经济学家和政策专家沮丧地承认，总统的直觉总的来说是对的：虽然现在将中国列为货币操纵者会显得荒谬，但美国应该在很久之前就这么做了。
"With the benefit of hindsight, China should have been named," said Brad Setser, an expert on international economics and finance who worked in the Obama administration and is now at the Council on Foreign Relations.	"事后看来，中国早该被列为货币操纵国，"国际经济和金融专家布拉德·塞策 (Brad Setser) 表示。他曾为奥巴马政府效力，现在供职于对外关系委员会 (Council on Foreign Relations)。
There were reasonable arguments against putting China on the spot and starting a process that could eventually lead to American retaliation.	我们有比较好的理由去反对把中国列为罪魁祸首，反对开始一个可能最终导致美国进行报复的过程。
Yet by not pushing back against China's currency manipulation, and allowing China to deploy an arsenal of trade tactics of dubious legality to increase exports to the United States, successive administrations — Republican and Democratic — arguably contributed to the economic dislocations that pummeled so many American workers over more than a decade. Those dislocations helped propel Mr. Trump to power.	但是，由于不抵制中国的货币操纵行为，允许中国制订各种具有可疑合法性的贸易策略，增加对美国的出口，历届美国政府——共和党和民主党的政府——在十多年时间里造成了现在的经济混乱，打击了为数众多的美国工人。正是这些混乱帮助将特朗普推上了台。
From 2000 to 2014 China definitely suppressed the rise of the renminbi to maintain a competitive advantage for its exports, buying dollars hand	从 2000 年到 2014 年，中国肯定是压制了人民币的升值，以保持其出口商品的竞争优势。它买入大量美元，在此期间增加了 4 万亿美元的外汇储备。

over fist and adding $4 trillion to its foreign reserves over the period. Until 2005, the Chinese government kept the renminbi pegged to the dollar, following it down as the greenback slid against other major currencies starting in 2003.	在 2005 年之前，中国政府一直将人民币与美元挂钩，从 2003 年起，随着美元对其他主要货币贬值，人民币的价格也跟着下滑。
American multinationals were flocking into China, taking advantage of its entry into the World Trade Organization in December 2001, which guaranteed access to the American and other world markets for its exports. By 2007, China's broad trade surplus hit 10 percent of its gross domestic product – an unheard-of imbalance for an economy this large. And its surplus with the United States amounted to a full third of the American deficit with the world.	当时，美国跨国公司纷纷涌入中国，以利用中国 2001 年 12 月加入世界贸易组织带来的良机——入世确保中国的出口商品可以进入美国和世界其他市场。到 2007 年，中国广泛的贸易顺差达到国内生产总值的 10%——对如此庞大的一个经济体来说，这是前所未闻的失衡。而对美国的顺差则达到美国与全世界逆差的整整三分之一。
Though the requirement that the Treasury identify currency manipulators "gaining unfair competitive advantage in international trade" dates back to the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988, China was never called out.	虽然要求财政部找出“在国际贸易中获得不公平竞争优势”的货币操纵国的做法可以追溯到 1988 年的《综合贸易与竞争力法》(Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness), 但中国从未上榜。
There were good reasons. Or at least they seemed so at the time. For one, China hands in the administration of George W. Bush argued that putting China on the spot would make negotiations more difficult, because even Chinese leaders who understood the need to allow their currency to rise could not be seen to bow to American pressure.	这样做也是有充分理由的。或者至少当时似乎是这样的。比如，乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)政府的中国说客指出，将中国列为货币操纵国会使得谈判变得更为困难，因为甚至连那些认为需要允许人民币升值的中国领导人，也不愿显得自己是屈从于美国的压力。
Labeling China a manipulator could have severely hindered progress in other areas of a complex bilateral economic relationship. And the United States had bigger fish to fry.	将中国列为操纵国可能会严重阻碍中美复杂双边经济关系其他领域的进步。而且，美国有更大的问题有待解决。
"There were other dimensions of China's economic policies that were seen as more important to U.S. economic and business interests," Eswar	曾任国际货币基金组织(International Monetary Fund)中国部主任、现为康奈尔大学(Cornell)教授的埃斯瓦尔·普拉萨德(Eswar Prasad)在接受采访时

Prasad, who headed the China desk at the International Monetary Fund and is now a professor at Cornell, told me. These included “greater market access, better intellectual property rights protection, easier access to investment opportunities, etc.”	表示，“中国经济政策的其他一些方面被视为对美国的经济和商业利益更为重要”，包括“更大的市场准入，更好的知识产权保护，更顺畅的投资路径等”。
At the end of the day, economists argued at the time, Chinese exchange rate policies didn't cost the United States much. After all, in 2007 the United States was operating at full employment. The trade deficit was because of Americans' dismal savings rate and supercharged consumption, not a cheap renminbi. After all, if Americans wanted to consume more than they created, they had to get it somewhere.	说到底，当时经济学家认为，中国的汇率政策并没有给美国造成多大损失。毕竟，2007年，美国的失业率很低。美国的贸易赤字是因为美国人很少储蓄，过度消费，而不是因为人民币便宜。毕竟，如果美国人想要消耗多于自己创造的东西，就必须从什么地方获得它们。
And the United States had a stake in China's rise. A crucial strategic goal of American foreign policy since Mao's death had been how to peacefully incorporate China into the existing order of free-market economies, bound by international law into the fabric of the postwar multilateral institutions.	中国的崛起也符合美国的利益。毛泽东去世后，美国外交政策的一个重要战略目标是如何和平地将中国纳入已有的自由市场经济秩序中，用国际法把它约束在战后多边体制的结构里。
And the strategy even worked — a little bit. China did allow its currency to rise a little from 2005 to 2008. And when the financial crisis hit, it took the foot off the export pedal and deployed a giant fiscal stimulus, which bolstered internal demand.	这项战略甚至起到了一点点作用。从2005年到2008年，中国确实允许其货币升值了一点。金融危机爆发后，它不再主要依赖出口，而是通过巨额财政刺激扩大了内需。
Yet though these arguments may all be true, they omitted an important consideration: The overhaul of the world economy imposed by China's global rise also created losers.	然而，尽管这些观点可能都是真实的，但它们忽略了一个重要考虑因素：中国的全球崛起对世界经济造成的大变动也造就了一些输家。
In a set of influential papers that have come to inform the thinking about the United States' relations with China, David Autor, Daron	在一系列引发人们思考美中关系的有影响力的论文中，麻省理工学院(Massachusetts Institute of Technology)的戴维·奥特(David Autor)、达

Acemoglu and Brendan Price from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Gordon Hanson from the University of California, San Diego; and David Dorn from the University of Zurich concluded that lots of American workers, in many communities, suffered a blow from which they never recovered.	龙·阿塞莫格鲁(Daron Acemoglu)和布兰登·普莱斯(Brendan Price); 加州大学圣迭戈分校(University of California, San Diego)的戈登·汉森(Gordon Hanson); 以及苏黎世大学(University of Zurich)的戴维·多恩(David Dorn)总结称, 许多社区的众多美国工人遭受重创, 至今仍未恢复。
Rising Chinese imports from 1999 to 2011 cost up to 2.4 million American jobs, one paper estimated. Another found that sagging wages in local labor markets exposed to Chinese competition reduced earnings by $213 per adult per year.	一篇论文估计, 从1999年至2011年, 中国进口商品的增加导致240万美国人失业。另一篇文章发现, 与中国竞争的地方劳动力市场的工资下滑导致成年人的年均收入每年减少213美元。
Economic theory posited that a developed country like the United States would adjust to import competition by moving workers into more advanced industries that competed successfully in global markets. In the real world of American workers exposed to the rush of imports after China erupted onto world markets, the adjustment didn't happen.	经济理论认为, 像美国这样的发达国家会通过将工人转移到在全球市场上具有竞争力的更先进的行业来适应进口竞争。但在现实世界中, 中国闯入世界市场后, 美国工人面对进口商品的洪流, 并没有实现这种调整。
If mediocre job prospects and low wages didn't stop American families from consuming, it was because the American financial system was flush with Chinese cash and willing to lend, financing their homes and refinancing them to buy the furniture. But that equilibrium didn't end well either, did it?	黯淡的就业前景和低迷的工资并没有阻止美国家庭消费, 那是因为美国的金融体系拥有充裕的中国现金, 它愿意发放贷款, 给美国家庭购房提供资金, 再给他们买家具提供资金。但是, 那种经济平衡的结局并不好, 不是吗?

maintaining political support for open trade.”
If there was a winner from this dynamic, it was Mr. Trump.	如果这种动态平衡中有一位赢家，那就是特朗普。
Will Mr. Trump really go after China? In addition to an expected executive order to retaliate against the dumping of Chinese steel, he has promised more. He could tinker with the definitions of “material” and “significant” trade surpluses to justify a manipulation charge.	特朗普真的会惩罚中国吗？除了预期中报复中国钢铁倾销的行政令之外，他还做出了更多承诺。他可以调整“实质性”和“巨大”贸易顺差的定义，以证明对中国的操纵指控是有根据的。
And yet a charge of manipulation would add irony upon irony. “It would be incredibly ironic not to have named China a manipulator when it was manipulating, and name it when it is not,” Mr. Setser told me. And Mr. Trump would be retaliating against the economic dynamic that handed him the presidency.	然而，操纵指控会成为双重讽刺。“在中国操纵时不将它列为操纵国，而在它不操纵时反倒将它列为操纵国，这非常具有讽刺性，”塞策在接受采访时说。这等于特朗普去打击把自己推向总统职位的经济动态。

Deal by Chinese Tech Company LeEco for Vizio Dies	乐视海外扩张受挫，放弃收购美国电视公司 Vizio
BEIJING — An ambitious Chinese technology giant with a French-sounding name burst into the United States last year with dreams of disruption.	北京——去年，一个雄心勃勃的中国科技巨头，带着一个有点像法语的名字和打破格局的梦想冲进了美国。
Called LeEco, it offered to buy Vizio, one of the biggest names in American big-screen televisions, for $2 billion. Its founder backed an American start-up that showed off a sleek electric concept car. An affiliate was gearing up for the release of “The Great Wall,” having helped to finance the $150 million film that starred Matt Damon and was intended to show that China could make its own Hollywood-style blockbusters.	这个名叫乐视控股(LeEco)的公司出价 20 亿美元欲收购美国最大的大屏幕电视公司之一 Vizio。乐视的创始人还投资了一家美国初创公司，展示了一辆时尚的概念电动车。它的一个分公司当时正在为电影《长城》(The Great Wall)的发行做准备，该公司为这部耗资 1.5 亿美元、由马特·达蒙(Matt Damon)主演的电影投入了资金，旨在表明中国可以制造自己的好莱坞风格大片。
Today, LeEco is in retreat. On Tuesday, it said the $2 billion Vizio deal	如今，乐视正在后退。周二，它表示，因为“监管方面的阻力”，与 Vizio 这

LeEco shows how the Chinese tech world can also get ahead of itself. Businesses like ride-hailing, bike-sharing and delivery services have expanded quickly, sometimes leading to dramatic retreats. In a country flush with optimistic venture-capital investors and a lot of other cash sources, money often goes to the company that makes the grandest prediction — putting intense pressure on that company to follow through.	乐视表明中国科技界也有可能过分超前了。从事网约车、共享单车和快递服务的企业在迅速扩张，这有时也会导致大举撤退。在一个充斥着乐观的风险投资者以及大量其他现金来源的国家，金钱往往会被做出最宏伟预期的公司所得到——这为后来的公司带来了很大的压力。
LeEco’s vision was certainly grand. As a holding company with a stake in the publicly traded Leshi Internet Information & Technology Corporation, LeEco was once just one of a number of Chinese online video streaming companies. But its founder, Jia Yueting, invested in a dizzying array of new business lines — movie production, smart TVs and phones, sports broadcasting and goods, electric cars and car sharing, cloud computing and online finance.	乐视的愿景肯定是宏大的。作为持有上市公司乐视网信息技术公司股份的控股公司，乐视曾经是中国众多的在线视频流媒体公司之一。但其创始人贾跃亭投资了一系列令人眼花缭乱的新业务——电影制作、智能电视和手机、体育转播和商品、电动汽车和共享汽车、云计算和网络金融。
The conglomerate embarked on a string of debt-financed acquisitions, including stakes in the Chinese electronics companies Coolpad Group	该集团开始进行一系列债务融资收购，其中包括中国电子产品生产商酷派集团(Coolpad Group)和 TCL 多媒体(TCL Multimedia)的股权。乐视还收购了

Mr. Jia adopted a high profile. He publicly pledged to take on Apple and Tesla and began wearing black hoodies and black long-sleeve shirts like the tech icons of Silicon Valley, adopting just the initials YT in contacts with his employees. Regarding Apple, last year he said the iPhone maker's pace of innovation had become "extremely slow."	贾跃亭一向高调。他公开宣称会接受苹果和特斯拉的挑战，并开始像硅谷的那些标志性科技人物那样穿黑色帽衫和黑色长袖衫，和员工联系时只写自己名字的缩写 YT。关于苹果，去年他曾说这个 iPhone 制造商的创新速度已经变得“非常缓慢”。
The year before that, Mr. Jia posted an image to one of his social media accounts comparing Apple to Hitler, though he later apologized.	再往前一年，贾跃亭用他的一个社交媒体帐户发表了一张图片，把苹果同希特勒进行比较，尽管他后来道了歉。
LeEco — a name that links its Chinese name Le with the word ecology, representing Mr. Jia's dream for a range of interconnected gadgets and services — also began looking abroad.	“LeEco”这个名字将它的中文名称“乐”(Le)与“生态”(ecology)联系起来，代表了贾跃亭发展一系列相互关联的小工具与服务的梦想，公司也开始寻求海外发展。
In the United States, Mr. Jia made an undisclosed investment in Faraday Future, a Los Angeles-based electric car start-up that later announced a $1 billion car plant in North Las Vegas. LeEco acquired Dichotomy, run by the Hollywood insider Adam Goodman, and a LeEco affiliate, Le Vision Pictures, said it would cofinance "The Great Wall." The acquisition of Vizio, one of the largest sellers of televisions in the United States, was set to give LeEco a solid foothold in the world's largest consumer market.	在美国，贾跃亭对位于洛杉矶的电动汽车初创公司 Faraday Future 进行了具体数额未公开的投资，后来该公司宣布将在北拉斯维加斯建造一个价值 10 亿美元的汽车厂。乐视收购了由好莱坞内部人士亚当·古德曼(Adam Goodman)经营的公司 Dichotomy，乐视的分公司乐视影业称它将联合为《长城》融资。Vizio 是美国最大的电视销售商之一，收购这家公司将使乐视在世界上最大的消费市场站稳脚跟。
Those dreams sent the shares of Leshi Internet soaring in 2015, and made Mr. Jia one of China's richest men on paper, according to the Hurun Report, which tracks the country's wealthy.	根据跟踪调查中国富人情况的“胡润报告”，这些梦想令乐视网的股票在 2015 年出现飙升，并使贾跃亭成了中国最富有的人之一。
But the pace of deals began to take a toll. A rising group of Chinese companies, including the longtime telecommunications giant Huawei	但交易的步伐开始遭遇阻力。包括长久以来的电信巨头华为技术公司在内的中国企业在不断崛起，智能手机领域内的竞争在加剧，而乐视在视频流等领

Mr. Jia acknowledged last fall that his LeEco conglomerate was overextended and was running out of cash. At a meeting in November to reassure investors, he stressed the importance of the American market and said LeEco offered a way to change minds about China.	贾跃亭在去年秋天承认，他的乐视集团已经过度扩张，现金不足。在 11 月的一次安抚投资者的会议上，他强调了美国市场的重要性，并表示乐视有望改变外界对中国的印象。
"They think China's companies are copycats, plagiarists, incapable of big innovation," he told the audience in Beijing, according to a publicly filed transcript of the event, acknowledging that further debt financing would be harder to come by. "On the contrary, this is a country with heroic companies."	"他们认为中国的企业都是跟随者、抄袭者，很难做出大的创新，"根据公开发表的会议发言记录，他在北京的活动中对观众说，会中他承认进一步的债务融资将难以实现。"恰恰这是个有许多英雄公司的国家"。
In the first nine months of 2016, the conglomerate's mobile affiliate alone posted an $820 million loss on $1.6 billion of revenue, according to investor materials seen by The New York Times.	根据《纽约时报》得到的投资者资料，2016 年的前 9 个月，仅仅该集团的移动业务分公司便亏损了 8.2 亿美元，其收入是 16 亿美元。
In January, the conglomerate appeared to secure a lifeline with a $2.2 billion investment from Sunac China, a real estate developer, which purchased minority stakes in three of the conglomerate's more stable businesses, including the smart TV affiliate Leshi Zhixin, Le Vision Pictures, and Leshi Internet.	一月份，集团似乎得到了一根救命稻草，从房地产开发商融创中国(Sunac China)那里获得了一项价值 22 亿美元的投资，融创中国在该集团三项较稳定的业务中购买了少数股权，其中包括智能电视分公司乐视致新、乐视影业和乐视网。
Other businesses face challenges: Electric cars are years away from mass production, and the smartphone market remains intensely competitive.	其他业务则面临挑战：电动汽车距离量产还有数年时间，智能手机市场的竞争依然激烈。
It is not clear whether LeEco's retreat on Vizio was related to its financial problems. Chinese officials, worried about money moving out of the country, have grown skeptical of some foreign acquisitions, even	乐视在 Vizio 一事上的撤退是否与其财务问题有关，目前尚不清楚。中国官员担心货币流出海外，对一些涉外收购愈来愈持怀疑态度，即使他们欢迎了某一些对外收购。乐视的一位发言人拒绝透露电子邮件声明之外的细节，该

Yahoo Is Sued Over $17 Million Fund for Chinese Dissidents	中国异见人士起诉雅虎，不满人权基金被挪用
A group of Chinese political activists filed a lawsuit in federal court against Yahoo on Tuesday, saying the company failed to properly oversee a $17 million fund it created a decade ago to help Chinese writers, democracy advocates and human rights lawyers persecuted for standing up to the country's government.	一群中国的政治活动人士周二把雅虎告上联邦法院，称该公司未能对 10 年前创立的一个 1700 万美元的基金会做出适当监管。该基金旨在帮助因对抗中国政府而遭受迫害的作家、民主倡导人士和人权律师。
The lawsuit, filed in the United States District Court in Washington, accuses Yahoo senior executives of turning a blind eye as the fund's manager, Harry Wu, illegally spent millions of dollars on high-end real estate, inflated staff salaries and a museum documenting the history of forced labor camps in China.	在华盛顿的美国地方法院提起的这起诉讼指控雅虎高管对该基金会负责人吴弘达的非法行为视而不见，放任他在高端房地产、过高的员工工资，以及一个劳改历史博物馆上花费了数以百万计的美元。
According to the lawsuit, Mr. Wu, a veteran Chinese dissident who died last April, spent less than 4 percent of the money on humanitarian aid.	根据该诉讼，资深中国异见人士吴弘达在去年 4 月去世前，该基金在人道主义援助方面花的钱不到 4%。
The lawsuit demands that Yahoo replenish the trust, which has been significantly depleted.	这个信托中的资金已经大大减少，原告要求雅虎为其补充资金。
Suzanne Phillion, a spokeswoman for Yahoo, declined to comment, saying the company does not discuss litigation.	雅虎发言人苏珊娜·菲力恩(Suzanne Phillion)拒绝置评，表示该公司不会讨论诉讼问题。
The legal action arrives at an awkward time for Yahoo, which is in the final stages of merger negotiations with Verizon Communications. The discussions have been buffeted by revelations that Yahoo delayed disclosures of huge hacking intrusions that compromised its computer network.	雅虎与威瑞森通讯公司(Verizon Communications)的合并谈判正处在在最后阶段，这起法律诉讼出现的时机对雅虎很是尴尬。之前大型黑客入侵事件攻破雅虎计算机网络，该公司推迟披露此事的做法曝光之后，合并谈判已经遭受了很大冲击。

The lawsuit is also a reminder of one of the more ignominious episodes in Yahoo's history. In 2007, the company, based in Silicon Valley, belatedly acknowledged that it had provided Chinese authorities with the identities of subscribers in China whose emails had angered the government. The disclosures led to the jailing of two activists who were given 10-year prison sentences.	这起诉讼也是雅虎历史上更可耻的篇章之一。2007年，这家总部位于硅谷的公司终于承认，它为中国政府提供了一些账户资料，这些用户曾经激怒过中国政府。雅虎的所作所为最后导致两名活动人士被判处了10年监禁。
In a public rebuke, a congressional panel criticized Yahoo's chief executive at the time, Jerry Yang, and accused him of lying about the company's cooperation with Chinese security officials.	国会的一个小组公开指责了当时的雅虎首席执行官杨致远，称他在雅虎与中国安全官员的合作问题上说了谎。

To settle litigation against the company, Mr. Yang subsequently gave $3.2 million to relatives of each of the two jailed dissidents. And in an unusual move, the company provided more than $17 million for the creation of a humanitarian fund dedicated to helping Chinese activists and their families.	为了解决针对该公司的诉讼，杨致远随后给了两名遭监禁的异见者亲属各320万美元。而且该公司还做出了不寻常的举动，提供了1700多万美元，设立了一个致力于帮助中国的活动人士及其家属的人道主义基金。
To administer the money, Yahoo turned to Mr. Wu, a politically connected rights advocate who had spent 19 years in Chinese labor camps before gaining asylum in the United States.	为了管理好这笔钱，雅虎找到政治人脉活络的人权倡导人士吴弘达，在获得美国的庇护之前，他曾在中国被劳改19年。
An irascible, strong-willed figure, Mr. Wu ended up spending much of that money on his organization, the Laogai Research Foundation, which had worked to expose China's exploitative use of prison labor, especially involving people jailed for political crimes.	吴弘达是一个脾气暴躁、意志坚定的人物，他把大量资金花在了自己的机构——劳改研究基金会上。该基金会致力于揭露中国剥削监狱劳工的状况，特别是涉及政治原因被判入狱的囚犯。

Circle neighborhood of Washington, a $60,000 raise for Mr. Wu and what the lawsuit contends was a no-show job for his wife. Mr. Wu, the documents show, also spent $800,000 from the fund to defend himself against a number of lawsuits accusing him of sexual harassment or the misuse of federal grants.	为吴弘达增加 6 万美元的涨薪, 以及该诉讼指出的其妻坐吃空饷。文件显示, 吴弘达还用基金中的 80 万美元来为涉及他性骚扰或滥用联邦拨款的案件做辩护。
According to the foundation's filings, only $700,000 was distributed to Chinese dissidents or their families, many of whom were forced into poverty by the government in its effort to dissuade others from publicly criticizing the ruling Communist Party.	基金会的文件显示, 只有 70 万美元被分配给了中国的异见者或其家属, 其中很多人遭到政府迫害, 变得贫困潦倒; 政府这么做是想阻止其他人公开批评执政党共产党。
Of the original $17.3 million, less than $3 million is thought to remain.	最初的 1730 万美元, 现在可能只剩下了不到 300 万美元。
Mr. Wu died last year at 79 while on vacation in Honduras. In an interview with The New York Times shortly before his death, he defended his decision to pull back from the fund's original mission, saying that the intended recipients were too demanding and could not be trusted.	吴弘达去年在洪都拉斯度假期间死亡, 享年 79 岁。他在过世前不久接受过《纽约时报》的采访, 当时他为自己的决定做了辩护, 说他决定取消该基金原来的使命, 因为目标受助人苛求太多, 不可信任。
The museum he created in Dupont Circle was closed shortly after his death, and several people involved with his organization, the Laogai Research Foundation, said it had been crippled by internecine fighting and litigation.	他在杜邦圈创建的博物馆在他去世后不久就关闭了, 而且和他的劳改研究基金会有关联的几个人表示, 由于内斗和诉讼, 这个基金会已经陷入困境。
In a statement issued Tuesday, the board said it hoped to reopen the museum and resume operations in the near future. "The LRF is currently going through a process of house-cleaning including a thorough independent audit, making a complete inventory, resolving all the past problems including the problems left behind as a result of former employees' non-cooperation," the statement said.	在周二发表的声明中, 委员会表示希望在不久的将来重新开放这个博物馆并恢复经营。声明说: "劳改研究基金会目前正在开展整顿, 包括进行完全独立的审计, 开列清单, 解决所有的遗留问题, 包括由于前员工不合作而留下的问题。"

The lawsuit was filed on behalf of eight dissidents in China who said that the Yahoo executives who sat on the board of the humanitarian fund did not do enough to rein in Mr. Wu's inappropriate and profligate spending. The suit was filed by Cohen Milstein Sellers & Toll, a Washington firm that specializes in litigating allegations of human rights abuse.	这起诉讼是由八名中国异见者提出的，他们说，该人道主义援助基金会的委员会中有雅虎高管，但他们却对吴先生不适当的、挥霍性的支出遏制不力。诉讼是由专门从事涉嫌侵犯人权案件的华盛顿律所 Cohen Milstein Sellers & Toll 提交。
"In standing idly by while it knew the money was being squandered, Yahoo abandoned its responsibilities to the fund's beneficiaries, who have risked their lives speaking out for political reform in China," said Times Wang, a lawyer with the firm.	该律所律师泰姆士·王(Times Wang)说：“知道钱被浪费了却放任不管，雅虎放弃了对基金受益人的责任，这些受益人冒着生命危险在中国为政治改革大声疾呼。”
In a phone interview, He Depu, one of the plaintiffs, said he hoped the lawsuit would compel Yahoo to replenish the fund and ensure that the money is properly administered. "We hope Yahoo will seize this opportunity and do the right thing," said Mr. He, a democracy advocate who has written about the torture he endured during eight years of incarceration. "Actually for them, either morally or financially, this is not a difficult thing to do."	在接受电话采访时，原告之一的何德普说，他希望这起诉讼将迫使雅虎补充资金，确保资金得到适当的支配。他说：“我们希望雅虎抓住这个机会，做出正确的事情。实际上对他们来说，无论在道义上还是在经济上，这都不是一件困难的事情。”何德普是一位民主斗士，曾写下八年牢狱期间所遭受的折磨。
Cao Yaxue, a Chinese activist in the United States, said the money was desperately needed. A government crackdown on dissent has intensified in recent years, and even modest crowdfunding efforts in China that seek to help activists or their families have been quashed by the authorities.	居住在美国的中国活动人士曹雅学说，他们迫切需要这笔钱。近年来，政府加大了对异见人士的打击力度，就算是在中国为维权活动人士及其家属提供援助的小型众筹活动，也遭到了当局打压。

Treasury Says China Isn't a Currency Meddler, After Trump Reversal	美财政部确认中国未操纵货币，促北京开放市场
WASHINGTON — The Treasury Department officially declined on Friday to label China a currency manipulator, breaking one of President Trump's most prominent campaign promises.	华盛顿——财政部上周五正式拒绝把中国列为货币操纵国，特朗普总统在竞选活动中最重要的承诺之一未能兑现。
In its exchange rate report to Congress, the Treasury said that in spite of China's large trade surplus with the United States, it was not acting improperly to depress the value of its currency.	财政部在向国会提交的汇率报告中表示，尽管中国与美国的贸易顺差很大，但中国并没有不正当地压低币值。
Mr. Trump signaled this week in an interview that he was reversing his position, and he has taken a less confrontational stance toward China since meeting with President Xi Jinping this month.	特朗普在上周接受采访时表示，自从本月与习近平主席会晤以来，他正在转变自己的立场，减弱对中国的对抗立场。
The report did take a more pointed tone toward China than in previous years, calling on Beijing to act to reduce trade imbalances and open its markets to American goods and services. It also said that the United States remained poised to act if China did start to meddle with its currency, as it did in the not-too-distant past.	这份报告对中国的态度也确实比前几年更加尖锐，它呼吁北京采取行动，减少贸易不平衡，对美国的商品和服务开放市场。它还表示，如果中国开始干预货币，美国仍然会采取行动，就像并非久远的过去一样。
"China will need to demonstrate that its lack of intervention to resist appreciation over the last three years represents a durable policy shift," the report said.	报告说："中国需要表明，它在过去三年中没有对升值进行干预，是一个持续性的政策转变。"
A currency manipulator designation is largely symbolic and starts	被列为货币操纵国在很大程度上是象征性的，美国将会因此开启和任何决心

negotiations between the United States and any country determined to be manipulating its exchange rate.	操纵汇率的国家之间的谈判。
Mr. Trump's about-face was notable because of how forceful he was in his insistence as recently as this month that China was a currency manipulator.	特朗普改弦更张值得注意，因为他就在本月还坚称中国是货币操纵国。
Mr. Trump told The Financial Times that the Chinese were "world champions" at currency manipulation. He said previous American presidents "haven't had a clue" about how to deal with it.	特朗普曾对《金融时报》(The Financial Times)说，中国是操纵货币的“世界冠军”。他说，以前的美国总统对于如何处理此事“毫无头绪”。
Mr. Trump also made the issue a staple of his campaign speeches. In accepting the Republican nomination last summer, Mr. Trump called China the "greatest currency manipulators ever!"	特朗普也把这个问题作为竞选演讲的基本内容之一。特朗普在去年夏天接受共和党提名时说，中国是“最大的货币操纵国”。
Upon announcing his candidacy in 2015, Mr. Trump said that China's currency practices were making it impossible for American companies to compete and declared, "They're killing us."	2015年特朗普宣布参加竞选的时候，他说中国操纵货币的做法让美国公司无法竞争，并声称“他们正在扼杀我们”。
In the Trump campaign's "contract" with American voters he promised, "I will direct the Secretary of the Treasury to label China a currency manipulator" in the first 100 days of his presidency.	特朗普竞选时与美国选民签订的“合同”中，他承诺，在他担任总统职位的头100天里，“我要指示财政部长把中国列为货币操纵国”。
The Treasury report was being awaited with great interest until Wednesday, when Mr. Trump offered a preview in an interview with The Wall Street Journal. He said he had changed his mind on China.	特朗普周三接受《华尔街日报》(The Wall Street Journal)的采访放出口风之前，很多人都在饶有兴趣地等待财政部的报告。他说自己改变了对中国的想法。
"They're not currency manipulators," he said.	“他们不是货币操纵国，”他说。

Emerging Market Stocks Have Come Roaring Back. Can They Go Any Higher?	新兴市场股价反弹，如何保持持续增长？

Propelled by a rebound in commodity prices, emerging market stocks have roared back over the last year. But if the sector is to continue to prosper, many fund managers say, it will need to be fueled by other factors.	受大宗商品价格反弹的推动，新兴市场的股价在过去一年里出现强力反弹。但许多基金经理表示，这个领域若想持续增长，还需要其他因素的助推。
Weak commodity prices, which contributed to emerging market mutual and exchange-traded fund losses in 2013, 2014 and 2015, helped these funds post double-digit gains in the first quarter of this year. The funds are now up almost 17 percent in the 12 months through March.	曾在 2013、2014 年和 2015 年导致新兴市场共同基金和交易所买卖基金 (ETF) 遭遇损失的大宗商品价格疲软，帮助这些基金在今年一季度实现了两位数增长。在截至 3 月底的 12 个月里，这些基金已经增长了近 17%。
"What has been driving emerging market returns in the last year was the recovery in commodity prices, which led to a number of commodity producers' doing well," said Arjun Divecha, head of the emerging markets equity team at the asset management firm GMO.	"推动新兴市场去年实现反弹的是大宗商品价格的回升，这让许多大宗商品供应商表现良好，"资产管理公司 GMO 的新兴市场股票团队负责人阿尔琼·迪夫查(Arjun Divecha)说。
This explains why funds focused on oil-dependent markets have risen more than emerging market equities as a whole: iShares MSCI Russia Capped E.T.F., for instance, is up more than 28 percent over the 12 months through March, while iShares MSCI Brazil Capped E.T.F. is up nearly 39 percent as oil prices have climbed 37 percent.	这解释了为何专注于依赖石油的市场的基金所获增长，超过了新兴市场股票的整体增长水平：比如俄罗斯的 iShares MSCI Russia Capped E.T.F. 在截至 3 月底的 12 个月里增长了逾 28%，巴西的 iShares MSCI Brazil Capped E.T.F. 在油价剧增 37% 的情况下，激增了近 39%。
But commodity bets are notoriously volatile and will take you only so far with emerging market stocks, several fund managers say. Several other strategies may make more sense for the longer term.	但好几名基金经理表示，众所周知押注大宗商品波动很大，而且只能让新兴市场股票增长到这个程度。其他几种策略或许能带来更长远的增长。
For example, Michael Kass, manager of the Baron Emerging Markets Fund, favors what he calls EM 2.0 — companies led by "value creators" working in cutting-edge areas like software development, machine learning, artificial intelligence, biotechnology and other health sciences.	比如，巴伦新兴市场基金(Baron Emerging Markets Fund)经理迈克尔·卡斯(Michael Kass)偏好被他称为 EM2.0 的公司——由软件开发、机器学习、人工智能和生物技术及其他健康科学等前沿领域的"价值创造者"率领的企业。"试图在这些领域获得市场份额的高利润率企业那里，才能找到最大的利润，"

“The biggest profits will be found in high-profit-margin companies trying to gain market share in all those areas,” he said.	他说。
One such company is China’s Alibaba Group, which like Amazon.com is branching out beyond online retail into areas like cloud computing, machine learning and robotic delivery mechanisms like drones and driverless cars. Alibaba is the top holding in the Baron Emerging Markets Fund.	中国的阿里巴巴集团便是一家这样的企业，与亚马逊公司(Amazon.com)一样，它正在突破网上零售领域，进入云计算、机器学习，以及无人机和无人驾驶车等机器人投递装置领域。阿里巴巴是巴伦新兴市场基金投资配置最多的公司。
An added benefit of owning these types of high-quality growth stocks, Mr. Kass said, is that they are likely to hold up better than their peers if emerging markets take another spill – one set off, perhaps, by rising interest rates in China and the United States.	卡斯表示，拥有这些高质量成长型股票的另一个好处是，如果新兴市场再度遇挫——比如或许被中国和美国不断增长的利率所触发，那么它们可能会比其他同类公司更加坚强。
Innovation is not the only factor that may determine the success of investments in the developing world. “One focus now is on structural reform stories,” said Ben Kirby, co-manager of the Thornburg Developing World Fund. He points out that many countries have been trying to restructure their economies for more sustainable growth.	创新不是决定在发展中国家的投资能否成功的唯一因素。“现在的一个关注点是结构性改革，”索恩伯格发展中世界基金(Thornburg Developing World Fund)联席经理本·柯比(Ben Kirby)说。他指出，为了获得更具实质性的增长，许多国家一直在努力调整自身的经济结构。
China has embarked on “supply-side reforms” to tackle overcapacity in several crucial industries, including steel and coal. “They’re shutting down idle capacity and high-cost producers,” Mr. Kirby said. In fact, he said, this may be one reason commodity prices have started to lift as Chinese supply is being restricted.	中国开启了“供给侧改革”，以解决包括钢铁和煤炭在内的几个关键行业的产能过剩问题。“他们在关闭闲置产能和成本过高的制造商，”柯比说。他还提到，实际上这或许是大宗商品价格开始上涨的原因之一，因为中国的供应在收紧。
India has also embarked on an economic reform effort. It just passed a national goods and services tax, which will replace and untangle a web of local- and state-levied fees. The hope is that the tax shift will promote business activity across the vast country’s different regions,	印度也开启了一项经济改革。它刚刚通过了一项全国性的商品与服务税，将取代和理清邦税与联邦政府税网络。改革者期待这项税收变革能促进这个巨大国家不同地区的经济活动，同时增加政府的税收收入。

while raising tax revenues.
The tax policy changes and India’s recent demonetization efforts — which pulled popular rupee notes from the market in an effort to root out counterfeiting and black-market activity — are expected to drive deposits into the formal banking sector and bolster the formal economy.	这项税收政策变化和印度最近推行的货币作废行动——将流通颇广的几种卢比纸钞退出，以此根除假币和黑市活动——有望推高正规银行的储蓄额，推动正规经济的发展。
What type of company would benefit from that? “One stock we’ve added to lately is ICICI Bank,” Mr. Kirby said. ICICI is not the most dominant bank in India — that would be the Mumbai-based HDFC Bank, he said, which is a leading provider of mortgage loans.	什么样的公司会从中获利？“我们最近增加的一支股票是 ICICI Bank，”柯比说。他承认印度工业信贷投资银行(ICICI)并非印度最重要的银行——最重要的是总部位于孟买的 HDFC 银行，它是该国抵押贷款的主要提供者。
“The problem is HDFC is expensive,” he said, noting that the stock trades at more than four times the company’s book value. In contrast, ICICI trades at a small fraction of that multiple, Mr. Kirby said, and the bank’s focus on corporate loans means it could benefit from any economic improvements in India brought about by reform.	“问题是 HDFC 太贵了，”他说，并指出这家公司的股票交易价格是其账面价格的四倍多。柯比表示，相比之下，ICICI 的交易价格与账面价格的比值要小得多，而且这家银行主要关注企业债，这意味着它可以从改革带来的印度经济改善中获益。
Another approach to emerging market investing, and a classic one, still works well, said James Syme, senior fund manager with J O Hambro Capital Management. Investors can focus on exporters “that benefit from demand in the developed world,” he said.	在 J O 汉布罗资本管理(J O Hambro Capital Management)高级基金经理詹姆斯·赛姆(James Syme)看来，投资新兴市场还有一种办法、同时也是一种十分经典的途径，依然行之有效。他表示，投资者可以专注于“从发达国家需求中获益”的出口商。
These can be companies like Samsung Electronics and Taiwan Semiconductor, which supply components to Western technology manufacturers. But they can also be exporters that cater to consumers in the developed world, like the Hyundai Motor Company.	它们可以是三星电子(Samsung Electronics)和台积电等公司，它们给西方科技制造企业提供零配件。但也可以是迎合发达国家消费者需求的出口商，比如现代汽车集团(Hyundai Motor Company)。

China’s Economy Grows 6.9%, Continuing Its Steady Rise	中国一季度经济增长小幅加速，隐忧犹存
SHANGHAI — China’s economic data is usually very predictable. But occasionally there are surprises, though so small that by other countries’ standards they would barely be noticed.	上海——中国的经济数据通常与预测非常相符。但偶尔也有让人吃惊之处，但程度之小，以至于按照其他国家的标准，几乎不会引起人们的注意。
The country’s economy, the world’s second-largest behind that of the United States, grew 6.9 percent in the first quarter, led by strong expansion at factories, Chinese officials said Monday. The pace marked a slight acceleration in the country’s economic tempo after five consecutive quarters in which China reported growth of either 6.7 percent or 6.8 percent, a remarkable period of stability in the official data.	中国官员周一表示，今年第一季度，中国这个仅次于美国的全球第二大经济体的经济增长了 6.9%，主要是工厂出现了强劲扩张。这个增长速度标志着经济增长步伐略有加快，此前中国经济连续五个季度的增长率都是 6.7% 或 6.8%，出现了一个官方数据极为稳定的时期。
Most economists had predicted that China would report 6.8 percent growth again for the first quarter. The slightly higher figure announced on Monday reflected the construction industry’s heavy use of steel, which had been expected to slow, while investment in electronics factories rose as overseas demand strengthened.	大多数经济学家曾预测，今年第一季度中国会再次宣布 6.8% 的增长率。周一宣布的数字略高一点，反映了建筑行业大量的钢材使用情况，人们曾预测钢材的使用会下降，同时，随着海外需求的加剧，对电子产品工厂的投资也有所增加。
Government data nonetheless holds some warning signs. While a torrent of mortgages issued by the state-controlled banking sector has helped housing sales, the number of housing starts has been rising even faster this spring.	然而，政府数据也包含着一些警告的迹象。虽然国有银行业发放的大量抵押贷款推动了住房的销售，但今年春季住房开工数量的增长速度甚至更快。
That mismatch will add to the number of unsold homes, at a time when	在政府决策者担心抵押贷款太容易获得、也许已经将房价推到了无法承受的

government policy makers are concerned whether the easy availability of mortgages may have already driven housing prices to unaffordable heights. Last month at the National People's Congress, Premier Li Keqiang lowered China's growth target for this year to "around 6.5 percent or higher, if possible," suggesting that the government's economists expected slower growth.	高度的时候，上述不匹配的情况将让未售出房屋的数量有所增加。在上个月的全国人大上，中国总理李克强已将中国今年的增长目标降至“6.5%左右，在实际工作中争取更好结果”，这表明政府的经济学家预计增长会放缓。
But for now, Chinese officials are savoring a strong quarter and are quick to attribute it to measures taken last year to close inefficient coal mines and factories and to improve overall productivity.	但就目前而言，中国官员看到的是一个强劲的季节，他们马上把其归功于去年采取的措施，也就是通过关闭低效率的煤矿和工厂来提高整体生产力。
"Since last year with supply-side reforms, the demand-and-supply relationship is obviously improving and enterprises have more confidence," Mao Shengyong, the spokesman for the National Bureau of Statistics, said at a news conference in Beijing.	国家统计局发言人毛胜勇在北京举行的新闻发布会上说：“去年以来，随着供给侧结构性改革扎实推进，市场的供求关系明显改善，企业的信心也在不断增强。”
There are plenty of reasons not to take the stability, or even slight acceleration, at face value. Economists instead will parse more detailed data on trade, construction and retail spending to divine whether China — the largest single contributor to global growth in recent years — will continue to keep the world economy in gear.	有很多理由让人不能把这些表面数字作为经济保持稳定、甚至略微加速增长的证据。经济学家将会对更详细的贸易、建筑行业 and 零售开支等数据进行分析，以判断中国是否会继续带动世界经济，近年来，中国一直是全球经济增长的最大单一贡献者。
Yet based on those other data points, the Chinese economy does appear to be steaming along, even as Beijing begins trying to rein in rampant lending. Industrial production increased 7.6 percent in March, the best performance since the end of 2014. Investment and retail sales were also unexpectedly strong.	不过，从那些其他数据来看，中国的经济似乎是在蒸蒸日上，尽管北京已开始试图遏制贷款的疯狂增长。今年3月份的工业增加值增长了7.6%，这是2014年底以来的最好表现。投资和零售业也出人意料地强劲。
The trick will be to continue that growth while also trying to curb China's dependence on loans by big state-owned banks to large	问题是如何让增长持续下去，政府正在试图遏制中国经济对大型国有银行向大型国有企业发放贷款的依赖，贷款让这些企业维持开支和投资，甚至是对

state-owned enterprises, which has allowed these enterprises to go on spending and investing even in money-losing ventures. The government has been reluctant to risk protests by curtailing lending this year, particularly with a big conclave of the Communist Party to be held in late autumn.	亏损企业的投资。政府一直不愿意减少这种贷款，以免发生抗议，尤其是在今年秋季召开共产党代表大会之前。
Official data shows that China's economy has grown between 6.7 percent and 7.2 percent for the last 11 quarters, a stunningly long period of stability by international standards. By comparison, figures for growth in the United States can move by one or two full percentage points from quarter to quarter.	官方数据显示，中国经济在过去 11 个季度的增长速度保持在 6.7%到 7.2%之间，用国际标准来衡量，经济如此稳定的时间之长令人惊讶。相比之下，美国的经济增长数字可能从一个季度到下个季度会出现一到两个百分点的变化。
Now, China is not exactly like the rest of the world. The government directly controls its big banks, huge state-owned companies and other tools it can use to hit its growth targets. The government spends very heavily on new roads and rail lines, and a surge in government spending in March helped push the economy along. But the government has much less control over retail spending and private investment, which should make the data more volatile.	不过，中国与世界其他地方不同。中国政府直接控制国内的大银行，也控制着大型国有企业和其他可用于实现增长目标的工具。政府在道路和铁路建设上投入巨大，政府支出 3 月份出现激增，推动了经济的发展。但是，政府对零售开支和私人投资的控制能力要小得多，这应该让相关数据有更大的波动。
Chinese officials themselves have said the country's data can be unreliable, though outright fraud has not been documented at the national level. Many economists believe China uses a combination of policy and statistical sleight-of-hand to achieve steady results. By this theory, Chinese policy makers make moves to get what they want, like expanding infrastructure spending and mortgage lending during slowdowns, but they also engage in data smoothing by understating	中国官员曾主动表示，政府的数据可能不可靠，虽然还没有过在国家层面进行明目张胆的数据作假的纪录。许多经济学家认为，中国通过政策和统计手法的结合来获得稳定的数据。这种理论认为，中国的决策者们通过采取行动来获得他们想要的东西，比如在经济放缓期间，扩大基础设施支出和增加发放住房抵押贷款，但他们也用在经济发展好的年头低估增长、在不好的年头夸大增长的方法进行数据平滑。 growth in good years and overstating growth in bad years.

Factories Hum	工厂繁忙
Despite the dubious predictability, other figures do suggest that China's economy is expanding at a vigorous pace.	尽管这种可预测性值得怀疑，但其他数据也表明中国经济增长充满活力。
Economists had expected industrial production to maintain in March the same 6.3 percent growth that it showed in January and February and were taken by surprise by Monday's announcement that production was up 7.6 percent. That means China's factories are staying busy. Exports are one reason, as the world appears to be showing more appetite for the types of things that China churns out and sends abroad. The Treasury Department's decision in Washington on Friday not to name China as a currency manipulator, despite a campaign promise by President Trump to do so, removes another possible threat to China's exports.	经济学家曾预测,3月份的工业增加值增长将保持在1月份和2月份的6.3%,周一公布的7.6%的增长令他们惊讶。这意味着中国的工厂处于繁忙状态。出口是其中一个原因,世界似乎对中国生产和出口的那些东西有了更大的胃口。美国财政部周五在华盛顿做出决定,不把中国列为货币操纵国,尽管特朗普总统在竞选期间曾承诺要那样做,这就消除了对中国出口的另一个可能的威胁。
Consumer electronics have led China's export boom in recent years and have also been at the center of rising domestic demand. Production continues to surge for devices like smartphones and energy-efficient light-emitting diodes, an alternative to compact fluorescent lights or traditional incandescent bulbs.	近年来,电子消费品带动了中国的出口热潮,也是国内需求上升的关键。智能手机和高能效发光二极管等产品的生产不断增长,发光二极管灯泡是小型荧光灯或传统白炽灯的替代产品。
Liu Rulong, 25, a salesman for Guangzhou Juhong Optoelectronics, a manufacturer of light-emitting diodes based in southeastern China, said that his sales were up 20 percent. He said he was expecting monthly bonuses this spring of $1,160 to $1,450 and that some colleagues earned even more.	广州市巨宏光电有限公司是总部设在中国东南部地区的一家发光二极管生产商,公司销售员、25岁的刘如龙(音)表示,自己的销售额增长了20%。他说,他预计今年春季的月度奖金在1160至1450美元之间,有些同事挣得更多。
"I'm still in the middle — some salesmen did far better than me," Mr. Liu	刘先生说:"我处于中等水平,有些销售员比我强多了。" said.

Real estate is a big factor in China's growth. Last year, China's central bank urged commercial banks to step up mortgage lending to support the housing market, which had been weakening in some cities. The mortgages have produced frenzied buying over the past year. That has helped construction but has also raised worries that housing prices, already unusually high by international standards relative to local incomes, might have become an unsustainable bubble.	房地产是中国经济增长的一个重要因素。去年，中国央行呼吁商业银行增加发放抵押贷款的力度，以支持一些城市疲软的房地产市场。抵押贷款的增长在过去一年里已经引发了疯狂的住房购买。这对建筑行业有帮助，但也引起人们担忧，房价可能已成为不可持续的泡沫，从国际标准来看，相对于当地收入，中国的房价已经非常高了。
All this comes amid signs that China is trying to curb the lending that has driven so much of its growth in recent years. That lending kept the economy going but resulted in heavy debt that economists worry could hinder the country's growth for years to come. So far, the government's modest pressure on banks to limit lending, notably through slight increases in short-term interest rates, seems to have had only a limited impact on overall bank lending, however, and very little effect on mortgage lending.	所有这些都发生在中国正试图遏制贷款的时候，近年来，中国经济发展的大部分是借贷推动的。借贷维持了经济稳定，但导致了沉重的债务，经济学家担心，债务问题可能会阻碍中国未来的经济增长。但是，政府迄今对银行贷款采取的温和限制措施，比如略微提高短期利率的做法，似乎对银行的整体贷款影响有限，对住房抵押贷款几乎没有影响。
Still Building Homes	仍在修建住宅
Chinese households put as much as nine-tenths of their savings into real estate, more than households in many other countries. That has continued to produce strong demand for new apartments, which in turn has led to a brisk pace of construction.	中国家庭将多达 90% 的储蓄投入到房地产中，超过了很多国家。这持续推动了修建新公寓的强劲需求，从而又导致了建设施工步伐的快速增长。
Credit data released on Friday showed that bank loans to households, a category in which mortgage lending plays a leading role, leapt 24.6 percent in March compared to the same month a year ago, even as other categories of lending began slowing somewhat. The industrial	周五发布的信贷数据显示，3 月份虽然其他类别的贷款开始放缓，以房贷为主导的银行贷款类别同比增长了 24.6%。工业生产数据显示，中国的钢铁等行业仍受益于房贷热潮及其支撑的施工建设项目。

production data suggests that China's steel mills and other industries are still benefiting from the mortgage boom and the construction that it has financed.
The National Bureau of Statistics said on Monday that overall investment in fixed assets, including factories as well as office towers and apartment buildings, climbed 8.8 percent for the first quarter, little changed from a pace of 8.9 percent for the first two months of the year despite the central bank's modest moves to limit credit. Private investment quickened in March, offsetting a slight slowing in what remains very heavy investment by the government, particularly in rail lines and other infrastructure.	国家统计局周一表示，固定资产投资（包括工厂、办公楼和公寓）第一季度增加了 8.8%，尽管中央银行小幅限制了信贷，这与今年前两个月的 8.9% 相比也没有太大变化。3 月份私人投资加快，抵消了政府投资的略微放缓。政府的投资力度仍然很大，特别是在铁路和其他基础设施上。
Earning and Spending	收入和支出
Chinese blue-collar wages have surged as much as eightfold in the past dozen years. That has considerably eroded the country's once-daunting advantage in labor costs compared with the West, but has also produced a broad-based surge in prosperity that has fostered a rise in consumer spending.	十几年来，中国蓝领工人的工资飙升了八倍。这大大削弱了该国相对于西方在劳动力成本方面一度令人畏惧的优势，但是也带动了广泛的繁荣兴旺，促进了消费增长。
The government has wanted for many years to shift the economy away from its dependence on investment and toward a greater reliance on consumption, but that process has been slow. The National Bureau of Statistics said on Monday that retail sales were up 10.9 percent in March from a year earlier, considerably stronger than economists expectations of a pace below 10 percent. .	多年来，政府希望中国经济从依赖投资转向更多地依赖消费，但这一进程一直比较缓慢。国家统计局周一表示，3 月份零售额同比增长 10.9%，远高于经济学家预期的不足 10%。

Ivanka Trump's Global Reach, Undeterred by a White House Job	伊万卡搬进白宫，她的品牌走向世界
LONDON — Ivanka Trump calls her father a homebody. "If it were up to him, he'd seldom leave New York," she once wrote.	伦敦——伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)说她的父亲是个宅男。“如果让他说了算，他都不怎么愿意离开纽约，”她曾经写道。
By contrast, she has been her family's leading globalist — doing deals around the world in her father's name and her own. Even since her father took office, her own fashion brand has continued to look abroad, filing four new trademarks in Canada and the Philippines, according to a New York Times analysis of trademark records.	相比之下，她成了家族中的头号全球主义者——以她父亲和自己的名字在全世界做交易。据《纽约时报》的一份商标记录分析，自她父亲上任以来，她本人的时装品牌仍在展望海外市场，在加拿大和菲律宾申请了四个新的商标。
The continued activity is tricky territory for Trump's new job as White House adviser. While she has stepped down from both her own fashion company and from the Trump Organization and put her brand in a trust, she has not given up her financial control, an unusual situation to navigate now that she is subject to federal ethics rules on conflicts of interest.	由于特朗普有了白宫顾问这个新工作，持续进行品牌经营活动变成了棘手的领域。虽然她已经从自己的时装公司和特朗普集团(Trump Organization)辞职，将她的品牌置于托管，但她并没有放弃对自己的财务进行控制，这是一个很不寻常的情况，因为她受到关于利益冲突的联邦伦理规则制约。
Even though many of her trademark applications were filed long before she took her government job, they could be decided on by foreign governments while she works in the White House, creating ethical issues with little precedent. While trademarks do not directly confer financial gains, they protect the use of logos and other intellectual property, making them valuable tools for companies looking to build new ventures or expand existing operations.	尽管许多商标申请都是在她接受政府工作很久前提交的，但有可能是她进入白宫工作期间才被外国政府决定批准，这造成了几乎没有先例的伦理问题。虽然商标不能直接带来经济利益，但它们可以保护品牌标志的使用以及其他知识产权，对于希望建立新企业或扩大现有业务的公司来说是很有价值的工具。
Earlier this month, China approved three new trademarks for her brand on the same day she met China's president, Xi Jinping, according to an Associated Press report. Japan also approved trademarks in Ivanka Trump's name in February that included footwear, handbags and other	据美联社报道，本月初，在她与中国国家主席习近平会面当天，中国便批准了她的品牌的三个新商标。记录表明，日本在2月也批准了伊万卡·特朗普名下的若干商标，其中包括鞋类、手袋和其他服饰。时报的分析显示，以她的名字提交申请的商标正在10个国家内等待批准，包括科威特、卡塔尔、

apparel, records show. And trademark applications in her name are awaiting decisions in 10 countries, the Times analysis showed, including Kuwait, Qatar, Panama and Brazil.	巴拿马和巴西。
Trump has long been conducting a corporate two-step, trying to build her own global brand as she has helped push her father's name into new parts of the world. Overall, Ivanka Trump Marks LLC, her trademarking business, has filed 173 foreign trademarks in 21 countries, as well as in Hong Kong and the European Union, in little more than a decade, according to the Times analysis. There are probably more, since there is no single repository of all global trademarks. All of the applications on record took place before she was a White House adviser.	特朗普长期以来一直在跳企业二步舞，一边帮助父亲把他的名字推向世界的新领域，一边也努力建立自己的全球品牌。根据时报的分析，总体而言，她的商标业务公司“伊万卡·特朗普商标公司”(Ivanka Trump Marks LLC)十几年来已在 21 个国家及香港和欧盟申请了 173 个外国商标。因为不存在全球所有商标的统一信息库，实际可能还有更多。所有记录在案的申请都是在她成为白宫顾问之前提交的。
Trump's previous role as an informal adviser to President Donald Trump had already raised questions. She is a woman with a multitude of overseas business ventures who since the election has been afforded prime seating at meetings with a who's who of foreign leaders — from Justin Trudeau to Shinzo Abe to Angela Merkel.	特朗普此前只是唐纳德·特朗普总统的非正式顾问，然而那个角色已经带来了问题。她拥有众多海外商业机构，自从大选之后，在同贾斯汀·特鲁多(Justin Trudeau)到安倍晋三(Shinzo Abe)乃至安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)等众多外国政要会面时，她都得到了重要席位。
Now such issues become more complex. While presidents are exempt from federal conflict of interest law, Trump and her husband, Jared Kushner, another senior White House aide, are not. They are barred from making decisions in government that could benefit their financial holdings, which are worth as much as $740 million, according to recent filings. They are also covered by the Constitution's emoluments clause barring federal officials from accepting "any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince or foreign state."	现在这样的问题变得越来越复杂。虽然总统可以不受联邦利益冲突法约束，但伊万卡·特朗普和她的丈夫、另一位高级白宫助理贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)却并非如此。根据最近的文件，他们被禁止在政府中做出可能有利于他们所持股份的决定，这些股份价值高达 7.4 亿美元。他们还受到宪法的薪酬条款限制，相关条款禁止联邦官员接受“来自任何国王、王子或外国政府的任何礼物、薪酬、职务或任何形式的头衔。”

Whether trademarks run afoul of such rules is a matter of debate between the Trump administration and its critics. Trademarks are certainly valuable assets as companies seek exclusive control over their global brands, and Trump herself has said that the first step in building a brand is to “do a comprehensive trademark search.”	特朗普政府与其批评者之间就商标是否违反这些规则展开了辩论。商标肯定是宝贵的资产，公司都会追求对自己的全球品牌拥有独家控制权，特朗普本人说过，建立品牌的第一步是“进行全面综合的商标搜索”。
Trump has taken steps to separate herself from her company. Her brother-in-law and sister-in-law serve as trustees, while Abigail Klem, her brand’s president, runs the company’s day-to-day operations.	特朗普已经逐步同自己的公司分离。她的小叔和小姑担任受托人，她的品牌总裁阿比盖尔·克莱姆(Abigail Klem)负责公司的日常业务。
But she has kept her financial interest in the company, and retains the ability to approve or veto certain deals through her trust arrangement. Trump also maintains a stake in the Trump International Hotel in Washington, just down the street from the White House.	但她一直保持在公司的经济利益，并保留通过信托安排批准或否决某些交易的能力。她也保留了华盛顿的特朗普国际酒店(Trump International Hotel)的股份，这家酒店就在白宫的那条街上。
“When they weren’t going into the White House, I thought there was a lot of leeway there,” said John Pudner, the executive director of the conservative nonprofit Take Back Our Republic.	“他们还没有进入白宫时，我认为这里仍有很大的余地，“保守非盈利组织”夺回我们的共和国”(Take Back Our Republic)总干事约翰·普德纳(John Pudner)说。
Now, he said, “anything can be viewed as influence.”	至于现在，他说，“一切都可以被视为影响力。”
“I think it’s bad for the administration,” added Pudner, who voted for Donald Trump. “It could call into question any decision made, people wondering if there’s a business angle to it.”	“我认为这对政府是不利的，“投票给唐纳德·特朗普的普德纳补充说。“这可能会给任何决定都带来质疑，人们会猜测这些决定里是否有商业角度存在。”
The White House referred comments to the Trump Organization, which did not comment.	白宫将置评请求转给特朗普集团，后者没有置评。
Klem, president of Ivanka Trump’s brand, said in a statement, “The brand has filed, updated and rigorously protected its international trademarks over the past several years in the normal course of business, especially in regions where trademark infringement is rampant.	伊万卡·特朗普品牌总裁克莱姆在一份声明中表示：“过去几年间，本品牌在正常业务过程中，特别是在商标侵权猖獗的地区，已对国际商标提交注册和更新，并进行严格保护。

"We have recently seen a surge in trademark filings by unrelated third parties trying to capitalize on the name, and it is our responsibility to diligently protect our trademark."	"我们最近看到不相关的第三方尝试利用这个名字申请商标的情况出现激增，我们有责任努力保护我们的商标。"
Trump has long had an international outlook. In her 2009 book, "The Trump Card: Playing to Win in Work and Life," she credited the influence of her mother, Ivana, for her own love of travel. And not long after she joined the Trump Organization in 2005, she helped lead her father's business abroad.	特朗普早已具有国际视野。她在自己 2009 年的《特朗普王牌：工作和生活的双赢之道》(The Trump Card: Playing to Win in Work and Life)一书中写道，是母亲伊万娜(Ivana)影响她爱上了旅行。2005 年加入特朗普集团后不久，她开始协助将父亲的业务引向海外。
"Before my brothers and I joined the company, our business was primarily a New York-based operation," she wrote in her book, adding that her father would say, "There are plenty of great deals right here in New York."	"在我哥哥、弟弟加入之前，我们的公司主要是一个纽约企业，"她在自己的书中写道，还说她的父亲总说："纽约就有不少好买卖。"
It was not long before she began to concurrently push her own brand in many of the same markets as her father's.	不久之前，她开始在父亲的许多市场领域内同期推出自己的品牌。
While she was overseeing the development of a controversial Trump Tower in Azerbaijan, which has since been abandoned, she was also filing trademarks for her own brand, for clothes and cosmetics.	在阿塞拜疆，她负责监督一处有争议的特朗普大厦的开发，这个项目后来被放弃了，与此同时她也在该国为自己的品牌、衣服和化妆品申请商标。
In China, while she was helping her father's company make inroads, she developed her own following, taking out at least 23 trademarks for everything from swimwear to wedding dresses, both to battle locals trying to infringe on her name and to support her own interests.	在中国，她在帮助父亲的公司进驻该国市场同时，也发展了自己的崇拜者，注册了至少 23 个商标，内容从泳衣到婚纱多种多样，这两项工作都是为了防止当地人侵犯她的姓名权，维护她自身的利益。
Ivanka Trump has a following in China, where young professionals often equate material wealth with success. A video of her daughter singing in Chinese even went viral. Apple Faces Inquiry in China Over App Store Content	中国当局将约谈苹果，要求加强 APP 监管
HONG KONG — Chinese authorities plan to question Apple about video streaming services available over its app store within the country, in their latest move to intensify pressure on the American technology giant over the content it provides in the vast and crucial market.	香港——中国当局计划就苹果公司在该国境内的应用商店中提供的视频直播服务对它进行质询，这是他们就这家美国科技巨头在这个巨大而关键的市场提供的内容进一步施压的最新举动。
A report on China's official Xinhua News Agency late Wednesday said that the authorities would summon Apple to urge it to "tighten up checks on software applications available in the Apple Store." The report did not say when the summoning would take place.	中国官方通讯社新华社周三晚些时候发表的一篇报道称，当局将约谈苹果公司，敦促它“加强对苹果应用商店中的软件应用的审核”。这篇报道没有指出当局会在何时约谈该公司。
The inquiry appears to focus on third-party apps available on the company's app store in China. The report said the authorities had told three Chinese websites to tighten their oversight of online information, livestreaming services and online performance. Some broadcasters, it said, offered live content forbidden by Chinese law, including pornography.	这次质询似乎主要是针对这家公司中国区应用商店中的第三方应用。报道称，当局已经要求三家中国网站加强对网上信息、流媒体服务和在线表演的监管。文中表示，一些网络主播会提供中国法律禁止的直播内容，包括色情内容。
The authorities had already met with Apple representatives about livestreaming apps available on its app store in China, Xinhua said, without disclosing details.	新华社表示，当局已经就其中国区应用商店中的流媒体应用与苹果公司的代表面谈，但没有透露其中的细节。
An Apple representative in China declined to comment.	苹果公司在中国的一位代表拒绝置评。
The report comes as Chinese authorities put pressure on Apple over the apps and other content it offers its users in China, which in the fiscal quarter that ended Dec. 31 accounted for about one-fifth of its revenue.	报道发表于中国当局对苹果公司为中国用户提供的应用程序和其他内容施压之时。在截止去年 12 月 31 日的财年里，苹果在中国市场的营收达到了公司总营收的五分之一左右。
The moves are part of a broader Chinese effort to regulate internet content. With services like Google, Facebook and Twitter long blocked in China, Apple is a rare foreign-owned company that provides a	此举是中国规范网互联网内容的更广泛行动的一部分。谷歌(Google)、Facebook 和 Twitter 等外资公司的服务在中国遭到屏蔽，苹果作为一家外国企业，却罕有地通过自己掌控的平台在这里提供大量应用程序及其他内

A year ago, Apple's iBooks Store and iTunes Movies were shut down in China, six months after they were started there. In December 2016, complying with what it said was a request from Chinese authorities, Apple also removed news apps created by The New York Times from its app store in China. Apple did not specify what prompted the request.	一年前, 苹果的 iBooks 商店和 iTunes 电影服务被关停, 距离它们进入中国市场刚刚半年的时间。2016 年 12 月, 据说是遵照中国当局的要求, 苹果公司还从中国区的应用商店下架了《纽约时报》开发的新闻应用。该公司没有具体说明当局提出这项要求的原因。
More recently, Chinese authorities have also ordered app stores in China to register with the government. Because Google's app store is among that company's services that are blocked in the country, a considerable number of locally owned third-party app stores have popped up to serve phones running Google's Android mobile-operating system. That has complicated China's efforts to control the country's fast-growing mobile internet business.	更近一些时候, 中国当局还要求在中国运营的各类应用商店在政府进行注册。由于谷歌的应用商店属于该公司在中国被屏蔽的服务之一, 有相当多的本地第三方应用商店涌现出来, 为使用谷歌的安卓(Android)移动操作系统的手机提供服务。这让中国控制本国快速增长的移动互联网业务的努力变得复杂。
The Xinhua report on Wednesday said that Apple had been approached by the Beijing offices of three Chinese agencies. They included the Cyberspace Administration of China, the country's top online regulator, as well as public security officials and a cultural law enforcement group.	新华社周三的报道称, 苹果公司已经被三家中国政府机构在北京的分支机构找上门, 其中包括中国网络监管的最高机构国家互联网信息办公室、公安局以及一个文化法规执法队。
The report said three Chinese websites — toutiao.com, huoshanzhibo.com and huajiao.com — had violated regulations concerning internet information services. Some potential violations, it said, would be referred to the police.	报道还提到, 有三家中国网站——今日头条(toutiao.com)、火山网(huoshanzhibo.com)和花椒直播(huajiao.com)——违反了与网络信息服务有关的法规。文中称, 一些潜在的违规行为将提交给警方。

As Zeal for China Dims, Global Companies Complain More Boldly	外企热情消退, 继续留在中国变成一种磨练和战斗
BEIJING — When Amazon announced its entry into the Chinese cloud	北京——去年, 当亚马逊(Amazon)宣布进入中国云计算市场时, 中国国有媒

computing market last year, Chinese state media celebrated it as “a strong signal” that “there is tremendous room for foreign firms to expand in the Chinese market as long as they comply with local regulations.”	体将之誉为“一个强有力的信号”，表明“只要符合当地法规，外资企业在中国市场上就有极大的扩张空间”。
Today, cloud computing is the latest area of contention between China and increasingly frustrated global companies.	如今，云计算成了日益沮丧的全球公司与中国发生争执的又一个领域。
In late March, a group of more than 50 American lawmakers sent a letter to the Chinese ambassador to the United States, Cui Tiankai, taking direct aim at China’s restrictions on cloud computing. They wrote that current and draft regulations would force the transfer of valuable intellectual property to Chinese companies and effectively bar foreign cloud service providers “from operating or competing fairly in China.”	3月底，50多位美国议员致信中国驻美大使崔天凯，直接抨击中国对云计算领域的限制。他们写道，现行条例和条例草案将会强制把有价值的知识产权转让给中国企业，并在实质上禁止外国云服务提供商“在中国经营或公平竞争”。
“As we see it,” the lawmakers wrote in the letter, which was viewed by The New York Times, “these restrictions are fundamentally protectionist and anticompetitive.” Many of the lawmakers hail from states where two major cloud computing players, Amazon and Microsoft, have operations.	“在我们看来，”《纽约时报》查阅的这封信中写道，“这些限制从根本上是保护主义和反竞争的。”许多写信的议员都来自亚马逊和微软这两个主要云计算公司开展业务的州。
Big global companies, which have long worked to keep from rocking the boat in China, are showing a bit more tolerance for making waves. The business groups that represent them have become more critical of China’s industrial policies and ambitions. Businesses are increasingly complaining to friendly lawmakers, and those lawmakers have become more vocal on their behalf.	大型全球性公司长期以来一直努力避免在中国惹是生非，如今已经可以容忍掀起一些风浪。代表他们的企业团体对中国的产业政策与野心提出愈来愈多的批评。企业也日渐向那些友好的议员们抱怨，而议员们也愈来愈愿意为他们发声。
Profiles in courage are still hard to find, as businesses fear Chinese	勇敢的人物依然难以找到，因为企业如果直接抱怨或是抱怨的声音太大，就

The shift is also a gradual one, taking place in the years since the 2008 Olympics in Beijing, as the promise of a more open China faded. Still, people in business circles in China say the sense of disappointment in China's business prospects is growing.	自从2008年北京奥运会以来，中国会越来越开放的承诺在渐渐褪色，这一转变也开始渐渐发生。在中国的商界人士表示，对中国业务前景的失望之感还在增长。
"The enthusiasm is gone," said James McGregor, chairman of the greater China region for the consulting firm APCO Worldwide. "Foreign businesses here used to be very excited about China and quite enthusiastic. Now, it's kind of a grind and a battle."	"热情已经消失了,"咨询公司安可公关顾问公司(APCO Worldwide)的大中华区董事长麦健陆(James McGregor)说。"这里的外国企业过去对中国感到兴奋，他们相当热心。现在，这里成了一种磨练和战斗。"
China remains a lucrative market for foreign-branded cars, iPhones, high-value engineering equipment and other costly items. Still, the growing frustration has muddled the corporate response to President Trump's tough anti-China rhetoric.	对于外国品牌汽车、iPhone、高价值工程设备和其他昂贵物品来说，中国市场仍然利润丰厚。然而，越来越多的挫折，令企业对特朗普总统的强硬反华言辞的看法复杂起来。
"There are companies, which in prior years have been strong supporters in Washington of the U.S.-China relationship, who are much quieter, and even waiting to see if a tougher approach might get more results with China," said Jake Parker, vice president for China operations at the U.S.-China Business Council.	"在华盛顿，有些公司前几年一直是中美关系的坚定支持者，现在他们变得更加安静，甚至在观望更强硬的做法是否能够在中国取得更多成果，"美中贸易全国委员会(U.S.-China Business Council)中国区事务副会长彭捷宁(Jake Parker)说。
In one criticism on Tuesday, William Zarit, the chairman of the American Chamber of Commerce in China, expressed concern about President Trump's offer of trade concessions in exchange for greater Chinese support in pressuring North Korea over its nuclear ambitions.	周二，中国美国商会(American Chamber of Commerce in China)主席蔡瑞德(William Zarit)发表批评，他担忧特朗普总统提出贸易让步，以换取中国在迫使朝鲜放弃核野心方面给予更多支持。

"If the United States gives concessions in the trade area so that we don't push as hard on leveling the playing field in all these different areas," Mr. Zarit said at a news conference in Beijing on Tuesday, "I think it's a shame."	"如果美国在贸易领域做出让步，令我们不能在各种领域内努力推进，争取平等的竞争环境，"周二，蔡瑞德在北京的记者招待会上说："我认为这令人遗憾。"
In public, businesses work hard to strike a sunny note. Last November, Jay Carney, Amazon's senior vice president for global corporate affairs and former White House spokesman, made no mention of his company's challenges there when speaking at China's World Internet Conference, according to a Chinese-language transcript of his remarks in state media.	企业在公开场合要强颜欢笑。去年十一月，在中国举行的世界互联网大会上，根据中国国有媒体的中文发言记录，亚马逊全球企业事务高级副总裁、前白宫发言人杰伊·卡尼(Jay Carney)完全没有提到公司面临的挑战。
That reticence has bred frustration among some United States officials. In 2015, President Barack Obama told the Business Roundtable, a business group, regarding its complaints about China, "Don't tell us on the side, 'We've got this problem, you need to look into it, but then — but leave our names out of it.'"	这样的三缄其口令一些美国官员感到沮丧。2015年，一个名为商业圆桌会议(Business Roundtable)的商业集团对中国有不少怨言，贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)总统对他们说，"不要总是悄悄跟我们说，'我们有这个问题，你需要关注一下，不过——不要把我们公司的名字卷进来。'"
Still, executives say complaining can have an impact. Earlier that same year, Mr. Obama publicly criticized proposed Chinese rules that would require technology companies to turn over encryption keys to Chinese authorities. His administration had also expressed concern about Chinese draft regulations that would require China's financial sector buy only from "secure and controllable" suppliers, which trade groups said effectively meant Chinese companies. In both cases China relented, temporarily scrapping the banking laws and tempering the language in the antiterrorism law.	然而，公司高管们仍然说投诉可能会产生影响。同年早些时候，奥巴马公开批评中国在规定提案中要求技术公司将加密密钥交给中国当局。他的行政部门也对中国的条例草案表示担忧，其中要求中国金融部门只能从"安全可控"的供应商那里采购，而贸易团体认为"安全可控"其实意味着中国企业。在这两个案例里，中国都让步了，暂时取消了相关银行法，并在反恐怖主义法中缓和了措辞。

government to do even more.
"Countries need to be persuaded. Words don't do it," said Max Baucus, a former United States ambassador to China, adding that the United States needs to use "properly targeted" leverage.	"国家需要被说服，言辞是做不到这一点的，"美国前驻华大使马克斯·鲍卡斯 (Max Baucus)说，美国需要使用“正中要害”的影响力。
"I don't think the United States has done much of that," Mr. Baucus said. "We need to have a more strategic economic approach to China."	"我不认为美国在这方面做得太多了，"鲍卡斯说。"我们需要对中国采取更具战略性的经济手段。"
He said Mr. Obama had raised the issue of American companies' unequal access to the Chinese market repeatedly with Beijing, but these appeals were "insufficient."	他说，奥巴马曾一再向北京提出过美国公司不能平等进入中国市场的问题，但这些恳切的要求“还不够”。
Of all the sectors that China has set its sights on, tech has come under the most pressure. Services like Facebook and Twitter have long been blocked. Last November, China passed a cybersecurity law that would impose security checks on companies in industries like finance and communications and mandatory in-country data storage. In 2015, the American chip maker Qualcomm said it would pay $975 million for violating China's antimonopoly law. In 2016, Apple's iBooks Store and iTunes Movies were shut down in China, just six months after they were started there. In the same year, China said it would demand answers to new questions about Microsoft's business practices in the country.	在中国重点监管的所有行业中，科技行业面临最大的压力。像 Facebook 和 Twitter 这样的服务一直遭到封锁。去年 11 月，中国通过了一项网络安全法，对金融和通信等行业的公司进行安全检查，强制规定数据在国内存储。2015 年，美国芯片制造商高通公司 (Qualcomm) 表示，公司将因违反中国的反垄断法而支付 9.75 亿美元。2016 年，苹果的 iBooks Store 和 iTunes 电影在中国的业务仅仅开始了六个月就遭关闭。同年，中国方面表示，将就微软在该国开展业务中出现的新问题向其提出质询。
In cloud computing, China mandates that foreign companies work with a local partner, and the foreign companies are subject to equity restrictions that prevent them from owning a controlling stake in the cloud company. New draft regulations would make it even more difficult for them to get licenses for operation, block them from using their brands and logos to market their services and require them to	在云计算方面，中国要求外国公司必须与当地伙伴合作，外国公司将受到股权限制，以阻止他们拥有这家云公司的控股权。新的条例草案将使得他们更难获得运营许可证，阻止他们在推广自己的服务时使用自己的品牌和标识，要求他们“终止传输”并举报用户上传或传输的任何“违反中国有关法律法规”的信息。

"terminate the transmission of" and report any information posted or transmitted by users that "violates relevant Chinese laws and regulations."
In China, the cloud computing market is estimated to be worth $20 billion by 2020, up from $1.5 billion in 2013, according to the consulting group Bain. Both Amazon and Microsoft operate in China through partnerships with local companies. For decades, Western companies have stood with China even during rocky moments in the Sino-American relationship. When Congress threatened to revoke China's most-favored-nation trading status in the 1990s because of concerns over human rights, the American Chamber of Commerce in China, or AmCham, headed to Washington to defend Beijing.	几十年来, 西方公司即使在中美关系充满动荡的时期也站在中国一边。1990年代, 当国会因为对人权的担忧而威胁要撤销中国的贸易最惠国待遇时, 美国商会曾前往华盛顿捍卫北京。
More recently, the complaints from Western companies have gotten louder, as China's economic growth slows and unease grows about Beijing's failure to deliver on its promise to open markets for foreign companies as well as its Made in China 2025 plan to push for greater self-sufficiency in several industries. AmCham's 2016 survey of its members showed that 81 percent of its companies felt less welcome in China than before, up from 77 percent in 2015. The survey also showed that 31 percent of its members said the investment environment was deteriorating – the most pessimistic response AmCham has received since it started asking the question in 2011.	最近, 随着中国经济增长放缓, 加之“中国制造”2025计划推动若干行业内实现更大的自给自足, 西方公司对北京未能履行其对外国公司开放市场的承诺感到日益不安。西方公司的怨言也越来越多。中国美国商会2016年的成员调查显示, 其中81%的公司感到在中国不如以前受欢迎, 这一数字高于2015年的77%。调查还显示, 31%的成员表示投资环境正在恶化——这是美国商会自2011年开始提出这个问题以来收到的最悲观的反馈。

Mr. McGregor, who was on the trip, said they met Peter Navarro, a strident China critic in charge of trade and industrial policy, and Matthew Pottinger, Mr. Trump's top Asia policy maker. The scandal highlights what economists say is a growing risk in China: poorly regulated financial products that are often mis-sold to investors hungry for returns that handily beat what banks offer for deposits. Such investments are often kept off banks' balance sheets, giving rise to a "shadow banking industry" that experts worry could derail the country's economy.	这起丑闻突显了经济学家认为中国正在增加的一个风险: 监管不善的金融产品往往通过误导卖给渴望高回报的投资者, 因为这些产品的回报通常比银行的存款利息更高。而这些投资往往没有计入银行资产负债表, 形成了"影子银行", 专业人士担心它会影响国家经济。
In the case of China Minsheng, the Chinese police have detained the head of the lender's Hangtianqiao branch, Zhang Ying, the bank said in a statement to the Shanghai Stock Exchange on Tuesday, adding that it was assisting the police with an investigation.	在民生银行这个案子中, 中国警方已经羁押了北京航天桥支行行长张颖, 该银行周二在发给上海证券交易所的一份声明中表示, 正在协助警方侦办此案。
The scandal erupted when a Chinese newspaper, the 21st Century Business Herald, reported on Tuesday that the wealth management product was forged and "does not exist." It said that more than 120 investors had registered to ask the bank to refund their investments and	这起丑闻的爆发是中国《21世纪经济报道》周二率先报道的, 说这款理财产品纯属伪造, "并不存在"。据说有120多位投资者已经签名登记, 要求民生银行按期兑付理财产品, 并查处违法违规行为。 carry out an investigation.

Investors, mostly older people, said China Minsheng had lured them with offers of free golf events, overseas trips and a rate of return of 8 percent to 27 percent. Many of the investors were members of a club that was established by the branch, which asked them for a minimum investment of about $145,000. At the bank on Wednesday, one of them shouted: "We're not going home if you don't return us our money."	投资者大多数是老年人,他们说,民生银行用免费的高尔夫活动和海外旅游,以及高达8%到27%的回报率吸引他们。很多投资者都是这家支行的一个俱乐部的成员,入会投资额需要约14.5万美元。周三在该银行,其中一个投资者大喊:"如果不退还我们的钱,我们就不回家。"
The scene is a familiar one in many Chinese cities: furious investors protesting, defrauded by wealth management products that have gone under the radar of regulators. It highlights the growing risks of these products, which many economists say pose a significant threat to the financial system.	这样的场面在中国的很多城市都出现过:受不在监控范围内的理财产品所骗,愤怒的投资者举行抗议。这件事突显了这些理财产品日益增长的风险,很多经济学家认为它对金融体系构成重大威胁。
According to state news media, Chinese investors have plowed $4.4 trillion into wealth management products, equivalent to close to 40 percent of China's annual economic output.	据官方新闻媒体报道,中国投资者在理财产品方面已经投入了4.4万亿美元,相当于中国年度经济产出的近40%。
Such products are often sold by banks and other financial institutions to ordinary Chinese investors with the promise of high rates of return, but they are not kept on the balance sheet, and thus form part of the so-called shadow banking industry. Most of the investments have flowed into coal, steel and real estate — sectors that are facing overcapacity problems in China.	这种产品往往是由银行和其他金融机构出售给普通的中国投资者,并承诺高回报率,但并不把它计入资产负债表,因此形成了所谓"影子银行"的一部分。它吸纳的大部分资金已经流入煤炭、钢铁和房地产行业——这些行业在中国面临产能过剩的问题。
Analysts fear that Chinese investors, who often display a herd mentality, could dump the products once bad news spreads, creating a liquidity crunch.	中国投资者经常会表现出从众心态,分析师担心一旦坏消息传播出去,投资者就会纷纷卖出产品,造成流动性危机。
In nearly all such instances in the past, the Chinese government has	过去遇到这样的情况,中国政府几乎都会出面保护投资者,避免涟漪效应,

stepped in to bail investors out, avert ripple effects and ensure social stability.	保证社会稳定。
"It invites moral hazard," said Victor Shih, an associate professor at the University of California at San Diego who specializes in the politics of Chinese banking policies. "When you tell people that they will get bailed out, then they will engage in very, very risky behavior and, also, opportunistic behavior on the part of the banks."	"这会引发道德风险，"加州大学圣地亚哥分校研究中国金融政治的副教授、专门从事中国银行政策政治研究的史宗瀚(Victor Shih)表示。"当你告诉人们他们会得到救助时，他们就会采取非常非常危险的行为，而且银行也会采取机会主义做法。"
In the case of China Minsheng, many investors said they were drawn to the product because they were promised that their investments would be repaid in full. They said they were encouraged by the bank's strong reputation, as well as by incentives offered by the branch, such as free trips to South Africa.	在民生银行的案例中，很多投资者表示，这个理财产品之所以吸引他们，是因为它承诺全额偿还本金。他们表示，除了该支行的激励措施，比如到南非免费旅行之外，民生银行声誉很好也是一个激励因素。
The scandal reflects "the lack of internal controls" at the bank, according to Wei Jiyao, an analyst at PY Standard, a research company based in Chengdu, China, that tracks wealth management products. Trump Targets Steel Trade, but China Will Be Tough to Contain	特朗普要打击中国钢铁倾销没那么简单
HANGZHOU, China — China's vast steel industry is a major target of President Trump. But this hulking shell of a mill here shows why China is likely to keep pumping out more and more steel, inflaming trade tensions between the two countries.	中国杭州——中国规模巨大的钢铁行业是特朗普总统主要的打击目标。但看到此地一座钢铁厂庞大的骨架，便不难明白中国为何有可能继续生产越来越多的钢铁产品，加剧两国紧张的贸易关系。
The Hangzhou steel mill, a vast labyrinth of blast furnaces, warehouses, chimneys and worker dormitories covering hundreds of acres, was one of Mao Zedong's favorite projects. Built in just 13 months in the late 1950s, it once employed 25,000 workers.	杭州钢铁厂是一个由高炉、仓库、烟囱和工人宿舍组成的巨大迷宫，占地数百英亩，也是毛泽东当年最为称道的项目之一。它在上世纪50年代末只用13个月时间便建成，一度养活了2.5万名工人。
Pollution and the march of progress made the mill a liability. But closing	污染和时代前进的步伐令这座工厂变成了一个负担。但若关掉一座工厂，许

When authorities do manage to shutter a plant, it is a costly ordeal, as the story of Hangzhou shows. With the help of a $34 million grant from government officials, the Hangzhou plant owner, Hangzhou Iron and Steel Group, offered the 12,000 remaining workers lavish severance benefits and pensions.	如果当局真的设法关掉一座工厂,将会面临代价不菲的考验,杭州钢铁厂的故事正是如此。依靠政府提供的 3400 万美元资金,这座钢铁厂的所有者——杭州钢铁集团给目前剩下的 1.2 万名工人提供了慷慨的遣散费和养老金。
"I don't have to wake up early," said Tang Guomin, 49, who had labored at the blast furnaces since he was 18 years old. He received nearly six years' pay from the company as severance and when he turns 50 in a few months, he will be able to collect an inflation-adjusted pension from the government equal to 90 percent of his previous pay for the rest of his life.	"我不需要每天起很早,"18岁就开始在这座工厂的高炉里工作、如今已经49岁的唐国民说。他年公司拿到了差不多相当于六年工资的遣散费,再过几个月,等到满50岁,他就可以在余生里持续从政府领取随通胀水平调整的养老金,其数额相当于他此前工资的90%。
"I sleep till I wake and don't have much to worry about," he said, while doing his family's morning vegetable shopping at a street market. "I miss the factory, but that time won't be back again."	"我睡到自然醒,无心无事的,"早上,他一边在街市给家里买菜,一边说道。"工厂嘛,怀念总是怀念的,但历史不可能倒流的。"
Invoking an obscure trade law, President Trump signed an executive order on Thursday for a 270-day review to determine whether steel imports were harming national security. If the Commerce Department does find harm, Mr. Trump will have up to 90 days to decide whether to impose broad import restrictions.	特朗普总统援引一条不起眼的贸易法规,在周四签署了一项行政命令,要求进行270天的评估,以确定钢铁进口是否在危害美国的国家安全。如果美国商务部(Commerce Department)发现结果的确如此,特朗普将有最多90天的时间决定是否实施广泛的进口限制。
China is an obvious target of the order, though the impact could ripple worldwide. While only about 2 percent of American steel imports come directly from China, global steel makers and industry experts blame China for shipping its surplus steel to other countries, which drives	中国显然是这项命令针对的一个目标,尽管它的影响可能会波及全球。虽说美国的钢铁进口只有2%直接来自中国,但全球钢铁生产商和行业专家怪罪中国将过剩的钢铁运到其他国家,由此拉低钢铁价格,促使这些国家进一步将钢铁加工成高价值产品,再出口到美国。已明确表示会在钢铁进口上采取

The Trump administration, which has made it clear that it will take a more aggressive stance on steel, has suggested it could bring trade actions against those countries as well.	强硬措施的特朗普政府暗示，它也可能对这些国家采取贸易行动。
China denies that it sells excess steel to other markets below the cost of making it, a move called dumping. But China does concede that it has too many steel factories making too much steel.	中国否认自己以低于成本的价格向其他市场出售过剩的钢铁产品，即一种被称为倾销的举措。但中国承认，它的确有太多的钢铁厂在生产过量的钢铁。
The trick is trimming that excess capacity, which is proving to be neither easy nor cheap. Steel making represents a reliable source of high-wage jobs in a country where economic growth has slowed compared with previous years. Steel also remains a key material for China's manufacturing sector, the world's largest.	其中的关键在于削减过剩产能，但事实证明，要做到这一点并不容易，而且代价不菲。在一个经济增长相比往年已经放缓的国家里，钢铁制造代表着高薪工作的一个可靠来源。而且钢铁依然是全球规模最大的中国制造业的关键材料。
"Steel is the food for China's industry," said Wang Guoqing, the research director at the Lange Steel Information Research Center, a Chinese industry group in Beijing. "It is in a key position for China's development and infrastructure."	"钢铁是中国工业的食粮，"位于北京的一个行业组织中国工业兰格钢铁信息研究中心的副主任王国清说。"对中国基建和发展处于很重要的位置。"
The steel industry in the United States employs about 140,000 people, or less than one-tenth of 1 percent of the American work force. China's steel makers, by contrast, employed 4.7 million workers in 2014, the last official figure released, or 0.6 percent of China's labor force then. Nearly 60 years after Mao's drive to make China a steel giant contributed to a famine that killed millions of people, the country now makes as much steel as the rest of the world put together.	美国的钢铁行业雇佣了大约 14 万人，不足美国劳动力的千分之一。相比之下，在政府最近一次发布官方数据的 2014 年，中国的钢铁厂雇佣着 470 万工人，占当时中国劳动力的千分之六。毛泽东推动中国大炼钢铁曾促成一场导致数百万人死亡的大饥荒近 60 年后，这个国家的钢铁产量已经达到了世界其他地方之和。
Today, China's steel sector represents the sort of bloated, wasteful	现在，国内外都认为，中国的钢铁行业代表着那种抑制中国经济发展的膨胀

industry that people both inside and outside the country say is holding back economic development. China in early 2016 committed to closing steel mills representing 100 million to 150 million tons of capacity over five years, or roughly a tenth of its capacity then. China closed 65 million tons of capacity last year and plans to close another 50 million tons this year, according to a speech in early March by Premier Li Keqiang.	和浪费产业。2016年初，中国决心在五年内关掉相当于1至1.5亿吨产能的钢铁厂，即中国当时的钢铁总产能的十分之一左右。中国国务院总理李克强今年3月初发表的讲话显示，中国去年关停了6500万吨产能，今年计划再关掉5000万吨。
Yet production remains stubbornly high, and new mills have continued to open. China's steel mills produced a record quantity of steel last month. China hasn't released more recent data on total steel capacity.	然而，产量依然居高不下，新钢铁厂继续冒出来。上月，中国的钢铁产量又创下记录。目前尚无钢铁产能的更新数据发表。
For now, China's steel exports are shrinking, though it isn't clear how long that will continue. China's appetite for steel has improved in recent months as government lending and spending and a revival in its property industry lift the economy and encourage consumption. But the government has said it wants to rein in lending, concerned that the economy may be too reliant on ever-rising debt.	眼下，中国的钢铁出口正在缩减，尽管尚不清楚这种趋势会持续多久。在政府贷款和支出以及房地产行业的复苏提振经济、鼓励消费之时，中国的钢铁需求在最近几个月有所上涨。但政府已经表示，要对贷款进行控制，因为担心本国经济可能太过依赖不断增长的债务。
Mr. Trump's advisers are using steel as part of a broader push against China's excess factories. They are singling out steel while blaming Chinese industrial policies for overcapacity in other sectors, like aluminum and solar panels.	特朗普的顾问在将钢铁当作打击中国过剩工厂的更广泛行动的一部分。他们一边单独拿钢铁说事，一边怪中国的产业政策导致其他行业的过剩，比如铝和太阳能电池板。

The Hangzhou steel plant, and the city that it is named after, represent China's effort to shift its economy away from industries like steel. The city of at least 4 million urban residents is the hometown of Alibaba, the Chinese e-commerce giant, and also contains the headquarters of Geely, the Chinese automaker that bought Volvo from Ford in 2010.	杭州钢铁厂以及杭州这座城市，代表了中国将经济从钢铁等行业转移的努力。该城至少有400万居民，是中国电子商务巨头阿里巴巴的所在地，中国汽车制造商吉利的总部也在这里。2010年，吉利公司从福特手中购买了沃尔沃。
The former factory looks a little like a postapocalyptic scene on a Hollywood movie set: cavernous warehouses moldered on a damp spring day, windowless and doorless. Conveyor belts and other steel equipment that might have scrap metal value had already been removed, leaving barren concrete tubes and walls. A long row of black hopper cars rusted on a railroad siding.	这座废弃的工厂看起来有点像是好莱坞电影中劫后余生的场景：在一个潮湿的春日里，只见巨大的仓库在腐烂，它没有窗，也没有门。可以当作废金属出售的输送带和其他钢铁设备已经被拆走，留下斑驳的水泥管和墙壁。一长排黑色的漏斗车停在轨道上，锈迹斑斑。
Migrant construction laborers camped in the evening in a dilapidated, three-story concrete building, resting after a long day of tearing apart old buildings as the next step in clearing the site. Tall grass, leafy bushes and even small trees had begun growing vigorously in open areas of the factory, sometimes pushing their way up through cracks in concrete plazas.	建筑民工晚上就睡在一座破旧的三层混凝土建筑中，他们度过了漫长的一天，拆除这些旧建筑物，这是清理的下一步工作。在工厂的开阔区域，野草很深，灌木丛相当茂密，甚至还是有一些小树在蓬勃生长，有些从混凝土广场的裂缝里长了出来。

in dismantling the complex. "I even told my wife and kids about it."	"我甚至和妻子、孩子们讲过它。"
A Hangzhou Iron and Steel spokesman declined to discuss what the company would do with the site, saying it had not yet been decided but that the company would find an "innovative" use for the land. Former steel mill sites in other prosperous Chinese cities like Hangzhou have often been redeveloped as real estate projects.	杭州钢铁公司发言人拒绝透露该公司将用这个地方做什么，表示尚未做决定，但该公司将为该区域找到“创新”用途。其他繁荣的中国城市的前钢铁厂，往往被重新开发为房地产项目。
Some of China's steel plants are outdated and many of them are polluting. Revamping them isn't cheap. In addition to the $34 million it received to close the Hangzhou plant, Hangzhou Iron and Steel in 2015 received nearly $106 million in subsidies and cheap government loans to help cover overall costs of upgrading its plants.	中国的一些钢铁厂已经很陈旧，其中很多污染很大。改造它们并不便宜。杭州钢铁公司关闭杭州这座工厂获得了3400万美元，此外还在2015年收到近1.06亿美元的补贴和低息政府贷款，帮助钢铁工厂更新换代。
For many locals, closing the mill has meant cleaner air — the reason officials said the mill was shut down.	对于很多当地人来说，关闭工作意味着更清洁的空气——官员说这是关厂的原因。
State-run media said shortly before the Hangzhou mill closed that the aging site had been releasing 7,000 tons a year of sulfur dioxide, an important cause of acid rain, and 3,000 tons a year of soot.	在杭州工厂关闭之前不久，官方媒体表示，这座老化的工厂每年释放7000吨二氧化硫，3000吨烟灰。二氧化硫是酸雨的一个重要成因。
Xu Yuemei, another retired steelworker, said that when the factory was still operating, garments that she hung on a clothesline turned black or yellow before they dried. Mr. Tang remembers a pervasive haze.	另外一名退休钢铁工人徐玉梅（音）表示，工厂还在开工的时候，她挂在晾衣绳上的衣服在晾干之前会变黑发黄。唐先生还记得无处不在的霾。
"There was dust in the air; I couldn't see guys 100 meters away from me," he recalled. "I could smell choking ammonia gas in the air until the factory shut down."	"空气中有很多灰尘；距离100米远之外的人我就看不到，"他回忆说。"在厂子关闭前，我可以闻到空气中令人窒息的氨气味。"

Debt Crisis Shakes Chinese Town, Pointing to Wider Problems	企业连环担保，难逃中国坏账锁链
SHANGHAI — In China, it's all about whom you owe.	上海——在中国，你欠了谁的钱是个大问题。
That precise question — who owes what to whom? — shook the Chinese industrial town of Zouping in recent weeks. Some businesses closed. City officials engineered a desperate corporate takeover. An executive was detained by the police.	准确地说，是谁欠了谁什么东西，这个问题在最近几周震动了中国工业城镇邹平。这里的一些企业关了门。当地官员促成了一个不得已而为之的公司收购案。一名公司高管遭警方拘留。
The problem: Local companies had agreed to guarantee hundreds of millions of dollars of one another's loans. When some of those loans went bad, the impact rippled across the city.	问题在于：当地公司为彼此担保了数亿美元计的贷款。当其中一些贷款出现坏账时，整个城市都遭到了波及。
Zouping's plight offers a sobering example of the problems that could lurk within China's vast and murky debt load. A nearly decade-long Chinese lending spree drove growth but burdened the economy with one of the world's heaviest debt loads, equal to $21,600 worth of bank loans, bonds and other obligations for every man, woman and child in the country. Debt in China has expanded twice as fast as the overall economy since 2008.	邹平的困境是一个令人警醒的例子，它显示了中国庞大的、纠缠不清的债务负担可能潜伏着什么样的问题。近十年来，中国借贷狂潮推动了经济增长，但也让中国经济承受了世界上最为沉重的债务负担之一，相当于该国每一名男女老少都欠下 2.16 万美元的银行贷款、债券和其他债务。自 2008 年以来，中国的债务增长速度是整体经济增速的两倍。
China, the world's second-largest economy after the United States, has considerable firepower to address any financial crisis. But many economists worry that hidden debt bombs could expose the breadth and severity of the problem.	中国是全球仅次于美国的第二大经济体，拥有巨大的实力来应对金融危机。但一些经济学家担心，隐藏的债务炸弹可能会暴露出这个问题的广泛性和严重性。
The Chinese government has begun an urgent effort to discourage companies from guaranteeing one another's bank debts, ordering local banking regulators across the country to file comprehensive reports by the end of the month on the problem. But sussing out the extent could	中国政府已经紧急遏制企业之间互相担保银行债务的做法，并责令全国各地的银行业监管机构就此问题在月底之前提交综合报告。但是，弄清楚问题的严重程度可能并不容易。

"Because of the limited transparency and disclosure," said Grace Wu, a senior director and the head of China bank ratings at Fitch Ratings, "it's hard to know where the true risk lies."	"由于透明度有限，情况披露不多，"惠誉评级高级董事及中资银行业评级主管胡月明说道，"要弄清真正的风险在哪里很困难。"
Loan guarantees are just part of a much broader debt challenge in China. The ratio of debt to economic output has soared since 2009 as the government has resorted to continuous monetary stimulus to prevent the economy from decelerating sharply. An International Monetary Fund analysis late last year suggested that the rise in China's ratio was comparable to the increases in Japan's, Thailand's and Spain's ratios before their respective financial crises over the past quarter-century.	贷款担保只是中国更大债务挑战的一部分。自 2009 年以来，中国债务与经济产出的比例飙升，因为政府为了防止经济陡然减速，采用了货币刺激措施。国际货币基金组织(IMF)去年的分析认为，中国的这个比例飙升类似于日本、泰国以及西班牙在过去 25 年里各自发生金融危机之前的情况。
Chinese economists have consistently argued that their country is uniquely able to handle high debt because it has little foreign debt and because the government's control of the banking system allows it to respond quickly.	中国经济学家一直认为，由于国家外债很少，而且政府控制着银行体系，它可以迅速做出反应，所以中国情况很独特，是可以应对高额债务的。
One of the paradoxes of China's debt troubles is that the country is awash in debt, yet publicly listed or privately held companies can find it hard to borrow. The state-controlled banking system lends mainly to state-owned enterprises, which can seem like a good credit risk because they have implicit government guarantees.	中国债务问题的一个悖论是，虽然该国债务包袱沉重，但上市公司和私营企业仍然难以借到钱。国家控制的银行体系主要把钱借给国有企业，因为它们理论上由政府做担保，信用风险比较小。
In response, private companies often band together, guaranteeing one another's borrowings, to give bank credit officers more confidence that loans will be repaid. The downside is that if one company runs into trouble, it can drag down the other companies that guaranteed its	而私营公司就经常抱团取暖，为彼此的借款做担保，让银行信贷人员对它们偿还贷款的能力更有信心。这种做法的缺点是，如果一家企业陷入困境，那么它可能就会拖累为自己担保的企业。而其他企业也可以从与第一家企业没有直接联系的其他企业那里，为自己获得信用担保。

debts. Those other companies, in turn, can set off their own credit guarantees from yet more companies with no direct connection to the first one.
A government-controlled website that releases financial regulatory decisions said at the end of last week that the China Banking Regulatory Commission had asked its branches to examine loan guarantees across the nation immediately because of problems in places like Shandong province, where Zouping is.	政府控制的一家发布财务监管决定的网站周末表示，鉴于山东等省存在的问题，中国银监会已要求下属分支机构审查全国各地的银行账户。邹平位于山东省。
The commission has instructed its local regulators to pay particular attention to loan guarantees in sectors like aluminum production and steel manufacturing, the website said, highlighting two industries suffering from overcapacity in China. Both industries overinvested in new factories by obtaining enormous loans at low interest rates from the state-controlled banking system.	该网站表示，银监会指示各地地方监管机构要特别重视铝和钢铁制造等行业的贷款担保，这是中国的两大产能过剩行业，它们都从国有银行体系获得了巨额低息贷款，对新工厂过度投资。
The Obama administration last year and now the Trump administration this year have strongly criticized China for bankrolling the overexpansion of its steel and aluminum industries, contending that the loans have made it hard for steel and aluminum companies elsewhere to compete. China has begun closing steel mills, and has been discussing plans to close some of its less technologically advanced aluminum smelters as well.	奥巴马政府去年强烈批评中国为钢铁和铝工业的过度扩张提供资金，认为这样的贷款让其他国家的钢铁和铝业公司难以与之竞争，特朗普政府今年也发出过类似的批评。中国已经开始关闭钢铁厂，并且在讨论关闭一些技术较落后的铝冶炼厂的计划。
The emergence of a banking crunch in Shandong province is politically awkward because the Chinese government has just turned to the province's former governor to bring order to China's banking system. Guo Shuqing, the former governor, is considered one of China's leading	从政治上说，山东省出现的银行业紧张局势很尴尬，因为中国政府刚刚才提拔了该省的前省长，让他整顿中国的银行体系。这位前省长郭树清被认为是中国金融改革的倡导者之一。惠誉的吴女士说，山东的问题在很多省份都很常见。

"It's a national issue for us," she said. "It is not an issue bounded by geography."	"这对我们来说是一个全国性的问题,"她说。"不是某个地区范围内的问题。"
Until this month, Zouping's biggest international claim to fame was as the subject of books examining its rise from rural backwater to industrial center. Many workers left the wheat and cotton fields to work in the metal foundries and other factories that popped up in the area during China's boom. The town has an urban population of about 110,000 residents – a figure that does not include migrants lured by the prospect of jobs.	在本月之前,邹平最大的国际声望就是从一个偏僻农村变成了工业中心,一些书籍讲述了它的崛起:在中国的经济迅速发展期间,该地区出现了金属铸造厂和其他工厂,许多人离开小麦田和棉田,到厂里去工作。邹平拥有约11万城市人口,这还不包括被工作机会吸引来的农民工。
Zouping's problems have their roots in a company called the Qixing Group. The conglomerate started off in aluminum but diversified into real estate and other sectors. When it declared last month that it had financial problems, that called into doubt the loans that others had guaranteed.	邹平的问题源自于一个名叫齐星集团的公司。该集团最开始是做铝生意,后来又涉足房地产等行业。当上个月该集团宣布出现财务困难时,其他公司为它担保的贷款就成了一个问题。
That led to a messy and acrimonious scramble for control of factories and other assets and a temporary shutdown at some of Qixing's businesses. The local government ended up orchestrating a takeover of Qixing by its local rival, the Xiwang Group. When Qixing's executive vice president, Zhao Qiang, strongly complained two weeks ago, he was promptly detained by the police.	因此一些公司和机构对齐星集团的工厂和其他资产展开了一场混乱而激烈的控制权争夺战,齐星的一些业务也暂停了经营。经过当地政府的协调,齐星最终被当地的竞争对手西王集团收购。当齐星常务副总裁赵强两周前强烈抱怨此事时,警方马上拘押了他。
"Xiwang has always wanted to merge with us," said Li Zemin, a spokesman for Qixing, "but the appearance of their devouring us is bad." Mr. Zhao has just been released by the police, Mr. Li added.	"齐星一直想把我们吃下去,"齐星发言人李泽民说。"但是吃相太难看。"他还表示,赵强刚刚被警方释放了。

A stock market filing by Xiwang this month offered a glimpse of the extent of the problem. Xiwang said that it had previously guaranteed $421 million worth of Qixing's debt, though it had obtained collateral.	从西王集团本月提交的股市文件中，可以看到这个问题的严重程度。西王表示，它之前为齐星 4.21 亿美元的债务做了担保，不过它已经拿到了抵押品。

Huawei has not been accused of wrongdoing. As an administrative subpoena, the Treasury document does not indicate that the Chinese company is part of a criminal investigation.	华为未被指控犯有不法行为。财政部发的行政传票并没有表示这家中国公司是犯罪调查的一部分。
Still, the widening inquiry puts Huawei in an awkward position at a moment when sanctions have taken on new import. The Trump administration has been working to push China to cut back its trade, and in turn economic support, for North Korea, amid rising tensions over the North's nuclear and missile programs. The growing investigation also comes after Huawei's smaller domestic rival, ZTE, in March pleaded guilty to breaking sanctions and was fined $1.19 billion.	尽管如此，扩大调查让华为在制裁具有新意义的时候处于尴尬境地。特朗普政府一直在努力敦促中国，在朝鲜核计划和导弹计划的紧张局势日益加剧的情况下，减少与朝鲜的贸易，从而减少对朝鲜的经济支持。对华为的扩大调查也是在中兴通讯今年 3 月承认违反了美国制裁令之后。中兴是华为在国内较小规模对手，它被罚款 11.9 亿美元。
It is not clear why the Treasury Department became involved with the Huawei investigation. But its subpoena suggests Huawei might also be suspected of violating American embargoes that broadly restrict the export of American goods to countries like Iran and Syria.	目前尚不清楚为什么财政部参与到华为的调查中来。但财政部的传票暗示，华为也可能被怀疑违反了美国禁运法，该法对美国货物出口伊朗和叙利亚等国家有范围广泛的限制。

Still, by its own admission, the company has at times struggled with corporate governance. In a rare 2015 media appearance, Ren Zhengfei, Huawei’s founder, said that 4,000 to 5,000 employees had admitted to various improprieties as part of a “confess for leniency” program the company set up in 2014.	不过，公司自己也承认有时在企业治理方面存在问题。华为创始人任正飞在2015年一次罕见的媒体露面中说，作为公司2014年开展的“坦白从宽”行动的一部分，有4000到5000名员工已承认犯有各种不当行为。
“The biggest enemy we’ve run into isn’t other people,” he said at the time. “It’s ourselves.”	他当时曾说，“我们真正碰到的最大敌人不是别人，就是我们自己。”
A Treasury spokeswoman declined to comment on whether it was conducting an investigation. A Commerce Department spokesman also declined to comment.	财政部发言人拒绝对是否正在进行调查发表评论。商务部发言人也拒绝发表评论。
Huawei plays an important strategic role for China. The company is often a part of Chinese overseas trade delegations and investment deals in emerging markets like South America and Africa. As a major spender on research and development, it is also a crucial part of Chinese industrial policies aimed at building up domestic technological capabilities.	华为对中国来说具有重要的战略作用。公司经常是中国海外贸易代表团的一员，以及中国对南美洲和非洲等新兴市场投资交易的一部分。华为在研发上有很大投入，因此也是中国旨在提高国内技术能力的产业政策的重要组成部分。

The subpoena, which was sent to Huawei's Texas offices in the Dallas suburb of Plano, called for the company to describe technology and services provided to Cuba, Iran, Sudan and Syria over the past five years. New Balance Court Ruling in China Is Rare Win Against Piracy	新百伦商标维权案在中国赢得罕见胜利
BEIJING — New Balance has won a rare legal victory in China in an intellectual property dispute: A court has ordered five shoe manufacturers and sellers to pay the state $250,000 for using the American shoemaker's signature slanting "N" logo.	北京——新百伦(New Balance)在中国的一场知识产权纠纷中罕见地赢得了法律胜利：法院已命令五家制鞋厂和售鞋商向政府支付相当于 25 万美元的罚款，因为它们使用了这家美国制鞋公司的斜体 N 识别标志。
In previous years, the company has battled legions of counterfeit manufacturers, taken on a rogue supplier who exported its shoes at a deep discount and, most recently, struggled in court to win the use of its Chinese name.	新百伦在过去几年里已与一大批冒牌制造商发生争执，还与一家以非常大的折扣出口新百伦牌鞋子的无赖供应商进行过较量，并且最近一直在为赢回自己的中文商标打官司。
In a preliminary decision, the Suzhou Intermediate People's Court on Monday fined the five companies for breaching an injunction issued in September prohibiting them from selling shoes with the logo, according to a report in China Intellectual Property Magazine. The $250,000 in fines will go to the state. The court will issue its final judgment at the end of May, at which time New Balance could get	据《中国知识产权》杂志报道，苏州中级人民法院周一作出初步判决，对这五家公司进行了罚款，因为它们违反去年 9 月发布的禁止它们用斜体 N 标志出售鞋子的命令。这笔 25 万美元的罚款将纳入国库。该法院将在 5 月底宣布最终判决，届时新百伦可能会得到损害赔偿。 damages.

Amy Dow, New Balance's senior global corporate communications manager, confirmed the penalty, saying the brand used by all five was called New Boom.	新百伦负责企业全球交流的高级经理艾米·道(Amy Dow)证实了罚款,她说,这五家公司用的牌子都是 New Boom。
Ms. Dow said New Balance sued under China's Anti-Unfair Competition Law because the country's trademark laws "currently provide slight loopholes for these brands to exist."	艾米·道表示,新百伦根据中国的反不正当竞争法提起诉讼,因为中国的商标法"目前为这些牌子提供了一些小漏洞"。
"These actions are significantly more costly than traditional counterfeit enforcement measures, but New Balance believes strongly in the protection of our intellectual property," she said.	"这些行动比传统的假冒执法措施的成本高得多,但新百伦对保护自己的知识产权坚信无疑,"她说。
The case offers a high-profile example of how doing business in China can feel like a Wild West shootout.	这个案子是个典型的例子,它表明在中国做生意有时就像是西部大片中的一场你死我活的枪战。
For years, foreign brands have been battling low-quality manufacturers that churn out cheap copies of everything from iPhones to Louis Vuitton bags. But piracy in China, the world's second-largest economy, has a new twist: Manufacturers copy everything about a product but with a slight modification of the brand name.	多年来,外国品牌一直在与低质量的中国制造商作战,这些厂商制造了大批的廉价山寨产品,从 iPhone 手机到路易威登(Louis Vuitton)手袋无所不有。但盗版行业在作为世界第二大经济体的中国有一个新的招数:虽然制造商山寨产品的所有方面,但却对品牌名称稍作改变。
For New Balance, that meant consumers ran into New Boom, New Barlun, and New Bunren — brands that are protected under China's trademark law.	对新百伦来说,这意味着消费者会遇到 New Boom、New Barlun 和 New Bunren 等品牌,它们都受到中国商标法的保护。
"Parasite brands are fast becoming the scariest form of 'counterfeit' within China," Ms. Dow said in an emailed response.	艾米·道在一封回答记者提问的电子邮件中写道:"寄生品牌正迅速成为中国境内最可怕的'假冒'形式。"
Ms. Dow said another Chinese court had awarded New Balance $550,000 this month in a judgment against companies making New Bunren brand shoes. Separately, New Balance has an outstanding case	艾米·道说,另外一家中国法院本月在一项裁决中,判处制造 New Bunren 牌鞋子的公司支付给新百伦 55 万美元的赔偿。另外,新百伦也在起诉使用 New Barlun 牌子的制造商。 against manufacturers using the brand New Barlun.

In China, trademarks are generally awarded to those who first file paperwork with the government. That has given rise to a crush of people registering the names of well-known brands, a practice known as "trademark squatting." Unlike in the United States, people who file for the trademarks do not have to give a reason for their application.	在中国，商标通常被授予首先向政府提交申请的人。这导致人们争先注册知名品牌的商标，这种做法被称为“商标占位”。与美国不同，在中国提交商标申请的人不必给出申请的理由。
Many Western companies, like Apple and Starbucks, and celebrities, including President Trump, have been caught up in long legal battles over the right to use their names in China.	许多西方公司，比如苹果和星巴克，以及包括特朗普总统在内的名人，都在中国使用自己名称的权利上陷入长期法律斗争的困境。
Trademark lawyers said companies rarely obtain preliminary injunctions in China, making this case an unusual one.	商标律师说，很少有公司能在中国打赢临时禁令的案子，这使新百伦案很不寻常。
Douglas Clark, an intellectual property lawyer who has practiced in Greater China for the last 25 years, said he could not recall a Chinese court imposing such a substantial fine for breaching a preliminary injunction.	在过去 25 年里一直在大中华地区从事知识产权业务的律师道格拉斯·克拉克 (Douglas Clark) 说，他记不起来有过中国法院对违反临时禁令的行为处以这么高罚款的案例。
"It's extremely significant because until now, defendants have very commonly in China just ignored court orders," Mr. Clark said. "This is sending a message that if you don't obey them, you will get into trouble."	"这个案子非常重要，因为到目前为止，中国的被告通常采取忽视法院命令的做法，"克拉克说。"这个案子传递了一个信息，如果你不服从禁令，你会遇到麻烦。"
Guizeng Wayne Liu, a senior partner at Yuanhe Partners, said Monday's decision underlined China's willingness to protect intellectual property rights.	元合律师事务所资深合伙人刘贵增说，周一的判决体现了中国保护知识产权的意愿。
"This is a good sign for New Balance in future trial cases," Mr. Liu added.	"这在以后要审理的案件上对新百伦来说是个好兆头，"刘贵增补充道。
Trademark lawyers say Beijing has started taking intellectual property rights seriously because Chinese companies now have valuable	商标律师说，北京已经开始认真对待知识产权问题，因为中国企业现在也拥有宝贵的知识产权需要保护。 intellectual property to protect.

Charles Feng, head of the intellectual property division at the law firm East & Concord Partners, said the injunction was particularly important because Chinese courts typically don't award much in the way of damages in trademark infringement cases. An injunction helps them minimize the losses from trademark infringement, Mr. Feng said.	北京天达共和律师事务所知识产权部门负责人冯超表示，这个禁令特别重要，因为中国法院通常不会对商标侵权案件造成的损害判处赔偿。冯超说，禁令能帮助他们尽量减少商标侵权损失。
He cited statistics from the Chinese courts that show that in the past 10 years, only 5 to 10 percent of companies that applied for preliminary injunctions obtained them.	他引用中国法院的统计数字说，过去 10 年来，申请预先禁令的公司中只有 5%至 10%成功。
The decision comes 10 months after a Chinese court upheld an earlier ruling that New Balance's Chinese trademark had infringed the rights of a businessman who had registered it first. The court ordered the company to pay the businessman $730,000, reducing the fine from $14 million.	10 个月前，中国法院维持了原来的一项裁定：新百伦的中文商标侵犯了首先注册该商标的商人的权利。法院当时命令新百伦向这名商人支付 73 万美元，而原先判决的罚款金额是 1400 万美元。
Edward Lehman, from Lehman, Lee and Xu, one of China's top law firms, said the punishment in this week's case implied that the courts had monitored the enforcement of the injunction. That was a good sign, he said, but much is left to be done.	爱德华·雷曼(Edward Lehman)来自中国顶尖律所雷曼律师事务所，他说，本周这个案件中的判罚意味着法院监督了禁令的执行。他说这是一个好兆头，但仍然还有很多事情要做。
"From an intellectual property portfolio management perspective, this is a Band-Aid on cancer," Mr. Lehman said.	雷曼说：“从知识产权组合管理的角度来看，这是在恶性肿瘤上面贴了一个创口贴。”

As China's Investors Rush In, Hong Kong Shares Take a Wild Ride	内地股民涌入，香港股市也变赌场？
HONG KONG — Meitu had been a snoozer of a stock since listing in Hong Kong in December. Then investors from mainland China had a	香港——自从美图于去年 12 月在香港上市以来，其股票的表现一直颇为沉闷。然后，来自中国大陆的投资者有了买入的机会。 chance to buy in.

Almost immediately, shares of Meitu, a Chinese smartphone app maker, jumped 80 percent in a week — then lost the gains nearly as fast. It briefly ranked as one of the most actively traded stocks in Hong Kong, overtaking blue-chip names like HSBC.	几乎是一时间，中国智能手机应用程序生产商美图股价在一周内暴涨80%——然后又以差不多同样快的速度跌去了涨幅。它由此超越汇丰银行(HSBC)等蓝筹股，短暂跻身于香港市场上交投最活跃的股票之列。
The moves were remarkable for a small, unprofitable company that makes a selfie app that lets users morph into fairylike airbrushed versions of themselves.	美图推出的自拍应用程序，让用户得以把自己的自拍照修饰得光鲜亮丽、如梦如幻，但它只是一家尚未盈利的小公司，股价出现这样大的波动显得很寻常。
What changed? Meitu became available to investors in mainland China in early March under a program linking stock markets there with Hong Kong.	是什么发生了改变？借助一个联通内地和香港股市的项目，中国内地的投资者可以买卖美图的股票了。
“It is obvious that the boom was driven by money from China,” said one of those investors, Tan Xin, 35, a banker from Shanghai. Mr. Tan said he had invested in Meitu but cashed out early, selling before the stock peaked.	“可以看出是国内资金在里面炒作”，其中一名来自上海的投资者、现年35岁的银行业人士谭欣(Tan Xin, 音)说。谭欣说他也买过美图的股票，但早早地清了仓，在股价抵达最高峰前就卖掉了。
“I didn’t expect it would be such a high rise,” he said.	“最后那波大的行情我没有赶上，”他说。
China has disrupted the prices of global assets as varied as real estate in Manhattan and copper in London. The latest example is Hong Kong’s stock market, where new programs are allowing Chinese mom-and-pop retail investors to place bets outside mainland China.	从曼哈顿的房地产到伦敦铜，中国已经扰乱了全球各种资产的价格。由于一些新项目让散户投资者得以在中国内地以外的地方下注，香港股市成了最新一例。
Some experts say those investors have played a role in some wild rides. In fact, those experts say, the presence of more mainland Chinese investors has made the Hong Kong market more volatile, adding to pressures that prompted the city’s market officials in recent weeks to publicly defend its stability.	一些专家称，这些投资者在股价剧烈波动过程中发挥了作用。专家们说，事实上，更多中国内地投资者的到来，加大了香港市场的波动性，同时也制造了额外的压力，促使这座城市的官员在最近几周里公开承诺要捍卫市场的稳定性。

"Hong Kong's capital market is not a stock casino," Charles Li, a former investment banker who oversees the local stock exchange, said during a luncheon speech at the city's Foreign Correspondents' Club in March. Still, he added, "there's always going to be a few dark corners and little alleys that ordinary folks don't usually go in."	"香港的资本市场绝对不是一个赌场，"今年3月，当地股票市场监管者、前投资银行家李小加(Charles Li)出席在香港外国记者会(Foreign Correspondents' Club)举办的一个午餐会时表示。不过他补充道，"这里一直都存在普通民众通常不会去的少数黑暗角落和小巷。"
Referring to some new investors from the mainland, he said, "The tourists don't know better."	他提及来自内地的某些新投资者时说，"游客们不太了解情况。"
China is slowly and fitfully lowering its financial barriers with the rest of the world, as Beijing tries to balance its desire for stability with its ambitions to have a much greater say in the global conversation about money. Hong Kong's experience shows that the process could involve spikes, drops and stumbles along the way, as vast sums of money — much of it controlled by people new to global finance — come to world markets.	北京方面既渴求稳定，又雄心勃勃想要在全球金融事务中享有更多话语权。在它试图寻找二者之间的平衡之际，中国正缓慢而又时断时续地降低针对世界其他地方的金融壁垒。香港的经验表明，随着巨量资金——其中很大一部分都受控于全球金融领域的新人——涌入全球市场，这一过程可能包含一路上的价格起伏和磕磕绊绊。
Two of China's highest-profile financial liberalization projects involve Hong Kong. In 2014, it introduced the Hong Kong-Shanghai Stock Connect, which allows a total of $3.4 billion to flow between the two markets each day. In December, China doubled down and began another $3.4 billion-a-day program connecting Hong Kong to the stock market in the southern Chinese city of Shenzhen.	中国备受瞩目的金融自由化项目中有两个涉及香港。2014年，它推出了"沪港通"，让总计34亿美元资金每天得以在港交所和上交所之间流动。去年12月，中国加倍下注，启动了联结港交所和深交所的"深港通"，每天的资金流动额度同样是34亿美元。
Because Hong Kong, a former British colony, operates outside China's limits on cross-border money flows and has long been a capital of global finance, the programs offered many Chinese investors their first chance to invest in global stock markets.	身为英国前殖民地的香港，并不受制于中国关于跨境资金流动的限制性规定，长期以来一直是全球金融之都。因此这些项目让很多中国投资者第一次有了投资于全球股票市场的机会。
Money can flow the other way, too. But the stock market crash in China	资金也可以朝着另一个方向流动。但中国股市两年前的崩盘，以及对人民币

two years ago and worries that its currency could fall in value have turned many overseas investors away from mainland stocks. Rather, the programs are drawing Chinese investors like Alex Nie, who says the mainland's stock market lacks bargains.	贬值的担忧，让很多海外投资者对中国内地股市望而生畏。相反，这些项目吸引到了阿历克斯·聂(Alex Nie)之类的中国投资者，他说内地股市上缺少价格划算的股票。
Shanghai and Shenzhen shares "are overvalued," said Mr. Nie, 37, an employee in the advertising industry in Beijing who has been buying Hong Kong stocks for the last two years and who says he is a long-term investor. "Many are not worth their prices," he said of mainland valuations.	沪市和深市的股票“估值过高”，现年 37 岁、在北京从事广告行业的阿历克斯·聂表示。他说自己是一名长期投资者，过去两年间一直在购买香港的股票。“A 股有大量的股票不值那个股价，”他谈及 A 股的估值水平时说。
Many other Chinese stock investors bring a shorter-term mind-set. While private pension funds and mutual funds often steer stock markets in places like the United States, markets in China are more often swayed by amateur investors and well-heeled individuals willing to take big risks.	其他很多中国投资者秉持的都是短线思维。私人养老基金和共同基金常常是美国等地股市的引领者，但中国市场更为经常地受到业余投资者左右，挤满了乐于承担高风险的散户。
What China has brought to the Hong Kong stock market is "very much a herd mentality," said Andrew Clarke, the head of trading in Hong Kong at the Mirabaud Group.	中国给香港股市带来了“一种很强的从众心理”，米拉博集团(Mirabaud Group)驻香港的交易主管安德鲁·克拉克(Andrew Clarke)说。
"It's total speculation," Mr. Clarke said. "People seize on these names, but it is not a form of investing." Instead, he added, "Stock Connect becomes the new Shanghai-Shenzhen casino."	“完全是投机，”克拉克说。“人们利用了这些名头，但这并不是一种投资，”相反，他补充道，“股票交易市场互联互通机制成了新的沪深赌场。”
The first Stock Connect deal added a new element of uncertainty to the market, said Rui Huo, a researcher at RMIT University in Melbourne, Australia, who is a co-author of a recent paper on the effect of Stock Connect on volatility.	澳大利亚墨尔本皇家理工大学(RMIT University)的研究人员霍锐，最近与人合作撰写了一篇关于股票交易市场互联互通机制对波动性的影响的论文。他说“沪港通”给市场增加了一种新的不确定因素。
"Hong Kong Stock Connect has increased the volatility level of both	“‘沪港通’让沪港两地股市的波动水平都上升了，”他说。

Shanghai and Hong Kong markets," he said.
Hong Kong has other attributes that encouraged China's hair-trigger traders. Compared with tightly controlled mainland markets, where stocks are permitted to rise or fall by a maximum of 10 percent a day, Hong Kong has fewer limits, and only on the biggest stocks, meaning hundreds more can double or fall to zero in minutes.	香港还具有让中国那些反应迅速的投资者受到鼓励的其他特质。内地市场是受到严格控制的, 股票在一个交易日内的交易价格相对上一交易日收市价格的涨跌幅度不得超过 10%, 相比之下, 香港只针对体量最大的一些股票设定了较少的限制, 这意味着其他千百只股票的价格可以在数分钟内翻一倍或者跌为零。
All those factors can work against Chinese investors as well.	所有这些因素也会让中国投资者受到伤害。
Shares of one company, China Huishan Dairy, fell 85 percent in two hours in March. Huishan later announced that it was negotiating interest and debt payments with 23 mainland banks and that all of its independent directors had resigned. The company then added it had filed a missing-person report with the police for its main executive in charge of treasury and cash operations.	今年 3 月, 中国辉山乳业的股价在两小时内暴跌了 85%。辉山乳业随即宣布, 它正跟内地的 23 家银行就利息和债务的偿付问题进行协商, 它的所有独董都已辞职。它后来又补充说, 一名掌管财务和现金业务的执行董事失联, 公司已向警方提交失踪人士报告。
Mainland investors were the biggest supporters of the stock the day it crashed, with buy trades from Shanghai through the Connect program accounting for more than a quarter of all turnover in the Hong Kong-listed stock before it was suspended from trading at midday. The identity of the investor or investors could not be determined.	该股票崩盘那天, 内地投资者是其最大的支持者——在香港上市的辉山乳业于中午停牌前, 通过“沪港通”涌入的来自上海的买单, 为它贡献了当天超过四分之一的成交量。没人知道相关投资者或投资者群体的身份。
With Meitu, the Chinese app maker, the reasons for the sudden moves were less clear.	至于中国应用程序生产商美图股价大幅波动的原因, 则是更加模糊。
Chinese-language reports in Hong Kong in March said the Securities and Futures Commission, the main stock market regulator, had requested the trading records of Meitu from local stockbrokers on three occasions since December, when it raised $629 million in an initial public offering. The stock plunged shortly after the news of the	今年 3 月, 香港的一些中文报道称, 自从美图于去年 12 月通过 IPO 募得 6.29 亿美元资金以来, 作为股市主要监管机构的香港证券及期货事务监察委员会, 已三度向当地券商索取关于美图的交易记录。与此事有关的消息传出后不久, 美图股价猛然下挫。 regulator's actions.

The commission declined to comment. Gary Ngan, the chief financial officer of Meitu, said the company had not received notice of an investigation into the trading or been approached by regulators.	香港证监会拒绝置评。美图首席财务官颜劲良(Gary Ngan)说, 该公司未收到有关股票交易受到调查的通知, 监管机构也未与该公司接触。
Meitu, which had 520 million active monthly users as of January, allows people to create idealized versions of themselves for sharing on social media. With a swipe, users of the app can whiten their face, taper their jaw, widen their eyes or make themselves thinner. It is hugely popular in China, where the company claims half of all photos circulated on social media were created with the app.	美图让人们得以打造用于在社交媒体上分享的理想化的自拍照, 截至今年1月拥有5.2亿月活跃用户。只消轻轻滑动鼠标, 这款应用程序的用户就可以把自己的脸变白, 把下巴变尖, 把眼睛变大, 把身材变瘦。该应用程序在中国广受欢迎——美图公司宣称, 在那里, 社交媒体上流传的照片中有一半是由它打造的。
Mr. Ngan said the company had chosen to list in Hong Kong because it was the only place that provided broad access to a base of shareholders from foreign countries and, via the Stock Connect program, from mainland China.	颜劲良说, 美图之所以选择赴港上市, 是因为香港是唯一一个让该公司既能广泛吸纳外国股东, 又能借助股票市场互联互通机制吸纳来自中国内地的股东的地方。
"In Hong Kong, everyone, both in China and overseas, can buy the stock and become our shareholder," he said.	"中国和海外的每一个人都可以在香港买这只股票, 成为我们的股东," 他说。
Still, the whipsaw trading has prompted some concern at Meitu.	不过, 股价的动荡已经在该公司内部引发了一些担忧。
"We would have preferred our stock not to be that volatile," Mr. Ngan said, "because it's not something that we can control."	"我们倒是愿意看到我们的股价不要波动得那么厉害," 颜劲良说, "因为这是我们无法控制的东西。"

HNA Group, Secretive Chinese Conglomerate, Takes Top Stake in Deutsche Bank	海航成德意志银行最大股东, 它是怎样一家公司?
The nomination of a prospective adviser to President Trump was torpedoed after its business ties with the aide came to light. It owns	一名有望成为特朗普总统顾问的提名人, 因为与它的商业联系被曝光而失去资格。它持有希尔顿全球集团(Hilton Worldwide Holdings)和技术分销商英

stakes in Hilton Worldwide Holdings and in the technology distributor Ingram Micro. And, as of Wednesday, it is the biggest shareholder in Deutsche Bank.	迈(Ingram Micro)的股份。至本周三，它成了德意志银行(Deutsche Bank)的第一大股东。
HNA Group, a secretive Chinese conglomerate with ties to the Communist Party in Beijing, has emerged as a major global deal maker.	海航集团是一家行事隐秘的中国企业集团，与北京的中共高层有联系，如今它已是一股重要的全球并购力量。
But what, exactly, is HNA Group? Here is a rundown.	但海航集团到底是一家什么样的公司？以下是一个概述。
How Did HNA Get Started?	海航集团是如何起步的？
The company was founded in China in 1993 as Hainan Airlines, in the southern island province of Hainan, with help from the local provincial government.	这家公司 1993 年成立于中国南部海岛省份海南，当时还是海南航空，它的成立得到了当地省政府的支持。
It has since expanded considerably into several industries, and now has more than $90 billion in assets.	之后它大幅扩展业务，进入了其他好几个行业，现在拥有超过 900 亿美元的资产。
What Has It Invested In?	它投资了哪些项目？
HNA has been on an acquisition streak in recent years, broadening beyond airlines to invest in tourism, logistics and financial services.	海航集团最近几年一直在不停地进行收购，其范围超出航空公司，扩展到对旅游、物流和金融服务领域的投资。
Since the beginning of 2016, it has struck deals to acquire Ingram Micro; a quarter of Hilton Worldwide Holdings, the hotel company; Carlson Hotels, owner of the Radisson and Country Inns & Suites chains; Gategroup, a Swiss airline catering business; and about a quarter of the American investment arm of the British-South African insurer Old Mutual.	自 2016 年开始，它达成多项协议，收购了英迈(Ingram Micro)、酒店企业希尔顿全球集团(Hilton Worldwide Holdings)四分之一的股份、丽笙(Radisson)和丽怡(Country Inns & Suites)酒店连锁的所有者卡尔森酒店集团(Carlson Hotels)、瑞士航空餐饮企业 Gategroup，以及英国和南非保险公司耆卫(Old Mutual)在美国的投资分公司约四分之一的股份。
Does It Have Ties to the Chinese State?	它与中国政府有关联吗？
HNA is not a state-owned enterprise in the way that China's banks, airlines, telecommunication companies and other pillars of the economy are. But its political pedigree runs deep.	海航公司不像中国的银行、航空公司、电信公司及其他经济支柱行业一样是国有企业。但它有很深的政治背景。

For more than a decade, HNA's chairman, Chen Feng, has been a member of the National Congress of the Chinese Communist Party, a group of more than 2,000 that meets every five years to help determine party leadership.	海航的董事长陈峰曾担任中国共产党全国代表大会委员十多年，那是一个2000多人的组织，每五年举行一次会议，参与决定党的下一届领导层人选。
HNA's ownership is murky — one major shareholder lists his address as a shabby apartment building in Beijing.	海航的所有权十分模糊——其中一位重要股东的登记地址是北京一座破败的公寓楼。
The company has benefited from sizable loans from state-backed lenders and counts the son of a former top political figure as a business partner: In 2008, according to Chinese corporate records, it formed a venture with a firm that was part of a group led by a son of He Guoqiang, who was then the Communist Party's powerful discipline chief.	这家公司获益于由政府支持的贷款机构提供的数量可观的贷款，而且有一位前高层政治人物的儿子做商业合伙人：据中国企业记录显示，海航集团在2008年与贺国强的儿子领导的一家集团下属的公司一起成立了一家企业。贺国强时任掌握重权的纪律检查委员会书记。
What Are Its Ambitions Beyond China?	海航集团在中国之外有什么野心？
HNA is not just politically connected in China. Its name has also come up in the political scene in the United States.	海航不止在中国有政治背景。它的名字也出现在美国政治图景中。
The Chinese company agreed in January to buy SkyBridge Capital, an investment firm owned by Anthony Scaramucci, a flamboyant former campaign fund-raiser for Mr. Trump who was set to be a White House liaison to business.	这家中国企业今年1月同意收购安东尼·斯卡拉穆奇(Anthony Scaramucci)所有的天桥资本(SkyBridge Capital)，这位行事招摇的前特朗普竞选募捐者本将成为白宫的商界联络人。
When Mr. Scaramucci was turned down for the liaison job, one of the issues raised was the sale of SkyBridge to HNA. Because the transaction will probably take several months, questions were raised over potential conflicts of interest.	当安东尼·斯卡拉穆奇被取消担任这一职位的资格时，被提到的问题之一就是海航对天桥资本的收购。因为这项交易可能需要几个月时间才能完成，所以被质疑可能存在利益冲突。
At the time, HNA described the deal as giving it a crucial entry into the American market for its asset management business.	与此同时，海航将这项交易描述为给它的资产管理业务提供了进入美国市场的至关重要的入口。

Regulator in China Takes Aim at Anbang Insurance Group	中国保监会向安邦发布产品禁令，责令其整改
SHANGHAI — A Chinese regulator announced on Friday that it had taken disciplinary measures against the Anbang Insurance Group, a financial behemoth that has tried to invest tens of billions of dollars overseas, for the improper sale of two investment products.	上海——中国的一个监管机构周五宣布对安邦保险集团采取惩戒措施，原因是它不正当销售两款投资产品。该集团是一家金融巨头，在海外有数以百亿计美元的投资。
The moves by the China Insurance Regulatory Commission come against a backdrop of broader worries about the country's financial system, in addition to ones about the insurance industry.	中国保险监督管理委员会采取这个举措的背景是，业界不仅对保险业忧心忡忡，而且对该国金融体系有着更大的担忧。
President Xi Jinping told Politburo members last month that China should place a strong emphasis on financial stability as a pillar of a strong economy, Xinhua, the state-run news agency, reported.	据官方通讯社新华社报道，习近平主席上个月告诉政治局成员，中国应该强调金融稳定是经济强健的支柱。
Many foreign economists and investors on Wall Street have expressed misgivings about China's rapid accumulation of debt, particularly at state-owned enterprises, since the global financial crisis in 2008 and 2009.	自 2008 年和 2009 年全球金融危机以来，中国迅速累积了大量债务，特别是国有企业债务迅速增长，华尔街的很多外国经济学家和投资者对此表示忧虑。
Chinese regulators began stepping up their scrutiny of banks several years ago, and they have been discouraging some aggressive lending and money-raising programs. Partly in response to that, real estate developers and others who needed to borrow large amounts of money began turning to insurers, which rapidly expanded their financial activities and raised the money to do so by selling a wide array of often speculative investment products.	中国监管机构几年前开始加强对银行业务的审查，叫停了一些激进的贷款和筹款方案。于是一些房地产开发商和其他需要借款大笔资金的人转而开始向保险公司借钱，保险公司则通过销售各种投资产品迅速扩大其财务活动并筹集资金，而这些产品常常带有投机性质。
The State Council, China's cabinet, announced separately on Friday the dismissal of the chairman of the insurance regulatory commission, who	中国国务院周五还宣布，接受腐败调查的保监会主席被免职，不过并没有将调查与安邦联系到一起。

has been the subject of a corruption investigation. The government has not linked that investigation to Anbang, however.
This week, the insurance regulator said it was barring Anbang from selling two of its investment products.	本周，保监会表示，禁止安邦出售两款投资产品。
One, the Anbang Longevity No. 5 Annuity, had been presented to regulators as a long-term investment. But the commission said that it was effectively a two-year investment that should have been subject to more stringent regulations on short- and medium-term investments.	其中一款“安邦长寿安享5号年金保险”是作为长期投资向保监会报送的。但保监会表示，这实际上是个两年期的投资，应该遵守中短期投资产品更为严格的规定。
The other banned investment product, Anbang Endowment Insurance, was put on the market without an actuary's signature, the commission said.	保监会还表示，另一款投资产品“安邦e起赢两全保险（万能型）”没有精算师的签字。
In an uncommonly sweeping warning to the insurer, the regulator concluded its announcement by telling Anbang that it should pay “high attention” to its full range of investment products and “fix the work on product development and management in strict accordance with supervision policies and requirements.”	保监会向安邦发出了一个非同寻常的全面警告，告诉安邦要对其全系列投资产品“高度重视，严格按照监管政策、监管要求，对产品开发管理工作进行整改”。
The investment-product bans and the broad admonition were part of a direct order to the company that was dated on Thursday and posted on the commission's website on Friday.	保监会周四直接向安邦发布了产品禁令和整体性的警告，周五将其公布在了官方网站上。
Anbang said that it had no immediate comment on the commission's order. Chinese regulatory decisions typically take effect immediately, particularly if published for the general public to see, and are nearly impossible to appeal.	安邦表示对保监会决定无法马上置评。中国的监管决定通常是立即生效的，特别是在向公众公布的情况下，几乎不可能上诉。

removed from office. No successor was announced.
Mr. Xiang's dismissal had been widely expected after Chinese anti-corruption investigators announced a month ago that they had investigated him over "severe violations of discipline." The government did not link that inquiry and his dismissal to Anbang.	中国反腐调查人员一个月前宣布对项俊波的“严重违纪行为”进行调查，因此他被免职并不出人意料。政府并没有把反腐调查和他的免职与安邦联系起来。
Mr. Xiang has not commented publicly about the investigation since it was announced. The targets of anti-corruption inquiries are typically held in custody and are sometimes subjected to harsh interrogation.	自调查宣布以来，项俊波就没有公开发过言。反腐调查的对象通常会被羁押，有时会遭到严审。
Anbang has been a leader among insurers when it comes to using so-called wealth management products, a class of lightly regulated investments that promise higher rates of return than conventional investments, but that also carry higher risks that may or may not be disclosed.	从理财产品的角度来看，安邦一直是保险业界领军者之一。理财产品是一种监管程度较低的投资，回报率比传统投资回报高，但风险也更高，而且风险可能披露，也可能不披露。
Wealth management products also tend to promise a quick payback period. But the issuing companies are exposed to liquidity risk if investors ask for their money back instead of reinvesting. The liquidity risk is particularly high if the issuer has put its money into long-term projects that cannot be sold quickly to raise cash.	理财产品的偿还期也往往较短。但是如果投资者取回钱而不是继续投资，发行这种产品的公司就会面临流动性风险。如果发行商将筹集的资金投入到不能快速出售的长期项目中，这种流动性风险就会特别高。
Many small- and medium-size banks are increasingly raising money for loans, bond purchases and other investments by issuing wealth management products, and even some largely unregulated companies have begun issuing wealth management products.	很多中小银行越来越多地通过发行理财产品来为贷款、债券购买和其他投资筹集资金，就连一些基本上不受管制的公司也开始发行理财产品。
Anbang came to international prominence in January when its chairman, Wu Xiaohui, met with Jared Kushner, President Trump's son-in-law and close adviser, at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York.	今年1月，安邦董事长吴小晖在纽约华尔道夫-阿斯特里亚(Waldorf-Astoria)酒店会见了特朗普的女婿及亲密顾问贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)。两人讨论了向安邦出售库什纳家族重建其在曼哈顿第五大道666号摩天大楼的

The two met to discuss the possible sale to Anbang of a Kushner family stake in the redevelopment of a Manhattan skyscraper, 666 Fifth Avenue. But those talks ended in March as the proposed transaction became increasingly divisive on both sides of the Pacific.	股份事宜。但谈判在3月份告吹，因为这个交易在太平洋两岸都引起了越来越激烈的争议。
Anbang bought the Waldorf Astoria for nearly $2 billion in 2014, among $16 billion in overseas acquisitions it made over the past few years. The company, started 13 years ago, has assets of almost $275 billion, a growing portion of which comes from the sale of wealth management products instead of insurance policies, according to Caixin, a Chinese investigative magazine.	安邦在过去几年里进行了160亿美元的海外并购，包括在2014年以近20亿美元的价格收购华尔道夫-阿斯托里亚酒店。中国调查杂志《财新周刊》表示，该公司于13年前成立，拥有资金近2750亿美元，其中不断增加的部分来自于销售理财产品而不是保险。
Caixin accused Anbang last Saturday of having a shareholder structure that “is like a maze,” and it questioned the appropriateness of capital injections from companies linked to Mr. Wu.	《财新周刊》上周六指控安邦拥有“迷宫”一样的股权结构，并质疑与有吴小晖有关的公司注资安邦是否正当。
Anbang struck back with a letter on Wednesday threatening to sue Caixin for “malicious” and “inaccurate” reporting.	安邦上周三发信回击，威胁要起诉《财新周刊》发布“充满恶意”的“失实”报道。

With Trump Name Unspoken, Kushners Seek Investors in Shanghai	库什纳集团上海路演，特朗普成隐形卖点
SHANGHAI — Like many American firms that come to China looking for money, Kushner Companies on Sunday tried to woo a Shanghai audience with promises of potentially big returns and a path toward living in the United States.	上海——与很多来中国寻找资金的美国公司一样，库什纳公司(Kushner Companies)周日试图用种种承诺——潜在的巨额回报和通往在美国生活之路，来争取上海观众的支持。
But for Bi Ting, who attended the event, part of the appeal was political: Jared Kushner is the son-in-law of — and a powerful adviser to — President Trump. Virtually unheard-of in China just months ago, he is now known here as a deeply influential figure in American politics.	但对参加该活动的毕婷(音)来说，它的部分吸引力是政治上的：贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)是特朗普总统的女婿，也是其大权在握的顾问。就在几个月前，中国几乎没人听说过库什纳，但现在，这里的人都知道他是美国政坛一个有着巨大影响力的人物。尽管库什纳自称已退出家族企业的日常经

Though Mr. Kushner has said that he has stepped back from the day-to-day operations of the family business, filings show he and Ivanka Trump, his wife and the president's daughter, continue to benefit from Kushner Companies' real estate and investment businesses.	营，但备案文件显示，他和妻子，也就是总统的千金伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)，依然是库什纳公司的房地产和投资业务的受益人。
"The Trump relationship is an extra point for me," Ms. Bi said, adding that she and her husband had not decided whether to invest.	"对我来说，与特朗普的关系是一个额外的点，"毕婷说道，又补充自己和丈夫还没决定是否投资。
The Kushner Companies' China roadshow, promoting $500,000 investments in New Jersey real estate as the path to a residency card in the United States, moved to Shanghai on Sunday after a similar pitch on Saturday in Beijing. Security was tighter in Shanghai than it had been in Beijing, where reporters for The New York Times and The Washington Post briefly attended the event before being kicked out.	库什纳公司的中国路演，把 50 万美元（约合 345 万元人民币）投资新泽西州房地产项目作为一个获得美国居住权的途径来加以宣传。周六在北京举行了一场类似的活动后，路演于周日来到上海。上海的安保措施比北京的更严格。《纽约时报》和《华盛顿邮报》(The Washington Post)的记者曾短暂地进入北京的活动现场，后被赶出。
The Shanghai event, at the opulent Four Seasons Hotel, was patrolled by burly security guards who screened those in attendance and kept journalists outside, in an elevator lobby. The organizers had refused on Saturday to allow late registration as word spread of the Beijing event. One guard at the Shanghai event was heard saying that at least some of the participants would be leaving through a private back exit.	上海的活动在豪华的四季酒店(Four Seasons Hotel)举行。场地周围有魁梧的保安巡逻，他们对参加活动的人进行了筛查，并把记者挡在了场地外的电梯厅里。周六，随着有关北京那场活动的消息传开，组织者拒绝接受逾期报名。在上海的活动现场，有人听到一名保安说，至少部分参与者会经由一个隐蔽的后门离开。
But some who attended described an investor pitch similar to the one in Beijing, and Mr. Trump's political power was palpable at the Shanghai event even if his name went unsaid. On Saturday in Beijing, one slide presented to the Shanghai audience on Sunday showed a photograph of Mr. Trump when describing who will decide the future of the American visa program for foreign investors, according to a snapshot	但根据部分参与者的描述，这场投资宣传活动与北京的大同小异，虽然特朗普的名字没有被提起，但在上海的活动上，依然能明显感觉到他的政治权力。从一名观众拍摄的快照来看，周六在北京，当介绍谁将决定针对外国投资者的美国签证项目的未来时，幻灯片上出现的是特朗普。周日，上海的观众也看到了这张幻灯片。

taken by an audience member.
While the Trump connection piqued the interest of many people in attendance, such events soliciting investors for projects in the United States are not unusual in China. The American EB-5 visa program awards foreign investors the right to live in the United States for two years and a path to permanent residency, in exchange for investments of at least $500,000 in American development projects. A bright red line near the top of the posters in the Four Seasons lobby prominently mentioned EB-5 visas.	尽管与特朗普的关系激起了很多参与者的兴趣，但在中国，这种为美国的项目寻找投资者的活动并不少见。按照美国 EB-5 签证项目，外国投资者在美国的开发项目中投资至少 50 万美元，便有权在美国生活两年，并有机会获得永久居留权。四季酒店走廊里的海报上，靠近顶端的一排鲜红色的文字显著提到了 EB-5 签证。
About three-quarters of the roughly 10,000 investor visas issued last year went to Chinese nationals.	美国去年发放的大致一万个投资者签证中，约四分之三流向了中国公民。
Many in China start looking for overseas residency and passports after they have children. They fear the effects of smog on their children's lungs — the smog was heavy in Shanghai on Sunday, and an internationally comparable index of air quality showed that the pollution was seven times the level in New York City.	很多中国人会在有了孩子后开始寻求获得海外居住权和护照。他们担心雾霾对孩子肺的影响——周日当天，上海雾霾严重，一个可对比各国情况的空气质量指数显示，上海的污染水平是纽约的七倍。
Many families also consider overseas schools to be preferable to China's, where ferocious academic competition keeps children doing homework until late at night even in elementary school, in preparation for a national college entrance exam that means riches or ruin.	很多家庭还认为海外的学校比中国的更好。在中国的学校里，为了给成败在此一举的高考做准备，即使是小学，激烈的竞争也令孩子做家庭作业到深夜。
"I want my child to live in a relatively relaxed environment," said Ms. Bi, who is 34 and expecting her first child, "where he or she could be himself or herself and lead a diverse life, instead of having no choice but to take the college entrance exam in China."	"我想让我的孩子生活在一个相对宽松的环境里，"34 岁的毕婷说，她即将迎来自己的第一个孩子。"他或她可以做自己，生活得丰富多彩，而不是没有选择，只能在中国参加高考。"
Still, she said, investing in the Kushner project would not give her and	但她说，投资库什纳的项目无法让她和丈夫有足够的时间在孩子出生前去美

her husband enough time to get to the United States before her baby was born.	国。
Many people here worry that the window for obtaining an EB-5 visa may be closing. Though he has softened his language considerably in recent weeks, Mr. Trump was a vociferous critic of China during his presidential campaign and has said he will take a tough line on immigration. Though he did not take aim at investors in real estate projects.	这里的很多人担心，取得 EB-5 签证的窗口也许会关闭。尽管最近几周，特朗普的言论已经温和多了，但他在竞选期间强烈指责中国，并表示会在移民问题上采取强硬立场。不过他并没有把目标指向房地产项目的投资者。

South Korea's Powerful Family Business Ties Could Be Tough to Cut	终结韩国财阀势力？说来容易做起来难
Forget Machiavelli, or "Game of Thrones." When it comes to staying in power, South Korea's richest business clans have the game plan down.	忘记马基雅维利或者《权力的游戏》(Game of Thrones)吧。说到如何维系权力，韩国最富有的商业家族对个中诀窍了如指掌。
There is the charity maneuver, in which family members park their stakes in their business empires in philanthropic nonprofits, letting them keep control without paying heavy taxes.	其中有慈善策略：家族成员把他们在自家商业帝国中的股份注入非营利性慈善组织，由此既能掌控一切，又可避开重税。
There is the new company maneuver, in which they create new firms that strike lucrative and friendly business deals with the others they control.	有新公司策略：他们开办新公司，让其与自己控制的其他公司达成有利可图且友好的商业交易。
And then there is old-fashioned corporate engineering, in which they merge arms of their empires together to consolidate power, even as other shareholders complain.	还有老式的企业架构安排：他们把自家商业帝国的分支合并到一起，以巩固权力，即便招致其他股东的抱怨也在所不惜。

With South Korea's biggest business empire, Samsung, caught up in a nationwide political scandal, a new generation of South Korean leaders has vowed to rip up that playbook. Major candidates in Tuesday's election for president have said they will clamp down on South Korea's family-controlled business empires, called chaebol, which dominate the country's economy and have amassed immense political power.	在韩国最大商业帝国三星(Samsung)卷入一桩全国性政治丑闻之际，新一代韩国领导人发誓要摒弃这一套手段。周二大选的主要候选人纷纷表示，他们会打压称为财阀(chaebol)的家族式企业帝国，这种企业主导着这个国家的经济，并积聚起了巨大的政治权力。
"Chaebol family control as we know it could end with this generation," said Kim Woochan, a professor of finance at Korea University Business School in Seoul, the South Korean capital, pointing to an intensifying backlash against inherited wealth. "An opportunity as good as this one is unprecedented."	"我们所熟知的财阀家族控制力可能会被这一代人终结，"首尔高丽大学商学院(Korea University Business School)金融学教授金宇陈（Kim Woochan，音）说，他指出继承所得财富正招致越来越强烈的不满。"现在有一个前所未有的好机会。"
But that could be easier said than done, South Korean officials and experts say. While the public blames the chaebol for an embarrassing series of political and business scandals and for holding back the country's once-surgling economy, they continue to hold considerable political power. Their controlling families have also proved adept at finding ways to keep control, even as they face increasing challenges from inheritance taxes, unhappy outside investors and their own family squabbling.	但韩国官员和专家认为，说起来容易做起来难。财阀正因卷入一系列尴尬的政治和商业丑闻，并拖累韩国一度蒸蒸日上的经济而受遭到公众的谴责，但它们依然掌控着不可小觑的政治权力。此外，事实证明，控制它们的那些家族颇为擅于找出继续控制它们的方法，即便面临着来自遗产税、不满的外部投资者以及家族内部权斗的愈演愈烈的挑战。
"Leaders, markets — they don't change overnight," said Rhyu Sang-young, a professor of political economy at Yonsei University in Seoul. "Every culture has a strong legacy, inertia. It takes time."	"领导人，市场——这些不会在一夜之间改变，"首尔延世大学(Yonsei University)政治经济学教授柳相永（Rhyu Sang-young，音）说。"每种文化都有其强大的遗产和惯性。改变需要时间。"
The front-runner in Tuesday's election, Moon Jae-in, has vowed to stop families from using nonprofit foundations, complicated shareholding plans and other methods to keep control of businesses. One of his main	在周二的大选中占据优势的文在寅(Moon Jae-in)公开宣布，要阻止各家族利用非营利性基金、复杂的持股计划以及其他方式保持对企业的控制。他的主要顾问之一、经济学家金相九（Kim Sang-jo，音），以其对财阀问题的鹰

But the Democratic Party, led by Moon, holds only 119 seats in the 300-member legislature, the National Assembly. The Democrats would find it hard to get support from rival parties in passing chaebol reform bills through a fractured legislature, where a pro-business lobby also remains strong. Passing a bill will take many months of wrangling.	但在共有 300 个议席的立法机关国民大会，文在寅领导的民主党仅占 119 个席位。民主党人将会发现，很难从对抗党派那里得到支持，让一个四分五裂的立法机构通过财阀改革法案，亲商界的游说力量对这里依然有很大影响力。一项法案要经过很多个月的角力才会被通过。
Moon has also promised to make prosecutors more independent and to make it more difficult for a president to abuse the power of the office, limiting the ability of chaebol to collude with officials and escape justice. But such reforms would likely require a revision of the constitution, which would be very difficult to pull off given the nation's fractious politics.	文在寅还承诺，要让检察官更加独立，让总统更加难以滥用职权，制约财阀与官员相勾结、逃避法律制裁的能力。但实施此类改革可能需要修宪，鉴于韩国政局颇为混乱，这简直难于上青天。
Mounting distrust of the chaebol culminated earlier this year in the arrest and indictment of Lee Jae-yong, Samsung's de facto chief, on bribery and other charges related to a scandal that ousted South Korea's president and led to Tuesday's election. Lee, who also goes by the name Jay Y. Lee, is a member of the third generation of a family that controls a business empire that makes its famous mobile phones, builds the world's tallest skyscrapers — an affiliate constructed the Burj Khalifa in Dubai — operates hospitals, hotels and theme parks, and even offers credit cards.	今年早些时候，随着实际执掌三星的李在镕(Lee Jae-yong)因为行贿以及关乎一桩丑闻的其他指控而被捕并遭到起诉，公众对财阀日益增长的不信任感达到了顶点。这桩丑闻导致韩国总统下台，促成了周二的大选。李在镕所在家族控制下的商业帝国，生产名号响亮的手机，修建了全世界最高的一些摩天大楼——其子公司在迪拜建造了哈利法塔(Burj Khalifa)，还运营医院、酒店和主题公园，甚至提供信用卡。他是这个家族的第三代成员。
But frustration with the chaebol has been building for years. Critics blame the conglomerates for a number of social ills, including corruption, inequality and the crowding out of smaller and potentially	但对财阀的失望之情已积聚多年。批评人士把多种社会病症归咎于大企业集团，其中包括腐败、不平等，以及规模较小但可能更具创新精神的企业遭受的排挤。财阀股票的交易价格低于应有水平——即所谓的韩国折扣——因为

more innovative businesses. Shares in the chaebol trade at lower prices than they otherwise would – the so-called Korea discount – because outside investors fear founding families will shortchange them.	外部投资者担心自己被创始家族亏待。
They face other challenges – in particular, taxes. Perhaps surprisingly in a country where dynasties have persisted, inheritance taxes in South Korea are high – for the wealthy, 50 percent or more.	它们还面临着其他挑战——尤其是税赋方面的挑战。韩国的遗产税很高，针对富人的税率高达 50%或以上，在一个王朝统治经久不衰的国家里，这或许颇为令人意外。
That is where the power-preservation playbook comes in.	这就是为什么会有这一套保留权力的手段。
One solution has been to transfer stakes in chaebol companies to family-controlled charities. One such charity, the Samsung Foundation of Culture, is one of the biggest shareholders in Samsung Electronics, the jewel of the Samsung empire, holding a stake of close to 8 percent.	一个办法是，把自己在财阀企业中的股权转移到由家族控制的慈善基金中去。三星文化基金会(Samsung Foundation of Culture)就是这样一种慈善基金，它持有三星帝国的明珠三星电子(Samsung Electronics)将近 8%的股份，是其最大的股东之一。
Another option is to ensure that chaebol heirs get rich before their parents die. That can be accomplished by setting up small companies under an heir's control, then making them bigger using the family's business connections.	另一个办法是确保财阀继承人在其父母去世前致富。要达到这一目标，可以先创办受控于继承人的小公司，然后利用家族的商业关系让小公司发展壮大。
Critics say that is what happened at Hyundai Motor, where Chung Eui-sun, the son of the carmaker's chairman, invested in a small logistics company in 2001. The company, now called Hyundai Glovis, quickly secured lucrative contracts with Hyundai affiliates. Within a few years Hyundai Glovis and Chung were worth billions. A Hyundai spokeswoman declined to comment on the arrangement.	批评人士称，现代汽车(Hyundai Motor)就是这种情况。其会长之孙郑义宣(Chung Eui-sun)在 2001 年投资了一家小物流公司。现在名为现代格拉维斯(Hyundai Glovis)的这家公司，很快就跟现代的子公司签订了利润丰厚的合约。没过几年，现代格拉维斯和郑义宣本人都拥有了数以十亿计的身家。现代的一名发言人拒绝就相关安排置评。
Lee of Samsung, who is technically vice chairman but leads the conglomerate on behalf of his ill father, also benefited from maneuvers designed to preserve family power. Another maneuver is at the heart of the charges against him. The merger of two Samsung companies in 2015 made Lee the dominant shareholder in a crucial part of the Samsung empire. Lee earlier this year was accused of bribing Park and others to push another major shareholder, the government's pension system, to approve the deal. Lee denies the charges and says he was a victim of extortion.	另一个策略在他所面临的指控中处于核心位置。2015年, 三星的两家公司合并, 让李在镕在三星帝国一个关键组成部分里成为具有支配权的股东。李在镕于今年早些时候被控向朴槿惠等人行贿, 以促使另一个大股东——国家养老基金——允准此项交易。李在镕否认了相关指控, 说自己是敲诈勒索的受害者。
Outside shareholders, which could be a point of pressure, still do not have a big voice. Many chaebol companies have long been publicly traded, but their size and success has drawn outside investors who clamor for greater say and better governance. In the case of Samsung, a U.S. hedge fund, Elliott Associates, objected to the deal that led to the bribery charges against Lee. But the hedge fund failed to block it.	外部股东可以施加一定的压力, 不过还没有太大的话语权。很多财阀公司早已上市, 但它们凭借自己的规模和成功, 与吵着要求获得更大话语权、进行更有效治理的外部投资者打了个平手。以三星为例, 美国对冲基金埃利奥特(Elliott Associates)曾反对推进给李在镕招来贿赂指控的这项交易, 但未能成功加以阻止。

U.S. Firms Want In on China's Global 'One Belt, One Road' Spending	美国企业也想从“一带一路”计划中分一杯羹
XUZHOU, China — As China plans to build a raft of roads, rail lines, ports and airports across Asia, Africa and Europe, skeptics say Chinese companies will be the only real winners from the ambitious initiative.	中国徐州——当中国计划在亚洲、非洲和欧洲各地修建大量公路、铁路、港口和机场时, 怀疑论者表示, 中国企业将是这些雄心勃勃的计划中唯一的、真正的赢家。

"We have a laser focus on winning these," said Rachel Duan, the chief executive of General Electric China.	"我们紧紧聚焦于赢取这些订单，"GE 大中华区首席执行官段小纓(Rachel Duan)说。
China is pulling companies and countries more tightly into its economic and geopolitical sphere with the "One Belt, One Road" plan. A forum on the effort in Beijing, hosted on Sunday by China's president, Xi Jinping, drew President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia and other state leaders, as well as officials from more than three dozen countries, including the United States.	中国在通过“一带一路”计划让各企业和国家更紧密地融入它的经济与地缘政治圈。周日，由习近平主持的一场围绕该计划的论坛在北京举行，吸引了俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. If enacted as planned, the initiative could lead to a global building spree; China has promised more than $1 trillion of investment over the long term.	若进展顺利，这个计划将引发一轮全球性的建筑热潮；中国已经承诺在长远的未来投资超过 10 万亿美元。
Western companies are angling aggressively for a piece of the action. Some non-Chinese companies are also tweaking their businesses to win more orders related to Beijing's plan, and G.E. has rearranged its marketing staff for global power equipment to give them priority.	一些非中国企业也在调整自身的业务，以便赢得更多与北京这项计划有关的订单。GE 已经对公司的全球能源设备营销人员进行了重新的安排，以赋予他们优先权。

China's spending doesn't necessarily mean immediate profit. Most of the money has yet to be earmarked, much less spent. And China — which has too many factories making too much steel and cement — is making sure that its own companies will be the biggest beneficiaries.	中国的投资不见得马上就会产生利润。其中大部分资金还没有被指定用途，更不用说花出去。而且中国在确保本国企业成为最大的受益者——该国有太多的工厂在生产过剩的钢铁和水泥。
Companies like Caterpillar, for example, will have to contend with a fast-growing, government-controlled Chinese maker of construction machinery, the Xuzhou Construction Machinery Group, known as X.C.M.G. Such businesses, facing a maturing market at home, are eager to find new markets — a core ambition of the plan.	比如，卡特彼勒(Caterpillar)将不得不与一家由政府控制的快速发展的中国建筑机械设备制造商——徐工集团展开竞争。这类企业在国内的市场已经趋于饱和，正急于寻找新市场——这正是一带一路计划的核心目标。
At one of X.C.M.G.'s cavernous factories here in north-central China, workers are rushing to double the number of excavators that can be made each year, mainly by adding robots to the assembly process. The initiative has the factory humming 16 hours a day, six days a week.	在徐工集团位于华北的一座巨大的工厂里，工人们在赶着将挖掘机年产量翻番，这主要靠让机器人参与装配工作来实现。在“一带一路”计划的影响下，这家工厂每天开工16个小时，每周工作六天。

For businesses, the plan offers uncertainty as well as promise. The infrastructure that China is building could someday become the avenues for billions of dollars in increased trade — or become debt-ridden sinkholes. Mr. Xi is pressuring companies already doing business in China to participate no matter what the prospects.	对企业而言，这项计划既带来了希望，也带来了不确定性。中国正在建设的基础设施有可能在未来使贸易量增加、由此带来几十亿美元收入，也有可能成为债务缠身的黑洞。习近平向已经在中国开展业务的企业施压，让它们不管前景如何都要参与这项计划。
The hope of future prosperity is enticing. They are particularly troubled that the program seems to be mostly about Chinese exports, and not much about imports.	其他人则等着看中国富有雄心的想法能否化为真实的投资,看美国和欧洲的企业是否有一席之地。他们尤其担心,这个计划主要与中国的出口有关,而与进口没有太大关系。
"Tell us what we are going to get out of this," said James Zimmerman, a lawyer in Beijing who is a former chairman of the American Chamber of Commerce in China, referring to the West. China's industrial overcapacity is a big motivator behind the plan. China can make nearly 1.1 billion tons of steel a year, as much as the rest of the world put together, but has domestic demand for only about 800 million tons. The initiative might absorb only about 30 million tons a year, according to a recent study by the European Union Chamber of Commerce.	中国的工业过剩是这项计划诞生的一大动因。中国一年可以生产近11亿吨钢铁,相当于世界其他地方产量的总和,但中国国内的钢铁需求只有8亿吨左右。欧盟商会(European Union Chamber of Commerce)最近进行的一项研究显示,"一带一路"计划一年或许只能消化约3000万吨钢铁。

Behind China's $1 Trillion Plan to Shake Up the Economic Order	"一带一路": 中国巨额投资欲重塑全球经济秩序
VANG VIENG, Laos — Along the jungle-covered mountains of Laos, squads of Chinese engineers are drilling hundreds of tunnels and bridges to support a 260-mile railway, a $6 billion project that will eventually connect eight Asian countries.	老挝万荣——沿着丛林覆盖的老挝山区，中国工程师队伍正在为一条 260 英里（约合 420 公里）长的铁路修建数以百计的隧道和桥梁，这是一个 60 亿美元的项目，最终将把八个亚洲国家连接在一起。
Chinese money is building power plants in Pakistan to address chronic electricity shortages, part of an expected $46 billion worth of investment.	中国的资金正在巴基斯坦建电厂，解决这里长期的电力短缺问题，包括这些电厂在内的总投资预计将达到 460 亿美元。

The massive infrastructure projects, along with hundreds of others across Asia, Africa and Europe, form the backbone of China's ambitious economic and geopolitical agenda. President Xi Jinping of China is literally and figuratively forging ties, creating new markets for the country's construction companies and exporting its model of state-led development in a quest to create deep economic connections and strong diplomatic relationships.	在亚洲、非洲和欧洲,大型基础设施项目以及其他数百个项目构成了中国雄心勃勃的经济和地缘政治议程的支柱。不管是从字面上来说还是打比方,中国主席习近平正在建立联系,为中国的建筑企业创造新市场,并输出国有经济发展模式,希望培养深厚的经济联系和强有力的外交关系。
The initiative, called "One Belt, One Road," looms on a scope and scale with little precedent in modern history, promising more than $1 trillion in infrastructure and spanning more than 60 countries. To celebrate China's new global influence, Mr. Xi is gathering dozens of state leaders, including President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia, in Beijing on Sunday.	这个名为“一带一路”赫然耸现的倡议,其规模和范围在现代历史上鲜有先例,它承诺投资1万亿多美元,修建跨越60多个国家的基础设施。为了庆祝中国新的全球影响力,习近平周日在北京会见了数十名国家领导人,其中包括俄罗斯总统普京。
It is global commerce on China's terms.	这是基于中国主张的全球商业。
Mr. Xi is aiming to use China's wealth and industrial know-how to create a new kind of globalization that will dispense with the rules of the aging Western-dominated institutions. The goal is to refashion the global economic order, drawing countries and companies more tightly into China's orbit.	习近平的目标是利用中国的财富和工业技术,创造出一种新的全球化,抛弃老旧的西方主导体制的规则。其目标是重塑全球经济秩序,进一步把其他国家和企业带到中国的轨道上来。
The projects inherently serve China's economic interests. With growth slowing at home, China is producing more steel, cement and machinery than the country needs. So Mr. Xi is looking to the rest of the world, particularly developing countries, to keep its economic engine	这些项目本质上服务于中国的经济利益。随着中国国内经济增长放缓,中国生产的钢铁、水泥和机械超过了本国的需求。所以习近平正在看向世界其他地方,特别是发展中国家,以保持中国经济引擎的转动。

"President Xi believes this is a long-term plan that will involve the current and future generations to propel Chinese and global economic growth," said Cao Wenlian, director general of the International Cooperation Center of the National Development and Reform Commission, a group dedicated to the initiative. Mr. Xi is rolling out a more audacious version of the Marshall Plan, America's postwar reconstruction effort. Back then, the United States extended vast amounts of aid to secure alliances in Europe. China is deploying hundreds of billions of dollars of state-backed loans in the hope of winning new friends around the world, this time without requiring military obligations.	习近平推出了更加大胆的"马歇尔计划"。"马歇尔计划"是美国的战后重建努力，当时它提供了大量的援助，确保欧洲盟友的安全。中国正在部署数以千亿美元计的国有贷款，希望在全世界赢得新朋友，不过这一次没有任何军事义务。
Mr. Xi's plan stands in stark contrast to President Trump and his "America First" mantra. The Trump administration walked away from the Trans-Pacific Partnership, the American-led trade pact that was envisioned as a buttress against China's growing influence.	习近平的计划与特朗普总统及其"美国优先"的口号形成鲜明对比。特朗普政府取消了"跨太平洋伙伴关系协定"(Trans Pacific Partnership, 简称 TPP)。TPP 是美国主导的一个贸易协定，原计划打造成为一根中流砥柱，抵制中国日益增长的影响力。

As head of the Communist Party, Mr. Xi is promoting global leadership in China's own image, emphasizing economic efficiency and government intervention. And China is corralling all manner of infrastructure projects under the plan's broad umbrella, without necessarily ponying up the funds.	作为共产党主席，习近平正在推动中国的全球领导者形象，强调经济效益和政府干预的重要性。而中国正在把各种基础设施项目汇聚到这个涵盖范围广泛的计划之下，并不一定要自己出资。

The United States and many of its major European and Asian allies have taken a cautious approach to the project, leery of bending to China's strategic goals. Some, like Australia, have rebuffed Beijing's requests to sign up for the plan. Despite projects on its turf, India is uneasy because Chinese-built roads will run through disputed territory in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir.	美国及其主要的欧洲和亚洲盟友对这个项目采取了谨慎的态度，对于迎合中国的战略目标非常小心。有些国家拒绝了北京加入该计划的邀请，比如澳大利亚。尽管有些项目位于印度，但由于中国修建的道路将通过巴基斯坦占领的有争议的克什米尔领土，这也让它坐立不安。
But it is impossible for any foreign leader, multinational executive or international banker to ignore China's push to remake global trade.	但是，任何外国领导人、跨国公司或国际银行家都不可能忽视中国重造全球贸易的努力。

Western industrial giants like General Electric and Siemens are coming, as they look for lucrative contracts and try to stay in China's good graces.	德国经济与能源部长布丽吉特·齐普里斯(Britgitte Zypries)计划出席在北京召开的这个会议。像通用电气和西门子这样的西方工业巨头也将参与其中，希望签到利润丰厚的合同，并努力和中国保持良好关系。
The Trump administration just upgraded its participation.	特朗普政府刚刚提升了对这个会议的参与度。
Originally, it planned to send a Commerce Department official, Eric Branstad, the son of the incoming American ambassador to Beijing, Terry Branstad. When Mr. Xi announced the “One Belt, One Road” plan in September 2013, it was clear that Beijing needed to do something for the industries that had succeeded in building China’s new cities, railways and roads — state-led investment that turned it into an economic powerhouse. China did not have a lot left to build, and growth started to sputter.	2013 年 9 月习近平宣布“一带一路”计划时，北京显然需要为成功地修建了中国新城市、铁路和公路的行业做点什么——正是这些由政府主导的投资把中国变成了一个经济强国。中国剩下需要修建的东西不多了，增长渐渐开始乏力。
Along with the economic boost, tiny Laos, a landlocked country with six million people, is a linchpin in Beijing’s strategy to chip away at American power in Southeast Asia. slow down work.
It is a fast start to a much-delayed program that may bring only limited benefits to the agrarian country.	对一个拖延已久，并且也许只会给这个农业国家带来有限好处的项目来说，这个启动颇为迅速。
For years, Laos and China sparred over financing. With the cost running at nearly $6 billion, officials in Laos wondered how they would afford their share. The country's output is just $12 billion annually. A feasibility study by a Chinese company said the railway would lose money for the first 11 years.	老挝和中国曾因资金问题争论多年。在成本接近 60 亿美元的情况下，老挝官员不知道他们如何能承担起自己的那一部分费用。该国的年经济产出才 120 亿美元。由一家中国公司进行的一项可行性研究称，该铁路前 11 年都会处于亏损状态。
Such friction is characteristic.	这种摩擦很典型。
In Indonesia, construction of a high-speed railway between Jakarta and Bandung finally began last month after arguments over land acquisition. In Thailand, the government is demanding better terms for a vital railway.	在印度尼西亚，征地引发的争论结束后，一条连接雅加达和万隆的高速铁路终于在上月开工。在泰国，政府正在为一条极其重要的铁路争取更好的条件。
China's outlays for the plan so far have been modest: Only $50 billion has been spent, an "extremely small" amount relative to China's domestic investment program, said Nicholas R. Lardy, a China specialist at the Peterson Institute for International Economics in Washington.	迄今为止，中国为该计划花的钱不多：仅为 500 亿美元。华盛顿彼得森国际经济研究所(Peterson Institute for International Economics)的中国问题专家尼古拉斯·R·拉迪(Nicholas R. Lardy)说，相对于中国的国内投资计划，这个金额“极小”。
Even China's good friends so far are left wanting. Mr. Xi attended a groundbreaking ceremony in 2014 in Tajikistan for a gas pipeline, but the project stalled after Beijing's demand waned.	目前，就连中国的好朋友也没有得到充足的资金。习近平 2014 年在塔吉克斯坦出席了一条天然气管道的动工仪式，但在北京的需求减弱后，该项目陷入了停滞。

China is making calculations that the benefits will outweigh the risks.	中国正在进行计算，以确保收益大过风险。
The investments could complicate Beijing's effort to stem the exodus of capital outflow that have been weighing on the economy. The cost could also come back to haunt China, whose banks are being pressed to lend to projects that they find less than desirable. By some estimates, over half the countries that have accepted Belt and Road projects have credit ratings below investment grade.	北京正在扼制给经济带来压力的资本外流，而这些投资会影响他们的行动。成本也会给中国构成隐患。中国的银行正被迫借钱给它们觉得不太明智的项目。一些人估计，接受“一带一路”项目的国家中，超过一半的信用评级低于投资级别。
"A major constraint in investor enthusiasm," said Eswar Prasad, professor of trade policy at Cornell University, "is that many countries in the Central Asian region, where the initial thrust of the initiative is focused, suffer from weak and unstable economies, poor public governance, political stability and corruption."	"一个严重影响投资者热情的因素，"康奈尔大学(Cornell University)的贸易政策教授埃斯瓦尔·S·普拉萨德(Eswar S. Prasad)说，"是该计划的初期目标集中关注的中亚地区的很多国家，都面临经济疲软和不稳定、公共治理不善，以及政治稳定和腐败方面的问题。"
Laos is one of the risky partners. The Communist government is a longstanding friend of China. But fearing China's domination, Laos is casting around for other friends as well, including China's regional rivals Japan and Vietnam.	老挝就是危险的合作伙伴之一。该国的共产党政府是中国的老朋友。但因为害怕被中国控制，老挝也在四处寻找新朋友，包括中国在该地区的竞争对手日本和越南。

Laos has an $800 million loan from China's Export-Import Bank and agreed to form a joint venture with China that will borrow much of the rest.	围绕该铁路线进行了长达五年的谈判后，老挝最终拿到了一份更有利的协议。老挝获得了中国进出口银行八亿美元的贷款，并同意与中国成立一家合资企业。剩下的资金有相当一部分将通过这家公司借贷。
Still, Laos faces a huge debt burden. The International Monetary Fund warned this year that the country's reserves stood at two months of prospective imports of goods and services. It also expressed concerns	但老挝仍面临沉重的债务负担。国际货币基金组织(International Monetary Fund)今年警告称，该国的外汇储备只够购买未来两个月的进口商品和服务。该组织还对公共债务可能会增加至大约相当于整个经济总量的70%表示担

China Surrenders Little to U.S. in First Round of Trade Talks	中美第一轮贸易谈判：中国险胜
China's deal makers edged out their American counterparts in their first round of trade talks.	在第一轮贸易谈判中，中国谈判者险胜他们的美国对手。
United States beef producers and financial firms will get more access to Chinese markets in exchange for chicken imports and a potential opening for Chinese banks. It's a good start, but Beijing didn't give up much.	美国牛肉生产商和金融公司将在中国获得更多市场准入，作为交换，中国的鸡肉将出口到美国，美国市场有可能对中国银行开放。这是一个不错的开端，但北京并没有放弃太多。
President Trump's administration was quick to crow about trade concessions wangled from Beijing. The deal is part of a 100-day plan hashed out when Mr. Trump met President Xi Jinping of China in April.	特朗普政府立刻为从北京获得的贸易妥协而沾沾自喜。这项协议是一个百日计划的一部分，那是特朗普今年 4 月与中国国家主席习近平会面时所达成的。

American companies like Visa and MasterCard will get access to the Chinese market, and two banks will get bond underwriting licenses.	Visa 和万事达(MasterCard)等美国企业将获准进入中国市场, 有两家银行将获得中国的债券承销许可。
"I have a new boss who's very demanding that things get done on time," Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross told CNBC. "So I'm quite relieved that we had tangible achievements."	"我有一个新老板, 要求必须及时把事情办好," 商务部长威尔伯·罗斯(Wilbur Ross)对 CNBC 讲道。"我们取得了切实的成果, 我终于松了一口气。"
Though a decent start, it will not do much to reduce the American trade deficit with China, which stood at nearly $350 billion in 2016 and widened in March. American companies will not find it easy to compete with Chinese firms, which are experienced and at this point deeply entrenched in their home market. For example, in electronic-payment services, China has already leapfrogged the United States in many ways.	尽管是个不错的开端, 但它不会大幅度减少美国对中国的贸易逆差, 这个数字在 2016 年为 3500 亿美元, 今年 3 月的贸易逆差还进一步扩大。美国企业将不会觉得与中国企业的竞争变容易了, 因为后者经验丰富, 而且在中国市场根基已深。比如, 在电子支付行业, 中国已经在许多方面大幅超越美国。
The agricultural liberalizations are overdue, and in the interest of both countries. American beef is a premium product that will compete with imports from other countries, not domestic farms. As for chicken, the complementary trade is one that Beijing has long pushed. Chinese consumers tend to prefer dark meat and are happy to export the breast meat that Americans like. But Chinese chicken could raise food-safety concerns in the United States.	农业贸易自由化是早就该有的, 符合两国利益。美国牛肉是一种要与从其他国家进口的牛肉, 而非国产牛肉竞争的优质产品。至于鸡肉, 北京长久以来一直在推动该产品的互补性贸易。中国消费者喜欢吃鸡腿, 乐于将美国人喜欢的鸡胸肉出口。但中国的鸡肉会在美国引发食品安全上的担忧。
On matters beyond trade, Washington appears to be taking a softer stance than Mr. Trump promised on the campaign trail. He rattled Beijing by taking a congratulatory call from President Tsai Ing-wen of Taiwan after the November election, but later said he would refrain from speaking directly with the Taiwanese president unless he first checked with Mr. Xi. In the meantime, the White House appears to be stalling on planned arms sales to Taiwan.	在贸易之外, 华盛顿的立场似乎没有特朗普在竞选时期承诺的那么强硬。去年 11 月当选时, 他接了台湾总统蔡英文(Tsai Ing-wen)的祝贺电话, 因此惹恼了北京, 但后来他又表示, 他将避免直接与台湾总统对话, 除非事先与习近平打过招呼。与此同时, 白宫似乎在拖延向台湾销售武器的计划。

Most of the contentious issues, like barriers to American carmakers and product dumping by Chinese state-owned heavy industry, have yet to be addressed. It's also unclear how these incremental steps will affect a comprehensive investment treaty that the two parties have been negotiating for years. American negotiators will have to push harder than this if they want better bargains.	大多数有争议的问题, 比如美国汽车制造商遭遇的壁垒和中国国有重工业企业的产品倾销, 并没有得到解决。目前还不清楚, 这些渐进的步骤是否会对两国协商多年的一项全面的投资协议产生影响。想要获得更有利于自己的条件, 美国谈判者必须更努力地向前推动。

HANGZHOU, China — Even a decade ago, car manufacturing in China was still a fairly low-tech, labor-intensive endeavor. Thousands of workers in a factory, earning little more than $1 an hour, performed highly repetitive tasks, while just a handful of industrial robots dotted factory floors.	中国杭州——就在十年前, 在中国制造汽车仍大体上是技术水平低下的劳动密集型工作。工厂里有数以千计的工人, 他们干着高度重复的任务, 每小时的收入不到一美元, 车间里只有少数工业机器人。
No longer.	情况不再是这样。
At Ford's newest car assembly plant in Hangzhou in east-central China, at least 650 robots, resembling huge, white-necked vultures, bob and weave to assemble the steel structures of utility vehicles and midsize sedans. Workers in blue uniforms and helmets still do some of the welding, but much of the process has been automated.	在中国东部城市杭州, 福特汽车公司最新的汽车装配厂里至少有 650 台机器人, 它们像是巨大的白颈秃鹰, 在车间里上下左右快速移动, 把多功能车和中型轿车的钢结构组装起来。仍有穿着蓝色工装、带着头盔的工人在做一些焊接工作, 但工艺流程的大部分都已自动化。
The state-of-the-art factory exemplifies the vast transformation that has taken place across manufacturing in China. General Motors opened a similarly ultra-modern Cadillac factory in the eastern suburbs of Shanghai, as well as one in Wuhan. Other automakers are also pouring billions of dollars into China, now the world's largest auto market.	这个最先进的工厂是中国制造业正在发生的巨大转型的代表。通用汽车公司在上海的东郊开了一个同样超现代化的凯迪拉克工厂, 还有一个在武汉。其他汽车制造商也在向中国注入数十亿美元的投资, 中国现在是世界上最大的汽车市场。

Robots are critical to China's economic ambitions, as Chinese companies look to move up the manufacturing chain. The Ford assembly plant is across the street from a robot-producing factory owned by Kuka, the big German manufacturer of industrial robots that a Chinese company bought last summer.	随着中国企业考虑提升它们在制造链上的地位，机器人对中国的经济野心至关重要。这家福特装配厂的街对面，就是德国大型工业机器人公司库卡拥有的一家机器人制造厂，一家中国公司已在去年夏天将其收购。
For carmakers, the reliance on robots is driven partly by cost. Blue-collar wages have soared because multinational companies have moved much of their production to China even as its labor force is rapidly changing. The combination of the one-child policy, which cut the birth rate through the 1980s and '90s, and an eightfold increase in college enrollments has cut by more than half the number of people entering the work force each year who have less than a high school degree and may be willing to consider factory work.	对汽车制造商来说，依赖机器人的部分原因是成本驱动。正当中国的劳动力结构发生迅速变化时，跨国公司将大部分生产线转移到中国，这使蓝领工人的工资飙升。独生子女政策导致 20 世纪 80 年代和 90 年代的出生率下降，同时，大学入学率增长了八倍，这两个因素加在一起，让每年加入到劳动力大军的只有高中或以下学历、可能愿意考虑工厂工作的人数减少了一半还多。
Blue-collar wages are now $4 to $6 an hour in large, prosperous cities, though still far lower than in the United States.	在繁荣的大城市，蓝领工资现在是每小时 4 至 6 美元，虽然仍远低于美国。
Automation is also a competitive necessity. As carmakers jockey for customers' attention, they have no choice but to deploy the latest technologies, even in research and development. The challenge is how to keep a competitive edge, while trying to prevent intellectual property from being copied quickly by Chinese rivals.	自动化也是竞争的必然。随着汽车制造商力求得到客户的关注，它们除了采用最新技术外别无选择，在研发上也是如此。它们面临的挑战是如何保持竞争优势，同时试图防止知识产权被中国对手很快抄袭。
"We're basically building an R&D center here in China, and test track, that is on par with other parts of Ford," in North America, Europe and Australia, said Mark Fields, the chief executive of Ford Motor. At the same time, he said, the company would protect its intellectual property.	福特汽车公司首席执行官马克·菲尔茨(Mark Fields)说，“我们基本上是在中国建立一个研发中心，这与福特在（北美、欧洲和澳大利亚）的其他部门的做法不相上下。”他说。同时，公司将保护其知识产权。
Robots perform tasks like welding in exactly the same way every time,	机器人能以完全相同的方式完成每一次焊接工作，因此提高了质量控制。但

improving quality control. But they require a lot of fine-tuning along the way.	它们在整个流程中需要很多的微调。
The painting process is also mostly automated. Elaborate spraying robots, their joints covered in many layers of plastic so that they do not become clogged with paint mist, snake back and forth across each car body. Workers still apply protective sealant to the vehicles' interiors and underbodies, as Ford has been leery of depending entirely on robots for this step until it is sure they work well. More robots are scheduled to be installed in August, replacing manual labor for the protective sealant step as well.	给车身喷漆的流程也大都自动化了。精心设计的喷涂机器人，从每个车身的另一边到另一边曲折往返，机器人的接合处盖着许多层塑料，让它们不被油漆雾堵塞。在汽车的内部和底部涂保护密封剂的工作仍需要工人来做，因为在确保机器人能做好这项工作之前，福特对完全依赖它们来完成这个步骤仍不放心。按计划将在8月份安装更多的机器人，取代涂保护密封胶这个步骤的人工劳动。
Automation doesn't elicit the same fear of job losses in China as in the United States. With car demand in China growing quickly, ever more factories and workers are needed to produce more cars. The Ford factory here in Hangzhou may have 650 robots, but it also has 2,800 workers. Other automakers continue to hunt for skilled workers to fill vacancies in their factories.	自动化在中国并不引起像在美国那样的失业担心。随着中国汽车需求的快速增长，需要有更多的工厂和工人生产更多的汽车。福特在杭州的工厂可能有650台机器人，但也有2800名工人。其他汽车制造商也在为填补工厂的空缺继续寻找技术工人。
"Robots aren't the threat," said Paul Buetow, the director of China manufacturing at General Motors. "The threat is not being able to run your business with products that people want to buy."	"机器人不是威胁，"通用汽车中国制造部门主管保罗·布托(Paul Buetow)说。"不能让你的企业生产人们想购买的产品的方式才是威胁。"

Japan's Economy Is Growing, but Don't Call It a Hot Streak	日本经济连续五个季度增长
TOKYO — Japan's economic engine may not exactly be roaring, but there is a definite hum in the air.	东京——日本的经济引擎可能还没有全力咆哮，但清晰的轰鸣声已经在空中飘荡。
The economy grew for a fifth consecutive quarter at the start of 2017,	2017年初，日本经济实现了连续五个季度增长，是十多年来最长的一个增

the longest stretch of growth in more than a decade. The government of Prime Minister Shinzo Abe has been trying for four and a half years to coax the economy into a higher gear. Although Japan's output is still the world's third-largest, after the United States and China, consistent growth has been elusive — the result of headwinds like a declining population and deflation.	长期。首相安倍晋三政府已经尝试了四年半的时间，希望把经济提到快速增长档。虽然日本的经济产出仍居世界第三，排在美国和中国之后，但这样持续的增长让人感到难以理解——处在人口下降和通货紧缩等逆境中的日本竟然获得了这样的成果。
What Happened?	究竟发生了什么事？
Japanese gross domestic product increased by 2.2 percent in annualized terms in the three months through March, the government's Cabinet Office said in a preliminary estimate on Thursday. The economy has now been expanding for a longer period than at any time since 2005-6, when it grew for six quarters in a row.	日本内阁府周四初步估计，在截止3月份的三个月内，日本国内生产总值(GDP)年化增长率为2.2%。自2005到2006年以来，这是经济扩张持续时间最长的一次，2005年那次增长持续了六个季度。
The pace of expansion also accelerated from the previous quarter, and was stronger than economists had expected. Analysts surveyed by news agencies had forecast a growth rate of 1.7 percent, on average.	而且这次的扩张步伐也比上季度加快了，高于经济学家的预期。多家通讯社的调查显示，分析师平均预测增长率为1.7%。
What Is Driving Growth?	是什么在推动经济增长？
Exports have been lifting output since the start of the expansion, and they did so again last quarter. A broadly recovering global economy is helping, as is a weaker yen, which makes Japanese cars, electronic components and other goods more affordable abroad. (Japan's trade surplus irritates the Trump administration, which has criticized some of the country's practices.)	从这次增长期的一开始，出口就一直在提振产出，上季度也不例外。除了全球经济的广泛复苏之外，日元疲软也是一个因素，它让日本的汽车、电子元器件和其他商品在国外的价格更加实惠（日本的贸易顺差刺激特朗普政府批评了该国的一些做法）。
The domestic side of the economy has been shakier, with spending by consumers and businesses mostly weak and inconsistent. But in the latest quarter, consumption and business investment both rose.	从国内的角度来看，日本经济没有这么亮眼，因为消费者和企业的支出相当疲弱，缺乏连贯性。但在最近一个季度，消费和商业投资都有所增长。

Is the Economy on a Hot Streak?	日本经济在快马加鞭吗?
A warm one, certainly. Output grew 1 percent in all of 2016 — not exactly China-fast, but about twice what economists estimate Japan should be able to achieve given its shrinking pool of workers and consumers. For the first few years after Mr. Abe came to office, in 2012, on a promise to kick-start growth, the economy lurched between expansion and contraction. Now it appears to have found a more stable groove.	小步跑是肯定的。经济产出在 2016 年全年增长了 1%——没有中国那么快，但仍比经济学家基于劳动力和消费者的萎缩状况所做的估计高出一倍。安倍晋三 2012 年上任的时候就承诺要增长竞争，在最初几年里，日本经济时而扩张时而收缩。但现在似乎进入了一个更加稳定的阶段。
Is 'Abenomics' Succeeding?	"安倍经济学"成功了吗?
The government and the central bank have been pouring money into the economy, and there's little doubt that those moves have helped lift growth.	政府和中央银行一直在向经济注入资金，毫无疑问，这些举措有助于提振经济增长。
But a crucial ingredient is missing: inflation.	但这里面缺少了一个关键因素：通货膨胀。
The big idea behind "Abenomics," as Mr. Abe's strategy is known, was to engineer a rise in consumer prices, which would in turn lift corporate profits and workers' pay. That, the government said, would make the economy grow not only faster but also more consistently. Prices have barely budged, however, leaving many economists speculating that the current streak, though welcome, will fade.	安倍晋三的策略被称为“安倍经济学”，它的原理是推动消费者价格的上涨，从而提高企业利润和工资水平。政府表示，这样做不仅会加快经济增长，而且会提升增长的连贯性。然而，消费者价格几乎没有什么变化，因此许多经济学家猜测，目前的增长趋势虽然令人高兴，但它终将会黯然褪色。

China's Strength and Its Shopping Lift Alibaba's Results	中国网络购买力强劲，阿里巴巴顺势增长
HONG KONG — China's vast ranks of consumers are finding ways to spend more money online — and that's good news for Alibaba.	香港——中国的消费者大军正在寻找可以在网上花更多的钱的方式，这对阿里巴巴来说是个好消息。
The Alibaba Group, the Chinese e-commerce giant that a few years ago led the biggest share listing in the history of the American stock market,	中国电子商务巨头阿里巴巴集团几年前在美国上市时，曾创下股市历史上首次公开募股的最高纪录。公司本周四宣布，在今天的头三个月里，公司的利

on Thursday posted strong profit growth and better-than-expected sales growth for the three months that ended in March. The surge came as Chinese government statistics showed an increase in online retail sales as well as stronger overall economic growth. Robust online activity has helped others as well, with Tencent Holdings, a major rival to Alibaba, reporting a strong rise in profit and JD.com, another rival, posting its first profit.	润增长强劲，销售增长好于预期。阿里的激增与中国政府统计数字所显示的网上零售额增长、整体经济增长略有加速同步。强劲的网络活动对其他公司也有帮助，阿里巴巴的主要竞争对手、腾讯控股公司公布了大幅上涨的利润，另一个竞争对手京东(JD.com)宣布首次实现盈利。
Alibaba's results offer a positive sign for those tracking China's efforts to transform its economy to rely less on government spending and more on American-style consumption. But they also show Alibaba is finding more ways to get the businesses that set up shop on its e-commerce platforms to give it more money.	阿里巴巴的业绩为跟踪中国经济转型的人提供了一个积极的信号，中国经济正在从依靠政府支出，转向像美国那样的更多依靠消费的模式。但这些业绩也显示，阿里巴巴正在找到更多的方法，让在其电子商务平台上开店的公司把更多的钱交给它。
But there are challenges. The results show Alibaba has a long way to go before it can diversify its business amid expectations that even China's online sales boom has its limits. And Alibaba is increasingly dipping its toe into American politics at an uncertain time.	阿里也面临一些挑战。即使是中国的网络销售热潮也有限度，在这种预期下，阿里的业绩显示，要实现业务多元化，公司还有很长的路要走。在这个多变的时代，阿里巴巴也正在越来越多地涉足美国政治。
The Numbers	业绩数字
Alibaba said its fiscal fourth-quarter profit rose 85 percent to $1.4 billion, thanks to strong sales as well as selling some investments. Sales across its e-commerce businesses rose 47 percent.	阿里巴巴说，由于销售强劲、加上卖掉了一些投资持股，公司财年第四季度的利润上涨了85%，达到14亿美元。其电子商务的业务销售额增长了47%。
While that's good news for the company, full-year results showed a more complex picture. Alibaba's revenue for the year grew more than twice as fast as its gross merchandise volume, a measure of sales volume, meaning much of the rise did not come from simply selling more stuff. Alibaba also is finding ways to squeeze more money out of	虽然这对公司来说是好消息，但其全年业绩显示的情况却更为复杂。阿里巴巴本财政年的收入增长，比其商品交易总量的增长高出两倍多，这意味着，阿里收入增长中的很大部分并不是来自销售了更多的东西。阿里巴巴正在寻找更多的方法，或通过提供新服务、或提高现有服务的收费，从大大小小的销售商身上挤出更多的钱。 vendors big and small, either by offering new services or charging more for existing ones.

Cloudy Outlook	前景不清
Because even China can't grow forever, Alibaba is hoping to find new sources of revenue. One of the most promising, according to analysts, has been to introduce its own business providing back-end computing to businesses – much like Amazon Web Services. While growth in the business remains strong, it is from a small base, and some analysts have signaled concern about increasing competition. In the quarter, Alibaba's cloud revenue more than doubled, to $314 million.	因为即使是中国，增长也不是永远的，所以阿里巴巴希望能找到新的收入来源。分析师认为，最有希望的是为公司的业务开创新的领域，比如像亚马逊网络服务(Amazon Web Services)那样，为企业提供后端计算服务。虽然这些业务的增长依然强劲，但它们的起点颇低，一些分析人士也对日益激烈的竞争表示担忧。本季度，阿里巴巴的云计算收入翻了一番，达到3.14亿美元。
It has also expanded into online entertainment and film, hoping to make use of its advertising data and customers to become a cultural force. The company's main online video acquisition, Youku Tudou, has fallen behind rivals in users and time spent per user. While in the long term it could pay off, in the shorter term heavy investment in content could cut into Alibaba's margins.	阿里也在向网络娱乐和电影行业扩展，希望能利用其广告数据和客户群成为一支文化力量。公司在网络视频方面的主要采购优酷土豆，在用户数量、以及每个用户在平台上花的时间上，均已落在对手后面。虽然从长远来看，优酷土豆仍可给阿里带来回报，但短期来说，阿里巴巴在视频内容上的大量投入可能会削弱公司的利润。
Over all, the businesses outside Alibaba's core commerce business were unprofitable in the quarter.	总而言之，阿里巴巴核心业务之外的业务本季度尚未盈利。
Alibaba Abroad	阿里巴巴在海外
Alibaba has said this year will be the year it pushes in earnest outside China's borders. While the company's core business is still in China, some signs show that its efforts overseas are starting to pick up steam. In a recent note the boutique investment bank China Renaissance pointed out that Lazada, a Southeast Asian e-commerce company that Alibaba invested in last year, now leads in market share in the six major	阿里巴巴表示，今年将是公司努力扩大中国境外业务的一年。虽然公司的核心业务仍在中国，但一些迹象表明，公司在海外的努力开始出现起色。精品投资银行华兴资本在最近的一份简报中指出，阿里巴巴去年投资的东南亚电子商务公司拉扎达，在其所在地区六个国家的市场中，目前拥有领先的市场份额。据华兴资本，阿里在海外的主要品牌电子商务平台阿里巴巴全球速卖通(AliExpress)，在巴西、俄罗斯和东欧地区的客户人数也在增长。 countries in the region. Alibaba's primary branded overseas e-commerce site, AliExpress, has also been picking up customers in Brazil, Russia and Eastern Europe, according to China Renaissance.

American Politics	美国政治
In the United States things are proving more difficult. Jack Ma, Alibaba's founder, will host a conference in Detroit next month to help small businesses learn about the company. The event is a part of a follow-up to a pledge Mr. Ma made to create one million jobs in America. It isn't clear whether that will soften political opposition that Alibaba has faced over counterfeit products on its platforms and a bid to take over MoneyGram, a money transfer company.	事实证明，美国的情况比较困难。阿里巴巴的创始人马云下月将在底特律主办一次会议，以帮助小公司了解阿里。会议是马云去年承诺为美国创造 100 万个工作机会的后续行动的一部分。目前尚不清楚这是否会减弱阿里巴巴在美国面临的政治反对。反对针对的是其平台上的假冒产品，以及阿里收购汇款公司 MoneyGram 的意向。

How to Woo Chinese Investors: With Visa Offers and the Trump Name	被特朗普加持了的美国投资移民项目
BEIJING — For Chinese citizens, American green cards can be notoriously difficult to obtain. But a Beijing immigration company called Qiaowai tells visa applicants of a secret weapon: It is working on behalf of a real estate firm owned by the family of President Trump's son-in-law and adviser, Jared Kushner.	北京——对中国公民来说，美国绿卡出了名地难拿。但北京一家名为侨外的移民公司向签证申请者谈及了一样秘密武器：它正与特朗普的女婿兼顾问贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner) 所在家族旗下的一家房地产公司合作。
"They said the president would make sure it came through," said Lu Ling, a technology executive in the southern Chinese city of Guangzhou. "They said there was no chance it could fail."	"他们说总统将确保一切顺利，"中国南方城市广州的科技企业高管陆令(音)说。"他们说绝不会出问题。"
As it builds two luxury apartment buildings in Jersey City, the Kushner family is trying to raise $150 million from Chinese investors through the so-called EB-5 program, which offers visas in exchange for a $500,000	要在泽西城建造两栋豪华公寓楼的库什纳家族，试图借助以 50 万美元投资换签证的 EB-5 计划从中国投资者处募集 1.5 亿美元资金。为了实现其目标，库什纳家族转而求助于两家利用这一政府计划获得丰厚利润的中介公司。批

investment. To get it done, the Kushners have turned to a pair of middlemen who have capitalized on a lucrative government program that critics say has little oversight and loose rules.	评者称，该计划甚少受到监管，规则也很宽松。
The companies, Qiaowai and U.S. Immigration Fund, are the go-to matchmakers for big American developers.	侨外和美国移民基金(US Immigration Fund)这两家公司是美国大开发商极为中意的中介企业。
They have helped find Chinese investors for many developers' giant projects, including numerous luxury high-rises in Manhattan, a sprawling complex of apartment buildings in Brooklyn and a golf course in Boca Raton, Fla. Last year, they brought Rudolph W. Giuliani, New York City's onetime mayor, to Beijing to speak to potential investors.	它们帮忙给很多开发商的大项目找到了中国投资者，其中包括曼哈顿的众多豪华高层建筑，布鲁克林一个由多栋公寓楼组成的庞大建筑群，以及佛罗里达州博卡拉顿的一个高尔夫球场。去年，他们曾把纽约市前市长鲁道夫·W·朱利安尼(Rudolph W. Giuliani)请到北京，与潜在投资者进行交流。
Both firms have faced questions about their tactics.	两家公司所采用的策略都受到了质疑。
Qiaowai, with more than 400 employees at its headquarters on the 32nd floor of a high-rise, has trumpeted its political connections and played down the program's financial risks. On the Kushner project, Qiaowai promised safe investments and "guaranteed" green cards, according to emails and text messages sent to clients and reviewed by The New York Times.	共有 400 多名雇员、总部位于一栋高层建筑第 32 层的侨外，一直在宣扬自己的政治人脉，淡化该计划的财务风险。《纽约时报》查看过的侨外发给客户的一些电子邮件和短信显示，在库什纳家族的项目上，侨外承诺投资是安全的，并且“保证”能拿到绿卡。
American regulators warn against such promises, though foreign firms like Qiaowai are outside the control of the immigration authorities in the United States, who oversee the program. Qiaowai declined to comment.	美国监管机构就这类承诺发出了警告，尽管侨外之类的外国公司并不受监管该计划的美国移民局控制。侨外拒绝置评。
U.S. Immigration Fund, based in Jupiter, Fla., has been accused by a former top executive of improperly using investor visa funds, and its chief executive has had legal troubles. The firm is a leading lobbying force in Washington, spending $820,000 since early 2015 to block	总部位于佛罗里达州朱庇特的美国移民基金，一直被一名前高管指控不当使用寻求获得签证的投资者们的资金，其首席执行官还面临着法律上的麻烦。自 2015 年初以来，该公司在阻止 EB-5 计划改革方面花费了 82 万美元，是华盛顿的一股主要游说力量。

changes to the EB-5 program's rules.
The efforts to raise money in China highlight the potential conflicts between Mr. Kushner's White House role and Kushner Companies. Although he stepped down as chief executive in January, Mr. Kushner still stands to profit from the company's business, since he is the primary beneficiary of trusts invested in most of its projects.	在中国募集资金的努力,突显了库什纳在白宫的角色和库什纳集团(Kushner Companies)之间的潜在冲突。库什纳于今年1月辞去了首席执行官的职务,但他依然可以从该公司的业务中获利,因为他是投资于该公司大多数项目的一系列信托机构的主要受益者。
"No one at Kushner Companies was aware of any statement or guarantee," Risa Heller, a company spokeswoman, said in response to questions about Qiaowai. "They did not and would not authorize that kind of language." She declined to answer any questions about U.S. Immigration Fund.	"库什纳集团没有谁对任何此类陈述或保证知情,"公司女发言人里莎·海勒(Risa Heller)如此回应关于侨外的问题。"他们没有也不会授权使用那种措辞。"她拒绝回答关于美国移民基金的问题。
Both immigration firms this week removed from their websites descriptions of Kushner projects. "These are reports for investors and they are still up on the company's password-protected investor portal," said Stu Loeser, a spokesman for U.S. Immigration Fund.	本周,这两家移民公司都删掉了其网站上关于库什纳家族的项目的描述。"这些是面向投资者的报告,在公司有密码保护的投资者门户网站上依然可以查阅,"美国移民基金的发言人斯图·勒泽(Stu Loeser)说。
The Kushners' tactics for raising money in China is spurring renewed calls for an overhaul of the visa program. The program began in 1990 as a way to revitalize poor neighborhoods, but has turned into a source of cheap financing for luxury developers. It has garnered a reputation for fraud and abuse. Last month, federal agents executed search warrants in connection with an investigation into an alleged scheme to defraud EB-5 investors from China.	库什纳家族在中国的募资策略,让重新修订这一签证计划的呼声再次高涨。该计划于1990年作为一种振兴贫穷社区的方法启动,但对豪宅开发商来说,已经变成一条成本低廉的融资渠道。它因欺诈案件和滥用现象而背上了污名。联邦探员上月执行的若干搜查令,牵涉到对一个被指欺诈中国EB-5投资者的阴谋的调查。
About 75 percent of the 10,000 visas awarded each year go to Chinese investors, who are primarily driven by the desire to get a visa, rather than profits. After fees to middlemen, they generally don't make money.	每年发出去的1万张EB-5签证,约有75%到了中国投资者手中,他们大多以拿到签证而非获利为目标。刨去交给中介公司的费用,他们通常赚不到钱。

Mr. Kushner's sister, Nicole Meyer, was criticized after mentioning her brother's White House connections when she visited China this month to promote the New Jersey development. Ms. Meyer later apologized, saying it was not her intention to use her brother's ties to the Trump administration to lure investors.	库什纳的妹妹尼科尔·迈耶(Nicole Meyer)于本月到访中国, 推广新泽西的开发项目时, 提及了她哥哥的白宫背景, 旋即遭到批评。迈耶随后道了歉, 说她无意利用哥哥与特朗普政府的关系招揽投资者。
But the family's Chinese representatives have repeatedly invoked Mr. Trump's name as a selling point.	但库什纳家族的代表一直把特朗普的名字作为卖点反复提及。
Qiaowai, which has worked with the Kushners since 2013, describes itself in ads as the company Mr. Trump uses to "dig for gold." Its leader, a former banker named Ding Ying, has tried to project an image of proximity to the president, chronicling on the company's website her visit to Washington in January to attend his inauguration. She said she "exchanged a few words" with Mr. Trump.	从 2013 年开始与库什纳家族合作的侨外, 在一则广告里将自己描述成特朗普用以“掘金”的公司。侨外负责人、前银行从业者丁颖, 竭力让外界觉得其与特朗普颇为亲近, 在公司网站上详加记录了她于 1 月份到访华盛顿, 参加总统就职典礼的经过。她说她和特朗普“聊了几句”。
Connecting Qiaowai with the Kushner family is Nicholas A. Mastroianni II, the chief executive of U.S. Immigration Fund. A prodigious fund-raiser, he claims to have collected more than $1.7 billion in EB-5 money since 2010.	把侨外和特朗普家族联结起来的是美国移民基金的首席执行官尼古拉斯·马斯楚安尼二世(Nicholas A. He travels frequently to China, reassuring Chinese investors worried about moving abroad, including helping their children adjust and throwing dinners. He also regularly goes to New York City, via private jet, where he has helped finance megaprojects for some of the city's biggest real estate developers.	他常常到访中国, 安抚对移民事宜感到担心的中国投资者, 包括帮助他们的子女做调整以及举办晚宴。他还会定期乘坐私人飞机前往纽约, 帮助城中一些最大的房地产开发商给超级工程融资。
The Kushner family has turned to Mr. Mastroianni at least twice to finance its ambitions. In 2013, it raised $50 million from 100 investors for a Trump-branded luxury high-rise apartment building in Jersey City,	为了融得用以实现其雄心的资金, 库什纳家族至少曾两次向马斯楚安尼寻求帮助。2013 年, 库什纳家族从 100 名投资人那里为泽西城一栋以特朗普为品牌的豪华高层公寓楼募集了 5000 万美元。那栋公寓楼已于去年揭幕。今

In 2014, Fortune magazine found Mr. Mastroianni had faced legal troubles with creditors, partners and the federal Labor Department. In one case, a federal bankruptcy court trustee said he “knowingly and fraudulently” failed to hold onto records of his assets.	2014 年，《财富》(Fortune)杂志发现，马斯楚安尼曾卷入与债权人、合作伙伴以及美国劳工部的法律纠纷。在一桩案件中，联邦破产法庭的受托人称，他“故意且欺诈性地”没去保留自己的一些资产记录。
Several former business partners have filed lawsuits against him, court records show. In a dispute over a stake in the company, David Finkelstein, his former chief financial officer, accused Mr. Mastroianni in a 2015 countersuit of mispending EB-5 funds in a series of projects, including several that involved Qiaowai. He claimed Mr. Mastroianni “funneled money in and out of various accounts” in ways that failed to comply with EB-5 requirements.	法庭记录显示，几名前生意伙伴起诉了他。因公司股权问题而产生纠纷后，马斯楚安尼的首席财务官大卫·芬克尔斯坦(David Finkelstein)在 2015 年反诉他在一系列项目中滥用 EB-5 资金，其中包括牵涉到侨外的几个项目。他说马斯楚安尼以不符合 EB-5 相关规定的方式，“将资金转入和转出多个账户”。
The litigation was settled, and both sides declined to comment.	该案以和解告终，双方均拒绝置评。
In China, Mr. Mastroianni found a ready partner in Ms. Ding of Qiaowai, who built an empire on sending Chinese families abroad.	在中国，芬克尔斯坦找到了一个现成的合作伙伴——通过帮助中国家庭出国建立起自己的商业王国的丁颖。
Qiaowai, founded in 1999, has flourished as the ranks of wealthy Chinese have surged. Ms. Ding had a motto — “only genuine and safe investments” — and a vision of becoming a one-stop destination for wealthy families, helping them find schools, pay taxes and obtain insurance. When speaking at a fund-raising event in early May at the Ritz-Carlton in Beijing, with Mr.	丁颖有一句座右铭——“只做真正安全的投资移民”——其愿景是让侨外为富有家庭提供一站式服务，为他们找学校、交税、获取保险保障。在库什纳的妹妹于 5 月初出席的那场募资活动上，来自侨外的代表发了言，说取得公民身份和收回投资是“高保”事项。

Kushner's sister in attendance, Qiaowai representatives said that citizenship and getting money back were "highly guaranteed."
Ms. Ding's close relationship with Mr. Mastroianni ensured an advantage in the Chinese market. Mr. Mastroianni routinely brought celebrities, including the golfer Jack Nicklaus, and former American government officials to China, helping burnish the credibility of Qiaowai.	丁颖和马斯楚安尼之间的密切关系，确保了在中国市场上的优势。马斯楚安尼会定期带着包括高尔夫球员泰格·伍兹(Tiger Woods)在内的名人以及前美国政府官员来中国，帮助增进侨外的信誉。
One such guest, Mr. Giuliani, promoted another developer's Times Square project to potential investors at an event in Beijing last year. Mr. Giuliani factored prominently in Qiaowai's advertising; the company described him to Chinese audiences as America's likely next secretary of state. Mr. Giuliani and his firm did not respond to requests for comment.	朱利安尼及其律所未回应置评请求。
Prominent former politicians are a staple for U.S. Immigration Fund and other EB-5 promoters. Former Gov. George E. Mr. Mastroianni's firm was at the forefront of efforts to stop an overhaul of the EB-5 program in 2015 and 2016, lobbying records show. Trump Adds Another Chinese Trademark to His Portfolio	特朗普在中国获得内衣商标权
BEIJING—China has granted President Trump preliminary approval for another trademark in apparel, expanding business interests that have already generated criticism over potential conflicts.	北京——中国已初步批准特朗普总统在服装行业的另一个商标,扩大了特朗普的商业利益。因为存在潜在冲突,这些利益已经遭致指责。
Mr. Trump, the businessman, has collected trademarks that span a broad range of countries and industries, including soap in India and vodka in Israel. With the latest approval in China, Mr. Trump could bring his total trademarks in the country to 116, giving his business empire greater access to the world's second-largest economy.	身为商人的特朗普已经积累了大量商标,涉及诸多国家和行业,包括印度的肥皂和以色列的伏特加。加上中国最近批准的这个商标,特朗普在中国的商标总计达116个。这让他的商业帝国能够更好地利用中国这个全球第二大经济体。

But the globalist approach runs counter to a populist president who has pushed a nationalistic agenda. The portfolio of trademarks could also leave Mr. Trump vulnerable to perception problems, as well as potential conflicts.	但这种全球主义方式，与特朗普推动民族主义议程的民粹主义总统身份背道而驰。此外，这些商标可能还会让民众对特朗普产生不好的看法，并引发潜在的冲突。
He applied for the trademark in June 2016, the same month that, as a presidential candidate, he said he would label China a currency manipulator. Since then, Mr. Trump has reversed his position and has taken a less confrontational stance with China, particularly after meeting with the Chinese president, Xi Jinping, in April.	他是 2016 年 6 月申请这个商标的。同月，身为总统候选人的他表示会把中国列为汇率操纵国。在那之后，特朗普转变立场，对待中国的态度没那么强硬了，尤其是在 4 月会见了中国国家主席习近平之后。
Alan Garten, executive vice president and chief legal officer at the Trump Organization, said the application “was filed months before the election as part of an action to cancel an infringing mark and the registration has since been assigned to DTTM Operations,” a holding company.	特朗普集团(Trump Organization)执行副总裁兼首席法律顾问阿兰·加腾(Alan Garten)说，申请“是在选举前数月提交的，是为了撤销一个侵权商标而展开的诉讼的一部分，注册事宜已交给 DTTM 公司(DTTM Operations)”。后者是特朗普集团的一家控股公司。
China’s Trademark Office granted Mr. Trump preliminary approval for the trademark — which can be used in clothing like trousers, underwear and suits — on May 6. The trademark will be formally registered three months later, if the agency receives no objections.	中国商标局 5 月 6 日初步批准了可用于裤子、内衣和套装的该商标。如果商标局没有收到异议，该商标将在三个月后正式注册。
It is unclear how Mr. Trump plans to use his trademarks. Unlike in the United States, people who file for trademarks in China do not have to give a reason for their application.	尚不清楚特朗普打算怎么利用自己的商标。不同于美国，在中国，商标申请人无需给出申请理由。

That lack of a disclosure requirement has given rise to a crush of people registering the names of well-known brands, a practice known as “trademark squatting.” Trademark lawyers in the country often advise celebrities and overseas companies to file for trademarks across many sectors in a strategy known as “defensive filing” because litigation is an expensive and time-consuming process.	不要求披露理由导致人们纷纷把知名品牌的名字注册成商标。这种做法叫“商标抢注”。中国的商标律师通常建议名人和外国公司采取“防御性注册”的策略，在很多行业申请商标，因为打官司是一个耗费金钱和时间的过程。

Whether the Trump Organization will profit from the trademarks remains to be seen. The licensing of Mr. Trump’s name, together with real estate development, are principal sources of the company’s income.	特朗普集团是否会从这些商标中获益仍有待观察。准许使用特朗普的名字，连同房地产开发，是该公司最重要的收入来源。
“As a legal matter, the trademark itself is a thing of value, as proven by how hard the president has fought for some of these trademarks over the years, in China and elsewhere,” said Norman Eisen, who was an ethics lawyer for former President Barack Obama. Mr. Eisen is part of a group that sued Mr. Trump, alleging that his business interests violate the emoluments clause in the Constitution that bars presidents from taking gifts or payments from foreign governments.	“作为一个法律问题，商标本身是一种有价值的东西，总统多年来在中国和其他地方极力争取其中部分商标证明了这一点，”前总统贝拉克·奥巴马 (Barack Obama) 的伦理律师诺曼·艾森 (Norman Eisen) 说。艾森参加了一个团体，该团体起诉特朗普，称其商业利益违反了宪法中禁止总统收受外国政府的礼物或资金的酬谢条款。

"The constitution simply does not allow him to collect foreign tributes of this kind while he sits in the Oval Office," he added.	"宪法根本不允许他在担任总统期间收受这种来自国外的礼物，"他接着说。
The Trump Organization has said it would not do any further international deals. The business is now being run by the president's two adult sons.	特朗普集团称不会开展任何进一步的国际业务。该公司现在由特朗普总统两个已成年的儿子经营。
Senators have expressed concern about Mr. Trump's trademarks in China, saying Beijing could use them to sway policy decisions. In March, Senator Ben Cardin, Democrat of Maryland and ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said "officials in Beijing have come to appreciate the potential return on investments for China in having a positive, personal business relationship with the president of the United States, who has not taken appropriate and transparent steps to completely sever his relationship from the corporation that bears his name."	参议员对特朗普在中国的商标表示担忧，称北京可能会利用它们影响政策决定。3月，马里兰州民主党参议员、参议院外交关系委员会(Senate Foreign Relations Committee)副主席本·卡汀(Ben Cardin)说，“北京的官员已经逐渐意识到与美国总统建立一种积极的个人商业关系会给中国带来的潜在投资回报，总统还没有采取恰当、透明的措施，彻底断绝与同名企业的关系。”
China has said it has acted in accordance with the law regarding Mr. Trump's trademarks.	中国则表示，在特朗普的商标问题上，自己是依法行事。

Since then, the Japanese government's reluctance to deal with deeply indebted companies has contributed to decades of sluggish growth.	中国的债务问题正被人拿来和日本的困境做比较。在经历日渐以信贷为支撑的长期繁荣之后，日本的泡沫在1990年代初破裂。自从那时起，日本政府一直不愿处置负债累累的企业，这是导致该国经济在数十年间增长缓慢的因素之一。

As world growth faltered, China unleashed a wave of spending to build highways, airports and real estate developments — all of which kept the economic engine chugging.	中国的债务成瘾可以追溯至2008年的全球金融危机。在全球经济步履蹒跚之际，中国掀起了一轮支出热潮，建设高速路和机场，进行房地产开发——所有这些都为经济增长提供了源源不断的动力。

But credit no longer packs the same punch for China. An aging work force, smaller productivity gains and the sheer math of diminishing returns mean that China has to borrow more money to achieve less growth.	但对中国来说，信贷不能再产生同样的功效。老龄化的劳动人口、不大的生产率提高幅度以及关于收益递减的简单算数，意味着中国必须借更多的债，才能维持还不如以前高的增长率。
The country's debt has recently been increasing by an amount equal to	近年来，中国每年的债务增长幅度都相当于经济总量的15%，从而让经济增

The borrowing binge of late has also been propelled by murky investments with potentially big risks. Foresea Life Insurance, for example, offered souped-up policies that looked more like high-octane investments than staid life insurance.	为最近的借贷热潮推波助澜的, 还有不透明且携带巨大潜在风险的投资产品。举个例子, 前海人寿推出的一些经改造后变得更加吸引人的保单, 看上去更像激进的投资产品, 而非保守的人寿保险。
The products promised interest rates more than double traditional bank accounts, attracting droves of ordinary investors. To churn out those gains, Foresea took increasingly speculative bets, pouring the money into real estate, corporate deals and China's turbulent bond market.	其产品承诺支付比传统银行帐户高一倍多的利息, 吸引到了大量普通投资者。为了把这些收益赚出来, 前海人寿涉足了投机色彩越来越浓的业务, 投资于房地产、企业并购交易以及中国动荡的债券市场。
China in recent months has stepped up a campaign to clean up the financial system, which is riddled with such products.	中国最近正加紧行动, 对充斥着这类产品的金融系统展开清理。

Foresea has pointed to the potential for instability from its own mess. A memo reportedly from Foresea, sent anonymously last week to several Chinese media outlets and reviewed by The New York Times, warns of mass demonstrations, presumably by policyholders, if it cannot raise more money and shore up its finances.	前海人寿已经意识到，自己的烂摊子有可能引发不稳定。《纽约时报》核查了匿名人士上周发给几家中国媒体的一份备忘录。这份据称来自前海人寿的备忘录警告说，如果它不能募集更多资金、提振财务状况，保单持有者可能会开展大规模游行示威活动。
Chinese media said the memo appeared to be genuine — it carried the company’s official seal and other identifying information. The company declined to comment, issuing a statement last week saying that its cash flow was fine.	中国媒体称，这份备忘录似乎是真的——上面盖了前海人寿的公章，还有其他一些识别信息。该公司拒绝置评，但在上周发声明称其现金流稳定。

The government’s latest efforts to reduce risk have contributed to turbulence in the country’s markets. Higher borrowing costs and unusual distortions in lending suggest that investors are skittish about growth. Here lies Beijing’s challenge. Foresea is an extreme example of the manic speculation that hangs over the entire system.	前海人寿是困扰着整个系统的那种狂热投机的极端例证。
The insurer collected just $40 million in premiums in its first year after it was started five years ago. Last year, the company collected $14.6 billion.	这家创办于五年前的保险公司第一年只收到 4000 万美元保费。而其去年的保费收入达到了 146 亿美元。
Insurers, trusts, non-bank financial companies, small local banks and other semiregulated or unregulated businesses have all been trying to ride China's ever-expanding credit markets to quick profits. They have accounted for more than half the country's overall lending activity.	保险商、信托机构、非银行金融公司、小型地方性银行以及其他未被严格监管或根本不受监管的企业，全都试图利用中国不断扩张的信贷市场赚快钱。它们的信贷活动已经占到中国总体信贷活动的一半以上。
Foresea started to run into problems late last year. Its founder and controlling shareholder, Yao Zhenhua, made a hostile bid for Vanke, one of the country's largest real estate buyers, with plans to fund the deal in large part with insurance premiums.	前海人寿从去年底开始遇到麻烦。它的创始人和控股股东姚振华对中国最大的房地产开发商之一万科发起了恶意收购，按照其计划，此项交易所需资金会有很大一部分来自保费。
Those types of highly leveraged deals are getting more scrutiny. And Chinese authorities have started to publicly warn about speculative, loosely regulated lending.	这种高杠杆交易正受到更多审视。中国当局已经开始就所受监管颇为宽松的投机性信贷公开发出警告。
"The continuing increasing leverage rate is not good for sustainable development of the economy, and some risks have accumulated," Yi Gang, a senior deputy governor of the central bank, said in March. "We should think first to stabilize leverage — that is, to stabilize the overall rate of leverage, or let it grow more slowly."	"杠杆率的持续增加不利于经济的持续发展，并且在积累一定的风险，"央行副行长易纲今年3月表示。"我们考虑降杠杆首先要考虑稳杠杆，就是总的杠杆率还是要把它稳住，或者让它每年增长少一些、慢一些，要稳住。"
Zhou Xiaochuan, the governor of the central bank, said the same month: "Every enterprise, especially those with too high a rate of leverage, should be controlled."	央行行长周小川上月表示："每个企业，特别是那些杠杆率已经过高的企业，要有所控制。"

Foresea was among the first to be pinched.	前海人寿首当其冲。
The China Insurance Regulatory Commission in December banned Foresea from offering new products, contending that the company was essentially selling high-yield debt even though it had permission to issue relatively low-risk life insurance. Two months later, the regulator accused the company of misleading authorities.	中国保监会于去年12月叫停了前海人寿的新产品，说该公司获准经营的是风险相对较低的人寿保险业务，实际上却在销售高收益债券。两个月后，该监管机构又指责这家公司误导了有关部门。
"The fact that Foresea Life made up and provided fake material is clear," the commission said. "It is a serious circumstance that should be punished according to the law."	"前海人寿编制提供虚假资料的行为，事实清楚，情节严重，应当依法予以处罚，"中国保监会称。
The moves have spooked customers. Revenues from newly issued policies plummeted 99.8 percent in the first quarter from the same period last year, to just $11.4 million. Investors also became wary, demanding their money back.	这些举措吓住了消费者。2017年一季度，前海人寿源自新推出保单的保费收入仅为1140万美元，同比骤降99.8%。
Foresea has insisted the business remains healthy. But the leaked memo suggested deeper troubles.	前海人寿坚称公司状况良好。但外泄的备忘录表明它面临着很大的麻烦。
"Most of the clients are in economically developed areas like Guangdong, Jiangsu, Shanghai," the memo read. "Clients from these areas have a strong awareness of protecting their rights. The possibility of mass disturbances cannot be ruled out."	"客户多集中于广东、江苏、上海等经济发达地区，"备忘录里写道。"上述地区的客户维权意识较强，不排除引发群体性事件的可能。"

China's Ratings Downgrade, Explained	关于中国的债务，你应该知道的五个问题
Moody's Investors Service downgraded its rating of China's sovereign debt one notch on Wednesday, citing concerns over growing debt in the country, which has the world's second-largest economy. In recent years, as China's stunning economic performance of past decades has	穆迪投资者服务公司(Moody's Investors Service)周三把中国主权债务的评级下调了一级，给出的理由是担心全球第二大经济体国家日益增长的债务问题。近年来，随着中国经济几十年来惊人的经济表现难以维持，国家开始利用债务来推动经济增长。 become difficult to sustain, the country has used debt to fuel growth.

Now, Moody's says, China will have to borrow more and more to maintain the levels of economic growth the government wants. The concerns Moody's raises will sound familiar to those who follow the Chinese economy closely. Expressed by one of the world's top credit ratings agencies, however, the misgivings will be harder to ignore.	穆迪表示，中国必须越来越多地靠借钱来维持政府希望的经济增长水平。对于关注中国经济的人来说，穆迪的说法听上去很耳熟。然而，这种疑虑由世界顶级的信用评级机构之一指出之后，要忽视它就变得更难了。
Every Country Has Debt. Why Is It a Problem in China?	每个国家都有债务，为什么中国的债务会是个问题？
In short: China has a lot, and has accumulated it very fast.	一句话，中国的债务量很大，而且增长速度非常快。
When it comes to pumping money into a financial system, China has made the Federal Reserve in the United States and the European Central Bank look almost lackadaisical. It has expanded its broadly measured money supply by more than the rest of the world combined since the global financial crisis. Now it has 70 percent more money sloshing around its economy than the United States does, even though the American economy is bigger.	在向金融体系注入资金方面，中国令美国的美联储和欧洲央行相形见绌。自从全球金融危机爆发以来，中国的广义货币供应量已超过了世界其他地区之和。尽管美国的经济体量更大，现在中国经济中的货币流通量比美国还多出了70%。
China has accumulated its towering debt remarkably quickly. Goldman Sachs looked last year at how fast debt had accumulated relative to the size of the economy in 55 countries since 1960. It found that by the end of 2015, China was already in the top 2 percent of all credit expansions — and its debt shot up even higher last year. All of the other large expansions occurred in very small economies, some of which essentially lost control of their finances.	中国迅速积累了庞大的债务。去年，高盛(Goldman Sachs)调查了55个国家自1960年以来的债务增长速度相对于经济规模的比例，发现到2015年底，在所有的信贷扩张中，中国排到了前2%——去年它的债务甚至升得更高。其他的大型扩张都发生在非常小的经济体内部，其中一些国家基本上失去了对财政的控制力。
Is That Everything?	这就是问题的全部吗？
The incredible part is that Goldman Sachs acknowledges that its calculations may underestimate the extent of China's debt buildup.	令人难以置信的地方是，高盛承认这个测算可能还低估了中国债务问题的严重程度。

That's because Goldman's calculations exclude what is often called shadow banking, a little-regulated, murky area of finance outside traditional banking channels in which China has also emerged as a world leader.	这是因为高盛的测算没有涵盖通常说的“影子银行”，这是一个缺乏监管的、缺乏透明的财务领域，不在传统银行业渠道之内，中国在这个领域的排名也是全球领先。
Bank lending jumped 10 percent last year in China. But, over the same period, investments known as wealth management products, a speculative category of loans and other investments that banks keep off their balance sheets, zoomed up 30 percent.	去年，中国的银行贷款跳升了10%。但在同一时期，不在银行资产负债表上的投资则增长了30%，这些投资中包括理财产品，这是一种投机性的贷款。
Who Owns All of This Debt?	所有这些债务的债权人是谁？
More than half of the bank debt in China consists of loans from state-owned banks to state-owned enterprises.	中国一半以上的银行债务都是国有银行提供给国有企业的贷款。
The banks are not going to cut off lending to even the most debt-ridden state-owned enterprises. Already, economic growth is showing some signs of slowing after a strong start in the first three months of this year. Tighter lending policies could result in factories closing and in unemployment, as well as in defaults on previously issued loans.	即便是债务最沉重的国有企业，银行也没有中断为其提供贷款。今年的前三个月，中国的经济增长强劲，但现在已经有了放缓迹象。贷款政策的收紧可能导致工厂关闭，工人失业，以及以前发放的贷款违约。
Could It Get Worse?	情况还可能会变得更糟吗？
Chinese families and companies might start smuggling more money out of the country, further weakening the financial system. China has $3 trillion in foreign reserves to counter that, but even that large sum would not last forever.	中国的家庭和公司可能会开始把更多的钱偷偷送出国，进一步削弱中国的金融体系。中国有3万亿美元的外汇储备来应对这个问题，但即使这么大的金额也不是耗之不尽的。
A trade war with the United States could mean fewer dollars coming into China to offset money headed abroad, though President Trump is no longer using the type of language about trade with China that he did	与美国之间的贸易战可能意味着流入中国的美元减少，无法抵销资金流出，虽然特朗普总统已经不再使用他在竞选活动中关于美中贸易的那种说法。但如果贸易战打响，可能就会破坏公众对经济的信心。

on the campaign trail. But if a trade war were to break out anyway, that could undermine public confidence in the economy.
If China's residential real estate prices tumble, construction companies and developers may be unable to repay their debts, which could also hurt banks.	如果中国住宅房地产价格暴跌，建筑企业和开发商可能就无法偿还债务，这也可能对银行构成冲击。
Is There Anything China Can Do?	中国有什么应对之策？
It could accept a lower pace of economic growth, but that might risk fewer jobs for its vast work force.	它可以接受较低的经济增长速度，但是由于其劳动力资源巨大，这可能会减少就业机会。
It could bail out the banking system, but that could lead its borrowers to believe that the government will always be there to rescue them.	它可以救助银行系统，但这可能会让借款人觉得政府永远都会出手拯救他们。
Or it could do nothing, and hope its debt does not weaken the economy further or create a broad financial crisis someday.	或者它什么也不做，只是希望债务不会进一步削弱经济，不会在某一天引发广泛的金融危机。

Moody's Downgrades China Over Worries About Its Growing Debt	穆迪下调中国信用评级，28年来第一次
SHANGHAI — Moody's Investors Service downgraded its rating on China on Wednesday, saying the steady buildup of debt in the world's second-largest economy would erode the country's financial strength in the years ahead.	上海——穆迪投资者服务公司周三下调了中国的信用评级，称这个世界第二大经济体债务负担的稳步增长将会削弱中国未来几年的财务实力。
In a bluntly worded statement, Moody's said China's commitment to fast economic growth would push the country to continue a borrowing binge that has already raised alarm bells. In recent years China has added debt at a pace that economists say is similar to that of countries like Greece and Spain in the years before the global financial crisis.	穆迪在一份措辞坦率的声明中表示，中国对经济快速增长的承诺将会继续推动国内的狂热借贷行为，这种行为已经引起了人们的警觉。经济学家认为，近几年来，中国增加债务的速度，已经与全球金融危机的前几年希腊和西班牙等国的相似。
With its economy slowing and maturing, they say, China will have to	他们说，随着中国经济的放缓和成熟，中国将不得不靠积累越来越多的债务，

pile on more and more debt to achieve the same levels of growth. Experts and regulators also worry that the money is flowing through increasingly murky, semi-regulated channels outside the banking system, which could be symptomatic of deeper troubles in the Chinese economy.	来实现与以前一样的增长水平。专家和监管机构也担心，资金正在银行体系之外越来越模糊的、监管不严的渠道中流通，这可能是中国经济存在更严重问题的症状。
"The downgrade reflects Moody's expectation that China's financial strength will erode somewhat over the coming years, with economywide debt continuing to rise as potential growth slows," the credit rating company said.	这家信用评级公司说，“降级反映了穆迪对中国经济实力在未来几年会有所削弱的预期，随着潜在增长率的放缓，经济的整体债务水平仍在继续上升。”
Moody's lowered its rating on China's sovereign debt by one notch, to A1 from Aa3, its first downgrade for the country since 1989. The move brings it in line with another major ratings company, Fitch Ratings. A third, Standard & Poor's, rates China a notch higher but with a negative outlook, which means its next move is also likely to be downward. Moody's changed its outlook on Wednesday for further ratings changes to stable from negative.	穆迪将其对中国主权债务的评级下调了一档，从 Aa3 降到了 A1，这是 1989 年以来的首次降级。这个做法让穆迪与另一家主要的信用评级机构惠誉评级 (Fitch Ratings) 的做法一致。第三家机构标准普尔 (Standard & Poor's) 把中国的信用档次提高了一级，但表示对前景不看好，这意味着这家机构下次的评级也有可能下降。周三，穆迪也把对未来评级的前景从稳定改为不看好。
China criticized the move within hours, saying that Moody's failed to understand China's legal or financial systems and underestimated the country's efforts to restructure its economy to achieve more sustainable growth. More broadly, experts inside and outside China believe Beijing probably has the power to stop a meltdown of the kind that slammed the United States and much of the rest of the world a decade ago, thanks to the Chinese government's considerable financial firepower, minimal foreign debt, ample foreign reserves and ironclad grip on the country's banking system.	中国在数小时内对降级表示批评，称穆迪不了解中国的法律或金融制度，低估了中国为实现可持续增长调整经济结构的努力。从更大范围来看，国内外的专家认为，北京大概有能力遏制那种十年前导致美国和世界其他地区经济萧条的金融崩溃，因为中国政府有相当大的财力，中国的外债极少且有大量的外汇储备，而且政府对国内银行系统有严格的控制。

China's debt problems stem from the global financial crisis, which began in 2008. In response, China unleashed a huge spending spree that led to a flurry of construction: highways, airports, property developments and more. To fuel that spending, local officials and state-run companies borrowed heavily. Even after the worst of the financial crisis passed, China continued to rely on such borrowing to fuel growth.	中国的债务问题源于2008年开始的全球金融危机。为了应对危机，中国释放了一个巨大的支出狂潮，启动了高速公路、机场、房地产开发等大批建设项目。为了加大支出，地方官员和国有企业向银行大笔借贷。即使在金融危机最严重的阶段过去之后，中国仍继续靠借贷来推动经济增长。
Today, borrowed money in China no longer packs the same economic punch. Thanks to an aging work force, smaller productivity gains and the sheer math of diminishing returns, China must borrow more and more to achieve similar levels of growth. China's debt has been increasing lately by an amount equal to about 15 percent of the country's output each year, to keep the economy growing between 6.5 and 7 percent.	如今在中国，借来的钱不再能带来以前那样的经济回报。由于劳动力老龄化、生产力增长幅度较小，以及收益递减的简单数学，中国必须靠借越来越多的钱来实现与以前一样的增长。为了把经济增长保持在6.5%至7%之间，中国的债务最近一直在以相当于国内年度生产总值15%左右的幅度增加。
By contrast, overall debt in China as a percentage of economic output barely changed from 2001 to 2008, when it achieved some of its fastest double-digit growth rates.	相比之下，中国的总体债务占经济产出的百分比在2001年至2008年间几乎没有变化，而中国正是在那个时期实现了一些两位数的最快经济增长。
China's debt load now risks holding it back. As a percentage of economic output, China's total debt — including the government, households and businesses — is now high for a developing country and at similar levels to many developed Western countries, though it is still considerably smaller than Japan's, according to the Institute of International Finance, a trade group of global banks. Some economists now compare China to Japan, where deeply indebted companies and a lack of willingness to do something about it led to what is commonly	中国的债务负担现在有阻碍经济增长的风险。用经济产出的百分比来衡量，中国目前的债务总额（包括政府、家庭和企业债务）对发展中国家来说很高，与许多西方发达国家的类似，虽然仍远低于日本的，据全球银行贸易协会国际金融研究所(Institute of International Finance)的数据。一些经济学家现在把中国的情况与日本的作比较，日本的负债沉重企业以及缺乏改革的意愿，导致了通常被称为“失去的十年”的经济活动停滞。

Economists at the International Monetary Fund and at Goldman Sachs have issued a series of increasingly strong warnings about the pace at which the debt is rising. China's financial system has traditionally been firmly under the control of the central government, giving many economists confidence that Chinese officials could contain a crisis of the sort that gripped the world in 2008. Still, fast growth and signs of fragility in the financial system have given pause to economists and Chinese regulators alike.	国际货币基金组织和高盛的经济学家已对中国债务增长的速度发出了一连串越来越严重的警告。中国的金融系统传统上一直都在中央政府的严密控制之下，这让许多经济学家认为，中国官员能够遏制类似于 2008 年困扰全球的那种危机。尽管如此，中国金融系统的快速增长、以及其中出现的脆弱迹象，让经济学家和中国监管人员不得不认真考虑这个问题。
Chinese corporate debt has been mounting, and China's banks show little inclination to force companies to do something about it. China's banks have kept lending to the country's state-owned companies, even to those in trouble, to help them make payments on previous loans. That helps those companies stay in business and helps the economy keep growing despite mounting debt.	中国企业的债务一直在增长，而中国的银行丝毫没有迫使企业改变这种状况的意图。中国的银行一直在向该国的国有企业放贷，甚至向那些处于困境的公司放贷，以帮助它们偿还以前的贷款。这样做有助于维持这些公司的生存，也有助于经济的持续增长，尽管负债不断增加。
Regulators and economists are also questioning where China's lending comes from.	监管人员和经济学家也在质疑中国发放贷款的钱的来源。
Traditionally, China's lending has come from four big, state-controlled banks with a solid deposit base. But in recent years local and provincial banks that lack the deposit base and nationwide branch network of their bigger brethren have grown rapidly, and they now account for half of the assets in the banking system.	传统上，中国的放贷来自四大国有银行，它们都有坚固的储户基础。但近年来，缺乏储户基础、不像四大银行那样在国内有覆盖广泛的分行网络的地方和省级银行也在以极快的速度增长，这些银行目前以占到银行总体资产的一半。
Many of these smaller banks raise money partly through borrowing the deposits of the big four banks and partly by selling lightly regulated investments — called wealth management products — to their	许多这些小型银行靠部分通过借用四大银行的存款、部分通过向客户出售监管不严的投资产品（既所谓的理财产品）来集资。还有越来越多的非银行金融公司也在销售自己的理财产品，并把所集资金投到几乎不披露资金如何使

customers. A growing number of nonbank financial firms also market their own wealth management products and invest the money with little disclosure of where the money goes.	用的地方。
The worry is that if the public loses confidence and stops buying these wealth management products from smaller banks and nonbank firms, a wave of defaults could spread across the economy.	令人担心的是，如果公众对理财产品失去信心，不再从小型银行和非银行公司购买这类产品的话，一波违约浪潮会席卷整个经济体系。
In a series of interviews over the last two weeks, current and former Chinese officials contended that the structure of their country's debt made it inherently much more stable than the debts of other nations.	在过去两周里进行的一系列采访中，现任和前任中国官员声称，中国的债务结构使其具有比其他国家的债务更高的内在稳定性。
For starters, China owes little to other countries. Brad Setser, a former Treasury official specializing in China's finances who is now a senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations, said that China's $3 trillion in foreign reserves far exceeded the country's overseas debts and gave it a large financial cushion.	首先，中国几乎没有向其他国家借贷。美国外交关系委员会(Council on Foreign Relations)的高级研究员、曾在美国财政部任职的布拉德·塞策(Brad Setser)说，中国3万亿美元的外汇储备远远高于中国的海外债务，为中国提供了巨大的财政缓冲。
Within China, most households also appear to have manageable debts, in contrast with the United States before its mortgage crisis. Only in the past year and a half has China allowed rapid growth in mortgages to help the construction industry as well as its suppliers, like steel mills and cement factories. Overall mortgage debt is still fairly low.	在中国国内，大部分家庭的债务似乎也处于能够应付的水平，这与美国发生按揭贷款危机前的情况不同。中国只是在过去一年半的时间里，为了帮助建筑行业以及如钢铁厂和水泥厂等供应商，才开始允许按揭贷款快速增长。中国的整体按揭贷款债务水平仍然相当低。
The central government in China also owes little over all, with total debts equal to less than 40 percent of the economy. That means the government has a lot of capacity to borrow money and bail out troubled borrowers.	中国中央政府的总体债务也不多，债务总额不到经济体量的40%。这意味着政府仍有很大的借贷能力，来救援陷入困境的负债者。
By far, the biggest category of debt in China is corporate debt, which equals almost 170 percent of annual economic output. This debt	中国最大的债务类别是企业债务，债务水平远高于其他类别的债务，相当于年经济总产值的近170%。这些债务的绝大部分是国有银行对国有企业的贷

consists overwhelmingly of loans by state-owned banks to state-owned enterprises.	款。
On Wednesday, the Finance Ministry said the downgrade was a mistake because it applied to China's central government bonds, even though the central government was not on the hook for the debts of local governments and state-owned companies.	中国财政部周三说，降低信用级别是个错误，因为降级针对的是中国中央政府的债券，但中央政府并不对地方政府和国有企业的债务负有责任。
Still, China could end up paying the tab. The central government could decide to tell the state-owned banks to write off a lot of their bad loans, and then recapitalize the banks by providing money to them. Mr. Setser, at the Council on Foreign Relations, said he thought that a large, government-led recapitalization of the banks was likely but that the central government had the financial strength to handle it.	尽管如此，中国仍可能最终会为此买单。中央政府可能会做出决定，让国有银行注销它们的大量不良贷款，然后通过向它们提供资金，对银行资产进行变卖重组。外交关系委员会的塞策说，他认为，有很大可能会发生一次大型的、由政府主导的银行资产变卖重组，但中央政府有财力来做这件事。

have long urged Beijing to let markets fix worsening financial problems in the world's second-largest economy.	济体中日益恶化的金融问题。
Late Friday afternoon, however, the Chinese government said, in effect, "never mind."	但中国政府在周五早些时候等于在说，“先别管这个。”
Chinese officials said they were "considering" a change in their procedures that would reinforce their control of the currency, a turn of phrase that suggested the change had already been approved. The move will essentially bring more short-term stability to China's financial system, already the subject of renewed focus after Moody's Investors Service downgraded its credit rating on China's bonds on Wednesday, citing the country's mounting debt.	中国官员表示，他们正在“考虑”在汇率中间价的报价程序中引入一个加强对货币控制的变化，官员的措辞表明这个变化已经得到了批准。该做法将为中国的金融体系带来更多的短期稳定性，穆迪投资者服务公司周三下调了其对中国债券的信用评级、指出中国的债务负担正在不断增长之后，中国金融体系再度受到关注。
But longer term, the currency move signals that China is retreating from promises it made to the world in recent years that it would open up its financial system — and many economists say China needs to open up its financial system if it wants to continue to grow at a healthy, sustainable pace.	但长期来看，这种控制货币的做法表明，中国正在与其近年来向世界做出的开放金融体系的承诺背道而驰，许多经济学家说，中国如果能让经济健康持续地增长的话，需要开放国内的金融体系。
What Happened?	发生了什么事情？
The China Foreign Exchange Trade System, which is controlled by the central bank, said it may change the way it sets a value each morning around which the country's currency, the renminbi, is allowed to fluctuate through the day.	由中央银行控制的中国外汇交易中心说，它可能会改变用来确定每天早上人民币中间价报的方法，中间价是一个基准，中国的货币被允许在当日的中间价上下浮动。
Every weekday, the government sets a benchmark value for the renminbi against what is supposed to be a basket of currencies, although the dollar dominates. The renminbi is then allowed to rise or fall in value only 2 percent from the benchmark during the day.	每个工作日，中国政府为人民币的价值设定一个基准，虽然定价在原则上考虑了一篮子货币，但美元在其中占主导地位。然后，人民币在这一天的升值或贬值被限制在基准上下 2% 的范围内。

On Friday, the government said it was considering introducing a "countercyclical variable." A better name might have been "fudge factor." Basically it means that the government will no longer have to follow the previous day's closing price in setting that day's benchmark.	政府在周五表示，正在考虑引入“逆周期因子”。更确切地的名字也许应该是“含糊因子”。从根本上说，这意味着政府将不再需要按照前一天的收盘价来确定本日的基准。
Why Change?	为什么要变？
Starting in the summer of 2015, when China's stock market crashed and when Beijing shocked the world by abruptly weakening its currency, a lot of money left China. Many in China did not want to hold stocks, bonds or other assets in a currency that was losing value in the broader financial world.	2015年夏，中国的股市发生暴跌时，北京突然让人民币贬值，震惊了世界，那之后，很多钱开始流出中国。中国的许多人不想在国内持股票、债券或其他资产，因为在更广泛的全球金融市场上人民币在贬值。
In response, Beijing tightened its already considerable limits on money leaving the country. Still, the potential for the currency to weaken further, amid doubts over China's debt woes and slowing growth, has lingered over markets.	作为回应，北京加强了中国已经相当严格的资金外流限制。尽管如此，由于对中国负债困境和经济增长放缓的疑虑，市场上继续存在着人民币进一步贬值的可能性。
China's financial regulators generally do not announce they are considering a shift in something as essential as the value of the currency unless they have already approved it, so the announcement on Friday was widely viewed as a signal to financial institutions, corporations and investors that change was on the way.	中国的金融监管机构通常不会宣布，他们正在考虑在对像货币价值这么重要的东西引入变化，除非已经得到了批准，所以，周五的宣布被广泛认为是向金融机构、企业和投资者发出的变化马上就要出台的信号。
Who Wins and Who Loses?	谁是赢家、谁是输家？
The Chinese government contends that the winners are Chinese companies and households. Their assets are less likely to rise and fall quickly in value because of whatever is happening in financial markets. The Trump administration also will likely be pleased, because although it amounts to Chinese currency manipulation, it will keep China's	中国政府认为，中国公司和家庭将是赢家。他们资产的价值将不会因为金融市场上发生的各种各样的事情而大起大落。特朗普政府可能也会很高兴，因为虽然这等于是中国在操纵货币，但这会让中国货币不再走软。如果人民币进一步走弱的话，可能会帮助中国的出口商，让美国的制造商付出代价。 currency from weakening. If the renminbi weakened further, it could help Chinese exporters at the expense of American manufacturers.

But longer term, the change marks a big step back from China's goal of turning the renminbi into an international currency like the dollar and the euro. Global investors want their currencies to move predictably along with financial markets, not based on decisions made behind closed doors in Beijing.	但长期而言, 这个变化标志着中国在把人民币变为像美元和欧元这样的国际货币的道路上大退了一步。全球投资者们希望, 他们能随着金融市场的变化, 而不是在北京闭门会议决定的基础上让资金可预测地流动。
More broadly, it signals that China isn't in a hurry to lower its financial barriers with the rest of the world. Those barriers create long-term imbalances that could rattle the global economy if they become severe enough.	更广泛地说, 这个变化表明中国并不急于对世界其他地方降低自己的金融壁垒。这些壁垒产生的长期失衡, 如果变得足够严重的话, 可能会让全球经济动荡。
Is China Breaking Commitments?	中国食言了吗?
Yes. China loosened currency trading to woo the International Monetary Fund, which rewarded Beijing in the fall of 2015 by agreeing to add the renminbi to a group of currencies that includes the American dollar. The renminbi actually joined the I.M.F.'s elite club of currencies last fall, giving the Chinese currency more credibility.	是的。中国曾放松了对货币交易的限制, 为的是让国际货币基金组织(简称IMF)高兴, IMF在2015年秋奖励了北京, 同意将人民币纳入包括美元在内的精英货币之列。人民币实际上是在去年秋天加入到IMF这个精英货币俱乐部的, 这提高了中国货币的信誉。
But the I.M.F. is unlikely to get upset with China. Its general stance has been that China is now such a big part of the world economy, and particularly of global trade, that to ignore its currency would be a mistake.	但IMF没有太大可能会对中国表示不满。其总的立场是, 中国现在已是世界经济、尤其是全球贸易如此重要的一个部份, 忽视中国货币将是一种错误的做法。

To Pay for Syngenta, ChemChina Looks to Beijing for Help	先正达收购案背后, 有中国特色的融资方式
ChemChina has created a new strain of buyout funding. The Chinese giant is refinancing some debt backing its $44 billion purchase of	中国化工集团公司(ChemChina)创建了一种新型的收购基金。中国的这个巨头企业正在对一些债务进行再融资, 为其440亿美元收购瑞士农业企业先

The deal, China's largest foreign takeover ever, is nearing completion after more than 15 stressful months during which its success often looked in doubt. While ChemChina quickly amassed huge bridge loans so it could pay Syngenta stockholders, it was less obvious what the longer-term funding structure would look like. The deal-hungry buyer already had a stretched balance sheet, limiting its own ability to contribute equity.	该交易是中国迄今最大的外企收购案，现在即将完成，但之前15个月充满压力，交易是否能成功经常备受怀疑。尽管中国化工迅速积累了巨额的过渡贷款，可以支付给先正达的股东，但它的长期融资结构看起来并不明显。中国化工一心想达成交易，但其资产负债表不太乐观，限制了它拿出资金的能力。
United States regulatory filings now provide a partial answer to that question — and an unconventional answer at that. The buyer is supplying $5 billion of equity, equating to roughly 11 percent of Syngenta's value. For a conventional Western private equity deal, that would be far too thin a sliver for lenders or regulators — but then, this deal is effectively backed by the People's Republic of China.	美国的监管文件现在提供了这个问题的部分答案——这是一个非常规的答案。中国化工将提供50亿美元的股权，相当于先正达价值的约11%。从传统的西方私募股权交易来看，对于贷款人或监管机构来说，这是一个寡淡无味的条件——但是，这个交易获得了中华人民共和国的大力支持。
As for the remainder, ChemChina will hold on to about $19.3 billion of existing debt for now, and borrow $2 billion through new notes via Morgan Stanley. The rest will be supplied by the Bank of China, the asset manager China Reform and Industrial Bank, which have bought perpetual bonds worth $10 billion, $7 billion and $1 billion respectively.	至于其余的部分，中国化工将持有大约193亿美元的未清偿债务，并通过摩根士丹利(Morgan Stanley)发行新债券筹得20亿美元。其余由中国银行、资产管理机构中国国新控股和兴业银行提供，分别购买价值100亿美元、70亿美元和10亿美元的永久债券。
Given their indefinite life span, these bonds look rather like equity; it is also not clear how likely they are to pay regular coupons.	鉴于这些债券的寿命是无限期的，它们看起来更像是股份；目前还不清楚它们支付定期息票的可能性有多大。
The cost of all this perpetual debt is not disclosed, but this may well be cheaper than actual equity for the borrower, and lets ChemChina keep control of Syngenta to boot. It is harder to see the appeal for the buyers.	所有这些永久债券的成本都没有披露，但对于借款人来说这可能比实际股权便宜，而且中国化工还可以掌握先正达的控制权。对于其他买家来说，难以看到这么做的吸引力。这些都是巨大的风险敞口，即使对于大型公共部门机

These are big exposures, even for large public sector institutions. Overall, it appears that the state, which is reportedly also contemplating a bigger tie-up between ChemChina and rival Sinochem, has prodded three of its wards into supporting a fourth to nail down a strategically important deal. No wonder, since China wants Syngenta's crop technology very badly. This is corporate finance with Chinese characteristics.	构也是这样。据说中国还在考虑让中国化工与其竞争对手中化集团(Sinochem)之间达成更大的联合,总而言之,中国为了搞定这个有战略意义的交易,已经不惜余力。这也难怪,因为中国极为希望获得先正达的作物技术。这是具有中国特色的企业融资方式。

As recently as the 1970s, China's health care system provided cradle-to-grave medical support. But despite a huge health care reform plan, its public hospitals are overburdened, with too few beds and doctors to deliver the kind of care that many in the West take for granted. A 2015 study by The Lancet based on United Nations criteria found that China ranked 92 out of 188 countries, after Cuba and Mexico.	近至 1970 年代，中国的医疗体系还提供着从摇篮到坟墓的医疗支持。尽管该国实施了一个庞大的医疗改革计划，但其公立医院目前依然不堪重负，床位和医生都太少，难以提供被很多西方人视为理所当然的那种医疗服务。《柳叶刀》(The Lancet)在 2015 年按照联合国相关标准开展的一项研究显示，以居民健康状况论，中国在 188 个国家里排名第 92 位，名次低于古巴和墨西哥。
The government has increased spending and encouraged private investors to address the problem. A total of about 4.3 million cancer cases were diagnosed in China in 2015, or almost 12,000 cases a day, compared with 2.4 million in 2010, according to the state-run news media. Just four days later, Mr. Xu set up Zhulegeqiu, which in Chinese is a pun that roughly means "Rent a Ball." It lets users rent basketballs from custom-designed automated lockers at basketball courts around the country. To rent a ball, users scan a code on the locker with their smartphone camera, unlocking a compartment holding a basketball.	仅仅四天后, 徐敏就成立了"猪了个球", 在中文里大致是"租了个球"的谐音。这个服务能让用户从全国各地篮球场的定制自动化储物柜租用篮球。用户只需用智能手机摄像头扫描储物柜上的二维码, 解锁一个装着篮球的储物箱, 就可以租到球了。
Zhulegeqiu charges users about one renminbi, or about 15 cents, per hour for rental. A deposit of about $10 is required unless the user has a high rating on Sesame Credit, the social credit scoring system developed by China's Ant Financial, an affiliate of e-commerce giant Alibaba Group.	"猪了个球"向用户收取每小时一元人民币(约合15美分)作为租金。此外还要收取约10美元作为押金, 除非用户的芝麻信用(由中国电子商务巨头阿里巴巴集团子公司蚂蚁金服开发的社会信用评分系统)评级很高。
"In the long run, it may be more cost-effective to buy rather than rent a ball," Mr. Xu said. "But we think Chinese users are willing to pay a little more for convenience."	"从长远来看, 买球比租球更划算,"徐敏说。"但是我们认为中国用户愿意为了方便而多付一点钱。"
Earlier this month, Zhulegeqiu received around $1.4 million in venture investment from Modern Capital, a Shanghai-based venture capital firm.	本月早些时候, "猪了个球"获得了总部位于上海的风险投资公司马笛尔的1000万人民币风投。

Behind China's sharing boom is a surplus of money and — some critics say — a shortage of good ideas. Venture capital firms in China invested $31 billion in 2016, up nearly one-fifth from the previous year, according to a recent KPMG report. Much of that has gone to sharing companies, as some big-money winners and a thriving start-up scene draw investors from home and abroad.	在中国共享经济繁荣的背后是资金过剩，以及一些批评人士所说的好创意的匮乏。毕马威(KPMG)最近的一份报告显示，2016年中国的风险投资公司投资了310亿美元，同比增加近五分之一。大量投资流向了共享公司，一些赚得盆满钵满的大赢家和一片繁荣的创业景象吸引了国内外的投资者。
"We're seeing a lot of money bouncing around," said Zhou Wei, chief executive of XNode, a start-up accelerator and co-working space in Shanghai, "and foolish investments being made."	"我们看到大量资金流向各处，"上海的创业加速器和联合办公空间创极无限(XNode)的首席执行官周炜说，"有人做出愚蠢的投资。"
In its latest iteration, the sharing economy in China has evolved into something like an internet-enabled rental business. Unlike Airbnb and Uber, which provide a platform that connects users to existing resources, the latest sharing companies in China own the product and rent it out to users.	在最近一轮迭代中，中国的共享经济演变成了类似于接入互联网的租赁公司的形态。不同于提供平台，以便连接用户和现有资源的爱彼迎(Airbnb)和优步，中国最新一批共享公司将自己拥有的产品租给用户。
That is not to say sharing in China is necessarily a bad idea. Didi Chuxing, the ride-sharing company that bought Uber out of China, is a private company and does not disclose its financial results, but its valuation is rising as investors pour in. China also has conditions ripe for sharing, including a huge population, dense cities and a sizable group of people who cannot afford to buy.	这并不是说在中国，共享必然不是个好主意。收购优步并迫使其退出中国市场的叫车公司滴滴出行是一家非上市公司，没有公布自己的财务业绩，但随着投资者涌入，其估值不断攀升。此外，中国具备发展共享经济的成熟条件，包括庞大的人口、人口稠密的城市和规模颇大的无力购买的群体。
"In China, average incomes are still very low and the market in many ways is still very price-conscious," said Mark Natkin, managing director of the technology research firm Marbridge Consulting. "So if the technology is there to support it and there's a viable business model, there are all sorts of sharing economy or pseudo-sharing economy	"在中国，平均收入依然非常低，在很多方面市场对价格依然非常敏感，"科技调研公司迈博瑞咨询有限公司(Marbridge Consulting)的执行董事马克·纳特金(Mark Natkin)说。"因此，如果具备了支持它的技术和可行的商业模式，就会出现各种各样的共享经济或伪共享经济企业，它们具有做得非常好的可能性。"

businesses that can potentially do very well.”
China’s cutting-edge, smartphone-based mobile payment systems also make sharing a snap. Run by Chinese internet giants like Tencent Holdings and an affiliate of Alibaba Group, the payment systems integrate seamlessly with a user’s bank account and allow even tiny transactions with simple taps and camera snaps.	此外，中国基于智能手机的移动支付系统处于尖端水平，让共享变得易如反掌。在中国互联网巨头，如腾讯控股和阿里巴巴集团旗下一家公司的运营下，移动支付系统将用户的银行账户无缝连接，甚至只用简单的点击和用摄像头拍照便可完成小额交易。
The Chinese government sees promise in sharing. It estimates sharing last year accounted for $500 billion in transactions, and projected it would account for 10 percent of China’s economic output by 2020.	中国政府看到了共享经济的前景。政府估计共享经济去年贡献了 5000 亿美元的交易，并预测到 2020 年，共享经济在中国经济产出中的比例将达到 10%。
All that drives ideas that may seem puzzling to others – including Shen Weiwei’s umbrella-sharing business.	这一切催生了在其他人看来也许令人费解的想法，包括沈巍巍的雨伞共享企业。
Mr. Shen, an entrepreneur, acknowledges that it may be difficult for his start-up, a shared umbrella service called Molisan, to turn a profit. Molisan, which means “Magic Umbrella,” will reap only small profit margins charging one renminbi (15 cents) to rent an umbrella for 12 hours from one of Molisan’s custom-designed kiosks, and customers could end up stealing them.	沈巍巍的创业公司叫魔力伞，是一家提供共享雨伞服务的公司。身为创业者的他承认，公司可能很难实现盈利。魔力伞利润空间很小，从其定制的租借设备中借出一把雨伞 12 小时仅收一元，并且用户还可能会盗窃雨伞。
But Mr. Shen said he was confident that others would see the public and environmental benefits of having an umbrella-sharing service. So far, Molisan has already reached agreements with both the Guangzhou and Fuzhou city subway companies to place kiosks there. The goal, he said, is to have an umbrella kiosk within a 100-meter range at all times.	但沈巍巍说，他相信其他人会看到一家共享雨伞公司带来的公共和环境效益。迄今为止，魔力伞已同广州和福州的地铁公司达成协议，在这两座城市的地铁站安装安雨伞租借设备。他说，目标是无论什么时候，100 米范围内都能有一台雨伞存租借设备。
“Everyone at home has a lot of umbrellas, but we never have them when we really need them,” said Mr. Shen. “If we are successful, then users will no longer have to buy umbrellas.”	“在家里，所有人都有伞，但一到真正需要用的时候，总是没带，”沈巍巍说。“如果我们成功了，用户就不用再买伞了。”

Some companies, like the Shanghai-based Duola, which connects concrete mixers, mixer drivers and construction sites, are more niche and have analogues with similar rental businesses elsewhere. Others have a broader user base. In recent months, top venture investors have been setting their sights on the portable phone-charging business, with plans to put portable-battery kiosks in malls and elsewhere. In the past two months alone, China's top three portable battery-sharing companies — Laidian, Xiaodian, and Jiedian — raised more than $127 million in financing, according to itjuzi.com, a website that tracks investment in Chinese technology companies.	一些公司，比如将混凝土搅拌机、搅拌机操作员和建筑工地联接在一起的上海的 Duola 更小众，和其他地方的类似租赁企业相仿。其他一些公司则拥有更广泛的用户基础。最近几个月，顶级风险投资者把目光投向了手机充电业务，计划在商场和其他地方投放便携式电池设备。据追踪中国科技公司投资情况的网站 IT 桔子称，仅过去两个月，中国三大便携共享电池公司来电、街电和小电就筹集了逾 1.27 亿美元的融资。
Many remain skeptical. "Sharing basketballs, sharing umbrellas — these are all bad ideas," said Allen Zhu, Shanghai-based managing director at GSR Ventures, which was an early investor in Didi Chuxing, the popular bike-sharing company Ofo and Xiaodian. "They're both very tied to a particular location, which makes it difficult for the company to expand."	很多人依然持怀疑态度。“共享篮球，共享雨伞，这些都不是好点子，”常驻上海的金沙江创业投资基金(GSR Ventures)董事总经理朱啸虎(Allen Zhu)说。“它们都和某个特定的地方绑定得非常紧，这让公司很难扩张。”朱啸虎是滴滴出行、受欢迎的共享单车公司 Ofo 和小电的早期投资人。
Entrepreneurs like Mr. Xu, of Zhulegeqiu, disagree, though they acknowledge challenges.	像“猪了个球”的徐敏这样的创业者却不这么认为，但他们也承认存在挑战。
For one, the company does not appear to have found a sustainable way to recover stolen balls. During initial testing, Mr. Xu said, one competitor stole a basketball to analyze it more closely. Zhulegeqiu had the thief's contact information and recovered it through an old-fashioned strategy: incessant telephone calls.	比如，“猪了个球”似乎还没找到一个可持续的办法，来追回失窃的篮球。徐敏说，在最初的测试中，一个竞争对手为了更仔细地进行分析而偷走了一个篮球。“猪了个球”有这名窃贼的联系方式，并通过一个老式办法追回了篮球。这个办法就是不停地给对方打电话。
"We thought about putting GPS trackers on the balls," said Xu Jie, chief executive of Modern Capital, the venture capital firm backing Zhulegeqiu, and no relation to its founder. "But we did the math and we	“我们考虑过在篮球上安装 GPS 追踪装置，”投资“猪了个球”的风投公司马笛尔投资的首席执行官许捷说，他和该公司的创始人徐敏之间没有亲戚关系。“但我们算了一下，发现雇几个人，用人工来找更划算。”

China’s New Cybersecurity Law Leaves Foreign Firms Guessing	新网络安全法意味着什么？在华外企困惑不安
BEIJING — As China moves to start enforcing a new cybersecurity law, foreign companies face a major problem: They know very little about it.	北京——随着中国开始执行新的网络安全法律，外国公司面临着一个重大问题：他们对其几乎一无所知。
The law — which was rubber-stamped by the country’s Parliament last year — is part of wide-ranging efforts by Beijing to manage the internet within China’s borders. Those efforts have been stepped up in the years since Edward J. Snowden, the whistle-blower and former American intelligence contractor, revealed that foreign technology firms could help governments spy.	为了管理中国境内的互联网，北京做出了广泛努力，这项去年由全国人大走形式通过的法律就是其中的举措之一。自从前美国情报部门承包人、泄密者爱德华·斯诺登(Edward J. Snowden)透露外国科技公司可能为政府间谍提供帮助之后，中国已经在过去几年里强化了这些举措。
And while Chinese officials say the new rules will help guard against cyberattacks and prevent terrorism, critics, many of them from businesses, have their concerns. Companies worry that parts of the new law, which takes effect on Thursday, will make their operations in China less secure or more expensive. In some cases, they argue, it could keep them out entirely.	虽然中国官员说，新法规将有助于防范网络攻击和恐怖主义，但批评者也自有其担忧，其中很多批评的声音都是来自商界。他们担心，周四生效的这部新法规的部分内容，会使他们在中国开展业务变得更加昂贵，或者不那么安全。他们认为，在某些情况下，恐怕得完全退出。
The law will have a big impact on how business is done in China, said Michael Chang, an executive with the Finnish technology company Nokia and the vice president of the European Union Chamber of Commerce in China. But, he said, “There’s unfortunately a lot of confusion.”	芬兰科技公司诺基亚(Nokia)的高管常疆(Michael Chang)是中国欧盟商会(European Union Chamber of Commerce in China)的副主席，他认为这项法律将对如何在中国开展业务产生巨大影响。但他说：“不幸的是，这里面有大量不清楚的地方。”
“Industry is not ready because the implementation rules are not clear,” Mr. Chang said, speaking at an event organized by the lobbying group	在这个游说团体公布其年度商业信心调查结果的活动上，常疆表示：“行业尚未对此做好准备，因为实施规则尚不明确。” to announce the results of its annual business confidence survey.

"We still have a lot of unclarified territory that needs to be addressed as soon as possible."	"还有很多地方没有澄清，需要尽快澄清。"
The law would require that companies store their data within China, and would impose security checks on companies in sectors like finance and communications. Individual users, meanwhile, would have to register with their real names to use messaging services.	该法律要求企业将数据存储在中国境内，并且要对金融和通信等行业的公司进行安全检查。同时，个人用户必须使用实名注册才能使用各种消息服务。
But Mr. Chang said that officials had conveyed "less than half" of the specifics of how the law would be implemented.	但常疆说，对于法律实施的方式，官员公开细节的还"不到一半"。
"A wide range of companies are doing data transfers – it's the lifeblood of their business," he said.	他说："各种公司都在做数据传输——这是他们业务的命脉。"
Executives have complained that the wording of the law is ambiguous, fearing that it gives China's ruling Communist Party substantial leeway to target them.	高管们抱怨说，这项法律的措辞不明确，他们担心中国执政的共产党有足够的周旋余地来对付他们。
One instance cited by Mats Harborn, president of the European Union Chamber of Commerce in China, in a round-table discussion with journalists, was that the government said it wanted to regulate "critical information infrastructure," but had not defined what that meant.	中国欧盟商会主席何墨池(Mats Harborn)在与记者进行圆桌讨论的时候举了一个例子：政府表示要管理"关键的信息基础设施"，却没有明确指出这是什么意思。
"The way it's enforced and implemented today and the way it might be enforced and implemented in a year is a big question mark," added Lance Noble, the chamber's policy and communications manager. He warned that uncertainty surrounding the law could make foreign technology firms reluctant to bring their best innovations to China.	"一个比较大的疑问是，现在是以什么方式实施和执行，一年后又会以什么方式实施和执行，"中国欧盟商会的政策与传播经理蓝龙(Lance Noble)说。他警告称，围绕着这项法律的不确定性会令外国技术企业不愿将自己最好的创新带到中国。
In May, a coalition of business lobby groups representing European, American and Asian companies called on China to delay implementing	今年5月，一群代表欧洲、美国和亚洲企业利益的商业游说团体呼吁中国推迟实施这项法律。同时，中国欧盟商会要求给企业更多的时间去遵循，因为

the law, while the European Union Chamber of Commerce in China asked for additional time to allow companies to adhere because of the "substantial compliance obligations."	"需要履行的义务非常之多"。
The Cyberspace Administration of China, the country's internet regulator, has so far decided to delay implementation only of the regulations governing cross-border data flow, which will now take effect at the end of 2018, according to a revised draft of the rules that was seen by The New York Times.	《纽约时报》看到的一份法案修改草案显示，中国互联网监管机构互联网信息办公室目前决定只推迟执行监管跨境数据流的规章，这部分规定将在2018年底生效。
The regulator could not be reached despite multiple telephone calls.	时报曾多次致电，但未能联系到该监管机构接受采访。
Paul Triolo of the political risk consultancy Eurasia Group noted the decision to delay that component of the law, saying in a report last week that "getting the cross-border data flow issue right is a prerequisite for Beijing's efforts to promote economic globalization." He wrote that China, for the time being, "is eager to avoid being seen as stifling digital trade."	政治风险顾问公司欧亚集团(Eurasia Group)的保罗·特廖洛(Paul Triolo)注意到了推迟法规部分内容执行的决定，他在上周发布的一份报告中表示，“将跨境数据流的问题解决好，是北京促进经济全球化的先决条件”。他还写道，眼下来看，中国“急于避免被看作在抑制数字贸易”。
The European Union and China plan to hold a summit meeting on Thursday in Brussels. Friction between them has mounted after the European Union imposed anti-dumping duties on Beijing, accusing it of flooding the European market with cheap steel.	欧盟和中国计划周四在布鲁塞尔举行峰会。在欧盟对北京施加反倾销关税、指责它在欧洲市场倾销钢铁产品后，双方的矛盾已经加剧。
Many foreign companies are becoming increasingly skeptical of China's promises of economic reform. Mr. Harborn, the lobbying group president, said he expected European officials to complain to Premier Li Keqiang of China about unequal market access in the country for European companies.	许多外国企业对中国做出的进行经济改革的承诺愈发持怀疑态度。何墨池表示，他期待欧洲官员能向中国国务院总理李克强抗议中国对欧洲企业实施的不平等的市场准入。

Chinese Maker of Ivanka Trump's Shoes Looks for Cheaper Labor	生产伊万卡鞋的中国工厂寻找非洲廉价劳动力
DONGGUAN, China — The Chinese factory workers who make shoes for Ivanka Trump and other designers gather at 7:40 every morning to sing songs.	中国东莞——在为伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)和其他品牌的设计师代工生产鞋子的中国工厂, 工人每天早上 7 点 40 分集合起来唱歌。
Sometimes, they extol worker solidarity. Usually, they trumpet ties between China and Africa, the theme of their employer's corporate anthem.	有时候, 他们高歌工人团结。更多的时候, 他们颂扬中国与非洲的友谊, 那是雇佣他们的 企业颂歌的主题。
That's no accident. With many workers here complaining about excessive hours and seeking higher pay, the factory owner wants to send their jobs to Ethiopia.	这绝非偶然。由于这里的许多工人抱怨工作时间过长, 并开始要求更高的工资, 工厂老板正在把他们的工作输出到埃塞俄比亚。
The employer, Huajian International, now faces scrutiny from labor activists for how it treats workers. Chinese authorities this week detained an activist who went undercover in the company's factory here for a labor rights group. Two other activists who worked at Huajian are missing; it's unclear whether they were detained.	他们的雇主华坚国际集团目前正面临劳工活动人士对企业对待工人方式的调查。中国当局本周拘留了一名活动人士, 他曾在东莞的一家华坚工厂打工, 为一个劳工权益组织作卧底。另外两名曾在华坚打工的活动人士目前失踪, 尚不清楚他们是否也被拘留。
The activists' focus on Huajian's factories points to changing labor conditions in China as manufacturers try to get more work out of an increasingly expensive labor pool.	活动人士对华坚工厂的关注, 指出了不断变化的中国劳工环境中存在的一个问题, 制造商们正试图从日益昂贵的劳动力身上挤出更多的工作量。

As President Trump accuses China of stealing jobs, those jobs are now leaving for other shores.	返美国。但深层次的经济和人口变化意味着，很多像制鞋这样的低端工作在中国也没有巨大的利润空间。就在特朗普总统指责中国偷走了美国就业机会时，这些工作正在离开中国，向海外其他地方转移。
Huajian, which also makes shoes for a number of American brands, was a major beneficiary of the decades-long shift of manufacturing jobs away from the United States. Global brands flocked to China to tap into the country's cheap and willing labor pool.	也为其他美国品牌制鞋的华坚集团，是制造业从美国转移出去这个数十年趋势的主要受益者。为了充分利用国内廉价且积极肯干的劳动大军，全球品牌纷纷涌入了中国。
Today, Chinese workers are less cheap and less willing. More young people are going to college and want office jobs. The blue-collar work force is aging. Long workdays in a factory no longer appeal to those older workers, even with the promise of overtime pay.	如今，中国的工人不再那么便宜，也不再那么肯干了。更多的年轻人在上大学，他们想从事白领工作。蓝领劳动力正在老龄化。工厂的满长工作日对这些更年长的工人不再具有吸引力，即使有加班费的承诺。
In interviews in December and again on Sunday and Monday outside Huajian's vast industrial complex in this southern Chinese factory city, numerous workers interviewed by The New York Times complained about 14-hour days. While many liked the overtime pay, they said the days were too long, especially since they often included up to three hours of unpaid breaks for lunch and dinner. The workers insisted on anonymity for fear of retaliation by management.	《纽约时报》曾几次在华坚位于东莞的庞大工业园区外对工人进行采访，包括去年12月和最近的周日和周一，许多接受采访的工人向时报抱怨了长达约14个小时的工作日。虽然很多人喜欢加班费，但他们说工作时间太长了，尤其是考虑到工作日通常包括三小时的午餐和晚餐休息时间，休息时间是不计薪的。由于怕遭到管理层报复，工人们坚持匿名。

Such tensions are fueling the drive of Huajian's founder, Mr. Zhang, to move work to Ethiopia. A former drill sergeant in the Chinese military who sometimes leads his workers on parade-ground drills, Mr. Zhang says work like making shoes will never return to the United States and is increasingly difficult in China as well.	劳工紧张关系正在促使华坚创始人张华荣把制鞋工作搬到埃塞俄比亚去。曾在解放军中当过班长的张华荣,有时会带领工人们阅兵场上做训练演习,他说,像制鞋这样的工作永远不会重返美国,就连在中国,这种工作也越来越难继续下去。

The number of people who turn 18 each year and do not enroll in college – the group that might consider factory work – had plummeted to 10.5 million by 2015 from 18.5 million in 2000, government data shows. Workers said they resented the hours, especially the unpaid breaks.	工人们说，他们对工作日之长、特别是其中包括没有薪水的休息时间感到愤愤不平。

Li Qiang, who started China Labor Watch 17 years ago, said the group's activists had never before been detained by the police. "I'm very worried about their safety," he said. Huajian peaked at 26,000 employees in China in 2006. Staffing is now down to between 7,000 and 8,000 thanks to automation and the shift to Ethiopia, Mr. Zhang said.	华坚集团在中国雇佣的工人数量 2006 年最高，达到 2.6 万人。由于自动化和向埃塞俄比亚转移，工人数量目前已减少到 7000 到 8000 人之间，张华荣说。
Huajian produces 100,000 to 200,000 pairs of Ivanka Trump shoes each year, a small fraction of the eight million pairs of shoes it produces annually. The Dongguan factory makes the heels while a second factory completes the shoes. Marc Fisher Footwear, which licenses the Ivanka Trump brand for shoes manufactured by Huijian, has said it was looking into the allegations.	华坚每年生产 10 万到 20 万双伊万卡·特朗普品牌的鞋子，这只是工厂每年生产的 800 万双鞋中的很小一部分。东莞这家工厂只生产高跟鞋的鞋跟，成品鞋由另一家工厂制造。Marc Fisher Footwear 是获许在华坚生产伊万卡·特朗普品牌鞋子的鞋业公司，该公司表示，正在对这些指控进行调查。
Mr. Zhang has had occasional brushes with Chinese labor laws, although no more than many employers in this increasingly litigious society. In 2014, Li Jianguo, a worker, sued Huajian, saying he worked 104 hours of overtime per month and was not paid for it. Huajian acknowledged in that case that the worker had been putting in 52 hours of overtime per month, according to the text of the court verdict, and agreed to pay him for that.	中国社会中愿意诉诸法律的人越来越多，张华荣与中国的劳动法有过偶尔的干过，虽然并不比其他雇主的次数多。2014 年，一位名叫李建国（音）的工人起诉华坚，称自己每月加班 104 个小时，公司一直没有支付加班费。法院对此案的判决书显示，华坚承认这名工人每月加班的时间为 52 小时，并同意按该时间支付加班费。
Mr. Zhang said that workers currently earn $525 to $580 per month, including overtime pay but not including company-paid benefits like medical insurance and housing subsidies. Citing labor costs and the country's foreign investment push, Huajian is building a sprawling complex of factories, office buildings and a hotel on the southern outskirts of Ethiopia's capital, Addis Ababa. Mr. Zhang's shoe factories there already have 5,000 employees. When finished in four years, the Addis Ababa complex will be ringed by a replica of the Great Wall of China.	出于劳动力成本的考虑、也受中国对外投资的推动，华坚正在埃塞俄比亚首都亚的斯亚贝巴南郊修建一个庞大的工厂园区，还盖了办公楼和酒店。张华荣在那里的鞋厂已雇了5000名工人。四年后，亚的斯亚贝巴的园区将被复制的中国长城环绕。
Some interviewed Huajian workers said they were not concerned about jobs being moved to Ethiopia, given the plentiful number of jobs in China's southern manufacturing zone. Still, many longtime workers face age discrimination if they leave, as other factories prefer workers under 35. Here's How a Chinese Tech Firm Borrowed $2.1 Billion in a Hurry	1 年筹资 20 亿，乐视的灰色金融冒险
When a Chinese tech company with global ambitions began to run short of cash last year, it sought billions of dollars from new investors. One of them was a music teacher.	一个具有全球野心的中国科技公司去年遇到现金短缺，于是从新投资者那里筹集了数十亿美元。其中一位投资者是名音乐老师。
Li Shenghong, who teaches out of a mall storefront in southern China, was already a fan of the smartphones and televisions sold by the company, an internet-and-gadgets conglomerate called LeEco. When LeEco also began selling investment products online, Mr. Li snapped them up, even though the company said little about where the money would go.	李升红（音）在中国南方一家商场的店面教钢琴，当时他已经是乐视智能手机和电视机的粉丝了。乐视是一家互联网和科技产品集团，当它开始在网上销售投资产品的时候，李先生马上进行了抢购，尽管乐视并没有提到这笔钱的流向。
"Whenever I have leftover money from my salary, I'll invest it," Mr. Li said, explaining that he had invested $7,000 in the company. "My spare change? I put it in."	"每当我的工资有剩的，我都会拿去投资，"李升红说道，他在该公司投资了 7000 美元。"我的零用钱？都投了进去。"
LeEco, buffeted by rapid expansion, has turned to murky and potentially risky ways to stay afloat, including tapping China's shadowy informal banking system, which many people believe threatens the Chinese economy. The company courted small investors by promising good rates of return and playing down risks.	在快速扩张中遇到困难的乐视，采用了一些潜在风险较高的灰色手段来维持经营，包括从中国非正式的影子银行系统中筹资，很多人认为该系统对中国经济是个威胁。该公司用回报率高、风险小的承诺来吸引小投资者。

LeEco, a catchall name for a variety of businesses controlled by the internet tycoon Jia Yueting, poses little threat by itself to China's financial system. But a review of the company's finances shows the extent of the opaque ways Chinese firms can use to raise money — and how failures could ripple through the system.	乐视名下包含各种业务，由互联网大佬贾跃亭控制，公司本身对中国的金融体系几乎没有威胁。但是，这家公司的财务状况表明中国企业如何利用不透明的方法来筹集资金，以及破产又会在整个系统中引发怎样的连锁反应。

LeEco also tapped securities brokerages for money, another murky transaction. Under such deals, the brokerages lend money if a borrower puts up shares as collateral. Those loans stay off the books of the formal banking system, making risks difficult to track. They can also sour quickly if shares plunge in value, a real possibility in China's stock market.	乐视还从证券经纪人那里借钱，这也是一种灰色交易。具体来说，借款人可以把股份当作抵押品，从经纪人那里借款。这种贷款不在正规银行系统的账目中，风险难以追踪。如果股价暴跌——这在中国股市，这种情况完全有可能出现——贷款可能很快就会出问题。

In November, those loans totaled $1.7 billion.	根据最新数据，贾跃亭用乐视主要的上市公司乐视网 97% 的股份作为抵押，获取券商的借款。去年 11 月，那些借款的总额达到 17 亿美元。

LeEco says it sold those stakes only to institutional investors who would be aware of the risks. But public records show shares in the nonpublic businesses have ended up in the hands of a number of smaller investors. Mo Lingmei was among nearly 400 people to buy stakes in Le Sports, a LeEco affiliate that acquires sports broadcasting rights such as the right to show Premier League soccer online in China. Ahead of Breaking News, a Shoe Story That Fits	在伊万卡的中国鞋厂，时报记者巧遇大新闻
A labor advocacy group announced on Tuesday evening in Hong Kong that one of its undercover investigators, who had gone missing while probing the production of Ivanka Trump-branded shoes in a Chinese factory, had been detained by the police, and two more of its	一个劳工倡导组织上周二晚上在香港宣布，它的一名秘密调查人员被警方拘捕——此前这名调查人员是在中国的一家工厂调查伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)牌鞋品生产情况时失踪，另有两名调查人员也在中国失踪。然后，在不到一天半的时间里，《纽约时报》便发表了两篇深度报道，一篇是关于

investigators had disappeared in China. Within a day and a half, The New York Times had published two in-depth articles, one on the disappearances and the other on how Ivanka Trump shoes are made, complete with numerous photos from inside the factory.	失踪事件，另一篇则是关于伊万卡·特朗普牌鞋子的生产情况，其中包括许多在工厂内部拍摄的图片。
How was that quick response possible?	为何能在这么短时间内发出报道呢？
Way back in December, I had begun gathering string — journalism speak for early reporting — on Trump-branded merchandise made in China. Having served many years as The Times’s Hong Kong bureau chief before coming to lead our Shanghai bureau last November, I know the Pearl River Delta region near Hong Kong well. It is also where you can find many of China’s export factories in industries like apparel production and shoemaking.	早在去年 12 月，我就已经开始针对在中国生产的特朗普品牌商品进行线索收集——这是新闻行话，指的是早期报道。去年 11 月转任上海分社社长之前，我曾在香港分社任社长多年，对靠近香港的珠江三角洲地区非常熟悉。在那里，你可以看到许多面向出口的服装鞋履生产厂家。
On a bullet train to Guangzhou — the region’s hub — from Wuhan in central China, where I had been reporting on China’s solar power industry, I began checking online for factories that produced Trump merchandise. I also reached out to various executives in the merchandise sourcing industry. I quickly decided to focus on how Ivanka Trump shoes were made in Dongguan, a sprawling, aging factory city an hour’s drive east of downtown Guangzhou. My news assistant, Ailin Tang, went with me.	在一趟自华中城市武汉开往珠三角交通枢纽广州的高铁上，我开始在网上查找生产特朗普牌商品的工厂——之前去武汉是为报道中国的太阳能行业。我也咨询了代工行业的多位高管。之后，我很快决定将报道的重点放在伊万卡·特朗普品牌的鞋子在东莞的生产，那是一座正在老化的大型工业城市，位于广东市区以东一小时车程的地方。同行的有我的新闻助理艾琳·唐(Ailin Tang)。

police. So my favorite approach is to find a small diner just outside the gate, order a soft drink and start chatting with workers at nearby tables.
The Xuankai workers had a lot to say during their lunch break, including how remarkably cheap Dongguan had become even by Chinese standards, as many factories had moved to other cities farther inland. While local wages were still low by American standards, apartments rented for less than $30 a month, and a large plate of fried rice cost just over a dollar.	正在午休的轩凯鞋业工人们有不少话要说，比如随着许多工厂搬到内陆的其他城市，东莞的物价水平已经变得何其低，即便是以中国的标准。当地的工资按美国人的标准看当然很低，但公寓月租金不足 30 美元，一大盘炒饭只要 1 美元多一点。
But the workers, and later a co-owner of Xuankai, confirmed something else: The factory no longer made Ivanka Trump shoes, and had not done so for many months. So I headed to Huajian Footwear, a short drive across the same neighborhood.	但这些工人也确认了另一件事——后来轩凯的一名所有人也承认了这点：这家工厂数月前就已经不再生产伊万卡·特朗普牌的鞋子。所以我又去了在同一个社区、车程没多远的华坚集团。
A giant factory with 5,000 workers (and a decade earlier several times that number), Huajian proved more of a journalistic challenge. The sprawling complex is situated behind a canal, with a large gate and plenty of guards blocking the factory's end of the short causeway across the canal. The other end of the causeway is on a fast, four-lane road with no nearby diners in which to do interviews. The workers, for the most part, either live in nine-story dormitories inside the complex or catch buses from distant locations; a few ride bicycles.	华坚集团是一家有 5000 名工人的大公司（十年前，人数是现在的数倍）。事实证明，对前来采访的记者而言，它是一个更大的挑战。这个规模庞大的建筑群位于一条运河的后方，有一扇巨大的门，运河上有一条不长的堤道，许多保安守在工厂所在那一头。堤道这一头是一条车速很快的四车道马路，附近也没有可供采访的餐馆。工厂的工人多半住在厂区内的九层宿舍楼里，或从远处乘公交来上班；只有少数人骑自行车上班。
We also reached out to Huajian's management, and the company	我们也主动联系了华坚集团的管理层，这家公司接受了我们的请求，同意让

accepted our request to tour the factory the next day and to interview its chairman, Zhang Huarong. A photographer who frequently works with The New York Times, Gilles Sabrié, happened to be nearby on another assignment, so we asked him to join us. He took many photos, which would prove handy later.	我们第二天参观工厂，采访公司的董事长张华荣。经常与《纽约时报》合作的摄影师吉尔·萨布赫耶(Gilles Sabrié)碰巧因为另一项任务也在附近，我便邀请他跟我们一起做这个报道。他拍了很多照片，以后会被证明很有价值。
But this was a very complex story. Huajian was moving its shoemaking to Ethiopia, but it had not yet moved production of the Ivanka Trump shoes. The company often required long hours of its workers, but it did pay them overtime, and some of the workers wanted that pay. Wages were still low by American standards, but they had risen ninefold in dollar terms since the late 1990s.	但这是一个非常复杂的故事。华坚集团在把自己的制鞋业务转移到埃塞俄比亚，但它还没有转移伊万卡·特朗普牌鞋子的生产业务。这家公司经常要求工人长时间工作，但是会支付加班费，有些工人是需要那笔钱的。他们的薪水以美国人的标准仍然很低，但是自上世纪90年代末以来按美元计已经涨了九倍。
Several months later, with my Huajian reporting on the back burner as I continued to explore other Trump-branded merchandise in China, we learned that a New York-based advocacy group, China Labor Watch, had coincidentally sent in undercover investigators to look at the company's shoe production. My editors and I mulled whether to run the Huajian article on its own, but decided to wait and see what China Labor Watch might find.	几个月后，我得知总部位于纽约的倡导组织中国劳工观察(China Labor Watch)碰巧也派出了秘密调查员，在探究这家公司的鞋品生产情况——当时我在继续调查中国其他打着特朗普品牌的商品，有关华坚的报道被放到了相对次要的位置。我和编辑们仔细商量了是否把华坚的部分单独拿出来报道，但后来还是决定等一等，看中国劳工观察能有什么发现。
Li Qiang, the director of China Labor Watch, told me in mid-May that he was coming to Hong Kong, so I flew down from Shanghai and invited him to lunch on May 26. Local police officers had subsequently questioned Mr. Hua, and already knew that he had been working	5月中，中国劳工观察负责人李强告诉我他要来香港，我便从上海飞过去，邀请他在5月26日共进了午餐。我从他那里听到了一些令人不安的消息：前一天，他们的一位秘密调查员华海峰试图越境来与他见面，却被边境警察阻止离开中国大陆。之后，当地警方审问了华海峰，已经知道他在华坚做卧底。我和编辑们决定，我需要再去采访一下这家公司。

undercover at Huajian. My editors and I decided I should revisit the company.
I returned with my news assistant for more interviews outside the factory gate on Sunday and Monday, without telling Huajian's management. Workers complained more strenuously this time of excessive overtime. The company was so desperate to hire workers that a manager, seeing Ailin outside the gate, walked out and tried to hire her on the spot to make shoes (she said no). Even the company's spokesman acknowledged to us in a text message that it was experiencing a "busy season" and had lengthened hours.	周日和周一，我和新闻助理回到东莞，在没有通知华坚管理层的情况下，在工厂大门外做了进一步的采访。这一次，工人们更强烈地抱怨了过度加班的问题。这家公司迫切需要招聘更多工人，以致于一名经理看到大门外的艾琳，便走出来试图当场聘她做制鞋工人（她拒绝了）。就连华坚的发言人也在短信中向我们承认，公司处在“旺季”，的确延长了工作时间。
At the same time, Mr. Li was contacting me with worrisome updates: All three of his undercover investigators at Huajian were missing. I quickly revised my article. It was within hours of being published when Mr. Li alerted me that Chinese police had notified Mr. Hua's wife of his detention, which she then confirmed by phone.	与此同时，李强也跟我讲了一些让人担忧的新进展：他与在华坚的三名秘密调查员全都失去了联系。我很快在报道中更新了这个信息。在报道发出几小时前，李强又提醒我，中国警方已经向华海峰的妻子通知了他被捕的消息。后来，华海峰的妻子也在时报的采访电话中确认了这一消息。
I wrote a new story overnight China time about Mr. Hua's plight and the disappearance of the other two activists. The next morning we further updated the original feature and ran that as well.	我连夜写了一篇有关华海峰遭遇和另外两名活动人士失踪的新报道。第二天早上，我们又更新了之前写就的那篇特稿的内容，将两篇报道一起发了出去。

China Looks to Capitalize on Clean Energy as U.S. Retreats	弯道超车，中国志在主导未来清洁能源产业
LIULONG, China —China's devastating pollution problems began here, in coal country, where legions of workers toiled and often died to exhume the rich deposits that fueled the country's sooty rise to economic power.	中国刘龙——中国毁灭性的污染问题始于此，在煤乡，为了开采丰富的煤炭资源，大批工人辛勤劳作，甚至常常付出生命代价。煤炭推动中国在肮脏的煤烟中崛起为经济大国。
Today, these muddy plains are home to a potent symbol of China's new ambition: to bypass the United States and cement its dominant role in clean energy.	如今，在这片泥泞的平原上，出现了中国新的宏伟目标的一个有力象征——超过美国并巩固其在清洁能源领域的主导地位。
On a lake created by the collapse of abandoned coal mines, China has built the world's largest floating solar project, enough to provide light and air conditioning to much of a nearby city. The provincial government wants to expand the effort to more than a dozen sites, which collectively would produce the same amount of power as a full-size commercial nuclear reactor.	在废弃煤矿塌陷形成的一个湖泊上，中国建成了全球最大的漂浮式太阳能项目，它足够满足附近一座城市大部分的照明和空调需求。省政府希望把这个项目推广到十几个地方，它们合起来的发电量，与一个正常规模商业核反应堆相当。
The project reflects China's effort to reshape the world order in renewable energy as the United States retreats. Such technological expertise will form the infrastructure backbone needed for countries to meet their climate goals, making China the energy partner of choice for many nations.	该项目反映了中国在美国后退之际，努力重塑可再生能源领域的世界秩序。这类技术专长将构成各国实现自己的气候目标所需的基础设施支柱，让中国成为很多国家首选的能源合作伙伴。

The wave-proof solar panels are an affordable and viable option for power-hungry countries. Delegations from Japan, Taiwan, Vietnam, Singapore and elsewhere have come to study the project while the maker, Sungrow, prepares to license the technology for overseas sale.	对电力需求旺盛的国家来说，防波浪太阳能组件是一个既实惠又可行的选择。已经有日本、台湾、越南、新加坡和其他地方的代表团来学习该项目，而制造商阳光电源则准备授权在海外出售相关技术。
China is capitalizing on the leadership vacuum left after President Trump said last week that he would pull the United States out of the Paris accord to limit climate change.	中国正在利用特朗普总统上周表示将让美国退出遏制气候变化的《巴黎协定》后留下的领导真空。
China has already started an expensive campaign at home and abroad to solidify its considerable hold on solar, wind and other energy-saving businesses. If successful, China would win the economic and diplomatic spoils that the United States and some European countries have long enjoyed from dominating businesses like software, computer chips and airplanes.	中国已经在国内外开启了一场所费不赀的行动，以巩固其在太阳能、风能和其他节能领域已经不小的影响力。如果成功了，中国就能赢得美国和一些欧洲国家长期主宰软件、计算机芯片和飞机等行业带来的那种经济和外交利益。
China's sway will be on display in Beijing this week at the Clean Energy Ministerial, a gathering of top energy officials from two dozen countries and the European Union that represent producers of three-quarters of the world's greenhouse gas emissions. While the United States will be there, its representatives reflect the country's deep split. Energy Secretary Rick Perry, an enthusiastic supporter of fossil fuel industries, will attend, along with Gov. Jerry Brown of California, a vocal supporter of renewable energy.	中国的影响力将在本周北京举行的清洁能源部长级会议(Clean Energy Ministerial)上得到体现。届时，将有二十多个国家和欧盟的高级能源官员出席会议，它们代表着全球四分之三的温室气体排放的制造者。尽管美国也会参会，但它的代表体现了美国的深刻分歧。热情支持化石燃料行业的能源部长里克·佩里(Rick Perry)和大力支持可再生能源的加利福尼亚州州长杰里·布朗(Jerry Brown)将一同出席会议。
China is an unlikely champion in fighting climate change. The country is the world's largest polluter, and its problems could grow as people buy more cars and use more power. It remains deeply dependent on coal, an especially dirty source of power.	谁会想到，在对抗气候变化的行动中，中国将成为倡导者。中国是全球最大的污染制造国，并且随着民众的购车和用电需求增加，它的问题可能还会加剧。中国依然严重依赖煤炭，这是一种污染特别严重的能源。

And the race in renewables hasn't been won. The United States and European Union accuse Beijing of unfairly subsidizing its green industries and have raised trade barriers against Chinese-made goods. American companies and local governments are set to continue their clean-energy push despite Mr. Trump's withdrawal from the Paris accord.	此外，中国还没有赢得可再生能源领域的竞赛。美国和欧洲指责北京补贴绿色产业的做法不公平，并对中国制造的商品提高了贸易壁垒。尽管特朗普宣布退出《巴黎协定》，但美国的公司和地方政府将继续推动清洁能源。
As with much in China, the clean-energy drive is much more about economic advantage, national security and political stability than an idealistic commitment to saving the earth.	与在中国的情况相类似，清洁能源行动更多是关乎经济优势、国家安全和政治稳定，而不是拯救地球的理想主义承诺。
The country's "Made in China 2025" program, the heart of Beijing's domestic industrial policy, calls for heavy spending on clean-energy research and development, as a way to bolster the economy. State-owned banks are pouring tens of billions of dollars each year into technologies like solar and wind along with energy conservation strategies like high-speed rail and subway lines.	该国的《中国制造 2025》计划——即北京的国内产业政策的核心——主张以大力投资于清洁能源研发作为提振经济的一个办法。国有银行每年都把数百亿美元资金洒向太阳能和风能等方面的技术，以及高铁和地铁等节能策略。
China's "One Belt, One Road" plan — a $1 trillion global offensive by President Xi Jinping to nurture economic and diplomatic ties through infrastructure building — is poised to bankroll clean-energy projects across Asia, including the Mideast; East Africa; and Eastern Europe. The projects give China an edge, pushing countries to buy from Chinese companies.	中国的“一带一路”计划——由习近平主席发动的的一项全球性攻势，总投资为 1 万亿美元，旨在通过基础设施建设培育经济和外交关系——已经做好了为包括中东在内的亚洲地区以及东非、东欧各地的清洁能源项目提供资金的准备。这些项目让中国有了优势，可以力促各国从中国公司采购。
China is already dominant in many low-carbon energy technologies. It produces two-thirds of the world's solar panels and nearly half of the wind turbines. China is also rapidly expanding its fleet of nuclear reactors and leads the world by far in hydroelectric power.	中国已经在很多低碳能源技术领域占据了主导地位。全世界三分之二的太阳能板和将近半数风力涡轮机都产自中国。另外，中国正快速增加其核电机组数量，而且截至目前，它是水力发电方面毋庸置疑的世界引领者。

"It's different from traditional energy, which is dominated by Western countries," said Li Tao, the technical director at JA Solar, the Chinese supplier of Sungrow's panels. "China has an opportunity to surpass Western countries in new energy."	"与以往不同，传统能源都是西方国家主导，"为阳光电源供应太阳能板的中国公司晶澳太阳能的技术总监李陶说，"新能源使中国有了弯道超车的机会。"
Choking pollution problems and worries that rising ocean levels could devastate coastal cities forced Beijing a decade ago to begin a campaign to find green solutions. Local governments provided land for nearly free, and state-owned banks handed out enormous loans at very low interest rates. Sometimes government agencies helped companies repay their loans.	令人难以忍受的污染问题，以及对于海平面不断上升可能会严重侵袭沿海城市的担忧，迫使北京在十年前着手开展寻求绿色解决方案的行动。地方政府提供几乎是免费的土地，国有银行以极低的利率发放大量贷款。有时政府机构还会帮企业还贷。
Coal is getting far less attention. While China is still building some coal-fired power plants, it has canceled plans for others. Many existing ones are running well below capacity.	煤炭所受的关注大不如前。中国仍在建设某些煤电厂，但它已经取消了另外一些煤电厂的建设规划。很多现有的煤电厂远远没有达到满负荷运转的水平。
"Coal is over," said Li Junfeng, a longtime renewable-energy official at the National Development and Reform Commission, China's top economic planning agency. "Every year, it will be gradually reduced, city by city."	"煤炭时代即将画上句号，"中国最高经济规划机构国家发改委的资深可再生能源官员李俊峰说。"每一年，一座城市接着一座城市，煤炭会被逐渐削减。"
China's green campaign is still in the early stages.	中国的绿色行动目前仍处于初级阶段。
The solar industry employs more than one million workers in everything from making panels for export to installing them domestically, though solar accounts for only 2 percent of its electricity needs. By contrast, China has four million coal miners to supply the power plants that generate 70 percent of the country's electricity.	其太阳能产业雇用了超过 100 万人来从事各种工作，从生产用于出口的太阳能板，到在国内安装太阳能板，不过太阳能发电只能满足中国电力总需求的 2%。相比之下，中国有 400 万个煤矿工人，他们开采燃煤，为电厂供应燃料，而那些电厂的发电量占该国电力总量的 70%。
But the clean-energy effort is already transforming coal country.	但发展清洁能源的努力已经让产煤区发生重大改变。

"This aboveground work is so much more pleasant than the hot air down in a coal mine," Mr. Yang said.	"井下很热，现在地面上的工作比井下舒服多了，"杨选成说。
Such solar efforts have put China at the leading edge of renewables.	此类发展太阳能的努力让中国处于可再生能源领域的前沿。
The United States and Japan invented many of the key technologies for solar panels over the past half century. But they were more cautious about building very large factories, fearing they would have to cut prices below cost to sell all the panels. Extremely cheap Chinese panels have driven dozens of Western companies out of business, including several more in recent months.	过去半个世纪里，美国和日本曾投资于太阳能板的很多关键技术。但它们对修建规模巨大的工厂持更为谨慎的态度，它们担心自己将不得不把价格降到成本之下，以便卖出所有太阳能板。极其廉价的中国太阳能板已经迫使不少西方企业关门歇业，其中包括近几个月来停业的几家。

Kushner Companies Seeking $250 Million to Pay Off Chinese Backers	为偿还中国投资者贷款，库什纳公司计划再融资
The real estate company owned by the family of Jared Kushner, son-in-law and senior adviser to President Trump, is seeking $250 million to pay off its partners and lenders in a Jersey City apartment tower financed by Chinese investors through a program criticized as offering United States visas for sale.	贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)是特朗普总统的女婿以及高级顾问，他家族旗下的房地产公司正在寻求 2.5 亿美元的融资，以便还钱给泽西城一座公寓大楼的合作伙伴和贷款人。该大楼的中国投资者是通过一个被批评为卖美国签证的计划进行的投资。
The family business, Kushner Companies, spent about $225 million to build the luxury high-rise building, called Trump Bay Street. The 53-story tower, which opened last year, features such amenities as a poker room and an outdoor swimming pool with views of Manhattan.	这个家族企业名为库什纳公司(Kushner Companies)，它耗资约 2.25 亿美元建造了这栋名为特朗普湾街(Trump Bay Street)的豪华高层建筑。这座 53 层高的楼已经于去年开盘，它设有扑克室和一个可以看到曼哈顿的室外游泳池。
The project was financed with some $190 million in loans, including $50 million through what is known as the EB-5 visa program. That program gives foreign investors preferential treatment in obtaining permanent residency, in exchange for investments of at least $500,000 in American development projects.	该项目获得了约 1.9 亿美元贷款，其中包括通过 EB-5 签证计划获得的 5000 万美元贷款。参加这个计划的外国投资者在美国的开发项目中投入至少 50 万美元资金，就可以获得永久居留权的优惠待遇。
Kushner Companies must repay a $140 million construction loan from CIT Group, which is due in September. It also wants to pay off its EB-5 loans, which are entirely from Chinese investors, although they are not due for several years.	库什纳公司必须在 9 月份到期前偿还美联信(CIT Group)1.4 亿美元的建设贷款。它也希望偿还全部由中国投资者提供的 EB-5 贷款，尽管这些款项几年后才会到期。
A company spokesman confirmed that it was seeking a $250 million loan.	该公司的一名发言人证实，他们正在寻求 2.5 亿美元的贷款。
In preparation for his role as a White House adviser, Jared Kushner divested some of his stakes in the family business and other investments. He also resigned his position as chief executive of Kushner Companies, as well as the management positions he held in the	贾里德·库什纳在为担任白宫顾问的角色做准备时候，剥离了自己在家族企业和其他投资中的股份。他还辞去了库什纳公司首席执行官的职务，以及该公司用来开展项目的数百个实体中的管理职位。但是，根据他的政府伦理声明书，他保留了和该公司大部分项目的经济利益关系，其中包括泽西城这座位

A White House official has said Mr. Kushner shed his interests in projects expected to require large transactions with parties that had not yet been identified. U.S. Presses China to Free Activists Scrutinizing Ivanka Trump Shoe Factory	美国呼吁中国释放调查伊万卡鞋厂的活动人士
SHANGHAI — China faces growing pressure to release three labor activists detained for investigating conditions at factories that make Ivanka Trump’s shoe brand, as experts warned that the detentions could make it more difficult for other Western companies to take a clear look at the practices of their Chinese suppliers.	上海——对于释放三名因调查伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)的鞋履品牌生产厂商而遭关押的劳工活动人士，中国正面临着越来越大的压力。专家警告称，关押事件可能会令西方公司更难了解到中国供应商的常规做法。
Chinese officials on Tuesday dismissed a call from the United States to release the activists and grant them judicial protections and a fair trial. At a daily news briefing, Hua Chunying, a spokeswoman for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, said it was an internal Chinese matter.	中国官方周二对美方敦促其放人，为他们提供司法保护、进行公正审判的请求予以拒绝。在例行记者会上，中国外交部发言人华春莹称此事属于中国内政。
On Monday, Alicia Edwards, a deputy State Department spokeswoman, said that such labor activists can help American companies find abuses in the factories that make their products or parts. For companies, she said, finding those abuses “can be essential in fulfilling their own responsibilities and holding Chinese manufacturers accountable under Chinese labor laws.”	周一，美国国务院副发言人艾丽西亚·爱德华兹(Alicia Edwards)表示，这类劳工活动人士可以帮助美国公司发现为其生产产品或零部件的工厂所存在的虐待劳工问题。对公司而言，她说，发现这些问题“可能对履行它们自己的职责并根据中国的劳动法追究中国生产厂商的责任至关重要”。
That statement echoed the views of experts on how foreign businesses use China’s vast numbers of factories to make their products. While activists in general are commonly detained in China, labor experts say that this represents the first time that China has held undercover labor activists looking at the supply chains of Western companies. Their	此番声明与一些专家在外国企业如何用中国数量繁多的工厂制造产品的观点一致。尽管总体上活动人士遭关押在中国是常有的事，但劳工专家称，这是中国首次关押调查西方公司供应链的卧底劳工活动人士。他们说，相关人士继续被关押可能会削弱自以为能够查明供应商真实情况的公司的信心。

continued detention, they said, could erode the confidence of companies that they can find out what is really happening among their suppliers.
"To the extent that a brand will only purchase items that it is confident were produced free of labor abuse, limitations on independent monitors present a serious obstacle to doing business in a jurisdiction," said Aaron Halegua, a research fellow at New York University's Center for Labor and Employment Law,	"鉴于品牌只会采购它相信成产过程中没有虐待劳工现象的产品，对独立观察员的限制严重阻碍了在一个管辖区域内做生意，"纽约大学劳工与就业法中心(Center for Labor and Employment Law)的研究员阿伦·阿莱加(Aaron Halegua)说。
It is not clear why the three labor activists, who were working for an activist group called China Labor Watch, were detained while others were not, or whether the connection to President Trump's daughter played a role. Still, Ms. Trump's involvement complicates what might otherwise have been a more-or-less routine call from the United States for China to improve its human rights practices.	尚不清楚为何只有这三名为中国劳工观察工作的活动人士被关押而其他人没有，以及与特朗普总统之女有关这一点是否与此事有关。但涉及伊万卡·特朗普这一点让情况变得复杂起来，美国原本多少只是例行公事地呼吁中国改善其人权状况。
For the activists, it could also offer a potential way out. If Ms. Trump called for their release, said Jerome Cohen, the faculty director of New York University's U.S.-Asia Law Institute, they could quickly win their freedom or better treatment.	对相关活动人士来说，这可能提供了一条潜在的出路。如果伊万卡·特朗普呼吁中国释放他们，纽约大学美国-亚洲法律研究所(U.S.-Asia Law Institute)所长孔杰荣(Jerome Cohen)说，他们可能很快就获得自由或受到更好的对待。
"There is no doubt that a statement by the Ivanka Trump organization, expressing deep concern over the detention of labor activists striving to improve working conditions, would be helpful to their situation," said Mr. Cohen, an influential academic since the 1960s on China's legal system. "It alone might bring about their release."	"毋庸置疑，如果伊万卡·特朗普的机构发表声明，对争取改善工作条件的劳工活动人士被关押一事表示深切关注，会对他们的处境有帮助，"身为学者的孔荣杰说。从60年代开始，他便在中国的法律制度研究领域颇具影响力。"也许单凭这个举动就能促成他们的获释。"

Hours after the statement from the United States, a lawyer for one of the activists was allowed to hold a 90-minute lunchtime meeting with his client at a detention center in Ganzhou in southern China. The lawyer, Wen Yu, said he had previously been turned away twice in attempts to meet his client, Hua Haifeng.	在美国发布前述声明几小时后，其中一名活动人士的代理律师获准于午饭时间，在位于中国南方的赣州某拘留所同他的当事人进行了90分钟的会面。这个名叫闻宇的律师说，他之前曾设法面见自己的当事人华海峰，但两次被拒。

China Labor Watch said the detentions marked the first time in its 17 years of operation, including hundreds of investigations, that any of its undercover activists had been detained. Alibaba Predicts Strong Sales in a Sign of Strength From China	阿里巴巴预报公司营收强劲增长
The Alibaba Group signaled on Thursday that for all the global worries about China's rising debt and bloated state industries, its economy still enjoys a strong pillar of support: online shoppers.	阿里巴巴集团周四发出的信号表明,尽管全球有着对中国债务攀升、国有行业臃肿的担忧,但中国经济仍有一个强大的支柱:在线购物者。
Alibaba, the Chinese e-commerce giant, said Thursday during an investor conference that it expected revenue for its current fiscal year to grow at a much higher rate than analysts had forecast. It cited expectations for growing sales volumes on its online marketplaces and, even more strongly, surging demand by merchants for its digital ad space.	中国电子商务巨头阿里巴巴在周四的投资者日大会上说,公司预测本财年的营收增幅将高于分析师的预期。公司给出的理由包括对其在线市场销售额增长的预期,以及商家对其数字广告空间需求的激增。
Alibaba's shares, which trade in New York, surged nearly 12 percent in premarket trading early Thursday, continuing a run that has taken them to their highest levels since the Chinese company raised $25 billion	阿里巴巴股票在纽约交易所周四上午开盘前上涨了近12%,继续了其上涨的趋势,有望让公司股票达到自三年前上市以来的最高值,公司三年前的首次公开募股筹资超过200亿美元,是当时全球最大的一笔。

three years ago in what was then the world's largest initial public offering.
Alibaba's forecast illustrates the power of China's vast and cutting-edge online culture. Though the government strictly controls political content and entertainment, China has evolved into the world's largest group of internet users who comfortably shop, transfer money, invest and even rent bicycles with the tap of a smartphone. Online shopping has been a bright spot as economists worry about China's rising corporate debt and overcapacity in its old-line industries like steel and glass.	阿里巴巴的预测显示了中国巨大且领先的在线文化的力量。虽然政府严格控制网上的政治内容和娱乐产品，但中国已发展成拥有世界上最大的互联网用户群体的市场，这些用户通过智能手机轻松地进行购物、转账、投资，甚至租自行车等交易。随着经济学家对中国企业债务攀升、中国的钢铁和玻璃等老行业产能过剩等问题表示担忧，网上购物一直是中国经济的亮点。
China's digital growth will not last forever, though, and even Alibaba's numbers show that China's online world cannot counter the laws of diminishing returns. Still, the ranks of China's online shoppers grew nearly 13 percent last year to a considerable 467 million, according to official statistics, showing the already vast market is still growing.	但中国数字经济的增长不会永远持续下去，就连阿里巴巴的数字也显示，中国的在线世界不能抗拒收益递减的规律。尽管如此，据官方统计，中国的网上购物人数去年仍增长了近13%，达到可观的4.67亿，显示出这个巨大的市场仍在增长。
Alibaba and its largest rival, a Chinese games-and-social-media conglomerate called Tencent Holdings, have seen their shares surge over the past year as they report strong profits that suggest Chinese consumers still have a desire to spend. Their rise mirrors the surge in shares in the biggest technology names in the United States, like Apple, Google and Facebook.	阿里巴巴及其最大竞争对手、中国的游戏和社交媒体集团“腾讯控股”，在过去一年中，随着公司发布强劲的盈利数字，两家公司股价均实现大涨，这些盈利数字意味着，中国消费者仍然有消费的意愿。阿里和腾讯股票的上涨也与美国最大的技术公司，比如苹果、谷歌和Facebook的市值激增同步。
During a speech at the conference, Alibaba's chief financial officer, Maggie Wu, said that the company expected revenue for the year that will end next March to grow between 45 percent and 49 percent. That is slightly down from the 56 percent growth the company registered in	阿里巴巴首席财务官武卫在投资者日大会上讲话时表示，公司预测，截止于明年3月底的2018财年营收将增长45%到49%。这与今年3月份结束的2017财年56%的营收增长相比略有下降。尽管如此，这个数字显示，公司预计在未来一年将继续保持快速的增长趋势。

fiscal year 2017, which ended in March. Still, it nonetheless shows the company is expecting to keep growing at a fast pace in the coming year.
Although Alibaba is China's largest e-commerce company, it does not directly sell the goods on its websites. Instead, it provides marketplaces where anyone from small village dwellers to big global brands can set up online shops and sell to Chinese customers. To reach those customers, Alibaba also offers online advertising space.	虽然阿里巴巴是中国最大的电子商务公司，但它并不直接在网站上销售商品。阿里的做法是提供交易平台，让所有的人，从小村庄居民到大型全球品牌的经营者，都能在其平台上建立在线商店，向中国客户进行销售。为了招揽消费者，阿里巴巴也为公司提供在线广告空间。
That space is looking increasingly valuable.	这个空间看起来越来越值钱。
During her speech, Ms. Wu said the company got about 60 percent of its revenue from its Alimama advertising platform, which works as an auction site on which Alibaba's many vendors can bid for advertising space on its sites. On that platform the price for ads has been rising as a result of market forces, Ms. Wu said.	武卫在讲话中表示，公司收入的约60%来自其阿里妈妈广告平台，该平台是一个拍卖网站，阿里巴巴的许多供应商可在其上投标购买广告空间。武卫说，由于市场的力量，该平台上的广告价格一直在上升。
At times in the past, Alibaba's merchants, many of which are small businesses that duke it out with other small sellers on the company's Taobao marketplace, have complained about increases in what the company would charge for promotions. Such criticism even led to several protests at the company's offices.	过去曾出现过来自阿里巴巴商家的抱怨，这些商家中很多是小公司，它们在阿里的淘宝网站上与其他小卖主相互竞争。商家曾抱怨阿里收取的广告费不断增长，这种批评甚至还引发了公司办公楼前的几次抗议活动。
Still, the pricing of online ad space in China has long lagged behind what it can cost in more developed markets in Europe and the United States. Alibaba's high revenue growth target shows that gap may be starting to close, which is good news for a company that is in essence an advertising company.	尽管如此，中国在线广告空间的定价，与欧洲和美国等更发达的市场相比长期以来偏低。阿里巴巴的高营收增长目标表明，这种差距可能在开始缩小，对一家本质上属于广告行业的公司来说，是个好消息。
"We're not holding a gun to merchants' heads to make revenue grow,"	"我们增加收入不是靠用枪对着商家的头，"武卫说。

Ms. Wu said.
"It's all determined by merchants," she said. "They bid for every single click."	"所有的决定都是商家自己做的,"她说。"他们在为每个点击竞价。"
The big revenue growth target is important because investors have been concerned about the slowdown in the total value of the merchandise Alibaba sells on its online platforms. That figure, which Alibaba calls gross merchandise value, grew 22 percent in 2017, a figure smaller than what the company had posted in recent years.	大的营收增长目标很重要,因为投资者已对阿里巴巴在其在线平台上销售的商品总价值增长的放缓表示担忧。阿里巴巴称之为全年商品交易额,2017财年的全年商品交易额增长了22%,低于公司近年来宣布的数字。

Apple Customer Data in China Was Sold Illegally, Police Say	苹果顾客信息在中国遭非法泄露售卖
To Apple's mounting problems in China, add official scrutiny over privacy.	苹果在中国遇到的问题越来越多,现在它的隐私问题又遭到了正式审查。
The Chinese police said this week that they had arrested 22 people suspected of selling the personal data of an unspecified number of Apple customers. The police, in Cangnan County in the eastern province of Zhejiang, said the thieves had reaped 50 million renminbi, or about $7.3 million, over an unspecified period.	中国警方本周表示(编注:本文英文版发表于6月9日),他们逮捕了22名出售苹果客户个人资料(数量未作披露)的嫌疑人。在东部省份浙江省的苍南县,警方表示,这些窃贼在某段未详细指明的时期里牟利人民币5000万,约合美元730万。
Many of the details were unclear, including the identities of those involved and the severity of the breach.	这个案件中的许多细节尚不清楚,比如涉案人员的身份以及损害的严重程度等。
In a statement on Wednesday, the Cangnan police said they found that Apple employees had illegally acquired personal data, then later in the same statement said 20 of the 22 people worked for companies that sell Apple products or are Apple contractors. The police did not disclose information about the other two people. In China, Apple's products are	苍南警方在周三的一份声明中说,他们发现有苹果员工非法获得了顾客个人资料,还说涉嫌的22人中有20人在销售苹果产品的公司或者是在苹果的承包商工作。警方并没有透露另外两人的信息。在中国,除了官方的苹果商店之外,苹果产品还有很多其他的销售渠道,比如电子产品连锁店和商场里的小铺位。

sold broadly, in electronics chain stores and small booths in shopping malls in addition to the company's official Apple Stores.
The Cangnan police also said the data included the names, Apple identification numbers and phone numbers of Apple users. They did not say whether passwords or financial information like credit card numbers were involved, which would suggest the thieves had access to internal Apple data and would make the breach more serious.	苍南警方还表示，这些数据包括苹果用户的名字、苹果识别号码，以及电话号码。他们没有提到是否其中涉及密码或财务信息（如信用卡号码），那些数据意味着盗贼有访问苹果内部数据的权限，可能会带来更严重的后果。
The arrests are part of a set of broader difficulties in China for Apple, which is based in Cupertino, Calif. Sales of iPhones, still a sign of middle-class aspiration in China, have slowed, according to analysts, as the public waits for new models and as Chinese manufacturers of cheaper phones step up their quality and marketing.	逮捕这些人是总部位于加州库比蒂诺(Cupertino)的苹果公司在中国遇到的一系列麻烦之一。分析人士表示，随着公众对新机型发布的期待，以及本土制造商价格较低的手机在品质上的提升和营销攻势的加强，在中国依旧象征着中产志向的 iPhone 在销售上已经放缓。
Apple has also faced new scrutiny from the government on other fronts. Last year its movie and book services were shut down in China.	苹果在其他方面也面临着新的政府审查。去年，苹果的电影和图书服务在中国被关闭。
Still, Apple may simply be caught up in a wider rising of concern over privacy in China.	还有，苹果恐怕陷入了在中国引发广泛关注的隐私问题。
Few people in China expect the country's authoritarian central government to stay out of their business. Between widespread malware campaigns and a large number of new internet users, China has become a playground for internet fraudsters. Last year, China tried 361 criminal cases involving violation of personal data, up from 176 in 2015, said Xie Yongjiang, associate director for the	随着恶意软件攻击的泛滥和新网民的增加，中国已成为互联网欺诈者的乐园。北京邮电大学互联网治理与法律研究中心副主任谢永江表示，涉嫌侵犯个人资料的犯罪案件从 2015 年的 176 起增加到了去年的 361 起。

Institute of Internet Governance and Law at the Beijing University of Posts and Telecommunications.
"It is very common. Every one of us can feel it," Mr. Xie said. "For example, after your child is born at a hospital, someone will phone you and ask if you need baby products. When your child turns 3, someone will phone you and ask if your child would go to their nursery school. When your child reaches primary school age, someone will phone you to ask if you need training services."	"非常的普遍，从每个人的感受你就知道，"谢永江说。"比如说你孩子在医院出生，过段时间就会有人打电话给你，问你要不要婴儿用品。你孩子三岁的时候就开始打电话问你要不要托管。上小学就开始问你要不要培训。"
"You have no idea who exposed your personal data," he added.	"从个体你很难知道这些信息从哪儿流出来的，"他说。
The problem is not new. In one incident reported in the Chinese news media just this week, an employee of a Shanghai delivery company was recently arrested on suspicion of selling clients' personal data.	这个问题不是什么新鲜事。本周中国的新闻媒体还报道了上海某快递公司的一名员工最近因涉嫌出售客户个人资料而遭到逮捕。
Other examples abound. An apparent trove of login information leaked onto the Chinese internet was used to hack more than 20 million accounts on Alibaba's e-commerce site Taobao, according to news reports. Alibaba said that its security systems had not been breached and that it had worked with the police to quickly catch the perpetrators.	这样的例子比比皆是。据媒体报道，似乎是由于一批登录信息在中国的网络上遭到泄露，导致阿里巴巴的电子商务网站淘宝网的2000多万个帐号被黑。阿里巴巴说其安全系统没有遭到破坏，该公司已与警方展开合作，以便迅速将肇事者缉拿归案。
In another example, China News Service, a state-run news agency, reported late last year that login information and other personal data from accounts associated with the Chinese e-commerce site JD.com were exposed in 2013 as part of a security problem. JD.com said it had quickly fixed the issue.	另一个例子是，根据官方通讯社中国新闻社去年年底的报道，在2013年，与中国电子商务网站京东有关的帐户登录信息和其他个人数据曾因一个安全问题遭到外泄。京东表示已经迅速修复了这个问题。
The problem is not even new to Apple. Last year, 10 employees of an Apple contractor in China were also found with data from more than 80,000 users.	这个问题甚至对于苹果公司来说都算不上新鲜事。去年，苹果在中国某承包商的10名员工盗取了8万多用户的数据。

Culture Clash at a Chinese-Owned Plant in Ohio	中国工厂遇到了美国工会
MORaine, Ohio — When a giant Chinese glassmaker arrived here in 2014 and began spending what would become more than a half-billion dollars to fix up an abandoned General Motors plant, it seemed like a tale from opposite land: The Chinese are supposedly stealing American jobs — as no less an authority than President Trump has pointed out.	俄亥俄州莫雷恩——中国的一家大型玻璃制造商在 2014 年来到这里，开始花费最终逾 5 亿美元的资金，对一座废弃的通用汽车厂进行整修，这件事情似乎有悖常情：按照特朗普总统那种权威的说法，中国人是在偷走美国的工作岗位。
But now the Chinese were suddenly creating them. More than 1,500 jobs, in fact.	但现在中国人突然一下子创造了工作岗位。事实上，创造了 1500 多个工作岗位。
The Chinese company, Fuyao Glass Industry Group, decided the money was worth spending in this Dayton suburb to be close to its key customers, the big American-based automakers that buy millions of windshields each year.	这家名叫福耀集团的中国企业认为，在代顿(Dayton)郊区花这笔钱是值得的，因为这里靠近它的主要客户，美国大型汽车制造商每年都会购买数以百万计的挡风玻璃。
And it was not alone.	而且这还不是孤例。
From 2000 to the first quarter of this year, the Chinese have invested almost $120 billion in the United States, according to the Rhodium Group, which tracks these flows. Nearly half of that amount has come since early 2016, making China one of this country's largest sources of foreign direct investment during that time.	据荣鼎咨询(Rhodium Group)的数据，从 2000 年至今年第一季度，中国在美国投资了近 1200 亿美元；这家咨询公司一直在追踪该趋势。其中将近一半的投资是从 2016 年初开始的，中国因此在那段时间成为了美国最大的外国直接投资来源之一。
But with the explosion of investment has come unexpected trouble. At Fuyao, a major culture clash is playing out on the factory floor, with some workers questioning the company's commitment to operating under American supervision and American norms.	但是爆炸式的投资也带来了出人意料的麻烦。在福耀的车间里，已经出现了很大的文化冲突，一些工人质疑该公司是否真地想按照美式监督和美国标准来经营。

The investment has even prompted hand-wringing in China, where comments by the company's chairman, a self-made billionaire named Cao Dewang, stirred a debate over the country's competitiveness. "Cao Dewang behaved like a traitor," wrote one person on Weibo, the popular Chinese microblogging site. "You set up a factory in the U.S. to solve employment there."	这项投资甚至在中国国内也引发了抨击, 该公司董事长曹德旺是一个白手起家的亿万富翁, 他的一些言论引发了人们对中国竞争力的争论。“曹德旺汉奸行径,” 中文微博网站的一个用户写道。“跑去美国办厂, 解决美国人就业。”
Solving employment is, of course, the promise that Mr. Trump rode to office. Since his victory, foreign companies like Bayer, SoftBank and Infosys have moved to align themselves with that goal — and avoid an America-first backlash — by promoting plans for thousands of United States-based jobs. But the experience of the Fuyao plant shows the potential pitfalls along the way.	当然, 解决就业是特朗普上任时的承诺。自他胜选以来, 像拜耳(Bayer)、软银(SoftBank)和印孚瑟斯(Infosys)这样的外国公司已经宣布了要在美国创造数以千计的工作岗位的计划, 此举既贴近特朗普的目标, 又能避免“美国优先”的反弹。但是, 福耀工厂的情况则揭示了在这个过程中一个潜在陷阱。

An employee named Lisa Connolly complained that Fuyao disciplined workers for absences if they didn't request their paid time off far enough in advance, while a former employee named James Martin said the company had exposed him to harsh chemicals that blistered his arms and diminished his lung capacity. In November, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration fined Fuyao more than $225,000 for violations such as insufficient access to locks that shut down power to a machine when workers fix or maintain it. Such lapses are common in the brutally competitive auto parts industry, said David Michaels, a professor at George Washington University who headed OSHA until January, but they can easily lead to amputation or even death.	去年 11 月，联邦职业安全与卫生署（Occupational Safety and Health Administration，简称 OSHA）对福耀的一些违规行为处以了逾 22.5 万美元的罚款，比如没有足够好的锁定机制，以在工人修理或保养设备时，关闭机器电源。在今年 1 月份之前担任 OSHA 负责人的乔治华盛顿大学教授戴维·迈克尔斯(David Michaels)表示，这种失误在竞争激烈的汽车零部件行业中很常见，它很容易导致断肢甚至死亡事故。
The company reached an agreement in March that reduced the amount to $100,000 and required corrective measures.	该公司在 3 月份达成协议，将罚款金额减至 10 万美元，并采取纠正措施。
Eric Vanetti, the vice president for human resources, conceded an element of turmoil at the plant late last year. In 2014, a Chinese copper tube maker called Golden Dragon opened a plant in Wilcox County, Ala., to Fuyao-esque fanfare, investing more than $100 million to create an anticipated 300 local jobs. By the end of the year, amid complaints about lax safety and low wages, workers narrowly voted to unionize.	2014年,一个名叫金龙的中国铜管制造公司在阿拉巴马州威尔科克斯县开了一个工厂。它像福耀一样受到了热烈欢迎,因为它投资了1亿多美元,有望为当地创造300个工作机会。到该年年底,工人们抱怨安全措施松懈,工资低,以微弱多数同意组织工会。
At Fuyao, workers say there have been safety improvements, though some cite continuing problems. One employee, DeAnn Wilson, complained that her area lacks proper ventilation even though she works around machines that emit smoke. In an interview in Beijing, Mr. Cao said he had replaced Mr. Burrows and Mr. Gauthier because "they didn't do their jobs but squandered my money." He lamented that productivity at the plant "is not as high as we have in China," adding that "some of the workers are just idling around."	曹德旺在北京接受采访时表示，他解雇伯罗斯和高蒂尔是因为“他们不尽职，浪费我的钱”。他叹息称，该工厂的生产力“没有我们在中国的工厂高”，还说“有些工人是在消磨时间”。

To some extent, cultural norms may explain the tensions.	从一定程度上讲，文化规范可以解释这些矛盾。
Mary Gallagher, who directs the Lieberthal-Rogel Center for Chinese Studies at the University of Michigan, said entrepreneurs like Mr. Cao often populate their factories with migrants from rural areas, whom they expect to be relatively submissive, unlike American workers, who expect a more collegial management style. "He hasn't ever had probably this type of pressure from a work force," she said.	密歇根大学(University of Michigan)的利伯索尔-罗杰尔中国研究中心(Lieberthal-Rogel Center for Chinese Studies)主任玛丽·加拉格尔(Mary Gallagher)表示，曹德旺这样的企业家通常会雇佣农民工在自己的工厂里工作，他们认为那些人比较顺从，与美国工人不同，后者期望更友好平等的管理风格。“他之前很可能从未经受过来自劳方的这种压力，”她说。
Workers at the Fuyao plant say Chinese managers seem to elevate production goals above all else. When employees have trouble with equipment and ask to shut it down, said Nicholas Tannenbaum, a Fuyao worker who was fired in late May, "the Chinese look at us and say, 'No need.'"	福耀工厂的工人表示，中国的经理似乎把提高产量看得比其他任何东西都更重要。福耀的工人尼古拉斯·坦嫩鲍姆(Nicholas Tannenbaum)表示，当员工认为设备有问题，要求关闭时，“那个中国人看了看我们，说，‘没有必要。’”5月底，坦嫩鲍姆被解雇了。
"They're jumping on moving conveyors to fix it as the line is running," he added.	“生产线还在运行，他们就跳上移动的传送带，去修理它，”他还说。
Mr. Vanetti, the head of human resources, said the company had not sacrificed safety to meet production targets. But he conceded that "the fundamental difference between Chinese and Americans is that the	人力资源总监瓦内蒂表示，该公司并没有为了实现生产目标而牺牲安全。但他承认，“中国人和美国人之间的根本区别在于，中国人偏重速度，美国人喜欢分析事情，从各个角度把它想清楚。”

Chinese have a bias toward speed; Americans like to process things, think it through from all angles.”
Mr. Vanetti said that Fuyao remained committed to its original four-to-five-year timetable for handing the plant to a predominantly American management corps, and that it recently hired two more American vice presidents.	瓦内蒂表示，福耀依然坚持原来的计划，打算在四五年内把工厂交给一个以美国管理人员为主的团队打理。前不久，它又雇佣了两名美国副总裁。

Chairman of Chinese Firm Who Tried to Forge Ties With Jared Kushner Is Detained	安邦董事长吴小晖被警方拘留
The chairman of a Chinese financial conglomerate who tried to forge a business relationship with President Trump’s son-in-law has been detained by police.	试图与特朗普总统的女婿建立业务关系的一家中国金融集团的董事长被警方拘留。
Wu Xiaohui, the chairman of Anbang Insurance Group, was taken away by the police on Friday in Beijing, according to Caijing, a respected newsmagazine. Trump Adds More Trademarks in China	特朗普在中国继续获批新商标
BEIJING — President Trump is poised to add six new trademarks to his expanding portfolio in China, in sectors including veterinary services and construction, potentially renewing concerns about his possible conflicts of interest.	北京——特朗普总统在中国拥有的商标越来越多，这次又将新增六个商标，涉及兽医服务和建筑等领域，此事可能会再次引起人们对其潜在利益冲突的关注。
The latest trademarks expand Mr. Trump's business interests in China, the world's second-largest economy and a country he frequently blamed during the election campaign for the decline in American industrial jobs. Since taking office, he has softened that rhetoric.	这些新增商标扩大了特朗普在中国这个全球第二大经济体的商业利益；特朗普在竞选期间曾把美国工作岗位的减少频频怪罪到中国头上。但上任之后，他已经软化了这种说法。
He has nevertheless continued to receive approval in China for new trademarks. The country's trademark office gave the president preliminary approval for six trademarks on June 6, according to the agency's website.	无论如何，他在中国继续有新商标获批。中国商标局的网站显示，他们于6月6日初步批准了特朗普的六个商标。
Under Chinese law, a trademark with preliminary approval is formally registered after three months if the agency receives no objections. If granted, the trademarks could allow Mr. Trump to expand his business interests in scientific and technological services, construction projects and medical and veterinary services.	根据中国法律，如果该机构没有收到反对意见，初步批准的商标三个月后就正式注册。如果这些商标注册成功，特朗普就可以扩大其在科技服务、建筑项目和兽医服务领域的商业利益。
Mr. Trump applied for the trademarks in April 2016, the same month that, as a presidential candidate, he accused Beijing of launching an "economic assault" against the United States. Since then, Mr. Trump has eased up, particularly after meeting with Chinese President Xi Jinping in	特朗普是在2016年4月申请的这些商标，同月，他作为总统候选人指责北京对美国发起“经济攻击”。之后，他的这种态度有所缓和，尤其是在今年4月与中国国家主席习近平会面之后。

April of this year.
As a businessman, Mr. Trump made money by licensing the use of his name on an array of products around the world.	作为商人, 特朗普赚钱的方式之一是把他的名字授权给世界各地的多种产品使用。
He now has at least 123 registered and provisionally approved trademarks in China. Of those, four are registered under DTTM Operations – a holding company – while the rest are registered under his name.	在中国, 他现在至少已经有 123 个注册和获得临时批准的商标。其中四个是在控股公司 DTTM Operations 名下, 其余则是在他的名下。
The latest set of preliminary approvals comes a month after China's trademark office gave Mr. Trump one preliminary trademark for providing catering services, and four to his daughter Ivanka through her trademarking business.	中国商标局初步批准这批新商标的一个月前, 还初步批准了特朗普的一个餐饮服务商标, 以及他女儿伊万卡的四个商标——通过她的商标业务公司。
It is unclear how Mr. Trump plans to use his trademarks. He does not have any businesses in China and the Trump Organization has said it will not do any further international deals. The president's two adult sons now run the business.	特朗普打算如何使用这些商标目前还不清楚。他在中国没有任何业务, 特朗普集团(Trump Organization)表示不会再开展任何国际交易。公司的业务现在由特朗普的两个成年儿子打理。
"All of our marks in China are registered to an affiliate of the Trump Organization and have nothing whatsoever to do with Mr. Trump," Alan Garten, executive vice president and chief legal officer at the Trump Organization, said in an email.	特朗普集团的执行副总裁兼首席法律顾问阿兰·加腾(Alan Garten)在一封电邮中表示:“我们在中国的所有商标都注册在特朗普集团的一个附属机构下, 与特朗普本人无关。”
For Mr. Trump, obtaining trademarks in China could allow him to license his name in the country, potentially giving him a new source of income. It also protects his brand name in a country that is known for counterfeiters.	对于特朗普来说, 在中国获得商标之后, 也许就可以在该国授权使用他的名字了, 这可能会令他获得一个新的收入来源。而且这也可以在一个以仿冒闻名的国家里保护他的品牌名称。
In China, many celebrities and foreign companies pre-emptively file for trademarks in a wide range of sectors to prevent expensive and	很多名人和外国公司都会在中国对商标进行多个行业的预防性注册, 因为有些“商标抢占者”会恶意注册知名品牌, 和这些人打官司既费钱又耗时。 time-consuming lawsuits against “trademark squatters” — people who register the names of widely known brands in bad faith.

In Mr. Trump’s case, leather goods, toilets and cosmetics bearing the Trump name but trademarked by others have been spotted being sold around China.	就特朗普的情况来说，一些在中国境内销售的皮革制品、马桶和化妆品带有特朗普的名字，但商标是由其他人注册的。
Unlike trademarks in the United States, trademarks in China are generally awarded to those who are first to file with the government, and applicants do not have to give a reason for filing.	中国的商标注册机制与美国不同，获得批准的通常是那些最先向政府提交申请者，申请人也不必提出申请理由。
Because of this, Mr. Garten said that since 2006, “the Trump Organization has been forced to build its trademark portfolio in China to protect its brand and overall intellectual property rights from third-party infringers.”	因此，加腾说，自 2006 年以来，特朗普集团不得不在中国申请了一些商标，以保护其品牌和整体知识产权免受第三方侵权者的侵害。
The news of Mr. Trump’s new preliminary trademarks in China will give further ammunition to his critics, who allege that his business interests violate the emoluments clause in the United States Constitution that bars presidents from taking gifts or payments from foreign governments.	对特朗普的批评者来说，特朗普在中国又有新商标获得初步批准的消息无异于新的弹药，他们说特朗普的商业利益违反美国宪法的薪酬条款——该条款禁止总统从外国政府收取礼品或款项。
On Monday, the Democratic attorneys general of Maryland and the District of Columbia filed a lawsuit claiming that the president’s failure to shed his businesses has undermined public trust and violated constitutional bans against self-dealing.	周一，马里兰州和哥伦比亚特区民主党检察长提起诉讼，声称总统未能从生意中脱身，辜负了公众的信任，违反了禁止自利交易的宪法条款。

Why Did China Detain Anbang’s Chairman? He Tested a Lot of Limits.	吴小晖事件背后，安邦触碰了太多禁忌
HONG KONG — Ever since Anbang Insurance Group bought the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York nearly three years ago, the politically	香港——自从安邦保险集团在不到三年前买下了纽约的华尔道夫酒店之后，这家政治人脉深厚的公司就一直在检验着中国工商界大都不成文的规则，公

Now, with the detention by police of Anbang's chairman, the biggest question is which potential transgression may have spurred Beijing to crack down.	如今，随着安邦董事长被警方拘留，人们最大的疑问是，哪个潜在的越轨可能刺激了北京采取行动。
The chairman, Wu Xiaohui, has not been publicly accused of any wrongdoing, and the authorities in China sometimes detain financiers for questioning only to release them to resume their duties a few days later. Anbang said on its website on Wednesday only that Mr. Wu was temporarily unable to fulfill his duties as chairman for "personal reasons."	安邦董事长吴小晖还未被公开指责犯有任何不法行为。中国当局有时候会将金融人士拘留问讯，不过几天后他们就会恢复自由继续在公司任职。安邦周三在其网站上表示，吴小晖由于“个人原因”暂时无法履行董事长的职责。
Anbang embodies the contradictions of China's modern economy, with its potentially combustible mix of risk-taking capitalism and episodically draconian government control. Abroad, Anbang shocked Wall Street with its multibillion-dollar takeover efforts, even as Beijing moved to rein in deals. At home, it drew tens of billions of dollars from Chinese investors big and small looking for their own success stories — making it vulnerable at a time when Beijing is looking to limit potential financial explosions. And it played the fraught game of politics on both sides of the Pacific, including courting Jared Kushner, the son-in-law of President Trump.	安邦是中国现代经济中两个矛盾面的具体表现，一方面是敢冒风险的资本主义，另一方面是不定期的政府严厉控制，这两方面的搭配极不稳定。在国外，安邦数十亿美元的收购活动震惊了华尔街，而这正是在北京采取措施控制这种交易的时候。在国内，安邦从中国投资者手中吸收了数百亿美元的资金，这些大大小小的投资者们在追寻自己的成功梦想，这让北京在试图遏制潜在的金融危机时，让金融系统变得更加脆弱。安邦还涉足太平洋两岸充满风险的政治游戏，比如向特朗普总统的女婿贾里斯·库什纳(Jared Kushner)献殷勤。
On paper, the company appeared to be a quiet, conservative insurer. Yet Anbang tried late last year to invest in an office building partly owned by Mr. Kushner. The potential investment, which was never consummated, became controversial in the United States because of Mr. Kushner's role in setting China policies in the Trump administration, and exposed Beijing to accusations that it was trying to meddle in American politics. No Chinese bank stepped forward to play any role in a possible transaction.	然而，安邦在去年晚些时候试图投资库什纳部分拥有的一幢办公大楼。由于库什纳在特朗普政府中担负着制定中国政策方面的职责，这笔潜在的投资在美国引起了争议、并最终告吹，但这让北京受到指责，有人认为北京试图干预美国政治。没有一家中国银行自告奋勇要在这笔可能的交易中起任何作用。
Some analysts in China said that political considerations were likely to be the main reason that Beijing had detained Mr. Wu, pointing to a Communist Party meeting scheduled for late this year at which party officials are to consider changes in leadership. Anbang has a murky ownership structure that traces back to family and friends of Mr. Wu who live on apparently modest means, fueling speculation in China that other wealthy and powerful figures may be behind it.	中国的一些分析人士说，政治考虑可能是北京拘留吴小晖的主要原因，他们指出，共产党将在今年晚些时候召开代表大会，党的官员们将在大会上形成新的领导层。安邦的所有权结构也非常模糊，许多股权归吴小晖的家人和朋友拥有，这些人的生活水平明显不高，这在国内引起猜测，认为安邦背后有其他有钱有势的人物。

Anbang also pushed — and even defied — the government's often loosely defined limits on what Chinese insurers are allowed to do.	安邦也想逾越、甚至不顾政府对中国保险公司可以做什么制定的往往并不严格的界限。
The company was among a number of Chinese insurers unshackled by regulators earlier in the decade and allowed to invest in a wide range of areas. Anbang was among the most aggressive. After acquiring the Waldorf Astoria, it engaged in a number of high-profile global deal efforts, including an ultimately unsuccessful campaign to buy Starwood Hotels and Resorts Worldwide.	不到十年前，监管者解除了对几家中国保险公司的约束，允许它们在广泛的领域投资，安邦是这些公司之一，而且做法也最声势浩大。收购了华尔道夫酒店后，安邦参与了一系列的全球高调交易，包括最终落空的购买喜达屋酒店及度假村的努力。
That campaign continued even after the Shanghai stock market crashed in the summer of 2015, which prompted the Chinese government to begin stepping up its measures to discourage companies and individuals from taking large sums of money out of the country. Just last week came the disclosure that, starting in September, banks will be required to send daily reports to the government on every overseas credit card expenditure by their customers of more than 1,000 renminbi, or $147.	即使在上海股市 2015 年夏天崩溃后，安邦的收购活动也没有停止，股市的崩溃导致中国政府开始加大措施，遏制公司和个人把大笔资金转移到国外去。上周刚透露的消息说，从今年 9 月开始，银行必须每天向政府上报银行卡持卡人在海外的 1000 元以上人民币（约合 147 美元）的支出。
The effort also tested the rules set by Chinese insurance regulators, who say no insurer may put more than 15 percent of its assets overseas. According to Anbang's most recent financial disclosure this spring, nearly three-fifths of the assets of its main business, life insurance, were overseas. But the rule is poorly defined on crucial questions of how to compare overseas assets to an insurer's overall assets.	安邦的收购活动也是对中国保险监管机构规定的检验，监管机构规定，保险公司在海外的资产不得超过其总资产的 15%。据安邦今年春季公布的最新财务报告，安邦主要业务人寿保险的资产，近 60% 在海外。但是，上述规定在如何计算保险公司的海外资产和总资产等关键问题上定义不清。

Anbang has also argued that it did not depend on converting renminbi into foreign currencies to make its acquisitions, but has not explained how it was able to finance so many foreign deals without converting large sums.	安邦还辩称，它进行收购靠的不是将人民币兑换成外汇，但并未解释公司在不兑换大笔货币的情况下，如何为那么多笔国外交易提供资金。
To fund its investments, Anbang aggressively marketed what in China are called wealth management products. Wealth management products are often short-term investments that offer investors considerably higher rates of return than are paid on bank deposits. While they are often sold out of the offices of banks and securities brokerages, giving investors a sense of confidence, the money often goes off the balance sheets of banks and into murky and sometimes speculative investments.	为了给投资筹集资金，安邦极力推销国内所谓的理财产品。理财产品通常是短期投资，它们为投资者提供比银行存款利率高得多的回报率。虽然理财产品经常通过银行营业部和证券交易所出售，让投资者有一种信任感，但这些资金往往不出现在银行的资产负债表上，而是成为不明不白、而且有时是投机性质的投资。
Anbang's wealth management product sales contributed to eye-popping growth. In the six years through last December, the assets of Anbang's life insurance unit multiplied 2,876-fold, to $213 billion. Anbang also has a much smaller property and casualty insurance business.	安邦理财产品的销售给公司带来了令人瞩目的增长。在截至去年12月的六年中，安邦人寿保险部门的资产增加了2876倍，达到2130亿美元。安邦还有一个更小的从事财产保险业务的部门。
But wealth management products have drawn growing concern from regulators, who worry that they could fail and shake China's brittle financial system. Early last month, China's insurance commission banned Anbang from selling two of its investment products, one of them because it had been portrayed to regulators as a long-term investment when it was actually for two years. The other product had a regulatory filing that was missing the signature of an actuary.	但是，理财产品已经引起了监管机构越来越多的关注，监管者担心，这类产品可能会失败，从而在中国脆弱的金融体系中引发震荡。上月初，中国保险监管机构禁止安邦出售其投资产品中的两个，其中一个被禁的原因是，安邦将其描述为长期投资产品报给了保监会，但产品实际上是两年期投资。另一个被禁的原因是报给保监会的文件中没有精算师的签名。

After the detention of Mr. Wu, investors in Anbang wealth management products lit up social media starting on Tuesday night with questions about whether to leave their money with the company or to demand it back immediately, incurring significant penalties for early redemption.	吴小晖被拘留后，投资安邦理财产品的人们从周二晚间开始在社交媒体上活跃起来，他们讨论的问题是，把钱继续留在公司，还是要求公司立即退款，提早赎回会被征收高额罚款。

Anbang's Sales Dry Up in New Challenge for Chinese Insurers	安邦销售收入锐减，面临财务压力
HONG KONG — Anbang Insurance Group, whose chairman has been detained by the police, has seen its growth come to a screeching halt as Chinese investors who helped fund its meteoric rise prove skittish about a politically connected company that is no longer in Beijing's good graces.	香港——安邦集团董事长被警方拘捕，公司的增长遭遇急刹车。事实证明，给它提供资金助其快速崛起的中国投资者对一个不再承蒙北京恩宠、有政治关联的公司的支持是说变就变的。
Anbang's sales of life insurance policies and investment products, an important source of cash, stopped almost completely in April after tumbling sharply in March, according to Chinese government data released on Thursday. Across the insurance industry, sales slowed in April compared with earlier in the year.	中国政府周四发布的数据显示，继3月暴跌之后，安邦的人寿保险和投资产品销售在4月几乎完全停止，而这是公司一个重要的现金流来源。相比于今年初，整个保险行业在4月的销售增长都放慢了。
The weakness follows the government's crackdown on a sector that is supposed to help families and companies cut their financial risks, but	出现这种疲软状况，多少是因为政府对一个行业进行的打击，该行业本该帮助家庭和企业减少金融风险，但最近却成了猖獗的金融投机的中心。

has recently become a hub for rampant financial speculation.
China's anti-corruption officials announced in April that they were investigating the industry's top regulator, who was subsequently removed from his post. After that, regulators stepped up their enforcement.	今年4月，中国的反腐官员宣布，他们正在调查这个行业的最高监管者保监会主席，此人随后被解职。之后，监管机构加强了执法力度。
Anbang has been the archetype of the industry's changing favor.	安邦是这个行业风头变化的缩影。
For years, Anbang used its revenue to fund splashy global takeovers, most famously its 2015 purchase of New York's landmark Waldorf Astoria hotel. But its strategy tested the country's political and financial limits, amplifying scrutiny of the company.	数年来，安邦用公司收入大肆进行全球收购，其中最著名的是2015年收购纽约地标华尔道夫酒店(Waldorf Astoria)。但它的战略挑战了中国政治与金融的极限，政府加大了对该公司的审查力度。
Anbang's rise had been "just another example of the Wild West capitalism in Chinese finance, where people can go off and do whatever, no matter what their sectors are supposed to be doing," said David Zweig, the director of the Center on China's Transnational Relations at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology. "It starts out by providing a needed service in the economy, but these guys end up just going out of control."	安邦的崛起是“中国金融界又一个西部荒野资本主义发展的例子，在那里人们可以随心所欲，而不管所在行业本该做什么，”香港科技大学跨国关系研究中心主任崔大伟(David Zweig)说。“它以提供经济发展需要的一种服务为初衷，最终却失控了。”
Anbang is now under acute pressure. Its revenue from existing life insurance policies and certain wealth management products was down 88 percent in April compared with the same month the previous year. The rest of the industry was up 4.5 percent in the same period.	安邦现在处在紧急而巨大的压力之下。与去年同期相比，安邦今年4月从现有的人寿保险和一些理财产品获得的收入减少了88%。同一时期，业内其他企业的销售增长了4.5%。
The company's troubles reached a crescendo after Anbang's chairman, Wu Xiaohui, was detained. Mr. Wu has not publicly been charged with any wrongdoing nor is it clear why he was detained. The company has said repeatedly this week that other executives are filling in for Mr. Wu	在安邦集团的董事长吴小晖被拘之后，这家公司的麻烦达到了顶点。吴小晖之前不曾被公开指责犯有任何不法行为，目前也不清楚他为何被拘。安邦本周已经多次表示，其他高管将在吴小晖离开期间接替他的工作，公司依然在正常运转。

during his absence and that the business is still running.
Yet Anbang also has a big cushion to help sustain the company through tough times.	不过，安邦也有巨大的缓冲储备，可以帮助它度过这段艰难的时期。
From January through March of this year, Anbang raised three-fifths as much money as it raised all of last year, government data shows. It has maintained a large stockpile of cash after a series of big investments fell apart, including a $14 billion bid for Starwood Hotels and Resorts and a deal for a Manhattan office tower with Kushner Companies, the family real estate firm partly owned by Jared Kushner, the son-in-law of President Trump and an administration adviser.	政府数据显示，从今年1月至3月，安邦筹集了相当于去年全年五分之三的资金。而且它拥有大量的现金储备，因为此前有一系列巨额投资没能达成，其中包括以140亿美元竞购喜达屋酒店及度假村国际集团(Starwood Hotels and Resorts)的努力，以及从库什纳公司(Kushner Companies)购买一栋曼哈顿写字楼股份的交易——这家家族房地产企业部分由特朗普总统的女婿、政府顾问贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)拥有。
But Anbang's latest figures are eye-catching for the opposite reason. Including new kinds of policies and wealth management products, it took in only $218 million in April this year, down from $5.92 billion in the same month last year, the government data on Thursday showed.	但安邦最近引人注目，却是因为相反的原因。周四公布的政府数据显示，包括新的保险产品和理财产品在内，安邦在今年4月的收入只有2.18亿美元，相较于去年4月的59.2亿美元大幅减少。
Earlier investors are also getting nervous now. "If the government doesn't save us, the impact will be no less than the U.S. financial crisis, and those enterprises driven by debt will be involved," wrote one investor on Chinese social media. "Now, we are betting whether the government will help Anbang or not."	比较早期的投资者现在也开始感到不安。“如果国家撂挑子，那影响不亚于美国的两房，其他那些负债驱动资产的公司也全部影响，”其中一位投资者在中国的社交媒体上写道。“现在其实就是赌国家挺安邦。”
Investors' worries — a major source of Anbang's troubles — center on wealth management products, a potentially explosive risk in the country's financial system.	投资者的担忧——安邦麻烦的一个主要来源——集中在理财产品上，这在中国的金融系统中是一个有可能引发爆炸的风险。
Wealth management products offered much higher rates of return than bank deposits, with many providing guarantees. Investors have plowed trillions of dollars into the products, providing companies like Anbang	理财产品提供比银行存款高得多的利率，有许多提供了担保。投资者在这个领域砸下数万亿美元的资金，给安邦这样的企业提供了可以用来收购的现成资金。 with a ready source of cash for deals.

But companies rarely disclose how that money is invested, raising concerns about what could happen to the financial system if they sour. Fearing a source of instability among the masses, Beijing has moved to limit growth in the products.	但这些公司很少披露那些资金投到了哪里，让人担心如果它们变成坏账，整个金融系统会出现什么情况。因为担心它成为在民众中制造不稳定的源头，北京开始限制这类产品的增长。
In early May, Chinese insurance regulators ordered Anbang to stop selling two investment products. One, they said, was improperly marketed as long-term insurance while a crucial application for the other lacked an actuary's signature.	今年5月初，中国保险监管机构责令安邦停止销售两种投资产品。他们表示，其中一款被错误地当作长期保险产品销售，另一款产品的关键申请文件没有精算师的签字。
By that point, Anbang was already in trouble. Questions about Anbang's financial strength had begun circulating on social media in China in March and April, as Chinese officials publicly raised questions about sales of wealth management products by some insurers.	到那个时候，安邦已经陷入了麻烦。今年3月和4月，有关公司财务实力的质疑开始在中国的社交媒体上流传开来，中国官员也公开质疑一些保险公司推出的理财产品的销售情况。
If the drop in revenue is steep enough, Anbang could eventually be forced to liquidate some assets. A big factor will be what happens with its existing policies and investment products.	如果收入继续下跌，安邦最终可能不得不变卖部分资产。其中一个很大的影响因素是公司现有的保险和投资产品会怎么样。
Anbang's annual report provides little information on the monthly tempo at which its previously issued investments are maturing. The company might need to pay them out if they are not rolled over into further investments with the company. The company's policies do have very stiff penalties on early redemption to discourage holders from turning them in early for cash.	在安邦的年报中，几乎看不到体现公司之前发行的已到期投资月度成长情况的信息。如果它们不滚入对安邦的进一步投资，这家公司可能就需要拿钱出来。为防止持有者提前兑换现金，这家公司对提前赎回保单会施以严厉处罚。
Anbang could raise money by selling some of its investments, but that could take time.	安邦可以通过出售部分投资来筹集资金，但那需要时间。
It has been an active investor in Western hedge funds, in addition to	除了直接收购海外公司，安邦也是西方对冲基金的积极投资者。这些投资协

The Universal Phenomenon of Men Interrupting Women	女性的声音淹没在男人的世界
For women in business and beyond, it was an I-told-you-so day.	对于商界乃至其他行业的女性而言，那天发生的事并不陌生。
The twin spectacles Tuesday — an Uber board member's wisecrack about women talking too much, and Sen. Kamala Harris, D-Calif., being interrupted for the second time in a week by her male colleagues — triggered an outpouring of recognition and what has become almost ritual social-media outrage.	周二接连发生了两件被围观的事情——一位优步(Uber)董事会成员说了个俏皮话，挖苦女人话太多；还有加利福尼亚州民主党参议员卡玛拉·哈里斯(Kamala Harris)一周内第二次发言被男性同事打断——它们引发了大量感同身受的反响，近乎惯例地在社交媒体上激起了公愤。
Academic studies and countless anecdotes make it clear that being interrupted, talked over, shut down or penalized for speaking out is nearly a universal experience for women when they are outnumbered by men.	学术研究和无数事例清楚地表明，当男人在人数上超过女人时，女人经常会遭到打断、被高声压过、被制止，或是遭到惩罚，这几乎已经成为一种普遍的体验。
A few statistics show that the questions directed at Uber about how women fare in the workplace extend beyond one company, and indeed beyond Silicon Valley. Women make up 6.4 percent of Fortune 500 chief executive officers and 19.4 percent of Congress this year. About a fifth of board members in Fortune 500 companies in 2016 were women, according to research conducted by Deloitte and the Alliance for Board Diversity.	一些统计数据显示，这些女性在工作场所会遭遇的问题不止在优步才有，也超出了硅谷的范畴。今年，在财富500强公司的首席执行官中，女性占6.4%；在国会里，女议员占19.4%。根据德勤(Deloitte)和董事会多样性联盟(Alliance for Board Diversity)的研究，2016年财富500强公司的董事会成员中约有五分之一是女性。
After Arianna Huffington, an Uber director, spoke of how important it was to increase the number of women on the board, David Bonderman said that would mean more talking. He soon resigned from the board.	优步的一位董事阿里安娜·赫芬顿(Arianna Huffington)谈到在董事会中增加女性人数的重要性，戴维·邦德曼(David Bonderman)之后说，这意味着董事会里会有更多谈话。此后他很快就从董事会辞职了。然而，如数据显示，即

Even in companies without notorious bro-cultures, however, women have had to struggle to feel heard and, as the numbers make clear, to advance to the top.	使在那些不以兄弟情文化著称的公司中，为了能被提升到高层，女人也不得不拼命努力，好让自己的声音被听到。
"I think every woman who has any degree of power and those who don't know how it feels to experience what Kamala Harris experienced yesterday," said Laura R. Walker, the chief executive of New York Public Radio. "To be in a situation where you're trying to do your job and you're either cut off or ignored."	"我认为任何哪怕稍微掌握一点权力的女人，乃至那些从来不知道权力为何物的女人，都曾经体验过卡玛拉·哈里斯昨天的遭遇"。纽约公共广播电台首席执行官劳拉·R·沃克(Laura R. Walker)说。“你想做好自己的工作，但是要么被打断，要么被忽视了。”
Harris, a former prosecutor, assertively questioned Attorney General Jeff Sessions during his testimony before the Senate Intelligence Committee. Sen. John McCain, R-Ariz., interrupted and chided her to let Sessions answer her questions. Soon after that, Sen. Richard Burr, R-N.C., the committee chairman, cut her off, saying her time had elapsed.	哈里斯是一位前任检察官，在司法部长杰夫·塞申斯(Jeff Sessions)向参议院情报委员会作证期间，她向塞申斯提出明确质疑。亚利桑那州共和党参议员约翰·麦凯恩(John McCain)打断并申斥了她，才让塞申斯回答她的问题。不久后，委员会主席，北卡罗来纳州共和党参议员理查德·伯尔(Richard Burr)再次打断她，说她的提问时间已经用完了。
Women in a wide range of industries, at all levels, offered hundreds of such examples in response to an invitation from The New York Times for people to share their personal experiences on Facebook. "I can't even count the number of times I've witnessed a woman being interrupted and talked over by a man, only to hear him later repeat the same ideas she was trying to put forward," wrote one respondent, Grace Ellis. "I'd say I see this happen ... two to three times a week? At least?"	《纽约时报》邀请女人们在 Facebook 上分享她们的类似经历，于是来自各行各业、各种级别的女性应邀提供了数百个这样的例子。“女人被男人打断、被高声压过，之后他却开始重复她刚才试图提出的想法，这种事简直数不胜数，”一位名为格蕾斯·埃利斯(Grace Ellis)的回复者写道。“我会说我每周都能看到这种事……至少两到三次？”
Joyce Lionarons wrote, "My female boss told me she needed to allow each man to interrupt her four times before protesting in a meeting. If she protested more often, there were problems."	乔伊斯·莱昂伦斯(Joyce Lionarons)写道：“我的女老板告诉我，她得容忍会上每个男人至少打断她四次，然后她才能开始抗议。如果她更频繁地抗议，就会出问题。”

Erica Brown wrote that she has worked for three months as a distiller. Virtually every time she goes to pick up supplies, she said, the staff asked her husband what she needed.	埃里卡·布朗(Erica Brown)写道, 她已经做了三个月的酿酒师工作。她说, 几乎每次她去取物资的时候, 工作人员都会问她丈夫, 需要什么。
A ream of studies affirm such anecdotes. Researchers consistently find that women are interrupted more and that men dominate conversations and decision-making, in corporate offices, town meetings, school boards and the U.S. Senate.	大量研究报告证实了这样的轶事。研究人员不断发现, 在公司办公室、城镇会议、学校董事会和美国参议院中, 女性都会更经常遭到打断, 由男性主导对话和决策。
Victoria L. Brescoll, associate professor of organizational behavior at the Yale School of Management, published a paper in 2012 showing that men with power talked more in the Senate, which was not the case for women. Another study, "Can an Angry Woman Get Ahead?" concluded that men who became angry were rewarded, but that angry women were seen as incompetent and unworthy of power in the workplace.	耶鲁大学管理学院组织行为学副教授维多利亚·L·布雷斯科尔(Victoria L. Brescoll)于2012年发表论文指出, 在参议院, 掌握权力的男性说话也更多, 但女性的情况却并非如此。另一项名为《愤怒的女人能不能得到晋升?》的研究得出结论说, 在工作场合, 发怒的男人会得到回报, 但是发怒的女人却会被认为无能、不配得到权力。
That experience, too, resonated with many women responding to the Facebook callout.	许多在《纽约时报》Facebook的帖子下面回复的女人对此也有共鸣。
"And if you complain, you are excluded," said Paula Minnikin. "As the only woman on a particular corporate board, I asked the chair in private if we could consider finding another one or two women as we were seeking to replace three board members. tall and strong, like a man, and don't confuse things like a regular woman. I was flabbergasted."
Tali Mendelberg, professor of politics at Princeton University, is co-author of "The Silent Sex: Gender, Deliberations and Institutions," compiling studies examining what happens when more women join decision-making groups. She and Christopher F. Karpowitz, associate professor of political science at Brigham Young University, found that, at school board meetings, men and women did not speak as long until women made up 80 percent of the school board. When men were in the minority, however, they did not speak up less.	普林斯顿大学的政治教授塔利·门德尔伯格(Tali Mendelberg)是《沉默的性：性别，审议与惯例》(The Silent Sex: Gender, Deliberations and Institutions)的合著者，该书汇编了若干对女性加入决策小组情况的研究报告。她和杨百翰大学(Brigham Young University)政治学副教授克里斯托弗·F·卡尔波维茨(Christopher F. "The fact that women are outnumbered in every room puts them in a position where they're often coming up against gender-based stereotypes," said Deborah Gillis, president and chief executive officer of Catalyst, which works for women's advancement in business. U.S. Accuses Chinese Company of Money Laundering for North Korea	美国指一中国公司为朝鲜洗钱，或罚 190 万美元
TOKYO — United States prosecutors accused a Chinese company on Thursday of laundering money for North Korea and said they would seek $1.9 million in civil penalties, as American efforts to put pressure on the isolated country continue to affect Pyongyang's neighbor and biggest benefactor.	东京——随着美国向被孤立的朝鲜施压的举措继续影响其邻居和最大靠山，美国检方周四指控一家中国公司替朝鲜洗钱，并表示他们将寻求 190 万美元的民事罚款。
Prosecutors said the company, Mingzheng International Trading Limited, operated as a front company for North Korea's state-run Foreign Trade Bank, which since 2013 has been the target of American sanctions intended to choke off funds connected to the country's nuclear weapons program. The penalty, if approved by the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, would be "one of the largest seizures of North Korean funds by the department," according to a statement from prosecutors.	检方称，这家名为明正国际贸易有限公司的企业是朝鲜国有的外国贸易银行 (Foreign Trade Bank) 的幌子公司。自 2013 年以来，该银行一直是美国为切断与该国核武器计划有关的资金而实行制裁的目标。据检方的一份声明称，如果得到哥伦比亚特区联邦地方法院 (United States District Court for the District of Columbia) 的批准，这笔罚款将成为“司法部对朝鲜最大规模的没收资金之一”。
In their statement, prosecutors said Mingzheng was created to "surreptitiously move North Korean money through the United States." In a filing with the court, prosecutors said the funds were being held in a bank account in the United States.	检方在声明中称，明正的成立目的就是为了“偷偷通过美国转移朝鲜的资金”。在提交给法庭的一份备案文件中，检方称这笔资金存放在一个美国的银行账户里。

Some Global Investors See Fresh Worries in an Old Problem: China	中国泡沫风险让全球投资者忐忑不安
BEIJING — While investors have been preoccupied with President Trump and chaos in Washington, nerve-rattling elections in Europe and the uncertainty created by Federal Reserve policy and Britain's decision to leave the European Union, a once-familiar — and possibly bigger — risk to global markets has been bubbling in the background.	北京——当投资者们忙于关注特朗普总统和华盛顿的混乱、欧洲那些挑动神经的选举，以及美联储政策和英国脱欧决定所带来的不确定性时，全球市场面临的一种曾经熟悉的、很可能更大的风险一直在暗地里发酵。

"The vast majority of consensus opinion is that China is fine," said Kevin Smith, the founder and chief executive of Crescat Capital, an asset management firm based in Denver that is betting against Chinese investments. Referring broadly to China's debt and other financials, he added: "People are really not looking at the potential bubble. The bubble just keeps getting bigger."	"绝大多数人一致认为中国没问题，"总部位于丹佛、不看好对中国的投资的资产管理公司 Crescat Capital 创始人兼首席执行官凯文·史密斯(Kevin Smith)说。他广泛提及了中国的债务以及其他金融问题，并补充道："人们真的忽略了潜在的泡沫。泡沫正变得越来越大。"
China's fate has major sway over global markets, given its longtime role as a growth driver — and investors may soon have a bigger stake in the ups and downs of Chinese stocks.	中国长期以来一直扮演着增长发动机的角色，其命运对全球市场有着举足轻重的影响——而其股票市场的涨落，或许很快就会与投资者的利益更加息息相关。

In March, Goldman Sachs recommended investors increase their holdings of Chinese stocks, citing improved economic growth, stable policies and other positives.	投资者已经接收到了某些鼓励其进场的信息。今年3月，高盛(Goldman Sachs)以经济增长情况有所改善、政策稳定以及其他积极因素为由，建议投资者增持中国股票。
But some investors have started to worry again. In a survey released by	但一些投资者又开始担心了。美银美林(Bank of America Merrill Lynch)发

Bank of America-Merrill Lynch, fund managers in May named China the biggest potential source for an unpleasant surprise for global markets for the first time since January 2016. The investor services firm Moody's also downgraded China's sovereign credit rating last month, its first such move in 28 years.	布的调查结果显示,基金经理们在5月份接受调查时认为,对全球市场而言,惊吓的最大潜在来源就是中国,自2016年1月以来他们还是头一次这样认为。投资者服务公司穆迪(Moody's)也于上月降低了中国的主权信用评级,这是它28年来首次这么做。
Debt is a central theme to these rising concerns. To shore up its economy, China resorted to pumping up credit, adding to an already mountainous pile of debt. According to the Bank for International Settlements, that debt reached 257 percent of its gross domestic product at the end of 2016, slightly above the same measure in the United States, and significantly higher than the 184 percent for emerging economies over all.	这些愈演愈烈的担忧以债务为核心主题。为了给经济提供支撑,中国大举开闸放贷,让业已堆积如山的债务变得愈发沉重。来自国际清算银行(Bank for International Settlements)的数据显示,截至2016年底,中国的债务占GDP的比重为257%,略高于美国,大大高于新兴经济体184%的总体水平。
But what worries economists most is the pace at which it has mounted. At the end of 2007, China's debt stood at only 152 percent of G.D.P.	但让经济学家最担忧的是其债务的增长速度。2007年底,中国的债务只占GDP的152%。
The research company Capital Economics, in a June report, warned that debt in China "has risen far faster than in almost any other major economy on record," and that its continued buildup was the "biggest risk facing emerging Asia."	研究公司凯投宏观(Capital Economics)在今年6月的一份报告中警告称,“自有记录以来”,中国的债务“增速几乎比其他任何主要经济体都快得多”,其债务的持续累积是“新兴亚洲市场面临的巨大风险”。
Over the last several months, the government has tried to reverse this trend, helping slow credit growth. But that, too, has rattled financial markets in China. The fear is that tighter credit could both slow growth and make it more difficult for highly indebted firms to pay back those loans. In a sign of strain, the interest rates charged by banks when lending to one another have been rising.	过去几个月里,中国政府一直竭力扭转该趋势,希望让信贷增速慢下来。但这也导致了中国金融市场的动荡不安。人们担心收紧信贷可能会在拖累经济增长的同时,让负债累累的企业更加难以还贷。资金面承受压力的一个迹象是,银行间同业拆借利率有所上升。
Policy makers in China appear more worried, too. In late May, the	中国的政策制定者似乎也更加忧心忡忡。5月末,中国政府不顾其做出的让

Mr. Smith of Crescat said he believed global investors remained too complacent about the China threat. Calling China “the largest macro bubble in our lifetime,” he said the situation had “already gone beyond what global financial watchdogs claim are levels where other countries historically have gotten into trouble.”	Crescat Capital 的史密斯说，他认为全球投资者面对中国带来的威胁时仍然太自以为是。他把中国称为“我们平生所见最大宏观泡沫”，他说问题之严重“已经超出了全球金融监管机构所宣称的曾让其他国家在历史上遭遇麻烦的那种程度。”
Mr. Smith has arranged his portfolio with these fears in mind. He said he was shorting China equity funds. (When investors short, they are making financial bets that the price of something is going to fall.) And though such positions have subtracted from his returns so far this year, he has doubled down.	心怀这些担忧的史密斯对自己的投资组合做出了调整。他说他正在做空中国股票基金。（当投资者做空时，他们在金融市场上押注于某种东西的价格将会下降。）今年到目前为止，这些头寸给他带来的账面回报是负数，但他已加倍下注。

Investors may steer clear of China until the uncertainty about its heavy debt — and the government’s will and ability to handle it — clears up.	投资者或许会对中国敬而远之，直至与其沉重的债务相关的不确定性——以及中国政府控制债务的意愿和能力——变得明朗起来。
“The biggest crisis tends to happen when people are not looking, when the government is not trying to tackle the risk,” said Jian Shi Cortesi, who oversees the Asian equities portfolio at the asset-manager GAM, based in Zurich. “So far they are managing it quite well. But the market is always scared if they cannot manage it.”	“最大的危机往往在人们没有关注风险、政府没有竭力应对风险的时候发生，”资产管理公司 GAM 驻苏黎世的亚洲股票投资组合经理鉴·史·科特西（Jian Shi Cortesi, 音）说。“到目前为止，他们应对得非常不错。但市场总是担心，如果他们处理不好会怎么样。”

Not all China watchers are quite so nervous. Aidan Yao, senior emerging Asia economist in Hong Kong at AXA Investment Managers, which has more than $800 billion under management, said investors should see the current effort to bring down leverage as a positive for the economy's future health.	并非所有中国问题观察人士都如此焦虑。安盛投资管理公司(AXA Investment Managers)驻香港的新兴亚洲高级经济师姚远(Aidan Yao)说,投资者应该把当前去杠杆化的努力视为有利于经济在未来健康发展的积极因素。安盛投资管理公司管理着逾 8000 亿美元资金。
"Right now, I'm not all that concerned," Mr. Yao said. Policy makers, he added, "are managing the situation quite carefully."	"目前我并不那么担心,"姚远说。他还表示,政策制定者"正非常小心地应对这种情况。"
There is also some confidence among China analysts that politics will keep the country's currency and stock markets on track in the coming months. This year, a major Communist Party conference will take place. To avoid any undue surprises, policy makers are likely to do whatever they can to prevent drastic shifts in asset values before the meeting.	中国问题分析人士当中也有人相信,政治因素会让中国的货币和股票市场在未来几个月保持正常。共产党今年将召开一场重要会议。为了避免不合时宜的意外,政策制定者可能会竭尽所能地防止资产估值在会议召开前发生剧烈变化。
It is unclear whether MSCI, the stock-index compiler, will broaden global access for Chinese stocks. The Chinese authorities have introduced some measures to address these issues.	尚不清楚编制股票指数的明晟公司是否会为中国股票拓宽与全球投资者之间的通道。它曾以中国的某些规定会损害投资者卖出股票以及将资金撤离的能力为由,连续三年拒绝纳入中国国内的股票。中国已经采取了一些措施来应对上述问题。
Mr. Yao of AXA said he believed that Chinese regulators had opened up enough access to domestic markets to win over MSCI. China Will Be Part of a Popular Stock Index, Opening the Door to Foreign Money	中国 A 股将被纳入 MSCI 新兴市场指数
HONG KONG — Chinese stocks will join an important global benchmark in a decision that opens the door for foreign money to flow into the China's markets.	香港——中国股市将加入一个重要的全球基准，该决定为外国资金流入中国市场敞开了大门。
The global stock index provider MSCI announced on Tuesday that the stocks of companies that trade in China's stock markets would be included in its influential emerging markets benchmark. For several years, money managers have anticipated the move, which will would make it more important to invest in China.	全球指数供应商 MSCI 周二宣布，将把在中国股市交易的企业股票纳入其重要的新兴市场指数。几年来，资金管理者都料到会有这么一天，投资中国从此将变得更加重要。
The MSCI decision on Tuesday represents a mostly symbolic victory for China. The Chinese government had lobbied MSCI for years to include in its indexes the so-called A shares traded on the Shanghai and Shenzhen stock markets. MSCI has added 222 large capitalization stocks on both exchanges.	MSCI 周二的决定对中国来说主要是一个象征性的胜利。中国政府多年来一直在游说 MSCI，希望能将上海和深圳股市交易的 A 股纳入该指数。MSCI 决定增加两个股市的 222 支大盘股。
Many investors measure the performance of money managers, like mutual fund and hedge fund managers, against MSCI indexes. That puts pressure on active managers to buy the shares in the index, and then add or subtract a few stocks in an effort to beat the index.	很多投资者以 MSCI 指数为标准来衡量基金经理的表现，比如共同基金经理和对冲基金经理。这迫使很多积极的资金经理会购买该指数中的股票，然后再增加或减少几支股票，以便跑赢该指数。
China's inclusion, even on a limited scale, means that money managers will find the indexes more attractive. Many investors have also gravitated toward index funds that try to match the indexes directly, by buying all or nearly all of the stocks in them.	这次中国 A 股加入 MSCI，即使规模有限，也意味着资金经理会觉得这些股指的吸引力变得更大了。很多投资者也倾向于购买指数基金，通过直接购买指数中的所有或几乎所有股票，来反应指数的涨跌。
The Chinese government long sought MSCI inclusion because it could	中国政府多年来一直在寻求将 A 股纳入 MSCI，因为这有助于把上海和深圳

help establish Shanghai and Shenzhen as global financial centers.	打造成全球金融中心。
It could also push international money managers to pay more attention to corporate governance in China and demand that Chinese executives improve business practices, such as providing greater financial disclosure and limiting insider transactions.	这么做可能还会促使国际资金管理者更加关注中国的公司治理，并要求中国的高管改善商务实践，如提供更详细的财务状况信息和限制内幕交易。
“MSCI inclusion not only mandated global investors to allocate more funding into the Chinese A share market, but also provided a much-needed impetus to move Chinese stock markets closer to global standards,” said Shen Jianguang, a China economist at Mizhuho Securities.	“纳入 MSCI 不仅使得全球投资者把更多资金投入中国 A 股市场，还为中国股市向全球标准进一步靠拢提供了急需的动力，”瑞穗证券(Mizhuho Securities)的中国经济学家沈建光说。
A more recent goal, stemming from a stock market crash two years ago and a subsequent flight of money outside the country, has been to lure in more foreign investment to offset those outflows. Though China has since stemmed the outflows in part through tighter capital controls, the potential departure of money remains a problem as the Chinese economy cools and as a wide-ranging anti-corruption campaign has persuaded many wealthy families that their savings might not be safe inside China.	更近的目标是吸引更多外国投资，以抵消资金外流。这个目标源于两年前的股市崩盘和随后的资金外逃。尽管中国后来通过收紧资本控制在一定程度上遏制了资金外流，但随着中国经济降温，并且一场广泛的反腐运动让很多富裕家庭相信，它们的积蓄留在中国国内可能不安全，潜在的资金外逃依然是一个问题。
But money managers have been leery of pushing large sums of money into Chinese financial markets, and many have been unenthusiastic about China’s inclusion. International investment into China’s financial markets has been tiny in recent years in part because of growing worries that state-run banks were making huge and wasteful loans to state-owned Chinese companies to spur economic growth, adding to China’s debt load. That burden prompted Moody’s to downgrade	但基金经理对推动大量资金进入中国的金融市场有疑虑，很多人对纳入中国一事并不热情。近年来，进入中国金融市场的国际投资规模极小，这在一定程度上是因为外界越来越担心，国有银行为了刺激经济增长而向国有企业提供金额巨大却被浪费的贷款，增加了中国的债务负担。这种负担促使穆迪(Moody’s)上月下调中国的主权债务评级。

China's sovereign debt rating last month.
"Having exhausted the ability to use state-owned banks as A.T.M.s, Beijing would love to entice foreign money into China's stock and bond markets," said Diana Choyleva, a China specialist at Enodo Economics, a financial advisory firm. "But the MSCI symbolic move falls well short of diverting global passive money into China's equity markets."	"消耗尽了把国有银行当自动取款机的能力后，北京愿意吸引外国资金进入中国的股票和债券市场，"金融咨询公司伊诺多经济(Enodo Economics)的中国问题专家戴安娜·乔伊利瓦(Diana Choyleva)说。"但被纳入 MSCI 这个象征性的举动，远远不足以让全球被动资金进入中国股市。"
At the Lujiazui Forum, an annual gathering of top Chinese economic and financial policy makers in Shanghai, Chinese officials underlined on Tuesday their desire for foreign participation in the country's financial markets.	周二，一年一度的中国最高经济和金融政策制定者会议"陆家嘴论坛"在上海举行。在会上，中国官员强调了他们对外国参与中国金融市场的渴望。
"The financial service industry is a competitive service industry which benefits from opening up, and will continue to expand its opening up," said Zhou Xiaochuan, the governor of the country's central bank, the People's Bank of China.	"金融服务业是竞争性服务业，受益于对外开放，还要进一步扩大对外开放，"中国央行中国人民银行行长周小川说。
Yet a variety of restrictive measures that China has taken in the past had prompted MSCI to decide on three previous occasions not to include China in its global indexes. These restrictions have included weekslong suspensions in the trading of shares in companies that encounter financial difficulties, and the increased limits on moving money out of the country.	但中国过去采取的各种限制措施促使 MSCI 此前三次决定不把中国纳入其全球指数。这些限制包括遭遇资金困难的公司的股票交易停止数周，以及对把资金转移出境的限制增加。
But international companies have to some extent been exempted from those restrictions, particularly since the start of this year, in an effort to convince them that if they put more money into China, they will be able to take it out someday. Limits on the repatriation of dividends have been removed, and limits on foreign trading of Chinese bonds have	跨国公司在一定程度上不受这些限制的影响，尤其是从今年年初开始。这是为了让它们相信，即便让更多资金进入中国，有一天也能够把资金撤出。对收益流回本国的限制已取消，对外国买卖中国债券的限制也放松了。 been lightened.

On the previous occasions that MSCI chose not to include Chinese shares, it was also considering whether to include them as a sizable percentage of its emerging markets index. The index company disclosed in a draft paper this year that it was considering a much smaller percentage role for Chinese shares in its emerging market index than in previous years, notably by reducing by two-thirds the number of Chinese stocks that would be tracked in the index.	以前几次 MSCI 决定不纳入中国股票的时候，它也在考虑是否将它们作为一个相当大的百分比纳入其新兴市场指数。这家指数公司在今年的一份草案中披露，它考虑的把中国股票纳入新兴市场指数的比例比往年要小得多，尤其是把该指数打算追踪的中国股票的数量减少了三分之二。
Chinese shares traded on markets outside mainland China, such as in Hong Kong, already represent the largest concentration of companies from a single country in the MSCI emerging markets index, fluctuating at about a quarter of the entire index.	中国股票也在中国大陆之外的市场上交易，比如在香港，因此中国已经是 MSCI 新兴市场指数中股票的最大来源国，大概占整个指数的四分之一左右。
While China received a greenlight from MSCI, another emerging market hopeful, Argentina, was not so lucky.	虽然 MSCI 对中国开了绿灯，但另一个希望加入新兴市场指数的国家阿根廷却没有这么走运。
Despite Argentina's successful sale of a 100-year government bond on Monday, the index company said it was not ready to upgrade the country to its emerging markets index because recent market reforms "needed to remain in place for a longer time period to be deemed irreversible."	尽管阿根廷本周一成功售出了一种为期 100 年的政府债券，但该指数公司表示，由于该国近期的市场改革“需要更长的时间才能被视为不可逆”，因此尚未准备好将该国股票纳入新兴市场指数。

Ford Chooses China, Not Mexico, to Build Its New Focus	福特将小型车生产线转至中国
DETROIT — In a move that highlights the shifting landscape of global auto production, Ford Motor said on Tuesday that it would build its next-generation small car in China rather than in the United States or Mexico.	福特汽车(Ford Motor)周二宣布将在中国而不是美国或墨西哥制造新一代小型车。此举突显了正在发生变化的全球汽车生产格局。

The decision underscores the potential for China to export more vehicles for sale to American buyers, and the reluctance of domestic automakers to invest in additional production in Mexico.	这个决定表明中国有机会向美国购买者出口更多的车辆，以及美国国内的汽车厂商不愿在墨西哥追加生产投资。
Ford currently builds its Focus compact car in Michigan, as well as in China and Europe.	目前，福特制造紧凑型轿车福克斯(Focus)的工厂位于密西根、中国和欧洲。
Last year, the company said it planned to shift Focus production to a plant under construction in Mexico, primarily because of lower labor costs. But Ford canceled the project in January after it met stiff opposition from President Trump, who had repeatedly criticized the company for investing in Mexican jobs at the expense of American ones.	去年，该公司表示计划将福克斯的生产转移到墨西哥的一家在建工厂，主要是因为那里的人工成本较低。但1月，福特在遭到特朗普总统的强烈反对后取消了该项目。特朗普多次指责福特投资墨西哥的就业，牺牲了美国的工作岗位。
Now Ford, the nation's second largest automaker after General Motors, is centralizing much of its small-car production in China, where it has available capacity.	现在，作为仅次于通用汽车(General Motors)的美国第二大汽车厂商，福特正在把大量小型车生产集中在已具备相应产能的中国。
Ford's head of global operations, Joe Hinrichs, said the company would save $1 billion by building the Focus in China instead of Mexico — including $500 million in savings announced at the time the Mexico plant was canceled — and would be able to spend more money expanding American plants that make high-profit trucks and sport-utility vehicles.	福特的全球业务负责人乔·欣里希斯(Joe Hinrichs)表示，通过在中国而不是墨西哥生产福克斯，福特将节省10亿美元（约合70亿元人民币）——包括取消在墨西哥建厂时宣布的五亿美元节省资金——并能够投入更多资金，扩建生产高利润的卡车和运动型多功能车的美国工厂。

But it has not indicated whether it will challenge moves, like Ford's, to beef up imports from China.	特朗普政府表示将在今年晚些时候重新协商北美自由贸易协定(North American Free Trade Agreement)期间解决墨西哥进口问题。但特朗普政府尚未表明是否会挑战福特等公司增加从中国的进口的举动。

Ford shares ended the day 1.1 percent lower.	当天, 福特的股价下跌 1.1%。
Ms. Krebs, the Autotrader analyst, said consumers were largely unfazed by where vehicles are built, and rarely based their buying decisions on geographical production.	前述 Autotrader 分析师克雷布斯称, 消费者基本上不关心车辆是在哪里制造的, 也很少把购车决定建立在车的制造地上。
"Most people generally don't know where their car is built, and they don't care," she said.	"总的来说大部分人都不知道他们的车是在哪里制造的, 他们不在乎," 她说。
In announcing its plans for the Focus in China, where it expects production of the new model to begin in the second half of 2019, Ford did not specify the costs related to the decision. A company spokeswoman, Kelli Felker, said that adding production to its existing Chinese plants will require a "relatively small investment."	宣布计划在中国生产福克斯时, 福特没有具体介绍和这个决定有关的成本。公司发言人凯莉·费尔克(Kelli Felker)说, 中国现有工厂的扩产只需"相对较小的投资"。
The move may also affect suppliers that currently produce parts for the Focus made in Michigan.	此举也许还会影响目前为在密歇根制造的福克斯生产零部件的供应商。
According to Transportation Department data, about 46 percent of the parts for the American-made Focus are produced in the United States and Canada.	美国运输部(Transportation Department)的数据显示, 在美国制造的福克斯使用的零部件中, 大约 46%是在美国和加拿大生产的。

Ford's Signal to the Auto World: Here Comes China	福特向汽车业发出的信号: "中国制造"来了
HONG KONG — After years of predictions that cars sold in the West would bear the "Made in China" label, the time has finally come.	香港——多年来人们一直预测, 有朝一日, 在西方销售的汽车将带有"中国制造"的标签, 这一天终于到来了。

Ford Motor's plans to build its popular Focus compact cars in China, rather than Michigan or Mexico, is a milestone in China's automotive rise. Chinese auto industry leaders praised the move as long-awaited confirmation that the country's factories have become as efficient and high-quality as those in the United States and Europe.	福特汽车(Ford Motor)计划在中国，而不是在密歇根州或者墨西哥生产其广受欢迎的福克斯(Focus)紧凑型汽车，这是中国汽车工业崛起的一个里程碑。中国汽车工业界的领导人称赞，此举是对中国工厂已经变得像美国和欧洲工厂那样高效优质的一个确认，人们对这个认可期待已久。
The question now is how political leaders greet the development, amid rising skepticism in the United States over Chinese trade policies and the benefits of free trade in general. Though the White House so far has been muted in its reaction to Ford's move, President Trump in particular was strongly critical of Chinese trade policies during his campaign last year. China's high tariffs on imported cars and auto parts have already emerged as a potential trade issue.	现在的问题是：就在美国国内对于中国的贸易政策和一般自由贸易的好处日益怀疑之际，政界领导人会如何看待这样的发展。尽管到目前为止，白宫对福特这一举动没有作出反应，但特朗普在去年的总统竞选期间曾对中国的贸易政策予以强烈批评。中国对进口汽车和汽车零部件征收的高关税，已经成为了一个潜在的贸易问题。
"Ford's moving production to China shows China's competitiveness in manufacturing is continuously increasing and our industrial supply chain is improving," said Cui Dongshu, the secretary general of the China Passenger Car Association, a government-backed trade group in Beijing. "But this is obviously against Trump's policies — it is quite complicated and may cause some friction in Sino-American trade in the future."	"福特此举显示了中国制造业的竞争力和产业链竞争力的持续提升。"中国乘用车市场信息联席会秘书长崔东树表示："这明显跟特朗普对着干。这是个挺复杂的事，可能未来会造成一些中美贸易的摩擦。"
China represents a competitive challenge and a profitable opportunity for American carmakers.	对于美国汽车制造商来说，中国既是一个竞争性的挑战，也是一个有利可图的机会。
China is already the world's largest automaker, with annual car production roughly equal to that of the United States and Japan combined. Chinese players have long wanted to develop underused factories dotting major cities to increase production and export the	中国已经是世界上最大的汽车制造国，每年汽车产量大致相当于美国和日本之和。中国的汽车工厂分布在一些主要城市，利用不足，中国的汽车制造商一直希望增加产量，把多余的汽车出口。

excess.
For years, it has been a quixotic dream. Such factories tend to churn out lower-quality, domestic-brand rides that would not pass muster with American or European consumers.	多年来，这个梦想并不现实。因为这些工厂生产的往往是质量不高的国内品牌，无法满足美国或者欧洲消费者的需求。
But China is angling for a big share of the future. Beijing has put very heavy pressure on Western automakers to transfer their latest, most cutting-edge technology to China as a condition of doing business. Many companies, including Volkswagen, General Motors and Ford, have plans to shift more research and development to China, particularly around electric cars.	但是中国谋求在未来获得巨大发展。北京对西方汽车制造商施加了巨大的压力，要求它们将最新、最尖端的技术转移到中国，以此作为做生意的先决条件。大众、通用和福特等汽车厂牌都计划将研发工作进一步转移到中国，特别是电动汽车的研发。
China has an increasingly global auto presence. General Motors began exporting the Buick Envision compact sport utility vehicle to the United States last year, although the Envision is a much lower-volume model than the Focus. Volvo, which is owned by a Chinese company, started exporting S60 sedans from China to the United States in 2015, while Cadillac this spring started shipping its Shanghai-made CT6 Plug-in hybrid to the United States.	在全球汽车市场上，中国的存在感越来越强。通用汽车去年开始从中国向美国出口别克昂科威(Buick Envision)紧凑型 SUV，虽然昂科威的产量远低于福克斯。沃尔沃现在属于一家中国公司，它从 2015 年开始从中国向美国出口 S60 轿车；而凯迪拉克从今年春天开始向美国市场投放上海生产的 CT6 插电式混合动力汽车。
Ford's decision will significantly ramp up the country's car exports. The Focus would more than triple China's exports of fully built cars to the United States.	福特的这个决定将大幅提升中国的汽车出口量。开始生产福克斯之后，中国出口到美国的整车数量将会增至三倍多。
As a manufacturing base, China holds strong appeal for Detroit's automakers. Auto factory pay in China is similar or slightly higher than in Mexico at around $1,250 a month, including government-mandated benefits like contributions to savings funds with which workers can buy housing. Overtime adds roughly $300 a month. But that pay is much	作为制造业基地，中国对底特律的汽车制造商具有强烈的吸引力。中国汽车工厂的薪酬和墨西哥差不多，或略高一点，大约在每月 1250 美元（约合人民币 8500 元）左右，其中包括政府规定的福利，比如工人可以用来买房的住房公积金。加班费每月在 300 美元左右。但是这个薪酬远远低于美国，美国工人即使不算加班费，收入也比这高几倍。

lower than in the United States, where workers earn several times as much even before overtime.
Auto parts are also much cheaper in China than in the United States, because labor tends to be a larger share of the cost than final assembly. The global auto parts industry has shifted much of its production to China, partly because of low costs and partly because China's steep tariffs make it impossible for multinational manufacturers to compete in the Chinese market unless they produce in China.	在中国，汽车零部件也比美国便宜得多，因为在总成本中，劳动力成本的比例往往高于总装成本。全球汽车零部件行业已经将很大一部分生产转移到了中国，一个是因为成本问题，另一个原因是中国关税过高，跨国制造商在中国市场上缺乏竞争力，除非在本地生产。
And quality is high at Chinese factories run by Western carmakers.	西方车企经营的中国工厂的质量也很高。
Global automakers already have built some of their most modern factories in China. A Ford factory in Hangzhou has 650 robots. A somewhat smaller General Motors factory in Shanghai has 530 robots that make Cadillacs with all-aluminum bodies — one of the latest and toughest manufacturing challenges even in the West.	全球汽车厂商把自己最现代的一些工厂建在了中国。福特在杭州的一家工厂有 650 台机器人。通用汽车在上海的一座稍微小点儿的工厂有 530 台机器人，制造全铝车身的凯迪拉克。即便是在西方，这也是最新、最难的制造挑战之一。
G.M.'s China-made Buick Envision ranks slightly above average in initial quality surveys of American consumers among 13 compact sport utility vehicles, according to J.D. Power and Associates, the international quality rating company. The top three concerns of the Envision's American buyers involved the ease of use of its voice recognition system and other consumer electronics — concerns indicating that American consumers were basically satisfied with the actual car.	据全球质量评级机构君迪(J. D. Power & Associates)称，在对美国消费者进行的新车质量调查中，通用汽车在中国制造的别克昂科威(Buick Envision)在 13 款紧凑型 SUV 中略高于平均水平。昂科威的美国购买者最担心的三个问题涉及语音识别系统的易用性和其他消费电子器件。这些担心表明，美国消费者对成品车辆基本满意。
Chinese domestic automakers still lag in quality surveys. But among the global brands, cars made in China come from assembly lines that are identical in almost every respect to factories in the West — except that the factories in China, because they are new, tend to be more	在质量调查中，中国国内的汽车厂商依然处于下风。但在全球品牌中，中国制造的汽车来自几乎在各方面都与西方工厂一模一样的装配线，除了中国的工厂因为是新厂所以自动化程度往往更高以外。君迪负责中国汽车业务的总经理蔡明(Jeff Cai)说，中国的工厂相对较新往往能抵消中国工人的经验不足

automated. Jeff Cai, the general manager of the China automotive practice at J.D. Power, said that the relative newness of Chinese factories tended to balance out the limited experience and high turnover of Chinese workers.	和高流动性。
"In terms of the building quality," he said, "it's pretty similar."	"就制造质量而言，"他说，"大同小异。"
Industry insiders fear that all the auto factory capacity will encourage China to increase exports if homegrown demand slows down. Thanks to a cut in sales taxes last year, car sales in China in 2016 grew by an amount almost equal to the entire Japanese market. That helped absorb some of China's overcapacity. But with the partial expiration early this year of the sales tax cut, demand is starting to slow.	业内人士担心，如果国内需求放缓，所有这些造车厂的产能会鼓励中国增加出口。因为去年的销售税减免，中国2016年汽车销量的增量几乎与整个日本市场相当。这帮助吸收了中国的部分过剩产能。但今年年初，部分销售税减免政策到期，需求开始放缓。
Ford's sales in China in the first five months of this year were down 11 percent from the same period last year. But Sinead Phipps, a Ford spokeswoman, denied any connection to the new export plans. "We've made the decision because it allows us to reduce global Focus production by one plant, improve the health of our Focus business, save $1 billion in investment costs and further improve our scale in China," she said.	今年前五个月，福特在华销量同比下降11%。但福特的发言人西尼德·菲普斯(Sinead Phipps)否认这与新的出口计划之间存在关联。“我们做出这个决定是因为它让我们能够在全球减少一家工厂的福克斯产量、让福克斯业务更加健康、节省10亿美元的投资成本并进一步扩大在中国的规模，”她说。
The Chinese government is so worried about overcapacity that in June it tightened the approval process for any further auto assembly plants. But automakers are still rushing partially built factories to completion.	中国政府也非常担心产能过剩问题，所以在6月收紧了对新建汽车装配厂的审批流程。但汽车厂商依然在催促部分建成的工厂完工。
Ford's decision could shift work away from American auto parts factories, which are heavily concentrated in Ohio, Indiana and southern Michigan. The Focus made in Michigan currently has 40 percent of its parts manufactured in the United States and another 26 percent in	福特的决定可能会让美国汽车零部件工厂的工作机会大量流失，这些工厂主要分布在俄亥俄、印第安纳和密西根南部。目前，在密歇根制造的福克斯使用的零部件中40%是美国制造的，另外26%来自墨西哥。墨西哥的商业活动往往会涉及从美国进口大量原料。相比之下，美国政府的数据显示，昂科

Ford was a relative laggard in China compared with G.M. for many years. Today, it is increasingly part of an industry shift across the Pacific to China. Shortly before he was replaced last month as Ford's chief executive, Mark Fields said in Shanghai, "You can see from our series of announcements, we are not holding back."	多年来，福特在中国相对而言落后于通用汽车。现在，福特越来越成为一场跨越太平洋来到中国的行业转移的一部分。上月，马克·菲尔茨(Mark Fields)作为福特首席执行官的职务被取代前不久，他在上海表示，“大家可以从我们的一系列公告中看出，我们没有退缩。”

China has been trying to get its unruly financial sector under control, worried that asset bubbles and its enormous unofficial — or "shadow" — banking system could threaten its economy, the world's second largest after the United States'. In April, President Xi Jinping urged the country to ward off systemic risks to maintain financial security during a group study session for members of the Politburo, a top decision-making body of the ruling Communist Party.	中国是仅次于美国的世界第二大经济体，它一直尝试对难以管教的金融部门进行控制，担心资产泡沫和巨大的非官方“影子”银行体系可能对经济构成威胁。4月，习近平主席在政治局成员的集体学习会上呼吁摆脱系统性风险，维护经济安全。政治局是执政党共产党的顶层决策机构。

to them. A crucial cause for concern is that many of these companies overpaid for some of these purchases.
Analysts have expressed concern about the rapid expansion of China's credit, warning that the country could face serious risk if it does not toughen measures to control its debt-fueled binge. The authorities have also been increasingly nervous about the flow of money out of the country, which contributed to a sharp fall in the country's foreign exchange reserves in recent years, before steadying in recent months.	分析人士对中国信贷的快速扩张表示担忧，他们警告，如果不加强控制这种由债务推动的并购热，该国可能面临严重风险。当局对于资金外流也越来越担心，这和其他因素一起导致该国出现了外汇储备在近几年来的一波急剧下降，直到近几个月才稳定下来。

Tesla in Talks to Set Up Electric Car Factory in Shanghai	特斯拉与上海政府讨论建厂可能性
HONG KONG — Tesla Motors is in discussions to establish a factory in Shanghai, its first in China, a move that could bolster its efforts in one of	香港——特斯拉正在讨论在上海建厂的问题，这将是它在中国的第一家工厂。此举可能会推动特斯拉在一个主要市场的进军步伐，虽然这也会进一步提升

In a statement on Thursday, Tesla said it needed to set up more overseas factories to make cars that customers could afford. Such a strategy is a must in China, which charges steep tariffs for imported cars.	在周四一份声明中，特斯拉表示需要设立更多的海外工厂来制造顾客买得起的汽车。在中国采取这样的策略是必须的，因为中国对进口车征收高额关税。
"To better serve the Chinese market, Tesla is in the process of discussing about the possibility of setting up a factory locally with the Shanghai government," a spokeswoman, Duan Zhengzheng, said in a statement. Shanghai city officials did not respond to requests for comment. Bloomberg News reported earlier that Tesla and Shanghai had signed a preliminary agreement.	上海市官员没有回应置评请求。彭博新闻早前曾报导特斯拉和上海签署了初步协议。
Tesla's negotiations do not guarantee that a plant will be built. Under Chinese law, such a project would require Tesla to find a Chinese joint-venture partner. While China is full of Chevrolets, Fords and Volkswagens, most are made in factories jointly owned by a foreign automaker and a local company.	特斯拉的谈判并不代表建厂已成定局。根据中国法律，这样的项目需要特斯拉找到一家中国合资伙伴。虽然中国满是雪佛兰、福特和大众汽车，但其中大部分都是由外国汽车制造商和本地公司的合资工厂生产。

Tesla could get around the joint-venture requirement by building a wholly owned factory in a foreign trade zone in China. Further complicating matters, China recently announced that it would issue no more business licenses to make automobiles, including electric cars. Tesla does not have a license, although it could form an alliance with a company that has one.	更为复杂的是，中国近日宣布将不再颁发汽车制造许可证，电动汽车也不例外。所以特斯拉是无法获得许可证的，虽然它可以和拥有许可证的公司联姻。

China's Premier, Li Keqiang, Praises Free Trade, in Contrast to Trump	李克强宣扬自由贸易，顺便敲打美国
DALIAN, China — Premier Li Keqiang of China reaffirmed on Tuesday his country's desire to be seen as the world's new leader in globalization and free trade, but he offered no specifics on how China might lower its own trade barriers, which are among the steepest of any large country.	中国大连——中国国务院总理李克强周二重申，中国愿意被世界视为全球化和自由贸易的新领导者，但他没有提中国如何降低自身贸易壁垒的具体做法，中国在世界大国中属于贸易壁垒最高的国家之一。
Speaking at the opening of a World Economic Forum conference in northeastern China, Mr. Li portrayed his country as deeply committed to a continued opening up to international competition. Without naming the United States or the Trump administration, he also said that it was wrong to blame free trade for economic or social problems.	李克强在中国东北举办的世界经济论坛年会开幕式上致辞时，把中国描绘成高度致力于继续向国际竞争开放的国家。虽未提美国或特朗普政府的名字，但他说，把经济或社会问题归咎于自由贸易是错误的。

“Only in this way can we achieve free and fair trade.”	“只有这样我们才能实现公平的自由贸易。”
President Trump vehemently denounced the state of trade with China and other countries during the election campaign, blaming it for widespread job losses among American manufacturing workers. That argument helped Mr. Trump win the White House and has gained some traction among economists who say the benefits of globalization have not been shared equally, though they point to other factors also eliminating jobs.	特朗普总统在竞选期间曾强烈谴责美国与中国及其他国家的贸易情况，把美国制造业工人普遍面临的失业问题归咎于贸易。这种说法帮助特朗普得以入主白宫，也得到了一些经济学家的认同，他们说，全球化的好处并没有得到平等的分配，虽然他们指出，其他因素也导致了工作的消失。
But since taking office, Mr. Trump has focused more on non-China subjects, such as withdrawing the United States from the Trans-Pacific Partnership, a trade agreement among a group of Asian and Pacific nations that did not include China, and starting a renegotiation of the North American Free Trade Agreement.	但自从上任以来，特朗普将精力更多地集中在非中国的议题上，比如把美国从跨太平洋伙伴关系中撤出，这个伙伴关系是不包括中国在内的一些亚太国家之间的贸易协定，特朗普也开始重新谈判北美自由贸易协定。
Mr. Li’s stance nonetheless represents a clear contrast to the Trump administration’s rhetoric, said Eswar Prasad, a Brookings Institution specialist in trade and monetary policy who is attending the conference. “There’s really a cognitive dissonance coming from Washington to here,” Mr. Prasad said. “Washington is all about tearing down things.”	正在参加论坛年会的布鲁金斯学会贸易与货币政策专家埃斯瓦尔·普拉萨德 (Eswar Prasad)说，不过，李克强的立场与特朗普政府的言论形成了鲜明对比。“从华盛顿来到这里真有一种感知不协，”普拉萨德说。“华盛顿说的都是拆掉这个、撤出那个。”
Yet while Mr. Li briefly mentioned that China would open up its services and manufacturing sectors, a repeated Chinese promise over the past quarter-century, he offered no details. Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross has repeatedly accused China of being the most heavily protected large economy in the world.	虽然李克强简单地提到中国将开放其服务业和制造业，这是中国在过去 25 年中不断承诺要做的，但他没有提供任何细节。美国商务部长威尔伯·罗斯已多次指责中国是世界上保护主义最严重的大经济体。

World Trade Organization data shows that China has much higher tariffs on imports than the United States, the European Union or Japan, though its tariffs are lower than those of some developing countries such as India. China also has many regulatory barriers to imports and consistently runs large trade surpluses, particularly in manufacturing — a category that has created tens of millions of jobs in China as companies around the world have moved factories to the country.	世界贸易组织的数据显示，中国的进口关税高于美国、欧盟和日本，尽管中国的关税仍低于印度等发展中国家。中国对进口也有许多监管壁垒，并持续保持着巨额贸易顺差，特别是在制造业方面。由于世界各地的公司都把工厂搬到了中国，制造业为中国创造了数千万个就业机会。
President Xi Jinping of China started presenting his country as the new leader of globalization and free trade at the meeting last winter of the World Economic Forum in Davos, Switzerland. The forum's event in Dalian, informally known as Summer Davos, focuses on technology, innovation and potential disrupters to the multinational companies whose executives predominate at the Swiss event.	中国国家主席习近平今年在瑞士达沃斯举行的世界经济论坛冬季年会上，开始把中国作为全球化与自由贸易的新领军者呈现给世界。大连举办的论坛有夏季达沃斯的非正式名称，论坛重点关注技术、创新，以及跨国公司所面临的潜在颠覆，瑞士的活动以这些公司的高管为主。
Mr. Li also addressed two other subjects of broad economic interest during his keynote speech: financial risks in China, and the country's long but gradual slowing of economic growth.	李克强在开幕式致辞中还提到了另外两个经济学家普遍感兴趣的话题：中国的金融风险、以及中国经济增长逐渐放缓的长期趋势。

Small and medium-size businesses are also borrowing heavily from peer-to-peer internet lending groups and other	中国银行和保险公司已经增加了常常具有投机性的、监管不严的投资的销售，这种投资被称为理财产品，是为对房地产开发商和中小企业贷款筹集资金。中小型企业也在对等网络平台，以及其他新兴的、管理不严格的金融创新那里大量借债。

new, lightly regulated financial innovators.
Mr. Li acknowledged financial risks and provided a broad assurance that they would be managed. But he provided no details on how this would be done and emphasized the importance of continued economic growth — the latest hint of the government’s wariness of cracking down too hard on lending for fear of hurting growth.	李克强承认存在金融风险, 并提供了一个泛泛的、将对风险进行管理的保证。但他没有提供如何做的细节, 只是强调了持续经济增长的重要性, 这是政府不想过于压制贷款、担心会影响经济增长的最新暗示。
“We do not deny these risks,” he said. “We are very aware of these risks, but lack of development is the greatest risk.”	“我们不否认,” 他说。“我们已经看到这些风险, 中国不发展是最大的风险。”

One subject that Mr. Li avoided was Liu Xiaobo, the long-imprisoned Nobel Peace laureate, whose lawyers and the prison authorities said on Monday had advanced liver cancer. Mr. Liu was released from prison, at least temporarily, for medical treatment, and the state-controlled news media reported on Tuesday that eight of the country’s top cancer specialists had been assigned to treat him.	李克强避而不谈的一个话题是被长期监禁的诺贝尔和平奖获得者刘晓波。刘晓波的律师和监狱当局周一说, 刘晓波患有晚期肝癌。目前他已至少被临时外保就医, 国家控制的新闻媒体周二报道说, 全国最有名的八位癌症专家被指派为他治病。

DALIAN, China — Three undercover investigators who were seeking evidence of abusive labor practices in the manufacture of Ivanka Trump-branded shoes have been released on bail from a detention center in southeastern China pending a trial, the activist group that employed the investigators said on Wednesday.	中国大连——周三，一个维权团体表示，他们雇佣的三名调查人员已经在中国东南部的一个拘留所取保候审，之前这三人对伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)品牌鞋履代工工厂的虐待劳工状况进行了卧底调查。
Their release on bail represents the first confirmation that the three men have been thrust into China's labyrinthine criminal justice system, and have not just been quietly detained for a few days. China Labor Watch, the group that sent the men into two factories that produce Ivanka Trump shoes, called for them to receive a fair trial.	这三人的取保候审，是对他们已经陷入中国迷宫式的刑事司法系统、不只是被悄悄羁押几天的首次确认。将这些人派到两家生产伊万卡·特朗普鞋履工厂的中国劳工观察(China Labor Watch)组织呼吁对三人进行公平审判。

But Ms. Trump did call in a speech at the State Department on Tuesday for strong action against countries where human trafficking occurs, in conjunction with the release of a United States government report that labeled China as one such country. That report particularly criticized the treatment of migrants in China, however, and not necessarily factory workers.	伊万卡本周二确实在国务院的人口贩卖报告发布的演讲中呼吁，要对存在贩卖人口问题的国家采取强硬立场；该报告将中国列入其中。报告还特别批评了中国对待移民的方式，但没有明确针对工厂工人。
Two of the men — Li Zhao and Hua Haifeng — worked undercover in the giant Dongguan factory of Huajian International, a Chinese company that claims to make shoes worn by one in every 10 women in the United States. The factory has made a wide range of brands of shoes, but makes only the heels of Ivanka Trump-branded footwear.	其中两人——李招和华海峰——在华坚位于东莞的大型工厂工作；华坚是一家中国企业，声称美国每 10 名女性当中就有一人穿着该公司制造的鞋子。它在东莞的工厂为很多品牌生产整鞋，但只为伊万卡·特朗普品牌生产鞋跟。
The heels are then shipped north to a second Huajian factory in Ganzhou that assembles the shoes. The third investigator, Su Heng, worked undercover there off and on from March until he was detained by the Ganzhou police on May 27.	这些鞋跟之后往北运送到华坚在赣州的另一家工厂，进行组装。另外一名活动者苏恒 3 月份就开始断断续续地在赣州的工厂打工，直到 5 月 27 日被赣州警方羁押。

U.S. Seeks to Keep Closer Tabs on Chinese Money in America	中国在美投资面临更严格审查，蚂蚁金服首当其冲
When President Trump talked tough about China's economic impact on America during the campaign, he criticized its trade policies and its approach to its currency.	特朗普在竞选期间态度强硬地谈到中国对美国的经济影响时，对中国的贸易政策及货币政策进行了批评。
Yet one of the first pieces of legislation under the Trump administration that could have a major impact on the economic relationship between the two countries centers on something different: Chinese deal making in the United States.	但是，特朗普政府上台后的首批立法中，可能对两国经济关系产生重大影响的立法却可能聚焦在了别处：中国在美国达成的交易。
White House officials and a group of lawmakers on both sides of the aisle are pushing for new laws intended in part to keep closer tabs on the surge of Chinese money into America. Some in Washington say that money could help China expand its technological and military abilities. While any legislation would face congressional debate and	白宫官员和来自两党的一群立法者正在推行一项新的法律，以密切审视急剧涌入美国的中国资金。华盛顿有人说，这些钱可能被用来帮助中国扩大技术和军事能力。虽然所有立法都要经过国会的辩论和审查，但是特朗普政府的很多贸易和国家安全官员都表示，他们支持美国改革对这种交易的审查方式。

review, a large number of Trump administration employees who deal with both trade and national security have said they support some sort of overhaul of how the United States vets such deals.
The push would expand the powers of a little-known but important panel — the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States, or Cfius — that can effectively block foreign deals for American companies on national security grounds. In particular, it could reshape the ways American technology companies, big and small, raise money from Chinese investors.	这一举措将扩大一个鲜为人知但很重要的委员会的权限, 这个名为外国在美投资委员会 (Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States, 简称 Cfius) 的机构有权以国家安全为由阻止涉及美国公司的外国交易。尤其是, 它可以重塑美国大大小小的科技公司从中国投资者那里筹集资金的方式。
“We’ll try to enable Cfius to take a tougher line against certain investments emanating from those nations that pose a clear threat to our national security, focused particularly in the area of advanced technology,” said Senator John Cornyn, Republican of Texas, who said last week that he would propose the legislation.	上周表示将提出这个立法的得克萨斯州共和党参议员约翰·科宁(John Cornyn)说: “我们将努力促使 Cfius 对某些来自对美安全构成明确威胁的国家的投资, 采取更加强硬的态度, 特别是侧重于高科技领域的投资。”
The Trump administration has not staked out a formal stance, but trade experts are watching how the committee treats a pair of pending deals as a test of the political winds. The first is a $1.2 billion bid by Ant Financial — the electronic payments affiliate of the Alibaba Group, the Chinese e-commerce giant — for a remittances company based in Dallas called MoneyGram. The second is a $1.3 billion offer by a China-backed buyout fund for Lattice Semiconductor, which makes a range of advanced communications and telecommunication chips.	特朗普当局尚未正式表态, 但贸易专家正在观察 Cfius 如何处理两个正在进行中的交易, 把它们当作政治风向标。第一个是蚂蚁金服 (中国电子商务巨头阿里巴巴集团旗下的电子支付业务) 试图以 12 亿美元收购达拉斯的电汇商速汇金(MoneyGram)。第二个是由中国支持的一个收购基金出价 13 亿美元收购莱迪思半导体(Lattice Semiconductor), 该公司的产品涉及一系列先进的通信和电信芯片。
Chinese buyers are pouring more and more money into the United States. In 2016, Chinese investment in America jumped threefold to $46 billion from the year before, according to the research firm Rhodium	中国买家在美国出手越来越大方。调研机构荣鼎咨询(Rhodium Group)的资料显示, 2016 年, 中国在美国的投资比前一年增加了两倍, 达 460 亿美元。中国近年来买下了一些建筑和电影院线。

Group. Chinese purchases in recent years have included buildings and movie theater chains.
But some deals have been in potentially sensitive areas, like semiconductors, which Cfius has increasingly blocked. A growing number have also been among start-ups working on cutting-edge technology, but they are difficult to track and are often too small to be reviewed by Cfius.	但是有一些交易涉及潜在的敏感领域，如半导体领域，Cfius 对这种交易的限制力度越来越大。越来越多的交易涉及尖端科技行业的初创企业，但这些交易很难跟踪，规模也往往太小，无法提交到 Cfius 那里进行审查。
In a report this year that was first reported by The New York Times, the Pentagon said it was concerned about the flow of Chinese investment into start-ups working on important technology like artificial intelligence, robotics and augmented reality.	在《纽约时报》今年率先发布的一篇报道中，五角大楼表示，中国在人工智能、机器人和增强现实等重要技术领域投资美国的初创公司，这种现象让他们感到担心。
Critics also argue that Beijing and companies supported by the government have sought to form joint ventures or license technology, neither of which Cfius currently reviews.	评论人士还表示，北京以及政府支持的公司也在试图组建合资企业或获得技术授权，Cfius 目前还没有对这些方面进行审查。
“There is a perception that different financial structures are being used to avoid potential Cfius oversight,” said Andrew Shapiro, a founder of the advisory firm Beacon Global Strategies and former assistant secretary of state for political-military affairs. “So they will try to close those loopholes.”	“有一种观点认为，他们使用不同的金融结构，来避免可能遭到的 Cfius 审查。”灯塔全球战略咨询公司(Beacon Global Strategies)创始人、负责政治军事事务的前助理国务卿安德鲁·夏皮罗(Andrew Shapiro)表示，“所以 Cfius 会试图填补这些漏洞。”
Over the past two years, Cfius (pronounced sih-fee-us) has broken up a number of major Chinese bids for semiconductor companies, leading to Chinese complaints.	过去两年里，Cfius（念作 sih-fee-us）阻止了中国对半导体企业的若干起重大收购尝试，引致了中国的抱怨。
It is unclear how China’s government would respond to the revamped regulator, but the move would most likely stoke some tensions. At a recent news conference, Lu Kang, a spokesman for the Foreign Ministry,	尚不清楚中国政府会对改革扩权后的该监管机构作何回应，但此举极有可能引发紧张局势。在最近的一个新闻发布会上，中国外交部发言人陆慷说，“我们主张外界不要对这些商业并购案作过多政治解读，更不要进行政治上的干

said, "There should not be undue political dimensions imposed on commercial takeovers, let alone political intervention."	扰。”
Xiaohe Cheng, an associate professor at the School of International Studies at Renmin University in Beijing, added that some of Cfius's recent decisions were "discriminative towards Chinese companies."	位于北京的人民大学国际关系学院副教授成晓河也说，Cfius 最近的一些决定是“歧视中国企业”。
Yet foreign businesses often complain of an unfair operating environment in China, and increasingly American officials have begun seeking what they call reciprocity, or bringing American limits on Chinese investment closer to China's limits on American investment there. Beijing forbids foreign investors from acquiring meaningful stakes in companies in a number of industries, including the media, internet and telecommunications.	但外国企业也经常抱怨中国的经营环境不公平，美国官员也越来越多的开始寻求他们所说的对等，或者说让美国对中国投资的限制更接近中国对美国投资的限制。北京禁止外国投资者收购很多行业，包括媒体、互联网和电信行业公司的大量股份。
Such an initiative in the United States would have far wider economic implications and is likely to be dealt with separately from the coming legislation on Cfius.	在美国，这样一个行动带来的经济影响会广泛得多，而且很可能在即将到来的 Cfius 立法之外另行进行。
Recently, several Trump administration officials, including Wilbur Ross, the secretary of commerce, have also expressed support for expanding the committee.	最近，特朗普政府的多名官员，包括商务部长威尔伯·罗斯(Wilbur Ross)，也表示支持扩大该委员会的权限。

Ant Financial, the Alibaba affiliate, outbid a company based in Kansas called Euronet Worldwide to acquire MoneyGram. Some lawmakers, led by representatives from Kansas and Texas, where MoneyGram is based, have said an Ant purchase would expose the personal financial details of American users.	隶属于阿里巴巴的蚂蚁金服收购速汇金的出价，高于总部设在堪萨斯的公司 Euronet Worldwide。以来自堪萨斯州和速汇金所在地得克萨斯州的议员为首的一些议员称，蚂蚁金服收购速汇金会暴露美国用户的详细个人财务信息。
Douglas Feagin, Ant Financial's head of international operations, said in an interview that the company intended to allow MoneyGram to continue to operate on its own and that the data it had would continue to be stored in the United States on a network separate from Ant's networks.	蚂蚁金服国际事业部总裁道格拉斯·费根(Douglas Feagin)在接受采访时说，公司计划允许速汇金继续独立经营，公司掌握的数据继续存储在美国的一个网络上，该网络独立于蚂蚁金服的网路之外。

While industry and policy analysts say it could be difficult to argue that MoneyGram is important to national security, the potential deal for Lattice Semiconductor offers a more straightforward argument.	尽管行业和政策分析人士表示，说速汇金对国家安全有重要意义可能有些牵强，但有关雷特斯半导体的潜在交易则更有说服力。
The Pentagon report released this year cites the bid for Lattice from a venture capital firm called Canyon Bridge as an example of a tactic used to skirt government oversight. The purpose of creating Canyon Bridge, a private equity fund with links to China, was to obscure the source of capital to "enhance the possibility" that the transaction would be approved by Cfius, the report said.	五角大楼今年发布的报告，把坎宁布里奇资本公司(Canyon Bridge)竞购雷特斯一事，当作一个用来规避政府监管策略的例子。报告称，创立与中国有关系的私募股权基金坎宁布里奇资本公司的目的，正是为了掩盖资金来源，令 Cfius 批准交易的"可能性提高"。

The coming debate about Cfius is likely to be undergirded by concerns about reciprocity.	对于对等的担心，可能会加强即将出现的有关 Cfius 的争论。

Hackers Find 'Ideal Testing Ground' for Attacks: Developing Countries	人工智能用于网络攻击，发展中国家成试验场
SAN FRANCISCO — The attack had the hallmarks of something researchers had dreaded for years: malicious software using artificial intelligence that could lead to a new digital arms race in which A.I.-driven defenses battled A.I.-driven offenses while humans watched from the sidelines.	旧金山——这种网络攻击带有多年来研究人员极为担心的特征：使用人工智能的恶意软件可能导致新的数字军备竞赛，以人工智能为主的防御措施与以人工智能为主的进攻手段在网上决一胜负，人类只能站在一边观看。
But what was not as widely predicted was that one of the earliest instances of that sort of malware was found in India, not in a sophisticated British banking system or a government network in the United States.	但是，没有被广泛预测的事情是，这类恶意软件的最早实例之一是在印度发现的，而不是在英国先进的银行系统或美国的政府网络中。
Security researchers are increasingly looking in countries outside the West to discover the newest, most creative and potentially most dangerous types of cyberattacks being deployed.	安全研究人员正越来越多地在西方以外的国家发现这类网络攻击软件的最新、最有创意和最具潜在危险的使用。

As developing economies rush to go online, they provide a fertile testing ground for hackers trying their skills in an environment where they can evade detection before deploying them against a company or state that has more advanced defenses.	由于发展中国家急于上网，它们已为黑客们提供了肥沃的沃土，让其在能躲避检测的环境中测试自己的技术，然后用这种技术对具有更先进防御的公司或国家发动进攻。
The cyberattack in India used malware that could learn as it was spreading, and altered its methods to stay in the system for as long as possible. Those were “early indicators” of A.I., according to the cybersecurity company Darktrace. Essentially, the malware could figure out its surroundings and mimic the behavior of the system’s users, though Darktrace said the firm had found the program before it could do any damage.	印度发生的这次网络攻击使用的恶意软件在其传播过程中就能自我学习，并且不断改变方法，以尽可能长时间地待在计算机系统中。据网络安全公司 Darktrace 说，这些都是人工智能的“早期迹象”。本质上，这类恶意软件可以弄清楚它的周边环境，并模仿系统中用户的行为，不过 Darktrace 表示，公司已经在该程序可能会造成任何损害之前将其发现。
“India is a place where newer A.I. attacks might be seen for the first time, simply because it is an ideal testing ground for those sorts of attacks,” said Nicole Eagan, the chief executive of Darktrace.	Darktrace 首席执行官尼科尔·伊根(Nicole Eagan)说，“印度也许是新型人工智能网络攻击被首先观察到的地方，这是只不过是印度为这种攻击提供了理想的测试场。”
At times, these attacks are simply targeting more susceptible victims. While companies in the United States will often employ half a dozen security firms’ products as defensive measures, a similar company elsewhere may have just one line of defense — if any.	有时，这种攻击只针对更易受伤害的对象。虽然美国的公司通常会使用六家安全公司的产品作为防御措施，但其他地方的类似公司即使有防御的话，可能也只有一种。
In the case of attacks carried out by a nation-state, companies in the United States can hope to receive a warning or assistance from the federal government, while companies elsewhere will often be left to fend for themselves.	在面临一个独立国家发动的攻击时，美国的公司可以指望得到联邦政府的警告或帮助，而其他地方的公司往往只能靠自己去解决问题。
Cybersecurity experts now speculate that a February 2016 attack on the central bank of Bangladesh, believed to have been carried out by hackers linked to North Korea, was a precursor to similar attacks on	网络安全专家现在推断，被认为是与朝鲜有关的黑客发动的、2016年2月对孟加拉国中央银行系统的攻击，使用的是对越南和厄瓜多尔发动类似攻击的软件的前身。 banks in Vietnam and Ecuador.

That hackers managed to steal $81 million from the Bangladesh Bank generated headlines because of the size of the heist. But what interested cybersecurity experts was that attackers had taken advantage of a previously unexplored weakness in the bank's computers by undermining its accounts on Swift, the international money transfer system that banks use to move billions of dollars among themselves each day.	黑客们从孟加拉国银行窃取了 8100 万美元，盗窃的规模之大使其成为各地的新闻。不过，让网络安全专家感兴趣的是，黑客通过破坏银行的 Swift 的账户，利用了银行计算机系统以前不为人知的一个弱点，Swift 是银行间每天进行数十亿美元转帐的国际汇款系统。
It was an unprecedented form of cyberattack. But since then, the cybersecurity firm Symantec has found the method used against banks in 31 countries.	那是一次以前没有看到过的网络攻击形式。但那以后，网络安全公司赛门铁克(Symantec)已发现该方法被用于攻击 31 个国家的银行系统。
The malware discovered by Darktrace researchers stopped short of being a full-fledged A.I.-driven piece of software. It did, however, learn while it was in the system, trying to copy the actions of the network in order to blend in.	Darktrace 研究人员发现的恶意软件还不是一个完全由人工智能主导的软件。但它确实在侵入系统后进行了自我学习，试图模仿网络的行为以蒙混过关。
"What was concerning was that this attack, once it got into the network, used A.I. techniques, like trying to learn the behaviors of employees on the network, to remain undetected for as long as possible," Ms. Eagan said. She said she saw a future in which countries raced against one another to hire people skilled in developing complex algorithms that could be used to run such malware.	"令人担忧的是，这种攻击一旦进入网络后，它能使用人工智能，像比如试图学习公司雇员在网络上的行为，让自己尽可能长时间地不被发现，"伊根说。她说，她看到这样一种各国相互竞争的未来，他们雇用熟悉复杂算法研发的人，这些算法可用来操作这类恶意软件。
Ms. Eagan's company, which has headquarters in Cambridge, England, and San Francisco, has increasingly found hacking incidents in India since it expanded there.	伊根的公司分别在英国剑桥和旧金山设有总部，公司自从进入印度以来，已在那里发现了多次黑客入侵事件。
As other cybersecurity companies enter Southeast Asia, Africa and	随着其他网络安全公司进军东南亚、非洲，以及世界上以前不受关注的其他

other parts of the world where they have not had much presence, they will continue to discover new types of malware being tested in those markets, said Allan Liska, a senior threat intelligence analyst at Recorded Future, a cybersecurity firm based in Somerville, Mass.	地方, 这些公司将继续发现在这些市场进行测试的新型恶意软件, Recorded Future 公司的高级威胁情报分析师艾伦·里斯卡(Allan Liska)说, 这家公司位于马萨诸塞州的萨默维尔市。
"For several years, Taiwan and South Korea have been proven testing grounds for some of the more advanced groups in China," Mr. Liska said. "Those countries have high-speed internet, widespread internet penetration and not a lot of security infrastructure in place."	"几年来, 台湾和韩国已被证明是中国一些更先进的小组的测试场," 里斯卡说。"这些国家拥有高速互联网, 大范围的互联网普及率, 但没有投入很多的网络安全基础设施。"
He added: "We see a pattern among the attackers. They test something, make improvements, and then six weeks later test again before launching it at their true targets."	他补充说: "我们看到攻击者中的一种模式。他们先测试一些东西, 对其进行改进, 六周后再次测试软件, 然后将其用于真正的目标。"
As internet use has expanded in Africa, Mr. Liska said, his company has noticed an increase in so-called spear-phishing attacks in which hackers appear to be testing their skills in English- and French-speaking African countries. Spear phishing employs messages that appear innocuous but contain dangerous malware. They are one of the most popular forms of cyberattacks, though they largely depend on the attackers' ability to hone a message that can fool a victim into opening a link or attachment.	里斯卡说, 随着互联网的使用在非洲推广, 他的公司注意到所谓的钓鱼诈骗攻击有所增加, 黑客似乎在测试讲英语和讲法语的国家测试自己的技能。钓鱼是指把危险的东西藏在看似无害的信息里的恶意软件。钓鱼软件是最受欢迎的网络攻击形式之一, 虽然它们在很大程度上取决于攻击者是否编出让欺骗受害者打开链接或附件的信息。
He said that in the spear-phishing tests his company had found, attackers appeared to be testing their language, but did not include the actual malware in the link, what he described as the payload.	里斯卡表示, 在他的公司发现的钓鱼软件测试中, 攻击者似乎是在测试他们的语言能力, 所给的链接中实际上并没有包括他称之为有效载荷的恶意软件。
"They save that payload for when they are going to actually launch their attack in whatever French- or English-speaking country they are after," Mr. Liska said.	"他们把有效载荷留了下来, 以便以后在对某个法语国或英语国发动攻击时用上," 里斯卡说。

Countries across Southeast Asia and the Middle East that have come online over the last decade have been tempting targets for hackers, said Chris Rock, an Australian security researcher and chief executive of the cybersecurity firm Kustodian.	在过去十年中陆续上网的东南亚和中东国家都已经成为对黑客有诱惑力的对象，克里斯·洛克(Chris Rock)说，他在澳大利亚研究网络安全，是网络安全公司 Kustodian 的首席执行官。
"They are a testing ground for different kinds of environments," he said. "For hackers, they can be low-hanging fruit."	"他们是不同环境的测试场所，"他说。"对于黑客来说，他们可能是低挂果实。"
Doing tests in a country that presumably has fewer defenses is a double-edged sword, Mr. Rock said. On one hand, attackers can hone their skills. On the other hand, they risk being discovered. Once a cybersecurity firm has the signature of an attack, it can build defenses against it, and spread those defenses among its clients.	洛克说，在一个假设防御力较小的国家进行测试是一把双刃剑。一方面，攻击者可以磨练他们的技能。另一方面，他们有被发现的风险。网络安全公司一旦发现攻击的特征，就可以对其进行防范，并将这些防御措施传播给其客户。
Mr. Rock said that if one target "has, actually, installed a good defense and you get caught, then you have wasted your time."	洛克说，如果一个目标"其实安装了一个很好的防御软件，将你抓住了，那你就白费了自己的时间。"

Solar Trade Case, With Trump as Arbiter, Could Upend Market	中国资本卷入美国太阳能关税案
Millions of Americans now get their electricity, at least in part, from the solar panels that have rapidly spread throughout the country since 2010, thanks to their sharply declining cost. For customers — including homeowners, businesses and utilities — as well as for the companies that promote and install them, cheap solar panels have been a good thing.	目前有数以百万计的美国人通过太阳能电池板获得电力，至少是部分电力。由于价格急剧下降，太阳能电池板自 2010 年以来迅速在全美普及。对于顾客——包括房主、企业主和公用事业部门——以及推广和安装它们的公司来说，廉价的太阳能电池板是个好东西。
But for U.S. manufacturers, those cheap panels — specifically, a glut of low-cost supplies from overseas — have not been a good thing, driving more than a dozen of them to the brink of bankruptcy and beyond.	但是对于美国的制造商来说，这些廉价的电池板，特别是大量来自海外的低成本电池板，不是什么好事，它已经导致至少十多家厂商破产或者处在破产边缘。

Now, manufacturers are fighting back, in an unusual trade case that could put the final decision about government intervention, and any remedy, directly in President Donald Trump's hands.	现在美国制造商发起了反击，这是一宗非同寻常的案子，它可以把政府干预的最终决定权以及补救措施直接交到特朗普总统的手中。
The case, filed with the U.S. International Trade Commission, is shaping up to be one of the first major trade decisions of the Trump administration. The outcome could have a powerful impact on whether the American solar industry will be able to compete on cost with conventional fuels like natural gas and coal in producing electricity.	向美国国际贸易委员会(U.S. International Trade Commission)提交的这个案子，正在塑造特朗普行政当局的首批重大贸易决定之一。其结果可能会对美国太阳能产业是否能与天然气、煤炭等常规发电燃料进行竞争产生巨大影响。
And China, Trump's frequent foil on trade issues, has interests on both sides of the fight.	中国是特朗普在贸易问题上常常指责的对象，它在这个案子的双方均有利益牵涉。
The cheaper equipment coming into the U.S. market is often from Chinese manufacturers that the trade commission previously determined were dumping goods below cost, according to the petition. But the company that initiated the new case, Suniva, is an equipment maker based in Georgia whose majority owner is a Chinese company.	申请书显示，进入美国市场的便宜电池板通常来自一些中国制造商，贸易委员会之前已经认定这些制造商以低于成本的价格将电池板倾销到美国。但是，提交这个新案子申请、位于乔治亚州的公司 Suniva，其多数股份持有者是一家中国公司。
The petition seeks steep tariffs and minimum price guarantees on certain solar energy equipment made outside the United States. The commission is set to vote on the merits of the case by Sept. 22, and send any recommendations to the president by Nov. 13. But it is already reshaping the market.	申请书要求对美国以外的某些太阳能设备大幅提高关税，获得最低价格保证。委员会将于9月22日之前对该案件的案情进行表决，并于11月13日之前向总统提供建议。但是这个案子现在就已经在改变太阳能电池板市场的面貌了。
Prices for solar panels have increased as buyers rush to get ahead of potential tariffs. Solar-farm developers have become skittish about long-term commitments to supply power at prices that could become uneconomical if tariffs, which can be applied retroactively, raise their costs.	因为买家急于赶在预期的关税增加之前下手，太阳能电池板的价格已经开始上涨，太阳能农场开发商对于长期承诺以一定的价格供应电力变得不太情愿，因为关税会导致成本增加，再用那个价格供电可能会变得不经济，而且关税的征收可能还会有追溯力。

"It clearly throws a wrench into what is already a challenged global market," said Shawn Kravetz, president of Esplanade Capital, a hedge fund based in Boston that is focused on solar energy companies. "There are going to be winners and losers. The list of losers is long."	"对于一个已经备受挑战的全球性市场来说，这显然是个麻烦。有人会赢，有人会输。失败者的名单会很长。"投资太阳能公司的波士顿对冲基金滨海资本(Esplanade Capital)的总裁肖恩·克拉韦茨(Shawn Kravetz)表示。
Though Suniva, once lauded on the White House blog as "an American success story" during the Obama administration, originally filed the petition in April, it is in many ways the next skirmish in a protracted war between the United States and China that started in 2011. The dispute centers on crystalline silicon cells, the major electricity-producing components, as well as the modules, or panels, into which they are assembled.	在奥巴马政府期间，白宫博客曾经称赞 Suniva 是“美国式成功的一个案例”，它于今年 4 月份提交了这一申请，但从很多方面来说，这其实是中美自 2011 年开始的一场长期战争中的下一个冲突点。它涉及的重点包括主要的发电部件晶硅电池，以及它们和其他部件组成的模块，也就是电池板。
Back then, SolarWorld Americas, a subsidiary of a now-bankrupt German panel maker, filed a trade complaint along with six other domestic solar manufacturers that accused their Chinese counterparts of using unfair government subsidies to finance their operations and then selling their merchandise for less than the cost of manufacturing and shipping it.	当时，一家现已破产的德国电池板制造商的子公司 SolarWorld Americas 与其他六家美国太阳能制造商提起贸易诉讼，指责中国同行在生产经营中获得了不公平的政府补贴，然后以低于制造和运输成本的价格出售产品。
SolarWorld, which has joined Suniva's petition, won that battle, as well as a second case that included Taiwan, where Chinese manufacturers had turned for cells to avoid anticipated tariffs.	SolarWorld 赢了那场诉讼，后来又赢得了第二个案子——中国制造商为了避免被征收预期中的关税，改从台湾供应电池，第二个案子把台湾包含在了征税范围之内。目前 SolarWorld 已经加入了 Suniva 的申请行动。
After the imposition of tariffs beginning in 2012 that ranged from about 20 percent to about 55 percent for the largest cell and panel makers, manufacturers outside China and Taiwan — including those in the United States like SolarWorld and Suniva — saw their fortunes rise. In 2014, SolarWorld Americas, based in Oregon, announced a $10 million	2012 年开始对最大的电池和面板制造商征收 20%到 55%左右的关税后，中国和台湾以外的制造商——包括美国 SolarWorld、Suniva 等在内的制造商的财富都增长了。2014 年，位于俄勒冈州的 SolarWorld Americas 宣布斥资 1000 万美元扩建工厂，并计划聘请数以百计的新员工，来满足顾客对太阳能电池板激增的需求。

expansion of its plant and plans to hire hundreds more workers to meet surging demand for solar panels.
Suniva had grown out of government-supported research at Georgia Tech to become one of the largest U.S. makers of solar cells and finished modules. But the much larger Chinese manufacturers that came to dominate the global market kept up the pressure on price. Seeking a much-needed infusion of cash to finance an anticipated expansion, Suniva sold a majority stake in 2015 to a Chinese company, Shunfeng International Clean Energy, which wanted to get a foothold in what it believed was a growing U.S. market.	Suniva 是乔治亚理工大学(Georgia Tech)获得政府扶持的研究转化而成的企业，已经成为美国最大的太阳能电池和完整模块制造商之一。但是，在全球市场上占有主导地位的中国制造商的规模要大得多，一直在价格上对其他厂商存在压力。Suniva 为了实施扩张计划亟需大量现金，因此在 2015 年将大部分股权出售给了中国企业顺风国际清洁能源公司，该公司认为美国市场在日益增长，希望能在其中占据一席之地。
Then came a glut of cheap, new panels as Chinese manufacturers began operating or contracting with factories in countries like Malaysia, Thailand and Vietnam, the petition charges. Last year, the Chinese government suggested it might slash its domestic incentives for buyers of solar panels, sharply reducing demand for equipment and adding to the oversupply. Manufacturers cut their prices to compensate, which sent global prices plummeting. Even though China ended up shaving subsidies just slightly and only for large power-plant arrays, prices remained low.	申请书显示，之后随着中国生产商开始运营马来西亚、泰国和越南等国家的工厂，或与之签订合同，市场上出现了便宜的新电池板供过于求的情况。中国政府去年曾表示，有可能削减给太阳能电池板买家提供的国内补贴，由此大幅降低了对生产设备的需求，加重了供给过剩的情况。生产商于是纷纷降价作为补偿，这令太阳能板全球价格暴跌。尽管中国最终只是略微减少了一些补贴，而且只针对一些大型电厂阵列，但价格依然保持在低位。
As panel prices dropped to about 40 cents per watt in late 2016 from 57 cents per watt in 2015, American solar installations reached a record high, making solar energy the biggest source of new electricity generation last year. But the domestic industry's share of the panel market, which had been declining since 2013, tumbled to 11 percent in 2016 from 17.1 percent the previous year, according to the market	随着太阳能电池板的价格从 2015 年的每瓦特 57 美分降到了 2016 年末的每瓦特 40 美分，美国的太阳能安装量达到了历史新高，使其成为去年新电力生产的最大来源。但据市场研究公司 IBISWorld 的统计，国内行业在太阳能板市场中所占的份额，自 2013 年以来就一直下降，2016 年又从前一年的 17.1% 跌至 11%。

In those conditions, Suniva could not compete as a supplier. Starting in March it shuttered its two factories in Michigan and Georgia, laying off about 250 workers, and in April it filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection. About a week later, it secured a loan from one of its creditors to pursue the trade case.	在这种情况下，Suniva 作为供应商无力参与竞争。从今年3月开始，它关闭了自己在密歇根州和佐治亚州的两家工厂，裁掉了大约250名工人，今年4月又根据破产法第11章申请了破产保护。大约一周之后，为进行这场贸易诉讼，Suniva 从自己的一位债权人那里得到一笔贷款。
With control of Suniva in the hands of the bankruptcy court, Shunfeng declared in May that it no longer supported the company's trade case, saying it was "not in the best interests of the global solar industry." It said in March that it would take a charge of roughly $38 million on its Suniva investment, though it could still benefit if the company prevails in the case.	随着 Suniva 命运的决定权落到破产法院的手中，顺风国际在今年5月宣布它将不再支持这家公司的贸易诉讼，称这“不是对全球太阳能行业最有利的做法”。顺风国际还在今年3月表示，它会为自身在 Suniva 的投资索要约3800万美元的回报，不过如果 Suniva 在这起诉讼案中获胜，它依然可以从中受益。
Opponents say the case threatens many of the hundreds of thousands of workers whose jobs could be eliminated in an industry slowdown. Those include people who install, finance and oversee the development of large-scale solar projects, as well as manufacturers of support structures for the panels and devices that regulate the flow of electricity from them.	反对者表示，这个案件会威胁到几十万工人中的许多人，一旦这个行业陷入衰退，这些人的工作职位将会不保。其中包括安装、资助和监督大型太阳能项目发展的人，以及生产太阳能电池板支撑结构和电池电流调节设备的厂商。
According to a report from GTM Research, a consultancy that tracks the solar industry and provides data and analysis for the industry's main trade group, the Solar Energy Industries Association, which is aggressively fighting the petition, a finding in Suniva's favor could reduce expected installations over the next five years by 50 percent.	咨询公司 GTM Research 发布的一份报告显示，一项有利于 Suniva 的裁决会令接下来五年里的安装量减少50%。这家咨询公司为业内主要的行业组织太阳能行业协会(Solar Energy Industries Association)追踪太阳能行业信息，提供数据与分析；该协会竭力抵制这场诉讼。
Adding to anxiety in the industry is the potential role of Trump, who would have broad leeway to determine how to proceed should the	令这个行业的担忧进一步加剧的，是特朗普可能会在其中扮演的角色。一旦委员会发现国内太阳能行业已经因进口激增而受损，他有很大的余地决定如

Though the president has pledged to increase manufacturing jobs, he has not offered the same full-throated support as his predecessor for solar energy. Proponents see solar energy as an important weapon in the fight against climate change, making its ability to compete economically with conventional sources – a concept known as grid parity – even more critical.	尽管这位总统曾经承诺增加制造业职位,但他没有像自己的前任那样全力支持太阳能的发展。支持者将太阳能看作对抗气候变化的重要武器,这令它在经济性上与传统能源竞争的能力——一种被称为市电同价(grid parity)的概念——变得更加关键。
“Grid parity is of the utmost importance, so that we are competing on price and price alone,” Abigail Ross Hopper, chief executive of the solar trade group, said. “If you change the underpinnings of that, it undermines what we’re doing.”	“市电同价是最重要的,那样我们才能在价格上与之竞争,也单就价格竞争,”太阳能行业协会首席执行官阿贝盖尔·罗斯·霍珀(Abigail Ross Hopper)说。“如果你改变这一点的基础,它就会破坏我们正在做的事。”

China’s Vision for a Straddling Bus Dissolves in Scandal and Arrests	立体快巴的神话在骗钱丑闻中破灭
HONG KONG — Maybe a giant tram rolling over pesky cars clogging the streets wasn’t the answer to China’s traffic congestion woes. A Chinese inventor’s plan to develop such a vehicle, called a “traffic-straddling bus,” has been effectively killed after 32 people from an investment company that backed the project were arrested.	香港——也许一辆巨型有轨电车从堵塞道路的讨厌的汽车上方行驶并非中国交通拥堵困境的解决方案。一位中国发明家开发这种被称为“空中巴士”车辆的计划,在支持这个项目的投资公司的32名员工被逮捕后,实际上已经告终。
The bus was designed to ride on tracks, but with its body elevated so that two lanes of traffic could pass underneath. Some 1,200 passengers were to have ridden between specialized stops.	这种大巴被设计为在轨道上行驶,车身下方有很大的空间,足以容纳两条车道的车流通过。按照设计,约1200名乘客可在专门的车站之间乘坐这种公交车。
But critics raised many questions, including the expense of installing tracks and stations, whether tall trucks would get stuck underneath and	但评论人士提出了许多问题,包括修建轨道和车站的费用、车身较高的卡车是否会卡在“巴铁”下面,以及该车给小型车辆和行人带来的风险等。

"Cars under the belly of the big vehicle would have no way to change direction, and even changing lanes would be dangerous," The Beijing News said last year.	《新京报》去年的报道说，“小车在大车肚子底下是没有办法改变行驶方向的，甚至连变换车道都成为了一件相当危险的事。”

In subsequent months, the Chinese news media and investors raised pointed questions about the company behind the project, Huaying Kailai. The company promoted the “reliability” of investing in public-private partnerships like the bus initiative and promised annual returns of up to 12 percent. A New York Times reporter who visited Huaying Kailai’s office in September saw walls lined with photographs of the owner, Bai Zhiming, with celebrities, entrepreneurs and local officials. A half-dozen investors stopped by over an hour. Some left with gifts and grocery bags full of cash.	在接下来的几个月里，中国新闻媒体和投资者对这个项目背后的华赢凯来公司提出了许多尖锐的问题。这家公司称其推销的政府与企业伙伴关系投资（比如用于上述巴士项目的）“很可靠”，还承诺高达12%的年回报率。《纽约时报》的记者去年9月去华赢凯来办公室采访时，看到墙上挂满了公司董事长白志明与名人、企业家，以及地方官员的合影。在一小时的采访中，办公室接待了5、6名投资者。有些投资者离开的时候带着公司送的礼品以及装满现金的购物袋。
"We are just a private tech company. We are not a briefcase company for illegal fund-raising," Zhang Wei, the director of development and planning for TEB Tech, the Huaying Kailai subsidiary that developed the bus, told the reporter. Court Freezes $182 Million in Assets of Chinese Internet Tycoon	债台高筑，乐视系公司和贾跃亭资产被冻结
BEIJING — A court in Shanghai has frozen $182 million in assets tied to the chairman of the Chinese technology company LeEco after one of its affiliates missed loan payments.	北京——乐视控股名下的一家子公司未能按时偿还贷款之后，上海一家法院冻结了乐视董事长名下总值 12.37 亿元人民币的资产。
The ruling last week by the Shanghai High People's Court was the latest setback for the chairman, Jia Yueting, and for LeEco, which has piled on debt in recent years to fuel its ambitious expansion.	上海高级人民法院上周的裁决是乐视董事长贾跃亭和乐视控股遭受的最新挫折。近年来，为推动其雄心勃勃的扩张计划，乐视债台高筑。
A company spokesman confirmed that the court had frozen assets connected to a loan for LeEco's mobile phone business, Le Mobile, but said collateral was enough to cover the debt. Nie Chengzhi, LeEco's vice president of finance, said the company would work with China Merchants Bank on repayment. In an emailed statement, the bank said it had taken legal action after many attempts to recover interest owed by Le Mobile.	公司的一名发言人证实，法庭冻结了与乐视手机业务乐视移动的贷款有关的资产，但表示抵押物足以偿还债务。乐视控股财务副总裁聂承志（音）说，公司正在与招商银行讨论偿还贷款的问题。招商银行在用电子邮件发来的声明中表示，在多次催促乐视移动支付所欠利息无果后，招行已采取了法律手段。

The frozen assets belonged to Mr. Jia, his wife, and three LeEco affiliates, the state news agency Xinhua reported, citing court documents.	官方通讯社新华社援引法庭文件说，被冻结的资产属于贾跃亭夫妇、以及乐视系的三家子公司。
It is a personal blow for Mr. Jia, one of China's most outspoken technology figures, who in recent years had pledged to challenge American giants like Apple and Tesla. His ambitions propelled LeEco from its start in internet video into a dizzying array of new businesses, including online wine delivery and electric cars. Mr. Jia remains the primary shareholder of Faraday Future, a troubled Los Angeles-based electric car venture with 1,400 employees.	贾跃亭是中国最敢讲话的技术领军者之一，近年来，他曾多次发誓要挑战苹果和特斯拉等美国巨头。对他个人来说，资产被冻结是一个打击。乐视是以互联网视频起家的，贾跃亭的雄心把公司业务拓展到一系列令人眼花缭乱的新领域，包括网购葡萄酒和电动汽车。贾跃亭仍是法拉第未来(Faraday Future)的主要股东，这家有 1400 名员工、总部设在洛杉矶的电动汽车公司目前境况不佳。
All that investment required heavy borrowing. Since the start of 2016, LeEco brought in at least $6 billion in financing from investors big and small, but it saw little in the way of a payoff.	所有这些投资需要大笔贷款。自 2016 年初起，乐视从大小投资者那里募集了至少 60 亿美元的资金，但公司还没有给投资者带来多少收益。
Mr. Jia first admitted the cash crunch last autumn. Last week, at a shareholder meeting of LeEco's main publicly listed arm, Leshi Internet, he acknowledged that the company had made mistakes in allocating funds.	去年秋天，贾跃亭首次承认公司面临资金危机。上周，在乐视的主要上市公司乐视网的股东大会上，贾跃亭承认公司在资金安排上犯了错误。
"The cash problems at the nonpublicly traded businesses are more serious than when this crisis erupted," Mr. Jia told investors, according to a transcript of his remarks. "Our businesses are constantly using cash to repay loans, having a huge impact on their operations."	"乐视非上市公司体系的资金反而比危机刚爆发的时候更加紧张，"据他的发言记录，贾跃亭对投资者这样说。"业务线也在不断筹集资金偿还贷款，导致业务受到了较大的影响。"
At the meeting, Mr. Jia indicated that LeEco was having difficulty securing additional loans. As of Leshi Internet's most recent filing, Mr. Jia had pledged 97 percent of his shares in the company to back loans that as of November totaled $1.7 billion.	贾跃亭在股东大会上表示，乐视在获得进一步贷款上遇到了困难。据乐视网最近提交的文件，贾跃亭已拿出他所持公司股份的 97%为贷款担保，截至去年 11 月，公司债务总计为 17 亿美元。

LeEco has also started selling assets to raise cash. Last week, its ride-sharing affiliate, Yidao Yongche, announced a change in control, without naming the new controlling shareholder. The company had for months delayed paying many of its drivers.	乐视也开始靠出售资产来筹集现金。上周，乐视系的汽车共享子公司易到用车宣布，公司的控股权已经改变，但没有给出新控股股东的名字。易到拖欠许多司机的工资已有好几个月了。 order.

While Mexican negotiators waited for the United States to make its first move in its proposed renegotiation of the North American Free Trade Agreement, the president last week turned on the invective against another trade deal he called unfair — that negotiated by the Obama administration with South Korea.	美国拟就北美自由贸易协定（North American Free Trade Agreement，简称 NAFTA）重新进行谈判，当墨西哥谈判代表等待其迈出第一步的时候，特朗普总统上周又把矛头对准了另一项据他说不公平的贸易协议——那是由奥巴马政府和韩国达成的。
Largely in place with the confirmation of Robert Lighthizer as the nation's top trade diplomat in May, the president's trade team seems itching to deploy a wall of trade protection around the U.S.	罗伯特·莱特希泽(Robert Lighthizer)出任美国贸易代表一事在 5 月确定下来以后，总统的贸易团队基本就位。该团队似乎非常想在美国周围竖起贸易保护之墙。
This would include new tariffs on imports of steel — and maybe also aluminum — based on the novel argument that the imports somehow endanger national security. The administration is also mulling anti-dumping duties on Canadian aircraft and countervailing duties on imported solar panels.	这将包括依据一项新奇的主张——进口对国家安全构成了某种威胁——增设钢铁进口关税，也许还有铝。此外本届政府正在考虑对加拿大航空器征收反倾销税，对进口太阳能板征收反补贴税。
A lot of this may look tame when set alongside Trump's fiery campaign speeches portraying trade as the bane of the American worker. He no longer calls for a 45 percent tariff on imports from China, nor does he threaten to walk away from NAFTA.	然而这些和特朗普总统在竞选演说中的激烈言辞比起来显得缓和了许多，在演讲中他把贸易说成是美国工人不幸的根源。如今他不再主张对进口自中国的商品征收 45% 的关税，也不再扬言退出 NAFTA。
Despite his campaign promises to voters in industrial states eager for protectionism, some analysts suggested that Trump might ultimately be hemmed in by the standard pro-trade orthodoxy of the Republican Party.	尽管特朗普在竞选期间对迫切希望看到保护主义抬头的工业州选民作出过种种承诺，但一些分析人士认为，他最终可能会受到共和党一贯的贸易促进传统思维的制约。
But the relative moderation of the administration's recent trade initiatives is hardly reassuring. It's not just that many of his proposals will invite retaliation from the nation's trading partners — inviting the	不过，特朗普政府近期相对温和的贸易主张很难令人放心。这不仅是因为他的很多方案将招来美国的贸易伙伴的报复——有可能引发旷日持久、针锋相对的贸易战。特朗普的方针最可怕的一面在于，它看上去是对二战以来为全

prospect of a protracted tit-for-tat trade war. The most frightening aspect of Trump's approach is the seeming contempt for the rules and institutions that have underpinned global trade since World War II.	球贸易提供支撑的规则和制度的蔑视。
Might Trump hew to the rules overseen by the World Trade Organization even as he retreats from prior U.S. commitments to global trade? Or will he eschew the multilateral framework in pursuit of a set of bilateral deals, turning his back on a long history of trade diplomacy?	特朗普会在不兑现美国早前的国际贸易承诺的情况下，遵守由世界贸易组织（World Trade Organization，简称WTO）监督实施的规则吗？还是说他会绕开多边框架，寻求签订一系列双边协议，背弃历史悠久的贸易外交？
These days, quite a few economists show sympathy for the argument that some trade protection may be warranted to help workers in industries threatened by imports.	近来，不少经济学家对这样一种观点表示了赞同：为了帮助受进口商品威胁的一些产业的工人，或许有必要实施某种程度的贸易保护。
Protectionism will not add to U.S. jobs or raise wages, on the whole. At best it will shuffle jobs around — adding some in protected companies like steel makers and cutting some in industries that buy steel, like auto manufacturers. By making the economy less efficient, protectionism will also make the nation poorer as a whole.	总体而言，保护主义不会增加美国的工作岗位或推高工资。它充其量只能促使工作机会重新排列组合：钢铁生产商等受保护企业的工作岗位有所增加；购买钢铁的那些产业的企业，比如汽车生厂商，工作岗位则会减少。在降低了经济的效率后，国家作为一个整体会变得更穷。
But maximizing economic output is not the nation's only objective. The case for trade liberalization also relies on the proposition that winners in the process will compensate the losers whose jobs are displaced. If U.S. politics impedes any redistribution of trade's spoils, perhaps there is a case for restoring equity by throwing sand in the cogs of trade.	但经济产出最大化并不是这个国家的唯一目标。贸易自由化的依据还在于这样一个主张：贸易自由化过程中的赢家会给丢掉工作的输家以补偿。如果美国政治要阻止一切对贸易收获的再分配，那么或许会想到往贸易的齿轮中扔沙子，以便恢复公平。
"It would be decreasing the size of the pie to increase the size of some slices," as David Autor, a top labor economist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, put it to me once. "We have always done the opposite thing without making people whole."	"这会让整个蛋糕变小，以便让其中的某些份额变大，"麻省理工大学(Massachusetts Institute of Technology)权威劳动经济学家戴维·奥特(David Autor)曾对我说。"一直以来我们做的都是相反的事，没有考虑人的得失。"
What's more, unanticipated shocks over the last quarter-century —	更重要的是，过去 25 年间，信息技术席卷每一个行业，中国横空出世，成

when information technology swept through every industry and China emerged from nowhere to become the world's biggest exporter – might justify reconsidering market-access commitments made earlier. "Maybe at the end of the day some trade responses are reasonable," said Robert W. Staiger, a trade economist from Dartmouth College.	为世界最大出口国，一系列出人意料的冲击或许让美国有理由重新思考其早前做出的市场准入承诺。“或许到头来一些贸易回应是合理的，”达特茅斯大学(Dartmouth College)贸易经济学家罗伯特·W·史泰格(Robert W. Staiger)说。
And yet even accepting that the U.S. may find it reasonable to retreat from trade somewhat, it is critical to figure out what this retreat might look like.	不过，即便承认美国也许有理由在贸易领域进行某种程度的回撤，弄清这种回撤看上去会是什么样子依然至关重要。
The many rounds of trade liberalization after World War II were anchored in two core principles that, in fact, had been adopted by the U.S. in 1934: reciprocity and nondiscrimination. Countries could expect to receive concessions as valuable as those they offered. Most critically, a concession made to one country would automatically be extended to all, under what was called the most-favored-nation rule.	事实上，主导二战后多轮贸易自由化浪潮的两个核心原则，早在1934年就被美国采纳：互惠和非歧视。给予别国优惠的国家可望得到同等价值的优惠。最关键的是，根据所谓的最惠国原则，给予一国的优惠会自动拓展至所有国家。
The cocktail worked. Notably, the principle of nondiscrimination ensured that a given trading partner could not negotiate a tariff cut with the U.S. and then offer a more favorable deal to another country – undercutting the U.S. competitive position. This broke through a logjam that had stymied previous attempts to liberalize international trade by encouraging countries to make only miserly offers.	这种混合的方式见效了。尤其值得一提的是，非歧视性原则可以确保一个特定的贸易伙伴不能先和美国达成关税减让协议，再给予另一个国家更优惠的条件——进而削弱美国的竞争力。这就打破了一种促使各国仅提供吝啬的条件，让早前推动国际贸易自由化的努力受阻的僵局。
The problem is that these principles make for an ill fit with Trump's worldview, honed in the zero-sum sphere of real estate deal making where one party's win is the other's loss.	问题是这些原则与特朗普在房地产交易中形成的世界观不符——那是一个由零和博弈主导的领域，一方赢，另一方就会输。
In trade diplomacy, the objective is to arrive at an agreement that everybody can call a win. "The best way to have a trade commitment	贸易外交的目标是达成对各方都有好处的协议。“让一项贸易承诺得到履行的最好办法，是让它具有多赢性，”史泰格告诉我。“如果我们想方设法达成

enforced is to make it mutually beneficial," Staiger told me. "If we push to get the very best deal for the United States, we will push other countries to the point that they are indifferent."	对美国而言最好的交易，就会逼得其他国家没什么积极性。”
Bilateral trade deficits are not losses. Bilateral surpluses are not gains. They say little about the overall strength or weakness of the economy. "I have a deficit with my grocer and a surplus with my firm," said Carla A. Hills, the nation's trade representative during the NAFTA negotiations under the administration of the first President George Bush. "As long as I run my economy properly, I stay above water."	双边贸易逆差不是损失。双边贸易顺差也不是收益。它们不太能说明总体经济实力的强弱。“我对杂货店存在逆差，对我的公司存在顺差，”曾在乔治·布什(George Bush)总统第一任期作为美方贸易代表参与 NAFTA 谈判的卡拉·A·希尔斯(Carla A Hills)说，“只要我让自己的经济正常运转，我就不会陷入困境。”
Paradoxically, if Trump wants to reduce the American engagement with global trade, his best bet is to stay within the strictures of the multilateral trading system. The WTO, in fact, does not prevent the U.S. from raising tariffs unilaterally to protect a few industries and their workers. He does not have to convince any of the nation's trading partners.	吊诡的是，如果特朗普想要让美国减少对国际贸易的参与，那他最好别急于摆脱多边贸易体系的束缚。事实上，WTO 并不会阻止美国单方面提高关税，以保护某些产业及其工人。他无需去说服美国的任何贸易伙伴。
All he must accept is that the trading partners would be allowed — after negotiations — to retaliate proportionally by raising barriers against imports from the U.S. "The system allows you to reset your commitments," Staiger said. "But other countries are also allowed to react."	他必须接受的只不过是：贸易伙伴们——在谈判过后——可以通过提高进口自美国的商品的关税，适当地进行报复。“这个体系允许你重塑自己的承诺，”史泰格说，“但其他国家也可以做出反应。”
Not unlike the guarantee of reciprocal benefits extended to all, the opportunity for retaliation merely ensures that the U.S. proportionally bears the costs as well as the benefits of its choices. Whether the ultimate objective is more trade or less, it seems like a sensible principle upon which to negotiate. And yet the big risk for the global trading	就像把互惠待遇拓展至所有国家的保证一样，报复的机会既能带来好处，也会招致代价，美国既然做出选择，就得相应地承担结果。不论终极目标是增进贸易还是减少贸易，这看上去都是谈判所要基于的一个明智原则。至于给全球贸易体系和战后经济秩序带来的巨大风险，则会是特朗普拒绝承担的代价。

system, and the postwar economic order, is that it is a cost that Trump will refuse to bear.

Challenging Trump, E.U. and Japan Push Joint Trade Deal	撇开美国，欧盟与日本谈互惠贸易协议
The European Union and Japan have signaled that they plan to announce a broad agreement on trade on Thursday, a pointed challenge to President Trump, who is scheduled to attend a meeting of world leaders in Germany the next day.	欧洲联盟和日本已发出信号表示，双方计划在周四公布一项范围广泛的贸易协议，这是针对美国总统特朗普的挑战，后者将于本周五在德国出席一个世界领导人的大会。
The timing of the announcement — on the eve of the Group of 20 summit meeting in Hamburg, Germany — was a clear reaction to the United States' protectionist stance the last time the G-20 met. During a meeting in March of cabinet-level officials in Baden-Baden, Germany, Steven Mnuchin, the American Treasury secretary, refused to endorse a statement in favor of free trade.	这一关于贸易协定的消息公布的时间，正值德国汉堡举行20国集团首脑会议前夕，也是对上次G20上美国采取的保护主义立场的明确反应。美国财政部长史蒂文·努钦(Steven Mnuchin)今年3月在德国巴登-巴登举行的内阁级官员会议上，拒绝赞同一项支持自由贸易的声明。
By forging ahead with their own accord before the meeting with Mr. Trump and other heads of state, Europe and Japan threatened to isolate the United States in important industries like automobiles.	在即将与特朗普和其他国家元首举行会议之前，欧洲和日本迅速推进其双边协定的做法，威胁将在汽车等重要行业孤立美国。
"Ambitious free and fair trade deal in the making," Donald Tusk, the president of the European Union, tweeted on Monday.	欧盟主席唐纳德·图斯克(Donald Tusk)周一发推文说：“正在制定充满雄心的自由和公平贸易协议。”
The European Union followed up with a statement saying that the bloc would announce at a summit meeting with Japan in Brussels on Thursday that they had reached a political agreement on a deal. That means that the sides have agreed on the broad outlines of a pact but still have to work out the details — often the most difficult part of trade agreements.	欧盟随后发表声明说，欧盟将于周四在布鲁塞尔与日本举行首脑会议时宣布，双方就一项协议达成了政治共识。这意味着双方已在大致框架上达成了一致意见，但仍需要制定具体细节——这通常是贸易协定中最困难的部分。

Among other things, the pact would eliminate a 10 percent duty that the E.U. imposes on Japanese car imports, while removing obstacles that European automakers face in Japan. That would be particularly significant for luxury carmakers like BMW, Mercedes and Toyota's Lexus brand, said Ferdinand Dudenhöffer, a professor at the University of Duisburg-Essen in Germany who focuses on the auto industry.	协定的内容包括，欧盟将取消对日本汽车进口征收的 10%关税，同时消除欧洲汽车制造商在日本面临的障碍。德国杜伊斯堡-埃森大学的教授费迪南德·杜登霍夫(Ferdinand Dudenhöffer)说，这对宝马、奔驰，以及丰田的雷克萨斯品牌等豪华汽车制造商来说尤其重要。
Those vehicles suffer the most from high import duties. "It could be a chance for the high-value, premium vehicles," Mr. Dudenhöffer said. American brands like Cadillac or Lincoln "won't have the same advantage and will be in a worse position," he said.	豪华汽车受高额进口关税的影响最大。“这对高价值的高端汽车可能是一种机会，”杜登霍夫说。美国的凯迪拉克或林肯品牌“不会得到同样的优势，将处于更不利的地位，”他说。
The trade deal has been under negotiation for years, but talks were effectively delayed while Japan focused on a separate deal with the United States and other Pacific Rim countries, the Trans-Pacific Partnership.	有关双边贸易协定展开的谈判已经进行了多年，但在日本集中精力与美国和其他太平洋沿岸国家另行制定“跨太平洋伙伴关系”（Trans-Pacific Partnership, 简称 TPP）协定期间，欧盟与日本的谈判实际上被耽搁。
But Mr. Trump dealt that agreement a possibly fatal blow shortly after taking office this year, when he formally abandoned it. At the same time, trade talks between the United States and Europe have stalled.	但特朗普在今年上任后不久正式宣布放弃 TPP，可能给该协定带来了致命的打击。与此同时，美国和欧洲之间的贸易谈判也停了下来。
The pact to be announced on Thursday offers both Japan and the European Union an attractive alternative.	周四宣布的协议将为日本和欧盟提供一个有吸引力的其他选择。
For the European Union, "the political imperative around this agreement is intense," said Hosuk Lee-Makiyama, the director of the European Centre for International Political Economy, a research organization in Brussels. With Britain preparing to exit the bloc, he continued, European Union leaders were under pressure to show the 27 other states in the bloc that membership still has benefits, including	对欧盟来说，“这项协议的政治紧迫性非常强烈，”位于布鲁塞尔的欧洲研究机构国际政治经济欧洲中心主任霍素克·李-牧山浩石(Hosuk Lee-Makiyama)说。他接下来说，随着英国准备退出欧盟，欧盟领导人面临着压力，他们需要向其他 27 个成员国展示，欧盟仍可给其成员带来利益，比如贸易自由化的好处。 gains from liberalizing trade.

"With Brexit, a huge chunk of European trade is under uncertainty," Mr. Lee-Makiyama said. "The commission is struggling for a win," he added, referring to the European Commission, the executive arm of the bloc.	"由于英国脱欧，欧洲贸易的一大部分很不确定，"李-牧山浩石说，并表示，"委员会正在努力争取一场胜利，"他指的是欧盟的行政机构欧盟委员会。
For Shinzo Abe, the Japanese prime minister, the deal also looks like a much-needed win.	对日本首相安倍晋三来说，这项协议看起来也是一个他非常需要的胜利。
Mr. Abe won office five years ago with promises of liberalizing the Japanese economy and making the country's industries more competitive, but critics say his efforts have fallen short. He had hoped to make the Trans-Pacific Partnership a centerpiece of his economic legacy, but that may now be out of reach.	安倍晋三五年前当选首相时，曾承诺要让日本经济自由化，让日本的工业更具竞争力，但批评者说，他为之所做的努力还远远不够。他曾希望把跨太平洋伙伴关系作为自己经济遗产的核心部分，但现在看来，那可能已经无法实现了。
Accusations of influence-peddling and gaffes by members of Mr. Abe's cabinet have added to his problems. Voters in Tokyo delivered a rebuke to his party in municipal elections on Sunday.	对安倍晋三内阁成员以权谋私和受贿的指控已经给他增添了麻烦。东京的选民在周日的地方议会选举中对他所在的政党做出公开批评。
Though key issues must still be ironed out, the two sides have reached agreement on several contentious issues, including cars and cheese.	虽然欧洲与日本贸易协议的关键问题还有待解决，但双方在汽车和奶酪等几个有争议的问题上达成了共识。
European negotiators had insisted that Japan lower import duties on a range of agricultural goods, in particular dairy products, an area that Tokyo has staunchly protected.	欧洲谈判代表曾坚持要求日本降低一系列农产品、尤其是乳制品的进口关税，东京一直在坚定地保护着国内的这些领域。
In return, the Europeans offered to lower duties on vehicles from Japan, a change that could benefit Toyota and Honda, which have claimed a smaller market share than in other markets, including the United States.	欧洲人提出降低日本汽车关税作为回报，这种变化可能对丰田和本田有利，这两家公司在欧洲的市场份额小于它们在包括美国在内的其他市场。
Together, Europe and Japan would create a trading bloc of a size to rival the North American Free Trade Agreement, now the world's largest free trade zone.	这项协议的达成，将让欧洲和日本形成一个相当于北美自由贸易协定规模的贸易区，北美自由贸易协定目前覆盖的自由贸易区是世界上最大的。

Mr. Jia's departure from Leshi Internet ended his tenure at the helm of one of China's most ambitious tech companies. Mr. Jia began his career a long way from Beijing's booming tech corridor, starting in a county tax bureau in Shanxi, a coal-rich northern province. As China's dot-com boom got underway, he moved into tech, starting a telecommunications company, and then founded Leshi Internet in 2004.	贾跃亭最初在煤藏丰富的北部省份山西的一个县级税务局工作，与北京蓬勃的科技圈相隔甚远。随着中国互联网的蓬勃发展，他进入科技业，创办了一家通讯公司，并在2004年创立了乐视网。

Last year, as Leshi Internet exhausted its credit lines at a dozen Chinese banks, Mr. Jia began pledging shares in LeEco companies as collateral for more loans, borrowing at least $2.1 billion from a variety of nontraditional lenders like security brokerage firms, trust companies and capital management firms. Today, shares Mr. Jia controls in at least six LeEco companies are pledged to lenders, according to Chinese corporate records.	去年，随着乐视网耗尽自己在十多个中国银行的授信额度，贾跃亭开始以乐视的股份作抵押申请更多贷款，从证券经纪公司、信托公司和资本管理公司等各种非传统贷款机构借入至少 21 亿美元。中国的企业档案显示，如今贾跃亭拥有的至少六家乐视企业的股份已抵押给了贷款机构。

Detained Over Ivanka Trump Factory Inspection, China Labor Activist Speaks Out	伊万卡中国代工工厂卧底调查员讲述被捕遭遇
SHANGHAI — Hua Haifeng started May by taking a job at a factory that made shoes for the Ivanka Trump brand. By the end of the month, Mr. Hua, an experienced labor activist, was stranded in a crowded police holding cell, kicked by a fellow inmate and facing long interrogations about a wristwatch with a concealed video camera.	上海——华海峰从今年 5 月份开始，在一家为伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump) 旗下品牌制鞋的工厂工作。到 5 月底，这名经验丰富的劳工活动人士受困于警方的一间拥挤的拘留室，被同室囚犯脚踢，还遭到与一块配备隐蔽摄像头的腕表有关的长时间审讯。
On Monday, in his first interviews since his release on bail, Mr. Hua described how he was barred from leaving mainland China, had been denied access to a lawyer, and had to sleep next to a bucket of urine while in custody.	周一，自获得保释以来首次接受采访的华海峰，描绘了自己被禁止离开中国内地，被剥夺会见律师的机会，以及在被羁押期间不得不睡在尿桶旁的情形。
The case involving Mr. Hua and two fellow activists has focused unwanted attention not only on poor labor practices in China, but also on the manufacturing operations of Ms. Trump, the president’s daughter and a special adviser in the White House.	牵涉到华海峰和另外两名活动人士的案子，让发生在中国的不良用工行为，乃至美国总统之女兼白宫特别顾问伊万卡·特朗普旗下品牌的制造部门，受到了不请自来的关注。
China Labor Watch, a New York-based labor advocacy group, hired Mr. Hua, 36, in early May as a consultant to join two younger activists who	现年 36 岁的华海峰，于 5 月初受雇成为总部设在纽约的劳工权益倡导团体中国劳工观察(China Labor Watch)的一名顾问，奉命加入两名年轻活动人

He was supposed to help them produce videos of labor conditions in the factories, then take them to Hong Kong, Mr. Hua said on Monday.	士的行列，那两个人已打入华坚国际位于中国南方的两家制鞋工厂内部。华海峰周一表示，他的职责是帮两人拍摄关于两家工厂劳动条件的视频，然后将其带到香港。
After he found a job at one of the factories in Dongguan, a city in southern China near Hong Kong, he learned the ultimate focus of their efforts: Ms. Trump's brand. He said that the news made him resolve to be particularly thorough, but did not prompt him to worry that the case might be politically delicate.	在其中一家位于东莞的工厂找到工作后，他得知了他们此番行动的终极目标：伊万卡·特朗普的品牌。东莞是中国南方一座靠近香港的城市。他说这一消息让他决心开展尤为细致深入的调查，但并未使他担心此事或许在政治上颇为敏感。
"I thought President Trump was only doing the president's job, and his daughter was only doing business," he said.	"我以为特朗普只是当好他的总统，他女儿只管做好自己的生意，"他说。
When Mr. Hua tried to visit Hong Kong to discuss video details with Li Qiang, the founder and director of China Labor Watch, nearly two weeks later, he was stopped by Chinese border police and told that he could not leave mainland China. The next day, he fled 250 miles inland to Ganzhou, the location of the other factory, and met Li Zhao, one of the other China Labor Watch activists.	将近两周后，当华海峰试图前往香港与中国劳工观察总监李强讨论视频细节时，被中国边境警察拦下，并被告知不能离开中国内地。第二天，他逃往250英里外的内陆城市赣州，也就是另一家工厂的所在地，并与中国劳工观察的另一名活动人士李招碰面。
A day later, the police grabbed both of them and Su Heng, the third activist. The police took them to a detention center and put each in a different holding cell with common criminals.	一天后，警方抓住了他们俩，还有第三名活动人士苏恒。警方把三人带到一家拘留中心，分别关进不同的监室，让他们与普通犯人共处一室。
Mr. Hua ended up in a cell with about 20 other men, who forced him to take the least desirable bunk: next to the urine bucket, where the smell and noise kept him awake at night. When he tried to warn the police the next day that his case would be internationally prominent and should be handled differently, another detainee stopped him with a	华海峰所在的监室还关押着另外20名男子，他们强迫他接受了最不理想的铺位：尿桶旁。异味和嘈杂声让他整夜难以入眠。次日，当他试图警告警方，自己的案子将在国际上备受关注，处理方式应该有所不同的时候，另一名被拘留者迅速踢了他一脚，阻止了他。

swift kick.
"It was not a heavy kick," Mr. Hua said. "I think he just wanted to warn me and didn't want me to call for meeting the police."	"踢得不重，"华海峰说。"我觉得他是想警告我，不想让我见办案警察。"
During the weeks that followed, Mr. Hua said, he was interrogated about 16 times, each time for periods between 30 minutes and three hours. He was not allowed access to a lawyer for the first week of his detention.	华海峰说，接下来的几个星期，他被审讯了大约16次，每次时长在30分钟和3小时之间。被拘的第一个星期，他没有获准会见自己的律师。
A State Department spokeswoman urged China on June 5, a week after the activists had been detained, to release the men and grant them legal protections and a fair trial. China rejected that request as an interference in its internal affairs, but soon allowed Mr. Hua access to a lawyer for the first time. China Labor Watch says the defendants have had very limited access to lawyers, and that the authorities have pressured the lawyers not to speak about the case.	6月5日，也就是这几名活动人士被拘一周后，美国国务院的一名发言人敦促中方放人，为他们提供司法保护，并进行公正的审判。中国拒绝了这些请求，称之为对中国内政的干预，但很快就允许华海峰首次会见了律师。中国劳工观察称，这几个人接触律师的机会极为有限，而且当局已经向律师施压，让他们不要谈论该案。
The State Department spokeswoman, Alicia Edwards, also said that American companies benefited when undercover labor investigators could help make sure that Chinese manufacturers were respecting labor laws.	美国国务院的发言人艾丽西亚·爱德华兹(Alicia Edwards)还表示，当卧底劳工权益调查员可以帮助确保中国生产商尊重劳工法的时候，美国企业也能受益。

Local officials in Ganzhou released all three on bail from the detention facility on June 28, pending a trial, but have not yet indicted the men on specific charges or set a trial date. The Chinese authorities have repeatedly declined to comment on the case and had no comment	赣州当地官员于6月20日准许三人取保候审，离开拘留设施，但尚未以特定罪名起诉他们，也未设定审判日期。中国当局曾多次拒绝就该案置评，周一晚上同样未予置评。中国审查机构已经删除了内地网络媒体关于该案的报道。

Monday night. Chinese censors have deleted coverage of the case in mainland Chinese online media.
Mr. Hua said that he had decided during his four-week detention that he would speak to the news media after his release because he thought the public had a right to know about what he described as excessive work hours and other unfair or illegal labor practices at Huajian.	王海峰说，他在被拘的四个星期里下定决心，获释后要接受媒体采访，因为他觉得公众有权知道他口中的工作时间过长的情况，以及华坚公司其他不公平或非法的用工行为。
His two colleagues have kept low profiles since their release and could not be reached for comment. Li Zhao has changed mobile phones since his release. A relative of Mr. Su declined to pass a message on to him.	他的两名同事自获释以来一直保持低调，记者未能联系上他们并请其置评。李招获释后换了手机号。苏恒的一名亲属拒绝帮记者给他捎去讯息。
China Labor Watch has done hundreds of undercover inspections over the years of labor practices in supply chains of multinational companies, including Samsung and Apple. But this case is the first in which the Chinese authorities have detained the group's activists, much less pushed them into the country's labyrinthine criminal justice system, said Li Qiang, the organization's founder.	中国劳工观察已经就跨国公司供应链中多年来的用工行为展开过数百次卧底调查，三星(Samsung)和苹果(Apple)也在其列。但在该案中，中国当局首次拘留了中国劳工观察的活动人士，并把他们推进了其错综复杂的刑事司法系统，该团体创始人李强说。
Mr. Hua also said that a journalist had given him a wristwatch several years ago that could be used to record video, and added that the watch was a subject of repeated police questioning. But he said that he had never used it in any of his undercover work because the quality of the video was poor and the device's battery life was extremely short.	王海峰还表示，一名记者几年前给了他一块可以用来录制视频的腕表；并补充说，警方的多次讯问都以这块腕表为主题。但他说，他从未在任何一次卧底工作中用过这块表，因为视频质量很糟糕，而且该设备的电池续航时间极短。
He said that he had lent the watch to his fellow activist, Li Zhao, who also worked at the factory in Dongguan. Huajian International, which owns that factory and the one in Ganzhou, is a giant company that has manufactured shoes for the Ivanka Trump brand and many others. Mr.	他说曾把腕表借给同为活动人士、也曾在东莞那家工厂里工作的李招。东莞和赣州的两家工厂的所有者华坚国际，是为伊万卡·特朗普的品牌以及其他很多品牌制鞋的一个大企业。王海峰说，李招短暂地试用过那块腕表，但同样得出了它派不上用场的结论。

Li experimented briefly with the wristwatch but also concluded it was useless, Mr. Hua said.
Mr. Hua said he opted to use the camera on his mobile phone, but had only filmed while in public areas at the Dongguan factory.	王海峰说自己选择使用手机的摄像头,但只在东莞工厂的公共区域进行过录制。
Jerome Cohen, the faculty director of New York University's U.S.-Asia Law Institute and the best-known Western specialist on China's criminal justice system, said that the legality or illegality of any specific piece of equipment under Chinese eavesdropping laws was a complex subject on which the legal system would tend to defer to the judgment of the police.	纽约大学美国-亚洲法律研究所(U.S.-Asia Law Institute)所长、中国刑事司法制度研究领域最知名的西方专家孔杰荣(Jerome Cohen)说,按照中国窃听法规的规定,任何特定设备合法与否都是一个很复杂的问题,司法系统往往倾向于听从警方的判断。
While the Chinese government engages in extensive surveillance of the population, he added, "it wants to reserve for itself, not the public, the right to do so."	他还表示,虽然中国政府对国人进行着广泛的监控,但"它希望把这样做的权利留给自己,而不是公众"。
Zhang Huarong, the chairman and founder of Huajian, and the company have denied that they broke any labor laws.	华坚董事长兼创始人张华荣以及该公司均否认自己违反了劳动法。

China's Wanda Signals Retreat in Debt-Fueled Acquisition Binge	万达 93 亿美元出售酒店及文旅项目
BEIJING — A year ago, the Chinese billionaire Wang Jianlin declared the dominance of his vast entertainment empire, Dalian Wanda Group, boasting that his theme parks were a "pack of wolves" that would defeat the lone "tiger" of Disney's Shanghai resort.	北京——一年前,中国亿万富翁王健林宣布,其庞大的娱乐帝国大连万达集团将会成为一方霸主,他的主题公园是"群狼",将会打败上海迪士尼乐园这只孤独的"老虎"。
Now, Mr. Wang is retreating, in a sign that Wanda could be reaching the limits of its debt-fueled expansion.	现在,王健林正在撤退,这是万达可能达到其债务扩张极限的一个迹象。
Wanda said on Monday that it would sell the theme parks as part of a	本周一,万达表示,将在一个 93 亿美元的交易中出售这些主题公园,该交

Wanda appears to be caught in a political and financial downdraft that has hit many big Chinese deal makers. For years, the Chinese government encouraged the global ambitions of corporate giants like Wanda. Mr. Wang muscled into Hollywood's domain, buying the AMC Theaters chain and the struggling production company Legendary Entertainment.	从政治和经济领域吹来的逆风已经影响到了很多中国的交易大鳄，万达似乎也不例外。多年来，中国政府鼓励万达等企业巨头在全球施展抱负。王健林抢滩好莱坞，收购了 AMC 连锁院线以及举步维艰的制片公司传奇影业 (Legendary Entertainment)。
Wanda battled Disney with plans for 13 theme parks across China. When Disney opened its Shanghai resort last year, drawing enormous crowds, Mr. Wang declared that "the frenzy of Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck and the era of blindly following them have passed."	为了与迪士尼较量，万达计划在全国开办 13 个主题公园。上海迪士尼乐园去年开业时吸引了大量游客，但王健林宣布：“对于米老鼠和唐老鸭狂热追捧和盲目追随的时代已经过去了。”
Such aggressive expansion plans are now under increased scrutiny in Beijing. Last month, a senior Chinese banking official warned that some of China's largest and most indebted companies may pose a systemic risk to the country's banks and to the health of the broader economy.	这种激进的扩张计划如今在北京遭受了更多的审视。上个月，中国一位高级银行官员警告说，中国最大型的、负债最多的公司可能会对该国银行构成系统性风险，并影响更广泛的经济领域的健康程度。
The deal-making ambitions have also been tempered by a backlash overseas, as politicians and policy makers express concerns over China's influence. American lawmakers are pushing for regulators to keep a closer watch over money flowing into the United States from China.	随着外国政界人士和政策制定者对中国的影响力表示担忧，这些项目也在海外遭受了阻力。美国立法者正在推动监管机构更密切关注从中国流入美国的资金。

HNA Group, a Chinese conglomerate with stakes in Deutsche Bank, Hilton Hotels and Ingram Micro, has been criticized for its opaque ownership structure. Last week, shares in Fosun International slid on speculation that the company had lost contact with its chairman, Guo Guangchang, who is often called the Warren E. Buffett of China. Fosun called the speculation "malicious rumors," saying that everything was normal.	持有德意志银行(Deutsche Bank)、希尔顿酒店(Hilton Hotels)和英迈国际(Ingram Micro)股份的中国企业集团海航集团，由于所有权结构不透明遭到了批评。上周，外界推测复星国际与其董事长、号称“中国巴菲特(Warren E. Buffett)”的郭广昌失去联系，导致公司股价下滑。复星称这种推测为“恶意谣言”，表示一切正常。
Wanda has not been immune to the pressure.	万达也同样遭受了这种压力。
American lawmakers are concerned that Wanda's Hollywood ambitions are part of a broader play by the Communist Party in Beijing to control how China is portrayed. This year, Wanda's $1 billion deal to buy Dick Clark Productions fell apart for unknown reasons.	美国立法者担心，万达在好莱坞的野心从属于一个更加广泛的目标：中国共产党试图控制该国在影片中的形象。今年，万达斥资 10 亿美元收购迪克·克拉克制片公司(Dick Clark Productions)的计划告吹，原因不明。
Investors' confidence has been shaken.	投资者的信心已经动摇。
Shares of Wanda Film, a unit listed in the Southern Chinese city of Shenzhen, have fallen about 11 percent in the last month. The deal announced on Monday would help Wanda pay off some of its debt.	本周一宣布的交易将有助于万达偿还部分债务。

"Through the sale of these assets, Wanda Commercial's debt-to-asset ratio will drop dramatically," Mr. Wang, the Wanda chairman, told the Chinese business weekly Caixin. "All the cash will go to repaying loans."	"向融创转让资产能大幅降低万达商业的负债。"万达董事长王健林告诉中国商业媒体财新网, "这次回收资金全部用于还贷。"
The move also plays into a broader shift by Wanda in recent years, to a so-called asset-light strategy that could free up more capital. Under this model, Wanda is looking to own fewer properties outright and to collect more money from management fees and other services.	此举也符合万达近年来朝着"轻资产"转向,释放更多资本的总体战略。在该模式下,万达正在寻求减少自有财产,从管理费和其他服务中获取更多利润。
In the deal with Sunac, Wanda would continue to operate all of the projects under the company's brand name, and it would own fewer underperforming hotels.	在与融创的交易中,万达将继续以自己公司的品牌名称经营所有项目,并减少表现不佳的酒店持有数量。
"Wanda is selling the noncore part of its cultural tourism business," said Deng Haozhi, a real estate economist with Fineland Assets Management Company based in Guangzhou, China. "Ultimately, what they are selling are properties that the market doesn't like."	"万达卖的这部分是文旅产业非核心部分,"地产经济学家,广州的方圆资产管理首席市场分析师邓浩志说。"最后万达出售文旅项目的部分其实并不包括市场看好的住宅。"
Even so, the deal amounts to an about-face for Wanda. The company had made tourism central to its focus, looking to capitalize on China's growing middle class.	即使如此,这笔交易意味着万达的大转变。该公司曾视旅游业为重中之重,寻求从中国不断增长的中产阶级那里获利。
But Wanda's record with theme parks has been mixed: Only four of the 13 theme parks being sold are up and running; most are in the planning stages. Wanda opened its first theme park, an indoor one, in the Chinese city of Wuhan. But it closed after 19 months for "upgrades and renovations," and it has yet to reopen.	但万达在主题公园方面成绩好坏不一,出售中的 13 个主题公园中只有四个已经开始运行,大多数都在规划阶段。万达在中国城市武汉开设了第一个主题公园,那是一个室内公园。但是在 19 个月后,它因"升级和翻新"而关闭,目前还没有重新开放。

For the first half of this year, Wanda said its cultural segment, of which tourism is a component, rose 5.9 percent from a year earlier, to $4.5 billion.	今年上半年，万达表示，它的文化部门（含旅游业在内）产值比上年增长了5.9%，达到45亿美元。
"Given all the talk about how this was the centerpiece of the strategy for moving away from more traditional commercial real estate, it's hard not to see it, to some degree, as a form of capitulation," said Ronald Merriman, managing director of planning and advisory services for Pro Fun Management Group, a firm based in California that provides management services for theme parks and that has advised Wanda.	"尽管所有说法都声称，这是战略核心环节，旨在脱离更为传统的商业地产，但在某种程度上，很难不将它视为一种让步，"Pro Fun 管理集团的规划与咨询服务总经理罗纳德·梅里曼(Ronald Merriman)表示。该集团位于加利福尼亚州，为主题公园提供管理服务，也为万达提供咨询。
Mr. Merriman said Sunac had paid a steep price for "what are a handful of good but not stellar performers."	梅里曼说，融创为"一些表现很好，但并非杰出的项目"付了过高的价钱。
Sunac, too, faces skepticism over its deal making. Last week, its shares fell amid investor fears that it would take a loss from its $2.2 billion investment in the beleaguered LeEco Group, which is struggling to repay creditors.	融创的交易也令它面对质疑。上周，融创股价下跌，投资者担心，它投资于备受困扰的乐视集团的22亿美元将会亏损，后者目前在清偿债权人方面遇到了困难。
"I don't understand this move by Sunac," Mr. Deng said. "Where are they getting this endless flow of money?"	"我也理解不了融创的行为，"邓浩志说，"哪来花不完的钱？"
"Last year, they were the property developer that bought the most number of properties," he added. "And this year, they've spent a lot of money to save LeEco."	"去年全年购买地王最多的房企就是融创，"他补充说。"今年救乐视又花了不少。"

Canadian Nursing Home Deal Spurs Questions About Chinese Money	安邦要做加拿大老年人的房东？

Canada, like the United States and other countries, is grappling with how to handle billions of dollars of Chinese purchases on its home turf. Recent purchases have included big oil companies, swank office buildings and cutting-edge tech firms. That last set, in particular, has raised objections in the United States as well as Canada from those worried that they could give China access to sensitive technologies.	和美国及其他一些国家一样，加拿大也在努力应对上门收购本国物业的数十上百亿中国资金。最近被收购的有大石油公司、豪华写字楼和前沿科技公司。最后这一类尤其在美国和加拿大引发反对与质疑，有人担心这会让中国得以获取敏感的技术。

Economically, China and Canada have grown close. The value of Chinese direct investment in Canada increased nearly fivefold between 2007 and 2015. But that closeness has caused tensions. Many Canadians blame Chinese money for soaring home prices in places like Vancouver, and perceive a softening of Canadian positions on topics like human rights. Last year at a news conference, China's foreign minister rebuked a Canadian journalist for asking a question about human rights while Stéphane Dion, then Canada's foreign minister, stood silently by.	不过，这种紧密也导致了紧张关系。很多加拿大人认为，来自中国的钱是温哥华等地房价大涨以及加拿大在人权等问题上立场软化的原因。去年，在一次新闻发布会上，中国外交部长斥责了一名提出人权问题的加拿大记者，而加拿大外交部长则袖手旁观，保持沉默。

The Trudeau administration defended the recent deals, saying they were thoroughly vetted under Canadian takeover law. "Our government has a balanced approach of openness to ideas, people and trade," said Hans Parmar, a spokesman for Canada's economic development ministry.	特鲁多政府为最近的交易辩护, 称根据加拿大收购法规, 它们都受到了彻底审查。"我们的政府对各种观点、人物和贸易保持均衡、开放的态度," 加拿大经济发展部发言人汉斯·帕马(Hans Parmar)说。
That law, called the Investment Canada Act, is similar to the takeover review laws of the United States. Government officials make recommendations to the economic development minister, who can block the deal.	该项法律名为《加拿大投资法》(Investment Canada Act), 它与美国的收购审查法类似。政府官员向经济发展部长提供建议, 后者可以阻止交易。
But while United States officials have rejected a growing number of Chinese deals, rejections in Canada are rare. Its takeover panel has rejected only two deals since 1985, while more than 1,700 transactions have been approved. The government does not release data on deals canceled before a decision was made.	不过, 虽然美国官员否决了越来越多的中国交易, 但在加拿大, 否决十分罕见。从1985年起, 它的收购审查小组仅否决过两起交易, 而批准了1700多起交易。加拿大政府并不公布关于那些在做出决定之前被取消的交易的数字。
The Canadian government also does not review deals below a certain level – and that level keeps rising. The threshold rose in April from deals valued at 600 million Canadian dollars to those valued at 800 million dollars, and it rose again to 1 billion dollars, about $770 million,	加拿大政府也不审查低于某个标准的交易, 而那个标准在不断提高。今年4月, 审查门槛从价值6亿加元的交易提高为8亿加元。6月22日, 再次提高为10亿加元, 约合7.7亿美元。

"In that regard, most investment in Canada is not subject to any review at all," said Josh Krane, a partner at the law firm Blake, Cassels & Graydon.	"从这个角度讲，加拿大的大部分投资根本没有受到任何审查，"布雷克律师事务所(Blake, Cassels & Graydon)的合伙人乔希·克兰(Josh Krane)说。
The government points to recent moves to tighten regulations, including a 2015 requirement that investors declare whether a foreign state had financial interests or other influence over them.	加拿大政府提到最近加强监管的一些措施，包括从 2015 年起，要求投资者声明外国政府是否对其具有经济利益或其他方面的影响力。
Anbang's deal for the retirement home chain, Retirement Concepts, went through Canada's deal review process.	安邦收购养老院连锁集团"退休概念"(Retirement Concepts)的交易经过了加拿大的交易审查程序。
Anbang burst onto the global deal scene three years ago when it unveiled a deal to buy New York's Waldorf Astoria hotel for about $2 billion. But questions about ownership have dogged the company. The New York Times reported last year that many of the company's owners had links to its chairman, Wu Xiaohui, who according to Anbang's public records does not own shares himself. Such ownership issues can be sensitive in China, where the wealthy and powerful often hold shares in companies in the names of other people.	三年前，安邦宣布以约 20 亿美元收购纽约的华尔道夫-阿斯托里亚酒店(Waldorf Astoria)，从而走上全球交易舞台。但是，关于所有权的质疑一直困扰着该公司。去年，《纽约时报》报道称，该公司的很多所有者与其董事长吴小晖有关系。根据安邦的公开记录，吴小晖本人并不持有股份。在中国，这样的所有权问题非常敏感，因为权贵人士往往以他人的名义在公司持股。
New York State insurance regulators questioned details of Anbang's ownership in June 2016, evaluating its proposed $1.6 billion deal to buy an Iowa insurer. Anbang abandoned the deal this year. Anbang also fell into the public spotlight when it tried and failed to reach a deal on a skyscraper project in Manhattan with President Trump's son-in-law, Jared Kushner.	2016 年 6 月，纽约州保险监管机构在评估安邦提出的以 16 亿美元收购艾奥瓦州一家保险公司的交易时，对它的所有权细节提出了质疑。今年，安邦放弃了这项交易。安邦曾经尝试与特朗普总统的女婿贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)就曼哈顿的一个摩天大楼项目达成交易，最终失败，但此事再次让它成为公众关注的焦点。
In November, Anbang said it would purchase Retirement Concepts, which owns more than 20 retirement homes across Canada. Medical	去年 11 月，安邦宣布，它将收购在加拿大拥有 20 多家养老院的退休概念集团。医疗组织、工会和医生很快指责这项交易，质疑一家外国收购公司能否

China's $800 Billion Sovereign Wealth Fund Seeks More U.S. Access	中国主权基金要求美国政府降低市场准入门槛
BEIJING — China's sovereign wealth fund is looking at big bets in America. But the $800 billion investment behemoth said on Tuesday it faced an obstacle: the United States government.	北京——中国的主权财富基金正在考虑在美国大笔押注。但这家资产 8000 亿美元的投资基金周二表示，它面临一个障碍：美国政府。
The fund, the China Investment Corporation, urged American authorities to allow better access to the market, at a time when Chinese deals are facing more scrutiny.	在中国的交易面临更严格审查之时，这家名为中国投资有限公司（简称中投）的基金强烈要求美国当局降低市场准入门槛。
"We hope that the U.S. government will provide us with a more liberal, equal and nondiscriminatory investment environment," said Liu Fangyu, the fund's managing director and head of public relations and international cooperation.	"我们也希望美国政府对美国的投资环境给我们提供一个更加宽松、平等、不歧视的投资环境，"该公司总裁兼公关外事总监刘芳玉说。
In some ways, the fund's interests are aligned with those of the United States.	从某种程度上讲，这支基金的利益与美国的利益是一致的。
The Chinese investor is particularly focused on infrastructure, an area where the Trump administration has been pushing for private players to invest more money. And sovereign wealth funds are a good source of financing for such major, long-term deals.	这个来自中国的投资者尤其关注基础建设，这正是特朗普政府一直在推动私营企业进行更多投资的领域。主权财富基金是为这种长期的大项目提供资金的理想来源。
But the flood of Chinese money flowing into the United States has prompted concerns about the Chinese government's influence.	但中国资金大量涌入美国，引发了对中国政府影响力的担忧。
Some White House officials and lawmakers want to expand the power of the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States, a multiagency government panel that can effectively quash deals for national security reasons. While high-tech investments in areas like defense and the military are particularly delicate, even entertainment and real estate deals are causing concern.	一些白宫官员和议员希望扩大美国外国投资委员会(Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States)的权力，这是一个跨部门政府机构，能以国家安全为由有效地否决交易。虽说在国防和军事等領域的高科技投资十分敏感，但就连娱乐和房地产交易也引发了担忧。

The committee, which includes representatives from the Departments of Defense, State, Justice, Treasury and Homeland Security, reviews deals by sovereign wealth funds and other foreign investors. Although its process is rather opaque, the panel in recent years has blocked deals, many of them in the semiconductor industry.	该委员会负责审核主权财富基金等外国投资者的交易，其成员包括来自国防部、国务院、司法部、财政部和国土安全部的代表。虽然过程很不透明，该委员会在最近一些年里已经叫停了不少交易，其中许多都是来自半导体行业。
The fund knows the investment terrain.	该基金对这个投资领域并不陌生。
The United States was the largest investment destination for the fund, with more than $90 billion in the country, mostly in the financial markets. In January, Ding Xuedong, the fund's chairman at the time, said it wanted to invest in American real estate, infrastructure and technology, according to The Paper, a state-funded Chinese news website.	美国是中投公司最大的投资目的地，投资额高达 900 多亿美元，其中大多数是在金融市场。据由政府资助的中国新闻网站澎湃新闻报道，今年 1 月，中投当时的董事长丁学东曾表示，公司想在美国的房地产、基础设施和科技领域进行投资。
A global investor with a vast portfolio, the China Investment Corporation is already a player in infrastructure, with projects like Heathrow Airport, serving London; Thames Water, which supplies the British capital; and the Port of Melbourne in Australia. But regulatory barriers have made such "symbolic investments" difficult in America, Ms. Liu said.	作为一个资产组合十分庞大的全球投资者，中投已经在基础建设领域进行了多项投资，比如伦敦的希罗斯机场(Heathrow Airport)、给英国首都供应自来水的泰晤士水务公司(Thames Water)，以及澳大利亚的墨尔本港口。但刘芳玉表示，监管障碍令这类“有象征意义的投资”在美国难以实现。
Li Weiwei, a director of the fund's public relations, said on Tuesday that it had invested in several office buildings and logistics businesses in the United States, though she said she could not provide a "detailed answer" on the projects.	中投的一名公关主管李薇薇周二表示，公司在美国投资了几座办公楼和几家物流公司，不过她不能提供有关这些项目的“很细的答案”。

The fund's push follows the broader move by Chinese buyers into the United States, as they acquire buildings, factories and movie theater chains. In 2016, Chinese investment in America jumped threefold, to $46 billion, from the year before, according to the research firm Rhodium Group.	在这支基金推动在美投资之前，中国买家已经开始在美国进行更广泛的投资，他们收购建筑、工厂和电影院线。据研究公司荣鼎咨询(Rhodium Group)统计，2016年中国在美投资比前一年增加了两倍，达到460亿美元。
But China's government and companies have repeatedly criticized investment regulations in the United States, saying the country imposed unfair restrictions on Chinese funding. In 2015, President Xi Jinping raised the issue in talks with the United States, saying Washington should relax restrictions on high-tech exports and make it easier to invest in the country.	但中国政府和企业多次指责美国的投资规定，称这个国家对中国的资金设置了不公平的限制。2015年，中国国家主席习近平在与美国对话时曾提及这个问题，称华盛顿应该放松对高科技出口的限制，让在美投资变得更加容易。
Ms. Liu said she was optimistic that the new administration "will provide us more investment opportunities." She pointed to Mr. Xi's visit in April to Mar-a-Lago, President Trump's club in Palm Beach, Fla., as a sign that relations were on a positive track.	刘芳玉表示，她感觉比较乐观，认为新政府“会给我们提供更多的投资机会”。她提到了习近平今年4月对特朗普在佛罗里达州棕榈滩的马阿拉歌(Mar-a-Lago)庄园的访问，认为这是两国关系走上正轨的一个表现。
In May, the fund opened an office in New York to engage with the United States government and regulatory agencies, according to Ms. Liu.	据刘芳玉透露，中投公司今年5月在纽约设立了一个办事处，与美国政府和监管部门对接。
Mr. Trump, who initially struck a conciliatory tone in relations with China after meeting Mr. Xi, is under pressure to improve the investment climate for American companies in China. In recent years, Western businesses have complained bitterly about unequal access to the Chinese market.	在与习近平会面之后，特朗普一开始对中美关系采取了安抚的态度，他现在面临着改善美国企业在中国的投资环境的压力。最近几年，西方企业对中国市场准入的不公平表达了强烈的不满。

Many lobbying groups have also urged the Trump administration to push for reciprocity. That is, if American companies are bound by restrictions in China, their Chinese counterparts should be subject to the same limits in the United States.	许多游说团体也敦促特朗普政府推动对等原则。也就是说，如果美国企业在中国受到限制，那么中国企业在美国也要受到同样的限制。
Both countries said months ago they would create an action plan for trade cooperation within 100 days; the deadline is Sunday. But relations between the two countries cooled after Mr. Trump asserted that China was not doing enough to curb North Korea's nuclear ambitions. It was also unclear whether the administration would take a tougher stance on trade and investment with China.	两国在数月前曾表示，它们将在 100 天内制定出一项贸易合作行动计划；周日是最后期限。然而，自特朗普声称中国没有采取足够多的行动遏制朝鲜的核野心之后，两国关系已经趋冷。目前还不清楚美国政府是否会在贸易和投资问题上对中国采取更强硬的立场。
"Any Chinese sovereign investment must be scrutinized. That's not to say the answer should be no to everything. But much greater questions need to be asked," said Fraser Howie, a former banker in Asia who has helped write three books on the Chinese financial system.	"任何中国主权投资都要接受仔细的审查。这不是说对一切申请都予以拒绝。但的确有更大的问题需要提出，"曾在亚洲从事银行工作的侯伟(Fraser Howie)说，他协助撰写过三本有关中国金融制度的书籍。

As is the case with many Chinese laws, the digital security regulations approved last month were vaguely worded, leaving many foreign companies uncertain which parts would be enforced and how. That Apple, easily the most successful foreign technology company in China, is locally hosting data with the help of a Chinese partner suggests that others will most likely have to do the same.	与许多中国法律一样，上个月开始实施的《网络安全法》的措辞模糊不清，让许多外国公司无法确定该法律的哪些部分将得到执行，以及如何执行。苹果很可能是在中国的外国技术公司中最成功的一个，它在中国合作伙伴的帮助下把数据中心放在国内的做法表明，其它公司很可能也必须将这样做。
Apple said in a statement on Wednesday that the new center would keep “strong data privacy and security protections in place,” adding that no back doors would be created in its systems.	苹果在周三的声明中表示，新中心将保留“原有的强有力的数据隐私和安全保护措施”，并补充说，其系统中不会留有后门。

The rules also call for security reviews and for users of messaging apps to register their real identities. The regulations are part of a wider Chinese industrial policy put into place to build local capabilities. For example, a government plan called Made in China 2025 names several industries, like robotics and electric cars, in which it hopes its companies will become leaders. Foreign business groups have said the laws unfairly discriminate against nondomestic companies.	这些法规的内容还包括要求对公司进行安全评估，以及要求即时短信应用的用户实名注册。这些规定是中国采取的更广泛的产业政策的一部分，目的是加强本国能力。比如，一项名为《中国制造 2025》的政府计划，将机器人和电动汽车等列为政府希望国内公司能成为领导者的几个行业。国外商业组织已表示，该法律不公平地歧视非本国公司。
In China, the iPhone is a symbol of middle-class ambitions, but it has also become emblematic of a long reliance on foreign technology. As a result, the state news media has occasionally taken aim at Apple for everything from its after-sales policies to software that shows a user’s commonly visited locations.	在中国，iPhone 是中产阶级雄心的象征，但也标志着中国对外国技术的长期依赖。因此，官方的新闻媒体偶尔会批评苹果的做法，从其售后政策、到显示用户经常访问的地方的软件。

Foreign companies like Apple have had to adapt in other ways to stronger government scrutiny as well, often by helping expand Chinese technological capabilities. For instance, Apple announced this year that it would establish two research and development centers in China. Last year, it invested $1 billion in the Chinese ride-hailing service Didi Chuxing.	像苹果这样的外国公司不得不对越来越严格的政府监管做出其他调整，通常是通过帮助扩大中国技术能力的方式。比如，苹果今年宣布，将在中国设立两个研发中心。去年，苹果对中国的网约车服务滴滴出行进行了 10 亿美元的投资。

In December 2016, complying with what it said was a request from the Chinese authorities, Apple also removed news apps created by The New York Times from its app store in China. Apple did not specify what had prompted the request. The company also must undergo "security audits" on new models of the iPhone before gaining approval to sell them in China.	2016 年 12 月，苹果为遵循其称之为来自中国当局的要求，公司还将《纽约时报》制作的新闻应用在中国国内的应用商店下架。苹果没有说明是什么促使政府提出了该要求。公司还必须将新版 iPhone 送交“安全审查”，才能获准在中国销售它们。

Why Hollywood Is Relying on China to Halt a Box Office Slide	好莱坞在中国票房降温，面临系统性挑战
LOS ANGELES — All year, Hollywood executives have been brushing aside worries about box-office stagnation in the United States and	洛杉矶——这一年来，面对美国和加拿大票房停滞不前的担忧，好莱坞高管一直不以为然，声称中国市场票房形势大好。

Canada by pointing to strong ticket sales in China.
Ticket sales for imported films in China are up 34 percent this year, to roughly $2.3 billion, according to the Beijing research firm EntGroup. Look at Paramount's "Transformers: The Last Knight." That sequel managed only $45 million in its opening weekend in North America, but it took in $120 million in China.	据北京研究公司艺恩咨询统计，今年进口电影票房增长了34%，达到23亿美元左右。比如派拉蒙(Paramount)的《变形金刚：最后的骑士》(Transformers: The Last Knight)在北美首周末的票房是4500万美元，但在中国却高达1.2亿美元。
On closer look, however, the rosy picture doesn't quite hold up, underscoring why Hollywood has recently been pushing so hard for film-related concessions from the Chinese government.	但是，如果仔细看看，你就会发现这个美好景象有点问题，它突显了好莱坞为什么最近如此努力向中国政府施压，希望他们在电影问题上做些让步。
New data from comScore, a Virginia-based analytics firm, indicates that Hollywood is having a tough time in China. From Jan. 1 to June 30, Chinese cinemas played 24 movies from Hollywood, generating $1.76 billion in ticket sales. In the same period a year earlier, the country let in 22 Hollywood movies, which collected about $1.73 billion.	位于弗吉尼亚州的分析公司 comScore 提供的一些新数据显示，好莱坞目前在中国的状况比较艰难。从1月1日至6月30日，中国电影院上映24部好莱坞电影，票房收入为17.6亿美元。而去年同期上映22部好莱坞电影，票房收入约17.3亿美元。
That is a 1.7 percent increase — a far shot from 35 percent, the figure for all imported movies. Films from countries other than the United States made up the difference. One was "Dangal," a Bollywood drama (partly financed by an Indian subsidiary of the Walt Disney Company) that collected a runaway $191 million in China in May.	1.7%的增幅远远低于所有进口电影35%的增幅。其他国家的电影弥补了两者之间的差异。其中一部是宝莱坞剧情片《摔跤吧！爸爸》(Dangal, 华特迪士尼公司的印度子公司提供了部分资金)，5月份它在中国创下了1.91亿美元的票房佳绩。
Over all, box-office revenue in China totaled $3.7 billion in the first six months of the year, up 2 percent, an alarmingly low growth rate compared with what the market has delivered in the recent past. The slowdown is one reason the Motion Picture Association of America, which represents the six biggest Hollywood studios, recently hired an accounting firm to audit the box-office figures reported by Chinese	总的来说，中国的票房收入在今年前六个月达到了37亿美元，同比增长了2%，但与该市场过去的发展速度相比，这个增幅小得惊人。由于这种放缓和其他一些原因，美国电影协会(Motion Picture Association of America)最近代表好莱坞六大电影公司聘请了一家会计师事务所，核查中国影院汇报的票房数字。 theaters.

Any uptick is positive, of course, but Hollywood is counting on China to deliver box-office gains that are substantially higher. In North America, ticket sales for the summer are down 8 percent, compared with the same period in 2016, according to comScore; box-office revenue for the year to date is flat. Analysts have been downgrading multiplex stocks as a result; Cinemark got that treatment on Sunday from RBC Capital Markets.	任何上涨当然都是好事，但好莱坞指望在中国获得远远更高的票房收益。据 comScore 统计，与 2016 年同期相比，北美今年夏季的票房收入下降了 8%；今年迄今为止，票房收入基本持平。分析师因此调低了影院股票的评级，喜满客影城(Cinemark)上周日就被加拿大皇家资本市场(RBC Capital Markets)调低了评级。
So as they scratch for growth, studios like 20th Century Fox and Universal have been scrambling to position themselves as bigger players in China, where the number of movie screens has increased to more than 40,600 from 12,407 in 2012. The accounting firm PwC recently estimated that China would have roughly 80,377 screens by 2021 — double the number in the United States.	因此，为了努力求得增长，20 世纪福克斯(20th Century Fox)和环球影业(Universal)这样的制片厂争相扩大在中国市场的影响力，中国电影屏幕数量从 2012 年的 12407 块增加到超过 40600 块。会计师事务所普华永道(PwC)近期估计，到 2021 年，中国大约会有 80377 块屏幕，是美国的两倍。
Studios have even made minimal fuss over the censorship demands. China not only limits the number of foreign films that play in the country, but often asks for substantial cuts in those it does allow in.	好莱坞制片厂甚至对中国的审查要求也没有太大反应。中国不仅限制了在境内上映的外国电影数量，而且经常要求那些获许上映的电影剪去大量镜头。
Some Hollywood offerings have done very well in China this year. “A Dog’s Purpose,” made by Steven Spielberg’s Amblin Partners, collected a strong $88.2 million; in comparison, it took in $64 million in North America, which remains the world’s No. 1 movie market. Sony’s “Resident Evil: The Final Chapter” collected about $160 million in China; it managed only about $26.8 million in North America.	今年有部分好莱坞电影在中国票房成绩很好。史蒂文·斯皮尔伯格(Steven Spielberg)的安培林公司(Amblin Partners)出品的《一条狗的使命》(A Dog’s Purpose)在中国劲收 8820 万美元，相比之下，它在世界最大电影市场北美的票房为 6400 万美元。索尼的《生化危机：终章》(Resident Evil: The Final Chapter)在中国的票房收入约 1.6 亿美元，而在北美仅为 2680 万美元。
At the same time, however, Hollywood suffered a parade of duds in China, including “The Lego Batman Movie,” “Sing,” “Power Rangers” and	不过，也有一些好莱坞作品在中国受挫，比如《乐高蝙蝠侠大电影》(The Lego Batman Movie)、《欢乐好声音》(Sing)、《超凡战队》(Power Rangers)和《亚

Hollywood could always make a comeback in China in the second half of the year, particularly if Beijing relaxes its traditional late-summer blackout period for foreign films, as some analysts predict. "Everything can be changed as the political needs dictate," said Stanley Rosen, a political scientist with the U.S.-China Institute at the University of Southern California. He noted that Universal's "Despicable Me 3" had a strong arrival last week, taking in $66 million over its opening weekend there.	一些分析师预测，下半年，好莱坞可能会在中国市场上重新崛起，特别是如果北京放宽夏季禁放外国片的传统的话。南加州大学(University of Southern California)政治学教授斯坦利·罗森(Stanley Rosen)：“各种事情都可能因为政治需要而改变。”他指出，在上周，环球影业《神偷奶爸3》(Despicable Me 3)的首周末票房成绩很好，达到6600万美元。
But analysts say studios are facing systemic challenges in the country, including a slowing overall economy. Chinese moviegoers are also growing more discerning; film quality is increasingly important. Movie theaters in China may also be hurt as streaming services proliferate. More than 80 million people in the country now pay to watch video online, a 32 percent increase from last year, according to Analysys, a Beijing research firm.	但分析师认为，好莱坞制片厂在中国正面临着系统性的挑战，包括整体经济增速放缓。而且中国电影观众也越来越挑剔，电影质量越来越重要。随着流媒体服务的激增，中国电影院也可能遭受影响。北京研究公司易观国际表示，现在中国有8000多万人付费观看在线视频，较去年增长了32%。
"People just don't have time to go to theaters," Zhang Zhao, chief executive of Le Vision Pictures, a subsidiary of the financially troubled Chinese tech company LeEco, said at a conference in Shanghai last month. After Wanda Deal, Chinese Property Developer Faces Debt Risk	"公司救星"融创中国面临债务风险
BEIJING — The Chinese property developer Sunac China Holdings has	北京——中国房地产开发商融创中国已经成为了中国最大的"公司救星"之

turned into one of the country's biggest white knights, swooping in to help troubled companies with too much debt. The risk: Sunac is amassing its own large pile of debt in the process.	一，它伸出援手，帮助那些负债过重、陷入困境的公司。其中的风险在于，融创在这个过程中积累了大量债务。
Sunac has more than doubled its debt load in a year to $38 billion. Its deal this week to buy a portfolio of theme parks and hotels from the Dalian Wanda Group, the heavily indebted Chinese conglomerate, will add to the tab. At $9.3 billion, the acquisition is larger than the market value of Sunac.	在一年之内，融创的债务翻了一番，达到 380 亿美元。上周，它又从债务累累的企业集团大连万达那里收购了一些主题公园和酒店，增加了自己的债务规模。这宗收购交易价值 93 亿美元，比融创中国本身的市值还高。
"The problem for Sunac is twofold," said Peter Fuhrman, chairman of China First Capital, an investment bank. "They themselves are already rather overleveraged and they are not paying distressed prices."	"融创中国的问题存在于两方面。"中国首创(China First Capital)董事长彼得·福尔曼(Peter Fuhrman)表示："一是他们自己的杠杆已经相当高，二是他们支付的并非是甩卖价。"

As the economy now slows, companies are increasingly running into financial trouble, with some having to borrow even more to pay their debts. Policy makers are worried that the country's spiraling level of corporate debt could threaten the broader financial system.	现在，随着经济放缓，陷入财务困境的公司越来越多，部分公司甚至不得不借更多的钱还债。政策制定者担心中国不断上升的企业债务水平可能会威胁到整个金融体系。
Sunac, China's seventh-largest property developer in terms of sales, has been able to tap into its financial strength to help companies under pressure. Since 2012, Sunac's property sales have grown at double-digit rates nearly every year, giving it the firepower to scoop up assets and land plots.	就销售额而言位列中国第七大房地产开发商的融创一直有能力利用自己的资金实力帮助压力之下的公司。自 2012 年以来，融创的房地产销售额几乎每年都以两位数的速度增长，让它有购入资产和地块的火力。

That same year, it announced a partnership with the cash-poor Yurun Holding Group, which ran a business empire ranging from sausage making to property and finance.	2015 年，融创表态要救助佳兆业，承诺出资 12 亿美元接管这家处境困难的房地产公司。后来，因为佳兆业没有达到达成交易的某些条件，融创退出。同一年，融创宣布与资金不足的雨润控股集团有限公司达成合作。雨润是一个商业帝国，业务多元，从火腿肠生产到房地产再到金融。
It is a remarkable turnabout for the company's founder, Sun Hongbin.	对融创的创始人孙宏斌来说，这是一个非凡的转变。
Mr. Sun started his career at the Lenovo Group, where he was promoted to run enterprise development. But he had a falling out with Liu Chuanzhi, the founder of Lenovo, over a business dispute. After his release in 1994, he met with the founder of Lenovo and apologized, according to the website of The People's Daily, the ruling Communist Party's official newspaper. The Lenovo founder eventually lent Mr. Sun about $74,000, which he used to start a predecessor real estate firm to Sunac.	据执政党党报《人民日报》的网站称，1994 年获释后，孙宏斌和柳传志会面并道歉。柳传志最终借给孙宏斌大约 7.4 万美元，孙宏斌用这笔钱创办了融创的前身。那也是一家房地产公司。
Lenovo did not immediately respond to a request for comment.	联想未立即回复记者的置评请求。
When Mr. Sun started Sunac in 2003, he focused on the cities of Wuxi and Chongqing and then moved on to China's most developed cities, among them Beijing, Shanghai, Tianjin and Hangzhou, building apartments with names like Beijing Fontainebleau Chateau. Sunac built its residential projects in good locations near city centers and was	孙宏斌 2003 年创立融创时，将注意力主要放在无锡和重庆，然后转向在中国最发达的城市修建住宅，包括北京、上海、天津和杭州，它给住宅项目起的都是“北京枫丹白露城堡”这样的名字。融创在靠近市中心的优越地段开发住宅项目，积极购地，也因此背上更高的债务。

With the Wanda deal, Sunac is extending its reach into tourism, paying $9.3 billion for 76 hotels and a major chunk of its 13 tourism projects, in the country’s largest property acquisition ever. The purchase will help Sunac diversify its business, which is hurting from government restrictions on home sales as Beijing seeks to cool a frothy property market. It also strengthens the company’s hand in an industry dominated by bigwigs like the China Vanke Group and Country Garden.	通过与万达的这项交易，融创将业务扩展至旅游业，它斥资93亿美元，购买了76家酒店和万达13个旅游项目中的大部分项目，成为中国迄今最大的地产收购交易。这项收购将帮助融创实现业务多样化——由于北京努力给充满泡沫的地产市场降温、政府对房屋销售加以限制，它此前的地产业务受到影响。此外，在由万达和碧桂园等巨头主导的地产产业中，这项交易也令融创的分量得到了加强。
“Within the housing industry, the powerhouses are really strong,” said Lu Wenxi, an analyst for Centaline Properties who is based in Shanghai. “If you don’t gobble up the fat ones, it is easy to be eaten up by others. Taking on more projects will prevent you from being eaten.”	“房企里面，强者很强，”上海中原地产的分析师卢文曦说。“如果现在不吃成胖子，很容易被人家吃掉。拿了更多项目之后，至少人家想吃你没那么容易的。”

But the deal will add to an already significant debt load. In 2016, the company’s net gearing ratio — a measure of total debt to shareholders’ equity — rose to 121.5 percent, from to 75.9 percent in 2015. Fitch Ratings recently downgraded the company’s credit rating to BB-, saying Sunac’s acquisitive approach had made its financial profile “more volatile.”	不过，该交易将增加它本已沉重的债务负担。2016年，该公司的净资产负债比率，也就是总债务对股权的比率，从2015年的75.9%上升至121.5%。前不久，惠誉评级(Fitch Ratings)将该公司的信用评级下调至BB-，称融创的收购方式让它的财务状况“更不稳定”。

"In my experience, I've never seen it anywhere," said Lester Ross, a Beijing-based partner with the law firm WilmerHale, who has advised deals in China for the last 20 years. The LeEco deal is also prompting concern.	同乐视的交易也在推动人们的担忧。
Sunac invested $2.2 billion in LeEco, buying minority stakes in three of the conglomerate's more stable businesses, including the smart TV affiliate Leshi Zhixin, Le Vision Pictures, and Leshi Internet. The two companies don't have many overlapping interests, and LeEco's finances have continued to sour. In a January news conference, Mr. Sun said many people had tried to dissuade him from investing in LeEco, adding that several were "resolutely opposed" to it.	在今年 1 月的一次新闻发布会上，孙宏斌表示，很多人曾劝他不要投资乐视，还说有几个人"坚决反对"。

Predictably, China's Year-on-Year Growth Maintains Its Steady Pace	中国二季度 GDP 同比增长 6.9%
SHANGHAI — Leave it to other countries to soar and swoon in their quarterly economic performance. China prefers a steady pace, at least in its officially reported data.	上海——飙升的季度经济表现就留给其他国家吧，中国更倾向于让经济稳定增长，至少官方报告的数据是这样的。
On Monday, the country announced that its economy had expanded 6.9 percent in the second quarter, unchanged from the year-on-year growth rate in the first quarter.	周一，中国公布称其经济在第二季度增加了 6.9%，和第一季度的增长率持平。
Powering the Chinese economy were many of the familiar sectors: brisk construction of apartment buildings; strong retail sales, especially online; and continued large investments in infrastructure, including new highways and high-speed rail lines. Much of the new infrastructure is in the sparsely inhabited western deserts, where its short-term economic usefulness may be limited. But President Xi Jinping has a strategic vision, the "One Belt, One Road" plan, to link the economies of Asia, the Middle East, and much of Europe and eastern Africa to the Chinese economy.	推动中国经济增长的仍然是许多熟悉的行业：快速兴建公寓楼；强势的零售销售额，尤其是线上零售额；对基础建设持续的大额投资，包括修建新高速路和高铁线路。许多新的基建项目都稀疏地散落在西部沙漠地区，这些地区短期的经济效用可能有限，但是习近平主席有着战略远景：利用“一带一路”计划将中国经济与亚洲，中东以及欧洲和东非的大部分地区的经济连接起来。
What keeps the growth rate of the Chinese economy so smooth? Accounting sleight of hand may play some role. Studies over the years have found that China's national statisticians appear to overstate growth during periods of economic weakness and understate growth when the economy is booming. A series of recent scandals, particularly in China's northeast, have also indicated that local officials may overreport economic activity to Beijing when local industries like coal mining and steel production run into difficulty.	中国经济增长速度为何如此顺利？做账的手法可能会发挥一定的作用。多年来的研究发现，中国的国家统计人员在该国经济疲软期间似乎夸大了经济增长，而在经济蓬勃发展时刻意低报了增长。最近一系列、特别是在中国的东北部的丑闻，也表明了地方官员在煤矿和钢铁生产遇到困难时，可能会向北京夸大报告当地的经济活动。

China announced on Friday afternoon that it was revising its economic output data to take better account of fast-growing sectors like intellectual property, health care, tourism and so-called emerging industries. It was not immediately clear how this affected the data released on Monday morning.	中国在周五下午宣布正在修改该国的经济产出数据，以更贴切地解释知识产权、保健、旅游和所谓的新兴产业等快速增长的行业。这些对周一上午发布的数据产生的影响如何无法立即得知。
China's consistent growth also reflects the government's constant intervention as officials try to reach predetermined targets for the country's economy – currently 6.5 percent growth or better.	中国的持续增长也反映了政府对经济的不断干预，官员试图达到国家经济的预定目标——目前为不低于6.5%的增长率。
Keep On Lending	持续借贷
The biggest reason the Chinese economy keeps growing quickly is that the state-controlled banking system keeps pouring in loans, although the government began tapering the flow slightly during the second quarter.	中国经济持续增长的主因是国家控制的银行体系仍在持续大规模放贷，尽管政府在第二季度已经开始有所收紧。
Total social financing plus bonds, the broadest measure of credit, expanded 14.7 percent in June compared with the same month a year earlier. In most countries, that would be a breathtaking pace. But in China, it was actually a slight slowdown: Credit was up 15.3 percent in May from a year earlier.	作为最广泛的信誉测量指标，6月份总社会融资加债券比去年同期增长了14.7%。在大多数国家，这已是惊人的速度。但在中国，这实际上是轻微的放缓：5月份这个数字是15.3%。
The Communist Party Congress, which is held once every five years and chooses the country's top leadership, will be in midautumn. So China's leaders have been eager to keep the economy growing briskly at least until then.	五年一度、选择国家最高领导人的共产党全国代表大会将在今年秋季召开，至少到那时为止，中国的领导人会渴望保持经济的增长。
China has many tools for managing a debt buildup. More than half of the credit in its economy consists of loans from state-controlled banks to state-owned enterprises. But Moody's Investors Service downgraded	中国有许多工具管理债务积累。超过一般的债务是由国有银行发放给国有企业的。但由于担心中国的债务可能进一步增加，穆迪投资者服务公司已经在5月24日下调了中国的主权债务评级。

China's sovereign debt by a notch on May 24, expressing worry about the broader buildup of credit.
Factories and Services Surge	工业和服务业表现强劲
While a sizable chunk of China's economy may depend these days on building roads and rail lines into the desert using borrowed money, industrial production and services are also strong.	虽说中国经济很大的部分仰赖于借贷来建筑沙漠中的道路和铁路,但工业生产和服务业表现也颇为强势。
Steel demand has been vigorous, especially in residential construction. Housing prices have surged in the past 15 months, ever since the government decided during a period of economic weakness in early 2016 to make it much easier for families to borrow for home buying. Some of the biggest cities, like Beijing, have recently tried to curb real estate speculation with administrative limits, but these rules have had limited effect, as credit has stayed plentiful. Overall industrial production rose 7.6 percent in June from a year earlier, the government announced on Monday morning.	钢铁需求持续旺盛,在住宅项目上尤为明显。自从政府在2016年初的经济较衰弱期间做出使家庭更能轻松借贷买房的决定后,房价在过去15个月中大幅攀升。如北京这样最大的一些城市,最近试图透过行政上的限制来削减房地产投机,然而因为信贷仍保持丰沛,这些规定带来的影响有限。政府周一上午宣布,6月份工业总产值增加7.6%。
Trade Sustains Economy	贸易维持经济增长
Part of China's economic health in the second quarter reflected robust exports, with demand beginning to recover in Europe and particularly the United States after a long period of depressed growth. But what counts in the overall economy is not the value of the exports but whether the trade surplus narrows or widens. In that respect, there were a few clouds on China's horizon.	来自欧洲、特别是美国的需求在长期低迷后开始复苏,推动了中国贸易出口继续增长。不过,对整体经济起作用的并不是出口值,而是贸易顺差是否缩小或扩大。在这方面,中国的前景蒙上了几朵乌云。
China's imports rose 14.5 percent in the second quarter from the same period last year as prices soared for iron ore and other raw materials essential to Chinese manufacturing. Chinese exports rose only 9.1	随着中国制造业中必不可少的铁矿石和其他原材料价格飙升,中国第二季度的进口总额与去年同期相比增长了14.5%,而中国出口总额在第二季度仅上涨了9.1%。 percent in the second quarter.

The composition of Chinese exports also changed in ways that could intensify trade friction and affect China's trade surplus. China is becoming even more dependent on exports to the United States, with sales reaching their second-highest level ever last month, trailing only September 2015.	中国出口构成的转变可能会加剧贸易摩擦，影响中国的贸易顺差。中国愈发依赖对美国的出口，销售额在上月达到史上第二高的水平，仅落后于2015年9月。
Chinese imports from the United States have also risen, but most of the extra purchases have been oil and other raw materials, which create many fewer jobs than manufacturing.	中国从美国的进口额也有所增长，但额外的购买订单大多数是石油和其他原材料，这些行业创造的职位少于制造业。
President Trump promised during his campaign to create more American jobs through a more confrontational approach on trade toward China. But since taking office, he has focused more heavily on addressing North Korea's nuclear and ballistic missile programs and on very narrow trade talks involving industries like steel manufacturing and beef production.	特朗普总统在竞选时表示会通过采取贸易上对中国更具对抗性的策略，从而为美国人创造更多职位。但自就职以来，他将更多焦点集中在朝鲜的核武器和弹道导弹项目上，以及涉及钢铁制造和牛肉生产等行业的非常狭隘的贸易谈判。

Chinese Finance Meeting's Meager Results Reflect Nation's Problems	金融工作会议成果寥寥，突显中国政策困境
SHANGHAI — China's top leaders have gathered every five years since 1997 for a National Financial Work Conference. At past gatherings, they have created entire regulatory agencies and rearranged the rules for huge markets, almost overnight.	上海——自1997年以来，中国的高层领导人每五年召开一次全国金融工作会议。在过去的会议上，他们几乎是在一夜之间创建整个监管机构，或者对庞大市场的规则进行重大调整。
So economists and regulators have been almost breathlessly speculating about this summer's work conference. Would the regulatory commissions overseeing the banking, securities and insurance industries be merged into the central bank? Would the legal	所以，经济学家和监管机构几乎是屏住了呼吸，对今年夏天的工作会议进行推测。银监会、证监会和保监会是否会并入央行呢？证券的法律定义是否会扩大，让影子银行、P2P网络投资，以及表外理财产品这些常见的活动处于监管之下呢？

definition of securities be broadened to shed some regulatory daylight on widespread activities like shadow banking, peer-to-peer online investment networks and off-balance-sheet wealth management products?
But the actual results of the two-day work conference, which ended on Saturday afternoon, were much more, well, modest, to put it politely.	但是，当为期两天的工作会议在周六下午结束的时候，用一个客气的说法来形容它的实际结果，就是远远“不多”。
The biggest accomplishment of the conference appeared to be an announcement that a commission would be established under the auspices of the cabinet. The commission would meet regularly to discuss issues of financial stability.	这个会议的最大成就好像就是宣布在内阁的主持下设立一个新的委员会。该委员会将定期举行会议，讨论金融稳定的问题。
But the leaders of the various financial regulatory agencies already meet regularly at the offices of the State Council, which is China's cabinet, although these meetings are not officially at the level of a commission.	不过，各金融监管机构的领导人已经在国务院（即中国的内阁）举行例会了，虽然这些会议没有达到正式的委员会级别。
Some economists speculated in the final days before the two-day conference that at least the State Council meetings would be moved to the central bank. Allowing the central bank to serve tea and provide a conference room might give the central bank staff a little extra confidence by allowing them to negotiate as hosts. The central bank also has a history of advocating broader financial reforms than the other principal financial regulatory agencies: the China Banking Regulatory Commission, the China Securities Regulatory Commission and the China Insurance Regulatory Commission.	就在这个为期两天的会议召开前的几天，一些经济学家推测，至少国务院的会议将移到央行举行。让央行为会议提供茶饮和会议室，可能给央行员工带来一点额外的信心，让他们像东道主一般谈判。相对于银监会、证监会和保监会这几个主要的金融监管机构，央行也一直支持进行更广泛的金融改革。
But the leaders did not even move the meetings away from the State Council's offices to the central bank. And the result of the conference	但就连开会的地点都没有从国务院的办公室搬到央行，这个会议的结果和之前这些监管机构可能要听命于央行的推测相去甚远。

fell far short of predictions that the regulatory agencies might become clearly subservient to the central bank.
The statement that accompanied the end of the conference did mention that the central bank had a role to play in preventing systemic financial risk. That is already the role of central banks in many countries. But Gary Liu, the president of the China Financial Reform Institute, a research group based in Shanghai, said that the specific mention of it in the statement might strengthen the central bank's hand somewhat.	会议结束时发表的声明确实提到了央行在预防系统性财政风险方面的作用。这其实是很多国家的央行已经在发挥的作用了。不过，上海的研究机构中国金融改革研究院院长刘胜军表示，在声明中具体提及央行，可能会多多少少地强化央行的角色。
But he was skeptical of the new commission, noting that it would lack legal powers and have very few staff members. "China failed to achieve a real breakthrough in financial regulatory reform, and the rising conflicts between financial regulation and financial realities will continue to create troubles in the coming years," Mr. Liu said.	但他对这个新的委员会持怀疑态度，指出它缺乏法定权力，工作人员也很少。“中国金融监管改革未能取得实质突破，金融监管与金融现实之间矛盾的日益加剧，会在未来数年里继续制造困难，”刘胜军说道。
Overall debt has been soaring in China, and Moody's Investors Service downgraded China's sovereign debt rating by a notch on May 24 on concerns that China has struggled to contain further increases in that debt. Chinese officials are quick to acknowledge the importance of financial health to the Chinese economy, which has become the world's second-largest economy after the United States', with extensive links to practically every other country around the world.	中国的整体债务规模日益膨胀，穆迪投资者服务公司由于担心中国的债务可能进一步增加，在5月24日下调了中国的主权债务评级。中国官员很快认识到金融的健康对中国经济的重要性，中国已成为世界第二大经济体，仅次于美国，它与几乎所有国家都有着广泛的联系。
State-controlled media carried a statement that described President Xi Jinping of China as having said at the conference, "Finance is an important core competitiveness of the country, financial security is an important part of national security, and the financial system is an important economic and social development of the basic system."	政府控制的媒体发表的声明称，中国国家主席习近平在会议上发言说，“金融是国家重要的核心竞争力，金融安全是国家安全的重要组成部分，金融制度是经济社会发展中重要的基础性制度。”

The apparently meager results from the conference underline not just bureaucratic resistance to change, which Mr. Xi probably has the political muscle to overcome, but the very real and complex policy dilemmas facing China.	这次会议的结果之少，不仅突显了官僚主义对变革的抵制——习近平可能拥有克服它的政治手段——也展示了中国面临着真切而复杂的政策困境。
One example lies in the vast, lightly regulated off-balance-sheet activities of Chinese banks, which Mizuho Securities calculated on Friday to be roughly equal to the entire assets on the balance sheets of the banking industry. Regulators in the West would probably force banks to move these activities as quickly as possible onto their balance sheets, which would probably have the effect of curtailing them.	一个例子就是，中国银行面临的大量的、缺少监管的表外活动，根据瑞穗证券(Mizuho Securities)上周五的估算，其规模大致相当于银行业资产负债表上的全部资产。西方监管机构可能会迫使银行尽快将这些活动转移到资产负债表上，这样做可能会对它们产生限制效应。
But many of these off-balance-sheet activities, like various kinds of loan guarantees, are crucial to providing financing for China's vigorous small and medium-size enterprises. These smaller businesses have had little luck competing with large, state-owned enterprises for conventional bank loans. But they account for the bulk of the job creation in China, at a time when the government is trying to slim down chronically loss-making industries like steel manufacturing and coal mining that are also big employers.	但是很多表外活动，比如各种贷款担保，为中国充满活力的中小企业提供了至关重要的融资服务。这些中小型企业往往难以和大型国有企业竞争常规银行贷款，但它们为中国提供了大量的就业机会，加之目前政府本来就正在压缩长期亏损的行业，比如雇佣了很多员工的钢铁制造业和采煤业。
Other financial regulatory disputes in China involve bureaucratic turf issues. One question lies in how to modernize China's antiquated securities law, which still applies only to stocks and bonds and lacks provisions to cover the more complex instruments issued these days by insurance companies, banks, online lenders and other types of financial institutions.	中国的其他金融监管纠纷涉及官僚机构的地盘问题。一个问题是，如何让中国过时的证券法实现现代化，目前该法律只适用于股票和债券，没有涵盖到保险公司、银行、在线贷款机构和其他类型金融机构现在推出的、更为复杂的金融工具上。
The China Securities Regulatory Commission has pushed hard for the	中国证监会已经在大力推动把“证券”进行最广泛的界定，这会让证监会拥有

broadest possible definition of securities, which would give it much greater influence. The banking and insurance regulators have resisted this, contending that many of the new financial instruments are extensions of banking and insurance.	更大的影响力。银监会和保监会则对此表示抵制，认为许多新的金融工具是银行和保险活动的延伸。
One mystery left unresolved by the statement at the end of the conference lies in who will run the top financial regulatory agencies in the years ahead, particularly the central bank.	会议之后的声明留下了一个没有解决的谜题：今后将由谁来主掌这些最高金融监管机构，尤其是央行。
Zhou Xiaochuan has been the governor of the central bank, the People's Bank of China, since 2002, making him one of the world's longest-serving central bankers. Mr. Zhou is already more than two years past the usual retirement age for Chinese officials at his level. He received a special dispensation from the usual age limits by being allowed to join a senior government advisory body that is exempt from age limits.	周小川自 2002 年以来一直是中国的央行——中国人民银行的行长，他也是世界上在任时间最长的央行行长之一。周小川的岁数已经超过中国官员通常退休年龄两年。他被提拔进了一个不受年龄限制的高级政府咨询机构，所以不受通常的工作年龄限制。
Central banking specialists in China cite two likely front-runners to succeed him. One is Jiang Chaoliang, the Communist Party secretary of Hubei province and a former chairman of the Agricultural Bank of China. The other is Guo Shuqing, a former governor of Shandong province who in February became the chairman of the China Banking Regulatory Commission.	中国的央行专家认为，最有可能接替他的人选，一个是湖北省委书记、中国农业银行前董事长蒋超良；另外一个山东省前省长郭树清，他在 2 月份成为了中国银监会主席。

Mysterious Document Is Latest Blow for Dalian Wanda	传银监会下禁贷令，万达债务状况再亮红灯
SHANGHAI — A mysterious document circulating on Chinese social media purported that regulators had warned state-run banks against	上海——在中国社交媒体上流传的一份神秘文件称，监管机构曾警告国有银行不要为大连万达集团的几个海外交易融资。然后一个信用评级机构又对该

The market reaction was swift on Monday, with shares and debt issued by several subsidiaries of Wanda falling sharply.	本周一市场迅速做出反应，万达几家子公司的股票和债券价格急挫。
The mounting pressure on Wanda reflects the challenges facing large Chinese companies that borrowed heavily to finance their breathtaking growth over the last few years.	万达承受的压力越来越大，这反映出中国大型企业在过去几年通过大量借款实现惊人增长所带来的挑战。
Policy makers and analysts are worried that conglomerates like Wanda, with debt tentacles extending across the financial system, could threaten the health of the broader economy. The rating agency, Standard & Poor's, put Wanda on negative credit watch on Monday, saying its recent asset sales to pay down debt might cut into its revenue.	政策制定者和分析人士担心，像万达这样的企业集团，其债务的触角延伸到金融体系的方方面面，它们可能会对更广泛经济的健康构成威胁。评级机构标准普尔周一将万达列入“负面观察名单”，称其最近出售资产以偿还债务的行为可能会导致营收减少。
China's leaders are pushing regulators and bankers to address the problems. President Xi Jinping in recent days convened top officials in Beijing for a conference on financial reform, calling for limits on corporate indebtedness that is steadily rising.	中国领导人正在推动监管机构和银行业人士来解决这些问题。习近平近日在北京召集顶层官员开了一个金融改革会议，要求对稳步增长的企业债务进行限制。
The mysterious document that went viral, before being blocked by Chinese censors, appeared to be a cellphone photo of the first page of an internal document from the Agricultural Bank of China. The document described two supposed meetings about Dalian Wanda, one involving a National Development and Reform Commission official, Zheng Chiping, and the other with China Banking Regulatory Commission officials.	这份神秘文件在社交媒体上大量转发，直到被中国审查者屏蔽。该文件似乎是中国农业银行内部资料的第一页，被人用手机拍了下来。它描述了据信和大连万达有关的两次会议，一次有发改委官员郑持平参加，另外一个有中国银监会的官员参加。

The bank, the document said, was told by regulators that it was forbidden to lend to six of Wanda's overseas acquisitions even if those ventures ran into difficulty raising money abroad. The regulators, the document said, also told the bank that it could not help the overseas projects with foreign currency or financial registrations.	文件说，监管机构告知该银行，禁止向万达的六个海外并购项目放贷，即使那些企业在国外难以筹措资金。该文件说，监管机构还告诉农业银行，不能为那些海外项目提供外币或者财务注册服务。
The reform commission and the Agricultural Bank of China did not immediately respond to a request for comment. Wanda declined to comment.	发改委和农业银行没有立即回应置评请求。万达则拒绝置评。
At least two projects listed in the document fall under Wanda's AMC Entertainment: its deals to acquire Carmike Cinemas and the Nordic Cinema Group deal. It is unclear to what extent AMC, as an American company, needs financing from Chinese banks — although controversy in China about the creditworthiness of AMC's corporate parent could make non-Chinese lenders more wary as well.	该文件中列出的项目中至少有两个属于万达的 AMC 娱乐(AMC Entertainment): 收购卡麦克影院(Carmike Cinemas)和北欧院线(Nordic Cinema Group)。目前还不清楚，AMC 作为一家美国公司，需要向中国银行借多少钱——尽管在中国，有人认为 AMC 母公司的信贷价值可能会使得其他国家的贷款人更加谨慎一些。
But the document fed into market concern about the state of Wanda's finances and its ability to borrow. The conglomerate is selling a portfolio of theme parks and hotels to Sunac China Holdings for $9.3 billion, with plans to use the money to pay back loans. Even so, Sunac said last week that Wanda was set to obtain a loan of about $4.4 billion — half the value of the deal — on its behalf.	但这份文件加深了市场对万达财务状况和借款能力的担忧。该集团以 93 亿美元向融创中国出售了一系列主题公园和酒店，计划使用这笔款项来偿还贷款。即使如此，融创中国上周表示，万达将向它发放 44 亿美元的贷款——占这笔交易总值的一半。
To investors, it did not matter whether the document was authentic or regulators' warnings were real: In this shaky environment, company stocks and bonds are proving volatile.	对投资者来说，该文件本身是否真实，以及监管机构的警告是不是切实，都无关紧要：在这个不稳定的环境中，公司的股票和债券涨落不定。
Shares in Wanda Hotel Development Company fell 5.8 percent in trading on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange on Monday. Various Wanda	在港交所，万达酒店发展公司的股价本周一下挫 5.8%。万达的各种债券跌幅从 0.65%至 1.22%不等。

U.S. and Chinese Executives to Meet on Nations' Economic Relations	中美商业领袖会面，欲缓和两国经济关系
Leaders of major United States companies with deep ties to China will meet on Tuesday with their Chinese counterparts to try to ease the increasingly rocky economic relationship between the countries.	与中国关系深远的美国大企业的领袖，将在周二同他们的中国伙伴举行会面，以期缓和两国之间越来越不稳定的经济关系。
On Tuesday, Wilbur Ross, the secretary of commerce, will host a daylong meeting in Washington with more than 20 business leaders from the United States and China. It is being brokered by Jack Ma, the executive chairman of the Chinese e-commerce giant Alibaba, and Stephen A. Schwarzman, a co-founder of the private-equity firm the Blackstone Group and an adviser to President Trump.	周二，商务部长威尔伯·罗斯(Wilbur Ross)将在华盛顿同来自美中两国的 20 多位商业领袖举行为期一天的会议。此次会议是由中国电子商务巨头阿里巴巴的董事局主席马云，和私募股权公司黑石集团(Blackstone Group)的联合创始人、特朗普总统的顾问苏世民(Stephen A. Schwarzman)从中促成。
The goal of the session is to hold a frank discussion on the issues that trouble economic relations between the countries. Topics are expected to include the customs hurdles facing Chinese companies that sell goods to the United States and the exportation of American natural gas products to China. Participants are to produce a list of suggestions for officials of the two governments to consider.	会议的目标是就困扰两国经济关系的问题展开坦诚的讨论。话题预计包括面向美国销售商品的中国公司面临的关税障碍和美国的对华天然气产品出口。与会者将制定一份建议目录，供两国政府的官员考虑。
The meeting will be held a day before a separately scheduled economic policy discussion between the United States and Chinese governments on Wednesday. Tuesday's meeting is largely a private-sector event, and United States and Chinese officials have no obligation to act on its conclusions, the organizers said.	会议将在美中两国政府安排在周三的另一场经济政策讨论的前一天举行。组织者称，周二的会议主要是一场私营部门的活动，美中两国的官员没有按照它的结论行动的义务。

Tuesday's meeting is occurring at a sensitive time for the Trump administration and the business community. American business leaders and policy makers have long been frustrated by China's stance on a host of issues, including widespread Chinese theft of intellectual property, the United States' huge trade deficit with China, and the heavy government subsidies enjoyed by many Chinese companies. Aware of the resentment, Mr. Trump and Mr. Ross have moved to rewrite American regulations involving the two countries. Among other things, they are considering tariffs on imported metals while promising to revise unfavorable trade deals.	周二的会议举办之际，正值特朗普政府和商界的敏感时刻。美国的商业领袖和政策制定者长期对中国在诸多问题上的态度不满，包括中国窃取知识产权的普遍现象、美国与中国的巨大贸易逆差和很多中国公司享受的大量政府补贴。意识到这种愤慨后，特朗普和罗斯已着手修改涉及两国的美国规章。此外，他们还在考虑对进口金属征收关税，同时承诺修订不利的贸易协议。
At the same time, the Trump administration has sought to compromise with the Chinese government in hopes of spurring trade and helping American companies. Mr. Schwarzman, who convened the president's strategic and policy forum late last year to provide Mr. Trump with economic advice from American business leaders, has become an important outside adviser to the administration. In addition to commenting on matters of trade, tax policy and job creation, he has shared his views with Mr. Trump on issues far afield from his Wall Street role, including immigration. Blackstone would benefit from some of the Trump administration's policy priorities, including a promised push to spend more on infrastructure, which is the focus of a large new investment fund Mr. Schwarzman started recently.	苏世民已经成了特朗普政府的重要外部顾问。去年年底，为了给特朗普提供来自美国商业领袖的经济建议，苏世民组织召开了特朗普总统的战略与政策论坛。除就贸易、税收政策和创造就业问题发表评论外，他还向特朗普表明了自己在与其华尔街职业经历相距千里的问题上的观点，包括移民问题。黑石可能会受益于特朗普政府的部分政策重点，包括承诺推动增加基础设施支出。基础设施正是苏世民最近新创立的一个大型基金的重点。

Behind a Chinese Powerhouse, a Web of Family Financial Ties	海航集团背后的裙带关系网
When Hainan Airlines wanted to expand in the 1990s, its top executives turned to a little-known businessman in his early 30s, who helped the Chinese upstart develop golf courses, resorts and seaside villas.	20 世纪 90 年代，海南航空公司想要扩张时，高管们找来一个 30 岁出头、默默无闻的商人，他帮助这个中国新贵公司开发了高尔夫球场、度假村和海边别墅。
It was the beginning of a lucrative partnership for the businessman, Wang Wei, one that would put him on the path to becoming a billionaire. Over the next two decades, Mr. Wang set up companies that	这个商人名叫王伟，对他来说，这是一段利润丰厚的合作关系的开始，让他走上了成为亿万富翁的道路。在之后的 20 年里，王伟创立了多家公司，为海南航空公司及其母公司海航集团管理物业资产，并提供电脑、软件服务、

managed properties, as well as supplied computers, software services, seafood and Cuban cigars to Hainan Airlines and its parent company, the HNA Group.	海鲜和古巴雪茄。
What HNA rarely publicly revealed, if ever, is that Mr. Wang is the younger brother of its co-founder and co-chairman, Wang Jian. In the past 25 years, HNA has regularly funneled business to a small group of relatives and associates of the company's senior executives, dealings with limited disclosure to investors in its listed companies or its overseas bonds, according to a review of thousands of corporate records by The New York Times.	海航极少（甚至可能从未）公开披露的是，王伟是其联合创始人兼联合董事长王健的弟弟。根据《纽约时报》对该公司上万条记录的查阅，在过去 25 年里，海航经常把业务交给一小群公司高管的亲属和同事，这些交易仅有限地透露给其上市公司或海外债券的投资者。
From its roots as a small airline, HNA has evolved into one of the few Chinese conglomerates with a worldwide reach. The company, which produces $100 billion in annual revenue, has made multibillion-dollar deals in the United States, Europe and the rest of Asia, amassing big stakes in multinationals like Deutsche Bank and Hilton Hotels.	海航从一个小航空公司发展为中国少数几个业务遍及全球的企业集团之一。该集团的年收入达 1000 亿美元，在美国、欧洲和亚洲其他地区进行数十亿美元的交易，在德意志银行(Deutsche Bank)和希尔顿酒店(Hilton Hotels)等跨国公司中持有大量股权。
HNA is part of a new breed of aggressive Chinese deal makers that have risen, seemingly out of nowhere, into the ranks of the global corporate elite. But the ambitions of these giants have been fueled by debt and masked by opaque ownership structures, creating uncertainty over their corporate governance, strategic motivations and financial health.	海航属于新一批雄心勃勃的中国交易者，它们似乎从无名小卒突然跻身于全球精英公司之列。不过，这些巨头的雄心受债务刺激，被不透明的所有权结构所掩饰，增加了公司管理、战略动机和财务健康状况方面的不确定性。
The situation makes it hard for governments and businesses around the world to understand the forces behind the spending sprees. Companies and regulators could be making decisions without a complete picture of how the conglomerates work, while investors may not know what they are buying.	这种情况让世界各地的政府和公司很难理解它的投资狂潮背后的力量。公司和监管机构在做决定时可能不完全了解这些企业集团是如何运作的，投资者可能不知道自己到底在收购什么。

HNA and other big Chinese players like Anbang Insurance Group and Dalian Wanda Group are under pressure at home and abroad, as the authorities and investors worry about the risk these highly indebted companies pose to the broader economy.	海航以及安邦保险公司和大连万达集团等巨型中国企业在国内和国外正经受压力，因为当局和投资者为这些高债务公司对整体经济可能造成的风险感到担忧。
Untangling the operations of HNA, already complicated by its murky ownership and a complex array of affiliates, is made more difficult by a web of interconnected deals with friends and family members of top executives. The documents reviewed by The Times – which include annual reports, court filings and corporate registration records in the United States and China – reveal a systematic pattern of these so-called related-party transactions with friends and family.	由于模糊的所有权和一系列复杂的附属公司，想弄清海航的运作十分困难，而高管的朋友和家人相互关联的交易网更是增加了难度。时报查阅了海航的年度报告、法庭文件以及它在美国和中国的公司注册记录等文件，发现了一个与朋友和家人进行所谓关联方交易的系统性模式。
Wang Wei is tied to more than a dozen companies that do business with HNA. Other relatives and associates of the company’s top executives have scores of ventures that work with HNA.	王伟与十多家同海航做生意的公司有关系。公司高管的其他亲属和同事也拥有几十家与海航合作的公司。
“HNA Group and its portfolio companies work closely with global, independent accounting, financial and legal advisors to comply with regulatory disclosure requirements in relevant jurisdictions, including disclosures with respect to related party transactions,” the conglomerate said in a statement. “Related party transactions are conducted, reviewed and documented on commercial terms consistent with appropriate standards.”	“海航集团及其投资的公司与全球性的独立会计、金融和法律顾问密切合作，遵守相关的司法管理披露要求，包括与关联方交易相关的披露，”该企业集团在一项声明中表示。“关联方交易是在符合标准的商业条件下进行、审查和记录的。”
The lack of transparency among HNA and other conglomerates could amplify concerns in the United States and elsewhere. HNA’s ownership of nearly 10 percent of Deutsche Bank, Germany’s largest bank, has recently drawn scrutiny from European regulators.	海航等企业集团的缺乏透明性可能会增加美国等地的担忧。前不久，海航对德国最大的银行德意志银行所持有的近10%的股权也引起了欧洲监管机构的密切关注。

The European Central Bank, which supervises commercial banks in the eurozone, is considering opening an inquiry into whether HNA meets the criteria for large bank shareholders, according to two people with knowledge of discussions who were not authorized to speak on the record. If regulators were to determine that HNA is not qualified – for example, because it is poorly financed – the company could be forced to sell its stake or be stripped of its voting rights.	据两位了解内情但未获授权具名发言的人士称，负责监管欧元区商业银行的欧洲中央银行正在考虑就海航是否符合大银行持股者的标准展开调查。如果监管机构认定海航不符合标准——比如因为它的财务状况不佳——那么，它们可能会迫使该集团出售自己的股权或剥夺其投票权。
In Beijing, the authorities are increasingly worried about deeply indebted companies like HNA that have borrowed huge sums from state banks. The debt addiction is threatening China’s economy as concerns swirl that some of the biggest conglomerates represent a hidden risk to the country’s financial system. Chinese officials have begun to clamp down on prolific deal makers like Anbang, whose chairman was recently detained by the police for undisclosed reasons.	北京当局越来越为海航等负债累累的公司感到担忧，因为它们从国有银行获得了大量贷款。借贷成瘾正在威胁中国的经济，因为人们越来越担心，一些最大的企业集团给该国的金融系统造成了潜在风险。中国官员开始遏制安邦等频繁交易者。前不久，安邦的董事长因未公开的原因被警方拘留。

HNA's dealings with family and friends trace back to the company's founding as Hainan Airlines in 1993.	海航与家人和朋友的交易可以追溯到 1993 年海南航空公司成立之时。
At the time, China was in the midst of an economic overhaul, seeking to transition from a planned economy to one where market forces and private entrepreneurship were encouraged. After Hainan island was designated a special economic zone, local leaders tapped Chen Feng, a government official who had worked with the World Bank, and Wang Jian, who worked at the country's civil aviation authority, to help start a regional airline.	当时,中国正在进行经济改革,试图从计划经济转向鼓励市场力量和私营企业的经济模式。在海南岛被列为经济特区之后,当地领导敦促曾与世界银行合作的政府官员陈峰以及曾在中国民航局工作的王健帮助创立一个区域性航空公司。

The two men persuaded the local government to establish Hainan Airlines as a joint stock company. A new phenomenon in China, the structure allowed private investors, including the founders and top executives, to own a piece of the state-backed airline. They also persuaded the government to let foreign investors, for the first time, take stakes in a Chinese airline. During a trip to Wall Street, Mr. Chen pitched the carrier to the billionaire George Soros and won a $25 million commitment, a huge credibility boost.	两人说服当地政府以股份制公司的形式成立海南航空。这种结构在当时的中国是个新现象，它允许私人投资者，包括创始人和高管，持有这个国家支持的航空公司的部分股权。他们还劝说政府允许外国投资者在这家中国航空公司持股，这是前所未有的。陈峰前往华尔街向亿万富翁乔治·索罗斯(George Soros)大力推介该航空公司，获得了2500万美元的投资，极大提高了海航的声誉。
"Within China, it was the only airline allowed to operate like that," said Feng Chongyi, a professor at the University of Technology in Sydney. "Chen Feng was able to get huge loans from the state banks. So people know there was something special about his deals."	"在中国，它是唯一一个被允许那样运营的航空公司，"悉尼科技大学(University of Technology in Sydney)教授冯崇义说。"陈峰能从国有银行获得大量贷款。所以人们知道他的交易很特别。"

A woman named Huang Weirong owned a stake in Beijing Business Culture Diffusion Company, which has handled tens of millions of dollars in advertising for Hainan Airlines. In the mid-1990s, O'Brien McGarey, president of the Dye Design Group, a prominent golf course design firm in Colorado, said he was hired by Hainan Airlines to assess a large plot near Haikou, with plans to build a golf course and villas. "Wang Wei was titular head and he was running the golf course."	科罗拉多州著名高尔夫球场设计公司 Dye Design Group 的总裁奥布赖恩·麦克格雷(O'Brien McGarey)称，20 世纪 90 年代中期，海航雇他对海口附近一块大型地产展开评估，计划在那里修建高尔夫球场和别墅。“我们与海南航空公司签了合同，会见了王健以及他的弟弟王伟，”麦克格雷说。“王伟当年是名义上的主管，经营着高尔夫球场。”

The family of Mr. Chen, HNA's co-founder and co-chairman, also forged business alliances with the company.	海航的联合创始人兼联合董事长陈峰的家人也与该公司结成了商业联盟。
When Hainan Airlines first sought to establish a presence in the United States in the 1990s, Mr. Chen's younger brother, Chen Guoqing, set up Pacific American Corporation in New York. The company purchased aircraft engines and spare parts for the airline's fleet, which included Airbus 320s, Boeing 737s and Gulfstream jets. Pacific American also helped HNA buy a collection of European hotels and co-invested with HNA in Yangtze River International Leasing Company.	1990 年代，当海航第一次寻求在美国开设办公室的时候，陈峰的弟弟陈国庆在纽约创办了太平洋美洲公司(Pacific American Corporation)。该公司曾为海航的机队——其中包括空客 320、波音 737 和湾流飞机——采购飞机发动机和零部件。太平洋美洲公司还帮助海航收购了一系列欧洲酒店，并与其联手对扬子江国际租赁有限公司进行了投资。

For years, it has billed itself as a subsidiary of Hainan Airlines or the HNA Group. Chen Guoqing called it a subsidiary in his biography for Asia Society, a nonprofit in New York. Court documents, filed in the United States as part of a 2007 bankruptcy dispute involving Dornier Aviation North America, listed Pacific American as an affiliate of Hainan Airlines.	多年来，它一直自称海航或海航集团的子公司。陈国庆在其提交给总部位于纽约的非营利机构亚洲协会(Asia Society)的个人简历中，说它是一家子公司。作为 2007 年一桩牵涉多尼尔北美航空公司(Dornier Aviation North America)的破产纠纷的一部分，在美国提交的法庭文件把太平洋美洲公司列为海航的子公司。
Public filings in Asia do not describe Pacific American the same way. A 2015 bond prospectus, which HNA filed in Singapore, described it as a “related party” while annual reports filed by Hainan Airlines over 18 years stated that Pacific American was a major supplier. Those filings did not disclose that Pacific American was run by the younger brother of Chen Feng, and more recently, by Chen Feng’s son, Daniel Chen.	但亚洲地区的公开文件并未如此描绘太平洋美洲公司的身份。海航于 2015 年在新加坡提交的一份债券说明书称之为“关联方”，海航在 18 年间提交的年报则把太平洋美洲公司称作一个主要供应商。这些文件没有披露太平洋美洲公司的运营者曾是陈峰的弟弟，最近则换成了陈峰的儿子陈晓峰(Daniel Chen)。
A spokesman for the HNA Group confirmed that Pacific American is an independent company and is not owned by HNA or any of its affiliates.	海航集团发言人证实，太平洋美洲公司是一家独立的公司，不为海航或其旗下任何公司所有。
At least one major investor was in the dark about such deals: Mr. Soros.	至少有一个主要投资者对此类交易并不知情，那就是索罗斯。
Hedge funds controlled by Mr. Soros ultimately invested a total of $50 million in Hainan Airlines and an affiliate, Grand China Airways. Early on, an executive on Mr. Soros’s team usually served as a director of Hainan Airlines.	由索罗斯控制的对冲基金最终总共向海航及其旗下的大新华航空投了 5000 万美元。早期，索罗斯团队的一名高管一直出任海航的董事。

The close connections also extended to HNA’s acquisition strategy. The company has created hundreds of affiliates, public and private entities that regularly do business with one another – swapping assets,	这种亲密关系还渗透到了海航的收购战略之中。海航创办了数以百计的附属企业，那些私营和上市公司之间常有业务往来——互换资产、合并，然后重组。 merging and then restructuring.

Over the past seven years, more than 30 acquisitions have involved deals between two companies under the HNA umbrella, deals worth an estimated $20 billion, according to Dealogic. In 2015, Xian Minsheng, an affiliate of HNA, paid $8.6 billion to buy Hainan Supply Sales and Daji, also an affiliate of HNA.	来自 Dealogic 的数据显示, 过去 7 年间, 有超过 30 起并购涉及海航旗下两家公司之间的交易, 据估计相关交易价值 200 亿美元。2015 年, 海航旗下的西安民生曾出资 86 亿美元, 收购同属海航旗下的海南供销大集控股有限公司。
This sort of serial deal making has been a driving force behind the rapid growth of HNA, a strategy backed by ever increasing amounts of debt. HNA has more than $100 billion in debt, much of it owed to state-run banks.	这种系列性交易的达成, 一直是海航快速成长的驱动力, 为该战略提供支撑的则是数额越来越大的债务。海航的负债在 1000 亿美元以上, 其中很大一部分借自国有银行。
As HNA and other conglomerates make ever bigger bets, Chinese policy makers, economists and investors are wondering if the debt is sustainable. Shares in several HNA public companies have slumped in recent weeks over debt concerns.	在海航以及其他企业集团日益加大赌注之际, 中国的政策制定者、经济学家和投资者开始怀疑它们能否持续借债下去。最近几周, 债务引发的担忧让海航旗下几家上市公司的股价出现暴跌。
HNA's Mr. Chen has seemed unfazed in the past. "After you've accumulated so much lice, you no longer feel the itching," he said in an interview some years ago. "When you borrow a lot of money, you have no problem sleeping."	海航的陈峰以前似乎并不担心。“虱子多了就不痒啊, ”他在若干年前接受采访时说道。“借多了也就睡得着了。”

HNA Finds Wall St.'s Enthusiasm for Chinese Conglomerates Is Cooling	海航在华尔街遇冷: 美国银行暂停参与其交易
HNA Group says that Wall Street's biggest banks are knocking at the door to do business with it as the huge Chinese conglomerate buys up businesses around the globe.	庞大的中国集团公司海航集团称, 随着它在全球开启收购狂潮, 华尔街上的大银行纷纷敲门, 希望和它做生意。
But one of those banks is now walking away.	但现在, 其中一家银行要离场了。

Bank of America has decided not to do business with HNA, citing concern over the company's opaque structure, among other issues, according to an internal email reviewed by The New York Times.	据《纽约时报》查阅的一份内部电子邮件显示，美国银行(Bank of America)决定不与海航集团合作。该银行给出的理由包括对该集团结构不透明的担忧等问题。
While the bank does not have major commitments with HNA, its pullback is a sign that Wall Street's enthusiasm for deal-hungry Chinese giants is beginning to cool because of these companies' often murky ownership and large appetite for risk. An article in The New York Times on Wednesday detailed how HNA, with little disclosure to investors in its listed companies or overseas bonds, has regularly given business to relatives and associates of the company's senior executives.	尽管美国银行与海航集团之间没有重要的业务合作，但它的离场是一个迹象，表明由于渴望达成交易的中国巨头的所有权往往模糊不清，且热衷冒险，华尔街对它们的热情开始下降。《纽约时报》周三刊登的一篇文章详细介绍了海航经常把业务交给公司高管的亲属和同事，这些交易仅有限地透露给其上市公司或海外债券的投资者。
The bank's email listed concerns about HNA, including its shareholding and corporate structure, Chinese regulatory interest in the company and its complex business model. It also cited allegations of political connections. As a result, the bank decided to remove itself from any transactions, a senior executive wrote.	美国银行的电子邮件列出了对海航集团的担忧，包括其持股与公司结构、中国对该公司的监管兴趣和它复杂的商业模式。邮件还提到了政治关系的指控。一名高管写道，因此，美国银行决定除去一切交易。
"We simply don't know what we don't know, and are not prepared to take the risk," Matthew M. Koder, Bank of America's president for Asia Pacific, wrote in the email, dated June 28.	"我们真的不了解哪些是我们不知道的，也没有做好冒险的准备，"美国银行亚太地区总裁马修·M·科德(Matthew M. Koder)在注明日期为6月28日的这封电子邮件中写道。

Bank of America had been in discussions with HNA to enter new lending partnerships in future transactions, according to a person with direct knowledge but who was not authorized to speak publicly because the discussions were private. It has also been among several other banks helping HNA to take at least one of its myriad private companies public.	据一名握有一手消息的人士透露, 此前美国银行一直在与海航商讨未来的交易中开启新的借贷合作关系。因为讨论是秘密进行的, 这名人士无权公开发声。美国银行同时也是帮助海航数不清的私人公司中至少一家上市的银行之一。
The cold shoulder from one of the biggest banks in the United States is the latest in a series of road bumps for HNA, an aggressive conglomerate whose holdings include an airline, Hilton Hotels and a technology wholesaler.	对海航来说, 受到美国最大的银行之一的冷落, 是一系列障碍中的最新一个。这个雄心勃勃的集团公司的资产包括一家航空公司、希尔顿酒店(Hilton Hotels)和一家科技产品批发商。
The bank's decision came days after reports that a Chinese banking regulator had asked domestic banks to examine their exposure to some of China's biggest overseas acquirers, including HNA Group. Speaking at a briefing in Beijing on June 22, Liu Zhiqing, a senior banking official at the China Banking Regulatory Commission, warned that these companies could pose a "systemic risk" to the country's banks.	在美国银行做出上述决定的几天前, 有报道称中国一位银行业监管者要求国内银行审查中国在海外最大的一些收购方给它们带来的金融风险, 其中就包括海航集团。6月22日在北京的一场新闻发布会上, 中国银监会的高级官员刘志清警告, 这些公司可能会对中国的银行构成“系统性风险”。
Anbang Insurance Group was the first big Chinese company to make a splash overseas when it bought the Waldorf Astoria in Manhattan three years ago, drawing attention to Chinese companies with global ambitions and huge war chests. And Dalian Wanda quickly became a heavyweight in Hollywood – spending more than $8 billion on entertainment companies like AMC Theaters and Legendary Entertainment.	三年前, 安邦保险集团成为第一家在海外引起轰动的大型中国企业。当时, 安邦收购了曼哈顿的华尔道夫-阿斯特里亚酒店(Waldorf Astoria), 引起了外界对具有全球野心和巨额专用资金的中国公司的注意。随后, 大连万达迅速成为好莱坞的重量级选手, 出资逾80亿美元收购AMC电影院(AMC Theaters)和传奇影业(Legendary Entertainment)等娱乐公司。
This year, however, those companies appeared to hit the brakes on	然而, 今年这些公司似乎都叫停了收购西方公司的行动。

their drive to acquire Western companies.
HNA's deal-making machine, on the other hand, has seemed relentless.	另一方面，海航的交易决策机构似乎坚持不懈。
In recent years, HNA has acquired the California technology companies Ingram Micro and Swissport and bought large stakes in Hilton Hotels and Deutsche Bank. Its 9.99 percent stake in Deutsche Bank has now drawn scrutiny from the European Central Bank, which is said to be looking at whether HNA meets the criteria for large bank shareholders.	近年来，海航收购了加利福尼亚州的科技公司英迈(Ingram Micro)和瑞士国际空港(Swissport)，并购入了希尔顿酒店和德意志银行(Deutsche Bank)的大量股份。其持有的德意志银行9.99%的股份，现已引起欧洲央行(European Central Bank)的密切关注。后者据称正在调查海航是否符合成为银行大股东的标准。
Questions about its ownership structure have long dogged HNA.	有关其所有权结构的质疑，长期困扰着海航。
The Chinese billionaire and social media celebrity Guo Wengui has leveled public accusations that HNA is controlled by one of the most powerful families in China and by the relatives of people running the country's anti-corruption campaign. Mr. Guo has posted data on Twitter about HNA's corporate structures and even the passport numbers of some of those relatives.	中国亿万富翁、社交媒体名人郭文贵公开控诉，称掌控海航的是中国一个最有权势的家族和中国反腐运动领导者的亲戚。郭文贵在Twitter上公布了有关海航公司结构的数据，甚至还有这些亲戚中部分人所持护照的号码。
HNA has denied those ties, saying that Mr. Guo's allegations are "completely unfounded and false."	海航否认了这些联系，称郭文贵的指控是“没有事实根据、虚假的”。
Nevertheless, one of Bank of America's concerns highlighted "too many irregularities in the historical and current shareholding and corporate structure," as well as the "opaque nature of some of the existing shareholders" among its concerns.	然而，美国的一家银行的担忧突显出它的“历史和当前持股与公司结构存在太多违规的地方”，并且“部分现有股东性质不透明”。
HNA has said that it relied on American and European banks to help fuel its acquisitions, borrowing billions of dollars for its transactions. Those banks, as well as lawyers and auditors, have examined HNA.	海航自称从美国和欧洲的银行那里借到了交易所需的数十亿美元，在它们的帮助下完成了收购。这些银行，连同律师和审计机构，都对海航进行了审查。
Yet, questions persist as to whether the banks have the proper due diligence and risk control processes for dealing with Chinese	但有关这些银行与中国公司打交道时所进行的尽职调查和风险控制程序是否恰当的问题，依然存在。

companies.
For most of the big banks, doing business with HNA has been lucrative. On one side of business, banks have helped HNA buy companies by arranging what is called collateralized financing. That has entailed allowing HNA to borrow money against the shares of the company that it is acquiring.	对大部分大银行来说，同海航做生意利润丰厚。一方面，银行通过安排所谓的担保融资，帮助海航收购企业。这允许海航用收购对象的股票作为抵押借钱。
Big banks have also received large paydays for advising on HNA's acquisitions. HNA and its affiliates overseas have paid an estimated $100 million in fees to banks advising on mergers and acquisitions since 2016, according to estimates by Dealogic.	大银行还会凭借为海航的收购担任顾问收取高额酬劳。据 Dealogic 估计，自 2016 年以来，海航及其海外子公司向担任并购顾问的银行支付了大约 1 亿美元的服务费。

Dalian Wanda, in a Switch, Sells Assets to 2 Chinese Companies	万达融创交易仓促生变，富力接手酒店资产
BEIJING — Dalian Wanda Group, the Chinese conglomerate, tore up a $9.3 billion agreement to sell a portfolio of hotels and theme parks, unexpectedly reaching new deals on the properties that highlighted uncertainty over the financial health of the country's biggest companies.	北京——中国企业集团大连万达将价值 93 亿美元的酒店和主题公园销售协议进行了分拆，达成了出人意料的新交易，此举突显出该国超级大企业财务健康的不确定性。
Wanda had reached an overall agreement with the property firm Sunac China Holdings last week, but Wanda announced at a signing ceremony on Wednesday that it was backtracking and would instead sell just the theme parks to Sunac. The hotels will instead be sold to R&F Properties, based in the southern Chinese city of Guangzhou.	上周，万达已经与开发商融创中国达成了一个整体协议，但万达本周三在签约仪式上宣布更改协议，只将主题公园出售给融创。酒店则出售给位于中国南方城市广州的富力地产。
The hasty reorganization of the deals has raised concern about the due diligence conducted by many of China's first-generation dealmakers as	如此仓促地改动协议，不免让人担心中国第一代交易商寻求提升在本土和国际地位时的尽职调查。而这也是中国企业在减少债务上承受了更大政府压力

they seek to become bigger players domestically and around the world. It is also further evidence that Chinese companies have been under greater official pressure to reduce their piles of loans, because the financial authorities have been alarmed that debt-fueled acquisitions by conglomerates could put the broader Chinese economy at risk.	的进一步证据，因为金融管理部门对大型企业利用债务开展的收购活动相当警惕，担心这可能会把更大范围的中国经济拖入险境。
"I have not heard of such a dramatic turnabout," said Victor Shih, an associate professor at the University of California, San Diego, who specializes in the politics of Chinese banking policies. "If it turns out to be government pressure, it would be typical of what we have been seeing — the government becoming more interventionist in the financial markets," he said.	"我从没有见过这么大的逆转，"加州大学圣地亚哥分校专门从事中国银行政策政治研究的副教授史宗瀚(Victor Shih)表示。"如果事实证明这是政府的压力所致，那么这就是我们一直以来看到的典型状况——政府越来越多地干预金融市场。"
The signing was dominated by the announcement that Sunac would pay $6.5 billion for a 91 percent stake in Wanda's 13 theme parks across China, while R&F Properties would buy 77 hotels from Wanda for $3 billion. In a sign of the wildly fluctuating valuations of assets, however, Wanda had said last week that the hotels it was selling Sunac were worth $5 billion.	签约仪式主要是宣布融创将斥资 65 亿美元，收购万达旗下 13 个主题公园 91% 的股份，而富力将以 30 亿美元的价格，收购万达的 77 家酒店。但是万达已经在上周表示，出售给融创的酒店价值 50 亿美元，这显示了其资产估值的大幅波动。
The event itself began in disarray, with sheepish Wanda employees initially telling journalists the briefing would be delayed for about an hour, hurriedly ushering the news media out of a hotel ballroom.	签约仪式本身一开始也有些混乱，局促不安的万达员工最初告诉记者，发布会将推迟一个多小时左右，然后就匆忙地把新闻媒体带出了酒店的会议厅。

A Chinese journalist described hearing a glass break, while other news media reported seeing people angrily storming out of a room.	中国新闻媒体公布的照片显示，签约仪式的背景板上一度剔除了富力的标识。一名中国记者说听到了玻璃杯摔碎的声音，而其他新闻媒体称，看到有人愤怒地冲出房间。

The revision of the deal came in the wake of volatile stock movements for both Wanda and Sunac.	在这宗交易更改之前,万达和融创的股票出现了较大震荡。

Chinese officials have voiced worries in recent months over rising debt levels they fear could destabilize the world's second-largest economy and have stressed stability in the financial sector. Beijing Wants A.I. to Be Made in China by 2030	中国的人工智能雄心：2030 年成全球领导者
SHANGHAI — If Beijing has its way, the future of artificial intelligence will be made in China.	上海——如果事情按照北京的计划进行，人工智能（artificial intelligence，简称 A.I.）的未来将由中国来书写。
The country laid out a development plan on Thursday to become the world leader in A.I. by 2030, aiming to surpass its rivals technologically and build a domestic industry worth almost $150 billion.	周四，中国制定了一项发展规划，希望在 2030 年成为人工智能领域的世界领导者，在技术上超越对手，打造规模近 1500 亿美元的本土产业。
Released by the State Council, the policy is a statement of intent from the top rungs of China's government: The world's second-largest economy will be investing heavily to ensure its companies, government and military leap to the front of the pack in a technology many think	国务院发布的这项政策阐述了中国政府最高层的意图：全球第二大经济体将投入大量资金，以确保企业、政府和军队跃升为人工智能技术的全球领先者。很多人都认为，人工智能有朝一日会成为计算机技术的基础。 will one day form the basis of computing.

The plan comes with China preparing a multibillion-dollar national investment initiative to support "moonshot" projects, start-ups and academic research in A.I., according to two professors who consulted with the government about the effort.	两位就人工智能向政府提供咨询的教授说，中国为这个计划准备了数以十亿美元计的国家级投资，用来支持该领域的“登月”项目、初创企业和学术研究。
The United States, meanwhile, has cut back on science funding. In budget proposals, the Trump administration has suggested slashing resources for a number of agencies that have traditionally backed research in A.I. Other cuts, to areas like high-performance computing, would affect the development of the tools that make A.I. work.	而与此同时，美国却在削减科学资金。特朗普政府提交的预算案建议削减一些传统上支持人工智能研究的机构的资源。而诸如高性能计算等领域的经费削减，也将影响到人工智能辅助工具的开发。
China's capabilities, especially in advanced and new technologies, have long lagged those of its better developed neighbors as well as Europe and America. But a multiple-decade industrial policy to help it catch up has paid dividends.	中国的实力，特别是先进技术和新技术上的实力，长期落后于发达的邻国以及欧美发达国家。但是，一个为期数十年、追赶西方的产业政策已经给中国带来了红利。
A.I. is one of a growing number of disciplines in which experts say China is making quick progress.	专家们认为，中国有越来越多的学科都取得了长足进展，人工智能就是其中之一。
Yet it was a foreign feat of A.I. prowess that provided one of the greatest impetuses for the new plan.	不过，也还是因为人工智能技术是一项外国成就，成为了这项新规划最大推动力之一。
The two professors who consulted with the government on A.I. both said that the 2016 defeat of Lee Se-dol, a South Korean master of the board game Go, by Google's AlphaGo had a profound impact on politicians in China. Then in May, Google brought AlphaGo to China, where it defeated the world's top-ranked player, Ke Jie of China. Live video coverage of the event was blocked at the last minute in China.	那两位在人工智能领域向政府建言的教授都表示，2016年，AlphaGo 战胜围棋大师李世石(Lee Se-dol)一事，对中国政界人士产生了深远影响。今年5月，谷歌又将 AlphaGo 带到了中国，击败了世界排名第一的中国棋手柯洁。在中国，比赛的实况直播在最后一刻被叫停。
As a sort of Sputnik moment for China, the professors said, the event	两位教授表示，对于中国来说，这就是“斯普特尼克时刻”(Sputnik moment)，

paved the way for a new flow of funds into the discipline.	从而为资金流向这个新学科铺平了道路。
China's ambitions with A.I. range from the anodyne to the dystopian, according to the new plan. It calls for support for everything from agriculture and medicine to manufacturing.	从这个新规划来看，中国的人工智能雄心处在从安慰剂到反乌托邦的阶段。它要求为从农业、医药到制造业的一切行业提供支持。
Yet it also calls for the technology to work in concert with the country's homeland security and surveillance efforts. China wants to integrate A.I. into guided missiles, use it to track people on closed-circuit cameras, censor the internet and even predict crimes.	但是，它也要求人工智能与中国的国土安全和监控工作保持一致。中国要把人工智能融入到制导导弹中，还要用来跟踪监控视频中的人员，审查互联网，甚至是预测犯罪。
Beijing's interest in the technology has set off alarms within the United States' defense establishment. The Defense Department found that Chinese money has been flowing into American A.I. companies — some of the same ones it says are likely to help the United States military develop future weapons systems.	北京对人工智能的兴趣已经引起了美国防务机构的警觉。美国国防部发现有中国资金流入美国的人工智能公司——国防部说这些公司很可能会帮助美国军方开发未来的武器系统。
In a timeline laid out within the new policy, the government expects its companies and research facilities to be at the same level as leading countries like the United States by 2020. Five years later, it calls for breakthroughs in select disciplines within A.I. that will become "a key impetus for economic transformation."	在这个新政策提出的时间表中，政府希望到2020年，中国公司和研究机构的总体技术和应用与美国这些居于世界先进水平的国家同步。之后再过5年，要求在特定领域实现重大突破，人工智能成为中国“经济转型的主要动力”。
In the final stage, by 2030, China will "become the world's premier artificial intelligence innovation center," which in turn will "foster a new national leadership and establish the key fundamentals for an economic great power."	到了最后阶段，即2030年，中国将“成为世界主要人工智能创新中心”，而这反过来又将为“中国”跻身创新型国家前列和经济强国奠定重要基础”。
While the language in Chinese industrial policy can sound stodgy and the targets overly ambitious, Beijing takes its economic planning seriously. Experts say that even if major spending efforts ultimately	虽然中国的产业政策措辞听起来枯燥乏味，目标也过于雄心勃勃，但北京对待这种经济规划很认真。专家说，即使这些巨额支出最终浪费了资源，它们也会产生一些结果，大量投入的资源可以提升科技实力。 waste resources, they can also produce results, bolstering technology capabilities with a flood of resources.

Top-level statements like this also work as a signal to local governments and companies across the country.	像这样的高级别声明，也是向全国各地的地方政府和公司发出一个信号。
The new plan formalizes a focus that was widely known in China. Following those cues, a large number of local governments have created special plans and built out research centers to focus on A.I.	这个新计划正式确定了一个之前在中国就已经广为人知的侧重点。很多地方政府都已经根据各种线索制定了特别的人工智能计划，建成了专注于 A.I. 研究的中心。
Many are spending hundreds of millions of dollars, but some have earmarked even more. In June, the government of Tianjin, an eastern city near Beijing, said it planned to set up a $5 billion fund to support the A.I. industry. It also set up an "intelligence industry zone" that will sit on more than 20 square kilometers of land.	许多地方正在人工智能上投入数以亿计的美元，有些地方的投入甚至更大。6 月份，在北京以东的城市天津，市政府表示计划提供 50 亿美元的资金来支持人工智能行业，而且还划出了一片 20 多平方公里的土地来建设“智能产业园”。
The initiative is also likely to sweep up private Chinese companies. The country's internet search giant Baidu, which has run an A.I. research center out of Silicon Valley in recent years, announced this year that it would open a new lab in cooperation with the government. The two leaders of that lab have worked on Chinese government programs with military applications.	这一倡议也有可能席卷中国私营企业。近年来，该国互联网搜索巨头百度已经在硅谷运行着一家人工智能研究中心，它在今年还宣布，将与政府合作，建立一个新的实验室。该实验室的两个领导者已经参与了中国政府的一些军事应用项目。

In its statement Monday, HNA said it would begin to release its shareholder structure on an annual basis because "it is only natural that as we touch many more stakeholders, there is a great deal of interest in who we are and how we are structured."	海航在周一的声明中表示，它计划开始每年公布一次自己的股权结构，“这很正常，随着我们接触越来越多的投资者，他们对我们是谁以及我们的结构有很大兴趣”。

Sensing Weakness, Uber's Asian Rivals Make $2.5 Billion Play	滴滴联合软银在亚洲市场驱逐优步
HONG KONG — In East Asia, Uber's biggest rivals smell blood.	香港——在东亚，优步(Uber)最大的竞争对手嗅到了血腥味。
Grab, the Singapore-based ride-sharing company competing with Uber for dominance in Southeast Asia, said on Monday that it expected to raise $2.5 billion in a new fund-raising round, in part with the help of the onetime major Uber competitor Didi Chuxing, which outmaneuvered its American rival in China.	总部设在新加坡的共享出行公司 Grab 周一表示，公司预计在新一轮融资中筹得 25 亿美元。Grab 正在与优步竞争东南亚的主导地位。该笔融资部分是靠优步曾经主要的竞争对手滴滴出行的帮助，后者在中国已经打败了其美国的竞争对手。
The round will include a combined $2 billion from Didi and the Japanese tech investment giant SoftBank that would value Grab at more than $6 billion, according to a person familiar with the deal who	据一位熟悉这笔交易的人士说，新一轮融资将包括来自滴滴和日本科技投资巨头软银(SoftBank)的 20 亿美元，这将使 Grab 的市场估值超过 60 亿美元。该人没有获得评论此事的授权。

was not authorized to speak on the record.
In laying down such a big pile of cash, Didi and SoftBank are betting that they can repeat what they pulled off in China, where Uber ultimately sold its operations to Didi in exchange for a 17 percent equity stake. More recently, Uber made a similar move in Russia, forming a partnership with Yandex.Taxi to cut down on competition there.	投入如此大量的现金，是因为滴滴和软银认为，它们可以让曾在中国获得的成功重新上演，优步最终将其在中国的业务卖给了滴滴，换取了滴滴 17% 的股权。最近，优步在俄罗斯也做了笔类似的交易，为了减少竞争，与 Yandex.Taxi 建立了合作伙伴关系。
With a big, young, tech-savvy population, Southeast Asia has been an enticing market for tech companies, though large cultural and language differences across the region complicate matters. Analysts generally point to Grab as the market leader, but Uber remains competitive in several markets. In some places, local rivals have also mounted challenges.	东南亚拥有熟悉科技的年轻人群，一直是对科技公司颇具有吸引力的市场，尽管该地区巨大的文化和语言差异让情况复杂化。分析师普遍认为 Grab 是市场的领导者，但优步在不少市场仍具竞争力。在有些地方，当地的对手也构成了挑战。
Now well-stocked with cash and focused exclusively on the region, Grab is aiming to push out Uber. In part, it is likely hoping to capitalize on recent turmoil: Last month, a shareholder revolt at Uber led to Travis Kalanick's stepping down as chief executive, as Uber was exposed as having a workplace culture that included sexual harassment and discrimination, and policies that pushed the envelope in dealing with law enforcement and even partners.	如今，有充足资金并专注于该地区的 Grab，正在把将优步挤出市场定为目标。在某种程度上，它可能是想利用最近的动荡：上个月，在优步股东反戈，导致首席执行官特拉维斯·卡兰尼克(Travis Kalanick)下台，此前，优步包含性骚扰和歧视的企业文化，以及在处理与执法部门甚至合作伙伴的关系上超越界线的做法遭到了曝光。
The investment also raises questions about Uber's partnership with Didi. While the two are now partners in China, the investment announced Monday makes it clear that elsewhere, Didi still views Uber as a competitor. In the statement, Didi's founder and chief executive, Cheng Wei, pointedly showed which side he was on, saying Grab had established "clear leadership in Southeast Asia's internet economy."	这笔投资也引起了人们对优步与滴滴合作关系的疑问。虽然这两家公司目前在中国是合作伙伴，但周一宣布的投资显示，在其他地方，滴滴仍将优步视为竞争对手。在一份声明中，滴滴的创始人兼首席执行官程伟明确地展示了他的立场，他说，Grab 在“东南亚互联网经济中”建立了“明确的领导地位”。

Still, Uber is not Grab's only rival in Southeast Asia. In one of the region's most important markets, Indonesia, Grab is also squaring off against local rival Go-Jek in a competition that can be intensely local. Both companies make use of motorcycle taxis as well as cars and trucks.	不过，优步并不是 Grab 在东南亚唯一的竞争对手。在该地区最重要的市场之一印度尼西亚，Grab 也在与当地的竞争对手 Go-Jek 进行着一场可能主要集中在当地的竞争。这两家公司都使用摩托出租车、汽车和卡车。
The new fund-raising is a significant jump from the $750 million that Grab raised last autumn. But the new $6 billion valuation shows that Grab is still tiny compared to Didi and Uber. Didi is valued at about $50 billion, while Uber is valued at almost $70 billion.	新一轮融资让 Grab 得到了比去年秋季筹集来的 7.5 亿美元多得多的资金。但新的 60 亿美元估值显示，与滴滴和优步相比，Grab 仍是一家小公司。滴滴的市场估值约为 500 亿美元，而优步的估值接近 700 亿美元。
Both Didi and Grab are part of a global partnership that includes Uber's main American rival, Lyft. Grab has also been taking other cues from Didi's home market, including working to build a broader mobile payment system.	滴滴和 Grab 都同属于一个全球伙伴关系，其中也包括优步在美国的主要竞争对手 Lyft。Grab 也一直在模仿滴滴在国内市场的做法，包括建立一个更广泛的移动支付系统。

Some Bitcoin Backers Are Defecting to Create a Rival Currency	比特币走向分裂，新虚拟货币即将诞生
SAN FRANCISCO — For the last two years, rival factions have been vying for control of the Bitcoin virtual currency and its global network of computers and supporters.	旧金山——在过去的两年里，不同的派系一直在为控制虚拟货币比特币 (bitcoin) 及其全球计算机和支持网络而激烈竞争。
Now, one of the main camps is preparing to break off and create a competing version of Bitcoin.	现在，竞争各方中的一个主要阵营已经为脱离比特币、创建一个与之竞争的版本做好了准备。
A group of investors and entrepreneurs, most of them based in Asia, have announced a plan to create what they are calling Bitcoin Cash, starting next week.	一些大多来自亚洲的投资者和企业家已宣布了一项计划，将在下周开始创建一种虚拟货币，并将其称为比特币现金(Bitcoin Cash)。
The plan would seal a divorce between opponents in a long-simmering feud over what Bitcoin should be — and lead to two competing virtual	对比特币应该是什么，各界长期争吵不休。该计划将终结这一争吵，让各方分道扬镳，并导致两种使用比特币这个名字、但相互竞争的虚拟货币。 currencies going by the name of Bitcoin.

"I actually think it would be a good thing if there is a split," said Roger Ver, a Tokyo-based investor who voiced his preliminary support for Bitcoin Cash on Tuesday.	一位住在东京的投资者罗杰·维尔(Roger Ver)周二对比特币现金表示初步支持, 他说, "我确实认为分离出来是一件好事。"
He said the differences among the different camps had quite likely grown too stark for them to move forward together.	他说, 不同阵营之间的分歧可能已经太大了, 以至于他们不能再一起前进。
Bitcoin Cash could easily dissolve into irrelevance — the level of support for it is still unclear — but the concrete plans to move forward have underscored, once again, how hard it is to govern a decentralized, open-source technology like Bitcoin with no single set of leaders or ownership.	比特币现金可能很容易变成无关紧要的东西, 目前仍不清楚外界对它的支持程度, 但是, 迈出这一步的具体计划, 再次突显了管理像比特币这样没有单一领导机构或所有权、分散的开源代码技术有多么困难。
"In the long run it will be forced to develop some real political structure to take these kinds of decisions, but it just isn't there yet, so the result has been chaos," said Joseph Bonneau, who has studied Bitcoin and is a fellow at the Electronic Frontier Foundation, which describes itself as a nonprofit defending digital privacy, free speech and innovation.	研究比特币的约瑟夫·博诺(Joseph Bonneau)说: "从长远来看, 它将被迫发展出某种真正的政治结构来制定这些决定, 但现在还没有走到那一步, 所以结果是混乱的。"博诺是电子前沿基金会(Electronic Frontier Foundation)的研究员, 该基金会把自己描述为捍卫数字隐私、言论自由和创新的非营利组织。
The Bitcoin divide is part of a wider splintering of the world that has sprung up around virtual currencies.	围绕着虚拟货币, 涌现出来了一个分裂的圈子。有关比特币的分歧正属于其中一部分。
Many people who initially got excited about the unique technology behind Bitcoin have taken advantage of the public, open-source nature of the technology and created their own new virtual currencies, like Ethereum, Ripple and Litecoin. These other systems run according to different rules than Bitcoin, with some emphasizing more speed and complexity, and some more focused on anonymity and security.	许多最初对比特币背后的独特技术感到兴奋的人, 已经在利用该技术所具有的公开、开源的特性, 创造了他们自己的新虚拟货币, 如 Ethereum、Ripple, 以及 Litecoin。这些其他的系统使用了与比特币不同的规则, 其中一些强调更为快捷和复杂, 另一些则更专注于匿名性和安全性。
The divisions have, if anything, increased the excitement and the value	如果说这些分歧有影响的话, 其实是增加了人们对世界上所有虚拟货币的兴

of all the virtual currencies in the world — and banks and governments have announced their own projects to harness the technology.	奋程度和估值——世界各地的银行和政府已都宣布了他们利用这项技术的计划。
The price of Bitcoin has recently been at record highs, near $3,000, and several other coins have grown to be worth billions of dollars on their own. A whole class of companies have raised money in recent months by creating and selling their own new digital tokens.	比特币的价格最近创下了历史新高，已接近 3000 美元，其他几种虚拟货币价值分别增长至数十亿美元。最近几个月，一大批公司通过创建和销售自己的新数字代币筹集到了资金。
Until now, though, Bitcoin has remained the most valuable digital token of them all, and it has kept its followers united by a single set of rules, despite all the warring behind the scenes.	但此前，比特币仍是所有虚拟货币中最有价值的数码代币，而且比特币让步其后尘者团结在单一的一组规则之下，尽管幕后它们间存在许多竞争。
The divisions, though, appear to have grown too stark to keep everyone on the same blockchain, as the ledger of all Bitcoin transactions is known.	不过，这些分歧似乎已经变得过于严重，不能让所有的人都使用同一个区块链(blockchain)，也就是比特币交易的收支总帐。
Mr. Ver has been one of the leaders of a contingent that has long wanted to change the rules governing the Bitcoin network so that it can handle more transactions and compete with the likes of PayPal and Visa.	维尔长期以来一直是一群志趣相投者的领导人之一，他们希望改变管理比特币网络的规则，以便让其能够处理更多的交易，并与 PayPal 和 Visa 等进行竞争。
Bitcoin Cash is set to increase the limit on the number of transactions that can be processed by the Bitcoin network every 10 minutes. Currently, the network can process only blocks of transactions that are smaller than one megabyte, which allows for roughly five transactions in a second.	比特币现金的设计，是每 10 分钟就提升比特币网络能处理的交易数量的上限。目前，该网络只能处理小于 1 兆字节的区块，大致相当于允许每秒种处理五笔交易。
The move to increase the size of the so-called blocks, though, has run up against intense opposition from the programmers who maintain the Bitcoin software.	但是，增加所谓区块的大小的做法，已经让其设计者遭到维护比特币软件的程序员的强烈反对。
These programmers, known as the core developers, have said that	这些被称为核心开发人员的程序员已表示，增加每个交易块中包含的数据

increasing the amount of data included in each block of transactions would make it harder for individual users to process the blocks and easier for a small number of companies to take control of the Bitcoin network.	量, 将会让个体用户更难处理它们, 而会让少数公司控制比特币网络变得更容易。
"It destroys the Bitcoin ethos, which is open and permissionless, where nobody is telling you what to do," said Samson Mow, the chief strategy officer at Blockstream, a company that employs some of the most prominent core developers.	"这破坏了比特币的道德观, 即开放和无需授权, 不需要有人告诉你该怎么做, "Blockstream 的首席战略官缪永权(Samson Mow)说, Blockstream 是一家雇佣了一些最为著名的核心开发人员的公司。
The core developers have come up with their own solution to increase the number of transactions flowing through the system with software known as Segregated Witness, or SegWit. Mr. Ver and others, though, have said SegWit does not expand Bitcoin fast enough to keep up with its recent growth in popularity.	核心开发人员已经提出了自己的解决方案, 他们希望通过被称为 Segregated Witness 或 SegWit 的软件来增加系统中的交易数量。然而, 维尔及其他人表示, 与其近期大大增加的受欢迎程度相比, SegWit 并没能把比特币的速度扩展为与之相符的程度。
While Bitcoin Cash will not exist until next week, a small number of exchanges have begun trading futures contracts, tied to the expected price of Bitcoin Cash. On Tuesday, it was trading around $450, or a fraction of the $2,600 value of an ordinary Bitcoin.	虽然比特币现金下周才会出现, 但少数交易所已经开始交易与比特币现金的预期价格相关的期货合约。周二, 比特币现金的交易价在 450 美元左右, 远低于普通比特币 2600 美元的价格。
As recently as last week, it appeared that the major Bitcoin players had found a compromise that would avert a split in the network, or a fork as it is known in Bitcoin world.	就在上周, 比特币主要的玩家似乎找到了一个可以避免比特币网络发生分裂 (或用比特币世界的语言来说叫"分岔") 的妥协。
Many of the largest Bitcoin companies agreed in May that they would install the SegWit software the core developers created, while also moving toward a doubling of the size of each block of transactions, to two megabytes, in November.	几家最大的比特币公司在今年 5 月达成一致, 将安装核心开发人员研发出的 SegWit 软件, 同时也将采取措施在 11 月让每个交易块的数据大小翻番, 达到 2 兆字节。
The largest Bitcoin processors had signaled last week that they	最大的比特币处理商上周释放信号, 表示他们打算在 8 月 1 日开始使用新软

intended to begin running the new software on Aug. 1. But the developers have suggested that they do not intend to move forward with any increase in the size of the blocks in the coming months.	件。但核心开发人员已暗示，他们不打算在未来几个月里增加区块所含数据的大小。
One of Mr. Ver's many investment holdings, Bitcoin.com, announced on Tuesday that it would put all of its resources behind Bitcoin Cash if the block size has not been doubled by November.	维尔拥有投资持有股的众多公司之一 Bitcoin.com 在周二宣布，如果区块大小到 11 月还不翻番的话，公司将把所有的资源投入到比特币现金上去。
To gain traction more broadly, Bitcoin Cash will have to win backing from the broader community of so-called Bitcoin miners.	为了得到更多的动力，比特币现金还必须赢得所谓的比特币挖掘者的支持。
Bitcoin miners are best known for using specialized computers to unlock, or mine, new Bitcoins. But miners also process Bitcoin transactions and have voting power over any changes to the Bitcoin network in direct proportion to the amount of computing power they dedicate to the network.	比特币挖掘者以使用专门的计算机来发现或挖掘新比特币而闻名。但是挖掘者也处理比特币的交易，并且对比特币网络的任何变化都有投票权，他们的票数与他们投入到比特币网络的计算能力成正比。
Most of the largest mining operations are now in China, thanks to the availability of cheap hardware and electricity.	由于中国有廉价的硬件和电力，大多数经营挖掘的最大公司现在都在中国。
One significant Chinese mining operation, ViaBTC, has been an outspoken supporter of Bitcoin Cash and has said it will begin backing the system next week.	ViaBTC 是一家主要的中国挖掘商，它一直在直言不讳地支持比特币现金，并表示将在下周开始支持该系统。
The largest Bitcoin mining operator in the world, a company known as Bitmain, is a primary investor in ViaBTC. That has led many in the Bitcoin world to expect that Bitmain will also provide backing to Bitcoin Cash. But Bitmain has so far said only that it does not "rule out" supporting Bitcoin Cash.	世界上最大的经营比特币挖掘的商家是一个叫 Bitmain 的公司，这家公司是 ViaBTC 的主要投资者。这让 Bitcoin 世界的许多人期望 Bitmain 也将为比特币现金提供支持。但 Bitmain 迄今为止只表示，“不排除”支持比特币现金的可能性。
When Bitcoin Cash comes into existence, every current holder of Bitcoins will have access to an equivalent amount of Bitcoin Cash, but	比特币现金出来后，每个现在持有比特币的人都能得到等量的比特币现金，但那之后，这两个系统将分道扬镳。

from that point forward the two systems will diverge.
In the coming weeks, Bitcoin enthusiasts on all sides of the debate will be watching closely to see which big Bitcoin companies offer support for people who want to hold, trade and mine Bitcoin Cash.	在未来几周里, 辩论各方的比特币爱好者们将会密切关注哪些比特币公司将 为想持有、交易和挖掘比特币现金的人提供支持。

Behind an $18 Billion Donation to a New York Charity, a Shadowy Chinese Conglomerate	百亿捐赠背后, 海航股权结构迷雾重重
At first glance, it appears to be one of the most generous donations in the history of philanthropic giving in America.	乍看上去, 这似乎是美国慈善史上最慷慨的捐赠之一。
A Chinese man has transferred more than 29 percent of HNA Group of China – the equivalent of as much as $18 billion – to a New York-based private foundation. The donation puts him in the same league as donors like Bill Gates and Warren E. Buffett and almost matched the combined giving of all American corporations in 2016.	一名中国人, 将超过 29% 的中国海航集团股份 (相当于 180 亿美元) 转至 纽约的一个私人基金会。这样的捐赠足以让他和比尔·盖茨(Bill Gates)、沃 伦·E·巴菲特(Warren E. Buffett)这样的捐助者处于同一个级别, 而这项 几乎相当于 2016 年所有美国公司的捐款之和。
But it has not been disclosed how that man, Guan Jun, who is in his 30s, came to own such a large piece of one of China's biggest conglomerates. His registered address in Beijing is a modest apartment at the end of a dingy hallway littered with discarded furniture and bags of trash.	但是, 目前还没有人披露, 这位 30 多岁的年轻人贯君, 为什么在中国最大 的企业集团之一坐拥这么多的股份。他在北京的登记地址是一处不起眼的公 寓, 在一条昏暗走廊的尽头, 走廊放着废弃的家具和一袋袋的垃圾。
Questions about Mr. Guan, who could not be reached for comment, and the foundation have mounted since HNA disclosed on Monday the donation to the New York-based Hainan Cihang Charity Foundation, which aims to support a variety of causes including anti-poverty efforts. Little is known about Mr. Guan, though he is a director in a company whose address is in the HNA building in Beijing.	贯君本人无法联系; 自从海航周一宣布他向位于纽约的海南省慈航公益基金 会捐赠股份以来, 关于他和这个基金会的问题越来越多。这个基金会旨在支 持各种事业, 包括扶贫工作。贯君的资料非常少, 不过他是一家公司的董事, 而这家公司地址位于北京的海航大厦。

But comments made by Adam Tan, HNA's chief executive, deepened the mystery of who really owned Mr. Guan's stake. Speaking to The Financial Times on Monday, he said that Mr. Guan, and another shareholder, Bharat Bhise, who had transferred much of his stake to Mr. Guan last year, had never actually owned the shares at all, "but had just held the stake for us," Mr. Tan told the newspaper.	但是，海航首席执行官谭向东的说法，却让贯君的股份属于谁这个问题变得更加神秘。谭向东本周一对《金融时报》(The Financial Times)说，贯君和另一位股东巴拉特·拜斯(Bharat Bhise)——此人去年将自己的大部分股权转让给了贯君——从来不是这些股份的拥有者，“只是代我们持有这些股份”，谭向东对该报说。
That has never been disclosed in regulatory filings, which had listed the two as the owners of the shares. Mr. Tan himself, along with Chen Guoqing, the brother of Chen Feng, HNA's chairman, were the original owners of Tang Dynasty, a Hong Kong holding company that is a large shareholder in HNA's complex web of ownership.	这些情况从来没有在监管文件中披露过，监管文件将两人列为股份所有者。而谭向东自己，以及海航董事局主席陈峰的兄弟陈国庆，则是盛唐发展有限公司(Tang Dynasty)最初的所有者；盛唐是一家香港控股公司，是海航错综复杂的所有权网络里的一个大股东。
Understanding HNA's ownership structure is important because the company last year was the biggest Chinese investor in the United States. Many companies, including banks, are bound by know-your-customer rules and need clarity on who owns their clients' business. Bank of America recently decided not to engage in any transactions with the Chinese conglomerate, citing concerns over its murky shareholder structure and allegations of political connections.	了解海航的所有权结构很重要，因为去年它是对美投资最多的中国公司。包括银行在内的很多公司都受到了“了解你的客户”规则的约束，需要清楚地了解客户业务的所有者是谁。美国银行(Bank of America)最近决定不与这个中国企业集团展开任何业务，说是担心其纠缠不清的股东结构，以及关于其政治背景的说法。
The decision to transfer Mr. Guan's stake to the foundation, HNA said, was to allay concerns over its shareholding. Scrutiny of its ownership had escalated after Anthony Scaramucci, the new White House communications director, announced in January that he was selling his hedge fund to an HNA subsidiary.	海航表示，决定将贯君的股份转移给这个基金会，是为了减轻人们对其持股状况的担忧。白宫通讯总监安东尼·斯卡拉穆奇(Anthony Scaramucci)在1月份宣布将自己的对冲基金卖给海航的一个子公司后，该集团的所有权状况遭到了更加密切的审视。
Instead, HNA, in making the unusual decision to transfer such a large portion of its ownership to an American foundation, raises questions	海航做出这个不寻常的决定，将其如此大的一部分所有权转让给美国的一个基金会，此举提出了一个问题：它将如何遵守美国的税法？

about how it will comply with United States tax law.
Federal laws in place for almost half a century, meant to keep the wealthy from using foundations as a tax shelter, generally restrict foundations from owning more than 20 percent of a company, though there are exceptions that may apply to HNA. Under the law, that percentage can be reduced much further, to as low as 2 percent, if major shareholders have a hand in running the foundation, tax lawyers say.	意在防止富人利用基金会逃税的联邦法律已经实施了近半个世纪。法律总体上禁止基金会持有的公司股份超过 20%，但有一些例外也许适用于海航。税务律师称，法律规定，如果主要股东参与基金会的运作，这个比例可能会被大幅降低，最低可以到 2%。
The Chinese branch of Hainan Cihang owns an additional 22.8 percent, bringing the total owned by the foundations to about 52 percent.	海南慈航的中国分支另外还持有 22.8% 的股份。这让该基金会持有的总份额达到了大约 52%。
Foundations have five years to comply, and are often given five years on top of that, which gives them time to dispose of their excess holdings, tax experts say. But after that, penalties are severe — a 10 percent tax on the excess holdings followed by a 200 percent follow-on tax on the excess amount if the holdings remain out of compliance.	税务专家说，基金会有五年的时间做到符合法律规定，并且通常还会另外再给五年时间，这让它们有时间处理掉多出来的股份。但在这之后，惩罚严厉：对多出来的股份征收 10% 的税，如果所持股份仍不符合法律规定，继续对多出来的部分征收 200% 的税。
“Sooner or later you’re going to have to get rid of your excess business holdings or your foundation is going to be handed over to the I.R.S.,” said Richard Schmalbeck, a law professor at Duke University who focuses on nonprofit organizations.	“早晚都得处理掉多出来的商业股份，否则基金会就要移交给国税局，”杜克大学(Duke University)关注非营利组织的法学教授理查德·施马尔贝克(Richard Schmalbeck)说。
Hainan Cihang also must begin distributing 5 percent of its assets every year.	海南慈航也必须开始每年拿出 5% 的资产。
According to figures derived from the privately held company’s 2016 annual report, HNA’s book value is $61 billion, making Hainan Cihang’s share worth $18 billion. That translates into $900 million in donations a year, which may necessitate assets sales in order to raise that money,	根据该私营企业 2016 年年度报告中的数据，海航的账面价值为 610 亿美元，也就是说，海南慈航的股份价值为 180 亿美元。施马尔贝克表示，那意味着，它每年要捐出 9 亿美元，为了筹集这么多资金，它可能需要出售一些资产。

Mr. Schmalbeck said.
"This could be a real painful box for them to be in," he said.	"这可能会令他们非常痛苦,"他说。
Allen Wu, a lawyer in New York representing Hainan Cihang, did not return two phone calls seeking comment.	代理慈航的纽约律师艾伦·吴(Allen Wu)没有回复两次电话置评请求。
One person briefed on the matter said that the asset value transferred from HNA to the charity was still not settled and would likely be considerably smaller than $18 billion.	一位知情人士表示,从海航转移到该基金会的资产价值尚未敲定,很可能远远低于 180 亿美元。
Hainan Cihang is likely to support causes such as refugee aid, food aid, free cataract surgery and women's issues, said the person, who requested anonymity because the foundation's plans have not been finalized.	此人表示,海南慈航很可能会支持难民支援、食品援助、免费白内障手术和女性问题等事业。由于基金会的计划尚未最终确定,该知情人士要求匿名。
The person briefed on the matter added that the foundation was applying for tax-exempt status with the Internal Revenue Service and that it would be disclosing more information in the future. For now, a 2016 tax year filing to the I.R.S. shows it has no assets. The foundation has registered with the New York State Department of State.	此人还表示,该基金会正在向美国国税局(Internal Revenue Service)申请免税待遇,会在将来公布更多信息。目前,它向国内收入署提交的 2016 年税务报表显示,它没有资产。该基金会是在纽约州注册的。
HNA's murky ownership structure and huge transfer to a private foundation hark back to an earlier era in the United States, when rich families would often put assets into foundations to shield them from taxation. A 1969 law changed that, instituting the 20 percent cap and the requirement to give out 5 percent of the holdings each year.	海航难以捉摸的所有权结构以及向私立基金会的巨额资产转移让人想起了早年的美国,当时富豪家庭为了避税经常把资产放入基金会。1969 年的一项法律改变了那种情况,它规定了 20% 的上限,并要求每年捐出 5% 的资产。
"The concern was that if private foundations owned large amounts of a business, then the trustees of the foundation could become more concerned with the interests of the business," said Ray Madoff, a law professor at Boston College who focuses on philanthropies and taxes.	"人们担心,如果私立基金会拥有一家公司的资产,那么该基金会的受托人可能更关心该公司的利益,"波士顿学院(Boston College)主要研究慈善和税收的法律教授雷·麦道夫(Ray Madoff)说。

HNA, which has been a deal-making juggernaut in recent years, has lately run into roadblocks both in China, where officials are trying to slow the outflow of foreign currency reserves, and in Washington.	海航近几年成为交易巨鳄。但最近它在中国和华盛顿都遇到了障碍。中国官员在努力放缓外汇储备的外流。
Mr. Scaramucci's sale of his ownership in SkyBridge Capital, his hedge fund of funds business, has not yet been cleared by Cfius. In January, Mr. Scaramucci announced that he had sold Skybridge to a consortium led by RON Transatlantic and HNA Capital, an arm of HNA Group.	美国外国投资委员会(Cfius)尚未批准斯卡拉穆奇出售自己在对冲基金公司天桥资本(SkyBridge Capital)的所有权。今年1月, 斯卡拉穆奇宣布, 他已将天桥资本卖给由 RON Transatlantic 和海航资本主导的一个财团。
Rich Myers, a spokesman for Skybridge, said on Wednesday that the deal had cleared all other hurdles and that the company was confident it would have approval from the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States, which reviews acquisitions and investments for national security risks, by the end of the summer.	周三, 天桥资本的发言人里奇·迈尔斯(Rich Myers)表示, 该交易已经清除了其他所有障碍, 该公司有信心在夏季结束之前获得美国外国投资委员会的批准。该委员会负责审查收购和投资, 以控制国家安全风险。
Earlier this year, at a hedge fund conference where he once played host, Mr. Scaramucci called HNA "one of the more magnificent conglomerates coming out of China." He also encouraged the audience, gathered at the Bellagio Hotel in Las Vegas, to get to know Guang Yang, the chief executive of HNA Capital, who was also in attendance.	今年早些时候, 斯卡拉穆奇在自己曾担任东道主的一场对冲基金大会上称海航是“中国更杰出的企业集团之一”。他还鼓励聚集在拉斯维加斯贝拉焦酒店(Bellagio Hotel)的观众去结识出席了那次会议的海航资本首席执行官杨光。
Mr. Scaramucci did not respond to an email requesting comment on Wednesday.	周三, 斯卡拉穆奇没有回复请求置评的邮件。
Regulators may also want to get to know Mr. Yang. He is the person who signed Hainan Cihang's annual return filed to the I.R.S.	监管机构可能也需要结识一下杨光, 因为海南慈航提交给国税局的年度纳税申报表是由他签署的。

Seesawing Fate of Legendary Reflects the Film Industry's Volatility	万达布局生变, 传奇影业前景不明

LOS ANGELES — Two summers ago, Legendary Entertainment was the belle of the Hollywood ball.	洛杉矶——两年前，传奇影业(Legendary Entertainment)还是好莱坞舞会的头号美人。
Thomas Tull, who founded Legendary, a boutique studio, in 2000, finding hits like “Godzilla” and “Pacific Rim,” strutted across a stage at the Comic-Con International fan convention and touted two coming films, “Warcraft” and “The Great Wall,” as surefire blockbusters. Behind the scenes, Legendary was working to tap into Chinese money flowing to Hollywood. That resulted in Dalian Wanda’s purchase of Legendary in January 2016 for what seemed like a large price, $3.5 billion.	于2000年创办了这家精品电影制作公司、发现了《哥斯拉》(Godzilla)和《环太平洋》(Pacific Rim)等卖座大片的托马斯·塔尔(Thomas Tull)，在国际动漫大会(Comic-Con International)的漫迷大会上昂首阔步地上台推销即将面世的《魔兽争霸》(Warcraft)和《长城》(The Great Wall)，称它们肯定会大火。在幕后，传奇影业正在努力利用流入好莱坞的中国资本。最后，大连万达在2016年1月以看上去貌似大价钱的35亿美元（240亿元人民币）收购了传奇影业。
Now, in a reflection of the volatility of the film business and the precariousness of deal making with Chinese companies, Legendary is facing uncomfortable questions about its future.	现在，传奇影业面临着对其未来令人不安的疑问。这反映出了电影行业的多变，以及与中国公司做生意的危险。
Legendary has been bruised at the global box office; “Warcraft” and “The Great Wall” flopped. The studio has been without a chief executive since Mr. Tull left in January. (He said that was his plan all along; Wanda publicly indicated otherwise.) And Legendary suddenly finds itself operating amid uncertainty — something that Hollywood loathes — as Beijing clamps down on Wanda and other conglomerates, scrutinizing balance sheets and reviewing loans from state-owned banks.	传奇影业在全球票房遇挫，《魔兽争霸》和《长城》一败涂地。自塔尔1月离开后，该公司的首席执行官职位一直空缺（塔尔说自己一直都是这么计划的，万达却公开表示并非如此）。随着北京向万达和其他集团公司施压，审查资产负债表和来自国有银行的贷款，传奇影业突然发现自己所处的环境充满不确定性。这是好莱坞所不喜欢的。
Is Legendary speeding toward the Hollywood graveyard?	传奇影业正在快速走向好莱坞的墓地吗？
A close look at the company suggests no. In fact, there are concrete signs that Legendary is moving past its recent box office troubles. Even so, the upheaval surrounding Wanda is real and could complicate Legendary’s growth plans.	近距离观察该公司后，看到的情况显示不是这样的。实际上，有确凿的迹象表明，传奇影业正在摆脱最近的票房失利。即便如此，围绕万达的剧变是实实在在的，并且可能会让传奇影业的成长计划变得复杂起来。
The studio, which employs about 300 people, has ample money to	员工约为300人的传奇影业有充足的制作资金，其中包括已经宣布的《哥

make movies, including announced sequels to “Godzilla,” “Kong: Skull Island” and “Pacific Rim.” Over the last six months, the studio has secured cash investments of nearly $580 million. Legendary also has a $700 million line of credit with JPMorgan Chase that extends through 2021. This information was provided by a Legendary executive, who spoke on the condition of anonymity to discuss financial matters.	斯拉》《金刚：骷髅岛》(Kong:Skull Island)和《环太平洋》的续集。过去六个月里，该公司获得了近 5.8 亿美元的现金投资。传奇影业还拥有摩根大通(JPMorgan Chase)7 亿美元的信贷额度，这个额度到 2021 年一直有效。这些信息来自传奇影业一名要求匿名讨论财务问题的高管。
Melissa Zukerman, a Legendary spokeswoman, confirmed the numbers on Tuesday but declined to comment beyond a statement released last week. It said, in part, “Legendary is well capitalized with liquidity to fund its film and TV slates and operate its business as usual.”	传奇影业的发言人梅丽莎·祖克尔曼(Melissa Zukerman)周二证实了这些数字，但拒绝在上周发布的一份声明之外再做评论。该声明的部分内容是，“传奇影业资金状况良好，具备制作精挑细选出来的电影和电视并照常经营的流动性。”
Whether Legendary has the ability to pull off its ambitious growth plans is less certain. Its expansion goals include taking more control of its North American film distribution (it relies on Universal Pictures and Warner Bros. to release its movies) and increasing output from a couple of movies a year to six or more.	传奇影业是否有能力实现其野心勃勃的成长计划就没这么确定了。该公司的扩张目标包括增强对北美电影发行的控制（它依赖环球影业[Universal Pictures]和華納兄弟[Warner Bros]发行自己的电影），并把每年的电影产量从两部增加到六部或以上。
With the right support from Wanda, financially and politically, Legendary could also build a film distribution system in China, one that could be rented to other Hollywood studios, which are now required to use a state-owned distribution system.	如果能在资金和政治上得到万达的适当支持，传奇可能还会在中国建立一个电影发行体系。这个体系可以租给其他好莱坞电影公司。现在，它们被要求使用官方的一个发行体系。
In many ways, Legendary finds is in the usual Hollywood spot: crossing its fingers that film bets pay off and a corporate parent comes through with promised backing. In May, Jack Gao, Legendary’s acting chief executive, told Variety magazine that Wanda had committed hundreds of millions of dollars in additional funding.	在很多方面，传奇的情况在好莱坞都很常见：祈祷押注的电影能取得成功，并且母公司能兑现支持的承诺。在 5 月，传奇影业的代理首席执行官高群耀对《Variety》杂志表示，万达已承诺额外提供数亿美元的资金。
Legendary has also been caught in the old Hollywood game of	传奇影业还陷入了好莱坞古老的“认知与现实”游戏。万达、安邦保险集团、

perception versus reality. Chinese conglomerates like Wanda, Anbang Insurance Group, HNA Group and Fosun International are being reined in because they have used cheap debt provided by state banks to spend lavishly, in some cases seeming to overpay for acquisitions.	海航集团和复星国际等中国集团公司因为用国有银行提供的低息贷款挥霍，有些收购价格似乎过高，而遭到政府施压。
Just last week, Wanda tore up a $9.3 billion agreement to sell a portfolio of hotels and theme parks to the property firm Sunac China Holdings, instead selling it just the theme parks, a move that lessened Sunac's debt level. (Wanda reached a deal to sell its hotels to another Chinese company, R & F Properties.)	就在上周，万达将以 93 亿美元的价格把酒店和主题公园资产卖给地产公司融创中国控股的协议进行了分拆，只把主题公园卖给了后者。此举降低了融创的债务水平（万达达成协议，把酒店卖给了另一家中国公司富力地产）。
Because of write downs from movie misfires, spending on fast-tracked film and television projects, and the accelerated vesting of stock options in anticipation of a sale, Legendary lost $343 million in 2014 and $462 million in 2015. The losses were disclosed in filings with the Shenzhen Stock Exchange related to a subsequent effort by Wanda to merge the studio with a publicly traded subsidiary, Wanda Cinema Line, which owns theaters. Wanda abandoned that maneuver, citing changing market conditions.	因为电影票房惨败带来的资产减记、影视项目加速的支出，以及料到公司会被出售、进而加速赋予优先认股权，传奇影业 2014 年和 2015 年相继亏损 3.43 亿美元和 4.62 亿美元。提交给深圳证券交易所的备案文件披露了这些亏损，这和万达随后为合并传奇影业与旗下公开交易的子公司万达院线而展开的行动有关。万达院线拥有万达的电影院。后来，万达以行情不断变化为由，放弃了这一操作。
Yet Wanda paid $3.5 billion for the little studio.	但万达收购这家小公司花了 35 亿美元。
In reality, according to the Legendary executive who provided internal information and the spokeswoman who confirmed it, the actual deal was slightly different. The price was $1.88 billion, plus the assumption of Legendary's debt, much but not all of which has since been paid off.	实际上，据前述提供内部消息的传奇影业高管透露，并经传奇影业发言人证实，实际交易略有不同。价格是 18.8 亿美元，再加上承担传奇影业的债务。此后，传奇的大量债务已偿还，但没有全部还清。
Those details were not mentioned when Wanda's chairman, Wang Jianlin, barnstormed through Hollywood in October to promote Legendary as a jewel at the center of an expanding entertainment	万达董事长王健林去年 10 月到好莱坞拜码头，把传奇影业当作处在一个不断扩张的娱乐帝国核心位置的珠宝来宣传时，并没有提到这些细节。他当时说，很快，万达的资产将包括以 10 亿美元的价格收购小型电视公司迪克克

empire. Soon, he said then, Wanda's assets would include the purchase of a small TV company, Dick Clark Productions, for $1 billion, and an $8.2 billion studio and theme park complex being built in Qingdao, a city north of Shanghai. Wanda also owns AMC Entertainment, the No. 1 theater chain in North America.	拉克制作公司(Dick Clark Productions), 以及投资 82 亿美元, 在上海以北的青岛修建一个影视和主题公园园区。万达还拥有北美排名第一的院线 AMC 娱乐(AMC Entertainment)。
But Wanda soon abandoned the Dick Clark deal and "The Great Wall" was a debacle, costing at least $250 million to make and market and taking in $332 million worldwide. (Theater owners keep roughly 50 percent of ticket sales.) The misfire led to the departure of Peter Loehr, the chief of Legendary's China operation and a "Great Wall" producer.	但很快, 万达便放弃了收购迪克·克拉克的交易,《长城》也一败涂地。该片的制作和营销成本至少为 2.5 亿美元, 但全球票房仅为 3.32 亿美元(票房收入的大约 50%归影院的所有者)。这次失败导致传奇影业的中国业务负责人和《长城》制片人之一罗异(Peter Loehr)离开公司。
Lately, however, Legendary has shown signs of resurgence.	然而最近, 传奇影业表现出了一些复苏的迹象。
The studio's last release, "Kong: Skull Island," was a hit, collecting $566 million worldwide in March against a production budget of $185 million. DVD sales were also strong. As a result, Legendary expects to turn a profit for 2017 of roughly $30 million.	该公司在 3 月发行的最新一部影片《金刚：骷髅岛》大卖, 制作预算 1.85 亿美元, 全球票房收入却高达 5.66 亿美元。DVD 销售势头也很强劲。因此, 传奇影业 2017 年有望盈利大约 3000 万美元。
As the hunt for a successor to Mr. Tull progresses, Legendary's highly regarded production chief, Mary Parent, who joined the company last year, ("Kong: Skull Island" was her first film), has hired lieutenants and started to assemble new films. Legendary executives, agents and producers affiliated with the company say that Ms. Parent's team has put more checks and balances in place to ensure that the company is not overspending on production, as had sometimes happened.	一方面仍在继续寻找塔尔的继任者, 另一方面传奇影业备受重视的制作负责人、去年加入公司的玛丽·帕伦特(Mary Parent)已在招兵买马, 开始制作新的影片(《金刚：骷髅岛》是她加入公司后的首部电影)。传奇影业的高管、代理人和隶属于该公司的制作人表示, 帕伦特的团队实行了更多制衡措施, 以确保公司不会像之前有时候发生的情况那样, 在制作上超支。
Legendary's next release, "Pacific Rim: Uprising," which will arrive in February, cost about $150 million to make, for instance. Its 2013 franchise predecessor cost an estimated $190 million.	比如, 传奇影业将于明年 2 月发行的下一部影片《环太平洋 2》(Pacific Rim: Uprising)的制作费用约为 1.5 亿美元。该系列在 2013 年发行的上一部影片的费用估计为 1.9 亿美元。

Ms. Parent's lineup also includes a sequel to "Kong: Skull Island" that will find Godzilla battling the giant ape; "Skyscraper," a disaster thriller starring Dwayne Johnson; "Detective Pikachu," a live-action film based on the Pokemon character; and a reboot of the science-fiction classic "Dune," with Denis Villeneuve in the director's chair.	帕伦特的计划还包括哥斯拉大战金刚的《金刚：骷髅岛》续集、由道恩·强森 (Dwayne Johnson) 主演的灾难大片《摩天大楼》(Skyscraper)、根据《精灵宝可梦》(Pokemon) 中的人物改编的实景电影《名侦探皮卡丘》(Detective Pikachu), 以及由丹尼斯·维伦纽瓦(Denis Villeneuve)担任导演、翻拍科幻经典之作《沙丘》(Dune)。
Additionally, Ms. Parent, an Oscar nominee for producing "The Revenant," has some smaller films in the works, including an adaptation of the book "Men Are From Mars, Women Are From Venus." A not-so-minor financial footnote: Legendary is also an investor in a sequel to "Jurassic World," which took in $1.7 billion worldwide in 2015.	此外, 曾因制作《荒野猎人》(The Revenant)而获得奥斯卡提名的帕伦特还有一些规模较小的影片正在筹备中, 包括改编《男人来自火星, 女人来自金星》(Men Are From Mars, Women Are From Venus)。一个不算小的财务补充说明是: 传奇影业还投资了 2015 年在全球吸金 17 亿美元的《侏罗纪世界》(Jurassic World)续集。
Legendary, like every Hollywood upstart, has found itself at a crossroads before. Unlike most, it has always found a way forward.	和在好莱坞发迹的所有公司一样, 传奇影业发现自己来到了一个十字路口。但不同于大部分公司的是, 它总能找到一条前行的道路。
Mr. Tull, once a Laundromat owner, attracted Legendary's first investors on a premise that turned out to be faulty — that strong DVD sales had put a floor under high-end fantasy films. The DVD market started to crumble in 2005, about the time Legendary took root. Mr. Tull pivoted to the foreign box office, which was starting to grow, especially in China.	曾是一家自助洗衣店老板的塔尔, 凭借强劲的 DVD 销售势头为高端魔幻电影提供了一个假设, 吸引了传奇影业的第一批投资者。但这个假设是错误的。2005 年, DVD 市场开始下滑。大约在同一时间, 传奇影业站稳了脚跟。塔尔转向当时正在开始增长的外国票房, 尤其是中国。
With private equity funding, Legendary persuaded Warner Bros. to let it invest in a several films that became megahits, including "The Dark Knight Rises" and the "Hangover" movies. Legendary's own run as a creative force started in 2007 with the bloody "300," which cost $65 million to make and took in $456 worldwide — a success that was cited by Wanda last year, among others, as proof of the studio's potential.	利用私募股权资金, 传奇影业说服华纳兄弟允许自己投资多部影片, 包括《蝙蝠侠：黑暗骑士崛起》(The Dark Knight Rises)和《宿醉》(Hangover)。后来, 这些影片大获成功。2007 年, 凭借血腥的《斯巴达 300 勇士》(300), 传奇影业开始了自己作为一支创作力量的历程。该片制作成本为 6500 万美元, 全球票房 4.56 亿美元。去年, 万达还把这次成功作为传奇影业潜力巨大的证据之一。

Move Over, Bill Gates. Jeff Bezos Gets a Turn as World's Richest Person.	贝佐斯财富短暂超越盖茨成“一日首富”
SEATTLE —Jeff Bezos on Thursday took something away from a billionaire neighbor in the Seattle area, Bill Gates — the mantle of world's richest person.	西雅图——星期四,杰夫·贝佐斯(Jeff Bezos)超越了同在西雅图的亿万富豪邻居比尔·盖茨(Bill Gates),成为了世界上最富有的人。
A 1 percent pop early in the day in the shares of Amazon.com — the internet company Mr. Bezos founded, which accounts for the vast majority of his wealth — was enough to bump him over the wealth of Mr. Gates, the philanthropist and Microsoft co-founder, according to a real-time list of billionaires by Forbes.com, which has tallied the fortunes of the uber-rich for decades.	福布斯网站(Forbes.com)几十年来一直在跟踪富人的身家,它的亿万富豪实时排行榜显示,贝佐斯创立的互联网公司亚马逊占了他财富的大头,其股价当天早些时候出现了1%的波动,足以让他超越慈善家、微软联合创始人盖茨。
Forbes estimated the wealth of Mr. Bezos, currently Amazon's chief executive, at $90.6 billion, compared with $90 billion for Mr. Gates. Later in the day, Amazon's shares cooled slightly, allowing Mr. Gates to regain the top position. The back and forth could continue depending on the fluctuations in Amazon shares.	福布斯估计,亚马逊首席执行官贝佐斯的财富为906亿美元,盖茨为900亿美元。当天晚些时候,亚马逊股价小幅下挫,盖茨重新占据了榜首。随着亚马逊股票的波动,这种轮换可能还会持续下去。
Mr. Bezos has added tens of billions of dollars in wealth — at least on paper — over the last year as Amazon shares surged more than 40 percent during that time period. They traded at about $1,063 on Thursday, ahead of the release of the company's latest earnings report.	在过去一年中,亚马逊的股价飙升了40%以上,贝佐斯的财富增长了数百亿美元——至少在账面上是这样。周四,亚马逊的股价在1063美元左右,该公司即将发布最新的财报。
According to a filing with securities regulators in April, Mr. Bezos holds nearly 81 million shares of Amazon — almost 17 percent of the company. Forbes also estimates the value of his other investments — including his ownership of The Washington Post and the rocket company Blue Origin — and cash from the sale of securities as part of	根据4月份证券监管机构的备案文件显示,贝佐斯拥有亚马逊将近17%的股份,大约8100万股。福布斯还估算了他其他投资的价值——包括《华盛顿邮报》(The Washington Post)和火箭公司蓝色起源(Blue Origin)的所有权——以及出售证券套现的部分。贝佐斯表示,为了给蓝色起源提供资金,他每年出售价值约10亿美元的亚马逊股票。

Mr. Gates has been at the top of the Forbes list of billionaires for 18 of the last 23 years.	在过去的 23 年中，盖茨有 18 年雄踞福布斯富豪榜榜首。
Most of Mr. Gates's wealth originates from Microsoft. The company's stock has risen to new highs lately. Kerry Dolan, an assistant managing editor for Forbes, said the publication also considers extensive assets Mr. Gates holds through his Cascade Investments, which has stakes in private equity, real estate and public companies. Consider this mind-boggling statistic that I culled from the company's statement last week about its Chinese ambitions: Starbucks is opening more than 500 stores a year there — which amounts to more than one new store a day. Starbucks is creating some 10,000 jobs in China annually. In Shanghai alone, there are already 600 stores.	上周，该公司发表了一份与其在中国的雄心有关的声明。诸位不妨思量一下我从中挑出的令人难以置信的统计数据：星巴克正以一年 500 余家的速度在中国开设新店——相当于每天超出一家以上。星巴克每年在中国创造约 1 万个工作岗位。单是在上海，它已经拥有 600 家门店。

a case study for American companies that have struggled to do business there.	公司来说，或许颇为值得研究。
Starbucks has found a way into the culture of China — as well as the good graces of the Chinese government — by investing heavily there, paying significantly higher wages than competitors, and extending its employee ownership benefits to Chinese workers. The company has also been offering housing allowances and health care benefits and, unusually, offering critical illness insurance for the parents of employees and inviting those parents to an annual meeting of the company’s Chinese staff. Today, Starbucks China is run by a female executive, Belinda Wong.	星巴克找到了进入中国文化以及获得中国政府青睐的一种方式：在那里大量投资，支付比竞争者高得多的工资，让中国工人也享受员工所有权利益。该公司还提供住房津贴和医保福利，并不同寻常地为员工的父母提供大病保险，邀请他们参加该公司中国员工的年会。如今，星巴克中国由女高管王静瑛运营。
All these efforts have built up an extraordinary level of trust. But they took time and money — too much money, some shareholders complained in the early days of the endeavor.	所有这些努力都是以非同寻常的信任度为基础的。不过，它们耗费了大量时间和金钱——初期，有些股东抱怨花了太多钱。
“The years of losses built pressure from both within and from the street to leave and abandon the China market,” Mr. Schultz said. Part of the company’s challenge, he added, was the need to teach an entire country known for its tea about the culture of coffee drinking.	“多年的亏损在公司内部和外界都产生了离开和放弃中国市场的巨大压力，”舒尔茨说。他还说，该公司面临的一个挑战是需要让这个以茶闻名的国度了解咖啡文化。
Starbucks faced many of the same pressures in China as Yum Brands, the owner of KFC, Pizza Hut and Taco Bell. Last year, Yum Brands spun off its China unit under pressure from shareholders who were concerned about the costs and volatility of trying to expand a business there.	星巴克和百胜集团(Yum)在中国面临很多相同的压力，百胜旗下有肯德基(KFC)、必胜客(Pizza Hut)和塔可贝尔(Taco Bell)等品牌。去年，迫于股东压力，百胜将中国分公司独立了出去，因为股东们对在中国扩张的成本和不稳定性感到担忧。
Even Mr. Schultz acknowledged that his early foray was a teachable moment for him. At first, he was desperate to import the Starbucks	甚至连舒尔茨也承认，早期的尝试对他来说是一个教训。一开始，他非常想把星巴克的理念介绍给中国的员工和顾客。 philosophy to employees and customers in China.

"The natural answer was to move senior tenured Starbucks managers to China to run the business and to imprint the Starbucks culture with our Chinese employees," he said. But as it turned out, he added, "it was a mistake."	"很自然的想法是把星巴克的资深经理调往中国，经营那里的业务，让中国员工铭记星巴克的文化，"他说。但是结果证明，他补充说，"那是一个错误"。
Mr. Schultz and his team realized that to gain the trust of Chinese customers, employees and government officials, they needed to show that they trusted them, too.	舒尔茨和他的团队意识到，要想赢得中国顾客、员工和政府官员的信任，他们需要表现出，他们也信任对方。
"The unlock was when we realized it had to be a combination of both U.S. and Chinese leaders, and over time a totally dedicated Chinese leadership team led by a Chinese C.E.O.," Mr. Schultz said.	"我们意识到，领导团队必须是美国人和中国人的结合，最终完全是一个满腔热忱的中国管理团队，由一名中国首席执行官领导，"舒尔茨说。
Today, he explained, "they are the most self-contained autonomous business unit within the company." Letting that dynamic develop, he said, involved "trusting them to know what's best for our partners, our customers, and how to build an enduring relationship with all constituencies on the basis of trust."	他说，如今，"他们是我们公司最独立自主的业务分支"。他说，允许那种动态发展需要"相信他们知道怎样做对我们的合作伙伴和顾客最有利，以及在信任的基础上与所有的相关参与者建立长久的关系"。
That's not to say it always worked. Starbucks faced protests in 2013 in China when a newscaster for CCTV (now known as CGTV, for China Global Television Network) reported that the company charged a third more for a latte in China than it did in the United States. (It was true, and Starbucks did not change the price.)	那并不是说，一路走来，没有挫折。2013年，中央电视台（现在被称为CGTV，意思是中国国际电视台）的一名新闻主播报道称，星巴克一杯拿铁的价格比美国的贵三分之一（那是事实，星巴克没有更改这个价格），在中国引发了抗议。
The company was also forced to abandon its store in the Forbidden City – the former Chinese imperial palace, in Beijing – after a sustained campaign to evict it by protesters who contended its presence was undermining Chinese culture.	该公司还被迫放弃了它在北京故宫的店铺，因为抗议者认为它的存在是在破坏中国文化，不断要求将它赶走。

But over time, Starbucks has continued to invest more deeply in the vast nation. Recently that involved growing coffee in Yunnan Province – which lies in China’s southwest and abuts Myanmar, Laos and Vietnam – and creating a new high-end Arabica coffee and hundreds of jobs in the process.	不过随着时间推移，星巴克继续在这个广阔的国家进行更深入的投资。近期的行动包括在云南省种植咖啡——云南位于中国西南部，毗邻缅甸、老挝和越南——创造了一种新型的高端阿拉比卡咖啡，并在此过程中创造了成百上千个工作机会。
The company has discussed the prospect of ultimately creating a global brand of Yunnan coffee with the Chinese government, which would be similar to what Starbucks has done in promoting its coffee from Colombia, Ethiopia and Sumatra.	该公司还讨论过与中国政府合作，最终创造一个全球性的云南咖啡品牌，它将类似于星巴克推广过的来自哥伦比亚、埃塞俄比亚和苏门答腊岛的咖啡。
So why did China work for Starbucks, but prove a stubborn challenge for so many others, like Yum and McDonald’s?	那么，为什么中国是星巴克的福地，而对于百胜和麦当劳等其他很多品牌来说，却是一个艰难的挑战？
“It’s not for me to criticize them, but I think both those companies franchised their system early on and were in the fast-food business,” Mr. Schultz said. “I think they approached it very, very differently than we did.”	“我没资格批评它们，但我认为，这两家公司很早就开始在中国设立加盟连锁店，而且是在快餐行业，”舒尔茨说。“我认为，它们的方式跟我们的很不同。”
(It’s worth noting that companies like Apple and Disney have enjoyed great success in China.)	(需要指出，苹果[Apple]和迪士尼[Disney]等公司也在中国取得了巨大成功。)
Of course, one of the questions that Mr. Schultz is often asked is about the politics of the Starbucks brand abroad, given how closely the name is associated with the United States. Mr. Schultz himself has been an outspoken Democrat.	当然，舒尔茨经常被问到的一个问题是星巴克品牌在国外的政治性，因为这个品牌与美国密切相连。舒尔茨本人也是一名直言不讳的民主党人。
“The Chinese have consistently over the years had an affinity for Western brands,” particularly Western luxury brands, Mr. Schultz said. “And I think perhaps we have benefited from that.”	舒尔茨表示，“中国人这些年来一直对西方品牌有好感”，尤其是西方奢侈品牌，“我想我们也许受益于此”。
But there’s more to it than that, as Mr. Schultz tells it. “The story and the	不过就像舒尔茨说的，那还远远不够。“我们的故事和成功显然是基于我们

success we have enjoyed is clearly based on the experience that takes place in our stores," he said. "It's not the halo of America."	的店铺带来的体验”，他说，“不是因为美国的光环。”

Joining Apple, Amazon's China Cloud Service Bows to Censors	除了苹果，亚马逊也向中国网络审查低头
SHANGHAI — Days after Apple yanked anti-censorship tools off its app store in China, another major American technology company is moving to implement the country's tough restrictions on online content.	上海——苹果公司把几款反审查工具从其中国区应用软件商店下架的几天后，另一家美国的主要科技公司开始执行中国对在线内容严格限制的规定。
A Chinese company that operates Amazon's cloud-computing and online services business there said on Tuesday that it told local customers to cease using any software that would allow Chinese to circumvent the country's extensive system of internet blocks. The company, called Beijing Sinnet Technology and operator of the American company's Amazon Web Services operations in China, sent one round of emails to customers on Friday and another on Monday.	为中国用户提供亚马逊云计算和在线服务业务的中国公司周二说，它已经通知国内客户，停止使用任何可让他们绕过中国广泛屏蔽互联网的软件。这家中国公司是北京光环新网技术公司，它负责美国亚马逊公司在中国的亚马逊网络服务（Amazon Web Services，简称AWS）的运营。光环新网在上周五向客户发了一轮邮件，周一又发了一轮。
"If users don't comply with the guidance, the offered services and their websites can be shut down," said a woman surnamed Wang who answered a Sinnet service hotline. "We the operators also check routinely if any of our users use these softwares or store illegal content."	“如果用户不按照指导行事的话，公司提供的服务和用户的网站可能会被关闭，”一位在光环新网接听服务热线电话的王姓女士这样说。“作为运营商，我们也要定期检查我们的用户是否使用这些软件或存储非法内容。”
Ms. Wang said the letter was sent according to recent guidance from China's Ministry of Public Security and the country's telecom regulator. Amazon did not respond to emails and phone calls requesting comment.	王女士表示，通知是根据中国公安部和国家电信监管机构最近的指示发的。亚马逊没有回复请求置评的电子邮件和电话。
The emails are the latest sign of a widening push by China's government to block access to software that gets over the Great	这些电子邮件是中国政府进一步阻止用户获得翻越防火长城(Great Firewall)的软件的最新迹象，防火长城是中国用来阻止国内用户访问

Firewall — the nickname for the sophisticated internet filters that China uses to stop its people from gaining access to Facebook, Google and Twitter, as well as foreign news media outlets.	Facebook、谷歌、Twitter，以及国外新闻媒体的复杂网络过滤系统的绰号。
The move came at roughly the same time that Apple said it took down a number of apps from its China app store that help users vault the Great Firewall. Those apps helped users connect to the rest of the internet world using technology called virtual private networks, or VPNs.	这项举措与苹果的说法几乎同时出现，苹果表示，已从其中国区应用软件商店下架了多款帮助用户翻越防火长城的应用软件。通过一种被称为虚拟专用网络或 VPN 的技术，这些应用软件帮助用户连接到互联网世界的其它部分。
Taken together, the recent moves by Apple and Amazon show how Beijing is increasingly forcing America’s biggest tech companies to play by Chinese rules if they want to maintain access to the market. The push comes even as the number of foreign American tech companies able to operate and compete in China has dwindled.	综合来看，苹果和亚马逊最近的做法显示出，如果美国最大的科技公司想继续留在中国市场的话，北京是如何对它们施加越来越大的压力、迫使其按照中国的规则行事的。近期的施压行为发生在能够在中国经营和竞争的美国科技公司的数量已经有所减少之际。
Beijing has become increasingly emboldened in pushing America’s internet giants to follow its local internet laws, which forbid unregistered censorship-evasion software. Analysts say the government has been more aggressive in pressuring companies to make concessions following the passage of a new cybersecurity law, which went into effect June 1, and ahead of a sensitive Communist Party conclave set for late autumn.	为迫使美国互联网巨头遵守中国互联网法规，北京变得愈发大胆，中国的法规禁止用户使用未经注册、用于规避审查的软件。分析人士说，已于6月1日生效的新《网络安全法》通过之后，在中共代表大会将于今年秋天召开之前的敏感时期里，政府开始更有力地迫使企业就范。
The government has been intent on tightening controls domestically as well. It recently shut down a number of Chinese-run VPNs. New rules posted to government websites in recent days said Communist Party members can be punished for viewing illegal sites and that they must register all foreign or local social media accounts.	政府也在加强对国内网络的管制，最近关闭了一些国内公司运营的VPN。最近几天在政府网站公布的新规范称，党员会因浏览非法网站受到惩罚，而且党员必须将他们所有的国外或当地社交媒体账户登记备案。

Also in response to the new law, Apple said it planned to open a new data center in China and store user data there.	同样是作为对新法律的回应，苹果表示打算在中国建立新的数据中心，并将用户数据保存在该处。
Ms. Wang, who said that Sinnet handles Amazon Web Services operations across China, said that the company has sent letters warning users about such services in the past but that the government had been more focused on other issues.	王女士说，光环新网运营中国各地的AWS业务，她说，公司以前也曾给用户发过邮件，警告他们这类服务的问题，但政府那时更关心其他的东西。
Amazon Web Services allows companies small and large to lease computing power instead of running their websites or other online services through their own hardware and software. Because Amazon's cloud services allow customers to lease servers in China, it could be used to give Chinese internet users access to various types of software that would help them get around the Great Firewall.	AWS让大大小小的公司都能租用计算能力，而不是用自己的硬件和软件来运行网站或其他在线服务。由于亚马逊的云服务允许客户在中国租用服务器，该服务可能会让中国的互联网用户接触到各种各样的、帮助他们绕过防火长城的软件。
Keeping in line with censorship rules is only a part of it. In cloud computing, China requires foreign companies have a local partner and restricts them from owning a controlling stake in any cloud company. New proposed laws, which have drawn complaints of protectionism from American politicians, further restrict the companies from using their own brand and call for them to terminate and report any behavior that violates China's laws.	遵守审查规则只是其中的一部分。在云计算方面，中国要求外国公司有当地的合作伙伴，限制外国公司拥有任何云计算公司的控股权。新提案的法律将进一步限制外国公司使用自己的品牌，还要求它们终止并上报违反中国法律的行为，这一提案已引发美国政客抱怨中国的保护主义。
While Microsoft and Amazon both run cloud services in China, similar ones run by local Chinese internet rivals dwarf them in scale. In particular Chinese e-commerce giant Alibaba runs its own cloud services, which have grown rapidly in China. In order to operate in the country, China's biggest internet companies must stay in close contact with the government and carry out Beijing's various demands, whether	虽然微软和亚马逊都在中国运营云服务，但由中国当地的互联网竞争对手管理的类似服务的规模远比美国公司的大。特别是中国电子商务巨头阿里巴巴自己经营的云服务已经在中国迅速发展。为了在国内经营，中国最大的互联网企业必须与政府保持密切联系，执行北京的各种要求，包括获得用户数据、或审查各种内容的要求。

they be a request for user data or to censor various topics.
While China is not a major market for Amazon, the company has been in the country for a long time and has been pushing its cloud computing services there. Also recently the company announced a partnership with the state-run telecom China Mobile to create a Kindle, the company's e-reader device, aimed at the local Chinese market.	虽然中国不是亚马逊的主要市场，但该公司已经在中国经营了很长时间，并一直该国力推其云计算服务。最近，亚马逊宣布将与国营电信公司中国移动合作，为当地中国市场打造一款面向当地市场的 Kindle 电子阅读器。

China's Trophy Case of Deals Could Become a Discount Rack	阴云压顶，安邦等或变卖海外资产
A quartet of embattled Chinese dealmakers may be forced to hold an overseas yard sale.	四家面临压力的中国交易商，可能不得不兜售他们在海外的资产。
Officials want Anbang Insurance to sell off its offshore empire, Bloomberg reported on Monday. Dalian Wanda, meanwhile, has reportedly been blocked from refinancing offshore subsidiaries. In contrast, the HNA Group says it remains keen on the ousted White House adviser Anthony Scaramucci's hedge fund investment firm, SkyBridge Capital.	彭博社周一报道，中国官员希望安邦保险卖掉其在海外的商业帝国。与此同时，据说大连万达海外子公司的再融资被阻断。另一方面，海航集团表示，他们仍然对已下课的白宫顾问安东尼·斯卡拉穆奇(Anthony Scaramucci)的对冲基金投资公司天桥资本(SkyBridge Capital)感兴趣。
But pending deals are likely to come under pressure one way or another. Foreign bargain hunters could benefit.	但未完成的交易可能会面临这样那样的压力。想买便宜资产的外国公司可能会从中受益。
Reuters reported in June that Chinese banking regulators were concerned about high-profile acquirers, including Anbang, Dalian Wanda, HNA and the Fosun Group. That echoes a wider campaign to reduce corporate debt spearheaded by President Xi Jinping.	路透社 6 月报道，中国银行业监管机构对安邦、大连万达、海航、复星集团等高调开展并购的公司表示了关切。这是对一个范围更广的行动的回应——减少习近平主席高度重视的企业债务问题。
Thomson Reuters data shows that the four companies have bought more than $44 billion in overseas assets since 2012, through 221 deals.	汤森路透数据显示，自 2012 年以来，这四家公司通过 221 宗交易购买了逾 440 亿美元的境外资产。他们收购的公司包括连锁影城 AMC 娱乐(AMC

Beijing worries that much of this was financed with debt from domestic banks. Officials appear particularly concerned about Anbang, which sold a lot of risky-looking products blending insurance and investment. The company, whose chairman has been detained, says it has no plans to sell assets, nor has it been ordered to do it.	北京担心,其中大部分交易使用的资金,都来自它们在国内银行欠下的债务。官员们尤其担心安邦,该公司出售了大量保险和投资混合型产品,看上去风险很高。安邦董事长已遭到羁押,该公司表示没有任何出售资产的计划,也没有人责令他们这样做。
Despite these denials, there is now a cloud over $12 billion worth of pending transactions by Anbang and its three counterparts. Purchases that the government considers ill advised may also be unwound. That may include the SkyBridge deal, which has just lost whatever political side benefits it may once have offered.	尽管作出这样的否认,安邦及其他三个公司逾 120 亿美元的未完成交易现在都是阴云压顶。政府认为欠考虑的那些收购案可能也会遭到清理。其中可能包括天桥资本的交易,它就算有过任何政治好处,现在都已经丧失了。
It is unclear how aggressive Beijing plans to be. Making Anbang unwind its overseas portfolio in a hurry would necessitate a huge fire sale. Wanda's offshore properties that rely on cheap Chinese refinancing might also be put on the block.	现在还不清楚北京的计划有多严。安邦要在匆忙之中削减海外投资项目,就需要减价销售大量资产。万达依靠中国低成本的再融资获得的海外财产,也可能被拍卖。
But so far the campaign seems selective. Even as Anbang and Wanda squirm, HNA is still trying to close deals, including one for Rio de Janeiro's airport. Fosun also is still active, announcing plans to buy a French margarine maker.	但到目前为止,这个行动似乎是有选择性的。就在安邦和万达惴惴不安的时候,海航还在试图完成交易,其中一宗涉及里约热内卢的机场。复星也仍然很活跃,宣布计划收购法国的一家人造黄油制造商。
Even so, holding on to trophies that leave executives vulnerable to political attack will make them uncomfortable. Their doors will be open to reasonable offers.	即使如此,如果持有某些资产会让管理层容易在政治上遭受攻击,他们也会因此感到不自在。因此他们会对合理的收购提议敞开大门。

Debt-Ridden Chinese Giant Now a Shadow of Its Former Size	今非昔比，万达帝国疆域大幅缩水
WUHAN, China — The Han Show here in central China was supposed to turn the city of Wuhan into a leading tourist destination, with a dazzling spectacle of lights, water jets and acrobats by the former creative director of Cirque du Soleil. But the custom-built 2,000-seat theater is seldom even half full despite deeply discounted tickets.	中国武汉——中国中部城市武汉有个汉秀剧场，由太阳马戏团的前创意总监设计的灯光、喷水和杂技表演向观众呈现出一派耀眼景象，本来是打算将武汉变成一个主要的旅游目的地。但是，尽管门票打折优惠幅度很大，这座专门定制的 2000 座剧院上座率过半的情况却很少见。
Nearby stands an enormous, elegant building, with yellow undulating walls reminiscent of Frank Gehry's Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao, Spain. The complex, which housed motion-simulator rides meant to instill a love of Chinese films, closed a year ago for lack of visitors.	剧场附近有一座优雅的优雅建筑，黄色墙壁曲线起伏，让人联想起弗兰克·盖里(Frank Gehry)在西班牙毕尔巴鄂设计的古根海姆博物馆。这座建筑里提供各种运动模拟器游乐设施，向游客灌输对中国电影的热爱，一年前由于缺少游客而关闭。
The Wanda Reign Hotel was supposed to be the first "seven star" luxury hotel in central China, with towering reception walls clad in jade. Now rooms rent for $160 a night, a cut-rate price at which the hotel still struggles to find takers.	武汉万达瑞华酒店本应是中国中部第一家七星级豪华酒店，高耸的前台后壁上覆盖着玉。目前该酒店房价为每晚 160 美元（约合人民币 1000 元），这已经是折扣后的价格，但能接受这个价格的人依旧不多。
The buildings here are among the few left in the once vast collection of the Dalian Wanda Group — a high-priced reminder of the rapidly changing fortunes of many Chinese conglomerates.	大连万达集团曾经拥有大量物业，这些建筑就是其中一部分，它们以高昂的代价提醒大家，很多中国企业集团的财富正在迅速发生变化。
Wanda rode China's ever-rising rivers of debt and political connections to become one of the country's largest real estate and entertainment conglomerates. Theme parks were central to the strategic vision of its billionaire founder, Wang Jianlin, to diversify beyond the company's roots developing apartment towers, office blocks and shopping malls.	万达利用中国不断增长的债务和政治联系，发展成为全国最大的房地产和娱乐集团之一。主题公园是万达创始人、亿万富翁王健林战略愿景的核心，万达以开发高层公寓、办公楼和商场起家，王健林希望实现业务多元化。
But most of Wanda's empire is being dismantled, as the company faces pressure to pay off its debt. The government is increasing its scrutiny of prolific dealmakers like Wanda that depended heavily on loans from	由于面临偿债压力，万达帝国正在将绝大部分资产剥离。政府正在加紧对万达这样的多产交易者进行审查，因为它们的交易行为严重依赖国有银行的贷款，政府担心会对金融体系和经济增长构成威胁。

state-controlled banks, concerned that they pose a threat to the financial system and economic growth.
Wanda's hastily reworked deal last month to sell a portfolio of theme parks and hotels shows the extent of the retreat. With the sale, the company will also liquidate most of its real estate holdings.	万达上个月匆忙地改动了一个主题公园和酒店的交易，显示了其后退的程度。万达销售这些资产之后，还将清算它持有的大部分房地产。
Wanda's $6.5 billion sale of 13 theme parks to Sunac includes vast real estate projects in various stages of development. The properties, when completed, will comprise 635 million square feet of floor space. By comparison, all of Manhattan has 500 million square feet of office space.	万达以 65 亿美元的价格将 13 个主题公园出售给了融创中国，其中包括处于不同开发阶段的大量房地产开发项目。这些物业完工后，建筑面积将达到 6.35 亿平方英尺（约合 5899 万平方米）。做个比较，曼哈顿的办公楼建筑面积总共只有 5 亿平方英尺（约合 4645 万平方米）。
The conglomerate also off-loaded 77 hotels to R & F Properties at fire sale prices. At $3 billion, the deal represents a 40 percent discount to the net asset value at which Wanda was carrying the hotels on its books.	万达还把 77 家酒店折价卖给了富力地产。这笔交易价值 30 亿美元，相当于万达账本上这些酒店净资产打了个六折。
Wanda is now a much slimmed down version of itself. The conglomerate is keeping a large ski resort and 10 hotels in northeastern China on the border with North Korea, as well as four other hotels, including a Sofitel next to its Beijing headquarters and the Wanda Reign here in Wuhan. Wanda owns about 180 shopping malls scattered across China and manages 30 more. Wanda also retains AMC Entertainment, the world's largest operator of movie theaters, and a struggling 300-employee Hollywood studio.	相对于之前的万达，现在它的规模已大幅精简。该集团目前在中国东北部朝鲜附近拥有一个大型滑雪度假村和 10 家酒店，另外还有 4 家酒店，其中包括万达北京总部附近的索菲特酒店，以及武汉万达瑞华酒店。万达在中国各地拥有 180 多个购物中心，经营管理着其中的 30 多家。万达旗下现在还有世界上最大的连锁影院 AMC 娱乐，以及一个陷入困境的、拥有 300 名员工的好莱坞制片公司。
By dumping much of its real estate, Wanda is pursuing what the founder describes as an "asset-light" strategy, after the government's recent policy discouraging overseas investments and heavy borrowing.	政府最近采取不鼓励海外投资和大量借款的政策之后，万达通过低价出售大部分房地产项目，贯彻其创始人所说的“轻资产”战略。万达放弃那些需要大额贷款的物业，希望尝试通过经营管理酒店、主题公园和商场来赚钱。

Rather than owning properties that require big loans, it will try to make money by managing hotels, theme parks and shopping malls.
As part of the deal with Sunac, Wanda will get almost $100 million annually for the next 20 years to manage all 13 projects. Its main business will be building shopping malls for other investors and managing them, in exchange for about 30 percent of each location's revenues.	作为与融创中国交易的一部分,万达将在未来 20 年里管理所有这 13 个主题公园, 每年差不多入账 1 亿美元。万达的主要业务将变成其他投资者修建购物中心并进行管理, 以换取每个商场营收的大约 30%。
That represents a hope that many Chinese will keep shopping at malls, when the popularity of e-commerce is soaring instead. But Mr. Wang, once one of the wealthiest men in Asia, dismissed that worry.	这意味着, 他们希望很多中国人会在电子商务飙升之际继续去商场购物。但是, 曾经是亚洲最大富豪之一的王健林对这个担心不以为然。
"E-commerce will never substitute for real shops," he said in a written reply to questions. "The real economy has come into an era in which it needs to be transformed and upgraded."	"电商永远不会取代实体店,"他在书面回答问题时说。"实体经济已经进入了需要转型升级的时代。"
Mr. Wang initially modeled Wanda after the Walt Disney Company, which acquired nearly 40 square miles near Orlando, Fla., and built hotels and planned communities around theme parks. Mr. Wang, a former army officer with political connections, persuaded 13 second-tier cities around China to hand him vast plots of land at low cost.	王健林最初是以华特迪士尼公司(Walt Disney Company)公司为模版经营万达的,迪士尼在佛罗里达州奥兰多附近购买了近 40 平方英里(约合 10360 公顷)的土地,并在主题公园周围建起了酒店和精心规划的居民区。王健林曾是一名军官,有政治人脉,他说服中国各地的 13 个二线城市,以低廉的价格卖给他大量土地。
In Nanchang, in southeastern China, Wanda built the highest and fastest roller coaster in China. In Xishuangbanna, in southwestern China, Wanda built a vast "science and technology theater" with a roof shaped like an enormous golden palm leaf.	在中国东南部的南昌,万达修建了中国最高、最快的过山车。在西南城市西双版纳,万达修建了一座大型科技剧场,其屋顶形状像一片巨大的金色棕榈叶。
Wanda planned an entire city on the Chinese coast at Qingdao. It even built a movie studio there, drawing stars like Nicole Kidman, John	万达曾计划在中国沿海的青岛修建一整座城市。它甚至在那里修建一个电影基地,四年前开业的时候,有妮可·基德曼(Nicole Kidman)、约翰·特拉沃尔

Travolta, Leonardo DiCaprio, Zhang Ziyi and others to its opening four years ago.	塔(John Travolta)、莱昂纳多·迪卡普里奥(Leonardo DiCaprio)、章子怡等明星前往捧场。
When Disney opened a theme park in Shanghai, Mr. Wang promised to defeat the American entertainment giant.	迪士尼在上海的主题公园开业时，王健林曾承诺要打败这个美国娱乐巨头。
Much of his empire, now being sold off, remains half finished. Only four of the 13 theme parks have opened; the others are still under construction, along with the apartment towers around them. Wanda and Sunac are still negotiating over whether that movie studio will be included in the deal.	虽然万达帝国的大部分物业现在被卖掉了，但仍然没有完工。13个主题公园中只有四个已经开业；其他的仍在建设中，其周围的高层公寓楼也还未完工。万达和融创中国仍在谈判是否要把那个电影基地纳入交易中。
The project at Wuhan, which holds the main real estate left in the portfolio, is in better shape.	武汉的这个项目发展得比较好，是万达剩下资产中的房地产重头戏。
The company poured more than $7 billion into the city over the last decade, building a mile-long street of stores and restaurants flanked by apartment buildings and office towers. Wanda moved in early, before most developers realized that the city would evolve from basic steel-making into one of the biggest auto manufacturing hubs in China.	在过去十年间，该公司在武汉市投入了逾70亿美元，建造了一条超过一公里长的商业美食街，两侧是公寓楼和办公楼。万达进入武汉比较早，它比大多数开发商都更早地意识到，这个城市将从一个基本的钢铁城市转变为中国最大的汽车制造中心之一。
Wuhan handed over for redevelopment a big chunk of downtown that previously had many state-owned dormitories. Almost every other city granted large plots of outlying land to Wanda.	武汉把一大片市区交给万达拆迁重建，那里之前有很多国有宿舍。而其他的几乎每一个城市，都将大片的外围地块交给了万达。
Unlike elsewhere, essentially all of Wanda's construction here is done. Approximately half the apartments have already been sold in a booming local market.	和其他地方不同，万达在这里的建设基本上已经全部完成。近半数的公寓已在当地繁荣的市场上售出。
Real estate agents here said that the luxurious apartments sold for twice as much per square foot as other apartments in Wuhan. It likely means Wanda was able pay off much or all of the debt associated with the	这里的房产中介表示，万达豪华公寓每平米的售价是武汉其他公寓的近两倍。那很可能意味着，万达能够支付与该项目相关的很多或全部债务，剩余公寓的销售能让它获得巨额利润。

Wanda declined to comment.	万达拒绝置评。
But Wuhan also shows why Wanda will not be a major challenger to Disney.	不过，武汉也表明了为什么万达不会是迪士尼的主要挑战者。
The Wanda Movie Park, a huge indoor theme park near the heart of Wuhan, closed just 19 months after opening. Attendance was anemic. A dozen ticket windows, all shuttered, still list entrance prices. The going rate was steep: $35 for an adult, several days' wages for a blue-collar worker in this city.	武汉市中心附近的庞大室内主题公园万达电影乐园开业仅 19 个月后关闭。参观者数量很少。十几个售票窗口全部关闭，门票价格还显示在上面。价格很高：成人每人 35 美元，相当于这座城市蓝领工人几天的工资。
Local residents complained that the six activity areas in the park, with names like Star Journey, Ultimate Energy and Power of Nature, weren't worth the price. They consisted largely of sitting in motion-simulator chairs or walking through mock-ups of sets designed to promote Wanda's movies.	当地居民抱怨称，公园的六个活动区不值这个价——活动区包括星际旅行、终极能量和自然威力等。活动主要是坐在运动模拟椅上，或穿过为宣传万达电影而设计的模拟场景。
Wanda has so enthusiastically followed Beijing's message of instilling national pride that other attractions sometimes verged on propaganda. The show at the 2,000-seat theater, by the former director of Cirque du Soleil, Franco Dragone, is supposed to combine acrobatic stunts and artistic pageantry with the heritage of China's Han ethnic majority. Even Mr. Wang's son complained on social media that the Han Show was incomprehensible.	万达还热情响应了北京弘扬民族自豪感的号召，导致有些景点接近政治宣传。在有 2000 个座位的剧场进行的表演是前太阳马戏团(Cirque du Soleil)总监佛朗哥·德拉贡(Franco Dragone)设计的，意在把杂技和艺术性的华美场面与中国主要民族汉族的传统相结合。甚至连王健林的儿子也在社交媒体上抱怨看不懂“汉秀”。
Dalian Wanda has said that it will redesign the activities here and reopen the park. But there was little sign of activity during a recent visit.	大连万达称，它将重新设计这里的活动，再次开放该乐园。但是在前不久的访问中，没有看到任何活动的迹象。

Trump Administration Is Said to Open Broad Inquiry Into China's Trade Practices	特朗普政府拟对中国发起贸易调查
WASHINGTON — The Trump administration is preparing a broad investigation into China's trade practices, according to people with knowledge of its plans, amid growing worries in the United States over a Chinese government-led effort to make the country a global leader in microchips, electric cars and other crucial technologies of the future.	华盛顿——知情人士透露，特朗普政府正准备对中国的贸易做法进行大规模调查。此举的背景是，中国政府竭力推动本国成为微型芯片、电动汽车以及未来的其他关键技术领域的全球领导者，从而引得美国越来越感到忧虑。
The move, which could come in the next several days, signals a shift by the administration away from its emphasis on greater cooperation between Washington and Beijing, in part because administration officials have become frustrated by China's reluctance to confront North Korea over its nuclear and ballistic missile programs.	这一可能会在未来几天内浮出水面的举措意味着，一直力促华盛顿和北京加强合作的特朗普政府改弦更张，部分原因在于中国不愿就朝鲜的核项目及弹道导弹项目与其对抗，让特朗普政府的官员感到沮丧。
The two sides have also struggled in trade negotiations despite claiming modest progress earlier this year, while American companies have complained they face pressure to share trade secrets with Chinese partners.	中美双方的贸易谈判也颇为艰难，尽管它们在今年早些时候宣称取得了些许进展；美国公司则一直抱怨说，自己面临着与中国合作伙伴分享商业机密的压力。
The investigation will focus on alleged Chinese violations of American intellectual property, according to three people with a detailed knowledge of the administration's plans. The people spoke on condition of anonymity because the deliberations are not yet public.	三名对特朗普政府的计划有着详细了解的人士称，调查将以所谓的中国侵犯美国的知识产权为重点。由于相关讨论尚未公开，三人要求匿名。

Under the process that the Trump administration plans to set in motion, the office of the United States Trade Representative will start an investigation into China's trade practice. Following an investigation, which could be completed in as little as a few months, the United States could impose steep tariffs on imports, rescind licenses or take other measures in response to other countries' burdensome or unfair restrictions on American commerce. The process is known as a Section 301 investigation, citing a section of the 1974 Trade Act.	在特朗普政府计划开启的进程中，美国贸易代表办公室将就中国的贸易做法展开调查。调查也许只用几个月便可完成，随后，美国可能会征收极高的进口关税、取消许可证，或者采取其他措施，以回应其他国家对美国商业实施的难于负担或不公平的限制。这一进程被称为 301 条款调查，援引的是 1974 年《贸易法》(Trade Act) 中的条款。

As Washington Tries to Protect Tech, China Could Fight Back	中美贸易交锋，华盛顿火力有限
WASHINGTON — As the Trump administration moves to take on China over intellectual property, Washington will find it has limited firepower. Beijing has a strong grip on American technology companies, and global trade rules could favor China.	华盛顿——随着特朗普政府着手在知识产权问题上剑指中国，华盛顿会发现自己其实火力有限。北京牢牢控制着美国的科技企业，并且国际贸易规则可能也会偏向中国。
Technology is proving a major battleground for China and the United States, as both sides vie to protect their economic and national security interests.	科技证明是中美两国的主战场，双方都争相保护自己的经济和国家安全利益。
Beijing has forced a long list of American companies to enter joint ventures or share research with Chinese players, part of a broader push to create its own technology giants. From makers of smartphones to chips to electric cars, American businesses have reluctantly agreed, fearful of losing access to China, which has the second-largest economy in the world.	北京逼迫一大批美国公司在中国成立合资企业或分享研究成果，这是中国打造科技巨头整体行动的一部分。从智能手机到芯片再到电动汽车厂商，美国企业作出了让步，因为它们担心被全球第二大经济体拒之门外。
China's ambitions have set off alarms in Washington, with concerns on both sides of the aisle. Robert E. Lighthizer, the United States trade	中国的野心引起了华盛顿的警惕，两党均为此感到担忧。据知情人士透露，美国贸易代表罗伯特·莱特希泽(Robert Lighthizer)正在准备指控中国大范围

representative, is now preparing a trade case accusing China of extensive violations of intellectual property, according to people with detailed knowledge of the case.	侵犯知识产权的贸易案。
But China can play a strong defense. The country has broad latitude, under special rules it negotiated with the World Trade Organization, to maintain restrictions within its market.	但中国可以进行有力辩护。根据它通过谈判与世界贸易组织（World Trade Organization, 简称 WTO）达成的规定，中国享有广泛的自由度，可保留自己市场内部的限制措施。
“The problem is that U.S. trade negotiators agreed to provisions allowing China to limit market access for U.S. companies unless they engaged in joint ventures,” said Michael R. Wessel, a member of the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission, which Congress created to monitor the relationship between the two countries.	“问题在于，美国的贸易谈判代表同意了相关条款，允许中国限制美国公司进入市场，除非它们参与创办合资企业，”在国会为监测两国关系而成立的美中经济安全审查委员会(United States-China Economic and Security Review Commission)任职的迈克尔·R·韦赛尔(Michael R. Wessel)说。
“Potential Chinese partners demand the family jewels,” he said. “Companies can say no, but too many give in to Chinese pressure to make a quick buck.”	“潜在的中国合作伙伴要求拿出传家宝，”他说。“公司可以拒绝，但太多公司屈服于中国的压力，迅速捞一笔钱。”
The current trade frictions trace back to the Clinton administration.	当前的贸易摩擦可追溯至克林顿政府。
When China was entering the W.T.O. in 1999 and 2000, American negotiators gave Beijing some leeway, a position later supported by the administration of George W. Bush. As a developing country, China was allowed extra protections, such as requirements that companies in critical industries work with Chinese partners. China, in return, promised to shed the extra rules gradually as its economy matured.	中国在 1999 年和 2000 年加入 WTO 时，美方谈判代表给北京留了一些余地。后来，这种态度得到了乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)政府的支持。作为一个发展中国家，中国享有额外的保护，比如要求重要行业的企业要与中方伙伴合作。作为回报，中国承诺会随着经济的成熟而取消额外的规定。
But Beijing did not open up, even as China evolved into an economic powerhouse. Quite the opposite has happened under President Xi Jinping, who has pursued a more nationalistic agenda than his	但北京并没有开放，即便中国已经成了一个经济大国。并且中国国家主席习近平上台后的情况恰恰相反，他推行的议程，比他致力于改革的前任们更具民族主义色彩。 reform-minded predecessors.

China now sees the technology sector as a critical piece of its industrial policy – a policy that Beijing is aggressively enlisting American tech giants to support and that the leadership will most likely go all out to protect.	中国现在视科技领域为其工业政策的重要组成部分。北京正在极力争取美国科技巨头支持该政策，并且领导人极有可能全力以赴地保护该政策。
Beijing's demands have been partly driven by security concerns, particularly after disclosures by Edward J. Snowden, the former National Security Agency contractor, of electronic spying by the United States on China's rapid military buildup.	北京的要求部分是出于对安全的担忧，尤其是在前美国国家安全局(National Security Agency)承包商雇员爱德华·J·斯诺登(Edward J. Snowden)泄露美国对中国快速的军事建设开展电子间谍活动后。
China has also been explicit about its economic motives, seeking to dominate fast-growing global industries that could create millions of well-paid jobs for a generation of increasingly well-educated young Chinese.	中国对自己的经济动机也直言不讳，寻求主导全球发展迅速的行业。这些行业可能会为受教育水平越来越高的一代中国年轻人创造数以百万计的高薪工作机会。
In several cases, China's strategy to control technology approaches the kind of oversight most countries reserve for industries serving the military or government.	有时候，中国控制技术的战略，接近于大部分国家对服务于军队或政府的行业的那种监管。
New Chinese rules often force foreign tech companies into partnerships with local companies – in part to gain expertise, in part to assert control. Other guidance from the government has indicated that companies must invest more in China to continue to have access to the market. Apple has opened research and development centers in the country as part of a new charm campaign.	中国新出台的规定往往逼迫外国科技公司与本国企业合作。这部分是为了获取专业技术，部分是为了进行控制。政府的其他引导表明，公司必须增加在华投资，才能继续留在中国市场。苹果已在中国设立研发中心，作为其新的示好运动的一部分。
In the chip sector, a major initiative intended to lift Chinese capabilities has drafted America's biggest makers of the electronic brains that run everything from smartphones to driverless cars. Over the past four	在芯片行业，一项意在提升中国实力的重要计划招募到了美国最大的那些计算机厂商，涉及各个领域，从智能手机到无人驾驶汽车。过去四年里，美国最大的那些芯片公司进入了一个令它们感到困惑的合作网络。这些合作不同

years, America's largest chip companies have entered into a dizzying network of partnerships unlike anything they have anywhere else.	于它们在其他任何地方展开的合作。
Qualcomm works with a company in southwest China to develop server chips. In 2014, Intel signed agreements with two Chinese chip makers, Spreadtrum and Rockchip, to give it a leg up in the market for China's smartphones and tablets. Last year, Intel agreed to a partnership with the influential Tsinghua University in China as part of a bid to make server chips that match local specifications.	高通(Qualcomm)与中国西南部的一家公司合作开发服务器芯片。2014年,英特尔(Intel)与中国的两家芯片生产商展讯和瑞芯微签署协议,让它在中国的智能手机和平板电脑市场占了上风。去年,英特尔同意与在中国影响力颇大的清华大学合作,作为其为生产符合当地规格的服务器芯片而展开的努力的一部分。
IBM and Advanced Micro Devices have both licensed chip technology to Chinese partners with ties to China's military. GlobalFoundries, a California-based company, joined forces with a local government in central China to build a $10 billion chip manufacturing plant there.	IBM 和超威半导体公司(Advanced Micro Devices, 简称 AMD)均把芯片技术授权给了与中国军方有关系的中国合作伙伴。总部设在加利福尼亚州的 GlobalFoundries 与中国腹地中的一个地方政府合作,在那里修建一座投资 100 亿美元(约合 670 亿元人民币)的芯片制造厂。
American technology companies can find themselves at a serious disadvantage in China unless they agree to cooperate with government-linked Chinese businesses.	除非同意与和政府有关系的中国企业合作,否则美国科技企业可能会发现自己在在中国处于严重不利的地位。
Take cloud computing, the fast-growing business of leasing computer power to companies. Chinese laws require foreign companies to join with local partners and allow them only a minority stake. International businesses are also blocked from branding such services under their own names.	以增长迅速的云计算——向公司出租计算能力的业务——为例。中国的法律要求外国公司与当地公司合作,并且只允许它们持有少数股份。跨国企业还被禁止用自己的名字给这类服务命名。
Both Microsoft and Amazon, dominant forces in cloud computing in the United States, have local partnerships in China. By contrast, China's e-commerce giant Alibaba operates two data centers in the United States without any partner.	美国云计算领域的主导力量微软(Microsoft)和亚马逊(Amazon)在中国都有当地的合作伙伴。相比之下,中国电商巨头阿里巴巴在美国有两个数据中心,但没有任何合作伙伴。
Another rule calls for data about Chinese consumers or business	另一项规定要求把有关中国消费者或企业经营活动的数据存储在中国。苹果

Against that backdrop, the call for trade action is attracting bipartisan support.	在此背景下，在贸易上采取行动的呼吁得到了两党的支持。
Senator Ron Wyden of Oregon, the ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, which handles trade issues, met with Mr. Lighthizer Wednesday morning and gave him a letter supporting a challenge to Chinese policies. China can make its own play under global trade rules. Beijing can quickly demand binding arbitration — and could have a good chance of winning. China was allowed into the W.T.O. with very few limits on its ability to regulate services or foreign investment, two categories in which China was fairly weak when it entered the organization in 2001.	中国可以根据国际贸易规则采取自己的行动。北京可以迅速要求进行强制性仲裁，并且可能很有希望胜诉。2001年获准加入WTO时，因为服务和外国投资这两个领域相当薄弱，中国对这两个领域的监管能力几乎未受限制。
If China did win a W.T.O. case, it would then have the right to restrict American exports to the same extent that the United States restricts Chinese imports.	如果真的在WTO的申诉中获胜，中国将有权根据美国对从中国进口的商品的限制程度，限制美国出口的商品。
China consistently exports four times as much to the United States as it imports. Even so, China could penalize American companies like Apple and Starbucks that have very large operations that produce and sell in China with minimal imports from the United States.	中国面向美国的出口始终是进口的四倍。即便如此，中国仍能惩罚像苹果和星巴克(Starbucks)这种在中国的业务量非常大、生产和销售都在中国进行、从美国进口的东西非常少的美国公司。

They said in a statement that they would establish a task force to share information and work with law enforcement to protect Kering's brands. The resolution is a victory for Alibaba, which has been on a charm offensive outside China. The company's founder, Jack Ma, hosted a conference in Detroit this year as part of efforts to enlist more American vendors for its platforms. Mr. Ma has also met with President Trump.	争端的解决对阿里巴巴来说是一个胜利，阿里一直在国外展开魅力攻势。作为把更多美国供应商招募到阿里平台上的努力的一部分，公司创始人马云今年曾在底特律主持了一次会议。当时马云还见到了特朗普总统。

The company had itself removed from the list four years ago, but was then added back last year. It also filed a short-lived lawsuit against Alibaba in 2014.	四年前，阿里曾让自己的名字被拿出名单，但去年又被列入其中。2015年，开云集团对阿里巴巴及其金融分支蚂蚁金服提起诉讼，称其网站上普遍存在假冒商品。开云也在2014年对阿里巴巴提起过诉讼，但很快就撤诉了。
Unlike Amazon, much of Alibaba’s e-commerce site is dominated by marketplaces run by third-party vendors. The company has argued that it can be tricky to perfectly police such a bewildering number of small online shops, selling all manner of goods. Its situation is also made difficult by the widespread prevalence of fake goods in China more generally.	与亚马逊不同，阿里巴巴的电子商务平台主要由第三方销售商经营的市场主导。阿里一直在为自己辩护，称很难完美地维护这样的平台，因为在上面对销售各种商品的网上小商家的数量多到令人眼花缭乱。阿里的情况也因假货在中国大量存在的普遍现象而变得更加困难。
Alibaba has said it is using increasingly sophisticated technology, including artificial intelligence, to track down fakes. In a report submitted to the United States trade representative last year, the Chinese company said that its systems could scan 10 million product listings a day. These checks had led it to take down 380 million suspect listings, it said, in a 12-month period.	阿里巴巴表示，它正在使用越来越先进的技术、包括人工智能来追查假货。阿里在去年向美国贸易代表提交的一份报告中说，公司的系统每天可审查1000万个商品目录。公司说，这些审查在12个月的时间里总共致使3.8亿个可疑商品下架。

Q & A: Liu Heung Shing on Photographing Tiananmen	美联社记者用镜头记录的六四

The Hong Kong-born photojournalist Liu Heung Shing, who shared a 1992 Pulitzer Prize for documenting an attempted coup in Russia, now lives in Beijing, where he devotes most of his time to organizing photo exhibitions and editing books on historical photos of China. His own photos from China are themselves an archive of the country's astounding changes since the death of Mao Zedong. His images for Time magazine and The Associated Press in China in the late 1970s and early 1980s have been collected in "China After Mao."	香港出生的美籍摄影师刘香成因为在俄罗斯拍摄了一起未遂政变而和他人共享了 1992 年的普利策奖(Pulitzer Prize), 他现居北京。在那里, 他把大部分时间都用于组织摄影展和编辑中国历史照片书籍了。他在中国拍摄的照片, 本身就是一个档案库, 记录了自毛泽东逝世后, 中国发生的惊人变化。他在上世纪 70 年代末和 80 年代初为《时代》周刊(Time)和美联社 (Associated Press)拍摄的图片已收录成集, 名为《毛泽东之后的中国》(China After Mao)。
But the most intense moments of his China career came later, when, on assignment for The A.P., he was a witness to the Tiananmen Square protests in 1989. He was in Beijing on June 3 and 4, when soldiers of the People's Liberation Army, under orders from Deng Xiaoping, shot and killed hundreds, possibly thousands, of civilians.	不过, 他的中国职业经历中最紧张的时刻, 出现在他后来接受的美联社的一个任务里, 彼时他是 1989 年天安门广场抗议事件的目击者。那年的 6 月 3 日和 4 日, 他就在北京, 当时, 邓小平一声令下, 中国人民解放军枪杀了数百名, 也许是数千名平民。
In his home office, less than a mile north of the center of that violence, Mr. Liu has hanging on a wall two iconic photographs from that period: one of a young couple sitting on a bicycle beneath an overpass on which tanks are rolling, which Mr. Liu shot the day after the killings; and another of "Tank Man," which Mr. Liu's colleague Jeff Widener shot from the Beijing Hotel the same day. In an interview, Mr. Liu discussed working in Beijing during spring 1989. Excerpts follow:	他的家庭办公室位于那场暴力活动的中心以北不到一英里(约 1.6 公里)处。刘香成在墙上挂着那段时期拍摄的两幅标志性作品, 一幅是一对年轻男女坐在立交桥下的自行车上, 桥上滚动的坦克, 这幅作品是刘香成在杀戮后的第二天拍摄的; 另一幅作品是“坦克人”, 他是刘香成的同事杰夫·怀德纳(Jeff Widener)于同日从北京贵宾楼饭店往外拍摄所得的。在一次采访中, 刘香成讨论了 1989 年春天时, 他在北京的工作情况。以下为采访节选:
Q. You were in the A.P. bureau in Seoul when the Tiananmen protests began unfolding. The A.P. sent you back to Beijing. What were your impressions, and was there any sense that things might turn as tragic as they did?	问: 当天安门抗议开始掀起时, 你正在美联社驻首尔分社。美联社派你回到北京。你的印象是什么, 你有没有任何事情可能会演变成一出悲剧的感觉, 就像后来发生的那样?
A. When I saw the news that the Chinese students were camping out in	答: 当我看到中国学生在天安门广场扎营的消息, 我就想起了 1978 年那场

Tiananmen Square, I was reminded of the story of the short-lived Democracy Wall in 1978. The scenes from Beijing in 1989 were familiar, although the crowds were much bigger than a decade earlier. I was surprised that the staffs of official media like People's Daily, Guangming Daily and Xinhua News Agency had decided to join the gatherings by Chang'an Ave.	短暂的民主墙运动。1989年，北京出现了类似的场景，不过人群的聚集规模比十年前要大得多。我对《人民日报》、《光明日报》、新华社等官方媒体的员工决定加入长安街的集会队伍感到惊讶。
Shooting those events was similar to the process of covering Democracy Wall, where I would go daily to check if a new wall poster had gone up – this was on a strip of wall next to a public bus depot on the west side of Chang'an Ave. In mid-May of 1989, when I returned to Beijing, I would visit Tiananmen Square several times a day, photographing the essentially peaceful gathering of the students who lived in the public buses that had been commandeered for the square. There, they cooked noodles and dumplings and passed the time singing and dancing. The students copied each other's poetry, which was pasted on the Monument to the People's Heroes. At times, students would show placards demanding rights for China similar to the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.	拍摄这些事件和报道民主墙的过程类似，报道民主墙时，我会每天查看墙上是否贴出了的新的的大字报——当时的大字报贴在长安街西边一座公交总站旁的围墙上。1989年5月中旬回京后，我每天都会去几趟天安门广场，拍摄大体上一片和平的学生集会，他们住在广场上已被征用的公交车里。在那里下面条、煮饺子，唱歌跳舞打发时光。学生们互相摘抄彼此的诗作，这些诗作都贴在人民英雄纪念碑上。有时，学生们会打出标语，要求中国普及类似于美国宪法第一修正案(First Amendment)中的权利。
It reminded me that shortly after Mao died in 1976, there was a fresh air of openness, and Chinese and foreign students would hang out in Yuanmingyuan, the Old Summer Palace, almost like a Chinese mini-version of Woodstock. Until the students of the Central Fine Arts Academy put up the "statue of liberty" in the square, facing down the official portrait of Mao, I never thought it would turn violent.	这些场景让我回想起毛泽东1976年逝世不久后的那段时期，当时处处都是开放的新氛围，中外学生结伴在圆明园遗址公园游玩，几乎就像是迷你版的中国式伍德斯托克音乐节(Woodstock)。在中央美术学院的学生把“民主女神像”放到天安门广场正对毛泽东官方肖像的位置之前，我从未想过，此事会演变成暴力事件。

violence that began on June 3, what scenes were photographers most excited about working?	影师激动的场景是什么?
A. We had several photographers covering the event: Sadayuki Mikami from our Tokyo bureau, Beijing photographer Mark Avery, Jeff Widener from Bangkok and myself from Seoul. Eventually, Vincent Yu from Hong Kong joined us. Jim Palmer, our Tokyo-based Asia photo editor, was directing the coverage. After the unveiling of that statue, called the Goddess of Democracy, Palmer, like quite a few Western photographers, decided to go home. I didn't feel it was the right time to leave, as from my experience China would eventually remove the statue, which was a symbol of the French Revolution. Mao and Tiananmen Square were the symbols of Chinese Communism. It was not exactly a perfect match. While the print journalists were busy reporting on troop convoys being stopped by workers and Beijing residents, photographers were capturing the lives and activities of the students, as well as the troop movements. After Palmer left for Tokyo, our New York photo chief Hal Buell called and asked me to take over the editing. I said I would rather continue shooting photographs. He suggested that I do both.	答：我们几个摄影师一起报道这一事件：东京分社的 Sadayuki Mikami（贞行三上，音译），驻北京的摄影师马克·埃弗里(Mark Avery)，来自曼谷的杰夫·怀德纳(Jeff Widener)，以及我自己。最后，香港的余伟建(Vincent Yu)也加入了我们。驻东京的亚洲摄影编辑吉姆·帕尔默(Jim Palmer)指挥我们进行报道。民主女神像揭幕之后，帕尔默像很多西方摄影师一样，决定回去。我却觉得还不是离开的时候，根据我的经验，中国最终会移除这尊象征法国大革命的雕像。毕竟毛泽东和天安门广场是中国共产主义的标志，与之不甚匹配。报刊记者当时忙着报道军队遭到工人及北京居民阻拦的消息，而摄影师则在拍摄学生的生活和活动场景，以及军队的行动。帕尔默启程回东京后，纽约的摄影主编哈尔·比尔(Hal Buell)打电话来，让我接管编辑事宜。我说，我宁愿继续拍照。他说我可以同时做这两件事。
Q. What were the greatest difficulties in working as a photographer for an American news agency during those days?	问：在那段日子里，作为一个美国新闻机构的摄影师，你遇到的最大困难是什么？
A. For myself and Vincent Yu, who are both ethnic Chinese, we were particularly vulnerable when martial law was declared. Though we could blend in with the crowds, we stood out like a sore thumb when seen with our cameras. I remember the stares from the P.L.A. soldiers	答：我和余伟建都是华裔，宣布进行戒严时，我们特别危险。虽然我们可以混在人群中，但我们带着照相机，非常显眼。我还记得主干道上手持 AK-47 冲锋枪站岗的解放军士兵盯着我看的场景。

toting AK-47 assault rifles who stood guard along the main roads.
Q. What are your most enduring memories of the night of the massacre?	问：关于屠杀发生的那天夜晚，让你印象最深刻的记忆是什么？
A. For me, it was the next morning when there was shooting on Chang'an Avenue near the street of Nanchizi. I heard rounds of gunfire. I was outside the Beijing Hotel but was too far away to see the actual firing. The thundering of the gunshots left a deep imprint. When I saw pedestrians kneeling on the ground begging rickshaw drivers to go and fetch the wounded, I decided to ride with them. I followed the rickshaws with one hand on the steering bar of my own bicycle, the other hand holding my camera, photographing victims being rushed to the nearby Beijing Xiehe Hospital.	答：我印象最深的是，第二天清晨南池子街道附近的长安街上的枪声。我听到了几轮枪声。我当时在北京饭店外，但距离太远，看不到实际的射击情景。隆隆的枪声给我留下了深刻的印象。当我看到行人跪在地上，乞求三轮车夫去接受伤人员的时候，我决定跟他们同行。我跟着三轮车，一手把着自行车的车把，另一只手举着照相机，给那些被紧急送往附近的北京协和医院的受害者拍照。
Q. You were helping manage photo coverage from the A.P. bureau when your colleague Jeff Widener shot the Tank Man photo from the Beijing Hotel. How did that image make its way from the hotel to the wire? What was the reaction of editors in New York when they saw it?	问：你的同事杰夫·怀德纳从北京饭店拍到坦克人的照片时，你正在美联社分社帮助管理图片报道。那张照片是怎样从北京饭店转送出来发到全世界的呢？纽约的编辑们看到那张照片时，是什么反应？
A. A.P. New York had sent us a message asking for a photo of the square to show the image of the "morning after." I was at the desk, editing and filing photos. As our bureau was near the Beijing Hotel, which had the best vantage point for the square, I asked Jeff Widener to hitch a ride to the hotel with a cyclist. Jeff called in the late morning telling me he thought he had captured a frame of a man standing in front of a row of tanks. He said he wasn't sure how sharp it was. I asked him to separate the film from the camera and find a foreign student as a messenger to bring the film over to me. When an American student with a ponytail	答：美联社纽约总部当时发给我们一条信息，要一张天安门广场“翌日早上”的图片。我当时值班，负责编辑和发照片。因为我们分社就北京饭店附近，北京饭店是观看天安门广场的最佳地点，我就让杰夫·怀德纳搭一辆自行车去饭店。杰夫当天上午晚些时候给我打电话说，他觉得他捕捉到了一个画面，是一个男子站在一排坦克车前。他说，他对照片是否清晰没有把握。我让他把胶卷从相机里取出来，找个外国留学生跑腿给我送过来。当一个扎着马尾辫的美国学生拿着一个美联社的信封出现在我们分社时，我们立即冲洗了胶卷。接下来的你们都知道了。

showed up in our bureau with an A.P. envelope, we immediately processed the film. The rest is history.
As soon as I transmitted the photograph, Jan Wong of The Globe and Mail, the Toronto newspaper, called me from the Beijing Hotel. She said, "Liu, the tanks are moving your way." I rushed to the rooftop of the Jianguomenwai Diplomatic Compound, which I knew well from my earlier stay in Beijing in the 1970s. As soon as I could catch a breath, I saw the tanks turning around over the bridge on the Second Ring Road. That was when I saw and photographed a young couple on a bicycle hiding underneath the bridge.	我刚把那张照片发出去，多伦多报纸《环球邮报》(The Globe and Mail)的 黄明珍(Jan Wong)就从北京饭店给我打来电话。她说，“刘，坦克正在往你那边开。”我马上就冲到建国门外交公寓的楼顶，我以前在 1970 年代住在北京时对这座公寓很熟悉。我爬上楼顶刚喘过气来，就看见坦克在二环路的桥上掉头。就在那个时刻，我看到一对男女坐在自行车上躲在桥下，就把那个画面拍了下来。
I rushed back and filed this photograph. The next day, Lou Boccardi, the president of A.P., sent us a cable referring to the two photographs: "Thank you, A.P. owned the world yesterday," or something like that. We know now that actually four or five photographers captured the Tank Man. The A.P. photograph of that and the one of the couple underneath the tanks were the first highly symbolic images to clear the wire and be delivered to newsrooms worldwide.	我赶紧回到办公室发了这张照片。第二天，美联社社长路易斯·博卡迪(Lou Boccardi)为这两张照片给我们发来电报说：“谢谢你们，昨天美联社拥有整个世界”，或是一句差不多的话。如今我们知道，实际上有 4、5 位摄影师拍到了坦克人的照片。美联社的那张以及躲在坦克下的一对男女的照片是最先发出去的、极具有象征意义的照片，它们被传到了全世界各地的新闻编辑室里。
Q. Can you tell us about other images that you believe best captured the feel of the events?	问：你能给我们说说其他几张你认为最能反映那些事件的照片吗？
Q. How well has the Communist Party done in suppressing these	问：共产党封锁这些照片的努力效果如何？

A. There is no simple answer to this. On the one hand, it seems effective. But when visitors went to the home of Zhao Ziyang [who was purged as party leader for being too lenient to the protesters] to pay tribute to him upon his death, that was an acknowledgment that educated people were quite well informed about what had transpired during the 1989 crackdown. Chinese people have the capacity to behave in a certain way when they know they are powerless to publicly discuss or challenge the official version of events. Privately, many Chinese photographers have shown me photographs taken during the months of May and June of 1989.	答：这个问题没有简单的答案。一方面来说，似乎很有效。但当有人在赵紫阳（曾任国家领导人的赵紫阳因对抗议人群态度过于宽容而被清除）去世后去他家悼念时，一个得到承认的事情是，受过教育的人对1989年镇压时发生了什么还是很清楚的。当他们知道自己无能为力来公开讨论或挑战事件的官方版本时，中国人有以某种方式表达的能力。很多中国摄影师私下都给我看过他们在1989年5月和6月期间拍下的照片。
Q. Is there a point at which you think the historical amnesia in Chinese society will actually lead to more of these images resurfacing, if younger censors do not know the significance of the photos? In 2008, Beijing News ran a profile of you and got in trouble for publishing a photo you had taken of rickshaw drivers transporting young men who had been shot by soldiers on June 4.	问：你认为中国社会的这种历史遗忘症会不会在某个时间导致更多这类照片重新出现，比如更年轻的审查员不知道这些照片的意义？2008年，《新京报》对你做专访后，因为发了一张你拍摄的照片而惹了麻烦，在那张照片上，三轮车师傅在转运6月4日被士兵开枪打伤的年轻人。
A. It will soon be 25 years since the world has seen the coverage of those fateful dates. I didn't send that particular photograph to Beijing News. The photo editor, who was too young to have heard much about 1989, laid out the interview with photographs I had given him. When he discovered that he needed to fill a space, he went online and found another photograph of mine, which he placed in the newspaper thinking, perhaps, that it was a photograph showing the wounded from the 2008 Sichuan earthquake. I have not had an opportunity to meet	答：自从全世界都看到了那些决定命运的日子报道以后，很快就25周年了。我没有把那张具体的照片提供给《新京报》。那个图片编辑太年轻，他对1989年事件知道得很少，他用我给他的照片设计了采访的版面。当他发现有一处空白需要填补时，他上了网，找到了我拍的另一张照片，他把那张照片放到报纸上，也许认为拍的是2008年四川地震时的受伤者。我没有机会单独见到他，从而不能更多地了解他是如何做出那个决定的。中国需要面对新中国1949年以来历史的很多方面，不只是1989年。

China to Send Its First Infantry Troops to U.N. Mission in South Sudan	中国首次派出维和步兵部队前往南苏丹
China's first infantry contribution to a United Nations peacekeeping force will depart for South Sudan in January, the state news media has reported.	中国官方新闻媒体报道, 中国首支参与联合国维和部队的步兵队伍将于明年1月开赴南苏丹。
The move is widely seen as a sign of greater Chinese commitment to United Nations peacekeeping efforts and of Beijing's wishes to step up protection of its commercial interests in the country.	此举被广泛视为既标志着中国对联合国维和行动做出了更大承诺, 也标志着北京希望加强对在南苏丹的商业利益的保护。
The Chinese battalion includes 121 officers and 579 enlisted soldiers, the state-run news agency Xinhua reported on Monday. A first contingent is scheduled to arrive in South Sudan in January, and the rest will follow in March. The battalion will be equipped with drones, antitank missiles and other weapons "completely for self-defense purposes," Xinhua quoted the unit's commander, Wang Zhen, as saying.	官方媒体新华社周一报道, 这个步兵营包括121名军官和579名士兵。先遣人员预定于明年1月抵达南苏丹, 后续部队将于明年3月抵达。新华社援引营长王震的话说, 营中将配备无人机、反坦克火箭和其他一些“完全用于自卫”的武器。
"The 700 Chinese troops will be based in the national capital of Juba" and the surrounding state of Central Equatoria, Joseph Contreras, a spokesman for the United Nations Mission in South Sudan, said in emailed comments on Monday.	周一, 联合国南苏丹特派团发言人约瑟夫·孔特雷拉斯(Joseph Contreras)通过电子邮件发表评论称, “这700名中国军人将部署在首都朱巴”及其周边的中赤道州。
South Sudan remains one of the world's most troubled regions as fighting between the forces of President Salva Kiir and the former vice president, Riek Machar, has killed and displaced thousands of people, as well as threatened the country's economic lifeline, oil.	南苏丹一直是世界上最动荡的地区之一。现任总统萨尔瓦·基尔(Salva Kiir)与前副总统里克·马沙尔(Riek Machar)的部队之间的战斗, 已导致成千上万人死亡或背井离乡, 并且威胁着该国的经济命脉——石油。

Since the outbreak of violence in December 2013, diplomats have pointed to increasingly active Chinese diplomacy to broker a cease-fire. China's Ministry of National Defense first confirmed the planned deployment of the battalion in September. It will reinforce the 10,262 military peacekeepers currently stationed in South Sudan, who include infantry forces from India, Kenya and Ethiopia.	自 2013 年 12 月爆发暴力冲突以来,外交官们将从中斡旋促成停火的希望寄托在了日益积极的中国外交活动上。今年 9 月,中国国防部首次证实,计划在南苏丹部署步兵部队。此举将增强目前驻守在南苏丹的 10,262 名维和军人的力量。当前的维和部队中包括来自印度、肯尼亚和埃塞俄比亚的步兵力量。
Of the dozens of countries that have contributed peacekeeping forces, however, China is the only one with major commercial interests at stake.	然而,在派遣维和部队的几十个国家中,唯有中国在南苏丹拥有重大商业利益。
The state-owned China National Petroleum Corporation, the country's largest oil and gas producer, has invested billions of dollars since the 1990s in what are now South Sudanese oil fields. Before fighting disrupted production, those oil fields provided a rapidly developing China with about 5 percent of its imported oil.	自上世纪 90 年代以来,中国最大的国有油气生产商——中国石油天然气集团公司(简称中石油)——已在现今的南苏丹油田投资了数十亿美元。在生产受到战争影响之前,在经济发展迅猛的中国进口的石油中,大约 5%来自这些油田。
China's concern regarding South Sudan is not energy security per se, "but rather a corporate investment from a major Chinese national oil company in jeopardy," Luke Patey, the author of "The New Kings of Crude: China, India and the Global Struggle for Oil in Sudan and South Sudan," said in an interview.	《新的原油之王:中国、印度及在苏丹和南苏丹的全球石油之争》(The New Kings of Crude: China, India and the Global Struggle for Oil in Sudan and South Sudan)一书的作者卢克·佩蒂(Luke Patey)接受采访时称,中国对南苏丹的关心不是出于能源安全本身,“而更多的是因为中国一家大型国有石油公司的企业投资面临危险。”
"Since the conflict shut down half of its production, now roughly at 160,000 barrels per day, China only receives 1 percent of its oil imports from South Sudan," he said.	“冲突导致一半的石油生产中断,而目前的产量大约是每天 16 万桶。自冲突以来,中国只有 1%的石油进口来自南苏丹,”他说。
The country's main oil fields, and Chinese investments, are concentrated in states north of Central Equatoria, where the battalion is expected to be deployed. However, United Nations peacekeeping	南苏丹的主要油田,以及中国的投资都集中在中赤道州以北的几个州里。中国的部队计划将部署在中赤道州。不过,根据《外交政策》(Foreign Policy)杂志今年夏天的报道,中国在其他几个国家的支持下进行了游说之后,联合

forces in South Sudan do now have a responsibility to protect employees of oil fields, after lobbying from China with support from other countries, the magazine Foreign Policy reported last summer. China also initially wanted peacekeepers to be deployed in the country's northern states, according to the magazine.	国派驻南苏丹的维和部队目前的确肩负着保护油田工作人员的责任。该杂志报道，中国最初还希望维和人员能够部署在该国的北部各州。
In May, the United Nations Security Council changed the mandate of its peacekeeping mission from a focus on nation-building to the protection of civilians and ending civil strife. The new mandate, which has since been extended, included the first "mention of oil industry workers as civilians who might warrant protection" by the force, Mr. Contreras said.	今年5月，联合国安理会把维和行动的职权从专注于国家建设转移到保护平民和终结内乱上。新的职权首次“将石油从业者作为可能理应受到保护的平民来提及”，孔特雷拉斯说。这一职权后来还得到了扩展。
China's deployment of this battalion "runs parallel with its interest in ensuring billions of its oil investments in South Sudan stay out of harm's way," Mr. Patey, the author, said, adding that the South Sudanese government also wants United Nations peacekeepers to protect the country's most vital economic assets.	中国部署这支部队，“符合它确保在南苏丹数以亿计的石油投资安全无虞的利益”，佩蒂说。他又表示，南苏丹政府也希望联合国维和人员保护该国最重要的经济资产。
On Monday, C.N.P.C. announced that it had signed a memorandum of understanding with South Sudan's Ministry of Petroleum and Mining to increase oil production in three oil exploration and production blocks, a move that "further deepens China-South Sudan oil cooperation," the company said.	周一，中石油宣布，已与南苏丹石油矿产部签署合作备忘录，计划在三个石油开采和生产区块增加产量。中石油称，此举“进一步深化了中南石油合作”。
But Mr. Patey said the agreement was "a long-term goal," rather than a concrete plan. It would require "large amounts of investment which undoubtedly will not start to flow into South Sudan until the civil war comes to an end," he said.	不过佩蒂认为，与其说这份协议是具体方案，还不如说是“一项长期目标”。它将要求“进行数额巨大的投资，而毫无疑问的是，除非内战结束，否则这些投资根本不会进入南苏丹”，他说。

China has contributed personnel for United Nations peacekeeping forces since the 1990s, including sending engineering, security and medical personnel to South Sudan. This will be the first time it has sent an infantry battalion, a step its foreign minister has suggested is in line with China's expanding participation in peacekeeping.	中国从上世纪 90 年代开始向联合国维和部队派遣工作人员，包括派往南苏丹的工程、安保和医疗工作者。这将是首次派出步兵营加入维和行动。中国外交部长表示，此举与中国不断扩大参与联合国维和行动的步调是一致的。
In a speech at the United Nations headquarters in New York in September, Foreign Minister Wang Yi spoke of a greater role for China.	今年 9 月，在纽约联合国总部发表演讲时，外交部长王毅曾提到中国将在这方面扮演更大角色。

Where Beijing's Trash Is Reborn	回收场一瞥：北京的碎片在此重生
When The New York Times asked Sim Chi Yin, a photographer based in Beijing, to photograph a story about "beginnings," she started thinking about the outskirts of her city, which she has been exploring for the past year as part of her continuing work on urbanization in China. This week, we are marking the launch of our primary Instagram account, @nytimes, with images of beginnings by seven photographers around the world. The photos by @chiyin_sim were published on the account over the course of the day on Thursday. — Kerri MacDonald	当《纽约时报》请驻北京摄影师沈琦颖(Sim Chi Yin)拍摄一个关于“开始”的故事时，她开始考虑从这座城市的郊区入手——她过去一年一直在市郊采风，作为她的一个持续进行的关于中国城市化的作品的一部分。这周，我们正在庆祝《纽约时报》开通首个 Instagram 账号@nytimes，首批内容为七位世界各地的摄影师拍摄的以“开始”为主题的照片。沈琦颖的照片于周四（本文最初发表于 2015 年 3 月 13 日——编注）一日在此账号上陆续发布。——凯丽·麦克唐纳(Kerri MacDonald)
For the past year, I've been photographing the fringes of Beijing, the areas just beyond the tentacles of one of the world's most extensive subway networks, where the city just meets the countryside.	过去的一年中，我一直在拍摄北京的边缘地带，即那些刚刚超过作为世界上最发达的地铁网络之一的北京地铁的触角触及范围的区域，那城市与乡村的交接之处。
These areas — extensions of Beijing, where I've been based for the past eight years — are often rough and ready and feel a world apart from this	这些区域——北京市的延伸、我过去八年居住的地方——往往呈粗陋之态，与首都城里相比，似有天壤之别。

capital city.
One of the places I've stumbled upon in these explorations is a cluster of recycling yards in Beijing's northern suburbs, where the subway's Line 5 ends. This is where some of Beijing's heaps of trash go to die — in order to begin a new life, recycled. Paper and cardboard gets compacted into 700-kilogram cubes and loaded onto 16-wheel trucks to be taken to the eastern province of Shandong to be returned as paper. Plastic bottles — emptied of their Coke, Sprite, iced tea — are sorted before being sent away to be ground and turned into polyester for new clothes, or the filling of duvets and pillows. Styrofoam, metal, glass, they are all collected, with each yard specializing in a specific material.	在探索过程中，我偶然发现的地方之一，便是北京北郊聚集的数个回收场，这里是地铁五号线终止之处。这是北京一些成堆的垃圾走向消亡之地——消亡是为新生、被回收利用。废纸和纸板被压制成重 700 千克的立方体，装在 16 轮卡车上，运到东部省份山东进行处理，化身为纸张回京。塑料瓶——里面的可乐、雪碧、冰红茶已被清空——经分类后，再被送走，被磨碎并转化为聚酯纤维，用来做新衣服，或填充被子和枕头。泡沫聚苯乙烯、金属、玻璃都会被收集，每个回收场都有专门处理的特定材料。
A constant stream of men and women wearing thick coats and gloves trundle in on motorized tricycles, passenger vans and trucks, with rubbish piled on and tied down in any way possible.	络绎不绝的男男女女们穿着厚外套、戴着手套，开着机动三轮车、客车和卡车缓慢移动，垃圾以一切可能的方式被堆起、被捆住。
"This is all household trash. There's so much of it. If we didn't help do something about it all, I can't imagine the landfills that would be needed for all of it," said Qian Linsheng, 34, a plastics recycler, as he counted each bottle by hand.	"这些全都是家庭垃圾。太多了。再不想点办法处理所有这些东西的话，我简直不敢想得有多少填埋场才能把这些都处理掉。"今年 34 岁、靠回收塑料为生的钱林生（Qian Linsheng，音译）一边动手数着瓶子，一边说道。
As Beijing's population has exploded to more than 20 million people, the amount of waste generated has multiplied too.	随着北京的人口爆炸式增长至逾 2000 万，人们所产生的垃圾的数量也成倍增长。

There are school textbooks, magazines, calendars, shredded receipts and firecracker boxes left over from the	所有来到这里等待重生的生活垃圾，也述说着另一个故事：它们昭示着中国城市居民生活方式和饮食习惯的日新月异，及中产阶级的崛起。垃圾堆里有教材、杂志、日历、收据碎片和农历新年剩下的鞭炮盒。但里面还有奥迪车宣传册、进口牛奶及酸奶的纸箱、比利时啤酒罐、白兰地和葡萄酒酒箱等等。

recent Chinese New Year. But there are also brochures for Audi cars, cartons for imported milk and yogurt, Belgian beer cans, brandy and wine crates and so on.
There is an endless amount of trash to be sorted, counted and packed, said Mr. Qian, a migrant from the central province of Henan who has been running the plastics yard with his brother-in-law for the past five years, working from 6 a.m. until late in the night, every day, receiving packages large and small from rag-and-bone men.	钱林生说，要被分类、计数再打包的垃圾数不胜数。来自中国中部省份河南的钱林生和他妻子的兄弟（或姐妹的丈夫）在过去的五年中一起经营这家塑料回收场。从每天清晨6点起，两人便开始从拾荒者手中收取大包小包的废品，一直忙到深夜。
But the pair are planning to call it a day in a couple of years. Mr. Qian said: "It's dirty, tiring work. I know this stuff gets remade into other things. But I don't think about it that much. We're only collecting the trash and make a living at it."	但他们俩打算再干几年就不干了。钱先生说：“这活又脏又累。我知道这些东西会被重新做成别的东西。但我也没想那么多。我们只是收垃圾，靠这个谋条生路而已。”

Details Emerge of China-Financed Dam Project in Pakistan	中国斥百亿投资巴基斯坦水电站
In all the bravura of the recent $45 billion offer by President Xi Jinping of China to build roads, rails and dams in Pakistan, it was hard to decipher when construction would begin, and what in a long list of infrastructure projects would be tackled first.	在中国国家主席习近平最近向巴基斯坦提供的450亿美元（约和2800亿元人民币）的公路、铁路和水坝建设项目的美好远景中，令人难以辨别的是施工何时会开始，再就是在这个基础设施项目长长的名单上，哪个项目会首先开工。
One clue emerged in the announcement in the Chinese state news media last week, after Mr. Xi left Pakistan: A modest-size dam on the Jhelum River at a site 35 miles east of the capital, Islamabad, will be the first project financed by China's $40 billion Silk Road Fund.	习近平离开巴基斯坦之后，一条线索在中国国家新闻媒体上周的公告中出现了：第一个项目将是吉拉姆河上的一座中型水电站，站址位于首都伊斯兰堡以东约35英里的地方，项目由中国出资400亿美元成立的丝路基金资助。
That fund was established to finance projects in China's Silk Road Economic Belt and Maritime Silk Road, plans often cited by Mr. Xi that are intended to connect China to Europe over land through Central	成立丝路基金是为中国的丝绸之路经济带和海上丝绸之路项目融资，习近平经常提到这两个计划，说它们的目的是用经过中亚和俄罗斯的陆路、以及另一条海上通道沿线港口将中国与欧洲连接起来。

Asia and Russia, and by ports through a separate maritime route.
Power shortages in Pakistan are so dire — largely because few individuals or government departments, including the military, pay for electricity — that the country’s National Planning Commission estimated in 2012 that a lack of energy reduced economic growth by at least 2 percent. Hydropower is seen as an answer. The Karot dam, as the structure on the Jhelum River is to be called, is expected to cost $1.65 billion and will be financed on a commercial basis, the Chinese state news media said. According to the website of the People’s Bank of China, China’s central bank, the Silk Road Fund and the World Bank will buy shares in China Three Gorges South Asia Investment Ltd., a subsidiary of the Three Gorges Corporation, a state-run behemoth that builds dams at home and, increasingly, abroad.	巴基斯坦的电力短缺情况极为严重，这主要是因为该国很少有人支付电费，包括军队在内的政府部门也如此。据巴基斯坦国家计划委员会 2012 年的估计，能源缺乏使该国经济增长至少降低 2%。水电被视为是解决方案。中国国家媒体报道说，吉拉姆河上修建的项目名为卡洛特水电站，预计耗资 16.5 亿美元，项目将进行商业融资。据中国央行中国人民银行网站上的信息，丝路基金和世界银行将购买中国长江三峡集团公司子公司中国三峡南亚投资有限公司的股份，三峡总公司是在国内修建水坝、也越来越多地在海外修建水坝的国有超级公司。
The Silk Road Fund, along with the Export-Import Bank of China and the China Development Bank, will issue loans to the Karot Power Company, which is in turn a subsidiary of China Three Gorges South Asia Investment, for the construction.	丝路基金与中国进出口银行、中国发展银行一起将向负责建设项目的三峡南亚子公司卡洛特水电公司提供贷款。
The power generated by the dam will be sold to Pakistan’s national grid, a creaky system that leaks electricity and is run by utilities often described as ridden with corruption.	水坝发的电力将出售给巴基斯坦的国家电网，这个国家电网非常破旧，其输送的电力经常被偷，而且经营电网的公用事业单位被描述为腐败缠身。
Pakistan’s need for dams fits neatly with China’s dam-building prowess. Chinese companies and banks are now the biggest builders and financiers of global dam-building. They are involved in some 330 dams in 74 countries, mostly in Asia and Africa, according to International Rivers, a nongovernmental organization that works to protect rivers	巴基斯坦对水电的需要非常符合中国修建大坝的实力。中国企业和银行目前是全球最大的水坝建造商和水电项目投资。根据国际河流组织 (International Rivers) 统计，中国公司参与了 74 个国家中约 330 个水电项目，主要集中在亚洲和非洲，该非政府组织旨在保护河流和受水坝项目影响的社区。

and communities affected by dams.
China is not a newcomer to dams in Pakistan. Sinohydro, another state-owned company, built the Gomal Zam Dam in South Waziristan, in the ungoverned tribal areas where the Taliban freely operate. Several Chinese engineers were kidnapped during the dam's construction.	这不是中国首次在巴基斯坦修建水坝。另一家国有企业中国水电(Sinohydro)曾在南瓦济里斯坦修建了高玛赞大坝，那里是塔利班自由出没、无人管辖的部落地区。曾有几名中国工程师在大坝建设过程中被绑架。
Under the terms of the package announced by Mr. Xi, China has demanded protection for its workers at new projects, and the Pakistanis are delivering. According to Dawn, a Pakistani newspaper, the government is creating a new special army division of 10,000 troops that will be headed by a two-star general and dedicated to the Chinese workers. The force will include contingents from the Special Services Group, Pakistan's elite commando force, and will have its own air support.	按照习近平宣布的计划条款，中国要求其参加新项目的工人得到保护，巴基斯坦人正在努力提供这种保护。据巴基斯坦《黎明》报报道，政府正在成立一支由一名二星将军领导的1万人部队，专门为中国工人提供保护。这支部队将包括来自巴基斯坦精锐突击队陆军特种部队(Special Services Group)的人员，并拥有自己的空中力量。
Since the completion of major dam-building projects in China, the Three Gorges Corporation has been hunting for business abroad, and it has been willing to take on environmentally risky projects where it has faced heated local opposition along the Amazon and in the rain forests of Sarawak, Malaysia, said Peter Bosshard, interim executive director of International Rivers.	国际河流组织代理执行主任白好德(Peter Bosshard)说，自从完成了中国的主要水坝建设项目之后，三峡总公司一直在海外寻找业务，并一直愿意承担环境风险较大的项目，三峡总公司的项目在亚马逊河、以及马来西亚沙捞越热带雨林等地面临着当地人的激烈反对。
But more recently the company has met with International Rivers to discuss environmental issues, Mr. Bosshard said. It was encouraging, he said, that the company was not embarking on building the $8.5 billion Diamer-Bhasha dam on the Indus River in Pakistan, which has long been delayed for a number of reasons, including potential environmental damage and social dislocation. That dam will have a	白好德说，但最近三峡总公司已与国际河流组织进行过有关环境问题的讨论。他说，令人鼓舞的是，公司将不在巴基斯坦的印度河段修建造价为85亿美元的迪阿莫-巴沙大坝(Diamer-Bhasha Dam)，该项目因各种原因已多次被推迟，包括潜在的环境破坏和社会混乱。国际河流组织说，该大坝将具有4500兆瓦的发电能力，并将淹没生活着35000人的农庄。 generating capacity of 4,500 megawatts and would flood the farms of 35,000 people, International Rivers says.

By contrast, the Karot dam, according to the builder's environmental impact statement, would generate about 720 megawatts of power and result in about 500 people losing their land. Construction is expected to start at the end of this year, Karot Power says.	相比之下, 据建造商的环境影响报告, 卡洛特电站的装机容量约为 72 万千瓦, 会让约 500 人失去他们的土地。卡洛特电站工程表示, 预计在今年年底开始施工。
There is a word of warning, however, from Bryan Tilt, associate professor of anthropology at Oregon State University, who has studied dam projects in China. It is difficult to judge, he said, the quality of the dam builder's assessment on the number of people who would be forced to move.	但是, 俄勒冈州立大学研究中国大坝项目的人类学副教授布莱恩·替尔特 (Bryan Tilt) 有一句警告。他说, 很难判断大坝建造者对需要被迫搬迁人数的估计的质量。
"Punjab Province, where the dam is to be sited, is the most populous in Pakistan, so there will likely be population displacement associated with the project," Mr. Tilt said in an interview.	替尔特在接受采访时说, "大坝选址所在的旁遮普省是巴基斯坦人口最多的省, 所以很可能会有与该项目有关的大量人口迁移。"

Chinese Fleets Illegally Fish in West African Waters, Greenpeace Says	绿色和平指中国渔船在西非海域非法捕捞
BEIJING — Chinese fishing fleets, driven by plummeting catches close to home, are flocking to distant West African waters, where they engage in ecologically ruinous bottom trawling, subterfuge and other illegal activities that threaten marine resources in a region already under pressure from overfishing, according to a report issued on Wednesday by Greenpeace.	北京——绿色和平组织(Greenpeace)周三发布的一份报告表示, 由于本国海域附近的捕捞量急剧下跌, 中国渔船正纷纷涌向遥远的西非水域, 在那里从事破坏生态的底拖网捕鱼和瞒报等非法活动, 威胁到本已承受过度捕捞压力的这一地区的海洋资源。
The study, the result of a two-year investigation, accuses hundreds of Chinese-owned or Chinese-flagged vessels of taking advantage of weak enforcement by African governments to indiscriminately net	这份报告的出炉经过了为期两年的调查。文中指责数以百计的由中国拥有或挂着中国旗帜的船只在利用非洲国家政府的薄弱执法, 在冈比亚、几内亚、几内亚比绍、毛里塔尼亚、塞内加尔和塞拉里昂海域肆意捕鱼, 并瞒报打捞

untold tons of fish off the coasts of Gambia, Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, Mauritania, Senegal and Sierra Leone.	的水产重量。
Among the worst offenders, Greenpeace said, is the state-owned China National Fisheries Corporation, whose ship operators were said to have lied about their locations, underreported the amount of fish in their holds and used damaging fishing methods that are largely banned in Chinese waters. The report said that government regulators in Beijing had been lax in enforcing regulations that govern overseas fishing.	绿色和平指出，国有企业中国水产（集团）总公司（简称中水集团）是其中行为尤其恶劣的一家渔企。据称，其船只运营方谎报地点、瞒报手中的捕捞量，并使用在中国水域基本禁止的破坏性捕捞方式。报告称，北京的政府监管部门在执行管理远洋渔业的法规方面一直比较松懈。
“China is exporting to Africa the kind of destructive fishing practices that depleted local fishing grounds off the Chinese coast,” said Rashid Kang, the director of the China Ocean and Forests campaign at Greenpeace. “At a time when China talks about win-win partnerships with African governments and is concerned with improving its international image, these kinds of practices damage marine resources, threaten local livelihoods and undermine China’s soft power.”	“中国正在向非洲出口使本国近海渔场耗竭的那种破坏性的捕捞方式，”绿色和平中国海洋与森林项目经理江雍年(Rashid Kang)说。“中国在谈论与非洲国家政府间的双赢合作，也在关注提升自身的国际形象。在这样的背景下，此类举动会破坏海洋资源、威胁当地生计，并且削弱中国的软实力。”
Chinese interest in the waters off West Africa has soared in recent years, prompted by a vast expansion of the country’s industrial fishing fleet, mounting competition and declining stocks of marine life in the coastal waters off China. Many long-distance fishing companies have been encouraged to sail farther afield by generous government subsidies.	近年来，由于中国渔业队伍大力扩张、竞争不断加剧，以及中国沿海水域的海洋生物储量持续下降，中国在西非水域的利益迅速扩大。在慷慨的政府补贴的鼓励下，远洋渔业公司纷纷前往遥远的水域。
Greenpeace said there were more than 450 Chinese-owned fishing vessels operating in Africa, up from just a dozen in 1985.	绿色和平称，共有逾 450 艘中国所有的渔船在非洲作业，而 1985 年那里只有十几艘中国渔船。
The group said nearly a fifth of the country’s foreign fishing fleet now operates off the coast of West Africa.	该组织还表示，中国将近五分之一的远洋渔船目前在西非海域作业。
China’s Foreign Ministry, responding to the Greenpeace report, said	中国外交部在回应绿色和平组织的这份报告时称，在非洲国家的专属经济区

Chinese fishing vessels that operate in the exclusive economic zones of African countries abide by the agreements they have struck with national governments.	作业的中国渔船遵守了与各国政府达成的协议。
"These ships and companies contribute to local employment, increase tax revenue and contribute to the local economy, and are thus welcomed by local governments and people," Hong Lei, a Foreign Ministry spokesman, said at a regular news conference on Wednesday.	"有关企业在增加税收、促进就业、提高收入水平等方面作出了积极贡献，得到相关国家政府和人民的一致肯定，"外交部发言人洪磊周三在例行记者会上说。
Much of the research was conducted by a Greenpeace vessel, the Esperanza, that observed Chinese fishing boats as they worked the Atlantic Ocean off the coast of West Africa.	报告中的很大一部分调查是由绿色和平的船只“埃斯佩兰萨号”(Esperanza)完成的。这艘船观察了在大西洋的西非海岸附近作业的中国渔船。
Last fall, for example, it recorded illegal fishing by 12 Chinese ships operating in the territorial waters of Guinea at a time when the government was grappling with the Ebola epidemic. The report cited boats that fished in prohibited areas, lacked licenses and used illegal nets with tiny mesh openings.	例如，去年秋天，它记录了在几内亚领海运营的12艘中国船只的非法捕捞活动。当时，几内亚国政府正在努力应对埃博拉疫情。报告指出了一些渔船在禁渔区捕捞、没有执照，以及使用网孔过小的非法渔网的现象。
Investigators documented 74 of 92 fishing boats that had turned off the tracking devices mandated by international maritime law; others had been manipulated to give out incorrect locations, including five ships that claimed to be operating in Mexican waters.	调查人员的记录称，在92艘渔船中，有74艘关掉了国际海事法律强制要求的定位装置；其余一些则被做了手脚，提供的是不正确的位置信息，其中包括五艘声称在墨西哥海域活动的渔船。
In an apparent effort to reduce the licensing fees paid to governments, the report said, a majority of the 59 ships operated by China National Fisheries Corporation in West Africa had underreported their gross tonnage by as much as 60 percent.	报告称，中水集团在西非运营的59艘船只中，多数瞒报了总吨位，程度至多达60%。此举显然是为了降低支付给沿岸政府的许可费。 companies cited by the report denied that they engaged in illegal fishing.

The Greenpeace report also highlighted what it described as lax oversight by African governments, desperate for hard currency, that have eagerly entered into agreements with Chinese fishing companies.	绿色和平的这份报告还强调了几个非洲国家的政府疏于监管，称它们出于对金钱的渴望，迫不及待地与中国渔业公司签订了协议。
Among the biggest losers, Greenpeace said, were local African fisherman, who complain of diminishing catches and increased costs.	绿色和平称，受到最大影响的包括非洲当地的渔民。他们正抱怨捕鱼量的减少和成本的增加。
"They are forced to travel further to catch fish and often have to compete for space with industrial trawlers in dangerous waters, increasing the risk of deaths at sea," the report said.	文中称，“他们被迫开到更远的地方捕鱼，常常要在危险水域与工业拖网渔船争夺空间，使得自己在海上遭遇不测的风险上升。”

China's announcement comes after a visit to Djibouti this month by the chief of the People's Liberation Army's general staff, Gen. Fang Fenghui, which appears to have brought the discussions about the base to fruition.	中国做出这一宣布之前，解放军总参谋部总参谋长房峰辉上将在本月访问了吉布提。
China has invested heavily in Djibouti's infrastructure, including hundreds of millions of dollars spent upgrading the country's undersized port. It has also financed a railroad extending from Addis Ababa, the capital of Ethiopia, to Djibouti, a project that cost billions of dollars.	中国已对吉布提的基础设施进行了大笔投资，包括为改造该国不够大的港口花了数亿美元。中国还投资修建了从埃塞俄比亚首都亚的斯亚贝巴通往吉布提的铁路，该项目耗资数十亿美元。
Strategically, Djibouti offers an excellent place from which to protect oil imports from the Middle East that traverse the Indian Ocean on their way to China, military experts say. From Djibouti, China gains greater access to the Arabian Peninsula.	军事专家说，从战略上来看，吉布提所在的位置为途经印度洋的中国从中东进口的石油提供了极为有利的保护。以吉布提为基地，中国还可在更大程度上进入阿拉伯半岛。
China, despite its growing economic and geopolitical might, has long said that it would not emulate the United States in building bases around the world, on the grounds that it does not believe in interfering in the affairs of other countries.	尽管国家的经济和地缘政治力量不断增长，但中国曾一直表示，不会效仿美国，在世界各地修建基地，因为中国信奉不干涉他国内政的原则。
But the head of the United States Africa Command, Gen. David M. Rodriguez, said in Washington last week that China planned "to build a base in Djibouti" and had reached a 10-year agreement with the country's government to do so. He said the installation would serve as a logistics hub and would enable the Chinese to "extend their reach."	但是，美国非洲司令部司令戴维·M·罗德里格斯上将(Gen. David M. Rodriguez)上周在华盛顿表示，中国计划“在吉布提建基地”，并已为了这个项目与吉布提政府达成了一项为期 10 年的协议。他说，基地将起后勤枢纽的作用，并将使中国得以“扩大其影响范围”。

But some American military experts, concerned about Beijing's growing military capacity, have expressed unease about China having a land facility for its military in Djibouti so close to a major American base, Camp Lemonnier, where 4,000 service members, including Special Forces, and civilians train and carry out counterterrorism operations.	区保护重要的商业航运。但是，一些美国军事专家出于对北京日益增长的军事能力的担心，对中国在吉布提为其军队修建地面设施表示不安，中国的设施离美国的一个主要基地莱蒙尼尔军营(Camp Lemonnier)很近，该营地驻扎着包括特种部队在内的 4000 名美军，以及进行反恐训练、执行反恐任务的非军事人员。
The news on Thursday of broad changes to the Chinese military signaled a major step forward in Mr. Xi's program to shift its focus from traditional land armies to a more flexible, cohesive set of forces. China's military planning and spending have increasingly focused on territorial disputes in the South China Sea and in waters near Japan.	周二发布的中国军队将进行大范围改革的消息显示出，习近平提出的由传统陆军向更灵活、更具凝聚力的联合部队转变的改革计划迈出了重要的一步。中国军事规划和国防开支在越来越多地集中于南海和靠近日本水域的领海争端方面。
Mr. Xi told a gathering of more than 200 senior military officers that the planned changes would take years and were essential to ensuring that the People's Liberation Army could shoulder its increasingly complex and broad responsibilities, the official Xinhua news agency said Thursday.	官方媒体新华社周四报道，习近平告诉在座的 200 多名高层军官，这些改变将花数年时间实现，它们对于确保中国人民解放军能肩负起越来越复杂和广泛的责任至关重要。
But until now, efforts to revamp the way the military is run have stumbled because of the entrenched power of land forces that have dominated seven military regions, as well as the sheer complexity of reorganizing a force of over two million.	不过，此前改革军队管理方式的努力并没有成功，因为权力根深蒂固的陆军一直在七个军区中处于主导地位，而且重新梳理 200 多万人的军队本身就是非常复杂的问题。

That military graft was lubricated by rapidly rising defense budgets. In the decade up to 2014, China's official military budget grew an average of 9.5 percent annually, after taking inflation into account, according to a recent Congressional Research Service study. That budget is set to grow an additional 10 percent this year, reaching about $145 billion. But many foreign analysts say China's real military spending is higher.	与军事腐败相伴的是国防预算快速上升。美国国会研究服务部 (Congressional Research Service)最近发布的一项研究报告显示, 至 2014 年的十年间, 考虑通胀因素后, 中国官方发布的军事预算平均每年增长 9.5%。今年, 这一预算额预计会再增加 10%, 达到 1450 亿美元左右。但很多国外分析人士表示, 中国真实的军事开支要比这个数目更大。
Despite Beijing's traditional rejection of what it calls American imperialism and hegemony, some Chinese experts believe that it is time to reconsider the need for overseas military facilities.	尽管北京过去反对它口中的美式帝国主义和霸权, 但一些中国专家认为, 是时候重新考虑建设海外军事设施的需求了。
Shen Dingli, a professor of international relations at Fudan University in Shanghai, who has argued vigorously that China should develop bases commensurate with its growing military power, said on Thursday that in doing so, China would only be doing what America had done.	上海复旦大学国际关系学院教授沉丁立大力主张, 中国应该在海外发展基地, 这样才与中国不断增长的军事实力相称, 他在周四表示, 中国在海外建基地, 只不过是做美国早就做了的事情。

"Now, what the United States has done in the past, China will do again."	"美国一直在世界各地扩展业务, 派军队到远离国土的地方保护这些利益, 已经 150 年了," 沉丁立说。"现在, 中国要做美国过去做过的事情。"
Mr. Shen, who referred to the planned facility in Djibouti as a "base," said it was necessary because "we need to safeguard our own navigational freedom," adding that "if whoever — pirates, ISIS or the U.S. — wants to shut down the passage, we need to be able to reopen it."	沉丁立在提到计划在吉布提修建的设施时用了"基地"一词, 他说, 那是必要的, 因为"我们需要维护我们自己的航行自由", 并补充说, "如果任何人想关闭这一海上通道的话, 不管是海盗, 还是 ISIS 或者美国, 我们都需要有能力重新打开这一通道。"
Mr. Hong of the Foreign Ministry offered few details about the Djibouti facility, but he said it would provide Chinese ships with access to reliable supplies and enable its crew members to rest. "These facilities	外交部的洪磊没有提供有关吉布提设施的多少细节, 他只是说, 那将为中国船只提供可靠的供给, 让中国船员有一个休息的地方。他说, "该设施将更好地保障中国军队执行护航、人道主义救援等任务。"

will help Chinese vessels to better carry out Chinese missions like escort and humanitarian operations,” he said.
Such statements suggest a far more modest facility than the sprawling American base at Camp Lemonnier, which the United States has used since 2003 for weapons as varied as drones and F-15 fighter jets. Washington announced in 2013 that $1.4 billion would be spent on expanding the base, from which drone operations over Somalia and Yemen are conducted.	这种说法意味着一个规模比美国庞大的莱蒙尼尔军营小得多的设施，自2003年以来，包括无人驾驶飞机和 F-15 战斗机在内的美国多种武器使用该基地。华盛顿在 2013 年宣布，将花 14 亿美元对基地进行扩建，在索马里和也门执行任务的无人机也都用这个基地。
France also maintains a base in Djibouti, which is a former French colony. Japan, which also participates in the United Nations antipiracy operations, keeps surveillance aircraft and several hundred personnel there.	法国在吉布提也有一个基地，吉布提是法国的前殖民地。日本也参加了联合国的反海盗行动，日本在法国基地驻有侦查机和数百名人员。

A former United States ambassador to Ethiopia, David H. Among those reasons, he said, is the need to protect one to two million Chinese citizens living in Africa. This year, China’s navy evacuated several hundred Chinese citizens and foreign nationals from war-torn Yemen, routing them through Djibouti for their journeys home.	他说，中国的原因之一是需要保护生活在非洲的一两百万中国公民。今年，中国海军曾帮助数百名中国公民和外国公民撤离战火中的也门，通过吉布提让他们登上了回家的旅途。

But Mr. Xi's visit comes as high growth and optimism on the continent are waning. Many previously rapidly growing economies are now slumping because of China's economic slowdown, its diminished appetite for Africa's raw materials and plunging prices on everything from oil to copper and iron ore. Nigeria's economy, the continent's biggest, is growing at its slowest pace this century, and South Africa, the second largest, nearly slipped into a recession recently.	但习近平此次到访非洲时，这个大洲的高速增长和乐观情绪有所减弱。由于中国经济发展放缓，对非洲原材料的需求下降，从石油到铜及铁矿石等所有商品的价格暴跌，很多之前快速发展的经济体陷入疲软。非洲最大经济体尼日利亚的经济增长速度降至本世纪最低，第二大经济体南非最近几乎陷入衰退。
This forum's slogan — "Africa-China Progressing Together: Win-Win Cooperation for Common Development" — seemed designed to deflect growing criticism that the benefits of the relationship have largely been in China's favor.	此次论坛的主题是“中非携手并进：合作共赢、共同发展”。这似乎是在转移一种日益加剧的批评，即中非合作关系主要对中国有利。
But Mr. Xi found a receptive audience here, as political leaders and government officials from across the continent described his plans by using the expression "win-win."	但习近平在这里遇到了一批乐于接受的听众，非洲各国的政治领导人及政府官员称，他的计划是一个“双赢”计划。

China's interests in Africa are broadening — Beijing announced last month that it would open its first overseas military outpost in Djibouti in East Africa — but it remains focused on economic matters.	中国在非洲的利益不断扩张。北京上个月宣布，将在非洲东部的吉布提建立首个海外军事基地，但它仍旧主要关注经济问题。
In the weeks preceding the summit meeting, the news media here focused on Africa's economic expectations of China. By contrast, much of the attention paid to President Obama's visit to Africa in July centered on his promotion of gay rights, with many Africans warning him against broaching the topic.	在峰会召开前的几周，非洲新闻媒体主要关注非洲对中国的经济预期。相比之下，奥巴马总统今年7月访问非洲时，媒体主要关注他促进同性恋权利的举动。很多非洲人警告他不要讨论这个话题。
Mr. Xi tapped a few times into Africa's deep-seated resentment of the West's policies toward the continent, especially what many perceive as its meddling in domestic matters and its attempts to impose its values.	习近平多次利用非洲长期以来对西方国家的非洲政策的不满，特别是很多被非洲人视作干涉其内政的政策，以及强行推行其价值观的举措。
"China strongly believes that Africa belongs to the African people and that African affairs should be decided by the African people," Mr. Xi said.	习近平表示，“中方始终主张，非洲是非洲人的非洲，非洲的事情应该由非洲人说了算。”
Underscoring Beijing's longstanding policy of noninterference in Africa's domestic affairs — which, both African and Western critics say, includes coddling the continent's authoritarian rulers — Mr. Xi paid a two-day visit before this summit meeting to Zimbabwe and President Robert Mugabe, an adversary of the West.	习近平在参加峰会之前，对津巴布韦进行了为期两天的访问，会见了敌视西方的该国总统罗伯特·穆加贝(Robert Mugabe)。这突显了北京方面长期以来不干涉非洲内政的政策。非洲和西方的批评人士表示，这种政策包括纵容非洲的专制统治者。
Anti-imperialist sentiments suffused the auditorium here when Mr. Mugabe, the current chairman of the African Union, praised Mr. Xi.	当非洲联盟(African Union)轮值主席穆加贝对习近平表示称赞时，礼堂里弥漫着反帝国主义的情绪。
"He is doing to us what we expected those who colonized us yesterday to do," Mr. Mugabe said to loud applause.	穆加贝在热烈的掌声中表示，“他对我们做的事，正是我们过去曾盼望殖民者做的事。”
Other delegates to the summit meeting later expressed similar sentiments, though in more temperate terms.	参加峰会的其他代表后来也表达了类似的观点，但措辞较为温和。
"The fundamental difference is that the two partners consider	“根本区别在于，这两个合作伙伴认为它们是平等的，尽管现实中或许并非

themselves equal, even though, in reality, that may not be the case," said Biéké Benjamin, a diplomat from Ivory Coast. "But it's a basic principle. Still, experts say that Beijing will have to skillfully adapt to a changing relationship with Africa. China's insatiable demand for raw materials, which has fueled much of the rapid growth in Africa, has cooled as the Chinese try to steer their own economy away from construction and exports to consumption and services.	但专家们表示，北京方面将需要巧妙适应变化发展的中非关系。随着中国试图将经济模式从建筑、出口导向转向消费和服务，中国对原材料的巨大需求有所减少。非洲经济的高速增长在很大程度上是由这种需求推动的。
As the price of commodities has also plummeted, the economies of former models of solid growth, like Zambia, Angola and Mozambique, have tumbled.	由于大宗商品价格大幅下降，津巴布韦、安哥拉、莫桑比克等一度成为稳健增长的模范的经济体，也都遭遇了挫折。
Zhong Jianhua, China's special representative on African affairs, said the summit meeting signaled the start of a new stage in relations — one marked by a "new normal" of slower growth in China.	中国政府非洲事务特别代表钟建华表示，该峰会标志着双方关系开始进入新阶段，也就是中国经济放缓成为“新常态”的时期。
"Both sides need to review and look back to see what we have done, and also see what we can do more," Mr. Zhong said.	钟建华表示，“双方需要回顾之前的成果，也要看看我们还能做些什么。”
Expectations from African nations are high.	非洲国家的期望非常高。
President José Eduardo dos Santos of Angola had met Mr. Xi the night before to emphasize the need to broaden China's involvement in Africa's economy beyond raw materials, said Samuel Andrade da Cunha, director of Asia and Oceania in Angola's Foreign Affairs Ministry.	安哥拉外交部亚洲及大洋洲司司长塞缪尔·安德拉德·达库尼亚(Samuel Andrade da Cunha)表示，安哥拉总统若泽·爱德华多·多斯桑托斯(José Eduardo dos Santos)在前一天晚上与习近平举行会面，强调中国需要在原材料领域之外，扩大对非洲经济的投资。
"We would like technology and everything to be transferred from China to Angola," Mr. da Cunha said. "We would like to make products in Angola by building factories or developing agriculture in Angola, which	“我们希望中国向安哥拉转移技术和一切，”达库尼亚说。“我们希望通过在安哥拉建造工厂或发展农业，来生产可以向其他国家出口的产品。”

Use by Iraqi Military May Be a Boon for China-Made Drones	中国造“彩虹4”无人机在伊拉克首次参与实战
HONG KONG — After more than a decade of fighting in Iraq, the names of the American-made drones striking targets there have become familiar: Predator, Reaper, Sentinel.	香港——在伊拉克作战十年之后，打击各种目标的美制无人驾驶飞机的名号变得耳熟能详：“捕食者”(Predator)、“死神”(Reaper)、“哨兵”(Sentinel)。
But this month, a new model entered the fray: the Chinese-made Caihong-4.	但在本月，一个新的型号加入竞争：中国制造的“彩虹4”。
According to footage released by the Iraqi armed forces, soldiers used the Chinese drone on Dec. 6 to destroy an ISIS position amid efforts to retake the city of Ramadi. A spokesperson for the Ministry of Defense confirmed the video was real.	根据伊拉克武装部队发布的视频，在12月6日，尝试夺回拉马迪市的过程中，士兵利用这种中国无人机摧毁了一个ISIS据点。国防部发言人证实，视频是真实的。
The lethal strike represents a major step forward in China’s drive to become a leading exporter of military equipment, experts say. Iraq is the only known user of the drone, also known as the CH-4, which closely resembles the General Atomics MQ-9 Reaper.	专家说，这次致命攻击代表中国朝着军事设备主要出口国的地位迈进了一大步。目前，伊拉克是这种无人机在实战中的唯一已知使用者。它也被称作CH-4，与通用原子公司(General Atomics)的MQ-9死神非常相似。
Its first use in combat may be a selling point for potential buyers.	对潜在买家来说，它在战争中的首次使用可能是个卖点。
“This is the first time I’ve heard of a Chinese drone, such as the CH-4 (which is basically a clone of the Reaper), reporting an actual kill, and I suppose it would be cliché to say that it won’t be the last,” Richard A. Bitzinger, a senior fellow at the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies at Nanyang Technological University in Singapore, wrote in an email on Wednesday.	新加坡南洋理工大学(Nanyang Technological University) 拉惹勒南国际研究学院(S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies)高级研究员理查德·A·毕辛格(Richard A. Bitzinger)周三在一封电邮里写道，“这是我头次听说CH-4（它基本上克隆了死神）等中国无人机传出击毙敌人的消息。我想，一种老套的说法是，这不会是最后一次传出类似消息。”
Mr. Bitzinger estimated that Iraq’s armed forces had to buy six to 12 Chinese drones to conduct operations efficiently.	毕辛格估计，伊拉克武装部队要买入六至十二架中国制无人机才能展开有效行动。

"When the Iraqi MoD officially unveiled them in October, two ground control stations could be seen," Jeremy Binnie, Middle East/Africa editor at IHS Jane's Defence Weekly, wrote in an email, referring to the Ministry of Defense. "Given a typical setup of two aircraft per control station, Iraq probably has at least four."	"伊拉克国防部十月份把它们公开亮相时，我们可以看到两个地面控制站，"《简氏防务周刊》(IHS Jane's Defence Weekly)中东/非洲编辑杰里米·宾尼(Jeremy Binnie)在一封电邮里写道。"鉴于每个控制站通常会操控两架飞机，伊拉克很可能至少有四架。"
China also uses the CH-4. Its predecessor, the CH-3, has been sold to both Nigeria and Pakistan, he said.	中国也在使用 CH-4。他说，CH-4 的前身 CH-3 已经销往尼日利亚和巴基斯坦。

China had long been reluctant to get involved in the Afghan war, not wanting to be seen as taking sides. Barnett R. Rubin, an American scholar of Afghanistan at New York University and a former special adviser to the United States and the United Nations, said the formation of the Quadrilateral Coordination Group, which is scheduled to hold its third meeting in Islamabad in early February, was significant because it was the "only institutionalization so far of U.S.-China political cooperation in Afghanistan."	曾为美国政府和联合国担任特别顾问，现在纽约大学(New York University)研究阿富汗问题的美国专家巴内特·R·鲁宾(Barnett R. While the talks at this stage are still aimed only at establishing a road map for future negotiations, there has been one significant accomplishment: winning China’s agreement that it would put its weight behind promoting face-to-face talks between the Taliban and the Afghan government.	尽管现阶段的协商目标仍仅限于为将来的谈判创建路线图，但它取得了一项重大成就：争取到中国的配合，使之同意运用自身的影响力来促使塔利班与阿富汗政府进行面对面的对话。
A previous round of talks collapsed last year with the revelation that Mullah Muhammed Omar, a Taliban founder, had been dead for two years, causing a split in the ranks of the insurgency and uncertainty among participating nations. One expectation among negotiators is that eventually Pakistan will have to bring pressure on the Taliban, including militarily.	之前一轮的对话于去年崩溃，因为塔利班创始人之一毛拉·穆罕默德·奥马尔 (Mullah Muhammed Omar) 前两年已身亡的消息流传开来，导致反叛武装成员内部分裂，参与谈判的各国也莫衷一是。谈判人员目前的一项期望是，最终巴基斯坦将不得不向塔利班施压，包括动用军事手段。

China's economic incentives for helping with the peace process are secondary to trying to establish stability, Mr. Du said. President Xi Jinping of China Is All Business in Middle East Visit	习近平中东行：谈生意，不谈政治
BEIJING — When President Xi Jinping of China traveled to the Middle East this month he dropped in on two regional rivals, Saudi Arabia and Iran, a feat few global leaders could pull off.	北京——中国国家主席习近平本月访问中东时，先后造访了沙特阿拉伯和伊朗这两个区域竞争对手，世界上没有几位领导人能完成这一壮举。
The Saudis had just executed a Shiite cleric, and angry Iranians had stormed the Saudi Embassy in Tehran in response, a tinderbox moment that Mr. Xi ignored by sticking to his mission that was all about building business and staying above the fray.	沙特刚刚处决了一名什叶派神职人员，作为响应，愤怒的伊朗人冲击了沙特驻德黑兰的大使馆，习近平却对这种一触即发的局面视而不见，坚持他的一切为了贸易合作的使命，将自己置身于冲突之上。
The timing of Mr. Xi's tour, his first visit to the region after three years of assiduous travel to almost every other corner of the world, proved to be serendipitous. He had canceled a trip last year because of the war between Saudi Arabia and Houthi rebels in Yemen, and his new date coincided with the lifting of international sanctions against Iran.	在跑遍了世界上几乎所有其他角落的三年辛苦旅行之后，习近平首次访问了中东地区，他到访的时间被证明很凑巧。去年，由于沙特阿拉伯与也门胡塞叛军之间的战争，他曾取消了一次行程，而他选择的新日子，正好与国际社会对伊朗的制裁解除的时间重合。
The risk of arriving in the middle of a huge dispute between the Saudis and Iranians paid off, delivering what Mr. Xi no doubt considered an important prize as he tries to extend China's prestige abroad.	在沙特和伊朗发生巨大争端时，前去访问的风险得到了回报，在习近平试图将中国的威信向海外扩展时，这次访问无疑为他提供了他认为重要收获的东西。
He became the first world leader in Iran after the completion of the deal on Iran's nuclear weapons that the United States and Russia worked on together with China's support. Arriving so soon after the lifting of	他成了在伊朗核武器协议完成后，第一个访问伊朗的世界领导人，该协议是美国和俄罗斯合作的结果，也得到了中国的支持。在解除制裁之后马上访问伊朗，被证明为中国提供了促成未来贸易的最佳时机。

sanctions provided an optimum moment for China to set the stage for its future deal making.
China's deep economic interests in the Middle East carry little of the historical overlay of the empire building and alliance shaping of the European powers. France colonized Syria, the British carved out Saudi Arabia, the United States meddled in Iran in the 1950s, and Washington and Tehran became implacable enemies after the Islamic revolution of 1979. China, weak and minding its own affairs at home, was absent at all those milestones.	中国在中东的深远经济利益，基本不具有欧洲列强在该地区建立帝国、形成联盟的历史层面的色彩。法国曾殖民统治叙利亚，大英帝国曾盘踞沙特阿拉伯，美国曾在 20 世纪 50 年代插手伊朗，但在 1979 年的伊斯兰革命后，华盛顿与德黑兰成为死敌。而所有这些里程碑性的事件都与中国无关，中国那时没有多大实力，只顾得上国内的事务。
That is not to say China always refrained from taking sides. China was a major supplier of arms to Tehran during the Iran-Iraq war when the United States and Europe imposed an arms embargo. That military relationship is likely to be revived when a more recent arms embargo on Iran is eased, though that is not likely any time soon.	这并不是说中国从来不采取任何立场。两伊战争期间，美国和欧洲实行了武器禁运，而中国则是德黑兰的主要武器供应商。这种军事关系很可能在对伊朗的更近一次武器禁运解除后得到恢复，虽然这在短期内不大会发生。
But for the moment, China is concentrating on buying and selling in the Middle East, and playing Riyadh and Tehran off each other for better oil deals, leaving the strenuous diplomacy to the United States.	但就目前而言，中国正集中精力在中东发展贸易，在利雅得与德黑兰之间制造竞争，以得到更好的石油价格，把吃力的外交留给美国。
China is wary of the Islamic State, but is not hugely motivated to enter the Syrian conflict. "The Middle East is the graveyard of great powers," said Li Shaoxian, a former vice-president at the China Institutes of Contemporary International Relations, a government research institute. "China doesn't really care who takes the presidency in Syria in the future — as long as that person could stabilize and develop the country, we would agree."	虽然中国对伊斯兰国(Islamic State)保持警惕，但对卷入叙利亚的冲突并不非常积极。“中东是大国的坟墓，”政府研究机构中国现代国际关系研究院前副院长李绍先说。“中国对谁在未来担任叙利亚总统并不真正关心，只要那个人能稳定国家、发展国家，我们就没意见。”
Mr. Xi began his trip in Saudi Arabia, China's biggest oil supplier, which	习近平的行程从沙特阿拉伯开始，沙特是中国最大的石油供应国，正在寻求

is looking to recoup its diminished oil sales to the United States with increased supplies to China, an objective that may be hard to achieve given China's economic slowdown. With King Salman, Mr. Xi visited the Yasref oil refinery, China's largest investment project in Saudi Arabia, a joint effort between Sinopec, the Chinese state-owned energy giant, and Saudi Aramco.	通过增加向中国的石油供应来抵消其对美国销售的减少，鉴于中国经济增速的放缓，实现这个目标也许有点难。习近平和萨勒曼国王一起参观了延布炼油厂，这是中国在沙特的最大投资项目，是国有能源巨头中石化与沙特阿美石油公司成立的一家合资企业。
In Cairo, Mr. Xi met with President Abdel Fattah el-Sisi, the military strongman whose rule signifies the definitive end of the Arab Spring uprising that the Chinese government was so afraid might infect its own people. There he splashed around $1 billion in financing for Egypt's central bank and a $700 million loan to the state-owned National Bank of Egypt.	在开罗，习近平会见了埃及总统阿卜杜勒-法塔赫·塞西(Abdel Fattah el-Sisi)，这位军事强人的统治象征着阿拉伯之春革命浪潮的彻底结束，中国政府曾经非常害怕阿拉伯之春的热浪会感染本国人民。习近平在那里撒钱，向埃及中央银行提供了10亿美元的贷款，还向国有的埃及国民银行提供了7亿美元的贷款。
At the Arab League, a traditional platform for American leaders, Mr. Xi promised to be different from the other big powers. Iran, however, wants to balance new investments between the West and Asia, and during a visit to Europe last week, a spending spree by President Hassan Rouhani included huge purchases from Total, Peugeot Citroën and Airbus.	然而，伊朗希望平衡西方和亚洲的新投资。上周访问欧洲期间，伊朗总统哈桑·鲁哈尼(Hassan Rouhani)一通采购，道达尔(Total)、标致雪铁龙(Peugeot Citroën)和空中客车(Airbus)等均收获了大笔订单。
Access to Iran's market may not be automatic for another reason. Iranian businessmen have grumbled that the Chinese muscled out domestic industry during the sanctions, and flooded the country with cheap goods.	中国可能无法自动进入伊朗市场还有另外一个原因。伊朗商人抱怨称，在伊朗被制裁期间，中国把伊朗国内的工业挤出局了，导致该国充斥着廉价商品。

Q. and A.: Patrick Bergin on China's Role in Protecting Africa's Wildlife	访谈：帮非洲反盗猎，中国怎样兑现承诺
China has been one of the major markets in the global trade in wildlife products. According to Traffic, the wildlife trade monitoring network, it is the leading consumer of illicit ivory and the second-leading buyer (after Vietnam) of rhinoceros horn. However, China has recently made high-profile commitments to help change this. In September, during his state visit to the United States, President Xi Jinping announced that China would "enact nearly complete bans on ivory import and export." And in December, while Mr. Xi was visiting South Africa, Chinese officials pledged at a meeting of the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation (Focac) to support Africa in its efforts to protect wildlife.	中国是野生动物制品全球贸易的主要市场之一。野生动物贸易监测机构 Traffic 的资料显示，中国是非法象牙的最大消费国，也是犀牛角的第二大购买国（仅次于越南）。然而，近期中国做出了高调的承诺，表示要帮助改变这种状况。去年9月，习近平主席在访美期间宣布，中国将“几近全面禁止象牙进出口”。去年12月，在习近平访问南非期间，中国官员在中非合作论坛（Forum on China-Africa Cooperation, 简称 Focac）的一次会议上承诺，将为非洲在保护野生动物上的努力提供支持。
These moves were applauded by conservationists, among them the African Wildlife Foundation, a Pan-African conservation organization that aims to build international alliances in the battle against poaching and that views China as a crucial partner. Its chief executive, Patrick Bergin, an American who has spent much of his adult life in Africa and frequently visits China, says there is much the Chinese government and its people can do. In an interview in Beijing, he described the challenges and how his group could help.	这些举动赢得了包括非洲野生动物基金会(African Wildlife Foundation)在内的生态保护机构的赞许。该基金会是一个泛非保护组织，目标是为打击偷猎建立国际联盟，而中国被其视为一个重要的合作伙伴。基金会首席执行官帕特里克·伯金(Patrick Bergin)是美国人，在非洲度过了成年后的不少时光，也经常访问中国。伯金表示，中国政府和公众可以做的事情有很多。在北京接受采访时，他谈到了一些挑战，也谈到了他的组织可以提供怎样的帮助。

Q. Why is the African Wildlife Foundation seeking to engage China in helping safeguard Africa's wildlife?	问：为什么非洲野生动物基金会寻求中国的参与，来帮助保护非洲的野生动物？
A. We are Africa's oldest and largest conservation organization. For Africa to succeed in protecting the continent's wildlife and wild lands, we need a partnership with the West and we need a partnership with the East. And when you talk about the East, you are talking about 70 percent about China and 30 percent about everybody else. So I've been coming to China a lot, because we know we need the help of the Chinese government, the Chinese people and Chinese companies for Africa's conservation goals to succeed.	答：我们是非洲历史最悠久、规模最大的生态保护组织。要在保护非洲大陆的野生动物和未开发土地上获得成功，我们既需要与西方的合作，也需要与东方形成伙伴关系。当你提到东方的时候，中国大约占 70%，其他地方占 30%。所以我常常到中国来，因为我们知道，为了在保护非洲的生态方面获得成功，我们需要中国政府、中国公众和中国企业的帮助。
China has a lot to bring to the table. China can also accelerate the destruction if we are not careful. So we like to be in an open dialogue about ways to mitigate destruction, but also to get China's assistance – financial, political, technical – to promote sustainable development.	中国可以做的事有很多。如果不注意的话，中国也可能加速破坏。所以我们想通过开放的对话，讨论有哪些方法可以减少破坏，同时希望中国能在资金、政治和技术等方面帮助促进非洲的可持续发展。
In the Focac's new three-year agenda, for the first time, Africa's wildlife and wild lands have been written into the plan. We think that's very significant. But we need to work quickly to say, What does that mean? Where? Which species? Which projects? Which investments? Our goal eventually is to meet with the Chinese government to offer our recommendations. The three years will go very quickly.	Focac 第一次将非洲野生动物和未开发土地写进了新的三年计划。我们认为这是极其重大的改变。但我们需要尽快行动，要追问这意味着什么？具体指哪些地方？哪些物种？要开展哪些项目？做哪些投入？我们的最终目标是，和中国政府会面，提出我们的建议。三年的时间很快就会过去。
Q. What are some of the things you would like to recommend to the Chinese government?	问：你们想对中国政府提出什么样的建议？
A. When you say China is going to work with Africa, there are 50-something independent states. It's hard to even know where to begin. But Africa is divided into regional economic communities. There	答：说到中国去非洲开展工作，那里可是有 50 多个独立的国家。你甚至无从下手。但各个非洲国家结成了几个区域性的经济体。有东非共同体(East African Community)、南非发展共同体(Southern African Development

is the East African Community, the Southern African Development Community, the Economic Community of Central African States. So the first thing we want to suggest is, let's take each of the big six regional economic blocs of Africa, and let's look at the continent that way. Then within each of these economic regional blocs, let's look at the key elephant populations, the key rhino populations and maybe one or two key landscapes. By landscapes I mean a big national park or a big ecosystem.	Community) 和中非国家经济体(Economic Community of Central African States) 等。所以我们首先想建议的是, 把非洲看成六个大的区域经济体, 从这个角度看这个大洲。然后在每个经济体内, 选择几个关键的大象种群、犀牛种群, 可能再选一两个关键的地貌区, 也就是说大的国家公园或生态系统。
I think that's a really systematic way that China could begin working with Africa. Also with nobody feeling left out.	我认为, 这是一种非常系统的方式, 中国可以用这种方式开启在非洲的工作。而且, 这样也不会让哪个国家觉得自己被落下。
Q. Do you see China playing a positive role in Africa, including in conservation?	问: 你认为中国在非洲发挥着积极的作用吗, 包括在自然保护领域?
A. My view of China in Africa is fundamentally positive. For the 28 years I've been in Africa, Africa is an afterthought for most of the world. But the engagement of China in Africa is a game changer for the continent.	答: 我觉得从根本上讲, 中国在非洲起到的作用是非常正面的。我在非洲工作了 28 年, 对世界大多数国家而言, 那里是个无关紧要的地方。但中国的出现, 彻底改变了局面。
Q. How so?	问: 此话怎讲?
A. For example, Africa needs infrastructure for its economy to take off. And I don't think it's too big of a stretch to say China is building the infrastructure backbone of Africa right now. Airports, seaports, roads, railways and other things like stadiums and so forth. So that's the good side.	答: 比如, 非洲经济要腾飞, 需要基础设施建设。我觉得, 说中国目前正在打造非洲基础设施的框架, 并不为过。他们在那里建设飞机场、海港、公路、铁路和体育场等其他设施。这是好的一面。
Now here is the other side. We have to be careful about where these roads go. We have to be careful about where large-scale agriculture goes. Our view is that the national parks and game reserves should be hands-off.	另一方面, 我们必须注意这些路修在什么地方, 要注意大型农垦区建在哪里。我们认为应该避开国家公园和动物保护区。

What we hear sometimes is you have a national park and a company will come in, maybe Chinese, maybe somebody else, and will start to prospect. And if conservationists say, "Hey, what are you doing?," they say, "No, no, no. We are just prospecting." A year later, you find out they found something, and now they are talking about how to begin to drill for oil, to dig for minerals.	有时候，我们会听到这样的事：这里有一座国家公园，会有企业过来勘探，有可能是中国企业，也可能是别的什么人。如果生态保护人士说，“嘿，你们在干嘛？”他们就会回答，“没事，没事。我们只是在勘探。”一年后，你发现他们找到了东西，他们开始讨论如何钻探石油或开采矿石了。
I would love to see China taking this position, together with African countries, European countries and the West, saying national parks, game reserves, conservation areas, forest reserves are absolutely hands-off. No prospecting. No exploitation.	在这个问题上，我希望能看到中国和非洲、欧洲和西方国家采取一致立场，即国家公园、动物保护区、生态保护区、森林保护区是绝不能染指的。不能勘探，也不能开发。
Q. Is China already helping Africa in conservation?	问：中国已经在给非洲提供生态保护方面的帮助了吗？
A. It is. The government of China has donated 50 vehicles for antipoaching work in Tanzania. And I know that the Chinese government has already made contributions to conservation work in Zimbabwe.	答：是的。中国政府给坦桑尼亚捐赠了 50 辆车，用于开展反偷猎行动。据我所知，中国政府也给津巴布韦的保护工作提供了捐赠。
A.W.F. has initiated talks with the Chinese Embassy in Kenya, and they've asked us for proposals on what we can work on together. So it's country by country, which is a good start. What we'd like to do now is make it systematic and planned across the whole continent.	非洲野生动物基金会主动与中国驻肯尼亚大使馆进行了会谈，他们让我们就双方可以展开什么样的合作提供一些建议。所以，这是单个国家的层面，是个不错的开始。我们现在想做的，是让这种行动在整个大洲范围内系统而有计划地展开。
Q. China is a big reason African wildlife is being poached and trafficked. What more can China do to change that?	问：中国是非洲野生动物盗猎和偷运的一个重要原因。中国还可以做些什么来改变这一点？
A. There are at least three entities: the Chinese government, individual citizens who are consumers and Chinese companies and state-owned enterprises. I think we need the right action from all of these players. Mostly I've been talking about the government. Let's talk about the	答：至少三个方面：中国政府，作为消费者的国民个体，以及中国的公司和国有企业。我想这三方面都需要采取恰当的行动。我多数时间都在说政府。那么来说说另外两个。 other two.

We do need companies and state-owned enterprises to behave in the right way, including what I've mentioned: hands off national parks when Chinese companies are doing construction, or even things like mining or logging in Africa.	我们一定要让公司和国有企业规矩起来, 包括之前提到的: 在国家公园有建设项目的中国公司不要打公园的主意, 甚至包括非洲的矿山和林场之类的地方。
The last week I was in Nairobi, a Chinese citizen was arrested with a small amount of ivory in his luggage. So there are Chinese individuals going to Africa maybe as tourists, maybe as businesspeople, maybe as employees of some of these larger Chinese companies, and they are trying to come back with ivory. So that's the individual behavior that needs to change.	上次我在内罗毕, 有一名中国公民因为在行李里有少量象牙被逮捕了。就是说有一些个别的中国人以游客身份去了非洲, 或者是商人, 或者是一些中国大公司的雇员, 他们回国的时候会企图带一些象牙。这些个别的行为需要做出改变。
Rich people from China are looking for places across the world to park their money. At least some people are parking at least some money in ivory. It's killing the elephants. So that behavior needs to change.	富有的中国人正在世界各地寻财富保值的方式。至少有一部分人正在把至少一部分钱放在象牙上。这害了大象。所以需要改掉这种行为。
Chinese people can be involved financially. You know in Western society, people have been donating. Regular people go on a website and give $20 or $30 or 20 euros. So somebody please go and give 100 renminbi. Regular people should use their social media to educate their friends. People should take safaris when they come to Africa and educate themselves and also help African economies. So our vision for the future is China participating fully in the entire spectrum of conservation.	中国人还可以在资金的层面参与进来。你知道, 在西方社会, 人们是在捐款的。普通人会到网站上, 捐个 20、30 美元或者 20 欧元。所以, 请大家去捐 100 元人民币吧。普通人应该通过社交媒体教育他们的朋友。大家应该到非洲来, 让自己接受一次教育, 也帮助非洲的经济。所以说我们对未来的设想是, 中国能全面参与到各方面的对话中来。

A call for ending the embargo: For years, China has pushed the United States to end its trade embargo of Cuba, saying it is cruel to the Cuban people. Harrowing Trip for Chinese Trawler Before Bump in Territorial Tensions	惊魂航程：被救船员回忆中国印尼南海交锋
BEIHAI, China — In the darkness of the tropical waters of the South China Sea, the shabby, blue-hulled Chinese fishing trawler edged closer to what was almost certain arrest for Zhang Deren, the boat's engineer. He was more than 1,000 miles from his home here in southern China.	中国北海——在南海热带水域的黑暗之中，中国一艘蓝色船身的破旧拖网渔船缓缓接近的地方，几乎肯定会导致船的机轮手张德仁被逮捕，他所在的位置距离中国南部他的家乡有 1000 多海里之远。
Earlier that day, the Indonesian maritime police had boarded his boat, accusing the crew of fishing illegally in Indonesian waters. After the rest of the crew was ordered onto their vessel, the Indonesians instructed Mr. Zhang, a 53-year-old with a weather-beaten face, to follow in the trawler.	当天早些时候，印度尼西亚海警曾登上他的船，指控船员在印尼水域非法捕鱼。印尼方面下令其他船员登上海警船，又指示饱经风霜的 53 岁的张德仁驾驶拖网渔船跟随其后。
At 2 a.m., after a 12-hour journey to the Indonesian shore, help suddenly arrived. A Chinese Coast Guard vessel, as big as a naval frigate, pulled alongside Mr. Zhang's boat. The coast guard then rammed it, separating it from the Indonesian escort.	凌晨 2 时，在朝印尼海岸航行了 12 个小时之后，救援突然出现了。中国海岸警卫队一艘像海军护卫舰一样大的船只，行驶到张德仁的小船附近。然后，这艘海警船撞击小船，让它与印尼船只分离。
"At that moment, I knew I was out of trouble," Mr. Zhang said, telling his tale after a weeklong voyage back to his home port here on the Gulf of Tonkin, close to Vietnam.	"那时候我就知道我没事了，"张德仁讲起他的故事时说。他又经过一周的航行之后，回到了位于北部湾、靠近越南的母港。
Indonesia's furious reaction — and the resulting diplomatic spat with Beijing that erupted late last month — is the latest sign of growing frustration with China over territorial rights in the South China Sea.	印尼对此事的愤怒反应，以及上月底随之产生的与北京的外交争端，是南海上因主权问题对中国日益不满情绪的最新表现。
The United States and countries in the region are increasingly alarmed by the gambits China is using to strengthen its hand: constructing artificial islands suitable for warships and fighter jets, planting oil rigs in disputed waters and using its coast guard to protect China's fishing boats while they operate in waters claimed by others.	美国和该地区的国家对中国在这里加强自己实力的做法越来越担心：中国在修建适用于军舰和战斗机的人工岛，把石油钻井平台开进争议海域，并动用本国海警来保护中国渔船在别国声索的水域作业。

China now boasts the largest coast guard fleet in the world, including two 10,000-ton vessels, known in naval circles as the “monsters” because they are far bigger than anything in the United States Coast Guard, said Ryan D. Martinson, a researcher at the China Maritime Studies Institute at the Naval War College in Rhode Island.	中国拥有目前世界上规模最大的海警舰队，包括两艘万吨级舰艇，这种舰艇被美国海军方面称为“怪物”，因为它们远远大于美国海岸警卫队的任何船只，罗得岛海军战争学院(Naval War College)中国海事研究所研究员瑞安·马丁森(Ryan D. Martinson)说。
China also claims to have the biggest fishing fleet in the world, about one million boats, the government says. Recently, China embarked on a massive fishing boat building program, accompanied by fuel subsidies for the fishermen, and the installation of free navigational systems that help the coast guard keep track of the vessels.	中国也宣称拥有世界上最大的捕鱼船队，政府说，中国有约一百万条渔船。最近，中国开始了一个大规模的渔船建造项目，还为渔民提供燃油补贴和免费的导航系统，该系统有助于中国海警与渔船保持联系。
Southeast Asian nations are also angry that China’s fishing armada, supported by its vigilant coast guard, is plying waters that offer diminishing stocks of fish.	令东南亚国家不满的另一个问题是，中国的捕鱼船队在其高度戒备的海岸警卫队的支持下，正在鱼类资源日益枯竭的水域进行捕捞。

Indonesia's fisheries minister, Susi Pudjiastuti, said Indonesia felt "sabotaged." The Chinese boat was well inside Indonesia's 200-mile exclusive economic zone, which is recognized by international law and overlaps with the nine-dash line.	印尼渔业部长苏西·普吉亚斯图蒂(Susi Pudjiastuti)表示, 印尼感到其执法“被故意妨碍”。中国船只已经深入到国际法承认的印尼 200 海里专属经济区内, 该区域与九段线划出的水域有重叠。
The members of the Chinese fishing crew were detained on the Natuna Islands, and the most senior members, including the captain, are likely to face charges, Ms. Pudjiastuti said.	普吉亚斯图蒂说, 中国渔船的船员已被关押在纳土纳群岛上, 包括船长在内的最高级别船员很可能面临指控。
The Indonesians were justified in their irritation, Mr. Martinson said. "China's claim to jurisdiction over waters within Indonesia's exclusive economic zone on the basis of the nine-dash line is preposterous," he said. "When you add the aggressive pursuit to the territorial sea and the ramming, it is very easy to understand the Indonesian anger."	马丁森说, 印尼方面的愤怒是有理由的。“中国在九段线的基础上, 对印尼专属经济区内的海域声称拥有主权, 是很荒谬的,”他说。“再加上中国在海上的挑衅性追踪以及撞船的方法, 就非常容易理解印尼的愤怒了。”
In Beijing, the Foreign Ministry defended the fishing trawler, saying it was operating in "traditional Chinese fishing grounds," the phrase China often uses in reference to the nine-dash line.	中国外交部在北京捍卫了拖网渔船的行为, 称其作业海域是“中国传统渔场”, 中国常用这个说法来指九段线内的水域。
Back home, Mr. Zhang has been called the "lucky fisherman" who got away.	在家里, 张德仁被称为“幸运渔夫”, 他逃脱了。
He talked about his ordeal from the docks here in Beihai, where fishing vessels that travel all over the South China Sea bring back their hauls, including stingrays, baby sharks and squid.	在南海各处打渔的中国渔船, 会把捕捞到的黄貂鱼、幼鲨和鱿鱼等水产拉到北海的码头。在这里, 他讲述了自己的遭遇。
As the noontime sun was beating down on the fishing boat, and the crew was on deck cleaning the fishing nets of debris from the sea,	当正午的阳光照射到渔船的时候, 船员在甲板上清理渔网里的杂物, 这时有人叫道, “有炮艇,”张德仁说。 someone called, " 'A gunboat is coming,' " Mr. Zhang said.

"It took them about 30 minutes to get near," he said. "I heard two shots — 'pa, pa' — and the sound of their vessel knocking on our ship. Their boat was too small to crash into a large ship like ours. Soon I heard more intensified shooting."	"过了大概半个小时左右他们才靠近,"他说。"然后就听见两枪——'啪, 啪'——然后听见他们的船碰到我们的船。他们船太小了撞不了我们。过了一会枪声又更密了一点。"
Ms. Pudjiastuti, the fisheries minister, said the men on the vessel had been lightly armed.	印尼渔业部长普吉亚斯图蒂说, 船上的人拥有少量武装。
Three Indonesians in dark green camouflage and helmets boarded the trawler and told the members of the crew to squat with their hands on their heads, Mr. Zhang said. They were ordered onto the Indonesian boat, but soon he and the captain were summoned back to their vessel to turn on the engines.	三个穿戴着深绿色迷彩服和头盔的印尼人登上渔船, 让船员蹲下, 把手放在头上, 张德仁说。他们被命令登上印尼船只, 但很快, 他就和船长一起被叫回到自己的船上去开动轮机。
By that time, he said, the captain had alerted the Chinese Coast Guard of their predicament. With the three Indonesians still on board, Mr. Zhang said, he drove the boat at less than maximum speed, hoping the coast guard would rescue them before they reached Indonesia.	他说, 那时船长已经把事情报告给了中国海岸警卫队。三个印尼人仍在船上。张德仁说, 他没有用最快速度开船, 希望海岸警卫队能在到达印尼之前把他们救出。
He was sleeping when the captain yelled that the Chinese Coast Guard had arrived. "The Chinese Coast Guard vessel was huge," Mr. Zhang said. "They were more than twice our size. They announced over a loudspeaker: 'This is the Chinese Coast Guard.'"	他睡觉的时候, 船长大喊, 中国海岸警卫队已经来了。"中国海岸警卫队船很大,"张德仁说。"比我们的大一倍多。他们用一个扩音器喊话: '这里是中国海岸警卫队'。"
When the coast guard cutter rammed the trawler to free it, the Indonesian police officers who had remained aboard with Mr. Zhang ramped up the engines to try to get away.	海岸警卫队的快艇撞向拖网渔船, 想解救它, 与张德仁一起留在船上的印尼警察将轮机加速, 试图逃开。

The Chinese Coast Guard called out to him: "Can you drive the boat? I said, 'So-so.'"	中国海岸警卫队对他喊道：“你能不能开船？”我说，“还可以。”
Mr. Zhang said the two boats had then traveled together for about a week back to Beihai.	张德仁说，然后两艘船一起航行了大约一周时间，回到北海。
At the dock, the boat owner, Chen Jifa, said he was confident the Chinese government had the power to arrange the return of the detained crew.	在码头上，船主陈继发说，他相信中国政府有能力安排被扣船员回国。
When asked if the trawler had been fishing in Indonesian territorial waters, Mr. Zhang said: "I'm not quite sure. I'm only an engineer." Then he added with a laugh, "But it is probable."	当被问及这艘拖网渔船是否在印尼水域捕鱼时，张德仁说：“我也不清楚，我就是个机轮手。”接着他笑着说，“可能吧。”

In China, Homeowners Find Themselves in a Land of Doubt	产权到期的尴尬：中国房主仍是国家土地上的租客
WENZHOU, China — Chen Furong and his wife bought their home 23 years ago for its proximity to the city center and for the tree-lined canal just outside. Their dream was to pass it on to their children and grandchildren, a piece of wealth giving their family a share of China’s economic miracle.	中国温州——在 23 年前，陈福荣和妻子买下了一处靠近市中心的住房，位于绿树成荫的运河旁。这处房产是他们家在中国经济奇迹中获得的自己那部分的财富，夫妻俩梦想着把它传给子孙后代。
Then their neighbor tried to sell her place — and it was all thrown into doubt.	然后，当他们的邻居试图出售自己的房产时，事情就变得不确定起来。
Like every other homeowner in China, Mr. Chen and his neighbor own their homes but not the land underneath them. All land in China is owned by the government, which parcels it out to developers and homeowners through 20- to 70-year leases.	就像中国的其他所有房主一样，陈福荣和邻居是自己住房的所有者，但房屋下面的土地却不属于他们。中国所有的土地都属于政府，以 20 到 70 年的租约出租给了开发商和房主。
When the neighbor — whose surname is Wang — tried to sell her apartment, local officials told her that her lease on the land had expired. To sell her apartment, they told her, she would have to pay them one-third of the sales value.	这位邻居姓王。当她试图出售自己的公寓时，当地官员告诉她，土地租约已经到期。他们对她说，要想出售公寓，她就必须向他们支付房屋售价的三分之一。

Ms. Wang protested in a move that drew national attention. Suddenly millions of Chinese who had socked away billions — and possibly trillions — of dollars were worried as well. If the local authorities in other parts of China did the same thing, they thought, a big chunk of their own wealth could end up with the government as well.	王女士的抗议在全国引发了关注。突然之间，在房产上投入了数亿——乃至数万亿——资金的无数中国人，都变得忧心忡忡起来。他们认为，如果中国其他地区的地方当局也采取同样的做法，自己的很大一部分财富就可能落入政府手里。
“What will happen after our land lease expires?” asked Mr. Chen, 69, who with his wife holds a 70-year lease. “I will be dead when the lease expires, but will I be able to give it to my son?”	“我们的土地产权到期后会发生什么？”69岁的陈先生发问。他和妻子手中的租期为70年。“到期的时候我可能已经过世，但我可以把它留给儿子吗？”
China’s erratic stock market and its strict limits on sending money overseas have prompted many Chinese families to invest in residential real estate. China’s families have put nearly two-thirds of their wealth into housing, estimates Li Gan, a professor of economics at Texas A&M University who runs a widely read survey of Chinese households. Some own two or more homes and buy or sell them the way American investors play the stock market.	中国的股市震荡不断，对向海外汇款又施加了严格限制，因此很多中国家庭把资金投向了住宅。德克萨斯州农工大学(Texas A&M University)经济学教授甘犁表示，中国家庭把近三分之二的财富投入到了住房上。他主持的中国家庭调查有很多读者。一些家庭拥有两处或更多房产，就像美国投资者炒股一样进行买卖。
That pot of household wealth is crucial to China’s efforts to take its economy to the next level. As reliable sources of growth like exports and manufacturing falter, China is trying to turn its households into American-style consumers. Faith in their home savings would make them more likely to open their wallets.	中国想要在经济方面更上一层楼，公众的家庭财富是个关键。随着出口和制造业这些可靠的增长来源走弱，中国正在试图把公众变成美国风格的消费者。如果对家庭财富有信心，人们会更容易打开钱包消费。
But even as it has pushed for increased homeownership, the Chinese Communist Party has done little to loosen its grip on the nation’s land. The party attacked private landlords during its rise to power, and when it took control, it nationalized all land, following the Soviet model. Although the death of Mao Zedong led to reforms that allowed people	但是，即使中国共产党在推动住房拥有率的提升，它却几乎没有采取行动来放松国家对土地的控制权。中共在崛起期间对地主进行过打击，上台之后又采取了苏联模式，将所有的土地国有化。虽然在毛泽东逝世之后进行了改革，人们可以拥有自己的住房，但土地所有权继续掌握在中央政府手中，也成了它在中国经济中的主要筹码。

to own their own homes, the central government continued to retain title to the land, giving it a major lever in China's economy.
Some experts say the central government cannot continue to serve as national landlord. "Our country still believes in an ideology that is already outdated," said Mao Yushi, a prominent economist who previously directed the Unirule Institute of Economics, a Beijing research firm. "The patriarch of public ownership, the Soviet Union, has collapsed already, but we are still holding onto public ownership."	一些专家认为，中央政府不能再继续充当“国家地主”了。“我们国家仍然相信一个过时的理念，”著名经济学家、北京天则经济研究所前所长茅于軾说。“公有制的老祖宗苏联已经垮台了。我们还在坚持。”
Giving land to the people would not be easy. Local governments in China do not have the power to levy taxes, so leasing land is one of the few ways they have to raise money.	把土地分给公众也不是那么容易。地方政府没有征税的权力，因此，土地出让金是他们为数不多的资金筹集的途径之一。
Allowing Chinese to own land could also concentrate wealth in the hands of a few, Mr. Mao said. "So how would we tax those who end up owning the vast swath?" he asked.	茅于軾表示，让个人获得土地所有权可能也会导致财富集中在少数人手中。“对大量土地所有者要怎么征税？”他问道。
In 2007, China moved to reassure homeowners by requiring local governments to renew 70-year leases automatically. Yet the law was silent on whether homeowners would have to pay for the renewal and what would happen to those with shorter leases.	在2007年，为了安抚房主，中国开始要求地方政府对70年的产权进行自动续约。然而，对于房主是否需要交钱续约，短于70年的租约又会怎么样，法律上却没有动静。
China's Legislature needs to resolve this issue, said Sun Yuhua, an associate researcher at the East China University of Political Science and Law. "Otherwise," he said, "it will trigger huge disputes."	华东政法大学助理研究员孙煜华说，中国的立法机构需要解决这一问题。“否则会造成巨大纠纷，”他说。
Uncertainties about land leases come at a time of broader concerns about the affordability of housing in China. Some smaller cities have gluts of unoccupied apartments, but housing prices have risen steadily in wealthy cities like Shanghai and Beijing.	土地租约不确定性问题的爆发，正值中国公众对住房价格的承受力在引发更广泛的担忧。在一些规模较小的城市，空置的公寓房供过于求，但在上海和北京这样的富裕城市，住房价格却在稳步上升。

As the state-run Global Times said in a May 4 commentary, "For millions of home buyers, after paying an already exorbitant house price in the overheated market, another hit to their savings will be hard to accept."	正如国有报纸《环球时报》5月4日的一篇评论文章所言，“千百万购房者已经在过热的市场上为高房价买了单，很难接受其积蓄将再度缩水的事实。”
Beijing is keeping a close eye on events in Wenzhou, a coastal city of eight million people in eastern China that was one of the first to set up private enterprise after China opened up its economy in the late 1970s. The government's land ministry sent an inspection team to Wenzhou in April, according to state media. National and local government officials declined to comment.	温州是一个人口 800 万的东部沿海城市，也是中国在 20 世纪 70 年代末实施改革开放以后最先创办私企的城市之一。北京方面正密切关注这里的动向。据国有媒体报道，今年 4 月，国土部曾派工作组前往温州调研。中央和地方政府部门的官员拒绝置评。
At least three Wenzhou neighborhoods have been hit by government requests for money to renew land leases, including Henghe North, where Ms. Wang and Mr. Chen live. The Chens' home is typical of the area's modest dwellings. Nestled on the third floor of a gray-tiled building, the apartment crams two bedrooms into 580 square feet.	在温州，至少有三个小区的业主被政府要求缴纳土地使用证续期费用，其中包括王女士居住的横河北小区。陈福荣夫妇住在该小区一处不起眼的普通住宅里。他们的公寓位于一栋灰砖建筑的三楼，有两间卧室，面积仅为 54 平方米左右，显得颇为局促。
A blocky complex of buildings, Henghe North is bordered by a busy avenue lined with noodle stands, vegetable markets and other small shops. Trees and flower beds grow along the canal that abuts the development. Mr. Chen said local people pooled their money to build a community center designed like a Chinese temple.	横河北小区是一片方头方脑的建筑，与之毗邻的一条面繁忙街道上林立着面摊、菜市场以及其他小店。小区旁边，树木与花坛沿着运河河岸排列开来。陈福荣说，这里的社区中心是当地居民集资修建的，设计得好像一座中国寺庙。
The unassuming neighborhood was turned upside down by Ms. Wang's discovery. Local apartment owners started checking their lease documents. Chinese reporters went door to door, especially in Ms. Wang's building. "There were so many journalists here that she didn't want to talk to anyone," Mr. Chen said.	这个不起眼的社区被王女士的惊人发现搅了个天翻地覆。业主们纷纷开始查看他们的土地使用证。中国记者挨家挨户采访，尤其是在王女士住的那栋楼里。“记者实在太多，所以她都不想接受任何采访了，”陈福荣说。

Property records in China are spotty, relatively new and unavailable to the public. According to her neighbors and local media, Ms. Wang and her family bought her 860-square-foot apartment three years ago for 1.4 million renminbi, or about $210,000 at today's exchange rates.	在中国，地产记录的完备程度参差不齐，相关记录都是比较新近的时间建立的，且不对公众开放。根据王女士的邻居和当地媒体的说法，三年前，王女士一家花 140 万人民币（以当前汇率计，约合 21 万美元）买下了她那套面积约为 80 平方米的公寓。
Several blocks away, residents of another affected neighborhood, Shuixin, wondered what would happen when they tried to sell their apartments.	几个街区之外，同样受到影响的水心小区的居民想要知道，当他们试图卖掉自己的公寓时会发生什么。

"For example," he added, "if you are buying a new apartment and using your current apartment, with a 20-year lease, as collateral to borrow money, you won't be able to do so. If the banks see your land lease is expiring, they won't lend you money."	"举个例子，"他继续说道，"如果你要买一套新公寓，想用手上的一套土地使用期限为 20 年的公寓申请抵押贷款，银行是不会借钱给你的。"

"At that time, the whole world applauded and thanked China," Mr. Lou told a news briefing near the end of a day of annual meetings in Beijing between senior Chinese and American officials. But what did they say at the time?"	"当时全球都为中国叫好，感谢中国，"楼继伟在当天会议即将结束时的一场新闻发布会上说。"现在说中国产能过剩对全球造成拖累，当时怎么说的？"眼下，美中两国的高级官员正齐聚北京，召开一年一度的会议。
Mr. Lou was responding to questions about the Treasury Secretary Jacob J. China's exports of cut-price steel, aluminum and other products have become a contentious international issue, prompting anti-dumping tariffs and feeding into the American presidential race. Donald J. Mr. Lou declined to offer his own figure, citing as one example the number of factories in private hands, which tend to have fewer workers than China's state-owned mills. The government cannot control the economy through central planning in the way it once did, Mr. Lou said. "So it's very hard to estimate how many people you reduce if you reduce steel production by 10,000 tons."	楼继伟拒绝透露他自己的估计，仅举了私营工厂的数量作为例子。私营工厂的工人往往比国有工厂少。楼继伟称，政府不能像以前那样，通过中央计划的方式来控制经济。“所以就很难估量，减少一万吨钢能减少多少人。”

For more than three years, China has refused to participate in the proceedings of an international tribunal considering a challenge to its expansive claims in the South China Sea, arguing that the panel has no jurisdiction to rule on the dispute with the Philippines.	三年多以来，中国一直拒绝出席一个国际仲裁机构的诉讼，称仲裁庭无权就中国与菲律宾的争端做出裁决。该仲裁机构正在审议中国在南海的广泛主张所受到的挑战。
But with a decision scheduled to be announced next week, Beijing seems to be getting nervous. In a show of strength, it kicked off a week of naval exercises in the South China Sea on Tuesday near the disputed Paracel Islands, where the Chinese military has installed surface-to-air missiles.	裁决定于下周宣布。但此时，北京似乎开始紧张起来。为了显示实力，中国周二开始在南海进行海上演习。演习将持续一周，具体地点在有争议的帕拉塞尔群岛（Paracel Islands，中国称西沙群岛——译注）附近，中国军方在该群岛部署了地对空导弹。
And in recent months, it has mounted an arduous campaign outside the courtroom to rebut the Philippines and undermine the tribunal, enlisting countries from Russia to Togo to support its claim to waters that include vital trade routes and may hold oil and other natural resources.	而最近几个月，中国在仲裁庭外还发起了一场艰难的运动，意在反驳菲律宾，削弱该仲裁机构的权威，并争取俄罗斯、多哥等多国对相关水域主张的支持。涉及的水域包括至关重要的贸易路线，可能蕴藏着石油和其他自然资源。
The flurry of activity is a sign of how much is at stake in what was once an obscure legal case before an obscure arbitration panel. The outcome could alter the dynamics of the South China Sea conflict, shifting it from a race to establish physical dominance over the waters to a conspicuous test of Beijing's respect for international law and multilateral institutions.	这原本是一桩鲜为人知的案件，被提交给了一个不起眼的仲裁庭，而中国的一系列活动却表明此事干系重大。仲裁结果可能会改变南海冲突的局势，将其从一场为在相关水域建立实际的主导地位而展开的竞赛，变成对北京的一次引人注目的考验，看它是否尊重国际法和多边机构。
China has pulled ahead in the physical race, dredging sand to build one island after another over the objections of its neighbors and the United States, and equipping many of the islands with airstrips and radar. But if	在实际竞赛中，中国遥遥领先。它不顾邻国和美国的反对，用挖泥船挖的泥沙修建了一座又一座岛屿，并为很多岛屿配备了飞机跑道和雷达。但如果前述仲裁机构在关键问题上做出了有利于菲律宾的裁决，便会迫使中国国家主

For example, it has asked the tribunal to declare that nine specific reefs and rocks, including some that China has built into artificial islands, are too small to be used to assert economic rights to the waters around them, regardless of who controls them.	比如，它请求仲裁庭宣布九处特定的珊瑚礁和岩石——中国将其中一些建成了人工岛——面积太小，不能用来宣称对周边海域拥有经济权利，不管它们目前由谁控制。
The Convention on the Law of the Sea allows a nation to exercise sovereignty over waters up to 12 nautical miles from its coast, and it grants economic rights over waters on a nation's continental shelf and to 200 nautical miles from its coast. But the treaty says reefs that are entirely submerged at high tide and artificial islands cannot be used to justify any maritime rights.	《海洋法公约》允许一国在距离其海岸最远 12 海里远的水域行使主权，也允许在大陆架上方和距离海岸 200 海里以内水域拥有经济权利。但这项公约表示，在满潮时完全沉入海中的礁石和人工岛不能作为获得任何海洋权的依据。
Philippine officials have asked the tribunal to find that China has violated the treaty by building islands in the Philippines' economic waters, interfering with its fishermen, endangering its ships and damaging the marine environment.	菲律宾官员请求仲裁庭判决中国违反了公约，因为后者在菲律宾的经济水域建人工岛，打扰该国渔民，危及该国船只和海洋环境。
The Philippines' most sweeping demand is for the tribunal to reject China's claim to sovereignty over waters within a "nine-dash line" that encircles almost all of the South China Sea.	菲律宾提出的影响范围最大的要求是让仲裁庭驳回中国对“九段线”以内水域宣示的主权。“九段线”几乎涵盖了整片南海。

Critics say the Chinese government gave up any special claim to the sea when it signed the United Nations treaty in 1996, during a period when it sought respectability on the global stage.	批评人士表示，在 1996 年签署《联合国海洋法公约》时，中国政府就放弃了对这片海域的任何特别权利主张。那一时期，中国竭力在国际舞台上获得好名声。
Now, Beijing may believe it has enough clout to ignore the treaty. It has labeled the arbitration court a "law-abusing tribunal" and its proceedings a "farce." Chinese diplomats have suggested that the government may even renounce the treaty.	现在，北京可能认为它有足够大的影响力，可以忽略这一条约。它称仲裁法院是“滥用法律的仲裁机构”，称它的仲裁程序是一场“闹剧”。中国外交官表示，政府甚至有可能退出公约。
"We will not accept it or recognize it," a Foreign Ministry spokesman, Lu Kang, said of the coming ruling.	“我们根本不承认、不参与，我们也不会接受，”中国外交部发言人陆慷谈及即将公布的裁决时表示。
That position has made some in China uncomfortable, including foreign policy experts who have privately criticized the government's position, saying that China has ceded the moral high ground in its rivalry with the United States.	这一立场令一些中国人不安，其中包括在私下批评政府立场的外交政策专家。他们称，在与美国的竞争中，中国放弃了道德制高点。

China’s Foreign Ministry says that dozens of countries have endorsed its position, and reports about foreign politicians denouncing the tribunal appear in the state-run news media almost daily. But Beijing has adopted a broad interpretation of what it means to have won over a country. Some analysts have suggested that he might respond to a ruling against China by moving even more aggressively in the South China Sea and taking steps to transform Scarborough Shoal into an artificial island.	一些分析人士表示, 他可能会对不利于中国的裁决做出反应, 在南海进行更激进的动作, 采取措施将斯卡伯勒浅滩变成人工岛。

China on Track to Add Coal Plants Despite Pledge for Curbs, Greenpeace Says	报告称中国未来每周新增一座燃煤电厂
BEIJING — The Chinese government is trying to slow down the	北京——据绿色和平组织东亚分部周三公布的一份报告称, 由于产能过剩,

approval of new coal-fired power plants because of overcapacity, but projects already in the pipeline, as well as loopholes in policy, mean China is on track to add an average of one new coal-fired plant a week until 2020, according to a report released on Wednesday by Greenpeace East Asia.	中国政府正在努力放缓新燃煤电厂的审批, 但是已经批准的项目与政策中的漏洞, 意味着中国在 2020 年到来前, 仍在以平均每周一个的速度建设新的燃煤电厂。
The construction boom would result in about 400 gigawatts of excess capacity and would waste more than one trillion renminbi, or $150 billion, on building unneeded plants, the report said.	报告称, 这个建设热潮将在不必要的燃煤电厂上浪费超过 1 万亿元人民币的投资, 并导致约 400 千兆瓦的过剩产能。
China now has 910 gigawatts of coal-fired capacity and is expected to retire 70 gigawatts of that. The new construction means the country would increase capacity at a time when additional coal-fired power is not needed, Greenpeace said.	中国目前的燃煤发电能力是 910 千兆瓦, 其中有 70 千兆瓦的产能预计将被淘汰。绿色和平组织表示, 新的建设项目意味着, 在不需要更多燃煤电厂的时候, 中国仍在增加产能。
As part of its broad climate change policy, China — the world’s biggest emitter of greenhouse gases — has promised that it would try to make 20 percent of its energy renewable by 2030. But given the planned growth in coal power capacity, some environmentalists question that goal.	中国是世界上最大的温室气体排放国, 作为其应对气候变化的全面政策的一部分, 中国已经承诺争取在 2030 年前将能源组合中的 20% 变为可再生能源。但考虑到计划中的燃煤发电能力的增长, 一些环保人士对这个目标的实现表示怀疑。
“China’s worsening coal overcapacity crisis is acting as a dead weight on the country’s ongoing energy transition,” said Lauri Myllyvirta, who wrote the report with Shen Xinyi.	“中国日益严重的燃煤电厂产能过剩的危机, 是中国目前能源转型的沉重负担,” 柳力(Lauri Myllyvirta)说, 他与沈昕一一起撰写了这份报告。
Representatives of China’s hydropower and wind power industries have complained of the glut of coal power plants. The addition of a large number of such plants would make it harder for companies specializing in non-fossil-fuel energy to be profitable because coal-fired plants can more easily secure contracts with the major state-owned electrical grid	中国的水电、风电等行业的代表已经在抱怨燃煤电厂产能过剩的问题。燃煤电厂的大量增长将让致力于非化石燃料的公司更难盈利, 因为燃煤电厂更容易从国有的电网公司获得入网合同。

companies.
Mr. Myllyvirta and other Greenpeace researchers have been trying to calculate the amount of overcapacity of coal-fired power plants in China. Greenpeace East Asia released its first report on the topic in November, noting that 155 projects had received a permit in 2015, equal to 40 percent of operational coal power plants in the United States.	柳力及绿色和平组织的其他研究人员一直在试图计算中国燃煤发电的过剩产能。绿色和平组织东亚分部在去年11月份首次发布有关报告指出，共有155个燃煤电厂项目在2015年获得了许可，相当于美国目前运营的燃煤电厂总数的40%。
In March, Greenpeace revised that number upward, saying 210 new or proposed plants, with a total capacity of 165 gigawatts, had received environmental permits last year. Greenpeace tracked China's proposed capacity by examining provincial websites for permit approvals.	今年3月，绿色和平组织调高了这个数字，称去年有210座新建或拟建燃煤电厂获得了环境许可，总装机容量达165千兆瓦。绿色和平组织通过在省政府的网站上查找许可证的审批信息，来跟踪中国拟建的煤电产能。
There are already too many coal-fired power plants in China, as shown by a steady decline in the plants' average operating hours since 2013, according to official statistics. China also used less coal in 2015 compared with 2014, and coal-producing companies across China have complained of a deepening slump in the industry.	据官方统计，中国目前已经拥有过多的燃煤电厂，而产能过剩表现在，自2013年以来，燃煤电厂平均运行的小时数在持续下降。中国2015年的煤炭使用量与2014年相比有所减少，中国各地的煤炭生产企业也在抱怨煤炭行业日益深化的衰退。
The boom in approval of coal-fired power plants began in early 2015, after the central government said provincial governments could approve projects.	燃煤电厂的审批热潮始于2015年初，那之前，中央政府曾表示，省级政府可批准这类项目。
But the central government has tried to rein in the approvals, and it announced a policy in April to limit capacity and retire some plants. Under that policy, about 110 gigawatts of proposed capacity would be suspended and 70 gigawatts would be retired by 2020, according to the Greenpeace report on Wednesday.	但是，中央政府后来试图严格控制审批，并在今年4月宣布了一项限制产能和淘汰一些燃煤电厂的政策。绿色和平组织周三的报告称，按照这一政策，大约110千兆瓦的拟建产能将暂停，现有产能中的70千兆瓦将在2020年前被淘汰。
But plants that would add 200 gigawatts are already under	但是，绿色和平组织表示，已经开工的燃煤电厂将增添200千兆瓦的产能，

construction, and projects adding 165 gigawatts could get permits despite the new limits, Greenpeace said.	尽管出台了新的限制，仍有许多燃煤电厂有望拿到许可证，这些电厂将进一步增添 165 千兆瓦的产能。
Mr. Myllyvirta said that he and his colleagues estimated there would be 600 new coal-fired units, or boilers, at 290 plant sites.	柳力说，他和他的同事们估计，将有 600 个新的燃煤机组分布在各地的 290 个燃煤电厂中。
Greenpeace said that northern and northwestern provinces and regions that are designated new “coal bases” have been trying to approve or build plants as quickly as possible. These include the provinces of Shanxi and Shaanxi and the region of Inner Mongolia, all of which have large coal reserves and whose economies depend on coal.	绿色和平组织说，北部和西北省份、以及那些被指定为新“煤炭基地”的地区正在试图尽快地批准或建设煤电项目。其中包括山西省、陕西省以及内蒙古，都是拥有巨大煤炭储量、经济依赖煤炭的地方。
The industrial burning of coal is the biggest source of carbon dioxide, the main greenhouse gas responsible for climate change. It is also the main contributor to the air pollution in many Chinese cities.	工业燃煤是二氧化碳的最大来源，二氧化碳是导致气候变化的主要温室气体。燃煤也是中国许多城市空气污染的主要原因。

What China’s Economic Growth Figures Mean	中国二季度 GDP 数据背后的多重信息
HONG KONG — China on Friday reported its second-quarter economic growth figures. The numbers are among the world’s most closely watched because the country has been a major driver of global economic growth. But data from China are notoriously questionable. This is what you should take away from Friday’s results.	香港——上周五，中国通报了二季度的经济增长数据。由于中国是全球经济增长的主要推动力，它们在全世界最受关注的的数据之一。但众所周知，中国公布的数据比较可疑。以下是读者应该从周五公布的数据背后看到的信息。
China to World: Everything Is O.K.	中国昭告世界：一切正常
China’s second-quarter gross domestic product rose 6.7 percent compared with a year ago.	中国二季度国内生产总值同比增长 6.7%。
Friday’s figure suggests there’s no reason to panic. China’s economy is slowing but at a reasonable, steady pace well in line with Beijing’s expectations. It also matches the first-quarter number, and still came in	周五公布的数据显示没必要恐慌。中国的经济在放缓，但速度合理且平稳，与北京的预期完全相符。这个数字与一季度持平，仍是令其他国家忌妒的增长速度。

at a pace that other countries envy.
Looking a bit closer, it's clear that China's slowdown is uneven. Some sectors, like mining and manufacturing, are being clobbered. Others, like e-commerce and nontraditional finance, are relative bright spots, while the housing market in some big cities is downright frothy.	稍微拉近距离观察，中国的放缓显然是不平衡的。一些领域遭受重创，如采矿和制造业。另一些行业，如电子商务和非传统金融，相对而言是亮点，而一些大城市的房地产市场则充满泡沫。
China's Property Market Is Back — for Now	中国房地产市场复苏——暂时是这样
China's property investment in the first six months of the year rose 6.1 percent from a year ago, compared with 7 percent in the January-to-May period.	中国上半年的房地产市场投资同比增加 6.1%，而 1 至 5 月份的增速为 7%。
That slight slowdown in June offers a reminder that new strength from China's property sector has been pretty uneven.	6 月的小幅回落是一个警告，表明在中国房地产市场重现的势头非常不均衡。
To be sure, the rebound in the property market is helping to prop up growth across the country. Roughly one-quarter of China's economic activity is related to property. Last year a drop in the market hit China's growth results, as investors worried about an oversupply of unsold homes, especially in smaller cities, and put their money into stocks instead.	房地产市场的复苏无疑正在帮助支撑全国的增长。中国大致四分之一的经济活动和房地产有关。去年，房地产市场的衰退打击了中国的增长数据，因为投资者担心未售房屋供大于求，特别是较小的城市，于是将资金投入股市。
Those worries appear to have been swept aside. Land purchases by developers have recovered as builders turn more optimistic. That is also good for local governments, which rely on revenue from land sales to	这些担忧似乎已一扫而空。随着建筑商变得更加乐观，开发商拿地热情恢复。这也有利于地方政府，它们的开支有相当一部分来自卖地的收入。新住宅销量和开发商的开工项目数量也强势反弹。

fund a huge portion of their spending. New home sales and construction starts by developers are also rebounding strongly.
The question is how sustainable this property recovery might be. Home prices in rich metropolises like Shenzhen and Shanghai are rising at rates reminiscent of dot-com stocks of another era. If the property market becomes just another Chinese bubble, it may not help offset the sharp slowdown among China's factories.	问题是，房地产市场复苏的可持续性怎么样。深圳和上海等富裕城市的房价上涨速度，让人想起了另一个时代的网络公司股票。如果房地产市场成为中国的另一个泡沫，那么它可能无助于抵消中国众多工厂的急剧放缓。
Factories Are Still Struggling	工厂依然举步维艰
China's June industrial production rose 6.2 percent from a year earlier, compared with 6 percent in May.	中国6月的工业生产同比增长6.2%，比5月份加快0.2个百分点。
Many traditional smokestack industries in China are still struggling, and that is dragging down the broader economy. Despite the slight rise in the June figure, industrial production data indicates that the manufacturing deceleration that China has seen for the last six years shows few signs of bottoming out.	中国的很多传统重工业领域依然举步维艰，这正在拖累整体经济。尽管6月的数据出现了小幅上升，但工业生产数据表明，中国持续了六年的制造业减速仍看不到触底的迹象。
China's zombie factories — many state owned or state supported — continue to churn out goods that nobody buys. Weak overseas demand is another problem, and exports have continued to contract this year.	中国的僵尸工厂——很多属于国有或获得了国家的支持——依然在大量生产无人购买的商品。海外需求疲软是另一个问题，今年出口依然在收缩。
There could be some light at the end of the tunnel. Factories would get a big lift if they could regain pricing power. Data on factory pricing shows that deflation appears to be easing at last after four tough years.	可能会有苦尽甘来的时候。如果能重获定价权，工厂可能会得到极大的提振。工厂定价数据表明，在苦熬了四年后，通货紧缩似乎终于开始减缓。
But the bigger hope is that consumer demand can replace traditional industry as the main driver of China's economy.	但更大的希望是，消费需求能取代传统工业，成为中国经济的主要推动力。
Are Shoppers Taking a Break?	消费者正在休息吗？
China's June retail sales rose 10.6 percent from a year ago.	6月，中国零售额同比增加10.6%。

At first glance, Chinese consumers do appear to be stepping up their game, as June's figure was an improvement from May's. But May's figure was the weakest rate since the 2003 outbreak of SARS, once seasonal distortions like holidays are factored out.	乍一看，中国消费者的确表现得像是购买力在增加，因为6月的数据同5月的相比有所改善。但一旦排除了节假日等季节性扭曲因素，5月的数据是自2003年急性非典型性肺炎(SARS)爆发以来最低的。
China bulls often point to the blistering pace of expansion of e-commerce as one of the country's brightest growth spots. Online sales of goods rose 27 percent in the first six months, data released Friday showed. Still, that is down sharply from their growth rate a year ago China bears would argue that online shopping platforms are just cannibalizing sales from traditional department stores.	看好中国的人往往会把电子商务扩张迅速作为中国最亮的增长点之一。周五公布的数据显示，上半年在线销售额增加27%。但这依然远低于一年前的增长速度。看空中国的人则认为，在线购物平台只是在蚕食传统百货商店的销售额。
State Spending to the Rescue	政府开支救场
Government investment in fixed assets rose 23.5 percent in the first six months, while growth in private investment slowed to 2.8 percent.	上半年，政府固定资产投资增加23.5%，民间投资增速降至2.8%。
China has seen a dramatic falloff in investment by the private sector, previously China's biggest engine of investment growth. That could have been hugely destabilizing for employment, wages and the economy as a whole. But the government has stepped in with gusto, ramping up investment by the state.	曾是中国最大的投资增长引擎的民间投资急剧下滑。这本来会严重影响就业、工资和整体经济的稳定性。但政府大举介入，增加政府投资。
There are signs that Beijing is getting less bang for its buck, however, as new infrastructure works and other projects fail to generate the same economic returns that they did in years past. What's more, this investment surge is being bankrolled by an expanding credit binge. New bank lending has been growing gangbusters this year, raising the risk that China will face a painful day of reckoning further down the road.	然而，多个迹象表明，因为新建的基础设施工程和其他项目不能产生过去几年那样的经济回报，北京正在收紧开支。此外，这种投资增长是受了一股愈演愈烈的信贷狂潮的推动。新增银行贷款今年急速增加，让人愈发担心中国在未来会因此受到痛苦的惩罚。

LEIZHOU, China — Mo Ping for years made his living by tending the mango and jujube trees that he grew on less than an acre on this tip of land in the far south of China. Then last year Mr. Mo and others in his village near the city of Leizhou received what they considered a lowball offer to sell their land to make way for a $1.5 billion coal-fired power plant. Most rejected it, but the local government sent in bulldozers anyway.	中国雷州——多年来，莫平在中国大陆最南边的这块不足一英亩的土地上种植芒果和枣树，以此谋生。然而，到了去年，生活在雷州市郊这座村子的莫平等人接到了通知，要他们出售土地，为一座投资 100 亿元人民币的火力发电厂让道。他们觉得出价太低，多数人拒绝，但当地政府还是派了推土机过来。
"There were several hundred police on the scene, and they wouldn't allow us to get anywhere near the farm," said Mr. Mo, a 51-year-old with dirt caked under his close-trimmed fingernails. The coal plant is part of a huge and expensive government push to reinvigorate the Chinese economy. Officials have fast-tracked the plant in recent months along with scores of bridges, railways, factories and other construction projects to counter an economic slowdown. China on Friday reported that its economy grew 6.7 percent in the quarter ended in June compared with a year ago, a level that matches the slowest pace since the global financial crisis.	政府为重振中国经济正在进行规模庞大、花销不菲的努力，而这家煤电厂属于其中一个项目。近几个月里，官方快速审批了这家工厂，还有其他许许多多的桥梁、铁路和工厂等建设工程，希望以此对抗经济放缓。中国上周五公布，截至今年 6 月的那个季度，经济同比增长了 6.7%。这一速率是全球金融危机以来的最低水平。

Instead of new growth, "we're going to continue to see a rise in debt levels, and credit not really having the impact that it could to support the economy," said Julian Evans-Pritchard, China economist at Capital Economics.	凯投宏观(Capital Economics)研究中国问题的经济师朱利安·埃文斯-普里查德(Julian Evans-Pritchard)表示，这样不会带来新的增长，“而是会持续看到债务水平的上升，信贷也不会真正起到支撑经济的应有效果。”
Late last year, as China's economy slowed, officials ramped up project approvals to stir up more economic activity. At the same time, the country unleashed a lending spree through its state-controlled banks. Credit in China is now growing four times as fast as the broader economy, estimates George Magnus, an associate at the China Center at Oxford University and a senior adviser at UBS, the Swiss bank.	去年底的时候，随着中国经济的放缓，官方加快了项目审批的步伐，希望激发更多的经济活动。与此同时，中国还通过国家控制的银行系统释放了一轮借贷潮。牛津大学(Oxford University)中国中心研究员、瑞银(UBS)高级顾问乔治·马格努斯(George Magnus)表示，中国目前的信贷增长速率是宏观经济的四倍。
But thanks in part to the post-crisis stimulus effort, China's corporate debt now amounts to 160 percent of its economic output and is growing fast, according to a recent International Monetary Fund report. With so much debt on their books, Chinese companies are less able to spend on new projects, even with generous government aid, because they face large outlays for interest costs.	不过，根据国际货币基金组织(International Monetary Fund)近期出炉的一份报告，部分由于金融危机之后的经济刺激政策，中国的企业债务水平目前相当于经济产出的160%，而且还在快速累积。账面上债务高企，就算政府慷慨解囊，中国企业在新项目上花钱的能力也不足，因为它们要面对大笔的利息支出。
After the financial crisis, as now, a lot of the government money went into areas where China already has too many idle or underused factories, like steel, manufacturing and coal-fired power plants. "Credit creation is driving a rising misallocation of resources," Mr. Magnus said.	金融危机之后，政府的许多钱流入了中国本已出现工厂停滞或开工不足的领域，比如钢铁、制造和煤电厂。目前的情形便是如此。“信贷扩张正在导致资源错配的加剧，”马格努斯说。
The Leizhou plant is one of scores of new coal-fired plants being built across China, representing about 200 gigawatts of generating capacity, according to estimates from Greenpeace, or about twice the total	根据绿色和平(Greenpeace)进行的估算，中国各地正在新建大批煤电厂，发电装机共达2亿千瓦，相当于英国全国装机发电量的两倍。雷州的这家厂子便是其中之一。

capacity of Britain.
Coal-fired power plants, in particular, look increasingly unnecessary. Last year, China's coal plants — which generally aim to operate an average of about 5,500 hours per year — operated at an average of about 4,300 hours, according to Alvin Cheng and Jenny Huang, energy analysts at Fitch Ratings. Fitch expects average use to fall to fewer than 3,600 hours by next year.	然而，煤电厂看起来尤其没有必要。惠誉评级(Fitch Ratings)的能源分析师成皓(Alvin Cheng)和黄筱婷(Jenny Huang)表示，中国的煤电厂——总体目标是平均每年运行 5500 小时左右——去年平均运行了大约 4300 小时。惠誉还认为，这个数字到明年会降到 3600 小时以下。
Beijing, worried about waste and the country's pernicious pollution problems, in April published guidelines that would halt approvals for new coal-fired plants in many areas of the country. But that ban would not apply to projects already under construction, like the plant in Leizhou.	出于对资源浪费和本国严重的污染问题的担心，北京今年 4 月发布了指导文件，要求在许多区域停止批准新的火电项目。不过，这项禁令不适用于已经处于建设阶段的项目，比如雷州的这家工厂。
"There's so much overcapacity, there is no point in building a plant like this," Lin Boqiang, an energy expert at Xiamen University, said in a telephone interview. "This would be a waste of investment," he added. "It's as simple as this."	"产能过剩太严重了，根本没有理由再建一个像这样的厂子，"厦门大学的能源专家林伯强接受电话采访时表示。"这是投资浪费，"他还说。"就是这样。"
Built by an arm of the state-run company China Datang Corporation, the Leizhou plant will be able to produce up to 2 gigawatts of power — more than the total coal-fired power generation capacity installed in the state of New York.	雷州这家电厂由国有企业中国大唐集团公司的分支兴建，规划的发电量可达 200 万千瓦——比纽约全州的煤电装机容量还要多。
Datang had been trying to build the plant for a decade but started construction in earnest only in December, after receiving final approval around the time that many other infrastructure projects around China were getting the green light or expedited. Officials said antipollution equipment will make it a "near zero emission" plant that will be	大唐谋求兴建这座厂已有 10 年，不过通过最终审批之后才于去年 12 月正式启动建设工作。也就是在那段时间，中国各地的许多其他基础设施项目被开了绿灯，或者速度得以加快。官方表示，防治污染的设备将让雷州电厂"几乎零排放"，达到"国际先进水平"。

“internationally advanced.”
It will also, they say, help the local economy. The plant will “kick off a big industry era locally,” said Liu Xiaohua, a local Communist Party secretary, at a ceremony in December. (Mr. Liu has since committed suicide, according to Chinese state media. There is no evidence that his suicide was connected to the plant or his work in Zhanjiang, which includes Leizhou in its jurisdiction.)	他们还称，这家工厂亦会让地方经济受益。当地的党委书记刘小华在去年12月的动员大会上说，雷州电厂将“开创大工业时代”。（根据中国官方媒体的报道，刘小华后来自杀身亡。没有证据表明他的死与这家工厂或他在湛江的工作有关。雷州属于湛江管辖。）
Local officials and Datang executives did not respond to requests for comment.	当地官员和大唐的高管没有回应本报的置评请求。
Leizhou is one of the poorer places in Guangdong Province, according to official data. Industry is scant here, although the province includes one of China’s main manufacturing hubs. In Leizhou’s main urban area, giant billboards tower over street intersections warning against the dangers of taking drugs — locals say methamphetamine and ketamine are most common.	官方数据显示，雷州属于广东省较为贫困的地区。这里没什么工业，尽管中国的一个主要的制造业基地就位于广东。在雷州的主城区，交通路口竖起了巨大的广告牌，警告大家吸毒的危害——当地人表示，冰毒和K粉最为常见。
Mr. Mo is one of hundreds of villagers who say their livelihoods and the local environment are at risk. For generations, people in villages here along the coast of the Gulf of Tonkin have lived off the land and the sea, farming, fishing and processing sea salt. The ample summer rains and subtropical climate lend themselves to growing fruit.	包括莫平在内，有数百名村民表示自己的生计和当地的环境面临威胁。北部湾沿岸的村民世代以这里的土地和海洋为生，从事着耕作、捕捞和处理海盐的工作。夏季充沛的雨水与亚热带气候让他们可以种植果树。
Some residents are skeptical that the plant will bring jobs for locals, saying that most likely it will import workers from other areas.	一些居民对这座火电厂能给当地人带来工作机会的说法抱有怀疑，认为有很大的可能性是从外地引进员工。

The big worry for many is pollution. "We don't have a lot of land to farm in our village," said Liang Zhuang, a fisherman from Gangcai whose family has been making a living from the sea here for generations. "So if there's pollution in the sea, we will lose the main safeguard of our livelihood."	污染是让很多人忧心忡忡的大问题。“我们村没什么地可以种，”来自港彩村的渔民梁壮说。他们家祖祖辈辈靠这片海域谋生。“要是海被污染了，我们就没有了讨生活的主要保障了。”
The land seizures began two years ago after a number of farmers declined buyout offers. The money local officials offered to Mr. Mo, the onetime mango and jujube farmer, who made about $1,500 a year selling the fruit he grew, was less than half what Chinese law requires for official land purchases.	两年前，不少农民拒绝了卖地条件，于是出现了强行征地的现象。当时种芒果和枣树的莫平能够靠卖水果每年赚大概1万元，但地方官员向他提出的土地出让价不到法律规定的政府征收土地价格的一半。
On a recent steamy afternoon, with a rooster crowing in his backyard, Mr. Mo showed a petition against the land seizures that was signed by around 400 villagers, who included their thumbprints in red ink on the reams of sweat-stained paper. Mr. Mo figures that maybe only a third of villagers who lost their land had agreed to the compensation offer.	不久前的一个闷热的下午，一只公鸡在后院鸣叫，莫平拿出了一份反对征地的请愿书，上面有约400名村民的签名。他们还在这份浸渍着汗水的洋洋洒洒的文件上按下了红色的手印。莫平估摸着，大概只有三分之一失去土地的村民同意赔偿标准。
Others protested. When Mr. Mo's wife joined thousands of other villagers in a protest last year against the plant, she was beaten by the police with electric batons, he said. His wife pointed to her back to show where the batons fell.	其他人则进行了抗议。去年的时候，莫平的妻子加入了数千名村民的行列，抗议建设电厂。他表示，妻子遭到了警察的电棍殴打。她指着自己的背部，示意被警棍打到的地方。

China Scolds Indian Government for Expelling 3 of Its Journalists	印度驱逐新华社记者激怒中国

Reports of the visa denials surfaced on Saturday. The editorial identified two of the journalists as Wu Qiang, the Xinhua bureau chief in New Delhi, and Tang Lu, the chief correspondent at the Mumbai bureau. An article on Monday in the newspaper The Hindu, in New Delhi, identified the third as She Yonggang, a reporter in the Mumbai bureau. All three must leave India by the end of the month, The Hindu said.	关于拒签的报道出现在周六。《环球时报》的社论指出了两名中国记者，分别是新华社新德里分社首席记者吴强和孟买分社首席记者唐璐。周一，当地《印度教徒报》(The Hindu)刊文，指出了第三名记者是孟买分社的余勇刚。该报称，三人都必须在月底离开印度。

But some in India viewed the country's action as unnecessary and a rare provocation.	但印度有人认为该国的行为是一种罕见而没有必要的挑衅。
India has been unnerved by recent aggressions with China, including confrontations with the Chinese military in the disputed border territory of Ladakh, Kashmir.	中印之间最近发生的一些摩擦令印度气馁，这其中包括在克什米尔的拉达克(Ladakh)与中国军队发生的冲突。该地区一直存在边境争议。

A potential source of friction was India's failure to gain admittance to the 48-nation Nuclear Suppliers Group at a meeting in Seoul, South Korea, last month, apparently at least in part because of opposition from China. At a briefing on July 1, Vikas Swarup, the spokesman for the Indian Ministry of External Affairs, said its pursuit of membership would be "a matter of continuing talks with China, because we eventually hope to convince China of our credentials and our need for joining the Nuclear Suppliers Group."	上个月，在韩国首尔举办的 48 国核供应国集团的一次会议上，印度未能成功加入该组织，显然部分是因为遭到了中国的反对。该事件可能是中印产生摩擦的一个原因。在 7 月 1 日的新闻发布会上，印度外交部的发言人维卡斯·史瓦鲁普(Vikas Swarup)称，印度希望加入核供应国集团，"将会继续与中国进行对话，因为我们最终希望中国相信我们是值得信任的，我们想要加入核供应国集团的需求是合理的。"
The editorial in The Global Times suggested that if India was taking revenge, "there will be serious consequences."	《环球时报》社论指出，如果印度试图报复，"将会导致严重的后果"。

"If somebody's given you a slap on the face, you give a slap back," he said. He said India lacked a "coordinated effort" on China.	"如果有人扇了你一巴掌，你要扇回去。"他说。他表示印度对中国缺乏"协调一致的努力"。

Kenya Angers Taiwan by Deporting More Fraud Suspects to China	肯尼亚再向大陆遣返台湾人，台方称"蔑视人权"
HONG KONG — Taiwan protested on Monday after five of its people were deported from Kenya to China, where they are wanted on suspicion of telecommunications fraud.	香港——周一，台湾就五名台湾人被肯尼亚遣返至中国一事提出抗议。这五人因涉嫌电信欺诈而受到中国当局的通缉。
Taiwan's Mainland Affairs Council, which handles relations with China, said the deportations "show contempt for human rights" and "hurt the feelings of the Taiwanese people." The five men from Taiwan, along with 35 Chinese citizens who were also deported, were acquitted last week by a court in Nairobi, the Kenyan capital. They were accused of running a telephone fraud ring based in Kenya that primarily targeted mainland Chinese.	台湾负责处理与中国关系的陆委会称，该做法"蔑视人权"，并且"伤害了台湾人民的感情"。这五名台湾人以及一同被遣返的35名中国公民，于上周被肯尼亚首都内罗毕的一家法院宣布无罪释放。他们被控在肯尼亚运作一个以中国大陆为目标的电信诈骗集团。
The deportations follow similar ones in April, when 45 people from Taiwan, accused of being part of the same fraud ring, were sent from Kenya to China. Taiwan also protested those deportations. Some in that group had been cleared of telecommunications fraud charges, while others had yet to face trial. city have been closed.
Yet some of the security measures here seem picayune. Two weeks before the meeting, the kitchen division of the Metro Center department store was devoid of knives. They had been banned for sale since June, a saleswoman said. At a Starbucks in the center of the city, the food counter was empty. Delivery trucks had been unable to crack the security cordon, the barista said.	然而，这里的某些安全措施似乎有点多余。在峰会召开的两周前，在新城中心百货商场的厨具部门已经看不到刀具。售货员说，自从6月份起，刀具就已被禁售。市中心一家星巴克的食品柜是空的。咖啡师说，送货车一直无法越过安全警戒线。
A major focus of security has been the Uighurs. At the Beijiang restaurant, with wall murals of China's western deserts and a halal menu, 10 Uighur cooks were sent home in June at the request of the government, said the manager, Cai Ziwei.	安全措施的一个重点对象是维吾尔族人。提供清真食品的北疆饭店有中国西部沙漠的壁画，那里的10名维族厨师6月份就按照政府的要求被送回老家了，餐厅经理蔡子维说。
Only after was the establishment placed on a list of restaurants recommended for Muslim delegates to the meeting, he said.	只是在那之后，餐厅才上了为参加会议的穆斯林代表提供的推荐餐馆名单，他说。
Hotels were told two months ago that they must inform the police if a Uighur tried to register, a worker at the Hanting hotel chain said.	杭州的酒店两个月前就被告知，如果有维族人试图入住的话，需要通知警方，一名在汉庭连锁酒店工作的人说。
In June, police officers in the migrant neighborhood of Qibao, 15 miles from the city center, ordered all the grocery shops, clothing outlets and street-side restaurants closed, said Wang Jinfu, a municipal government worker.	今年6月，在距离市中心24公里的农民工居住的七宝区，警方下令所有的小卖部、服装店和路边餐馆停业，据市政府工作人员王金富说。
In some instances, small businesses were asked to close on the grounds that if they stayed open and an accident occurred, local party officials would be penalized.	有些时候，小企业被要求停业，理由是如果它们继续营业的话，一旦发生事故，地方党政官员将受到惩罚。
"They told us, this is a once in a lifetime thing and if anything happens while Obama is here, the officials could be sacked, so they said: 'Please close,'" said Li Yindeng, the owner of Chenyang, a noodle shop.	"他们和我们说，这是这辈子就一次的事情，如果奥巴马在这里的时候出了什么事情，当官的就会被开除啦，所以他们说：'就关门吧，'"陈扬汤包店的老板李银登说。"我们有什么办法，政府也不给我们赔钱的。"

Marriage Falls in China, Transforming Finances and Families	中国人不愿结婚，经济与家庭观念面临考验
HONG KONG — Liu Zhenfeng got married at 25. The usual trappings of family life followed — a daughter, a home, furniture, toys.	香港——刘振凤在25岁结了婚。婚姻的标配也随之而来——女儿、住宅、家具、玩具。
That daughter, Song Zongpei, now 28, is taking a different path. Ms. Song shares a rented apartment in Beijing with two roommates and is	如今，她28岁的女儿宋宗佩则在选择一条不同的路。宋宗佩在北京与两名室友合租了一套公寓，目前将精力放在职业发展和财力累积上。她觉得自己

Fewer Chinese people are getting married, a shift with profound implications for China's economic and social life. The decline in marriages means a decline in the number of babies, and potentially less spending on homes, appliances and other family-related purchases — the kind of spending China needs to drive economic growth.	选择结婚的中国人正在变少。对中国的经济、社会生活而言，这是一个影响深远的转变。结婚人数下降，意味着婴儿人数减少，住宅、家电及其他与家庭相关的消费就可能会随之收缩，而这类消费正是推动中国经济增长所需要的。
Already some businesses are thinking single. Jewelry makers are offering cheaper baubles for unmarried sweethearts. One appliance maker is selling smaller rice cookers. Foreign fertility services are advertising for Chinese women who want to freeze their eggs — a process that is prohibited for single women in China — to have children later.	一些企业已经把目光瞄准了单身人士。珠宝商在给未婚情侣提供价格更合算的首饰。一个家电生产商推出了容量更小的电饭煲。境外生育服务机构开始向想要冷冻卵子以便将来生育孩子的中国女性做广告。法规禁止单身女性在国内接受这项服务。
But the marriage slump — caused in large part by China's aging population and the legacy of its harsh one-child policy — has a silver lining. It also stems from the rise of an educated population of women. Specialists in economics, demography and sociology say some of those women are delaying marriage to build careers and establish financial footing, resulting in a more empowered female population that no longer views marriage as the only route to security.	但结婚人数下降也有积极的一面。引起这种状况的很大一部分原因，在于中国人口老龄化和严厉的独生子女政策，但它也与中国受教育女性群体的壮大有关。经济学、人口学和社会学领域的专家表示，其中一些女性在推迟结婚时间，以便发展事业和建立财务根基，结果出现了力量更强大的女性人口，她们不再将婚姻作为获得安全感的唯一途径。
"Because they are highly educated, they hold well-paid jobs, they lose the financial incentive to get married," says Zhang Xiaobo, a professor of economics at Peking University's National School of Development.	“因为她们受教育程度比较高，又有不错的收入，就失去了结婚的经济动力，”北京大学国家发展研究院经济学教授张晓波说。
China continues to emphasize marriage in its official media, entreating	中国持续在其官方媒体上强调婚姻的重要性，恳求女性不要干等自己的白马

women not to wait for Mr. Right. But demographics and changing social mores make that a tough sell.	王子。但人口结构和不断变化的社会状况令女性很难接受这种宣传。
Last year, 12 million Chinese couples registered for marriage, making it the second consecutive year the number has declined. Divorces, which stem from some of the same trends, reached 3.8 million last year, more than twice the level of a decade ago.	去年有 1200 万对中国情侣注册结婚，这一数字连续第二年出现下降。与这一趋势一致的是，去年离婚的夫妇达到 380 万对，比 10 年前的两倍还多。
Much of the marriage decline results from China's one-child policy. Ended formally in January after 35 years, the policy accelerated a decline in the country's birthrate. As a consequence, people between 20 and 29 — prime marrying age — make up a declining share of the population compared with two decades ago. And because families often preferred male babies, China has a surplus of men, further complicating marriage prospects.	新婚人数下降，很大程度上要归因于中国的独生子女政策。在推行 35 年之后，该政策于今年 1 月正式终止。它加快了中国生育率下降的速度，由此导致 20 至 29 岁——主要的适婚年龄段——的人口比例较 20 年前不断下降。此外，因为中国家庭往往倾向于要男孩，导致男性人口过多，令结婚的前景变得更加复杂。
Those trends test cultural notions of family that go back hundreds of years. While arranged marriages have largely faded in China, parents remain deeply involved in the nuptials of their offspring, chasing down leads on potential suitors and hounding their children during holiday visits about marriage plans.	这些趋势考验着延续了数百年的家庭文化观念。尽管包办婚姻在中国大体已经逐渐消失，但中国父母依然深度介入儿女婚姻，他们追查可能为潜在追求者的线索，在儿女在节假日回家时缠问其婚姻计划。
Ms. Liu, Ms. Song's mother, agrees that her daughter should wait for the right match, but she still hopes that she finds someone. "I want her to have a happy life," Ms. Liu said, "and I think it's more secure to have a family."	宋宗佩的母亲刘振凤也认为女儿应该等待那个合适自己的人，但她仍然希望女儿有个伴。“我希望她能过得幸福，”刘贞凤说，“我觉得有个家庭更保险。”
On the economic front, the impact could be double-edged. Single people generally buy fewer houses, have fewer children and buy fewer toys and gadgets than married couples. That could complicate China's	在经济方面，这种影响是一把双刃剑。通常而言，单身人士会比已婚夫妇更少买房，生更少的孩子，购入更少的玩具和设备。中国正努力把本国向来吝于花钱的人口变成美式消费者，以便让经济不那么依赖出口和大型政府项

efforts to turn its traditionally tightfisted population into American-style spenders, to offset its economy's dependence on exports and big-ticket government projects.	目，这些努力可能会因此而复杂化。
It could also lead Chinese consumers to put more money away in the bank or under mattresses. Families of prospective grooms in China often save money for years to buy a home for a couple before they marry to give them financial stability. Families save more, to buy bigger homes, if brides are hard to find, said Mr. Zhang, the Peking University professor.	它还可能导致中国消费者把更多钱放在银行里或床垫下。在中国，准新郎家常常要存很多年钱，在一对新人婚前为其买下婚房，保障其财务的稳定性。北京大学教授张晓波说，如果新娘很难找，新郎家就要存更多的钱，买更大的房子。
But Chinese consumers could simply spend money on something else — with single young people leading the pack. Some of the decline in marriage stems from the growth of a group of young, educated urban women who no longer need to wed to achieve financial security.	但是中国消费者完全可以把钱花在别的地方——这其中带头的就是单身年轻人。结婚率的下降在一定程度上是由于受过教育的城市年轻女性群体在增长，她们不再需要通过婚姻实现稳定的经济状况。
China still faces yawning gaps in wages and employment between men and women, according to surveys. But women made up more than half of undergraduate students in 2014, compared with about 46 percent a decade earlier, and accounted for nearly half of graduate students, government figures show.	调查研究表明，中国的工资和就业仍存在性别鸿沟。但是政府数据显示，2014年大学本科生中女性占比超过一半，相比之下10年前只占46%，而研究生中占比接近一半。

In response, many stores are offering a greater variety of jewelry, such as cheaper gems to entice dating couples who have less money.	商业正在准备迎接这种转变。随着中国的结婚率下降，珠宝产业预计会出现增长放缓。为此许多商铺在增加珠宝的品类，比如更廉价的宝石，以吸引那些正在约会但财力有限的情侣。

Midea, a Chinese appliance maker, has been expanding its range of smaller rice cookers — giving singles a way to make fresh rice and avoid the refrigerated leftovers that leave many Chinese cold. “We are concerned about the changes in family structures in China,” according to Huang Bing, chief product manager of Midea’s small domestic appliances division.	在线房地产中介公司家家顺称其计划面向单身买家出售一些较便宜的住房。在过去一段时间，中国电器生产商美的扩充了小型电饭煲的产品线——让单身人士可以烹制新鲜的米饭，并且不会吃不完，很多中国人不喜欢吃冰箱冷藏过的剩饭。“我们对中国家庭结构的改变是很关注的，”美的生活电器事业部首席产品经理黄兵说。

China Shrugs Off the Ties That Bind	数字中的中国社会现实与婚姻趋势
China has marriage on its mind – but perhaps not commitment.	中国人心里想着婚姻，但承诺就不一定了。
New figures show that the number of marriages in China has fallen for two straight years, while divorces have continued to climb. The trends – which have their roots in China's one-child policy, its stunning economic rise and the changing role of women at work and at home – have led a new generation to question the traditional role of marriage in Chinese society.	新公布的数据显示，中国登记结婚的人数连续两年下降，而离婚人数则继续攀升。这两种趋势的根源在于中国的计划生育政策、令人震惊的经济崛起和女性不断变化的职场和家庭角色。它们导致新一代质疑婚姻在中国社会中的传统角色。
A discussion of matrimony and women's roles has risen on the internet in China in recent weeks after publication this month of a New York Times article about the decline of marriage in China. In comments on	《纽约时报》本月刊登了一篇文章，介绍中国结婚人数减少的现象。随后的这几周，中国的互联网上兴起了对婚姻和女性角色的讨论。在社交媒体网络新浪微博上，很多中国人谈到自己没有结婚的打算，以及这背后的原因。

Weibo, a social-media network, many Chinese discussed their lack of marriage plans – and the reasons behind that.
Of course, many of their comments will sound familiar to people in other countries – perhaps especially to those who are married. But China is in the midst of its own profound social and economic changes, upending traditional notions of love and family. Chinese data – from the data provider CEIC Data and China’s National Bureau of Statistics – back up some of the trends with hard figures.	当然，对其他国家的人，大概尤其是对那些已婚人士来说，他们的很多言论听上去很耳熟。但中国正在经历一系列深刻的社会和经济变革，传统的爱情和家庭观念被颠覆。从数据供应商 CEIC Data 到中国国家统计局提供的有关中国的数据，用确凿的数字支持了部分趋势的真实性。

In Australia, China's Appetite Shifts From Rocks to Real Estate	澳大利亚的中国“金主”(上): 矿业冲击波
PORT HEDLAND, Australia — A lanky, dark-haired surfer, Lee Meadowcroft modeled on the runways of London, Milan and Singapore, then followed his dream of going home to Australia to sell herbal medicines. His store failed — he had chosen the wrong street, he says — and he lost almost all his savings. By then, the fashion world had found fresher faces.	澳大利亚黑德兰港——身材瘦长、一头黑发的冲浪玩家李·梅多克罗夫特(Lee Meadowcroft)曾作为模特在伦敦、米兰和新加坡的伸展台上走秀, 而后他为了实现梦想回到祖国澳大利亚, 做起草药生意。他的店倒闭了——他说他不该选在那条街开店——他亏掉了几乎全部的积蓄。而时尚界在那时已经找到了更新鲜的面孔。
So like tens of thousands of other Australians, Mr. Meadowcroft went to the mines.	于是, 梅多克罗夫特和数万澳大利亚人一样, 选择去矿上工作。
It was late 2004. He plowed his last $4,000 into a two-week course on how to operate a crane. He found companies so desperate for workers	那是 2004 年底。他上了一个为期两周的吊车操作培训班, 把手头最后的 4000 美元交了学费。他发现企业对工人极度渴求, 以至于会派专车去接这

China back then was growing at a breathtaking pace and needed all the Australian rocks it could get. Mine workers like Mr. Meadowcroft kept a punishing schedule: 13 consecutive days of 12-hour shifts, a day off, then another 13 consecutive days of 12-hour shifts. Mining fueled Australia's surging exports to China, which at their peak reached nearly $100 billion a year — a figure representing $4,300 for every man, woman and child in the country.	当时的中国正在以令人惊叹的速度向前发展，希望得到澳大利亚的每一块矿石。像梅多克罗夫特这样的矿工要超负荷工作：连续工作 13 天，每天 12 小时，休息一天，然后再连续工作 13 天，每天 12 小时。矿业推动了澳大利亚向中国出口的猛增，最高时达到一年将近 1000 亿美元——相当于全国男女老少每个人 4300 美元。
Resource-rich places around the world prospered thanks to China, and Mr. Meadowcroft and his fellow Port Hedland equipment jockeys were no exception. By 2011 he was earning $250,000 a year. He watched idle miners sketch circles in the dust and place cockroaches inside, at times betting more than $100 on which one crawled out first. One welder bought a Ferrari 308 sports car, quickly tired of it and sold raffle tickets for $1,000 apiece to get rid of it.	全球资源丰富的地方都借中国致富了，梅多克罗夫特和黑德兰港的其他设备操作员也不例外。2011 年他的年收入达到 25 万美元。他曾见到矿工们闲暇时在地上画个圈，把蟑螂放进去，赌哪只先爬出来，有时候赌注可达 100 美元以上。有一个焊工买了一辆法拉利 308 跑车，很快就厌倦了，于是办了一场 1000 美元一张票的抽奖把车处理掉。
"Everyone just went crazy," Mr. Meadowcroft said.	"大家都很疯狂，"梅多克罗夫特说。
The bust came just as hard and just as fast. China's economic slowdown left too many mines to feed too many dormant Chinese steel mills. Construction of new mines stopped. Port Hedland's economy slumped. Mr. Meadowcroft lost his job, then lost a second job. Like thousands of others, he went back home.	崩溃的到来同样是迅速而猛烈的。中国的经济放缓导致太多的矿场在向太多已经停产的中国炼钢厂供应矿石。新矿建设项目停工了。赫兰德港的经济陷入低谷。梅多克罗夫特丢了工作，而后下一份工作也丢了。他和其他几万人一样，回到了家中。
Mr. Meadowcroft's tale could serve as yet another boom-and-bust	梅多克罗夫特的经历，是有关中国崛起局限性的又一则盛衰寓言。从俄罗斯

cautionary tale of the limits of China's rise. From Russia to Brazil, and Nigeria to Venezuela, resource-rich countries that boomed during China's surge found their economies shaken when Chinese demand slowed.	到巴西，从尼日利亚到委内瑞拉，随着中国崛起而繁荣的资源大国，也因中国需求放缓而遭到经济打击。
Except something unexpected has happened to Australia: It has withstood the global rout. Most mines — lower-cost compared with mines elsewhere — have stayed open. But Australia has also kept thriving, against all expectations, with a different kind of money flowing in from China.	不过在澳大利亚发生了一些意想不到的事情：它没有被全球崩溃打倒。这里的矿场成本比别的地方低，多数矿依然在作业。而澳大利亚的这种出人意料的持续繁荣，还因为有另一种完全不一样的资金正从中国流向这里。
Attracted by clean air, a strong education system and worries about China's future, more Chinese are spending their money in Australia. Thousands of Chinese families have sent their children to study at costly Australian universities, and Australian food exports to China have boomed. Chinese investment in Australian real estate has increased at least tenfold since 2010; Chinese investors have purchased up to half the new apartments in downtown Melbourne and Sydney.	在清洁的空气、优质的教育系统吸引下，再加上对中国未来的担忧，越来越多的中国人正把钱花在澳大利亚。数以万计的中国家庭把子女送到昂贵的澳大利亚大学读书，澳大利亚向中国的食品出口也在猛增。中国在澳大利亚的房地产投资自 2010 年以来增加了至少 10 倍；在墨尔本和悉尼市中心的新住宅单位有近一半被中国投资者买下。
That has led to some soul-searching about the role of Chinese money in the country's political and economic life. Businesses linked to China have become sizable donors to Australian political parties, and a company said to have links to the Chinese military obtained a 99-year lease last year for a port next to a base that often houses United States Marines.	这让一些人开始反思中国资金在这个国家的政治、经济生活中所扮演的角色。与中国有关联的企业向澳大利亚的政党做出了可观的捐献，一家据称与中国军方有关联的公司，去年拿到了一个港口的 99 年期租约，而港口就在一个经常驻扎着美国海军陆战队的基地附近。
But for people like Mr. Meadowcroft and others in Western Australia who were cut loose by the mining slump, Chinese money is a blessing. He now lives in the Western Australia capital city of Perth and works as	但是对梅多克罗夫特这样的人以及西澳大利亚州其他因矿业衰落而失去生计的人来说，中国的钱是一种赐福。现在他住在西澳大利亚州首府珀斯，在一个瞄准中国买家的新住宅开发项目中做水管工学徒。他一年只能挣 2.1 万

When visitors from China enter his construction site, he knows they may be the eventual buyers. "If you see a group of Chinese people," he says, "they're the money."	当中国游客进入他工作的建筑工地时，他知道，他们可能是最终的买家。“如果你见到一群中国人，”他说，“那你就是见到了金主。”
The Color of Prosperity	繁荣的颜色
In Port Hedland, the color of money is pinkish red.	在黑德兰港(Port Hedland)，钱的颜色是粉红色的。
At the docks, the salmon-hued dust coats everything, from the yellow railings atop the cranes to the rims of the fast-moving conveyor belts that hurtle rocks toward the bellies of giant cargo vessels. When the mining boom started 50 years ago, it covered the streets, too.	码头上所有的东西都蒙上了鲑鱼色的尘土，从起重机顶部的黄色栏杆到快速转动的传送带的边缘——传送带把岩石快速送入巨型货轮的肚子里。50年前采矿业兴起时，这里的街头也蒙着这样的尘土。
"It made all your clothes go pink," said Julie Arif, a city council member who was still a girl when workers began digging mines in the nearby Pilbara desert and hills. "Pilbara pink, we used to call it."	“它把你所有的衣服都变成粉色，”市议会议员朱莉·阿里夫(Julie Arif)说。当年，工人们开始在附近的皮尔巴拉沙漠和山丘上挖矿时，她还是个小女孩。“我们过去称它为皮尔巴拉粉色。”
Back then, local leaders did not mind. "We'll worry about our dust when it clogs the cash registers," said the city's mayor in the early 1970s, according to Ms. Arif, who also runs the town's small history museum.	当时，当地领袖也并不介意。据阿里夫讲，在20世纪70年代初，该市市长曾说，“尘土把收银机堵塞了，我们才会担心。”阿里夫也主管该市的一座小型历史博物馆。
The pink dust comes from iron ore. And nobody sends more iron ore abroad than the state of Western Australia.	那些粉色尘土来自铁矿石。西澳大利亚州出口海外的铁矿石数量比澳大利亚其他任何一个州都要多。
Iron ore transformed Port Hedland. Named "Marapikurrinya" by the local Aboriginal people, it subsisted for years on wool exports and a few pearls gathered from oysters at low tide. Until the mining boom, its claim to fame was a late-1940s three-year strike by nearby ranch workers that became a pivotal moment in the assertion of Aboriginal	铁矿石改变了黑德兰港。原住民称这个港口为 Marapikurrinya，有过去很多年时间里，它的经济全靠羊毛出口以及从落潮时的牡蛎中采集的少量珍珠。在矿业兴起之前，它出名是因为20世纪40年代末附近的农场工人举行了持续三年的大罢工，那成为澳大利亚原住民争取权益的关键时刻。 rights in Australia.

The iron ore deposits were far from Australia's steel industry on the country's southern coast. But the Australian government began allowing large-scale iron ore exports in the 1960s, opening up the region to buyers from Japan and Europe.	这些铁矿距离澳大利亚南部沿海的钢铁工业区路途遥远。不过，20 世纪 60 年代，澳大利亚政府开始允许大规模铁矿石出口，向日本和欧洲的买家开放这个地区。
As foreign money trickled in, Port Hedland remained rough around the edges. When Cyclone Joan flattened half of Port Hedland in 1975, the state government replaced the shattered hospital with a prefabricated structure propped up on the dirt with thin, foot-high steel poles. It stayed in use for nearly 40 years before it was abandoned, and now stands vacant on its oceanfront site.	尽管外国的资金慢慢来到了黑德兰港，但它依然很简陋。1975 年，热带气旋“琼”(Cyclone Joan)将一半黑德兰港夷为平地，州政府用一英尺长的细钢杆在废墟上支起一个预制构件式建筑，替代遭到摧毁的医院。这个医院又使用了近 40 年才遭废弃，如今海边的这幢建筑还空置着。
For entertainment, there were the “skimpies” — stripper shows by young women who barely complied with state regulations against full nudity at the start of each evening, and were even less likely to comply as the hour grew late.	娱乐方面有 skimpies——也就是年轻女子的脱衣舞表演，她们几乎从不遵守夜晚降临后不得全裸的州法规定，随着夜色渐深，更是不可能遵守。
The ore is mined several hours' drive into the desert from Port Hedland. Workers use explosives to shatter the rock at open-cut mines, then scoop it up with huge bulldozers. The ore is crushed and sorted by machines bigger than a house, then hauled to Port Hedland either by train or by enormous trucks — so-called road trains — pulling three or sometimes four trailers.	从黑德兰港往沙漠里驱车数小时，才能到达开采铁矿石的地方。工人们用炸药在露天矿山上炸开巨石，然后用大型推土机把它们铲起来。矿石粉碎后，用比房子还大的机器进行分类，然后用火车或巨型卡车（也就是所谓的公路火车，它能挂三到四个拖车）运到黑德兰港。
During a crimson Indian Ocean sunset at Port Hedland's Utah Point berth recently, a conveyor belt dumped iron ore into one of the seven large holds of a Chinese-owned freighter held in place by mechanical suction cups the size of minivans. A red gravel torrent rocketed	前不久，在黑德兰港的犹他点(Utah Point)泊位，一条传送带在印度洋深红色的晚霞中，把铁矿石倒入一艘中国货轮的七个大货舱中。货轮用小型面包车大小的机械吸盘固定。红色碎石流以每秒两吨的速度倾泻而下，发出沉闷的轰隆声。每个货舱都很大，面积相当于一栋宽敞的美国家庭住房，还能留

downward at two tons a second, in a low, dull roar. Each hold was big enough for a capacious American home, with room to spare.	出些空间。
The crane lurched to one side, stopped disgorging iron ore, rumbled sideways to a position over a different hold, near the middle of the vessel, and resumed pouring.	起重机突然转向一边, 停止倾泻铁矿石, 轰隆着挪到靠近货轮中间位置另一个货舱的上方, 继续倾泻。
Iron ore sometimes means dangerous work. Mr. Meadowcroft once saw a taut, inch-thick steel cable snap and sweep a man into a pile of steel pipes. Another time, he saw a 50-pound steel cable block fall on a worker, shearing off part of his face and shoulder and hurling him to the floor.	铁矿石有时也意味着危险。有一次, 梅多克罗夫特看见一根绷紧的一英寸粗的钢索突然断裂, 把一名男子扫进一堆钢管中。还有一次, 他看见一个 50 磅重的钢索滑轮砸到一个工人身上, 削掉了他的部分脸和肩膀, 并将他击倒在地。
"It bounced him off the ground like a basketball," Mr. Meadowcroft said. "There was a lot of blood."	"滑轮把他从地上弹起来, 就像篮球那样," 梅多克罗夫特说, "现场流了很多血。"
But life was mostly quiet — and inexpensive. The town had eight amateur baseball teams, and many of the workers played after their shifts. Housing was affordable. Sharon Ramirez, 40, remembers that her parents had a chance in the late 1980s to buy the bungalow they were renting for $20,000, but decided not to.	不过, 那时候这里的生活总的来说很平静, 生活成本也不高。该市有 8 支业余棒球队, 很多工人下班后就会去打棒球。房价也能承受。40 岁的莎伦·拉米雷斯(Sharon Ramirez)还记得, 她的父母在 80 年代末曾有机会以 2 万美元买下他们当时租住的平房, 但最后决定不买。
"We didn't jump at it," she said, "because it was a lot of money in those days."	"我们没有欣然接受那个价格," 她说, "因为在当时, 那还是挺大一笔钱的。"
China Shock Wave	中国冲击波
Everyone in Port Hedland has a story about a moment when the boom struck them.	黑德兰港的每个人都有一个关于矿业繁荣对他们造成冲击时刻的故事。
For Mrs. Ramirez, it was when that rental home sold to an out-of-town investor for $1 million. For Dave McGowan, it was when four of the eight baseball teams disbanded because workers were putting in	对拉米雷斯来说, 那个冲击时刻是当她家租住的房子以 100 万美元卖给一个外地投资者的时候。对戴夫·麦高恩(Dave McGowan)来说, 是那 8 支棒球队中有 4 支因为工人的轮班从 8 小时变成 12 小时而解散时。对丹尼尔·康纳斯

12-hour shifts instead of eight-hour shifts. For Daniel Connors, it was when a local garage, short on workers, told him that he had to make a reservation four months in advance to get the oil in his car changed.	(Daniel Connors)来说, 是当地汽车修理厂因为缺少工人而告诉他必须提前4个月预订才能给他的汽车换机油时。
China was changing – and it changed Port Hedland.	当时中国在变化——它也改变了黑德兰港。
Three decades of economic reform in China, plus lower trade barriers after the country joined the World Trade Organization in 2001, lit a fire under the economy there. Skyscrapers blossomed by the hundreds in obscure cities. The nation has built 77,000 miles of expressway, almost all of it since 1997 and two-thirds more mileage than the Interstate highway system in the United States, on which China’s network is modeled.	中国30年的经济改革, 再加上2001年加入世界贸易组织(World Trade Organization)后贸易壁垒的减少, 给中国经济点了一把火。连一些不出名的城市都冒出很多的摩天大楼。该国修了7.7万英里的高速公路, 几乎全是1997年之后所建, 这比美国的州际高速公路系统还长三分之二——中国的高速公路网就是以美国为样本的。
All that construction meant China produced and consumed last year almost as much steel as the rest of the world combined.	所有这些建设意味着, 中国去年生产和消耗的钢铁几乎是世界上其他国家的总和。
To supply its steel mills, China needed Australia’s iron ore. Iron ore prices surged tenfold. Big companies like BHP Billiton, Rio Tinto and Fortescue Metals Group rushed to build mines and add port berths as fast as possible.	为了给钢铁厂提供原料, 中国需要澳大利亚的铁矿石。铁矿石的价格增长了十倍。必和必拓公司(BHP Billiton)、力拓矿业集团(Rio Tinto)和福蒂斯丘金属集团(Fortescue Metals Group)等大公司竞相修建矿场, 尽可能快地增加港口泊位。

On the Verge of Extinction, a Chinese Fishing Village Resists	渔业困境下, 中国传统渔村的生存危机
YUMINGZUI VILLAGE, China – On a moonless night, when there was nothing in the air except the smell of rotting seaweed and the songs of drunken fishermen, Wang Xinfeng sneaked onto a boat by the dock and sailed into the darkness.	中国鱼鸣嘴村——在一个无月之夜, 空气中只有腐烂的海藻的气味, 只听得见醉醺醺的渔民的歌声, 王新峰偷偷潜入一艘停靠在码头边的渔船, 驶入了黑暗之中。

Like his father and grandfather before him, Mr. Wang, 53, made a living combing the Yellow Sea for flounder, herring, fat greenling and yellow croaker. But now the government, hoping to limit environmental damage and encourage villagers to find new jobs, had banned fishing during the summer.	和他的父亲、祖父此前一样，53岁的王新峰也是靠与黄海搏斗为生，从中获取比目鱼、鲱鱼、大泷六线鱼和黄花鱼。但现在政府已经下令今年夏季禁捕。政府希望对环境的破坏进行控制，鼓励渔民寻找新的工作。
Mr. Wang, desperate to pay medical bills, had taken to venturing into the water at night to avoid detection.	王新峰急需支付医疗账单，开始大着胆子在夜间入海捕鱼，以避免被人看到。
"I was raised at sea — this is my home," he said. "Even if it's a rough life, I have to fish."	"我是在海边长大的——大海是我的家，"他说。"虽然艰辛，我还是得捕鱼。"
For centuries, residents of Yumingzui, a village of 562 people in the eastern province of Shandong, enjoyed a quiet life by the ocean, harvesting enough fish, sea cucumbers and abalone to support a prosperous seafood trade. While nearby villages fell victim to tourism and development, Yumingzui persevered, clinging to ancient fishing rites and homes made of seaweed.	鱼鸣嘴是东部省份山东的一座人口为562人的村庄。几个世纪以来，这里的村民一直在海边过着宁静的生活，可以捕到足够的鱼类、海参和鲍鱼，支撑起繁荣的海鲜贸易。尽管附近的村庄先后成为旅游与开发的牺牲品，鱼鸣嘴却得以幸免。这里的村民一直坚持在世代相传的地点捕捞，住在海草房里。
Now Yumingzui is on the verge of extinction. Pollution, overfishing and rising sea temperatures, brought on by global warming, have devastated the supply of fish. Local officials, hoping to invigorate the economy and reduce reliance on outdated industries, have imposed restrictions on fishing and ordered the village to be demolished next year to make way for a luxury resort.	现在，鱼鸣嘴却濒临消失。污染、过度捕捞和由全球变暖带来的海洋温度的不断上升，摧毁了这里的渔业资源。当地官员一心想提振地方经济、减少对陈旧产业的依赖，于是对捕捞进行限制，还要求明年将这个村子拆除，用以建造一座豪华度假村。
The plan has prompted fear among the people of Yumingzui, many of whom trace their ancestry back hundreds of years. Some are wrestling with the loss of a place they consider sacred. Others have deep anxieties about adopting a modern lifestyle, worried about prospects	这项计划在鱼鸣嘴村民中引发了担忧，他们当中有许多人的祖先在这里生活的时间可以追溯几百年。一些人奋力抗争，希望可以避免失去他们眼中的神圣之地。另一些则对转向现代化的生活方式存有深深的顾虑，担心新职业的前景，也担心使用电力等便利设施的成本太高。 for a new career and the high cost of amenities like electricity.

Many fishermen have pledged to keep fishing, even after the village is destroyed.	很多渔民表示在村庄被拆毁之后还会继续捕鱼。
"What else can I do, become an accountant?" Mr. Wang said as he carried buckets of bait and trash through ankle-high mud.	"不然我要干啥，当会计?"王新峰一边说，一边提着几桶鱼饵和垃圾穿越没过脚踝的泥地。
Yumingzui, named for the cries of the fish that were said to surround its shores, was once a fisherman's paradise. Its location near the southern tip of Qingdao, a major port city once occupied by Japan and Germany, gave it access to a booming market for seafood.	鱼鸣嘴得名于村庄近海，在岸上可以听到鱼鸣之声。这里曾是渔民的天堂。它靠近曾被日本和德国占领的大港口城市青岛的最南端，可以方便地进入一个日渐兴旺的海鲜市场。
But lax enforcement of fishing and antipollution rules, as well as the proliferation of commercial fishing boats, has left the surrounding waters depleted of the delicacies that visitors demand.	不过，捕捞和反污染法规执行上的松懈，以及商业捕捞船的迅速增加，使周边水域的渔产被耗尽，令游客无法享用他们想要的美味佳肴。
Across eastern China, overfishing has become a crisis, and species that were once common, like eel and Spanish mackerel, are now scarce. In 2014, fishermen caught 13 million tons of fish, official statistics show, exceeding the national limit by more than four million tons.	在中国整个东部沿海，过度捕捞逐渐成为一种危机，海鳗和鲅鱼等曾经很常见的物种如今陷入匮乏。官方统计数据显示，2014年渔民捕捞了1300万吨渔产，超越了全国不能多于400万吨的限制。
In hard-hit areas, the government has sought to promote tourism as an alternative to fishing, encouraging villagers to lead tours and open hotels and restaurants. In some towns, bulletin boards offer guidance on being good hosts, reminding people to dress nicely and dutifully respond to questions from visitors.	在受冲击比较严重的地区，政府试图促进旅游业的发展，将之作为渔业的替代。它们鼓励村民带旅游团，经营旅馆和餐馆。在一些城镇，公告栏上提供了一些有关如何做好东道主的指导，提醒人们注意穿着，尽职尽责地回应游客的提问。
In recent years, dozens of villages have been demolished to make room for resorts catering to the growing middle class, with names like Golden Sand and Mangrove Tree.	最近几年，陆续有几十座村庄遭到拆除，让道给迎合日益增多的中产阶级需求的度假村，往往还会给这些地方起个金沙和红树林这样的名字。
The increase in tourism has helped spread prosperity to villages like	旅游业的发展将繁荣带至鱼鸣嘴这样的村庄，但对海鲜的高需求也对环境造

Yumingzui, but the high demand for seafood has also brought destruction to the environment.	成了破坏。
"I love the sea, but not everybody respects the rule of nature," said Liu Qiang, 46, who was born and raised in Yumingzui. "Tourists are the reason fishermen are exploiting the sea."	"我爱大海，但不是所有人都尊重大自然的规律，"46岁的刘强说。他在鱼鸣嘴出生，也在这里长大。"旅游是渔民过度捕捞的原因。"
Mr. Liu said that today, it takes him about two weeks to catch the same amount of fish he could catch in one day in the 1990s.	刘强表示，他在90年代的时候一天能捕到的鱼，现在要花大概两周才能捕到。
When word came several years ago that Yumingzui would be razed to make way for a resort, villagers protested. Some traveled to Beijing in hopes of persuading officials to reconsider the decision.	几年前，当鱼鸣嘴村将被夷为平地、用来建度假村的消息传出时，村民曾表示抗议。有些人跑到北京，希望能说服官方重新考虑这项决定。
To ease the concerns of villagers, the government offered apartments in a modern complex called South Island Tower, complete with German-style architecture, high-speed internet and palatial entryways.	为了消除村民的顾虑，政府为他们提供了公寓，位于名为南岛安置小区的现代住宅区内。那里有德国风格的建筑、高速网络和富丽堂皇的入口。
But several residents said they were still unsatisfied.	但好几位村民表示他们仍然无法接受。
Chen Ruifen, 70, who moved to the village a half century ago when she married her husband, a fisherman, said she thought the plan would benefit local officials, not ordinary people.	年过七旬的陈瑞芬表示，她觉得这个计划对当地官员有利，对普通百姓则没什么好处。半个世纪前，因嫁给这里的一个渔民，她来到了鱼鸣嘴村。
"We don't even have money to put any decorations on our walls," said Ms. Chen, a sweet potato, radish and wheat farmer.	"我们连刷墙的钱都没有，"陈瑞芬说。她靠种植红薯、萝卜和小麦为生。
As she sat at the entrance of her courtyard home, her hands dyed purple from picking mulberries, Ms. Chen recounted how she had pleaded with officials to keep her home.	她坐在自家庭院的门口，手指因为采摘桑葚而染得紫红。她讲述了自己如何乞求政府官员留下她的房子。
"I'm getting old and dying soon," she said. "I don't know what else I can do."	"我年纪越来越大，也活不久了，"她说。"我不知道自己还能做什么。"
Across town, in a house overlooking the southern shore of the village,	在鱼鸣嘴另一头，一座可以俯瞰村子南部海岸景色的房子里，45岁的薛礼

Xue Li, 45, said he would miss waking up each day to blue skies and the wail of the sea breeze. He stared into the distance as the sun set on a row of high-rise apartments across the bay.	(音)说他会怀念每天早上醒来看见蓝天、有海风拂面的日子。他凝视着远方,日光正洒落在海湾对面一排高耸的公寓楼上。
"These are our roots," he said. "Nobody wants to move."	"这些是我们的根,"他说。"没人愿意搬走。"
His son, Xue Shenye, 17, who is studying to become a cook, disagreed. For young people, he said, Yumingzui is quaint and isolated.	他17岁的儿子薛申烨(音)则不这么想。他正在学习如何做厨师。他表示,对年轻人来说,鱼鸣嘴既老旧又偏僻。
"We can't live like this forever," he said.	"我们不能永远这么生活下去,"他说。
Many fishermen said they would continue to pursue their lifestyle after they relocated, partly because they considered it a duty, and partly because they did not have other options.	很多渔民表示,在搬迁之后他们会继续过现在的生活,一方面是因为他们觉得自己有责任这么做,另一方面也是由于别无选择。
Xue Qingbin, 48, who has fished near Yumingzui for more than three decades, said the challenges posed by environmental destruction were becoming more apparent. He said there were now only three good months of fishing each year. Still, with a daughter in college and a son in middle school, he said he had no choice but to fish.	现年48岁的薛青滨已经在鱼鸣嘴附近捕了30多年的鱼。他表示环境破坏带来的挑战正变得越来越明显。他称,如今每年只有三个月能有不错的收成。但他说,因为有一个读大学的女儿和一个上中学的儿子,他没得选择,只能继续捕鱼。
"We need money to pay for our children's education," he said, "and now we're getting old and can't find other jobs."	"我们需要赚钱让孩子上学,"他说。"现在年纪大了,也找不到其他工作。"
After fishing all night, Mr. Wang returned from the sea shortly after 8 a.m. with a bucket of jellyfish. It was a disappointing catch, and he said he felt the ocean had been particularly unkind that day.	捕了一晚上鱼,王新峰在早上八点刚过的时候提着一桶水母回到了村里。这样的收获令人失望,他说他觉得那天晚上的大海尤其不友善。
Mr. Wang crossed a beach riddled with the remains of crabs and the skeletons of boats that had been abandoned long ago. He set down his bucket, looked to the horizon and said a prayer for the next day's catch.	王新峰走过沙滩,上面布满了螃蟹的碎渣和被遗弃已久的船只的残骸。他放下桶,望向天际,祈祷明天能有个好收成。

For Taiwan, Google Images of Disputed Island Are Too Clear	谷歌航拍太平岛炮台，台湾要求模糊处理
Satellite photos by Google can be a fun way to see your house – or your neighbor’s – from high above.	浏览谷歌(Google)拍摄的卫星图片，是从高空俯瞰你的——或邻居的——房子的一种有趣方式。
But in the case of an island in the South China Sea that is claimed by four countries, sometimes those photos can be too revealing.	但如果对象是南海上被四个国家宣示主权的一座岛屿，这些照片有时就会暴露太多的东西。
That is the position maintained by Taiwan, which has asked Google to blur satellite images of the disputed island – Itu Aba, also known as Taiping Island – that show what appear to be new military installations.	这是台湾秉持的立场，它要求谷歌对这座争议岛屿——黄山马峙(Itu Aba)，也被称为“太平岛”——的卫星影像进行模糊处理。从这些照片上可以看出，岛上似乎出现了一些新的军事设施。
United Press International, citing The China Times of Taiwan and “other local sources,” reported that the images seemed to be of anti-aircraft gun blockhouse towers bigger than the existing 40-millimeter anti-aircraft weapons systems on the island.	合众国际社(United Press International)援引台湾《中国时报》和“其他本地信源”的消息报道，从这些图片看，岛上似乎出现了新的高射炮发射台，体积比现有的40毫米口径防空武器系统要大。
Taiwan has controlled the 110-acre island since 1956. However, the land is also claimed by China, the Philippines and Vietnam.	自1956年以来，台湾就控制着这座面积110英亩(约合44.5万平方米)的岛。不过，中国、菲律宾和越南也对该岛宣示了主权。
The British Broadcasting Corporation quoted Chen Chung-chi, a spokesman for the Taiwan Defense Ministry, as saying that “we have requested Google blur images of important military facilities” to protect military secrets and for security.	英国广播公司(British Broadcasting Corporation)援引台湾国防部发言人陈中吉的话报道，为保护军事机密及安全，“我方已要求谷歌模糊化重要军事设施照片”。
In a statement, Google said: “We received the request and are looking into it. Google takes security concerns very seriously, and we are always willing to discuss them with public agencies and officials.”	谷歌发表声明称：“我们收到了请求，正在进行研究。谷歌非常重视安全问题，始终乐于就此与公共机构和官员进行商讨。”
The company did not respond to additional questions about how long ago the photos were posted and how often it had received requests like this.	谷歌没有回应更进一步的提问，比如这些照片是多久以前拍摄的，以及公司接到这类请求的频率有多高。
The request would help to “ratchet up the tension,” James Edward	据NBC新闻频道(NBC News)报道，伦敦独立智库皇家国际事务研究所

The request was puzzling because it would not stop surveillance by nations with interests in the South China Sea, he said.	(Chatham House)副研究员詹姆斯·爱德华·霍尔(James Edward Hoare)表示, 这项请求会“小幅提升紧张气氛”。他还称, 这个要求令人困惑, 因为它无法阻止在南海存在利益关系的国家继续对它进行监控。
“It’s hard to see what they’re trying to achieve in asking Google to blur it,” Mr. Hoare said, according to the NBC report. He added, “If you build a military installation on an island that size, someone is going to see it.”	“很难看清他们通过让谷歌模糊照片是想达到什么目的,”霍尔在 NBC 的报道中说。他还表示, “如果你在那样大小的岛上建军事设施, 总有人会看见的。”
In July, the Permanent Court of Arbitration in The Hague broadly rejected China’s claims that it had historic rights to control most of the South China Sea.	今年7月, 位于海牙的常设仲裁法院(Permanent Court of Arbitration)大体上驳回了中国在南海的主张, 即它享有控制南海大部分水域的历史性权利。
A notable finding by the tribunal was its declaration that Itu Aba, the largest land feature in the South China Sea, was not an island that could sustain human habitation or economic activity. The finding that Itu Aba is a rock means that Taiwan is entitled to a territorial sea extending for 12 nautical miles around it but not a 200-nautical-mile exclusive economic zone.	该仲裁机构做出了一项引人注目的结论, 宣称黄山马峙这个南海上最大的一片陆地构造并非可以维持人类居住或经济活动的岛。给出黄山马峙是一块岩礁的结论, 意味着台湾只对其周边 12 海里范围拥有主权, 而没有 200 海里的专属经济区。

In Australia, China’s Appetite Shifts From Rocks to Real Estate	澳大利亚的中国“金主”(下): 买房团与投资 2.0

Read Part 1.	点击阅读：澳大利亚的中国“金主”（上）：矿业冲击波
The boom was on.	繁荣的大幕就此开启了。
Little Port Hedland became one of the biggest ports in the world, handling a greater tonnage of freight each year than the ports of Los Angeles, Hong Kong or Antwerp, Belgium. Skilled welders and electricians earned as much as $350,000 a year, drawing workers from around the country. The town's population doubled, to a peak of about 30,000, and would have increased a lot more except that a dispute over Aboriginal claims to land on the city's outskirts blocked construction and resulted in a housing shortage.	小小的黑德兰港变成了世界上最大的港口之一，每年处理货物的吨位比洛杉矶、香港或比利时的安特卫普还要大。熟练的焊工和电工一年的工资可达 35 万美元，吸引了来自全国各地的工人。这里的人口已经翻番，达到约 30 万的顶峰。如果不是土著人宣称享有郊区的土地引发的争端阻碍了施工，导致房屋短缺，这里的人还会多很多。
Much of the high pay came from overtime, or what became known as "divorce rosters" or "suicide rosters." Mining companies flew workers into remote camps to work 27 days with a single day off in the middle, then flew them home again. Welders in their "high-viz" — reflective, high-visibility yellow mining shirts — spent months drenched in sweat as they labored outside through long summers in coastal desert heat reaching 110 degrees.	高额的报酬有许多来自加班，或是由于上了一种被戏称为“离婚排班表”或“自杀排班表”的班次。矿业公司将工人运至偏远的营地，让他们连着工作 27 天，中间只休息一天，之后再送回。焊工身着“高能见”服装——能反射光线、能见度比较高的黄色采矿作业服——数月里一直在沿海沙漠高达 110 华氏度（约合 43 摄氏度）的高温中汗流浹背进行户外作业，度过一个漫长的夏天。
All that overtime pay pushed prices to stratospheric levels. Port Hedland's bakery, butcher, newsstand, charter fishing operator and scuba-diving shop all closed, unable to cope with soaring rents and locals who would rather work for mining companies than the shops.	所有这些超时工资将物价推至极高的程度。黑德兰港的面包店、肉摊、报摊、特许经营的鱼店和水肺潜水店都关门了，因为无力承担不断飙升的租金，也请不到本地人放弃矿业公司而为之工作。
Ray Sampson, the owner of a local diner, paid $1,600 a week to rent a small house for his out-of-town cooks and waitresses. With his diner packed daily, he then had to rent a second small house, for $1,800 a week, to house more workers, mostly hitchhikers who drifted through	当地一家小餐馆的老板雷·桑普森(Ray Sampson)以每周 1600 美元的租金租下一栋小屋，供他从市外聘来的厨师和女服务员住宿。因为餐馆每天爆满，他又以每周 1800 的租金租了第二栋小屋，好容纳新增的员工。他们大多是途径这里、短暂停留几周的背包客，也是唯一愿意接受厨师和服务员这类工

town for a few weeks and were the only people willing to accept jobs as cooks and waiters.	作的人。
Real estate prices and rents took off. Affluent families from elsewhere in Australia and from mainland China, Malaysia and Singapore heard about the profits from charging four-digit weekly rents and swooped in to invest.	房地产的卖价和租金大涨。澳大利亚别的地方、中国大陆、马来西亚和新加坡的富裕家庭听说了这里的四位数周租金，感到有利可图，于是大批涌入，进行投资。
Lorren Murphy, a convenience store owner from Perth, flew up to Port Hedland four years ago and paid almost $2 million for a two-story house. He quickly signed a two-year lease with a tenant willing to pay $4,100 a week — nearly $18,000 a month.	珀斯一家便利店的老板洛林·墨菲(Lorren Murphy)在四年前飞到黑德兰港，花了近 200 万美元买下一栋两层楼房。他很快便签了一份为期两年的租约，租户愿意每周支付 4100 美元，也就是说每月近 1.8 万美元。
He was envious of others who had even more money to invest, because it seemed like a sure bet. "I've got a friend who dropped $6 million here," Mr. Murphy recalled.	他羡慕那些有更多资金进行投资的人，因为这看起来似乎是一桩稳赚不赔的生意。“我有个朋友在这儿投了 600 万美元，”墨菲回忆道。
The town finally replaced its prefabricated hospital and added a swimming center, an air-conditioned basketball arena, a new courthouse, a skateboard park and more. Outside Port Hedland, the state government in Perth spent on hospitals, new power lines and water systems and a $1 billion Australian football stadium.	城里最终拆掉了原有的医院进行重建，新增了一座游泳馆、一个配备空调的篮球馆、一座新政府大楼、一座溜冰场，还有其他设施。在黑德兰港外，位于珀斯的州政府投资建设了多座医院、新电力线和供水系统，还花 10 亿美元修建一座澳式橄榄球场。
But 4,000 miles away, trouble was brewing. China's debt-choked developers were starting fewer buildings. Steel use fell 3 percent in 2014 and an additional 5 percent in 2015, even as more steel mills were being built in anticipation of never-ending growth. Manufacturers were becoming more cautious about putting up more factories.	然而，在 4000 英里以外，麻烦正在酝酿。中国负债累累的开发商开始放慢盖新楼的速度。钢铁消耗量在 2014 年减少了 3%，2015 年又减少了 5%，尽管那里正在修建更多钢铁厂，以为会有永无止境的增长。制造商对开设更多工厂表现得更加谨慎。
The Collapse	倒塌
"This is a bigger bust than anyone ever saw."	"谁也没见过泡沫爆得这么壮观。”

Nearly 200 miles south of Port Hedland, the Iron Valley iron ore mine squats in a red desert of drought-stunted eucalyptus trees and maroon cliffs.	在黑德兰港以南约 200 英里处，名为铁谷的铁矿场就座落在红色的沙漠里，这里有因为干旱而没充分长开的桉树，还有褐红色的悬崖。
Kim Sheppard, the general manager until he moved to a different position last month, climbed the staircase of a three-story yellow apparatus coated with reddish-pink grime that clanged as it crushed and sorted iron ore into small pebbles. The highly automated operation requires only four workers and a supervisor for each work shift, as well as a few mechanics, blasting specialists and managers at an air-conditioned building nearby. At the peak of construction, a couple of hundred workers labored here.	之前担任矿场总经理的金·谢泼德(Kim Sheppard)沿着一座三层的黄色设备的阶梯往上走。他在上个月转到了别的岗位。这个设备落了一层粉色的矿尘，在压碎铁矿石和将之分拣成小块时发出铿锵之声。这里的作业高度自动化，每班只需四名工人和一名监工，还有几名技工、爆破专家和经理在旁边一座有空调的楼内呆着。在生产的高峰期，曾经有几百名工人在这里劳作。
The desert around the site used to be dotted with large camps of workers, building more mines. Now the desert is empty.	矿场周围的沙漠过去点缀着一些大型的工人营地，从而建成了更多矿场。现如今，沙漠上却一片空白。
"There are always booms and busts," Mr. Sheppard said. "But this one is different."	"总是有兴有衰，"谢泼德说。"但这一次不同。"
Port Hedland felt the pain quickly. Iron ore prices plummeted. Worried that workers might get angry and damage multimillion-dollar equipment, mining companies laid off tens of thousands of construction workers.	黑德兰港很快感受到了这种痛楚。铁矿石价格大跌。因为担心工人发怒，破坏价值数百万美元的设备，矿业公司裁掉了数以万计的雇员。
"One day they just called in the trucks for lunch, and they said, 'Bring in your backpacks,' which was unheard-of," said Shannon Baker, a former power shovel operator at a mine near Iron Valley. "They got us together in the crew room and they said, 'The planes are at the airport to take you out.'"	"那天他们说是喊卡车司机进来吃午饭，结果却说，'带上你们的背包，'这在以前是没有过的，"曾在铁谷附近一座矿场开挖土机的香农·贝克(Shannon Baker)说。"他们把我们集中在员工室，然后说，'机场有飞机会带你们走。'"
Rents and housing prices have fallen by three-quarters, said Jim	黑德兰港一家大型房地产经纪公司的所有者吉姆·亨内伯里(Jim

Bill Dziombak spent $1 million apiece to build luxury townhouses here, only to see rents and prices collapse. "I never expected this to go bang the way it did, in just 12 months," he said. "It was like falling off the edge of a cliff."	比尔·齐奥姆巴克(Bill Dziombak)以每栋 100 万美元的造价在这里修建了联排别墅, 却眼瞅着房租和房价崩了盘。“无论如何也想不到, 仅仅 12 个月里, 事情就这样突然发生了,” 他说。“就好像从悬崖边掉了下去。”
Customers at Camilo Blanco's car repair garage no longer need reservations. "I've had customers coming in and saying, 'This is the last time I'll see you, because I have to leave town,'" said Mr. Blanco, who is also Port Hedland's acting mayor.	卡米洛·布兰科(Camilo Blanco)经营的汽车修理厂的顾客不再需要预约。“曾有顾客走进来说, ‘这是最后一次见面了, 因为我不得不离开这里, ’”兼任黑德兰港代理市长的布兰科说。
Departing miners have sold so many used power boats, muscle cars and dune buggies that the local market is glutted. Mr. Blanco was recently offered an options-laden $14,000 Rhino dune buggy for half that price, and he still bargained: "I said, 'I'll pay you five grand for it,' and it's sitting in my yard now."	矿工们临走前卖掉了太多旧机动船、肌肉车和沙漠越野车, 当地市场充斥着这些东西。不久前, 有人要把一辆带有诸多选配装置、原价 1.4 万美元的 Rhino 沙滩车以半价卖给布兰科, 而他还是要讨价还价: “我说, ‘我愿意出价五千’, 而现在它就停在我家院子里。”
Local leaders who spent heavily during the boom times are now under pressure to cut real estate taxes, which in many cases are still based on eye-wateringly high property values. Simply operating Port Hedland's new basketball arena costs $2 million a year, or 3 percent of the city's annual budget.	当地领导人在繁荣时期有大把的钱可花, 如今却面临着削减房地产税的压力——相关税率的设定在很大程度上仍然以极高的房地产价值为依据。单是运营黑德兰港的新篮球馆, 每年就要花掉 200 万美元, 相当于当地年度预算的 3%。
"It's like surfing," said Colin Barnett, the premier of Western Australia state, in an interview in Perth. "When the wave comes, you've got to catch it and you've got to ride it hard and get everything out of it. When the wave's not there, you've got to paddle hard, and we're paddling hard at the moment."	“这就像冲浪,” 西澳大利亚州州长科林·巴尼特(Colin Barnett)在珀斯接受采访时说。“浪来了, 你得把握住机会, 奋力乘浪而行, 利用好它带给你的一切。浪走了, 你就得奋力划水, 我们当下就是在奋力划水。”

Chinese Investment 2.0	中国投资 2.0
Even in the middle of the worst of the mining slump, Australia has found a potential source of strength, again from China: people like Ike Wang.	即便采矿业出现了最严重的滑坡，澳大利亚还是发现了经济增长的潜在源泉，这次依然来自中国那里，也就是阿克·王(Ike Wang)这类人。
Mr. Wang, 24, graduated last year from Murdoch University in Perth, where he was one of hundreds of students from mainland China. He is looking for a full-time job in marketing and, despite Western Australia's slowdown, he has an advantage: His family back in Tianjin, China, paid $370,000 at the start of this year to buy him a two-bedroom apartment.	现年 24 岁的阿克·王去年毕业于珀斯的莫道克大学(Murdoch University)，该校有成百上千名像他这样来自中国大陆的学生。他正寻找市场营销方面的全职工作，尽管西澳大利亚州经济增长放缓，但他有一个优势：他在中国天津的家人于今年年初花 37 万美元为他买下了一套带有两间卧室的公寓。
The 13th-floor apartment, with white walls and a white carpet, is nearly empty of furniture. But it has a good view over the city and what seems like solid workmanship. (Coincidentally, Mr. Meadowcroft did some of the plumbing for the complex.)	这套公寓位于 13 楼，墙壁刷成了白色，地上铺着白地毯，屋内几乎没有任何家具。但它拥有可以俯瞰这座城市良好视野，施工工艺看上去也很过硬。（巧合的是，这栋公寓楼的部分给排水管道是由梅多克罗夫特安装的。）
The apartment gives Mr. Wang a free place to live while he decides his next move. "I like that it's a new apartment," he said. "Everything is new and clean."	在阿克·王盘算下一步该怎么办的时候，这套公寓让他有了免费的住处。“这是一套新公寓，我很喜欢，”他说。“哪儿都是崭新而又干净的。”
Real estate developers say that they see a lot of Chinese families eager to buy homes in Australia. "I think the investment return is the No. 2 concern — it's about getting money somewhere that is stable and safe, it's about getting the money out" of China, said Paul Blackburne, a developer of numerous Perth apartment complexes.	房地产开发商称，他们发现很多中国家庭急于在澳大利亚买房。在珀斯开发了大量公寓楼的保罗·布莱克本(Paul Blackburne)说，“我认为投资回报是次要关注点——他们的首要目标是把钱放在某个稳定安全的地方，是把钱转出”中国。
As in the United States, low interest rates have also fanned demand for houses and apartments from local buyers. Australian government data shows that it approved $18.2 billion in Chinese real estate investments in the year that ended June 30, 2015, twice as much as the year before,	与美国的情况类似，低利率也增进了买家对房屋和公寓的需求。澳大利亚政府的数据显示，在截至 2015 年 6 月 30 日的财年里，得到其许可的来自中国的房地产投资为 182 亿美元，为前一财年的两倍，比上一财年来自美国的投资总额多出两倍还多——美国是澳大利亚的第二大海外投资者。一些开发

and more than triple the total last year for the United States, which was the second-largest overseas investor. And developers say that a lot more Chinese money is quietly flowing into Australian real estate without government approvals.	商表示, 更多来自中国的资金在没有得到澳大利亚政府许可的情况下, 悄悄流进了房地产市场。
Port Hedland and the entire state of Western Australia face budget problems. The state has begun moving to sell a 50-year lease on the Utah Point berth, possibly to a Chinese buyer, despite objections from smaller companies like Mineral Resources, which owns the low-cost Iron Valley mine and cannot use the other docks because they are controlled by giant rivals like BHP. (Mr. Meadowcroft coincidentally helped build the Utah Point berth as well.)	黑德兰港乃至整个西澳大利亚州都面临着预算问题。该州已经着手出售为期50年的犹他点泊位租约, 买家有可能来自中国, 尽管矿产资源(Mineral Resources)等规模较小的公司纷纷表示反对。该公司拥有成本低廉的铁谷铁矿场, 却不能使用其他码头, 因为它们都受控于必和必拓等规模庞大的竞争对手。(梅多克罗夫特恰巧也参与修建了犹他点泊位。)
But unemployment has barely risen in Port Hedland or in Western Australia over all. Some, like Mr. Meadowcroft, found jobs in Perth. Many moved east to Sydney and Melbourne to work in the construction sector there.	但总体而言, 黑德兰港或者西澳大利亚州的失业率基本没有上升。一些人, 比如梅多克罗夫特, 在珀斯找到了工作。许多人搬到了东边的悉尼和墨尔本, 投身于那里的建筑行业。
One worry in Australia is whether the country is now on an economic trajectory similar to that of the United States a decade earlier. Australia's central bank warned in April that if Chinese demand faltered, Australia's real estate market could suffer and the country's banking system, heavily exposed to home mortgages, could be harmed.	让一些澳大利亚人感到担心的是: 这个国家眼下所处的经济轨道是否和10年前的美国类似? 澳大利亚央行在4月份警告称, 如果来自中国的需求下降, 澳大利亚的房地产市场可能遭受挫折, 该国有着大量住房抵押贷款业务的银行系统可能受到损害。
But for now, Chinese money is still flowing. Many miners who squandered their earnings during the iron ore boom are now trying to catch up in construction jobs. But many others socked away their money from the boom and have used those savings to buy homes or start small businesses.	但截至目前, 中国人的资金仍在流入。在铁矿石热潮中拿赚到的钱大肆挥霍的很多矿工, 如今正竭力适应建筑业的工作。但也有很多矿工当初存了钱, 已经用积蓄买了房或创办了小企业。

"They were micro-entrepreneurs," said Tom Barratt, a University of Western Australia doctoral student who is doing his thesis on labor markets in the Pilbara hills.	"他们是小微创业者,"西澳大学的博士生汤姆·巴勒特(Tom Barratt)说。他在写一篇关于皮尔巴拉(Pilbara)山丘地区劳动力市场的论文。
Mr. Meadowcroft is among those savers. He bought a house and soon paid off most of the mortgage. He also married his longtime girlfriend after years of commuting to far-flung mines and ports, and is now raising two children as he learns to be a plumber.	梅多克罗夫特就是存了钱的人之一。他买了一栋房子,很快就付清了大部分抵押贷款。另外,在过了许多年往返于居住地和遥远的矿山、港口之间的日子以后,他和相恋已久的女友结了婚,目前一边养育两个孩子,一边学着成为一名水管工。
Although his savings account is much smaller now, he has no regrets about the boom years. "That was 12 years of really hard work," he said, "to achieve what a lot of people don't achieve in their whole lives."	尽管银行储蓄账户里的钱现在少了许多,但谈起那个繁荣的时代,他说自己无怨无悔。"我结结实实地辛苦劳作了12年,"他说,"去实现许多人终其一生也无法达到的目标。"

U.S. Says Chinese Executive Helped North Korea Dodge Sanctions	美国指控辽宁鸿祥帮助朝鲜躲避制裁
HONG KONG — The United States Justice Department has filed criminal charges against a Chinese executive, accusing her, the company she owns and several of her colleagues of violating American sanctions meant to choke off funding to North Korean companies that help Pyongyang develop nuclear weapons.	香港——美国司法部对一名中国公司高管提出刑事起诉,指控她本人、她拥有的公司,以及她的几名同事违反了美国针对朝鲜的制裁。这些制裁旨在阻止资金流入为平壤的核武器发展提供帮助的朝鲜公司。
Ma Xiaohong, 44, is the owner of Dandong Hongxiang Industrial Development Company, a trading company that in one year, according to United States officials, handled more than one-fifth of the commerce between North Korea and China. She and her colleagues worked with Kwangson Banking, a North Korean bank that has been the subject of American sanctions for years, to set up shell companies in Hong Kong and offshore tax havens to disguise the activity, the Justice Department	44岁的马晓红是贸易企业丹东鸿祥实业发展有限公司的老板,美国官员表示,该公司一年经手的中朝贸易额占两国贸易总值的五分之一以上。美国司法部在周一发布的声明中说:马晓红及其同事与美国长期的制裁对象光鲜银行(Kwangson Banking)一起,在香港和离岸避税港设立壳公司,掩盖交易活动。

said in a statement released Monday.
On Aug. 3, a federal judge in New Jersey signed a sealed indictment against Ms. Ma, her company and three of her colleagues, charges that were made public on Monday. Justice Department officials traveled to Beijing to alert Chinese officials to the activity, and this month the Chinese police opened their own criminal investigation into the company, which is based in Dandong, a Chinese city across the Yalu River from North Korea.	8月3日，新泽西州的一位联邦法官签署了针对马晓红、她的公司及其三名同事的密封起诉书。起诉书在本周一公之于众。美国司法部官员曾前往北京，将该公司的活动通报给了中国官员，中国警方已在本月启动了自己的刑事调查。鸿翔公司的总部设在鸭绿江边的中国城市丹东，朝鲜就在江的对岸。
Last week, researchers in South Korea and the United States published a report that said Dandong Hongxiang exported materials to North Korea that included aluminum oxide, which can be used in the production of nuclear weapons. China is North Korea's largest trading partner.	上周，韩国和美国的研究人员发布了一份报告，称丹东鸿翔出口到朝鲜的材料中包括氧化铝，氧化铝可用于核武器的制造。中国是朝鲜最大的贸易伙伴。
In addition to the criminal charges against Ms. Ma and her colleagues, the Justice Department, in a separate civil suit, is seeking to seize funds in 25 Chinese bank accounts that it says were used by Dandong Hongxiang and its front companies.	除了对马晓红及其同事提出刑事起诉之外，美国司法部还在一起另行提出的民事诉讼中，寻求冻结25个中国的银行账户中的资金，司法部称丹东鸿翔以及为其打掩护的公司使用这些账户。
The shell companies set up by Dandong Hongxiang, stretching from Hong Kong to the Seychelles in the Indian Ocean to the British Virgin Islands in the Caribbean, were used to register bank accounts in China, hiding the North Korean origin of the funds and hence engaging in money laundering, the United States charged. In some instances, those banks dealt with American lenders, so-called correspondent banks, to help facilitate dollar-denominated transactions, the Justice Department said.	丹东鸿翔设立的壳公司遍布在从香港到印度洋岛国塞舌尔、再到加勒比海的英属维尔京群岛等许多地方，这些公司被用来在中国注册银行账户，隐瞒资金来自朝鲜的事实，美国指控那是在从事洗钱活动。美国司法部说，在某些情况下，那些银行与美国贷款机构、即所谓的代理银行打交道，为以美元结算的交易提供方便。
The United States and Chinese banks involved are not being accused of	司法部在声明中说，此案中牵涉到的美国和中国银行未受不法行为的指控。

wrongdoing, the department said in the statement.
“The charges unsealed today reflect our nation’s commitment to using all tools to deter and disrupt weapons of mass destruction proliferators,” John P. Carlin, the assistant attorney general for national security, said in the statement. “One of the strengths of our sanctions programs is they prevent sanctioned wrongdoers from engaging in U.S. dollar transactions.”	“今天启封的指控，反映了我国致力于使用所有手段来阻止和中断大规模杀伤性武器研发的决心，”分管国家安全的司法部助理部长约翰·P·卡林(John P Carlin)在声明中说。“我们的制裁方案的优势之一是，阻止受制裁的违法者进行以美元结算的交易。”
But the sanctions against the North Korean bank, announced in 2009, did not stop Dandong Hongxiang from disguising their business for seven years, the United States alleges. Some of the paperwork that Ms. Ma and her colleagues filed to set up shell companies is contained in the Panama Papers, the massive trove of leaked records about offshore companies that was made public this year by the Washington-based International Consortium of Investigative Journalists.	但是，美国的指控表明，2009年宣布的针对那家朝鲜银行的制裁，并没有阻止丹东鸿翔隐瞒两家之间长达七年的业务。马晓红及其同事为设立壳公司提交的一些文件出现在“巴拿马文件”(Panama Papers)中。“巴拿马文件”指的是总部设在华盛顿的国际调查记者同盟(International Consortium of Investigative Journalists)今年公开的曝光离岸公司记录的大量数据。
Mossack Fonseca, the Panamanian law firm whose files were leaked, helped set up some of Dandong Hongxiang’s shell companies, and the documents show that at least in one instance, it appeared to do little to comply with rules that even lax offshore jurisdictions set up to help prevent money laundering.	这些泄露的文件来自巴拿马律师事务所莫萨克-冯塞卡(Mossack Fonseca)，这家律所帮助设立了丹东鸿翔的几家壳公司。文件显示，至少在其中一家公司的设立上，该律所似乎没有遵守有关规则，而这些离岸司法管辖区为防止洗钱所制定的规则已经是非常松的。
Those documents show that in May 2011, two years after Ms. Ma set up her joint-venture company with the North Korean bank, she registered a shell company in the Seychelles, the Indian Ocean island nation that in recent years has become a haven for money laundering because of its corporate secrecy rules.	这些文件显示，在马晓红与那家朝鲜银行成立合资公司两年后的2011年5月，她在印度洋岛国塞舌尔注册了一家壳公司。由于塞舌尔的公司保密规定，近年来，该国已成为洗钱活动的保护地。
The dozens of leaked internal emails about the shell company, Sky	这家壳公司叫 Sky Bright Development，泄露出来的有关该公司的几十封

Bright Development, do not reveal its purpose, but such shells can be used to hold stakes in other companies or to set up bank accounts that are extremely difficult to trace. The registration was facilitated by Mossack Fonseca, which specializes in setting up offshore companies for clients around the world, and whose biggest market is China.	内部电子邮件并未透露设立公司的目的,但可以用这类壳公司来持有其他公司的股权,或在其名下设立银行账户,使资金的来源极难追溯。这家壳公司的注册是在莫萨克-冯塞卡律所的帮助下完成的,该律所专门为世界各地的客户设立离岸公司,他们最大的市场是中国。
Mossack Fonseca conducted a search to find out whether Ms. Ma had any criminal background or was a “politically exposed person,” or P.E.P. – usually an individual with a government post, or a relative of such a person. Seychelles requires extra scrutiny when such people set up offshore companies, including efforts to verify the source of the company’s funds, because of the possibility that they are doing so to conceal corruption.	莫萨克-冯塞卡律所做了点查询,以确定马晓红是否有犯罪背景,或是否属于“政治敏感人物”(politically exposed person, 简称 PEP),这通常指的是担任政府职位的个人或其亲戚。塞舌尔对 PEP 设立离岸公司有额外的审查要求,包括证实公司的资金来源,因为有一种可能是这类人通过离岸公司来隐藏腐败行为。
In this case, an online search conducted by Mossack Fonseca determined that Ms. Ma was in fact a P.E.P., showing in its first result that she was a lawmaker in her home province of Liaoning in China, according to the leaked records. Yet Mossack Fonseca’s own internal records subsequently indicated that Ms. Ma had not been designated a politically exposed person.	泄露的资料显示,就马晓红的情况而言,莫萨克-冯塞卡律所进行的网上检索表明,她确实是 PEP,检索结果的第一条就显示她是老家辽宁省的人大代表。然而,该律所的内部记录后来显示,马晓红并未被认定为政治敏感人物。

HONG KONG — Taiwan’s president delivered a resounding affirmation of its freely elected government on Monday, noting that its deepening foothold on the island stands in stark contrast to the authoritarian government of mainland China.	香港——本周一，台湾总统响亮地肯定了自由选举产生的政府，指出民主政府已在台湾岛上深深扎根，与中国大陆的专制政府形成鲜明对比。
Addressing the nation in her first National Day speech, President Tsai Ing-wen called for talks between Taiwan and the mainland government, but she emphasized that Beijing should acknowledge Taiwan’s choice to become a democracy. China considers Taiwan to be a renegade province, while the self-governing island Ms. Tsai leads traces its roots to the formation of the Republic of China in 1911 that overthrew the last Chinese dynasty, only to lose the Chinese civil war to the Communists in 1949.	台湾总统蔡英文在她的首次国庆演说中呼吁台湾与大陆政府进行谈判，但她强调说，北京应该承认台湾选择民主制度的现实。中国把台湾视为一个尚未收复的省份，但蔡英文领导的这个自治岛屿的政府回溯至1911年成立的中华民国。中华民国推翻了中国的最后一个王朝，但1949年在内战中败给了共产党。

One of the goals of the Chinese government is to reunify Taiwan with the mainland. Although Beijing has never renounced the use of force against the island, it has offered to achieve unification by giving Taiwan considerable autonomy, similar to an arrangement that paved the way for Hong Kong to be returned to Chinese rule in 1997, after more than 150 years of British control.	中国政府的目标是两岸统一。虽然北京从未承诺放弃对台湾使用武力，但曾提出以赋予台湾相当大的自主权的方式来实现统一，类似的做法曾为1997年香港回归中国铺平了道路，香港曾归英国管辖了150多年。

The Taipei museum opened in 1965 and was used by Taiwan's Nationalist government under Chiang Kai-shek as a source of local legitimacy vis-à-vis Mao's Communists, the victors of the Chinese civil war. The museum was also employed as a tool for imposing a Chinese identity upon Taiwan residents.	台北故宫博物院于 1965 年对外开放，被蒋介石领导的台湾国民党政府用以显示其本土正当性——与中国内战中的胜利者毛泽东领导的共产党相对应。它同时也被用来给台湾居民施加一种中国身份。

Mr. Chen was a member of the Democratic Progress Party, which sits at the center of the “pan-green” political camp in Taiwan’s politics that emphasizes Taiwan’s unique identity and prefers to keep the country self-determined. The party’s rise in the 2000 elections added a new voice to Taiwan’s identity politics in Taipei’s halls of power. By 2003, the idea of a new and very different branch of the National Palace Museum gained traction among pan-greens.	陈水扁来自民进党，该党是台湾政治“泛绿”阵营的核心，强调台湾独一无二的身份，更愿意保持自决权。该党在 2000 年的大选中崛起，为台北权力庙堂中的台湾身份政治增添了新的声音。至 2003 年，设立一个新的非常不同的国立故宫博物院分支的想法在泛绿阵营中获得广泛的认同。

collection.”
Politicians in the sinocentric “pan-blue” camp that primarily includes the Nationalists were less enthusiastic, as were bureaucrats in the Taipei museum, Mr. Lin said. Deliberations concluded with Chiayi as the museum’s site and “Formosa in the great era of navigation” as its theme, he said.	林盛丰表示，当时主要由国民党构成、以中国为中心的“泛蓝”阵营的政客对此不太热心，掌管台北博物院的官员也是如此。据他讲，商议的结果是把嘉义定为新博物馆的所在地，主题则为“大航海时代的福尔摩沙（16世纪葡萄牙殖民者对台湾的称呼——译注）”。
A dispute with the initial architect, Antoine Predock, resulted in the stalling of the project. It restarted in 2010 with the involvement of the Taipei architect Kris Yao, who inherited a half-started project that presented several constraints, including an already-constructed shoreline on an artificial lake. Mr. Yao created a new design for the museum inspired by three primary strokes in Chinese calligraphy: one thick, one dry and one watery and smeared.	因为与最初的建筑师安托万·普雷多克(Antoine Predock)产生了分歧，该项目一度停顿。2010年，台北建筑师姚仁喜(Kris Yao)参与进来后，它得以重启。姚仁喜接下这个进行了一半的项目，它带有诸多限制，其中包括一个已经建成的人工湖岸。他为这座博物馆打造了新的设计方案，其灵感来源于中国书法的三种笔法：浓墨、飞白和渲染。
“It’s an abstraction of a very basic Chinese art translated into architecture,” Mr. Yao said.	“这是对一种非常基本的中国艺术进行提炼，将之转换成建筑语言，”姚仁喜说。
The portion of the building representing the thick stroke contains the museum’s archive and exhibition area, which require minimal natural light to protect its contents. The dry stroke lets natural light in, and comprises the building’s exoskeleton, lobby and offices. The smeared stroke, embodying penetration, is composed of walking areas and the bridge that leads over the lake.	在这座博物馆中，代表“浓墨”的那部分建筑是档案馆和展区，这些地方要求自然光降至最少，以保护里面的藏品。“飞白”部分引入了自然光，这包括外部建筑框架、大厅和办公区域。体现穿透性的“渲染”部分则包括步行区域和跨过人工湖的那座桥。
Inspired by his love of ancient Chinese bronzes, especially those of the Shang dynasty, Mr. Yao said he had digitized ancient dragon and cloud patterns for the scaly surface of the “thick stroke” portion of the building.	姚仁喜表示，受他喜爱的中国古代青铜器，尤其是商朝青铜器的启发，他把古代的龙云图案进行数字化处理，用在了博物馆“浓墨”部分建筑的鳞状表面。

The museum's prominence on Chiayi's verdant coastal plain is a striking departure from the Taipei museum, a Chinese-style palace built into the side of a mountain. In his recent book "The Miraculous History of China's Two Palace Museums," the journalist Mark O'Neill wrote of Chiang's demands for the National Palace Museum:	这座博物院矗立在嘉义碧绿的沿海平原上，非常醒目，与台北故宫博物院形成鲜明的差异。后者是一座中式宫廷建筑，建在一座山的一侧。在记者欧年乐(Mark O'Neill)的新作《中国两座故宫博物馆令人惊叹的历史》(The Miraculous History of China's Two Palace Museums)中，他写到了蒋介石当年对台北国立故宫博物院的要求：
"The government wanted not only a traditional Chinese design that matched the art pieces inside but also a museum with the most modern conservation systems; it had to protect the pieces from earthquakes, typhoons, humidity, insects and air raids."	"政府需要的博物馆不仅要有与里面的藏品相匹配的传统中式设计，也要有最现代的保护系统；它必须能保护这些藏品不受地震、台风、湿气、虫子和空袭的损害。"
A visit to the Taipei museum may leave visitors feeling adrift in the vast breadth of China's geography and history. The Chiayi museum's handful of exhibition rooms shrink both time and space, using Asia's historical commercial and cultural exchanges, themselves often inseparable, to weave a regional patchwork that is neither exhaustive, nor exhausting. China's important influence is not ignored, nor is it central to the museum.	在台北故宫博物院参观，游客可能会感觉自己迷失在无比广博的中国地理和历史之中。而嘉义博物院数量不多的展厅缩小了时间和空间，用亚洲历史上的商业和文化交流——这二者往往密不可分——组成了一幅地域拼贴画。它并不巨细靡遗，也不会让人疲惫不堪。中国的重要影响在这里没有被忽略，但它也并非这座博物馆的中心。
Using the example of tea — a beverage that spread across ancient Asian trading routes — Ms. Wang expounded upon the shared differences of the museum's exhibits.	王世圣用茶——遍布亚洲古贸易之路的饮品——作例子，具体解释了该博物馆展品的差异。

With the aim of creating the world's top pan-Asian museum, Ms. Wang said the National Palace Museum would bring exhibitions in from other Asian collections around the world.	王女士表示，本着打造世界顶级泛亚洲博物馆的目的，这座国立故宫博物院将会引入来自世界各地的亚洲收藏展。
The ceramics hall, for example, currently displays Imari porcelain wares on loan from the Museum of Oriental Ceramics, Osaka. Future exhibitions will bring Japanese national treasures from the Tokyo National Museum and Kyushu National Museum, as well as the Asian Art Museum of San Francisco, she said.	比如，目前正在陶瓷展厅展览的伊万里瓷器，就是从大阪的东洋陶瓷美术馆(Museum of Oriental Ceramics)借来的。她表示，未来还会引入东京国立博物馆(Tokyo National Museum)、九州国立博物馆(Kyushu National Museum)和旧金山亚洲艺术博物馆(Asian Art Museum of San Francisco)的日本国宝进行展览。
Teresa Chiang, a Chiayi native visiting the museum with her parents and four-year-old daughter, said her first visit had left her feeling more connected to other Asian cultures. "At the Taipei museum you can't enjoy Korean or Japanese culture," she said. "Here you can see artifacts from all over Asia – I think it's amazing."	嘉义本地人江美莹(Teresa Chiang)带着她的父母和四岁的女儿来故宫南院参观。她表示，首次参观让她觉得自己更贴近其他亚洲文化了。“在台北故宫博物院，你看不到朝鲜或日本文化，”她说。“在这里，你可以看到来自亚洲各地的文物——我觉得这太不可思议了。”

At Hong Kong Swearing-In, Some Lawmakers Pepper Their Oath With Jabs	立法会宣誓仪式上，香港议员的抗命誓词
HONG KONG — The streets of Hong Kong have been the site of numerous protests over the years against the Chinese government's policies toward the semiautonomous territory, whether over national security legislation or election procedures. On Wednesday, the protests moved into Hong Kong's legislature, as newly elected lawmakers gathered to take the oath of office. The acts of defiance directed at Beijing, with some people calling for outright independence for Hong Kong, seemed to augur an especially stormy legislative term.	香港——近几年来，这里的街道上已发生过多次抗议活动，反对中国政府为半自治的香港制定的政策，不论是有关国家安全的立法，还是选举程序。本周三，抗议活动的场所搬到了香港的立法机构，新当选的立法会议员们正在那里举行首次会议，宣誓就职。拒绝服从北京以及一些人对香港独立的公开呼吁，似乎是一届多风波的立法会的预兆。

One new legislator, Sixtus Leung, known as Baggio, took his oath with a banner draped across his shoulders that read "Hong Kong is not China." And instead of swearing allegiance to the "Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China," he pledged allegiance to a "Hong Kong nation." They demanded an apology from Mr. Leung and Ms. Yau, who attributed the discrepancies in their oaths to their accents.	周三当天，就在梁颂恒、游蕙禎和刘小丽即将再次宣誓时，几十名建制派议员走出立法会，导致会议因不够法定人数而结束。他们要求梁颂恒和游蕙禎道歉，后者则表示誓言不一致是因为自己的口音。
"Their excuse wouldn't even fool a 3-year-old," said Martin Liao, a legislator and a Hong Kong delegate to the National People's Congress, China's legislature. "We have made a request in an open letter to the two legislators to apologize to Chinese people all over the world, but so	"他们用一个连三岁小孩都骗不了的借口。"立法会议员、香港全国人大代表廖长江(Martin Liao)说。"我们发过公开信要求对方、两位议员去作出道歉，向全球华人道歉。但到目前为止，我们仍收不到任何正面的回应。"

far we have not received a positive response.”
The move prompted cheers from dozens of protesters outside the Legislative Council, who were waving Chinese flags and calling Ms. Yau, 25, and Mr. Leung, 30, “Chinese traitors,” and provoked an outcry from pro-democracy legislators.	此举促使聚集在立法会外面的数十名抗议者发出了欢呼。他们挥舞着中国国旗，并高喊 25 岁的梁颂恒和 30 岁的游蕙祯“卖国贼”。这引发了民主派议员的强烈抗议。
“They’re preventing legislators from exercising their constitutional rights and conspiring with the government to weaken Hong Kong’s separation of powers,” said James To of the Democratic Party.	“他们阻碍议员尽快宣誓以及行使他们宪制权力，并且配合政府无理的司法复核去阉割香港行之有效的三权分立，”民主党议员涂谨申(James To)说。
Speaking to reporters on Wednesday evening, Mr. Leung denounced both the request for an injunction and the lawmakers’ walkout. “The government’s use of the judicial process to override the decision of a legislature set a bad precedent, and what the Beijing loyalists did was colluding with it,” he said.	周三傍晚面向记者发表讲话时，梁颂恒对申请禁制令和议员退场的行为进行了谴责。“政府，特别是梁振英和袁国强，用司法程序去凌驾我们立法机关的决定，其实昨天，已是一个很坏很坏的例子。今日，保皇党议员所做是跟这两个坏分子狼狈为奸，”他说。
Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung are the first open advocates for the former British colony’s independence to be elected to the legislature. Their party, Youngspiration, was formed after the Chinese government refused in 2014 to grant Hong Kong greater public participation in the election of its leader and prompted street protests, known as the Umbrella Movement, that lasted two and a half months.	在公开倡导这个英国前殖民地完全独立的人当中，梁颂恒和游蕙祯是最先入选立法会的。他们所在的政党——青年新政(Youngspiration)，是在中国政府 2014 年拒绝授予香港民众在该地区的领导人选举中获得更大的参与权，并引发街头抗议后成立的。这个被称作雨伞运动的街头抗议持续了两个半月。
The High Court declined the government’s request for an injunction but has agreed to consider an application for a judicial review that could unseat Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung even if they are sworn in this month. That hearing is set for Nov. 3.	香港高等法院拒绝了政府的禁制令请求，但同意考虑一项司法复核申请。即便梁颂恒和游蕙祯本月宣誓就职，司法复核也可能让他们失去议员资格。听证会定于 11 月 3 日举行。

In 'Gaining Currency,' a Look at China's Global Ambitions for Its Money	访谈：人民币政策背后的木马战略和全球目标
China long kept a tight hold on its currency as a way to control its economy and to help its factories sell their products overseas. But China has grown in economic power and ambition, and the old restrictions are not helping a country that hopes to call more of the world's financial shots.	为了控制本国经济，帮助国内工厂在海外销售产品，中国对自己的货币一直管得很严。但中国的经济实力和雄心都已经壮大了起来，对于一个希望在世界金融中能更多地呼风唤雨的国家，这些旧有的限制无法提供帮助。
In his new book, "Gaining Currency: The Rise of the Renminbi," Eswar S. Prasad describes how China's view of its currency has evolved, starting from the Han dynasty – China invented paper money, of course – to today's globally ambitious leadership. Mr. Prasad, a professor at the Dyson School of Applied Economics and Management at Cornell University and senior fellow at the Brookings Institution, was formerly head of the International Monetary Fund's China division. In an interview, he explained China's motivations, how money can be a back door to overhauling the country's financial system and why some people fear a financially powerful China.	埃斯瓦尔·S·普拉萨德(Eswar S. Prasad)在自己的新书《不断升值的货币——人民币的崛起》(Gaining Currency: The Rise of the Renminbi)中，自汉朝——当然，纸币就是中国发明的——到希望雄心勃勃引领全球的今天，描述了中国对其货币看法的演化。普拉萨德曾任国际货币基金组织的中国事务主管，现为康奈尔大学戴森应用经济与管理学院教授兼布鲁金斯学会高级研究员。在采访中，他解释了中国的动机、货币是怎样能成为彻底改革国家金融体系的后门的，以及为什么有些人害怕金融上强大的中国。
Why is China reconsidering the role of its currency?	为什么中国在重新考虑其货币的角色？
China is increasing its dominance in the world economy. But there was a sense that China wasn't getting the respect that it felt it deserved. One of the manifestations of that was that its currency was not quite seen as an elite currency.	中国正在加强其在水世界经济上的主导地位。但目前有一种意识，即中国没有得到它觉得自己应得的尊重。这个问题的表现之一，是中国的货币还没有被完全视为精英货币。
Chinese policy makers, especially the more reformist-minded officials, recognized that China needs to do a lot of work to get its financial markets ready before the renminbi could become a prominent international currency. Of course, there is a lot of opposition to such	中国的决策者们，特别是那些致力于改革的官员们认识到，在人民币成为重要国际货币之前，中国需要让自己的金融市场有所准备，因此大量的工作要做。当然，有很多人反对这种金融改革，因为现行体制对许多政治、经济上强大的人很有利。

reforms because the system worked well for a lot of politically and economically powerful people.
About three or four years ago, these reformist-minded officials had a very important insight: If they could get the Chinese people and leadership to sign on to making the renminbi a great global currency, that could provide a very useful mechanism for getting around the opposition and putting in place a lot of reforms. Ultimately it would be good for China, no matter what happened to the currency.	大约三、四年前，这些致力于改革的官员有了一个非常重要的洞悉：如果他们能够得到中国人民和中国领导人的支持，让人民币成为重要全球货币，这就可以提供一个非常有用的机制，绕过反对意见，让许多改革措施得以实施。不管人民币发生什么，这最终都将对中国有利。
I view this as a sort of Trojan horse strategy.	我认为这是一种特洛伊木马策略。
Making the currency international requires meeting requirements from foreign institutions like the I.M.F. At the same time, China is increasingly wary of what it calls "Western influences." Can those external pressures still help China overhaul its financial system?	让货币国际化需要满足来自国际货币基金组织等外国机构的要求。与此同时，中国对所谓的“西方影响”越来越担心。这些外部压力还能帮助中国彻底改革其金融体系吗？
These serve a very positive role, but they must come from the right sources in the right fashion. When the U.S. Treasury or the I.M.F. tells China to allow its currency to appreciate, that is seen as something that is not necessarily in China's best interest.	虽然这些外部压力能起一种非常积极的作用，但压力必须来自合适的地方，以对的方式进行施加。当美国财政部或国际货币基金组织告诉中国要允许其货币升值时，这种要求被视为不一定是符合中国最佳利益的东西。
When it comes to matters where the West has some sort of prize to offer, that changes the dynamic. We've seen some examples of that over the last year and a half. When China decided it wanted to get the renminbi into the I.M.F.'s elite basket of currencies, it felt that this would be a great way of getting more prestige for its currency in one fell swoop. The I.M.F. and China came together and decided on a checklist of things that China needed to accomplish over the next year. That checklist turned out to be very useful particularly for the People's Bank	当涉及到西方可以提供某种奖励的事情时，情况就会有所改变了。我们在过去一年半中看到了一些这种例子。当中国决定让人民币进入国际货币基金组织的精英货币篮子时，它觉得这是一下子能为人民币赢得更大声望的好办法。国际货币基金组织与中国一起制定了一个清单，需要中国在之后一年里完成。这份清单被证明非常有用，尤其是对（中国的央行）中国人民银行改革措施的推出。

of China [China's central bank] in pushing out its reforms.
After the 2008 financial crisis, the United States pumped money into its financial system, which in effect lowered the value of China's vast holdings of American debt. How has that affected China's ambitions for its currency?	2008年金融危机之后，美国向其金融体系输入了大量货币，这实际上降低了中国持有的庞大美国债务的价值。这件事情是怎样影响中国对其货币的野心的？
It is a matter of enormous frustration for China that the U.S. has such a dominant role in global finance. Because of its old policies, China has become even more vulnerable to U.S. policy, especially monetary policy.	美国在全球金融中有如此主导性的作用，对中国来说是一个巨大的烦恼。中国过去的政策让这个国家更容易受美国政策、特别是美国货币政策的影响。
Chinese are net creditors to the rest of the world. That is, the world owes China a lot more than China owes to the world. But the net income that China's earning — the amount paid by foreign investors minus the amount it pays out to foreign investors — is in fact negative. Foreign investors get pretty good returns in China. But China, because most of its foreign assets are in the form of U.S. Treasuries and the government securities of other advanced economies, is earning piddling rates of return.	中国是世界上其他地方的净债权人。也就是说，全世界欠中国的钱，比中国欠世界的多。但中国的净收入实际上是负的，净收入指的是外国投资者支付的金额减去向外国投资者支付的金额。外国投资者在中国有相当好的回报。但因为中国大部分的国外资产以美国国债和其他发达经济体的政府证券的形式持有，中国只得到了极低的利息回报。
The fact that the U.S. dollar is so dominant in global finance, and also that the architecture of global finance is controlled by the U.S. and the Western economies, frustrates the Chinese. I think the Chinese feel that the system is stacked against them.	美元在全球金融中占主导地位，以及全球金融体系的构架由美国和西方经济体控制的事实，都让中国人不满。我觉得中国人认为这个体系对自己不利。
Many foreign economists say China should loosen its grip on its financial system — opening the capital account, as policy wonks call it. But you quote one respected Chinese voice, Justin Lin Yifu, criticizing that view. How prevalent is that opposition?	许多外国经济学家说，中国应该放松对本国金融体系的控制，用政策人士的话说，应该开放资本账户。但你引用了批评这种观点的一个备受尊重的中国声音——林毅夫。反对的声音在中国有多普遍？

It is surprisingly prevalent even among Chinese economists who are pro-reform. There is a good reason for that: If one takes economic theory and the practical experience of emerging market countries into consideration, China is doing it exactly the wrong way.	反对的声音在中国令人惊讶地普遍，即使在主张改革的中国经济学家中也如此。其背后有一个很好的理由：如果将经济理论和新兴市场国家的实践经验考虑进来，中国正在用完全错误的方法进行改革。
The right way to do it is to make domestic financial markets more sound, improve regulatory frameworks and make the exchange rate more flexible so that it can act as a shock absorber. Then you can open up the capital account.	正确的方法是，先让国内的金融市场更加健全，完善监管框架，让汇率变得更加灵活，从而使之成为吸收震荡的工具。然后你才可以开放资本账户。
But I think there's a logic to China's strategy. Opening up the capital account isn't just about money, because China doesn't need money from abroad. But what comes with the money is very important.	但我觉得，中国的战略有其自身的逻辑。开放资本账户不只是为了钱，因为中国并不需要国外的钱。但是，伴随钱而来的东西非常重要。
One example is where the Chinese government brought in foreign strategic investors into its banks. In 2007, in particular, there was concern that there was no improvement being undertaken in the corporate and financial structure of the big state-owned banks. The idea was that those foreign investors in the banks will have an incentive to bring with them better corporate governance practices and better risk-management practices. So all these sort of collective benefits that come with the capital are what China wants.	一个例子是，中国政府将外国战略投资者引进银行。特别是在2007年，人们当时担心大型国有银行的公司和财务结构没有得到改善。中国的想法是，让外国投资者参与中国银行，将刺激他们把更好的公司治理实践和风险管理实践带到中国来。所以，所有这些随资本而来的共同利益才是中国想要的。
The Chinese government prizes stability. Will it give up control?	中国政府以稳定为本。它会放弃控制吗？
China represents a grand and fascinating experiment in managing these two fundamentally contradictory impulses: trying to let the markets work freely versus trying to maintain stability and control in the market. We see that in a variety of contexts, and the currency is no exception. The Chinese government would like the currency's value to	让市场自由运转，还是试图保持市场的稳定和对市场的控制，在管理这两个根本上相互矛盾的冲动上，中国代表着一次壮丽且迷人的实验。我们在几件事情中都看到这点，货币也不例外。中国政府希望本国货币的价值更多地由市场决定，因为他们认为那对提升人民币的地位很重要。

be more market-determined because they see that as important in terms of increasing the renminbi's prominence.
They view the stability of the currency as an important marker of their ability to manage the economy well. This is going to create a number of stumbles and missteps in the future, and indeed it already has.	他们将货币的稳定性视为自己能良好管理经济的重要标志。这将在未来制造一些失误和失策，这其实已经发生了。
Should the world be concerned about China's growing financial ambitions?	世界应该担心中国日益增长的金融野心吗？
There is a positive view about this — that having China become more engaged with the international community is a good thing. Rather than saying that it is a developing country and should be handled by different standards, China might recognize that ultimately having good rules governing international trade and finance would be to its own benefit.	对这个问题有一种正面的看法，让中国更多地参与国际社会是件好事。与其让中国说自己是一个发展中国家，应该按不同的标准受到对待，不如让中国意识到，从根本上采用有关国际贸易和金融的良好规则将对其自身有利。
But I think there was also a fear that China could end up parlaying its economic heft into a more strategic influence that then feeds into its somewhat expansionist tendencies. In the past, and in fact until fairly recently, China took a fairly brute-force approach, using its economic clout to gain economic and political influence.	但我认为也有一种担心，那就是，中国可能最终希望把自己的经济力量转化为更具战略意义的影响力，然后将其注入某种扩张主义倾向。在过去，事实上直到最近，中国采取的方法都相当粗暴，用自己的经济实力来获得经济和政治影响力。
Now China has adopted what I think is a much more savvy and disciplined approach to its international engagement. First, it's increasing its influence in existing international institutions, which allow it to influence the rules of the game from the inside. Second, it is setting up its own institutions like the A.I.I.B. [Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank] that allow it to redefine the rules of the game from the outside. Third, it is bringing lifelines to countries, and bringing them [other	现在中国在国际事务的参与上，已经采取了在我看来是更加精明且更符合准则的方式。首先，中国正在增加其在现有国际机构中的影响力，这将让中国能够从内部影响游戏的规则。第二，中国正在建立自己的机构，如亚投行（亚洲基础设施投资银行），这将让中国能够从外部重新定义游戏的规则。第三，中国在为一些国家提供生命线，通过在这些国家建立机构，将它们纳入自己的怀抱。 countries] into its embrace by setting up institutions with them.

China is very effectively gaining what I like to think of as a multilateral sheen for its effort to build closer economic relationships with other countries.	在为本国与其他国家建立更密切经济关系的努力上,我认为中国正在卓有成效地获得一种多边光辉。
At a time when the political rhetoric in the U.S. is about disengaging and questioning traditional lines both economic and political, I think China stands ready to fill in the void. That is not intrinsically a bad thing. But we have to remember many of the values the U.S. in particular has fought for, or tried to expand, like supporting democratic forms of government, by-and-large free markets, freedom of expression and so on. All those are anathema to China.	美国目前的政治词藻都是关于脱离、质疑传统经济和政治路线的,在这个时刻,我觉得中国已经做好了填补空缺的准备。这本身不是一件坏事。但我们必须记住那些价值观,尤其是美国为之奋斗、或试图推广的,比如支持民主形式的政府、大体上自由的市场、言论自由等等。所有这些都是为中国所仇视的东西。

Separatist Hong Kong Lawmakers Draw Blunt Response From China	“港独”与“独裁”的碰撞:立法会宣誓风波
HONG KONG — It started with an oath of office that two young, newly elected lawmakers altered to insert a derogatory term into the formal name of Hong Kong’s sovereign ruler, the People’s Republic of China, with one also adding a crude epithet.	香港——事情的起因是,两位新当选的年轻议员在宣誓的时候,在香港的主权统治者——中华人民共和国的正式名称中用了一个贬义词,其中一人还加上了一个脏话。
In addition to substantially revising the pledge of loyalty that all members of Hong Kong’s Legislative Council are required to take, the lawmakers, Yau Wai-ching and Sixtus Leung, known as Baggio, displayed a banner with the words “Hong Kong Is Not China” at their swearing-in.	除了大幅改动所有香港立法会议员都必须进行效忠宣誓之外,议员游蕙桢(Yau Wai-ching)和梁颂恒(Sixtus Leung)在咒骂的时候,还打出了“Hong Kong is not China”(香港不是中国)的横幅。
And China is responding with some bluntness of its own.	而中国正在直言不讳地予以回应。
Hong Kong’s government, loyal to Beijing, has asked the court system in the city, a former British colony, to review whether the council can	忠于北京的香港政府,对于立法会是否可以让这些议员重新宣誓就职,已要求这个前英国殖民地的法院系统进行司法审查。香港政府和北京都希望这两

let the lawmakers retake their oaths of office. The Hong Kong government and Beijing want the two representatives, who support independence for the territory, to vacate their seats rather than simply retake the oaths. A court in Hong Kong is set to hold a hearing on the matter on Thursday.	个支持香港独立的代表腾出席位，而不是重新宣誓。香港的法院将于周四就此事进行聆讯。
But a fusillade of invective against the pair in China's state-controlled news media on Wednesday is leading to fears, backed by reports in Hong Kong news outlets, that Beijing may circumvent Hong Kong's legal process by issuing a rare interpretation of the city's mini-constitution that would effectively bar Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung from office.	但是，本周三，中国官方新闻媒体对两人的声讨，经香港新闻媒体进行报道后，引发了人们的担心，因为北京可能绕过香港的法律程序，对香港的小宪法作出罕见的释法，有效地禁止梁颂恒和游蕙祯就职。
That prospect has alarmed many people in the political, academic and legal communities in Hong Kong. The city has a strong and independent legal system, inherited from the British, that China has vowed to honor until at least 2047, as part of the agreement that paved the way for the resumption of Chinese rule in 1997. But a clause in the city's mini-constitution, known as the Basic Law, gives China's rubber-stamp legislature, the National People's Congress, final say over interpretations of that constitution, though the provision has rarely been invoked.	这种前景让香港政治、学术和法律界的很多人感到忧虑。香港从英国继承了一个强大而独立的法律体系，在为1997年恢复中国对香港的统治铺路时，中国已誓言至少将其保留到2047年。但香港有一部微型宪法，称为《基本法》，它赋予了中国傀儡立法机关——全国人民代表大会——对《基本法》的最终解释权，尽管这项规定极少被援引。
If the Congress's standing committee, which is in session, rules on the matter, it would amount to mainland China, where there is no tradition of independent courts and no expectations of genuine debate on legal interpretations, overriding the highly developed Hong Kong court system. The committee may meet to discuss the matter as early as this	人大常委会正在开会，如果他们在会议上对这个问题进行裁决，就相当于没有独立法院传统，也不想对释法展开真正辩论的中国大陆，将践踏高度发达的香港法院制度。立法会最早可能在本周开会讨论这个问题。

The independence of Hong Kong's judiciary is one of the reasons that so many multinational companies, banks and law firms have their Asian headquarters in the city.	香港司法独立，是大量跨国公司、银行和律师事务所将亚洲总部设在这里的原因之一。
Eric Cheung, a law lecturer at the University of Hong Kong, said in an interview that any interpretation by the National People's Congress "fundamentally undermines our rule of law and the interpretation power of our courts." On Wednesday, the Hong Kong Bar Association said in a statement that an interpretation by Beijing would "deal a severe blow to the independence of the judiciary and the power of final adjudication of the Hong Kong court."	香港大学(University of Hong Kong)法学院讲师张达明(Eric Cheung)在接受采访时说，人大作出的任何释法都“将从根本上破坏香港的法治和香港法院的解释权”。香港大律师公会(Hong Kong Bar Association)本周三在一份声明中表示，北京作出释法将会“对香港独立司法权及终审权带来极大冲击”。
It added, "The irreparable harm it will do to Hong Kong far outweighs any purpose it could possibly achieve."	声明还说，此举“实为百害而无一利”。
The actions of Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung, as well as other advocates of greater self-determination for Hong Kong, have touched a raw nerve in Beijing, which harshly suppresses independence movements in other parts of China, such as Tibet and Xinjiang.	游蕙祯和梁颂恒等主张香港获得更大自决权人士的行为，触动了北京的要害。对于西藏、新疆等其他地区的独立运动，北京进行了严厉打压。
But in Hong Kong, which was promised considerable autonomy under the "one country, two systems" principle, people are free to express such sentiments without fear of arrest. That freedom was on display on Oct. 12, the day they took their oaths, when Mr. Leung and Ms. Yau pronounced China "Chee-na," which is similar to a derogatory term for China used by the Japanese during their occupation of the country in World War II.	但在“一国两制”的原则下，北京曾承诺香港拥有相当大的自主权，人们可以自由表达这种情绪，而不用担心被逮捕。这种自由在10月12日宣誓日得到了体现，当时游蕙祯和梁颂恒把中国(China)念成Chee-na，类似于“二战”时日本占领期间对中国的贬称——支那。
With its normal instruments of authoritarian repression of limited use in	由于其常规的威权式镇压手段在香港使用受限，中国动用宣传机构对两人进

Hong Kong, China has turned its propaganda arms on the pair. On Wednesday, the Communist Party's flagship People's Daily published an interview with Mo Jihong, a legal researcher at the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, who called Ms. Yau's and Mr. Leung's actions "obvious malice."	行了口诛笔伐。本周三，中共主要党报《人民日报》发表了对中国社会科学院法学研究所研究员莫纪宏的一篇采访，他在采访中称游蕙祯和梁颂恒的行为“恶意明显”。
"Such things cannot be allowed to happen in China's territory," Mr. Mo said. "If Hong Kong cannot deal with it properly, the central government should make a decisive move: It cannot allow a festering pustule to become the bane of your life, and it must nip the trend of Hong Kong independence in the bud."	“这样的事情不可能允许在中国领土上发生，”莫纪宏说。“如果在香港特区内不能处理好此事，中央应当果断出手，决不能养痍遗患，必须要将‘港独’苗头消灭在萌芽状态。”
Ms. Yau, 25, and Mr. Leung, 30, were also strident in pushing back against the possibility of intervention by the Chinese Communist Party. In a chaotic scene on Wednesday, they burst into the legislative chambers and tried to retake their oaths. They were unsuccessful. The council's president said their actions were "ridiculous."	25岁的游蕙祯和30岁的梁颂恒也对中共进行干预的可能性进行了猛烈反击。本周三，他们闯入立法会，试图重新宣誓，引发了一场混乱，却没有成功。立法会主席说他们的举动很“荒唐”。
"My concern is the destruction of 'one country, two systems,'" Ms. Yau told reporters. "Once the C.C.P. government chooses to interpret the Basic Law, it means that the dictatorship of the C.C.P. government has come to Hong Kong, which all Hong Kong people don't want."	“我担心‘一国两制’遭到破坏，”游蕙祯告诉记者。“一旦中共政府选择对《基本法》作出释法，这就意味着他们的独裁来到香港，这是所有香港人都不想要的。”
And Mr. Leung brought up a point that seems obvious to many in Hong Kong. The move for independence is new and is a direct outgrowth of the last time the National People's Congress chose to set rules on how Hong Kong runs its affairs. That was in 2014, when the congress set strict guidelines for elections for Hong Kong's top official that all but guaranteed that only pro-Beijing candidates could appear on the ballot.	梁颂恒提出的一个在很多香港人看来都是显而易见的观点。港独行动是新兴的，它是人大上次对香港如何管理其事务树立规则的直接结果。那是在2014年，人大为香港最高级官员的选举制定了严格的指导方针，以确保只有亲北京的候选人可以出现在选票上。

That decision set off enormous protests that led to the founding of Mr. Leung's and Ms. Yau's political party, Youngspiration. The main belief guiding supporters of independence is that China's interference undermines "one country, two systems."	该决定引发了巨大抗议，梁颂恒和游蕙祯所在的政党政治团体“青年新政”(Youngspiration)也因此而成立。港独支持者的主要信念就是中国的干涉破坏了“一国两制”。
" 'One country, two systems' and Hong Kong independence are the two models for Hong Kong's political system," Mr. Leung told reporters. "When you destroy one option, you inevitably promote the other option."	“‘一国两制’和香港独立是香港政体的两个模式。”梁颂恒说，“当你破坏其中一个时，就不可避免地会促进另外一个。”
The 2014 ruling was telegraphed well ahead of time. But news of a possible intervention by the National People's Congress on the oath-taking caught many people by surprise. In the issue involving the two lawmakers, the principal relevant law is a local ordinance on oath-taking, said Mr. Cheung, the legal scholar. That shouldn't be in the jurisdiction of the National People's Congress, he said.	2014年的裁定是提前发出的信号。但是全国人大可能会干预宣誓的消息还是令很多人感到惊讶。法律学者张达明说，在涉及两名议员的事件中，相关的主要法律是一项关于宣誓的地方条例。他说，这不应该在全国人大的管辖范围内。
What's more, the congress would be acting pre-emptively and not allowing the court proceedings in Hong Kong to run their course. Since 1997, China's legislature has made only four interpretations of Hong Kong's Basic Law.	更重要的是，人大可能会先发制人，让香港法庭无法进入处理程序。自1997年以来，中国立法机构对香港《基本法》只作出过四次释法。

What is this case about?	这是件什么事情?
Two politicians who advocate independence for Hong Kong – Yau Wai-ching, 25, and Sixtus Leung, 30 – were elected to the city’s Legislative Council in September.	今年 9 月, 两名提倡香港独立的政治人士当选为立法会议员。他们分别是 25 岁的游蕙禎(Yau Wai-ching)和 30 岁的梁颂恒(Sixtus Leung)。
On Oct. 12, as they were being sworn in, they deviated from the oath of office by saying “Chee-na” instead of China. Many consider the term a derogatory slur against Chinese people because it was used by the Japanese in World War II. Ms. Yau also added a crude epithet.	10 月 12 日, 他们在立法会宣誓就职仪式上偏离了官方版本的誓词, 用“支那”取代了中国。许多人认为那是贬低中国人的说法, 因为日本人在第二次世界大战中使用过该词。游蕙禎还在誓词中添加了脏话。
The clerk ruled their oaths invalid, preventing them from taking office, and the president of the Legislative Council scheduled another session for the pair to be sworn in.	立法会秘书宣布他们的宣誓无效, 让其无法就任, 立法会主席为两人另行安排了一次宣誓就职会。
But the Hong Kong government went to court, arguing that Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung should not be allowed to take their seats on the council.	但香港政府认为不能让游蕙禎和梁颂恒在立法会占有议席, 并将这个问题提交给法院。
What does the law say?	法律在这个问题上怎么说?
Hong Kong, a former British colony, is governed by a charter known as the Basic Law, which was negotiated before the area returned to Chinese rule in 1997. One provision says legislators must “swear allegiance to the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of the People’s Republic of China.”	作为英国前殖民地, 香港的治理基于一个被称为《基本法》的宪章, 该宪章是在 1997 年香港回归中国之前谈判达成的。其中一条规定: 立法者必须宣誓“效忠中华人民共和国香港特别行政区”。
There is also a local statute that says any person “who declines or neglects to take an oath duly requested” is disqualified from entering office, or must vacate the post if he or she has already done so.	香港的一条地方法令则规定: “拒绝或忽略作出该项誓言”的人将被取消就任资格, 如果他或她已经就任, 则必须离任。
The Hong Kong government, which is led by a chief executive who is essentially appointed by Beijing, argued in court on Thursday that the	香港政府由行政长官领导, 该人基本上是北京任命的, 政府周四在法庭上表示, 这两名政治人士已拒绝宣誓, 应该取消他们的就任资格。 two politicians have declined to take the oath and should be disqualified.

But a lawyer representing the president of the Legislative Council argued that the question should be decided by the legislature, not the courts or the executive branch.	但立法会主席的一位代理律师认为，这个问题应由立法机构，而不是法院或行政部门决定。
How can the Chinese government intervene?	中央政府能怎样干预？
The Basic Law gives Beijing the authority to issue interpretations of the charter. Specifically, it grants the power to the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress, which is controlled by the Chinese Communist Party.	《基本法》赋予北京对宪章做出释法的权力。具体地说，这个权力掌握在中国共产党控制的全国人民代表大会常务委员会手中。
It is rare, however, for the Chinese government to issue an interpretation of the Basic Law without being asked to do so by Hong Kong's highest court or by the Hong Kong government. That has happened only once since 1997, and the committee has never issued an unsolicited opinion on a matter under active consideration by the courts in Hong Kong.	但是，在没有香港最高法院或香港政府要求的情况下，中央政府很少对《基本法》做出释法。自1997年以来，中央政府只这样做过一次，人大常委会也从未对香港法院正在考虑的事情主动给出过意见。
On Friday, officials said the Chinese government planned to do just that, potentially issuing a ruling before the courts have finished hearing the case.	上周五官员说，这次中国政府打算主动做出释法，并有可能在法院完成对此事的司法复核之前作出裁决。
What is at stake?	这样做有什么危害？
Some say the independence of the courts in Hong Kong is at risk. The territory's reputation for rule of law has been crucial to its success as an international financial hub, so any move that undermines its judicial system could have repercussions beyond this particular case.	有人说这会给香港法院的独立性带来危险。香港享有的法治声誉对其作为国际金融中心的地位至关重要，因此任何破坏其司法制度的行为，都可能产生超过该具体案例本身的影响。

The Hong Kong Bar Association says intervention by the Chinese government would be “a severe blow” to the judiciary and to the principle of self-rule in the territory. Even the Hong Kong government says the case should be decided in Hong Kong's courts.	香港大律师公会表示，中央政府的干预将会对香港的司法和自治原则“带来极大的冲击”。就连香港政府都表示，这件事应该由香港的法庭做出裁决。

Simon Young, a law professor at the University of Hong Kong, said a ruling by Beijing would probably be messy and incomplete because the country's leaders do not appreciate and do not understand Hong Kong's highly developed legal system, which draws on precedents set over hundreds of years.	香港大学法学教授杨艾文(Simon Young)表示，北京的裁决可能会含糊不清、也不完整，因为中国的领导人不重视、也不了解香港高度发达的法律制度，这个制度有几百年的判例基础。
Many questions could be left unanswered. For example, what if a person who once supported independence for Hong Kong has a change of heart? Would he or she be eligible to serve in the legislature?	许多问题可能会悬而未决。比如，曾经支持香港独立的人后来改变了想法会怎么样？他或她是否仍有资格担任立法会议员？

If China Meant to Chill Hong Kong Speech, Booksellers' Case Did the Job	香港书商案播下恐惧的种子，但也催生了反抗
HONG KONG — The metal door of Causeway Bay Bookstore is locked, just as it was month after month after the disappearances last year of five Hong Kong booksellers. The five men had tended the shop and published many of the gossip-filled volumes on Chinese politics that lined its shelves.	香港——铜锣湾书店的铁门被锁了起来，自从五名香港书商去年失踪后，这个门就一直锁着。他们五个人曾经营着这家书店，店里的书架上摆满了他们出版的有关中国政治的八卦书刊。
Four of the booksellers, who all served months in detention in mainland China, have returned to Hong Kong. A fifth, the publisher and a Swedish citizen, remains in Chinese custody more than a year after he was spirited away from his home in Thailand.	五名书商都被大陆当局拘留了好几个月，其中有四名已经返回香港。还有一名仍被大陆当局拘留着，他是一名出版商，也是瑞典公民，一年多以前，他在自己泰国的家中被抓到了大陆。
The dramatic disappearances of the five men garnered headlines around the world and led to fears in Hong Kong that the city's considerable autonomy, guaranteed by the treaty that led to its return by Britain to Chinese rule in 1997, had been gravely compromised.	这五名男子的戏剧性失踪曾在世界各地成为头条新闻，并在香港引发了恐慌，人们担心香港享有的高度自治权已受到严重损害，这种自治权曾受一份条约保障，正是该条约在 1997 年使香港主权从英国回归中国。
A new report on their case by PEN America, a writers' group in New York, outlines in detail the circumstances behind their disappearances, offers a critique of the sometimes tepid reaction of the international community and paints a picture of a rising power, China, increasingly willing to extend the reach of its authoritarian justice system beyond its	总部设在纽约的作家组织美国笔会(PEN America)发布了一篇有关这五名书商的报告，详细描述了他们失踪的情况，并对国际社会在这个问题上有时过于温和的反应做出批评，在报告的描述中，作为一个正在崛起的大国，中国越来越愿意将其专制司法制度的影响扩大到自己的边界以外。 borders.

The 70-page report also shows how, despite the condemnation Beijing received internationally and in Hong Kong, its actions may have had the intended effect: The most prolific publisher of thinly sourced books about political intrigue and the sex lives of China's leaders is out of business. Other book publishers, including those that sell well-sourced, authoritative volumes about Chinese politics, are finding it increasingly difficult to continue operating.	这份长达 70 页的报告还指出，尽管北京在香港和国际上受到了谴责，但中国的做法可能已经达到其预期的效果：出版这种禁书的最大书商现已停业，这家书店曾发行过大量消息来源不明的、有关中国领导人的政治阴谋和私生活的书籍。其他书商，包括那些发行过资料翔实、有关中国政治的权威书籍的出版商，则发现他们越来越难以继续经营。
The lack of information about the disappearances, and what one returning bookseller said were forced confessions, have sowed fear in Hong Kong's once-thriving publishing community. China's government has never given an explanation as to why it took such extraordinary measures against only one of many publishers. Was it, the report asks, to prevent the publication of a particular book? Or was the aim to coerce the publishers into revealing their sources? Perhaps it was to obtain lists of customers? Or maybe it was to shut down the biggest publisher of such books?	缺乏有关失踪的信息，以及一位返回香港的书商所说的遭受逼供的情况，在香港一度兴旺发达的出版界播下了恐惧的种子。在众多出版商之中，为何仅对这家采取了这种特别的措施？对此中国政府从未给出过解释。美国笔会的报告问道，这是为了阻止某本书的出版？还是为了迫使这些书商披露他们的信息来源？也许是为了得到书店的客户名单？或者也许是要让这家最大的禁书出版商关门？
"This constellation of theories, none mutually exclusive and none confirmed, has created an atmosphere of uncertainty," the report said. "It is impossible for independent publishers who produce books critical of China's rulers to know how not to cross the line and become the next targets because it is unclear where that line is drawn. The only sure response is to take no steps at all."	"这些假定并不是相互排斥的，没有任何一个假定得到了确认，这造成了不确定的气氛。"报告说："要发行关于中国统治者的书，独立出版商不可能知道如何才能不越界，不变成下一个目标，因为他们不清楚界限在哪里。唯一确定的反应是不要有任何举动。"
Several shops that sold the so-called banned political books, which were popular among visiting mainland Chinese, have since closed their	有几家售卖这些“政治禁书”的商店，在前来香港旅游的大陆人中人气很高，但它们从那时起就关门停业了。香港国际机场据说是这些书籍最大的市场，

doors. At Hong Kong International Airport, said to be the biggest market for these titles, many of the shops that until last year sold these books have closed, and some have been replaced by bookshops indirectly owned by the Chinese government.	但那里很多去年还在卖这些书的书店已经关闭，一些已经换成了间接由中国政府所有的书店。
The report says many Hong Kong-based publishers of China-focused political books are finding it harder to find printers. One, Bao Pu, who runs New Century Press, was told by his printer that it “would not print any more of his books, regardless of content.”	该报告说，很多发行以中国为重点的政治书籍的香港出版商发现，要找到印刷商比较困难。新世纪出版社发行人鲍朴说，印刷商告诉他，“不管是什么内容，都不会再印刷他的书。”
“It’s become very difficult, nearly impossible, to get any of the players who dominate the whole cycle of book publishing and distribution in Hong Kong to agree to take on the types of projects that were welcomed just four or five years ago,” David Bandurski, a researcher at the China Media Project of the University of Hong Kong, wrote in an email. “And it’s no surprise to find that these changes correspond to changes in the ownership of publishing groups here, with stronger representation by companies that are, let’s just say, friendly to Beijing.”	“在香港书籍出版和发行的整个周期中占据主导地位的任何公司，要让它们同意接受仅仅四五年前还大受欢迎的那种类型的项目，已经变得非常困难，几乎是不可能的，”香港大学“中国传媒研究计划”研究员班志远(David Bandurski)在一封电邮中写道。“这并不奇怪，这些变化和这里的出版社所有权的变化是对应的，那些接手的公司，就这样说吧，它们和北京很友好。”
The PEN America report also ties the disappearances to the wider debate in Hong Kong about its relationship with mainland China. Many people in Hong Kong were alarmed when one of the booksellers, Lee Bo, a British citizen, disappeared from a Hong Kong street in late December, only to show up weeks later in mainland China. It appeared, in the opinion of many, including the United States State Department, to be the most serious breach of the “one country, two systems” principle that has governed Hong Kong’s relationship with the mainland since 1997.	美国笔会还把失踪案与香港和大陆关系的广泛辩论联系起来。当英国公民李波去年12月下旬在香港的一条街道上失踪，几周后在中国大陆出现，很多香港人都感到震惊。包括美国国务院在内的很多方面认为，这似乎是对“一国两制”原则最严重的背离，自1997年以来，这个原则一直是香港与大陆关系的基础。

Now there is renewed fear — even alarm — that Hong Kong’s autonomy is again under threat. That stems from Beijing’s outrage over two newly elected pro-independence lawmakers, who both inserted a term seen as derogatory to China into their oaths of office last month. But the success of these so-called localists in the September elections, the PEN report suggests, may be due in part to the Hong Kong public’s reaction to the bookseller case.	现在这里有了新的恐惧——甚至警报——香港的自主权再次受到威胁。这源于北京对两个新当选的支持港独议员的愤怒，他们在上个月的誓言中插入了一个被视为对中国有贬损的词语。但是，这些所谓“本土派”在9月选举中取得了成功，美国笔会的报告认为，他们成功当选的部分原因可能是香港公众对书商案的反应。
“Although the Causeway Bay booksellers case has led to fear in Hong Kong’s literary and publishing community and more broadly, it may also have led to a level of dissatisfaction that encouraged more assertive political activism,” the PEN report said.	“虽然铜锣湾书商案引发了香港文学和出版界的恐惧，但更广泛地说，它可能还导致一定程度的不满，鼓励更坚定的政治行动主义，”美国笔会的报告说。

But in Hong Kong, unlike in Tibet and Xinjiang, the power of China's authoritarian government is constrained. China has the right to issue interpretations of the Basic Law, but the Hong Kong Bar Association said on Wednesday that a decision by Beijing would "deal a severe blow" to the judicial independence of Hong Kong's courts, which are adjudicating Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung's case.	中国有权对《基本法》做出解释，但香港大律师公会(Hong Kong Bar Association)上周三表示，北京的裁决将对香港法院的司法独立“带来极大冲击”，后者正在就游蕙禎和梁颂恒的案件做出裁决。

Beijing's impending move has galvanized the large coalition of protesters who captured the world's attention during their 79-day occupation of major thoroughfares in Hong Kong in late 2014. They fear that the Communist Party will not only invalidate the elections of Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung, but also move against other major figures of the protests who were voted into office in September.	北京即将采取的行动刺激了大规模的抗议，抗议者曾在 2014 年末占领香港多条主干道 79 天，引发世界的关注。他们担心共产党不仅会让游蕙禎和梁颂恒当选的结果失效，而且会对 9 月当选议员的其他抗议活动主要人物采取行动。

of the demonstration. "Who would be next?"
As midnight approached in Hong Kong, hundreds of protesters remained in a tense standoff with the police near China's liaison office. Officers stood in a row, armed with truncheons and shields. Some had gas masks, igniting concerns that tear gas could be used. It was the use of tear gas against the unarmed protesters in 2014 that helped set off that year's widespread protest movement.	随着午夜降临,数百名抗议者依然在中国驻香港公署附近与警方紧张地对峙着。警察手持警棍和盾牌站成一排。一部分警察配有防毒面具,让人担心他们可能会使用催泪弹。在2014年,正是因为警方向手无寸铁的抗议者释放催泪弹,才引发那场大范围的抗议运动。
After midnight, officers in riot gear began clearing the area of protesters, some of whom were shouting, "Hong Kong independence."	午夜之后,身着防暴服的警察开始清除聚集在该区域的抗议者,其中一些抗议者还在高喊着“香港独立”。
The 2014 protests followed a decision by the National People's Congress that also generated outrage in Hong Kong. That year, the Communist Party-controlled body set strict rules on planned elections for Hong Kong's top leader that effectively gave Beijing control over who could be nominated for the office.	2014年那场抗议行动也是发生在全国人大做出一项引发香港愤怒的决议之后。那一年,由共产党控制的该机构针对计划进行的香港最高领导人选举设定了严格的规则,实际上由北京控制了谁可以被提名该职位。

From Hong Kong Pencil Pusher to Political Firebrand	游蕙祯,从女白领到激进立法者
HONG KONG — Yau Wai-ching seemed destined to lead an ordinary life.	香港——游蕙祯看上去是注定要过一种普通生活的。
Twenty-two years old and a newly-minted college graduate, she was already lost in the anonymity of the hundreds of thousands of workers commuting from this city's high-rise apartments to its glass office towers. Her job: processing membership applications at the Hong Kong Institute of Certified Public Accountants.	22岁时,她刚刚从大学毕业,像香港数十万默默无闻的白领一样,她从高层公寓前往有玻璃外墙的写字楼上班。她的工作是在香港会计师公会处理会员申请材料。
That was three years ago.	那是三年之前。

Now, Ms. Yau is one of the best-known and most provocative public figures in this former British colony of 7.3 million, part of an expanding, youth-centered movement that backs more autonomy and, in her case, outright independence from China.	现在，游蕙禎是这个有 730 万人口的前英国殖民地中最著名、最具煽动性的公众人物之一，这是一个日渐扩大的、以青年为中心的运动的一部分，支持香港拥有更多的自主权，而她的主张是完全从中国独立。
In September, she became the youngest woman ever elected to Hong Kong's 70-seat legislature. And last month, when taking the oath of office, she altered the words, using both an expletive and the term "Chee-na" instead of China, which many people understood to be a reference to a demeaning term for the country that was used by the Japanese during the World War II era.	9 月，她成为香港议会成立以来当选的最年轻的女议员，在 70 个席位中占据了一席。上个月，在宣誓就职的时候，她使用了一个脏字，并用“Chee-na”（支那）来指中国，在很多人的认知中，这是日本人在二战期间用来贬低中国的一个词。
Her extraordinary public act of defiance enraged the leaders in Beijing. On Wednesday, the Communist Party newspaper People's Daily cited one mainland scholar who referred to Ms. Yau and a fellow pro-independence colleague as a "pustule" that had to be removed.	这种不寻常的公开蔑视行为激怒了北京的领导人。上周三，中共党报《人民日报》引用了一位大陆学者的说法，将游蕙禎和另一个主张独立的人称为必须切除的“脓包”。
The following evening, Hong Kong's government was told that China's Communist Party-controlled Parliament would take the extraordinary step of ruling on the legality of her oath, which was already being argued in a local court. Beijing has never intervened in a Hong Kong court case without being asked by local officials or judges before, raising alarms that the city's considerable autonomy from the mainland, guaranteed by an international treaty, was being undermined.	第二天晚上，香港政府被告知，中共控制的人大将采取不同寻常的措施，对她的宣誓的合法性进行裁决，香港一家地方法院已经此事展开辩论。北京以前从未在没有地方官员或法官要求的情况下干预香港法院案件，这引起了人们的戒心，香港本来在一个国际条约的保证下拥有相当大的自治权，他们担心这种自治权正在被削弱。
Beijing is also outraged about a trip that Ms. Yau and her colleague, Sixtus Leung, known as Baggio, took to Taiwan last month to meet with pro-independence students there.	引发北京怒火的事情还有游蕙禎和同事梁颂恒(Sixtus Leung, 又名 Baggio)上月前往台湾，与那里的亲台独学生会面。

On a whiteboard, written with blue marker, was the now-famous variation of "China" she had voiced at her inauguration. It was the road in front of the army headquarters — a building which also served as a British military installation — where Ms. Yau's transformation began two years ago, on Sept. 28, 2014. It was there and then that she first experienced the political life: joining thousands of people in a standoff against the police.	驻军总部的建筑曾是英国的军事设施，两年前的2014年9月28日，游蕙祯的蜕变就是就在驻军总部前面的道路上开始的。在那里，她第一次经历了政治生活：她加入数千人的行列，与警方对峙。
As remarkable as Ms. Yau's rise from office worker to radical lawmaker may seem, her personal transformation is far from unique here. She is just one of hundreds of thousands of Hong Kongers whose lives were altered by the pro-democracy protests that swept the city two years ago.	游蕙祯从一个办公室白领成长为激进的立法者，虽然这非常引人注目，但这样的个人蜕变在香港并不独特。两年前，席卷该市的民主抗议活动改变了数十万香港人的生活，她只是其中之一。
A generation of young people forged their political identities as they rallied — ultimately unsuccessfully — against China's decision to put strict controls on planned elections for the city's chief executive. To them, it was a betrayal of the promises made more than a generation ago that led to Britain transferring sovereignty to China, with the promise that Hong Kong would enjoy a high degree of autonomy until at least 2047.	一代年轻人集结起来，确立他们的政治身份，反对中国严格控制行政长官选举计划的决定，但最终未能成功。对他们来说，这是对一个承诺的背叛，中国在20年前承诺香港将享有高度自治至少到2047年，英国随后把香港的主权移交给了中国。

"All of us had the same mission, that we had to stop the government and try to get our democracy," Ms. Yau said in an interview.	"我们都肩负着同一项使命，就是必须阻止政府，努力拿到我们的民主，"游蕙祯在接受采访时说。
After a few days, she became disillusioned with the main body of protesters who had set up camp on the thoroughfares around the Legislative Council building and the main government offices. The atmosphere was like a "festival," she said.	几天后，她对抗议者中的主要群体大失所望。当时他们在立法会大楼和主要政府机构附近的主干道上安营扎寨。她说，气氛像是在“过节”。
"When I came out from my home I thought I had to fight, to have a war with the government," Ms. Yau said.	"从家里出来的时候，我觉得我必须要去斗争，要和政府开战，"游蕙祯说。
When the protests ended after 79 days in December 2014, most participants resumed their daily routines. But not Ms. Yau. She volunteered for the newly formed Youngspiration party and ran for a seat in a local district council in 2015. She lost, but was spurred to run for the legislature after violent clashes broke out in February.	在持续了 79 天的抗议在 2014 年 12 月结束后，大部分参与者恢复了各自的日常生活。但游蕙祯没有。她自愿为新成立的政党“青年新政”(Youngspiration)服务，并于 2015 年竞选一个区议会的议员席位。她失败了，但 2 月的暴力冲突爆发后，她受到鼓舞，决定竞选立法会议员。
Her experience in the youth movement slowly transformed a quiet young woman into an outspoken, irreverent young politician. Together with Mr. Leung, she has helped to trigger what may turn into a constitutional crisis, should China's Parliament move to block them from taking office.	在青年运动中的经历慢慢让一个文静的年轻姑娘变成了一个直言无讳、挑战权威的年轻政界人士。如果中国的最高立法机构采取行动，阻止游蕙祯和梁颂恒就职，他们一同参与引发的事件大概会演变成一场宪法危机。
Mr. Leung recalled that when Ms. Yau joined the Youngspiration party in early 2015, she used to keep to herself.	梁颂恒回忆说，2015 年初加入“青年新政”时，游蕙祯不喜欢与人打交道。
"She didn't know how to express herself. To be blunt, she was quite a nerd," he said. "But in the two years since she's been forced to speak and has changed a lot."	"她不太懂表达自己。不客气地说，她以前是挺‘毒’的，"他说。（毒/独在粤语里有不善社交的意思——译注。）"但过去两年间她被迫要说话，所以也改变了很多。"
Ms. Yau's experience until 2014 offered few clues to suggest she would become so passionate about Hong Kong's future. Her parents — both	从游蕙祯 2014 年以前的经历，几乎看得出来她为何会对香港的未来变得如此热情。其父母都是退休公务员，希望她在稳定的工作岗位上工作几年，然

retired civil servants — wanted her to work for a few years in her steady job and then, perhaps, go to graduate school. Until 2014, she complied.	后或许再读个研究生。在 2014 年之前，她服从了这样的安排。
But, as Ms. Yau describes it, she could not countenance students — some still in high school — confronting the police on Hong Kong’s streets while she worked at a comfortable desk job just blocks away. “They are too young to bear this kind of social responsibility,” she said. “I had to pay something for this place.”	但正如游蕙禎所说的那样，她无法接受学生——一些仍在上高中——在香港街头与警方对抗，而自己却在几个街区外做着轻松的办公室工作。“他们还太年轻，承担不起这种社会责任，”她说。“我必须为这个地方付出点什么。”
Some of her experiences as a student suggest that, if anything, she strongly identified with the Chinese nation, if not the Communist government that has run it since 1949.	如果学生时代的一些经历能说明什么的话，那就是她对中华民族有着强烈的认同感，当然这与从 1949 年开始统治它的共产党政府无关。
At Hong Kong’s Lingnan University, Ms. Yau studied Chinese literature. She said she enjoyed writing fictionalized accounts of the romantic intrigue — especially homosexual relations — in China’s imperial dynasties, notably the Qin, the first dynasty that flourished more than 2,200 years ago. As for China’s last dynasty, the Qing, she said she had little interest because its rulers — the Manchus — were foreigners.	在香港的岭南大学，游蕙禎读的是中文系。她说自己喜欢写以中国王朝为背景，情节复杂又浪漫的小说，尤其涉及同性关系，而且她特别中意 2000 多年前盛极一时的中国第一个封建王朝秦朝。至于中国最后一个朝代清代，她说自己没什么兴趣，因为它的统治者满族人是外夷。
“I don’t think it is a real dynasty for Chinese people,” she said.	“我觉得它不是真正意义上的中国人的朝代，”她说。
Even before she attended college, she said she was particularly affected by the Analects, the collection of sayings and ideas attributed to the philosopher Confucius. In some ways, they have helped shape her still developing worldview, particularly her strident anti-Communism.	甚至在上大学之前，她还说《论语》对自己的影响特别大。该书收录了哲学家孔子的言谈和思想。在某种程度上，它们一直在影响着她仍在形成中的世界观，特别是她强烈的反共产主义思维。
To Ms. Yau, the government in Beijing has, through its political campaigns, destroyed much that is good about Chinese society. She considers Taiwan, which Beijing holds is a breakaway province, a better guardian of Chinese traditions, and that Chinese President Xi Jinping’s	在游蕙禎看来，北京的中央政府通过各种政治运动，破坏了中国社会很多好的方面。她认为，被北京称作一个分裂出去的省份的台湾更好地保护了中国的传统，而中国国家主席习近平最近对“儒家价值观”的重视只是流于表面，与圣人的真正精神不符。

recent emphasis on Confucian values is superficial and not in keeping with the true spirit of the sage.
But even if China abandoned Communism and embraced its thousands of years of history, Ms. Yau said her loyalties lie with Hong Kong, which embarked on a very different path after the British established their colony in the 1840s. She sees Hong Kong's civil liberties — the same ones that allowed her to protest and then win a seat on the legislature — as being under mortal threat by an ever-intrusive mainland government.	但即使中国放弃共产主义, 拥抱其数千年的历史, 游蕙祯说自己仍忠于香港。英国 19 世纪 40 年代建立殖民地后, 香港便走上了一条完全不同的道路。她认为, 香港的公民自由, 即允许她进行抗议活动然后又赢得立法会议员席位的那些自由, 面临着不断进行干涉的内地政府的致命威胁。
At 25 years old, she has come under intense criticism for her inauguration, during which she laid out a blue banner that read "Hong Kong Is Not China." Even some of her allies considered her profanity-laced oath childish.	25 岁的她因就职仪式而遭受强烈批评。在就职仪式上, 她打出了一个蓝色的横幅, 上面写着 "Hong Kong Is Not China" (香港不是中国)。就连她的一些盟友也认为她带有不敬言语的宣誓颇为幼稚。
That speaks to the divide between older pro-democracy supporters, who accept Chinese sovereignty, and many in the younger generation, who do not. Emily Lau, the longtime head of Hong Kong's Democratic Party, said it was unwise of Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung to use the term "Chee-na."	这反映了在亲民主阵营里接受中国主权的老一代支持者, 与年青一代中很多不接受中国主权的支持者之间的分歧。长期担任香港民主党(Democratic Party)主席的刘慧卿(Emily Lau)表示, 游蕙祯和梁颂恒用 "支那" 这个说法是不明智的。
"I don't agree with that at all and understand why many people feel infuriated and insulted," Ms. Lau said, adding that she also strongly disagreed with the pro-Beijing camp's attempt to prevent the pair from taking office.	"我完全不赞成这么做, 也明白为什么很多人感到愤怒, 觉得受到了侮辱," 刘慧卿说, 并接着表示她也强烈反对亲北京阵营试图阻止游梁二人就职的行为。
Ms. Yau, now in danger of losing her seat, did not want to comment on her oath, citing a court case on whether she will be allowed to retake the pledge. Even so, on Wednesday she and Mr. Leung tried to retake	现在面临失去议员席位这一危险的游蕙祯不愿评论自己的宣誓, 表示原因是一起有关是否允许她重新宣誓的诉讼案件。尽管如此, 周三当天, 她和梁颂恒突然中止了立法会会议进程, 试图重新宣誓, 场面颇为混乱。立法会主席

Beijing's Intervention in Hong Kong Election Could Face a Hurdle: Local Courts	人大释法的潜在阻力：香港法院
HONG KONG — There were no banners. No raised fists. As night fell on Tuesday, more than a thousand protesters dressed in black held a silent march through the central business area of Hong Kong. They took care not to jaywalk. Then they quietly dispersed into the night.	香港——没有横幅。没有举起的拳头。本周二晚上，一千多名黑衣抗议者在香港市中心商业区安静地游行。他们很注意遵守交通规则，之后就在夜色中默默散去。
Collectively, the participants in the march had more power than most demonstrators. They were Hong Kong lawyers, angered by China's move on Monday to effectively rewrite a clause in Hong Kong's charter in order to prevent two young pro-independence politicians from taking office as legislators.	总的来说，这次游行的参与者比大多数示威者拥有更大的权力。他们是香港的律师，被中国本周一的一个举动所激怒。中国实际上是要重写香港宪章中的一项条款，防止两个年轻的独立政治人士就任议员。
As a group, Hong Kong's lawyers say Beijing's decision to step into a legal case in this city has dealt a blow to its judiciary, famed for its fairness and independence and central to Hong Kong's success as a global financial hub.	作为一个团体，香港律师表示，北京决定介入这个城市的一桩法律案件，是对其司法机构的一次打击，香港司法机构以公正性和独立性闻名，它对于香港作为一个全球金融中心的成败至关重要。
The local bar association called the decision, announced by China's Parliament, "unnecessary and inappropriate" and damaging to the concept of "one country, two systems" that has allowed this former British colony to maintain considerable autonomy from the mainland	香港律师协会称，中国人大宣布的这个决定是“不必要和不适当的”，是对“一国两制”原则的破坏。香港是前英国殖民地，根据这个原则，自1997年移交中国以来，香港一直享有相当大的自治权。

since the 1997 handover of sovereignty.
But many practicing lawyers and legal scholars here also say that Hong Kong's judiciary will have to implement the decision, and in doing so will apply legal standards evolved over centuries of precedent — common law — that may soften or perhaps even stymie Beijing's will.	但很多执业律师和法律学者也表示，香港的司法机构将不得不执行这项裁决，而在执行的时候，必须使用在数百年先例中演变而成的法律标准——普通法，它可能会软化或甚至阻挠北京的意志。
"We have to show the world that this is not the accepted norm," said Dennis Kwok, a lawyer and organizer of the march who also serves on Hong Kong's 70-member Legislative Council. "It does damage to 'one country, two systems' but at the same time we do have faith in the legal system."	"我们必须向世界表明，这不是被接受的规范，"游行的组织者、香港70人立法会的议员之一郭荣铿(Dennis Kwok)律师说。"这损害了'一国两制'原则，但同时，我们对香港的法律制度也有信心。"
It is a phenomenon that China may not have foreseen: the artful implementation of a Communist legal diktat in a delicate, rules-based system where judges wear wigs, are often educated in England and are trained to make rulings that protect civil liberties. China's government, accustomed to law being a mere appendage of state power, may be in for an unpleasant surprise.	中国可能没有预见到的这种现象：在一个精妙、基于规则的制度中巧妙地实施共产主义法律制度，法官头戴假发，往往是在英国接受的教育，他们所接受的训练要求他们做出保护公民自由的裁决。中国政府习惯了法律只是国家权力的附属，他们可能免不了会遇到一个不愉快的意外。
"I don't think we should underestimate the power or resilience of the common law to protect the autonomy and rights of the Hong Kong people," Cora Chan, an associate professor who focuses on constitutional law at the University of Hong Kong, said in an interview.	"我认为，我们不应该低估普通法保障香港人自主权和权利的力量或韧性。"香港大学研究宪法的副教授陈秀慧(Cora Chan)在采访中说。
"The irony here is Hong Kong courts, being common law courts, would be using common law techniques to interpret an interpretation handed down from a Leninist legal system," Professor Chan said.	陈秀慧说："讽刺的是，香港法院是普通法法庭，会使用普通法技巧来解释列宁主义法律制度的释法。"
Beijing's interpretation, issued on Monday by a committee in the National People's Congress, specifies that office holders in Hong Kong	北京的释法是本周一由人大的一个委员会发布的，它规定香港公职人员要么"真诚庄重"地宣誓，要么被迫离职，没有机会重新宣誓。

have to “sincerely and solemnly” take loyalty oaths or be forced to vacate their posts, with no chance for a redo.
The ruling came after the two young politicians, Sixtus Leung, 30, and Yau Wai-ching, 25, inserted a derogatory term for China in their oaths. That infuriated Beijing, which bristles at any talk of separatism.	之前两位年轻的政治人士，30岁的梁颂恒和25岁的游蕙祯，在宣誓时使用了一个针对中国的歧视用语，激怒了北京。任何分裂主义论调都会令北京震怒。
The interpretation of an article in the territory’s governing Basic Law was tailor-made to compel Hong Kong courts and its Legislature to force the duo to vacate their office, and no lawyer interviewed expected the courts to come to their rescue.	对香港《基本法》中的条款进行解释，是为了迫使香港法院及立法机关逼迫两人离任，在接受采访的律师中，没有人预期法庭会救他们。
But Eric Cheung, who teaches law at the University of Hong Kong, said it was possible that the Hong Kong court that is adjudicating their case could rule that Beijing’s interpretation was not retroactive.	但在香港大学(University of Hong Kong)法学院讲师张达明(Eric Cheung)看来，审理案件的香港法院可能会裁定，北京的释法不具追溯力。
That may give the duo a chance to retake their oaths, though he said it would take a brave judge to make a ruling that could invite a new, even more specific, interpretation from Beijing.	他说，这可能会给两人一个重新宣誓的机会，虽然那需要一个有勇气的法官做出裁决，请北京提供一个新的、更具体的释法。
The Chinese interpretation was also aimed at preventing people who back Hong Kong’s independence from running for office. In July, Hong Kong’s government introduced a new loyalty pledge, requiring that candidates sign a document acknowledging that the city is an “inalienable part” of China.	中国释法的另一个目的是防止港独支持者上台。今年7月，香港政府出台了一个新的效忠承诺，要求候选人签署一份文件，承认香港是中国的“不可分割的一部分”。
Several candidates were disqualified and went to court; that case has not yet been decided. A judge could make a narrow ruling that Beijing’s interpretation applies only to taking oaths, which candidates, as opposed to officeholders, do not have to do.	几名候选人被取消资格后诉诸法庭；该案尚未裁定。法官可以做出有限的裁决，认为北京的释法只适用于宣誓，而那些候选人并非公职人员，不必这样做。
“If the Chinese government’s ultimate aim is to keep separatists out of	香港大学法学教授杨艾文(Simon Young)说：“如果中国政府的最终目标是把

the Legislature, then this interpretation is not going to be able to do that," said Simon Young, a law professor at the University of Hong Kong.	分裂主义者从立法机关清除出去，那么此次释法是不可能做到的。”
Several lawyers pointed out that Beijing's ruling was novel because it effectively amended the Basic Law, which serves as Hong Kong's Constitution.	几名律师指出，北京的裁决是前所未有的，因为它实际上修改了作为香港宪法的《基本法》。
"If you look at it closely, it is more like an amendment, or an addition," said Peter Chiu, who participated in Tuesday's march.	“如果你认真看一看，会觉得它更像是修正案，或是一个补充，”参加本周二游行的彼得·赵(Peter Chiu)说。
That is problematic, because amendments to the Basic Law must be approved by the entire National People's Congress, which meets once a year, in March.	而这是有问题的，因为《基本法》的修正案必须获得每年3月的人大会议批准。
That raises the possibility, however remote, that Hong Kong's highest court, the Court of Final Appeal, may rule that Beijing's interpretation, which has not been approved by the entire National People's Congress, is an amendment and not enforceable, Professor Chan said.	这就导致了一种可能性，不管这种可能性有多小——陈秀慧说，香港最高级别的终审法院可以裁定，未经人大全会批准的北京释法是一项修正案，不可执行。
That is the nuclear option.	那是一个“核选项”。
In 1999, the Court of Final Appeal found that it had the power to declare "invalid" acts by the Chinese Parliament or its standing committee that violated the Basic Law, Professor Chan said.	陈秀慧说，1999年，终审法院发现，对于中国人大或其常务委员会违反《基本法》的行为，自己有权宣布它们“无效”。
That kind of weapon — “hard legal controls,” in her words — is most effective when it is not used.	这种武器——她的原话是“硬法律控制”——在没有使用的时候是最有效的。
"Simply claiming that courts in Hong Kong have those powers might well give an incentive to China to exercise restraint in issuing decisions or interpretations on Hong Kong," she said.	“只要声称香港法院拥有这些权力，便可促使中国在对香港做出决定或释法的时候保持克制，”她说。

Why Did Beijing Slap Down Hong Kong Separatists? To Make a Point.	触及“核心利益”，北京对香港不惜杀一儆百

BEIJING — When President Xi Jinping of China meets foreign leaders, he tends to recite talking points in a dutiful monotone, diplomats say. But when challenges to China’s sovereignty come up — like protests in Hong Kong — he roars to life.	北京——多名外交官表示，中国国家主席习近平在接见外国领导人时，往往会例行公事地用单调的话语反复说要点。但是，一旦涉及到对中国主权的挑战——比如香港的抗议活动——他会大声直言。
“He read flatly from the script,” one Western official said of such a meeting. “But when it got to China’s core interests, these disputes, he put down his notes and spoke passionately.”	“他枯燥地照本宣科，”一位西方官员谈起这样一次会面。“但论及中国的核心利益和那些争端时，他会抛开讲稿，充满激情地发言。”
For anyone puzzling over why China reacted so swiftly and severely to block two pro-independence politicians from taking their seats in Hong Kong’s legislature, Mr. Xi’s expansive idea of sovereignty is a good place to start.	很多人不理解中国为什么做出如此迅速而激烈的反应，阻止两位支持独立的政治人士取得香港立法会的席位，这要从习近平对主权的总体认知上入手。
“He lets you know that this is what really matters,” said the Western official, who spoke on the condition of anonymity to describe a closed-door meeting with Mr. Xi.	“他会让你明白这是真正重要的东西，”这位西方官员说道。此人选择匿名谈论与习近平进行的一次闭门会议。
China’s Communist Party-run National People’s Congress stepped in on Monday and effectively barred the two from taking office, saying they had slurred Beijing in their oath of office.	由共产党控制的全国人民代表大会在周一做出干预，实际上阻止了这两人就任，称他们在宣誓期间诋毁了北京政府。
The politicians, Sixtus Leung and Yau Wai-ching, were elected to the Hong Kong Legislative Council in September on a pro-independence platform. In taking their oaths last month, they substituted a word for China that is widely seen as derogatory, and Ms. Yau added a common obscenity.	梁颂恒(Sixtus Leung)和游蕙祯(Yau Wai-ching)于今年9月被选入香港立法会，其竞选是在一个支持独立的平台上展开的。在上月宣誓就职期间，他们使用了一个被普遍认为对中国有贬损意味的词，游蕙祯还加了一句常见的脏话。
There were other, less draconian ways to resolve the impasse. Mr. Leung, known as Baggio, and Ms. Yau, for instance, agreed to retake their oaths properly. The president of the council said it should decide	要解决目前的僵局，也有一些不那么严苛的办法。比如，又名“Baggio”的梁颂恒和游蕙祯同意以正确的方式重新宣誓。香港立法会主席表示，立法会应该自行决定自己的事务。就连忠于北京的行政长官也愿意将决策权交给香港

its own affairs. Even Hong Kong's chief executive, a loyal supporter of Beijing, was willing to leave the decision to Hong Kong's judiciary.	司法机构。
But that was not to be.	但情况却未能如此。
"What could have been handled in a moderate fashion," said Michael C. Davis, a former law professor in Hong Kong who is now a researcher in Washington, "became a constitutional crisis, affording Beijing an opportunity to advance its sovereignty agenda."	"本可以用一种温和的方式来处理的事，"前香港法学教授、如今在华盛顿担任研究员的戴大为(Michael C. Davis)说，"变成了一场宪法危机，让北京有了一个推进主权议程的机会。"
Or as Richard C. Bush, a senior fellow at the Brookings Institution, put it, "Instead of ignoring independence and localist sentiment, which Chinese leaders should have done, they shone a spotlight on" it.	或者像布鲁金斯学会(Brookings Institution)资深研究员理查德·C·布什(Richard C. Bush)所说的，"中国领导层没有像它本该的那样无视独立和地方主义的情绪，反倒给它打上了聚光灯。"
Beijing decided it had to respond strongly and to make an example of the wayward politicians.	北京认为自己必须做出强烈的反应，对这两位任性的政客进行惩罚，以警示他人。
"Some people think there was no need to worry, that they could never win independence and their forces are too puny," Zou Pingxue, a professor of law in Shenzhen, China, said by telephone. "But there was the dangerous tendency that the Hong Kong independence phenomenon could grow larger and spin out of control."	"有些人觉得没必要担心，觉得他们永远也不可能赢得独立，觉得他们的力量太小，"在深圳担任法学教授的邹平学在电话里说道。"但这里存在一种危险的倾向，即港独现象会逐渐扩大，进而失控。"
A punitive response was in character for Mr. Xi, who has waged a blistering campaign against corruption that has jailed thousands of officials. Moreover, a tight grip on Hong Kong comports with his self-declared job as the leader of national rejuvenation, which he sees as a far-reaching mission.	做出惩罚的反应，和习近平的性格相符。他曾发起猛烈的反腐运动，令数以千计的官员入狱。而且，将香港抓得更紧一些，也符合他给自己设置的领导民族复兴的定位，他把这看作是一项影响深远的任务。
Even before this dust-up, a string of actions since last year showed how Mr. Xi is willing to recast, override or ignore laws and conventions that stood in the way of what he sees as China's powers over its territory	早在出现这场骚动之前，习近平自去年以来采取的一系列行动已经表明，他希望改写、推翻或忽视那些妨碍他行使在他看来属于中国的权力的法规，不管它们是在哪里。

and citizens, wherever they may be.
Hong Kong booksellers peddling garish tales about China's elite were snatched into the mainland. Chinese dissidents on the run were spirited back to their homeland from Thailand, despite United Nations protection as refugees. Beijing has not recognized an international tribunal's rejection of its claims over much of the South China Sea, although it signed the treaty behind the decision. Covert squads abroad have induced absconding officials to return to China from the United States and other states that have no extradition agreements with Beijing.	一些香港书商因贩卖有关中国权贵的俗艳故事，被突然抓到大陆。流亡海外的中国异见者，尽管已经被联合国以难民的身份予以保护，还是从泰国被偷偷带回中国。中国拒绝接受一个国际仲裁机构否定中国大部分南海海域领土主张的裁决，尽管它签署了支持这一裁决的条约。还有秘密警察前往海外，诱使潜逃官员从美国和其他没有跟北京签订引渡协议的国家返回中国。
Beijing has a stronger legal argument for its intervention in Hong Kong, over which it has sovereignty. But under the agreement that returned Hong Kong to China from Britain in 1997, Beijing agreed to allow Hong Kong to maintain its separate system for 50 years.	对于介入它拥有主权的香港的事务，北京有更具说服力的法律依据。但根据1997年香港从英国回归中国时达成的协议，北京同意让香港保持独立的制度五十年不变。
Beijing has long treated Hong Kong as a worrisome bridgehead that allows politically toxic ideas, books and people to seep into the adjoining mainland. But until Mr. Xi took office, China's leaders were less inclined to intervene in the city, which has its legal autonomy and freedoms enshrined in a mini-constitution known as the Basic Law.	长久以来，北京一直把香港是看作一个令人担忧的桥头堡，后者纵容政治上有害的思想、书籍和人渗透到与之毗邻的大陆。但直到习近平上台之前，中国领导人一直不太倾向于干涉这里的事务。香港有自己的司法自主权和自由，它们受到一部被称为《基本法》的微型宪法的保障。
That reticence has evaporated over the last two years.	在过去的两年里，这种克制消失了。
In 2014, Mr. Xi's government issued a policy paper on Hong Kong that rattled many in the city who saw it as watering down their legal protections. Then an election plan for the city fell far short of competitive elections that many Hong Kong residents demanded, and Hong Kong erupted in protests that occupied streets in the city center	2014年，习近平领导的政府发布了一份关于香港的政策文件，让许多香港人颇为不安。他们认为这个文件会削弱他们的法律保障。接着出台的香港选举计划远远不能实现许多香港居民要求的差额选举，香港爆发抗议活动，抗议者占据了市中心的多条街道，时间长达三个月。 for nearly three months.

Those failed protests kindled Hong Kong's small, youthful pro-independence movement. Most residents view their demands as unrealistic or undesirable. But in elections in September, activists gained a foothold in the Legislative Council, which skewed voting rules ensure is dominated by politicians loyal to Beijing.	以失败告终的抗议活动，激起了由香港年轻人组织的小型独立运动。大多数居民认为他们的要求是不切实际或不可取的。但在今年9月的选举中，活动人士在立法会占有了一席之地。在倾向性的规则保障下，这个立法会是以支持北京的政治人士为主导的。
Lawyers disagree over whether Chinese legislature had the power to interpret the Basic Law that is supposed to guard the city's legal autonomy. Even so, the move has unnerved many in Hong Kong, because it occurred before the city's courts, with a tradition of independence rooted in common law, decided a case over whether the politicians could take their seats.	对于中国立法机关是否有权对本该保障香港司法独立的《基本法》进行解释，律师们意见不一。尽管如此，此举还是引发许多香港人的不安，因为它发生在这个城市的法院就两名政治人物是否取得席位做出裁决之前。香港有植根于普通法的独立传统。
"It intrudes upon an ongoing case before the courts in Hong Kong," said Mr. Davis, the former law professor. "There is no doubt that it raises concern over both the integrity of the Hong Kong judicial system and Hong Kong's high degree of autonomy."	"它打断了一个正在进行的案件，香港法院还没有做出判决，"前法学教授戴大为说。"这无疑这会引发人们对于香港司法制度和香港高度自治权的担忧。"
Now the Hong Kong courts must rule on the case in light of China's interpretation, which says that even city lawmakers who take their oath of office correctly will "bear legal responsibility" if their sincerity is found lacking.	现在，香港法院必须根据中国的释法来裁决这个案件。依照它的释法，哪怕是正确宣誓就职的议员，如果被发现缺乏诚意，也要"承担法律责任"。
Already, the decision has ignited street protests in Hong Kong, recalling the demonstrations of 2014.	该决定已经在香港引发街头抗议，场面让人想起2014年的示威活动。
But defenders of China's position said its leaders would not back down, as they have done before.	然而，中国立场的捍卫者表示，中国领导层不会像以前那样退让。

How a Word, 'Chee-na,' Renewed a Crisis Between Beijing and Hong Kong	“支那”一词如何激怒了北京
HONG KONG — Thousands of people marched in Hong Kong on Sunday to protest an expected decision by the Chinese government that would effectively block two newly elected politicians from taking their seats in the semiautonomous territory's legislature.	香港——数千人周日在香港游行，抗议中国政府的一项预料之中的裁决，它将有效阻止两名新当选的政治人士在这个半自治区的立法机关就职。
The decision, issued the next day, came after the prospective lawmakers, Sixtus Leung, 30, and Yau Wai-ching, 25, made controversial remarks last month during an oath-taking ceremony in Hong Kong's Legislative Council. Rather than say "China" in their oaths, they said "Chee-na," a term that many find offensive, associating it with its use by Japan during its occupation of China during World War II. Ms. Yau also added an expletive to her oath.	这项裁决于第二天宣布。它是在 30 岁的梁颂恒(Sixtus Leung)和 25 岁的游蕙祯(Yau Wai-ching)这两名准议员在上个月香港立法会的宣誓仪式上发表争议性言论后做出的。他们宣誓时用“支那”代替“中国”。很多人认为“支那”这个词具有侮辱性，因为“二战”时日本在占领中国期间就是用“支那”指代中国。游蕙祯还在誓词中插入了脏话。
Relations between the Chinese mainland and Hong Kong, a former British colony of 7.3 million, were already frayed by pro-democracy demonstrations that erupted in 2014 in response to the Chinese government's rejection of calls for free elections in the territory. defiance — and catalysts for a renewed political crisis.
Where does the term ‘Chee-na’ come from?	“支那”一词从何而来?
Aoki Masaru, a Japanese Sinologist, argued that it originated in early Sanskrit transcriptions of Qin, the name of the dynasty that unified China more than 2,000 years ago, according to a 2012 essay by the historian Joshua A. Fogel. With the spread of Buddhism from India, and the translation of scriptures into Chinese, the word entered China and then Japan. Professor Fogel, who teaches at York University in Toronto, wrote that the Japanese used the name Chee-na for centuries, but especially from the 19th century through World War II.	据历史学家约书亚·A·福格尔(Joshua A. Fogel)2012年的一篇文章称,日本汉学家青木正儿(Aoki Masaru)认为,“支那”一词始于早期梵文对“秦”——2000多年前统一中国的王朝——的音译。在许多西方语言里,中国的叫法恐怕都跟秦这个名字有关。随着印度佛教的传播,在将经文译成汉语的过程中,该词进入中国,后又传入日本。在多伦多约克大学(York University)担任教授的福格尔写道,日本人使用“支那”这个名字已有几个世纪,但主要是从19世纪到“二战”结束。
Before the founding of the Republic of China in 1912, the country had no official symbols or constitution, noted Xu Guoqi, a professor of history at the University of Hong Kong who is writing a book titled “The Idea of China.” Its last imperial dynasty, the Qing, was established by Manchu invaders in the 17th century. Many Chinese nationalists and reformers in the final years of Qing rule — such as Liang Qichao and Zhang Taiyan — used the term “with no hidden bad meaning,” he said.	香港大学(University of Hong Kong)史学教授徐国琦指出,1912年中华民国成立之前,中国没有正式的标志和宪法。他正在写一本名为《中国概念》(The Idea of China)的书。中国的最后一个帝制王朝清朝是满族入侵者于17世纪建立的。清末,中国的很多民族主义者和改革者——比如梁启超和章太炎——使用“支那”这个说法,“不带任何暗含的贬义,”他说。
Chee-na was one of many names these intellectuals used to refer to their country, said John Delury, a professor of Chinese studies at Yonsei University in Seoul, South Korea. Some of the intellectuals were involved in the anti-Manchu resistance and had gone into exile in Japan, he added.	韩国首尔延世大学(Yonsei University)的中国研究教授鲁乐汉(John Delury)称,“支那”是这些知识分子称呼自己国家的诸多名字之一。他补充说,其中一些知识分子参与了反对满族的抗争,并流亡日本。

name for the new nation, he said, that would differentiate it from the Qing dynasty.
When did Chinese people begin to view the term Chee-na as a slur?	中国人什么时候开始把“支那”视为贬义词？
The term is the name for China that has “most exercised Chinese opinion” throughout history, Professor Fogel wrote in his 2012 essay.	福格尔在 2012 年的那篇文章中写道，历史上在指代中国的所有说法中，支那带有“最令人不安的中国观点”。
Jan Kiely, a professor of Chinese studies at the Chinese University of Hong Kong, said in an email that “strong feelings” were stirred in Chinese people when the Japanese Empire used the word to refer to China during its incursions into Chinese territory, from the 1894-95 Sino-Japanese War through World War II. For many Chinese today, Professor Kiely said, Chee-na recalls the sufferings of the occupation and references a Japanese imperial sense that the Chinese were inherently inferior.	香港中文大学(Chinese University of Hong Kong)中国研究教授杨凯里(Jan Kiely)在接受邮件采访时称，从 1894 年到 1895 年的甲午战争至“二战”结束，日本帝国在侵略中国领土期间用这个词指代中国，激起了中国人的“强烈反感”。杨凯里教授称，对今天的很多中国人来说，支那激起了被占领的痛苦回忆，并暗含中国人天生是劣等人大日本帝国意识。
On Monday, Li Fei, the chairman of China’s parliamentary committee on the Basic Law, the mini-constitution that governs Hong Kong, criticized Mr. Leung and Ms. Yau for using the term. “I especially condemn insults to the country and the nation,” Mr. Li told reporters in Beijing. “I hope Hong Kong people do not forget how Chinese were slaughtered by the Japanese invaders, and especially that the Japanese invaders committed huge crimes when they occupied Hong Kong.”	周一，全国人大香港基本法委员会主任李飞对梁颂恒和游蕙祯使用这个词进行了谴责；基本法相当于香港的小宪法。“对于侮辱国家和民族，我在这个地方要特别进行声讨，”李飞在北京对记者称，“我希望香港广大民众不要忘记中华民族受到日本侵略者残害的惨痛历史，特别是日本侵略者侵占香港也犯下了滔滔罪行。”
Professor Kiely said that public memory of World War II had surged in China over the past two decades in tandem with rising nationalism, thanks in part to a proliferation of state-sponsored memorials, museums, exhibitions and documentaries about the war.	杨凯里教授称，在过去 20 年里，随着民族主义的兴起，也部分由于国家出钱修建的纪念这场战争的纪念馆、博物馆、展览和纪录片激增，中国人对“二战”的公众记忆风起云涌。
If the term Chee-na can be perceived as a slur against Chinese people,	如果“支那”这个词可能被视为对中国人的贬损，那么那两位香港政治人士为

why did the two Hong Kong politicians include it in their oath-taking remarks?	什么要在自己的誓言中使用这个词?
Professor Delury said the politicians appeared to be making a satirical comparison between the Chinese government's current control over Hong Kong and Japan's invasion in the 20th century. He said it was significant that the remarks were made in the context of what is normally an oath-taking ceremony that is designed to indicate submission to the Chinese government.	鲁乐汉教授称,那两位政治人士似乎是想把中国政府目前对香港的控制与日本在 20 世纪对中国的侵略进行讽刺性比较。他说,值得注意的是,这些言论是在通常旨在表明服从中国政府的宣誓仪式上发表的。
"All this historical stuff is very interesting, but at a certain level," he said, "what they're trying to do here is to register their refusal to obey the way they're being told to obey."	"所有这些具有历史意义的东西都很有趣,但在一定程度上,"他说,"他们这样做是想表明,他们拒绝以被要求的方式去服从。"
But the oath-takers' critics include people in Hong Kong who have pushed for democratic reforms in its political system. What explains that?	但是,这两位宣誓人的批评者也包括推动香港政治体制民主改革的香港人士。这怎么解释?
After taking the oath in the Legislative Council, Mr. Leung attributed his pronunciation of China as "Chee-na" to his local Hong Kong accent. But Ming Sing, a professor of social science at the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology, said in an interview that some people in Hong Kong dismissed that explanation as "moral hypocrisy," because Mr. Leung had previously made a point of attacking pro-democracy legislators for their purported unwillingness to challenge the Chinese government.	梁颂恒在立法会宣誓后表示,他把中国发音成"支那"是因为他的香港口音。但是,香港科技大学(Hong Kong University of Science and Technology)社会科学教授成名(Ming Sing)在接受采访时表示,有些香港人认为那种解释是"道德上的虚伪",因为梁之前曾抨击主张民主的议员不愿挑战中国政府。

The new suit brings to 10 the number of people who were elected in September to Hong Kong’s Legislative Council and who may lose their seats. Two others, Sixtus Leung and Yau Wai-ching, infuriated the Chinese government when they inserted a derogatory term for China into their oaths and pledged loyalty to the “Hong Kong nation.”	新诉讼让可能失去立法会席位的议员人数达到 10 名，这些立法会议员都在今年 9 月份当选的。这八人外的另外两人是梁颂恒和游蕙祯，他们在誓言中加入了贬低中国的用词，还发誓效忠“香港民族”，激怒了中国政府。

In an interview with the local RTHK public broadcasting service, Robin Cheng Yuk-kai, the former chairman of the Taxi Drivers and Operators Association, displayed the application for the review of the eight lawmakers. It is not the first time Mr. Cheng has used the judicial process to help push forward the interests of Beijing. In late 2014 his group successfully sued to have a court injunction issued to clear portions of a major thoroughfare that was the scene of pro-democracy demonstrations.	在当地公共广播服务香港电台的一个采访中，的士司机从业员总会前会长郑玉佳展示了针对那八名立法会议员提出的司法复核申请。这不是郑玉佳第一次使用司法程序来帮助推动北京的利益。2014年底，他所在的团体成功地提请法院发出了一项禁制令，清除了民主示威活动中被示威者占领的一条主要道路的部分地段。
"The variations in their oath mean one thing, that they did not sincerely take the oath," Mr. Cheng said in the interview. "If they did not sincerely swear allegiance to the country and the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, how are they qualified to become Hong Kong's legislators?"	"他们改变誓言意味着一件事，就是他们的宣誓不真诚，"郑玉佳在采访中说。"如果他们没有真诚地宣誓效忠国家和香港特别行政区，他们怎么有资格当香港的议员呢？"
Applying for judicial review in Hong Kong is a two-step process. The court first has to give the applicant permission to go ahead with the case. Among the eight lawmakers named in the suit are Lau Siu-lai, who read her oath very slowly over more than 10 minutes, pausing after each word; Nathan Law, who gave a preamble saying he couldn't be loyal to a regime that "murders its own people"; and Leung Kwok-hung, known as Long Hair, who unfurled a yellow umbrella, a symbol of the 2014 protests, when he gave his oath.	在司法复核申请中被点名的八名立法者中，刘小丽以极慢的语速宣读誓词，在每个字后停顿，花了10分钟才读完；罗冠聪说了一段开场白，表示他不能忠于“屠杀自己的人民”的政权；外号“长毛”的梁国雄在宣誓时打开了一把黄伞，那是2014年抗议活动的象征。
Hong Kong's judicial system, inherited from the British, is well known for its independence. Judges must decide how to interpret the ruling from Beijing in each case and determine whether the ruling, which came after the oaths had already been accepted, is retroactive. Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung, in contrast, had their oaths rejected and have not been given the opportunity to retake them.	香港的司法制度是英国遗留下来的，以其独立性而闻名。法官必须针对每个具体案子来决定如何解释北京的释法，以确定在宣誓之后发布的释法是否具有追溯效力。与这八人的情况不同，游蕙祯和梁颂恒的誓言被定为无效后，还没有得到重新宣誓的机会。
"I don't think I have broken any law," Eddie Chu Hoi-dick, one of the targeted legislators, told reporters on Thursday. "I don't think, even after the interpretation, the law of the court of Hong Kong will do such a ridiculous decision as to disqualify me and my fellow colleagues in the chamber."	"我认为我没有违反任何法律，"司法复核申请中被提名的立法者朱凯迪周四对记者说。"我认为，即使在释法之后，香港法院的法律也不会做出取消我和我的同事议员资格的如此可笑的裁决。"

Hong Kong Venue Cancels Screening of Protest Film, Citing Political Concerns	雨伞运动纪录片在香港被取消放映
BEIJING — The filmmaker Evans Chan was delighted when an educational center in Hong Kong agreed to screen his new documentary about the Umbrella Movement, the pro-democracy demonstrations that convulsed the city in 2014.	北京——得知香港的一家教育中心同意放映自己新拍的一部关于雨伞运动的纪录片时，电影导演陈耀成(Evans Chan)很高兴。雨伞运动是在2014年爆发的震动香港的亲民主示威活动。

Mr. Chan, who is from Hong Kong, said he was disappointed but not entirely surprised.	但随后，在本周二这一原定日期两周前，亚洲协会香港中心(Hong Kong Center of the Asia Society)以政治方面的担忧为由，取消了电影《撑伞》(Raise the Umbrellas)的放映活动。来自香港的陈耀成说他感到失望，但并不特别惊讶。
"Where Hong Kong is concerned, I feel that it is actually becoming more like Tibet, but without Tibet's political or cultural sexiness for the international community," Mr. Chan, 54, said in one of several interviews by email and telephone from New York, where he lives. "That being said, I'll try my best to be Hong Kong's chronicler."	"说起香港，我觉得它实际上越来越像西藏了，但在政治和文化方面没那么性感，相对不受国际社会关注，"现年54岁、多次在纽约通过电子邮件和电话接受采访的陈耀成说。"虽然如此，我还是会竭尽全力，当好香港历史的记录者。"
Tibet is officially designated as an autonomous region within China. "Asia Society is a nonpartisan educational institution, and we aim to present programs that are balanced and present both sides of a topic," Ms. Mong wrote. The concern was not the 117-minute documentary itself, she said, but rather the post-screening panel, which would have only featured speakers with pro-democracy viewpoints.	"亚洲协会是一个无党派教育机构，我们致力于推出那些对一个话题中正持平、呈现双方观点的活动，"孟淑娟写道。她说，让人担忧的并不是这部时长为 117 分钟的纪录片本身，而是放映结束后的小组讨论——只有秉持亲民主观点的人士会在讨论中发言。
Last December, the society screened a 25-minute "work in progress" version of Mr. Chan's documentary. For the Tuesday screening, Mr. Chan said that an effort had been made to invite pro-Beijing speakers, but it was unsuccessful. The protests came in response to a decision by the Chinese government in August 2014 imposing a restrictive framework on the elections for Hong Kong's next leader, the chief executive, a move seen by many in Hong Kong as allowing only pro-Beijing candidates to run for office. The protests that broke out that September in favor of more democratic election procedures became known as the Umbrella Movement, for the umbrellas protesters employed as shields against the tear gas and pepper spray used by the police.	引发抗议活动的导火索是，中国政府于2014年8月决定，推出一个关于香港下一任行政长官选举的限制性框架，很多人认为这相当于只允许亲北京的候选人参选。以更加民主的选举程序为诉求的抗议活动于当年9月爆发，因为抗议者们曾用雨伞抵挡警方发射的催泪瓦斯和胡椒喷雾，而被称为雨伞运动。

"After the huge success of 'Ten Years,' everyone has become cautious about showing such films," because they are fearful of provoking Beijing, Mr. Chui said.	"《十年》获得巨大成功后，人人都对放映这类影片持谨慎态度"，因为害怕激怒北京方面，崔允信说。
Mr. Chui added that he had approached all of the city's cinema chains to show "Yellowing," another documentary about the Umbrella Movement, but none agreed. "If they answer," he said, "they say that they have too many films to be scheduled, they don't have the space." The solution, he said, was to go small, and unofficial.	崔允信还表示，为了让关于雨伞运动的另一部纪录片《乱世备忘》(Yellowing)进入院线，他联络了香港所有的连锁影院，但没人同意放映该片。"即便有回复，"他说，"他们也是说片子太多了，排不开。"应对之道是进行小范围的非正式放映，他说。
"So we try to find as many venues like independent film festivals, universities, because it's so easy to show a film today: cafes, community halls," he said. "But of course it's not a good situation."	"于是我们尽力去寻找独立电影节、大学之类的诸多场合与场所，因为现如今放映电影是很简单的事情，在咖啡馆或者社区礼堂里就可以，"他说。"不过，这显然不是很好的局面。"

Mr. Chan said the film had also secured screenings in a few private or unofficial venues.	陈耀成说，该片还得到了在几个私人或非正式场所放映的机会。

A Trade War Against China Might Be a Fight Trump Couldn't Win	与中国打贸易战, 特朗普赢不了
Who gains from a trade war with China?	谁从与中国打贸易战中获利?
At the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation summit in Peru over the weekend, one of the biggest questions was whether Donald J. Trump, as the next president, will stick to his threat to erect steep trade barriers against Beijing, dragging the United States into a tit-for-tat confrontation with the world's second-largest economy.	上周末, 在秘鲁举行的亚太经济合作组织峰会上, 一个最大的问题是, 作为下一任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普是否会坚持他的威胁, 即针对北京建立高贸易壁垒, 将美国拖入一场与世界第二大经济体针锋相对的对抗。
No such war has begun, yet it seems clear that the United States has already lost. China has been steadily gaining in the global economic system.	这种战争尚未开始, 但似乎很明显美国已经失败了。中国在全球经济体系中的获利一直在稳步增长。
Waging war against globalization, America is making China's case. Eswar Prasad, a former head of the Chinese division at the International Monetary Fund, argues that "over the long term China comes out a winner no matter what."	美国发动的反全球化攻势, 正在让中国的地位得到提升。国际货币基金组织(简称IMF)前中国部门负责人埃斯瓦尔·普拉萨德(Eswar Prasad)称, "从长远来看, 中国无论如何都是赢家。"
China's economy would surely suffer if the United States were to impose a 45 percent tariff on nearly $500 billion worth of Chinese	如果美国对价值近5000亿美元的中国进口商品征收45%的关税, 中国经济肯定会受到损害。虽然美国只吸收了中国出口的16%, 但美国是中国最

imports. The United States absorbs only 16 percent of Chinese exports, but it is China's healthiest export market. Fears of American protectionism are already stoking capital flight from China.	健康的出口市场。对美国保护主义的恐惧已经激起了中国的资本外逃。
But China might be better placed than the United States to take the blow. And it would certainly counterpunch. An editorial in China's Global Times, a Communist Party mouthpiece, is probably not far-off in its warning that American action would mean: "A batch of Boeing orders will be replaced by Airbus. U.S. auto and iPhone sales in China will suffer a setback, and U.S. soybean and maize imports will be halted."	但中国或许能比美国更好地经受住这种打击。中国肯定也会反击。中国共产党喉舌《环球时报》的一篇社论做出的警告也许与实际情况差得并不太远，社论称美国的行动将意味着：“大量波音飞机的订单将转到欧洲空客手里，美国汽车的在华销售将受重挫，苹果手机差不多要被挤走，美国大豆、玉米将从中国绝迹。”
China has several ways to retaliate. It could bar state-owned companies from doing business with American businesses. It could limit access to essential commodities, as it did in response to a fishing dispute with Japan by stopping exports of so-called rare earth minerals essential to the electronics industry. It could soft-pedal efforts to combat the piracy of American patents and copyrights.	中国有几种报复方式。它可以禁止国有企业与美国公司做生意。它可以限制基本商品的出口，就像中国曾停止向日本出口电子工业必不可少的所谓稀土矿石，以作为对与日本渔业争端的回应。中国还可以放松对盗版美国专利和版权的打击。
Some of the United States' most successful companies would be in for a rough ride. The vast majority of Apple's iPhones, for example, are assembled in China. The assembly costs, though, account for less than 4 percent of the value added of the device. That means China could force a halt in iPhone production at little cost to itself, while Apple would face a deeply disruptive, expensive effort to shift production elsewhere. Building it from scratch in the United States is nearly impossible.	美国一些最成功的企业将面临艰难的前景。比如，绝大多数苹果手机在中国组装。但是，组装成本只占不到4%的设备附加价值。这意味着中国可以迫使iPhone停止生产而不给自己带来多少代价，苹果公司却得把生产转移到其他地方去，将需要做出破坏性极大的高成本努力。在美国从零开始制造iPhone几乎不可能。
How long could American resolve hold? An analysis by the pro-trade Peterson Institute for International Economics concluded that a	美国的决心可以持续多久？支持贸易的彼得森国际经济研究所的一份分析给出的结论是，与中国和墨西哥进行全面贸易战争，将在2020年让美国的

full-blown trade war with China and Mexico would push unemployment in the United States to nearly 9 percent in 2020, from 4.9 percent today. That would not improve the economic outlook for millions of working-class Americans in whose name Mr. Trump proposed this fight.	失业率提高到近9%，如今的失业率是4.9%，这将无法改善数百万工薪阶层美国人民的经济前景，而特朗普正是以他们的名义提出要打贸易战的。
And that may not even be the worst part. Circling the wagons around the American border plays directly into China's hands in other ways.	这可能还不是最糟糕的部分。美国从国际舞台上抽身也让中国在其他方面有机可乘。
Washington would be cast as the villain in the fight. No matter how many tricks the Chinese government might deploy against American interests, it would remain the victim in the eyes of many nations, a champion for the cause of open rules-based trade.	华盛顿将在这场贸易战中被视为反面角色。无论中国政府在反抗美国利益上可能采取多少伎俩，它仍会在许多国家眼里保持着受害者的身份，保持着为开放、以规则为基础的贸易事业担当倡导者的地位。
Even if Mr. Trump is just bluffing, as many of his allies say, to gain leverage in some future negotiation, much of the damage has been done. His bluster has changed the perception of the role the United States will play in the world.	即使像许多盟友所说的那样，特朗普只是在虚张声势，为的是在未来的谈判中获得优势，但这已经造成了很大的损害。他的威吓已经改变了人们对美国在世界上所起到的作用的想法。
Amid a turn toward populist nationalism in other rich countries — like Britain and France — China has emerged in the unlikely role of defender of globalized capitalism.	在其他富裕国家（如英国和法国）转向民粹的民族主义之际，中国已摇身一变，担当起资本主义全球化捍卫者这个不太可能的角色。
"China is the one major power still talking about increased integration," said Nicholas Lardy, a China specialist at the Peterson Institute. "China is the only major country in the world projecting the idea that globalization brings benefits." And that is the United States' loss.	"中国是仍在谈论提高一体化程度的唯一大国，"彼得森研究所的中国问题专家尼古拉斯·拉迪(Nicholas Lardy)说。"中国是世界上唯一展示全球化带来好处观念的主要国家"，这是美国的损失。
A great many countries in the developing world still believe prosperity depends on their successful integration into the supply chains that traverse the global economy. By turning inward — a move already	绝大多数发展中国家仍相信，它们的繁荣依赖于在贯穿全球经济的供应链中找到自己成功的位置。美国的向内转移让这个国家似乎不再能为世界提供什么，这已经强有力地体现在美国对跨太平洋伙伴关系的拒绝上。

reinforced by the rejection of the Trans-Pacific Partnership — the United States appears to have little to offer.
Steven Ciobo, Australia’s trade minister, conveyed that point only a few days after the American election by saying that his nation would work to conclude the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership — a Chinese initiative among 16 Asian and Pacific countries that excludes the United States — and would support Beijing’s proposed Free Trade Area of the Asia Pacific. Ditto for Peru and Chile, which, according to a senior Chinese official in Lima, are also now seeking to join the Chinese trade initiative.	澳大利亚贸易部长史蒂文·乔博(Steven Ciobo)在美国大选后仅几天就表示了这种看法，他说，他的国家将为缔结“区域全面经济伙伴关系”做出努力，这是中国倡议的、不包括美国在内的 16 个亚太国家的贸易协定，协定将支持北京提出的亚太自由贸易区。根据利马的一位中国高级官员的说法，秘鲁和智利也正在寻求加入中国倡议的贸易协定。
“Almost certainly every economy in the Asian region sees its future lying more closely linked with China,” Mr. Prasad, the former I.M.F. official, told me. “With Trump talking about withdrawing from trade deals and making allies pay for protection, it will be tough for Asian countries to resist China’s embrace.”	“亚洲地区的每个经济体都几乎可以肯定地认为，自己的未来与中国有着更密切的联系，”IMF 前官员普拉萨德对我说。“在特朗普大谈特谈退出贸易协议、让盟国为防御掏钱的同时，亚洲国家将很难抵挡中国的拥抱。”
And if Washington’s actions against China start to disrupt Asia’s supply chains, the United States could quickly become the region’s economic pariah.	如果华盛顿针对中国的行动开始扰乱亚洲的供应链的话，美国可能很快会被该地区的经济所遗弃。
The question is, to what purpose? It can’t simply be about stopping currency manipulation. That’s an outdated fear. Instead of working to lower the value of its currency to improve its exports, China has spent about $1 trillion lately to prop up the value of the renminbi in the face of capital flight. If it stopped, the currency would drop like a stone, enhancing China’s trade competitiveness.	问题是，要达到什么的目的？不可能只是关乎于阻止货币操纵。这种恐惧已经过时了。中国已不再为增加进出口努力降低其货币的价值。面对资本外逃，中国最近花了大约 1 万亿美元来支撑人民币的价值。如果中国停止这种做法，人民币的价值就会直线下降，从而提高中国的贸易竞争力。
Moreover, slapping trade barriers against China would do little to	此外，给中国贸易设置壁垒对缩小美国贸易逆差几乎没有作用。在中国制造

narrow the American trade deficit. American companies building things in China wouldn't bring much manufacturing home; in most cases they would go to some other country with cheap labor. And to the extent they did "reshore" production, most of it would be highly automated, employing few additional Americans.	产品的美国公司不会带回多少制造业；在大多数情况下，它们会去另外一些有廉价劳动力的国家。而且，就算“回流”到国内，这种生产在很大程度上也会是高度自动化的，不能给美国人提供多少额外就业。
"It does not make economic sense for Trump to want to balance trade with China," said Derek Scissors, a China specialist at the conservative American Enterprise Institute. "Balanced trade doesn't bring back jobs."	“特朗普要与中国平衡贸易的说法在经济上讲不通，”史剑道(Derek Scissors)说，他是保守派的美国企业研究所(American Enterprise Institute)的中国问题专家。“平衡贸易并不能把就业带回来。”
Initially, Mr. Trump might look like a winner, resolute in his defense of the working class. But any increase in popularity would be unlikely to last as the consequences started to become apparent.	特朗普起初可能看似是赢家，有决心保卫工人阶级。但随着这些做法的后果开始变得明显，任何特朗普受欢迎程度的提升都不太可能持久。
Washington has already been playing a relatively weak hand trying to contain China's influence. China has skillfully deployed investments to win over countries from Africa to Latin America, broadening its network of influence. Its proposed Asian infrastructure bank proceeded, despite opposition from the Obama administration, after Britain and other American allies jumped on board.	相对来说，华盛顿在试图遏制中国的影响力上已经没有多少手牌可打。中国已通过巧妙地利用投资，赢得了从非洲到拉丁美洲的不少国家，扩大了自己的影响范围。中国建议的亚洲基础设施银行已经成形，尽管亚投行受到奥巴马政府的反对，但得到了英国和其他美国盟友的参与。
"China is becoming a leading member of the international community," Mr. Prasad wrote in his new book "Gaining Currency," but not, "as the West prefers, by being co-opted into existing institutions under the current rules of the game." Instead, China is "co-opting other countries into the system of rules it wants to dictate."	“中国正在成为国际社会的主导成员，”普拉萨德在他的新书《人民币的崛起》中写道，但不是“以西方喜欢的方式，在现行的游戏规则下，被纳入了现有的体系”。相反，中国正在“把其他国家纳入它想要建立的规则体系中”。
Mr. Trump just gave China's alternative system of rules a big push forward.	特朗普恰好为中国非传统规则体系的前行提供了一臂之力。

After Window-Washing Deaths, a Debate Over Migrants' Rights in Hong Kong	外佣擦窗时坠楼身亡，香港劳工权益讨论升级
HONG KONG — Whenever the windows of her employer's 35th-floor apartment looked dirty, Win Win Warsiating would lean halfway out of the high-rise building to clean them. Sometimes she would glance down at the ground far below and be seized with anxiety, she said. But she never complained.	香港——每当雇主位于 35 层的公寓的窗户看起来有些脏时，文·文·沃西亚廷 (Win Win Warsiating) 就会把半边身子伸出这栋高楼外去清洗它们。她说有时她会低头看一眼远远的地面，然后感到害怕。但她从没抱怨过。
That was years ago, when Ms. Warsiating, a domestic worker from Indonesia, was new to Hong Kong and the job. These days, she said, she would be far less willing to compromise her safety to please an employer.	那是多年以前的事了。当时来自印度尼西亚的家政工人沃西亚廷刚刚来到香港做这份工作。她说现在她不会那么迫切地为取悦雇主而不顾自身安危了。
"I agree to clean windows, but if you are not safe, of course not," she said at a recent rally for migrant workers' rights in Hong Kong.	"我愿意清洗窗户，但如果不安全，那当然不行，"她在香港最近举行的一场为外来劳工争取权益的集会活动上说道。
In a rich city known for its soaring high-rises, reports that several domestic workers fell to their deaths this year while cleaning windows have added urgency to a long-running debate about the city's deep social inequality and dependence on low-cost migrant labor.	在一个以摩天大楼著称的富裕城市里，有关多名家政工人今年在擦洗窗户时从楼上摔下致死的报道，令一场持续多时的争论愈发紧迫起来，争论的主题是这个城市根深蒂固的社会不平等，以及它对低成本外来劳工的依赖。
Last month, the deaths prompted Indonesia and the Philippines — the countries that supply the vast majority of Hong Kong's roughly 300,000 migrant domestic workers — to call for window-washing safety regulations. Last week, the Labor Department said that, starting in January, new employment contracts would contain a clause prohibiting domestic workers from cleaning any windows without secure grilles, or from extending anything but their arms beyond	上个月，这些死亡事件促使印度尼西亚和菲律宾——香港的约 30 万外来家政工人大多来自这两个国家——呼吁香港出台清洗窗户的安全法规。香港劳工处上周表示，从明年 1 月开始，新雇佣合同将需要包括一个新的条款，禁止家政工人清洗不带安全栅栏的窗户，也不允许她们把胳膊之外的任何部分伸到窗台之外。 window ledges.

But the underlying question of what rights Hong Kong's domestic migrant workers deserve is far from resolved. Labor activists said the new clause would do little to improve a system they say is rife with exploitation by employment agencies, and which Hong Kong officials rely on to plug gaps in social services for children and older residents.	但香港外来家政工人应该得到哪些权利的根本问题，还远远没有得到解决。劳工权益活动人士表示，新的条款对改善一个体系几乎没什么帮助，他们认为这个体系充斥着来自职业介绍所的剥削，而香港政府得依靠这些机构来填补儿童与老年居民社会服务的空缺。
"They want to keep the labor cheap," said Leo Tang, the organizing secretary at the Hong Kong Confederation of Trade Unions.	"他们想让劳工保持廉价，"香港职工会联盟组织干事邓建华(Leo Tang)说道。
Mr. Tang said the government could raise the minimum wage for domestic migrant workers or better police the employment agencies. "But of course, for all these types of needs, they have to increase the public expenditure," he said. "That is the thing they wouldn't do as a neoliberal government."	邓建华表示，政府可以提高外来家政工人的最低工资，或更好地监管这些职业介绍机构。“但当然，为满足这些各种各样的需求，他们必须增加公共开支，”他说。“那是他们作为一个新自由主义政府不愿做的事。”
Hong Kong's migrant domestic workers, who are mainly women, typically work six days a week and earn a monthly minimum wage of about $556 — far less than what other workers are guaranteed under Hong Kong law. They also pay placement fees to employment agencies and security deposits that are worth several months of wages.	香港的外来家政工人主要为女性，通常一周工作六天，拿着每月约 556 美元（约合 3830 元人民币）的最低工资——远远低于其他工作者在香港法律之下获得的最低工资。她们还要给职业介绍所支付安置费，得拿出相当于她们好几个月工资的保证金。
Hong Kong, a former British colony, does provide better legal protections than these workers would find in many other popular destinations for economic migrants across Asia and the Middle East. But Jade Anderson, an anti-human-trafficking coordinator at Justice Center Hong Kong, an advocacy group, said that was no excuse for employment policies that she said encouraged abuse.	相比于亚洲和中东其他许多受欢迎的经济移民目的地，作为前英国殖民地的香港的确提供了更好的法律保护。但倡导组织香港正义中心(Justice Center Hong Kong)反贩卖人口协调员杰德·安德逊(Jade Anderson)表示，这不等于就可以制定在她看来鼓励了虐待行为的雇佣政策。
"Being the best amongst a series of poor choices doesn't say much for	"在一系列糟糕的选择中选了最好的那个，并不会让香港显得有多好，"安德

Hong Kong," Ms. Anderson said. A recent survey by the center of migrant domestic workers found that 17 percent displayed signs of being subjected to forced labor, while a third said they did not feel free to quit their jobs.	逊说。外来家政工人中心最近进行的一项调查发现,有17%的工人表现出遭强制劳动的迹象,有三分之一的人则表示她们觉得自己不能随意辞职。
Eman C. Villanueva, the spokesman for the Asian Migrants Coordinating Body, another advocacy group, said that migrant domestic workers feel discriminated against by rules that require them to live in their employers' homes, by vague job descriptions that can facilitate exploitation and by immigration policies that oblige them to leave the city within two weeks if their contracts are terminated.	另一家倡导组织亚洲移居人士联盟(Asian Migrants Coordinating Body)发言人埃曼·C·比利亚努埃瓦(Eman C. Villanueva)表示,外来家政工人感觉自己受到诸多歧视:法规要求她们住在雇主的家里;工作内容描述模糊,让她们容易受到剥削;移民政策又要求她们在工作合同结束两周内就得离开这个城市。
"We are segregated. We are excluded from Hong Kong society," he said. "And I think that is the underlying thing that reinforces the mind-set of the people that we can be treated differently and treated unfairly."	"我们被隔离开来,从香港社会排除出去了,"他说。"我觉得这才是根本的问题,它加强了我们可以被区别和不公平对待的观念。"
Mr. Villanueva, citing Philippine officials and Indonesian activists, said that three Filipinos and two Indonesians had died in Hong Kong this year after falling from heights, although he said the figures included both suicides and work-related accidents.	比利亚努埃瓦援引菲律宾和印度尼西亚活动人士的数据表示,今年有三名菲律宾人和两名印度尼西亚人从高楼坠落死亡,不过他表示其中有的是自杀,有的是与工作相关的事故。
The debate over window washing began last month, after the Philippine Consulate sent a letter to employment agencies saying that it would require new employment contracts for its citizens to stipulate that domestic workers were banned from cleaning windows. The Indonesian Consulate later said it would do the same.	就清洗窗户而起的争论始于上月,当时菲律驻香港领事馆给职业中介结构发了一封信,称它将要求这些机构给菲律宾公民提供新的雇佣合同,明令禁止家政工人清洗窗户。印度尼西亚领事馆后来表示也会采取同样的行动。
"For us, the most important thing is that our workers are protected by law," Tri Tharyat, the Indonesian consul general, said in an interview before the new clause was announced. Indonesia has said it plans to	"对我们来说,最重要的事是让我们的工人得到法律的保护,"印度尼西亚驻香港总领事特里·塔尔亚(Tri Tharyat)在新条款出台之前接受采访时表示。他还提到,印度尼西亚计划停止向多个国家输送家政工人,不过他表示香港不

stop sending domestic workers to several countries, he added, but Hong Kong was not on that list because its legal code provided better protections for migrants.	在此列，因为它的法规给外来人员提供了更好的保护。
"It's not perfect yet, but it's better than nothing," he said.	"它还不够完美，但总比什么也没有强，"他说。
Carlson K. S. Chan, Hong Kong's labor commissioner, told reporters last week that the new clause on window washing represented a pragmatic compromise among labor unions, foreign consulates, migrant workers and their employers. "I'm very happy that all the parties have been adopting a very sensible attitude," Mr. Chan said. He added that he did not have official data on how many migrant workers had died while cleaning windows this year.	香港劳工处处长陈嘉信(Carlson K. S. Chan)上周告诉记者，有关清洗窗户的新法规代表着工会、外国领事馆、外来工人及其雇主之间的一种务实的妥协。“我很高兴各方采取都了一种非常理智的态度，”陈嘉信说。他还表示，他没有官方数据能显示今年有多少外来工人在清洗窗户时丧生。
Benny Lee, the chief operating officer of the Support Group for Hong Kong Employers With Foreign Domestic Helpers, said he was willing to accept some safety measures but worried that the clause could inspire the workers to negotiate other aspects of their contracts, resulting in reams of paperwork that might confuse employers.	香港外僱雇主关注组(Support Group for Hong Kong Employers With Foreign Domestic Helpers)营运总监李秉纲表示，他愿意接受一些安全措施，但他担心这个条款可能会激发工人就合同的其他方面展开谈判，这会带来大量文书工作，可能会让雇主感到困惑。
Hong Kong provides some of the best legal protections for migrant workers in Asia, Mr. Lee added, and accusations of exploitation were frequently exaggerated by the international news media. "It's totally unfair," he said.	李秉纲还表示，香港给外来工人提供了亚洲最好的一些法律保护，有关剥削的指控往往被国际新闻机构夸大了。“这一点也不公平，”他说。

Calls for Hong Kong Independence Hurt Push for Democracy, Ex-Governor Says	末代港督彭定康: 香港独立“不会发生”
HONG KONG — The last British colonial governor of Hong Kong criticized two politicians advocating independence for the Chinese territory on Friday, offering a high-profile rebuke to a nascent separatist movement struggling to secure formal representation in the local legislature.	香港——周五, 英国殖民时期的最后一任香港总督彭定康(Christopher F. Patten)批评两名主张香港独立的政治人物。他对一场尚处在初期的分离运动的指责备受瞩目, 该运动正试图在当地立法机构获得正式代表权。
Independence for Hong Kong “is not going to happen,” and the campaign for it is “something which dilutes support for democracy,” said the former governor, Christopher F. Patten, who pushed for greater democracy in Hong Kong in the years before it returned to Chinese rule in 1997. He delivered his remarks in a speech on Friday before the Foreign Correspondents’ Club.	前总督彭定康说, 香港独立“不会发生”, 以此为目标的运动“削弱了对民主的支持”。在香港 1997 年回归中国之前的多年里, 彭定康曾在香港推行更大的民主。他是周五在外国记者会(Foreign Correspondents’ Club)发表演讲时做出上述表述的。
Without naming them, he criticized Yau Wai-ching, 25, and Sixtus Leung, 30, who were barred from taking their seats as the city’s first openly separatist legislators after they declared allegiance to a “Hong Kong nation” and inserted anti-China snubs into their oaths of office.	他不点名批评了 25 岁的游蕙祯(Yau Wai-ching)和 30 岁的梁颂恒(Sixtus Leung)。在宣布效忠“香港民族”, 并在就职誓词中加入了反华的不敬言辞后, 两人被禁止就职, 他们是香港第一批公开支持独立的议员。

"I had great admiration and still have great admiration for those who campaign for democracy, but not those whose campaign dilutes support for democracy and makes a mockery of a serious political argument," Mr. Patten said, drawing a distinction between campaigns for Hong Kong's independence from China and those calling for freer elections, including the largely peaceful protests of 2014, which shut down parts of Hong Kong for months.	"我过去和现在都非常敬佩那些从事民主运动的人，但不是另外一些人，他们的运动削弱了对民主的支持，是对严肃的政治争论的嘲弄，"彭定康说。他划清了支持香港从中国独立出去的运动和包括 2014 年基本上属于和平的抗议在内，呼吁增加选举自由程度的运动之间的界限。相关抗议导致香港部分地区关闭数月。
"Two years ago, many brave young people in Hong Kong established moral high ground about democracy and governance, and I think it would be a tragedy if that high ground was lost because of a few antics about so-called independence for Hong Kong," he said.	"两年前，香港很多勇敢的年轻人建立了关于民主和治理的道德高地，如果因为一些与所谓港独有关的滑稽言行而失去了那块高地，我认为是一大不幸，"他说。
In response to the criticism, Mr. Leung, himself a participant in the protests known as the Umbrella Movement, argued that the past two years were proof that whatever moral ground they took did not work "when you are negotiating with the immoral and authoritarian Chinese Communist Party."	针对上述批评，本身也参加了被称作雨伞运动的相关抗议活动的梁颂恒称，过去两年证明，"当你在和不道德的威权主义中共谈判时"，不管占领什么道德高地都不起作用。
Support for greater autonomy and even independence for the city has grown as the Chinese government refuses to grant the protesters' demands for greater popular participation in choosing Hong Kong's leader. That was enough to sweep Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung to victory in the first major elections since the 2014 protests.	由于中国政府拒绝满足抗议者的要求，即民众在选择香港领导人时拥有更大的参与权，支持香港拥有更大自治权乃至独立的呼声日益增加。它们足以让游蕙禎和梁颂恒在 2014 年的抗议结束后举行的第一个重要选举中取得胜利。

Ms. Yau's and Mr. Leung's unorthodox oath-taking prompted a rare legal intervention by the Chinese government that critics said challenged the independence of Hong Kong's judiciary, which already had a case pending over their qualifications as legislators. Mr. Patten echoed such concerns about interference by Beijing in Hong Kong, which was promised considerable legal autonomy under the agreement returning it to Chinese rule. Even though he criticized the two, he said that "maybe it would be better" if the Chinese government left the case for the local courts to decide.	游蕙禎和梁頌恒的非正统宣誓促使中国政府进行了罕见的法律干涉。批评人士称，此举挑战了香港的司法独立，香港司法机关本来已经就他们两人的议员资格立案，案件尚未判决。彭定康呼应了对北京干涉香港事务的这类担忧。按照回归中国时的协议，香港被许以相当大的法律自治权。尽管对两人持批评意见，但彭定康仍表示，如果中国政府让当地法院裁决此案，“可能会更好”。

Despite Climate Change Vow, China Pushes to Dig More Coal	中国煤炭产业复兴，减排目标堪忧
JINCHENG, China — America's uncertain stance toward global warming under the coming administration of Donald J. Trump has given China a leading role in the fight against climate change. It has called on the United States to recognize established science and to work with other countries to reduce dependence on dirty fuels like coal and oil.	中国晋城——即将上任的唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)令美国对全球变暖的立场变得不确定，中国因此成为抗击气候变化的主要力量。中国呼吁美国承认科学共识，与其他国家携手合作，减少对煤炭和石油等不清洁能源的依赖。
But there is a problem: Even as it does so, China is scrambling to mine and burn more coal.	不过有个问题：尽管如此，中国正在加紧开采和燃烧更多的煤炭。
A lack of stockpiles and worries about electricity blackouts are spurring	储备不足以及对断电的担忧促使中国官员改变了一度有助于减少煤炭产量

China's response to coal scarcity shows how hard it will be to wean the country off coal. That makes it harder for China and the world to meet emissions targets, as Chinese coal is the world's largest single source of carbon emissions from human activities.	中国对煤炭供应不足的反应表明该国很难舍弃它。这样的话，中国和全世界完成减排目标就更为困难，因为中国的煤炭消耗是世界上最大的人类活动碳排放单一来源。
Among China watchers, the turnabout also has contributed to questions about the fate of China's current crop of economic planners.	中国观察人士认为，这个转变也增加了人们对当前这一批中国经济规划者的命运的担忧。
Here in Jincheng, a smoggy city in China's coal country, the about-face has led to a steady hum of activity. On a recent afternoon, other trains stopped to make way for two electric locomotives, their horns blowing, pulling more than 50 empty coal hopper cars ready to be filled. Large coal-carrying trucks now form half-mile lines.	在烟雾弥漫的中国煤炭城市晋城，这一转变带来了一派繁忙的景象。前不久的一个下午，其他火车都停下，给两个电动火车头让路，它们鸣着笛，拖着50多个等待被装满的空运煤车厢。运煤大货车的队伍已经排了半英里长。
Allan Zhang, an electrician who works at a mine here, said his employer had raised monthly pay by nearly 50 percent since the summer.	在这里一家煤矿工作的电工艾伦·张(Allan Zhang)说，从今年夏天起，他的月工资涨了近50%。

The revival of coal production shows the flaws in the country's half-finished evolution from central planning to the free market.	煤炭生产的复兴表明该国从中央计划到自由市场的转变尚未完成，存在缺陷。
China's coal problems stem from a series of official decisions that ramped up activity from energy-intensive industries even as they curbed mining output. Speculators in China's volatile financial markets, already prone to producing bubbles, ran up the price of coal. Weather	中国的煤炭问题源于一系列鼓励能源密集型产业的官方决定，尽管他们遏制了煤炭生产。中国动荡的金融市场本已经很容易产生泡沫，投机者迅速拉升了煤炭价格。天气等其他不利因素更是雪上加霜。 and other setbacks haven't helped.

Coal still produces almost three-quarters of China's electricity, despite ambitious hydroelectric dam projects and the world's largest program to install solar panels and build wind turbines. Coal use in China also produces more emissions than all the oil, coal and gas consumed in the United States.	尽管修建了宏伟的水电工程, 以及世界上最大的太阳能板安装和风力涡轮机修建项目, 中国近四分之三的电能依然是煤电。中国的煤炭消耗所产生的排放量高于美国石油、煤炭和天然气的总排放量。
"I get a kick out of people in the West who think China is decarbonizing, because I see no sign of it whatsoever," said Brock Silvers, a Shanghai banker who has previously served on the boards of two Chinese coal companies.	"西方有些人认为中国在减排, 我觉得很好笑, 因为我没有看到任何迹象," 曾在两家中国煤炭公司董事会任职的上海银行业人士陆修泉(Brock Silvers)说。
Troubled by pollution and worries about rising sea levels, China moved in recent months to rein in coal. Coal production dropped 3 percent last year — a result of that effort, but also a sign of slowing economic growth as well as a gradual shift in the Chinese economy toward American-style consumer spending and away from exports and heavy manufacturing.	污染的困扰以及对海平面上升的担心促使中国在之前的数月里控制煤炭生产。去年, 煤炭产量下降了3%。这是控制的结果, 同时也说明中国经济增速放缓, 以及从出口和大规模制造转向依赖美式消费支出的经济转型。
That prompted the International Energy Agency to offer an optimistic reassessment this autumn: Chinese coal use peaked in 2013 and would now decline.	这促使国际能源署(International Energy Agency)今年秋季做出了乐观的估计: 中国煤炭用量在2013年达到顶峰, 现在将开始下降。
China's reversal now is prompting skepticism. "There is still a peak coming," said Xizhou Zhou, the head of Asia and Pacific gas and power analysis at IHS Energy, a global consulting group. "It's still going to increase."	中国的反转正引发质疑。"顶峰还未到来," 全球咨询公司IHS能源(IHS Energy)的亚太天然气和电力分析主任周希舟说。"用量还会增加。"

The coal situation has put China's powerful economic planning agency, the National Development and Reform Commission, under pressure.	煤炭行情令中国强大的经济计划机构国家发展和改革委员会感到很大压力。
Many executives and Chinese political experts predict that coal problems could be the final straw in a long list of difficulties that could lead President Xi Jinping to replace the agency's director, Xu Shaoshi. Mr. Xu is 65, an age at which Chinese ministers often retire, unless they are kept on to serve their terms or are promoted to vice premier.	很多企业高管和中国政治专家预测, 煤炭问题可能会成为一长串困难的最后一击, 促使习近平主席撤换发改委主任徐绍史。徐今年 65 岁, 中国的部级官员通常在这个年纪退休, 除非被留任或提升为副总理。
One of those experts, Christopher K. historical trend.”
Two years ago, cutting emissions looked easier for Beijing to achieve. China’s electricity consumption was stalling, and many coal-fired power plants began operating only half the time. But state-owned coal mining enterprises, flush with loans from state-owned banks, kept building more mines, leading to losses and dropping coal prices.	两年前，实现减排对北京来说还显得容易一些。当时，中国的电力消费停滞不前，很多火电厂开工时间减半。不过，国有煤炭开采企业获得了国有银行的大量贷款，不断修建煤矿，导致亏损，并拉低了煤碳价格。
China began closing smaller, privately owned mines, cutting production while clamping down on some of the places that have made Chinese coal mining so dangerous. Just last summer, economic planners told mines they were not allowed to operate more than 276 days a year.	中国开始关闭私营小煤矿，缩减生产，打压某些存在开采危险的地区。就在今年夏天，经济规划者还告诫煤矿，每年的开工时间不得超过 276 天。
But developments were coming together to push prices up. Chinese investors piled into Chinese commodities markets, betting prices would rise. This became a self-fulfilling prophecy, as more speculators rushed in and bought more coal when prices rose.	但是各种因素推动了价格上涨。中国投资者涌入该国的大宗商品市场，把赌注压在价格上涨上。这成了一个必然会应验的预言，因为有更多投机者蜂拥而入，在价格上涨时买进。
An unusually hot summer and early autumn added to power demand. China’s banking regulators decided to let banks release a flood of mortgages to home buyers to bolster economic growth. That produced strong demand for electricity from the steel and cement industries.	异常炎热的夏季和提前到来的秋季增加了电力需求。为了促进经济增长，中国银行监管机构决定允许银行向购房者发放大量抵押贷款。这造成钢铁和水泥行业对电力产生了巨大需求。
Along the way, China had a run of bad luck. Flooding disrupted mines and rail routes last spring. A government decision to withdraw many trains from service this year for a new safety improvement campaign made it difficult to deliver supplies quickly. As a result, Chinese coal prices almost doubled from the start of this year until early November.	在这个过程中，中国还碰上了一连串厄运。今年春天，洪水冲坏了矿井和铁轨。为了实施一个改善安全状况的新计划，政府决定今年让很多火车退役，拖慢了供给的速度。结果，从今年年初到 11 月初，中国的煤炭价格几乎涨了一倍。
“It’s actually quite fascinating, how all of these things have come	“这真的很有趣，所有这些事情都碰到了一块，”澳大利亚矿业巨头必和必拓

together," said Arnoud Balhuizen, the president of marketing and supply at BHP Billiton, the Australian mining giant.	(BHP Billiton)的市场和供应总裁阿努德·鲍尔惠森(Arnoud Balhuizen)说。
In recent weeks, China changed course. It halted most coal trading on commodities markets and encouraged state-owned mines to sign long-term contracts at low prices with power stations. This month, the National Development and Reform Commission raised the number of days that mines could operate to 330 days per year.	最近几周，中国改变了路线。它终止了大宗商品市场的大部分煤炭交易，鼓励国有煤矿与发电厂签订低价长期合同。本月，国家发改委将煤矿每年可以开工的天数增加至 330 天。
China will most likely be able to avoid blackouts, said Chang Yijun, the president of Shanxi Fenwei Energy, a regional coal consulting firm, who added that remaining output caps like the 330-day rule would still limit growth in emissions of greenhouse gases.	地方煤炭咨询公司山西汾渭能源公司董事长常毅军表示，中国很可能可以避免断电。他还说，剩下的生产上限，比如 330 天的开工时间，仍可以限制温室气体排放的增长。
Residents in mining towns are delighted. An avenue here in Jincheng is lined with huge billboards, each carrying the same cheery message: "Coal prices are going up, and miners are smiling."	煤炭城镇的居民非常高兴。晋城一条大街的两侧挂起巨大的广告牌，传达着相同的欣喜：“煤价涨了，矿工笑了。”
Mr. Zhang, the mine electrician, said that his mine's work force had shrunk from 300 two years ago to a maintenance crew of eight early this year, but that it had now expanded to 60 and the mine was still hiring.	煤矿电工艾伦·张说，他所在的煤矿两年前有 300 人，今年年初只剩下 8 名维修人员，不过现在已增加到 60 人，而且煤矿还在招人。
The mine's stockpile of coal has nearly vanished. As more coal is hauled up from far underground, it is trucked away within two hours. "Last spring, there were no lines of trucks," he said. "Now there are so many."	煤矿的储备煤几乎已经卖光。更多的煤正从地下深处拉上来，不到两个小时就被卡车运走了。“今年春天没看见过卡车，”他说，“现在非常多。”

One of China's human rights issues touches on the agency Mr. Guterres has run since 2005, the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. It said a vast majority had been subjected to inhumane treatment – including imprisonment, execution and torture – after being returned.	中国的人权问题之一涉及联合国难民署，古特雷斯于 2005 年担任联合国难民署高级专员以来，一直负责该机构的工作。联合国的一个委员会曾在 2014 年批评中国强行遣返了在过去 20 多年间越境进入中国的成千上万的朝鲜人。该委员会说，绝大多数被遣返者回国后受到不人道的待遇，包括监禁、处决和酷刑。

The Justice Department said the city government would issue proceedings against the legislator, Lau Siu-lai, who was sworn into office this month. The move against Ms. Lau, a teacher who participated in 2014 protests for freer local elections but who has not called for separation from China — as had the two legislators who were denied their seats on the Legislative Council — has raised concerns about a broader crackdown on opposition politicians, beyond separatists.	刘小丽是教师，曾参与 2014 年的抗议活动，要求进行更加自由的地方选举，但她没有要求从中国独立——另外两位要求独立的立法者已经被拒绝任职立法会——因此人们担心北京会对反对派政治人士进行更广泛的打压，而不仅仅是针对港独人士。

The move to bar Ms. Lau would be the first since the Chinese government's rare intervention this month, when it ruled that anyone in public office would be disqualified if he or she took the oath "in a manner which is not sincere or not solemn" and that "no arrangement shall be made for retaking the oath."	中国政府本月采取了罕见的干预举措，规定任何公职人员如果以“不真诚、不庄重的方式”宣誓，将被取消资格，并且“不得重新安排宣誓”。而阻止刘小丽进入立法会，将是中国政府在那之后首次采取行动。

Donald Trump Thrusts Taiwan Back on the Table, Rattling a Region	特朗普的电话将台湾重新推向中美外交谈判桌
WASHINGTON — Over the past two decades, Taiwan has slipped from its position atop the list of flash points in the complex relationship between the United States and China. In meetings between President Obama and President Xi Jinping of China, it has typically come up after half a dozen more pressing issues, like trade, cyberattacks and Beijing’s aggressive moves in the South China Sea.	华盛顿——过去 20 年里，台湾已经从复杂的中美关系热点列表的顶上位置滑落。在奥巴马总统和中国国家主席习近平的会谈中，台湾问题的前面通常有十几个更加紧迫的问题，比如贸易、网络攻击和北京在南海的强硬举措。
Now, though, in a single protocol-shattering phone call with the president of Taiwan, President-elect Donald J. Trump has thrust it back on the table. Not since President Richard M. Nixon met with Mao Zedong in 1972 — when the two issued the Shanghai Communiqué clarifying the status of Taiwan — has an American leader so shaken up the diplomatic status quo on the issue.	但现在，候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)与台湾总统一通破坏外交礼节的电话，让这个议题又回到了桌面上。这是自 1972 年理查德·M·尼克松(Richard M. Nixon)总统会晤毛泽东、发表《上海公报》(Shanghai Communiqué)澄清台湾地位以后，美国领导人第一次在这个问题上如此剧烈地改变外交现状。

"Taiwan is about to become a more prominent feature of the overall U.S.-China relationship," said Jon M. Huntsman, who served as ambassador to China during Mr. Obama's first term. "As a businessman, Donald Trump is used to looking for leverage in any relationship. A President Trump is likely to see Taiwan as a useful leverage point."	"台湾即将成为美中关系的一个更加突出的重点。"奥巴马第一任期间的驻华大使洪博培(Jon M. Huntsman)说道。"作为商人,唐纳德·特朗普习惯于在任何关系中寻找杠杆。成为总统后,特朗普很可能把台湾看成是一个有用的杠杆点。"
In the short run, Mr. Trump has rattled the entire region. Representatives of several Asian countries contacted the White House on Saturday to express concern, according to a senior administration official.	短期来说,特朗普已经引发了整个地区的不安。据一位高级行政官员说,几个亚洲国家的代表上周六联系了白宫,对此事表达了担心。
In the longer term, officials in the Obama administration worry that the episode could not just ignite tensions across the Taiwan Strait but also inflame trade relations and embolden China in the South China Sea, where it has clashed with the Philippines, Vietnam and other neighbors over competing claims to reefs and shoals.	奥巴马政府的官员担心,从长远来看,这一事件不仅可能引发海峡两岸的紧张局势,而且还有可能激化贸易关系,导致中国在南海变得胆大妄为。对于南海的一些珊瑚礁和浅滩,中国与菲律宾、越南和其他邻国存在主权纷争。
Mr. Trump expressed no misgivings about taking the call from President Tsai Ing-wen, which was arranged beforehand. He bridled at suggestions that he had committed a faux pas, writing on Twitter on Friday evening that it was "interesting how the U.S. sells Taiwan billions of dollars of military equipment but I should not accept a congratulatory call."	特朗普对于接听蔡英文这通事先预约好的电话并没有表示疑虑。有人说此举是外交失仪,让他感到生气。周五晚上他在 Twitter 上写道,"有趣的是,美国卖给了台湾数十亿美元的军事装备,我却不应该接听贺电。"
Nor did Mr. Trump or his aides make a gesture to reaffirm the One China policy, much to the chagrin of the White House. It fell to a spokesman for the National Security Council to affirm that the United States was not changing the policy. Under that policy, the United States formally recognized the People's Republic of China in 1979, abrogating	特朗普及其助手也没有做出姿态,重申"一个中国"的政策,这令白宫感到恼火。国家安全委员会的一位发言人声称,美国没有改变相关政策。根据这项政策,美国在 1979 年正式承认了中华人民共和国,结束与台湾的外交关系,当时的中国领导人邓小平试图振兴中国的经济,与西方建立更加密切的关系。

its ties with Taiwan, as the Chinese leader, Deng Xiaoping, sought to bolster China's economy and create closer ties to the West.
Whether Mr. Trump views the call as the beginning of a change in approach toward Taiwan is not clear. A person close to him insisted that he was just being polite in taking Ms. Tsai's call.	目前还不清楚特朗普是否把这通电话看成是改变对台态度的开端。他身边的人坚称他接蔡英文电话只是出于礼貌。
Among hard-line Republicans, there has always been a push to confront China by reaching out to Taiwan. In a statement on Friday, Senator Tom Cotton, the Arkansas Republican who was briefly believed to be a candidate for Mr. Trump's defense secretary, praised him for taking the call, saying it "reaffirms our commitment to the only democracy on Chinese soil."	在共和党强硬派中，一直有人试图通过和台湾接触的方式来对抗中国。曾被短暂视为特朗普国防部长人选的阿肯色州共和党参议员汤姆·科顿(Tom Cotton)在周五的一份声明中，称赞他接听这个电话，说这“重申了我们对中国土地上唯一一个民主制度的承诺”。
President Ronald Reagan antagonized China by inviting a delegation from Taiwan to his inauguration. Aides to President George W. Bush pressed him to take a more confrontational approach with China until the attacks of Sept. 11 reordered his priorities, increasing the need for him to cultivate China on counterterrorism and other issues.	罗纳德·里根(Ronald Reagan)总统曾邀请台湾代表团参加其就职典礼，引起中国的反弹。小布什(George W. Bush)的助手敦促他对中国采取更具对抗性的态度，后来 9·11 事件发生，打乱了他的优先事项顺序，同时增加了他在反恐等问题上和中国拉近关系的需求。
Tensions over Taiwan peaked under a Democratic president, Bill Clinton, who in March 1996 ordered two aircraft carrier battle groups into the Taiwan Strait after China conducted missile tests to intimidate the island.	民主党总统比尔·克林顿(Bill Clinton)在任期间，台海局势紧张达到了巅峰。当时中国用导弹试验来恫吓台湾岛，1996年3月克林顿将两个航空母舰战斗群派到了台湾海峡。
For some China experts, shaking up the cross-strait relationship would not be the worst thing in the world. "We have had a status quo of sorts in the Taiwan Strait that has kept the peace, but it recently has not looked all that durable, nor was it very agreeable to most citizens of democratic Taiwan," said Orville Schell, the director of the Center on	在一些中国问题专家看来，两岸关系受到撼动并不是世界上最糟糕的事情。“一直以来，让和平得以继续的是台湾海峡在某种程度上保持现状，但这种现状最近看似不那么容易继续了，也不太能让实行民主制的台湾地区的大多数民众满意，”亚洲协会美中关系中心(Center on U.S.-China Relations at the Asia Society)主任夏伟(Orville Schell)说。

U.S.-China Relations at the Asia Society.
"Whether a new kind of Trumpian brinkmanship will now cause China to reconsider its hard-line position towards Taiwan, or to respond in a dangerous and militant way, remains to be seen," he said.	"一种新出炉的特朗普式边缘政策是会导致中国重新考虑自己对台湾的强硬立场，还是会引得它以危险、激进的方式做出回应，目前还有待观察，"他说。
Mr. Trump spoke harshly about China before and during the campaign, accusing it of concocting climate change as a hoax to undercut American manufacturers, branding it a currency manipulator (when it in fact is trying to prop its currency up), and threatening to impose a 45 percent tariff on Chinese goods. And Mr. Trump's trade advisers have also advocated punitive responses to what they portray as unfair Chinese actions.	特朗普在竞选前和竞选期间曾严厉地批评中国，指责它为了削弱美国的制造业而炮制出气候变化的骗局，给它贴上货币操纵国的标签（虽然事实上它目前正竭力为本国货币提供支撑），还扬言要对进口自中国的商品征收45%的关税。此外，特朗普的贸易顾问也声称中国的做法是不公平的，主张对其予以惩戒。
A few days after he was elected, however, Mr. Trump spoke with China's president, Mr. Xi, and released a statement afterward that said the two men had a "clear sense of mutual respect."	不过，特朗普在当选数日后和中国国家主席习近平通了话，随后发表声明称，两人“对相互尊重有着清晰的认识”。
Taiwan is also likely to seek a closer relationship with the United States. After many years under a Kuomintang government, which pursued closer ties with China, Taiwan elected Ms. Tsai as its second president from the pro-independence Democratic Progressive Party. Analysts said that Ms. Tsai, though not a firebrand, was seeking to diversify Taiwan's economic partners and carve out more space for it in international affairs.	台湾也有可能寻求与美国建立更密切的关系。在寻求和中国大陆建立更密切关系的国民党政府执行多年后，蔡英文当选为台湾总统，她是第二位来自赞成独立的民进党的总统。分析人士称，蔡英文虽然并非一个到处煽风点火的人物，但她正致力于让台湾的经济伙伴多元化，并为其拓展参与国际事务的空间。
"Tsai Ing-wen was pretty shrewd in making the call in the first place," Mr. Huntsman said.	"蔡英文打这个电话绝对是非常精明的做法，"夏伟说。
There are also lingering questions about Mr. Trump's business dealings in Taiwan. The news media there has reported that the Trump	但围绕特朗普和台湾的生意往来，还存在一些挥之不去的疑问。据台湾媒体报道，特朗普集团(Trump Organization)派了一名代表到台湾考察，看是否

Organization sent a representative to Taiwan to explore building a luxury hotel in a government-backed development near Taipei's airport.	可以在台北的机场附近一个得到政府支持的开发区内建设豪华酒店。
The Trump Organization does not dispute that one of its employees — assigned to promote hotel sales related to Asia — was in Taipei, the capital, in October for a work-related visit. The duties of the executive, Anne-Marie Donoghue, include trying to find guests for the company's hotels worldwide, and she is not involved in developing new real estate projects for Trump Hotels.	特朗普集团并未否认，负责向亚洲推销其酒店业务的相关人员曾于今年10月在台北出差。这名管理人员名叫安妮-玛丽·唐纳修(Anne-Marie Donoghue)，职责包括竭力为该集团在世界各地的酒店寻找客人等，但目前并未参与特朗普酒店集团(Trump Hotels)新的房地产开发项目。
Separately, the mayor of Taoyuan, where Taiwan's main airport is, told reporters in Taiwan last month that he had spoken in September with what appears to have been a different woman who suggested that she was associated with the Trump Organization and that the group was interested in discussing a hotel project. The mayor, Cheng Wen-tsan, did not respond Saturday to a request for comment.	另一方面，台湾大型机场所在地桃园市的市长于9月告诉台湾记者，他和另一个自称与特朗普集团有关的女人交谈过，该集团有意就一个酒店项目进行讨论。上周六，这位名叫郑文灿的市长没有回应置评请求。
In a statement on Friday, Amanda Miller, the vice president for marketing at the Trump Organization, disputed that the company was pursuing any real estate deals in Taiwan. "There have been no authorized visits to Taiwan on behalf of Trump Hotels for the purposes of development, nor are there any active conversations," she said. "We are not planning any expansion into Taiwan."	上周五，特朗普集团负责营销的副总裁阿曼达·里奇曼(Amanda Richman)在一份声明中否认该集团正寻求在台湾展开任何房地产项目。“未授权任何人代表特朗普酒店对台湾进行以房地产开发为目的访问，也不存在任何仍在展开的对话，”她说。“我们目前没有进军台湾的打算。”
For the Chinese government, as for many other governments around the world, Mr. Trump's freewheeling diplomacy poses a challenge. At first, China's foreign minister, Wang Yi, played down the episode, saying it was a "petty action by the Taiwan side" that would not upset the longstanding policy of One China.	对中国政府来说，特朗普自由随意的外交策略带来了挑战，对其他许多国家的政府来说也是如此。起初，中国外交部长王毅淡化了此事的意义，说它是“台湾方面的一个小动作”，改变不了美国多年来奉行的一个中国的政策。

But hours later, the Chinese Foreign Ministry lodged a formal complaint with the Obama administration. It urged the United States to "handle issues related to Taiwan carefully and properly to avoid causing unnecessary interference to the overall U.S.-China relationship."	但几个小时后，中国外交部正式向奥巴马政府表达了不满。它敦促美国“谨慎、妥善处理涉台问题，以免中美关系大局受到不必要的干扰”。
David Shambaugh, the director of the China policy program at George Washington University, said Beijing's measured response made sense. But he said that if the Trump administration took more concrete steps to change time-tested ways of dealing with Taiwan, "they can expect additional pushback from China."	乔治·华盛顿大学(George Washington University)中国政策研究项目主任沈大伟(David Shambaugh)说，北京作出有分寸的回应是说得通的。但他表示，如果特朗普政府采取更为切实的举措，改变经受住了时间考验的处理台湾问题的方式，“可能会招致来自中国的更多反弹”。

Hong Kong Government Seeks to Remove 4 More Lawmakers From Office	香港议员风波再升级：港府要求取消另外4人资格

The pro-Beijing government of Hong Kong filed papers in court arguing that the four lawmakers were ineligible to serve in the 70-member Legislative Council because they had failed to deliver their oaths as set out in Hong Kong law that was strictly prescribed by the National People's Congress in China early last month, the government said in a statement.	亲北京的香港政府在一份声明中说道，港府向法院提交文件，称这四名立法会议员没有资格进入70席的立法会，因为他们没有按照香港法律规定的方式宣誓，这是全国人民代表大会在上月初严格要求的。

That autonomy includes civil liberties like freedom of speech, an independent court system and a legislature in which half the seats are filled through popular elections.	这种自主权包括言论自由等公民自由、独立的法院体系，以及一半席位通过普选产生的立法机构。
"This is a coup, it's a challenge to voters' choice," James To, a veteran Democratic Party legislator, said at a protest outside the legislature building immediately after the announcement. "This is the greatest challenge Hong Kong has ever faced."	"这其实是一场政变，要挑战选民的选择，"民主党资深议员涂谨申(James To)听说这项声明后立即到立法机关外面抗议。"这次是香港面对最大的挑战。"
On Oct. 12, two recently elected politicians, Yau Wai-ching and Sixtus Leung, inserted an anti-China snub into their oaths of office, with both swearing allegiance to the "Hong Kong nation" and Ms. Yau adding an obscenity in English.	10月12日，两名新当选的政界人士游蕙祯(Yau Wai-ching)和梁颂恒(Sixtus Leung)在宣誓的时候加入反华内容，宣誓效忠于"香港民族"，游蕙祯还夹带了英语脏词。
Their oaths were rejected by the Hong Kong legislature, and Beijing followed on Nov. 7 with a ruling that established very narrow guidelines for how lawmakers could take their oaths.	他们的誓言被香港立法会拒绝，北京在11月7日做出了一项裁定，为立法者如何宣誓制定了非常严格的标准。
A court ruled that Ms. Yau and Mr. Leung must vacate their offices, a judgment upheld on appeal.	法院裁定游蕙祯和梁颂恒必须离职，这项裁决在上诉后被维持。
But Friday's move by the government seeks to disqualify four lawmakers whose oaths had been accepted, and who are now in office. One, Nathan Law, 23, a leader of the 2014 pro-democracy protests and the youngest person ever to serve in the Legislative Council, prefaced his oath by saying that he would never be loyal to a "regime that murders its own people."	23岁的罗冠聪(Nathan Law)是2014年民主抗议活动的领导者,也是立法会历史上最小的当选议员,他在宣誓的时候表示,自己永远不能忠于“残杀人民的政权”。

The fourth legislator named in the government suit, Edward Yiu, ended his oath of office by saying that he would fight for "genuine universal suffrage" and "sustainable development."	在政府诉讼案中提到的第四位立法会议员是姚松炎,他在宣誓的最后表示将为“真普选”和“可持续发展”而奋斗。
"The government stresses that the decision to initiate legal proceedings was purely a decision based on legal and implementation consideration, without any political consideration," the official statement said.	“特区政府强调,展开以上法律程序纯属法律和执法决定,并没有加入任何政治考虑。”官方声明中说。
Hong Kong's courts, unlike those in mainland China, are known for their independence. The government's case, filed as courts were about to close for the weekend on Friday afternoon, is by no means guaranteed to prevail.	香港法院与中国大陆不同,以独立而闻名。政府的这个案子是在法院周五下午即将闭庭休周末的时候提交的,现在无法保证政府会胜诉。
The lawmakers' oaths were validated by the secretary of the Legislative Council weeks before Beijing's ruling.	立法会秘书处在北京做出裁决的几周前接受了这些议员的宣誓。

what kind of oaths would be considered “insincere,” the South China Morning Post reported.

But Michael Tien, a pro-Beijing lawmaker who is also a member of the National People’s Congress, effectively a rubber-stamp Parliament, said in a text message Friday evening that it was his understanding that Beijing wanted to remove only Ms. Yau, Sixtus Leung and Ms. Lau, who had already been named by the government as a likely target.	但是，亲北京议员、橡皮图章议会——全国人民代表大会成员田北辰(Michael Tien)本周五晚上在一条短信中说，他的理解是，北京只想取消游蕙祯、梁颂恒和罗冠聪的议员资格，他们已经被政府列为了可能目标。
Mr. Tien said he suspected that the move against the three lawmakers was a way for the city’s top official, Leung Chun-ying, to burnish his credentials with Beijing before next year’s selection process for chief executive, his post. Mr. Leung can seek a second five-year term.	田北辰说，他怀疑针对这三位议员的行动，是香港最高领导人梁振英在明年选举行政长官职位之前向北京表示忠诚的方式。梁振英可能在寻求第二个五年任期。
Mr. Law echoed that sentiment.	罗冠聪回应了这种看法。
“This is so nakedly C. Y. Leung’s political operation, trying to overturn the election results in September, and part of his re-election campaign to prove his loyalty to the Chinese Communist Party with his heavy-handed governance,” he told reporters at the protest on Friday evening.	“绝对是赤裸裸梁振英的政治图谋，他想推翻9月立法会选举结果，亦借这空窗期中为他选举造势，希望向中共证明他是‘大治大乱’、有政治忠诚的特首候选人，”他周五晚上在参加抗议活动时告诉记者。

China Sees New Ambiguity With Donald Trump’s Taiwan Call	中国如何看待特朗普与蔡英文通话
BEIJING — China’s leaders have been markedly reticent about what kind of leader they think Donald J. Trump will be. A pragmatic	北京——中国领导人对他们认为唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)将会是一名什么样的领导人一直明显地保持缄默。他会如其商业背景可能所示的那

By talking on Friday with Taiwan's president, Tsai Ing-wen, Mr. Trump answered that question in stark terms, Chinese analysts said Saturday. Breaking decades of American diplomatic practice, he caught the Chinese government off guard by lunging into the most sensitive of its so-called core interests, the "One China" policy agreed to by President Richard M. Nixon more than four decades ago.	中国分析人士周六表示，特朗普周五与台湾总统蔡英文通话的做法，毫不掩饰地回答了这个问题。他打破了美国几十年的外交惯例，通过直戳中国所谓的核心利益中最敏感的“一个中国”问题，给中国政府来了个措手不及，理查德·尼克松(Richard M. Nixon)总统 40 多年前就承认了一个中国的政策。
"This is a wake-up call for Beijing — we should buckle up for a pretty rocky six months or year in the China-U.S. relationship," Wang Dong, an associate professor at the School of International Studies at Peking University, said Saturday. "There was a sort of delusion based on overly optimistic ideas about Trump. That should stop."	"这是给北京敲响了警钟，我们应该为中美关系出现六个月或一年的大颠簸做好准备，"北京大学国际关系学院副教授王栋周六说。"曾经有一种基于对特朗普过于乐观看法的妄想。这种妄想应该停止了。"
Chinese leaders covet stability in their relationship with Washington, and perhaps for that reason, they have allowed fairly rosy assessments of Mr. Trump to appear in the state-run news media. Many of those accounts have depicted the president-elect as a practical operator devoid of ideology, the kind of person China might find common ground with despite his threats of a trade war.	中国领导人在其与华盛顿的关系上渴望稳定性，也许由于这个原因，他们对官方新闻媒体上对特朗普相当美好的评价给予许可。许多这类文章把这位候任总统描述为完全没有意识形态的实际操作者，尽管他威胁要打贸易战，但中国也许能与他找到共同点。

A follow-up statement from the Foreign Ministry on Saturday, noting that the ministry had filed a formal complaint with the United States government, was similar in tone. It urged "relevant parties in the U.S." to "deal with the Taiwan issue in a prudent, proper manner."	中国外交部周六发表的一份后续声明用了相似的语调，指出已向美国政府提出正式交涉。外交部敦促“美国有关方面……谨慎、妥善处理涉台问题”。

China favored her opponent, Hung Hsiu-chu of the Kuomintang, which has sought closer ties with mainland China. A basic tenet of the Chinese government is that Taiwan, where Chiang Kai-shek's forces fled in 1949 after losing China's civil war, will be brought back into the fold. Mr. Trump's phone call also violated a longstanding principle of American policy: that the president does not speak to the head of Taiwan's government, despite selling arms to it. "Interesting how the US sells Taiwan billions of dollars of military equipment but I should not accept a congratulatory call," Mr. Trump said on Twitter after the stunned reaction to his conversation with Ms. Tsai.	特朗普的通话也违背了美国政策的一项长期原则：尽管美国向台湾出售武器，但总统不与台湾政府领导人通话。“真有意思，美国卖给台湾数十亿美元的军火，我却不该接受一个祝贺电话，”与蔡英文通话引起震惊反应之后，特朗普在 Twitter 上说。
Though Beijing vehemently protests the arms sales, it also warily acknowledges them as part of long-established practice. Since the mid-1990s, Washington has signaled to Taiwan that it will not support any military effort to gain independence from China.	虽然北京强烈抗议出售军火，但也谨慎地承认那是长期建立起来的惯例的一部分。自 20 世纪 90 年代中期以来，华盛顿已向台湾发出信号，表示不会支持任何争取从中国独立的军事行动。

Douglas H. Paal, a former director of the American Institute in Taiwan, which represents American interests there, said it would not be surprising if the United States sold arms to Taiwan early in the Trump administration. Beijing's reaction would depend on the price tag, the kinds of weapons sold and how the administration informed China of	在台湾代表美国利益的美国在台协会(American Institute in Taiwan)前任处长包道格(Douglas H. the sale, Mr. Paal said.
While it broke diplomatic precedent, Mr. Trump's conversation with Ms. Tsai could be seen in some ways as following a pattern of Republican presidents' reaching out to Taiwan, although others did not do so before taking office.	虽然打破了外交先例，但特朗普与蔡英文的通话，在某种程度上可以被看作是按照共和党总统对台湾表示兴趣的模式行事，但那些总统并没有在上任之前就这样做。
George W. Bush, for example, was vocal in his support of Taiwan early in his presidency, saying in a television interview that the United States would do "whatever it took" to defend it. His aides said afterward that the comment did not reflect a change in the One China policy. By the end of his second term, Mr. Bush had helped to strengthen trade ties between Beijing and Washington through the approval of China's entry into the World Trade Organization.	例如，乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)在担任总统的早期曾直言不讳地表示支持台湾，他在电视采访中说，美国会“采取任何行动”来捍卫台湾。他的助手在之后则表示，布什的言论并不反映“一个中国”政策的改变。等到布什的第二任期快结束的时候，他已经为加强北京与华盛顿之间的贸易关系提供了很大帮助，他同意让中国加入世界贸易组织。
Though Mr. Trump has received generally favorable coverage in the state news media, some Chinese analysts have expressed irritation with him, and some have suggested that his administration will offer China opportunities to show strength.	虽然官方新闻媒体对特朗普的报道一般都是正面的，但一些中国分析人士对他有点恼火，还有些人暗示，特朗普的政府将为中国展示实力提供机会。
Yan Xuetong, a professor of international relations at Tsinghua University and a foreign policy hawk, said the overall tenor of the China-United States relationship in the coming years would depend a great deal on the personal chemistry between Mr. Trump and Mr. Xi. He said China, with its growing military and the second-largest economy in the world, could largely afford to act as it liked. "China is increasingly resilient to the United States," he said.	清华大学国际关系教授阎学通在外交政策上属于鹰派，他说，中美关系在未来几年的总体气氛将在很大程度上取决于特朗普和习近平两人之间的关系。他说，随着军事力量的不断增长，作为世界第二大经济体的中国大体上能够想怎么做就怎么做。他说，“中国对美国的依赖越来越少。”

TAOYUAN, Taiwan — The fields are overgrown with weeds. Warehouses lie abandoned, their corrugated shells covered in rust. In the distance, an air base, where pilots once took off on reconnaissance missions over mainland China, is devoid of activity, its camouflaged hangars and guard towers symbols of a Cold War long over.	台湾桃园市——地上长满了荒草。仓库被废弃，皱巴巴的外壳布满铁锈。远处的一个空军基地——飞行员曾在那里起飞，前往中国大陆执行侦察任务——现在毫无生机，迷彩飞机库和警戒塔代表着一个早已远去的冷战时代。
This neglected area just south of Taiwan's biggest airport could use a complete makeover. And that is exactly what the local government has in mind. Described as the biggest development project in Taiwan's history, the multibillion-dollar Taoyuan Aerotropolis promises, in a video with a saccharine violin and harp soundtrack, a futuristic utopia of eco-friendly homes and thousands of technology jobs.	台湾最大机场以南的这片被遗忘的区域可能需要来个彻底整修。这正是当地政府的想法。这个需要数十亿美元的桃园航空城计划被称为台湾历史上最大规模的开发项目。在一个以甜美的小提琴和竖琴为背景音乐的视频中，它被描绘成一个未来主义乌托邦，将有环保住宅以及成千上万个科技工作机会。

She instead repeated in a statement that	周日，当被要求澄清该公司与陈思婷的关系以及是否了解她在台湾的活动时，米勒没有回答具体问题，只是再次声明表示，"我司没有在台湾授权任何代表我们品牌，以及以开发为目的的访问，目前也没有任何正在进行的对

there had been “no authorized visits to Taiwan on behalf of our brand for the purposes of development, nor are there any active conversations.”	话。”
The Sept. 8 meeting, and its confirmation in November, went largely unnoticed outside Taiwan until Friday, when Mr. Trump, the president-elect, received a congratulatory phone call from the island’s president, Tsai Ing-wen. The call is believed to have been the first conversation between a Taiwanese leader and a United States president or president-elect in close to four decades, and it threatens to upend the delicate United States-China relationship because Beijing views any communication with Taiwan’s leaders as an affront to its claim of sovereignty over the island.	9月8日的会谈以及11月的确认在台湾之外基本没有引起注意，直到周五，候任总统特朗普接到台湾总统蔡英文的祝贺电话。这次通话被认为是近40年来台湾领导人与美国总统或候任总统的首次通话，可能会颠覆美中之间的微妙关系，因为在北京看来，与台湾领导人的任何联络都是公然侵犯它对该岛的主权。
And even if it emerges that Ms. Chen was largely freelancing, and not acting on behalf of the Trump Organization, the perception of a possible business conflict in Taiwan further complicates the three-way relationship.	虽然后来发现，陈思婷当时主要是作为自由职业者而非特朗普集团代表行事，但是在台湾可能存在的商业冲突使得三边关系更为复杂。
Possible conflicts of interest for Mr. Trump as president have been documented around the world, including in Scotland, India, Brazil, the Philippines, Argentina and Turkey. But perhaps nowhere are the stakes quite as high as in Taiwan, because it involves ties between the United States and China, the countries with the world’s biggest economies and most powerful militaries.	特朗普作为总统可能引发的利益冲突已经在世界各地有所报道，包括在苏格兰、印度、巴西、菲律宾、阿根廷和土耳其。但是在哪里的风险都不像在台湾这么高，因为它涉及美中关系，这两个国家是世界上最大的经济体，拥有最强大的军事力量。
“Even if the phone call had not happened, once these business dealings came to light it would send a very confusing signal to Beijing,” said Marc Lanteigne, a senior research fellow at the Norwegian Institute of	“就算他们没有通话，一旦这些商业交易被曝光，将会向北京释放非常含混不清的信号，”挪威国际事务研究所(Norwegian Institute of International Affairs)专门研究中国安全问题的高级研究员兰马克(Marc Lanteigne)说。

International Affairs who focuses on Chinese security issues.
The business ties may undermine the near certainty that world leaders have had for many decades about some of the basic foundations of United States foreign policy, which has included the primacy of maintaining ties with China in a “very narrow framework,” said Shelley Rigger, a professor of political science at Davidson College in North Carolina who studies Taiwan-United States relations.	北卡罗来纳州戴维森学院(Davidson College)研究台湾美国关系的政治学教授任雪丽(Shelley Rigger)称, 这些商业联系可能会损害世界领导人数十年来对美国外交政策基本原则的一些近乎确定的看法, 包括在一个“很窄的框架内”保持与中国的联系这一首要原则。
“It is very worrisome not just for leaders in China but for leaders everywhere to think that there could be motivations driving U.S. foreign policy that they can’t, A, know about and, B, work out logically,” Professor Rigger said by telephone. “If the U.S. government is being influenced by some kind of parallel set of side deals and interests that are not the sort of mainstream U.S. foreign policy and national interest agenda, then no one is going to be able to predict anything.”	“中国以及世界各国的领导人会认为, 可能有些动机会促使美国出现他们无法了解并且无法从逻辑上推测的外交政策, 这令人非常不安,”任雪丽在接受电话采访时说。“如果美国政府受到某种不符合美国主流外交政策或国家利益计划的平行附带交易和利益的影响, 那么谁也无法做出任何预测。”
Adding to the complexity is the fact that the Taoyuan Aerotropolis is a government-run development project, and Ms. Tsai’s administration must give final approval for the complex plan, which involves removing many people from their homes, before construction can begin. Taoyuan is the center of a metropolitan area with over two million residents.	令情况更为复杂的是, 桃园航空城是政府操作的复杂开发计划, 必须最终得到蔡英文政府的批准。因为建设开始之前需要动迁安置大量居民。桃园是一个大都市区的中心, 有 200 多万居民。

Trump Call Gauged Positively, but Cautiously, in Taiwan	台湾民众看特朗普蔡英文通话：积极的谨慎
TAIPEI, Taiwan — What a difference a phone call makes.	台湾台北——一个电话可以让情况如此不同。
In Taiwan — rendered nearly invisible in global affairs by decades of accommodation to Chinese pressure — the reaction to the call between President Tsai Ing-wen of Taiwan and President-elect Donald J. Trump late last week has been broadly positive, if tinged with caution.	台湾民众对台湾总统蔡英文(Tsai Ing-wen)和美国候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)上周早些时候的通话的反应，即便带有一丝谨慎，总体上还是比较积极的。在中国数十年的压力下，台湾在全球事务中几乎被无视。
Ms. Tsai took office in May with a mandate to reduce Taiwan’s economic reliance and close political ties with Beijing.	今年5月，蔡英文带着一项任务就职，即减轻台湾对北京的经济依赖，削弱与之紧密的政治联系。
China claims Taiwan as its territory and threatens to use force if Taipei officially acknowledges its de facto sovereignty. At her inauguration, Ms. Tsai said she wanted to improve relations with China, while also deepening ties with the United States and Japan.	中国称台湾是其领土的一部分，威胁如果台湾正式承认自己事实上的主权，它将会动用武力。蔡英文在总统就职仪式上表示，她想改善与中国的关系，但同时也会加强台湾与美国和日本的关系。
Ms. Tsai has moved her party, the Democratic Progressive Party, away from its pro-independence roots to a more nuanced form of Taiwan nationalism. The party’s charter still features a clause advocating eventual official independence in the form of a Republic of Taiwan, although in July, Ms. Tsai proposed replacing the clause with language that favors maintaining the status quo.	蔡英文将她领导的民进党从主张独立的根源转向一种形式更为微妙的台湾民族主义。该党党章依然有一个条款主张最终以台湾共和国的形式取得正式独立，不过蔡英文在今年7月提议将这一条款改为主张维持现状的措辞。
On Sunday, Hung Hsiu-chu, the chairwoman of the opposition Nationalist party, or Kuomintang, said she was glad to learn of Mr. Trump’s support for Taiwan.	周日，反对党国民党的党主席洪秀柱(Hung Hsiu-chu)表示，得知特朗普对台湾表示支持，她感到很高兴。

"I am happy to see anything good for Taiwan," the KMT's website quoted Ms. Hung as saying.	"我乐见任何对台湾有利的事情，"国民党的网站援引洪秀柱的话表示。
Ms. Hung's comment was notable because she has previously advocated unification with China. Her party lost the presidency this year after eight years of moving closer to Beijing, which did not reduce its threat to Taiwan. China has more than 1,500 missiles pointed across the Taiwan Strait.	洪秀柱的评论值得注意，因为她之前一直主张与中国统一。她的政党在今年的总统大选中失利。此前八年，国民党一直在朝着与北京建立更紧密关系的方向努力，而后者并没有放松对台湾的威胁。中国有超过 1500 枚导弹瞄准台湾海峡对面。
In interviews in Taipei, the capital, on Monday, residents said they were pleased about the Trump-Tsai call.	周一在台湾首府台北，接受采访的民众表示，他们为特朗普和蔡英文的通话感到高兴。
"I think that for the majority of Taiwanese people, this is the happiest thing that's happened to us since 1978, before the U.S. broke off diplomatic relations," Hsieh Jin-ho, a publisher and commentator, said in a phone interview.	"我相信这是从 1978 年台美断交以来大部分台湾老百姓觉得最开心的一件事，"出版商兼评论员谢金河在接受电话采访时表示。
The United States formally recognized the People's Republic of China in 1979, abrogating its ties with Taiwan under the One China policy.	美国在 1979 年正式承认了中华人民共和国，并在一个中国的政策下切断了与台湾的外交关系。
Mr. Hsieh added that in general, Taiwanese were drawing two different conclusions about the call.	谢金河还表示，对于这个通话，台湾人大体得出了两种不同的结论。
"One conclusion is that Taiwan needs to seize this opportunity in order to upgrade to fuller relations with the U.S. and expand its international friendly relations," he said. "Another group of people fear that China's continually increasing pressure will grow even larger" and threaten Taiwan's future.	"一种认为是台湾需要抓住这个机会，与美国升级为更全面的关系，扩大自己在国际上的友好关系，"他说。"另一群人则担心来自中国日益增加的压力会进一步扩大"，威胁台湾的未来。
Speaking at her cafe in Taipei's Zhongshan district, Annie Hsieh, unrelated to Mr. Hsieh, smiled when asked about the Tsai-Trump call.	在被问到对蔡英文—特朗普通话的感受时，谢安妮（她和谢金河没有关联）在自己位于台北中山区的咖啡馆内笑了。

years that the Taiwanese president and American president-elect have spoken, I feel like it's major progress by the new government."	已经是 37 年前，会觉得这好像是新的政府很大的进步。”
Chen Hui-ling, a lawyer, praised Ms. Tsai, whose party controls Taiwan's presidency and legislature for the first time.	律师陈惠玲（Chen Hui-ling，音）称赞了蔡英文，后者领导的政党首次同时掌控了台湾的总统府和立法院。
"People who voted for the D.P.P. are paying attention to what it's doing," she said. "They're looking to see if it will do something courageous, something different from the past."	“投票给民进党的人真的也在看民进党会做什么，”她说。“会不会比较勇敢会不会做一些跟以前不一样的事情。”
Ms. Chen said she was struck by how most European lawyers she encountered on a recent business trip to London knew little about Taiwan.	陈惠玲表示，在最近一次去伦敦出差时，发现遇到的欧洲律师大多对台湾知之甚少。
"They really don't know where Taiwan is," she said. "They may have heard that there are some problems between Taiwan and China, but that's all they know."	“他们不知道台湾在哪里，真的，”她说。“他们大概也有听过台湾跟中国之间有什么问题，可他们不知道。”
Albert King, a fund manager, said the call was the main subject of conversation among his friends and associates.	基金经理金崇诚表示，这次通话是他的朋友和同事之间谈论的主要话题。
"I think all Taiwanese are happy to see the president-elect of the United States say it's O.K. to say 'president of Taiwan' or talk to the Taiwanese people as if we are a normal country," he said. "I don't know how Americans look at this, but I think the president-elect has won the hearts of us Taiwanese."	“我觉得所有台湾人都乐于见到美国当选总统说‘台湾总统’的叫法是没问题的，都乐于见到跟台湾人说话的时候把我们当成一个正常的国家，”他说。“我不知道美国人怎么看这个，但我觉得美国候任总统赢得了我们台湾人的心。”
Yet he also sounded a note of caution.	但他也流露出一丝谨慎。
"We all know from our history that international politics is about realpolitik," he said. "We have good faith, but we'll refrain from wishful thinking."	“我们从自己的历史上知道，国际政治就是现实政治，”他说。“我们有诚意，但会避免不切实际的幻想。”

"It's a long-awaited vindication of our denial by the world," Mr. King said of the Tsai-Trump call. "Even after we've achieved so much as a democracy, as a society, as an economy, we are not treated as equal to other countries."	"就世界对我们的否定而言，这是一个盼望已久的辩护，"金崇诚这样谈到蔡英文和特朗普的通话。"即使是在作为一个民主政体、一个社会和一个经济体取得如大的进步之后，我们依然不能像其他国家那样被平等对待。"
Although happy with Taiwan's moment in the sun, Jodie Lee, who works at an international nongovernmental organization in Taipei, is reluctant to place much faith in Mr. Trump.	在台北一家国际非政府组织工作的李宜荞虽然为台湾处在阳光下的时刻感到高兴，但不愿给予特朗普太大的信任。

China's Currency Didn't Really Drop, Despite Jitters Over Trump	人民币暴跌逾 8%? 其实是数据闹乌龙
HONG KONG — Donald J. Trump has irritated China even before taking office as president, with criticism of the country's trade and currency practices and an unprecedented phone call with the president of Taiwan.	香港——唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)在就任总统之前,就因为批评中国在贸易和货币上的做法,并打破先例与台湾总统通话,引发了中国的愤怒。
For a few hours on Tuesday, it looked to some as if China had struck back.	在周二的几个小时里,在有些人看来,中国好像已经做出了回击。
Data services widely available to the public showed that the country's currency, the renminbi, had been sharply devalued as China slept.	在中国的夜间,公众广泛使用的数据服务显示人民币出现了大幅贬值。
Such a move would roil global markets and drastically escalate economic tensions between Beijing and the incoming administration. And because China tightly controls the value of its currency, such a sharp and sudden move would be no accident.	此举将引起全球市场动荡,导致北京和新政府在经济上的紧张关系急剧升级。由于中国严格控制其货币的价值,这种突然的急剧升降似乎不会是无心之举。
But no deliberate devaluation took place. Instead, the culprit was a technical problem.	但实际上这不是人民币在故意贬值,而是一个技术问题造成的错误。
Concerns are already high that slowing economic growth and persistent capital outflows are putting pressure on Beijing to let its currency weaken.	由于经济增长放缓和持续的资本外流,北京承受着让人民币贬值的压力,这已经是业界的一个重大关注点。
The renminbi mainly trades onshore in China during normal business hours — and it does not trade overnight, when the supposedly big devaluation took place.	人民币通常是在正常营业时间内,在中国国内进行交易——不会在夜间交易,而这次“大贬值”正是发生在中国的晚上。
A basic Google search — and data published by XE.com, one of the world's most popular currency websites — appeared to show early Tuesday that the renminbi had suddenly fallen more than 8 percent.	在周二早些时候,来自谷歌搜索和XE.com(世界上最受欢迎的货币网站之一)的数据显示,人民币突然下挫逾 8%。

The data quickly drew attention from the news media. At a published value of around 7.48 per dollar, China's currency looked to have retreated in a flash to its weakest level since 2007.	这个数据迅速引起了新闻媒体的注意。如果汇率真的是每美元兑 7.48 元人民币，那么人民币的价值瞬间就退回到了 2007 年以来的最低水平。
Both Google Finance and XE appear to have used erroneous data. It was unclear what pricing sources were in play, but on Monday, ICAP, a foreign currency broker based in London, published errant quotes for renminbi-to-dollar exchange rates.	谷歌财经和 XE 似乎都使用了错误的数​​据。目前还不清楚其定价来源，但本周一，总部设在伦敦的外汇经纪商 ICAP 发布了错误的人民币兑美元汇率报价。
Detailed price data carried by Bloomberg and Reuters showed ICAP on Tuesday morning as quoting the renminbi at higher than 7.4 per dollar. The actual market rate at the time was about 6.86 per dollar.	彭博社和路透社公布的详细价格数据显示，ICAP 周二上午的报价一美元兑换超过 7.4 元人民币。而当时的实际市场汇率约为 6.86。
"Not a tradable price," said Stephen Innes, a senior currency trader at Oanda in Singapore, said of the conspicuously weak renminbi rate. "It looks like little more than an error."	"这是一个没法交易的价格，"新加坡的奥安达(Oanda)驻新加坡资深外汇交易员斯蒂芬·英尼斯(Stephen Innes)说，人民币的汇率明显疲软。"看上去是哪里出了错。"
ICAP, Google and XE did not immediately respond to requests for comment. XE updated its data after several hours to remove the anomalous quotes, but by late afternoon in Asia, Google had, too.	ICAP、谷歌和 XE 没有立即回应置评请求。XE 在几个小时后更新了数据，清除了这个异常，但直到亚洲时间的下午早些时候，谷歌才进行了更新。
The related rates for offshore renminbi, which trades around the clock, were unfazed on Tuesday.	本周二，全天交易的离岸人民币相关汇率未受影响。
Errant price quotes are not unheard-of in financial markets. A snag last month caused Google and XE to sharply overvalue the Bahraini dinar to the dollar, prompting corrections and an apology from XE.	在金融市场上，错误的报价并非没有先例。上月的一个故障导致谷歌和 XE 大幅高估巴林第纳尔兑美元汇率，后来 XE 迅速进行了更正并道歉。
Slowing economic growth is adding to expectations that the renminbi will weaken, prompting Beijing to clamp down on persistent capital outflows.	经济增长放缓提升了人们对人民币走弱的预期，促使北京对资本持续外流采取遏制措施。
And Mr. Trump's frequent criticisms of China's currency policies —	特朗普经常批评中国的货币政策——尽管他的说法不符合现实已经发生的变

despite being outdated or sometimes incorrect — have heightened concerns about the value of the renminbi.	化，有时还是错的——此举加剧了业界对人民币价值的担忧。
Over the weekend, Mr. Trump departed from American policy by taking a phone call from Taiwan's president, a measure that could signal he intends to broadly redefine his nation's relationship with China.	上周末，特朗普偏离美国政策，接听了台湾总统的电话，此举可能表明他打算全面重新定义美国与中国的关系。
Mr. Trump took to Twitter on Sunday to reiterate his criticism of Beijing's currency policy, saying: "Did China ask us if it was OK to devalue their currency?"	特朗普周日在 Twitter 上重申了他对北京货币政策的批评，说：“中国让他们的货币贬值，征求过我们的意见了吗？”
Hours later, the seemingly sudden drop in the renminbi appeared to some like a direct retaliation.	数十个小时后人民币就突然出现暴跌，这似乎有点像是直接报复。
"What is interesting is how plausible the world found this scenario, like just waiting for the shoe to drop," said Christopher Balding, an associate professor of finance at the Peking University HSBC School of Business in Shenzhen, China.	位于深圳的北京大学汇丰商学院金融副教授克里斯托弗·鲍尔丁 (Christopher Balding) 说：“有趣的是，大家觉得这种情况非常合理，就好像是在等待另一只鞋掉下来一样。”
Mr. Balding cited the downward pressures that have been building on the Chinese currency in the face of outflows, as citizens and companies rush to get their renminbi offshore and convert it into more international currencies, like the dollar.	鲍尔丁指出，一些个人和公司急于将离岸人民币转换成更为国际化的货币，比如美元等等，这种资本外流让中国货币面临着下行压力。
"Trump just exacerbates all these things, raising the nervousness of an already jittery situation," he said.	“特朗普只是放大了这些事情，让一个已经紧张的状况变得更加紧张，”他说。

Top Chinese Financier Pleads Guilty to Insider Trading	“私募一哥”徐翔认罪，承认幕后操纵股价
SHANGHAI — One of China's best-known financiers, sometimes called his country's equivalent to Carl C. Icahn, has pleaded guilty to insider	上海——在一起案件的审判中，中国最知名的金融家——有时被称为中国的卡尔·C·伊坎(Carl C. Icahn)——承认进行内幕交易和操纵股价。此案是更大

trading and stock price manipulation, in a case that forms part of a broader nationwide push against financial improprieties.	范围打击金融违规行为全国行动的一部分。
The guilty plea, announced by a Chinese court on Tuesday, comes in a prosecution that began with a memorable arrest. On Nov. 1 last year, Chinese police officers sealed off the 22-mile Hangzhou Bay Bridge, one of the world's longest, for half an hour before finding and detaining the financier, Xu Xiang, who was driving home from his grandmother's 100th birthday party.	中国的一家法院周二宣布了他的认罪, 这项起诉始于一场给人留下深刻印象的逮捕行动。去年11月1日, 中国警方将22英里(约合36公里)长的杭州湾跨海大桥——世界上最长的大桥之一——封锁了半个小时之后, 找到金融家徐翔并将其扣留。后者刚从祖母的百岁生日宴上离开, 正驱车返回家中。
The plea follows a series of signals from China's leaders that they are stepping up investigations of financial improprieties. Allegations of such activities are central to three big campaigns now underway in China.	在该认罪发生之前, 中国领导层释放了一系列信号, 表明他们正在加强对金融违规行为的调查。对这类活动的指控是中国目前正在展开的三大运动的核心。
They include an anticorruption drive that has already led to the arrest of more than 100,000 officials; a push to clean up financial markets after last year's stock market crash that has produced a series of investigations of traders, executives and regulators; and an effort to slow or halt large outflows of money from China through illegal or semi-legal channels.	它们包括一场已经导致10万多名官员被捕的反腐运动; 在去年股市崩盘后开始的金融市场整顿行动, 引发对交易员、高管和监管人员的一连串调查; 减少或遏制中国资金通过非法或半合法渠道大量外流的情况。
Steve Vickers, a political risk consultant in Hong Kong, predicted that Mr. Xu's court case would prove a harbinger of other financial prosecutions. "I would think you'll see a whole series of cases," he said.	据香港的政治风险顾问韦启贤(Steve Vickers)预测, 徐翔的诉讼案件将被证明是其他金融指控的前兆。“我认为你将看到一连串的案件,”他说。
Mr. Xu, sometimes nicknamed Big Xu, was the reclusive owner of Zexi Investment, a Shanghai-based firm with financial results that far outperformed its rivals during the years up to and even after China's stock market bubble burst in the summer of 2015. He has been likened to Mr. Icahn for his vigorous assertion of minority shareholder rights.	人称“大徐”的徐翔为人低调, 是上海泽熙投资的所有人。在形成中国股市泡沫的多年时间里, 它的财务业绩一直远超自己的对手, 甚至在泡沫于2015年夏破裂之后依然如此。因为坚决维护少数股东权益, 他被拿来与伊坎作比较。

The Shanghai-based Hurun Report, a monthly magazine that tracks the wealth of China's richest people, estimated last year that Mr. Xu and his relatives were worth $2.2 billion. Mr. Xu was a celebrity investor when share prices were more than doubling from late 2014 through mid-June of last year, drawing in millions of novice investors who then lost their savings in the ensuing crash.	据上海追踪中国最富裕人群财富状况的月刊《胡润百富》(Hurun Report)在去年估计,徐翔家族的财富达到了22亿美元。当股价从2014年末至去年6月中旬翻了不止一倍时,徐翔是一位知名投资人。这波暴涨吸引数百万新手投资者入市,他们在随之而来的市场崩盘中失去了自己的积蓄。
Share prices eventually stabilized at a little more than half their peak, but only after the Chinese government poured tens of billions of dollars into buying large blocks of shares in many of the country's biggest and most liquid stocks. The market intervention partly undid the government's efforts in previous years to privatize part of its huge holdings of large Chinese enterprises.	股价最终稳定在峰值水平的一半多一点,但那是在中国政府投入数百亿美元的资金,大量买进许多中国最大和最具流动性的股票之后。市场干预在一定程度上毁掉了政府之前几年对它持有的大量中国大企业股份进行私有化的努力。
The debacle drew angry calls on social media for the authorities to investigate prominent traders, especially those like Mr. Xu who seemed to have avoided losses.	这次股市崩盘在社交媒体上引发愤怒的呼声,要求当局对知名交易员,尤其是徐翔这类似乎免于损失的交易员进行调查。
Zexi Investment has largely ceased to function. The Chinese State Administration for Industry and Commerce says on its website that the firm has been in a state of "abnormal management" since Nov. 5 last year, four days after Mr. Xu's arrest. While Zexi still has a website, it shows a phone number that has been disconnected.	泽熙投资大体已经停止运营。中国国家工商行政管理总局在其网站上表示,自去年11月5日以来,也就徐翔被捕四天后,这家公司一直处于“异常管理”状态。尽管泽熙依然有一个网站,但上面显示的电话号码已无法接通。
The Intermediate People's Court in the coastal city of Qingdao, in eastern China, which has handled Mr. Xu's case, said it had not decided whether to accept the plea, the next step in the legal process. State-controlled news media have said that Mr. Xu could receive up to a decade in prison if the guilty plea is endorsed.	负责审理徐翔案件的东部沿海城市青岛的中级人民法院表示,它还没有决定是否接受徐翔的认罪,这是这项法律程序的下一步。由政府控制的新闻机构表示,如果认罪被接受,徐翔最高可能被处以10年的刑期。

The court's statement said that it had heard evidence that Mr. Xu had helped set up and secretly control about 100 securities accounts. They were mostly registered in the names of friends, employees and relatives, and Mr. Xu received a portion of the profits from the coordinated trading of the accounts, the court said.	法院的声明称，它听取了徐翔协助建立和暗中控制约 100 个证券账户的证词。法院表示，这些账户大多是以朋友、员工和亲属的名字建立，徐翔通过协调这些账户的交易而获取了一部分利润。
Mr. Xu also profited from conspiring with top executives at 13 companies to control the timing and content of favorable corporate announcements, the court said. Two co-defendants with Mr. Xu also pleaded guilty.	法院表示，徐翔获利的途径还包括与 13 家公司的高管合谋，控制公司利好信息发布的内容和时机。徐翔的两名同案被告也认了罪。
According to Chinese news media, Mr. Xu's legal representative in the case was Qian Lieyang, one of China's most famous lawyers for prominent and politically connected defendants. Mr. Qian said that he would not comment before the court decided whether to accept the plea.	据中国新闻媒体报道，徐翔的案件代理人是钱列阳，他是中国为名噪一时的或有政治关联的被告进行辩护的名律师之一。钱列阳表示，在法院决定是否接受认罪之前，他不予置评。

Iowa Exports Soybeans to China, So Why Not a Whole Farm?	“中美友谊农场”能否缓和两国紧张关系？
BEIJING — Iowa's governor, Terry Branstad, hopes to be America's next ambassador to China, and if he is confirmed as President-elect Donald J. Trump's envoy in Beijing, his new home there may be just three hours' drive from a transplanted patch of his home state.	北京——有望成为美国下任驻华大使的艾奥瓦州州长特里·布兰斯塔德(Terry Branstad)一旦被国会确认为候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普派往北京的使者的话，他在北京的新家距离从其老家移植到这里的一块土地，可能只有三小时的车程。
Plans are afoot to build a "model farm" in northern China inspired by one in Iowa that Xi Jinping visited in early 2012, before he became China's president. The idea has highlighted Mr. Xi's peculiarly long relationship with the Midwestern state and with Mr. Branstad, who was Iowa's governor from 1983 to 1999 and then returned to office in 2011.	在中国北方建立一个“示范农场”的计划正在进行中，这一想法源于习近平曾于 2012 年访问艾奥瓦州时参观的一家农场，当时他还未成为国家主席。“示范农场”的想法突显了习近平与这个美国中西部州以及布兰斯塔德间不寻常的长期关系，布兰斯塔德曾在 1983 年到 1999 年间担任艾奥瓦州州长，后在 2011 年再次当选。

The farm is still just a proposal, according to Chinese officials and Iowans involved in the discussions. But in a few years visitors to Chengde, in Hebei Province, may be able to stop at an Iowa-style farm, perhaps even including a replica of the home that Mr. Xi visited. And these days, anywhere that Mr. Xi visits has official pulling power in China.	据中国官员和参与讨论的艾奥瓦州人说，示范农场目前仍只是一个提案。但几年后，去河北省承德市旅游的人或许能在一个具有艾奥瓦州风格的农场逗留，那里也许甚至会有一个习近平参观过的住家的复制品。这些日子里，习近平访问过的所有地方在中国都有官方吸引力。
"There is a strong desire, somewhat, to retrace President Xi's footsteps and also to understand how we do things, because President Xi has held us up as an example," Grant Kimberley, whose parents' farm in Iowa hosted Mr. Xi and inspired the proposed model, said in a telephone interview. "I'm sure it's a motivation for the project."	"在某种程度上，有一种回溯习主席脚步、了解我们的做法的强烈愿望，因为习主席把我们树立为了榜样，"格兰特·金伯利(Grant Kimberley)在接受电话采访时说，他父母在艾奥瓦州的农场曾接待过习近平，并启发了拟建的示范农场。"我相信这是该项目的一个动机。"
As well as considering building a copy of the Kimberleys' family farm, Chinese officials may "even recreate a Midwestern community, and make it almost a tourist area," said Mr. Kimberley, who is director of market development for the Iowa Soybean Association.	金伯利是艾奥瓦州大豆协会的市场开发总监，他说，除了考虑仿照金伯利家的农场建一个复制品外，中国的官员们也许"甚至要再造一个中西部社区出来，差不多要把它变成一个旅游区"。
The proposed project would cover 1,000 acres, with about a third of the area for the model farm. It would show off modern, mechanized agriculture in China, which is grappling with how to turn its fragmented farms into more efficient family operations that can feed almost 1.4 billion people while raising rural incomes.	拟建项目占地约 6000 亩，其中约三分之一的面积将作为示范农场。它为中国展示现代化的机械农业，而中国所面临的一个问题正是如何将零散的农场变成能养活近 14 亿人口的、更有效的家庭作业，同时提高农村的收入。
But the proposal also shows how Mr. Xi's ties to rural Iowa have become a symbolic salve, used by both the Chinese government and now the incoming Trump administration to soften tensions with folksy good will. Mr. Trump has in recent days turned to Twitter to jab at the Chinese government over Taiwan, the South China Sea and trade	但是，拟建的示范农场也显示了习近平与艾奥瓦州农村的关系，是如何变成了一种具有象征性的事物的，成了中国政府以及目前正在组阁的特朗普政府用民间善意来缓和紧张关系的万金油。特朗普最近几天使用 Twitter，在台湾、南海和贸易摩擦等问题上直戳中国政府。 frictions.

After Mr. Trump proposed him as his ambassador on Wednesday, Mr. Branstad emphasized his ties with Mr. Xi, which go back over three decades, when Mr. Xi visited Iowa as an obscure county official in Hebei.	特朗普在周三宣布布兰斯塔特为其驻华大使人选后，布兰斯塔特强调了自己与习近平的关系，这种关系可追溯到三十年前，即习近平作为河北省一位名不见经传的县城官员访问艾奥瓦州的那年。
“During our 30-year friendship, President Xi Jinping and I have developed a respect and admiration for each other, our people and our cultures,” Mr. Branstad said in comments on the Iowa governor’s website. “The president-elect understands my unique relationship to China.”	“在我们 30 年的友谊中，习近平主席和我对彼此，以及两国的人民和文化产生了尊重和敬佩，”布兰斯塔德在艾奥瓦州州长网站上评论说。“候任总统明白我与中国之间的独特关系。”
At a rally in Des Moines on Thursday, Mr. Trump suggested that Mr. Branstad’s connections with China made him the right person to deliver tough demands in Beijing on rebalancing trade, subduing North Korea and other contentious issues.	周四在得梅因举行的一次集会上，特朗普表示，布兰斯塔德与中国的联系令他成为一个适当的人选，可以在北京就重新平衡贸易、压制朝鲜以及其他有争议的问题提出强硬要求。
“They haven’t played by the rules, and they know it’s time that they’re going to change,” Mr. Trump said of China. He also suggested, without evidence, that Mr. Branstad had identified Mr. Xi as China’s future leader many years ago.	“他们没有遵守规则，他们知道现在是时候改变做法了，”特朗普提到中国时说。他还毫无根据地表示，布兰斯塔德多年前就认定习近平会成为中国的领导人。
Back in 1985, Mr. Xi led a small delegation of Chinese officials to Iowa to study farming. He briefly met Mr. Branstad, then in his first stint as governor, and stayed for a couple of nights with a family in Muscatine, a small city in the rural eastern part of the state.	1985 年，布兰斯塔德第一次担任州长期间，习近平率领一个中国官员代表团到艾奥瓦州考察农业状况。他和布兰斯塔德进行了简短会面，并在位于该州东部农村的小城马斯喀特的一户人家住了几个晚上。
In 2012, as China’s vice president and national leader-in-waiting, Mr. Xi returned to Iowa and visited the farm of Rick and Martha Kimberley in Maxwell, about 25 miles northeast of Des Moines, where they grow	2012 年，作为中国副主席和主席职位接任者，习近平再次回到艾奥瓦，在德梅因东北约 25 英里（约合 40 公里）的马克斯韦尔参观了瑞克与马莎金伯利农场(Rick and Martha Kimberley)，那里种植着 4000 英亩（约合 1619

soybeans and corn on 4,000 acres.	公顷)的大豆和玉米。
More than 25 percent of the American soybean harvest is exported to China, and Iowa is a major producer. Mr. Xi wanted to understand how the farm worked and asked about equipment, storage and marketing, said Grant Kimberley, who was there for the visit, as was Mr. Branstad.	美国出产的大豆逾25%出口到了中国,艾奥瓦州是主要生产州。当时和布兰斯塔德一起接待访问的格兰特·金伯利(Grant Kimberley)说,习近平想了解农场的经营方式,以及设备、储存和营销方面的情况。
"He sees agriculture could be like the ballast of the relationship," said Mr. Kimberley, paraphrasing something that Mr. Xi said on his visit to the Kimberleys' farm.	"他认为农业可以是中美关系的稳定力量,"金伯利对习近平在访问金伯利家的农场时所说的话进行了解释。
The Des Moines Register first reported on the plan for the model farm last month during Mr. Branstad's most recent visit to China to promote trade. Preliminary agreements were signed then by the local government in Chengde, a company representing the Kimberleys and Iowan supporters, and a Chinese bank that may provide funding.	在布兰斯塔德近期为了促进贸易而访问中国期间,《得梅因纪事报》(The Des Moines Register)上个月率先报道了布兰斯塔德的示范农场计划。当时承德政府、一个代表金伯利家和艾奥瓦支持者的公司,以及一家可能提供资金的中方银行签署了初步协议。
But there are many details about what will be on the proposed farm that need to be ironed out, and the idea of cloning the Kimberleys' brick ranch-style home remains just an idea, said Kim Heidemann, the executive director of the Iowa Sister States organization, which helps oversee the state's relationship with Hebei Province.	但是,拟建的农场还有很多细节需要理顺,"艾奥瓦姐妹州(Iowa Sister States)"负责帮助管理该州与河北省的关系,其执行董事金·海德曼(Kim Heidemann)说,复制金伯利的牧场式砖墙住宅仍然只是一个想法。
"I am unsure if that will actually happen," she said about the replica home. "But of course the machinery, grain bins, et cetera, will for sure be built. This will be a working farm that will showcase the way that Iowans farm."	"我不确定这是否会真的发生,"她谈到复制住宅的想法时说。"但当然,机械、谷物仓等等肯定会修建。这将是一个可以运作的农场,可以展示艾奥瓦农场的经营方式。"
The government in Chengde is arranging investments for the project. And if the money and approvals come through, construction could start as soon as next year, said Mr. Kimberley, whose parents have visited	承德政府正在为该项目安排投资。金伯利表示,如果能获得资金和批准,明年就可以开始施工;金伯利的父母曾前往承德讨论计划和考察选址。

Chengde to discuss the plan and scout sites.
But replicating even a little patch of Iowa could be tricky. In China, farmland is in theory collectively owned by villages but effectively controlled by the government, and farmers hold leases over patches of land. Some may have to give up land to make way for the model farm.	但是，哪怕只是复制一小块艾奥瓦农场可能也会很棘手。在中国，农田理论上是由村庄集体所有，但实际上是由政府控制，农民需要租赁小块土地来经营。有些人可能不得不为示范农场腾出土地。
"The farmers in the area will be a part of the operation," Ms. Heidemann said.	"该地区的农民将是这个行动的一部分，"海德曼说。
Still, officials in Hebei appeared gung-ho about what they call the "Sino-American Friendship Model Farm."	不过，河北的官员们对这个"中美友谊示范农场"项目却表现得很积极。
"The model farm will introduce advanced crop varieties, farming equipment and techniques from Iowa," Ye Changqing, an official who helps deal with Hebei's foreign ties, said at a meeting in July to discuss the plans. "The farm will invite American farmers to run and manage it."	"建设中美友谊农场项目可以引进艾奥瓦州最优良的农作物品种、现代农业生产技术和设备，"帮助处理河北外交事宜的叶长青在7月的一次会议上讨论这些计划时说。"农场将邀请美国农民经营和管理它。"
For Chinese officials, the plan also seems to be an unmistakable act of homage to Mr. Xi, a powerful leader whose image is jealously guarded. Since Mr. Xi visited the Kimberleys, many other Chinese officials have made their way there.	对于中国官员来说，这个计划毫无疑问也是对习近平表达效忠的方式，他是一个强势的领导者，他的形象得到了小心翼翼的捍卫。自习近平访问金伯利家的农场之后，中国已经有很多官员去过那里。
"I would say that we have a couple of Chinese government or business representatives coming to our farm every month," Grant Kimberley said.	"每个月都有几个中国政府或商务代表团来我们的农场，"格兰特·金伯利说。

If Donald Trump Pushes on Taiwan, How China Could Push Back	特朗普挑战"一中"政策，中国能怎么回击？
President-elect Donald J. Trump has made it clear that he views the central basis for diplomatic relations between Washington and Beijing — known as the "One China" policy — as ripe for review.	候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)明确表示，他认为现在是重现审视华盛顿和北京之间外交关系的中心基础，即"一个中国"政策的时候了。
Under that decades-old policy, the United States severed diplomatic ties	这个政策已经有几十年的历史，美国据此断绝了与台湾的外交关系，作为对

But in early December, Mr. Trump stunned officials across the globe by becoming the first president or president-elect to speak to a Taiwanese leader since at least 1979.	中华人民共和国承认的一部分。但是在12月初,特朗普成为了至少是自1979年以来,第一位与台湾领导人通话的总统或候任总统,令全球官员震惊。
Then on Sunday, he suggested that adhering to the One China policy could be used as a bargaining chip on contentious issues like China's currency and its activity in the South China Sea. "I don't know why we have to be bound by a One China policy unless we make a deal with China having to do with other things, including trade," he said in an interview.	然后到了周日,他表示坚持“一个中国”的政策可以用来作为一些有争议的问题,比如中国操纵货币以及南海问题的议价筹码。“如果我们不能在贸易等其他事情上和中国达成协议,我不知道为什么我们必须受到‘一个中国’政策的约束,”他在接受采访时说。
In trying to use Taiwan that way, Mr. Trump hit the most sensitive of what the Chinese Communist Party calls its "core interests." If Washington formally recognizes Taiwan, the Chinese are expected to break off diplomatic relations.	特朗普试图用这种方式来利用台湾,击中了中国共产党最为敏感的所谓“核心利益”。如果华盛顿正式承认台湾,中国人应该会断绝中美外交关系。
Though the United States officially ended relations with Taiwan in 1979, it maintains an unofficial embassy there called the American Institute in Taiwan. It has also sold Taiwan advanced military equipment and has worked to promote its democracy.	虽然美国在1979年正式结束与台湾的关系,但它在台湾一直有一个非官方的大使馆,称为美国在台协会(American Institute in Taiwan)。它还向台湾出售先进的军事装备,并努力促进其民主进程。
Josh Earnest, the White House press secretary, rejected Mr. Trump's suggestion that American support for Taiwan was negotiable. "Taiwan is not a source of leverage," Mr. Earnest said Monday. "It's a close partner of the United States."	白宫新闻发言人乔希·欧内斯特(Josh Earnest)否定了特朗普的建议——即美国对台湾的支持是可谈判的。“台湾不是筹码,”欧内斯特周一说。“而是美国的紧密合作伙伴。”
The Global Times, a Chinese state-run tabloid, put the matter more bluntly, saying Mr. Trump was "like a child in his ignorance of foreign policy." It added: "The One China policy cannot be bought and sold.	中国官方小报《环球时报》则更加直截了当地说,特朗普“在外交方面懵懂得像个小孩子”,称“‘一个中国’政策是不能买卖的,特朗普看来只懂商业,他以为什么都能估价”。

Trump, it seems, only understands business and believes that everything has a price.”
Here are five ways the Chinese could make life difficult for a Trump administration:	中国人可能会通过以下五种方式来给特朗普政府制造麻烦：
Trade and Investment	贸易和投资
Chinese analysts say China has plenty of leverage to retaliate against Mr. Trump. One prominent target is Boeing, whose Seattle plant Xi Jinping, China’s president, visited in September 2015.	中国分析家说，中国有足够的手段来报复特朗普。一个突出的目标是波音公司(Boeing)。中国主席习近平曾在 2015 年 9 月考察过波音在西雅图的工厂。
In 2016, Boeing is expected to complete plane deliveries to China worth $11 billion, mostly 737s that have become the workhorse of China’s rapidly expanding airlines. The Global Times warned that it would be easy for China to switch orders to Boeing’s European competitor, Airbus.	2016 年，波音预计将完成向中国交付价值 110 亿美元的飞机的任务，其中大部分都是 737，它们将成为正在快速扩张的中国航空公司的主力机型。《环球时报》警告说，中国可以轻而易举地把订单转到波音的竞争对手、欧洲公司空中客车(Airbus)那里。
“On economic issues, China has more and more leverage,” said Wu Xinbo, the director of the Center for American Studies at Fudan University. “If we feel he is still pushing the Taiwan issue, we will take action. If he wants to keep it up on Taiwan, it will only backfire.”	“在经济问题上，中国的手段越来越多，”上海复旦大学美国研究中心主任吴心伯说。“如果我们认为他仍在推动台湾问题，我们就会采取行动。如果他在台湾问题上一意孤行，只会自食其果。”
American trade officials worry that China could intensify its discrimination against American technology firms by using the country’s antimonopoly laws. Last year, the Chinese government slapped a $975 million fine on Qualcomm, a San Diego-based chip maker, for what it said were licensing infractions.	美国贸易官员担心中国可能通过使用该国的反垄断法加大对美国科技公司的歧视。去年，中国政府对高通公司(Qualcomm)处以 9.75 亿美元的罚款，该公司是一家位于圣地亚哥的芯片制造商，中国称其在专利授权方面有违规之举。
A few years ago, there were worries that China might suddenly dump a large portion of its holdings of Treasuries, pushing up interest rates in the United States. Those fears ebbed as China pared its holdings	几年前，有人担心中国可能会突然抛售它持有的很大一部分美国国债，由此抬高美国利率。随着中国逐渐削减它持有的国债，这种担心也逐渐减弱。美国对外关系委员会(Council on Foreign Relations)的布拉德·塞策(Brad

Experts say that even if the country sold more, it may not have much effect because interest rates are already low, global demand for Treasuries has been strong, and the Federal Reserve could buy more bonds if needed to offset action by China.	专家们表示, 即使中国出售更多美国国债, 也不太会产生很大影响, 因为美国利率已经很低, 全球对美国国债的需求十分强劲, 如果需要抵消中国抛售的影响, 美联储也可以购入更多国债。
China could also weaken its currency, something Mr. Trump has argued it already does to make its products cheaper. But that could also result in more Chinese taking their money out of the country, as well as inflation for a nation that increasingly buys what it needs from abroad, like oil, because a weak currency means China must pay more for imported goods.	此外, 中国还可以削弱自己的货币——特朗普坚称, 为了让自己的产品更便宜, 中国已经这么做了。但这也会导致更多中国人将资金带出境外, 会给这个日益从国外购买石油等所需品的国家带来通过膨胀, 因为货币疲软意味着中国必须为进口商品支付更多资金。
Finally, China could order its state-owned companies and private enterprises to slow their investments in the United States. A recent study by the Rhodium Group, a New York-based economic policy outfit, showed that since 2015, the amount of Chinese direct investment in the United States has outweighed the amount of American investment in China.	最后, 中国还可以下令国有企业和私营企业放慢在美国的投资。总部位于纽约的经济政策咨询机构荣鼎集团(Rhodium Group)最近发布的一项研究显示, 自 2015 年以来, 中国在美直接投资已经超过美国在中国的投资。

Mr. Trump said on Sunday, "And frankly, they're not helping us at all with North Korea."	特朗普上周日表示, "老实讲, 在朝鲜问题上他们根本没有给我们提供什么帮助。"

China could switch from being a reluctant ally of North Korea to a friendly neighbor. China is already angry at Washington for the recent decision to deploy a defense shield in South Korea, the Terminal High Altitude Area Defense system, known as THAAD, which China argues is aimed at limiting its military capabilities.	中国可以从勉强与朝鲜结盟的盟友，转变成友好的邻居。中国已经对华盛顿最近决定在韩国部署末段高空区域防御系统（Terminal High Altitude Area Defense，简称萨德）感到愤怒。中国称，该防御系统旨在限制它的军事能力。
Among the tools China could use would be improved trade, aid and investment to strengthen the North's rudimentary economy, said John Delury, an American analyst in Seoul, South Korea. As a longstanding ally, China could conduct joint military exercises with the North, he said.	在韩国首尔的美国分析师鲁乐汉(John Delury)表示，中国可以利用的工具包括加强贸易、援助和投资，以增强朝鲜的基本经济实力。他还提到，作为长期的盟友，中国可以和朝鲜举行联合军事演习。
In return for promises by North Korea not to proliferate, Mr. Delury said, China could go beyond improved trade, and provide substantial economic backing in a Marshall Plan-style initiative.	鲁乐汉表示，作为对朝鲜承诺不扩军的回报，中国或许不止于改善贸易，还可能为之提供马歇尔计划式(Marshall Plan-style)的大规模经济支持。
Climate Change	气候变化
President Obama spent much of his political capital with China ensuring that Beijing would agree to the international climate change agreement that committed the world's two biggest carbon emitters to lower greenhouse gases.	奥巴马总统对中国动用了他的大部分政治资本，来确保北京同意国际气候变化协议，让全球两个最大的碳排放国减少温室气体排放。
Critics of Mr. Obama say he failed to force China to open up its markets, stood by while China fortified islands in the South China Sea and remained largely silent while Mr. Xi carried out repressive human rights policies in order to save the climate change accord.	一些人批评奥巴马说，为了达成气候变化协议，他没有迫使中国开放其市场，中国在南海海岛修筑防御工事的时候，他袖手旁观，而且对于习近平压制人权的政策，他也基本保持了沉默。
Moreover, China's agreement to the international deal was less a concession to American pressure than a restatement of its own goals.	此外，中国赞同这个国际协议也并非对美国压力所做的让步，而是在重申自己的目标。

It was relatively easy for Mr. Xi to agree to a reduction in emissions given the outcry among the Chinese public about air pollution and contaminated food. The accord calls for China's carbon emissions to reach a plateau or decline "around 2030" but without any specific target for reductions like those Mr. Obama pledged for the United States.	由于中国公众对空气污染和食品污染进行了强烈抗议，习近平同意减少排放量也是顺水推舟的事情。该协议呼吁中国的碳排放在“2030年前后”进入平台期或下降期，但没有设定任何奥巴马为美国设定的那种具体目标。
Mr. Xi would be unlikely to touch the climate accord because of the popularity of the prospect of cleaner air among the Chinese public.	习近平不太可能改动气候协议，因为中国公众普遍希望空气变得更洁净。
But if he did decide to ignore it, Mr. Trump would probably not care. At one point, Mr. Trump said climate change was a "hoax" invented by China to hurt American trade. Later, he said he was joking.	但是如果习近平决定不理睬这个协议，特朗普可能也不会在乎。特朗普曾一度说气候变化是中国编造的“骗局”，目的是打击美国贸易。后来他表示这么说是开玩笑。
Taiwan	台湾
If Mr. Trump supports Taiwan, China's first response may be to punish Taiwan rather than the United States, in an attempt to diminish its value to Washington.	如果特朗普支持台湾，那么中国的第一反应可能不是惩罚美国，而是惩罚台湾，以削弱它对华盛顿的价值。
It could begin by intensifying efforts to persuade the 22 small sovereignties around the world, including the Vatican, that still maintain diplomatic relations with Taiwan to sever them and recognize China instead.	全球有 22 个较小的主权国家仍然保持着与台湾的外交关系，其中包括梵蒂冈，中国可能会从努力说服它们切断这种关系、承认中国开始。
China might then take aim at Taiwan's economy by restricting Chinese investments and limiting the number of Chinese tourists to Taiwan.	然后，中国可能会通过限制对台投资和赴台游客数量的方式来打击台湾经济。
Taiwan already has de facto independence, but China has warned that it will go to war to prevent it a formal separation from the mainland.	台湾已经具有事实上的独立性，但中国发出过警告，表示不惜开战来阻止它从大陆正式独立。
From Beijing's perspective, the fear is that Mr. Trump's moves could encourage Taiwan to declare independence or that other nations might follow the United States in recognizing Taiwan.	从北京的角度看，他们担心特朗普的举动可能会鼓励台湾宣布独立，或者鼓励其他国家跟着美国一起承认台湾。

If President Tsai Ing-wen of Taiwan declared independence, "and the whole world says Taiwan is independent," then China "will take military action," said Shi Yinhong, professor of international relations at Renmin University. "But I don't believe that is Tsai's intention," he added.	如果台湾总统蔡英文宣布独立, "而且全世界都宣称台湾是独立的", 那么中国"就会采取军事行动", 中国人民大学国际关系学院教授时殷弘说道。"但我不相信这是蔡英文的意图, "他补充说。
Iran	伊朗
China was a signatory to the nuclear accord reached with Iran in 2015 that lifted sanctions in return for Iran's getting rid of 98 percent of its nuclear material. China now has unfettered access to its longtime friend's economy. Through Iran, Beijing will seek to enhance its influence in the Middle East, with the goal of weakening American prestige in the region.	伊朗在 2015 年接受了一个核协议, 同意放弃 98%的核材料, 换取取消对它的制裁, 而中国是该协议的签署国之一。中国现在和这个老朋友的经济接触已经不受限制。北京将通过伊朗寻求增强其中东的影响力, 以削弱美国在该地区的威望。
But if the deal is scrapped and renegotiated, as Mr. Trump has called for, China would keep trading with Iran, isolating the United States, said Edward C. Chow, senior fellow for energy and national security at the Center for Strategic and International Studies in Washington.	但是, 华盛顿国际战略研究中心(Center for Strategic and International Studies)的能源与国家安全项目高级研究员爱德华·C·周(Edward C. About one-third of Iran's oil exports go to China, and China is Iran's top importer of goods. Previously she was a partner at Goldman Sachs, where she was responsible for private equity and venture capital investments in Asia and spearheaded the firm's investments in technology start-ups, including Alibaba. Her new book, "Taiwan's China Dilemma," published by Stanford University Press, focuses on the emergence of Taiwanese national identity and how it has influenced the island's economic policy toward China over the past three decades.	弗吉尼亚大学(University of Virginia)和香港中文大学。她曾是高盛(Goldman Sachs)的合伙人,负责在亚洲的私募股权和风险投资业务,也是高盛投资包括阿里巴巴在内的科技创业公司的开路先锋。林夏如由斯坦福大学出版社(Stanford University Press)出版的新书《台湾的中国困境》(Taiwan's China Dilemma)聚焦台湾人的民族身份认同的出现,以及过去30年里它如何影响了台湾对大陆的经济政策。
In an interview following President-elect Donald J. Trump's telephone conversation with President Tsai Ing-wen of Taiwan and his questioning of the One China policy that has long guided Washington's dealings with Beijing and Taipei, Ms. Lin discussed this surprising break with protocol, Taiwan's ambivalence toward economic integration with China and why the United States should review its approach to Taiwan.	在候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)与台湾总统蔡英文(Tsai Ing-wen)通话,并质疑长期指导华盛顿与北京和台北往来的“一个中国”政策后,林夏如接受了采访。在采访中,她谈到了这个有违外交礼仪的惊人举动、台湾对与大陆经济一体化的矛盾心理以及美国为何应该重新审视自己对待台湾的方式。
Your book deals with the seeming contradiction of China and Taiwan developing closer economic ties, even as Taiwanese culture moves further away from China's. How have those trends managed to emerge simultaneously?	你的书讲述了大陆和台湾经济往来发展得更加密切,但台湾的文化却进一步远离大陆文化这个矛盾的现象。这些趋势是怎么同时出现的?
Once China began to open its economy in the post-Mao era, cultural similarities and a common political objective of creating "one China" led to an explosion of economic relations across the strait. The Chinese economy was highly complementary to Taiwan's, and a majority of Taiwanese considered themselves "Chinese." Today, more than two-thirds of Taiwan's outward foreign direct investment is to China, which is also Taiwan's leading trading partner.	大陆在后毛泽东时代甫一开放经济,文化共性和打造“一个中国”的共同政治目标就引发了两岸经济往来的激增。当年,大陆经济与台湾经济具有高度互补性,大多数台湾人认为自己是“中国人”。如今,台湾超过三分之二的对外直接投资流向大陆,后者也是台湾最大的贸易伙伴。

However, as cross-strait economic interdependence grew and as Taiwan began to democratize, the residents of the island began to debate what it meant to be Taiwanese, a topic that had been taboo for four decades under the authoritarian Kuomintang government. At first, Taiwan's economic policy toward China oscillated between extreme restriction and extreme liberalization. Some Taiwanese believed supporting economic liberalization with China was a way of promoting unification, while supporting economic restriction with China was equivalent to preserving a separate Taiwan, whether that be simply autonomy or outright independence.	然而，随着两岸经济相互依赖性不断增加和台湾开始民主化，台湾民众开始讨论作为一名台湾人意味着什么。而在威权主义的国民党政府统治台湾的40年里，这个话题一直是禁忌。起初，台湾对大陆的经济政策在极度限制和极度自由之间摇摆。一些台湾人认为，支持同大陆的经济自由是促进统一的一个途径，而支持对大陆实施经济限制则相当于保持台湾与大陆分离，不管只是自治还是完全独立。
As Taiwanese identity has consolidated, with more than 90 percent of Taiwanese believing they are in some way "Taiwanese," a consensus has emerged that some degree of economic interdependence with China is unavoidable but that overdependence is risky. The extreme economic policy options have therefore lost support. However, support for closer economic relations does not extend to sociopolitical integration. In fact, only 1.5 percent of Taiwanese support immediate unification with China, with even less support among young people. But if Taiwanese identity is threatened it can become salient again, and extreme options may re-emerge. This was the case in 2014 when Taiwan's largest student protest — known as the Sunflower Movement — successfully opposed a service trade pact that had been negotiated with China.	随着台湾身份认同的巩固——超过90%的台湾人认为自己在某种程度上是“台湾人”——人们一致认为，与大陆在经济上形成某种程度的相互依赖不可避免，但过度依赖则带来风险。因此，极端的经济政策选择失去了民众的支持。然而，对发展更密切的经济往来的支持也未扩大到社会政治一体化上。实际上，只有1.5%的台湾人支持立即与大陆统一，这个比例在年轻人中甚至更低。但如果台湾人的身份认同受到威胁，它可能会再度凸显，极端选择也可能再次出现。2014年的时候便是这种情况。当时，台湾规模最大的学生抗议活动——名为太阳花运动——成功地抵制了与大陆商谈达成的一项服务贸易协定。
Do you see any way that Taiwanese identity could move closer to China's in the coming decades?	你认为未来几十年里，台湾人的身份认同是否有更接近大陆的身份认同的希望？

There is an increasing gap between the Chinese identity that Beijing promotes and the identity Taiwanese have come to embrace, which is based on democracy, rule of law and freedom of speech and assembly. Beijing's strategy of giving Taiwanese economic benefits so that Taiwanese will become more inclined toward unification has not been successful. So Beijing has increased its pressure by terminating official communications with Taiwan, reducing the flow of Chinese tourists and ensuring Taiwan is excluded from international organizations, even those that could benefit from Taiwan's participation.	北京宣传的中国人的身份和台湾人接受的身份之间的差距越来越大。后者的基础是民主、法治以及言论和集会自由。北京的策略是，给台湾提供经济利益，这样台湾人就会变得更加倾向于统一，但未能成功。于是，北京通过终止与台湾的官方沟通、减少赴台大陆游客和确保不让台湾进入国际组织——即便是那些会从台湾的加入中获益的组织——来加大施压力度。
Nonetheless, it is entirely possible for this identity to swing back to become more Chinese. This will depend on the strategy Beijing employs, especially whether it can create a common identity that includes Taiwanese. But if Beijing stays the course by imposing economic and diplomatic sanctions while providing economic benefits to a select few, it will create more backlash and resentment — just as it has in Hong Kong. Alternatively, Beijing could choose to close the gap across the strait by fostering democratic values and allowing the emergence of civil society, but this seems highly unlikely at present.	尽管如此，这种身份认同回归到更靠近中国人的身份认同是完全有可能的。这将取决于北京采用的策略，特别是它是否能够创造出一个包括台湾人的、共同的身份。但北京如果坚持一边向极少数人提供经济利益，一边实行经济和外交制裁，便会造成更多反对和怨恨情绪——就像在香港一样。或者，北京可以选择通过培养民主价值观和允许公民社会出现的方式来消除两岸之间的差距，但在当下，这种可能性似乎非常小。
What are the economic implications of the Trump administration for Taiwan?	特朗普政府会给台湾带来什么经济影响？
Taiwan desperately needs to move away from manufacturing into high-end services. One problem is that Taiwan is unable to sign trade agreements with major partners because of Beijing's objections. Part of Tsai's platform was to join the Trans-Pacific Partnership in the second round and to conclude a Trade and Investment Framework Agreement	台湾迫切需要从制造业向高端服务业转移。其中一个问题是，因为北京的反对，台湾无法同主要伙伴签订贸易协议。蔡英文施政纲领的部分内容就是在第二轮中加入“跨太平洋伙伴关系协定”(Trans Pacific Partnership)，并与美国达成一份贸易投资框架协定。

with the U.S.
Trump's skepticism about free trade agreements throws all of this into question. If the U.S. abandons negotiations on these agreements, Taiwan will become more marginalized, especially if it is excluded from the China-led Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership.	特朗普对自由贸易协议的怀疑态度让这一切都笼罩上了一层疑云。如果美国放弃就这些协议举行的谈判，台湾将变得更加边缘化，特别是如果被排除在中国主导的“区域全面经济伙伴关系”(Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership)之外的话。
Your book focuses on the China-Taiwan relationship, but what do you make of the recent Trump-Tsai telephone call and the impact that could have on the cross-strait relationship?	你的书重点是大陆与台湾的关系，不过对最近特朗普与蔡英文的通话，以及此事可能会对两岸关系产生的影响，你有何看法？
The call President-elect Donald Trump accepted from President Tsai alarmed many experts. Some fear the call will destabilize U.S.-China relations, while others saw it as a welcome sign of upgraded U.S.-Taiwan relations. I do not believe there is evidence of a major policy change yet. But if Trump views Taiwan simply as a way to put pressure on Beijing, then that would mean Taiwan is regarded merely as a means to an end, rather than important to the U.S. in its own right.	候任总统唐纳德·特朗普接到蔡英文总统的电话一事令很多专家感到担忧。一些人担心这通电话会破坏美中关系的稳定，而其他人士则持欢迎态度，认为这是美国与台湾关系升级的一个迹象。我认为尚没有证据表明政策出现了重大改变。但如果特朗普仅仅认为台湾是向北京施压的一种方式，那么这意味着台湾只是被当作了达到目的的一种手段，而非本身对美国具有重要意义。
I think that supporting a vibrant democracy and insisting on a peaceful solution to the Taiwan issue is an appropriate American objective. Washington has not reviewed its Taiwan policy since the Clinton administration, and the prospect that Taiwan and China will unify peacefully and voluntarily one day has diminished as the two societies grow further apart. Instead of just hoping that its present policy of dissuading both China and Taiwan from trying to change the status quo can continue indefinitely, the U.S. needs to review its policy so it will not be reacting to actions initiated by China as it becomes more assertive.	我认为对美国来说，支持一个充满生机的民主制度和坚持和平解决台湾问题是一个合适的目标。华盛顿自克林顿政府以来便未再重新审视自己的对台政策，并且随着两个社会变得更加远离彼此，台湾和大陆有一天会和平、自愿地统一的机会减少。美国不应仅仅寄望于当前劝阻大陆和台湾不要改变现状的政策可以无限期地保持下去，而是需要重新审视自己的政策，这样就不会对中国在变得更加强势的过程中发起的行动做出被动反应。

Is there a space for Ms. Tsai's Democratic Progressive Party-led government to find a balance on cross-straits issues that Beijing can find acceptable? Or do you expect Beijing to be obstinate in its attempts to freeze out the D.P.P.?	是否有余地供蔡英文所在的民进党领导的政府在两岸问题上找到一种北京可能会觉得可以接受的平衡？或者你是否认为北京会一味坚持排斥民进党？
Beijing is the key player in this Washington-Taipei-Beijing triangle because it is the party that most desires a change in the status quo. So far, Beijing has actively stonewalled the new Tsai administration, just as it did with the earlier D.P.P. government led by Chen Shui-bian from 2000 to 2008. Beijing's refusal to acknowledge Taiwan's elected leaders and its insistence on punishing the Taiwanese by reducing tourism and trade immediately after Tsai's election will only discourage Taiwanese from reassuming a Chinese identity.	在华盛顿、台北和北京组成的这个三角形中，北京是关键的一方，因为它最希望改变现状。迄今为止，北京一直在积极地阻碍蔡英文领导的新政府，就像早前对待2000年到2008年陈水扁领导的民进党政府那样。北京拒绝承认台湾的民选领导人，并且蔡英文当选后，北京立即坚持通过削减旅游和贸易来惩罚台湾民众。这只会阻碍台湾民众重拾中国人的身份认同。
Tsai has already made compromises that go too far for many of her supporters. In her inaugural speech, Tsai referred to the Constitution of the Republic of China and the legislation governing cross-strait relations, both of which imply the acceptance of a "one China" framework. Tsai may not have room to move much further, especially if Beijing continues to freeze out the D.P.P.	蔡英文做出的一些妥协，已经让她的很多支持者觉得太过分了。在就职演讲中，蔡英文提到了《中华民国宪法》和有关两岸关系的法规。二者均暗示接受“一个中国”的框架。蔡英文大概没有再进一步的空间了，特别是如果北京继续排斥民进党的话。

Officials and diplomats in the Asia-Pacific have wondered how Mr. Trump might change American policy toward China and the rest of the region, especially since his surprise phone call this month with President Tsai Ing-wen of Taiwan, which alarmed Beijing and broke with decades of United States diplomatic practice. Meanwhile, recent visits to Beijing by the leaders of Malaysia and the Philippines have underscored the possibility that countries in the region are drawing closer to China.	亚太地区的官员和外交官们都想知道，特朗普将如何改变美国对中国以及该地区其他国家的政策，特别是自从他本月与台湾总统蔡英文出人意料地通了电话之后，此举引起了北京的戒心，也打破了几十年来美国的外交惯例。同时，马来西亚和菲律宾领导人最近相继访问北京，也突显了该地区各国接近中国的可能性。
Admiral Harris declined to speculate on how United States policy might change after Mr. Trump takes office next month, saying he was "not in the business of giving advice to the president-elect." But Australia has also resisted pressure to join the United States in naval patrols meant to demonstrate that the waters are open to international traffic. During his Australia visit, Admiral Harris signed an agreement increasing the scope of the two countries’ military cooperation. Besides increasing the number of joint exercises carried out with about 1,250 United States Marines based in the northern city of Darwin, it allows for American F-22 jets to be deployed in the area for those exercises in 2017, likely to be followed by F-35 jets the year after.	在澳大利亚访问期间，哈里斯签署了扩大两国军事合作范围的协议。该协议除了增加驻扎在北部城市达尔文的约 1250 名美国海军陆战队队员开展联合演习的数目之外，还允许美国 F-22 喷气式飞机在 2017 年部署在该地区参加这些演习，2018 年还有可能加入 F-35。
In his speech, Admiral Harris said the Islamic State posed a “clear threat” to the Asia-Pacific region, saying it was likely that extremists would return home “radicalized and weaponized” from the Middle East after fighting alongside the group there. “It is clear to me that ISIL is trying to rebalance to the Indo-Asia-Pacific,” he said, using an alternative name for the militant group. “So we must stop them now.”	哈里斯在演讲中表示，伊斯兰国(Islamic State)对亚太地区构成了“明确的威胁”，极端分子可能会在中东地区与伊斯兰国并肩作战之后，带着“激进与武器”回国。“我很清楚，ISIL 正试图重新平衡印亚太地区，所以我们必须现在就阻止他们。”他说道。ISIL 指的就是伊斯兰国。

Taiwan Is Both Exhilarated and Unnerved by Trump’s China Remarks	欣喜过后，台湾人担心成了特朗普的棋子
TAIPEI, Taiwan — Lin Fei-fan led the charge nearly three years ago when hundreds of students occupied Taiwan’s legislature to protest a trade deal with China. With the island’s economy increasingly tied to the mainland’s, and Beijing’s global influence on the rise, he worried that Taiwan’s independence was at stake — and might be a lost cause.	台湾台北——将近三年前，当数百名学生为抗议台湾与中国大陆的贸易协议占领了立法院时，林飞帆是带头人。当时，他担心随着台湾与大陆的经济关系日益密切，北京在全球的影响力不断上升，台湾的自主地位已受到威胁，独立可能已经没有希望了。
Now, thanks to a couple of sentences uttered by Donald J. Trump on a talk show, Mr. Lin has new hope.	如今，由于唐纳德·J·特朗普在一个脱口秀节目上的几句话，林飞帆有了新的希望。
The president-elect stunned the world on Sunday by suggesting he might abandon the One China principle, the bedrock understanding under which the United States established relations with Beijing and cut official ties with Taiwan nearly four decades ago. His apparent willingness to rethink longstanding American policy that prioritizes China over Taiwan has energized Mr. Lin, 28, and many like him. But it has also left them anxious, and asking:	周日，这位候任总统用他可能放弃一个中国原则的暗示整惊了世界，在这个基本原则下，近40年前，美国与台湾断绝了正式关系，转而与北京建立外交关系。特朗普表现出愿意重新考虑一项长期美国政策的意愿，正是该政策让中国大陆有高于台湾的优先权，这让28岁的林飞帆及许多和他类似的人受到了鼓舞。但也让他们感到焦虑，他们想知道：
What does it mean for one’s homeland to be put on the table by Mr. Trump, an inveterate deal maker, in negotiations with China’s Communist leaders, who are not known for making concessions easily?	自己的家园，被骨子里是交易行家的特朗普摆到桌面上，作为与中国共产党领导人的谈判筹码，而后者是以不轻易做出让步闻名的，这意味着什么？
“Many people in Taiwan worry that once Trump takes office, he’ll make a U-turn,” Mr. Lin said. “We are suspicious of his motivations.”	“许多台湾人担心，川普（大陆译特朗普——编注）一旦上台，会来个180度的大转弯，”林飞帆说。“我们怀疑他的动机。”
Even as he has elevated Taiwan’s status by speaking on the phone with its president, Mr. Trump has left the impression that he sees the island primarily as leverage to extract compromises from China on other	即便在特朗普及台湾总统通电话的方式，提高台湾地位之际，他给人的印象也是把这个岛屿主要作为杠杆，争取让中国在其他问题上做出妥协。 issues.

"I don't know why we have to be bound by a One China policy unless we make a deal with China having to do with other things, including trade," he said, before also citing Beijing's military buildup in the disputed South China Sea and its support for North Korea.	"我不知道为什么我们必须受一个中国政策的束缚，除非我们与中国达成一个必须涉及其他方面的协议，包括贸易，"他说，之后他还提到北京在有争议的南海修建军事设施以及北京支持朝鲜的问题。
Not since Richard M. Nixon traveled to Beijing in 1972 to dangle the prospect of abandoning Taiwan has an American leader so explicitly attempted to use it as a bargaining chip with China, which considers the self-governing island of 23 million to be part of Chinese territory.	自 1972 年理查德·尼克松访问北京，用美国可能放弃台湾的前景来吊大陆的胃口时起，还没有一位美国领导人如此明确地试图把台湾作为与中国大陆谈判的筹码，大陆认为这个有 2300 万人口的自治岛屿是中国领土的一部分。
The gambit has both exhilarated and unnerved the people of Taiwan, who yearn for greater international recognition but have long been worried about being sacrificed as a pawn in a geopolitical chess game.	特朗普的这步棋既让台湾人兴奋，也让他们不安。台湾人渴望得到更多的国际认可，但长期以来也一直担心自己会被作为地缘政治棋局中的卒子而遭到舍弃。
Many have applauded Mr. Trump's stand, describing his decision to break protocol and speak by phone with Tsai Ing-wen, Taiwan's leader, as an overdue gesture toward one of Washington's most reliable friends in Asia and a young democracy. Taiwan is the United States' ninth-largest trading partner and has purchased more than $46 billion in American weapons since 1990.	许多人赞扬了特朗普的立场，把他打破惯例，与台湾领导人蔡英文通电话的决定，描述为华盛顿对自己最可靠的亚洲盟友和一个新兴民主国家早就该做出的姿态。台湾是美国第九大贸易伙伴，自 1990 年以来已购买了逾 460 亿美元的美国军火。
But residents are also coming to grips with the reality that their most vocal champion on the world stage now is a businessman known for his love of cutting deals and his erratic approach to policy making.	但是，这里的居民也正在接受这样的现实，即他们在世界舞台上声音最响亮的支持者是个商人，他以喜欢做交易和用令人难以琢磨的方式对待政策制定而闻名。
"He's an uncontrollable force," said Hsu Tse-mei, 57, a retired bank manager in Taipei. "We're caught between two powerful countries, China and the United States, and we're at the mercy of Trump."	"他是一种无法控制的力量，"家住台北的退休银行经理、57 岁的许泽美（音）说。"我们被夹在两个强国，中国和美国之间，我们对川普无能为力。"
The stakes are high and help explain why Mr. Trump's predecessors	这个问题的利害关系重大，有助于解释为什么特朗普的前任们一般都不去触

have generally left the One China policy untouched.	动一个中国政策。
Since the Nationalist government under Chiang Kai-shek fled to Taiwan in 1949 after the Communist Revolution, generations of Chinese leaders have vowed to reunify the island with the mainland and threatened war to prevent it from formally declaring independence. In the mid-1990s, China fired missiles into waters off Taiwan in an attempt to intimidate supporters of a formal separation.	自 1949 年中国共产党革命胜利、蒋介石领导的国民党政府逃到台湾之后，中国大陆的几代领导人都誓要实现台湾与大陆的统一，并用战争的威胁来防止台湾正式宣布独立。20 世纪 90 年代中期，中国试图以向台湾海峡发射导弹的方式来恐吓支持台湾从大陆正式独立的人。
When the United States established relations with China in 1979, dropping its official recognition of the Nationalist, or Kuomintang, government in Taiwan, it secured a pledge from Beijing that its "fundamental policy" was to pursue reunification by peaceful means.	1979 年，美国与中国建立外交关系时，放弃了对台湾国民党政府的正式承认，同时也得到了北京的承诺，后者表示用和平方式实现统一是其“基本政策”。
Many in Taiwan are now afraid that China could reconsider that commitment if Mr. Trump scraps the One China policy.	许多台湾人现在担心，如果特朗普放弃“一个中国”政策，中国可能会重新考虑该承诺。
"I'm worried that China may take military action against Taiwan," said Li Meng-chieh, 33, a graphic designer in Taipei. "If that happens, it will derail our current way of life."	"我担心中国可能会用武力制裁台湾，"家在台北，33 岁的平面设计师李孟杰说。"如果这样就会破坏我们现在的生活方式。"
Such worries extend even to supporters of President Tsai, whose Democratic Progressive Party has long favored greater independence from the mainland and has traditionally been willing to accept greater risks to pursue it.	有这种担心的人甚至包括蔡英文的支持者，她所在的民进党一直支持在更大程度上独立于大陆，而且传统上也一直愿意为此承担更大的风险。
Ms. Tsai's administration has repeatedly assured China of its desire to maintain the status quo, and Lo Chih-cheng, a lawmaker from her party, said officials in Taiwan had avoided playing up the phone call with Mr. Trump so as not to antagonize Beijing.	蔡英文政府已多次向中国保证其愿望是维持现状，来自该党派的立法委员罗志成表示，台湾官员不想把与特朗普通话的事情搞大，以免激怒北京。
"We have tried to behave ourselves," Mr. Lo said. "But obviously China	"我们试图做出得体的表现，"罗志成说。"但显然中国不高兴，所以他们选择

Taiwanese society is deeply divided on the issue of closer relations with the mainland. Some see the island’s prosperity as inextricably linked to China, while others are worried that Taiwan is already too dependent on the Chinese economy and thus vulnerable to pressure from Beijing. But few in Taiwan are interested in reunification under China’s authoritarian political system.	在与大陆发展更密切关系的问题上，台湾社会目前有着很大的分歧。有些人认为，台湾的繁荣与中国密不可分，而另一些人担心，台湾已经对中国经济有过多的依赖，因此容易受来自北京的压力影响。但是，台湾很少有人愿意在中国的专制政治体制之下实现统一。
The Chinese leadership is worried Mr. Trump will make its goal of reunification even more difficult to achieve and embolden those in Taiwan who want to pursue greater international recognition and a more formal break with the mainland.	中国领导人担心，特朗普将让统一的目标变得更难以实现，同时让那些想争取得到更多国际承认、更正式地与大陆分离的台湾人的变得更为大胆。

Other Republican presidents who have expressed support for Taiwan — Ronald Reagan pledged to continue arms sales indefinitely, and George W. Others say that he has presented Taiwan with a chance to expand trade with the United States and build support among the American public.	也有人说，特朗普向台湾提供了一个与美国扩大贸易、在美国民众中建立支持的机会。
"We need to talk to the American people so they can have a deeper understanding of Taiwan. We want to tell them that we are their true ally and that we share many common values," said Huang Kuo-chang, chairman of the New Power Party, which emerged from the student protests in 2014 that successfully blocked the trade deal with China.	"我们需要与美国人民交流，让他们能够更深刻地了解台湾。我们要告诉他们，我们是他们真正的盟友，我们有许多共同的价值观，"新政党"时代力量"的党主席黄国昌说，该政党是在2014年的学生抗议活动中形成的，该抗议活动成功地阻止了与中国达成一项贸易协议。
Mr. Lin, the student protest leader, said Mr. Trump had opened a potential path for Taiwan to gain the international recognition that he and others have been fighting so long for.	学生抗议活动领导人林飞帆说，特朗普为台湾赢得国际承认开辟了一条可能的道路，林飞帆和其他人长期以来一直在为争取国际承认而奋斗。
But sitting at a Taipei cafe behind a laptop computer with a sticker that read, "When dictatorship is a fact, revolution is a duty," Mr. Lin also acknowledged that Mr. Trump was an unlikely and perhaps unreliable ally.	但是，坐在台北一家咖啡馆里，面前摆着一台贴笔记本计算机，上面贴着"当独裁成为事实，革命就是义务"的标签，林飞帆也承认，特朗普不太可能是盟友，也很有可能并不可靠。
"We are not naïve," he said. "We don't believe that the election of a new U.S. president will necessarily bring about huge changes. But if there's an opportunity, we will definitely not give it up."	"我们并不天真，"他说。"我们不相信一位新当选的美国总统必将会带来巨大的变化。但如果有一个机会的话，我们也一定不会将其放弃。"

Muted U.S. Response to China's Seizure of Drone Worries Asian Allies	潜航器事件之后，美国为何低调应对
Only a day before a small Chinese boat sidled up to a United States Navy research vessel in waters off the Philippines and audaciously seized an underwater drone from American sailors, the commander of United States military operations in the region told an audience in Australia that America had a winning military formula.	一条中国小船在菲律宾附近海域悄悄靠近一艘美国海军研究舰艇，肆无忌惮地从美国船员手里捕获了一个潜航器。就在此前一天，负责该地区美国军事行动的指挥官在澳大利亚对一群观众说，美国拥有一个军事制胜公式。

"Capability times resolve times signaling equals deterrence," Adm. Harry B. Harris Jr. told a blue-chip crowd of diplomats and analysts at the prestigious Lowy Institute in Sydney, Australia, the leading city in America's closest ally in the region.	"实力加决心加警告等于威慑," 海军上将小哈利·B·哈里斯(Adm. Harry B. Harris Jr.)在澳大利亚悉尼著名的洛伊研究所(Lowy Institute)对一群权威外交官和分析人士说。悉尼是美国在该地区最亲密盟国的主要城市。
In the eyes of America's friends in Asia, the brazen maneuver to launch an operation against an American Navy vessel in international waters in the South China Sea about 50 miles from the Philippines, another close American ally, has raised questions about one of the admiral's crucial words. It was also seen by some as a taunt to President-elect Donald J. Trump, who has challenged the One China policy on Taiwan and has vowed to deal forcefully with Beijing in trade and other issues.	在美国的亚洲朋友看来, 在距菲律宾约 50 英里的南海国际水域针对美国海军舰艇发起的大胆行动引来了人们对这位海军上将上述一个关键词的质疑。而菲律宾也是美国的亲密盟国。也有人认为, 这是对候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)的嘲弄, 他曾质疑一个中国政策, 还曾承诺在贸易等问题上对北京采取强硬措施。
"The weak link is the resolve, and the Chinese are testing that, as well as baiting Trump," said Euan Graham, the director of international security at the Lowy Institute. "Capability, yes. Signaling, yes, with sending F-22 fighter jets to Australia. But the very muted response means the equation falls down on resolve."	"决心是个薄弱环节, 中国在试探也在引诱特朗普," 洛伊研究所国际安全项目主任尤安·格雷厄姆(Euan Graham)说。"实力是有的。也有警告, 比如, 往澳大利亚派遣 F-22 战斗机。但是, 非常沉默的回应意味着这个等式因为缺乏决心而难以成立。"
Across Asia, diplomats and analysts said they were perplexed at the inability of the Obama administration to devise a strong response to China's challenge. It did not even dispatch an American destroyer to the spot near Subic Bay, a former American Navy base that is still frequented by American ships, some noted.	亚洲各地的外交官和分析人士称, 他们对奥巴马政府没有对中国的挑战予以强硬回应感到困惑。它甚至没派美国驱逐舰前往苏比克湾附近的事发地点。苏比克湾是前美国海军基地, 一些人指出, 美国舰船依然经常光顾那里。

The end result, analysts said, is that China will be emboldened by having carried out an act that amounted to hybrid warfare, falling just short of provoking conflict, and suffering few noticeable consequences.	分析人士称，最终的结果是，中国将因此次行动而变得更为大胆，因为它相当于混合战行动，距离挑起冲突只差一线，而且没有遭受明显的后果。
“Allies and observers will find it hard not to conclude this represents another diminishment of American authority in the region,” said Douglas H. Paal, the vice president for studies at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.	“盟国和观察人士将很难不认为这代表着美国在该地区权威的进一步削弱，”卡内基国际和平研究院(Carnegie Endowment for International Peace)副院长包道格(Douglas H. Paal)说。
Significantly, the Chinese grabbed the drone not only in international waters but outside even the “nine-dash line” that China uses as a marker for its claims in the South China Sea. In so doing, analysts said, Beijing was making the point that the entire sea was its preserve, even though it is entirely legal for the United States to conduct military operations in waters within 200 miles of the Philippines, an area known as an exclusive economic zone.	重要的是，中国不仅是在国际水域捕获了潜航器，而且是在“九段线”以外。“九段线”是中国用来表明自己南海主权的标记线。分析人士称，北京这样做是想表明，整个南海都是它的领地，尽管美国在距菲律宾 200 英里以内的水域采取军事行动完全是合法的。那里属于后者的专属经济区。
In the last dozen years, China has steadily showed off its growing military prowess to the countries around the South China Sea, which carries trillions of dollars of world trade and which China values for its strategic access to the Western Pacific and the Indian Ocean.	在过去十几年里，中国不断向南海周围的国家炫耀自己不断增强的军事力量。南海承载着数以万亿美元计的世界贸易，是通往西太平洋和印度洋的战略通道，所以中国很重视。
As China has built up its navy and its submarine fleet in the last decade, it has also emphasized what it calls its “inherent” right to dominate the regional seas, and to challenge the presence of the United States, its allies and partners in Asia.	在过去 10 年里，随着中国持续壮大自己的海军和潜艇舰队，它也开始强调自己主导该地区海域的“固有”权利，挑战美国及其亚洲盟国和合作伙伴在那里的存在。
The drone episode, which occurred on Thursday and was first broadcast by CNN despite efforts by the Obama administration to settle	潜航器事件发生在周四，最早由 CNN 曝出，尽管奥巴马政府想要悄悄解决这个问题。该事件与过去涉及更大船只和更危险行动的冲突性质不同，但同

In 2001, soon after President George W. Bush came to office, an American spy aircraft, an EP-3, was forced to land on Hainan Island after colliding with a Chinese fighter jet. The drone itself, known as an unmanned underwater vehicle, was not a particularly important piece of equipment. Such drones are deployed to gather military oceanographic data and are available over the counter for about $150,000, the Pentagon said. "If China can get away with this incident with impunity," he added, "this will send a chilling message to countries in the region."	"如果中国这次没有受到惩罚，"他补充说，"将给这一地区的国家释放可怕的信号。"
Some leaders, like President Rodrigo Duterte of the Philippines, will feel validated in a pivot away from the United States toward China, Mr. Vuving said. "Others, like the Vietnamese, will have to seriously rethink their regional outlook."	吴翁说，有些国家领导人，比如菲律宾总统罗德里戈·杜特地(Rodrigo Duterte)，将认为，这能证明，把重心从美国转向中国很合理，"而其他一些国家，比如越南，将不得不严肃地重新考虑自己的地区前景"。
Vietnam — always fearful of China, its neighbor to the north, but also careful not to alienate Beijing — has tried in the last few years to draw closer to the United States, while still maintaining a careful distance.	越南一直惧怕自己的北方邻国中国，同时也小心翼翼地不疏远北京。在过去几年里，它尝试拉近与美国的关系，同时谨慎地保持一定的距离。
In 2011, as China became more assertive in the South China Sea, Vietnam accused China of instructing three high-speed patrol boats to cut the cables of a Vietnamese oil and gas survey ship.	2011 年，随着中国在南海变得更加强势，越南指责中国指挥三艘巡逻快艇切断一艘越南油气探测船的电缆。
The authoritarian Vietnamese government was so furious that it allowed anti-Chinese demonstrations in Hanoi.	越南的专制政府当时怒不可遏，以至于允许民众在河内举行反华示威活动。

Since then, China has hardened its position, sometimes referring to the South China Sea a "core interest" in which there is no room for	从那以后，中国的立场更为强硬，甚至称南海是其"核心利益"，没有妥协余地，虽然该地区其他国家称这是中国国家主席习近平的霸凌行径。

Under that vision, China would be in control from the waters of Indonesia to Brunei, Malaysia, the Philippines and up to Japan.	按照中国的主张，中国应该控制从印度尼西亚、文莱、马来西亚、菲律宾，一直到日本的水域。
In the East China Sea, China and Japan are at odds over an uninhabited island chain, known as the Senkaku in Japan and the Diaoyu in China. In June, China sent a warship for the first time into the waters around the islands, further escalating tensions.	在东海，中国和日本因为一片无人居住的群岛而矛盾不断——日本称之为尖阁列岛，中国称之为钓鱼岛。今年6月，中国首次派遣一艘军舰进入该群岛周围的水域，紧张局势进一步升级。
Japan has been more outspoken than other Asian countries in its support for the Obama administration's objections to China's construction of military facilities on seven artificial islands in the South China Sea.	日本比其他亚洲国家更为公开地支持奥巴马政府反对中国在南海的7个人工岛屿上修建军事设施的主张。
But in Tokyo, the government was watching the outcome of the drone episode with some anxiety. So far, Washington's restrained response has not been reassuring.	不过，日本政府正在略为焦急地观望潜航器事件的结果。到目前为止，华盛顿的克制反应并不令人安心。

Trump's and Xi's Differences Magnify Uncertainties Between U.S. and China	个性迥异的习近平和特朗普，让中美关系更难预测
BEIJING — Both came to power vowing to restore their nations to greatness. But America's loud, ad-libbing president-elect, Donald J. Mr. Trump has recently blared warnings at China, seemingly guided by visceral reflexes and a vague but bold set of demands. By contrast, Mr. Xi, the son of a Communist veteran, is disciplined and steely. He rarely speaks off the cuff in public. Even his seemingly impromptu gestures are often carefully choreographed, and he usually adheres to policy points when meeting foreign leaders. Mr. Xi is certainly capable of bold action, as he has shown in the South China Sea, but he tends to shroud his thinking in a cloud of slogans. That leaves outsiders guessing about when and how he will act on his demands.	特朗普最近向中国发出大声警告，似乎是在遵从本能反应和一系列模糊而大胆的要求。相比之下，作为共产党元老之子，习近平有一种不露声色的强硬。他很少在公开场合即兴讲话。即使是一些看似即兴的手势，实则也往往经过了精心编排，而且他在与外国领导人会面时往往紧守政策要点。习近平当然也会采取大胆行动，正如他在南海所展示的那样，但他倾向于把他的想法隐藏在大量口号之中。让外人摸不透他会在何时、以何种方式就他的需求采取行动。 security is to screen Trump's tweets."

Mr. Trump took to Twitter on Saturday after the Chinese military confirmed that it had seized a submersible drone in waters about 50 miles northwest of Subic Bay in the Philippines. The Pentagon had revealed the seizure, and China's Ministry of National Defense said it would return the device, which can be used to monitor undersea currents and conditions, in an "appropriate manner."	上周六，中国军方证实他们在菲律宾苏比克湾西北约 50 英里的水域缴获一艘无人潜航器之后，特朗普到 Twitter 上表了态。此前五角大楼已经公布此事，中国国防部表示将以“适当的方式”返还这个用于监测海底洋流和状况的装置。
Mr. Trump suggested that wasn't good enough. He said China's seizure was an "unprecedented act," and later added, "We should tell China that we don't want the drone they stole back."	特朗普认为这是不够的。他说，中国此举是“前所未有的”，后来又说，“我们应该告诉中国，他们偷走的潜航器我们不要了。”
Mr. Trump did not say how he would handle similar disputes after he is sworn in as president. But his other comments so far suggest that he will take a blunter, less predictable course on China than recent White House administrations.	特朗普没有说他担任总统之后将如何处理类似的纠纷。但是他迄今为止的其他做法表明，他对中国采取的行动将比最近几届白宫政府更加直接，更加不可预测。
This month, Mr. Trump spoke on the phone with Tsai Ing-wen, the president of Taiwan, breaking nearly 40 years of American presidents and presidents-elect avoiding direct conversation with the leader of the island, over which China claims sovereignty.	本月，特朗普与台湾总统蔡英文通了电话，打破了近 40 年来美国总统和候任总统避免与台湾领导人直接通话的惯例。中国声称对台湾拥有主权。
In an interview with Fox News, Mr. Trump then suggested he could depart from the One China principle, which blocks Washington from diplomatic ties with Taiwan, using that as a pressure point to seek trade concessions from Beijing. He also criticized China on trade, the buildup of military outposts in the South China Sea and its reluctance to isolate North Korea.	在接受福克斯新闻(Fox News)采访时，特朗普暗示他可能会偏离“一个中国”的原则——该原则阻止华盛顿与台湾发展外交关系——以此作为筹码，寻求北京在贸易问题上让步。他还对中国在贸易上的做法，在南海建立军事前哨，以及不愿意孤立朝鲜进行了批评。

So far, Mr. Xi has not reacted publicly to Mr. Trump's warnings. The two men had a brief but cordial call after Mr. Trump won the election. Chinese leaders rarely wade openly into disputes, leaving that to junior officials. But pressure for a tougher reaction to Mr. Trump could build in China if he keeps lobbing out warnings, especially after he becomes president.	到目前为止,习近平没有公开对特朗普的警告作出反应。两个人在特朗普胜选后进行了短暂但亲切的电话交谈。中国领导人很少公开参与纠纷,往往会留给下级官员处理。但是,如果特朗普不断发出警告,特别是在他成为总统之后,中国国内就可能形成一种压力,要求习近平对特朗普做出更强硬的回应。
Experts disagreed over whether China's seizure of the submersible drone was intended as a signal to Mr. Trump, or even authorized by Mr. Xi. But Chinese decision makers probably took into account that Mr. Trump's team would read it as "a test and a warning," said Ni Lexiong, a naval affairs researcher at the Shanghai University of Political Science and Law.	中国扣留潜航器是不是对特朗普发出的一个信号,甚至是不是习近平授权开展了这个行动,专家们对此看法不一。但是中国决策者可能考虑到特朗普团队会把这看成是“一个测试和警告,”上海政法大学的海洋军事研究员倪乐雄说。

that means to speak or act without rhyme or reason. China, it said, should “stay steady on its feet, keep a good grasp of developments, calmly respond, and that’s it.”
But even China’s calls for calm have barbs and caveats that could rile a Trump administration.	但是，甚至连中国要求冷静的呼吁也含有尖刻言辞和警告，可能惹怒特朗普政府。
When the Chinese defense ministry said it would return the submersible drone, it also said the Chinese ship showed a “professional and responsible attitude” by seizing the device, although the drone appeared to be outside even an extremely expansive view of China’s rightful reach in the South China Sea.	中国国防部在表示同意归还潜航器时，也提到中国船只捕获它体现出“专业和负责的态度”，虽然它当时似乎处在中国主张的、本来就极为广阔的南海主权的范围之外。
Chinese hard-liners are already urging a harsher response to Mr. Trump. A scenario like that could unfold very differently under Mr. Trump.	在特朗普任上，此类事件的情形可能会截然不同。
“If Trump perceives that he is being challenged, he will probably instinctively not want to be seen as weak,” said Bonnie S. Glaser, the director of the China Power Project at the Center for Strategic and International Studies in Washington. “It will be very messy if he decides to tweet or speak publicly in a crisis before he has all the intelligence and analysis necessary.”	“如果特朗普认为自己遭到了挑战，他很可能会本能地不想显得软弱，”华盛顿国际战略研究中心(Center for Strategic and International Studies)中国力量项目(China Power Project)主任葛来仪(Bonnie Glaser)说。“在危机中，如果他不先获得所有的情报和必要的分析，就决定在 Twitter 上发言或公开讲话，情况会变得非常混乱。”
Mr. Xi also has his domestic political timetable to worry about. He was appointed head of the Communist Party in 2012, and next year a party congress is all but certain to give him five more years in that job. But Mr. Xi must settle on a new cohort of senior officials to work under him, and during elite shake-ups the party leadership puts even more emphasis on stability.	习近平在国内有自己的政治日程需要担心。2012年，他被任命为中共总书记，而明年的党代会几乎肯定会同意他连任下一个五年任期。不过，习近平必须安排一批新的高级官员在自己手下工作，在精英人事变动时期，中共的领导层更强调稳定性。
“The leadership has to balance those goals of preserving a more stable and predictable external environment with avoiding the perception of weakness and vulnerability,” Ms. Glaser said. “I tend to believe that the latter will trump the former if the Chinese leadership has to choose. Pun intended.”	“中共领导层必须在保持更稳定、更可预见的外部环境与避免显得软弱这两个目标之间权衡，”葛来仪说。“我倾向于认为，如果中国领导层不得不做出选择，那么后者会战胜前者。我故意用的双关语（讲话者故意用了 trump 这个词本身的意思‘战胜，打败’——译注）。”

A Small African Nation Severs Ties with Taiwan, and Beijing Applauds	圣多美和普林西比与台湾断交，获北京赞许
HONG KONG — Before this week, few Chinese citizens had probably heard of São Tomé and Príncipe, an island nation off the west coast of Africa. But the country has risen into their good graces after deciding to sever diplomatic ties with Taiwan, a self-governing island that China	香港——本周前，可能几乎没几个中国公民听说过圣多美和普林西比这个位于非洲西海岸的岛国。但是，该岛国决定与台湾（中国认为自治的台湾是分离出去的省份）断绝外交关系后，它的地位已上升为深受中国人欢迎的程度。 regards as a breakaway province.

The decision, announced by Taiwan's Ministry of Foreign Affairs on Wednesday, reduces the number of countries that have formal relations with Taiwan to 21. It comes after Taiwan's president, Tsai Ing-wen, who took office in May, shattered diplomatic protocol in early December and startled Beijing by speaking with the American president-elect, Donald J. Trump.	这一决定是台湾外交部周三宣布的，这让与台湾有正式关系的国家减少到了21个。决定宣布前不久，今年5月上台的台湾总统蔡英文在12月初打破外交礼节，与美国候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普通了电话，使北京大吃一惊。
"China appreciates and welcomes São Tomé and Príncipe's return to the right track of the one-China principle," Hua Chunying, a spokeswoman for China's Ministry of Foreign Affairs, said at a news briefing on Wednesday.	"中方对此表示赞赏，欢迎圣普回到一个中国原则的正确轨道上来"，中国外交部发言人华春莹在周三的例行记者会上说。
Beijing has long refused to have diplomatic relations with any country that does not recognize it as China's sole government. Taiwan, where the defeated Chinese Nationalist forces retreated after the civil war in 1949, is formally known as the Republic of China. For decades, Beijing and Taipei competed for recognition as the country named "China," but in 1979 the United States switched its support and formally supported diplomatic relations with Beijing, and most countries have since done the same.	北京一直拒绝与任何不承认大陆是中国唯一政府的国家建立外交关系。国民党的军队在1949年内战战败后撤退至台湾，台湾政府的正式名称是中华民国。为被承认作为名为"中国"的国家，北京和台北进行了几十年的竞争，1979年美国改变了对台湾的支持，正式与北京建立了外交关系，自那以后，大多数国家也遵循这一做法。
Analysts said São Tomé and Príncipe could be just the first diplomatic defection by a small country eager to establish formal relations with Beijing instead of Taipei, as China is increasingly seen as the richer benefactor.	分析人士说，圣多美和普林西比可能不会是第一个渴望与北京、而非台北建立外交关系而倒戈的小国，因为越来越多的人视大陆为更有钱的赞助人。
"I think it might trigger a domino effect," Richard W. X. Hu, a professor of politics and public administration at the University of Hong Kong, said	"我觉得这可能引发多米诺骨牌效应，"香港大学政治与公共行政学教授胡伟星周四在一封电子邮件中表示。他还说，作为对蔡英文当选的回应，北京"挤

in an email on Thursday. He added that Beijing was “increasingly determined to squeeze Taipei’s international space” in response to the election of Ms. Tsai, whose Democratic Progressive Party has traditionally favored independence for Taiwan.	压台北的国际空间的决心越来越大”，蔡英文所在的民进党传统上倾向于台湾独立。
At a news briefing in Taipei on Wednesday, Taiwan’s foreign minister, David Lee, declined to provide details of how São Tomé and Príncipe, a former Portuguese colony with a population of less than 200,000, had arrived at its decision to sever diplomatic ties. Ms. Hua, the Chinese Foreign Ministry spokeswoman, did not say when the African country would formally establish diplomatic relations with Beijing.	周三，在台北举行的记者会上，台湾外交部长李大维拒绝提供关于圣多美和普林西比如何决定与台湾断绝外交关系的详细资料，该国是葡萄牙前殖民地，人口不到 20 万。中国外交部发言人华春莹没有说这个非洲国家什么时候将与北京正式建交。
Reports in Taiwan’s news media suggested that São Tomé and Príncipe’s decision had come from Taipei’s refusal to agree to a request for financial support. Taiwan’s state-run Central News Agency quoted an unnamed official at the Foreign Ministry as saying that São Tomé and Príncipe had sought $200 million from Taipei as part of what the agency’s report called “checkbook diplomacy.”	台湾新闻媒体的报道说，圣多美和普林西比的决定，是在台北拒绝了该国的财政支持要求之后做出的。台湾的官方通讯社中央社援引外交部一位未具名官员的话说，圣多美和普林西比曾希望从台北得到 2 亿美元，作为中央社报道称之为“金钱外交”的一部分。
But Zhang Baohui, a political scientist at Lingnan University in Hong Kong, said São Tomé’s decision to switch diplomatic allegiance had probably been orchestrated by Beijing and had broader political overtones.	但香港岭南大学的政治学家张泊汇表示，圣多美改变外交关系的决定可能是由北京精心策划的，带有更广泛的政治色彩。
“It looks like something inconsequential, but actually it means a lot for cross-strait relations,” Mr. Zhang said, referring to the body of water that separates Taiwan from the Chinese mainland. “Basically it means Beijing has a new Taiwan strategy: They’re going back to their confrontational style, and the truce with Taiwan over the past eight	张泊汇说，“这看起来像是一件无关紧要的事情，但实际上，这对海峡两岸关系来说意味重大，”他指的是把台湾与中国大陆分开的台湾海峡。“本质上，这意味着北京有了新的台湾战略：他们正在回到以前的对抗性做法，过去八年的与台湾的休战期已经结束了。”

Ms. Tsai’s predecessor, Ma Ying-jeou of the Kuomintang, or Nationalist Party, had promoted closer ties with China.	蔡英文的前任是来自国民党的马英九，国民党提倡与中国大陆更密切的关系。
Mr. Zhang said that before Ms. Tsai took office, Beijing had reportedly denied requests by several African and Latin American countries to establish formal diplomatic relations with Beijing instead of Taipei. The purpose at the time, he said, was to reward Mr. Ma for his role in stabilizing relations between China and Taiwan and to help him avoid “embarrassing” diplomatic episodes that could damage his domestic political capital.	张泊汇说，在蔡英文上任之前，据说北京曾拒绝了几个非洲和拉丁美洲国家与北京建立外交关系、与台北断交的请求。他说，当时的目的是奖励马英九在稳定大陆与台湾关系上起的作用，帮助他避免可能损害其国内政治资本的“尴尬”外交事件。
Mr. Zhang added that the move by São Tomé and Príncipe could be read as “part of China’s punishment of Tsai for calling Trump.”	张泊汇补充说，圣多美和普林西比的做法可以被看作是“中国对蔡英文与特朗普通话的惩罚的一部分”。
When Mr. Trump answered a congratulatory telephone call from Ms. Tsai this month, he became the first American president or president-elect to speak to a Taiwanese leader since at least 1979. Mr. Trump later said that he viewed the “One China” policy that has informed relations between Washington and Beijing since the 1970s as ripe for review, and Beijing responded by blaming Ms. Tsai’s government for arranging the call.	特朗普在本月早些时候接了蔡英文打过去的祝贺电话，成为自从至少1979年以来与台湾领导人通话的首位美国总统或候任总统。特朗普后来说，他认为，早就该审查自从20世纪70年代以来一直影响着华盛顿与北京关系的“一个中国”政策了。北京的回应是指责蔡英文政府安排了那次通话。
On Thursday, Global Times, a state-run Chinese newspaper, said that São Tomé and Príncipe’s decision was merely a beginning, and that Taiwan could lose all of its diplomatic partners if the Democratic Progressive Party “continues to pursue Taiwan independence.”	周四，中国官方报纸《环球时报》说，圣多美和普林西比的决定只是一个开始，如果民进党“继续推动台独”，台湾可能失去其所有的邦交国。
On Sina Weibo, China’s equivalent of Twitter, people welcomed the African country into the Chinese fold, even as some conceded that their	在中国相当于Twitter的新浪微博上，人们对这个非洲国家投入中国怀抱表示欢迎，同时也有些人承认，他们对该国的地理位置的认知模糊不清。 grasp of its geography was hazy.

"We should work harder to get the rest of those 21 countries," one person posted. "Then Taiwan would be truly 'independent.' "	"我们应该努力把剩下的 21 个国家争取过来，"一个用户发帖说。"那台湾就会真'独立'了。"

A Bruised Investor Seeks Justice for China's Market Turmoil	谁该为中国股灾负责？投资者试图起诉证监会
SHANGHAI	上海
WITH the nausea came a sense of frustration. Earlier this year, Xu Caiyuan watched helplessly as the numbers flashed across a computer screen in his office in Shanghai's glittering financial district.	伴随着厌恶而来的，还有一种挫败感。今年早些时候，在自己位于灿烂夺目的上海金融区的办公室里，徐财源无助地看着电脑屏幕上闪动的数字。
The Chinese stock market was in free fall again. In a spectacular crash just months earlier, it had wiped out significant assets of professional investors like himself and the life savings of many ordinary citizens. The instability spread to global markets.	中国股市再次出现自由落体式的下跌。就在几个月前，股市暴跌，吞噬了像他这样的职业投资者相当数量的资产和很多普通人一生的积蓄。这种不稳定蔓延到了全球市场。
"During the stock market plunge, many middle-class investors lost their money, and they don't know why," Mr. Xu, 38, said over lunch in a Southeast Asian restaurant overlooking a park in Shanghai's French Concession. "The reason the market plummeted is because this is a man-made disaster."	"股市暴跌期间，很多中产阶级投资者亏损，却不知道为什么，"38 岁的徐财源在上海前法租界一家能够俯瞰一处公园的东南亚餐厅吃午饭时说道。"市场暴跌是因为这是一场人为的灾难。"
"I think there's a human factor behind the stock market crash," he added. "The crash took me by surprise. I thought, 'This isn't normal.'"	"我认为股市暴跌的背后存在人为因素，"他接着说。"这次暴跌出乎我的意料。我想，'这不正常。'"
Long a shareholder advocate, Mr. Xu is now waging a battle against a powerful government agency in hopes of punishing the officials he blames for the twin disasters, which shook world indexes in summer 2015 and this January.	长期倡导股东权益的徐财源现在正在向一个强大的政府机构开战，希望惩罚一些官员。他认为他们应该为这两场灾难负责。这两场灾难分别在 2015 年夏天和今年 1 月动摇了世界各地的股市指数。

Mr. Xu's target is the China Securities Regulatory Commission, which came under intense criticism from investors and some officials for withholding or misrepresenting information and enacting emergency trading controls that contributed to the terrible losses suffered by investors. Its chairman, Xiao Gang, was fired from his post in February.	徐财源的目标是中国证券监督管理委员会。因为隐瞒或误报信息并实施紧急交易管控措施，导致投资者损失惨重，该机构遭到投资者和部分官员的强烈指责。其主席肖钢于2月被免职。

In the wake of the market crashes, Mr. Xu has emerged as the face of investor frustration as he tries to sue the agency, known widely as the C.S.R.C. Chinese news organizations have published a stream of articles about Mr. Xu this year. Several Chinese news sites have called Mr. Xu the "big brother helping to protect rights." CNBC, the American financial television news network, did a segment on him.	股市暴跌后，徐财源成为了投资者不满情绪的代表，试图起诉证监会。今年，中国新闻机构发表了一系列有关他的文章。几家中文新闻网站称他是“股市维权大哥”。美国财经电视新闻网CNBC还制作了一段有关他的专题节目。
In person, Mr. Xu does not look like a legal brawler. A slim, short man, he showed up to lunch wearing hip glasses and a navy suit with white dots. His attempt to sue the C.S.R.C. after the January 2016 crash was different, because he was taking on the government. Mr. Xu became a public figure in 2008, when he led a shareholder suit against Gangfan, a state-owned steel company based in Sichuan Province that was undergoing restructuring, accusing it of wrongly failing to buy back stock warrants held by investors. Not all of the lawsuits have been successful. He failed in an attempt to sue a pharmaceuticals company in Inner Mongolia with large property holdings — “This company was set to be a big enterprise in Inner Mongolia, so I think it had influence,” he said.	并非所有起诉都成功了。他曾经试图起诉内蒙古一家持有大量地产的制药公司，但以失败告终。“这家公司要被树立成内蒙的一家大企业，所以我想它有一定的势力，”他说。
Police officers in Inner Mongolia called Mr. Xu to question him over the telephone. Officers in Shanghai did the same.	内蒙古警方给徐财源打电话，在电话里讯问他。上海警方也采取了同样的做法。
Through the years, Mr. Xu has continued investing. “I don’t think I’m an opportunist,” he said. “I think I’ve always invested based on the value of the companies.”	多年来，徐财源仍在投资。“我不认为自己是机会主义者，”他说。“我认为自己的投资永远都是基于公司的价值。”
The case Mr. Xu is trying to make against the China Securities Regulatory Commission is not an easy one. Mr. Xu said he believed the market crashed in part because state-owned enterprises sold large holdings and withdrew from the market under cover from the agency, which reassured people that big investors were staying in the market.	徐财源试图起诉证监会一案不会容易。他说自己认为股市暴跌在一定程度上是因为国有企业在证监会的掩护下卖出大量股票撤离，而证监会却让投资者放心，称大户仍在股市坚守。
He also said the C.S.R.C. had issued a statement called Document No. 21, in which its head, Mr. Xiao, said that a large state securities company would keep up its investments to stabilize the market. That turned out not to be true, Mr. Xu said — in reality, the company and other state-owned enterprises sold off stocks.	他还说证监会发布了一份名为《21号文件》的声明。在声明中，时任证监会主席的肖钢称，一家大型国有证券公司会继续投资，以稳定市场。徐财源说，结果证明并非如此。事实是，这家公司和其他国企都在抛售股票。
The C.S.R.C. spokesman did not respond to multiple calls made to his office on Friday seeking comment.	周五，证监会发言人未回复记者多次拨打的置评请求电话。

Planned Hong Kong Museum Will Showcase China's Imperial Relics	香港将新建博物馆展览北京故宫馆藏
BEIJING — In a sign of growing cultural ties between mainland China and Hong Kong, officials in Hong Kong have announced plans to build a museum to serve as a permanent display space for objects from Beijing's Palace Museum, home to some of China's most treasured imperial artifacts.	北京——香港官员宣布计划建造一座博物馆，作为展览北京故宫博物院藏品的永久展示空间，这显示出中国大陆和香港的文化联系在逐渐增强。故宫博物院珍藏着中国一些最为珍贵的皇家文物。
Under the agreement, which was signed in Beijing on Friday by Carrie Lam, Hong Kong's second-ranking official, and Shan Jixiang, director of the Palace Museum, what is being called the Hong Kong Palace Museum will be built as part of the West Kowloon Cultural District, a colossal government-backed cultural infrastructure project.	上周五，香港政府第二号人物林郑月娥(Carrie Lam)和故宫博物院院长单霁翔在北京签署了这项协议。在该协议下，这座香港故宫文化博物馆(Hong Kong Palace Museum)将成为西九文化区的一部分，后者是一个由政府资助的大型文化基础设施项目。
The museum, costing $451 million and scheduled to be completed in 2022, will be managed by a subsidiary of the West Kowloon Cultural District Authority. Artifacts from the Palace Museum collection highlighting imperial life and culture in China will be exhibited on a long-term basis.	这座耗资 4.51 亿美元的博物馆预计将于 2022 年完工，它将由西九文化区管理局的一个分支机构管理。突显中国皇家生活与文化的故宫博物院藏文物将在这里进行长期的展览。
The Hong Kong architect Rocco Yim has been tapped to design the building, which will have an estimated 328,000 square feet of floor space and feature two exhibition galleries, activity rooms, a 400-seat lecture theater, a gift shop and a restaurant. Costs for the project are	这座建筑将由香港建筑设计师严迅奇(Rocco Yim)设计，占地面积约 32.8 万平方英尺（约合 3 万平方米），有两个展厅、活动室、一座有 400 个座位的演讲厅、一个礼品店和一个餐厅。这个项目的费用都由香港赛马会(Hong Kong Jockey Club)捐赠，该非营利机构过去曾几次为故宫博物院在

Government officials are describing the project as part of larger celebrations planned for next year to mark the 20th anniversary of Hong Kong's transfer in 1997 from British colonial rule to China.	为纪念香港 1997 年脱离英国殖民统治回归中国 20 周年，明年将举行一场大规模的庆祝活动，政府官员称这个项目是其中的一部分。
"This is the best and greatest gift to celebrate the 20th anniversary of Hong Kong's return to the motherland," Leung Chun-ying, Hong Kong's leader, said at the signing ceremony.	这"是庆祝香港回归祖国 20 周年最好的、最大的礼物，"香港领导人梁振英在签约仪式上说。
For many in Hong Kong, the announcement on Friday came as a surprise, prompting critics to raise concerns about the lack of transparency in the government's decision-making process.	周五宣布的这个消息让许多香港人感到意外，也促使批评人士对政府决策过程缺乏透明度表示担忧。
On Monday, Ms. Lam dismissed the concerns, asserting that the preparation and approval of the new museum had been carried out "in accordance with procedures."	周一，林郑月娥对这种担忧予以驳斥，坚称新博物馆的筹备和审批是"按程序"进行的。
"Since the plan for the entire West Kowloon Cultural District was designated for art and cultural facilities, it was not necessary to hold another public consultation on city planning just to build a new museum," she said, according to remarks published on the Hong Kong government's news website.	"由于整个西九文化区的土地规划是用作文化艺术设施，兴建博物馆不需按城市规划程序重新咨询公众，"香港政府新闻网上发布的信息显示，她当时这样讲道。
Ms. Lam's remarks appear to have done little to assuage her critics, many of whom have long been wary of efforts by Beijing to assert its influence in Hong Kong, a semiautonomous territory. At times, the central government in Beijing has acted brazenly, as seen recently when China intervened in a local court case, essentially blocking two	林郑月娥的言论似乎没能缓和批评者的情绪，他们中有许多长久以来一直警惕北京对半自治的香港施加影响的企图。有时，北京的中央政府会明目张胆地采取行动，比如最近北京对当地法院的一个案件进行干预，在实质上阻止两名支持独立的政治人士在香港立法会取得席位。

pro-independence politicians from taking seats in Hong Kong's legislature.
But more often than not, critics say, Beijing's influence in the city is felt indirectly. Last year, for example, officials at M+, Hong Kong's planned museum of visual culture and another focal point of the West Kowloon Cultural District development, expressed concern that the museum's government financing would make it vulnerable to unseen political pressures packaged as bureaucratic procedures.	但批评人士表示，更常见的情况是，北京对香港的影响是间接感受到的。比如在去年，西九文化区开发的另一个重点、香港计划中的视觉文化博物馆 M+的工作人员表达了这样一种担忧，即这座博物馆的政府资助性质，可能会让它容易受制于以官僚程序的形式出现的、不可见的政治压力。
With the new Hong Kong Palace Museum, however, there will be no denying Beijing's presence. The original Palace Museum, which was founded in 1925 in the heart of China's capital, is, along with the Great Wall, one of China's most prominent landmarks.	然而，对于新的香港故宫文化博物馆而言，北京的影响力则是毋庸置疑的。和长城一样，最早于 1925 年在中国首都的中心建起的故宫博物院是中国最知名的地标之一。
In 2014, more than 15 million people visited the Palace Museum, which is housed within the Forbidden City, though it probably is remembered more for its vermilion walls, white marble footbridges and yellow-glazed roof tiles than for its collection of artifacts, which are typically displayed in the wings of the sprawling complex.	2014 年，有超过 1500 万人参观了位于紫禁城内的故宫博物院，尽管它更多被人记住的可能是朱红的墙壁、白色大理石行人桥和屋顶的黄色琉璃瓦，而非其中的文物，后者通常陈列在这一大片建筑群的侧殿里。
The Palace Museum's collection comprises vast holdings of more than 1.8 million artifacts built on the imperial collections of the Ming and Qing dynasties and later expanded during the 20th century. In the 1940s, however, a number of the most prized objects were carried off by Chiang Kai-shek's retreating Nationalist forces to Taiwan, where they are now displayed in Taiwan's own National Palace Museum.	故宫博物院的文物有 180 万件之多，它们以明清两朝皇家藏品为基础，在 20 世纪有所扩大。但是在上世纪 40 年代，有不少最珍贵的藏品被撤往台湾的蒋介石国民党军队带走，那些藏品现在展示在台湾自己的国立故宫博物院内。
Still, the Beijing Palace Museum's collection is by all accounts impressive, and it includes important works of bronzeware, jade,	不过，北京故宫博物院的藏品依然被认为是十分精彩的，其中包含重要的青铜器、玉石、雕塑、印玺、瓷器、书法和绘画作品，比如著名的 12 世纪卷

Given the success of previous exhibits, many in China and Hong Kong have applauded the decision to build a Hong Kong outpost as an opportunity to showcase more of the Palace Museum's holdings before a wider audience. Because of limited space, Beijing's Palace Museum displays only 0.5 percent of its collection in any given year, Mr. Shan, the museum's director, said at a tourism conference in October.	考虑到此前几次展览的成功, 中国大陆和香港有不少人对设立一个香港前哨机构的决定持赞赏态度, 认为这是一个机会, 可以向更广泛的受众展示故宫博物院的更多馆藏。在今年10月举行的一场旅游业会议上, 院长单霁翔表示, 因为空间有限, 北京故宫博物院每年只能展示0.5%的藏品。
At that conference, Mr. Shan also announced plans to build a new 1.3 million-square-foot branch of the Palace Museum in northern Beijing so that more cultural relics could be displayed to the public. And, this week, the Palace Museum is scheduled to unveil a 140,000-square foot "cultural relics hospital" where visitors can see how the museum's ancient works are repaired and restored.	在那场会议上, 单霁翔也宣布了在北京北部建造一座面积130万平方英尺(约合12万平方米)的故宫博物院新分院的计划, 这样就能向公众展示更多文化遗产。本周, 故宫博物院本周将开放一座占地14万平方英尺的“文物医院”, 访客可以在那里观看博物院的古代作品是如何进行补救和修复的。

Trump, breaking a longstanding diplomatic practice.
In recent weeks, China has stepped up military activities near Taiwan, sending its sole aircraft carrier through the waters near the island and dispatching military planes in the region. On Monday, Beijing announced that São Tomé and Príncipe, an island nation off the west coast of Africa that was one of Taiwan's fewer than two dozen remaining diplomatic allies, had switched its allegiance to the mainland, provoking an outcry in Taiwan.	在几周里，中国加强了在台湾附近的军事活动，将中国唯一的一艘航空母舰派往台湾附近的水域，还向该地区派遣了军用飞机。上周一，北京宣称，位于非洲西海岸的岛国圣多美和普林西比与台湾断交，改为支持北京。这引发了台湾的强烈抗议，该岛国曾经是台湾剩下的二十几个外交盟友之一。
Despite Beijing's recent actions, which she said had "hurt the feelings" of the Taiwanese people and destabilized relations, Ms. Tsai vowed to avoid a confrontation.	蔡英文说，尽管北京最近的行为“伤害了台湾人民的情感”，但她承诺要避免冲突。
"We will not bow to pressure, and we will of course not revert to the old path of confrontation," she said.	她说，“我们不会屈服于压力，也不会走回对抗的老路。”
Ms. Tsai faces the delicate task of registering discontent with Beijing while also sending a message that Taiwan will exercise restraint. The United States, which sees Taiwan as one of its most reliable allies in Asia and has sold billions of dollars of weapons to the island, has long sought to avoid a conflict between the two sides.	摆蔡英文面前的微妙任务是，既要对北京表示不满，同时也要传达台湾将会克制的信息。美国把台湾看作是自己在亚洲最可靠的盟友之一，已向台湾出售了数十亿美元的军火，美国长期以来一直设法避免两岸之间的冲突。
But the election of Mr. Trump could complicate matters. He has antagonized Beijing with a series of critical comments. Richard C. Bush, the director of the Center for East Asia Policy Studies at the Brookings Institution in Washington, said Ms. Tsai understood the need to "maintain a balance among relations with China, relations with the United States and domestic politics."	华盛顿布鲁金斯学会东亚政策研究中心主任理查德·C·布什(Richard C. Bush)说，蔡英文明白"在台中关系、台美关系，以及国内政治之间保持平衡"的必要性。
Ms. Tsai's vision, however, "may not align well with the incoming Trump administration's apparent belief that it can pressure China on all fronts more than the Obama administration has," he said.	但是，他说，蔡英文的愿景"可能并不与新一届的特朗普政府表面上的信念完全一致，特朗普认为，他的政府能在所有的方面向中国施加压力，比奥巴马政府采取的做法更广泛。"
Ms. Tsai also sought to quell concerns about planned stopovers in Houston and San Francisco during a visit to Central America scheduled for January.	蔡英文已定于1月份访问中美洲，行程上有在休斯顿和旧金山停留的计划，她也试图平息这个停留计划引起的担忧。
The Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs on Thursday called on the United States to block Ms. Tsai from entering the country, warning that such a visit would embolden independence activists in Taiwan.	中国外交部上周四呼吁美国不允许蔡英文过境，并警告说，这种访问会让台湾的支持独立人士更大胆。
Ms. Tsai described the visit as "unofficial," saying, "A transit stop is just a transit stop."	蔡英文把访问描述为"非官方的"，她说，"过境停留只不过是过境停留而已。"

Closing China's Ivory Market: Will It Save Elephants?	中国宣布关闭象牙市场能拯救大象吗?
NAIROBI, Kenya — In the past 10 years, tens of thousands of elephants have been slaughtered across Africa to feed China's insatiable appetite for ivory. Entire herds from Gabon to Tanzania have disappeared. Even baby elephants have been killed for their tiny stubs of ivory. Scientists have said that the very survival of the species is in China's hands.	肯尼亚内罗毕——在过去的 10 年中，为了满足中国对象牙不知餍足的胃口，非洲有数以万计的大象遭到屠杀。从加蓬到坦桑尼亚，象群消失了。即使是幼象也因为刚刚冒头的小象牙而遭到杀害。科学家们说，这个物种的生存前景掌握在中国的手中。
On Friday, after years of denying that China was part of the problem, the Chinese government made a stunning announcement: It would shut down the country's ivory market, the world's largest.	中国多年来一直否认自己是这个问题的一部分，但上周五，中国政府发表了一则出人意料的声明：它将关闭该国的象牙市场。那是世界上最大的象牙市场。
Will this save the elephants? This is what experts on the plight of elephants say:	这能拯救大象吗？深谙大象所处困境的专家表示：
— It all depends on the price. If China simply shuts down its legal ivory trade but does little to combat the much bigger illegal trade, then the price of ivory (now about $500 per pound) will stay high, giving poachers an incentive to keep killing.	——这完全取决于价格。如果中国仅仅是关停其合法的象牙贸易，在打击规模更大的黑市方面没有什么作为的话，那么象牙价格（现在每磅约 500 美元）将继续保持在高位，偷猎者仍然有继续猎杀大象的动机。
— Making all ivory illegal in China could push the price up, like illegal drugs.	——宣布中国境内所有象牙非法可能会推高价格，就像非法药物一样。
— Neighboring markets will be crucial. If Vietnam, Myanmar, the Philippines and others do not take similar steps, then many Chinese will buy their ivory from other places, which will keep demand high.	——邻国市场将变得至关重要。如果越南、缅甸、菲律宾和其他国家不采取类似的举措，届时将有很多中国人从其他地方购买象牙，这会维持需求的高企。
— African elephants face other threats, including habitat destruction and increasingly deadly contacts with humans. In Kenya, a truck speeding down a highway recently rammed into an elephant and killed it.	——非洲大象还面临着其他威胁，包括栖息地遭到破坏，以及与人类的接触越来越致命。最近，肯尼亚一辆在公路上疾驰的卡车撞死了一头大象。

— Many elephants are also hunted for bush meat. China's new policy will not affect that.	——还有很多大象是因为有人想吃野味而被猎杀。中国的新政策影响不到这个方面。
— If the Chinese government commits to combating the ivory trade, then the price of ivory could collapse. Criminal organizations and poachers will then abandon the business, and Africa's elephant herds could recover for the first time in years.	——如果中国政府致力于打击象牙交易，那么象牙价格可能会暴跌。犯罪组织和偷猎者就会放弃这项生意，非洲象群的数量可能会迎来多年来的首次回升。
Wildlife researchers estimate that 50 to 70 percent of all smuggled elephant ivory — maybe even more — ends up in China, where there are countless ivory workshops and showrooms, many perfectly legal.	野生动物研究人员估计，在所有走私象牙中，最终流向中国的占 50%到 70%，甚或更多。中国有不计其数的象牙工厂和展厅，其中很多完全合法。
In China now, large pieces of legal ivory come with documents certifying that the ivory was acquired before the 1989 worldwide ban on the commercial ivory trade or that it came from one of the authorized sales since then, when a few African countries were allowed to sell from their stockpiles.	在中国，现在很多大件的合法象牙都附有相关文件，证明象牙购买于 1989 年那项叫停商业象牙贸易的禁令颁布之前，或是购自那之后的授权销售途径。那项全球性禁令颁布后，一些非洲国家获准销售自己的库存。
But many wildlife experts say this system is a farce. The ivory papers can be easily forged, and often the ivory in public shops is smuggled ivory from recently killed elephants that has been illegally imported and fraudulently labeled.	但很多野生动物专家表示，这一制度纯属闹剧。象牙文件造假容易，对外开放的店铺里摆放的象牙，往往是取自刚刚被猎杀的大象的走私象牙。它们被非法进口，并被贴上假标签。
Iain Douglas-Hamilton, one of the world's most renowned elephant researchers, said that up until a few years ago, Chinese officials denied that their country was a part of the ivory problem.	伊恩·道格拉斯-汉密尔顿(Iain Douglas-Hamilton)是全球最著名的大象研究人员之一。他说，直到几年前，中国官方还否认中国是象牙问题的一部分。
"It was a topic you couldn't bring up with them," Douglas-Hamilton said.	"那时候，你不能和他们提起这个话题，"道格拉斯-汉密尔顿说。
But over the years, he said, China has grown embarrassed by the criticism it has received around the world for its appetite for ivory.	但他说，这些年来，中国因对象牙的需求而受到全世界的指责，并因此感到尴尬。野生动物团体、美国政府、非洲政府和国际影星纷纷敦促中国对象牙

Wildlife groups, the U.S. government, African governments and international movie stars have harangued China to say no to ivory.	说不。
"China has come through an extraordinary evolution," Douglas-Hamilton said.	"中国经历了一场非凡的演变,"道格拉斯-汉密尔顿说。
China says it will shut down its ivory trade by the end of the year. It says it will start by closing the legal ivory processing factories.	中国表示将在年底之前取缔象牙贸易,并且将从关停合法的象牙加工厂开始。
But will this drive the trade underground? For instance, it is forbidden in China to traffic in tiger parts.	但此举会不会促使该贸易转向地下?比如,中国是禁止交易老虎的身体部位的。
But there is still a thriving underground trade in tiger bones, used to make very expensive wines cherished for their supposed medicinal powers.	但虎骨的地下贸易依然颇为繁荣。因被认为具有药用价值,虎骨被视为珍宝并被用来制成非常昂贵的酒。
Some consumers seem to get an additional thrill from knowing tiger-bone wine is highly illegal.	一些消费者似乎会因为虎骨酒严重违法而感到更加刺激。
Karl Ammann, a documentary filmmaker and independent wildlife investigator in Kenya, said he was worried that something like this could happen to ivory.	肯尼亚纪录片制作人、独立野生动物调查人士卡尔·安曼(Karl Ammann)称,他担心类似的情况会发生在象牙身上。
Ivory's value as a status symbol could increase, he said, if ivory is seen as a statement of being above the law.	他说,如果象牙被视作凌驾于法律之上的证明,其作为身份地位象征的价值可能会增加。
"If it's illegal, that might make it even more attractive," he said.	"如果是非法的,这甚至可能会让它变得更有吸引力,"他说。
Ammann also said many ivory-carving factories had moved to Vietnam. On a recent trip to Hanoi, Vietnam's capital, he said, he visited an ivory workshop that used a computerized machine that carved five ivory pieces at once.	安曼还表示,不少象牙雕刻厂已转移至越南。他说,最近去越南首都河内时,他参观了一家象牙厂。该厂用的是一台用电脑控制的机器,一次能够雕刻五件象牙制品。
The reaction among many wildlife experts in Africa can be summed up in one word: cautious.	非洲很多野生动物专家的反应可以用一个词来概括:谨慎。

"Assuming they are able to break the market, for us it does offer a bit of light at the end of a very dark tunnel," said Emmanuel de Merode, director of Virunga National Park in Congo.	"假设他们能够打破市场，对我们来说，这的确是在一条非常黑暗的隧道尽头提供了一点亮光，"刚果维龙加国家公园(Virunga National Park)园长埃曼努埃尔·德梅罗德(Emmanuel de Merode)说。
But he quickly added: "Ivory can be stockpiled. Some people may think it's worth trying to get more ivory in case the market opens one day."	但他很快又补充说："象牙可能会被囤积起来。一些人也许会认为，不妨试试弄到更多象牙，说不定有一天市场又开放了呢。"
That could mean an increase in poaching before China's ban takes effect.	这可能意味着在中国的禁令生效前，偷猎现象会增加。
Paula Kahumbu, chief executive of WildlifeDirect, a conservation group in Kenya, said she was "suspicious" about China's motives and its commitment to fight the ivory trade.	肯尼亚保护组织野生动物信息(WildlifeDirect)的执行主任保罗·卡乎姆卜(Paula Kahumbu)说，她对中国的动机和打击象牙贸易的承诺"感到怀疑"。
"China needs Africa right now," she said. "I think they're just buying good will."	"中国现在需要非洲，"她说。"我觉得他们只是在换取善意。"
Kahumbu cited several Chinese infrastructure projects that had caused problems for Kenya's wildlife.	卡乎姆卜列举了中国的几个基础设施项目作为例子。它们给肯尼亚的野生动物带来了麻烦。
When it comes to Africa, she said, China does not have "an environmental bone" in its body.	在非洲的问题上，她说，中国的身体里没有长"环保的骨头"。

BEIJING — It's become easy to imagine an aide to China's president, Xi Jinping, knocking on his bedroom door in the middle of the night to report the latest from Trump Tower: "He's tweeted about us again."	北京——不难想象这样的情景，中国国家主席习近平的助手半夜敲开他的卧室门，向他汇报来自特朗普大厦的最新消息："他又发关于我们的推文了。"
China's leaders thought they had a solution to the torrent of snark, jibes and condemnation on Twitter. They banned access to it in China. But, paradoxically, China has become the country that President-elect Donald J. Trump seems to most enjoy trolling on his open-all-hours	中国领导人曾以为他们有办法解决 Twitter 上发出的连珠炮式的尖锐批评、嘲笑和谴责。他们屏蔽了 Twitter，不让它进入中国。但很矛盾的是，中国似乎已成为候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普最喜欢在其连轴转的 Twitter 帐户上发帖挑衅的国家。

Twitter feed.
In bursts of 140 characters or less, he has jabbed at Beijing over Taiwan, trade, the South China Sea and, most recently, North Korea. "China has been taking out massive amounts of money & wealth from the U.S. in totally one-sided trade, but won't help with North Korea. Nice!" Mr. Trump said on Twitter on Monday.	在不超过 140 个字符的迸发中，特朗普已多次直戳北京，包括在台湾、贸易和南中国海问题上，最近还在朝鲜问题上。“中国通过一边倒的贸易赚取了大量资金和财富，却在朝鲜问题上不帮忙。这太棒了！”特朗普周一在 Twitter 上说。
How and when Mr. Xi reads about these broadsides remains a mystery to outsiders. Translating Mr. Trump's sarcasm — "Nice!" — could be tricky. But Chinese officials and the state news media want Mr. Trump to know that their leaders prefer doing diplomacy the old-fashioned way, behind closed doors and muffled in platitudes.	对外界来说，习近平怎样以及何时读到这些猛烈抨击仍是个谜。翻译特朗普“这太棒了！”的挖苦语气也许颇为棘手。但是，中国官员和官方新闻媒体想让特朗普知道，中国领导人喜欢用老方式搞外交，喜欢关起门来说一些陈词滥调。
Xinhua, the state news agency, has more or less asked Mr. Trump to shut up. "An obsession with 'Twitter foreign policy' is undesirable," read the headline of a Xinhua commentary on Tuesday about Mr. Trump's posts.	官方通讯社新华社已差不多要求特朗普闭嘴。周二的一篇针对特朗普推文的新华时评用的标题是：“沉迷于‘推特外交’不可取。”
"Everyone recognizes the common sense that foreign policy isn't child's play, and even less is it like doing business deals," said the article, published after Mr. Trump's latest barbed comments on China.	这篇时评，是在特朗普最新发布讽刺中国的帖子之后发表的。文章说，“大家公认的一个常识是，外交绝非儿戏，更不能当成生意来做。”
"Twitter shouldn't become an instrument of foreign policy," the article said. Earlier that day, a spokesman for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs rejected Mr. Trump's accusation that Beijing had coddled North Korea.	“推特不应成为外交政策的工具，”时评写道。当天早些时候，外交部发言人表示拒绝接受特朗普的指责。特朗普认为北京惯坏了朝鲜。
But the article acknowledged that it was probably too late to detach Mr. Trump from Twitter. Mr. Trump's designated press secretary, Sean Spicer, has indicated that Mr. Trump will keep using the terse, punchy format after he settles in the White House.	但那篇时评也承认，让特朗普与 Twitter 分手可能为时已晚。特朗普尚未上任的新闻秘书肖恩·斯派塞(Sean Spicer)表示，特朗普入主白宫后将继续使用这种简明又有冲击力的方式。

"Issuing tweets has become a habit for Mr. Trump," Xinhua noted. Mr. Trump, it said, appeared to assume that "issuing hard-line comments and taking up sensitive issues may perhaps add to his chips for negotiating with other countries."	新华社评注意到，“在推特上发发推文，也成了特朗普先生的一种习惯。”时评说，特朗普似乎认为，“发表一些强硬言论，触碰一些敏感问题，或许就能增加与他国谈判的筹码。”
Mr. Xi is most unlikely to joust directly with Mr. Trump on Twitter. The service has been banned in China since 2009, though residents find ways to poke through the firewall of censorship.	习近平在 Twitter 上与特朗普短兵相接是极为不可能的事情。自 2009 年以来，中国就一直在屏蔽 Twitter，虽然一些人找到了穿越审查防火墙的方法。
And while Chinese politicians love slogans, they prefer to communicate with foreign leaders through long, tranquilizing disquisitions. Open sarcasm is rare.	虽然中国政客喜欢口号，但他们更愿意用漫长的、镇定的论述来与外国领导人沟通。很少有公开的讽刺。

China Aims to Spend at Least $360 Billion on Renewable Energy by 2020	中国将投资 2.5 万亿人民币发展可再生能源
China intends to spend more than $360 billion through 2020 on renewable power sources like solar and wind, the government's energy agency said on Thursday.	中国政府的能源机构周四宣布，中国计划到 2020 年为止，在太阳能和风能等可再生能源上共投资 2.5 万亿元人民币。
The country's National Energy Administration laid out a plan to dominate one of the world's fastest-growing industries, just at a time when the United States is set to take the opposite tack as Donald J. Trump, a climate-change doubter, prepares to assume the presidency.	通过该计划，中国国家能源局希望能在这个全球增长最快的行业建立统治地位。与此同时，对气候变化持怀疑态度的唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)即将就任总统，美国正准备反其道而行之。
The agency said in a statement that China would create more than 13 million jobs in the renewable energy sector by 2020, curb the growth of greenhouse gasses that contribute to global warming and reduce the	国家能源局在一份声明中称，到 2020 年，中国将在可再生能源领域创造逾 1300 万个工作岗位、抑制导致全球变暖的温室气体的增长并减少煤烟。最近几天，煤烟导致北京和中国其他一些城市笼罩在一片有毒的雾霾中。

amount of soot that in recent days has blanketed Beijing and other Chinese cities in a noxious cloud of smog.
China surpassed the United States a decade ago as the world's biggest emitter of greenhouse gasses, and now discharges about twice as much. For years, its oil and coal industries prospered under powerful political patrons and the growth-above-anything mantra of the ruling Communist Party.	十年前，中国超过美国成为全球最大的温室气体排放国。现在，中国的排放量约是美国的两倍。多年来，在强大的政治靠山和共产党增长高于一切的准则的扶持下，中国的石油和煤炭行业繁荣发展。
The result was choking pollution and the growing recognition that China, many of whose biggest cities are on the coast, will be threatened by rising sea levels.	后果就是令人窒息的污染，对中国将受到海平面不断上升的威胁也产生越来越强烈的认识。中国最大的城市中很多都位于沿海地区。
But even disregarding the threat of climate change, China's announcement was a bold claim on leadership in the renewable energy industry, where Chinese companies, buoyed by a huge domestic market, are already among the world's dominant players. Thanks in part to Chinese manufacturing, costs in the wind and solar industries are plummeting, making them increasingly competitive with power generation from fossil fuels like coal and natural gas.	但即便不考虑气候变化的威胁，中国宣布这一计划也是在大胆地谋求对可再生能源行业的领导权。在该领域，中国公司在巨大的国内市场的支持下，已经跻身全球主导力量之列。风能和太阳能行业的成本骤降在一定程度上是拜中国制造所赐，使得它们相较于煤炭和天然气等化石燃料发电越来越有竞争力。
Sam Geall, executive editor of Chinadialogue, an English- and Chinese-language website that focuses on the environment, said that the United States, by moving away from a focus on reducing carbon emissions, risked losing out to China in the race to lead the industry.	重点关注环境问题的英汉双语网站中外对话的主编萨姆·杰尔(Sam Geall)说，美国不再注重降低碳排放的做法，可能会在为领导该行业而展开的竞赛中输给中国。
Mr. Trump has in the past called the theory of human-caused global warming a hoax and picked a fierce opponent of President Obama's rules to reduce carbon emissions, Scott Pruitt, the Oklahoma attorney general, to lead the Environmental Protection Agency.	特朗普过去称人为原因导致全球变暖的理论是一场骗局，并选择了俄克拉何马州检察长斯科特·普鲁特(Scott Pruitt)领导美国环境保护局(Environmental Protection Agency)。后者强烈反对奥巴马总统的减排规定。

The investment commitment made by the Chinese, combined with Mr. Trump's moves, means jobs that would have been created in the United States may instead go to Chinese workers.	中国的投资承诺，加上特朗普的举动，意味着本可以在美国创造的就业机会可能会流向中国的劳动者。
Even the headline-grabbing numbers on total investment and job creation may understate what is already happening on the ground in China. Greenpeace estimates that China installed an average of more than one wind turbine every hour of every day in 2015, and covered the equivalent of one soccer field every hour with solar panels.	这些关于总投资和创造就业方面的数字已颇为引人注目，然而相对于中国已经在发生的情况，它们仍可能偏保守。绿色和平组织(Greenpeace)估计，2015年中国每天平均每小时安装风力涡轮机一台以上，每小时安装的太阳能组件覆盖的面积相当于一个足球场。
China may meet its 2020 goals for solar installation by 2018, said Lauri Myllyvirta, a research analyst at Greenpeace, who is based in Beijing.	绿色和平组织驻北京的研究分析师柳力(Lauri Myllyvirta)表示，中国也许到2018年便能达到其计划于2020年实现的目标。
But despite these impressive numbers, China's push to clean its air and reduce its greenhouse gasses faces political pressure from the politically powerful coal industry.	尽管有这些令人印象深刻的数字，但中国推动清洁空气和减少温室气体的行动，仍面临着在来自政治势力强大的煤炭行业的压力。
Mr. Geall and Mr. Myllyvirta both said that Thursday's announcement was missing any language on curtailment, or the amount of electricity generated by wind and solar that never finds its way to the country's power grid. In China, wind power curtailment was 19 percent in the first nine months 2016, Mr. Myllyvirta said, many times higher than in the United States, where curtailment levels are often negligible.	杰尔和柳力均表示，周四的通告丝毫没提到限电问题，也就是无法进入中国电网的风能和太阳能电量。柳力说，2016年前九个月，中国的弃风限电比美国高出许多倍。美国的限电水平通常可以忽略不计。
The main reason for curtailment, he said, is that China is plagued by overcapacity in electricity generation and operators of China's grid often favor electricity generated from coal.	他说，限电的主要原因是中国受制于发电产能过剩，并且中国电网的运营商通常更喜欢煤电。
In recent years the country has also been building coal-fired power plants at a furious pace, although that has recently slowed along with China's economy. Another omission from Thursday's announcements,	近年来，中国也在飞速修建煤电厂，不过最近已同中国的经济一起放缓了。柳力说，周四的通告中也没提到任何减少煤耗的具体目标。

Mr. Myllyvirta said, was the absence of any specific target to reduce coal consumption.
But both Mr. Geall and Mr. Myllyvirta said Thursday's announcement set the stage for still more power generation from renewable energy and a gradual shift away from coal.	但杰尔和柳力均表示，周四的通告为继续增加可再生能源发电和逐步弃用煤炭创造了条件。
"My experience with China is when a numeric target gets written down, it gets implemented," Mr. Myllyvirta said. "It doesn't always get implemented in the way you like, but it does get implemented."	"我对中国的经验是，目标数字被写下来时，就会得到实现，"柳力说。"并不一定会按照你喜欢的方式实现，但的确会实现。"
