We build banks to better understand, but also perhaps to save, our disappearing world. The plan is to study these specimens now but also to deliver them to the future, when scientists will presumably be more advanced than we are, technologically – and hopefully smarter. Geneticists can already clone animals; breed genetic diversity back into species at the brink of extinction via in vitro fertilization; rewrite genomes; and fabricate synthetic DNA. Glaciologists reconstruct ancient climate and atmospheric patterns (and predict future ones) by studying molecules trapped in ice. Marine biologists grow threatened corals in underwater nurseries. Botanists recently sprouted a delicate, white-flowered plant from genetic material inside seeds buried by squirrels in the Siberian permafrost 32,000 years ago. What will we be capable of in 10,000 years, or even 100?	我们建立这些样本库是为了更好地理解我们正在消失的世界，不过也可能是为了拯救它。我们的计划是，不仅现在研究这些样本，而且要把它们保存到未来，那时候的科学家应该掌握了比我们现在更先进的技术，也希望他们比我们更聪明。目前，遗传学家已经可以克隆动物；通过体外受精繁殖濒危物种，保持基因多样性；改写基因组；制造合成 DNA。冰川学家通过研究冻结在冰层里的分子重构古代的气候和大气模式（并预测未来的模式）。海洋生物学家在水下培育室里培育受到威胁的珊瑚。前不久，植物学家用 3.2 万年前被松鼠埋在西伯利亚永久冻土层里的种子的基因成分培育出一株娇嫩的白花植物。一万年以后，或者甚至一百年后，我们还能做到哪些事呢？
But the world, as always, is changing – and now we're fomenting and accelerating that process in ways we don't fully understand. The banks themselves are vulnerable to that change. All manner of things can go wrong: power outages, faulty backup generators, fires, floods, earthquakes, contamination, liquid-nitrogen shortages, war, theft, neglect. In early April, a freezer failure at a University of Alberta cold-storage facility allowed some 590 feet of ice cores to melt, turning tens of thousands of years of frozen clues about the Earth's climate into puddles that one glaciologist, surveying the sad aftermath, likened to a	但是，这个世界正在变化，一如既往。现在，我们正以自己不能完全理解的方式启动和加速这个过程。那些样本库本身就容易受到这些变化的影响。什么都可能出错：断电、备用发电机故障、火灾、洪水、地震、污染，液体氮短缺、战争、盗窃、以及疏忽。今年 4 月初，艾伯塔大学(University of Alberta)的冷藏设备出现故障，导致约 590 英尺的冰芯融化，冰冻了数万年的地球气候线索变成了一滩滩的水，评估这一事故可悲后果的冰川学家说，整个房间变成了游泳池更衣室。指示基因组和起源故事等样本库内容的相关数据可能会被黑客攻击、破坏、遗失，或者将来试图解码的人无法破解它们的保存格式。这些都是圣迭戈动物园(San Diego Zoo)全球保护研究所(Global

swimming-pool changing room. The associated data that indicates what's in these vaults — the genomes, the origin stories — could be hacked, corrupted, lost or just formatted in such a way as to be inscrutable to those who might try to decipher it later. These are the kind of anxieties that Oliver Ryder, a director at the San Diego Zoo's Global Institute for Conservation Research, turns over in his mind in the middle of the night. "It is not, 'Is something bad going to happen?'" he told me. "Over time, bad things will happen. They always do."	Institute for Conservation Research)所长奥利弗·赖德(Oliver Ryder)在深夜担忧的事情。“问题不是，‘糟糕的事情会发生吗？’”他对我说。“而是糟糕的事情迟早会发生。从来都是这样。”
/science/20170714/seed-vault-extinction-banks-arks-of-the-apocalypse	/science/20170714/seed-vault-extinction-banks-arks-of-the-apocalypse
Narendra Modi Starts Trip to China With a Burst of Sightseeing	莫迪访华，中方展示中印悠久联系
HONG KONG — Prime Minister Narendra Modi of India and President Xi Jinping of China sought to set aside rancor over border disputes on Thursday, as Mr. Modi started a trip to China with a burst of sightseeing intended to highlight the ancient ties between the two neighbors.	香港——周四，印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)开始访华，期间安排了一系列观光活动，旨在突出这两个邻国的悠久历史联系。莫迪和中国国家主席习近平希望能把因为边境争议而产生的矛盾放在一边。
China and India have contended for decades over territory and, increasingly, influence across South Asia. But on his first visit to China as prime minister, Mr. Modi is focused on attracting Chinese investment and consumers, and both governments have for now lowered the volume of their disagreements.	数十年来，中国和印度一直因为领土问题争论不休；目前，两国在对南亚地区的影响力方面的矛盾也日益突出。但是，首次作为总理访华的莫迪把重点放在了吸引中国投资和消费者之上，两国政府都暂时缓和对峙的姿态。
In the talks between Mr. Modi and Mr. Xi in Xi'an, a city in northwest China, "there was a lot of discussion on strengthening trust and increasing convergence," the Indian foreign secretary, Subrahmanyam Jaishankar, told NDTV, an Indian news channel.	印度外交秘书苏杰生(Subrahmanyam Jaishankar)告诉印度新闻频道新德里电视台(NDTV)，在莫迪与习近平的西安谈话中，“双方就强化信任与加强合作进行了诸多讨论”。西安是位于中国西北的一座城市。
Mr. Xi endorsed deeper economic ties, according to a report of his meeting with Mr. Modi published by Xinhua, China's main state-run	中国的主要官方通讯社新华社在报道习近平与莫迪会晤时称，习近平支持两国加强经济联系的做法。习近平告诉莫迪，中国和印度应该“实现两大经济

news agency. China and India should “achieve a higher level of complementarity and mutuality between our two big economies, and continue becoming twin engines of economic growth for the region and the world,” Mr. Xi told Mr. Modi, according to Xinhua.	体在更高水平上的互补互助，继续成为地区乃至世界经济增长‘双引擎’”。
Mr. Xi mentioned potential investment in Indian rail lines and industrial parks, two areas where the Chinese government has been eager to establish firmer footholds for Chinese companies.	习近平提到，中国可能会对印度铁路和产业园区进行投资——中国政府一直迫切希望能在这两个领域为中国企业建立更稳固的立足点。
The two leaders also discussed more contentious issues, including the border disputes, Mr. Jaishankar said. But neither government gave detailed accounts of those sensitive talks, and Mr. Xi’s published comments showed none of the acrimony that has often flared between the two countries.	苏杰生称，两位领导人还讨论了更敏感的话题，其中包括边境争端。不过，两国政府都没有详细报道这些颇为敏感的谈话，从见诸报端的习近平言论中，完全看不到以往在两国之间引发冲突的激烈言辞。
Mr. Xi said they “must strive together to enhance mutual trust between our two countries, keep disputes and problems under good control, and avoid upheavals in broader relations between our two countries,” Xinhua reported.	据新华社报道，习近平说，他们“要共同努力增进两国互信，管控好分歧和问题，避免两国关系大局受到干扰”。
China claims more than 34,000 square miles of Arunachal Pradesh — an area almost as large as Indiana — in northeast India. And India maintains that China has illegally occupied nearly 15,000 square miles of northern Jammu and Kashmir, called the Aksai Chin region, which was at the heart of a brief border war in 1962.	中国声称对阿鲁纳恰尔邦超过 3.4 万平方英里（约合 8.8 万平方公里）的地方享有主权——该地区位于印度东北，几乎和印第安纳州一样大。而印度则坚称，中国非法侵占了查谟-克什米尔邦北部近 1.5 万平方英里的地方，此地被称作阿克赛钦地区，1962 年曾引发一场短暂的边境战争。
Kiren Rijiju, India’s junior minister for home affairs and a native of Arunachal Pradesh, said India hoped to revive regular confidence-building meetings with China on the border issues, which were abandoned in recent years.	来自阿鲁纳恰尔邦的印度内政部副部长芮吉朱(Kiren Rijiju)称，印度希望能就边境问题，恢复与中国建立互信的常规会议。近年来，此类会议一直处于被搁置的状态。

"We have historical baggage with us, and we don't want to carry this baggage forever," he said, noting that Mr. Modi had made progress toward setting aside other long-simmering border disputes.	"我们身上背着历史的包袱，我们不愿意永远背着这个包袱，"他说。他还指出，莫迪已经在搁置其他争论已久的边境争端方面取得了进展。
"We have settled the dispute with Bangladesh," he said, in an interview in New Delhi. "We have almost settled with Myanmar. We don't have issues with Nepal.	"我们已经解决了与孟加拉国的争端，"他在新德里的一次采访中说。"我们也基本解决了与缅甸之间的问题。我们现在与尼泊尔也相安无事了。"
"The sooner we settle these boundary disputes, the better."	"这些边境争端解决得越快越好。"
When Mr. Xi visited India in September, his talks with Mr. Modi were interrupted by renewed military tensions, after thousands of Indian troops mobilized in Kashmir, facing Chinese troops. India has also long been a rival of Pakistan, which turns to China for economic and political backing. Mr. Xi visited Pakistan in April, when the Chinese government and companies pledged to build power generation and other infrastructure projects worth $46 billion.	习近平去年9月访问印度时，两人的交谈被重新出现的军事紧张局势打断，印度调动数千名印度士兵驻守克什米尔，面对中国军队。印度还一直是巴基斯坦的死敌，后者则在寻求中国的经济及政治支持。习近平于今年4月访问巴基斯坦，当时中国政府和公司承诺建造发电站等总价值460亿美元的基础设施项目，
But Mr. Modi's administration hopes that India can also draw on Chinese capital, investment and consumers to boost economic growth, build faster railway lines and expand other infrastructure, and a set of agreements will be unveiled when Mr. Modi holds talks in Beijing on Friday.	但莫迪政府希望，印度也能够利用中国的资金、投资和消费者，以促进印度经济增长，建造高速铁路，扩建基础建设，莫迪周五在北京举行会谈时将会宣布一系列协议。
After arriving on Thursday morning in the ancient city of Xi'an, Mr. Modi visited the Terracotta Army museum, where thousands of lifelike ceramic soldiers guard the mausoleum of Emperor Qin Shi Huang, who died over 2,200 years ago. Trailed by photographers, Mr. Modi, in dark glasses, wandered among the rows of life-size soldiers without cracking a smile, tough-guy imagery that was met with delight from many of his	周四上午抵达古城西安后，莫迪参观了兵马俑博物馆，几千个栩栩如生的陶俑兵士守护着2200年前去世的秦始皇。莫迪戴着黑色墨镜，面无笑容地在一排排真人大小的兵马俑中漫步，身后跟随着摄影师，这种硬汉形象正是印度国内的支持者乐于看到的。

admirers back home.
After that, Mr. Modi viewed the Daxingshan Buddhist temple, where 13 centuries ago monks from India translated scriptures into Chinese.	之后，莫迪参观了大兴善寺，1300年前，来自印度的僧侣在这座寺庙里将佛经翻译成中文。
After their talks in Xi'an, Mr. Xi accompanied Mr. Modi to the Giant Wild Goose Pagoda, where a seventh century monk stored Buddhist texts and other relics he had gathered after traveling to what is now India. Later in the day, Mr. Modi took part in an extravagant welcome ceremony inspired by the pageantry of the Tang dynasty of over 11 centuries ago, when Xi'an was a prosperous, cosmopolitan capital of the empire.	在西安举行完会谈后，习近平陪同莫迪前往大雁塔，七世纪的时候，一名僧人从现在的印度地区回国后，将他收集到的经书和其他佛教遗物藏于塔中。当天晚些时候，莫迪参加了一场盛大的欢迎仪式，这场仪式的灵感来自1100年前的盛唐风采，当时西安是唐朝的首都，也是一个繁荣的国际化大都市。
Mr. Modi recorded his adventures on his Twitter account to reach his audience back home, although China's censors block most of the country's citizens from using the service.	莫迪通过 Twitter 上向国内的观众介绍了自己的活动，尽管中国审查机构进行屏蔽，阻止该国大部分公民使用 Twitter。
Analysts said the displays of cultural kinship reflected an important element in relations between India and China. Mr. Modi and Mr. Xi are both charismatic, nationalist figures who cast themselves as custodians of national virtues rooted in the ancient past — and both have tried to use that bond with the past to project, and defend, their priorities.	分析人士表示，这种展示文化联系的举措反映了中印关系中一个非常重要的元素。莫迪和习近平都具有领袖魅力，这两位民族主义者视自己为具有悠久历史的国家美德的管理人，两人都努力利用历史关联去投射并捍卫自己的侧重点。
Mr. Xi has taken up the imagery of an ancient Silk Road binding China to its neighbors, and Mr. Modi has promoted Project Mausam, a vision of trade ties across the Indian Ocean that draws on ancient maritime routes.	习近平关注连接中国与邻国的古丝绸之路，莫迪则推广季风计划(Project Mausam)——利用古代海上航线加强印度洋贸易关系。
Mr. Modi's cultural diplomacy had a "dual aspect," said Tanvi Madan, a fellow at the Brookings Institution and director of its India Project.	布鲁金斯学会(Brookings Institution)研究员、学会印度项目负责人坦维·马丹(Tanvi Madan)表示，莫迪的文化外交具有“两面性”。
"One to actually establish another link," Ms. Madan said, "but the other is	"一面是真正建立另一个连接，"马丹说。"但另一面是委婉地指出印度也是一 to subtly point out that India is also an old civilization, and therefore not in any way inferior, and because it's an old civilization as well, deserving of respect."	个文明古国，因此在任何方面都不差，而且，由于印度也是一个文明古国，它是理应得到尊重的。”

https://cn.nytimes.com/south-asia/20150515/c15modi	https://cn.nytimes.com/south-asia/20150515/c15modi
Modi's Yoga Drive Takes Aim at Bad Habits and Bellies of India's Capital	反击西方生活方式，印度总理提倡做瑜伽
NEW DELHI — On a sticky morning last week, Deputy Commissioner Chandra Shekhar Sahukar of India's Agriculture Ministry (animal husbandry department, small ruminant section) found himself in a yoga class for the first time in his 57 years, miserably grasping his ankle.	新德里——上周，在一个闷热的早上，印度农业部（畜牧处小型反刍动物科）的副主管钱德拉·谢卡尔·萨胡卡(Chandra Shekhar Sahukar)在瑜伽课上艰难地抓着自己的脚踝，这是他生平 57 年来第一次上瑜伽课。
In his bag he carried a photocopy of a memorandum advising senior officials to familiarize themselves with certain postures ahead of International Yoga Day this Sunday, when they will take part in a mass outdoor yoga session scheduled to begin at 7 a.m. The session is intended to qualify for the Guinness Book of World Records, the memo says, warning, "If some officials turn up without practice, there will be risk of the record claim being affected."	他的包里有一份备忘录的复印件，上面建议高级官员在周日的“国际瑜伽日”(International Yoga Day)之前熟悉某些姿势，因为预定从周日早上 7 点开始，他们将参加一场大型户外瑜伽活动。这个活动旨在创下吉尼斯世界纪录，备忘录警告说，“如果一些到场的官员没有事先做好练习，纪录就有可能受到影响。”
At the front of the room, the instructor was folding and unfolding himself like a pocketknife, and pointedly reminding members of the class that they would soon be performing under the scrutiny of "Modi-saab." When he asked the students to press their faces to their knees, Mr. Sahukar — whose professional duties, he noted later, include "a lot of sitting" — could keep silent no longer.	在房间的前部，老师一边像折叠刀似的叠合、展开自己的身体，一边毫不含糊地提醒学员，他们很快就要在“莫迪大大”(Modi-saab)的监督下做这些姿势了。当他要学员们把脸埋在膝盖上时，萨胡卡再也无法保持沉默了（他后来提到，他的工作“很多时候都需要坐着”）。
"It's not touching!" he exclaimed. "I can't bend anymore!"	“我挨不到！”他喊道。“我没法再弯了！”
Of the major initiatives that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has introduced since taking office, few have generated as much static as	印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)上任以来推出了一些重大举措，其中几乎没有哪一个产生了“瑜伽日”这么大的声势。瑜伽日要求逾 3.5 万名政

Yoga Day, which will feature a 35-minute public demonstration of poses by more than 35,000 government employees, students and other citizens. Though the Western world regards yoga primarily as physical exercise, Indians are more apt to see its postures and Sanskrit chants as freighted with ideological or religious meaning.	府雇员、学生和其他公众进行 35 分钟的公开表演。尽管西方世界觉得瑜伽主要是锻炼身体的方式，但印度人更倾向于认为，瑜伽姿势和梵语念诵具有意识形态或宗教意义。
Shripad Naik, India's first minister overseeing yoga and traditional medicine, who has helped organize this month's celebration, said it was time to clear away the vestiges of a Western lifestyle left behind by colonial powers.	什里帕德·奈克(Shripad Naik)是印度主管瑜伽和传统医学的第一部长，他帮助组织了这月份的庆祝活动，并表示现在是时候清除殖民列强遗留的西方生活方式的印记了。
"Earlier, our people used to get up before sunrise and sleep before sunset, but now our lifestyle has changed. They are going to the pub, they will go in the middle of the night, at 12 or 1, and eat chicken and many, many new dishes," said Mr. Naik, who, like the prime minister, rises before dawn and practices yoga daily. He recommends going to sleep by 9 p.m., gets his news from the Hindi-language press and proudly declares that he has never had an injection.	"过去，印度人在日出前起床，日落前休息，但现在我们的生活方式发生了变化。人们会去酒吧，而且在深夜 12 点或 1 点去，还吃鸡肉以及很多、很多新菜式，"像莫迪一样，奈克每天在黎明之前起床练瑜伽。他建议大家在 9 点前睡觉。他通过印地语媒体了解新闻，而且自豪地宣称自己从未打过针。
"There will be a lifestyle change," he said. "Our style will come."	"这里会出现生活方式上的改变，"他说。"我们的生活方式将会到来。"
Mr. Modi is not the first Indian leader to promote yoga. Indira Gandhi was so devoted to her yoga instructor, Dharendra Brahmachari, that he accompanied her family when it traveled, and became known as the "flying guru."	莫迪不是第一个推广瑜伽运动的印度领导人。英迪拉·甘地(Indira Gandhi)对她的瑜伽教练迪伦德拉·婆罗马恰里(Dhirendra Brahmachari)非常信任，以至于当她的家人旅游时，他也会陪伴同行，因此还有一个"飞行大师"的称号。
At events, Mr. Modi often shares the dais with Baba Ramdev, who presides over an ayurvedic medical empire and has preached against influences he describes as foreign, among them the English language, chemical pesticides and fertilizers. Mr. Naik, the yoga minister, himself	在各种活动中，莫迪经常与巴巴·兰德弗(Baba Ramdev)同场演讲。此人经营着一个阿育吠陀医学帝国，鼓吹反对英语、化学农药和化肥等事物，并称它们是"外国"的影响。主管瑜伽的部长奈克是通过 RSS 学会瑜伽的，他希望瑜伽的普及可以降低暴力犯罪率。

learned yoga through the R.S.S., and said he hoped that the widespread practice of yoga would lower rates of violent crime.
"You see these rapes happening, all these bad habits. When he is doing something positive, the bad will be out of him," he said.	"你看到会有强奸案发生，人们有那么多坏习惯。当人们做积极的事情时，就会摆脱那些坏事情，"他说。
As for government workers, Mr. Naik said, they will become more productive and less corrupt. "There will be a definite change in the way the bureaucracy functions," he said. "When they are thin, all their energy will go into producing better work. There is no need to do it forcefully, once we have put them on the right path."	至于政府工作人员，奈克表示，他们会提高效率、减少腐败。"职能机构的工作作风会产生明显的变化，"他说。"当他们瘦下来，他们的全部精力就会用在更好地开展工作上。一旦我们让他们走上正确的道路，就不需要采取强制手段了。"
Bal Mukund Singh, the yoga instructor, ended the class by urging his students to become Hanuman, the monkey god, and then watched as they dispersed to the offices where they would spend their days handling dusty file folders and eating fritters. When they were out of sight, he checked off the characteristics he had observed, things like "big tummy, rigid body, less flexibility, stress, tension, depression, diabetes." Still, he said cheerfully, these are good days.	瑜伽教练巴尔·木孔德·辛格(Bal Mukund Singh)在这堂课结束时，敦促学员们向猴神哈努曼(Hanuman)看齐，然后目送学员们回到各自的办公室。这些人日常处理尘封的档案夹，爱吃油炸面团。当他们离开视线之后，他列举了观察到的学员特征，比如"肚子大、身体僵硬、灵活性较差、压力大、紧张、抑郁、有糖尿病。"不过他高兴地说，现在的形势很好。
"They heard it on TV, and they are running toward the yoga," he said. "The prime minister is the king. If the king does something, that is very effective. And this time, our king is doing yoga."	"他们在电视上看到了新闻，就跑来做瑜伽，"他说。"总理就像国王。如果国王在做什么事情，就会产生非常好的带动效果。目前，我们的国王正在做瑜伽。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/south-asia/20150616/c16yoga	https://cn.nytimes.com/south-asia/20150616/c16yoga
Nepal Is Said to Detain 41 Tibetans Traveling to India	尼泊尔拘留 41 名越境前往印度的藏人
The Nepali police have detained 41 Tibetans who were trying to cross the border into India, according to a police officer who spoke to the Thomson Reuters Foundation.	据一名警官向汤姆森路透基金会透露的消息，尼泊尔警方拘留了 41 名试图越境进入印度的藏民。
The police officer, Rajendra Bista, works in Dhangadi, an area 270 miles	这名警官叫拉真德拉·比斯塔(Rajendra Bista)，在加德满都西南方向约 430

southwest of Kathmandu where the detentions took place. The Tibetans had been on a bus to India, the officer told a journalist for the foundation.	公里的丹加地工作，拘留就发生在那里。该警官告诉一名为基金会工作的记者，这些藏民曾在前往印度的长途公共汽车上。
The Dalai Lama, the spiritual leader of the Tibetans, lives in northern India, and many Tibetans who live under Chinese rule try to make pilgrimages to see him. The Tibetans then decide whether to try to stay in India, sometimes for many years, or return home. Although the Dalai Lama advocates greater autonomy for Tibetan regions within the framework of Chinese governance, the ruling Chinese Communist Party accuses him of being pro-independence and labels him a "splittist."	西藏精神领袖达赖喇嘛居住在印度北部，许多生活在中国政府统治下的藏民试图前往印度去朝见达赖喇嘛。朝圣之后，藏人决定是留在印度、还是回中国，他们有时会多年待在印度。虽然达赖喇嘛提倡在中国统治的框架内，赋予西藏地区更大的自主权，但执政的中国共产党指责他支持独立，并称他为“分裂分子”。
To get to India, Tibetans cross into Nepal at the rugged Tibet-Nepal border along the Himalayas, often without passports, and then travel onward to India.	为了到达印度，藏民越过喜马拉雅山脉崎岖的西藏和尼泊尔边境进入尼泊尔，然后前往印度，他们通常没有护照。
In recent years, Nepali security agencies have been detaining more Tibetans and sending them back to Chinese-ruled Tibet, as well as limiting protests by Tibetans in Nepal. The country is one of the world's poorest nations, and the Chinese government has offered economic incentives to the Nepali government and to specific regions in the country, including Mustang, a Buddhist area that borders central Tibet.	近年来，尼泊尔安全机构已在拘留越来越多的藏民，并将他们送回汉人统治下的西藏，尼泊尔也在限制藏人在该国的抗议活动。尼泊尔是世界上最贫穷的国家之一，中国政府向尼泊尔政府和该国一些特定地区提供经济奖励，包括与西藏中部接壤的佛教地区木斯塘。
Mr. Bista, the police officer, told the Thomson Reuters Foundation on Tuesday that the detainees had no travel documents. An immigration official in Kathmandu, Basudev Ghimire, said his agency would look into whether any of the Tibetans, among them monks and nuns, were refugees or whether they should be sent back to the country from	警官比斯塔周二对汤姆森路透基金会说，被拘留者都没有旅行证件。加德满都的一名移民官员巴苏德夫·吉米雷(Basudev Ghimire)说，他的机构将看看这些包括僧侣和尼姑在内的藏人中是否有难民，以及是否应该把这些人遣送回他们自己的国家。 which they came.

Refugees would be handed over to the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, which runs a transit center in Kathmandu, he said.	难民将被移交给联合国难民署，他说，该机构在加德满都有一个中转站。
The foundation's report said that fewer than 200 Tibetans arrived in Nepal in 2013, a sharp drop from earlier numbers.	汤姆森路金会的报道说，2013年，只有不到200名藏民到达了尼泊尔，这与以前的数字相比有大幅下降。
China increased policing of the Tibetan border after a widespread Tibetan uprising in the spring of 2008. Before that, 2,000 to 4,000 Tibetans arrived at the United Nations transit center in Kathmandu each year. In 2008, 500 to 600 went to the center.	2008年春，西藏发生了大范围的藏民抗议活动之后，中国加强了西藏边界的警戒。那之前，每年有2000到4000名藏人抵达加德满都的联合国难民中转站。2008年，只有500到600藏人去了中转站。
About 20,000 Tibetans live in Nepal, many without passports.	有约2万名藏人在尼泊尔生活，其中许多人没有护照。
In 2014, Human Rights Watch published a 100-page report that detailed how Nepal had "imposed increasing restrictions on Tibetans living in the country as a result of strong pressure from China."	人权观察组织曾在2014年发表过一份100页的报告，详细讲述了尼泊尔如何“迫于中国的强大压力，对在该国生活的藏人采取了越来越多的限制措施”。
A summary of the report said: "Tibetan refugee communities in Nepal are now facing a de facto ban on political protests, sharp restrictions on public activities promoting Tibetan culture and religion, and routine abuses by Nepali security forces. These include excessive use of force, arbitrary detention, ill treatment in detention, threats and intimidation, intrusive surveillance and arbitrary application of vaguely formulated and overly broad definitions of security offenses."	报告的摘要写道：“尼泊尔的藏族难民社区，目前实际上面临着政治抗议的禁令，他们促进藏族文化和宗教的公开活动受到严格的限制，他们还经常受到尼泊尔安全部队的虐待，包括过度使用武力、任意拘留、拘留期间的虐待、威胁和恐吓、令人讨厌的监视，以及对他们随意使用模糊且过于宽泛的有碍安全的罪名。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/south-asia/20161118/nepal-detains-tibetans-traveling-to-india	https://cn.nytimes.com/south-asia/20161118/nepal-detains-tibetans-traveling-to-india
Long-Hidden Details Reveal Cruelty of 1972 Munich Attackers	慕尼黑惨案内幕：以色列运动员遭阉割
In September 1992, two Israeli widows went to the home of their	1992年9月，两名以色列寡妇走进她们的律师家里。她们到了之后，律师

lawyer. When the women arrived, the lawyer told them that he had received some photographs during his recent trip to Munich but that he did not think they should view them. When they insisted, he urged them to let him call a doctor who could be present when they did.	表示他最近去慕尼黑期间收到了一些照片，但他觉得她们最好不要看这些东西。但她们坚持要看。律师就力劝她们同意让他叫个医生过来，好在她们看这些照片时有个照应。
Ilana Romano and Ankie Spitzer, whose husbands were among the Israeli athletes held hostage and killed by Palestinian terrorists at the 1972 Olympics in Munich, rejected that request, too. They looked at the pictures that for decades they had been told did not exist, and then agreed never to discuss them publicly.	伊拉娜·罗马诺(Ilana Romano)和安吉·施皮策(Ankie Spitzer)拒绝了 this 提议。她们的丈夫都是在 1972 年慕尼黑奥运会期间，被巴勒斯坦恐怖分子绑架为人质然后杀害的以色列运动员。她们看到了多年来一直被否认其存在的这些照片，然后决定以后再也不公开谈论它们。
The attack at the Olympic Village stands as one of sports' most horrifying episodes. The eight terrorists, representing a branch of the Palestine Liberation Organization, breached the apartments where the Israeli athletes were staying before dawn on Sept. 5, 1972. That began an international nightmare that lasted more than 20 hours and ended with a disastrous failed rescue attempt.	那场对奥运村实施的袭击，依然是体育界最为惊悚的事件之一。1972 年 9 月 5 日天亮之前，代表巴勒斯坦解放组织(Palestine Liberation Organization)旗下一个分支的八名恐怖分子，冲进了以色列运动员所在的公寓。接下来是国际社会持续 20 多个小时的一场噩梦，最终以一场援救行动的灾难性失败而告终。
The treatment of the hostages has long been a subject of speculation, but a more vivid — and disturbing — account of the attack is emerging. For the first time, Ms. Romano, Ms. Spitzer and other victims' family members are choosing to speak openly about documentation previously unknown to the public in an effort to get their loved ones the recognition they believe is deserved.	长期以来，人们一直在猜测这些人质究竟遭遇了怎样的对待，但有关这场袭击的更多讲述正在显现——细节更清晰，也更让人不安。罗马诺和施皮策及其他受害者家属首次公开谈论了之前不为人知的档案，目的是让她们挚爱的人，获得她们认为应得的承认。
Among the most jarring details are these: The Israeli Olympic team members were beaten and, in at least one case, castrated.	其中最让人触目惊心的细节是：这些以色列奥运代表队成员遭到殴打，而且至少有一人被阉割。
"What they did is that they cut off his genitals through his underwear and abused him," Ms. Romano said of her husband, Yossef. Her voice	罗马诺讲述她的丈夫优素福(Yossef)的遭遇说，“他们所做的是，隔着内裤割掉他的生殖器，虐待他。”她的嗓音不自觉大了起来。

rose.
"Can you imagine the nine others sitting around tied up?" she continued, speaking in Hebrew through a translator. "They watched this."	"你能想象其他九个人被绑着坐在旁边的场景吗?"她通过一名翻译用希伯来语继续说道。"他们眼睁睁地看着。"
Ms. Romano and Ms. Spitzer, whose husband, Andre, was a fencing coach at the Munich Games and died in the attack, first described the extent of the cruelty during an interview for the coming film "Munich 1972 & Beyond," a documentary that chronicles the long fight by families of the victims to gain public and official acknowledgment for their loved ones. The film is expected to be released early next year.	施皮策的丈夫安德烈(Andre)是一名击剑教练,也在慕尼黑奥运会那场袭击中遇害。罗马诺和施皮策第一次描述这些暴行的残忍程度,是在为即将公映的纪录片《慕尼黑 1972 及后续》(Munich 1972 & Beyond)接受采访时说起的。这部纪录片预计将在明年初上映,它记录了受害者的家人为其挚爱亲人谋求公众和官方的认可,而开展的漫长斗争。
In subsequent interviews with The New York Times, Ms. Spitzer explained that she and the family members of the other victims learned the details of how the victims were treated only 20 years after the tragedy, when German authorities released hundreds of pages of reports they previously denied existed.	在之后接受《纽约时报》采访时,施皮策解释说,她和其他受害者家属是在惨剧发生 20 年后,才得知受害者遭遇暴行的细节,因为德国当局直到那时才公布数百页的报告,在那之前他们一直否认存在这些资料。
Ms. Spitzer said that she and Ms. Romano, as representatives of the group of family members, first saw the documents on that Saturday night in 1992. One of Ms. Romano's daughters was to be married just three days later, but Ms. Romano never considered delaying the viewing; she had been waiting for so long.	施皮策表示,她和罗马诺作为受害者家属的代表,首先在 1992 年那个周六的晚上看到了那些档案。当时罗马诺的一个女儿再有三天就要结婚,但她压根没想过推迟阅读这些档案;她已经等了太久。
The photographs were "as bad I could have imagined," Ms. Romano said. (The New York Times reviewed the photographs but has chosen not to publish them because of their graphic nature.)	照片"像我想象的一样惨不忍睹",罗马诺表示。(时报查看了这些照片,但鉴于画面十分直白,所以决定不刊出。)
Mr. Romano, a champion weight lifter, was shot when he tried to overpower the terrorists early in the attack. He was then left to die in	优素福·罗马诺是一名举重冠军,他在袭击开始时试图制服恐怖分子,但遭到枪击,然后在其他人质面前慢慢死去,并遭到阉割。施皮策表示,其他人质

front of the other hostages and castrated. Other hostages were beaten and sustained serious injuries, including broken bones, Ms. Spitzer said. Mr. Romano and another hostage died in the Olympic Village; the other nine were killed during a failed rescue attempt after they were moved with their captors to a nearby airport.	遭到殴打，身受重伤，比如骨折。优素福·罗马诺及其他人质在奥运村丧生，其他九人被劫持者转移到了附近的机场，但最终因为救援行动失败而遇难。
It was not clear if the mutilation of Mr. Romano occurred before or after he died, Ms. Spitzer said, though Ms. Romano said she believed it happened afterward.	施皮策表示，目前尚不清楚优素福·罗马诺是在生前还是死后遭到残害，但罗马诺表示，她认为是在丈夫死后。
“The terrorists always claimed that they didn’t come to murder anyone — they only wanted to free their friends from prison in Israel,” Ms. Spitzer said. “They said it was only because of the botched-up rescue operation at the airport that they killed the rest of the hostages, but it’s not true. They came to hurt people. They came to kill.”	“恐怖分子一直宣称，他们不想杀害任何人，他们只是想解救那些在以色列遭到监禁的朋友，”施皮策说。“他们说，他们是因为那场失败的机场救援行动才杀害了余下的人质，但这不是真的。他们来这里就是为了伤人、杀人。”
Since much of the attention from Israeli officials after the attacks focused on security breaches and mistakes by German and Olympic officials that had allowed the terrorists to strike, consideration of the plight of the dead victims had been a priority only to their families.	袭击发生后，以色列官员主要关注的是安全漏洞及德国和奥组委官员的失误，这使得恐怖分子有了可乘之机。着重关注遇害者遭遇的，就只有他们的家人。
“We asked for more details, but we were told, over and over, there was nothing,” Ms. Spitzer said.	施皮策表示，“我们要求获得更多细节，但我们被反复告知，什么也没有。”
In 1992, however, after doing an interview with a German television station regarding the 20th anniversary of the attack in which she expressed her frustration about still not knowing exactly what happened to her husband and his teammates, Ms. Spitzer was contacted by a man who said he worked for a German government agency with access to reams of records about the attack.	但在 1992 年，施皮策就袭击事件 20 周年的主题接受德国电视台采访时表示，仍旧不了解丈夫及其队友的遭遇，这让她十分失望。之后，一名男子联系到施皮策，称自己为德国政府机构工作，可以获得大量有关此次袭击事件的记录。

Initially, Ms. Spitzer said, the man, who remained anonymous, sent her about 80 pages of police reports and other documents. With those documents, Mr. Zeltzer, the lawyer, and Ms. Spitzer pressured the German government into releasing the rest of the file, which included the photographs.	施皮策表示，这名不愿透露姓名的男子起初发给了她 80 页警方报告及其他档案。获得这些档案后，律师泽尔策(Zeltzer)和施皮策要求德国政府公布包括照片在内的其余档案。
After receiving the file, the victims' families sued the German government, the Bavarian regional government and the city of Munich for a "deficient security concept" and the "serious mistakes" that doomed the rescue mission, according to the complaint. The suit was ultimately dismissed because of statute-of-limitations regulations.	起诉书显示，收到档案后，受害者家属控告德国政府、巴伐利亚州政府及慕尼黑市“缺乏安全观念”，存在“严重失误”，导致救援任务失败。但由于追诉时效方面的法律规定，法院最终未予立案。
"The moment I saw the photos, it was very painful," Ms. Romano said. "I remembered until that day Yossef as a young man with a big smile. I remembered his dimples until that moment."	"我看到照片的那一刻感到十分痛心，"罗马诺说。"我记得在那天之前，优素福一直都是一个笑容满面的青年。我记得他的酒窝，直到那一刻。"
She hesitated. "At that moment, it erased the entire Yossi that I knew," she said.	她迟疑了一下，说道，“那一刻抹去了我所认识的优素福。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/sports/20151202/c02munich	https://cn.nytimes.com/sports/20151202/c02munich
In the Brazilian Soccer Market, the Buyers Are Now Chinese	中国球队在巴西足球“超市”买买买
SÃO PAULO, Brazil — In this country's top soccer league, the Brasileirão, team officials are used to the phone calls. They expect them. Agents and executives, middlemen and managers, all of them looking to make a deal in the game's greatest shopping mall.	巴西圣保罗——在该国顶级的足球联赛巴西甲级联赛(Brasileirão)中，球队官员们已经习惯了接电话，也在期待电话铃响起。经纪人和高管、中间人和主帅，所有人都想在这项运动最大的购物商场中做上一笔交易。
But where once the interest regularly came from Madrid or Milan, these days the voice on the other end of the line, teams say, is more likely to be calling from Beijing or Shanghai. And increasingly, the Chinese suitors are looking to buy only the best.	过去挖角的兴趣通常来自马德里或米兰，然而这里的各家球队表示，近些日子里，电话另一边的声音更有可能来自北京或上海。而且越来越多地，中国的买家们只想买最好的球员。

Last year, teams from China's Super League bought perhaps the Brasileirão's two best players. Last month, Chinese clubs plucked four key players from the reigning champion, Corinthians, and a top striker from São Paulo.	去年，中国超级联赛的球队购买了巴西甲级联赛两名堪称最出色的球员。上个月，中国的俱乐部从联赛卫冕冠军科林蒂安足球俱乐部(Corinthians)挖走了四名关键球员，还从圣保罗足球俱乐部(São Paulo)挖走了一名顶级前锋。
"Brazil needs to learn to live with this," said Thiago Scuro, the sporting director of Cruzeiro, which won the Brazilian championship in 2013 and 2014. "We were always a target, but what's changed is the big clubs in Europe are taking very young players, to have time to develop them there. But China is signing the star players in their 20s.	"巴西需要学着适应这种情况,"克鲁塞罗足球俱乐部(Cruzeiro)的竞技主管蒂亚戈·斯库洛(Thiago Scuro)说。该队在2013年和2014年连续赢得巴西联赛冠军。"我们过去一直是挖角的目标,但是现在有一点改变了,那就是欧洲的大俱乐部在招收很年轻的球员,为的是花时间自己栽培,而中国则是在签下二十几岁的明星球员。"
"We cannot fight this, as it's economics, not football."	"我们没法对抗这种情况,因为这事关经济,和足球无关。"
Brazil has always been a net exporter of soccer talent; no country sends more professional players abroad. But Brazil's slumping economy and the chronic financial issues plaguing domestic clubs, where it is not uncommon for players to go unpaid for months, have some regarding China's current shopping spree as a worrisome asset-stripping of the Brazilian game.	巴西一直是足球人才的净出口国,没有任何其他国家将这么多的职业球员送出国。然而,本国俱乐部长期待受财政问题困扰,球员数月拿不到薪水的情况并不罕见,再加上巴西经济在下滑,一些人将当前中国的球员大采购看作对巴西足球令人担忧的资产掠夺。
The tale of Corinthians is the latest example. Such was the team's dominance last season — Corinthians won the league by 12 points — that the feeling was a South American title and a return to a World Club Cup was a possibility this year. But that was before the team lost eight players.	科林蒂安俱乐部的遭遇就是最近的一个例子。这支球队上个赛季一枝独秀——以高出第二名12个积分的成绩赢得联赛冠军——让人感觉今年有望在南美折桂并重返世界俱乐部杯(World Club Cup)赛事,但这是在球队失去八名球员之前。
The four highest transfer fees came from China, for a combined $24.5 million. Renato Augusto and Ralf moved to Beijing Guoan; center back Gil (who is making inroads into the national team) joined Shandong Luneng Taishan; and the experienced midfielder Jádson headed to	四笔最高的转会费来自中国,合计2450万美元。雷纳托·奥古斯托(Renato Augusto)和拉尔夫(Ralf)转到了北京国安队;中后卫吉尔(Gil)(他正在进军国家队)加入了山东鲁能泰山队;而经验丰富的中场球员贾德森(Jádson)去了甲级球队天津权健。(为了升到中超,天津权健还以1200万美元抢走

second-division side Tianjin Quanjian. (Chasing promotion to the top flight, Tianjin also snapped up 23-year-old Santos star Geuvânio for $12 million.)	了 23 岁的桑托斯队(Santos)球星格乌瓦尼奥[Geuvânio])。
"It's not a surprise to lose players when you are champions, but the big surprise was they went to China," said Edu, who starred in Europe with Arsenal and Valencia during his playing days and is now Corinthians' sporting director. "It's not so frustrating. It's the market. You just have to replace them."	"当你是冠军球队时，失去球员并不奇怪，但他们都去了中国，这就很奇怪了，"埃杜(Edu)说。他踢球的时候曾在欧洲的阿森纳队(Arsenal)和瓦伦西亚队(Valencia)效力，现在是科林蒂安的竞技主管。"也不是说多么让人沮丧，市场便是这样。就是得替换这些球员。"
Yet Chinese soccer's taste for Brazilians shows no sign of slowing. Last week, Chelsea accepted a $35 million offer for the Brazilian midfielder Ramires from Jiangsu Suning, which had earlier made a failed bid for the Milan striker Luiz Adriano. Moves like those, and the bulk acquisitions of younger players from Brazilian clubs, have soccer officials here concerned about what the money-driven deals could one day mean for the future of Brazil's national team. Ramires, 28, was a starter at the last World Cup, and while he had fallen out of favor recently, exports like Gil, 28, and Renato Augusto, 27, were thought by some to be part of the Seleção's future after their recent resurgence at Corinthians.	然而中国人对巴西球员的胃口并没有放缓的迹象。上周，切尔西俱乐部(Chelsea)接受了江苏苏宁队提出的以 3500 万美元购买巴西中场球员拉米雷斯(Ramires)的报价。江苏苏宁之前有意购买 AC 米兰队的射手路易斯·阿德里亚诺(Luiz Adriano)，但以失败告终。这样的举动，加上巴西球会大批年轻球员遭到收购，让巴西的足球官员担忧，金钱驱动的交易终有一天会对巴西国家队意味着什么。28 岁的拉米雷斯是上一届世界杯的首发球员。虽然他最近已不再受到国家队垂青，但一些人认为，像 28 岁的吉尔、27 岁的雷纳托·奥古斯托这样的出口球员，近期在科林蒂安东山再起后，原本会是国家队未来的组成部分。
"With the crisis here, the prices they are offering, we can't compete with that," Edu said of the recent sales. "But in terms of a player's career, they are going for money, not the status, and for me, that would have made me think twice as it could get in the way of playing for Brazil."	"巴西出现危机，对方又出这样的价钱，我们无法与之竞争，"埃杜这样评价最近的几笔转会交易。"但就选手个人的职业发展来说，他们是在追逐金钱，而不是地位，对这种事，我是会三思而行的，因为有可能会妨碍球员为巴西踢球。"
Chinese clubs might not release players for national team play except in the mandatory official windows, Edu said, before adding: "It's a personal	埃杜表示，除了强制性的官方赛期，中国俱乐部可能不会放这些球员回去参加巴西国家队的比赛。他还说："这是个人决策，但你需要权衡。如果你技

decision, but you need to balance it. And if you're good enough and have the chance to play for Brazil, nothing should get in the way."	术够好，又有机会为巴西踢球，就不该有什么拦着你。"
In one sense, the China conundrum is nothing new. But the earlier Brazilian star Júnior Baiano was already 31 when he went to Shanghai in 2001, and of the 134 reported moves of Brazilians to China from 2003 to 2010, almost all were players from minor clubs.	从某种意义上讲，中国这个难题并不是什么新鲜事。但更早一些的巴西球星小巴亚诺(Júnior Baiano)在 2001 年去上海踢球时已经 31 岁了，而且 2003 年至 2010 年间转会到中国俱乐部的 134 名巴西球员，几乎都出自比较小的球队。
But last year the Brasileirão's two best players — both of them having broken into the national team — made the switch. One, Diego Tardelli, had just won the Brazilian Cup with Atlético Mineiro. The other, Ricardo Goulart, had just won back-to-back league championships with Cruzeiro. And the money is only getting better: The onetime Sevilla striker Luís Fabiano left São Paulo for China last month for a salary reported at $7 million a year.	不过去年，巴西甲级联赛两名最出色的球员——都曾入选国家队——均转会到了中国。迭戈·塔尔德利(Diego Tardelli)刚刚帮助米内罗竞技俱乐部(Atlético Mineiro)赢得了巴西杯。而里卡多·高拉特(Ricardo Goulart)不久前携手克鲁塞罗队蝉联联赛冠军。涉及的金额只会越来越高：曾为塞维利亚队效力的前锋路易斯·法比亚诺(Luís Fabiano)上个月离开圣保罗队前往中国，据称可以获得 700 万美元的年薪。
Guangzhou Evergrande could be described as the team that changed the market in 2011, when it signed the Argentine midfielder Darío Conca from the Rio de Janeiro club Fluminense and made him, at the time, the third-highest-paid player in the world behind Cristiano Ronaldo and Lionel Messi.	广州恒大可以说是在 2011 年改变市场的球队。当时该队签下了里约热内卢富明尼斯队(Fluminense)的阿根廷籍中场球员达里奥·孔卡(Darío Conca)，并使他成为当时世界上收入第三高的球员，仅次于克里斯蒂亚诺·罗纳尔多(Cristiano Ronaldo)和里奥·梅西(Lionel Messi)。
Its investments quickly paid off: Guangzhou has won five straight Chinese Super League titles, and it now averages crowds of nearly 46,000 a game. Last summer, the team hired Brazil's former World Cup manager, Luiz Felipe Scolari; he quickly delivered Guangzhou's second Asian Champions League title in three years.	球队的投资很快就得到了回报：广州恒大连续五次赢得中超联赛冠军，现在平均每场比赛会吸引近 4.6 万名现场观众。去年夏季，该队聘用了曾率巴西队夺得世界杯桂冠的主帅路易斯·菲利普·斯科拉里(Luiz Felipe Scolari)；他很快帮助球队获得三年内的第二个亚冠联赛冠军。
"From originally being a real estate company, their owners saw what football could achieve in terms of strengthening their brand, and	"这家公司是做房地产起家，它的老板发现足球可以强化其品牌形象，他们现在又进入了娱乐、瓶装水、食用油等领域，"在中国做球员经纪人的克里

they've now gone into other areas like entertainment and bottled water and cooking oil," Chris Atkins, a player agent in China, said. "Other clubs have seen, too, the political and marketing gains that can be made by representing a certain city or province with a successful team. People talked about China next up being a steppingstone league, but they've just skipped that phase."	斯·阿特金斯(Chris Atkins)说。“其他俱乐部也看到，通过用一支成功的球队来代表某个城市或省份，是可以有政治和市场上的好处的。有人曾说中国接下来可以成为一个垫脚石联赛，但是他们已经跳过了这个阶段。”
From the Chinese end, the equation is simple. Merely being associated with Brazilian soccer buys a superficial legitimacy as it ponders a potential bid to host the World Cup. For Brazilian pros, it's more complicated. Off the record, some players talked about safety as a push factor in their decision to entertain offers from China; research released last month showed 21 of the world's 50 most dangerous cities were in Brazil. Meanwhile the pull is not simply huge contracts, but clubs that actually honor them.	在中国人看来，这是个很简单的计算。时下他们正在考虑主办世界杯的可能性，仅仅是跟巴西足球联系在一起，就已经能买到一种表面的正当性了。对巴西职业球员来说就要复杂很多。一些球员私下里表示，安全因素推动他们开始考虑来自中国的邀约；上月发布的一项研究显示，全球 50 座最危险的城市中，21 座在巴西。与此同时，吸引他们的不只是大额合同，而是真正能履行合同的俱乐部。
"Brazil is struggling as a country," said Ricardo Mello, who works as an intermediary between Brazilian players and Chinese clubs. As the Brazilian real has plummeted in value, he said, the ability to be paid in foreign currency "means a lot to players; it can change lives forever."	“巴西是个处在困境中的国家，”在巴西球员和中国俱乐部之间担任中间人的里卡多·梅洛(Ricardo Mello)说。随着巴西里亚尔的大幅贬值，用外币支付的能力“对球员十分重要；是可以从此改变人生的。”
And for Brazilian teams, transfer fees remain a vital source of revenue. A list of the most indebted clubs in the country has 10 owing at least $63 million, with Flamengo topping the list at more than $150 million. Despite its size and recent successes, Corinthians sits uncomfortably on that list, with debts of around $70 million.	而对巴西的球队来说，转会费是一个关乎生死的收入来源。一份全国负债最多俱乐部名单显示，10 家俱乐部负债在 6300 万美元以上，其中弗拉门戈(Flamengo)最高，已经超过了 1.5 亿美元。而科林蒂安尽管规模很大，近年来也很成功，却也尴尬地位列其中，负债在 7000 万美元左右。
While some wonder why European teams are not racing to match China's spending in the market, the simple answer seems to be that	可能有人在想，为什么欧洲球队没有急切地在市场上跟中国人竞争，简单说就是他们似乎不认为这些球员值那么多钱。因此，曾经因为把才华横溢的艺

they do not value the players as highly. Thus, in Brazil, where once there was pride in selling brilliant artists to those who appreciated them, now there is little joy in selling off lesser players at inflated prices.	术家卖给懂得欣赏的人为傲的巴西,如今看到一些才能没那么高的人卖出虚高的价格,也就没那么兴奋了。
"The model here is long broken," said Amir Somoggi, a sports marketing consultant based here. "We work on popular governance of teams, not investing into them as companies. And our philosophy is sell, sell, sell."	"整个模式早就已经毁了,"在巴西作体育市场顾问的阿米尔·索莫吉(Amir Somoggi)说。"我们用老百姓的思维治理球队,不会把它们当作公司来投入。我们的哲学就是——卖卖卖。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/sports/20160202/c02brazilsoccer	https://cn.nytimes.com/sports/20160202/c02brazilsoccer
Keep Your Mouth Closed: Aquatic Olympians Face a Toxic Stew in Rio	里约水污染惊人,参加水上运动切勿张嘴!
RIO DE JANEIRO — Health experts in Brazil have a word of advice for the Olympic marathon swimmers, sailors and windsurfers competing in Rio de Janeiro's picture-postcard waters next month: Keep your mouth closed.	里约热内卢——巴西的健康专家向那些将于下月在里约风景如画的水域比赛的超长距离游泳运动员、帆船运动员和帆板运动员发出警告:闭紧你的嘴巴。
Despite the government's promises seven years ago to stem the waste that fouls Rio's expansive Guanabara Bay and the city's fabled ocean beaches, officials acknowledge that their efforts to treat raw sewage and scoop up household garbage have fallen far short.	里约广阔的瓜纳巴拉湾及其久负盛名的海滩深受污染之害。尽管政府7年前就承诺要杜绝污染物的排放,但官员们承认,他们在处理未经净化的污水、清理生活垃圾方面做得远远不够。
In fact, environmentalists and scientists say Rio's waters are much more contaminated than previously thought.	环保人士和科学家称,事实上,里约水域受污染的严重程度远超以前的估计。
Recent tests by government and independent scientists revealed a veritable petri dish of pathogens in many of the city's waters, from rotaviruses that can cause diarrhea and vomiting to drug-resistant "super bacteria" that can be fatal to people with weakened immune systems.	政府和独立科学家最近进行的检测表明,该市的许多水域都是名副其实的病原体培养皿,里边既有能够导致腹泻和呕吐的轮状病毒,也有具有抗药性、可能会让免疫系统薄弱者丧命的"超级细菌"。
Researchers at the Federal University of Rio also found serious contamination at the upscale beaches of Ipanema and Leblon, where	里约联邦大学(Federal University of Rio)的研究人员还发现,富裕人群光顾的伊帕内马海滩和莱伯伦海滩也受到了严重污染。据预计,在专程来看奥运

many of the half-million Olympic spectators are expected to frolic between sporting events.	会的 50 万游客当中，很多人都会趁着赛事的间隙在那些海滩上嬉戏。
"Foreign athletes will literally be swimming in human crap, and they risk getting sick from all those microorganisms," said Dr. Daniel Becker, a local pediatrician who works in poor neighborhoods. "It's sad, but also worrisome."	"外国运动员简直是在人类的粪便中游泳，所有这些微生物让他们面临着患病的风险，"在当地较为贫穷的社区工作的儿科医生丹尼尔·贝克尔(Daniel Becker)说。"这相当可悲，也令人担忧。"
Government officials and the International Olympic Committee acknowledge that, in many places, the city's waters are filthy. But they say the areas where athletes will compete — like the waters off Copacabana Beach, where swimmers will race — meet World Health Organization safety standards.	政府官员和国际奥委会(International Olympic Committee)承认，该市的许多水体都很脏。但他们说，运动员比赛的地方——比如将举办游泳赛事的科帕卡巴纳海滩周边水域——达到了世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)的安全标准。
Even some venues with higher levels of human waste, like Guanabara Bay, present only minimal risk because athletes sailing or windsurfing in them will have limited contact with potential contamination, they add.	他们还说，即便是人体排泄物含量较高的场地，比如瓜纳巴拉湾，对在那里参加帆船和帆板赛事的运动员构成的威胁也微乎其微，因为他们和潜在污染物的接触十分有限。
Still, Olympic officials concede that their efforts have not addressed a fundamental problem: Much of the sewage and trash produced by the region's 12 million inhabitants continues to flow untreated into Rio's waters.	不过，奥林匹克官员们承认，他们的努力并未让一个根本的问题得到解决：该地区 1200 万居民制造的污水和垃圾，有很大一部分继续在未经处理的情况下被排入里约的水域。
"Our biggest plague, our biggest environmental problem, is basic sanitation," said Andrea Correa, the top environmental official in the state of Rio de Janeiro. "The Olympics has woken people up to the problem."	"我们最大的祸端，我们最大的环境问题，在于基本的环境卫生，"里约州最高级别的环境官员安德烈·科雷亚(Andrea Correa)说。"奥运会让人们意识到了这个问题。"
Foreign athletes preparing for the games have long expressed concern that waterborne illnesses could thwart their Olympic dreams. An investigation by The Associated Press last year recorded	正为赛事做准备的外国运动员一直担心，介水性传染病会让他们的奥运梦化为泡影。美联社(The Associated Press)去年公布的一份调查报告称，经检测，某些水体中的致病细菌含量严重超标，是美国南加州海岸警戒标准的

disease-causing viruses in some tests that were 1.7 million times the level of what would be considered hazardous on a Southern California beach.	170 万倍。
"We just have to keep our mouths closed when the water sprays up," said Afrodite Zegers, 24, a member of the Dutch sailing team, which has been practicing in Guanabara Bay.	"水涌过来的时候，我们必须闭上嘴，"现年 24 岁的荷兰帆船队队员阿弗罗迪特·席格斯(Afrodite Zegers)说。该帆船队目前正在瓜纳巴拉湾训练。
Some athletes here for the games and other competitions have been felled by gastrointestinal illness, including members of the Spanish and Austrian sailing teams. During a surfing competition here last year, about a quarter of the participants were sidelined by nausea and diarrhea, organizers said.	来这里参加奥运会和其他赛事的一些运动员，已经患上了胃肠道疾病，其中包括西班牙帆船队和奥地利帆船队的成员。去年在这里举办的一场冲浪比赛的组织者说，比赛期间，约有四分之一的参赛者因腹泻和呕吐而退赛。
Officials have been grappling with a welter of challenges as they scramble for the opening ceremony on Aug. 5. The Zika virus epidemic has dampened foreign ticket sales, crime is soaring, and the federal government has been paralyzed by the impeachment proceedings against Brazil's president, Dilma Rousseff.	在争分夺秒地为 8 月 5 日的开幕式做准备的过程中，官员们奋力应对着各种挑战。兹卡病毒疫情拖累了门票在国外的销售；犯罪率急剧上升；另外，联邦政府在弹劾巴西总统迪尔玛·罗塞夫(Dilma Rousseff)的程序启动后已经处于瘫痪状态。
Last month, the acting governor of Rio de Janeiro, Francisco Dornelles, declared a state of emergency, claiming that a lack of money threatened "a total collapse in public security, health, education, transport and environmental management."	上个月，里约州代理州长弗朗西斯科·多内列斯(Francisco Dornelles)宣布该州进入紧急状态。他说资金不足有可能让"公共安全、医疗、教育、交通和环境管理全面崩溃"。
Still, Olympic organizers say the sports venues are nearly complete, and the federal government has provided emergency funds to the state. Many athletes expect the games will proceed without serious complications.	不过，奥运组织者称，体育场馆几近完工，而且联邦政府已经为该州提供了应急基金。很多运动员都预计，奥运会的举办不会受到太大影响。
The city's contaminated waterways, however, are another matter.	但该市受到污染的水域是另一回事。

"It's disgusting," said Nigel Cochrane, a coach for the Spanish women's sailing team. "We're very concerned."	"让人直犯恶心，"西班牙女子帆船队的教练奈杰尔·科克伦(Nigel Cochrane)说。"我们非常担心。"
For many, the sewage crisis is emblematic of the corruption and mismanagement that have long hobbled Latin America's largest country.	在一些人看来，污水危机折射出了多年来一直深深困扰着巴西这个拉丁美洲第一大国的腐败和管理不善。
Since the 1990s, Rio officials claim to have spent billions of dollars on sewage treatment systems, but few are functioning.	里约的官员宣称，自从上世纪90年代以来，已经把数十亿美元资金投向了污水处理系统。但那些系统基本没在发挥作用。
In its 2009 bid for the games, Brazil pledged to spend $4 billion to clean up 80 percent of the sewage that flows untreated into the bay. In the end, the state government spent just $170 million, citing a budget crisis, officials said.	在2009年申办奥运会期间，巴西承诺投入40亿美元资金，对80%的未经处理便被排入瓜纳巴拉湾的污水进行净化。但官员称，里约州政府以预算危机为由，最终只投入了1.7亿美元。
Most of the money in the state's sanitation budget has been spent on trash-collecting boats and portable berms to stop the sludge and debris that flow into the bay.	该州的环卫预算大多被花在了垃圾收集船和可移动式护堤上，为的是防止污泥和垃圾进入瓜纳巴拉湾。
Critics say they are cosmetic measures.	批评人士说，这些措施治标不治本。
"They can try to block big items like sofas and dead bodies, but these rivers are pure sludge, so the bacteria and viruses are going to just pass through," said Stelberto Soares, a municipal engineer who has spent three decades addressing the city's sanitation crisis.	"它们可以拦住比较大的东西，比如沙发和死尸，但河水本身含有大量污泥，因此细菌和病毒畅行无阻，"花了30年时间来处理该市环卫危机的市政工程师斯泰尔伯托·苏亚雷斯(Stelberto Soares)说。
Soares said he laughed when he heard officials promise to tackle the sewage problem before the games.	苏亚雷斯说，听到官员们承诺要在奥运会开幕前解决污水问题时，他不禁笑了起来。
An earlier, multibillion-dollar effort financed by international donors yielded a network of 35 sewage treatment facilities, 500 miles of conduits and 85 pumps, he said. When he last checked, only three of the pumps and two of those treatment plants were still working; the	他说，早前，在国际捐助者的资助下，一个耗资数十亿美元，由35处污水处理设施、500英里长的管道和85台水泵构成的网络被建了起来。但他在最近一次了解情况时发现，只有三台水泵和两座污水处理厂还在运转，其余的都被废弃了，而且大多遭到了破坏，他说。

rest had been abandoned and mostly vandalized, he said.
Asked what had happened, he threw up his hands. "In Brazil, they say sanitation doesn't get votes."	我问发生了什么事，他举起双手：“在巴西，他们说卫生不能带来选票。”
Romario Monteiro, 45, a second-generation fisherman who has spent a lifetime plying Guanabara Bay, recalls when the waters were crystalline and the fish were plentiful.	现年 45 岁的第二代渔民罗马里奥·蒙泰罗(Romario Monteiro)在瓜纳巴拉湾打了一辈子的鱼。他很怀念那个水质清澈、鱼也很多的年代。
Now his net often yields more trash than fish, including television sets, dead dogs and the occasional dolphin killed by ingesting plastic bags.	如今，他一网下去，打上来的垃圾常常比鱼还多，包括电视机、死狗，偶尔还有因为吃下塑料袋而死掉的海豚。
"It's disgusting," Monteiro said.	"很恶心，"蒙泰罗说。
As he pulled out from the harbor near his home on Governador Island, he pointed to a half-dozen pipes, exposed at low tide, belching out human waste from the island's 300,000 residents.	蒙泰罗住在戈韦纳多岛(Governador Island)，驾船离家附近的港口时，他指给我看把岛上 30 万名居民的排泄物送进水中的那些管子，它们在退潮之际现出了真身。
"When you open up the fish, their innards are black with oil and muck," he said. "But we clean them with soap and eat them anyway."	"把鱼剖开后，会看到被油和污物弄得黑黢黢的内脏，"他说。"但我们会用肥皂把鱼洗一下，照吃不误。"
/sports/20160727/brazil-rio-water-olympics	/sports/20160727/brazil-rio-water-olympics
Barred From Baseball (in Taiwan)	假球丑闻之后：台湾明星棒球手的自我救赎
The former first baseman for the Brother Elephants, Taiwan's equivalent of the Yankees, now spends most of his days and nights deep in a local stadium, in a spartan room with all the charm of an old warship.	台湾的兄弟象棒球队相当于纽约的洋基队(Yankees)，它的前任一垒手现在不分昼夜，绝大部分时间都是在当地一个球场内一间充满老军舰魅力的简朴房间里度过。
He sleeps on a thin bed. Sports gear towers above him on metal cabinets. A coffee table overflows with snacks, ashtrays and teacups.	他睡在一张铺着薄垫的床上。头顶的金属柜子上，各种体育用品堆积如山。咖啡桌上快餐、烟灰缸和茶杯快堆不下了。
It is the coach's quarters, where the former player, Tsai Feng-an, directs a high school baseball program, a shoestring operation that demands long hours and pays him a fraction of his old big-league salary. It is also where Tsai, whose name was once as famous as Don Mattingly's,	这里是教练区，前棒球选手蔡丰安在这里指导一个高中棒球项目，这是一个小成本项目，工作时间长，酬劳也只相当于他以前在大联盟打球时薪水的一小部分。蔡本来不應該在这里，要知道他的名气曾经堪比洋基队的球星马丁利(Don Mattingly)。 would rather not be.

"The local people are surprised I put up with these conditions, which is why they support me," Tsai said. "But I still look at my baseball career fondly, even though there were bad things."	"我竟然能忍受这样的条件，当地人都很惊讶，所以他们支持我，"蔡说。"但是，尽管有不好的事情，我仍然满怀深情地回忆我的棒球生涯。"
The bad things derive from his role in one of the biggest gambling scandals in international baseball, a scheme in which Tsai and several dozen other players in the Chinese Professional Baseball League, which is the top-tier league in Taiwan, were accused of throwing games from 2006 to 2009 in exchange for thousands of dollars from gamblers.	那些不好的事情是指他在国际棒球史上最大的一起赌博丑闻中所扮演的角色，蔡和其他几个中华职业棒球联盟(台湾顶级棒球联赛)球手被控于2006年到2009年期间，收取赌博组织者数万美元，在比赛时打假球。
Orchestrating the fraud was a gangster who went by the nickname Windshield Wiper, an inside joke among his associates that referred to his quick temper. It was a colorful detail in a case that was as riveting for fans and commentators as a playoff series.	操纵这一造假事件的是一个绰号"雨刷"的黑帮成员，这个外号来自他和同伙之间的玩笑，指的是他的火爆脾气。案件细节非常丰富，对于球迷和评论员来说，如同季后赛系列赛一样精彩。
Gambling in baseball is almost as old as the game itself. In America, every fan knows about the Black Sox scandal, in which eight players threw the 1919 World Series, leading to lifetime bans. Pete Rose is still barred by Major League Baseball because he bet on games.	赌球从一开始就伴随着棒球这项运动。在美国，所有球迷都知道黑袜丑闻(Black Sox)，当时有八名球员在1919年世界大赛(World Series)中打假球，最后被判终生禁赛。皮特·罗斯(Pete Rose)因为下注赌球，至今被美国职业棒球大联盟(Major League Baseball)禁赛。
Gambling scandals have swept through the Asian leagues with alarming regularity, exposing deep ties between crime rings and the sport even as they strive to make an international mark.	尽管亚洲棒球界一直致力于谋求国际影响力，但赌博丑闻在亚洲棒球联盟中的泛滥令人担忧，暴露出犯罪团伙与这项运动之间的深厚联系。
This year, several players for the Tokyo Giants, Japan's best-known team, were accused of consorting with gamblers. The troubles in Taiwan, however, were far larger. They almost sank the league.	今年，日本最著名的棒球队东京巨人队(Tokyo Giants)的几名球员被指控与赌球者勾结。然而台湾的问题要大得多，几乎令整个联盟覆灭。
Foreign players have thought twice before agreeing to play in Taiwan (at least one foreigner, a manager, was named in the scandal), and an	外国球手在同意到台湾打球之前(这项丑闻至少涉及一名总教练，他是一个外国人)会三思而行，一个澳大利亚队拒绝签下一个与这次丑闻有关但未被

Australian team declined to sign a Taiwanese pitcher who was linked to the scheme but not charged. (He played in the Dodgers farm system this year.) The country's push to play host to a part of the World Baseball Classic, which is run by Major League Baseball, has slowed as well.	起诉的台湾投手（今年他在道奇队[Dodgers]的农场系统打球）。台湾一直希望承办由美国职业棒球大联盟(Major League Baseball)主办的世界棒球经典赛(World Baseball Classic)的部分赛事，这一努力如今也因之放缓。
Before the arrest in 2009 of the Windshield Wiper, whose real name is Tsai Cheng-yi, the Taiwanese league endured several other game-fixing scandals, remarkable in a league that was founded only in 1989 and has had as few as four teams. Players were kidnapped and pistol-whipped, and their families were threatened. One coach was stabbed. Gangsters were arrested and players banished. Attendance dipped, too, but within a year or two, many fans returned.	“兩刷”真名蔡政宜，在他于2009年被捕之前，台湾棒球联盟便已经发生过若干操纵比赛的丑闻。该联盟于1989年创立，最初只有四支球队，因此丑闻显得格外引人瞩目。当时曾有球员遭到绑架，被枪支抽打，家人受到威胁。甚至有一名教练被刀捅。后来黑帮成员遭到逮捕，参与的球员被除名。赛事上座率出现下降，但是一两年过后，很多球迷又回来了。
The Windshield Wiper case, however, was much bigger.	然而“兩刷”一案要大得多。
From 2006 to 2009, the Windshield Wiper and his intermediaries paid dozens of players as much as $30,000 for each game they agreed to throw. In all, more than 40 players, coaches, retired players, gangsters and politicians were implicated, including Tsai, Chen Chih-yuan and other stars.	从2006年至2009年，“兩刷”和他的中间人向数十名球员行贿，以每场3万美元的价格换取他们打假球。共有40多名球员、教练、退役球员、黑帮成员和政客涉案，其中包括蔡丰安和陈致远等球星。
One manager was charged and left the country. An elected political leader in southern Taiwan, Wu Chien-pao, who ran his own gambling ring and had players beaten if they did not cooperate, was jailed. The Windshield Wiper is serving a four-year sentence.	一名总教练遭到指控，并离开了台湾。台南民选政治领袖吴建保经营自己的赌博链条，殴打不合作的球员，因此入狱。“兩刷”被判四年徒刑。
The Elephants, Tsai Feng-an's old team, were so badly damaged, they were sold.	蔡丰安过去的球队——兄弟象棒球队遭受重创，被卖掉了。
Attendance leaguewide fell, but it perked up in 2013, when Manny	整个联赛的上座率都出现下滑，但在2013年，因为21世纪初期曾随波士顿

Ramirez, the outfielder who had his best years with the Boston Red Sox in the early 2000s, played in Taiwan.	红袜队(Boston Red Sox)打出职业生涯最好成绩的外野手曼尼·拉米雷斯(Manny Ramirez)来台湾打球, 上座率又出现回升。
The league has tried to head off future scandals by allowing law enforcement officials to attend every game. Players are lectured on the evils of gambling and subject to random investigations. The criminal penalties for gambling and fraud were increased, and a national sports lottery was created to give gamblers a legal avenue to bet on games.	联盟试图通过执法者参与每场赛事来预防赌博。球员会受到关于赌球危害性的教育, 会随机接受调查。赌博和作假所受的刑罚将会增加。此外, 还开放了全国运动彩票, 以便赌博者通过合法渠道赌球。
"We hope the worst has passed," John Chih-yang Wu, the league's commissioner, said. "It's impossible to stop the Taiwanese people from gambling, but we think we have good prevention now and the influence of the mafia has decreased."	"我们希望最坏的都过去了," 联盟会长吴志扬说。"要防止台湾人赌球是不可能的, 但我们认为现在已经有很好的预防机制, 黑帮的影响已经降低了。"
There have been no reported cases of game-fixing since 2009, he said.	他说, 自从2009年以来, 已经没有假球案件的报告。
Most players involved confessed to taking part in the scheme and avoided jail by paying fines equal to the bribes they took.	很多涉案球员对参与赌球供认不讳, 通过缴纳与所收贿赂同等的罚金来避免入狱。
They were banished from professional baseball and, having trained most of their lives to become ballplayers, they have had trouble finding work, the shame of being implicated sending them into hiding.	他们被禁止参加职业棒球赛, 而且, 接受了多年棒球训练的他们很难找到其他工作, 卷入罪案的耻辱亦令他们隐姓埋名。
But two players, Tsai and Chen, agreed to speak to The New York Times about how they have sought to redeem themselves.	但是蔡丰安和陈致远这两名球员同意接受《纽约时报》采访, 谈一谈他们又是如何自我救赎的。
They have taken different paths.	他们选择了不同的方式。
Tsai returned to rural Nantou County. Because of his banishment, he cannot wear a baseball uniform or coach a team, so he instead looks for money to keep his program afloat and to build a new stadium. He bunks with his coaches and players in a dingy dormitory where the communal dining area is next to a homemade indoor batting cage.	蔡丰安回到南投乡间。因为遭到禁赛, 所以他无法再披上职业选手的球衣或担任球队教练, 于是他四处筹钱维持自己项目的运作, 并在筹备建立一座新球场。他与自己的教练和选手们合住在一个阴暗邈远的宿舍, 公共用餐区旁边是一个自建的室内击球练习场。

Tsai had spent years fighting the charges that he helped throw four games. After his initial two-year jail sentence was reduced to six months, he agreed to pay a fine of about $100,000 to settle the case. His probation, which ended in August, required that he report daily to a police station, a humiliation he found difficult after such an illustrious career.	对于自己受到的在四场比赛中参与打假球的指控，他曾进行多年的申辩。在最初的两年有期徒刑减为六个月后，他同意支付约为 10 万美元的罚款，了结这桩案件。他的缓刑已于 8 月结束。缓刑期间，他被要求每天都要向一个派出所报到。有过颇为辉煌的职业生涯之后，他觉得这是一种耻辱，难以做到。
Friends offered him jobs at a university and a technology company, where he could have earned two to three times more than the roughly $1,000 a month he makes now. Instead, he returned to central Taiwan, where he grew up, to work with children and get back to basics.	朋友为他提供了在一所大学和一家科技公司工作的机会。在那些地方，他的收入会是现在的两到三倍。他现在的月薪约为 1000 美元。但他回到了自己长大的台湾中部，和孩子们一起工作，回归本原。
"Most players would not be willing to do what I do now, teaching baseball in a school, because it's a lot of work and not much money," he said. "Even though I got a six-month sentence, I'm still pretty much a free soul."	"大部分球员可能都不愿意做我现在做的事情，在学校里教棒球，因为工作量大，又没多少钱，"他说。"尽管被判了六个月的刑，但我大致上还是一个自由的灵魂。"
Chen lives a flashier life in Taipei. He runs a restaurant that serves aboriginal food like fried crickets, mountain boar and beetle nut flowers. His wife is a minor celebrity.	陈致远在台北的生活要更风光一些。他经营着一家餐厅，售卖炸蟋蟀、山野猪和槟榔花等原住民食物。他的妻子是一位小有名气的歌星。
He also produces a rice snack with a friend and donates the proceeds to baseball programs in regions where poor aboriginal children live. He tutors high school players.	他还和一位朋友制作米花小吃，将收益捐献给贫穷原住民孩子所在地区的棒球项目。他也教高中的学生打棒球。
But in Taiwan, where baseball is almost a national religion, neither man will regain the stature he commanded as a professional ballplayer. Each continues to proclaim his innocence, but the game-fixing scandal has been a hard stain to erase.	然而，在棒球几乎称得上是一种民族宗教的台湾，两人都没能重获他们作为职业棒球手时的声望。二人依然声称自己是清白的，但这场的假球丑闻一直是个难以去除的污点。
"I left baseball because of the scandals, and that's not something that I	"我放弃棒球是因为那场丑闻，那不是我能改变的东西，"陈致远说在他的"乐

can change," Chen said at his restaurant, La Fung, or the Guest. "But I can change myself, set goals for myself. I have a wife and kids to take care of. I need to maintain a positive attitude."	饭"餐厅里说。"但我能改变自己,给自己设定目标。我有妻子和孩子要照顾。需要保持一种积极的态度。"
The Arrests	逮捕
The case that was their undoing was discovered almost by accident.	毁掉他们职业生涯的这个案件可以说是意外被曝光的。
A prosecutor in Taipei, Wang Cheng-hao, received an anonymous tip after the 2008 season that hundreds of thousands of dollars were being wagered on baseball games, and the Windshield Wiper was winning most of the time.	2008 年的赛季结束后,台北检察官王正皓接到匿名提供的秘密消息,称有数十万美元的资金被用来在棒球赛中赌球,而其中大多数被"雨刷"赢走了。
Gambling is not a crime, but fixing games is.	赌球不是违法行为,但假球是。
Wang and investigators looked at the Windshield Wiper's bank and phone records and discovered a network of middlemen that ultimately led them to the players.	王正皓和调查人员查看了"雨刷"的银行和手机记录,发现了一个中间人网络,这最终将他们引至几名球手。
The Windshield Wiper, who was from southern Taiwan and in his late 30s at the time, was one of the biggest gamblers in the country.	来自台南的"雨刷"当时年届 40,是台湾最大的赌球者之一。
He was subtler than most gangsters. Instead of laundering money through businesses that served as fronts, he had dummy accounts set up in his friends' names. He had no gambling convictions.	与大多数黑帮成员相比,他的手法更巧妙,不是通过作为幌子的生意洗钱,而是用朋友们的名字开假账户。他没有赌博的前科。
He was a baseball fan, though, and he liked to hang around ballparks, where he sat near the dugout and chatted up players, some of whom joined him for dinner. He also befriended former players living in southern Taiwan, whom he paid to recruit active players.	不过,他是棒球迷,喜欢在球场出没,坐在球员区附近和球员聊天,有些球员还跟他共进晚餐。他还同一些台湾南部的退役球员交朋友,付钱让他们介绍现役球员打假球。
Wang collected evidence through the 2009 season to determine which players were involved. He made arrests when the season was over.	王正皓在整个 2009 赛季里收集证据,判断哪些球员参与了赌球。赛季结束后,他开始了逮捕行动。
"If we arrested him during the season, it would have affected the	"如果我们在赛季中就逮捕他,会影响比赛,但如果我们赛季后再不阻止他,

games, but if we didn't stop him after the season, it could affect more games," Wang said in his office in suburban Taipei.	就会影响更多比赛，"王正皓在台北市郊的办公室接受采访时说。
According to court documents, one middleman, Chuang Hung-liang, dealt specifically with star players, who at times received money in shoe boxes. Some players were motivated to take bribes because they were upset with their low salaries; others felt threatened.	根据法庭文件显示，中间人庄宏亮专门负责找明星球员，这些球员有时会收到用鞋盒装着的钱。有些球员因为薪水太低才收取贿赂，还有一些人是因为受了威胁。
After his arrest, the Windshield Wiper initially denied everything, but ultimately he named about 40 people. The investigation reached back four seasons, to 2006. Some of the appeals, including Tsai's, dragged into 2014.	被捕后，"雨刷"先是什么都不承认，但最后说出了约40个名字。调查向前追溯了四个赛季，直至2006年。有些上诉一直拖到2014年，包括蔡丰安的案件在内。
A Ticket Out	出路
Like other players from rural Taiwan, Tsai and Chen saw baseball as their ticket out of poverty.	和其他来自台湾乡村的球员一样，蔡丰安和陈致远也视棒球为摆脱贫困的门票。
Tsai began playing in the streets with friends with whatever equipment they could find. When he was 10, he was recruited to attend a private school with a well-known team. In 1988, Tsai was good enough to travel to the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa., where his team won the title by beating the team from Pearl City, Hawaii.	蔡丰安开始在街上和朋友们打球时，他们用手边可以找到的任何装备来打。10岁那年，他被一家私立学校录取，加入一个很有名的球队。1988年，蔡丰安凭借出色的球技，到宾夕法尼亚的威廉波特小联盟世界系列赛(Little League World Series)打比赛，他的球队击败来自夏威夷珍珠市的球队赢得了冠军。
When the boys returned home, they were paraded through the streets. The trip was eye-opening for the son of a bus driver and a hairdresser who rarely saw him play.	球队回到家乡后游街庆祝。这次旅行令这个公车司机与理发师的儿子大开眼界，而父母很少去看他比赛。
"Country folks don't really watch baseball games," Tsai said over noodles at a restaurant near his school. "They have loads of things to do; they're very busy."	"乡亲们不怎么看棒球赛，"蔡丰安在学校附近的饭馆里边吃面条边接受采访。"他们有太多事情要做，非常忙碌。"
Given his modest means, playing baseball was a necessity. He turned	因为家境贫寒，打棒球成了谋生的必需。1997年，他成了职业球员，加入

pro in 1997 and joined the Mercuries Tigers. When the club folded after the 1999 season, Tsai joined the Brother Elephants. He had a career year in 2002, hitting 21 home runs and batting .294. He played in the 2004 Olympics, where Taiwan finished fifth.	三商虎球队。1999 赛季之后，俱乐部倒闭了，蔡丰安又加入了兄弟象。他职业生涯的高峰是 2002 年，打出了 21 个全垒打和.294 的打击率。他参加了 2004 年的奥运会，台湾队最终获得第五名。
"By the time I became a pro, I wouldn't say I was happy about this," said Tsai, rail thin and all business. "Most of the players come from poorer families, so the only thing they thought about was playing well so they would have a bargaining chip to get more money to help their families. It was a job."	"成为职业球员时，我不能说自己很开心，"身材消瘦的蔡丰安说话直接。"大多数球员都来自穷困家庭，他们只想好好打球，有筹码谈到更多薪水，帮助家里。这只是一份工作。"
Though salaries in the Taiwanese league have increased in recent years, they are nothing like what players in Major League Baseball earn, and they are barely more than what a manager at a white-collar company might bring in.	尽管台湾联赛球员的薪资近年来有所增加，但还是与美国职业棒球大联盟球员的薪资相去甚远，比一个白领公司经理的薪酬高不了多少。
Because they are celebrities, they are often invited to bars and restaurants, where their tabs are covered.	因为他们是名人，所以经常会被请到酒吧和饭店，要他们埋单。
"Taiwanese players like to drink, and drinking is a way to relax, but once they start going out with people, that creates a lot of trouble because people know who you are and will want a lot of things from you," Tsai said. "Drinking would make you do stupid things."	"台湾球员喜欢喝酒，喝酒是一种放松的方式，但他们一旦开始出去和人喝酒，就会惹出很多麻烦，因为人们都知道你是谁，就会希望从你这里得到很多东西，"他说。"喝酒会让你做傻事。"
Prosecutors accused Tsai of throwing four games years after he stopped playing.	蔡丰安退役数年后，检察官控告他在四场比赛中打假球。
He was sentenced in 2011 to two years in jail and ordered to pay a fine. On appeal, the sentence was reduced to a six-month jail term, which he avoided by paying a smaller fine.	2011 年，他被判入狱两年，缴纳罚金。上诉后，判决减至入狱六个月，缴纳了一小笔罚金后，他得以免于服刑。
He said that in the first few years after he left baseball, at least five	他说，离开棒球的前几年里，至少有五组黑帮来找他，要求他帮忙联系球员

groups of gangsters tried to get him to help them fix games. Some, he said, offered as much as $300,000. He refused.	打假球。他说，有些人开价到 30 万美元，他都拒绝了。
"If I was willing to do it, I could have done it ages ago, rather than teaching kids baseball and getting 30,000 dollars a month," he said, referring to New Taiwan dollars. At current rates, that would be about $950 a month.	"如果我想干这种事，我早几年就干了，不会在这里教小孩子打棒球，赚每月 3 万块钱的薪水，"他说的 3 万块钱是指新台币，按照目前的汇率约合 950 美元一个月。
Tsai has three young children, but his days are spent with his players, with potential donors and at the construction site where a new county stadium is being built. He said he gets up at 6 a.m. and finishes work at midnight.	蔡丰安有三个小孩，但他的时间都和球员以及潜在的赞助者们一起度过，或是呆在兴建中的县体育馆的工地上。他说自己早晨六点就起床，将近午夜才收工。
Budgets are tight, so broken bats and worn baseballs are patched up with tape.	预算很紧张，折断的球棒和破损的棒球都用胶布粘起来继续用。
He said he told his students that pro ballplayers can earn a lot of money, but also spend a lot of it. Better, he said, to live modestly and humbly.	他说，自己告诉学生们，职业棒球运动员能赚很多钱，但也会花掉很多钱，简朴低调地生活是最好的。
Unlike Tsai, who works in relative anonymity, Chen lives in Taipei in plain sight. Tan and fit, he was known as the Golden Warrior on the Elephants. But while once among the highest-paid players in the Chinese Professional Baseball League, earning about $100,000 a year, Chen now tries to make ends meet.	和近乎隐姓埋名工作的蔡丰安不同，身在台北的陈致远生活在众目睽睽之下。黝黑健康的他在兄弟象队绰号"黄金战士"。他曾是中华职业棒球联盟薪资最高的球员，年薪达到 10 万美元，但现在只能勉强做到收支平衡。
Most days, he is at his restaurant. He advises a high school baseball team that his brother coaches. With a friend, he produces dried snacks called hao bang, which means "good bat" in English. A cartoon of Chen's face is on the wrappers.	他大多数时间都在自己的餐厅，还为一个中学生棒球队担任顾问，他的兄弟在那里做教练。他还同一个朋友一起做一种名叫"好棒"的脱水点心，它是"好的球棒"的意思。包装上还有陈致远的卡通头像。
The profits are spent on sports equipment for poor children, he said. He	他说，卖点心的盈利用来给贫困的孩子买体育装备。他说，自己来自台湾东

is from an aboriginal village in eastern Taiwan, where he said he had no refrigerator and went barefoot as a child.	部的原住民乡村，小时候家里没有冰箱，他也没有鞋穿。
The legal troubles effectively ended his career, something he has tried to get past.	法律纠纷基本上终止了他的职业生涯，他说，自己试图忘怀这件事。
Chen is now more cautious, wary of gangsters. When he is invited to dine out, he asks who else will be there. If there is a name he does not recognize, he declines the invitation. He also tells younger players to simplify their lives, implying that he did not. After all, he was sentenced to at least a year in jail that he settled by paying a fine.	陈致远如今变得更加谨慎，小心提防帮派分子。如果受邀出去吃饭，他会问还有什么其他人在场。如果有不认识的人到场，他就会拒绝邀请。他还告诉年轻球员，生活要单纯一点，暗示自己过去没有做到这一点。当时他被判处入狱至少一年，最后缴纳罚金才得以免于服刑。
"My own story is like teaching material for other people to learn from," he said. "The scandal is in the past and it's bound to surface one day, so there's no running away from it. I learned a lot, and if people don't like it, I will do better to make them understand I'm not who they think."	"我的故事就像给其他人学习的教材，"他说。"丑闻是过去的事，总有一天会曝光，所以没什么可逃避的。我学到了很多教训，如果人们不喜欢，我会做得更好，让他们了解我不是他们想的那样。"
/sports/20161009/barred-from-baseball-in-taiwan	/sports/20161009/barred-from-baseball-in-taiwan
Chinese Billionaire Adds Rock 'n' Roll Marathons to Growing Ironman Empire	王健林再出手，大连万达收购摇滚马拉松母公司
Dalian Wanda, the Chinese real estate conglomerate that has spent billions of dollars to command a prominent position in the entertainment industry, is aggressively establishing a beachhead in sports, too.	为了在娱乐业占据突出地位，中国房地产集团大连万达已经花了数十亿美元。现在，该集团又在体育业大举建立滩头阵地。
The company, owned by Wang Jianlin, one of China's richest people, has added the Rock 'n' Roll Marathon series to its leisure and lifestyle portfolio by acquiring Competitor Group Inc. and transforming the American-based Ironman company into one of the largest endurance sports organizations in the world.	通过收购竞争者集团(Competitor Group Inc.)，并将总部设在美国的铁人公司(Ironman)变成全球最大的耐力运动机构，由中国顶级富豪之一王健林领导的万达，把摇滚马拉松(Rock 'n' Roll Marathon)系列纳入了自己的休闲和生活方式资产组合。

Since Dalian Wanda bought Ironman in 2015 for $650 million, the company has been on a buying spree in outdoor sports like marathons, road cycling and mountain bike races. The Wanda Sports arm of Dalian Wanda already owns or operates more than 20 running races worldwide, including the Singapore Marathon, the Auckland Marathon and Marathon Bordeaux.	自 2015 年以 6.5 亿美元（约合 44 亿元人民币）的价格收购铁人以来，大连万达在马拉松、公路自行车和山地自行车比赛等户外运动项目中掀起了收购热潮。大连万达旗下的万达体育已拥有或运营着全球 20 多项跑步赛事，包括新加坡马拉松、奥克兰马拉松和波尔多马拉松。
Dalian Wanda also owns part of Atlético Madrid, one of the leading Spanish soccer teams.	大连万达还拥有西班牙顶级足球队之一马德里竞技(Atlético Madrid)的部分股份。
The Rock 'n' Roll Marathon series brings a festive, block-party vibe to competitive running and attracts more than 600,000 athletes a year in eight international races and 22 major markets in the United States.	摇滚马拉松系列为赛跑带来一种节日的、街头派对的氛围，每年在八项国际赛事和美国的 22 个重要市场吸引 60 多万名选手。
"This is an important step in the growth Ironman has seen over the last decade," said Andrew Messick, Ironman's chief executive. "As a globally recognized endurance brand, the acquisition of the world's largest running platform puts us in an exciting position for the future growth of running worldwide."	"在铁人过去十年经历的增长中，这是重要的一步，"铁人的首席执行官安德鲁·梅西克(Andrew Messick)说。"作为一个全球认可的耐力品牌，收购全世界最大的跑步平台让我们站在了一个令人兴奋的位置，迎接未来全球跑步运动的发展。"
Beginning in 1978 with a triathlon in Hawaii with 15 starters that was won by a taxi driver, Ironman now hosts more than 200 events in 50 countries for more than 400,000 athletes. In recent years, the company has moved into road cycling events, mountain bike races and marathons.	从 1978 年夏威夷的一场只有 15 名选手参加，最终被一名出租车司机拔得头筹的三项全能比赛开始，铁人公司现在是 50 个国家的 200 多项赛事的主办方，服务的选手超过 40 万。近年来，该公司还进军公路自行车赛事、山地自行车比赛和马拉松。
In 2012, Calera Capital bought Competitor Group Inc. and at the time valued the company at nearly $250 million. Messick declined to say how much Ironman paid for the company.	2012 年，凯莱拉资本(Calera Capital)收购竞争者集团，对后者的估价接近 2.5 亿美元。梅西克拒绝透露铁人此次收购它的价格。
In recent years a surge of acquisitions has made Dalian Wanda the	近年来，急剧增加的收购举动让大连万达成了全球最大的影院拥有者，院线

world's biggest owner of movie theaters, with complexes across the United States, Europe and Australia. In January 2016 it bought Legendary Entertainment for $3.5 billion.	遍布美国、欧洲和澳大利亚。2016年1月，万达出资35亿美元收购传奇影业(Legendary Entertainment)。
With a population of 1.3 billion people and a rising middle class with an unquenchable thirst for sports, China is a "spectacular" untapped market, Messick said. In 2016, the company held its first two Ironman 70.3 races in China – in Hefei and Xiamen. Last August, the company announced the addition of three Ironman 70.3 triathlons in China in 2017 – Ironman 70.3 Liuzhou, which has already taken place, Ironman 70.3 Qujing, recently rescheduled for Aug. 27, and Ironman 70.3 Chongqing, which is scheduled for Sept. 24.	梅西克说，有13亿人口并且对体育运动渴望强烈的中产阶级规模越来越大的中国，是一个有待开发的“惊人”市场。2016年，该公司开始在中国——分别是在合肥和厦门——举办铁人70.3比赛。去年8月，该公司宣布2017年将在中国增加三场比赛，分别是已经结束的柳州站、最近把时间改至8月27日的曲靖站和定于9月24日举行的重庆站比赛。
"We are being ambitious and aggressive to help grow a mass participation sport in China," Messick said. "We are bullish on the continued emergence of the Chinese consumer. We are convinced that as average income continues to rise and more people move into the middle class, there will be more attention paid to health and recreation."	"我们正在满怀希望地大力帮助在中国发展一项大众参与运动，"梅西克说。"我们对中国消费者会不断涌现持乐观态度。我们相信随着平均收入继续增加，更多人进入中产阶级，人们会更加关注健康和娱乐。"
/sports/20170605/wang-jianlin-rock-n-roll-marathons-ironman-empire	/sports/20170605/wang-jianlin-rock-n-roll-marathons-ironman-empire
Brazil Ponders an Erotic Theme Park, With No Sex Allowed	巴西拟建情色主题游乐园
Erotic sculpture park? Check. Bumper cars designed like genitalia? Check. Snack bar serving aphrodisiac recipes? Check. Sex on the premises? Uh, better not.	情色雕塑公园？有了。生殖器造型的碰碰车？有了。供应催情餐点的小吃店？也有了。在现场翻云覆雨？最好免了。
Entrepreneurs in Brazil are seeking to build an adults-only theme park called ErotikaLand near the city of Piracicaba, about two hours' drive from São Paulo, and they hope to open its doors by 2018. But the	一群巴西企业家正设法在该国皮拉西卡巴市近郊、距圣保罗约两小时车程处打造一个名叫“情色美地”(ErotikaLand)的成人主题游乐园，并希望于2018年底前开始营业。不过这项计划在巴西引发了关于公开演示色欲的辩论，虽

project is setting off debate over public displays of sexuality in Brazil, where Carnival celebrations feature scantily clad dancers and thousands of short-stay love motels strive to please an exacting clientele.	然该国嘉年华庆典的特色之一就是衣不蔽体的舞者，亦有无数情侣宾馆致力迎合挑剔的客群。
"We cannot be known as the capital of sex," Matheus Erler, a member of the Christian Socialist Party who leads the Piracicaba City Council, told reporters. He said he was worried that the park would attract "debauched individuals."	"我们不能以'性爱之都'闻名于世，"皮拉西卡巴的基督教社会党(Christian Socialist Party)党员马提欧斯·艾莱(Matheus Erler)告诉记者。该党亦是当地市议会的最大党派。艾莱表示，他担心这座主题乐园会引来"行为不检者"。
The businessman in charge of the project, Mauro Morata, tried to ease some local concerns when he made clear that the park would be built outside the city limits. Still, municipal leaders in Piracicaba and nearby São Pedro have maneuvered to block the project. Mr. Morata says he is pressing ahead anyway with his search for an acceptable site, and emphasizes the project's economic upsides: 250 new jobs and thousands of visitors who can afford $100 apiece to get in.	主持这项计划的商人茂罗·莫拉塔(Mauro Morata)已尝试抚平地方人士的不安，他明确表示这座主题乐园会建在市区之外。不过，皮拉西卡巴与邻近的圣佩德罗市府高层仍着手阻挡该计划。莫拉塔表示，他无论如何都会推动这个项目，继续寻找合意的地点，并强调了该项目在经济方面的好处：它能创造 250 个新工作岗位，并吸引付得起每人 100 美元入场费的大批游客。
As for the racy theme, the investors behind ErotikaLand say the park will promote a healthy approach to sex. Parkgoers will be able to tour a museum exploring the history of sexuality, and employees will promote condom use. The park will have a "sex playground," but it will feature a labyrinth, Ferris wheel and water slide.	至于园区的不雅主题，"情色美地"的幕后金主表示，他们会发扬健康的性爱观。游客入园后可以参观一间探索性行为历史的博物馆，工作人员也会推广保险套的使用。园内还会有一个"性爱游乐场"，不过里面安排的是迷宫、摩天轮与滑水道。
What the customers cannot have, the investors say, is any actual intercourse — at least, not in the park.	这些投资人说，他们的顾客唯一不能做的是真枪实弹的性行为——至少在园区内不行。
"This won't be a place for nuns, but it's not like we're trying to recreate Sodom and Gomorrah," Mr. Morata said. "If attendees want to take things to another level, they can go to a nearby motel — which we will	"这不是一个给修女光顾的地方，但我们也不是要再现所多玛与蛾摩拉(译注：圣经中的罪恶之城)，"莫拉塔表示。"如果游客有意把行程再升级，可以前往附近的一间旅馆，它也在我们旗下。"

operate.”
/style/20160504/t04wit-brazil-erotika	/style/20160504/t04wit-brazil-erotika
Chanel Cruises Into Havana, Showcasing Style and Questions	香奈儿古巴时装秀，让共产主义遇见奢华情调
After President Obama and the Rolling Stones: Chanel. On Tuesday, just days after the first American cruise ship in almost 40 years docked at the Havana pier, the French brand became the first European fashion house since Castro seized power in 1959 to stage a show in Cuba.	继奥巴马总统和滚石乐队(Rolling Stones)之后，香奈儿(Chanel)在古巴亮相。周二，距离近40年来第一艘美国邮轮驶入哈瓦那港仅数日，这个法国品牌成为1959年卡斯特罗(Castro)掌权后，第一个在古巴举办时装秀的欧洲时装公司。
The runway event kicked off both the official cruise collection season, which stretches to mid-June and involves a messy mix of small presentations, designer chats and a few extravaganzas à la Chanel (still to come: Louis Vuitton in Rio, Gucci at Westminster Abbey, Dior in Blenheim Palace, in Oxfordshire, England) but also a potential — still mostly potential at the moment — new relationship between the island nation and the style set. The connection might finally replace ye olde clichéd Cuba, with its romanticized decrepitude, sorbet shades and old convertibles, with something a little grittier and more realistic in the designer mind.	这场时装秀不仅正式开启度假系列季——系列季将持续至6月中旬，包括小型时装秀、设计师访谈，以及几场有关香奈儿的华丽演出（即将举办时装秀的还有：路易威登在里约热内卢；古驰在威斯敏斯特教堂[Westminster Abbey]；迪奥在英国牛津郡布莱尼姆宫[Blenheim Palace]）——而且有可能（目前依然主要是一种可能）开启古巴这个岛国和时尚界的新关系。这种关系可能最终以设计师角度的、更真实、更现实的事物，取代人们对古巴陈旧的固有观念：被浪漫化的老朽，鲜艳的冰糕色彩，以及老式折篷轿车。
Although perhaps not quite yet, judging by Chanel.	不过，从香奈儿的情况看，这也许还远未能实现。
Held on the Paseo del Prado, Havana’s main thoroughfare, in front of approximately 600 imported guests, including customers, editors (though not me; I watched the show via live stream) and celebrities (Gisele Bündchen, Vanessa Paradis, Tilda Swinton, Vin Diesel), as well as various residents who could be seen hanging over the balconies of apartment buildings lining the avenue, and watching from the street, the show featured the designer Karl Lagerfeld’s signature mixture of	这场时装秀在哈瓦那的主干道普拉多大街(Paseo del Prado)上举行，面对着约600名从国外赶来的嘉宾，包括顾客、编辑（不过不包括我，我通过流媒体直播观看了时装秀）和名人（比如，吉塞勒·邦辰[Gisele Bündchen]、瓦妮莎·帕拉迪斯[Vanessa Paradis]、蒂尔达·斯温顿[Tilda Swinton]和维恩·迪塞尔[Vin Diesel]）以及很多当地居民——他们在大街两旁的公寓楼阳台上观看或者在大街上观看。这场时装秀包括设计师卡尔·拉格菲尔德(Karl Lagerfeld)标志性的丰富服装混合，共计86个造型——其中有几个男装造型

muchness: 86 looks, including a few men's wear styles, all of which ranged from the elaborate to the everyday, with a bathing suit thrown in for good measure.	——既有精致服装，也有日常服装，还额外奉上一款泳装。
There were wide-legged pinstriped men's trousers under relaxed bouclé jackets and sheer calf-length organza guayabera shirt dresses in shades of gray with strategically placed pockets. Leaves of the Monstera deliciosa plant wafted from the full calf-length skirts along with a whiff of Hemingway. There were army green short suits with brass-buttoned shirts finished in macramé fringe, and striped, body-hugging knits and picnic plaid dresses. There were light-as-air white crocheted lace dresses and sparkling pastel sequined party frocks with puffed whipped-cream sleeves.	宽腿细条纹男式裤搭配休闲的毛圈上衣。长及小腿的灰色透明硬纱衬衫式连衣裙上巧妙地设计了一些口袋。龟背竹叶子花纹飘扬在长及腿肚的裙子上，带有一丝海明威(Hemingway)的气息。军绿色短西服搭配流苏边铜扣衬衫。紧身条纹针织衫搭配野餐格子布连衣裙。还有轻盈的白色蕾丝钩织连衣裙以及装饰有淡色亮片和蓬松奶油色袖子的派对连衣裙。
Oh, and there were panama hats and berets (very Chanel, very Che) and a male model carrying a Cuban cigar. Also silk prints of 1950s Cadillacs and Oldsmobiles in gumdrop shades and souvenir T-shirts emblazoned with the words "Coco Cuba," which were kind of cheerfully tongue-in-cheek but also teetered uncomfortably on the verge of let-them-eat-cake-dom. Especially at the end when a Cuban band accompanied Mr. Lagerfeld and his host of dancing models down the avenue to the lights of a few hundred iPhones as all of the guests started madly using Instagram (or Snapchat or whatever) to record the moment. Check out the video.	哦，还有巴拿马帽和贝雷帽（极具香奈儿特色，极具切·格瓦拉风格），还有一位男模特叼着一根古巴雪茄。还有 20 世纪 50 年代的凯迪拉克轿车 (Cadillac) 和奥兹莫比尔轿车 (Oldsmobile) 的糖果色丝网印花，以及带有“椰子古巴”(Coco Cuba) 纹章的纪念 T 恤——它像是在欢乐地半开玩笑，但也有点“让他们吃蛋糕”的意味（据说，法国的一位王妃听说农民没有面包吃，就说，那就让他们吃蛋糕吧——译注）。尤其是到最后，拉格菲尔德和跳着舞的模特们在一支古巴乐队的伴奏下沿着大街走，数百个 iPhone 在给他们拍照，因为所有的宾客都开始疯狂地用 Instagram（或 Snapchat 什么的）记录这个时刻。去看看那个视频吧。
After all, the average wage in Cuba is still around $25 a month. As ABC News pointed out, the show "was a startling sight in a country officially dedicated to social equality and the rejection of material wealth."	毕竟，古巴的平均工资依然是每月 25 美元左右。就像 ABC 新闻(ABC News) 指出的，这场时装秀“对这个官方上追求社会平等、排斥物质财富的国家来说是令人吃惊的景象”。时装秀开始前，古巴记者约安尼·桑切(Yoani

Before the event, Yoani Sánchez, a Cuban journalist, posted on Twitter numerous pictures of the security cordon around the avenue.	Sánchez)在 Twitter 上发了很多场地周围警戒线的照片。
None of this has escaped Chanel, which has no official history with Cuba — it was not an inspiration for Coco or anything — and has been quick to note that showing there was simply a creative decision, inspired by Cuba’s “cultural richness.” All reports about the event have noted the “warmth” with which it was received, as Sarah Mower wrote on Vogue.com. Beforehand, Emilio Estefan, the Cuban-American musician, told New York magazine’s The Cut that he approved of Chanel’s initiative because “the more people that go there and show them the free world, that’s great for the Cuban people.”	这些都没逃过香奈儿的注意——该品牌与古巴没有渊源，它不是以椰子为灵感——它很快指出，在那里举办时装秀只是创意决定，是受到古巴“文化丰富性”的启发。就像萨拉·莫厄尔(Sarah Mower)在 Vogue.com 网站上写的，关于这场活动的所有报道都指出，它受到“热情接纳”。时装秀举办前，古巴裔美国音乐人埃米利奥·埃斯特凡(Emilio Estefan)在接受《纽约》杂志(New York)The Cut 栏目采访时说，他赞赏香奈儿的这场活动，因为“更多人到那里展示自由世界的情况对古巴人民很有益”。
There is no question that simply holding such an event in Havana brings both global attention and real investment to the city. It is expensive to put on such a large show, especially because the jaunt included dinners, parties, sightseeing — even a “Cuba Revolution” tour (ahem). That is a good thing. Who is to say those benefits do not far outweigh the moral ickiness of promoting very expensive clothes for the very few in a country where no one can buy such clothes? (Bruno Pavlovsky, Chanel’s president of fashion, says the brand has “zero” business in Cuba.) It is easy to get on a high horse from afar. And perhaps the simple act of forcing the issue, of being in Havana and being faced with the contemporary truth of the country instead of its appropriated image, is the best way to start grappling with it.	毫无疑问，在哈瓦那举办这样的活动本身就能引起全球关注，给这座城市带来真正的投资。举办这样的大型时装秀非常昂贵，尤其是考虑到要组织宴会、派对和观光——甚至包括来一场“古巴革命”之旅（呃哼）。那是好事。谁能说这些益处没有远远盖过道德上的多愁善感：说什么这是在一个几乎无人能买得起此类服装的国家推广非常昂贵的衣服（香奈儿的时装总裁布鲁诺·帕夫洛夫斯基[Bruno Pavlovsky]说，该品牌在古巴没有任何生意）。不要再高高在上地指责别人了。也许促成这一活动，前往哈瓦那，亲眼目睹这个国家的现实（而非它被扭曲的形象）才是扭转局面的最佳办法。
It’s probably no accident that among the candy colors on the runway, Mr. Lagerfeld consciously included many shades of gray.	拉格菲尔德在秀台上的糖果色中故意加入很多灰色调，很可能不是巧合。

/style/20160506/t06otrchannel	/style/20160506/t06otrchannel
Cambodia, Home of 'The Killing Fields,' Becomes a Retirement Haven	柬埔寨：昔日的种族杀戮场，如今的退休者天堂
Cambodia is a country of many a bad memory. American B-52s carpet-bombed it during the Vietnam War. It barely survived the rise of a despot named Pol Pot and the genocidal killing fields of his Khmer Rouge regime.	柬埔寨这个国家有着太多糟糕的回忆。美国 B-52 轰炸机在越南战争期间对它进行过地毯式轰炸。暴君波尔布特(Pol Pot)的崛起及其领导的红色高棉政权设立的种族灭绝屠宰场，差一点就让它走向灭亡。
Who would have guessed that it would become, of all things, an affordable retirement haven for foreigners, including many Americans who were of draft age when the country was convulsed by those much darker times?	谁也不曾想到，它竟然会变成外国人眼中的廉价退休疗养地，包括许多美国人。当柬埔寨在黑暗岁月里挣扎的时候，这些美国人正处于可以应征入伍的年龄。
Thousands of older people from Australia, Europe and the United States have moved to Cambodia in recent years, or are thinking about it as an option — especially people on fixed incomes who are attracted by the low cost of living. The Cambodian government is encouraging the influx by making it simpler for foreign retirees to apply for visas.	近年来，已有成千上万的老年人从澳大利亚、欧洲和美国移居柬埔寨，或者正把它当成一个选项加以考虑——尤其是那些收入固定、深受这里的低廉生活成本吸引的人。柬埔寨政府正通过简化外国退休人员签证申办手续，来鼓励他们的涌入。
"Opportunity often lies in that space between the public's somewhat negative perception about a place and the much more positive reality on the ground," said Jennifer Stevens, the executive editor of International Living, a monthly magazine that caters to older people who are thinking of moving to less expensive countries.	“公众对一个地方持有的某种负面看法，和当地正面得多的现实情况之间，常常存在着机会，”《国际生活》(International Living)主编珍妮弗·史蒂文斯(Jennifer Stevens)说。《国际生活》是一本月刊，面向的是考虑搬到生活成本不那么高昂的国家居住的老年人。
The magazine reported that an American retiree could fund "a relaxed and comfortable lifestyle" in Cambodia on nothing more than a $1,000-a-month Social Security check. "You just get great value there," said Eoin Bassett, the magazine's editorial director.	据这本杂志报道，一名美国退休人员每月顶多只要拿到一张 1000 美元的社保支票，就能在柬埔寨维持“一种轻松舒适的生活方式”。“在那里可以过得很实惠，”该杂志编辑总监约恩·巴塞特(Eoin Bassett)说。
The image change is certainly welcomed in Cambodia, where the	在有过的惨痛遭遇的柬埔寨，这种形象的转变当然是件好事。

unspeakable once happened.
It began with the secret bombing ordered by the Nixon administration code-named Operation Breakfast, which dumped 110,000 tons of explosives on the country in 1969 and 1970. Air Force B-52s made at least 3,500 raids inside Cambodia, contributing to a legacy of bomb fragments and unexploded bombs that still make parts of the country off limits.	事情是从尼克松政府下令实施代号为“早餐行动”(Operation Breakfast)的秘密轰炸开始的，在 1969 年至 1970 年间，总共有 11 万吨炸弹被投放在这个国家的土地上。美国空军的 B-52 轰炸机在柬埔寨境内至少执行了 3500 次任务，遗留下不少炸弹碎片，以及至今让某些地方成为禁区的未爆炸炸弹。
Later came five years of rule by the Khmer Rouge, and one of the worst mass atrocities of the 20th century. Pol Pot declared a new society; reset the nation's calendar at Year Zero; forcibly emptied the capital, Phnom Penh, and other cities; and slaughtered about two million people.	接着是红色高棉掌权的 5 年，以及惨烈程度足以在 20 世纪跻身世界前列的一场大规模暴行。波尔布特宣布要建设一个新社会：该国从零开始重新纪年，首都金边等城市被强行清空；约两百万人遭到屠杀。
But that is ancient history to today's Cambodians, the vast majority of whom were born well after the Khmer Rouge regime collapsed in 1979, routed by a Vietnamese invasion. The median age in the country is about 24.	但对今天的柬埔寨人而言，这些都是遥远的历史。他们中的绝大部分都是在 1979 以后出生的，那一年，红色高棉政权因越南入侵而垮台。目前，柬埔寨人的年龄中值约为 24 岁。
/style/20160802/cambodia-retirement	/style/20160802/cambodia-retirement
Coffee, Bikini Waxes, X-Rays: Almost Anything Can Be Sent to Homes in Cairo	在开罗，避孕、脱毛、X 光检查都能上门服务
CAIRO — When it comes to home delivery and services, Cairo has most other places beat.	开罗——在快递到家和服务上门方面，没有多少城市能胜过开罗。
Suffering from a hangover and perhaps some regrets? Costa Coffee will send around a single shot of espresso ($2.70), and the neighborhood pharmacy will dispatch one morning-after pill ($2).	为宿醉苦恼？或许为昨晚的事后悔？Costa 咖啡可以送来一杯意式浓缩咖啡（2.70 美元），附近的药店也能送来一片事后避孕药（2 美元）。
Want a Brazilian bikini wax? It can be done in the privacy of your home	想来个巴西式比基尼脱毛？可以在家中私密环境下完成，价格 6 美元。需要

for $6. Need a birth or death certificate? Just put in a call to the government, which will dispatch it within 72 hours.	出生或死亡证明？只需给政府打电话，72 小时内就会得到解决。
For city dwellers in Egypt, almost anything can be delivered, and for nearly nothing.	对于埃及的城市居民来说，几乎一切都可以快递，而且近乎免费。
Home deliveries started with fast food, but have come to include an array of other goods and services. Upscale restaurants will deliver a salad or a single slice of cake; stationers will send pens to the office; liquor stores will supply alcohol if a party runs dry; bakeries will send fresh bread and pastries straight from the oven — most of it carried on the backs of battered old motorcycles.	快递到家服务始于快餐业，但是渐渐发展到一系列其他货品与服务。高级餐厅可以只送一份沙拉或一小块蛋糕；文具店可以把钢笔送到办公室；如果派对上的酒喝完了，可以要酒类商店送来；蛋糕房可以送来刚出炉的新鲜面包和甜点——多数商品都是用破旧摩托车送来的
Driving the trend is a middle class willing to spend money to avoid hassles, plus large numbers of poorer people willing to zoom around on motorcycles for less than $10 a day. Given Cairo's bad traffic and long, hot summers, the capital's dwellers need little encouragement to pick up the phone. (Deliveries spike especially in July and August, when daytime temperatures rarely drop below 90 degrees.)	推动这种趋势的是中产阶级愿意花钱避免麻烦的愿望，此外还有众多比较穷的人愿意骑着摩托车到处穿梭，换来每天不到 10 美元的报酬。鉴于开罗糟糕的交通状况，以及夏日的漫长酷热，首都的居民不用太多想就会打电话叫快递（快递在 7 月和 8 月会达到高峰，那段时间白日的温度很少低于 90 华氏度）。
The customers pay very little for the convenience — delivery charges are typically less than a dollar.	客户不用付多少钱就可以得到这种便利——快递费一般不到 1 美元。
"It is too hot for anyone to walk, and no one wants to drive through a traffic jam and then have to look for a parking spot," said Shady Ahmed, who delivers for Costa Coffee in Zamalek, an affluent Cairo neighborhood. "Why would anyone waste money on a cab coming and going when we can deliver to them for less?"	"天气太热了，大家都不愿意走路，也没人愿意开车遇到拥堵，然后还要找停车位，"在扎马利克为 Costa 咖啡送货的沙迪·艾哈迈德(Shady Ahmed)说，扎马利克是开罗一个繁华的地带。"既然我们可以廉价送货上门，为什么还要浪费钱打车呢？"
Even the government's creaky bureaucracy has seized on the trend. In January, the civil registry created a call center for people to renew their	就连破败的政府官僚体制也赶上了这股潮流。1 月，民政注册处开放了一个电话中心，提供上门服务，帮人们更新身份证号，之后又提供了快递出生证、

national IDs and then get birth, death and marriage certificates delivered to their homes, a service they can also find online.	死亡证和结婚证的服务，这些服务也可以上网办理。
"We did this to make life easier," said Ehab el-Attar, the registry's head. "Not everyone can use the internet, and this way they don't waste time coming here and make traffic worse. I don't think this particular service is a proof of laziness." But, he added with a laugh, "there is definitely plenty of laziness around."	"我们这样做都是为了提供方便，"注册处的长官埃哈卜·艾尔-阿塔尔(Ehab el-Attar)说。"不是所有人都能用互联网，这样他们就不用浪费时间跑到这里，让交通进一步恶化。我不觉得这项服务证明人们懒惰。"不过他笑着补充说，"现在确实有不少懒人。"
The home delivery culture is spreading into the service sector as well. Now an ailing runner can have her knees X-rayed in bed for about $55, and while she is at it, get a haircut and a pedicure.	上门文化也发展到了服务行业。现在，如果跑步受伤，可以在家里，躺在床上给膝盖做X光检查，只需55美元，与此同时，还可以理发和美甲。
While businesses have jumped at the opportunities, some of their workers grumble about the customers' attitudes. "They'll just sit there with coffee mugs and barely look at you. You just want to tell them, 'You are not rich, this is just cheap,'" said Nagat Hosny, a body waxer who does home visits.	商家抓住机会的同时，有些员工也在抱怨客户的态度。"他们就是端着咖啡坐在那儿，几乎不看你一眼。你忍不住想告诉他们，'不是你太有钱，是服务太便宜'，"提供上门服务的身体脱毛师纳加·胡斯尼(Nagat Hosny)说。
Mostafa Mahmoud travels the city taking blood from people at home — he is a phlebotomist, not a vampire — and delivers it to Al Borg, one of the capital's leading medical labs.	穆斯塔法·马哈茂德(Mostafa Mahmoud)在整个城市四处上门采集血液——他是抽血者，不是吸血者——然后把这些血液提供给开罗最大的医疗实验室之一 Al Borg。
"It is often exasperating when you go and find that the person is absolutely fine and just chilling at home," he said. "Some even have the audacity to scold you if you are 10 minutes late."	"有时候你上门去，发现那人完全没问题，悠闲自得地待在家里，这经常让人恼怒，"他说。"有些人因为你晚了10分钟，就敢教训你。"
With an increasing number of goods and services finding their way to the doorsteps of customers, it was inevitable that some high-tech solutions would also come along.	愈来愈多的货物和服务被直接送上门，一些高科技的解决办法也就不可避免地随之而来。
Waleed Rashed is the founder of a company that plans to introduce a	瓦利德·拉希德(Waleed Rashed)是一家公司的创始人，该公司计划在10月

delivery app called Voo in October. Voo (the name is meant to suggest the sound of speed) aims to do almost any chore for anyone.	推出一款名叫 Voo 的快递手机应用。Voo (这个名字让人联想起飞速移动的声音) 旨在为所有人提供几乎所有的跑腿服务。
"There is no incentive to go outside," Mr. Rashed said. "Just one hour outside is enough to ruin anyone's day."	"人们不愿出门,"拉希德说。"出门一小时就能毁掉一整天。"
Voo might, for example, pick up keys you left at a friend's house and return them to you within an hour for an average of $5, he said.	比如说,Voo 可以在一个小时内帮你拿回留在朋友家里的钥匙,再交还给你,平均只需 5 美元,他说。
Ingez, an Egyptian company whose name translates as "hurry up," has also latched onto the delivery craze. It offers services such as driving sundry goods — a single cellphone cover, say — from one end of Cairo to another for as little as $2.50, or taking flowers to someone in the hospital on behalf of a busy relative.	埃及公司“因格兹”(Ingez——意思是“赶快”)也跟上了这股快递热潮。它可以把各种货物(比如说,一个手机壳)从开罗的一头送到另一头,只需要 2.5 美元,或者帮一个忙碌的亲戚给医院里的病人送花。
"Sometimes we find it funny," said Ahmed Farouk, the company's manager of operations. "I personally wouldn't request a delivery for a small order myself, but people generally are never shy about it."	"有时候,我们觉得这很有趣,"公司的运营经理艾哈迈德·法鲁克(Ahmed Farouk)说。"我自己从来不会为了小额商品叫快递,但是大多数人毫无顾忌。"
Ammar Ali Hassan, a prominent Egyptian novelist and political sociologist, attributes such attitudes to the return of many relatively affluent Egyptians who were guest workers in Saudi Arabia and other countries on the Persian Gulf.	埃及著名的小说家和政治社会学家阿马尔·阿里·哈桑(Ammar Ali Hassan)觉得,这种态度是因为许多相对富裕的埃及人正在回国。他们曾在沙特阿拉伯和波斯湾其他国家打工。
"Many were influenced by the Gulf," Mr. Hassan said. "They think, 'Oh I am a big deal and can act like a member of the upper class now. I am too big for queues.'"	"很多人受到海湾地区的影响,"哈桑说。"他们想,'现在我是大人物,可以像上层阶级一样了。我太了不起,不能排队。'"
Home delivery has become so habitual here that Egyptians abroad tend to feel deprived.	接受上门服务成了一种习惯,一些海外的埃及人甚至觉得失去了什么。
Salma Adel, a young Egyptian physician who moved to Ireland more than a year ago, said delivery was one of the things she missed most.	一年多前移居爱尔兰的年轻埃及医生萨尔玛·阿德尔(Salma Adel)说,快递是她最怀念的一件事。

"It has to be up there with family," she said. "It's not like it's just fast food. It's all food."	"最好是和家人在一起,"她说。"不仅仅是快餐,而是所有的餐饮都能送达。"
"There's something beautiful about being able to conjure up a beautiful meal out of thin air when you're sat at home and can't be bothered to cook," she added.	"坐在家里,不用费力做饭,凭空就有好饭好菜变出来,真是太美了,"她说。
/style/20160830/cairo-home-delivery-services	/style/20160830/cairo-home-delivery-services
The Economy Is Free in Hong Kong. Running a Food Truck Isn't (See Annex C).	香港给美食装上车轮,却找不到顾客
HONG KONG — For the 23rd year running, Hong Kong is, in the opinion of the conservative Heritage Foundation, the freest economy in the world. With low taxes, an efficient government and private businesses running the city buses and its spotless subways, this place is a libertarian dream come true.	香港——香港经济连续 23 年被保守机构传统基金会(Heritage Foundation)评为全球最自由的经济。在这里,税赋低、政府高效、私营企业运营着城市公交和一尘不染的地铁,简直就是自由意志主义梦想走进了现实。
So the story goes.	据说是这样的。
Many people who live in Hong Kong beg to differ. This has long been a city of tycoons, with a few families holding sway over the supermarkets, drugstores and real estate market, limiting competition and keeping prices high. And in the past few weeks, four words have further shaken the story line that this former British colony is a free-market nirvana.	但在香港生活的很多人不敢苟同。这里向来是一个由巨头把持的城市,少数几个家族控制着超市、药店和房地产市场,限制竞争并维持高价。并且在过去几周里,七个字进一步动摇了这个前英国殖民地是一个自由市场天堂的故事。
Food Truck Pilot Scheme.	美食车先导计划。
Hong Kong, a culinary paradise that is arguably the dim sum capital of the world, was, until this month, sorely lacking in something that other financial capitals, like New York and London, have in spades: food trucks.	作为一个美食天堂,香港可以说是世界点心之都,但直到本月之前,香港一直非常缺少一种在纽约和伦敦等其他金融中心随处可见的东西:美食车。
Something had to be done to close the yawning food truck gap.	必须做点什么来弥补这道美食车的鸿沟。

Enter the Hong Kong government, keen to draw in more tourists.	于是，渴望吸引更多游客的香港政府登场了。
After more than a year of preparation, and even cook-offs to pick the lucky few, the food trucks are finally here. Eight for a city of 7.2 million. There are plans for eight more.	在准备了一年多，甚至还为选出少数幸运儿而举办多场烹饪比赛后，美食车终于与民众见面。在一个人口 720 万的城市推出八辆美食车。还有八辆在计划中。
The trucks are sights to behold. Gleaming and new, they are brightly and imaginatively painted, with names like Ma Ma's Dumplings and Mein by Maureen. One is emblazoned with a panda that bears a striking resemblance to Po of "Kung Fu Panda" fame.	这些美食车的样子美不胜收。崭新的车身闪闪发光，喷涂的颜色明亮且别出心裁，写着“有得饺”和“Mein by Maureen”之类的名字。其中一辆车醒目地印着一只熊猫，很像《功夫熊猫》(Kung Fu Panda)故事中的阿宝(Po)。
And the food – in the opinion of this hearty eater – is fabulous. The Shanghai barbecue pork bun from the Book Brothers truck melts in your mouth. The “five colored dumplings” at Ma Ma's are delicious – an authentic taste of northern China.	在嗜好美食的本人看来，美食车提供的食物也堪称精美。来自“大师兄美食车”的上海红烧肉叉包入口即化。有得饺美食车的五色饺子美味可口，是正宗的中国北方口味。
Just one ingredient seems to be missing: customers.	似乎只缺少一个要素：顾客。
Food trucks in most cities are mobile. They can move from place to place. They are, after all, trucks. In New York, one might hit the lunch crowd in Midtown, then head uptown to Columbia University to catch hungry students in late afternoon.	大部分城市的美食车都是流动的，可以从一个地方转移到另一个地方。毕竟它们是卡车。在纽约，你可能在中城挤进吃午饭的人群，然后在接近傍晚时，到市郊的哥伦比亚大学(Columbia University)看到饥肠辘辘的学生。
In Hong Kong, the government agency that devised the Food Truck Pilot Scheme had a new, bold and innovative idea: stationary food trucks that don't park on the street. A spokesman for the city's Tourism Commission explained why in an email:	在香港，设计美食车先导计划的政府机构想出了一个大胆、有创意的新点子：美食车不停放在街道上，而是固定场地。香港旅游事务署的发言人在一封电子邮件中解释了原因：
“Since the urban area of Hong Kong is already saturated with traffic, it would not be desirable from the traffic management and road safety angles to allow food trucks to park and operate on public roads. Moreover, as many locations in Hong Kong have already got a number	“鉴于香港市区的交通已经饱和，从交通管理和道路安全的角度考虑，允许美食车在公共道路上停放和经营不可取。此外，因为香港很多地方已经有大量餐饮场所，因此引导美食车远离那些地区是明智的。”

of food establishments, it would thus be desirable to introduce food trucks away from those areas.”
It’s all explained in a raft of guidelines. There are seven annexes in all, including licensing requirements (Annex D), special government loan programs (Annex B) and fixed venues (Annex F).	大量指导方针解释了美食车计划的方方面面。总共有七份附件，包括领取牌照需达到的要求（附件 D）、政府提供的特殊贷款计划（附件 B）和固定的经营场地（附件 F）。
Then there is Annex C – “Mandatory Requirements for a Food Truck” – that lists in painstaking detail what each truck must have. Some examples: The kitchen floor space must be at least 65 square feet. Each truck must have a potable water tank with a capacity of about 32 gallons, and a wastewater tank at least one and a half times that size. The sink must be at least a foot and a half in length. And so on.	附件 C《美食车的强制要求》细致入微地列出了每辆车必须满足的条件。比如：配制间的最低总面积不得低于六平方米，各车必须配备一个容量约为 120 升的食水箱和一个容量至少是食水箱 1.5 倍的污水贮存箱、洗涤盆的长度不少于 450 毫米等。
To meet all of those regulations, Hong Kong food trucks must be custom vehicles, bearing little resemblance to the decades-old trucks that congregate near the National Mall in Washington, the capital of a country that has only the 17th freest economy in the world.	为了符合上述所有规定，香港的美食车必须是定制车辆。它们和聚集在美国首都华盛顿国家广场附近的那些有几十年历史的卡车几乎没有相似之处。而美国经济的自由程度仅位列全球第十七位。
All these rules and regulations have Liu Chun-ho, the owner of Ma Ma’s Dumpling, very worried. To meet the stringent requirements, he paid about one million Hong Kong dollars ($129,000) for his new Isuzu truck.	所有这些准则和规定让有得饺的老板廖震豪(Liu Chun-ho)非常担心。为了满足严格的要求，他花了大约 100 万港币（约合 88 万元人民币）买了一辆新的五十铃卡车。
On a sunny afternoon recently, his truck was attracting a trickle of customers in a square near the Wong Tai Sin Temple, one of eight places where food trucks can operate, with the venue maximum set at two food trucks (see maps in Annex G). The trucks must pay a monthly service fee to park. At Wong Tai Sin, it is 17,000 Hong Kong dollars a month or 15 percent of the gross revenue, whichever is higher (Annex E).	最近一个阳光明媚的午后，在黄大仙祠附近的一个广场上，他的卡车吸引着稀稀落落的顾客。这里是允许美食车经营的八个地方之一，最多可停放两辆美食车（见附件 G 中的地图）。美食车须按月交纳服务费才能停车营业。在黄大仙祠，服务费是每月 1.7 万港币或总收入的 15%，以较高者为准则（附件 E）。

Mr. Liu illustrates his challenge in units of dumplings. He needs to sell 200 bowls a day, at 40 Hong Kong dollars each, just to cover his fixed costs, he said. He is barely making that now, and fears business will plummet once summer comes with the monsoon rains and pounding semitropical sun that will keep customers away from the treeless, concrete square.	廖震豪以饺子为单位衡量自己面临的挑战。他说，他一天需要以 40 港币一碗的价格卖出 200 碗饺子，才刚够收回固定成本。做到这一点已经非常吃力了，还要担心一旦进入夏天，季风雨和毒辣的亚热带阳光会让顾客远离没有树木的混凝土广场，生意会暴跌。
“The government needs to loosen up,” said Mr. Liu, 43. He has been to Thailand and Japan, and in those places, “you can set up shop anywhere, on the roads, on the streets,” he said.	43 岁的廖震豪说，“政府需要放松。”他去过泰国和日本。在那些地方，“任何地方都可以开店，公路上，街道上，”他说。
The result is that small-business entrepreneurs, the mainstays of food trucks in other countries, find it forbidding to enter the market in Hong Kong. One truck is owned by an American company with a fleet of trucks in California, another by the heiress to a local noodle chain, which also won the rights to operate one of the next eight food trucks set to go into operation.	结果就是，在其他国家是美食车中坚力量的小本生意人发现，它们无法进入香港市场。其中一辆美食车的所有者是一家美国公司，该公司在加利福尼亚州拥有一支美食车队。另一辆美食车的所有者是本地一家面食连锁的继承人，在即将投入运营的另外八辆美食车中，还有一辆是这个连锁店铺运营的。
Despite these problems, Hong Kong’s government has rolled out the program with great fanfare. There has been an endless stream of news releases, and the city has hired a public relations firm to drum up interest. Mr. Liu had just finished giving an interview to two reporters from the Chinese Communist Party’s flagship People’s Daily newspaper. There’s even a phone app, Hong Kong Food Truck, that shows which trucks are at which of the eight designated locations.	尽管存在这些问题，香港政府仍大张旗鼓地推出了该计划。新闻稿源源不断地流出，该市还雇了一家公关公司来刺激外界的兴趣。廖震豪刚刚结束来自中国共产党机关报《人民日报》的两名记者的采访。甚至还有一款名为“香港美食车”的手机应用，列出了哪些美食车在八个指定地点中的哪些地方。
Mr. Liu hopes, perhaps against hope, that he’ll be able to make more money at a venue his truck will occupy in the future — a patch of landfill jutting out into Victoria Harbor called Golden Bauhinia Square.	廖震豪抱着一线希望，但愿自己的美食车在未来的一个场地——经过填海延伸进入维多利亚港的金紫荆广场——赚的钱能多一些。

To get there, pedestrians must take a zigzag of narrow paths through a giant construction project. The square, whose main attraction is a golden statue of a bauhinia flower, an emblem of the city, is also frequented by buses filled with tourists from mainland China.	要去金紫荆广场，行人必须走弯弯曲曲的小路，穿过一个大型建筑项目。该广场的主要景点是一尊金色的紫荆花雕塑，常有载着大陆游客的巴士来该广场。
There, on a weekday afternoon, four employees of Book Brothers waited for customers to buy their delicious barbecue pork sandwiches, which come with a Hong Kong flag planted in the bun. Over a 15-minute stretch, they had one sale.	一个工作日的下午，在金紫荆广场上，大师兄美食车的四名员工等着顾客买他们美味的红烧肉叉包，包上还插着一面代表香港的旗帜。在 15 分钟时间里，他们只卖出了一个。
One woman from mainland China balked at the price, 38 Hong Kong dollars ($4.90), for the small sandwich, saying she thought that was the price for three. That's a problem, said Chen Qiuling, one of the workers, who said two-thirds of their customers were from China.	一名来自大陆的女子因小小一个叉包卖 38 港币的价格而放弃了，称她以为那是三个包子的价钱。一个名为陈秋玲（音）的工作人员说，这是一个问题。这名工作人员称，他们三分之二的顾客来自大陆。
The workers at Book Brothers hope that their next location, closer to the city's central business district, will be busier. And if they can't sell their pork buns, they could always try something else, right? After all, that's what capitalism is all about.	大师兄美食车的工作人员希望，接下来他们在更接近香港中环商务区的点能更热闹一些。如果红烧肉叉包卖不出去，随时可以试试别的，对吧？毕竟，这正是资本主义的本质所在。
Not so fast. Please refer to Answer No. 8 of the government's "Frequently Asked Questions: Application of the Food Truck Pilot Scheme (Pilot Scheme)."	且慢。请看政府“申请美食车先导计划（先导计划）的常见问题”中的第八个答案。
"No alteration of the signature dish proposed by the applicant in the application form will be allowed after the submission of Application and throughout the Scheme," it declares. "If the operator wishes to change dishes other than the signature dish, he should obtain prior written approval from the Venues and the Food and Environmental Hygiene Department."	“申请人于申请表格内所提出的招牌菜在递交申请后及先导计划期间不可做出更改，”答案中写道。“营运者如欲改动招牌菜以外的其他菜式，须事先获得场地和食物环境卫生署的书面批准。”

/style/20170220/hong-kong-food-trucks	/style/20170220/hong-kong-food-trucks
A Paid Hour a Week for Sex? Swedish Town Considers It	每周 1 小时带薪假用于做爱：瑞典城市新福利
A local official in Sweden has a novel proposal to improve work-life balance and lift the local birthrate: give municipal employees an hourlong paid break each week to go home and have sex.	一名瑞典地方官员有一项可以改善工作与生活平衡、提高当地生育率的新提议：每周给市政府雇员一小时的带薪休息时间，让他们回家做爱。
Sweden is already celebrated for its generous welfare state, including 480 days of paid parental leave, universal health care and a common ritual of coffee and pastry, known as fika, which is considered sacrosanct.	瑞典本就以慷慨的福利制度著称，其中包括 480 天带薪产假、全民医保和被称为“fika”、被认为是神圣不可改变的咖啡甜点时间。
Per-Erik Muskos, a 42-year-old councilman from the northern town of Overtornea, wants to add to those benefits, by offering the municipality's 550 employees the right to subsidized sex. In introducing his proposal this week, he told fellow members of the town council that it would give a nudge to the dwindling local population, add spice to aging marriages and improve employee morale.	来自北方城镇上托尔内奥(Overtornea)的 42 岁地方议会议员佩尔-埃里克·穆斯克(Per-Erik Musko)想再增加一项福利，即给 550 名市政雇员提供有补贴的性生活。在本周介绍自己的提议时，他告诉市议会的其他议员，这将有助于解决本地人口逐渐减少的问题，为陈旧的婚姻增添情趣，还能提振雇员的士气。
The idea quickly got attention all over Sweden, where for at least some, it was a welcome distraction from President Donald Trump's vague reference to problems the country was having with immigration, which were strongly denied by baffled Swedes.	这个想法很快引起整个瑞典的注意，至少对那里的一些人来说，它是受欢迎的，因为可以将注意力从美国总统唐纳德有关这个国家出现移民问题的含糊暗示上转移。这种暗示已经遭到困惑的瑞典人的坚决否认。
Noting that "sex is also a great form of exercise and has documented positive effects on well-being," Muskos suggested that local municipal employees could use an hour of the workweek already allotted for fitness activities to go home and have sex with their spouses or partners instead. The motion, which is expected to be voted on in the spring, needs a simple majority to be passed by the 31-member council. As of	穆斯克指出“性也是一种很棒的锻炼方式，而且有文件证明可以给健康带来积极的影响”，他还表示当地的市政府雇员可以用已经分配给健身活动的每周一小时的时间，回家和配偶或伴侣做爱。这项有望在春季进行投票的动议，需要在有 31 名成员的地方议会中获得简单多数支持才能通过。截至目前，议员们观点不一。

now, opinion on the council is divided.
"We should encourage procreation. I believe that sex is often in short supply. Everyday life is stressful and the children are at home," Muskos explained in his motion in Overtornea, a town of about 4,500 in the picturesque and remote Torne Valley. "This could be an opportunity for couples to have their own time, only for each other."	"我们应该鼓励生育。我认为大家的性生活往往是不足的。日常生活压力大，孩子们也在家，"穆斯克在上托尔内奥解释自己提出的动议时表示。这是一个人口约 4500 的小城，位于风景如画、地处一隅的特宁山谷内。"它可以是一个机会，让夫妻拥有只属于彼此的时间。"
His proposal has generated praise, ridicule and criticism. Some critics fear single workers could while away their working hours on the dating app Tinder trying to find a date for their weekly interlude.	对于他的提议，有赞扬、有嘲笑，也有批评。一些批评者担心单身员工可能会将工作时间消磨在约会软件 Tinder 上，为每周一次的休息时间寻找约会对象。
When Muskos introduced the motion Monday, some council members giggled while others said they were not amused. But befitting a progressive country which has long been perceived as a beacon of sexual enlightenment — including blissfully kitsch performances at the Eurovision Song Contest — the proposal was taken in stride.	穆斯克周一提出这项动议时，一些议员笑了起来，另一些人则表示并不觉得好笑。但与一个一直被认为是性启蒙灯塔——包括欧洲歌唱大赛(Eurovision Song Contest)上欢快的媚俗(kitsch)表演——的进步国家相称的是，这项提议获得了从容应对。
It made headlines across Sweden and beyond. "Suggestion: Let the staff have sex during working hours," a headline in the newspaper Expressen declared, under a photograph showing a couple in bed.	它在瑞典内外成为了新闻头条。"提议：让员工们在工作时间做爱"，《快报》(Expressen)的一篇新闻标题如此宣称，上方还配了一张一对夫妇躺在床上的照片。
Muskos told colleagues the proposal was no joke, though he acknowledged practical problems like enforcement. It would be difficult to tell, for example, if an employee eschewed sex in favor of a walk in the country.	穆斯克告诉自己的同事，这项提议不是玩笑，尽管他承认在执行等方面存在一些实际问题。比如，没法确定一个员工是不是用做爱的时间去乡间散步了。
Sweden has among the highest fertility rates in the European Union, according to Eurostat, the bloc's statistic agency, in part because of the country's generous parental leave systems and immigration. But the fertility rate has nevertheless been decreasing recently.	欧盟(European Union)统计机构欧洲统计局(Eurostat)的数据显示，瑞典属于欧盟生育率最高的国家之一，部分原因在于这个国家有着慷慨的产假和移民制度。但尽管如此，该国的生育率最近也一直在下降。

Malin Hansson, 41, a sexologist and specialist in reproductive health in Gothenburg, applauded the initiative, arguing that sex reduced stress, improved sleep and strengthened immunity, while enriching intimacy between couples.	哥德堡 41 岁的性学家和生殖健康专家马林·汉松(Malin Hansson)对这项倡议表示称赞,称性生活有利于减压,可以改善睡眠、增强免疫力,还能增加夫妻之间的亲密度。
"If it was up to me, I would introduce this across the country," she said, adding: "In Sweden, sex is considered just another activity."	"如果是我说了算,我会把它介绍到全国,"她说。还表示:"在瑞典,性不过被认为是另一种活动"。
Stefan Nilsson, a Green Party member who sits on the health and welfare committee of the Swedish parliament, said he was skeptical that taxpayers would want their money to finance work-hour sex, but allowed that the idea might be a canny investment in physical activity, noting that healthier workers cost the government less.	担任瑞典议会健康与福利委员会委员的绿党成员斯特凡·尼尔松(Stefan Nilsson)表示,他对纳税人愿意拿自己的钱支持工作时间做爱持怀疑态度,但也承认这个想法或许是对身体活动的一项精明投资,指出员工更健康可以让政府减少支出。
Others were less persuaded.	对其他人来说,这提议就没那么容易接受。
Tomas Vedestig, 42, a left-leaning municipal councilman in Overtornea, said that when Muskos made his pitch, his colleagues were so taken aback that they thought they had misheard him. Vedestig said the proposal was intrusive and threatened to embarrass people who do not have sexual partners; do not want to have sex; or had medical conditions that precluded sex.	42 岁的上托尔内奥左倾地方议员托马斯·韦德斯蒂(Tomas Vedestig)表示,当穆斯克提出这项方案时,他的同事们大吃一惊,还以为自己听错了。韦德斯蒂表示,这项提议有点唐突,有可能会让没有性伴侣、不想做爱或因为健康状况无法做爱的人感到尴尬。
"I don't think it's the employer's business to to say 'go home for an hour and make babies,'" he said. And some proponents worried the proposal was too stingy: "I spoke to a couple of older gentlemen who said, 'One hour? That is not enough time.'"	"我认为雇主没有权利说'回家一小时造孩子去吧',"他说。也有一些倡导者则觉得这项提议的时间不够:"我跟几个年龄大一些先生交谈过,他们说,'才一小时?那可不够。'"
/style/20170224/a-paid-hour-a-week-for-sex-swedish-town-considers-it	/style/20170224/a-paid-hour-a-week-for-sex-swedish-town-considers-it
In Taipei, Restaurants That Harness the Bounty of Taiwan	从农场到餐桌:就地取材的新潮台湾美食

Taipei has always been a city where one doesn't have to work hard to eat awfully well: It has a street food scene as vibrant as that of Bangkok; restaurants that specialize in both Taiwanese and regional cuisines from around China; thousands of cheap and cheerful joints at which to drink cold beer with small plates and quick stir-fries; and a plethora of sushi bars, a remnant of decades spent under Japanese rule.	台北向来是一个不用太费劲就能吃得很好的城市：街边小吃的场面热闹非凡，堪比曼谷；餐厅中既有擅长台湾菜的，又有擅长大陆各地的地方菜的；价格亲民、气氛活跃的大排档成千上万，在这里可以用小菜和迅速上桌的炒菜搭配冰镇啤酒；还有大量寿司餐厅，体现了台湾被日本统治数十年的历史。
It's easier than ever to enjoy those qualities, largely thanks to a crop of chefs drawing inspiration from homegrown ingredients: cured mullet roe, lily stems, purple taro, pork from local black pig. Taiwan offers possibilities for farm-to-table dining that don't exist in Singapore and Hong Kong. Surrounded by clean waters and dotted with mountains and fertile plains, with more than 20 microclimates and a deeply embedded small farming tradition recently given new life by urbanites going back to the land, Taiwan places agricultural bounty within easy reach of diners in the capital.	现在，享受这些优质美食比以往任何时候都更容易。这主要归功于一批从本土食材中汲取灵感的厨师：经过腌制的乌鱼子、百合花茎、紫芋头和当地的黑猪肉。台湾为新加坡和香港所没有的“从农场到餐桌”餐饮提供了可能性。这里四周是干净的水域，岛上分布着山峦和肥沃的平原，有 20 多种局部小气候。最近，回归土地的城里人又给一种源远流长的小农耕种传统注入了新的生命。因此，台湾让台北就餐者轻轻松松便能享用到丰富的农产品。
"Now everyone is talking about local ingredients," the Taiwanese chef André Chiang said. "We have everything here, and we should be proud of it." Serving ingredient-focused contemporary Taiwanese cuisine, Chiang's 2-year-old RAW is just one of a growing number of restaurants, ranging from casual to upscale, that are riding the wave of a growing "eat local" movement.	“现在，人人都在说起本地食材，”台湾主厨江振诚(André Chiang)说。“我们这里什么都有，我们应该感到骄傲。”他的 RAW 餐厅供应注重食材的当代台湾美食，开业已有两年。随着“吃在地”（指食用当地食材——译注）运动日渐发展，搭乘这股浪潮的餐厅也越来越多，从普通餐厅到高端餐厅，RAW 只是其中之一。
RAW	RAW 餐厅
Anchored by a sinuous cloud-shaped bar hand-carved from two colossal hunks of pine, the dining room at RAW is cavernous and murky, strikingly backlit by a semiopen kitchen. Instagram-friendly pin	在 RAW 餐厅，吧台在就餐大厅中占据中重要位置。吧台由两块大松木手工雕刻而成，形状起伏有致，像云彩一样。就餐大厅的环境幽深昏暗，灯光从背后的半开放式厨房发出，令人印象深刻。便于拍照的射灯照亮了餐桌。餐

lights illuminate tables, which are set far apart and have hidden drawers for flatware.	桌之间相距甚远，还设计了用于放置餐具的隐形抽屉。
The seasonal set menu of eight courses and a few smaller bites (with optional wine pairings), eschews dish names in favor of shortened ingredient lists ('Taiwan' Rice Pork Mushroom, no commas). Chiang, who worked in France before he opened Singapore's acclaimed Restaurant André, where he spends most of his time, devises the menu at RAW with two Taiwanese chefs, Zor Tan and Alain Huang.	时令套餐菜单上有八道菜和一些小吃（以及可选择搭配的葡萄酒）。菜单上没有写菜名，而是简单列出了食材（如“台湾”米饭猪肉蘑菇，中间没有逗号）。江振诚曾在法国工作过一段时间，后来在新加坡开了备受称赞的安德烈餐厅 (Restaurant André)。他大部分时间都在安德烈餐厅，同另外两名台湾厨师陈将停(Zor Tan)和黄以伦(Alain Huang)一起设计 RAW 餐厅的菜单。
Every dish on the menu is Taiwanese “in form, structure, color or flavor,” Chiang said. A skewered baby corn cob coated with kernels from a mature cob and slicked with deeply smoky barbecue sauce winked at the sort of fare you might find in Taipei's night markets, while Beef Tongue Cracker, an oblong crisp with shavings of velvety ox tongue arranged atop a smear of caramelized onions, confit egg yolk with vinegar for dipping, was a sly nod to ox tongue crackers, a classic Taiwanese snack named for their shape. That Rice Pork Mushroom dish? Pure comfort food, served steaming and fragrant in a miniature clay pot, grains glistening with lard, infused with fungal earthiness and enhanced with chunks of tender meat.	江振诚说，菜单上的每一道菜“在形式、结构、颜色和味道上”都是台湾特色的。把小玉米芯串起来，在外面放上成熟的玉米粒，再刷上一层烟熏味厚重的烤肉调味酱，看上去像那种也许会在台湾夜市上发现的食物。而 Beef Tongue Cracker 则和得名于其形状的台湾经典小吃牛舌饼有关。在一个长方形的脆饼上，切碎的细嫩牛舌被放在一层焦糖洋葱上面，还配有油封蛋黄和可供蘸食的醋。那道米饭猪肉蘑菇呢？是一道能给人带来纯粹满足感的美食。盛放在小砂锅里端上桌时热气直冒，香味四溢，饭粒闪着油光，空气中弥漫着菌类的泥土气息，大块猪肉口感细嫩，进一步增强了食客的享受。
At a nearby table an elegantly dressed Taiwanese woman, obviously perplexed by a shallow bowl containing a single sheet of dried squid, laughed aloud as it separated into curly noodles when a server poured hot kombu broth over. She ate every bite.	在附近一张餐桌上，一名着装优雅的台湾女子明显对一个浅碗感到不解。碗里放着一片干鱿鱼。但当服务员倒进热海带汤，鱿鱼片溶进卷曲的面条中时，她大声笑了起来。最后，她吃得一口不剩。
RAW, No. 301 Le Qun Third Road; 886-2-8501-5800; raw.com.tw. Lunch and dinner tasting menu, 2,680 Taiwanese dollars (about $87)	RAW 餐厅地址：乐群3路301号；电话：886-2-8501-5800；网址：raw.com.tw。午餐和晚餐品鉴菜单 2680 台币（约合 600 元人民币）一位，

per person, plus 10 percent service charge.	外加 10%服务费。
Tairroir	态芮餐厅
Tairroir, which opened last May on the sixth floor of a building next to RAW, is, in appearance at least, its polar opposite: intimate (just eight tables) and elegant (white-on-white dining room, sleek copper bar). The French training of Kai Ho, the Taiwanese chef, is reflected in both his restaurant's name (a mix of Taiwan and terroir) and in refined plating, with color and texture highlighted in smears, dabs, dots and drizzles.	去年 5 月开业的态芮(Tairroir)就在挨着 RAW 餐厅的那栋楼的六楼。它至少看上去和 RAW 餐厅截然相反：宁静怡人（只有八张餐桌）、优雅精致（在白底上装饰白色花样的就餐大厅，雅致的铜制吧台）。台湾主厨何顺凯(Kai Ho)接受的法式训练既反映在了餐厅的名字（Taiwan[台湾]和 terroir[水土]两个词的结合）上，也体现在了精致的摆盘上。态芮的摆盘强调通过小细节突出食物的色泽和质感。
But Ho is quick to add: "I'm not French. I'm Taiwanese. And I do my own thing." The result is a set menu (six or eight courses) that crosses Taiwanese ingredients with French technique.	但何顺凯很快补充说：“我不是法国人。我是台湾人。我做的是自己的东西。”成果便是一份让台湾食材和法国技巧相结合的套餐菜单（六或八道菜）。
During my lunch only one dish, warm pumpkin purée accompanied by buttery mushroom brioche, bowed toward the west; others were unequivocally Taiwanese in spirit if not form. In Ho's hands taro cake, a Chinese New Year favorite, became a spoonable mash to be stirred together with a sous-vide egg, the combination's richness cut by dried sakura shrimp and crispy shallots.	在我的午餐里，只有温润南瓜泥配黄油蘑菇甜面包这道菜是西式的，其他菜即便在形式上不是，也明显具有台湾菜的内在。在何顺凯手中，人们最喜欢的春节美食芋头糕成了糊状，需用勺子和一个用真空低温的方式制作的鸡蛋一起拌着吃。干樱花虾和鲜脆的青葱则让这道把芋头和鸡蛋合二为一的美食口感更加丰富。
A magnificent dessert combined moist purple cakes tasting of concentrated blueberries with a powerfully lemony mousseline, bracingly tart yogurt "snow" and honeycombed pong tang, a traditional Taiwanese hard candy.	蓝莓味道醇厚的紫色松软蛋糕与有着强烈柠檬味道的慕斯、令人心旷神怡的用酸奶做的“雪”和呈蜂巢状的碰糖融相结合，成就了一道华丽的甜品。碰糖是台湾的一种传统硬糖。
When it comes to sourcing ingredients, Ho said he's "not as hard-core as some chefs. I'm not at the farm every day." But he estimates that about 90 percent of what he uses in the kitchen is local; on the day we	说到食材的采购，何顺凯自称“不像一些厨师那么固执。我不是每天都在农场”。但他估计，他在厨房里使用的食材大约 90%产自当地。我们见面那一天，他正在兴奋地计划去邻近的宜兰县拜访一个养鱼人，为的是调查一个有

met he was excitedly planning a visit to a fish farmer in nearby Yilan county to investigate a tip about local caviar.	关当地的鱼子酱的消息。
Tairroir, 6F, No. 299 Le Qun Third Road; 886-2-8501-5500; tairroir.com. Tasting menu (lunch) 1,650 or 2,350 Taiwanese dollars and (dinner) 3,200 or 5,000 dollars per person, plus 10 percent service charge.	态芮餐厅地址：乐群3路299号6楼；电话：886-2-8501-5500；网址：tairroir.com。品鉴菜单午餐1650或2350台币一位，晚餐3200台币或5000台币一位，外加10%服务费。
MUME	MUME
MUME, which opened around the same time as RAW and shares its capital-letters-only naming approach (mume is the botanical name for the plum blossom, Taiwan's national flower), channels a Nordic sensibility, with a cozy dining room gently lit by the glow of a marble bar and Scandinavian-style bentwood chairs flanking tables lit by low-hanging pendant lights. "Modern European casual fine dining," in the words of Richie Lin, an owner and one of three chefs, captures the spirit of the place — elegant and suitable for a special night out, welcoming and wallet-friendly enough to be your neighborhood hangout.	MUME 和 RAW 餐厅大致同时开业，起名方式也一样，字母全部大写（mume 是代表台湾的梅花的植物学名）。MUME 带来了一种斯堪的纳维亚风情。就餐大厅环境舒适，大理石吧台发出柔和的光芒，斯堪的纳维亚风格的曲木椅子摆放在餐桌两侧，头顶是低悬的吊灯。用餐厅老板兼主厨林泉(Richie Lin)的话来说，这个地方体现的正是“现代的欧洲轻松高级餐厅”的精神：环境典雅，适合有特殊意义的晚餐，同时足够热情和经济实惠，适合你走出家门常去光顾。
After Mr. Lin experienced some frustration with the scarcity of local ingredients in Hong Kong, where he was born and had worked (he grew up in Canada), Taiwan appealed as fertile ground on which to pursue his goal of cooking with the seasons, alongside two other expat chefs: Kai Ward (Australian) and Long Xiong (American). MUME is "a chance to discover what is unique and special about Taiwan," he said, "and to showcase it to the world."	林泉在香港出生，并曾在那里工作过一段时间（他在加拿大长大）。在他因香港当地食材短缺而感到失望后，台湾这片沃土吸引了他。在这里，他同另外两名外籍主厨凯·沃德（Kai Ward，澳大利亚籍）和熊龙（Long Xiong，美籍）追求着用时令食材烹制美食的目标。MUME 是“一个发现台湾独一无二的特别之处，”他说，“并展示给世人的机会。”
Nordic influence is on the menu, too, in a starter of warm country sourdough with beer butter and smoked beef fat butter, modeled after	斯堪的纳维亚地区的影响也体现在了菜单上的第一道菜上。它是一份热腾腾的乡村酵母面包，搭配啤酒黄油和熏牛油黄油，效仿的是 Noma 餐厅一款

a popular bread course at Noma. After that, the menu divides into Snack, Smaller, Bigger, Sweeter. I would return in a heartbeat for baby potatoes, which are thickly dusted with dried shiitake crumbles. The mushroom crumbs bear a whiff of the forest floor and notes of coffee and bitter chocolate that deepen when mixed with the accompanying cultured butter.	备受欢迎的面包。在这道菜之后，菜单分成了点心、小菜、大菜和甜品几部分。我可能会兴奋地再来这里吃撒了厚厚一层干蘑菇碎的小土豆。蘑菇碎带着一股森林里的泥土气息，还有一种咖啡和纯苦巧克力的感觉。和搭配的精品黄油一同入口时，这种感觉会有所加深。
The Taiwan salad is a stunner: 30 ingredients that change by the day (I identified nasturtium leaves, flower petals, tiny broccoli florets, pickled cherry tomatoes and roasted carrots), dressed not with vinegar or citrus but umami, in the form of salted black beans. There's plenty of showmanship in crisp-tender blush prawns bathed in coral sauce made with prawn head fat and layered with jicama batons and wisps of fresh dill; frozen ricotta is dusted over the bowl, releasing a dry ice cloud. Each mouthful is a shock of brine and milk and grassiness, amplified by crunch and cold.	台湾沙拉格外令人震撼：它包含 30 种原料，每天都会有所变化（我尝出了旱金莲叶、花瓣，西兰花，腌制的樱桃番茄和烤胡萝卜），它不是醋或柑橘的味道，而是盐渍黑豆所带来的鲜味。脆嫩的红虾浸泡在虾头脂肪制成的珊瑚色虾酱里，显得分外华丽，豆薯条和缕缕新鲜苜蓿令口味更具层次感；冷冻乳清干酪末撒在碗里，散发出云雾般的白色冷气。每一口都是卤水、牛奶与清新味道的冲击，爽脆冰冷的口感更添刺激。
MUME, No. 28 Siwei Road; 886-2-2700-0901. Average dinner for two is 2,900 dollars, plus 10 percent service charge.	MUME 地址：四维路 28 号；电话：886-2-2700-0901。两人晚餐平均价格为 2900 台币加 10% 服务费。
YEN	紫艳中餐厅
Before arriving at YEN (yet another all-caps venture), the Hong Kong-born Hoi Ming Wo cooked in Thailand, Singapore and Malaysia. In Osaka, he led the Xiang Tao restaurant to its first Michelin star. But he had never been to Taiwan, so before starting as executive chef he traveled the island to eat, and inspiration struck: "I realized that, hey, there are a lot of really great local ingredients," he said, "and I knew that was where I wanted to focus at YEN."	来紫艳中餐厅（YEN，又是一家字母全部大写的餐厅）之前，出生在香港的邬海明(Hoi Ming Wo)在泰国、新加坡和马来西亚当过厨师。在大阪，他带领香桃(Xiang Tao)获评米其林一星餐厅。但他一直没来过台湾，因此，在开始担任紫艳中餐厅的行政总厨之前，他在岛上四处游历，品尝美食。那时，他有了一个灵感：“我意识到，嘿，这里有很多真的很棒的本地食材，”他说，“我知道这正是我希望紫艳中餐厅注重的方面。”

Atop the W Hotel, YEN is as stylish as one would expect: bold colors (deep violet and pink), inventive artwork (wall sculptures incorporating kitchen tools), a wall of windows overlooking Taipei's urban sprawl. Much of the long menu is composed of dishes one might find in a restaurant of similar caliber in Hong Kong: succulent roast meats and fowl, steamed fish priced by the pound, double-boiled soups. But you'll also unearth gems, examples of what Wo describes as Taiwanese-Cantonese fusion.	位于 W 饭店顶层的紫艳中餐厅时尚至极：颜色大胆（深紫罗兰色和粉色）、艺术品极富创意（墙上以餐具为主题的雕塑）、多扇窗户可以俯瞰台北。长长的菜单上，很多都是人们也许会在水平类似的香港餐厅看到的菜肴：多汁烤肉和家禽、按磅计价的蒸鱼，以及老汤。但你会发现珍宝，它们就是邬海明所说的台湾菜和粤菜相结合的范例。
Delicate cones filled with crispy green apple sticks and pan-fried slices of mullet roe are all crunch and tartness with a bracing hit of piscine saltiness. Mi tai mu, an iconic street dish of stubby rice flour noodles made like spaetzle and usually eaten in soup, are here served in a Cantonese-style lobster broth whose sumptuousness is bolstered by rafts of sweet loofah gourd.	精致的蛋筒中放入鲜脆的绿苹果条和用平底锅煎的乌鱼子薄片，咬上去嘎吱作响，酸味中带有一丝鱼的咸香，令人神清气爽。米苔目是台湾标志性的街头小吃，里面的米粉又短又粗，像德国的 spaetzle。米苔目通常是带汤的，而在紫艳中餐厅，米苔目用的是一种粤式龙虾汤，大量甜丝瓜让其更显丰盛。
For a main dish Wo steams chunks of lobster from Penghu (islands in the Taiwan Strait) — very tender, unlike Boston lobster, he said — and sets them in a shallow bowl in the center of a creamy "ocean" of egg white; a tangle of bird's nest adds crunch. There's nothing Taiwanese about YEN's custard buns, but order them anyway: Served warm, dusted with semi-bitter cacao and shaped like mushrooms, they ooze golden egg custard.	为了一道主菜，邬海明会蒸几块来自澎湖（位于台湾海峡的多座岛屿）的龙虾——他说这种龙虾肉质非常嫩，不像波士顿龙虾——并把它们放在一个浅碗里，为一片奶白色的蛋清“海洋”所包围，燕窝则增加了这道佳肴的脆爽口感。紫艳中餐厅的奶黄包毫无台湾特色可言，但还是点一份吧：热乎乎的包子端上桌，形状像蘑菇，上面撒着微苦的可可粉，金色的奶黄从里面渗了出来。
YEN, 31F, W Hotel, No. 10 Zhongxiao East Road, Section 5; 886-2-7703-8768; yentaipei.com/en. An average meal for two is 3,500 dollars.	紫艳中餐厅地址：忠孝东路5段10号W饭店31层；电话：886-2-7703-8768；网址：yentaipei.com/en。普通两人餐 3500 台币。
Mr. Meat Hot Pot and Butchery	肉大人肉铺火锅

I'd never been a fan of hot pot until several years ago, when a friend in Taipei introduced me to fermented cabbage hot pot at a restaurant called Lao Zhou. Eighteen months ago Han Chen, a native of Taichung, on the country's western coast, who managed Lau Zhou for his uncle, struck out on his own and opened Mr. Meat, where he melds a passion for fermentation and a reverence for Taiwan's "grannies" (Mr. Chen's term for small producers of traditional ingredients) with a pure love of meat.	我向来不喜欢火锅，直到几年前，台北的一个朋友给我介绍了一家叫“老舅的家乡味”的餐厅里的酸菜火锅。18个月前，替亲戚管理“老舅的家乡味”的陈冠翰自立门户，创办了肉大人。在这里，在台湾西海岸的台中出生和长大的陈冠翰把对酸菜的热爱和对台湾“阿嬷”（陈冠翰指的是小型传统食材供应商）的敬重，与对肉食的纯粹喜爱结合在了一起。
"Fermented ingredients have sourness without acidity and combine well with meat," he said. "The fat smooths the ferment while the ferment brings out the meat's sweetness." Diners choose from a selection of broths made with seasonal ferments (cabbage in fall, garlic in winter, kimchi in spring, tomato in summer). The individually sized hot pots come preassembled, ready to cook at personal burners.	“酸菜有酸味，但没有酸性，能很好地和肉结合，”他说。“脂肪会去除酵素，酵素则会让肉释放出甜味儿。”食客有一系列锅底可选，它们都是用应季的酸菜（秋天是白菜、冬天是洋葱、春天是朝鲜泡菜、夏天是西红柿）制作的。大小不同的火锅可重新组合，个人可随时在自己的炉子上开煮。
Fermented garlic soup sounds stinkier than it tastes; on a cool December day it was salve for the soul, bracing, reviving, appetizing. Packed with vegetables (taro, bamboo, radish, white cabbage), bean curd three ways (skin, frozen, preserved), meatballs, dumplings and flavorings like red dates and wolfberries, it made a fine base for a selection of thinly sliced meats.	酸洋葱锅底吃上去没有听上去那么臭。在天气转凉的12月吃，简直就是对心灵的慰藉，让人神清气爽、满血复活、食欲大开。满满当当的蔬菜（芋头、竹笋、水萝卜、包心菜）、豆腐三样（豆皮、冻豆腐、腐乳）、肉丸、饺子以及红枣、枸杞等调味品，为精心挑选的薄肉片打下了美味的基础。
Taiwan produces little beef or lamb, so Mr. Chen imports some red meats from Europe, the United States and Australia. But there's also gamy cherry duck (a Taiwanese breed), gui ding chicken (tastier than your average bird) and Taiwanese black pork. It would be unwise to pass on a side order of Granny's Braised Carrot Minced Meat, an	台湾几乎不出产牛羊肉，因此陈冠翰的部分红肉是从欧洲、美国和澳大利亚进口的。但店里也有樱桃鸭（台湾的一个品种）、桂丁鸡（比普通的鸡好吃）和台湾黑猪肉。错过须单点的配菜“家传阿嬷的红萝卜肉燥”是很不明智的。这是一道非常美味的酱猪肉，是按照陈冠翰妻子的祖母提供的食谱制作的。上桌时，肉燥会被浇在米饭上。

insanely luscious pork ragu made according to a recipe provided by Mr. Chen's grandmother-in-law, served over rice.
Before opening his restaurant Mr. Chen traveled Taiwan in search of exceptional ingredients. In Meinong, a center of Hakka culture, he found a husband and wife making tofu skin with soy milk heated over a wood fire; in Tainan, a woman making fine fish dumplings filled with pork. Some are named on the menu, like Master Wu of Tainan, a classical painter-turned-fermentation specialist.	开餐厅之前，陈冠翰在台湾四处游历，寻找与众不同的食材。在客家文化的中心美浓，他看到一对夫妇用经过柴火加热的豆浆制作豆皮。在台南，一名女子在鱼饺中加入猪肉后，味道棒极了。其中一些人的名字出现在了肉大人的菜单上，比如台南的“酸菜老爷”。此人是一名传统的酸菜专家，转行前是一名画家。
"I see the restaurant as a platform. I love the ingredients and I want you to know who made them," Mr. Chen said. "Make the grannies happy, make the grannies proud."	"我把餐厅当成一个平台。我喜欢这些食材，我想让你们知道它们是谁做的，"陈冠翰说。"让阿嬷高兴，让阿嬷自豪。"
Mr. Meat Hot Pot and Butchery, rear entrance No. 85 Lane 31, Dunhua South Road Section 2; 886-2-2703-5522; www.mrmeat.co. Average meal for two is 1,800 dollars.	肉大人肉铺火锅地址：敦化南路2段81巷35号后门；电话：886-2-2703-5522；网址：www.mrmeat.co。两人餐平均价格为1800台币。
/style/20170224/taipei-taiwan-restaurants-local	/style/20170224/taipei-taiwan-restaurants-local
In Armenia, 'What Do You Want to Be?' Is Asked in Infancy	亚美尼亚人也“抓周”，半岁开始“职业规划”
Children in Armenia start thinking about their careers at a very young age — around six months or so.	亚美尼亚的孩子在很小的时候——大约六个月大时——就开始考虑自己的职业。
When an infant's first tooth arrives, typically in four to seven months, a celebration takes place known variously as the "agra hadig" or "atam hatik."	当婴儿长出第一颗牙时——往往是在四个月到七个月大期间——会举行一场庆祝活动。人们对这个活动的叫法不一，有人叫它 agra hadig，也有人叫它 atam hatik。
As part of the ritual, objects symbolizing different professions are arrayed in front of a child: a microphone for an entertainer, a stethoscope for a doctor, scissors for a tailor or money for a banker. Whichever object the baby chooses first is thought to be a sign of	作为庆祝仪式的一部分，象征不同职业的物品会被摆在孩子面前：象征艺人的麦克风、象征医生的听诊器、象征裁缝的剪刀或象征银行业从业人员的现金。无论孩子选择哪一样，都会被认为象征着孩子的职业倾向。 where the child's professional aptitude lies.

With the appearance of teeth, a child can begin to eat solid food, and the acquisition of this skill is believed to be a propitious time to foretell what the future holds, said Yulia Antonyan, a professor in the department of cultural studies at Yerevan State University in Armenia's capital.	位于亚美尼亚首都的埃里温国立大学(Yerevan State University)文化研究院教授尤利娅·安东尼扬(Yulia Antonyan)说, 随着牙齿的长出, 孩子可以开始吃固体食物, 获得这种能力的时候, 被认为是预测孩子未来的最佳时机。
There are no obligatory objects, but sets available for purchase will often include traditional artisan tools and choices epitomizing a more modern lifestyle. Parents are free to add to or omit from the mix as they wish.	没有必须要出现的物品, 不过能买到的成套物品常常包括传统的匠人工具和象征更现代的生活方式的选择。父母可按自己的意愿随意增减物品。
"Parents may orchestrate the future life of their offspring by choosing only those objects that symbolize prestigious and desired professions," Professor Antonyan said. "A book for a scientist or writer; a pencil for an architect, designer or artist; a calculator for an accountant."	"家长也许会通过只选那些象征有声望的理想职业的物品来安排子女未来的生活," 安东尼扬说。"一本象征科学家或作家的书, 一支象征建筑师、设计师或艺术家的铅笔, 或是一个象征会计师的计算器。"
Parents can also game the selection by positioning objects nearer to or farther from their infant's reach. At one recent ceremony, "the father of the baby asked to place a ladle a bit far from his daughter to save her from a destiny of a housewife," Professor Antonyan said.	家长也可以通过把物品放在离孩子更近或更远的地方, 来左右孩子的选择。在最近的一场仪式上, "孩子的父亲要求把一个长柄勺放在离他女儿稍微远一点的地方, 以防她落入家庭主妇的命运," 安东尼扬说。
At the foundation of the ritual, and reflected in its names, is a magical association between teeth (agra or atam) and grain (hadig or hatik), according to Professor Antonyan.	据安东尼扬介绍, 作为该仪式的基础, 是牙齿(agra 或 atam)和谷物(hadig 或 hatik)之间的奇妙联系, 这在它的名字中也有反映。
The ceremony begins by pouring various cereal grains over and around the child. Typically but not always, the baby's head is protected by a piece of fabric, a pair of hands or sometimes even an umbrella.	仪式开始时, 人们会朝孩子身上和周围撒各种谷物颗粒。孩子的头部往往会用一块布料、一双手有时候甚至是一把雨伞保护起来, 但也不总是这样。
The ritual sprinkling is thought to ensure that the child will have	仪式上抛撒谷物这个环节被认为是确保孩子将拥有一口健康、整齐的牙齿。

healthy, even teeth. It could also have fertility associations, akin to throwing rice at a wedding, according to Levon Abrahamian, a cultural anthropologist in Yerevan.	据埃里温的文化人类学者列翁·阿布拉哈米安(Levon Abrahamian)称，这么做还和子孙兴旺的寓意有关，类似于在婚礼上撒大米。
Today, teeth-shaped cakes, toys, candy and balloons are popular party favors at these celebrations, which are widely practiced in Armenia and across the Armenian diaspora.	如今，做成牙齿形状的蛋糕、玩具、糖果和气球都是这些庆祝活动上的热门物品。在亚美尼亚国内和身居国外的亚美尼亚人群体中，这种仪式广泛存在。
In the earliest written references to the ritual, from the 19th century, just two objects were put before the teething child. The prediction then was not about an adult profession but the sex of the next sibling: Grasping a knife meant a brother was on the way, a comb (or mirror) a sister.	提到该仪式的最早文献出现在 19 世纪。据记载，当时摆在正在长牙的孩子面前的只有两样东西，预测的也不是孩子成年后的职业，而是下一个孩子的性别：拿起小刀意味着会迎来一个弟弟，拿起梳子（或镜子）则意味着接下来会是个妹妹。
"The divination for the future profession was developed much later in the urbanized and modernized environment of Soviet Armenia and the diaspora," Professor Antonyan said, "when the future career would determine the baby's life."	"预测未来的职业是很久后在苏联时代的亚美尼亚城市化、现代化环境下以及国外侨民中发展出来的，"安东尼扬说。"当时，未来的职业会决定孩子的生活。"
/style/20170314/armenia-atam-hatik-agra-hadig	/style/20170314/armenia-atam-hatik-agra-hadig
Burrowing Under Luminous Ice to Retrieve Mussels	舌尖上的魁北克：晶莹剔透的冰下贻贝正肥
KANGIQSUJUAQ, Quebec — For eight months a year, the flat bay around the village of Kangiqsujuaq in far northern Quebec freezes beneath a white expanse of ice and snow, leaving ravens and foxes as rare signs of life, along with Inuit and their dogs. Throughout the winter the Inuit hunt seal and caribou, and they fish through the ice for arctic char.	魁北克坎吉苏加克——一年当中八个月的时间里，魁北克最北的村庄坎吉苏加克村附近萧瑟的海湾都沉睡在大片冰雪之下，难得一见的生命迹象包括乌鸦和狐狸，还有因纽特人和他们养的狗。整个冬季，因纽特人都会狩猎海豹和驯鹿，还会凿开冰面捕捞红点鲑鱼。
But in the coldest months, when the ice is thickest, some venture beneath the ice to gather mussels. Every two weeks the pull of the	但在冰层最厚的最冷月份里，为了采集贻贝，一些人会到冰下探险。每隔两个星期，在月亮的引力和这一地区的地理条件共同作用下，都会出现异常大

moon combines with the geography of this region to create unusually large tides. The water falls as much as 55 feet in some places, emptying the bay under the ice along the shore for an hour or more. That's when some Inuit climb aboard their snowmobiles and head out onto the bay.	的潮汐。某些地方的水位会下降 55 英尺之多，让岸边冰层下的海湾在一个小时乃至更长时间内处于空心状态。这时候，一些因纽特人就会骑着雪地摩托车向海湾进发。
Watch a 360 video of the mussel collecting mission.	观看采集贻贝之旅的全景视频。
One recent day I joined two of them, Tiisi Qisiiq, 51, and Adami Alaku, 61, who identified a void and chopped a hole into the ice.	不久前的一天，我和两名因纽特人——51 岁的蒂西·吉西克(Tiisi Qisiiq)和 61 岁的阿达米·阿拉库(Adami Alaku)结伴而行，他们探明了一个空心之处，在冰面上凿开了一个洞。
Underneath is a beautiful, eerie world of bending ice, glowing blue from the sunlight outside. The sound of trickling water fills the humid, salt-laced air. On my recent trip it was 20 degrees below zero (minus 29 degrees Celsius) but a balmy 32 degrees Fahrenheit (0 degrees Celsius) beneath the ice.	下方是一个由弯曲冰块构建的世界，美丽而又怪异，从外面透进来的阳光让它呈现出一片幽蓝。耳中能听到滴水声，口鼻中涌入带着一丝咸味的潮湿空气。那天的气温是零下 20 华氏度（零下 29 摄氏度），但冰下却是宜人的 32 华氏度（零摄氏度）。
The men lowered themselves through the hole to the bay floor. The ground was covered with kelp, the occasional crab and edible clumps of roe from the fourhorn sculpin, which the Inuit call the ugly fish. But Mr. Qisiiq and Mr. Alaku came for fat blue mussels that cling to the rocks. Using lamps to light the way, they pulled the frigid mussels free with their hands.	吉西克和阿拉库从凿开的洞口处下到海湾底部。地上布满巨藻，偶尔还能看到螃蟹，以及一团团鱼籽——它们是可以食用的，来自被因纽特人称为“丑鱼”的四角床杜父鱼。但两人的目标是附着在岩石上的肥美的紫贻贝。他们一边用灯照路，一边徒手把冰凉的贻贝毫不费力地拽下来。
Before long, the sound of ticks and pops signaled the returning tide as it lifted the ice on the bay. Soon, the water would fill the caverns. The flood tide is deceiving, starting slowly until it rises more than a foot (30 centimeters) a minute. The men headed for the hole and climbed out into the clear, cold air.	很快，耳边传来咔哒声和砰啪声，意味着潮水正在返回，把海湾的冰层向上顶起。涨潮的过程颇具欺骗性，水位起初上升得很慢，直至达到每分钟一英尺（30 厘米）。两人赶往洞口处，从那儿爬了出来，进入清透的冷空气中。
I first heard of mussel gathering under the ice when I lived in Shanghai	我第一次听说采集贻贝的事情是在上海居住期间。当时，我儿子得到了一本

and my son was given a children's book called "Very Last First Time," by the Canadian author Jan Andrews. It tells the enchanting tale of an Inuit girl's first time under the ice alone. Ever since, I've wanted to go under the ice myself. Now I have, and I saw the bay floor's bounty brought to the surface.	加拿大作家简·安德鲁斯(Jan Andrews)写的童书,名叫《最后的第一次》(Very Last First Time)。它讲了一个因纽特女孩初次独自探访冰下世界的迷人故事。从那时起,我一直渴望亲自到冰下看看。现在我得偿夙愿,还目睹了这些来自海湾底部的慷慨赠与是如何被带到冰面上的。
The book's drawings depict a colorful, cavernous space beneath the ice, far different from the cramped and narrow confines that I discovered. The colder the winter, the thicker and more stable the ice and the larger the spaces left by the ebbing tide.	那本书里的图画描绘了一个多姿多彩的洞穴状冰下空间,和我探访的这个狭窄空间天差地别。冬天的气温越低,冰层就越厚越结实,退潮所制造出的空间就越大。
Mr. Qisiiq's mentor, Lukasi Nappaaluk, remembers gathering mussels as a child in caverns of ice with ceilings 20 feet high. But global warming is making the ice less predictable and more prone to buckling. Warm water currents thin the ice from below, making the snowmobile crossings increasingly dangerous.	吉西克的师傅吕卡西·纳帕卢克(Lukasi Nappaaluk),还记得自己小时候在底部距离上方冰层足有20英尺的冰穴里捡贻贝的情形。但全球变暖正让冰面变得更不可预测,更容易坍塌。温暖的水流从下方把冰层变薄,在冰上骑摩托车穿行越来越危险。
The mussels are a welcome winter treat these days, but at one time they were a lifesaving source of food during the lean frozen months. Raw meat, with its abundance of vitamins, has allowed the Inuit to live for centuries on a diet almost devoid of fruits and vegetables. The only preparation for the mussels is pulling off their beards, the strings of protein that mussels make to cling to rocks, and then rinsing them.	近来,贻贝成了一道颇受欢迎的冬日佳肴,但是曾几何时,在天寒地冻、物资匮乏的月份里,它们是具有救命功能的食物来源。生贻贝肉富含维生素,让因纽特人得以在几乎吃不到水果和蔬菜的情况下存续了千百年。食用前只需除去贻贝的“胡须”,也就是它们用以附着在岩石上的蛋白质须状物,再用水冲洗一番。
The Inuit still eat a lot of "country food," caribou and seal and whale and fish that they prefer to eat raw while sitting on the floor.	因纽特人依然大量食用当地“土产”,譬如驯鹿、海豹、鲸鱼和鱼,并且喜欢坐在地上生吃。
Mussels are no exception. Mr. Qisiiq and his wife, Siasi Qisiiq, shucked the bivalves using the edge of a shell. They scraped out the meat and squeezed it in their fist, wringing out the salty seawater, before eating	其中当然也包括贻贝。吉西克和妻子夏西·吉西克(Siasi Qisiiq)用一个贝壳的边缘给这种双壳类动物去了壳。他们把肉弄出来以后,用手攥了一攥,挤出咸咸的海水,然后直接吃掉。

them as is.
Ms. Qisiq boiled some of the mussels for me. They were rich and meaty, salty with no seasoning, and steaming — welcome warmth after hours outside. I had some of the raw mussels, too, still chilled from the bay. They tasted a lot like raw oysters, but with a bitter finish. I would prefer them marinara style.	夏西·吉西克为我煮了一些贻贝。它们肥美多肉，没加任何调味料但自带咸味，冒着腾腾热气——给在室外呆了几个小时的人奉上久违的温暖。我也生吃了一些贻贝，入口时还带着来自海湾的凉气。它们尝起来和生牡蛎非常接近，但余味较苦。我还是更喜欢用意大利番茄酱调味的那种。
/style/20170320/mussels-under-ice-canada	/style/20170320/mussels-under-ice-canada
Simple Taiwanese Food, Full of Secrets, at Mama Lee in Queens	在纽约小店品尝最简单的台湾家常菜
I did not expect sorcery from a preserved turnip.	我没有料到经过腌制的大头菜会有魔力。
It was the only ingredient in the omelet on my plate at Mama Lee, a small, plain-spoken Taiwanese restaurant in Bayside, Queens. The eggs had been beaten loosely, so flecks of white still showed, and hustled from the pan when patchy bronze. Inside, they were studded with tender nubs of turnip, yielding with a quiet crunch.	在皇后区贝赛德面积不大、布置简单的台湾餐厅一品香(Mama Lee)里，腌大头菜，只是那盘名叫菜脯蛋的菜品的食材之一。鸡蛋并没有充分打散，还能看到一块块的蛋白，煎到不均匀的赤褐色后迅速出锅。蛋饼里面裹着脆嫩的大头菜，吃上去会发出轻轻的嘎吱声。
Nothing else had been added, not even salt. “Everything is in the turnip,” said Mei Lee, the restaurant’s eponymous owner. The root’s briny flavor was diffuse, like a tint of rose in sunglasses. It made me think of surfacing after a plunge in the sea, that half-taste, half-scent of salt.	其他什么都没加，盐都没有。“味道都在大头菜里，”与餐厅英文名同姓的老板李梅（音）说。大头菜的咸味会散开，就像透过墨镜看玫瑰的颜色一样。它让我想起了跳进海里后钻出水面时的情形，那种一半来自嗅觉一半来自味觉的咸味。
In Taiwan, you would categorize this dish as xiao chi: small eats. It’s not fancy and not meant to be. And still I wanted to write ode upon ode to it.	在台湾，你可能会把这道菜归为小吃。它不精美，原本也没人打算把它做得精美。但我还是想为它写一首又一首颂歌。
“This is simple, home-style food,” Ms. Lee insisted. She is a no-nonsense figure in apron and bandanna, comfortably bossy. Twice, she scolded me gently for ordering too much, concerned for my health.	“就是简单的家常菜，”李梅坚持说。系着围裙、裹着头巾的她说话直截了当，有种自在的霸气。她两次婉转地指责我点的东西太多了，担心我的健康。
Every meal begins with a generous, free bowl of soup, which, on my	客人开始吃饭时，会先喝一大碗免费的汤。我几次去喝到的都是用猪骨熬制

visits, was a clear broth made from pork bones that at first tasted of hardly anything and grew deeper with each spoonful.	的清汤，一开始喝几乎什么味道都没有，每喝一勺，汤的味道都会越浓郁。
Eventually nearly every table holds a plate of the enormous meatballs known as lion's heads, rough spheres of ground pork bound by egg and mottled with ginger and garlic. They are seared briefly, then braised for two hours until they emerge as soft as physically possible without falling apart. At the touch of chopsticks, they calve like glaciers.	最后，几乎每张桌子上都会摆一盘叫狮子头的大肉丸。这道菜是用鸡蛋将拌有姜和大蒜的猪肉糜粘合在一起，大致做成球状。先将这些大肉丸煎一小会儿，然后再炖两个小时，直到它们变得非常软，同时又不会散开。在筷子的触碰下，它们像冰川一样崩解。
According to legend, three-cup chicken earned its name from a 13th-century recipe improvised for a hero's last meal, with one cup each of sesame oil, soy sauce and Shaoxing wine. Here, a more complex calibration anoints boneless hunks of dark thigh meat, which acquire a seal the color of caramel in the wok and arrive shining, adorned with garlic and swooning leaves of Thai basil.	三杯鸡据传得名于13世纪时为一个英雄的最后一餐临时想出的做法：一杯芝麻油、一杯酱油和一杯绍兴黄酒。在这里，标准更复杂一些，是表面油光闪闪的去骨深色鸡腿肉，这要求在制作过程中保证那种焦糖色。上桌时，菜品闪闪发光，还有大蒜和泰国罗勒叶作装饰。
Salt-and-pepper chicken is sweeter, the skin more fluffy than crackly. As for the chicken roll, listed under Special Dishes, it has no chicken: The filling is fish paste, ground pork and carrots, infiltrated by five-spice, folded inside bean-curd skin, and fried. This also skews sweet, and comes with ketchup. Its appeal remains a mystery to me, but people at other tables seemed to like it just fine.	盐酥鸡更甜，鸡皮松软多过酥脆。至于列在“特色”一栏下面的鸡肉卷，里面根本没有鸡肉：馅料是鱼肉泥、猪肉糜和胡萝卜，撒入五香粉拌匀，然后用豆皮包起来，再下锅煎。这道菜也偏甜，且要搭配番茄酱。它受欢迎这件事对我来说依然是个谜，但其他桌的客人似乎觉得它还好。
Children bow heads over bowls of lu rou fan: ground pork, tofu and a hard-boiled egg inky from a long braise in soy and Shaoxing wine. Grown-ups want it, too, alongside hotter dishes like strips of flank steak in a swarm of longhorn green peppers, some innocent and bright, others hellbent.	孩子们只顾埋头吃卤肉饭：猪肉糜、豆腐和用酱油、黄酒长时间焖煮的卤蛋。大人也会喜欢，此外还有一些比较辣的菜，比如切条的侧腹牛排搭配一大团尖椒丝，其中有些纯良无害，有些则要将你置于死地。
Ms. Lee, whose family has roots in northern China, grew up in South	李梅的家人祖籍中国北方，她在韩国长大，丈夫是台湾人。她在台湾上的大

Korea; her husband is a native of Taiwan, where she went to college. For years, she said, "I was a housewife." Then, in 2013, with her son halfway through high school, she spotted this tiny storefront next to a Taiwanese-American church.	学。她说，在很多年里，“我只是个家庭主妇。”然后到 2013 年她儿子高中读到一半时，她发现了这个紧挨着一座台裔美国人教堂的小店面。
She runs the kitchen with her uncle Jin Tsai Liu, who was a chef at a Shanghainese restaurant in Rego Park. And every night, her husband, who works for a Chinese-language newspaper, stops by to help her clean up. "We close the door and walk home together," she said.	她和曾在雷戈公园的一家上海餐厅当厨师的叔父刘锦齐（音）一起经营这家餐厅。每天晚上，供职于一家中文报纸的丈夫会顺便过来帮她打扫卫生。“我们一起关门，然后走路回家，”她说。
The dining room is spare but cheerful, with an orange back wall, taped-up Christmas cards and children's drawings, and photographs of the Alpine village in Austria where the Lees stayed on a farm and milked cows last summer. "We enjoy natural things, not big buildings," she said.	就餐区布置得很简单，但色彩明亮。后墙是橙色的，上面贴着圣诞贺卡和孩子们画的画，以及去年夏天在奥地利阿尔比斯山区的一个村子里拍的照片。当时，李梅一家住在一个农场里，给奶牛挤奶。“我们喜欢自然的东西，而不是巨大的建筑，”她说。
Restaurant hours are erratic, so call ahead. The staff members take a "rest," as the sign in the window puts it, from 4 to 5 p.m. On weekends, the food often sells out by 7:30 p.m. If Ms. Lee is not feeling well — "I used to have good health, but this restaurant gives me lots of pressure" — she will take the day off. Last year, she closed the restaurant for four months so she could spend time with her parents in South Korea.	餐厅营业时间不定，因此需提前致电。就像窗户上的标识牌写的那样，下午 4 点到 5 点工作人员“休息”。周末时，菜品往往在晚上 7 点 30 分之前就卖完了。如果感到身体不适——“我过去身体很好，但这间餐厅让我压力很大”——李梅就会关门。去年，餐厅歇业四个月，这样她才有时间在韩国陪父母。
Ms. Lee is not sure if she wants more people to know that her restaurant exists. "I always tell my customers, 'Eat for yourself,'" she said. "Don't tell anyone."	李梅不确定自己想不想让更多人知道存在这样一家餐厅。“我总是对顾客说，‘你们自己吃就好了，’”她说。“不要告诉任何人。”
/style/20170407/mama-lee-review-taiwanese-food-queens	/style/20170407/mama-lee-review-taiwanese-food-queens
China's Stone Age Skiers and History's Harsh Lessons	石器时代的滑雪传统如何在新疆延续
Tucked beneath a shallow outcropping in the rolling lowlands of the Altai Mountains, four men glide along the shadow-pocked rock face,	在阿尔泰山脉起伏的低地的一个浅露头下，四个男人沿着光影斑驳的岩石表面滑行，他们隐约的身影在悄悄跟踪一群毫无戒备的野山羊。在他们左侧，

their faint silhouettes stalking a herd of unsuspecting ibex. To their left, a fifth swoops downhill, corralling the beasts with a spear in his hand.	第五个男人向山下猛冲，用手里的长矛围捕猎物。
His pigmented frame arcs from left, to right, and back again — a ski turn that may be the oldest ever recorded.	他那用颜料涂染的身形向左弯，向右弯，再返回来——这可能是有记载以来最古老的滑雪转身。
The hunters are part of a cave painting in the northern tip of China's Xinjiang Province, a wedge of territory that pokes up between Mongolia to the east and Kazakhstan to the west. According to Chinese archaeologists, the painting dates back more than 10,000 years — 2,000 more than the next earliest ski artifact on record.	这些狩猎者出现在中国新疆北端的一幅岩画上，那是向北延伸的一块楔形区域，东邻蒙古，西邻哈萨克斯坦。据中国考古学家称，这幅画可以追溯到一万多年前，比有记载的第二早的滑雪文物要早 2000 年。
Now, as the popularity of winter sports explodes in China, driven by President Xi Jinping's decree that his country would have 300 million winter sports enthusiasts by the time it hosts the 2022 Winter Olympics, ski tour companies have begun opening their doors in this remote region. The first heli-skiing and snowmobile-access tours started operating this winter in the nearby village of Khom, offering trips deep into the heart of the Altai.	现在，在习近平主席的号令下——到 2022 年举办冬季奥运会时，全国将有三亿冬季运动爱好者——冬季运动在中国兴盛起来，滑雪旅游公司开始在这个偏远的地区开设业务。今年冬季，首个直升机滑雪和雪地摩托游览项目开始在附近的禾木村启动，提供深入阿尔泰山腹地的旅行。
And while international scholars and historians are slowly coming around to the idea that sliding on snow may have indeed originated here instead of the Scandinavian mountains that were long considered its cradle, a deeper battle over skiing's origins is already being waged within China's own borders. It is a struggle marked by fears that ethnic minorities like the Mongols and Kazakhs who have long lived in the these mountains will have their way of life choked off by encroaching modernity — and the country's ethnic Han Chinese majority, which dominates a government that has had no qualms shaping Chinese	虽然国际学者和史学家正慢慢转变观念，认为滑雪可能的确起源于这里，而不是长期以来被视为滑雪摇篮的斯堪的纳维亚山脉，但在中国内部，关于滑雪起源的更深刻的斗争已经展开。在这场斗争中，人们担心，长期生活在这些山脉中的蒙古族和哈萨克族等少数民族的生活方式，将被慢慢渗入的现代生活以及该国的主要民族汉族所扼杀。由汉族主导的政府，会毫不犹豫地以自身的形象来塑造中国文化。

culture in its own image.
The ethnic Han “never used these boards, yet they are claiming an attachment to it,” said a traditional skier who flies the flag of Kazakhstan over his family’s log home in Khom, the village that shares its name with the river that runs through this valley. “Maybe it’s a national pride thing, but in reality it’s our ancestors that were doing it.”	一名传统滑雪者表示，汉族人“从没用过这些滑雪板，却声称很迷它们”。他在禾木村的自家木屋上插着哈萨克族旗帜。这个村庄是以流经这个山谷的河流的名字命名的。他说：“也许是出于民族自豪感吧，但现实是，在滑雪的是我们的祖先。”
Like many in this village in northern Xinjiang, China’s largest region of this area, the skier, 27, was hesitant to speak openly about the collision of cultures in his backyard, fearing his words could bring retribution. He grew up on skis, venturing into the mountains behind his home on tall, hand-hewn wooden planks just as his Kazakh ancestors — products of the many nomadic waves that swept Central Asia over thousands of years — did before him. His Mongolian neighbors often do the same, and a handful of Tuwas, a small mountain culture of Mongolian descent, are considered the best skiers in the valley.	和新疆——中国最大的省级行政区——北部这个村里的很多人一样，这位 27 岁的滑雪者在自己家里都不太愿意公开谈论文化冲突的问题，担心因言获罪。他在滑雪板上长大，和他的哈萨克族祖先一样，他踩着手工削制的长木板在自家后面的山里探险。那些滑雪板是数千年来席卷中亚的很多次游牧浪潮的产物。他的蒙古族邻居们经常做同样的事情，有几个图瓦人被认为是这个山谷里最棒的滑雪者——图瓦是一个有蒙古血统的山地文化。
The skier considers the Han Chinese to be foreigners who pull governmental strings thousands of miles to the east in a capital he will never visit.	在这位滑雪者看来，汉人是外人，在往东数千英里外的首都操纵政府。他永远不会去首都。
He had barely seen an ethnic Han skier when Shan Zhaojian, a Han ski historian who was led to the cave paintings by Altai herders, announced to the world at a news conference in Beijing in 2006 that China was the “original place for human skiing.”	他还表示，2006 年，当汉族滑雪史学家单兆鉴在北京的一次新闻发布会上向全世界宣布中国是“人类滑雪最早起源地”时，他几乎没见过一位汉族滑雪者。单兆鉴是在阿尔泰牧民的引导下找到那些岩画的。
Newfound History	新发现的历史
Shan, 79, had long sought the true origin story for skiing. He has dedicated more than 60 years to the sport — he won China’s first	79 岁的单兆鉴长期以来一直在追寻滑雪真正起源的故事。他致力于这项运动 60 多年——他是中国的第一位全国滑雪冠军——还曾担任 2022 年中国冬

Nordic national championship — and consulted for China’s 2022 Winter Olympic Committee. But it is his obsession with skiing’s roots that has become his life’s work.	奥会组委会的顾问。不过，对滑雪起源的痴迷成了他一生的工作。
The International Ski Federation, the sport’s major governing body, has declared a ski found in a Northern Russia bog as the oldest scientifically dated evidence of skiing in the world. And Norwegian cave paintings depicting skiers dating to 4,000 B.C. are considered by experts as evidence of an early ski culture with Scandinavian roots.	该运动的主要管理机构国际滑雪联合会(International Ski Federation)曾宣布，在俄罗斯北部一个沼泽地发现的滑雪板是可以科学追溯的最古老的滑雪证据。描绘滑雪者的挪威岩画被专家们视为斯堪的纳维亚起源的早期滑雪文化的证据，它可以追溯到公元前 4000 年前。
The cave paintings Shan came upon in 1993 are believed to be far older, although they have not been carbon-dated, leading to some skepticism among ski historians that the paintings are truly as old as the Chinese researchers say they are. Two years ago, he organized a conference of leading historians from Scandinavia, North America, and local Central Asian communities to share the histories of skiing from different parts of the world.	单兆鉴在 1993 年发现的岩画被认为要古老得多，不过没有经过碳测定，有些滑雪史学家因此怀疑这些岩画是否真像中国研究者所说的那样古老。两年前，单兆鉴组织了一次会议，与会者包括来自斯堪的纳维亚、北美和中亚本地社区的主要史学家，分享世界各地的滑雪历史。
There is no consensus that any of the ethnic groups of the Altai can stake a claim as the rightful heirs of the painted skiers — thousands of years of conquest, including when the region came under the rule of the Qing dynasty in the mid-1700s, have left such a determination all but impossible — but the locals here have bristled under the idea that skiing could be claimed as the history of the country to which they owe their citizenship rather than the ethnic bloodlines to which they owe their heritage.	关于阿尔泰的哪个民族是画中滑雪者的正宗后裔尚无共识——由于数千年的征服，这一点几乎不可能确定，包括 18 世纪中叶该地区接受清朝统治的时期——但当地人因滑雪可能被称为这个国家的历史而感到恼火，他们拥有这个国家的公民身份，而非民族血统，而他们的传统归属于后者。
“Education is the way to ease tension,” Shan said. “Ten thousand years ago was still the Stone Ages, there was no minority diversity, no	“教育是缓解紧张关系的方法，”单兆鉴说，“一万年还是石器时代，没有民族多样性，也没有国界。作为研究者，容忍不同的意见最重要。”

country borders. As a researcher, being tolerant of opinions different from one's own is the most important thing."
So far, Shan and his team of ski historians have done this work without much public fanfare. He believes recognition for Altai skiing's history will grow as the 2022 Games approach, and he hopes that will lead to funding for a ski history museum and a ski history foundation.	到目前为止，单兆鉴和他的滑雪历史学家团队在悄无声息地做这件事。他认为，随着 2022 年奥运会的临近，对于阿尔泰滑雪历史的认识也将随之增加，他希望这能为滑雪历史博物馆和滑雪历史基金会募集资金。
Those efforts, and the arrival of new businesses looking to capitalize on the region's history and bring modern skiers to the mountains of the Altai, would be an economic boon to one of the poorest sections of China. But the looming possibility of cultural appropriation has the traditional skiers nervous. In the past, such recognition has come as a double-edged sword – one that has carved up local communities trying to preserve their cultural identity.	有了这些努力，再加上刚刚来到这里的企业也希望利用该地区的历史，于是现代滑雪者开始来到阿尔泰山脉，这将为这个中国最贫穷的地区之一带来经济福利。但是传统滑雪者担心遭到文化窃用。过去，这种外界的认知已经成为一把双刃剑，切割着当地社区保护自身文化认同的努力。
Beginning in the 1950s, the Chinese government started rounding up the most talented musicians from ethnic minorities and trained them to play revised versions of their traditional music. The groups were told the exercise would make the pieces more pleasing to ethnic Han ears.	从 1950 年代开始，中国政府招募少数民族最有才华的音乐家，培训他们演奏自己的传统音乐，不过是经过修订的版本。这些团体被告知，这样的改动可以更好地迎合汉人的耳朵。
"Many members of China's minority ethnic groups perceive that their cultural heritage is not respected, and that they are treated as second-class citizens by the dominant Han Chinese," said Ben Hillman, senior lecturer of comparative politics at Australian National University who has written about ethnic tensions in Xinjiang. "This leaves some members of minority groups with a feeling of identity insecurity."	"许多中国少数民族成员认为他们的文化遗产不被尊重，他们被占支配地位的中国汉人视为二等公民，"澳大利亚国立大学比较政治学高级讲师本·希尔曼(Ben Hillman)就新疆的紧张民族局势写道。"这让少数民族的一些成员产生身份认同上的不安全感。"
Nils Larsen, an American ski historian, writer, and documentarian who has made 10 trips to Xinjiang since 2005, was more blunt.	美国滑雪历史学家、作家、纪录片拍摄者尼尔斯·拉森(Nils Larsen)自 2005 年以来已经 10 次进入新疆旅行，他的话更为直率。

"They are very worried about getting exploited," he said.	"他们非常担心被利用，"他说。
Changing Times	不断变化的时代
In recent decades, Han Chinese have flocked to Xinjiang to tap its abundant reserves of natural gas and fossil fuels (the vast region — one-sixth of China's total area — is home to a significant portion of China's coal, natural gas and oil reserves).	近几十年来，汉人涌入新疆，开采其天然气与化石燃料的丰富储备（这一广阔的地区占中国总面积的1/6，占中国煤炭、天然气、石油储量的很大一部分）。
The rapid influx of Han newcomers have caused varying levels of tension with the region's predominant ethnic groups. The worst manifestations of those ill feelings — knife assaults, suicide attacks, and car bombings — involved ethnic Uighurs to the south of the Altai Mountains, but the consequences of that violence still reverberate into its valleys.	汉族新移民的迅速涌入造成了该地区主要民族之间程度不同的紧张局势。那些恶意最严重的表现——砍刀攻击、自杀式袭击和汽车炸弹——涉及阿尔泰山脉南部的维吾尔人，但是暴力的后果同样回响在山谷里。
Along the desert highway connecting Xinjiang's capital, Urumqi, to Altai City, armed guards patrol the fences surrounding gas stations, a precaution against suicide car bombers. Law enforcement checkpoints are set up sporadically along stretches of open road.	沿着连接新疆首府乌鲁木齐到阿尔泰市的沙漠公路，武装警卫沿着加油站周围的围栏巡逻，防备自杀式汽车炸弹。沿着公路有零星的执法部门检查站。
The mountain villages have been isolated from violence, but they are not isolated from commerce.	山间的乡村与暴力隔绝，但没有逃脱商业的影响。
A road that winds its way along the steep walls of the valley links Khom with the outside world. Although its lone defense against frequent avalanches is a single bulldozer — a machine that arrived only in 2008 and must sometimes clear miles of snowy debris — the maintained road has lured away many young men from Khom and to the economic opportunity of far-off city centers.	一条道路沿着山谷的峭壁蜿蜒而上，将克尔木村(Khom)与外界联系起来。对于频繁的雪崩，路上唯一的防护措施就是一台推土机——这台机器是在2008年才到来的，有时候需要清除好几英里的积雪——但是修好的道路已经诱惑着克尔木的许多年轻人离开这里，到遥远的市中心去寻找经济机会。
That has left behind a troublesome age gap for a tradition that has long	这为长久以来代代相传的传统造成了令人烦恼的年龄断层。

been passed down from generation to generation.
Larsen called it "a narrowing circle."	拉尔森称之为“一个不断缩小的圆”。
"Less and less people are skiing, and less and less are teaching their kids to ski," he said.	“滑雪的人越来越少，教孩子滑雪的人也越来越少，”他说。
During Larsen's early excursions, the hills surrounding Khom were full of ski tracks.	在拉尔森早期考察期间，禾木村周围的山上到处都是滑雪道。
"My last trip, it was just a couple," he said. "The difference is stunning."	“最后一次去的时候，只有几条了，”他说。“这种差别令人震惊。”
Connecting With the Past	联结过去的时光
A few hours by horse from Khom's pair of provisions stores, tailor, and wood-fired sauna, Meyrbek Halaobek, another ethnic Kazakh, works diligently outside his cabin, halving a spruce log with a few mighty swings of his ax. Short, calculated cuts follow, carving from the log a pair of thick, flat boards.	骑马从禾木村的两家补给店、一家裁缝店和一个烧柴火的桑拿浴室走几个小时，便来到了另一名哈萨克斯坦族人梅尔贝克·哈劳贝克(Meyrbek Halaobek)的小木屋外面。他在木屋外辛勤劳作，用力地挥舞着斧头，几下就把一段云杉木从中劈开了。接下来是一些简单但经过深思熟虑的修饰打磨，把那段木头变成了两块厚实、平展的木板。
Halaobek knows the traditional ski-building process well, having learned it from his father, who learned it from his father before him. After buffing out the plank with a belt sander and drilling holes for the leather binding straps (two modern changes that have found favor), he pours boiling water on the tips of the planks to make them pliable. Using a string wrapped around the tip, he wedges the ski in between the rungs of what looks like a narrow wooden ladder, and pulls.	哈劳贝克非常熟悉传统的滑雪板制作方法。他是从他父亲那里学来的，而他父亲又是从他祖父那里学会的。在用带式砂磨机抛光木板，并为皮质带子钻了几个洞后（这是两个现代的变化，得到了他们的青睐），他把沸水淋向木板的一端，以便让它们变得容易弯曲。然后，他用一根绳子把那一端缠住，把滑雪板卡在一个看起来像是一架窄木梯子的东西的横档之间，并开始拉绳子。
When the wood dries in its new shape, it is strung with leather to form a foot strap, and hide from a horse's leg is cut and stretched to fit the bottom, with the grain of the coat running from tip to tail. When a skier is traveling uphill, the hair provides traction on the snow to keep him from slipping, while still permitting a free-flowing descent. The skis will	当木头晾干并呈现出新的形状后，它的上面会绑上一些皮绳，用来固定脚的位置。然后再用马腿皮进行裁剪并将其展开附着在木板的底面，让其皮毛纹路从头到尾保持一致。皮毛在上坡时会在雪面上产生附着力，防止滑雪者滑倒，同时下坡时又能让滑雪者自由行动。滑雪板还会搭配一根长长的木棍，在下坡转弯时起到方向舵的作用。

be paired with a long wooden pole that will be used as a sort of rudder for downhill turns.
Halaobek rarely builds skis anymore. The traditional skis of his ancestors were primarily hunting and trapping tools, allowing tribesmen to catch and kill prey that struggled in the deep winter snows. But hunting and trapping were outlawed by the national government in the 1990s.	哈劳贝克已经很少制作滑雪板了。他的祖先制作的传统滑雪板主要是狩猎工具，让部落成员能够捕杀在厚厚的冬季积雪中行动不便的猎物。但 90 年代，中央政府规定狩猎属于违法行为。
So, too, was cutting down trees. Halaobek must now collect deadfall in order to make his skis.	砍伐树木也一样。现在，为了制作滑雪板，哈劳贝克必须收集倒下的树木。
The old ways have not dwindled away completely, however.	然而，这些古老的方式还没有完全消失。
In 2006, Shan, the ethnic Han historian, helped create the Old Fur Skis Race, a traditional ski competition in Altay City that brings together Kazakh, Mongol, Tuwa and Han Chinese skiers. Even as fewer young people have taken up traditional skiing, the event has attracted nearly 100 athletes of varying ages each year since its inception.	2006 年，汉人历史学者单兆鉴参与创办了古老毛滑雪比赛。这项在阿尔泰市举行的传统赛事让哈萨克斯坦族、蒙古族、图瓦族和汉族滑雪者齐聚一堂。尽管进行传统滑雪的年轻人减少了，但这项比赛自创办以来，每年会吸引近 100 名不同年龄的参赛选手。
The locals organized their own spinoff race, too. Every January since 2008, two weeks before the Old Fur race, Mongols and Kazakhs vie for village supremacy in a race that incorporates a series of stops for archery shooting. The event is akin to a stone-age biathlon, and in line with the region's hunting ancestry — an authentic representation of what these handmade tools were meant to do in deep powder snow.	本地人也组织了从该比赛衍生出来的赛事。从 2008 年开始，每年 1 月在古老毛滑雪比赛举行的两周前，蒙古族和哈萨克斯坦族滑雪者会通过比赛争夺在村里的领导权。比赛包括一系列射箭项目。这项比赛类似于石器时代的冬季两项，也符合该地区的狩猎历史——真正代表了这些手工制作的工具过去在冰天雪地里本来的用途。
"Ten thousand years ago, the only way our ancestors could eat was because they could ski," said the traditional skier in Khom. "If they didn't eat, we wouldn't be here, so there is a strong connection to the past."	"一万年前的，我们的祖先能有东西吃，唯一的原因是他们会滑雪，"禾木村那名传统滑雪者说。"如果他们没有东西吃，就没有我们，所以说和过去有着紧密的联系。"
But with the modern world eating at the roots of that past, it may be outside forces like Shan and his team, rather than the efforts of locals,	但在现代世界吞噬这段历史的根源的情况下，在国际舞台上宣传阿尔泰的滑雪历史的，也许是像单兆鉴及其团队这样的外部力量，而不是本地人的行动。

that canonize Altai's ski history on a global scale. With the 2022 Games on the horizon and downhill skiing rising in popularity, China's next steps will ultimately determine the survival of ancient ways that could have very well birthed a modern sport.	随着 2022 年的冬奥会即将到来，以及滑降滑雪越来越受欢迎，中国接下来的举措将从根本上决定这种古老的滑雪方式的存亡。它们很可能是一项现代运动的源头。
"The ideal plans for the Altai skiing," Shan said, "is to preserve its history."	"对阿尔泰滑雪的理想方案，"他说，"是保护它的历史。"
Back under the rock outcropping, the painted prehistoric skiers of the Altai Mountains are still making their descent.	回到那块露头下，画面中那些身在阿尔泰山脉中的史前滑雪者仍在往下滑。
The plaque nearby that explains their history is etched in both Chinese and Kazakh, with parts of the latter haphazardly scratched out. Tibetan prayer flags hang at the cave's entrance. The skiers themselves are behind bars — a steel cage that is meant to protect them.	旁边的匾牌解释了他们的历史。匾牌采用了汉语和哈萨克斯坦语两种语言，哈萨克斯坦语中的部分内容被随意去掉了。洞口悬挂着藏人的经幡，滑雪者们则被关了起来——那是一个用钢筋做成的笼子，为的是保护他们。
/style/20170421/skiing-china-cave-paintings	/style/20170421/skiing-china-cave-paintings
Brigitte Macron Inaugurates a New Look for France	法国第一夫人，政治人物配偶着装新标杆
On Sunday, when Brigitte Macron strode up the red carpet at the Élysée Palace alongside her husband, Emmanuel Macron, for his inauguration as president of France, it marked not just the official transition of power but also the advent of a new kind of first lady for the nation, and a new kind of political partnership. And it suggested that the Michelle Obama-size hole that has been left in the art of sartorial communications and diplomacy since America's former first couple left the world stage may be about to be filled — albeit in an original way.	周日，布丽吉特·马克龙(Brigitte Macron)和丈夫埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)一同阔步走在爱舍丽宫(Élysée Palace)的红毯上，参加他就任法国总统的就职典礼。这不仅标志着官方的权力交接，而且标志着一种新型第一夫人和新型政治伙伴关系的出现。它意味着，前美国第一夫妇离开世界舞台之后，米歇尔·奥巴马(Michelle Obama)在服装交流艺术和外交方面留下的巨大空白可能即将被填补——虽然是以全新的方式。
In her knee-baring, powder-blue Louis Vuitton dress, with its matching military-inspired jacket, Ms. Macron managed to make a statement about her independence and refusal to fit into any established box	马克龙夫人身穿裸露膝盖的浅蓝色路易威登(Louis Vuitton)连衣裙，搭配配套的军装风格外套。她通过这套服装宣布了自己的独立性，表明她拒绝服从任何既有的规矩（从政党到适合年龄的着装），但也没有过分地排斥过去，

(from political parties to age-appropriate dressing) without overtly rejecting the past, and while underscoring her husband's messaging in a multitude of ways. All without saying a word, though the images went global.	同时以各种方式强调丈夫的主张。一句话也不用说,但这种形象已传遍全球。
It was quite a strategic opening.	这是一个相当巧妙的开端。
While there was some online chatter about the color of the ensemble recalling Melania Trump's Ralph Lauren dress-and-jacket at her husband's inauguration, it seems to me that in detail and effect, the two could not be further apart. Mrs. Trump's choice, after all, called to mind nothing so much as the past: Jackie Kennedy and Camelot. Ms. Macron's look spoke to the future, and to how she is redefining her role.	虽然网上有人议论说,这套服装的颜色让人想起了梅拉尼娅·特朗普(Melania Trump)在丈夫就职典礼上穿的拉夫·劳伦(Ralph Lauren)连衣裙和外套,但在我看来,两者在细节和效果上有天壤之别。毕竟,特朗普的选择让人想起了过去:杰基·肯尼迪(Jackie Kennedy)和“佳美洛王朝”(Camelot)。而马克龙夫人的造型展现的是未来,以及她如何重新定义自己的角色。
She has been doing it in myriad ways since her husband declared his candidacy for president, but while attention has largely focused on their unconventional love story (she is 64, 24 years older than him), her unconventional wardrobe — at least for a political spouse of a certain age — has played a less observed part.	自从丈夫宣布参与总统竞选以来,她一直以各种方式展现这一点。虽然人们的注意力主要集中在他们非传统的爱情故事(她64岁了,比他大24岁)上,但她的非传统着装——至少是对特定年龄的政治人士配偶来说——也起到了一定的作用,尽管受到的关注较少。
Skinny jeans, leather leggings, jackets (tailored and motorcycle-inspired), short skirts, New Balance sneakers and Louis Vuitton handbags, even the occasional hoodie, have formed the basic building blocks of her style: one that reaches across generations, and just says “no” to the classic knee-length skirt suits of the bourgeoisie — and to any historical diktats about what women older than 60 are supposed to wear. It may be the least of the breaks from tradition in which she and her husband are engaged, but in some ways it is the most accessible, which makes it powerful.	紧身牛仔裤,紧身皮裤,(机车风格、定制的)夹克,短裙,新百伦(New Balance)运动鞋和路易威登手袋,甚至偶尔还有连帽衫——这些是她的风格的基本构成:涵盖各个年龄层的服装,但就是拒绝中产阶级的经典及膝裙套装,以及任何关于60岁以上女性应该穿什么的传统规矩。这可能是她和丈夫打破的传统中最微不足道的一项,但在某种程度上,它是最可接近的,所以才最有力量。

Especially because she is being cheered as an icon of “French style” as a result. Though equally interesting is the icon of French style she has enlisted in her cause.	尤其是考虑到，她正被推崇为“法国风尚”的标志性人物。不过，被她拉入自己事业中的那个法国时尚品牌也同样有趣。
Vuitton is a brand with which Ms. Macron has been allied since Bastille Day of 2015 (coincidence? I doubt it), when she first wore one of its navy dresses at a public event. It is a tentpole name in French luxury — founded in 1854; owned by the richest man in France, Bernard Arnault; part of the country’s most successful export sector — yet one that has rarely been adopted by the political elite. Carla Bruni-Sarkozy, wife of former President Nicolas Sarkozy, tended to wear Christian Dior in her official appearances; Valérie Trierweiler, partner of François Hollande at the start of his presidency, was famous for her Saint Laurent Tribute stilettos. Bernadette Chirac, the wife of former President Jacques Chirac, was partial to Chanel.	马克龙夫人是从 2015 年国庆节起与路易威登联手的（我怀疑这不是巧合），当时她在一场公开活动中首次身穿该品牌的一件深蓝连衣裙。路易威登是法国奢侈品行业的一个支柱品牌，创立于 1854 年，为法国首富贝尔纳·阿尔诺 (Bernard Arnault) 所有。它是该国最为成功的出口企业之一，却很少被政治精英选用。前总统尼古拉·萨科奇 (Nicolas Sarkozy) 的妻子卡拉·布吕尼·萨科齐 (Carla Bruni-Sarkozy) 倾向于在正式场合穿迪奥 (Christian Dior) 的服装；弗朗索瓦·奥朗德 (François Hollande) 任总统初期的伴侣瓦莱丽·特里耶韦莱 (Valérie Trierweiler) 以她的圣罗兰 (Saint Laurent) Tribute 细高跟鞋闻名。前总统雅克·希拉克 (Jacques Chirac) 的妻子贝尔纳黛特·希拉克 (Bernadette Chirac) 偏爱香奈儿 (Chanel)。
Ms. Macron, by contrast, has attended Vuitton shows and worn the brand on multiple occasions, most recently on election night. And she has managed to defray the possible political cost of being so close to an elitist name, unaffordable to many, by — as the brand has made clear — arranging to borrow most of what she wears, including her Inauguration Day look, and then returning it (she does buy some of it). She casts herself as an ambassador of French creativity, as opposed to simply an acquirer of it.	相形之下，马克龙观看过路易威登的时装秀，在多个场合穿过该品牌的服装，最近一次是在选举夜。她设法承担了与一个精英品牌保持亲密关系可能产生的政治代价。该品牌是很多人买不起的。正如该品牌已说明的，她的大部分服装是借来的，包括她在就职典礼上穿的那套服装，然后再还回去（她的确也买了一些）。她把自己塑造为法国创造力的大使，而不只是购买者。
By doubling down on that relationship and seeming to formally inaugurate Vuitton as her go-to brand, Ms. Macron made a tactical choice to elevate a different name in the game of image-ineering. One	通过强化这种关系，而且似乎正式将路易威登确定为自己的常用品牌，马克龙夫人做出了一个战略选择，在形象塑造方面树立一个不同的名声。正如该品牌的最新系列明确展现的那样，这一战略正好呼应了她丈夫对跨国界关系

that, as the brand's last collection made clear, happens to share her husband's belief in the value of cross-border relationships and cross-fertilization. Simply consider the artistic director Nicolas Ghesquière's statement after the fall 2017 show – that he wanted to use fashion to demonstrate the value of breaking “every boundary possible.”	和文化交流的价值的信念。只要想想路易威登的艺术总监尼古拉斯·盖斯奇埃尔(Nicolas Ghesquière)在2017年秋季服装秀之后的声明就知道了——他用时尚来展现打破“所有潜在的界线”的价值。
Coincidence? Again, I doubt it.	又是巧合？我再次表示怀疑。
Just as I doubt that the epaulets on Ms. Macron's inauguration jacket, and its shiny double-breasted rows of buttons, were a coincidence on an occasion that Mr. Macron filled with military symbolism. Her outfit gave visual support to his message, which included driving up the Champs-Élysées in a military vehicle.	正如我怀疑，在马克龙充满军事象征意义的就职典礼上，马克龙夫人正好身穿带有肩章和闪亮双排扣的外套也不是巧合。她的着装从视觉上支持了他要传递的信息，包括乘军车驶过香榭丽舍大街。
En garde.	预备！
/style/20170516/france-brigitte-macron-louis-vuitton	/style/20170516/france-brigitte-macron-louis-vuitton
Melania Trump on Display, Dressed in Ambivalence and Armor	“全副武装”的梅拉尼娅，准备为何而战？
And so we come to the end of what has been the longest and most comprehensive viewing of Melania Trump playing the role of first lady since her husband's administration began: nine days, five countries, more than a dozen outfits, all of them photographed and recorded (and exclaimed over) for the historical record.	这似乎是我们最长、最全面地一次检视梅拉尼娅·特朗普(Melania Trump)自丈夫上任以来，如何扮演第一夫人的角色：总共历时九天，访问了五个国家，换了十几套衣服，全程都进行了拍照和录像（并引发惊呼）留作历史纪录，现在这种检视结束了。
“Melania did not wear a veil in Saudi Arabia!” “Melania did wear a veil to the Vatican!” “Melania changes outfits during flight!”	“梅拉尼娅在沙特阿拉伯没有戴头巾！”“梅拉尼娅到梵蒂冈戴了头巾！”“梅拉尼娅在飞行途中换了服装！”
Does it really matter?	这真的有关系吗？
Of course. Because Mrs. Trump has been, up to now, a cipher cloistered in a gilded New York penthouse but is about to take her place in the	当然有关系。因为此前，梅拉尼娅一直是藏匿在纽约一个镀金阁楼里的神秘人物，但是她马上就要作为美国官方的女主人入主白宫东翼了（至少她的团

East Wing (at least according to her team) as the United States' official hostess. And because, as a representative of the country and the Trump administration on the world stage, this was her clearest statement yet about how she will manage that position.	队是这么说的)。而且，作为一个国家以及特朗普政府在世界舞台上的代表，她将如何在这个位置上发挥作用，服装就是她最清楚的声明。
It just happened that, since Mrs. Trump did not say much as she accompanied her husband from Saudi Arabia through Israel to Italy, Brussels and Sicily, it was largely made through her clothes.	恰巧，由于梅拉尼娅在陪同丈夫从沙特阿拉伯，经过以色列，再到意大利、布鲁塞尔和西西里岛的行程中并没有说多少话，她的声明基本上都是通过衣着表达出来的。
That's why what she wore received so much more attention than what Ivanka Trump wore (the fascinator at the Western Wall and the weirdly bridal black tulle veil at the Vatican aside).	这就是为什么她的穿着比伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)的穿着吸引了更多注意力的原因（她在哭墙穿得很迷人，在梵蒂冈戴着奇怪的新娘式黑色薄纱头巾）。
Add up the Stella McCartney black jumpsuit, the Michael Kors gingham coat dress, the Ralph Lauren khaki shirtdress, the taupe Maison Ullens suit and the myriad Dolce & Gabbana cocktail laces, that brand's gambler's trouser suit and botanical day coat, and what do you have?	加上 Stella McCartney 黑色连身裤、Michael Kors 方格布外套连衣裙、Ralph Lauren 卡其色衬衫、Maison Ullens 灰褐色西装，以及大量的 Dolce & Gabbana 鸡尾酒蕾丝——同品牌的赌徒衣裤套装和花卉外套，你能看出什么？
Ambivalence and armor. They were the defining trends of the trip.	模棱两可和装甲感。这趟行程的性质也是如此。
For every moment when Mrs. Trump seemed to engage with the historical precedent of her job — which largely involves humanizing the president by being the approachable, accessible half of the equation, and participating cheerfully in the spousal exercises of dressing, dining and hospital visiting — there was another in which she seemed to reject it. Kind of the way she seemed to reject most public displays of affection with her husband until the final leg of the trip. (See the hand-swatting maneuver performed after landing at Ben-Gurion International Airport in Israel, and similar evasive tactics.)	梅拉尼娅每一次试图完成第一夫人的传统差事——主要是赋予总统人性，方法是展示这个等式中平易近人、亲切的另一半，愉快地参加梳妆、餐饮、参观医院的夫人团活动——似乎就会拒绝另一个这样的活动。就像直到旅程的最后一站之前，她似乎都拒绝公开展示与丈夫的感情一样（参见在以色列本古里安国际机场降落后，她打开总统的手的做法，以及类似的回避方式）。
She acknowledged, for example, the sartorial protocols of the countries	例如，她遵从了这些国家的服饰礼仪。在沙特阿拉伯，她的衣着端庄

she visited. In Saudi Arabia, she was modest — even the Dolce & Gabbana white trouser suit and black shirt, while with a modern edge, was fully covered. In Vatican City, she went dark. In the resort town of Taormina in Sicily, springlike.	——Dolce & Gabbana 白色长裤西装和黑色衬衫，虽然设计时髦，但也完全覆盖了皮肤。在梵蒂冈城，她穿着深色服装。在西西里岛的度假小城陶尔米纳，她的服饰洋溢着春天的气息。
After landing at the King Khalid International Airport in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, she materialized on the steps of Air Force One in that black jumpsuit, whose Wonder Woman gold Saint Laurent belt, flowing hemline, long sleeves and notch neck made everyone think: abaya! Later she swept into dinner wearing a caped magenta Reem Acra gown with a jeweled neckline, like a high fashion Scheherazade.	空军一号在沙特阿拉伯利雅得哈利德国王国际机场降落后，她从机舱中走出，穿着黑色连身衣，戴着“神奇女侠”金色圣罗兰(Saint Laurent)腰带，飘动的下摆、长袖和衣领凹口让每个人心里想：阿拉伯长袍！后来吃晚餐时，她穿了一件洋红色的 Reem Acra 斗篷长袍，领口用珠宝装饰，像是山鲁佐德式高端时装。
Like many of her Western predecessors, she went veil-less in Saudi Arabia, but bent to Vatican tradition by wearing a lace veil to meet the pope. This apparent discrepancy in attitude got a lot of people very worked up, but it was fully in line with the policies of those who had gone before. (See: Michelle Obama, veil-less in Saudi Arabia in 2015, veiled at the Vatican in 2009.)	与之前的很多西方第一夫人一样，她在沙特阿拉伯没有戴头巾，却迎合了梵蒂冈的传统，戴了一顶维多利亚式的蕾丝头巾去见教皇。这种貌似不同的态度让很多人都激动起来，但实际上完全符合之前的政策（见：米歇尔·奥巴马 2015 年在沙特阿拉伯没有戴头巾，2009 年在梵蒂冈戴头巾。）
And her embrace of the high-end, and refusal to go through the motions of adopting the occasional accessible item, was fully in line with her husband's gold-toned dollar-sign spiel. Forget espadrilles or T-shirts; the Dolce & Gabbana floral coat cost an unapologetic $51,500.	她拥抱高端服饰，拒绝采纳偶尔亲民服饰的建议，这和她丈夫谈金论钱的讲话完全一致。忘记帆布鞋或 T 恤衫吧；她穿的 Dolce & Gabbana 花卉外套价格高达 51500 美元。
But then she rejected the traditional game of fashion diplomacy in which first ladies have been engaged since Jacqueline Kennedy, eschewing any pressure either to use her public appearances to promote homegrown talent, or to follow more recent strategy and support designers from the host country, the better to demonstrate	但后来，她拒绝了自杰奎琳·肯尼迪(Jacqueline Kennedy)以来第一夫人的传统时尚外交游戏，避开所有压力，既不利用自己的公共形象宣传本土时装，也不遵循最近的策略——为东道国的时装设计师提供宣传，更好地展示友好的意图。

friendly intentions.
She didn't ask one designer, like Hervé Pierre, who created her inauguration dress as well as the leather skirt she wore to depart Washington, to help her assemble her wardrobe. She didn't underscore her own international story. She spread her endorsements — but only kind of, wearing multiple looks from Mr. Kors and a high percentage from Dolce & Gabbana as well as an assortment of other names. Yes, she wore American designers, and yes, she started to look like a Sicilian widow while in Italy, and wore the Belgian label Maison Ullens in Brussels. (And, according to Vogue, which pretty breathlessly chronicled this trip, she even worked with the latter on her look, proving it was an entirely conscious choice.)	她没有请专门的设计师帮助她处理服装事务，哪怕是为她提供就职典礼服装，以及她离开华盛顿时所穿皮裙的埃尔维·皮埃尔(Hervé Pierre)。她没有强调自己的国际化故事。她传播的是她认可的东西——但这只是在某种程度上，因为她穿 Michael Kors 或者 Dolce & Gabbana 等品牌的时候还是偏多。是的，她也穿美国设计师的品牌；是的，她在意大利的时候看起来像一个西西里遗孀；在布鲁塞尔穿着比利时的品牌 Maison Ullens（密切紧跟这次行程的时尚杂志《Vogue》说，她甚至与后者一起研究自己的造型，证明这完全是一个有意做出的选择）。
But then she undermined the point by wearing Dolce & Gabbana and the British label Roksanda in Israel, and more Dolce in Brussels. (Dolce, which she also wore for her official portrait, is seeming like her go-to brand, a relationship that has upset some of the designers' Instagram fans.) That meant there was no consistent pattern behind the origin stories of what she chose when.	但随后，她又削弱了这种印象，在以色列穿着 Dolce & Gabbana 和英国品牌 Roksanda，并在布鲁塞尔再次穿着 Dolce（她在官方肖像中也穿着 Dolce，看起来这像是她的心水品牌，这种关系已经让该品牌的一些 Instagram 粉丝感到不安）。这意味着，她在什么时候选择什么服饰上并没有一个连贯的模式。
If anything seemed to unite the sartorial choices the first lady made, at least during the day, it was a certain rigidity of line, monochrome palette and militaristic mien. She favored sharp power shoulders, single-breasted jackets with wide cinched belts and big square buckles, straight skirts and a lot of buttons. Mostly buttoned up. Hemlines were not too short, and the only skin really exposed was on her arms (also a bit of shoulder in Brussels for evening).	如果说梅拉尼娅在服装选择上有什么做法具有连贯性的话，那么至少是她白天穿着的服装，都具有线条感，采用单色调，带有军装式的硬朗。她喜欢肩膀线条笔挺有力、带宽腰带和大方皮带扣的单排扣外套，直裙，以及许多的纽扣。大部分时候所有纽扣都会扣上，裙摆不会太短，唯一真正露出一点点皮肤的地方就是手臂（在布鲁塞尔，晚上还露出一点点肩）。

It's not an accident that the Michael Kors white suit she wore in Israel looked almost identical to the Maison Ullens taupe suit she wore in Belgium: tight, belted, undecorated. These aren't clothes designed (in all senses of that word) to charm; they are designed for security. Though the veil debate and the floral froufrou got the most attention, it was her battened-down, ready-for-battle styles that left the lasting impression.	她在以色列穿的 Michael Kors 白色西装看起来和她在比利时穿的 Maison Ullens 灰褐色西装几乎一模一样，这并不是个意外。这两套西装都是修身款式，有腰带，没有装饰。它们不是设计（从这个词的所有层面上说）用来展现魅力的；它们是为安全而设计的。虽然关于头巾的争论和花卉外套引发了最多的关注，但是她那果断、准备作战的风格给人留下了更持久的印象。
And raised the unavoidable question: For what battle, exactly, is she preparing? Theories have been floated: her husband's critics; the prying eyes of the outside world; even her own marriage. Maybe it's the much vaunted revolution the president was fond of saying he led; maybe she, too, is fighting for his agenda.	这就提出了一个不可避免的问题：她在为什么样的战斗做准备？各种说法都有：批评她丈夫的人；外界的窥探；甚至她自己的婚姻。也许是总统喜欢吹嘘自己所领导的那场革命。也许她也正在为他的议程而奋斗。
Or maybe it's just a signal that she is prepared to take her place on the home front.	或许这只是一个信号，表示她准备好了在大后方担当起自己的职责。
/style/20170527/melania-trump-foreign-trip-fashion	/style/20170527/melania-trump-foreign-trip-fashion
Venice, Invaded by Tourists, Risks Becoming 'Disneyland on the Sea'	水城威尼斯被“低质量旅游”淹没
VENICE — “You guys, just say ‘skoozy’ and walk through,” a young U.S. woman commanded her friends, caught in one of the bottlenecks of tourist traffic that clog Venice’s narrow streets, choke its glorious squares and push the locals of this enchanting floating city out and onto drab, dry land. “We don’t have time!”	威尼斯——“伙计们，只需说‘借过’，然后穿过去，”一个年轻的美国女人向朋友发出指令。“我们没时间了！”他们被困在由观光客组成的拥挤人潮中。在威尼斯，这人潮堵塞了狭窄的街道，让美丽的广场水泄不通，还迫使这座极具魅力的水上城市的许多居民离开本岛，踏上单调、干燥的陆地。
Neither, the Italian government worries, does Venice.	意大利政府担心，威尼斯的时间也不多了。
Don't look now, but Venice, once a great maritime and mercantile power, risks being conquered by day-trippers.	不应马上下结论，不过，曾是伟大的海上霸主和商业中心的威尼斯，的确面临着被一日游观光客征服的危险。
The soundtrack of the city is now the wheels of rolling luggage	如今，当游客的方阵在运河上方的天桥上行进时，拉杆箱的轮子在台阶上滚

thumping up against the steps of footbridges as phalanxes of tourists march over the city's canals. Snippets of Venetian dialect can still be heard between the gondoliers rowing selfie-snapping couples. But the lingua franca is a foreign mashup of English, Chinese and whatever other tongue the mega cruise ships and low-cost flights have delivered that morning. Hotels have replaced homes.	动跳跃的声音便是这座城市的背景音乐。从那些划着船，运送着忙于自拍的情侣的船夫口中，你仍能听到零星的威尼斯方言。但通用语是一种外国语大杂烩，其中包括英语、中文，以及巨型游轮和廉价渡船那天早上运送的游客说的任何语言。居民的住宅已被酒店取而代之。
Italian government officials, lamenting what they call "low-quality tourism," are considering limiting the numbers of tourists who can enter the city or its landmark piazzas.	意大利政府官员悲叹于他们口中的“低质量旅游”，正考虑限制可以进入这座城市或其地标式广场的游客人数。
"If you arrive on a big ship, get off, you have two or three hours, follow someone holding a flag to Piazzale Roma, Ponte di Rialto and San Marco and turn around," said Dario Franceschini, Italy's culture minister, who lamented what he called an "Eat and Flee" brand of tourism that had brought the sinking city so low.	“如果你是坐大船抵达的，下了船，你有一两个小时，跟随某个举着小旗子的人前往罗马广场(Piazzale Roma)、里阿尔托桥(Ponte di Rialto)、圣马可广场(San Marco)，然后就要往回走，”意大利文化部长达里奥·弗兰切斯基尼(Dario Franceschini)为他口中的快餐式旅游感到惋惜，这种业态已经让这个下沉的城市的情况变得愈发糟糕。
"The beauty of Italian towns is not only the architecture, it's also the actual activity of the place, the stores, the workshops," Franceschini added. "We need to save its identity."	“意大利城镇不仅美在建筑物，还在于当地的实际活动、店铺、工坊，”弗兰切斯基尼继续说道。“我们需要保存它的特质。”
The city's locals, whatever is left of them anyway, feel inundated by the 20 million or so tourists each year. Stores have taken to putting signs on the windows showing the direction to St. Mark's Square or Ponte di Rialto, so people will stop coming in to ask them where to go.	每年约有 2000 万名游客涌入威尼斯，让这座城市的居民——不论还剩下多少——有被淹没其中之感。各店铺不得不往窗户上放标牌，指明圣马克广场(St Mark's Square)或里亚尔托桥所在的方向，以免人们纷纷跑进来问路。
The majority of the anxiety has centered on the cruise ships that pass through the Grand Canal, blotting out the landmarks like an eclipse blocking out the sun.	担忧主要集中在穿行于大运河(Grand Canal)中的游轮身上，它们遮蔽着一处处地标，就如同月球的影子遮蔽着太阳。
Some of the roughly 50,000 Venetians who remain in the city, down	这座城市里还剩下大约 5 万名威尼斯人——1951 年的数字是 17.5 万——他们

from about 175,000 in 1951, have organized associations against the "Big Ships," selling T-shirts that show cruise boats with shark teeth threatening fishermen. In June, almost all the 18,000 Venetians who voted in an unofficial referendum on the cruise ships said they wanted them out of the lagoon.	组织起对抗“大船”的协会，还会售卖宣传T恤，上面的图案是带有锋利牙齿的游船向渔民发出威胁。今年6月有过一场关于游轮的非官方公投，参与投票的1.8万名威尼斯人几乎全都表示，他们想让游轮离开泻湖。
"One problem is the ships," said Franceschini, who called their passage in front of St. Mark's Square "an unacceptable spectacle."	“这些船真成问题，”弗兰切斯基尼说。他把船只在圣马克广场前经过的情形称作“不可接受的景象”。
But the ships bring in money, and since Venice is not the trading power of yore, it needs all the euros it can get. The cruise ships don't just bring fees into the city, they also create jobs down a whole supply chain, benefiting mechanics, waiters and water taxis. The gondoliers who change into their striped shirts early in the morning and put sunscreen on their bald heads have steady work.	但这些船会带来金钱，威尼斯已经不是昔日的贸易霸主，能挣到手的每一块欧元对它来说都很重要。游轮不只为这座城市带来收入，还顺着一整条供应链创造着就业机会，让机修师、服务生以及水上的士司机获益。那些一大清早就换好条纹衬衫、把防晒霜涂抹在光秃秃的脑袋上的船夫，拥有稳定的客源。
Many of Venice's locals reside in the Castello section of the city, far enough from San Marco Square, the center of tourist gravity, to enjoy a semblance of normal life. But only a semblance.	威尼斯本地人很多都住在该市的城堡区(Castello)，一个离游客云集的圣马可广场足够远的地方，以便过表面上还算正常的生活。但也只是表面上。
"If you want to get some prosciutto, you can't because the salumeria is gone," said Tommaso Mingati, 41.	“如果你想要买点火腿，是买不到的，因为熟食店消失了，”现年41岁的托马索·明甘蒂(Tommaso Mingati)说。
His family kept a small apartment here but, like most former residents, had moved out to Mestre, the mainland section that no one has ever called Queen of the Adriatic. As his mother regretted the city's becoming a "Disneyland on the Sea," Mingati said that the expanding empire of bed-and-breakfasts was now forcing people out of Mestre.	他家在这里有一套小公寓，但像大多数前居民一样，已经搬去了梅斯特(Mestre)，没有谁会管那片内陆区叫“亚得里亚海的明珠”。在明甘蒂的母亲为这座城市变成“海上迪士尼乐园”感到遗憾之际，明甘蒂说，日益扩张的客栈现在正迫使人们离开梅斯特。
All of those bed-and-breakfasts, and the city's roughly 2,500 hotels, produce a lot of towels and linens that need laundering. Venice no	所有这些提供床位与早餐的地方，以及该市的大约2500家酒店，出产了大量需要洗涤的毛巾和床单。威尼斯已经没有能力做这件事了。于是每到黎明

longer has the capacity for such an undertaking. So, at dawn, boats carry the dirty laundry and garbage out to Tronchetto, an artificial island and parking lot for trucks coming from the mainland.	时分，就会有船只将脏毛巾、脏床单和垃圾运往特龙凯托岛(Tronchetto)，那是一个人工岛，也是来自大陆的卡车停泊之处。
In turn, they deliver fresh towels but also untold gallons of drinking water, foodstuffs, bottles of orange Aperol to make the city's ubiquitous Aperol Spritz and anything else consumed inside the lagoon.	回程时，它们会载满干净的毛巾，还有大量饮用水、食品、一瓶瓶橙色的柳橙苦酒——用以制作该市随处可见的鸡尾酒 Aperol Spritz——以及在这里用得上的其他任何东西。
One weekend a year, during the Feast of the Redeemer in July, Venetians take back the city. They flow back in from Mestre to drink wine on the banks of the Grand Canal and wait for a fireworks show that puts New York's Fireworks by Grucci to shame.	每年7月的一个周末过救赎节(Feast of the Redeemer)的时候，威尼斯人都会拿回对这座城市的主导权。他们纷纷从梅斯特赶回来，在大运河边喝葡萄酒，等待观看一场会让纽约的格鲁西烟花公司(Fireworks by Grucci)感到汗颜的烟花秀。
This year, the celebration coincided with the Venice Biennale, which draws thousands of sophisticated, globe-trotting visitors to Venice to check out the latest in art, dance and theater. The locals and the art enthusiasts have developed a sort of alliance against the crowds who march on St. Mark's.	今年的救赎节撞上了威尼斯双年展(Venice Biennale)，后者把成千上万来自世界各地的高端游客吸引到威尼斯，欣赏最新的艺术、舞蹈和戏剧作品。当地人和这些艺术爱好者，已经结成了某种抗衡前进在圣马克广场上的人潮的联盟。
"We are a model of what could be," said Paolo Baratta, the president of the Biennale, as he watched the fireworks from the terrace of the festival's headquarters. The people emptying out of the cruise ships, he said, "aren't concerned with what happens in Venice."	"我们提供了一种关于这座城市的可能前景的范本，"威尼斯双年展主席保罗·巴拉塔(Paolo Baratta)一边在双年展总部的露台上看烟花，一边说道。他说，从游轮中倾巢而出的那些人"并不关心威尼斯发生了什么"。
At night, many of the tourists return to their cruise ships or tuck in after early dinners. The result is a momentary reprieve but also, like Venice in its slow winter months, a time warp to an earlier Venice.	晚上，很多游客会返回游轮，或者在黄昏晚餐结束后找地方休息。由此不仅暂时缓解了城市承受的压力，还制造出一个与威尼斯悠长的冬季类似的时间扭曲效果，让人得以重回早前的威尼斯。
For me it is the one I first encountered nearly 20 years ago, before Google Maps, when I could get lost and stumble onto seemingly deserted or forgotten campos. At night, away from the city center, a	对我而言，这便是我在将近20年前的时候遇到的那个威尼斯，当时还没有谷歌地图，我会迷失方向，偶然走到看似荒凉或被遗忘的广场上。入夜，两名游客在远离市中心的一家寒酸的咖啡厅里庆祝自己的婚礼，那场景并不过

couple of tourists celebrating their wedding at a divey cafe was not cloying, but charming.	于甜腻，而是令人愉悦。
Those enchanting hours stretched into the early morning, before the tourists stirred, when St. Mark's Square itself was empty except for the pigeons and the early risers headed to work.	那些迷人的时光一直延续到凌晨，游客们起床之前，圣马克广场上空荡荡的，只有一些鸽子和赶着去上班的早起者。
Those hours, with the shadows still long and the light reflecting off the lagoon and the triforia windows, reminded me of what Raffaele Nocera, who otherwise sounded depressed about the state of his city, told me as he navigated a water bus around the Grand Canal.	那些时光——其间，地上的影子依然很长，光亮反射在泄湖和拱形窗上——让我想起本来似乎对这座城市的状态颇感沮丧的威尼斯人拉法埃莱·诺切拉 (Raffaele Nocera)，一边在大运河上驾驶水上巴士一边对我说过的话。
"If you get up early enough," Nocera said, "you get all of Venice to yourself."	"如果你起得足够早，"诺切拉说，"整个威尼斯都是你的。"
It reminds you of why it is so worth protecting, and why Italians have been taking a stand.	它会提醒你为什么它值得被保护，为什么意大利人一直在公开表明立场。
"Today it's Piazza San Marco or Ponte di Rialto," Franceschini said. "In a few years it could be that the problem spreads."	"今天是圣马可广场或里阿尔托桥，"弗兰切斯基尼说，"过不了几年，问题可能就会蔓延开去。"
/style/20170803/venice-italy-tourist-invasion	/style/20170803/venice-italy-tourist-invasion
Baidu to Digitally 'Restore' Historic Sites in Nepal	百度发起尼泊尔古迹数字复原行动
The April 25 earthquake in Nepal and powerful aftershocks have not only killed more than 8,000 people and destroyed thousands of homes, but also left historic buildings in ruins. While reconstruction could take decades, the Chinese web services company Baidu has begun a campaign to recreate these structures online.	尼泊尔 4 月 25 日发生的地震以及后来发生的强烈余震，不仅造成 8000 多人死亡，毁坏了成千上万家的住房，而且还把许多历史建筑变为废墟。重建可能需要数十年的时间，不过中国的网络服务公司百度已经开始了一项在线重建这些建筑的行动。
"We want to apply our own technology instead of donating money or using another corporate relief effort to provide help for the earthquake," said Kaiser Kuo, Baidu's director for international communications, in a	"我们要用我们自己的技术，而不是用捐钱、或通过其他企业救灾行动，来为震后重建提供帮助，"百度的国际交流主管郭怡广在接受电话采访时说。

telephone interview.
In its campaign, called "See you again, Kathmandu," Baidu has appealed to Internet users to upload their photographs of historic sites. The imaging system requires hundreds of photos taken from different angles and under different weather conditions to create a comprehensive view of the sites. According to Baidu, between 500 and 1,000 photos are needed for the digital re-creation of a single building. These static images can be used to generate a 3-D video to allow users to view the sites from the perspective of a visitor touring them before the earthquake.	百度在这个名为“See you again, 加德满都”的行动中呼吁网民们上传他们拍摄的历史古迹照片。百度的成像系统需要数百张从不同角度、在不同天气条件下拍摄的照片，来制做这些景点的全部图像。据百度说，用数字化方式重建仅一座建筑物就需要 500 到 1000 张照片。这些静态照片可以用于产生 3D 视频，让网络用户可以从地震前观光者的视角来欣赏这些景点。
Nepal is a popular destination for Chinese tourists, and since the campaign was announced on April 29, more than 42,000 photographs have been uploaded, and eight sites have been 70 percent to 80 percent digitally recreated, including the 17th-century Maju Deval temple in Kathmandu.	尼泊尔是中国游客的热门目的地。自从行动于 4 月 29 日宣布以来，百度收到的上传照片已超过 42,000 张，有八个景点的数字重建已经完成了 70% 到 80%，包括位于加德满都的 17 世纪的马驹德瓦尔寺。
"We started with sites on the Unesco World Cultural Heritage list, but we are expecting more sites to be recreated, not only those in Kathmandu, but other damaged buildings in Nepal," Mr. Kuo said.	"我们是从列入联合国教科文组织世界文化遗产名录的古迹开始的，我们预计会重建更多的景点，不仅是加德满都的那些，而且也包括尼泊尔其他的受损建筑物，"郭怡广说。
To encourage non-Chinese speakers to contribute photographs, the campaign's website for uploading images is in both English and Chinese. Baidu is also planning to hold an exhibition of the digitally recreated historic sites.	为鼓励不懂中文的人也贡献照片，这一行动用来上传照片的网站是中英双语的。百度还计划为数字重建的古迹举办一个展览。
/technology/20150513/t13baidu	/technology/20150513/t13baidu
India Replaces China as Next Big Frontier for U.S. Tech Companies	印度取代中国成美科技公司新乐园
BANGALORE, India — American technology companies desperately	印度班加罗尔——美国技术企业不顾一切地想要赢得像拉凯什·帕达楚里

want to win over people like Rakesh Padachuri and his family.	(Rakesh Padachuri)及其家人这样的印度用户的喜爱。
Mr. Padachuri, who runs a construction business in this city, the center of India's technology industry, uses his smartphone to reserve movie seats through BookMyShow and to order pizzas from Domino's. His wife, Vasavi, orders clothes from Myntra and Amazon.com, and downloads videos and games from YouTube and the Google Play store to entertain their 4-year-old daughter. His sister-in-law, Sonika, enjoys posting selfies on Facebook and follows the YouTube musings of Lilly Singh, an Indo-Canadian comedian.	帕达楚里在印度技术产业中心班加罗尔市经营建筑生意,他使用自己的智能手机通过订票软件 BookMyShow 预订电影票,从达美乐(Domino's)叫外卖匹萨。他的妻子瓦萨维(Vasavi)从印度电商网站 Myntra 和亚马逊 (Amazon.com)下订单购买服装,从 YouTube 和 Google Play 商店下载视频和电子游戏供他们四岁的女儿玩耍。他的小姨子索妮卡(Sonika)则喜欢在 Facebook 上发自拍照,关注印度裔加拿大喜剧演员莉莉·辛格(Lilly Singh)在 YouTube 上发布的视频。
They all stay in touch via a group chat they have set up on WhatsApp, a free messaging service owned by Facebook. "There's no need to call each other," Mr. Padachuri said last month during an interview at his home, which is next to a Best Western hotel. There's barely a need to leave the house — groceries, a birthday cake, even a hairdresser can be summoned via an app.	他们都通过 Facebook 旗下的免费通信软件 WhatsApp 上建立的群组保持联系。“没必要相互打电话,”帕达楚里上个月家中接受采访时说,他家附近就有一家贝斯特韦斯特(Best Western)旗下的酒店。帕达楚里几乎不怎么需要出门,日常用品、生日蛋糕都可以通过 app 下单送货上门,甚至美发师也可以通过网上预订上门服务。
The Padachuri family's love of technology helps explain why India and its 1.25 billion residents have become the hottest growth opportunity — the new China — for American Internet companies. Blocked from China itself or frustrated by the onerous demands of its government, companies like Facebook, Google and Twitter, as well as start-ups and investors, see India as the next best thing.	帕达楚里一家对技术的热爱有助于解释,为什么印度及其 12.5 亿人口会成为美国科技公司竞相追逐的增长机遇,它就像是另一个中国市场。因为在中国受到屏蔽,或者不堪承受中国政府繁琐的要求,Facebook、谷歌和 Twitter 等大型科技企业,以及创业公司和投资者,将印度视为下一个大机会。
"They are looking at India, and they are thinking, 'Five years ago, it was China, and I probably missed the boat there. Now I have a chance to actually do this,'" said Punit Soni, a former Google executive who was lured back to India recently to become the chief product officer of	"他们正注视着印度并思考,'五年前,人们也这么关注着中国,我或许错过了那艘船,但现在我有机会登上印度这艘船',"前谷歌高管普尼特·索尼(Punit Soni)说。受到印度市场机遇的诱惑,他最近又回到印度,担任班加罗尔一家类似亚马逊的电子商务创业公司 Flipkart 的首席产品官。

Flipkart, a Bangalore e-commerce start-up similar to Amazon.
The increasing appeal of India, now the world's fastest growing major economy, was underscored in recent days.	作为世界上增长最快的大型经济体, 印度日益增大的吸引力最近再次凸显出来。
During a meeting in Seattle on Wednesday with American technology executives, China's president, Xi Jinping, was unwavering on his government's tough Internet policies.	上周三在西雅图和美国科技企业高管会面时, 中国国家主席习近平并没有放松政府对互联网采取的强硬政策。
India's prime minister, Narendra Modi, on the other hand, was on a charm offensive during his own American tour.	而印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)则在访美期间大展魅力攻势。
After a stop in New York City, he headed to Silicon Valley, where he visited Tesla and attended a dinner with tech chieftains like Satya Nadella of Microsoft and Sundar Pichai of Google.	在纽约短暂停留之后, 他便前往硅谷参观特斯拉(Tesla)公司, 与微软的萨蒂亚·纳德拉(Satya Nadella)和谷歌的桑达尔·皮查伊(Sundar Pichai)等科技企业高管一起共进晚餐。
On Sunday, Mr. Modi participated in a town hall discussion with Mark Zuckerberg, Facebook's chief executive. He also planned to drop by Google and Stanford University, mingle with entrepreneurs and address a sold-out arena of 18,000 people in San Jose, Calif., before heading back to New York to meet with President Obama on Monday.	周日, 莫迪与 Facebook 首席执行官马克·扎克伯格(Mark Zuckerberg)一起参加了一场见面会。他还计划顺便拜访谷歌公司和斯坦福大学(Stanford University), 与创业者们会面, 并在加州圣何塞(San Jose)一个可以容纳 1.8 万人的体育场内发表讲话。接着, 他会回到纽约, 于周一和奥巴马总统进行会晤。
"For India to keep making progress, it needs to be a leader online," Mr. Modi said during the Facebook event. He acknowledged that tech companies like Facebook were not connecting people out of pure altruism, but he told Mr. Zuckerberg, "I hope this will not just be something to enhance your company's bank balance."	"印度要不断取得进步, 就需要成为一个互联网发展领先的国家," 莫迪在 Facebook 的活动中说道。他承认, 如 Facebook 等技术公司不是完全处于利他主义才用网络把人们连接起来, 但他告诉扎克伯格, "我希望你们这么做, 也不仅仅是为增加企业的收入。"
The overall message to Silicon Valley from Mr. Modi, who posts regularly on Twitter and Facebook: Help India become an Internet powerhouse.	频繁在 Twitter 和 Facebook 上发消息的莫迪向硅谷发出的整体信号是: 来帮助印度成为互联网强国。
Two years ago, India's rise as a digital nation was hard to imagine.	两年前, 人们还很难想象印度会作为一个数字大国崛起。当时, 那里的网络

Internet penetration was modest, mobile phone networks were glacially slow, and smartphones were a blip in a sea of basic phones.	普及很有限，手机网络慢如蜗牛，而智能手机在基础功能机的汪洋大海里可以忽略不计。
Since 2013, however, the number of smartphone users in India has ballooned and will reach 168 million this year, the research firm eMarketer predicts, with 277 million Internet users in India expected over all.	但据研究机构 eMarketer 统计，自 2013 年以来，印度智能手机用户暴涨，今年将达到 1.68 亿人，印度整体互联网用户预计也将达到 2.77 亿人。
India already conducts more mobile searches on Google than any country besides the United States. Yet “we are barely scratching the surface of availability of Internet to the masses,” said Amit Singhal, Google’s senior vice president in charge of search, who emigrated from India to the United States 25 years ago.	印度人通过移动设备在谷歌上进行的搜索量，已经超过了除美国以外的任何一个国家。但是，“在将网络提供给普罗大众方面，我们目前所做的不过是九牛一毛，”谷歌主管搜索业务的高级副总裁阿米特·辛格尔(Amit Singhal)说。他在 25 年前从印度移民到了美国。
Indians have long loved to connect with each other online, accounting for much of the growth of early social networks like Friendster. So it’s not surprising that Facebook already has 132 million Indian users, trailing only the United States.	长久以来，印度人一直喜欢通过网络相互联系，这是 Friendster 等早期社交网络得以发展的很大一个原因。所以，现在 Facebook 能有 1.32 亿印度用户，仅次于美国用户，也并不让人意外。
But Facebook’s presence in India runs even deeper. WhatsApp, the messaging service that Facebook bought last year for nearly $22 billion, has become the most popular app in the country, offering free texting and free phone calls in a place where many people earn just a few dollars a day. Facebook’s Messenger app is No. 2, according to the analytics firm App Annie.	但 Facebook 在印度的业务发展甚至更加深入。Facebook 去年以近 220 亿美元收购的通讯应用 WhatsApp，已经成为印度最受欢迎的 app，它在这个很多人每日收入只有几美元的国家，提供免费发消息和免费通话的服务。据分析公司 App Annie 统计，Facebook 自身研发的通讯软件 Messenger 在印度排名第二。
And that only touches on Facebook’s ambitions in India. “We need to focus on the billion people who are not connected,” said Kevin D’Souza, head of growth and mobile partnerships for Facebook India.	而这只是 Facebook 在印度发展野心的一小部分。“我们需要专注于那十亿还没有上网的人，”Facebook 印度业务发展和移动合作负责人凯文·德苏扎 (Kevin D’Souza) 说。
To reach those people, Facebook is offering basic versions of its service	为了触及这些人，Facebook 开始提供可以在简单的手机上使用的基础版服

that work on simple phones and slow networks. Under an umbrella initiative called Internet.org, Facebook is also working with a local cellphone operator to offer a package of free services, including news, job listings and text-only versions of Messenger and its social network aimed at those who can't afford a data plan.	务。通过一个名为 Internet.org 的综合服务计划，Facebook 也在和一家本地手机运营商合作，针对无力负担数据流量费用的人群，提供一套免费的服务，包括新闻、职位信息、纯文字的 Messenger 服务和社交网络功能。
India still poses many challenges. Internet.org has come under fire from regulators and activists who are concerned that Facebook is favoring its own services. And despite Mr. Modi's outreach, government agencies are trying to censor content they consider unfavorable or offensive. Last year, Facebook received 10,792 requests from the Indian government to remove information, far more than from any other country.	但开发印度市场也存在很多挑战。Internet.org 已经受到印度监管机构和活动人士的抨击，后者担心 Facebook 在这些服务中偏袒自己的社交应用。尽管莫迪积极对外接触，但印度政府机构却想方设法，对他们认为负面或有冒犯性的内容进行审查。去年，Facebook 从印度政府接到了 10792 次删除信息的要求，远多于其他任何国家。
Making money is also difficult in India, where the amount spent on digital advertising is expected to total about $940 million this year, according to eMarketer — a fraction of the $58 billion that is expected to be spent in the United States.	在印度想赚钱也非常困难。据 eMarketer 估计，今年整个印度花费在数字广告上的资金，预计只有 9.4 亿美元，相比美国今年预计实现的 580 亿美元，只是一个小零头。
While revenue is tiny so far, Internet companies say they are playing the long game, focusing on getting more people online now and profiting later.	尽管目前在印度的营收如此微薄，但互联网企业表示，他们是在放长线，眼下还是专注于让更多人上网，以后再谈盈利。
Google, for example, wants 500 million Indians online by 2017. Most of these newcomers will be using phones powered by Google's Android operating system, which accounts for most of the Indian smartphone market. That will let Google expose these users to its other services, like search and YouTube, as well as plenty of ads.	比如，谷歌希望印度到 2017 年能有 5 亿网民。这些新网民大多数都会使用安装有谷歌 Android 操作系统的手机，该操作系统占据了印度智能手机市场的大部分。这将有利于谷歌将搜索、YouTube 等其他服务，以及大量的广告，提供给这些手机用户。
"We've always believed that what's good for the Internet is good for	"我们一直相信，对互联网有利的事，就是对谷歌有利的事，"谷歌在印度的

Google," Sandeep Menon, Google's head of marketing in India, said in an interview at the company's offices in Gurgaon, outside New Delhi.	营销主管桑迪普·梅农(Sandeep Menon)在其位于新德里城外古尔冈(Gurgaon)的办公室接受采访时说。
The effort to get more Indians online, however, has forced tech companies to re-examine some fundamental assumptions.	但是, 为了让更多印度人上网, 不少技术公司已经被迫开始重新审视一些基本的假定观念。
Only one in six Indians know enough English to surf the web in the language. But there are few web pages in Hindi or India's 21 other official languages. "There are more web pages in Estonian than in Hindi," Mr. Menon said.	只有六分之一的印度人掌握英语的熟练程度足以让他们浏览英文网页。但以印度语或印度的另外 21 种官方语言制作的网页非常之少。“爱沙尼亚语的网页都比印度语网页多,” 梅农说。
Google, Facebook and Twitter have all added support for more Indian languages and are prodding developers and users to create more local-language content.	谷歌、Facebook 和 Twitter 都让其产品针对更多种印度语言提供支持, 他们也在鼓励开发者和用户创造更多当地语言的内容。
To deal with India's poor mobile data connections, which can run at a hundredth of the speed that Americans expect, Google is compressing web pages on its servers so that they use 80 percent less data and load four times as fast.	为了应对印度移动数据传输极其慢的问题——能比美国人想象中的慢一百倍, 谷歌正在服务器上压缩网页, 以便印度用户需要传输的数据量可以减少 80%, 网页运行速度可以增至四倍。
Similarly, Indians can download YouTube videos while they have a high-speed connection, such as Wi-Fi at school or work, and save them to watch later when they are offline.	印度用户也可以在有高速网络连接的地方下载 YouTube 视频, 比如使用学校或工作场所的 Wi-Fi, 然后留待离线时间进行观看。
Of course, none of this matters to those who have never used the Internet. To reach them, Google has formed a partnership with Intel and a local charity to send female tutors, who travel by bicycle, to thousands of villages to teach rural women about the Internet. So far, 200 bikes equipped with solar-powered tablets and smartphones are on the road, and Google hopes to increase that number to 10,000.	当然, 对于从没有使用过网络的人来说, 这些都无关紧要。为了接触到这些人群, 谷歌与 Intel 及一家当地慈善机构建立起合作, 他们派遣女性辅导人员骑自行车到数以千计的村庄, 教那里的农村妇女上网。目前, 200 量配备有太阳能充电的平板电脑和智能手机的自行车已经上路, 谷歌希望这个数字可以增加至 1 万。
The immaturity of India's Internet market allows companies like	因为印度互联网市场不成熟, 一些公司可以把它当做一个实验室来对待, 例

Twitter, which has just 20 million users in the country, to treat it as a laboratory.	如在这个国家只有 2000 万用户的 Twitter。
"If you are starting from a clean slate, what should Twitter look like?" asked Valerie Wagoner, Twitter's senior director for growth, who joined Twitter after it acquired her India-based start-up, ZipDial.	"如果是面对白纸一样的市场, Twitter 应该是什么样?" Twitter 增长业务的高级主管瓦莱丽·瓦戈纳(Valerie Wagoner)说, 她在 Twitter 收购了自己的印度创业公司 ZipDial 之后加入了该公司。
Hundreds of millions of Indians still use basic phones that cannot run apps, but they can receive text messages free. Using technology pioneered by ZipDial, Twitter allows people to view the tweets of cricket stars, politicians or brands by calling a special phone number, then immediately hanging up. The subsequent tweets are delivered as texts. In March, Twitter joined with the government to allow anyone with a cellphone that is capable of receiving texts to get tweets from Mr. Modi and a dozen other officials and ministries this way.	数亿印度人还在使用无法运行 app 的基础功能手机,但他们可以免费接收短信。通过使用由 ZipDial 率先推出的技术, Twitter 可以让人们浏览有关板球明星、政治人物或诸多品牌的推文, 方式是拨打一个特别的电话号码, 然后迅速挂掉电话。之后, 推文会以文本形式发送到用户手机上。今年三月, Twitter 与印度政府进行合作, 使得任何拥有能接受文本信息的手机的人, 都可以接收到显示印度总理莫迪及其他十几位印度官员和部长发表的推文的文本信息。
Last month, Twitter began testing a new idea in India — a tab of tweets made up entirely of news stories. The idea is to reposition Twitter as a real-time news service, instead of a collection of random items from random accounts.	上个月, Twitter 开始在印度测试一项新想法——推送全部由新闻故事组成的标签主题推文。这个想法是为在印度将 Twitter 重新定位为实时新闻服务软件, 而不只是提供那些来自随机抽取的账户的一组随机信息。
Twitter hopes such experiments will help it figure out how to educate newcomers globally about the value of its service, said Amiya Pathak, co-founder of ZipDial and a director of product management at Twitter.	Twitter 产品管理总监之一、ZipDial 联合创始人阿米亚·帕塔克(Amiya Pathak)表示, Twitter 希望这样的试验可以帮助它搞清楚, 如何在全球教育新用户, 让他们了解 Twitter 提供的服务的价值。
"This is a market where we can do tests," said Mr. Pathak. "Prove it out in India first, and as you prove it out, take it to other markets."	"这是一个我们可以做试验的市场," 帕塔克说。"先在印度证明一个想法可行, 然后再把它带到其他市场。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/technology/20150928/c28indiatech	https://cn.nytimes.com/technology/20150928/c28indiatech
Alibaba Financial Affiliate Raises $4.5 Billion	阿里巴巴旗下蚂蚁金服融资 45 亿美元
HONG KONG — An online payment affiliate of Alibaba Group, the	香港——周二, 中国电商巨头阿里巴巴集团旗下的一家在线支付公司宣布从

Chinese e-commerce giant, said on Tuesday that it had raised $4.5 billion from investors in an indication of its larger ambitions.	投资者手中募集到 45 亿美元。这一迹象表明，该公司的抱负在扩大。
The affiliate, called Ant Financial, is one of the world's largest electronic-payments companies by virtue of Alipay, a payment service resembling PayPal that is commonly used in China. Like Alibaba, it is controlled by Jack Ma, one of China's richest men.	凭借支付宝，名为蚂蚁金服的这家公司成为了全世界最大的电子支付企业之一。支付宝是一种与 PayPal 类似的服务，在中国使用广泛。和阿里巴巴一样，蚂蚁金服由中国数一数二的富豪马云掌控。
Ant Financial is part of a rising trend in online payments in China, where slow state-run banks and an initial lack of regulation allowed faster-moving private-sector companies to integrate themselves into many facets of Chinese life. Ant Financial has added to Alipay a whole range of Internet financial services, like low-risk money market funds and a wallet app that enables easy payment from smartphones around China.	蚂蚁金服是中国日益高涨的在线支付潮流的一部分。在中国，国有银行效率低下，再加上起初的监管欠缺，使得反应更迅速的私营公司能够融入民众生活的诸多方面。蚂蚁金服为支付宝增添了一系列互联网金融服务，如低风险货币市场基金和一款钱包应用。该应用使中国各地的用户能够通过智能手机轻松付款。
Ant Financial, which is privately owned, did not disclose details about the size of the stake the investors will hold. It said the investors included a number of state-controlled Chinese companies, including arms of China Construction Bank and China Life, indicating the level of government support Ant Financial enjoys in a country where much of the economy is still state-directed.	蚂蚁金服属私人公司，并未透露有关投资者持股规模的细节。公司宣布的投资者涵盖多家国有企业，包括中国建设银行和中国人寿的分支机构。这表明，在很多经济领域仍由国家指导的中国，蚂蚁金服得到了政府的支持。
In a move that could further ingratiate the company with Chinese officials, Mr. Ma has said he hopes to take Ant Financial public in China. China's markets have been turbulent in recent months and saddled investors with losses. Alibaba has not disclosed timing, and the fund-raising on Tuesday suggests it could have enough money to take its time selling shares to the public.	马云一直表示希望让蚂蚁金服在中国上市。此番表态可能会令该公司进一步讨好中国官员。最近几个月，中国市场动荡不安，投资者蒙受了不少损失。阿里巴巴尚未公布上市的时间安排，而周二宣布的融资也表明，它可能有足够的资金，可以从容推进公开募股一事。

In its statement on Tuesday, Ant said it would use the money it had raised to support its global expansion and also would continue its work to connect rural Chinese with its payment, loan and banking services.	在周二的声明中，蚂蚁金服表示将把筹集到的资金用来支持全球扩张，并表示将继续致力于把中国农村地区同其支付、贷款和银行业务连接起来。
Chinese consumers use Alipay to shop online, transfer money to each other, hail taxis, buy movie tickets and even invest their spare change. A money-market fund affiliated with Ant Financial was once one of the world's largest. According to the release on Tuesday, Alipay has more than 450 million users.	中国消费者可以使用支付宝网购、转账、叫出租车、买电影票，甚至用零钱投资。蚂蚁金服旗下的一支货币市场基金的规模一度在全世界名列前茅。根据周二的声明，支付宝用户已超过 4.5 亿。
Still, Ant Financial and Alipay face intense competition from Tencent Holdings, a Chinese rival that owns the WeChat mobile-messaging system. Tencent has integrated e-commerce and financial services into recent versions of WeChat, encouraging uses as varied as department stores, municipal water and electricity departments and neighborhood bicycle repair shops and noodle stands.	不过，蚂蚁金服和支付宝依然面临着来自竞争对手腾讯控股的激烈竞争。腾讯拥有移动端即时通讯平台微信。在微信的最近几个版本中，腾讯加入了多项电子商务和金融服务，鼓励用户通过它们去连接百货商店和市政水电部门，乃至社区里的自行车修理铺和面点摊。
Ant Financial came into existence as a separate company amid controversy. Alibaba separated the two businesses in 2011, motivated, it said, by regulatory concerns. Yahoo, which then owned more than 40 percent of Alibaba, said it learned of the move only after it was completed.	蚂蚁金服是在争议声中成立的一家单独的公司。2011 年，阿里巴巴对两项业务进行了分离。阿里巴巴自称是出于监管方面的考虑才这么做的。当时持有阿里巴巴逾 40% 股份的雅虎(Yahoo)则称分离完成后才获悉此事。
As a result, investors did not get a share of that business when they bought shares of Alibaba in 2014, when it listed its shares publicly in the United States. At the time, many pointed to Ant as being in charge of some of the more innovative ideas that Alibaba had recently developed.	因此，当阿里巴巴 2014 年在美国首次公开募股时，投资者即使购买阿里巴巴的股票，也并不持有蚂蚁金服的股份。当时，很多迹象表明，阿里巴巴在那不久前形成的很多更有创新性的主意，均由蚂蚁金服负责。
/technology/20160427/t27db-ant	/technology/20160427/t27db-ant
India's Answer to Sex Attacks? Panic Buttons and GPS on All Phones	应对性犯罪，印度政府要求手机实现“一键”呼救

Officials in India hope to combat the threat of sexual violence against women and girls by requiring panic buttons to be installed in every new phone by January, and for every phone to be equipped with GPS by 2018.	印度官员希望能打击针对妇女和女孩的性暴力，方式是到明年1月为每台新手机配备紧急呼救按钮，以及到2018年，让所有出厂手机配有GPS功能。
The announcement in April by Ravi Shankar Prasad, India's minister of communications and information technology, means that manufacturers would have to create a button designed to alert the police and an owner's friends or relatives in the event of distress, or create a similar system that is activated by pressing the buttons 5 or 9. India does not yet have a nationwide emergency response number.	印度通信和信息技术部(Ministry of Communications and Information Technology)部长拉维·尚卡尔·普拉萨德(Ravi Shankar Prasad)在今年4月发布了这份声明，它意味着手机厂商将必须为自己出产的手机设计一个呼救按钮，让手机用户可以在遭遇危险时向警方、自己的朋友或亲友发出警报，或创建一个类似的系统，让用户可以通过按数字5或9来启动该系统。目前，印度还没有一个全国通用的应急响应号码。
It is not clear how this change would be put in effect or how manufacturers would create a panic button.	人们尚不清楚印度准备如何实现这一点，也不清楚手机厂商将如何设置紧急呼救按钮。
Two of the country's largest phone suppliers, Samsung and Apple, would not comment on the policy change. Lava, a fast-growing Indian telecommunications company; the Indian Cellular Association; and the Ministry of Communications and Information Technology also did not respond to multiple requests for comment.	在印度最大的几家手机供应商中，三星(Samsung)和苹果(Apple)不愿就此政策变化置评。业务快速增长的印度手机厂商Lava、印度手机协会(Indian Cellular Association)，以及印度通信和信息技术部也没有回应时报的置评请求。
Kiranjeet Kaur, an analyst with International Data Corporation, a global market research firm, said that India's requirement was rare in the global phone market, and that companies that build and sell low-cost phones in India might be affected more than large companies like Apple. He said that many phones sold in India cost less than $20 and were not equipped with features like GPS. Adding such functions, Mr. Kaur said, could raise the price of phones by at least 50 percent.	全球市场调研公司国际数据公司(International Data Corporation)的分析师基兰吉特·考尔(Kiranjeet Kaur)表示，印度的这类要求在全球手机市场中非常少见，而且在印度生产和销售低价位手机的企业所受影响可能会比苹果等大公司要更大。他表示在印度销售的手机有许多价格低于20美元，本身没有GPS之类的功能。考尔称，如果厂商为之添加此类功能，其售价可能上涨至少50%。
He noted that several companies already offered options like those	他还指出，有好几家公司已经提供了这些提议提及的配置选项。

proposed.
"There are a few apps that can be used on smartphones that serve the same function as a panic button," Mr. Kaur wrote in an email. "The Uber app in India has a S O S button, too. There are a couple of third-party apps, too, like the bSafe app. Motorola smartphones in India come with an emergency button option."	"有些可以在智能手机上使用的 app 能起到类似紧急呼救按钮的作用，"考尔在一封邮件中写道。"印度的 Uber 软件就有一个求救按钮。有好几个第三方软件也是如此，比如 bSafe。摩托罗拉在印度销售的手机也带有一个紧急求助按钮。"
But Maneka Sanjay Gandhi, India's minister of women and child development, said manufacturers were on board. She said in a statement that the requirements would create a "safety net" for women and girls, and thanked phone manufacturers for agreeing to bring about "historic change."	不过，印度妇女与儿童发展部(Minister of Women and Child Development)部长玛内卡·桑贾伊·甘地(Maneka Sanjay Gandhi)称，各个手机厂商已经表示会予以配合。她在一份声明中表示，这些要求将为妇女和女孩打造一个"安全网"，还对同意帮助实现"这一历史性改变"的手机厂商表示感谢。
India's wave of sexual assault has created an industry of companies that offer services to people who want to take their safety into their own hands — for a price.	印度不断爆出的性侵事件催生了一个行业，这些企业为想要掌控自身安全的人提供有偿服务。
One Touch Response, a subscription-based service, can deploy employees to escort people home or go to their aid when they are summoned via an app or a phone call.	采用订阅模式的"一键响应"(One Touch Response)服务可以派工作人员护送用户回家，或在用户通过 app 或拨打手机发出召唤时前去帮助他们。
Arvind Khanna, the company's founder, said in an email that the need for personal safety in India has created a $5 billion market that is growing by 20 percent a year.	该公司创始人阿尔温德·康纳(Arvind Khanna)在一封邮件中表示，保障个人安全的需求在印度催生了一个价值 50 亿美元的市场，而且这个市场的规模还在以每年 20% 的速度增长。
"We currently serve over 35,000 paid subscribers along with hundreds of 'Pay As You Go' users," he wrote. "Over 40 percent of our users are women."	"我们现在有 3.5 万名订阅用户和数百名'即付'用户，"他写道。"其中超过 40% 为女性。"
India is one of the fastest-growing markets for cell phones in the world, but in some cases, women are not allowed to carry them. In February,	印度是全球增长速度最快的手机市场之一，但在某些情况下，女性不被允许携带手机。今年 2 月，路透社曾报道，印度西部的几个村庄开始禁止妇女和

Reuters reported that several villages in western India had begun banning women and girls from using phones on the rationale that the devices interfered with their studies or allowed them to elope.	女孩使用手机，理由是这些设备会影响她们的学习，也会方便她们私奔。
"Let them study, get married, then they can get their own phones," Ranjit Singh Thakor, president of a local council, told the news service. "Until then, they can use their fathers' phones at home, if necessary."	"让她们先学习、结婚，然后才能拥有自己的手机，"一个当地委员会的主席兰吉特·辛格·撒克(Ranjit Singh Thakor)告诉路透社。"在那之前，如果有必要，她们可以在家使用父亲的手机。"
Also unanswered by officials is the matter of which service will answer the distress calls. A gang rape in 2012 drew a nationwide outcry, but Indian women who report their attacks still face understaffed police forces that operate on bribes, a court system that is backlogged with cases and a culture more focused on protecting the victims' modesty than with catching and prosecuting attackers.	这些官员同样没有答复的，是由哪个机构对呼救电话做出响应。2012年发生的一起轮奸事件曾在全国引发强烈抗议，然而举报自己遭遇的袭击的印度女性依然要面对人员不足且为执法行动索取贿赂的警方、案件长年堆积的法院，以及更注重维护受害人体面而非抓捕和起诉袭击者的文化。
"If you're a woman in distress, the last thing you want to do is go to the police," Vrinda Grover, a human rights lawyer based in New Delhi, told The New York Times in 2013.	"如果你是一名遇险的女性，你最不想做的就是报警，"新德里人权律师弗林达·格罗弗(Vrinda Grover)曾在2013年如此对《纽约时报》表示。
/technology/20160510/t10xp-indiaphone	/technology/20160510/t10xp-indiaphone
New Attack Reported on Global Bank Network	接连被盗，全球银行面临网络攻击风险
Thieves have again found their way into what was thought to be the most secure financial messaging system in the world and stolen money from a bank. The crime appears to be part of a broad computer attack on global banking.	盗贼再次入侵了据信是世界上最安全的金融电文系统，从一家银行偷走了钱。盗贼似乎在对全球银行开展广泛的计算机攻击，这起犯罪事件就属其一。
New details about a second attack involving the system, Swift — used by thousands of banks and companies to move money around the world — are emerging as investigators try to solve an $81 million heist from the central bank of Bangladesh in February.	数以千计的银行和公司使用 Swift 在世界各地调转资金，这已经是第二起涉及该系统的攻击，今年二月孟加拉国央行曾被盗走 8100 万美元，随着对该事件的调查深入，细节逐步浮现出来。

The second attack involves a commercial bank that Swift declined to identify. But in a letter Swift plans to share with its users on Friday, the messaging network warned that the two attacks had numerous similarities and were probably part of a “wider and highly adaptive campaign targeting banks.”	第二起攻击涉及一家商业银行，电文网络 Swift 拒绝透露其名字。但 Swift 计划在周五向用户发布公开信，警告大家这两起攻击事件有诸多相似之处，而且很可能从属于一个“更广泛的、适应力极强的银行盗窃行动”。
The unusual warning from Swift — a copy of which was reviewed by The New York Times — shows how serious the financial industry is treating these attacks. Swift said the thieves, possibly acting with help from bank employees, got their hands on network credentials, initiated fraudulent transfers, and installed malware on bank computers to disguise their actions.	《纽约时报》看到了这封信的副本，Swift 发出这样的警告不同寻常，它显示金融业对此类攻击严阵以待。Swift 说，盗贼可能与银行内应勾结，获得了网络凭证，然后发送欺诈性汇款，并且在银行的计算机里安装恶意软件来掩饰盗窃行动。
“The attackers clearly exhibit a deep and sophisticated knowledge of specific operation controls within the targeted banks — knowledge that may have been gained from malicious insiders or cyberattacks, or a combination of both,” Swift said in its warning, which is expected to be posted on a secure part of its website Friday morning.	“情况很清楚，攻击者非常了解目标银行的业务控制细节——可能是来自于银行内应，也可能是通过网络攻击方式获得的，或者两者皆有。”Swift 在警告中说。这封信计划于周五上午在其网站的安全版块中发布。
The security problems are not necessarily with the messaging network but with security controls at Swift’s bank customers. Criminals have found ways to exploit loopholes in bank security to gain computer access and dispatch fraudulent Swift messages.	安全问题不一定出在 Swift 身上，有可能是由于其银行客户的安全控制。罪犯已经找到了利用银行安全漏洞的方式，可以访问他们的计算机，并发送欺诈性的 Swift 电文。
/technology/20160513/t13db-swift	/technology/20160513/t13db-swift
Alibaba Faces U.S. Accounting Inquiry	阿里巴巴遭美国证交会调查
HONG KONG — The Alibaba Group, the e-commerce giant, said Wednesday that it was under investigation by United States securities regulators over its accounting practices, a potential setback for a	香港——周三，电子商务巨头阿里巴巴集团披露自己正在接受美国证券监管部门的调查，内容涉及其会计行为。对于这家长期被外界视为中国技术实力不断增长象征的企业而言，这或许是个挫折。

company long seen as a symbol of China's growing technological might.
The investigation — disclosed in a stock filing — appears to focus on how Alibaba deals with a web of companies in which it owns stakes or has some say in the operations. The company said the Securities and Exchange Commission was investigating how Alibaba accounts for affiliated companies, including a logistics venture, and how it treats related-party transactions.	此次调查通过证券备案的形式向公众披露,似乎针对的是阿里巴巴如何处理自身拥有股份或掌握了一定发言权的一系列公司。阿里巴巴表示,美国证券交易委员会(Securities and Exchange Commission)正在调查它对旗下一些公司的会计方式,以及它对关联方交易的处理。这些公司包括一家物流企业。
It also puts under scrutiny Alibaba's handling of Singles Day, a one-day shopping event in China that the company says gave it the world record for most online sales volume in a day. Alibaba said it had provided the commission with information about how it reported data from that event.	此外,调查内容还涉及阿里巴巴对“光棍节”的数据通报。“光棍节”是中国的单日购物活动,而阿里巴巴宣称这让它创下了24小时网络销售额的世界纪录。阿里巴巴称,公司向证券交易委员会提供了此次活动数据通报方式的相关信息。
Alibaba said that it was voluntarily cooperating with the commission, and that the investigation was not an indication it had violated any law.	阿里巴巴表示,正在主动配合委员会的调查,而调查本身并不说明它有任何违法行为。
Still, the disclosure risks tarnishing a rare Chinese company that has won global fame for its business acumen. Two years ago, Alibaba raised $25 billion in the world's largest initial public offering. Its executive chairman, Jack Ma, rubs elbows with global technology and political leaders. Last week, he attended a private lunch with President Obama at the White House.	不过,这一事实仍然可能让这家罕见地以其业务能力赢得全球知名度的中国企业形象受损。两年前,阿里巴巴上市时筹集了250亿美元,成就了世界上规模最大的首次公开募股。集团董事局主席马云与全球的科技业与政坛领袖交游往来。上周,他与奥巴马总统在白宫共进私人午餐。
But as Mr. Ma's profile has risen, Alibaba has grappled with challenges, including allegations from the owners of famous brands that it takes a lax stance on counterfeit goods on its sales platforms — a charge it denies.	然而,随着马云知名度的提升,阿里巴巴也在面临诸多挑战,包括不少知名品牌的拥有者指责它对其销售平台上的假货持宽容态度。对这样的指控,阿里巴巴予以了驳斥。

Its shares have also seesawed over investor concerns about China's slowing economic growth and Alibaba's enormous shopping spree to try to cater to the growing legions of Chinese consumers who order everything from taxis to in-home massages on their smartphones. The company has spent billions of dollars on services as varied as logistics, food delivery and film production.	公司的股价也在投资者的担忧中起起落落：一方面是中国经济增长在放缓；另一方面，阿里巴巴在大肆收购，试图以此满足不断壮大的中国消费者的需求。这些消费者在智能手机上订购各种服务，从打车，到上门按摩。阿里巴巴花费了数以十亿美元计的资金投入到跨度巨大的服务中，从物流、食品运输，到电影制作。
It is unclear whether the investigation will have an impact on Alibaba. Asked for comment, an Alibaba spokeswoman reiterated the company's statement to the commission.	目前尚不清楚此次调查是否会对阿里巴巴产生影响。接到置评请求时，阿里巴巴的一名女发言人重申了公司对证券交易委员会的声明。
Alibaba's share price has stabilized in recent months.	近几个月里，阿里巴巴的股价逐渐稳定下来。
In the most recent quarter, the company had strong revenue growth despite the broader worries about China's slowdown.	在最近的一个季度，尽管宏观层面上存在对中国经济放缓的担忧，但阿里巴巴交出了强劲的收入增长数据。
Alibaba is at the center of a complicated web of companies in China that broadly touch the lives of Chinese consumers.	阿里巴巴以自身为中心在中国构建了一个复杂的公司网络，广泛地介入到中国消费者的生活当中。
Mr. Ma also controls the parent company of an electronic payment service called Alipay. Alipay is a giant in its own right, with a financial smartphone app widely found on Chinese handsets and with offerings including money-market-like investments and easy money transfers. Chinese consumers often use Alipay to buy merchandise from Alibaba's platforms.	马云还控制着名为“支付宝”的电子支付服务的母公司。支付宝本身也是巨头，它的金融智能手机应用在中国的移动设备中随处可见，可以提供类似货币市场的投资和轻松转账等服务。中国消费者通常使用支付宝来购买阿里巴巴平台上的商品。
Alipay, which was valued at about $60 billion in its last fund-raising round, was once part of Alibaba but was peeled off into a separate company in 2011 in a move that spurred acrimony with Yahoo, then a major investor in the Chinese company.	在上轮融资中，支付宝的估值达 600 亿美元左右。它本来是阿里巴巴集团的一部分，但在 2011 年分离为独自的公司。此举惹恼了阿里巴巴当时的一个大投资方：雅虎(Yahoo)。
Alipay's parent company says that, to date, it has lent more than $100	支付宝的母公司表示，迄今为止借出了逾 1000 亿美元，其中多数贷给了小

billion, mostly to small businesses. Those businesses could spend that money on marketing on Alibaba's e-commerce sites, which would in turn become Alibaba revenue.	业主。这些业主或许会将这笔钱用于在阿里巴巴的电商网站上进行营销活动，从而又转化为阿里巴巴的收入。
According to data from Dealogic, Alibaba has also spent $25.5 billion since its listing in September 2014 to broaden its services to compete with Tencent and Baidu, fellow Chinese Internet giants that are scrambling to make money from a shift to mobile devices. Its key investments and acquisitions include its purchase of Youku Tudou, once a YouTube-like service that now streams movies and TV shows, and an investment in Koubei, a food-ordering app in which Alipay's parent company is also an investor.	根据 Dealogic 公布的数据，阿里巴巴自 2014 年 9 月上市以来花费了 255 亿美元来扩大服务版图，目的是与腾讯和百度竞争。这两家公司同样是中国互联网界的巨头，正在竞相从消费者向移动设备的转移中赚钱。阿里巴巴的主要投资与收购交易包括购入优酷土豆和入股口碑。前者曾经类似 YouTube，如今提供影视节目的流媒体服务。后者则是外卖应用，还接受了支付宝母公司的投资。
One focus of the S.E.C. investigation appears to be Alibaba's investment in logistics, which itself signaled a shift in its business approach. In its filing, Alibaba said it had provided information to the commission about its logistics arm, Cainiao.	证券交易委员会调查的一个侧重点似乎是阿里巴巴在物流领域的投资。这一投资本身就标志着它在生意手法上的转变。在备案文件中，阿里巴巴表示向委员会提供了有关旗下物流公司菜鸟的信息。
Alibaba has long eschewed building a logistics network to keep down costs. That approach has increased profit margins but made it more vulnerable to competitors with better control over delivery channels, which are underdeveloped in China.	为了压低成本，阿里巴巴一直没有打造自己的物流网络。这种做法提高了利润率，但让阿里巴巴在面对更好地掌控了送货渠道的竞争对手时处境不利。目前，中国的送货业务尚不发达。
As Chinese e-commerce rivals offered fast delivery, Cainiao was created in 2013 as a way to make Alibaba's logistics more efficient. Cainiao is jointly owned by Alibaba and a number of the logistics companies that deliver the bulk of the goods ordered on Alibaba's sales platforms, like Taobao and Tmall. At the time, Alibaba said Cainiao would spend up to $16 billion in developing smart logistics in China in	在中国的电商竞争者提供快速送货服务的背景下，菜鸟在 2013 年成立了，旨在提升阿里巴巴的物流效率。拥有菜鸟的除了阿里巴巴，还有多家物流公司。这些企业运送了阿里巴巴的淘宝和天猫等销售平台上的大量订购商品。当时，阿里巴巴表示，菜鸟将在未来投入至多 160 亿美元来开发中国的智能物流。

the coming years.
Mr. Ma was named as chairman when Cainiao was created, Alibaba holds a 47 percent stake in the company, and a number of companies Alibaba has invested in have since worked with Cainiao. Still, Alibaba does not consolidate Cainiao's results with its own.	菜鸟成立时，马云被任命为董事长，阿里巴巴持有该公司 47% 的股份。阿里巴巴投资的很多公司也纷纷与菜鸟合作。但阿里巴巴依然未将菜鸟和自己的业绩合并在一起。
That relationship has been questioned by some short-sellers and researchers. In a 40-page report released to its clients in October, Pacific Square Research, a market analysis firm, argued that Alibaba did not disclose enough information about its large number of investments. It said that at times Alibaba used that web of investments to control companies like Cainiao without taking their losses onto its balance sheet.	这种关系受到了一些卖空者和研究人员的质疑。去年 10 月，市场分析公司太平洋广场研究(Pacific Square Research)向客户发布了一份长达 40 页的报告，称阿里巴巴对自己的大量投资披露的信息不够。报告称，阿里巴巴有时会用投资网来控制像菜鸟这样的公司，而又不用将它们的亏损计入自己的资产负债表中。
The Alibaba spokeswoman said that the company had provided disclosures about Cainiao's financials in its most recent annual report. That "is exactly the kind of robust and transparent information that will address the underlying issues in the S.E.C.'s inquiry," she said.	阿里巴巴的发言人称，公司在距今最近的年报中公布了和菜鸟有关的财务信息。她说，那些“正是那种强有力的、透明的信息，将解决证券交易委员会的调查涉及的那些根本问题”。
Alibaba recorded losses of about $60 million over the past two years in connection to Cainiao, according to the filing.	相关文件显示，阿里巴巴记录了过去两年里和菜鸟相关的大约 6000 万美元亏损。
The Pacific Square report also described instances that it said showed Alibaba did not disclose related-party transactions. For example, it said that Alibaba had failed to disclose the amount it had spent in advertising on Weibo, the Chinese social-media service, even though at that time Alibaba had made a $1 billion investment in Weibo. By comparison, Weibo, also a listed company, disclosed the amount it had received from Alibaba.	太平洋广场的报告还给出了一些例子，称它们表明阿里巴巴未公布关联方交易。比如，报告称阿里巴巴未公布自己花在中国社交媒体新浪微博上的广告费用，尽管当时阿里巴巴在微博上投资了 10 亿美元。相比之下，同为上市公司的微博就公布了自己从阿里巴巴收到的资金。

In its most recent filing, Alibaba disclosed that it had spent about $230 million on Weibo marketing in the past three years.	在距今最近的文件中，阿里巴巴透露在过去三年里，其在微博营销上花了大约 2.3 亿美元。
"We haven't seen anything quite as difficult to untangle as this in our respective careers," Herb Greenberg, a managing partner of Pacific Square, wrote in an email. "In our view, Alibaba is like a big ball of wet knotted yarn."	"我们在各自的职业生涯中，从未遇到像这么难理清的情况，"太平洋广场的任事股东赫布·格林伯格(Herb Greenberg)在电子邮件中写道。"在我们看来，阿里巴巴就像是一大团湿乎乎、打着结的纱线。"
Asked about Pacific Square's assertions, the Alibaba spokeswoman said the company did not comment on market speculation.	被问及太平洋广场的说法时，阿里巴巴的发言人称公司对市场猜测不予置评。
/technology/20160526/t26db-alibaba	/technology/20160526/t26db-alibaba
Governments Turn to Commercial Spyware to Intimidate Dissidents	黑客软件被用于打击异见人士
SAN FRANCISCO — In the past five years, Ahmed Mansoor, a human-rights activist in the United Arab Emirates, has been jailed and fired from his job, along with having his passport confiscated, his car stolen, his email hacked, his location tracked and his bank account robbed of $140,000. He has also been beaten, twice, in the same week.	旧金山——在过去的五年中，阿拉伯联合酋长国的人权活动人士艾哈迈德·曼苏尔(Ahmed Mansoor)遭到过拘押、解雇、护照没收、车辆盗窃、电子邮件侵入、位置跟踪、银行帐户上的 14 万美元不翼而飞。他还曾在一周之内被两次殴打。
Mansoor's experience has become a cautionary tale for dissidents, journalists and human rights activists. It used to be that only a handful of countries had access to sophisticated hacking and spying tools. But these days, nearly all kinds of countries, be they small, oil-rich nations like the Emirates, or poor but populous countries like Ethiopia, are buying commercial spyware or hiring and training programmers to develop their own hacking and surveillance tools.	曼苏尔的经历成了异见者、记者和人权活动人士的一个警世寓言。之前只有少数几个国家能够拥有精密的网络攻击和间谍工具。但如今，几乎所有国家都在购买商业间谍软件，或是招聘和培训程序员来自主开发网络攻击与监控工具，无论是阿联酋这种盛产石油的小国家，还是埃塞俄比亚这种贫穷但人口众多的国家。
The barriers to join the global surveillance apparatus have never been lower. Dozens of companies, ranging from NSO Group and Cellebrite in Israel to Finfisher in Germany and Hacking Team in Italy, sell digital spy	加入全球监控机器的门槛从未如此之低。从以色列的 NSO 集团(NSO Group)与 Cellebrite，再到德国的 Finfisher 和意大利的黑客团队(Hacking Team)，有几十家公司在向政府兜售数字间谍工具。 tools to governments.

A number of companies in the United States are training foreign law enforcement and intelligence officials to code their own surveillance tools. In many cases these tools are able to circumvent security measures like encryption. Some countries are using them to watch dissidents. Others are using them to aggressively silence and punish their critics, inside and outside their borders.	不少美国公司在训练外国执法和情报官员来自行编写监控工具。很多时候, 这些工具能够绕过加密等安全措施。一些国家正在利用它们来监视异见者。另一些国家则用它们来对付境内外的批评者, 强势地让他们的声音无法传播, 或者是对他们施加惩罚。
"There's no substantial regulation," said Bill Marczak, a senior fellow at the Citizen Lab at the University of Toronto's Munk School of Global Affairs, who has been tracking the spread of spyware around the globe. "Any government who wants spyware can buy it outright or hire someone to develop it for you. And when we see the poorest countries deploying spyware, it's clear money is no longer a barrier."	"没有什么实质性的监管," 比尔·马尔恰克(Bill Marczak)说。"任何政府, 只要想获得间谍软件, 就可以直接购买, 或者雇人来开发。当我们看到最贫穷的国家都在部署间谍软件的时候, 显然资金不再成为障碍了。" 马尔恰克是多伦多大学(University of Toronto)蒙克全球事务学院公民实验室(Citizen Lab at Munk School of Global)的高级研究员, 一直在追踪间谍软件在全球各地的蔓延趋势。
Marczak examined Mansoor's emails and found that, before his arrest, he had been targeted by spyware sold by Finfisher and Hacking Team, which sell surveillance tools to governments for comparably cheap six- and seven-figure sums. Both companies sell tools that turn computers and phones into listening devices that can monitor a target's messages, calls and whereabouts.	马尔恰克检查了曼苏尔的电子邮件, 结果发现, 在他被捕之前, 他就已经遭到了 Finfisher 和黑客团队提供的间谍软件的侵入。这些企业以相对便宜的四五位数的价格向政府销售监控工具。这两家公司出售的工具能把计算机和手机变成监控工具, 可以掌握你的短信、来电和位置。
In 2011, in the midst of the Arab Spring, Mansoor was arrested with four others on charges of insulting Emirate rulers. He and the others had called for universal suffrage. They were quickly released and pardoned after international pressure.	2011年, 在"阿拉伯之春"期间, 曼苏尔与其他四人遭到逮捕, 罪名是侮辱该国统治者。这些人呼吁进行普选。在国际社会对该国施加压力后, 他们迅速获得释放和赦免。
But Mansoor's real troubles began shortly after his release. He was beaten and robbed of his car, and $140,000 was stolen from his bank	但是在曼苏尔出狱后不久, 他的麻烦才真正开始。他遭到了殴打, 他的车被抢劫, 他的银行账户被偷走了14万美元。直到一年后, 当马尔恰克在他的

account. He did not learn that he was being monitored until a year later, when Marczak found the spyware on his devices.	设备上发现了间谍软件时，他才知道自己遭到了监控。
"It was as bad as someone encroaching in your living room, a total invasion of privacy, and you begin to learn that maybe you shouldn't trust anyone anymore," Mansoor recalled.	"这就好像有人占据你的客厅一样，是对隐私的全面侵犯。你开始意识到，也许你不应该再相信任何人，"曼苏尔回忆说。
Marczak was able to trace the spyware back to the Royal Group, a conglomerate run by a member of the Al Nahyan family, one of the six ruling families of the Emirates. Representatives from the Emirates Embassy in Washington said they were still investigating the matter and did not return requests for further comment.	马尔恰克查找间谍软件的来源，追踪到了皇家集团(Royal Group)。这是位列阿联酋六大统治家族之一的纳哈扬家族成员旗下的一个企业集团。阿联酋驻华盛顿大使馆代表称他们仍在调查此事，没有回应进一步的置评请求。
Invoices from Hacking Team showed that through 2015, the Emirates were Hacking Team's second-biggest customers, behind only Morocco, and they paid Hacking Team more than $634,500 to deploy spyware on 1,100 people. The invoices came to light last year after Hacking Team itself was hacked and thousands of internal emails and contracts were leaked online.	黑客团队的发票显示，截至2015年，阿联酋是他们的第二大客户，仅次于摩洛哥。阿联酋向黑客团队支付了逾63.45万美元，在1100人那里部署了间谍软件。这些发票是去年曝光的，当时黑客团队本身遭到了黑客攻击，数以千计的内部电邮和合同被泄露到网上。
Eric Rabe, a spokesman for Hacking Team, said his company no longer had contracts with the Emirates. But that is in large part because Hacking Team's global license was revoked this year by the Italian Ministry of Economic Development.	黑客团队发言人埃里克·拉贝(Eric Rabe)表示，该公司没有和阿联酋再签合同。但是，这在很大程度上是因为黑客团队的全球执照今年遭到了意大利经济发展部的撤销。
For now, Hacking Team can no longer sell its tools outside Europe, and its chief executive, David Vincenzetti, is under investigation for some of those deals.	目前，黑客团队无法再向欧洲以外的地方出售监控工具，其首席执行官戴维·温琴泽蒂(David Vincenzetti)正因部分相关交易接受调查。
New evidence suggests to Marczak that the Emirates may now be developing their own custom spyware to monitor their critics at home	马尔恰克认为，新证据显示阿联酋目前可能在开发自己的定制间谍软件，以监控国内外的批评人士。

and abroad.
"The UAE has gotten much more sophisticated since we first caught them using Hacking Team software in 2012," Marczak said. "They've clearly upped their game. They're not on the level of the United States or the Russians, but they're clearly moving up the chain."	"自我们 2012 年第一次发现他们使用黑客团队的软件以来，阿联酋变得老练多了，"马尔恰克说。"他们的花招显然升级了。他们现在还没达到美国或俄罗斯的水平，但显然正在向上发展。"
Late last year, Marczak was contacted by Rori Donaghy, a London-based journalist who writes for the Middle East Eye, an online news site, and a founder of the Emirates Center for Human Rights, an independent organization that tracks human rights abuses in the Emirates. Donaghy asked Marczak to examine suspicious emails he had received from a fictitious organization called the Right to Fight. The emails asked him to click on links about a panel on human rights.	去年底，为新闻网站“中东之眼”(Middle East Eye)撰稿的驻伦敦记者罗里·多纳吉(Rori Donaghy)联系到马尔恰克。多纳吉是追踪阿联酋践踏人权情况的独立组织阿联酋人权中心(Emirates Center for Human Rights)的创始人。他请马尔恰克检查他从一个虚构的名为“斗争的权利”(Right to Fight)的组织收到的可疑电子邮件。那些邮件让他点击和一个人权委员会有关的链接。
Marczak found that the emails were laden with highly customized spyware, unlike the off-the-shelf varieties he has become accustomed to finding on the computers of journalists and dissidents. As Marczak examined the spyware further, he found that it was being deployed from 67 servers and that the emails had baited more than 400 people into clicking its links and unknowingly loading its malware onto their machines.	马尔恰克发现，那些邮件里充满了定制化程度很高的间谍软件，不同于他经常会在记者和异见人士的电脑上发现的那些现成的间谍软件。随着进一步检查，马尔恰克发现，这款间谍软件是从 67 个服务器上部署的，并且那些电子邮件已经诱使 400 多人点击链接，在毫不知情的情况下将恶意软件安装在了自己的电脑上。
He also found that 24 Emiratis were being targeted with the same spyware on Twitter. At least three of those targeted were arrested shortly after the surveillance began; another was later convicted of insulting Emirate rulers in absentia.	他还发现，Twitter 上也有 24 个阿联酋人成为这款间谍软件的攻击目标。至少其中三人在监控开始不久后被捕；另一人后来被缺席判定，侮辱阿联酋统治者的罪名成立。
Marczak and the Citizen Lab plan to release details of the custom Emirates spyware online Monday. He has developed a tool he called	马尔恰克和公民实验室计划周一把有关阿联酋那款定制监控软件的细节公布到网上。他开发出了一项工具，并起名为 Himaya——这是个阿拉伯语词，

Himaya — an Arabic word that roughly means “protection” — that will allow others to see if they are being targeted as well.	大致是“保护”的意思。这种工具可以让人们知道自己是否也是攻击目标。
Donaghy said he was frightened by Marczak’s findings, but not surprised.	多纳吉称，他被马尔恰克的发现吓到了，但并不感到吃惊。
“Once you dig beneath the surface, you find an autocratic state, with power centralized among a handful of people who have increasingly used their wealth for surveillance in sophisticated ways,” Donaghy said.	“一旦穿透表面，就会看到一个独裁政权，权力集中在少数几个人手里，他们越来越频繁地用手里的财富进行更复杂的监视，”多纳吉说。
/technology/20160530/t30dissidents	/technology/20160530/t30dissidents
Microsoft to Buy LinkedIn for $26.2 Billion	微软以 262 亿美元收购职业社交网站领英
SEATTLE — Microsoft said on Monday it was acquiring LinkedIn in a $26.2 billion cash deal.	西雅图——微软(Microsoft)周一称，将以 262 亿美元全现金收购领英(LinkedIn)。
The companies said that Microsoft had agreed to pay $196 a share to buy LinkedIn, a business social networking site that has more than 400 million members globally.	两家公司称，微软已同意以每股 196 美元的价格收购在全球拥有超过 4 亿成员的职业社交网站领英。
“The LinkedIn team has grown a fantastic business centered on connecting the world’s professionals,” Satya Nadella, Microsoft’s chief executive, said in a statement.	“通过联系全世界的专业人士，领英团队创造了出色的业务，”微软首席执行官萨蒂亚·纳德拉(Satya Nadella)在一份声明中称。
The companies said Reid Hoffman, a founder of LinkedIn and its controlling shareholder, had approved the deal, as did Jeff Weiner, the chief executive of LinkedIn. Mr. Weiner will remain chief executive of LinkedIn, which will operate as an independent brand, the companies said.	两家公司表示，领英的创始人之一、控股股东雷德·霍夫曼(Reid Hoffman)已经同意了这笔交易，领英的首席执行官杰夫·韦纳(Jeff Weiner)也表示同意。韦纳将继续担任领英的首席执行官。两家公司称，领英将作为独立的公司品牌运营。
LinkedIn shares had fallen by nearly half since a peak of almost $260 a share last fall and ended trading on Friday at $131.08.	自去年秋天的近 260 美元每股的峰值以来，领英的股价已经下跌了近一半，周五收市时报 131.08 美元每股。
/technology/20160613/microsoft-to-buy-linkedin-for-26-2-billion	/technology/20160613/microsoft-to-buy-linkedin-for-26-2-billion

For Microsoft, LinkedIn Deal Could Be a $26.2 Billion Time Machine	微软重金收购领英：科技公司重回高估价时代？
Microsoft's blockbuster $26.2 billion takeover of LinkedIn might be an attempt to travel through time. Specifically, to the heady heights of yesteryear's technology valuations.	微软(Microsoft)斥资 262 亿美元大手笔收购领英(LinkedIn)，或许是穿越时空的一种努力。更具体地讲，是回到科技企业估值高企的时代。
And if other beleaguered tech companies think that suitors will pay such handsome sums, more transactions may be coming down the pike.	如果其他处于困境的科技公司觉得潜在收购者也会出这么高的价钱，那么可能会有更多的交易接连出现。
How generous is Microsoft's takeover bid? It puts LinkedIn's enterprise value at 79 times the social network's earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, or Ebitda, for the 12 months that ended on March 31.	微软给出的收购价有多慷慨？它给领英的估值相当于这家社交网络截止到3月31日的12个月税息折旧及摊销前利润（简称Ebitda）的79倍。
On the basis of that multiple, the transaction is more expensive than any big internet deal paid with cash, according to data compiled by Bloomberg.	彭博(Bloomberg)统计的数据显示，在放大这么多倍的估值基础上，这项交易的价格比之前任何一桩以现金支付的互联网行业重磅收购都高。
Microsoft is paying $220 for each of LinkedIn's monthly active users. By comparison, when Facebook acquired WhatsApp for $19 billion two years ago, it spent $40 for every user.	微软获取领英月活跃用户的人均成本是220美元。相比之下，Facebook两年前以190亿美元收购WhatsApp时，为每个用户花费的资金是40美元。
For LinkedIn, the attractions of the deal are obvious: Its shares fell nearly 42 percent from the beginning of the year through last week, as investors expressed disappointment over a weak earnings forecast for 2016. Finding a buyer with deep pockets dulls the pain of being a publicly traded company.	对领英来说，达成这笔交易的好处显而易见：自今年初至上周，它的股价下跌了近42%，显示出投资者对该公司2016年走弱的营收预期的失望。找一个财力雄厚的买家，可以减轻一些做上市企业的痛苦。
Monday's deal wasn't the only richly valued technology takeover in recent days. On Sunday, Symantec said that it was buying Blue Coat, a provider of cybersecurity products, for $4.65 billion. That transaction	周一的交易不是最近几天出现的唯一一桩获得高估值的技术公司收购案。周日，赛门铁克(Symantec)表示计划以46.5亿美元收购网络安全产品供应商Blue Coat。这笔交易令Blue Coat的估值达到调整后的Ebitda的约20倍、

valued Blue Coat at roughly 20 times its adjusted Ebitda and nearly 7.8 times its sales.	年销售额的近 7.8 倍。
The question is whether other suitors will emerge with rich offers in hand.	问题在于，其他有意进行收购的公司是否会带着慷慨的收购要约出现。
One perennial subject of deal rumors is another social network: Twitter.	一个反复传出收购传言的对象是另一家社交网络：Twitter。
Shares of Twitter jumped nearly 7 percent in trading on Monday, borne aloft by investors' hopes that the struggling tech company might finally receive a takeover offer. Twitter shares have fallen 64 percent since the company went public in 2013, as the social network has struggled to show growth in the face of tough competition from the likes of Facebook and Snapchat.	周一，Twitter 的股价飙升了近 7%。投资者希望这家苦苦挣扎的技术公司终于能拿到收购要约，将它的股价架在了高空。自 2013 年上市以来，Twitter 的股价下跌了 64%。在与 Facebook 和 Snapchat 等企业的激烈竞争之中，这家社交网络难以显示出增长。
Potential buyers for Twitter include Google and Facebook, analysts say, though they caution that Twitter's valuation may need to fall more before a suitor steps up.	分析师表示，Twitter 的潜在买家包括谷歌(Google)和 Facebook，不过他们也提醒，可能要等 Twitter 的估值再降一些，买家才会出现。
At the price-to-sales multiple that Microsoft is paying for LinkedIn, roughly 7.2 times the social network's revenue for the last 12 months, Twitter would fetch roughly $18.7 billion — or nearly double its current market value of $10 billion.	按照微软为收购领英支付的收入倍数计算——这家社交网络公司过去 12 个月营收的大约 7.2 倍——Twitter 的收购价将达到 187 亿美元左右，几乎是它目前市值的两倍。
Some are skeptical, though, that the combination of Microsoft and LinkedIn (at that price) makes sense. No one wants to consummate the last big deal before a sector collapses — as was the case in 2000 when Time Warner merged with AOL, a $165 billion internet deal that became a nightmare after the tech bubble burst.	不过，一些人对这桩交易持怀疑态度，觉得微软和领英（以那样的高价）组合有些说不通。没人想做一个行业溃败之前的最后一宗大交易——就像 2000 年时代华纳(Time Warner)与美国在线(AOL)合并的情况，这桩价值 1650 亿美元的收购案在互联网泡沫破灭之后成了一个噩梦。
Microsoft's bet on LinkedIn — which less than five months ago was trading above the acquisition price of $196 a share — suggests that tech	微软下注领英——不到五个月前还在以高于每股 196 美元的收购价进行交易——显示出科技行业还有增长的空间，尽管一些唱空的人士在预测另一个泡

has more room to run, even as some bears are projecting that another bubble is bound to pop.	沫即将破灭。
"Microsoft just paid on the assumption that we're going back to the multiples we had a year ago, but I don't think that's happening," said Max Wolff, chief economist at Manhattan Venture Partners.	"微软不过是基于一种设想进行投资, 认为我们将回到一年前的那种估值倍数, 但我并不觉得还会出现这种情况," 曼哈顿创投公司(Manhattan Venture Partners)首席经济师麦克斯·沃尔夫(Max Wolff)说。
/technology/20160614/for-microsoft-linkedin-deal-could-be-a-26-2-billion-time-machine	/technology/20160614/for-microsoft-linkedin-deal-could-be-a-26-2-billion-time-machine
Tencent Nears Deal to Buy Supercell, Maker of Clash of Clans	腾讯拟重金收购芬兰手游公司
One of China's internet giants, Tencent, is near a deal to buy control of Supercell, the maker of the popular Clash of Clans game, in a transaction that would value the Finnish game company at more than $9 billion, a person briefed on the matter said on Wednesday.	知情人士周三透露, 中国网络巨头腾讯接近达成收购芬兰手游公司 Supercell 多数股权的协议, 后者是热门游戏《部落冲突》(Clash of Clans) 的开发商。在该项收购中, Supercell 的估值将超过 90 亿美元。
If completed, the deal would show the growing might of China's online behemoths. Tencent, along with Alibaba and Baidu, has become a sprawling empire of internet businesses. With a market value of about $211 billion, Tencent controls WeChat, the popular messaging service in China, as well as a number of online multiplayer games hosted through its QQ portal.	这项交易一旦达成, 将会展示出中国网络巨头日益增长的实力。腾讯同阿里巴巴和百度一起, 已经成为了一个庞大的互联网商业王国。腾讯控股目前市值约为 2110 亿美元, 旗下包括在中国颇受欢迎的即时通讯服务微信, 以及在 QQ 平台上发布的数款网络多人游戏。
A deal for Supercell would be the biggest takeover by any of China's so-called BAT trio of Baidu, Alibaba and Tencent, according to data from Standard & Poor's Global Market Intelligence.	据标准普尔全球市场情报(S&P Global Market Intelligence)的数据, 这项购买 Supercell 的交易, 将会成为百度、阿里巴巴和腾讯——中国所谓的 BAT——所完成的最大的一笔收购交易。
Buying Supercell, which has produced a string of mobile game hits with Clash of Clans, Hay Day and Clash Royale, would further bolster Tencent's presence in the mobile game market. Tencent is already China's dominant online game company, accounting for about 32	收购 Supercell 这样一家曾出产生过《部落冲突》、《Hay Day》和《部落冲突: 皇室战争》(Clash Royale)等多个手游的公司, 将会进一步扩大腾讯目前在手机游戏市场中所占的份额。腾讯目前已经是在中国占主导地位的网络游戏公司。市场研究公司 Niko Partners 称, 2015 年, 腾讯从中国的网络游戏市

percent of revenue from the country's online game market in 2015, according to Niko Partners, a research firm. The company also owns Riot Games, the maker of League of Legends, a blockbuster PC battle game with an estimated 98.4 million players and $150 million a month in revenue, according to SuperData Research.	场中获得的收益份额约占 32%。除此之外，腾讯还持有 Riot Games ——热门电脑游戏《英雄联盟》(League of Legends)的开发商——的控股权。据研究公司 SuperData,《英雄联盟》约有 9840 万玩家，每月收益 1.5 亿美元。
Supercell is one of a handful of standout successes in the mobile game business, where it has proved difficult for many companies to make money – or at least to hold on to their prosperity. Clash of Clans, Supercell's best-known game, was introduced nearly four years ago and has remained one of the most popular apps for smartphones and tablets.	Supercell 是少数几家在手游业务上取得成功的公司之一。很多公司都难以从手机游戏上赚钱——或者至少坚持到繁荣发展的时刻。《部落冲突》作为 Supercell 最著名的游戏，在近四年前被引入市场，此后一直都是在智能手机和平板电脑上最受欢迎的游戏应用之一。
On Apple's App Store, Clash of Clans is currently the fourth-highest-grossing app in the United States, while Clash Royale is No. 7. Both games are free, but like nearly all of the most lucrative mobile titles today, they generate revenue through microtransactions – purchases of virtual currency that help players advance more quickly.	在苹果的应用商店里，《部落冲突》目前在美下载总量排行榜上名列第四，《部落冲突：皇室战争》排列第七。两款游戏都是免费下载，但像如今几乎所有最赚钱的移动应用一样，他们的盈利都是通过微型交易获得的——玩家通过购买虚拟货币，来帮助自己在游戏中更快升级。
And players buy a lot of virtual goodies from Supercell. In March, the company reported revenue of $2.33 billion for 2015, up from $1.78 billion the previous year, and earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortization of $964 million, up from $592 million. It said at the time that it had only 180 employees, relatively few for a company of its financial scale.	玩家会从 Supercell 中购买许多虚拟的货币和装备。今年 3 月份，公司报告称 2015 年盈利 23.3 亿美元，比上一年 17.8 亿美元的营收有所增加。将利息、税、折旧和摊销等包含在内，总共的收益是 9.64 亿美元，多于去年的 5.92 亿美元。而且公司表示当时只有 180 名雇员，以其资金规模来看人数相当精简。
In April, Supercell was making just under $4 million a day in revenue from Clash of Clans, SuperData Research estimates. In 2015, Supercell introduced Clash of Clans in China.	4 月份，据研究公司 SuperData 估计，Supercell 每天从《部落冲突》游戏中获得的收入不到 400 万美元。2015 年，Supercell 将这款游戏引入了中国。

Under terms of the proposed deal, Tencent would buy the roughly 73 percent stake in Supercell that is currently held by SoftBank, the Japanese telecommunications provider, said the person who was briefed and who spoke on condition of anonymity. Supercell's founders would remain at the company.	一位不愿透露姓名的消息人士称，根据草拟的协议规定，腾讯会收购日本电信运营商软银(SoftBank)旗下的 Supercell 约 73%的股份。Supercell 的创始团队将继续留在公司。
A representative for Supercell declined to comment. Representatives for Tencent and SoftBank could not be reached.	Supercell 的代表拒绝对此置评，同时也无法联系到腾讯和软银的代表。
/technology/20160616/tencent-nears-deal-to-buy-supercell-maker-of-clash-of-clans	/technology/20160616/tencent-nears-deal-to-buy-supercell-maker-of-clash-of-clans
The First Big Company to Say It's Serving the Legal Marijuana Trade? Microsoft.	微软涉足大麻产业，打破大企业“叶子”禁忌
As state after state has legalized marijuana in one way or another, big names in corporate America have stayed away entirely. Marijuana, after all, is still illegal, according to the federal government.	尽管以这种或那种方式实现大麻合法化的州一个接一个地出现，美国的大牌企业依旧对大麻敬而远之。毕竟，根据联邦政府的规定，它依旧是非法的。
But Microsoft is breaking the corporate taboo on pot this week by announcing a partnership to begin offering software that tracks marijuana plants from "seed to sale," as the pot industry puts it.	但微软(Microsoft)正在打破企业界对“叶子”的禁忌。该公司于本周宣布了一个合作项目，将开始提供相关的大麻监控软件，用这个行业的话说，进行“从种子到销售”的全程追踪。
The software — a new product in Microsoft's cloud computing business — is meant to help states that have legalized the medical or recreational use of marijuana keep tabs on sales and commerce, ensuring that they remain in the daylight of legality.	这款软件是微软云计算业务部门的新产品，旨在帮助已经实现医用或娱乐用大麻合法化的州严密追踪大麻的销售与贸易，确保相关运作处于法律的阳光之下。
But until now, even that boring part of the pot world was too controversial for mainstream companies. It is apparent now, though, that the legalization train is not slowing down: This fall, at least five states, including the biggest of them all — California — will vote on	但直到现在，即便是“叶子”世界中这一最平淡的部分，对主流企业而言也太具争议性。不过，大麻合法化的列车目前显然并未减速：今年秋天，至少有五个州——它们中最大的是加州——将投票决定是否让娱乐用大麻合法化。

whether to legalize marijuana for recreational use.
So far, only a handful of smaller banks are willing to offer accounts to companies that grow or sell marijuana, and Microsoft will not be touching that part of the business. But the company's entry into the government compliance side of the business suggests the beginning of a legitimate infrastructure for an industry that has been growing fast and attracting lots of attention, both good and bad.	迄今为止，只有少数小银行愿意为种植或销售大麻的企业开立户头，而微软不会涉及那些业务。但该公司从政府合规领域切入大麻业，意味着一个增长迅猛、吸引了大量正面和负面关注的行业，开始进行有助于引导其走上合法合规之路的基础建设。
"We do think there will be significant growth," said Kimberly Nelson, the executive director of state and local government solutions at Microsoft. "As the industry is regulated, there will be more transactions, and we believe there will be more sophisticated requirements and tools down the road."	"我们确信会有大幅增长，"微软的州及地方政务解决方案部门的执行董事金伯利·纳尔逊(Kimberly Nelson)说。"在这一行业受到监管的同时，交易量会变大；我们认为在此过程中会出现更为复杂的要求和工具。"
Microsoft's baby step into the business came through an announcement on Thursday that it was teaming up with a Los Angeles startup, Kind, that built the software the tech giant will begin marketing. Kind — one of many small companies trying to take the marijuana business mainstream — offers a range of products, including ATM-style kiosks that facilitate marijuana sales, working through some of the state-chartered banks that are comfortable with such customers.	微软在周四宣布了试水大麻业的消息。这家科技巨擘称其正与洛杉矶初创企业 Kind 合作，即将着手推广后者开发的这款软件。许多小企业都在尝试把大麻生意带上更加主流的道路，Kind 便是其中之一。它推出了一系列产品，其中包括让大麻销售变得更加便利的 ATM 式贩售机，其运行以一些愿意跟这类客户打交道的州立银行为依托。
Microsoft will not be getting anywhere near these kiosks or the actual plants. Rather, it will be working with Kind's "government solutions" division, offering software only to state and local governments that are trying to build compliance systems.	微软不会与这些贩售机或实体的大麻植物产生交集。而是要跟 Kind 的"政务解决方案"部门合作，为正在竭力打造合规体系的州及地方政府提供软件。
But for the young and eager legalized weed industry, Microsoft's willingness to attach its name to any part of the business is a big step	但对年轻而情绪高涨的合法大麻业而言，不论微软愿意让自己的名号与这一产业的哪个部分发生关联，都是往前迈了一大步。

forward.
"Nobody has really come out of the closet, if you will," said Matthew A. Karnes, the founder of Green Wave Advisors, which provides data and analysis of the marijuana business. "It's very telling that a company of this caliber is taking the risk of coming out and engaging with a company that is focused on the cannabis business."	"可以这么说吧，还没有人真的从柜中走出来，"提供大麻业务相关数据和分析的绿浪咨询公司(Green Wave Advisors)创始人马修·A·卡恩斯(Matthew A. Karnes)说。"一家如此级别的企业正冒着风险走出来，跟一家致力于大麻业务的企业建立联系，这很能说明问题。"
David Dinenberg, founder and chief executive of Kind, said it had taken a long time — and a lot of courting of big-name companies — to persuade the first one to get on board.	Kind 创始人及首席执行官大卫·迪南伯格(David Dinenberg)说，在花费了很长时间，并向许多大牌企业抛出橄榄枝之后，Kind 终于说服了第一家大企业入伙。
"Every business that works in the cannabis space, we all clamor for legitimacy," said Dinenberg, a former real estate developer in Philadelphia who moved to California to start Kind. "I would like to think that this is the first of many dominoes to fall."	"我们大麻行业内的每一家企业，全都急迫地想要获得合法性，"迪南伯格说。"我觉得这是第一张倒下的多米诺骨牌"。迪南伯格曾是费城的房地产开发商，后来搬到加利福尼亚，创办了 Kind。
It's hard to know if other corporate giants have provided their services in more quiet ways to cannabis purveyors. New York state, for instance, has said it is working with Oracle to track medicinal marijuana patients. But there appears to be little precedent for a big company advertising its work in the space. It is still possible — though considered unlikely — that the federal government could decide to crack down on the legalization movement in the states.	现在很难知道其他大企业是否正以不那么引人注目的方式为大麻供应商提供服务。例如，纽约州曾经表示，正与甲骨文(Oracle)合作，追踪使用医用大麻的病人。但目前似乎基本没有哪家大公司公开宣称自己涉足了这个行业的哪项业务。还存在一种可能性——尽管被认为不大靠谱：联邦政府可能决定打压各州的大麻合法化运动。
Stores that sell pot have been particularly hobbled by the unwillingness of banks to deal with the money flowing through the industry. Many dispensaries have been forced to rely on cash for all transactions, or looked to startups like Kind, with its kiosks that take payments inside dispensaries.	银行不愿处理流经大麻业的资金，使得出售大麻的店铺尤为举步维艰。许多药房不得不以现金结算所有交易，或者仰仗 Kind 这类初创企业。使用 Kind 的贩售机，可以在药房内付款。

Governments, too, have generally been relying on smaller startups to help develop technology that can track marijuana plants and sales. A Florida software company, BioTrackTHC, is helping Washington state, New Mexico and Illinois monitor the marijuana trade inside their states.	政府部门也基本在依靠小型初创企业帮助开发可以追踪大麻植物和销售情况的技术。佛罗里达州的软件公司 BioTrackTHC 正帮助华盛顿州、新墨西哥州和伊利诺伊州监控州内的大麻贸易。
Kind has no state contracts. But it has already applied, with Microsoft, to provide its software to Puerto Rico, which legalized marijuana for medical purposes earlier this year.	Kind 手上没有政府合约。但它已经和微软一起申请，要为波多黎各提供软件。波多黎各于今年早些时候实现了医用大麻合法化。
Twenty-five states have now legalized marijuana in some form or another, with Pennsylvania and Ohio the most recent. The biggest business opportunity, though, will come from states that allow recreational use of the drug, as Colorado, Oregon and Washington already do.	目前共有 25 个州以这样或那样的形式实现了大麻合法化，最新加入该阵营的是宾夕法尼亚州和俄亥俄州。不过，最大的商业机会将来自像科罗拉多州、俄勒冈州和华盛顿州一样让娱乐用大麻合法化的州。
This fall, five states — including, most significantly, California — will vote on whether to join that club.	今年秋天，将有五个州——包括最引人瞩目的加利福尼亚州——就是否加入这一俱乐部进行投票。
Karnes, the analyst, said he expected legal marijuana sales to jump to $6.5 billion this year, from $4.8 billion last year. He says that number could climb to $25 billion by the year 2020 if California voters approve the recreational measure this year, as is widely expected.	分析师卡恩斯预计，合法的大麻销售收入会从去年的 48 亿美元猛增至今年的 65 亿美元。他说，如果加州选民今年如外界普遍预期的那样投票通过娱乐用大麻合法化议案，到 2020 年，这一数字可能会上升至 250 亿美元。
The opening up of the market in California is already leading to a scramble for the big money that is likely to follow, and Microsoft will now be well placed to get in on the action.	加州市场的开放正在引发对可能出现的大笔利润的争夺，而微软已经为加入战团占据了有利地位。
/technology/20160617/microsoft-following-the-clouds-to-offer-marijuana-tracking-software	/technology/20160617/microsoft-following-the-clouds-to-offer-marijuana-tracking-software
Midea of China Moves a Step Closer to Takeover of Kuka of Germany	美的收购德国机器人公司在德遭遇政治阻力
HONG KONG — A Chinese appliance maker has struck a $1.3 billion deal	香港——中国一家家电制造商已经达成了一项 13 亿美元的协议，距离接管一

that brings it closer to taking over a German robotics company, a proposed transaction that has stirred concerns in Germany about Chinese purchases of the country's industrial skills.	家德国机器人公司更进了一步。这个拟议中的交易引发了德国的担心，中国收购该国工业技术的势头令他们不安。
Voith, a German mechanical engineering company, said on Sunday that it had reached agreement to sell its roughly one-quarter stake in Kuka, a German robotics company, to Midea of China. The transaction, worth 1.2 billion euros, or about $1.3 billion, takes Midea a step closer to purchasing all of Kuka, which could be the biggest takeover of a Germany company by a Chinese buyer.	德国机械工程公司福伊特(Voith)上周日表示，它已达成协议，将其在德国机器人公司库卡(Kuka)持有的大约四分之一股份出售给中国的美的。该交易价值12亿欧元，令美的离全部收购库卡股份更近了一步，这可能会成为最大的一宗中国收购德国公司的案例。
Midea — which manufactures consumer electronics like air-conditioners and rice cookers — holds 13.5 percent of Kuka shares and will become the largest shareholder, once it acquires Voith's stake.	美的是一家生产消费类电子产品的公司，比如空调和电饭煲。目前它持有库卡13.5%的股票，但在收购福伊特的股权之后，就会成为库卡的最大股东。
The deal has encountered political resistance in Germany, where politicians wanted Kuka to remain an independent German brand. Sigmar Gabriel, the German minister for economic affairs and energy, spoke out broadly last month against Chinese purchases of German companies, citing the Chinese government's direct role in its economy.	这笔交易在德国遇到了政治阻力，地方政界人士希望库卡继续作为一个独立的德国品牌经营下去。德国经济部长西格玛尔·加布里尔(Sigmar Gabriel)上个月明确表达了对中国收购德国公司的反对，并提到了中国政府在其经济中的直接作用。
During a visit to China last month, Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany said that she would not block the deal, but she also said that nothing was stopping a German bidder from emerging.	上个月访问中国期间，德国总理默克尔表示，她不会阻止这笔交易，但她也说，并没有什么在阻止德国公司参与竞价。
After Midea made promises to shield Kuka's data and keep its business locations and jobs in place, Kuka's board recommended last week that shareholders accept the offer. Kuka said that its industrial property rights and the data of its customers and suppliers would be protected by the agreement and that Midea would not be able to gain access to or	美的承诺要保护库卡的数据，并维持其运营所在地和工作岗位不变，库卡的董事会上周建议股东接受收购要约。库卡表示，其工业知识产权，以及其客户和供应商数据可以通过协议得到保护，美的无法访问或移动数据库。 move databases.

"We conducted intensive negotiations with Midea and ensured that the announced assurances have now been made legally binding," said Till Reuter, Kuka's chief executive. "It protects the interests of our company, our business partners, our employees and our shareholders until well into the next decade."	"我们与美的进行了深入谈判，确保条款具有法律约束力，"库卡首席执行官蒂尔·劳伊特(Till Reuter)说。"它将保护我们的公司、我们的业务合作伙伴以及我们的员工和股东的利益，这种保护会一直持续到下一个十年。"
Robots made by Kuka, based in Augsburg, Germany, have already helped Midea, which employs about 100,000 people, to reduce its staff as part of its efforts to automate more of its production lines.	库卡总部位于德国奥格斯堡，它制造的机器人已经帮助拥有约 10 万员工的美的减少了人员数量，美的正努力在更多的生产线上推进自动化。
Midea, based in Foshan, China, said it would support Kuka's efforts to expand in China and would work with it to move into making service robots for consumers.	美的总部位于中国佛山，它表示将支持库卡在中国的扩张，并与之合作，推出面向消费者的服务型机器人。
The deal highlights China's interest both in German companies as acquisition targets and in the machinery sector. China's deals with Germany have increased in number to 25 so far this year from 11 for the period in 2015, according to data from Dealogic.	这宗交易突显了中国对收购德国公司乃至机械行业的兴趣。调研公司 Dealogic 的数据显示，今年迄今为止中国与德国的交易总量已达 25 宗，而 2015 年的这一时期，交易量为 11 宗。
Midea had built up a stake in Kuka before making a €4.6 billion takeover offer in June. The offer, still on the table, of €115 per share represented a premium of nearly 60 percent over Kuka's closing price on Feb. 3, before Midea increased its stake. Kuka shares closed Friday at €106.525.	在今年六月提出 46 亿欧元的收购要约之前，美的已经掌握了一些库卡股份。这个每股 115 欧元的报价目前依然有效，相对 2 月 3 日美的增持股份之前库卡的收盘价溢价近 60%。库卡的股价上周五报收 106.525 欧元。
/technology/20160705/germany-china-midea-kuka-technology-robotics	/technology/20160705/germany-china-midea-kuka-technology-robotics
A Sad Day for Punchers: BlackBerry to Discontinue Its Last Keyboard Phone	实体键盘终成绝唱：黑莓经典款将停产
The struggling Canadian smartphone maker BlackBerry made a sharp	周二，艰难挣扎的加拿大智能手机制造商黑莓(BlackBerry)大幅度改变一贯

detour from its history on Tuesday with the announcement that it was discontinuing the last phone to have the company's iconic physical keyboard and trackpad.	路线，宣布停止生产最后一款拥有该公司标志性实体键盘和触控板的手机。
"Sometimes it can be very tough to let go," Ralph Pini, BlackBerry's chief operating officer and general manager for devices, wrote in a corporate blog post announcing the end of the BlackBerry Classic. "For BlackBerry, and more importantly for our customers, the hardest part in letting go is accepting that change makes way for new and better experiences."	"有时放弃很难，"黑莓的首席运营官兼电子设备总经理拉尔夫·皮尼(Ralph Pini)在公司博客上宣布黑莓经典(BlackBerry Classic)停产的帖子中写道，"对黑莓来说，更重要的是对我们的顾客来说，放弃最难的一点是接受变化将带来更新更好的体验。"
The Classic was introduced in late 2014 by BlackBerry to win back users who prefer plastic keys and trackpads to the touch screens that dominate the operation of its newer models, even ones with keyboards.	经典款是黑莓 2014 年底推出的，目的是重新赢得那些偏爱塑料按键和触控板，而不喜欢触摸屏的用户。在黑莓较新的机型上，主要的操作已经在使用触摸屏，甚至包括仍然有实体键盘的机型。
Because the company does not break out sales of individual models, it is impossible to judge the Classic's reception. But BlackBerry's phone business is generally unprofitable and declining.	因为该公司不公布每款手机单独的销量，所以无法判断经典款的受欢迎程度。不过，黑莓的手机业务总体来说没有利润，销量下滑。
Late last month, BlackBerry announced a quarterly loss of $670 million. That was about three times the company's loss in the previous quarter and largely reflected write-downs in the value of its phone business.	上月下旬，黑莓宣布在第一个财务季度亏损 6.7 亿美元，大约是上一财季亏损额的三倍，这在很大程度上反映出该公司手机业务的贬值。
The Classic ran the BlackBerry 10 operating system, which the company had hoped would again make it a vibrant force in smartphones. But it has since turned its attention to phones based on Google's Android software.	经典款使用的是黑莓 10 操作系统，公司曾希望该系统能再次让它成为智能手机市场上的强手。不过后来，公司的注意力又转向了使用谷歌 Android 系统的手机。
Mr. Pini's post made no mention of the fate of the other BlackBerry 10 models, which still appeared on the company's website Tuesday evening.	皮尼的博客帖子没有提及其他基于黑莓 10 系统的机型的命运。周二晚上，它们依然出现在该公司的网站上。
He did acknowledge, however, that some customers may still refuse to	不过他承认，不管该公司有什么计划，有些顾客可能会依然拒绝放弃传统的

give up on the traditional BlackBerry shape regardless of the company's plans.	黑莓造型。
Die-hards were encouraged by Mr. Pini to see if their carriers still had Classics available. He added that BlackBerry had some remaining stock on sale online.	皮尼鼓励死忠粉去看看他们的运营商是否仍供应经典款。他还补充说，黑莓还有些库存经典款在网上销售。
/technology/20160706/a-sad-day-for-punchers-blackberry-to-discontinue-its-last-keyboard-phone	/technology/20160706/a-sad-day-for-punchers-blackberry-to-discontinue-its-last-keyboard-phone
Chinese Group to Pay $4.4 Billion for Caesars' Mobile Games	中资财团 44 亿美元收购赌博类游戏开发商
HONG KONG — Gambling may be illegal in mainland China, but that is not stopping Chinese tech investors from betting on casino-style mobile games.	香港——赌博在中国大陆或许是非法的，但这并不能阻止中国科技行业的投资者押注于赌场类手机游戏。
In the most recent example in a growing trend of big deals for smartphone-based games, a consortium of Chinese investors led by the game company Shanghai Giant Network Technology said in a statement on Saturday that it would pay $4.4 billion to Caesars Interactive Entertainment for Playtika, its social and mobile games unit. Caesars Interactive is controlled by the owners of Caesars Palace and other casinos in Las Vegas and elsewhere.	在智能手机游戏领域，大宗并购交易正呈现日益增多之势，最新的一个例子是，由上海巨人网络科技有限公司领衔的中国投资者组成的一个财团于上周六发表声明称，将斥资 44 亿美元收购美国凯撒互动娱乐(Caesars Interactive Entertainment)旗下社交和手机游戏部门 Playtika。凯撒互动娱乐受控于拉斯维加斯等地的凯撒宫(Caesars Palace)等赌场的所有者。
The Chinese consortium — which also includes Yunfeng Capital, the private equity fund of Jack Ma, the chairman of Alibaba — said it would allow Playtika, based in Israel, to continue to operate independently. The all-cash deal, which is expected to close by the end of the year, does not include Caesars Interactive's World Series of Poker game or its other real-money game businesses.	该财团包括阿里巴巴董事局主席马云的私募股权基金云峰资本，表示将让总部位于以色列的 Playtika 继续独立运营。这笔全现金交易预计将于今年年底完成，凯撒互动娱乐的游戏《世界扑克巡回赛》(World Series of Poker)以及其他真钱游戏业务不在交易范围内。
In recent years, the Montreal-based Caesars Interactive has built	总部位于蒙特利尔的凯撒互动娱乐于 2011 年收购了 Playtika，近几年来已

Playtika, which it acquired in 2011, into a major player in the world of smartphone-based casino-style games. While many of Playtika's games, like Slotomania and Bingo Blitz, are free to play, users can also pay for virtual currency and items to enhance play. The virtual currency used in Playtika games will continue to be not exchangeable for real money, according to the statement.	经将其打造成了赌场类手机游戏领域的一个主要参与者。Playtika 的许多游戏，比如《Slotomania》和《Bingo Blitz》，都可以免费玩，但为了提升能力，玩家也可以购买虚拟货币和物品。根据前述声明，Playtika 旗下游戏中所用的虚拟货币将依旧不能兑换真钱。
While it is not clear when or whether Chinese regulators will accept gambling-style games, the Chinese investment is an example of how internet companies in China often invest first and then worry about legal restrictions. It is also a sign that investors are willing to pay increasingly large sums for smartphone games, which have proved to be one of the best ways to make money from users.	目前尚不清楚，中国监管机构将在何时接受、或者是否会接受赌博类游戏。但中国互联网公司常常先投资，再去考虑法律方面的限制，中国财团的这次投资就是一个例证。它还表明，投资者愿意把越来越大手笔的投资投向手机游戏，因为事实证明，这类游戏是从用户那里赚钱的最佳工具之一。
In June, the Chinese internet giant Tencent said it would pay $8.6 billion for a controlling stake in the Finnish game maker Supercell, which makes the popular smartphone game Clash of Clans. Late last year, the American video game powerhouse Activision Blizzard said it would pay about $6 billion for King Digital, maker of Candy Crush.	今年 6 月，中国互联网巨头腾讯表示，将斥资 86 亿美元控股芬兰游戏开发商 Supercell，广受欢迎的智能手机游戏《部落冲突》(Clash of Clans)就是由后者推出的。去年年底，美国视频游戏巨头动视暴雪公司(Activision Blizzard)称，将以 60 亿美元收购《糖果传奇》(Candy Crush)的开发商国王数码娱乐公司(King Digital)。
While social networking apps may be more popular, mobile games like Clash of Clans and Candy Crush are some of the most profitable apps around. In China, where playing games on a smartphone can often stand in for other entertainment, like going to a movie, technology companies have competed intensely to lure players and the spare change those players are willing to spend on games.	社交网络应用或许更流行一些，但《部落冲突》和《糖果传奇》之类的手机游戏才是最赚钱的应用。在中国，人们常常用玩游戏来替代看电影之类的其他娱乐。为了吸引玩家以及他们乐于花在游戏上的闲钱，科技公司一直在开展激烈的竞争。
For Shanghai Giant Network Technology, acquiring Playtika will also extend its reach beyond China. Other Chinese tech companies have	对上海巨人网络科技有限公司而言，收购 Playtika 还有助于打入海外市场。其他中国科技公司也正通过收购交易接触世界各地的玩家。腾讯就是其中之

used deals to reach players around the world. Among them is Tencent, which has gained control over internationally well-known games like League of Legends.	一, 它已经取得了对一些国际知名游戏的控制权, 比如《英雄联盟》(League of Legends)。
Last year, one of Caesars Interactive's parent companies, Caesars Entertainment, filed for bankruptcy protection. It has been working to get creditor backing for a plan to restructure.	去年, 凯撒互动娱乐的母公司之一凯撒娱乐申请了破产保护。它正致力于让债权人支持一项重组计划。
/technology/20160801/china-caesars-mobile-games-playtika	/technology/20160801/china-caesars-mobile-games-playtika
How Tech Companies Disrupted Silicon Valley's Restaurant Scene	科技公司如何颠覆了硅谷的餐饮业
PALO ALTO, Calif. — It was not so long ago that the aroma of Moroccan spiced prawns and wood-oven pizzas wafted out to a downtown street here from the open-air patio of a once popular eatery called Zibibbo.	加利福尼亚州帕洛阿尔托——不久前, 摩洛哥辣虾与木炉披萨的香味还会从一家名为 Zibibbo 的昔日热门餐馆的露天院子里飘到这里下城的街头。
Today that patio is behind locked doors, obscured by frosted glass. The pizza oven is gone. The formerly crowded bar has been converted into a sparsely populated startup space of a dozen engineers, their bikes and whiteboards. After 17 years in operation, the restaurant closed in 2014. The space is now an American Express venture capital office and a startup incubator.	如今, 院子大门紧闭, 里头长满了冻坏的杂草。披萨烤炉不见了踪影。当初人声鼎沸的酒吧区变成了空旷的初创企业办公区, 有稀稀拉拉的十来名工程师, 以及他们的单车和白色书写板。营业 17 年之后, Zibibbo 餐厅于 2014 年关门大吉。腾出的地方如今是美国运通公司(American Express)旗下的一处风险投资办公室和一个创业孵化器。
All told, more than 70,000 square feet of Palo Alto retail and restaurant space were lost to office space from 2008 to 2015, as the tech bubble drove demand for commercial space downtown.	从 2008 年到 2015 年, 随着科技泡沫推高对帕洛阿尔托下城商业空间的需求, 共有超过 7 万平方英尺(约合 6500 平方米)的零售与餐饮空间让位于办公空间。
It is a story playing out across Silicon Valley, where restaurateurs say that staying afloat is a daily battle with rising rents, high local fees and acute labor shortages. And tech behemoths like Apple, Facebook and Google are hiring away their best line cooks, dishwashers and servers with wages, benefits and perks that restaurant owners simply cannot	硅谷处处在上演同样的故事。餐饮从业者表示, 为了求生, 他们每天都要与不断攀升的房租、高企的当地税费及严重的劳动力短缺做斗争。此外, 苹果(Apple)、Facebook 和谷歌(Google)这样的科技界巨头在拿餐馆老板们无法匹敌的薪水、福利及其他一些好处来挖走他们最出色的后厨员工、洗碗工和服务员。 match.

Silicon Valley technologists love to explain how they have disrupted the minutiae of daily life, from our commutes to the ways we share family photos. But along the way, they have also managed to disrupt their local restaurant industry.	硅谷的技术专家喜欢说，他们如何颠覆了我们日常生活的方方面面，从交通出行到分享家人照片的方式。然而与此同时，他们也做到了颠覆本地的餐饮行业。
That may not be an issue for tech workers with access to free, farm-fresh cuisine in corporate cafeterias, but for everyone else here it is leaving a void between the takeout cuisine popping up around Palo Alto — picture bento boxes ordered on iPads at a counter — and $500 meals at high-end restaurants.	对于能在公司餐厅吃到农场新鲜采摘的食材做成的免费菜肴的那些科技业人士而言，这大概不是什么问题，但对这里的其他人来说，却要面临一片真空地带：帕洛阿尔托提供的，要么是在各处冒出来的外卖店——想象一下，在柜台用 iPad 点单的便当——要么是吃一顿要花上 500 美元的高档餐厅。
“Restaurants as we know them will no longer exist here in the near future,” said Howard Bulka, a chef and owner of Howie’s Artisan Pizza in Palo Alto and another restaurant in nearby Redwood City. “Palo Alto is just too tough a row to hoe. A lot of people are looking into getting out in one piece or are thinking of leaving the business entirely.”	“在不久的将来，我们了解的这种餐馆就会在当地不复存在，”霍华德·布尔卡 (Howard Bulka) 说。他是帕洛阿尔托的 Howie’s Artisan Pizza 店和附近雷德伍德城的另一家餐厅的主厨兼老板。“帕洛阿尔托实在是太艰难了。很多人在想着怎么全身而退，或者是在考虑完全退出餐饮业。”
With razor-thin profit margins, restaurateurs find they can increase wages only so much. Paying a livable wage is a struggle in Palo Alto, where the average one-bedroom apartment rents for $2,800, the same as in New York City, according to Rent Jungle. Workers have also been driven out of surrounding towns that were previously affordable, like Cupertino and San Jose, where demand from a new influx of tech workers has driven up the average cost of a one-bedroom apartment to more than $2,500.	餐厅利润菲薄，业主们发现能给员工涨薪的空间十分有限。Rent Jungle 的数据显示，帕洛阿尔托一居室公寓的平均月租达 2800 美元，与纽约城平齐，想在这里给出能过得去的薪酬并不容易。员工也在被迫搬离曾经宜居的周边市镇，比如丘珀蒂诺和圣何塞。新近涌入的大批科技从业者带来的需求，将这些地方的一居室公寓的平均月租推高至 2500 美元以上。
Understaffed “fast casual” restaurants — frozen yogurt, cupcake and tea shops; poké bars; and salad stations where customers order from the	人手短缺的“休闲快餐”——冻酸奶、杯子蛋糕与茶饮店；海鲜沙拉吧；柜台点餐的沙拉店——在逐渐取代老式的夫妻餐饮店。其他一些新来的店铺包括

counter — have replaced older mom-and-pop restaurants. Other newcomers are well-heeled chains like Nobu, the global sushi empire that announced plans to open a restaurant in Palo Alto, and Sweetgreen, the salad chain startup that has raised $95 million in venture capital funding and can offset the costs of doing business in Palo Alto with sales from its more than 50 other locations.	Nobu 和 Sweetgreen 之类的阔气的连锁餐厅。前者是足迹遍布全球的寿司帝国，已宣布计划在帕洛阿尔托开店，后者则是初创连锁沙拉店，从风险投资公司那里筹措了 9500 万美元，可以用其他逾 50 家店的收益来弥补在帕洛阿尔托做生意的成本。
Not everyone is so fortunate. “We’re competing more for staff than we are for guests at this point,” said Craig Stoll, a James Beard Award-winning chef and co-owner with his wife, Annie Stoll, of Delfina.	并非每个人都有这样的运气。“现阶段，我们更多地是在争夺人手，而不是顾客，”克雷格·斯托尔(Craig Stoll)说。他是拿过詹姆斯·比尔德奖(James Beard Award)的主厨，与妻子安妮·斯托尔(Annie Stoll)一起开设了名为 Delfina 的餐厅。
The Stolls own four restaurants in San Francisco and two in Silicon Valley — one in Burlingame and the other in Palo Alto. They have not been able to fully staff their Silicon Valley locations since they opened about two years ago. They used to require their line cooks to have particular experience. “Now we’re just selling ourselves on Craigslist, posting pictures of cooks butchering pigs, sautéing, and good-looking waitresses to recruit staff,” Stoll said.	斯托尔夫妇在旧金山开了四家餐厅，在硅谷开了两家——一家位于伯灵格姆，另一家位于帕洛阿尔托。硅谷的这两家店大约两年前开张，却一直没有招够员工。他们本来要求后厨拥有一定的工作经验。“现在我们直接在 Craigslist 上推销自己，为了招人，贴些厨师在杀猪啊，烹饪啊，漂亮女招待之类的照片，”斯托尔说。
In the last year, the Stolls have lost several of their best servers and their director of operations to Twitter and Airbnb in San Francisco. To compete, the couple have been increasing pay and perks as much as possible, but they say they still often have to close off entire sections of their Silicon Valley restaurants simply because there is not enough staff to service them.	去年的时候，斯托尔夫妇手下最出色的几名服务员和运营总监跳槽去了旧金山的 Twitter 和 Airbnb。为了保持竞争力，二人尽量在提高薪资和补贴水平，但他们表示，在硅谷的两家店还是经常得关闭整片的就餐区，而原因就是没有足够的服务员。
Recently, they have resorted to hiring their 14-year-old daughter and her friends to step in. “We’re breeding our own workforce at this point,”	最近这段时间，他们不得不请 14 岁的女儿带着她的朋友来帮忙。“我们目前在培育自家的劳动力，”斯托尔开玩笑称。

Stoll joked.
Just a few blocks from Pizzeria Delfina in Palo Alto, JC Andrade, an owner of Vino Locale, a family-run wine bar, said his bar lost its previous chef to Facebook. His family increased workers' pay and now offers a 401(k) program, but Facebook and Google continue to offer his staff higher wages than Andrade said he makes as owner. Increasingly, he said, he has to beg his 15-year-old brother to pick up shifts.	在离帕洛阿尔托的这家 Pizzeria Delfina 仅几个街区的地方，有一座家庭经营的葡萄酒吧，名为 Vino Locale。店主 J·C·安德雷德(JC Andrade)表示，之前的主厨跳槽去了 Facebook。他们家给员工增加了工资，现在还提供 401(k)退休福利计划，可 Facebook 和谷歌给安德雷德手下员工提供的薪资总是比他自称作为老板挣的钱还多。他表示，自己在越来越多地去请求 15 岁的弟弟来帮忙轮班。
Last year, Brigitte Lau and Chamath Palihapitiya, founders of the venture fund Social Capital, opened Bird Dog, a stylish restaurant downtown. They had backing from other Silicon Valley investors eager to bring a slice of younger, innovative and relatively affordable San Francisco-style cuisine to downtown Palo Alto.	去年，风险基金“社会+资本”合伙公司(Social Capital)的创始人布里盖特·刘(Brigitte Lau)与查马斯·帕里哈皮蒂亚(Chamath Palihapitiya)在下城开了一家名为 Bird Dog 的时髦餐厅。他们拥有其他一些硅谷投资人的支持，这群人热烈期望将新派、创新而又相对物美价廉的旧金山式菜肴带到帕洛阿尔托下城。
But even with Silicon Valley's backing and their own substantial means — Palihapitiya is part owner of the Golden State Warriors basketball team — Lau said operating a restaurant in Palo Alto was not for the faint of heart.	不过，就算拥有硅谷的支持，二人又财力雄厚——帕里哈皮蒂亚是金州勇士队的老板之一——刘女士仍然表示，在帕洛阿尔托经营餐厅可不适合心脏不好的人。
"I'm supportive of the startup community, but not at the expense of the community," she said.	"我本人支持创业群体，不过这不应该以当地的民众与企业作为代价，"她说。
/technology/20160919/how-tech-companies-disrupted-silicon-valleys-restaurant-scene	/technology/20160919/how-tech-companies-disrupted-silicon-valleys-restaurant-scene
In Shadow of Amazon, European Challenger Looks to China for Inspiration	欧洲时尚品牌电商用“中国模式”对抗亚马逊
BERLIN — Robert Gentz stepped off an Air Berlin plane in Beijing with the goal of conquering online fashion in China. By the time he boarded his return flight to Berlin, he had a new plan: to copy it.	柏林——罗伯特·根茨(Robert Gentz)在北京走下柏林航空(Air Berlin)的飞机时，目标还是征服中国线上时尚产业。等踏上返回柏林的旅途时，他已经有了一个计划：复制中国模式。

Gentz, a 34-year-old German who is a co-founder of Zalando — a European clone of Zappos, the online U.S. shoes and fashion retailer owned by Amazon — held meetings in fall 2013 with Chinese and international fashion labels, online stores and other parts of the local e-commerce industry. He wanted to expand his company into the world's largest digital market.	现年 34 岁的德国人根茨是 Zalando 网站的联合创始人，该网站是亚马逊 (Amazon) 旗下美国鞋履和时尚产品线上零售商 Zappos 的欧洲克隆版。2013 年秋天，根茨会见了若干中国及国际时尚品牌、线上商店以及中国本土电商产业其他领域的人士。他想让自己的企业进军世界上最大的数字市场。
But after the meetings, Gentz decided China's approach to online fashion was far ahead of anything available elsewhere. He marveled at how Chinese consumers freely chatted with — and bought from — brands and stylists on WeChat, a local internet messenger, while online retailers, independent delivery companies and fashion houses routinely joined forces.	但根茨在会面后意识到，中国的线上时尚产业模式比其他任何地方都要先进得多。让他感到惊叹的是：中国消费者可以如此自由地通过本土网络通信软件微信同品牌及时尚设计师交流，并从他们那里购买商品，与此同时，线上零售商、独立的物流公司以及时尚公司之间的通力合作已经颇为普遍。
"We wanted to take that experience back to Europe," Gentz said.	"我们想要把这些经验带回欧洲，"根茨说。
This holiday season, Zalando, which is Europe's biggest digital fashion player, is using a made-in-China approach to take on Amazon, just as the U.S. giant is looking to cement its place as the world's dominant e-commerce company by expanding aggressively into the Continent's still-fragmented world of digital fashion.	这个节假日，作为欧洲数字时尚产业最大市场主体的 Zalando 正利用源自中国的模式对抗美国巨擘亚马逊——为了巩固其在世界电商领域的主导地位，后者正朝着欧洲大陆依然颇为分散的数字时尚产业进军。
Few companies have been able to keep Amazon — the largest online fashion seller in the United States — at bay after it enters a new market. The notable exception is in China, where rivals like Alibaba, the world's second-largest online seller by market value, have been able to hold their ground.	亚马逊是美国最大的线上时尚产品销售商，它进入一个新市场后，几乎没有哪家公司能够阻挡它的脚步。在中国却出现了引人注目的例外，阿里巴巴之类的竞争对手守住了自己的阵地。就市值而言，阿里巴巴是世界第二大线上销售商。 represents a new strategy of looking East, not West, for inspiration.
For decades, tech companies have taken their cues from Silicon Valley. But Zalando's approach of borrowing from its Chinese counterparts	数十年来，科技公司一直以硅谷为榜样。但 Zalando 向中国同行取经的方式，代表着一种从东方而非西方寻求灵感的新战略。

In overhauling its successful European online fashion store into a digital platform, Zalando differs from others trying to match Amazon and its logistics and technological prowess.	Zalando 将自己颇为成功的欧洲时尚网店改造为数字平台，在这一点上与其他试图同亚马逊及其物流和科技实力一较高低的公司颇为不同。
The German company previously focused on handling all sales and inventory itself. But in addition to selling directly to consumers, it now wants to remake itself into a digital shopping mall, allowing fashion houses and retailers to make sales as well, often with limited input from Zalando.	这家德国公司以前注重靠自己处理全部销售和仓储工作。但现在，除了直接面向消费者销售外，该公司还希望把自己重新打造成一个数字商场，允许其他时装店和零售商在其中进行销售，Zalando 为此通常只需投入有限的资源。
These efforts, roughly a year in the making, may foster a rare European tech player able to give Silicon Valley heavy-hitters a run for their money across the region, still one of the world's largest — and most profitable — markets.	这些做法酝酿了大约一年时间。它们或许会在欧洲培养出一个罕见的，能为硅谷大佬在该地区提供投资机会的科技行业主体。该地区仍是全世界最大——也是最赚钱——的市场之一。
"If you want to be the dominant player in a geographical area, you need to go beyond being just a traditional e-commerce player," said Erik Mitteregger, a board member at Kinnevik, a Swedish investment firm that was an early Zalando investor and still owns a 32 percent stake. "It's a necessary move."	"要想成为一个地理区域内的主导者，你就不能仅做传统电子商务市场的参与者，"瑞典投资公司 Kinnevik 从早期就投资 Zalando，目前仍持股 32%，其董事埃里克·米特雷格(Erik Mitteregger)说。"这是必不可少的举措。"
Zalando's inspiration from China, though, comes with challenges.	但 Zalando 从中国找到的灵感伴随着挑战。
Despite domestic dominance, Chinese players like Alibaba have yet to successfully replicate their business model overseas. Online shopping habits in Europe also are somewhat different from those in China. And Amazon and European competitors, including ASOS and Yoox Net-a-Porter, may yet outmuscle Zalando with their traditional takes on e-commerce.	尽管在国内占据主导地位，但像阿里巴巴这样的中国市场主体尚未成功地将自己的商业模式复制到国外。欧洲的网购习惯也和中国有些不同。而且亚马逊，以及包括 ASOS 和 Yoox Net-a-Porter 在内的欧洲竞争对手也许会凭借在电商领域的传统收入打败 Zalando。

For most Americans — and even some Europeans outside its core German-speaking markets — Zalando is not a household name.	对大部分美国人来说，Zalando 并不是一个家喻户晓的名字，甚至对于该公司在讲德语的核心市场之外的不少欧洲人来说也是如此。
It began in 2008 as a Berlin startup founded by Gentz and David Schneider, two business school graduates who once tried — and failed — to build a Latin American rival to Facebook. By 2014, Zalando had become the largest public offering in the European tech sector since 2000. It counts Rocket Internet, a Berlin incubator known for copying successful online business ideas, and DST Global, a backer of Facebook, Twitter and Alibaba, among its early investors.	它成立于 2008 年，最初只是根茨和戴维·施奈德(David Schneider)在柏林建立的一家初创公司。根茨和施奈德都毕业于商学院，两人曾试图在拉丁美洲打造一个能够与 Facebook 竞争的平台，后以失败告终。到 2014 年，Zalando 已经成为欧洲科技行业自 2000 年以来公开募股规模最大的公司。以模仿成功在线商业理念而出名的柏林孵化器 Rocket Internet，以及投资过 Facebook、Twitter 和阿里巴巴的 DST 全球(DST Global)都是它的早期投资者。
To meet the needs of Europe’s national markets, Zalando has tweaked its offerings. In Germany, where few people use credit cards, consumers can pay with an online service linked to their bank accounts after receiving clothes in the mail. In Italy, it worked with a local delivery company so people wary of goods not arriving could pay in cash upon receipt of their orders.	为了满足欧洲各国市场的需求，Zalando 对自己的服务做了轻微的调整。在鲜有人使用信用卡的德国，消费者可在收到邮寄来的衣物后，通过一项与其银行账户绑定的在线服务付款。在意大利，Zalando 与当地的一家快递公司合作，让担心收不到货的人可在货到后通过现金付款。
While European competitors have also earned loyal followings, Zalando remains the largest, both by market valuation and total online sales, according to Euromonitor, a data provider. It is expected to double its yearly pretax earnings this year, to $220 million, and revenue is likely to jump more than 20 percent, to $4 billion, according to an average of equity analysts’ estimates.	尽管该公司在欧洲的竞争对手们已经赢得了忠实的支持者，但根据数据供应商欧睿(Euromonitor)提供的数据，Zalando 从市值和在线销售总额来看依然是规模最大的。从多位股票分析师预估的平均情况来看，Zalando 今年的年税前利润有望翻倍至 2.2 亿美元，收入可能会增加逾 20%，至 40 亿美元。
“Zalando is well placed to be a leading fashion platform in Europe,” said Andrea Ferraz, a Morgan Stanley analyst in London.	“Zalando 处于有利的位置，有望成为欧洲领先的时尚平台，”摩根士丹利(Morgan Stanley)驻伦敦的分析师安德烈亚·费拉斯(Andrea Ferraz)说。
Still, the company remains a relative minnow — its $9.5 billion valuation is one-fortieth that of Amazon. And Europe’s fast-growing online	但该公司相对来说依然无足轻重——其 95 亿美元的估值仅为亚马逊的四十分之一。并且欧洲在线时尚市场正以迅速的势头增长，其估计价值为 750

fashion market, estimated to be worth $75 billion, has not gone unnoticed by e-commerce giants.	亿美元，它并未躲过电商巨头的注意。
Alibaba has hired local country managers and brought its payment service to Europe, mostly to serve Chinese visitors. Amazon has opened a fashion studio in London and joined the British Fashion Council to bolster its local credibility.	阿里巴巴在各国雇佣了当地的管理人员，并将其支付服务引入了欧洲，主要是为了服务中国游客。亚马逊在伦敦设立了一个时装工作室，并与英国时装协会(British Fashion Council)联手，以增强自己在当地的可信度。
To compete with Amazon and others, Zalando has spent heavily on a network of logistics hubs that dot the European landscape.	为了与亚马逊和其他对手竞争，Zalando 花重金将散布于欧洲各地的物流枢纽连接成一个网络。
For Nicolas Borg, a Zalando strategy executive who previously worked at eBay, the next stage will most likely be chatbots, or humanlike interactions powered by artificial intelligence, to offer fashion advice to consumers on the likes of Facebook Messenger.	Zalando 负责战略事务的高管尼古拉斯·博格(Nicolas Borg)曾任职于 eBay，他认为下一个阶段极有可能是通过聊天机器人，或由人工智能实现的类似人类的互动，在 Facebook Messenger 之类平台上为消费者提供时尚建议。
"In the future, what will matter is not where the purchase happens, but how you can influence it," Borg said.	"在未来，购买在什么地方发生并不重要，重要的是你如何影响购买，"博格说。
"That is our biggest challenge," he added. "How do we change the online experience?"	"这是我们最大的挑战，"他补充说。"我们如何改变在线体验？"
/technology/20161219/amazon-zalando-eu-online-shopping	/technology/20161219/amazon-zalando-eu-online-shopping
An iPhone's Journey, From the Factory Floor to the Retail Store(And Why the Product Costs More in China)	从富士康工厂到苹果店：一部 iPhone 的诞生
The iPhone is Apple's most profitable and best-selling product. More than a billion have been sold since the first one was released.	iPhone 是苹果利润最高、最为畅销的产品。自第一部 iPhone 发布以来，该公司已售出超过十亿部 iPhone。
About half of all iPhones now are made in a huge manufacturing facility in the central Chinese city of Zhengzhou. This is the story of how an iPhone made there can end up in your hands.	如今，大约有一半数量的 iPhone 都是在中国中部城市郑州生产制造的。这里是关于一部在那里生产的 iPhone 是如何到了你手中的故事。
Getting the Parts	拿到零件

Components from more than 200 suppliers go into each iPhone.	每部 iPhone 有超过来自 200 多个供应商的零部件。
Apple buys many of the components for iPhones — like the memory chip, the modem, the camera module, the microphone and the touch-screen controller — from more than 200 suppliers around the world. Foxconn, the Taiwanese company that runs the Zhengzhou facility, even produces some smaller parts, such as metal casings.	iPhone 的不少零部件，包括内存芯片、调制解调器、相机模块、麦克风和触屏控制器，都是苹果从世界各地超过 200 家供应商那里购买的。运营郑州工厂的台湾公司富士康甚至会生产一些更小的零部件，比如金属铸件。
Apple orders many of the components from global suppliers, and then sells them, en masse, to one of its contract manufacturers based in China. In Zhengzhou, that means Foxconn.	苹果向全球供应商订购不少零部件，然后再整体卖给其外包生产商。在郑州，这就意味着是富士康。
Building the Phones	组装手机
Roughly 350 iPhones can be produced each minute in the factory.	工厂里大约每分钟能生产 350 部 iPhone。
Foxconn's facilities in Zhengzhou cover 2.2 square miles and can employ up to 350,000 workers, many of whom earn about $1.90 an hour. The operation does what is called F.A.T.P., or final assembly, testing and packaging.	富士康在郑州的设施占地 2.2 平方英里（约合 5.7 平方公里），能雇佣多达 35 万名工人，其中不少人时薪为 1.9 美元（约合 13.2 元人民币）。整个流程被称作“最终组装、测试和包装”(FATP)。
There are 94 production lines at the Zhengzhou manufacturing site, and it takes about 400 steps to assemble the iPhone, including polishing, soldering, drilling and fitting screws. The facility can produce 500,000 iPhones a day, or roughly 350 a minute.	郑州这处生产基地有 94 条生产线。组装一部 iPhone 需要大约 400 个工序，包括抛光、焊接、钻孔和上螺丝。这里一天能生产 50 万部 iPhone，大致相当于一分钟 350 部。
After the iPhone rolls off the assembly line, it is placed in a sleek white fiberboard box, wrapped and put on a wooden pallet, and then wheeled out to waiting trucks.	从装配线上下线后，iPhone 会被放进一个时尚的白色纤维板盒子里，再被包起来放在一个木质拖板上，然后被推到等着的卡车上。
Passing Through Customs	通过海关
A government customs facility sits just outside the Foxconn factory.	政府办理海关业务的地方就在富士康工厂的外面。
The newly assembled iPhone is transported a few hundred yards	刚组装好的 iPhone 被运送到距离工厂大门几百米的地方。在那里，中国修

beyond the factory gate, where China built a large customs facility. The customs operation sits in a so-called bonded zone, which allows Apple to sell the iPhones more easily to Chinese consumers.	建了一处大型海关设施。该设施坐落在一个人们所说的保税区内，这让苹果可以更便捷地把 iPhone 销售给中国消费者。
As the final point of assembly for the iPhone, China also serves as a starting point for Apple's global tax strategy. In Zhengzhou, often in the customs facility, Foxconn sells the completed iPhones to Apple, which in turn resells them to Apple affiliates around the world.	中国既是 iPhone 组装流程中的最后一站，也是苹果全球税务战略的起点。在郑州，通常是在上述海关设施里，富士康会将 iPhone 成品卖给苹果，后者转而再将它们卖给其遍布全球的分支机构。
The process, most of which takes place electronically, allows Apple to assign a portion of its profits to an affiliate in Ireland, a tax-advantageous locale. The system is not unique to China.	这个过程大部分都是用电子方式进行的。它让苹果能够把部分利润分给一个设在爱尔兰的分支机构。爱尔兰在税收方面具有优势。这一系统并非中国所独有的。
Shipping Abroad	运往国外
Smartphones travel in Boeing 747s.	智能手机的运输使用的是波音 747。
IPhones bound for the United States and other parts of the world leave customs by truck and are transported three miles to the Zhengzhou airport. The airport has been significantly expanded in recent years, as production of the iPhone has increased.	卡车会将发往美国和世界其他地方的 iPhone 从前述海关设施运送至三英里外的郑州机场。最近几年，该机场的规模明显扩大，因为 iPhone 产量增加。
Some years ago, personal computers that were made in China were transported to the United States by container ship, with a trip lasting about a month. Smartphones are small enough to be shipped by plane in huge quantities — and cost effectively. A single wide-body Boeing 747 can easily carry 150,000 iPhones tucked into its aluminum canisters.	几年前，用集装箱船将在中国制造的个人电脑运往美国需要大约一个月。智能手机体积足够小，可以用飞机大量运输，而且颇为经济。一架宽体波音 747 轻而易举就能运载 15 万部装在多个铝罐里的 iPhone。
From Zhengzhou, UPS, FedEx and other freight carriers typically fly United States-bound iPhones to Anchorage. There, they refuel, before going on to Louisville, Ky., a major logistics hub, or other points in the	从郑州出发，联合包裹服务公司(UPS)、联邦快递(FedEx)和其他货运公司往往会将发往美国的 iPhone 运输至安克雷奇。在那里，飞机会补充燃油，然后再前往主要的物流枢纽、肯塔基州的路易斯维尔，或是美国其他地方。

country.
Staying in China	留在中国
It takes almost as long to get a phone to Shanghai as it does to San Francisco.	把手机运到上海要花费的时间和运到旧金山差不多。
For an iPhone headed for the China market, customs officials use an electronic system to virtually stamp the goods as "exports" and then restamp them as "imports." In Zhengzhou, the process happens in the same customs facility just outside the factory.	对于投向中国市场的手机,海关工作人员会利用一个电子系统先将货物标记为“出口”,再重新标记为“进口”。在郑州,这样的程序就在工厂外的同一个海关设施里进行。
Once the products are declared an import, customs can collect a 17 percent value-added tax, a kind of national tax, based on the import price. Afterward, the goods are approved for transport around China.	一旦它们被宣布为进口产品,海关就可以在进口价格的基础上征收 17% 的增值税,这是一种国家税。随后,这些产品便获准运往中国各地。
Domestic-bound iPhones are typically loaded onto a large truck and taken on an 18-hour drive from Zhengzhou to Shanghai, in eastern China, where Apple has set up its national distribution center. A single tractor-trailer holds up to 36,000 iPhones. Because the vehicles have about $27 million worth of freight on board, they are equipped with cameras and sometimes accompanied by armed security guards.	内销的 iPhone 通常会被装上一辆大卡车,从郑州出发,经过 18 个小时的旅程,抵达位于华东地区的上海,苹果在那里开办了自己的全国分销中心。一辆大卡车可以容纳 3.6 万部 iPhone。由于载有价值 2700 万美元的货物,这样的车辆常常配有摄像头,有时还会由全副武装的安保人员押送。
After the iPhone leaves the Foxconn factory in Zhengzhou, it takes two days, on average, to get to a store in Shanghai, a 590-mile trip. It takes three days, on average, to get a store in San Francisco, some 6,300 miles away.	iPhone 离开富士康郑州工厂后,通常再过两天就会抵达上海的一家门店,全程 590 英里。抵达旧金山的门店通常需要 3 天,全程约 6300 英里。
Differing Prices	不同的价格
IPhones can sell for nearly 20 percent more in China than in the United States.	iPhone 在中国的售价会比美国高出将近 20%。
Chinese customers can pay much higher prices, because of currency	由于汇率的波动以及中国的高额增值税,中国消费者会支付高得多的价格。 fluctuations and the country's hefty value-added tax.

A 32-gigabyte iPhone 7 sells for about $776 at the Apple Store in Shanghai. In New York, it goes for $649.	一部内存为 32G 的 iPhone 在上海的苹果门店里要卖到 776 美元左右。在纽约的售价则为 649 美元。
/technology/20161229/appale-sidebar	/technology/20161229/appale-sidebar
After Verizon Deal, Yahoo to Become 'Altaba' and Marissa Mayer to Step Down From Board	雅虎出售核心业务后将更名为 Altaba
SAN FRANCISCO — The fate of Yahoo's $4.8 billion sale of its internet business to Verizon Communications may be uncertain. But in case it goes through, Yahoo has plans for what will remain.	旧金山——雅虎(Yahoo)或将自己的互联网业务以 48 亿美元的价格卖给威瑞森通讯公司(Verizon Communications), 这笔交易的命运可能尚不确定。但是如果它成为现实, 雅虎亦为公司剩下的业务做好了计划。
In a regulatory filing, the company said on Monday that when that deal closed, it would rename itself "Altaba."	周一, 该公司在一份监管备案文件中称, 交易完成后, 它将更名为 Altaba。
Moreover, more than half of the company's current board members — including Marissa Mayer, its chief executive — would step down.	此外, 该公司目前半数以上的董事会成员将退出, 包括首席执行官玛丽莎·梅耶尔(Marissa Mayer)在内。
Why Altaba?	为什么叫 Altaba 呢?
It is essentially a play on the single biggest asset that would remain of Yahoo if and when the deal with Verizon closes: a 15 percent stake in the Chinese e-commerce giant Alibaba. Altaba would also own a 35.5 percent stake in Yahoo Japan. (A Yahoo spokeswoman declined to comment.)	如果与威瑞森公司的交易能够完成, 雅虎所剩的最大单笔资产就是在中国电子商务巨头阿里巴巴公司(Alibaba)所持的 15% 股份, Altaba 这个名字其实就是在“阿里巴巴”的基础上稍作修改。Altaba 还将持有雅虎日本 35.5% 的股份 (雅虎的一名发言人拒绝作出评论)。
Still, Altaba is certainly an unusual name — and it also happens to be close to "Al-Taba," apparently a manufacturer of scissors based in Pakistan.	不过, Altaba 当然是一个不同寻常的名字。它碰巧还很接近 Al-Taba, 那是巴基斯坦的一家剪刀制造公司的名字。
The company said in its regulatory filing that the directors who would remain after the name change would be Jeffrey Smith, the activist investor who helped prod change at the company; Tor Braham and	该公司在监管备案文件中称, 更名后仍将留下的董事包括帮助推动公司改革的激进投资人杰弗里·史密斯(Jeffrey Smith); 前投资银行家托尔·布雷厄姆(Tor Braham)和凯瑟琳·J·弗里德曼(Catherine J. Friedman); 芯片制造公司

Catherine J. Friedman, former investment bankers; Eric Brandt, a former chief financial officer of the chip maker Broadcom; and Thomas McInerney, a former chief financial officer of the media company IAC.	博通(Broadcom)的前首席财务官埃里克·勃兰特(Eric Brandt); 以及媒体公司 IAC 的前首席财务官托马斯·麦金纳尼(Thomas McInerney)。
Among the directors stepping down would be Ms. Mayer; Yahoo's chairman, Maynard Webb; and David Filo, a Yahoo founder. Mr. Webb would become chairman emeritus of the newly renamed Altaba.	即将退位的董事包括梅耶尔; 雅虎董事长梅纳德·韦伯(Maynard Webb); 以及雅虎创始人之一大卫·费罗(David Filo)。韦伯将成为更名后的 Altaba 的荣退主席。
Of course, all those changes depend on whether Yahoo can actually close on the sale of its primary internet businesses to Verizon, given the disclosure of two hacking episodes, the second of which affected more than a billion user accounts.	当然, 所有这些变化取决于雅虎能否真的把自己最重要的互联网业务卖给威瑞森, 要知道, 雅虎曾两次遭遇黑客袭击, 导致信息泄露, 第二次袭击影响了 10 多亿用户的帐户。
Verizon executives have said publicly that they are weighing their options, including potentially paying less than the agreed-upon $4.8 billion. Marni Walden, Verizon's president of product innovation and new businesses, said last week of the transaction's fate, "I can't sit here today and say with confidence one way or another because we still don't know."	威瑞森的高管曾公开表示, 他们在权衡自己的选择, 包括支付的金额可能会少于已达成一致的 48 亿美元。上周, 威瑞森的产品创新和新业务主管玛妮·沃尔登(Marni Walden)在谈起这项交易的命运时说, "今天, 我不能坐在这里确定地说会发生什么, 因为我们还不知道。"
But Tim Armstrong, the chief executive of AOL, which is owned by Verizon, told CNBC that he was optimistic.	不过, 隶属于威瑞森的美国在线(AOL)的首席执行官蒂姆·阿姆斯特朗(Tim Armstrong)在接受 CNBC 采访时称, 他感到乐观。
"I remain hopeful the deal will close, and I think we'll see what the outcomes are of the Yahoo investigations in the meantime," he said.	"我依然对达成这项交易充满希望, 我觉得, 与此同时, 我们会看看雅虎调查的结果," 他说。
/technology/20170111/yahoo-would-become-altaba-after-selling-its-internet-business	/technology/20170111/yahoo-would-become-altaba-after-selling-its-internet-business
Samsung Galaxy Note 7 Crisis Signals Problems at Korea Inc.	三星“爆炸门”背后韩国企业的困境
SEOUL, South Korea — Before a world audience watching online, Samsung on Monday offered details and schematics showing how its	韩国首尔——周一, 三星公司(Samsung)当着世界各地网络观众的面提供的细节和简图, 展示了其盖乐世 Note 7 智能手机(Galaxy Note 7)如何从一个

Galaxy Note 7 smartphone went from cutting-edge technology to a costly, combustible failure.	尖端科技产品演变成一场代价高昂、易于产生“火爆”效果事故。
But for many of the company's critics, the most interesting part of the presentation was what Samsung did not say: How could such a technologically advanced titan — a symbol of South Korea's considerable industrial might — allow the problems to happen to begin with?	但对该公司的很多批评者而言，此次说明会最有趣的部分是三星没有提及的东西：作为拥有先进技术的巨擘和韩国不可小觑的工业能力的象征，它当初是如何能允许相关问题出现的。
The answer to that question gets to deep shortfalls that former employees, suppliers and others who watch the company say may have contributed to the incident. Samsung, like South Korea as a whole, fosters a top-down, hidebound culture that stifles innovation and buries festering problems, they say.	这个问题的答案涉及某些深刻缺陷，前雇员、供应商以及其他密切关注该公司的人士称，它们可能是造成此次事件的部分原因。他们说，三星像整个韩国一样，培育的是一种自上而下、死板保守的文化，会扼杀创新并遮蔽正在恶化的问题。
For those critics, these problems have come to light through another front: politics. Samsung has been caught up in a scandal surrounding the country's president, which they say illustrates a hierarchical culture that tends to micromanage away creativity and insulate family-run business empires from accountability and competition.	在批评者看来，这些问题在另一个方面——也就是政治领域——暴露了出来。他们说，三星卷入其中的那起涉及韩国总统的丑闻，是一种层级文化的例证，这种文化很容易让创造力被微观管理所扼杀，并导致追责和竞争难以在家族式企业帝国内部展开。
"The Korean economy as a whole has reached a kind of limit," said Park Sang-in, a Seoul National University economics professor who thinks that the cozy relationship between the government and business is stifling innovation in South Korea.	“韩国经济整体而言已经到遇到了某种瓶颈，”首尔大学(Seoul National University)经济学教授朴相仁 (Park Sang-in)说。他认为韩国政府和企业之间的亲密关系正在扼杀创新。
Mr. Park pointed to a decision by a South Korean court last week to block the arrest of Jay Y. Lee, Samsung's de facto leader, after a prosecutor sought a warrant accusing Mr. Lee of bribery in relation to the presidential scandal. A string of major South Korean executives,	朴相仁提到了韩国一个法庭上周做出的拒绝批捕三星实际掌门人李在镕 (Jay Y. Lee)的决定，一名检察官此前指控李在镕卷入了与总统有关的丑闻、涉嫌行贿，并申请了逮捕令。在过去十年中被控不端行为之后，韩国的多名大企业高管，其中包括李在镕的父亲，已经受到特赦或被判缓刑。

including Mr. Lee's own father, have been pardoned or had sentences suspended after being convicted of wrongdoing over the past decade.
Samsung has said Mr. Lee did nothing illegal. But corporate executives in recent years have said Mr. Lee has been working to loosen up a top-down corporate culture. Under him, Samsung began a campaign to root out harsh and often violent language supervisors used with their staff, a practice common in the South Korean corporate world. Samsung officials described Mr. Lee as a polite, casual leader who encouraged employees to use English more widely in internal communications.	三星称李在镕没有任何违法行为。公司高管近年来表示，李在镕一直致力于把自上而下的企业文化变得松弛一些。在韩国企业界，上级总是以尖刻而且常常颇为暴烈的言辞训斥员工，而李在镕领导下的三星开启了一场旨在清除这类言辞的运动。按照三星管理人员的描述，李在镕是一名礼貌、随和的领导者，曾鼓励员工进行内部交流时更广泛地使用英语。
Though Samsung did not address its corporate culture directly in its discussion of the Note 7, it apologized and detailed new steps it would take to stop future problems, including naming a board of battery advisers.	三星在关于 Note 7 的讨论中未直接提及自己的企业文化，但它道了歉，并详细说明了将采取哪些新举措来防范未来可能出现的问题，其中包括成立一个电池顾问委员会。
"To produce an innovative Galaxy Note 7, we set the goals on battery specifications," D. J. Koh, Samsung's mobile chief, said on Monday. "We now feel a painful responsibility for failing to test and confirm that there were problems in the design and manufacturing of batteries before we put the product out to the market."	"为了生产具有创新性的盖乐世 Note 7，我们就电池的规格设定了目标，"三星移动通信业务总裁高东真(D. J. Koh)周一表示。"产品上市前，我们没能就电池设计和生产方面的问题进行测试和证实，我们现在深感痛心意识到自己对此负有责任。"
Over the past decade Samsung and South Korea have been widely viewed as a model of forward-thinking, technological prowess. In Asia it was viewed as the exception to the sluggish economic growth of nearby Taiwan and Japan, whose once world-beating electronic makers have been in decline.	过去十年里，三星和韩国一直被普遍视为具有前瞻性思维和技术实力的典范。在亚洲，当附近的台湾和日本的经济增长呈乏力态势之时，它曾被视为一个例外。而日本那些一度堪称世界领先的电子制造商已日益式微。
So large and influential is Samsung that some worried South Koreans	三星的规模和影响力非常大，因此一些忧心忡忡的韩国人把自己的国家称为

call their own country the "Republic of Samsung." The company is responsible for 20 percent of South Korean exports, and any blow to its success often raises anxiety about the overall health of the country's economic prospects.	"三星共和国"。该公司的出口额在韩国出口总额中占比高达 20%，任何妨碍其成功的沉重打击，都常常引发对于韩国经济前景总体健康问题的担忧。
But as with the rest of the country, a shake-up has been slow to come. In recent years the company has run initiatives to push back against what is widely described as a rigid, top-down management system. Samsung engineers and midlevel managers are seldom allowed to second-guess management goals set by top bosses, former employees say.	但是和这个国家的其他地方一样，重大调整姗姗来迟。近年来，该公司已经采取措施，改善公司被广泛描述为死板的、自上而下的管理系统。前员工说，三星的工程师和中层管理人员很少被允许去思考高层人员提出的管理目标。
Pressures rose after Mr. Lee's father, Lee Kun-hee, its chairman, suffered a stroke in 2014 and fell into a coma. One engineer in the United States who works with Samsung suppliers on projects, including the Note 7, said Samsung's no-questions-asked corporate culture had grown more inflexible in recent years.	李在镕的父亲李健熙(Lee Kun-hee)是三星公司的董事长，2014 年，他身患中风陷入昏迷，之后压力开始上升。一位与三星供应商进行项目合作（包括 Note 7）的美国工程师表示，三星这种绝不表达质疑的企业文化近年来变得愈发僵化。
"In the Samsung culture, managers constantly feel pressured to prove themselves with short-term achievements," said Kim Jin-baek, who worked at Samsung until 2010 before becoming a professor at the business school of Chung-Ang University in Seoul. "Executives fret that they may not be able to meet the goals and lose their jobs, even when they know the goals are excessive."	"在三星的文化中，管理人员经常感到有压力，要用短期内的成就来证明自己，"在三星工作到 2010 年，然后成为首尔中央大学商学院教授的金镇伯（Kim Jin-baek，音）说。"高管们担心自己可能无法实现目标并失去工作，即便他们知道这些目标是过高的。"
With the Note 7, Samsung pushed its business model, as well as its technology, to the limit, according to Samsung officials, who spoke on the condition of anonymity while the Note 7 investigation was being completed. Driven by the desire to prove it was more than a fast	根据多位三星管理人员的说法，在 Note 7 这款机型中，三星公司已经把自己的商业模式和技术推到极限，因为 Note 7 的调查尚处于尾声，所以他们不愿透露姓名。由于希望证明自己不仅仅是苹果的快速效仿者，三星在苹果推出 iPhone 7 之前仓促将 Note 7 推向市场。为了击败华为和小米等中国竞

follower of Apple, Samsung rushed the Note 7 to market ahead of Apple's iPhone 7. To fend off Chinese competitors like Huawei and Xiaomi, it packed the phone with new features, like waterproof technology and iris-scanning for added security.	竞争对手，它在这款手机上集成了众多新功能，诸如防水技术和用于增加安全性的虹膜扫描技术。
Samsung's insistence on speed and internal pressures to outdo rivals in part signal a breakdown in the ability to truly innovate and push out new ideas, critics say. In place of big new ideas, Samsung focused on maxing out the capability of components like the battery. That philosophy, which worked to keep Samsung on the heels of the likes of Apple, simply is not as effective as Samsung tries to push ahead, they argue.	批评者认为，为了超越对手，三星坚决维持速度和公司内部压力，而这在一定程度上表明公司难以实现真正的创新并推出新想法。三星专注于最大限度地发挥电池等组件的能力，而不是推出重大的创新想法。批评者认为，这种理念使得三星可以追赶苹果的脚步，但在三星想要超越苹果的时候就不那么有效了。
A similar strain can be felt in other parts of South Korea's economy. Even the symbols held up as signs of the country's forward thinking, like speedy internet and eye-popping creative mobile apps, come in part from the support of the government. While that has helped create new companies, workers in the tech industry argue that approach also ensures start-ups do not challenge the country's biggest companies.	在韩国经济的其他部门也可以感受到类似的压力。高速互联网和令人眼花缭乱的创意移动应用程序等事物被当做国家高瞻远瞩的标志，它们的发展部分得益于政府的支持。虽然这有助于创建新公司，但科技产业工作者认为，这种方法也保证了初创企业不会对该国最大的几家公司构成挑战。
"The government is trying to pick the next Steve Jobs," said Mr. Park, the Seoul National University professor. "You cannot pick the next Steve Jobs. You need to allow somebody to achieve that."	"政府正试图选出下一个史蒂夫·乔布斯(Steve Jobs)。"首尔国立大学的朴教授说，"但你不能选出下一个史蒂夫·乔布斯。你需要让某个人来实现这一点。"
/technology/20170124/samsung-galaxy-note7-fires	/technology/20170124/samsung-galaxy-note7-fires
Inside Uber's Aggressive, Unrestrained Workplace Culture	优步的 14 条核心价值观
SAN FRANCISCO — When new employees join Uber, they are asked to subscribe to 14 core company values, including making bold bets, being "obsessed" with the customer, and "always be hustlin'." The ride-hailing	旧金山——新雇员加入优步(Uber)时，会被要求接纳公司的 14 条核心价值观，其中包括敢于放手一搏、顾客“至上”，以及“永远奔忙”。这家召车公司尤其强调“任人唯贤”，也就是说，基于其付出的努力，最优秀、最聪明的人

service particularly emphasizes “meritocracy,” the idea that the best and brightest will rise to the top based on their efforts, even if it means stepping on toes to get there.	会青云直上，即便这意味着要得罪别人才能做到。
Those values have helped make Uber one of Silicon Valley’s biggest success stories. The company is valued at close to $70 billion by private investors and operates in more than 70 countries.	在这些价值观的助力下，优步为硅谷贡献了一个上佳的成功故事。该公司被私人投资者赋予了将近 700 亿美元的估值，业务遍及 70 多个国家。
Yet the focus on pushing for the best result has also fueled what current and former Uber employees describe as a Hobbesian environment at the company, in which workers are sometimes pitted against one another and where a blind eye is turned to infractions from top performers.	不过，把重心放在不懈追求卓越上，也滋长了该公司内部一种被现员工和前员工形容为霍布斯式的氛围，员工们有时会相互对立，绩效优异者的违规行为会被忽略。
Interviews with more than 30 current and former Uber employees, as well as reviews of internal emails, chat logs and tape-recorded meetings, paint a picture of an often unrestrained workplace culture. Among the most egregious accusations from employees, who either witnessed or were subject to incidents and who asked to remain anonymous because of confidentiality agreements and fear of retaliation: One Uber manager groped female co-workers’ breasts at a company retreat in Las Vegas. A director shouted a homophobic slur at a subordinate during a heated confrontation in a meeting. Another manager threatened to beat an underperforming employee’s head in with a baseball bat.	通过采访 30 多名优步现员工和前员工，以及核查内部邮件、聊天记录和会议录音，我们描绘出了一种百无禁忌的职场文化的轮廓。这些员工作为见证者或当事人做出了极为惊人的指控，但碍于签有保密协议或担心遭到报复，均要求匿名。其指控包括：优步的一名经理在拉斯维加斯的野外拓展活动中摸了一名女同事的胸部；一名总监开会时与一名下属激烈对峙，竟然把诋毁同性恋的言词甩向对方。另一名经理扬言要用棒球棒敲一名表现不佳的员工的头。
Until this week, this culture was only whispered about in Silicon Valley. Then on Sunday, Susan Fowler, an engineer who left Uber in December, published a blog post about her time at the company. She detailed a	本周以前，对这种文化的议论只在硅谷范围内悄悄进行。但周日，于去年 12 月离开优步的工程师苏珊·福勒(Susan Fowler)发布了一篇博文，讲述她在该公司的遭遇。她描绘了自己遭到经理们歧视和性骚扰的种种细节，说优步

history of discrimination and sexual harassment by her managers, which she said was shrugged off by Uber's human resources department. Fowler said the culture was stoked — and even fostered — by those at the top of the company.	的人力资源部门对此不予理睬。福勒说，公司高层的那些人为这种文化推波助澜，甚至可以说是其缔造者。
"It seemed like every manager was fighting their peers and attempting to undermine their direct supervisor so that they could have their direct supervisor's job," Fowler wrote. "No attempts were made by these managers to hide what they were doing: They boasted about it in meetings, told their direct reports about it, and the like."	"似乎每一名经理都在对抗自己的同级人员，并设法暗中打击上司，这样一来他们就可以坐直属上司的位子，"福勒写道。"这些经理对自己的所作所为从不遮遮掩掩：他们在会议上夸夸其谈，跟直接下属说这些事，等等。"
Her revelations have spurred hand-wringing over how unfriendly Silicon Valley workplaces can be to women and provoked an internal crisis at Uber. The company's chief executive, Travis Kalanick, has opened an internal investigation into the accusations and has brought in board member Arianna Huffington and former Attorney General Eric H. Holder Jr. to look into harassment issues and the human resources department.	她的揭露文章让很多人忧心于硅谷的职场竟对女性如此不友好，并引发了优步的内部危机。该公司首席执行官特拉维斯·卡兰尼克(Travis Kalanick)已经就这些指控启动了内部调查，还让董事会成员阿里安娜·赫芬顿(Arianna Huffington)和前司法部长小埃里克·H·霍尔德(Eric H. Holder Jr.)对骚扰问题以及人力资源部展开调查。
To contain the fallout, Kalanick also began more disclosure. On Monday, he said that 15.1 percent of Uber's engineering, product management and scientist roles were filled by women and that those numbers had not changed substantively over the past year.	为了降低负面影响，卡兰尼克开始披露更多信息。他于周一表示，在优步，工程、产品管理和科学家岗位上的工作人员有15.1%是女性，这些数字在过去一年中没有出现大的变动。
Kalanick also held a 90-minute all-hands meeting Tuesday, during which he and other executives were besieged with dozens of questions and pleas from employees who were aghast at — or strongly identified with — Fowler's story and demanded change.	卡兰尼克还于周二召开了一场全员大会，会上，被福勒的文章惊呆或对文章有着强烈认同感的员工，向和其他高管提出了数十个问题和请求，敦促公司做出改变。
In what was described by five attendees as an emotional moment, and	《纽约时报》查看的会议视频显示，卡兰尼克就其任由公司和公司文化发展

according to a video of the meeting reviewed by The New York Times, Kalanick apologized to employees for leading the company and the culture to this point.	到这步田地向员工道了歉。有五名参会者称这是令人动容的一刻。
"What I can promise you is that I will get better every day," he said. "I can tell you that I am authentically and fully dedicated to getting to the bottom of this."	"我可以向你们承诺，我每一天都会做得更好，"他说。"我可以告诉你们，我会实心实意、全心全力地弄清真相。"
Some Uber employees said Kalanick's speedy efforts were positive.	一些优步雇员称，卡兰尼克的快速响应具有积极意义。
"I am pleased with how quickly Travis has responded to this," Aimee Lucido, an Uber software engineer, wrote in a blog post. "We are better situated to handle this sort of problem than we have ever been in the past."	"我很高兴特拉维斯能如此快速地对这件事作出回应，"优步软件工程师艾梅·卢奇多(Aimee Lucido)在一篇博文中写道。"在处理这类问题方面，我们占据了比以往任何时候都更良好的位置。"
As chief executive, Kalanick has long set the tone for Uber. Under him, Uber has taken a pugnacious approach to business, flouting local laws and criticizing competitors in a race to expand as quickly as possible. Kalanick, 40, has made pointed displays of ego: In a GQ article in 2014, he referred to Uber as "Boob-er" because of how the company helped him attract women.	作为首席执行官，卡兰尼克一直都是为优步定调的人。在他领导下，优步采取了一种具有挑衅性的业务模式，在以尽快开疆拓土为目标的竞赛中违反当地法律、批评竞争对手。现年40岁的卡兰尼克曾经直白地展示过真实的自我：在《GQ》2014年的一篇文章中，他管优步叫“妞步”(Boob-er)，因为该公司令他桃花大增。
That tone has been echoed in Uber's workplace. At least two former Uber workers said they had notified Thuan Pham, the company's chief technical officer, of workplace harassment at the hands of managers and colleagues in 2016. One also emailed Kalanick.	这种调子一直回荡在优步的工作场所。至少两名前优步员工说自己曾在2016年告知公司首席技术官范顺(Thuan Pham)，一些经理和同事有职场骚扰之举。其中一人还给卡兰尼克发了邮件。
Uber also faces at least three lawsuits in at least two countries from former employees alleging sexual harassment or verbal abuse at the hands of managers, according to legal documents reviewed by The Times. Other current and former employees said they were considering	此外，时报查看的法律文件显示，优步在至少两个国家面临着不少于三桩诉讼，均由前员工就经理人员实施性骚扰或语言暴力提起。其他现员工和前员工称，他们正考虑对该公司采取法律行动。

legal action against the company.
Liane Hornsey, Uber's chief human resources officer, said in a statement, "We are totally committed to healing wounds of the past and building a better workplace culture for everyone."	优步首席人力资源官利亚纳·霍恩西(Liane Hornsey)在一份声明中表示,“我们将全力弥合过去的创伤,为所有人打造一种更好的职场文化。”
While Uber is now the dominant ride-hailing company in the United States, and is rapidly growing in South America, India and other countries, its explosive growth has come at a cost internally. As Uber hired more employees, its internal politics became more convoluted. Getting ahead, employees said, often involved undermining departmental leaders or colleagues.	优步目前是美国占主导地位的召车公司,且在南美、印度以及其他国家迅速扩张,但爆炸式的增长是以出现内部问题为代价的。随着优步雇用的员工越来越多,其内斗也变得愈发复杂。员工们表示,要出人头地,常常得给部门领导或同事下绊子。
Workers like Fowler who went to human resources with their problems said they were often left stranded. She and a half-dozen others said human resources often made excuses for top performers because of their ability to improve the health of the business. Occasionally, problematic managers who were the subject of numerous complaints were shuffled around different regions; firings were less common.	像福勒一样向人力资源部门反映过问题的员工说,他们常常被搁到了一边。她和另外六人均表示,人力资源部门常常给绩效优异者找借口,因为那些人拥有让公司业务健康发展的能力。有时候,遭到大量投诉的经理会被调到别的地区;但因此被解雇的情况十分罕见。
One group appeared immune to internal scrutiny, the current and former employees said. Members of the group, called the A-Team and composed of executives who were personally close to Kalanick, were shielded from much accountability over their actions.	现员工和前员工说,有一个群体似乎对内部审查免疫。这个群体名叫“A队”(A-Team),由一些和卡兰尼克有着密切的私人关系的高管构成,其成员常常不必为自己的行为承担责任。
One member of the A-Team was Emil Michael, senior vice president for business, who was caught up in a public scandal over comments he made in 2014 about digging into the private lives of journalists who opposed the company. Kalanick defended Michael, saying he believed Michael could learn from his mistakes.	A队成员之一、商务高级副总裁埃米尔·迈克尔(Emil Michael)曾卷入一桩尽人皆知的丑闻——他在2014年放话,要调查跟优步对着干的那些记者的私生活。卡兰尼克为迈克尔做了辩护,说他可以从错误中汲取教训。

Since Fowler's blog post, several Uber employees have said they are considering leaving the company. Some are waiting until their equity compensation from Uber, which is restricted stock units, is vested. Others said they had started sending résumés to competitors.	自从福勒发表博文以来，几名优步员工表示他们正考虑离职。一些人等着拿到优步给他们的股权报酬，这些通常是限制性股票。另一些人说他们已经开始向优步的竞争对手投简历了。
Still other employees said they were hopeful that Uber could change. Kalanick has promised to deliver a diversity report to better detail the number of women and minorities who work at Uber, and the company is holding listening sessions with employees.	不过其他员工表示，他们希望优步能有所改变。卡兰尼克已经承诺，会发布一份多样性报告，更详细地介绍在优步工作的女性和少数族裔的人数；此外，该公司正举行面向员工的聆听会。
At the Tuesday all-hands meeting, Huffington, the Uber board member, also vowed that the company would make another change. According to attendees and video of the meeting, Huffington said there would no longer be hiring of "brilliant jerks."	在周二的全员大会上，优步董事会成员赫芬顿还公开宣布，该公司将做出另一项改变。根据与会者的话和会议视频，赫芬顿说公司不会再雇用“出色的混蛋”。
/technology/20170224/uber-workplace-culture	/technology/20170224/uber-workplace-culture
Travis Kalanick, Uber's C.E.O., to Take Leave Amid Inquiry Into Workplace Culture	企业文化受质疑，优步 CEO 宣布无期限休假
SAN FRANCISCO — Travis Kalanick, Uber's chief executive, said he would take a leave of absence from the ride-hailing service after an investigation into the company concluded that Uber must repudiate its aggressive startup culture.	旧金山——在一项针对公司的调查断定优步(Uber)必须消除其侵略性的创业文化后，这家叫车服务公司的首席执行官特拉维斯·卡兰尼克(Travis Kalanick)表示自己将休假。
The developments were part of a flurry of actions at Uber on Tuesday morning, which began with an internal email from Kalanick right before a staff meeting got underway. In the email to employees, Kalanick said he would take a leave of absence to work on himself and reflect on building a "world class leadership team" for the company. He did not specify how long he would be away.	事态的发展是周二上午一连串的行动的一部分，首先是卡兰尼克在一场员工会议开始前发出了一封内部邮件。在发给员工的邮件中，卡兰尼克说自己会休假一段时间，做一些自己的事情，并思考为公司建立一个“世界级的领导团队”。他没有具体说会离开多久。

Minutes later, Uber released 13 pages of recommendations to change the company, which were the result of an investigation into its culture conducted by former Attorney General Eric Holder and his law firm, Covington & Burling.	几分钟后，优步公布了 13 页的公司改革建议。这是前司法部长埃里克·霍尔德(Eric Holder)和他所在的科文顿-柏灵律师事务所(Covington & Burling)对该公司的文化进行了调查后得出的结果。
The recommendations included limiting Kalanick’s responsibilities by reallocating some of his duties, with an increased emphasis on a chief operating officer at the company. Uber also should appoint an independent chairman and create an oversight committee on the board, in an effort to bolster the checks and balances on management, according to the recommendations.	建议包括通过重新分配卡兰尼克的部分职责并加强首席运营官在公司的地位，来限制卡兰尼克的职责。根据建议，优步还应该在董事会任命一位独立主席，并成立一个监督委员会，以增强管理层的制衡。
The proposed changes amounted to a rejection of the methods and culture that Uber has used to build itself into a nearly $70 billion company that has upended the transportation status quo worldwide. Under Kalanick, Uber flouted rules and regulations to bring its ride-summoning service to hundreds of cities, prized growth above all else, and often turned a blind eye to corporate misbehavior.	提出的改革建议，相当于否定优步的方法和文化，此前公司正是依靠这些将自己打造成估值近 700 亿美元（约合 4800 亿元人民币），并颠覆了全球交通运输现状。在卡兰尼克的领导下，优步藐视规章制度，把叫车服务引入数百个城市，唯增长至上，并经常对企业不端行为视而不见。
That ballooned into a crisis starting in February, when a former employee wrote a blog post detailing what she said was a history of sexual harassment and lack of response from management at the company. The post set off a deluge of other complaints from staff about Uber’s culture, exposing a toxic environment.	这发展成了一场始于 2 月的危机。当时，一名前雇员写了一篇博客，详述自己在优步遭到性骚扰、管理层却毫无回应的经历。文章引发了员工对优步文化如潮水般的其他抱怨，揭露了一个不良环境。
Uber has since moved to clean up the situation. It has fired 20 employees in the last few months for transgressions including sexual harassment. Emil Michael, a top lieutenant of Kalanick’s, left the company this week. And many other executives have departed, leaving	自那以后，优步采取了清理环境的行动。过去几个月里，该公司因包括性骚扰在内的过失解雇 20 名员工。本周，卡兰尼克的左膀右臂埃米尔·迈克尔(Emil Michael)离开优步。其他很多高管也离开了，导致优步出现了某种领导真空。

something of a leadership void at the company.
"Implementing these recommendations will improve our culture, promote fairness and accountability, and establish processes and systems to ensure the mistakes of the past will not be repeated," Liane Hornsey, Uber's chief of human resources, said in a statement.	"实施这些建议将改善我们的文化、促进公正和责任并建立相应的程序和制度,以确保过去的错误不会重演,"优步首席人力资源官利亚纳·霍恩西(Liane Hornsey)在一份声明中说。
/technology/20170614/uber-travis-kalanick-holder-report	/technology/20170614/uber-travis-kalanick-holder-report
Where the World's Greatest Photographers Go to Get Away	世界最伟大的摄影师们去哪儿度假
As part of the magazine's annual Voyages issue, we asked some of the world's greatest photographers to share their vacation photos.	作为《纽约时报》杂志的年度旅行特刊的一部分,我们请世界上最伟大的一些摄影师分享他们的度假照片。
Lauren Greenfield, Galway, Ireland	劳伦·格林菲尔德(Lauren Greenfield), 戈尔韦(Galway), 爱尔兰
"My son has always called Ireland 'The Place Where the Kids Run Free,' " says Greenfield, who returns each year to Roundstone, a fishing village on the country's west coast. That's partly because it's where her sons — Gabriel, 7, and Noah, 13 — run wild with their 17 cousins. Besides family shots, Greenfield's vacation photographs capture local traditions, like the St. Stephen's Day swim, a kind of polar-bear club with a lilt, in which brave revelers gather in Galway on Dec. 26 to jump into the frigid water. So far, Greenfield has resisted. "My role has been supporter and photographer," she says. "I'm the wimp who grew up in L.A."	"我儿子总说爱尔兰是'孩子们可以自由奔跑的地方', "格林菲尔德说。她每年都会到爱尔兰西海岸的渔村朗德斯通(Roundstone)。部分原因是她的儿子——7岁的加布里埃尔(Gabriel)和13岁的诺亚(Noah)——和17个堂(表)兄(妹)能在这里一起疯跑。除了家人的照片,格林菲尔德的度假照片捕捉到了当地的传统,比如圣斯蒂芬节游泳——每年12月26日,聚集在戈尔韦的勇敢的狂欢者们跳进冰冷的水里。到目前为止,格林菲尔德对此还是抗拒。"我的角色是支持者和摄影师,"她说,"我是在洛杉矶长大的懦夫。"
Alec Soth, Minneapolis, Minn.	亚历克·索思(Alec Soth), 明尼阿波利斯(Minneapolis), 明尼苏达州
"Minnesotans, like everybody else, perpetually whine about the weather," says Soth, a native Minnesotan. "This year of all years — it's been the coldest winter ever — I've made an effort just to stop it." For this reason, Soth and his 7-year-old son visited Lake Calhoun in January for a different take on the popular summertime destination. "If you look	"明尼苏达人永远在抱怨天气,"索思说。他是明尼苏达州本地人。"今年冬天是最冷的一个冬天,我打算逃离出去。"因此,索思和七岁的儿子在1月份游览了卡尔霍恩湖,从一个不同的角度观看这个夏季热门度假地。"看着这张照片,你会觉得它像冻原。那里的风真跟刀割似的。"

at that picture, it looks like the tundra. The wind was really whippin’.”
Sally Mann, Buffalo Creek, Virginia	萨莉·曼(Sally Mann), 布法罗溪(Buffalo Creek), 弗吉尼亚州
Because the Lexington, Va., native is so tied to her 450-acre farm, she hasn’t taken a vacation in decades. (“This place works me like a rented mule,” she says.) But Buffalo Creek, about 15 miles from her home, offers a bit of respite. “In the crepuscular half-light, I experience a kind of holy communion with something ancient. Communion, at least the kind I take, is always restorative and uplifting.”	萨莉·曼是弗吉尼亚州列克星敦市本地人, 她被自己 450 英亩的农场给拴住了, 已经几十年没有度假了 (“我像个骡子似的被这个地方拴住了, ”她说)。但是离她家约 15 英里的布法罗溪对她来说是个休憩之地。“在那里朦胧的暗光中, 我体验到了与某种古老的东西的一种神圣的交流。那种交流总是有利于复原, 令人振奋。”
Simon Norfolk, Bamiyan, Afghanistan	西蒙·诺福克(Simon Norfolk), 巴米扬(Bamiyan), 阿富汗
On one of his first trips to the Afghan valleys that run from Bamiyan into the Koh-i-baba Mountains, the British photographer made an unlikely discovery — his dream house. “I want this to be my future holiday cottage,” Norfolk says of the fortified dwelling that he has “utterly fallen for.” Situated in the Dukani Valley, within earshot of a gurgling river, it is surrounded by — besides snowcapped peaks — peach trees and fat-tailed sheep. “The building belongs to an émigré who lives in Denmark,” he says. “Would he sell? What would it cost?” And also: “How would I repair it? Are foreigners even allowed to own property? How could I possibly live in an Afghan village?”	这位英国摄影师第一次到阿富汗巴米扬至科依巴巴山的山谷时, 有了个不可思议的发现——他梦想的房子。“我想让它成为我未来的度假别墅, ”诺福克说。他“完全”被这个加固的住所“迷住了”。这座房子坐落在杜卡尼谷(Dukani Valley), 耳畔能听到汨汨的河水声, 旁边是白雪皑皑的山顶, 周围是桃树和肥尾羊。“这个房子属于一个住在丹麦的移民, ”他说, “他会卖吗? 要花多少钱?”还有: “我怎么修复呢? 外国人能在这里买房吗? 我怎么可能住在一个阿富汗的村庄里呢?”
Joel Meyerowitz, near Buonconvento, Tuscany, Italy	乔尔·迈耶罗维茨(Joel Meyerowitz), 博恩孔文托(Buonconvento)附近, 托斯卡纳, 意大利
With his wife, Maggie Barrett, Meyerowitz has been admiring this “incredible, cathedral-like” allée of cypress trees since 1995, when the self-proclaimed “city rat” was invited to teach a workshop on an estate near Buonconvento. This past year marked their first spent entirely in	迈耶罗维茨和妻子玛吉·巴雷特(Maggie Barrett)从 1995 年就很喜欢这个两边栽满柏树的“不可思议的、教堂式”的小径, 当时自称“城里的老鼠”的迈耶罗维茨在博恩孔文托附近教讲习班。过去的这一年是他们首次在欧洲度过完整的一年。“我 75 岁了, 两年前, 我的几个非常亲密的朋友在几天之内先后

Europe. "I'm 75 years old, and two years ago, a few of my very closest friends died within a few days of each other," Meyerowitz says. "Boom. Boom. Like that. And in both cases, they'd been saying to their wives, 'Let's go; let's travel; let's do other things.' And it never happened. I looked at Maggie and said, 'What are we waiting for?'"	死去，“迈耶罗维茨说，“他们一直对妻子说，‘咱们走吧，咱们去旅行吧，咱们做点别的事吧。’但是他们一直没去。我看着玛吉说，‘我们还等什么呢？’”
Nan Goldin, Venice, Italy "Venice is my aesthetic brought to life," Goldin says. The city is home to her favorite antiques dealer ("he taught me everything") and two decades of memories, including those of the winter she lived there with Gigi Giannuzzi, the publisher of Goldin's "Ten Years After: Naples 1986-1996." "I would stay with him in the winter in this room where someone had OD'ed. The windows were all broken. And he had his own gondola. Sometimes it would sink to the bottom of the canal."	南·戈尔丁(Nan Goldin), 威尼斯, 意大利 "威尼斯是将我的审美幻想变成了现实," 戈尔丁说。这个城市是她最喜欢的古董商("他教给我了一切")的家和二十年的记忆, 包括她和吉吉·詹努齐(Gigi Giannuzzi)在那里一起度过的冬天。詹努齐是她的书《十年之后: 那不勒斯 1986-1996》(Ten Years After: Naples 1986-1996)的出版商。"冬天我和他待在这个房间里。窗户都破了。他有自己的贡多拉小船。有时它会沉到运河底。"
Sebastião Salgado, Ubud, Bali Since 1993, Salgado has often traveled to Ubud with his wife, Lélia. Most tourists flock to the beach, but, he says: "I prefer the interior, the heart of the island. I photograph a lot on vacation — mostly my family and what's happening around me." He captured this image of young dancers in colorful costumes walking up the stairs of the Amandari resort, where he was staying. "All the dresses are saffron," he says. "They are also beautiful in gray. For me, Indonesia is much more beautiful in black and white."	塞瓦斯蒂亚·萨尔加多(Sebastião Salgado), 乌布(Ubud), 巴厘岛 从1993年起, 萨尔加多经常和妻子莱莉亚(Lélia)一起去乌布区旅游。大多数游客都成群结队地去海滩, 但是他说: "我更喜欢小岛的内心。我度假的时候拍很多照片, 大多是关于家人和我周围发生的事情的照片。"他拍到了这张年轻的舞蹈者们穿着五颜六色的服装走上阿曼达利度假村的台阶的照片。"所有的裙子都是藏红色的," 他说, "拍成灰色看起来特别漂亮。在我看来, 黑白镜头下的印度尼西亚要漂亮得多。"
Ryan McGinley, Mendocino County, California	赖安·麦克金利(Ryan McGinley), 门多西诺县(Mendocino County), 加利福尼亚州
When he wants to chill out, or to indulge in dusk-to-dawn editing	当麦克金利想冷静下来或者想从早到晚沉浸在编辑中时, 他就躲到加州红木

sessions, McGinley escapes to the Redwood Forest Institute in California, a small collection of solar-powered houses about a two-and-a-half-hour drive from San Francisco. The houses are remote, at the end of a dirt road, and cellphone service is shoddy. McGinley likes to stand inside his favorite Redwood tree, sleep in “the Glass House” (pictured here) and pal around with the proprietor, Charles Bello, an artist and architect who “decided to drop out,” so to speak, in the 1960s. “He takes you on these nature walks, and he tells you how to identify all the mushrooms and all the trees,” McGinley says.	林森林学院，它是一些用太阳能发电的房子，从旧金山开车到这里需要两个半小时。这些房子很偏僻，在一条土路的尽头，手机信号不稳定。麦克金利喜欢站在他最喜欢的红木林里，在“玻璃房子”（如图）里睡觉，和房主查尔斯·贝罗(Charles Bello)结伴游玩。贝罗是个艺术家、建筑师，他在20世纪60年代“决定辍学”。“他带你漫步大自然，他告诉你如何分辨所有的蘑菇和树，”麦克金利说。
Martin Parr, Inner Hebrides, Scotland	马丁·帕尔(Martin Parr), 内赫布里底群岛(Inner Hebrides), 苏格兰
“I don’t record just pure natural beauty,” Parr says. “That’s not what I’m into.” But on the Isle of Eigg, even when shooting something as quotidian as a clothesline, he admits that sometimes beauty “creeps in.” For the past 40 years, Parr has vacationed in the Scottish islands. Now he is considering a book and a show on Scotland largely comprising photographs he has taken theoretically off the clock. “I don’t believe in holidays. Why would you go away from the thing you love?”	“我不只是记录纯粹的天然美景，”帕尔说，“那不是我感兴趣的事情。”但是在埃格岛(Isle of Eigg)上，甚至连拍个晾衣绳这么日常的东西，有时都透露出美感。在过去的40年里，帕尔经常在苏格兰的小岛上度假。现在，他正在考虑出一本关于苏格兰的书，举办一个苏格兰的展览，主要由他在停工期间拍摄的照片组成。
Domingo Milella, Karadag Mountains	多明戈·米莱拉(Domingo Milella), 卡拉达格山脉(Karadag Mountains)
“I’ve traveled extensively in Italy, Tunisia, Egypt, but Turkey represents the zipper between many cultures,” Milella says. Traveling several times to Turkey led him to be enchanted with Northern Mesopotamia. “It’s a counterpoint in time.” Eschewing G.P.S., the photographer likened his travels to “a treasure hunt” for ancient sites. On his final, summertime trip, which he calls “a kind of closure journey,” Milella hiked into the Karadag Mountains and took this self-portrait with a	“我在意大利、突尼斯和埃及广泛旅游过，但是土耳其将很多文化融合在一起，”米莱拉说。在土耳其的几次旅行让他迷上了美索不达米亚北部地区。这位摄影师不用GPS，把自己的旅行比作古代遗址“寻宝行动”。在最后一次夏季旅行中，米莱拉徒步走到了卡拉达格山脉，拍了这张自拍照，照片中的山上刻着象形文字，是献给赫梯国王哈塔普(Hartapu)的。“我们不知道它是圣坛还是王座；这张照片是关于不可能知道的事情的。”

hieroglyphic-marked monument inscribed to the Hittite king, Hartapu. “We don’t know if it’s an altar; we don’t know if it’s a throne; this photograph is about the impossibility to know.”
Luca Locatelli, Dead Sea, Jordan	卢卡·洛卡特利(Luca Locatelli), 死海, 约旦
After shooting the magazine cover story “Sleep-Away Camp for Postmodern Cowboys” in Jordan, Luca Locatelli hailed a taxi to the Dead Sea. “In the outskirts, everything is mono-color,” he recalls. “It’s like Las Vegas; you are just driving and driving and suddenly, it’s right in front of you.” On the sacred beach, the photographer was delighted to find locals interacting just as they would in his homeland, Italy: eating lunch, playing ball and swimming. He took many photographs, but this image, of a family floating together, is one of the few that survived the day. “So many photos were unusable because of the salt.”	在约旦为杂志封面故事《后现代牛仔宿营地》(Sleep-Away Camp for Postmodern Cowboys)拍完照片之后,卢卡·洛卡特利打了辆出租车去死海。“在郊区,所有的东西都史一个颜色,”他回忆说,“就像拉斯维加斯。你开呀开呀,突然之间,它出现在你眼前。”在这片神圣的海滩上,这位摄影师高兴地发现当地人的互动方式跟他的故乡意大利的方式一样:吃午餐,打球,游泳。他照了很多照片,但是只有几张挺过了当天,包括这张一家人一起漂浮的照片。“因为盐分太大,很多照片都不能用了。”
Gillian Laub, Tel Aviv, Israel	吉莉安·劳布(Gillian Laub), 特拉维夫, 以色列
“It’s where the country comes to breathe,” Laub says about Tel Aviv’s beach. “No matter what political unrest is going on down in the street, everyone comes here for a break and a respite from all the tension.” Laub, a New York native, often stays with friends in Israel, and during the war with Lebanon in 2006, she brought her friends’ twin daughters, Lenny and Jazz, for a portrait on the tranquil beach. (Recently, the twins learned to surf there.) In Israel, she says, “people live as if they don’t know what tomorrow will bring. That’s powerful.”	“它是这个国家呼吸的地方,”劳布这样形容特拉维夫的海滩,“不管街上发生什么政治动乱,每个人都来这里休息,从紧张气氛中缓口气。”劳布是纽约本地人,她经常和朋友们去以色列。2006年,以色列和黎巴嫩交战期间,她把朋友的双胞胎女儿伦尼(Lenny)和雅茨(Jazz)带到宁静的海滩上,拍了张照片(这对双胞胎最近在这里学会了冲浪)。她说,在以色列,“人们生活的方式像是他们不知道明天会发生什么。非常强大。”
Olaf Otto Becker, Tegernsee, Germany	奥拉夫·奥托·贝克尔(Olaf Otto Becker), 泰根湖(Tegernsee), 德国
On summer weekends, Becker escapes to a beer garden, like Gut Kaltenbrunn on the Tegernsee, to indulge in a centuries-old tradition.	在夏季的周末,贝克尔躲到啤酒花园——就像泰根湖的 Gut Kaltenbrunn 啤酒花园——纵情享受几百年的传统。“坐在户外,喝着啤酒,看着美景,”他

"You sit outside and you have a beer, and you have a good view," he says. "This is Bavarian life." This is a rare downtime photograph for Becker, who prefers to shoot with a large-format camera. "Fifteen years ago, I used to have a camera always with me, a Polaroid camera. I took thousands of Polaroids when I was out in my leisure time. Now it is quite different. When I spend time with friends, the only camera I have is my iPhone. I take the photographs with my eyes."	说, "这就是巴伐利亚人的生活。"对贝克尔来说, 这是张难得的停工期间拍摄的照片, 他更喜欢用大格式相机拍照。"15年前, 我喜欢随身带着相机——一个拍立得相机。我业余时间出去的时候, 拍了成千上万张拍立得照片。但是现在不同了。我和朋友们在一起时, 唯一的相机就是 iPhone。我用眼睛拍照。"
Massimo Vitali, Mount Corchia, Italy	马西莫·维塔利(Massimo Vitali), 科奇亚山(Mount Corchia), 意大利
"When you hike, the intention is to hike," Vitali says. "I don't think about taking pictures. But the view was so overwhelming that I had to take a picture. I couldn't resist." This road, 35 miles outside Vitali's home in Lucca, Italy, winds up Mount Corchia to a marble quarry. The mountain is just a few miles from the ocean, but on this day, Vitali says, "the clouds became the sea."	"你徒步旅行时, 目的是徒步," 维塔利说, "我不想拍照的事。但是这景色太美了, 我必须得拍一张。我忍不住。"这条路离维塔利在意大利卢卡的家有 35 英里远, 它沿着科奇亚山通向一个大理石采石厂。这座山离大海只有几英里远, 但是这一天, 维塔利说, "云变成了海"。
Hiroshi Sugimoto, Atami, Japan	杉本博司(Hiroshi Sugimoto), 热海(Atami), 日本
"The most beautiful time is early in the morning before the sunrise, and sometimes after sunset," Sugimoto says of Atami, Japan, where he has a seaside condominium. "I keep my 8-by-10 camera only for this space. It's ready to shoot any time I want."	"最美的时候是早上日出前, 有时是日落后," 杉本博司这样描述日本的热海。他在那里有个海滨公寓。"我只在这个公寓里放了一个 8x10 照相机。任何时候, 我想拍就能拍。"
/travel/20140501/t01travel	/travel/20140501/t01travel
A Country in Bloom	到东京看落"樱"缤纷
Every spring millions of Japanese visit parks to take in the brief but magnificent bloom of their country's cherry trees. They gather for so-called hanami parties, setting out elaborate meals of bento boxes with sake. (A smaller celebration in Washington marks the flowering of	每年春天, 成百上千万日本人到公园欣赏樱花短暂而壮丽的盛放。他们前来参加名为"花见"(意为"观赏樱花")的聚会, 摆出精致的便当和米酒。(华盛顿的樱花盛开时也举办了小规模的庆祝。这些樱花是 1912 年东京市长赠给华盛顿的。)有的地方聚集着喧闹的 20 多岁的年轻人; 有的地方则是一家人

trees given to the city by the Tokyo mayor in 1912.) In some places, the scene is rowdy with people in their 20s; in others, families wander quietly among trees illuminated by paper lanterns. The photographer Matthew Pillsbury captured the cherry blossoms at their peak in several places in Japan this month. "The crowds are unlike anything I've ever seen," he says. "You see groups of elderly people sitting next to groups of teenagers. They all clap when the blooms start falling off the tree. They're basically having the very same party." Julie Bosman	在被纸灯笼照亮的樱花树下安静地漫步。本月，摄影师马修·皮尔斯伯里 (Matthew Pillsbury)在日本的几个地方捕捉到了正在盛花期的樱花。“这里的人群跟我以前见过的都不一样，”他说，“你看到成群的老年人旁边坐着成群的青少年。樱花纷纷飘落时，他们都开始鼓掌。可以说他们在举办同一个聚会。”Julie Bosman
Varieties of cherry tree in Japan: More than 300	日本樱花树的种类：300 多种
Most common cherry tree: Somei-Yoshino	最常见的樱花树：染井吉野樱
First ritual cherry-blossom viewings: Eighth century	樱花观赏仪式首次出现于：8 世纪
Number of original 3,000 trees given by the Tokyo mayor to Washington that survive: About 100	东京市长赠给华盛顿的 3000 棵樱花树存活下来的有：大约 100 棵
/travel/20140514/t14flower	/travel/20140514/t14flower
Destination: Tokyo	古怪又迷人的东京
After what's known as "the lost decades" of economic stagnation in Japan, metropolitan Tokyo exudes fresh vitality: A recent TripAdvisor survey ranked it the best tourism city in the world, home to more Michelin three-starred restaurants than any other city. (And a museum devoted to Cup Noodles in nearby Yokohama.) Visiting Tokyo, where preparations for the 2020 Summer Olympics are underway, requires a certain shift of perspective, according to Matthew Pillsbury, whose photographs from Japan appear on these pages and will be shown at New York's Bonni Benrubi Gallery in September. Pillsbury describes Tokyo as full of slightly weird but engaging sights — like all the Mickey	日本经济经过“失落的几十年”后，大都市东京焕发出新的活力：到到网 (TripAdvisor)最近的调查把它列为世界最佳旅游城市，这里的米其林三星餐馆比世界上的任何城市都要多（在附近的横滨市有一个关于杯面的博物馆）。东京正在为 2020 年夏季奥运会做准备。在马修·皮尔斯伯里(Matthew Pillsbury)看来，游览东京需要视角的转换。幻灯中他拍摄的这些关于日本的照片将于 9 月份在纽约的邦尼·本鲁比画廊(Bonni Benrubi Gallery)展出。皮尔斯伯里说东京充满了有点古怪但是非常迷人的景观——比如十多岁的男孩子们的全套米老鼠行头，市中心一家商场扶梯上方凸凹不平的镜子。“当你走进这个购物中心，你的世界突然之间变得支离破碎，”皮尔斯伯里说，“真的有一种美在里面。”

Mouse paraphernalia on teenage boys or the jagged arrangement of mirrors above an escalator in a downtown store. "You're walking into this shopping mall, and your world is suddenly fragmented," Pillsbury says. "There's something really beautiful about it." Julie Bosman
Foreign visitors to Japan in 2012: 8.4 million	2012 年赴日本的外国游客人数: 840 万
In 2013: 10.4 million	2013 年的人数: 1040 万
Visitors from the United States in 2013: 799,280	2013 年来自美国的游客人数: 799280 人
/travel/20140901/t01tokyo	/travel/20140901/t01tokyo
Mario Testino's Tips for Travel Photography	拍出好照片, 与照相机无关
To say that the photographer Mario Testino, 60, is a frequent traveler is something of an understatement. London is his home, but he is on a plane every third day for his jobs around the world to shoot campaigns for fashion houses like Chanel and portraits such as the official engagement picture of the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge.	60 岁的摄影师马里奥·特斯蒂诺(Mario Testino)经常旅行——这么说有点轻描淡写。他家在伦敦, 但是为了工作, 他每隔三天就要飞往世界各地为香奈儿(Chanel)等服装公司拍摄广告照片, 或者承接剑桥公爵和公爵夫人的正式订婚照等人像摄影工作。
His latest project is the fifth annual Macallan Masters of Photography, an initiative from the whisky producer based in Craigellachie, Scotland, in which well-known photographers like Annie Leibovitz and Albert Watson shoot pictures intended to showcase the brand. The assignment took Mr. Testino to Beijing. He spent three days at the China Club hotel, a former 17th-century palace, photographing his version of a black-tie party inside a whisky club. The Macallan is selling a limited number of prints of four photographs taken by Mr. Testino along with a bottle of whisky that is a blend of a half-dozen single malts (available for $3,500 at premium liquor stores).	他的最新工作是第五届麦卡伦年度摄影大师项目(Macallan Masters of Photography), 安妮·莱博维茨(Annie Leibovitz)和艾伯特·沃森(Albert Watson)等知名摄影师都为它拍过照片, 该项目是苏格兰克莱拉奇的威士忌制造商麦卡伦发起的, 目的是展示这个品牌。这个项目把特斯蒂诺带到了北京。他住在中国会酒店, 17 世纪, 这里曾是一座王府。他在这里呆了三天, 拍摄一个威士忌酒吧里的半正式派对。麦卡伦公司正在销售一款限量版组合, 内容包括特斯蒂诺拍摄的四张照片和一瓶威士忌, 这瓶威士忌是用六桶不同风味的单一麦芽威士忌混合调制的(高档酒类专卖店有售, 3500 美元)。
Mr. Testino recently visited New York to promote the project and spoke	最近, 特斯蒂诺到纽约推广这个项目, 在格拉梅西公园酒店的屋顶谈论旅行

on the rooftop of the Gramercy Park Hotel about how a destination informs his work and his tips for taking the ideal vacation pictures. Following are edited excerpts.	地点对作品的影响, 以及拍摄完美度假照片的小贴士。下面的谈话经过节选。
Q. The final images the Macallan is releasing from your time in Beijing are of people. Was conveying a sense of place — that you're in China — important to you?	问: 关于你在北京拍摄的那些照片, 麦卡伦最后发布了一组人物照片。传达地域感——表明你是在中国——这一点对你来说重要吗?
A. I started off with the intention of showing the surroundings of the China Club, but when I saw all the people together, it felt more exciting for me that it wasn't so well defined where they were. They could be anywhere, and I liked leaving that door open.	答: 最初我是想展示中国会酒店的环境, 但当我看到所有这些人在一起时, 我觉得不明确表现他们在哪儿更令我兴奋。他们可能是在任何地方, 我喜欢留下一些想像空间。
That being said, conveying a sense of place is important to me in my work. I love through my pictures to be able to travel through different continents and different social classes, but it's not always necessary. In this particular case, the characters were so well defined that I felt that the place might be one element too many so I ended up not showing the environment so much.	话虽如此, 但传达地域感对我的作品很重要。我喜欢人们能够通过我的照片游历不同的大陆和社会阶层, 但它并不总是必要的。在这个项目中, 这些人物已经有清晰界定了, 我觉得再加上地点这个元素就太多了, 所以我最终决定不展示那么多环境。
I have worked in Beijing several times before and love the energy of the city and the blend of historical and modern.	我之前去北京工作过几次, 我很喜欢那座城市的活力以及它对历史和现代的融合。
Since you're not a landscape photographer, how much does the destination really influence your work?	问: 你不是风光摄影师, 所以地点对你的作品真的有很大影响吗?
Interestingly enough, sometimes people will say to me that I don't need to travel for some of my projects because the destination isn't relevant, but I'm so excited by different places that traveling just triggers my imagination. It's almost an obsession to be in the right place for the right image.	答: 有趣的是, 有时人们对我说, 我的某些项目不需要旅行, 因为地点无关紧要, 但不同的地点会让我兴奋, 旅行能激发我的想像力。在合适的地方拍摄合适的影像几乎是我的强迫症。

Do you have a favorite city to work in?	问：有没有哪座城市是你特别喜欢在那里工作的？
I love Rio, Berlin and Naples, but London, New York City and Los Angeles are the places I go the most, and they are easy because they are geared for my sort of work. Like in L.A., for example, because it's the heart of the film world, anything you want for a shoot is there whether it's a Spanish villa or certain kinds of clothes. Not all places are so easy. They might not have location vans for hair and makeup, which are important in shoots, and you have to make do with the choices for wardrobe.	答：里约热内卢、柏林和那不勒斯，但是伦敦、纽约和洛杉矶是我去得最多的城市，在这几个城市拍摄很方便，因为它们很适合我这种工作。比如洛杉矶，它是电影中心，那儿有摄影需要的任何东西，不管是西班牙别墅还是某种服装。不是所有的地方都这么方便。有的地方可能没有可以用来放假发和化妆品的外景车，这些东西在拍摄时很重要，那样你就只能用衣橱里的东西将就。
What advice do you have for travelers who want to make sure they get the best pictures from their trip? Are good shots about having the right camera?	问：对于那些想在旅行中拍到最好照片的旅行者，你有什么建议？拍好照片跟相机有关吗？
You don't need a fancy camera to be able to capture anything. The one on your phone is good enough; that's what I use when I'm not working. Getting the right pictures is about opening your eyes to see what's magical about a place. I just photographed the city from a window on this floor and saw all these buildings lit in a beautiful way, which is so New York. But the magic is different depending on where you are. It could be the people, the landscape, the animals or even the candle in the room. You just have to be curious, and you'll find it.	答：不管拍什么，你都不需要好相机。你的手机相机就够好了，我不工作时也是用它拍照。拍到好照片最重要的是睁开眼睛发现一个地方的神奇之处。我就透过这层楼的一个窗户拍摄这座城市，看着这些建筑如此优美地排列，觉得它们非常具有纽约特色。不过你所在的地方不同，它的神奇之处也不同。可能是人、风景或动物，甚至是房间的蜡烛。只要你充满好奇心，就会发现它。
When you're not traveling professionally, where do you vacation, and how often are you taking pictures?	问：你不出差时去哪儿度假？度假时经常拍照吗？
I go on holiday about twice a year and generally to Brazil or to home in Peru. I take very few photographs.	答：我一年度假两次，通常是去巴西或者回秘鲁老家。我几乎不拍照。
What are your travel essentials?	问：哪些东西是你的旅行必需品？

If it's a personal trip, I don't really have any. I'm pretty low-maintenance. When I'm going for work, it's my assistants — I have a half dozen who travel with me. If I do a shoot, I have to edit the job on the plane right after, and when I land, I have to start doing the retouching. Today we work digitally so everything is raw, and you have to determine if you want the picture blue, green, red, contrasting or not, dark or light. There's a lot to do, and I'm always surrounded by people who are helping me.	答：如果是私人旅行，我几乎没有必需品。我很好养活。我去工作时，必须带助手，有六个助手跟我一起旅行。如果拍摄的话，我必须在结束后到飞机上马上剪辑，落地后就开始润色。现在我们都用数码相机拍照，所以一切都是未加工的，你必须在拍摄后才决定照片要什么色调——蓝色、绿色或红色——是否要增加对比色，是要暗色还是亮色。这要做很多工作，我周围总是有人在帮我。
Is jet lag an issue for you?	问：时差对你来说是个问题吗？
I am very lucky it isn't. I can sleep at anytime and anywhere, but I do need my eight hours.	答：我很幸运，时差对我来说不是问题。我随时随地都能睡，不过我的确需要睡够八小时。
/travel/20141225/t25travel	/travel/20141225/t25travel
Big Game Hunting Is Also Big Business for Wealthy Few	明星狮之死背后的富人天价狩猎游
An American dentist's recent killing of a lion named Cecil in Zimbabwe sparked public outrage, but it largely obscured the fact that big game hunting is also a big business in which animals are regularly pursued.	最近，一个美国牙医在津巴布韦猎杀了一只名叫塞西尔的狮子，激起了公愤，但罕为人知的是，事实上大型动物狩猎活动已是一项大型产业，动物们常常这样被追捕。
Several hunting outfits in the United States help organize safari hunts in countries like South Africa and Zimbabwe, where licensed hunting is legal. These safari hunts cater to a small but wealthy clientele of big-game hunters, who bring back more than 400 lion trophies — heads and furs — into the United States each year, according to the Humane Society, a conservation group. More than 750 elephants meet a similar fate.	美国一些狩猎团体组织游客到南非和津巴布韦之类可以持证合法狩猎的国家进行游猎旅行。这类旅行专门接待小型的富人狩猎团，猎杀大型动物，根据动物保护组织人道促进会(Humane Society)的数据，这些人每年将400多头狮子的战利品（包括头颅和皮毛）带回美国。还有750多头大象亦遭受到同样的命运。
Big-game hunters operate in a separate world from weekend deer hunters in the United States. Plane tickets, specialized gear and	大型动物狩猎和美国的周末猎鹿有着完全不同的运作方式，需要机票、特殊装备和武器、狩猎向导；此外还要支付天文数字的狩猎费，不同动物所需缴

weapons, safari guides and astronomical hunting fees determined by what kind of animal you want to kill – a lion costs more than $50,000, experts say – keep the pastime out of reach for most hunters.	纳的费用也不一样，专家说狩猎一头狮子要交五万美元以上的费用，因此这不是大多数猎人能够负担的娱乐项目。
“Typically they are fairly wealthy individuals,” said Steve West, a well-known hunting advocate who appears on a reality show on the Outdoor Channel and runs a tourism company that plans hunts. “You’re going to get a far more elite kind of person who books the average trip than in the U.S.”	“他们大都是非常有钱的人，”史蒂夫·韦斯特(Steve West)是著名的狩猎活动倡导者，他在户外频道的真人秀上亮相，并经营一家帮客户筹备狩猎的旅游公司。“和美国的狩猎旅行相比，预订这种狩猎的真的都是高端精英人士。”
Commercial trophy hunting is allowed in more than a dozen African countries, with most hunts taking place in South Africa, Tanzania, Botswana and Zimbabwe. Americans make up around 60 percent of big-game hunters active on the continent, activists say.	有十几个非洲国家都允许商业化的战利品狩猎，大多数狩猎者选择南非、坦桑尼亚、博茨瓦纳和津巴布韦。活动人士称，在非洲，美国人占大型动物狩猎者的60%左右。
Mr. West’s company is one of many that help American hunters plan trips overseas – offering everything from advice on weapons to guidance on what to expect once you’re out in the wild.	韦斯特的公司是众多帮助美国猎手筹划海外狩猎游的公司之一，向客户提供各种各样的服务，从武器方面的建议到野外环境指导。
Mr. West has been on “hundreds” of hunts, he said, including more than two dozen trips that have taken him overseas, where he has trekked with the Kalahari bushmen in Namibia and hiked in Argentina. (Mr. West’s TV program shows him as he kills an animal and then poses by the corpse.)	韦斯特说，自己曾经参与过“数百次”狩猎，其中包括二十多次海外狩猎，他曾在纳米比亚与喀拉哈里沙漠中的布什曼人一道长途跋涉，也曾在阿根廷徒步（他在电视节目杀死一只动物，并展示猎物的尸体）。
Big game hunters, he said, whether they kill anything or not, are first and foremost world travelers with a sense of adventure.	他说，不管到最后有没有杀死猎物，这些大型动物狩猎者们都是漫游世界的旅行者中最具冒险精神的。
“Some of the trips that I remember more than any others are the ones where we didn’t get anything, but had big adventures,” he said. Argentina is a particular favorite. “I just fell in love with their culture,” he	“让我更难忘的旅程，是那些我们虽然什么都没猎到，但却经历了极大危险的旅程，”他说。他尤其喜欢阿根廷。“我热爱他们的文化，”他补充说。

added.
Mr. West sets up as many as 50 overseas hunts a year for well-heeled travelers, many of them in Africa. He said that his clients are financially savvy and have a deep commitment to nature and wildlife.	韦斯特每年都要为富有的旅行者们安排 50 场之多的海外狩猎，大都是在非洲。他说，自己的客户都很有经济头脑，对自然和野生动物承担极大义务。
"These are salt-of-the-earth people," he said. "They may be wealthy, but people who hunt consider themselves conservationists."	"他们都是社会中坚，"他说。"他们可能很有钱，但他们都认为自己是自然资源保护者。"
Sabrina Corgatelli, an American hunter who was attacked on social media last week after she posted pictures of herself posing with a giraffe, a wildebeest and other animals she shot and killed on a legal hunt in South Africa, echoed that sentiment in an interview on the "Today" show.	上个星期，美国猎人塞布丽娜·科加特里(Sabrina Corgatelli)因为贴出自己和亲手猎杀的长颈鹿与非洲牛羚等动物的合影，在社交网络上备受攻击，这些动物都是她在南非合法猎杀的，她在"今日秀"的访谈中赞同了韦斯特的说法。
"Everybody just thinks we're coldhearted killers, and it's not that," she said. "There is a connection with the animal, and just because we hunt them doesn't mean we don't have a respect for them."	"所有人都觉得我们是冷血杀手，并非如此，"她说。"我们和动物之间有感情，我们猎杀它们，并不意味着我们就不尊敬它们。"
At the end of the day, Mr. West argues, hunters are realists who understand that an exotic or endangered animal is more likely to be protected from extinction if they are assigned a financial value.	说到底，韦斯特说，这些猎人们都是现实主义者，他们明白，当动物们同经济价值挂钩时，只有那些奇特或是濒危的种群才更有可能不遭到绝种的命运。
African trophy hunting may be an expensive hobby that only a few can afford, but it is true that it is also a big business. In an op-ed piece written in 2011 that appeared in The Daily Caller, a conservative website, Larry Rudolph, then president of Safari Club International, and Joseph Hosmer, president of the Safari Club International Foundation, argued that hunting was "good for Africa's lions." And, they said, humans benefited, too.	非洲战利品狩猎可能是一项只有少数人才能负担的昂贵爱好，但它确实也是一项很大的产业。2011年，在自然资源保护网站"每日呼唤者"(The Daily Caller)上发表的一篇专栏文章里，国际游猎俱乐部(Safari Club International)当时的主席拉里·鲁道夫(Larry Rudolph)与国际游猎俱乐部基金会(Safari Club International Foundation)的主席约瑟夫·霍斯默(Joseph Hosmer)说，狩猎"对非洲的狮子有益"。他们说，也对人类有利。
"Revenues from hunting generate $200 million annually in remote rural	"狩猎每年为非洲边远乡村带来两亿美元收入，"他们写道。这些钱主要用于

areas of Africa," they wrote. Much of that money goes to pay for park rangers and other forms of wildlife management that is a boon to the animals, they argued. "This revenue gives wildlife value, and humans protect the revenue by protecting the wildlife."	国家公园护林人，以及各种野生动物管理，从而造福动物们，他们说。“这些收益为野生动物赋予价值，于是人们会通过保护野生动物来保护这些收益。”
On Friday, the governments of South Africa and Namibia endorsed that view. Both countries condemned the recent decision by Delta Air Lines, United Airlines and other carriers to ban hunting trophies. They said this would hurt the hunting business and deprive their countries of money for wildlife management and community development.	星期五，南非与纳米比亚政府对这一观点表示赞同。两国都谴责达美航空公司(Delta Air Lines)、美国联合航空公司(United Airlines)等公司禁运狩猎战利品的规定。两国政府说，这会破坏狩猎产业，剥夺了两国用于野生动物管理及社区发展的经费。
That is an argument that opponents of hunting, like the Humane Society, reject.	人道促进会等反对狩猎的组织拒绝接受这一观点。
Instead, anti-hunting activists argue for the benefits of other forms of tourism. The local economy in rural Namibia, for example, may be better served by busloads of tourists toting cameras instead of rifles.	反对狩猎的活动人士认为，其他形式的旅游也可以带来收益。比如说，许许多多带着照相机来的旅客可能比带着来复枪的猎人更能推动纳米比亚乡村经济的发展。
"Tourism based on living animals brings in far more money than hunting does," said Teresa Telecky, a wildlife expert at the Humane Society and a critic of trophy hunting. "There are far more people coming to Africa for tourism than for trophy hunting, and that provides people with real livelihoods — working in restaurants, hotels, the tourism industry — and that is far more important than this theory that hunting revenue will trickle down to normal people."	“建立在活生生的动物基础上的旅游远比狩猎更能赚钱，”人道促进会的野生动物专家与战利品狩猎的抨击者特蕾莎·特莱基(Teresa Telecky)说。“去非洲旅游的人要比去非洲狩猎的人多得多；而且旅游业会给当地人带来真正就业机会——他们可以在餐厅、酒店和旅游行业工作——这比说狩猎所得的收入将会流入普通人手中，使当地人受益的理论重要得多。”
/travel/20150818/t18safari	/travel/20150818/t18safari
Chinese Tourists Take to the Road in Record Numbers for Golden Week	黄金周境内游热度不减，中国游客出门看“人海”
BEIJING — If there is ever a time when one truly understands what it feels like to live alongside 1.4 billion people in the world's most	北京——如果说真有那么一个时刻可以让你体会到，和世界人口第一大国的14亿人一起生活是什么感觉，那就是中国一年一度的黄金周了。

populous nation, it is the annual Golden Week holiday in China.
The holiday always begins on Oct. 1, the celebration of the Communist founding of the People's Republic in 1949. And this year, the crowds have gotten even more epic in scale, with hordes of travelers taking to the highways, the rails and the air. (Also, of course, to tourist camels in the Gobi, horses on the Tibetan Plateau and boats on the Yangtze River.)	这个庆祝共产党 1949 年建国的假期一向从 10 月 1 日开始。今年, 人群的规模更大, 游客成群结队地涌向公路、铁路和空中。(当然, 也有不少人涌向戈壁滩上用于搭载游客的骆驼、青藏高原上的马匹和长江上的游船。)
People's Daily, the Communist Party newspaper, said 589 million people were expected to travel this week – almost twice the population of the United States.	党报《人民日报》称本周预计会有 5.89 亿人出游, 这几乎相当于美国人口的两倍。
Though tourists may gripe about the crowds, they are a welcome sight for Communist Party leaders who say that China must move to a more consumer-driven economy. The country's economic growth has been fueled for many years by infrastructure investment, which officials say is economically and environmentally unsustainable.	尽管游客可能会抱怨人群拥挤, 但对共产党领导人来说, 这是一个他们乐见的迹象, 他们认为中国必须转向更依赖消费驱动的经济。多年来, 推动中国经济增长的一直是基础设施投资。官方称这种方式在经济和环境上不可持续。
But "sustainable" means different things to different people. Photographs of miles-long traffic jams on highways and oceans of people at the country's top attractions are circulating online this week.	但“可持续”对不同的人来说含义不同。本周, 网上流传着长达数英里的公路交通堵塞和中国著名景点人山人海的照片。
On Tuesday, the official Twitter account of People's Daily posted one such photo from the Forbidden City, in Beijing. It said the palace had sold 20,000 tickets within two hours on Sunday, or 166 tickets a minute.	周二当天, 《人民日报》的官方 Twitter 账号就发布了这样一张照片。照片的拍摄地是位于北京的故宫。该报称周日当天, 故宫两小时内售出了两万张门票, 相当于一分钟售出 166 张。
The newspaper also pointed out the miseries of being on the road. Early Tuesday, it reported via Facebook (which, like Twitter, is blocked in China) that 500 people had become stuck on Mount Hua overnight after heavy winds forced a cable car to stop operating.	《人民日报》还指出了在路上的痛苦。周二凌晨, 该报通过 Facebook (和 Twitter 一样, 在中国属于被屏蔽状态) 报道, 在大风迫使一辆缆车停止运行后, 500 人在华山上被困一夜。

One photograph online showed fog and mist enveloping the mountain, and others showed many elderly tourists and women and children gathered in a cave near the mountaintop cable car station. Mount Hua, or Huashan in Mandarin, is a sacred Taoist mountain in Shaanxi Province that is about 7,067 feet tall. The West Peak, where the cable car station is, has an altitude of 6,850 feet.	网上的一张照片显示华山被云雾笼罩,其他一些照片上则是很多上了年纪的游客,以及女性和儿童聚集在山顶索道站附近的一个岩洞内的情景。华山是道教圣地,位于陕西省境内,高约7067英尺(约合2154米)。索道站所在的西峰海拔约6850英尺。
China Central Television, the main state television network, reported on Monday that 14.4 million people traveled by train on Saturday, the first day of the holiday week, an increase of 15 percent over the same time last year. More than 500 additional trains were put into service, it said.	主要官方电视台中央电视台周一报道,上周六——长假开始的第一天——有1440万人乘坐火车出行,比去年同期增加了15%。报道还称此次增开了逾500列火车。
Air passengers that day numbered 960,000, a 6.4 percent increase over 2015.	飞机乘客人数达到96万,比去年增加了6.4%。
Driving was also popular because governments do not collect tolls on roads during this time, "which led to the inevitable gridlock on the country's highways," the television network said. The same report said traffic on a six-mile stretch of road in Shanghai ground to a halt.	自驾也非常流行,因为政府在节日期间不收公路过路费,"这不可避免地导致公路上出现交通大堵塞",中央电视台报道。其中还提到,在上海一段六英里长的道路上,交通陷入了停顿。
Police officers were using drones to help monitor traffic conditions during the holiday, according to Xinhua, the state news agency. It quoted the Ministry of Public Security as saying that 214,000 officers were on the roads on Saturday. There were 55,000 cases of speeding violations, 1,100 cases of drunken driving and 3,100 cases of the illegal use of emergency lanes, the report said.	据官方通讯社新华社报道,十一期间警方使用无人机监控交通状况。报道援引了公安部的说法称,上周六有21.4万名警察在路上执勤。报道还称,当天有5.5万违规超速案件,1100起醉驾和3100起非法使用紧急通道的案件。
A photograph in a slide show on the website of Xinhua showed cheek-by-jowl crowds beneath an outdoor archway at the Sun Yat-sen Mausoleum in Nanjing.	新华社网站上发布的一组幻灯片中,一张照片显示了南京中山陵一道牌坊下摩肩接踵的人群。

Domestic tourism has been on the rise in China for years, with the Golden Week period generating more revenue for most tourism-related businesses than any other week of the year.	多年来，中国境内游规模一直在增长，与旅游相关的大多数生意在黄金周期间产生的收入，比一年中的任何其他周都多。
In 2015, Chinese tourists made four billion domestic trips, twice as many as in 2010, according to government data. That number is also much more than the 122 million trips they made abroad last year.	官方数据显示，2015年中国境内游达40亿人次，是2010年的两倍。这个数字也远远多于去年的1.22亿人次境外游数量。
Beijing has been quiet outside of the most popular tourist attractions like the Forbidden City, the Great Wall, the Temple of Heaven and the Summer Palace. On streets that are usually clogged on workdays, there are few cars. Many restaurants are closed.	在故宫、长城、天坛和颐和园等热门景点之外的北京非常安静。工作日，街道上往往会出现交通拥堵，节日期间却少有车辆。许多餐馆也停止营业了。
One resident, Mu Shuhua, said he was staying in town this week. Outside it, he said, "there are too many people traveling."	一位名为穆舒华（音）的市民表示，他这周一待待城里。外面“太多游客了”，他说。
/travel/20161008/china-holiday-travel-golden-week	/travel/20161008/china-holiday-travel-golden-week
In Macau, Skipping the Casinos, but Embracing the Past	奢华澳门，如何尽兴穷游？
As we bumped along in the No. 25 bus on Estrada do Istmo, it was impossible not to notice the Venetian Macau, a mountain of steel and glass, shining in the distance in the afternoon sun. Opened in 2007, it's home to one of the largest casinos on earth. And it's not alone: Of the 10 biggest casinos in the world in 2014 (based on revenue), a staggering eight were in Macau, a tiny region on the southern coast of China, where over half a million people are packed into fewer than 12 square miles.	当我们坐在25路巴士上沿着路氹连贯公路颠簸前行时，很难去忽略远处的澳门威尼斯人(Venetian Macau)。在午后的阳光下，这座由钢铁和玻璃组成的山峰闪闪发光。全球最大的赌场之一就设在2007年开业的该酒店内。并且并非孤例：2014年全球最大的10家赌场（按收入计算）中，多达八家位于中国南部海岸地区的弹丸之地澳门。在那里，不足12平方英里（约合32平方公里）的土地上容纳了50多万人。
But I wasn't there to gamble. Following a precedent I'd established in my very first Frugal Traveler column, when I toured Las Vegas without going to the famed Strip, I was determined to break the shell of Macau's	但我不是去赌博的。写第一篇“穷游世界”(Frugal Traveler)专栏时，我曾去拉斯维加斯旅游，却没有去大名鼎鼎的长街(Strip)。遵循这个先例，我决定打破澳门奢华的外壳，看一看表象下面是什么。在短暂的两夜游期间，我乘渡

opulent exterior and see what lay beneath the surface. During a quick two-night trip, taking the ferry across the Pearl River Estuary, I found it was the perfect place for a getaway from the noise and intense urban compactness of Hong Kong.	船穿过珠江口，发现澳门是摆脱香港的喧嚣和严重的城市拥挤的绝佳去处。
Owing to its colonial past, Macau, with its cobblestone streets, old Catholic churches and narrow alleyways, has an almost European feel to it, along with an interesting local cuisine that fuses Portuguese and Chinese flavors. And my focus, naturally, was putting this trip together without causing undue strain on my budget.	因为曾是殖民地，有着鹅卵石街道、古老的天主教堂和狭窄的巷弄的澳门，几乎有一种欧洲的感觉。当地的饮食也非常有趣，结合了葡萄牙和中国的风味。我的重点，自然是在完成这趟旅行的同时，不至于让我的预算过于紧张。
Macau was one of the first Asian settlements to be forced into the yoke of European colonization and the last to shed it, achieving full independence from Portugal in 1999. As with Hong Kong, China administers Macau but employs a somewhat laissez-faire, capitalist-friendly approach. There are no visa requirements for Americans staying in Macau fewer than 30 days (you will need to bring your passport).	澳门是亚洲最早被迫卷入欧洲殖民统治的地区之一，也是最后一个摆脱殖民统治的地区，1999年才从葡萄牙完全分离出来。和香港一样，澳门在中国治下，但后者采用了一种有些自由放任的、对资本主义友好的方式。美国人在澳门停留30天以内无需办理签证（但需带上护照）。
The TurboJet ferry ride from Hong Kong (150 to 200 Hong Kong dollars for an economy fare, about $20 to $25) is reasonably quick and comfortable. Ferries leave from various spots in Hong Kong regularly, so if you miss one, there's no need to worry. (Be more cautious when you're leaving Macau — it's easier to end up on the wrong ferry.)	从香港乘坐“喷射飞航”客轮（经济舱150到200港币，约合20到25美元）还算快捷、舒适。客轮定时从香港多地发船，因此即便错过一趟也不用担心。（但离开澳门时要更加小心谨慎——因为比较容易上错船。）
My attack plan was simple: to see as much as I could, by foot and by public transportation. Macau is traditionally divided into three sections: the peninsula and the islands of Coloane and Taipa. (A fourth "region" of land reclaimed from the ocean, Cotai, now connects Coloane and	我的作战计划很简单：用步行和乘坐公共交通的方式尽可能地多看一些东西。澳门传统上分三个地区：澳门半岛、路环岛区和氹仔。（还有一个“地区”是填海造陆后形成的路氹，现在将路环和氹仔连接在了一起，那里有很多比较新的赌场。）我尤其关注澳门南部颇有乡土气息的路环村。

Taipa and is the home to many of the newer casinos.) I particularly had my eye on rustic Coloane Village in the south.
Though I had no plans to indulge in the casinos, one lesson I've learned in my travels is that where there's gambling, cheap rooms follow — it's how they lure you in. I was able to land a very comfortable, relatively luxurious room at the Sofitel on the western side of the peninsula for 650 Hong Kong dollars, a little over $80. Close to the center of the city, it was an ideal jumping-off point. I was able to check another essential off the list by walking to Yin He Dian Xun (roughly, Galaxy Telecommunications) and purchasing a 500-gigabyte SIM card from a very helpful young woman for 50 Macanese patacas (about $6).	尽管我不打算沉溺于赌场，但我从多次旅行中得出的一个经验是，有赌博的地方就有便宜的房间——这是他们吸引你过去的方式。我得以在澳门半岛西部的索菲特(Sofitel)酒店住进了一个非常舒适，并且相对豪华的房间，价格是650港币，相当于80美元多一点。因为接近市中心，那里是理想的起点。我还买到了清单上列出的另一件必需品。我走到银河电讯，以50澳门元的价格从一个非常乐于助人的年轻女士那里买了一张500G的SIM卡。
Ah, yes, the currency. The Macanese pataca and Hong Kong dollar are separate currencies but virtually interchangeable in Macau. Change will sometimes come in patacas, sometimes in Hong Kong dollars. A dollar is, however, slightly more valuable than a pataca. If you're considering making a big souvenir purchase (like gold or jade jewelry, which is plentiful on the main drag of Avenida de Almeida Ribeiro) either use a credit card with no foreign transaction fee, or walk into a bank to exchange for patacas — I was able to do both without difficulty.	哦，对了，还有货币。澳门元和港币是不同的货币，但在澳门几乎可以互换。找的零钱有时候是澳门元，有时候是港币。不过港币比澳门元略微更值钱一些。如果考虑大手笔地购买纪念品（比如新马路的主干道上应无尽有的金器或玉饰），要么用信用卡，无外币兑换费，要么去银行换澳门元。我使用两种方式时都没遇到困难。
Senado Square, within walking distance of my hotel, was a good place to begin exploring. Beautiful old yellow and pink pastel buildings with arched doorways and green shuttered windows frame the historic square, which is paved with small tiles. It was a perfect place to stroll and enjoy the egg tart I'd purchased for 9 dollars from Koi Kei Bakery.	从我住的酒店步行可达的议事厅前地是一个开始探索的好地方。具有历史意义的广场上铺了小地砖，四周坐落着漂亮的黄色和粉色建筑，带有拱形门廊和绿色百叶窗，风格淡雅。这里很适合一边散步，一边品尝我花9澳门元从钜记手信买的蛋挞。
The egg tart is one of Macau's signature delicacies, a local	蛋挞是澳门的标志性美食之一，是当地对葡萄牙蛋挞的演绎——光滑细腻的

interpretation of the Portuguese pastel de nata — perfectly creamy custard with a pleasantly caramelized top, encased within a delicate, flaky pastry cup.	奶油蛋羹上面是一层漂亮的焦糖，包裹在脆薄的杯状酥饼里。
Another distinctive item is the pork chop bun. I stopped into the celebrated Tai Lei Loi Kei, a nearly 50-year-old Macanese chain, and paid 48 dollars for a small, bone-in pork chop that had been slapped somewhat unceremoniously onto a buttered white roll. Fortunately the meat was simply seasoned and well cooked (just be careful not to break a tooth).	另一款特色美食是猪扒包。我停下脚步，走进澳门有近 50 年历史的知名连锁大利来记，花 48 澳门元买了一小份带骨猪扒。猪扒被随意地放在了一块涂有黄油的小圆面包上。不错的是，肉经过了简单地调味，并且是十成熟（务必小心，不要咬掉牙）。
In addition to its cuisine, Macau has memorable architecture. Catholic influence is still very much present, at least aesthetically. St. Dominic's Church, a beautifully restored, custard-colored 16th-century structure, is free to enter, as is a three-story art museum housed in the church's bell tower. I looked over the icons and relics of the church on display, including beautiful old wooden carvings.	除了饮食外，澳门还有令人难忘的建筑。天主教的影响依然非常明显，至少在审美上如此。经过精心修复后，蛋奶色的 16 世纪建筑玫瑰堂免费开放，位于教堂钟楼里的三层艺术博物馆也是免费的。我仔细欣赏了展出的玫瑰堂的圣象和圣人遗物，包括古老的精美木雕。
Other worthy architectural attractions include the Ruins of St. Paul, a grand stone facade that is one of the few remaining pieces of a centuries-old complex. While there, I made the steep hike up to the adjacent Fortaleza do Monte, which provided an excellent view of the city.	其他值得一看的建筑景观包括大三巴牌坊。这是一面宏伟的石壁，是一处有几百年历史的建筑物的正面外墙，也是其留存下来的少许残垣断壁之一。在那里，我沿着陡坡爬上了旁边的大炮台，一览全市盛景。
I could walk to the ruins and St. Dominic's from my hotel, but despite Macau's compact size, not everything is walkable. I would not recommend driving in Macau, nor riding one of the city's ubiquitous scooters. I found a bike rental shop called Si Toi in Taipa that charged 20 dollars per hour (only $2.50, remember) but I ultimately decided on	我可以从酒店走路去大三巴牌坊和玫瑰堂，但尽管澳门很袖珍，却不是哪里都适合步行的。在澳门，我不建议开车，也不建议骑当地随处可见的电动摩托车。我在氹仔找到了一个叫“时代”的摩托车租赁行，每小时 20 澳门元（记住，仅 2.50 美元），但我最终决定坐巴士：我觉得巴士便宜并且相当可靠。

the bus: I found it cheap and fairly reliable.
Unless you have something called a Macaupass (which I did not, and purchase locations are annoyingly scarce), you will need coins. Lots of coins. And they don't make change on the buses, so get used to walking around with a pocketful of patacas. (Local businesses and banks can help you make change if you're hard up.) I hopped the 26A bus to Coloane, eager to see the rustic, more peaceful side of Macau.	除非你有一种叫澳门通的东西（我没有，能买到的地方少得令人恼火），否则需准备硬币。大量硬币。澳门的巴士不找零，因此要习惯四处溜达时口袋里装满澳门元。（如果手头硬币不够，当地的商家和银行能帮你换。）我跳上开往路环的 26A 路巴士，急切地想看看澳门乡村的、更平静的一面。
(A quick note on signage: Every official sign in Macau will be in both Portuguese and Chinese. I found this somewhat curious, as I didn't hear a word of Portuguese my entire stay. I asked Neal, a server at the cute Cafe Cheri, if he spoke Portuguese or knew anyone who did. "Well," he hesitated, "No, not really." Did anyone in Macau speak Portuguese? "Yes, I think in some restaurants.")	（快速说一下指示牌：澳门所有正式的指示牌都是中葡双语的。我觉得有点奇怪，因为在整个澳门之旅期间，我没听到一个葡萄牙词语。我问在小巧精致的餐厅常喜当服务员的尼尔(Neal)会不会说葡语，或者认不认识说葡语的人。“嗯，”他有些犹豫，“不会，不太会。”澳门有人说葡语吗？“有，我想在有些餐厅有。”
Coloane Village was quiet, almost sleepy, when I hopped off the bus by the roundabout near Eanes Park. It was, in other words, exactly what I was seeking. I began walking north up the coast, stopping for another excellent 9-dollar egg tart at Lord Stow's Bakery. Colorfully painted houses stood on stilts in the bay, China a mere 1,000 feet to the west. Fishermen hung their catch outside their homes, and every now and then there was the distinctive clack of mah-jongg tiles.	当我在恩尼斯花园附近的环岛旁边跳下巴士时，路环村一片安静，几乎算是人迹罕至了。换句话说，这正是我想要的。我开始沿着海岸一路往北走，并在安德鲁饼店停下，又买了 9 元的蛋挞。海湾地区，刷成五颜六色的房屋被用木柱支撑着，仅 1000 英尺（约合 300 米）以西便是中国大陆。渔民将捕捞到的鱼晾晒在屋外，偶尔还会听到麻将牌发出的独特的啪嗒声。
I wound my way down Avenida de Cinco de Outubro, in the shade of thick-trunked ficus rumphii trees with aerial roots, like banyan trees. I eventually found myself in a beautiful cobblestone plaza with a fountain on one end and the beautiful, bright yellow Chapel of St. Francis on the other. I dined al fresco at Cafe Nga Tim on a 58-dollar	我顶着树干粗壮的心叶榕的树荫，沿十月初五日街朝南走。心叶榕根系发达，很像菩提树。最后，我发现自己来到了一处美丽的鹅卵石广场，广场的一头是一座喷泉，另一头是圣方济各圣堂。在雅憩花园餐厅，我花 58 元吃了一顿米饭搭配咖喱虾的户外晚餐，静观夜幕降临。

dish of rice and curried prawns and watched evening set in.
The casinos? Didn't need them. They do provide a useful benefit, though: When it came time to head back to the ferry terminal, I happily used the hotel's free shuttle bus.	赌场？根本不需要。不过它们的确提供了一个便利：到要返回轮渡码头时，我开心地乘坐了酒店的免费穿梭巴士。
/travel/20161201/macau-region-china-coast-frugal	/travel/20161201/macau-region-china-coast-frugal
My Beijing: The Sacred City	北京，一座“圣城”的失落与重生
When I first came to Beijing in 1984, the city felt dusty and forgotten, a one-time capital of temples and palaces that Mao had vowed—successfully, it seemed—to transform into a landscape of factories and chimneys. Soot penetrated every windowsill and every layer of clothing, while people rode simple steel bicycles or diesel-belching buses through the windy old streets.	1984年，当我第一次来到北京的时候，感觉它像是一处已被遗忘的蒙尘之地，这座古都曾经遍布寺院和宫殿，毛泽东则发誓要把它改造为一片充斥工厂和烟囱的景观，而且似乎也成功了。煤烟渗进每个窗台，渗进每一层衣服，人们骑着简单的钢铁自行车，或是乘坐喷吐柴油烟雾的公共汽车，在刮着大风的古老街道上穿行。
Then, as now, it was hard to imagine this sprawling city as the sacred center of China's spiritual universe. But for most of its history, it was exactly that.	那个时候，正如现在一样，很难想象这个庞大的城市曾是中华精神世界的神圣中心。但在这个都城的大部分历史时期中正是如此。
It wasn't a holy city like Jerusalem, Mecca or Banaras—locations whose very soil was hallowed, making them destinations for pilgrims—yet Beijing's streets, walls, temples, gardens and alleys were part of a carefully woven tapestry that reflected the constellations above, geomantic forces below, and an invisible overlay of holy mountains and gods. It was a total work of art, epitomizing the political-religious system that ran traditional China for millennia. It was Chinese belief incarnate.	这里不是耶路撒冷、麦加或贝拿勒斯这样的圣城——那些地方，就连土地都是神圣的，令它们成为朝圣者的目的地——然而北京的街道、高墙、寺院、园林和小巷构成了一幅精心编织的挂毯，映衬出天上的星宿与地上的风水，以及圣山与神祇无形的笼罩。它完全是一件艺术作品，是传统中国千年来政教体系的缩影。它曾是中国人信仰的尘俗体现。
Beijing's cosmology changed in the twentieth century, especially after the Communist takeover in 1949. Its great city walls and many of its	二十世纪以来，北京的宇宙观发生了变化，特别是1949年共产党接管这座城市之后。它那宏伟的城墙，大量寺庙，乃至其独特的小巷（或者叫胡同）

temples and distinctive alleys, or hutong, were destroyed to make way for the new ideals of an atheistic, industrial society. The 1980s brought economic reforms and uncontrolled real estate development, which wiped out almost all of the rest of the old town. Lost was a vast medieval city of 25 square miles but also a way of life, just as the local cultures of the world's other great cities have been swamped by our restless times.	都遭到损毁，为无神论工业社会的新理想铺路。1980年代带来经济改革和失控的房地产开发，导致残余的旧城区几乎被全部抹去。失落的不仅仅是一座广阔的、占地25平方英里的中世纪城市，也是一种生活方式，正如世界其他大城市的本土文化亦被我们躁动的时代所淹没。
Over the years, I have watched some of this transformation, first as a student, then a journalist, and now a writer and teacher. Like many people who have fallen in love with this city, I was disheartened and felt Beijing's culture was lost.	多年来，我看到了这样一些转变，首先是以学生的身份，然后是记者，现在则是作为作家和老师。像许多爱上这个城市的人一样，我感到沮丧，觉得北京的文化已经失落了。
But in recent years I have begun to think I was wrong. Beijing's culture is not dead; it is being reborn in odd corners of the city and in unexpected ways. It is not the same as the past, but still vibrant and real—ways of life and belief that echo bygone days.	但是最近几年，我开始认为自己错了。北京的文化并没有死亡，而是在城市的偏僻角落里，以意想不到的方式重生。它与过去并不一样，但是仍然充满活力、无比真切——这些生活与信仰的方式同逝去的日子遥相呼应。
I see this in two places in this city where I now live. One is the Temple of the Sun neighborhood in the city's east, and the other a Taoist temple in the city's west. These are places that seemed forgotten and irrelevant, but have slowly taken on a new importance in recent years as Chinese search for new values and beliefs to underpin their post-Communist society.	如今，定居北京的我在两个地方看到了这种迹象。一处是城市东边的日坛一带，另一处是城市西边一座道观。这些地方看似无关紧要，已被遗忘，但是近年来，随着中国人不断寻求新的价值观和信仰，以支持起他们的后共产主义社会，这些地方也慢慢显示出新的重要意义。
For most of my time in Beijing, I have always lived within walking distance of the Temple of the Sun. A 50-acre park in Beijing's Jianguomenwai diplomatic district, the temple was built in 1530, one of four shrines where the emperor worshipped key heavenly bodies—the	在北京的大部分时间里，我一直住在步行可以到达日坛的范围之内。这座公园位于北京建国门的使馆区，占地50英亩，建于1530年，是皇帝祭祀天地日月的四座神坛之一——另外三座用来祭祀月亮和天地。天坛当然是最有名的，但是日坛能透露更多东西，因为它并不是用来炫耀展示的。

others are dedicated to the moon, the earth and heaven. The Temple of Heaven is easily the most famous, but the Temple of the Sun reveals more because it is less of a showpiece.
Like virtually every landmark in Beijing, the temple was badly damaged during the Cultural Revolution. This was a period of radical Communist violence from 1966 to 1976, when every place of worship and many symbols of the past were attacked. The main stone altar, a flat disk about 20 feet across and raised about two feet off the ground, was smashed by Mao's zealots. Later, the park became a dumping ground for rubble when the city's walls were torn down.	几乎同北京的所有地标一样，这座神坛在“文化大革命”期间受到严重破坏。“文革”从1966年持续到1976年，是一个激进的共产主义暴力时期，当时所有用于宗教祭拜的场所以及许多旧时代的象征都遭到了攻击。日坛主要的石头祭坛是一个直径约20英尺、距离地面约两英尺的平台，被毛泽东的狂热崇拜者们砸烂。后来，当这座城市的城墙被拆毁时，残垣瓦砾都被倾倒在这座公园里。
I came to know the park eight years after that traumatic period ended. I studied Chinese language and literature at Peking University from 1984 to 1985, and used to bike over to this area because it had become the country's chief diplomatic district and one of the few places where homesick westerners could buy chocolate and postcards. In the post-Mao era, China was opening up and so it built embassies and modern apartment blocks to house foreign diplomats and journalists. This area became Beijing's international hub, with a "Friendship Store," an International Club and a western-style hotel that had one of the city's few bakeries. I came for the croissants, but stayed for the tree-lined streets and the Temple of the Sun.	在这段创伤期结束八年之后，我开始了解了这座公园。1984年到1985年，我在北京大学学习中国语言和文学，曾经骑自行车到这个地区，因为它已经成为该国的主要使馆区，也是思乡的西方人可以购买巧克力和明信片的少数地方之一。在毛泽东之后的时代，中国走向对外开放，所以这里建设了大使馆和现代化的公寓楼群，用来容纳各国的外交官和记者。这个地区成了北京的国际枢纽，有着一座“友谊商店”，一家国际俱乐部，还有一个西式酒店，并拥有全市为数不多的一家面包房。我曾来到这里买羊角面包，却在绿树成荫的街头和日坛公园流连忘返。
I remember walking through the park, its altar recently reconstructed, but many of the buildings so dilapidated that the grounds seemed abandoned. A few Beijingers ventured in occasionally to fly kites from the original stone balustrades, which were cracked and discolored like	我记得自己走过公园，当时那座祭坛前不久刚刚重建过，但许多建筑物破旧失修，整个庭院似乎已被遗弃了。有几个北京人偶尔会冒险在原来的石栏那边放风筝，栏杆已经变了颜色，布满裂纹，像是一群沧桑老人。外交官员的孩子们围着祭坛周围低矮的围墙跑来跑去，测试它的声学效果——对着墙低

old bones. Diplomats' kids would run around the altar's low peripheral wall testing its acoustics—if you whispered into it, a friend could hear your voice a dozen feet away.	声说话，十几英尺之外的朋友也可以听见你的声音。
In 1994, I returned to China to work for seven years as a journalist, first for Baltimore's The Sun and later for The Wall Street Journal. I ended up moving into one of the diplomatic compounds and the neighborhood became my home. Again, I was drawn to the Temple of the Sun.	1994年，我回到中国担任记者，在这里工作了七年，先是为巴尔的摩的《太阳报》(The Sun)，后来是为《华尔街日报》(The Wall Street Journal)。我最终住进一个外交公寓，这个街区变成了我的家。日坛再一次吸引了我。
Back then the park had an entrance fee that kept it relatively empty, especially in what was now a crowded, bustling city. It only cost 50 cents to enter, but China was still relatively poor and people weren't inclined to spend their time on exercise. You worked, you went home, you rested. Parks were for special occasions. It was possible to walk the roughly one-mile perimeter path and encounter only a few people, often diplomats from the nearby embassies, or spooks keeping an eye on things.	那时候，公园要收门票，所以里面几乎是空荡荡的，特别是当时北京已经是一个拥挤繁华的城市了。门票只要50美分，但当时中国还是比较穷，人们不愿意在锻炼身体上耗费时间，就是工作、回家、休息而已。公园是特殊情况下才去的。绕着公园走一英里可能只遇见几个人，通常是附近大使馆里的外交官，又或者是搞监视的间谍。
The Temple of the Sun wasn't just empty of people but looked barren. This was a time when Chinese parks rarely had grass. Instead, the hard-packed dry earth of arid Beijing was raked by crews every few days. It was odd but had an austere beauty that set off the ginkgo and persimmon trees that lined the paths.	日坛里不仅没什么人，而且看起来很荒凉。那时候，中国的公园里很少有绿草。相反，北京气候干旱，土地干硬，工作人员隔几天就用耙子松土。这种景致有些古怪，但却更给道路两旁的银杏树和柿子树增添了一种庄严之美。
By the time I returned to China in 2009 to work as a writer and teacher, all of this had changed. China had enjoyed three decades of fast economic growth and government coffers were overflowing. Besides aircraft carriers, Olympic games and high-speed rail, it spent its money on parks and greenery.	2009年，我以作家和老师的身份回到中国工作，所有这一切都变了。中国经济高速发展了三十年，政府拥有充裕的资金。除了航空母舰、奥运会和高铁之外，它也把金钱花在建设公园和绿地上。

The Temple of the Sun gained grass, new trees, flower beds of tulips in the spring and geraniums in the summer, and stands of bamboo that are so foreign to this colder part of China that they have to be laboriously bundled up against the cold each autumn.	日坛的春天有了草坪、新的树木和郁金香花坛，夏天则有了天竺葵，竹林在中国这个较为寒冷的地区显得突兀陌生，每年秋天，工人们都要辛苦地把它们捆扎起来，好让它们抵御寒冷。
Best of all—or worst, depending on your selfishness—authorities also got rid of the entrance fees. Suddenly the park was part of the city, embraced by residents eager for activity. Unlike years ago, many Chinese want to exercise and so the park is now filled with joggers in black spandex sprinting past restaurant workers in greasy smocks.	最好的一件事是——或者是最坏一件事，取决于你是否自私——当局免除了门票。突然之间，这座公园成了城市的一部分，受到渴望参与活动的居民们欢迎。不像多年前，现在许多中国人都想锻炼，所以现在公园里到处都是慢跑者，他们穿着黑色氨纶运动服，冲过身穿油腻罩衣的餐饮工作者身边。
But this need for green space clashes with another trend in China: the surrender of public areas to the rich. Just as Beijing’s bike lanes have become turning lanes for cars and its sidewalks overrun with motorbikes delivering hot meals to the upper-middle class, huge swaths of the Temple of the Sun have been sacrificed to benefit a wealthy minority.	但是，对绿色空间的需求与中国的另一个趋势产生了冲突：公共区域被出让给富人。正如北京的自行车道已经成为汽车车道，摩托车、电动车在人行道上横行霸道，为中产阶级外送热食，日坛的很大一部分也被分割出来，成了少数富人的福利。
Since about 2000, I estimate that about 15 to 20 percent of the park’s area has been rented out to relatively high-end restaurants, an exclusive social club, a German beer garden, a yuppie yoga yard, a strange antique furniture store that is always empty (and smells of some sort of dodgy corruption scheme), a Russian restaurant, and stores exhibiting wholesale wares for Russian traders—in other words, commercial activities that don’t belong in this great old park.	自 2000 年左右以来，我估计公园大约有 15% 到 20% 已被出租给相对高档的餐厅、一家会员制社交俱乐部、一个德国啤酒花园、一个雅痞瑜伽会所、一个奇怪的古董家具店，总是空空荡荡的（感觉好像有什么可疑的腐败阴谋气息）、一家俄罗斯餐厅、还有一些面向俄罗斯商人的批发商店——换言之，一些不属于这个古老公园的商业活动。
With so much of the park’s area lost to these money-spinning activities, the Temple of the Sun has been reduced to the rebuilt altar in the center, a small hill, a tiny lake and one main path. With no entrance fees	在很大一部分面积被让渡给这些来钱快的活动以后，日坛公园缩减为中心地带重建的祭坛、一座小山、一个小湖以及一条主路。由于可以免费进园，空间又有限，这条路现在十分拥挤，有时候就像是一个快速旋转的仓鼠轮，人

and no space, the path is so crowded now that it sometimes feels like a fast-spinning hamster wheel that one enters or exits at one's peril.	们出出入入都要自担风险。
And yet I still love the park. When I follow the counter-clockwise flow I keep an eye out for the skyscrapers peeking through the weeping willows, the Tai Chi master by the lake, and the old pines that somehow have survived the tumult. I even listen for the screech of the tacky children's amusement park with its half-broken choo-choo trains.	但我依然喜爱这个公园。跟着逆时针的人流行进时，我会留意透过垂柳的枝条隐约可见的摩天大楼，留意湖边练太极的人们，留意不知怎么在动荡中幸存下来的古松。我甚至会倾听从那个配有破烂小火车的脏兮兮的儿童乐园内传出的兴奋尖叫声。
But the park is more than a window into people's daily lives; for the government it still functions as a way to boost its legitimacy. Authorities run a tiny museum that exhibits—as if real—recreations of the smashed altar pieces. It has also put a big steel fence around the altar to show its earnestness in protecting cultural heritage. And it has erected an information board explaining the temple's history while excising all mention of the Mao-era losses. The goal: assuring Chinese that the Communist Party, which once attacked tradition, is now its guardian.	而且，这个公园不仅是通往人们日常生活的一扇窗；对政府而言，它还可以被用来增强自身的合法性。那里拥有一个小型官方博物馆，在里边展览来自被砸烂的祭坛的物件，虽然它们只是仿品。他们还在祭坛周围安装了大大的钢铁栏栅，以展现其保护文化遗产的热望。此外，那里竖起了一块信息板，用以解释日坛的历史，但绝口不提毛泽东时代的损失。其目的在于：让中国人相信，曾对传统发起攻击的共产党，现在是传统的护佑者。
Over the past few months, this message has been reinforced by colorful propaganda posters lauding traditional ways to run a family. Famous theorists from millennia past are introduced and their works given a quick explanation. We learn the virtues of obedience and of listening to one's parents, and of course taking care of them—all preoccupations of a government whose decades of draconian family planning policies have left it with a rapidly aging population and a rebellious youth that ignores its parents.	过去几个月里，这一讯息通过那些称颂传统持家方法的五彩缤纷的宣传海报得到了强化。千百年来的思想家们纷纷登场，他们的著述也被简略介绍了一番。我们在海报上能学到顺从父母意愿、听从其教诲的美德，当然了，还要赡养父母——由于政府曾在数十年间实施严厉的计划生育政策，中国人口快速老龄化，而且叛逆的年轻一代常常忽视父母，因此推广这些美德成了当务之急。
Once in a while, somewhat awkwardly, the Communist state even recreates the old rituals. This past March some friends of mine—retirees	偶尔，这个共产主义国家甚至会有些尴尬地重现古老的仪式。刚刚过去的这个三月，我的一些朋友——都是些退休人员，同时也是业余歌手和业余演奏

who are amateur singers and musicians—were hired as extras for a ceremony on the Spring Equinox. About 30 of them dressed up in gowns and Qing dynasty-era hats, and then marched solemnly to the altar. Accompanied by a small orchestra of musicians playing gongs, cymbals and kettle drums, they strode up to a table filled with imitation dead animals laid out for sacrifice. A young man dressed as the emperor then kowtowed and made the ritual offerings, all under the strict guidance of experts from the local cultural affairs bureau who had read accounts of the ancient practices. Later, videos streamed around social media platforms like WeChat, reinforcing the popular idea that the past is returning.	家——受雇做一场春分庆典的临时演员。大约三十个人，穿上长袍，戴上清代的帽子，然后庄严地向着祭坛行进。在一个敲锣、击钹、擂定音鼓的小乐队伴奏下，他们大步走到一张供桌前，上面摆满了用于献祭的仿制的动物祭品。一名年轻男子扮作皇帝，叩拜并供奉物品，所有程序都严格依照当地文化局专家的指导进行，那些专家仔细研读过关于古时做法的文献。随后，相关视频在微信等社交媒体上流传开去，强化着这样一个流行的看法：昔日正在重来。
Recreating traditional values is one of Chinese leader Xi Jinping's key domestic policies, but anything like a return to the past seemed impossible in the 1980s. Being raised in a fairly religious household I had been curious what Chinese believed. I didn't expect or want Chinese people to share my beliefs, but I figured they must believe in something.	重现传统价值观是中国领导人习近平的一项重要重要的国内政策，但在1980年代，任何回归过去之类的事情看上去都不可能发生。我出身于一个相当虔诚的家庭，一度很好奇中国人信奉什么。我并不认为中国人会和我有同样的信仰，也不想要这样，但我觉得他们一定信奉点什么。
That had seemed like a mistaken assumption. Looking for Chinese religion on autumn afternoon, I rode my bike for an hour down to the White Cloud Temple, the national center of China's indigenous religion, Taoism. This religion coalesced in the 2nd century CE out of folk religious beliefs and the teachings of philosophers like Lao-tzu and Chuang-tzu. The White Cloud Temple dates from the 13th century and is the headquarters of the national Taoist association.	当年，这似乎是一个错误的假设。一个秋日的下午，为了探寻中国的宗教，我骑了一个小时的自行车去了趟白云观，也就是中国本土宗教道教的全国性中心。道教发端于公元二世纪，融合了民间宗教信仰以及老子、庄子等哲学家的教义。白云观始建于13世纪，目前是中国道教协会的总部。
The temple was beautiful but seemed inconsequential. Its main axis of	这座道观很美，但当时看上去是一个无足轻重的地方。由五座供奉各种神明

five halls to various deities had been mostly untouched by the Cultural Revolution, and the incense and the old trees gave it a timeless feel. But it was empty of worshippers. The halls and courtyards felt like those token places of worship in Communist countries that were more like museums than functioning centers of a living religion. Surrounded by Communist-era housing and a belching power plant, the temple was much like the Temple of the Sun—a relic of a bygone era.	的大殿构成的主轴线，在文革期间基本没有遭到破坏，缭绕的香烟和古老的树木为它增添了一种超越时间的意味。大殿和庭院感觉上类似于诸多共产主义国家的那些象征性的礼拜场所，它们更像博物馆，而非某个活生生、正常运转的宗教中心。被共产主义时代的建筑物以及一个喷着烟雾的电厂所环绕的这座道观，和日坛颇为相似——都是旧时代的遗迹。
But over the past decade or so, Chinese have been searching for meaning in their lives. After decades of adopting foreign ideologies like Fascism, Communism and Neo-liberalism, they wonder what remains of their culture. Temples like White Cloud and belief systems like Taoism are part of this search for answers.	但过去大约 10 年间，中国人开始不断探寻生活的意义。在吸纳法西斯主义、共产主义和新自由主义等外国意识形态长达数十年之后，他们想要知道自己的文化还剩下些什么。白云观之类的寺观以及道教之类的信仰体系，是这种探寻之旅的组成部分。
And so, cleverly, the government has invested heavily in religions like Taoism (as well as Buddhism and folk religion—but less so in Christianity or Islam). The White Cloud Temple is trying to reclaim some of China's traditional medical heritage by opening a clinic in a newly refurbished wing of the temple. The state also built a new Taoist academy to train priests. Slowly, a Taoist revival has spread across China.	于是，政府非常精明地大力投资于一些宗教，比如道教（以及佛教和民间宗教——但对基督教或伊斯兰教的投入较少）。白云观正竭力开发中国的某些传统医学遗产，在道观新装修的一翼开办了诊所。政府还新成立了一个道教学校，以便培训道士。渐渐地，道教开始在中国各地复兴。
You can sense this by walking through the temple. The admission fee of $6.50 does keep out many people, but the temple is still filled with priests heading off to classes or preparing for ceremonies. And on either side of the main axis are two new strings of courtyards with temples to various gods.	走在白云观内，你可以感受到这一点。价格不菲的费用的确把很多人挡在了外面，但白云观里依然挤满了赶着去上课或正为法事做准备的道士。而且主轴线两侧都新建了成排的庭院，里面伫立着供奉各种神明的神殿。
For fun—but also to see the sorts of Taoist-related products that people	白云观的主要礼品店值得一去，既是为了找点乐趣，也是为了看看现如今人

buy for their homes nowadays—it's well worth visiting the temple's main gift shop. Inside the main gate is one filled with unusual products like wall clocks decorated with the eight trigrams and the swirling tai-chi symbol, as well as scepters, swords and even Taoist robes if you want to go back home feeling like an immortal. It also sells stone rubbings of some of the temple's steles, including strange representations of the human bodies showing the energy channels, or meridians, of Chinese medicine.	们会把什么样的道教周边产品带回家。大门内的礼品店里摆满了异乎寻常的产品，比如以太极八卦图案为装饰的钟表，还有手杖、剑乃至道袍——如果你回到家想把自己打扮得仙风道骨的话。它还销售观内某些石碑的拓片，其中包括显示中医所谓人体经络的古怪石碑。
Compared to the sacred city of the past, today's Beijing is a slightly out-of-control urban area of highways and highrises, subway and suburbs. The old cosmological tapestry is in shreds.	与过去的圣城相比，今天的北京是一个稍微有些失控的城市地区，由高速路和高楼、地铁和郊区构成。古老的宇宙挂毯已经变得破烂不堪。
But it is a place where places have meaning. The urban historian Jeffrey F. Meyer, who wrote a book The Dragons of Tiananmen: Beijing as a Sacred City, points out that Chinese capitals always reflect the governing ideology. This is true of all capitals, of course, and Mr. Meyer also wrote a book on Washington about the ideas behind its monuments.	但在这里，很多地方都有其意义。著有《天安门的群龙：作为圣城的北京》(The Dragons of Tiananmen: Beijing as a Sacred City)一书的城市史学家杰弗瑞·F·迈耶(Jeffrey F. Meyer)指出，中国的都城总是反映着治国思想。当然了，所有的首都都是如此，迈耶还写过一本关于华盛顿的书，阐释其纪念场所背后的理念。
But unlike open societies, which are messier and where the official message is often lost or at least softened by competing voices, Beijing is still the capital of an authoritarian state. Beijing's message is still the state's message, perhaps not perfectly but still audibly. This state once despised tradition but now supports it. And so the city changes—not back to the past but into something made up of ideas from the past—of filial piety, respect for authority, traditional religions, but also privilege for the rich. As Mr. Meyer put it, then as now "Beijing was an idea before	但和有些散乱的开放社会不同——在那样的社会里，官方讯息常常被与之抗衡的声音淹没，至少会被削弱——北京仍然是一个威权国家的都城。北京传递的讯息仍然是这个国家要传递的讯息，或许并非全然如此，但依然可以从看出端倪。一度鄙视传统的这个国家，现在正扶持传统。因此这座城市发生了一些变化——不是回到过去，而是变成一个吸纳来自过去的某些理念的地方，比如孝道、对权威的尊重、传统宗教思想，乃至富人的特权。正如迈耶所说，由始至终，“北京首先是一种理念，然后才是一座城市。”

it was a city."
/travel/20170501/my-beijing-the-sacred-city	/travel/20170501/my-beijing-the-sacred-city
Where Sand Dunes and Camels in Japan Evoke the Sahara	鸟取，游客罕至的“日本撒哈拉”
Shortly after I posted a picture on Instagram from the sand dunes of Tottori on the west coast of Japan, a friend from Brooklyn commented, "Where is this?"	我在 Instagram 上发了一张在日本西海岸鸟取的沙丘上拍的照片没多久，布鲁克林的一个朋友留言问，“这是哪里？”
The subtext: This could not possibly be Japan, right?	潜台词是：“这不太可能是日本，对吧？”
With its steep hills of creamy golden sand and vast expanses ruffled into scalloped patterns by the wind, Tottori evokes a scene out of the Sahara. There are even camels to ride.	在鸟取，细滑的金沙堆成一座座陡峭的山坡，广阔的地表被风吹成了扇形。让人觉得这是在撒哈拉沙漠。这里甚至还有骆驼可以骑。
Although these dunes are not the largest in Japan (those are in Aomori, in the north, and used for military exercises), the sand dunes of Tottori are the largest that are accessible to visitors.	尽管不是日本最大（最大的沙丘在北部的青森，用于军事演习），但鸟取的沙丘是游客可以接触到的最大沙丘。
But even in Japan, the dunes are more famous for their literary connotations than as a travel destination. They were the setting for Kobo Abe's classic novel "The Woman in the Dunes," but among Japanese tourists, Tottori, the least-populated region in Japan, ranks just 43rd among 47 prefectures in attracting visitors.	然而，即便是在日本，这些沙丘的文学意义也比它们作为一个旅游景点更有名。安部公房(Kobo Abe)的经典小说《砂女》(The Woman in the Dunes)的背景就设在这里，但在日本游客中，日本人口最少的地区鸟取在 47 个县吸引的游客数方面仅排在第 43 位。
That makes it a very relaxing place for a getaway. We live in Tokyo, a city of immense crowds and towering buildings. But when I took a walk with my daughter along the dunes, it was easy to leave behind any sign of other people.	这让它成了一个令人非常轻松的度假地。我们生活的东京人潮汹涌，高楼林立。但当我和女儿沿着沙丘散步时，轻而易举地就能避开其他人。
One reason for Tottori's absence of tourists is its relative isolation. While Japan's system of shinkansen, or bullet trains, makes travel around the country extremely convenient, no lines stop in Tottori. But it is just over	鸟取游客罕至的原因之一是它相对偏僻。尽管日本的新干线高速铁路系统让去日本全国各地旅游都极其方便，但没有线路在鸟取设站。不过从东京羽田机场坐飞机只需一个小时多一点，从鸟取机场到这座次小城的市中心有便捷

an hour by plane from Tokyo Haneda Airport, and there is a convenient bus that connects the airport in Tottori to the center of the modest city.	的巴士。
Most hotels and restaurants are in the center of town, and the dunes are reachable by city bus as well as taxis. As the Tokyo bureau chief for The New York Times, I had come to report on the Sand Museum, where artists from around the world assemble every year to build massive sculptures from the distinctively moldable sand. The museum is open to the public from April through early January, and it is a delightful place to marvel at what sand can do in the hands of skillful artisans.	大部分酒店和餐馆都在中心城区，从城区可搭乘巴士和出租车前往沙丘。作为《纽约时报》东京分社社长，我是来报道砂之美术馆(Sand Museum)的。每年，来自全球各地的艺术家聚集到这里，用可塑性特别强的沙子创作大型沙雕。从4月一直到次年1月初，美术馆对外开放。这是一个讨人喜欢的地方，你可以感叹沙子在技术高超的工匠手里的用途。
The dunes are protected as a national park, and there is no charge to climb them. It's a great workout for the thighs — in some places the sand reaches 165 feet. As in many places we go in Japan, I was impressed by the number of fit elderly people who could keep up with the rest of us.	沙丘所在的地方是一个受保护的国家公园，但爬沙丘不收费。这对大腿是很好的锻炼——有些地方的沙丘高达165英尺（约合50米）。和我们在日本去过的很多地方一样，身体健康、能跟上我们其他人步伐的老年人的数量让我印象深刻。
Although the dunes stretch for 10 miles along the coast, most visitors seem to stick to a fairly narrow area, climbing a steep hill next to a lagoon. Even the people watching was fun: We saw a man climbing in a business suit with a briefcase, as well as a group of millennials dressed in pink bodysuits kicking around a pink ball. And, well, why not?	尽管沙丘沿海岸绵延10英里（约合16公里），但大部分游客似乎都坚持留在一个相当狭窄的区域，爬一座陡峭的小山，小山的旁边有一个环礁湖。即便是看身边的人也很有意思：我们看见一名男子穿着西装、拿着公文包爬山，还看到一群穿着粉色紧身衣的千禧一代在踢一个粉色的球。好吧，有什么不可以的呢？
At the peak, my 10-year-old son enjoyed hurtling himself off the top of the dunes, trying to see how airborne he could get.	在山顶，我10岁的儿子喜欢从沙丘顶上冲下去，想看看自己可以飞多久。
Those who want more of that flying feeling can get their feet off the ground at Tottori Sakyu Sand Board School (like snowboards, but for sand) or try paragliding with the Tottori Sand Dunes Paragliding School.	想体验更多这种飞翔感的人，可以去鸟取滑沙学校(Tottori Sakyu Sand Board School)学习滑沙（类似于滑雪，只是把雪换成了沙子），或是去鸟取沙丘滑翔伞学校(Tottori Sand Dunes Paragliding School)尝试滑翔伞。
For sand boarding, you get a board, a helmet and about two minutes of	如果是滑沙，你需要一幅滑板和一顶头盔，还要接受大约两分钟的指导，知

instruction in how to bend your knees, grab your thighs and slide down a steep slope that bottoms out at the ocean. My son and husband caught on quickly, though they both had some spectacular wipeouts that left their faces covered in sand.	道怎么弯曲双膝、抓紧大腿、滑下坡低跟海面持平的陡坡。我儿子和丈夫很快就学会了，但两人都摔倒过，脸被埋进沙子里，场面壮观。
They also tried paragliding, carrying their parachutes on their backs on the walk from the boardwalk to the dunes. With a group of about a dozen others, they each took three or four flights during two hours on the dunes.	他们还尝试了滑翔伞，在沿着木板路走到沙丘上时，将降落伞背在背上。跟十几个人一起，他们在沙丘的两个小时内分别跳了三四次。
We had an extra day and decided to venture away from the dunes, catching a bus to Uradome beach, which my 12-year-old daughter had scoped out on Instagram. As we walked from the bus stop down to the coastline and glimpsed the sea between Japan and the Korean Peninsula, we spotted a coffee sign and stepped into the charming Nijinoki Cafe, where Brazilian jazz played on a turntable and architectural magazines were piled neatly on a bench. The coffee was delicious, too.	我们有一天的富余时间，决定离开沙丘，乘坐巴士到浦富海滩(Uradome beach)去，我12岁的女儿在Instagram上对这个景点进行了一番调查。当我们到巴士站下车，走到海岸线，观看日本和朝鲜半岛之间的海洋时，我们发现了一个咖啡馆的标志，然后我们就进入迷人的岩美咖啡厅(Nijinoki Cafe)。电唱盘播放着巴西爵士乐，建筑杂志整齐地堆放在一条长凳上。咖啡也很美味。
The husband and wife who worked behind the counter told us of a “secret” beach, so we decided to skip Uradome and explore. It was about a 25-minute walk east, where we found a trail to Kumaihana Beach. And indeed, when we arrived in the cove of turquoise water and soft pale sand, we enjoyed that rare treat in Japan: We were the only people there.	在柜台后工作的那对夫妇告诉我们这个海滩的一个“秘密”，所以我们决定跳过浦富去探索这个秘密。向东走约25分钟，我们找到了去熊井浜(Kumaihana Beach)的小径。实际上，在到达这个水清沙幼的海湾时，我们享受到了一个在日本罕见的待遇：这里只有我们几个人。
/travel/20170802/tottori-japan-sand-dunes-camels	/travel/20170802/tottori-japan-sand-dunes-camels
Recipe for a Perfect Photo: Clear Sky, Sunset and Water	捕捉美国国家公园里的绝妙风景
YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. — The photographers were packed	加州约塞米蒂国家公园——河边挤满了摄影师，就像是一群追踪年轻女星的

so tightly along the riverbank that they looked like paparazzi stalking a starlet. In this case the Lindsay Lohan in question was a wispy little ribbon of water falling thousands of feet down the face of El Capitan, the world's largest single chunk of granite.	狗仔队。不过这一次的琳赛·罗韩(Lindsay Lohan)却是一条丝带般纤细的水流，飞流直下数千英尺，从世间最巨大的单块花岗岩——酋长岩(El Capitan)的表面滑落。
For about one week each February, the setting sun hits the water of Horsetail Fall at such an angle that it glows, looking like a stream of lava against the darkened rock.	每年2月份都会有一个星期左右的时间，夕阳以一个特定角度照射在马尾瀑布(Horsetail Fall)的水流上，其光芒就像在漆黑的岩石上流过的一股熔岩。
The so-called firefall attracts hundreds of professional and amateur photographers from across the globe, who flock to Yosemite Valley to capture the ephemeral scene.	这个所谓的“火瀑布”吸引着全球成百上千的专业和业余摄影师。他们争相来到约塞米蒂山谷，要捕捉这昙花一现的美景。
"Firefall is like a photography tailgating party," said Terry McCafferty, 64, a retired police officer from Fremont, Calif., who travels to photogenic places in a large white Suburban with his camera-wielding buddies.	“火瀑布就像是一场摄影界的车尾聚餐会，”64岁的特里·麦卡弗蒂(Terry McCafferty)说。他是加州弗里蒙特的一名退休警官，开着一辆白色雪佛兰Suburban 越野车，和他的那些拿着相机的朋友一起周游适合摄影的地方。
The lava-like effect requires a clear sky and enough snowmelt to furnish the fall with sufficient water. Many years it appears only as a pale golden streak, or not at all.	岩浆效果需要晴朗的天空，和足够的融雪水来为瀑布提供充足的水量。多年来它看上去只是一条微弱的金色条纹，有时甚至完全消失。
Mr. McCafferty has photographed the firefall for 10 years and only once got a good picture, which he keeps on his iPad to show off to firefall newbies.	麦卡弗蒂已经花了10年来拍摄火瀑布，只有一次拍到了一张好照片。他把这张照片放在他的iPad里，来向那些火瀑布新人炫耀。
For many here, the unpredictability of the natural display is central to its allure.	对这里的许多人来说，自然的不可预知性是其魅力的关键。
"So many things have to come together to make the firefall work," said Dan Tracy, 59, a retired high school English teacher from Watsonville, Calif. "It appeals to me as a photographer, but also as a gambler and an optimist."	59岁的丹·特雷西(Dan Tracy)是一名来自加州沃森维尔的退休中学英语教师，他说“想要看到火瀑布，所需要的条件可真不少。它吸引了我，不仅因为我是一名摄影师，还因为我是一个赌徒和乐观主义者。”

Photographers have long been a dominant force in Yosemite Valley. Many of the 3.5 million people who visit the park each year come to snap photographs from vantage points made famous by Ansel Adams and other photographers.	长期以来，摄影师一直是约塞米蒂山谷的一支主导力量。在每年到访这座国家公园的 350 万人中，有许多都是在有利位置上拍摄照片，这些位置是因为安塞尔·亚当斯(Ansel Adams)和其他摄影师而知名。
"Photography has always played a huge role in the park," said Scott Gediman, spokesman for Yosemite National Park. "In fact, photographs were instrumental in the park's genesis."	约塞米蒂国家公园发言人斯科特·格迪曼(Scott Gediman)说，“摄影一直在这座国家公园中起到举足轻重的作用。实际上，公园的创生都得益于照片。”
In 1861, the photographer Carleton E. Watkins hauled hundreds of pounds of camera equipment, sheets of glass and chemicals into Yosemite Valley in a darkroom wagon. For the first time, Mr. Watkins captured photographic images of these granite cliffs and waterfalls.	1861 年，卡尔顿·E·沃特金斯(Carleton E. Watkins)用一架暗房马车，拖着数百磅重的摄影器材、玻璃片和化学药品来到约塞米蒂山谷。沃特金斯首次拍摄了这些花岗岩峭壁和瀑布的照片。
After seeing Mr. Watkins's photographs, President Abraham Lincoln signed legislation in 1864 preserving the valley for the public and leading the way toward what would become the National Park Service.	在看到了沃特金斯的照片之后，亚伯拉罕·林肯总统(Abraham Lincoln)在 1864 年签署了为公众保护这片山谷的法案，为国家公园管理局(National Park Service)的设立铺平了道路。
In a strange coincidence, the molten effect of the sun on Horsetail Fall resembles another famous and highly photographed firefall here, one involving actual fire. Beginning around 1900, park workers collected Red Fir bark and built a large bonfire atop Glacier Point. After dark they pushed the red embers off the cliff in a cascade of glowing red coals, a must-see spectacle for the summer tourist set.	一个奇怪的巧合是，这里还有另一条被反复拍摄的知名火瀑布，和太阳照在马尾瀑布上熔岩般的效果差不多，不过这一条是有真正的火的。从约 1900 年起，公园工人们收集了红杉树皮，并在冰河点上方堆起了一堆大型篝火。在天黑后，他们把烧红的余烬推下悬崖，形成一道鲜红的火炭瀑布，这是夏季旅游项目中必看的一副奇观。
But in 1968, park officials ended the Yosemite Firefall, citing its man-made unnaturalness (the park banned feeding bears for the same reason). Five years later, the photographer and mountain climber Galen Rowell was driving through the park after a winter climb when he spotted the light catching in Horsetail Fall. He rushed across the valley	但在 1968 年，公园官员叫停了约塞米蒂火瀑布活动，指出这一人造景观不自然。国家公园还以同样的理由禁止了喂熊。5 年后，摄影师、登山者盖伦·罗威尔(Galen Rowell)在一次冬季登山之后驱车驶过公园，当时他发现了汇聚在马尾瀑布上的光。他很快驶过山谷，拍下了被认为是明亮瀑布的第一张照片。 and took what is believed to be the first image of the illuminated waterfall.

Mr. Rowell died in a plane crash in 2002, but his "Last Light on Horsetail Fall" remains the most well-known photograph of the apparition.	罗韦尔在 2002 年死于一次飞机失事，但他的摄影作品《马尾瀑布上的最后光亮》仍然是最为知名的神奇照片。
For decades, photographers showed up here in winter, hoping to catch the same trick of light but never sure when it might occur. Then in 2009, Michael Frye, author of "The Photographer's Guide to Yosemite," used video from four Yosemite webcams to determine the optimal window for the firefall, which he now pegs from Feb. 16-23.	几十年来，摄影师们在冬天来到这里，希望能捕捉到同样的奇特光芒，却一直未能确定其发生的时间。后来在 2009 年，《约塞米蒂摄影师指南》(The Photographer's Guide to Yosemite)一书的作者迈克尔·佛莱(Michael Frye)运用布置在约塞米蒂山谷的四台摄像机确定了拍摄火瀑布的最佳时机为 2 月 16 至 23 日。
"Shooting Horsetail Fall has become so much more popular, in part, because with the advent of digital cameras, photography itself has become so much more popular," Mr. Frye said.	"拍摄马尾瀑布远比以前更受欢迎了，这部分是因为数码相机的出现，令摄影本身远比以前更受欢迎，"佛莱尔说。
Concerned about traffic and parking problems in the valley, park officials do little to publicize what they have come to call the park's "firefall season." Still, most photographers here learned of it online. In fact, on one day 45 people from a Silicon Valley photography meetup group made the trip.	出于对山谷中交通和停车问题的担忧，国家公园官员基本上不对他们所谓的"火瀑布季"进行宣传。然而，大多数摄影师仍旧从网上获悉这件事。实际上有一次硅谷一个摄影聚会小组一下子来了 45 个人。
On a recent evening, hundreds of photographers from Japan, Europe and across the United States gathered in the two prime spots to photograph the falls. Many arrived five hours early to stake a claim with their tripods, jockeying for unobstructed views of the cliff.	近日的一个晚上，数以百计来自日本、欧洲和美国各地的摄影师聚集在该瀑布的两个主要摄影点上。许多人提前 5 小时来到这里，用他们的三角架来占据一个好位置，以获得一个无阻碍的悬崖视野。
The mood was jovial; people swapped information about the technical minutiae of their cameras, sipped wine and relaxed in camp chairs.	气氛是愉悦的。人们就他们相机的技术细节进行交流，并在轻便折叠椅上啣着葡萄酒休息。
Some arrived with personal photography tutors, cradling high-end digital cameras and huge telephoto lenses worth thousands of dollars.	一些人带着个人摄影辅导师，并支起价值数千美元的高端数码相机和巨大的长焦镜头。而其他人的作风则懒散得多。

Others took a more laid-back approach.
"I'm no photographer; all I have is my iPhone," said Cindy Saavedra, 46, who drove up from Fresno, Calif., with her three children and two other families, all of whom plunked down in lawn chairs with bags of Cheetos and Funyuns to watch the show. "I made a New Year's resolution to see more natural wonders, so here we are."	"我可不是摄影师，我所有的只是我的 iPhone。"说话者是 46 岁的辛迪·萨韦德拉(Cindy Saavedra)，她带着三个孩子和另外两个家庭一起从加州弗雷斯诺驱车而来。他们都躺在草坪躺椅上，拿着一袋袋奇多(Cheetos)和 Funyuns 洋葱圈来观看这一幕。"我曾作出一项新年计划，打算观看更多自然奇观，因此我们就来了。"
As the sun dropped, the chatty horde went quiet; the only sound the rapid-fire slap of hundreds of camera shutters and the click-click of smartphones.	随着太阳的落下，聊天的人群安静了下来，剩下的就只有数以百计的相机快门发出的咔哒声和智能手机的点击声。
"It's happening!" a woman gasped. Despite low water, a faint sliver of water turned golden for about 10 minutes, as if generating its own light. Then the sky went dark.	"开始了！"一个女人尖叫起来。水量不多，但那条微弱的银色水流依然带变成了金色，维持了 10 分钟左右，看上去就像是自己发光了一样。随后天空就变暗了。
"It's done," said Stephen Duzs, 53, of Budapest, folding up his tripod. "Elvis has left the building."	"结束了，"来自布达佩斯的 53 岁的斯蒂芬·杜日(Stephen Duzs)折起他的三脚架说，"猫王(Elvis)已经离场。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20130513/c13yosemite	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20130513/c13yosemite
Ousted by the City, Tenants Seek a Home	流浪在纽约的中国移民
The accommodations on the fourth floor of 81 Bowery were meager and tight: dozens of people, mostly new Chinese immigrants ranging in age from 19 to 88, crammed into small cubicles, sharing a bathroom. But for people with little money and nowhere to stay, like Zhu Benjin, 52, a construction worker, the closet-size cubicles were home.	宝维瑞 81 号(81 Bowery)四层的居住条件很差，而且空间狭小：几十个人挤在各自的小隔间里，共用一个卫生间。他们大多是从中国来的新移民，年龄从 19 到 88 岁不等。但是，对于那些既没钱、又无处落脚的人来说，比如 52 岁的建筑工人朱本金（音译），这些壁橱大小的隔间便是家了。
Life there was upended, however, on March 7, when city officials arrived unexpectedly, broke down the doors and ordered people to leave. In shutting the floor down, the city cited safety violations, as it has before.	然而，这里的生活被打乱了，3 月 7 日那天，一些城市官员突然到来，他们拆掉了房门，下令人们离开这里。市政府在关闭该层宿舍时称其违反安全规定，以前政府也曾这样做过。

The raid has left the residents — including restaurant workers, day laborers, laundromat attendants and a retired man on dialysis — bewildered and scrambling for somewhere to go.	这次突袭让这里的居民感到迷茫并开始到处寻找可去之处，他们中有餐厅服务员、打零工的人、洗衣店工人和一个需要做透析的退休男子。
"I have nowhere to go," said Mr. Zhu, who like others paid $200 a month in rent. "Am I supposed to live in the subway?"	朱本金说，“我没有地方可去。我能住在地铁里吗？”他和其他人一样，支付这里每月 200 美元（约合 1228 元人民币）的房租。
For others, the crackdown meant more than just losing a place to sleep. Some residents had lived on the floor for 30 years, and they described a tight-knit community where neighbors cooked for one another, lent one another money and watched Chinese operas together.	对其他人来说，这次被驱逐不只是失去了一个睡觉的地方。一些人在这层楼里已住了 30 年了，在他们的眼里，这里有一个亲密的社区，邻居帮别人做饭，他们之间相互借钱，还一起看京剧。
"We were like a family," said Chen Xiukang, 62, a cook at a Chinese restaurant. "We help each other. We rely on one another."	62 岁的陈秀康（音译）在一家中餐馆当厨师，他说，“我们就像一家人一样。互相帮助，互相依赖。”
The city has provided temporary housing to those who were able to prove that they were legally occupying their spaces. Others, without documentation, are still searching for places to stay — for now, imposing on friends and relatives.	市政府已给那些能证明自己是合法在此居住的人提供了临时住所。而那些没有文件证明的人则仍在寻找落脚点，目前只能是给亲戚和朋友增加负担了。
"We never thought it would come to something like this," said Jiang Jinrong, 62, a retired restaurant worker. "Here in America, when they kick you out like this, what can we do? We just hope they let us back in soon."	62 岁的江金荣（音译）曾在餐馆工作，现已退休，他说，“我们从没想到会有这种情况。这里是美国，他们就这样把你赶走时，我们能怎么办？我们只能希望他们会早点让我们回来。”
Annie Ling, a New York-based photographer born in Taipei, Taiwan, photographed the tenants of 81 Bowery over a stretch beginning in 2009. Concerned with issues that affect Chinatown's immigrants, Ms. Ling said her own story — her Chinatown tenement burned down in 2008, rendering her homeless for a year — helped show her how important, yet precarious, that community is. Her first major solo show,	纽约摄影师凌安妮（Annie Ling，音译），出生于台湾台北，她从 2009 年开始拍摄居住在宝维瑞 81 号的人。凌安妮关注中国城里移民面临的问题，她称自己的经历让她认识到这个社区是多么重要，但又是多么不稳定。她在中国城的暂居所曾在 2008 年烧毁，有一年时间她居无定处。她的首次大型个人摄影展将于今年晚些时候在美国华人博物馆(Museum of Chinese in America)开幕，其中将包括在宝维瑞 81 号拍摄的作品。

including work from "81 Bowery," will open later this year at the Museum of Chinese in America.
Follow @lingphoto and @nytimesphoto on Twitter. Lens is also on Facebook.	欢迎在 Twitter 上关注@lingphoto 和@nytimesphoto 。Lens 也有 Facebook 账号。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20130719/c19lens-evict	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20130719/c19lens-evict
In Osama Bin Laden Library: Illuminati and Bob Woodward	美国解密本·拉登死前最后几年的信札和藏书
WASHINGTON — In his final years, Osama bin Laden spent his days sending missives to his subordinates, seeking to direct a terror network that appeared to have grown far beyond his control, and working his way through a pile of books that ranged from sober works of history and current affairs to wild conspiracy theories spun by infamous anti-Semites.	华盛顿——在生命的最后几年，奥萨马·本·拉登(Osama bin Laden)日常做的事情包括，给下属发送信函、寻求指挥一个似乎已经扩张到不受自己控制的恐怖主义网络，以及阅读大量书籍——从有关历史和时事的理性著作，到臭名昭著的反犹人士撰写的疯狂阴谋论。
The latest insight into Bin Laden's life in hiding comes from dozens of documents that American officials say were taken during the raid on his compound in Abbottabad, Pakistan, in May 2011 and were declassified on Wednesday.	这些有关本·拉登躲藏期间生活的最新信息出自本周三解密的数十份文件。美国官员称，这些文件是 2011 年 5 月突袭其在巴基斯坦阿伯塔巴德的院落时发现的。
The material included nearly 80 documents – most of them letters between Bin Laden and his lieutenants – but the initial buzz generated by the release came largely from the list of books found in Bin Laden's compound. That appeared to be by design: The Office of the Director of National Intelligence seized on Bin Laden's reading list to promote the release, titling the web page listing all the now-public material "Bin Laden's Bookshelf."	这批材料中包括将近 80 份文件——其中多数是本拉登和副手之间的信件——不过本次解密首先引爆的话题主要来自在本·拉登的住宅中发现的书单。这似乎是出于精心的安排：国家情报总监办公室(The Office of the Director of National Intelligence)利用本·拉登的阅读书目来宣传这次解密，把刊登所有新公开材料的网页取名为“本·拉登的书架”。
Some of the books taken from his compound would be a familiar sight on the bookshelf of anyone interested in global affairs, such as	从他的住宅里发现的一些图书，是对国际事务感兴趣的人的书架上常见的书目，比如鲍勃·伍德沃德(Bob Woodward)的《奥巴马的战争》(Obama's

"Obama's Wars," by Bob Woodward, "The Rise and Fall of the Great Powers," by Paul Kennedy and "Imperial Hubris," by Michael Scheuer, the former official who once ran the Central Intelligence Agency's Bin Laden desk.	Wars)、保罗·肯尼迪(Paul Kennedy)的《大国的兴衰》(The Rise and Fall of the Great Powers), 以及曾经负责中央情报局(Central Intelligence Agency)本·拉登调查组的前政府官员迈克尔·朔伊尔(Michael Scheuer)的《帝国的傲慢》(Imperial Hubris)。
Others reveal a more conspiratorial side of Bin Laden, who was believed to have read them in English. He apparently worked his way through conspiracy theory classics such as "Bloodlines of the Illuminati," by Fritz Springmeier and "Secrets of the Federal Reserve" by Eustace Mullins, a Holocaust denier.	另外的一些书籍则展示了本·拉登阴谋家的一面。据信他读的是这些书的英文版。他似乎看过了阴谋论领域的一些经典著作, 比如弗里兹·斯普林梅尔(Fritz Springmeier)的《光明会的血统》(Bloodlines of the Illuminati), 以及否认犹太大屠杀的尤斯塔斯·马林斯(Eustace Mullins)撰写的《美联储的秘密》(Secrets of the Federal Reserve)。
Wednesday's release comes after years of pressure on the Obama administration to declassify material seized from Bin Laden's compound. Last year, Congress directed the Office of the Director of National Intelligence to review the material and make public as many as possible.	在周三解密上述信息之前, 外界几年来一直在向奥巴马政府施压, 要求解密从本·拉登住所获得的资料。去年, 国会指示国家情报总监办公室评估这些材料, 尽可能多地将它们公之于众。
The review, which began in May 2014, is expected to continue through the summer and into the fall, said Jeffrey S Anchukaitis, a spokesman for the intelligence office. But the White House asked that office and the C.I.A. to begin releasing material immediately because of "the increasing public demand to review those documents," he said.	情报总监办公室发言人杰弗里·S·安丘凯提斯(Jeffrey S Anchukaitis)表示, 评估工作始于2014年5月, 并将持续到今年夏秋两季。但他称, 白宫要求该办公室和中情局立即开始发布材料, 理由是"公众对查阅这些文件的要求日益强烈"。
The timing of the release also gave the administration a chance to indirectly push back on a controversial article about Bin Laden's death by Seymour M. Hersh's in The London Review of Books. The article, which was published this month, said the Obama administration had lied about the raid, and claimed that it was staged in cooperation with Pakistan, which had been holding Bin Laden prisoner in his compound.	发布这批文件的时机, 也让奥巴马政府有了一个间接反驳关于本·拉登之死的一篇争议性文章的机会。此文于本月发表在《伦敦书评》(London Review of Books)上, 作者是西摩·M·赫尔士(Seymour M Hersh)。文中表示奥巴马政府对那次突袭撒了谎, 并宣称它是与巴基斯坦联合上演的一出戏——巴基斯坦一直把本·拉登囚禁在他的院落里。

Administration officials have dismissed the article, contesting almost every new detail in it, including Mr. Hersh's assertion that the material taken from Bin Laden's compound was actually provided to American intelligence officials by their Pakistani counterparts in the years leading up to the Al Qaeda chief's death.	奥巴马政府的官员对此文表示否定，驳斥了文中的几乎每个新细节，其中包括赫尔斯所说的，从本·拉登的住所里拿走的材料其实来自这名基地组织(Al Qaeda)领导人死前的几年，由巴基斯坦情报官员提供给美国同行。
Most of the documents appear to be letters and notes between Bin Laden and his top deputies. There is talk of training new recruits, and how to select the most talented to carry out major attacks in the West. There are discussions of who should be promoted, and the perceived strengths and weaknesses of those seeking to move up Al Qaeda's chain of command.	这批文件中，大部分似乎是本·拉登和副手之间的通信和笔记。他们曾讨论新成员的训练问题，以及如何挑选最能干的人来对西方发动大型袭击。其中还有关于提拔何人的讨论，以及比较试图在基地组织指挥系统里晋升的人选的优缺点。
There are also long discussions between Bin Laden and his chief lieutenants about the strategy and the general direction of the terror network.	本·拉登和他的主要副手还对该恐怖组织的策略及总体方向进行了长篇讨论。
But experts have cautioned against drawing broad conclusions about the state of Al Qaeda and Bin Laden's role in the organization from the limited selection of documents, saying the sample size is simply too small relative to the cache of material that remains classified.	不过，专家警告，不要根据被挑选出来的有限文件来对基地组织的状态和本·拉登在该组织中扮演的角色作出总体结论。他们表示，与仍处于保密状态的大量材料相比，这次的样本中包含的内容实在太少。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20150521/c21binladen	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20150521/c21binladen
Kenya Trip Takes Obama Back to a Complex Part of Himself	总统奥巴马的肯尼亚寻根之旅
WASHINGTON — The first time Barack Obama visited Kenya, the land of his father, he was hoping to fill "a great emptiness" he felt inside, to figure out who he was and where he fit in the world.	华盛顿——第一次访问父亲的祖国肯尼亚时，奥巴马想要填补自己内心“一个巨大的空缺”，他想搞清楚自己是谁，想找到自己在世界上的位置。
He was met at the airport by a half sister and an aunt. "Welcome home," the aunt told him. The three squeezed into an old Volkswagen Beetle,	当时在机场迎接他的，是一个同父异母的妹妹和一个姑姑。“欢迎回家，”姑姑对他说。然后三个人挤进了一辆老旧的大众甲壳虫车。在开往内罗毕的途

whose muffler fell off during the drive into Nairobi. As the aunt got out to go to work, she admonished Mr. Obama not to “get lost again.”	中，这辆车的消音器掉了下来。姑姑出门去工作时告诫奥巴马，别“又走丢了”。
Twenty-eight years later, he leaves on Thursday to return to Kenya as the president of the United States with an entourage of hundreds and a long motorcade that includes an armored car with a working muffler. Any question of where he fits in the world has long since been answered. But how Kenya fits into his own identity remains one of the enduring questions of his presidency.	二十八年的本周四，他以美国总统的身份出发，重回肯尼亚，随行人员有数百人，长长的迎宾车队里包括一辆消音器正常工作的装甲车。有关他在这个世界上的位置的任何疑问，都早已找到答案。但肯尼亚在他身份认同中扮演什么角色，依然是他总统任期内一个未决的问题。
Through more than six years in office for Mr. Obama, Kenya has been a complicated part of his political persona. Known for a youthful memoir exploring his Kenyan roots, Mr. Obama has been celebrated as a son of Africa who reached the pinnacle of power. But he also found himself besieged by a conspiracy theory that he had actually been born in Kenya and was therefore ineligible to be president — a theory he felt compelled to dispel by marching into the White House briefing room in 2011 with his birth certificate from Hawaii.	在他六年多的总统任期内，肯尼亚一直是奥巴马的政治形象中比较复杂的一部分。他在青年时代发表的回忆录中探索了自己的肯尼亚根源，一直被奉为抵达权力巅峰的非洲之子。但他也发现自己被一种阴谋论困扰着——有人认为他真实的出生地是肯尼亚，所以并没有资格当美国总统。他感觉自己必须消除这种观念，于是2011年在白宫新闻发布厅对外展示了自己的出生证明，显示出生地是夏威夷。
Mr. Obama considered the “birther” movement, now largely defunct, a distraction and a cynical ploy by opponents like Donald J. Trump, but he stayed away from Kenya until now, unwilling to provoke the obvious political circus that would have ensued. During his first term, he spent about 24 hours in sub-Saharan Africa, and on the other side of the continent from his father’s home. Some critics said that the first president with African roots was doing less for the continent than the white president he succeeded.	奥巴马认为，如今已经平息的“质疑出生地”运动，是唐纳德·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)等反对派人士采取的分散注意力和质疑的把戏，但直到此之前，还是选择了避开肯尼亚，避免挑起显然会因之而来的政治游戏。在第一个总统任期内，他出现在撒哈拉以南非洲地区和远离肯尼亚的非洲另一端的时间大约有24个小时。一些批评者表示，美国第一位有非洲血统的总统为那片大陆所做的事，比他的前任白人总统还要少。
With re-election behind him, Mr. Obama has shown renewed interest in	再次当选之后，奥巴马重新对非洲表现出兴趣。去年，他在华盛顿举行了美

Africa. He hosted a summit meeting in Washington for African leaders last year and just pushed a renewal of an African trade preference program through Congress.	非领导人峰会。最近又刚刚在国会通过了一项法案，续延一项到期的非洲贸易优惠计划。
This week's visit to Kenya, followed by a stop in Ethiopia, will be his fourth trip to sub-Saharan Africa as president, more than any of his predecessors made. He will be the first sitting president to visit either Kenya or Ethiopia, and he hopes to reinforce efforts to bring electricity, security and democracy to Africa.	结束肯尼亚的访问之后，奥巴马还将前往埃塞俄比亚，这将是第四次以总统身份访问撒哈拉以南非洲地区，比任何一位前任美国总统都多。他还将成为第一位以现任总统身份访问肯尼亚或埃塞俄比亚的美国总统。他希望可以进一步加强能够给非洲带来电力、安全和民主的努力。
"President Obama's record on Africa will not only match that of his predecessors but, I will predict with confidence, will exceed it," Susan E. Rice, his national security adviser, said Wednesday, citing his Power Africa electrification program and his Feed the Future effort to make sure Africans have enough to eat.	"奥巴马总统的非洲业绩非但不会比前任总统差，相反我满怀信心地预测，他还会超越前任，"他的国家安全顾问苏珊·E·赖斯(Susan E. Rice)周三表示。她列举了奥巴马的"电力非洲"(Power Africa)计划和致力于保障非洲人民有充足食物的"未来粮食保障"(Feed the Future)计划。
The trip will have its trials dealing with two countries that have not been models of democracy lately. In Kenya, he will meet with President Uhuru Kenyatta, who had been charged with crimes against humanity for instigating ethnic violence until the case was dropped last December. In Ethiopia, he will meet with Prime Minister Hailemariam Desalegn just a month after the governing party and its allies won 100 percent of the seats in Parliament.	这次出访，奥巴马将和两个国家首次打交道，它们最近的表现都称不上民主典范。在肯尼亚，他将会见乌胡鲁·肯雅塔(Uhuru Kenyatta)总统，后者之前因煽动种族暴力而被起诉，这一案件直到去年12月才被撤销。在埃塞俄比亚，他将会见海尔马里亚姆·德萨莱尼(Hailemariam Desalegn)总理，后者领导的执政党及其同盟刚刚于一个月前在国会赢得了百分之百的席位。
His initiatives have had their own troubles. Power Africa, which Mr. Obama kicked off during a 2013 visit to the continent, has so far not delivered the kind of electricity it promised. Ms. Rice said the program had been slow to get off the ground but was now "building up strength and capacity," adding, "This is going to take time."	奥巴马所发起的非洲计划也存在各自的问题。2013年访问非洲时，他开启了"电力非洲"计划，目前该计划还没有实现它之前预定的电力覆盖目标。赖斯表示，这项计划起步较慢，但它"正在积蓄力量"，并说这"需要一定的时间"。

But as much as the policy issues will present challenges for the traveling president, so will the emotional and symbolic ones.	和这些政策问题一样，奥巴马此行还要面对一些感情和象征性问题的挑战。
“Obviously, Kenya holds a special place for him, and it was central to that first book and, I think, central to his self-exploration,” said David Axelrod, Mr. Obama’s former White House senior adviser. “And I think he also knows what he represents there.”	“显然，肯尼亚对他来说有特别的意义，那是他的第一本书讨论的中心话题。而且，我觉得，肯尼亚在他的自我探索中也扮演了非常重要的角色，”前白宫高级顾问大卫·阿克塞尔罗德(David Axelrod)说。“我认为，他也知道自己在肯尼亚代表着什么。”
Bill Burton, another former aide, said Kenya had shaped Mr. Obama’s identity as an African-American. “It’s obvious if you read his books, if you listen to what he’s said about his own biography, Kenya plays a very big role in how he thinks about the world and how he thinks about his relationship with other Americans,” Mr. Burton said.	另一位前助手比尔·伯顿(Bill Burton)表示，肯尼亚决定了奥巴马作为一名非裔美国人的身份。“如果你读了他的书，聆听过他对自己的传记的看法，就很容易明白，肯尼亚对于他如何看待世界、如何看待他与其他美国人的关系，产生了非常大的影响，”伯顿说道。
In his first book, “Dreams From My Father,” Mr. Obama described his upbringing in Hawaii as the son of a black university student from Kenya, Barack Obama Sr., and a white anthropologist originally from Kansas, Stanley Ann Dunham. He never really knew his father, whom he met only once, when he was 10, but he felt a connection that eventually took him to Kenya in 1987.	在他的第一本书《我父亲的梦想》(Dreams From My Father)中，奥巴马描述了他在夏威夷的成长经历，父亲是来自肯尼亚的黑人大学生老贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama Sr.)，母亲是来自美国堪萨斯州的白人人类学家斯坦利·安·邓纳姆(Stanley Ann Dunham)。奥巴马从没真正认识过自己的父亲，只在自己十岁的时候见过他一面，但他感到与他有一种联系，这种联系最终促使他在1987年去了肯尼亚。
He spent several weeks sleeping on the living room sofa of his half sister, Auma, who taught at the University of Nairobi, and meeting the many relatives of the various wings of the family. He traveled to his father’s home village — “there was a goat in my lap,” he recalled — and met his grandfather’s last wife, known as Mama Sarah, whom he called Granny even though there was no blood tie. In the book, he wrote that for the first time, he enjoyed “the comfort, the firmness of identity.”	他在肯尼亚待了好几周，睡在同父异母的姐姐、在内罗毕大学教书的奥玛(Auma)家的客厅沙发上，见到了来自家族各个支脉的很多亲戚。他还拜访了父亲的家乡——他回忆当时“怀里抱着一只山羊”的情景——见到了祖父的最后一任妻子，人称萨拉妈妈(Mama Sarah)，奥巴马叫他奶奶，尽管他们之间并没有血缘关系。他在书中写到自己第一次感到“身份认同上的自在与确定”。
But it was not as simple as that, according to David Maraniss, author of	但是，据《贝拉克·奥巴马：他的故事》一书的作者大卫·马拉尼斯(David

"Barack Obama: The Story," a biography of the president as a youth that ends with the trip to Kenya. Mr. Obama learned about the divisions in his own family, among the Luo and Kikuyu tribes and between Africans and Asians.	Maraniss)讲, 情况并没有那么简单。这本传记纪录了年轻奥巴马的经历, 时间截止到他的肯尼亚之旅。当时的奥巴马了解到, 自己的家族内部存在着卢奥族(Luo)和基库尤族(Kikuyu tribes)、非裔和亚裔之间的分歧。
"His young life had been a struggle to integrate the disparate parts of his history in a way that would make him feel whole," Mr. Maraniss wrote. "Instead, his trip offered only more contradictions that were hard to reconcile."	"年轻时, 他一直竭力将自己身世的各个组成部分以某种方式融为一体, 好让自己感觉完整," 马拉尼斯写到。"但这趟旅程反倒带来更多矛盾, 让他更加难以协调。"
Mr. Obama's own account of his physical and emotional journey helped define him for many Americans. "I read his first book and was moved by it," said Senator Jeff Flake, Republican of Arizona and chairman of an African subcommittee, who will be among the lawmakers joining the president on the trip. "I don't think anybody could read it without being moved by it. It would be a great experience to go back."	奥巴马自己对那趟肯尼亚之旅及其心路历程的描述, 在很多美国人心中塑造起了他的形象。"我读了他的第一本书, 很受感动," 亚利桑那州共和党参议员、一个非洲小组委员会的主席杰夫·弗莱克(Jeff Flake)说道, 他是这次随奥巴马出访非洲的议员之一。"我觉得, 不管是谁读这本书, 都会被它感动。那会是一种值得回顾的非凡体验。"
Mr. Obama returned as a young man and then in 2006 as a relatively new senator. That trip was a preview of what he will encounter this week, with a 12-car motorcade and swarms of people greeting him everywhere he went. He visited Mama Sarah's village and stopped by his father's grave, but was surrounded by media hoopla.	除了年轻时的肯尼亚之旅, 奥巴马还在 2006 年当上参议员不久的时候回去过一次。那次经历是本周的肯尼亚之行的一次预演, 当时有 12 辆车组成迎宾车队, 走到哪里都有成片人群欢迎他。他拜访了萨拉妈妈所在的村庄, 去墓地祭奠了去世的父亲, 凡是所到之处都被喧闹的媒体包围着。
"It's amazing to think of a president of the United States in this little tiny village with very basic structures," said Bob Hercules, who accompanied him and made "Senator Obama Goes to Africa," a documentary about the trip. "It's just unbelievable."	"想想一位美国总统来到这个只有最基本设施的小小村庄, 那真是不可思议," 鲍勃·赫拉克勒斯(Bob Hercules)说道, 他当时陪同奥巴马访问了那里, 并据之制作了纪录片《奥巴马议员非洲行》(Senator Obama Goes to Africa)。“简直难以置信。”
As president, there were plenty of diplomatic reasons not to go to Kenya at first, not least the indictment against the country's president.	作为总统, 他有足够多的外交理由不把肯尼亚作为出访第一站, 尤其是考虑到这个国家的总统所受的指控。但也有很多其他原因促使他作出这一决定。

But there were other reasons, too.
"If you're asking me, 'Was there a political discussion as to whether it would be disadvantageous to show up in Kenya when Donald Trump was questioning his citizenship,' I don't recall ever having that discussion," Mr. Axelrod said. "But maybe no one needed to have that discussion."	"如果你问我，'在唐纳德·特朗普正质疑他的美国公民身份时出访肯尼亚是否对他不利，问我有没有人就此进行政治方面的讨论，'我不记得自己听到过这类讨论，"阿克塞尔罗德说。"但可能也没人需要这么做。"
With that concern now behind him, Mr. Obama will depart Washington on Thursday night. But he acknowledged last week that it would not be the same as when he first visited as a young man with questions. Given security and logistical concerns, Mr. Obama will not be able to visit his father's village. Instead, his relatives, including Mama Sarah, will be brought to him in Nairobi.	现在，奥巴马已经撤下这一顾虑，他将于周四晚上从华盛顿出发。但上周他也曾表示，这次旅程跟他第一次去肯尼亚肯定会不一样，那时的他还是一个怀揣着许多问题的年轻人。出于安全和后勤方面的考虑，他这次不会拜访父亲的村庄。不过，他的亲戚们，包括萨拉妈妈，将被送往内罗毕与他团聚。
"It's obviously something I'm looking forward to," he said at a news conference. "I'll be honest with you, visiting Kenya as a private citizen is probably more meaningful to me than visiting as president, because I can actually get outside of a hotel room or a conference center. And just the logistics of visiting a place are always tough as president. But it's obviously symbolically important."	"这当然是我所期待的，"他在一个新闻发布会上说道。"我可以很诚实地告诉你，对我来说，以一个普通公民的身份访问肯尼亚，可能比以美国总统身份前往更有意义，因为那样可以不用一直呆在酒店房间和会议中心。作为总统出访一个地方，后勤工作总是很不易，但这么做显然有很重要的象征意义。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20150724/c24prexy	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20150724/c24prexy
Consensus Grows for Bomb as Cause of Russian Jet Crash, Officials Say	美官员：ISIS 或在埃及机场安插内应放置炸弹
WASHINGTON — Senior House members said Sunday that there was a mounting consensus among U.S. intelligence officials that a bomb brought down the Russian charter jet that crashed last month in the Sinai Peninsula in Egypt, killing all 224 people on board.	华盛顿——周日，一些资深众议员表示，美国情报官员日益形成共识：造成俄罗斯包机上个月在埃及西奈半岛坠毁，机上 224 人全部遇难的原因，是一枚炸弹的爆炸。
"I think there's a growing body of intelligence and evidence that this	"我认为，越来越多的情报和证据指向了炸弹爆炸。尽管还没有定论，但是

was a bomb — still not conclusive — but a growing body of evidence,” Rep. Adam B. Schiff of California, the top Democrat on the House Intelligence Committee, said on the ABC program “This Week.”	证据越来越多，“加利福尼亚州众议员亚当·B·希夫(Adam B. Schiff)在 ABC 新闻节目《本周》(This Week)上说。希夫是众议院情报委员会民主党资深成员。
Rep. Peter T. King, R-N.Y., the chairman of the House Homeland Security subcommittee on terrorism and intelligence, went further, saying on the same program that intelligence officials he had spoken to believed that the Islamic State or an affiliate was behind the crash.	纽约州共和党众议员、众议院国土安全委员会(Homeland Security Committee)主席皮特·T·金(Peter T. King)更进一步，在同一个节目上说他与一些情报官员交谈过，他们认为伊斯兰国(Islamic State)或其分支组织是这起坠机事件的幕后元凶。
“Right now all the evidence points in that direction,” King said.	“目前所有证据都指向这个方向，”金说。
It is not clear how much U.S. intelligence and law enforcement agencies have learned about the crash, which occurred Oct. 31. U.S. investigators have not been invited to visit the crash site, and while the Russian government has asked the FBI for help, it is not known how much information Moscow has shared with the bureau.	目前尚不清楚美国情报机构和执法机构对 10 月 31 日坠机事件的了解有多深。美国调查人员没有被邀请前往出事地点，虽然俄罗斯政府已向美国联邦调查局(FBI)寻求帮助，但莫斯科向该局透露了多少信息却并不清楚。
In the days before the crash, electronic communications in which militants discussed an aviation attack were intercepted, but U.S. officials said that type of “chatter” is often picked up.	在坠机发生前的几天里，官方截获了武装分子讨论攻击民航的电子通讯，但美国官员说，经常监听到这种类型的“聊天”。
Schiff, who was briefed by intelligence officials on Saturday, raised the possibility that someone working at the airport may have helped the Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL, place a bomb on the plane.	希夫上周六听取了情报官员的汇报，他认为机场可能有伊斯兰国的内应，将炸弹放置到了飞机上。伊斯兰国又称 ISIS 或 ISIL。
“ISIS may have concluded that the best way to defeat airport defenses is not to go through them but to go around them with the help of somebody on the inside,” Schiff said.	“ISIS 可能得出结论，认为突破机场防御的最好办法不是经过它，而是在内应的帮助下绕过去，”希夫说。
If the Islamic State was behind the crash, it was able to mount the kind of attack that al-Qaida has found difficult to carry out in recent years. At least three times since 2009, al-Qaida's affiliate in Yemen has come	如果 ISIS 是本次坠机的元凶，那它的确实施了基地组织近年来难以办到的那种攻击。自 2009 年以来，基地组织在也门的分支至少三次差点用炸弹袭击客机，但都失败了。那些炸弹的设计可以躲避检测。 close but failed to bring down an airliner using bombs that were designed to be undetectable.

https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20151109/c09plane	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20151109/c09plane
Iran Holds Two U.S. Navy Boats After Mechanical Problems, Officials Say	伊朗扣留两艘美军军舰及多名船员
WASHINGTON — The crews of two small Navy boats were picked up by the Iranian authorities on Tuesday after commanders lost contact with the vessels, and Pentagon officials said that Iran had agreed to return the sailors soon.	华盛顿——本周二，美国海军两艘小型舰艇与指挥官失去了联系之后，船员被伊朗当局接走，五角大楼官员说，伊朗已同意尽快交还船员。
An official said that the boats appeared to have drifted into Iranian territorial waters after one of them experienced mechanical problems. The boats were moving between Kuwait and Bahrain when contact was lost late in the afternoon, a Defense Department official said.	一位官员说，在其中一艘船出现机械问题之后，两船似乎漂入了伊朗领海。国防部官员说，船只是在下午较晚的时候失去联系的，当时它们正在科威特和巴林之间航行。
It was unclear how contact had been lost, and Navy officials in Washington said they were trying to determine what had happened. One official said the two vessels had failed to make a scheduled rendezvous with a larger ship to refuel.	目前还不清楚它们如何失去了联系。华盛顿的海军官员表示，他们正在试图确定发生了什么事情。一名官员说，这两艘船未能赶到预定的集合地点，从一艘较大的船只那里获得油料补给。
Secretary of State John Kerry, an official said, called his Iranian counterpart, with whom he spent months negotiating a nuclear accord. The official spoke on the condition of anonymity because he was not authorized to speak publicly on the issue.	一位官员表示，国务卿约翰·克里(John Kerry)和伊朗外长通了电话，之前他们曾进行过数月之久的核协议谈判。这位官员不愿具名，因为他没有获得对这个问题公开发言的许可。
The semifofficial Fars news agency in Iran said that the boats had illegally traveled more than a mile into Iranian territorial waters near Farsi Island, in the Persian Gulf. It said that forces of the Islamic Revolutionary Guards Navy had confiscated GPS equipment, which would “prove that the American ships where ‘snooping’ around in	伊朗半官方的法尔斯通讯社(Fars News Agency)报道，两艘船在波斯湾法西岛附近非法航行，进入伊朗领海逾一英里，伊斯兰革命卫队海军部队已经没收了两艘船的GPS设备，它们可以“证明美国军舰在那里‘窥探’周围的伊朗水域。”

Iranian waters.”
Tabnak, a semiofficial Iranian website, said that 10 American service members had been arrested, but that Iran had assured the United States they would be released immediately.	伊朗半官方网站 Tabnak 称，有 10 名美国军人遭到逮捕，但伊朗已向美国保证将立即释放他们。
A senior military official said he expected the sailors to remain held overnight and be released on Wednesday. The official said that military and diplomatic contacts with the Iranians had been professional, which he credited to the stepped-up engagement over the nuclear accord.	一位高级军事官员说，他预计船员们会被扣押一晚，将在本周三获释。这名官员表示，他们与伊朗人之间的军事和外交接触非常专业，他认为这是核协议谈判增进了双方接触的缘故。
In 2007, the Revolutionary Guards Navy captured 15 British military personnel and held them for 13 days, making a point of protecting its sea borders. A year later, the British Navy released a report saying that its vessels had been in an area with disputed borders between Iran and Iraq.	2007 年，伊朗革命卫队海军抓获 15 名英国军事人员，将他们扣押了 13 天，表明了其保卫海上边界的立场。一年后，英国海军公布的一份报告称，其船只当时位于伊朗和伊拉克之间有争议的边界海域。
Benjamin J. Rhodes, the American deputy national security adviser, acknowledged the episode on Tuesday without providing any details. He said the United States was trying to ensure the safe return of the service members involved.	美国副国家安全顾问本杰明·J·罗兹(Benjamin J. Rhodes)本周二承认发生了这起事件，但没有提供任何细节。他说，美国正在设法让被扣人员安全返回。
“We were aware of circumstances surrounding a patrol in the Persian Gulf,” Mr. Rhodes said. “We are working to resolve the situation such that, obviously, any U.S. personnel are returned to their normal deployment.	“我们知道波斯湾巡逻发生的事情，”罗兹说。“我们正在努力解决问题，很明显，所有美国人员都会回到正常部署状态。”
The Navy’s Fifth Fleet maintains a presence in the Persian Gulf, including an aircraft carrier, and lately has had several episodes with Iran. Two weeks ago, the Iranian Navy harassed an American carrier and a French frigate in the Strait of Hormuz, launching rockets that	美国海军第五舰队保持着在波斯湾的军事存在，其中包括一艘航空母舰；他们和伊朗近来已经发生了几起事件。两周前，伊朗海军在霍尔木兹海峡对一艘美国运载舰和一艘法国护卫舰进行骚扰，其发射的火箭经过美国航母哈里·S·杜鲁门号(Harry S. Truman)时距离不到 1500 码。 passed within 1,500 yards of the United States aircraft carrier Harry S. Truman.

https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160113/c13ships	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160113/c13ships
Pivotal Nursing Home Suit Raises a Simple Question: Who Signed the Contract?	美国百岁老人被室友杀害，引发养老院仲裁纠纷
Elizabeth Barrow celebrated her 100th birthday at a backyard gathering with her son and three grandchildren in the coastal Massachusetts town where she raised her family and cooked lunches in a school cafeteria.	伊丽莎白·巴洛(Elizabeth Barrow)在她家位于马萨诸塞州一个海滨城市的后院，召集来了儿子和三个孙辈，庆祝自己的100岁生日。她在这座城市里把孩子拉扯大，还曾在一所学校的食堂里做午饭。
A month later, in September 2009, Mrs. Barrow was found dead at a local nursing home, strangled and suffocated, with a plastic shopping bag over her head. The killer, the police said, was her 97-year-old roommate.	一个月后，2009年9月，伊丽莎白·巴洛被发现死在了当地的一家养老院，她是被勒住窒息而死的，死时头上还套着一个塑料购物袋。警方表示，行凶者是她97岁的室友。
Workers at the nursing home, Brandon Woods in South Dartmouth, Mass., had months earlier described the roommate in patient files as being "at risk to harm herself or others."	几个月前，马萨诸塞州南达特茅斯布兰顿森林养老院(Brandon Woods)的工作人员曾在那名室友的病例中形容，她“有伤害自己或他人的风险”。
After a police inquiry, the roommate — despite her age and dementia — was charged with murder. The authorities did not focus on the nursing home, though. Brandon Woods claims that, except for some minor arguments, the two women got along nicely. When the roommate was deemed unfit to stand trial and committed to a state hospital, the sensational case that shocked this corner of New England essentially disappeared.	在警方进行了调查之后，这名室友被控谋杀——尽管她年迈且已失智。不过官方并没有把调查的注意力放在养老院上。布兰顿森林养老院宣称，除了一些小争执之外，这两名老妪相处得很好。等到该名室友被判定不适合出庭，并被送进一所州立医院后，这宗在新英格兰一隅引起轰动的案件就基本上销声匿迹了。
More than six years after the killing, Mrs. Barrow's only son, Scott, is still trying to hold the nursing home accountable. "The woman had a	杀人案发生超过六年之后，伊丽莎白仅有的儿子斯科特·巴洛(Scott)仍在尝试将养老院送上法庭。“那个女人出过很多问题，”巴洛先生在本月接受采访时

history of problems,” Mr. Barrow said of the roommate in an interview this month. “She should not have been living in that room with my mother.”	这样形容那名室友。“她就不应该和我母亲一起住在那间屋里。”
Mr. Barrow was barred from taking Brandon Woods to court in 2010 because his mother’s contract with the nursing home contained a clause that forced any dispute, even one over wrongful death, into private arbitration.	2010年，巴洛先生未能在法院起诉布兰顿森林养老院，因为他母亲与养老院的合同中包含一则条款，规定任何纠纷都要通过私人仲裁解决，哪怕是过失致人死亡。
He has been trying ever since to get back to court, and next month he will finally get that chance. A Massachusetts state court is scheduled to hear Mr. Barrow’s case against the home, which has evolved into much more than a lawsuit about one woman’s death. It has become a crucial test of a legal strategy to prevent nursing homes across the country from requiring their residents to go to arbitration, where there is no judge or jury and the proceedings are hidden from public scrutiny.	从那时以来，他就一直在尝试再回到法庭，下个月他将终于赢得这个机会。马萨诸塞州的一家州法院计划开庭审理斯科特·巴洛起诉养老院的案件，这个案件的影响已经远远超出了一个女人的死。美国各地的养老院都要求住户进行仲裁，而仲裁程序没有法官也没有陪审团，且其审理程序不公开，不受公众监督。一项旨在推翻这种做法的法律策略，在巴洛案中面临着关键的挑战。
Arbitration clauses have proliferated over the last 10 years as companies have added them to tens of millions of contracts for things as diverse as cellphone service, credit cards and student loans. Nursing homes in particular have embraced the clauses, which are often buried in complex contracts that are difficult to navigate, especially for elderly people with dwindling mental acuity or their relatives, who can be emotionally vulnerable when admitting a parent to a home.	过去十年间，企业界在其数千万份合同中增加了要求仲裁的条款，这些合同涉及的事项林林总总，包括手机服务、信用卡、学生贷款等。养老院尤其热衷这种条款。而且这些条款常常埋藏在复杂合同里，难以阅读，对于智力日益衰退的老人，以及他们的亲属，都是如此。这些亲属在送父母到养老院时，通常情绪脆弱。
State regulators are concerned because the secretive nature of arbitration can obscure patterns of wrongdoing from prospective residents and their families. Recently, officials in 16 states and the District of Columbia urged the federal government to deny Medicaid	州监管机构感到担忧，因为仲裁程序的保密性可能会掩盖不端行为，使潜在的客户及其家人难以觉察。最近，16个州及哥伦比亚特区的官员敦促联邦政府，禁止将联邦医疗补助(Medicaid)和联邦医疗保险(Medicare)的资金投入使用这些条款的养老院。《纽约时报》查阅了2.5万份仲裁记录，并采访

and Medicare money to nursing homes that use the clauses. Between 2010 and 2014, hundreds of cases of elder abuse, neglect and wrongful death ended up in arbitration, according to an examination by The New York Times of 25,000 arbitration records and interviews with arbitrators, judges and plaintiffs.	仲裁员、法官、原告人之后发现，在 2010 年至 2014 年之间，有数百宗虐待老人、疏于照管、过失致人死亡的案件以仲裁告终。
Judges have consistently upheld the clauses, The Times found, regardless of whether the people signing them understood what they were forfeiting. It is the most basic principle of contract law: Once a contract is signed, judges have ruled, it is legally binding.	时报发现，法官一贯支持这些条款，不管签署人是否明白他们放弃了怎样的权利。这是合同法里最基本的原则：法官认定，一旦合同签署完毕，它就具有了法律效力。
Mr. Barrow's case is pivotal because, with the help of his lawyers, he has overcome an arbitration clause by using the fundamentals of contract law to fight back.	巴洛案是一个转折点，因为在律师的帮助下，巴洛用合同法的基本原则予以反击，进而攻克了仲裁条款。
As is often the case when elderly people are admitted to nursing homes, Mr. Barrow signed the admissions paperwork containing the arbitration clause on his mother's behalf.	就像很多老人在入住养老院时的情形一样，巴洛替母亲签署了包含仲裁条款的入住文件。
Although his mother had designated Mr. Barrow as her health care proxy — someone who was authorized to make decisions about her medical treatment — his lawyers argued that he did not have the authority to bind his mother to arbitration. In 2014, a judge ruled in his favor.	尽管母亲将巴洛指定成了医疗事务代理人，即授权巴洛替她做出医疗方面的决定，但他的律师认为，他并没有权力约束母亲只可以接受仲裁。2014 年，法院作出了有利于他的判决。
It is a straightforward argument that is catching on. Appeals courts across the country have been throwing out arbitration agreements signed by family members of nursing home residents.	这种论证简单明了，受到了广泛的效仿。全美各地的上诉法院否决了大量由养老院居住者的家人签署的仲裁协议。
For years, judges hearing elder-abuse cases rejected arguments that arbitration clauses in nursing home contracts were patently unfair	多年来，一直有当事人主张，养老院合同里的仲裁条款显失公平，因为签署人并不理解，甚至可能没有意识到这种条款的存在。但审理虐待老年人案件

because they were signed by people who did not understand them or perhaps even realize they existed.	的法官们都驳回了这种论述。
In a circuit court case involving a man in a Mississippi nursing home who could not read, write or sign his name, the judges held that under state law, "illiteracy alone is not a sufficient basis for the invalidation of an arbitration agreement."	一家巡回法院审理一宗涉及密西西比州某家养老院里一名不识字、不会写字、不会签自己名字的男子的案件时，法官认定，依据州法律“单单是不识字，不足以成为取消仲裁协议的依据”。
"Any normal human being would say that these contracts don't pass the smell test. But the courts don't accept this," said Martin S. Kardon, a plaintiff's lawyer in Philadelphia with a focus on nursing home cases.	"任何一个正常人都会觉得这些合同有问题，但法庭不接受这一点，"费城的辩护律师马丁·S·卡顿(Martin S. Kardon)表示。卡顿一直关注养老院案件。
A few years ago, Mr. Kardon and a small network of lawyers across the country tried a different tack. They began making hyper-technical arguments about the validity of nursing home contracts.	几年前，卡顿和全国各地的一小群律师开始采用一条不同的路线。他们开始对养老院合同的法律效力作出高度技术化的反驳。
They argued that unless family members had power of attorney, they lacked the authority to agree to arbitration.	他们辩称，除非家属有法律授权书，否则就没有同意仲裁的权限。
"We had to start speaking the language of judges," Mr. Kardon said.	"我们必须开始用法官的语言讲话，"卡顿说。
When Mr. Barrow, now 67, brought his parents to the nursing home in 2006, signing the paperwork seemed like little more than a formality, the final step of an already tough process.	现年 67 岁的斯科特·巴洛在 2006 年将父母送到养老院时，签署文件仿佛只是例行公事，是一段已然艰难的历程中的最后一步。
At first, his parents — sweethearts since they met working at a textile mill — shared the same room at the home, a tidy brick building with a decorative pond outside. After his father died the next year, his mother had a string of roommates. Known for walking the halls, asking other residents if they needed hugs, Mrs. Barrow made friends easily. And the light in her south-facing room was perfect for cultivating her beloved African violets.	他的父母在一家纺织厂共事时相恋，之后一直相恋相守。起初他们二人在养老院里住在同一个房间里，养老院是一座整洁的砖楼，外面有一座装饰性水塘。他的父亲第二年去世后，母亲有过一系列室友。由于喜欢在大堂里闲逛，询问其他老人要不要个拥抱，伊丽莎白·巴洛很容易就交到了朋友。而且她朝南的房间对于培育她钟爱的非洲紫罗兰十分完美。

Things changed in 2008 when she got a new roommate, Laura Lundquist, who was moved because of an argument with her previous roommate, Mr. Barrow's lawyers said in a court filing.	但在 2008 年，她有了一个新室友之后，一切都变了。新室友劳拉·伦德奎斯特(Laura Lundquist)之所以搬进来是因为她与上一个室友发生了争执，巴洛先生的律师在法庭文件中说。
The change of scenery did not seem to help Ms. Lundquist, who had been diagnosed with dementia, delusions, anxiety disorder, depression and paranoia.	环境的改变并没有给伦德奎斯特带来多大帮助。她被诊断患有失智、幻觉、焦虑症、抑郁症和妄想症。
Ms. Lundquist did not like to eat in the dining hall, so Mrs. Barrow would take her own meals in their room to keep her company, Mr. Barrow said.	伦德奎斯特不喜欢在餐厅里吃饭，于是巴洛女士会把自己的饭带到屋里陪她，斯科特·巴洛说。
In court papers, lawyers for Brandon Woods cited those meals as evidence that the two women "generally carried on a caring friendship."	法庭文件显示，布兰顿森林养老院的律师认为，这些进餐经历显示两名老姬“大体上存在相互关怀的友谊”。
On Aug. 21, Mrs. Barrow turned 100. Her son and three grandchildren took her on a shopping trip to Walmart. They ate cake with green frosting, and she declared it her goal to live to 104.	那年 8 月 21 日，巴洛女士过 100 岁生日。她的儿子和三名孙辈带她去沃尔玛购物。他们吃了涂覆成绿色的蛋糕，她宣布自己的目标活到 104 岁。
A month later, back at the nursing home, a simple disagreement between the roommates escalated.	一个月后，在养老院里，室友之间一场简单的分歧加剧了。
It began when Mrs. Barrow asked a nursing assistant to move a table from the foot of Ms. Lundquist's bed so that she could get to the bathroom. At that request, Ms. Lundquist got out of bed, screamed, "was verbally abusive and hit" the nursing assistant, records show. It took two staff members to calm Ms. Lundquist.	巴洛女士要求一位护工把伦德奎斯特床脚的一张桌子挪开，好让她能去洗手间。记录显示，听到这个要求后，伦德奎斯特下床高呼了“一些很伤人的话，还打了”护工。两个职员一起下手才让伦德奎斯特镇静下来。
Officials at Brandon Woods and lawyers for the nursing home did not respond to requests for comment.	布兰登森林养老院的管理人员和律师没有回应记者的置评请求。
In the court papers, lawyers for the nursing home said Mrs. Barrow had assured the nurse that she felt safe in the room "and that Ms. Lundquist	在法庭文件中，养老院的律师表示巴洛女士曾向护士确认，她在房间里感到安全，“伦德奎斯特会冷静下来”。

would cool off.”
At 6:20 the next morning, a staff member found Mrs. Barrow in bed with a plastic bag on her head and the covers pulled up. The table was back at the foot of Ms. Lundquist’s bed.	第二天早上 6 点 20 分，一名职员发现巴洛女士死在床上，头上套着塑料袋，被子盖在身上。
“I can’t do anything for my mother,” Mr. Barrow said, “but I want people to realize that they have to investigate nursing homes. Everyone could end up there.”	“我什么事情都没办法替母亲做，”巴洛先生说，“但我希望人们意识到，他们必须要调查养老院。每个人都可能会在那里终老。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160225/c25db-arbitration	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160225/c25db-arbitration
More Latinos Seek Citizenship to Vote Against Trump	为阻止特朗普，墨西哥移民争相入籍美国
DENVER — Donald J. Trump’s harsh campaign rhetoric against Mexican immigrants has helped him win a substantial delegate lead in the Republican primary, but it is also mobilizing a different set of likely voters — six of them alone in the family of Hortensia Villegas.	丹佛——唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)在竞选演说中对墨西哥移民的刺耳言论，帮助他在共和党初选中赢得了大幅度的代表领先优势，但同时也调动了另一群可能前往投票的人——仅在霍滕西亚·维勒加斯(Hortensia Villegas)的家中，就有六个这样的人。
A legal immigrant from Mexico, Ms. Villegas is a mother of two who has been living in the United States for nearly a decade but never felt compelled to become a citizen. But as Mr. Trump has surged toward the Republican nomination, Ms. Villegas — along with her sister, her parents and her husband’s parents — has joined a rush by many Latino immigrants to naturalize in time to vote in November.	来自墨西哥的合法移民维勒加斯是两个孩子的母亲，在美国生活了将近十年，一直没有觉得有必要成为美国公民。但在特朗普成为共和党提名人的可能性激增之际，维勒加斯——和她的妹妹、父母以及丈夫的父母一起——像很多拉丁裔移民一样，争相归化入籍，以便能参加 11 月的投票。
“I want to vote so Donald Trump won’t win,” said Ms. Villegas, 32, one of several hundred legal residents, mostly Mexicans, who crowded one recent Saturday into a Denver union hall. Volunteers helped them fill out applications for citizenship, which this year are taking about five months for federal officials to approve. “He doesn’t like us,” she said.	“我要投票，防止特朗普获胜。”32 岁的维勒加斯说。近日的一个周六，她和其他数百名以墨西哥人为主的合法居民参加了丹佛的一个聚会。志愿者帮助他们填写入籍申请。今年的入籍申请获得联邦官员批准需要五个月的时间。“特朗普不喜欢我们，”她说。
Over all, naturalization applications increased by 11 percent in the 2015	联邦数据显示，总的来说，2015 财年的入籍申请数量同比增加 11%，在截

fiscal year over the year before, and jumped 14 percent during the six months ending in January, according to federal figures. The pace is picking up by the week, advocates say, and they estimate applications could approach 1 million in 2016, about 200,000 more than the average in recent years.	至1月的六个月期间增幅达到14%。倡导人士表示,到本周,这种步伐在不断加快,他们估计2016年将有100万人申请入籍,比近些年来的平均数量多20万人。
While naturalizations generally rise during presidential election years, Mr. Trump provided an extra boost this year. He kicked off his campaign in June describing Mexicans as drug-traffickers and rapists. His pledge to build a border wall and make Mexico pay for it has been a regular applause line. He has vowed to create a deportation force to expel the estimated 11 million immigrants here illegally, evoking mass roundups of the 1950s.	入籍人数在总统大选年间通常会有所增加,但特朗普今年提供了一种额外的动力。6月开启竞选活动时,特朗普称墨西哥人是毒贩和强奸犯。他承诺建造边境墙,并让墨西哥为之付钱,这种言论经常为他赢得掌声。他曾发誓成立一个驱逐部门,负责驱逐大约1100万非法移民,令人想起20世纪50年代大规模围捕非法移民的行动。
Among 8.8 million legal residents eligible to naturalize, about 2.7 million are Mexicans, the largest national group, federal figures show. But after decades of low naturalization rates, only 36 percent of eligible Mexicans have become citizens, while 68 percent of all other immigrants have done so, according to the Pew Research Center.	联邦数据显示,在880万有资格加入美国国籍的合法居民中,墨西哥人是最大的国族群体,达到270万人。但皮尤研究中心(Pew Research Center)的数据显示,数十年来墨西哥人入籍率较低,只有36%有资格入籍的墨西哥人成为美国公民,而在其他移民中,68%的人已经入籍。
"A lot of people are opening their eyes because of all the negative stuff Donald Trump has brought," said Ms. Villegas's husband, Miguel Garfio, 30, who was born and raised in Colorado and came to the workshop here to help his wife and other family members become citizens this year. His parents came from Mexico in the 1980s and worked hard all their lives, he said, helping him create a construction company in Denver that now employs 18 people. Contrary to Mr. Trump's depiction, he said, none of his relatives have criminal records.	"唐纳德·特朗普带来的负面的东西让很多人觉悟,"维勒加斯的丈夫米格尔·加尔斐(Miguel Garfio)说。30岁的加尔斐在科罗拉多州出生长大,他来到这里的工作坊,帮助妻子及其他家人在今年加入美国籍。他表示,他的父母在20世纪80年代从墨西哥来到美国,一生努力工作,帮助他在丹佛创立了一家建筑公司,该公司目前有18名员工。他表示,与特朗普的描述不同,他的亲属都没有犯罪记录。

https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160308/c08naturalize	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160308/c08naturalize
White House Eases More Restrictions on Travel to Cuba	美国解除古巴个人旅行禁令，取消美元交易限制
WASHINGTON — The Obama administration announced Tuesday that it would allow individuals to travel to Cuba for “people to people” educational trips and lift limits on the use of American dollars in transactions with Cuba, wiping away stiff restrictions on travel and commerce as President Obama prepares to make a trip to Havana next week.	华盛顿——在奥巴马总统将于下周访问哈瓦那之际，他领导的政府于周二宣布，将允许美国公民个人前往古巴进行“民间对民间的”教育之旅，取消在与古巴的交易中使用美元的限制，从而解除了两国在旅行和商务方面的一些严格限制。
The actions represent some of the most significant regulatory changes the Departments of Treasury and Commerce have made to carry out the move toward normalization that Mr. Obama and President Raúl Castro of Cuba announced in December 2014.	这项行动是美国财政部和商务部为落实推进两国邦交正常化所做出的最为重大的一些法规调整。2014年12月，美国总统奥巴马和古巴总统劳尔·卡斯特罗(Raúl Castro)宣布要实现正常化。
While Americans are permitted to make educational visits to Cuba in tour groups, the tourism ban enshrined in the embargo has barred individuals from traveling there on their own, a limitation that will be removed under Tuesday’s revisions.	尽管之前美国公民已经可以通过旅行团前往古巴进行教育旅行，但在贸易禁运中规定的旅行禁令一直不允许个人自行前往古巴。按照周二宣布的法规修订，这条限制将被解除。
The new rules will also allow Cuban citizens to earn a salary in the United States and make it easier for dollars to be used in financial transactions with United States banks, something government officials in Havana have long pressed for.	新规定也将允许古巴公民在美国工作赚取薪水，还可以让古巴人更便利地通过美国银行以美元办理金融业务。这些都是哈瓦那长期以来迫切要求的。
“Today’s steps build on the actions of the last 15 months as we continue to break down economic barriers, empower the Cuban people and advance their financial freedoms, and chart a new course in U.S.-Cuba relations,” Jacob J. Lew, the Treasury secretary, said in a statement.	“今天迈出的步伐建立在过去15个月的努力之上。我们在持续打破经济壁垒，向古巴民众赋权，提高他们在财务上的自由度，绘制出美古关系的新航线，”美国财政部长雅各布·J·卢(Jacob J. Lew)在声明中表示。
The changes reflect a major behind-the-scenes effort by American and	这些改变反映出美国和古巴官员在幕后所做的一项重要努力，即在奥巴马访

Cuban officials to strike a series of deals before the coming visit by Mr. Obama to ensure that his trip is seen as a success.	问古巴前夕敲定一系列协议，以确保这次访问被看作是一次胜利。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160316/c16sanctions	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160316/c16sanctions
In Donald Trump's Worldview, America Comes First, and Everybody Else Pays	特朗普谈外交：美国优先，允许日韩拥有核武
Donald Trump, the Republican presidential front-runner, said that if elected, he might halt purchases of oil from Saudi Arabia and other Arab allies unless they commit ground troops to the fight against the Islamic State or "substantially reimburse" the United States for combating the militant group, which threatens their stability.	共和党总统初选领跑者唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump)说，他如果当选，可能会停止从沙特等阿拉伯盟友那里购买石油，除非他们出动地面部队与伊斯兰国(Islamic State)作战，或者对打击激进组织的美国进行“充分补偿”。这些激进组织对沙特等国的稳定性构成了威胁。
"If Saudi Arabia was without the cloak of American protection," Trump said during a 100-minute interview on foreign policy, spread over two phone calls, "I don't think it would be around."	"如果没有美国的庇护，我不觉得沙特阿拉伯还能守得住，"特朗普在两通电话中谈到了外交政策方面的问题，整个采访历时 100 分钟。
He also said he would be open to allowing Japan and South Korea to build their own nuclear arsenals rather than depend on the U.S. nuclear umbrella for their protection against North Korea and China. If the United States "keeps on its path, its current path of weakness, they're going to want to have that anyway, with or without me discussing it," Trump said.	他还表示，对于是否允许日本和韩国建立自己的核武库来应对朝鲜和中国的威胁，而不是依赖美国的保护，他抱有一种开放的心态。如果美国“继续走老路，表现得像现在这样软弱，他们就会希望拥有自己的核武库，不管我是否讨论这个问题，”特朗普说。
And he said he would be willing to withdraw U.S. forces from both Japan and South Korea if they did not substantially increase their contributions to the costs of housing and feeding those troops. "Not happily, but the answer is yes," he said.	他说，如果日本和韩国不更多地负担美国驻军的食宿开支，他愿意从日韩撤出驻军。“也不是开开心心地撤出来，但是我会撤出，”他说。
Trump also said he would seek to renegotiate many fundamental treaties with U.S. allies, possibly including a 56-year-old security pact	特朗普还表示，对于美国和盟友之间的很多基本条约，他都会寻求重新谈判，其中可能包括一项与日本在 56 年前签订的安全条约，他认为那个条约不公

with Japan, which he described as one-sided.	平。
In Trump's worldview, the United States has become a diluted power, and the main mechanism by which he would re-establish its central role in the world is economic bargaining. He approached almost every current international conflict through the prism of a negotiation, even when he was imprecise about the strategic goals he sought. He again faulted the Obama administration's handling of the negotiations with Iran last year — "It would have been so much better if they had walked away a few times," he said — but offered only one new idea about how he would change its content: Ban Iran's trade with North Korea.	在特朗普的世界观中，美国的势力已经不如以前，他要重新确立其在世界上的核心地位，主要手段就是经济谈判。他从谈判的眼光来审视当今世界的几乎每一个重大冲突，即便有时候他对自己寻求的战略目标并不能做出准确表述。他再次指责了奥巴马政府去年在与伊朗谈判时的处理方式——“如果美国从谈判桌上走开几次，情况本来会好得多，”他说——但是对于谈判的内容，他只谈到了一个新的关注点：禁止伊朗与朝鲜之间开展贸易。
Trump struck similar themes when he discussed the future of NATO, which he called "unfair, economically, to us," and said he was open to an alternative organization focused on counterterrorism. He argued that the best way to halt China's placement of military airfields and anti-aircraft batteries on reclaimed islands in the South China Sea was to threaten its access to U.S. markets.	在谈到北约(NATO)的前景时，特朗普也采用了类似的思路。他表示，对于美国来说，北约“在经济上很不公平”，对于其他反恐组织，他会保持一种开放心态。他认为，阻止中国在南海人造岛屿上修建军用机场和防空屏障的最好办法，就是用美国市场的机会来威胁他们。
"We have tremendous economic power over China," he argued. "And that's the power of trade." He did not mention Beijing's capability for economic retaliation.	“我们对中国有巨大的经济牵制力，那就是贸易的力量。”他认为。不过他没有提及中国经济的报复能力。
Trump's views, as he explained them, fit nowhere into the recent history of the Republican Party: He is not in the internationalist camp of President George H.W. Bush, nor does he favor George W. Bush's call to make it the United States' mission to spread democracy around the world. He agreed with a suggestion that his ideas might best be summed up as "America First."	从特朗普自己的解释来看，他的主张与共和党这些年来的观念很不一致：他不属于乔治·H·W·布什(George H.W. Bush)的国际主义阵营，也不赞成乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)“美国的使命是把民主传播到世界各地”的呼吁。有人说他的观念可以概括成“美国优先”，他同意这个说法。

Trump explained his thoughts in concrete and easily digestible terms, but they appeared to reflect little consideration for potential consequences. Much the same way he treats political rivals and interviewers, he personalized how he would engage foreign nations, suggesting his approach would depend partly on "how friendly they've been toward us," not just on national interests or alliances.	特朗普及明确且易于理解的语言解释了他的想法，但这些想法似乎反映出特朗普几乎没有考虑潜在后果。他在如何对待外国的问题上偏向个人化，称他的态度部分取决于“它们对我们的友好程度”，不仅仅是根据国际利益或盟友关系，这与他对待政治对手及采访者的态度基本一样。
At no point did he express any belief that U.S. forces deployed on military bases around the world were by themselves valuable to the United States, though Republican and Democratic administrations have for decades argued that they are essential to deterring military adventurism, protecting commerce and gathering intelligence.	对于美国在世界各地军事基地部署军队的做法，他从始至终都没有表现出任何的信心，尽管共和党和民主党政府数十年来一直辩称，这些军队是必不可少的，能够阻止军事冒险主义、保护贸易，收集情报。
Like Richard Nixon, Trump emphasized the importance of "unpredictability" for a U.S. president, arguing that the country's traditions of democracy and openness had made its actions too easy for adversaries and allies alike to foresee.	就像理查德·尼克松(Richard Nixon)一样，特朗普强调“不可预测性”对于美国总统的重要性，辩称美国民主、开放的传统使得对手和盟友太容易预料到美国的行动。
"I wouldn't want them to know what my real thinking is," he said of how far he was willing to take the confrontation over the islands in the South China Sea, which are remote and lightly inhabited but extend China's control over a major maritime thoroughfare. But, he added, "I would use trade, absolutely, as a bargaining chip."	“我不想他们知道我真正的想法，”特朗普谈到他会在南海岛屿问题上进行多大程度的对抗时说。“我绝对会把贸易当作谈判筹码。”南海位置遥远，人口极少，但却会增加中国对主要海上通道的控制。
Until recently, Trump's foreign policy pronouncements have largely come through slogans: "Take the oil," "Build a wall" and ban Muslim immigrants, at least temporarily. But as he has pulled closer to capturing the nomination, he has been called on to elaborate.	直到最近，特朗普的外交政策表态基本上都是通过口号做出的：“占领油田”、“筑墙”，禁止穆斯林移民入境，至少暂时禁止。但随着他距离获得提名又近了一些，他被要求详细说明相关政策。
Pressed about his call to "take the oil" controlled by the Islamic State in	对于他此前呼吁的“占领”伊斯兰国在中东控制的油田一事，特朗普承认这需

the Middle East, Trump acknowledged that this would require deploying ground troops, something he does not favor. "We should've taken it, and we would've had it," he said, referring to the years in which the United States occupied Iraq. "Now we have to destroy the oil."	要部署地面部队，而这是他能不同意的。“我们本应该占领它们，本来可以拥有它们，”他说，他指的是美国占领伊拉克期间。“如今，我们只能摧毁这些石油。”
He did not rule out spying on U.S. allies, including leaders like Angela Merkel, the German chancellor, whose cellphone was apparently a target of the National Security Agency. Obama said the United States would no longer target her phone but made no such commitments about the rest of Germany, or Europe.	他没有排除对美国盟友开展间谍活动的可能，其中包括德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)等领导人，默克尔的手机曾是美国国家安全局(National Security Agency)的监听目标。奥巴马表示，美国将不再监听她的手机，但没有对德国或欧洲的其他人员做出此类承诺。
"I'm not sure that I would want to be talking about that," Trump said. "You understand what I mean by that."	"我想不好要不要谈论这件事，"特朗普说。"你明白我在说什么。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160328/c28trumpforeign	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160328/c28trumpforeign
The Trade Deficit Isn't a Scorecard, and Cutting It Won't Make America Great Again	为什么美国不必害怕贸易逆差
Donald Trump believes that a half-trillion-dollar trade deficit with the rest of the world makes the United States a loser and countries with trade surpluses like China and Mexico winners.	唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump)认为，美国对世界其他国家的 5000 亿美元贸易逆差使得美国成为输家，而中国、墨西哥等实现贸易顺差的国家成为赢家。
"They're beating us so badly," he has said. "Every country we lose money with."	"它们狠狠地击败了我们，"他曾说过。"每一个赚了我們钱的国家都打败了我们。"
The reality is different. Trade deficits are not inherently good or bad; they can be either depending on circumstances. The trade deficit is not a scorecard.	事实并非如此。贸易逆差本身没有好坏；这要看情况。贸易逆差不是记分卡。
What's more, eliminating the trade deficit wouldn't, on its own, make America great again, as Trump suggests. And trying to do so could mean giving up some of the levers of power that let the United States	此外，消除贸易逆差本身不会促使美国像特朗普说的那样，恢复伟大荣光。这么做可能意味着放弃一些使美国在国际政治领域获得成功的权力杠杆。 get its way in international politics.

Getting rid of the trade deficit could very well make America less great. And the reasons have to do with the global reserve currency, economic diplomacy and something called the Triffin dilemma.	摆脱贸易逆差可能恰恰会削弱美国的实力。原因与国际储备货币、经济外交及所谓的特里芬难题有关。
What Is the Trade Deficit?	什么是贸易逆差?
Imagine a world where there are only two countries, and only two products. One country makes cars; the other grows bananas.	想象一下,世界上只有两个国家、两种商品的情况。一个国家制造汽车,另一个种植香蕉。
People in CarNation want some bananas, so they buy $1 million worth from people in BananaLand. Residents of BananaLand want cars, so they buy $2 million of them from CarNation.	汽车国的居民想购买香蕉,他们就从香蕉国买了价值 100 万美元的香蕉。香蕉国的居民想买汽车,他们花了 200 万美元从汽车国买入。
That difference is the trade deficit: BananaLand has a $1 million trade deficit; CarNation has a $1 million trade surplus.	这种差别就造成了贸易逆差:香蕉国有 100 万美元的贸易逆差;汽车国则有 100 万美元的贸易顺差。
But this does not mean that BananaLand is "losing" to CarNation. Cars are really useful, and BananaLandites got a lot of them in exchange for their money.	但这并不意味着香蕉国就"输给了"汽车国。因为汽车真的很有用,香蕉国的居民用自己的钱换了很多汽车。
Similarly, it's true that the United States has a $58 billion trade deficit with Mexico, for example. But it's not as if that's just Americans flinging money across the Rio Grande out of charity. Americans get a lot of good stuff for that: avocados, for example, and Cancun vacations.	同样地,美国是对墨西哥有 580 亿美元的贸易逆差,但你不能因此觉得美国好像是出于善心在朝格兰德河(Rio Grande)另一边大把地撒钱。美国人用这些钱换了很多不错的商品:比如买鳄梨,及坎昆的度假时光。
If you want to think of it in terms of winners and losers, in fact, you could justifiably reverse Trump's preferred framing: "Those losers in Mexico gave us $58 billion more stuff than we gave them last year. Ha, ha, ha. We're winners."	实际上,如果你想从输赢的角度看这个问题,完全可以把特朗普提出的逻辑反过来:"相比于我们卖给他们的,墨西哥那些笨蛋去年多给了我们 580 亿美元的货品。哈哈,我们是赢家。"
But when a country runs a trade deficit, as the United States does, there is a countervailing force. Think back to our pretend countries.	然而,如果一个国家像美国这样出现贸易逆差,同时就会出现一股反作用力。再拿我们之前假定的两个国家来说。香蕉国对汽车国有 100 万美元的贸易逆

BananaLand has a $1 million trade deficit with CarNation. But that means that car producers in CarNation are sitting on an extra $1 million a year in income.	差，这意味着汽车国的汽车生产商一年会多出 100 万美元的营收。
Something has to happen with that $1 million, and both of the two options have consequences.	他们必须考虑如何处置这 100 万美元资金，而仅有的两种选择，都会带来相应的后果。
One option is to keep that money at home. But keeping that money inside their own country will push the value of the CarNation currency upward. And as its currency goes up, cars will become more expensive in BananaLand – causing people there to buy fewer of them until eventually the trade deficit is eliminated.	一种选择是把这笔钱留在国内，但这会导致汽车国的货币升值。而随着货币升值，汽车在香蕉国的售价也会增高，导致那里的人们汽车购买量下降，直到将之前存在的贸易逆差拉平。
If CarNation doesn't want its currency to rise, it has to take that $1 million trade surplus and plow it back into BananaLand. There are different ways it could do that. People in CarNation could buy stocks or bonds in BananaLand, or companies in CarNation could invest in factories in BananaLand, or the government of CarNation could buy assets directly.	如果汽车国不想让自己的货币升值，就必须将这 100 万美元的贸易顺差资金再投资到香蕉国去。它有多种不同的途径可以实现这一点。可以通过汽车国的居民购买香蕉国的股票或债券，或者通过汽车国的企业在香蕉国投资建厂，又或者汽车国的政府直接购买香蕉国的资产。
The choice is stark: A country running a trade surplus must either let its currency rise or let money flow back to its trading partners.	这是一项残酷的抉择：出现贸易顺差的国家要么得眼看着本国货币升值，要么就得把资金投回贸易伙伴国。
This isn't just an abstraction. It's what has happened between the United States and China for the last couple of decades. China has had consistent trade surpluses, but it did not want its currency to rise in a way that would undermine its exporters. So money has flowed from China into the United States – both from the Chinese government buying U.S. Treasury bonds and more recently in the form of direct investment from Chinese companies into the United States.	这可不只是一种抽象的推理。这是过去几十年美国和中国之间真实发生的事。中国持续出现贸易顺差，但它不想让货币升值，损害本国出口商的利益。所以资金就从中国流入美国——其方式既有中国政府购买美国国债，也包括最近中国企业在美国进行的直接投资。

When you see a headline about a Chinese company buying an American hotel group for $13 billion, you're seeing the flip side of the trade deficit Trump bemoans. (The same when a citizen of China buys a luxury apartment in a Trump tower.) Money flowing into a country is usually considered a good thing. It makes borrowing money cheaper, drives up stock prices and can mean more investment in new businesses.	当你看到有关一家中国企业以 130 亿美元购买一家美国酒店集团的头条新闻时，你所看到的正是特朗普哀叹的美国贸易逆差的另一面。（一名中国公民在特朗普大厦[Trump tower]购买豪华公寓的情况，也是如此。）资金流入一个国家，通常被看作一件好事。它会使该国贷款更加容易，会推高股票价格，也意味着更多投资流向新企业。
Wouldn't It Be Better if the U.S. Didn't Run a Deficit?	如果美国没有贸易逆差，岂不是更好？
It's not clear that that's even an option, because the dollar isn't used just in trade between the United States and other countries.	我们甚至不确定，自己到底有没有这样一个选择，因为美元不止被用于美国和其他国家之间的贸易。
The dollar is a global reserve currency, meaning that it is used around the world in transactions that have nothing to do with the United States. When a Malaysian company does business with a German company, in many cases they will do business in dollars; when wealthy people in Dubai or Singapore's government investment fund want to sock away money, they do so in large part in dollar assets.	它是一个全球通用的储备货币，这意味着在全世界进行的各种和美国无关的交易中，也有可能用到它。当一家马来西亚企业和一家德国公司做生意时，他们很可能会用美元进行交易；迪拜的富裕阶层和新加坡的政府投资基金想储存一部分资金时，大部分也会选择购买美元资产。
That creates upward pressure on the dollar for reasons unrelated to trade flows between the United States and its partners. That, in turn, makes the dollar stronger, and American exporters less competitive, than they would be in a world where nobody used the dollar for anything except commerce involving the United States.	这些和美国及其伙伴之间的贸易往来无关的原因，给美元造成了升值的压力。比起除了涉及美国的贸易之外谁都不用美元的情景，这会让美元更坚挺，并导致美国出口商的竞争力下降。
The roughly $500 billion trade deficit that the United States runs each year isn't just about poorly negotiated trade deals and currency manipulation by this or that country. It's also, to some degree, a byproduct of the central role the United States plays in the global	美国每年约 5000 亿美元的贸易逆差不仅涉及不利的贸易协议或某个国家操纵货币。它在一定程度上也是美国在全球金融体系中所起的核心作用带来的副产品。 financial system.

There's even a name for this: the Triffin Dilemma. In the mid-20th century, the economist Robert Triffin warned that the provider of the global reserve currency would need to run perpetual trade deficits to keep the world financial system from freezing, with those trade deficits potentially fueling domestic booms and busts.	这种情况甚至还有个专门的名字，叫作“特里芬难题”(Triffin Dilemma)。20世纪中叶，经济学家罗伯特·特里芬(Robert Triffin)警告，全球储备货币的供应国可能需要持续不断地承受贸易逆差，以避免世界金融体系冻结，而这些贸易逆差会潜在地推动国内市场的兴衰。
The key idea is that if a President Trump or any other future leader really wants to reduce our trade deficits in a major way, they're going to have to rethink the very underpinnings of global finance.	关键的一点是，倘若特朗普总统或将来任何什么领导人想大幅削减贸易逆差，他们都必须重新考虑全球金融的基础。
If Being the Global Reserve Currency Means Bleeding Jobs Overseas, Why Do It?	如果说，成为全球储备货币意味着就业岗位流向海外，那为何还要成为这样的货币？
Be careful what you wish for.	许下心愿的时候要当心。
There's no doubt that being the global reserve currency creates costs for the United States, namely a less competitive export industry.	毋庸置疑，成为全球储备货币的确让美国付出了代价，即出口行业的竞争力被削弱。
But it also creates a lot of advantages. Lower interest rates and higher stock prices are one (though that has the downside of also feeding debt-driven booms and busts). Even more important is what the dollar's prominence in global finance does for America's place in the world.	但它也带来了许多优势。低利率和高股价便是其中之一（尽管它们也有不利的一面，即加剧债务驱动的繁荣和衰退）。更重要的是美元在全球金融中的显赫声望对美国的世界地位的影响。
It helps ensure that the United States can afford to finance wars, and gives the government greater ability to fight recessions and panics. A country experiencing a banking panic will see money sent out of the country, causing its currency to fall and its interest rates to rise. All that limits a government's options for fixing the problem. In 2008, when the United States experienced a near-collapse of the banking system, the opposite happened.	它有助于确保美国能经受得起金融战争，并会增强政府抗击衰退和恐慌的能力。经历银行业恐慌的国家会面临资金出逃，导致本国货币贬值、利率升高。所有这些都限制政府用于解决问题的可选方案。然而，2008年当美国经历银行系统几近崩溃时，却出现了截然相反的情况。

But it's not just economics. "A lot of the benefits of having the reserve currency are more on the foreign policy side than the economic," said Jennifer M. Harris, a senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations and author of a coming book, "War by Other Means," on the use of economic tools in foreign policy.	不过，此事的影响不仅限于经济领域。“比起经济方面，成为储备货币带来的许多好处在外交政策方面更胜一筹，”对外关系委员会(Council on Foreign Relations)高级研究员珍妮弗·M·哈里斯(Jennifer M. Harris)说。她的著作《其他形式的战争》(War by Other Means)即将面世，内容关于在外交政策中使用经济工具。
The centrality of the dollar to global finance gives the United States power on the global stage that no other country can match. It has enforced sanctions on Iran, Russia, North Korea and terrorist groups with the implicit threat of cutting off access to the dollar payments system for any bank in the world that doesn't cooperate with American foreign policy.	美元在全球金融中的核心地位，让美国在全球舞台上拥有了其他任何国家都无法匹敌的权力。美国对伊朗、俄罗斯、朝鲜和恐怖组织实行制裁的时候，隐含的威胁是，世界上一切不配合美国外交政策的银行，都可被拦在美元支付体系之外。
Part of what makes the United States powerful is the great importance of the dollar to global finance. And part of the price the United States pays for that status is a stronger currency and higher trade deficits than would be the case otherwise.	让美国大权在握的部分原因正是美元在全球金融中的重要作用。而美国为此付出的部分代价是，比起美元不是全球金融核心的情景，现实中美元要更坚挺，贸易逆差更大。
The debate over the trade deficit is about more than Mexico and China, cars and bananas, or winning and losing. It's about what makes America great, and which of the country's priorities should come first.	围绕贸易逆差的辩论不仅涉及墨西哥和中国、汽车和香蕉，或者谁输谁赢，还关乎是什么让美国变得强大，以及哪一项议程应该排在第一位。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160328/c28up-trade	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160328/c28up-trade
Why There's Hope for the Middle Class (With Help From China)	中国将如何帮助美国中产阶级再度崛起？
America has often thought of itself as a middle-class nation — one in which most people are merely comfortable and neither very rich nor very poor.	美国通常自认是一个中产阶级国家——大多数人过着只能算是舒适的生活，既不太富，也不会太穷。
That notion has come under siege lately. Income inequality has been rising since the early 1980s, and the median household income is now	这种观点近来受到很多质疑。收入差距从上世纪 80 年代以来一直在拉大，家庭收入中位数已经低于 1999 年的水平。中产阶级地位成为极度敏感的政

lower than it was in 1999. The status of the middle class has become a highly charged political issue. Nonetheless, a sober look at the trends of recent years reveals some reason for optimism: Pathways that already exist offer some chance of rejuvenating the middle class.	治问题。然而，冷静下来看一看近年的趋势，我们仍然有理由保持乐观：一些已有的途径，给中产阶级的再度崛起带来了机会。
The weakness of recent middle-class wage growth has stemmed from a number of factors, including foreign competition, technological changes that favor highly skilled workers and persistent poverty. Let's consider each in turn.	近年中产阶级薪资增长的乏力源于多个因素，包括外国竞争，有利于高技能工人的科技变革，以及挥之不去的贫困问题。下面我们就逐一分析一下。
Much of the competition for American manufacturing has come from China, and recent research has shown that China's economic impact in the United States has been bigger than many economists initially thought, and in some ways, it has been more painful. China's manufacturing has held down American middle-class wages, while soaring Chinese demand for commodities has pushed up resource prices. Of course, cheap Chinese imports have made American paychecks go further, but that is no consolation for people who have lost their jobs or suffered lower wages as a consequence.	美国制造业的竞争主要来自中国，近来的研究显示，中国经济对美国的影响要比许多经济学家原本估计的更大，从某些方面来看，也更痛苦。中国制造制约了美国中产阶级薪资，而中国的大宗商品需求也推高了资源价格。当然，廉价的中国进口商品让美国人的薪水可以买到更多的东西，但这不会让那些因此失业或薪资下降的人好受些。
Better times may be ahead, though. Higher wages in China — and other emerging nations — are now limiting the competitive advantage of those economies. And perhaps more important for Americans, as China reaches technological maturity, it is likely to shower innovations on consumers, creating a net gain for people in the United States.	不过接下来情况可能会有好转。中国及其他新兴国家的薪资上涨，限制了这些经济体的竞争优势。而对美国人来说，更重要的可能是随着中国走向技术成熟，会给消费者带来铺天盖地的创新，为生活在美国的人创造净收益。
China is already the major producer of solar panels and electric cars, for example. It is likely to contribute important innovations in consumer drones and driverless cars and in many other fields: The Chinese	例如，中国已经是最大的太阳能组件和电动汽车生产国。它还可能给民用无人机、无人驾驶汽车以及其他许多领域带来重要的创新：中国政府向生物技术领域投入了巨量资源，包括新的基因编辑技术。在移动应用、即时通信和

government is pouring immense resources into biotechnology, including new gene editing techniques. When it comes to mobile apps, messaging and electronic payments, China is arguably ahead of America. Imagine a future in which Chinese innovations benefit Americans just as the United States benefited Europe and vice versa.	电子支付方面，中国可以说已经超过美国。可以想象在将来，中国创新给美国人带来的益处，将不亚于美国和欧洲之间的那种互惠。
This would mean more competition from China, of course, and lost jobs in some fields, but to simply focus on the negatives would be shortsighted. The reality is that innovators do not capture all or even most of the benefits they bring to the world. Once an idea emerges, its benefits begin to expand, and those benefits will surely spread to the United States.	当然，这意味着更多来自中国的竞争，某些领域会有失业，但死盯着负面因素是缺乏远见的。事实上，创新者给世界带来的益处不会被他们独揽，甚至大部分都谈不上。一种理念一旦产生，其益处就会扩散出去，当然也会惠及美国。
What economists call skill-based technical change may also shift in a more egalitarian direction. The advent of information technology increased the value of workers and managers who could manipulate these new talents effectively, while smart software eliminated the jobs of many travel agents and paper-filing clerks. But consider a universe in which all it takes to work with a computer is to talk to it. That could lower the wages of technicians, while opening a new world where less skilled laborers could work with information technology effectively.	经济学家所说的“基于技能的技术变革”还会带来一种平等主义的趋向。信息技术的到来，给那些能有效掌握这些新才能的工人和管理人带来升值，与此同时，智能软件会淘汰许多旅行社和文员的工作岗位。但是，设想你生活在一个只需跟电脑说话就可以工作的世界。这会降低技术员的薪资，但同时也会开启一个新世界，技能水平低的工人也可以有效地使用信息技术来工作。
That new world is already emerging. Consider the Amazon Echo, a small stationary computer that responds to voice commands. It can play music, call a car service or build a shopping list. Imagine fully functional voice-activated computers created for the workplace as more people grow up with information technology at their fingertips.	这样的新世界已经在浮现。以 Amazon Echo 为例，这是一种可接受语音指令的小型固定电脑。它可以播放音乐、叫车、创建购物清单。随着越来越多的人在普及了信息技术的环境中长大，设想在工作场所有这样一台全功能语音激活电脑会是怎样一番景象。
Finally, income inequality may begin to reverse itself through the	最后，社会规范的演化也可能扭转收入不平等的趋势。在困境中四面碰壁的

evolution of social norms. Poor people who see no way out of their plight won't all be able to advance without outside help, but some of the impoverished will succeed despite the barriers they face.	穷人，势必需要外部力量的帮助，然而还是有一些贫困者可以冲破隔阂取得成功。
Religions and social movements with strong moral codes may be able to help improve life prospects. It is striking, for example, that Utah fits the economic profile of an older, more middle-class-oriented America. The reasons for this are complex, but they may stem in part from the large number of Mormons in the state.	因循严苛道德准则的宗教和社会运动可能有助于改善生活前景。比如我们惊讶地看到，犹他州的经济状况，是符合一种老派的、更具中产阶级导向的美国形象的。原因很复杂，但可能在一定程度上源于该州有众多摩门教徒。
Mormons have done relatively well in economic terms, perhaps, at least in part, because their religious culture encourages behavior consistent with prosperity, such as savings, mutual assistance, family values and no drug and alcohol abuse.	摩门教徒在经济上的表现相对良好，在一定程度上可能是因为他们的宗教文化鼓励那些与富足生活相一致行为，比如储蓄、互助、家庭价值、不滥用药物和酒精。
I am not a Mormon and am not advocating that religion or any other. But it seems reasonable to observe that changing social norms, sometimes associated with religion, can help improve living standards.	我不是摩门教徒，也没有在倡导这种或其他任何一种宗教。然而这似乎是一个合理的观察——社会规范的变化有助于提高生活水平，而有时候这种变化和宗教有关。
All of these mechanisms involve some degree of speculation, and the speed at which they will develop will vary. Still, these processes can already be found around us to a limited degree. Furthermore, all of them could happen without requiring any major change in American public policy and thus they could bypass possible government gridlock.	这些机制都包含了一定程度的猜测，它们的发展也将是快慢不一的。然而我们已经可以在身边看到些许迹象。此外，所有这些进程都不需要美国做出任何重大公共政策改变，一旦政府陷入僵持，它也不会受到制约。
Most people agree there is plenty of unfairness built into the current political system, such as bad public policies, which often favor the well-off and erect barriers to the advancement of poorer and less educated individuals. How to change these policies will no doubt continue to be a matter of political debate.	多数人认为现行政治制度存在许多先天的不公，例如糟糕的公共政策往往让富人受益，给较贫困、教育程度较低的人制造障碍，阻止他们提升自己。这些政策该如何去改变，无疑仍将是一个政治辩题。

But there is reason to believe that when inequality trends start to run in reverse — whenever that might be — it will be because of processes that are operating largely outside of politics. Technology, trade and even religion may help restore prosperity to the middle class.	但我们有理由相信，不平等趋势的逆转——不管究竟什么时候出现——将源自一些基本上在政治之外运转的进程。技术、贸易甚至宗教都可能帮助中产阶级重新过上富足的生活。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160418/c18view	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160418/c18view
U.S. Directs Cyberweapons at ISIS for First Time	美国将首次对 ISIS 发动网络袭击
LONDON — The United States has opened a new line of combat against the Islamic State, directing the military’s 6-year-old Cyber Command for the first time to mount computer-network attacks that are now being used alongside more traditional weapons.	伦敦——美国开始对伊斯兰国采取一种新的打击方式，首次指示成立六年的美军网络战司令部(Cyber Command)对伊斯兰国发起网络袭击，这种方式目前被用来与更传统的武器相配合。
The effort reflects President Barack Obama’s desire to bring many of the secret U.S. cyberweapons that had been aimed elsewhere, notably at Iran, into the fight against the Islamic State — which has proved effective in using modern communications and encryption to recruit and carry out operations.	这种努力表明，奥巴马总统希望用曾打击其他目标——尤其是对伊朗——的秘密网络武器打击伊斯兰国。该组织已经证明自己可以有效使用现代通讯设备和加密方式招募人员和发起行动。
The National Security Agency, which specializes in electronic surveillance, has for years listened intensely to the militants of the Islamic State, and those reports are often part of the president’s daily intelligence briefing. But the NSA’s military counterpart, Cyber Command, was focused largely on Russia, China, Iran and North Korea — where cyberattacks on the United States most frequently originate — and had run virtually no operations against what has become the most dangerous terrorist organization in the world.	多年来，专门负责电子监控的美国国家安全局（National Security Agency，简称 NSA）一直对伊斯兰国武装分子进行监听，相关报告通常是总统的每日情报综述的一部分。但 NSA 的军方对应机构网络战司令部的行动主要针对俄罗斯、中国、伊朗和朝鲜——最频繁地对美国发起网络袭击的国家——几乎不曾对伊斯兰国展开过任何行动，而后者已经成为世界上最危险的恐怖组织。
A review of what should be done to confront the Islamic State is on Obama’s agenda Monday, when he is scheduled to attend a conference	重新审视应该对伊斯兰国采取何种行动，是奥巴马在本周一的商谈事项之一，当天他将在德国的汉诺威与英国、法国、意大利和德国的领导人一起参

in Hanover, Germany, with the leaders of Britain, France, Italy and Germany.	加一场会议。
The goal of the new campaign is to disrupt the ability of the Islamic State to spread its message, attract new adherents, circulate orders from commanders and carry out day-to-day functions, like paying its fighters. A benefit of the administration's exceedingly rare public discussion of the campaign, officials said, is to rattle the Islamic State's commanders, who have begun to realize that sophisticated hacking efforts are manipulating their data. Potential recruits might also be deterred if they come to worry about the security of their communications with the militant group.	新行动的目标是破坏伊斯兰国的一些能力，即传播信息，吸引新的追随者，下达指挥官命令，实现正常运转，比如给圣战分子支付薪酬。有官员表示，美国政府极其罕见地公开谈论这种行动的好处之一，是让伊斯兰国的指挥官们感到紧张，后者已经开始意识到有尖端的黑客行动在篡改他们的数据。如果他们开始担心自己的通讯安全受到美国军方威胁，可能会因此害怕而暂停一些招募行动。
Defense Secretary Ash Carter is among those who have publicly discussed the new mission, but only in broad terms, and this month the deputy secretary of defense, Robert O. Work, was more colorful in describing the effort.	美国国防部长(Defense Secretary)阿什·卡特(Ash Carter)是公开谈论过这一新任务的人士之一，不过他只是宽泛地谈及它。本月，国防部副部长罗伯特·沃克(Robert O. Work)用更生动的话语描述了这种努力。
"We are dropping cyberbombs," Work said. "We have never done that before."	"我们在朝他们扔网络炸弹，"沃克说。"以前我们从没这么做过。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160425/c25isiscyber	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160425/c25isiscyber
Obama, in Germany, Urges Europe to Stand United	奥巴马：世界需要强大、团结的欧洲
HANOVER, Germany — President Obama urged Europeans on Monday to remain united in the face of growing economic and security threats, saying that the dangers of inequality, terrorism, prejudice and injustice would drag down the United States and Europe if countries on both sides of the Atlantic do not continue to work together.	德国汉诺威——美国总统奥巴马周一呼吁欧洲人在不断增长的经济和安全威胁面前保持团结，他说，如果大西洋两岸的国家不继续一起工作的话，不平等、恐怖主义、歧视和不公正的危险将削弱美国和欧洲。
In a 49-minute speech at the conclusion of his six-day trip to the Middle	在为期六天的中东、英国和德国之行结束时，奥巴马发表的这个49分钟的

East, Britain and Germany, Mr. Obama also confirmed a recent report in The New York Times that he would increase the number of military personnel, including Special Forces, in Syria to fight the Islamic State, now around 50, by about 250 people.	演讲还证实了《纽约时报》最近的一个报道，报道称奥巴马将把美国在叙利亚的军事人员、包括特种部队人员的数量，从目前的约 50 人增加到约 250 人，以对抗伊斯兰国。
Mr. Obama told an audience of business leaders, politicians and students that Europe must not let itself be pulled apart by those who fear cooperation.	奥巴马对商界领袖、政界人士和学生组成的听众说，欧洲一定不要让自己被那些害怕合作的人拆散。
"Dangerous forces do threaten to pull the world backwards, and our progress is not inevitable," Mr. Obama said in one of his final trips to Europe as president. "We are not immune from the forces of change around the world."	"危险的力量确实在威胁把世界拉向过去，我们的进步并非不可避免。我们并不能免受来自世界各地的变革力量的影响，"奥巴马在演讲中说，这次旅行是他作为总统访问欧洲的最后几次之一。
Mr. Obama has spent much of his visit to Europe urging the British people to vote to remain in the European Union in a referendum on June 23. He said repeatedly over the past week that leaving the 28-member bloc would undercut Britain's influence and weaken the democratic alliance that binds Europe.	奥巴马把此次欧洲旅行的不少时间花在了敦促英国民众在 6 月 23 日举行的公投中选择留在欧盟上。他在过去一周中一再表示，退出由 28 个成员国组成的联盟将削弱英国的影响力，同时也会削弱这个把欧洲凝聚起来的民主联盟。
In his speech on Monday, Mr. Obama went further, arguing to members of the predominantly German audience that they, too, must resist the temptation to go it alone in fighting the Islamic State, pushing for economic security and confronting the huge new flows of migrants.	奥巴马在周一的讲话中更进了一步，他对主要是德国人的听众说，在打击伊斯兰国、推动经济安全，以及面对巨大的移民新高潮等问题上，他们也必须抵制独自行动的诱惑。
"If we do not solve these problems, you start seeing those who would try to exploit those fears and frustrations and channel them in a destructive way," Mr. Obama said in comments that appeared to refer, at least in part, to Donald J. Trump, the leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.	"如果我们不解决这些问题，你们将开始看到，有人会试图利用这些恐惧和不满，把其引导到破坏性的方向上去，"奥巴马说，这番话听上去至少部分地暗指在共和党总统提名人竞选中领先的唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)。

Support for populist and nationalist movements has grown in Europe in recent months, with the most recent example coming on Sunday in Austria, where a member of the far-right Freedom Party finished on top in the first round of voting for the country's largely ceremonial presidency.	对民粹主义和民族主义运动的支持最近几个月在欧洲也有所增长，最近的例子是奥地利，在周日的奥地利总统选举的头一轮中，极右翼自由党的一名成员胜选，奥地利总统主要是礼仪性的。
Reflecting on the dangers to the political situation, Mr. Obama quoted the Irish poet William Butler Yeats as saying that they lurk where "the best lack all conviction, while the worst are full of passionate intensity."	奥巴马引用爱尔兰诗人叶芝的诗句，对政治局势的危险表达自己的态度说，危险潜伏在“优秀的人们信心尽失，坏蛋们则充满了炽烈狂热”的地方（来自袁可嘉译本——译注）。
That kind of destructive politics must not take root in Europe, Mr. Obama said, or there would be damaging consequences for the United States and many other nations around the world.	奥巴马说，不能让这种破坏性的政治在欧洲扎根，否则对美国和世界各国的许多其他国家将会有破坏性的后果。
"If a unified, peaceful, liberal, pluralistic free-market Europe begins to doubt itself, begins to question the progress that's been made over the last several decades, then we can't expect the progress that is just now taking hold in many places around the world will continue," he said.	他说，“如果一个统一、和平、自由、多元的自由市场经济的欧洲开始怀疑自己，开始对过去几十年里已取得的进步产生疑问的话，那我们就不能指望如今在世界许多地方刚刚开始进步的进步将能继续。”
Mr. Obama's warnings against unilateral actions were clearly intended to steer Europe away from nationalist or isolationist stands. But, in fact, his close ally, Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany, has found herself isolated in the European Union for refusing to meet calls from other countries or from her own conservative bloc to put an upper limit on the flow of migrants.	奥巴马对采取单方面行动的警告，显然意在引导欧洲不采取民族主义或孤立主义的立场。但是，事实上，他的亲密盟友德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)已发现自己在欧盟处于孤立状态，因为她拒绝响应来自其他国家或自己的保守阵营给移民人数设置上限的呼吁。
Ms. Merkel put together crafted a deal between Turkey and the European Union in March that gave a veneer of unity to the Continent's very mixed response to arriving refugees and migrants. That deal remains the subject of intense debate in light of Turkey's current	默克尔今年3月精心制作了一份土耳其与欧盟之间的协议，协议掩饰了欧洲大陆对难民和移民的非常不同的反应。鉴于土耳其目前对新闻媒体和其它自由的镇压，人们对该协议仍有相当激烈的争论。

crackdown on the news media and on other freedoms.
The accord has succeeded in sharply reducing the migrant flow, but only in tandem with an earlier decision by Austria and Balkan states to close their land borders and shut off the route favored by approximately one million migrants last year.	该协议在大量减少移民人数上取得了成功,但成功只是因为奥地利和巴尔干国家早些时候做出关闭它们陆地边界的决定,断掉了约一百万移民去年的首选路线。
Mr. Obama also gently chided the Germans and other European nations for not always carrying a fair share of the financial and military burden as part of the NATO alliance.	奥巴马还对德国和其他欧洲国家作为北约组织的一部分,不总承贷该组织的财政和军事负担的公平份额,做出了温和的批评。
Those comments echoed remarks the president made recently in The Atlantic, where he referred to some European leaders as “free riders” who relied too heavily on the United States to pay for their military defense and to wage the fight against extremism.	这些言论与总统最近接受《大西洋月刊》(The Atlantic)采访时表达的看法相呼应,他在采访中说一些欧洲领导人“搭便车”,他们在军事防御开支、以及与极端主义作战上过于依赖美国。
In increasing the number of special forces in Syria, Mr. Obama said he was hoping to cement what he said was progress in pushing back the Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL, from territory that it had held.	在提到增加叙利亚特种部队的数量时,奥巴马说,他希望能巩固在夺回被伊斯兰国占领的领土上取得的他所说的进展,伊斯兰国也简称 ISIS 或 ISIL。
But he said he would go to the NATO meetings in Europe this summer and would demand that every nation contribute 2 percent of its gross domestic product to the defense of the Continent.	奥巴马说,他今年夏天会去欧洲参加北约会议,届时他将提出每个成员国为欧洲大陆防御贡献自己国内生产总值2%的要求。
“We can’t deal with these challenges by ourselves,” Mr. Obama said.	“我们不能只靠我们自己来对付这些挑战,”奥巴马说。
For much of the speech, the American president lavished praise on Europe, citing what it has achieved. He said that Europeans should not take for granted the democratic societies they have built or the major wars they have avoided in the past several decades.	这位美国总统在大部分演讲中对欧洲大赞特赞,表扬了它已经取得的成就。他说,欧洲人不应该把他们已经建成的民主社会认为是理所当然的,也不应该把他们能够在过去几十年中避免了主要战争当成理所当然。
“Perhaps you need an outsider, somebody who’s not a European, to remind you of the magnitude of what you’ve achieved,” he said, adding	“也许你们需要一个局外人、一个非欧洲人,来提醒你们欧洲已经取得的成就多么重要,”奥巴马说,并补充道,欧联“仍是现代史上最伟大的政治和经

that the European Union "remains one of the greatest political and economic achievements of modern times."	济成就之一”。
But he also cautioned that confronting the very real issue of economic inequality would require unity and more cooperation, not the erection of new barriers.	但他也警告说，解决经济不平等这一非常现实的问题，需要团结以及更多的合作，而不是设立新的障碍。
"The answer to reform is not cutting ourselves off from each other," he said.	“对改革的回答不是把我们彼此隔离开，”他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160426/c26prexy	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160426/c26prexy
Experts Warn of Backlash in Donald Trump's China Trade Policies	专家警告特朗普对华提高关税可能引发贸易战争
On the campaign trail, Donald J. Trump has promised to do quite a few things that are beyond the powers of an American president, like billing Mexico for a border wall. But when it comes to foreign trade, his powers as president would come closer to his expansive ambitions.	在竞选活动中，唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)做出的不少承诺超出了美国总统的权力范围，比如让墨西哥出钱在美墨边境修墙。不过，在对外贸易方面，特朗普如果真的当上了美国总统，他手中的权力就会和他膨胀的野心更加匹配。
As president, Mr. Trump could seek to penalize other nations for undercutting American manufacturers or stealing American ideas. He could also pursue congressional legislation to impose a 45 percent tariff, or tax, on imported Chinese goods, as he has proposed.	当上总统，特朗普就有权力寻求对一些国家施加惩罚，理由是这些国家给美国生产商带来损失，或者窃取了美国的想法。他还可以向国会寻求立法，比如按照他提出的，对中国的进口商品征收45%的关税。
The bottom line, some experts say, is that Mr. Trump might well be able to squeeze China.	一些专家表示，关键在于，特朗普可能的确会有挤压中国的能力。
That does not mean, however, that his punitive approach would ease America's economic pains. In fact, a range of experts agree that Mr. Trump's proposals are more likely to deepen those problems, particularly if China or other targeted nations retaliate, rather than accept his demands.	但是，这并不意味着他的惩罚措施可以缓解美国的经济阵痛。事实上，很多专家认为，更大的可能是特朗普的提议会加剧这些问题，特别是中国或其他被针对的国家也许不仅不接受他的要求，反而会采取报复行动。
Starting a trade war might be cathartic for workers who have lost jobs,	掀起贸易战对于失去工作的人来说兴许是一种宣泄，但不太可能创造出大量

but it is unlikely to create a lot of factory work.	的工业岗位。
“There’s no way a tariff of this kind could deliver the kind of benefits that he’s talking about, and it’s quite wrong to think that the big problem for American workers has been foreign trade,” said J.W. Mason, a professor of economics at John Jay College and a fellow at the Roosevelt Institute, a liberal think tank. “But I think it could be very destructive for the rest of the world.”	“这样的关税绝不可能带来他说的那种好处。觉得给美国劳动者带来重大麻烦的是对外贸易活动，这个想法也是相当错误的，”约翰·杰刑事司法学院(John Jay College)经济学教授、自由派智库罗斯福研究所(Roosevelt Institute)的研究员 J·W·梅森(J. W. Mason)说。“我认为，这么做反而可能会给世界其他地区造成巨大破坏。”
Mr. Trump’s views on trade are among his oldest and steadiest public policy positions. He has long maintained that other countries are taking advantage of the United States because Americans spend more money on foreign goods than the rest of the world spends on American goods. And he has long argued for slapping higher tariffs on those foreign goods in order to fortify the American economy.	在特朗普的公共政策立场中，有关贸易的观点是最持久和最稳定的。长久以来，他一直坚称，其他国家在占美国的便宜，因为美国购买外国商品花费的资金要比世界其他国家购买美国商品的花费更多。他还长期主张对这些进口商品设置更高的关税，以巩固美国经济。
Trade was the first policy issue Mr. Trump mentioned last Tuesday in a speech after his latest round of victories in five northeastern primaries.	贸易是特朗普在上周二的演讲中提到的第一项政策议题。此时他刚在东北部五个州的初选中获得了新一轮的胜利。
“Our jobs are being sucked away from our country and we’re not going to let it happen anymore, folks,” he said at a victory party in New York that night.	“我国的工作机会正在被人抽干，同胞们，我们不会再让这种事情发生了，”他当晚在纽约的庆功宴上说。
It emerged again Wednesday in Washington during what was billed as a major foreign policy speech.	周三，这种论调在华盛顿再度出现。周三的讲话被标榜为特朗普的一次外交政策重要讲话。
This Tuesday, Mr. Trump hopes to sweep the delegates in Indiana and all but sew up the Republican nomination. Nowhere has trade figured more centrally than in the Hoosier State, where the air conditioner maker Carrier opted to move operations to Mexico, becoming a recurrent feature in Mr. Trump’s anti-free-trade litanies.	本周二，特朗普希望一举拿下印第安纳州的全部代表，把共和党提名稳稳攥在手中。贸易问题在印第安纳州的地位，比其他任何地方都更重。该州的空调生产商开利(Carrier)选择将企业迁往墨西哥，因而在特朗普连篇累牍的反自由贸易言论中反复出现。

China has prospered over the last few decades by focusing its economy on low-cost manufacturing for foreign markets. Exports to the United States soared, particularly after China joined the World Trade Organization in 2001. American businesses and consumers bought $481.9 billion in Chinese goods in 2015, about one-fifth of all imports and the most from any country. But manufacturing employment in the United States has fallen sharply. A 2013 study estimated that China's rise had eliminated at least one million domestic factory jobs.	过去几十年里，中国把经济重心放在面向外国市场的低成本制造业上，并借此实现了繁荣。中国对美国的出口剧增，尤其是在 2001 年加入世界贸易组织(World Trade Organization)之后。在 2015 年，美国的企业和消费者购买了价值 4819 亿美元的中国商品，约占美国所有进口商品的五分之一，比其他任何国家都多。但美国的制造业就业率急剧下滑。2013 年的一项研究估计，中国的崛起导致美国国内至少 100 万个工厂就业岗位流失。
In the current campaign, Mr. Trump has proposed a 45 percent tax on Chinese imports and a 35 percent tax on Mexican imports. He has also proposed tariffs on goods that specific American companies produce in foreign countries, including Carrier air-conditioners and Ford automobiles.	此次竞选期间，特朗普建议对中国和墨西哥的进口货物分别征收 45% 和 35% 的关税。他还提议对特定的美国公司在外国生产的商品征收关税，包括开利空调和福特汽车。
Mr. Trump has said the threat of such tariffs would persuade China, for example, to modify the economic policies that he describes as providing unfair advantages to Chinese companies. Rather than incur his wrath, he says, American companies would be persuaded to keep more of their factories close to home.	特朗普表示，征收这类关税的威胁会说服中国等国家调整经济政策。他称相关政策给中国公司提供了不公平的优势。他说美国公司不会来触怒他，而是会信服地将它们的工厂放在离家近的地方。
"The 45 percent is a threat that if they don't behave," Mr. Trump said at a Republican debate in Miami last month, the United States "will tax you."	"45%的关税是一个威胁，你要敢不老实，"特朗普上月在迈阿密的一场共和党辩论上说，美国"就会收你的税"。
He added: "It doesn't have to be 45; it could be less. But it has to be something because our country and our trade and our deals and most importantly our jobs are going to hell."	他接着说："不一定是 45%，可能会低一点。但必须得征收一些关税，因为不然的话，我们的国家、我们的贸易、我们的买卖，最重要的是我们的工作岗位就会走向地狱。"
As president, Mr. Trump would have some latitude to reverse a course	若能当上总统，特朗普将有能力扭转美国几十年来一直遵循的一项方针。但

that the nation has pursued for decades. But the results could be troublesome on multiple fronts. The removal of trade barriers has played a significant role in reducing global poverty and encouraging peace between nations, achievements that could be eroded by tit-for-tat backsliding.	结果可能会给多个领域带来麻烦。消除贸易壁垒在减轻全球贫困和鼓励国家之间和平共处中发挥了重要作用。倒退到以牙还牙的状态可能会损害这些成就。
"The basic principle is that a sovereign state enters trade agreements of its free will, and it can get back out," said Robert Howse, the Lloyd C. Nelson professor of international law at N.Y.U. School of Law. "But that's the easy part."	"基本的原则是，主权国家自愿加入一项贸易协定，也可以退出，"纽约大学法学院劳埃德·C·纳尔逊国际法教授罗伯特·豪斯(Robert Howse)说。"但这方面好办。"
Imposing sweeping tariffs would reverse a mainstay of United States foreign policy. Beginning after World War II, the United States gradually reduced its import taxes and pushed other nations to do the same, seeking not only to promote increased trade but to prevent conflict. The United States now imposes average weighted import tariffs of just 1.4 percent, according to the World Bank, among the lowest rates in the world.	大范围征收关税会推翻美国外交政策的一个主要支柱。从二战结束后开始，美国逐步降低进口关税，并推动其他国家也这么做，寻求促进已经在增加的贸易，并防止冲突。据世界银行(World Bank)称，美国现在征收的进口关税的加权平均值仅为 1.4%，是关税最低的国家之一。
Under existing laws, Mr. Trump could impose tariffs only on specific categories of imports, not whole countries, and only by demonstrating specific violations of trade rules, such as export subsidies. "There are at least 50 sets of laws and regulations that exist that China has, at least in spirit, crossed the boundaries," Sam Clovis, an adviser to Mr. Trump, said in an interview.	根据现行法律，特朗普只能对特定类别而非所有国家的进口货物征收关税，并且只能通过证明对方的确违反了贸易规则，如提供出口补贴的途径。"至少有 50 套现有的法律和规定可以用来证明，中国至少在精神上是越界了，"特朗普的顾问萨姆·克洛维斯(Sam Clovis)在接受采访时说。
But Mr. Trump would have the difficult task of proving that China is breaking the rules before the World Trade Organization, which polices global commerce. International trade laws limit the type of help	但特朗普将面临一项困难的任务，即证明中国当着管理全球商业秩序的世贸组织的面违反了规则。曾在乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)政府担任美国贸易谈判代表的哈佛大学教授伍人英(Mark Wu)表示，国际贸易法限制了政府

governments can provide to companies, but the role of the Chinese government is particularly opaque, said Mark Wu, a professor of law at Harvard and a former United States trade negotiator in the administration of President George W. Bush.	可向公司提供的帮助的类型，但中国政府所扮演的角色是特别模糊的。
“China’s economy is its own beast, and it has a form that was not envisioned at the time these rules were created 20 years ago,” Mr. Wu said. “W.T.O. rules are not necessarily equipped to address all of the problematic aspects of that China Inc. system as far as American exporters are concerned.”	“中国经济自成一体，20年前制定这些规则时没有预见到它是这样的形式，”伍人英说。“从美国出口商的角度看，世贸组织的规则不见得能应付中国公司体系令人质疑的诸多方面。”
In fact, one of Mr. Trump’s favorite charges, that China and other nations are suppressing the value of their currencies, is actually not a violation of existing trade agreements.	特朗普最喜欢提出的一项指控是称中国和其他一些国家压低本国货币的币值。但实际上，这项指控并未违反现有的贸易协议。
A central problem is defining currency manipulation in a way that excludes the United States — in particular, the Federal Reserve’s post-recession stimulus campaign, which had the effect of weakening the dollar much in the same way that other countries do to their currency.	核心问题是，用一种将美国——尤其是美联储的后衰退刺激计划——排除在外的方式定义货币操纵行为。和其他国家对本国货币采取的措施一样，美联储的刺激计划起到了让美元走软的作用。
Alternatively, Mr. Trump could pursue the radical option of seeking legislation to impose a broad China tariff, in effect demolishing the rules of global trade.	或者，特朗普也可能会选择激进的方案，寻求通过立法来对中国的商品广泛征收关税。这实际上是在推翻全球贸易规则。
“It would be a flagrant violation,” said Alan O. Sykes, a professor of law at Stanford and an expert on international economic relations. “There is no prior violation of W.T.O. law that would be even close.”	“那将是公然的违规，”斯坦福大学法学教授、国际经济关系专家艾伦·Q·赛克斯(Alan O. Sykes)说。“这种对世贸组织法律的严重违反将是空前的。”
The impact of such legislation would touch almost every aisle at Walmart.	这样的法律几乎会影响到沃尔玛(Walmart)所有的货物品类。

In 2015, Americans bought $14.2 billion worth of Chinese shoes, $2.5 billion of Chinese jewelry and $593 million of Chinese rugs. And, most of all, cellphones — $64 billion worth, according to the Commerce Department.	据商务部称，2015 年美国从中国购买了价值 142 亿美元的鞋、25 亿美元的珠宝和 5.93 亿美元的毛毯。最重要的是，美国还购买了价值 640 亿美元的手机。
All told, the United States imported $481.9 billion in Chinese goods in 2015, a record.	在 2015 年，美国总共购买了价值 4819 亿美元的中国商品，打破了记录。
But research suggests that the price of Chinese goods would rise by significantly less than 45 percent because companies would hold the line to preserve their market share. Consumers can also buy comparable goods. When the United States imposed a 35 percent tariff on Chinese tires in 2009, imports of tires from China declined while imports from Indonesia, Mexico and Thailand rose sharply.	但研究表明，中国商品的价格涨幅会远低于 45%，因为相关公司会坚持下去，以保持自己的市场份额。消费者也可以购买其它同类商品。美国 2009 年对中国轮胎征收 35% 的关税时，来自中国的轮胎进口下降，来自印尼、墨西哥和泰国的进口轮胎却大幅增加。
For the same reasons, however, economists see little chance that a tariff would achieve Mr. Trump’s goal of encouraging domestic production. They say it is even less likely to create large numbers of new factory jobs. American manufacturing output is at the highest level in history and employment has fallen because of large gains in efficiency, a trend that is unlikely to reverse.	然而，因为同样的原因，经济专家认为，通过增加关税来实现特朗普鼓励国内生产这个目标是不太可能的。他们甚至称，这么做不太可能会创造大量新的工厂就业岗位。因为效率大幅提升，美国的制造业产出处于史上最高水平，就业下降。这种趋势不太可能逆转。
China could retaliate by imposing its own tariffs. China responded to the tire tariff, for example, by imposing a tariff on American chicken parts.	中国可能会通过征收关税来进行报复。比如，中国对轮胎关税的回应便是对美国的鸡肉产品征税。
The United States sold $116.2 billion in goods to China in 2015, including aircraft parts, automobiles and semiconductors — high-value industries in which workers earn high wages. Losing China’s market could mean sacrificing better jobs for less desirable ones.	美国 2015 年向中国卖出了价值 1162 亿美元的商品，包括飞机零部件、汽车和半导体。在这些商品所属的高价值行业，工人们享受着高薪。失去中国市场可能意味着为了不那么好的岗位而牺牲了更好的岗位。

Doug Oberhelman, chairman and chief executive of Caterpillar, described higher tariffs as “very dangerous” in February. “We’re 5 percent of the world population,” said Mr. Oberhelman, who spoke in his capacity as president of the Business Roundtable, a pro-trade lobby. “Ninety-five percent of our potential customers are elsewhere. We’ve got to learn and figure out how to deal with that.”	卡特彼勒(Caterpillar)董事长兼首席执行官道格·奥伯赫尔曼(Doug Oberhelman)曾在今年2月表示,提高关税“非常危险”。“我们的人口只占全世界的5%,”奥伯赫尔曼以支持自由贸易的游说团体商业圆桌会议(Business Roundtable)会长的身份说。“我们的潜在顾客中,95%都在其他地方。我们得学习并弄清楚如何应对这种情况。”
The damage to international trade agreements could also have deep and enduring consequences.	对国际贸易协议的损害,可能也会带来深远、持久的后果。
One of the central benefits of the current system is that it separates trade disputes from other kinds of conflict. The global effort to reduce tariffs after World War II “was dreamed up as a way to prevent world wars,” said Mr. Howse, the N.Y.U. professor. “That should not be forgotten.”	当前这个制度的核心好处之一是,它把贸易争端和其他类型的冲突区分开了。二战后全球降低关税的行动“被设想为一种预防世界大战的途径,”前述的纽约大学教授豪斯称。“这一点不应忘记。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160503/c03trumptrade	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160503/c03trumptrade
Federal Investigation Into Contributions to Terry McAuliffe by Chinese Firm	弗吉尼亚州州长与中国商人密切往来遭调查
Four years ago, one of China’s largest agricultural importers sent representatives to the Democratic National Convention in Charlotte, N.C., hoping that meetings with elite party officials might yield business opportunities. The company, the Dandong Port Group, was particularly focused on the governors in attendance, according to an interview with Dandong’s general counsel broadcast by Chinese state television.	四年前,中国最大的农产品进口商之一派代表参加了在北卡罗来纳州夏洛特举行的民主党全国代表大会,希望与民主党高层官员之间的会晤能带来一些商业机会。这家公司名为丹东港集团,从中国国家电视台播放的丹东港总法律顾问访谈来看,他们尤其侧重在与会的各州州长上。
“If you really want to influence, let’s say, U.S.-China policy,” he said, “it’s almost worth it to have emphasis and influence on the state level.”	“如果你真的想产生影响,比方说在美中政策方面,”他说,“把重点和影响力放在州这一级上差不多是值得的。”
The meetings, arranged by a former South Carolina governor, marked a	前南卡罗来纳州州长安排的这些会晤,标志着丹东港及其附属公司在美国的

period of expansion in the United States for Dandong and its affiliated companies, involving negotiations with officials in Washington, Arkansas, South Carolina and Virginia. But now, the company's widening influence is coming under scrutiny by federal prosecutors, who are examining the relationship between Dandong's wealthy and connected chairman, Wang Wenliang, and Gov. Terry McAuliffe of Virginia, a Democrat who was elected in 2013.	扩展阶段，代表们与华盛顿、阿肯色、南卡罗来纳和弗吉尼亚州的官员进行了商谈。但现在，该公司日益扩大的影响力引起了联邦检察官的密切注意。丹东港董事长王文良不仅富有，人脉也很广，他与弗吉尼亚州 2013 年当选的民主党州长特里·麦考利夫(Terry McAuliffe)之间的关系，受到了联邦检察官的调查。
A federal law enforcement official said the inquiry included $120,000 in contributions that a New Jersey construction firm controlled by Mr. Wang made to Mr. McAuliffe's 2013 campaign and inaugural committee. That official and a second law enforcement official, both of whom asked for anonymity to discuss the matter, said it was a preliminary inquiry of Mr. McAuliffe's campaign donations, and they provided no detail about the nature and scope of any potential violations being scrutinized.	一名联邦执法官员说，这项调查涉及王文良控制的一家新泽西州建筑公司，2013 年，该公司向麦考利夫的竞选和就职委员会捐献了 12 万美元。这名官员和另一名执法人员都不愿具名，他们说这是对麦考利夫竞选捐款的初步调查，但对于正在审查的任何潜在违规行为的性质和范围，他们没有提供细节。
Though Mr. Wang is a Chinese citizen, he is also a legal permanent resident of the United States, according to a spokeswoman for him, which entitles him to make campaign contributions.	王文良的发言人说，虽然他是中国公民，但也是美国合法永久居民，所以有资格向竞选活动捐款。
The inquiry was first reported on Monday by CNN, which said that the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Justice Department's public integrity unit were involved in the review. The inquiry also encompasses Mr. McAuliffe's role as a board member of the Clinton Foundation, to which another company linked to Mr. Wang pledged a $2 million contribution in 2013. The foundation has raised millions of dollars from companies and wealthy individuals overseas as well as	率先报道这起调查行动的 CNN 表示，联邦调查局(FBI)和司法部(Justice Department)的公共诚信部门都参与了这项行动。调查内容还涉及麦考利夫作为克林顿基金会(Clinton Foundation)董事会成员所扮演的角色，另一家和王文良有关系的公司在 2013 年向克林顿基金会捐献了 200 万美元。该基金会从境外的公司和个人那里筹集了数以百万计的美元，也从外国政府那里获得了资金。

from foreign governments.
Representatives for Mr. McAuliffe and Mr. Wang said they had not been contacted by the Justice Department or the F.B.I. A spokesman for the Clinton Foundation also said it had not been contacted by law enforcement officials.	麦考利夫和王文良的代表说，司法部和联邦调查局没有与他们取得联系。克林顿基金会的发言人也表示，没有执法人员联系过他们。
Speaking to reporters in Virginia on Tuesday, Mr. McAuliffe said he was shocked by reports of an inquiry. He had played no role in soliciting Mr. Wang's pledge to the Clinton Foundation and said the contributions to his campaign from by Mr. Wang's company were legitimate.	麦考利夫本周二在弗吉尼亚州对记者说，这起询价的报道令他震惊，因为他没有在克林顿基金会向王文良募捐的事情中扮演任何角色。麦考利夫还表示，王文良的公司向他的竞选活动捐款是合法的。
"I'm very confident this gentleman had been fully vetted," Mr. McAuliffe said of Mr. Wang.	"我非常有信心，他已经接受过全面审查，"麦考利夫谈到王文良时说。
But the federal inquiry throws a cloud over Mr. McAuliffe at a critical time: He is a top fund-raiser for Hillary Clinton, a close confidant of her and her husband, and the governor of a swing state critical to her chances of becoming president. On Sunday, Mr. McAuliffe headlined a $5,000-a-head Virginia fund-raising event for Mrs. Clinton's presidential campaign.	但这起联邦询价在一个关键时刻给麦考利夫投下了阴影：他是希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)顶级筹款人，也是她和她丈夫的密友，而且他所任职的这个州，对克林顿能否入主白宫影响很大。上周日，麦考利夫在弗吉尼亚为克林顿举办每人5000美元入场费的筹款活动，登上了头条新闻。
Mr. McAuliffe and Mr. Wang are, in a sense, mirror images: wealthy self-made men with intertwined careers in business and politics. Before becoming governor, Mr. McAuliffe was an inveterate deal-maker involved in everything from real estate to banking to electric cars. Last year, a separate federal review found that Mr. McAuliffe had lobbied officials at the Department of Homeland Security to speed visas for Chinese investors in an electric car company.	从某种意义上说，麦考利夫和王文良很相似：他们都是白手起家的富人，在事业中涉足政商两界。成为州长之前，麦考利夫是房地产、银行业、电动汽车领域等诸多领域的交易老手。去年，一项独立的联邦审查发现，麦考利夫曾游说美国国土安全部(Department of Homeland Security)官员加快为一家电动汽车公司的中国投资者办理签证。
The review said department officials had created a perception of	该审查称，该部门的官员为麦考利夫和其他著名民主党人士开启了一种“特

"special consideration" for Mr. McAuliffe and other prominent Democrats, but found no evidence of criminal wrongdoing.	事特办"的做法，但没有发现任何犯罪行为的证据。
Mr. Wang is a delegate to China's legislative house, the National People's Congress. His companies run ports, import agricultural products and construct Chinese embassies around the world. His extensive business empire is based in Dandong, a port city that borders North Korea.	王文良则是中国立法机构"人民代表大会"的代表。王文良的公司经营港口、进口农产品，在世界各地修建中国驻外使馆。其庞大的商业帝国总部设在丹东，一个和朝鲜接壤的港口城市。
After starting his career as a municipal adviser to the Dandong government on planning and economics issues, he amassed a fortune, partly by securing construction contracts to work on Chinese embassies and consular offices around the globe, including the Chinese Embassy in Washington.	王文良最初是丹东港政府规划和经济领域的顾问，后来他积累起了财富，其中一个原因是获得了中国在全球各地驻外使领馆的建筑合同，包括修建中国驻华盛顿大使馆。
From 2012 to the end of last year, according to federal records, Mr. Wang's companies paid $1.5 million to McGuireWoods Consulting to lobby on trade and visa issues. Dandong's lobbyists included Jim Hodges, the former South Carolina governor. In 2012, Mr. Hodges arranged meetings with governors for Mark T. Fung, who was Dandong's general counsel.	联邦政府的记录显示，从2012年到去年年底，王文良的公司向麦奎尔-伍兹咨询公司(McGuireWoods Consulting)支付了150万美元，让其在贸易和签证问题上进行游说。丹东港的游说者还包括前南卡罗来纳州州长吉姆·霍奇斯(Jim Hodges)。2012年，霍奇斯安排了一次会晤，让丹东港的总法律顾问马克·T·方(Mark T. Fung)与一些州长见面。
Mr. Wang also met with Mr. McAuliffe before he ran for governor, at a 2012 dinner hosted by Mr. Hodges. Mr. McAuliffe was an American businessman investing in China; Mr. Wang was a Chinese executive whose firms did business in Virginia. The next year, when Mr. McAuliffe ran for governor, one of Mr. Wang's companies, West Legend, contributed to his campaign. (Corporate contributions are permitted in Virginia.)	在麦考利夫竞选州长之前，王文良也和他见过面，当时是在2012年霍奇斯主持的一次餐会上，麦考利夫是一名在中国投资的美国商人，而王文良是一家在弗吉尼亚州有业务的中国公司的高管。第二年，麦考利夫竞选州长，王文良的公司之一西部传奇(West Legend)为他的竞选捐了款（企业捐款在弗吉尼亚州是合法的）。

But records and interviews reveal that Mr. Wang's companies have had numerous reasons to seek the favor of United States government officials. Among Mr. Wang's ventures are importing and crushing soybeans. In late 2012, his company entered negotiations to buy a privately owned port on the Mississippi River in Arkansas. The negotiations led to a review by the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States, which includes representatives of the departments of State, Commerce and Homeland Security.	但记录和采访显示,王文良的公司想从美国政府官员那里寻求好处的动机有很多。他有一家公司做进口大豆和榨豆油的生意,想要收购密西西比河在阿肯色州的一个私人港口,在2012年底,双方进入谈判阶段。此事引发了美国外国投资委员会(Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States)的审查。国务院、商务部和国土安全部门都有代表在这个委员会工作。
A letter from Rilin, one of Mr. Wang's companies, to the American Embassy in Beijing, obtained by The New York Times, says that company representatives met with then-Gov. Mike Beebe of Arkansas while negotiating that deal, which was worth $27 million. Reached on Tuesday, Mr. Beebe said he did not remember ever having met with the company.	《纽约时报》看到了王文良的这家公司日林实业向美国驻北京大使馆发送的一封信。信中说,在谈判那项价值2700万美元的协议期间,公司代表与当时的阿肯色州州长迈克·毕比(Mike Beebe)见了面。本周二毕比表示,他不记得曾经和该公司的人见过面。
The foreign investment committee approved the deal in April 2013, but it ultimately fell through. Mr. Wang's company complained that a delegation of Chinese nationals the company wanted to review the port had been denied visas.	这一交易在2013年4月获得了美国外国投资委员会的批准,但它最终未能成交。王文良的公司抱怨说,一个由中国公民组成的代表团签证被拒,该公司希望这些代表能对该港口进行检查。
About that same time, McGuireWoods contacted the American Embassy to discuss "visa issues."	大约就在同一时间,麦奎尔-伍兹与美国大使馆取得联系,讨论“签证问题”。
Later that year, Gary Locke, then the United States' ambassador to China, and the United States consul general in Shenyang met with Rilin in Dandong, according to a news release issued by the Dandong Port, which said the company had obtained a "group visa" making it more convenient for employees to travel to the United States "for business	丹东港集团的一份新闻稿表示,那年早些时候,当时的美国驻中国大使骆家辉和沈阳地区的美国总领事在丹东会见了日林的人。新闻稿还说,该公司已经获得了“团签”,员工因“商业和教育的目的”前往美国变得更方便了。 and education purposes.”

Reached on Tuesday, Mr. Locke, who is a lawyer in Seattle, said that he remembered visiting Dandong, but added that there was no such thing as a group visa for a company.	到周二时，现在在西雅图当律师的骆家辉说，他记得去过丹东港，但不存在给一个公司发团签这样的事。
Mr. Wang’s agricultural business also extended to Virginia. In 2011, Gov. Bob McDonnell announced that Perdue Agribusiness had agreed with Mr. Wang’s company to export soybeans through Perdue’s port in Chesapeake, Va.	王文良的农业业务也扩张到了弗吉尼亚州。2011年，该州州长鲍勃·麦克唐纳(Bob McDonnell)宣布，珀杜农业(Perdue Agribusiness)同意与王文良的公司交易，通过珀杜在弗吉尼亚州切萨皮克的港口出口大豆。
In a statement, a spokeswoman for Mr. Wang said: “West Legend does business in Virginia and supports Gov. McAuliffe’s jobs-creation agenda. Its political contributions comply with all federal and state laws.”	王文良的发言人在一份声明中说：“西部传奇在弗吉尼亚州经营业务，为麦考利夫州长的就业岗位增加计划提供支持。公司提供政治捐款符合联邦和州的各项法律。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160525/c25mcauliffe	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160525/c25mcauliffe
Treasury Imposes Sanctions on North Korea	美国对朝鲜实施金融制裁，中国银行或受影响
With private cybersecurity firms linking North Korea to recent computer attacks that absconded with at least $81 million, the Treasury Department moved on Wednesday to choke off Pyongyang’s remaining access to the global financial system, designating the country a “primary” money launderer.	在私人网络安全公司将朝鲜同最近导致至少 8100 万美元被盗的多起计算机攻击联系在一起的情况下，美国财政部周三认定朝鲜是“首要”洗钱者并采取行动，意在切断平壤剩下的进入全球金融系统的途径。
The Treasury, employing sanctions techniques that helped pressure Iran to give up much of its nuclear program, said it would seek to impose what are known as secondary sanctions against the reclusive communist country. That means that it could cut off from the American financial system any bank or company that conducts banking transactions with Pyongyang.	财政部表示，将寻求对这个孤立的共产主义国家实行所谓的二级制裁。这意味着财政部可能会切断美国金融系统同一切与平壤有银行业务往来的银行或公司之间的联系。这种制裁方式曾帮助向伊朗施压，迫使该国放弃其核计划中的大量内容。
As a practical matter, that would largely affect Chinese banks, which	从实际层面出发，受此影响的主要是中国的银行。它们为朝鲜与中国之间的

facilitate North Korea's financial transactions with Beijing, its largest trading partner. It could also affect some institutions in the nominally autonomous Chinese regions of Macau and Hong Kong, as well as in Singapore, where Pyongyang has often gone to hide the true nature of its banking activities, and to pay for missiles, nuclear fuel and the huge infrastructure it has built around those programs.	金融往来提供支持。中国是朝鲜最大的贸易伙伴。此举还可能会影响名义上实行自治的中国澳门和香港地区，以及新加坡的一些机构。平壤经常利用这些地方掩盖其银行活动的本质，并通过它们支付导弹、核燃料和围绕这些项目修建的大型基础设施的费用。
The designation, officials said, was in the works long before evidence emerged linking the country's aggressive hackers to the bank thefts, which involved stealing the credentials that banks use to access the Swift system, a global network that thousands of financial firms use to authorize payments from one account to another.	官员称，在把朝鲜咄咄逼人的黑客同多起银行被盗事件联系在一起的证据出现之前很久，认定工作就在准备过程中了。银行失窃事件涉及盗取银行用来访问 Swift 系统的资格凭证。该系统是一个全球性的网络，成千上万家金融企业用它来授权账户间的付款业务。
In interviews, administration officials said they were still sorting through the evidence that North Korea was involved, and left open the possibility that the thieves deliberately left evidence implicating the country to throw investigators off their trail. It could be months, the officials said, before they reach any conclusions, and in the end the perpetrators of the attack may not be definitively known.	奥巴马政府的官员在接受采访时表示，他们仍在梳理朝鲜参与此事的证据，窃贼也有可能是故意留下指向朝鲜的证据，以此来迷惑调查人员。官员称，他们或许需要几个月时间才能得出结论，而且可能到最后也还是无法确认这起攻击的发起者。
Only once — in the case of North Korea's attack on Sony Pictures Entertainment, which was promoting a movie depicting the assassination of Kim Jong-un, the country's unpredictable young leader — has President Obama publicly accused another country of using computer code to wreak havoc in the United States.	只有一次，奥巴马总统公开指责了另一个国家利用计算机代码在美国搞破坏。当时，索尼电影娱乐公司(Sony Pictures Entertainment)正在宣传一部关于暗杀金正恩(Kim Jong-un)的电影，遭到了朝鲜的网络攻击。金正恩是年轻的朝鲜领导人，常有出人意料的举动。
In this case, the sanctions were proposed most immediately because of a Treasury investigation that concluded North Korea uses hard currency to finance its nuclear and missile programs. The department	这一次，则是马上就引发了制裁建议，因为财政部的调查得出结论，朝鲜在使用硬通货来为其核计划和导弹计划供应资金。该部门以《爱国者法案》(Patriot Act)的一节为依据，要禁止银行处理资金流经朝鲜的任何交易。

invoked a section of the Patriot Act to ban banks from processing any banking transaction that runs through North Korea.
It is hard to assess how much the action will hurt North Korea. Such sanctions against financial institutions doing business with Iran proved effective because Tehran had billions of dollars in monthly oil and other energy exports that could be choked off; North Korea has none. Oftentimes Pyongyang deals in cash. Until a few years ago it was one of the largest counterfeiters of $100 bills. But that once-lucrative fraud was largely cut off by the redesign of the $100 bill.	很难评估这些措施会对朝鲜造成这样的打击。事实证明，禁止金融机构与伊朗做生意的制裁效果很好，因为它可以阻断德黑兰每个月数以亿计的石油等能源出口款项；但朝鲜没有这种收入。平壤通常用现金交易。直到几年之前，朝鲜还是百元美钞最大的造假者之一。但是，在百元美钞重新设计之后，这种财源滚滚的欺诈行为就在很大程度上被杜绝了。
The key test will be the reaction of the Chinese. American officials will have a chance to find out next week: Secretary of State John Kerry and Treasury Secretary Jacob J. Lew are traveling to Beijing for the Strategic and Economic Dialogue, where the isolation of North Korea will be a major subject of discussion. China voted for the latest United Nations sanctions, but Beijing's fears of provoking a collapse of North Korea's government still outweigh its desire to rein in Mr. Kim's government.	关键还要看中国的反应。美国官员下周就有机会搞清楚这个问题：国务卿约翰·克里(John Kerry)和财政部长雅各布·J·卢(Jacob J. Lew)将前往北京参加中美战略与经济对话(Strategic and Economic Dialogue)。在会上，孤立朝鲜将是一个主要议题。中国对联合国最近的一次制裁决议投了赞成票，不过北京对于引发朝鲜政府倒台的担忧依然大过遏制金正恩政府的欲望。
Underlying the financial action was the United States' desire to respond to North Korea's third nuclear weapons test, conducted in January, which the country said was its first test of a hydrogen bomb. (There is no evidence that it was, in fact, a hydrogen weapon, which increases the magnitude of the blast.) More recently Pyongyang has attempted, and failed, to launch a Musudan intermediate-range missile. It is based on an early Soviet model, which was launched from a submarine, but the repeated failures have embarrassed Mr. Kim and undermined his effort to convince the world that his nuclear missile program is	在实施金融制裁的背后，是美国对朝鲜进行第三次核试验做出反应的渴望。这次试验发生在今年1月，朝鲜称这是该国第一次试爆氢弹。（没有证据表明它真的是氢弹，后者的威胁程度更大。）最近，平壤又多次尝试发射“舞水端”(Musudan)中程导弹，均以失败告终。这种导弹是在苏联早先一款潜射导弹的基础上改良而来。不过，多次试射失败令金正恩颇为难堪，也有损于他一直以来的努力，即让全世界相信他的核导弹计划在飞速向前发展。 steaming ahead quickly.

The bigger mystery is whether Mr. Kim is also trying to show that he can undermine the global financial system, his best way of getting back at the West and his Asian neighbors for their support of sanctions. Two cybersecurity firms identified Pyongyang as the culprit behind a series of cyberattacks against Asian banks, including the theft that spirited $81 million from the central bank of Bangladesh's account at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.	更大的谜团在于，金正恩是否也在试图显示他可以破坏全球金融系统。这是他对西方及亚洲邻国支持制裁措施进行报复的最佳方式。两家网络安全公司认定平壤是亚洲多家银行遭受一系列网络攻击的罪魁祸首，其中包括从孟加拉国中央银行在纽约联邦储备银行(Federal Reserve Bank of New York)的账户盗取 8100 万美元。
Private security researchers analyzing those thefts say that unique digital fingerprints in the attackers' code match those of the code used in cyberattacks against Sony in 2014 and South Korean banks and broadcasting companies in 2013. The Sony hack destroyed 70 percent of the firm's computers.	分析这些盗窃事件的私人安全人士表示，攻击者的代码中包含着独一无二的数字指纹，与 2014 年针对索尼、2013 年针对韩国多家银行和广播公司发起的网络攻击中的代码一致。索尼遭受的攻击破坏了该公司 70% 的计算机。
South Korea has blamed North Korea for the attacks on its firms. Elements of the code in those attacks closely track some of the code found in the more recent bank thefts.	韩国也指责本国企业受到的网络攻击是朝鲜所为。这些攻击行动中的代码片段与最近多起银行失窃事件中的一些代码存在紧密联系。
Banks in the United States are already prohibited from doing business with financial institutions in North Korea. But the recommended rules would require them to perform additional due diligence to ensure they are not inadvertently transacting with North Korean financial institutions or the Pyongyang government through shell companies or other fictitious entities.	美国已经禁止境内银行与朝鲜的金融机构进行生意往来。不过，为符合新提议的规定，各家银行需要做额外的尽职调查，以确保自己不会经由壳公司或其他虚假实体不经意地与朝鲜金融机构或平壤政府发生交易。
The rules are the result of a monthslong effort by the Treasury's Financial Crimes Enforcement Network to determine whether North Korea is a haven for money laundering.	为确定朝鲜是否为洗钱天堂，财政部金融犯罪执法局(Financial Crimes Enforcement Network)做出了长达数月的努力。这些新规定就是这项努力带来的结果。

With that designation established, the Treasury secretary is able to take aggressive measures to cut off the country's access to the United States financial system.	做出上述认定之后，财政部长就可以采取强力措施，以切断朝鲜进入美国金融系统的途径。
Other countries have also been stepping up efforts to isolate North Korea. In March, the United Nations Security Council said its members had 90 days to sever banking relationships with North Korean financial institutions.	其他一些国家也在加大孤立朝鲜的努力。今年3月，联合国安理会表示，其成员有90天的时间可以用来切断与朝鲜金融机构的业务关系。
The recent attacks on Asian banks exposed new vulnerabilities in the way banks move money around the world.	亚洲多家银行最近遭袭，暴露出银行在全世界转移资金的方式存在一些新的薄弱之处。
North Korea's possible involvement in those cyberattacks has raised alarms about Pyongyang's ability to exploit Swift, the global bank messaging network. But the attack did not go to the core of the Swift system; instead, it was analogous to stealing a credit card number to post a phony transaction in the Visa or MasterCard system.	朝鲜涉嫌这些网络攻击行动的可能性，令外界对平壤利用全球性银行通讯系统 Swift 的能力产生担忧。不过，这次攻击没有进入 Swift 系统的核心部分，而是类似盗取信用卡号码，然后在 Visa 或万事达(MasterCard)的系统里请求虚假交易。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160602/treasury-imposes-sanctions-on-north-korea	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160602/treasury-imposes-sanctions-on-north-korea
President Obama and India's Modi Forge an Unlikely Friendship	大国领导人中，奥巴马最青睐印度总理？
WASHINGTON — There are few relationships between President Barack Obama and another world leader more unlikely than the one he has with Prime Minister Narendra Modi of India.	华盛顿——在美国总统贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)与另一个世界大国领导人的关系当中，没有几个比他与印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)之间的纽带更加令人不可思议。
The two have a public warmth — or “chemistry,” as the Indian news media like to describe it — and that is likely to be on display Tuesday when Modi visits the White House for the second time in two years. It will be the seventh time the two leaders will have met.	当莫迪本周二两年之内第二次造访白宫之时，两人之间那种表面上的友善姿态——印度新闻媒体青睐的措辞是“化学反应”——很可能会显露出来。这将是两位领导人第七次碰面。
There are compelling reasons the leaders of the world's largest	有充分的理由支持世界两大民主国家的领导人找到共同点。美国在鼓励印度

democracies would find common cause. The United States is encouraging the rise of India as a giant Asian partner to balance China, and India is trying to accelerate its economy with an injection of investment from U.S. companies.	崛起为自己在亚洲的重量级伙伴，以制衡中国，而印度正试图用美国企业注入投资的方式来加快其经济发展。
"It is true that Obama and I have a special friendship, a special wavelength," Modi said last month in an interview with The Wall Street Journal. Ben Rhodes, the president's deputy national security adviser for strategic communication, said Saturday that the two leaders "have each invested in developing a close relationship."	"奥巴马与我之间的确有着特殊的友情、特殊的波长，"莫迪上月接受《华尔街日报》(The Wall Street Journal)采访时表示。负责战略通讯联络的国家安全副顾问本·罗兹(Ben Rhodes)上周六称，两位领导人"均为发展密切关系有所投入"。
It is worth recounting just how unlikely such a friendship is.	值得探讨一下的是，这样的友谊到底有多么不可思议。
The nation's first black president, Obama has made the protection of minorities a central pillar of his life. And he has argued that criticism and dissent are core tenets of democracy.	身为美国首任黑人总统，奥巴马将保护少数族群作为自己一生的一个中心支柱。他还认为，批评与异见是民主的核心信条。
Modi, by contrast, spent much of his life rising through the ranks of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh, a right-wing paramilitary organization that campaigns forcefully for India's Hindu majority. Modi was in charge of the state of Gujarat when rioting in 2002 cost the lives of more than 1,000 people, most of them Muslims. Just last week, 24 people were convicted of massacring Muslims during the riots, and pending cases are attempting to prove that Modi, who has escaped judicial censure, was part of a high-level conspiracy to encourage the killings.	相形之下，莫迪的大部分经历是在民族志工组织(Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh)中步步晋升。这是一个右翼准军事团体，大力为在印度社会中占主导地位印度教徒争取利益。莫迪执掌古吉拉特邦期间，那里于2002年发生骚乱，导致上千人死亡，其中大部分是穆斯林。就在上周，24人因在那场骚乱中屠杀穆斯林而被定罪。还有一些悬而未决的案件正试图证明，一直逃脱了司法惩罚的莫迪实际上参与了鼓励那场杀戮的高层共谋。 could broadly be compared to that of a Southern segregationist from the 1950s.
Generally poorer and less educated than India's Hindus, Muslims are about 14 percent of the population, about the same proportion as blacks in the United States. In India, Modi's reputation among Muslims	印度的穆斯林普遍比印度教徒贫困，受教育程度更低。他们占到印度总人口的14%左右，与美国人口中的黑人比例相当。在印度国内，莫迪在穆斯林当中的名声堪比美国50年代南方的种族隔离分子。

Perhaps just as troubling, Modi's government has increasingly used the country's broad and vague laws restricting free speech to stifle dissent, according to a recent report by Human Rights Watch. Other laws have been used to intimidate and even shut down nongovernmental organizations, such as Greenpeace.	也许同样令人不安的是，人权观察组织(Human Rights Watch)最近的一份报告称，莫迪政府已经加大力度，利用该国宽泛而模糊的法律来限制言论自由，压制异见者。他们还利用其他法律来恐吓、甚至查封非政府组织，比如绿色和平组织(Greenpeace)。
Neither Obama nor Modi is given to displaying affection. Both avoid the socializing common in their capitals. And while Obama is a doting father and dutiful husband who maintains close bonds with his childhood friends, Modi abandoned his arranged marriage decades ago and has no children or any public friendships.	奥巴马和莫迪都不喜欢表露感情，都不爱参加首都常见的社交活动。奥巴马是一个疼爱孩子的父亲，尽职尽责的丈夫，与孩提时的朋友维持着密切关系，而莫迪却在数十年前摆脱了自己的包办婚姻，不仅没有孩子，也没有任何公开的朋友。
Some political analysts have expressed deep skepticism that the two leaders have any real fondness for each other.	一些政治分析人士深表怀疑，认为奥巴马和莫迪并非真的对彼此有好感。
Modi is part of a class of "populist, electable, narcissistic right-wing autocrats whose appeal is that they pander to majoritarian anger," said Kanti Prasad Bajpai, a professor of Asian studies at the National University of Singapore.	莫迪属于“民粹主义的、有参选资历的、自恋的右翼独裁者，这种人的吸引力在于他们能迎合多数人的愤怒情绪，”新加坡国立大学(National University of Singapore)的亚洲研究教授坎提·普拉萨德·巴杰帕伊(Kanti Prasad Bajpai)说。
"Obama is the opposite of that, so it is hard to see how close they can be," Bajpai said.	"跟奥巴马完全是相反的，所以很难想象他们关系能好到哪里去，"巴杰帕伊说。
Others see similarities that extend beyond political beliefs.	其他人则看到了两人之间超越政治信仰的相似之处。
Both men rose from modest circumstances, had difficult relationships with their fathers and were widely considered transformational figures when elected. (Modi's humble origins, largely corruption-free government and intense focus on winning foreign investment are	两人都出生于草根阶层，与父亲关系不好，在参选的时候，都被普遍认为是变革性的人物。(莫迪卑微的出身，基本廉洁的政府，以及把重心极大地放在争取外国投资上，与他的前任迥然不同。)莫迪的一些政治钻营方法，特别是有效地使用社交媒体，是借鉴了奥巴马的模式。

sharp breaks from his predecessor.) And parts of Modi's political operation, in particular its effective use of social media, were based on Obama's model.
Ashley Tellis, a senior associate with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, said both men "are remarkably warm and have a personal graciousness about them that is very evident in personal encounters."	卡内基国际和平研究院(Carnegie Endowment for International Peace)高级研究员阿什利·泰利斯(Ashley Tellis)说, 两人"都是非常温和的人, 在私下交往时, 有一种很明显的亲切感。"
Raymond Vickery, a former U.S. assistant secretary of commerce who has met Modi, said both had grown up as outsiders and valued frankness.	见过莫迪的美国前助理国务卿雷蒙德·维克里(Raymond Vickery)说, 两人都作为"局外人"成长起来的, 都很重视坦率。
"Modi is a really down-to-earth guy who tries to answer your questions and doesn't just go to talking points," Vickery said.	"莫迪是一个非常脚踏实地的人, 他会试图回答你的问题, 而不只是去讲自己的论点," 维克里说。
Obama made the first significant gesture in the relationship when, during Modi's first official visit to Washington in 2014, the president left his White House staff behind to give a personal 15-minute tour of the Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial.	2014年莫迪首次正式访问华盛顿期间, 奥巴马第一次在这段关系中做出了一个重大姿态, 他没有带白宫工作人员, 亲自带领莫迪在马丁·路德·金纪念馆参观了15分钟。
Modi responded by inviting Obama to be his guest at the annual Republic Day celebrations in New Delhi in January 2015. When Obama arrived, Modi broke with protocol to greet the president at the airport with a hug. And at a later appearance, Modi referred to the president as Barack and thanked him for his "deep personal commitment" to their friendship. In a toast at a state dinner, Obama called Modi "my partner and friend."	莫迪则邀请奥巴马参加2015年1月在新德里举行的一年一度的共和国日(Republic Day)庆祝活动, 他打破常规礼仪, 到机场迎接奥巴马时给了他一个拥抱。稍后, 莫迪对奥巴马以"贝拉克"相称, 并感谢他们对他们友谊的"深切投入"。在国宴上敬酒时, 奥巴马称莫迪为"我的搭档和朋友。"
"The hours they've spent together," Rhodes said Saturday, "have allowed them to have a good understanding of their respective	"他们一起度过的那些时光," 罗兹上周六说, "让他们对各自的世界观和国内情况有了很好的了解, 使得两国加深防务关系, 增进民用核合作, 实现气候

worldviews and domestic circumstances, and made it possible to deepen defense ties, advance our civil nuclear cooperation and achieve a breakthrough on climate change.”	变化上突破成为了可能。”
He added, “It’s also an indication of how important President Obama thinks our relationship is with India, as the world’s largest democracy and an increasingly important partner.”	他还表示,“这也显示了奥巴马总统对美印关系有多么重视。印度是世界上最大的民主国家,也是一个日益重要的合作伙伴。”
On Tuesday, White House officials said, the two leaders are expected to discuss climate change and clean energy partnerships, security cooperation, and economic growth. The officials said the leaders might announce a new defense logistics agreement, further progress on India’s efforts to phase out ozone-depleting hydrofluorocarbons and perhaps a deal for Westinghouse Electric Corp. to build nuclear power plants in India in a long-delayed fulfillment of a pact first struck in 2006.	白宫官员表示,奥巴马和莫迪周二将讨论气候变化和清洁能源合作伙伴关系、安全合作以及经济增长问题。官员们说,他们可能会宣布新的国防后勤协议,印度逐步淘汰破坏臭氧的氢氟碳化物的更多成果,也许还有西屋电气公司在印度建造核电站的交易;该交易和最初在2006年达成的一项协定有关,但协定迟迟没有履行。
A shared interest in clean power and climate change is central to their personal bond, some analysts said.	有分析人士表示,两人对清洁能源和气候变化都很感兴趣,这对他们的私交非常重要。
“These two guys get very little political traction at home for being climate champions, but they are anyway, and I think they respect each other for that,” said Andrew Light, a former senior adviser to the U.S. special envoy on climate change.	“两人作为气候变化拥护者,在本国都没有得到多少认同,但他们仍在努力,我认为他们在这方面惺惺相惜,”前美国气候变化特使高级顾问安德鲁·莱特(Andrew Light)说。
Tavleen Singh, an Indian commentator and admirer of Modi, said the prime minister’s high-profile sanitation campaign and his efforts to improve the status of women would also endear him to Obama. Still, she said she doubted the two men were truly affectionate.	塔林·辛格(Tavleen Singh)是一位印度评论家,很崇拜莫迪,她说莫迪开展声势浩大的卫生运动,努力提高女性地位,这也会让他获得奥巴马的喜爱。不过她认为两人之前缺乏真正的深厚情谊。
Zia Haq, an assistant editor at the Hindustan Times in India, was also skeptical.	齐亚·哈克(Zia Haq)是印度报纸《印度斯坦时报》(Hindustan Times)的助理编辑,他也对此持怀疑态度。

"I refuse to believe the two men could be very good personal friends deep down, because Modi is all things Obama can't possibly be," Haq wrote in an email.	"我不相信这两人私交很好，因为莫迪和奥巴马完全不是一类人，"哈克在一封电邮中写道。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160607/india-narendra-modi-obama	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160607/india-narendra-modi-obama
Donald Trump Vows to Rip Up Trade Deals and Confront China	特朗普发表反贸易演讲，扬言惩罚中国
MONESSEN, Pa. — Donald J. Trump vowed on Tuesday to rip up international trade deals and start an unrelenting offensive against Chinese economic practices, framing his contest with Hillary Clinton as a choice between hard-edge nationalism and the policies of "a leadership class that worships globalism."	宾夕法尼亚州莫内森——唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)周二誓言撕毁国际贸易协定，并对中国的经济行为发起持续的攻击。他和希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)之间的竞争，由此被塑造成了在强硬的民族主义和"崇拜全球化的领导层"的政策之间的选择。
Speaking in western Pennsylvania, Mr. Trump sought to turn the page on weeks of campaign turmoil by returning to a core set of economic grievances that have animated his candidacy from the start. He threatened to withdraw from the North American Free Trade Agreement and pledged to label China a currency manipulator and impose punitive tariffs on Chinese goods.	在宾夕法尼亚州西部发表演说时，特朗普回到了经济方面的一系列核心的不满，试图扭转其竞选中已持续数周的不利局面。这些不满从一开始就给他的竞选注入活力。他扬言要让美国退出北美自由贸易协定(North American Free Trade Agreement, 简称Nafta)，发誓要给中国贴上货币操纵国的标签，并对中国商品征收惩罚性关税。
He attacked Mrs. Clinton on her past support for the Trans-Pacific Partnership, a trade pact negotiated by the Obama administration, and challenged her to pledge that she would void the agreement in its entirety. Noting that Mrs. Clinton had backed free-trade agreements like Nafta in the past, Mr. Trump warned, "She will betray you again."	他抨击克林顿曾支持奥巴马政府牵头达成的"跨太平洋伙伴关系协定"(Trans Pacific Partnership, 简称TPP)，并力促她做出承诺，全面否定这项贸易协定。他指出，克林顿过去曾支持Nafta等自由贸易协定；并警告"她会再次背叛你们。"
As a policy manifesto, Mr. Trump's speech was an attack on the economic orthodoxy that has dominated the Republican Party since World War II. It is an article of faith among establishment Republicans and allied groups like the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, which represents	作为一项政策宣言，特朗普的演说是对二战以来共和党长期秉承的正统经济理论的攻击。共和党权威人士及其同盟团体——譬如代表大公司利益的美国商会(U.S. Chamber of Commerce)——有这样一个信条：贸易是一件好事，多多益善。

the interests of large corporations, that trade is good and more trade is better.
Mr. Trump, by contrast, has made blistering attacks on trade his primary economic theme. In his address on Tuesday he rejected the standard view that countries benefit by importing goods, arguing that globalization helped "the financial elite," while leaving "millions of our workers with nothing but poverty and heartache."	相比之下，特朗普已经把对贸易的狠狠抨击变成了自己的头号经济主题。在周二的演说中，特朗普驳斥了一国可以通过进口商品获益的观点。他声称，全球化对“金融精英”颇有助益，但“除了贫困和心痛，没有为我们数以百万计的工人带来任何东西”。
It is a critique that has been leveled for years, mainly by a small group of liberal economists who have gained little traction even on the Democratic side. On Tuesday, Mr. Trump not only embraced their views, but also cited the work of the liberal Economic Policy Institute by name.	这种批评早已有之，提出者主要是一小撮自由主义经济学家，即便是在民主党那边也没有多少影响力。周二，特朗普不仅认可了他们的观点，还点名提及了经济政策研究所(Economic Policy Institute)的研究成果。
Mr. Trump, as president, would have significant authority to raise trade barriers, and his speech Tuesday included his most detailed account to date of his plans to do so, saying that he would pull the United States from Nafta if Mexico and Canada did not agree to renegotiate it.	特朗普如果当上总统，将会拥有提高贸易壁垒的大权。他在周二的演说中，对相关计划的实施日程做了最为详尽的描述；他说，如果墨西哥和加拿大不同意重新就 Nafta 进行谈判，他会让美国退出 Nafta。
But it is far from clear that any president has the power to reverse globalization. Under existing law, Mr. Trump could only impose tariffs on specific imports. The most likely effect would be to shift production to other low-cost nations.	但目前尚不能确定任何一位总统具有逆转全球化潮流的力量。按照现行的法律，特朗普只能对特定的进口商品征收关税。其最有可能的影响是：推动产品生产向成本更低的国家转移。
Mr. Trump's address opened his first swing-state tour of the general election race. After muddling around the political map since his last Republican rivals withdrew, and veering away from the campaign last week for a trip to Scotland, Mr. Trump's tour this week through Pennsylvania and Ohio was the start of a concerted effort to carve a	特朗普的演讲开启了他在大选角逐中的首次摇摆州之旅。自他的最后几位共和党对手退出竞选之后，特朗普便搞乱了美国政治版图。上周他从竞选活动中抽身，去了趟苏格兰。本周穿越宾夕法尼亚和俄亥俄两州的旅程是一项共同努力的开端，目的是在无比艰难的政治区域开创一条道路，拿到 270 张选举人票。

path to 270 electoral votes on daunting political terrain.
The language and location of Mr. Trump’s speech encapsulated his aspirational strategy for the general election: His greatest source of support has been white working-class men, and his campaign hopes to compete in traditionally Democratic-leaning states, like Pennsylvania and Michigan, to offset his deep unpopularity with Hispanic voters in swing states like Florida and Colorado.	特朗普演讲的内容和地点集中体现了他为大选谋划的雄心勃勃的策略：他最大的支持一直来自蓝领白人男性，于是他的竞选团队希望在宾夕法尼亚和密歇根等一贯倾向于民主党的州展开竞争，从而抵消他在佛罗里达和科罗拉多等摇摆州西语裔选民中极不得人心的劣势。
Mr. Trump delivered his address at a steel plant in the heart of coal country, on a stage flanked by blocks of compressed steel wiring, aluminum cans and other metals. And for the second time in two weeks, he spoke carefully from a prepared script. Having faced criticism throughout the race for factual exaggerations and outright falsehoods, Mr. Trump’s aides circulated a copy of the speech with 128 footnotes documenting its claims.	特朗普是在煤炭区中心地带的一家钢铁厂内发表演讲的，舞台两侧有大片压缩钢丝、铝罐和其他一些金属材料。在不到两周的时间内，他第二次谨慎地按照准备好的稿子讲话。在整个竞选期间，特朗普一直因十足的夸大之词和公然的谎言遭受指责，但这一次他的幕僚分发的演讲稿中有 128 处佐证文中言论的脚注。
Still, Mr. Trump could not resist the occasional ad-libbed line to skewer Mrs. Clinton or boast of his own achievements. He took credit for pressuring Mrs. Clinton to oppose the Trans-Pacific Partnership trade deal, though at the time she faced far greater pressure from a primary challenge on the left, from Senator Bernie Sanders of Vermont.	不过，特朗普还是忍不住即兴穿插了一些攻击克林顿或夸耀自身成就的言论。他号称是自己迫使克林顿反对 TPP 贸易协定，尽管她当时因左翼、因佛蒙特州参议员伯尼·桑德斯(Bernie Sanders)在初选中发出的挑战而承受的压力要大得多。
Mr. Trump’s speech drew rebukes from two sides: The Clinton campaign attacked his credibility as a critic of free trade, and deployed Senator Sherrod Brown of Ohio, a populist Democrat who is viewed as a potential running mate for Mrs. Clinton, to accuse Mr. Trump of hypocrisy.	特朗普的发言受到两方面的指责：克林顿的竞选团队对他作为一个自由贸易批评者的可信度进行了攻击，由俄亥俄州参议员谢罗德·布朗(Sherrod Brown)出面指责特朗普虚伪。后者是一名民粹主义民主党人，被认为有可能成为克林顿的竞选搭档。
“With all of his personal experience profiting from making products	“因为有在国外制造产品获利的丰富个人经历，特朗普其实是谈论外包的绝

overseas, Trump's the perfect expert to talk about outsourcing," Mr. Brown said, reciting a list of Trump products, from suits to picture frames, that he said were made in other countries. "We know just in my state alone where Donald Trump could have gone to make these things," he added.	佳人选，"布朗说。他历数了被他称为在其他国家生产的特朗普产品，从西装到相框，不一而足。"我们知道，单单在我所在的州，唐纳德·特朗普原本就可以去当地生产这些东西，"他接着说。
Mr. Trump also drew a cold response from traditionally Republican-leaning interests as well for his heated attacks on international trade agreements. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce, which spends millions of dollars in federal elections, almost entirely in support of Republican candidates, criticized Mr. Trump's speech on Twitter and claimed that his policies would hurt the economy.	因为对国际贸易协议进行了猛烈的攻击，在通常倾向于共和党的利益集团那里，特朗普也得到了冷淡的反应。美国商会一般会在联邦选举中投入大把资金，几乎完全用于支持共和党候选人。该组织却在 Twitter 上对特朗普的演讲进行了批评，宣称他的政策会伤害美国的经济。
"Even under best-case scenario, Trump's tariffs would strip us of at least 3.5 million jobs," the group wrote in one Twitter message.	"就算是在最好的情况下，特朗普施加的关税也会让我们丢掉至少 350 万个工作机会，"美国商会在一条 Twitter 帖子中写道。
For Mr. Trump, who has shifted and doubled back on high-profile policy pronouncements, trade has been a rare area of consistency in the 2016 race.	对于在高调政策表态方面变来变去的特朗普而言，贸易是他在 2016 年大选中非常少见地保持了一致的领域。
At nearly every campaign rally, Mr. Trump has knocked trade deals with China as unfair to the American worker so frequently as to make his percussive pronunciation of China a hallmark of impersonators.	在几乎每一场竞选集会活动中，特朗普都会指责与中国的贸易协议对美国的劳工不公平。其频率如此之高，以致于他说到"中国"一词时富有冲击力的发音成为模仿者争相表演的桥段。
Mr. Trump appeared in his speech to pre-empt criticism from economists and business groups that have argued his policy proposals would lead to a damaging trade war with China and perhaps other countries.	在这次演讲中，特朗普似乎主动回应了经济学家和商业团体对他的批评。这些人认为，他的政策建议将导致美国与中国——或许还有其他国家——之间爆发有破坏性的贸易战。
"We already have a trade war," Mr. Trump told the crowd, departing from his prepared remarks. "And we're losing, badly."	"我们已经处在贸易战之中，"特朗普脱离准备好的讲稿，对听众说。"而且处境非常不利。"

Mr. Trump, who has struggled for months to win support from the conservative business community, planned to follow the speech with a fund-raiser in West Virginia hosted by a coal executive, Robert E. Murray. He was also scheduled to address a rally in eastern Ohio, another crucial state in the general election and one that Mr. Trump lost in the primary to Gov. John Kasich.	数月来，特朗普一直在赢得保守派商业团体的支持方面遭遇困难。他计划在这次演讲之后在西弗吉尼亚州举办一场筹款会，由煤炭业高管罗伯特·E·默里(Robert E. Murray)主办。他还将在俄亥俄州东部的一个集会活动上做演讲。该州是大选中另外一个非常关键的州，在初选中特朗普在这里输给了该州州长约翰·卡西奇(John Kasich)。
To win that state in November, Mr. Trump hopes to outflank Mrs. Clinton with economically distressed voters who may have voted Democratic in the past. Trade remains an issue that both resonates with Mr. Trump's core supporters and stirs up populist voters across party lines.	为了在 11 月赢得该州的支持，特朗普希望通过争取经济困窘的选民的支持来挫败克林顿。这些选民过去可能投票给了民主党候选人。贸易依然是一个既能引起特朗普的核心支持者共鸣，又能跨越党派界限煽动民粹主义选民的议题。
In a nod to potential crossover voters, Mr. Trump quoted Mr. Sanders by name in criticizing Mrs. Clinton.	为了讨好潜在的跨党派选民，特朗普指名援引桑德斯的话对克林顿进行指责。
Though he dwelled at greatest length on what he described as the damaging economic consequences of globalization, Mr. Trump also laced his remarks with broader nationalist language, arguing that the United States would lose its sovereignty and national pride by negotiating too freely with the world.	尽管特朗普在被他描述为全球化的严重经济后果方面讲得最多，但他也在自己的言论中加入了更宽泛的民族主义论调，声称如果与这个世界太过自由地进行协商，美国将失去自己的主权和国家荣誉。
"They get the expansion. We get the joblessness," Mr. Trump said, of trade deals with foreign countries. "That's the way it works — not going to happen anymore."	"他们得到的是扩张。我们得到的是失业，"特朗普这样评价与其他国家的贸易协议。"就是这么回事——这种情况以后不会再发生了。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160629/donald-trump-trade-speech	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20160629/donald-trump-trade-speech
Facebook Said to Create Censorship Tool to Get Back Into China	为进入中国，Facebook 秘密开发审查工具
SAN FRANCISCO — Mark Zuckerberg, Facebook's chief executive, has cultivated relationships with China's leaders, including President Xi	旧金山——Facebook 首席执行官马克·扎克伯格(Mark Zuckerberg)已经与包括习近平主席在内的中国领导人培养了关系。他多次访问中国，与那里的顶

Jinping. He has paid multiple visits to the country to meet its top internet executives. He has made an effort to learn Mandarin.	级互联网高管会面。他还努力学习普通话。
Inside Facebook, the work to enter China runs far deeper.	而在 Facebook 内部，进军中国的努力则走得更远。
The social network has quietly developed software to suppress posts from appearing in people's news feeds in specific geographic areas, according to three current and former Facebook employees, who asked for anonymity because the tool is confidential. The feature was created to help Facebook get into China, a market where the social network has been blocked, these people said. Mr. Zuckerberg has supported and defended the effort, the people added.	Facebook 的三名现任和前任员工说，这个社交网络已经在默默开发软件，防止帖子出现在特定地理区域用户的新闻流中。因为这个工具是保密的，这三人不愿具名。他们说该工具的目的是帮助 Facebook 进入中国，目前它在中国遭到了屏蔽，而扎克伯格对这个项目提供了支持和保护。
Facebook has restricted content in other countries before, such as Pakistan, Russia and Turkey, in keeping with the typical practice of American internet companies that generally comply with government requests to block certain content after it is posted. Facebook blocked roughly 55,000 pieces of content in about 20 countries between July 2015 and December 2015, for example. But the new feature takes that a step further by preventing content from appearing in feeds in China in the first place.	之前，Facebook 在巴基斯坦、俄罗斯和土耳其等国也对内容进行过限制。美国互联网公司一般都会遵守当地政府的要求，在某些内容发布后屏蔽它们，这是一种典型做法。例如，2015 年 7 月至 2015 年 12 月期间，Facebook 在大约 20 个国家屏蔽了大约 5.5 万篇内容。但这个新功能将更进一步，从一开始就防止某些内容出现在中国用户的新闻流中。
Facebook does not intend to suppress the posts itself. Instead, it would offer the software to enable a third party — in this case, most likely a partner Chinese company — to monitor popular stories and topics that bubble up as users share them across the social network, the people said. Facebook's partner would then have full control to decide whether those posts should show up in users' feeds.	这三人说，Facebook 不打算自己去压制帖子。相反，它会提供软件给第三方使用——在这个案例中，很可能是中国的一个合作伙伴公司——对用户在网上分享内容时形成的人气帖子和话题进行监视。该工具会让 Facebook 的合作伙伴获得完全的控制权，决定这些帖子是否应该显示在用户的新闻流中。
The current and former Facebook employees caution that the software	这三名前任和现任 Facebook 员工也特别指出，该软件是公司讨论进军中国

is one of many ideas the company has discussed with respect to entering China and, like many experiments inside Facebook, it may never see the light of day. The feature, whose code is visible to engineers inside the company, has so far gone unused, and there is no indication that Facebook has offered it to the authorities in China.	的诸多点子之一，就像 Facebook 内部做的很多实验一样，可能永远不会用得上。这个功能——其代码公司内部工程师可以看见——迄今为止还没有投入使用，也没有迹象表明 Facebook 已经把它提供给了中国当局。
But the project illustrates the extent to which Facebook may be willing to compromise one of its core mission statements, "to make the world more open and connected," to gain access to a market of 1.4 billion Chinese people. Even as Facebook faces pressure to continue growing — Mr. Zuckerberg has often asked where the company's next billion users will come from — China has been cordoned off to the social network since 2009 because of the government's strict rules around censorship of user content.	但是这个项目显示了 Facebook 为了进入中国 14 亿人口的市场，愿意在多大程度上放弃它的核心使命“让世界更加开放和互联”。即使 Facebook 面临着继续增长的压力——经常有人问扎克伯格接下来的 10 亿用户来自哪里——中国自 2009 年以来一直屏蔽这个社交网络，因为政府制定了严格的规则来审查用户的内容。
The suppression software has been contentious within Facebook, which is separately grappling with what should or should not be shown to its users after the American presidential election's unexpected outcome spurred questions over fake news on the social network. Several employees who were working on the project have left Facebook after expressing misgivings about it, according to the current and former employees.	这个压制软件在 Facebook 内部也有争议。美国总统选举的逆转性结果，引发了人们对社交网络上虚假新闻的关注，对于什么内容应该显示给用户，什么不应该，又和这个问题搅合在了一起。那三个人说，该项目的几名员工在表示了疑虑之后，就离开了 Facebook。
A Facebook spokeswoman said in a statement, "We have long said that we are interested in China, and are spending time understanding and learning more about the country." She added that the company had made no decisions on its approach into China.	Facebook 发言人在一份声明中说，“长期以来，我们一直都表示对中国很感兴趣，并且努力在增进对这个国家的理解和了解。”她说，对于进军中国一事，公司还没有做出任何决定。
Facebook's tricky position underscores the difficulties that many	Facebook 所处的尴尬位置，突显了很多美国互联网公司在中国遇到的困难。

American internet companies have had gaining access to China. For years, companies like Google and Twitter have been blocked there for refusing to yield to the government's demands around censorship. In 2010, Google said it was directing users of its search engine in China to its service in Hong Kong, because of censorship and intrusion from hackers. Other companies, like the professional social networking service LinkedIn, agreed to censor some content on their platforms in China.	多年来，像谷歌和 Twitter 这样的公司拒绝屈从中国政府关于审查制度的要求，因而在那里遭到屏蔽。2010 年，谷歌表示，由于审查和黑客入侵问题，它将中国用户引流到了香港的谷歌服务。其他公司，比如专业社交网络服务 LinkedIn，则同意中国审查自己平台上的一些内容。
The current climate for internet companies in China may not help Facebook. In August, the ride-hailing giant Uber gave up an expensive battle to crack the Chinese market, selling its Chinese business to an incumbent rival, Didi Chuxing. More broadly, China has streamlined and tightened its controls over the internet under President Xi, targeting influential social media celebrities and adding new reviews to popular online video sites.	互联网公司目前在中国的大气候也对 Facebook 不利。8 月，专车巨头 Uber 放弃了在这个市场上开展成本高昂的大战，把在中国的公司卖给了强大的竞争对手滴滴出行。从更广泛的角度来说，在习近平治下，中国已经改进并加紧了对互联网的控制，把矛头指向有影响力的社交媒体名人，并对人气在线视频网站进行了新的检查。
Still, some officials responsible for China's tech policy have been willing to entertain the idea of Facebook's operating in the country. It would legitimize China's strict style of internet governance, and if done according to official standards, would enable easy tracking of political opinions deemed problematic. Even so, resistance remains at the top levels of Chinese leadership.	尽管如此，一些负责中国技术政策的官员还是愿意接纳 Facebook 在中国运营的想法。中国治理互联网的方式会因此变得正当合法，而且，如果按照官方标准行事，那些“有问题”的政治观点也会很容易跟踪到。但即便如此，在中国最高领导层中也仍然存在着一些阻力。
Some analysts have said Facebook's best option is to follow a model laid out by other internet companies and cooperate with a local company or investor. Finding a partner — and potentially allowing it to own a majority stake in Facebook's China operation — would take the	一些分析师表示，Facebook 的最佳选择是遵循其他互联网公司的模式，与当地公司或投资者合作。寻找合作伙伴，让其拥有 Facebook 在中国运营的大部分股份——同时也把审查和监控负担交给合作伙伴。采取这个办法，Facebook 还可以依靠当地公司的政府关系和经验来处理与北京沟通的艰巨

burden of censorship and surveillance off the Silicon Valley company. It would also let Facebook rely on a local company's government connections and experience to deal with the difficult task of communicating with Beijing.	任务。
Facebook and Chinese officials have had intermittent talks in the last few years about the social network's entering the market, according to employees who were involved in the discussions, though the two sides have been unable to reach a compromise.	据知情员工说，Facebook 和中国官员在过去几年里断断续续地讨论过该公司进入中国市场的事宜，尽管双方无法达成妥协。
Facebook currently sells advertising for some Chinese businesses from its Hong Kong office. Among its customers are state-media sites that act as the propaganda arm of the Chinese government, and that operate official accounts where they post articles. Chinese citizens who wish to gain access to Facebook must tunnel in using a technology known as a virtual private network, or VPN.	Facebook 目前通过它在香港的分支机构向一些中国企业销售广告。其中包括多家官方媒体网站，它们是中国政府的宣传工具，也运营发表文章的官方账号。想在国内上 Facebook 网站的中国公民必须使用一种被称为虚拟专用网络（virtual private network，简称 VPN）的技术建立通道。
It's unclear when the suppression tool originated, but the project picked up momentum in the last year, as engineers were plucked from other parts of Facebook to work on the effort, the current and former employees said. The project was led by Vaughan Smith, a vice president for mobile, corporate and business development at Facebook, they said. Like Mr. Zuckerberg, Mr. Smith speaks a smattering of Mandarin.	目前还不清楚这种压制工具是从何时出现的，但这个项目在去年有了快速发展的势头。Facebook 的那三位现任和前任员工表示，公司为了这个项目，还从其他部门调集了工程师。他们表示，该项目是由 Facebook 移动、企业和业务拓展副总裁沃恩·史密斯(Vaughan Smith)负责。就像扎克伯格一样，史密斯也能讲一点普通话。
Unveiling a new censorship tool in China could lead to more demands to suppress content from other countries. The fake-news problem, which has hit countries across the globe, has already led some governments to use the issue as an excuse to target sites of political rivals, or shut down social media sites altogether.	在中国推出新的审查工具，可能导致其他国家也提出屏蔽内容的要求。对全球多个国家造成影响的假新闻问题，已经使得一些政府将这个问题作为借口，对政治对手的网站进行打击，或完全关闭社交网站。

Over the summer, several Facebook employees who were working on the suppression tool left the company, the current and former employees said. Internally, so many employees asked about the project and its ambitions on an internal forum that, in July, it became a topic at one of Facebook’s weekly Friday afternoon question-and-answer sessions.	Facebook 的那三位现任和前任员工表示，今年夏天，有几名为审查工具项目工作的 Facebook 员工离开了公司。在公司内部的论坛上，有许多员工询问这个项目的情况及其追求的目标，使之在今年 7 月成为 Facebook 每周五下午举办的一个问答活动的主题。
Mr. Zuckerberg was at the event and answered a question from the audience about the tool. He told the gathering that Facebook’s China plans were nascent. But he also struck a pragmatic tone about the future, according to employees who attended the session.	扎克伯格参加了这场活动，回答了现场听众有关这个工具的疑问。据参加会议的员工讲，他告诉在场的人，Facebook 在中国的计划还未成熟，但他在谈论未来时也采用了一种务实的语气。
“It’s better for Facebook to be a part of enabling conversation, even if it’s not yet the full conversation,” Mr. Zuckerberg said, according to employees.	“Facebook 成为一场使能对话的一部分是更好的选择，哪怕它还不是完整的对话，”在场员工称扎克伯格这样讲道。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20161123/facebook-censorship-tool-china	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20161123/facebook-censorship-tool-china
Bob Dole Worked Behind the Scenes on Trump-Taiwan Call	特朗普蔡英文通话背后的游说者
WASHINGTON — Former Senator Bob Dole, acting as a foreign agent for the government of Taiwan, worked behind the scenes over the past six months to establish high-level contact between Taiwanese officials and President-elect Donald J. Trump’s staff, an effort that culminated last week in an unorthodox telephone call between Mr. Trump and Taiwan’s president.	华盛顿——作为台湾政府的外国代理人，前参议员鲍勃·多尔(Bob Dole)过去六个月里一直在幕后采取行动，帮助台湾官员和候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)的幕僚之间建立高层接触，终于在上周，特朗普和台湾总统进行了一次背离正统的通话。
Mr. Dole, a lobbyist with the Washington law firm Alston & Bird, coordinated with Mr. Trump’s campaign and the transition team to set up a series of meetings between Mr. Trump’s advisers and officials in Taiwan, according to disclosure documents filed last week with the	多尔是华盛顿律师事务所奥斯頓—伯德(Alston& Bird)的一名游说者，上周提交给司法部的文件显示，他协调特朗普竞选班子和过渡团队，促成了特朗普的顾问和台湾官员之间的一系列会面，而且还协助台湾，成功地把一些有利于它的语言纳入了共和党的政纲中。

Justice Department. Mr. Dole also assisted in Taiwan's successful efforts to include language favorable to it in the Republican Party platform, according to the documents.
Mr. Dole's firm received $140,000 from May to October for the work, according to the documents.	文件显示，多尔的公司从5月到10月收到了14万美元（约合人民币96万元）的资金。
The documents suggest that President-elect Trump's decision to take a telephone call from the president of Taiwan, Tsai Ing-wen, was less a ham-handed diplomatic gaffe and more the result of a well-orchestrated plan by Taiwan, one that sought to use the election of a new president to deepen its relationship with the United States — with an assist from a seasoned lobbyist well versed in the machinery of Washington.	这些文件表明，候任总统特朗普决定接听台湾总统蔡英文的电话并非笨手笨脚的外交失仪，而是台湾精心策划的结果。台湾从一个熟悉华盛顿运行机制、经验丰富的游说者那里获得帮助，在新总统选举期间加深了与美国的关系。
Mr. Trump's phone call was a striking break from nearly four decades of diplomatic practice and threatened to precipitate a major rift with China.	特朗普接听这个电话，是对近四十年来外交实践的一个惊人突破，中美之间可能因此出现重大裂痕。
The documents were submitted before the call took place and make no mention of it, and it was unclear what role, if any, Mr. Dole played in brokering the specific conversation. A spokeswoman at Alston & Bird said Tuesday that the 93-year-old Mr. Dole, a former Senate majority leader and the Republican presidential nominee in 1996, had no immediate comment on his work representing the Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office in the United States, Taiwan's unofficial embassy and the entity that retained him.	这些文件是在特朗普接听电话之前提交的，但没有提到那个电话，而且现在也不清楚多尔在协调安排此次交谈中起到了什么作用（如果有的话）。奥斯頓与伯德的发言人本周二表示，对于93岁的多尔（前参议院多数党领导人、1996年的总统提名人）代表驻美国台北经济文化代表处(Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office in the United States)所做的工作，没有立即予以置评。该代表处是台湾驻美国的非正式大使馆，出钱聘请多尔的就是它。
The effort to involve Mr. Trump's campaign in a United States delegation to Taiwan, and to facilitate a Taiwanese delegation to the	从文件看，这种努力始于今年早些时候，一个美国代表团出访台湾以及促成一个台湾代表团参加今年7月在克利夫兰举行的共和党全国大会，都有特朗

Republican National Convention in Cleveland in July, began earlier this year, according to the documents.	普竞选团队的参与。
Mr. Dole also arranged a meeting between Senator Jeff Sessions, Republican of Alabama, whom Mr. Trump has chosen to be his attorney general, and Stanley Kao, Taiwan's envoy to the United States, and convened a meeting between embassy staff members and Mr. Trump's transition team, the documents say.	文件称, 多尔还安排了阿拉巴马共和党参议员、特朗普任命的司法部长杰夫·塞申斯(Jeff Sessions)和台湾驻美代表高硕泰会面, 并召集大使馆工作人员和特朗普的过渡团队举行了一次会议。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20161207/bob-dole-taiwan-lobby-trump	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20161207/bob-dole-taiwan-lobby-trump
How Trump's Call With Taiwan Could Affect U.S. Goals in Asia	评估特朗普与蔡英文通电话的战略后果
President-elect Donald J. Trump has already made a significant foreign policy move by speaking on the phone with Tsai Ing-wen, the president of Taiwan. The call shattered decades of diplomatic protocol and raised questions about Mr. Trump's China strategy.	候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)已通过与台湾总统蔡英文通电话的方式迈出了外交政策上的重要一步。通话打破了几十年的外交礼节, 让人们对于特朗普的中国战略提出问题。
Paul Haenle, the director of the Carnegie-Tsinghua Center for Global Policy in Beijing, is well positioned to gauge Mr. Trump's action and its consequences. Mr. Haenle is a retired United States Army officer whose interest in East Asia began in the early 1990s, with a deployment to South Korea. He had China-related military assignments at the embassy in Beijing and the Pentagon before serving on the National Security Council for five years. He was China director for the council under President George W. Bush and President Obama.	设在北京的清华—卡内基全球政策中心的主任韩磊(Paul Haenle), 其资历很适合针对特朗普的行为及其后果进行衡量。韩磊是退役的美国陆军军官, 他对东亚的兴趣始于 20 世纪 90 年代, 当时他是驻韩美军的一员。他曾在北京的美国驻华大使馆和五角大楼承担与中国有关的军事任务, 后在国家安全委员会任职五年。他在乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)总统和奥巴马总统的国家安全委员会担任主管中国事务的主任。
In an edited interview, Mr. Haenle shares his thoughts on the United States-China relationship in the context of Mr. Trump, Taiwan and North Korea's nuclear program.	在下面的经过编辑的采访中, 韩磊分享了在特朗普、台湾和朝鲜核武器的背景下, 他对美中关系的看法。
What is your assessment of Mr. Trump's phone call last Friday with Ms.	你怎么看上周五特朗普与蔡英文通电话这件事?

Tsai?
When President-elect Trump deflected criticism of the call by saying it was Tsai Ing-wen that called him, that seemed to play perfectly into China's hands. The next day, the Chinese foreign minister chalked the call up to "just a small trick by Taiwan." China will likely now be looking for ways to punish Tsai for the incident. Will the president-elect stand up for Taiwan when that happens? This is one of the real concerns of those who have pushed back against publicizing the phone call.	候任总统特朗普在转移人们对通话的批评时说，是蔡英文打电话给他，这似乎正中中国政府的下怀。第二天，中国外长把通话归因于“只是台湾方面搞的一个小动作”，中国现在可能正在想办法在这件事上惩罚蔡英文。如果惩罚发生的话，候任总统会站出来支持台湾吗？这是那些反对把通话一事公开的人的真正担忧之一。
What do you predict for United States-China-Taiwan relations in the coming years? When you were on the National Security Council, how was this issue managed, and has the nature of the issue evolved since then?	你对未来几年的美国—中国—台湾关系有什么预测？你在国家安全委员会时，怎样应付这个问题，这个问题的性质自那以后发生了什么演变？
It is difficult to see how Washington, Beijing and Taipei get to a good place on the Taiwan question in the next several years given the leaderships in each capital.	看看这几个地区首都城市的领导政府，便很难看出华盛顿、北京和台北在未来几年里，如何能在台湾问题上理出头绪。
In my own experience working in the White House during the Chen Shui-bian era, tension in the Taiwan Strait sucked up a lot of the oxygen in the U.S.-China relationship. When tension over Taiwan is at the forefront of U.S.-China relations, it can consume our agenda in a way that prevents us from achieving other important policy objectives, such as making progress on the increasingly dangerous North Korea nuclear issue.	就我本人在陈水扁时代的白宫工作经验而言，台湾海峡的紧张局势消耗了美中关系的许多精力。当台湾紧张局势是美中关系的主要问题时，这个问题可能会占据我们的议程，阻碍我们实现其他重要的政策目标，比如，在朝鲜核危险日益增长的问题上取得进展。
What has been the reaction from your Chinese associates after both Mr. Trump's win in the election and the Trump-Tsai phone call?	你的中国同事对特朗普的当选、以及特朗普与蔡英文通电话有什么反应？
Many Chinese I know had concluded during the campaign that Trump	许多我认识的中国人在总统大选期间已得出结论，特朗普的当选对中国有好

would be good for China because he would be a transactional and pragmatic leader. Unlike Secretary Clinton, he might not inject human rights and values in the relationship. Chinese assumed based on his campaign rhetoric that Trump would retreat from Asia, place less emphasis on U.S. alliance commitments and therefore put less strategic pressure on China.	处，因为他将是一个做交易和务实的领导人。与克林顿国务卿不同，他可能不会在中美关系中注入人权和价值观。中国人以他的竞选口号为基础做的假设是，特朗普会从亚洲退出，降低美国对联盟承诺的重视程度，从而减少对中国的战略压力。
The Trump-Tsai call was a reality check. The most common reaction I have heard in Beijing is a Chinese saying: to give up one's illusions. It's increasingly apparent in China that the Trump administration's vision for the Asia-Pacific will likely mean more strategic pressure, not less. This has been signaled not just on the Taiwan issue, but also in the South China Sea, with Trump's advisers promising to rebuild the U.S. Navy and repeal defense sequestration, and on North Korea, where Trump has expressed intention to further pressure China in order to make progress on dealing with the nuclear issue.	特朗普与蔡英文通话是对这种假设的一个实际检验。我在北京最常听到的一种反应是一个中国说法：丢掉幻想。在中国看来，已越来越明显的是，特朗普政府对亚太地区的愿景，可能意味着更大的战略压力，而不是更小。这不仅表现在台湾问题上已经发出的信号，而且在南海问题上的压力也会更大，因为特朗普的顾问已承诺要重新加强美国海军的建设，废除国防预算的自动减赤，在朝鲜问题上也一样，特朗普已表示，为了在处理核武器问题上取得进展，要进一步对中国施压。
In the next four years, what do you see as the biggest potential areas of both tension and cooperation in the United States-China relationship?	在未来的四年中，你认为中美关系最有可能在哪些方面形成紧张局势或达成合作？
In my perspective, North Korea is the clearest threat we face in the Asia-Pacific region in the near term. The threat assessment has changed in the past year or two, and there is a growing consensus that this issue will need to be addressed under the next administration through a redoubling of deterrence measures, sanctions and diplomacy. It will be important for the Trump administration to explore whether we can work effectively with China on this issue. If China is unwilling to take necessary steps, the U.S. may need to move forward	从我的角度来看，朝鲜是我们近期在亚太地区所面临的最明显的威胁。在过去一两年里，对这种威胁的评估已经发生了变化。越来越多人的共识是，这个问题需要下届政府通过加倍的威慑、制裁措施以及外交手段加以解决。对特朗普政府来说，我们是否能够探索在这个问题上与中国有效地合作很重要。如果中国不愿采取必要步骤的话，美国可能需要采取单边行动，同时与盟国一起采取更强有力的制裁措施，并加强该地区的导弹防御系统。

unilaterally and with allies to put in place more robust sanctions and to strengthen missile defense systems in the region.
This question is connected to how we assess the Trump-Tsai phone call. If we consider dealing with the threat of North Korean or Iranian nuclear proliferation as top national security threats facing the United States, we need to account for whether or not China's cooperation would be important in achieving those objectives as we outline our strategy in Asia. In that context, it's hard to understand how it would make strategic sense that the Tsai call would be the first thing the Trump administration would seek to do as it builds a strategy that is tied to broader U.S. regional interests and objectives.	这个问题与我们如何评估特朗普与蔡英文通话有关。如果我们把对付朝鲜或伊朗核扩散的威胁作为美国面临的最大的国家安全威胁的话，那在勾画我们亚洲战略的同时，我们还需要考虑与中国的合作对实现这些目标是否重要。从这个出发点来看，很难理解与蔡英文的通话，会是特朗普政府寻求做的第一件事，这在战略上说不通。特朗普政府应该建立一种与更广泛的美国区域利益和目标相关的战略。
What advice would you give Trump on how to handle the relationship?	在处理美中关系上你对特朗普有什么建议？
While we need to compete with China and deal firmly in areas where we disagree or feel that U.S. interests are being undermined, there are many issues in the world tied to U.S. interests that come back to whether or not the U.S. and China can work together.	虽然我们需要与中国竞争，并且坚定地要处理我们意见不同或认为美国利益受到破坏的领域。但是，世界上有许多与美国利益联系在一起的问题，都会回归到美国与中国是否可以合作的议题上来。
From that standpoint, it will be very important for President-elect Trump to meet early on with the Chinese leader, Xi Jinping, and to build a personal relationship with him.	从这个立场出发，候任总统特朗普尽早与中国领导人习近平会面，并与习近平建立个人关系，将变得非常重要。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20161208/donald-trump-taiwan-call-paul-haenle	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20161208/donald-trump-taiwan-call-paul-haenle
Terry Branstad, Iowa Governor, Is Trump's Pick as China Ambassador	特朗普选定习近平的“老朋友”任驻华大使
WASHINGTON — Terry Branstad, the Iowa governor who has long embraced China as a market for his state's pork and soybeans, was tapped Wednesday by President-elect Donald J. Trump to represent the	华盛顿——周三，长期把中国作为本州猪肉和大豆市场的艾奥瓦州州长特里·布兰斯塔德(Terry Branstad)被候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)选定为驻华大使，在一个最复杂且争议越来越多的外交关系中代表

United States in one of its most complex and increasingly contentious foreign relationships, as his ambassador to China.	美国。
In choosing Mr. Branstad, 70, an amiable politician who likes to describe President Xi Jinping of China as an "old friend," Mr. Trump sounded a softer note alongside his unrelenting criticism of China's economic relationship with the United States.	70 岁的布兰斯塔德是一名和蔼的政界人物，喜欢说中国国家主席习近平是“老朋友”。通过选择布兰斯塔德，严厉指责中美经济关系的特朗普缓和了语气。
At an event on Wednesday morning at Cipriani restaurant in Manhattan to raise money for his inauguration, Mr. Trump told the audience that Mr. Branstad was a great choice. "He knows them all," Mr. Trump said three separate times, according to an attendee. The selection was first reported by Bloomberg News.	周三上午在曼哈顿奇普里亚尼(Cipriani)餐厅的一场为就职筹集资金的活动上，特朗普对现场人士表示，布兰斯塔德是最佳人选。据一名出席者称，特朗普分别说了三次“他认识他们所有人”。彭博新闻社(Bloomberg News)最先报道了布兰斯塔德被选中的消息。
China was quick to embrace Mr. Trump's choice. At a regular news briefing in Beijing on Wednesday, Lu Kang, a spokesman for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, described Mr. Branstad as "an old friend of the Chinese people," a phrase used to describe politicians trusted by Beijing. "We would welcome him playing a bigger role in promoting Sino-American relations," Mr. Lu said of Mr. Branstad.	中国很快对特朗普的选择表示欢迎。周三当天，在北京的一场例行记者会上，中国外交部发言人陆慷称布兰斯塔德是“中国人民的老朋友”。这是一个用来形容受到北京信任的政治人物的说法。“我们欢迎他为促进中美关系发挥更大作用，”陆慷在说到布兰斯塔德时表示。
As ambassador, Mr. Branstad would find himself in the middle of an increasingly fraught relationship. Mr. Trump campaigned against China, repeatedly describing Chinese imports to the United States as a form of theft. He has proposed a steep tariff on those imports and promised to seek vigorous enforcement of trade rules, such as restrictions on state support for private companies.	担任大使后，布兰斯塔德会发现自己面临的是一种越来越令人担忧的关系。特朗普四处针对中国，多次称中国对美国的出口是一种盗窃。他还提议对那些进口货物征收高额关税，并承诺加大贸易规则实施力度，如限制州政府对私人公司的扶持。
The selection also comes just days after Mr. Trump spoke with Taiwan's president by phone, prompting criticism from Beijing, which regards	就在选择布兰斯塔德的几天前，特朗普同台湾总统通话，引发北京的指责。后者视台湾为一个分裂出去的省份。之后，特朗普在 Twitter 上发布两条推

Taiwan as a breakaway province. Mr. Trump then defended the call in a pair of Twitter messages criticizing China for its trade practices and provocative moves in the South China Sea.	文为通话辩护，指责中国在贸易上的做法和在南海的挑衅举动。
Mr. Branstad is unusual in that he would have personal relationships with the leaders of both countries. Like many of the president-elect's choices for senior positions in his administration, the governor was an early and unwavering supporter of Mr. Trump's candidacy. One of the governor's sons, Eric, ran the Trump campaign in Iowa. Another son, Marcus, has gone hunting with Mr. Trump's eldest son, Donald Jr.	布兰斯塔德的与众不同之处在于，他与两国的领导人都建立了私人关系。与这位候任总统为政府里很多重要职位指定的人选一样，布兰斯塔德很早就是特朗普竞选的坚定支持者。他的儿子埃里克(Eric)是特朗普在艾奥瓦州的竞选负责人。另一个儿子马库斯(Marcus)和特朗普的长子小唐纳德(Donald Jr.)一起打猎。
Robert Hormats, a former under secretary of state in the Obama administration and now a vice chairman of Kissinger Associates, praised the choice.	曾在奥巴马政府担任副国务卿，现在是基辛格事务所(Kissinger Associates)副主席的罗伯特·霍马茨(Robert Hormats)对这一选择表示了赞赏。
"It's a good pick because he knows President Xi, he can represent the heartland of the United States, which I think is very positive, and the fact that President Xi has been in his state twice is a very positive thing," Mr. Hormats said Wednesday in China. "It creates a personal relationship that is very hard to replicate."	"选得好，因为他认识习近平主席，又能够代表美国的中心区域，我认为这非常有利，而且习主席两次到访他领导的州这个事实也是非常有利的，"霍马茨周三在中国表示。"这造就了一种难以复制的私交。"
Mr. Branstad, an Iowa native, graduated from the University of Iowa and then served briefly in the Army — yielding a priceless story about his role in arresting Jane Fonda for trespassing at Fort Bragg.	布兰斯塔德是土生土长的艾奥瓦州人。从艾奥瓦大学(University of Iowa)毕业后，他曾在美国陆军短暂服役——期间发生了一件趣事，是关于他在逮捕擅闯布拉格堡(Fort Bragg)的简·方达(Jane Fonda)事件中所发挥的作用的。
A lawyer by training, he entered the Iowa Legislature in 1973 and won election as governor in 1983. He served until 1999, then returned to office in 2011. In between, he was president of Des Moines University.	接受过律师训练的他1973年进入艾奥瓦州议会(Iowa Legislature)，并于1983年赢得州长选举。他担任州长一职直到1999年。2011年，他再次上台。在这中间，他在得梅因大学(Des Moines University)担任校长。
Mr. Branstad first met Mr. Xi in 1985, when as the first-term governor of	布兰斯塔德和习近平的第一次见面发生在1985年。当时，在第一届州长任

Iowa he hosted a Chinese delegation that came to study American agricultural practices. The delegation included a 31-year-old official from rural Hebei Province, Mr. Xi.	期内的他接待了一个来考察美国农业的中国代表团。来自河北省农村的 31 岁官员习近平便是代表团成员之一。
Mr. Xi has fondly recalled that visit. He stayed in Muscatine, a small city in the eastern part of the state, where he was hosted by a couple and slept in their boys' vacated bedroom, filled with "Star Trek" action figures. In early 2012, Mr. Xi briefly revisited Muscatine as vice president while preparing for his promotion to Communist Party leader later that year. He became the president in 2013.	习近平曾深情地回忆起那次访问。他住在该州东部的小城马斯卡廷。在那里，一对夫妇招待了他，让他睡在儿子腾出来的卧室里，房间里摆满了《星际迷航》(Star Trek)的人形公仔。2012 年初，习近平在为当年晚些时候晋升为共产党领导人做准备期间，曾经重回马斯卡廷做短暂停留。2013 年，习近平成为中国国家主席。
"You can't even imagine what a deep impression I had from my visit 27 years ago to Muscatine, because you were the first group of Americans that I came into contact with," he told a group that included Mr. Branstad during his visit there. "My impression of the country came from you. For me, you are America."	"你们无法想像 27 年前的马斯卡廷之旅给我的印象有多么深刻，因为你们是我接触到的第一批美国人，"习近平再次访问马斯卡廷期间对包括布兰斯塔德在内的一群人说道。"所以我对这个国家的印象来自于你们。对于我来说，你们就是美国。"
During his second stay in the governor's mansion, Mr. Branstad has aggressively courted China as a market for Iowa's produce. He has said little in public about the tensions over territorial disputes, North Korea's nuclear weapons, and human rights restrictions in China that have shaped relations at the national level.	在习近平第二次到访州长官邸期间，布兰斯塔德极力想把中国变成艾奥瓦州的农产品市场。他几乎未在公开场合谈论过围绕领土争端而起的紧张关系、朝鲜的核武器，以及中国对人权的限制。这些问题在国家层面影响着两国的关系。
He has visited China several times, most recently on a trade mission in November.	他数次访问中国，最近一次是 11 月参加一个贸易代表团。
Iowa, like the rest of the United States, runs a trade deficit with China. The Chinese buy food from the United States, including Iowa's corn and pork. But Americans buy far more from China — a range of goods that can be surveyed at Walmart.	和美国其他地方一样，艾奥瓦州和中国存在贸易逆差。中国从美国购买食物，包括艾奥瓦州的玉米和猪肉。但美国从中国购买的东西要多得多——范围之广，在沃尔玛(Walmart)看看就知道了。

The United States imported $483 billion in goods and services from China last year, while exporting $116 billion to China. The numbers are similar this year.	美国去年从中国进口了 4830 亿美元（约合 3.3 万亿元人民币）的商品和服务，而出口至中国的商品和服务仅价值 1160 亿美元。今年的数字也类似。
As governor, Mr. Branstad has sought to increase American exports without criticizing Chinese imports, the standard Republican Party line before Mr. Trump's ascendance.	作为州长，布兰斯塔德试图在不指责中国进口的情况下扩大美国的出口。在特朗普得势前，这是共和党的标准方式。
"I am excited to catch up with our old friend, Xi Jinping," Mr. Branstad said during a trade mission to China in 2013, which included a meeting with the new Chinese president. "The value of this relationship cannot be overstated. As a result, Iowa is the preferred provider to feed China's growing population and our agriculture exports to China continue to grow."	"我对于和我们的老朋友习近平叙旧感到很兴奋，"布兰斯塔德在 2013 年随一个贸易代表团访问中国期间说。那次访问的内容包括与新上台的中国主席会面。"这种关系的价值不可估量。因此，艾奥瓦州是为中国日渐增加的人口提供食物的优先供应商，我们对中国的农产品出口持续增长。"
Mr. Trump has taken a very different line on that relationship. He has said repeatedly that China is suppressing the value of its currency, an outdated accusation. In recent years, China has intervened in exchange markets to prop up the value of its currency, manipulation that tends to benefit American exporters.	在对华关系上，特朗普的态度大为不同。他多次称中国压低其货币的价值，但这个指控已经不再符合事实。近年来，中国为支撑其货币的价值而干预外汇市场，这种操纵往往有利于美国出口商。
If Mr. Branstad is confirmed by the Senate, Iowa would get its first female governor. Lt. Gov. Kim Reynolds, 57, would take Mr. Branstad's place.	如果布兰斯塔德的提名得到参议院的批准，艾奥瓦州将迎来首位女州长。57 岁的副州长金·雷诺兹(Kim Reynolds)将接替布兰斯塔德的职位。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20161208/terry-branstad-china-ambassador-trump	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20161208/terry-branstad-china-ambassador-trump
With Choice of Trade Negotiator, Trump Prepares to Confront Mexico and China	特朗普要美国制造，不要中国制造
WASHINGTON — President-elect Donald J. Trump on Tuesday named	华盛顿——候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)于周二任命一名长

as his chief trade negotiator a Washington lawyer who has long advocated protectionist policies, the latest sign that Mr. Trump intends to fulfill his campaign promise to get tough with China, Mexico and other trading partners.	期提倡保护主义政策的华盛顿律师担任自己的首席贸易谈判代表,这是特朗普决定履行自己竞选期间的承诺,以强硬姿态对待中国、墨西哥和其他贸易伙伴的最新迹象。
Mr. Trump also renewed his episodic campaign to convince American companies to expand domestic manufacturing, criticizing General Motors via Twitter on Tuesday morning for making in Mexico some of the Chevrolet Cruze hatchbacks it sells domestically. Hours later, Mr. Trump claimed credit after Ford said it would expand vehicle production in Flat Rock, Mich.	特朗普还再次发起了一场时断时续的行动:说服美国公司扩大国内制造,他周二上午通过 Twitter 批评通用汽车(General Motors)在墨西哥制造若干在国内销售的雪佛兰科鲁兹掀背车。几小时后,特朗普称,由于他的努力,福特公司表示将扩大在密歇根州弗拉特罗克的汽车生产。
The choice of Robert Lighthizer to be the United States' trade representative nearly completes Mr. Trump's selection of top economic advisers and, taken together with the president-elect's running commentary on Twitter, underscores Mr. Trump's focus on making things in America. That is causing unease among some Republicans who regard Mr. Trump's views on trade as dangerously retrograde, even as they embrace the bulk of his economic agenda.	选择罗伯特·莱特希泽(Robert Lighthizer)作为美国贸易代表后,特朗普挑选高级经济顾问的工作已经接近完成,这个人选与候任总统在 Twitter 上的评论综合在一起,强调了特朗普对发展美国制造的关注。这使一些共和党人感到不安,虽然他们接受特朗普的大部分经济议程,但认为他对贸易的看法是危险的倒退。
Mainstream economists warn that protectionist policies like import taxes could impose higher prices on consumers and slow economic growth.	主流经济学家警告说,进口税等保护主义政策可能会令消费者承担更高的价格,减缓经济增长。
But some Democrats are signaling a readiness to support Mr. Trump. Nine House Democrats held a news conference Tuesday with the A.F.L.-C.I.O. president, Richard Trumka, to urge renegotiation of the North American Free Trade Agreement with Mexico and Canada.	但是一些民主党人表示愿意支持特朗普。九位众议院民主党议员周二与美国劳工联合会-产业工会联合会(American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations, 简称 AFL-CIO)主席理查德·特拉姆卡(Richard Trumka)举办了联合新闻发布会,敦促与墨西哥和加拿大就北美自由贸易协定(North American Free Trade Agreement)重新展开谈判。

"We wanted him to know that we'll work with him on doing that," Mr. Trumka said. "I don't think he has enough Republican support to do it, and rewriting the rules of trade is a necessary first step in righting the economy for working people."	"我们希望他知道，我们会和他一起努力完成这项工作，"特拉姆卡说。"我认为他没有得到足够的共和党支持来进行这项工作，重写贸易规则是令经济有利于劳动人民的第一步。"
Mr. Trump and his top advisers on trade, including Mr. Lighthizer, share a view that the United States in recent decades prioritized the ideal of free trade over its own self-interest. They argue that other countries are undermining America's industrial base by subsidizing their own export industries while impeding American importers. They regard this unfair competition as a key reason for the lackluster growth of the economy.	特朗普和他的高级贸易顾问，包括莱特希泽在内，都认为美国近几十年来让自由贸易的理想凌驾于自身利益之上。他们认为，其他国家正在补贴自己的出口行业，阻碍美国进口商，从而破坏美国的工业基础。他们认为这种不公平竞争是经济增长乏力的关键原因。
In picking Mr. Lighthizer, who has spent much of the last few decades representing American steel producers in their frequent litigation of trade disputes, Mr. Trump is seeking to hire one of Washington's top trade lawyers to enforce international trade agreements more vigorously. He must be confirmed by the Senate.	莱特希泽在过去十几年里代表美国钢铁生产商进行频繁的贸易纠纷诉讼，特朗普希望雇佣一个华盛顿的顶级贸易律师，从而更加有力地执行国际贸易协议，因此选择了他。他的任命必须得到参议院确认。
"He will do an amazing job helping turn around the failed trade policies which have robbed so many Americans of prosperity," Mr. Trump said in a statement.	"他将会出色地帮助我们扭转失败的贸易政策，这些政策从众多美国人手中抢走了富足的生活，"特朗普在一份声明中说。
Mainstream Republicans have sought common ground with Mr. Trump, emphasizing, for example, the importance of enforcing trade rules, but they have not abandoned the party's longtime advocacy for trade. Senator Orrin Hatch of Utah, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, which will hold hearings on Mr. Lighthizer's nomination, issued a cautiously supportive statement Tuesday.	主流共和党人与特朗普找到了一些共同点，比如说，他们都强调执行贸易规则的重要性，但他们没有放弃该党长期以来对贸易的倡导。周二，即将主持莱特希泽提名听证会的参议院财政委员会主席，犹他州参议员奥文·哈奇 (Howin Hatch)发表了谨慎的支持声明。
"As the world and our economic competitors move to expand their	"随着世界和我们的经济竞争对手纷纷在全球扩张，为了获得有利的待遇，

global footprints, we can't afford to be left behind in securing strong deals that will increase our access to new markets for American-made products and services," Mr. Hatch said in a statement. "I look forward to a vigorous discussion of Bob's trade philosophy and priorities."	为美国制造的产品与服务谋取新市场,我们不能落后,"哈奇在声明中说。"我期待着对鲍勃的贸易哲学和优先事项进行积极的讨论。"
Mr. Trump has named a number of advisers on trade, leaving some ambiguity about the division of responsibilities. The president-elect named the economist Peter Navarro, an outspoken critic of China, to lead a new White House office overseeing trade and industrial policy. Mr. Trump also said Wilbur Ross, the billionaire investor and choice for commerce secretary, will play a key role. Mr. Lighthizer, however, is the only member of the triumvirate with government experience.	特朗普已经提名了一些贸易顾问,在职责划分方面留下了一些模棱两可的地带。候任总统提名了严厉斥责中国的经济学家彼得·纳瓦罗(Peter Navarro)领导白宫的一个监督贸易和工业政策的新办公室。特朗普还说,作为亿万富翁的投资者、商务部长人选威尔伯·罗斯(Wilbur Ross)将发挥关键作用。然而,莱特希泽是这三人小组中唯一有政府工作经验的一位。
"Those who say U.S.T.R. will be subordinated to other agencies are mistaken," said Alan Wolff, another former senior American trade official who was the steel industry's co-counsel on trade with Mr. Lighthizer for nearly 20 years, citing Mr. Lighthizer's encyclopedic knowledge of trade law. "He'll be a dominant figure on trade, in harmony with Wilbur Ross and Navarro."	"那些说美国贸易代表办公室(Office of the United States Trade Representative)将会从属于其他机构的说法都是错的,"前任美国高级贸易官员艾伦·伍尔夫(Alan Wolff)说,他曾与莱特希泽共同为钢铁行业担任了将近20年的贸易顾问,他说莱特希泽对贸易法无所不知。"他将成为贸易的主导人物,与威尔伯·罗斯和纳瓦罗和谐共处。"
There is also an ideological divide between the people Mr. Trump has named to oversee trade policy and his broader circle of advisers, which is populated by longstanding trade advocates like Gary D. Cohn, president of Goldman Sachs, who will lead the National Economic Council; Rex W. Tillerson, the chief executive of Exxon Mobil, tapped for secretary of state; and Gov. Terry Branstad of Iowa, Mr. Trump's choice for ambassador to China.	受特朗普委派负责监督贸易政策的人,与他的整个顾问团队当中的一些成员还存在着意识形态分歧,其中包括几位长期的贸易倡导者,如即将领导国家经济委员会(National Economic Council)的高盛集团总裁加里·D·科恩(Gary D. Cohn);他提名出任国务卿的埃克森美孚公司(Exxon Mobil)首席执行官雷克斯·W·蒂尔森(Rex W. Tillerson);以及被他选为驻华大使的特里·布兰斯塔德(Terry Branstad)。
Proponents of trade hope the broader circle, and congressional	自由贸易支持者希望这个更宽泛的圈子以及国会中的共和党议员能够起到

Republicans, will exert a moderating influence.	缓冲作用。
"You're seeing a pretty clear indication that there will be a focus on the enforcement of our trade agreements and on the letter of the law," said Scott Lincicome, an international trade lawyer at White & Case. "But that doesn't necessarily mean a significant turn toward protectionism. Even free trade guys like me support enforcement."	"我们看到了相当清晰的迹象：重心将被放在我们那些贸易协议的履行以及法律条文上，"伟凯律师事务所(White & Case)的国际贸易律师斯科特·林西科姆(Scott Lincicome)说。"但这并不一定意味着会出现通往保护主义的重大转向。就连我这样的拥护自由贸易的人也支持加强执法。"
Trade opponents on the left and the right, meanwhile, are hoping Mr. Trump means to break with several decades of pro-trade policy.	与此同时，左翼和右翼的自由贸易反对者都希望，特朗普的确是想抛开已经实施了几十年的贸易促进政策。
"There's going to be a war within the Trump administration on where they go with trade, and we're hoping to energize the worker base he had to make sure they go in the right direction to benefit the American worker," Mr. Trumka said.	"引领贸易走向何方的问题，会在特朗普政府内部引发一场战争。我们预计，为了激励工人选民，他必须确保他们朝着正确的方向前进，以惠及美国工人，"特拉姆卡说。
Mr. Trump's promise to immediately designate China as a currency manipulator may offer an early test of the administration's intentions. Economists see no evidence China is suppressing the value of its currency, although it has done so in the past. Mr. Lincicome said officially labeling China a currency manipulator despite the lack of recent evidence would signal that the administration is taking a hard line on trade issues.	特朗普做出的立即把中国划定为汇率操纵国的承诺，或许是一块供我们及早测试特朗普政府意图的试金石。经济学家没有发现中国正在压低本国货币价值的证据，尽管它以前这样做过。林西科姆说，如果在缺乏近期证据的情况下正式给中国贴上汇率操纵国的标签，意味着特朗普会就贸易问题采取强硬立场。
A broader shift in trade policy would unfold more slowly. Mr. Trump has promised to renegotiate Nafta; the original process took most of three years. He has promised to pursue enforcement actions against other nations, but it takes time to mount cases. He has threatened to impose new tariffs on imports, but sweeping changes most likely would require congressional legislation.	整体上的贸易政策转型将会更缓慢一些。特朗普承诺要重新就《北美自由贸易协定》进行谈判；但原来的协定用了差不多三年才谈成。他承诺要对其他国家采取执法行动，但处理案件需要时间。他扬言要制定新的进口关税税率，但彻底的改变很可能需要国会立法才行。

Mr. Trump already is seeking to exert influence by seizing the presidential bullhorn.	特朗普已然在通过紧握总统扩音器竭力施加影响了。
"General Motors is sending Mexican made model of Chevy Cruze to U.S. car dealers-tax free across border," he wrote Tuesday on Twitter. "Make in U.S.A. or pay big border tax!"	"通用汽车正把在墨西哥生产的雪佛兰科鲁兹送到边境线另一边的美国汽车经销商手中，不用交税，"他于周二在 Twitter 上写道。"要么在美国生产，要么交一大笔边境税！"
General Motors announced in 2015 that it would make the Cruze in Coahuila, Mexico. American manufacturers are moving small-car production to Mexico to take advantage of lower labor costs and because of declining domestic demand. They continue to build more expensive vehicles in the United States.	通用汽车于 2015 年宣布，将在墨西哥的科阿韦拉生产科鲁兹。美国生产商正把小汽车的生产转移到墨西哥，这样做是为了利用那里人力成本低廉的优势，同时也是基于国内不断下降的需求作出的调整。
Ford's announcement Tuesday does not reverse that trend. The carmaker said it still planned to move production of the compact Ford Focus from Michigan to Mexico. But it said it would invest in a different Michigan plant to expand production of higher-priced vehicles, including its F-150 pickup truck and the Mustang sports car, as well as a new battery-powered sport utility vehicle.	福特周二发布的消息并未让该趋势出现逆转。这家汽车生产商说，它依然打算把福克斯(Focus)紧凑型轿车的生产从密歇根州转移到墨西哥。但它表示，将在密歇根州新建一个工厂，扩大高价汽车的生产，包括它的 F-150 皮卡和野马(Mustang)跑车，以及一种新推出的电池动力运动型多用途车。
"We are encouraged by the pro-growth policies that President-elect Trump and the new Congress have indicated they will pursue," said the company's chief executive, Mark Fields.	"候任总统特朗普以及新国会表示，他们将推行促进经济增长的政策，这让我们受到了鼓舞，"该公司的首席执行官马克·菲尔茨(Mark Fields)说。
Mr. Lighthizer served as deputy United States trade representative in the Ronald Reagan administration, when he was involved in pressing Japan to reduce its restrictions on American imports and its subsidies for its own exports. Mr. Trump has criticized China for similar practices, setting the stage for a new round of confrontations.	莱特希泽在罗纳德·里根(Ronald Reagan)政府担任过美国副贸易代表，他曾和其他人一道向日本施压，敦促其减少对源自美国的进口商品的限制以及对本国出口商品的补贴。特朗普已经对行事方式与当年的日本类似的中国提出了批评，从而为新一轮对峙铺平了道路。
Reagan is often remembered as an advocate for free trade, but his	在人们的记忆中，里根通常以自由贸易倡导者的形象出现，但他的政府在上

administration in its early hours imposed a quota on Japanese auto imports. It was the first in a long series of measures aimed at putting pressure on the nation that was then regarded, like China in recent years, as a threat to American prosperity.	台初期曾对进口自日本的汽车实施配额制。想当初，日本像近年来的中国一样，被认为威胁到了美国的繁荣昌盛，因此美国采取了一长串旨在向其施压的举措，进口汽车配额制是其中第一项。
"President Reagan's pragmatism contrasted strongly with the utopian dreams of free traders," Mr. Lighthizer wrote in a 2008 piece criticizing Senator John McCain, Republican of Arizona, for embracing "unbridled" free trade. Conservatives, he argued, "always understood that trade policy was merely a tool for building a strong and independent country with a prosperous middle class."	"里根总统的实用主义和自由贸易倡导者的乌托邦梦想形成了强烈反差，"莱特希泽在2008年的一篇批评亚利桑那州共和党参议员约翰·麦凯恩(John McCain)支持"无节制的"自由贸易的文章中写道。他认为，保守派人士"一直都明白，贸易政策仅仅是一种工具，旨在建设一个有着富足中产阶级的强大而独立的国家。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170104/trump-robert-lighthizer-trade-mexico	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170104/trump-robert-lighthizer-trade-mexico
As Inauguration Nears, Trump Keeps World Leaders on Edge	特朗普的言论让全球领导人心烦意乱
He called NATO obsolete. He said Germany's acceptance of refugees is "utterly catastrophic." The decades-old One China policy embraced by the United States? That's up for discussion. Just days before Donald J. Trump's inauguration, world leaders on three continents are on edge after comments the president-elect made in an interview on Friday with The Wall Street Journal and in a weekend interview with two European newspapers, Bild and The Times of London.	他说北约过时了。他说德国接受难民"完全是灾难"。那么美国几十年来一直接受的"一个中国"政策呢？他说是可以谈判的。唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)数天之后就要就任了，而他在上周五接受《华尔街日报》(The Wall Street Journal)采访，在周末接受两家欧洲报纸《图片报》(Bild)和《泰晤士报》(The Times)采访时发表的评论，让三大洲的领导人心烦意乱。
NATO is 'obsolete'	北约"过时了"
"It's obsolete, first because it was designed many, many years ago," Mr. Trump said, according to the German newspaper Bild. The 28-member alliance, born in 1949, three years after Mr. Trump, is viewed by many — including his nominee for defense secretary, Gen. James N. Mattis — as	据德国《图片报》报道，特朗普说北约"已经过时了，首先因为它是很多、很多年前设计的"。这个28国组成的联盟诞生于1949年，当时特朗普才3岁。很多人都认为北约对美国的安全至关重要，其中也包括他提名的国防部长詹姆斯·N·马蒂斯(James N. Mattis)上将。 essential to American security.

"Secondly, countries aren't paying what they should" and NATO "didn't deal with terrorism."	"第二，这些国家没有承担相应的成本"，而且北约"没有打击恐怖主义"。
Responding on Monday to Mr. Trump's comments, Dalia Grybauskaite, the president of Lithuania, which gained its independence from the Soviet Union in 1991 and joined NATO in 2004, urged Mr. Trump to continue meeting the United States' financial obligations toward the alliance.	周一，立陶宛总统达利娅·格里布斯凯特(Dalia Grybauskaite)对特朗普的言论做出回应，敦促特朗普继续履行美国对北约的财政义务。立陶宛1991年从苏联独立，2004年加入了北约，
"Since World War II, the presence of U.S. troops has been a prerequisite for rebuilding the Continent, safeguarding peace and ensuring security. We expect continuity from the new U.S. administration. Trump must maintain this leadership role, to ensure security, stability and peace." — Ms. Grybauskaite	"自第二次世界大战以来，美军的存在是重建欧洲大陆、维护和平，以及确保安全的先决条件。我们期望新的美国政府保持这种做法。特朗普必须继续发挥领导力，以确保安全、稳定与和平。"——格里布斯凯特。
'The force of Europeans is in their unity'	"欧洲人的力量在于团结"
Mr. Trump also criticized the European Union, describing it as "basically a vehicle for Germany." He praised Britain for its vote to leave the bloc, known as Brexit, adding: "I believe others will leave. I do think keeping it together is not going to be as easy as a lot of people think."	特朗普还批评了欧盟，称其为"基本上是德国的载体"。他称赞英国投票离开欧盟，说："我相信其他成员国也会离开。我认为维持这个联盟不像很多人想的那么容易。"
"I think that we Europeans have our destiny in our own hands, and I would very strongly argue that we all stand together." — Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany, about the 27 European Union members that will remain after Britain's departure	"我认为，我们欧洲人把命运掌握在自己手中，我会非常坚决地说，我们全都站在一起。"——谈及27个欧盟成员国将在英国离开后留下来时，德国总理默克尔表示道。
French leaders also bristled at Mr. Trump's swipe against the bloc. Their response comes as they deal with growing domestic support for the anti-European Union and anti-immigrant party National Front, led by	法国领导人也抨击了特朗普对欧盟的批评。目前法国国内对反欧盟、反移民的政党国民阵线(National Front)的支持日益高涨，法国领导人正在应对这种状况。国民阵线领袖马琳·勒庞(Marine Le Pen)上周四曾在纽约特朗普大厦

Marine Le Pen, who was spotted on Thursday at Trump Tower in New York.	现身。
"The best response," said the French foreign minister, Jean-Marc Ayrault, "is European unity."	法国外交部长让-马克·埃罗(Jean-Marc Ayrault)说：“最好的回应就是欧洲的团结。”
"As with the case of Brexit, the best way to defend Europe is to remain united. This is a bit of an invitation that we are making to Mr. Trump. To remain a bloc. Not to forget that the force of Europeans is in their unity." – Mr. Ayrault	“与应对英国脱欧的时候一样，捍卫欧洲的最好办法是保持团结。这是我们对特朗普的号召。要维持联盟。不要忘记，欧洲人的力量在于团结。”——埃罗。
China will 'take off the gloves'	中国将“强硬起来”
In the interview with The Journal, Mr. Trump said the One China policy was up for negotiation. Beijing responded quickly and decisively.	在接受《华尔街日报》采访时，特朗普说，“一个中国”的政策可以谈判。对此，北京迅速果断地作出了回应。
Its Foreign Ministry called the policy, which recognizes Beijing as the sole Chinese government, the foundation of China-United States ties, and it said it was nonnegotiable. People's Daily, the mouthpiece of the governing Communist Party, said Mr. Trump "has been stunningly confident in his ostensible knowledge of the job, though he speaks like a rookie."	中国外交部称，承认北京是中国唯一的政府是中美关系的基础，“一个中国”政策不可谈判。执政党共产党的喉舌《人民日报》说，特朗普在这件事上“对自己掌握的表面知识充满自信，但他说话却太嫩”。
An unusually strongly worded editorial in the state-run China Daily said on Monday that Mr. Trump was "playing with fire with his Taiwan game."	官方报纸《中国日报》本周一发表了一篇措辞激烈的社论，说特朗普“在台湾问题上玩火”。
"If Trump is determined to use this gambit on taking office, a period of fierce, damaging interactions will be unavoidable, as Beijing will have no choice but to take off the gloves," the newspaper said.	“如果特朗普决意在上任后使用这种赌注，那么不可避免就会出现一场激烈的、破坏性的互动，因为北京将别无选择，只能强硬起来。”
A spokeswoman for the Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs warned Mr. Trump on Monday that any effort to undermine the policy could	中国外交部一位发言人本周一警告特朗普，任何破坏“一个中国”政策的努力都可能会适得其反。 backfire.

"If anyone attempts to damage the One China principle, or if they are under the illusion they can use this as a bargaining chip, they will be opposed by the Chinese government and people. In the end, it will be like lifting a rock to drop it on one's own feet." — Hua Chunying, the spokeswoman	"无论是谁或出于什么目的，如果试图破坏一个中国原则，或者幻想将此作为交易筹码，必将遭到中国政府和人民以及国际社会的坚决反对，最后只能是搬起石头砸自己的脚。"——外交部发言人华春莹。
Mexico warns against punitive tariffs	墨西哥对惩罚性关税作出警告
Mr. Trump also took aim at German automakers, warning of a 35 percent tariff on any cars they build in Mexico and export to the United States.	特朗普还把矛头指向了德国汽车制造商，警告他们说，在墨西哥制造并出口到美国的任何汽车都会被收取 35% 的关税。
Shares of BMW, Volkswagen and Daimler fell on Monday after his comments, but BMW said the company would stick to its plans to open a plant in Mexico in 2019.	他发表这番言论之后，宝马、大众和戴姆勒公司的股价本周一应声下挫，但宝马说，该公司将坚持原定计划，2019 年在墨西哥开设一家工厂。
"It's very clear that we have to be prepared to immediately be able to neutralize the impact of a measure of that nature," Ildefonso Guajardo Villarreal, Mexico's economy minister, said on Friday on a Mexican news show.	墨西哥经济部长伊尔德方索·瓜哈尔多·比利亚雷亚尔(Ildefonso Guajardo Villarreal)周五在墨西哥的一档新闻节目上说，“很明显，我们必须做好准备，随时消除这种性质的影响。”
"It would be a problem for the entire world," Mr. Guajardo Villarreal warned.	"这对全世界都是一个问题，"瓜哈尔多·比利亚雷亚尔警告说。
Such a tariff "will have a wave of impacts that can take us into a global recession," he said.	这种关税"将产生一波影响，导致全球性的衰退"，他说。
And from Russia, a nod	来自俄罗斯的首肯
Not surprisingly, Russian diplomats were unperturbed by Mr. Trump's comments on NATO. They welcomed the "obsolete" label and were enthusiastic at his suggestion that he would consider reducing	毫不奇怪，特朗普对北约的评论并没有让俄罗斯外交官感到困扰。他们欢迎“过时的”这个说法，并对他的一个建议表示了兴趣。该建议是，如果俄罗斯同意削减核武库，他将考虑减少对俄罗斯的制裁。 sanctions against Russia if the country agreed to reduce its nuclear arsenal.

Dmitri S. Peskov, a spokesman for President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia, said on Monday that "NATO is indeed a vestige," according to Radio Free Europe.	自由欧洲电台(Radio Free Europe)称，俄罗斯总统普京的发言人德米特里·S·佩斯科夫(Dmitri S.Peskov)周一表示，“北约确实是一个历史遗迹。”
Considering that NATO "is focused on confrontation and its entire structure is devoted to the ideals of confrontation, then, of course, this can hardly be called a modern structure meeting the ideas of stability, sustainable development and security." – Mr. Peskov	鉴于北约“把重心放在对抗上，整个结构都围绕着对抗思维展开，它当然不是一种以稳定、可持续发展和安全为导向的现代组织”。——佩斯科夫。
"Let's wait until he assumes office before we give assessment to any initiatives," he said.	“等到他上任之后，我们再评估任何倡议吧，”他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170117/donald-trump-world-leaders	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170117/donald-trump-world-leaders
How to Make America's Robots Great Again	习近平搞“机器人革命”，美国能跟上吗？
Factories play a central role in President Trump's parade of American horrors. In his telling, globalization has left our factories "shuttered," "rusted-out" and "scattered like tombstones across the landscape of our nation."	工厂在特朗普总统的一系列美国恐怖经历中占核心地位。用他的话来说，全球化导致我们的工厂“关闭”、“锈掉”，“像墓碑那样散落在我国各地”。
Here's what you might call an alternative fact: American factories still make a lot of stuff. In 2016, the United States hit a manufacturing record, producing more goods than ever. But you don't hear much gloating about this because manufacturers made all this stuff without a lot of people. Thanks to automation, we now make 85 percent more goods than we did in 1987, but with only two-thirds the number of workers.	不过，这里也许是另一种事实的情况：美国工厂仍然制造了很多东西。2016年，美国制造业创了一个纪录，生产了比以往任何时候都多的东西。但你没有听到很多关于这个纪录的沾沾自喜，因为制造商没有用很多人就生产出了所有这些东西。幸亏有了自动化，我们现在制造的产品数量比我们在1987年制造的增长了85%，但所用的工人数只有1987年的三分之二。
This suggests that while Mr. Trump can browbeat manufacturers into	这表明，虽然特朗普可以威逼制造商留在美国，但他不能强迫它们雇用很多

staying in America, he can't force them to hire many people. Instead, companies will most likely invest in lots and lots of robots.	的人。相反，企业很可能将投资大量的机器人。
And there's another wrinkle to this story: The robots won't be made in America. They might be made in China.	这个故事还有一个曲折：机器人将不是美国制造。它们也许是中国制造。
Industrial robots — which come in many shapes and perform a range of factory jobs, from huge, precisely controlled arms used to build cars to graceful machines that package delicate pastries — were invented in the United States. But in the last few years the Chinese government has spent billions to turn China into the world's robotic wonderland.	形状各异的工业机器人在完成着一系列的工厂工作，从用来装配汽车的、可以精确控制的巨大机械臂，到用来包装精美糕点的、小巧玲珑的机器，它们都是美国发明的。但在过去几年里，中国政府已经投资了数十亿美元，要把中国变成世界的机器人仙境。
In 2013, China became the world's largest market for industrial robots, according to the International Federation of Robotics, an industry trade group. Now China is working on another big goal: to become the largest producer of robots used for factories, agriculture and a range of other applications.	根据行业贸易组织国际机器人联合会(International Federation of Robotics)的数字，中国在2013年已成为世界上最大的工业机器人市场。如今，中国正朝着另一个大目标努力：成为用于工业、农业和一系列其他应用的机器人的最大生产商。
Robotics industry experts said that goal could be a decade away, but they see few impediments to China's eventual dominance.	机器人行业的专家说，这个目标可能还需要十年的时间，但他们几乎看不到能阻碍中国获得最终主导地位的东西。
"If you look at the comparisons in investment between China and the U.S., we're going to lose," said Henrik Christensen, director of the Contextual Robotics Institute at the University of California, San Diego. "The investments in China are billions and billions. I'm not seeing that investment in the U.S. And without that investment, we are going to lose. No doubt."	加州大学圣地亚哥分校与环境相关的机器人技术研究所(Contextual Robotics Institute)主任亨里克·克里斯坦森(Henrik Christensen)说，“如果你比较一下中国和美国在这方面的投资的话，你会看到我们一定输。中国的投资是以数十亿计的。我没有看到美国有这种规模的投资。没有这种投资，我们就将失败。毫无疑问。”
There's a way to address this problem, but it's politically perilous: The United States should invest in robots. Mark Cuban, the internet and sports entrepreneur (and Trump nemesis), recently called on the	有一个解决这个问题的办法，但它具有政治危险：那就是美国应该投资机器人。从事互联网和体育行业的企业家（也是特朗普的主要敌人）马克·库班(Mark Cuban)最近呼吁总统，为机器人技术提供1000亿美元的资金。行业

president to offer $100 billion in funding for robotics. Frank Tobe, the publisher and editor of a trade magazine called The Robot Report, said government investment was imperative.	杂志《机器人报告》(The Robot Report)的出版人兼主编弗兰克·托比(Frank Tobe)表示, 政府投资是当务之急。
"We better do something, or we're going to be behind the gun," he said. "We should be in the robot business, not just users of foreign robots."	"我们最好做点什么, 不然的话我们就落后了,"他说。"我们应该进入机器人行业, 而不仅仅是外国机器人的用户。"
If we don't, robot scholars said the president's plans for a resurgence in manufacturing could backfire. Today, we buy a lot of stuff made in China by Chinese people. Tomorrow, we'll buy stuff made in America – by Chinese robots.	如果我们不这么做, 研究机器人技术的学者说, 总统的制造业复苏计划可能会适得其反。今天, 我们买很多中国人在中国制造的东西。明天, 我们将买美国制造的东西, 但那是中国机器人制造的。
How China learned to love robots is instructive. For years, China's chief selling point was cheap labor. But over the last couple of decades, its population has gotten older and richer, and its workers' wages rose faster than the rate of economic growth. Chinese leaders worried that manufacturers would get priced out. In the same way that America lost manufacturing to China, Chinese manufacturers would lose work to India, Vietnam and other developing Asian economies.	中国是怎么学会爱机器人的对我们有启发性。多年来, 中国的主要卖点是廉价劳动力。但在过去几十年里, 中国的人口变老了, 也变得更富裕了, 中国工人的工资增长速度高于中国经济增长速度。中国领导人担心, 制造商会被高工资赶走。就像美国制造商的活儿被中国拿走那样, 中国制造商的活儿将被印度、越南和其他亚洲的发展中经济体拿走。
So the Chinese did what the Chinese do: They centrally planned a revival. Over a succession of five-year economic plans, the government pushed a series of manufacturing reforms. One of its central ideas is automation. Local governments have offered billions in subsidies for companies to buy and manufacture robots. The government has been especially interested in building robots that can be installed in China's car factories, which have been criticized for poor workmanship. Cars built by robots would not just save labor costs; the government also believes they can build better cars. In 2014, Xi Jinping, China's	所以中国人干了中国人做的事儿: 他们在中央层面计划了一个复兴。在接连几个五年经济计划中, 政府推出了一系列的制造行业改革。其中心思想之一就是自动化。地方政府为企业购买和制造机器人提供了数十亿的补贴。政府一直特别感兴趣的是可以用于中国汽车厂的机器人, 人们一直批评中国汽车厂的制造质量。用机器人来制造汽车, 不仅能节省人工成本, 政府还认为, 它们能制造出更好的汽车来。2014年, 中国国家主席习近平曾呼吁掀起一场"机器人革命"。

president, called for a “robot revolution.”
Like other centrally planned initiatives, China’s robotics initiatives have not proceeded without trouble. There have been overinvestment and waste, and many Chinese robotics companies aren’t making very good robots.	像其他中央设计的方案一样，中国机器人计划的实施并非没有遇到麻烦。它出现了过度投资和浪费的问题，而且许多中国机器人企业并没有制造出非常好的机器人。
“Many are low quality, and safety and design standards are really not good,” said Dieter Ernst, a senior fellow at the East-West Center, an organization that aims to improve Asian-American relations. “There are supposedly a bit more than 100 Chinese robot companies. I would say about 50 of these companies may survive.”	“许多机器人的质量很差，安全和设计标准真的很糟，”东西方中心(East-West Center)的高级研究员迪埃特尔·恩斯特(Dieter Ernst)说，该中心是一个旨在改善亚美关系的组织。“据说中国有 100 多家机器人制造商。我认为，这些企业中大约有 50 家也许能活下去。”
But the Chinese government and its companies are persistent. Mr. Ernst expects slow, steady gains in the Chinese robotics industry. And in five to 10 years, he predicts, China’s robot business will be producing industrial robots that are on par with those from Germany and Japan.	但中国政府和中国的公司仍在坚持着。恩斯特预计中国机器人行业会有缓慢、稳定的增长。他预计，在未来 5 到 10 年内，中国的机器人行业将生产出与德国和日本相当的工业机器人。
Pushing a robotics revival in the United States would be more difficult than in China, where there hasn’t been much outcry from workers over the government’s embrace of automation.	在美国推动机器人技术的复兴将比在中国更困难，在中国，工人对政府支持自动化的做法没有太多的抗议。
“There is not a public conversation in China about the pluses and minuses of automation,” said Scott Kennedy, a China scholar at the Center for Strategic and International Studies. “They don’t talk about the losers in society from globalization or potential automation.”	在战略与国际研究中心研究中国的学者斯科特·肯尼迪(Scott Kennedy)说，“中国没有对自动化的优缺点进行的公开讨论。他们不谈论全球化或可能的自动化所带来的社会上的失败者。”
In the United States, on the other hand, losing is all we seem to talk about. Mr. Trump rose to power in part because he crystallized a feeling among voters that we have lost our edge to China. He promised to bring jobs back to America. In a hot-take political climate that can’t	而在美国，似乎我们讨论的都是输。特朗普上台的部分原因是，他凝聚了选民中的一种感觉，那就是我们相对中国已经失去了优势。他承诺把就业带回美国。在一个大放厥词、不能容纳细微差别的政治气候下，对机器人的投资将会被视为对他挽救制造业工人承诺的背叛。

stomach nuance, an investment in robots would be seen as a betrayal of the manufacturing workers he promised to save.
But that would be a mistake. Mr. Christensen of the University of California, San Diego, pointed out that even the most automated of factories still employ people. To the extent that an investment in robotics might make it easier for companies to build their factories in the United States rather than in China, it might well create new jobs in the United States.	然而，那会是一个错误。加利福尼亚大学圣地亚哥分校的克里斯坦森指出，即使是最自动化的工厂仍然要雇人。在一定程度上，对机器人技术的投资可能会让公司更容易在美国而不是在中国建立工厂，所以，对机器人的投资很可能会在美国创造新的就业机会。
What's more, America enjoys many advantages in robotics that China lacks. Some of the world's leading roboticists work at American universities. The United States has a start-up culture that knows how to create big new companies. And America has a head start in the most advanced robotics technologies. For instance, American companies are the leading purveyors of surgical robots, and they are at the forefront of "collaborative robotics," in which robots can work side by side with humans.	此外，美国在机器人技术方面拥有的很多优势是中国所没有的。美国大学里有一批世界一流的机器人专家。美国拥有一种知道如何创建新的大公司的创业文化。在最先进的机器人技术方面，美国处于领先地位。例如，美国公司是手术机器人的主要供应者，在“协作机器人”领域也处于前沿地带，这种机器人可以与人联手工作。
"All of this robotics technology was invented in the U.S., but we basically let other companies take it from us and make it cheaper, and now we're buying it from them," Mr. Christensen said. "In some sense, we're not being very good at making sure we remain competitive in areas that we're leading."	克里斯坦森说：“所有这些机器人技术都是在美国发明的，但我们基本上开放给其他公司，让他们降低它的成本，现在我们从他们那里购买它。从某种意义上说，我们不是很擅长守护我们在领先领域的竞争力。”
And that's how huge government funding can help, the robot experts said. As in China, an infusion from Mr. Trump could turn some of the most far-out ideas in robotics into a structural advantage for the American economy.	机器人专家说，这就是大量政府资金的用武之地。和中国一样，特朗普的支持可以把机器人技术中最具独创性的想法转变为美国经济中的一个结构性优势。

"What we can learn from the Chinese example is that the government plays a nurturing and fostering role for developing the robotics industry," Mr. Ernst said. "We can do the same. We must do the same."	"我们可以从中国的例子中学到的是，政府在发展机器人产业方面发挥着培育和促进作用，"恩斯特说。"我们也可以这样做。而且我们必须这样做。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170126/how-to-make-americas-robots-great-again	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170126/how-to-make-americas-robots-great-again
Kushners, Trump In-Laws, Near $400 Million Deal with Chinese Firm	特朗普女婿家族欲与安邦集团达成 4 亿美元生意
A New York real estate company owned by the family of President Donald J. Trump's son-in-law is negotiating to sell a $400 million stake in its Fifth Avenue flagship skyscraper to a Chinese insurance company with ties to leading families of the Communist Party.	纽约的一家房地产公司正在进行谈判，打算以 4 亿美元（约合 28 亿元人民币）的价格把自己在第五大道上的一栋旗舰摩天大楼的股份卖给中国的一家保险公司。这家房地产公司的所有者是唐纳德·J·特朗普总统的女婿的家族，而买方则和主要的中共家族有联系。
The Chinese company, Anbang Insurance Group, would pay to get a high-profile piece of Manhattan real estate, and would commit to spending billions more to completely transform the 60-year-old tower into a chic condominium and retail citadel.	这家名为安邦保险集团的中国公司将出资购得曼哈顿房地产市场上的著名资产，并承诺再投入数十亿美元，将那栋有 60 年历史的大楼彻底改造成一座集共管公寓和零售商场为一体的时尚城堡。
If signed, the deal would mark the financial marriage of two politically powerful families in the world's two biggest economies, but it also presents the possibility of glaring conflicts of interest. The Kushner family, owners of the tower, would reap a large financial windfall courtesy of a Chinese company, even as Jared Kushner, a senior adviser to Mr. Trump as well as his son-in-law, helps oversee American foreign policy.	如果协议签署，它将标志着全球最大的两个经济体中两个政治势力强大的家族在经济上的联姻，但它也带来了出现明显利益冲突的可能性。在既是特朗普的高级顾问，又是其女婿的贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)参与负责美国外交政策的同时，大楼的所有者——库什纳家族将借助一家中国公司获得巨额经济利益。
In his presentation to prospective investors, Charles Kushner, the leader of the family company and Jared's father, has said that once renovated, the property would be worth more than $7 billion, according to a real estate broker and two investors who have heard the pitch and spoke on	据一名房地产中介和听过推销的两名投资人透露（他们因为还想和相关公司进一步做生意，所以要求隐去姓名），在向潜在投资者介绍情况时，该家族企业负责人、贾里德的父亲查尔斯·库什纳(Charles Kushner)称，一旦翻新，那栋大楼的价值将超过 70 亿美元。这将使它成为全曼哈顿最值钱的房产。

condition of anonymity because they want to do further business with the companies. That would make it the most valuable property in all of Manhattan.
The chairman of Anbang, Wu Xiaohui, who wined and dined Jared Kushner at the Waldorf Astoria hotel in November, serving $2,100-a-bottle Château Lafite Rothschild, married the granddaughter of Deng Xiaoping, the paramount leader who transformed China's economy. Mr. Wu also counts the son of a top army marshal as a longtime business partner.	去年 11 月，安邦董事长吴小晖在华尔道夫-阿斯托里亚酒店(Waldorf Astoria)用 2100 美元一瓶的拉菲葡萄酒宴请贾里德·库什纳。吴小晖娶了让中国经济发生巨变的最高领导人邓小平的外孙女。一位军队最高元帅之子也是他的长期生意伙伴。
The Waldorf Astoria is one of a string of trophy properties that Anbang has bought in the United States in recent years, spending billions of dollars for it and a collection of luxury properties that it acquired last year from the Blackstone Group. But the company's murky shareholding structure has caused federal regulators to put the brakes on other planned acquisitions.	华尔道夫-阿斯托里亚酒店是安邦最近几年在美国购得的一系列房产中的一处。去年，安邦出资数十亿美元，从黑石集团(Blackstone Group)手中购得该酒店和一批豪华房产。但安邦股权结构模糊，美国联邦监管机构因此叫停了其他收购计划。
Anbang, a huge Chinese conglomerate with almost $300 billion in assets, is owned by 39 companies, many of them shell companies that, when traced, lead to empty offices or government registration bureaus, according to Chinese government records. At least 35 of the companies, which collectively control more than 92 percent of Anbang, trace all or part of their ownership to relatives of Mr. Wu, to Deng's granddaughter, or to Chen Xiaolu, the marshal's son, though the three no longer show up as owners in company records, the Times reported in September.	作为一家资产近 3000 亿美元的中国大型企业集团，安邦由 39 家公司控制，其中很多都是空壳公司。对这些空壳公司进行追查时，根据中国政府的记录，它们指向了一些空无一人的办公室或政府注册机构。时报曾于去年 9 月报道，其中至少 35 家公司——合计掌握着安邦逾 92% 的股份——的部分或全部所有权可以追溯到吴小晖的亲戚、邓小平的外孙女或前述元帅之子陈小鲁，尽管在公司的记录中，此三人已不再是所有者。
Regardless of whether the deal makes economic sense, going into	加利福尼亚州克莱蒙特麦肯纳学院(Claremont McKenna College)关注中国

business with the family of the son-in-law of the American president buys Mr. Wu an immense amount of credibility within China because he's seen as having influence at the apex of power in the United States, said Minxin Pei, a professor of political science at Claremont McKenna College in California, who focuses on Chinese politics and corruption.	政治和腐败问题的政治学教授裴敏欣说，不管这笔交易在经济上是否划算，开始和美国总统的女婿所在的家族做生意为吴小晖在中国国内赢得了大量信誉，因为他被认为在美国高层拥有一定影响力。
"He is purchasing political prestige, and that is a priceless asset for somebody like him," Mr. Pei said by telephone.	"他是在花钱买政治威望，对于像他这样的人来，这是无价的资产，"裴敏欣在电话里说。
The deal, however, could face scrutiny by both the American and Chinese governments before it is completed. The Chinese government has been eager to stanch the flow of overseas investments as the economy slows.	然而，这笔交易在完成前可能会受到美国和中国政府的审查。随着经济放缓，中国政府迫切地想要制止在海外的投资。
Details of the possible deal with Anbang were first reported by Bloomberg on Monday. Talks were underway between Anbang and the Kushners, including Jared, as early as last year, and were first reported by The New York Times in January.	彭博社(Bloomberg)在周一率先报道了可能会与安邦达成的这笔交易的细节。早在去年，安邦和包括贾里德在内的库什纳家族之间的商谈就已经在进行中了。《纽约时报》于今年1月最先报道了双方商谈的消息。
The deal would value the 41-story aluminum-clad office tower at $2.8 billion, a high value for a building that has never been considered a New York trophy. Anbang would eventually take a controlling stake in the property and obtain a $4 billion construction loan, Bloomberg said, for a complete makeover of the tower, which would have luxury apartments at the top, a multifloor retail mall at the base, and a hotel in the middle.	这笔交易对这栋外立面覆盖了一层铝的41层办公楼估值28亿美元。对一栋从未被视为纽约战利品的大楼来说，这个估值颇高。彭博社称，安邦最终将获得该处房产的控股权，并拿到40亿美元的建设贷款，用于大楼的彻底翻新。完成改造后，大楼顶部是豪华公寓，底部是多层零售卖场，中部是酒店。
The deal comes at an odd time in New York.	在纽约，这笔交易出现的时间有些怪。
For years, foreign investors have poured billions of dollars into New York apartments, hotels, office buildings and developments based on a	多年来，外国投资者基于纽约是这个动荡世界最稳定市场的看法，在这里的公寓、酒店、办公楼和开发项目中投入了大量资金。

perception that this is one of the most stable markets in a tumultuous world.
But luxury hotel rates in New York have started to fall and developers who rushed to build super towers with $100 million penthouses have seen a drastic slowdown in sales.	但纽约的豪华酒店房价已开始下跌，一窝蜂地修建带有价值1亿美元顶层豪华公寓的超级大楼的开发商，经历了销售的急剧放缓。
A similar plan to convert the granite-sheathed Sony office building at 550 Madison Avenue into a condominium, hotel and mall was abandoned last year because of the slowdown in the luxury residential market,	去年，因为豪宅市场放缓，一个类似的计划被放弃。该计划是要把麦迪逊大道550号有着花岗岩外立面的索尼办公楼，改造成一栋集共管公寓、酒店和商场为一体的建筑。
The Kushner family declined to discuss details of the deal.	库什纳家族拒绝讨论该交易的细节。
"Kushner Companies is in active discussions around 666 Fifth," a spokesman said in a brief statement Monday, "and nothing has been finalized."	"库什纳公司(Kushner Companies)正在围绕第五大道666号积极讨论，"一位发言人在周一的一份简短声明中说，"一切都还没有定论。"
A spokeswoman for Kushner Companies had said previously that Jared Kushner recused himself in November, not long after Mr. Trump's election, to avoid conflicts of interest.	库什纳公司的另一名发言人之前曾表示，去年11月特朗普当选后不久，贾里德·库什纳为了避免利益冲突，回避了相关事务。
Jared Kushner has also since stepped away from the day-to-day business of the company and placed some of his assets in a trust.	自那时开始，贾里德·库什纳也退出了该公司的日常业务，并将自己的部分资产交给了一个信托机构。
A spokesman for Anbang did not return a request for comment.	安邦的发言人未回复置评请求。
Hope Hicks, a White House spokeswoman, said on Monday that Mr. Kushner had sold his interest in 666 Fifth Avenue to a trust in which neither he, nor his wife, Ivanka Trump, nor their children are beneficiaries at a price "based on third-party appraisals." The amount paid has not been revealed. Ms. Hicks, in an email, also said that Mr. Kushner "has not communicated with anyone regarding this matter	白宫发言人霍普·希克斯(Hope Hicks)在周一表示，库什纳已将自己在第五大道666号的股份，以"基于第三方评估"的价格卖给了一家他本人、他的妻子伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)和他们的孩子均不是受益人的信托机构。具体售价尚不得而知。希克斯还在一封电子邮件中表示，库什纳"自总统就任后未就此事与任何人交流过"。

since the president took office.”
The Kushners bought 666 Fifth for $1.8 billion on Jared’s birthday in January 2007, as part of a plan to reposition the family company as a major Manhattan developer. Up until then, the Kushners were based in New Jersey where they owned a huge portfolio of suburban garden apartments and donated heavily to the Democratic Party.	2007年1月，库什纳家族在贾里德生日当天以18亿美元的价格买下了第五大道666号，将其作为一个重新让该家族公司成为曼哈顿主要开发商的计划之一部分。在那之前，库什纳家族的大本营在新泽西。在那里，他们拥有大量郊区花园公寓，并大手笔捐助民主党。
But the deal at 666 Fifth came with a big price tag, $1,200 per square foot. As the family struggled to make its mortgage payments amid the recession, it slowly sold segments to Vornado Realty Trust, which owns 49.5 percent of the building’s office space and a slice of the retail, and others. They would have to be bought out for the deal to close.	但第五大道666号那笔交易价格不菲，合每平方英尺1200美元。在经济衰退期间，因为难以偿还抵押贷款，库什纳家族慢慢将部分资产卖给了沃纳多房地产信托公司(Vornado Realty Trust)。后者拥有该楼49.5%的办公区域、部分零售及其他区域。要完成交易，他们须回购这些地方。
A spokesman for Vornado declined to comment.	沃纳多的发言人拒绝置评。
The proposed deal would be a form of political risk insurance for Mr. Wu, Mr. Pei, the political science professor, said. China is in the middle of a widespread crackdown on corruption, and billionaires are not immune.	政治学教授裴敏欣表示，对吴小晖来说，这笔拟议交易可能会成为一种政治风险保险。中国正在广泛打击腐败，亿万富翁也不能幸免。
In January, one of the country’s richest financiers was apparently abducted from an apartment in Hong Kong’s Four Seasons hotel and whisked across the border into Chinese custody. By going into business with the family of the son-in-law of the American president, Mr. Wu may buy himself safety.	今年1月，中国一个最富有的金融从业者似乎被从香港四季酒店的一套公寓中绑架，并迅速转移到中国内地关押。通过与美国总统女婿的家族做生意，吴小晖也许能买到自己的安全。
“Now he has extra protection, because Chinese authorities who want to come after him will now have to think twice about the political fallout,” said Mr. Pei, who wrote “China’s Crony Capitalism.” “For him, it is a brilliant move.”	“现在他有额外的保护，因为想追查他的中国当局现在必须再三考虑这么做的政治后果，”写了《中国的权贵资本主义》(China’s Crony Capitalism)一书的裴敏欣说道。“对他来说，这一招很高明。”

https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170315/kushner-companies-anbang-insurance-group	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170315/kushner-companies-anbang-insurance-group
China Learns How to Get Trump's Ear: Through Jared Kushner	北京押注库什纳：影响美国对华政策的“太子党”
WASHINGTON — When President Trump welcomes President Xi Jinping of China to his palm-fringed Florida club for two days of meetings on Thursday, the studied informality of the gathering will bear the handiwork of two people: China's ambassador to Washington and Mr. Trump's son-in-law, Jared Kushner.	华盛顿——特朗普总统将于周四在其棕榈树环绕的佛罗里达俱乐部，欢迎中国国家主席习近平前来参加为期两天的会议。这次会面刻意表现的友好轻松气氛，显示出了两个人的作用，一个是中国驻美大使，另一个是特朗普的女婿贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)。
The Chinese ambassador, Cui Tiankai, has established a busy back channel to Mr. Kushner, according to several officials briefed on the relationship. The two men agreed on the club, Mar-a-Lago, as the site for the meeting, and the ambassador even sent Mr. Kushner drafts of a joint statement that China and the United States could issue afterward.	据了解情况的几位官员说，中国驻美大使崔天凯已经与库什纳建立了一个繁忙的私下交流渠道。两人一致同意，把马阿拉歌(Mar-a-Lago)庄园作为会面的场所，崔天凯甚至还把会面之后中美两国可能发表的联合声明的草稿交给了库什纳。
Mr. Kushner's central role reflects not only the peculiar nature of this first meeting between Mr. Trump and Mr. Xi, but also of the broader relationship between the United States and China in the early days of the Trump administration. It is at once highly personal and bluntly transactional — a strategy that carries significant risks, experts said, given the economic and security issues that already divide the countries.	库什纳的中心角色不仅反映在特朗普与习近平首次会面的不寻常之处，也反映在特朗普政府初期更广泛的美中关系上。这是一种高度私人化的关系，具有明显的交易性，专家说，考虑到经济和安全问题已给两国关系制造了隔阂，这种战略带有相当大的风险。
While Chinese officials have found Mr. Trump a bewildering figure with a penchant for inflammatory statements, they have come to at least one clear judgment: In Mr. Trump's Washington, his son-in-law is the man to know.	虽然中国官员觉得特朗普是个令人困惑的人物，动不动就发表煽动性言论，但他们至少有一个明确的判断：在特朗普的华盛顿，认识他的女婿很重要。
Mr. Kushner first made his influence felt in early February when he and	今年2月初，库什纳让人首次感受到了他的影响力，他和崔天凯促成了特朗

Mr. Cui orchestrated a fence-mending phone call between Mr. Trump and Mr. Xi. During that exchange, Mr. Trump pledged to abide by the four-decade-old "One China" policy on Taiwan, despite his earlier suggestion that it was up for negotiation.	普与习近平之间的一次修复关系的电话通话。在那次交谈中，特朗普承诺履行 40 年来的对台政策，即“一个中国”政策，尽管他此前曾暗示该政策可能成为谈判的筹码。
Now Mr. Trump wants something in return: He plans to press Mr. Xi to intensify economic sanctions against North Korea to pressure the country to shut down its nuclear weapons and ballistic missile programs. He has also vowed to protest the chronic trade imbalance between the United States and China, which he railed against during his presidential campaign.	现在，特朗普想得到作为回报的东西：他打算向习近平施压，让他加紧对朝鲜的经济制裁，迫使朝鲜停止其核武器和弹道导弹计划。特朗普还发誓要对美中之间长期的贸易失衡提出抗议，他在总统竞选期间经常抱怨这个问题。
China's courtship of Mr. Kushner, which has coincided with the marginalization of the State Department in the Trump administration, reflects a Chinese comfort with dynastic links. Mr. Xi is himself a "princeling": His father was Xi Zhongxun, a major figure in the Communist revolution who was later purged by Mao Zedong.	中国向库什纳献殷勤的做法，恰好发生在美国国务院在特朗普政府中处于边缘地位的时候，也反映了中国人对王朝关系很舒适。习近平本人就属于“太子党”：他的父亲习仲勋是共产主义革命时代的重要人物，后来遭到毛泽东的清洗。
Not only is Mr. Kushner married to the president's daughter Ivanka, but he is also one of his most influential advisers — a 36-year-old with no previous government experience but an exceptionally broad portfolio under his father-in-law.	库什纳不仅是总统的女儿伊万卡的丈夫，他也是对总统最有影响力的顾问之一。36 岁的库什纳以前没有在政府工作的经验，但在自己岳父的手下，他担负着涉及范围异常广泛的职责。
"Since Kissinger, the Chinese have been infatuated with gaining and maintaining access to the White House," said Evan S. Medeiros, a senior director for Asia in the Obama administration. "Having access to the president's family and somebody they see as a princeling is even better."	"从基辛格起，中国人就一直痴迷于获得和维持通往白宫的渠道，"奥巴马政府的亚洲事务高级主管埃文·S·梅代罗斯(Evan S. Medeiros)说。"能与总统的家庭、与在中国人看来是太子党的人拉上关系是再好不过了。"
Former American officials and China experts warned that the Chinese	美国前官员和中国问题专家警告说，中国人对这次会面的准备比白宫的更精

had prepared more carefully for this visit than the White House, which is still debating how harshly to confront Beijing, and which has yet to fill many important posts in the State Department. Several said that if Mr. Trump presented China with an ultimatum on North Korea, it could backfire.	心，白宫仍在争论该如何严厉对抗北京的问题，也还没有填补国务院的很多重要职位空缺。几位人士说，如果特朗普在朝鲜问题上对中国下最后通牒的话，可能会适得其反。
"China will either decide to help us with North Korea, or they won't," Mr. Trump said in an interview with The Financial Times that was published on Sunday. "And if they do, that will be very good for China, and if they don't, it won't be good for anyone."	特朗普在接受《金融时报》专访时表示，“中国有可能决定在朝鲜问题上帮我们的忙，也有可能决定不帮。如果中国决定帮忙，那对中国很好；而如果中国决定不帮，那对任何人都不好。”专访是在周日发表的。
The president said that he had "great respect" for the Chinese leader, but that he would warn him that "we cannot continue to trade if we are going to have an unfair deal like we have right now."	总统说，他“非常尊敬”中国领导人，但他也会警告中国领导人，“如果我们保持现有的不公平交易，两国的贸易就不能继续下去。”
Shortly after winning the election, Mr. Trump said he might use the "One China" policy, under which the United States recognizes a single Chinese government in Beijing and has severed its diplomatic ties with Taiwan, as a bargaining chip for greater Chinese cooperation on trade or North Korea.	特朗普在赢得大选不久后曾表示，他可能会把“一个中国”政策作为在贸易或朝鲜问题上争取中国更多合作的谈判筹码，美国在“一个中国”政策下承认北京是中国的唯一政府，断绝了与台湾的外交关系。
Mr. Trump had thrown that policy into doubt after taking a congratulatory phone call from the president of Taiwan. That caused consternation in Beijing, and Mr. Xi refused to get on the phone with Mr. Trump until he reaffirmed the policy.	特朗普接了台湾总统打来的祝贺电话之后，这个政策的未来曾一度陷入疑问，引起了北京的震惊。习近平在特朗普重申这个政策之前，拒绝与他通电话。
After the two leaders finally spoke, the White House said in a statement that the men had "discussed numerous topics, and President Trump agreed, at the request of President Xi, to honor our One China policy." Mr. Trump insisted on that wording, according to a person briefed on	这两位领导人终于通了电话之后，白宫在一份声明中说，两位领导人“讨论了许多话题，在习近平主席的要求下，特朗普总统同意履行我们的一个中国政策。”据一位了解这个过程的人说，特朗普坚持在声明中使用这种措辞，因为他想表明，他已经对习近平做了一个让步。

the process, because he wanted to make clear that he had made a concession to Mr. Xi.
Since that call, Mr. Cui has continued to cultivate the Kushner family. Later in February, he invited Ivanka and the couple's daughter, Arabella, to a reception at the Chinese Embassy to celebrate the Lunar New Year.	从那次通话起，崔天凯一直在发展与库什纳家庭的关系。在之后的2月，他邀请了伊万卡和这对夫妇的女儿阿拉贝拉前来中国大使馆参加庆祝农历新年的招待会。
Inside the White House, the most visible sign of Mr. Kushner's influence on China policy came in March at the beginning of a meeting of the National Security Council's "principals committee" to discuss North Korea.	在白宫内部，库什纳影响中国政策的最明显迹象出现在3月份，在国家安全委员会讨论朝鲜问题的一次“首长级小组”会议开始的时候。
He was seated at the table in the Situation Room when Gen. Joseph F. Dunford Jr., the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, walked in. Seeing no chairs open, General Dunford headed for the backbenches, according to two people who were there. Mr. Kushner, they said, quickly offered his chair to General Dunford and took a seat along the wall.	当参谋长联席会议主席小约瑟夫·F·邓福德上将(Gen. Joseph F. Dunford Jr.)走进白宫军情室时，库什纳已在会议桌边就座。邓福德看到桌边已经没有空着的椅子，开始向后排座位走去。知情人士说，库什纳赶紧把自己的座位让给了邓福德，在靠墙的后排找了把椅子坐了下来。
While administration officials confirm that Mr. Kushner is deeply involved in China relations, they insist that Secretary of State Rex W. Tillerson has taken the lead on policy and made many of the decisions on the choreography and agenda of the meeting at Mar-a-Lago.	虽然政府官员承认库什纳深度参与了美中关系的相关事务，但他们坚称，国务卿雷克斯·W·蒂勒森(Rex W. Tillerson)在政策问题上起领导作用，有关这次马阿拉歌庄园会面的安排和议程的许多决定是蒂勒森做的。
In March, Mr. Tillerson made his first trip to Beijing as secretary of state, during which he and Mr. Xi discussed the planning in a 30-minute meeting. He was criticized afterward for repeating the phrases "mutual respect" and "win-win solutions," which are drawn from the Chinese diplomatic lexicon and have been interpreted to assert a Chinese sphere of influence over the South China Sea and other disputed areas.	今年3月，蒂勒森首次以国务卿的身份访问了北京，访问期间，他与习近平在一个30分钟的会晤上讨论了两国领导人会面的计划。他在会晤之后重复了“相互尊重”、“合作共赢”等中国外交辞令，受到外界的批评，这些说法被理解为是对中国在南海等争议地区的中国势力范围的明确肯定。

A senior American official said that Mr. Tillerson applied his own meaning to those phrases — “win-win,” he said, was originally an American expression — and was not accepting China’s definition. He said the secretary had adopted a significantly tougher tone in private, particularly about China’s role in curbing North Korea’s provocations.	一位美国高级官员表示，蒂勒森给这些词注入了他自己的意思——他说，“共赢”最初是美国人的说法，他并没有接受中国的定义。他说，国务卿在非公开场合使用了更强硬的语气，尤其是在有关中国遏制朝鲜挑衅的作用上。
Mr. Kushner has passed on proposals he got from Mr. Cui to Mr. Tillerson, who in turn has circulated them among his staff in the State Department, officials said. But the department’s influence has been reduced as many positions remain unfilled, including that of assistant secretary for East Asian affairs. Though Mr. Tillerson has kept a low profile, officials said he was trying to develop his own relationship with Mr. Trump at regular lunches and dinners.	一些官员表示，库什纳已经将他从崔天凯那里获得的提案转交给了蒂勒森，后者又把它们分发给国务院的工作人员。但由于很多职位仍旧空缺，其中包括东亚事务助理国务卿，该部门的影响力已经减弱。虽然蒂勒森一直很低调，但官员们表示，他常常与特朗普共进午餐和晚餐，培养自己与后者的关系。
Mr. Kushner’s involvement in China policy prompted questions after reports that his company was negotiating with a politically connected Chinese firm to invest hundreds of millions of dollars in his family’s flagship property, 666 Fifth Avenue in Manhattan.	在库什纳的公司正与一家有政治背景的中国公司进行谈判，计划在曼哈顿第五大道 666 号，也就是库什纳家族的旗舰物业投资数十亿美元的报道出来后，对于他参与中国政策引发了质疑。
On Wednesday, amid the glare of negative publicity, Mr. Kushner’s company ended negotiations with the firm, the Anbang Insurance Group.	周三，在负面曝光的影响下，库什纳的公司终止了与安邦保险集团之间的谈判。
Another question hanging over the meeting is whether the hard-liners in the White House will wield their influence. Mr. Trump ran for the presidency on a stridently anti-China platform, accusing the Chinese, wrongly, of continuing to depress the value of their currency, and threatening to impose a 45 percent tariff on Chinese imports.	对于这次会晤，还有一个悬而未解的问题，就是白宫的强硬派人物是否会发挥影响力。特朗普在竞选总统期间有着强硬反华的立场，他错误地指责中国人继续让人民币贬值，并威胁要对中国的进口商品征收 45% 的关税。
The architects of that policy — Stephen K. Bannon, the chief strategist,	这一政策的构架师——首席策略师史蒂芬·K·班农(Stephen K. Bannon)以及

and Peter Navarro, the director of the National Trade Council — have said little publicly about China since entering the White House. But on Thursday, Mr. Trump predicted that the meeting would be “very difficult” because, as he said on Twitter, the United States would no longer tolerate “massive trade deficits.”	全国贸易委员会主席彼得·纳瓦罗(Peter Navarro)——自从进入白宫后就很少在中国问题上公开表态。但周四，特朗普预测这次会晤将“非常艰难”，因为正如他在 Twitter 上所说的，美国将不再容忍“大量的贸易逆差”。
By inviting Mr. Xi to Mar-a-Lago, Mr. Trump’s “Southern White House,” the president is conferring on him the same status as Prime Minister Shinzo Abe of Japan, who spent two days in Florida, playing golf with the president and responding to a crisis after North Korea tested a ballistic missile. Such a gesture is particularly valuable, experts said, given that China is not an ally like Japan.	邀请习近平前往“南方白宫”，特朗普授予了他与日本首相安倍晋三同样的地位，后者就在佛罗里达州度过了两天，与特朗普一起打高尔夫球，并在朝鲜试射弹道导弹后一起应对危机。专家说，鉴于中国不是日本那样的盟友，所以这种姿态难能可贵。
Mr. Xi does not play golf — as part of his anti-corruption campaign, he cracked down on Communist Party officials’ playing the sport — so he and Mr. Trump will have to find other ways to fill the 25 hours that the Chinese president will be at the club. On Thursday evening, Mr. Trump and his wife, Melania, will host Mr. Xi and his wife, Peng Liyuan, for dinner.	习近平不打高尔夫——他在共产党官员中展开反腐运动，这是其中一部分——所以他和特朗普必须找到其他方式来填补在庄园的 25 个小时。周四晚上，特朗普和妻子梅拉尼娅将招待习近平和妻子彭丽媛共进晚餐。
There are obvious parallels between the Mar-a-Lago meeting and the 2013 summit meeting at Sunnylands in California, Walter Annenberg’s 200-acre estate, where President Barack Obama and Mr. Xi got acquainted over long walks in the desert landscape and a dinner of grilled porterhouse steaks and cherry pie. But there are important differences, too.	在马阿拉歌庄园的会晤与 2013 年在加利福尼亚州“阳光之乡”(Sunnylands) 的有明显相似之处，沃尔特·安纳伯格(Walter H. Annenberg)的那个庄园占地 200 英亩（约合 80 公顷），当时奥巴马和习近平在荒漠景观中进行了漫长的散步，晚餐时还一起吃了上等牛排和樱桃派。但两者之间也有重大区别。
By the time Mr. Obama met with Mr. Xi in California, they had already met once before, when Mr. Xi was vice president. Mr. Xi held extensive	奥巴马在加利福尼亚与习近平会晤之前，双方就见过一次，当时习近平还是副主席。而且习近平与副总统小约瑟夫·拜登(t Joseph R. Biden Jr.)进行过多

meetings with Vice President Joseph R. Biden Jr., traveling with him around the United States. Some former officials said the Mar-a-Lago meeting might reveal the disparity in experience between the two leaders and their teams.	次会面，还一起到美国各处转过。一些前任官员说，马阿拉歌庄园的会晤可能会暴露两国领导人及其团队在经验上的差距。
"Sunnylands was difficult because Xi was new, while Obama had his sea legs," said Mr. Medeiros, the former Obama administration official. "What's interesting is that the polarity here is reversed. Xi has his sea legs; Trump does not."	"阳光之乡的会晤很困难，因为当时习近平是新手，而奥巴马已经有了经验。" 奥巴马政府官员梅代罗斯说，"有趣的是，现在的情况反了过来，习近平有了经验，特朗普却没有。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170405/trump-china-jared-kushner Trump Reversals Hint at Wall Street Wing's Sway in White House	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170405/trump-china-jared-kushner 特朗普经济政策逆转：不把中国列为货币操纵国
WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump made three startling economic policy reversals Wednesday, stepping away from pledges he made as a candidate and even policies he supported only days ago.	华盛顿——周三，唐纳德·特朗普总统透露了三项令人震惊的经济政策逆转，偏离了他竞选期间做出的承诺，甚至偏离了他数日前支持的政策。
The shifts suggest that the moderate financiers he brought from Wall Street are eclipsing the White House populist wing led by Stephen K. Bannon, the political strategist who is increasingly being sidelined by the president.	这种转变表明，他从华尔街聘请的温和派金融家的势头正盖过以政治策略师斯蒂芬·K·班农(Stephen K. Bannon)为首的白宫民粹主义势力。班农正越来越被总统排斥在外。
In a series of interviews, Trump backtracked from his campaign promises. Trump said he no longer wanted to label China a currency manipulator — a week after telling The Financial Times that the Chinese are the "world champions" when it comes to currency manipulation. The about-face came less than a week after meeting with China's president, Xi Jinping.	在一系列采访中，特朗普收回了他在竞选期间做出的承诺。特朗普表示，他不再想将中国列为货币操纵国。就在一周前，他在接受《金融时报》(The Financial Times)采访时表示，在操纵货币方面，中国人是"世界冠军"。这种转变发生在与中国国家主席习近平会晤不到一周后。
In an interview with The Wall Street Journal, the president also said he no longer wanted to eliminate the Export-Import Bank. And he said that	总统在接受《华尔街日报》(The Wall Street Journal)采访时表示，他不再想撤销联邦进出口银行(Export-Import Bank)。他还表示，他可能会考虑在

he might consider reappointing Janet Yellen as chairwoman of the Federal Reserve when her term ends next year.	珍妮特·耶伦(Janet Yellen)明年任期结束时重新任命她为美联储(Federal Reserve)主席。
All of this is a striking departure from Trump on the campaign trail, where he regularly denounced China and said that Yellen should be “ashamed” of herself because of what he said was her political bias. Trump’s reversals suggest he is moving toward a more mainstream economic approach from the populist arguments he advanced before the election.	所有这一切都明显偏离特朗普竞选时的主张，当时他经常谴责中国，还说耶伦应该为他看到的政治偏见而“感到羞愧”。特朗普的逆转表明，他正从选举前主张的民粹主义观点转向更主流的经济观点。
For his part, Trump asserted in a Twitter post Wednesday night that his agenda remained on track. “One by one, we are keeping our promises – on the border, on energy, on jobs, on regulations. Big changes are happening.”	而特朗普本人则于周三晚间在 Twitter 上发帖表示，他依然在按计划行事。“我们一个接一个地遵守自己的承诺——在边境、能源、就业机会和监管方面。巨大的变化正在发生。”
Trump began the day with an interview with Fox Business Network in which he backed away from the so-called border-adjustment tax favored by Speaker Paul Ryan and House Republicans. In an interview published by the Journal midday, Trump revealed his softer approach to China and made another reversal on health care.	特朗普当天上午在接受福克斯商业频道(Fox Business Network)的采访时表示，他将放弃众议院议长保罗·瑞安(Paul Ryan)和众议院共和党人支持的所谓的边境调节税。在《华尔街日报》中午发表的采访中，特朗普表示，他将对中国采取更温和的方式，并且透露了在医保问题上的另一项政策逆转。
He said that the government would not continue to pay subsidies to health insurers under Obamacare only days after the administration said it would. Trump said the threat to withhold subsidies was a way to force Democrats to negotiate with him over the future of the Affordable Care Act.	他表示，政府不会再继续给奥巴马医改(Obamacare)覆盖下的医疗保险公司提供补贴，就在几天前，该政府还表示会继续提供补贴。特朗普表示，威胁取消补贴是为了迫使民主党人就《平价医疗费用法案》(Affordable Care Act)的未来与他进行谈判。
Trump’s budget director, Mick Mulvaney, added an additional major reversal on his behalf: He said on CNBC on Wednesday that the president’s campaign promise to eliminate the national debt was	特朗普的预算主管米克·马尔瓦尼(Mick Mulvaney)以总统的名义添加了一项重大逆转：周三，他在 CNBC 上表示，总统在竞选期间做出的消除国债的承诺是“一种夸张的说法”。

"hyperbole."
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170413/trump-policy-reversals	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170413/trump-policy-reversals
Ivanka Trump Is Jeered in Berlin After Defending Her Father	伊万卡赞特朗普支持女性引发哄笑
BERLIN — Ivanka Trump shared the stage Tuesday with some of the world's most powerful women, representing the United States at a meeting of female business leaders.	柏林——周二，伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)代表美国参加了一场女性商业领袖会议，和世界上一些最有影响力的女性出现在同一个舞台上。
But during a panel discussion that also included her host, Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany, Trump was jeered by members of the audience.	不过在一场小组讨论期间，伊万卡·特朗普却遭到现场观众的嘲弄。参加这场讨论的嘉宾有款待她的东道主、德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)。
On her first official overseas trip as an adviser to the president, Trump was thrust into a more familiar role — defending her father's behavior to skeptical foreigners.	在作为美国总统的顾问首次出国访问时，特朗普被推入一个她更加熟悉的角色——面对心存怀疑的外国人为父亲的行为辩护。
"The German audience is not that familiar with the concept of a first daughter," the panel's moderator, Miriam Meckel, editor-in-chief of the financial weekly WirtschaftsWoche, said. "I'd like to ask you, what is your role, and who are you representing — your father as president of the United States, the American people, or your business?"	"德国观众不熟悉第一女儿这个概念，"该谈论小组的主持人、《经济周刊》(WirtschaftsWoche)主编米丽娅姆·梅克尔(Miriam Meckel)说。"我想问一下，你的角色是什么，你代表的是谁——作为美国总统的你的父亲，美国人民，还是你的生意？"
"Certainly not the latter," Trump replied, adding, "And I am rather unfamiliar with this role as well, as it is quite new to me."	"肯定不是后者，"特朗普回答，"我对这个角色也不太熟悉，因为它对我来说也十分新鲜。"
During the panel discussion, which included Merkel and Christine Lagarde, the managing director of the International Monetary Fund, Trump, 35, relied on a familiar script.	在这场有默克尔和国际货币基金组织(International Monetary Fund)总裁克里斯蒂娜·拉加德(Christine Lagarde)参与的小组讨论中，35岁的伊万卡·特朗普的发言围绕着一个令人熟悉的脚本。
President Donald Trump has been "a tremendous champion of supporting families and enabling them to thrive," she said. That comment prompted some members of the audience to groan and hiss.	唐纳德·特朗普总统"一直积极倡导对家庭的支持，助他们取得成功"，她说。听到这个评价，在场的一些听众发出了嘘声。

"You hear the reaction from the audience," Merkel said. "I need to address one more point. Some attitudes toward women your father has displayed might leave one questioning whether he's such an empowerer for women."	"你听见了观众的反应,"梅克尔说。"我需要提到另外一点。你父亲展现出来的对女性的一些态度,可能会让人质疑他是否真的是一个能如此赋权给女性的人。"
Trump replied, "I've certainly heard the criticism from the media, that's been perpetuated," leading to laughter from some of the people at the conference.	特朗普回答,"我当然听到了来自媒体的批评,很难忘记的,"现场有人发出了笑声。
She added that the thousands of women who worked for her father's businesses, "are a testament to his belief and solid conviction in the potential of women and their ability to do the job as well as any man." She said her father had raised her just the same as he did her two brothers. "He encouraged me and enabled me to thrive."	她还提到,她父亲的公司有数千名女性职员,"这可以证明,他相信也坚信女性有潜力、有能力把工作做得和男人一样好。"她说她父亲养育她的方式和两个弟弟是一样的。"他鼓励过我,助我取得成功。"
After the lively panel discussion in Berlin on Tuesday, Trump took the heckling she received from the audience in stride.	周二在柏林进行的那场热烈的小组讨论结束后,特朗普面对台下的起哄表现得泰然自若。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170426/ivanka-trump-is-jeered-in-berlin-after-defending-her-father	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170426/ivanka-trump-is-jeered-in-berlin-after-defending-her-father
On Campuses Far From China, Still Under Beijing's Watchful Eye	即使留学美国,也逃不脱中国政府监视的眼睛
SAN DIEGO — In the competition for marquee commencement speakers, the University of California, San Diego thought it had scored a coup this year — a Nobel Peace Prize winner, best-selling author and spiritual North Star to millions of people.	圣迭戈——在各个大学邀请毕业典礼演讲人的竞争中,加州大学圣迭戈分校(University of California, San Diego)以为自己今年是出奇制胜——他们邀请到了诺贝尔和平奖获得者、畅销书作家,以及无数人的精神导师。
"We are honored to host His Holiness the 14th Dalai Lama," gushed Pradeep Khosla, the university's chancellor, "and thankful that he will share messages of global compassion."	"我们很荣幸地邀请到第十四世达赖喇嘛,"校监普拉迪普·科斯拉(Pradeep Khosla)表示了感谢之情,"感谢他来分享普世同理心的启示。"
Within hours of Mr. Khosla's announcement, though, the university was	在科斯拉宣布此事之后的几个小时内, Facebook 和其他社交媒体网站上的

blindsided by nasty remarks on Facebook and other social media sites: "Imagine how Americans would feel if someone invited Bin Laden," said one.	恶毒言论令校方措手不及，其中一条说：“想像一下，如果有人邀请本·拉登，美国人会有什么感觉。”
At the center of the opposition was the U.C. San Diego chapter of the Chinese Students and Scholars Association, which threatened "tough measures to resolutely resist the school's unreasonable behavior." The Chinese government accuses the Dalai Lama of promoting Tibetan independence from China, and if the student group's message sounded a bit like the Beijing party line, that may have been no coincidence: The group said it had consulted with the Chinese Consulate in Los Angeles on the matter.	站在这种反对攻势中心是中国学生学者联谊会（Chinese Students and Scholars Association, 简称 CSSA）的圣迭戈分会，他们威胁“要采取强硬行动，坚决抵制校方不可理喻的行为”。中国政府指责达赖喇嘛推动西藏从中国独立，如果这个学生团体的主张和北京方面的方针有点相似，这可能不是巧合：该团体表示，已经就此事咨询了洛杉矶的中国领事馆。
China's booming economy has increasingly allowed more of its young men and women to seek a college education in the West; 329,000 now study in the United States, more than five times the number recorded a decade ago. By far the largest contingent of foreign students, they can be an economic lifeline for colleges, since they usually pay full tuition, and they can provide a healthy dose of international diversity.	随着中国经济的蓬勃发展，越来越多的年轻男女可以到西方的大学求学，目前有 32.9 万中国人在美国学习，是 10 年前的五倍以上。他们也是美国高校迄今为止最大的外国留学生群体，可能成为一些高校的经济命脉，因为他们通常要缴纳全额学费，而且有助于促进一种健康的国际多元化。
But those students often bring to campus something else from home: the watchful eyes and occasionally heavy hand of the Chinese government, manifested through its ties to many of the 150-odd chapters of the Chinese Students and Scholars Associations.	但是，这些学生往往把家里的其他一些东西也带进了美国校园：中国政府的警惕目光，以及偶尔强硬的手段，通过它与中国学生和学者联谊会 150 多个分会的关系来联动。
The groups have worked in tandem with Beijing to promote a pro-Chinese agenda and tamp down anti-Chinese speech on Western campuses. At Columbia a decade ago, the club mobilized students to protest a presentation about human rights violations in China, urging	这些组织与北京一起，推动亲中议程，打压西方校园里的反华言论。十年前在哥伦比亚大学，该组织动员学生开展抗议活动，抵制一个关于中国侵犯人权的演讲，敦促他们“坚决捍卫祖国的荣誉和尊严”。在杜克大学，该组织被指在 2008 年煽动了一些骚扰活动，针对的是一名在西藏抗议活动中试图调

them to “resolutely defend the honor and dignity of the Motherland.” At Duke, the group was accused of inciting a harassment campaign in 2008 against a Chinese student who tried to mediate between sides in a Tibet protest. More recently in Durham, England, the group acted at the behest of the Chinese government to censor comments at a forum on China-Hong Kong relations.	解双方争执的中国学生。最近在英国的达勒姆,该组织按照中国政府的要求,在一个关于中港关系的论坛对评论进行审查。
In rare instances, members of the student group have been accused of spying.	CSSA 成员还有过少数被指为间谍的案例。
The organization’s influence troubles some China scholars and human rights activists, who say it wields outsize sway over American campuses because of the sizable tuition paid by Chinese students abroad, a group recently exhorted by China’s government to increase their patriotism and devotion to the Communist Party.	CSSA 的影响力让一些中国学者和人权活动家感到头疼,他们说,中国留学人员在海外支付了相当高昂的学费,因此在美国校园里施加过大的影响力,中国政府最近敦促 CSSA 增强爱国主义和对共产党的忠诚。
“I basically don’t think that any student organizations that are controlled by their government – which clearly the C.S.S.A. is – should have a presence on foreign university campuses,” said Jeffrey Henderson, a professor of international development at the University of Bristol in England.	“基本上,我认为任何一个由政府控制的学生组织都不该出现在外国的大学校园里——而 CSSA 明显受到政府控制,”英国布里斯托大学(University of Bristol)的国际发展教授杰弗里·亨德森(Jeffrey Henderson)说。
A Hong Kong expert, Dr. Henderson was invited to speak at a 2014 workshop at Durham University in England organized by the Chinese Students and Scholars and two other groups to discuss the Umbrella Movement – in which protesters had shut down streets in Hong Kong demonstrating against the Chinese government’s failure to hold democratic elections there.	亨德森是香港问题专家,2014年,CSSA 和其他两个团体在英国达勒姆大学(Durham University)召开了一个“雨伞运动”研讨会,邀请他在会上发言。香港“雨伞运动”抗议者堵在街道上,抗议中国政府没有在该城市进行民主选举。
Two days before the workshop, Dr. Henderson said, he received an	亨德森说,他收到了一封来自 CSSA 会长的电子邮件,称中国驻伦敦大使馆

email on behalf of the president of the Chinese Students and Scholars Association stating that the Chinese Embassy in London was “very concerned that nothing should go on in the workshop that disturbs the harmonious relationship between Hong Kong and China.”	“对本次研讨会甚为关切,希望不要有什么东西干扰香港与中国的和谐关系”。
Dr. Henderson arrived with plans to ignore the embassy guidance. Yet he found the seminar’s Q. and A. session tightly controlled, permitting only written questions that had been vetted.	亨德森怀着无视大使馆建议的打算去参加了研讨会。然而,他发现研讨会的问答环节受到了严格控制,只能提已经通过审查的书面问题。
For the most part, the clubs function as run-of-the-mill campus groups, providing transportation for new arrivals, sponsoring Lunar New Year celebrations and organizing bilingual job fairs. Joining the Chinese Students and Scholars Association on some campuses is competitive. Students are required to apply for spots on club committees, and being accepted confers a certain measure of prestige; members often trumpet it on their LinkedIn pages.	在大多数情况下,这些组织的作用和普通的校园团体差不多,比如为新来的学生提供交通服务,主办春节庆祝活动,组织双语招聘会。在有些学校,CSSA 会员资格是需要争取的。学生要向 CSSA 委员会提交申请,获准入会对他们是一项荣誉;会员经常在他们的 LinkedIn 页面上提到这个身份。
Neither the Chinese embassies in Washington and London nor the consulate in Los Angeles responded to questions about their ties to the student organizations.	中国驻华盛顿大使馆和洛杉矶领事馆都没有回复关于他们与这个学生组织关系的问题。
Leo Yao, departing president of the student association’s chapter at U.C. San Diego, said the group’s only regular interaction with the government was an annual meeting at the consulate, during which student safety and campus events are discussed.	加州大学圣迭戈分校 CSSA 分会会长列奥·姚(Leo Yao)即将离任,他说该组织与政府的唯一定期互动,就是在领事馆举行的年度会议,他们会在会上讨论学生安全和校园活动问题。
“So it’s true that we have connections with the consulate, but it’s not the kind of relations that many people say we have,” said Mr. Yao, a probability and statistics major from Zhuhai, China. “They think we represent the Chinese government, that we do things the Chinese	“我们与领事馆有联系,这倒是真的,但不是很多人说的那种关系。他们以为我们代表中国政府,我们做的是中国政府让我们做的事情,诸如此类,但事实并非如此,”来自珠海的姚说,他的专业是概率统计。

government tells us to do, things like that, but that's not true."
Chinese Students and Scholars Association groups started to spread in the 1980s as the number of Chinese students studying abroad began to grow. "I came to the U.S. and thought, 'Wow, great, I'm in a free country, now I hope that everything is cool and happy,'" said Frank Tian Xie, who arrived in the late 1980s to study chemistry at Purdue University. "But I found out that the government extended their control to even Chinese students in America."	在 1980 年代，随着中国留学生人数的增加，CSSA 开始发展壮大。“我来到美国，想，‘哇，太好了，我在一个自由的国家，现在我希望一切都很酷很快乐。但我发现，政府的控制甚至延伸到了在美国的中国学生身上，”1980 年代末来到普渡大学学化学的谢田（音）说。
Dr. Xie, now a professor at the University of South Carolina, Aiken, said the Chinese Consulate in Chicago tried to handpick officers of the organization and periodically sent a representative to meet with students in a motel room.	谢田现为南卡罗来纳大学艾肯分校(University of South Carolina, Aiken)教授，他表示，中国驻芝加哥领事馆试过为 CSSA 挑选官员，并定期派一名代表在汽车旅馆和学生会面。
Li Fengzhi, a longtime employee of the Chinese Ministry of State Security who came to the United States in 2003 as a graduate student at the University of Denver, said that the Chinese government did not see the group so much as a spying operation, but rather as a propaganda and "information collection organization." Mr. Li eventually defected and was debriefed by F.B.I. counterintelligence agents about the group's activities.	在中国国家全部供职多年的李凤智 2003 年到丹佛大学读研究生。他说，中国政府不至于把 CSSA 当作一个间谍机构，在它看来那是一个宣传和“信息采集组织”。李凤智最终叛逃美国，联邦调查局的反间谍特工就 CSSA 的活动讯问过他。
The ties between the Chinese government and the student groups are not exactly secret. At some colleges, like the University of Connecticut and the University of North Texas, the groups' websites mention that they are supported by or affiliated with Chinese consulates.	中国政府和学生团体之间的联系谈不上什么秘密。在某些大学，比如康涅狄格大学(University of Connecticut)和北德克萨斯大学(University of North Texas)，分会在网站上提到他们获得了中国领事馆的支持，或者受其领导。
Michigan Technological University's group acknowledges a relationship with the Chinese Embassy, then adds, "However, C.S.S.A. will not	密西根技术大学(Michigan Technological University)分会承认他们与中国大使馆有关系，然后说：“但是 CSSA 不会参加任何政治革命，除非情况很特

participate in any political revolutions, unless in special conditions.”	殊。”
But their relationship can also be covert. In the 1990s, Canadian immigration officials accused a leader of the group’s chapter at Concordia University in Montreal of using funds from the Chinese government and supplying Chinese diplomats with information regarding pro-democracy Chinese students.	但他们的关系也可能是隐蔽的。1990年代，加拿大移民官员指责蒙特利尔康科迪亚大学(Concordia University)CSSA分会的领导人使用了中国政府的资金，并向中国外交官提供亲民主的中国学生的信息。
In 2005, authorities in Belgium said they had identified another Chinese spy – a member of the Chinese Students and Scholars Association at Leuven University – coordinating industrial espionage agents throughout Europe, according to an unclassified 2011 F.B.I. report.	联邦调查局 2011 年的一份机密报告显示,2005 年比利时当局表示他们确认了又一名中国间谍的身份——一名鲁汶大学(Leuven University)CSSA 会员——称此人负责协调在欧洲各地的产业间谍行动。
Perry Link, a China expert and co-editor of the English version of “The Tiananmen Papers,” a compilation of secret Chinese documents relating to the Tiananmen Square protests, characterized the student organization as “a tool of the government’s foreign ministry” that, among other activities, keeps tabs on unpatriotic speech among Chinese students.	据英文版《天安门文件》(The Tiananmen Papers)编辑之一、中国问题专家林培瑞(Perry Link)讲述，这个学生组织是中国“政府外交部的一个工具”，从事包括监视中国学生的不爱国言论在内的活动。《天安门文件》是与天安门抗议行动有关的中国秘密文件汇编。
“The effect of that surveillance is less that certain people are caught and punished and more that virtually all Chinese students know they could be reported and, therefore, watch what they say in public fora,” said Dr. Link, now a professor at the University of California, Riverside.	“这种监视的重点不是让某些人遭到逮捕或受到惩罚，重要的是，几乎所有的中国学生都知道自己的言行可能会被汇报，所以在公共场合要注意自己的言论，”林博士目前在加州大学河滨分校担任教授。
At Columbia in 2007, a Canadian human rights lawyer, David Matas, arrived to find heavy security and a protest by the Chinese Students and Scholars Association against his presentation on China’s mistreatment of adherents of Falun Gong, a spiritual practice that combines portions of Buddhism, meditation and exercise and is banned by the	2007 年，加拿大人权律师戴维·马塔斯(David Matas)来到哥伦比亚大学演讲，内容是关于中国如何虐待法轮功学员，法轮功是一种宗教信仰，结合了佛教、冥想与锻炼，被政府所禁止。他发现自己的演讲上戒备森严，CSSA 针对它发起了抗议活动。 government.

Later, a threatening email — apparently directed at Mr. Matas — was sent to the Columbia group’s website, stating, “Anyone who offends China will be executed no matter how far away they are,” Mr. Matas said recently.	后来，一封显然是针对马塔斯的威胁性电子邮件被发送到 CSSA 哥伦比亚大学分会的网站上，邮件宣称，“犯我中华者，虽远必诛，”前不久，马塔斯说。
Last month the Columbia chapter held its annual China Prospects Conference at the Low Memorial Library at Columbia, focusing on economic policy and sustainable development. Several dozen government, academic and business leaders spoke to an audience of mostly Chinese students, and the agenda avoided third-rail topics such as human rights, Taiwan and the Dalai Lama.	上个月，CSSA 哥伦比亚大学分会在该校的洛氏纪念图书馆(Low Memorial Library)举办了它的年度中国展望大会，重点关注经济政策和可持续发展问题。会上几十位政府、学术界和企业界的领袖发表了讲话，观众主要是中国学生，议程中避免了人权、台湾和达赖喇嘛等争议话题。
A conference program said it had “full support from the Embassy of the People’s Republic of China.”	一个会议安排中写道，该大会“得到了中华人民共和国大使馆的全力支持。”
Several colleges where the Chinese Students and Scholars Association openly acknowledges ties to the Chinese government, including Columbia, said such ties did not violate any college rules. But colleges have found themselves caught up in Chinese politics just the same.	CSSA 在几所大学内的分会公开承认与中国政府的联系，包括哥伦比亚分会在内，他们说，这种关系没有违反学校的任何规定。但不管怎样，一些大学还是发现自己陷入了中国政治的漩涡。
After the University of Calgary conferred an honorary degree on the Dalai Lama in 2009, the Chinese government withdrew Calgary from its list of accredited international universities for a year. Enrollment from China dipped slightly, then grew again after accreditation was restored and is now a quarter of the university’s total international students.	卡尔加里大学于 2009 年授予达赖喇嘛荣誉学位后，中国政府将该校从政府认证的国际大学名单中撤出一年。该校的中国新生入学人数略有下降，认证恢复后再次增长，现在中国学生占该校国际学生总数的四分之一。
At U.C. San Diego, about 3,500 undergraduates hail from China, or more than 10 percent of the student body. They pay more than twice what California students pay, providing critical revenue at a time when the	在加州大学圣迭戈分校，约有 3500 名本科生来自中国，占学生总数的 10% 以上。他们支付的费用是加利福尼亚州学生的两倍还多，在加州大学系统面临经济压力时，这笔钱堪称至关重要的收入。

University of California system is financially pressured.
Last year, Mr. Khosla, the chancellor, laid the groundwork for the Dalai Lama's speech, meeting with him in Dharamsala, India, where the Dalai Lama has lived since fleeing Tibet after a 1959 uprising. Through his office, Mr. Khosla declined to be interviewed.	达赖喇嘛于 1959 年暴动之后逃离西藏，此后就一直住在印度的达兰萨拉。去年，校监科斯拉在那里同他会面，为这次演讲打下了基础。科斯拉通过自己的办公室拒绝了采访。
Other than Mr. Yao, the exiting club president, members of the group declined requests for interviews. But some other Chinese students said they also were offended by the Dalai Lama's invitation. At the Price Center, a campus student center and food court, several who were eating lunch one recent afternoon predicted protests on June 17, commencement day. One said his parents were going to miss his graduation because they refused to be present for the Dalai Lama's speech.	除了即将离任的姚会长，CSSA 的其他成员都拒绝了采访请求。但其他一些中国学生说，邀请达赖喇嘛的决定也让他们觉得恼火。前不久的一个中午，在校园学生活动中心与美食广场普莱斯中心，有几个吃午饭的学生预计 6 月 17 日毕业典礼那天会有抗议活动。有人说，他的父母不想出席达赖喇嘛的演讲，所以不会来参加自己的毕业典礼。
Shiwei Terry Zhou, a junior from Wuhan, China, said the students felt targeted by the university's decision. "We make good grades. We don't make trouble. We pay a lot," Mr. Zhou said. "What is the motivation?"	来自中国武汉的大三学生周世伟（音）表示，学校的决定让中国学生们感觉自己受到了针对。“我们取得好成绩。我们不惹麻烦。我们出了很多钱，”周世伟说。“他们这样做的动机是什么？”
Despite the pressure, the university has not backed down. At a meeting with Mr. Khosla, members of the Chinese Students and Scholars Association asked that the university at least refrain from referring to the Dalai Lama as a "spiritual leader" and that he be prevented from discussing politics.	尽管面临压力，学校也没有退缩。在与科斯拉会面时，CSSA 的会员们要求学校至少不要将达赖喇嘛称为“精神领袖”，而且应当禁止他讨论政治问题。
"Rebranding is very important so we won't take this personally, maybe," Mr. Yao said.	“重塑形象是非常重要的，所以我们会对事不对人，可能吧，”姚先生说。
The university has not said if it will comply with those demands. In a statement, it said it has always "served as a forum for discussion and	大学没有表明自己是否会顺应这些要求。在一份声明中，它表示，该校一直“在重大公共政策问题上充当讨论与互动的论坛；并在思考我们这个复杂的 interaction on important public policy issues and respects the rights of individuals to agree or disagree as we consider issues of our complex world.”	世界的问题时，尊重每个人同意或不同意的权利。”

https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170505/chinese-students-western-camp-uses-china-influence	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170505/chinese-students-western-camp-uses-china-influence
U.S. Investigates Work at Pacific Island Casino Project With Trump Ties	雇佣中国黑工，塞班岛赌场工程与特朗普也有瓜葛
HONG KONG — Han Dong was operating a crane in China’s rust belt last August when he heard about a chance to make it big in America.	香港——韩冬去年8月听说有一个在美国挣大钱的机会，当时他正在中国的铁锈地带操作一台起重机。
Local recruiters told him he could make as much as $2,900 a month, or nearly four times the average wage in China — and could even eventually apply for an American green card.	当地的招工者告诉他，他每月可挣到高达2万元的钱——这几乎是中国平均工资的四倍，而且最终甚至还有可能申请美国绿卡。
Instead, Mr. Han said, he ended up working on the construction site of a casino on Saipan, part of an American commonwealth in the Pacific Ocean, where federal officials are investigating working conditions at a project managed by Chinese construction firms. An American green card, which would allow him to be employed legally there or anywhere in the United States, no longer appears very likely.	韩冬说，结果是，他目前正在塞班岛的一个赌场建筑工地上打工，塞班岛是美国太平洋自治政区的一部分，联邦官员正在那里调查一个由中国建筑公司管理的项目的工作条件。让他能在那里或美国任何地方合法工作的美国绿卡似乎已不再可能。
“They tricked us to come here,” Mr. Han said of the agents that transported him to Saipan, where he put up scaffolding for 12 hours a day in the tropical heat. Before the fees he paid out to middlemen to get hired, he made only half what he was promised, he said.	“他们把我们骗过来的，”韩冬说，他指的是把他运到塞班岛的招工。他每天冒着这里的热带炎热气候工作12个小时，搭建脚手架。他说，在扣除招他来这里工作的中间人费用之前，他挣的钱只有承诺给他的一半。
The casino project in Saipan, an island about 3,700 miles west of Hawaii, illustrates a challenge for China, even as it throws an unusual look into the issue of undocumented workers on American soil.	塞班岛位于夏威夷以西约6000公里，岛上的这个赌场项目是对中国的一个挑战，同时也给美国土地上的无证件工人问题提供了一个不同寻常的视角。
For China, high-profile regional construction projects are crucial to	对中国来说，广受关注的区域性建设项目对国家主席习近平的“一带一路”等

programs like President Xi Jinping’s “One Belt, One Road.” That program, which envisions economic development across the Asia-Pacific region led by China, would expand the country’s influence and demonstrate its construction and development know-how even as it provides a potential outlet for Chinese industrial overcapacity. So far, despite the promise of subsidies from China, One Belt, One Road’s progress has been slow – and being outed as an exporter of illegal construction workers to an Asia-Pacific neighbor does not help that agenda.	战略至关重要。该战略所展望的是由中国领导的亚太地区经济发展，既能扩大国家的影响力、展示中国的建设和开发经验，又能给中国过剩的工业产能提供一个潜在的消化渠道。到目前为止，尽管中国承诺提供补贴，但“一带一路”的进展颇为缓慢，向亚太邻国输出非法建筑工人的事情被暴露出来，对这个战略也不会有所帮助。
One Chinese contractor at the site, Suzhou Gold Mantis Construction Decoration, ties the project to One Belt, One Road. “The company will use the Saipan project to fully grasp One Belt, One Road,” it said in a statement on its website.	赌场建设工地承包商之一、苏州金螳螂建筑装饰股份有限公司把项目与“一带一路”联系起来。公司在其网站上公布的一份通知书中说，“公司将以塞班岛项目为契机，充分把握‘一带一路’。”
For the United States, the Saipan situation comes as President Trump calls for tougher limits on immigrants working illegally. In that regard, the investigation in Saipan carries a twist of irony: The chairman of the company that is building the casino hotel was once a protégé of Mr. Trump’s own casinos in Atlantic City.	对美国来说，塞班岛问题的暴露，恰好是在特朗普总统要求对非法在美工作的移民采取更严格的限制措施的时候。从这个角度来看，塞班岛的调查也带有一个讽刺的意外：建设赌场酒店公司的董事长，曾经是特朗普在自己的大西洋城赌场提携起来的人。
In late March, after a worker at the project, the Imperial Pacific casino hotel, died from a fall, F.B.I. agents raided the site and discovered hundreds of undocumented Chinese workers. Last month, United States prosecutors filed criminal charges against a number of individuals associated with two big Chinese contractors. Work on the project now faces delays.	3月下旬，博华塞班度假村酒店项目的一名工人跌落死亡之后，美国联邦调查局（简称FBI）特工突击搜查了建筑工地，发现了上百名没有合法证件的中国工人。上个月，美国检察机关对与两家中国大型承包商有关的一些个人提出刑事指控。项目工作目前面临推迟。
Before the labor issues became public, the Saipan casino project had	在劳工问题公开之前，塞班赌场项目已经引起了博彩行业分析师的关注。

already drawn attention from casino industry analysts.
Imperial Pacific International Holdings, which owns the Imperial Pacific project, already operates a small temporary gambling facility nearby called Best Sunshine Live, which began operating in late 2015 in a duty-free shop near the larger hotel construction site.	博华塞班度假村项目的拥有者是博华太平洋国际控股有限公司，这家公司已经在附近经营一家名为“太平洋娱乐”(Best Sunshine Live)的小型临时赌场，该赌场设在上述大型酒店建筑工地附近的一个免税店里，于2015年底开业。
Best Sunshine’s high-roller tables far outperform the most profitable gambling palaces in Macau, the world’s largest gambling market, on a table-to-table gambling volume basis. Last year, the tiny temporary casino with 16 tables for so-called VIPs generated about $32 billion in gambling volume, according to Imperial Pacific’s stock exchange filings.	太平洋娱乐从豪赌者的赌台上挣到的钱，比澳门最赚钱的赌场还多，以每张赌台的赌博业务为基础来计算，澳门是世界上最大的赌博市场。据博华太平洋向股票交易所提交的文件，去年，这家为所谓的贵宾设置了16张赌台的临时小赌场产生了约320亿美元的赌博业务。
Imperial Pacific has not been accused of wrongdoing by federal officials, in either the work investigation or in its gambling business. “We have very stringent procedures on compliance to prevent money-laundering activities,” Shen Yan, president for global capital markets at Imperial Pacific, said Wednesday evening in a telephone interview. He said the high per-table volumes were because of the limited supply of gambling space when compared with Macau, and the fact that customers, mostly from China, tended to stay and gamble longer when traveling to Saipan.	联邦官员没有指控博华太平洋在劳工调查或赌博业务中有不法行为。博华太平洋全球资本市场总裁严衍申周三晚接受电话采访时说：“我们有严格的合规程序来防止洗钱活动。”他说，与澳门相比，塞班岛的赌博空间供应有限，这是每张赌台的平均业务量高的原因之一，还有一个原因是大多数赌客来自中国，他们来塞班岛旅游时，在这里停留和赌博的时间一般会 longer。
On the labor issues, it said in a statement that its executives “denounce in strongest terms the harboring and the use of illegal workers by some of its contractors and subcontractors, and the utter disregard on the rights and well-being of these affected individuals.”	就劳工问题而言，博华太平洋在一份声明中说，公司高管“强烈谴责一些承包商及分包商窝藏和使用非法劳工的做法，强烈谴责全然无视这些受牵连工人的权益和福祉的行为。”
Mark A. Brown, a casino industry veteran who before Saipan worked at properties in Cambodia, Macau and Las Vegas, got his start as a protégé	赌场行业资深人士马克·A·布朗(Mark A. Brown)来塞班岛工作之前，曾在柬埔寨、澳门和拉斯维加斯的赌场工作过，他是特朗普从其大西洋城赌场提携

in Mr. Trump’s Atlantic City casinos, eventually rising to the position of chief executive of Trump Hotels and Casino Resorts.	上来的人，最终被提升为特朗普酒店和赌场度假村(Trump Hotels and Casino Resorts)的首席执行官。
“Trump protégé’ makes for a good story,” Mr. Brown said in an email. But, he added, “the facts are we have many prominent individuals on our board of directors.”	布朗在一封电子邮件中说，“用特朗普提携上来的人这种说法让故事很动听。”但他补充说，“事实上，我们的董事会里有许多很杰出的人。”
They include R. James Woolsey, a former C.I.A. director who sits on the board. An advisory committee announced by the company last year to provide strategic and tactical advice on its business and government relations included Louis Freeh, a former F.B.I. director, and Ed Rendell, a former governor of Pennsylvania.	他们包括担任过中央情报局局长的 R·詹姆斯·伍尔西(C. James Woolsey)，他是董事会成员。去年，博华太平洋公布了一个咨询委员会，其任务是为公司业务和政府公关提供战略和战术建议，委员会成员包括曾任联邦调查局局长的路易斯·弗里(Louis Freeh)和宾夕法尼亚州前州长爱德·伦德尔(Ed Rendell)。
American prosecutors have charged a number of individuals connected to two Chinese contractors with illegally harboring and employing immigrant workers in Saipan. Among them, the F.B.I. said, were agents for MCC International Saipan, a local affiliate of a big state-run contractor, China Metallurgical Group; and for another mainland company, Nanjing Beilida New Material System Engineering. Representatives of both Chinese companies declined to comment on Thursday.	美国检察官已对几名与两家中国承包商有关的个人提出指控，他们涉嫌在塞班岛非法窝藏和雇用移民工。FBI 说，这些人中包括大型国营承包商中国冶金科工集团有限公司在当地的分公司 MCC 国际塞班(MCC International Saipan)的代理人，以及另一家大陆公司南京倍立达新材料系统工程股份有限公司的代理人。这两家中国公司的代表周四都拒绝置评。
In the F.B.I. raid that led to the charges, agents discovered corporate spreadsheets listing 150 workers as “hei gong,” a Chinese word for undocumented laborers.	在引发指控的 FBI 突袭调查中，特工发现，在中国公司的电子表格上有 150 名工人被列为“黑工”，意思是无证劳工。
Mr. Han, the worker from China’s rust belt, worked for the contractor Suzhou Gold Mantis, which was not targeted by the F.B.I. He said that he and other Suzhou Gold Mantis workers had been out of a job since April 2 but continued to wait for payment, occasionally protesting in	来自中国铁锈地带的工人韩东为苏州金螳螂公司工作，这家承包商不是 FBI 调查的对象。韩东说，自己及其他为苏州金螳螂工作的人自 4 月 2 日起就已失业，但他们仍在等待公司支付工资，他们偶尔在赌场前抗议。“金螳螂公司没露面，”他说。“经理都跑回国了。”

front of the casino. "We haven't seen anyone from Gold Mantis," he said. "All the managers have escaped."
Another Suzhou Gold Mantis worker, Meng Hongjun, 46, from Henan Province in central China, said he had done stints as an overseas laborer in Dubai in 2010 and in Saudi Arabia in 2012.	46 岁的孟红军（音）是另一名给苏州金螳螂打工的人，他来自中国中部的河南省，他说，他在迪拜和沙特阿拉伯当过外来劳工，分别是在 2010 年和 2012 年。
Mr. Meng heard about the opportunity in Saipan last year, signed himself up on a group tour and arrived in October. "I knew I would be working illegally here," he said Wednesday in a phone interview. "I knew it."	孟红军去年听说了塞班岛的工作机会，他参加了一个旅游团，于去年 10 月来到这里。“我知道过来就是打黑工的，”他周三在电话采访中说。“我知道的。”
An external spokesman for Suzhou Gold Mantis based in Washington said on Wednesday that it was providing help for 91 people who had been working on the project.	苏州金螳螂驻华盛顿的外部发言人周三表示，公司正在为曾经参加项目的 91 名工人提供帮助。
The company, the spokesman said in a statement, "is working with the authorities to identify individuals who worked on Gold Mantis projects and ensure they receive the wages they are entitled to under the law."	该发言人在一份声明中说，公司“正在与当局合作，核实为金螳螂项目工作的个人的身份，确保他们得到依法享有的工资”。
Edith DeLeon Guerrero, secretary of labor for the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, which includes Saipan, did not return phone calls seeking comment.	北马里亚纳群岛自治政区劳工部长埃迪斯·德里隆·格雷罗 (Edith DeLeon Guerrero) 没有回复请求置评的电话，塞班岛属于该自治政区。
For Saipan and neighboring islands, workers from abroad — who can be brought in legally under a special program — account for nearly half of the local work force. But they must be paid the federally mandated minimum wage, set at $6.55 per hour in Saipan, plus 1.5 times that for overtime above 40 hours a week. The foreign worker permit program is scheduled to be phased out by 2019 — meaning the economic temptation to resort to illegal labor could rise further unless Mr. Trump's	对于塞班岛和邻近岛屿来说，外国工人占当地劳动力的近一半，可以通过一个特别项目合法引进外国工人。但付给他们的工资不得低于联邦政府规定的最低工资，在塞班岛，联邦最低工资是每小时 6.55 美元，而且每周工作时间超过 40 小时后，还需付 1.5 倍于工资的加班费。外国工人许可证计划将在 2019 年之前逐步淘汰，这意味着依靠非法劳工的经济诱惑可能会进一步上升，除非特朗普政府提出其他的解决方案。 administration comes up with an alternative.

In a United States Senate committee hearing last week, the Government Accountability Office estimated that the end of the imported labor program, which it said included many construction workers from China, would dramatically shrink the local economy, by as much as 62 percent of 2015 gross domestic product.	在美国参议院一个委员会上周的听证会上，政府问责局估计，停止引进劳工的计划会导致当地经济的大幅缩水，幅度可达当地 2015 年 GDP 的 62%，政府问责局称，外国劳工中包括许多来自中国的建筑工人。
Saipan has a long history of work done under “sweatshop and labor trafficking conditions,” said Jennifer Rosenbaum, a visiting human rights fellow at Yale Law School.	耶鲁大学法学院的人权问题访问学者珍妮弗·罗森鲍姆(Jennifer Rosenbaum)说，塞班岛有在“血汗工厂和贩运劳工条件下”打工的悠久历史。
“While Gold Mantis was not subject to the F.B.I. raid,” she said in an email, “the Department of Justice action shows that the pressure on the construction site, across multiple contractors, was to cut labor costs by seeking out migrant workers least able to complain and then pressuring them to work in substandard conditions.”	她在一封电子邮件中说，“虽然金螳螂不是 FBI 突击检查的对象，但司法部的行动表明，施工工地上的多家承包商都面临一种压力，就是通过寻找最不能抱怨的移民工人，然后迫使他们在不符合标准的条件下工作，来降低劳动力成本。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170505/saipan-casino-illegal-chinese-workers-trump	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170505/saipan-casino-illegal-chinese-workers-trump
Kushner Family’s Push in China Adds to White House’s Ethics Mire	美国 EB-5 计划为总统亲属和中国富人制造便利
WASHINGTON — It was the first major piece of legislation that President Trump signed into law, and buried on page 734 was one sentence that brought a potential benefit to the president’s extended family: renewal of a program offering permanent residence in the United States to affluent foreigners investing money in real estate projects here.	华盛顿——这是特朗普总统签署生效的第一个主要法案，里面有句话深埋在法案第 734 页，它给总统的三亲六故带来了潜在的利益：延长一个为在美国房地产项目上投资的富有外国人提供永久居留权的计划。
Just hours after the appropriations measure was signed on Friday, the company run until January by Mr. Trump’s son-in-law and top adviser,	周五，这项拨款法案签署仅数小时后，直到今年 1 月仍由特朗普的女婿兼高级顾问贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)掌舵的公司就开始在北京敦促中国富

Jared Kushner, was urging wealthy Chinese in Beijing to consider investing $500,000 each in a pair of Jersey City, N.J., luxury apartment towers the family-owned Kushner Companies plans to build. Mr. Kushner was even cited at a marketing presentation by his sister Nicole Meyer, who was on her way to China even before the bill was signed. The project "means a lot to me and my entire family," she told the prospective investors.	人投资，每人 50 万美元，对象是库什纳家族经营的几家公司计划在新泽西州泽西城修建的两栋豪华公寓楼。库什纳的妹妹尼科尔·迈耶(Nicole Meyer)甚至市场推广会上提起库什纳。迈耶在该法案签署之前就已动身前往中国。她向潜在的投资者表示，这个项目“对我和我家族意义重大”。
The sequence of events offers one of the most explicit examples to date of the peril of the Trump and Kushner families maintaining close ties to their business interests and creates an impression they stand to profit off Mr. Trump's presence in the White House. It also illustrates the problems of the so-called EB-5 visa program that prominent Republican and Democratic members of Congress want changed.	这一系列事件是迄今为止最明显的一个例子，表明特朗普和库什纳家族与其商业利益保持密切联系的危害性，而且它们给人造成一种印象：亲属们利用特朗普身在白宫的事实渔利。这也暴露出人们所说的 EB-5 签证计划的问题，共和党和民主党的一些主要议员想要改变这个计划。
"It is just one more dilemma that a family with vast commercial interest has when relatives are in the federal government, particularly the White House," said Michael H. Cardozo, who served as a deputy White House counsel in the Carter administration, which struggled with its own controversies related to the president's brother, Billy Carter, and his work on behalf of an American company seeking to get into the oil industry in Libya. "The actions of relatives can come back and bite those serving those in the government."	"这只是一个拥有巨大商业利益的家族有亲属在联邦政府尤其是白宫任职时遇到的又一个困境，"曾在卡特政府担任白宫法务副顾问的迈克尔·H·卡多佐(Michael H. Cardozo)说。卡特政府也因总统的弟弟比利·卡特(Billy Carter)代表一家美国公司寻求进入利比亚石油产业而陷入争议。"亲戚们的行为可能会反过来伤害那些在政府任职的人。"
Bipartisan critics in Washington say they want to revamp the visa program because it is often abused. It supports high-end luxury projects, like the Kushner family deal, instead of promoting job creation in rural America or distressed urban areas, as it was intended. It has also	华盛顿的两党批评人士表示，他们想修改这个签证计划，因为它经常被滥用。它支持高档豪华项目，比如库什纳家族的那个项目，却未能实现它的初衷，为美国乡村或城市贫困地区创造就业机会。联邦监管机构也批评该项目缺乏足够的保障措施，无法避免非法资金流入美国。他们发现有一位申请人与一

been criticized by federal regulators for insufficient safeguards against illicit money coming into the United States; in the case of one applicant, they found potential financial ties to a string of Chinese brothels.	系列中国妓院存在潜在的财务关系。
There is no assertion that Mr. Kushner broke any conflict-of-interest rule; but the law does not prevent his relatives from attempting to exploit those ties to benefit the family business.	目前无人在说库什纳违反了利益冲突规则，但这项法律并不阻止其亲属利用这些关系为家族企业谋利。
Mr. Kushner’s portfolio includes a central role on China policy. That role has heightened the Kushner family name in a nation accounting for more than 80 percent of the EB-5 visas issued. Wealthy Chinese see the program as an easy way to legally move to the United States.	在库什纳经手的诸多事宜中，就包括其在中国政策方面所扮演的重要角色。这提高了库什纳家族在中国的名气，而 80% 以上的 EB-5 签证获得者来自中国。富裕的中国人将该计划视为合法移民美国的一个简便方法。
In fact, Kushner Companies — when Mr. Kushner was still at the helm — had received $50 million in EB-5 financing for a separate New Jersey project, a Trump-branded luxury high-rise tower in Jersey City that opened late last year.	事实上，在库什纳依然掌舵时，他的公司在新泽西州的另一个项目上通过 EB-5 获得了 5000 万美元的融资，那就是去年年底开盘的泽西市特朗普品牌高层豪华大楼。
On Monday, Senator Dianne Feinstein, Democrat of California, called the visa program “a stark conflict of interest for the Trump White House.” Meanwhile, the ethics watchdog group Democracy 21 called for Mr. Kushner to recuse himself from all policy dealing with China. The group had previously called for Mr. Kushner to make public a full list of his family firm’s overseas business partners and lenders as well as a full divestiture of his business assets into a blind trust.	周一，加利福尼亚州民主党参议员黛安·范斯坦(Dianne Feinstein)称该签证计划“对特朗普政府来说具有明显的利益冲突”。同时，道德观察组织民主 21(Democracy 21)呼吁库什纳不参与任何与中国相关的政策制订。该组织之前曾呼吁库什纳公开其家族公司的海外业务伙伴和贷款人的完整名单，并将其商业资产全部交给一个保密信托公司。
After a surge in attention to the topic over the weekend, a spokesman for Mr. Trump said on Monday that the president also endorses changes to the visa program, including perhaps increasing the price foreigners must pay to get the special immigration status. A White House	周末，民众对该话题的关注骤涨。周一，特朗普的一名发言人表示，总统也赞成修改该签证计划，可能包括提高外国人获得特殊移民身份必须支付的费用。白宫的一项声明称，政府“正在考虑对 EB-5 计划进行全面改革，以确保该计划能实现它的本意，保证投资散布到全国各地”。

statement said the administration “is evaluating wholesale reform of the EB-5 program to ensure that the program is used as intended and that investment is being spread to all areas of the country.”
The statement also said that Mr. Kushner, who is married to Ivanka Trump, has recused himself from EB-5 related matters: “Jared takes the ethics rules very seriously and would never compromise himself or the administration.” In a statement from Kushner Companies, Mr. Kushner’s sister said it was not her intent to mention her brother as a way to lure investors.	该声明还表示，库什纳，也就是伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)的丈夫，已经回避与 EB-5 相关的事务：“贾里德非常认真地遵守道德准则，永远不会让自己或本政府的声誉受损。”在库什纳公司的一项声明中，库什纳的妹妹表示，她并非有意为吸引投资者而提及自己的哥哥。
Other family members of presidents have created stirs in past decades — including Neil Bush, the son of President George Bush — as they have engaged in outside business ventures that intersected with the federal government. Hillary Clinton’s brother Anthony Rodham was once cited for inappropriate appeals to government officials about a grant through this very same visa program.	在过去几十年里，其他一些总统的家庭成员也因参与与联邦政府相关的外部公司项目而引发争议，包括乔治·布什总统(George Bush)的儿子尼尔·布什(Neil Bush)。据说，希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)的弟弟安东尼·罗德姆(Anthony Rodham)曾因为想通过同一个签证计划获得资金而不恰当地请求政府官员帮忙。
But the matters involving Mr. Kushner, the White House and Kushner Companies are different. None of those previous presidential relatives took jobs in the White House while simultaneously benefiting from a multibillion dollar business with international partners, who also stand to benefit from federal programs.	不过，库什纳与白宫及库什纳公司所涉事宜不同寻常。之前那些总统的亲属都没有在白宫任职的同时从价值数十亿美元的公司获利。而该公司的国际合作伙伴也受益于联邦政府的计划。
Although Mr. Kushner has shed stakes in some of the company’s investments, he has retained most of his interest, as the main beneficiary of a series of trusts invested in the firm’s various projects. His stake, along with some other investments, is worth as much as $600 million, and possibly much more, according to a government ethics	尽管库什纳已经出手了在该公司部分投资中的股份，但他保留了大部分收益，他是在该公司多个项目上投资的一系列信托机构的主要受益者。根据库什纳今年3月公布的一份政府道德披露报表，他的股份和其他一些投资的总价值高达6亿美元，甚至可能比这个数字多出许多。但是，库什纳的公司拒绝公布它的合作伙伴名单。

disclosure form made public by Mr. Kushner in March. But Kushner Companies has declined to make public a list of its partners.
When it was created in 1990, the EB-5 visa program was intended to provide a new source of financing for projects in underserved areas, defined as places with high unemployment. But there are no federal standards for defining such neighborhoods. And developers often provide gerrymandered maps to qualify under the program.	EB-5 签证计划 1990 年推出时旨在为开发程度较低地区的项目提供新的融资来源，那些地区被定义为高失业率地区。但联邦政府没有给出界定这种社区的标准。开发商经常提供篡改过的地图，以符合该计划的资格。
The Kushner project in Jersey City “is a textbook example of the abuses we have seen in the last six or seven years,” said Shae Armstrong, a Dallas lawyer who has joined with members of Congress, including Senators Charles E. Grassley, Republican of Iowa, and Ms. Feinstein, to call for changes in the	达拉斯律师谢伊·阿姆斯特朗(Shae Armstrong)表示，泽西市的库什纳项目“是过去六七年来我们看到的此类滥用行为的典型案例”。他和一些国会议员共同呼吁改变该签证计划，包括艾奥瓦州共和党参议员查尔斯·E·格拉斯利(Charles E. Grassley)和范斯坦等。
That part of Jersey City, less than three miles from Manhattan, is hardly an economically depressed area, and a luxury apartment building is going to create few permanent jobs. “And it is why other towns in rural America are not getting EB-5 money,” he said.	泽西市的这个区域离曼哈顿不到三英里，算不上经济萧条地区，而且一个豪华的公寓大楼也创造不出多少永久性工作。“这就是美国乡村地区的其他城镇无法获得 EB-5 融资的原因，”他说。
Indeed, in the Beijing presentation delivered by Mr. Kushner’s sister, the firm cited the high household income of the majority of the residents – between $100,000 and $200,000 – in the Trump-branded building that has already received EB-5 financing.	事实上，在库什纳妹妹主持的北京发布会上，该公司指出，已获得 EB-5 融资的特朗普品牌大楼的大部分居民都有很高的家庭年收入——在 10 万至 20 万美元之间。
The $1 billion Kushner project at the center of the current controversy is a set of high-rise towers – including 1,730 apartments and 89,000 square feet of retail space. The company is seeking $150 million through the EB-5 program.	目前处于争议中心的价值 10 亿美元的库什纳项目是两座高层建筑，包括 1730 套公寓和 8.9 万平方英尺的商铺面积。该公司正努力通过 EB-5 计划获得 1.5 亿美元的融资。
Traditional lenders can charge interest of between 12 and 18 percent,	纽约大学(New York University)教授加里·弗里德兰(Gary Friedland)写过很

said Gary Friedland, a professor at New York University who has written extensively about the program. But EB-5 loans can wind up costing developers as little as 4 percent, he said.	多关于该计划的文章。他表示,传统贷款机构可能会收取 12%至 18%的利息,而通过 EB-5 计划, 开发商可能只需支付 4%的利息。
"The immigrant investor's primary purpose is to secure a visa, so they accept minimal interest, as low as half a percent," said Mr. Friedland.	"移民投资者的主要目的是获得签证, 所以他们愿意接受极低的利息, 可能低至 0.5%, "弗里德兰说。
For developers, said Steve Yale-Loehr, an immigration law professor at Cornell University, the appeal of EB-5 can be summed up in two words: "Cheap money."	康奈尔大学(Cornell University)移民法教授史蒂夫·耶尔·勒尔(Steve Yale-Loehr)表示, 对于开发商来说, EB-5 的吸引力可以用一个词来概括: "低息贷款。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170509/kushner-china-visa-eb-5	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170509/kushner-china-visa-eb-5
With Awkward Timing, Trump Meets Top Russian Official	尴尬时机中, 特朗普首次会晤俄罗斯高官
WASHINGTON — What a day for President Trump's first face-to-face meeting with a top Russian official.	华盛顿——首次与一名俄罗斯高官面对面会晤的特朗普总统真会挑时候。
Only hours after dismissing James B. Comey as director of the F.B.I., amid an investigation into the Trump campaign's contacts with Russian officials, the president met with Russia's foreign minister, Sergey V. Lavrov, at the White House. It is the only item on the president's public schedule for Wednesday.	在联邦调查局(FBI)局长詹姆斯·B·科米(James B. Comey)被解职仅仅若干小时后, 在当局针对特朗普竞选团队与俄罗斯官员的接触开展调查之际, 总统在白宫会见了俄罗斯外长谢尔盖·V·拉夫罗夫(Sergey V.Lavrov)。这是总统周三的公开日程表上唯一一件事情。
Mr. Lavrov began his day at the State Department, meeting Secretary of State Rex W. Tillerson, and the subject of Mr. Comey came up, briefly, in what the State Department hoped would be a controlled encounter with the news media.	当天, 拉夫罗夫先赶到国务院, 会见国务卿雷克斯·W·蒂勒森(Rex W. Tillerson); 与媒体碰面时——国务院原本希望这是一场受控的碰面——关于科米的问题短暂地浮出水面。
After Mr. Tillerson thanked Mr. Lavrov for coming to Washington, the two men began to leave the diplomatic reception room on the seventh floor of the State Department. When a reporter shouted a question about whether Mr. Comey's dismissal "cast a shadow" on the meeting,	在蒂勒森对拉夫罗夫到访华盛顿表示感谢后, 两人开始从位于国务院七楼的外交接待厅往外走。一名记者高声发问, 科米被解职是否会让此次会晤"笼罩上一层阴影"。以恶作剧式的幽默感闻名的拉夫罗夫反击道:

Mr. Lavrov, known for a puckish sense of humor, shot back:
"Was he fired? You're kidding! You're kidding!"	"他被解职了？你在开玩笑吧！你在开玩笑吧！"
He then turned and followed Mr. Tillerson into his office.	他随后转过身去，跟随蒂勒森走进其办公室。
The bare-bones description given by Mr. Tillerson's spokesman suggested that on the official agenda are the new Russian plan for safe zones in Syria, the campaign against the Islamic State, weapons development in North Korea and the continued Russian activity in Ukraine. But the two men are planning no news conference, perhaps because the one they held in Moscow, one month ago, proved little more than how far apart the two countries were.	蒂勒森的发言人提供的简略信息显示，俄罗斯关于叙利亚安全区的新计划、打击伊斯兰国的行动、朝鲜的武器研制以及俄罗斯在乌克兰的持续活动等议题，都在官方日程之列。但两人并不打算召开新闻发布会，这或许是因为他们一个月前在莫斯科召开的发布会除了证明两国关系有多疏离以外几乎毫无用处。
At that news conference, they differed on whether Syria was responsible for a gas attack that killed civilians and led to the American airstrike on a Syrian military base. At the same event, Mr. Tillerson left no doubt that he believed the American intelligence reports that Russia had sought to interfere with the 2016 presidential election. Before and since, Mr. Trump has described that as "fake news," and said the continued investigation was a waste of taxpayer money.	出席那场发布会时，他们在叙利亚是否对一场毒气袭击负有责任的问题上各执己见。那场导致平民丧生的袭击，促使美国空袭了叙利亚的一个军事基地。在同一场合，蒂勒森清楚地表明，对于美国情报机构关于俄罗斯曾寻求干扰2016年美国大选的报告，他是相信的。而特朗普一直称之为“假新闻”，说继续开展调查是浪费纳税人的钱。
Clearly the State Department wanted no chance of a repeat of those kinds of inquiries.	显然，国务院并不想给媒体就这类问题再度提问的机会。
It seems doubtful that the election hacking, or the sanctions President Barack Obama imposed on Russia in the last days of his administration, will be topics of conversation at the Oval Office meeting. That seems too fraught for the White House, at a time when federal investigators are still examining whether Mr. Trump's former national security adviser, Michael T. Flynn, made any promises to reverse the sanctions in	针对大选的黑客行为或贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)临卸任时对俄罗斯实施的制裁等话题，似乎不大可能出现在椭圆形办公室(Oval Office)内的会晤中。这样的话题对白宫来说似乎太过棘手，因为联邦调查人员目前仍在调查，特朗普的前国家安全顾问迈克尔·T·弗林(Michael T. Flynn)去年9月末与俄罗斯驻美国大使谢尔盖·I·基斯利亚克(Sergey I. Kislyak)通电话时，是否曾承诺要撤销制裁。

a telephone conversation in late December with the Russian ambassador to the United States, Sergey I. Kislyak.
But the issue will certainly hang over the meeting. Many outside analysts, and some administration officials, say that it is now nearly impossible for Mr. Trump to lift either the sanctions Mr. Obama put in place or the far more powerful sanctions imposed after the Russian seizure of Crimea. Mr. Tillerson said in Moscow that those sanctions would remain as long as Russia did not reverse its actions, and the new senior director for Russia on the National Security Council, Fiona Hill, has been among the most vociferous critics of Vladimir V. Putin, the Russian president.	但此事肯定会让这场会晤蒙上阴影。很多外部分析人士以及一些政府官员称，现在特朗普显然既不能解除奥巴马卸任前推出的制裁措施，也不能解除俄罗斯在把克里米亚收入囊中后受到的严厉得多的制裁。蒂勒森在莫斯科曾表示，如果俄罗斯不改弦易辙，这些制裁就不会被解除；国家安全委员会(National Security Council)新任俄罗斯事务高级主管菲奥娜·希尔(Fiona Hill)，则是俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)最激烈的批评者之一。
But Mr. Lavrov and Mr. Trump are clearly trying to organize a first meeting between the two presidents, very likely to come on the edges of a summit meeting this summer. And the United States will have to decide whether to embrace a Russian plan for safe zones in Syria, something that Mr. Trump endorsed in the campaign but that the Pentagon has largely rejected because it could lead to more American involvement on the ground in the civil war.	但拉夫罗夫和特朗普显然正试图安排两国总统的首次会晤——极有可能是在今年夏天一场峰会的边会上。此外，美国将不得不决定，是否接纳俄罗斯关于在叙利亚建安全区的计划——特朗普在竞选期间曾有类似主张，但五角大楼基本对该计划持拒斥态度，因为它可能导致美国进一步陷入叙利亚内战的泥潭。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170511/trump-russia-foreign-minister-sergey-lavrov-meeting	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170511/trump-russia-foreign-minister-sergey-lavrov-meeting
Trump Revealed Highly Classified Intelligence to Russia, in Break With Ally, Officials Say	官员称特朗普向俄罗斯“泄露”机密情报
WASHINGTON — President Trump boasted about highly classified intelligence in a meeting with the Russian foreign minister and ambassador last week, providing details that could expose the source of	华盛顿——一名现任和一名前任美国政府官员本周一表示，特朗普在上周与俄罗斯外长和大使会晤时，向对方炫耀高度机密的情报，他提到的细节可能会暴露情报的来源和收集方式。

the information and the manner in which it was collected, a current and a former American government official said Monday.
The intelligence disclosed by Mr. Trump in a meeting with Sergey V. Lavrov, the Russian foreign minister, and Sergey I. Kislyak, the Russian ambassador to the United States, was about an Islamic State plot, according to the officials. A foreign ally that closely guards its own secrets provided the information, which was considered so sensitive that American officials did not share it widely within the United States government or pass it on to other allies.	据这两名官员表示，特朗普在和俄罗斯外长谢尔盖·V·拉夫罗夫(Sergey V.Lavrov)、俄罗斯驻美国大使谢尔盖·I·基斯利亚克(Sergey I. Kislyak)会面时曝光的情报，与伊斯兰国的一个阴谋有关。这些情报由一个盟国提供，他们自己对此严格保密。该情报被视为高度机密，所以就连在美国政府中都没有广泛分享过，也没向其他盟友提供过。
Mr. Trump's disclosure does not appear to have been illegal — the president has the power to declassify almost anything. But sharing the information without the express permission of the ally who provided it represented a major breach of espionage etiquette, and could jeopardize a crucial intelligence-sharing relationship.	特朗普披露这个信息貌似也不违法，因为总统有权力解密几乎任何东西。但是在没有获得盟友的明确许可下分享这种信息，是对间谍活动规矩的严重破坏，可能危及重要的情报共享关系。
The ally, which has shared information in the past with the United States only to see it leaked, has repeatedly warned American officials that it would cut off access to such sensitive information if it were shared too widely, said the former official. In this case, the fear is that Russia will be able to determine exactly how the information was collected and could disrupt the ally's espionage efforts.	那名前官员说，这个盟友过去分享给美国的信息就出现过泄漏，因此已经多次警告美国官员说，如果四处分享，他们以后就不再向美方提供这种敏感信息了。在这次的事情中，让人担心的是俄罗斯可以分析出这些信息是如何收集的，并且有可能危害该盟友的间谍工作。
Beyond angering a partner and calling into question the ability of the United States to keep secrets, the episode also opens Mr. Trump to criticism of a double standard. The president made Hillary Clinton's mishandling of classified information through her private email server central to his campaign, leading chants of "lock of her up" at rallies. But	除了激怒盟友、让美国的保密能力遭受质疑之外，这一事件也会让特朗普遭受“双重标准”的批评。希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)不恰当地使用私人电邮服务器处理机密信息一事，曾是特朗普竞选活动的焦点之一，人们在他的竞选集会上反复高喊“把她关起来”。但是，从来没有任何迹象表明克林顿暴露过盟友的敏感信息，或者把它们透露给敌国。

there was never any indication that Mrs. Clinton exposed sensitive information from an ally or gave it to an adversary.
The Trump administration pushed back on the revelation, with high-ranking officials denying that the president discussed such highly sensitive information with the Russian officials.	特朗普政府反驳了这种说法, 一些高级官员否认总统与俄罗斯官员讨论过如此高度敏感的信息。
"The president and the foreign minister reviewed common threats from terrorist organizations to include threats to aviation," said H. R. McMaster, the national security adviser, who attended the meeting. "At no time were any intelligence sources or methods discussed, and no military operations were disclosed that were not already known publicly."	"总统和俄罗斯外交部长检视了恐怖组织造成的普遍威胁, 包括对航空的威胁。"出席会议的国家安全顾问 H·R·麦克马斯特(H.R. McMaster)说: "会面中从来没有讨论过任何情报来源或收集方法, 也没有披露任何尚未公开的军事行动。"
Secretary of State Rex W. Tillerson echoed General McMaster, saying a range of subjects came up, including "the nature of specific threats," but not sources, methods or military operations.	国务卿雷克斯·蒂勒森(Rex Tillerson)的说法也和麦克马斯特将军类似, 他表示, 双方谈到了一系列问题, 包括"一些具体威胁属于何种性质", 但没有谈到过情报来源、收集方法或军事行动。
But according to the officials, Mr. Trump discussed the contents of the intelligence, not the sources and methods used to collect it. The concern is that knowledge of the information about the Islamic State plot could allow the Russians to figure out the sources and methods.	但根据一些官员的说法, 特朗普虽然没有讨论情报来源和收集方法, 但讨论了情报的内容。这就让人担心, 俄罗斯人可能会从这些涉及伊斯兰国的情报中查出情报来源和方法。
"This story is false. The president only discussed the common threats that both countries faced," said Dina Powell, the deputy national security adviser, who was also at the meeting.	"这不属实。"出席了该会议的副国家安全顾问戴安·鲍威尔(Dina Powell)说, 总统仅仅讨论了两国面临的共同威胁。
The Washington Post first reported the disclosure, which immediately reverberated around Washington.	《华盛顿邮报》(The Washington Post)率先报道此事之后, 立刻在华盛顿引发强烈反应。
"To compromise a source is something that you just don't do, and that's why we keep the information that we get from intelligence	"危及情报来源的事情千万不能做, 这就是为什么我们对情报来源提供的信息守口如瓶, 防止这种情况发生的原因。"参议院外交关系委员会(Senate

sources so close as to prevent that from happening," Senator Bob Corker, Republican of Tennessee and the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters.	Foreign Relations Committee)主席、田纳西州共和党参议员鲍勃·考克(Bob Corker)告诉记者。
Senator Mark Warner, Democrat of Virginia and the vice chairman of the Intelligence Committee, said on Twitter, "If true, this is a slap in the face to the intel community. Risking sources & methods is inexcusable, particularly with the Russians."	弗吉尼亚州民主党参议员、情报委员会副主席马克·华纳(Mark Warner)在Twitter上表示：“如果事情属实，这就是扇了情报界一记耳光。危及情报来源和收集方法是不可原谅的，特别是在俄罗斯人面前。”
The Central Intelligence Agency declined to comment.	中央情报局(Central Intelligence Agency)拒绝对此事置评。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170516/trump-russia-classified-information-isis	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170516/trump-russia-classified-information-isis
Israel Said to Be Source of Secret Intelligence Trump Gave to Russians	官员称特朗普向俄方透露的情报来自以色列
WASHINGTON — The classified intelligence that President Donald Trump disclosed in a meeting last week with Russian officials at the White House was provided by Israel, according to a current and a former U.S. official familiar with how the United States obtained the information. The revelation adds a potential diplomatic complication to the episode.	华盛顿——据熟悉美国情报获取方式的一位现任官员和一位前任官员称，唐纳德·特朗普总统上周在白宫同俄罗斯官员会晤期间透露的秘密情报是由以色列提供的。这一发现为该事件增加了潜在的外交复杂性。
Israel is one of the United States' most important allies and a major intelligence collector in the Middle East. The revelation that Trump boasted about some of Israel's most sensitive information to the Russians could damage the relationship between the two countries. It also raises the possibility that the information could be passed to Iran, Russia's close ally and Israel's main threat in the Middle East.	以色列是美国最重要的盟友之一，也是中东的主要情报收集者。特朗普把以色列提供的若干最敏感的信息拿到俄罗斯人面前吹嘘，可能会损害美国同以色列之间的关系。此外这些信息还有可能被传递给伊朗，该国是俄罗斯在中东的亲密盟友，也是以色列在中东的主要对手。
Israeli officials would not confirm that they were the source of the information that Trump shared. In a statement emailed to The New	以色列官员不愿确认他们是特朗普所分享信息的来源。以色列驻美国大使罗恩·德默尔(Ron Dermer)在发给《纽约时报》的一封电子邮件声明中重申，

York Times, Ron Dermer, Israeli ambassador to the United States, reaffirmed that the two countries would maintain a close counterterrorism relationship.	两国将在反恐领域保持紧密关系。
"Israel has full confidence in our intelligence-sharing relationship with the United States and looks forward to deepening that relationship in the years ahead under President Trump," Dermer said.	"对于同美国的情报共享关系，以色列充满信心，并期待在特朗普总统领导下的未来几年中深化这一关系，"德默尔说。
In the meeting with the Russian ambassador and foreign minister, Trump disclosed intelligence about an Islamic State group terrorist plot. At least some of the details that the United States has about the plot came from the Israelis, the officials said.	在同俄罗斯大使和外交部长会晤时，特朗普透露了有关伊斯兰国恐怖主义阴谋的情报。知情官员说，关于这些阴谋，美国所知的情况中至少有一些细节是来自以色列人。
The officials, who were not authorized to discuss the matter and spoke on the condition of anonymity, said that Israel previously had urged the United States to be careful about the handling of the intelligence that Trump discussed.	两位官员没有被授权讨论这一事项，以匿名的身份发言，他们说以色列此前就曾敦促美国谨慎处理特朗普所讨论的那则情报。
Trump said Tuesday on Twitter that he had an "absolute right" to share information in the interest of fighting terrorism.	特朗普于周二在 Twitter 上表示，从打击恐怖主义的利益出发，他有"绝对权利"分享那则信息。
Lt. Gen. H.R. McMaster, Trump's national security adviser, told reporters that the president, who he said was unaware of the source of the information, made a spur-of-the-moment decision to tell the Russians what he knew.	特朗普的国家安全顾问，陆军中将 H·R·麦克马斯特(H.R. McMaster)告诉记者，总统那时不知道相关信息的来源，他把自己所知道的事情告诉俄罗斯人完全是一瞬间的决定。
But McMaster also appeared to acknowledge that Thomas P. Bossert, assistant to the president for homeland security and counterterrorism, had called the CIA and the National Security Agency after the meeting with the Russian officials. Other officials have said that the spy agencies were contacted to help contain the damage from the leak to the	但麦克马斯特似乎也承认，协助处理国土安全和反恐事务的总统助理托马斯·P·博塞特(Thomas P. Bossert)在会见俄罗斯官员后给中央情报局和国家安全局打了电话。其他官员此前表示，联系各个间谍机构是为了协助遏制向俄罗斯人泄露情报带来的危害。

Russians.
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170517/israel-trump-classified-intelligence-russia	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170517/israel-trump-classified-intelligence-russia
Priming the Pump: The Economic Metaphor Trump 'Came Up With'	特朗普想出的“新名词”：启动水泵
President Trump recently sat for a long interview with The Economist magazine in which he discussed his economic agenda. One exchange was particularly attention-grabbing for those who could remember their high school history, or who paid vague attention to the debates over stimulus during the last recession.	前不久，特朗普总统接受了《经济学人》杂志(The Economist)的一次长采访，讨论了他的经济计划。对于那些还记得高中历史的人，或隐约关注过上次经济衰退期间的刺激政策讨论的人来说，他们的其中一点交流特别引人注意。
Explaining why he seeks tax cuts even if they risk expanding the budget deficit, President Trump said that they might increase the deficit temporarily, but that “we have to prime the pump.”	特朗普在解释为什么要冒着扩大预算赤字的风险争取减税时表示，它们可能会暂时增加赤字，但“我们必须启动水泵”。
“Have you heard that expression before, for this particular type of an event?” the president said.	“你听说过这个说法吗，用在这个特定的事情上？”总统问道。
Yes, the interviewer — who, again, is an editor of The Economist — confirmed.	采访者表示听说过，重申一下，他是《经济学人》的编辑。
“Have you heard that expression used before? Because I haven't heard it. I mean, I just ... I came up with it a couple of days ago and I thought it was good.”	“你以前听过有人用这个说法吗？我没听说过。我的意思是，几天前，我想出了这个词，觉得它很好。”
Hoo boy. Let's unpack this.	老天爷啊。我们来解释一下。
What is Mr. Trump talking about?	特朗普说的是什么？
“Priming the pump” is a common metaphor for using government tax and spending to try to boost the economy into a higher level of functioning.	“启动水泵”是一个常见的比喻，指的是通过政府税收和开支来尝试刺激经济，以实现更高水平的运行。
The origin of the metaphor refers to pumps used to extract water from	这个比喻起源于从井中取水的泵，在大部分人拥有入户自来水之前，它的使

wells, which were more widespread before most people had indoor plumbing. The basic idea was to pour a bit of water into a mechanism to make it possible to pump water out. Here's a video!	用是很普遍的。基本原理是往这个装置中加一点水，这样才有可能把水抽出来。这里有一个视频！
The economics metaphor is that the government might increase economic growth by pumping a little extra cash into the system, perhaps by spending money on jobs programs, or, to use Mr. Trump's preferred policy, cutting taxes. The hope is that the economy then takes off on its own, just as adding a little water to a pump enables water to flow freely.	这个经济学比喻指的是，通过往系统中注入一点额外的现金，政府有可能促进经济增长，比如在就业计划上投入资金，或者使用特朗普更喜欢的政策——减税。这样做是期望之后经济能自己起飞，就好像往泵里加点水，水就能自由流动。
Did he invent the term?	这个术语是他发明的吗？
No. It dates to before Mr. Trump was born. It was in wide use by 1933, when President Roosevelt fought the Great Depression with pump-priming stimulus. For example, a 1933 cartoon assailing the Roosevelt administration's spending practices was titled "What we need is another pump" and showed a desperate Roosevelt, with billions already spent, pouring more water into a pump, fruitlessly.	不是。它可以追溯到特朗普出生之前。1933年，它得到了广泛使用，当时，罗斯福总统用水泵启动式的经济刺激政策对抗大萧条。例如，1933年的一幅攻击罗斯福政府开支做法的漫画，标题是“我们需要换个泵”。在漫画中，已花费数十亿美元的绝望的罗斯福徒劳无功地往泵里加入更多水。
The term is most closely associated with the economic theories of John Maynard Keynes, who advocated energetic intervention to try to arrest the depression. By the time Mr. Trump was in school in the 1950s and 1960s, it was widely taught in history and economics courses as part of the story of how the United States emerged from the depression.	这个术语与约翰·梅纳德·凯恩斯(John Maynard Keynes)的经济理论关系最密切，他主张为遏制经济萧条而进行强有力的干预。在20世纪50、60年代，也就是特朗普的学生时代，这个术语是美国如何从大萧条中走出来的故事的一部分，在历史和经济学课程上被广泛教授。
The concept was widely discussed again in 2009 and subsequent years in the context of the Obama administration's stimulus package, which aimed to jolt the United States out of the deep recession. A Nexis search shows the phrase "pump priming" or its variants appeared in 1,073 news	在2009年以及之后的几年里，奥巴马政府为让美国摆脱深度衰退而采取的刺激计划，让这个概念再次被广泛提及。Nexis的搜索结果显示，仅在2009年，“启动水泵”或其变体就出现在1073篇主要出版物的新闻报道中，而且几乎都指的是它的经济学喻义，而不是水泵。

articles in major publications in 2009 alone, and they are almost all referring to economics, not water pumps.
In fact, arguably “priming the pump” is now a “dead metaphor,” or a metaphor in which the original evocative meaning is largely lost. Not many people have a home water pump they need to prime anymore, after all. Other dead metaphors include “champing at the bit” (technically a reference to obstreperous horses) or “selling like hot cakes” (an early term for pancakes, which were in high demand in the 19th century).	事实上，可以说“启动水泵”现在已是“死喻”，也就是一个原始意义已基本消失的比喻。毕竟，没多少人家里还有个水泵需要启动。其他已经死亡的隐喻包括“大咬嚼子”（它的本意是指不服管束的马）或“热饼一样抢手”（早期对薄饼的称呼，这种饼在19世纪非常热销）。
Does Trump really think that he invented it?	特朗普真的认为这个术语是他发明的吗？
A more generous reading of the interview with The Economist suggests that perhaps he didn’t literally mean that he came up with the term on his own; he seemed to know that it was a phrase that the editors might have already heard. Still, this fits with a pattern in which the president seems to learn of widely known, widely discussed concepts and view them as novel and revelatory.	纵观《经济学人》的整个采访，你会发现，也许他并不是真的认为是自己想出了这个术语，他似乎知道编辑们可能听说过这个术语。不过，总统似乎经常这样，得知一个广为人知、被广泛讨论过的概念后，把它当做一个新颖的、启发性的东西。
For example, he seemed surprised when the Chinese president explained why his country couldn’t simply coerce North Korea into more agreeable behavior, and he has expressed wonderment that health care policy is complicated.	例如，当中国国家主席解释为什么他的国家不能简单地迫使朝鲜更顺从时，他似乎感到惊讶。他还对医保政策的复杂性表示过意外。
Is now a really good time to be priming the pump?	现在真的是启动水泵的好时候吗？
In Keynesian economic theory, the strategy makes the most sense when there are underutilized economic resources to be tapped, such as during a recession or depression. While the United States economy probably isn’t yet at full capacity, with the unemployment rate at 4.4	在凯恩斯的经济理论中，该战略的最佳使用情况是当有些未被充分利用的经济资源需要被开发时，比如在经济衰退或萧条期间。虽然现在美国经济很可能还没达到全盛状态，但失业率仅为4.4%，似乎正在走向充分就业。工厂几乎正以全速运转，还有其他一些证据都能表明，经济远没到萧条的地步。

percent it does seem to be closing in on full employment. Factories are running closer to full speed, among other evidence that the economy is hardly depressed.
Perhaps workers who have left the labor force could be coaxed back in with faster economic growth, or the right mix of tax and regulatory policies could unleash higher productivity growth. But those are more esoteric arguments than the standard “prime the pump” concept.	也许如果经济增长速度更快,那些离开劳动队伍的工人会被吸引回来,或者,税收和监管政策的合理组合可以促进生产率更快提高。但这些比标准的“启动水泵”概念要深奥得多。
To extend the metaphor, it’s hard to prime a pump when the water is already flowing just fine.	从这个比喻的角度讲,如果水已经流动得很好了,就很难再往水泵里再灌水启动。
Are there any other concepts from Keynesian economics the president might wish to learn about?	凯恩斯经济学中还有什么哪些概念可能是总统希望了解的?
There is one that might hold special interest for him. As Zach Carter of The Huffington Post noted in a tweet, one of the most famous and influential pieces of analysis Keynes offered was a metaphor for how financial markets work.	有一个概念可能会让他特别感兴趣。正如《赫芬顿邮报》(The Huffington Post)的扎克·卡特(Zach Carter)在 Twitter 上指出的,凯恩斯提出的一个最有名、最有影响力的分析是一个关于金融市场如何运作的比喻。
The stock market, Keynes argued, was much like a hypothetical beauty contest in which readers of a newspaper had not simply to vote for whom they found most beautiful, but to predict whom others would find most beautiful. This in turn would create perverse feedback loops that might lead to winners who aren’t actually the most beautiful.	凯恩斯认为,股票市场很像一个假想的选美大赛,报纸读者不仅要投票给他们眼中最美的人,而且要预测其他人可能会认为谁最美。这反过来会产生不正常的反馈循环,可能会导致获胜者并不是最美丽的。
For a former owner of the Miss Universe pageant, this would seem to be a financial idea that would be easy to remember – or maybe to invent all over again.	对于前世界小姐大赛主办者来说,这似乎是个容易记住的金融概念——也许他还可以再发明一次。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170517/priming-the-pump-the-economic-metaphor-trump-thinks-he-invented	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170517/priming-the-pump-the-economic-metaphor-trump-thinks-he-invented

Donald Trump Defends Sharing Intelligence With Russia	特朗普称自己有“绝对权利”与俄分享情报
WASHINGTON — President Donald J. Trump said early Tuesday that he had an “absolute right” to share with top Russian officials information about an Islamic State threat during a White House meeting last week.	华盛顿——唐纳德·J·特朗普总统在周二早些时候表示，自己有“绝对权利”与俄罗斯高级官员分享关于伊斯兰国威胁的情报，上周特朗普曾在白宫与这些官员见面。
But he did not precisely address reports from multiple news outlets that he had disclosed highly classified information to the Russian officials, possibly jeopardizing a relationship with an intelligence-sharing ally.	但他没有确切地回答多家新闻机构关于他向俄罗斯官员披露高度机密的情报、可能危及美国与分享该情报盟友的关系的报道。
Mr. Trump spoke about highly classified intelligence in a meeting with the Russian foreign minister, Sergey V. Lavrov, and the Russian ambassador, Sergey I. Kislyak, last week, a current and a former American government official told The New York Times on Monday. The news was first reported by The Washington Post, and soon after, many organizations — including Buzzfeed, Reuters, The Wall Street Journal and The Times — quickly published their own accounts of the disclosure.	美国政府的一位现任和一位前任官员周一告诉《纽约时报》，特朗普上周与俄罗斯外长谢尔盖·V·拉夫罗夫(Sergey V.Lavrov)、俄罗斯驻美国大使谢尔盖·I·基斯利亚克(Sergey I. Kislyak)会面时，谈到了高度机密的情报。《华盛顿邮报》率先报道了这条消息，不久后，多家新闻机构——包括 Buzzfeed、路透社、《华尔街日报》和时报——很快也对披露情报的事情做了自己的报道。
Mr. Trump’s national security adviser, H. R. McMaster, issued a statement denying that Mr. Trump had disclosed intelligence methods or sources. But The Post and the other news organizations did not report that he had done so. Instead, they focused on the breach of espionage etiquette; the possibility that American allies might be discouraged from sharing intelligence with the United States; and Mr. Trump’s tendency to go off-script, at times to the chagrin of his advisers.	特朗普的国家安全顾问 H·R·麦克马斯特(H.R. McMaster)发表声明，否认特朗普透露了情报的获取方法或来源。但《华盛顿邮报》及其他新闻机构并未在报道中称他这样做了。这些报道关注的是特朗普违反了间谍规矩的行为，再就是美国的盟友可能会因此不愿与美国分享情报的可能性，以及特朗普随便讲话的性情，这有时颇令他的顾问们烦恼。
Mr. McMaster told reporters on Monday that The Post’s account was “false,” an assertion that Mr. Trump himself appeared to undermine on	麦克马斯特周一对记者说，《华盛顿邮报》的描述是“假的”，而特朗普本人似乎在周二挖了这个说法的墙角。这已经有点成为一种模式：上周四，特朗普

Tuesday. It has become something of a pattern: On Thursday, Mr. Trump told NBC News that the F.B.I.'s investigation of his campaign's ties to Russia had been a factor in his decision to fire the bureau's director, James B. Comey. That undercut his vice president's assertion that the two were unrelated.	对 NBC 新闻说, 联邦调查局(简称 FBI)对他的竞选班子与俄罗斯的关系的调查, 在他做出开除 FBI 局长詹姆斯·科米(James Comey)的决定中是一个因素。这削弱了他自己的副总统称这两件事没有关系的说法。
The Post reported that Mr. Trump had described details of an Islamic State terrorist threat related to the use of laptop computers on aircraft.	《华盛顿邮报》报道说, 特朗普详细描述了一个与在飞机上使用笔记本电脑有关的来自伊斯兰国恐怖分子的威胁。
Although Mr. Trump's tweets on Tuesday did not mention laptops, he said he had shared "facts pertaining to terrorism and airline flight safety" with Russian officials. He said he did so for "humanitarian reasons," adding, "plus I want Russia to greatly step up their fight against ISIS & terrorism."	尽管特朗普周二的推文中没有提笔记本电脑, 但他表示, 他与俄罗斯官员分享了“与恐怖主义和飞机安全有关的事实”。他说, 他这样做是出于“人道主义的原因”, 并补充说, “加上我想让俄罗斯大大加强反 ISIS 和恐怖主义的斗争。”
Last week, American officials said they might move to ban laptops from carry-on baggage on all flights from Europe to the United States — a change that would inconvenience many business travelers, who would be forced to check computers in their luggage.	上周, 美国官员表示, 他们可能会在所有从欧洲到美国的航班上禁止在手提式行李中放电脑的做法, 这样做会给许多商务旅客带来不便, 他们将被迫把电脑放在托运的行李中。
The issue is scheduled to be the subject of a closed-door meeting on Wednesday afternoon in Brussels between Elaine C. Duke, the deputy secretary of Homeland Security, and Dimitris Avramopoulos, the European Union's commissioner for migration, home affairs and citizenship.	这个问题是美国国土安全部副部长伊莱恩·C·杜克(Elaine C. Duke)与欧盟移民、内政及公民事务专员迪米里斯·阿夫拉莫普洛斯(Dimitris Avramopoulos)原定于周三下午在布鲁塞尔举行的一个非公开会议上讨论的议题。
Also on Tuesday, a spokeswoman for the Russian Foreign Ministry denied that Mr. Trump had given classified information to Russian officials — and denigrated American news reports of the disclosure as "fake."	俄罗斯外交部发言人在周二否认了特朗普特向俄罗斯官员提供机密情报的说法, 并把美国新闻机构对泄密的报道贬为“假的”。

"I just landed in Madrid," the spokeswoman, Maria V. Zakharova, wrote on Facebook during a work trip to Spain. "I turned on the phone, and there were dozens of messages. 'Maria Vladimirovna, is it true Trump revealed the most important secret?' "	"我刚在马德里降落,"发言人玛利亚·V·扎哈罗娃(Maria V. Zakharova)在去西班牙出差的途中在 Facebook 上写道。"我一打开手机,就收到了几十条短信。'玛丽亚·弗拉基米罗夫娜,特朗普披露了最重要的秘密,是真的吗?'"
Ms. Zakharova called the report "the latest fake," and disparaged the newspapers that published it. "Guys, you are again reading American newspapers? You should not read them. They can be used in various ways, but there's no need to read them — lately, this is not only harmful, but dangerous."	扎哈罗娃称这个报道是"最新的假新闻",并对发表这条新闻的报纸出言不逊。"伙计们,你们又看美国报纸了吗?你们不应该读这些报纸。这些报纸有各种用途,但没有必要读它们——最近的报道不仅有害,而且有危险。"
She did not specify in what ways the newspapers should be used.	她没有具体说明这些报纸有哪些用途。
Ms. Zakharova said she had predicted last Thursday, the day after the meeting, that American news organizations would be preparing a "sensation" about the meeting. The news media's plan included, she wrote, publishing secret photographs to "give this latest fake grounding and legitimacy."	扎哈罗娃表示,上周四,也就是特朗普与俄罗斯官员会晤后的第二天,她曾预测,美国新闻机构将给会晤准备了一个"轰动"报道。她写道,新闻传媒的计划包括发表秘密照片,"给这条最新的假新闻提供背景和合法性。"
"This part of the information campaign we destroyed, having published photographs in accordance with all laws of professional ethics."	"我们摧毁了信息战的这个部分,因为我们按照所有的职业道德规范发表了照片。"
She did not elaborate.	她没有详细说明。
Both Russia and the United States are battling Islamic State, but they are also backing opposite sides in the Syrian civil war.	虽然俄罗斯和美国都在与伊斯兰国作战,但两国在叙利亚内战中支持不同的对立面。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170517/trump-intelligence-russia-classified	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170517/trump-intelligence-russia-classified
Former C.I.A. Chief Reveals Mounting Concern Over Trump Campaign and Russia	前 CIA 局长: 特朗普竞选团队与俄罗斯有可疑联系
WASHINGTON — As Russian hackers and propagandists tried to	华盛顿——前中央情报局(CIA)局长约翰·O·布伦南(John O. Brennan)周二表

manipulate the American election last year, the C.I.A. noticed a series of suspicious contacts between Russian government officials and associates of Donald J. Trump's campaign, John O. Brennan, the former C.I.A. director, said Tuesday.	示，俄罗斯黑客和宣传机构去年试图操纵美国大选的时候，CIA 注意到了俄罗斯政府官员和唐纳德·特朗普的竞选班底之间有一系列可疑的联系。
In testimony before the House Intelligence Committee, Mr. Brennan described a nerve-fraying few months as American authorities realized that the election was under attack and worried that Mr. Trump's campaign might be aiding that fight. His remarks were the fullest public account to date of the origins of an F.B.I. investigation that continues to shadow the Trump administration.	在众议院情报委员会(House Intelligence Committee)的证词中，布伦南描述了在那紧张的几个月里，美国当局意识到选举正在遭受攻击，他们担心特朗普的竞选团队有可能对攻击施以援手。他的言论是迄今为止，关于 FBI 如何开始进行调查的一个最全面的公开陈述。FBI 的那起调查仍然笼罩在特朗普领导团队的头顶。
"I know what the Russians try to do. They try to suborn individuals and try to get individuals, including U.S. individuals, to act on their behalf, wittingly or unwittingly," Mr. Brennan said. When he left office in January, he said, "I had unresolved questions in my mind as to whether or not the Russians had been successful in getting U.S. persons involved in the campaign or not to work on their behalf."	"我知道俄罗斯人在试图做什么。他们试图收买一些人，并试图让一些人，包括一些美国人，在无意或有意中代表他们行事。"布伦南在1月份离职的时候说，"我脑海中有一些尚未解决的问题，就是俄罗斯人是否成功地让一些美国人参与到了里面，代表他们的意志行事。"
Mr. Brennan acknowledged that he did not know whether the Trump campaign colluded with Russian operatives and said the contacts might be benign. But his confirmation of those contacts was the latest revelation to undermine Mr. Trump's changing account of his campaign's links to Russia.	布伦南承认，他不知道特朗普的竞选团队是否与俄罗斯的特工有勾结，他说，这种接触可能是良性的。但他对这些联系的确认，是对特朗普说法的最新打击；对于其竞选团队与俄罗斯之间的联系，特朗普的说法不断在变。
American intelligence agencies have concluded that the Russian president, Vladimir V. Putin, tried to damage Hillary Clinton's candidacy and help Mr. Trump. On Aug. 4, as evidence of that campaign mounted, Mr. Brennan warned Alexander Bortnikov, the director of Russia's	美国情报机构得出结论，俄罗斯总统普京试图破坏希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)的竞选活动，帮助特朗普获胜。8月4日，就在这种干预活动的证据增多时，布伦南警告俄联邦安全局(FSB)局长亚历山大·博尔特尼科夫(Alexander Bortnikov)不要干预选举。他说，这不仅会破坏两国间的关系，

Federal Security Service, known as the F.S.B., not to meddle in the election. Not only would interference damage relations between the two countries, he said, it was certain to backfire.	而且会适得其反。
"I said that all Americans, regardless of political affiliation or whom they might support in the election, cherish their ability to elect their own leaders without outside interference or disruption," Mr. Brennan said. "I said American voters would be outraged by any Russian attempt to interfere in election."	布伦南说：“我说，所有的美国人，无论政治派别，无论他们在选举中可能支持谁，都珍惜自己不受外界的干扰，选择自己领导人的权利。我还说，美国选民会因俄罗斯干预选举的任何企图而感到愤怒。”
Mr. Brennan's warning proved futile. Though intelligence agencies are unanimous in their belief that Russia directly interfered with the election, it has become a divisive partisan issue, with Democrats far more likely than Republicans to accept the conclusion. President Trump has declared that "Russia is fake news" and tried to undermine the conclusions of his own intelligence services.	布伦南的警告没起到作用。虽然情报机构一致认为俄方直接干涉了选举，但不同党派的立场是不同的，相比于共和党人，民主党人更有可能接受这个结论。特朗普总统宣称“通俄案是假消息”，并且试图削弱他自己的情报部门得出的结论。
He has also repeatedly tried to beat back news stories about his campaign's ties to Russia. White House officials tried to enlist the F.B.I. and C.I.A. to dispute stories early this year. Then, after the F.B.I. publicly confirmed its investigation, Mr. Trump asked Dan Coats, the director of national intelligence, and Michael S. Rogers, the director of the National Security Agency, to publicly deny any collusion between Russia and his campaign, according to two former American officials. The Washington Post first reported Mr. Trump's entreaties.	特朗普也一再试图压制关于他的竞选团队与俄罗斯之间联系的消息。今年年初，白宫官员试图让FBI和CIA辩驳这些消息。之后，据美国前两名美国官员说，在FBI公开证实正在调查之后，特朗普要求国家情报局局长丹·科茨(Dan Coats)和国家安全局局长迈克尔·S·罗杰斯(Michael S. Rogers)公开否认俄罗斯与其竞选团队之间有勾结。《华盛顿邮报》率先报道了特朗普做出这些恳求的消息。
On the day of the F.B.I.'s confirmation, a call from the White House switchboard came in to Mr. Coats's office with a request to speak to the director, a former intelligence official said. Calls from the switchboard	一位前情报官员说，在FBI进行确认的当天，科茨的办公室收到了来自白宫总机的一个电话，要求与其交谈。来自总机的电话通常是白宫最高官员打来的，比如总统、副总统或国家安全顾问。 are usually from the highest officials at the White House – the president, the vice president or the national security adviser.

Mr. Coats took the call. The official would not confirm what was discussed.	科茨接了电话。他拒绝确认电话中讨论的内容。
Mr. Coats, who testified Tuesday in a separate congressional hearing, declined to discuss his conversations with the president.	科茨本周二在国会一个单独的听证会上作证时，拒绝讨论他与总统之间的交谈。
During his candidacy, Mr. Trump’s spokeswoman declared that “there was no communication” with foreign entities. And Vice President Mike Pence flatly denied in January that there had been any contacts with Russians. Journalists have since reported repeated undisclosed meetings with Russians. Mr. Trump’s first national security adviser, Michael T. Flynn, was forced to resign over misstatements about his conversations with the Russian ambassador to the United States, Sergey I. Kislyak.	特朗普的发言人曾表示，在竞选期间，特朗普的班底和外国实体“没有往来”。1月份副总统迈克·彭斯(Mike Pence)直截了当地否认他们与俄罗斯有任何接触。此后，记者们不断爆出他们与俄罗斯人进行过未公开会面的消息。特朗普的第一位国家安全顾问迈克尔·T·弗林(Michael T. Flynn)就是因为和俄罗斯大使谢尔盖·基斯利亚克(Sergey Kislyak)会面而被迫辞职的。
A Justice Department special counsel, Robert S. Mueller III, is investigating whether any collusion took place. A grand jury in Northern Virginia has issued subpoenas for information related to Mr. Flynn’s lobbying and businesses.	司法部特别检察官罗伯特·S·穆勒三世(Robert S. Mueller III)正在调查这桩“通俄”案。北维吉尼亚州的一个大陪审团已经针对弗林的游说和生意信息发出了传票。
Mr. Brennan described Russia’s efforts around the world to use politicians to further Moscow’s objectives. “I certainly was concerned that they were practicing the same types of activities here in the United States,” he said.	布伦南谈到了俄罗斯在全球利用政界人物推进莫斯科自己的目标的行为。“我当然担心他们在美国开展同样的活动，”他说。
In late July, officials established a group of N.S.A., C.I.A. and F.B.I. officials to investigate the election interference. The information was tightly held, and the F.B.I. took the lead on investigating potential	7月末，官方成立了一个由国家安全局(NSA)、中央情报局和联邦调查局的官员组成的机构，调查选举是否受到的干预。布伦南说，相关信息严格保密，联邦调查局带头调查可能存在的合谋。 collusion, Mr. Brennan said.

"I made sure that anything that was involving U.S. persons, including anything involving the individuals involved in the Trump campaign, was shared with the bureau," he said.	"我确保任何涉及美国公民的情况，包括涉及和特朗普竞选团队有关的个人的任何情况，都和联邦调查局共享，"他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170524/john-brennan-russia-trump-campaign-cia	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170524/john-brennan-russia-trump-campaign-cia
Top Russian Officials Discussed How to Influence Trump Aides Last Summer	俄高层官员曾讨论如何通过助手影响特朗普
WASHINGTON — U.S. spies collected information last summer revealing that senior Russian intelligence and political officials were discussing how to exert influence over Donald Trump through his advisers, according to three current and former U.S. officials familiar with the intelligence.	华盛顿——据三名知情的美国现任和前任官员透露，美国间谍在去年夏天搜集到了一些信息，其中显示俄罗斯高层情报官员和政府官员在讨论如何通过唐纳德·特朗普的助手对他施加影响。
The conversations focused on Paul Manafort, the Trump campaign chairman at the time, and Michael T. Flynn, a retired general who was advising Trump, the officials said. Both men had indirect ties to Russian officials, who appeared confident that each could be used to help shape Trump's opinions on Russia.	上述官员表示，讨论的焦点集中于时任特朗普竞选团队经理的保罗·马纳福特(Paul Manafort)和给特朗普提供建议的退役中将迈克尔·T·弗林(Michael T. Flynn)。两人都与俄罗斯官员有着间接的联系。相关官员似乎十分确信，其中任何一人都可以被用来影响特朗普在俄罗斯问题上的观点。
Some Russians boasted about how well they knew Flynn. Others discussed leveraging their ties to Viktor F. Yanukovych, the deposed president of Ukraine living in exile in Russia, who at one time had worked closely with Manafort.	有些俄罗斯人夸耀自己与弗林关系很熟。也有人讨论要利用他们与维克托·F·亚努科维奇(Viktor F. Yanukovych)的关系，这位乌克兰总统已被赶下了台，如今流亡在俄罗斯，他曾经与马纳福特有过密切的合作。
The intelligence was among the clues — which also included information about direct communications between Trump's advisers and Russian officials — that U.S. officials received last year as they began	上述情报是美国官员去年获得的多条线索之一，当时他们开始调查俄罗斯试图扰乱美国大选的举动，以及特朗普的助手是否在为莫斯科的这项努力提供帮助。这些线索还包括有关特朗普的助手与俄罗斯官员存在直接联络的信

investigating Russian attempts to disrupt the election and whether any of Trump's associates were assisting Moscow in the effort. Details of the conversations, some of which have not been previously reported, add to an increasing understanding of the alarm inside the U.S. government last year about the Russian disruption campaign.	息。这些谈话的细节有些是之前不曾被报道过的，它们使外界对美国政府内部就俄罗斯扰乱美国大选一事产生的担忧有了愈发清楚的了解。
The information collected last summer was considered credible enough for intelligence agencies to pass to the FBI, which during that period opened a counterintelligence investigation that is ongoing. It is unclear, however, whether Russian officials actually tried to directly influence Manafort and Flynn. Both have denied any collusion with the Russian government on the campaign to disrupt the election.	情报机构认为，去年夏天收集的信息足够可信，可以转交给联邦调查局(FBI)，后者在那个时期已经开启了一项反情报调查，该调查到现在还在进行中。不过，目前还不清楚俄罗斯官员是否真的曾经试图对马纳福特和弗林施加直接的影响。两人都否认自己在竞选期间曾与俄罗斯政府勾结以扰乱大选。
John Brennan, the former director of the CIA, testified Tuesday about a tense period last year when he came to believe that President Vladimir Putin of Russia was trying to steer the outcome of the election. He said he saw intelligence suggesting that Russia wanted to use Trump campaign officials, wittingly or not, to help in that effort. He spoke vaguely about contacts between Trump associates and Russian officials, without giving names, saying they "raised questions in my mind about whether Russia was able to gain the cooperation of those individuals."	前中央情报局(CIA)局长约翰·布伦南(John Brennan)在周二作证，称去年曾经有一段紧张的时期，当时他开始相信俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir Putin)在试图影响美国大选的结果。他说他当时看到有情报信息显示，俄罗斯想利用特朗普的竞选团队成员——不管他们是否有意——帮助达成这个目标。他模糊地谈论了特朗普的助手与俄罗斯官员之间的联系，没有提到具体的名字，只说这“让我产生了疑问，想知道俄罗斯是否能获得这些个人的合作”。
Whether the Russians worked directly with any Trump advisers is one of the central questions that federal investigators, now led by Robert S. Mueller III, the newly appointed special counsel, are seeking to answer. Trump, for his part, has dismissed talk of Russian interference in the election as "fake news," insisting there was no contact between his	俄罗斯是否与特朗普的任何一名顾问有过直接的合作，是由新任命的特别检察官罗伯特·S·穆勒三世(Robert S. Mueller III)领导的联邦调查人员目前关注的核心问题之一，他们在竭力找到其中的答案。特朗普则对有关俄罗斯干涉美国大选的说法不屑一顾，说这是“假新闻”，还坚称其竞选团队与俄罗斯官员之间没有联系。

campaign and Russian officials.
The White House, FBI and CIA declined to comment, as did spokesmen for Manafort. Flynn's attorney did not respond to an email seeking comment.	白宫、FBI 和 CIA 都拒绝置评，马纳福特的发言人也是如此。弗林的律师没有回应时报通过邮件发出的置评请求。
The current and former officials agreed to discuss the intelligence only on the condition of anonymity because much of it remains highly classified, and they could be prosecuted for disclosing it.	前述现任和前任官员在匿名的前提下同意谈论这些情报，因为其中有不少依然属于高度机密，他们可能会因为透露这些信息而受到起诉。
Last week, CNN reported about intercepted phone calls during which Russian officials were bragging about ties to Flynn and discussing ways to wield influence over him.	上周，CNN 报道了被窃听到的通话，俄罗斯官员在其中夸耀他们与弗林的关系，还在讨论对他施加影响的办法。
In his congressional testimony, Brennan discussed the broad outlines of the intelligence, and his disclosures backed up the accounts of the information provided by the current and former officials.	在国会作证期间，布伦南讲述了相关情报的大致情况，他透露的信息印证了这几位现任和前任官员的说法。
By early summer, U.S. intelligence officials already were fairly certain that it was Russian hackers who had stolen tens of thousands of emails from the Democratic Party and Hillary Clinton's campaign. That in itself was not viewed as particularly extraordinary by the Americans — foreign spies had hacked previous campaigns, and the United States does the same in elections around the world, officials said. The view on the inside was that collecting information, even through hacking, is what spies do.	至初夏，美国情报官员已经相当确定，是俄罗斯黑客从民主党和希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)竞选团队那里窃取了数万封邮件。在这些美国人看来，此事本身没有什么特别不寻常的——官员们表示，外国间谍也曾对以前的竞选活动发起过黑客袭击，美国也在世界各地做着同样的事。内部的观点是，收集信息是间谍的本职工作，哪怕是通过黑客袭击。
But the concerns began to grow when intelligence began trickling in about Russian officials weighing whether they should release stolen emails and other information to shape U.S. opinion — to, in essence, weaponize the materials stolen by hackers.	然而，当有情报逐渐传来，显示俄罗斯官员在权衡是否公布窃取的邮件及其他信息以影响美国舆论，也就是真正把黑客窃取的材料变成武器时，担忧的情绪开始增长。

An unclassified report by U.S. intelligence agencies released in January stated that Putin “ordered an influence campaign in 2016 aimed at the U.S. presidential election.”	美国情报机构今年1月发布的一份非机密报告称，普京“曾在2016年下令开展施加影响的行动，目标就是美国的总统大选”。
Before taking the helm of the Trump campaign last May, Manafort worked for more than a decade for Russian-leaning political organizations and people in Ukraine, including Yanukovich, the former president. Yanukovich was a close ally of Putin.	在去年5月掌舵特朗普的竞选团队之前，马纳福特曾为乌克兰倾向于俄罗斯的一些政治组织与人士效力了十多年，其中就包括乌克兰前总统亚努科维奇，此人是普京的一个亲密盟友。
Manafort’s links to Ukraine led to his departure from the Trump campaign in August, after his name surfaced in secret ledgers showing millions in undisclosed cash payments from Yanukovich’s political party.	与乌克兰的关联导致马纳福特在去年8月离开了特朗普竞选团队，此前外界发现他的名字出现在一些秘密账目中，其中记录了不曾对外界公布的由亚努科维奇政党支付的数百万美元现金。
The Russian government views Ukraine as a buffer against the eastward expansion of NATO and has supported separatists in their yearslong fight against the struggling democratic government in Kiev.	俄罗斯政府将乌克兰看作一个缓冲地带，用以抵制北约东扩，它支持分离主义者与在基辅艰难维持的民主政府进行持续数年的斗争。
Flynn’s ties to Russian officials stretch back to his time at the Defense Intelligence Agency, which he led from 2012 to 2014. There, he began pressing for the United States to cultivate Russia as an ally in the fight against Islamic militants and even spent a day in Moscow at the headquarters of the GRU, the Russian military intelligence service, in 2013.	弗林与俄罗斯官员的关系可以追溯到他于2012年至2014年担任国防情报局(Defense Intelligence Agency)局长的时期。在那里，他开始敦促美国将俄罗斯发展成对抗伊斯兰激进分子的盟友，甚至于2013年在俄罗斯军事情报机构GRU的莫斯科总部待了一天。
He continued to insist that Russia could be an ally even after Moscow’s seizure of Crimea the following year, and Obama administration officials have said that contributed to their decision to push him out of the DIA.	即便是在莫斯科于第二年占领了克里米亚之后，弗林依然坚称俄罗斯可以成为一个盟友。奥巴马政府的官员曾经表示，这是他们决定让他离开国防情报局的原因之一。
But in private life, Flynn cultivated even closer ties to Russia. In 2015, he	但是在私人生活层面，弗林与俄罗斯关系甚至更加紧密。2015年，他从与

earned more than $65,000 from companies linked to Russia, including a cargo airline implicated in a bribery scheme involving Russian officials at the United Nations, and a U.S. branch of a cybersecurity firm believed to have ties to Russia's intelligence services.	俄罗斯有关联的公司获利逾 6.5 万美元，其中包括一家卷入贿赂阴谋的货运航空公司，该事件涉及到数名俄罗斯驻联合国官员，以及一家网络安全公司的美国分公司，后者被认为与俄罗斯的情报机构有关联。
The biggest payment, though, came from RT, the Kremlin-financed news network. It paid Flynn $45,000 to give a speech in Moscow, where he also attended the network's lavish anniversary dinner. There, he was photographed sitting next to Putin.	不过，其中最大的进项来自由克里姆林宫提供资金的新闻网 RT。该机构给弗林支付了 4.5 万美元，请他到莫斯科发表演讲，弗林还参加了 RT 奢华的周年纪念晚宴。晚宴上，他被拍到坐在普京旁边。
A senior lawmaker said Monday that Flynn misled Pentagon investigators about how he was paid for the Moscow trip. He also failed to disclose the source of that income on a security form he was required to complete before joining the White House, according to congressional investigators.	一名资深议员周一表示，在有关他此次莫斯科之行所获报酬的问题上，弗林曾经误导五角大楼的调查人员。据国会调查人员透露，在加入白宫前需要填写的一张安全表格上，弗林也没有填写该项收入的来源。
U.S. officials have also said there were multiple telephone calls between Flynn and Sergey I. Kislyak, the Russian ambassador to the United States, on Dec. 29, beginning shortly after Kislyak was summoned to the State Department and informed that, in retaliation for Russian election meddling, the United States was expelling 35 people suspected of being Russian intelligence operatives and imposing other sanctions.	美国官员还表示，弗林与俄罗斯驻美国大使谢尔盖·I·基斯利亚克(Sergey I. Kislyak)在去年 12 月 29 日打过好几次电话，时间恰好是在基斯利亚克被召至国务院后不久——在那里，基斯利亚克被告知，为报复俄罗斯对美国大选的干涉，美国将驱逐 35 名被怀疑为俄罗斯情报特工的人员，还会实施其他制裁。
U.S. intelligence agencies routinely tap the phones of Russian diplomats, and transcripts of the calls showed that Flynn urged the Russians not to respond, saying relations would improve once Trump was in office, officials have said.	美国情报机构常常窃听俄罗斯外交人员的电话。有通话记录显示，弗林当时力劝俄罗斯不要做出回应，并表示一旦特朗普上任，两国关系将会改善。
But after misleading Vice President Mike Pence about the nature of the calls, Flynn was fired as Trump's national security adviser after a	然而，在有关这些通话的性质上误导副总统迈克·彭斯(Mike Pence)之后，刚刚上任 25 天的弗林便被解除了国家安全顾问的职位，结束了他短暂而喧嚣

tumultuous 25 days in office.	的任期。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170525/russia-trump-manafort-flynn	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170525/russia-trump-manafort-flynn
Kushner Talked to Russian Envoy About Creating Secret Channel With Kremlin	库什纳曾与俄官员商讨建立秘密沟通渠道
WASHINGTON — Jared Kushner, President Trump’s son-in-law and senior adviser, spoke in December with Russia’s ambassador to the United States about establishing a secret communications channel between the Trump transition team and Moscow to discuss strategy in Syria and other policy issues, according to three people with knowledge of the discussion.	华盛顿——据三名知情人士透露，去年12月，特朗普总统的女婿、高级顾问贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)曾与俄罗斯驻美国大使会谈，讨论在特朗普过渡团队和莫斯科之间建立一个秘密沟通渠道，以便讨论叙利亚战略及其他政策问题。
The conversation between Mr. Kushner and the ambassador, Sergey I. Kislyak, took place during a meeting at Trump Tower that Mr. Trump’s presidential transition team did not acknowledge at the time. Also present at the meeting was Michael T. Flynn, the retired general who would become Mr. Trump’s short-lived national security adviser, the three people said.	库什纳与俄罗斯大使谢尔盖·I·基斯利亚克(Sergey I. Kislyak)的谈话发生在特朗普大厦(Trump Tower)的一次会议上——特朗普的总统过渡团队当时没有公布这次会议。那三名知情人士称，出席那次会议的还有退伍将军迈克尔·T·弗林(Michael T. Flynn)，弗林后来曾短暂担任特朗普的国家安全顾问。
It is unclear who first proposed the communications channel, but the people familiar with the meeting said that the idea was to have Mr. Flynn speak directly with a senior military official in Moscow to discuss Syria and other security issues. The communications channel was never set up, the people said.	尚不清楚是谁先提出设立这个沟通渠道，不过了解这次会议的人士表示，该提议旨在让弗林直接与莫斯科的一名高级军事官员讨论叙利亚等安全问题。这些人士表示，这一沟通渠道并未建立起来。
The three people were not authorized to discuss the December meeting and spoke on condition of anonymity.	这三名知情人士未获授权讨论去年12月的会议，所以要求匿名。
News of the discussion was first reported by The Washington Post. The revelation has stoked new questions about Mr. Kushner’s connections	关于这次会谈的消息最初是《华盛顿邮报》(The Washington Post)报道的。这一情况再次引发人们关于库什纳与俄罗斯官员的关系的质疑，而此时联邦

to Russian officials at a time when the F.B.I. is conducting a wide-ranging investigation into Russia's attempts to disrupt last year's presidential election and whether any of Mr. Trump's advisers assisted in the Russian campaign.	调查局(FBI)展开广泛调查,以查明俄罗斯破坏去年美国总统选举的企图,以及特朗普的顾问们是否有协助俄罗斯的这一计划。
Current and former American officials said that Mr. Kushner's activities, like those of many others around Mr. Trump, are under scrutiny as part of the investigation. But Mr. Kushner is not currently the subject of a criminal investigation.	在任及前任美国官员表示,作为调查的一部分,库什纳以及特朗普身边很多其他人的活动正在受到密切监视。不过,库什纳目前不是刑事调查的对象。
In the days after the meeting with Mr. Kislyak, Mr. Kushner had a separate meeting with Sergey Gorkov, a Russian banker with close ties to Russian President Vladimir Putin.	在与基斯利亚克会晤数日后,库什纳与俄罗斯银行家谢尔盖·戈里科夫(Sergey Gorkov)进行了另一次会晤,后者与俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir Putin)有着密切联系。
American intelligence agencies first learned about the discussion several months ago, according to a senior American official who had been briefed on intelligence reports. It is unclear whether they learned from intercepted Russian communications or other means.	据一位听取了情报汇报的美国高级官员称,美国情报机构最初是在几个月前得知这次会晤的。尚不清楚他们是通过窃听俄罗斯的通话还是通过其他途径获得这一消息。
Mr. Trump came into office promising improved relations with Russia on numerous issues, including greater cooperation to try to end the civil war in Syria. During the presidential campaign, he frequently criticized the Obama administration's Syria policy as unnecessarily antagonistic toward Russia.	特朗普上任时承诺在许多问题上改善与俄罗斯的关系,包括加强合作,努力结束叙利亚内战。在总统竞选期间,他经常批评奥巴马政府的叙利亚政策毫无必要地敌对俄罗斯。
The idea behind the secret communications channel, the three people said, was for Russian military officials to brief Mr. Flynn about the Syrian war and to discuss ways to cooperate there. Less than two weeks later, Mr. Kushner backed off the idea of the communications channel when Mr. Trump announced Rex Tillerson, a former chief executive of Exxon	这三名知情人士表示,建立秘密沟通渠道的目的是让俄罗斯军事官员向弗林报告叙利亚战争的情况,讨论合作的方式。不到两周后,库什纳放弃了建立沟通渠道的提议,当时特朗普宣布提名前埃克森美孚(Exxon Mobil)首席执行官雷克斯·蒂勒森(Rex Tillerson)出任国务卿,蒂勒森曾与俄罗斯官员在能源交易上有过密切往来。

Mobil who had worked closely with Russian officials on energy deals, as his choice to become secretary of state.
Two congressional intelligence committees are conducting parallel investigations into Russian interference during the presidential campaign, and in recent weeks the committees have accelerated their efforts to obtain documents from Mr. Trump's campaign advisers, sometimes using subpoenas to demand the records.	两个国会情报委员会正在对俄罗斯的美国总统大选干预活动进行各自的调查。最近几周，这两个委员会加快步伐，从特朗普竞选顾问那里获取文件，有时是通过传票要求获得记录。
Earlier this week, the Senate Intelligence Committee asked the Trump campaign's treasurer to preserve and produce all documents — including phone records and emails — dating back to its official start in June 2015, according to one person associated with the campaign. The person, who spoke on condition of anonymity to discuss the ongoing investigation, said former staffers have been instructed to cooperate with the committee's inquiry.	据与特朗普竞选团队有关的一位人士称，本周早些时候，参议院情报委员会要求特朗普竞选团队的财务主管保存并提交自2015年6月该团队正式创立起的所有文件，包括通话记录和电子邮件。此人要求在匿名条件下谈论正在进行的调查。此人表示，从前的一些工作人员被要求配合该委员会的询问。
The person said the request came from Senator Richard Burr, Republican of North Carolina, and Mark Warner, Democrat of Virginia—the committee's two senior members.	此人也表示，这一要求来自北卡罗来纳州共和党参议员理查德·伯尔(Richard Burr)和弗吉尼亚州民主党参议员马克·沃纳(Mark Warner)。他们是该委员会的两名高级成员。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170527/kushner-talked-to-russian-envoy-about-creating-secret-channel-with-kremlin	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170527/kushner-talked-to-russian-envoy-about-creating-secret-channel-with-kremlin
Missile Defense Test Succeeds, Pentagon Says, Amid Tensions With North Korea	美国首次成功测试拦截洲际弹道导弹
WASHINGTON — An upgraded American interceptor rocket collided with a mock intercontinental ballistic missile Tuesday afternoon in the skies over the Pacific Ocean, the Pentagon said, marking the first successful test of whether the Defense Department could shoot down a	华盛顿——五角大楼表示，周二下午，美军一枚升级后的拦截火箭在太平洋上空击中了一枚模拟洲际弹道导弹，这是国防部测试是否能击落朝鲜以接近实战的速度向美国本土发射的弹头首次获得成功。

warhead from North Korea heading toward the continental United States at speeds approaching true battle conditions.
At a time when tensions with North Korea are running high, the successful test gave the Defense Department's beleaguered missile defense program a victory — the ability to say that it is making strides in protecting the United States from a nuclear warhead that could be launched from a mountainside in North Korea. With the test Tuesday, five of the last 10 tests have at least partly succeeded.	目前美国与朝鲜之间的局势越发紧张，本次测试成功是国防部备受诟病的导弹防御计划取得的一个胜利——现在国防部可以说，它在保护美国免遭朝鲜从某个山坡上发射的核弹头击中方面又前进了一步。算上周二这次，最近10次测试中有5次至少获得了部分成功。
The test "demonstrates that we have a capable, credible deterrent against a very real threat," said Vice Adm. James D. Syring, the director of the Pentagon's Missile Defense Agency, calling the test a "critical milestone for this program."	五角大楼导弹防御局(Missile Defense Agency)局长、海军中将詹姆斯·D·叙林(James D. Syring)说：“这次测试表明，对于一个非常现实的威胁，我们拥有了可行可信的威慑力量。”他称这个测试是“该计划的一个重大里程碑”。
But while Defense Department officials said initial indications showed that the test met its primary objective by hitting the target, they provided no details. The department will continue to evaluate other data to determine how the system performed overall. The test Tuesday was against a single missile, but the North Koreans have begun to practice shooting multiple missiles at a time in an effort to confuse U.S. defenses.	但是国防部官员说，初步迹象表明，这次测试击中目标，达到了它的主要目的，他们没有提供任何细节。该部门将继续评估其他数据，以确定该拦截系统的整体性能。周二的测试针对的是单一导弹，但朝鲜已经开始尝试发射多枚导弹，以突破美国的防御。
The interceptor missile lifted off from the California coast on Tuesday afternoon, and minutes later it smashed into a mock warhead that had launched from Kwajalein Atoll in the Marshall Islands.	拦截导弹是周二下午在加利福尼亚海岸发射的，几分钟后，它捣毁了一枚从马绍尔群岛夸贾林环礁发射的模拟弹头。
Past efforts to test the country's multibillion-dollar efforts at missile defense have had mixed results. A Pentagon report in January examining weapons testing criticized the long-range system, saying	在之前的测试中，这个美国耗资数十亿美元的导弹防御系统表现有好有坏。在今年1月的一份检讨武器测试的报告中，五角大楼批评这一远距离系统说，它“在捍卫美国国土免遭朝鲜或者伊朗发射的数量不多的”中程和远程导

that it “demonstrates a limited capability to defend the U.S. homeland from small numbers” of medium- and long-range missile tests “launched from North Korea or Iran.”	弹试验方面，“显示出的能力有限”。
Scientists argue that only when the system is tested in a range of conditions — like at night, or when an adversary is using countermeasures — would the Defense Department be able to say that the system works in a real-world setting.	科学家认为，只有在各种条件下进行测试后——例如在晚上，或当对手使用反制措施时——国防部才能说它在现实环境中有效果。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170531/missile-defense-test-north-korea	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170531/missile-defense-test-north-korea
After Britain Attack, Trump Feuds With London Mayor	特朗普指责伦敦市长引发争议
WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump and his team renewed a trans-Atlantic feud with the mayor of London on Sunday, portraying him as soft on terrorism a day after seven people were killed and dozens more wounded in the latest attack in the British capital.	华盛顿——周日，唐纳德·特朗普及其团队又隔着大西洋和伦敦市长叫板，称他在反恐问题上太软弱；就在一天前，英国首都发生了一次袭击案，导致七人遇难，数十人受伤。
Trump assailed Mayor Sadiq Khan by mischaracterizing his comments after the attack. After condemning the “cowardly terrorists,” Khan told Londoners not “to be alarmed” by seeing more police officers on the streets. Trump presented it as if Khan had meant they should not be alarmed by terrorism. The mayor’s office fired back, calling Trump “ill informed.”	在这次袭击事件后，特朗普误读萨迪克·汗(Sadiq Khan)的说法，然后对他进行指责。汗本来是谴责“懦弱的恐怖分子”，并且告诉伦敦人，不要因为街上看到更多的警察而感到惊慌。但特朗普说得好像是汗认为大家不应该因为恐怖主义感到惊慌。伦敦市长办公室发起反击，称特朗普“消息有误”。
The highly charged exchange as Britain grappled once again with the threat of terrorism at home reflected the tensions between Trump and the United States’ traditional allies in Europe. Trump returned home a little more than a week ago after meetings in Belgium and Italy that put on display disputes over trade and the role of NATO, then followed up by pulling the United States out of the Paris climate change accord,	在英国再次遭受恐怖主义威胁之际，这种言辞激烈的摩擦反映出特朗普与美国在欧洲的传统盟友之间的紧张关系。一个多星期前，特朗普在比利时和意大利开会时把在贸易和北约作用上的争议摆上桌面，回到美国之后，他又不顾欧洲领导人的反对，把美国从巴黎气候协定中撤出。

over the objections of European leaders.
The friction has been especially acute for more than a year between Trump and Khan, the first Muslim to serve as mayor of a major Western European capital. During last year's presidential contest, Khan criticized Trump's proposal to temporarily ban all Muslims from entering the United States and endorsed Hillary Clinton, prompting an exchange with Trump's campaign. Trump's son Donald Jr. criticized Khan as recently as March.	特朗普与汗之间的摩擦在一年多的时间里尤为严重,汗是第一位担任西欧主要首都市长的穆斯林。在去年的总统大选期间,他批评特朗普要求暂时禁止所有穆斯林进入美国的建议,并支持希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton),因此与特朗普的竞选班子展开了一番唇枪舌战。特朗普的儿子小唐纳德(Donald Jr.)在三月还批评过汗。
The president's initial reaction to the Saturday night attack in London was to offer traditional messages of support and solidarity. By Sunday morning, however, he trained his scorn on Khan.	总统对于周六晚上伦敦袭击案的初步反应遵循了传统,传达了支持和团结的信息。不过,在周日早间,他却嘲笑了汗。
"At least 7 dead and 48 wounded in terror attack and Mayor of London says there is 'no reason to be alarmed!'" Trump wrote on Twitter.	"恐怖袭击造成至少7人死亡,48人受伤,而伦敦市长还表示'无需感到惊慌!'" 特朗普在 Twitter 上写道。
Either Trump misunderstood what Khan had said or distorted it. During an interview shown on the BBC, the mayor said he was "appalled and furious that these cowardly terrorists would target" innocent civilians and vowed that "we will never let them win, nor will we allow them to cower our city."	特朗普误解或者是歪曲了汗说的话。在 BBC 的采访中,市长的意思是他对这些懦弱的恐怖分子把"无辜平民"当作目标感到"震惊和愤怒",市长还发誓说:"我们永远不会让他们赢,我们也不会让他们吓倒我们的城市。"
He went on to say that residents should not worry as they encounter more police officers patrolling the streets.	他还说,在看到更多警察在街上巡逻的时候,民众无需担心。
"Londoners will see an increased police presence today and over the course of the next few days," Khan said. "No reason to be alarmed. One of the things, the police, all of us need to do, is make sure we're as safe as we possibly can be. I'm reassured that we are one of the safest global cities in the world, if not the safest global city in the world, but we	"伦敦人今天和今后几天里将看到更多的警察,"汗说。"无需感到惊慌,警察和我们所有人要做的一件事情,就是确保大家真的是尽可能安全。我很确定,我们即使不是世界上最安全的国际都市,也是之一,但我们总是在提高和检讨各种方式,以确保我们尽可能安全。"

always evolve and review ways to make sure that we remain as safe as we possibly can.”
Khan’s office later dismissed the president’s post, saying the mayor was too busy to reply. “He has more important things to do than respond to Donald Trump’s ill-informed tweet that deliberately takes out of context his remarks urging Londoners not to be alarmed when they saw more police – including armed officers – on the streets,” a spokesman for the mayor said in a statement.	汗的办公室后来反驳了总统的帖子，说市长太忙了，无法回复。“他有更重要的事情要做，而不是回应唐纳德·特朗普消息有误的、故意断章取义的推文。市长说的是伦敦人在街上看到更多警察的时候无需惊慌——包括武装警察，”市长的发言人在一份声明中说。
Critics of Trump in Britain and the United States faulted him for his acrimonious response to the Saturday assault. “I don’t think that a major terrorist attack like this is the time to be divisive and to criticize a mayor who’s trying to organize his city’s response to this attack,” former Vice President Al Gore said on CNN’s “State of the Union” on Sunday.	特朗普对周六袭击案作出的尖刻反应，也招致他在英美批评者中的责难。前副总统阿尔·戈尔(Al Gore)周日在 CNN《美国国情》(State of the Union) 节目中说：“我认为，这种重大恐怖袭击发生之际不是搞分裂的时候，不是批评一个正在设法带领自己的城市应对袭击的市长的时候。”
But the White House showed no signs of backing down, and a top aide to Trump amplified the attack shortly afterward. Dan Scavino, the president’s director of social media, posted a message referring to Khan’s criticism of Trump a year ago for his “ignorant view of Muslims.”	但是，白宫没有表现出任何让步的迹象，不久之后，特朗普的一名高级助手加大了攻击力度。社交媒体总监丹·斯卡维诺(Dan Scavino)发表了一则消息，提到了汗一年前批评特朗普说他“对穆斯林很无知”。
Other parts of the U.S. government sought to smooth over the dispute. “I commend the strong leadership of the @MayorofLondon as he leads the city forward after this heinous attack,” Lew Lukens, a career diplomat serving as acting U.S. ambassador to London, wrote on Twitter hours later.	美国政府的其他一些部门则在寻求平息争端。美国驻伦敦临时代理大使、职业外交官刘易斯·卢肯斯(Lewis Lukens)几个小时之后在 Twitter 上写道：“我赞扬@MayorofLondon 强大的领导力，他在这场严重的袭击事件之后领导这个城市开展行动。”
Trump at first responded with similar expressions of an ally and called Prime Minister Theresa May of Britain on Saturday night to offer condolences. A statement from the White House said that the president	特朗普首先以盟友的惯常方式做出回应，在周六晚上给英国首相特丽莎·梅(Theresa May)打去了慰问电话。白宫在一份声明中表示，总统“赞扬了警察和其他第一批响应者的英勇行为，并表示美国会全力支持展开调查，将制造

had "praised the heroic response of police and other first responders and offered the full support of the United States government in investigating and bringing those responsible for these heinous acts to justice."	这些恶行的人绳之以法”。
But as the hours passed and Saturday night turned into Sunday morning, Trump pivoted to cite the attack to build support for his proposed travel ban on visitors from select Muslim-majority countries, which has been blocked by the courts, and to argue that gun control was pointless because terrorists in this case used other weapons.	但几个小时之后，到了周日早上，特朗普转而利用这次袭击来为他的旅游禁令寻求支持；旅行禁令已经被法院推翻，它禁止一些来自穆斯林占多数国家的游客入境。特朗普还表示，枪支管控没有意义，因为在本案中，恐怖分子使用了其他武器。
"We need the courts to give us back our rights. We need the Travel Ban as an extra level of safety!" he wrote in one message.	"我们需要法院把权利还给我们，我们需要旅行禁令提供更高的安全级别！"他在一条推文中写道。
"We must stop being politically correct and get down to the business of security for our people," he wrote in another. "If we don't get smart it will only get worse."	"我们必须停止政治正确，认真对待人民的安危问题。"他在另一条推文中写道，"如果我们不聪明一些，情况只会变得更糟。"
"Do you notice we are not having a gun debate right now?" he added Sunday morning. "That's because they used knives and a truck!"	"注意到了吗，到现在都还没有枪支控制的讨论？"他周日上午说。"那是因为他们用的是刀和卡车！"
Gun control advocates quickly noted that the casualty toll might have been much higher had the attackers had access to high-powered firearms. Britain has some of the world's strictest regulations on private gun ownership.	枪支控制倡导者马上指出，如果袭击者使用的是火力强大的枪支，伤亡人数可能会更大。英国对于私人持有枪支有一些世界上最严格的管控举措。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170605/britain-attack-trump-twitter-storm	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170605/britain-attack-trump-twitter-storm
After London Attack, Trump Again the Center of Partisan Media Combat	伦敦恐袭之后，特朗普又成美国媒体骂战焦点
A CNN host called President Trump a "man baby" and a piece of excrement. (He used a more profane term, and later apologized.) A	一名 CNN 主持人称特朗普总统是"巨婴"和排泄物（他用的词更肮脏，但随后道了歉）。"福克斯和朋友们"(Fox & Friends)节目的一名嘉宾建议英国将境

guest on “Fox & Friends” proposed that Muslims in the United Kingdom be placed in internment camps, prompting an on-air disavowal from the hosts.	内的穆斯林关进拘留营，促使节目主持人当场对这种说法表示谴责。
A Breitbart News writer argued on Twitter that “there would be no deadly attacks in the U.K. if Muslims didn’t live there,” generating angry replies. And Mr. Trump himself, in his first public comment about the attack in London on Saturday night, disseminated unconfirmed information from an unofficial source: The Drudge Report.	布莱巴特(Breitbart)新闻网站的一名撰稿人在 Twitter 上争辩说，“如果没有穆斯林住在英国的话，那里不会有致命的袭击”，引来了愤怒的回复。特朗普本人周六晚对伦敦发生的袭击首次公开发表评论，并在评论中散播了来自《德鲁奇报道》(The Drudge Report)的非官方的、未经证实的消息。
In the 24 hours after the deadly van and knife attack, the cycle of partisan broadsides and ideological combat that seems to dominate the media universe these days kicked into high gear.	这些日子里似乎主导媒体世界的党派猛烈攻击和意识形态斗争，在以面包车和刀为武器、导致多人死亡的袭击发生后的 24 小时里，更加紧锣密鼓。
News organizations turned against each other, with anchors on Fox News calling on CNN to punish its host Reza Aslan for his profane remarks about Mr. Trump in a Twitter post.	新闻机构变得相互敌对，福克斯新闻主持人呼吁 CNN 对其节目主持人礼萨·阿斯兰(Reza Aslan)在 Twitter 上发表对特朗普不敬的言论进行惩罚。
The president’s retweet of a Drudge headline — “fears of new terror attack,” it read, even as the nature of the assault remained unclear — prompted a rebuke of sorts from NBC Nightly News, whose Twitter account pointedly noted that its journalists would not relay the president’s retweet, “as the info is unconfirmed.”	特朗普转推了一条德鲁奇的大标题，内容是“新恐怖袭击的担忧”，尽管当时袭击的性质尚不清楚，这促使 NBC 晚间新闻(NBC Nightly News)发了像是批评的帖子，其 Twitter 帐户明确指出，记者不会转发总统的推文，“因为信息未经证实。”
That led to accusations of liberal bias, with the “Fox & Friends” co-host Abby Huntsman asking, “Can we not just come together?”	NBC 的做法引来了自由派偏见的指责。“福克斯和朋友们”的联合主持人艾比·亨茨曼(Abby Huntsman)问道：“我们难道不能走到一起来吗？”
It was the kind of chain reaction that is increasingly commonplace in a deeply polarized political environment, where news organizations attract tribal followings, and where major events like the London attack can stoke fears and inflame emotions — from Mr. Trump on down.	这是在高度两极化的政治环境中越来越常见的那种连锁反应，新闻机构吸引着各自的部落追随者，像伦敦袭击这样的重大事件能激发从特朗普起的、自上而下的恐惧和煽情。

Mr. Aslan responded with his angry posts after the president, in the immediate wake of the attack on Saturday, wrote on Twitter that his proposed travel ban was needed to prevent terrorism. Mr. Aslan, an Iranian-American writer and religion scholar who hosts a weekly show about faith and society for CNN, also described Mr. Trump as “an embarrassment to humankind.”	阿斯兰发的愤怒帖子是回应特朗普的推文。在周六的袭击事件发生后不久，总统在 Twitter 上写道，他提出的旅行禁令对防止恐怖主义必不可少。阿斯兰是伊朗裔美籍作家和宗教学者，他在 CNN 主持一个关于信仰和社会的每周一次的节目，他还把特朗普描述为“令人类蒙羞”。
That prompted expressions of outrage from right-wing news outlets like Breitbart News and the hosts of “Fox & Friends” on Sunday morning, who lamented his comment. CNN was already mired in an uproar over the comedian Kathy Griffin, a co-host of the network’s New Year’s Eve coverage, who posted a photograph in which she held a fake severed head meant to look like the president’s; CNN severed ties with Ms. Griffin last week.	这引起了右翼新闻渠道周日上午的愤怒表示，比如布莱巴特新闻、以及“福克斯和朋友们”的主持人，他们抨击了阿斯兰的言论。此前，CNN 已经陷入了一场轩然大波，该新闻网新年除夕报道的联合主持人、喜剧演员凯西·格里芬(Kathy Griffin)发了一张照片，照片上，她手持一个假的、貌似砍下来的总统人头；CNN 已在上周解除了与格里芬的关系。
“I should have used better language to express my shock and frustration at the president’s lack of decorum and sympathy,” Mr. Aslan wrote in a statement on Sunday. “I apologize for my choice of words.” (A spokeswoman for CNN added: “That kind of discourse is never appropriate.”)	“我本该用更好的语言来表达我对总统不得体和缺乏同情心而感到的震惊和沮丧，”阿斯兰周日在一份声明中写道。“我为我所用的语言道歉。”（CNN 的一名发言人补充说：“那种言辞从来都是不合适的。”）
The backlash against Mr. Trump’s tweets, however, went beyond Mr. Aslan. Critics pointed to the president’s criticism of London’s mayor, Sadiq Khan, noting that Mr. Trump had taken a quote from the mayor out of context to suggest that he was unconcerned about terrorism.	但是，对特朗普推文表示强烈反对的不只阿斯兰一人。评论人士指出，总统对伦敦市长萨迪克·汗(Sadiq Khan)的批评用了断章取义的手法，特朗普把伦敦市长的话从上下文中取出来引用，暗示市长对恐怖主义漠不关心。
There was also some disbelief in online comments that the president, who has access to up-to-the-minute national intelligence, chose to send a speculative item from The Drudge Report to his 31.5 million	网上评论中也有表达不可思议的：能得到最新国家情报的总统，居然在一个具有国际意义的问题上，选择把来自《德鲁奇报道》的一条猜测转发给自己的 3150 万 Twitter 跟进者。《德鲁奇报道》深受保守派人士的欢迎，特朗普

Twitter followers on an issue of international import. The Drudge Report, which is hugely popular with conservatives, counts Mr. Trump among its devotees: @Drudge_Report is just one of 45 Twitter accounts that he follows.	是其崇拜者之一：总统只关注了 45 个 Twitter 帐户，@Drudge_Report 是其中之一。
On "Fox & Friends," a reliably Trump-friendly morning show, there was little concern over the president's tweets, but some criticism of Mr. Aslan's remark, which the hosts described as evidence of an explicit bias against Mr. Trump in some quarters of the news media.	在“福克斯和朋友们”上，这个对特朗普来说可靠、友好的早间节目，对总统的推文不太关心，但对阿斯拉的言论表示不满，节目主持人把他的言论描述为部分新闻媒体对特朗普有明显偏见的证据。
It was not long until the "Fox & Friends" crew was coping with its own troubles.	但“福克斯和朋友们”的团队很快就有了自己要应对的麻烦。
One of the show's guest commentators, Katie Hopkins of The Daily Mail, raised the prospect of rounding up Muslims in the United Kingdom and placing them in internment camps as a way of preventing future attacks. Another guest — Nigel Farage, the British political figure and "Brexit" advocate who is now a Fox News contributor — also mentioned the idea of internment.	节目请来的嘉宾评论员、《每日邮报》的凯蒂·霍普金斯(Katie Hopkins)建议英国考虑一种可能性，即把国内的穆斯林都抓起来，把他们关进拘留营，作为防止未来袭击的一种手段。另一位嘉宾奈杰尔·法拉吉(Nigel Farage)也提了拘留营的想法，法拉吉是提倡英国脱欧的英国政客，现在是福克斯新闻的供稿人。
Later in the broadcast, the "Fox & Friends" anchors paused for a formal denunciation of the statements, lest viewers be left with the impression that Fox was endorsing the idea.	在节目后来的部分，“福克斯和朋友们”的主持人打断了播出，正式声明谴责拘留营的说法，免得给观众留下福克斯赞同该想法的印象。
"On behalf of the network, I think all of us here find that idea reprehensible here at Fox News Channel, just to be clear," a co-host, Clayton Morris, told viewers.	节目的联合主持人克莱顿·莫里斯(Clayton Morris)对观众说，“我代表台网说，我觉得，我们所有在这里的福克斯新闻频道人员一致认为，这个想法应该受到指责。”
Ms. Huntsman added, "It's important to be said."	亨茨曼补充说：“这么说很重要。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170606/london-attack-trump-media-cnn-fox-news	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170606/london-attack-trump-media-cnn-fox-news

Trump Takes Credit for Saudi Move Against Qatar, a U.S. Military Partner	特朗普自称促成阿拉伯多国与卡塔尔断交
WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump thrust himself into a bitter Persian Gulf dispute Tuesday, claiming credit for Saudi Arabia's move to isolate its smaller neighbor, Qatar, which is a major U.S. military partner.	华盛顿——周二，特朗普总统主动卷入波斯湾的一场激烈争端中，声称沙特阿拉伯孤立较小的邻国卡塔尔是他的功劳。卡塔尔是美国的一个重要军事伙伴。
"During my recent trip to the Middle East I stated that there can no longer be funding of Radical Ideology," Trump said in a morning tweet. "Leaders pointed to Qatar — look!"	"最近访问中东时，我曾表示不能再为激进意识形态提供资金了，"特朗普早晨在一条推文中说。"各国领导人指向卡塔尔——看吧！"
On Monday, Bahrain, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates and Yemen broke diplomatic and commercial ties with Qatar, citing its support for terrorist groups. Trump, who made the cutting of terrorist funding a centerpiece of his trip to Saudi Arabia in May, said he was responsible.	本周一，巴林、埃及、沙特阿拉伯、阿拉伯联合酋长国和也门以卡塔尔支持恐怖主义组织为由，断绝了与该国的外交和商业关系。特朗普声称自己对此事负责，他5月份访问沙特阿拉伯时，把切断恐怖主义的资金作为了一个核心议题。
"So good to see the Saudi Arabia visit with the King and 50 countries already paying off," the president said on Twitter. "They said they would take a hard line on funding."	"很高兴看到我前往沙特阿拉伯拜访国王和50个国家已经获得了回报，"特朗普在Twitter上表示："他们表示在恐怖主义资金的事情上不会手软。"
Qatar has long been accused of funneling arms and money to radical groups in Syria, Libya and other Arab countries. But so has Saudi Arabia. And Trump's tweets have huge potential strategic consequences in the Middle East, where Qatar is a crucial military outpost for the United States.	长期以来，一直有人指责卡塔尔将武器和金钱运送给叙利亚、利比亚和其他阿拉伯国家的激进团体。但沙特阿拉伯也曾遭到过这种指责。卡塔尔是美国重要的军事前哨基地，特朗普的推文可能在中东产生巨大的战略影响。
Qatar is home to the forward headquarters of the U.S. Central Command. It is a major intelligence hub for the United States in the Middle East and the base where the United States plans and carries out airstrikes on the Islamic State group.	卡塔尔是美国中央司令部的前方总部所在地。它是美国在中东的一个重要情报中心，也是美国规划和执行对伊斯兰国(IS)开展空袭的基地。
Trump's comments were a sharp break from his top national security	特朗普的言论和他的高级国家安全助手的做法形成了巨大反差，助手们试图

aides, who tried to play down any impact of the rift within the Sunni-Arab coalition that is helping the United States fight the Islamic State.	淡化逊尼派—阿拉伯联盟内部这起纷争的影响；该联盟正在帮助美国打击伊斯兰国。
"We certainly would encourage the parties to sit down together and address these differences," Secretary of State Rex Tillerson told reporters in Sydney, where he and Defense Secretary Jim Mattis were meeting with officials.	"我们当然会鼓励各方一起坐下来解决这些分歧," 国务卿雷克斯·蒂勒森(Rex Tillerson)在悉尼对记者说。他和国防部长吉姆·马蒂斯(Jim Mattis)在那里与澳大利亚官员举行会晤。
At the Pentagon, some Defense Department officials said they were taken aback by Trump's decision to thrust the United States into the middle of a fight with its close partners, particularly given the U.S. military's deep ties to Qatar.	在五角大楼, 一些国防部官员表示, 特朗普把美国卷入到亲密伙伴的纷争中让他们很惊讶, 特别是考虑到美军与卡塔尔的深厚关系。
Al Udeid base, outside of Doha, is home to around 10,000 U.S. troops.	位于多哈城外的乌代德空军基地驻扎着约 1 万名美军。
Several Defense Department officials said that Trump's tweets had undercut the Pentagon, particularly given how crucial Al Udeid base is to the war against the Islamic State.	国防部的几名官员说, 特朗普的推文不利于五角大楼, 特别是考虑到乌代德基地对打击伊斯兰国的战争来说有多么重要。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170607/trump-qatar-saudi-arabia	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170607/trump-qatar-saudi-arabia
Trump's Cabinet, With a Prod, Extols the 'Blessing' of Serving Him	特朗普召开内阁会议, 下属轮番表忠心
WASHINGTON — One by one, they praised President Donald Trump, taking turns complimenting his integrity, his message, his strength, his policies. Their leader sat smiling, nodding his approval.	华盛顿——他们一个挨一个地称赞唐纳德·特朗普总统, 挨个赞扬他的正直、他说的话、他的实力与政策。他们的领袖面带微笑坐着, 点头表示赞同。
"The greatest privilege of my life is to serve as vice president to the president who's keeping his word to the American people," Mike Pence said, starting things off.	"能给一位信守对美国人民诺言的总统当副总统, 是我一生最大的荣幸," 迈克·彭斯(Mike Pence)开了个头。
"I am privileged to be here — deeply honored — and I want to thank you for your commitment to the American workers," said Alexander Acosta,	"能坐在这里, 我感到荣幸——深感荣幸——我想感谢你为美国工人的付出," 劳工部长亚历山大·阿科斯塔(Alexander Acosta)说。

the secretary of labor.
Sonny Perdue, the agriculture secretary, had just returned from Mississippi and had a message to deliver. "They love you there," he offered, grinning across the antique table at Trump.	农业部长索尼·珀杜(Sonny Perdue)刚从密西西比州回来, 他带回了一个消息。“那里的人很喜欢你,”他一边传达这个信息, 一边对古董桌对面的特朗普咧嘴笑着。
Reince Priebus, the chief of staff whose job insecurity has been the subject of endless speculation, outdid them all, telling the president – and the assembled news cameras – “We thank you for the opportunity and the blessing to serve your agenda.”	一直被猜测职位朝不保夕的幕僚长雷恩斯·普利巴斯(Reince Priebus)令其他人都相形逊色, 他告诉总统——以及密集的采访镜头——“我们感谢你给予的机会与祝福, 让我们为你的议程服务。”
So it went on Monday in the Cabinet Room of the White House, as Trump transformed a routine meeting of senior members of his government into a mood-boosting, ego-stroking display of support for himself and his agenda. While the president never explicitly asked to be praised, Pence set the worshipful tone, and Trump made it clear he liked what he heard.	这是周一在白宫内阁会议室上演的一幕, 特朗普将一场政府高层常规会议, 变成了表达对他个人及其议程支持的提振气氛、满足虚荣的展示会。尽管这位总统从来没有明确要求别人表扬他, 但彭斯设定了一个表虔诚的基调, 特朗普则明确表现出喜欢听这些东西。
“Thank you, Mick,” he told Mick Mulvaney, his budget director. “Good job,” he told Scott Pruitt, his EPA chief. “Very good, Daniel,” he said to Dan Coats, the director of national intelligence.	“谢谢你, 米克,”他对自己的预算主管米克·马尔瓦尼(Mick Mulvaney)说。“干得不错,”他告诉环境保护局局长斯科特·普鲁特(Scott Pruitt)。“很棒, 丹尼尔,”他对国家情报局局长丹·科茨(Dan Coats)讲道。
The commander in chief, who has been known for decades as a fan of flattery and who speaks of himself in superlatives, even indulged in a bit of self-congratulation. He declared himself one of the most productive presidents in United States history – perhaps Franklin D. Roosevelt could come close, he conceded – and proclaimed that he had led a “record-setting pace” of accomplishment.	这位三军统帅甚至索性自夸了一番, 过去几十年里, 大家都知道他喜好奉承, 在谈到自己时从来不吝溢美之词。他称自己是美国历史上最有成效的总统之一——他承认, 或许富兰克林·D·罗斯福(Franklin D. Roosevelt)能与之媲美——还宣称美国政府在他的领导下以“创纪录的速度”取得了诸多成就。
Never mind that Trump has yet to sign any major legislation, or that his White House has been buffeted by legal and ethical questions	要知道, 特朗普还没有签署任何重大法案, 而且, 围绕他的团队可能与俄罗斯有关联的调查, 以及他将领导这项调查的联邦调查局局长解职一事, 令他

surrounding the investigation into his campaign's possible links to Russia and his firing of the FBI director who had been leading that inquiry.	的白宫接连遭到法律和道德质疑。
The highly unusual spectacle before the Cabinet meeting got down to business and the TV cameras were banished seemed designed to deflect attention from the president's faltering agenda and the accusations leveled against him last week by the fired FBI director, James Comey, which are threatening to further overshadow his agenda and haunt his presidency.	在内阁会议进入正题和摄像机被屏蔽之前发生的这一幕极不寻常，似乎是有意为之，目的是将注意力从总统进展不顺的议程，以及被解职的联邦调查局局长詹姆斯·科米(James Comey)上周对他提出的指控上转移开来，这些指控有可能给他的议程蒙上更多阴影，在他的总统生涯中挥之不去。
Days before, Comey had charged that Trump had lied about his firing and inappropriately sought to influence the Russia investigation. On Monday, the president said the country was "seeing amazing results" from his leadership.	几天前，科米指控特朗普在解除他职位的事情上撒谎，还不恰当地试图对通俄指控调查施加影响。周一，总统表示这个国家在他的领导下“正取得惊人的成就”。
"I will say that never has there been a president, with few exceptions — in the case of FDR he had a major Depression to handle — who's passed more legislation, who's done more things than what we've done," Trump said. "We've been about as active as you can possibly be, and at a just about record-setting pace."	"除了极少的例外——比如富兰克林·D·罗斯福面临大衰退的情况——我会说几乎没有哪位总统通过了更多法案，做的事比我们还多的，"特朗普说。"我们的积极程度几乎达到了极限，基本是以一个创纪录的速度。"
The tableau in the Cabinet Room drew instant derision from critics. And within hours, Democrats had pounced.	白宫内阁会议室发生的引人入胜的场面立即引来批评者的嘲笑。不到几个小时，民主党人也扑了上去。
"GREAT meeting today with the best staff in the history of the world!!" Sen. Chuck Schumer, D-N.Y., the minority leader, said in a post on Twitter.	"真是一场伟大的会议，有世界历史上的最佳内阁出席!!"参议院少数党领袖、纽约州民主党参议员查克·舒默(Chuck Schumer)在 Twitter 上说。
In a video posted with the tweet, Schumer sat at a table with young staff members who, at his prompting, praised his performance on	在发布于 Twitter 的一段视频中，舒默与一群年轻的工作人员坐在一张桌子旁，后者在他的鼓动下，赞美他在周日脱口秀节目中的表现和他的发型。其

Sunday talk shows and the appearance of his hair. One repeated Priebus' quotation word for word, prompting the senator and his aides to erupt into laughter.	中有人逐字引用了普利巴斯的话，令参议员和助手们都大笑起来。
Trump has been struggling with his legislative agenda. His effort to repeal and replace the Affordable Care Act passed the House on a second try, but senators are toiling to put together their own version. And his administration is months away from unveiling either a major tax cut package or the sweeping infrastructure plan he has promised.	特朗普的立法议程举步维艰。废除和取代《平价医疗费用法案》(Affordable Care Act)的努力，第二次在众议院投票时获得通过，但参议员们在努力制定他们自己的版本。再过几个月，他的政府要么得推出一个重大的减税方案，要么就兑现他之前承诺的大规模基建计划。
The endorsements from the administration's highest officials may have served as a comforting counterpoint to Trump's sinking poll numbers. Fifty-nine percent disapprove of the job he is doing as president, according to a June 11 Gallup tracking survey, with only 36 percent approving.	来自政府最高层官员的支持，或许对特朗普不断下降的民意支持率有一定的抚慰作用。盖洛普(Gallup)的追踪调查显示，有59%的人对他担任总统的表现不满意，只有36%的人表示支持。
After his upbeat introductory remarks on Monday, the president went around the table asking for a statement from each Cabinet member. One by one, they said their names and — as if working to outdo one another — paid homage to Trump, describing how honored they were to serve in his administration.	周一，在做了一个积极乐观的开场白后，总统便绕着桌子请每一位内阁成员发表声明。他们挨个说了自己的名字——就好像在竭力胜过其他人——并向特朗普致敬，描述他们为能在他的政府效力感到多么荣幸。
"Thank you for the opportunity to serve at SBA," said Linda McMahon, the administrator of the Small Business Administration, trumpeting "a new optimism" for small businesses.	"感谢你让我有机会在SBA效力，"小企业管理局(Small Business Administration)局长琳达·麦克马洪(Linda McMahon)说，她还宣告小企业看到了"新的乐观前景"。
Ben Carson, the housing secretary, called it "a great honor" to work for Trump, while Perdue offered congratulations for "the men and women you have gathered around this table."	住房和城市发展部部长本·卡森(Ben Carson)称，能为特朗普效力是"一项莫大的荣誉"。珀杜则对"围坐在这张桌子旁的各位"表示祝贺。
Steven Mnuchin, the Treasury secretary, told Trump: "It was a great	财政部长史蒂文·努钦(Steven Mnuchin)告诉特朗普："去年能随你在美国各

honor traveling with you around the country for the last year, and an even greater honor to be here serving on your Cabinet.”	地访问，是一项莫大的荣誉，如今能在你的内阁效力，则是更大的殊荣。”
A few Cabinet members diverged from the apparent script. Jim Mattis, the secretary of defense whose reputation for independence has been a comfort to Trump’s critics, refrained from personally praising the president, instead aiming his comments at U.S. troops fighting and dying for their country.	有几位内阁成员似乎没有照本宣科。国防部长吉姆·马蒂斯(Jim Mattis)没有做出个人褒奖，而是把赞扬给了为祖国战斗和牺牲的美国军人。他独立的名声对特朗普的批评者而言是一种安慰。
“Mr. President, it’s an honor to represent the men and women of the Department of Defense, and we are grateful for the sacrifices our people are making in order to strengthen our military so our diplomats always negotiate from a position of strength,” Mattis said as Trump sat, stern-faced.	“总统先生，能代表国防部的男女将士我感到十分荣幸，对于我们的人民为加强我们的军事力量做出的牺牲——以便让我们的外交官在谈判中始终处于优势地位——我们心存感激，”马蒂斯说道，一旁的特朗普面无表情。
But the meeting still struck White House officials of past administrations as odd.	但这场会议依然让往届政府的白宫官员感到十分古怪。
“I ran 16 Cabinet meetings during Obama’s 1st term,” Chris Lu, former President Barack Obama’s Cabinet secretary, wrote on Twitter. “Our Cabinet was never told to sing Obama’s praises. He wanted candid advice not adulation.”	“在奥巴马的第一个任期内，我组织过16场内阁会议，”前总统贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)的内阁秘书长卢沛宁(Chris Lu)在Twitter上写道。“我们的内阁从来不曾被要求给奥巴马唱赞歌。他想要的是诚实的建议，而不是吹捧。”
The show of support for the president was in keeping with an intense effort by the White House to boost Trump’s mood and change the subject from Comey’s damaging testimony last week.	对总统表示支持的表演，与白宫的一项努力是一致的，其目的提振特朗普的士气，将话题从科米上周所做的颇具杀伤力的证词上引开。
In a television interview on Monday morning, the president’s daughter Ivanka Trump said her father “felt vindicated” and was eager to move on and talk about the rest of his agenda. Appearing on “Fox & Friends,” she said that “he feels incredibly optimistic.”	总统的女儿伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)在周一上午接受电视采访时表示，她父亲“感觉自己是清白的”，渴望能迈过这个问题，谈论他其他的议题。在“福克斯和朋友们”(Fox & Friends)节目上，她表示“他感到十分乐观”。

Reporters who witnessed the Cabinet meeting's prelude tried in vain to ask the president about his comments about Comey — specifically, whether he has tapes of their conversations, as he has hinted.	见证了内阁会议室那段前奏的记者们，试图让总统就科米的言论置评，但未能如愿——他们尤其想知道，他是否有两人谈话的录音，就像他之前所暗示的。
But Trump was in no mood to allow such questions to rain on his parade, and he dismissed the news media with a curt “thank you.”	但特朗普似乎不愿让这类问题破坏他的展示会的气氛，于是用一句唐突的“谢谢你”打发了新闻媒体。
“Finally held our first full @Cabinet meeting today,” he tweeted later, along with a video of the meeting-turned-pep rally. “With this great team, we can restore American prosperity and bring real change to D.C.”	“今天终于召开了我们的首次全体@Cabinet会议，”他后来发推文写道，还发布了一段这场变身为鼓劲集会活动的会议的视频。“凭借这样一支优秀的团队，我们可以重建美国的繁荣，给华盛顿特区带来真正的变化。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170613/trump-boasts-of-record-setting-pace-of-activity	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170613/trump-boasts-of-record-setting-pace-of-activity
Trump Loses Travel Ban Ruling in Appeals Court	特朗普旅行禁令再度受挫
WASHINGTON — A second U.S. appeals court has ruled against President Donald Trump's revised travel ban, delivering on Monday the latest in a string of defeats for the administration's efforts to limit travel from several predominantly Muslim countries.	华盛顿——周一，又一家联邦上诉法院做出了不利于唐纳德·特朗普总统那经过修订的旅行禁令的裁决。试图限制来自几个以穆斯林为主的国家的旅客入境，但却遭遇一系列挫折的特朗普政府，由此受到最新一次打击。
The administration has already sought a Supreme Court review of a similar decision issued last month by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit, in Richmond, Virginia. Monday's decision came from the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit, in San Francisco.	弗吉尼亚州里士满的美国第四巡回上诉法院于上月做出了类似的裁定，政府已经提请最高法院进行复核。周一的裁决则出自旧金山的美国第九巡回上诉法院。
The two courts employed different reasoning to arrive at the same basic conclusion. The 4th Circuit said the revised executive order violated the First Amendment's prohibition of government establishment of religion.	两家法院根据不同的理由得出了基本相同的结论。第四巡回上诉法院说，修订过的行政令违反了第一修正案中禁止政府塑造宗教信仰的条款。
The 9th Circuit, by contrast, rested its conclusions on statutory	第九巡回上诉法院的结论则是基于成文法。它说特朗普行事超出了国会授予

grounds. It said Trump had exceeded the authority Congress granted him in making national security judgments in the realm of immigration without adequate justification.	他的权限，在没有充分理由的情况下，就移民事务做出了关于国家安全的论断。
“The order does not offer a sufficient justification to suspend the entry of more than 180 million people on the basis of nationality,” the 9th Circuit’s opinion said. “National security is not a ‘talismanic incantation’ that, once invoked, can support any and all exercise of executive power.”	“这项行政令基于国籍原因暂时禁止逾 1.8 亿人入境，却没有提供充分的理由，”第九巡回上诉法院的意见书称。“国家安全并不是一种一经启用，就可以为行使任何一项乃至所有行政权力提供支撑的‘护身符咒’。”
The decision, from a three-judge panel, was unanimous. It was issued jointly by Judges Michael Daly Hawkins, Ronald M. Gould and Richard A. Paez. All three were appointed by President Bill Clinton.	一个三人合议庭一致做出了这项裁决。共同做出裁决的分别是迈克尔·达利·霍金斯(Michael Daly Hawkins)、罗纳德·M·古尔德(Ronald M. Gould)和理查德·A·帕斯(Richard A. Paez)法官。三人当初都是由比尔·克林顿(Bill Clinton)总统任命的。
The ruling affirmed most of a March decision from Judge Derrick K. Watson, of the U.S. District Court in Hawaii. But the appeals court narrowed the injunction issued by Watson in a significant way.	这项裁决认可了夏威夷联邦地区法院法官德里克·K·沃森(Derrick K. Watson)于今年 3 月所做裁定的大部分内容。但第九巡回上诉法院显著缩小了沃森所发禁制令的范畴。
The appeals court said Watson had erred in barring the administration from conducting internal reviews of its vetting procedures while the case moved forward.	该法院说，沃森的错误是，在案件向前推进期间禁止政府对其审查程序进行内部审核。
That may turn out to be important as the Supreme Court considers how to address the two cases.	事实或许会证明，在最高法院考虑如何处理上述两个案件之际，这一点非常重要。
The key part of the executive order suspended travel from six predominantly Muslim countries for 90 days to give the administration time to conduct a review of its vetting procedures. If that review can soon be completed, the justices may decide that the case will soon be moot.	在 90 天里暂时禁止来自六个以穆斯林为主的国家的人士入境，以便让政府有时间对其审查程序进行内部审核，是行政令的关键内容。如果审核可以很快完成，法官们或许会认为案子很快便将毫无意义。

In briefs filed Monday in the Supreme Court, lawyers challenging the revised executive order urged the court not to hear the Trump administration's appeal of the 4th Circuit's decision or to stay the injunctions entered in the two cases.	在周一提交给最高法院的几份简明书状中，对经过修订的行政令提出质疑的律师们敦促最高法院不要理会特朗普政府就第四巡回上诉法院的裁决提起的上诉，也不要冻结两案中的禁制令。
They said the cases might be moot as soon as Wednesday.	他们说，这两个案子最快到周三也许就毫无意义了。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170613/trump-travel-ban-court-of-appeals	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170613/trump-travel-ban-court-of-appeals
For Army Infantry's 1st Women, Heavy Packs and the Weight of History	血汗创造历史：美国首批女性步兵毕业
The first group of women graduated from United States Army infantry training last week, but with soldiers obscured by body armor, camouflage face paint and smoke grenades, it was almost impossible to distinguish the mixed-gender squads in the steamy woods from those of earlier generations.	上周，第一批女兵完成了美国陆军步兵训练。但在防弹衣、面部迷彩和烟雾弹的影响下，士兵的形象是模糊不清的，几乎看不出这些身处潮湿闷热的树林里的男女混编班组，和以前的有什么不同。
That's just how the Army wants it.	这正是陆军想要的。
After the Obama administration ordered the military in 2013 to open all combat positions to women, the Army developed gender-neutral performance standards to ensure that recruits entering the infantry were all treated the same. Still smarting over accusations that it had lowered standards to help the first women graduate from its elite Ranger School in 2015, the Army has taken pains to avoid making any exceptions for infantry boot camp. To the pound, men and women lug the same rucksacks, throw the same grenades and shoulder the same machine guns.	在奥巴马政府 2013 年下令军队向女性开放所有作战岗位后，陆军制定了不分性别的成绩标准，以确保对进入步兵的新兵一视同仁。2015 年他们被指为了让第一批女兵从其精锐的游骑兵学校(Ranger School)毕业而降低标准，由此造成的不良影响至今仍在。陆军小心翼翼地避免步兵新兵训练营出现任何例外。为此，男女新兵背同样的帆布背包、扔同样的手榴弹、扛同样的机枪。
The Army has also sought to play down the significance of the new female infantrymen — as they are still known — not mentioning, when	上周，当家人聚在一起祝贺她们毕业时，陆军还试图淡化新增一批女性步兵的重大意义——她们依然被称为 infantrymen——这 18 名得以毕业的女兵，

families gathered last week for their graduation, that the 18 women who made it through would be the first in more than two centuries for the American infantry.	将是两个多世纪以来的首批女性步兵。
"It's business as usual," the battalion commander overseeing the first class, Lt. Col. Sam Edwards, said as he watched a squad of soldiers run past — including one with French braids and a grenade launcher. "I've tried to not change a thing."	"一切照常，"负责第一批女兵训练的营长萨姆·爱德华兹(Sam Edwards)中校一边看着一队士兵跑过，一边说。其中一名士兵扎着法式辫，携带一支榴弹发射器。"我努力不作任何改变。"
Female grunts in the battalion see things differently. In interviews during a series of visits to observe training, many said the fact that they could finally pursue a combat career, and have it treated as no big deal, was for them revolutionary. Now many who dreamed of going into the infantry are no longer barred from the core combat positions that are the clearest career routes to senior leadership.	在该营，女兵低声表述着自己的不同观点。为了观察训练，记者曾多次实地探访。接受采访时，很多人说，自己最终能成为一名职业作战人员，并且不被当成天大的事，这对她们来说是革命性的。现在，很多梦想成为步兵的人不再被禁止走上核心作战岗位。这些岗位是通往高级领导职位的最直接的路径。
Just before graduation, one female drill sergeant pulled aside a group of female privates, who ranged from high school athletes to a single mother with a culinary degree, and gave them her unofficial assessment out of officers' earshot.	就在毕业前，一名女性操练军士把一队背景各异的女兵拉到一边，在军官听不到的地方做出了她自己的非官方评价，她们中有中学运动员，也有拥有烹饪专业学位的单亲妈妈。
"This is a big deal," she said as she looked into one recruit's eyes. She said they were making history.	"这一点意义重大，"她看着一名新兵的双眼说。她说她们正在创造历史。
'Misery is a great equalizer'	"痛苦能让大家变得平等"
Rain pounded the roughly 150 troops of Alpha Company, who ranged in age from 17 to 34, as they stood in formation during a tornado warning, waiting to hear if it was too stormy to train.	雨拍打着年龄在17岁到34岁不等的大约150名A连士兵。在龙卷风警报期间，她们列队等着听会不会因为暴风雨太猛烈而取消训练。
If the downpour let up, they would practice rushing out of armored vehicles. If not, they would tramp back to the foxholes where they had	如果雨小下来，她们会练习冲出装甲车辆。如果没有，她们便会踏步回到前一天晚上睡觉的散兵坑，用水壶杯把棕色的积水舀出来。

slept the night before and bail out the standing brown water with canteen cups.
Either way, by day's end they would be wet, tired, hungry and cold: the four pillars of misery the Army has long relied on to help whip recruits into cohesive fighting teams.	无论怎样，一天下来她们都会感到潮湿、疲惫、饥饿和寒冷：陆军长期依靠这四种痛苦的帮助，把新兵训练成有凝聚力的战斗团队。
"Misery is a great equalizer," one male recruit said with a resigned grin.	"痛苦能很好地让大家变得平等，"一名男性新兵无奈地笑着说。
The rain eventually let up and the sergeants ran the platoons through repeated ambush drills. By the end, while some of the troops had buzz cuts and some had their hair in buns, they all shared the drooping weariness that grunts have worn for as long as there's been an infantry.	天终于放晴了，教官们带着各排反复做伏击训练。队伍里的一些人留着平头，另一些则把头发挽成了小圆髻，但到头来，他们都会显出萎靡不振的疲惫，那是自打有步兵以来，每一个士兵都有的神态。
'She's a hoss'	"她是一把好手"
In the woods, after hours of mock raids, Pvt. Kayla Padgett rested her rifle against her rucksack and turned to her platoon, assembling them in three neat rows.	丛林中，若干小时的模拟突袭结束后，列兵凯拉·帕吉特(Kayla Padgett)把自己的步枪靠着背包放好，随即转向她所在的排，让他们整齐地排成三列。
It was 90 degrees. A tick crawled along the back of her shirt. The night before, the platoon had slept in the dirt. Everyone was dog tired. Many were covered in ant bites. But as platoon guide, it was her job to make them ready.	气温是华氏 90 度。一只蜱虫在她的衬衫背部爬行。前一晚，这个排睡在泥地上。每个人都累成狗。很多人身上到处是蚂蚁咬的包。但作为这个排的领队，她有责任让他们做好准备。
"All right, hustle it up, let's count off," she said.	"好了，快点儿，报数，"她说。
One by one the platoon of mostly men each shouted until all were accounted for.	排里的人多为男性，他们一个接一个地大声报了一遍数。
"O.K., good," Private Padgett said, scanning the group with her blue eyes. "If you haven't done so, keep loading up ammo, all your magazines."	"好的，很好，"帕吉特一边说，一边用蓝眼睛扫视着人群。"还没装弹的继续把所有弹夹装满。"
Over the years, countless voices have warned that women could never	多年来，有多到数不清的声音警告说，女人永远也无法达到步兵的要求，还

handle the demands of the infantry, and would destroy its all-male esprit de corps. None of the recruits or drill sergeants interviewed at Fort Benning shared that fear. They all pointed to women like Private Padgett.	会破坏阳刚的团队合作精神。在班宁堡，没有哪个受访的新兵或教官有这种顾虑。他们全都提到像帕吉特这样的女性。
The 23-year-old track champion from North Carolina could throw a 20-pound hammer more than 60 meters while on the team at East Carolina University, and showed up at basic training in better shape than many of the men. She is now on her way to Airborne School, and wants to eventually become a Ranger.	这名现年 23 岁、来自北卡罗莱纳州的径赛冠军，在东卡罗莱纳大学(East Carolina University)校队时能把 20 磅重的链球掷到 60 米开外，参加基本训练期间的表现比很多男性都要好。她即将进入伞兵学校，将来想要成为一名游骑兵。
"She's a hoss," her drill sergeant, Joseph Sapp, said as he watched her. After a tour in Iraq and four in Afghanistan, he has served with his share of soldiers. "Forget male-female; she's one of the best in the company. She's one you're happy to have."	"她是一把好手，"帕吉特的教官约瑟夫·萨普(Joseph Sapp)望着她说道。去过一次伊拉克、四次阿富汗的萨普，已经和不少士兵并肩作战过。"忘了男女之分吧；她是连里最棒的之一。你会希望有这样一个兵。"
Not 'treated special'	没有"受特别待遇"
In the new integrated infantry companies, women and men train together in mixed-gender squads from before dawn until after dusk: practicing the same raids, kicking in the same doors, doing the same push-ups when their squad messes up. No one gets out of a rotation serving chow.	在新的综合步兵连里，男性和女性被混搭着编进各个小组一同训练，从黎明前直到黄昏后：进行同样的突袭演练，踢同样的门，在自己的小组出了岔子时做同样的俯卧撑。进餐时给人盛饭的工作是轮换的，任何人都不能躲过。
At night, they sleep in rooms separated by gender, in identical metal bunks with identically scratchy green blankets. To graduate, all must pass tests of the same infantry skills, including hurling a grenade 35 meters, dragging a 268-pound dummy 15 meters, running five miles in less than 45 minutes and completing a 12-mile march carrying 68 pounds.	夜里，他们按性别分房睡，但身下是相同的金属铺位，配有相同的毛糙绿毯子。要想毕业，所有人都必须通过同样的步兵技能测试，其中包括把手榴弹掷出 35 米远，把一个 268 磅重的假人拖到 15 米外，45 分钟内跑完 5 英里，以及负重 68 磅行进 12 英里。

Hair is one of the few places where standards still diverge. All men get their heads shaved on arrival. Women don't. Not wanting to be held to a different standard, though, many of the women decided a few weeks into training to shave in solidarity. They would earn back their hair, just like the men.	头发是标准仍然存在分歧的几个事项之一。所有男性一到这里就被拉去剃头。女性则不会。不过，很多女人不愿被加诸不同的标准，参加训练没几周便会决定一起剃头。她们会用自己的努力把头发赢回来，就像男性一样。
"I loved my hair, but didn't want anyone to look at me and think I was being treated special," said Pvt. Irelynn Donovan.	"我喜欢自己的头发，但不想让任何人在看到我的时候认为我正享受特别待遇，"列兵伊里林恩·多诺万(Irelynn Donovan)说。
'I wanted to make history'	"我想要创造历史"
Private Donovan, 20, grew up outside Philadelphia with five older brothers. She was the only girl on her junior high football team. When assigned to write an essay about an adult she admired, she chose her grandfather, who had served two tours in Vietnam.	多诺万现年20岁，在费城郊区和五个哥哥一起长大。她在初中是校足球队里唯一一个女孩。老师要求写一篇以自己崇拜的一个成年人为题的文章时，她选的是曾两度前往越南参战的祖父。
"She's just always been a badass," said her mother, Cristine Zalewski.	"她向来都是个狠角色，"她母亲克里斯汀·扎列夫斯基(Cristine Zalewski)说。
She always wanted to join the infantry, despite a ban on women. On her forearm is a tattoo of flowers wrapped around a saying uttered by her single mother, who sometimes had to scrounge for change in the house to pay bills: "We'll find a way"	她一直想要成为步兵，尽管存在针对女性的禁令。她的前臂上有一个文身，被花朵簇拥着的是她的单身母亲的一句话："We'll find a way"（车到山前必有路）。母亲为了付账单不得不在房子里搜寻零钱时偶尔会这样说。
As soon as the ban was lifted in 2016, Irelynn Donovan went to a local recruiter.	2016年，禁令一取消，伊里林恩·多诺万就去找当地的一名征兵人员。
"I wanted to make history," she said. "Pave the way, if not for me, then for others."	"我想要创造历史，"她说。"铺个路，就算不是为我，也要为其他人。"
During training, she wrote home complaining that she was exhausted and tired of being yelled at. "Everything is chafing," she wrote. But she became a standout, nailing the physical tests for both men and women when she did 79 push-ups in two minutes.	训练期间，她在写给家人的信中抱怨说，她筋疲力竭，也厌倦了被吼来吼去。"每件事都不顺，"她写道。但她脱颖而出，在对男性和女性一视同仁的体能测试中表现出色，两分钟做了79个俯卧撑。

'Hey, the infantry's tough, man'	"嘿，步兵很苦的，伙计。"
Afghanistan and Iraq were turning points for the Army's thinking on women in combat. The wars forced thousands of women who were not technically combat troops into fire fights. Nearly 14,000 women were awarded the Combat Action Badge for engaging with the enemy. Today most of the men leading the Army have served with women in combat for years.	阿富汗和伊拉克战争让美国陆军对女性参战的看法发生了转变。这些战争迫使并非严格意义上的作战人员的万千女性投身战火。将近 1.4 万名女性因为与敌人交锋而被授予近战突击徽章(Combat Action Badge)。现如今，领导着陆军的大多数男性都曾与女性并肩作战多年。
"We saw it can work," said Maj. Gen. Jeffrey Snow, who heads Army Recruiting Command at Fort Knox, Ky. "And now we have a generation that just wants to accomplish the mission and have the most talented people to do it."	"我们发现这是可行的，"肯塔基州诺克斯堡陆军征兵指挥部(Army Recruiting Command)负责人、杰弗里·斯诺(Jeffrey Snow)少将说。"而且现在这一代人只是想完成使命，让最具才干的人去做这件事。"
The Army is determined not to sacrifice performance for the sake of inclusion, and many women have not been able to meet the standard. Of the 32 who showed up at infantry boot camp in February, 44 percent dropped out. For the 148 men in the company, the dropout rate was just 20 percent.	军队决心不为了包容而牺牲对表现的要求，许多女性不能达到这一标准。2月进入步兵新兵训练营的 32 名女性中，有 44%中途退出。而同期进入连队的 148 名男性的退出率只有 20%。
Commanders say the higher dropout rate among females is in line with other demanding boot camps for military police and combat engineers, which have been open to women for years. In part, they say, it is a consequence of size. A 5-foot-2 woman has to carry the same weight and perform the same tasks as a man who stands a foot taller, and is more likely to be injured.	指挥官说，在其他要求较高的军警和工程兵的训练营内，女性的退出率同样较高，那些训练营多年来一直向女性开放。他们说，身材也是原因之一。一名 1.57 米的女子必须同一个比她高 30 厘米的男性承担相同的重量、执行相同的任务，并且更有可能受伤。
Why did so many more women fail? One female recruit summed it up by saying simply, "Hey, the infantry's tough, man."	为什么这么多女人失败了？一名女性征兵人员简单地总结，"嘿，步兵很苦的，伙计。"
"Is it fair?" said the brigade commander overseeing gender-integrated	"这公平吗？"在本宁堡，负责监督步兵训练中性别融合的军队指挥官凯利·肯

infantry training at Fort Benning, Col. Kelly Kendrick. "I don't care about fair. I care if you can meet the standard."	德里克(Kelly Kendrick)上校说。“我不在乎公平。我只在乎你是否符合标准。”
Male soldiers acknowledged in interviews that the women who remain, like Chonell Morgan, 18, are some of the toughest soldiers in the company. During a punishment run the platoons were ordered to undertake on a hot afternoon, Private Morgan, who is from Apple Valley, Calif., was near the front of the pack.	男性军人们在采访中都承认,剩下的女性,比如18岁的柯妮尔·摩根(Chonell Morgan),都是连队中最坚强的战士。一次,他们在炎热的下午被罚排队跑步,来自加利福尼亚州苹果谷的二等兵摩根跑在队伍前列。
The daughter of a NASA engineer, she postponed plans for college when she heard the infantry was opening to women. Her mother is still upset about the decision, but her father, Lorenzo Morgan, who served in the Army in the 1980s, said, "You have to let your children be who they want to be."	摩根是美国航空航天局一位工程师的女儿,当她听说步兵向女性开放时,便推迟了上大学的计划。她的母亲仍然对这个决定感到不快,但是她的父亲,1980年代曾在陆军服役的洛伦佐·摩根(Lorenzo Morgan)说:“你必须让孩子成为她们想成为的人”。
An unspoken accomplishment	无言的成就
This month, after 14 weeks of running and crawling in the dirt, Alpha Company marched onto the parade grounds in crisp dress uniforms and carefully creased berets.	经过14个星期的跑步与匍匐前进,这个月,A连穿着崭新的制服和精心打理的贝雷帽,列队进入游行场地,
The company commander's voice booming over loudspeakers welcomed them to the infantry, but he gave no nod to the women now joining the ranks.	扬声器响起连队指挥官的声音,欢迎他们加入步兵,但他没有对加入这一行列的女性们表示特别致意。
The women appeared to take it in stride. Private Donovan, who had won the award for the highest female fitness score in the company, finishing just behind the top man, pushed through the crowd toward her family, then shrank in embarrassment when her mother greeted her with a bouquet of flowers.	女人们似乎没有把这件事放在心上。多诺万曾获得连队女子健身最好成绩,成绩仅居于位列第一的男兵之后,那天她推开人群走向家人,看到母亲用一束鲜花来迎接她时,不禁倒退了一步。
"Mom," she muttered, looking to see if anyone noticed, "you don't bring	“妈,”她嘟囔着,看了看周围有没有人注意,“没人会带花到步兵毕业典礼上 flowers to infantry graduation.”	来的。”

https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170614/for-army-infantrys-1st-women-heavy-packs-and-the-weight-of-history	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170614/for-army-infantrys-1st-women-heavy-packs-and-the-weight-of-history
Jeff Sessions Fends Off Senators Pressing Him on Russia and Trump	司法部长塞申斯否认与俄罗斯共谋
Attorney General Jeff Sessions offered an indignant defense on Tuesday against what he called “an appalling and detestable lie” that he may have colluded with the Russian effort to interfere in the 2016 election, showcasing his loyalty to President Trump in an often contentious Senate hearing but declining to answer central questions about his or the president’s conduct.	周二，司法部长杰夫·塞申斯(Jeff Sessions)针对他口中“一个骇人听闻、令人厌恶的谎言”——也就是他或许曾与俄罗斯人串谋干预 2016 年美国总统选举的说法——愤然为自己辩护。他在参议院的一场充斥着争论的听证会上展示了对特朗普总统的忠诚，但却拒绝回答与他本人或总统的行为有关的核心问题。
Sounding by turns defiant and wounded, Mr. Sessions, a former senator from Alabama, often infused his testimony with more emotion than specifics. He insisted repeatedly that it would be “inappropriate” to discuss his private conversations with the president, however relevant they might be, visibly frustrating senators who have been conducting their own inquiry into Russia’s election meddling.	塞申斯这位前阿拉巴马州参议员总是给自己的证词注入更多情感而非细节，时而语带挑衅，时而又表示出很受伤的样子。他反复重申，把自己和总统的私人谈话拿出来讨论“不妥”——尽管它们或许与听证会的主题相关——这显然让一直就俄罗斯干预美国总统选举一事进行质询的参议员们颇为沮丧。
Mr. Sessions cast his recusal three months ago from Russia-related inquiries as a mere procedural matter, given his status as a high-profile Trump campaign surrogate last year, and not a product of any wrongdoing.	塞申斯以其曾在去年高调地为特朗普助选为由，将其三个月前回避通俄门调查之举描绘为单纯的程序性问题，而非不当行为的产物。
“I recused myself from any investigation into the campaign for president,” he told the Senate Intelligence Committee, in what was the latest highly charged congressional hearing of the Trump age. “I did not recuse myself from defending my honor against scurrilous and false allegations.”	“我自行回避了所有针对总统竞选活动的调查，”他在特朗普时代最新一场群情激荡的国会听证会上告诉参议院情报委员会(Senate Intelligence Committee)。“但我不会放弃驳斥下流的不实指控、捍卫自身荣誉的机会。”

Yet at times, Mr. Sessions seemed committed to revealing as little information as possible, particularly about his interactions with the president. Pressed on his rationale, Mr. Sessions allowed that Mr. Trump had not invoked executive privilege concerning the testimony of his attorney general.	不过有时候，塞申斯似乎致力于尽可能少地披露信息，尤其是关于他与总统如何互动的信息。当参议员们就其给出的理由展开追问时，塞申斯称，特朗普没有动用行政特权干预自己的司法部长作证。
"I am protecting the right of the president to assert it if he chooses," Mr. Sessions said.	"我是在捍卫总统行使这项权力的权利——如果他选择行使的话，"塞申斯说。
"I don't understand how you can have it both ways," said Senator Angus King of Maine, an independent who caucuses with Democrats. "You've testified that only the president can assert it. I just don't understand the legal basis for your refusal to answer."	"我不明白你怎么能两边的道理都占上，"立场一般偏向于民主党的缅因州独立参议员安格斯·金(Angus King)说。"你作证说唯有总统可以行使这项权力。我完全不明白你拒绝回答问题的法律依据何在。"
Mr. Sessions's appearance did little to move the White House beyond the shadow of Russia-tinged investigations, which have for months consumed the president and his team — often with firestorms of Mr. Trump's own making.	塞申斯的亮相基本无助于白宫走出通俄门调查的阴影，相关调查连月来一直损害着总统及其团队的形象——常常是借助由特朗普一手掀起的风暴。
On Tuesday, as the attorney general came to Capitol Hill, his administration was straining to play down suggestions that Mr. Trump is considering firing Robert S. Mueller III, the special counsel investigating possible ties between the president's associates and Russian officials.	周二，当司法部长前往国会山时，他的部门竭力淡化这样的说法：特朗普正考虑解雇罗伯特·S·穆勒三世(Robert S. Mueller III)，也就是那位受命调查总统身边人与俄罗斯官员之间的可能关联的特别检察官。
Mr. Sessions spoke from the same hearing room where James B. Comey, the former F.B.I. director, testified last week that Mr. Trump had tried to derail an investigation into Michael T. Flynn, the president's former national security adviser. Mr. Comey, whom Mr. Trump fired last month, also accused the president of lying and defaming him and the	塞申斯发言时所在的听证会场，上周曾迎来前联邦调查局局长詹姆斯·B·科米(James B. Comey)。科米在那里作证称，特朗普曾试图终结针对其前任国家安全顾问迈克尔·T·弗林(Michael T. Flynn)的调查。于上月被特朗普解雇的科米，还指控总统撒谎并抹黑他和联邦调查局。

F.B.I.
That testimony colored much of Tuesday's hearing, with Democrats pressing Mr. Sessions on several key elements of Mr. Comey's account. Among the questions: Why was Mr. Sessions involved in Mr. Comey's firing — months after Mr. Sessions had removed himself from involvement in the investigations after failing to disclose past contacts with the Russian ambassador?	科米的证词影响着周二听证会的很多时刻，民主党人就其说法中的几个关键元素追问塞申斯。其中一个问题是：塞申斯在未披露自己与俄罗斯大使以往的接触一事曝光后退出通俄门调查，为何却在几个月后参与解雇科米？
"It is absurd, frankly," Mr. Sessions began, "to suggest that a recusal from a single specific investigation would render the attorney general unable to manage the leadership of the various Department of Justice law enforcement components that conduct thousands of investigations."	"坦率地说，这很荒谬，"塞申斯开口说道，"居然觉得司法部长回避一项特定的调查，就意味着他不能管理开展成千上万项调查的司法部各执法机构的领导层。"
Mr. Sessions also addressed Mr. Comey's recollection of a private meeting in February with Mr. Trump, when Mr. Comey said the president pressured him to drop the Flynn investigation. Mr. Trump asked to be left alone with Mr. Comey, the former director has said. Mr. Sessions stayed behind at first but then left, according to Mr. Comey. He later told Mr. Sessions to never again leave him alone with Mr. Trump.	塞申斯还就科米关于其与特朗普今年2月的一次私人会面的回忆做了回应——科米称总统曾敦促他放弃对弗林的调查。这位前联邦调查局长说，总统当时要求他单独留下。按照科米的说法，塞申斯起初待在后边，但随后便离开了。他后来告诉塞申斯，再也不要留下他单独面对特朗普。
On Tuesday, Mr. Sessions seemed to confirm at least fragments of Mr. Comey's rendering.	周二，塞申斯似乎至少确认了科米的部分描述。
"I do recall being one of the last ones to leave," he said. "I don't know how that occurred."	"我不记得自己是最后离开的人之一，"他说。"我不知道事情是怎么发生的。"
But Mr. Sessions said he did not see the arrangement as "a major problem," calling Mr. Comey an experienced official who "could handle himself well."	但塞申斯说他并不认为这种安排是"一个大问题"，他说科米是一个经验丰富的官员，"可以照顾好自己"。
After the meeting between Mr. Trump and Mr. Comey, Mr. Sessions	塞申斯回忆说，特朗普和科米会面后，科米"向我表达了他对那场私人谈话 recalled, Mr. Comey “expressed concern to me about that private conversation.”	的忧虑之情。”

“And I agreed with him, essentially, that there are rules on private conversations with the president,” Mr. Sessions continued. “But there’s not a prohibition.”	“而我基本同意他的看法，和总统的私人谈话要遵循一些规则，”塞申斯继续说道。“不过并不存在什么禁令。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170614/jeff-sessions-senate-trump	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170614/jeff-sessions-senate-trump
What We Know and Don’t Know About the Shooting of the G.O.P. Men’s Baseball Team	关于国会棒球队枪击案，我们知道些什么？
Right Now: Five people have been wounded by a single gunman, who died after he was shot and taken into custody.	目前：有五人被一名枪手击伤，枪手受伤、被逮捕，之后伤重而亡。
What We Know	我们所知道的
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Five people, including Representative Steve Scalise, Republican of Louisiana and a member of the House leadership, were shot Wednesday morning in an attack at a baseball field in Alexandria, Va. 	这五人包括来自路易斯安那州的共和党众议院领袖史蒂夫·斯卡利塞(Steve Scalise)，他们周三早上在弗吉尼亚州亚历山大一个棒球场内发生的袭击中被击中。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Police said the gunman was shot and wounded and taken into custody. President Trump said the assailant, identified by authorities as James T. Hodgkinson of Belleville, Ill., died from the wounds. 	警方表示，这名枪手中枪受伤后被捕。特朗普总统表示，袭击者因伤势过重死亡。经当局确认，枪手身份为詹姆斯·T·霍奇金森(James T. Hodgkinson)，来自伊利诺伊州的贝尔维尔。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mr. Scalise was in critical condition and was undergoing surgery. His office said that he was “in good spirits” before going into surgery at MedStar Washington Hospital Center and that he spoke to his wife by phone. “He is grateful for the brave actions of the U.S. Capitol Police, first responders and colleagues,” his office said. 	斯卡利塞情况危急，正在接受手术。他的办公室表示，在梅德思达华盛顿医院中心(MedStar Washington Hospital Center)送进手术室之前，他“精神状态不错”，与他的妻子通了电话。“他感谢美国国会警察、应急人员及同事的勇敢行为，”他的办公室表示。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • He was at a baseball practice with other lawmakers and staff members preparing for a charity game when the attack occurred. 	袭击发生时，他正与其他几名议员和工作人员在一个棒球场练球，为一场慈善比赛做准备。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Representative Mo Brooks, Republican of Alabama, said two law 	阿拉巴马州共和党众议员莫·布鲁克斯(Mo Brooks)表示，有两名执法人员和

enforcement officers and a congressional aide were among the injured.	一名国会助手也受了伤。
• Mr. Brooks told CNN that players took cover wherever they could on the field and that members of a security team exchanged fire with the gunman, who had a rifle.	布鲁克斯告诉 CNN，球员们在球场上竭力寻找掩护自己的地方，警卫队则与持一支步枪的枪手交火。
• Police said a call came in at 7:09 a.m., and officers responded in three minutes. Two officers engaged the attacker and returned fire, the authorities said.	警方表示，他们在早上 7 点零 9 分接到报警，不到三分钟便出警。当局表示，有两名警察引开枪手的注意力，并开火还击。
• The office of Representative Roger Williams, Republican of Texas, said that a member of his staff had been shot and was receiving medical attention. (His office said the congressman had not been shot, as some have reported.)	得克萨斯州共和党众议员罗杰·威廉姆斯(Roger Williams)表示，他的工作人员中有一名被击中，正在接受医疗看护（正如有些媒体所报道的，他的办公室表示，该国会议员平安无事）。
• Senator Rand Paul, Republican of Kentucky, said quick action by Capitol Police saved lives. "The field was basically a killing field," he said.	肯塔基州共和党参议员兰德·保罗(Rand Paul)表示，国会警察的快速行动挽救不少性命。“当时那个球场基本成了一个屠杀场”。
What We Don't Know	我们所不知道的
• The motive of the gunman was still under investigation.	枪手的行凶动机仍在调查中。
• Police have not said whether the gunman knew any of the victims.	警方没有透露枪手是否认识其中任何的受害人。
• The conditions of the other wounded were not immediately available.	其他几名伤者的状况目前仍然不清楚。
• Police have not disclosed how the gunman knew of the lawmakers' practice schedule.	警方没有透露枪手是如何知道了这些议员的练球日程。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170615/republican-congress-baseball-shooting	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170615/republican-congress-baseball-shooting
Steve Scalise Among 5 Shot at Baseball Field; Suspect Is Dead	枪手袭击美国会棒球队，众议院多数党党鞭重伤
ALEXANDRIA, Va. — A lone gunman who was reportedly distraught over President Donald Trump's election opened fire on Republican members of the congressional baseball team at a practice field in this Washington	弗吉尼亚州亚历山大市——周三，一名据称对特朗普总统的当选非常抓狂的独行枪手，在华盛顿郊外的一个练习场上对国会棒球队的共和党成员发起袭击，用一支步枪扫射球场打伤五人，其中包括众议院多数党党鞭史蒂夫·斯卡

suburb Wednesday, using a rifle to shower the field with bullets that struck five people, including Rep. Steve Scalise, the majority whip of the House of Representatives.	利塞(Steve Scalise)。
Trump, in a televised statement from the White House, condemned the “very, very brutal assault” and said the gunman had died after a shootout with police. Law enforcement authorities identified him as James T. Hodgkinson, 66, from Belleville, Illinois, a suburb of St. Louis.	特朗普在白宫通过电视讲话谴责了这起“非常、非常残忍的袭击”，称枪手在与警方的枪战中死亡。执法机构称，枪手名为詹姆斯·T·霍奇金森(James T. Hodgkinson)，现年66岁，来自伊利诺州圣路易斯市郊的贝莱维尔(Belleville)。
Two members of Scalise’s Capitol Police security detail were wounded as they exchanged fire with the gunman in what lawmakers described as several chaotic, terror-filled minutes that turned the baseball practice into an early-morning nightmare. One was wounded by gunfire and one suffered other, minor injuries.	斯卡利塞的两名国会警察安保人员在与枪手交火时被打伤，立法者们说那几分钟混乱而恐怖，早间的棒球练习变成了一场噩梦。其中一名安保人员受枪伤，另一人受了其他轻伤。
Standing at second base, Scalise was struck in the hip, according to witnesses, and collapsed as the shots rang out, one after another, from behind a chain-link fence near the third-base dugout. Witnesses said Scalise, of Louisiana, “army crawled” from the infield to the grass as the shooting continued.	目击者表示，斯卡利塞站在第二垒，他的臀部被击中，应声倒地，枪手位于第三垒球员休息处的铁丝网后面，一枪接一枪地开火。目击者还说，在持续的枪声中，来自路易斯安那州的斯卡利塞“用军人的匍匐姿势从内场爬到了草地上”。
Aides to Scalise said he had undergone surgery at MedStar Washington Hospital Center and was in critical condition by midafternoon.	斯卡利塞的助手表示，他已经在梅德思达华盛顿医院中心(MedStar Washington Hospital Center)做了手术，下午3点左右还处在危急状态。
Local officers arrived minutes after they received desperate calls for help, including from those still under siege at the field, authorities said. The FBI said it would take the lead in the investigation, treating it as an assault on a federal officer.	当地警员在收到绝望的求救电话之后数分钟抵达现场，一些电话来自困在球场的人。联邦调查局表示会牵头进行调查，把该案作为对联邦官员的袭击来处理。
The FBI said Hodgkinson was armed with a handgun and a rifle. Witnesses described a man with white hair and a beard wielding a long	联邦调查局说，霍奇金森携带了一把手枪和一把步枪。目击者说看见一个白头发、有胡子的男人站在球员席的后面，挥舞着一支长枪。 gun as he stood behind the dugout.

"He was hunting us at that point," said Rep. Mike Bishop, R-Mich., who was standing at home plate when the shooting began.	"那个时候他是在猎杀我们，"当时站在本垒的密歇根州共和党众议员迈克·毕晓普(Mike Bishop)说。
Rep. Jeff Duncan of South Carolina, who left the practice just before shooting, said later that he had encountered a man in the parking lot — later identified as the gunman — who "asked me if the team practicing was a Democrat or a Republican team."	南卡罗来纳州众议员杰夫·邓肯(Jeff Duncan)就在案发之前离开了球场，他表示，在停车场里他遇到一名男子——后来被确定为枪手——他"问我练球的人是民主党人还是共和党人"。
"I told him they were Republicans," the lawmaker recalled. "He said, 'OK, thanks,' turned around."	"我跟他说是共和党人，"邓肯回忆说。"他说，'好的，谢谢。'然后转身走了。"
As the magnitude of the incident became apparent, House leaders canceled the day's votes, and Trump and Vice President Mike Pence both canceled speeches.	随着事件的严重性变得越来越明显，众议院领导人取消了当天的投票，特朗普和副总统迈克·彭斯(Mike Pence)也都取消了当天的演讲。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170615/steve-scalise-congress-shot-alexandria-virginia	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170615/steve-scalise-congress-shot-alexandria-virginia
Virginia Shooting Suspect Was Distraught Over Trump's Election, Brother Says	棒球队枪案嫌犯不满特朗普，曾为桑德斯做志愿者
WASHINGTON — The man suspected of opening fire on Republican members of the congressional baseball team early Wednesday morning was distraught over the election of President Donald Trump and traveled to Washington in recent weeks to protest, his brother said Wednesday.	华盛顿——周三早上向国会棒球队多名共和党成员开枪的嫌疑人，此前对唐纳德·特朗普当选总统感到焦虑不安，最近几周前往华盛顿抗议，该消息来自他的兄弟。
The suspect, James Thomas Hodgkinson, 66, of Belleville, Illinois, died in a Washington hospital after a shootout with police.	来自伊利诺伊州贝尔维尔的66岁嫌疑人詹姆斯·托马斯·霍奇金森(James Thomas Hodgkinson)在与警方交火中受伤，后在华盛顿一家医院不治身亡。
"I know he wasn't happy with the way things were going, the election	"我知道他对目前的状况不开心，选举结果之类的，"他的兄弟迈克尔·霍奇金

results and stuff," his brother, Michael Hodgkinson, said in a telephone interview shortly after he received the news Wednesday. He added that he was not close to his brother and had not been aware of why he remained in Washington.	森(Michael Hodgkinson)在周三接到消息后不久接受电话采访时说。他还表示, 他与自己的兄弟关系不怎么亲密, 并不知道他为何滞留在华盛顿。
"Totally out of the blue," he added, saying that his brother was engaged in politics but otherwise led a normal life.	"完全想不到,"他接着讲。他说他的兄弟有参与政治活动, 生活倒是正常。
Michael Hodgkinson said his sister had spoken with the shooting suspect's wife Tuesday. According to his account, the wife said that Hodgkinson had called home to say he was planning to come home because he missed his wife and dogs.	迈克尔·霍奇金森表示, 他的姐妹周二与枪击事件嫌疑人的妻子交谈过。据他讲, 霍奇金森的妻子说他给家里打过电话, 说他准备回家, 因为想念家里的妻子和狗。
Instead, he is suspected of opening fire shortly after 7 a.m. Wednesday at a baseball field just outside Washington and showering bullets on members of Congress, their staff and the police. Five people were wounded.	结果, 他却涉嫌周三早上7点刚过在华盛顿近郊一个棒球场内朝国会议员、他们的工作人员及警察开了多枪, 导致五人受伤。
Hodgkinson, who goes by Tom, owns a home-inspection business in the rural outskirts of Belleville, a southern Illinois town of more than 40,000 just across the Mississippi River from St. Louis. Records show that his inspection license, registered to a company called JTH Inspections, expired last November and had not been renewed.	被大家叫做"汤姆"的霍奇金森在贝尔维尔郊外的乡村经营着一个验房公司, 那是伊利诺州南部一座4万多人口的城镇, 隔着密西西比河与圣路易斯相望。有记录显示, 他的验房许可证登记在名为JTH核验(JTH Inspections)的公司名下, 上月已经过期, 不曾更新。
Hodgkinson lived about 100 yards off a rural road in a two-story, seemingly well-kept home with tan vinyl siding.	霍奇金森住在一栋看起来维护得不错、装有棕褐色乙烯基壁板的两层楼房里, 距离一条乡间公路约100码(约合90米)远。
Charlene Brennan, a real estate agent in Belleville, said Hodgkinson had conducted some home inspections as a part of sales she worked on over the years.	贝尔维尔的一名房地产经纪查伦·布伦南(Charlene Brennan)表示, 在她过去数年销售的房屋中, 有一部分是霍奇金森做的验房工作。
"He did not come off as a radical," Brennan said. "He did not come off as	"他不是一个激进分子,"布伦南说。"不像是情绪不稳定的人。他也不好斗;

an unstable individual. He wasn't belligerent; he was just kind of a normal guy."	就是那种普通人。”
Still, social media accounts that appear to be affiliated with Hodgkinson show a man deeply connected to liberal politics and distrustful of Republican-controlled Washington. In posts, he rails against Republicans, lavishes praise upon Sen. Bernie Sanders of Vermont, the one-time presidential candidate, and shows a deep engagement with the churn of news coming out of Washington.	不过，似乎与霍奇金森有关联的社交媒体账号所呈现的，却是一个与自由主义政治有紧密联系、对由共和党控制的华盛顿不信任的人。在这些帖子中，他猛烈抨击共和党人，大肆赞扬曾经的总统候选人、佛蒙特参议员伯尼·桑德斯(Bernie Sanders)，密切关注从华盛顿传出的新闻。
Sanders said in a statement Wednesday that he was aware Hodgkinson had volunteered for his presidential campaign. And he condemned violence of any type.	桑德斯周三发声明称，他知道霍奇金森曾为他的竞选活动做过志愿工作。他对任何类型的暴力行为都持谴责态度。
"I am sickened by this despicable act," Sanders wrote. "Let me be as clear as I can be. Violence of any kind is unacceptable in our society and I condemn this action in the strongest possible terms."	“我对这种可鄙的行为感到厌恶，”桑德斯写道。“今天我要尽可能地把话说明白。在我们的社会里，任何暴力行为都是不可接受的，我强烈谴责这种行为。”
According to the Saint Clair County Clerk's Office, where Hodgkinson is registered to vote, he has repeatedly voted in Democratic primaries in recent years. There was no party affiliation listed on his voter file.	据霍奇金森进行选票登机的圣克莱尔县办公室透露，最近几年他曾多次在民主党初选中投票。他的选举文档中没有列明所属党派。
A query to the St. Clair County Sheriff's Department showed a number of complaints in recent years, mostly after run-ins with neighbors. In late March, the sheriff responded to a report of a man firing dozens of shots near Hodgkinson's home. When authorities arrived, they found Hodgkinson and advised him not to shoot in the area. An incident report indicates that he presented a valid firearms owner identification card.	在询问了圣克莱尔县警局之后，时报发现霍奇金森最近几年遭到不少投诉，其中大多是在他与邻居发生口角。3月末的时候，警局曾接到报案，称一名男子在霍奇金森家附近开了几十枪。警方到达后，看到了霍奇金森，于是建议他不要在这个区域开枪。一份事故报告显示，他拿出的是有效的枪支持者身份证件。
A law enforcement official said that on Wednesday, Hodgkinson was	一名执法官员周三表示，袭击发生时，霍奇金森携带着一支手枪和一支步枪。

armed with a handgun and a rifle.
Hodgkinson appears to have been residing in Alexandria for more than a month. Most mornings, he could be found at the city's YMCA, according to William D. Euille, the city's mayor from 2003 to 2016, who works out at the facility each morning.	霍奇金森似乎已经在亚历山大呆了一个多月。自 2003 年至 2016 年担任亚历山大市长的威廉·D·于伊厄(William D. Euille)每天早上都在该市的基督教青年会(YMCA)锻炼，他说大多数早上都能在这里看到霍奇金森。
The two men struck up a relationship, Euille said, and Hodgkinson gave the impression of a typical, if lonely, newcomer to an area that is used to new faces.	于伊厄表示，他们两人因此熟悉起来。霍奇金森给他的印象是一个经常有新面孔出现的地方会出现的那种典型的新来者形象，有点孤独。
"He seemed like a loner," Euille said, "but very nice."	"他看起来像个独来独往的人，"于伊厄说。"但很友好。"
He worked out in the gym and showered in the facility's locker room, Euille said. He made small talk about politics and old movies, and asked the mayor about finding work in town and good places to eat. Most days, Euille said, he would sit — often for hours at a time — in a small reception area using his laptop.	于伊厄表示，他在场馆内健身，在这里的更衣室冲澡。他会聊政治和老电影，还向这位市长询问怎么在城里找工作，哪里有不错的吃饭的地方。于伊厄称，大多数时间他会坐在青年会小小的接待区，用自己的笔记本电脑，通常一坐就是几个小时。
That was the case Tuesday morning as well, Euille said. Twenty-four hours later, Hodgkinson unleashed his attack just a few paces from the gym's front door, on the well-groomed baseball diamond where the congressmen were practicing.	于伊厄提到，那个周二早上也是如此。24 个小时之后，霍奇金森在距离健身房前门几步之遥的地方发动了袭击，就在一座有数名国会议员练球的整洁的棒球场。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170615/virginia-shooting-suspect-james-hodgkinson	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170615/virginia-shooting-suspect-james-hodgkinson
Otto Warmbier Was 'Brutalized and Terrorized' in North Korea, Father Says	美大学生脑组织严重损毁，其父控诉朝鲜暴行
CINCINNATI — Otto Warmbier, the 22-year-old student who was released from North Korea this week after 17 months of captivity, is stable but unresponsive and has suffered "extensive loss of brain tissue	辛辛那提——22 岁的学生奥托·瓦姆比尔(Otto Warmbier)在朝鲜被囚禁 17 个月后，本周获得释放。他的医生周四说，奥托的状况稳定，但对外界没有反应，"其脑部所有区域的脑组织都遭受了大面积损毁。" in all regions of his brain," his doctors said Thursday.

Hours earlier, Warmbier's father attacked the North as a "pariah regime" that had "brutalized and terrorized" his son.	数小时前，瓦姆比尔的父亲将朝鲜称为“受人蔑视的政权”，“残酷对待与恐吓威胁”他的儿子。
In back-to-back news conferences on a day when North Korea claimed it had freed the younger Warmbier on "humanitarian grounds," Fred Warmbier and the doctors caring for his son hinted at a grim future for the young man.	朝鲜声称出于“人道主义原因”释放奥托·瓦姆比尔的当天，在连场的新闻发布会上，弗雷德·瓦姆比尔(Fred Warmbier)和照顾其子的医生暗示，这个年轻人面对着一个严酷的未来。
"We're trying to make him comfortable," his father said.	“我们尽力让他感到舒服一些，”他父亲说。
Dr. Daniel Kanter, a neurologist at the University of Cincinnati Medical Center, said Warmbier's condition "can best be described as a state of unresponsive wakefulness."	辛辛那提大学医学中心的神经学家丹尼尔·坎特(Daniel Kanter)博士表示，对瓦姆比尔病情最恰当的描述是“无反应的觉醒状态”。
Warmbier is breathing on his own, and his heart and other major organs are functioning. But he has "no spontaneous eye opening and blinking," the doctor said, shows "no signs of understanding language" and cannot respond to verbal commands.	瓦姆比尔可以自主呼吸，他的心脏和其他主要器官也可以运转。但医生说，“他没有自发的睁眼和眨眼动作，没有显示出可以理解语言的迹象”，而且也无法对口头指示作出回应。
The statements from the father and the doctors shed little light on what Warmbier has endured since March 2016, when he tearfully confessed to stealing a propaganda poster and was sentenced to 15 years of hard labor after a one-hour trial. The doctors appeared to dismiss the North Koreans' claim that Warmbier collapsed from a combination of botulism and sleeping pills, saying there was no evidence he had botulism.	他父亲和医生的声明并没有让人对瓦姆比尔自从2016年3月以来的经历获得更多了解。当时他流着泪承认偷了一张宣传海报，在经过一个小时的审判后，他被判处了15年苦役。朝鲜称，瓦姆比尔的健康状况是因为肉毒中毒和服用安眠药所致，但医生们似乎驳斥了这种说法，声称他身上没有肉毒中毒的证据。
At the request of the Warmbier family, Kanter and two other specialists who spoke to reporters would not discuss Warmbier's prognosis.	在瓦姆比尔家人的要求下，坎特和另外两位专家在和记者交谈时拒绝讨论瓦姆比尔的预后。
Earlier in the day, the elder Warmbier addressed reporters wearing the	当天早些时候，老瓦姆比尔穿着儿子认罪时那件奶油色外套接受了记者的采

same cream-colored jacket that his son wore when he confessed, and fought back tears as he spoke of it.	访，说话时他强忍眼泪。
"I'm able to wear the jacket he wore when he gave his confession," the anguished father said, his voice cracking. "I'm not confessing, I'm speaking, but Otto, I love you and I'm so crazy about you and I'm so glad you're home."	"我穿上了他认罪时穿的那件夹克，"这位痛苦的父亲哽咽着说道。"我不是在认罪，我是在发言，但是奥托，我爱你，我非常爱你，我很高兴你回来了。"
The elder Warmbier also praised the administration of President Donald Trump for working to free his son, and made clear his displeasure with the administration of former President Barack Obama, whose officials, he said, had advised the family to stay quiet to avoid antagonizing the North Koreans.	老瓦姆比尔还赞扬了特朗普政府努力让他儿子获得释放，并表示了对前总统奥巴马政府的不满，他说，奥巴马的官员让他们一家人不要出声，避免惹恼朝鲜人。
"The results speak for themselves," Warmbier said when asked whether the Obama administration had done enough. He said Trump called him Wednesday night and told him, "We worked hard, and I'm sorry this is the outcome."	当被问及奥巴马政府是否采取了足够多的措施时，瓦姆比尔说，"结果已经很能说明问题。"他表示，特朗普周三晚上打电话给他，告诉他说："我们尽了力，得到这样的结果我很遗憾。"
Experts say it is extremely difficult for any administration to have sway with an authoritarian government like North Korea. The White House, for example, cannot afford to have a hostage negotiation complicate other issues, like the North's nuclear program or the economic sanctions the United States has imposed on the country. And the standard recommendation to families — to remain quiet and avoid publicity — can only deepen their despair and isolation.	专家说，任何一个政府要对朝鲜这样的独裁政府施加影响都不容易。例如，白宫不能因为人质谈判而导致其他问题变得复杂，比如朝鲜核计划或美国对该国的经济制裁。而白宫对这家人的标准建议——不要出声、避免引起公众关注，只能加深他们的绝望和孤立。
Daniel R. Russel, a former assistant secretary of state under Obama, said the Trump administration deserves "credit for being dogged" in pursuing Warmbier's release, but had done little differently from the	奥巴马的前助理国务卿丹尼尔·拉塞尔(Daniel R. Russel)表示，特朗普政府在争取瓦姆比尔获得释放上的"坚持不懈"，但他们的做法与奥巴马政府相差无几。曾担任朝鲜人权问题特使的罗伯特·R·金(Robert R. King)今年1月份已经

Obama administration. And Robert R. King, the former special envoy for North Korea human rights issues who retired in January, noted that the younger Warmbier had ignored the explicit advice of the State Department, which has a notice on its website that "strongly warns" U.S. citizens not to travel to North Korea.	退休，他指出，小瓦姆比尔忽视了国务院的明确建议——国务院已经在网站上“强烈警告”美国公民不要去朝鲜。
"This is a problem where the North Koreans did the wrong thing," King said in an interview. "This is not a case where the U.S. made mistakes in terms of our efforts. We did everything we could to deal with that case."	"这个问题在于，是朝鲜人做错了事情，"金在接受采访时说。"并不是美国在采取行动的时候犯了错误。我们已经尽了全力来处理这个案子。"
Little is known of Warmbier's ordeal; a senior U.S. official said this week that he was singled out for particularly brutal beatings while in captivity, although the University of Cincinnati doctors said Thursday that they saw no evidence of beatings. In its statement claiming Warmbier had been released on humanitarian grounds, North Korea did not reveal any details of his medical condition or of the diplomatic negotiations that led to his release.	瓦姆比尔遭受了什么折磨基本上还不清楚；美国一位高级官员本周表示，他被囚禁时遭到了极其凶残的殴打，尽管辛辛那提大学的医生周四表示，他们没有发现殴打的迹象。朝鲜的声明称，瓦姆比尔是因为人道主义理由被释放的，但并没有透露他的医疗状况，以及导致他获释的外交谈判的细节。
"We have very few answers," his father said.	"很多问题我们都不知道答案，"他父亲说。
This much is known: In December 2015, Warmbier embarked on a five-day tour of the North with a Chinese company that advertised "budget travel to destinations your mother would rather you stayed away from." Warmbier was detained at the Pyongyang airport in early January 2016 as he tried to leave and was charged with an unspecified "hostile act" against the government. Two months later, he was shown in a courtroom giving his tearful televised statement, in which he confessed to stealing a propaganda poster.	目前所知的情况是：2015年12月，瓦姆比尔通过一家中国公司到朝鲜进行为期五天的旅游，该公司宣传说，“花不了多少钱，就能去妈妈不想你去的 地方。”2016年1月初，瓦姆比尔离开朝鲜时在平壤机场被抓，朝鲜指控他有反政府的“敌对行为”，但没有具体指明是哪些行动。两个月后，他被送上法庭，发表了一个声泪俱下的电视声明，承认自己窃取宣传海报。
During the news conference Thursday, Fred Warmbier lashed out at the	在周四举行的新闻发布会上，弗雷德·瓦姆比尔猛烈抨击了旅游公司青年先锋

tour company, Young Pioneer Tours, and accused North Korea of endangering Americans by using tour companies to lure them to the North, where they can be taken hostage.	旅行社(Young Pioneer Tours), 指责朝鲜危害美国人——利用旅游公司吸引他们去可能会被扣为人质的朝鲜旅游。
Describing his son's return as "bittersweet," he dismissed the North's explanation that his condition was the result of a combination of botulism and a sleeping pill.	在谈到儿子的回归时, 他感到“有喜有悲”, 他不接受朝鲜的说法, 即儿子的身体情况是肉毒中毒和安眠药共同作用的结果。
"Even if you believe their explanation of botulism and a sleeping pill causing the coma — and we don't — there is no excuse for any civilized nation to have kept his condition secret and denied him top-notch medical care for so long," he said.	“即便你相信他们有关肉毒中毒和安眠药导致昏迷的说法——我们不信——那任何一个文明国家也没有理由隐瞒他的身体状况, 这么长时间一直拒绝让他接受一流的医疗护理,” 他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170616/otto-wambier-north-korea-ohio-student-home	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170616/otto-wambier-north-korea-ohio-student-home
Trump 'Is Not Under Investigation,' His Lawyer Insists	律师坚称特朗普“没有遭到调查”
WASHINGTON — A member of President Donald Trump's legal team said Sunday that the president was not under investigation by the special counsel looking into Russia's election-year meddling, contradicting Trump's assertion in a Friday morning tweet that he is a subject of the widening inquiry.	华盛顿——周日, 唐纳德·特朗普法律团队的一名成员表示, 负责调查俄罗斯干预选举案的特别检察官并没有在调查总统, 这和特朗普上周五一早的推文相矛盾, 当时他自称是这个广泛调查的目标对象。
The denial Sunday by Jay Sekulow, one of several personal lawyers Trump has hired to represent him in the Russia case, is the latest of many examples in which the president's aides and lawyers have scrambled to avert a public-relations mess created by Trump's tweets, off-script remarks or leaked private conversations.	周日对此予以否认的是杰伊·塞库洛(Jay Sekulow), 他是特朗普为通俄案所聘请的几个律师之一。特朗普的助手和律师最近付出了不少努力来处理因为他的推文、脱稿讲话以及泄露的私人对话所引发的公关麻烦, 此事是最新的一个例子。
Advisers have been forced to perform postpresidential cleanup in the wake of Trump's tweet claiming he had been wiretapped by the Obama	特朗普曾在推特上说自己遭到了奥巴马政府的窃听; 他在椭圆形办公室和俄罗斯外交官谈到了前 FBI 局长; 对于解聘通俄案特别检察官的私下想法; 他

administration, his Oval Office comments to Russian diplomats about the former FBI director, his private musings about the possibility of firing the Russia special counsel, his suggestion that there might be recordings of White House conversations, and his comments about a "military" deportation operation.	还暗示白宫可能会录下谈话内容；并对“军事”驱逐行动发表评论——在这些事情发生后，顾问们不得不为其善后。
In Sekulow's case, his appearance on multiple Sunday morning talk shows took on the added urgency of trying to protect his client from admitting that he is in legal jeopardy during a criminal investigation, one that appears to be increasingly focused on whether Trump took steps to interfere with the normal progress of the federal inquiry.	拿塞库洛来说，他在多个周日早上的谈话节目中的出现，突显了一种强烈的紧迫性：保护客户，不让特朗普承认在一个刑事调查中遭遇了法律威胁，该调查的重点日益集中在特朗普是否采取了行动，干预联邦调查的正常进展上。
Rod J. Rosenstein, deputy attorney general, last month named Robert B. Mueller, a former FBI director, as a special counsel to lead the investigation into the extent of Russia's meddling in the 2016 presidential election, and whether any of Trump's associates colluded in that effort.	副总检察长罗德·J·罗森斯坦(Rod J. Rosenstein)上个月任命前 FBI 局长罗伯特·S·穆勒(Robert S. Mueller)为特别检察官，负责调查俄罗斯对 2016 年总统选举的干预有多深，以及特朗普的班底是否有成员参与此事。
In addition, two congressional committees have issued subpoenas for testimony and documents as part of their wide-ranging, bipartisan investigations. All three inquiries are reportedly examining whether Trump, as president, sought to impede the progress of the inquiries.	而且，国会还有两个委员会也在进行广泛的两党调查，他们发出了要求证人作证和提供文件的传票。据报道，这三个调查都涉及特朗普是否在当上总统后阻碍调查进展。
Sekulow repeatedly and forcefully denied that Sunday, saying on CBS' "Face the Nation" program that "the president has not been and is not under investigation," and insisting that the administration had received no information from the special counsel's office to think otherwise.	塞库洛本周日再三极力否认了此事，在 CBS 电视台的节目《面对国家》(Face the Nation)上，他说“总统之前没有遭到调查，现在也没有”，并坚称政府并没有收到特别检查官办公室不是这么想的消息。
On Friday, Trump wrote the opposite on Twitter, saying: "I am being investigated for firing the FBI Director by the man who told me to fire	上周五，特朗普在推特上写道：“那个让我炒掉 FBI 局长的人，现在正在调查我，因为我炒掉了 FBI 局长！这是政治迫害。”

the FBI Director! Witch Hunt.”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170619/trump-lawyer-special-counsel-russia-not-under-investigation	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170619/trump-lawyer-special-counsel-russia-not-under-investigation
New York Today: Meeting a Gay Pride Grand Marshal	中国同志代表“领导”纽约 LGBT 大游行
The NYC Pride celebrations continue this week, leading up to the march on Sunday.	纽约骄傲(NYC Pride)庆典将持续进行到本周日，届时会有一场游行。
Thousands of lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender New Yorkers and their supporters are expected to attend the march, which will be led by four grand marshals: Brooke Guinan, an activist, transgender woman and New York City firefighter; Krishna Stone, the director of community relations at Gay Men’s Health Crisis, a support center that fights AIDS; representatives from the American Civil Liberties Union; and Geng Le, a Chinese gay rights activist.	预计将有成千上万的纽约男女同性恋、双性恋和跨性别者以及他们的支持者参加游行，届时将有四名典礼官在前导引，他们是：变性为女性的活动人士、纽约消防员布鲁克·吉南(Brooke Guinan)；抗击艾滋病的支持中心，同性恋男子健康危机(Gay Men’s Health Crisis)社区关系负责人克里希纳·斯通(Krishna Stone)；美国公民自由联盟(American Civil Liberties Union)的代表们；此外还有中国同志权利活动人士耿乐。
Mr. Geng, whose real name is Ma Baoli, is a former police officer who set up one of China’s first gay advice and networking websites, and later created Blued, which is one of the country’s most popular gay dating apps.	耿乐本名马保力，曾经当过警察，他建立的网站跻身中国首批同性恋咨询和联络网站之列。后来他创建的“Blued”又成为全国最受欢迎的同志约会手机应用之一。
He was selected to be a grand marshal in recognition of his successful use of the internet to raise awareness among China’s gay community and of his passion for L.G.B.T. rights.	为表彰他成功利用互联网，在中国同性恋社区内增强对自身的认识，以及他对 LGBT 权利的热情，他当选为此次游行的典礼官。
We caught up with Mr. Geng on Skype as he prepared to visit New York.	在耿乐准备访问纽约之际，我们通过 Skype 采访了他。
What was it like growing up gay in China?	在中国，作为一个同性恋，成长期间是什么样的感受？
“I realized I was gay when I was 18 or 19. At the time, the Chinese media would report that gay people carried diseases and needed psychological treatment,” Mr. Geng said through a translator. “My	“大约在十八九岁的时候，我发现自己是同性恋。当时，中国媒体宣传同性恋人群是有病的，需要接受接受心理治疗，”耿乐通过翻译接受了采访。“我的父母不知道这件事，他们现在仍然认为同性恋是一种病。” parents didn't know, and they still think being gay is a disease."

Afraid to talk about his sexuality with others, Mr. Geng began researching gay life online. He said his discovery of more positive depictions in Western culture led him to create Danlan.org, a website intended to let gay Chinese citizens talk freely with each other.	当时，耿乐害怕同别人谈起自己的性倾向，于是开始在网络上研究同性恋生活。他说，他在西方文化中发现了更多关于同性恋的积极描述，于是他创建了淡蓝网(Danlan.org)，这是一个旨在促进中国同性恋公民自由交谈的网站。
What is it like being L.G.B.T. in China today?	如今，中国的 LGBT 人群处境如何？
"L.G.B.T. people are much happier than when I was young," Mr. Geng said. Until 1997, gay sex was considered a crime in China, and homosexuality was classified as a mental illness in the country until 2001.	"和我年轻时相比，现在的 LGBT 人群快乐多了，"耿乐说。直到 1997 年，男同性恋性行为在中国仍被视为犯罪行为，直到 2001 年，同性恋在该国仍被列为精神病。
Things have gotten better since, Mr. Geng said, but the situation remains challenging. One of the biggest problems is that people who come out as gay risk losing their jobs, he added.	耿乐说，情况已经出现了好转，但仍然非常困难。他还提到，最大的问题之一就是出柜者会有失去工作的风险。
What do you think of gay life in New York City?	你对纽约市的同性恋生活是怎么看的？
"In New York, being gay is not really a big deal," he said. "In China, it's not as easy for us to come out, so gay men rely on online connections much more than in New York."	"在纽约，同性恋并不是一件大事，"他说。"在中国，要出柜并不是一件容易的事，所以和纽约相比，这里的男同性恋者更依赖网上建立的联系。"
He also said he had noticed that gay New Yorkers went to bars during the week, often wearing work clothes. Gay night life in Beijing, he said, is mostly limited to the weekend.	他还表示，他注意到，纽约的同性恋者在工作日和周末都会去酒吧，经常穿着工作时穿的衣服。他说，在北京，同性恋者的夜生活大多局限在周末。
What do you hope for the future of gay life in China?	你对中国同性恋者的未来有什么期望？
"There are still many challenges we are facing now," Mr. Geng said, citing several problems. Television shows and movies with L.G.B.T. themes are not allowed. School textbooks still teach falsehoods about L.G.B.T. people. And the H.I.V. infection rate in China is a concern.	"我们现在面临的挑战还有很多，"耿乐引述了几个问题——在电视节目和电影里不允许出现 LGBT 主题。学校的教科书中仍然有关于 LGBT 人群的错误观念。中国的 HIV 感染率仍然令人担忧。

"But we're headed in the right direction," he said. "Society is becoming more open about our issues, so I think it's going to get better and better."	"但是我们在朝着正确的方向前进,"他说。"社会在我们的问题上正变得越来越开放, 所以我认为未来会越来越越好。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170620/new-york-today-meeting-a-gay-pride-grand-marshal	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170620/new-york-today-meeting-a-gay-pride-grand-marshal
Otto Warmbier, American Student Released From North Korea, Dies	被朝鲜释放的美国大学生去世
Otto F. Warmbier, the University of Virginia honors student who was released from a North Korean prison last week after spending 17 months in captivity and more than a year in a coma, died Monday at the Cincinnati hospital where he had been receiving treatment, his family said.	弗吉尼亚大学优生奥托·F·瓦姆比尔(Otto F. Warmbier), 在朝鲜坐牢 17 个月, 昏迷了一年多之后, 于上周获得释放, 他的家人宣布, 他于周一在接受治疗的辛辛那提医院去世。
Warmbier's parents, Fred and Cindy, said in a statement that their son, 22, had "completed his journey home" and "was at peace" when he died Monday at 2:20 p.m. Eastern time.	瓦姆比尔的父母弗雷德(Fred)和辛迪(Cindy)在一份声明中说, 他们 22 岁的儿子于星期一东部时间下午 2 点 20 分"完成了回家的旅程", "很安详"。
"When Otto returned to Cincinnati late on June 13, he was unable to speak, unable to see and unable to react to verbal commands," the couple wrote. "He looked very uncomfortable — almost anguished. Although we would never hear his voice again, within a day, the countenance of his face changed — he was at peace. He was home, and we believe he could sense that."	"6 月 13 日回到辛辛那提时, 奥托口不能言, 无法睁眼和对口头要求作出反应,"声明中说。"他看起来很不舒服——近乎痛苦。虽然我们再也不会听到他的声音了, 但是在一天之内, 他的脸色就起了变化——他很安详。他回家了, 我们相信他能感觉到这一点。"
The death was the end of a wrenching ordeal for the Warmbier family, and is likely to worsen the already tense relations between the United States and North Korea, which technically remain in a state of war dating to the armistice that halted the 1950-53 Korean War. President Donald Trump issued a terse statement condemning North Korea,	死亡为瓦姆比尔一家的苦难折磨画上了句号, 亦可能令美国与朝鲜之间业已非常紧张的关系进一步恶化, 严格说来, 自休战协定中止了 1950-1953 年的朝鲜战争之后, 两国依然处于战争状态。唐纳德·特朗普总统发表了一个简短的声明, 谴责朝鲜仍然持有三名美国人质。

which is still holding three Americans hostage.
“Otto’s fate deepens my administration’s determination to prevent such tragedies from befalling innocent people at the hands of regimes that do not respect the rule of law or basic human decency,” the statement said. “The United States once again condemns the brutality of the North Korean regime as we mourn its latest victim.”	“奥托的命运增强了政府的决心，要防止这样的悲剧重演，不再让无辜者落入不尊重法治或人类基本尊严的政权之手，”声明说。“美国再次谴责朝鲜政权的暴行，并哀悼其最新的受害者。”
Former Gov. Bill Richardson of New Mexico, an expert on North Korea who has helped free other Americans held there, said in an interview Monday that he had met with North Korean diplomats 20 times while Warmbier was being held, and that they had never hinted that anything was amiss with Warmbier’s health.	新墨西哥州前州长比尔·理查森(Bill Richardson)是朝鲜问题专家，曾参与令朝鲜扣押的其他美国人获释的工作，他于周一接受采访时表示，瓦姆比尔被扣押期间，他曾与朝鲜外交官进行过20次会谈，对方从未暗示过瓦姆比尔的健康状况有任何问题。
Richardson called on the North to release the three other Americans it is holding, as well as a Canadian hostage, and to “disclose what happened to Otto, fully, to the international community.”	理查森呼吁朝鲜释放另外三名在押美国人和一名加拿大人质，并“向国际社会全面公布奥托经历了什么”。
Warmbier, a onetime high school soccer player and homecoming king with an adventuresome spirit, was traveling in China in December 2015 when he signed up for a five-day tour of North Korea with a Chinese company that advertised “budget travel to destinations your mother would rather you stayed away from.”	瓦姆比尔曾是高中足球队员，是一名具有冒险精神的返校节王者。2015年12月，他在中国旅游时，报名参加了一个中国公司组织的朝鲜五日游，宣传词是“前往你妈妈不想让你去的目的地的廉价游”。
He was detained at the Pyongyang airport in early January 2016, charged with a “hostile act” against the country’s authoritarian government and convicted less than two months later of trying to steal a propaganda poster, after he delivered a tearful, televised confession. His trial lasted one hour.	2016年1月初，他在平壤机场被拘留，罪名是对该国集权政府做出了“敌对行为”。不到两个月之后，他在电视上声泪俱下地认罪，此后因试图窃取宣传海报被判刑。他的审判持续了一个小时。
His parents, who live in the tiny city of Wyoming, Ohio, just outside	他的父母住在俄亥俄州辛辛那提市附近的怀俄明小城。自从儿子被宣判后，

Cincinnati, had heard nothing of him since his trial. Then, about two weeks ago, they received a call telling them their son was comatose. Days later, he was on a flight home. At a news conference Thursday morning, Fred Warmbier — wearing the same cream-colored jacket Otto had worn during his trial — recalled kneeling to hug his son when he finally arrived home late last Tuesday.	他们没有得到他的一点消息。大约两周前，他们接到电话，被告知儿子处于昏迷状态。数日后，他被送上飞机回家。在周四上午的新闻发布会上，弗雷德·瓦姆比尔(Fred Warmbier)身穿奥托受审时那件米色上衣。他回忆说，上周二晚，儿子终于回家之后，他跪下拥抱儿子。
“Otto is a fighter,” Fred Warmbier said then, adding that he and his wife “firmly believe that he fought to stay alive through the worst that the North Koreans could put him through.”	“奥托是一名战士，”弗雷德·瓦姆比尔在发布会上说。他还说，他和妻子“坚定地相信，他在朝鲜人对他施加严酷折磨时一直努力求生”。
Otto Warmbier was taken immediately to the University of Cincinnati Medical Center, where doctors said that two MRI scans sent by the North Koreans indicated that Warmbier had suffered a catastrophic brain injury shortly after his conviction, most likely before April 2016.	奥托·瓦姆比尔立即被送往辛辛那提大学医疗中心(University of Cincinnati Medical Center)。医生们表示，朝鲜送来的两个核磁共振扫描表明，瓦姆比尔在被定罪之后不久，很有可能是在2016年4月之前，就遭受了十分严重的脑损伤。
The doctors said he had “extensive loss of brain tissue in all regions of his brain,” most likely caused by cardiopulmonary arrest that cut off the blood supply to his brain.	医生说，“他整个脑部都遭受了大面积脑组织毁损”，原因很可能是“心肺骤停”导致他的脑部血液供应被切断。
But the doctors could not say what had caused the initial injury. While one senior American official said Warmbier had been singled out for particularly brutal beatings, doctors found no evidence of broken bones or other injuries consistent with physical abuse. The North Koreans blamed a combination of botulism and sleeping pills for Warmbier’s condition, but the doctors found no evidence of botulism.	但是医生无法说出最开始导致伤害的是什么原因。虽然一名美国高级官员表示，瓦姆比尔受到了特别凶残的拷打，但医生没有发现骨折骨裂或与身体虐待一致的其他伤害的证据。朝鲜将瓦姆比尔的病情归咎于肉毒杆菌和安眠药的组合，但医生没有发现肉毒杆菌中毒的证据。
Relations between the United States and the North have fallen to new lows in recent months over threats by North Korea’s young leader, Kim Jong Un, to attack the United States with nuclear weapons. Warmbier	近几个月来，由于朝鲜年轻领导人金正恩以核武器袭击威胁美国，两国之间的关系已经下降到新低点。瓦姆比尔是多年来在朝鲜被监禁的十几个美国人之一，其中一些身陷囹圄的时间长达两年，罪名则是非法入境和煽动叛乱。

was one of more than a dozen Americans imprisoned in North Korea over the years, some for as long as two years, on accusations including illegal entry and sedition.
But he is the first to have been sent home in a coma. In their statement Monday, the Warmbiers said that they, like their son, were "at peace and at home," even as they lashed out at North Korea.	但他是第一个在昏迷中被送回家的。瓦姆比尔夫妇在声明中说，他们和儿子一样，“在家中，不再感受烦扰”。不过他们也抨击了朝鲜。
"Unfortunately," the statement said, "the awful, torturous mistreatment our son received at the hands of the North Koreans ensured that no other outcome was possible beyond the sad one we experienced today."	"不幸的是，"他们在声明说，"我们的儿子在朝鲜人手中受到的恶劣虐待令人难以置信，以至于除了我们今天遭遇的悲伤之外，不可能出现其他什么结果。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170620/otto-warmbier-north-korea-dies	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170620/otto-warmbier-north-korea-dies
Finders Keepers? An Ohio Goodwill Returns $97,000 Mistakenly Donated With Clothes	美夫妇捐旧衣误混入现金，10 万美元失而复得
An Ohio couple thought that they were simply giving away some old clothes to a Goodwill shop in Zanesville last week. But they nearly gave up much, much more: They had mistakenly included a duffel bag stuffed with nearly $100,000 in cash along with the clothes.	俄亥俄州的一对夫妇以为，他们上周捐给赞斯维尔(Zanesville)一家好意慈善店(Goodwill)的不过是一些旧衣服。但是他们送到那里的东西远远不止于此：他们误把一个装有近 10 万美元现金的行李袋和衣服一起包了起来。
Fortunately, workers at the shop — who thought at first that the money might be fake — swiftly tracked down the couple after the mix-up last week, and returned the money.	幸运的是，店里的工作人员——起初觉得这些钱可能是假的——在上周的混乱之后迅速找到了这对夫妇，把钱还给了他们。
It was a heartwarming incident — and one that is not nearly as rare as you might think.	这件事很暖心，不过却并不像你以为的那样罕见。
Similar events across the country in recent years have shown that even in an age of checks, credit cards, Bitcoin and Apple Pay, a surprising number of people still go around with vast sums of cash. And quite a	近年来，美国各地发生了一些类似的事件，表明即使是在一个支票、信用卡、比特币和苹果支付盛行的时代，携带大笔现金者仍然多得出人意料。而且还有不少人在继续丢钱。但幸运的是，也有很多好心人并不赞同“谁捡到就是

few go on to lose that cash. But fortunately for them, there are plenty of good Samaritans who are only too willing to disprove the old “finders keepers” taunt.	谁的“这一古老的挑衅之词。
A Boston cabdriver returned $187,786.75 last summer to a homeless man who had left it in a backpack in the back seat. The Boston Globe reported that the money belonged to a recovering drug addict who had just received it as part of an unexpected inheritance from his late parents. “That money would have changed my life,” the driver, Raymond MacCausland, known as Buzzy, told The Globe — joking that his girlfriend had given him a hard time about giving it back.	去年夏天，波士顿的一名司机把 187786.75 美元归还给了一名无家可归的男子，失主把装钱的背包忘在了后座上。据《波士顿环球报》(Boston Globe)报道，失主是一名正在康复的药物成瘾者，他刚意外收到父母留下的部分遗产。这位司机告诉《波士顿环球报》说：“留下这笔钱可能会改变我的生活。”他名叫雷蒙德·麦克考斯兰(Raymond MacCausland)，别人叫他布奇。他开玩笑说，女朋友为此跟他大闹了一场。
In 2014, workers at a Burger King in San Jose found $100,000 in a backpack at a table — and handed it to the police. “I know the value of money,” the owner, Altaf Chaus, told the local CBS affiliate, adding that he was an immigrant who worked two jobs to buy the Burger King.	在 2014 年，圣何塞一家汉堡王的服务员在一张桌子旁的背包里发现了 10 万美元后，把它们交给警方。“我知道那是一大笔钱”，店主阿尔塔夫·乔斯(Altaf Chaus)告诉哥伦比亚广播公司在当地分公司的记者，他还说自己是移民，靠打两份工存下钱，才买下这家汉堡王店面。
And in 2013 a Las Vegas taxi driver found $300,000 in a paper bag in the back seat of his cab and returned the money to its owner, a gambler who had just won it at a casino. “I just wanted to do the right thing,” the driver, Gerardo Gamboa, told The Las Vegas Sun. (He later got a $10,000 reward from the gambler, and was named Yellow Checker Star’s Driver of the Year.)	而在 2013 年，拉斯维加斯的一名出租车司机在后座的一个纸袋里发现了 30 万美元后，把钱还给了失主，对方是一个刚刚在赌场赢得这笔钱的赌客。“我只是想做正确的事情”，司机赫拉尔多·甘博亚(Gerardo Gamboa)对《拉斯维加斯太阳报》(Las Vegas Sun)说（那名赌客后来给他 1 万美元作为酬劳，他还被评为黄格子星星运输公司的年度最佳司机）。
In Ohio, two Goodwill workers, Betsy Lyons and Barb Claypool, were sorting through donations when they found a duffel bag full of $100 bills, said Janelle Shaffer, the store manager.	在俄亥俄州，那家好意慈善商店的经理贾妮尔·谢弗(Janelle Shaffer)表示，工作人员贝琪·莱昂(Betsy Lyons)和巴尔布·克莱普尔(Barb Claypool)在整理捐赠衣物的时候，发现了一个装满百元钞票的行李袋。
“They thought it was counterfeit or fake at first,” Ms. Shaffer said in a telephone interview on Tuesday. So they held the bills up to the light	“他们一开始以为那是假的，是伪钞。”谢弗周二接受电话采访时说。所以他们把钞票拿到灯光下，还用了验钞笔来鉴定。“然后我们发现，‘哎呀，钱是

and tested them with counterfeit pens. "Then we were like, 'No, they're real!'"	真的！ ”
There was more than $97,000 in all, according to The Zanesville Times Recorder, which reported the incident.	据《赞斯维尔时报》(Zanesville Times Recorder)报道，这笔钱总共超过 9.7 万美元。
Ms. Shaffer said that she worked to track down the owners of the money from the receipt they had left, and handed the money over to the police. The owners, identified by The Times Recorder as Dan and Lynette Leckrone, told the paper that they had recently withdrawn the money – their savings – to buy a new home, and had placed it in the trunk of their car, where it got mixed in with clothes destined for Goodwill.	谢弗说，她通过失主留下的收据来查找，并把这笔钱交给了警察。《时代纪事者报》(Times Recorder)确认失主是丹和莱尼特·雷克龙(Dan and Lynette Leckrone)，他们告诉该报，这笔钱是他们刚取出的存款，本来打算用来买房的，两人把钱放在汽车的后备箱，结果和捐赠的衣服混在了一起。
"We picked the money up at the Police Department and took it straight to the bank," Mr. Leckrone told the paper. "We are so thankful to everyone that we got our money back."	根据那篇报道，雷克罗内表示：“我们从警察局领取了这笔钱，然后直接拿到银行存了起来。能找回这笔钱，我们非常感谢大家。”
Ms. Shaffer said that at Goodwill, workers were used to finding spare change left in pants pockets. "We find that every day: a few pennies here, a few pennies there," she said. But they had never found bundles of $100 bills before. "Let me tell you, it was quite the day."	谢弗说，好意慈善商店的工作人员经常在捐赠的裤子口袋里发现一些零钱。“我们每天都能在这里找到几毛钱，在那里找到几毛钱，”她说。但是他们从来没有发现过成捆的百元钞票。“要我说，这是相当特别的一天。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170621/finders-keepers-an-ohio-goodwill-returns-97000-mistakenly-donated-with-clothes	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170621/finders-keepers-an-ohio-goodwill-returns-97000-mistakenly-donated-with-clothes
The Long, Lonely Road of Chelsea Manning	泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（一）：“我想摆脱性别”
Read:	点击阅读：
Part 2.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（二）：幻灭之后的顿悟》
Part 3.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（三）：“我厌倦了伪装”》
Part 4.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（四）：变成女儿身》

On a gray morning this spring, Chelsea Manning climbed into the back seat of a black S.U.V. and directed her security guard to drive her to the nearest Starbucks. A storm was settling over Manhattan, and Manning was prepared for the weather, in chunky black Doc Martens with an umbrella and a form-fitting black dress. Her legs were bare, her eyes gray blue. She wore little makeup: a spot of eyeliner, a smudge of pink lip gloss.	今年春天一个多云的早晨，切尔西·曼宁(Chelsea Manning)爬进一辆黑色 SUV 车后座，指示保安人员开车送她到最近的星巴克。曼哈顿上空正酝酿着一场暴风雨，曼宁已经为此做好了准备，她脚穿粗重的马丁靴，带着雨伞，身上是一件彰显身材的黑色连衣裙，裸露着双腿。她画着淡妆：灰蓝色的眼睛周围有眼线的痕迹，一点点粉红色的唇彩。
At Starbucks, she ordered a white-chocolate mocha and retreated to a nearby stool. Manning has always been small (5 foot 4), but in her last few months at the United States Disciplinary Barracks at Fort Leavenworth, she jogged religiously, outside in the prison yard and around the track of the prison gym, and her body had taken on a lithe sharpness, apparent in the definition of her arms and cheekbones. She looked healthy and fit, if a little uneasy, as people who have served long spells in prison often do.	在星巴克，她点了白巧克力摩卡，坐到旁边的高脚凳上。曼宁的身材一直很娇小（5 英尺 4 英寸），但在过去的几个月里，在美国莱文沃斯堡军事监狱里，她非常认真地沿着监狱操场和监狱体育馆的跑道上跑步。从她的手臂和颧骨轮廓可以看出，她的身体变得柔韧结实。她看上去健康强壮，虽然带着些许不安的感觉，长期在狱中服刑的人往往都是这样的。
She had been released only eight days earlier, after serving seven years of a 35-year sentence. Her crime, even in hindsight, was an astonishing one: handing WikiLeaks approximately 250,000 American diplomatic cables and roughly 480,000 Army reports from the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. Collectively the largest leak of classified records in American history, the disclosures cleared a path for Edward Snowden and elevated the profile of Julian Assange, then little known outside hacker circles. "Without Chelsea Manning," P.J. Crowley, an assistant secretary of state from 2009 to 2011, told me recently, "Julian Assange is just another fringe actor who resents what he sees as American hegemonic	她被判 35 年徒刑，服刑七年后，她在八天前得到释放。即便事后看来，她的罪行也足以令人震惊：她将美国在阿富汗和伊拉克战争期间的约 25 万份外交电报和约 48 万份军队报告交给了维基解密(Wikileaks)。这些泄露加在一起，构成了美国历史上最大的机密记录泄漏事件，为爱德华·斯诺登(Edward Snowden)扫清了道路，并且令朱利安·阿桑奇(Julian Assange)的形象得到提升，此前阿桑奇在黑客圈以外少有人知。“要不是切尔西·曼宁，”2009 年至 2011 年担任助理国务卿的 P.J.克劳利(P.J.Crowley)最近告诉我，“朱利安·阿桑奇无非就是另一个处在边缘地位，对他心目中美国霸权主义傲慢感到愤怒的小角色。”丹弗·尼克斯(Denver Nicks)曾经写过一本关于曼宁案的书，用他的话来说，曼宁的行为从广义上来说，代表着“信息时代

hubris." To an extraordinary extent, Manning's actions, in the words of Denver Nicks, the author of a book on her case, represented the "beginning of the information age exploding upon itself": a new era in which leaks were a weapon, data security was of paramount importance and privacy felt illusory.	自身开始爆炸": 一个新时代, 现在内情泄漏可以成为武器, 数据安全至关重要, 而隐私则让人感到虚幻。
In January 2017, after being locked up at five different facilities, in conditions a United Nations expert called "cruel" and "inhumane," Manning had received a surprise commutation by President Barack Obama. Four months later, she was free, trying to adjust to life in a world she helped shape. Finishing her coffee, she fished her iPhone out of her purse and asked her security guard for a lift back to the apartment where she was staying while in Manhattan. The one-bedroom was furnished sparsely, with a wide glass table and a tan couch, opposite which Manning had set up an Xbox One video-game console. The art was of the anodyne motel variety – an old-masters-esque tableau, a canvas of a zebra standing in a forest. We were many floors up, suspended in the storm clouds, and through the window, I could see the spires of the skyscrapers on the other side of the Hudson River.	曼宁曾先后被关押在五个不同的地方, 一个联合国专家称她所处的环境是“残酷”且“不人道”的, 2017年1月, 她终于从贝拉克·奥巴马总统那里得到了出乎意料的减刑。四个月后, 她重获自由, 开始努力适应身边这个自己参与塑造的世界。喝完咖啡后, 她从手袋里摸出 iPhone 手机, 让保安开车送她回到她在曼哈顿的公寓。这是一个一室一厅的房子, 装修简朴, 有一个宽阔的玻璃桌和一张棕褐色的沙发, 沙发对面, 曼宁放了一个 Xbox One 游戏机。公寓里的艺术品是平淡乏味的汽车旅馆风格——一幅早期大师风格的人物画, 一幅描绘森林里一匹斑马的油画。楼层很高, 仿佛悬浮在酝酿暴风雨的云层之中, 通过窗户, 我可以看到哈德逊河对岸摩天大楼的尖顶。
Manning, who is 29, tapped an unplugged microwave next to the door and asked me to place my laptop inside: The Faraday cage in the microwave would block radio waves, she explained. But the unplugged microwave was already full of devices, including two Xbox controllers. "You can put it in the kitchen microwave," Manning said; then, intuiting the strangeness of the request, she added with a shrug, "You can't be	29岁的曼宁敲了一下门边一个没接电源的微波炉, 要我把笔记本电脑放在那里面。她解释说, 微波炉里的法拉第笼可以屏蔽无线电波。但是那个没接电源的微波炉里已经装满了各种设备, 包括两台 Xbox 遥控器。“你可以把它放在厨房的微波炉里,”曼宁说, 意识到自己的请求有多么奇怪, 她耸了耸肩, “怎么小心都不为过”。

too careful.”
She recalled that she last gave an in-person, on-the-record interview to a journalist in 2008, on the occasion of a marriage-equality march in New York. For almost a decade after that, barred by prison officials from communicating directly with the public, she remained silent as her story was told in books, an opera, an Off Broadway play and countless magazine articles, almost all of them written before Manning had come out as transgender. “It wasn’t the whole story,” she told me, “my whole story.”	她回忆说，她上一次亲自接受记者面对面的正式采访是2008年在纽约婚姻平权游行上。此后将近十年里，监狱管理者阻止她和公众直接接触，因此她一直保持缄默，与此同时，她的故事被写成书，被改编为歌剧和小成本舞台剧，登上无数杂志文章，它们大都是在曼宁公开跨性别者身份之前写的。“那不是完整的故事，”她告诉我，“不是关于我的完整故事。”
Absent her own voice, a pair of dueling narratives had emerged. One had Manning, in the words of President Donald Trump, as an “ungrateful traitor.” The other positioned her as transgender icon and champion of transparency — a “secular martyr,” as Chase Madar, a former attorney and the author of a book on her case, recently put it to me. But in Manning’s presence, both narratives feel like impossible simplifications, not least because Manning herself is clearly still grappling with the meaning of what she did seven years ago. When I asked her to draw lessons from her journey, she grew uneasy. “I don’t have. ...” she started. “Like, I’ve been so busy trying to survive for the past seven years that I haven’t focused on that at all.”	虽然她自己的声音是缺席的，但是关于她，出现了两种水火不相容的叙事。第一种叙事把曼宁描述为——用唐纳德·特朗普的话来说——“忘恩负义的叛徒”。另一种叙事则把她奉为跨性别者的偶像与信息透明的捍卫者，就像曾经当过检察官的蔡斯·马达尔(Chase Madar)最近对我说的，是一个“非宗教的殉道者”，他也曾经写过一本关于曼宁案的书。但是在曼宁面前，这两种叙事似乎都简化到了不可思议的地步，尤其是因为曼宁自己显然仍在努力思考，想要弄清她七年前所做的事情究竟意味着什么。我问她，从这段经历中学到了什么，她变得非常不安。“我没有……”她开始说道。“这个，过去七年里，我一直忙着生存下去，我根本没有重点关注这个。”
But surely, I pressed, she must have some sense of the impact she had on the world. “From my perspective,” she responded, “the world’s shaped me more than anything else. It’s a feedback loop.”	但是，我追问，她肯定会感觉自己对这个世界造成了影响。“从我的角度来看，”她回答说，“这个世界对我的影响比其他一切更重要。这是一个反馈回路。”
As far back as Chelsea Manning can remember, to her earliest days in Crescent, on the far edge of the Oklahoma City metro area, she suffered	就切尔西·曼宁记忆所及，早在儿时住在俄克拉荷马市市区边缘的克雷森特那段时期，她就曾经有过强烈的困惑感，她要努力让自己搞清楚某些持续不断

from a feeling of intense dislocation, something constant and psychic that she struggled to define to herself, much less to her older sister, Casey, or her parents, Brian and Susan. During one of our interviews, I mentioned that I heard a clinical psychologist compare gender dysphoria to a “giant, cosmic toothache.” Manning flushed. That was it exactly, she agreed: “Morning, evening, breakfast, lunch, dinner, wherever you are. It’s everywhere you go.”	的、和精神状态有关的东西，更不用说让姐姐凯西(Casey)和她的父母布赖恩(Brian)与苏珊(Susan)也明白。在一次采访中，我提到我听临床心理学家将性别焦虑比作“无时不在的巨大牙痛”。曼宁脸上一阵泛红。就是这样，她同意：“早上、晚上、早餐、午餐、晚餐，无论你身在何处。它到处都跟着你。”
At the age of 5, Manning recalled, she approached her father, an I.T. manager for Hertz, and confessed that she wanted to be a girl, “to do girl things.” Brian responded with a lengthy and awkward speech on the essential differences in “plumbing.” But Manning told me, “I didn’t understand how that had anything to do with what you wore or how you behaved.” Soon she was sneaking into her sister’s bedroom and donning Casey’s acid-washed jeans and denim jackets. Seated at the mirror, she would apply lipstick and blush, frantically scrubbing off the makeup at the slightest stirring from downstairs.	她的父亲是赫兹公司的IT部门经理，曼宁回忆说，五岁那年，她对父亲承认她想成为女孩，“做女孩做的事情”。对此，布赖恩就男女“生殖管道”的本质区别做了一番冗长而笨拙的讲话。但是曼宁告诉我，“我不明白这和你所穿的东西或你的行为有什么关系。”“不久后她开始溜进姐姐的卧室，偷偷穿上凯西的酸洗牛仔裤和牛仔夹克，对着镜子涂上口红和腮红，楼下一传来风吹草动，她就拼命擦掉脸上的化妆品。
“I wanted to be like [Casey] and live like her,” Manning said.	“我想要像她（凯西）一样，像她那样生活，”曼宁说。
When she was still in elementary school, she came out as gay to a straight male friend. The friend was understanding; the other kids at school, less so. Manning tried, unsuccessfully, to retract her confession, but the teasing continued. “I would come home crying some days, and if my dad was there, he’d say: ‘Just quit crying and man up. Like, go back there and punch that kid in the face,’” she said. It was the late 1990s, when the trans movement was very much on the fringes of American society. “The closest I came to knowing anything was from	还在读小学的时候，她便向一个直男朋友出柜，告知对方自己是同性恋。那位朋友理解她；学校里的其他孩子则没有那么善解人意。曼宁试图收回自己的坦白之词，但没有成功，继续遭到戏弄。“有些日子，我回到家会哭出来，如果我父亲在场，他会说：‘别哭了，爷们些。比如，回去朝那小子脸上擂一拳，’”她说。那是1990年代末，跨性别者权利运动在美国社会中还处于极为边缘的位置。“耸动的电视节目中关于变装皇后式异性着装的描绘，是我最近接近相关信息的渠道”——比如杰瑞·斯布林格(Jerry Springer)的节目。她花更多时间待在家中，摆弄她父亲总是会带回家的电脑，玩电子游戏、尝试

the portrayal of drag-queen-style cross-dressing on sensational TV shows” like Jerry Springer’s, Manning told me. She spent more time inside, on the computers that her father was always bringing home, playing video games and dabbling in basic code.	鼓捣基本代码。
Her parents had issues of their own. When Manning was about 12, Susan swallowed an entire bottle of Valium. Casey called 911, only to be told that the nearest ambulance was a half-hour away. Casey loaded her mother into the car; Brian, who Manning says was too drunk to drive, sat shotgun, leaving a terrified Chelsea in the back to make sure her mother kept breathing. She told me the incident was formational. “I grew up very quickly after that,” she said. (Brian could not be reached for comment.)	她的父母有着自己的问题。曼宁 12 岁那年，苏珊吞下一整瓶安定。凯西打了 911，却被告知最近的救护车要半小时才能赶到。凯西把母亲弄到汽车上；而布赖恩据曼宁所说喝得烂醉，无法开车，坐在副驾驶位置上，留下惊恐的切尔西待在后面，确定母亲还在呼吸。她告诉我那件事对她影响很大。“自那以后我成长得很快，”她说。（记者未能联系上布赖恩并请其置评。）
In Susan’s native Wales, where Manning moved with her in 2001 after her parents split, Chelsea says she took over full control of the household, paying bills and handling much of the shopping. There was freedom there, too: She could buy her own makeup at the convenience store, wear it for a few hours in public and jam it into a waste bin on her way home. She passed many evenings on her computer, in L.G.B.T. chat rooms. Her worldview shifted. While in Crescent, Manning had imbibed her father’s conservative politics — “I questioned nothing,” she told me. But at Tasker Milward, a school in the town of Haverfordwest, she studied the civil rights movement, the Red Scare, the internment of Japanese-Americans during World War II. In a term paper for a history class, she expressed skepticism about the rationale for the American invasion of Iraq.	父母离婚后，曼宁于 2001 年随苏珊搬到其老家威尔士。切尔西说，在那里，她全盘掌管家中事务，付账单并负责很多东西的采购。那里也给了她自由：她可以在便利店给自己买化妆品，带妆在公共场合出现几个小时，然后在回家的路上将化妆品扔进垃圾桶。很多晚上她都是守着电脑在 LGBT 聊天室里度过的。在克雷森特生活的时候，曼宁曾吸纳父亲的保守派政治观点——“我一度不质疑任何事，”她告诉我。但在哈沃福维斯特镇的塔斯克尔·米尔沃德中学(Tasker Milward)，她学习了与民权运动、红色恐慌以及二战期间日裔美国人被囚禁有关的知识。在历史课的学期论文中，她表达了对美国入侵伊拉克合理性的怀疑。

When Manning returned to the United States in 2005 to live with Brian and his new wife in Oklahoma City, she was a changed person, if not a wholly transformed one: She wore eyeliner and grew out her hair and dyed it black. "I thought, Maybe I want to just eradicate this gender thing and be gender neutral, like androgynous," she told me. She found a job at an internet start-up and, through a matchmaking site, met her first boyfriend, who lived 70 miles away in the town of Duncan. But her stepmother, Manning said, forbade her from setting foot in the kitchen: "She felt that I was unclean."	当曼宁于 2005 年返回美国，与布赖恩及其续娶的妻子在俄克拉荷马市一起生活的时候，即便没有彻头彻尾地转变，也已经变了一个人：她画眼线，留长发，并将头发染成黑色。“我认为，或许我想要摆脱性别这种东西，成为中性的存在，就像雌雄同体，”她告诉我。她在一家互联网初创企业找到了份工作，还通过交友网站遇到了她的第一个男朋友，后者当时住在 70 英里外的邓肯镇。但曼宁说，她的继母禁止她踏足厨房：“她觉得我是不洁的。”
Manning confided to no one what she was increasingly coming to understand: that she wasn't gay, wasn't a cross-dresser. She was a woman. In the summer of 2006, she and her boyfriend parted ways, and she lit out from Oklahoma for good, all her belongings piled high in the cab of her red Nissan pickup truck. A spell of itinerancy followed — out to Tulsa, Okla., to work at a pizza parlor; up to Chicago to work at Guitar Center; east to the suburbs of Washington to live with her aunt, with whom she enjoyed a connection she never shared with her parents. She did four sessions with a psychologist, but got no closer to unburdening herself than she had with friends or family members. "I was scared," Manning said. "I didn't know that life could be better."	曼宁没有向任何人坦白她日益意识到的一件事：她不是同性恋，不是异装者。她是一个女人。2006 年夏天，与男友分道扬镳后，她把自己的物品高高堆在红色尼桑皮卡的驾驶室里，永远离开了俄克拉荷马市。随之而来的是四处漂泊的生活——前往俄克拉荷马州塔尔萨，在一家比萨店工作；还曾抵达芝加哥，在吉他中心(Guitar Center)工作；往东到了华盛顿郊区，和一个姑妈一起生活，与姑妈同住期间，她感受到了和父母之间从未有过的那种亲密。她在一名心理医生处接受过四次咨询辅导，但减压效果并没有超出与朋友或家人交流的程度。“我当时很害怕，”曼宁说。“我不知道生活可以变得更好。”
Brian Manning had often fondly recounted for Chelsea his days in the military: It had given him structure and grounding, he said. Manning hadn't been ready to listen then. Now she was. Enlisting might be the thing to "man her up," to rid her of the ache. Besides, while her ideas about American foreign policy had become more nuanced, she still	布赖恩·曼宁以前常常向曼宁动情地回忆其军旅生涯：他说那段岁月塑造了他的性格和脚踏实地的精神。曼宁当初还没做好把那些话听进去的准备。她现在准备好了。报名参军或许是一件可以让她变得“爷们些”、祛除她的痛苦的事情。此外，虽然对美国的外交政策的看法不再那么黑白分明，她依然认为自己是一名爱国者。“我还记得 2007 年夏天，我每天都坐在那里，打开电视”，

considered herself a patriot — in the Army, she could use her analytical skills to help her country. “I remember sitting in the summer of 2007 and just every single day turning on the TV” and seeing the news from Iraq, she told me. “The surge, the surge, the surge. Terrorist attacks. Insurgents. ... I just felt like maybe I could make a difference.”	收看来自伊拉克的新闻，她告诉我。“增兵，增兵，增兵。恐怖袭击。叛乱分子……我只是觉得或许我可以有所贡献。”
That fall, Manning reported for basic training at Fort Leonard Wood in the Missouri Ozarks; within a few days, she had suffered injuries to her arm. “The drill sergeants were acting like I was malingering or something,” she said. “But I was like: ‘No, I’m not trying to get out of anything. I just really can’t feel my right hand.’” A soldier who spent time with Manning in Missouri later recalled for The Guardian that Manning was routinely called a “faggot.” “The guy took it from every side. He couldn’t please anyone. And he tried. He really did,” the soldier said.	那年秋天，曼宁报名在密苏里州欧萨克的伦纳德伍德堡接受基础训练；几天后她的胳膊受了伤。“教官表现出来的样子就好像我在装病之类的，”她说。“但我的内心独白却是：‘不，我并非试图逃避什么东西。我只是真的无法感知到我的右手。’”一名曾和曼宁一起待在密苏里州的士兵后来向《卫报》(The Guardian)回忆，曼宁常常被称为“娘炮”。“到处都有人这么叫。他无法取悦任何人。他试过。他真的努力尝试过，”那名士兵说。
The Army, in need of more bodies to fight the insurgencies in Afghanistan and Iraq, allowed Manning another shot at boot camp. In 2008, she graduated to intelligence school at Fort Huachuca in Arizona, which to her felt like a kind of community college. There, she was trained to sort what the military terms “SigActs,” or significant actions — the written reports, photos and videos of the confrontations, explosions and firefights that form the mosaic of modern war. Manning told me she fit in well with the intelligence types at Fort Huachuca, who shared her intrinsic geekiness. “There were more like-minded people there,” she said, adding, “It wasn’t ‘Rah, rah, you need to do this.’ They encouraged us to speak up. They encouraged us to have opinions, to	亟需更多人员去抗击阿富汗和伊拉克的叛军的美国陆军，在新兵训练营给了曼宁另一次机会。2008年，她完成基本训练，进入亚利桑那州华楚卡堡的情报学院——她觉得该学院有点儿像社区大学。在那里，她学习了如何对重大行动，也就是美国军事术语中的“SigActs”进行分类整理——这一工作所涉的关于对峙、爆炸和交火的书面报告、照片和视频，共同构成了现代战争的马赛克。曼宁告诉我，她在华楚卡堡和搞情报的那些人相处得很好，他们和她一样都有种内在的极客特性。“那里有更多志趣相投的人，”她说。她还表示，“不是‘来，来，你需要做这个’这种。他们鼓励我们说出自己的想法。鼓励我们有自己的观点，做出自己的决定。”

make our own decisions.”
At her first official duty station, Fort Drum in upstate New York, Manning was charged in part with helping to build a digital tool that would automatically track and sort SigActs from Afghanistan, where Manning’s unit initially expected to be deployed. For hours a day, she watched spectral night-vision video and read reports from distant battlefields. Already, she was being exposed to the bloodshed that would serve as inspiration for her leaks. But she was handling the material at a spatial and emotional reserve: She remained, she told me, “eager” to get to the front lines. “I was hungry.”	在第一个服役地点，纽约州北部的德拉堡，曼宁的部分职责是帮助打造自动追踪和分类整理来自阿富汗的重大行动的数字化工具——曼宁所在的部队起初预计会被派驻到阿富汗。她每天花很多个小时观看幽暗的夜视视频、阅读来自遥远战场的报告。她已经见识到日后促使她泄密的那种血腥。但她处理材料时与之保持着空间和情感上的距离：她告诉我，她当时依然“渴望”上前线，“我的渴望非常迫切。”
Through a gay dating site, she met a bookish Brandeis student named Tyler Watkins. She started driving to visit Watkins in the Boston area, where she became a regular at Pika, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology co-op, and visited Boston University’s Builds, a hub of the local hacking community. At the Pika gatherings, she found friends that approached coding the same way she did: as outlet, pastime and calling. She often stayed up late into the night talking. Yan Zhu, then an undergraduate student at M.I.T., remembers Manning as “obviously intelligent,” if “nervous.” It was clear to Zhu that Manning was “haunted by something.” But she never had a chance to find out what: That fall, Manning’s unit was deployed to Iraq.	通过一个同性恋交友网站，她结识了就读于布兰迪斯大学、书卷气十足的泰勒·沃特金斯(Tyler Watkins)。她开始驱车造访波士顿地区的沃特金斯——在那里她成了麻省理工大学(Massachusetts Institute of Technology)的合作生活社区 Pika 的常客；还曾到访波士顿大学(Boston University)的 Builds——当地黑客群体的一个枢纽。在 Pika 的聚会上，她找到了和自己看待编码的思维一致的朋友：视之为情感的发泄、消遣和使命。当时在麻省理工读本科的朱岩（Yan Zhu，音）回忆说，曼宁“显然很聪明”，虽然“有些焦虑”。朱岩清楚地知道，曼宁那时候“正被什么事情困扰着”。但她从未有机会找出答案：那年秋天，曼宁所在的部队被派往伊拉克。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170621/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part1	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170621/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part1
The Long, Lonely Road of Chelsea Manning	泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（二）：幻灭之后的顿悟
Read:	点击阅读:

Part 1.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（一）：“我想摆脱性别”》
Part 3.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（三）：“我厌倦了伪装”》
Part 4.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（四）：变成女儿身》
In October 2009, Manning hopped a Black Hawk from Baghdad to Forward Operating Base Hammer, 30 miles east of the city. In the cabin, strapped into the chopper’s jump seats, she began putting names to places that had long been digital abstractions. “I had seen imagery for nine or 10 months prior,” Manning recalled, “I knew the landscape so well from the air that I recognized these neighborhoods, and it woke me up to see people walking around and to see people driving and to see the buildings and the trees below.”	2009年10月，曼宁跳上一架黑鹰直升机，从巴格达飞往该市以东30英里处的哈默前方作战基地。机舱内，被固定在飞机活动座椅上的她开始把一些名字与此前对她而言一直是数字化抽象事物的东西对应起来。“我提前九或十个月就开始看图片，”曼宁回忆说，“我俯瞰下方，由于对那片土地非常了解，我认出了那些社区，激动地看着那里的人们走来走去，看着他们开车，看着那些建筑物和树木。”
Ringed by desert, the low-slung buildings of F.O.B. Hammer baked in the summer and coursed with mud in the fall. Every night, Manning rose from her bunk at 9 p.m., dressed in standard-issue visual camouflage and grabbed her rifle. After quickly eating dinner for breakfast, she walked to a Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility, or SCIF, to report for duty. Manning’s SCIF was a glorified “plywood box” with lousy airflow, situated on a basketball court. She sat at the free-throw line, in a reclining office chair, where she spent her overnight shift facing three laptop computers. Manning’s isolation took on a new form: Hidden away in the darkened SCIF, she would work for eight hours at a stretch, sifting through reports filed securely by American troops in the field, making sense of the raw data for senior-level intelligence officers. She remained sealed off from actual conflict, though she could hear the shudder of car bombs and	哈默前方作战基地低矮的建筑为沙漠所环绕，夏天被阳光炙烤，秋天尘土飞扬。每天夜里9点，曼宁都会从铺位上起身，穿上标准配发的视觉伪装服，拿起步枪。飞快吃完相当于早餐的晚餐后，她会走进一个“敏感信息隔离设施”（Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility, 简称 SCIF），开始工作。所谓 SCIF 其实只是“胶合板箱”的美称，空气流通极度不畅。曼宁的 SCIF 位于一个篮球场上，她要坐在罚球线边一把有靠背的办公椅上，对着三台笔记本电脑，值一整夜的班。曼宁的与世隔绝有了新形态：她躲在黑暗的 SCIF 里，一连工作八小时，筛查前线的美国军队通过安全方式提交的报告，为高级情报官员分析整理原始数据。她仍然与真实的冲突保持着距离，尽管她能听见汽车炸弹的爆炸声，有时还会遇到刚跟敌人交过火，晕晕乎乎、风尘仆仆的士兵。

sometimes ran into soldiers, dazed and dusty, on their way back from a firefight.
At that early juncture, Manning told me, she was too busy to give much thought to the larger import of what she was seeing. "Doing my job, you couldn't even really read all the files," she said. "You have to skim, get a sense of what's relevant and what's not." Still, to an extraordinary extent, she had a more comprehensive view of America's role in Iraq than the infantry in the field did — often, literally, a sky-level view — and as October ground into November, she found herself increasingly dismayed by a lack of public awareness about what seemed to be a futile, ceaselessly bloody war. "At a certain point," she told me, "I stopped seeing records and started seeing people": bloody American soldiers, bullet-ridden Iraqi civilians.	曼宁告诉我，起初，她太忙了，顾不上对大量见闻作太多思考。“干我那份工作，你其实甚至无法看完所有文件，”她说。“你必须快速浏览，明白什么重要、什么无关紧要。”不过，比起前线的步兵，她在很大程度上对美国在伊拉克的角色有了更全面的看法——通常来说，简直是从空中俯瞰般的视角——10月过去，11月到来之际，她发现自己越来越惊愕于公众对这场似乎徒劳无功、无休无止的血腥战争竟然如此缺乏认识。“到了某一时刻，”她告诉我，“我不再看记录，而是开始看人”：流血的美国士兵，中弹的伊拉克平民。
On rare reprieves from the SCIF, Manning accompanied senior officers to meetings with the Iraqi military and the Iraqi federal police, sit-downs that further entrenched her disillusionment. "There would be these tea sessions, where you've got the Iraqi federal police in their blue uniforms, you've got Iraqi Army in, like, the old chocolate-chip camouflage and the Americans in our smeared green digital camouflage," Manning said — everyone speaking in different languages, frequently at cross-purposes. "I'd come in thinking things would be black and white. They weren't."	极少数情况下，曼宁不必待在 SCIF 里，而是陪同高级官员去和伊拉克军方以及伊拉克联邦警察局的人会晤，大家团团围坐的场合进一步加深了她的幻灭感。“在那些茶话会上，有身穿蓝色制服的伊拉克联邦警察，有身穿旧巧克力色迷彩服的伊拉克陆军，还有我们，身穿模糊的绿色数码迷彩服的美国人，”曼宁说——每个人都说着不同的语言，常常有着相反的目的，无法沟通。“我本以为事情非黑即白。但事实并非如此。”
Manning told me she heard the name WikiLeaks for the first time in 2008, at a computer security training course at Fort Huachuca. By the end of 2009, she had started logging on to internet relay chat	曼宁告诉我，她第一次听说维基解密(WikiLeaks)这个名字，是2008年在瓦丘卡堡上计算机安全培训课的时候。到2009年末，她已经开始登陆那个网站的互联网中继聊天室(Internet Relay Chat, 简称IRC, 一种半加密协议，

conversations devoted to the site. (I.R.C., a semisecure protocol, was then the preferred method of communication for hackers.) Initially, she was an observer: She was intrigued by the work that Julian Assange and his team were doing, if not quite ready to endorse their argument for total transparency. She told me that she believed then, and believes now, that “there are plenty of things that should be kept secret.” “Let’s protect sensitive sources. Let’s protect troop movements. Let’s protect nuclear information. Let’s not hide missteps. Let’s not hide misguided policies. Let’s not hide history. Let’s not hide who we are and what we are doing.”	是黑客们当时颇为青睐的交流方式)。起初,她是一个观察者:她被朱利安·阿桑奇及其团队正在做的工作深深吸引,但不太认同他们关于绝对透明的观点。她告诉我她当时认为——现在也依然认为——“很多事情都应该保密。”“敏感信源要受到保护。军队的行动要受到保护。核信息要受到保护。但我们不该掩盖过失。不该掩盖政策失误,不该掩盖历史。不该掩盖我们是谁、我们在做什么。”
She was edging closer to acting but said nothing about the I.R.C. channel to her friends at F.O.B. Hammer, nor about her own personal tumult. She was now fighting to keep what amounted to two life-altering secrets. She couldn’t discuss her identity openly: The “don’t ask, don’t tell” policy was still in effect, and it would be years before transgender people were allowed to openly enlist. “I binge watched TV shows on the internet,” she said. “I was smoking heavily. I was drinking an enormous amount of caffeine. I was going to the dining facility and eating as much as I could. Just any little tiny escape or way to feel like I’m not there anymore.” Her boyfriend was little help: Manning could feel him slipping away. “I was in denial about it, but I had a sense ... that I was being forgotten,” she told me.	她即将采取行动,但从未跟哈默前方作战基地的朋友们谈起那个 IRC 频道,也未谈起她自己内心的动荡。她现在正奋力保有二个堪称可以改变人生的秘密。她不能公开讨论自己的性别认同:“不要问,不要说”的政策当时尚未废除,要再过好几年,跨性别人士才会获准光明正大地报名参军。“我在网上猛刷剧集。我抽烟抽得很凶。我喝大量咖啡。我去餐厅尽可能多地吃东西。只是想逃避片刻,或者制造某种解脱之感。”她的男友基本没帮上什么忙:曼宁能感觉到他离自己越来越远。“我不愿承认,但我有种感觉……我正在被遗忘,”她告诉我。
Manning had a two-week leave coming up. She planned to spend time in Boston, trying to patch things up with Watkins, and in the suburbs of Washington with her aunt. She dreamed about using the occasion to	曼宁接下来有两周的假期。她打算去波士顿,设法和沃特金斯重拾旧好,还要去华盛顿郊区探望姑妈。她梦想着利用这个机会,以跨性别人士的身份向家人和朋友出柜。“我在脑海中不停想象着这样的时刻,”她告诉我,“把事情

come out to her family and friends as trans. "I kept having this moment in my head," she told me, "where I just yell it at the top of my lungs." But she knew, in her heart, that she'd never be able to go through with it.	高声说出来。“但她心里清楚，她永远也无法闯过这一关。
Before leaving F.O.B. Hammer, Manning downloaded, from the government's Combined Information Data Network Exchange, almost every SigActs report from the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq and burned a compressed version of the data onto CD-RW discs, one of which was labeled "Lady Gaga." She did it in full view of her fellow soldiers. But what she did next violated the most important precepts she was taught at Fort Huachuca, along with the Oath of Enlistment she swore in 2007: She uploaded the contents of the discs onto the personal laptop she planned to take home to the United States. She had not decided what she would do with the data.	离开哈默前方作战基地前，曼宁从政府的综合信息数据网络交换(Combined Information Data Network Exchange)系统中下载了几乎所有的来自阿富汗和伊拉克战争的重大行动报告，并把经过压缩的数据烧制在 CD-RW 光盘上，其中一个光盘被标注为“Lady Gaga”。这一切都是在战友们的眼皮底下进行的。但她接下来做的事情违背了她在瓦丘卡堡学到的最重要的戒律，也违背了她 2007 年的入伍誓言：她把光盘上的内容传到了她打算带回美国的私人笔记本电脑上。她尚未决定要拿这些数据怎么办。
Days later, Manning put on a blond wig and ran in a low crouch from the side door of her aunt's house, out of view of the neighbors, and drove to the train station. She wore a dark coat and, under it, business-casual woman's wear she bought at a local department store; she claimed it was for her friend who needed it for a job interview. In Washington, she went to a Starbucks, ate lunch at a busy restaurant and wandered through the aisles of a bookstore; later, she climbed back on the Metro and rode it aimlessly around. She took great pleasure in being seen as she knew she was and comfort in how easily she passed — rarely did anyone give her a second glance.	几天后，曼宁避开邻居们的目光，戴着一顶金色假发，伏下身子从姑妈家的侧门跑出来，开车前往火车站。她穿着一件深色外套，里面是在当地一家百货商店买的女士商务便装——她当时声称是买给一个要去参加面试的朋友。在华盛顿，她去了星巴克，到一家人满为患的餐厅吃了午餐，在一个书店的过道里走来走去；随后，她回到地铁上，乘地铁漫无目的地转悠。她极度欣喜于被视作一个知道自己是谁的人，轻轻松松与人擦肩而过的感觉让她颇为自在——很少有谁多看她一眼。
"Before I deployed, I didn't have the guts," Manning, who was then privately referring to herself as Brianna, told me. But her time in Iraq	“被派驻到伊拉克之前，我没有这种勇气，”曼宁告诉我，当时，她在私下里管自己叫布里安娜(Brianna)。但在伊拉克度过的时光改变了她。“每天看到

was changing her. "Being exposed to so much death on a daily basis makes you grapple with your own mortality," she went on. She no longer wanted to hide.	那么多人死去，会促使你去思考自己生命的有限，"她继续说道。她不想再躲藏。
The expedition was the high point of a disappointing two-week leave. The Army had bumped up her departure from F.O.B. Hammer, and her family hadn't had time to readjust their schedules: Manning's aunt was on a trip abroad, and her sister had just had her first child — it would be tricky to carve out time for Chelsea. Manning took a train up to see Watkins at his home in Waltham, in Massachusetts, but she couldn't shake the feeling that he didn't really want her there, so she cut her stay short by three days.	这次出行是令人失望的两周假期的高光时刻。美国陆军批准曼宁离开哈默前方作战基地更长时间，她的家人来不及调整他们的安排，很难为切尔西抽出时间——姑妈正在国外旅行，姐姐刚生了第一个孩子。曼宁乘火车赶到沃特金斯位于马萨诸塞州沃尔瑟姆的家中去看他，但她总觉得对方其实并不想让她待在那儿，于是她把逗留时间缩短了三天。
At that point, it would have been possible for Manning to return to Iraq with the files unshared — her actions had been illegal, if reversible. But Manning told me that being in the United States had prompted an epiphany. At home, she says, she realized how invisible the wars had become to most civilians, whose awareness of Iraq extended as far as the occasional newspaper article or chyron on cable news. "There were two worlds," she said. "The world in America, and the world I was seeing [in Iraq]," She went on, "I wanted people to see what I was seeing."	那时候，曼宁仍有可能带着未被泄露的文件返回伊拉克——即便她取消了自己的行动，也已经是非法的。但曼宁告诉我，身在美国令她产生了顿悟。她说，在国内她意识到，大多数民众根本看不到战争的真相，他们对伊拉克的了解不会超出报纸偶尔发表的文章或者有线电视新闻的字幕。“存在着两个世界，”她说。“美国的世界，以及我（在伊拉克）看到的世界，”她继续说道。“我想让人们看到我看到的世界。”
A blizzard hit Washington. Manning's aunt still wasn't back from vacation. Alone, Manning transferred parts of the files to a small memory card and prepared an anonymous text file she wanted to accompany the information. "This is possibly one of the more significant documents of our time removing the fog of war and	一场暴风雪袭击了华盛顿。曼宁的姑妈仍然在外度假。曼宁独自把部分文件传到一张小小的存储卡上，并准备了一份她想要随这些信息一起发出的匿名文本文件。“这可能是关于我们这个时代的最重要的文件之一，它能拨开战争的迷雾，揭示 21 世纪不对等战争的真实本质，”她写道。“祝好。”

revealing the true nature of twenty-first century asymmetric warfare," she wrote. "Have a good day."
Manning told me her decision to provide the information to WikiLeaks was a practical one: She originally planned to deliver the data to The New York Times or The Washington Post, and for the last week of her leave, she dodged from public phone to public phone, calling the main office lines for both papers, leaving a message for the public editor at The Times and engaging in a frustrating conversation with a Post writer, who said she would have to know more about the files before her editor would sign off on an article. A hastily arranged meeting with Politico, where she hoped to introduce herself to the site's security bloggers, was scrapped because of bad weather. "I wanted to try to establish a contact in a way that it couldn't be traced to me," Manning told me. But she was running out of time. She describes a clearheaded sense of purpose coming over her: "I needed to do something," she told me. "And I didn't want anything to stop that."	曼宁告诉我，她把信息提供给维基解密是出于实际的考虑：她原先计划把这些数据交给《纽约时报》或《华盛顿邮报》(The Washington Post)。在休假结束前的最后一周，她换了一个又一个公用电话，给两家报纸的总办公室打电话，给时报的公众编辑留言，还与《华盛顿邮报》的一位作者进行过一次让人沮丧的通话，后者告诉她，她必须对那些文件有更多的了解，编辑才能决定做一篇报道。她也曾与《政治》(Politico)杂志匆忙约定过一次会面，但后来因为天气不好被取消了，她原本希望在那次会面中把自己介绍给这家网站的安全博客作者。“我想尽力建立起一种追踪不到我的关系，”曼宁告诉我。但她没有时间了。她说有一种清晰无误的使命感占据了她的身心：“我需要做点什么，”她对我讲道。“什么也不能阻挡。”
On Feb. 3, 2010, Manning signed onto her laptop and, using a secure file-transfer protocol, sent the files to WikiLeaks.	2010年2月3日，曼宁登陆自己的笔记本电脑，用一个安全文件传输协议把文件发给了维基解密。
Back at F.O.B. Hammer, time sped up; everything seemed to be happening at once. Manning had been away two full weeks, and there was a lot to catch up on — "I had to triple my work," Manning told me. There had been no sign that WikiLeaks received her files, nor any indication that the Army knew anything was amiss. She remembers being in a perpetual state of heightened anxiety. She slept less, smoked more.	回到哈默基地，事情的进展加快了；一切好像是同时安生了。曼宁离开了整整两周，有许多东西需要跟上的——“我得干三倍的活，”曼宁告诉我。没有迹象显示维基解密收到了她的文件，也没有任何迹象表明美国军队知道出了问题。她记得自己当时始终处在极度焦虑的状态。睡得更少，烟抽得更凶了。

In mid-February, on break from the SCIF, she noticed an interesting thread on the WikiLeaks I.R.C. channel, where participants were discussing the financial crisis in Iceland — a collapse that Manning, reading through the library of secure diplomatic cables available to her as an analyst, concluded was roiling onward because of the inaction of the United States and what she described as diplomatic bullying by the Netherlands and Britain. “From my perspective, it appeared that we were not getting involved due to the lack of long-term geopolitical benefit to do so,” she would later testify. Following the same steps as before, she leaked several diplomatic cables pertaining to the Iceland crisis to WikiLeaks; this time, within hours, WikiLeaks published the documents. Manning was thrilled: If the cables had reached WikiLeaks, the much larger leak of SigActs had almost certainly made it, too.	2月中的一次在 SCIF 的休息时间，她注意到维基解密的 IRC 频道上出现了一条有趣的对话串，参与者们在里面讨论冰岛的金融危机——这是曼宁通过阅览她作为分析师所能获得的安全外交电报得出的结论，认为这种崩溃正在蔓延，原因是美国不作为，以及她所说的荷兰和英国的外交霸凌。“在我看来，我们没有介入，是因为这么做从长远看没有什么地缘政治上的好处，”她在后来作证时说。依据与之前相同的步骤，她又给维基解密泄露了好几份与冰岛危机有关的外交电报；这一次，维基解密不到几个小时就发布了这些文件。曼宁感到十分兴奋：如果这些外交电报被维基解密收到了，那么几乎可以肯定，之前发的比这大的多的有关重要信息的泄密文件应该也收到了。
Around this time, Manning had several I.R.C. conversations with a person whom Manning identified in her online address book as “Nathaniel Frank,” after the author of the book “Unfriendly Fire: How the Gay Ban Undermines the Military and Weakens America.” Frank was almost certainly Assange, although Manning declined to discuss the matter with me — the bulk of the chats are classified and could be used in future legal actions against Assange.	差不多在这个时候，曼宁与某个人进行了几次 IRC 聊天。在曼宁的在线地址簿上，她称此人为“纳撒尼尔·弗兰克”(Nathaniel Frank)，名字来源于《非己方火力：同性恋禁令如何破坏了军队，削弱了美国》(Unfriendly Fire: How the Gay Ban Undermines the Military and Weakens America)一书的作者。几乎可以肯定，弗兰克就是阿桑奇，不过曼宁拒绝和我讨论这个问题——大部分聊天内容是机密，在未来的法律诉讼中，可能被用于对付阿桑奇。
Manning followed the transmissions of the SigActs and the Iceland cables with a leak that was harder to ignore. Published by WikiLeaks under the title “Collateral Murder,” the three-year-old video, captured by a camera mounted on an American helicopter, showed two gunships approaching a group of men in an area where there had been	在散播重大行动和冰岛电报之后，曼宁泄露了另一个更难忽视的机密。维基解密以《附带的谋杀》(Collateral Murder)为题，公布了那个三年前拍摄的视频。它是被安装在美国直升机上的一个摄像机拍到的。视频显示，在一个报告发生了轻武器交火的区域，两架武装直升机向一群人靠近。直升机上的人员多次要求准许进攻——“咱们开火吧！”有一个声音说道——而后，他们获

reports of small-arms fire. The helicopter crew repeatedly requests permission to engage — “Let us shoot!” a voice is heard saying — before receiving it and opening fire. In total, at least a dozen people were killed in the 2007 strike, including several civilians and two staff members of the Reuters news agency. Manning says she knew that Reuters, under the Freedom of Information Act, had asked the United States government for a copy of the video but never received it. This was symptomatic, she said, of the worst impulses of a government obsessed with blanket classification. “It makes sense to keep some information secret for a few days, maybe a few years,” she told me. “The problem is, more and more, everything is secret by default.”	得准许，开始开火。2007年的这次袭击总共至少导致十几人死亡，包括几个平民和路透社的两名工作人员。曼宁表示，她知道路透社曾根据《信息自由法》(Freedom of Information Act)要求美国政府提供视频拷贝，但从未收到过。她说，这是一个痴迷于全盘保密的政府最恶劣冲动的表现。“让某些信息保密几天、甚至几年是合理的，”她对我说。“问题是，慢慢地，一切都被默认为是机密。”
In long chat threads, Manning’s relationship with Nathaniel Frank deepened. She warmed to the role of truth-teller, handing over a small library of Detainee Assessment Briefs, or D.A.B.s, from the American holding facility at Guantánamo Bay. “Living such an opaque life, has forced me never to take transparency, openness and honesty for granted,” she wrote the former hacker Adrian Lamo, whom Manning had reached out to as a confessor and who was, unknown to Manning, already working with government investigators.	在漫长的聊天过程中，曼宁与纳撒尼尔·弗兰克的关系加深了。曼宁喜欢上了自己作为真相讲述者的角色，交出了关塔那摩湾美国拘押中心的一小份《拘留人员评估简报》(Detainee Assessment Briefs, 简称 DAB)。“这样一个不透明的环境已经迫使我决不把透明、公开和诚实当成是理所当然的，”她曾向前黑客阿德里安·拉莫(Adrian Lamo)写道。曼宁是把拉莫当作倾诉对象而跟他联系的，并不知道他已经在与政府调查者合作。
Privately, however, she was coming apart. Army investigators looking into her case would later detail several episodes of what they termed “bizarre behavior,” including blank stares and an incident in which Manning was found on the floor of a supply room, having carved the words “I WANT” into a nearby chair. She recalled that the unit, as a whole, was “on edge,” breaking out into verbal arguments and brawls.	不过，当时在私下里，她已经在崩溃。调查她的案件的军方调查人员后来披露了几个他们称为“怪异行为”的细节，包括她迷茫的眼神，还有一次，曼宁被发现在一间库房的地板上往旁边的椅子上刻下“我想”(I WANT)的字样。她回忆说，当时整个小组都“紧张不安”，经常爆发言语争论和争吵。他们的行动正接近尾声，“人们开始厌倦彼此，个人敌意开始爆发”。

Their deployment was coming to an end, “and that’s when people start getting sick of each other and the personal animosity breaks out.”
In April, Manning emailed an Army superior a photo of her as Brianna that she took in Washington while on leave. “Now I knew who I was,” Manning told me. “But the people I’m around the most didn’t.” She titled the email “My Problem.” The issue of her gender identity was “not going away,” she wrote. “Now, the consequences of it are dire.” (Manning said her captain confirmed receipt of the email but “swept it under the rug.”)	4月，曼宁用电子邮件向军队上级发送了一张休假时在华盛顿拍的照片，上面是她打扮成布里安娜的样子。“现在我知道自己是谁，”曼宁告诉我。她写道：“但是我身边的大多数人不知道，”她的电子邮件标题是“我的问题”。她的性别认同问题是“不会消失的”，她写道。“现在，它已经带来严重后果。”（曼宁说，她的队长确认收到了这封电子邮件，但“把它当丑事瞒下来了”。）
Manning told me that she had resolved, in May, to go public with her role as whistle-blower, even as she was wrestling with how to express her gender identity. She was never able to settle on an approach. At the end of May, she was summoned to a conference room, where two agents from the Army Criminal Investigation Division were waiting. Manning was terrified, but she tried not to show it: “I was focused inward at that time: who I am, what my values are,” she recalled. She retreated “inside [her] head.” Days later, she was shackled, flown to Camp Arfijan in Kuwait and locked in a large steel cage. Kneeling down, she read the engraved words on the bars: Made in Fort Wayne.	曼宁告诉我，在5月，她已经决心以告密者的身份面对公众，但她仍在努力解决如何表达自己的性别认同这个问题。她一直无法确定该怎么做。五月底，她被叫进一个会议室，两名来自陆军刑事调查处的特工在那里等着她。曼宁很害怕，但是她努力没把恐惧表现出来：“当时我把精力集中在内心深处：我是谁，我的价值观是什么，”她回忆。她撤退到了自己的“头脑之中”。几天后，她被铐起来，坐飞机前往科威特的阿瑞坎军营，被锁进一个大钢笼里。她跪倒在地，读到栏杆上刻着的字：韦恩堡制造。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170622/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part2	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170622/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part2
Former State Department Security Officer Accused of Spying for China	美国一名前政府官员被控为中国从事间谍活动
WASHINGTON — A former State Department diplomatic security officer and military contractor was charged with conducting espionage for China after F.B.I. agents found top-secret documents and apparently incriminating messages on a communications device he brought back	华盛顿——美国司法部(Justice Department)周四表示，联邦调查局(F.B.I.)特工在一名前国务院外交安全人员和军事承包商雇员从上海带回的一台通讯设备上发现了绝密文件和似乎表明其有罪的短信后，此人被控替中国从事间谍活动。

from Shanghai, the Justice Department said on Thursday.
The man, Kevin Patrick Mallory, 60, of Leesburg, Va., made his initial appearance in Federal District Court in Alexandria, the department said. He is also charged with lying to federal investigators.	司法部称，该男子是弗吉尼亚州利斯堡 60 岁的凯文·帕特里克·马洛里(Kevin Patrick Mallory)，并表示他的首次出庭是在亚历山德里亚的联邦地区法院。他还被控对联邦调查人员撒谎。
"The conduct alleged in this complaint is serious, and these charges should send a message to anyone who would consider violating the public's trust and compromising our national security by disclosing classified information," Dana J. Boente, the acting assistant attorney general for national security and United States attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia, said in a statement.	"涉案行为严重，这些指控应向所有考虑用泄露机密信息的方式，辜负公众信任和破坏国家安全的人传递一个讯息，"司法部负责国家安全事务的代理副部长、弗吉尼亚东区联邦检察官达纳·J·布恩特(Dana J. Boente)在一份声明中说。
Jeremy C. Kamens, a federal public defender identified on the docket as representing Mr. Mallory, did not respond to an email inquiry.	备审案件表上显示为马洛里代理人的联邦公设辩护律师格雷米·C·卡门斯(Jeremy C. Kamens)没有回复询问邮件。
Mr. Mallory left the government in 2012 and was working as a self-employed consultant when he was arrested, according to a complaint filed by an F.B.I. agent.	一名 FBI 特工提起的诉讼显示，马洛里 2012 年离开政府，被捕时是一名自由顾问。
In April, it said, Mr. Mallory was returning from a trip to Shanghai when a Customs and Border Protection search of his carry-on luggage revealed that he was bringing $16,500 in undeclared cash into the United States.	起诉书称马洛里 4 月从上海回国时，海关及边境保卫局 (Customs and Border Protection, 简称 CBP) 在搜查其随身携带的行李时发现他携带了 1.65 万美元 (约合 11 万元人民币) 的未申报现金入境。
In a subsequent F.B.I. interview, the complaint said, Mr. Mallory said he had met an unnamed person at the Shanghai Academy of Social Sciences, a think tank that the United States government believes acts as a cutout for the Chinese intelligence service. That person had hired him to write unclassified papers on an undisclosed topic, he said.	起诉书称，在随后接受 FBI 的审问时，马洛里说他在上海社会科学院见了一个人。上海社会科学院是一个智库，美国政府认为它是中国情报机构的一个幌子。马洛里说，对方雇佣他就一个未予以公开的话题撰写非机密文章。
But Mr. Mallory told the F.B.I. he believed that the person and his boss,	但起诉书说，马洛里对 FBI 说他认为那个人及其老板——他也见过——可能 whom Mr. Mallory also met, might be Chinese intelligence agents, the complaint said, and he showed the bureau a communications device the person had given him.	是中国的情报人员，并给 FBI 看了那人送给他的一台通讯设备。

A subsequent search of the device, the complaint said, recovered several classified documents and messages in which Mr. Mallory had discussed removing classification markings from documents he was transmitting.	起诉书称，随后对那台设备进行检查，发现了几份机密文件和多条短信。在短信中，马洛里讨论把他传输的文件中的密级标记去掉。
"Your object is to gain information, and my object is to be paid for," he is said to have written in a message sent on May 5.	据称，他在 5 月 5 日发出的一条短信中说，“你们的目标是获取信息，我的目标是获取报酬。”
The complaint did not identify the subject of the documents or which government agency they came from.	起诉书没有指出那些文件的主题和它们来自哪个政府机构。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170623/kevin-mallory-arrested-spying-china	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170623/kevin-mallory-arrested-spying-china
The Long, Lonely Road of Chelsea Manning	泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（三）：“我厌倦了伪装”
Read:	点击阅读：
Part 1.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（一）：幻灭之后的顿悟》
Part 2.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（二）：“我厌倦了伪装”》
Part 4.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（四）：变成女儿身》
Seven years later, it remains difficult to overstate the impact of the Afghan and Iraq war logs, or the later publication of the diplomatic cables. "The material touched on virtually every relationship the United States had around the world," Crowley, the former State Department official, says of the cables. Repercussions came swiftly: Carlos Pascual, the United States ambassador to Mexico, resigned over cables in which he cast doubt on the effectiveness of the Mexican war on drugs, a	七年之后，无论是阿富汗和伊拉克战争日志，还是后来公开的外交电文，所产生的影响都还是无法估量的。“这些材料几乎触及了美国在世界各地的所有外交关系，”国务院前官员克劳利谈及电文时说。其后果旋即浮出水面：美国驻墨西哥大使卡洛斯·帕斯夸尔(Carlos Pascual)因为在电文中对墨西哥禁毒战的效果表示怀疑而辞职——相关电文的公布破坏了帕斯夸尔和墨西哥时任总统之间的关系。驻利比亚大使金尼·克雷兹(Gene Cretz)被召回，因为他在电文中详细描绘了穆阿迈尔·卡扎菲(Muammar el-Qaddafi)政权怪异的

revelation that poisoned Pascual's relationship with the Mexican president. Ambassador Gene Cretz was recalled from Libya after his cables detailed the peculiar workings of the regime of Col. Muammar el-Qaddafi, including a squad of female Ukrainian bodyguards. The release of cables regarding the Tunisian strongman Zine el-Abidine Ben Ali are often credited with helping to inspire the uprising in that country.	行事方式，其中包括雇佣一群乌克兰女保镖。人们还常常认为，与突尼斯强人领袖宰因·阿比丁·本·阿里(Zine el-Abidine Ben Ali)有关的电文被公布，在激发该国民众起义方面发挥了作用。
The Afghan and Iraq documents brought home, in exactly the way that Manning had hoped, the messiness of the two conflicts. The Guardian wrote in an introduction that the release of the material from Afghanistan revealed a war in stark contrast with the "tidied up and sanitized 'public' war, as glimpsed through official communiqués as well as the necessarily limited snapshots of embedded reporting."	与曼宁期待的情形一致，关于阿富汗和伊拉克战争的文件，向世人明明白白地展现了这两场冲突的齷齪之处。《卫报》(Guardian)在一篇介绍性文字中表示，来自阿富汗的文件所揭露的战争，截然不同于“经过倒饬和美化的‘公共’战争”，不同于人们从官方公报和必然受限的简略的嵌入式新闻报道中瞥见的那种。
American officials, caught off guard by the leaks, were furious. Elizabeth Dibble, a State Department official, later testified that the release of the cables prompted "horror and disbelief that our diplomatic communications had been released and were available on public websites for the world to see."	猝不及防的文件外泄令美国官员极为愤怒。国务院官员伊莉莎白·迪布尔(Elizabeth Dibble)后来作证说，电文的发布令人“震惊和难以置信，我们的外交往来就这样被公之于众，全世界的人都可以在公共网站上看到”。
The issue of whether American interests had been adversely affected by the release of the cables remains a charged one. In the full text of the Afghan war logs that appeared on the WikiLeaks site, Julian Assange made only partial redactions, leaving intact the names of some of the Afghans who had collaborated with coalition forces. (He showed what CNN later described as a "much heavier hand in redacting" names from the Iraq war logs.) In 2010, Representative Mike Rogers, a Michigan	电文的发布是否损害了美国的利益，目前仍是一个充满争议的话题。维基解密网站发布完整的阿富汗战争日志时，朱利安·阿桑奇只是涂黑了部分内容，对一些与联军串通的阿富汗人的名字未作处理。(不过，如CNN后来所言，对于伊拉克战争日志里的名字，他“涂黑时下手要重很多”。)2010年，密歇根州共和党众议员麦克·罗杰斯(Mike Rogers)表示，“可以肯定的是，一些人有可能因为这些信息遭到泄露而被杀害。”但美联社(The Associated Press)和麦克拉奇报业(McClatchy)进行的后续核查显示，这种风险被“夸大”了，而

Republican, said that “we know for a fact that people will likely be killed because of this information being disclosed.” Subsequent reviews by The Associated Press and McClatchy found this risk to be “overstated,” and at Manning’s sentencing, government witnesses testified that no American deaths could be attributed to the leaks. Still, Crowley said, a lack of evidence of fatalities was not the same thing as a lack of damage: “She burned a number of intelligence sources,” he said. “She placed Afghans in danger who were telling us what the Taliban was doing in their villages.”	且在曼宁接受审判时，来自政府部门的证人作证说，没有任何美国人的死亡可以被归因为她的泄密之举。不过，克劳利说，缺乏与致人死亡有关的证据并不等于没有造成伤害：“她毁掉了许多情报源，”他说。“那些向我们告发塔利班在其村中所作所为的阿富汗人，因为她而置身险境。”
In her cage in Kuwait, Manning registered none of the fallout. “I was completely isolated,” she said. At a certain point, she concluded, “I’ve been forgotten about, and I’ve just disappeared.” She figured that Lamo had turned her in, but she wasn’t sure if word of her involvement in the leaks had been made public. It was the start of the hot season in Kuwait, and dust swirled in from outside, lodging in her teeth. Her only human contact was with the guards who brought her meals. “I had told the detention center when I got there that I was trans,” Manning told me. “‘I’m a woman,’ I said matter-of-factly. They laughed.” In utter isolation, Manning found herself consumed with rage and sadness. Officials observed what Manning’s attorney called an episode of “yelling uncontrollably, screaming, shaking, babbling, banging your head against your cell and mumbling.”	在科威特的那个钢笼里，曼宁对事情的余波一无所知。“我完全与世隔绝。”她说。在某种程度上，她下结论说，“我已经被遗忘，我根本就是消失了。”她估摸自己被拉莫出卖了，但不确定有关她参与泄密事件的消息是否已被公开。当时的科威特刚刚进入暑季，从外边刮进来的尘土粘在她的牙齿上。她唯一能接触到的人是给她送饭的警卫。“我一到拘押中心就告诉他们，我是跨性别者，”曼宁告诉我。“我是女人，’我坦言相告。他们笑了起来。”在完全的孤立中，曼宁发现自己正被愤怒和悲伤吞噬。官员们注意到了曼宁的律师所说的她“不受控制地呼喊、尖叫、颤抖、含糊叫嚷、用头撞向牢笼、喃喃自语”的情景。
Manning told me: “I was afraid I was going to be in that little cell or something like that little cell for the rest of my life. And that bad things were going to happen to me.” After a week, she fashioned a noose from	曼宁对我说：“我担心自己后半生都会在那个小小牢房里或类似的小牢房里度过。我觉得会有糟糕的事情发生在我身上。”一周后，她用铺盖做了一个套索，进行了一次她称为“半心半意的”自杀尝试。“我差不多知道，我死不了。”

bedclothes and made what she told me was a “halfhearted attempt” at suicide. “I kind of knew it wasn’t going to work.” It got the staff’s attention, and according to a medical evaluation later obtained by Manning’s legal team, a military doctor would diagnose anxiety, depression and “probable gender identity disorder.” She was given an antidepressant, which made her nose bleed and caused serious nausea. She couldn’t eat. Her skin eventually turned sallow. In late July, four days after the Afghan logs appeared in The Guardian and other papers, Manning was shackled and loaded onto a chartered military flight. She said that previously, guards had told her she would be “whisked away to a Navy cruiser” for months; now her escorts said she was going to Guantánamo. Halfway through the flight, the story changed a final time: She was going to the brig at the Marine base at Quantico, in Virginia.	它引起了看管人员的注意，根据曼宁的法律团队后来获得的医疗评估，一名军医诊断她患有焦虑症、抑郁症，“很可能还有性别身分障碍”。医生给她开了抗抑郁药，导致她鼻腔出血，严重恶心。她吃不下饭。她的皮肤最终变成了蜡黄色。7月底，阿富汗日志在《卫报》等报纸上公布四天后，曼宁被戴上镣铐，送上一架军用包机。她说，之前看守对她说，她将被“送到一艘海军巡洋舰上”关几个月。现在，押送者又说要把她送往关塔那摩。在飞行途中，情况最后一次发生变化：她将被送往弗吉尼亚匡蒂科海军基地的禁闭室。
It was there, on arrival, that she learned the world knew who she was. “So you’re Manning!” a heavysset Marine said with unnerving enthusiasm. Manning was all over Fox News, he added. In transferring Manning to Quantico, the government said it was providing Manning with facilities better suited to her fractured mental state. But a 2011 military investigation, undertaken in part as a response to Manning’s treatment, would reveal the opposite: At Quantico, Manning spent 23 hours a day in a 6-by-8-foot cell, for nearly nine months, much of it on Prevention of Injury, or P.O.I., status, in conditions that a United Nations special rapporteur later said could qualify as torture. While on P.O.I. watch, Manning wore what’s known as a “suicide smock,” a white nylon	到达之后，她才得知，全世界都已经知道她是谁。“所以，你就是曼宁！”一名魁梧的海军陆战队员带着令人不安的热情说。他还说，福克斯新闻天天都在说曼宁的事。在把曼宁转往匡蒂科时，政府声称会给她提供更适合她脆弱精神状况的设施。不过，2011年，部分作为对曼宁遭遇的回应而进行的一项军事调查表明，情况正相反：在匡蒂科，曼宁每天有23个小时待在6乘8英尺大的牢房里，关了近9个月，大部分时间是处于预防伤害（Prevention of Injury，简称POI）状态。联合国特别调查员后来称她的生活条件可以被称为折磨。在预防伤害期间，曼宁穿着所谓的“防自杀罩衣”，它是一种白色尼龙服装，几乎不可能扭动或撕成套索。她没有枕头，也没有床单。白天，她被要求定期口头确认自己没有（调查结束后，军方下令关闭匡蒂科的整个审判前监禁区）。

garment that is all but impossible to twist or rip into a noose. She had no pillow, no sheets. She was required to give regular verbal confirmation during the day that she was O.K. (After the investigation, the military ordered that Quantico's whole pretrial confinement area be shut down.)
When I asked Manning this spring to describe those conditions, she answered in the present tense. "Emotions can be more intense," she said. "There isn't any release for them. A mean comment by a guard" — commonly a gibe about her gender — "can set you off. Completely off. I know I have stood in a cell at times, locked down with nowhere to go, pacing with anger and frustration. It just stews inside of you, and you're helpless," she went on. "I just start yelling, at no one in particular, or singing at the top of my lungs."	今年春天，我让曼宁描述当时的生活情况时，她用现在时态给予回答。“情绪更激烈，”她说，“没有任何释放的出口。看守一句刻薄的话”——通常是对她性别的嘲弄——“会把你逼疯。彻底逼疯。有时我知道自己困在牢里，无处可去，因愤怒和沮丧而不安地踱步。内心很煎熬，特别无助，”她接着说道。“我开始喊叫，不是冲着某个人喊，或者声嘶力竭地唱歌。”
But Manning could occasionally receive outside visitors, and her aunt came to the brig. "Even though it was behind a Plexiglas window and we couldn't talk without recording equipment around," Manning told me, "it was one of the most powerful meetings I'd ever had." They whispered to each other. "We love you," her aunt told her. "We miss you." They made plans to hire an independent attorney, eventually selecting David Coombs, a forceful lawyer in his early 40s who had served more than a decade in the Army's Judge Advocate General's Corps.	不过，曼宁偶尔可以会见外面的来访者，她的姑妈来到看守所。“虽然我们中间隔着树脂玻璃，周围都是录音设备，”曼宁对我说，“但对我来说，那是最有力的会面之一。”她们小声交谈。“我们爱你，”姑妈对她说，“我们想念你。”她们打算请一名独立律师，最终选择了戴维·库姆斯(David Coombs)，他是一名四十出头、作风强硬的律师，曾在军法署(Army's Judge Advocate General's Corps)供职十多年。
Word of Manning's treatment in Kuwait and Quantico had begun to filter out, reaching legal eminences like Laurence Tribe and Kwame Anthony Appiah, who signed an open letter criticizing what they	曼宁在科威特和匡蒂科的遭遇开始传出，传到了劳伦斯·特赖布(Laurence Tribe)和克瓦米·安东尼·阿皮亚(Kwame Anthony Appiah)等法律界名人那里，他们签署了一封公开信，批评他们所称的“非法和不道德的拘留条件”。

described as “conditions that are illegal and immoral.” In the spring of 2011, the government transferred Manning again, this time to the Midwest Joint Regional Correctional Facility at Fort Leavenworth. In Kansas, she was released into general population; it was, Manning recalled, “an utter shock to the system, because I had been in shackles everywhere I went or in a small room or a cage.”	2011 年春，政府再次将曼宁转走，这一次是送往莱文沃思堡的中西部联合管教所(Midwest Joint Regional Correctional Facility)。在堪萨斯州，她被和其他人关押在一起。曼宁回忆说，这“彻底动摇了整个系统，因为之前不管去哪里，我都戴着镣铐，或者被关在小房间或牢笼里”。
At the facility, inmates weren’t required to work, so she spent her time in the library, helping Coombs and his assistants prepare her case. She faced a staggering number of violations, 22 in all, from circumventing security mechanisms to aiding the enemy, an offense that carried with it the possibility of life in prison. For two months that spring, with Manning moved to a civilian prison outside Fort Meade, in Maryland, Coombs sparred with government lawyers, highlighting what he termed the general “lawlessness” of Manning’s unit and the poor security protocols in place in her SCIF. He eventually argued that Manning’s gender dysphoria – and the inability of the Army to provide treatment – might have affected Manning’s mental capacity and judgment. A few days later, the judge found Manning guilty on all but two counts. Manning was spared a conviction for aiding the enemy and avoided a life sentence. Manning told me that she was relieved, and not only for the obvious reasons: She worried that an aiding-the-enemy charge would set a frightening precedent for the prosecution of whistle-blowers. “I still worry about how that charge can be misused,” Manning said.	在这个地方，囚犯不需要工作，所以她待在图书馆里，帮助库姆斯和助手们准备她的案件。她面对数量惊人的 22 项违规行为指控，从规避安全机制到通敌，后者有可能令她被判终身监禁。春天的两个月里，曼宁被转移到马里兰州米德尔堡之外的一座平民监狱，库姆斯与政府律师们争吵，强调了曼宁所在部队单位存在他所说的普遍的“目无法纪”状态，以及她的 SCIF 中的安全规章很糟糕。最后，他辩称，曼宁的性别焦虑——以及军队无法提供治疗——可能会影响到曼宁的智力和判断力。几天后，法官判决曼宁几乎犯有全部罪行，只有两项除外。她被免除了通敌罪行，避免了终身监禁。曼宁告诉我，这个判决令她如释重负，不仅仅是因为那些明显的原因：她还担心通敌指控将为起诉泄密者定下一个可怕的先例。“我现在仍然担心这种指控遭到滥用，”曼宁说。
She herself had resolved not to make her own gender identity public	她自己决定不在法庭上公开自己的性别认同，担心这会使已经很繁琐的审判

during the court-martial, worried that it would complicate an already unwieldy trial. But listening to the testimony of Lauren McNamara, a transgender friend who testified at the sentencing hearing, she found she had reached a breaking point. "I was tired of pretending," she told me. She wrote a statement identifying herself as Chelsea, a name she used as a child for her handle on the Sims video game. On Aug. 22, David Coombs appeared on NBC's "Today" show. The co-host Savannah Guthrie read from the statement: "As I transition into the next phase of my life, I want everyone to know the real me. I am Chelsea Manning. I am female." Manning didn't see the segment or the reaction to it. She was on a plane, on her way to the United States Disciplinary Barracks at Fort Leavenworth.	变得更加复杂化。但是，听到在判决听证会上作证的跨性别朋友劳伦·麦克纳马拉(Lauren McNamara)的证词，她发现自己已经到了崩溃的极限。“我厌倦了伪装，”她告诉我。她写了一个声明，将自己称为切尔西，这个名字是她小时候玩 Sims 游戏时用的。8月22日，戴维·库姆斯出现在NBC的《今日》(Today)节目上。主持人之一萨万娜·格思里(Savannah Guthrie)读了她的声明：“当我转变到人生下一个阶段的时候，我希望大家认识真正的我。我是切尔西·曼宁。我是女性。”曼宁没有看到这段节目以及人们对它的反应。她当时正在前往美国莱文沃思堡军事监狱的飞机上。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170623/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part3	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170623/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part3
Trump Says He Did Not Tape Comey Conversations	特朗普承认没有与科米谈话的录音
WASHINGTON — President Trump acknowledged Thursday that he had not recorded his conversations with James B. Comey, the F.B.I. director he fired amid the Justice Department's investigation into the Trump campaign's possible ties to Russia.	华盛顿——特朗普总统周四承认，自己并没有录下与被解雇的联邦调查局局长詹姆斯·B·科米(James B. Comey)的谈话。科米是在司法部调查特朗普的竞选团队可能与俄罗斯有往来期间被解雇的。
"With all of the recently reported electronic surveillance, intercepts, unmasking, and illegal leaking of information," Mr. Trump said in a pair of tweets shortly before 1 p.m., "I have no idea whether there are 'tapes' of my conversations with James Comey, but I did not make, and do not have, such recordings."	"最近出现了很多有关电子监视、窃听、揭露真相和非法泄露信息的报道，"特朗普在快到下午1点时发布的两条推文中说，"我不知道.....有没有我和詹姆斯·科米交谈的'录音'，但我过去没有录过，现在也没有这些录音。"
Mr. Trump's statement brings to an end speculation that began shortly	特朗普的此番表述让外界的猜测尘埃落定。在有关特朗普与科米的交谈的报

after accounts emerged about the president's exchanges with Mr. Comey — speculation the president himself began with a post on Twitter that warned the former F.B.I. director that there might have been tapes of their conversations.	道出现不久后，特朗普自己在 Twitter 上发帖警告前 FBI 局长说，也许存在两人交谈的录音，随即引发猜测。
Mr. Trump appeared at the time to be referring to an article in The New York Times reporting that he had asked Mr. Comey to pledge loyalty during a dinner at the White House shortly after the inauguration, only to be rebuffed by the F.B.I. director, who considered the request inappropriate.	特朗普当时指的似乎是《纽约时报》上的一篇文章。文章称，就职后不久，特朗普在白宫的一场晚宴期间让科米承诺保证效忠于他，却遭到这位 FBI 局长的断然拒绝。后者认为这个要求有失恰当。
The president's Twitter messages on Thursday left open the possibility that the conversations may have been taped without his knowledge. But they largely confirmed the suspicions of outsiders that Mr. Trump had been leveling a baseless threat at Mr. Comey on May 12, when he wrote, "James Comey better hope that there are no 'tapes' of our conversations before he starts leaking to the press!"	特朗普周四的推文保留了谈话也许在他不知情的情况下被录音了的可能性。但它们基本证实了外部人士的怀疑，即特朗普 5 月 12 日写下“詹姆斯·科米在开始向媒体泄露信息之前，最好希望没有我们交谈的‘录音’时，是在毫无根据地进行威胁。
Some legal experts have said that Mr. Trump's threat could be used in an obstruction of justice case against him, since it could be interpreted as putting pressure on Mr. Comey not to discuss their conversations about the F.B.I.'s Russia investigation.	一些法律专家说，可以用特朗普的威胁来起诉他妨碍司法，因为可以把它解读成是在向科米施压，让他不要讨论他们就 FBI 通俄调查的交谈。
This month, Mr. Comey testified in detail about those conversations, saying the president had appealed to him on multiple occasions not to pursue an investigation of his former national security adviser, Michael T. Flynn, and his alleged links to Russian officials.	本月，科米在作证时详细介绍了那些交谈，称总统在多个场合请他不要调查前国家安全顾问迈克尔·T·弗林(Michael T. Flynn)和弗林被指与俄罗斯官员联系一事。
Asked during the Senate hearing whether he worried about the existence of tapes, Mr. Comey replied, "Lordy, I hope there are tapes."	在参议院的听证会上被问及是否担心存在录音时，科米回答说，“老天爷啊，我倒是希望有录音。”

Mr. Trump's announcement, however expected, distracted from the released on Thursday of the Republican health care legislation in the Senate.	无论多么受期待, 特朗普的声明转移了外界对参议院周四公布共和党医疗保健立法的关注。
"The president's statement via Twitter is extremely clear," said the deputy press secretary, Sarah Huckabee Sanders. "I don't have anything to add to the statement."	"总统通过 Twitter 发表的声明非常清楚, "副发言人萨拉·赫卡比·桑德斯 (Sarah Huckabee Sanders)说。"我没有任何要补充的。"
Ms. Sanders said that Mr. Trump had promised to deliver an answer on the existence of the tapes by the end of the week, and that he had delivered on that promise. She also said she did not believe his intention in his original Twitter post about tapes had been to intimidate Mr. Comey.	桑德斯说, 特朗普承诺会在本周结束前给出是否存在录音的答案, 他兑现了承诺。她还说, 她并不认为总统最初发那条有关录音的推文是为了威胁科米。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170623/trump-comey-tapes	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170623/trump-comey-tapes
The Long, Lonely Road of Chelsea Manning	泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅 (四): 变成女儿身
Read:	点击阅读:
Part 1.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅 (一): 幻灭之后的顿悟》
Part 2.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅 (二): "我厌倦了伪装"》
Part 3.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅 (三): "我厌倦了伪装"》
The U.S.D.B. lies at the far northern end of Fort Leavenworth, not far from the headquarters of the 40th Military Police Internment and Resettlement Battalion. The maximum-security complex, with its 515 beds, is reserved for the military prisoners serving the longest sentences, housing offenders like Robert Bales, the Army staff sergeant convicted in 2013 of slaughtering 16 Afghan civilians. For almost the entirety of her time there, Manning lived on the second floor. Her cell was narrow and small; there was a cot, a toilet, a mirror and a sink. The	美国军事监狱(USDB)位于莱文沃思堡北端, 离第40军警拘押和安置营(40th Military Police Internment and Resettlement Battalion)总部不远。这个最高安全级别的监狱有515张床, 用于安置服刑时间最长的军事囚犯, 在这里服刑的人包括2013年被控屠杀16名阿富汗平民的罗伯特·贝尔斯上士(Robert Bales)。曼宁在那里服刑期间, 几乎一直住在二层。她的牢房十分狭小, 只有一张简易床、一个马桶、一面镜子和一个水槽。唯一的一扇窗户朝北, 能让她看到周围的风景。在与世隔绝的监狱里, 天气就成了戏剧: 白雪堆积在铁丝网上。叉状闪电划过天空, 吓得鹿和兔子慌乱地寻找遮蔽物。

one window faced north, affording her a view of the surrounding landscape. In the vacuum of prison, the weather became theater: The snow that piled up against the cyclone fencing. The forked lightning that spidered the sky, sending deer and rabbits skittering for cover.
At Manning’s court-martial, Coombs had introduced as evidence the photo his client emailed to a superior in 2010. The image was later distributed to the news media, and by the fall of 2013, it had appeared alongside hundreds of articles on Manning’s transition. To Manning, the idea that it should come to define her was painful. “It was just so far from her experience at Leavenworth,” Evan Greer, a trans activist and friend, told me. “And I think some people saw that image, that luscious wig, and figured she was given that kind of freedom behind bars.”	在曼宁的军事法庭审讯期间，库姆斯将 2010 年他的客户通过电子邮件发给一位上司的照片作为呈堂证供。那张照片后来发给了新闻媒体，并在 2013 年秋随附成百上千篇关于曼宁跨性别转渡的文章一起刊登了出来。那张照片成为曼宁的形象代表，这对她来说是很痛苦的。“那跟她在莱文沃思堡的经历有天壤之别，”跨性别活动人士、曼宁的朋友埃文·格里尔(Evan Greer)对我说。“我认为，有些人看到了那张照片，那个绚丽的假发，以为她在狱中那么自由。”
In reality, every aspect of Manning’s appearance was being governed by Army rules, from her briefs to her hair, which she was required to wear, per Section 670-1 of Army regulations, in a “neat and conservative style.” Manning was in a position that can be difficult for non-trans people to understand: She had come out as female but was still being addressed and treated as if she were male — often pointedly, by the Leavenworth staff. Vincent Ward, one of Manning’s attorneys, recalls observing the way the prison guards treated his client. Ward, a former military lawyer, said he knew “who these people were. I knew the personality types. From the minute that you walked in, you could sense the bullying, the smirks, the comments.” It is a kind of isolation that can induce drastic action: Clinical psychologists who work with trans prisoners have documented high levels of suicide and depression in	但实际上，曼宁在外表上处处受到军规的约束，从内裤到发型——按照军规第 670 款第 1 条的规定，她的发型必须保持“整洁、保守的风格”。非跨性别人士很难理解曼宁当时的处境：她已经公开宣布自己是女性，但依然被按照男性称呼和对待——尤其是莱文沃思堡的工作人员。曼宁的一位律师文森特·沃德(Vincent Ward)回忆称，自己观察过那些监狱看守对待自己客户的方式。沃德曾是一名军方律师。他说，他知道“那些人是什么样的。我知道那种性格类型。从你走进监狱的那一刻起，你就能感受到霸凌、嘲笑和非议”。那种隔绝可能引发激烈的行为：研究过跨性别囚犯的临床心理学家发现，在不给予适当药物治疗的情况下，囚犯发生自杀和出现抑郁症的几率很高。在最糟糕的情况下，有些囚犯试图自己动手改变生殖器。

inmates not given appropriate medical treatment. In worst-case scenarios, prisoners have tried to alter their own genitalia by hand.
To friends and the members of her legal team, Manning spoke regularly, and with despair, of feeling “poisoned” by the testosterone in her body and of a ghostlike invisibility: If people couldn’t see her as she actually was, what use was living? On entering the U.S.D.B. in 2013, Manning requested access to the regimen of estrogen and anti-androgen drugs prescribed to people undergoing a male-to-female transition. She was refused: The Army did not yet sanction hormone therapy for soldiers, let alone for prisoners. Manning’s treatment would be limited to antidepressants and counseling sessions with a psychotherapist. “Permitting Mr. Manning to live as female, much less begin to feminize his body, will create operational challenges as the inmate population respond to these changes,” prison administrators wrote in an internal memo later obtained by the A.C.L.U.	曼宁经常向朋友和法律团队的成员绝望地谈到，她感觉自己被身体里的睾酮和一种幽灵般的不可见性“毒害”：如果人们看不见她的真实样子，那么活着还有什么意义呢？从2013年一转到美国军事监狱起，曼宁就要求服用从男性变为女性所需的雌激素和抗雄激素药物。她被拒绝了：军方还没有批准对士兵进行激素治疗，更别提对犯人了。对曼宁的治疗仅限于抗抑郁药物和心理治疗师的咨询。“允许曼宁作为女性生活——更别提开始让他的身体女性化——将带来操作上的困难，因为囚犯会对这些变化作出反应，”在美国公民自由联盟(American Civil Liberties Union)后来获得的内部备忘录中，监狱管理人员写道。
The prison was unbending in its stance for nearly a year. Meanwhile, one of Manning’s lawyers — Chase Strangio, who himself is trans — grew increasingly worried that his client might try to hurt herself again; eventually, he filed a lawsuit against the Department of Defense. The suit cited a clinical evaluation from the psychologist Randi Ettner and said Manning was “experiencing significant distress and is at high risk for serious medical consequences, including self-castration and suicide.” In the summer of 2014, the Army agreed to send women’s underwear to Manning’s cell — a first for any branch of the military. (A civilian judge in Leavenworth County had granted Manning’s request to	有将近一年的时间，这所监狱没有改变自己的立场。与此同时，曼宁的一名同为变性者的律师沙斯·斯特兰吉奥(Chase Strangio)越来越担心，他的客户可能会再次尝试伤害自己。最后，他向国防部提起了诉讼，其中提到了心理学家兰迪·埃特内(Randi Ettner)的临床评估，称曼宁“正经受巨大的心理痛苦，极有可能导致严重的医疗后果，包括自宫和自杀”。2014年夏天，军方同意给曼宁的牢房派送女用内衣，这在全军任何一个部门都是前所未有的（莱文沃斯县的民法法官批准曼宁将自己出生证上的名字改为切尔西·伊丽莎白·曼宁）。2015年初，曼宁开始进行激素治疗，药物在食堂附近的医务室以药片形式发放。

change the name on her birth certificate to Chelsea Elizabeth Manning.) Hormone therapy followed in early 2015, with the drugs distributed in pill form from a medical dispensary near the cafeteria.
To Manning, the early stages of hormone therapy were deeply fulfilling: her skin softened, her body hair thinned. But with the welcome physical changes came unnerving intellectual ones. "I'd built all these defenses and walls around my emotions over the years, since being a teenager," Manning told me. "When my testosterone levels plummeted, I suddenly became more vulnerable emotionally. I could no longer just hide my emotions: I had to deal with them, usually right there and then." And the emotions often came faster than Manning could process: "Good ones, like confidence, and a sense of connection with my friends, mixed in with a lot of bad ones, like doubt, loneliness, uncertainty and loss." For support, Manning spoke regularly to others in the trans community: Strangio and Annie Danger, a trans artist and activist. Danger listened as Manning experimented with her voice, "putting it in different pitches in an effort to find out what felt right," Danger told me. "I tried to talk her through that searching process, that evolutionary process, which can be so important. You're literally finding your voice."	对曼宁而言，激素疗法在初期极其有效：她的皮肤变软，体毛也变细了。但随着这种可喜的身体变化而来的，是让人不安的理智变化。“自青少年时期以来，这么多年里我建起了种种抵御情绪的围墙，”曼宁对我讲道。“当睾酮水平骤降时，我的情绪突然变得更加脆弱。我根本无法再掩饰自己的情绪：必须解决它们，而且通常要在当时当地。”这些情绪上来的速度超出了曼宁能掌控的范围：“好的情绪——比如信心和一种与朋友相连的感觉——混杂在许多坏情绪中，比如怀疑、孤独、不确定和迷茫。”为了获得支持，曼宁经常与跨性别者群体里的其他人谈心：斯特兰吉奥和跨性别艺术家、活动人士安妮·丹吉尔(Annie Danger)。丹吉尔见证了曼宁摸索自己的女声的过程，“把它放在不同的音高，试图找到自己感觉舒服的位置，”丹吉尔告诉我。“我努力跟她讲清楚那个摸索、进化的过程，这个过程十分重要。这真的是在寻找自己的声音。”
At the U.S.D.B., Manning's days took on a mundane, lulling rhythm. Most mornings, she woke up at 4:30 a.m. and, shrugging off the green sheets, dressed in the light of the bare bulb that hung above her bed: the white sports bra; the oversize prison uniform that hung, scarecrow-like, off her thin frame; the Army-issue boots. "O.K.," she would say, examining herself in the mirror. "You can do this." After a quick breakfast in the	在莱文沃思堡军事监狱，曼宁过着单调而平静的生活。大多数早上，她都在4点半醒来，离开绿色的床铺，就着挂在床上方的裸灯泡的灯光穿上衣服：白色运动内衣；过大的囚服——在她瘦小的骨架上晃动，犹如稻草人；以及军队发的靴子。“好的，”她一边在镜子前检查自己的衣着一边说。“你能做到。”在餐厅快速用完早餐，然后去监狱的木头工厂，和一群囚犯从零开始制作用来在军营杂货店出售的家具。在另一位狱友的邀请下，她加入了每周一次的

cafeteria, it was down to the prison wood shop, where she and a crew of inmates built, from scratch, the furniture sold at the base commissary. On the invitation of another prisoner, she joined a weekly Dungeons & Dragons game, playing as Esvele Dundragon, a female noble.	“龙与地下城”游戏，在其中扮演女贵族埃斯韦莱·邓恩德拉贡(Esvele Dundragon)。
Manning told me that even as she transitioned, she never felt physically threatened by the other prisoners, as she did the staff. “Of all the people in my entire experience” in government custody, she said, the ones “who have been consistently good to me were the other inmates – like, I’m not saying they were excited or happy or approved of me or anything.” Manning says she counted a handful of inmates among her close friends, among them Clint Lorange, an Army platoon leader convicted of second-degree murder for ordering his men to open fire on three unarmed Afghan civilians. “Remember that all these folks were active military before they were incarcerated,” David Hammond, a lawyer assigned to Manning by the Army’s Defense Appellate Division, said in describing the dynamic to me. “The discipline carries over.”	曼宁告诉我，即便在转渡后，其他囚犯也没有像看守那样对她进行肢体威胁。她说，在我于政府关押期间“遇到的所有人里”，那些“一直对我很好的人是其他囚犯——我不是说他们有多兴奋、高兴或赞同我什么的。”曼宁表示，少数几名狱友成为她的好朋友，其中包括克林特·劳伦斯(Clint Lorange)，他是一名陆军排长，因命令自己的士兵朝三名手无寸铁的阿富汗平民开火而被判二级谋杀。“要知道，在被关起来之前，这些人都是现役军人，”被军队的辩护上诉部指派为曼宁辩护的律师戴维·哈蒙德(David Hammond)在向我描述这种机制时说。“那种纪律性会保持下去。”
In April 2014, the Army denied Manning’s clemency application, choosing to uphold, in full, her 35-year sentence. There remained the distant possibility of a presidential pardon or commutation, but Manning had no reason to expect one: The White House had condemned the leaks, as had the secretary of state, Hillary Clinton. The best option, Manning knew, lay in the formal appeal. But Manning’s fight with the prison authorities was grinding into its third year, and she was tired. Her hair was still being cut to male standards. The guards	2014年4月，部队拒绝了曼宁请求宽大处理的申请，选择支持给她判整整35年刑期。虽然还有总统赦免或减刑的渺茫希望，但曼宁没有理由期待这个：白宫已经对泄密行为进行了谴责，国务卿希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)也是如此。曼宁知道，对她来说，最好的选择就是正式上诉。但曼宁与监狱当局的斗争已经进入了第三年，她感觉累了。她的头发还是剪成标准的男性长度。警卫们毫不留情。“如果你试图让他们在性别上更中立一些，他们就会特别强调性别，”曼宁说。她提出的进行变性手术的请求，也遭到了沉默的对待（据曼宁的律师透露，军队在去年9月批准了这项手术，但没有确定

were relentless. "If you were trying to get them to be more gender neutral, they would make a point of being very gender specific," Manning said. And a request for gender reassignment surgery had been met with silence. (According to Manning's lawyers, the Army approved the surgery last September, but set no timeline for its completion.) The U.S.D.B., in her mind, was "creating, often deliberately and knowingly, situations that cause high levels of stress on any given number of people. This breaks people down. Good people break down."	完成手术的时间表)。在曼宁看来, 莱文沃思堡军事监狱“给一些人制造了一种会导致高压水平的环境, 而且往往是有意为之。这会让人垮掉。好人会垮掉。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170626/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part4	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170626/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part4
Trump Meets India's Leader, a Fellow Nationalist Battling China for His Favor	对习近平失望, 特朗普要跟印度做朋友
WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump and Prime Minister Narendra Modi of India, two nationalist leaders with a shared passion for social media, met Monday as India sought to vie with China for Trump's favor in the region.	华盛顿——在印度寻求同中国争夺唐纳德·特朗普总统在该地区的垂青之际, 特朗普和印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)这两位酷爱社交媒体的民族主义领导人在周一举行会面。
Trump lavished praise on Modi, calling him a "true friend" with ambitious plans to fight corruption and cut taxes. The two men also share a devotion to Twitter and Facebook to bypass the media and reach their publics directly.	特朗普盛赞莫迪, 称他是一个“真正的朋友”, 有着宏伟的反腐和减税计划。两人都喜欢越过媒体, 用 Twitter 和 Facebook 直接和公众联系。
The display of warmth, a senior White House official said, was at least partly aimed at President Xi Jinping of China, who has disappointed Trump in recent weeks by failing to impose more pressure on neighboring North Korea to curb its nuclear and ballistic missile programs.	一名白宫高级官员称, 现场表现出的友善至少在一定程度上是针对中国国家主席习近平的。最近几周, 习近平未能向邻国朝鲜加压, 要求对方控制其弹道导弹和核计划。这令特朗普感到失望。

Pointedly, Trump noted that India had helped the United States enforce sanctions on North Korea. "The North Korean regime is causing tremendous problems," he said, "and it's something that has to be dealt with — and probably dealt with rapidly."	特朗普刻意指出，印度帮助美国实施对朝鲜的制裁。“朝鲜政权正在制造大麻烦，”他说，“必须解决，而且可能是必须迅速解决这件事。”
Modi returned the favor, praising Trump's "vast and successful" business experience, which he predicted would galvanize relations between the United States and India. He also invited Trump's daughter Ivanka to a conference of entrepreneurs in India.	莫迪投桃报李，称赞特朗普“丰富且成功”的商业经验。他预言，特朗普的商业经验会加强美国与印度之间的关系。他还邀请特朗普之女伊万卡(Ivanka)参加印度的一个企业家会议。
Yet the mutual admiration masked a more complicated dynamic between India and the United States. While ties between the two have grown steadily closer over the last two decades, India faces new uncertainties with Donald Trump, who has shown less interest than his predecessors in maintaining a web of trade and security alliances in Asia.	但相互赞赏掩盖了印度和美国之间更为复杂的动态。尽管过去 20 年里，两国关系变得更加密切，但唐纳德·特朗普上台后，印度面临新的不确定性。特朗普对于在亚洲维持一个贸易和安全联盟网络表现出的兴趣，不及他的前任。
India, like other countries in the region, has watched Trump's cultivation of Xi with concern. His trade and immigration policies, particularly limits on visas commonly used by technology workers from India, have added to the jitters, as did his decision to pull out of the Paris climate accord.	和该地区的其他国家一样，印度对特朗普结交习近平感到担忧。就像特朗普退出巴黎气候协定的决定一样，他的贸易和移民政策，尤其是对来自印度的科技行业从业人员通常使用的签证的限制，加剧了这种不安。
"India would like to continue to deepen its friendship, but Trump can only be an object of concern, even if he tweets lovely compliments after dinner," said Ashutosh Varshney, director of the Center for Contemporary South Asia at Brown University. "India might get a good deal, or not a bad deal, or a bad deal, or no deal. Who can say?"	“印度想继续深化友谊，但特朗普可能只是一个担忧的对象，虽然晚宴结束后他在 Twitter 上发表了动听的赞美之词，”布朗大学当代南亚中心(Center for Contemporary South Asia at Brown University)主任阿舒托什·瓦什尼(Ashutosh Varshney)说。“印度也许会拿到一笔好交易或一笔不坏的交易，或者一笔糟糕的交易，或者拿不到交易。谁知道呢？”
For now, the United States and India are finding common cause in	目前，美国和印度在遏制中国的海上野心上找到了共同的事业。在莫迪到访

pushing back against China's maritime ambitions. Before Modi's visit, the Trump administration approved the sale of 22 surveillance drones to India, which New Delhi can use to eavesdrop on Chinese naval movements in the Indian Ocean. Trump also spoke about a huge joint naval exercise in the Indian Ocean that will involve Japanese, Indian and American warships.	前，特朗普政府批准向印度出售 22 架无人侦察机，新德里可用其侦查中国海军在印度洋的动向。特朗普还谈到了在印度洋举行一场有日本、印度和美国的军舰参加的大型联合海军演习。
India has its own deep-rooted suspicions of China. Xi's marquee development project — known as One Belt, One Road — seeks to knit together China, South and Central Asia, and Europe through a vast array of ports, roads and railways, mostly funded by China. India views the project as a threat to its historically dominant position in South Asia.	印度对中国的怀疑根深蒂固。习近平大手笔的开发项目“一带一路”试图通过大量主要由中国出资修建的港口、公路和铁路，把中国、南亚、中亚和欧洲联系起来。印度认为该项目威胁到了它在南亚的历史主导地位。
The sale of the Guardian drones builds on years of deepening cooperation between the United States and India on maritime security, as India searched for ways to track Chinese submarines entering the Indian Ocean.	对印出售“保卫者”(Guardian)无人机是建立在多年来，印度想办法追踪进入印度洋的中国潜艇，美印在海上安全方面的合作日渐深入的基础上的。
Though India is traditionally wary of military alliances, the two countries have explored ways to create a naval network that would balance China's maritime expansion. Among the proposals are joint naval patrols in the South China Sea, an idea India has so far rejected.	尽管印度传统上对军事联盟持警惕态度，但两国对建立一个海军网络的多种方式进行了探索，以平衡中国的海上扩张。提出的建议包括在南海进行联合海军巡逻，但截至目前，这个提议遭到了印度的拒绝。
The drones, which have never before been sold to a non-NATO country, could be especially valuable if they are flown over the Andaman and Nicobar islands, giving India control of a choke point that is one of China's greatest marine vulnerabilities.	这款无人机之前从未卖给非北约(NATO)国家。如果能在安达曼-尼科巴群岛上空飞翔，让印度掌握一个咽喉要道——同时也是中国最大的海上软肋之一的控制权，它们就尤显珍贵。
They could be used with India's fleet of Poseidon surveillance aircraft, which it acquired from the United States beginning in 2013, said David	澳大利亚国立大学国家安全学院(National Security College of Australian National University)的访问研究院戴维·布鲁斯特(David Brewster)说，它们

Brewster, a visiting fellow at the National Security College of Australian National University. The Poseidon "sub-hunters" can also be staged from the Andaman and Nicobar island chain.	可能会配合印度 2013 年开始从美国采购的“海神”(Poseidon)侦察机机群使用。“海神”“潜狩猎者”也可能从安达曼-尼科巴岛链撤离。
The announcement of the sale was followed closely by Chinese news organizations. China Central Television declared, "The Indian navy wants to use these drones to put the whole Indian Ocean under its surveillance."	中文新闻机构密切关注美国对印出售侦察机的消息。中国中央电视台宣称，“印度海军想要通过这种无人机把整个印度洋纳入监视范围之下”。
Modi and Trump have much in common, including a history of anti-Muslim rhetoric, a nationalist focus on homegrown manufacturing, a fraught relationship with the media, and electoral campaigns that benefited from the proliferation of fake news.	莫迪和特朗普有很多共同点，包括反穆斯林言论，对本土制造业的民族主义式关注，与媒体之间关系不和，在总统选举中获得了虚假消息的帮助。
In Modi's case, supporters of his party circulated fake videos in 2013 of two Hindus being lynched by a Muslim mob. The videos led to rioting that killed 44 people, displaced 42,000 others and split a historical voting alliance between lower-caste Hindus and Muslims. That helped give Modi a substantial majority in the lower house of parliament.	2013 年，莫迪党派的支持者发布了两名印度教徒被一伙穆斯林暴徒私刑处死的假视频，引发了暴乱，造成 44 人丧生，4.2 万人流离失所，导致了低等级印度教徒和穆斯林之间传统投票联盟的分裂。这帮助莫迪赢得了议会下院人民院的绝大多数席位。
Stephen Bannon, Trump's chief strategist, hailed Modi's victory in 2014 as part of a global revolt against uncaring elites. He has told colleagues he views Modi and Trump as symbolizing the same nationalist passions in the world's two largest democracies.	特朗普的首席策略师史蒂芬·K·班农(Stephen K. Bannon)赞扬了莫迪在 2014 年的胜利，称之为全球反抗高高在上的精英阶层的一部分。他对同事说，他认为在全球两个最大民主国家中，莫迪和特朗普都是民族主义激情的象征。
Yet they are also very different: Modi is a deeply religious ascetic who often fasts and points to his lack of family as proof of his commitment to India and resistance to corruption. Trump, meanwhile, has been widely criticized for his treatment of women and his extravagant lifestyle, and has celebrated his children's business dealings even amid	然而，这两个人也有非常不同的地方：莫迪是一个虔诚的宗教禁欲主义者，经常斋戒，指出自己没有组建家庭是他献身印度和反腐败的明证。而特朗普则因为对待女性的态度和奢侈的生活方式受到了广泛批评，他对孩子们的商业交易表示庆贺，哪怕有人指责他们正在利用特朗普的总统位置为个人谋利。 accusations that they are using his office for personal enrichment.

https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/donald-trump-narendra-modi-in-dia	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/donald-trump-narendra-modi-in-dia
Her 'Whole Story': How I Landed an Exclusive Interview With Chelsea Manning	曼宁 7 年来首次公开发声，这个独家我是如何拿到的
On Jan. 17, I was on the phone with Nancy Hollander, a veteran litigator based in New Mexico, when Ms. Hollander abruptly excused herself: The White House was on the other line.	1 月 17 日，我正和新墨西哥州的资深诉讼律师南希·霍兰德(Nancy Hollander)通话时，她突然说不好意思，要离开一下：白宫打电话来了。
I knew without asking what had happened. A month earlier, my editor at The Times Magazine, Mike Benoist, suggested I look into a feature on Ms. Hollander's most famous client, the whistle-blower and soldier Chelsea Manning, who had been sentenced in 2010 to 35 years in military prison for sharing thousands of confidential military and diplomatic documents with WikiLeaks.	我不用问就知道发生了什么。一个月前，我在《时报杂志》(The Times Magazine)的编辑迈克·拜诺伊什特(Mike Benoist)建议我写一篇有关霍兰德最有名的当事人、揭秘者、军人切尔西·曼宁(Chelsea Manning)的专题文章。2010 年，曼宁因向维基解密(WikiLeaks)泄露数千份机密军事和外交文件而被判在军事监狱服刑 35 年。
Initially, my plan had been to detail Ms. Manning's fight with the government for access to hormone therapy and permission to live as a woman in an all-male, maximum-security facility. Because Ms. Manning was not allowed to meet with or take calls from journalists, I'd have to report the piece by speaking to her friends and by communicating with her by prison mail — an onerous and frustrating process.	起初，我的计划是详细讲述曼宁为接受激素治疗和获准在一个只有男性、安保极其严密的地方以女性的身份生活而与政府进行的斗争。因为曼宁不得与记者见面或接听记者的电话，我将不得不通过对友人的采访，并通过监狱信件与她交流的方式来完成报道。这将是一个繁琐且令人沮丧的过程。
But now everything had changed: President Barack Obama, in a surprise decision, was commuting the remainder of Ms. Manning's sentence. Her release date would be set for mid-May. I dashed off a quick note of congratulations to Ms. Hollander and called Mike to discuss strategy.	但现在，一切都变了：贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)出人意料地决定减去曼宁剩下的刑期。她的释放日期定在 5 月中旬。我匆匆给霍兰德女士发了简短的祝贺信息，并打电话给迈克商量对策。

In 2010, a reporter at The Guardian had referred to Ms. Manning as “the most important story on the planet.” Seven years on, she was still an icon — “a secular martyr,” as the author of a book on her case later described her to me — and I knew that dozens of media outlets would be vying for an exclusive first post-release interview.	2010年,《卫报》(The Guardian)的一名记者称曼宁是“地球上最重要的新闻”。七年过去了,她依然是一个标志。一本记述曼宁一案的书的作者后来对我说,她是“一名世俗殉道者”。我知道,会有数十家媒体机构争夺曼宁获释后的首次专访。
In those following days, I made my pitch to Ms. Manning’s team: I’d already spoken to many of the people closest to her, and had a reasonably firm grip on the immense library of legal documents generated by her court-martial. I could hit the ground running. Later, Chase Strangio, another of Ms. Manning’s attorneys, and Christina DiPasquale, Ms. Manning’s publicist, went to the Times building to meet with Times Magazine editors and art staff, to discuss how the story might be packaged and presented visually.	在接下来的那些天里,我不断向曼宁的团队宣传自己:我已经与很多跟她关系最亲密的人有过交流,并且对她的庭审材料构成的大量法律文件有相当扎实的了解。我可以立即着手相关工作。后来,曼宁的另一名律师查斯·斯特兰焦(Chase Strangio)和曼宁的公关宣传克里斯蒂娜·迪帕斯奎尔(Christina DiPasquale)去时报大楼和《时报杂志》的编辑及美编团队见面,讨论可以如何包装并在视觉上呈现这篇报道。
On Feb. 15, Ms. DiPasquale emailed to say that Ms. Manning had agreed to give us the exclusive on the print story, meaning Ms. Manning wouldn’t be speaking to any other newspapers or magazines until the piece was published.	2月15日,迪帕斯奎尔女士发来电子邮件,说曼宁同意把纸媒的专访给我们。这意味着在报道刊登出来之前,曼宁不会接受其他报纸或杂志的采访。
I spent the rest of the month, and all of March and April, in research mode, building a detailed timeline of the case and exchanging preliminary letters with Ms. Manning — in which we worked our way through some of her earliest memories and she talked about her life in a military prison. We were getting to know each other, if remotely.	那个剩下的时间和整个3月和4月,我都处于研究模式中,制定该案的详细时间轴并与曼宁进行初步的通信。在信中,我们一起回顾了她最早的一些记忆,她还谈到了在一座军事监狱中的生活。尽管相隔甚远,但我们慢慢开始了解彼此。
In late May, the month of her release, I flew to New York, where Ms. Manning was staying at the time. I’ve since been asked if I was nervous, and I was, but only partially because of the historic nature of the	5月底,也就是曼宁获释那个月的月末,我飞去她当时所在的纽约。之后一直有人问我当时紧不紧张,我的确紧张,但采访的历史意义只是部分原因(自2010年被捕后,曼宁从未现场接受过公开采访)。最重要的是时间,或者说

interviews. (Ms. Manning had not given an in-person, on-the-record interview since she was arrested in 2010.) Above all, there was the matter of time, or the lack thereof: Ms. Manning had consented to three on-the-record talks — a pair of two-hour interviews and one at an hour — over the course of a week. I had 26 single-spaced pages of questions, however. Some were precise queries, concerning the layout of her workstation in Iraq and the common spaces in the military prison, and sky-level questions, on what she saw as the impact of her actions and how she thought the world might have changed as a result.	时间不足的问题：曼宁同意在一周时间里接受三场记录在案的访谈——两场两小时和一场一小时的采访。然而，我准备了单倍行距 26 页的问题。有些是细致的询问，有关她在伊拉克的工作站和那座军事监狱公共区域的布局。有些是概括性的问题，关于她认为自己的行为会带来什么影响，以及她觉得世界可能因此发生了什么变化。
For someone just eight days out of prison, Ms. Manning was a remarkably voluble interview subject. I learned to admire the courage with which she was able to address her most painful memories, from her early struggles with gender identity to her suicide attempts at the military prison — and only once did she have to stand up and ask for a minute to compose herself. As she reminded me, for seven years she hadn't been able to tell her "whole story," and now that she could, the words were whistling out in a torrent.	作为一个刚出狱 8 天的人，曼宁是一个非常健谈的采访对象。我开始钦佩她面对自己最痛苦的回忆的勇气，从早年对性别认同的挣扎到她在军事监狱里尝试自杀——只有一次她不得不站起来，要求用一分钟时间来调整自己。这让我想起，7 年来她无法讲述自己“完整的故事”，而现在她可以，这些话正在滔滔不绝地倾注而出。
My last read-over of the piece occurred on Friday, June 9, at around 10 p.m. The following Monday, at 5 a.m., it appeared online. Mike and I had deliberately held back from passing judgment on the leaks in the article: It was meant to be not a reckoning but the story of a personal journey. In the comments section and on social media, though, the reckoning was soon underway anyway: Ms. Manning was a traitor, Ms. Manning was a hero, Ms. Manning was a criminal, Ms. Manning was an inspiration.	6 月 9 号周五大约上午 10 点，我最后一次仔细阅读这篇稿子。接下来的周一早晨 5 点，它在网上出现了。麦克和我故意在文章中不对泄密事件作出评价：这篇文章不是一种审判，而是关于一段个人旅程的故事。然而，在评论区和社交媒体上，审判很快涌现了：曼宁是一个叛国者，曼宁是一个英雄，曼宁是一个罪犯，曼宁是一个启示。

As for Ms. Manning herself, I caught up with her via a secure text messaging app later in the week. She was happy with how the piece turned out, she said, and deeply loved the accompanying photographs. But she wasn't going to dwell on it — she was newly free, and she had a life to live.	至于曼宁自己的看法，我在那周晚些时候用保密的短信应用和她聊了聊。她对这篇文章很满意，她说，而且深深地喜欢附带的照片。但她不会就此徘徊——她刚刚获得自由，她的生活还要继续。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/her-whole-story-how-i-landed-a-n-exclusive-interview-with-chelsea-manning	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/her-whole-story-how-i-landed-a-n-exclusive-interview-with-chelsea-manning
Supreme Court Will Hear Travel Ban, Which Is Partly Reinstated	美国最高法院部分支持特朗普旅行禁令
WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court on Monday cleared the way for President Donald Trump to prohibit the entry of some people into the United States from countries he deems dangerous, but the justices imposed strict limits on Trump's travel ban while the court examines the scope of presidential power over the border.	华盛顿——周一，最高法院为特朗普总统禁止一些来自于他认为属于危险国家的人进入美国扫清了道路，但法官对特朗普的旅行禁令进行了严格限制，同时法院也将对总统在入境问题上的权限进行审查。
Trump quickly hailed the court's decision to hear arguments on the travel ban cases in October, saying — in a formal White House statement, not a tweet — that the court's decision to temporarily lift some of the legal roadblocks to his ban was a "clear victory" for national security.	法院决定在 10 月份听取关于旅行禁令案件的辩论，特朗普对此迅速予以了赞扬，他在正式的白宫声明而不是推文中说，最高法院的决定暂时扫除该禁令的一些法律障碍，这对于国家安全是一个“明显的胜利”。
"As president, I cannot allow people into our country who want to do us harm," Trump wrote, calling his efforts to limit entry into the country a "suspension" instead of a ban. "I want people who can love the United States and all of its citizens, and who will be hardworking and productive."	“作为总统，我不能允许那些想伤害我们的人进入我们的国家。”特朗普写道，限制旅客进入美国的做法不是一道禁令，而是一种“暂停”。“我想要的是那些可以热爱美国，热爱美国所有公民的人，是那些愿意努力工作，做出成果的人。”
But those challenging the travel ban said the court's opinion would protect the vast majority of people seeking to enter the United States to	但是那些挑战旅游禁令的人士表示，法院的意见书将会保护绝大多数寻求到美国投靠亲戚、接受工作、上大学或发表演讲的人。最高法院表示，如果一

visit a relative, accept a job, attend a university or deliver a speech. The court said the travel ban could not be imposed on anyone who had "a credible claim of a bona fide relationship with a person or entity in the United States."	个人“可信地声称与美国的某个人或某实体有真实的联系”，那么旅行禁令是挡不住他的。
The court's opinion sets up a historic legal clash this fall in which the justices will weigh the president's power to set national security priorities against the need to protect individuals from discrimination based on their religious beliefs or national origin.	最高法院将在今年秋天裁定一项具有历史意义的法律冲突，届时大法官将会权衡总统是否有权将国家安全优先事项置于保护个人不因为宗教信仰或国籍而受歧视的需要之上。
In saying they will take the case, the court partly endorsed the administration's view that the president has vast powers to control who crosses the border. The court said the president's powers to limit immigration "are undoubtedly at their peak when there is no tie between the foreign national and the United States."	最高法院表示受理此案，相当于部分上认可了政府的观点，即总统有决定谁可以进入美国的巨大权力。最高法院说，“在外国国民和美国没有任何联系的情况下”，总统限制移民的权力“毫无疑问达到最大”。
But the opinion also signaled that some of the justices might believe Trump exceeded even that broad authority when he twice sought to impose a blanket ban on entry into the United States from particular, Muslim-majority countries. With the limits imposed Monday by the court, the government's travel ban will be far more limited than the one he proposed in his first week in office and a later, revised ban.	但是，法院的意见书也显示，有些法官可能认为，特朗普两次试图全面禁止来自穆斯林占多数的几个国家的旅客进入美国时，就连这样广泛的权力范围也被跨越了。从法院本周一施加的限制来看，政府的旅行禁令生效的覆盖面将远远小于特朗普上任第一周时提出的原始版本，以及之后进行修改过的版本。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/supreme-court-trump-travel-ban-case	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/supreme-court-trump-travel-ban-case
The Long, Lonely Road of Chelsea Manning	泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（完）：重获自由
Read:	点击阅读：
Part 1.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（一）：“我想摆脱性别”》
Part 2.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（二）：幻灭之后的顿悟》

Part 3.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（三）：“我厌倦了伪装”》
Part 4.	《泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅（四）：变成女儿身》
In July 2016, one of Manning’s closest friends at the U.S.D.B., Anthony Raby, was seated at a bench in the embroidery shop, sewing name tapes for Army recruits, when a fellow prisoner dropped a note onto his table. “It’s from your girlfriend,” the man said. Raby didn’t have to ask who the man was referring to.	安东尼·拉比(Anthony Raby)是曼宁在美国军事监狱最亲密的朋友之一。2016年7月的一天，拉比正坐在钩编车间的长凳上为陆军新兵缝名签，一名狱友把一封信放在他面前的桌子上。“你女朋友给你的，”那人说道。拉比不用问就知道对方说的是谁。
A former Army specialist serving three decades for the rape of a young child, Raby had first met Manning in 2013, shortly after her arrival at the U.S.D.B. It was his first encounter with a transgender person; he recalls thinking Manning resembled a “sad, strange little man.” In a letter from the U.S.D.B., Raby wrote: “The idea that someone could believe they were a gender other than what they were born was akin to believing a chicken was a hat. I just didn’t understand. However, as a Christian, I fully believe in showing everyone love and compassion, so we talked.”	曾为陆军专业军士、因强奸一名幼童而被判30年有期徒刑的拉比，与曼宁相识于2013年，就在她抵达美国军事监狱不久后。那是他第一次遇到跨性别人士；他回忆说，曼宁当初给他的印象是一个“悲伤、古怪的小人儿”。拉比在寄自军事监狱的信中写道：“一个人认为其性别与出生时的性别不同，这就好比认为一只鸡是一顶帽子。我根本搞不明白。不过，作为一名基督徒，我完全相信，应该向每个人展示爱与慈悲，因此我们聊了聊。”
Raby admired Manning’s intelligence, her wit, her unapologetic weirdness. “I’m all right with the weird,” Raby wrote. Manning visited his cell frequently to talk or vent or cry — taking care not to stay too long and violate the prison policy of one person to a unit. Raby, more than anyone else at the U.S.D.B., seemed to understand the toll that incarceration was taking on Manning. “Prison isn’t the best place for anyone who actually has actual emotions besides hate, anger, bitterness, apathy or indifference,” he wrote.	拉比钦慕曼宁的聪明、机智，以及毫不掩饰的古怪。“我和古怪的人处得来，”拉比写道。曼宁经常去他的牢房跟他说话，在他面前发泄情绪，或哭泣——并小心翼翼地避免因为逗留太长时间而违反狱方关于一人一牢房的规定。拉比似乎比美国军事监狱中的其他任何人都更明白监禁给曼宁带来的不良影响。“对于任何一个真正拥有除仇恨、愤怒、怨毒、冷淡或冷漠以外的真实情感的人，监狱都不是最好的去处，”他写道。
Now his worst fears were confirmed. Unfolding the note, which was folded and sealed shut with spare adhesive from a stamp book, Raby	现在，他的担忧得到证实。展开那封折叠起来并以一本邮票簿的备用胶封好的信，拉比看到的标题是：“切尔西·E·曼宁，关于：我的最后一封信。”他浏

read the header: "Chelsea E. Manning, re: My Final Letter." He scanned the first page. Manning wrote that she would kill herself after the base's Fourth of July fireworks display came to a close. The fireworks had ended at 10 p.m. It was already 12:25 a.m.	览了第一页纸。曼宁写道：她会在监狱7月4日的烟花表演结束时自杀。而烟花表演已于晚上10点结束。当时已是午夜12点25分。
Raby notified a guard in the embroidery shop and handed over Manning's letter. "About 1 a.m., I heard an announcement over the guard's radio about an alert in Manning's housing unit," Raby told me. "I was pacing like a madman, sure they had not gotten to her in time." Not wanting to aggravate the staff, Raby struggled to keep his composure. Around 3:30 a.m., he was approached by an Army investigator: Manning was alive.	拉比通知了钩编车间的一名警卫，并上交了曼宁的信。“凌晨1点左右，我听见警卫在广播里宣布对曼宁的监区实施警戒，”拉比告诉我。“我像个疯子一样踱步，以为他们没有及时救下她。”拉比不想激怒工作人员，竭力保持冷静。凌晨3点半左右，一名陆军调查员走过来告诉他：曼宁还活着。
Officials have declined to provide details about the incident, and Manning told me she only remembers waking up in an ambulance. But people with knowledge of the situation said Manning tried to hang herself and was recovered by guards, breathing but unresponsive. Manning told me that in the days leading up to the suicide attempt, she felt unusually low and alone. She had been determined to push through to the end of the long weekend, when her psychologist would be back on base. "I didn't make it," she said.	官员们拒绝提供关于此事的细节，曼宁则告诉我，她只记得自己在一辆救护车中苏醒过来。不过知情者称，曼宁企图上吊，被警卫救了下来，有呼吸但没反应。曼宁对我说，在企图自杀前的日子里，她觉得极度低落和孤独。她曾下定决心撑到漫长周末的尽头，届时她的心理医生将返回美国军事监狱。“我没能做到，”她说。
In early September, she embarked on a hunger strike to protest what she called the "constant and overzealous administrative scrutiny by prison and military officials." She ended the hunger strike when the prison vowed to provide her with gender-reassignment surgery, an unprecedented accommodation.	去年9月初，她以绝食抗议她所称的“狱方与军方官员给予的无休止的、过分热切的审视”。直到狱方做出前所未有的妥协，公开宣布为她提供性别重置手术，她才停止绝食。
By the end of September, Manning was sentenced to an additional two	到9月末，曼宁被判处两周禁闭，缓刑一周。她的罪名是，行为——即企图

weeks in solitary, with one week suspended. Her crime was conduct that threatens the orderly running of the barracks — her suicide attempt.	自杀之举——有碍监狱的有序运行。
If prison, as Manning has said, made her feel like a ghost — alive in her supporters' thoughts but unable to be with them physically — then her time in solitary was akin to erasure. Isolation “changes you; it makes you angry,” she said. “You start to forget about the world outside — it’s not relevant or relatable anymore. The darkest part of solitary confinement is that you start to forget about cars, and jobs, and families, and weather, and politicians, and all the things that make up a society.”	如曼宁所言，如果说狱方让她觉得自己像一个鬼魂——活在支持者心中，但无法亲身和他们在一起——那么被关禁闭的日子就像是抹去她的存在。与世隔绝“会改变你，让你感到愤怒”，她说。“你开始忘记外边的世界——它不再有意义或与你相关。禁闭最黑暗的部分是，你开始忘记汽车、工作、家庭、天气、政治人物，忘记社会的所有组成部分。”
Manning again tried to kill herself, but a guard spotted her before she lost consciousness. A week later, she was returned to general population. She was beside herself with anger and fear. She was also, she told me, most likely suffering from post-traumatic stress disorder — from Iraq, from Quantico.	曼宁再次试图自杀，但在失去意识之前被一名警卫发现。一周后她被送回人群当中。她因愤怒和恐惧而失控。她告诉我，她当时还很有可能因为在伊拉克和匡蒂科的经历而遭受着创伤后应激障碍的折磨。
It was during her second stretch in solitary that Manning experienced an episode that the Army has no record of, and that, on the heels of the suicide attempts, seems to be indicative of severe mental anguish. In a legal brief, Manning details a vivid kind of fever dream that she still puzzles over — hearing “several reports of suppressed or silenced shots from a pistol” and listening as a group of strangers described their plans to remove her from the U.S.D.B. She refused to leave her cell, she says, and the next morning, the staff carried on as if nothing had happened.	第二次被关禁闭期间，曼宁经历了一次未被陆军记录在案的发病，在她企图自杀之后，这似乎表明她承受着精神上的极大痛苦。曼宁在案情摘要中详述了一场逼真的、至今让她感到困惑的噩梦——听见“几下经过消音的手枪声”，还听见一群陌生人描述将她转出美国军事监狱的计划。她说，她拒绝离开自己的牢房，而第二天早上，工作人员一切如常，就像什么也没发生过。
To Manning’s attorneys, it was obvious that their client was running out	在曼宁的律师们看来，他们的客户显然没有多少时间了。“切尔西需要帮助，

of time. "Chelsea needs help, and she's not getting it," Strangio told me this winter. He viewed a commutation application, filed in November, as Manning's best hope. In the petition, Manning's lawyers appended a letter from Manning. "I am not Bradley Manning," she wrote. "I really never was. I am Chelsea Manning, a proud woman who is transgender and who, through this application, is respectfully requesting a first chance at life."	但却没有得到帮助，“斯特兰吉奥去年冬天告诉我。他看过一份如曼宁所愿在去年 11 月提交的减刑申请。曼宁的律师随申请书附上了一封来自曼宁的信。“我不是布拉德利·曼宁，”他写道。“从来都不是。我是切尔西·曼宁，一名跨性别的骄傲女性，我通过这份申请书谨请获得人生的第一次机会。”
On the afternoon of Jan. 17, Manning was in the prison workshop, covered head to toe in wood shavings. She remembers looking up to see a team of security personnel enter the room. "I'm like, Oh, God, I'm in a lot of trouble," Manning told me. "I don't even know what the hell I've done now." The prison's head of security told her to come with them.	2017 年 1 月的一个午后，曼宁待在监狱的劳动作坊里，从头到脚沾满木屑。她记得自己抬起头，看到一队看守走进屋内。“我心想，噢，老天，我有大麻烦了，”曼宁对我说。“可我现在甚至不知道自己到底干了什么。”监狱安保部门负责人让她跟他们走。
"Am I coming back?" she asked. No, she was told.	“我还回来吗？”她问。对方给出了否定的答案。
She grabbed her belongings and followed the guards to the Special Housing Unit. Assuming she was going back to solitary, she started to take the shoelaces out of her boots. The lead officer shook his head: She was headed for Protective Custody. In the common area, a television was playing CNN. She saw the banner on the screen: Manning's sentence commuted, it read.	她拿起随身物品，随警卫走到特殊监区。她以为自己又要被关禁闭，于是开始抽靴子的鞋带。领头的官员摇了摇头：她是要去接受保护性监管。公共区域的一台电视机正在播放 CNN 的节目。她看到屏幕上的大标题写的是：曼宁获得减刑。
Manning told me she went numb. She never let herself think about a commutation, lest she be thrown back into a deeper darkness. "It was so hard for me to process and deal with it," Manning recalled. Obama later addressed the decision with an implicit rebuke to Edward Snowden and Julian Assange. "Let's be clear: Chelsea Manning has	曼宁说她有些茫然。她此前总是避免去想减刑的事，以免期望越高失望越大。“我真的难以处理和应对它，”曼宁回忆。奥巴马后来就减刑决定做了说明，其中包含对爱德华·斯诺登和朱利安·阿桑奇的隐晦谴责。“我们要清楚地知道：切尔西·曼宁已经服过重刑，因此，如果说正考虑泄露关键机密信息的普通人觉得，这么做不会受到惩罚，我认为切尔西·曼宁已经服过刑的事实，不

served a tough prison sentence, so the notion that the average person who was thinking about disclosing vital classified information would think that it goes unpunished, I don't think would get that impression from the sentence that Chelsea Manning has served," he said.	会让人产生这种印象，“他说。
Four months later, on the morning of May 17, Manning was marched out the front door of the U.S.D.B. and loaded into a Ford Explorer. The driver steered the S.U.V. up a short slope and onto the curved road that winds south, past the gates of the overgrown U.S.D.B. cemetery, where 14 executed German prisoners of war were buried in 1945. A constellation of brick buildings appeared in the distance. Close to 1 a.m., the Explorer drew to a halt in a parking lot, where Strangio and the veteran attorney Nancy Hollander were waiting. Manning was so eager to hug the two attorneys that she clocked Strangio in the face with her elbow.	四个月后的5月17日早上，曼宁被送出美国军事监狱前门，上了一辆福特探路者。司机开着这辆SUV驶上一个短短的斜坡，以及一条向南蜿蜒伸展的道路，经过了美国军事监狱公墓的大门——14名于1945年被处决的德国战犯就埋在杂草丛生的公墓里。远方的一些砖石建筑映入眼帘。下午1点左右，探路者停在一个停车场，斯特兰吉奥和资深律师南希·霍兰德(Nancy Hollander)已等在那里。曼宁太急于和两名律师拥抱，手肘撞到了斯特兰吉奥的脸。 in Manhattan, she seemed happy being free. We trudged, unnoticed, through busy city streets, ordered chicken nuggets at McDonald's, ate in restaurants and cafes and went to a weekend screening of "Alien: Covenant." On the way into the theater, the man collecting the tickets asked to check Manning's bag. I held my breath, thinking she would be recognized. But kneeling, Manning unzipped the main compartment, revealing her laptop. She was waved through: The famous whistle-blower and former military prisoner had become just another Sunday evening theatergoer.
The week I spent with Manning in New York felt like a moment of suspended animation: the days between all the chaos of her life before and whatever was going to come next. In her final months at the U.S.D.B., Manning put together 300 pages of memoir, and she's acquired an agent to shop the draft around. This fall, she will appear in a documentary called "XY Chelsea," produced by Laura Poitras. Her attorneys, meanwhile, continue to work on her appeal. Even if she is exonerated, it is hard to know how comfortable her life will be in the years to come, given that some of the nation will never likely reconcile itself to what she did.	我和曼宁在纽约共度的一个星期，就像是生命暂停的时刻：生活中的所有混乱已经过去，不确定的未来尚未到来。待在美国军事监狱的最后几个月，曼宁把总共300页回忆录串到了一起，她已经让一名经纪人去推销书稿。今年秋天，她会出现在一部由劳拉·普瓦特拉斯(Laura Poitras)打造、名为《XY·切尔西》(XY Chelsea)的纪录片里。即便得到赦免，曼宁还是很难确定未来的生活会有多舒适，因为这个国家的某些人或许永远也不可能接受她以前的所作所为。
But she is determined not to dwell on her reputation, and for that week	但她决心不去纠结于自己的声誉，待在曼哈顿的那个星期，她似乎为恢复自

It occurred to me that if Manning sometimes seemed to have difficulty interpreting the effect her actions had on the world, it was in part a result of the extraordinary isolation she had experienced even before her arrest, in her childhood in Crescent, when she longed for a solution for her pain. Later, in solitary in Kuwait or Quantico, or in the special housing unit at the U.S.D.B., that isolation had been made physical: The "feedback loop" she had spoken of to me had been torn. Now she had the ability to live publicly and openly as she always knew she was, and she was adjusting to the idea, sinking into it as if it were a cold pond. More than once, as we walked the streets of New York, I felt I was in the presence of someone coming fully alive for the very first time. Manning told me she understood that her identity and the actions that led to her arrest have long been tangled up in the public imagination, sometimes in uncomfortable ways: An appellate brief filed last year by Manning's legal team implied that the Army's inability to treat Manning's gender dysphoria was a contributing factor in the leaks. Manning didn't want to

由之身而感到高兴。我们在拥挤的城市街道上漫步，丝毫没有引起注意，我们在麦当劳点鸡肉，在餐厅和咖啡馆吃东西，周末还去看了《异形：契约》(Alien: Covenant)。进电影院时，查票员要求检查曼宁的背包。我屏住呼吸，以为她会被认出来。但曼宁单膝跪地，打开背包主舱，露出笔记本电脑。她被放行了：此刻，这个著名的泄密者以及前军事囚犯，只不过是一名在周日晚上走进电影院的再普通不过的观众。

我忽然想到，如果说曼宁有时似乎很难阐释自己的行为对世界产生的影响，其中一个原因应该是，哪怕在她被捕之前，她所经历的异常与世隔绝的状态——她在克雷森特的童年时期就渴望为自己的痛苦找到一个解决方式。后来，在科威特或匡蒂科的孤独之中，或者在美国军事监狱的特殊牢房里，那种隔绝变成了现实的东西：她跟我提到过，自己的“反馈环”被撕裂了。现在，她有能力公开、开放地生活——她一直知道自己可以。她在不断适应这个想法，就像浸入寒冷池塘一样浸入其中。我们不止一次在纽约街头散步，我感觉我在见证某个人第一次完全活过来。曼宁对我说，她理解，自己的身分以及导致自己被捕的行为，长期以来在公众的想象中被纠缠在一起，有时是以令人不舒服的方式：曼宁的法律团队去年提交的一份上诉简报表明，军队无法治疗曼宁的性别不安是导致泄密的一个因素。曼宁不想讨论“假设情况”——比如，如果环境不同，会发生什么——但她非常确定一件事：“我能对你说的是，”她说，“我的价值观还会是一样的。我关心的事也会是一样的。”

discuss “hypotheticals,” what would have happened if circumstances were different, but she was adamant on one thing: “What I can tell you,” she said, “is that my values would have been the same. The things I care about would have been the same.”
One morning, at the end of an interview, Manning handed me a white envelope. Inside was a note from a 14-year-old trans boy. “I just wanted to say that I’m glad you’re gonna be free in a few months,” the boy had scrawled in pen, “and that I’m proud of you (is that weird thing to say?). You’re an inspiration.” Manning placed the note back in the envelope. If she was being honest, she said, she never particularly wanted to be a role model. I asked if Manning’s life would have been different if she’d had such a person. She stared down at her hands. “I don’t know how,” she said finally, “but it would have been better.”	一天早晨，采访结束后，曼宁递给我一个白色信封。里面是一个14岁跨性别男孩的纸条。“我只想说，我很高兴，再过几个月，你就能自由了，”这个男孩用钢笔潦草地写道，“我为你感到骄傲（这样说是不是很奇怪？）。你鼓舞了我。”曼宁把那张纸条放回信封。她说，坦白地说，她从来不是特别想成为楷模。我问曼宁，如果她有这样一位楷模，她的生活是否会不同。她盯着自己的双手。“我不知道具体会怎样，”最后她说，“但是会好一些。”
A couple of days later, we spent an hour sitting on a park bench. The skies were bruised, but the air was warm and fragrant. A flock of pigeons nearby. Manning cooed at them. She told me that at Leavenworth, not long before she learned of her commutation, a robin had alighted at her window, a small messenger from the world outside. Hadn’t it been a sign? She had taken it as one.	几天后，我们在公园的长凳上坐了一个小时。天上有片片红霞，空气温暖芳香。附近有一群鸽子。曼宁向它们咕咕叫。她告诉我，在莱文沃思得知自己减刑之前不久，一只知更鸟落在她的窗口，它是来自外部世界的一个小信使。那是一个先兆吗？她认为是。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part5	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/the-long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning-part5
Questions and Answers About the Travel Ban Case	特朗普旅行禁令案：关键问题与解答
WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court upheld some portions of President Trump’s revised travel ban on Monday, setting the stage for arguments on the case in October.	华盛顿——美国最高法院(Supreme Court)周一维持了特朗普总统修订后的入境禁令的部分内容，为10月各方就此案展开辩论创造了条件。

Here are some major questions the case presents:	以下是与此案相关的一些主要问题:
What did the court decide about President Trump's travel ban?	最高法院对特朗普的入境禁令做出了怎样的裁决?
The court did two things: It agreed to evaluate the ban next term, and, in the meantime, the court overturned the decisions of lower courts, saying that Mr. Trump's administration could enforce its immigration ban against certain people while it waited for the Supreme Court to hear arguments and decide the case.	最高法院做了两件事: 同意在下一个庭期评估禁令, 与此同时, 推翻了下级法院的裁决, 称特朗普政府在等候最高法院听取辩论并做出裁决期间, 可以执行针对某些人的移民禁令。
Does that mean that the president can block everyone from coming from the six countries he identified as dangerous – Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan, Syria and Yemen?	这是否意味着特朗普总统可以禁止来自他认为危险的六个国家——伊朗、利比亚、索马里、苏丹、叙利亚和也门——的所有人入境?
No. The justices agreed with the appeals courts that certain people should be allowed to come to the United States, as long as they have what the court called "a credible claim of a bona fide relationship with a person or entity in the United States."	不是。大法官们与上诉法院的观点一致, 认为应该允许某些人来美国, 只要他们具备法院所说的“与美国境内某个人或实体存在真实关系的可信说法”。
Who would that be?	那些人会是谁?
That is likely to be subject to interpretation and litigation. The court detailed several categories of foreign nationals who should be allowed into the United States: 1) people with a "close familial relationship" to someone in the United States; 2) students admitted to a university in the United States; 3) workers who have accepted an offer of employment from a company in the United States; and 4) lecturers invited to speak to an American audience.	这可能取决于解释和诉讼。法院详细列出了应获准进入美国的几类外籍人士: 1) 与美国境内某人存在“亲密家庭关系”的人; 2) 美国大学录取的学生; 3) 美国公司雇佣的员工; 4) 受邀前往美国发表演讲者。
But who qualifies for each of those categories will be up to the administration, and individuals denied entry might challenge those decisions in the courts.	但谁符合这些类别将由联邦政府决定, 被拒绝入境的个体可在法庭上挑战这些决定。

Who remains blocked from coming to the United States after the court's ruling?	最高法院做出这一裁决后，哪些人依然被禁止进入美国？
The court basically said that foreign nationals with no "bona fide relationship" to the United States do not have the same rights and can be banned from entry. The justices wrote that the government's authority to ban entry into the United States for national security reasons were "undoubtedly at their peak when there is no tie between the foreign national and the United States."	最高法院基本上是说，和美国没有“真实关系”的外国人不享有同等的权利，可能会禁止入境。大法官们写道，政府出于国家安全的原因禁止入境的权力“在外籍人士和美国之间不存在关系时毫无疑问达到最大”。
What about refugees coming from places like Syria or other war-torn countries?	来自叙利亚或其他战乱国家的难民怎么办？
The court imposed the same rules for refugees as it did for those seeking entry from the six aforementioned countries. Refugees who already have some connection to the United States may not be summarily blocked from entry; those who have no prior connection to the United States may be blocked from entry.	最高法院对难民和试图入境的上述六国公民实行一样的规定。已同美国存在某种关系的难民，可能不会被立即禁止入境，之前和美国没有关系的难民可能会遭到禁止入境。
Are there still big questions?	是否还存在一些大问题？
Yes. The definition of a "bona fide relationship" is not clear yet, according to opponents of the ban. For example, if a vacationer has a reservation at a hotel in the United States, does that qualify as a "bona fide relationship?" That kind of question will not be known for sure until the government blocks people from coming and the cases are taken to the courts.	存在。据反对该禁令的人士称，“真实关系”的定义尚不清晰。比如，如果度假的人在美国的酒店预订了房间，这种情况是否符合“真实关系”？在政府禁止入境且案件被诉诸法庭之前，这种问题没有明确的答案。
What about Mr. Trump's decision to limit the number of refugees admitted each year to 50,000 people?	特朗普把每年接收的难民人数限制在五万人的决定呢？
The court said that the administration's limit of 50,000 refugees could	法院称，不可用联邦政府五万难民这个限制来随意禁止与美国有合法关系的

not be used to arbitrarily restrict entry to a refugee who otherwise had a legitimate connection to the United States.	难民入境。
When does this take effect?	裁决何时生效?
In a June 14 memorandum, Mr. Trump said that the relevant agencies would wait 72 hours to make any changes if a court gave the government the right to reimpose the ban. The memorandum said that the 72-hour waiting period would “ensure an orderly and proper implementation” of the changes. That would appear to prevent a repeat of the original travel ban, when travelers got stuck in limbo in airports around the United States.	在6月14日的备忘录中，特朗普说，如果法院裁定政府有权重新实施禁令，相关机构将等待72小时，以便进行调整。备忘录称，72小时的等待期将“确保有序、恰当地执行”相关调整。这似乎是为了防止重蹈最初的入境禁令的覆辙。当时，旅客被困在全美各地的机场，前途未卜。
Is this a win for Mr. Trump?	这是特朗普的胜利吗?
Yes, in part. Mr. Trump will be able to say that the Supreme Court slapped down the lower courts for going too far and reaffirmed the president’s power to control the nation’s borders. But the court’s ruling also underscores the view that Mr. Trump was overreaching when he banned all travel into the United States by certain refugees and foreign nationals from six countries. Had the administration written the original travel ban along the lines of the court’s ruling, it might not have encountered such fierce political and legal resistance.	在一定程度上是。特朗普可以说最高法院因为下级法院做得太过分而予以严厉责备，并重申了总统控制美国边界的权力。但最高法院的裁决也强调了特朗普完全禁止来自上述六国的某些难民和外国人入境的观点过头了。如果联邦政府在制定最初的入境禁令时采用了最高法院裁决中的语句，也许就不会遭到这么强烈的政治和法律抵制。
Did all of the court’s justices agree with the ruling?	最高法院的所有大法官都同意该裁决吗?
No. The ruling was per curiam, meaning that it was the decision of the court, acting collectively as a unit. But three of the court’s most conservative members — Justices Neil M. Gorsuch, Samuel A. Alito Jr. and Clarence Thomas — offered a dissent, saying they would have allowed the president’s travel ban to take effect fully, without regard to	不是的。该裁决是法庭意见，这意味着它是法庭作为一个整体共同做出的决定。但最高法院三位最保守的大法官——尼尔·M·戈萨奇(Neil M. Gorsuch)、小塞缪尔·A·阿利托(Samuel A. Alito Jr.)和克拉伦斯·托马斯(Clarence Thomas)大法官——提出了异议，表示他们允许总统的入境禁令全面生效，而不管外国人与美国是否存在关系。

a foreign national's connection to the United States.
Is this a final ruling, then?	那么这是最终裁决吗？
Not yet. The court's ruling on the travel ban only applies for the period of time between now and when the justices make a final ruling, which might not come until late fall. The court agreed to hear arguments in the case in its next term, which begins in October. At that time, the court could endorse its current view of the travel ban or it could do something different.	还不是。最高法院对入境禁令的裁决仅适用于现在到大法官们做出最终裁决这段时间。最终裁决也许要等到深秋。最高法院同意在下一个庭期听取此案中各方的观点。届时，最高法院可能支持它当前对入境禁令的观点，也可能做出不同的选择。 https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/travel-ban-supreme-court	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170627/travel-ban-supreme-court
Trump Interrupts Call to Compliment Female Reporter's 'Nice Smile'	特朗普中断首脑通话，赞女记者“笑容很美”
President Donald Trump was at his desk in the Oval Office and on the phone with the new prime minister of Ireland on Tuesday when a journalist for an Irish news organization caught his eye.	周二，唐纳德·特朗普正坐在椭圆形办公室的办公桌前与新任爱尔兰总理通话，这时一名爱尔兰新闻机构的记者引起了他的注意。
"Well, we have a lot of your Irish press watching us," Trump said to the prime minister, Leo Varadkar, as several reporters looked on.	“嗯，我这边有好多你们爱尔兰的媒体在看着我们，”特朗普在几名记者的注视下对利奥·瓦拉德卡(Leo Varadkar)总理说。
Then, interrupting his conversation with Varadkar, Trump pointed at the journalist, Caitriona Perry, and gestured for her to come to him.	然后，特朗普中断与瓦拉德卡的谈话，指着那个名叫凯特里奥娜·佩里(Caitriona Perry)的记者，做手势让她过来。
"And where are you from?" he said. "Go ahead. Come here, come here. Where are you from? We have all of this beautiful Irish press."	“你是哪个媒体的？”他说。“往前走。到这儿来，到这儿来。你是哪个媒体的？这么多出色的爱尔兰媒体都来了。”
After she introduced herself, Trump told Varadkar, "She has a nice smile on her face so I bet she treats you well."	在她做了自我介绍之后，特朗普对瓦拉德卡讲道，“她的笑容很美，我猜她肯定对你不错。”
The exchange, which was captured on video and widely shared on social media, drew criticism about how Trump treats women and the message it sent about the attitude toward women as professionals in their fields.	这段对话被拍成视频，在社交媒体上广泛传播开来，特朗普对待女性的方式，以及视频中传递出的对待专业女性的态度引发了指责。

Elisa Lees Muñoz, executive director of the International Women's Media Foundation, said on Wednesday that she had heard about the episode in passing.	国际妇女媒体基金会(International Women's Media Foundation)执行董事埃莉萨·莱斯·穆诺茨(Elisa Lees Muñoz)周三表示, 她听人提到了这件事。
After a transcript of the exchange was read to her over the phone, she said: "Oh, Lord. I wish I could say this is a surprise."	在记者通过电话给她念了那段对话之后, 她说, "噢, 天哪。我真希望我能说这让人很吃惊。"
She said such occurrences were not limited to Trump, adding that female journalists are frequently called out for their appearance, their hair and the way they dress.	她表示, 这种情况不止在特朗普身上发生, 还提到女性媒体工作者经常因为自己的外貌、发型或衣着被点名叫出来。
Comments like the president's detract from a woman's value as a professional, she said.	她还表示, 类似总统这样的言论贬低了一名女性作为职业人士的价值。
"We absolutely do not see that happening with male reporters," she said. "I don't know what the solution to this is. It does need to be called out. It does need to stop."	"我们绝不会看到这种情况发生在男性记者身上," 她说。"我不知道有什么办法可以解决这种问题。这确实需要大声疾呼, 需要被制止。"
On Twitter, some users reacted with revulsion.	有些用户在 Twitter 上表达了对此事的反感。
Deb Curry wrote: "Please, don't judge us by this man. My husband would never treat you like this in a workplace. So inappropriate."	德布·库里(Deb Curry)写道: "请不要依据这个男人来评价我们。在职场上, 我丈夫永远不会这么对待你。太不得体了。"
Others defended the president and said he was complimenting Perry.	也有人为总统辩护, 说他是在称赞佩里。
Twitter user Mike Boyd wrote: "Our generation calls what POTUS did a simple act of dignity and kindness. When kindness is mistaken for being bizarre, it's a sad commentary."	名为迈克·博伊德(Mike Boyd)的 Twitter 用户写道: "我们这一代认为美国总统只是做了一件体面而又友善的事。善意被错认为怪异, 这种评价真让人难过。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170629/trump-flirt-irish-reporter	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170629/trump-flirt-irish-reporter
Trump Welcomes South Korean Leader as Options on the North Wane	朝鲜僵局难破, 特朗普要如何与文在寅打交道?
WASHINGTON — President Trump's campaign to rein in North Korea is about to get a lot more complicated, as a progressive new leader in South Korea and fraying ties with China leave the United States with	华盛顿——特朗普总统对朝鲜的遏制即将变得更为复杂; 随着韩国选出一位进步派的新领导人, 以及美中关系的紧张, 导致美国在向金正恩施压, 要求他停止核武器和导弹计划的时候, 少了可以合作的伙伴。

fewer partners to press Kim Jong-un on his nuclear or missile programs.
Mr. Trump will get a first taste of this less friendly landscape on Thursday, when he welcomes South Korea's newly elected president, Moon Jae-in, to the White House for dinner and an Oval Office meeting the next day.	特朗普将在本周四首次尝到这种不友好场景的滋味, 届时他将在白宫与韩国新当选的总统文在寅共进晚餐, 第二天两人还会在椭圆形办公室举行会谈。
Mr. Moon campaigned on an independent-minded foreign policy and is more interested in engaging with the North than Mr. Trump's hawkish advisers. He also halted the deployment of an American-made antimissile system in South Korea.	文在寅在竞选期间提出了独立自主的外交政策, 与特朗普的鹰派顾问相比, 他更有兴趣与朝鲜打交道。他还中止了一个美制反导系统在韩国的部署。
White House officials hope to defuse any tensions by trying to build good personal rapport between Mr. Trump and Mr. Moon, a 64-year-old human rights lawyer who served a previous South Korean leader, Roh Moo-hyun, known for clashing with the United States over North Korea.	白宫官员希望通过在特朗普和文在寅之间建立良好私交的企图来消除双方的紧张关系。文在寅现年64岁, 是一位人权律师, 也是韩国前领导人卢武铉(Roh Moo-hyun)时期的政府成员, 后者以亲朝反美著称。
As he tries to win over Mr. Moon, Mr. Trump already is pivoting to a harsher approach to China, according to administration officials. The United States has demanded that Beijing crack down on Chinese banks and companies that do business with North Korea. And it plans to move ahead soon with tariffs on steel imports that are aimed partly at China.	根据美国官员的说法, 特朗普一边试图赢得文在寅的支持, 一边对中国采取更严厉的态度。美国要求北京严管与朝鲜有业务往来的中国银行和公司。特朗普政府还计划很快推出新的钢材进口关税, 这部分针对的就是中国。
In its latest human trafficking report, issued on Tuesday, the State Department also downgraded China to the worst category, along with Syria, Iran, Russia and North Korea. It said China was guilty of using forced labor from North Korea.	国务院周二发布了最新的人口贩卖调查报告, 将中国降到了最糟糕级别, 与叙利亚、伊朗、俄罗斯、朝鲜等国并列。报告说中国使用了来自朝鲜的强制劳工。
The tough new tone comes after Mr. Trump expressed disappointment with President Xi Jinping for his failure to do more to pressure North	这种强硬的新调子出现在特朗普总统对习近平主席没能付出更多努力来阻止朝鲜的挑衅性行动表示失望之后。特朗普早些时候曾压抑自己的不满, 以

Korea to stop its provocative behavior. Mr. Trump earlier had soft-pedaled his grievances in return for Mr. Xi's help on North Korea. But with China not stepping up, senior officials said, he will feel less constrained about confronting China on trade and other areas of dispute.	换取习近平在朝鲜问题上的帮助。一些高级官员说，但中国并没有采取实际行动，现在在贸易和其他争端方面，特朗普在对抗中国时可以放开手脚了。
On Monday, before a meeting with Prime Minister Narendra Modi of India, Mr. Trump reiterated his sense of crisis about Pyongyang.	周一，在与印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)会面之前，特朗普重申了他在平壤问题上的危机感。
"The North Korean regime is causing tremendous problems," he said, "and is something that has to be dealt with, and probably dealt with rapidly."	"朝鲜政权正在引发巨大的问题，"他说，"这件事情必须处理，可能要很快处理。"
With North Korea, as with other foreign policy challenges, Mr. Trump has tended to personalize the issue, emphasizing his rapport with leaders and his ability to strike deals.	与应对其他外交政策挑战一样，特朗普在朝鲜问题上倾向于把问题个人化，强调他与别国领导者的默契和他达成交易的能力。
The question is whether he will have better luck with Mr. Moon than he has had with Mr. Xi.	问题在于，特朗普在和文在寅打交道的时候，是否比和习近平打交道时的运气要好呢？
"This is going to be a more difficult relationship than we've had for a few years," said Jeffrey A. Bader, a top Asia adviser to President Barack Obama. Mr. Moon, he predicted, would seek to restore trade with the North, and visit Pyongyang during his five-year term.	"美韩关系会比我们那几年更难处。"奥巴马总统时期的亚洲事务高级顾问杰弗里·A·贝德(Jeffrey A. Bader)表示。他预计文在寅会谋求恢复朝韩贸易，并在五年任期内访问平壤。
But, Mr. Bader added, "at the outset, he wants a good relationship with Trump."	但是，贝德说："最开始，他还是希望和特朗普建立良好的关系。"
The White House clearly wants the same. The two-day visit, officials said, would include ceremonies, like a wreath-laying and a visit to the Korean War Veterans Memorial, that are intended to celebrate the alliance between the United States and South Korea.	白宫显然也是这样想的。官员说，为期两天的访问中将有一些庆祝美韩结盟的活动，比如去朝鲜战争老兵纪念碑(Korean War Veterans Memorial)献花圈。

Officials said they were encouraged by an interview with Mr. Moon in The Washington Post last week, in which he said he would not necessarily cancel the deployment of the antimissile system, known as the Terminal High-Altitude Air Defense, or Thaad. South Korea, he said, was conducting an environmental impact assessment on it.	官员们表示，《华盛顿邮报》(The Washington Post)上周对文在寅的采访让他们感到很鼓舞，文在寅在采访中说，不一定会取消“萨德”(Terminal High Altitude Area Defense, 简称 Thaad)反导系统在韩国的部署。他说，韩国正在对该系统的环境影响进行评估。
The Trump administration, one senior official said, wants to avoid being interposed between the South and the North, which happened during previous periods when Washington and Seoul clashed over how to deal with the North Korean government.	一位高级官员说，特朗普政府希望避免被卷入到朝韩之间，以前曾发生过这种事，华盛顿和首尔对于如何应对朝鲜发生过冲突。
For some in the White House, Mr. Moon's election was a political sea change in South Korea — a victory, particularly for young voters, who want a different kind of relationship with their northern neighbor. Some have even taken to calling it South Korea's "Brexit."	对于白宫的一些人来说，文在寅的当选是韩国政治上的一个巨变——对于希望改变与北边邻居关系的韩国选民，特别是年轻选民而言，这是一场胜利。有些人甚至把文在寅当选称为韩国版的“英国脱欧”。
Popular sentiment in South Korea toward China has deteriorated in recent years, and Mr. Moon's government is also likely to have a chilly relationship with Japan. That could complicate efforts by the Trump administration to coordinate regional pressure against the North.	近年来，韩国公众对华情绪恶化，而且文在寅政府也有可能与日本保持冷淡关系。这可能导致特朗普政府在该区域协调对朝压力的努力变得更加复杂。
For the next few weeks, the focus in Washington may switch from pressuring North Korea to pressuring China.	在接下来的几个星期里，华盛顿的重点可能从给朝鲜施加压力转向给中国施加压力上。
Some administration officials are pushing for the White House to announce punitive measures on steel imports even before a meeting of the Group of 20 nations in Hamburg, Germany, early next month. But the timing will depend on how quickly the administration is able to finalize a Commerce Department study of the global steel market.	20国集团会议将于下个月初在德国汉堡举行，一些行政官员正在努力推动白宫在那之前宣布针对进口钢材的惩罚措施。但具体时间还得取决于行政部门能多快完成商务部所做的一个全球钢材市场的研究。
China accounts for only 2 percent of steel exports to the United States,	在美国进口的钢材中，来自中国的仅占2%，但它的过剩产能导致全球钢材

but its excess capacity drives down steel prices worldwide. Surplus Chinese steel, shipped to other countries, ends up in America in other manufactured products.	价格下滑。过剩的中国钢材被运到其他国家，其中一部分最后会以制成品的形式进入美国。
The Trump administration has also shifted from cajoling to threats in its exchanges with the Chinese on North Korea. At a recent high-level meeting in Washington, a person who was briefed on the session said, the Americans handed the Chinese a list of companies that were dealing with the North Koreans and told them “to handle it – or else.”	特朗普政府也转变了做法，在朝鲜问题上对中国人从哄骗转向了威胁。一位知情人士表示，在华盛顿最近举行的一次高级别会议上，美国人向中国人递交了与朝鲜打交道的中国公司名单，并让他们“处理这个问题——否则就采取别的办法”。
“Trump is being returned to the reality of China that everyone who has ever worked on China policy knows is the case,” said Michael J. Green, who served as a top Asia adviser to President George W. Bush.	迈克尔·J·格林(Michael J. Green)曾经担任过美国总统乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)的亚洲事务高级顾问，他表示：“在中国问题上，特朗普正在回归所有在中国政策领域做过事的人都知道的现实。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170629/trump-south-korean-president-moon-jae-in	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170629/trump-south-korean-president-moon-jae-in
The Long, Lonely Road of Chelsea Manning	泄密者曼宁的孤独之旅
On a gray morning this spring, Chelsea Manning climbed into the back seat of a black S.U.V. and directed her security guard to drive her to the nearest Starbucks. A storm was settling over Manhattan, and Manning was prepared for the weather, in chunky black Doc Martens with an umbrella and a form-fitting black dress. Her legs were bare, her eyes gray blue. She wore little makeup: a spot of eyeliner, a smudge of pink lip gloss.	今年春天一个多云的早晨，切尔西·曼宁(Chelsea Manning)爬进一辆黑色SUV车后座，指示保安人员开车送她到最近的星巴克。曼哈顿上空正酝酿着一场暴风雨，曼宁已经为此做好了准备，她脚穿粗重的马丁靴，带着雨伞，身上是一件彰显身材的黑色连衣裙，裸露着双腿。她画着淡妆：灰蓝色的眼睛周围有眼线的痕迹，一点点粉红色的唇彩。
At Starbucks, she ordered a white-chocolate mocha and retreated to a nearby stool. Manning has always been small (5 foot 4), but in her last few months at the United States Disciplinary Barracks at Fort Leavenworth, she jogged religiously, outside in the prison yard and	在星巴克，她点了白巧克力摩卡，坐到旁边的高脚凳上。曼宁的身材一直很娇小（5英尺4英寸），但在过去的几个月里，在美国莱文沃斯堡军事监狱里，她非常认真地沿着监狱操场和监狱体育馆的跑道上跑步。从她的手臂和颧骨轮廓可以看出，她的身体变得柔韧结实。她看上去健康强壮，虽然带着

around the track of the prison gym, and her body had taken on a lithe sharpness, apparent in the definition of her arms and cheekbones. She looked healthy and fit, if a little uneasy, as people who have served long spells in prison often do.	些许不安的感觉，长期在狱中服刑的人往往都是这样的。
She had been released only eight days earlier, after serving seven years of a 35-year sentence. Her crime, even in hindsight, was an astonishing one: handing WikiLeaks approximately 250,000 American diplomatic cables and roughly 480,000 Army reports from the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. Collectively the largest leak of classified records in American history, the disclosures cleared a path for Edward Snowden and elevated the profile of Julian Assange, then little known outside hacker circles. "Without Chelsea Manning," P.J. Crowley, an assistant secretary of state from 2009 to 2011, told me recently, "Julian Assange is just another fringe actor who resents what he sees as American hegemonic hubris." To an extraordinary extent, Manning's actions, in the words of Denver Nicks, the author of a book on her case, represented the "beginning of the information age exploding upon itself": a new era in which leaks were a weapon, data security was of paramount importance and privacy felt illusory.	她被判 35 年徒刑，服刑七年后，她在八天前得到释放。即便事后看来，她的罪行也足以令人震惊：她将美国在阿富汗和伊拉克战争期间的约 25 万份外交电报和约 48 万份军队报告交给了维基解密(Wikileaks)。这些泄露加在一起，构成了美国历史上最大的机密记录泄漏事件，为爱德华·斯诺登(Edward Snowden)扫清了道路，并且令朱利安·阿桑奇(Julian Assange)的形象得到提升，此前阿桑奇在黑客圈以外少有人知。“要不是切尔西·曼宁，”2009 年至 2011 年担任助理国务卿的 P·J·克劳利(P.J.Crowley)最近告诉我，“朱利安·阿桑奇无非就是另一个处在边缘地位，对他心目中美国霸权主义傲慢感到愤怒的小角色。”丹弗·尼克斯(Denver Nicks)曾经写过一本关于曼宁的书，用他的话来说，曼宁的行为从广义上来说，代表着“信息时代自身开始爆炸”：一个新时代，现在内情泄漏可以成为武器，数据安全至关重要，而隐私则让人感到虚幻。
In January 2017, after being locked up at five different facilities, in conditions a United Nations expert called "cruel" and "inhumane," Manning had received a surprise commutation by President Barack Obama. Four months later, she was free, trying to adjust to life in a world she helped shape. Finishing her coffee, she fished her iPhone out of her purse and asked her security guard for a lift back to the	曼宁曾先后被关押在五个不同的地方，一个联合国专家称她所处的环境是“残酷”且“不人道”的，2017 年 1 月，她终于从贝拉克·奥巴马总统那里得到了出乎意料的减刑。四个月 after，她重获自由，开始努力适应身边这个自己参与塑造的世界。喝完咖啡后，她从手袋里摸出 iPhone 手机，让保安开车送她回到她在曼哈顿的公寓。这是一个一室一厅的房子，装修简朴，有一个宽阔的玻璃桌和一张棕褐色的沙发，沙发对面，曼宁放了一个 Xbox One 游戏机。

apartment where she was staying while in Manhattan. The one-bedroom was furnished sparsely, with a wide glass table and a tan couch, opposite which Manning had set up an Xbox One video-game console. The art was of the anodyne motel variety — an old-masters-esque tableau, a canvas of a zebra standing in a forest. We were many floors up, suspended in the storm clouds, and through the window, I could see the spires of the skyscrapers on the other side of the Hudson River.	公寓里的艺术品是平淡乏味的汽车旅馆风格——一幅早期大师风格的人物画，一幅描绘森林里一匹斑马的油画。楼层很高，仿佛悬浮在酝酿暴风雨的云层之中，通过窗户，我可以看见哈德逊河对岸摩天大楼的尖顶。
Manning, who is 29, tapped an unplugged microwave next to the door and asked me to place my laptop inside: The Faraday cage in the microwave would block radio waves, she explained. But the unplugged microwave was already full of devices, including two Xbox controllers. “You can put it in the kitchen microwave,” Manning said; then, intuiting the strangeness of the request, she added with a shrug, “You can’t be too careful.”	29岁的曼宁敲了一下门边一个没接电源的微波炉，要我把笔记本电脑放在那里面。她解释说，微波炉里的法拉第笼可以屏蔽无线电波。但是那个没接电源的微波炉里已经装满了各种设备，包括两台Xbox遥控器。“你可以把它放在厨房的微波炉里，”曼宁说，意识到自己的请求有多么奇怪，她耸了耸肩，“怎么小心都不为过”。
She recalled that she last gave an in-person, on-the-record interview to a journalist in 2008, on the occasion of a marriage-equality march in New York. For almost a decade after that, barred by prison officials from communicating directly with the public, she remained silent as her story was told in books, an opera, an Off Broadway play and countless magazine articles, almost all of them written before Manning had come out as transgender. “It wasn’t the whole story,” she told me, “my whole story.”	她回忆说，她上一次亲自接受记者面对面的正式采访是2008年在纽约婚姻平权游行上。此后将近十年里，监狱管理者阻止她和公众直接接触，因此她一直保持缄默，与此同时，她的故事被写成书，被改编为歌剧和小成本舞台剧，登上无数杂志文章，它们大都是在曼宁公开跨性别者身份之前写的。“那不是完整的故事，”她告诉我，“不是关于我的完整故事。”
Absent her own voice, a pair of dueling narratives had emerged. One had Manning, in the words of President Donald Trump, as an	虽然她自己的声音是缺席的，但是关于她，出现了两种水火不相容的叙事。第一种叙事把曼宁描述为——用唐纳德·特朗普的话来说——“忘恩负义的叛

“ungrateful traitor.” The other positioned her as transgender icon and champion of transparency — a “secular martyr,” as Chase Madar, a former attorney and the author of a book on her case, recently put it to me. But in Manning’s presence, both narratives feel like impossible simplifications, not least because Manning herself is clearly still grappling with the meaning of what she did seven years ago. When I asked her to draw lessons from her journey, she grew uneasy. “I don’t have. ...” she started. “Like, I’ve been so busy trying to survive for the past seven years that I haven’t focused on that at all.”	徒”。另一种叙事则把她奉为跨性别者的偶像与信息透明的捍卫者，就像曾经当过检察官的蔡斯·马达尔(Chase Madar)最近对我说的，是一个“非宗教的殉道者”，他也曾经写过一本关于曼宁案的书。但是在曼宁面前，这两种叙事似乎都简化到了不可思议的地步，尤其是因为曼宁自己显然仍在努力思考，想要弄清她七年前所做的事情究竟意味着什么。我问她，从这段经历中学到了什么，她变得非常不安。“我没有……”她开始说道。“这个，过去七年里，我一直忙着生存下去，我根本没有重点关注这个。”
But surely, I pressed, she must have some sense of the impact she had on the world. “From my perspective,” she responded, “the world’s shaped me more than anything else. It’s a feedback loop.”	但是，我追问，她肯定会感觉自己对这个世界造成了影响。“从我的角度来看，”她回答说，“这个世界对我的影响比其他一切更重要。这是一个反馈回路。”
As far back as Chelsea Manning can remember, to her earliest days in Crescent, on the far edge of the Oklahoma City metro area, she suffered from a feeling of intense dislocation, something constant and psychic that she struggled to define to herself, much less to her older sister, Casey, or her parents, Brian and Susan. During one of our interviews, I mentioned that I heard a clinical psychologist compare gender dysphoria to a “giant, cosmic toothache.” Manning flushed. That was it exactly, she agreed: “Morning, evening, breakfast, lunch, dinner, wherever you are. It’s everywhere you go.”	就切尔西·曼宁记忆所及，早在儿时住在俄克拉荷马市市区边缘的克雷森特那段时期，她就曾经有过强烈的困惑感，她要努力让自己搞清楚某些持续不断的、和精神状态有关的东西，更不用说让姐姐凯西(Casey)和她的父母布赖恩(Brian)与苏珊(Susan)也明白。在一次采访中，我提到我听临床心理学家将性别焦虑比作“无时不在的巨大牙痛”。曼宁脸上一阵泛红。就是这样，她同意：“早上、晚上、早餐、午餐、晚餐，无论你身在何处。它到处都跟着你。”
At the age of 5, Manning recalled, she approached her father, an I.T. manager for Hertz, and confessed that she wanted to be a girl, “to do girl things.” Brian responded with a lengthy and awkward speech on the essential differences in “plumbing.” But Manning told me, “I didn’t	她的父亲是赫兹公司的IT部门经理，曼宁回忆说，五岁那年，她对父亲承认她想成为女孩，“做女孩做的事情”。对此，布赖恩就男女“生殖管道”的本质区别做了一番冗长而笨拙的讲话。但是曼宁告诉我，“我不明白这和你所穿的东西或你的行为有什么关系。”“不久后她开始溜进姐姐的卧室，偷偷穿

understand how that had anything to do with what you wore or how you behaved.” Soon she was sneaking into her sister’s bedroom and donning Casey’s acid-washed jeans and denim jackets. Seated at the mirror, she would apply lipstick and blush, frantically scrubbing off the makeup at the slightest stirring from downstairs.	上凯西的酸洗牛仔裤和牛仔夹克，对着镜子涂上口红和腮红，楼下一传来风吹草动，她就拼命擦掉脸上的化妆品。
“I wanted to be like [Casey] and live like her,” Manning said.	“我想要像她（凯西）一样，像她那样生活，”曼宁说。
When she was still in elementary school, she came out as gay to a straight male friend. The friend was understanding; the other kids at school, less so. Manning tried, unsuccessfully, to retract her confession, but the teasing continued. “I would come home crying some days, and if my dad was there, he’d say: ‘Just quit crying and man up. Like, go back there and punch that kid in the face,’” she said. It was the late 1990s, when the trans movement was very much on the fringes of American society. “The closest I came to knowing anything was from the portrayal of drag-queen-style cross-dressing on sensational TV shows” like Jerry Springer’s, Manning told me. She spent more time inside, on the computers that her father was always bringing home, playing video games and dabbling in basic code.	还在读小学的时候，她便向一个直男朋友出柜，告知对方自己是同性恋。那位朋友理解她；学校里的其他孩子则没有那么善解人意。曼宁试图收回自己的坦白之词，但没有成功，继续遭到戏弄。“有些日子，我回到家会哭出来，如果我父亲在场，他会说：‘别哭了，爷们些。比如，回去朝那小子脸上播一拳，’”她说。那是 1990 年代末，跨性别者权利运动在美国社会中还处于极为边缘的位置。“耸动的电视节目中关于变装皇后式异性着装的描绘，是我最接近相关信息的渠道”——比如杰瑞·斯布林格(Jerry Springer)的节目。她花更多时间待在家中，摆弄她父亲总是会带回家的电脑，玩电子游戏、尝试鼓捣基本代码。
Her parents had issues of their own. When Manning was about 12, Susan swallowed an entire bottle of Valium. Casey called 911, only to be told that the nearest ambulance was a half-hour away. Casey loaded her mother into the car; Brian, who Manning says was too drunk to drive, sat shotgun, leaving a terrified Chelsea in the back to make sure her mother kept breathing. She told me the incident was formational. “I grew up very quickly after that,” she said. (Brian could not be reached	她的父母有着自己的问题。曼宁 12 岁那年，苏珊吞下一整瓶安定。凯西打了 911，却被告知最近的救护车要半小时才能赶到。凯西把母亲弄到汽车上；而布赖恩据曼宁所说喝得烂醉，无法开车，坐在副驾驶位置上，留下惊恐的切尔西待在后面，确定母亲还在呼吸。她告诉我那件事对她影响很大。“自那以后我成长得很快，”她说。（记者未能联系上布赖恩并请其置评。）

for comment.)
In Susan's native Wales, where Manning moved with her in 2001 after her parents split, Chelsea says she took over full control of the household, paying bills and handling much of the shopping. There was freedom there, too: She could buy her own makeup at the convenience store, wear it for a few hours in public and jam it into a waste bin on her way home. She passed many evenings on her computer, in L.G.B.T. chat rooms. Her worldview shifted. While in Crescent, Manning had imbibed her father's conservative politics – "I questioned nothing," she told me. But at Tasker Milward, a school in the town of Haverfordwest, she studied the civil rights movement, the Red Scare, the internment of Japanese-Americans during World War II. In a term paper for a history class, she expressed skepticism about the rationale for the American invasion of Iraq.	父母离婚后，曼宁于2001年随苏珊搬到其老家威尔士。切尔西说，在那里，她全盘掌管家中事务，付账单并负责很多东西的采购。那里也给了她自由：她可以在便利店给自己买化妆品，带妆在公共场合出现几个小时，然后在回家的路上将化妆品扔进垃圾桶。很多晚上她都是守着电脑在LGBT聊天室里度过的。在克雷森特生活的时候，曼宁曾吸纳父亲的保守派政治观点——“我一度不质疑任何事”，她告诉我。但在哈沃福维斯特镇的塔斯克尔·米尔沃德中学(Tasker Milward)，她学习了与民权运动、红色恐慌以及二战期间日裔美国人被囚禁有关的知识。在历史课的学期论文中，她表达了对美国入侵伊拉克合理性的怀疑。
When Manning returned to the United States in 2005 to live with Brian and his new wife in Oklahoma City, she was a changed person, if not a wholly transformed one: She wore eyeliner and grew out her hair and dyed it black. "I thought, Maybe I want to just eradicate this gender thing and be gender neutral, like androgynous," she told me. She found a job at an internet start-up and, through a matchmaking site, met her first boyfriend, who lived 70 miles away in the town of Duncan. But her stepmother, Manning said, forbade her from setting foot in the kitchen: "She felt that I was unclean."	当曼宁于2005年返回美国，与布赖恩及其续娶的妻子在俄克拉荷马市一起生活的时候，即便没有彻头彻尾地转变，也已经变了一个人：她画眼线，留长发，并将头发染成黑色。“我认为，或许我想要摆脱性别这种东西，成为中性的存在，就像雌雄同体”，她告诉我。她在一家互联网初创企业找到了份工作，还通过交友网站遇到了她的第一个男朋友，后者当时住在70英里外的邓肯镇。但曼宁说，她的继母禁止她踏足厨房：“她觉得我是不洁的。”
Manning confided to no one what she was increasingly coming to understand: that she wasn't gay, wasn't a cross-dresser. She was a	曼宁没有向任何人坦白她日益意识到的一件事：她不是同性恋，不是异装者。她是一个女人。2006年夏天，与男友分道扬镳后，她把自己的物品高高堆

woman. In the summer of 2006, she and her boyfriend parted ways, and she lit out from Oklahoma for good, all her belongings piled high in the cab of her red Nissan pickup truck. A spell of itinerancy followed — out to Tulsa, Okla., to work at a pizza parlor; up to Chicago to work at Guitar Center; east to the suburbs of Washington to live with her aunt, with whom she enjoyed a connection she never shared with her parents. She did four sessions with a psychologist, but got no closer to unburdening herself than she had with friends or family members. “I was scared,” Manning said. “I didn’t know that life could be better.”	在红色尼桑皮卡的驾驶室里，永远离开了俄克拉荷马市。随之而来的是四处漂泊的生活——前往俄克拉荷马州塔尔萨，在一家比萨店工作；还曾抵达芝加哥，在吉他中心(Guitar Center)工作；往东到了华盛顿郊区，和一个姑妈一起生活，与姑妈同住期间，她感受到了和父母之间从未有过的那种亲密。她在一名心理医生处接受过四次咨询辅导，但减压效果并没有超出与朋友或家人交流的程度。“我当时很害怕，”曼宁说。“我不知道生活可以变得更好。”
Brian Manning had often fondly recounted for Chelsea his days in the military: It had given him structure and grounding, he said. Manning hadn’t been ready to listen then. Now she was. Enlisting might be the thing to “man her up,” to rid her of the ache. Besides, while her ideas about American foreign policy had become more nuanced, she still considered herself a patriot — in the Army, she could use her analytical skills to help her country. “I remember sitting in the summer of 2007 and just every single day turning on the TV” and seeing the news from Iraq, she told me. “The surge, the surge, the surge. Terrorist attacks. Insurgents. ... I just felt like maybe I could make a difference.”	布赖恩·曼宁以前常常向曼宁动情地回忆其军旅生涯：他说那段岁月塑造了他的性格和脚踏实地的精神。曼宁当初还没做好把那些话听进去的准备。她现在准备好了。报名参军或许是一件可以让她变得“爷们些”、祛除她的痛苦的事情。此外，虽然对美国的外交政策的看法不再那么黑白分明，她依然认为自己是一名爱国者。“我还记得2007年夏天，我每天都坐在那里，打开电视”，收看来自伊拉克的新闻，她告诉我。“增兵，增兵，增兵。恐怖袭击。叛乱分子……我只是觉得或许我可以有所贡献。”
That fall, Manning reported for basic training at Fort Leonard Wood in the Missouri Ozarks; within a few days, she had suffered injuries to her arm. “The drill sergeants were acting like I was malingering or something,” she said. “But I was like: ‘No, I’m not trying to get out of anything. I just really can’t feel my right hand.’” A soldier who spent time with Manning in Missouri later recalled for The Guardian that	那年秋天，曼宁报名在密苏里州欧萨克的伦纳德伍德堡接受基础训练；几天后她的胳膊受了伤。“教官表现出来的样子就好像我在装病之类的，”她说。“但我的内心独白却是：‘不，我并非试图逃避什么东西。我只是真的无法感知到我的右手。’”一名曾和曼宁一起待在密苏里州的士兵后来向《卫报》(The Guardian)回忆，曼宁常常被称为“娘炮”。“到处都有人这么叫。他无法取悦任何人。他试过。他真的努力尝试过，”那名士兵说。

Manning was routinely called a “faggot.” “The guy took it from every side. He couldn’t please anyone. And he tried. He really did,” the soldier said.
The Army, in need of more bodies to fight the insurgencies in Afghanistan and Iraq, allowed Manning another shot at boot camp. In 2008, she graduated to intelligence school at Fort Huachuca in Arizona, which to her felt like a kind of community college. There, she was trained to sort what the military terms “SigActs,” or significant actions – the written reports, photos and videos of the confrontations, explosions and firefights that form the mosaic of modern war. Manning told me she fit in well with the intelligence types at Fort Huachuca, who shared her intrinsic geekiness. “There were more like-minded people there,” she said, adding, “It wasn’t ‘Rah, rah, you need to do this.’ They encouraged us to speak up. They encouraged us to have opinions, to make our own decisions.”	亟需更多人员去抗击阿富汗和伊拉克的叛军的美国陆军，在新兵训练营给了曼宁另一次机会。2008年，她完成基本训练，进入亚利桑那州华楚卡堡的情报学院——她觉得该学院有点儿像社区大学。在那里，她学习了如何对重大行动，也就是美国军事术语中的“SigActs”进行分类整理——这一工作所涉的关于对峙、爆炸和交火的书面报告、照片和视频，共同构成了现代战争的马赛克。曼宁告诉我，她在华楚卡堡和搞情报的那些人相处得很好，他们和她一样都有种内在的极客特性。“那里有更多志趣相投的人，”她说。她还表示，“不是‘来，来，你需要做这个’这种。他们鼓励我们说出自己的想法。鼓励我们自己的观点，做出自己的决定。”
At her first official duty station, Fort Drum in upstate New York, Manning was charged in part with helping to build a digital tool that would automatically track and sort SigActs from Afghanistan, where Manning’s unit initially expected to be deployed. For hours a day, she watched spectral night-vision video and read reports from distant battlefields. Already, she was being exposed to the bloodshed that would serve as inspiration for her leaks. But she was handling the material at a spatial and emotional reserve: She remained, she told me, “eager” to get to the front lines. “I was hungry.”	在第一个服役地点，纽约州北部的德鲁拉堡，曼宁的部分职责是帮助打造自动追踪和分类整理来自阿富汗的重大行动的数字化工具——曼宁所在的部队起初预计会被派驻到阿富汗。她每天花很多个小时观看幽暗的夜视视频、阅读来自遥远战场的报告。她已经见识到日后促使她泄密的那种血腥。但她处理材料时与之保持着空间和情感上的距离：她告诉我，她当时依然“渴望”上前线，“我的渴望非常迫切。”
Through a gay dating site, she met a bookish Brandeis student named	通过一个同性恋交友网站，她结识了就读于布兰迪斯大学、书卷气十足的泰

Tyler Watkins. She started driving to visit Watkins in the Boston area, where she became a regular at Pika, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology co-op, and visited Boston University's Builds, a hub of the local hacking community. At the Pika gatherings, she found friends that approached coding the same way she did: as outlet, pastime and calling. She often stayed up late into the night talking. Yan Zhu, then an undergraduate student at M.I.T., remembers Manning as "obviously intelligent," if "nervous." It was clear to Zhu that Manning was "haunted by something." But she never had a chance to find out what: That fall, Manning's unit was deployed to Iraq.	勒·沃特金斯(Tyler Watkins)。她开始驱车造访波士顿地区的沃特金斯——在那里她成了麻省理工大学(Massachusetts Institute of Technology)的合作生活社区 Pika 的常客；还曾到访波士顿大学(Boston University)的 Builds——当地黑客群体的一个枢纽。在 Pika 的聚会上，她找到了和自己看待编码的思维一致的朋友：视之为情感的发泄、消遣和使命。当时在麻省理工读本科的朱岩（Yan Zhu，音）回忆说，曼宁“显然很聪明”，虽然“有些焦虑”。朱岩清楚地知道，曼宁那时候“正被什么事情困扰着”。但她从未有机会找出答案：那年秋天，曼宁所在的部队被派往伊拉克。
In October 2009, Manning hopped a Black Hawk from Baghdad to Forward Operating Base Hammer, 30 miles east of the city. In the cabin, strapped into the chopper's jump seats, she began putting names to places that had long been digital abstractions. "I had seen imagery for nine or 10 months prior," Manning recalled, "I knew the landscape so well from the air that I recognized these neighborhoods, and it woke me up to see people walking around and to see people driving and to see the buildings and the trees below."	2009年10月，曼宁跳上一架黑鹰直升机，从巴格达飞往该市以东30英里处的哈默前方作战基地。机舱内，被固定在飞机活动座椅上的她开始把一些名字与此前对她而言一直是数字化抽象事物的东西对应起来。“我提前九或十个月就开始看图片，”曼宁回忆说，“我俯瞰下方，由于对那片土地非常了解，我认出了那些社区，激动地看着那里的人们走来走去，看着他们开车，看着那些建筑物和树木。”
Ringed by desert, the low-slung buildings of F.O.B. Hammer baked in the summer and coursed with mud in the fall. Every night, Manning rose from her bunk at 9 p.m., dressed in standard-issue visual camouflage and grabbed her rifle. After quickly eating dinner for breakfast, she walked to a Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility, or SCIF, to report for duty. Manning's SCIF was a glorified "plywood box" with lousy airflow, situated on a basketball court. She sat	哈默前方作战基地低矮的建筑为沙漠所环绕，夏天被阳光炙烤，秋天尘土飞扬。每天夜里9点，曼宁都会从铺位上起身，穿上标准配发的视觉伪装服，拿起步枪。飞快吃完相当于早餐的晚餐后，她会走进一个“敏感信息隔离设施”（Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility，简称 SCIF），开始工作。所谓 SCIF 其实只是“胶合板箱”的美称，空气流通极度不畅。曼宁的 SCIF 位于一个篮球场上，她要坐在罚球线边一把有靠背的办公椅上，对着三台笔记本电脑，值一整夜的班。曼宁的与世隔绝有了新形态：她躲在黑暗的 SCIF

at the free-throw line, in a reclining office chair, where she spent her overnight shift facing three laptop computers. Manning's isolation took on a new form: Hidden away in the darkened SCIF, she would work for eight hours at a stretch, sifting through reports filed securely by American troops in the field, making sense of the raw data for senior-level intelligence officers. She remained sealed off from actual conflict, though she could hear the shudder of car bombs and sometimes ran into soldiers, dazed and dusty, on their way back from a firefight.	里，一连工作八小时，筛查前线的美国军队通过安全方式提交的报告，为高级情报官员分析整理原始数据。她仍然与真实的冲突保持着距离，尽管她能听见汽车炸弹的爆炸声，有时还会遇到刚跟敌人交过火，晕晕乎乎、风尘仆仆的士兵。
At that early juncture, Manning told me, she was too busy to give much thought to the larger import of what she was seeing. "Doing my job, you couldn't even really read all the files," she said. "You have to skim, get a sense of what's relevant and what's not." Still, to an extraordinary extent, she had a more comprehensive view of America's role in Iraq than the infantry in the field did — often, literally, a sky-level view — and as October ground into November, she found herself increasingly dismayed by a lack of public awareness about what seemed to be a futile, ceaselessly bloody war. "At a certain point," she told me, "I stopped seeing records and started seeing people": bloody American soldiers, bullet-ridden Iraqi civilians.	曼宁告诉我，起初，她太忙了，顾不上对大量见闻作太多思考。“干我那份工作，你其实甚至无法看完所有文件，”她说。“你必须快速浏览，明白什么重要、什么无关紧要。”不过，比起前线的步兵，她在很大程度上对美国在伊拉克的角色有了更全面的看法——通常来说，简直是从空中俯瞰般的视角——10月过去，11月到来之际，她发现自己越来越惊愕于公众对这场似乎徒劳无功、无休无止的血腥战争竟然如此缺乏认识。“到了某一时刻，”她告诉我，“我不再看记录，而是开始看人”：流血的美国士兵，中弹的伊拉克平民。
On rare reprieves from the SCIF, Manning accompanied senior officers to meetings with the Iraqi military and the Iraqi federal police, sit-downs that further entrenched her disillusionment. "There would be these tea sessions, where you've got the Iraqi federal police in their blue uniforms, you've got Iraqi Army in, like, the old chocolate-chip	极少数情况下，曼宁不必待在 SCIF 里，而是陪同高级官员去和伊拉克军方以及伊拉克联邦警察局的人会晤，大家团团围坐的场合进一步加深了她的幻灭感。“在那些茶话会上，有身穿蓝色制服的伊拉克联邦警察，有身穿旧巧克力色迷彩服的伊拉克陆军，还有我们，身穿模糊的绿色数码迷彩服的美国人，”曼宁说——每个人都说着不同的语言，常常有着相反的目的，无法沟通。

camouflage and the Americans in our smeared green digital camouflage,” Manning said — everyone speaking in different languages, frequently at cross-purposes. “I’d come in thinking things would be black and white. They weren’t.”	“我本以为事情非黑即白。但事实并非如此。”
Manning told me she heard the name WikiLeaks for the first time in 2008, at a computer security training course at Fort Huachuca. By the end of 2009, she had started logging on to internet relay chat conversations devoted to the site. (I.R.C., a semisecure protocol, was then the preferred method of communication for hackers.) Initially, she was an observer: She was intrigued by the work that Julian Assange and his team were doing, if not quite ready to endorse their argument for total transparency. She told me that she believed then, and believes now, that “there are plenty of things that should be kept secret.” “Let’s protect sensitive sources. Let’s protect troop movements. Let’s protect nuclear information. Let’s not hide missteps. Let’s not hide misguided policies. Let’s not hide history. Let’s not hide who we are and what we are doing.”	曼宁告诉我，她第一次听说维基解密(WikiLeaks)这个名字，是2008年在瓦丘卡堡上计算机安全培训课的时候。到2009年末，她已经开始登陆那个网站的互联网中继聊天室(Internet Relay Chat, 简称IRC, 一种半加密协议, 是黑客们当时颇为青睐的交流方式)。起初, 她是一个观察者: 她被朱利安·阿桑奇及其团队正在做的工作深深吸引, 但不太认同他们关于绝对透明的观点。她告诉她当时认为——现在也依然认为——“很多事情都应该保密。”“敏感信源要受到保护。军队的行动要受到保护。核信息要受到保护。但我们不该掩盖过失。不该掩盖政策失误, 不该掩盖历史。不该掩盖我们是谁、我们在做什么。”
She was edging closer to acting but said nothing about the I.R.C. channel to her friends at F.O.B. Hammer, nor about her own personal tumult. She was now fighting to keep what amounted to two life-altering secrets. She couldn’t discuss her identity openly: The “don’t ask, don’t tell” policy was still in effect, and it would be years before transgender people were allowed to openly enlist. “I binge watched TV shows on the internet,” she said. “I was smoking heavily. I was drinking an enormous amount of caffeine. I was going to the dining facility and	她即将采取行动, 但从未跟哈默前方作战基地的朋友们谈起那个IRC频道, 也未谈起她自己内心的动荡。她现在正奋力保有二个堪称可以改变人生的秘密。她不能公开讨论自己的性别认同: “不要问, 不要说”的政策当时尚未废除, 要再过好几年, 跨性别人士才会获准光明正大地报名参军。“我在网上猛刷剧集。我抽烟抽得很凶。我喝大量咖啡。我去餐厅尽可能多地吃东西。只是想逃避片刻, 或者制造某种解脱之感。”她的男友基本没帮上什么忙: 曼宁能感觉到他离自己越来越远。“我不愿承认, 但我有种感觉……我正在被遗忘,” 她告诉我。

eating as much as I could. Just any little tiny escape or way to feel like I'm not there anymore." Her boyfriend was little help: Manning could feel him slipping away. "I was in denial about it, but I had a sense ... that I was being forgotten," she told me.
Manning had a two-week leave coming up. She planned to spend time in Boston, trying to patch things up with Watkins, and in the suburbs of Washington with her aunt. She dreamed about using the occasion to come out to her family and friends as trans. "I kept having this moment in my head," she told me, "where I just yell it at the top of my lungs." But she knew, in her heart, that she'd never be able to go through with it.	曼宁接下来有两周的假期。她打算去波士顿，设法和沃特金斯重拾旧好，还要去华盛顿郊区探望姑妈。她梦想着利用这个机会，以跨性别人士的身份向家人和朋友出柜。“我在脑海中不停想象着这样的时刻，”她告诉我，“把事情高声说出来。”但她心里清楚，她永远也无法闯过这一关。
Before leaving F.O.B. Hammer, Manning downloaded, from the government's Combined Information Data Network Exchange, almost every SigActs report from the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq and burned a compressed version of the data onto CD-RW discs, one of which was labeled "Lady Gaga." She did it in full view of her fellow soldiers. But what she did next violated the most important precepts she was taught at Fort Huachuca, along with the Oath of Enlistment she swore in 2007: She uploaded the contents of the discs onto the personal laptop she planned to take home to the United States. She had not decided what she would do with the data.	离开哈默前方作战基地前，曼宁从政府的综合信息数据网络交换(Combined Information Data Network Exchange)系统中下载了几乎所有的来自阿富汗和伊拉克战争的重大行动报告，并把经过压缩的数据烧制在 CD-RW 光盘上，其中一个光盘被标注为“Lady Gaga”。这一切都是在战友们眼皮底下进行的。但她接下来做的事情违背了她在瓦丘卡堡学到的最重要的戒律，也违背了她 2007 年的入伍誓言：她把光盘上的内容传到了她打算带回美国的私人笔记本电脑上。她尚未决定要拿这些数据怎么办。
Days later, Manning put on a blond wig and ran in a low crouch from the side door of her aunt's house, out of view of the neighbors, and drove to the train station. She wore a dark coat and, under it, business-casual woman's wear she bought at a local department store; she claimed it was for her friend who needed it for a job interview. In	几天后，曼宁避开邻居们的目光，戴着一顶金色假发，伏下身子从姑妈家的侧门跑出来，开车前往火车站。她穿着一件深色外套，里面是在当地一家百货商店买的女士商务便装——她当时声称是买给一个要去参加工作面试的朋友。在华盛顿，她去了星巴克，到一家人满为患的餐厅吃了午餐，在一个书店的过道里走来走去；随后，她回到地铁上，乘地铁漫无目的地转悠。她极

Washington, she went to a Starbucks, ate lunch at a busy restaurant and wandered through the aisles of a bookstore; later, she climbed back on the Metro and rode it aimlessly around. She took great pleasure in being seen as she knew she was and comfort in how easily she passed — rarely did anyone give her a second glance.	度欣喜于被视作一个知道自己是谁的人,轻轻松松与人擦肩而过的感觉让她颇为自在——很少有谁多看她一眼。
“Before I deployed, I didn’t have the guts,” Manning, who was then privately referring to herself as Brianna, told me. But her time in Iraq was changing her. “Being exposed to so much death on a daily basis makes you grapple with your own mortality,” she went on. She no longer wanted to hide.	“被派驻到伊拉克之前,我没有这种勇气,”曼宁告诉我,当时,她在私下里管自己叫布里安娜(Brianna)。但在伊拉克度过的时光改变了她。“每天看到那么多人死去,会促使你去思考自己生命的有限,”她继续说道。她不想再躲藏。
The expedition was the high point of a disappointing two-week leave. The Army had bumped up her departure from F.O.B. Hammer, and her family hadn’t had time to readjust their schedules: Manning’s aunt was on a trip abroad, and her sister had just had her first child — it would be tricky to carve out time for Chelsea. Manning took a train up to see Watkins at his home in Waltham, in Massachusetts, but she couldn’t shake the feeling that he didn’t really want her there, so she cut her stay short by three days.	这次出行是令人失望的两周假期的高光时刻。美国陆军批准曼宁离开哈默前方作战基地更长时间,她的家人来不及调整他们的安排,很难为切尔西抽出时间——姑妈正在国外旅行,姐姐刚生了第一个孩子。曼宁乘火车赶到沃特金斯位于马萨诸塞州沃尔瑟姆的家中去看他,但她总觉得对方其实并不想让她待在那儿,于是她把逗留时间缩短了三天。
At that point, it would have been possible for Manning to return to Iraq with the files unshared — her actions had been illegal, if reversible. But Manning told me that being in the United States had prompted an epiphany. At home, she says, she realized how invisible the wars had become to most civilians, whose awareness of Iraq extended as far as the occasional newspaper article or chyron on cable news. “There were two worlds,” she said. “The world in America, and the world I was	那时候,曼宁仍有可能带着未被泄露的文件返回伊拉克——即便她取消了自己的行动,也已经是非法的。但曼宁告诉我,身在美国令她产生了顿悟。她说,在国内她意识到,大多数民众根本看不到战争的真相,他们对伊拉克的了解不会超出报纸偶尔发表的文章或者有线电视新闻的字幕。“存在着两个世界,”她说。“美国的世界,以及我(在伊拉克)看到的世界,”她继续说道。“我想让人们看到我看到的世界。”

seeing [in Iraq],” She went on, “I wanted people to see what I was seeing.”
A blizzard hit Washington. Manning’s aunt still wasn’t back from vacation. Alone, Manning transferred parts of the files to a small memory card and prepared an anonymous text file she wanted to accompany the information. “This is possibly one of the more significant documents of our time removing the fog of war and revealing the true nature of twenty-first century asymmetric warfare,” she wrote. “Have a good day.”	一场暴风雪袭击了华盛顿。曼宁的姑妈仍然在外度假。曼宁独自把部分文件传到一张小小的存储卡上，并准备了一份她想要随这些信息一起发出的匿名文本文件。“这可能是关于我们这个时代的最重要的文件之一，它能拨开战争的迷雾，揭示 21 世纪不对等战争的真实本质，”她写道。“祝好。”
Manning told me her decision to provide the information to WikiLeaks was a practical one: She originally planned to deliver the data to The New York Times or The Washington Post, and for the last week of her leave, she dodged from public phone to public phone, calling the main office lines for both papers, leaving a message for the public editor at The Times and engaging in a frustrating conversation with a Post writer, who said she would have to know more about the files before her editor would sign off on an article. A hastily arranged meeting with Politico, where she hoped to introduce herself to the site’s security bloggers, was scrapped because of bad weather. “I wanted to try to establish a contact in a way that it couldn’t be traced to me,” Manning told me. But she was running out of time. She describes a clearheaded sense of purpose coming over her: “I needed to do something,” she told me. “And I didn’t want anything to stop that.”	曼宁告诉我，她把信息提供给维基解密是出于实际的考虑：她原先计划把这些数据交给《纽约时报》或《华盛顿邮报》(The Washington Post)。在休假结束前的最后一周，她换了一个又一个公用电话，给两家报纸的总办公室打电话，给时报的公众编辑留言，还与《华盛顿邮报》的一位作者进行过一次让人沮丧的通话，后者告诉她，她必须对那些文件有更多的了解，编辑才能决定做一篇报道。她也曾与《政治》(Politico)杂志匆忙约定过一次会面，但后来因为天气不好被取消了，她原本希望在那次会面中把自己介绍给这家网站的安全博客作者。“我想尽力建立起一种追踪不到我的关系，”曼宁告诉我。但她没有时间了。她说有一种清晰无误的使命感占据了她的身心：“我需要做点什么，”她对我讲道。“什么也不能阻挡。”
On Feb. 3, 2010, Manning signed onto her laptop and, using a secure file-transfer protocol, sent the files to WikiLeaks.	2010 年 2 月 3 日，曼宁登陆自己的笔记本电脑，用一个安全文件传输协议把文件发给了维基解密。

Back at F.O.B. Hammer, time sped up; everything seemed to be happening at once. Manning had been away two full weeks, and there was a lot to catch up on — “I had to triple my work,” Manning told me. There had been no sign that WikiLeaks received her files, nor any indication that the Army knew anything was amiss. She remembers being in a perpetual state of heightened anxiety. She slept less, smoked more.	回到哈默基地，事情的进展加快了；一切好像是同时安生了。曼宁离开了整整两周，有许多东西需要跟上的——“我得干三倍的活，”曼宁告诉我。没有迹象显示维基解密收到了她的文件，也没有任何迹象表明美国军队知道出了问题。她记得自己当时始终处在极度焦虑的状态。睡得更少，烟抽得更凶了。
In mid-February, on break from the SCIF, she noticed an interesting thread on the WikiLeaks I.R.C. channel, where participants were discussing the financial crisis in Iceland — a collapse that Manning, reading through the library of secure diplomatic cables available to her as an analyst, concluded was roiling onward because of the inaction of the United States and what she described as diplomatic bullying by the Netherlands and Britain. “From my perspective, it appeared that we were not getting involved due to the lack of long-term geopolitical benefit to do so,” she would later testify. Following the same steps as before, she leaked several diplomatic cables pertaining to the Iceland crisis to WikiLeaks; this time, within hours, WikiLeaks published the documents. Manning was thrilled: If the cables had reached WikiLeaks, the much larger leak of SigActs had almost certainly made it, too.	2月中的一次在 SCIF 的休息时间，她注意到维基解密的 IRC 频道上出现了一条有趣的对话串，参与者们在里面讨论冰岛的金融危机——这是曼宁通过阅览她作为分析师所能获得的安全外交电报得出的结论，认为这种崩溃正在蔓延，原因是美国不作为，以及她所说的荷兰和英国的外交霸凌。“在我看来，我们没有介入，是因为这么做从长远看没有什么地缘政治上的好处，”她在后来作证时说。依据与之前相同的步骤，她又给维基解密泄露了好几份与冰岛危机有关的外交电报；这一次，维基解密不到几个小时就发布了这些文件。曼宁感到十分兴奋：如果这些外交电报被维基解密收到了，那么几乎可以肯定，之前发的比这大的多的有关重要信息的泄密文件应该也收到了。
Around this time, Manning had several I.R.C. conversations with a person whom Manning identified in her online address book as “Nathaniel Frank,” after the author of the book “Unfriendly Fire: How the Gay Ban Undermines the Military and Weakens America.” Frank was almost certainly Assange, although Manning declined to discuss the	差不多在这个时候，曼宁与某个人进行了几次 IRC 聊天。在曼宁的在线地址簿上，她称此人为“纳撒尼尔·弗兰克”(Nathaniel Frank)，名字来源于《非己方火力：同性恋禁令如何破坏了军队，削弱了美国》(Unfriendly Fire: How the Gay Ban Undermines the Military and Weakens America)一书的作者。几乎可以肯定，弗兰克就是阿桑奇，不过曼宁拒绝和我讨论这个问题

matter with me — the bulk of the chats are classified and could be used in future legal actions against Assange.	——大部分聊天内容是机密，在未来的法律诉讼中，可能被用于对付阿桑奇。
Manning followed the transmissions of the SigActs and the Iceland cables with a leak that was harder to ignore. Published by WikiLeaks under the title “Collateral Murder,” the three-year-old video, captured by a camera mounted on an American helicopter, showed two gunships approaching a group of men in an area where there had been reports of small-arms fire. The helicopter crew repeatedly requests permission to engage — “Let us shoot!” a voice is heard saying — before receiving it and opening fire. In total, at least a dozen people were killed in the 2007 strike, including several civilians and two staff members of the Reuters news agency. Manning says she knew that Reuters, under the Freedom of Information Act, had asked the United States government for a copy of the video but never received it. This was symptomatic, she said, of the worst impulses of a government obsessed with blanket classification. “It makes sense to keep some information secret for a few days, maybe a few years,” she told me. “The problem is, more and more, everything is secret by default.”	在散播重大行动和冰岛电报之后，曼宁泄露了另一个更难忽视的机密。维基解密以《附带的谋杀》(Collateral Murder)为题，公布了那个三年前拍摄的视频。它是被安装在美国直升机上的一个摄像机拍到的。视频显示，在一个报告发生了轻武器交火的区域，两架武装直升机向一群人靠近。直升机上的人员多次要求准许进攻——“咱们开火吧！”有一个声音说道——而后，他们获得准许，开始开火。2007年的这次袭击总共至少导致十几人死亡，包括几个平民和路透社的两名工作人员。曼宁表示，她知道路透社曾根据《信息自由法》(Freedom of Information Act)要求美国政府提供视频拷贝，但从未收到过。她说，这是一个痴迷于全盘保密的政府最恶劣冲动的表现。“让某些信息保密几天、甚至几年是合理的，”她对我说。“问题是，慢慢地，一切都被默认为是机密。”
In long chat threads, Manning’s relationship with Nathaniel Frank deepened. She warmed to the role of truth-teller, handing over a small library of Detainee Assessment Briefs, or D.A.B.s, from the American holding facility at Guantánamo Bay. “Living such an opaque life, has forced me never to take transparency, openness and honesty for granted,” she wrote the former hacker Adrian Lamo, whom Manning had reached out to as a confessor and who was, unknown to Manning,	在漫长的聊天过程中，曼宁与纳撒尼尔·弗兰克的关系加深了。曼宁喜欢上了自己作为真相讲述者的角色，交出了关塔那摩湾美国拘押中心的一小份《拘留人员评估简报》(Detainee Assessment Briefs, 简称 DAB)。“这样一个不透明的环境已经迫使我决不把透明、公开和诚实当成是理所当然的，”她曾向前黑客阿德里安·拉莫(Adrian Lamo)写道。曼宁是把拉莫当作倾诉对象而跟他联系的，并不知道他已经在与政府调查者合作。

already working with government investigators.
Privately, however, she was coming apart. Army investigators looking into her case would later detail several episodes of what they termed "bizarre behavior," including blank stares and an incident in which Manning was found on the floor of a supply room, having carved the words "I WANT" into a nearby chair. She recalled that the unit, as a whole, was "on edge," breaking out into verbal arguments and brawls. Their deployment was coming to an end, "and that's when people start getting sick of each other and the personal animosity breaks out."	不过，当时在私下里，她已经在崩溃。调查她的案件的军方调查人员后来披露了几个他们称为“怪异行为”的细节，包括她迷茫的眼神，还有一次，曼宁被发现在一间库房的地板上往旁边的椅子上刻下“我想”(I WANT)的字样。她回忆说，当时整个小组都“紧张不安”，经常爆发言语争论和争吵。他们的行动正接近尾声，“人们开始厌倦彼此，个人敌意开始爆发”。
In April, Manning emailed an Army superior a photo of her as Brianna that she took in Washington while on leave. "Now I knew who I was," Manning told me. "But the people I'm around the most didn't." She titled the email "My Problem." The issue of her gender identity was "not going away," she wrote. "Now, the consequences of it are dire." (Manning said her captain confirmed receipt of the email but "swept it under the rug.")	4月，曼宁用电子邮件向军队上级发送了一张休假时在华盛顿拍的照片，上面是她打扮成布里安娜的样子。“现在我知道自己是谁，”曼宁告诉我。她写道：“但是我身边的大多数人不知道，”她的电子邮件标题是“我的问题”。她的性别认同问题是“不会消失的”，她写道。“现在，它已经带来严重后果。”（曼宁说，她的队长确认收到了这封电子邮件，但“把它当丑事瞒下来了”。）
Manning told me that she had resolved, in May, to go public with her role as whistle-blower, even as she was wrestling with how to express her gender identity. She was never able to settle on an approach. At the end of May, she was summoned to a conference room, where two agents from the Army Criminal Investigation Division were waiting. Manning was terrified, but she tried not to show it: "I was focused inward at that time: who I am, what my values are," she recalled. She retreated "inside [her] head." Days later, she was shackled, flown to Camp Arfijan in Kuwait and locked in a large steel cage. Kneeling down, she read the engraved words on the bars: Made in Fort Wayne.	曼宁告诉我，在5月，她已经决心以告密者的身份面对公众，但她仍在努力解决如何表达自己的性别认同这个问题。她一直无法确定该怎么做。五月底，她被叫进一个会议室，两名来自陆军刑事调查处的特工在那里等着她。曼宁很害怕，但是她努力没把恐惧表现出来：“当时我把精力集中在内心深处：我是谁，我的价值观是什么，”她回忆。她撤退到了自己的“头脑之中”。几天后，她被铐起来，坐飞机前往科威特的阿瑞坎军营，被锁进一个大钢笼里。她跪倒在地，读到栏杆上刻着的字：韦恩堡制造。

Seven years later, it remains difficult to overstate the impact of the Afghan and Iraq war logs, or the later publication of the diplomatic cables. "The material touched on virtually every relationship the United States had around the world," Crowley, the former State Department official, says of the cables. Repercussions came swiftly: Carlos Pascual, the United States ambassador to Mexico, resigned over cables in which he cast doubt on the effectiveness of the Mexican war on drugs, a revelation that poisoned Pascual's relationship with the Mexican president. Ambassador Gene Cretz was recalled from Libya after his cables detailed the peculiar workings of the regime of Col. Muammar el-Qaddafi, including a squad of female Ukrainian bodyguards. The release of cables regarding the Tunisian strongman Zine el-Abidine Ben Ali are often credited with helping to inspire the uprising in that country.	七年之后，无论是阿富汗和伊拉克战争日志，还是后来公开的外交电文，所产生的影响都还是无法估量的。“这些材料几乎触及了美国在世界各地的所有外交关系，”国务院前官员克劳利谈及电文时说。其后果旋即浮出水面：美国驻墨西哥大使卡洛斯·帕斯夸尔(Carlos Pascual)因为在电文中对墨西哥禁毒战的效果表示怀疑而辞职——相关电文的公布破坏了帕斯夸尔和墨西哥时任总统之间的关系。驻利比亚大使金尼·克雷兹(Gene Cretz)被召回，因为他在电文中详细描绘了穆阿迈尔·卡扎菲(Muammar el-Qaddafi)政权怪异的行事方式，其中包括雇佣一群乌克兰女保镖。人们还常常认为，与突尼斯强人领袖宰因·阿比丁·本·阿里(Zine el-Abidine Ben Ali)有关的电文被公布，在激发该国民众起义方面发挥了作用。
The Afghan and Iraq documents brought home, in exactly the way that Manning had hoped, the messiness of the two conflicts. The Guardian wrote in an introduction that the release of the material from Afghanistan revealed a war in stark contrast with the "tidied up and sanitized 'public' war, as glimpsed through official communiqués as well as the necessarily limited snapshots of embedded reporting."	与曼宁期待的情形一致，关于阿富汗和伊拉克战争的文件，向世人明明白白地展现了这两场冲突的龌龊之处。《卫报》(Guardian)在一篇介绍性文字中表示，来自阿富汗的文件所揭露的战争，截然不同于“经过倒饬和美化的‘公共’战争”，不同于人们从官方公报和必然受限的简略的嵌入式新闻报道中瞥见的那种。
American officials, caught off guard by the leaks, were furious. Elizabeth Dibble, a State Department official, later testified that the release of the cables prompted "horror and disbelief that our diplomatic communications had been released and were available on public websites for the world to see."	猝不及防的文件外泄令美国官员极为愤怒。国务院官员伊莉莎白·迪布尔(Elizabeth Dibble)后来作证说，电文的发布令人“震惊和难以置信，我们的外交往来就这样被公之于众，全世界的人都可以在公共网站上看到”。

The issue of whether American interests had been adversely affected by the release of the cables remains a charged one. In the full text of the Afghan war logs that appeared on the WikiLeaks site, Julian Assange made only partial redactions, leaving intact the names of some of the Afghans who had collaborated with coalition forces. (He showed what CNN later described as a “much heavier hand in redacting” names from the Iraq war logs.) In 2010, Representative Mike Rogers, a Michigan Republican, said that “we know for a fact that people will likely be killed because of this information being disclosed.” Subsequent reviews by The Associated Press and McClatchy found this risk to be “overstated,” and at Manning’s sentencing, government witnesses testified that no American deaths could be attributed to the leaks. Still, Crowley said, a lack of evidence of fatalities was not the same thing as a lack of damage: “She burned a number of intelligence sources,” he said. “She placed Afghans in danger who were telling us what the Taliban was doing in their villages.”

In her cage in Kuwait, Manning registered none of the fallout. “I was completely isolated,” she said. At a certain point, she concluded, “I’ve been forgotten about, and I’ve just disappeared.” She figured that Lamo had turned her in, but she wasn’t sure if word of her involvement in the leaks had been made public. It was the start of the hot season in Kuwait, and dust swirled in from outside, lodging in her teeth. Her only human contact was with the guards who brought her meals. “I had told the detention center when I got there that I was trans,” Manning told me. “‘I’m a woman,’ I said matter-of-factly. They laughed.” In utter isolation,

电文的发布是否损害了美国的利益，目前仍是一个充满争议的话题。维基解密网站发布完整的阿富汗战争日志时，朱利安·阿桑奇只是涂黑了部分内容，对一些与联军串通的阿富汗人的名字未作处理。（不过，如 CNN 后来所言，对于伊拉克战争日志里的名字，他“涂黑时下手要重很多”。）2010 年，密歇根州共和党众议员麦克·罗杰斯(Mike Rogers)表示，“可以肯定的是，一些人有可能因为这些信息遭到泄露而被杀害。”但美联社(The Associated Press)和麦克拉奇报业(McClatchy)进行的后续核查显示，这种风险被“夸大”了，而且在曼宁接受审判时，来自政府部门的证人作证说，没有任何美国人的死亡可以被归因为她的泄密之举。不过，克劳利说，缺乏与致人死亡有关的证据并不等于没有造成伤害：“她毁掉了许多情报源，”他说。“那些向我们告发塔利班在其村中所作所为的阿富汗人，因为她而置身险境。”

在科威特的那个钢笼里，曼宁对事情的余波一无所知。“我完全与世隔绝。”她说。在某种程度上，她下结论说，“我已经被遗忘，我根本就是消失了。”她估摸自己被拉莫出卖了，但不确定有关她参与泄密事件的消息是否已被公开。当时的科威特刚刚进入暑季，从外边刮进来的尘土粘在她的牙齿上。她唯一能接触到的人是给她送饭的警卫。“我一到拘押中心就告诉他们，我是跨性别者，”曼宁告诉我。“我是女人，’我坦言相告。他们笑了起来。”在完全的孤立中，曼宁发现自己正被愤怒和悲伤吞噬。官员们注意到了曼宁的律师所说的她“不受控制地呼喊、尖叫、颤抖、含糊叫嚷、用头撞向牢笼、喃喃自语”的情景。

Manning found herself consumed with rage and sadness. Officials observed what Manning’s attorney called an episode of “yelling uncontrollably, screaming, shaking, babbling, banging your head against your cell and mumbling.”
Manning told me: “I was afraid I was going to be in that little cell or something like that little cell for the rest of my life. And that bad things were going to happen to me.” After a week, she fashioned a noose from bedclothes and made what she told me was a “halfhearted attempt” at suicide. “I kind of knew it wasn’t going to work.” It got the staff’s attention, and according to a medical evaluation later obtained by Manning’s legal team, a military doctor would diagnose anxiety, depression and “probable gender identity disorder.” She was given an antidepressant, which made her nose bleed and caused serious nausea. She couldn’t eat. Her skin eventually turned sallow. In late July, four days after the Afghan logs appeared in The Guardian and other papers, Manning was shackled and loaded onto a chartered military flight. She said that previously, guards had told her she would be “whisked away to a Navy cruiser” for months; now her escorts said she was going to Guantánamo. Halfway through the flight, the story changed a final time: She was going to the brig at the Marine base at Quantico, in Virginia.	曼宁对我说：“我担心自己后半生都会在那个小小牢房里或类似的小牢房里度过。我觉得会有糟糕的事情发生在我身上。”一周后，她用铺盖做了一个套索，进行了一次她称为“半心半意的”自杀尝试。“我差不多知道，我死不了。”它引起了看管人员的注意，根据曼宁的法律团队后来获得的医疗评估，一名军医诊断她患有焦虑症、抑郁症，“很可能还有性别身份障碍”。医生给她开了抗抑郁药，导致她鼻腔出血，严重恶心。她吃不下饭。她的皮肤最终变成了蜡黄色。7月底，阿富汗日志在《卫报》等报纸上公布四天后，曼宁被戴上镣铐，送上一架军用包机。她说，之前看守对她说，她将被“送到一艘海军巡洋舰上”关几个月。现在，押送者又说要把她送往关塔那摩。在飞行途中，情况最后一次发生变化：她将被送往弗吉尼亚匡蒂科海军基地的禁闭室。
It was there, on arrival, that she learned the world knew who she was. “So you’re Manning!” a heavysset Marine said with unnerving enthusiasm. Manning was all over Fox News, he added. In transferring Manning to Quantico, the government said it was providing Manning	到达之后，她才得知，全世界都已经知道她是谁。“所以，你就是曼宁！”一名魁梧的海军陆战队员带着令人不安的热情说。他还说，福克斯新闻天天都在说曼宁的事。在把曼宁转往匡蒂科时，政府声称会给她提供更适合她脆弱精神状况的设施。不过，2011年，部分作为对曼宁遭遇的回应而进行的一

with facilities better suited to her fractured mental state. But a 2011 military investigation, undertaken in part as a response to Manning's treatment, would reveal the opposite: At Quantico, Manning spent 23 hours a day in a 6-by-8-foot cell, for nearly nine months, much of it on Prevention of Injury, or P.O.I., status, in conditions that a United Nations special rapporteur later said could qualify as torture. While on P.O.I. watch, Manning wore what's known as a "suicide smock," a white nylon garment that is all but impossible to twist or rip into a noose. She had no pillow, no sheets. She was required to give regular verbal confirmation during the day that she was O.K. (After the investigation, the military ordered that Quantico's whole pretrial confinement area be shut down.)	项军事调查表明，情况正相反：在匡蒂科，曼宁每天有 23 个小时待在 6 乘 8 英尺大的牢房里，关了近 9 个月，大部分时间是处于预防伤害(Prevention of Injury, 简称 POI) 状态。联合国特别调查员后来称她的生活条件可以被称为折磨。在预防伤害期间，曼宁穿着所谓的“防自杀罩衣”，它是一种白色尼龙服装，几乎不可能扭动或撕成套索。她没有枕头，也没有床单。白天，她被要求定期口头确认自己没有问题(调查结束后，军方下令关闭匡蒂科的整个审判前监禁区)。
When I asked Manning this spring to describe those conditions, she answered in the present tense. "Emotions can be more intense," she said. "There isn't any release for them. A mean comment by a guard" — commonly a gibe about her gender — "can set you off. Completely off. I know I have stood in a cell at times, locked down with nowhere to go, pacing with anger and frustration. It just stews inside of you, and you're helpless," she went on. "I just start yelling, at no one in particular, or singing at the top of my lungs."	今年春天，我让曼宁描述当时的生活情况时，她用现在时态给予回答。“情绪更激烈，”她说，“没有任何释放的出口。看守一句刻薄的话——通常是对她性别的嘲弄——“会把你逼疯。彻底逼疯。有时我知道自己困在牢里，无处可去，因愤怒和沮丧而不安地踱步。内心很煎熬，特别无助，”她接着说道。“我开始喊叫，不是冲着某个人喊，或者声嘶力竭地唱歌。”
But Manning could occasionally receive outside visitors, and her aunt came to the brig. "Even though it was behind a Plexiglas window and we couldn't talk without recording equipment around," Manning told me, "it was one of the most powerful meetings I'd ever had." They whispered to each other. "We love you," her aunt told her. "We miss	不过，曼宁偶尔可以会见外面的来访者，她的姑妈来到看守所。“虽然我们中间隔着树脂玻璃，周围都是录音设备，”曼宁对我说，“但对我来说，那是最有力的会面之一。”她们小声交谈。“我们爱你，”姑妈对她说，“我们想念你。”她们打算请一名独立律师，最终选择了戴维·库姆斯(David Coombs)，他是一名四十出头、作风强硬的律师，曾在军法署(Army's Judge Advocate

you.” They made plans to hire an independent attorney, eventually selecting David Coombs, a forceful lawyer in his early 40s who had served more than a decade in the Army’s Judge Advocate General’s Corps.	General’s Corps)供职十多年。
Word of Manning’s treatment in Kuwait and Quantico had begun to filter out, reaching legal eminences like Laurence Tribe and Kwame Anthony Appiah, who signed an open letter criticizing what they described as “conditions that are illegal and immoral.” In the spring of 2011, the government transferred Manning again, this time to the Midwest Joint Regional Correctional Facility at Fort Leavenworth. In Kansas, she was released into general population; it was, Manning recalled, “an utter shock to the system, because I had been in shackles everywhere I went or in a small room or a cage.”	曼宁在科威特和匡蒂科的遭遇开始传出，传到了劳伦斯·特赖布(Laurence Tribe)和克瓦米·安东尼·阿皮亚(Kwame Anthony Appiah)等法律界名人那里，他们签署了一封公开信，批评他们所称的“非法和不道德的拘留条件”。2011年春，政府再次将曼宁转走，这一次是送往莱文沃思堡的中西部联合管教所(Midwest Joint Regional Correctional Facility)。在堪萨斯州，她和其他人关押在一起。曼宁回忆说，这“彻底动摇了整个系统，因为之前不管去哪里，我都戴着镣铐，或者被关在小房间或牢笼里”。
At the facility, inmates weren’t required to work, so she spent her time in the library, helping Coombs and his assistants prepare her case. She faced a staggering number of violations, 22 in all, from circumventing security mechanisms to aiding the enemy, an offense that carried with it the possibility of life in prison. For two months that spring, with Manning moved to a civilian prison outside Fort Meade, in Maryland, Coombs sparred with government lawyers, highlighting what he termed the general “lawlessness” of Manning’s unit and the poor security protocols in place in her SCIF. He eventually argued that Manning’s gender dysphoria — and the inability of the Army to provide treatment — might have affected Manning’s mental capacity and judgment. A few days later, the judge found Manning guilty on all but	在这个地方，囚犯不需要工作，所以她待在图书馆里，帮助库姆斯和助手们准备她的案件。她面对数量惊人的22项违规行为指控，从规避安全机制到通敌，后者有可能令她被判终身监禁。春天的两个月里，曼宁被转移到马里兰州米德尔堡之外的一座平民监狱，库姆斯与政府律师们争吵，强调了曼宁所在部队单位存在他所说的普遍的“目无法纪”状态，以及她的SCIF中的安全规章很糟糕。最后，他辩称，曼宁的性别焦虑——以及军队无法提供治疗——可能会影响到曼宁的智力和判断力。几天后，法官判决曼宁几乎犯有全部罪行，只有两项除外。她被免除了通敌罪行，避免了终身监禁。曼宁告诉我，这个判决令她如释重负，不仅仅是因为那些明显的原因：她还担心通敌指控将为起诉泄密者定下一个可怕的先例。“我现在仍然担心这种指控遭到滥用，”曼宁说。

two counts. Manning was spared a conviction for aiding the enemy and avoided a life sentence. Manning told me that she was relieved, and not only for the obvious reasons: She worried that an aiding-the-enemy charge would set a frightening precedent for the prosecution of whistle-blowers. "I still worry about how that charge can be misused," Manning said.
She herself had resolved not to make her own gender identity public during the court-martial, worried that it would complicate an already unwieldy trial. But listening to the testimony of Lauren McNamara, a transgender friend who testified at the sentencing hearing, she found she had reached a breaking point. "I was tired of pretending," she told me. She wrote a statement identifying herself as Chelsea, a name she used as a child for her handle on the Sims video game. On Aug. 22, David Coombs appeared on NBC's "Today" show. The co-host Savannah Guthrie read from the statement: "As I transition into the next phase of my life, I want everyone to know the real me. I am Chelsea Manning. I am female." Manning didn't see the segment or the reaction to it. She was on a plane, on her way to the United States Disciplinary Barracks at Fort Leavenworth.	她自己决定不在法庭上公开自己的性别认同,担心这会使已经很繁琐的审判变得更加复杂化。但是,听到在判决听证会上作证的跨性别朋友劳伦·麦克纳马拉(Lauren McNamara)的证词,她发现自己已经到了崩溃的极限。“我厌倦了伪装,”她告诉我。她写了一个声明,将自己称为切尔西,这个名字是她小时候玩 Sims 游戏时用的。8月22日,戴维·库姆斯出现在NBC的《今日》(Today)节目上。主持人之一萨万娜·格思里(Savannah Guthrie)读了她的声明:“当我转变到人生下一个阶段的时候,我希望大家认识真正的我。我是切尔西·曼宁。我是女性。”曼宁没有看到这段节目以及人们对它的反应。她当时正在前往美国莱文沃思堡军事监狱的飞机上。
The U.S.D.B. lies at the far northern end of Fort Leavenworth, not far from the headquarters of the 40th Military Police Internment and Resettlement Battalion. The maximum-security complex, with its 515 beds, is reserved for the military prisoners serving the longest sentences, housing offenders like Robert Bales, the Army staff sergeant convicted in 2013 of slaughtering 16 Afghan civilians. For almost the	美国军事监狱(USDB)位于莱文沃思堡北端,离第40军警拘押和安置营(40th Military Police Internment and Resettlement Battalion)总部不远。这个最高安全级别的监狱有515张床,用于安置服刑时间最长的军事囚犯,在这里服刑的人包括2013年被控屠杀16名阿富汗平民的罗伯特·贝尔斯上士(Robert Bales)。曼宁在那里服刑期间,几乎一直住在二层。她的牢房十分狭小,只有一张简易床、一个马桶、一面镜子和一个水槽。唯一的一扇窗

entirety of her time there, Manning lived on the second floor. Her cell was narrow and small; there was a cot, a toilet, a mirror and a sink. The one window faced north, affording her a view of the surrounding landscape. In the vacuum of prison, the weather became theater: The snow that piled up against the cyclone fencing. The forked lightning that spidered the sky, sending deer and rabbits skittering for cover.	户朝北，能让她看到周围的风景。在与世隔绝的监狱里，天气就成了戏剧：白雪堆积在铁丝网上。叉状闪电划过天空，吓得鹿和兔子慌乱地寻找遮蔽物。
At Manning’s court-martial, Coombs had introduced as evidence the photo his client emailed to a superior in 2010. The image was later distributed to the news media, and by the fall of 2013, it had appeared alongside hundreds of articles on Manning’s transition. To Manning, the idea that it should come to define her was painful. “It was just so far from her experience at Leavenworth,” Evan Greer, a trans activist and friend, told me. “And I think some people saw that image, that luscious wig, and figured she was given that kind of freedom behind bars.”	在曼宁的军事法庭审讯期间，库姆斯将 2010 年他的客户通过电子邮件发给一位上司的照片作为呈堂证供。那张照片后来发给了新闻媒体，并在 2013 年秋随附成百上千篇关于曼宁跨性别转渡的文章一起刊登了出来。那张照片成为曼宁的形象代表，这对她来说是很痛苦的。“那跟她在莱文沃思堡的经历有天壤之别，”跨性别活动人士、曼宁的朋友埃文·格里尔(Evan Greer)对我说。“我认为，有些人看到了那张照片，那个绚丽的假发，以为她在狱中那么自由。”
In reality, every aspect of Manning’s appearance was being governed by Army rules, from her briefs to her hair, which she was required to wear, per Section 670-1 of Army regulations, in a “neat and conservative style.” Manning was in a position that can be difficult for non-trans people to understand: She had come out as female but was still being addressed and treated as if she were male — often pointedly, by the Leavenworth staff. Vincent Ward, one of Manning’s attorneys, recalls observing the way the prison guards treated his client. Ward, a former military lawyer, said he knew “who these people were. I knew the personality types. From the minute that you walked in, you could sense the bullying, the smirks, the comments.” It is a kind of isolation that can	但实际上，曼宁在外表上处处受到军规的约束，从内裤到发型——按照军规第 670 款第 1 条的规定，她的发型必须保持“整洁、保守的风格”。非跨性别人士很难理解曼宁当时的处境：她已经公开宣布自己是女性，但依然被按照男性称呼和对待——尤其是莱文沃思堡的工作人员。曼宁的一位律师文森特·沃德(Vincent Ward)回忆称，自己观察过那些监狱看守对待自己客户的方式。沃德曾是一名军方律师。他说，他知道“那些人是什么样的。我知道那种性格类型。从你走进监狱的那一刻起，你就能感受到霸凌、嘲笑和非议”。那种隔绝可能引发激烈的行为：研究过跨性别囚犯的临床心理学家发现，在不给予适当药物治疗的情况下，囚犯发生自杀和出现抑郁症的几率很高。在最糟糕的情况下，有些囚犯试图自己动手改变生殖器。

induce drastic action: Clinical psychologists who work with trans prisoners have documented high levels of suicide and depression in inmates not given appropriate medical treatment. In worst-case scenarios, prisoners have tried to alter their own genitalia by hand.
To friends and the members of her legal team, Manning spoke regularly, and with despair, of feeling “poisoned” by the testosterone in her body and of a ghostlike invisibility: If people couldn’t see her as she actually was, what use was living? On entering the U.S.D.B. in 2013, Manning requested access to the regimen of estrogen and anti-androgen drugs prescribed to people undergoing a male-to-female transition. She was refused: The Army did not yet sanction hormone therapy for soldiers, let alone for prisoners. Manning’s treatment would be limited to antidepressants and counseling sessions with a psychotherapist. “Permitting Mr. Manning to live as female, much less begin to feminize his body, will create operational challenges as the inmate population respond to these changes,” prison administrators wrote in an internal memo later obtained by the A.C.L.U.	曼宁经常向朋友和法律团队的成员绝望地谈到，她感觉自己被身体里的睾酮和一种幽灵般的不可见性“毒害”：如果人们看不见她的真实样子，那么活着还有什么意义呢？从2013年一转到美国军事监狱起，曼宁就要求服用从男性变为女性所需的雌激素和抗雄激素药物。她被拒绝了：军方还没有批准对士兵进行激素治疗，更别提对犯人了。对曼宁的治疗仅限于抗抑郁药物和心理治疗师的咨询。“允许曼宁作为女性生活——更别提开始让他的身体女性化——将带来操作上的困难，因为囚犯会对这些变化作出反应，“在美国公民自由联盟(American Civil Liberties Union)后来获得的内部备忘录中，监狱管理人员写道。
The prison was unbending in its stance for nearly a year. Meanwhile, one of Manning’s lawyers — Chase Strangio, who himself is trans — grew increasingly worried that his client might try to hurt herself again; eventually, he filed a lawsuit against the Department of Defense. The suit cited a clinical evaluation from the psychologist Randi Ettner and said Manning was “experiencing significant distress and is at high risk for serious medical consequences, including self-castration and suicide.” In the summer of 2014, the Army agreed to send women’s	有将近一年的时间，这所监狱没有改变自己的立场。与此同时，曼宁的一名同为变性者的律师沙斯·斯特兰吉奥(Chase Strangio)越来越担心，他的客户可能会再次尝试伤害自己。最后，他向国防部提起了诉讼，其中提到了心理学家兰迪·埃特内(Randi Ettner)的临床评估，称曼宁“正经受巨大的心理痛苦，极有可能导致严重的医疗后果，包括自宫和自杀”。2014年夏天，军方同意给曼宁的牢房派送女用内衣，这在全军任何一个部门都是前所未有的（莱文沃斯县的民法法官批准曼宁将自己出生证上的名字改为切尔西·伊丽莎白·曼宁）。2015年初，曼宁开始进行激素治疗，药物在食堂附近的医务室

underwear to Manning’s cell — a first for any branch of the military. (A civilian judge in Leavenworth County had granted Manning’s request to change the name on her birth certificate to Chelsea Elizabeth Manning.) Hormone therapy followed in early 2015, with the drugs distributed in pill form from a medical dispensary near the cafeteria.	以药片形式发放。
To Manning, the early stages of hormone therapy were deeply fulfilling: her skin softened, her body hair thinned. But with the welcome physical changes came unnerving intellectual ones. “I’d built all these defenses and walls around my emotions over the years, since being a teenager,” Manning told me. “When my testosterone levels plummeted, I suddenly became more vulnerable emotionally. I could no longer just hide my emotions: I had to deal with them, usually right there and then.” And the emotions often came faster than Manning could process: “Good ones, like confidence, and a sense of connection with my friends, mixed in with a lot of bad ones, like doubt, loneliness, uncertainty and loss.” For support, Manning spoke regularly to others in the trans community: Strangio and Annie Danger, a trans artist and activist. Danger listened as Manning experimented with her voice, “putting it in different pitches in an effort to find out what felt right,” Danger told me. “I tried to talk her through that searching process, that evolutionary process, which can be so important. You’re literally finding your voice.”	对曼宁而言，激素疗法在初期极其有效：她的皮肤变软，体毛也变细了。但随着这种可喜的身体变化而来的，是让人不安的理智变化。“自青少年时期以来，这么多年里我建起了种种抵御情绪的围墙，”曼宁对我讲道。“当睾酮水平骤降时，我的情绪突然变得更加脆弱。我根本无法再掩饰自己的情绪：必须解决它们，而且通常要在当时当地。”这些情绪上来的速度超出了曼宁能掌控的范围：“好的情绪——比如信心和一种与朋友相连的感觉——混杂在许多坏情绪中，比如怀疑、孤独、不确定和迷茫。”为了获得支持，曼宁经常与跨性别者群体里的其他人谈心：斯特兰吉奥和跨性别艺术家、活动人士安妮·丹吉尔(Annie Danger)。丹吉尔见证了曼宁摸索自己的女声的过程，“把它放在不同的音高，试图找到自己感觉舒服的位置，”丹吉尔告诉我。“我努力跟她讲清楚那个摸索、进化的过程，这个过程十分重要。这真的是在寻找自己的声音。”
At the U.S.D.B., Manning’s days took on a mundane, lulling rhythm. Most mornings, she woke up at 4:30 a.m. and, shrugging off the green sheets, dressed in the light of the bare bulb that hung above her bed: the white sports bra; the oversize prison uniform that hung, scarecrow-like, off	在莱文沃思堡军事监狱，曼宁过着单调而平静的生活。大多数早上，她都在4点半醒来，离开绿色的床铺，就着挂在床上方的裸灯泡的灯光穿上衣服：白色运动内衣；过大的囚服——在她瘦小的骨架上晃动，犹如稻草人；以及军队发的靴子。“好的，”她一边在镜子前检查自己的衣着一边说。“你能做到。”

her thin frame; the Army-issue boots. "O.K.," she would say, examining herself in the mirror. "You can do this." After a quick breakfast in the cafeteria, it was down to the prison wood shop, where she and a crew of inmates built, from scratch, the furniture sold at the base commissary. On the invitation of another prisoner, she joined a weekly Dungeons & Dragons game, playing as Esvele Dundragon, a female noble.	在餐厅快速用完早餐，然后去监狱的木头工厂，和一群囚犯从零开始制作用来在军营杂货店出售的家具。在另一位狱友的邀请下，她加入了每周一次的“龙与地下城”游戏，在其中扮演女贵族埃斯韦莱·邓恩德拉贡(Esvele Dundragon)。
Manning told me that even as she transitioned, she never felt physically threatened by the other prisoners, as she did the staff. "Of all the people in my entire experience" in government custody, she said, the ones "who have been consistently good to me were the other inmates — like, I'm not saying they were excited or happy or approved of me or anything." Manning says she counted a handful of inmates among her close friends, among them Clint Lorange, an Army platoon leader convicted of second-degree murder for ordering his men to open fire on three unarmed Afghan civilians. "Remember that all these folks were active military before they were incarcerated," David Hammond, a lawyer assigned to Manning by the Army's Defense Appellate Division, said in describing the dynamic to me. "The discipline carries over."	曼宁告诉我，即便在转渡后，其他囚犯也没有像看守那样对她进行肢体威胁。她说，在我于政府关押期间“遇到的所有人里”，那些“一直对我很好的人是其他囚犯——我不是说他们有多兴奋、高兴或赞同我什么的。”曼宁表示，少数几名狱友成为她的好朋友，其中包括克林特·劳伦斯(Clint Lorange)，他是一名陆军排长，因命令自己的士兵朝三名手无寸铁的阿富汗平民开火而被判二级谋杀。“要知道，在被关起来之前，这些人都是现役军人，”被军队的辩护上诉部指派为曼宁辩护的律师戴维·哈蒙德(David Hammond)在向我描述这种机制时说。“那种纪律性会保持下去。”
In April 2014, the Army denied Manning's clemency application, choosing to uphold, in full, her 35-year sentence. There remained the distant possibility of a presidential pardon or commutation, but Manning had no reason to expect one: The White House had condemned the leaks, as had the secretary of state, Hillary Clinton. The best option, Manning knew, lay in the formal appeal. But Manning's	2014年4月，部队拒绝了曼宁请求宽大处理的申请，选择支持给她判整整35年刑期。虽然还有总统赦免或减刑的渺茫希望，但曼宁没有理由期待这个：白宫已经对泄密行为进行了谴责，国务卿希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)也是如此。曼宁知道，对她来说，最好的选择就是正式上诉。但曼宁与监狱当局的斗争已经进入了第三年，她感觉累了。她的头发还是剪成标准的男性长度。警卫们毫不留情。“如果你试图让他们在性别上更中立一些，他们就

fight with the prison authorities was grinding into its third year, and she was tired. Her hair was still being cut to male standards. The guards were relentless. "If you were trying to get them to be more gender neutral, they would make a point of being very gender specific," Manning said. And a request for gender reassignment surgery had been met with silence. (According to Manning's lawyers, the Army approved the surgery last September, but set no timeline for its completion.) The U.S.D.B., in her mind, was "creating, often deliberately and knowingly, situations that cause high levels of stress on any given number of people. This breaks people down. Good people break down."	会特别强调性别，"曼宁说。她提出的进行变性手术的请求，也遭到了沉默的对待（据曼宁的律师透露，军队在去年9月批准了这项手术，但没有确定完成手术的时间表）。在曼宁看来，莱文沃思堡军事监狱"给一些人制造了一种会导致高压水平的环境，而且往往是有意为之。这会让人垮掉。好人会垮掉。"
In July 2016, one of Manning's closest friends at the U.S.D.B., Anthony Raby, was seated at a bench in the embroidery shop, sewing name tapes for Army recruits, when a fellow prisoner dropped a note onto his table. "It's from your girlfriend," the man said. Raby didn't have to ask who the man was referring to.	安东尼·拉比(Anthony Raby)是曼宁在美国军事监狱最亲密的朋友之一。2016年7月的一天，拉比正坐在钩编车间的长凳上为陆军新兵缝名签，一名狱友把一封信放在他面前的桌子上。"你女朋友给你的，"那人说道。拉比不用问就知道对方说的是谁。
A former Army specialist serving three decades for the rape of a young child, Raby had first met Manning in 2013, shortly after her arrival at the U.S.D.B. It was his first encounter with a transgender person; he recalls thinking Manning resembled a "sad, strange little man." In a letter from the U.S.D.B., Raby wrote: "The idea that someone could believe they were a gender other than what they were born was akin to believing a chicken was a hat. I just didn't understand. However, as a Christian, I fully believe in showing everyone love and compassion, so we talked."	曾为陆军专业军士、因强奸一名幼童而被判30年有期徒刑的拉比，与曼宁相识于2013年，就在她抵达美国军事监狱不久后。那是他第一次遇到跨性别人士；他回忆说，曼宁当初给他的印象是一个"悲伤、古怪的小人儿"。拉比在寄自军事监狱的信中写道："一个人认为其性别与出生时的性别不同，这就好比认为一只鸡是一顶帽子。我根本搞不明白。不过，作为一名基督徒，我完全相信，应该向每个人展示爱与慈悲，因此我们聊了聊。"
Raby admired Manning's intelligence, her wit, her unapologetic weirdness. "I'm all right with the weird," Raby wrote. Manning visited his	拉比钦慕曼宁的聪明、机智，以及毫不掩饰的古怪。"我和古怪的人处得来，"拉比写道。曼宁经常去他的牢房跟他说话，在他面前发泄情绪，或哭泣——

cell frequently to talk or vent or cry — taking care not to stay too long and violate the prison policy of one person to a unit. Raby, more than anyone else at the U.S.D.B., seemed to understand the toll that incarceration was taking on Manning. “Prison isn’t the best place for anyone who actually has actual emotions besides hate, anger, bitterness, apathy or indifference,” he wrote.	并小心翼翼地避免因为逗留太长时间而违反狱方关于一人一牢房的规定。拉比似乎比美国军事监狱中的其他任何人都更明白监禁给曼宁带来的不良影响。“对于任何一个真正拥有除仇恨、愤怒、怨毒、冷淡或冷漠以外的真实情感的人，监狱都不是最好的去处，”他写道。
Now his worst fears were confirmed. Unfolding the note, which was folded and sealed shut with spare adhesive from a stamp book, Raby read the header: “Chelsea E. Manning, re: My Final Letter.” He scanned the first page. Manning wrote that she would kill herself after the base’s Fourth of July fireworks display came to a close. The fireworks had ended at 10 p.m. It was already 12:25 a.m.	现在，他的担忧得到证实。展开那封折叠起来并以一本邮票簿的备用胶封好的信，拉比看到的标题是：“切尔西·E·曼宁，关于：我的最后一封信。”他浏览了第一页纸。曼宁写道：她会在监狱7月4日的烟花表演结束时自杀。而烟花表演已于晚上10点结束。当时已是午夜12点25分。
Raby notified a guard in the embroidery shop and handed over Manning’s letter. “About 1 a.m., I heard an announcement over the guard’s radio about an alert in Manning’s housing unit,” Raby told me. “I was pacing like a madman, sure they had not gotten to her in time.” Not wanting to aggravate the staff, Raby struggled to keep his composure. Around 3:30 a.m., he was approached by an Army investigator: Manning was alive.	拉比通知了钩编车间的一名警卫，并上交了曼宁的信。“凌晨1点左右，我听见警卫在广播里宣布对曼宁的监区实施警戒，”拉比告诉我。“我像个疯子一样踱步，以为他们没有及时救下她。”拉布不想激怒工作人员，竭力保持冷静。凌晨3点半左右，一名陆军调查员走过来告诉他：曼宁还活着。
Officials have declined to provide details about the incident, and Manning told me she only remembers waking up in an ambulance. But people with knowledge of the situation said Manning tried to hang herself and was recovered by guards, breathing but unresponsive. Manning told me that in the days leading up to the suicide attempt, she felt unusually low and alone. She had been determined to push through	官员们拒绝提供关于此事的细节，曼宁则告诉我，她只记得自己在一辆救护车中苏醒过来。不过知情者称，曼宁企图上吊，被警卫救了下来，有呼吸但没反应。曼宁对我说，在企图自杀前的日子里，她觉得极度低落和孤独。她曾下定决心撑到漫长周末的尽头，届时她的心理医生将返回美国军事监狱。“我没能做到，”她说。

to the end of the long weekend, when her psychologist would be back on base. "I didn't make it," she said.
In early September, she embarked on a hunger strike to protest what she called the "constant and overzealous administrative scrutiny by prison and military officials." She ended the hunger strike when the prison vowed to provide her with gender-reassignment surgery, an unprecedented accommodation.	去年9月初，她以绝食抗议她所称的“狱方与军方官员给予的无休止的、过分热切的审视”。直到狱方做出前所未有的妥协，公开宣布为她提供性别重置手术，她才停止绝食。
By the end of September, Manning was sentenced to an additional two weeks in solitary, with one week suspended. Her crime was conduct that threatens the orderly running of the barracks — her suicide attempt.	到9月末，曼宁被判处两周禁闭，缓刑一周。她的罪名是，行为——即企图自杀之举——有碍监狱的有序运行。
If prison, as Manning has said, made her feel like a ghost — alive in her supporters' thoughts but unable to be with them physically — then her time in solitary was akin to erasure. Isolation "changes you; it makes you angry," she said. "You start to forget about the world outside — it's not relevant or relatable anymore. The darkest part of solitary confinement is that you start to forget about cars, and jobs, and families, and weather, and politicians, and all the things that make up a society."	如曼宁所言，如果说狱方让她觉得自己像一个鬼魂——活在支持者心中，但无法亲身和他们在一起——那么被关禁闭的日子就像是抹去她的存在。与世隔绝“会改变你，让你感到愤怒”，她说。“你开始忘记外边的世界——它不再有意义或与你相关。禁闭最黑暗的部分是，你开始忘记汽车、工作、家庭、天气、政治人物，忘记社会的所有组成部分。”
Manning again tried to kill herself, but a guard spotted her before she lost consciousness. A week later, she was returned to general population. She was beside herself with anger and fear. She was also, she told me, most likely suffering from post-traumatic stress disorder — from Iraq, from Quantico.	曼宁再次试图自杀，但在失去意识之前被一名警卫发现。一周后她被送回人群当中。她因愤怒和恐惧而失控。她告诉我，她当时还很有可能因为在伊拉克和匡蒂科的经历而遭受着创伤后应激障碍的折磨。
It was during her second stretch in solitary that Manning experienced	第二次被关禁闭期间，曼宁经历了一次未被陆军记录在案的发病，在她企图

an episode that the Army has no record of, and that, on the heels of the suicide attempts, seems to be indicative of severe mental anguish. In a legal brief, Manning details a vivid kind of fever dream that she still puzzles over — hearing “several reports of suppressed or silenced shots from a pistol” and listening as a group of strangers described their plans to remove her from the U.S.D.B. She refused to leave her cell, she says, and the next morning, the staff carried on as if nothing had happened.	自杀之后，这似乎表明她承受着精神上的极大痛苦。曼宁在案情摘要中详述了一场逼真的、至今让她感到困惑的噩梦——听见“几下经过消音的手枪声”，还听见一群陌生人描述将她转出美国军事监狱的计划。她说，她拒绝离开自己的牢房，而第二天早上，工作人员一切如常，就像什么也没发生过。
To Manning’s attorneys, it was obvious that their client was running out of time. “Chelsea needs help, and she’s not getting it,” Strangio told me this winter. He viewed a commutation application, filed in November, as Manning’s best hope. In the petition, Manning’s lawyers appended a letter from Manning. “I am not Bradley Manning,” she wrote. “I really never was. I am Chelsea Manning, a proud woman who is transgender and who, through this application, is respectfully requesting a first chance at life.”	在曼宁的律师们看来，他们的客户显然没有多少时间了。“切尔西需要帮助，但却没有得到帮助，”斯特兰吉奥去年冬天告诉我。他看过一份如曼宁所愿在去年 11 月提交的减刑申请。曼宁的律师随申请书附上了一封来自曼宁的信。“我不是布拉德利·曼宁，”他写道。“从来都不是。我是切尔西·曼宁，一名跨性别的骄傲女性，我通过这份申请书谨请获得人生的第一次机会。”
On the afternoon of Jan. 17, Manning was in the prison workshop, covered head to toe in wood shavings. She remembers looking up to see a team of security personnel enter the room. “I’m like, Oh, God, I’m in a lot of trouble,” Manning told me. “I don’t even know what the hell I’ve done now.” The prison’s head of security told her to come with them.	2017 年 1 月的一个午后，曼宁待在监狱的劳动作坊里，从头到脚沾满木屑。她记得自己抬起头，看到一队看守走进屋内。“我心想，噢，老天，我有大麻烦了，”曼宁对我说。“可我现在甚至不知道自己到底干了什么。”监狱安保部门负责人让她跟他们走。
“Am I coming back?” she asked. No, she was told.	“我还回来吗？”她问。对方给出了否定的答案。
She grabbed her belongings and followed the guards to the Special Housing Unit. Assuming she was going back to solitary, she started to take the shoelaces out of her boots. The lead officer shook his head:	她拿起随身物品，随警卫走到特殊监区。她以为自己又要被关禁闭，于是开始抽靴子的鞋带。领头的官员摇了摇头：她是要去接受保护性监管。公共区域的一台电视机正在播放 CNN 的节目。她看到屏幕上的大标题写的是：曼

She was headed for Protective Custody. In the common area, a television was playing CNN. She saw the banner on the screen: Manning's sentence commuted, it read.	宁获得减刑。
Manning told me she went numb. She never let herself think about a commutation, lest she be thrown back into a deeper darkness. "It was so hard for me to process and deal with it," Manning recalled. Obama later addressed the decision with an implicit rebuke to Edward Snowden and Julian Assange. "Let's be clear: Chelsea Manning has served a tough prison sentence, so the notion that the average person who was thinking about disclosing vital classified information would think that it goes unpunished, I don't think would get that impression from the sentence that Chelsea Manning has served," he said.	曼宁说她有些茫然。她此前总是避免去想减刑的事,以免期望越高失望越大。“我真的难以处理和应对它,”曼宁回忆。奥巴马后来就减刑决定做了说明,其中包含对爱德华·斯诺登和朱利安·阿桑奇的隐晦谴责。“我们要清楚地知道:切尔西·曼宁已经服过重刑,因此,如果说正考虑泄露关键机密信息的普通人觉得,这么做不会受到惩罚,我认为切尔西·曼宁已经服过刑的事实,不会让人产生这种印象,”他说。
Four months later, on the morning of May 17, Manning was marched out the front door of the U.S.D.B. and loaded into a Ford Explorer. The driver steered the S.U.V. up a short slope and onto the curved road that winds south, past the gates of the overgrown U.S.D.B. cemetery, where 14 executed German prisoners of war were buried in 1945. A constellation of brick buildings appeared in the distance. Close to 1 a.m., the Explorer drew to a halt in a parking lot, where Strangio and the veteran attorney Nancy Hollander were waiting. Manning was so eager to hug the two attorneys that she clocked Strangio in the face with her elbow.	四个月后的5月17日早上,曼宁被送出美国军事监狱前门,上了一辆福特探路者。司机开着这辆SUV驶上一个短短的斜坡,以及一条向南蜿蜒伸展的道路,经过了美国军事监狱公墓的大门——14名于1945年被处决的德国战犯就埋在杂草丛生的公墓里。远方的一些砖石建筑映入眼帘。下午1点左右,探路者停在一个停车场,斯特兰吉奥和资深律师南希·霍兰德(Nancy Hollander)已等在那里。曼宁太急于和两名律师拥抱,手肘撞到了斯特兰吉奥的脸。
The week I spent with Manning in New York felt like a moment of suspended animation: the days between all the chaos of her life before and whatever was going to come next. In her final months at the	我和曼宁在纽约共度的一个星期,就像是生命暂停的时刻:生活中的所有混乱已经过去,不确定的未来尚未到来。待在美国军事监狱的最后几个月,曼宁把总共300页回忆录串到了一起,她已经让一名经纪人去推销书稿。今

U.S.D.B., Manning put together 300 pages of memoir, and she's acquired an agent to shop the draft around. This fall, she will appear in a documentary called "XY Chelsea," produced by Laura Poitras. Her attorneys, meanwhile, continue to work on her appeal. Even if she is exonerated, it is hard to know how comfortable her life will be in the years to come, given that some of the nation will never likely reconcile itself to what she did.	年秋天,她会出现在一部由劳拉·普瓦特拉斯(Laura Poitras)打造、名为《XY·切尔西》(XY Chelsea)的纪录片里。即便得到赦免,曼宁还是很难确定未来的生活会有多舒适,因为这个国家的某些人或许永远也不可能接受她以前的所作所为。
But she is determined not to dwell on her reputation, and for that week in Manhattan, she seemed happy being free. We trudged, unnoticed, through busy city streets, ordered chicken nuggets at McDonald's, ate in restaurants and cafes and went to a weekend screening of "Alien: Covenant." On the way into the theater, the man collecting the tickets asked to check Manning's bag. I held my breath, thinking she would be recognized. But kneeling, Manning unzipped the main compartment, revealing her laptop. She was waved through: The famous whistle-blower and former military prisoner had become just another Sunday evening theatergoer.	但她决心不去纠结于自己的声誉,待在曼哈顿的那个星期,她似乎为恢复自由之身而感到高兴。我们在拥挤的城市街道上漫步,丝毫没有引起注意,我们在麦当劳点鸡肉,在餐厅和咖啡馆吃东西,周末还去看了《异形:契约》(Alien: Covenant)。进电影院时,查票员要求检查曼宁的背包。我屏住呼吸,以为她会被认出来。但曼宁单膝跪地,打开背包主舱,露出笔记本电脑。她被放行了:此刻,这个著名的泄密者以及前军事囚犯,只不过是一名在周日晚上走进电影院的再普通不过的观众。
It occurred to me that if Manning sometimes seemed to have difficulty interpreting the effect her actions had on the world, it was in part a result of the extraordinary isolation she had experienced even before her arrest, in her childhood in Crescent, when she longed for a solution for her pain. Later, in solitary in Kuwait or Quantico, or in the special housing unit at the U.S.D.B., that isolation had been made physical: The "feedback loop" she had spoken of to me had been torn. Now she had the ability to live publicly and openly as she always knew she was, and	我忽然想到,如果说曼宁有时似乎很难阐释自己的行为对世界产生的影响,其中一个原因应该是,哪怕在她被捕之前,她所经历的异常与世隔绝的状态——她在克雷森特的童年时期就渴望为自己的痛苦找到一个解决方式。后来,在科威特或匡蒂科的孤独之中,或者在美国军事监狱的特殊牢房里,那种隔绝变成了现实的东西:她跟我提到过,自己的“反馈环”被撕裂了。现在,她有能力公开、开放地生活——她一直知道自己可以。她在不断适应这个想法,就像浸入寒冷池塘一样浸入其中。我们不止一次在纽约街头散步,我感觉我在见证某个人第一次完全活过来。曼宁对我说,她理解,自己的身分以及导

she was adjusting to the idea, sinking into it as if it were a cold pond. More than once, as we walked the streets of New York, I felt I was in the presence of someone coming fully alive for the very first time. Manning told me she understood that her identity and the actions that led to her arrest have long been tangled up in the public imagination, sometimes in uncomfortable ways: An appellate brief filed last year by Manning's legal team implied that the Army's inability to treat Manning's gender dysphoria was a contributing factor in the leaks. Manning didn't want to discuss "hypotheticals," what would have happened if circumstances were different, but she was adamant on one thing: "What I can tell you," she said, "is that my values would have been the same. The things I care about would have been the same."	致自己被捕的行为，长期以来在公众的想象中被纠缠在一起，有时是以令人不舒服的方式：曼宁的法律团队去年提交的一份上诉简报表明，军队无法治疗曼宁的性别不安是导致泄密的一个因素。曼宁不想讨论“假设情况”——比如，如果环境不同，会发生什么——但她非常确定一件事：“我能对你说的是，”她说，“我的价值观还会是一样的。我关心的事也会是一样的。”
One morning, at the end of an interview, Manning handed me a white envelope. Inside was a note from a 14-year-old trans boy. "I just wanted to say that I'm glad you're gonna be free in a few months," the boy had scrawled in pen, "and that I'm proud of you (is that weird thing to say?). You're an inspiration." Manning placed the note back in the envelope. If she was being honest, she said, she never particularly wanted to be a role model. I asked if Manning's life would have been different if she'd had such a person. She stared down at her hands. "I don't know how," she said finally, "but it would have been better."	一天早晨，采访结束后，曼宁递给我一个白色信封。里面是一个14岁跨性别男孩的纸条。“我只想说，我很高兴，再过几个月，你就能自由了，”这个男孩用钢笔潦草地写道，“我为你感到骄傲（这样说是不是很奇怪？）。你鼓舞了我。”曼宁把那张纸条放回信封。她说，坦白地说，她从来不是特别想成为楷模。我问曼宁，如果她有这样一位楷模，她的生活是否会不同。她盯着自己的双手。“我不知道具体会怎样，”最后她说，“但是会好一些。”
A couple of days later, we spent an hour sitting on a park bench. The skies were bruised, but the air was warm and fragrant. A flock of pigeons nearby. Manning cooed at them. She told me that at Leavenworth, not long before she learned of her commutation, a robin	几天后，我们在公园的长凳上坐了一个小时。天上有片片红霞，空气温暖芳香。附近有一群鸽子。曼宁向它们咕咕叫。她告诉我，在莱文沃思得知自己减刑之前不久，一只知更鸟落在她的窗口，它是来自外部世界的一个小信使。那是一个先兆吗？她认为是。

had alighted at her window, a small messenger from the world outside. Hadn't it been a sign? She had taken it as one.
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170630/long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170630/long-lonely-road-of-chelsea-manning
U.S., Hardening Line on China, Approves $1 Billion Arms Sale to Taiwan	对中国敲警钟？特朗普政府批准对台军售
WASHINGTON — The State Department approved on Thursday selling more than $1 billion in arms to Taiwan in yet another sign that the Trump administration is embracing a far more confrontational approach with China.	华盛顿——国务院周四批准向台湾出售逾 10 亿美元的武器，表明特朗普政府正在对中国采取更具对抗性的姿态。
Heather Nauert, a State Department spokeswoman, underscored that the military sales have no effect on the United States' "One China" policy, which President Trump suggested in December may be under review. Mr. Trump later affirmed to Chinese President Xi Jinping that he would honor the decades-old policy, under which the United States recognized a single Chinese government in Beijing and severed its diplomatic ties with Taiwan.	国务院发言人希瑟·诺尔特(Heather Nauert)强调，军售对美国的“一个中国”政策没有任何影响，特朗普总统去年 12 月曾表示要重新审视这个政策。特朗普后来向中国国家主席习近平确认，他将尊重这个有数十年历史的政策，即美国承认北京的中国政府，切断与台湾的外交关系。
The arms sale is the most tangible sign yet that Mr. Trump's honeymoon with Mr. Xi is over. The American president had set aside tough moves on trade and regional issues in an informal quid pro quo for Mr. Xi's commitment to impose more pressure on North Korea.	军售是特朗普与习近平蜜月期结束的最明显标志。为了非正式地报答习近平向朝鲜施加更大压力的承诺，特朗普把关于贸易和地区问题的一些强硬举措放在了一边。
But Mr. Trump acknowledged last week that China had fallen short in its measures toward North Korea, and officials have said he would be less constrained in other parts of the relationship, including Taiwan.	但特朗普上周表示，中国在对朝鲜施加压力上做得很不够，官员们说，在中美关系的其他方面特朗普就不会那么客气了，比如台湾问题。
To that end, the administration also announced Thursday that it was imposing new sanctions on a Chinese bank that has business dealings	为此，政府周四还宣布对一家和朝鲜有商业往来的中国银行实行新的制裁。这种二级制裁可能会引发中国国内的反美抗议。

with North Korea. The secondary sanctions are expected to lead to protests of America in China.
The announcements came hours before Mr. Trump was set to host a dinner on Thursday night for South Korea's new president, Moon Jae-in, a progressive who is more open than his predecessor to diplomatic engagement with the North. That, combined with a potentially more turbulent relationship with China, could complicate Mr. Trump's efforts to curb North Korea's nuclear and ballistic missile programs.	这个消息是在特朗普周四设晚宴款待韩国新任总统文在寅(Moon Jae-in)之前宣布的。文在寅是一个进步派，比他的前任总统更加愿意与朝鲜开展外交来往。加上中美关系可能变得动荡不安，特朗普遏制朝鲜核计划和弹道导弹计划的努力或许会变得更加复杂。
Additionally, the Trump administration is expected in the coming days to determine that the American steel industry needs to be protected from cheap imports as a matter of national security. That is expected to lead Mr. Trump this summer to impose tariffs on steel imports, yet another action that is sure to infuriate the Chinese.	此外，特朗普政府可能会在未来几天做出决定，把保护美国钢铁行业不受低价进口货的冲击当作一个国家安全问题来处理。预计在今年夏天，特朗普将对进口钢材征收关税，此举肯定也会激怒中国人。
The flurry of actions targeting China comes a week before Mr. Trump is expected to meet with Mr. Xi at a Group of 20 meeting in Germany, noted Eric G. Altbach, a senior vice president at the Albright Stonebridge Group, who added that the Trump administration might have decided that the "Chinese had become too comfortable with the idea that they had managed the Trump administration with regard to key issues."	奥尔布赖特石桥集团(Albright Stonebridge Group)的高级副总裁埃里克·G·阿尔特巴克(Eric G. Altbach)表示，美国这一系列针对中国的举动，都是特朗普在德国举办的20国集团会议上与习近平见面前一周作出的。他说，特朗普政府可能觉得，“中国人安逸地以为，他们在关键问题上已经搞定了特朗普政府。”
"So taking this series of actions is potentially an attempt to send a wake-up call in advance of their discussions at the G-20," Mr. Altbach added.	阿尔特巴克说：“所以采取这一系列行动，可能就是他们在20国集团讨论之前敲的一个警钟。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170630/trump-china-weapons-taiwan	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170630/trump-china-weapons-taiwan

Trump Mocks Mika Brzezinski; Says She Was 'Bleeding Badly From a Face-Lift'	特朗普嘲讽女主持人：她拉了皮的脸不住渗血
President Donald Trump faced a swift and bipartisan backlash Thursday after he assailed the television host Mika Brzezinski in unusually personal and vulgar terms, the latest of a string of escalating attacks by the president on the national news media.	周四，唐纳德·特朗普总统用非常粗俗的言语对电视主持人米卡·布热津斯基(Mika Brzezinski)进行人身攻击，很快引发了来自两党的强烈反应，总统已对国家新闻媒体进行了一连串不断升级的攻击，这是最新的一次。
Shortly before 9 a.m., as Brzezinski's MSNBC show "Morning Joe" was ending, Trump used Twitter to taunt Brzezinski and her co-host, Joe Scarborough, referring to them as "low I.Q. Crazy Mika, along with Psycho Joe" and describing a meeting with Brzezinski in which, he said, "she was bleeding badly from a face-lift."	上午9点之前不久，布热津斯基主持的MSNBC节目《早安，乔》(Morning Joe)快结束时，特朗普在Twitter上嘲弄布热津斯基和她的搭档主持人乔·斯卡伯勒(Joe Scarborough)，称他们是“低智商疯子米卡和精神病人乔”。他还说，有一次他与布热津斯基会面时，“她的脸刚做了拉皮手术，不住渗血。”
"Obviously, I don't see that as an appropriate comment," the House speaker, Paul Ryan, told reporters on Capitol Hill. Sen. Susan Collins of Maine, a Republican whose vote is considered critical to the success of Trump's health care plan, wrote on Twitter, "This has to stop." She said, "We don't have to get along, but we must show respect and civility."	“显然，我认为这样的评论不合适，”众议院议长保罗·瑞安(Paul Ryan)在国会山对记者们说。缅因州共和党参议员苏珊·柯林斯(Susan Collins)的投票被认为对特朗普医保计划的成功至关重要。她在Twitter上写道，“不能再这样下去了。”她说，“我们不必合得来，但我们必须表现出尊重和礼貌。”
Sen. Lindsey Graham of South Carolina, also a Republican, wrote on Twitter, "Mr. President, your tweet was beneath the office and represents what is wrong with American politics, not the greatness of America."	南卡罗来纳州共和党参议员林赛·格雷厄姆(Lindsey Graham)在Twitter上写道，“总统先生，你的推文有失白宫的尊严，代表着美国政治错误的一面，而非美国伟大的一面。”
The president has fumed for weeks about his coverage on "Morning Joe," where Scarborough and Brzezinski have been increasingly blistering in their commentary about the Trump administration. They have openly questioned Trump's mental state, comments that particularly upset the president, according to a senior administration	数周来，总统一直为《早安，乔》对自己的报道感到恼火，斯卡伯勒和布热津斯基对特朗普政府的评论越来越犀利。两位主持人曾公开质疑特朗普的精神状态，据一名高级政府官员称，这让总统尤为沮丧。 official.

On Thursday, Brzezinski responded to the president's comments by posting a photograph on Twitter of a box of Cheerios with the words, "Made For Little Hands." The tweet referred to a long-standing insult against Trump referring to the size of his hands. In a statement, MSNBC said, "It's a sad day for America when the president spends his time bullying, lying and spewing petty personal attacks instead of doing his job."	周四，作为对总统评论的回应，布热津斯基在 Twitter 上发了一张照片，上面是一盒奇里欧牌麦圈，配文是：“为小手定制。”它指的是关于总统手的大小的长期侮辱。MSNBC 在一份声明中表示，“对美国来说，这是悲哀的一天，总统把时间用在霸凌、撒谎和琐碎的人身攻击上，而不是工作上。”
Trump's deputy press secretary, Sarah Huckabee Sanders, defended Trump's tweets in an interview on Fox News.	特朗普的副新闻秘书萨拉·赫卡比·桑德斯(Sarah Huckabee Sanders)在接受福克斯新闻(Fox News)采访时为特朗普的推文辩护。
"I don't think that the president has ever been someone who gets attacked and doesn't push back," she told the Fox anchor Bill Hemmer. "This is a president who fights fire with fire and certainly will not be allowed to be bullied by liberal media, and the liberal elites within the media."	“我认为总统从来都不是遭到攻击而不反击的人，”她对福克斯新闻的主播比尔·亨默(Bill Hemmer)说。“总统总是以牙还牙，当然不会容许自己被自由主义媒体，以及媒体中的自由主义精英欺负。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170630/trump-mika-brzezinski-facelift	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170630/trump-mika-brzezinski-facelift
U.S. Imposes New Sanctions Over North Korea Ties	美国制裁与朝鲜有关的中国银行及公司
WASHINGTON — The Trump administration has imposed sanctions on a Chinese bank, a Chinese company and two Chinese citizens in an effort to crack down on North Korea's financing and development of weapons of mass destruction.	华盛顿——特朗普政府对中国的一家银行、一家公司和两名公民实行制裁，以期打击朝鲜大规模杀伤性武器的筹资和研发。
The sanctions follow the death of Otto F. Warmbier, an American student who was imprisoned by North Korea, and come as frustration grows in the United States government over the North's missile tests.	在此之前，被朝鲜关押的美国大学生奥托·F·瓦姆比尔(Otto F. Warmbier)死亡。制裁措施出台之际，正值美国政府对朝鲜导弹试验的不满加剧。
The most significant action is directed at the Bank of Dandong, a	最大的制裁直指丹东银行。美财政部官员称，这家中国放款机构充当着朝鲜

Chinese lender that Treasury officials say acts as a conduit for illicit North Korean financial activity and money laundering. The department's Financial Crimes Enforcement Network is moving to sever the bank from the American financial system, which would severely limit its ability to work with other banks around the world.	非法金融和洗钱活动的渠道。财政部金融犯罪执法网络(Financial Crimes Enforcement Network)正着手切断该银行与美国金融系统的联系, 这可能会严重限制其同全球其他银行合作的能力。
"We will follow the money and cut off the money," Steven T. Mnuchin, the Treasury secretary, said Thursday during a briefing at the White House.	"我们将追查并切断那些资金," 财政部长史蒂文·T·努钦(Steven T. Mnuchin)周四在白宫的一场情况通报会上说。
Michael S. Casey, an American sanctions expert at the law firm Ropes & Gray, said, "This is a severe penalty in light of the central role that the U.S. financial system plays in the world's economy."	瑞格律师事务所(Ropes & Gray)的美国制裁专家迈克尔·S·凯西(Michael S. Casey)说, "鉴于美国金融系统在世界经济中扮演的核心角色, 这是一个严厉的惩罚。"
Mr. Mnuchin would not say if the United States had warned China about the sanctions, but he said they were not meant as any sort of message to the Chinese government.	努钦不愿透露是否就这些制裁通知了中国, 但他表示, 这些措施并不意味着有什么信息要传递给中国政府。
"The Department of the Treasury is committed to protecting the U.S. financial system from North Korean abuse and maximizing pressure on the government of North Korea until it abandons its nuclear and ballistic missile programs," Mr. Mnuchin. "While we will continue to seek international cooperation on North Korea, the United States is sending an emphatic message across the globe that we will not hesitate to take action against persons, companies and financial institutions who enable this regime."	"财政部致力于保护美国金融系统不被朝鲜滥用, 并将朝鲜政府承受的压力最大化, 直至其放弃弹道导弹和核计划," 努钦说。"尽管我们会继续在朝鲜问题上寻求国际合作, 但美国将向全球明示, 我们会毫不犹豫地帮助这个政权的个人、企业和金融机构采取行动。"
By targeting the bank, the Trump administration is also hoping that China's financial sector will pressure North Korea in ways that its government has failed or been unwilling to.	通过把该银行作为目标, 特朗普政府也希望中国的金融领域以中国政府未能或不愿采取的方式, 向朝鲜施压。

Anthony Ruggiero, a former official in the Treasury's Office of Terrorist Financing and Financial Crimes, said that because of Thursday's move, other Chinese banks would likely be getting calls from their American counterparts to make sure that they were not engaging in illicit transactions with North Korea. He said that similar actions against bigger Chinese banks could be in store.	财政部恐怖分子资助和金融犯罪办公室(Office of Terrorist Financing and Financial Crimes)前官员安东尼·鲁杰罗(Anthony Ruggiero)表示,因为周四的举动,中国其他银行可能会接到美国同行的电话,确定它们没有参与和朝鲜的非法交易。他说,针对中国更大银行的类似行动可能正在筹备中。
"This is the tip of the iceberg," Mr. Ruggiero said. "We know there are more Chinese banks that are either wittingly or unwittingly assisting North Korea."	"这只是冰山一角,"鲁杰罗说。"我们知道有更多中国银行在有意或无意地协助朝鲜。"
It is not the first time that the United States has targeted a Chinese bank to exert pressure on North Korea. In 2006, the Treasury Department designated Banco Delta Asia, an obscure, family-owned bank in the Chinese gambling enclave of Macao, as a "primary money laundering concern." This started an informal financial embargo that has gradually tightened around Pyongyang and became a negotiating point in the six-nation talks over its nuclear program.	这不是美国第一次把中国的银行作为目标,以便向朝鲜施压。2006年,财政部认定中国赌博飞地澳门鲜为人知的家族银行汇业银行(Banco Delta Asia)是一家"主要的洗钱公司"。这引发了一项非正式的金融禁令。禁令在平壤周边逐渐收紧,并成了朝鲜核计划六国谈判中的一个砝码。
However, at the urging of the South Korean government, who feared it was impeding talks, President George W. Bush reluctantly lifted the sanctions. The talks failed and North Korea continued on with its efforts to build missiles and nuclear bombs.	然而,在担心禁令会妨碍谈判的韩国政府的呼吁下,乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)总统不情愿地解除了制裁。后来,谈判失败,朝鲜制造导弹和核炸弹的活动继续。
Sanctions are also being imposed on Dalian Global Unity Shipping and two Chinese citizens who the Treasury said have business dealings with North Korea related to illicit financial transactions.	这次受到制裁的还有大连宇联船务有限公司和两名中国公民。财政部称,这两名中国公民和朝鲜有生意往来,涉及非法金融交易。
President Trump encouraged China, one of North Korea's only allies and a major trading partner, to pressure the North to curb its nuclear	特朗普总统鼓励中国向朝鲜施压,遏制其核野心。中国是朝鲜仅有的几个盟友之一,也是其主要贸易伙伴。

ambitions.
Last week, Mr. Trump expressed his frustration on Twitter: "While I greatly appreciate the efforts of President Xi & China to help with North Korea, it has not worked out."	上周，特朗普在 Twitter 上表达了自己的失望：“尽管我非常感谢习主席和中国在朝鲜问题上提供的帮助，但还没见效。”
He added, "At least I know China tried!"	他接着说，“至少我知道中国尝试过！”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170630/us-china-sanctions-north-korea	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170630/us-china-sanctions-north-korea
Trump Tweets a Video of Him Wrestling 'CNN' to the Ground	特朗普发摔角视频，“暴打”CNN
President Donald Trump posted a short video to his Twitter account on Sunday in which he is portrayed wrestling and punching a figure whose head has been replaced by the logo for CNN.	周日，唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump)总统在 Twitter 上发了一段短视频，在视频中，他推倒、猛击一个人，这个人的头被换成了 CNN 的标志。
The video, about 28 seconds long, appears to be an edited clip from a years-old appearance by Trump in WrestleMania, an annual professional wrestling event. The clip ends with an on-screen restyling of the CNN logo as "FNN: Fraud News Network."	视频大约长 28 秒，它似乎是多年前特朗普在摔角狂热(WrestleMania)上亮相时的视频剪辑。摔角狂热是每年一次的职业摔角赛事。视频结尾处，屏幕上显示了 CNN 标志的变体：“FNN：欺诈新闻网”(FNN: Fraud News Network)。
In a speech Saturday in Washington, Trump referred to CNN as "garbage journalism" and said: "The fake media tried to stop us from going to the White House. But I'm president, and they're not."	周六，特朗普在华盛顿发表讲话时称 CNN 是“垃圾新闻”，还说：“假新闻试图阻止我们入主白宫。但是现在，我是总统，他们不是。”
The wrestling video, which was also posted to the official @POTUS Twitter account, stirred criticism, disbelief and dumbfoundedness. Some journalists denounced its portrayal of violence as dangerous, saying it could incite attacks or threats against media employees.	这段摔角视频还发布到了总统官方 Twitter 账户@POTUS上，它引发了批评、怀疑和惊愕。有些记者谴责该视频对暴力的描述是危险的，称它会引发对媒体从业者的攻击或威胁。
"I think it is unseemly that the president would attack journalists for doing their jobs, and encourage such anger at the media," said Dean Baquet, executive editor of The New York Times.	“我认为总统攻击在做本职工作的新闻工作者，在媒体上鼓励这样的愤怒，很不得体，”《纽约时报》的执行主编迪恩·巴奎(Dean Baquet)说。
The administration did not respond to a request for comment. Trump's	特朗普政府没有回应置评请求。特朗普的国土安全顾问托马斯·博塞特

homeland security adviser, Thomas Bossert, defended the video when he viewed it for the first time during a broadcast interview with Martha Raddatz of ABC News. "No one would perceive that as a threat," Bossert said. "I hope they don't."	(Thomas Bossert)在接受 ABC 新闻的广播采访时首次看到视频, 他对视频进行了辩护。“没人会把它视为威胁,”博塞特说。“我希望他们不会。”
Trump's fans on Reddit were exuberant about what they viewed as validation from the country's most powerful man. "I love this," wrote a user identified as American-Crusader. "You know he saw it, chuckled, and knew he could control the media narrative for days by hitting the 'post' button. So he did."	特朗普在 Reddit 上的粉丝情绪高涨, 认为那是美国最有权力的人的认可。“我很喜欢这个,”一名自称“美国十字军”(American-Crusader)的用户写道, “你知道, 他看见了那个, 把他逗乐了, 他知道只要按下‘发送’按钮就能控制接下来几天的媒体叙事。于是他就发了。”
On Sunday, CNN issued its response.	周日, CNN 进行了回应。
"It is a sad day when the president of the United States encourages violence against reporters," the network said in a statement. "Instead of preparing for his overseas trip, his first meeting with Vladimir Putin, dealing with North Korea and working on his health care bill, he is involved in juvenile behavior far below the dignity of his office. We will keep doing our jobs. He should start doing his."	"今天是个悲哀的日子, 美国总统鼓励对记者实施暴力,"该新闻网在声明中说。“他没有为出国访问以及与弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir Putin)的首次会面做准备, 也没有在处理朝鲜问题或研究医保法案, 而是在进行拉低他的职位尊严的幼稚行为。我们会继续做我们的工作。他也应该开始做他的。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170703/trump-wrestling-video-cnn-twitter	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170703/trump-wrestling-video-cnn-twitter
Chris Christie's Fall: From Dreams of White House to an Empty Beach	新泽西州长独享公共海滩, 激怒民众
The governor and his family were easy to spot on the shimmering Jersey Shore, amid 10 miles of a state beach closed by a budget standoff, even from 1,000 feet above.	即使是从一千英尺(约合 304 米)的高空, 州长一家在波光粼粼的泽西海岸上还是很容易被发现——这个 10 英里(约合 16 千米)长的州属海滩因预算僵局被关闭。
Andy Mills, a 6-foot-3-inch photographer for The Star Ledger, dangled his frame out of a Cessna 152 two-seater and aimed his long lens at what initially looked like just dots on the sand. Following a hunch that	安迪·米尔斯(Andy Mills)是《明星纪事报》(The Star Ledger)的摄影师, 身高 6 英尺 3 英寸(约合 1.9 米)的他悬吊在塞斯纳 152 双座直升机之外, 把长镜头对准乍看上去只是沙滩上的小黑点的东西。米尔斯有一种预感: 新泽

with an empty Sunday morning schedule, New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie might be indulging in some private holiday weekend sun on a beach he had ordered closed, Mills fired away.	西州州长克里斯·克里斯蒂(Chris Christie)周日上午没有日程安排，他可能正在自己下令关闭的海滩上享受私人度假周末，所以米尔斯开始行动了。
The hunch paid off.	他的直觉没错。
“As we came back up, I’m looking, I’m like, that’s him, there’s no doubt in my mind that’s him,” Mills said. He peered through his 400-millimeter lens and saw Christie looking right back at him. “When you make eye contact with someone, both you know and he knows what’s going on.”	“飞机兜回来之后，我看着他，心想，那是他，我毫不怀疑是他，”米尔斯说。他透过400毫米镜头，看见克里斯蒂向他回望。“当你和某个人四目相对的时候，你和他都知道发生了什么。”
Christie has been adamant that the use of the beach house was his right as governor, and that he was not going to cancel weeks of planning because of the shutdown.	克里斯蒂坚称，使用那个海滨别墅是他作为州长的权利，他不会因为海滩关闭而取消数周前制定的计划。
But it was yet another self-inflicted indignity, exposed by the media, for a governor who long dreamed of the dignified office of the presidency. In 2011, photos published by The Star Ledger caught him using a state helicopter paid for by taxpayers to attend his son’s baseball game. Television cameras recorded him in awkward celebrations in 2015 with Jerry Jones, the owner of the often despised Dallas Cowboys, Christie’s pale red sweater standing out in the luxury box surroundings.	但这位对总统高位觊觎已久的州长曾不止一次被媒体曝出过自取其辱的行为。2011年，《明星纪事报》发布的照片显示，他乘坐费用由纳税人支付的州政府飞机去参加儿子的棒球赛。2015年，电视机镜头记录了他和备受轻视的达拉斯牛仔队(Dallas Cowboys)老板杰里·琼斯(Jerry Jones)一起庆祝球队得分的尴尬情形，身穿淡红色毛衣的克里斯蒂在豪华包厢中显得格外醒目。
At the height of his popularity, when he was celebrated at home and nationally as one of the Republican Party’s brightest stars, Christie easily shrugged off these seemingly damaging episodes, rarely giving any credence to concerns about political optics. Armed with a quick, sharp tongue and a brash sense of humor, his “sit down and shut up” tongue lashings were often praised as authentic and tough.	人气最旺的时候，克里斯蒂在家乡乃至全国被视为共和党最亮眼的明星之一，自然可以不去理会这些似乎有损形象的插曲，关于他的政治画面引发的忧虑也极少让人觉得可信。他言词尖刻，有一种自大的幽默感，人们常常夸赞说，开口就能让人闭嘴的他既率真又难搞。
But now, battered by the George Washington Bridge scandal, a	但现在，克里斯蒂因乔治华盛顿大桥(George Washington Bridge)丑闻、灾

disastrous presidential bid and the lowest approval rating of any governor in state history, Christie's continued reliance on biting, defensive humor is less endearing and more enraging.	难性的总统竞选以及比该州历任前州长都低的支持率而屡受打击，他一直以来依赖的那种辛辣的自我防卫式幽默变得不那么讨人喜欢，反而更加令人恼火。
"His rise to national prominence was that he had this reputation as a fighter, and that when he was fighting he was on the side of the Everyman and the New Jersey taxpayer against the status quo," said Kevin Madden, a Republican strategist and former senior adviser to Mitt Romney's presidential campaign. "I think the danger of the photos is that it undermines that."	"他以前之所以能在全美范围内崭露头角，是因为他有着斗士的名声，而且当他战斗的时候，是站在普通人和新泽西纳税人的一边，对抗现状，"共和党策略师、曾给米特·罗姆尼(Mitt Romney)当过总统竞选活动高级顾问的凯文·马登(Kevin Madden)说。"我认为这些照片的危险之处在于动摇了这种形象的根基。"
And referring to his approval ratings, Madden noted, "When you are at 15 percent, you are stripped of your political capital."	马登在提到克里斯蒂的满意度评分时指出，"如果你的满意度只有 15%，你就失去了政治资本。"
As a firestorm erupted over the beach photos, the governor's office said that Christie had been planning "for weeks" to use the Shore house and that out-of-state relatives were visiting for the Fourth of July weekend.	这些海滩照片引发了一场风暴，州长办公室表示，克里斯蒂之前"数周"便已筹划使用那个海滨别墅，让他在其他州的亲戚来这里共度国庆节周末。
Still, the images of him enjoying an empty beach, which was empty because the state government was forced to shut down partly over his refusal to compromise, further infuriated his constituents, who were caught off guard on a holiday weekend and whose plans were upended.	不过，他享受空荡荡的海滩的照片进一步惹怒了选民——州政府被迫关闭，部分原因正是由于他拒绝妥协——在这个假日的周末，他们措手不及，只得取消原定的计划。
The pictures drew immediate ridicule, both from friends and enemies.	这些照片立刻引起他的朋友和敌人的嘲弄。
"It's beyond words," said Christie's lieutenant governor, Kim Guadagno, who is also running to replace him. "If I were governor, I sure wouldn't be sitting on the beach if taxpayers didn't have access to state beaches. We need to end the shutdown now. It's hurting small businesses and ordinary New Jerseyans."	"真是让人无语，"新泽西州副州长基姆·瓜达尼奥(Kim Guadagno)说。他正在努力取代克里斯蒂的位置。"如果我是州长，如果纳税人不能使用州立海滩，我肯定不会坐在它上面。我们现在就应该停止关闭海滩。它正在伤害小公司和普通新泽西人。"

https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170704/chris-christie-new-jersey-beach-photos	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170704/chris-christie-new-jersey-beach-photos
Trump Criticizes China as Meeting on North Korea Nears	G20 前夕，特朗普指责中国管束朝鲜不力
WARSAW — President Trump on Wednesday criticized China for failing to do more to pressure North Korea on its nuclear program, suggesting as he prepares for a high-stakes meeting with President Xi Jinping this week that he was re-evaluating the United States trade relationship with Beijing in light of the growing provocations from Pyongyang.	华沙——周三，特朗普总统对中国未能在核计划问题上对朝鲜施加更多压力进行了批评。在为本周与中国主席习近平进行高风险会晤做准备时，特朗普暗示称，考虑到平壤越来越多的挑衅行为，他正在重新评估美国与中国的贸易关系。
Mr. Trump vented his displeasure with China in a pair of early-morning Twitter posts as he was departing on a trip to Warsaw, and Hamburg, Germany for the Group of 20 summit of major world economies, where discussions about how to deal with the North Korean threat will be high on the agenda. He plans to hold meetings on the sidelines with Mr. Xi, as well as with Prime Minister Shinzo Abe of Japan and President Moon Jae-in of South Korea.	在即将前往华沙和德国汉堡，参加世界上 20 个主要经济体的高峰会议这天的一大早，特朗普用两条推文表达了他对中国的不满。20 国集团峰会的议事日程将包括讨论如何对付朝鲜的威胁。特朗普计划在会议间隙会晤习近平、以及日本首相安倍晋三和韩国总理文在寅。
"Trade between China and North Korea grew almost 40% in the first quarter," Mr. Trump said in one of the Twitter messages on Wednesday. "So much for China working with us — but we had to give it a try!"	"中国和朝鲜的贸易在第一季度增长了近 40%，"特朗普在周三的推文之一中写道。"中国与我们的合作不过如此，但我们不得不试试！"
A few minutes earlier, he suggested that American trade agreements should be contingent on such cooperation.	他曾在上述推文的几分钟前暗示，美国的贸易协议应该依照合作的情况而定。
"The United States made some of the worst Trade Deals in world history," he wrote. "Why should we continue these deals with countries that do not help us?"	"美国签署了一些世界历史上最糟糕的贸易协议，"他写道。"我们为什么要与那些不帮助我们的国家继续这些协议呢？"
It was not clear where Mr. Trump garnered his 40 percent figure for growth in overall trade between China and North Korea. A South	目前还不清楚特朗普是从什么地方得到中国与朝鲜的整体贸易增长了 40% 这个数字的。一家名为"韩国国际贸易协会"的韩国组织周一表示，朝鲜在

Korean group, the Korea International Trade Association, said Monday that North Korea had exported as much iron to China in the first five months of 2017 as it did in all of 2016.	2017 年头五个月向中国出口的铁矿石与其 2016 年全年的一样多。
But the group also said that North Korea's coal imports to China remained frozen. Coal is the North's most valuable commodity, and China cut off its coal imports earlier this year. "North Korea still has some way to go before it recoups the loss of coal from its exports," the group said.	但该组织也表示，朝鲜对中国的煤炭出口仍处于冻结状态。煤炭是朝鲜最值钱的商品，中国已在今年早些时候停止了从朝鲜进口煤炭。“朝鲜在距离弥补其煤炭出口的损失上还有不少差距，”该组织说。
The meeting with Mr. Xi, with whom Mr. Trump developed a rapport during a getaway at his Mar-a-Lago estate in April, took on graver significance after North Korea on Monday launched an intercontinental ballistic missile that the South's defense minister said was capable of reaching Hawaii. Mr. Trump has said that he would never allow the North to develop such a capability, but his options for dealing with the threat are limited.	今年 4 月，特朗普曾在自己的马阿拉歌庄园与习近平短暂会晤，两人那时建立起来的融洽关系，已因朝鲜周一发射了一枚洲际弹道导弹而具有了更为深切的意義。韩国国防部长说，朝鲜这次试射的导弹能够到达夏威夷。特朗普曾表示，他绝不会允许朝鲜获得这种能力，但他在对付这种威胁上的选择有限。
"We're going to do very well," Mr. Trump told reporters as he responded to shouted questions about his plans to address North Korea's escalation as he left the White House Wednesday to begin the trip.	特朗普周三离开白宫，开始了此次行程，当时有记者向他大喊发问，问他打算怎样解决朝鲜问题升级时，特朗普对记者的回答是，“我们将有很好的办法。”
Yet his comments on social media suggested that Mr. Trump is struggling to find a way to pressure China to use its influence on Pyongyang to de-escalate tensions. After the missile launch on Monday, Mr. Trump used Twitter to try to goad China into a strong response, suggesting that it "put a heavy move on North Korea and end this nonsense once and for all!"	但是，特朗普在社交媒体上的言论表明，他正在努力寻找一种迫使中国利用其对平壤的影响力，来缓解紧张局势的方法。周一的导弹发射之后，特朗普试图用 Twitter 来刺激中国做出强烈反应，他建议中国“对朝鲜采取严厉行动，让这种愚蠢的行为彻底告终！”
He also said it was difficult to believe that Japan and South Korea would	他还表示，很难相信日本和韩国会“对这个问题忍受更长的时间”。

"put up with this much longer."
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170706/trump-china-north-korea	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170706/trump-china-north-korea
Trump Aides' Biggest Worry About Europe Trip: Meeting With Putin	特朗普将与普京会晤，踏进一个漩涡的中心
WARSAW, Poland — President Donald Trump arrived in Europe on Wednesday for three days of diplomacy that will culminate in a meeting with President Vladimir Putin of Russia, which has the potential for global repercussions and political fallout back home.	波兰华沙——唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump)总统周三抵达欧洲，开展为期三天的外交活动，此行的高潮是与俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir Putin)的会面，它可能引发全球反响，并在美国国内产生政治后果。
Even his top aides do not know precisely what Trump will decide to say or do when he and Putin meet face to face on Friday on the sidelines of the Group of 20 economic summit gathering in Hamburg, Germany. And that is what most worries those advisers as well as officials across his administration as Trump begins his second foreign trip as president, stopping first in Warsaw to give an address on Thursday and then heading to Hamburg.	就连特朗普的高级助理也不完全了解，特朗普本周五在德国汉堡举行的20国集团经济峰会与普京见面时，会说些什么，做些什么。这是最让这些顾问以及政府官员普遍担心的事情。此行特朗普上任之后的第二次出国访问，本周四他会先到华沙停留，发表一个演讲，然后前往汉堡。
The highly anticipated conversation with Putin is in many ways a necessity, given the critical disputes separating the United States and Russia. But it also poses risks for Trump, who faces a web of investigations into his campaign's possible links to Russia, as well as questions about his willingness to take on Moscow for its military aggression and election meddling on his behalf. The air of uncertainty about the meeting is only heightened by the president's propensity for unpredictable utterances and awkward optics.	考虑到美俄之间的严重分歧，从很多方面来说，特朗普和普京之间这个万众瞩目的交谈都是很有必要的。但是这也给特朗普带来了风险，他面临着好几个关于其总统竞选活动与俄罗斯是否存在联系的调查，以及他是否因为莫斯科发动军事侵略、干预美国总统竞选为其助选而愿意对其下手的质疑。加上特朗普出语惊人和视角尴尬的习惯，只会进一步增加双方会面的不确定性。
And it is not the only charged encounter awaiting Trump this week. Following North Korea's launch on Tuesday of an intercontinental ballistic missile, he also faces new pressure to act on a threat from	而且本周等着特朗普的麻烦事不止这一桩。朝鲜在周二发射了一枚洲际弹道导弹，他也面临新的行动压力，应对长期以来困扰美国总统的来自平壤的威胁，而且他面前没有什么好的选择。他计划在汉堡与中国主席习近平会面，

Pyongyang that has long confounded U.S. presidents, and that he has few appealing ways to address. He is scheduled to meet in Hamburg with President Xi Jinping of China, as he complains that Beijing has not done enough to rein in North Korea.	近期他还在抱怨北京没有付出足够多的努力来遏制朝鲜。
If Trump's first foreign trip, in May, was a chance for him to escape turmoil at home — staff infighting, a stalled agenda and the Russia-related investigations — his second will thrust him into the maelstrom. And at the center of it, Putin awaits.	如果说特朗普今年5月第一次出国访问是他逃离国内混乱状况的一个机会——他的幕僚暗中争斗，议程停滞不前，还有关于俄罗斯的调查——那么他的第二次出国访问就是往一个漩涡里跳。普京正在这个漩涡的中心等着他。
"There's a fair amount of nervousness in the White House and at the State Department about this meeting and how they manage it because they see a lot of potential risks," said Steven Pifer, a former ambassador to Ukraine who has worked for the National Security Council and the State Department. "There is this gray cloud for the president of the investigations about collusion, so any kind of a deal is going to get the micro-scrutiny of, 'Is this a giveaway to the Russians?'"	前美国驻乌克兰大使、现在为国家安全委员会以及国务院工作的史蒂文·皮弗(Steven Pifer)说：“对于这次会面，以及如何把它处理得体，白宫和国务院感到比较紧张，因为他们觉得这里面有很多潜在的风险。‘通俄门’调查是总统头上的乌云，所以与俄罗斯之间的任何协议都得进行细致入微的审查，‘这是在给俄国人送大礼吗？’”
Trump himself does not appear to be troubled by the meeting. He has told aides he is more annoyed by the prospect of being scolded by the German chancellor, Angela Merkel, and other leaders for pulling out of the Paris climate accords and for his hard line on immigration.	特朗普自己好像对会面并不感到困扰，他告诉手下，更让他感到不爽的是可能会遭到德国总理默克尔和其他领导人谴责，因为他把美国从巴黎气候协定中撤了出来，而且对移民问题态度强硬。
Trump's team said he might bring up Russia's documented meddling in the 2016 election, but he is unlikely to dwell on it: Doing so would emphasize doubts about the legitimacy of his election. Aides expect him to focus on matters involving Syria, including creating safe zones, fighting the Islamic State and confronting Putin's unwillingness to stop the government of President Bashar Assad from using chemical	特朗普的团队表示，他可能会提到记录在案的俄罗斯对2006年总统选举的干预，但不太可能在这件事上纠缠太多：这样做会突出人们对他当选总统的正当性的怀疑。助理们希望特朗普把重点集中在叙利亚事务上，包括建立安全区，打击伊斯兰国，并把普京不愿意阻止巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar Assad)总统的政府对平民使用化学武器的事情当面提出来。 weapons against civilians.

A day before Trump left Washington, the White House announced that the meeting would be a formal bilateral discussion, rather than a quick pull-aside at the economic summit gathering that some had expected.	就在特朗普离开华盛顿的一天之前，白宫宣布这次会面会是正式的双边讨论，而不是有些人以为的那样，在经济峰会上把人拉到一边的那种简短会晤。
The format benefits both. Putin, a canny one-on-one operator who once brought a Labrador to a meeting with Merkel because he knew she was afraid of dogs, will be able to take the measure of Trump.	这种会面形式对双方都有利。普京是“一对一”会面的老手，曾经带着一条拉布拉多犬与默克尔会面，因为他知道对方怕狗。普京可以在这样的会议上摸清特朗普的底细。
Trump's aides are seeking structure and predictability. They hope that a formal meeting, with aides present and an agenda, will leave less room for improvisation and relegate Russia's meddling in the campaign to a secondary topic, behind more pressing policy concerns that the president is eager to address.	特朗普的助理正在努力提升会议的结构性和可预测性。他们希望，举行一个有助理在场的正式会议可以压缩临场发挥的空间，还可以把俄罗斯干预美国竞选的事情降低为次要议题，将特朗普热衷于谈论的更紧迫的政策问题摆在前面。
"Nobody has found the slightest evidence of collusion, any evidence the vote was tampered with, so now they have turned their obsession to Russian 'interference,'" said Kellyanne Conway, the president's senior counselor and former campaign manager. "I don't think that's what the American people are interested in."	"没人找到哪怕最轻微的勾结的证据，没有证据证明选票被做了手脚，所以他们现在把自己的执念转向俄罗斯的'干预'，"总统的高级顾问和前竞选经理凯莉安·康维(Kellyanne Conway)说。"我不认为美国民众会对这个感兴趣。"
Still, lawmakers in both parties are pressing the president to stand tough. They signaled their wariness last month with a 98-2 vote in the Senate to codify sanctions against Russia and require that Congress review any move by the president to lift them, a step the White House is resisting.	不过，两党议员都在向总统施压，想让他立场强硬一些。上月，他们通过一项行动表达了自己的警惕，即以98赞成、2票反对的表决结果通过了条文化针对俄罗斯的制裁的法案，还要求国会审查总统试图撤销这些制裁的任何举动，之前白宫一直在阻止参议院采取这样的举措。
"Let's be clear: The Russians interfered in our election and helped elect Donald Trump president," said Sen. Jack Reed, D-R.I., the ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee. "There is a serious,	"我们必须清楚：俄罗斯人干涉了我们的选举，帮助唐纳德·特朗普当上了总统，"众议院军事委员会(House Armed Services Committee)资深委员、罗德岛州民主党参议员杰克·瑞德(Jack Reed)说。"就此事展开的一项严肃的刑事

ongoing criminal investigation into this matter. And President Trump must refrain from any unilateral concessions to Russia.”	调查还在进行。特朗普必须避免对俄罗斯做出任何的单边让步。”
Cognizant of the perils, the White House has planned Trump’s itinerary to counter the perception that he is too friendly with Moscow. In Warsaw on Thursday, he will deliver a major speech and meet with Central and Eastern European allies, activities calculated to demonstrate his commitment to NATO in the face of Russian aggression. But there, too, Trump will be under pressure to do what he refused to in Brussels during his first trip: explicitly endorse, on European soil, the Article 5 collective defense principle that undergirds NATO.	白宫知晓其中的风险，已经安排好特朗普的行程，力图扭转他与莫斯科太过友好的看法。周四，他将在华沙发表一个重要演讲，与中欧和东欧的盟友会面。这些活动是经过精心安排的，目的是显示他对面临俄罗斯侵犯的北约的承诺。不过，在那里特朗普也会面临压力，去做他首次出访期间在布鲁塞尔拒绝做的事：在欧洲的土地上对北约第五条款(Article 5)中的集体防御承诺表示明确支持，这是北约存在的根基。
His advisers say that he is eager to meet with President Andrzej Duda of Poland, a center-right politician who shares Trump’s skepticism about migration, and that he sees a chance to make lucrative energy deals with Duda’s government – perhaps at the expense of Russia.	特朗普的顾问表示，他很期待与波兰总统安杰伊·杜达(Andrzej Duda)会面，后者是一位中右翼政治人物，和特朗普一样对移民持怀疑态度。他们还表示，特朗普也看到了一个与杜达的政府签订可以获利颇丰的能源协议的机会——或许是以牺牲俄罗斯的利益为代价。
But the substance and body language of his encounter with Putin will draw the most scrutiny.	但他与普京会面时的谈话内容和肢体语言将受到最多的审视。
“I expect an Olympian level of macho posturing between these two leaders, who both understand the power of symbolism,” said Derek Chollet, a former assistant secretary of defense. “Putin will be very prepared for this meeting. He’s someone who is a master at manipulation.”	“预计这两位领导人会表现出奥运会水平的大男人做派，他们都知道象征主义的力量，”曾担任助理国防部长的德雷克·夏勒特(Derek Chollet)说。“普京会为这场会议做万全的准备。他可是操纵别人的大师。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170706/trump-poland-germany-g20-putin	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170706/trump-poland-germany-g20-putin
Ivanka Trump Briefly Takes Her Father’s Seat at the Table. Outrage	G20 会议上伊万卡坐特朗普座位引发争议

Follows.
Ivanka Trump briefly sat in for her father, President Trump, during a session on Saturday at the Group of 20 summit meeting in Hamburg, Germany, prompting an outcry on social media and a swift defense from her brother Donald Trump Jr.	在德国汉堡“二十国集团”峰会周六的一次会面期间，伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)一度代替他的父亲特朗普总统入席，这在社交媒体上引发轩然大波，而其兄小唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump Jr.)也迅速出面维护妹妹。
Ms. Trump, who had been sitting in the back of the room during a discussion of topics that were relevant to her, joined the main table when Mr. Trump had to step out, a White House official said.	一位白宫官员说，伊万卡·特朗普原本坐在大厅的后方，参与一项与她有关的议题的讨论，但在特朗普总统因要事离开期间坐上了主宾席。
When other leaders left the table, their seats were also filled by others in their delegations, the official added.	该官员还称，其他领导人离席时，他们的代表团也会派员入席顶替。
But Ms. Trump's appearance riled the president's critics, who have questioned the role that Mr. Trump's family members play in the administration. Ms. Trump serves as a senior adviser to the president. Her husband, Jared Kushner, is also a senior adviser and the head of the new Office of American Innovation.	但是伊万卡·特朗普的出现令总统的批评者大为恼怒，纷纷质疑特朗普总统的家人在政府中扮演的角色。伊万卡·特朗普是总统的高级顾问。她的丈夫贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)也是一名高级顾问，另外兼任新成立的美国创新办公室(Office of American Innovation)主任。
While Mr. Trump was away from the table, his daughter sat between President Xi Jinping of China and Prime Minister Theresa May of Britain.	特朗普总统离席期间，他的女儿坐在了中国的习近平主席和英国的特丽莎·梅(Theresa May)首相之间。
A Russian official, Svetlana Lukash, captured the moment in a photograph and posted it on Twitter. Though she later deleted the tweet, the image lived on in a screenshot that riled up some on both sides of the aisle.	俄罗斯官员斯维特拉娜·卢卡什(Svetlana Lukash)抓拍到这一瞬间，随后发布到Twitter上。她后来删掉了那一条推文，但图片已经以屏幕截图的形式留存下来，在左右两派阵营中都引发了一些人的愤慨之情。
Representative Ted Lieu, Democrat of California, who serves on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said on Twitter that based on Ms. Trump's example, he was going to ask the House speaker, Paul D. Ryan, "if my son can sit in for me at the next House Foreign Affairs Committee	作为众议院外交委员会(House Foreign Affairs Committee)成员的加州民主党人刘云平(Ted Lieu)在Twitter上说，基于伊万卡·特朗普的所作所为，他打算问众议院议长保罗·D·瑞安(Paul D. Ryan)，“下一次众议院外交委员会开会时，能不能由我儿子替我参会。” meeting.”

Donald Jr. waded into the fray on Twitter after Ana Navarro, a Republican strategist and a frequent critic of President Trump, said she would prefer Ms. Trump as president.	共和党策略师、经常出面批评特朗普总统的阿娜·纳瓦罗(Ana Navarro)说,她宁可让伊万卡·特朗普当总统。小唐纳德随即加入 Twitter 战团。
“She is VERY smart & eloquent,” Donald Jr. said of his sister in a response on Twitter. “You can belittle her all you want w your snark, but we all know 1 on 1 she way out of your league.”	“她非常聪明,能言善辩,”小唐纳德发推评论他的妹妹。“随你怎么冷嘲热讽,但我们都知道,一对一你跟她根本不在一个档次上。”
Then he added: “If the left is so ‘outraged’ about Ivanka sitting in for a few minutes, maybe they’d be happier if I sub in for a while?”	接着他又说:“如果伊万卡入席几分钟就让左派‘震怒’成这样,那我去替一会儿他们会更开心吗?”
Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany seemed to defend Ms. Trump’s appearance in comments after the session.	在会后的言论中,德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)对伊万卡·特朗普入席一事似乎持维护的态度。
“The delegations themselves decide, should the president not be present for a meeting, who will take the chair, and Ivanka Trump was part of the American delegation,” she told reporters. “It is very well known that she works at the White House and that she is engaged in certain initiatives.”	“代表团自己会决定,如果一场会议上总统无法在场,应由谁来顶替,伊万卡·特朗普是美国代表团成员,”她对记者说。“她在白宫工作是众所周知的,她还发起了一些活动。”
Ms. Trump’s move to the main table came hours after she joined Jim Yong Kim, the president of the World Bank, to introduce the Women Entrepreneurs Finance Initiative, which aims to help women access loans and start businesses in developing countries.	在前往主宾席入座几小时前,伊万卡·特朗普和世界银行行长金墉(Jim Yong Kim)一同公布了女性创业者资金倡议(Women Entrepreneurs Finance Initiative),旨在帮助女性获取贷款,在发展中国家创办企业。
President Trump announced that the United States pledged $50 million to the initiative.	特朗普总统宣布美国向该项目提供 5000 万美元的资金。
“I’m very proud of my daughter Ivanka, always have been from day one,” he said.	“我的女儿伊万卡让我倍感骄傲,从一开始就是这样,”他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170710/ivanka-trump-seat-table-group-	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170710/ivanka-trump-seat-table-group-of-20-summit	of-20-summit

Trump's Son Met With Russian Lawyer After Being Promised Damaging Information on Clinton	为获取希拉里黑材料，特朗普长子曾会见俄律师
President Donald Trump's eldest son, Donald Trump Jr., was promised damaging information about Hillary Clinton before agreeing to meet with a Kremlin-connected Russian lawyer during the 2016 campaign, according to three advisers to the White House briefed on the meeting and two others with knowledge of it.	据三名听过情况汇报的白宫顾问以及两名知情者表示，2016年的总统竞选活动期间，在有人承诺向特朗普总统的长子小唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump Jr.)提供希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)的黑材料后，他同意和一名与克里姆林宫有联系的俄罗斯律师会面。
The meeting was also attended by his campaign chairman at the time, Paul Manafort, and his son-in-law, Jared Kushner. Manafort and Kushner only recently disclosed the meeting, though not its content, in confidential government documents described to The New York Times.	特朗普当时的竞选主席保罗·马纳福特(Paul Manafort)和他的女婿贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)也参加了会面。马纳福特和库什纳直到最近才在机密的政府文件中披露了这次会面的存在，但没有提到交谈内容，该文件被《纽约时报》获悉。
The Times reported the existence of the meeting on Saturday. But in subsequent interviews, the advisers and others revealed the motivation behind it.	时报在周六报道了这次会面的存在。但在随后的采访中，这些顾问及其他人透露了会面的动机。
The meeting — at Trump Tower on June 9, 2016, two weeks after Donald Trump clinched the Republican nomination — points to the central question in federal investigations of the Kremlin's meddling in the presidential election: whether the Trump campaign colluded with the Russians. The accounts of the meeting represent the first public indication that at least some in the campaign were willing to accept Russian help.	这次会面是特朗普获得共和党提名两周之后，于2016年6月9日在特朗普大厦进行的，它直指联邦调查克里姆林宫干预美国总统大选的核心问题：特朗普的竞选活动是否与俄罗斯人有勾结。对这次会面的叙述第一次公开表明，他的竞选活动中至少有一些人愿意接受俄罗斯的帮助。
The episode at Trump Tower is the first such confirmed private meeting involving members of his inner circle during the campaign — as well as the first one known to have included his eldest son.	发生在特朗普大厦的这件事，是特朗普竞选的内部圈子成员在竞选期间首个经过证实的此种私下会面，也是首个已知涉及其长子的会面。

It is unclear whether the Russian lawyer, Natalia Veselnitskaya, produced the promised compromising information about Clinton. But the people interviewed by The Times about the meeting said the expectation was that she would do so.	目前尚不清楚，这名俄罗斯律师娜塔莉娅·维塞尼茨卡雅(Natalia Veselnitskaya)是否真的提供了关于克林顿的黑料。但接受时报采访的人士表示，特朗普的人希望她可以提供。
In a statement Sunday, Trump Jr. said he had met with the Russian lawyer at the request of an acquaintance. "After pleasantries were exchanged," he said, "the woman stated that she had information that individuals connected to Russia were funding the Democratic National Committee and supporting Ms. Clinton. Her statements were vague, ambiguous and made no sense. No details or supporting information was provided or even offered. It quickly became clear that she had no meaningful information."	小特朗普在周日的一个声明中说，他是应某个熟人之请见这名俄罗斯律师的。“说完客套话之后，”他说，“这名女士表示，有一些与俄罗斯有联系的人在为民主党全国委员会提供资金，力挺克林顿，她有这方面的资料。她的说法笼统模糊，毫无意义。她没有给出任何细节和支持性的信息，甚至提都没有提到。我们很快就明白，她没有掌握任何有意义的资料。”
He said she then turned the conversation to adoption of Russian children and the Magnitsky Act, a U.S. law that blacklists suspected Russian human rights abusers. The law so enraged President Vladimir Putin of Russia that he retaliated by halting U.S. adoptions of Russian children.	他说，然后她就把话题转到了收养俄罗斯孩子和《马格尼茨基法案》(Magnitsky Act)上。这是一项美国法律，要求把涉嫌侵犯人权的俄罗斯人列入黑名单。该法律令俄罗斯总统普京大为恼火，他采取报复措施，不再让美国人收养俄罗斯儿童。
"It became clear to me that this was the true agenda all along and that the claims of potentially helpful information were a pretext for the meeting," Trump Jr. said.	"我发现这才是她至始至终的真正议程，声称拥有可能有用的信息只是会面的借口，"小特朗普说。
Mark Corallo, a spokesman for the president's lawyer, said Sunday that "the president was not aware of and did not attend the meeting."	总统律师的发言人马克·科拉洛(Mark Corallo)周日表示：“总统既不知道，也没有参加这次会面。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170710/trump-russia-kushner-manafort	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170710/trump-russia-kushner-manafort
How the Miss Universe Pageant Led to Trump Team's Meeting With Russian Lawyer	一场选美大赛帮特朗普结交俄罗斯权贵

During the summer of 2013, Donald J. Trump mused about whether President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia would meet him at the Miss Universe pageant in Moscow that fall. "If so, will he become my new best friend?" Mr. Trump posted on Twitter.	2013年夏天，唐纳德·J·特朗普在思量，俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)是否会在莫斯科举行的环球小姐(Miss Universe)大赛上接见自己。“如果会，他会成为我新结交的最好的朋友吗？”特朗普在Twitter上发帖说。
Mr. Putin did not make it, but the beauty competition in Moscow put the Trump family in touch with other people with connections to the Kremlin.	那年，普京没有接见他，但莫斯科的选美大赛让特朗普家族接触到了其他与克里姆林宫有联系的人。
On Sunday, The New York Times reported that the president's eldest son, Donald Trump Jr., had met with a Kremlin-connected lawyer during the 2016 presidential campaign after being promised information damaging to Hillary Clinton. Mr. Trump's campaign chairman, Paul J. Manafort, and his son-in-law, Jared Kushner, also attended the meeting.	周日，《纽约时报》报道，2016年总统竞选期间，在有人承诺向总统长子小唐纳德·特朗普提供希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)的黑材料后，他会晤了一位和克里姆林宫有联系的律师。特朗普的竞选主席保罗·J·马纳福特(Paul J. Manafort)及女婿贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)也出席了那次会面。
The younger Mr. Trump issued a statement that he had agreed to the meeting at the request of an acquaintance from the 2013 Miss Universe Pageant.	小特朗普发表声明，表示他同意那次会面是应一位熟人之请，此人是他在2013年环球小姐竞赛期间认识的。
The acquaintance was Rob Goldstone, a former British tabloid journalist and the president of a marketing company called Oui 2 Entertainment, who has worked with the Miss Universe pageant, according to two people briefed on the meeting. Mr. Goldstone told The Washington Post that he had arranged the June 9, 2016, meeting with Donald Trump Jr. on behalf of a client and had attended it along with the lawyer, Natalia Veselnitskaya. On Monday, Mr. Goldstone identified the client as Emin Agalarov, a pop star in Russia.	两位了解内情的人士认为，这位熟人是前英国小报记者、营销公司Oui 2娱乐(Oui 2 Entertainment)的总裁罗伯·戈德斯通(Rob Goldstone)。戈德斯通告诉《华盛顿邮报》(The Washington Post)，他曾代表一位客户安排了2016年6月9日与小唐纳德·特朗普的会面，并与律师娜塔莉娅·维塞尼茨卡雅(Natalia Veselnitskaya)共同参加。周一，戈德斯通确认了那名客户是俄罗斯流行歌手叶明·阿加拉罗夫(Emin Agalarov)。
Mr. Goldstone, who did not respond to an email seeking comment, has	戈德斯通没有回复要求置评的电子邮件，他一直与阿加拉罗夫保持合作，后

worked with Mr. Agalarov, who along with his father, Aras, develops major real estate projects in Russia. Mr. Trump, an owner of the Miss Universe pageant at the time, selected the Agalarovs to host the worldwide competition in 2013 in Moscow, and has discussed collaborating on a tower in Moscow with them. He also appeared in one of Emin's music videos, which featured pageant contestants.	者和父亲阿拉斯(Aras)一起在俄罗斯开发了一些大型房地产项目。当时，环球小姐大赛的所有者特朗普选择阿加拉罗夫父子来承办 2013 年在莫斯科举办的这项全球赛事，并和他们商讨在莫斯科合作建造一座大厦。特朗普也出现在叶明的一则音乐录影之中，参演的还有选美大赛的参赛者们。
The beauty competition put Mr. Trump in contact with influential people in Russia, as he explained in a September 2015 interview on "The Hugh Hewitt Show."	正如特朗普 2015 年 9 月在“休·休伊特秀”(The Hugh Hewitt Show)采访中所说，选美大赛让他得以结交俄罗斯权贵。
"I called it my weekend in Moscow," said Mr. Trump, who had announced his candidacy for president a few months earlier. He added: "I was with the top-level people, both oligarchs and generals, and top of the government people. I can't go further than that, but I will tell you that I met the top people, and the relationship was extraordinary."	“我把它叫做我的‘莫斯科周末’，”特朗普说。此前几个月，他已宣布自己参加总统竞选。他补充说：“我和顶级人士见了面，他们当中既有大亨也有将军，还有政府里的顶级人物。我不能再多说了，但我可以告诉你，我遇到了顶级人士，建立了非同寻常的关系。”
The Agalarovs appear to have a good relationship with Mr. Putin. Shortly before the Miss Universe pageant, Mr. Putin presented Aras Agalarov with the Order of Honor, one of Russia's highest civilian awards.	阿加拉罗夫父子似乎同普京有着良好的关系。环球小姐大赛举行不久前，普京还曾向阿拉斯·阿加拉罗夫颁发荣誉勋章(Order of Honor)，这是俄罗斯最高的平民奖。
After Mr. Trump's victory in the presidential election last fall, Mr. Goldstone and Emin Agalarov celebrated the results in separate social media posts, with Emin posting a photo of himself, his father, and Mr. Trump on Instagram with the message, "The sky is the limit! Congratulations Mr. President."	在特朗普于去年秋天当选总统之后，戈德斯通和叶明·阿加拉罗夫在不同的社交媒体帖子中庆祝了这个结果，叶明在 Instagram 上贴出了自己、父亲和特朗普的合影，文字是“天空才是极限！祝贺总统先生。”
The Miss Universe pageant has been the subject of particular intrigue for months, given the federal investigation into the Kremlin's meddling	几个月来，由于对克里姆林宫干预总统选举的联邦调查，以及特朗普的竞选团队是否曾与俄罗斯官员勾结这个问题（总统及其下属已对此予以否认），

in the presidential election and the question of whether the Trump campaign colluded with Russian officials, a claim that the president and his associates have denied.	环球小姐大赛已经成为一个特殊阴谋的主题。
Donald Trump Jr. said in a statement on Sunday that Ms. Veselnitskaya did not provide any information of value about Mrs. Clinton, his father's opponent in last year's election, during the June 2016 meeting, which took place at Trump Tower. He said the conversation soon turned to the adoption of Russian children and an American law called the Magnitsky Act, which blacklists suspected human rights abusers from Russia.	小唐纳德·特朗普周日在一份声明中表示，在 2016 年 6 月于特朗普大厦举行的那次会面期间，关于他父亲去年在竞选中的对手克林顿，维塞尼茨卡雅没有提供任何有价值的信息。他说，谈话很快就转向了领养俄罗斯孩子的话题，以及一部名为“马格尼茨基法案”(Magnitsky Act)的美国法律，该法律将涉嫌侵犯人权的俄罗斯人列入了黑名单。
"Obviously I'm the first person on a campaign to ever take a meeting to hear info about an opponent... went nowhere but had to listen," he said Monday on Twitter.	"显然我是竞选中第一个参加会议听取对手信息的人.....没办法，不得不听，"周一，他在 Twitter 上说。
For nearly three decades before he became president, Mr. Trump sought business deals in Russia, chasing that goal with little success before bringing the Miss Universe pageant there.	在成为总统近三十年之前，特朗普便已寻求在俄罗斯展开商业交易，但却没有取得多少成绩，直到他把环球小姐大赛设在那里。
In the late 1980s, Mr. Trump and his first wife, Ivana, considered potential sites for a project, but a deal never resulted, Mr. Trump said at the time, because of constraints on private ownership of properties. Nearly a decade later, Mr. Trump announced plans to invest $250 million in two luxury buildings in Moscow, but neither was built.	1980 年代后期，特朗普和第一任妻子伊万娜(Ivana)考虑过一个项目的潜在地址，但是这项交易从未能实现，特朗普当时表示，那是因为财产私有制的限制。近十年后，特朗普宣布了一项计划：在莫斯科投资 2.5 亿美元，建造两座豪华的大楼，但它们均未建成。
It was in the mid-2000s, as the Trumps aggressively sought to license the family name for international real estate projects, that they began coming to Moscow regularly.	在 2000 年代中期，特朗普一家积极寻求将家族品牌授予国际房地产项目，所以开始经常前往莫斯科。
In 2006, Donald Jr. and his sister Ivanka stayed at the Hotel National	2006 年，小唐纳德和妹妹伊万卡(Ivanka)在克里姆林宫附近的莫斯科国家酒

Moscow near the Kremlin, coming and going to meet with potential business partners. Joining them on the trip was Felix Sater, a Russian immigrant and longtime associate of the Trumps. Sater, who continued to work with the Trump Organization even after it came to light that he had pleaded guilty to a role in a stock manipulation scheme involving Mafia figures and Russia criminals and has served as a U.S. government informant, told The Times this year that the family's attitude was: "nice, big city, great. Let's do a deal here."	店(Hotel National Moscow)下榻，迎来送往，与潜在的商业伙伴会面。和他们一起旅行的是特朗普一家的长期合伙人、俄罗斯移民菲利克斯·赛特(Felix Sater)。即便被发现曾经认罪，承认参与一项涉及黑手党人士和俄罗斯犯罪分子的股票操纵计划，并担任过美国政府的线人之后，赛特还继续同特朗普集团保持合作。今年，他曾告诉时报，当时特朗普一家的态度是：“好，大城市，很棒。我们在这儿做笔交易吧。”
Sater worked on a plan for a Trump Tower in Moscow as recently as the fall of 2015, but he said that had come to a halt because of Trump's presidential campaign.	就在 2015 年秋天，赛特还筹划过在莫斯科建造一座特朗普大厦，但他说，由于特朗普的总统竞选，这个计划已经停止了。
Donald Trump Jr., speaking at a New York City real estate conference in 2008, told the audience he had been to Russia a half-dozen times over 18 months. "I really prefer Moscow over all cities in the world," he said, according to eTurboNews.	2008 年，小唐纳德·特朗普在纽约市房地产大会上发表讲话时称，他在 18 个多月期间去过俄罗斯六次左右。根据 eTurboNews 的报道，他说：“在世界各个城市之中，我真的很偏爱莫斯科。”
But he acknowledged that the Russian market was challenging, with "an issue of 'Will I ever see my money back out of that deal or can I actually trust the person I am doing the deal with?'"	但他承认，俄罗斯市场很有挑战性，“时常担心，‘我在这笔交易中投入的钱不会有去无回了吧？或者，我真的可以信任正在跟我做交易的这个人吗？’”
Still, during the Miss Universe weekend, the Trumps continued to lay the groundwork for a deal in Moscow. During that visit, the Agalarovs and Herman Gref — a former Russian economy minister who serves as chief executive of the state-controlled Sberbank PJSC — hosted a dinner for Trump on the night of the pageant, according to Bloomberg News.	然而，在环球小姐大赛举行的周末期间，特朗普一家不断为在莫斯科做生意打基础。据彭博社(Bloomberg News)报道，这次访问期间，阿加拉罗夫父子，以及前俄罗斯经济部长、现任国家控股的 Sberbank PJSC 银行首席执行官的赫尔曼·格列夫(Herman Gref)在大赛当晚为特朗普主办了晚宴。
Phil Ruffin, Trump's partner in the Trump International Hotel and Tower	当时，特朗普在特朗普国际酒店(Trump International Hotel)与拉斯维加斯

in Las Vegas, who flew to Moscow for the competition, said he and Trump had lunch at the Ritz-Carlton with the Agalarovs.	大厦(Tower in Las Vegas)项目上的合作伙伴菲尔·拉芬(Phil Ruffin)飞往莫斯科观看比赛。他说,他和特朗普曾在丽思卡尔顿酒店(Ritz-Carlton)与阿加拉罗夫父子共进午餐。
Trump went on Twitter to thank the father and son for their hospitality.	特朗普事后在 Twitter 上感谢了这对父子的款待。
"I had a great weekend with you and your family. You have done a FANTASTIC job. TRUMP TOWER-MOSCOW is next. EMIN was WOW!"	"我同你和你的家人度过了一个精彩的周末。你们干得太好了。接下来就是莫斯科特朗普大厦。叶明太棒了!"
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170711/rob-goldstone-russia-trump	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170711/rob-goldstone-russia-trump
When You're Traveling With Trump, Be Ready for the Unexpected	跟随特朗普出访,你必须学会随机应变
My first indication that a foreign trip with President Trump would be a touch different from traveling with other presidents (I accompanied President Barack Obama through seven countries) came during a late-afternoon run through the historic part of Warsaw as I awaited his arrival on Air Force One before the two-day G-20 summit last week.	上周,为期两天的 G20 峰会召开前,当我于接近傍晚时分穿梭在华沙老城区,并等待特朗普总统乘坐空军一号(Air Force One)到来的时候,第一次意识到随他出访海外的感觉将不同于与其他总统同行(我曾随贝拉克·奥巴马 [Barack Obama] 总统出访七个国家)。
Usually, overseas presidential trips are elaborately choreographed affairs weeks or months in the making, with pre-baked schedules to match. But that afternoon, just five hours before Mr. Trump disembarked, I finally received an email from the White House informing me of his schedule — and my own — for the next day. It was the latest I could ever recall getting such information.	通常情况下,总统的海外之旅会是经过数周乃至数月酝酿,得到精心安排的事务,会有早早制定好的日程表可循。但那个下午,直到再过 5 个小时特朗普就要落地,我才终于收到一封来自白宫的电子邮件,内容为总统——还有我本人——次日的行程。就我记忆所及,我收到此类信息的时间从未这么晚过。
But the Trump White House eschews many of the protocols and procedures that usually surround a president, and advance warning for the press about Mr. Trump's movements and plans can be difficult to come by. For instance, there was a mention of a "news event" with President Andrzej Duda of Poland, but it would not become clear until the next morning whether Mr. Trump planned to take any questions.	特朗普的白宫选择避开通常会环绕在总统周围的很多规章和程序,媒体很难获得关于总统的活动和计划的预先提醒。举个例子,媒体的确收到过关于特朗普将与波兰总统安杰伊·杜达(Andrzej Duda)一起参加新闻发布会的提示,不过直到第二天早上才弄清特朗普是否会接受记者提问。

Such uncertainty is standard in countries that lack a free press — I had a similar experience last year with Mr. Obama during his trip to Cuba, when even the White House did not know until it was underway whether President Raúl Castro would permit a question-and-answer period — but unusual for a democratic nation such as Poland.	这种不确定性在缺少自由媒体的国家是标配——我随奥巴马出访古巴期间有过类似的经历，当时就连白宫也是直到最后关头才得知，劳尔·卡斯特罗(Raúl Castro)总统是否允许设置问答环节——但在波兰这样的民主国家就显得异乎寻常了。
Mr. Trump's second foreign trip did bear some of the hallmarks of past presidential travels, however: He moved through the streets of Warsaw in the heavily armored limousine known as the Beast. And apart from the presidential press pool, which followed in a van in his motorcade, other reporters trailed in tour buses and were led around by young White House aides like schoolchildren on a heavily guarded field trip, our laminated credentials allowing us entry into heavily fortified stops on the president's route.	不过，特朗普的第二趟海外之旅，的确具备以往的总统出行的某些特点：他坐在名为野兽(Beast)的重型豪华防弹轿车里，穿行于华沙街头。除了乘坐一辆面包车跟在车队中的总统记者团，其他搭乘旅游巴士远远跟在后边的记者均由年轻的白宫助理引领，就如同参加安保森严的出游活动的学童，我们的塑封证件让我们得以进入总统行进路线上的那些戒备森严的站点。
Later in Hamburg, Germany, protesters with placards and riot police with water cannons clogged the streets at the Group of 20 summit of major world economies, making it difficult to get around. At one point, a press shuttle bus I was riding from the summit site stopped and armed guards boarded, one loading his Glock pistol loudly and saying, "Ready!" before we continued on our route. We were suitably intimidated.	后来在德国汉堡，举着标语的抗议者和装备着高压水炮的防暴警察堵住了世界重要经济体参与的二十国集团峰会会场周围的街道，交通变得困难。有一度，我从会场出来乘坐的媒体班车停了下来，一些全副武装的警卫上了车，其中一人响亮地给自己的格洛克手枪上膛，并喊了一声：“准备好了！”然后车才继续行驶。我们都被吓到了。
Inside the hall, there was a different kind of tension. Reporters gathered in a nondescript room in the sprawling Hamburg Messe to await word from Mr. Trump's meeting with President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia, scheduled to be a 30-minute affair. An hour in, word leaked that the United States and Russia, along with Jordan, had reached an agreement	会场内有着另外一种紧张气氛。记者们聚集在庞大的汉堡国际展览中心(Hamburg Messe)内一个没什么特色的房间里，等着特朗普和俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)会谈的消息传出来，这场会议原本安排的时长是30分钟。一小时后，有消息传出，称美国、俄罗斯和约旦达成了一项在叙利亚西南部部分地区停火的协议。我很快就这项进展写了一篇报

for a cease-fire in a part of southwestern Syria. I filed a quick story on the development and we continued waiting, calling and texting our sources to figure out if the meeting was still underway. It ultimately lasted more than two hours before Rex. W. Tillerson, the secretary of state, came out to give the customary "readout" of what had happened.	道，然后我们继续等待，给我们的信源打电话或发消息，想搞清楚会议是否依然在进行。这场会议最终持续了两个多小时，最后美国国务卿雷克斯·W·蒂勒森(Rex. W. Tillerson)依照惯例出来“宣读”了会议的成果。
Things got more heated the next day when Chinese officials tried to exclude much of the White House press pool from a meeting between Mr. Trump and President Xi Jinping of China. I huddled along with the rest of the White House press pool – a group of five writers, four still photographers, a radio reporter and a television news crew that follows the president's every move – in a hallway outside the meeting, being shoved and jostled by Chinese journalists as Mr. Trump's and Mr. Xi's aides exchanged angry words in English, Chinese and German.	第二天，情况变得更加紧张，因为中国官员竭力将白宫记者团内的很多成员排除在特朗普与中国国家主席习近平的会晤活动之外。我和白宫记者团剩下的成员——五名文字记者、四名摄影师、一名电台记者和一组追踪总统一举一动的电视台新闻工作人员——挤在会议室外的走廊里，被中国记者推搡着，特朗普和习近平的助手们则在用英语、汉语和德语激烈争执着。
Apologetic White House aides explained that some of us might not make it in for the so-called spray at the start of the meeting, when reporters typically get a glimpse of the tableau and have the opportunity to hear from both leaders and ask questions. My colleagues and I – some of us longtime traveling companions who have bonded like a bunch of kids thrust into the world's most stressful summer camp over the adrenaline-fueled long hours and exhilarating moments of other presidential trips – mused aloud that we couldn't remember another world leader treating a U.S. president and his press corps this way at an international summit meeting. In the end, we all got inside.	怀有歉意的白宫助手解释称，我们中的某些人可能无法参加会议开始时所谓的通气会，在会上，记者们通常能看到当时的场面，有机会听到两位领导人讲话并提问。我和同事们有些是长期的旅伴，像一群孩子一样团结在一起，深入世界上压力最大的夏令营，见证了其他总统旅行中充满肾上腺素的漫长会谈和令人兴奋的时刻。我们都在议论，从来不记得哪位国家领导人曾在一个国际峰会上这样对待美国总统和记者团。最后，我们都进去了。
The trip began much as it started – with a last-minute decision by the White House that defied tradition. There would be no closing news	这场旅行的结尾和开始一样，白宫在最后一分钟做出有违传统的决定。特朗普不会举行闭幕新闻发布会，总结这次峰会和自己的旅行。高级官员们也不

conference by Mr. Trump to wrap up the summit and sum up his travels. No on-camera briefing by senior officials either, although three of them did take a handful of questions on Air Force One on the way back to Washington.	会在摄像机前发表简报，不过其中三位在返回华盛顿的空军一号(Air Force One)上回答了几个问题。
Instead, we awoke the next morning, groggy from jet lag, to presidential tweets summing up the visit — yet another first for reporters covering foreign travel in the Age of Trump.	第二天早晨，我们在时差引起的昏沉中醒来，看到总统发了推文，总结这次访问——这是负责报道出国访问的记者们在特朗普时代碰到的又一个第一次。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170711/when-youre-traveling-with-trump-be-ready-for-the-unexpected	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170711/when-youre-traveling-with-trump-be-ready-for-the-unexpected
Russian Dirt on Clinton? 'I Love It,' Donald Trump Jr. Said	特朗普长子涉俄邮件：希拉里黑材料？我很喜欢
The June 3, 2016, email sent to Donald Trump Jr. could hardly have been more explicit: One of his father's former Russian business partners had been contacted by a senior Russian government official and was offering to provide the Trump campaign with dirt on Hillary Clinton.	2016年6月3日，小唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump Jr.)收到了一封极为直白的电邮：一名俄罗斯政府高级官员找到他父亲的一名前商业伙伴，想要提供关于希拉里·克林顿的黑料给特朗普的竞选团队。
The documents "would incriminate Hillary and her dealings with Russia and would be very useful to your father," read the email, written by a trusted intermediary, who added, "This is obviously very high level and sensitive information but is part of Russia and its government's support for Mr. Trump."	这些材料“可用来表明希拉里以及她与俄罗斯的来往是有罪的，对你的父亲非常有用”，他信任的一个中间人在电邮中写道。“这显然是价值非常高的机密信息，但也是俄罗斯及其政府支持特朗普先生的一部分。”
If the future president's eldest son was surprised or disturbed by the provenance of the promised material — or the notion that it was part of a continuing effort by the Russian government to aid his father's campaign — he gave no indication.	这位未来总统的长子对于电邮中所承诺的那些材料的来源是否感到惊讶或不安——或者对于此举作为俄罗斯政府持续帮助其父竞选总统努力的一部分是否感到了惊讶或不安——他并没有表现出来。
He replied within minutes: "If it's what you say I love it especially later in the summer."	数分钟内他就回复说：“如果真如你说的那样，我很喜欢，特别在夏天晚些时候。”

Four days later, after a flurry of emails, the intermediary wrote back, proposing a meeting in New York on Thursday with a “Russian government attorney.”	四天之后，经过一番邮件往返，那名中间人在回信中提议周四在纽约和“俄罗斯政府的一名律师”会面。
Donald Trump Jr. agreed, adding that he would most likely bring along “Paul Manafort (campaign boss)” and “my brother-in-law,” Jared Kushner, now one of the president’s closest White House advisers.	小唐纳德·特朗普同意了，表示很有可能会带上保罗·马纳福特（Paul Manafort，当时的竞选经理）和妹夫贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)一起参加会面，现在库什纳已经是特朗普总统最亲密的白宫顾问之一。
On June 9, the Russian lawyer was sitting in the younger Trump’s office on the 25th floor of Trump Tower, just one level below the office of the future president.	6月9日，这名俄罗斯律师坐在了特朗普大厦25楼小特朗普的办公室，而未来的总统就在26楼办公。
Over the last several days, The New York Times has disclosed the existence of the meeting, whom it involved and what it was about. The story has unfolded as The Times has been able to confirm details of the meetings.	在过去几天里，《纽约时报》曝光了这次会面的存在、有谁参加、涉及什么内容。在时报确认会面细节的过程中，这个故事变得清晰起来。
But the email exchanges, which were reviewed by The Times, offer a detailed unspooling of how the meeting with the Kremlin-connected Russian lawyer, Natalia Veselnitskaya, came about — and just how eager Donald Trump Jr. was to accept what he was explicitly told was the Russian government’s help.	时报看到的电邮往来，详细展示了他们和拥有克里姆林宫背景的俄罗斯律师娜塔莉娅·维塞尼茨卡雅(Natalia Veselnitskaya)之间会面的缘起，以及小唐纳德·特朗普多么乐于接受明知是来自俄罗斯政府的帮助。
The Justice Department, as well as the House and Senate Intelligence Committees, is examining whether any of Trump’s associates colluded with the Russian government to disrupt last year’s election. U.S. intelligence agencies have determined that the Russian government tried to sway the election in favor of Trump.	司法部以及众议院和参议院情报委员会正在调查特朗普的助手是否与俄罗斯政府勾结，扰乱去年的总统选举。美国情报机构已经确认，俄罗斯政府试图让选举向有利于特朗普的方向发展。
The precise nature of the promised damaging information about Clinton is unclear, and there is no evidence to suggest that it was	电邮中说所的关于克林顿的黑料，其确切性质尚不清楚，也没有证据表明它与俄罗斯政府的计算机黑客行动有关，该行动曾导致了民主党全国委员会成

related to Russian-government computer hacking that led to the release of thousands of Democratic National Committee emails. But in recent days, accounts by some of the central organizers of the meeting, including Donald Trump Jr., have evolved or have been contradicted by the written email records.	千上万封的电邮被公开。但近日来，那次会面的一些核心参与者的说法，包括小唐纳德·特朗普在内，已经有了变化，或与电邮记录出现矛盾。
After being told that The Times was about to publish the content of the emails, instead of responding to a request for comment, Donald Trump Jr. tweeted out images of them himself Tuesday.	在被告知时报即将发布电邮内容之后，小唐纳德·特朗普没有回应置评请求，而是于周二在推特上发布了电邮的截图。
"To everyone, in order to be totally transparent, I am releasing the entire email chain of my emails" about the June 9 meeting, he wrote. "I first wanted to just have a phone call but when that didn't work out, they said the woman would be in New York and asked if I would meet."	"致所有人：为了完全透明起见，我在此发布"关于6月9日会面的"所有相关电邮往来"。他写道，"我最初是想打电话沟通，但没成功，他们说这个女人会到纽约来，问我是否要和她见面。"
He added that nothing came of it.	他还说，那次会面没有取得任何成果。
On Monday, Donald Trump Jr. said on Twitter that it was hardly unusual to take information on an opponent. And on Tuesday morning, he tweeted, "Media & Dems are extremely invested in the Russia story. If this nonsense meeting is all they have after a yr, I understand the desperation!"	周一，小唐纳德·特朗普在 Twitter 上表示，获取对手的信息并不是什么新鲜事。周二早上，他发推称，"媒体和民主党对俄罗斯故事投入了极大的精力。如果这场没有任何意义的会议是他们花费一年时间才得到的全部信息，我能理解他们的绝望！"
At a White House briefing Tuesday, Sarah Huckabee Sanders, deputy press secretary, read a statement from President Donald Trump in which he defended his son. "My son is a high-quality person, and I applaud his transparency," the president said.	周二，副新闻秘书萨拉·赫卡比·桑德斯(Sarah Huckabee Sanders)在白宫的简报会上宣读了唐纳德·特朗普总统的一项声明，他在声明中维护自己的儿子。"我的儿子是一个品德高尚的人，我赞赏他的坦荡，"总统说。
But Sanders said she was "going to have to refer everything on this matter to Don Jr.'s counsel." She said she did not know when the president had last spoken with his son.	不过桑德斯表示"会将所有关于此事的问题交由小唐纳德的律师来回答"。她表示，她不知道总统上次与儿子交谈是什么时候。

The backstory to the June 9 meeting involves an eclectic cast of characters the Trump family knew from its business dealings in Moscow.	6月9日会晤的幕后故事，涉及特朗普家族在莫斯科经商时结识的一群身份各异的人物。
The initial email outreach came from Rob Goldstone, a British-born former tabloid reporter and entertainment publicist who first met the future president when the Trump Organization was trying to do business in Russia.	最初的邮件来自英国出生的前小报记者、娱乐公关人士罗伯·戈德斯通(Rob Goldstone)。特朗普集团尝试在俄罗斯开展业务期间，戈德斯通结识了这位未来的总统。
In the June 3 email, Goldstone told Donald Trump Jr. that he was writing on behalf of a mutual friend, one of Russia's biggest pop music stars, Emin Agalarov. Emin, who professionally uses his first name only, is the son of Aras Agalarov, a real estate tycoon sometimes called the "Donald Trump of Russia."	在6月3日的电子邮件中，戈德斯通对小唐纳德·特朗普说，自己代表的是他们共同的朋友、俄罗斯著名流行歌星叶明·阿加拉罗夫(Emin Agalarov)。叶明在演艺事业中只用自己的名。他是有“俄罗斯唐纳德·特朗普”之称的地产大亨阿拉斯·阿加拉罗夫(Aras Agalarov)的儿子。
The elder Agalarov boasts close ties to President Vladimir Putin of Russia: His company has won several large state building contracts, and Putin awarded him the "Order of Honor of the Russian Federation."	阿拉斯·阿加拉罗夫经常吹嘘自己与俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir Putin)关系密切：他的公司获得了几项大型国家建设合同，普京曾授予他“俄罗斯联邦荣誉勋章”(Order of Honor of the Russian Federation)。
Agalarov joined with the elder Trump to bring the Miss Universe contest to Moscow in 2013, and the Trump and Agalarov families grew relatively close.	阿加拉罗夫和老特朗普一起将2013年环球小姐大赛(Miss Universe)带到了莫斯科，特朗普家族和阿加拉罗夫家族的关系变得比较密切。
Goldstone's emails contradict statements he made in his interview with The Times on Monday, when he said that he did not know whether the elder Agalarov had any role in arranging the meeting, and that he had no knowledge of any official Russian government role in the offer to provide the Trump campaign with dirt on Clinton. Instead, he said that Veselnitskaya had contacted Emin directly, and that Emin had asked him to reach out to the Trumps as a favor to her.	戈德斯通的电子邮件与他周一接受时报采访时所做的声明相冲突，当时他说，他不知道老阿加拉罗夫是否参与安排了这次会晤，也不知道俄罗斯政府是否参与为特朗普竞选团队提供克林顿的黑材料。而他在邮件中则说，维塞尼茨卡雅直接与叶明联系，叶明为了帮助维塞尼茨卡雅而让他与特朗普家族联系。

Kushner recently disclosed the fact of the meeting, though not the content, in a revised form on which all those seeking top secret security clearances are required to list contacts with foreign government officials and their representatives. The Times reported in April that he had failed to list a number of Russian contacts, which his lawyer called an error.	前不久，库什纳透露确实有过这次会晤，不过没有透露会议内容。他是通过一份经过修订的表格透露这一消息的，该表要求所有申请最高密级权限的人列出与外国政府官员及其代表的联系。今年4月，时报报道过，他没有列出他在俄罗斯的很多联系人，他的律师说那是失误。
Manafort also disclosed that a meeting had occurred, and that Donald Trump Jr. had organized it, in response to one of the Russia-related congressional investigations.	马纳福特在回应与俄罗斯相关的国会调查时也曾透露说，确实有过一次会晤，是小唐纳德·特朗普组织的。
Representatives for both men did not immediately respond to requests for comment.	两人的代表都没有立即回复置评请求。
Veselnitskaya arrived the next day and was ushered into Donald Trump Jr.'s office for a meeting with what amounted to the Trump campaign's brain trust.	维塞尼茨卡雅次日到达，被领入小唐纳德·特朗普的办公室，与会者是特朗普竞选团队的智囊团。
Besides having politically connected clients, one of whom was under investigation by federal prosecutors at the time of the meeting, Veselnitskaya is well known for her lobbying efforts against the Magnitsky Act, a 2012 law that punishes designated Russian human rights abusers by allowing the United States to seize their assets and keep them from entering the country. The law so angered Putin that he retaliated by barring American families from adopting Russian children. Her activities and associations have brought her to the attention of the FBI, according to a former senior law enforcement official.	维塞尼茨卡雅除了拥有具有政治背景的客户——其中一位在那次会晤期间正遭到联邦检察官调查——她还以游说反对“马格尼茨基法案”(Magnitsky Act)闻名。那部2012年的法案旨在惩罚某些涉嫌侵犯人权的俄罗斯人，允许美国没收他们的财产，禁止他们进入美国。这项法案令普京大为愤怒，他通过禁止美国家庭收养俄罗斯儿童进行报复。据一位前高级执法官员称，她的活动和交往引起了FBI的注意。
A spokesman for Putin said Monday that he did not know Veselnitskaya and that he had no knowledge of the June 2016 meeting.	周一，普京的一位发言人表示，普京不认识维塞尼茨卡雅，对2016年6月的会晤毫不知情。

Back in Washington, both the White House and a spokesman for Trump's lawyer have taken pains to distance the president from the meeting, saying that he did he not attend it and that he learned about it only recently.	在华盛顿，白宫和特朗普律师的一位发言人努力撇清总统与那次会晤的关系，称总统没有参加那次会晤，并且是最近才听说这件事。
Agalarov did not respond to a request for comment.	阿加拉罗夫没有回应置评请求。
Emin, the pop star at the center of it all, will not comment on the matter, either, Goldstone, his publicist, said on Monday.	周一，该事件的中心人物、流行歌星叶明的公关员戈德斯通表示，他也不会就此事作出评论。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170712/trump-russia-email-clinton	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170712/trump-russia-email-clinton
Twitter Users Blocked by Trump File Lawsuit	特朗普拉黑推特用户惹官司，被指违宪
WASHINGTON — A group of Twitter users blocked by President Donald Trump sued him and two top White House aides Tuesday, arguing that his account amounts to a public forum that he, as a government official, cannot bar people from.	华盛顿——唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump)总统拉黑的一群推特用户周二把他和两位白宫高级助理告上法院，称他的帐号相当于公共论坛，特朗普作为政府官员，不能把别人从这样的论坛上拉黑。
The blocked Twitter users, represented by the Knight First Amendment Institute at Columbia University, raised cutting-edge issues about how the Constitution applies to the social-media era. They say Trump cannot bar people from engaging with his account because they expressed opinions he did not like, such as mocking or criticizing him.	哥伦比亚大学骑士第一修正案研究所(Knight First Amendment Institute at Columbia University)代表这些被拉黑的推特用户，他们提出了关于宪法如何适用于社交媒体时代的新问题。他们说，特朗普不能因为别人发表了他不喜欢的意见，比如嘲笑或者批评他，就禁止别人和他的帐号互动。
"The @realDonaldTrump account is a kind of digital town hall in which the president and his aides use the tweet function to communicate news and information to the public, and members of the public use the reply function to respond to the president and his aides and exchange views with one another," the lawsuit said.	"@realDonaldTrump 帐号是一种数字化的市政厅，在这里，总统及其助理利用推特功能向公众传达新闻和信息，而公众利用回复功能，对总统及其助理做出回应，互相交换意见，" 诉状说。
By blocking people from reading his tweets, or from viewing and replying to message chains based on them, Trump is violating their First	诉状还说，特朗普因为别人表达了他不喜欢的观点，就阻止他们阅读他的推文，不让他们看到和回复基于这些推文的消息链，这种做法侵犯了第一修正

Amendment rights because they expressed views he did not like, the lawsuit argued.	案赋予他们的权利。
It offered several theories to back that notion. They included arguments that Trump was imposing an unconstitutional restriction on the plaintiffs' ability to participate in a designated public forum, get access to statements the government had otherwise made available to the public and petition the government for "redress of grievances."	诉状使用了几个理论来支持这个主张。其中一个就是特朗普对原告的某些能力施加了违反宪法的限制，这些能力包括原告在特定公共论坛上互动、看到政府本应该让公众知晓的声明，以及向政府诉冤请愿的权利。
Filed in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, the lawsuit also names Sean Spicer, White House press secretary, and Dan Scavino, Trump's director of social media, as defendants. It seeks a declaration that Trump's blocking of the plaintiffs was unconstitutional, an injunction requiring him to unblock them and prohibiting him from blocking others for the views they express, and legal fees.	这宗诉讼是向纽约州南区的联邦地方法院提起的，它还把白宫新闻秘书肖恩·斯派塞(Sean Spicer)和特朗普社交媒体主管丹·斯卡维诺(Dan Scavino)列为被告。它希望法院宣布特朗普拉黑原告是违宪的，要求他取消这些拉黑的强制令，禁止他因为别人发表的意见而拉黑他们，并让他支付法律费用。
The Knight First Amendment Institute, directed by Jameel Jaffer, also joined the lawsuit as a plaintiff although its Twitter account had not been blocked by Trump. It argued that it had a First Amendment right to hear from people who had been blocked and are barred from participating in the "forum" of message chains based on his postings.	由贾米勒·贾弗(Jameel Jaffer)领导的骑士第一修正案研究所也以原告身份加入了诉讼，尽管其推特帐户并没有被特朗普拉黑。该研究所认为，自己也拥有第一修正案的权利，听取被拉黑者的意见，这些被拉黑者无法参与基于特朗普贴子的消息链“论坛”。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170712/trump-twitter-users-lawsuit	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170712/trump-twitter-users-lawsuit
Campaign Opposition Research Is Standard. But Not 'Oppo' From Hostile Nations.	竞选对手的黑材料是从哪里来的
Donald Trump Jr.'s 2016 meeting with a Kremlin-connected lawyer who promised damaging information via the Russian government has again engulfed President Donald Trump in questions about whether his campaign colluded with Moscow.	小唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump Jr)曾于2016年会见一名与克里姆林宫有关联的律师，后者承诺提供通过俄罗斯政府得来的黑材料，这让唐纳德·特朗普总统再次遭受如潮的质疑：他的团队是否曾与莫斯科串谋？

The younger Trump and his allies have argued that pursuing material that could prove useful against a political opponent is standard practice in campaigns. But while opposition research is part of modern presidential campaigns, it normally does not come from representatives of a hostile foreign power.	小唐纳德及其盟友称，寻求可能被证明有助于对付政治对手的材料，是竞选活动中的标准动作。不过，对手研究这种做法即便是现代总统竞选活动的组成部分，相关材料一般也不会来自境外敌对势力的代表。
Here is how the peddling of opposition research – or oppo, as political professionals and reporters call it – typically works.	以下是对手研究——政治专业人士和记者称之为“oppo”——相关材料通常而言的散播过程。
How did that get here?	它是如何出现在这儿的？
One of President Bill Clinton’s favorite Arkansas political sayings was, “If you see a turtle on a fence post, it didn’t get there by accident.”	比尔·克林顿(Bill Clinton)总统很喜欢的阿肯色州政治格言说，“如果你看到栅栏柱上有一只乌龟，那它肯定不是偶然到了那里。”
Many campaign accusations and revelatory news stories about a candidate or elected official are the fruits of what is euphemistically called the research division of campaigns and political parties, where low-profile aides search for dirt.	候选人或民选官员在竞选期间遭遇的指控，或是关于这些人的揭露性新闻报道，很多都以竞选团队和党派内部美其名曰研究部的部门为源头，那里的低调助手们整日忙着搜寻丑闻。
“The crackpots get routed to research,” said Tracy Sefl, a veteran Democratic practitioner of the dark arts of oppo.	“狂想者走上研究之路，”民主党阵营中的 oppo 黑魔法资深践行者特蕾西·塞夫(Tracy Sefl)说。
Much of the job is fielding too-good-to-be-true (or simply unverifiable) charges via furtive phone calls, manila envelopes and untraceable email accounts. Working in the Democratic National Committee’s research department in the 2004 campaign, Sefl recalled meeting a woman with a story to tell about President George W. Bush.	很大一部分工作是，借助鬼鬼祟祟的电话、牛皮纸信封和无法被追踪到的电子邮件账号，抛出那些完美到完全不真实（或者干脆无法核实）的指控。在2004年总统选举期间任职于民主党全国委员会(Democratic National Committee)研究部门的塞夫，回忆了自己与一个女人见面的情形，后者想要讲述关于乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)总统的故事。
“She said she worked as a dancer and accused President Bush of doing very specific drug-related activities on her,” Sefl said.	“她说她是一名舞者，并指控布什总统对她做了非常特别的与毒品有关的事，”塞夫说。
The accuser offered no proof, and the Democrats could do little but share the tale with one another.	指控者没有提供任何证据，民主党人能做的不多，于是把这个故事散播了出去。

Where does it come from?	它来自何处?
As any term-paper writer knows, material is drawn from two sources: primary and secondary. The first of these include government documents, such as legal filings and financial disclosures. Remember accounts of the car elevator that Mitt Romney was building inside his oceanside home in California? Those came from renovation plans submitted to the city of San Diego, which were dug up by President Barack Obama's campaign.	正如任何学期论文作者都知道的, 材料有两个来源: 一手的和二手的。一手来源包括政府文件, 比如法律文件和财务资料。还记得关于米特·罗姆尼(Mitt Romney)在其加利福尼亚海滨寓所内修建的那部汽车升降机的描述吗? 那些信息就来自被提交给圣迭戈市的改建计划, 贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)的竞选团队将其挖了出来。
Or how about the $400 that John Edwards spent on a haircut? That too was exhumed by the Obama campaign from a campaign finance report.	又或者你记得约翰·爱德华兹(John Edwards)剪头发花掉的 400 美元? 那也是奥巴马的竞选团队从一份竞选活动财务报表中挖出来的。
And that story five days before the 2000 election on George W. Bush driving under the influence in Maine back in 1976? Chris Lehane, a former aide for Al Gore and a native of Maine, does not admit to the paternity of that leak, but he does not deny it, either.	还有 2000 年大选日五天前曝出的乔治·W·布什于 1976 年在缅因州醉驾的故事? 曾给阿尔·戈尔(Al Gore)当过助手的缅因州当地人克里斯·勒汉(Chris Lehane), 没有承认自己和这一消息的传出有密切关系, 但也没否认。
"I told people when asking about the issue only that I was responsible for the popular vote and left the Electoral College for others," he cheekily said in 2010 after Bush strategist Karl Rove published a memoir that accused him of being the man behind the story.	"当被问及此事时, 我只是告诉人们我负责普选, 把选举团(Electoral College)留给别人去管," 2010 年, 他在布什的策略师卡尔·罗夫(Karl Rove)出版回忆录指责他是这条消息的幕后黑手之后老着脸皮说道。
And those unflattering stories about the Clinton Foundation in this past campaign? Yes, some of them originated with Republican researchers.	最近这次总统选举期间关于克林顿基金会(Clinton Foundation)的负面报道? 没错, 其中一些消息源自共和党研究员。
In some cases, the provenance of the leaks remains murky. Obama, for example, might never have been elected to the Senate in 2004 were it not for damaging revelations about his rivals and their divorces.	在某些案例中, 信息外泄的源头朦朦胧胧。举个例子, 奥巴马或许绝无可能在 2004 年当选参议员, 如果不是关于其竞争对手以及那些人的离婚事件的黑材料被披露出来的话。
Secondary source opposition research largely consists of	二手来源对手研究材料的主要内容是表决记录和只言片语——一个政治人物

votes-and-quotes — a political figure’s policy positions and past comments that have appeared in the media. The material may lack the shock effect of original material, but it can be just as memorable.	的政治立场及其被媒体发表的过往言论。此类材料也许不像一手材料那样有冲击力，但可能同样令人难忘。
Which brings us back to Romney — and his Irish setter, Seamus. The Romney family, as many readers of a certain New York Times columnist will recall, stowed Seamus on the roof of their car during a family vacation. This anecdote was but one element in a biographical series that The Boston Globe ran on Romney in 2007, when he first sought the White House. But it found new life when Romney became the Republican nominee in 2012.	这让我们想起了罗姆尼——以及他的爱尔兰塞特犬谢默斯(Seamus)。《纽约时报》一位专栏作家的很多读者应该还记得，罗姆尼一家一次外出度假期间，把谢默斯放在车顶上。这一插曲只不过是波士顿环球报(Boston Globe)2007年关于罗姆尼的传记性系列报道中的内容，当时他第一次加入总统选举。但到了2012年，罗姆尼成为共和党提名的总统候选人的时候，它获得了新生。
It was the sort of story that, by the standards of an earlier political era, counted as peculiar behavior.	按照政坛早年间的标准，这算是一种关于诡异行为的故事。
But has anything like this happened before?	以前发生过任何类似的事情吗？
There is only one known historical parallel to the Trump campaign’s contacts with the Russians, and it involves Richard M. Nixon. Running for president in 1968, Nixon told H.R. Haldeman, his eventual White House chief of staff, to “monkey wrench” peace talks in Vietnam in order to scuttle any deal that would have handed Hubert Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, a political victory in the closing days of the election.	就目前所知，历史上只有一件事能和特朗普竞选团队与俄罗斯人的接触相提并论，牵涉其中的是理查德·M·尼克松(Richard M. Nixon)。尼克松在1968年竞选总统期间，让最终成为他的白宫幕僚长的H·R·霍尔德曼(H. R. Haldeman)去给越南的和平会谈“捣乱”，以防止有任何协议出炉，在大选日即将到来之际为民主党提名的总统候选人休伯特·汉弗莱(Hubert Humphrey)奉上一场政治胜利。
Nixon, a former senator and vice president, had a relationship with the South Vietnamese government. Earlier in the year, he had met with the country’s ambassador and brought along Anna Chennault, a prominent Chinese-American Republican. As author John A. Farrell writes in his new book, “Richard Nixon: The Life,” which reports the “monkey	身为前参议员和副总统的尼克松和南越政府有往来。那一年早些时候，他会见过南越大使，还把知名华裔美籍共和党人陈香梅(Anna Chennault)带在身边。正如约翰·A·法雷尔(John A. Farrell)在其披露“捣乱”指令的新书《理查德·尼克松：人生》(Richard Nixon: The Life)中所写，尼克松和霍尔德曼之间的通话发生在1968年10月22日，霍尔德曼忠实记录下了这一指令。 wrench" instructions, the call between Nixon and Haldeman took place on Oct. 22, 1968, and Haldeman dutifully jotted down what he was told.

A group of aides to Ronald Reagan did meet in the fall of 1980 with an individual claiming to be an emissary from the Iranian government, but that person's legitimacy was never determined.	罗纳德·里根(Ronald Reagan)的一群助手的确在1980年秋天会见了一个自称是伊朗政府使者的人，但此人的真正身份从未得到确认。
Moscow has, however, tried to meddle in previous U.S. elections. Historian Michael R. Beschloss recounts in "The Crisis Years: Kennedy and Khrushchev, 1960-1963," an account of the relationship between the United States and the Soviet Union during the Kennedy presidency, that the Soviet ambassador in Washington secretly reached out to both John F. Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson, another Democratic presidential hopeful, during the 1960 campaign. The ambassador was rebuffed by both candidates.	不过，莫斯科总是设法干预美国以往的选举。历史学家迈克尔·贝施洛斯(Michael Beschloss)在讲述肯尼迪任内美苏关系的著作《危机岁月：肯尼迪和赫鲁晓夫, 1960-1963》(The Crisis Years: Kennedy and Khrushchev, 1960-1963)中回忆，1960年总统选举期间，苏联驻华盛顿大使曾秘密联络约翰·F·肯尼迪(John F. Kennedy)以及另一位有望当选总统的民主党候选人。两位候选人都拒绝了苏联大使。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170713/donald-trump-jr-opposition-research-foreign-power	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170713/donald-trump-jr-opposition-research-foreign-power
Rancor at White House as Russia Story Refuses to Let the Page Turn	通俄丑闻挥之不去，白宫起内讧
WASHINGTON — If President Donald Trump emerged from his meeting with President Vladimir Putin of Russia last week hoping he had begun to "move forward" from the controversy over the Kremlin's election meddling, as advisers put it, his flight home the next day made clear just how overly optimistic that was.	华盛顿——如果说特朗普希望在上周与普京会晤后能够像他顾问说的那样，“摆脱”关于克里姆林宫干预总统选举的争议，那么在第二天他飞回国的过程中，情况已经很清楚：他过分乐观了。
As Air Force One jettied back from Europe on Saturday, a small cadre of Trump's advisers huddled in a cabin helping to craft a statement for the president's eldest son, Donald Trump Jr., to give to The New York Times explaining why he met last summer with a lawyer connected to	上周六，就在空军一号从欧洲飞回美国途中，特朗普的几个顾问挤在一个机舱内，帮助总统的长子小唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump Jr.)起草声明，向《纽约时报》解释为什么他去年夏天要和一位与俄罗斯政府有联系的律师会面。据知情人士说，在空军一号上以及在美国国内的参与者讨论了这个声明应该

the Russian government. Participants on the plane and back in the United States debated how transparent to be in the statement, according to people familiar with the discussions.	有多大的透明度。
Ultimately, the people said, the president signed off on a statement from Donald Trump Jr. for The Times that was so incomplete that it required day after day of follow-up statements, each more revealing than the last. It culminated on Tuesday with a release of emails making clear that Trump's son believed the Russian lawyer was seeking to meet with him to provide incriminating information about Hillary Clinton as "part of Russia and its government's support for Mr. Trump."	知情人士说，最后，总统批准了小唐纳德·特朗普对《纽约时报》的声明，这个声明是不完整的，所以接下来每天都要发新声明，每篇声明都比上一篇更加有料。这个状况在周二达到了高潮，一批曝光的电邮明确显示，特朗普的儿子相信，那名俄罗斯律师希望与他会面，向他提供关于希拉里·克林顿 (Hillary Clinton) 有罪的信息，是“俄罗斯及其政府对特朗普先生的支持的一部分”。
The Russia story has become the brier patch from which the president seemingly cannot escape. It dominated his trip to Europe last week and, after he leaves on Wednesday night for a couple of days in France, it may dominate that trip as well. Every time the elder Trump tries to put the furor behind him, more disclosures thrust it back onto the Washington agenda.	“通俄门”似乎成了特朗普无法逃脱的障碍。这不仅主宰了上周他的欧洲之行，在周三晚上他出发前往法国之后，还可能会左右接下来这几天的行程。老特朗普每一次试图将这种喧嚣甩到身后，都会有更多的爆料把“通俄门”重新推回到华盛顿的议程上。
Even before the latest reports, Trump's head-spinning willingness on creating a joint cybersecurity team with Russia fueled criticism. Now people close to the president and to his legal effort are engaged in a circular firing squad, anonymously blaming one another for the decisions of the last few days.	即使在最新这波报道出来之前，特朗普想和俄罗斯建立联合网络安全团队的意愿也让人摸不着头脑，引发了批评。现在，对总统及其法律活动知根知底的那批人互相攻讦，对于几天前做出的决定，他们匿名指责彼此。
The emails, which the younger Trump released after learning that The Times had obtained copies and was about to publish them, undercut the president's line of defense in the Russia inquiry. For months, the elder Trump has dismissed suspicions of collusion between Russia and	小特朗普得知时报已经掌握这些电邮，并且即将发表之后，就抢先将之公之于众，切断了总统在“通俄门”调查中的防线。几个月以来，老特朗普一再把俄罗斯与自己竞选班底勾结的怀疑驳斥为“假新闻”和“大骗局”。他的长子也曾说过，勾结的说法“令人恶心”，“太虚伪”。小特朗普在福克斯新闻的访谈

his team as “fake news” and a “total hoax.” His eldest son, likewise, had previously asserted that talk of collusion was “disgusting” and “so phony.” Donald Trump Jr. said in a Fox News interview that he would have done things differently in retrospect, but he maintained he had done nothing improper.	中说，回头来看，他可能会换一种做法，但他坚称自己做的事情没有任何不妥之处。
At a minimum, however, the emails show that the younger Trump was not only willing but also eager to accept help advertised as coming from the Russian government. “I love it,” he wrote.	然而，这些电邮起码显示了小特朗普不仅愿意，而且乐于接受那些号称是来自俄罗斯政府的帮助。“我很喜欢，”他写道。
Joining him at the meeting with the Russian lawyer in June 2016 were Jared Kushner, his sister’s husband and now a senior White House adviser, and Paul J. Manafort, then the campaign chairman and a veteran political operative with longstanding ties to a pro-Russia party in Ukraine. Both the younger Trump and the Russian lawyer, Natalia Veselnitskaya, have said in recent days that no incriminating information about Clinton was actually passed along during the meeting at Trump Tower, but that Veselnitskaya did discuss U.S. sanctions imposed on Russian human rights offenders.	他于2016年6月与那名俄罗斯律师会面，在场的还有他妹夫贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)和当时的竞选主席保罗·J·马纳福特(Paul J. Manafort); 库什纳现在是白宫高级顾问，马纳福特则是资深的政界推手，和乌克兰的亲俄党派有长期联系。小特朗普和这名俄罗斯律师娜塔莉娅·维塞尼茨卡雅(Natalia Veselnitskaya)近期都表示，在特朗普大厦里的那次会面没有提供任何有关克林顿的资料，维塞尼茨卡雅讨论的是美国对俄罗斯侵犯人权行为的制裁。
In the Fox News interview on Tuesday night, the younger Trump said that Kushner left the meeting a few minutes after it began.	周二晚接受福克斯新闻频道采访时，小特朗普表示，库什纳在会面开始几分钟后便离开了。
While Donald Trump Jr. has been the main focus of the controversy because he set up the meeting, Kushner faces potential trouble because he currently works in the White House and neglected to mention the encounter on forms he filled out for a background check to obtain a security clearance. The emails were discovered in recent weeks by Kushner’s legal team as it reviewed documents, and they amended his	尽管小唐纳德·特朗普一直是这个争议事件的主要焦点——因为是他安排了这次会面——但有可能遇到麻烦的是库什纳，因为他目前效力于白宫，却没有在为获得安全权限而填写的背景调查表上提及这次会面。这些邮件是库什纳的律师团队最近几周在审核文件时发现的，他们对他的安全权限表格进行了修改，将这一信息公开，该消息来自了解最新相关进展的人士，像其他人一样，此人以涉及敏感政治和法律问题为由拒绝公布自己的身份。

clearance forms to disclose it, according to people briefed on the developments, who like others declined to be identified because of the sensitive political and legal issues involved.
Similarly, Manafort recently mentioned the meeting to congressional investigators looking into possible collusion, according to the people briefed on the matter.	据上述知情人士透露, 马纳福特最近也向调查可能存在的通俄行为的国会调查人员提到了这次会面。
The disclosure of the emails left the White House again on the defensive as tension inside the president's orbit has grown. Trump is exasperated and, at the urging of advisers, said nothing publicly in defense of his son until Tuesday, when he issued a one-sentence statement. "My son is a high-quality person and I applaud his transparency," Trump said. Hours later, he added on Twitter that his son "is a great person who loves our country!"	邮件的泄露让白宫再一次进入防守状态, 总统团队内部的紧张关系则开始加剧。特朗普十分恼怒, 但他在顾问们的力劝下一直没有公开维护自己的儿子, 直到周二发布一项只有一句话的声明。“我儿子是一个高素质的人, 我为他的坦荡喝彩,” 特朗普说。几小时后, 他又在 Twitter 上写道, 他的儿子“是个很棒的人, 他热爱我们的国家!”。
Advisers said the president was annoyed not so much by his son as by the headlines. But three people close to the legal team said he had also trained his ire on Marc E. Kasowitz, his longtime lawyer, who is leading the team of private lawyers representing him. Trump, who often vents about advisers during times of trouble, has grown disillusioned by Kasowitz's strategy, the people said.	顾问们表示, 令总统大为光火的是新闻报道的大标题, 而不是他的儿子。但三位与律师团队关系密切的人士表示, 他还把自己的怒火对准了自己长久以来的律师马克·E·卡索威茨(Marc E. Kasowitz), 此人领导着为他处理法律事务的私人律师团队。这名人士表示, 经常在出现麻烦的时候朝顾问们发火的特朗普, 开始对卡索威茨的策略感到失望。
The strain, though, exists on both sides. Kasowitz and his colleagues have been deeply frustrated by the president. And they have complained that Kushner has been whispering in the president's ear about the Russia investigations and stories while keeping the lawyers out of the loop, according to another person familiar with the legal team. But one person familiar with Kasowitz's thinking said that his	不过, 这种紧张关系是双向的。卡索威茨和他的同事也对这位总统感到深深的不满。据另一名熟悉该律师团队的人士透露, 他们曾抱怨库什纳一直在悄悄地跟总统讲有关俄罗斯调查的事和情况, 却把律师们蒙在鼓里。但一名了解卡索威茨想法的人士表示, 他的担忧与库什纳无关。 concerns did not relate to Kushner.

The president's lawyers view Kushner as an obstacle and freelancer more concerned about protecting himself than his father-in-law, the person said. While no ultimatum has been delivered, the lawyers have told colleagues that they cannot keep operating that way, raising the prospect that Kasowitz may resign.	这名人士表示，总统的律师们认为库什纳是一个障碍，也是一个更关心保护自己而非他的岳父的自由人。尽管还没有发出最后通牒，但这些律师们已经告知同事，他们不能再这样下去，这意味着卡索威茨有可能会辞职。
Also, the president has fumed to close allies that he is mulling a staff change, and some members of his family have zeroed in on the chief of staff, Reince Priebus. But most Trump advisers privately concede that major changes are unlikely anytime soon.	与此同时，总统对自己的亲密盟友感到十分愤怒，以致于在考虑进行人事调整，他的一些家庭成员已经将目光对准了白宫幕僚长雷恩斯·普利巴斯 (Reince Priebus)。但特朗普的大多数顾问私下承认，短时间内不太可能出现重大调整。
The developments provoked sharp criticism by Democrats and even some Republicans. "Nothing's proven yet, but we're now beyond obstruction of justice in terms of what's being investigated," Sen. Tim Kaine, D-Va. and Clinton's running mate last year, said on Tuesday. "This is moving into perjury, false statements and even potentially treason."	最新的情况引发民主党人，乃至一些共和党人的尖锐批评。“还没有什么确凿的证明，但是就正在被调查的事情而言，已经超出了妨碍司法公正的范畴，”克林顿去年的竞选搭档、弗吉尼亚州民主党参议员蒂姆·凯恩 (Tim Kaine) 说。“事态正朝着作伪证、发表假声明的方向发展，甚至有可能涉及叛国罪。”
Republicans in Congress made little effort to defend the White House and some expressed concern. "I voted for @POTUS last Nov. & want him & USA to succeed, but that meeting, given that email chain just released, is a big no-no," Rep. Lee Zeldin, R-N.Y., wrote on Twitter, using the acronym for president of the United States.	国会中的共和党人没怎么为白宫辩护，有些还表达了自己的担忧。“去年 11 月我投票给 @POTUS，期待他和美国能获得成功，但考虑刚被公开的往来邮件，那次会面就是一个大大的否定，”纽约州共和党众议员李·泽尔丁 (Lee Zeldin) 在 Twitter 上写道，他使用了一个代指美国总统的缩写。
The White House rejected the criticism. Asked about the use of the term "treason," Sarah Huckabee Sanders, the principal deputy White House press secretary, said, "I think those new words are ridiculous."	白宫驳斥了这种批评。在被问及“叛国”这个词的使用时，白宫副新闻秘书萨拉·赫卡比·桑德斯 (Sarah Huckabee Sanders) 说，“我觉得这些新冒出来的词很荒谬。”
Trump's son and the president's defenders said that once again, the fuss	特朗普的儿子和总统的维护者表示，像上次一样，这样大惊小怪是没有必要

was unwarranted. "Media & Dems are extremely invested in the Russia story," Donald Trump Jr. wrote on Twitter. "If this nonsense meeting is all they have after a yr, I understand the desperation!"	的。“媒体和民主党人执迷于那个有关俄罗斯的故事，”小唐纳德·特朗普在 Twitter 上写道。“如果一场没什么意义的会面就是他们努力一年后能拿到的所有证据，那我就明白了他们何以如此孤注一掷！”
Inside Trump's team, the response to the developments has become a subject of intense dispute. Three people familiar with his son's account said he pushed to offer a full explanation on Saturday when first contacted by The Times about the meeting, and said he agitated to be allowed to defend himself publicly. But three other people involved in the discussions offered a completely contrary version of events, insisting that the younger Trump adamantly resisted an expansive disclosure.	在特朗普的团队里，对事态新发展的反应已经成为一个引发激烈争论的话题。三名熟悉特朗普儿子情况的人士表示，当《纽约时报》第一次联系小特朗普询问那次会面时，他主动要求在周六提供一个完整的解释，还说他激动地想获准为自己公开辩护。但另外三名参与该讨论的人士提供了一种完全相反的说法，坚称小特朗普坚决反对全面透露这些情况。
On Tuesday, the Trumps projected a united front.	周二，特朗普一家对外展示了统一的立场。
"This is the EXACT reason they viciously attack our family!" Eric Trump, the president's second-oldest son, posted on Twitter. "They can't stand that we are extremely close and will ALWAYS support each other."	"这是他们猛烈攻击我们一家的确切原因！"总统的次子埃里克·特朗普(Eric Trump)在 Twitter 上写道。“他们无法容忍我们这么亲密，这样永远彼此支持。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170713/russia-trump	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170713/russia-trump
Excerpts From Trump's Conversation With Journalists on Air Force One	特朗普：中国有八千年历史，习近平非常好
The following are excerpts, as prepared and released on Thursday by the White House, from a conversation aboard Air Force One between President Trump and members of the press corps as they flew to Paris on Wednesday night.	以下是由白宫准备并在周四发布的访谈节选，出自特朗普总统和周三晚随机飞往巴黎的记者团成员在空军一号上的对话。
The conversation was initially thought by the journalists to be off the record. However, the White House changed the terms of the exchange after Mr. Trump asked the pool reporter, who works for The New York Times, why it was not covered and she informed him that the	最初，记者们以为这些谈话是私下的，不能用来发表。然而，白宫却改变了这次交流的性质，原因是特朗普问起其中一名供职于《纽约时报》的记者为何没有报道此事，她告诉他，记者们以为那些对话是不能用作报道素材的。 journalists believed they were not allowed to use the material.

On North Korea, China, and trade:	有关朝鲜、中国和贸易:
THE PRESIDENT: A big thing we have with China was, if they could help us with North Korea, that would be great. They have pressures that are tough pressures, and I understand. And you know, don't forget, China, over the many years, has been at war with Korea — you know, wars with Korea. It's not like, oh, gee, you just do whatever we say. They've had numerous wars with Korea.	总统: 我们跟中国的一个大问题是, 如果他们能帮我们对付朝鲜就好了。他们压力也很大, 我明白。要知道, 不要忘了, 中国历史上和朝鲜半岛有过战争——你知道, 跟朝鲜半岛的战争。不是说, 哎呀, 你就按我们说的做就好了。他们和朝鲜半岛有过许多战争。
They have an 8,000 year culture. So when they see 1776 — to them, that's like a modern building. The White House was started — was essentially built in 1799. To us, that's really old. To them, that's like a super modern building, right? So, you know, they've had tremendous conflict over many, many centuries with Korea. So it's not just like, you do this. But we're going to find out what happens.	他们有 8000 年的历史文化。所以当想到 1776 年——对他们来说, 那就像一座现代建筑。白宫始于——大体是在 1799 年建成。对我们来说, 1776 年是很早以前了。对他们来说, 那就是一栋很新的建筑, 对吧? 所以, 你知道, 他们在许多许多个世纪里和朝鲜半岛有过无数的冲突。所以情况并不是, 你这么做好了。但我们会看看下一步会发生什么。
Very important to me with China, we have to fix the trade. We have to fix the trade. And I've been going a little bit easier because I'd like to have their help. It's hard to go . But we have to fix the trade with China because it's very, very none-reciprocal.	在中国方面, 对我来说很重要是必须解决贸易问题。我们必须解决贸易问题。之前我的态度有点宽容, 因为我希望能获得他们的帮助。你很难跟他们来硬的。但我们必须解决与中国的贸易问题, 因为这完全不是互惠的。
Q Is that your bargaining chip with them to get on board with North Korea? Is, like, you want to —	问: 这是你让他们答应一起解决朝鲜问题的谈判筹码吗? 就好像你想——
THE PRESIDENT: Nobody has ever said it before. I say it all the time. Somebody said, what cards do you have? I said, very simple — trade. We are being absolutely devastated by bad trade deals. We have the worst of all trade deals is with China.	总统: 以前没人这么说过。我一直这么讲。有人问, 你手上有什么牌? 我说, 很简单——贸易。我们被这些糟糕的贸易协议整得太惨了。我们和中国的贸易协议是所有协议里最糟糕的。
We have a bad deal with South Korea. We're just starting negotiations	我们跟韩国的协议也不怎么样。我们刚开始和韩国谈判。我们给韩国提供保

with South Korea. South Korea, we protect, but we're losing $40 billion a year with South Korea on trade. We have a trade deficit of $40 billion. The deal just came up.	护，但我们在与韩国的贸易上每年损失 400 亿美元。我们有 400 亿美元的贸易逆差。这项协议就那么达成了。
That was another Hillary Clinton beauty. Remember she said it was five-year deal, and now it's an extension period. She said this will put jobs in our country. She said we'll make money with it. Great. We're losing $40 billion a year. It's a horrible deal. So we're starting — we started, as of yesterday, renegotiating the deal with South Korea. We have to.	那也是希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)干的好事。要知道她当时说那是一项为期五年的协议，但现在它被延期了。她说这会给我们的国家带来工作机会，我们会从中获利。很好。我们现在每年损失 400 亿美元。这是一项糟糕透顶的协议。所以我们在开始——从昨天已经开始与韩国就这项协议进行重新谈判。我们必须这么做。
But the biggest strength we have are these horrendous trade deals, like with China. That's our strength. But we're going to fix them. But in terms of North Korea, our strength is trade.	但我们最大的优势就是这些吓人的贸易协议，就像我们和中国之间那样。那是我们的优势。但我们会解决它们。不过就朝鲜而言，我们的优势是贸易。
Q And do you think that's going to bring them around?	问：你认为那样能让他们改变立场吗？
THE PRESIDENT: Well, yeah, when I say reciprocal — you make reciprocal deals, you're talking about hundreds of billions of dollars. But before I did that, I wanted to give it a good shot. Let's see. And they helped us. I have a very good relationship with him. I think he's a tremendous guy. But don't forget. He's for China. I'm for the U.S. So that's always going to be.	总统：嗯，是的，当我说到互惠——达成互惠的协议，谈论的可是数千亿美元。但是在做到那一点之前，我想放手一试。让我们看看结果会怎样。他们帮助过我们。我和他关系非常好。我觉得他是个非常好的人。但不要忘了。他代表的是中国。我代表的是美国。所以情况会一直是那样。
So he could be a tremendous guy, but he's going to do what's good for China. And he doesn't want 50 million people pouring across his border. You know, there are a lot of things. I understand the other side. You always have to understand the other side.	所以他可能是个非常好的人，但他会做对中国有利的事。他不希望看到 5000 万人越过他的边境。你知道，那里的情况是很复杂的。我看到了事情的另外一面。你永远都要知道事情的另外一面是什么。
Q What about steel?	问：钢铁呢？
THE PRESIDENT: Steel is a big problem. Steel is — I mean, they're	总统：钢铁是个大问题。钢铁——我是说，他们在倾销钢铁。不止是中国，

dumping steel. Not only China, but others. We're like a dumping ground, okay? They're dumping steel and destroying our steel industry, they've been doing it for decades, and I'm stopping it. It'll stop.	还有其他国家的。我们就像一个垃圾场好吗？他们在倾销钢铁，在破坏我们的钢铁行业，他们这么做已经有几十年了，我在阻止这种情况。会结束的。
Q On tariffs?	问：关税问题呢？
THE PRESIDENT: There are two ways — quotas and tariffs. Maybe I'll do both.	总统：有两种方式——限额和关税。我们可能两种方式都会用。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170714/trump-air-force-one-excerpt-transcript	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170714/trump-air-force-one-excerpt-transcript
A Brooklyn Murder's Decades-Old Origins in Rural China	福建人纽约枪杀同胞，只因 20 年前邻里纠纷
When Ying Guan Chen — stumbling and bleeding from the bullet holes in his face and lower torso — collapsed and died in a Popeye's restaurant in the Sunset Park neighborhood in Brooklyn, it was clear almost at once that his killer was a fellow Chinese immigrant named Wu Long Chen.	陈英冠（音）在布鲁克林日落公园(Sunset Park)附近的大力水手餐厅(Popeye's restaurant)中弹倒地，面部和下腹中弹，伤口大量流血，而后昏迷死亡。几乎当场就可断定，行凶者是同为中国移民的陈武龙（音）。
But while the shooting occurred against a gritty New York backdrop — a fast-food chicken joint a few blocks from an elevated highway — its roots lay in events that started thousands of miles away in a rural village in the Chinese province of Fujian.	虽然枪杀真切地发生在纽约——就在距离高架路几个街区外的一个炸鸡快餐店里——但它的祸根源自几千英里外中国福建省的一个农村。
There, more than 20 years ago, those who know the story say, a family feud broke out, the bitterness of which survived both time and the two men's journeys from China to New York. Last month, Wu Long Chen, 46, was convicted in State Supreme Court in Brooklyn of murdering Ying Guan Chen, 68. And on Monday, Wu Long Chen will face up to life in prison at a sentencing hearing where members of his victim's family are expected to tell a judge about the vendetta.	据知情人称，20 多年前，那里发生了一起家族冲突。时光流逝，两人从中国来到纽约，但是心中仍有余恨。上个月，纽约州最高法院布鲁克林分院判定 46 岁的陈武龙谋杀了 68 岁的陈英冠。周一，在宣判听证会上，陈武龙将面临最高可为终身监禁的宣判，届时受害者家属可能会将这段夙怨告知法官。

It began in the village of Fengchen, in the town of Heshang, in the Changle section of Fuzhou City, in Fujian Province, a mountainous region on the eastern coast of China that rests against the commingled waters of the South and East China Seas. According to Ying Guan Chen's widow, Aijiao Xu, the two Chen families had lived for years near one another on an unpaved road in the village, which is populated by residents who share a common ancestry and surname.	故事始于中国东部山区福建省，这个省份临近南海与东海交汇的水域。两个陈姓家庭住在福州市长乐区鹤上镇峰陈村，村民们有着共同的祖先和相同的姓。据陈英冠的遗孀徐爱娇（音）称，两家是该村的近邻，在同一条土路边住了很多年。
Two of Ying Guan Chen's brothers lived across the road from Wu Long Chen and his family, and whenever the second family cleaned their house, a pile of sweepings, Ms. Xu said — much of it leaves and paper — would blow downwind toward the first family's house, clogging its gutter. There was no municipal garbage service then, Ms. Xu said, and so the tensions eventually reached a fever point.	徐爱娇称，陈英冠的两个兄弟住在陈武龙一家对面，陈武龙家每次打扫房间，一堆垃圾——大多是树叶和纸片——会顺风吹到陈英冠两个兄弟家里，把排水沟堵住。徐爱娇称，当时还没有市政垃圾处理服务，所以双方的紧张关系最终达到白热化。
One day, around the time of a Chinese New Year, Ms. Xu heard an argument coming from her husband's brothers' house. When she ran over with her eldest son to investigate, she said, she saw the brothers fighting with the family of Wu Long Chen.	某年春节前后的一天，徐爱娇听见小叔子家里传出争吵声。她说，她和大儿子跑去查看，看到两兄弟正在跟陈武龙一家打架。
One of Wu Long's brothers, Ms. Xu said, had grabbed an ax and was swinging it at one of her husband's brothers. Ms. Xu's son hit the brother in the leg with a stick, knocking him down and leaving him, as she put it, "feeling faint."	徐爱娇说，陈武龙的一个兄弟拿起一把斧头，冲着她的小叔子挥舞。徐爱娇的儿子用棍子打了陈武龙那个兄弟的腿，把他打倒了，据徐爱娇说，他当场“昏了过去”。
"His brothers had to drag him back to his house," said Ms. Xu's daughter, Xiaomei Chen, who was only 6 at the time, but has heard the story from her family.	“他的兄弟们只能把他拖回房间，”徐爱娇的女儿陈晓梅（音）说。她当时只有六岁，但听家人讲过这个故事。
Eventually, the police were called and one of Wu Long Chen's relatives	徐爱娇说，最后警察来了，陈武龙的一个亲戚和徐爱娇的大儿子都被带去了

and Ms. Xu's eldest son were both hauled down to the station house, where they remained overnight and both families were fined, Ms. Xu said.	派出所，关了一夜，两家人都被罚了款。
After the fight, some of Ying Guan Chen's relatives gathered large stones, Tianxia Chen, a neighbor of both the families, said. Then, in the evening, they went to the second story of their house and took turns hurling the stones at Wu Long Chen's family's house.	两家人共同的邻居陈天侠（音）说，那次打架后，陈英冠的一些亲戚收集了一些大石头。然后他们在晚上到自家的二层楼，轮流往陈武龙家的院子里扔石头。
The stones shattered windows and glass doors, Tianxia Chen recalled. Furniture was destroyed.	陈天侠回忆，石头打碎了窗户和玻璃门。家具都被毁了。
"The house was completely smashed," he said.	"房子完全被毁了，"他说。
And from that point onward, Ms. Xu added, the families never spoke.	徐爱娇还说，从那以后，两家人再没说过话。
So it went, even though both Wu Long Chen and Ying Guan Chen had moved to New York City. Twice, Ms. Xu recalled, the men had chance encounters on the streets of Manhattan's Chinatown. But each time, she said, they passed one another without a word exchanged.	虽然陈武龙和陈英冠后来都搬到了纽约，他们依然互不说话。徐爱娇回忆说，两人在曼哈顿中国城的大街上偶遇过两次，但他们两次都没说话。
While both men made a living in New York working in Chinese restaurants, Wu Long Chen was fired about five years ago and in his despair he sought out Tianxia Chen, who had also moved to the city. Tianxia Chen, a practitioner of traditional Chinese medicine, said he treated his friend for mental illness, and though it seemed to help for a while, Wu Long Chen's troubles gradually returned.	虽然两人都在纽约的中餐馆谋生，但是大约五年前，陈武龙被解雇了，他在绝望中向同样搬到纽约的陈天侠求助。陈天侠是中医大夫，他说自己帮助陈武龙治疗过精神疾病，陈武龙虽然似乎好转了一段时间，但慢慢地又出现了症状。
Though he frequented the employment agencies on Eldridge Street, he was unable to hold a job, Tianxia Chen said. "He would get confused," Tianxia Chen said.	陈天侠说，虽然陈武龙常去埃尔德里奇街的职业介绍所，但他什么工作也做不长。"他有时候会犯糊涂，"陈天侠说。
Then, in October, just two months before the shooting, Wu Long Chen	2015年10月，就在枪击案发生前两个月，陈武龙去日落公园的海悦餐厅

attended the wedding of a fellow Fengchen villager at the Pacificana Restaurant in Sunset Park. Ying Guan Chen was also there. Guests at the wedding said that while the two men saw each other, they did not interact. And, according to Tianxia Chen, after the event, Wu Long Chen became obsessed with Ying Guan Chen, asking repeatedly for his phone number and talking about revenge.	(Pacificana Restaurant)参加以前峰陈村一个村民的婚礼。陈英冠也在那里。据婚礼上的宾客称，虽然两人看见了彼此，但是没有交谈。据陈天侠说，婚礼结束后，陈武龙老想着陈英冠，反复询问他的电话号码，说要报仇。
"It's been 20 years," Tianxia Chen recalled telling Wu Long Chen. "What revenge do you seek now?"	"都过去 20 年了，"陈天侠记得自己这样对陈武龙说。"你现在报什么仇？"
It was around the same time, Tianxia Chen said, that Wu Long Chen claimed to have bought a gun. Worried by the news, Tianxia Chen said he told his friend: "If you bought a gun, get rid of it — throw it away."	陈天侠说，差不多就在那个时候，陈武龙说自己买了一把枪。陈天侠听到这个消息后很担忧，对他的朋友说："你要是买了枪，赶紧处理掉——把它扔了。"
Though Wu Long Chen eventually claimed that he was only joking about the gun, the authorities say that he did indeed buy one. And on Dec. 7, 2015, they said, he brought it, hidden in a duffel bag, to the wedding of another immigrant from Fengchen — this one at a restaurant in Sunset Park called the Golden Imperial Palace.	虽然陈武龙最终说，枪的事只是开玩笑，但当局表示，他的确买了一把枪。当局称，2015 年 12 月 7 日，他买了一把枪，藏在帆布包里，去参加另一名来自峰陈村的移民的婚礼，这次是在日落公园一个名叫金皇廷(Golden Imperial Palace)的餐厅里。
Once again, Ying Guan Chen was also there. In fact, a videotape shows him placing a red gift envelope among a stack of others near the door and talking with his friends from the village. Wu Long Chen can also be seen in the videotape: sitting at a table eating dinner, the duffel bag with the gun inside beside him.	这一次，陈英冠同样在场。事实上，一段视频显示，他在门边把一个红包放进一摞红包中间，还和同村友人聊了天。在视频中也能看到陈武龙：他坐在一张桌子旁吃晚餐，身边搁着装枪的大号旅行包。
Shortly after 9:30 p.m., Ying Guan Chen left the wedding. Wu Long Chen followed him, the videotape shows, trailing his rival for several blocks.	晚上 9 点半刚过，陈英冠离开婚礼现场。视频显示陈武龙跟了出去，他尾随着仇人走过了几个街区。
Then, at 61st Street and Seventh Avenue, Wu Long Chen, his gun in	随后，在 61 街和第七大道交界处，手中持枪的陈武龙在便道上凑近自己以

hand, approached his former neighbor on the sidewalk and fired three shots at him at point-blank range. A videotape from a surveillance camera shows Wu Long Chen running away. Another surveillance camera captured Ying Guan Chen stumbling into the Popeye's where he collapsed.	前的邻居,朝对方近距离开了三枪。一段监控视频显示了陈武龙逃跑的情形。另一段监控视频捕捉到了陈英冠踉踉跄跄闯进大力水手炸鸡店的身影——他在那里倒在地上。
After 20 years of hearing tales about the fight in Fengchen, Xiaomei Chen, Ying Guan Chen's daughter, said she still had a hard time believing that something from the distant past – and from another continent – had caused her father's death.	陈英冠之女陈晓梅二十年前就听说过峰陈村的那场争斗,她仍然难以相信,发生在遥远的过去以及另一个大洲上的某件事导致了父亲的死亡。
"How is it even possible that someone could hold a grudge over something like this?" she said.	"一个人怎么可能为了这么一件事就怀恨在心?"她说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170717/a-brooklyn-murders-decades-old-origins-in-rural-china	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170717/a-brooklyn-murders-decades-old-origins-in-rural-china
Dog Rescues a Drowning Deer and Becomes a Social Media Hero	勇救落水小鹿,6岁金毛犬成网络明星
Clearly, he is a hero.	它显然是个英雄。
"Good boy, Storm!" a man's voice says in the video, calling to a golden retriever paddling toward a brown lump bobbing in the water of Port Jefferson Harbor off Long Island. Taking it in his mouth, the dog hauls it toward the beach, a moment filmed by his owner on Sunday that has been seen by 4.5 million and counting on Facebook.	"好孩子,斯托姆!"一个男人的声音在视频中响起,呼叫一头金毛寻回犬,在长岛的杰斐逊港口,这条狗向水中一团棕色的东西游去,叼着它拖到沙滩上。这段视频是由它的主人在周日拍摄的,在Facebook上已被观看450万次,而且这个数字还在不断增长。
The lump was a fawn, which the dog dragged onto the sand. There it lay, alive but barely moving.	被狗拖到沙滩上的是一头小鹿,它躺在那里,虽然还活着,但几乎一动不动。
Storm gently nudged the fawn's belly. It scarcely responded. He nuzzled it again. Nothing. He pawed at its tiny hooves. Then the video ended.	斯托姆轻轻拱了拱小鹿的肚子。它几乎没有任何反应。斯托姆又拱了拱它,还是没有反应。它又用爪子挠了挠小鹿小小的蹄子。然后视频就结束了。

The video footage has launched Storm to sudden social media stardom and sent him on a tour of morning TV talk shows.	这段视频令斯托姆突然成了社交媒体上的明星，并使他登上了一系列早间电视节目。
Banish any thought that the dog, a 6-year-old English golden retriever owned by Mark Freeley, a personal injury lawyer from East Setauket, N.Y., might have simply been following his instinct to retrieve.	斯托姆是一只 6 岁的英国金毛寻回犬，它的主人是纽约州东锡托基特的人身伤害律师马克·弗雷利(Mark Freeley)，千万不要以为这只狗可能只是因为本能而追逐猎物。
Definitely do not imagine that the dog was hungry.	千万不要以为狗是因为饿了。
"I was there, and if anybody knows Storm, they know that's not in his heart," said Mr. Freeley, who captured the moment on his phone while out with the golden retriever and his other, less famous dog, Sarah, a rescued Border collie. "He is the most gentle, gracious dog you ever want to meet."	"我就在现场，如果有人了解斯托姆，他们会知道这绝对不是它的想法，"弗雷利说，他在和这头金毛寻回犬，以及他的另一条不那么出名的狗，边境牧羊犬莎拉一起散步时，用手机拍下了这段视频。"它是你能见到的最温柔、最亲切的狗。"
Mr. Freeley, who also fosters rescue dogs and does pro bono legal work for a local animal rescue, said Storm "grasped the deer by the neck — just the way a lifeguard would put his arm over someone's neck — and dragged him in."	弗雷利还培育其他救护犬，并为当地的动物救援组织提供无偿的法律服务，他说斯托姆"咬住鹿的脖子——就像救生员用手臂抱住溺水者的一样——把它拖了上来。"
In the video, Storm licks the deer's jugular. "It was so touching," Mr. Freeley said. "It showed he really had a care and was worried about the fawn."	在视频中，斯托姆还舔了舔小鹿的颈部。"这真的很感人，"弗雷利说。"这表明它真的很小心，很为小鹿担心。"
Mr. Freely said he left to get help. He called a group he knew, Strong Island Animal Rescue League. Frank Florida, who runs the organization, arrived with leashes and nets.	弗雷利说，他去找人帮忙，打电话给他认识的一个名叫"强力岛动物救援联盟"(Strong Island Animal Rescue League)的团体。经营该组织的弗兰克·佛罗里迪亚(Frank Florida)带着皮带和网子抵达现场。
By then, the fawn had wobbled back up. It took one look at the men and two dogs and darted back into the water, Mr. Florida said. "They are animals of flight; they are going to take off wherever they can go," he said. "In a yard, they will smash through a wooden fence."	佛罗里迪亚说，那时候，小鹿浑身颤抖着向后退去，看了一眼面前的男人和两只狗，冲回水中。"这种动物跑得飞快；它们能跑到哪儿就跑到哪儿，"他说。"在一个院子里，它们能冲破木栅栏。"

The fawn paddled out again, this time about 250 feet. After a failed attempt by Storm to fetch it once more, Mr. Florida took off his shirt and, in his sneakers and shorts, swam out and grabbed the deer.	小鹿再次跳进水里，游出大约 250 英尺。斯托姆想再次抓住它，但没有成功，于是佛罗里迪亚脱下衬衫，穿着运动鞋和短裤游过去，抓住了鹿。
The 3-month-old white-tailed deer had unexplained wounds on its head and one closed eye, he said. Mr. Florida and his partner, Erica Kutzing, drove the deer to Save the Animals Rescue Foundation in Middle Island, N.Y., where it was in stable condition late Tuesday, said Lori Ketcham, a director of the organization. The fawn was being treated with antibiotics and was drinking baby goat formula from a bowl.	他说，这是一头 3 个月大的白尾鹿，头上有无法解释的伤口。保护动物救援基金会(Save the Animals Rescue Foundation)位于纽约州中岛，该组织的主任洛里·凯查姆(Lori Ketcham)说，佛罗里迪亚及其合作伙伴艾利卡·库茨(Erica Kutzing)在周二晚些时候开车带着情况已经稳定下来的小鹿来到了该组织。小鹿目前正在使用抗生素治疗，并用碗喝了婴儿配方羊奶。
Many fawns that are brought to the animal rescue, Ms. Ketcham said, are there because of dogs — and not heroic ones. “I think the dog did a very good thing, but I’m very realistic about what dogs do — dogs tend to chew these little deer up,” she said.	凯查姆说，许多小鹿会被带到这家动物救援组织都是因为狗——但不是英勇的狗。“我认为这只狗做了非常好的事，但是我会实际地看待狗的行为——狗往往会咬这些小鹿，”她说。
The fawn will eventually be returned to the wild, she said. But it is recovering from many ailments, including subcutaneous emphysema, a condition in which air bubbles are trapped under the skin, making it feel like “Bubble Wrap,” Ms. Ketcham said. The illness can be caused by trauma.	她说，这头小鹿最终会被放归野外。但是，它目前还有许多疾病正在治疗，包括皮下气肿，这是一种气泡被困在皮肤下的情况，使它感觉像是“被泡沫包裹住了”，凯查姆说。这种疾病可能由精神创伤引起。
Being in a dog’s mouth, Ms. Ketcham said, could be considered traumatic — but so could falling off a sandy cliff, the rescuers’ leading theory of how the fawn got in the water.	凯查姆说，被狗叼住可能会带来创伤，但是也可能是因为从海边的悬崖上掉下来导致的——这是救援人员关于小鹿为何落水的首要猜测。
(Pay no attention to the naysayers who may suspect that a dog chased it there.)	(不要理会那些唱反调的人怀疑是狗把小鹿追下水的说法。)
“Officially this was a wonderful thing that the dog saved the deer,” Ms.	“理论上来说，狗救了那头鹿，这是一件很奇妙的事情，”凯查姆说。“但是我

Ketcham said. "But I think, if he was to his own devices, the deer would not survive."	想，如果依照它的本能，那头鹿就不会生存下来。”
Character witnesses for Storm include a parade of foster puppies the Freeleys have taken in over the last month. "They tortured this poor guy," Mr. Freely said. "And he did nothing."	斯托姆的品行证人还包括上个月弗雷利一家寄养的一群小狗。“它们折磨这个可怜的家伙，”弗雷利说。“但它什么反应也没有。”
The family's rabbit, Speedo, often sleeps on the dog's back. Although Storm adamantly refuses to fetch, Mr. Freeley said, the dog seemed to know the stakes were high in retrieving the fawn.	家里的兔子斯比多经常睡在斯托姆的背上。斯托姆坚决拒绝做叼回东西的游戏，但弗莱利先生说，它似乎知道，追回这只小鹿是非常重要的。
"A dog with his need to retrieve spearheaded the rescue," said Ms. Kutzing, the animal rescuer. The details, she said, do not really matter "as long as the ending is happy."	“一只天性喜欢寻找猎物的狗充当了这次救援的先锋，”动物救助者库茨说。她说，细节并不重要，“只要结局是快乐的。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170719/dog-rescues-a-drowning-deer-and-becomes-a-social-media-hero	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170719/dog-rescues-a-drowning-deer-and-becomes-a-social-media-hero
Trump and Putin Held a Second, Undisclosed, Private Meeting	白宫承认特朗普 G20 期间曾与普京私下交谈
WASHINGTON — The White House acknowledged on Tuesday that President Trump had a second, previously undisclosed, private conversation with President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia this month, raising new questions about their relationship as the cloud of Russia investigations continues to shadow the Trump administration.	华盛顿——白宫周二承认，特朗普本月与俄罗斯总统普京还进行了另外一次私下交谈，此事之前未作披露。在“通俄门”调查仍旧笼罩在特朗普当局上方之际，两人的关系引起了新的质疑。
The hourlong conversation in Hamburg, Germany, took place at a private dinner of the world leaders at a conference hall on the banks of the Elbe River during the Group of 20 economic summit meeting. It followed a more than two-hour formal meeting earlier in the day between the two presidents that included their foreign ministers and featured a fraught discussion about Moscow's attempts to interfere in	这次持续一个小时的交谈，发生在德国汉堡 G20 峰会期间，各国领导人在易北河畔的一个会议厅举行的私人晚宴上。当天早些时候，美俄元首举行了两个多小时的正式会议，两国外交部长也有参加，双方就莫斯科干预 2016 年美国选举的行动举行了紧张的讨论。

the 2016 elections.
In the earlier meeting, Mr. Trump questioned the Russian president about his role in the American elections, Mr. Putin denied his involvement, and the two men agreed to move beyond the dispute in the interest of finding common ground on other matters, including a limited cease-fire in Syria.	在早些时候的那次会面中，特朗普对普京在美国选举中扮演的角色提出了质疑，而普京否认自己插手选举，两人同意把这种争议放在一边，在其他事项上寻求共同点，包括叙利亚的一次有限停火。
But the intimate dinner conversation, of which there is no official United States government record is the latest to raise eyebrows. Foreign leaders who witnessed it later commented privately on the oddity of an American president flaunting such a close rapport with his Russian counterpart.	但晚宴上的亲密对话在美国政府那里没有留下任何官方记录，令人称奇之事再添一桩。在场的外国领导人亲眼目睹了这次交谈，他们后来私下评论说，一个美国总统炫耀与俄罗斯总统的亲密关系，真是有些奇怪。
"Pretty much everyone at the dinner thought this was really weird, that here is the president of the United States, who clearly wants to display that he has a better relationship personally with President Putin than any of us, or simply doesn't care," said Ian Bremmer, president of the Eurasia Group, a Washington-based research and consulting firm, who said he heard directly from attendees. "They were flummoxed, they were confused and they were startled."	"晚餐上的几乎所有人都认为这事很怪，美国总统显然希望表现出他与普京的私交比和我们任何人都好，或者他根本就是不在乎，"华盛顿研究和咨询公司欧亚集团主席伊恩·布雷默(Ian Bremmer)说自己亲耳听到与会者这么说。"他们感到困惑不解，他们也很吃惊。"
White House officials did not respond to repeated inquiries about the nature or substance of the conversation, but one confirmed that it had occurred without offering any details, and insisted on anonymity because the discussion was private.	关于这次谈话的性质或内容，白宫官员没有回应我们的再三询问，但是有人确认，这件事确实发生过。此人没有提供任何细节，并坚持要求不具名，因为该讨论是私人性质的。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170719/trump-putin-undisclosed-meeting	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170719/trump-putin-undisclosed-meeting
Trump Made Several Misleading Claims in Times Interview	接受时报采访，特朗普信口雌黄

WASHINGTON — In a wide-ranging interview with The New York Times on Wednesday, President Donald Trump made a number of misleading and false claims, including statements on health insurance, the biography of his deputy attorney general and French history.	华盛顿——周三，唐纳德·特朗普总统接受了《纽约时报》采访，在这个涉及诸多话题的访谈中，他发表了一些误导性和虚假的断言，包括关于医疗保险的声明、司法部副部长的履历和法国人的历史。
Here's an assessment.	下面是一个评估。
— He misrepresented how health insurance works.	——他错误地阐述了医疗保险的运作方式。
"You're 21 years old, you start working and you're paying $12 a year for insurance, and by the time you're 70, you get a nice plan," Trump said. "Here's something where you walk up and say, 'I want my insurance.'"	"你 21 岁时开始工作，每年支付 12 美元的保险费，到 70 岁时，你会得到一个很好的方案，"特朗普说。"正是因为这样，你才会走进来，说'我想要一份保险'。"
Trump's description aligns with life insurance or Social Security more accurately than health insurance. A 21-year-old who took out a whole life insurance policy, for example, would pay premiums until death, and the amount accumulated over the decades would be paid out to beneficiaries.	和医疗保险相比，特朗普的描述更符合人寿保险或社会保障。比如，一个 21 岁的人办理一份终生人寿保险，他将支付保费直至死亡，几十年来积累的金额将支付给他的受益人。
A 21-year-old who purchases a health insurance policy is not paying premiums to save up for care 50 years down the line. Rather, the 21-year-old's premiums help cover the costs of an older person or someone with more expensive medical needs.	一名购买医疗保险的 21 岁人士所缴纳的保费不是积攒下来供之后 50 年使用的。相反，21 岁人士缴纳的保险费是用来帮助承担年长者或有着更昂贵医疗需求的人的支出的。
Trump is right that in most situations, a 21-year-old is healthier than a 70-year-old and needs less medical care. But a 21-year-old with a pre-existing condition could have been denied coverage or charged much more before the Affordable Care Act's passage.	在大多数情况下，一个 21 岁的人比一个 70 岁的人更健康，需要的医疗较少，这一点特朗普是正确的。但是，在《合理医疗费用法案》(Affordable Care Act) 通过之前，一名之前便患有病症的 21 岁人士可能会被拒绝参保或被要求支付高昂的保费。
— He falsely said the wife of the Japanese prime minister "doesn't speak English," not even "hello."	——他错误地说，日本首相的妻子"不会说英语"，甚至不会说"hello"。
Motoko Rich, The Times' Tokyo bureau chief, refuted Trump's claim.	时报东京分社社长素子·里奇(Motoko Rich)反驳了特朗普的说法。虽然安倍

Though Akie Abe, the wife of Prime Minister Shinzo Abe, speaks Japanese in many public international appearances, she delivered a 15-minute speech in English in New York three years ago and made a public service announcement on HIV/AIDS for MTV in English.	晋三首相的妻子安倍昭惠(Akie Abe)在许多公开国际演讲中都讲日语，但三年前，她曾在纽约用英语发表了15分钟的讲话，并在MTV台以英语宣布了一项关于HIV/艾滋病的公共服务。
— He said news about Russia “wasn’t hot” when his son met with a Russian lawyer in June 2016.	——他说他的儿子2016年6月与俄罗斯律师会面期间，关于俄罗斯的新闻“不是热点”。
Trump has a point that the conversation around Russia did not center on potential connections between his campaign and the Kremlin, but discussion of Trump’s ties to the Russian president, Vladimir Putin, and Moscow preceded Donald Trump Jr.’s meeting.	特朗普指出，当时围绕着俄罗斯的讨论并不重点关注他的竞选同克里姆林宫之间的潜在联系，这是有道理的，然而，早在小唐纳德·特朗普的会面之前，就有了关于特朗普与俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir Putin)及俄罗斯之间关系的讨论。
Trump routinely suggested improving relations with Russia during the Republican primary and earned praise from Putin in December 2015, prompting stories from many news outlets and criticism from political opponents and foreign policy experts.	在共和党初选中，特朗普经常提出，要改善同俄罗斯之间的关系，并于2015年12月得到了普京的赞扬，这引发了许多新闻媒体的报道，并遭到政治对手和外交政策专家的批评。
— He described savings from health care and tax cuts as a “windfall” for the middle class. The cuts are generally more beneficial to the wealthy.	——他将医疗和减税方面节省的钱描述为中产阶级的“意外之财”。然而减税总的来说对富人更为有利。
The original version of the Senate health care bill would have repealed taxes totaling $700 billion over the next decade, with most of the money lining the pockets of the richest Americans, according to the nonpartisan Tax Policy Center.	根据无党派机构税收政策中心(Tax Policy Center)的说法，参议院医疗保险法案的原始版本将在未来十年内废除总共7000亿美元的税款，其中大部分资金都会进入最富有的美国人的口袋。
The latest version retained two taxes from the Affordable Care Act aimed at the wealthy and was “much less regressive,” the center’s Howard Gleckman wrote. While the wealthy would still have seen the largest dollar amount in tax cuts, lower-income households would have gotten a larger cut as a share of after-tax income.	该中心的霍华德·格莱克曼(Howard Gleckman)写道，最新版本保留了《合理医疗费用法案》中针对富人的两项税收，“不算太大的倒退”。虽然富裕人士仍然会得到最大的绝对减税金额，低收入家庭的减税金额在税后收入中的比例则更大。

The White House’s tax blueprint — which lacks the details needed for modeling — would provide modest cuts for the middle class, but the rich and businesses have the most to gain.	白宫的税收蓝图（它缺乏建模所需的细节）将为中产阶级提供一定程度的减税，但获得最大收益的是富人和企业。
If it were to contain the elements of Trump’s campaign pledges, households in the top 1 percent would get an average tax cut of about $270,000, while the middle fifth of Americans would see about $1,900, according to the Tax Policy Center.	根据税收政策中心的数据，如果履行特朗普竞选中的所有相关承诺，收入最高的1%的家庭将获得平均约27万美元的减税额，而居于收入中段的五分之一的美国人将会获得平均约1900美元的减税额。
— He incorrectly said Rod J. Rosenstein, the deputy attorney general, was “from Baltimore.”	——他不正确地说，司法部副部长罗德·J·罗森斯坦(Rod J. Rosenstein)“来自巴尔的摩”。
Trump suggested that Rosenstein was from Baltimore and might have Democratic leanings because “there are very few Republicans in Baltimore, if any.” But Rosenstein grew up in Philadelphia and attended the University of Pennsylvania, Trump’s alma mater. He was appointed the U.S. attorney for Maryland, based in Baltimore, in 2005 by President George W. Bush, a Republican.	特朗普称罗森斯坦来自巴尔的摩，可能会有民主党的倾向，因为“巴尔的摩的共和党人很少，如果有的话。”但罗森斯坦在费城长大，并进入特朗普的母校宾夕法尼亚大学就读。2005年，共和党总统乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)任命他担任马里兰州检察官，办公地点在巴尔的摩。
Rosenstein lives in Bethesda, Maryland, a suburb of Washington.	罗森斯坦目前居住在马里兰州的贝塞斯达，位于华盛顿郊区。
— He offered a distorted history of Paris and Napoleon.	——关于巴黎和拿破仑的历史，他的说法是错乱的。
Trump may have been confusing Napoleon Bonaparte with his nephew, Louis Napoleon or Napoleon III, when he claimed that Napoleon “designed Paris.” In 1853, about 30 years after the first Napoleon died, Napoleon III appointed Georges-Eugène Haussmann to carry out his reconstruction project, envisioned to accommodate rapid population growth and to discourage future revolutions, according to the Museum of the City.	特朗普在采访中称拿破仑“设计了巴黎”，他可能是把拿破仑·波拿巴(Napoleon Bonaparte)与他的侄子路易·拿破仑(Louis Napoleon)或拿破仑三世(Napoleon III)弄混了。根据巴黎城市博物馆的说法，1853年，拿破仑·波拿巴死去约30年后，为适应人口的快速增长，并防止未来的革命，拿破仑三世任命乔治·欧仁·哈斯曼(Georges-Eugène Haussmann)展开重建巴黎的项目。
“His one problem is he didn’t go to Russia that night because he had	“他的一个问题是，那天晚上他没去俄罗斯，因为他有业余活动，他们都冻

extracurricular activities, and they froze to death," Trump continued.	死了，"特朗普继续说。
While he identified the correct Napoleon, his version of the 18th-century conqueror's failed attempt to invade Russia is garbled. Napoleon's 1812 campaign into Russia lasted about six months, not, as Trump suggested, one night. And the French emperor did take Moscow in September, before withdrawing a month later as food supplies began to dwindle. Of nearly half a million men under his command, only about 6,000 made it back home and the others died in battle or succumbed to disease or the weather.	这一次他说的是拿破仑·波拿巴，人搞对了，但这位 18 世纪征服者对俄罗斯的失败入侵在他口中完全错乱了。拿破仑 1812 年对俄罗斯的战役持续了大约六个月，而不是像特朗普说的一个晚上。这位法国皇帝在 9 月份就占领了莫斯科，一个月后才因为粮草不足而撤退。在他指挥的近五十万人中，只有约 6000 人回到家，其他人在战斗中死亡，或死于疾病和天气。
Asked what Trump could have meant by "extracurricular activities," Adam Zamoyski, the author of "Moscow 1812: Napoleon's Fatal March," said: "I can't make head or tail of it. You could argue that all of Napoleon's activities were 'extracurricular'! As are Trump's."	当被问及特朗普所谓的“业余活动”是什么意思的时候，《莫斯科 1812 年：拿破仑毁灭性的三月》(Moscow 1812: Napoleon's Fatal March)一书的作者亚当·扎莫斯基(Adam Zamoyski)说：“这话让我完全摸不着头脑。你可以争辩说拿破仑的所有活动都是‘业余活动’！特朗普也是如此。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170721/donald-trump-interview-factcheck	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170721/donald-trump-interview-factcheck
O.J. Simpson Can Go Free, Parole Board Rules	O·J·辛普森获得假释，即将出狱
O.J. Simpson, the former football hero and actor whose good-guy image vanished when he was accused of murdering his ex-wife and her friend, will go free after serving nine years in a Nevada prison on charges stemming from an armed robbery, a state parole board ruled Thursday.	内华达州假释委员会周四裁定，因一起持械抢劫案而获罪、在该州一所监狱内服刑的 O·J·辛普森(O.J.Simpson)，将在服刑 9 年后获得自由。这名前美式橄榄球明星兼演员的好男人形象早在被控谋杀前妻及其友人之际便已凋零殆尽。
Simpson, who turned 70 this month, went before the board as a man convicted of taking a group of accomplices, two of them armed with guns, to a cheap Las Vegas hotel room in 2007 to take hundreds of items from a sports memorabilia dealer. But it is the 1994 murders of	于本月迎来 70 岁生日的辛普森，是以被认定在 2007 年带领一群同伙——其中两人持有枪械——闯入拉斯维加斯某廉价酒店的房间，从一名体育纪念品经销商那里抢走数百件纪念品的罪犯的身份，站到假释委员会全体成员面前。但给他的生活和名誉投下更持久、更厚重阴影的，则是 1994 年妮可·布

Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman, for which he was acquitted after the most-watched trial in history, that have cast the longer, darker shadow over his life and reputation.	朗·辛普森(Nicole Brown Simpson)和罗纳德·高德曼(Ronald Goldman)被谋杀的案子——他为此经受了史上最受瞩目的审判，被宣告无罪。
After his conviction in 2008, a judge sentenced Simpson to nine to 33 years in state prison, meaning that he becomes eligible for parole for the first time Oct. 1. Based on his age and the fact that he has been a model prisoner, the Nevada Board of Parole Commissioners granted his release the first time it was considered, rather than denying parole and making him wait years for another chance.	辛普森于2008年被定罪后，一名法官判处他在州监狱服刑33年，9年内不得假释，这意味着他在今年10月1日首次有资格获得假释。鉴于他的年龄以及他已经成为一个模范犯人的事实，内华达州假释委员会在首次考虑他的假释申请之后便予以批准，而不是驳回申请，让他等待几年后的另一次机会。
Simpson, wearing a light blue denim shirt and looking considerably thinner than at a hearing in 2013, walked into the hearing just after 1 p.m. Eastern time. As the chairwoman of the parole board, Connie Bisbee, read the charges he was convicted of, he heaved a sigh and grimaced.	美国东部时间下午1点刚过，身穿浅蓝色牛仔布衬衫的辛普森走进听证会现场，他看上去比出席2013年的一场听证会时瘦了很多。在假释委员会的女主席康尼·比斯比(Connie Bisbee)宣读他被法庭认定的罪名之际，他叹了一口气，露出苦笑。
When Bisbee slipped and said Simpson was 90 years old, not 70, he said, "I feel like it, though."	比斯比提及他的年龄时出现口误，把70岁说成了90岁。他接口说，“不过我觉得自己真像到了那个岁数。”
Under questioning by parole commissioners, Simpson stuck to a version of the robbery that, as the board member Tony Corda said, "differs a little from the official record."	接受假释委员会成员质询时，辛普森就那场抢劫给出了自己的描述，如委员会成员托尼·科达(Tony Corda)所说，他给出的版本“与官方记录稍有出入”。
He insisted that the items he took from the memorabilia dealer, Bruce Fromong, whom he knew well, were his property. And he said he was not aware at the time that two of the men he took to the hotel room, whom he referred to as "security guys," brandished guns.	辛普森坚称，他从自己颇为熟识的纪念品经销商布鲁斯·弗蒙格(Bruce Fromong)那里拿走的东西，原本就属于他。他还表示，当时并未注意到自己带到酒店房间的人当中有两个举着枪——他称他们为“安保人员”。
He said he had never brandished a weapon at anyone, and never would, adding, "I basically have spent a conflict-free life."	他说他从未持武器对着任何人，也永远不会那么做，并表示“我这一生基本没和人发生过冲突”。

Simpson's daughter Arnelle Simpson testified to the board on behalf of his family. "We just want him to come home," she said.	辛普森的女儿阿内尔·辛普森(Arnelle Simpson)代表他的家人向委员会作证。“我们只想让他回家，”她说。
"My experience with him is that he's like my best friend and my rock," said Simpson, 48, who is the oldest of O.J. Simpson's four children. "I know that he is remorseful, he is truly remorseful."	"我和他相处时，觉得他是我最好的朋友、我的靠山，"现年 48 岁的阿内尔·辛普森说。她是 O·J·辛普森的四名子女中最年长的一个。"我知道他很后悔，他真的很后悔。"
Arnelle Simpson and other members of his family live in California. O.J. Simpson lived most of his life in California, but in the years leading up to his conviction, he lived in Florida.	阿内尔·辛普森以及他的其他家人住在加利福尼亚。O·J·辛普森也在加州住了大半生，不过被定罪之前的几年，他住在佛罗里达。
When Simpson leaves prison, will he be able to have a beer? He may not — parolees usually face numerous restrictions that do not apply to most people. Typically, they are required to appear for regular check-ins, submit to drug and alcohol tests, and cooperate with their parole officer, who can send violators back behind bars.	当辛普森离开监狱的时候，他可以喝啤酒吗？不行——被假释者一般要面临大多数人不会受到的大量限制。他们通常被要求定期现身签到，接受毒品和酒精测试，还要和可以把违规者送回监狱的假释官合作。
In Nevada, the standard conditions of parole require the parolee to get permission before moving, refrain from drinking alcohol or carrying a weapon of any kind, and seek and maintain a job. Parolees may not associate with anyone who has a criminal record.	在内华达州，标准的假释条件包括：被假释者在搬家之前需获得许可，不得饮酒或持有任何武器，以及寻求并保住一份工作。被假释者或许还不能与任何有犯罪记录的人来往。
A parole board official, David Smith, spoke at a news conference after the decision of release was announced. He cited Simpson's positive record in prison, a minimal record of prior convictions, his participation in programs addressing the behavior that led to incarceration, and family support as factors in his release.	释放辛普森的决定被宣布后，假释委员会的成员戴维·史密斯(David Smith)在一个新闻发布会上发了言。阐述促使辛普森获释的因素时，史密斯提到了他在狱中的良好纪录、很少的前科、他对防止违法犯罪项目的参与，还有家人的支持。
Simpson's felony convictions came 13 years to the day after a Los Angeles jury found him not guilty of murdering Nicole Brown Simpson and Goldman after one of the longest and most-watched criminal cases	辛普森被判以重罪的 13 年前，洛杉矶的一个陪审团在耗时之久、关注度之高居于史上前列的刑事审判结束之际认定，他并未谋杀妮可·布朗·辛普森和高德曼。

in history.
In 1997, in a civil trial, another jury found that Simpson was responsible for their deaths, and awarded their families $33.5 million in damages; he has paid a tiny fraction of that amount.	在 1997 年的民事审判中，另一个陪审团认定他对两人的死负有责任，应向其家属赔偿 3350 万美元；他迄今只支付了很少一部分赔偿金。
What makes Simpson's case unique, of course, is that people watching it have a different case in mind, the 1994 double murder.	当然了，让辛普森的案子与众不同的是，关注该案的人会想起另一桩案子：有两个人在 1994 年被杀。
It did not help matters that the 2007 robbery occurred on the same day as the release of "If I Did It: Confessions of the Killer," a book based on interviews Simpson gave, describing – in theory, hypothetically – how he could have carried out the murders.	2007 年的劫案发生那天，恰好是《假如我做了：杀手的自白》(If I Did It: Confessions of the Killer)一书面世的日子，这对事情可没什么帮助。该书基于辛普森接受的采访，以假设的手法描绘了他在理论上可以如何实施谋杀。
One of his lawyers, Yale Galanter, has said that the charges filed against Simpson were excessive, and has suggested that the prosecutors and jurors were influenced by the earlier case. Though jurors were prohibited from considering any outside factors, "my biggest concern was whether or not the jury would be able to separate their very strong feelings about Mr. Simpson and judge him fairly and honestly," Galanter said after the 2008 conviction.	辛普森的律师之一亚尔·加兰特(Yale Galanter)说，辛普森受到了过重的指控，他还暗示早前的案子影响到了检察官和陪审员。在辛普森于 2008 年被定罪后，加兰特表示，虽然陪审员被禁止考虑任何外部因素，但“我最大的担心一直是：陪审团能否撇开他们对辛普森先生的成见，公正、诚实地评判他”。
The Clark County district attorney at the time, David J. Roger, and members of the jury have insisted that their actions were no more than a reflection of the crimes Simpson committed in that Las Vegas hotel.	时任克拉克县地区检察官的戴维·J·罗杰(David J. Roger)以及陪审团成员坚称，他们只是根据辛普森在拉斯维加斯那家酒店犯下的罪行作出反应。
After years of slowly fading into obscurity, Simpson was shoved back into the spotlight last year by two high-profile television projects. ESPN's "O.J.: Made in America," a multipart, nearly eight-hour documentary that won an Academy Award, spanned his life story: poor child in San Francisco, sports star in college and the NFL, charming	去年，早已慢慢变得默默无闻的辛普森，凭借两个备受瞩目的电视节目重回聚光灯下。ESPN 的《辛普森：美国制造》(O.J.: Made in America)，一部总时长将近 8 小时的多集纪录片，展示了他人生的各个阶段：旧金山的穷孩子，大学和国家橄榄球联盟(NFL)的体育明星，迷人的代言人和演员，虐待妻子的丈夫，加州的被告，最后是内华达州的囚犯。该片赢得了一项奥斯卡

pitchman and actor, abusive husband, California defendant and, finally, Nevada convict.	奖。
FX's "The People v. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story," a miniseries dramatizing the murder investigation and trial, won several Emmy Awards.	FX 的《美国犯罪故事：公众与辛普森的对决》(The People v. O.J.Simpson: American Crime Story)，一部对谋杀案的调查和审判过程进行戏剧化处理的迷你剧，得到了好几项艾美奖。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170721/oj-simpson-parole	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170721/oj-simpson-parole
'I Did Not Collude,' Kushner Says After Meeting With Senate Investigators	库什纳否认与俄罗斯共谋干涉美国大选
WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump's son-in-law, Jared Kushner, said Monday that he had been unaware that a June 2016 meeting he attended at Trump Tower was set up in the hope that a Russian lawyer would provide the Trump campaign with damaging information about Hillary Clinton.	华盛顿——特朗普总统的女婿贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)在周一表示，自己并不知道 2016 年 6 月在特朗普大厦(Trump Tower)参加的一次会议的目的是希望一名俄罗斯律师向特朗普的竞选团队提供有关希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)的不利信息。
In prepared remarks to congressional investigators released by Kushner's representatives, Kushner said he arrived at the meeting late and had been so uninterested in the discussion that he emailed his assistant to ask for her help escaping.	在库什纳的代表公布的，对国会调查员事先准备的发言中，库什纳说他到达会议现场的时间晚了，他对会议的讨论完全不感兴趣，所以发邮件给助手，让她帮助自己离开会场。
Kushner, who is to give his statement to the Senate Intelligence Committee on Monday, said he went to the meeting at the request of the president's eldest son, Donald J. Trump Jr. Kushner said he did not read an email forwarded by the younger Trump saying that the Russian government was providing dirt about Clinton as part of its effort to help the Trump campaign.	库什纳将于周一向参议院情报委员会(Senate Intelligence Committee)做陈述。库什纳说，他是在特朗普的长子小唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump Jr)的要求下参加该会议的。库什纳称自己没有看到小唐纳德·J·特朗普转发的一封信件。该邮件称，俄罗斯政府将提供有关克林顿的黑料，这是其帮助特朗普竞选阵营行动的一部分。
In his prepared remarks, Kushner gave his first public explanation of his contacts with Russian government officials and other	在准备好的发言中，库什纳首次公开解释了过去一年里，自己与俄罗斯政府官员和其他与克里姆林宫有关人士的联系。他承认在 11 月的选举结束后，

Kremlin-connected people over the past year. He acknowledged that after the November election, he sought a direct line of communication to the Russian president, Vladimir Putin. He characterized that action as a routine part of his job in establishing foreign contacts for Trump's transition team.	他曾寻求与俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir Putin)建立直接通信联系。他将这一行动描述成自己为特朗普的过渡团队建立对外联系工作的常规内容。
In the remarks, Kushner flatly denied any collusion: "I had no improper contacts. I did not collude, nor know of anyone else in the campaign who colluded, with any foreign government."	在发言中，库什纳断然否认存在任何共谋：“我没进行过不当联系。我没有共谋，也不知道竞选团队中其他任何人与任何外国政府共谋。”
The contacts with Russians by Kushner and by other senior members of the Trump campaign have taken on special significance. U.S. intelligence agencies have concluded that Putin authorized a campaign of hacking and propaganda to try to tip the 2016 presidential election in Trump's favor. The Justice Department and Congress are investigating whether anyone around Trump helped that effort, and whether the president has tried to impede the investigation.	库什纳和特朗普竞选团队的其他高级成员与俄罗斯的联系具有特殊的意义。美国情报机构断定，普京授权进行了一场黑客入侵和宣传运动，试图让2016年大选偏向有利于特朗普的方向。美国司法部和国会正在调查特朗普身边是否有人为这一行动提供了帮助，以及特朗普总统本人是否试图妨碍调查。
Kushner's closed-door appearance before Senate Intelligence Committee investigators on Monday is the start of an important period in the inquiry, one that will keep the focus on Russia despite Trump's repeated efforts to move past the controversy. Kushner is also scheduled to speak to the House Intelligence Committee on Tuesday.	周一，库什纳将以非公开的形式出现在参议院情报委员会调查人员的面前。这是调查中的一个重要阶段的开始。尽管特朗普多次试图越过这一争议，但调查将继续把重点放在俄罗斯上。库什纳还计划于周二接受众议院情报委员会(House Intelligence Committee)的质询。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170725/jared-kushner-russia-senate	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170725/jared-kushner-russia-senate
The New Presidential Interview	采访特朗普，一种独特的新闻体验
WASHINGTON — As we walked out the door of the West Wing, the one sometimes guarded by a uniformed Marine and used by the president to greet visiting heads of state, editors back in the office texted the	华盛顿——当我们走出白宫西翼的大门——也就是时有身着制服的海军陆战队队员把守，供总统迎接来访国家元首的那扇门——后方编辑发来短信，问了一个显而易见的问题：我们拿到什么新闻了吗？

obvious question: Did we have any news?
Um, yes. Yes, we did. My colleagues Maggie Haberman, Michael Schmidt and I had just finished an interview with President Trump one day last week and the challenge was not whether there was a headline but how many.	呃，是的。的确拿到了。上周的一天，我和同事麦吉·哈博曼(Maggie Haberman)、迈克尔·施密特(Michael Schmidt)刚刚完成了一次对特朗普总统的采访，现在的困难不是能否拿出头条新闻，而是要拿出多少条。
In just 50 minutes, the president undercut his attorney general by saying he regretted appointing him, accused a former F.B.I. director of trying to leverage compromising information against him, hinted that he might fire the special counsel examining Russian election meddling if the investigation strayed too far into his finances, and revealed that he had talked about sanctions with Russia's president.	在短短 50 分钟里，总统说自己对司法部长的任命感到后悔，从而令这位部长陷入不利境地，他指责一位前 FBI 局长试图用泄密信息来害他，暗示如果有关俄罗斯选举干预的调查过于深入到他的财务状况，他可能会将特别检察官解职，他还透露自己曾和俄罗斯总统讨论过制裁事宜。
Whatever else he is, Mr. Trump is a news machine. He generates headlines every time he speaks. He has made the White House press corps a growth industry. With other presidents, we sometimes struggled to find nuggets of news in an interview; with Mr. Trump we were overwhelmed. After the session on Wednesday, I have now interviewed seven presidents — some in office, some after they left — and with Mr. Trump the experience is strikingly different in almost every respect.	无论如何，特朗普先生首先是一台新闻制造机。他每一次张嘴说话，都会产生新闻。他把白宫记者团变成了一个朝阳产业。若是其他的总统，有时候一次采访下来想挖出点新闻会很困难；可特朗普先生让我们应接不暇。在周三的采访过后，我总共采访了七位总统——有的是在任，有的已卸任——采访特朗普先生的经历，从任何方面看都有着惊人的不同。
Bill Clinton was discursive, ranging widely over a variety of topics and citing at length arguments, anecdotes or pieces of information that had recently fascinated him, whether or not they related to the day's news. He read voraciously and usually had a lot on his mind. These interviews were invariably compelling but not necessarily newsy, and pinning him down on questions was a challenge.	比尔·克林顿喜欢东拉西扯，广泛谈及各种话题，大段大段地提及最近引起他兴趣的观点、趣闻或零散的信息，不管这和当前的新闻是否有关。他的阅读量很大，脑子里通常塞着很多事情。这样的采访始终是很有意思的，但不见得有新闻，很难用提问来限定他的思路。

George W. Bush was more concise and stayed on topic — generally more reflective, thoughtful and informed than he was given credit for but highly disciplined about sticking to the message he wanted to impart. He gave interviews when he had a point to make. The trick was crafting a question that would surprise him and get him off script to say what he really thought about something.	乔治·W·布什要更简练，会紧扣主题——他的反思、缜密和见识没有得到应有的肯定，不过他会非常严谨地局限于他想传达的讯息。针对他的窍门是设计一个让他感到意外的问题，让他脱离脚本，说说他对某事的真实想法。
Barack Obama enjoyed the give and take of an interview, but there was more give than take. He preferred professorial answers, speaking in full paragraphs. He was smart, logical and impressive. But reporters with long lists of questions watched the clock tick and strained to politely interrupt the world’s most powerful person in order to get to more than just a few of them.	贝拉克·奥巴马喜欢有来有往的访谈，但是“往”要多一些。他倾向于冠冕堂皇的回答，说话是成段落的。他聪明，讲逻辑，相当出色。但是记者手拿着一长串的问题，看着时间一点点过去，要硬着头皮去礼貌地打断这个掌握当今世界无上权力的人，以便让更多的问題得到回答。
None of these men came close to Mr. Trump in his capacity to provoke. A product of the New York tabloid world, Mr. Trump has an unerring instinct for saying things that will produce gasps. An aide may try to steer him away from perilous topics or suggest that something be said off the record, but he usually plows forward anyway. Indeed, while other presidents are routinely joined by multiple advisers and an official stenographer for such interviews, just one aide was present at ours.	在挑起争议的能力上，这些人都无法和特朗普相提并论。作为纽约小报世界的产物，特朗普先生有一种从不失手的直觉，总能说出制造轰动效应的东西。助手也许会尝试让他绕开凶险的话题，或建议他要求这段话不得报道，但通常他都会勇往直前。事实上，别的总统在做这样的采访时都会有多名顾问和一名速记员在场，而他只有一名助手。
This is hardly heedless. Mr. Trump toggled from on the record to off the record with remarkable fluidity. Clearly he was conscious that some things would be problematic if quoted, so it’s fair to conclude that the provocative things he said on the record were intentionally so. When we asked more than once whether he might fire the special counsel, he very consciously avoided a direct answer. (We pressed him repeatedly	这很难说是掉以轻心。特朗普极为顺畅地在公开谈话和非公开谈话之间切换。他显然明白，自己的一些话如果被引用是有问题的，因此可以公允地判定，他公开发表一些易于引发争议的言论时是有意为之。我们不止一次地问及他是否会将特别顾问解职，而他非常自觉地避免直接给出答案。（我们反复敦促他做出公开发言，绝大多数时间里他也都做到了。） to stay on the record, and the vast majority of the time he did.)

Unlike with other presidents, though, there was no need to knock him off the script. He happily answered every question we asked, even if it would ultimately overshadow the designated messages of the day — in this case health care and made-in-America economics.	不过，和采访其他总统相当不同，我们跟本没有必要引导他，不去照本宣科。他乐于回答我们问的每一个问题，哪怕相关问题最终会遮蔽当天他要传达的既定信息——这次是医改和美国制造经济学。
When it came to the Russia matter, he easily could have dismissed questions by saying — as have other presidents — that he could not comment on a continuing investigation. Instead, he teed off, presumably because he wanted to.	在被问及关于俄罗斯的问题时，他原本满可以像其他总统那样置之不理，敷衍以他不会就正在进行的调查置评之类的说辞。但他却打开了话匣子——很可能是因为他想要这样做。
With Mr. Trump, the conversation is more rat-a-tat. He doesn't mind if you interject. But he tends to veer wildly from thought to thought, moving on before you've fully explored what he just said.	与特朗普的交谈节奏更快。他不介意你插嘴。但他常常不着边际地转换话题，你还没把他刚说的话研究透，他已经开始说别的了。
His precision can be suspect — among other things, he mixed up details of a letter written by James B. Comey, the former F.B.I. director; misconstrued the point of a story in The New York Times that annoyed him; and claimed that some people get health insurance for $12 a year. But the conversation moves so quickly from one newsworthy topic to another that it is hard to challenge each assertion.	其言辞的准确度值得怀疑——他弄混了由詹姆斯·B·科米(James B. Comey)写的一封信的某些细节；对一篇令他烦恼的《纽约时报》文章的观点进行了错误的解读；还声称一些人一年花12美元就能拥有医疗保险。然而，谈话飞快地在一个个极具新闻价值的话题之间转换，很难就他的每一个说法进行质疑。
For all the troubles of his presidency — he had just come from lunch with Republican senators trying to resurrect a health care bill that most think is dead — we found him in a relaxed, upbeat mood. There was none of the fiery media bashing that marks his public appearances. Is that, then, shtick to fire up the base, or genuine grievance? Probably a measure of both.	特朗普上任后遇到了各种各样的麻烦——他此前刚刚结束与一些共和党参议员的午餐，试图复活一项在大多数人看来完全没有了希望的医保法案——但我们发现他的情绪轻松而又乐观。接受采访时，他并没有像在公开场合常做的那样，针对媒体展开愤怒的抨击。那么，这种做法是旨在带动基础选民热情的小把戏吗，又或真是胸有块垒？可能两者兼而有之。
But he said he would talk with us again, even though we were from the	但他说，他会再次和我们交谈，尽管我们来自“江河日下的《纽约时报》”。

"failing New York Times."
We're available anytime.	我们不论何时都有空。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170725/the-new-presidential-interview	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170725/the-new-presidential-interview
For Transgender Service Members, a Mix of Sadness, Anger and Fear	愤怒、悲伤与恐惧：跨性别军人面对特朗普新政
COLORADO SPRINGS—Joining the Navy was one of the best decisions Alec Kerry said she ever made. The other was coming out as transgender.	科罗拉多科泉市——亚历克·克里(Alec Kerry)说,加入海军是她做过的最好的决定之一。另一个是宣布自己是跨性别者。
"The Navy taught me how people can come together and work hard to achieve something bigger than themselves," said Petty Officer Kerry, 24, who is training to operate nuclear reactors. "Strangely enough, I think what the Navy taught us about integrity was what gave me the courage to come out. I had to be honest about who I was with myself and the people I served with."	"海军教会了我,人们如何能走到一起,共同努力实现比他们自己更大的事业,"24岁的海军士官克里说,她正在接受操控核反应堆的训练。"奇怪的是,我觉得正是海军教给我的关于正直的一课,给了我公开身份的勇气。我必须诚实地让自己和跟我一起服役的人知道我是什么样的人。"
Like thousands of other transgender veterans and members of the military, she grappled with a mix of anger, sadness and fear on Wednesday after President Trump tweeted that the United States military would no longer "accept or allow" transgender people to serve — a surprise move that came a year after the Obama administration allowed transgender troops to serve openly.	和其他数以千计的跨性别老兵以及军队成员一样,在特朗普总统周三发表推文,表示美国军队将不再"接受或允许"跨性别人士服役——一个在奥巴马政府允许跨性别军人公开服役的一年后采取的意外之举——之后,她陷入了一种愤怒、悲伤和恐惧交织的情绪。
Some transgender troops were left to wonder if they would face a quick discharge from the military or if scheduled medical appointments would be canceled. And nearly all expressed dismay at what they saw as a misguided action that could purge the military of untold numbers of highly skilled and dedicated service members and bring back an era when many troops lived in secrecy and shame.	一些跨性别军人猜测他们是不是很快就会被开除出军队,或者已经预约好的医疗诊断是否会被取消。几乎所有人都对他们眼中的这个错误举措表示沮丧,这个决定可能会让军队失去不计其数技术精湛、有奉献精神的成员,并恢复到那个让很多军人生活在秘密与羞耻中的时代。

"People are fearful," said Laila Ireland, who was an Army combat medic for 13 years before transitioning to a woman and becoming the membership director for Sparta, an L.G.B.T. military group with more than 500 active-duty members. "All morning I've been telling them, continue to exceed the expectations, show what you are worth."	"人们感到害怕，"莱拉·爱尔兰(Laila Ireland)说，她曾担任陆军战斗医生13年，后来转变成女性，并成为拥有500名现役成员的LGBT军队团体斯巴达(Sparta)的会员主任。"整个早上我都在告诉他们，要继续超出人们的期待，展示你们的价值。"
Her husband, Air Force Staff Sgt. Logan Ireland, who is also transgender, could not be reached because he was in a combat leadership course, but said in a text message from the field, "I would love for my President to meet me," adding that he would like to tell him about all the "honorably serving transgender military members that are fighting right now for their liberties and for their country."	她的丈夫，同为跨性别者的空军上士罗根·爱尔兰(Logan Ireland)未能被联系上，因为他当时在参加一门战斗领导课程，但他从战场发来短信说，"我希望我的总统能来见我，"并补充说他想要把所有那些"光荣服役的、此刻正在为他们的自由和他们的国家战斗的跨性别士兵们"告诉特朗普。
Since the Obama administration lifted the ban on transgender service members, public opinion has been mixed. A poll conducted by Rasmussen Reports in June found that more than half of those surveyed believed that having transgender people serve openly in the military was good for the military, or would have no impact.	自从奥巴马政府取消了对跨性别人士的服役禁令，公众意见一直不一。拉斯穆森报告(Rasmussen Reports)在六月进行的民调显示，有超过半数参与调查的人相信，允许跨性别人士公开在军队服役是对军队有利的，或对军队并没有影响。
But many conservatives portrayed transgender service members as people who undermined the military's fighting capability, and they hailed the announcement.	但许多保守派人士将跨性别服役人员描绘成会危害军队作战能力的人，他们对这个消息表示欢迎。
Tony Perkins, a Marine veteran who is now president of the Family Research Council, a conservative advocacy group, issued a statement praising Mr. Trump "for keeping his promise to return to military priorities — and not continue the social experimentation of the Obama era that has crippled our nation's military."	现任保守派倡导团体家庭研究委员会(Family Research Council)主席托尼·帕金斯(Tony Perkins)是一名海军退役军人，他发表声明称赞特朗普，说他"恪守了恢复军事优先的承诺，而不是继续奥巴马时代削弱我们国家军队实力的社会试验。"
On Capitol Hill, Representative Vicky Hartzler had recently offered an	在国会山，众议员维姬·哈茨勒(Vicky Hartzler)最近提出了一项修正案：禁止

amendment that would have barred the military from paying for sex reassignment surgery. In a statement on Wednesday, Ms. Hartzler praised Mr. Trump for taking "decisive action."	军队为变性手术付钱。她在周三发表声明，赞扬特朗普采取了“果断的行动”。
"With the challenges we are facing across the globe, we are asking the American people to invest their hard-earned money in national defense," the statement said. "Each dollar needs to be spent to address threats facing our nation."	“我们面对着来自全球的挑战，恳请美国人民将辛苦赚来的钱投入到国防建设上，”声明称。“每一美元都需要花在应对我们国家面临的威胁上。”
Transgender troops pushed back hard on arguments about medical costs, noting that the estimated $2.4 million to $8.4 million a year it would cost for medical care was a fraction of the $41 million the Department of Defense spent on Viagra in 2014.	跨性别军人激烈驳斥了有关医疗开销的论点，提出2014年国防部购买“伟哥”的开销是4100万美元，相比之下，在医疗保健方面每年240万至840万美元的预估开销微乎其微。
One National Guard member named Mac, who didn't want to give his full name because he now fears being discharged, worried that the military could spend millions more on investigations to ferret out closeted transgender troops, and in the process lose career troops the military has invested in heavily.	其中一名叫迈克(Mac)的国民警卫队成员担心军方可能会增加数百万的开销，以查出没有公开身份的变性军人，在这个过程中可能会失去军方曾投入了大量资金的职业军人。因为担心会被解职，他不愿透露全名。
"The government has invested hundreds of thousand of dollars into my training and my skill set. That's not easy to replace," he said.	“政府在我的训练和培养我的技能方面投入了数十万美元。那是难以替代的，”他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170727/for-transgender-service-members-a-mix-of-sadness-anger-and-fear	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170727/for-transgender-service-members-a-mix-of-sadness-anger-and-fear
Hawaii Wants to Be Prepared for a Nuclear Attack by North Korea	夏威夷发布核爆求生指南，提防朝鲜导弹
The latest summer advice for Hawaii goes beyond using adequate sun block and properly riding out a tropical storm.	夏季去夏威夷度假的最新建议不再只是涂够防晒霜，安全度过热带暴雨。
The state's emergency management authorities recently released official guidelines on how to survive a nuclear detonation: Seek shelter	前不久，该州的应急管理当局发布了如何在核爆中求生的官方指南：在几分钟内在一个防爆建筑中找到避难所。还要注意：爆炸的亮光会刺伤你的眼睛。

in a blast-resistant structure, and do it in minutes. Also take note: The light from the blast can damage your eyes.
But why now?	但是为什么现在发布呢?
Rising tensions with North Korea have put the possibility of a total wipeout on the radar of the archipelago's population of more than 1.4 million. On July 5, the United States toughened its military pressure and invective against the Communist nation after North Korea conducted a successful test of an intercontinental ballistic missile that appeared capable of hitting America's two most western states: Alaska and Hawaii.	与朝鲜越来越紧张的关系使得夏威夷群岛的 140 多万人口有可能被从雷达上完全抹去。7 月 5 日,在朝鲜成功地进行了一次洲际弹道导弹试验之后——该导弹似乎能够打击美国最西部的两个州: 阿拉斯加和夏威夷——美国加强了对这个共产主义国家的军事压力和抨击。
The United States described the test as a "dangerous escalation" in what has become a crisis for the Trump administration.	美国称这次试验是特朗普政府面临的一场危机的“危险升级”。
Three weeks later, on Friday, Hawaii's Emergency Management Agency released guidelines running through the steps that could help in surviving a nuclear blast hitting a city or beachside community. Listen to the radio for instructions, it said. Pick your shelter as best you can, preferably one made of concrete; there are no designated blast or fallout shelters in Hawaii, it said.	在三周后的周五, 夏威夷紧急措施署(Emergency Management Agency)发布了多项指南, 介绍能够帮助人们在遇袭城市或海滨社区的核爆中生存的步骤。该署建议人们听从广播的指挥, 选择你能找到的最好的避难所——最好是混凝土建筑——并告知人们, 夏威夷没有指定的爆炸或放射性坠尘避难所。
Then, be prepared to stay there for 14 days or until the all clear is given.	然后, 做好在那里停留 14 天的准备, 直至所有警报解除。
Late on Monday, the state's governor, David Ige, held his office's first Facebook Live session. The event was a decidedly casual affair, with officials in print shirts and big smiles. There were apologies for the slow Wi-Fi, and staff members waved into the camera or reached over Governor Ige's shoulder to fiddle with the transmission feed as thousands watched.	周一早些时候, 夏威夷州长戴维·伊盖(David Ige)主持了他的办公室的第一次 Facebook 现场会议。这场活动的气氛显然很随意, 官员们穿着印花衬衫, 笑容满面。他们为 Wi-Fi 速度慢道了歉, 工作人员对着摄像机挥手或越过州长伊盖的肩膀调试传送画面。成千上万人观看了这场直播。

"Today's topic really is about emergency management and emergency preparedness, including the conversation of the week, which is really about North Korea," said Governor Ige, though he said any threat was "unlikely."	"今天的话题其实是关于应急管理和应急准备, 包括本周的会谈, 其实是关于朝鲜的," 州长伊盖说。不过他表示, 任何威胁都"不大可能"发生。
After a few minutes of pleasantries and information about hurricane season in the Pacific, the governor and his co-host, Vern Miyagi, the emergency management agency administrator, paused to scrutinize the scroll on the screen for their first audience query.	州长和他的搭档主持、紧急措施署署长弗恩·米亚希(Vern Miyagi)先是寒暄了几分钟, 谈论了太平洋飓风季的信息, 然后停下来仔细查看屏幕上的第一个观众提问。
"We have a question," said Governor Ige, apparently new to this.	"我们收到了一个问题," 州长伊盖说, 他显然是这方面的新手。
"If North Korea sends a bomb, do we have a bomb to send back?" he read.	"如果朝鲜发来一枚炸弹, 我们有没有炸弹发回去?" 他念道。
The two men chuckled, nervously, it appeared.	这两个人似乎紧张地偷笑了一下。
"That's a very, very good question," said Mr. Miyagi. "My job right now — I am not in the military," he said, adding, "I would defer to the active-duty military on that question."	"这是个非常、非常好的问题," 米亚希说。"我现在的任务——我不是军方的人," 他接着说, "在这个问题上, 我会交给现役军人来回答。"
Governor Ige jumped in, referring to his recent conversations with Admiral Harry B. Harris Jr. at the U.S. Pacific Command headquarters on Oahu. "As you know, we are working with the Department of Defense to assure the defense of Hawaii in general," he said. "There are definitely a lot of conversations. We are assessing the specific defense posture of Hawaii, and as you know, there are many assets here in Hawaii that the D.O.D is interested in protecting.	州长伊盖插话进来, 提到他前不久在瓦胡岛的美国太平洋司令部与海军上将小哈里·B·哈里斯(Adm. Harry B.Harris Jr.)的会谈。"你知道, 我们正在与国防部合作, 确保夏威夷总体的防卫," 他说。"我们肯定进行了很多谈话。我们在评估夏威夷的具体防务形势, 你知道, 夏威夷有很多资产是国防部很想保护的。"
"The possibility of a missile or bomb from North Korea is very, very low," he added. "It is a very unlikely event. Our whole focus is to make sure that we are prepared."	"朝鲜发射导弹或炸弹的可能性很低," 他还说。"那是很不可能发生的事情。我们的总体关注点是确保自己做好准备。"

Officials have been working on the ideas and new guidelines since late last year, after multiple missile tests in North Korea but before this month's successful firing. New measures include nuclear drills in public schools, which start on August 7.	官员们从去年年底起开始思考新方法和指导原则，也就是在朝鲜进行数次导弹试验之后，在本月成功发射之前。新措施包括从8月7日起在公立学校进行核爆应急演习。
After hurricanes, tsunamis, earthquakes and heavy flooding, a missile threat from North Korea does not rank high. "It is very low compared to the potential threat from a hurricane," Lt. Col. Charles Anthony, a spokesman for the state defense department, said in a telephone interview. "But we still have to prepare for all hazards."	在飓风、海啸、地震和大洪水之后，朝鲜导弹的威胁程度并不是很高。“与飓风的潜在威胁相比，它的威胁程度很低，”夏威夷防务部发言人查尔斯·安东尼中校(Charles Anthony)在接受电话采访时表示。“不过，我们依然要为各种危险做准备。”
In 2009, when the Obama administration announced that North Korea could launch a ballistic missile in Hawaii's direction, the United States military strengthened defenses there. The Defense Department said antimissile interceptors were in place, and people in Hawaii were treated to the spectacle of a giant, towering radar commonly known as the golf ball as it set out to sea from the base where it is normally moored.	2009年，奥巴马政府宣布朝鲜能够向夏威夷发射弹道导弹时，美国军方就加强了那里的防务。国防部表示，反导拦截装置已经就位，夏威夷人有幸能看到一个通常被称为高尔夫球的巨大雷达从基地冲到海上的盛况。雷达平常安置在基地内。
Mr. Miyagi said civil defense administrators were working to coordinate a plan across all the state's islands.	米亚希表示，民防官员正努力在全州各岛上部署一个协同计划。
Residents were advised to keep medication supplies up-to-date and accessible. The authorities are testing new attack alert sirens as well. But the two officials repeatedly said that any nuclear event was unlikely, adding that the new public safety campaign was enacted out of an abundance of caution.	当局建议居民更新药物储备，放在方便拿取的地方。当局还在检测新的袭击警报系统。不过这两名官员多次表示，核爆的可能性很小。他们还说，新的公共安全宣传是因为收到多次警告才进行的。
"I have been asked, 'Why now?' It's just that they have been testing and testing and testing," said Mr. Miyagi, speaking of North Korea, which is	"有人问我，'为什么是现在？'就是因为他们在不停地试验，"米亚希说。他指的是约5000英里外的朝鲜。“虽然这发生的可能性很小，但我们必须提前回

about 5,000 miles away. "Although the chances of this happening is remote, the probability is very low and unlikely, we just have to get ahead of it and answer the question – what is Hawaii doing?" Mr. Miyagi said. "The threat is low. Hawaii is safe."	答这个问题——夏威夷在做什么？“米亚希说。“威胁很小。夏威夷是安全的。”
The Hawaii Tribune Herald reported on Tuesday that Hawaii is the first state to enact an emergency campaign to prepare for any nuclear attack by North Korea.	周二，《夏威夷先驱论坛报》(The Hawaii Tribune Herald)报道称，夏威夷是第一个为应对朝鲜核打击而进行应急宣传的州。
"In some ways, the growing nuclear threat posed by the Southeast Asia nation feels closer than ever to Hawaii's shores," it said.	"从某些角度讲，这个东南亚国家对夏威夷海岸的核威胁比以往任何时候都更迫切，"该报写道。
Many among the governor's Facebook Live audience members had disaster on their minds.	州长 Facebook 现场直播的观众中有很多人担心灾难发生。
"There is nowhere we as the people of these islands could go for safety we are all DEAD," one wrote in the streaming comments.	"我们岛上的这些人没有地方可躲，我们都完蛋了，"一名观众在不断滚动的评论中写道。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170727/hawaii-nuclear-korea-north	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170727/hawaii-nuclear-korea-north
Trump Says That Transgender People Will Not Be Allowed in the Military	特朗普宣布禁止跨性别者服兵役
WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump announced Wednesday that the United States will not "accept or allow" transgender people in the U.S. military, saying U.S. forces "must be focused on decisive and overwhelming victory" and could not afford to accommodate them.	华盛顿——美国总统唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump)周三宣布，美国军队将不“接受或允许”跨性别者服役，称美军“必须把精力集中在决定性和压倒性的胜利上”，无暇顾及此类人群。
Trump made the surprise declaration in a series of posts on Twitter, saying he had come to the decision after consulting with generals and military experts, whom he did not name.	特朗普通过在 Twitter 上发的一系列帖子公布了这个惊人的决定，并表示，他是在与军队将领和军事专家们商量后做出这个决定的，他没有给出这些将领和专家的名字。
"After consultation with my generals and military experts, please be advised that the United States government will not accept or allow	"在咨询了我的将领和军事专家们后，特此通知，美国政府将不再接受或允许跨性别者以任何方式在美军服役，"特朗普写道。“我们的军队必须把精力

transgender individuals to serve in any capacity in the U.S. military," Trump wrote. "Our military must be focused on decisive and overwhelming victory and cannot be burdened with the tremendous medical costs and disruption that transgender in the military would entail."	集中在决定性和压倒性的胜利上, 承担不起军中跨性别者所产生的巨额医疗费用和所带来的干扰等负担。”
Transgender service members have been permitted to serve openly in the military since last year.	自去年起, 美军中的跨性别者在服役期间无需隐瞒身份。
The president's announcement came amid debate on Capitol Hill over the Obama-era practice of requiring the Pentagon to pay for medical treatment related to gender transition. The dispute has unfolded as Congress considers a nearly $700 billion spending bill to fund the Pentagon. Rep. Vicky Hartzler, R-Mo., has proposed an amendment that would bar the Pentagon from spending money on transition surgery or related hormone therapy.	特朗普总统宣布这一决定的同时, 国会正在对奥巴马时代要求五角大楼支付与改变性别有关的医疗费用的做法进行辩论。辩论是随着国会考虑一项为五角大楼提供近 7000 亿美元开支的法案而展开的。密苏里州共和党众议员维姬·哈茨勒(Vicky Hartzler)对法案提出了一项修正案: 禁止五角大楼把钱花在变性手术或相关激素治疗上。
The same measure narrowly failed this month in the House, with some Republicans joining Democrats to reject it. But some conservative Republicans have said they would not support the military spending measure without the language banning money for gender transition.	众议院本月曾以微弱多数否决了一个同样的举措, 一些共和党人加入到民主党人行列, 对该修正案投了反对票。但一些保守的共和党人已经表示, 如果法案不包括禁止把钱花在改变性别上的条款, 他们不会支持这个军事预算法案。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170727/trump-transgender-military	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170727/trump-transgender-military
With New Sanctions, Senate Forces President's Hand on Russia	参议院批准对俄制裁, 特朗普面临抉择
The Senate on Thursday approved sweeping sanctions against Russia, forcing President Trump to decide whether to accept a tougher line against Moscow or issue a politically explosive veto amid investigations into ties between his presidential campaign and Russian officials.	参议院周四批准了对俄罗斯实施广泛制裁, 这将迫使特朗普总统做出决定, 究竟是同意对莫斯科采取更加强硬的立场, 还是在他的竞选团队与俄罗斯官员之间的往来正在接受调查之际, 行使会引发政治爆炸的否决权。
The Senate vote, 98-2, followed the passage of a House bill earlier this	在参议院以 98 票赞成、2 票反对的结果通过制裁之前, 众议院在本周早些

week to punish Russia, Iran and North Korea for various violations by each of the three American adversaries. In effect, it would sharply limit the president's ability to suspend or lift sanctions on Russia, and won near unanimous support across the Republican-led Congress.	时候通过了一项惩罚俄罗斯、伊朗和朝鲜的议案。美国这三个对手受罚是因为它们出现了各种各样的违规行为。实际上，这会大幅限制总统暂停或取消对俄罗斯制裁的能力，并在共和党领导的国会赢得近乎一致的支持。
Mr. Trump's team has argued it needs flexibility to pursue a more collaborative diplomacy with Russia which, by American intelligence consensus, interfered in last year's presidential election. But now the president will face a decision he had hoped to avoid as the legislation slowly churned through Congress.	特朗普的团队辩称需要灵活性，才能寻求与俄罗斯建立合作性更强的外交关系。美国情报界则一致认为，俄罗斯干预了去年的大选。但现在，总统需做出决定。他本希望随着相关立法在国会慢慢走流程，自己能避免做这个决定。
White House aides have acknowledged privately that a veto would be politically awkward — at the least — for Mr. Trump to justify during the continuing investigations into whether his campaign colluded with Moscow.	白宫的助手私下承认，在对他的竞选团队是否与莫斯科合谋的调查仍在继续的情况下，特朗普为否决制裁辩解至少会让他在政治上处境尴尬。
Last week, after House and Senate leaders announced an agreement on sanctions, Sarah Huckabee Sanders, the incoming White House press secretary, suggested that Mr. Trump would sign the final package. Since then, though, the administration has hedged, saying that Mr. Trump will have to review the measure.	上周，在参众两院的领袖宣布就制裁达成一项协议后，新任白宫发言人萨拉·赫卡比·桑德斯(Sarah Huckabee Sanders)表示，特朗普会签署最终的一揽子制裁。但自那之后，特朗普政府闪烁其词，称特朗普不得不对这一举措进行评估。
"The administration supports sanctions against Russia, Iran and North Korea. We continue to support strong sanctions against those three countries," Ms. Sanders said on Thursday. "And we're going to wait and see what that final legislation looks like, and make a decision at that point."	"政府支持制裁俄罗斯、伊朗和朝鲜。我们继续强烈支持对三个国家实行严厉的制裁，"桑德斯周四说。"我们也会等着看最终的法律是什么情况，届时再做决定。"
The sanctions target human rights abusers, suppliers of weapons to the Assad regime in Syria and those undermining cybersecurity, among	这些制裁的对象包括侵犯人权者、向叙利亚的阿萨德政权提供武器的供应商和破坏网络安全者。众议院周二以 419 票赞成、3 票反对的结果通过了自己

others. The House passed its version on Tuesday, by a vote of 419-3. The Senate last month passed a similar bill, 98-2, that punished only Russia and Iran.	的议案。上月，参议院以 98 比 2 的结果通过了一项只惩罚俄罗斯和伊朗的类似议案。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170728/senate-russia-sanctions-trump	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170728/senate-russia-sanctions-trump
What if Trump Ordered a Nuclear Strike on China? I'd Comply, Says Admiral	假如特朗普下令核打击中国？美军司令：我会服从
HONG KONG — The commander of the United States Pacific Fleet was asked a hypothetical question during a talk on Thursday in Australia: If President Trump ordered a nuclear strike on China, would he comply?	香港——美国太平洋舰队司令周四在澳大利亚发表演讲时，有人问了他一个假设性的问题：如果特朗普总统下令对中国进行核打击，他会遵命吗？
"The answer would be yes," the commander, Adm. Scott H. Swift, replied.	"答案是肯定的，"舰队司令斯科特·H·斯威夫特(Adm. Scott H. Swift)海军上将回答说。
Admiral Swift, who was speaking at Australian National University in Canberra, said his answer was a reflection of the principle of civilian control over the military.	当时，斯威夫特正在堪培拉的澳大利亚国立大学(Australian National University)发表演讲，他说，他的回答反映的是美国军队由文职人员控制的原则。
"Every member of the U.S. military has sworn an oath to defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies foreign and domestic and to obey the officers and the president of the United States as the commander in chief appointed over us," he said.	他说，"美军的每一位成员都宣誓在与国内外所有敌人作战时捍卫美国宪法，服从上级军官和美国总统的命令，总统是指挥我们的最高司令官。"
Capt. Charlie Brown, a spokesman for the United States Pacific Fleet, said the premise of the question about using nuclear weapons against China was "ridiculous," and not something Admiral Swift had raised himself.	美国太平洋舰队发言人查理·布朗海军上校(Capt. Charlie Brown)说，对中国使用核武器这个问题的基本前提很"荒谬"，不是斯威夫特本人提出来的。
"Perhaps he more forcefully could have refuted the hypothetical," Captain Brown said. "He was trying to find an opportunity to use it to deliver a message on something positive, and that was the answer he	"也许他本该更有力地反驳这个假设，"布朗说。"他是试图在寻找机会，用这个问题表达一个更积极的信息，即他给出的关于文职控制的回答。" gave on civilian control.”

Rory Medcalf, the head of the National Security College and host of the talk, said the question had been posed to Admiral Swift without much context and had put him on the spot.	澳大利亚国立大学国家安全学院院长罗里·梅德卡夫(Rory Medcalf)主持了演讲，他说，那个问题的提出缺少来龙去脉，给斯威夫特来了个措手不及。
“Admiral Swift answered the question the only way a serving military officer could,” Mr. Medcalf said. “It would have been a lot more controversial if he had said, no, he would not obey the commander in chief.”	“斯威夫特海军上将用现役军官能够用的答案回答了这个问题，”梅德卡夫说。“如果他回答说不、他不会服从总司令命令的话，那将会引起更大的争议。”
Admiral Swift’s remarks in Canberra focused on the role of the armed forces in ensuring stability and a rules-based system of international relations. He spoke after war games conducted by more than 30,000 military personnel from Australia and the United States took place off the coast of Queensland and the Northern Territory of Australia. A Chinese Navy spy ship was operating nearby while the operations, known as the Talisman Saber exercises, were underway in the Coral Sea, the Australian military said.	斯威夫特在堪培拉演讲的主题是，武装部队在确保稳定和以规则为基础的国际关系体系中的作用。他发表演讲之前，来自澳大利亚和美国的三万多名军事人员在昆士兰和澳大利亚北部领土以外的海域进行了军事演习。澳大利亚军方说，在珊瑚海进行这次代号为“护身符剑”(Talisman Saber)的演习期间，一艘中国海军间谍船曾在附近水域作业。
China maintains a smaller nuclear arsenal than the United States or Russia, and has long said that it would not use nuclear weapons against a nation that did not have them or in a first strike against a nuclear-armed adversary. But there have been occasional calls to change that “no first use” policy. In 2005, a Chinese military official told a group of foreign reporters that Beijing should consider using nuclear weapons against the United States if it intervened in a conflict over Taiwan, the self-ruled island China considers part of its own territory.	中国的核武库比美国的或俄罗斯的都小，中国长期以来一直表示，不对没有核武器的国家使用核武器，也不会首先使用核武器。但是偶尔会有人呼吁改变“不首先使用”的政策。中国一名军事官员曾在2005年对一群外国记者说，如果美国对有关台湾的冲突进行干预的话，北京应该考虑对美国使用核武器，中国认为自治的台湾是其领土的一部分。
In addition to Taiwan, there are plenty of potential flash points in the	除台湾外，美中关系中还存在很多潜在的冲突爆发点。周日，美国海军的一

relationship between the United States and China. On Sunday, a United States Navy spy plane took evasive action to avoid hitting a Chinese fighter jet that pulled in front of it over the East China Sea.	架间谍机采取规避行动,以避免在东海上空与飞到其前面的一架中国战斗机相撞。
In May, an American warship sailed near a Chinese-held artificial island in the South China Sea, a mission intended to demonstrate international vessels' freedom to navigate in an area China claims as exclusively its own. At the time, Beijing called those maneuvers a "serious political and military provocation."	今年5月,一艘美国军舰在南海的一个中国人造岛屿附近巡航,旨在表明国际船只在这个中国宣称为自己领海的水域有航行自由。当时北京称这种巡航为“严重的政治和军事挑衅”。
On Thursday, Britain's foreign secretary, Boris Johnson, committed his country's newest and largest aircraft carriers to steam through the South China Sea.	周四,英国外交大臣鲍里斯·约翰逊(Boris Johnson)决定派英国最新、最大的航空母舰驶入南海。
"One of the first things we will do with the two new colossal aircraft carriers that we have just built is send them on a freedom of navigation operation to this area," Mr. Johnson said during a visit to Sydney, Australia.	在澳大利亚悉尼访问期间,约翰逊说:“我们刚刚建造了两艘庞大的新航空母舰,我们要用它们做的第一件事,就是派它们到该水域进行一次自由航行任务。”
Britain's newest carrier, the Queen Elizabeth, is 65,000 tons and is the largest ship ever built for the Royal Navy.	英国最新航母“伊丽莎白女王号”的排水量为6.5万吨,是皇家海军建造的迄今为止最大的船只。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170728/us-admiral-nuclear-strike-china-trump-order	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170728/us-admiral-nuclear-strike-china-trump-order
Trump Removes Anthony Scaramucci From Communications Director Role	上任仅10天,白宫通讯联络主管遭免职
WASHINGTON — President Trump on Monday removed Anthony Scaramucci from his position as communications director, the White House announced, ousting him just days after Mr. Scaramucci unloaded a crude verbal tirade against other senior members of the	华盛顿——白宫宣布,特朗普在周一免去了安东尼·斯卡拉穆奇(Anthony Scaramucci)通讯联络主管的职位。数天前,斯卡拉穆奇曾用粗率的言语攻击总统的其他高级幕僚。 president's senior staff.

"Anthony Scaramucci will be leaving his role as White House Communications Director," Sarah Huckabee Sanders, the White House press secretary, said in a statement. "Mr. Scaramucci felt it was best to give Chief of Staff John Kelly a clean slate and the ability to build his own team. We wish him all the best."	"安东尼·斯卡拉穆奇将离开白宫通讯联络主管的位置,"白宫新闻秘书萨拉·哈克比·桑德斯(Sarah Huckabee Sanders)在一份声明中说。"斯卡拉穆奇认为,现在最好是为幕僚长约翰·凯利(John Kelly)提供一块白布,让他能打造自己的团队。我们祝他一切顺利。"
Mr. Scaramucci's abrupt removal came just 10 days after the wealthy New York financier was brought on to the West Wing staff, a move that convulsed an already chaotic White House and led to the departures of Sean Spicer, the former press secretary, and Reince Priebus, the president's first chief of staff.	斯卡拉穆奇是一位富有的纽约金融家,他的突然免职距离加入白宫西翼仅10天;他的加入搅动了本已混乱的白宫,导致前新闻秘书肖恩·斯派塞(Sean Spicer)和总统的首任幕僚长雷恩斯·普利巴斯(Reince Priebus)的离职。
In a Twitter message just before 5:30 on Monday morning, just hours before the announcement about Mr. Scaramucci, Mr. Trump insisted that there has been "No WH chaos!"	周一早上,接近5点30分时,特朗普在Twitter上坚称"白宫不存在混乱!"仅仅数小时之后,关于斯卡拉穆奇的公告就发布了。
The decision to remove Mr. Scaramucci became public as Mr. Kelly, who replaced Mr. Priebus as the top adviser in the White House, began his first day in charge of the White House staff. He told aides gathered in early-morning staff meetings that he intended to impose a new sense of order and operational discipline that had been absent under his predecessor.	免职斯卡拉穆奇的决定,是在凯利取代普利巴斯成为白宫的首席顾问,开始管理白宫幕僚的第一天公布的。清晨,当助理们聚集在一起开幕僚会议时,他告诉大家,他打算引入新的、普利巴斯担任幕僚长时所缺乏的秩序感和运作规范。
Mr. Scaramucci had boasted about reporting directly to the president, not the chief of staff. But the decision to remove him came at Mr. Kelly's request, the people said.	斯卡拉穆奇吹嘘自己直接向总统而不是幕僚长汇报工作。但有人说,他的免职决定是应凯利的要求做出的。
It was not clear whether Mr. Scaramucci, who is known informally as "The Mooch," will remain at the White House in another position or will	斯卡拉穆奇昵称"莫奇"(The Mooch),目前尚不清楚他是要在白宫担任其他职位,还是完全离开。白宫最初表示,他从8月15日起成为政府雇员,但

leave altogether. The White House had originally said that his official start date as a government employee was to be August 15, although he appeared to begin performing his duties immediately.	他似乎马上就开始担当起了新的职责。
While Mr. Kelly's objection was the decisive factor in Mr. Scaramucci's departure, people close to the decision said that Mr. Trump had quickly soured on the wisecracking, Long Island-bred former hedge fund manager, and so had his family.	虽然斯卡拉穆奇离任的决定性因素是他不受凯利待见，但消息人士表示，特朗普及其家人和这位爱说俏皮话、在长岛长大的前对冲基金经理之间，关系也在迅速变僵。
Ivanka Trump, the president's daughter, and Jared Kushner, her husband, had pushed the president to hire Mr. Scaramucci, seeing him as a way to force out Mr. Priebus, the former national Republican committee chairman, and his allies in the West Wing.	总统的女儿伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)和女婿贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)曾推动总统雇用斯卡拉穆奇，认为这有助于将前共和党全国委员会主席普利巴斯及其在白宫西翼的盟友挤出局。
In that, Mr. Scaramucci was successful. Mr. Spicer, a close ally of Mr. Priebus, resigned just hours after the news about Mr. Scaramucci's hiring was made public. And shortly after Mr. Scaramucci called Mr. Priebus a "paranoid schizophrenic, a paranoiac," — adding a more vulgar term to the beginning of the phrase — Mr. Priebus, too, offered his resignation.	在这件事上，斯卡拉穆奇做得很成功。普利巴斯的亲密盟友斯派塞就在斯卡拉穆奇被聘用的消息公布几个小时后提出辞职的。之后，斯卡拉穆奇说普利巴斯是“偏执狂精神分裂症患者，有妄想症”——在这句话前面还有一个更粗俗的词——普利巴斯也提交了辞呈。
Mr. Trump was initially pleased by Mr. Scaramucci's harsh remarks, directed at Mr. Priebus and Steve Bannon, the chief White House strategist. But over the weekend, after speaking with his family and Mr. Kelly, the president began to see the brash actions of his subordinate as a political liability and potential embarrassment, according to two people familiar with his thinking.	两个了解特朗普想法的人说，一开始，特朗普看到斯卡拉穆奇针对普利巴斯和白宫首席策略师史蒂夫·班农(Steve Bannon)言辞尖利还很高兴。但是周末，在和家人以及凯利聊过之后，总统开始觉得下属这种无礼之举是政治上的累赘，可能会造成尴尬。
Mr. Scaramucci's swift departure is an early indication that Mr. Kelly intends to assert his authority over the operations of the White House,	斯卡拉穆奇的快速离开是一个早期迹象，表明凯利打算对白宫的运行施加自己的权威，白宫的几个重量级角色——包括库什纳、伊万卡和班农在内——

and that several of the big personalities there — including Mr. Kushner, Ms. Trump and Mr. Bannon — may be inclined to defer to him.	可能愿意听从他的意见。
It also suggests that, at least for the moment, Mr. Kelly has the president's support in that effort.	这也意味着，至少就目前来说，凯利在这方面获得了总统的支持。
The president still values Mr. Scaramucci, according to people close Mr. Trump and his family, and is hoping to find another, less high profile, position for him in the White House — although it is uncertain if Mr. Scaramucci would be willing to accept a demotion.	了解特朗普及其家人的消息人士说，总统仍然重视斯卡拉穆奇，希望能为他在白宫找到另一个不那么高调的职位——尽管目前还不清楚斯卡拉穆奇是否愿意接受降级。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170801/anthony-scaramucci-white-house	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170801/anthony-scaramucci-white-house
A Decades-Long Quest With a Chilling End: John Wayne Gacy's 24th Victim	16岁少年成为连环杀人案第24号受害者
MAYWOOD, Ill. — It was a painful mystery that had simmered just below the surface for about 40 years, and last month, the family of James Byron Haakenson finally got their answer. As they had long feared, the funny, good-natured 16-year-old they called Jimmy had been a victim of John Wayne Gacy, one of the country's most notorious serial killers.	伊利诺伊州梅伍德——这是一个痛苦的谜团，在平静的表面之下酝酿了大约40年的时间，上个月，詹姆斯·拜伦·哈肯森(James Byron Haakenson)的家人终于得到了答案。正如他们长期以来一直所担心的那样，被他们叫做吉米的那个风趣、善良的16岁男孩，是被全国最臭名昭著的连环杀手之一约翰·韦恩·盖西(John Wayne Gacy)杀害的。
But the revelation by Chicago-area law enforcement officials opened up a new set of haunting questions for this family as they imagined his final days, now with just enough certainty to be horrifying.	但是，芝加哥地区执法人员的发现令这家人开始想象吉米人生的最后几天，并且思考各种难以释怀的新问题，现在可以充分确定，那几天一定非常可怕。
"How did this 16-year-old kid get to Chicago, and how in the heck did he run into this awful man?" Lorie Sisterman, Jimmy's older sister, said from her home in North St. Paul, Minnesota.	"这个16岁的孩子是怎样来到了芝加哥，究竟又是怎样遇到了这个可怕的男人呢？"吉米的姐姐洛莉·塞斯特曼(Lorie Sisterman)在明尼苏达州北圣保罗的家中说。
The story of Jimmy's identification, decades after his death, is a	吉米的身份在他去世几十年后得到确认，这个追寻真相的惊人故事传遍了整

remarkable quest that spanned the country. It took a curious nephew in Texas with a knack for digging around online, siblings in Minnesota and South Dakota who had never stopped wondering what had happened to their brother, and a sheriff-detective team in Illinois determined to close cold cases.	个国家。参与其中的包括德克萨斯州一位好奇的侄子，他擅长在网上挖掘资料；以及吉米在明尼苏达州和南达科他州的兄弟姐妹，他们从来没有停止猜测兄弟的遭遇；此外还有伊利诺伊州一个由治安官与警探组成的团队，他们一心想了结那些未结的案件。
Originally, Cook County investigators had little to go on but the body of a young man, between 5 feet 5 and 5 feet 10, discovered with dozens of others at Gacy's house in 1978. He was known only as Victim No. 24.	起初，库克县的调查人员几乎没有什么线索可供继续追查，只有一具身高在5英尺5英寸到5英尺10英寸（约合165厘米至178厘米）之间的年轻人的尸体，1978年，他和数十具尸体一起在盖西家中被发现。对他的唯一称呼是第24号受害者。
The Disappearance	失踪
One summer day in 1976, Jimmy appeared in the kitchen of the Haakenson house in St. Paul, his brown hair bleached blond. Carrying no backpack or suitcase, he told his family that he was off to Chicago. Jimmy had been known to leave home before, seeking fun and relief from a crowded house with four children, a mother who held as many as three jobs and a father who worked as a plumber but also drank heavily. Jimmy had always come back.	1976年的一个夏日，吉米出现在圣保罗的哈肯森家的厨房，他把棕色的头发漂成了金色。他没带背包或手提箱，告诉家人他要去芝加哥。为了出去玩，或是逃离拥挤着四个孩子的家、同时做三份工作的母亲和酗酒的水管工父亲，吉米之前也曾离家出走。但他总会回来。
"I just said, 'Why is your mom letting him go to Chicago?'" said Jackie Haakenson, who was then dating Jimmy's older brother, Donald (they later married). Nobody else in the room seemed to share her worries.	"我说，'为什么你妈妈让他去了芝加哥？'"杰基·哈肯森(Jackie Haakenson)说，当时她正和吉米的哥哥唐纳德约会（他们后来结了婚）。房间里的其他人似乎都和她有同样的顾虑。
"It was so loose and easy back then, you could just hitchhike and not worry about it," Sisterman said. "If he thumbed it all the way to Chicago, we don't know."	"当时这种事很自由，很随便，你可以搭便车，不用担心什么，"塞斯特曼说。"不知道他是不是一路搭便车到了芝加哥。"
Word that he had made it there safely came on Aug. 5. Jimmy called home and spoke to his mother, June Haakenson, assuring her that he	8月5日，他平安抵达的消息传了回来。吉米打电话回家，和母亲朱恩·哈肯森(June Haakenson)通话，告诉她自己一切都好。

was fine.
But then weeks passed with no word from him. June Haakenson, a quiet, reserved woman, reported Jimmy missing to the police, and told them where she suspected her son, who sometimes wore makeup, might be. In a message dated Sept. 7, 1976, the St. Paul police alerted the Chicago Police Department. "Mother thinks he may be in company of gays in Chicago," the letter said.	但随后几周，他再也没有音信。朱恩·哈肯森，一个寡言、谨慎的女人，向警方报告了吉米的失踪。她告知警方，她的儿子有时会化妆，还说了她怀疑吉米可能出现的地点。圣保罗警方在1976年9月7日的一封信函中提醒芝加哥警察局，“他母亲认为他可能和芝加哥的男同性恋们在一起。”
The Serial Killer	连环杀手
The news out of Norwood Park Township, Illinois, in December 1978, was grisly. The police arrested Gacy, a 38-year-old owner of a construction firm who was known in the neighborhood as a businessman and amateur clown.	1978年12月，伊利诺斯州诺伍德公园镇传来了令人毛骨悚然的消息。警方逮捕了盖西，一名38岁的建筑公司老板，他在这一带以商人和业余小丑演员的身份为人们所知。
A search revealed dozens of bodies in and near his house. Gacy had abducted and raped some victims, and lured others to his home by promising them construction jobs or sex. Then he killed them, often by strangulation.	经搜查，警方在他家中和家附近发现了数十具尸体。盖西绑架并强奸了若干受害者，还通过承诺提供建筑工作或性爱，引诱另一些受害者来到他家。然后他会杀死他们，最常用的方法是扼杀。
Hearing about the murders, June Haakenson thought of her son, who had now been missing for more than two years. "After the story broke, my mom and I had a conversation and said, 'Well, what if?'" Sisterman recalled.	朱恩·哈肯森听说这些谋杀事件后，想到了当时已经失踪两年多的儿子。“这件事曝出后，妈妈和我谈了一次，说：‘万一真的是呢？’”塞斯特曼回忆。
Her mother told the St. Paul police, who passed along her theory to officials in Illinois, according to police records. The Cook County police asked for Jimmy's dental records. For reasons unknown, none were sent.	根据警方的记录，她的母亲和圣保罗的警察谈过，他们将她的推测转给了伊利诺伊州的警官。库克县警方要求获得吉米的牙科记录。由于未知的原因，这份纪录没有发出。
In the house in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, where Jeff Haakenson grew	杰夫·哈肯森(Jeff Haakenson)在南达科他州苏瀑市长大，他从来没有见过吉

up, he never saw a picture of his Uncle Jimmy. But when he was a child in the 1980s, his mother, Jackie Haakenson, told him what had happened before Jeff was born.	米叔叔的照片。但是，1980年代，当他还是个小孩的时候，母亲杰基·哈肯森给他讲过这桩在他出生之前发生的事。
"John Wayne Gacy got him," she would say.	"他被约翰·韦恩·盖西杀了，"她会说。
Jeff Haakenson often read about true crime, including books about the Gacy killings and the Jeffrey Dahmer murders in Milwaukee. And from the time he was 19 and in the Air Force, he would spend hours searching for his uncle online.	杰夫·哈肯森经常阅读真实犯罪报道，包括关于盖西杀人案和密尔沃基的杰弗里·达默(Jeffrey Dahmer)谋杀案的书籍。他19岁时加入了空军，在军队里，他会花很多时间在网上搜索他叔叔的消息。
"I could never find him," Jeff Haakenson, 37, said from Lubbock, Texas. "It just really bothered me that nobody cared, that somebody went missing and it's like, nobody's doing anything about it. If it was my brother who went missing, I would be turning over every rock looking for him."	"我怎么也找不到他，"37岁的杰夫·哈肯森在德克萨斯州的拉伯克说。"真正令我感到困扰的是，根本没有人在乎，有人失踪了，但是好像没有人为此做任何事。如果是我的兄弟失踪了，我会千方百计寻找他的。"
The Detective	探长
As a boy growing up on the South Side of Chicago in the 1980s, Jason Moran would hear about the serial killer from the suburbs who targeted young people. As a seasoned detective in Cook County trying to close Gacy cases, he saw the agony left behind.	杰森·莫兰(Jason Moran)是1980年代在芝加哥南部长大的，他从小就听说过这个来自郊区，专门杀害年轻人的连环杀手。作为库克县的一位资深警探，在试图为盖西案结案之时，他看到了遗留下来的痛苦。
"It's quite devastating to see how much death and pain he has caused for so many people," he said. "This was a new experience with human pain."	"看到他对那么多人造成了那么多的死亡与痛苦，这非常令人不安，"他说。"这是对人类痛苦的新体验。"
In 2011, Sheriff Thomas J. Dart announced a new push to close cold cases in Cook County, particularly the Gacy case, which had left eight unidentified victims at the time. Gacy was executed by lethal injection in 1994.	2011年，治安官托马斯·J·达特(Thomas J. Dart)宣布了一项推动库克县了结未结旧案的新行动，特别是盖西一案，当时已经只剩八名受害者身份不明。1994年盖西被执行注射死刑。

Moran and Dart started digging, beginning with the warehouse where boxes and materials on the Gacy case were kept. They gathered everyone they could find who was involved with the original investigation. And they acknowledged the challenges ahead — after decades, many families have long given up on finding their missing relatives.	莫兰和塔特开始深入挖掘此案，从保留盖西案相关物证和材料的仓库开始。他们尽可能地寻找了所有参与原始调查的人。他们承认自己面临的挑战——几十年过去了，许多家庭早已放弃寻找失踪的亲戚。
But DNA evidence was making it easier to link unidentified bodies with names, and DNA was extracted from the bones of the unidentified people who were discovered in a crawl space beneath Gacy’s house. There was also hope that families who did not want their missing loved ones to be associated with Gacy back then might come forward now.	但是，DNA 证据可以更容易地将不明身份的尸体同失踪人名联系起来，而且从那些不明身份的尸体的骨头当中可以提取 DNA，这些尸体都是在盖西房子下方一处仅可爬行的空间里发现的。况且还有希望，有些家庭当年不想让失踪的亲人与盖西案联系起来，现在他们可能会站出来。
After publicizing their quest, hundreds of tips poured in, including from Jeff Haakenson.	这项寻找工作一经公布就收到了数百个线索，其中就包括关于杰夫·哈肯森的。
From there, the investigation moved swiftly, Moran said. Nothing revealed that Jimmy was alive, and his description — a young, unsupervised man in Chicago during the period when Gacy was killing people — suggested a possible link.	莫兰说，从那时开始，调查的进展就很迅速。没有证据表明吉米还活着，对他的描述——一个无人监管的年轻人，于盖西杀人期间在芝加哥出现——表明他同此案可能有关。
He then asked Donald Haakenson and Sisterman to submit DNA samples; Jimmy’s parents had both been dead for years.	然后他要求唐纳德·哈肯森和塞斯特曼提交 DNA 样本；吉米的父母已经去世多年。
The results from the lab were convincing enough that Moran asked the Haakenson family if they could meet in person to discuss them.	实验室的结果足以促使莫兰问哈肯森一家，是否可以就此事面谈。
With family members assembled around Sisterman’s dining room table in North St. Paul in July, Moran broke the news. Shock rippled through the room as the family absorbed it.	7月，家庭成员们在北圣保罗塞斯特曼家的餐桌边相聚，莫兰告知了他们这一消息。家人们努力接受这个现实，惊骇之情弥漫在整个房间。
“I didn’t want him to be dead, and especially dying the way he did,” Jeff	“我不希望他死去，特别是以这种方式死去，”杰夫·哈肯森说。“但我松了一口气

Haakenson said. "But I'm relieved that he's found, that he's not missing anymore."	气, 他被发现了, 他不再失踪了。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170802/john-wayne-gacy-victim	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170802/john-wayne-gacy-victim
U.S. Opens Door to Talks, While Flexing Military Muscle to North Korea	特朗普政府首次表态愿与朝鲜谈判
WASHINGTON — In the Trump administration's first serious attempt at a diplomatic opening to North Korea, Secretary of State Rex Tillerson has offered to open negotiations with Pyongyang by assuring "the security they seek" and a new chance at economic prosperity if the North surrenders its nuclear weapons.	华盛顿——这是特朗普政府第一次认真尝试对朝鲜开放外交渠道: 国务卿雷克斯·蒂勒森(Rex Tillerson)提出可以和平壤进行谈判, 如果朝鲜放弃核武器, 就会确保提供“他们所寻求的安全”以及经济繁荣的新机会。
Mr. Tillerson's comments came just hours before the United States on Wednesday tested an unarmed Minuteman III intercontinental ballistic missile, sending it 4,200 miles to a target in the Marshall Islands. The Pentagon said the test was not intended as a response to the North's launch on Friday of a missile that appeared capable of reaching Los Angeles and beyond.	蒂勒森周三发表这番意见几个小时之后, 美国试射了一枚未携带弹头的民兵3型洲际弹道导弹, 它在飞行 4200 英里(约 6800 公里)后, 命中了马绍尔群岛的一个目标。五角大楼表示, 这次测试并不是为了回应朝鲜周五试射一枚似乎能够打到洛杉矶和更远地区的导弹。
But military officials said the test demonstrated that the American nuclear arsenal was ready "to deter, detect and defend against attacks on the United States and its allies."	但是军方官员表示, 这个测试表明, 美国的核武库已经做好了“阻止、发现和防御针对美国及其盟友的袭击”的准备。
The combination of Mr. Tillerson's outreach and the missile test laid bare an internal administration debate over what course to take — and whether a combination of diplomatic outreach and maximal military pressure would change North Korea's current course. Most intelligence assessments have concluded that the North has no incentive to begin negotiations until it demonstrates, even more conclusively than it has in recent weeks, that its nuclear weapon could reach the United States	把蒂勒森的表态与这次导弹试验放在一起来看, 它暴露了政府内部对于采取什么样的路线存在争议——以及外交示意和最大程度地军事施压相结合, 是否会让朝鲜改弦更张? 大多数情报评估报告的结论是, 朝鲜没有进行谈判的动力, 直到它可以展现自己的核武器能打到美国本土, 甚至要到比最近几周的展现更有说服力才行。 mainland.

The missile test was the latest demonstration of American power to North Korea. Over the weekend, the United States flew two strategic bombers over the Korean Peninsula, alongside fighter jets from South Korea and Japan. And for years, with mixed results, the United States has targeted the North's missile program with cyberattacks.	这次导弹试验是美国最近一次向朝鲜展现实力。周末，美国派遣两架战略轰炸机和韩日的战斗机一起，飞过朝鲜半岛。多年以来，美国一直在对朝鲜导弹计划进行网络攻击，效果有好有坏。
Trump administration officials said Mr. Tillerson was increasingly concerned that the recent North Korean advances, especially its missiles' range, were driving the United States to a binary choice: Accept a North with nuclear weapons that can target American cities, or head toward a military confrontation.	特朗普政府官员说，蒂勒森越来越担心朝鲜最近取得的进展，特别是其导弹的射程，将导致美国只能二者选一：要么接受朝鲜拥有可以打到美国的核武器，要么开展军事对抗。
At a rare appearance in front of the State Department press corps on Tuesday, Mr. Tillerson went out of his way to offer assurances to the government of Kim Jong-un in Pyongyang. Others in the Trump administration, including President Trump himself, have declined to publicly say as much.	周二，蒂勒森罕见地在国务院新闻记者团面前露面，对平壤的金正恩政府做出保证。特朗普行政班底的其他人，包括特朗普总统本人，都拒绝公开这么说。
"We have reaffirmed our position toward North Korea," Mr. Tillerson told reporters. "We do not seek a regime change, we do not seek the collapse of the regime, we do not seek an accelerated reunification of the peninsula, we do not seek an excuse to send our military north of the 38th parallel," which divides North and South, he said.	"我们重申了对朝鲜的立场。"蒂勒森告诉记者，"我们不寻求改变这个政权，不寻求这个政权崩溃，不寻求加速半岛的统一，我们不会找借口把我们的军队送到38度线以北，"他说道。38度线是朝韩分界线。
"And we're trying to convey to the North Koreans: We are not your enemy, we are not your threat," he said. "But you are presenting an unacceptable threat to us, and we have to respond."	"我们正在向朝鲜转达的消息是：我们不是你们的敌人，我们不是你们的威胁，"他说。"但是如果你向我们发出了不可接受的威胁，那我们必须做出回应。"
That was a somewhat different tone than the one Mr. Tillerson took	这和蒂勒森今年3月份访问首尔时的说法有些不同，那时他似乎认为朝鲜放

when he visited Seoul in March and appeared to make North Korea's surrender of nuclear weapons a prerequisite for talks. At that time, he said negotiations could "only be achieved by denuclearizing, giving up their weapons of mass destruction," and that "only then will we be prepared to engage them in talks."	弃核武器是谈判的先决条件。当时他表示，谈判只能“通过无核化、放弃大规模杀伤性武器才能实现”，还说，“只有这样，我们才能做好让他们谈判的准备。”
The idea that North Korea would give up its weapons at the opening of talks was dismissed immediately by allies as unworkable, and Mr. Tillerson may have simply phrased it badly. But the question now, after a series of successful missile tests, is whether Mr. Kim will decide it is time to negotiate a "freeze" on further detonations and launches — or whether he should just keep going on his current path.	朝鲜在会谈开始时放弃武器的想法，美国的盟友立刻指出其缺乏可行性，蒂勒森可能只是没有说清楚而已。但现在的问题是，在一系列成功的导弹试验之后，金正恩是否认为现在是时候谈判如何“冻结”进一步的爆炸和发射——还是要沿着现在的道路走下去。
Even Mr. Tillerson has, in the past, cast doubt on the wisdom of entering a "freeze," since it would essentially enshrine North Korea as a de facto nuclear weapons state — to which a series of American presidents have said they would never agree.	在过去，即便是蒂勒森也对“冻结”的想法存有怀疑，因为它实质上是将朝鲜视为了一个事实上的核武国家——数任美国总统都说，这件事他们永远不会同意。
Mr. Tillerson's new position is that negotiations should begin without conditions, as long as they are ultimately headed toward denuclearization. "We don't think having a dialogue where the North Koreans come to the table assuming they're going to maintain their nuclear weapons is productive," he said on Tuesday. "So that's really what the objective that we are about is."	蒂勒森的新立场是，谈判应该毫无条件地开始，只要最终能走向去核化即可。“我们认为，如果朝鲜人到达谈判桌的时候以为可以保留核武器，这种对话是没有成效的，”周四他说。“所以，我们的目标就是他们放弃核武器。”
Outside experts had their doubts about whether the North would take up Mr. Tillerson's offer.	外界专家对朝鲜是否会接受蒂勒森的提议心存怀疑。
Christopher R. Hill, a former American ambassador to Seoul who led Bush-era negotiations on ending North Korea's nuclear program, said	前美国驻首尔大使、曾在布什时期领导终止朝鲜核计划谈判的的克里斯托弗·R·希尔(Christopher R. Hill)周六表示，平壤认为美国别无他法，只能视其

on Saturday that Pyongyang believed the United States was cornered into accepting it as a nuclear weapons state. "We are left in a situation where they believe we will ultimately acquiesce," he said at the KentPresents ideas festival in Kent, Conn.	为核武国家。当时他在康涅狄格州肯特举办的肯特展示思想节 (KentPresents ideas festival)上说：“他们相信我们最终会默认这种情况。”
At the same conference, Kathleen Stephens, another former American ambassador to Seoul, said in the case of China, India and Pakistan, "we have never succeeded in stopping a nuclear aspirant country." She also said the North's drive for a weapon was based on a bet that the United States could not stop it.	在这次会议上，另一位前美国驻韩国大使凯瑟琳·斯蒂芬斯(Kathleen Stephens)以中国、印度和巴基斯坦为例说，“我们从来没有成功地阻止过一个渴望拥有核武器的国家。”她还表示，朝鲜发展武器的运动，是建立在美国无力阻止的赌注上。
But in making the offer to talk, Mr. Tillerson may be accomplishing several goals at once.	但通过主动提出谈判，蒂勒森也许会一举多得。
If the North rejects the proposal, Washington can reiterate its good-faith effort to the Chinese and a new South Korean government that has proposed its own negotiations with North Korea — and then step up military and financial pressure. If the North insists, as it has in the past, that it must first be recognized as a nuclear weapons power, the United States can make the case that the ultimate objective — a denuclearized Korean Peninsula — cannot be achieved diplomatically.	如果朝鲜拒绝这个提议，华盛顿便可以向中国和韩国的新一届政府——新政府已提出自己与朝鲜谈判——重申自己的善意，然后在军事和金融上加压。如果朝鲜像过去那样，坚持要求必须先承认自己的核国家地位，美国便能够证明，无法通过外交途径实现最终目标，即朝鲜半岛的无核化。
Mr. Tillerson's offer also nods toward other diplomatic proposals. China has suggested a "freeze-for-freeze" deal, in which the United States agrees to halt all military exercises with South Korea — something Mr. Hill noted would "hollow out the alliance" — in return for North Korea's stopping its tests.	蒂勒森的提议也是对其他外交提议的认可。中国建议达成一项“冻结换冻结”的协议，即美国同意停止与韩国的所有军事演习——希尔指出，这会“挖空联盟”——换取朝鲜停止试验。
Both sides have rejected that idea, but it creates an opening.	双方都拒绝了这个方案，但它开了个头。
"If we can get past the impasse of the North Koreans saying, 'We will	"如果能越过朝鲜说‘只有你们承认我们是核国家我们才会坐到谈判桌前’和

only come to the table if you recognize us as a nuclear state,' and the U.S. saying, 'We can only enter into talks if you commit to denuclearization,' there's a diplomatic space," said Robert S. Litwak, director of security studies at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in Washington, and author of "Preventing North Korea's Nuclear Breakout."	美国说'只有你们承诺无核化我们才参加谈判'的僵局,就有外交空间,"华盛顿伍德罗·威尔逊国际学者研究中心(Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars)的安全研究主任、《防止朝鲜的核突破》(Preventing North Korea's Nuclear Breakout)的作者罗伯特·S·利特瓦克(Robert S. Litwak)说。
Mr. Litwak advocates a freeze deal that he said would "at least stop us from having to deal with a North Korea with 100 nuclear weapons, instead of 20 or so" — the current estimate of the size of its arsenal.	利特瓦克主张达成冻结协议,称协议"至少能防止我们不得不对付一个拥有100件核武器的朝鲜,而是一个有大约20件核武器的朝鲜"。这是当前对朝鲜武器储备规模的估计。
But if a freeze is all that is achieved, North Korea essentially becomes like Pakistan: a nuclear power that the United States does not formally recognize, but has to deal with as a real weapons state.	但如果只能达成冻结的目标,朝鲜本质上会变得像巴基斯坦一样:一个美国并未正式承认,但却不得不将其当作真正的核武器国家来对待的核国家。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170803/tillerson-north-korea-negotiations-missile-test	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170803/tillerson-north-korea-negotiations-missile-test
Trump Looks to Australia in Overhauling Immigration System	提高移民门槛,特朗普参考澳大利亚模式
As President Trump embraces a proposal to sharply cut immigration to the United States, supporters of the plan point to the example of Australia and its "merit-based" system for approving new immigrants.	就在特朗普总统对一项大幅降低向美国移民人数的方案表示支持的时候,该方案的支持者把澳大利亚及其批准新移民的"择优"制度树为榜样。
The plan Mr. Trump supports seeks to reduce immigration by curbing the ability of American citizens and legal residents to bring family members into the country. As Mr. Trump told Congress earlier this year, "It is a basic principle that those seeking to enter a country ought to be able to support themselves financially."	这项得到特朗普支持的方案,旨在通过限制美国公民和合法居民把家庭成员带入美国的能力来减少移民人数。正如特朗普今年早些时候对国会所说的,"这是一项基本原则,那些寻求进入一个国家的人,应该有养活自己的财务能力。"
That approach — making sure new immigrants are not a burden on the country's safety net and are able to prosper financially — is at the core	确保新移民不成为国家保障体系的负担、并且有能力在经济上进一步发展的做法,是澳大利亚移民法的核心。

of Australia's immigration laws.
Australia takes in more immigrants relative to its population than the United States. The country has two distinct systems: a points-based system, which favors people based on their English proficiency and the skills they have to fill needed jobs, and an employer-nomination system, which allows businesses to sponsor people for jobs.	与美国相比，澳大利亚接纳的移民人数相对其人口来说较多。澳大利亚有两个不同的移民体系：一个是基于分数的体系，根据移民者的英语水平、以及他们填补所需职位的技能打分，高分者优先；另一个是雇主提名制，该体系允许企业为雇员移民提供担保。
A White House official said on Wednesday that it had looked at both the Australian and Canadian immigration systems and "added things that made sense for America."	周三，一名白宫官员表示，美国已经考察了澳大利亚和加拿大的移民体系，并“增补了对美国有意义的内容”。
"One of the things I think is the most compelling about the Australian system is the efforts to make sure that immigrants are financially self-sufficient," Stephen Miller, a senior White House aide, said in discussing the plan with reporters Wednesday.	“我认为，澳大利亚的移民体系最有说服力的一个方面是确保移民在经济上有自立能力，”白宫高级助理史蒂芬·米勒(Stephen Miller)周三与记者讨论美国的方案时说。
Under the plan proposed by Republican senators, applicants for legal residency in the United States would be judged on the basis of education, language and job abilities, favoring those who can speak English. They would be able to financially support themselves and have skills that contribute to the economy. Currently, most legal immigrants are admitted to the United States based on family ties to those already in the country.	这项由共和党参议员提出的方案，将对申请美国合法居留权的人按照受教育程度、语言和工作能力进行评估，会说英语者可得高分。申请者还应该能够在经济上自立，并拥有对经济做出贡献的技能。目前，大多数进入美国的合法移民靠的是与已在美国的家庭成员的关系。
"We are establishing a new entry system that's points-based," Mr. Miller said in explaining the Trump administration's approach. "Can they support themselves and their families financially? Do they have a skill that will add to the U.S. economy? Are they being paid a high wage?"	“我们正在建立一个基于分数的新移民体系，”米勒在解释特朗普政府的做法时说。“他们有支持自己和家人的财力吗？他们有为美国经济提供增长的能力吗？他们能挣到高薪吗？”
Under the Australian system, applicants get the most points — up to 60	在澳大利亚的移民体系中，申请人在所需领域拥有技能可让他们得到分数的

— for having skills in needed areas, and fewer points — up to 20 — for fluency in English. They are also awarded points for their age group, with the 25-to-32 age range being most desirable, and older people being less so. Applicants get up to 20 points for having a doctorate from an Australian educational institution or its equivalent.	最高（高达 60 分）。在其他方面，比如英语的流利程度上最多可得 20 分。他们也被根据年龄层次打分，年龄在 25 岁到 32 岁之间的人最受欢迎，年龄大的人则不太受欢迎。有澳大利亚教育机构授予的博士学位或有同等学历的申请者最高可获得 20 分。
While the program seeks to attract immigrants to fill occupations in areas where needed skills are in short supply, some experts believe the approach has been largely ineffective.	虽然该体系的目的是吸引移民来填补所需技能人才不足的领域，但有些专家认为，这个做法在很大程度上并没有多大效果。
“Australia has this image internationally that our points-tested skill program is delivering a high quality, skilled work force,” said Bob Birrell, president of the Australian Population Research Institute. “I think that’s a myth. Our points-selected skilled migration program is full of holes.”	“澳大利亚在国际上给人的印象是，我们根据技能打分的移民体系正在为国家提供高素质、高技能的劳动力，”澳大利亚人口研究所所长鲍勃·波瑞尔(Bob Birrell)说。“我认为那是一个神话。我们靠分数选择技术移民的项目充满了漏洞。”
Rather than favor people from overseas who have significant work experience and skills considered important in Australia, the points system has been watered down to favor foreigners who have recently graduated from Australian universities, Mr. Birrell said.	波瑞尔说，这个基于分数的项目并没有从海外吸引到具有澳大利亚认为重要的工作经验和技能的人，而是被成为了偏向最近毕业于澳大利亚大学的外国人的项目。
“There’s no assessment as to whether the skills that the applicant possesses are actually in demand here,” Mr. Birrell continued.	“没有对申请人拥有的技能是否属于这里实际所需的相关评估，”波瑞尔继续说道。
The program has also been criticized as overly complex in its skills criteria and as inherently favoring white applicants because of its language and educational requirements.	还有人批评澳大利亚的方案过于复杂，并且因为其对语言和受教育程度的要求，具有偏爱白种人申请者的内在问题。
In promoting its approach Wednesday, the Trump administration also cited Canada, which similarly uses a points-based immigration system. Canada’s approach, however, does not merely favor immigrants based on their skills but also uses a system that promotes a multicultural	特朗普政府周三在宣传自己的方案时还提到了加拿大，加拿大也有类似的基于分数的移民体系。但是，加拿大的做法并不仅仅是根据移民所拥有的技能来确定他们的受欢迎程度，还包括一个促进社会文化多元化的部分。

society.
Like the United States, Australia has been very welcoming of immigrants, with roughly 27 percent of its population foreign-born, coming from more than 200 countries. It formalized the points-based system in 1989 and has updated it several times, most recently in 2011.	像美国一样,澳大利亚一直非常欢迎移民,其人口的大约有 27%在外国出生,这些人来自 200 多个国家。澳大利亚在 1989 年正式建立其基于分数的移民体系,并对体系进行了多次更新,最近一次是在 2011 年。
Khanh Hoang, a lecturer at the College of Law at Australian National University, wrote last year in The Conversation that Australia's points-based system failed to capture the nuances needed for hiring the best and most desirable employees for key jobs.	澳大利亚国立大学法学院讲师黄康(Khanh Hoang)去年在《对话》(The Conversation)中写道,澳大利亚基于分数的体系没有考虑到为关键职位雇佣最佳和最急需人才上应该考虑的细微问题。
"Some suggest a points test is a crude measure that does not account for 'soft' attributes desired by employers such as communications skills, the ability to learn on the job, or resilience," he wrote, adding that the system may not be nimble enough to adjust to the country's employment needs.	"有些人指出,打分测试是一种很粗犷的做法,无法把雇主渴望的'软'能力,比如交流能力、在实际工作中学习的能力,或韧性考虑进来,"他写道,并补充说,该体系可能不够灵活,无法适应国家的人才需求。
"This raises questions as to the government's ability to accurately project shortages in the labor market, leading to underemployment or over-employment in some areas," he wrote.	"这就对政府是否有准确预测劳动力市场短缺的能力提出了质疑,目前有些行业就业不足,而有行业则人员过剩,"他写道。
In April, Australia's prime minister, Malcolm Turnbull, proposed raising more barriers to citizenship, with an "Australian values" test and a four-year wait for applicants.	今年 4 月,澳大利亚总理马尔科姆·特恩布尔(Malcolm Turnbull)建议设立更多的入籍障碍,包括一个"澳大利亚价值观"考试,以及申请人需要等待四年的要求。
The proposal came as he faced domestic pressure on the immigration front, with Pauline Hanson, a senator who has called for a ban on Muslim immigration, tapping into the frustrations of voters who believe they are competing with immigrants for jobs or government resources.	提出该提案时,特恩布尔正在移民问题上面临国内压力,参议员波林·汉森(Pauline Hanson)利用选民的不满呼吁禁止穆斯林移民,有些选民认为,他们需要在就业和获得政府资源方面与移民竞争。
https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170804/trump-immigration-merit-based	https://cn.nytimes.com/usa/20170804/trump-immigration-merit-based

-points	-points
Ebola Response in Liberia Is Hampered by Infighting	利比里亚内部管理混乱阻碍埃博拉应对
The global response to the Ebola virus in Liberia is being hampered by poor coordination and serious disagreements between Liberian officials and the donors and health agencies fighting the epidemic, according to minutes of top-level meetings and interviews with participants.	高层会议的会议记录以及对参与者的采访显示，由于利比里亚官员、捐助国和抗击疫情的卫生机构之间协调欠佳，且存在严重分歧，国际社会应对利比里亚埃博拉病毒的行动受到了阻碍。
Even now, three months after donors began pouring resources into Liberia, many confirmed cases still go unreported, countries refuse to change plans to erect field hospitals in the wrong places, families cannot find out whether their relatives in treatment are alive or dead, health workers sent to take temperatures sometimes lack thermometers, and bodies have been cremated because a larger cemetery was not yet open.	即便现在，在捐助国开始向利比里亚输送大量资源三个月后，仍有许多确诊病例没有上报；各国也拒绝改变计划，仍然在错误的地点设立现场医院；家属无法查明自己正在接受治疗的亲属是生是死；被派去查体温的医务人员有时缺少体温计；因为一个规模更大的墓地尚未开放，遗体都被火化了。
The detailed accounts of high-level meetings obtained by The New York Times, the most recent from Monday, lift the veil on the messy and contentious process of running the sprawling response to Liberia's epidemic, one that now involves more than a hundred government agencies, charities and donors from around the world.	《纽约时报》取得的对高层会议的详细叙述（最新的是周一的信息）揭示出，利比里亚疫情的大规模应对行动管理混乱，过程中充满分歧。目前有来自世界各地的 100 多个政府机构、慈善组织和捐助国参与其中。
Despite these problems, with help from donors, Liberia, one of the three most afflicted West African countries, and the one with the highest death toll, has seen new cases drop to about 20 a day from about 100 a day two months ago. Experts attribute that to fearful Liberians touching one another less, more safe burials of bodies and distribution of protective gear to health care workers. But they also warn that cases are now holding steady and could explode again.	虽然存在种种问题，但是在捐助国的帮助下，利比里亚的新增病例从两个月前的每天约 100 例，下降到了约 20 例。利比里亚是疫情最严重的三个西非国家之一，也是死亡人数最高的国家。专家认为，这是因为感到害怕的利比里亚人减少了与他人的接触，遗体的掩埋也更安全，医护人员也得到了防护装备。然而，他们还是警告，尽管目前病例数量保持稳定，但仍有可能出现激增。

Participants in the meetings of the Incident Management System — which replaced the National Ebola Task Force — said the atmosphere in the meetings in the Liberian capital, Monrovia, should not be characterized as chaotic or bogged down in bickering, instead calling them “collegial” and “effective,” although one who spoke on condition of anonymity described “showmanship and political posturing.” Senior officials of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention who attended — Dr. Frank J. Mahoney and Dr. Kevin M. De Cock — said in an email that there were “differences of opinion — accompanied by passionate discussions.”	突发事件管理系统(Incident Management System)取代了过去的国家埃博拉应变小组(National Ebola Task Force)。突发事件管理系统会议的参与者表示，不应该形容这个机构在利比里亚首都蒙罗维亚举行的会议混乱无序、因为争吵而陷入僵局，应该说会议是“合作”且“成功”的。尽管一人匿名表示，此次会议“充满了表演和政治作秀”。参与此次会议的美国疾病控制与预防中心(Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 简称 CDC)高级官员弗兰克·J·马奥尼博士(Dr. Frank J. Mahoney)和凯文·M·德科克(Dr. Kevin M. De Cock)在一封电子邮件中称，会上存在“不同意见——同时，与会者也对相关问题进行了激烈讨论”。
At the meeting on Monday, Dr. De Cock cited serious logistics problems, including regular hospitals that cannot separate out Ebola patients, counties with no ambulances and temperature takers with no thermometers.	德科克在周一的会议上指出，这里后勤问题严重，比如常规医院无法分隔埃博拉患者，有些县没有救护车，还有些测体温的人没有体温计。
On Nov. 12, the representative of the United Nations secretary general complained that “hundreds” of vehicles had been made available but there was always a shortage. Asking where they are, he added: “The recipient also has to be accountable, just as the donor.”	11月12号，联合国(United Nations)秘书长的代表抱怨道，已经提供了“数以百计”的车辆，但还是时常出现短缺。他在询问这些车辆在哪里时还说：“接收人也必须负起责任，就像捐助国一样。”
Also, the support documents with the minutes indicate that there is no national plan for Ebola survivors — either for reuniting them with their families or for using them to do nursing tasks because they are thought to be immune.	同时，这份会议记录的附属文件还表明，他们并没有针对埃博拉幸存者的全国性计划——不论是让他们与家人团聚，还是让他们去从事护理工作，因为据信这些人已经对埃博拉病毒有了免疫力。
A report on the issue reads: “The current and planned work presented by the partners and government for survivors can be characterized as fragmented and lacking in scope, scale, comprehensiveness, evidence	关于此事的一篇报告称：“合作伙伴和政府针对幸存者当前开展和计划开展的工作，可谓零碎、缺乏远见、规模不足，不够全面、缺少证据支撑，也缺乏由幸存者主导的计划。”

base and survivor-driven programming.”
American military helicopters ferrying doctors to remote areas were forbidden to fly back not only patients but even blood samples; recently samples from a village had to be walked to a road four hours away. At Monday’s meeting, according to the minutes, Dr. De Cock called this “unacceptable,” adding, “This has to change this week.”	把医生运送到边远地区的美国军用飞机不仅被禁止运回患者，而且连血样也不能运回；人们不得不走路花四个小时，把最近从一个村庄采集的样本送到路上。前述会议记录显示，德科克在周一的会议上称这种情况“令人无法接受”，并表示，“本周必须做出改变。”
Dr. Hans Rosling, a Swedish epidemiologist and consultant to Liberia’s Health Ministry, said that the helicopter order came “from somewhere in America.” In an interview, he cited problems not listed in the minutes: one Asian and two European donor countries are insisting on building new Ebola field hospitals in Monrovia, where hospitals have empty beds, rather than in remote counties where beds are desperately needed; they insisted because they announced those plans two months ago, he said. The national case count was not reported for two days recently because the government employee compiling it went unpaid and stopped working. The minutes of the Incident Management System were made available along with PowerPoint files and other documents by an expert who said the disorganization of the Ebola effort should be made public.	瑞典流行病学家、利比里亚卫生部(Health Ministry)顾问汉斯·罗斯林(Hans Rosling)表示，有关直升飞机的命令是从“美国的某个地方”发出的。他在接受采访时提到了会议记录中没有列出的问题：一个亚洲捐助国和两个欧洲捐助国，坚持要求在蒙罗维亚而不是在那些医院床位紧缺的偏远县城，建造新的埃博拉现场医院，蒙罗维亚的医院还有空床位。他表示，他们之所以如此坚持，是因为他们在两个月前就宣布了这些计划。最近两天没有全国病例的统计报告，因为负责汇编数据的政府工作人员没有拿到工资，于是停止了工作。一名专家提供了突发事件管理系统的会议记录、演示文稿，以及其他文件，这名专家表示，应该让公众知道埃博拉应对工作的混乱状态。
The meetings are usually led by Tolbert Nyenswah, the deputy health minister, and include representatives from the Centers for Disease Control, the World Health Organization, the World Bank, the United Nations Mission for Ebola Emergency Response, numerous United Nations agencies, the United States Agency for International Development, the United States Army, Doctors Without Borders and	会议通常由卫生部副部长托尔伯特·尼耶斯瓦(Tolbert Nyenswah)主持召开，与会人员包括来自 CDC、世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)、世界银行(World Bank)、联合国埃博拉应急特派团(United Nations Mission for Ebola Emergency Response)，各联合国机构及美国国际开发署(United States Agency for International Development)、无国界医生(Doctors Without Borders)的代表，以及来自很多其他国家的医疗、援助和军方代表。

medical, aid or military representatives from many other countries. Dr. Nyenswah and other ministry officials could not be reached for comment; Dr. Rosling has worked with the ministry since October.	记者无法联系到尼耶斯瓦和其他卫生部官员置评；罗斯林从10月开始在利比里亚卫生部供职。
The minutes make it clear that accuracy of the national case count is shaky.	会议记录明确提出，全国病例统计数据的准确度不可靠。
On Nov. 5, Dr. Rosling said, "We are absolutely sure that we cannot be sure about the data."	11月5日，罗斯林表示，“我们非常肯定，我们无法确信这些数据。”
In the minutes, Liberian officials regularly complain about the donors, and the donors argue back. On Nov. 12, James Dorbor Jallah, the task force's deputy manager, said: "People will sit in D.C. or Geneva and want to direct what is happening here."	会议记录显示，利比里亚官员频频对捐助国提出抱怨，而捐助国则进行反驳。11月12日，工作组副主任詹姆斯·多尔博·贾拉(James Dorbor Jallah)说，“那些人在华盛顿或日内瓦坐着，还想要指挥这里的事情。”
The health minister, Dr. Walter T. Gwenigale, backed him up, complaining that "the U.N. and other agencies got their money before the ink was even dry," while, he said, a group run by a Liberian pastor to teach rural people about Ebola "has not gotten one cent."	卫生部长沃尔特·T·戈维尼盖尔(Walter T. Gwenigale)同意他的说法。戈维尼盖尔抱怨称，“联合国和其他机构拿到的钱，都是刚印出来的，墨水都还没干”，但由一名利比里亚牧师牵头，向农村居民普及埃博拉知识的组织却“没有拿到一分钱”。
On Sunday, President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf replaced Dr. Gwenigale without explaining why, but said he would remain an adviser. Dr. Emmanuel T. Dolo, Ms. Johnson Sirleaf's youth adviser, complained that the donors were "showing a level of disrespect" by judging Liberian community groups by "harsh standards" and "Western standards."	周日，利比里亚总统埃伦·约翰逊·瑟利夫(Ellen Johnson Sirleaf)撤换了戈维尼盖尔，但没有给出原因，只是说他仍然担任顾问。约翰逊·瑟利夫的年轻顾问伊曼纽尔·T·多洛(Emmanuel T. Dolo)抱怨称，捐助国以“苛刻标准”和“西方标准”评判利比里亚的社区团体，这么做“有些不尊重”。
At the same meeting, Mr. Nyenswah, the deputy health minister, pointed to his government's "team leaders" and warned, "Partners in the room have not been engaging them and involving them in strategy — but you have to."	在同一场会议上，卫生部副部长尼耶斯瓦指着本国政府的“小组领导”，向与会者警告，“这个房间里的合作伙伴们，没有与他们沟通，也没有让他们参与制定的策略——但你们必须要这么做。”
A representative of the United Nations Children's Fund replied that the	联合国儿童基金会(United Nations Children's Fund)的一名代表回应称，当

local pastor needed to prove he could do the work.	地的那名牧师需要证明他有能力做这份工作。
Two days later, Shiyong Wang, the World Bank representative, confirmed that United Nations agencies had received nearly all their money and that the Liberian government had received only 7 percent of the $23 million allotted to it. But, he said, the government had not produced required documentation – not even, for example, names of dead health workers whose families awaited compensation. He criticized the government’s “overly complex and bureaucratic approval process,” including three signatures on each document.	两天后，世界银行的代表王世勇证实，联合国机构接收了几乎所有资金，利比里亚政府只收到了划拨给该国的 2300 万美元（约合 1.4 亿元人民币）拨款中的 7%。但他表示，该国政府没有出具必要的文件，例如病逝的卫生工作者的名字，他们的家人正在等待补偿。他批评道，该国政府的“审批过程过于复杂、官僚化”，比如，一份文件需要三个签名。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141120/c20liberia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141120/c20liberia
French Hostage Abducted in North Africa Is Freed	被北非基地组织绑架的法国人质获释
ISTANBUL — A 50-year-old Frenchman who was snatched from his hotel room in Mali by Al Qaeda’s affiliate in North Africa and held captive for more than three years was released, President François Hollande of France announced on Tuesday.	伊斯坦布尔——法国总统弗朗索瓦·奥朗德(François Hollande)周二宣布，基地组织的北非分支将释放一名 50 岁的法国男子。该男子三年多以前在马里的酒店房间中遭到绑架，此后一直被扣为人质。
“It’s a day of joy,” Mr. Hollande said in a video posted on the government’s website. “Our hostage Serge Lazarevic — our last hostage — is free.”	“这是一个高兴的日子，”奥朗德在政府网站上发布的一段视频中说。“我们的人质塞尔日·拉扎雷维奇(Serge Lazarevic)——最后一名法国人质——自由了。”
Even as France celebrated Mr. Lazarevic’s return from captivity in the burning sands and craggy caves of the Sahara, questions were being asked about what concessions the French government made to the extremist group, Al Qaeda in the Islamic Maghreb, that held him.	但就在法国庆祝拉扎雷维奇离开灼热的沙漠和陡峭的山洞，回到祖国之时，许多人提出了这样的问题：法国政府向绑架他的伊斯兰马格里布基地组织(Al Qaeda in the Islamic Maghreb)的极端分子做了何种让步。
Jean-Paul Rouiller, director of the Geneva Center for Training and Analysis of Terrorism, who has followed Mr. Lazarevic’s case, said that Mohamed Ali Ag Wadossene and Heiba Ag Acherif, two members of a	日内瓦恐怖主义训练分析中心(Geneva Center for Training and Analysis of Terrorism)主任让-保罗·鲁耶(Jean-Paul Rouiller)一直关注拉扎雷维奇被绑架事件。他说，据马里政府官员称，与伊斯兰马格里布基地组织关系密切

Tuareg clan with close ties to Al Qaeda in the Islamic Maghreb, had been released from prison, according to Malian government officials.	的两名图瓦雷克族(Tuareg)人——穆罕默德·阿里·阿格·瓦多森(Mohamed Ali Ag Wadossene)和黑巴·阿格·阿克里夫(Heiba Ag Acherif)——已从监狱获释。
If there was a prisoner exchange, it again pits France against its allies, including the United States, on the question of how to free hostages held by Islamic extremists. In the past four months, including this past weekend, four United States citizens have been executed by Al Qaeda in Yemen and the Islamic State, an offshoot of Al Qaeda in Iraq.	如果存在囚犯交换的行为，那么在如何解救被伊斯兰极端分子扣押的人质的问题上，法国就再一次站到了美国等盟友的对立面。过去四个月，包括刚刚过去的周末，已有四名美国公民被基地组织也门分支和基地组织在伊拉克的分支伊斯兰国(Islamic State)处决。
Prisoner exchanges have usually been a secondary request, after ransom, said Mr. Rouiller, who has helped negotiate the release of other Europeans held by the same group that kidnapped Mr. Lazarevic. "They ask for prisoners if they can, but it's money that is of the essence," he said. "Money first, and fellow prisoners second."	囚犯交换通常是赎金之外的附属要求，鲁耶说。他参与过释放被同一组织绑架的其他欧洲人质的谈判。“如果可能的话，他们会要求对方释放自己的囚犯，但核心还是钱，”他说。“赎金第一，囚犯第二。”
Pierre Martinet, a former French intelligence official, said French citizens would continue to be targeted by kidnapers "because they know it is among the governments that directly negotiates for their liberation."	法国前情报官员皮埃尔·马蒂内(Pierre Martinet)说，法国公民仍将是绑匪的目标，“因为他们知道，法国是愿意与他们直接谈判释放人质的政府之一。”
"I know very well that we have given money," Mr. Martinet told the BFM television channel, The Associated Press reported. "It happens. We have to stop lying to ourselves."	美联社报道，马蒂内对 BFM 电视台说，“我非常清楚我们交了赎金。这种事的确会发生，我们不能再对自己说谎了。”
While governments in Europe deny paying ransoms, an investigation by The New York Times found that Al Qaeda and its direct affiliates have taken in at least $125 million in revenue from kidnappings since 2008, of which $66 million was paid last year alone.	尽管欧洲国家的政府都否认支付过赎金，但是《纽约时报》的一项调查发现，自从 2008 年以来，基地组织及其直属分支从绑架活动中至少获得了 1.25 亿美元（约合 7.74 亿元人民币）的收入，其中单是去年就获得了 6600 万美元。
In November 2011, Mr. Lazarevic and his colleague, the French geologist Philippe Verdon, were grabbed from their hotel rooms in the	2011 年 11 月，拉扎雷维奇及其同事、法国地质学家菲利普·韦尔东(Philippe Verdon)在马里城市洪博里的酒店房间内被抓走。他们在那里是为了研究开

Malian town of Hombori, where they had gone to study the feasibility of opening a cement factory. The operation was carried out by Mr. Ag Acherif and a relative of Mr. Ag Wadossene, working as subcontractors for Al Qaeda in the Islamic Maghreb. According to intelligence officials, the group had issued a "bid" for French hostages because it had experience dealing with the French government: It earned millions of euros in ransom for a French hostage, Françoise Larribe, just a few months earlier, according to one of the negotiators in that case.	设一家水泥厂的可行性。绑架的实施者是阿格·阿克里夫和阿格·瓦多森的一个亲戚，后者是伊斯兰马格里布基地组织的分包商。据情报官员称，该组织开出了释放法国人质的“报价”，因为它有过与法国政府打交道的经验：一名参与相关谈判的官员说，就在几个月前，该组织利用法国人质弗朗索瓦兹·拉里布(Françoise Larribe)获得了数百万欧元的赎金。
Within days of their capture, Mr. Lazarevic and Mr. Verdon were handed over to Al Qaeda.	遭到劫持的几天之后，拉扎雷维奇和韦尔东被交给了基地组织。
Last year, the kidnappers executed Mr. Verdon when he tried to make contact with an aircraft flying overhead, according to the former negotiator who asked not to be named because of the sensitivity of the case. Mr. Verdon's body was later recovered by French soldiers.	一位前谈判官员说，去年，在韦尔东试图与空中飞过的一架飞机取得联系时，绑架者处决了他。由于问题的敏感性，这名谈判官员要求不具名。韦尔东的尸体后来被法国士兵找到。
Mr. Lazarevic, who is over 6 feet tall and weighed more than 260 pounds at the time of his capture, appeared in several videos pleading for his life. A video released in June alarmed his family because he appeared to have lost as much as a third of his weight. That, and the implicit threat of execution, may have pushed French officials to an agreement.	拉扎雷维奇身高超过六英尺（1.82米），被劫持时体重超过260磅（约118公斤）。他曾在几个视频里表达过求生的渴望。今年6月的一则视频让他的家人十分不安，因为他看起来瘦了三四十公斤。除此之外，暗示要处决他的威胁，也可能促使法国官员与绑架者达成了妥协。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141210/c10france	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141210/c10france
Oscar Pistorius Acquittal Can Be Appealed, Judge Says	检方获准对南非“刀锋战士”无罪判决提起上诉
LONDON — A South African judge ruled on Wednesday that prosecutors may appeal her decision to acquit Oscar Pistorius, the track star, on murder charges in the killing of his girlfriend last year.	伦敦——周三，一位南非法官做出裁定，针对她之前做出的田径明星奥斯卡·皮斯托瑞斯(Oscar Pistorius)不构成谋杀罪的决定，检方可以提出上诉。皮斯托瑞斯去年因枪杀女友受审。

But, in a complex ruling, Judge Thokozile Matilda Masipa rejected efforts by state prosecutors to appeal the five-year sentence she passed on him.	但在复杂的裁决中，法官科齐尔·玛蒂尔达·马西珀(Thokozile Matilda Masipa)驳回了公诉方试图推翻她的五年刑期判决的努力。
The prosecution had called the sentence “shockingly inappropriate” to the crime, since Mr. Pistorius could be released on house arrest after 10 months in the hospital wing of a prison in Pretoria, the South African capital.	公诉人曾说这个判决与被告的罪行“惊人地不相称”，因为皮斯托瑞斯在南非首都比勒陀利亚的监狱医院服刑 10 个月后即可出狱在家服刑。
In September, Judge Masipa acquitted Mr. Pistorius of murder but found him guilty of culpable homicide, equivalent to manslaughter, for firing four rounds from a handgun through a locked toilet cubicle door, killing his girlfriend, Reeva Steenkamp, on the other side.	9 月，法官马西珀驳回了对皮斯托瑞斯的谋杀指控，但认为他犯有过失杀人罪。皮斯托瑞斯用手枪开了四枪，透过锁着的卫生间门，打死了卫生间外面的他的女友瑞瓦·史汀坎普(Reeva Steenkamp)。
The judge’s ruling on Wednesday hinged on a distinction in South African law between culpable homicide and a form of murder when a defendant is accused of knowing that his or her actions may cause death.	法官周三的决定基于南非法律对两种罪行的区分：过失杀人和一种形式的谋杀，即被告明知其行为会致人死亡。
On Tuesday, the state prosecutor, Gerrie Nel, argued that Mr. Pistorius must have understood the likely outcome of opening fire and that he had therefore committed a form of murder regarded as a more serious crime than culpable homicide but a lesser offense than premeditated murder, which carries a 25-year minimum sentence.	周二，检察官格里·内尔(Gerrie Nel)提出，皮斯托瑞斯一定知道开枪的后果，因此他犯了这种形式的谋杀罪，情节比过失杀人严重，但比蓄意谋杀较轻，最低可判 25 年监禁。
In a ruling streamed live on South African news websites from the North Gauteng High Court in Pretoria, Judge Masipa said the issue was “not an easy one.”	判决在比勒陀利亚北豪登高级法院做出，南非新闻网站进行了直播。法官马西珀说，本案“很不简单”。
On the sentence, she said she was “not persuaded that there was any material misdirection” when she sent Mr. Pistorius to prison for what	关于刑期，她说她“没有被说服，不认为存在实质性的错误引导”。她对皮斯托瑞斯的监禁判决被一些法律专家认为较轻。

some legal experts said seemed to be a relatively lenient sentence.
But on the grounds for her verdict, she said the Supreme Court of Appeal should consider whether a principle known as dolus eventualis – the grounds for a form of murder – had been “correctly applied.”	但关于谋杀罪名的裁定，她说最高法院应该考虑所谓“故意过失”（构成谋杀的前提条件）原则是否得到了“正确的运用”。
“I cannot say the prospect of success at the Supreme Court is remote,” she said.	“我不能说在最高法院获胜的希望渺茫，”她说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141211/c11pistorius	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141211/c11pistorius
French Forces Kill a Leader of Jihadists in Mali Raid	法军马里击毙一名恐怖组织头目
ISTANBUL – The French Army said Thursday that it had killed a leader of a terrorist group in the deserts of northern Mali.	伊斯坦布尔——法国陆军本周四表示，他们在马里北部的沙漠地区消灭了一名恐怖组织头目。
The announcement, two days after the release of the last French hostage held by militants, signaled that French special forces may now be free to pursue the terrorist group aggressively, unrestrained by worries about the safety of French captives.	这份公告在武装分子扣押的最后一名法国人质获释两天后发布，标志着法国特种部队现在无需再担心法国人质的安全，可以放心大胆地打击恐怖组织。
A spokesman for the Defense Ministry said French troops had killed Ahmed al-Tilemsi, who had a $5 million bounty on his head after the State Department listed him as a “specially designated global terrorist.”	美国国防部(Defense Ministry)发言人说，法军击毙了艾哈迈德·提雷姆西(Ahmed al-Tilemsi)，此人曾受到通缉，悬赏500万美元，属于美国财政部(Treasury Department)列出的“特殊列名的全球恐怖分子”。
Mr. Tilemsi was a leader of Al Mourabitoun, a group formed by extremists who split off from Al Qaeda two years ago. The extremists led a devastating attack on the In Amenas gas plant in Algeria in 2013 and killed at least 37 foreign hostages taken during the assault.	提雷姆西是独立纳赛尔主义运动(Al Mourabitoun)的领导者；该组织于两年前形成，成员是从基地组织分裂出来的极端分子。他们策划实施了2013年对阿尔及利亚因阿迈纳斯(In Amenas)气厂的毁灭性攻击，并至少杀害了37名在攻击中抓获的外国人质。
Col. Gilles Jaron, spokesman for the French Army’s chief of staff, confirmed that Mr. Tilemsi had been killed. He was one of a group of “a dozen terrorists” targeted by the raid; the others were “neutralized,” Colonel Jaron said, meaning that they were either killed or captured. He	据法国陆军参谋长发言人吉勒斯·雅龙(Gilles Jaron)上校证实，提雷姆西已被击毙。这次袭击的目标是“12名恐怖分子”，他是其中之一；其他人也都遭到“清除”，雅龙上校说。这意味着他们不是丧生就是被俘。他拒绝透露更多的细节。

declined to give more specifics.
Al Mourabitoun is active in the Sahara and in the Sahel region to its south, where militants took advantage of a coup and political chaos in Mali to seize control of most of the northern half of the country in 2012. At the request of the Malian government, France sent thousands of troops in early 2013 to help push the insurgents back.	独立纳赛尔主义运动在撒哈拉及以南的萨赫勒地区活动，武装分子趁马里发生政变、政局混乱的机会，在 2012 年夺取了该国北部大部分地区的控制权。在马里政府的要求下，法国在 2013 年初派出数千人的军队，帮助逼退了叛乱分子。
That French-led effort succeeded in retaking two of the three main desert cities that had fallen to the militants, but the operation stalled in the province of Kidal. Analysts said the French Army was forced to tread very carefully there because of six French hostages who were believed to be held in the area.	在法国牵头的军事行动中，武装分子占据的三大沙漠城市被成功夺回了两座，但在基达尔省，军事行动止步不前。分析人士称，据信有六名法国人质在该地区遭到扣押，因此法军不得不谨慎以待。
That constraint was apparently lifted with the release of the last hostage, Serge Lazarevic, on Tuesday. "What is clear in my mind is that we are seeing this happen just days after Serge Lazarevic," said Jean-Paul Rouiller, director of the Geneva Center for Training and Analysis of Terrorism, who tracks the jihadist groups in Mali. "The French military can finally take the gloves off."	随着本周二最后一名人质塞尔日·拉扎雷维奇(Serge Lazarevic)获释，这种束缚显然已经解除。“塞尔日·拉扎雷维奇获释后仅仅数天就会发生这样的事，是在我们意料之中的，”日内瓦恐怖主义训练分析中心(Geneva Center for Training and Analysis of Terrorism)主任让-保罗·鲁耶(Jean-Paul Rouiller)说，他一直在关注马里圣战组织的动向。“法军终于可以卷起袖子了。”
It was not clear whether Mr. Tilemsi was involved in that attack. But according to the State Department, he has been linked to the kidnapping of several Europeans, including two Frenchmen who were abducted from a restaurant in Niger in 2011. Both of those hostages were killed.	目前还不清楚提雷姆西是否参与了那次攻击。但国务院说，他和几起欧洲人被绑架案有关，其中一起发生在 2011 年，两名法国人在尼日尔的一间餐厅遭到绑架。后来两人均遭杀害。
Colonel Jaron said the raid that killed Mr. Tilemsi was part of Operation Barkhane, the French military's effort to counter extremist groups across the region from Mauritania to Chad. There are 3,000 French	雅龙上校说，击毙提雷姆西的袭击是法军“新月沙丘”行动的组成部分，这个打击极端主义组织的行动覆盖了从毛里塔尼亚到乍得的一片地区，在那里部署了 3000 人的法国军队，该部表示。上校说，参与袭击的法国部队“与马里

troops in the region, according to the ministry. The colonel said French forces involved in the raid had "acted in coordination with Malian authorities."	政府进行了协调行动”。
"Operation Barkhane is an operation that never stops," Colonel Jaron said.	“新月沙丘’是一个永不终止的行动，”上校雅龙说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141212/c12mali	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141212/c12mali
China shocked by fatal riot in Madagascar	马达加斯加工人洗劫中国糖厂
The Chinese Embassy in Madagascar expressed shock Sunday at a deadly riot involving local workers at a Chinese-run sugar plant and criticized the island nation's government for failing to protect Chinese interests.	中国驻马达加斯加使馆周日发表声明，就当地一家中国制糖厂发生的致死骚乱，批评马国政府保护中方利益不力。
The statement came three days after local workers clashed with Madagascar security forces, leaving two people dead, before they looted the sugar plant in Morondava.	该声明发表的三天前，当地的工人和军警发生了冲突，至少两人死亡，工人们之后洗劫了穆龙达瓦的一家制糖厂。
The embassy said the Chinese staff evacuated the factory because of fears for their safety.	使馆在声明中说，中方雇员出于自身安全的担忧已经从工厂撤出。
"We hope the Madagascar government will take necessary measures to properly handle the attack at the Morondava sugar plant and to erase the ill impact this incident has brought to the country's international image and its ability to attract foreign investments so as to create a good environment for Madagascar to cooperate with China and other countries," the statement said.	“我们希望马国政府采取必要措施，妥善处理穆伦达瓦糖厂遭袭事件，消除事件对马国际形象和吸引外资造成的恶劣影响，为马达加斯加与中国和世界各国的合作创造良好环境，”声明说道。
Madagascar Prime Minister Roger Kolo and the country's industry minister, Jules Etienne Rolland, have pledged to try to resolve the situation.	马达加斯加总理罗杰·库卢(Roger Kolo)和工业部长朱尔斯·艾蒂安·罗兰德(Jules Etienne Rolland)已经表示要妥善处置骚乱。

The labor protest started when the plant's seasonal workers demanded contracts that offer better pay and better conditions, according to reports.	据报道,当地工人抗议活动爆发起因在于一些季节性短工要求中方提供更好的合同,以得到更好的收入及其他条件的改善。
The Chinese Embassy said the requests were unreasonable, and that the workers began in early November to block the factory, cutting off utilities, harassing employees and sabotaging equipment.	中国使馆称这些要求是无理的,工人们从11月初开始就封堵厂区道路,切断工厂水电,驱逐上班员工,破坏工厂设备。
Confrontation escalated after Madagascar security forces arrested two strike leaders.	在马达加斯加军警逮捕两名罢工领袖后,冲突扩大。
On Wednesday, about 500 workers rushed to a base of the security forces to demand the release of their colleagues, and police fired tear gas and live ammunition, the Madagascar Tribune reported. Two people died. Police said they were acting in self-defense because some workers had guns and machetes.	据《马达加斯加先驱报》报道,周三,约500名工人冲到当地安全部队的一处基地,要求释放他们的同事,警察发射了催泪瓦斯和实弹。两人在冲突中死亡。警方称自己的行动是出于自卫,因为一些工人持有枪支和砍刀。
The official China News Service said the workers were armed with axes, slingshots and rocks.	官方媒体中国新闻社称,工人们持有斧子、弹弓和石块。
Rioters then converged on the factory, looted its sugar supply and set fire to a building. Some looters carried bags of sugar on their backs or in carts and wheelbarrows, and some of it was quickly sold on the illegal market, according to reports.	据报道,骚乱者们之后聚集到了工厂,洗劫了糖品供给并放火烧了大楼。一些掠夺者或用背扛、或用小推车运着成包的白糖,其中很多很快就被卖到了黑市上。
China is Africa's largest trading partner, but closer ties have resulted in sometimes violent labor disputes.	中国目前是非洲最大的贸易伙伴,但这种亲密关系有时也导致了劳工纠纷。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141215/cc15madagascar	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20141215/cc15madagascar
Effort on Ebola Hurt W.H.O. Chief	埃博拉危机中,世卫组织掌门人备受指责
GENEVA — Under a stormy sky, on a boat to a G-8 summit meeting, a media-savvy Hong Kong pediatrician named Margaret Chan first met	日内瓦——在一场暴风雨中,擅长与媒体打交道的香港儿科医生陈冯富珍(Margaret Chan)前去参加八国集团(G-8)峰会的一场会议。在乘坐的船上,

her country's president, Hu Jintao. In a preview of the political maneuvering to come, he told her privately that China was considering backing her for the top post at the World Health Organization.	她第一次见到了时任中国国家主席的胡锦涛。他私下告诉陈冯富珍，中国正在考虑支持她角逐世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)的最高职位。这是随后发生的政治角力的预演。
It was Beijing's first bid to place one of its own at the head of an international agency, a signal of China's global rise. And it worked. A few months after, in late 2006, Dr. Chan won enough votes among the organization's 194 member states — by secret ballot, as always — to become its chief.	这是北京第一次争取让自己人当上国际机构的负责人，是中国在全球崛起的一个信号。这次尝试成功了。几个月后，在2006年年底，陈冯富珍通过该组织一贯采取的无记名投票方式，在世卫组织的194个成员国中，赢得了足够的选票，成了世卫组织总干事。
In what seemed a deft political move, she publicly promised to make Africa, which controls a fourth of those votes, one of her top priorities. President Hu, who was aggressively courting the continent for its resources, summed up the agency's importance by invoking what she said was a Chinese saying.	她公开承诺，把非洲作为自己的首要关注点之一，非洲国际控制着那些选票中的四分之一，这似乎是一个娴熟的政治举动。胡锦涛当时正在大力和非洲大陆搞好关系，以便获得它的资源，他用一句话总结了世卫组织的重要性，陈冯富珍说那是一句中国俗语。
"We're all in the same boat," he told her after she took office.	陈冯富珍上台后，胡锦涛对她说，“我们要同舟共济。”
Now Ebola is battering three fragile countries in Africa and with it, the W.H.O.'s standing — in large part, Dr. Chan's critics say, because she let governments around the world steer the agency to fit their own needs, instead of firmly taking the helm as the world's doctor in chief.	现在，埃博拉病毒正在三个脆弱的非洲国家肆虐，世卫组织的声誉也大受冲击。批评人士表示，部分原因在于，陈冯富珍容许各国政府左右世卫组织，满足本国的需要，而不是立场坚定地充当全球卫生领域的掌舵人。
Diplomacy is an inevitable, even necessary, part of running the world's main health organization, vital to getting to factious countries to cooperate for the sake of global health, her critics acknowledge.	批评她的人也承认，要让世卫组织运转起来，外交手腕不可避免，甚至不可或缺。要想让拉帮结派的国家为了全球健康事业协调合作，这些做法是很重要的。
But Dr. Chan, they say, has been too willing to accommodate the wishes of governments, at times reluctant to call them to task and at other times too ready to bow to the demands of donors — even when it puts the world's health at risk.	但他们说，陈冯富珍过于迁就各国政府的意愿，有时候不愿意向它们提出批评。还有些时候，她太屈从于捐赠者的要求了——即使这会给全球医疗事业带来风险。

Not until August, after 1,000 Africans had died and Ebola had spread to Nigeria, the continent's most populous country, did Dr. Chan declare the outbreak a global emergency.	直到去年 8 月，非洲已经有 1000 人死于埃博拉病毒，疫情已经蔓延到非洲人口最多的国家尼日利亚，陈冯富珍才宣布全球进入埃博拉紧急状态。
"The W.H.O. should have pulled out all the stops and said this is an emergency" much earlier, said Dr. Peter Piot, who discovered the Ebola virus 40 years ago.	"世卫组织早就应该全力以赴，宣布进入紧急状态，"彼得·皮奥(Peter Piot) 博士说。他在 40 年前发现了埃博拉病毒。
Dr. Chan's performance during a major health crisis has been attacked before. She was a public health administrator in Hong Kong when SARS, or severe acute respiratory syndrome, emerged from China and rapidly spread across the world in 2003. A year later, the Hong Kong legislature censured her for not pressing the Chinese government hard enough on the outbreak.	陈冯富珍在面临重大卫生危机时的表现，过去就遭受过诟病。2003 年，严重急性呼吸系统综合症(SARS)在中国爆发，并在世界各地迅速蔓延，当时她在香港担任卫生署署长。一年后，香港立法会谴责她在 SARS 爆发期间，对中国政府的态度不够强硬。
SARS was pivotal for the W.H.O. as well, but for the opposite reason. The agency's director general at the time, Dr. Gro Harlem Brundtland, took an unusually aggressive stance, hectoring Beijing to share more information about the disease. When it did not, Dr. Brundtland issued a global alert anyway, overriding the concerns of affected governments.	对于世卫组织来说，SARS 也是一件大事，但原因恰恰相反。时任世卫组织总干事的格罗·哈莱姆·布伦特兰(Gro Harlem Brundtland)采取了异乎寻常的积极态度，强烈要求北京分享更多的疫情信息。尽管北京未能提供这些信息，布伦特兰还是不顾相关国家的政府的保留意见，发布了全球警告。
But after taking over the W.H.O., Dr. Chan took a far more cautious approach on Ebola, leaving it to her African regional office to work with local government officials who were nervous about ringing the alarm.	但在成为世卫总干事之后，陈冯富珍对埃博拉疫情采取了一种更谨慎得多的态度，让世卫组织的非洲区域办事处与当地政府官员合作，这些官员对发出警报感到很紧张。
By the time Dr. Chan declared the Ebola outbreak an emergency, hundreds more people had died than during the entire SARS epidemic. Now, the death toll for Ebola has exceeded 8,000.	等到陈冯富珍宣布进入埃博拉紧急状态时，死亡人数已经比整个 SARS 肆虐期间多出了数百人。目前，埃博拉感染死亡人数已经超过 8000 人。
Dr. Chan defended her record on Ebola, saying that she followed protocol by leaving it to the Africa office to respond in the early months	陈冯富珍为自己在埃博拉疫情上的处理方法做出了辩护，说她在出现疫情的最初几个月里，让非洲办事处来处理疫情遵守了规程。世卫组织的区域办事

of the virus. She acknowledged that getting a grip on the W.H.O.'s regional offices, which are effectively controlled by local governments, was the most intractable political issue in the organization and that, in hindsight, she wished she had acted a little earlier to "mount a much stronger, more aggressive response."	处事实上是由当地政府控制的，陈冯富珍承认，世卫总部对区域办事处的控制权，是该组织最棘手的政治问题。而且，事后来看，她希望自己早一点“做出更有力、更主动的回应”。
Sounding the alarm can come with a price, as Dr. Chan had learned. When swine flu broke out in 2009, she was criticized for overreacting and declaring it a pandemic. While an independent review later found that she was right to do so, some critics and supporters now wonder if the experience made her gun-shy in responding to Ebola. She says it did not.	拉响警报可能会付出代价，陈冯富珍有过这方面的教训。2009年猪流感爆发时，她宣布其为“大流行”病，被人批评反应过度。尽管一个独立审查小组后来发现，她这样做是对的，但是一些批评者和支持者现在觉得，有可能就是这段经历，让她在应对埃博拉疫情时谨小慎微。她说事实并非如此。
"We are not forgiven if politicians perceive we might have gotten it wrong," said a former W.H.O. official.	“如果政治人物认为我们可能弄错了，就会揪住这件事不放，”一位前世卫官员表示。
Under Dr. Chan's leadership, the W.H.O. has also been accused of deferring to the Syrian government of President Bashar al-Assad when polio made a comeback in that country in late 2013. Nor did the agency say anything publicly about Saudi Arabia's failure to detail the spread of Middle East respiratory syndrome last year.	陈冯富珍担任总干事期间，世卫组织也受到了其他指责，一是2013年底，脊髓灰质炎在叙利亚卷土重来时，该组织对总统巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar al-Assad)领导的叙利亚政府过于顺从；二是去年中东呼吸综合症蔓延时，沙特阿拉伯没有提供任何详细资料，但世卫组织对此没有做出任何公开表态。
At the end of May, as Ebola deaths neared 200, Dr. Chan barely touched on the outbreak in her speech to the annual conclave of the W.H.O.'s 194 member states in Geneva. Instead, she addressed a host of issues dear to various governments, from cancer to sugar consumption.	去年5月底，埃博拉死亡人数接近200人。但在世卫组织的194个成员国在日内瓦举行的年度会议上，陈冯富珍在讲话中对这次疫情却并未多谈，反而谈到了各国政府关注的一些问题，比如癌症和糖消费量等。
"She has very assiduously promoted the idea that it is member states of W.H.O. that are the owners and decision makers in a fundamental way," said Nils Daulaire, the former American representative on the health	“她非常努力地宣扬一个观念：世卫组织会员国是该机构最根本的负责人和决策者，”世卫组织执委会前美国代表尼尔斯·道莱尔(Nils Daulaire)说。“我在世卫组织的无数次会议上听到陈冯富珍对与会者说，‘我是你们选举出来

organization's board. "I've been at countless meetings at W.H.O. where Dr. Chan has turned to participants and said, 'I am elected by you to lead the organization in the way you decide.' "	的，以你们决定的方式来领导这个组织。’ ”
Chatham House, in a report published in May, described the organization as unduly "politicized."	皇家国际事务研究所(Chatham House)去年5月发布报告,称该组织过于“政治化”。
"The interests of the member states bubble up and they guide W.H.O.," said Wafaa El-Sadr, a professor at the Mailman School of Public Health at Columbia University. "On the other hand, the world's expectation of the W.H.O. is that it's leading from above. That's a conflict."	“成员国总是争取自己的利益，引导着世卫组织的行动，”哥伦比亚大学梅尔曼公共卫生学院(Mailman School of Public Health)的教授瓦法阿·萨德尔(Wafaa El-Sadr)说。“但另一方面，全世界又期望世卫组织能够自上而下地发挥领导作用。这很矛盾。”
Dr. Chan had been warned about Ebola in late March, when the United Nations peacekeeping mission in Liberia sent increasingly dire cables about the virus, calling for help from Dr. Chan and others about what to do. Her office said it had no record of receiving them.	去年3月下旬，就曾有人向陈冯富珍发出过埃博拉疫情的警告。联合国驻利比里亚维和部队就发出了日益触目惊心的电报，向陈冯富珍和其他人求助，询问应该怎么做。陈冯富珍的办公室说，没有记录显示收到过电报。
But she sharply disputed the suggestion that she should have declared Ebola a global health concern earlier in the year. "If it's a matter of a few days, yes," she said, "but definitely not months ahead."	有人说她在2014年时，应该早一点宣布埃博拉是全球卫生问题。对此她极力争辩。“如果早一点指的是早几天，那没有错，”她说，“但绝对不是早几个月。”
She said she felt no pressure to play down the severity of the outbreak early on, and pointed out that the W.H.O.'s job was limited to helping governments respond better, not sending an army of health workers to do it for them.	她说，她没有受到压力，让世卫组织在早期淡化疫情的严重程度。她还指出，世卫组织的工作仅限于帮助政府更有效地做出回应，而不是派出医务人员的大军，替他们做这些事。
Trained as a pediatrician in Canada, Dr. Chan, 67, shot to prominence as a health administrator in Hong Kong in 1997 when she tried to reassure an anxious public about avian flu, famously boasting of eating chicken every day — only to quickly retract and order the culling of poultry on the island. Still, she won plaudits for her leadership at the time.	陈冯富珍67岁，在加拿大接受医学教育后成为儿科医生。她出名是在1997年香港发生禽流感疫情期间。当时，作为公共卫生主管官员，她为了安抚焦急不安的公众，自称天天都吃鸡肉，此事广为流传——但她后来迅速收回这些话，并下令扑杀家禽。不过，她当时表现出的领导力赢得了民众的赞许。

Then in 2003, SARS came from China to Hong Kong, striking the island with a vengeance and virtually shutting it down for weeks.	在 2003 年，SARS 从中国内地蔓延到香港并且大肆传播，在长达数周的时间里让香港几近瘫痪。
The Hong Kong legislature later singled out Dr. Chan for “errors in judgment,” including not pressing China for more information. Her defenders said that no amount of pressing could have made Beijing more transparent at the time.	香港立法会后来称陈冯富珍判断错误，包括没有向内地政府施压，以便获得更多信息。她的辩护者说，当时无论怎么施压，都无法让北京给予更大的透明度。
The report forced several Hong Kong officials to resign, including Dr. Chan’s boss. But by then, Dr. Chan had moved out, plucked for a senior job at W.H.O. headquarters – and then in 2006, nominated to head the agency.	该报告迫使一些香港官员辞职，其中包括陈冯富珍的上司。但那时陈冯富珍也已经离职，到世卫组织总部担任一个高级职位——然后到 2006 年，她被提名为世卫组织总干事。
In March 2009, a fatal flu strain emerged in Mexico – H1N1, known then as swine flu. By mid-June, when 73 countries had reported suspected cases, Dr. Chan convened a late-night news conference and told the world that a full-blown flu pandemic had arrived.	2009 年 3 月，一种致命的流感病毒 H1N1 在墨西哥出现，当时被称为猪流感。6 月中旬，报告了疑似病例的国家达到 73 个，陈冯富珍召开了深夜新闻发布会告诉全世界，一场流感“大流行”已经全面到来。
The fatalities turned out to be limited, but an independent review of the agency warned that the W.H.O.’s internal problems had left it unprepared for the next serious outbreak.	事后证明，这场疫情造成的死亡人数不多，但对世卫组织进行的一次独立审查报告发出了警告：机构内部存在一些问题，下一次疫情爆发会令其措手不及。
It cited Geneva’s inability to supervise its regional offices, its inability to put medical boots on the ground, and an ambiguous mandate that forced it to be “simultaneously the moral voice for health in the world and the servant of its member states,” as the head of the panel, Harvey V. Fineberg, put it.	报告援引的理由是，日内瓦总部无力统管旗下的区域办事处，无法把医疗人员派到需要的地方，而且它的职权并不明确。按照审查小组负责人霍宁博 (Harvey V. Fineberg) 的说法，它“既是全球卫生问题的道德之声，又要为成员国服务。”
These were precisely the shortcomings that Ebola would expose. But they were not addressed. Instead, because of the global financial crisis, the W.H.O.’s budget shrank severely under Dr. Chan. Donors	这些正是后来的埃博拉疫情暴露出来的问题。然而，这些问题并没有得到处理。由于全球金融危机的影响，在陈冯富珍担任总干事期间，世卫组织的预算严重萎缩。捐助者会挑选出他们愿意出钱的项目来资助。疾病防控工作大

cherry-picked what they wanted to pay for. Disease surveillance was radically pared back.	幅缩减。
Only the most “anemic” structural reforms were considered, said David Fidler, an Indiana University law professor who specializes in global health. Dr. Chan, he said, “has no enthusiasm for challenging member states with respect to controversial issues.”	予以考虑的只有最“苍白无力”的结构性改革，在印第安纳大学(Indiana University)专门研究全球卫生问题的法学教授戴维·菲德勒(David Fidler)表示。陈冯富珍博士“不喜欢在有争议的问题上挑战成员国”，他说。
Crucially, the power of the W.H.O. regional offices was preserved. Each regional head was elected by countries in the region; they in turn had the power to dole out jobs and money to those countries. They were answerable to the head office in Geneva only in theory.	至关重要的是，世卫区域办事处拥有的自主权得以保留。各区域的主任是由地区国家选出来的；而他们又有权给这些国家分配任务和资金。他们仅仅在理论上需要听命于设在日内瓦的总部。
“I was told when I wanted to push that: ‘Don’t even go down that path,’ ” Dr. Chan said.	陈冯富珍表示，“当我想要推行这方面的改革时，我被告知：‘想都不要想。’”
Then came Ebola.	后来，埃博拉疫情爆发了。
The first of the Ebola cables from United Nations peacekeepers in Liberia was sent to headquarters on March 24, with a copy to Dr. Chan in Geneva: more than two dozen people dead in Liberia and neighboring Guinea.	去年3月24日，联合国驻利比里亚维和人员首次向总部发送有关埃博拉病毒的电报，并抄送给了在日内瓦办公的陈冯富珍：在利比里亚及其邻国几内亚，已有20多人死亡。
A week later came a second cable, then a third, also from the peacekeeping mission in Liberia, each one more alarming. The virus was detected in the crowded capital, Monrovia. In a town near the border, visibly sick patients were not isolated, but living among the healthy, posing intense risks of transmission. The United Nations mission chief, Karin Landgren, appealed for “definitive advice.”	一周后，利比里亚维和部队发来了第二封电报，然后是第三封，语气越来越迫切。人口稠密的首都蒙罗维亚也出现了埃博拉病毒。在边境附近的一个城镇，明显染病的患者没有被隔离，而是与健康居民生活在一起，带来了极大的传染风险。联合国利比里亚特派团负责人卡琳·兰德格伦(Karin Landgren)请求提供“最权威的建议”。
All the while, a local W.H.O. representative reassured his United Nations colleagues that the virus would soon subside, just as it had elsewhere in	与此同时，当地的一名世卫代表却一直安慰联合国的同事，向他们保证病毒很快就会消退，就像之前在其他地方爆发的埃博拉疫情一样。

previous outbreaks.
On July 29, a cable from the Liberia peacekeeping mission chief to U.N. headquarters — also copied to the W.H.O. in Geneva — called the Ebola situation “unprecedented and rapidly deteriorating.”	7月29日，利比里亚维和部队负责人向联合国总部发送电报——也抄送给了日内瓦的世界卫生组织。文中称，这次的埃博拉疫情“史无前例、迅速恶化”。
By then, hundreds of health workers in the region had died. An infected Liberian man traveled to Nigeria by air, taking the virus with him. That was the trigger, Dr. Chan said, to assess the global risks.	到那时候，该地区已有数以百计的医疗工作者死亡。一名感染了病毒的利比里亚男子乘坐飞机前往了尼日利亚，将它传播了过去。陈冯富珍表示，正是这件事促使世卫对埃博拉的全球风险进行了评估。
“I said that, ‘Well, whether countries like it or not, I’m going to call an emergency committee to let the experts tell me whether or not the risk of international spread is there,’ ” she said.	她表示，“我说，‘好吧，无论各个国家愿不愿意，我都要召集一个应急委员会，让专家告诉我疫情是否存在国际传播的风险。’”
By August, one senior United Nations official bluntly told the secretary general’s special envoy for Ebola that the W.H.O. “has consistently been behind the curve.”	到去年8月，一名联合国高级官员坦率地告诉联合国秘书长任命的埃博拉疫情特使，世卫组织“总是慢半拍”。
That same month, the secretary general, Ban Ki-moon, told Dr. Chan that he planned to appoint a new mission to coordinate the Ebola response, a clear signal that her agency’s response had been insufficient.	同月，潘基文秘书长(Ban Ki-moon)告诉陈冯富珍，他计划指派一个新的小组协调埃博拉疫情的应对工作。这个明显的信号说明，世卫组织的应对并不充分。
“The world needs a W.H.O.,” Dr. Piot said. “But it has to become a better one. My concern is once this epidemic is over, things go back to business as usual.”	“这个世界需要一个世界卫生组织，”皮奥说。“但它必须变得更出色。我担心的是，埃博拉疫情一结束，一切就恢复如常。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150107/c07chan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150107/c07chan
China Strives to Be on African Minds, and TV Sets	中国电视媒体进军非洲
While China imposes strict controls on foreign-produced entertainment at home, it is also eager to see its cultural products embraced abroad. And in Africa, Chinese television shows have become immensely	虽然中国对国内的外国制作的娱乐严加控制，但却渴望看到本国的文化产品被国外接受。在非洲，中国的电视节目已非常受欢迎——至少据中国国家新闻媒体的报道所说。

popular — at least according to the Chinese state news media.
This week, People’s Daily, the main newspaper of the Communist Party, reported that Africans have given Chinese television shows a warm reception. It described a Ugandan taxi driver as professing his love for the Chinese romantic comedy “Let’s Get Married” as soon as the writer stepped into his cab. And it quoted a Tanzanian professor as saying that his countrymen wait in front of their television sets in anticipation of a new Chinese program.	本周，共产党的主要报纸《人民日报》报道称，中国电视节目在非洲受追捧。报道中有一名乌干达出租车司机，记者刚上了他的车，他就自报喜欢中国的浪漫喜剧片《咱们结婚吧》。报道还援引一位坦桑尼亚教授的话说，他的国人中国新节目播出前，早早地就等候在他们的电视机前了。
“More and more African peoples are gaining an understanding of Chinese society by watching contemporary Chinese television dramas, and becoming interested in China,” the article said.	报道说，“越来越多非洲人通过观看当代中国电视剧了解中国社会，对中国产生兴趣。”
Enthusiastic articles about friendly ties between China and other countries, particularly developing countries, are a common feature of state news media. But the emphasis in state news reports on the popularity of Chinese cultural products in Africa underscores the importance Chinese leaders place on winning cultural influence abroad.	关于中国与其他国家，尤其是与发展中国家的友好关系的充满激情的文章是国有新闻媒体的共同特色。但是，国有新闻媒体对中国文化产品在非洲受欢迎的报道凸显了中国领导人对在海外获得文化影响力的重视。
In 2011, only two Chinese companies participated in Discop Africa, an important annual trade show for producers, buyers and distributors in the television industry in Africa. But by 2012, the number had jumped to 10, according to Variety magazine. That same year was also the start of a vastly expanded Chinese news media presence in Africa with the state broadcaster China Central Television opening its CCTV Africa production center in Nairobi, Kenya. The state news agency Xinhua has signed partnership agreements with local news outlets in what a	2011年，只有两家中国公司参加了非洲电视节(Discop Africa)，这是非洲电视行业制作商以及节目的买家和卖家的一个重要的年度贸易展。但据《综艺》(Variety)杂志报道，到2012年，参加非洲电视节的中国公司已达10家。同年，中国新闻媒体开始大范围地扩大其在非洲的业务，国有广播机构中央电视台在肯尼亚首都内罗毕开设了央视非洲制作中心。国家通讯社新华社与当地新闻媒体签署了合作伙伴关系协议，肯尼亚一家报纸的编辑把这些协议描述为中国新闻媒体“全面魅力攻势”的一部分。

Kenyan newspaper editor described as part of “a full-on charm offensive” by the Chinese news media.
Discop estimates that there are about 42 million households with televisions in sub-Saharan Africa, a low figure given the region’s population of 840 million. However, the market is growing.	据非洲电视节估计，在撒哈拉以南非洲地区约有 42 万个家庭拥有电视机，这相对于该地区 8.4 亿的人口来说，是一个很低的数字。然而，这个市场正在增长。
The Chinese company StarTimes Media Group is riding the waves of that trend, with support from the Chinese government and funding from the Export-Import Bank of China to sell its digital TV packages in Africa. The company is building an $80 million headquarters in Nairobi, complete with a dubbing center where Chinese programs can be translated into various local languages, including Swahili. It says that it has signed up four million subscribers across Africa.	中国的四达时代传媒有限公司(StarTimes Media Group)正乘着这个趋势的潮流，在中国政府的支持下，用来自中国进出口银行的资金，在非洲推销其数字电视业务。该公司正在内罗毕投资 8000 万美元修建非洲总部，其配音中心将把中文节目翻译成各种当地语言，包括斯瓦希里语。公司称其在非洲已有 400 多万用户。
Liu Dong, a cultural attache at the Chinese Embassy in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, told People’s Daily that the five Chinese television series, including family-oriented soap operas, being broadcast in Tanzania were chosen by the embassy in cooperation with China’s national broadcast authorities and have been “very well received.”	中国驻坦桑尼亚达首都累斯萨拉姆的大使馆的文化参赞刘东对《人民日报》说，由大使馆和中国国家广播电视当局挑选的五部中国电视系列片，包括面向家庭的肥皂剧，在坦桑尼亚播出后“非常受欢迎”。
Chinese leaders have made it clear they want CCTV and other media to enhance China’s image in Africa.	中国领导人已明确表示，他们希望央视等媒体提升中国在非洲的形象。
Speaking at the opening of CCTV Africa in Nairobi in 2012, the Chinese ambassador to Kenya, Liu Guangyuan, told guests, among them the Kenyan vice president, that he wanted the network to project “the real picture of China-Africa exchanges and cooperation.”	中国驻肯尼亚大使刘光源 2012 年在内罗毕的央视非洲中心开播仪式上，对包括肯尼亚副总统在内的嘉宾说，他希望该电视网能讲述“中非交流与合作的真实故事”。
“Under the current unjust international media order, some people from a few countries are always distorting the fact of the friendly ties	他说，“在目前不公正的国际媒体秩序下，来自少数国家的一些人总是在歪曲中国与非洲友好关系的事实。”他没有指明是哪些国家。

between China and Africa," he said, without specifying which countries.
Still, some analysts suggest that Chinese news media and entertainment offerings face significant challenges in Africa.	尽管如此，一些分析人士认为，中国的新闻和娱乐产品在非洲仍面临重大挑战。
"Over all, I must say that I am quite skeptical about the popularity of Chinese media in Africa up until now," said Howard W. French, author of "China's Second Continent: How a Million Migrants Are Building a New Empire in Africa" and a former New York Times correspondent in Africa and China.	"总地来看，我必须说，到目前为止，我对中国媒体在非洲受欢迎的程度持相当怀疑的态度，"霍华德·W·弗伦奇(Howard W.French)说，他是《中国的第二块大陆：百万民工如何在非洲修建一个新帝国》(China's Second Continent: How a Million Migrants Are Building a New Empire in Africa)一书的作者，也曾是《纽约时报》驻非洲和中国的记者。
"I spent most of the summer in East Africa, and people I spoke with in several countries said that not only did they not watch Chinese TV, but that they generally didn't know other people who did, either," Mr. French said.	弗伦奇说，"我夏天的大部分时间在东非，在几个国家，和我聊过的人都说，不仅他们不看中国的电视，而且他们认识的其他人中一般也没有人看。"
One problem, certainly for news programs, is the tightly controlled nature of the Chinese news media and the "stodgy and euphemistic" delivery by anchors, he said.	他说，对新闻节目肯定存在的一个问题是，中国新闻媒体受到严格控制，主持人用"枯燥无味、不直接的语言"宣读新闻。
Though CCTV Africa's programs are presented by local journalists, the content appears very much in line with Beijing's goals of promoting a positive view of China.	虽然央视的非洲节目由当地记者主播，但其内容看似与北京提升中国积极形象的目的十分一致。
Bob Wekesa, a Ph.D. candidate at the Communications University of China, conducted a study of CCTV's current affairs discussion program "Talk Africa" and found that "all but one of the shows that relate to China is thumbs up for the image of China," which was also the most discussed single country. The United States fares less well, Mr. Wekesa found.	在中国传媒大学读博士学位的鲍勃·维科萨(Bob Wekesa)对央视的时事讨论节目《非洲论坛》(Talk Africa)做了研究，结果发现，"所有涉及中国的节目，除一个外，都对中国的形象表示赞赏"，而且中国也是被讨论最多的一个国家。维科萨发现，美国在这些节目中的表现不佳。
"Probably the two episodes during which the interviewees are not in a	维科萨在其论文中写道，"大概只在两个节目中，受访者没在抨击美国，一

U.S.-bashing position are one where a philanthropic guest is interviewed and the one about the re-election of President Barack Obama," Mr. Wekesa wrote in his report.	个是采访一位慈善家的，另一个是关于奥巴马总统连任的。”
The channel's tendency to skirt over what it deems delicate topics is unlikely to endear it to local viewers, Mr. French said.	弗伦奇说，该频道回避其认为微妙话题的倾向不太可能令其得到当地观众的喜爱。
"The problem with this is that, in a great many African countries, the media scene is quite diversified, and Africans are quite used to having problems, including 'sensitive' problems, raked over directly, with space for lots of contending points of view," he said.	他说，“这样做的问题是，许多非洲国家的媒体局面相当多元化，非洲人对直接讨论问题、包括‘敏感’问题已习以为常，不同观点争鸣的空间很大。”
"Beyond that, in most African countries, access to foreign media, whether it is the BBC, Radio France, Al Jazeera or what have you, is high. The CCTV product doesn't hold up well by comparison."	“除此之外，外国新闻报道在大多数非洲国家的渗透度很高，无论是BBC、法国电台(Radio France)、半岛电视台(Al Jazeera)，还是其他什么台。央视的产品相比之下颇为逊色。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150108/c08china-africa	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150108/c08china-africa
Groups Document Boko Haram's Swath of Destruction in Nigeria	武装分子扫荡尼日利亚北部村镇屠杀平民
DAKAR, Senegal — Thousands of buildings were burned, damaged or destroyed in northern Nigerian towns in recent days when Boko Haram militants stormed through, using scorched-earth tactics against civilians, according to a new analysis of satellite images by human rights groups.	塞内加尔达喀尔——几家人权机构对卫星影像进行的一次最新分析显示，最近几天，博科哈拉姆(Boko Haram，旧译博科圣地)的武装分子闯入尼日利亚北部的多座城镇，用焦土政策对付平民，导致数千栋建筑被焚烧、破坏或是彻底摧毁。
In a succession of attacks, fighters from Boko Haram, an Islamist insurgent group that has gripped northern Nigeria and battled the government for years, have swept through a cluster of villages along the shores of Lake Chad in a "systematic campaign of arson directed against the civilian population in the area," according to Human Rights Watch.	根据人权观察组织(Human Rights Watch)的说法，通过一连串的袭击活动，博科哈拉姆的武装分子扫荡了乍得湖附近的一片村庄，实施了“针对该地区平民的系统性纵火行动”。伊斯兰主义反叛组织博科哈拉姆已经攫取了尼日利亚北部，并与政府缠斗多年。

About 57 percent of one town, Doro Gowon, the location of a now-destroyed military base, appears to have been leveled, probably amounting to several thousand residential and commercial structures, Human Rights Watch said.	多罗戈翁城曾经有一座军事基地，现已摧毁。人权观察组织称，这个城镇约57%的地区看上去已被夷为平地，差不多相当于数千栋居民建筑和商业建筑。
Amnesty International, which has also analyzed the satellite images, said Thursday that about 3,100 buildings in the town had been damaged or destroyed, demonstrating a “deliberate attack on civilians whose homes, clinics and schools are now burnt out ruins.”	同样分析了这些卫星影像的国际特赦组织(Amnesty International)周四称，多罗戈翁约有 3100 栋建筑遭到破坏或摧毁，证明这是一次“针对平民的蓄意袭击，令这些平民的家园、医院和学校如今被烧成废墟”。
Large-scale massacres of civilians by Boko Haram shook northern Nigeria throughout 2014. About 300 people were killed in Gamboru Ngala in May, perhaps 500 died in a group of villages in Borno state in early June, an additional 120 died in Kano in November, and more than 150 died in Damaturu in December, along with numerous others.	博科哈拉姆对平民的大屠杀在整个 2014 年一直震动着尼日利亚北部。5 月，约 300 人在甘博鲁恩加拉遇害；6 月初，在博尔诺州的一些村子里，大约 500 人丧命；11 月，又有 120 人在卡诺州遭到屠杀；12 月，超过 150 人在达马图鲁遇害，在此之外还有不计其数的死难者。
In the first six months of 2014 alone, Boko Haram killed more than 2,000 civilians in northern and central Nigeria, Human Rights Watch estimated last year.	人权观察组织去年估计，单是在 2014 年的前六个月，博科哈拉姆在尼日利亚北部和中部杀害的平民就超过了 2000 人。
Some of these massacres have attracted little attention. But when militants raided the fishing village of Baga in early January, Amnesty International asserted early on that “as many as 2,000” were killed. That figure has been impossible to verify, however, because the area quickly fell under the control of Boko Haram, causing thousands to flee.	其中有些大屠杀事件并未引起多少关注。然而，当武装分子 1 月初袭击巴加镇的渔村时，国际特赦组织很快断言有“多达 2000 人”遇害。不过，这一数字无法考证，因为博科哈拉姆迅速控制了此地，造成数千人逃亡。
Witnesses agreed that many had been killed in Baga when Boko Haram came riding in, guns blazing and shooting indiscriminately at civilians, as has been their custom, at least since 2011. They said the killing began Jan. 3, after the militants overpowered Nigerian soldiers at a military	目击者认同的说法是，博科哈拉姆闯入巴加，按照至少始于 2011 年的惯例开火并朝平民胡乱射击，导致许多人遇害。他们表示，此次屠杀始于 1 月 3 日，当时武装分子制服了当地一处军方哨所的尼日利亚政府军士兵。然后，他们把目标对准了居民。

outpost there. Then the fighters turned on the residents.
But estimates of the death toll are murky. "It's not possible to get any credible figures out of there," said Mausi Segun, Human Rights Watch's Nigeria researcher. "It's impossible to even guess."	不过，死亡人数的估计仍然没有头绪。“不可能从那里得到任何可信的数据，”人权观察组织的尼日利亚研究员莫西·塞贡(Mausi Segun)表示。“连猜也没办法猜。”
Amnesty International appeared to be backing away from its initial 2,000 figure, saying Thursday that witnesses and local officials suggested that "Boko Haram militants shot hundreds of civilians."	国际特赦组织似乎在收回最初估计的 2000 人数据。它周四称，目击者和当地官员表示，“博科哈拉姆的武装分子枪杀了数以百计的平民。”
The area has suffered deadly attacks before — from both sides in the conflict.	这一地区以前也遭遇过血洗——冲突双方均曾发起袭击。
In 2013, the town of Baga was attacked by the Nigerian Army, with heavy civilian casualties. Enraged soldiers felt the populace was too close to Boko Haram at that time. Satellite images then showed that some 2,275 buildings had been destroyed.	2013 年，巴加遭尼日利亚陆军袭击，造成了大量的平民伤亡。当时，愤怒的士兵觉得那里的民众与博科哈拉姆太接近。事后的卫星影像显示，大约有 2275 栋建筑被毁。
Survivors and witnesses said about 200 people had been killed in the army massacre, leading to broad, international criticism of the Nigerian government's counterterrorism campaign in the region.	幸存者和目击者称，大约有 200 人在军队的大屠杀中丧命，使尼日利亚政府在该地区的反恐行动招致国际社会的广泛谴责。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150116/c16nigeria	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150116/c16nigeria
Egypt Conducts Airstrikes on Islamic State Targets in Libya	埃及空袭利比亚境内 ISIS 目标
CAIRO — The Egyptian military said on Monday that it had carried out airstrikes in Libya in retaliation for the beheading of more than a dozen Egyptian Christians by a branch of the Islamic State extremist group there.	开罗——周一，埃及军方称其对利比亚实施了空袭，以报复伊斯兰国极端组织的一个当地分支斩首杀害了十多名埃及基督教徒。
In a statement Monday morning, the Egyptian military said that it had conducted airstrikes at dawn against training camps and arms depots of the Islamic State group in Libya, but it did not provide further details.	周一上午，埃及军方在一份声明中说，他们清晨对利比亚境内伊斯兰国组织的训练营和武器库实施了空袭，但没有提供更多细节。新闻报道和社交媒体显示，埃及战机袭击了利比亚东部的伊斯兰教徒交战中心城镇德尔纳。该城

News reports and social media indicated that Egyptian warplanes had struck Derna, a town in eastern Libya that is a hub of Islamist militancy. It is also close to the Egyptian border, well within the range of the jets.	靠近埃及边境，是战机航程可达的地方。
The airstrikes are a dramatic escalation of Egypt's role in the continuing battle between armed factions in Libya for control of the country. With the backing of the United Arab Emirates, Egypt has worked covertly to support a Libyan general who is fighting to take back the capital and much of the coast from a rival coalition of militia groups, some of which are made up of Islamist extremists.	在利比亚武装派别争夺国家控制的战斗中，空袭行动将埃及的作用急剧升级。在阿联酋的支持下，埃及秘密为一位利比亚将领提供协助，该名将领试图从反对派民兵组织联盟手中收复首都和大部分沿海地区，而一些民兵组织由伊斯兰极端分子组成。
In a televised address late Sunday night, President Abdel Fattah el-Sisi of Egypt vowed that his country would take action to avenge the killings.	在上周日晚的一个电视讲话中，埃及总统阿卜杜勒-法塔赫·塞西(Abdel Fattah el-Sisi)誓称，埃及将采取行动，报复杀戮。
"Egypt preserves the right to respond, with the appropriate manner and timing, in order to carry out retribution on those killers and criminals who are stripped of the most basic of human values," Mr. Sisi said.	"埃及保留以适当的方式和时间做出回应的权利，以向剥夺了人的最基本价值的刽子手和罪犯实施报复，"塞西说。
The Egyptian military said in a statement issued around 8:30 a.m. that the dawn strikes were "retribution and response to the criminal acts of terrorist elements and organizations inside and outside the country."	埃及军方在一份上午8:30左右发布的声明中说，清晨的袭击是“对国内国外具有恐怖主义成分和恐怖组织的罪行的报复和回应”。
"We stress that revenge for the blood of Egyptians, and retribution from the killers and criminals, is a right we must dutifully enforce," the statement said. Egyptian state television showed footage of F-16s taking off in the dark as the statement was read on the air.	声明说：“我们强调，为埃及人流的血复仇，惩罚凶手和罪犯，这是我们的权利，必将得到忠实的履行。”声明被宣读时，埃及国家电视台配合播放了F-16战斗机在夜色中起飞的画面。
The broadcast then showed a video montage of jets, soldiers, tanks and warships, all set against a soaring musical score. It was narrated by a deep male voice, familiar to those who heard military announcements when generals seized power from President Hosni Mubarak four years	接着出现了战斗机、士兵、坦克和军舰的蒙太奇画面，伴随着昂扬的音乐。一个低沉的男性声音响起，四年前听到军方宣布从总统穆巴拉克手中接管权力的人很熟悉那样的声音。

ago.
"Honor, nation," the narrator says. "This is the slogan of men who ask for death as a sacrifice for the nation. They are men who do not know the meaning of impossible. They penetrate rocks and mountains, and they challenge difficulties. They race each other for martyrdom, on land, sea and air. Their life is a heroic epic, and their martyrdom a sacrifice for dignity and a pride for Egypt."	"光荣和祖国,"画外音说道,"这是情愿以死殉国的人信奉的口号。他们从不知道不可能为何物。他们挑战困难,金石为开。在陆地、海洋和天空,他们争相赴死,杀身成仁。他们的生命是一首英雄史诗。他们的就义,是为了尊严而牺牲,是埃及的骄傲。"
The leader of the Libyan air forces for the anti-Islamist faction, Saqer al-Joroushi, appeared on Egyptian state television and estimated that the strikes had killed "not less than 40 or 50" people.	利比亚反伊斯兰主义阵营空军司令乔罗希(Saqer al-Joroushi)出现在埃及国家电视台,他估计空袭打死了"不少于40或50人"。
Egypt's air assault came less than 12 hours after the main Islamic State group released a video online that appeared to show fighters from the group's self-proclaimed Tripolitania Province beheading more than a dozen Egyptian Christians.	埃及空袭距离伊斯兰国发布视频,显示该组织所谓"的黎波里塔尼亚省"的武装分子斩首十余名埃及基督教徒,不到12小时。
The Christians were among the thousands of Egyptians who routinely travel across the border to Libya to find work in its oil-rich economy, forging a deep connection between the two neighboring states. About 20 Egyptian Christians disappeared around the coastal city of Surt weeks ago, and last month the Tripolitania Province released a picture showing that it had captured them.	这些基督教徒来自经常跨越边境的成千上万的埃及人的行列,他们前往石油资源丰富的利比亚寻求就业,在这两个邻国之间建立了深厚的纽带。好几周前,大约20名埃及基督教徒在海滨城市苏尔特附近失踪,上个月,的黎波里塔尼亚省公布的照片显示,这些人被该省抓获。
The video of their beheadings Sunday night aroused special horror in Egypt and beyond because it was filmed with the theatrical brutality that has become a trademark of the Islamic State.	他们被斩首的视频周日晚在埃及和埃及以外的地区引发了特殊的恐惧,因视频是用伊斯兰国标志性的戏剧性残暴手法拍摄的。
Released under the logo of the Islamic State's media arm and with the title "A Message Signed With Blood to the Nation of the Cross," the	视频以伊斯兰国媒体部的名义发布,标题是"一份用鲜血签署的发给十字架国家的信息",视频显示了一排蒙面武装分子,他们身着黑衣,将仪式用刀

video appeared to show a row of masked fighters dressed in black and with ceremonial knives at their chests parading more than a dozen captives in orange jumpsuits along a Mediterranean beach in western Libya.	持在胸前，押着穿橙色囚服的被俘者，在利比亚西部地中海的海滩上行进。
Speaking in English, the lead executioner proclaimed in the video that the fighters were part of the larger Islamic State group fighting in Syria, warned that they would allow no safety to “crusaders,” invoked the American military’s burial at sea of Osama bin Laden and alluded to apocalyptic prophecies about a coming battle for Rome. The fighters then forced their captives to the ground, sawed through their necks, and let the blood darken the waves.	刽子手的头领在视频中用英语宣布，这些武装分子是在叙利亚作战的更大的伊斯兰国组织的一部分，并警告说，他们不会给“十字军”留下任何安身之地，还提到了美军海葬奥萨玛·本·拉登(Osama bin Laden)一事，以及世界末日预言中的即将到来的罗马之战。然后，武装分子把被俘者推倒在地，用刀锯断了他们的脖子，让鲜血染红了海浪。
The video appeared to show a greater degree of communication and collaboration between the Islamic State and its Libyan satellite group than Western officials had previously known.	视频所显示出的伊斯兰国及其利比亚卫星组织的联系与协作程度，看来比西方国家官员此前所知的要大。
Egypt’s airstrikes on Monday threatened to draw it further into the Libyan conflict. Islamist fighters in Libya could now seek to stage attacks across the long, lightly patrolled desert border with Egypt, or to increase their support for allied Egyptian militants already attempting to foment an insurgency here.	埃及周一发动的空袭，有使该国进一步卷入利比亚冲突的危险。利比亚的伊斯兰武装分子现在可以在两国漫长且几乎无人巡逻的沙漠边境上发动跨境袭击，或增加对与其结盟的埃及武装分子的支持，这些埃及武装分子已试图在内部煽动叛乱。
The Egyptian military gave no indication on Monday of whether the airstrikes were a one-time punishment for the killing of its citizens or the beginning of a more prolonged military effort.	埃及军方周一没有明确表示，空袭是对自己公民被杀的一次性报复、还是一场更长期的军事行动的开端。
The leaders of Libya’s internationally recognized government welcomed the Egyptian retaliation. That government has relocated to the Libyan cities of Tobruk and Bayda, not far from the Egyptian border,	利比亚得到国际承认的政府的领导人对埃及的报复行动表示欢迎。这个政府已搬到距埃及边境不远的利比亚城市图卜鲁格和贝达，并已与抵制伊斯兰教派的广泛战斗结盟。

and has allied itself with the general fighting against the Islamist factions.
At least three different groups of militants inside Libya have proclaimed themselves so-called provinces of the Islamic State, mainly through online messages and videos. Their leaders and locations are unknown.	利比亚境内至少有三个不同的武装分子组织, 主要通过网上发布的消息和视频, 宣布自己是伊斯兰国的所谓省份。这些武装组织的领导人和所在地目前不详。
Supporters of anti-Islamist factions inside Libya have increasingly used the Arabic acronym for the Islamic State to refer to all of their opponents, whether extremists, more moderate groups, or less ideological local and tribal militias who are merely allied with the Islamists.	利比亚境内支持抵制伊斯兰教派的人们越来越多地使用伊斯兰国的阿拉伯语缩写来称呼所有的对手, 不管他们是极端分子, 还是更温和的团体, 或是与伊斯兰主义者结盟、但并不那么意识形态化的地方和部落民兵组织。
The blurring of the terms for the purpose of propaganda against the Islamist-allied forces now increases the uncertainty about which positions Egypt might have sought to attack.	为了抵制以伊斯兰名义结盟的宣传目的, 混淆称呼的做法, 如今增加了埃及可能寻求打击哪些势力的不确定性。
Mr. Sisi, a former general who led the military ouster of the Islamist president here 18 months ago, has made it clear since then that he views the chaos in Libya as a danger to Egypt's own stability. Mr. Sisi's government has struggled to suppress a festering Islamist insurgency set off after the military removed President Mohamed Morsi of the Muslim Brotherhood in June 2013, and Egyptian officials say they believe that the militants move across the porous border with Libya to obtain weapons and support.	前将军塞西曾在 18 个月前领导了推翻埃及的伊斯兰教派总统的军事行动, 自那时以来, 他一直明确表示, 他认为利比亚的混乱是对埃及自身稳定的威胁。自从埃及军队于 2013 年 6 月将来自穆斯林兄弟会的穆罕默德·穆尔总统赶下台后, 塞西的政府一直在努力打击那之后发生的伊斯兰叛乱, 而叛乱则在不断恶化, 埃及官员说, 他们认为, 武装分子跨越看守不严的利比亚边境, 从另一边得到武器和支持。
Last summer, Egypt provided bases for jets from the United Arab Emirates to launch at least two airstrikes targeting Islamist-allied militias in the Libyan capital, Tripoli, when they were fighting for control of the city.	去年夏天, 埃及曾为阿拉伯联合酋长国的飞机提供基地, 当时发生过针对在利比亚首都的黎波里争夺该城控制权的、与伊斯兰教派结盟的民兵组织的两次空袭。

That was before those militias successfully took the capital and Libya broke into two rival coalitions, each with its own prime minister and government. The internationally recognized government has moved to the east, and the Islamist-allied factions have set up their own provisional government in Tripoli.	那是在民兵组织成功地控制了首都、利比亚分裂为两个敌对联盟之前，如今这两个联盟各自有自己的总理和政府。得到国际公认的政府已迁到利比亚东部，与伊斯兰结盟的派别则在的黎波里成立了自己的临时政府。
Although Egypt and the United Arab Emirates have not publicly acknowledged the airstrikes last year, officials of the internationally recognized government have said Egypt has continued to play a crucial role in their fight. In interviews last month, they said that Egypt had helped repair and supply a small air force that has been their greatest advantage against the Islamist forces.	虽然埃及和阿联酋对去年的空袭都未曾公开承认过，但得到国际承认的利比亚政府的官员说，埃及继续在他们的斗争中发挥至关重要的作用。在上个月的一次采访中，他们说，埃及曾帮助他们修复一支不大的空中力量，并为其提供补给，该空中力量一直是他们抵抗伊斯兰势力的最大优势。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150217/c17egypt	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150217/c17egypt
For the U.S. and China, a Test of Diplomacy on South Sudan	南苏丹冲突持续，考验中美外交
UNITED NATIONS — The United States may have midwifed the birth of South Sudan, the world's youngest nation. But China has quickly become among its most important patrons, building its roads and pumping its oil.	联合国——美国可以说是促成了世界上最年轻的国家南苏丹的诞生。但中国很快就成为了它最重要的资助者之一，在这个国家修建公路，开采石油。
Now, more than a year after South Sudan's leaders plunged their country into a nasty civil war, the nation has become something of a test of diplomacy between the United States and China, raising the question: Can Washington and Beijing turn their mutual interests in South Sudan into a shared strategy to stop the bloodshed?	南苏丹的敌对领导人却使自己的国家陷入了一场激烈的内战。离战争爆发如今已有一年多的时间，该国变成了对中美外交的某种考验，引发了一个重要问题：华盛顿和北京能将他们在南苏丹的共同利益转变成共同策略，从而阻止流血冲突吗？
To pressure the warring sides toward peace, the United States has circulated a draft Security Council resolution, dangling the threat of sanctions and setting up the possibility of an arms embargo	为了迫使敌对双方走向和平，美国分发了一份安理会决议草案，威胁要进行制裁，并为在未来某个时候施行武器禁运的可能性进行了铺垫。安理会最早可能会于周二对此予以表决。

somewhere down the road. The measure could come up for a vote as early as Tuesday.
China, which has long espoused a policy of not interfering in its partners' domestic affairs, has not revealed its hand. The Chinese foreign minister, Wang Yi, signaled to diplomats here last week that his government could be persuaded to back appropriate punitive measures against South Sudan. The Chinese ambassador to the United Nations, Liu Jieyi, then publicly questioned the "logic" of proposing sanctions while the two sides are talking. China could abstain from voting on Tuesday and let the measure pass.	中国长期主张不干涉合作伙伴的国内事务，目前尚未表明态度。中国外交部长王毅上周对联合国的外交官们释放出信号：中国政府可以被说服，支持对南苏丹实施适当的惩罚举措。不过，中国常驻联合国代表刘结一后来公开质疑在双方进行谈判的时候提议制裁的“逻辑”。在周二的投票中，中国可能会选择弃权，让其获得通过。
Peace talks — funded by both Beijing and Washington — are underway in Ethiopia this week between factions loyal to President Salva Kiir and his rival, former Vice President Riek Machar. Yet prospects for a breakthrough by a Thursday deadline set by the mediators appear slim. Mr. Kiir, for his part, has refused to show up.	分别忠于总统萨尔瓦·基尔(Salva Kiir)及其政敌前副总统里克·马沙尔(Riek Machar)的派系本周正在埃塞俄比亚进行和平谈判，相关费用由北京和华盛顿方面提供。调停者将周四设为最后期限，然而在这一日期到来前取得突破的希望似乎非常渺茫。基尔本人一直拒绝露面。
So far, neither Washington nor Beijing has advanced a comprehensive strategy to stop the civil war. Both nations have been hesitant to substantially defang the kingpins of the war, including imposing an arms embargo or limiting how oil revenues might be used to fund the conflict. Both measures are among the recommendations of a recent International Crisis Group report on South Sudan.	迄今为止，华盛顿和北京均没有提出一种全面策略来阻止这场内战。两国都不愿大力削弱战争中关键人物的势力，比如实施武器禁运，或者对用于战争的石油收入加以限制。国际危机组织(International Crisis Group)最近发布的有关南苏丹的报告提出的建议中包含上述两项举措。
"The ability of the United States and China to work toward a common strategy for peace in South Sudan is a test case for their ability to work together on the continent and beyond," said Casie Copeland, the Crisis Group's South Sudan expert. She described both countries as "sort of	该组织的南苏丹问题专家凯西·科普兰(Casie Copeland)表示，“从美国和中国为南苏丹的和平能够采取怎样的共同策略，可以看出两国在非洲大陆及其他地方开展合作的能力。”她称这两个国家“某种程度上还在原地兜圈子”。 walking in a circle.”

That is not for a lack of interest — or even because of opposing interests.	这并不是因为没有利益牵涉其中，甚至都不是因为两国利益相互冲突。
Although China and the United States have stubbornly been on opposing sides of the issue of Darfur, the long-suffering Sudanese region, the two superpowers share a lot of common ground on South Sudan.	虽然中国和美国在长期受难的苏丹达尔富尔地区的问题上一一直持不同意见，但这两个超级大国在南苏丹问题上有很多共同点。
China has strong economic stakes in the country; the United States is heavily invested politically. They both have an interest in restoring stability to the country and avoiding disruptions to its oil flow. Both capitals have also opted to go slowly.	中国在南苏丹有大量的经济利益，美国则在政治上投入巨大。双方均有意促使该国恢复稳定，避免石油输出中断。但这两个国家也都选择慢慢来。
Obama administration officials have deep emotional ties to South Sudan, and so far they have resisted taking any steps, like an arms embargo, that would weaken the government in Juba. As the administration’s former South Sudan envoy, Princeton Lyman, put it this week, “The position is hardening in the administration, but it has taken a while.”	奥巴马政府的官员与南苏丹有着很深的情感联系。到目前为止，他们一直拒绝采取会削弱朱巴政府势力的任何举措，比如武器禁运。就像曾任南苏丹问题特使的普林斯顿·莱曼(Princeton Lyman)本周说的那样，“奥巴马政府的立场越来越坚定，但这花费了一些时间。”
All the while, fighting between forces loyal to Mr. Kiir, an ethnic Dinka, and Mr. Machar, an ethnic Nuer, has killed tens of thousands, displaced two million people, brought the country to brink of famine and left a trail of rape and killing. The United Nations children’s agency last week said school children had been conscripted by a militia loyal to Mr. Kiir’s forces.	与此同时，忠于丁卡人基尔的部队和努尔人马沙尔的部队之间的战斗，已导致成千上万人死亡、200 万人流离失所，使国家陷入饥荒的边缘，奸淫掳掠的暴行频发。联合国儿童基金会上周表示，忠于基尔部队的一个民兵组织一直在征召学童入伍。
The United States and China have vastly different histories there. The United States championed its independence from Sudan, whose	美国和中国在这里的历史作为大相径庭。美国支持它从苏丹独立出去。美国极为厌恶苏丹总统奥马尔·巴希尔(Omar al-Bashir)，还在国际刑事法院

president, Omar al-Bashir, it loathed, and whom it referred to the International Criminal Court on charges of genocide in Darfur.	(International Criminal Court)指控他在达尔富尔犯下种族屠杀的罪行。
China, by contrast, was one of Mr. Bashir's most important allies — and still is. But when South Sudan split off, it took vast amounts of oil with it, so China soon courted the new government in Juba and kept its stake in the oil fields.	相反，中国是巴希尔最重要的盟友之一——而且目前仍然如此。不过，当南苏丹分离出来时，带走了大量石油，因此中国立即开始拉拢朱巴的新政府，并保住了自己在其油田中的利益。
That helps explain why China has taken an unusually active role, considering its traditional policy of noninterference.	这一定程度上解释了，一向奉行不干涉政策的中国，为何会在南苏丹问题上扮演不同寻常的积极角色。
It has dispatched its own soldiers to the United Nations peacekeeping mission there and persuaded the Security Council to include a most unusual mandate for the mission: Peacekeepers there are tasked with protecting not just civilians, but also the country's oil installations, which have been attacked. China has also stopped shipping arms to the government in Juba.	中国向那里的联合国维和部队派出了自己的士兵，并说服安理会赋予维和部队一项极为不同寻常的职权：维和人员不仅肩负着保护平民的使命，还要保护该国屡遭袭击的石油设施。中国也已停止向朱巴的政府输送武器。
The American-drafted resolution would impose travel bans and asset freezes on individuals who threaten the peace and security of South Sudan, including those who are accused of committing serious rights abuses, using child soldiers, and attacking United Nations personnel. It would set up a committee to evaluate who should fall on the sanctions list. The measure would raise the possibility of an arms embargo further in the future.	由美国起草的决议将对威胁南苏丹和平与安全的个人颁发旅行禁令，并冻结其资产，其中包括那些被控严重暴行的人，比如招募儿童兵及攻击联合国人员。它将成立一个委员会，来裁定谁应被列入制裁名单。该草案还会提高未来实施武器禁运的可能性。
Crucial to the effectiveness of these measures are South Sudan's neighbors, including Uganda and Ethiopia, which have ties to the rival parties. Only if the countries in the region agree to punitive measures, like sanctions and an arms embargo, Mr. Lyman pointed out, will China	对这些措施的有效性至关重要是乌干达和埃塞俄比亚等南苏丹的邻国。这些国家与南苏丹境内的竞争派系有牵连。莱曼指出，只有该地区的各个国家同意采取惩罚性措施，比如制裁和武器禁运，中国才会在安理会上表示赞同。

give its consent on the Council.
Asked why it has taken so long to propose a draft resolution on the Security Council, an American official said: "There are a lot of actors in this situation. We've been waiting for the right moment."	当被问到为何起草决议需要这么久时，一名美国官员表示：“这件事有众多参与者。我们一直在等待合适的时机。”
The official spoke on the condition of anonymity because of diplomatic protocol. "Everyone is sort of rowing in the same direction," he added.	由于外交规定，这位官员要求不具名。他还说，“目前每一方基本上在朝同一个方向使力。”
A wild card is what to do about the potential war crimes committed by both sides in the conflict. The African Union has completed its own investigation into human rights abuses, but refused to make it public while peace talks are continuing. The United Nations secretary general, Ban Ki-moon, has urged the organization to release it.	其中一个未知因素，就是要如何处理双方在冲突中可能犯下的战争罪行。非洲联盟已经完成了自身对南苏丹境内的践踏人权行为的调查，但拒绝在和谈还在进行的时候公开。联合国秘书长潘基文(Ban Ki-moon)已经敦促非盟公之于众。
United Nations investigators have chronicled a litany of horrors since fighting broke out in December 2013. "In Juba, I met people whose whole families have been executed, primarily due to their ethnicity, and women and girls who were taken as sex slaves after their husbands were killed," the United Nations assistant secretary general for human rights, Ivan Simonovic, told the Council last week, urging the panel to ensure accountability for the victims.	自 2013 年 12 月战争爆发以来，联合国调查人员报告了一连串骇人听闻的事件。“在朱巴，我遇见过主要因为民族身份而家人遭到处决的人，还遇到过在丈夫被杀后，被迫充当性奴的女性，”联合国负责人权事务的助理秘书长伊万·西蒙诺维奇(Ivan Simonovic)上周告诉安理会，并敦促它确保有人为受害者负责。
The next question will be whether China or the United States agrees to send its friends to the dock.	那么，接下来的问题是，中国或美国是否会同意把它们的朋友送上被告席。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150304/c04nations	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150304/c04nations
U.N. Votes to Sanction Those Who Block Peace in South Sudan	联合国决议制裁破坏南苏丹和平进程人员
UNITED NATIONS — The United Nations Security Council on Tuesday unanimously adopted a resolution to impose sanctions on those who disrupt efforts to restore peace in South Sudan, but it stopped short of	联合国——周二，联合国安理会一致通过了一项决议，决定对那些扰乱南苏丹恢复和平努力的人员进行制裁，但其中并未禁止交战各方购买更多武器。 barring the warring factions from buying more arms.

The resolution passed as the rival factions faced a Thursday deadline for reaching a deal at peace talks in Ethiopia, and as South Sudan's army, under mounting pressure, agreed to investigate allegations that a pro-government militia had abducted dozens of children.	周四是敌对各方在埃塞俄比亚的和平谈判中达成协议的最后期限。此外，在越来越大的压力下，南苏丹政府军同意调查亲政府的一个民兵组织被控绑架数十名儿童一事。决议就是在这样的背景下得到通过的。
Fighting between forces loyal to President Salva Kiir and rebels allied with his former vice president, Riek Machar, plunged South Sudan, the world's youngest nation, into a civil war in December 2013 that has killed tens of thousands, displaced two million civilians and left a trail of rape and execution.	南苏丹是世界上最年轻的国家。2013年12月，忠于总统萨尔瓦·基尔(Salva Kiir)的部队和与曾在他手下担任副总统的里克·马沙尔(Riek Machar)结盟的反叛部队爆发冲突，使得该国陷入内战。战争已导致成千上万人死亡，200万平民流离失所，奸淫和处决的暴行频发。
The Council's resolution does not immediately impose sanctions. Rather, it sets up a panel to identify people who are responsible for undermining the peace efforts, including by recruiting child soldiers and committing serious human rights abuses. It proposes travel bans and an asset freeze for those people, and it offers the possibility of an arms embargo further down the road.	安理会的这份决议并没有立即实施制裁，而是设立了一个委员会，来确定谁应对破坏和平努力的行为负责。这些行为包括招募儿童兵及严重践踏人权。决议提出要对这些人颁发旅行禁令、冻结资产，并为将来实施武器禁运的可能性打下了基础。
The United States drafted the measure. China, which traditionally shies away from punitive measures like sanctions, voted in favor of it. China has significant oil investments in the country.	该决议由美国起草。一向回避制裁等惩罚性措施的中国也投了赞成票。中国在南苏丹拥有大量石油投资。
South Sudan's ambassador to the United Nations, Francis Deng, said he rued the timing of the measure, which he called "counterproductive" at a time when peace negotiations were underway. "What the president and government of South Sudan need is encouragement, not condemnation," Mr. Deng said.	南苏丹常驻联合国代表弗朗西斯·登格(Francis Deng)对决议出炉的时机表示遗憾。目前和平谈判正在进行，而他认为此时通过决议只会“适得其反”。“南苏丹总统和政府需要的是鼓励，而非谴责，”登格说。
The Council measure passed just hours after the chief of South Sudan's	安理会的决议得到通过之前的几小时，南苏丹军方总负责人刚刚宣布要对亲

army announced an investigation into allegations that a pro-government militia had abducted dozens of schoolchildren. The United Nations Children's Fund, or Unicef, initially reported that 89 children had been abducted from a village in Upper Nile State as they were taking their school exams.	政府的一个民兵组织被控绑架数十名学童一事进行调查。联合国儿童基金会（United Nations Children's Fund, 简称 Unicef）最初通报，上尼罗州一座村庄的 89 名儿童在学校参加考试期间遭到绑架。
The agency later revised the figure and said hundreds might have been taken and forced to join a pro-government militia led by Johnson Oloni. Some were as young as 13, the agency said. It appealed to the government to gain their released.	该机构后来对数据进行了修正，声称可能有数百名儿童被绑走，被迫加入由约翰逊·奥洛尼(Johnson Oloni)领导的一个亲政府民兵组织。该机构表示有一些孩子只有 13 岁，并已呼吁政府将他们救出。
In a statement Tuesday, Col. Philip Aguer, the spokesman for the South Sudanese Army, known as the Sudanese People's Liberation Army, said his forces were committed to being "child free" and would look into the allegations.	南苏丹军队——苏丹人民解放军(Sudanese People's Liberation Army)——发言人菲利普·阿古尔上校(Philip Aguer)周二发表声明称，军方致力于“杜绝未成年人入伍”，会对此事展开调查。
Unicef said it believed that more than 12,000 South Sudanese children had been recruited into armed groups since the conflict began.	联合国儿童基金会表示，他们认为，自冲突爆发以来，已有逾 1.2 万名南苏丹未成年人被招入武装组织。
Those who conscript children to fight could face targeted sanctions, according to the Council's resolution. The American ambassador to the United Nations, Samantha Power, described the measure as a way to press the rival leaders to make a deal. Directing her remarks to the South Sudanese factions, she said, "You will be held to account, now, as we urge you to compromise to reach an agreement, and later, when you are considering whether to follow through on its terms."	安理会的决议称，招募儿童兵的人将会面临针对性的制裁。美国常驻联合国代表萨曼莎·鲍尔(Samantha Power)称，该决议是一种迫使敌对双方领导人达成协议的方法。鲍尔对南苏丹各个派系喊话，“无论是现在我们敦促你们做出让步来达成协议的时候，还是之后你们考率是否履行条款的时候，你们都要接受问责。”
The Chinese envoy, Liu Jieyi, called on the two sides to "stop fighting immediately." Beijing has sent the first of what is to be a full infantry battalion for the United Nations peacekeeping mission in South Sudan.	中国常驻联合国代表刘结一呼吁双方“立即停止战斗”。北京方面已经派出了首个步兵营参与联合国在南苏丹的维和任务。

The monitoring group Human Rights Watch said an arms embargo should have been included in the resolution and called on the Council to act swiftly. "Those who are responsible for serious human rights violations should now be named and slapped with a travel ban and asset freeze, and countries or corporations that arm them should be exposed," said Philippe Bolopion, the group's United Nations director.	监督团体人权观察组织(Human Rights Watch)表示决议本应囊括武器禁运的内容,并呼吁安理会迅速采取行动。该组织的联合国事务负责人菲利普·波洛皮恩(Philippe Bolopion)表示,“现在应该指认那些要为严重侵犯人权行为负责的人,对他们颁发旅行禁令,冻结资产,并且曝光那些为他们提供武器的国家和企业。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150304/c04sudan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150304/c04sudan
Trickle of Liberian Children Returning to School Reflects Lingering Ebola Fears	埃博拉阴影未褪,利比里亚学校陆续复课
MONROVIA, Liberia — A couple of dozen students sat quietly inside the C.D.B. King Elementary School's dim and dusty auditorium on their first morning back. Despite the stuffy heat, many of the children wore long sleeves and trousers that covered as much skin as possible.	利比里亚蒙罗维亚——几十名学生静静地坐着,在查尔斯金小学(C.D.B. King Elementary School)落满尘土的昏暗礼堂里面,这是他们复课的第一天早晨。尽管天气闷热,很多孩子仍然穿着长衣长裤,尽可能多地遮盖皮肤。
A second grader wore pink knit mittens that muffled the sound of his clapping when the teachers introduced themselves. As everyone rose to sing Liberia's national anthem, he saluted with his left hand, still sheathed in the mitten.	一名二年级学生戴着粉色的针织连指手套,因此老师们做自我介绍的时候,他鼓掌的声音闷闷的。大家起立唱利比里亚国歌时,他用左手行礼,但仍戴着手套。
"Ebola destroyed and devastated our land," Venoria Crayton, the vice principal, told her pupils. "It brought us sadness, it brought us pain. Some of your neighbors died, right? Some of your neighbors' children died, right? But you are here."	“埃博拉让我们的土地满是疮痍,”副校长维诺利亚·克雷顿(Venoria Crayton)对学生们说。“给我们带来了悲伤,带来了痛苦。一些邻居病逝了,对吗?邻居家的一些孩子病逝了,对吗?但是你活了下来。”
About eight months after governments in the region closed schools to stop the spread of Ebola, uniformed and backpack-carrying schoolchildren have returned to the streets of Monrovia, the capital, perhaps the most visible sign of the epidemic's ebb.	八个月前,当地政府为了阻止埃博拉病毒蔓延,关闭了学校。现在,身穿制服、背着书包的学生们,重新出现在了首都蒙罗维亚街头。这或许是疫情高峰期已过的最明显迹象。

But Liberia's on-again, off-again back-to-school campaign is also a measure of the long shadow cast by Ebola, a disease that affected almost every facet of society in the hardest-hit countries, Liberia, Sierra Leone and Guinea.	但是，利比里亚的复课行动时断时续，也体现了埃博拉产生的长期影响。在疫情最严重的国家利比里亚、塞拉利昂和几内亚，社会的方方面面几乎都受到了影响。
Though Ebola cases have all but disappeared in Liberia, with the Health Ministry saying Wednesday that the last patient in treatment had tested negative for the virus, lingering fear and a depressed economy have dampened the turnout at schools. Many have yet to reopen, having failed to meet the minimum requirements put in place to prevent transmission of the virus.	利比里亚卫生部本周三表示，最后一个接受治疗的病人，病毒检测呈阴性。然而，即便该国已经没有埃博拉病例，挥之不去的恐惧感和经济不景气的状况，也影响了学校的出勤率。因为无法满足防止埃博拉病毒传播的最低要求，很多学校尚未复课。
Many of those that have reopened are struggling. Just as Liberia's weak health care system collapsed as Ebola began raging across the country, many people here worry that the nation's schools may be ill equipped to handle even the tail end of the epidemic.	很多已经复课的学校处境也很艰难。就像在埃博拉疫情刚开始肆虐利比里亚时，该国脆弱的卫生保健系统崩溃了一样，这里有很多人担心，即便疫情已经接近尾声，该国的学校仍然缺乏足够的资源给予应对。
C.D.B. King, despite being in the center of the capital, lacks electricity and running water, and has only a few toilet stalls for a student population that numbered 1,000 before the outbreak.	查尔斯金小学尽管处于首都的中心地带，但仍缺乏电力和自来水，并且只有很少几个厕位供学生使用。疫情爆发前，该校有 1000 名学生。
Now, the school is trying to overcome those longstanding problems — and the ravages of a disease that has killed more than 9,600 people in the region.	现在，学校正在努力克服这些长期存在的问题——埃博拉在该地区已经导致逾 9600 人丧生。
Fanning herself with a sheet of paper, Ms. Crayton, the vice principal, rattled off a list of don'ts: Don't play rough. Don't exchange pencils. Don't share food. Don't spit. Don't urinate in the courtyard. Don't hide illness in the family.	副校长克雷顿一边用一张纸给自己扇风，一边列举注意事项：不要粗野打闹，不要互相交换铅笔，不要分享食物，不要随地吐痰，不要在院子里小便，家中有人生病不要隐瞒。
"If you want to live," she told the students, "don't lie about Ebola."	"如果你想活下去，"她告诉学生，"就不要在埃博拉的问题上撒谎。"

By the end of the first day of class, only about 30 students had showed up.	复课第一天到放学时，只来了大约 30 名学生。
"People are still afraid, so they are careful with their kids," said Augustus Seongbae, the principal. "Many of them are watching what happens to the kids who come first."	"大家还是很担心，所以他们在自己孩子的事情上很小心，"奥古斯·斯恩贝(Augustus Seongbae)校长说。"很多人都在观望，想看看那些一早复课的孩子会怎样。"
Fierce disagreement over whether to resume classes forced the government to change the original start date of Feb. 2 several times before finally deciding to reopen schools on a rolling basis starting on Feb. 16. The government said that with Ebola waning, many children were already playing in their communities, and that potential teaching time in the classroom was being frittered away.	对于是否应该复课，人们产生了激烈的分歧，因此政府原本定于 2 月 2 日复课的计划被迫修改了好几次，最后决定让各学校从 2 月 16 日起分批次复课。政府表示，随着埃博拉疫情缓解，很多孩子已经开始在自己的社区里玩耍，本来可以花在课堂上的教学时间白白浪费了。
But some lawmakers, education officials and parents argued that children should not go back to school until Liberia is declared free of Ebola, or 42 days after the last case of the disease — which experts say could be months away.	但一些议员、教育官员和家长认为，孩子们不应该重返校园，除非利比里亚宣布埃博拉疫情结束，而那应该是在最后一个病例治愈 42 天之后——专家表示，可能还需要几个月才能实现。
Tolbert Nyenswah, the Liberian deputy health minister in charge of the Ebola response, said Wednesday that there had been no new confirmed cases of the disease in the country for 12 days, but that officials were still tracking 102 people for possible exposure to the virus.	本周三，负责应对埃博拉疫情的利比里亚卫生部副部长托尔伯特·耶斯瓦(Tolbert Nyenswah)表示，该国已经连续 12 天没有新增确诊病例，但官员们仍在观察 102 个可能接触过病毒的人。
"We are not out of the woods yet," he said.	"我们尚未摆脱危险，"他说。
Miatta Fahnbulleh, the mother of the boy with the pink mittens, James Nyema, 9, used to send him to a private school. But because she had been unemployed for months from her job as a kindergarten teacher, she had chosen to send him to C.D.B. King, a public school. Public schools are free, though parents must pay for uniforms and other	那个戴粉色手套的男孩叫詹姆斯·耶马(James Nyema)，今年 9 岁。他的母亲米阿塔·法布莱(Miatta Fahnbulleh)以前把他送到私立学校读书。但是几个月前，她丢掉了幼儿园老师的工作，因此决定让儿子入读公立的查尔斯金小学。公立学校是免费的，但家长需要缴纳制服和其他用品的费用。 supplies.

She walked her son, known as J.C. because his middle name is Christian, to school in the morning with a blue plastic bag containing his lunch and a water bottle.	她早上步行送儿子去上学时，提着一个蓝色塑料袋，里面装着孩子的午餐和一瓶水。因为儿子的中间名是克里斯蒂安(Christian)，大家管他叫 JC。
"I told him when he was going, 'Don't deal with anybody, don't drink anybody's water, don't touch anybody,'" she said, laughing, as she came to pick up her son after lunch.	她在午饭后接儿子时笑着说，“我告诉他，上学的时候不要和任何人来往，不要喝任何人的水，不要碰任何人。”
She had dressed him in trousers and long sleeves, which he usually wore only during the rainy season — not now, the driest and hottest time of the year. She had bought the mittens at a nearby market, where they had become available during the height of the epidemic last year.	她让儿子穿上了长裤和长袖上衣，通常他只在雨季这么穿，但现在不是雨季，而是一年中最干最热的时候。连指手套是在附近的集市上买的。这种手套是去年疫情最严重时开始卖的。
"What can I do?" she said, laughing again.	她说，“我能怎么办呢？”说着，再次笑了起来。
At C.D.B. King, Ms. Crayton arrived at 6:30 a.m. on the second day of class to try to make the school safe against Ebola. No one at the school had received any direct training, so she consulted an instruction pamphlet she had received along with materials from international donors — infrared thermometers, buckets, chlorine, rubber boots and gloves, brushes and soap.	复课的第二天，克雷顿早晨 6 时 30 分抵达查尔斯金小学，试图加强学校预防埃博拉的措施。学校里没有人接受过直接培训，所以她参考了接收国际捐助物资时拿到的指导手册，那些物资包括红外体温计、水桶、氯、橡胶靴子、橡胶手套、刷子和肥皂。
She chased away local petty traders who had stored their goods overnight in the schoolyard. "This is a government school," she told one woman, who scampered away with her wares on her head.	她赶走了那些把货物存放在学校操场里的当地小商贩。“这是政府办的学校，”她告诉一个妇女，后者把货物顶在头上迅速离开了。
The school's lone security guard — who ran at least two side businesses, including renting out the schoolyard for storage and operating a prepaid cellphone card business just outside the school entrance — was put in charge of taking incoming students'	学校唯一的保安至少还兼做着其他两份副业，包括把校内的操场出租给别人存放东西，以及经营校门外不远处一个预付费手机卡摊位。现在由他负责给进校的学生量体温。学校入口和厕所之间有一些洗手位，装满了氯和水。水是从校内操场上的那口井里打上来的。 temperature. Hand-washing stations, filled with chlorine and water drawn from the well in the schoolyard, were set up at the entrances to the school and the toilets.

A teacher rang a cowbell to call the morning assembly. After the Lord's Prayer, Ms. Crayton warned her students, "Ebola is still in town, so we just want you to be very, very, very careful."	教师用一个牛铃通知大家早集合。念诵主祷文后，克雷顿告诫学生们说，“城里仍有埃博拉病毒，因此你们需要非常、非常、非常小心。”
Over the remainder of the first week, some of the pieces began falling into place at C.D.B. King. Liberia's red, white and blue flag was hoisted up in the schoolyard. The children seemed to relax, and J.C. even wore shorts by the end of the week. By Friday, about 60 students had showed up.	在复课第一周接下来的时间里，一些东西开始陆续就位。利比里亚红白蓝三色组成的国旗悬挂在校园里。孩子们似乎放松了下来，JC 甚至在第一周结束时穿上了短裤。到周五，来上课的学生达到了 60 名左右。
The cowbell set the children free. Unable to find an aunt who was supposed to accompany him, J.C. began walking home, lingering in front of stores with toys. Back home, his mother laughed when asked about her son's short pants and sleeves, with the mittens nowhere in sight.	铃声响起，孩子们放学了。本来说好由阿姨来接 JC，但 JC 没有看到阿姨，就自己开始往家走，中途他在出售玩具的店铺前磨蹭了一阵。回到家里，当被问及 JC 的短裤短袖时，他母亲笑起来，那双手套完全不见了踪影。
"We're afraid-o," she said. "Ebola is still here."	"我们很害怕的哦，"她说。"这里还有埃博拉。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150305/c05liberia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150305/c05liberia
U.N. Finds 'Alarmingly High' Levels of Violence Against Women	联合国报告：35%女性仍遭受暴力侵害
UNITED NATIONS — The evidence is ubiquitous. The gang rape of a young woman on a bus in New Delhi sets off an unusual burst of national outrage in India. American colleges face mounting scrutiny about campus rape. In South Sudan, women are assaulted by both sides in the civil war. In Iraq, jihadists enslave women for sex.	联合国——这种情况随处可见。一名年轻女子在新德里一辆公交车上遭轮奸在印度引发了不同寻常的全国愤怒。美国大学面临有关校园强奸的越来越多的审查。在南苏丹，妇女遭到内战双方的侵犯。在伊拉克，圣战者强迫妇女当性奴。
Despite the many gains women have made in education, health and	尽管在一代人的进程中，妇女在教育、健康、甚至政治权力上取得了许多改

even political power in the course of a generation, violence against women and girls worldwide “persists at alarmingly high levels,” according to a United Nations analysis that the Secretary General Ban Ki-moon is scheduled to present to the General Assembly on Monday.	善，但据秘书长潘基文周一提交给联合国大会的一项分析报告，全世界针对妇女和女童的暴力“仍维持着惊人的高水平”。
About 35 percent of women worldwide — more than one in three — said they had experienced violence in their lifetime, whether physical, sexual, or both, the report finds. One in 10 girls under the age of 18 was forced to have sex, it says.	报告发现，全球约 35% (超过三分之一) 的女性说，自己有生以来经历过暴力，有的是身体暴力，还有的是性暴力，或两者兼而有之。报告说，10% 的 18 岁以下女孩被强迫与他人发生过性关系。
The subject is under sharp focus as delegates from around the world gather here starting on Monday to assess how well governments have done since they promised to ensure women’s equality at a landmark conference in Beijing 20 years ago — and what to do next.	随着来自世界各地的代表周一聚集这里，开始评估各国政府在兑现他们 20 年前在北京的一次具有里程碑意义的会议上所做的确保妇女平等的承诺上做得如何、以及下一步该怎么做，这个问题成为大家关注的焦点。
Hillary Rodham Clinton, who attended the Beijing conference in 1995, is scheduled to speak on Tuesday.	希拉里·罗德姆·克林顿(Hillary Rodham Clinton)出席了 1995 年的北京世界妇女大会，她预定将于周二在这里发表讲话。
Since the Beijing conference, there has been measurable, though mixed, progress on many fronts, according to the United Nations analysis.	据联合国的分析，自从北京会议以来，在许多方面取得了可衡量的、但程度不一的进展。
As many girls as boys are now enrolled in primary school, a sharp advance since 1995. Maternal mortality rates have fallen by half. And women are more likely to be in the labor force, though the pay gap is closing so slowly that it will take another 75 years before women and men are paid equally for equal work.	目前在小学就读的女孩人数与男孩人数相同，这是 1995 年以来的一大进步。孕产妇死亡率下降了一半。女性参加工作的可能性更大了，虽然工资差距在缩小，但速度非常之慢，如此下去，将需要再有 75 年，才能实现男女同工同酬。
The share of women serving in legislatures has nearly doubled, too, though women still account for only one in five legislators. All but 32 countries have adopted laws that guarantee gender equality in their	在立法机构担任职务的妇女人数也几乎翻了一番，虽然女性仍只占立法者的五分之一。除了 32 个国家，其他所有国家都在其宪法中引入了保障性别平等的条款。

constitutions.
But violence against women — including rape, murder and sexual harassment — remains stubbornly high in countries rich and poor, at war and at peace. The United Nations’ main health agency, the World Health Organization, found that 38 percent of women who are murdered are killed by their partners.	但是，针对妇女的暴力行为——包括强奸、谋杀和性骚扰——仍居高不下，不论是在富国还是在穷国，也不论是在战争环境或和平环境中。联合国的主要健康机构世界卫生组织发现，38%的被谋杀女性是被其伴侣杀害的。
Even as women’s groups continue to push for laws that criminalize violence — marital rape is still permitted in many countries — new types of attacks have emerged, some of them online, including rape threats on Twitter.	尽管妇女团体继续推动将暴力行为定为犯罪的法律，在许多国家仍允许婚内强奸，而且新的侵犯类型不断涌现，有的是在网上，包括在 Twitter 上发出强奸的威胁。
Where there are laws on the books, like ones that criminalize domestic violence, for instance, they are not reliably enforced.	虽然制定了一些法律，比如将家庭暴力定为刑事犯罪，但这些法律并没有得到可靠的执行。
The economic impact is huge. One recent study found that domestic violence against women and children alone costs the global economy $4 trillion.	对经济的影响是巨大的。最近的一项研究发现，仅是针对妇女和儿童的家庭暴力这一项，就给全球经济造成了四万亿美元(相当于 25 万亿元人民币)的代价。
“Over all, as you look at the world, there have been no large victories in eradicating violence against women,” said Valerie M. Hudson, a professor of politics at Texas A & M University who has developed world maps that chart the status of women. The vast majority of countries, by her metrics, do not have laws that protect women’s physical safety.	得克萨斯州农工大学(Texas A & M University)政治学教授瓦莱丽·M·哈德逊(Valerie M. Hudson)说，“总的来看，在世界范围内，在消除针对女性的暴力行为上，没有大的胜利。”哈德逊制作了跟踪全球妇女地位的世界地图，从她的指标来看，绝大多数国家没有保护妇女人身安全的法律。
In some cases, the laws on the books are the problem, women’s rights advocates say. In some countries, like Nigeria, the law permits a man to beat his wife under certain circumstances. But even when laws are technically adequate, victims often do not feel comfortable going to law enforcement, or they are unable to pay the bribes required to file a	妇女权利倡导者说，在某些情况下，法律的本身有问题。在一些国家，比如尼日利亚，法律允许男人在某些情况下殴打妻子。但是，即使原则上有足够的法律，但受害人常常不能无忧无虑地寻求法律保护，或者他们不能支付报警所需的贿赂。

police report.
Phumzile Mlambo-Ngcuka, the executive director of the United Nations agency for gender equity and women’s empowerment – known as UN Women – said that for the laws to mean anything, governments around the world have to persuade their police officers, judges and medical personnel to take violence against women seriously.	联合国促进性别平等和增加妇女权能署（联合国妇女署）的执行主任普姆齐莱-姆兰博-恩格库卡(Phumzile Mlambo-Ngcuka)说，为了让法律有实效，世界各国政府必须让该国的警察、法官和医务人员认识到侵害妇女行为的严重性。
“I am disappointed, I have to be honest,” she said about the stubborn hold of violence against women. “More than asking for more laws to be passed, I’m asking for implementation.”	提到针对女性的暴力行为持续不断时，她说，“我很失望，我必须说实话。比要求制定更多的法律更重要的是，我要求看到法律的实施。”
According to Equality Now, an advocacy group that tracks laws pertaining to women, 125 countries specifically criminalize domestic violence. But so-called wife-obedience laws still remain in some places. In some others, rapists can get off the hook by marrying those they assault.	据跟踪有关妇女立法的倡导组织“现在就平等”(Equality Now)，125个国家有将家庭暴力定为犯罪的具体法律。但是，所谓的妻子顺从法仍保留在一些地方的法律中。在某些地区，强奸犯可以通过娶遭受他们侵犯的人而逃避惩罚。
Yasmeen Hassan, the group’s executive director, said that governments need to be reminded that they committed to making their laws fair for women. Cultural differences cannot be an excuse, she said. “It’s always a cop-out for governments to not do what they signed up to do,” she said.	该组织的执行主任雅思敏·哈桑(Yasmeen Hassan)说，有必要提醒各国政府，他们曾承诺为女性制定公平的法律。她说不能以文化不同为借口。她说，“文化不同一直是政府不兑现他们所做承诺的站不住脚的借口。”
The new round of global development targets that governments around the world will have to agree to later this year, known as Sustainable Development Goals, includes a separate requirement for women’s equal rights, including how they protect their female citizens from violence.	世界各国政府在今年晚些时候将对新一轮的全球发展目标、也就是“可持续发展目标”达成共识，目标中有对妇女平等权利的单独要求，包括政府如何保护其女性公民不受暴力侵犯。
The latest United Nations report draws attention to the rise of	联合国的最新报告提请人们注意“极端主义和保守主义”的上升，但没有点任

"extremism and conservatism," and without naming any countries or groups, it argues that what they share is a "resistance to women's human rights." The assaults and abductions by the Islamic State have brought new urgency to the issue.	何国家或组织的名字，报告认为这些现象的共享特征是“抵制妇女的人权”。伊斯兰国的袭击和绑架给这个问题带来了新的紧迫感。
Ms. Hudson, the academic, said the persistence of violence in so many forms is in part because it can establish domination against women of all kinds, for a broad range of personal and political purposes. A husband can just as easily beat his wife if she is a high school dropout or a college graduate. An entire territory can be claimed if fighters rape the local women — or take them as sex slaves, as is the case of the Islamic State.	从事学术研究的哈德逊说，多种形式的暴力之所以能持续，是因为，出于一个大范围的个人及政治目的，暴力能建立针对各种女性的统治。不管妻子是高中辍学生、还是大学毕业生，丈夫都可以很轻而易举地打妻子。如果武装分子强奸当地妇女、或迫使她们充当性奴，他们就可以声称占领了整片领土，正如伊斯兰国所做的那样。
"I think violence against women is so darn useful," she said. "That's why it'll be so hard to eradicate."	哈德逊说，“我觉得，针对妇女的暴力有这么糟糕的用途，这就是为什么这种暴力很难根除的原因。”
Violence can start before birth. Sex-selective abortions, have been reduced in some countries, as in South Korea, but are higher than ever in other places, like India, and are going up sharply in places like Armenia.	这种暴力能在出生之前就发生。性别选择性堕胎虽然在有些国家、比如韩国已有所降低，但在其他地方、比如印度却比以往任何时候都高，而在像亚美尼亚这样的地方正在大幅上升。
Harassment is commonplace. In the United States, 83 percent of girls aged 12 to 16 said they had experienced some form of harassment in public schools. In New Delhi, a 2010 study found that two out of three women said they were harassed more than twice in the last year alone.	骚扰则是家常便饭。在美国，12岁至16岁女孩中有83%表示，她们曾在公立学校里经历过某种形式的骚扰。2010年的一项研究发现，在新德里，有三分之二的女性表示，她们仅在过去年的一年中，就受到过两次以上的骚扰。
Violence against women is often unreported. For instance, a study conducted in the 28 countries of the European Union found that only 14 percent of women reported their most serious episode of domestic violence to the police.	针对妇女的暴力往往没有报案。比如，在欧盟28个国家进行的一项研究发现，只有14%的女性将她们所经历的最严重的家庭暴力向警方报了案。

“ Violence against women has epidemic proportions, and is present in every single country around the world,” said Lydia Alpizar, executive director of the Association for Women’s Rights in Development, a global feminist group. “ Yet it is still not a real priority for most governments.”	“针对女性的暴力已经上升到流行病的程度，而且世界上每个国家都有这个问题，”全球女权组织“妇女权利发展协会”(Association for Women’s Rights in Development)执行主任丽迪雅·阿尔皮扎尔(Lydia Alpizar)说。“然而，这对大多数政府来说仍不是真正的首要问题。”
Perhaps the biggest change in 20 years, say those who attended the 1995 Beijing conference, is that the subject is now front and center in public discussion.	参加过 1995 年北京世界妇女大会的人说，也许 20 年来最大的变化是，这个主题现在处于公众讨论的重要位置。
“There is actually a great deal more attention being paid today to violence against women,” said Charlotte Bunch, a feminist scholar who attended the Beijing conference. “The truth is, it’s a complex issue that isn’t solved easily.”	“如今，针对妇女的暴力行为其实已得到更大程度的重视，”曾出席北京会议的女权主义学者夏洛特·邦奇(Charlotte Bunch)说。“实际情况是，这是一个不容易解决的复杂问题。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150310/c10women	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150310/c10women
American and British Aid Workers Infected With Ebola in Sierra Leone	美英两名医护人员西非感染埃博拉
An Ebola aid worker from the United States and another from Britain have been infected with the deadly virus in Sierra Leone, health officials said Thursday, a reminder that the epidemic that has ravaged West Africa for the past year is far from over.	卫生官员周四表示，美国和英国各有一名埃博拉援助工作者，在塞拉利昂感染了这种致命性病毒。这提醒人们，过去一年肆虐西非的疫情远未结束。
The National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., said the American, who was not identified, became infected while working at a treatment center and had been ordered flown back to the United States in isolation in a chartered plane.	位于马里兰州贝塞斯达的美国国家卫生研究院 (National Institutes of Health, 简称 NIH) 表示，那名美国人是在一家治疗中心工作期间被感染的，而且已有一架包机奉命将该人接回美国进行隔离。NIH 并未透露这名感染者的身份。
The worker will be admitted Friday to the hospital at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, the institute said in a statement.	国家卫生研究院在一份声明中表示，这名工作人员将于周五入住该院位于贝塞斯达的医院。
The N.I.H. hospital has treated one other Ebola patient: Nina Pham, a	NIH 的医院治疗过另一名埃博拉患者，在护理达拉斯的一名利比亚患者期

nurse infected while caring for a Liberian patient in Dallas. She recovered. Two other health workers with possible exposure to the virus were also treated at N.I.H., but turned out not to be infected.	间，受到感染的护士妮娜·范(Nina Pham)。她康复了。另外两名可能接触过该病毒的医护人员也在 NIH 接受过治疗，但后来证明均未被感染。
Emory University Hospital in Atlanta and Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha have also successfully treated American health workers who were infected in Africa and flown back to the United States.	亚特兰大埃默里大学医院(Emory University Hospital)和奥马哈的内布拉斯加大学医学中心(University of Nebraska Medical Center)也成功治愈了几名在非洲感染后回国的美国医务人员。
Earlier Thursday, British officials said a Royal Air Force plane left Sierra Leone carrying three British military health workers, of whom one has tested positive for Ebola. The other two were under observation for signs of infection, officials said.	周四早些时候，英国官员称，英国皇家空军(Royal Air Force)的一架飞机已经带着英国军方的三名医护人员离开塞拉利昂。他们中有一人在埃博拉病毒检测中呈阳性。官员们称，另外两人正在被观察是否有受感染的迹象。
All three will be taken to the Royal Free Hospital in northwest London, which has a specialized isolation unit to treat Ebola patients. Two nurses, the only other Britons who have contracted the virus, survived infection last year after being treated at the hospital.	三人都将被送到伦敦西北部的皇家自由医院(Royal Free Hospital)，该院拥有救治埃博拉病人的专用隔离单元。去年，另外两名感染过埃博拉病毒的英国人——两名护士——曾在这家医院接受治疗并康复。
Up to 700 British military personnel have been deployed in Sierra Leone to help combat Ebola.	多达 700 名英国军方人员部署在塞拉利昂，帮助抗击埃博拉疫情。
The World Health Organization said Thursday that the number of deaths in the Ebola epidemic that has afflicted Guinea, Liberia and Sierra Leone had surpassed 10,000.	世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)周四称，在肆虐几内亚、利比里亚和塞拉利昂的埃博拉疫情中，已有超过 1 万人死亡。
While the number of new cases has fallen drastically in all three countries in recent months — and reached zero in Liberia last week — the transmission of the disease has been a resilient problem in the other two.	最近几个月，这三个国家的新增病例数量出现了大幅下降，上周，利比里亚的新增病例数量为零。但是埃博拉的传播在另外两个国家仍然是一个挥之不去的问题。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150313/c13ebola	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150313/c13ebola
Nigeria's Fight Against Boko Haram Gets Help From South African	多国雇佣军尼日利亚打击博科哈拉姆

Mercenaries
DAKAR, Senegal — Hundreds of South African mercenaries and hired fighters of other nationalities are playing a decisive role in Nigeria's military campaign against Boko Haram, operating attack helicopters, armored personnel carriers and fighting to retake towns and villages captured by the Islamist militant group, according to senior officials in the region.	塞内加尔达喀尔——来自南非及其他国家的成百上千名雇佣军，正在尼日利亚打击博科哈拉姆（Boko Haram，旧译“博科圣地”）的军事行动中发挥关键作用，该地区的高级官员透露。雇佣军驾驶着轰炸直升机和装甲运兵车，努力在战斗中夺回被这个伊斯兰极端组织占领的城镇和村庄。
The Nigerian government has not acknowledged the presence of the mercenaries, but a senior government official in northern Nigeria said the South Africans — camped out in a remote portion of the airport in Maiduguri, the city at the heart of Boko Haram's uprising — conduct most of their operations at night because “they really don't want to let people know what is going on.”	尼日利亚政府没有承认这些雇佣军的存在，但尼日利亚北部的一名高级政府官员说，那些南非人的行动，多数是在夜间开展的，因为“他们真的不想让人们知道他们在干什么”。他们驻扎在迈杜古里机场的一个偏僻角落，迈杜古里位于博科哈拉姆叛乱的中心。
He said the mercenaries' role was crucial, part of a new offensive against Boko Haram after a nearly six-year insurrection. The Nigerian military, under pressure because of a presidential election to be held this month, has recently claimed a string of successes against Boko Haram, boasting about the recapture of a number of towns.	他说，雇佣军起到了关键的作用，在近六年的叛乱之后，他们是打击博科哈拉姆的最新攻势中的一部分。由于本月即将举行总统选举，尼日利亚军方面面临着压力，因而在打击博科哈拉姆的行动中取得了一系列胜利。军方炫耀称夺回了多座城镇。
The mercenaries “are in the vanguard in the liberation of some of the communities,” said the official, speaking on condition of anonymity for fear of reprisals.	雇佣军“作为先头部队帮助夺回了一些社区”，这名官员说。由于担心报复，他要求匿名。
A senior Western diplomat confirmed that the South Africans were playing “a major operational role,” particularly at night. Equipped with night vision goggles, the mercenaries “are whacking them in the evening hours. The next morning the Nigerian Army rolls in and claims	一名西方高级外交官证实，南非人扮演了“主要的战斗角色”，在夜里尤其如此。装配有夜视镜的雇佣军“在晚间重创敌人。第二天早上，尼日利亚陆军再大举进城，宣布取得胜利，”这名外交官称。 success," the diplomat said.

The mercenaries "are doing the heavy lifting," said the diplomat, who was not authorized to speak publicly on the matter. "They own the night."	这些雇佣军“承担着一些繁重的任务”，这名外交官说。“他们在夜里所向披靡。”这名外交官没有公开讨论此事的权限。
Another diplomat, also unauthorized to speak on the matter, said he believed the mercenary force was composed of fighters from several countries but mainly South Africa.	另一名外交官称，他认为雇佣军中的武装分子来自多个国家，但主要来自南非。此人同样无权公开谈论该问题。
The Nigerians' assertions of making headway follow months in which portions of the country's territory were lost to Boko Haram, an Islamist militant group that has stormed into villages, killing civilians at random, abducting women and girls at will, and forcing tens of thousands of residents to flee across the country's northeast.	在尼日利亚宣布取得胜利之前的几个月里，博科哈拉姆夺取了该国的部分领土。这个伊斯兰极端组织冲进了多个村庄，肆无忌惮地杀害平民，恣意绑架妇女和女童，迫使该国东北部成千上万的居民逃离家园。
The war against Boko Haram has become a regional one, with Chad, Niger, Cameroon and Benin agreeing to contribute troops to an 8,700-member force to fight the militants. Attacks by Boko Haram have increasingly spilled across borders in the region, prompting Chad to strike at the group inside Nigerian territory.	打击博科哈拉姆的行动已经变成了一场地区性战争，乍得、尼日尔、喀麦隆和贝宁均同意派兵，组成一支 8700 人规模的部队，与极端分子作战。博科哈拉姆在该地区发起的攻击，也越来越多地跨越了国界，促使乍得在尼日利亚境内打击该组织。
According to the senior Nigerian official, the South Africans mercenaries have played a significant role in the recent change of momentum in the military effort against Boko Haram.	据前述尼日利亚高官透露，在最近打击博科哈拉姆的军事行动中，战况发生了变化，南非雇佣军在其中发挥了重要作用。
"They are on the ground; I have seen them," he said. "They came in with much more sophisticated equipment than the military. Thanks to their involvement the tide is turning. I believe because of them we will witness a seismic shift."	"他们就在战场上，我看到过他们，"他说。"他们携带的装备比政府军精良得多。多亏了他们的参与，形势正在扭转。我相信因为有了他们，我们会目睹一场剧变。"
South African news organizations have carried a number of reports	自 1 月以来，南非新闻机构刊登了大量有关前武装部队成员前往尼日利亚的

since January about former members of its armed forces traveling to Nigeria. Some other news reports have said that mercenaries from former Soviet republics have also been enlisted. One South African contractor said in an email to The New York Times that among the foreign fighters were Ukrainian helicopter pilots.	报道。其他一些新闻报道称,来自前苏联加盟共和国的雇佣军也应征加入了。一名南非承包商在写给《纽约时报》的一封电子邮件中表示,外国作战人员中有乌克兰直升机飞行员。
South Africa's Foreign Affairs and Defense Ministries did not respond to requests for comment, but in an implicit acknowledgment of the mercenaries' presence in Nigeria, the South African defense minister has said that mercenaries fighting abroad will be arrested on their return to South Africa.	南非外交部和国防部未答复置评请求,但南非国防部长表示,在海外作战的雇佣军一回到南非便会被捕,含蓄地承认了尼日利亚存在南非雇佣军。
In Washington, Nigeria's chief of defense intelligence, Rear Adm. Gabriel E. Okoi, said in an interview Wednesday that South African contractors had been hired in recent months to help train Nigerian troops. But he said he was unaware of any current or former members of South Africa's military or security services hired to engage in active fighting against Boko Haram.	尼日利亚负责国防情报事务的海军少将加布里尔·E·奥科伊(Gabriel E. Okoi)周三在华盛顿接受采访时称,最近几个月,尼日利亚雇佣了南非承包商协助训练尼日利亚部队。但他表示自己不知道有南非军方或安全部队的现役成员或前成员,受雇参与当前打击博科哈拉姆的战斗。
Calls and messages to other Nigerian defense officials were not answered this week.	本周打给尼日利亚其他国防官员的电话,以及发给他们的讯息均未收到答复。
On Wednesday, the death by friendly fire of a South African mercenary in Nigeria was reported by South Africa's Netwerk24 and Daily Maverick, and there have been several articles in the Nigerian press in recent weeks on the subject. But until now, no senior official in Nigeria has confirmed their presence.	周三,南非 Netwerk24 和《独行者日报》(Daily Maverick)报道称,尼日利亚的一名南非雇佣军死在了友军的炮火下。最近几周,尼日利亚媒体上也多篇关于这一主题的报道。但截至目前,尚无尼日利亚高官证实他们的存在。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150313/c13nigeria	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150313/c13nigeria
19 Killed in Attack at Tunisia Museum; 2 Gunmen Dead After Firefight	突尼斯人质事件 19 人丧生,两枪手被毙

CAIRO — Gunmen in military uniforms attacked an art museum in downtown Tunis on Wednesday, killing 19 people officials said. Security forces later advanced into the museum and killed two gunmen in a firefight, state television reported.	开罗——突尼斯官方称，身着军装的持枪者周三袭击了首都突尼斯市中心的一座艺术博物馆，打死 19 人。国家电视台报道，安全部队随后冲进博物馆，在交战中杀死了两名枪手。
Prime Minister Habib Essid said in a news conference that security forces killed two gunmen inside the building, the National Bardo Museum, but that two or three accomplices might still be at large. There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the attack, but supporters of the militant group Islamic State celebrated the attack in social media postings.	总理哈比卜·埃西德在新闻发布会上通报，安全部队在国家巴尔多博物馆大楼内打死两名枪手，但是可能还有两至三名同谋在逃。没有人立即宣称为此次攻击负责。但是伊斯兰国的支持者在社交媒体上对攻击表示庆祝。
Mr. Essid said that 17 foreign visitors were killed, including Polish, Italian, Spanish and German tourists, and that two Tunisians were killed, one of them a member of the security forces. At least 20 others were injured.	总理埃西德说死者包括 17 名外国游客，其中包括波兰人、意大利人、西班牙人、德国人，以及两名突尼斯人，其中一人是突尼斯安全部队成员。另有至少 20 人受伤。
Tunisian officials said earlier that the attackers had killed nine people and taken 10 hostages, but after security forces entered and retook the museum about three hours later, the death toll increased to 19, raising questions about how and when the 10 hostages had died.	突尼斯官员较早前说，攻击者杀了 9 个人，并劫持了 10 名人质，但是三小时后在安全部队进入并控制了博物馆后，死亡人数上升至 19 人，引发外界关注 10 名人质是何时以及如何被害。
The attack reportedly began around noon or shortly after, at a time when hundreds of visitors were on their way into the museum. Interior ministry officials said the gunmen were armed with grenades and assault rifles.	据报袭击开始于中午时分或之后不久，当时几百名游客正在进入博物馆。内政部官员说，枪手持有手榴弹和步枪。
Helicopters buzzed over the area in the afternoon, and Tunisian state television said they were evacuating people from the area, possible including those injured in the attack.	下午，有直升机出现在事发区域上空。突尼斯国家电视台称，直升机正在从该区域撤出人员，可能包括伤者。

The site, the Bardo National Museum, is near the national Parliament in downtown Tunis. By early afternoon the Parliament building had been evacuated, and police officers surrounded the area in a standoff with the gunmen.	巴尔多国家博物馆在突尼斯市中心，靠近国会。午后，国会已经疏散。警方包围了事发地区，与劫匪对峙。
The identity and motivation of the attackers were not immediately clear.	袭击者的身份和动机尚不明。
Officials said it was possible that the Parliament, rather than the museum, was the original intended target of the attack; some reports said that legislators were discussing an antiterrorism law on Wednesday.	官员称，议会可能原本是袭击目标。一些报道说，议员们周三正在讨论一部反恐怖主义法案。
Tunisia was the country where the Arab Spring revolts against autocratic rule began four years ago.	四年前反独裁的阿拉伯之春就是在突尼斯发源的。
Of all the countries affected, Tunisia has made the most successful transition toward democracy, recently completing presidential and parliamentary elections and a peaceful rotation of political power. Security forces have struggled against occasional attacks by Islamic extremists, but they have usually occurred in mountainous areas far from the capital.	革命波及的各国之中，突尼斯的民主转型最成功，最近完成了总统和国会的选举，以及政权的和平交替。本国安全力量不时需要应对伊斯兰派极端分子的攻击，但一般都发生在远离首都的山区。
Recruiters for the Islamic State militant group, also known as ISIS or ISIL, have sought to take advantage of the new level of freedom after the revolution, as well as the economic disruptions, high youth unemployment and resentment of the country's often abusive police force, which is left over from the old authoritarian order. Those factors have helped make Tunisia one of the biggest sources of foreign fighters joining the Islamic State's fight in Syria and Iraq.	为伊斯兰国招募兵源的人利用了革命之后更高层次的自由，也在利用当地经济动荡、青年高失业率和民众对警察滥用权力的愤怒。突尼斯警察部队是革命前独裁政权遗留下来的。这些因素加在一起，让突尼斯成了伊斯兰国在叙利亚和伊拉克作战时最大的外国兵源输出国。

In a video that circulated online last December, three Tunisian fighters with the Islamic State are heard warning that Tunisians would not live securely "as long as Tunisia is not governed by Islam." One of the fighters who appeared in the video was Boubakr Hakim, a suspect wanted in connection with the 2013 assassination of a left-leaning Tunisian politician, Chokri Belaid.	在一段去年 12 月在网上流传的视频中，可以听到伊斯兰国的三名突尼斯战士发出的警告，他们说，“只要突尼斯不在伊斯兰统治之下”，突尼斯人就不能安居。出现在视频中的三人之一是布巴卡尔·哈基姆(Boubakr Hakim)，他是被通缉的犯罪嫌疑人，与突尼斯政治人士肖克里·贝莱德(Chokri Belaid)2013 年被暗杀有关。
As the assault on the museum unfolded on Wednesday, supporters of the Islamic State circulated the video again on social media, celebrating the attack as a fulfillment of that warning.	随着袭击博物馆事件在周三展开，伊斯兰国的支持者将那段视频再次传到社交媒体上，称赞袭击实现了上述警告。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150318/c18tunisia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150318/c18tunisia
Gunmen Mount Deadly Attack on University in Kenya	肯尼亚校园袭击者疑是索马里极端组织青年党
NAIROBI, Kenya — Gunmen attacked a university in eastern Kenya early Thursday and killed at least 147 people, according to news media reports, as they fought with armed officers and forced their way into student dormitories, the police said.	肯尼亚内罗毕——据当地媒体报道，枪手周四早上袭击了肯尼亚东部一所大学，致至少 147 人死亡。警方称，枪手与警察发生枪战，并攻入了学生宿舍。
More than six hours after the attack began, security forces were still battling to retake control of Garissa University College and students remained trapped in college buildings, witnesses and officials said.	据目击者和官方报告，事发六个多小时后，安全部队仍然与歹徒激战，努力夺回贾瑞沙大学(Garissa University College)，但仍有学生困在学校大楼内。
A statement by the United States Embassy in Nairobi said that "according to the reports, there have been explosions and heavy gunfire at the school; hostages have been taken and Al Shabab has claimed responsibility for the attack."	美国驻内罗毕使馆一份声明说：“根据报道，当地发生了爆炸，有密集枪声；有人质被劫持。青年党已声称袭击是他们所为。”2013 年，这个伊斯兰派极端组织袭击内罗毕一家商场，造成 67 人死亡。
The National Disaster Operation Center of Kenya said 65 people had been admitted to a hospital as a result of the attack at Garissa University College, most with gunshot wounds. Four critically wounded people	肯尼亚国家灾难行动中心说，贾瑞沙大学的袭击已致使 65 人被送往一家医院治疗，其中多数人受了枪伤。该中心在 Twitter 上说，另有四名重伤者已被飞机送往首都内罗毕抢救。

were airlifted to Nairobi, the capital, for treatment, the center said on Twitter.
The attack began around 5:30 a.m., with gunmen shooting at guards at a main gate at Garissa University College in eastern Kenya, about 100 miles from the border with Somalia, according to a written statement from the Kenyan National Police Service. Police officers guarding the campus "responded swiftly and engaged the gunmen in a fierce shootout, however the attackers retreated and gained entry into the hostels," the statement said.	肯尼亚警方书面声明说，袭击发生在早上5点30分左右。枪手在肯尼亚东部贾瑞沙大学门口开枪袭击安保人员。事发地距索马里边境约100英里。声明说，校园警察“迅速还击，发生了激烈枪战，但袭击者后撤，闯入了学生宿舍。”
Security services were trying to force the gunmen out of the dormitories, the police said Thursday morning. Around 11 a.m., three of four student hostels had been evacuated, and "the attackers have been cornered in one hostel," the Interior Ministry said on Twitter.	周四早上警方说，安保部队力图逼迫枪手离开宿舍。11点左右四座宿舍中的三座已被疏散，“袭击者已被困在一座宿舍中，”内政部在Twitter上说。
The attackers were not immediately identified, but recent security warnings in Kenya have emphasized a risk of attack by the Shabab, the Islamist militant group based in Somalia.	枪手身份一时仍未得到确认，但肯尼亚国内近期的安全预警强调了来自索马里伊斯兰派极端组织青年党的威胁。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150402/c02kenya	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150402/c02kenya
Kenyan Warplanes Attack Suspected Militant Positions	肯尼亚空袭索马里伊斯兰极端组织
NAIROBI, Kenya — Kenya launched airstrikes against Islamic militants in Somalia following an extremist attack on a Kenyan college that killed 148 people, a military spokesman said Monday.	肯尼亚内罗毕——一名军方发言人周一说，在一场致148人死亡的针对一所肯尼亚大学的极端主义袭击后，肯尼亚在索马里对伊斯兰武装分子发动了空袭。
Warplanes attacked positions of the al-Shabab militant group on Sunday afternoon and early Monday morning, said Col. David Obonyo of the Kenyan military.	肯尼亚军方的大卫·奥博尼奥上校(Col. David Obonyo)说，战机周日下午及周一清晨攻击了青年党(al-Shabab)武装分子组织的据点。
Al-Shabab, which is based in Somalia, claimed responsibility for the	总部位于索马里的青年党称对周四于肯尼亚城镇加里萨发生的大学袭击事

college attack Thursday in the Kenyan town of Garissa. Four gunmen died in the assault.	件负责。四名枪手在袭击中丧生。
The airstrikes occurred in the Gedo region of Somalia, Obonyo said.	奥博尼奥说，空袭在索马里的盖多州发生。
"This is part of continuing operations, not just in response to Garissa," he said.	"这是持续行动的一部分，并非只是对加里萨作出的回应，"他说。
Kenyan President Uhuru Kenyatta had vowed harsh measures against al-Shabab following the slaughter at Garissa, which is near the border with Somalia. Kenya has troops in Somalia as part of an African Union force to attack al-Shabab and shore up the beleaguered Somali government. Kenya has carried out air strikes before.	肯尼亚总统乌胡鲁·肯雅塔(Uhuru Kenyatta)在加里萨的杀戮事件后已誓言对青年党采取强硬措施。加里萨位于该国与索马里的边界附近。肯尼亚在索马里有驻军，作为打击青年党、支持陷于困境的索马里政府的非洲联盟(African Union)军队的一部分。肯尼亚此前也曾发动空袭。
Al-Shabab said it attacked students at Garissa College University as a reprisal for Kenya sending troops into Somalia.	青年党称，其袭击加里萨大学学院(Garissa University College)的学生，是对肯尼亚派遣军队赴索马里这一行为的报复。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150406/c06kenya	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150406/c06kenya
Somali Police Say 8 Die in Attack on Government Office	索马里政府大楼遭武装袭击 8 人丧生
MOGADISHU, Somalia — Eight people were killed on Tuesday in an attack on a government office complex in the capital, according to police.	索马里摩加迪沙——警方称，周二的一次针对首都政府办公综合大楼的攻击中造成八人丧生。
Police have secured the ministry of higher education office complex, said Capt. Mohamed Hussein, a senior police officer.	名为穆罕默德·侯赛因的高级警官表示，警察已经确保了高等教育部办公楼的安全。
The attackers stormed the ministry of higher education after a suicide car bomber detonated his vehicle at the gate of the office complex, opening the way for gunmen to enter, said Hussein.	侯赛因说，在自杀式汽车袭击者引爆了他在办公楼前的汽车也为进入办公楼的枪手开路，攻击者进攻了高等教育部。
The assault on the walled compound which also houses other government ministries is the latest attack by suspected Islamic extremists of al-Shabab who are maintaining a series of attacks in the	针对这处有围墙的政府办公地点（包括其他政府部门）的袭击，被怀疑是伊斯兰极端组织索马里青年党(al-Shabab)所为。该组织已经制造了一系列针对首都政府目标和支持政府的非洲联盟武装力量的袭击。 capital on government targets and the African Union forces who are supporting the government.

Smoke could be seen rising over the compound.	教育部所在地上空可以看到烟雾缭绕。
Security forces rushed to the scene and ambulances ferried wounded victims to hospitals.	安全部队很快进入了现场，救护车也将伤员运往了医院。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150414/c14somal	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150414/c14somal
ISIS Video Purports to Show Killing of Ethiopian Christians	ISIS 人质处决视频显多地协同行动迹象
CAIRO — The Islamic State released a video on Sunday that appears to show fighters from its branches in southern and eastern Libya executing dozens of Ethiopian Christians, some by beheading and others by shooting.	开罗——周日，伊斯兰国（Islamic State，又称 ISIS 或 ISIL）发布了一段视频，似乎展示了该组织位于利比亚南部和东部分支的武装分子，处死数十名埃塞俄比亚基督徒的情景，有些人遭到斩首，有些则被击毙。
Prefaced by extensive speeches and interviews that appear to take place in the Islamic State’s strongholds in Syria and Iraq, the footage of the killings, if confirmed, would be the first evidence that the group’s leaders in those countries are coordinating with fighters under the group’s banner in those parts of Libya, compounding fears of its expansion across the Mediterranean.	处决视频的开头播放了长时间的演讲和采访，场景似乎是在伊斯兰国位于叙利亚和伊拉克的据点。如果处决视频得到证实，将是伊斯兰国位于叙利亚和伊拉克的领导人，与利比亚一些区域以该组织名义活动的武装分子之间开展协调的第一个证据。这将使人们愈发担心，该组织会越过地中海进一步扩张。
The Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL, released a video in February that appeared to show masked fighters in its western Libyan branch, the so-called Tripolitanian province of the Islamic State, beheading a group of Egyptian Christians who had been abducted in the city of Surt. The group has now established control of Surt, and its fighters there are sporadically battling militia troops from the nearby city of Misurata.	今年 2 月，伊斯兰国发布了一段视频，视频内容似乎显示，它在利比亚西部的分支——所谓的伊斯兰国“的黎波里塔尼亚省”(Tripolitanian)——的蒙面武装分子，对在苏尔特绑架的埃及基督徒进行斩首的情景。该组织目前已经控制了苏尔特，其武装人员仍在与附近城市米苏拉塔的民兵组织发生零星交火。
The video released on Sunday appears to show Islamic State fighters in	在周日发布的视频中，这些伊斯兰国武装分子似乎来自位于南部的“费赞

its "Fezzan province," in the south, and its "Barqa province," in the east, carrying out executions according to the group's trademark rituals.	省"(Fezzan)和东部的"拜尔盖省"(Barqa), 他们在按照该组织的标志性仪式执行处决。
Militants in Egypt, Algeria, Afghanistan, Nigeria and elsewhere have all pledged loyalty to the Islamic State and its self-declared caliphate, but Libya is the first country outside the group's territory in Syria and Iraq where its core leadership has demonstrated practical communication and collaboration with its far-flung "provinces."	埃及、阿尔及利亚、阿富汗、尼日利亚和其他地方的武装分子纷纷表示效忠伊斯兰国及其自行宣告成立的哈里发国, 但利比亚是伊斯兰国在其位于叙利亚和伊拉克的领地之外, 第一个核心领导层与边远的"省份"之间, 表现出实际沟通和协作的地方。
If more confirmation of its authenticity emerges, the new video will upend both Western and Libyan views of the Islamic State's presence in the country. Fighters in the three regions of Libya had previously claimed responsibility for various acts of violence carried out in the Islamic State's name, but most analysts presumed that most of those fighters, at least the ones outside of Surt, were operating independently and using the name to capitalize on the group's fearsome reputation.	如果有进一步证实视频真实性的信息出现, 这段新视频就将改变西方和利比亚对于伊斯兰国在该国影响力的看法。利比亚这三个地区的武装分子此前就曾宣称, 对以伊斯兰国的名义实施的各种暴力活动负责, 但多数分析人士认为, 这些武装分子中的大多数——至少苏尔特以外的那些——是在独立行动。他们借用伊斯兰国的名义, 也是为了利用该组织令人生畏的名声。
Now, fighters in all three provinces appear connected enough to the core group's leadership that they were able coordinate separate, mass executions, film them and send the footage back to Syria or Iraq for production and release.	如今, 这三个省份的武装分子似乎都与核心组织的领导层保持着足够密切的联系, 所以能够经过协调, 分头展开大规模处决行动, 并把处决过程拍摄下来, 再把录像发回叙利亚或伊拉克, 进行制作和发布。
During the last five minutes of the half-hour video, the footage cuts back and forth between scenes in the southern desert and a beach along the coast, at one point displaying both with a split screen. Both settings were filmed with the same sophisticated camera angles and editing that has distinguished other Islamic State films from indigenous Libyan videos.	在这则半小时长的视频里的最后 5 分钟, 场景在南部沙漠和海岸沿线的沙滩之间来回切换, 一度还以分屏的方式同时显示了两个场景。这两个场景的摄像机拍摄角度和剪辑手法同样娴熟, 伊斯兰国的视频与利比亚本土制作的视频之间的差别正在于此。
Masked fighters lead a row of bound captives dressed in black into the	蒙面武装分子带领一排身穿黑衣, 被绑住双手的囚犯走进沙漠里, 然后对每

desert and then shoot each of the prisoners in the back of the head. Another group of masked fighters leads a row of prisoners in orange jumpsuits along a beach and then beheads each of them with a long knife, placing the severed heads on the bodies lying on the sand as bloody surf washes over them.	个囚犯的后脑勺开了枪。另一群蒙面武装分子，则带领一排身穿橙色连体服的囚犯沿海滩前行，然后用长刀对每个人进行斩首，再把割下来的头颅放在沙滩上摆放的尸体上面，任凭血色的海浪冲刷。
"You will not have safety even in your dreams, until you accept Islam," declares a masked figure, speaking English with an American accent and pointing a revolver toward the camera. "To the nation of the cross: We are back again."	"连在梦里你也得不到安全，除非你接受伊斯兰教，"一个蒙面者用带有美国口音的英语说道，同时还用一把左轮手枪指向镜头。"十字架的国度：我们回来了。"
Of all the places the militants have used the group's name, Libya may also be uniquely vulnerable to penetration because of the collapse of any central authority since the overthrow of Col. Muammar el-Qaddafi four years ago.	在武装分子以该组织的名义开展过活动的地方，利比亚可能也是最容易受到渗透的一个。因为四年前穆阿迈尔·卡扎菲上校(Col. Muammar el-Qaddafi)被推翻以来，任何一个中央政府都会崩溃。
Over the last nine months, its feuding militias and city-states have split into two main warring factions – one controls the capital, Tripoli, and the other including the internationally recognized government has fled to the eastern cities of Tobruk and Bayda. Both factions have so far appeared more concerned with fighting each other than uniting to stop the Islamic State's expansion.	过去9个月，利比亚长期不和的武装组织和各自为政的城市，已经分裂为两个主要派别——其中一个控制着首都的黎波里，另一个派别则逃到了东部城市图卜鲁格和贝达，国际社会承认的政府属于后者。目前，这两个派别似乎对与对方对抗更感兴趣，而不是联合起来阻止伊斯兰国的扩张。
What's more, Libyan banks and homes still hold significant wealth. Vast oil deposits wait below ground, and the country's long Mediterranean coast is a useful departure point to destinations in Europe or around the region.	此外，利比亚的银行和家庭仍然有着巨额财富。地下还有大量的石油储量等待开采，而且利比亚有着漫长的地中海海岸线，前往欧洲和该地区周边的其他地点十分便捷。
According to news reports, a spokesman for the Ethiopian government said Sunday that it could not yet confirm that those killed in the video	据报道，埃塞俄比亚政府的一名发言人周日表示，该国目前尚无法确定视频中的遇害者是该国公民。许多非洲移民都会来到石油资源丰富的利比亚寻找

were its citizens. Many African migrants come to oil-rich Libya seeking employment or passage to Europe.	工作，或取道利比亚前往欧洲。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150420/c20libya	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150420/c20libya
India and China Aim to Shelve Territorial Rifts Amid Economic Courtship	印度总理莫迪访华，彰显中印经济合作重要性
NEW DELHI — The days before Narendra Modi left for China, his first visit as India's prime minister, brought pinprick reminders of the geopolitical rifts dividing the two countries, even while they court each other for an economic charge.	新德里——在纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)前往中国的几天前——这是他作为印度总理首次访华——关于让两国产生分歧的地缘政治矛盾的小事重现在人们面前，尽管两国正因为经济原因在讨好彼此。
A Chinese tabloid ran a commentary scorning Mr. Modi for visiting Arunachal Pradesh, a border state to which China also lays claim, prompting a news media uproar in India. In New Delhi, a top official noted that the government had lodged two formal complaints about China's plan to build a highway through Pakistan-administered Kashmir, a border area also claimed by India.	一家中国报纸的一篇评论讽刺了莫迪访问阿鲁纳恰尔邦的做法；该邦靠近边界，中国也表示对其拥有主权，从而引起了印度媒体的不满。在新德里，一名高层官员指出，印度政府已经两次对中国修建一条穿过由巴基斯坦管辖的克什米尔地区的公路的计划正式表达了不满——印度也表示对该边境地区享有主权。
The verbal sniping has brought a reminder of the thicket of territorial and historical tensions dividing Mr. Modi and his Chinese counterpart, President Xi Jinping. Indian and Chinese officials have promoted Mr. Modi's three-day visit as essentially a business trip filled out with displays of good will and ancient cultural kinship.	这种口头上的抨击让人想起了促使莫迪和中国国家主席习近平发生分歧的一系列领土和历史纷争。根据印度和中国官员的说法，莫迪为期三天的访问基本是一次公务旅行，期间将展示两国的友好关系和悠久的历史联系。
But China presents Mr. Modi with a particularly nettlesome test of his priorities.	但是，中国对莫迪的优先任务提出了一个尤其恼人的考验。
He has promised economic reinvigoration at home and firmer assertion of India's security interests. But those goals can be especially difficult to juggle while dealing with the country's biggest and most powerful	他承诺要振兴国内经济，并更加坚定地维护印度的安全利益。但是，在与最大且最强的邻国打交道时，兼顾这些目标可能会尤其困难。在习近平的领导下，中国在领土争议的问题上采取了更强硬的立场。八个月前，莫迪作为印

neighbor, which under Mr. Xi has also taken a tougher line on territorial disputes. Eight months ago, Mr. Modi's first meeting as prime minister with Mr. Xi was overshadowed by a border confrontation.	度总理与习近平的首次会面就因为边境冲突而蒙上了阴影。
"There are two Modis on China," Tanvi Madan, a fellow at the Brookings Institution, and director of its India Project, said in a telephone interview. "There is the business-minded leader who wants to do business with China, almost like the C.E.O. in him. And there is Modi, the chief security officer."	"在中国问题上有两个莫迪，"布鲁金斯学会(Brookings Institution)研究员、学会印度项目负责人坦维·马丹(Tanvi Madan)在电话采访中说。"一个有着商业思维、想与中国做生意的领袖，几乎就是个CEO。此外，还有一个作为首席安全官的莫迪。"
In China, Mr. Modi will "downplay the strains about things like the border incidents," Ms. Madan said. "But I think he will also find subtle ways of also making clear that India is not going to be a pushover."	在中国，莫迪将"弱化边境冲突等事件带来的紧张感"，马丹说。"但我认为他也能找到一些含蓄的方式，表明印度不是好欺负的。"
Increased trade and investment between the two Asian giants could profit both. China is grappling with a slowdown in growth and would like greater access to Indian markets to make up for faltering demand at home and in other export markets. India could use Chinese investment to build power plants, railways and other infrastructure, and to breathe life into its manufacturing sector.	倘若这两个亚洲大国之间的贸易和投资增加，将对两国都有好处。目前，中国正在努力应对增速放缓的局面，而且也希望更进一步地进入印度市场，以弥补国内和其他出口市场减少的需求。印度还可以利用中国的投资来建造发电厂、铁路和其他基础设施，为它的制造领域注入新的活力。
"Prime Minister Modi really has put emphasis on the lack of infrastructure internally," Jabin T. Jacob, a fellow at the Institute of Chinese Studies in Delhi, said in an interview. Mr. Modi's "government has shown a far more open attitude," he said, "simply because they are influenced by business lobbies and simple facts on the ground: that it is Chinese capacity that can deliver."	"莫迪总理真的很重视国内缺乏基础设施的现象，"德里中国研究所(Institute of Chinese Studies)的郑嘉宾(Jabin T. Jacob)在采访中说。莫迪的"政府表现出了更加开明的态度，"他说，"原因很简单，他们受到了商业游说团体和浅显的事实的影响：这是中国的能力所及。"
Yet the economic courtship comes as China has been extending its political and military reach in South Asia, and when Mr. Modi's	然而，当两国在经济方面相互示好之时，中国正在扩大它在南亚的政治和军事影响力，而且其他国家——尤其是日本和美国——也在拉拢莫迪政府，以

administration is also being wooed by other nations, notably Japan and the United States, as a counterbalance to China. Prominent supporters of Mr. Modi say he can pursue both sets of priorities — the economic and the strategic — with equal vigor.	期对中国进行制衡。莫迪的显要支持者称，他能以同样的热情同时应对经济和战略两项要务。
Mr. Modi “needs everyone on his side,” said Ashok Malik, a senior fellow at the Observer Research Foundation in Delhi. “He needs a window of relative strategic calm in his backyard to build the Indian economy. He cannot have the Chinese coming down his throat. For that, he needs to keep the Chinese happy. And he needs to keep the Chinese a little worried.”	莫迪“需要各方跟他同仇敌忾”，德里观察家研究基金会(Observer Research Foundation)高级研究员阿肖克·马利克(Ashok Malik)说。“为了建设印度经济，他的后院需要一个政策相对平静的窗口期。他无法承受中国的掣肘。为此，他要让中国高兴。也要让中国有点担心。”
India, whose economy two years ago appeared fragile and tumultuous to outside investors, is increasingly described as a bright spot; the International Monetary Fund predicted that its growth rate would outstrip China’s this year and that it would widen the gap in 2016. But India’s economy is one-fifth the size of China’s, with a weak manufacturing sector and one million new job seekers entering the market every month.	两年前，在外部投资者看来，印度经济似乎显得脆弱和动荡，而目前，人们越来越认为这里是个亮点。据国际货币基金组织(International Monetary Fund)预测，印度今年的增长率将超过中国，而且到2016年时差距将逐渐扩大。但是，印度的经济规模是中国的五分之一，其制造业薄弱，而且每个月有100万新人涌入就业市场寻找工作。
For Mr. Xi, steadier ties with India are a building block in his broader strategy of defusing territorial and geopolitical tensions by dispensing investment and trade opportunities, extending Chinese influence and diluting Washington’s sway.	对于习近平而言，与印度建立更稳定的联系，是他的大战略的一块基石，这个战略要通过分配投资和贸易机会、加强中国的影响力，以及弱化华盛顿的影响力来缓和领土和地缘政治冲突。
“Since Prime Minister Modi took office, the general atmosphere in Sino-Indian relations has improved,” Ye Hailin, an expert on South Asia at the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences in Beijing, said in a telephone interview. “The basic policies of each side haven’t changed,	“自莫迪总理上台以来，中印关系的总体氛围得到了改善，”位于北京的中国社科院的南亚问题专家叶海林在电话采访中说。“双方的基础政策都没有变化，但是对合作有了更明确的强调。”

but there's a stronger emphasis on cooperation."
Instead of receiving Mr. Modi in Beijing, the normal practice for leaders' visits to China, Mr. Xi will greet Mr. Modi on Thursday in Xian, the ancient city that is now the capital of Shaanxi Province in northwest China. Mr. Xi counts Shaanxi as his home province, because his father, a well-known revolutionary, came from there. His welcome of Mr. Modi there mirrors the gesture that Mr. Modi made last September, when he hosted Mr. Xi at a dinner on Mr. Modi's birthday in his home state of Gujarat.	与以往在北京接待访华领导人的惯常做法不同，习近平周四将在西安迎接莫迪。古城西安现在是位于中国西北的陕西省的省会。习近平视陕西为故乡，因为他的父亲——一位著名的革命人士——来自那里。习近平选择在陕西欢迎莫迪的举措，呼应了莫迪去年9月所采取的姿态，当时他在生日当天在家乡古吉拉特邦与习近平共进晚餐。
On Friday, Mr. Modi will meet China's prime minister, Li Keqiang, in Beijing, and the two governments are scheduled to unveil business and investment agreements that China's ambassador to Delhi, Le Yucheng, has said could ultimately be worth more than $10 billion. Chinese officials have indicated that they hope the agreements will give Chinese companies a role in expanding and upgrading India's railway network, as well as in other big infrastructure projects like power plants and industrial parks.	周五，莫迪将与中国总理李克强在北京会面，两国政府计划公布商务及投资协议，中国驻新德里大使乐玉成曾表示，这些协议价值超过100亿美元。中国官员指出，他们希望这些协议将会促使中国公司参与扩建、更新印度铁路网的工作，以及其他大型基础设施项目，比如发电站和工业园。
But economic ties have failed to live up to the effusive promises of past summits. In 2010, the two governments vowed that by 2015 their trade would be worth $100 billion. Instead, last year their trade in goods was worth $70.6 billion, and India had a bilateral deficit of $37.8 billion, according to Chinese customs data. Chinese firms, like other outside investors, complain that their ventures in India have been stifled by bureaucracy and security barriers. Indian companies have said that they have been frustrated from expanding in China.	但经济关系的发展没能兑现过去几次峰会的热情承诺。2010年，两国政府承诺两国贸易额在2015年前会达到1000亿美元(约合6200亿元人民币)。但中国海关提供的数据显示，去年两国的商品贸易达到706亿美元，而印度双边贸易逆差达到了378亿美元。与其他外部投资商一样，中国公司抱怨称，他们在印度的企业遭遇官僚及安全壁垒。印度公司曾表示，他们在中国的扩展计划受阻。

"For China and India, two countries with a combined population of 2.5 billion, our cooperation falls far short of reaching its due scale or level," Mr. Li, the Chinese prime minister, told the newsmagazine India Today ahead of Mr. Modi's visit.	中国总理李克强在莫迪访问中国前对新闻杂志《今日印度》(India Today)表示,“对于中印这两个人口加起来有 25 亿人的国家来说,我们的合作还远远没有达到应有的规模或水平。”
Mr. Modi will be looking for China to open its markets in fields “where India has a very successful global footprint, but that footprint has not extended to China,” such as pharmaceuticals, information technology and some agricultural products, said the Indian foreign secretary, S. Jaishankar. Chinese engineering firms could get initial agreements for high-speed rail, one of the showpieces of Mr. Modi's economic plan, and a project also sought by China's rival, Japan.	印度外交秘书苏杰生(S. Jaishankar)表示,莫迪希望中国开放某些领域的市场,在这些领域中,“印度的足迹遍布全球,但尚未扩展至中国,”比如制药、信息技术及一些农业产品。中国的工程公司可能会获得有关高速铁路的初步协议,高铁是莫迪经济计划的一个样板,中国竞争对手日本也在争取这个项目。
The Indian chief ministers who will accompany Mr. Modi on the trip are from coastal states, suggesting that commercial ports are another possible area of cooperation with China. But here, as in the power sector, experts said, Mr. Modi may encounter resistance from hawks in his own political camp.	陪同莫迪访问中国的首席部长们都来自沿海的邦,这说明商业港口可能会成为中印两国的又一个合作领域。但专家们表示,在电力领域的合作问题上,莫迪可能会遭遇来自其政治阵营强硬派的阻力。
"You will have some of Modi's supporters saying, 'You're opening the door to China in some sensitive sectors,'" said Ms. Madan, the scholar at the Brookings Institution. "He will try to make the case that this is the best way in the long term, that you cannot stop China's rise, and they're not going to try to."	“你会听到莫迪的一些支持者说,‘你这是在向中国打开某些敏感领域的大门,’”布鲁金斯学会学者马丹说。“他会努力说明,从长期来看,这是最好的方式,你无法阻止中国的崛起,他们不会试图阻止。”
Since meeting with Mr. Xi last year, Mr. Modi has also built up leverage by strengthening his relationships with the United States, Japan and Australia.	自从去年与李克强会面以来,莫迪还通过加强与美国、日本和澳大利亚的关系来增强影响力。
These overtures evoked the joint military exercises that the four	这些姿态推动了联合军演的开展,四个国家在八年前开启联合军演,但中国

countries initiated eight years ago, excluding China. The exercises set off alarm bells in Beijing, ever mindful that three quarters of China's imported oil passes through the Indian Ocean. Even before the four countries convened for their first joint meeting, Beijing had filed diplomatic protests to Washington, New Delhi, Canberra and Tokyo. The idea was quietly shelved.	并不在内。军演给北京方面敲响了警钟，他们未曾忘记中国四分之三的进口石油都要途经印度洋。就在四国准备召开第一次联席会议，北京方面就已经向华盛顿、新德里、堪培拉及东京提出外交抗议。相关计划被悄悄搁置。
There have been hints in the Modi government of reviving the plan, but that has yet to harden into a policy. In comments to The Times of India this week, unnamed military officials said Mr. Modi had decided that joint naval combat exercises with the United States planned for this fall "did not as yet include Japan." A spokesman for India's Navy said on Wednesday that he could not comment on the report, but that a final decision on Japan's participation would be made in July.	有迹象表明莫迪政府有意重启上述计划，但尚未形成政策。一名匿名的军队官员本周对《印度时报》(The Times of India)表示，莫迪决定“目前暂不邀请日本”参加美印两国定于今年秋季开展的海洋作战演习。印度海军的一名发言人在周三表示，他不会就相关报道发表评论，但印度会在7月作出是否邀请日本参加的最终决定。
Mr. Modi has also withheld endorsement of one of Mr. Xi's key foreign policy projects: a network of trade and transport routes intended to deepen China's ties with Asia and Europe, sometimes called a "new silk road." Mr. Jacob, the researcher in Delhi, noted that the effusive flattery China showered on Mr. Modi when he first came to power seemed to have decreased.	莫迪还拒绝支持习近平的关键外交项目之一：旨在加深中国与亚洲及欧洲关系的贸易及运输路线——有时被称为“丝绸之路”。德里研究人员郑嘉宾指出，中国在莫迪刚上台执政时对他的百般恭维，似乎正在减少。
The political irritants could become far more disruptive if Mr. Modi and Mr. Xi fail to make progress in economic cooperation, said Jonathan Holslag, head of research at the Brussels Institute of Contemporary China Studies.	布鲁塞尔当代中国研究所(Brussels Institute of Contemporary China Studies)负责人乔纳森·霍尔斯拉格(Jonathan Holslag)表示，如果莫迪和习近平没能在经济合作方面取得进展，这些政治因素会变得更具有破坏性。
"This is a trial period, a period in which the Indians are trying to find out how far they can go in making a more equitable economic partnership,"	"这是一个试验阶段，印度人试图在这个阶段确认，他们在发展一段更加公平的经济伙伴关系方面能走多远，"他说。"在国际政治方面，没有什么比推

he said. "Nothing is more dangerous in international politics than driving expectations up and then failing to meet them."	高期望却无法达到期望更危险的了。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150514/c14modi	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150514/c14modi
Indian Nurse Dies After 42 Years in a Coma Following Rape	印度强奸受害者昏迷 42 年后死亡
MUMBAI, India — An Indian nurse died on Monday more than four decades after she was strangled with a metal chain, sexually assaulted and left in a permanent vegetative state. Her case had set off a national debate on euthanasia, often called “mercy killing” in India, and helped lead to the legalization of life-support withdrawal.	印度孟买——40 多年前，印度的一名护士被人用金属链勒住，遭到性侵犯，然后进入了持续性植物人状态。这名护士于周一死亡。她的案例曾在全国范围内引发关于安乐死的讨论，并推动了撤除生命维持设备的合法化。
The nurse, Aruna Shanbaug, 66, died of pneumonia after contracting it last week, said Avinash Supe, the dean of King Edward Memorial Hospital in Mumbai, where Ms. Shanbaug had worked before spending 38 of the last 42 years in a coma there. She had been kept alive with a feeding tube.	孟买爱德华国王纪念医院(King Edward Memorial Hospital)院长阿维纳什·苏佩(Avinash Supe)宣布，这名叫做阿鲁娜·尚鲍格(Aruna Shanbaug)的 66 岁的护士，因为上周感染了肺炎而死亡。她曾在这所医院工作，过去 42 年的昏迷期中有 38 年也在那里度过。她一直靠导食管维生。
Ms. Shanbaug was a newly engaged 25-year-old nurse when, at the end of the workday on Nov. 27, 1973, she went down to the hospital basement, where there was a “dog lab” in which animal experiments took place. A young orderly at the lab, who had waited there for her, strangled her with a dog chain, sodomized her and then fled.	1973 年 11 月 27 日，25 岁的尚鲍格还是一名刚刚订婚的护士。当天下班后，她来到医院的地下室，那里有个做动物实验的“狗实验室”。在实验室等她的一名年轻护工用狗链勒住她，强迫与她肛交，然后逃走。
The orderly, Sohanlal Bharta Walmiki, was sentenced to seven years in prison for robbery and attempted murder. Rape was not included in the charges against him because Indian law at the time did not include sodomy as a form of rape, and because the hospital had withheld the nature of the assault during the investigation.	这名叫做索罕拉尔·巴尔塔·瓦尔米基(Sohanlal Bharta Walmiki)的护工因为抢劫和谋杀未遂的罪名而被判处七年监禁。根据当时的印度法律，强迫肛交不包含在强奸罪的定义之中，而且在调查过程中，医院隐瞒了此次袭击的性质，所以他并未受到强奸指控。
Ms. Shanbaug’s immediate family took part in her care at first, but the	尚鲍格一开始由她的直系亲属照料，但这所医院的护士共同树立了让她活下

nurses at the hospital rallied to the cause of keeping her alive and eventually took over her care. One of them, Anuradha Parade, who joined the hospital the year Ms. Shanbaug was transferred there from another facility and who is now secretary of the nurses' welfare society at the hospital, said on Monday that her colleagues had looked on Ms. Shanbaug as a family member. New nurses would be taken to her bedside and told: "She's one of us. We will take care of her until she dies."	去的目标, 最终接管了照顾她的工作。其中一个护士名叫阿努拉德哈·帕拉德 (Anuradha Parade)。尚鲍格从另一家机构转过来的同一年, 帕拉德也进入了这家医院工作。帕德拉现在是医院的护士福利社团的会长。她周一表示, 同事们把尚鲍格看做亲人。新来的护士都会被带到她的床前, 并被告知: "她是我们中的一员。我们会一直照顾她, 直到她去世。"
"We have a hundred patients in a very crowded ward, but still each and every one of us cared for her personally," Ms. Parade said. "We are so glad that we could give Aruna a natural death."	"我们的病房非常拥挤, 有 100 个病人, 但我们每个人都亲自照顾过她," 帕拉德说。"我们很高兴可以让阿鲁娜自然死亡。"
Thirty-five years into the coma, Pinki Virani, an author and journalist, petitioned the Supreme Court of India on Ms. Shanbaug's behalf, arguing that she was "virtually a dead person" and should be allowed to "die peacefully." But the nurses protested, saying that Ms. Shanbaug had responded to them with facial expressions. The court suit was eventually rejected.	在尚鲍格的昏迷进入第 35 个年头的时候, 记者兼作家平奇·维拉尼 (Pinki Virani) 代表她向印度最高法院提起申诉, 称她"实际上是一个死人", 应该允许她"平静地死去"。不过, 护士们表示反对, 称尚鲍格用面部表情回应过她们。这起诉讼最终被驳回。
Dr. Roop Gursahani, a neurologist who examined Ms. Shanbaug in 2011 as part of the case, said she had been taken care of so thoroughly that she had not had a bedsore in almost 40 years.	2011 年在案件调查过程中对尚鲍格进行过检查的神经学家鲁普·古尔萨哈尼博士 (Roop Gursahani) 表示, 她受到的照料十分周到, 以致于在将近 40 年时间里都没生过褥疮。
"She breathed on her own, responded slightly to light, and could swallow and digest soft food," Dr. Gursahani said. "As far as I know, she is the longest-living survivor of a persistent vegetative state."	"她能自主呼吸, 对光亮有轻微反应, 可以吞咽和消化柔软的食物," 古尔萨哈尼说。"据我所知, 在持续性植物状态的幸存者中, 她是活得时间最长的人。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150519/c19india	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150519/c19india
Fake Diplomas, Real Cash: Pakistani Company Axact Reaps Millions	巴基斯坦公司的发财之道: 网上卖假美国文凭

Seen from the Internet, it is a vast education empire: hundreds of universities and high schools, with elegant names and smiling professors at sun-dappled American campuses.	从网站上看, 这是一个巨大的教育帝国: 数百所大学和高中, 拥有优雅的名字, 教授们在阳光斑驳的美国校园里微笑着。
Their websites, glossy and assured, offer online degrees in dozens of disciplines, like nursing and civil engineering. There are glowing endorsements on the CNN iReport website, enthusiastic video testimonials, and State Department authentication certificates bearing the signature of Secretary of State John Kerry.	它们的网页看上去精致而可信, 上面提供了几十门学科的网络学位, 比如护理、土木工程。它们有 CNN 的 iReport 网站热情洋溢的背书, 有充满活力的视频推荐, 以及带有美国国务卿约翰·克里(John Kerry)签名的国务院认证证书。
"We host one of the most renowned faculty in the world," boasts a woman introduced in one promotional video as the head of a law school. "Come be a part of Newford University to soar the sky of excellence."	"我们拥有最具名望的教员, "一个据称是法学院院长的女人在宣传片中吹嘘道。"来成为纽福大学(Newford University)一员, 在卓越的天空中翱翔吧。"
Yet on closer examination, this picture shimmers like a mirage. The news reports are fabricated. The professors are paid actors. The university campuses exist only as stock photos on computer servers. The degrees have no true accreditation.	可是仔细观察后发现, 这外表却如海市蜃楼般闪烁。新闻报道是杜撰出来的, 教授们都是雇来的演员扮演的, 大学校园只不过是电脑服务器上的一些免费图片。他们颁发的学位未经认证。
In fact, very little in this virtual academic realm, appearing to span at least 370 websites, is real — except for the tens of millions of dollars in estimated revenue it gleans each year from many thousands of people around the world, all paid to a secretive Pakistani software company.	实际上, 这个看起来囊括至少 370 个网站的虚拟学院王国, 基本上没什么是真的——除了它们每年从世界各地的数千人那里得来的收益, 据估计达数千万美元。这些钱都支付给了一个行事隐秘的巴基斯坦软件公司。
That company, Axact, operates from the port city of Karachi, where it employs over 2,000 people and calls itself Pakistan's largest software exporter, with Silicon Valley-style employee perks like a swimming pool and yacht.	那家叫 Axact 的公司位于港口城市卡拉奇, 雇佣了两千余名员工, 自称为巴基斯坦最大的软件出口公司, 拥有硅谷式员工福利, 比如游泳池和游艇。
Axact does sell some software applications. But according to former	Axact 的确在销售一些软件应用, 但根据曾经的内部人士提供的消息、公司

insiders, company records and a detailed analysis of its websites, Axact's main business has been to take the centuries-old scam of selling fake academic degrees and turn it into an Internet-era scheme on a global scale.	记录和对其网站的详细分析可以得出, 该公司的主要业务, 是在网络时代把古老的假学位骗术变成全球范围的大骗局。
As interest in online education is booming, the company is aggressively positioning its school and portal websites to appear prominently in online searches, luring in potential international customers.	随着人们对网络教育的热情不断高涨, 这家公司开始大力将自己的学校和门户网站推向网络搜索结果的醒目位置, 吸引潜在的国际客户。
At Axact's headquarters, former employees say, telephone sales agents work in shifts around the clock. Sometimes they cater to customers who clearly understand that they are buying a shady instant degree for money. But often the agents manipulate those seeking a real education, pushing them to enroll for coursework that never materializes, or assuring them that their life experiences are enough to earn them a diploma.	据前公司员工透露, 在公司的总部, 电话销售员们昼夜不停地轮班工作。有时候他们迎合了部分顾客的需求, 这些顾客心里清楚自己是在花钱买可以迅速到手的可疑学位。但大部分时候, 这些销售员在蒙骗那些追求真正教育的人, 极力怂恿他们注册那些不可能成为现实的课程, 或者向他们保证个人经历就足以给他们带来一张文凭。
To boost profits, the sales agents often follow up with elaborate ruses, including impersonating American government officials, to persuade customers to buy expensive certifications or authentication documents.	为了提高利润, 销售员们一般会进一步使用精心设计的伎俩, 包括假冒美国政府官员, 来说服客户购买昂贵的证书或鉴定文件。
Revenues, estimated by former employees and fraud experts at several million dollars per month, are cycled through a network of offshore companies. All the while, Axact's role as the owner of this fake education empire remains obscured by proxy Internet services, combative legal tactics and a chronic lack of regulation in Pakistan.	据公司的前雇员和反诈骗专家估计, 这家公司每月的收益可达数百万美元, 这些钱在一张离岸公司组成的网络里循环。与此同时, 借助网络代理服务、随时准备应战的法律策略和巴基斯坦长久以来的监管缺失, 作为这个虚假教育帝国拥有者的 Axact 始终隐藏在迷雾中。
"Customers think it's a university, but it's not," said Yasir Jamshaid, a quality control official who left Axact in October. "It's all about the money."	"客户以为这是一所大学, 但这不是大学," 去年 10 月离开 Axact 的质量管理员亚西尔·贾姆沙伊德(Yasir Jamshaid)说。"一切都是为了赚钱。"

Axact's response to repeated requests for interviews over the past week, and to a list of detailed questions submitted to its leadership on Thursday, was a letter from its lawyers to The New York Times on Saturday. In the letter, it issued a blanket denial, accusing a Times reporter of "coming to our client with half-cooked stories and conspiracy theories."	上周记者曾多次提出采访要求，周四又寄给公司领导层一系列详细问题，Axact 对此的回应是在周六向《纽约时报》发出一封律师函。信中对所有质疑予以否认，并指责一名时报记者“提供给我们客户一个不完整的故事和阴谋论。”
In an interview in November 2013 about Pakistan's media sector, Axact's founder and chief executive, Shoaib Ahmed Shaikh, described Axact as an "I.T. and I.T. network services company" that serves small and medium-sized businesses. "On a daily basis we make thousands of projects. There's a long client list," he said, but declined to name those clients.	2013 年 11 月份，在一个关于巴基斯坦媒体部门的采访中，Axact 公司的创始人、首席执行官沙耶布·艾哈迈德·谢赫(Shoaib Ahmed Shaikh)表示，Axact 是一家“IT 和 IT 网络服务公司”，“面向的是中小型企业。”“我们每天基本上要做几千个项目，有很多的顾客”，他说道，不过他拒绝透露顾客的名字。
The accounts by former employees are supported by internal company records and court documents reviewed by The New York Times. The Times also analyzed more than 370 websites — including school sites, but also a supporting body of search portals, fake accreditation bodies, recruitment agencies, language schools and even a law firm — that bear Axact's digital fingerprints.	《纽约时报》查阅了 Axcat 公司内部记录以及法庭文件，证实了 Axact 前雇员所披露的信息的可靠性。《纽约时报》还对 370 多家携带 Axact 数字指纹的网站进行了分析，其中包括学校网站，一些提供支持的搜索门户网站，虚假认证机构，招聘机构，语言学校，甚至包括一家律师事务所。
More immediately, he is working to become Pakistan's most influential media mogul. For almost two years now, Axact has been building a broadcast studio and aggressively recruiting prominent journalists for Bol, a television and newspaper group scheduled to start this year.	谢赫最近正致力于成为巴基斯坦最具影响力的媒体大亨。过去两年里，Axact 已经在修建演播室，大肆招募知名记者，为计划今年开始运营的电视和报业集团 Bol 做准备。
Just how this ambitious venture is being funded is a subject of considerable speculation in Pakistan. Axact has filed several pending lawsuits, and Mr. Shaikh has issued vigorous public denials, to reject	至于这个雄心万丈的投资项目是如何筹措经费的，巴基斯坦国内有着各种猜测。Axact 已提起数宗未决诉讼，谢赫发表公开声明驳斥媒体竞争者的指控，否认 Axact 得到了巴基斯坦军方或有组织犯罪集团的支持。不过有一点很清

accusations by media competitors that the company is being supported by the Pakistani military or organized crime. What is clear, given the scope of Axact's diploma operation, is that fake degrees are likely providing financial fuel for the new media business.	楚，鉴于 Axact 的文凭生意规模之大，新的媒体业务很可能要靠假文凭提供资金支持。
"Hands down, this is probably the largest operation we've ever seen," said Allen Ezell, a retired F.B.I. agent and author of a book on diploma mills who has been investigating Axact. "It's a breathtaking scam."	"毫无疑问，这可能是我们所见过的最大的诈骗运作，"一直在调查 Axact 的艾伦·伊泽尔（Allen Ezell）说道。"真是个惊天大骗局。"伊泽尔是美国联邦调查局退休特工，著有一本关于文凭欺诈的书。
Building a Web	打造一张网络
At first glance, Axact's universities and high schools are linked only by superficial similarities: slick websites, toll-free American contact numbers and calculatedly familiar-sounding names, like Barkley, Columbiana and Mount Lincoln.	乍一看，Axact 的大学和高中只在外表上有一些相似之处：华丽的网站，免费的美国热线电话，有意挑选的一些看着眼熟的名字，比如巴克利(Barkley)，哥伦比亚纳(Columbiana)和林肯山(Mount Lincoln)。
But other clues signal common ownership. Many sites link to the same fictitious accreditation bodies and have identical graphics, such as a floating green window with an image of a headset-wearing woman who invites customers to chat.	但还有一些蛛丝马迹能表明它们同属一家公司，很多网站都和一些虚假的认证机构有关联，并且有相同的图形，比如绿色的浮动窗口，上面有一个头戴耳机的女性，在邀请顾客进行对话。
There are technical commonalities, too: identical blocks of customized coding, and the fact that a vast majority route their traffic through two computer servers run by companies registered in Cyprus and Latvia.	技术方面也有着共同之处：一片片完全相同的定制代码，并且大部分网站的流量都转向两台服务器，它们由注册地在塞浦路斯和拉脱维亚的公司掌管着。
Five former employees confirmed many of these sites as in-house creations of Axact, where executives treat the online schools as lucrative brands to be meticulously created and forcefully marketed, frequently through deception.	经五名前雇员证实，这些网站很多是 Axact 内部创建的，主管们把网上学校视为有利可图的牌子，可以一丝不苟地创建起来，进行强有力的市场推销，时不时用一些骗术。
Real-Life Troubles	真实世界的麻烦
Many customers of degree operations, hoping to secure a promotion or	很多买学位的顾客是为升职铺路，或者为个人简历表增色，他们很清楚自己

pad their résumé, are clearly aware that they are buying the educational equivalent of a knockoff Rolex. Some have been caught.	买来的文凭相当于山寨劳力士手表。其中一些人还露了马脚。
In the United States, one federal prosecution in 2008 revealed that 350 federal employees, including officials at the departments of State and Justice, held qualifications from a non-Axact-related diploma mill operation based in Washington State.	美国的一宗 2008 年的联邦起诉显示,有 350 名联邦政府雇员持有伪造证书,其中包括美国司法部和国务院的官员。证书出自华盛顿州一个文凭伪造作坊,跟 Axact 没有关联。
Some Axact-owned school websites have previously made the news as being fraudulent, though without the company's ownership role being discovered. In 2013, for instance, Drew Johansen, a former Olympic swim coach, was identified in a news report as a graduate of Axact's bogus Rochville University.	此前曾有媒体报道过 Axact 名下的一些学校网站存在欺诈,不过并未找出公司的所有者。2013 年,前奥林匹克游泳教练德鲁·约翰森(Drew Johansen)被媒体指出是 Axact 假造的罗克韦尔大学(Rochville University)的毕业生。
The effects have sometimes been deeply disruptive. In Britain, the police had to re-examine 700 cases that Mr. Morrison, the falsely credentialed police criminologist and Rochville graduate, had worked on. "It looked easier than going to a real university," Mr. Morrison said during his 2007 trial.	有时候,相关影响会带来很大的混乱。在英国,警方不得不重新审查持假证的警界犯罪学专家、罗克韦尔大学毕业生莫里森经办的 700 起案件。“这看起来比上真正的大学容易,”莫里森在 2007 年受审时说。
Last May, Mohan, a junior accountant at a construction firm in Abu Dhabi, paid $3,300 for what he believed was going to be an 18-month online master's program in business administration at the Axact-owned Grant Town University.	去年 5 月,阿布扎比一家建筑公司的初级会计莫汉(Mohan)花了 3300 美元(约合 2 万元人民币),以为自己购买的是格兰特城大学(Grant Town University)持续 18 个月的企业管 理 硕 士 网 络 课 程。这所 大 学 的 所 有 人 正 是 Axact。
A sales agent assured Mohan, a 39-year-old Indian citizen who asked to be identified only by part of his name, of a quality education. Instead, he received a cheap tablet computer in the mail — it featured a school logo but no education applications or coursework — followed by a series of insistent demands for more money.	一名销售代理向来自印度的莫汉保证,他会得到优质的教育。但他只在邮箱里收到了一台廉价的平板电脑,上面有学校的标识,但电脑里没有教育应用,也没有课程作业。接下来他又收到了一系列要求,执意让他再次交钱。39 岁的他要求只公布名字中的一部分。

When a phone caller who identified himself as an American Embassy official railed at Mohan for his lack of an English-language qualification, he agreed to pay $7,500 to the Global Institute of English Language Training Certification, an Axact-run website.	当一名自称美国大使馆官员的人打电话来斥责他没有英语语言方面的资格时，莫汉同意向 Axact 开办的网站“全球英语语言培训认证机构”(Global Institute of English Language Training Certification)支付 7500 美元。
In a second call weeks later, the man pressed Mohan to buy a State Department authentication certificate signed by Mr. Kerry. Mohan charged $7,500 more to his credit card.	几周后，那名男子再次打来电话，敦促莫汉购买由克里签署的美国国务院认证证书。莫汉又用信用卡付了 7500 美元。
Then in September a different man called, this time claiming to represent the United Arab Emirates government. If Mohan failed to legalize his degree locally, the man warned, he faced possible deportation. Panicking, Mohan spoke to his sales agent at Axact and agreed to pay $18,000 in installments.	后来到了 9 月，另一名男子打来电话，这一次是说他代表阿联酋政府。该男子警告称，如果不让学位在当地变得合法，莫汉可能会被驱逐出境。惊慌失措的莫汉和他的销售代表说了此事，同意以分期付款的形式支付 1.8 万美元。
By October, he was $30,000 in debt and sinking into depression. He had stopped sending money to his parents in India, and hid his worries from his wife, who had just given birth.	到 10 月，他已经欠下 3 万美元，陷入抑郁之中。他不再给身在印度的父母寄钱，也没让刚生完孩子的妻子知晓自己的忧虑。
“She kept asking why I was so tense,” said Mohan during a recent interview near his home in Abu Dhabi. “But I couldn’t say it to anyone.”	“她一直问我为什么那么紧张，”莫汉不久前在阿布扎比的家附近接受采访时说。“但我没法和任何人说。”
But some employees, despite the good salaries and perks they enjoyed, became disillusioned by the true nature of Axact’s business.	尽管工资福利优越，但还是有一些雇员对 Axact 业务的真正本质大失所望。
During three months working in the internal audit department last year, monitoring customer phone calls, Mr. Jamshaid grew dismayed by what he heard: customers being cajoled into spending tens of thousands of dollars, and tearful demands for refunds that were refused.	贾姆沙伊德曾于去年在内审部门工作过三个月，负责监控客户电话。在那期间，他越来越对自己听到的内容感到震惊：顾客被骗数万美元，含泪要求退款却被拒。
“I had a gut feeling that it was not right,” he said.	“我的直觉认为这么做是不对的，”他说。

In October, Mr. Jamshaid quit Axact and moved to the United Arab Emirates, taking with him internal records of 22 individual customer payments totaling over $600,000.	10月，贾姆沙伊德从Axact辞职，搬去了阿联酋，同时也带走了22名客户付款的内部记录，总价值超过60万美元。
Mr. Jamshaid has since contacted most of those customers, offering to use his knowledge of Axact's internal protocols to obtain refunds. Several spurned his approach, seeing it as a fresh effort to defraud them. But a few, including Mohan, accepted his offer.	自那时以来，贾姆沙伊德联系到了这些客户中的大部分人，提出利用他对Axact内部规定的了解，为他们拿到退款。有几个人拒绝了他的提议，以为这是骗他们的新花招。但包括莫汉在内的几个人接受了他的提议。
After weeks of fraught negotiations, Axact refunded Mohan $31,300 last fall.	经过数周的困难谈判后，Axact在去年秋天将3.13万美元退还给了莫汉。
The Indian accountant found some satisfaction, but mostly felt chastened and embarrassed.	这名来自印度的会计感到好了一些，但主要还是觉得愧疚和尴尬。
"I was a fool," he said, shaking his head. "It could have ruined me."	"我是个傻瓜，"他摇摇头说。"这事差点把我毁了。"
Axact has brandished legal threats to dissuade reporters, rivals and critics. Under pressure from Axact, a major British paper, The Mail on Sunday, withdrew an article from the Internet in 2006. Later, using an apparently fictitious law firm, the company faced down a consumer rights group in Botswana that had criticized Axact-run Headway University.	Axact动用了法律威胁，来吓阻记者、竞争对手和批评人士。2006年，在Axact的压力下，英国的主要报纸《星期日邮报》(The Mail on Sunday)从网上撤下了一篇文章。后来，该公司用一家似乎是编造出来的法律事务所，逼退了博茨瓦纳的一个消费者权益组织。后者曾对Axact开办的海德威大学(Headway University)提出批评。
It has also petitioned a court in the United States, bringing a lawsuit in 2007 against an American company that is a competitor in the essay-writing business, Student Network Resources, and that had called Axact a "foreign scam site." The American company countersued and was awarded $700,000, but no damages have been paid, the company's lawyer said.	2007年，Axact还向美国的一家法院起诉，控告一家美国公司。名为学生网络资源(Student Network Resources)的这家美国公司是Axact在论文写作业务领域的竞争对手，称Axact是一家"外国诈骗网站"。该美国公司提起反诉，并被判获得70万美元赔偿金。但公司律师表示，并未收到损害赔偿金。
In his interview with The New York Times in 2013, Axact's chief	在2013年接受《纽约时报》的采访时，Axact的首席执行官谢赫承认，公

executive, Mr. Shaikh, acknowledged that the company had faced criticism in the media and on the Internet in Britain, the United States and Pakistan, and noted that Axact had frequently issued a robust legal response.	司在英国、美国和巴基斯坦的媒体和网络上受到了指责，并指出 Axact 频频从法律上作出强硬回应。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150519/c19pakistan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150519/c19pakistan
Ebola Cases Rise in Guinea and Sierra Leone After Steep Drop	埃博拉疫情整体趋缓但仍面临反复
DAKAR, Senegal—Only days after declaring the lowest number of new Ebola cases in Guinea and Sierra Leone this year, officials at the World Health Organization said Tuesday that there had been a nearly fourfold increase during the most recent week of reporting, to about 35 new cases.	塞内加尔达喀尔——世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)宣布几内亚及塞拉利昂今年的新增埃博拉病例数量达到最低，但就在几天之后，也就是周二，世卫组织官员表示，在最近一周，新增病例提高了将近四倍，达到 35 例。
With Liberia, the other West African nation at the center of the epidemic, being declared free of Ebola this month, the recent drop in infections in Sierra Leone and Guinea had offered hope that the worst Ebola outbreak in history might end soon.	随着利比里亚——另一个爆发埃博拉疫情的西非国家——本月宣布埃博拉疫情结束，塞拉利昂和几内亚的感染病例也有所减少，人们满怀希望地认为，史上最严重的埃博拉疫情可能很快就能结束。
Officials warned against reading too much into the latest uptick, given the steep overall decline in Ebola cases. As recently as the week of March 15, there were 95 new cases in Guinea alone. A May 13 report showed the lowest weekly total this year: nine new cases, seven in Guinea and two in Sierra Leone.	官员们警告称，由于埃博拉病例总数大幅下降，不应对最近病例的增加做出过度解读。就在 3 月 15 日那周，单单是几内亚就出现了 95 例新增病例，5 月 13 日一份报告中的数据显示，那一周是今年新增病例最少的一周：九例，其中几内亚七例，塞拉利昂两例。
Health officials said that sharp falls and rises were normal as an epidemic approached its end. But they also said that some persistent risky practices, like unsafe burials of Ebola victims in Guinea, had contributed to the rise.	卫生官员表示，随着疫情接近尾声，病例的剧增和锐减都是正常的。但他们还表示，一些持续存在的危险做法部分导致了病例的增加，比如几内亚地区埋葬埃博拉患者的危险行为。
Most of the new cases, about 27, are in Guinea, and one area in	大部分新病例——大约 27 例——出现在几内亚，有一个地区已经成为重点疫

particular is a problem spot: the Forecariah district southeast of the capital, Conakry. It is far from where the outbreak started, in Guinea's Forest Region, but it is in an area where there has been resistance to the sanitary burials necessary to contain Ebola.	区：首都科纳克里东南部的福雷卡里亚区，那里距离几内亚森林区的疫情源头非常远。但在福雷卡里亚区，以卫生的方式掩埋遗体的做法遇到过阻力。卫生的掩埋方法是遏制埃博拉疫情的必要手段。
"We've been concerned about a number of cases coming from there, of people dying in the community," said Dr. Margaret Harris, a spokeswoman for the W.H.O., referring to the failure to turn corpses over to the authorities in Ebola hot spots, a refusal that has bedeviled health officials since the outbreak began.	"我们一直担心这个社区会出现一些病例，导致很多患者死亡，"世卫组织发言人玛格丽特·哈里斯(Margaret Harris)说，她指的是人们未能将尸体移交给埃博拉疫区的官方机构处理的情况。从疫情爆发以来，拒绝交出尸体的做法让卫生官员深受困扰。
"There is still some concern that there are unsafe burials going on," she said. "The burial issue is still a very tough one."	"我们仍然担心还有一些不安全的埋葬行为，"她说。"埋葬问题非常棘手。"
Dr. Harris said a team of experts had been sent to the Forecariah area to help combat the spread of the disease.	哈里斯表示，已经派出专家小组前往福雷卡里亚区，帮助遏制疫情的蔓延。
"It doesn't surprise us that within the tail of the epidemic there are peaks and valleys," said Brice de la Vigne, the Brussels operations director of Doctors Without Borders, which has led the response to the epidemic over the last 14 months.	"在疫情终结之前会出现病例增加和减少的情况，我们对此并没有感到吃惊，"无国界医生(Doctors Without Borders)驻布鲁塞尔的运营总监布里斯·德拉维涅(Brice de la Vigne)说。该组织在过去14个月中领导着应对埃博拉疫情的行动。
"This is not scaring us beyond reason; it is normal," Mr. de la Vigne said, but "we know that there are still people who are contaminating themselves at funerals."	"这绝不会把我们吓跑，这很正常，"德拉维涅说，但"我们知道仍然有人在葬礼上感染疾病"。
Adding to the cases are renewed efforts by officials to find the sick, said Sylvie Jonckheere, a Doctors Without Borders official in Conakry. "They've been doing a roundup," she said. "They have plenty of people looking for the sick in the villages. It's not really different from what we've seen with Ebola in the past."	无国界医生驻科纳克里的官员西尔维·约恩克海勒(Sylvie Jonckheere)表示，官员们新一轮寻找患者的行动，也导致了发现病例增加。"他们一直在搜罗，"她说。"派很多人在村子里寻找患者。这与我们过去看到的埃博拉疫情没什么不同。"

It is not a coincidence that the disease is lingering longest in Guinea, where the outbreak began 18 months ago. In Guinea, resistance to the intervention of outsiders – doctors, health officials, politicians – has been stronger than in either Sierra Leone or Liberia.	埃博拉在几内亚传播时间最长并非巧合，18个月前，疫情就是在几内亚爆发的。几内亚对外界——医生、卫生官员、政治人物——干预的抗拒要比塞拉利昂或利比里亚强烈。
Guinea has reacted with occasional violence to efforts to contain the disease. In the Forest Region, eight officials and journalists were killed by villagers during an anti-Ebola rally in September. Before that, doctors and health officials were repeatedly attacked, and villages were classified as “closed” or “open” by health officials, depending on whether they would allow outsiders in to fight the disease.	在几内亚，也不时有民众以暴力手段抵制控制疫情的行动。去年9月，在森林区，八名官员和记者在一场反埃博拉的集会上被村民打死。在那之前，医生和卫生官员多次遭袭，卫生官员根据村庄是否允许外部人士进入对抗疫情，将各个村庄分为“封闭”和“开放”两种。
More than 11,000 people have died of Ebola in the three countries, and there have been over 26,000 confirmed, probable and suspected cases, according to the W.H.O.’s May 13 situation report on the epidemic.	世卫组织5月13日公布的疫情报告显示，在这三个国家中，已有逾1.1万人死于埃博拉，另有超过2.6万例确诊病例及潜在和疑似病例。
But one telling statistic in the report indicates how sharply the Ebola epidemic has dropped off: Out of 55 districts in the three countries that had reported at least one case of the disease, 43 have not reported a single one for more than six weeks.	但该报告中一项重要的数据说明，埃博拉病例正在大幅减少：在这三个国家里，曾经报告过至少一个病例的55个地区里，有43个地区在六个多星期的时间里，没有报告过任何病例。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150520/c20ebola	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150520/c20ebola
Pakistani Investigators Raid Offices of Axact, Fake Diploma Company	巴基斯坦联邦调查局突击搜查 Axact 驻地
KARACHI, Pakistan – Pakistani investigators on Tuesday raided the offices of Axact, a software firm in Karachi that has come under scrutiny for running a global diploma mill that has earned tens of millions of dollars through a network of fake online schools.	巴基斯坦卡拉奇——巴基斯坦调查人员于周二突击搜查了卡拉奇的软件公司 Axact 的办公驻地。该公司受到调查是因为它经营着一家全球化的文凭伪造作坊，并通过一系列虚假的在线学校获利数千万美元。
The Pakistani interior minister, Chaudhry Nisar Ali Khan, ordered the investigation after a report by The New York Times described links	《纽约时报》最近的一篇报道揭露了 Axact 与至少 370 家网站之间的关系，其中很多网站都自诩为位于美国的在线大学和高中。报道发出后，巴基斯坦

between Axact and at least 370 websites, many of which purport to be online universities and high schools based in the United States.	内政部长乔杜里·尼萨尔·阿里·汗(Chaudhry Nisar Ali Khan)下令开展调查。
On Tuesday, investigators from the corporate crimes unit of the Federal Investigation Agency visited Axact's headquarters in Karachi, as well as smaller offices in Islamabad, the capital, and Rawalpindi, seizing computers and taking in at least 24 people for questioning, several Pakistani law enforcement officials said.	几名巴基斯坦执法官员表示，来自巴基斯坦联邦调查署(Federal Investigation Agency)法人犯罪科的调查人员周二前往了 Axact 位于卡拉奇的总部，以及位于首都伊斯兰堡和拉瓦尔品第的规模较小的办公室，没收了电脑并至将至少 24 人带走问话。
Axact has denied any wrongdoing and has accused The Times of colluding with rival news media companies to frustrate Bol, its new television network, which is scheduled to begin broadcasting this year.	Axact 否认自己有任何不法行为，并指责时报和竞争的新闻媒体合谋，是为了阻挠其新成立的电视广播网 Bol。该电视网计划于今年开播。
In a statement posted on its website on Monday, Axact said the Times report was "baseless, substandard, maligning, defamatory, and based on false accusations." The company said it planned to take legal action against the newspaper.	周一，Axact 在自己的网站上发表了一则声明，称时报的报道“毫无根据、不合规范、恶意中伤”，是“诽谤和诬告”。该公司称打算对时报采取法律措施。
As it has expanded its business since 1997, Axact has frequently used aggressive legal tactics to silence critics and to dissuade reporters from investigating its business practices. Now it is coming under intense media and political scrutiny in Pakistan.	从 1997 年开始扩大业务以来，Axact 频频利用强硬的法律手段压制批评人士，吓阻调查其业务操作的记者。如今，该公司在巴基斯坦媒体和政界受到了密切关注。
In the upper house of Parliament on Tuesday, Aitzaz Ahsan, a senior leader with the opposition Pakistan Peoples Party, said the episode had brought Pakistan into disrepute, and called for an official investigation.	在议会上院，反对党巴基斯坦人民党(Pakistan Peoples Party)高层领导人艾察兹·阿赫桑(Aitzaz Ahsan)周二表示，此事让巴基斯坦蒙羞，并要求展开正式调查。
In its statement, the Interior Ministry said that investigators would determine whether Axact "is involved in any such illegal work which can tarnish the good image of the country in the world."	内政部发表声明称，调查人员将查明 Axact 是否“参与了任何此类非法活动，致使国家在全世界的良好形象受到损害”。
The uproar has generated a barrage of comments on social media in	此事闹得沸沸扬扬，在巴基斯坦的社交媒体上引发了铺天盖地的讨论。批评

Pakistan. Critics have mocked Axact's network of online universities, which carry American-sounding names like Barkley and Columbiana. A smaller number of supporters and employees have vociferously defended the company.	人士嘲笑 Axact 旗下的诸多在线大学, 那些大学的名字听起来像在美国, 如巴克利(Barkley)和哥伦比亚纳(Columbiana)。人数相对较少的支持者和员工则高声为该公司辩护。
Bloggers publicized the names of university and high school websites they said were also run by Axact, which went beyond a list published by The Times on Sunday.	博客作者称 Axact 还运营着其他一些大学和高中的网站, 并公布了它们的名字。这些名字不在时报周日公布的名单之列。
Several former Axact employees contacted The Times, offering accounts of their experiences working at the company. By Tuesday morning, phone lines at some of the university websites run by Axact were not being answered.	Axact 的几名前员工联系到时报, 讲述了他们在该公司工作的经历。到周二上午, Axact 经营的部分大学网站上列出的电话一直无人接听。
A video circulating on social media showed the company's founder and chief executive, Shoaib Ahmed Shaikh, addressing cheering employees on Monday evening.	社交媒体上流传的一段视频显示, 该公司的创始人及首席执行官沙耶布·艾哈迈德·谢赫(Shoaib Ahmed Shaikh)周一傍晚向欢呼的员工发表了讲话。
In the video, Mr. Shaikh reiterated many of the points from Axact's official response and accused a Times reporter of colluding with the rival Express Tribune group, which republishes The International New York Times in Pakistan.	在视频中, 谢赫重申了 Axact 官方回应中的很多观点, 并指责时报记者与该公司的竞争对手《论坛快报》(Express Tribune)传媒集团合谋。该集团是《国际纽约时报》(International New York Times)在巴基斯坦的发行方。
Kamran Ataullah, a deputy director at the Federal Investigation Agency in Karachi, said the investigation would not be limited to the contents of the Times article. "We've issued a letter to them, and we're looking for details of their database, employees, what websites and equipment they're using," he said.	卡拉奇联邦调查署的一位副署长卡姆兰·阿塔乌拉(Kamran Ataullah)表示, 调查不仅限于时报文章里的内容。“我们已向他们去信, 我们会检查其数据库的细节、员工, 以及他们目前使用的网站和设备,” 他说。
The furor comes just as Axact is preparing to start Bol, which has built a large studio and hired away senior journalists from other news media	在引起公愤之际, Axact 正在准备 Bol 的开播。Bol 已经建好了一个大演播厅, 并从其他媒体集团挖走了一些高级记者。Bol 预计将在 7 月中旬穆斯林

groups. The station is expected to begin broadcasting after Ramadan, the Islamic holy month, which will end in mid-July.	斋月结束后开播。
Kamran Khan, the editor in chief of Bol, said in a Twitter message that the new station had been created to uphold the truth and was "not in the business of cover-ups regardless personal cost or consequences."	Bol 的总编辑的卡姆兰·汗(Kamran Khan)在 Twitter 上发言称, 成立新台是为了捍卫真相, 而且“不管会给个人带来什么代价和后果, 都不会掩盖真相”。
According to the Federal Investigation Agency, Mr. Shaikh and other directors of Axtact have been served notices to appear at the agency's office in Karachi on Wednesday. At the time of the investigation team's visit, there were no senior managers at the Axtact headquarters in Karachi.	据联邦调查署介绍, 已正式通知谢赫和 Axtact 的其他董事, 周三前往卡拉奇的联邦调查署驻地。在调查人员搜查 Axtact 位于卡拉奇的总部时, 没有高层管理人员在场。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150520/c20pakistan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150520/c20pakistan
Father Didn't Know Son Would Be Smuggled Into Spain in Suitcase, Lawyer Says	非洲儿童藏身旅行箱偷渡西班牙
MADRID — The father of an African boy who tried to enter Spanish territory inside a suitcase said he got caught up with smugglers because his salary fell just "a few euros" short of the legal minimum required to apply for his son's residency in Spain, according to his lawyer.	马德里——一名非洲男孩躲在旅行箱里试图进入西班牙境内, 而他父亲的律师透露, 自己的客户表示, 之所以去找蛇头, 是因为他的薪酬比为儿子申请西班牙居留权所需的法定最低工资就差了“几欧元”。
The father, Ali Ouattara, has been in police custody since his 8-year-old son, Abou, was discovered by the police inside a suitcase on May 7 at a border checkpoint in Ceuta, one of two Spanish enclaves in North Africa.	这位父亲名叫阿里·瓦塔拉(Ali Ouattara)。自从 8 岁的儿子阿布(Abou)在休达的边境安检处被警方发现藏在旅行箱里之后, 瓦塔拉一直被警方扣押。休达是北非的两块西班牙飞地之一。
A picture of the boy curled up inside the suitcase, taken from the border security scanner, was a shocking reminder of the plight of thousands of Africans who have been seeking to enter Europe, mostly by boat but	这个男孩蜷缩在行李箱里的画面被边境安检扫描系统拍摄了下来。这张照片令人震惊, 提醒人们寻求进入欧洲的成千上万非洲人在经历怎样的苦难。他们主要是通过船只偷渡, 但也会试图翻越西班牙飞地周围的屏障。

also by trying to climb over the fences that surround the Spanish enclaves.
Mr. Ouattara, who is from Ivory Coast, has been working in a launderette on the Spanish island of Fuerteventura for the past seven years, living there legally with his wife and daughter, his lawyer, Juan Isidro Fernández Díaz, said Tuesday.	瓦塔拉的律师胡安·伊西德罗·费尔南德斯·迪亚斯(Juan Isidro Fernández Díaz)周二表示, 瓦塔拉来自科特迪瓦, 过去七年一直在西班牙富埃特文图拉岛的一个自助洗衣店工作, 并与妻子和女儿在当地合法居住。
He had tried to get his son to join the family but found that his normal application was rejected because his monthly salary fell shy of 1,331 euros, about $1,480, which is the minimum required to apply under Spanish law, Mr. Fernández Díaz said.	费尔南德斯·迪亚斯还称, 瓦塔拉曾经试图让儿子和家人团聚, 但发现自己的正常申请被拒, 原因是他的月薪不到 1331 欧元 (约合 9200 元人民币)。这是根据西班牙法律申请居留权所需的最低工资。
The lawyer said in a phone interview that his client had then gone to Casablanca, Morocco, to find an alternative way to bring his son into Spain, by buying a visa there.	这名律师接受电话采访时说, 他的客户随后去了摩洛哥的卡萨布兰卡, 想要在那里通过购买签证的办法来把儿子带到西班牙。
Mr. Ouattara, the lawyer said, believed that his son would be brought into Ceuta by crossing the border with his Ivory Coast passport and the visa, for which he paid €5,000.	律师称, 瓦塔拉以为, 他的儿子可以用科特迪瓦护照和买到的签证被带入休达。他为这个签证花了 5000 欧元。
"Do you think any father would really allow his son to travel in a suitcase?" the lawyer asked. "He is just another victim of the mafias" that control Africa's human trafficking networks.	"你认为有哪个父亲真的会让自己的儿子在旅行箱里赶路?" 律师反问道。"他不过是"控制非洲人口贩卖网络的"黑社会的又一个受害者"。
The lawyer said he was confident that his client would be released on bail "in coming days" and called for the family to be reunited as soon as possible. Mr. Fernández Díaz, who is based in Seville, Spain, made his arguments during a court hearing in Ceuta on Monday. The details of the case were not made public by the authorities as they are part of a continuing investigation.	律师称相信自己的客户将在"未来数天"获得保释, 并呼吁尽快让这家人团聚。周一, 来自西班牙塞维利亚的费尔南德斯·迪亚斯在休达的听证会上表达了自己的这些观点。由于调查仍在继续, 所以当局尚未公布案件细节。

The boy, Abou, is “in perfect condition” in a center for underage migrants in Ceuta, the lawyer said. On Monday, Abou was also briefly reunited with his mother, who flew in from Fuerteventura. “It was all very emotional,” the lawyer said.	律师称，这个名叫阿布的男孩目前身处休达的一个未成年移民中心，“状况良好”。周一，阿布短暂地见到了从富埃特文图拉岛飞过来的母亲。“场面十分感人，”律师说。
Abou was discovered inside a wheeled suitcase that was being taken across a security checkpoint by a young Moroccan woman, whose identity has not been disclosed by the Spanish police.	阿布在一个带滑轮的旅行箱里被人发现，当时一名年轻的摩洛哥女性正带着这个箱子过安检。西班牙警方并未透露这名女性的身份。
Mr. Fernández Díaz said that he had no idea who was in charge of the attempt to smuggle Abou into Ceuta. “All I know is that my client thought it would be done legally, with a valid visa, and not in such an illegal way,” he said.	费尔南德斯·迪亚斯表示，他不知道试图把阿布偷渡到休达的负责人是谁。“据我了解，我的客户认为这件事将通过有效签证的合法手段完成，而不是通过这种非法途径，”他说。
Spain has tightened its own security around its two enclaves and reinforced its border fences. The cooperation between its border police and Morocco has also been instrumental in ensuring that the flow of illegal migrants has recently been relatively limited compared to the amount of Africans who have tried to reach Italy by boat from Libya. Hundreds of those migrants have died en route.	西班牙在自己的两块飞地周边加紧了安全防卫，并且加固了边境的屏障。与试图从利比亚乘船抵达意大利的非洲人的规模相比，近期进入西拔牙的非法移民人数相对有限。西班牙边境警察与摩洛哥的合作在保障这一点上起到了重要作用。已有数以百计的移民死在了偷渡途中。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150520/c20spain	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150520/c20spain
Taliban and Afghan Peace Officials Have Secret Talks in China	阿富汗与前塔利班官员在中国乌鲁木齐密谈
BEIJING — A peace envoy from Afghanistan met in western China last week with former Taliban officials with close ties to Pakistan’s intelligence agency, in an attempt to keep open the possibility of formal Afghan peace talks, officials said on Monday.	北京——官员周一表示，阿富汗的一名和谈代表上周与一些前塔利班官员在中国西部举行了会面。这些塔利班官员与巴基斯坦情报机构关系密切。会谈意图是维持有朝一日举行正式的阿富汗和平谈判的可能性。
The meeting, hosted by China and, in part, organized by Pakistani officials, took place on Wednesday and Thursday in Urumqi, capital of	此次会议的主办方是中国，巴基斯坦官员也在一定程度上参与了会议的组织。会谈于上周三和周四在新疆地区的首府乌鲁木齐举行。新疆与阿富汗和

the western region of Xinjiang, which has mountainous borders with Afghanistan and Pakistan and is home to many Muslims.	巴基斯坦均接壤，且接壤地区位于山区。新疆也生活着很多穆斯林。
The main representative of the Afghan government was Mohammad Masoom Stanekzai, who was, at the time, a crucial member of the country's Peace Council, the group charged with exploring talks with the insurgency, and since then has been nominated by President Ashraf Ghani as defense minister. On the other side of the table were three figures from the old Taliban government in Afghanistan, according to current and former officials with knowledge of the discussions who agreed to speak on the condition of anonymity because of diplomatic sensitivities.	阿富汗政府的主要代表是穆罕默德·马苏姆·斯塔内克扎伊(Mohammad Masoom Stanekzai)。斯塔内克扎伊曾是阿富汗负责与塔利班开展谈判的和平委员会(Peace Council)的关键成员，之后被阿富汗总统阿什拉夫·加尼(Ashraf Ghani)提名为国防部长。据了解会谈情况的现任和前任官员介绍，谈判桌的另一边是三名来自阿富汗原塔利班政府的代表。因为此事属于外交上的敏感问题，这些官员要求匿名受访。
Mr. Stanekzai is awaiting confirmation as defense minister by the Afghan Parliament and has been the architect of efforts by the government to begin formal peace negotiations.	斯塔内克扎伊的国防部长提名仍有待阿富汗议会确认。他一直是政府为开启正式和谈而发起的多项行动的筹划者。
"The meeting resulted from cooperation of the Pakistan and Afghan governments with the support of China," said Barnett Rubin, a veteran scholar of Afghanistan who has worked in the United States government on Afghanistan policy.	"此次会谈是巴基斯坦政府和阿富汗政府在中国的支持下进行合作的成果，"研究阿富汗问题的资深学者巴尼特·鲁宾(Barnett Rubin)说。鲁宾曾在美国政府供职，参与制定阿富汗政策。
The fact that China agreed to host the talks was the latest sign that Beijing is encouraging peace efforts and an end to Afghanistan's 13-year civil war. In late 2014, two Afghan Taliban officials came to Beijing with Pakistani officials to discuss peace moves.	中国正在鼓励和平行动，终结持续13年的阿富汗内战，中方同意主办会谈就是迄今最近的迹象。2014年年底，两名阿富汗塔利班官员曾来到北京，与巴基斯坦官员一道商讨和平进程。
The Taliban members came to Urumqi to reiterate familiar positions, and the representatives of the Afghan government said it was ready to make a strong effort to build trust if the Taliban agreed to peace	一名阿富汗高级官员表示，来到乌鲁木齐的塔利班成员重申了他们常提及的立场，阿富汗政府的代表则表示，如果塔利班同意举行和平谈判，阿富汗政府乐于付出努力建立信任。 negotiations, a senior Afghan official said.

At the moment, Mr. Ghani is more focused on trying to use military force to quell a deadly offensive by the Taliban than on organizing peace talks.	眼下，加尼更关注的是尝试用军事力量平息塔利班发起的致命攻势，而不是组织和平谈判。
Mr. Ghani's spokesman, Ajmal Obaid Abidy, said Monday that "the Afghan government has not conducted any negotiations yet."	加尼的发言人阿杰马勒·奥贝德·阿比迪(Ajmal Obaid Abidy)周一表示，“阿富汗政府尚未开展任何谈判。”
"We stand by our promise to the Afghan people that when the talks begin, they will be transparent and the people will be informed," he said.	他说，“我们遵守对阿富汗人民做出的承诺，谈判开启时会公布相关消息，我们会告知阿富汗人民。”
The Taliban, for their part, issued a statement on Sunday saying that they never took part in a meeting with the Afghan government. But the three main Taliban attendees were not official representatives of the Afghan Taliban. They live in Pakistan, where they are said to have regular contact with the Pakistani spy agency.	塔利班在周日发表声明称，他们从未与阿富汗政府举行会谈。但塔利班方面的三名主要出席者并非阿富汗塔利班的官方代表。他们住在巴基斯坦，这些人据称与巴基斯坦间谍机构经常联系。
The three were Mullah Jalil, a former foreign minister; Mullah Abdul Razaq, a former interior minister; and Mullah Hassan Rahmani, a former governor of Kandahar Province.	这三人是前外交部长毛拉贾利勒(Mullah Jalil)、前内政部长毛拉阿卜杜勒·拉扎克(Mullah Abdul Razaq)、前坎大哈省省长毛拉哈桑·拉赫马尼(Mullah Hassan Rahmani)。
A Chinese Foreign Ministry spokeswoman said Monday that she had no specific information on the meeting in Urumqi, which was first reported by The Wall Street Journal.	中国外交部的一名女发言人在周一表示，她不了解在乌鲁木齐召开的会议的具体信息，首先报道这一消息的是《华尔街日报》(Wall Street Journal)。
"I am not aware of the situation you mentioned," the spokeswoman, Hua Chunying, said at a regularly scheduled news conference in Beijing. "As a friendly neighbor of Afghanistan, China highly values developing China-Afghanistan relations and hopes that Afghanistan will achieve enduring peace, stability and development at an early date."	“我不了解你提到的情况，”外交部发言人华春莹在北京举行的例行记者会上说。“作为阿富汗的友好邻邦，中国高度重视发展中阿关系，希望阿富汗早日实现持久和平、稳定与发展。”

Li Xin, the head of the Center for Russia and Central Asian Studies at the Shanghai Institute for International Studies, said: "China simply provided them a place to talk, in a bid to stabilize the situation in Afghanistan. It is normal, since both sides find it difficult to meet face to face in their own country. It is more convenient for them to negotiate on the territory of a third party that can mediate the disputes."	上海国际问题研究院俄罗斯中亚研究中心主任李新表示，“中国只是为他们提供了一个会谈的场所，期望能使阿富汗局势恢复稳定。这很正常，因为双方都觉得很难在自己的国家面对面地交谈。对他们来说，在一个能够调停争端的第三方的领土上进行谈判更方便。”
Mr. Li added: "China still upholds its noninterference principle, but it intends to play a much bigger role in stabilizing its western border as the situation deteriorates. Military intervention is not an option for China, so it can only push for talks among all parties to realize regional peace."	李新还表示，“中国仍然坚持不干涉的原则，但随着局势的恶化，中国打算发挥更大的作用，促进西部边境的稳定。中国不会考虑进行军事干预，因此只能推动各方参加谈判，实现地区和平。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150526/c26china	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150526/c26china
Axact Chief Executive Arrested in Pakistan Over Fake Diplomas Scandal	巴基斯坦假文凭公司 CEO 被捕
KARACHI, Pakistan — Pakistani investigators arrested the chief executive of Axact, a software company accused of running a global diploma mill, early Wednesday after discovering a storage room filled with blank fake degrees.	巴基斯坦卡拉奇——巴基斯坦的调查人员于周三早些时候在软件公司 Axact 发现了一个装满空白假学位证书的储藏室后，指控该公司运行一个全球性的文凭伪造工厂，逮捕了公司的首席执行官。
The chief executive, Shoaib Ahmed Shaikh, and four other Axact executives were initially charged with fraud, forgery and illegal electronic money transfers, law enforcement officials said. The charges were later expanded to include money laundering and violating Pakistan's electronic crimes act.	执法人员表示，首席执行官沙耶布·艾哈迈德·谢赫(Shoaib Ahmed Shaikh)及其他四名 Axact 高管最初被指控犯有欺诈、伪造和非法电子资金转移罪。他们被指控的罪名后来增添了洗钱、以及违反巴基斯坦的电子犯罪法。
The arrests were a sharp blow to a company that claimed to be Pakistan's biggest software exporter and that was on the cusp of starting a major television network. Axact has been under investigation	这些人被逮捕是对这个自称为巴基斯坦最大软件出口商公司的强烈打击，该公司正打算启动一个主要的电视网络。自从 5 月 19 日《纽约时报》发表一篇文章，描述了该公司如何通过运作几百个假的在线教育网站赚取了数百

since May 19, after an article in The New York Times described how the company had made millions of dollars by running hundreds of fake online education websites.	万美元之后，Axact 公司受到调查。
Since then, federal investigators have sealed Axact offices in Karachi and Islamabad and requested help from Interpol and the F.B.I. Mr. Shaikh sought to defend himself in a series of television interviews and video appeals, and he asked the courts to halt the investigation.	从那时起，联邦调查人员查封了 Axact 在卡拉奇和伊斯兰堡的办公室，并向国际刑警和美国联邦调查局寻求帮助。谢赫曾试图在一系列电视采访和视频呼吁中为自己辩护，他还要求法庭停止调查。
But his legal move proved unsuccessful, and late Tuesday, after hours of questioning, he led investigators to a building next to the Axact headquarters in the upscale Karachi neighborhood of Defence.	但他所采取的法律措施没有成功，周二晚，在接受了几个小时的讯问之后，他把调查人员带到设在国防部附近的卡拉奇高档社区的 Axact 总部大楼。
Inside, they found a room filled with blank certificates bearing the letterheads of dozens of fake universities and high schools operated by Axact under names like Bay View, Cambell State, Oxdell and Nixon.	在大楼里，调查人员发现了一个房间，里面装满了带有 Axact 经营的假大学和假高中名字的空白文凭，学校名称包括湾景(Bay View)、堪布贝尔州立(Cambell State)、欧克斯贝尔(Oxdell)，以及尼克松(Nixon)。
"There were hundreds of thousands of documents there," said Shahid Hayat, head of the local office of the Federal Investigation Agency, which is leading the inquiry.	"在那里找到了成千上万的证书，"领导此次调查的联邦调查机构当地办事处的负责人沙希德·哈亚特(Shahid Hayat)说。
Pakistani television networks broadcast images of the room, and of Mr. Shaikh, wearing a black polo shirt with the Axact logo, being led to a car waiting outside the office. As he got into the car, he could be heard telling officials of the investigation agency that he would "see to every one of them."	巴基斯坦电视台网播放了该房间和身穿带有 Axact 标志的黑色马球衫的谢赫的图片，他被带进一辆等待在办公楼外的车子。当他上车时，可以听到他对该调查机构的官员说，他会"留意他们每个人"。
Mr. Hayat, the investigator, expressed surprise at the remark. "I don't think he can threaten us," he said.	调查员哈亚特对上述言论表示诧异。他说，"我觉得他不可能威胁我们。"
Mr. Shaikh appeared in court later on Wednesday. A judge granted the Federal Investigation Agency custody of Mr. Shaikh and the four other	谢赫随后在周三出现在法庭上。法官批准了联邦调查机构将谢赫及其他四名高管拘留到6月4日。调查人员早些时候曾表示，在他们检查 Axact 网络的

executives until June 4. Investigators had said earlier that they would seek to extend his detention by 14 days while they examined the Axact network, which spans a number of countries and includes several offshore companies.	同时，他们将寻求将拘留期延长 14 天，该公司的网络跨越多个国家，还包括几个离岸公司。
Axact's online activities appear to have effectively shut down. Attempts by a reporter to contact sales agents at 221 of the company's websites in recent days produced no response. Several of the fake accreditation bodies set up by the company, in a bid to bestow legitimacy on the universities, have gone offline.	Axact 的网上活动似乎已基本上停止。记者最近几天曾试图联系该公司 221 个网站的销售代理，但无人响应。该公司为给这些大学赋予合法性而设立的几家假鉴定机构也已经下线。
Pakistan has requested F.B.I. assistance because many of the universities run by Axact purported to be based in the United States, operated bank accounts and mailboxes there and sold fake degrees to Americans. Axact sales agents also sold State Department authentication certificates bearing Secretary of State John Kerry's signature.	巴基斯坦已要求美国联邦调查局提供帮助，因为许多 Axact 运作的大学号称设在美国，在美国有银行帐户和邮箱，并向美国人出售假文凭。Axact 的销售代理还出售带有美国国务卿约翰·克里(John Kerry)签名的认证证书。
Experts say that fake degrees can pose dangers to public safety and national security in many parts of the world and can enable immigration fraud. They can also have serious consequences for customers who are caught using them.	专家们说，假学位会给世界许多地方的公共安全和国家安全造成危害，可为移民欺诈制造便利，也会给被发现使用它们的客户带来严重后果。
Two former Axact officials, speaking separately, said that in 2009, an American married couple, both members of the United States military serving in Iraq, emailed Axact to say that they faced courts-martial for having presented academic credentials bought from a university run by Axact.	Axact 的两名前高管曾在 2009 年分别表示，作为美国军方人员并同在伊拉克服役的一对美国夫妇给 Axact 发电子邮件称，他们因提供从 Axact 运作的一所大学买来的学历证明而面临军事法庭审判。
The couple requested an accreditation certificate from the university to	据前销售代理艾哈迈德(Ahmed)说——他要求记者不给出他的姓——这对夫

help defend themselves, said Ahmed, a former sales agent who asked that his last name not be used. An Axact manager instructed subordinates to block the couple's calls, he said.	妇为在法庭上帮助自己辩护, 请求该大学提供认证证书。艾哈迈德说, Axact 的一名经理曾指示下属屏蔽这对夫妇打来的电话。
Mr. Shaikh has vehemently denied any wrongdoing but admitted some involvement in the online degree business. In his last video message before his arrest, he said Axact provided telephone support and what he termed "document management services" for other companies. He did not identify those companies.	谢赫一直极力否认有任何不当行为, 但承认参与了网上学位生意。在被捕之前制作的最后视频信息中, 他说, Axact 为其他公司提供电话支持、以及他称之为“文件管理服务”的业务。他没有透露这些公司的名字。
The scandal has cast a cloud over Bol, the Axact television and newspaper group that had planned to begin broadcasting in June. On Saturday, the network's editor in chief and several leading journalists resigned, after Pakistan's interior minister spoke of "substantive" evidence against Axact.	这一丑闻已让 Bol 蒙上阴影, Bol 是 Axact 的电视和报业集团, 曾计划在六月开始运营。上周六, 在巴基斯坦内政部长提到针对 Axact 的“大量证据”后, 该媒体网络的主编和几位知名记者辞职。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150529/c29pakistan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150529/c29pakistan
Bangladesh Police Charge 41 With Murder Over Rana Plaza Collapse	孟加拉国制衣大楼坍塌事故元凶遭起诉
DHAKA, Bangladesh — The police in Bangladesh filed formal murder charges on Monday against 41 people accused of involvement in the 2013 collapse of a building that housed several clothing factories, leaving more than 1,100 people dead in the worst disaster in garment industry history.	周一, 孟加拉国警方正式对被指与 2013 年的一起大楼坍塌事件有牵连的 41 人提起谋杀指控。当时, 涉事大楼里有多家服装厂, 而坍塌事件导致超过 1100 人死亡。这是制衣业历史上死亡人数最高的一场灾难。
Among those charged were Sohel Rana, the owner of the building; his parents, the owners of several factories in the building; and at least a dozen government officials, according to a state prosecutor, Anwarul Kabir, who is part of the legal team that will pursue the case.	据孟加拉国检察官安瓦尔·卡比尔(Anwarul Kabir)介绍, 被告包括大楼的主人索赫尔·拉纳(Sohel Rana)及其父母, 也就是楼内几家服装厂的老板, 还有至少十几名政府官员。卡比尔所在的法律团队将追查这起案件。
If convicted, the accused could face the death penalty, said Bijoy	周一提起指控的调查人员比乔伊·克里士纳·卡尔(Bijoy Krishna Kar)表示, 一

Krishna Kar, the investigating officer who filed the charges on Monday.	一旦罪名成立，被告或将面临死刑。
The collapse of Rana Plaza led to an international outcry, and to a commitment by Western retailers to widespread inspections of Bangladesh's thousands of apparel factories.	这栋名叫拉纳广场的大楼的垮塌引发了国际社会的强烈抗议，也促使西方零售商承诺对孟加拉国的数千家服装厂进行大范围检查。
Mr. Kabir said the investigating officer for the police had also submitted to a court in Dhaka, the capital, charges against 18 people for building code violations. Of those 18 people, 17 were among those charged with murder on Monday, including Mr. Rana and his parents.	卡比尔称，警方的调查人员还向首都达卡的一家法院递交了诉状，控告 18 人违反建筑规范。在这 18 人中，有 17 人同是周一被控谋杀的被告，包括拉纳及其父母。
A high-level state report released in 2013 found that the building was constructed with substandard materials in violation of building codes, and recommended bringing formal charges against the owner, Mr. Rana, as well as against the owners of five factories in the building.	2013 年发布的一份高级别官方报告显示，这栋大楼使用的是劣质建材，违反了建筑规范。该报告建议对大楼的所有人拉纳及楼内五家服装厂的老板提出正式指控。
The report stated that owners of the factories urged employees to return to work even after an engineer inspected the building the day before the collapse and deemed it unsafe. The upper stories of the building were illegally constructed, and heavy generators installed there caused the building to shake, it said.	文中称，就在坍塌的前一天，有位工程师去检查了大楼，并认定其不安全，但工厂老板依旧催促工人回去工作。报告说，大楼上面几层属违法建筑，安装在那里的重型发电机导致整栋楼摇摇晃晃。
"The workers were scared of losing their life or getting injury from the day before the building collapsed," said Mr. Kar. "The building and factory owners and others accused in cool head compelled the scared workers to join the work."	"从坍塌的前一天开始，工人们就怕会丧命或受伤，"卡尔说。"大楼主人、服装厂老板和其他一些人被控在头脑清醒的情况下强迫这些惊恐不已的工人继续工作。"
Bangladesh has more than 5,000 garment factories, handling orders for nearly all of the world's top brands and retailers, and is second in garment manufacturing output behind China. It has the lowest wages for garment workers in the world, and the collapse at Rana Plaza drew	孟加拉国有超过 5000 家服装厂，订单来自世界上几乎所有顶级的品牌和零售商。孟加拉国的服装制造业产量仅次于中国。该国制衣工人的薪水则是世界上最低的。拉纳广场的垮塌引起了人们对服装行业不安全操作的重视。 attention to unsafe practices in the industry.

The formal charges are a significant step toward the prosecution of garment factory owners, who often enjoy impunity in the country because of the economic heft and power of the industry.	正式指控是追究服装厂老板责任的重要步骤。在孟加拉国，因为该行业在经济上的重要性及其具有的影响力，服装厂老板常常能免于责罚。
But at least one victim did not believe that justice would come speedily. Mili Khatun, 25, a worker in one of the factories in Rana Plaza, was caught in the collapse, but locals rescued her from the rubble. Her husband, a cutting master in the same factory, was killed.	然而，至少有一名受害人不相信正义会迅速来到。25岁的米力·卡坦(Mili Khatun)也是拉纳广场一家服装厂的工人。坍塌事件发生时，她被困其中。当地人从碎石堆中把她救了出来。丈夫和她在同一家工厂工作，是一名裁剪师傅，在事故中遇难。
"I wanted punishment of the culprits, I wanted justice. I am not alone, all the victims wanted the same thing," said Ms. Khatun. "I have doubts that the culprits will be punished."	"我希望罪犯能够受到惩罚，希望正义能够来到。我不是一个人，所有的受害者都有这样的期待，"卡坦说。"我不知道罪犯会不会受到惩罚。"
Taslima Akhter, the coordinator of Bangladesh Garment Workers Solidarity, a worker's organization, pointed out that it took the police two years to file charges.	劳工组织孟加拉国制衣工人团结工会(Bangladesh Garment Workers Solidarity)的协调员塔斯利马·阿克特尔(Taslima Akhter)指出，警方在事件发生两年后才提出指控。
"Now our concern is we are not sure how long it will take to complete trial to ensure final justice for the victims of the Rana Plaza tragedy," she said.	"我们现在顾虑的是，不知道多久之后审判才能结束，让拉纳广场悲剧的受害人能够得到公正，"她说。
Mr. Rana was arrested days after the disaster, apparently while hiding near the Indian border. He was a powerful businessman in the country, and some landowners in the Savar municipality, where Rana Plaza was located, said that he bullied them into giving up their land to build the structure.	事件发生好几天后，拉纳才被捕。当时他藏匿在印度边境附近。他曾是孟加拉国的商业巨头。拉纳广场所在地区萨瓦的一些土地所有人称，拉纳恐吓他们放弃了自己的土地，让他来盖了这栋建筑。
A hearing for the case is scheduled for June 28 in a court in Dhaka, Mr. Kabir said.	卡比尔表示，这起案件的听证将于6月28日在达卡的一家法院举行。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150602/c02bangladesh	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150602/c02bangladesh

Karachi Heat Wave Death Toll Tops 650, Officials Say	热浪侵袭巴基斯坦致数百人死亡
KARACHI, Pakistan — Karachi’s poor have long learned to cope with the many adversities that afflict Pakistan’s most crowded and chaotic city, including flooding, street violence and political crises. But since a suffocating heat wave descended on Karachi three days ago, killing at least 650 people, they have found no respite and no escape.	巴基斯坦卡拉奇——对于困扰这座巴基斯坦最拥挤、最混乱的城市的各种灾难，比如洪水、街头暴力和政治危机，卡拉奇的穷人们早就学会了如何应对。然而，一股令人窒息的热浪在三天前袭来，至今已导致至少 650 人死亡。这一状况没有得到任何缓解，令他们无路可逃。
“It’s so hot,” said a security guard, Shamim ur-Rehman, 34, as he sat on a cot, beleaguered. “There is no fan, there is nothing. I can’t sleep at night or during the day.”	“太热了，”34 岁的保安沙米姆·拉赫曼(Shamim ur-Rehman)说。他坐在一张行军床上，备受炎热困扰。“没有风扇，什么都没有，白天晚上都睡不着。”
Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif declared an emergency on Tuesday as the death toll from the heat wave soared, with overwhelmed hospitals struggling to treat a surge of casualties and morgues filling to capacity. The army set up emergency treatment centers in the streets and the provincial government closed schools and city offices.	高温引发的死亡人数在急剧上升，各大医院疲于应对大批涌入的伤员，太平间也已经达到人数上限。在这样的形势下，巴基斯坦总理纳瓦兹·谢里夫(Nawaz Sharif)于周二宣布进入紧急状态。军队在街道上搭建急救场所，当地的省级政府下令学校停课，市政办公场所停业。
The Edhi foundation, which runs an ambulance service and Karachi’s largest morgue, said it had collected over 600 bodies in recent days.	拥有卡拉奇最大的停尸房、并提供救护车服务的艾德希基金会(Edhi foundation)表示，他们在最近几天已经接收了 600 多具尸体。
“The first to die were the people on the streets — heroin addicts, beggars, the homeless,” said Anwar Kazmi, a spokesman for the service. “Then it was the elderly, particularly those who didn’t have anyone to take care of them.”	基金会的发言人安瓦尔·卡兹米(Anwar Kazmi)表示，“最早死亡的是在街头生活的人——海洛因成瘾者、乞丐和无家可归的人。然后是老年人，尤其是那些没人照顾的。”
In many ways, the emergency is the product of a perfect storm of meteorological, political and religious factors in Karachi.	从许多方面讲，这场危机是卡拉奇的气象、政治和宗教因素共同促成的一场完美风暴带来的后果。
Chronic shortages of water and electricity have exacerbated the impact of the heat wave, which has brought temperatures up to 45 Celsius, or 113 degrees Fahrenheit, in a crowded city of 20 million people that is	热浪使得气温最高达到摄氏 45 度，而长期缺水缺电加剧了这种天气的影响。在这座人口达 2000 万的拥挤城市里，通风基本只能靠海风吹。 normally ventilated by a seabreeze.

The health dangers are further exacerbated by the demands of the annual Ramadan fast, when most Muslims abstain from eating or drinking water during daylight hours.	此时正值一年一度的斋月期间，大部分穆斯林会在白天戒食禁水。这也加重了高温天气带来的健康威胁。
In Karachi, that means about 15 hours with no source of hydration — a factor that has particularly affected manual laborers and street vendors, who work outside under the sun.	在卡拉奇，斋月意味着 15 小时没有任何水源补充。这尤其影响到在户外日头下工作的体力劳动者和街头商贩。
Dr. Seemin Jamali, head of the Jinnah hospital's emergency wing, said 272 people had died there from heat-related conditions, including dehydration. The smaller Abbasi Shaheed Hospital said 56 bodies had been brought in since Monday night.	真纳(Jinnah)医院急诊部主任思敏·贾马里(Seemin Jamali)表示，该院有 272 名病人死于与高温有关的状况，其中包括脱水。规模较小的阿巴西·沙希德医院(Abbasi Shaheed Hospital)则表示，自周一晚上以来该院已收入 56 具尸体。
Officials said the majority of the victims were men over the age of 50, especially day laborers from lower-income groups.	卡拉奇官员表示，大部分受害者是 50 岁以上的男性，尤其是来自低收入群体的日间劳工。
Although Karachi residents are used to dealing with other emergencies — stockpiling groceries, for example, during bouts of street violence — they seemed at a loss for how to manage the extended heat wave.	尽管卡拉奇居民习惯于应对其他各种紧急情况——比如他们会在时常出现的街头暴乱期间囤积日常用品——但是面对不断加剧的高温，他们似乎有些不知所措。
The electricity shortages are the product of decades-long mismanagement of Pakistan's national grid, and are often worse at dusk when many people are cooking in preparation for the end of the fast.	缺电是巴基斯坦国家电网几十年来管理不善的后果，而且通常在傍晚时分，很多人结束斋戒开始做饭的时候会更加严重。
Not only do the power cuts make air-conditioning units and ceiling fans useless, they also reduce the water supply by shutting down pumps. Ice is in short supply and being sold for a premium in many neighborhoods.	停电不仅会使空调设备和电扇瘫痪，还会因为电泵无法工作而导致供水减少。在很多社区，冰块因为短缺都会被加价出售。
"We try and sit in the shade," said Mohammad Yusuf, 32, a laborer who works on a moving crew with a pickup truck. "We went all the way near	"我们尽量坐在阴凉里，"32 岁的穆罕默德·优素福(Mohammad Yusuf)说，他跟一个搬运队乘皮卡车四处做活。"我们今天一路开到港口附近，在一棵

the port today and sat under a tree for three hours.”	树下坐了三个小时。”
At the Jinnah hospital, Dr. Jamali said her staff had treated over 5,000 patients between Saturday and Monday. The heat, not the fasting, was the principal factor in the deaths, she said.	在真纳医院，贾马里表示，从周六到周一，她的员工已经接治了 5000 多名患者。她说，最重要的致死因素是这一波热浪，而不是斋戒。
Although many continued to fast, others quietly admitted that they were unable to cope with the demands of their faith. Subah Sadiq, a fruit vendor and father of seven, said it was impossible to stand in the street all day without drinking anything.	尽管有很多人继续禁食，但其他一些人暗地里承认，他们无法承受信仰的要求。苏巴·萨迪克(Subah Sadiq)是一名卖水果的摊贩，也是七个孩子的父亲。他说，一整天都站在街上却什么都不喝是不可能的。
“This is the only way to survive,” he said.	“这是唯一的活路，”他说。
Even for those not fasting, staying hydrated is a challenge: under Pakistani law, eating and drinking in public places are illegal during Ramadan, although some clerics said their followers could break the fast if their health was in danger.	即便是对那些不禁食的人来说，保持不脱水也是一个挑战：按照巴基斯坦的法律，斋月期间在公共场所吃喝是违法的，不过一些神职人员称，如果健康存在危险，信徒可以违反斋戒的规定。
Mr. Rehman, the building watchman, was refusing to give up.	大楼保安拉赫曼不愿放弃斋戒。
“As long as I have some life in me, and strong intentions, I will fast,” he said.	“只要还有些力气和强烈的意愿，我就会斋戒，”他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150624/c24pakistan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150624/c24pakistan
China Opens New Land Route to Tibet for Indian Pilgrims	中国为印度朝圣者开辟进藏新路线
Among the high peaks of the Tibetan plateau, dozens of Indian pilgrims walked slowly through the sentry post, breathed in the thin air and continued to the town of Yadong, on the side of the rugged border controlled by China.	在青藏高原的群峰之间，数十位印度朝圣者吸着稀薄的空气、缓缓走过岗哨，继续前往位于崎岖的边境线中国一侧的亚东县。
The crossing on Monday of Nathu La, a high-altitude pass between Sikkim in India and Chinese-ruled Tibet, signaled the official opening of a new pilgrimage route for Indians to the holy sites of Mount Kailash	朝圣者周一在乃堆拉山口(Nathu La)过境，这表明冈仁波齐峰(Mount Kailash)和玛旁雍错湖(Lake Manasarovar)的朝圣路线正式对印度人开放，那里是印度教与佛教的圣地。在印度游说多年以后，中印双方最近公布协议， and Lake Manasarovar, considered sacred by Hindus and Buddhists. China and India recently announced an agreement to allow pilgrims through Nathu La after India had lobbied for the opening for years.	允许朝圣客取道乃堆拉山口。乃堆拉山口是印度锡金邦(Sikkim)与中国治下的西藏之间的一处高海拔关口。

Officials reached the agreement to open the pass to pilgrims during President Xi Jinping's visit to India in September, according to Xinhua, the Chinese state-run news agency.	据新华社报道，两国官方在中国国家主席习近平于去年9月访问印度期间，达成了开放关口供朝圣者通行的协议。
Nathu La is the second official Himalayan crossing point for Indian pilgrims. The older route goes over a more arduous pass that connects Uttarakhand, India, with Tibet. The time needed for the new route is days shorter. The group of Indians that crossed Nathu La on Monday are on a 12-day pilgrimage.	乃堆拉山口是喜马拉雅山脉上第二个正式供印度朝圣者通行的过境点。从北阿坎德邦(Uttarakhand)前往西藏的旧路线上，路途更为艰苦，新路线则可节省几天时间。周一通过乃堆拉山口的印度香客的朝圣行程共12天。
The crossing was the first time that Indians who are not traders from the immediate border area had entered Tibet via the pass, which is 4,310 meters, or 14,140 feet, above sea level. One pilgrim, Manoj Aggarwal of New Delhi, told a reporter for India Today, "This is a route that is much better."	这是印度首次有边境商人以外的人士从这个关口通过。这个关口海拔高达4310米。一位名为马诺哲·阿葛瓦(Manoj Aggarwal)的新德里朝圣者向《今日印度》(India Today)的记者表示，“这条路好很多。”
The Indian reporter, Ananth Krishnan, had been waiting in Yadong for the pilgrims to arrive. Foreign journalists are not allowed to travel in Tibet without special permission from Chinese officials, which Mr. Krishnan had apparently gotten. Mr. Krishnan sent out a series of Twitter posts describing the occasion: "History made as first Indians to cross into China here," he wrote.	印度记者阿南特·克里希南(Ananth Krishnan)在亚东等待朝圣者到达。外国记者未经中国官员的特别许可，不得前往西藏，但看来克里希南已经取得了许可。克里希南发送了数则Twitter讯息，描述这一事件。他写道：“印度人首度从这里进入中国，写下了历史。”
The oldest traveler, Amarlal Minda, 70, told Mr. Krishnan that this pilgrimage might be the last: "I can go to heaven happily."	最为年长的香客是70岁的阿玛莱·敏达(Amarlal Minda)，他向克里希南表示这可能是他最后一次朝圣：“我可以幸福地归天了。”
Over the next three months, five more groups will travel on the new	接下来三个月内，还有五个以上的朝圣团将旅经新路线。中国限制印度朝圣

route. China limits the number of Indian pilgrims who are allowed to enter Tibet each year. In the winter, heavy snowfall blocks many Himalayan passes, including Nathu La.	者每年进入西藏的人数。冬季的大雪则会使喜马拉雅山上包括乃堆拉山口在内的许多关口封闭。
Since China and India fought a war over Himalayan territory in 1962, the exact location of the mountainous border between the two nations has been the source of fiery diplomatic disputes. The focus of the tensions is generally on the remote area of Tawang in the Indian state of Arunachal Pradesh. China claims the area, where the local people speak a form of Tibetan, as its territory. Recently, Chinese soldiers alarmed the Indian government by crossing the border into the Indian territory of Ladakh, in the western Himalayas.	中印双方曾在 1962 年为喜马拉雅山的领土开战，之后两国就高山中边境线的确切位置发生过激烈的外交争议。冲突的焦点通常是印度阿鲁纳恰尔邦（Arunachal Pradesh，中国官方称藏南地区。——译注）达旺县的边远地区。当地人的语言与藏语近似，中国宣称该地区属中国领土。中国士兵最近曾跨越边境，进入位于喜马拉雅山西部的印度领土拉达克(Ladakh)，令印度政府紧张。
On Monday, Xinhua reported that Nathu La had been opened “to further promote religious exchanges between the two countries.” Over the last decade, 80,000 Indian pilgrims have come to Tibet, the news agency reported.	新华社周一报道，乃堆拉山口是“为进一步促进两国宗教交流”而开放的。据新华社报道，过去十年来有八万名印度朝圣者进入西藏。
Bill Bishop, an American entrepreneur and writer of the Sinocism China Newsletter in Beijing, said he witnessed many Indian pilgrims in matching winter jackets riding on horses last August when he, his partner and their 8-year-old twin daughters did a trek around Mount Kailash. It took them three days. The trail rises more than 5,600 meters, or 18,370 feet, above sea level at the crossing of the Drolma La, the highest pass on the route. Tibetan pilgrims often walk the circuit in one day.	常驻北京的美国企业家利明璋(Bill Bishop)为 Sinocism 中国通讯撰文。他说在去年 8 月与伴侣和八岁的双胞胎女儿环行冈仁波齐峰时，见过许多穿着同色冬衣、骑着马的印度朝圣者。这趟旅程花了他们三天时间，旅途中最高的过境点卓玛拉山口高达海拔 5600 米。西藏朝圣者经常在一天之内绕行一圈。
Mr. Bishop said that, like the Indian pilgrims, his family stopped at Lake Manasarovar and spent two nights there. He said his family members	利明璋说，他们一家像印度朝圣者一样，在玛旁雍错湖边停留两晚。他说自己的家人“从一开始便适应了气候，不过我认为如果不是藏人，身处 5000

"were pretty well acclimated by the time we started, though I think it is hard for almost any non-Tibetan when you are up over 5,000 meters."	米以上的高地并不容易”。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150624/c24sino-pilgrims	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150624/c24sino-pilgrims
India Needs a Plan to Put Rails Back on Track	私有化无望，印度铁路改革停滞不前
On Sunday, when Railway Minister Suresh Prabhu performed yoga with scores of other people, he lay in the corpse pose, which is an imitation of death. He dozed off. When someone poked him, he sprang up and began rotating his head. It was a joy for metaphor-hunters, because Mr. Prabhu heads an organization that once appeared to be dead but is now, he says, "emerging out of a deep slumber."	周日，印度铁道部长苏雷什·普拉布(Suresh Prabhu)与另外几十人一起做瑜伽，他躺下做“睡尸式”(corpse pose)，这是个模仿死亡的姿势。他躺着睡着了，有人捅醒他时，他跳起身来开始摇头晃脑。乐于寻找隐喻的人该高兴了，因为普拉布领导的机构一度形如僵死，现在他说，铁道系统“正在从沉睡中醒来”。
Over the decades, India has tried to make its gigantic railway system competent, which has led to several committees that have in turn submitted hundreds of pages of reports. Tired of it all, Narendra Modi, before he became prime minister last year, said if he had the power he would "privatize" the railway.	在过去几十年里，印度一直努力想让该国庞大的铁路系统能够运转得当，于是成立了数个委员会，这些委员会又提交了成百上千页的报告。纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)厌倦了这一切，在去年成为总理之前他就表示，如果获得领导权就会推动铁路“私有化”。
But as prime minister and a practical man, Mr. Modi has abandoned the plan, fearing a revolt by the overstuffed agency's employees. There is a subdued acceptance now in his government that it is not wise to expect a radical transformation of the railway and that any change will be slow, and far from dramatic.	然而作为总理和一个务实的人，莫迪由于担心遭到这个臃肿机构的职员大肆反对，抛弃了上述方案。如今在他的政府内部，官员们已经不情愿地接受了，期待铁路系统剧烈转型并不明智，任何转变都会很慢，而且远远称不上显著。
To improve the railway, Mr. Prabhu has created yet another committee, which is headed by the industrialist Ratan Tata, who had once lamented the work culture of managers in two British firms that he had planned to acquire. "Friday, from 3:30 p.m.," he said, "you can't find anybody in their office." It would be amusing to know his views of the	为了改善铁路体系，普拉布又建立了一个委员会，委员会主席是工业家拉坦·塔塔(Ratan Tata)。塔塔曾经哀叹过，他曾经计划收购的两家英国企业的那些经理人，工作态度不佳。“周五，刚3点半，”他说，“他们的办公室里就找不到人了。”印度铁路的管理人员在周五下午3点半时倒是能在办公室里找到，但是他们被普遍认为工作不饱和、效率低，而且腐败。要是知道塔塔

managers of Indian Railways who can often be found in their offices at 3:30 p.m. on Fridays, but are widely believed to be underworked, inefficient and corrupt. "The golden wisdom in the railway," according to a retired official who did not wish to be named, "is never take a decision." It is too risky.	对此作何感想，该是多么有趣。“铁路系统的金科玉律，”一位不愿具名的退休官员说，“就是不要做决策。”决策的风险太大了。
Last September, another committee was formed, which was headed by the economist Bibek Debroy, who turned in his report this month. The report takes care to note that it does not recommend the privatization of the railways, but it does recommend that private companies be allowed to take over some of the operations and services. That was still offensive to the railway's unions, and they plan to protest on Tuesday. On that day they may probably work less than usual.	去年9月，又一个委员会成立了，负责人是经济学家比贝克·德布罗伊(Bibek Debroy)，他这个月已经提交了报告。报告中谨慎地提到，不建议铁路系统私有化，但建议允许私营企业接管一些经营和服务任务。但这仍然激怒了铁路工会，他们计划在周二举行示威。到那一天，他们可能会比平常工作得再少一些。
Indian Railways is primarily a form of employment that also runs trains. It employs more than 1.3 million people, and in the last fiscal year earned about 1.6 trillion rupees, or $25.2 billion, or less than 14 percent of the revenue of Apple. The railway spends almost as much as it earns. Often it turns in a small profit, but that is a result of legally sanctioned accounting wizardry. For instance, the way it calculates depreciation on its assets is not how companies conduct the same exercise. Also, it does not spend as much as it should on upgrading its trains, research or on safety.	印度铁路主要是一个雇主，只是碰巧在经营铁路运输。其雇员有1300万人，在上一财年营收1.6万亿卢比，约合1564亿元人民币，不足苹果的14%。印度铁路花的钱几乎和赚的钱一样多。它时常能有小小的盈利，但那是法律允许的会计花招产生的结果。例如，印度铁路计算资产折旧的方法，就与企业开展相同操作的做法不同。此外，它对列车升级、研发和安全的投资，却达不到应有的水平。
The Debroy committee has recommended that Indian Railways adopt respectable accounting practices, so that the organization and its probable private partners can fully evaluate the economics of running trains.	德布罗伊的委员会建议，印度铁路采用广受尊重的会计规范，从而让该机构自身，以及潜在的私营部门合作伙伴，全面地评估经营铁路的经济效益。

Mr. Prabhu's overarching solution for rescuing the railway system is to procure more investment from sources that include private corporations. The Debroy committee says that unless the accounting practices of the railway change, it will struggle to lure money from organizations that the Indian government cannot influence.	普拉布为全面拯救铁路系统而提出的方案是，从包括私营企业在内的各种来源筹措投资资金。德布罗伊的委员会表示，除非改革铁路系统的会计操作方式，否则很难从印度政府无法施加影响的实体吸引投资。
Indian Railways operates more than 19,000 trains and carries 23 million passengers every day. India is one of the four countries in the world whose railway systems carry more than a billion tons of freight each year. It is crucial to India's poor, and passenger fares are so low that the railway system loses about 30 rupees for every kilometer a passenger travels. It makes a profit of about 48 rupees for every kilometer a ton of goods is carried.	印度铁路运营着超过 1.9 万辆列车，每天搭载 2300 万名乘客。铁路系统年货物运载量超过 10 亿吨的国家有四个，印度就是其中一个。铁路对印度的穷人至关重要，客运车票价格极低，一名乘客乘坐一公里火车，铁路系统就会亏损 30 卢比。而运载一吨货物行驶一公里，则能盈利 48 卢比。
Apart from trains, the railway also runs over a hundred hospitals, over 150 schools and one college. It has its own police force. The Debroy committee has recommended that the railway, to a degree, give up control over these activities. Indian Railways, the committee suggests, is primarily in the business of running trains.	除了火车之外，印度铁路还经营着超过 100 座医院、超过 150 座学校，以及一所高校。印度铁路有自己的警察队伍。德布罗伊委员会建议，铁路系统在一定程度上放弃对这些业务的控制权。委员会提出，印度铁路的主要业务应该是经营火车。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150625/c25letter	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150625/c25letter
Death Toll From Heat Wave in Pakistani Port of Karachi Hits 1,000	巴基斯坦卡拉奇高温已造成逾千人死亡
KARACHI, Pakistan —The death toll reached 1,000 on Thursday in this southern port city as residents grappled with a devastating heat wave that has crippled life and overwhelmed the health care system.	巴基斯坦卡拉奇——星期四，高温让这个南部港口城市的死亡人数达到了 1000 人。当地居民在灾难性的热浪中挣扎，日常生活受到破坏，也让医疗体系不堪重负。
Searing temperatures, which have been as high as 113 degrees Fahrenheit, or 45 degrees Celsius, fell below 100 on Thursday, but a sense of panic and crisis persisted in the city, the country's financial and	灼热的气温此前一度攀升到 113 华氏度（45 摄氏度），在星期四降至 38 摄氏度以下。但在这个国家的金融和商业中心、信德省(Sindh Province)首府城市之中，恐慌和危机感依然持续。 commercial capital as well as the capital of Sindh Province.

There has been a sharp increase in the sale of air-conditioners and room coolers, local traders said. Morgues have run short of space, and hospitals are filled to capacity as patients scramble to be treated for dehydration and heatstroke. The heat wave has sent more than 14,000 people into government and private hospitals here.	当地的商人说，空调和冷气机的销量直线上升。停尸房空间紧缺，医院中同样挤满了病人，人们争抢着治疗脱水和中暑的资源。热浪已经将超过 1.4 万人送入当地公立或私立的医院。
Anwar Kazmi, a spokesman for the Edhi Foundation, which runs a private ambulance service and the city's main morgue, said the group had buried 40 unidentified bodies Thursday and would later bury another 40 later. The morgue, which has a capacity of 200, has been overrun since the heat wave began late last week, and the charity group said it was now looking into expanding the site.	艾德希基金会(Edhi foundation)管理着一个私人急救服务中心以及城市中一个大停尸房。基金会发言人安瓦尔·卡兹米(Anwar Kazmi)称，该组织在星期四已经掩埋了 40 具无名尸体，之后会再埋葬另外 40 具。该停尸房可容纳 200 具尸体，自从上周的热浪袭击后一直处于超额运转状态。该慈善组织称，他们正在计划扩大停尸房面积。
Mr. Kazmi said that quick burials had become unavoidable given the extreme heat and the condition of the bodies. "It has become necessary for us to start burying the bodies because of the bad state we are receiving them in," he said.	卡兹米称，在当前的极端高温及尸体众多的情况下，快速埋葬已经不可避免。“我们必须开始掩埋尸体，因为我们接收到这些尸体时，状况已经很糟糕了，”他说。
The foundation has buried at least 350 people since the heat wave started. While many of the bodies had been unclaimed, he said, workers were taking photographs before the burials in case relatives came forward.	自热浪袭击以来，基金会已经至少埋葬了 350 人。他说，许多尸体无人认领，工作人员会在埋葬之前为其照相，以便亲人前来辨认。
Mr. Kazmi said the Edhi Foundation was putting in place plans to expand the morgue's capacity to 300. "This situation doesn't arise often," he said, "but it's become necessary now for us to improve."	卡兹米表示，艾德希基金会正在落实一个将停尸房容量增加至 300 人的计划。“这种情况虽然不常发生，”他说，“但这是我们现在必须要做的改进。”
Most of the dead, many of them drug addicts and the homeless, have come from the poor areas of the city.	死者中包括许多吸毒者和无家可归的人。他们之中的大多数来自城市中的贫民区。

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150626/c26pakistan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150626/c26pakistan
Gunman Focused on Tourists in Slaughter at a Tunisian Beach Hotel	幸存者回忆突尼斯海滩杀戮时刻
SOUSSE, Tunisia — Dressed in black shorts and a T-shirt, the young man walked purposefully along the beach but looked much like a tourist — until he unwrapped an assault rifle and opened fire, first into the sand and then in an arc at sunbathers.	突尼斯苏斯—那个身穿黑色短裤和T恤的小伙子沿着海滩有目的地走着，看起来与游客没多大差别，直到他把包装中的冲锋枪拿出来，开了火，先是向沙滩，然后提高角度向着享受日光浴的人们。
"He seemed like he did not know how to handle the weapon, because it is heavy," said one witness, Hassen, 30, who declined to give his full name. "He seemed not to be experienced."	"他看起来好像不知道如何使用那个武器，因为枪很沉，"一位30岁的目击者说，他自称叫哈桑(Hassen)，但不愿给出自己的全名。"他似乎没有经验。"
Yet the gunman was silent and businesslike, Hassen and other witnesses said on Saturday. As the tourists fled and saw friends falling, he pursued the sunbathers from the beach to the pool and eventually to the administration offices on the second floor of the Imperial Marhaba Hotel here, killing 39 people and wounding 38 others in all on Friday.	这位枪手一言不发、却效率很高，哈桑和其他目击者上周六说。随着游客四散奔逃，看着朋友在眼前倒下，枪手从海滩到游泳池追击着日浴者们，一直追到这里的马哈巴帝国酒店(Imperial Marhaba Hotel)二层的行政办公室，他上周五总共打死了39人，打伤了38人。
Later identified by the authorities as a 23-year-old Tunisian student, Seifeddine Rezgui, the gunman was eventually shot and killed by a policeman, but not before carrying out Tunisia's worst terrorist attack in living memory.	枪手最终被一名警察开枪打死，当局后来查明了他的身份，他是23岁的突尼斯学生赛费迪奈·雷兹古伊(Seifeddine Rezgui)，他制造了在突尼斯人们记忆中最严重的一起恐怖袭击事件。
The only words he uttered were to tell Tunisians to get away. It was tourists, he made clear, he wanted to kill. Fifteen of them were British, a spokesman for the British Embassy in Tunis said, a number that is expected to rise as more bodies are identified. About the same number of Britons were injured, he said.	他说的唯一一句话是让突尼斯人躲开。他明确表示，游客是他要杀的人。英国驻突尼斯大使馆的一位发言人说，死者中有15名英国人，随着更多的遗体得到确认，这个数字预计还会上升。他说，约有同样数字的英国人受了伤。
"Something was not right," said Christine Callaghan, a middle-aged	"我感觉有点不对头，"来自英国诺福克的中年女子克里斯蒂娜·卡拉汉

woman from Norfolk, England, describing the moment she first heard the gunshots as she lay with her husband by the pool. "It was very long and very loud," she said, from her hospital bed on Saturday. "My husband screamed out: 'Quick, run!' "	(Christine Callaghan)说, 她第一次听到枪声时, 正和丈夫一起在游泳池边躺着。“持续的时间很长, 声音也很大, ”她上周六躺在医院的病床上说。“我的丈夫大喊: ‘快, 快跑!’ ”
The tourists fled in their bathing suits into the hotel through the dining room, piling up mattresses in a corridor for protection, and barricading themselves into a banquet hall as they heard gunfire and explosions.	游客们穿着游泳衣穿过饭厅逃进酒店, 把床垫堆到走廊里作为保护, 他们用障碍物把自己隔离在一个宴会厅里, 同时听到了枪声和爆炸声。
In the rush Mrs. Callaghan lost sight of her husband. "He thought I was in front of him, but I was behind," she said.	在混乱中, 卡拉汉太太找不到丈夫了。“他以为我在他的前面, 但是, 我在后面, ”她说。
As the tourists barricaded the doors, Mrs. Callaghan was locked out, trapped in the corridor as the gunman approached. "I was shot in the femur and fell down. Another lady was shot four times and her leg was across my tummy," she said tearfully.	随着游客把门堵上, 卡拉汉太太被拦在了外边, 她被困在楼道里, 而枪手正在逼近。“我的股骨被射中, 我倒了下来。另一位女士中了四枪, 她的腿压在了我的肚子上, ”她含着泪说。
"She was shot in the stomach. Her husband, Joe — his shirt was completely splattered with blood — was talking to her to keep her awake," she recounted.	卡拉汉太太回忆说, “她的腹部中了枪。她的丈夫乔(Joe)满衬衫都是血, 不停地和她说话, 让她保持清醒。”
The two women lay there for 45 minutes, as Joe desperately called for help, until finally hotel staff crept along the corridor and began carrying people out.	这两名女子在那里躺了 45 分钟, 乔拼命地大声呼救, 直到酒店的工作人员最终从走廊里爬过来, 开始把人往外抬。
Mrs. Callaghan and many of the hotel guests never saw the lone gunman but just heard the shooting. But a group of Tunisians who run paragliding tours on the beach in front of the hotel saw the gunman and even tried to remonstrate with him. The witness Hassen was among them.	卡拉汉太太和酒店的许多客人根本就没有看到那个单干的枪手, 只听到了枪声。但一群突尼斯人看见了枪手, 他们甚至试图劝谏他, 这群突尼斯人当时在酒店前的沙滩上兜售滑翔旅游体验。见证者哈桑是其中之一。
Mr. Rezgui was originally from Gaafour in Siliana, with no known police	突尼斯官员表示, 雷兹古伊的老家是锡勒亚奈的加阿富尔, 他没有已知的犯

record, Tunisian officials said.	罪记录。
The gunman made it plain that the foreigners were his target. Hospital employees in Sousse said seven Tunisians were among the 38 injured, though the gunman made an effort to spare some.	枪手明确地说，外国人是他的目标。苏斯的医院员工说，受伤的 38 人中有 7 名突尼斯人，虽然枪手曾试图避免伤及某些人。
Imen Kashish, a Tunisian mother of three, lay in the city hospital, her face drawn in pain from shrapnel wounds. Her sister, Ines Kashish, who was at her bedside, recounted events that Imen had described.	三个孩子的母亲、突尼斯人伊曼·卡希什(Imen Kashish)躺在市医院里，她被弹片击伤，脸上充满痛苦的表情。她的妹妹伊内斯·卡希什(Ines Kashish)呆在她的床边，讲述了伊曼描述的事件。
Imen Kashish had tried to flee to the roof with hotel guests and workers, her sister said. Then someone said the roof would also be dangerous. As she stood in the corridor wondering where to go, she felt a burning pain as a grenade exploded, peppering her legs and back with shrapnel. "When she fell to the ground, he put a gun to her face," her sister recounted, standing outside her hospital ward. "She said to him: 'For God's sake,' and he did not shoot. He went on and shot two tourists further on."	伊内斯说，伊曼·卡希什曾试图和酒店的客人和工作人员一起逃到屋顶。但有人说，屋顶也很危险。正当她站在走廊里，不知道该往哪去时，她感到一阵火辣辣的疼痛，一枚手榴弹在她身后爆炸，弹片雨点般地落在她的腿上和背部。伊内斯在病房外回忆道，“姐姐倒在地上，他用枪对着姐姐的脸。姐姐对他说：‘看在上帝的份上’，他没有开枪。他走了过去，把子弹射向前面的两名游客。”
After some 30 minutes the gunman went back to the beach and made a phone call. That was when some of the Tunisians approached him.	约 30 分钟后，枪手又回到海滩，打了一个电话。也就是在那时，一些突尼斯人向他走来。
"He made a call for about a minute and then threw the phone in the water," Hassen said. Photographs from the scene show him strolling almost nonchalantly away on the beach. The only words he spoke, they said, were these: "I am not here for you."	“他打了一个约一分钟的电话，然后把手机仍到水里，”哈桑说。现场的照片显示，他几乎若无其事地在海滩上漫步。现场的突尼斯人说，他说的唯一一句话就是：“我不是冲你们来的。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150629/c29tunisia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150629/c29tunisia
Gunman at Tunisian Beach Hotel Trained With Museum Attackers	突尼斯酒店血案凶手曾在利比亚受训
TUNIS — The gunman who massacred 38 foreign tourists at a beachside hotel on Friday trained with a militant group in Libya this	突尼斯——突尼斯国家安全官员周二确认，上周五在海滨度假酒店射杀 38 名外国游客的凶手，今年曾在利比亚境内的一个极端组织受训。同样在那里

year alongside two Tunisians who later killed 22 people at the national museum, security officials confirmed on Tuesday.	接受训练的还有之前在国家博物馆射杀 22 人的两名突尼斯人。
Rafik Chelli, secretary of state for the interior, told The Associated Press that the gunman at the hotel, Seifeddine Rezgui, 24, a graduate of a technical college from central Tunisia, crossed illegally into neighboring Libya in January and trained with an extremist group near the town of Sabratha, in northwestern Libya, near the capital, Tripoli.	突尼斯内政大臣拉菲克·谢利(Rafik Chelli)告诉美联社记者, 在酒店行凶的持枪者、24 岁的赛义夫丁·雷兹吉(Seifeddine Rezgui)毕业于突尼斯中部一所理工大学。今年 1 月, 他非法进入邻国利比亚境内, 在靠近赛普拉泰(Sabratha)镇的一个极端组织里接受训练, 赛普拉泰位于利比亚北部, 靠近首都的黎波里(Tripoli)。
Tunisian officials have said that the two gunmen who attacked the National Bardo Museum in Tunis in March, killing 21 tourists and a police officer, also crossed into Libya for several weeks of training. Mr. Chelli confirmed that they and Mr. Rezgui had been there at the same time. The gunmen at the museum were killed by security forces.	突尼斯官员表示, 今年三月袭击巴尔多国家博物馆(导致 21 名游客和一名警官死亡)的两名持枪男子, 也曾越界进入利比亚境内接受数周的训练。谢利确认这两名凶手和雷兹吉曾在同一时间出现在利比亚。袭击博物馆的两名凶手被安全部队击毙。
The news that Mr. Rezgui trained in Libya was first reported Monday in the daily El Chourouk, which quoted an anonymous source. Police officials in Kairouan, the city that is home to the college where Mr. Rezgui studied, said Monday that he trained for two years in Libya, but it was not clear whether they had specific information or were repeating news reports.	雷兹吉在利比亚受训的消息, 最早由 El Chourouk 日报报道, 该台援引了一位匿名人士提供的信息。凯鲁万市(雷兹吉曾就学的大学所在城市)的警官周一表示, 雷兹吉在利比亚接受了两年训练, 但目前还不清楚他们是有明确信息, 还是在重复媒体之前的报道。
Mr. Rezgui fired on vacationers on their lounge chairs at the beach resort hotel in Sousse, then strode through the hotel complex for about 30 minutes, reloading his assault rifle several times and tossing several grenades, officials and witnesses say. He then walked away on the beach and slipped onto a side street, where the police fatally shot him.	据官员和目击者讲述, 雷兹吉先是朝位于苏塞市的这座海滩度假酒店内躺椅上的游客开枪, 之后在酒店内四处走动, 多次给手中的冲锋枪装弹, 还扔出数个手榴弹, 全过程持续大约 30 分钟。之后他离开海滩, 溜进一条小巷, 在那里被警方击毙。
On the day of the attack, Tunisian officials and the state news agency put the death toll at 39, but the state news agency revised its total to 38	袭击事件发生当天, 突尼斯官员和国家通讯社统计的受害人数已达 39 人, 但通讯社在周二将人数改为 38 人。另有 39 人在这次事件中受伤。

on Tuesday. An additional 39 people were wounded.
Though not aimed specifically at Britons, Friday's attack on the hotel complex was Britain's worst loss of life in a terrorist attack since the July 2005 London bombings. On Friday, a week after the killings, there will be a minute of silence at noon in Britain, and flags will fly at half-staff.	尽管周五在酒店发生的袭击并非特意针对英国人，但这却是自 2005 年伦敦爆炸事件以来，英国人伤亡最大的一次恐怖袭击事件。本周五，即事发一周后，英国将在午间举行一分钟的降半旗默哀仪式。
Of the 33 victims identified so far, 25 were Britons, one was Belgian, two German, three Irish, one Portuguese and one Russian, the state news agency reported Tuesday. Two foreign tourists remain hospitalized in Tunisia. British officials have said they expect the number of British victims to rise to 30.	突尼斯国家通讯社周二报道，在目前已经确认死亡的 33 名受害人中，有 25 名英国人，1 名比利时人、2 名德国人、3 名爱尔兰人、1 名葡萄牙人和 1 名俄罗斯人。有两名外国游客仍在突尼斯的医院接受救治。英国官员已经表示，他们预计英国受害人的总数可能会达到 30 人。
Four of the most seriously wounded were flown back to Britain on Tuesday by the Royal Air Force, and officials said all of the seriously wounded were now being treated in Britain. The bodies of the dead are expected to be flown back on Wednesday.	4 名伤情最重的受害人已经于周二由英国皇家空军的飞机运送回英国。官员们表示目前所有伤员都已经回到英国接受救治。遇难者的遗体计划于周三运送回国。
Prime Minister David Cameron of Britain has promised a "full spectrum" response to the Tunisian attacks and to the threat of radical Islam in Britain. On Monday, he called militant Islamist ideology an "existential threat" and said Britain was confronting "the struggle of our generation."	英国首相戴维·卡梅伦(David Cameron)已经承诺对突尼斯恐怖事件和极端伊斯兰主义在英国制造的威胁采取“全方位”行动。周一，他称激进伊斯兰主义意识形态是“关乎生存的威胁”，并表示英国面对的是“我们这一代人的抗争”。
On Tuesday, Britain began a major counterterrorism exercise in London, planned before the Tunisian killings, based on the Charlie Hebdo killings in Paris in January and a hostage-taking in Sydney, Australia, last December. The exercise is meant to test emergency responses from police and medical services and is being held in an unused London Underground station in the West End theater district.	周二，英国在伦敦举行了大型反恐演习，这是一个在突尼斯事件发生之前已经确定的计划，是因应今年二月在巴黎发生的《查理周刊》(Charlie Hebdo) 袭击事件和去年 12 月在澳大利亚悉尼发生的人质劫持事件。这次演习在剧院林立的伦敦西区一个废弃的地铁站举行，旨在测试警方和医务机构的应急响应能力。

As further tales of horror and heroism emerged — including descriptions of the efforts of hotel employees and others to protect the tourists — British tourists were cutting short or canceling their vacations in Tunisia. At least 4,000 Britons had flown home since the attack, according to officials of the Thomson and First Choice tour companies.	事件中发生的更多恐怖和英勇的故事正渐渐为人所知，包括酒店员工和其他人员如何努力保护游客，与此同时，英国游客正在提前结束或取消他们在突尼斯的行程。据汤姆逊与首选旅行社(Thomson and First Choice)的工作人员透露，袭击事件发生后，至少有 4000 英国人已经返回英国。
Prime Minister Habib Essid of Tunisia has described Mr. Rezgui as a lone-wolf attacker and has indicated that he had no police record. He was issued a passport last year but had not used it to travel abroad, Mr. Essid said.	突尼斯总理哈比卜·埃西德(Habib Essid)表示雷兹吉是单独行动的袭击者，之前没有任何犯罪记录。埃西德说他在去年取得了护照，但并没有用来出境。
Tunisia's long border with Libya, much of it desert, is notoriously porous and easily crossed by smugglers and militants.	突尼斯和利比亚的漫长边界线大部分都是沙漠地带，众所周知，那里存在很多漏洞，走私者和激进分子可以轻而易举地越境。
The outlawed Tunisian extremist group Ansar al-Shariah is known to have a training base for Tunisians near Sabratha.	据悉，非法的突尼斯极端组织伊斯兰教法虔信者(Ansar al-Shariah)在靠近赛普拉泰的地方有一个面向突尼斯人的训练基地。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150701/c01tunisia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150701/c01tunisia
Boko Haram's Civilian Attacks in Nigeria Intensify	尼日利亚中部城市遭袭至少 44 人死亡
DAKAR, Senegal — The violent campaign by the Boko Haram militant group against Nigerian civilians appeared to intensify late on Sunday with two deadly attacks in Jos, a city in central Nigeria, underscoring the challenge the country's new president faces in trying to suppress the group.	塞内加尔达喀尔——周日晚间，激进组织博科哈拉姆(Boko Haram, 旧译“博科圣地”)对尼日利亚平民开展的暴力活动似乎有所加剧，尼日利亚中部城市乔斯发生了两起流血袭击事件。这突显了尼日利亚新总统在努力压制该组织方面面临的挑战。
The attacks killed at least 44 people, and possibly many more. Gunmen and suicide bombers struck a popular restaurant and a mosque, shooting worshipers who had gathered for Quranic readings during Ramadan. The attacks brought the death toll from Boko Haram attacks in the last week to more than 200.	袭击造成至少 44 人死亡，真实数字还可能高得多。持枪歹徒和自杀式炸弹袭击者攻击了一家热门餐厅和一家清真寺，向斋月期间聚集在一起诵读《古兰经》的礼拜者开枪。这两起事件致使博科哈拉姆上周的袭击行动造成的死亡人数超过了 200 人。

The carnage in Jos was devastating. There was an explosion at the Yantaya mosque, and worshipers began to flee. Umar Farouk Musa, a spokesman for J.N.I., or Jama'atu Nasril Islam, the country's main Muslim organization, said that after the blast, "people emerged from nowhere, five of them, holding sophisticated arms, shooting sporadically into the crowd."	发生在乔斯的是一场毁灭性的屠杀。言塔亚清真寺(Yantaya)发生爆炸，礼拜者开始逃跑。该国最大的穆斯林组织伊斯兰支援会 (Jama'atu Nasril Islam, 简称 JNI) 发言人奥马尔·法鲁克·穆萨(Umar Farouk Musa)表示，爆炸发生后，“不知从哪儿冒出来的，有五个人，举着精密武器，不时向人群开枪。”
Mr. Musa said he witnessed the mosque attack. "We saw these people emerging from nowhere, covered with blankets," he said in a telephone interview from Jos, referring to the gunmen. "Before we knew it, they disappeared into thin air. There were victims beyond what we could count."	穆萨称，他目睹了清真寺遭袭的全过程。“我们看到一些裹着毯子的人不知从哪儿冒了出来，”他在乔斯接受电话采访时这样描述持枪歹徒。“在我们反应过来之前，他们就消失地无影无踪。受害者多得我们都没法统计。”
Mr. Musa said he had seen "more than 100 dead bodies," though Nigerian media put the total death toll for the two attacks in Jos at half that figure.	穆萨表示，他看到“100 多具尸体”，但尼日利亚媒体报道，乔斯发生的两起袭击事件共造成 50 多人死亡。
The other attack, at a nearby site opposite the university in Jos, happened a few minutes earlier, when a suicide bomber walked into a restaurant and detonated his charge. Mr. Musa and colleagues arrived on the scene shortly afterward and "counted 15 dead bodies," he said.	另一起袭击事件就发生在离清真寺不远的乔斯大学对面，两起袭击想个仅有几分钟。一名自杀式炸弹袭击者走入一家餐厅，并引爆炸药。穆萨和同事很快到达现场。他表示，那里“发现了 15 具尸体”。
There have been deadly attacks in Nigeria almost daily over the last week, including several in villages in the north. Each has generally involved a bombing and indiscriminate shooting into crowds of civilians. A suicide bomber killed six people Sunday at a church in the northeast, and suicide bombers killed many civilians Friday in Maiduguri, the main city of the northeast.	过去一周，尼日利亚几乎每天都会爆发流血袭击，包括北部乡村地区的几起事件。基本上每起事件都会涉及爆炸，以及向平民肆意开火的行为。周日，一名自杀式袭击者在东北部的一家教堂引爆炸弹，造成六人死亡。周五，东北部主要城市迈杜古里发生自杀式爆炸事件，导致很多平民丧生。
The new Nigerian president, Muhammadu Buhari, is a former army	尼日利亚新总统穆罕默杜·布哈里(Muhammadu Buhari)曾是陆军将领。他发

general who has vowed to pursue a military campaign against Boko Haram more vigorously than his lackluster predecessor, Goodluck Jonathan. Mr. Buhari has already taken some measures, including moving the campaign's nerve center to Borno State, where Boko Haram is strongest, and coordinating Nigeria's efforts more closely with those of its neighbors Niger, Chad and Cameroon.	誓要对博科哈拉姆开展军事行动，力度会大于不痛不痒的前任总统古德勒克·乔纳森(Goodlu Jonathan)。布哈里已经采取了一些举措，比如将行动的神经中枢转移到博科哈拉姆势力最强的博尔诺州，并与邻国尼日尔、乍得和喀麦隆开展更为密切的合作。
Analysts say that Boko Haram is responding by stepping up its attacks against civilian targets. "It's a fallout from the pressure the federal government is mounting against the Boko Haram in the northeast," said Muhammad Lawal Ishaq, the legal adviser at the central mosque in Jos. "They want to create diversionary tactics by attacking other soft spots," he said.	分析人士表示，作为回应，博科哈拉姆在加大对平民的攻击。“这是联邦政府对东北部的博科哈拉姆势力不断施压造成的结果，”乔斯大清真寺的法律顾问穆罕默德·拉瓦尔·伊沙克(Muhammad Lawal Ishaq)说。“他们希望通过袭击其他薄弱环节来形成牵制战术。”
After the church bombing on Sunday, Mr. Buhari's spokesman talked of the government's "total commitment to doing everything possible to eradicate Boko Haram, terrorism and mindless extremism from Nigeria in the shortest possible time."	周日发生教堂爆炸事件后，布哈里的发言人称，政府“郑重承诺，竭尽所能，在尽可能短的时间内将博科哈拉姆、恐怖主义和盲目的极端主义从尼日利亚清除出去。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150707/c07nigeria	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150707/c07nigeria
Global Poverty Drops Sharply, With China Making Big Strides, U.N. Report Says	联合国发布千年发展目标最终报告
UNITED NATIONS —Dire poverty has dropped sharply, and just as many girls as boys are now enrolled in primary schools around the world. Simple measures like installing bed nets have prevented some six million deaths from malaria. But nearly one billion people still defecate in the open, endangering the health of many others.	联合国——极端贫困率已大幅下降，全球入读小学的女童人数和男童人数持平。诸如使用蚊帐这样的简单措施，已经避免大约 600 万人死于疟疾。但近十亿人依然露天便溺，危及其他很多人的健康。
These are among the findings that the United Nations released Monday	联合国周一公布的上述研究结果，是一份介绍千年发展目标(Millennium

as part of a final report on the successes and failures of the Millennium Development Goals, a set of targets established 15 years ago to improve the lives of the poor.	Development Goals)成败的最终报告的一部分。千年发展目标是 15 年前制定的一系列目标，旨在改善贫困人口的生活。
"The report confirms that the global efforts to achieve the goals have saved millions of lives and improved conditions for millions more around the world," the United Nations secretary general, Ban Ki-moon, said Monday as he released the report in Oslo.	"报告证实，全球为实现这些目标而采取的行动，拯救了全世界数百万人的生命，改善了数百万人的生活条件，"联合国秘书长潘基文(Ban Ki-moon)周一在奥斯陆公布该报告时说。
In fact, though, how much of those gains can be attributed to the goals is unknown. The sharp reductions in extreme poverty are due largely to the economic strides made by one big country, China. Likewise, some of the biggest shortfalls can be attributed to a handful of countries that remain very far behind. In India, for example, an estimated 600 million people defecate in the open, heightening the risk of serious disease, especially for children.	但实际上，并不清楚这些成就中有多少应归功于千年发展目标。极端贫困率的大幅下降，在很大程度上是因为中国这个大国取得的经济进步。同样，一些最大的不足，也可以归咎于少数几个仍然非常落后的国家。比如，在印度，估计有 6 亿人露天便溺，增加了患重病的风险，特别是对儿童来说。
Experts said the most important contribution made by the Millennium Development Goals was establishing yardsticks for measuring what countries have and have not done for their people — not just in broad-brush economic indicators but in concrete measures of well-being, like how many women die in childbirth or how many children are clinically malnourished.	专家称，千年发展目标最重要的贡献，是制定了一个参考标准，衡量国家为民众做了什么，以及没做什么。它们不仅包括宽泛的经济指标，还有具体的民生标准，如有多少女性死于分娩，或多少孩子被临床诊断为营养不良。
"It's a data revolution, and that's important in and of itself," said Nancy Birdsall, the president of the Center for Global Development in Washington. "It has changed the norms of what development is about."	"它是一场数据革命，这本身就颇为重要，"华盛顿全球发展中心(Center for Global Development)总裁南茜·伯索尔(Nancy Birdsall)说。"它改变了人们对发展的惯常理解。"
The findings in the report are likely to figure in contentious debates this summer over the United Nations' next set of development goals, which	今年夏天围绕联合国的下一批发展目标而展开的争论中，可能会引述这份报告中的结果。世界各国领导人预定于 9 月通过相关目标。目前的草案包括

world leaders are scheduled to adopt by September. A draft of those goals includes 169 targets that would require huge amounts of aid money to meet and would raise a host of tricky political issues about global trade and climate change.	169 项目标，这些目标需要大量援助资金才能实现，并且可能会引发诸多棘手的政治问题，如涉及全球贸易和气候变化的问题。
In releasing the report, United Nations officials celebrated meeting some of the goals. For instance, one of the targets was to halve the share of the world's population living in extreme poverty by 2015, but the actual decline was steeper: 14 percent of people in the developing world are extremely poor now, compared with 47 percent in 1990. China did the most, reducing the share of its people in extreme poverty to just 4 percent this year, from 61 percent in 1990.	联合国官员发布该报告是为了庆祝部分目标的实现。比如，目标之一是到 2015 年，让全世界生活在极端贫困中的人口比例减半，但实际的减少幅度比这还高：目前发展中国家的极端贫困人口占 14%，而在 1990 年，这一比例为 47%。中国是下降幅度最大的，其极端贫困人口比例从 1990 年的 61%，下降到了今年仅 4% 的水平。
Other targets were missed, including those to reduce child mortality and women's deaths in childbirth each by two-thirds, although progress was made on both fronts.	其他一些目标未能实现，包括让儿童死亡率和女性难产死亡率分别降低三分之二，不过这两个领域都取得了一定的进步。
Malaria has been made a far less deadly scourge than it was in 2000, when the targets were set, with the mortality rate down by 58 percent, the report said. Fewer children are dying of measles than in 2000, but measles vaccination coverage has stalled, the report said, and 21.6 million children were not fully immunized in 2013. Most measles deaths were concentrated in sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia, where the report called for greater investments in public health.	报告称，同制定目标时的 2000 年相比，疟疾的危害远没那么严重了。疟疾死亡率下降了 58%。相比于 2000 年，死于麻疹的儿童人数减少了，但报告称，麻疹疫苗的覆盖率停滞不前。2013 年，未完全接种的儿童人数达 2160 万。麻疹死亡病例大部分集中在撒哈拉以南非洲和南亚。报告呼吁这两个地区加大对公共卫生的投资。
South Asia also accounts for the highest levels of child malnutrition, with 28 percent of children who are younger than 5 classified as "moderately or severely underweight."	南亚也是儿童营养不良水平最高的地方。那里 28% 的 5 岁以下儿童被归为“体重轻度或严重不达标”。
Jobs are not keeping pace with population growth in either rich or poor	无论是穷国或富国，就业岗位和人口增长都不同步。对于那些有大量年轻人

countries, an especially acute challenge for countries like India that have ballooning populations of young people in need of work.	需要工作的国家，如印度，这是一个尤为艰巨的挑战。
One of the starkest failures acknowledged in the report concerned gender equity. Women are more likely than men to be poor, according to the report, and women's participation in the global paid labor force has inched up only very slowly.	报告中承认的最明显的失败涉及性别平等。从该报告来看，女性贫穷的可能性高于男性，并且女性在全球有偿劳动力大军中所占的比例，增加得非常缓慢。
Critics say that setting global targets alone is not very instructive.	批评人士称，只制定全球目标的益处不是非常大。
"I'm not opposed to having a global yardstick, but I don't put much stock in it," said Dean Karlan, an economics professor at Yale University who studies poverty. "You can't compare one country to another. It doesn't give us much, in terms of telling us what to do."	"我不反对有一个全球性的标准，但我不抱太大希望，"耶鲁大学研究贫困问题的经济学教授迪安·卡兰(Dean Karlan)说。"不能把一个国家和另一个国家相比。它给我们提供不了太多信息，没办法告诉我们要做什么。" https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150707/c07poverty	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150707/c07poverty
Afghan Officials and Taliban Meet in Possible Step Toward Peace Talks	阿富汗政府与塔利班进行首次官方会谈
KABUL, Afghanistan — An Afghan government delegation met with Taliban officials in the Pakistani capital for the first time on Tuesday, in a significant effort to open formal peace negotiations, according to Afghan, Pakistani and Western officials.	阿富汗喀布尔——据阿富汗、巴基斯坦及西方官员透露，阿富汗政府代表团于周二与塔利班官员首次在巴基斯坦首都会面，为开启正式的和平谈判做出重大努力。
The Islamabad meeting, brokered by Pakistani officials after months of intense effort by President Ashraf Ghani of Afghanistan to get them more centrally involved in the peace process, was the most promising contact between the two warring sides in years. And it followed a series of less formal encounters between various Afghan officials and Taliban representatives in other countries in recent months.	由巴基斯坦官方协调安排的此次伊斯兰堡会议是阿富汗交战双方多年来最具希望的接触。在好多个月里，阿富汗总统阿什拉夫·加尼(Ashraf Ghani)付出巨大努力，促使巴基斯坦官方在和平进程中发挥更为核心的作用。在此之前，各种阿富汗官员与塔利班代表于近几个月里在其他国家进行了一系列非正式接触。
A peace process that would lead to the Taliban ending their insurgency has long been seen as a crucial part of the American strategy to	经过十四年代价高昂的战争后，美国一直将能够促使塔利班终结叛乱的和平进程看作稳定阿富汗局势的策略的重要组成部分。之前也出现过显现希望的

stabilize Afghanistan after a costly 14-year war. But previous promising moments in that effort, including the formal opening of a Taliban political office in Qatar in 2013, either fizzled or backfired.	时刻，比如塔利班 2013 年在卡塔尔正式开设了政治处，不过，这些努力要么终成泡影，要么事与愿违。
That may be the case now, as well: No sooner had the talks begun than it became apparent that the Taliban were divided about whether to engage in a process facilitated by Pakistan.	此次会谈可能也会无果而终：会谈刚开始，塔利班就在是否应该参与由巴基斯坦推动的和平进程的问题上明显出现分歧。
In an email exchange with a New York Times reporter early Wednesday morning, a representative of the Taliban's official political office in Qatar said that the delegates to the Islamabad meeting were "not authorized" to attend such meetings, and suggested they had been "hijacked" by Pakistan's powerful intelligence service to appear.	在周三早上与《纽约时报》记者的邮件往来中，塔利班驻卡塔尔政治处的一名代表表示，参加伊斯兰堡会议的代表“没有获得”进行此类会议的“授权”，并称他们被巴基斯坦强大的情报部门“劫持”出席。
"We see it as the wrong direction toward peace, and the Pakistani-led process may cause more problems instead of solutions," the official wrote. Later, the official added: "We will continue our political efforts for peaceful solution of the Afghan conflict."	这名官员写道，“我们认为这是朝着和平的反方向走。巴基斯坦牵头的和平进程可能会引发更多问题，而不是带来解决方案。”在后文中，此人还表示：“我们将继续开展政治努力，寻求通过和平方式解决阿富汗冲突。”
Afghan and Western officials did not identify the Taliban representatives who attended the meeting on Tuesday. They described the delegates as significant, including some Taliban officials who had gone to the previous, less-formal talks.	阿富汗和西方官员没有披露周二出席会议的塔利班代表的身份。他们称这些代表举足轻重，其中包括参与之前非正式会谈的一些塔利班官员。
One senior Western official familiar with the meeting in Islamabad said that "we know there are senior leaders" involved.	一名知晓伊斯兰堡会议内情的西方高层官员表示，“据我们了解，有高层领导人”参与。
Though the officials characterized the meeting as a promising potential step toward peace talks, they were cautious about the prospects. Afghan officials said the talks were mainly to set up a framework for further discussions, including setting up confidence-building measures	虽然各方官员将此次会晤定性为有望促使双方开启和平谈判，但谈到这种前景时，他们都很谨慎。阿富汗官员表示，会谈主要是为进一步讨论搭建框架，包括制定双方都应该采取的建立信任的举措，以及列出谈判可能涉及的议题。

both sides should take, and listing possible issues for negotiation.
In the past, both the Afghan government and the Taliban have been wary of using Pakistan as a go-between for discussions. For its part, the Afghan government has long feared that the Pakistani military would scuttle any peace talks in hopes of using the Afghan Taliban, its traditional ally, as a proxy force to maintain its influence over Afghan affairs.	阿富汗政府和塔利班过去对于由巴基斯坦充当交流的中间人一直怀有戒心。阿富汗政府总是担心巴基斯坦军方会破坏和平谈判，希望利用其传统盟友阿富汗塔利班来维持对阿富汗事务的影响力。
Mr. Ghani's all-out effort to court Pakistani officials and get them involved in talks has cost him substantial political capital at home, where Pakistan is widely viewed with suspicion. His political opponents, including members of former President Hamid Karzai's inner circle, have vehemently criticized Mr. Ghani as having misplaced his trust in the Pakistanis, and selling out Afghanistan in the process.	加尼竭尽全力地讨好巴基斯坦官员，使得他们促成会谈。由于阿富汗国内对巴基斯坦普遍持怀疑态度，这样的做法令他在国内付出巨大的政治代价。包括前总统哈米德·卡尔扎伊(Hamid Karzai)核心圈子多名成员在内的加尼的政治对手对他进行了猛烈抨击，称他错信了巴基斯坦人，并在这个过程中出卖了阿富汗。
For their part, elements of the Afghan Taliban, even as they have found shelter in Pakistan, have chafed at their vulnerability to the country's military and intelligence forces. That, in part, is why the group opened a political office in Qatar and insisted that official diplomatic communications go through there.	即便阿富汗塔利班中有部分人在巴基斯坦找到了栖身之地，但他们因为无力反抗该国军方与情报系统而感到恼怒。这是该组织在卡塔尔设立政治处并坚持要求通过那里进行官方外交联系的部分原因。
Despite the Taliban's skepticism about Pakistani pressure, it is clear that the insurgents have been more willing to talk than ever before. In a year where the Taliban are making some of their biggest gains on the battlefield ever, they have simultaneously intensified their publicity efforts casting them as a legitimate political force. And the patter of informal meetings with Afghan officials abroad this year has been taken by some officials as a sign that the insurgents will eventually be more	虽然塔利班对巴基斯坦施加的压力持怀疑态度，但这些叛乱分子明显比以前更加愿意谈判。这一年里，塔利班在战场上收获颇丰，他们同时加强了宣传力度，将自己塑造成一支正当的政治力量。一些官员认为，塔利班与阿富汗官员今年在国外进行多次非正式会面是一种迹象，预示着一旦这一轮战事结束，叛乱分子最终会更加愿意参与谈判。 willing to negotiate once the fighting season is over.

Even if serious talks with the Afghans were to begin, one concern among some Western and Afghan officials is that lower-level Taliban commanders might bridle or even split away from the group's senior leadership in frustration, especially given their recent battlefield gains.	尽管与阿富汗的严肃会谈即将开始，一些西方及阿富汗官员担心，塔利班的部分低级别指挥官可能会心怀愤怒，甚至会因为不满而与该组织的高级领导层分裂，特别是鉴于他们近期在战场获得的胜利。
In recent months, too, the Taliban have faced an unanticipated threat that could intensify their risk of splintering: the emergence of the Islamic State in Afghanistan. That group, though not yet thought to pose a significant military threat in Afghanistan, has quickly managed to attract a wide array of disaffected Taliban leaders and other insurgents who doubt that the Taliban's reclusive leader, Mullah Muhammad Omar, is even alive. The Islamic State has managed to push the Taliban out of at least one district in the eastern province of Nangarhar, and skirmishes between the two groups have broken out in several provinces.	近几个月来，塔利班还面临一个未曾预料到的威胁，从而可能会加剧分裂风险：伊斯兰国（Islamic State，又称 ISIS 或 ISIL）在阿富汗的崛起。尽管舆论认为伊斯兰国尚未在阿富汗造成重大军事威胁，但该组织很快就吸引了众多心存不满的塔利班领导人，以及其他一些怀疑深居简出的塔利班头目毛拉穆罕默德·奥马尔(Mullah Mohammad Omar)是否在世的叛乱分子。伊斯兰国成功地将阿富汗东部楠格哈尔省至少一个地区的塔利班人员赶走，而且双方在几个省爆发了冲突。
The Islamic State's appearance in Afghanistan could persuade the Taliban to seek a political settlement to the war if the Taliban leadership believes fighters will continue to defect to the Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL. "The Taliban strategy of patiently fighting may no longer work, with ISIS here," said a Western diplomat, who spoke on the condition of anonymity. "They're very alarmed by this."	伊斯兰国出现在阿富汗的现实或许能说服塔利班寻求结束战争的政治解决方案，前提是塔利班领导层认为旗下武装人员会继续叛变，加入伊斯兰国。“随着 ISIS 的出现，塔利班耐心战斗的策略可能不再有效，”一名要求不具名的西方外交官说。“他们对这个非常担心。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150708/c08taliban	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150708/c08taliban
Murder at Sea: Captured on Video, but Killers Go Free	手机记录公海谋杀案，凶手逍遥法外
SHARJAH KHALID PORT, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES—The man bobbing in the sea raises his arms in a seeming sign of surrender before he is	阿拉伯联合酋长国沙迦哈立德港——被子弹击中脑袋之前，这个在海面浮动的人曾抬起胳膊，做出像是投降的姿势。之后他脸朝下漂浮在海面上，鲜血

shot in the head. He floats face down as his blood stains the blue water.	染红蓝色的海水。
A slow-motion slaughter unfolds over the next 6 minutes and 58 seconds. Three other men floating in the ocean, some clinging to what looks like the wreckage of an overturned wooden boat, are surrounded by several large white tuna fishing boats. The sky above is clear and blue; the sea below, dark and choppy. As the ships' engines idle loudly, at least 40 rounds are fired as the unarmed men are methodically picked off.	在接下来的6分58秒里，一场屠杀缓慢上演。另有三个人浮在海面上，有人抓着看起来像是倾覆木船的残骸之类的东西，他们被几艘白色的大型金枪鱼捕捞船围了起来。抬起头，可以看到清澈明净的蓝天，下方是浪涛汹涌的深色大海。处于空转状态的大船引擎轰鸣着，船上的人们有条不紊地逐一瞄准这三个手无寸铁的人射击着，至少打出了40发子弹。
"Shoot, shoot, shoot!" commands a voice over one of the ship's loudspeakers as the final man is killed. Soon after, a group of men on deck who appear to be crew members laugh among themselves, then pose for selfies.	"开枪，开枪，开枪！"就在最后一个人被击毙时，其中一艘船上的扬声器里发出这样的指令。没多久，甲板上一群看起来像是船员的人彼此大笑，然后开始摆姿势，进行自拍。
Despite dozens of witnesses on at least four ships, those killings remain a mystery. No one even reported the incident — there is no requirement to do so under maritime law nor any clear method for mariners, who bounce from port to port, to volunteer what they know. Law enforcement officials learned of the deaths only after a video of the killings was found on a cellphone left in a taxi in Fiji last year, then posted on the Internet.	当时至少有四艘船，尽管船上有几十个目击者，但这起杀戮事件的始末至今不明。甚至没有一个人上报这起事件——目前的海洋法没有相关条款要求他们这么做，也没有提供任何明确途径，可以让辗转于各个港口的海员主动讲述自己所知道的事。直到去年，有人在遗落在斐济岛出租车上的手机里发现了一段记录这起屠杀事件的视频，执法官员才获知此事，之后视频被传到了网上（点击此处观看视频）。
With no bodies, no identified victims and no exact location of where the shootings occurred, it is unclear which, if any, government will take responsibility for leading an investigation. Taiwanese fishing authorities, who based on the video identified a fishing boat from Taiwan at the scene but learned little from the captain, say they believe the dead men were part of a failed pirate attack. But maritime security experts,	由于找不到尸体，受害人身份不明，也不知道枪击事件发生的确切位置，现在就无法明确，应由哪国政府出面调查此事。台湾渔业部门依据视频指认其中一艘渔船来自台湾，但并未从此船的船长处了解太多信息。他们认为视频中的死者是袭击渔船失败反被枪杀的海盗。但海事安全专家发出警告，称海盗袭击已经成为掩盖有时致死的报复事件的便利借口，这些死者也可能是出现在有争议水域的当地渔民、哗变的船员、被抛弃的偷渡者，或者被抓住的

warning that piracy has become a convenient cover for sometimes fatal score-settling, said it is just as likely that the men were local fishermen in disputed waters, mutinied crew, castoff stowaways or thieves caught stealing fish or bait.	偷鱼或偷饵料的窃贼。
"Summary execution, vigilantism, overzealous defense, call it what you will," said Klaus Luhta, a lawyer with the International Organization of Masters, Mates & Pilots, a seafarers' union. "This boils down just the same to a case of murder at sea and a question of why it's allowed to happen."	"草率处决、私人执法、防卫过当，随便你叫什么，"国际船长、大副和领航员组织(International Organization of Masters, Mates & Pilots)的律师克劳斯·卢赫特(Klaus Luhta)说道，该机构是一个海员工会组织。"归根结底，这是一起海上谋杀事件，问题在于为什么会发生这样的事。"
The oceans, plied by more ships than ever before, are also more armed and dangerous than any time since World War II, naval historians say. Thousands of seamen every year are victims of violence, with hundreds killed, according to maritime security officials, insurers and naval researchers. Last year in three regions alone — the western Indian Ocean, Southeast Asia and the Gulf of Guinea off West Africa — more than 5,200 seafarers were attacked by pirates and robbers and more than 500 were taken hostage, a database built by The New York Times shows.	海军历史学家们指出，出现在各个大洋上的船只与日俱增，船上配备的武器也更多，危险性更大，超过了二战以来的任何时期。海事安全官员、保险公司和海军研究人员表示，每年都有数千名海员遭遇海上暴力，数百人因此死亡。《纽约时报》建立的数据库显示，去年仅在三个海域——西印度洋、东南亚海域、西非海岸外的几内亚湾——就有 5200 多名海员遭遇海盗袭击和抢劫，有 500 多人沦为囚徒。
Many merchant vessels hired private security starting in 2008 as pirates began operating across larger expanses of the ocean, outstripping governments' policing capacities. Guns and guards at sea are now so ubiquitous that a niche industry of floating armories has emerged. The vessels — part storage depot, part bunkhouse — are positioned in high-risk areas of international waters and house hundreds of assault rifles, small arms and ammunition. Guards on board wait, sometimes	随着海盗开始在更广阔的海域内活动，超出了政府执法能力，很多商船从 2008 年开始雇佣私人保安。如今，枪支和护卫队在海上如此泛滥，甚至催生了海上武器库这一细分市场。那些船只半为仓库，半为工舍，往往停泊在非常危险的国际水域，船上储藏着数以百计的突击步枪、各类小型武器和弹药。保安人员在船上等待下一次执行任务的机会，有时要在恶劣环境下等待数月。

for months in decrepit conditions, for their next deployment.
Though pirate attacks on large container ships, like that depicted in the film "Captain Phillips," have dropped sharply over the past several years, other forms of violence remain pervasive.	尽管电影《菲利普船长》(Captain Phillips, 台湾译作《怒海劫》) 中的场景——海盗对大型集装箱船的袭击——在过去几年已经大大减少，但其他形式的暴力事件依然相当普遍。
Armed gangs run protection rackets requiring ship captains to pay for safe passage in the Bay of Bengal near Bangladesh. Nigerian marine police officers routinely work in concert with fuel thieves, according to maritime insurance investigators. Off the coast of Somalia, United Nations officials say, some pirates who used to target bigger ships have transitioned into "security" work on board foreign and local fishing vessels, fending off armed attacks, but also firing on rivals to scare them away.	武装团伙会收取保护费，要求船长们交纳费用，以保他们能在靠近孟加拉的孟加拉湾海域安全通行。据海上保险研究者透露，尼日利亚海警官员会常常和燃油窃贼相勾结，展开行动。联合国官员表示，在索马里海域，有些过去以袭击大船为目标的海盗，已经转而在外籍和当地渔船上负责“安保”工作，他们不仅抵御武力袭击，也会对渔船的竞争对手开火，以吓退他们。
Provocations are common. Countries are racing one another to map and lay claim to untapped oil, gas or other mineral resources deep in the ocean, sparking clashes and boat burnings. From the Mediterranean to offshore Australia to the Black Sea, human traffickers carrying refugees and migrants sometimes ram competitors' boats or deliberately sink their own ships to get rid of their illicit passengers or force a rescue.	挑衅事件经常发生。国家之间正在展开竞争，争相对未开发的深海石油、燃气和其他矿产资源进行测绘和宣示所有权，这引发了冲突和船只的焚烧。从地中海到澳大利亚周边海域，再到黑海，都有人口贩子带着难民和移民在海上航行，有时他们会撞击竞争对手的船只，或故意让自己的船只沉没，以摆脱船上的非法乘客，或迫使别人解救他们。
Violence among fishing boats is widespread and getting worse. Heavily subsidized Chinese and Taiwanese vessels are aggressively expanding their reach, said Graham Southwick, the president of the Fiji Tuna Boat Owners Association. Radar advancements and the increased use of so-called fish-aggregating devices — floating objects that attract schools of fish — have heightened tensions as fishermen are more	渔船上的暴力事件也非常普遍，而且正在恶化。斐济金枪鱼捕捞船船主协会主席格雷厄姆·索思威克(Graham Southwick)说，享受大额补贴的中国和台湾渔船正在积极扩展自己的势力范围。雷达技术的进步和对浮在海面上吸引鱼群的聚鱼设备越来越多的使用，进一步加剧了紧张氛围，因为它们容易导致渔民们在同一个地点聚集。“捕捞量减少，火气越来越大，人们开始打斗，”索思威克说道。“在这些船上，谋杀并不稀奇。”

prone to crowd the same spots. "Catches shrink, tempers fray, fighting starts," Mr. Southwick said. "Murder on these boats is relatively common."
The violent crime rate related to fishing boats is easily 20 times that of crimes involving tankers, cargo ships or passenger ships, said Charles N. Dragonette, who tracked seafaring attacks globally for the United States Office of Naval Intelligence until 2012. "So long as the victims were Indonesian, Malay, Vietnamese, Filipino, just not European or American, the story never resonated," he said.	渔船上发生暴力犯罪的几率，是油轮、货船或客船发生犯罪事件几率的 20 多倍，查尔斯·N·德拉贡内特(Charles N. Dragonette)说道，在 2012 年之前他一直为美国海军情报局(Office of Naval Intelligence)追踪全球海上袭击事件。“如果受害者是印度尼西亚人、马来人、越南人、菲律宾人，是没关系的，只要不是欧洲人或美国人，袭击事件就不会引起什么反响，”他说。
Prosecutions for crimes at sea are rare — one former United States Coast Guard official put it at "less than 1 percent" — because many ships lack insurance and captains are averse to the delays and prying that can come with a police investigation. The few military and law enforcement ships that patrol international waters are usually forbidden from boarding ships flying another country's flag unless given permission. Witnesses willing to speak up are scarce; so is physical evidence.	对海上犯罪行为提起的诉讼非常少见，一位前美国海岸警卫队军官认为其比例“不到 1%”，因为很多船没有上保险，船长对配合警方调查而引起的各种延迟相当反感，也不愿意被问来问去。那些为数不多的在国际海域巡逻的军舰和执法船只，通常不能在未经允许的情况下登上插有别国国旗的船只。犯罪事件目击者很少愿意开口；物证也极为稀少。
Violence at sea and on land are handled differently, Mr. Dragonette said. "Ashore, no matter how brutal the repression or how corrupt the local government, someone will know who the victims are, where they were, that they did not return," he said. "At sea, anonymity is the rule."	德拉贡内特表示，海上暴力事件和陆地上的非常不同。“在岸上，不管压制得多狠，或当地政府有多腐败，总会有人知道受害人是谁，曾在哪里，以及他们没有返回，”他说。“但是在海上，匿名是通行法则。”
Pirates and Robbers	海盗和劫匪
The creaky wooden fishing boat strained to cut through eight-foot swells on a clear black night, as its captain, who goes only by the name Rio, spread out a regional map.	在一个月朗星稀的晚上，一艘嘎嘎作响的木质渔船正尽力在 8 英尺（约合 2.4 米）高的海浪中穿行，船上被称作里奥(Rio)的船长展开一张区域海图。
Headed north, about 50 miles from the Natuna Islands in the South	船正在距离南海上的纳土纳群岛 50 英里（约合 80 公里）远的地方向北航

China Sea he tapped his finger on his location, widened his eyes and contorted his face to register fear. Then, he silently reached over and opened a wheelhouse compartment revealing a Glock handgun.	行。里奥用手指敲了敲图上他所在的方位，睁大了眼睛，脸部也因恐惧略微扭曲。之后，他默默走过去，打开驾驶室的一个储物空间，取出一支格洛克手枪。
He had a good reason to be armed. The waters in this region, especially those near Indonesia, Malaysia and Vietnam, are among the most perilous in the world. More than 3,100 mariners were assaulted or kidnapped in the area last year, according to the Times database, consisting of more than 6,000 crime reports.	他把自己武装起来的理由相当充分。因为他所在的区域，尤其是靠近印度尼西亚、马来西亚和越南的水域，是全世界最危险的水域之一。《纽约时报》数据库的数据显示，去年有 3100 名海员在这一地区被袭击或绑架。这一数据库包含 6000 多起犯罪报道。
The database includes information provided by the Office of Naval Intelligence; two maritime security firms, OceanusLive and Risk Intelligence; and a research group called Oceans Beyond Piracy. No international agency comprehensively tracks maritime violence.	美国海军情报局为该数据库提供了一些信息。信息提供者还包括海上安全公司 OceanusLive 和风险智能(Risk Intelligence)，以及名为“海上无盗”(Oceans Beyond Piracy)的调研机构。目前没有一家国际机构在全面追踪海上暴力事件。
The death tolls in these attacks are murky because follow-up investigations are rare, police reports often lack details and bodies tend to disappear at sea. But maritime researchers estimated that hundreds of seafarers are killed annually in attacks. (They caution those numbers are likely to be undercounts because they do not include deaths close to shore or in some particularly dangerous areas where deaths are rarely reported to international authorities.)	有关这些袭击事件的死亡人数统计总是模糊的，因为很少有后续调查，警方的报告往往缺少细节，而受害人又容易被抛尸入海。但据海事研究者估计，每年会有数百名海员在袭击事件中丧生。（他们提醒说，这一数字有可能偏低，因为有些数据没被纳入统计，包括靠近海岸区域发生的死亡事件，或一些极为危险的区域发生的事件，很少有人向国际权威机构上报那里发生的死亡事件。）
Typical culprits included: rubber-skiff pirates armed with rocket-propelled grenades, night-stalking fuel thieves, hit-and-run bandits wielding machetes. But a variety of other actors appear too, and many of them are not as they initially seem: hijackers masquerading as marine police officers, human traffickers posing as fishermen, security guards moonlighting as arms dealers.	实施海上暴力的罪犯包括：包括开橡皮艇持火箭筒的海盗、晚上出没的盗油贼、打游击的持刀土匪。但是，还有很多各类其他人员也会行凶，其中很多人和他们的表面身份并不相符：比如乔装成海警的劫持者、扮作渔民的人口贩子和兼职做军火商的保安人员。

For instance, there were 10 Sri Lankan migrants, a group that included women and children, who were smuggled aboard a fishing boat in 2012 near the island nation. When their demands to set a new course for Australia were refused, the migrants attacked the crew, killing at least two men by throwing them overboard. Or the three captive Burmese workers who in 2009 escaped their Thai trawler in the South China Sea by leaping overboard, swimming to a nearby yacht, killing its owner and stealing his lifeboat.	例如，2012年，包括妇女和儿童在内的十名斯里兰卡移民，在该国附近海域登上蛇头的渔船，在要求改道去澳大利亚被拒绝以后，这些移民袭击了船员，将至少两名男子抛下了船，让他们淹死水中。再或者，2009年，三名被囚禁的缅甸劳工从南海上的一艘泰国拖网渔船逃脱，他们从渔船上跳下水后，游到了附近的一艘游艇上，杀死游艇的主人，偷走了游艇上的救生船。
The waters near Bangladesh illustrate why maritime violence frequently gets overlooked by the international community. In the past five years, nearly 100 sailors and fishermen have been killed annually in Bangladeshi waters – and as least as many taken hostage – in a string of attacks by armed gangs, according to local media and police reports.	孟加拉附近水域的情况可以说明，为什么海上暴力经常被国际社会忽略。据当地媒体和警方的消息，过去五年，这里每年都有近100名海员和渔民死于一系列武装团伙袭击事件，此外至少有同样数量的人们遭到劫持。
Armed assaults have been a problem there for two decades, according to insurance and maritime security analysts. In 2013, the Bangladeshi media reported the abduction of more than 700 fishermen, 150 in September alone. Forty were reported killed in a single episode, many of them with their feet and hands bound before being thrown overboard.	保险人员和海事安全分析师表示，武装袭击问题在这一地区已经存在了二十年。2013年，孟加拉媒体曾报道，有700多名渔民被绑架，单单九月份就有150人。报道显示，在一起暴力事件中，就有40人被杀害，很多是被绑着手脚扔下了船。
These attacks were usually conducted by the half-dozen armed gangs that operate protection rackets in the Bay of Bengal and the swampy inland waters called the Sundarbans. Last year, they engaged in gun battles with the Bangladesh Air Force and Coast Guard during government raids on coastal camps and hostage ships.	这些袭击事件通常是由在孟加拉湾和内陆沼泽区孙德尔本斯(Sundarbans)收保护费的武装团伙所为。去年，在该国政府对海岸营地和人质船只发起突袭时，这些武装团伙和孟加拉空军部队及海岸警卫队进行了数次枪战。
Bangladesh's former foreign minister, Dr. Dipu Moni, reprimanded the	几年前，孟加拉前外交部长迪普·穆尼博士(Dr. Dipu Moni)曾谴责国际航运业

international shipping industry and the foreign and local news media several years ago for defaming the country by describing its waters as a "high risk" zone for piracy.	和国内外媒体诽谤孟加拉，将其水域称为海盗“高危”区。
"There has not been a single incident of piracy in years," Dr. Moni said in a December 2011 written statement, adding that most of the violence off the nation's coast involved petty theft and robberies, most often committed by "dacoits" (a term derived from the Hindu word for bandits).	穆尼博士在 2011 年 12 月的一份书面声明中表示，“这里已经好几年没有一起海盗袭击事件了。”她还表示，孟加拉水域发生的暴力事件大部分都是非常小的盗窃和抢劫行为，经常是由“持械匪徒”（dacoits，由印度语中的土匪一词演化而来）所为。
Those claims pivot on a legal distinction between piracy, which, under international law occurs on the high seas or in waters farther than 12 miles from shore, and robbery, which involves attacks closer to land.	这一论断的主要依据的是法律上对海盗行为和抢劫的区别定义。根据国际法的定义，前者发生于公海，或离岸 12 英里以外的水域；抢劫主要指更接近陆地范围内的袭击。
Insurance companies once charged $500 for each trip to and from the ports located in the west of India, but increased the rate to $150,000, given the area's piracy-prone designation, a Bangladeshi foreign ministry official said during a separate news conference in December 2011. After Bangladeshi officials protested to the International Maritime Bureau, which tracks piracy at sea, that their country was stigmatized as a high-piracy zone, the group amended its website to say its warning covered piracy and armed robbery.	一名孟加拉外交部官员曾于 2011 年 12 月召开的另一个新闻发布会上表示，过去，针对来往于印度以西各个港口的船只，保险公司对每趟旅程收取 500 美元的保险费，但后来因这一地区被冠以海盗袭击高发区的名号，保险公司把每一趟的保险费增加到了 15 万美金。孟加拉官员曾向追踪海盗事件的国际海事局(International Maritime Bureau)提出抗议，反对它将孟加拉标为海盗袭击风险较高的区域，之后该机构将其网站上的表述改为，风险警告包括海盗行为和武装抢劫。
In an interview, Mukundan Pottengal, the director of the bureau, which is primarily funded by shipping companies and insurers, said his organization does not try to determine the exact location of attacks or whether they are in national or international waters, partly because these details are often contested by countries.	国际海事局主管穆昆丹·波顿戈尔(Mukundan Pottengal)表示，他们不会试图确定袭击的确切位置，或确认它们发生在国家领海还是国际水域，部分原因在于，各个国家常常就这些这些细节信息提出质疑。该机构的资金主要来自航运公司和保险公司。
"Whether they are called pirates or robbers is a legal distinction," he	“把他们称为海盗还是劫匪，只是法律界定上的差别，”他说。“但这种差别不

said. "It does not change the nature of their act or the danger to the ship or crew when armed strangers get on board their ship."	会改变这些行为的本质，只要是陌生的武装人员登上船只，都一样会给船和船员带来危险。”
On his fishing boat, Rio said that violence is just a part of life at sea. "You must be ready, always ready," he said. For instance, he explained that larger, unlicensed fishing vessels in the area often plow through local fishermen's nets, not just eliminating their catch, but destroying their livelihoods.	里奥在自己的渔船上说道，暴力就是海上生活的一部分。“你必须做好准备，时刻准备着，”他说。比如，在这一地区，体形更大的无照船只经常直接穿过当地渔民的渔网，不仅让他们损失捕获的渔产，还会毁掉他们的生计。
Making a hand gesture as though he was firing his gun in the air, Rio revved his engine, lurching the boat forward, showing how he charged at others in these situations.	里奥做了一个朝空中开枪的手势，然后加大渔船的马力，奋力往前行驶，展示他在这些情况下会如何向对方猛冲。
A wiry chain-smoker, Rio recounted the last time he used his gun. A year earlier, he said, he fired at a bigger ship that approached his boat late at night without permission. Rio said he then sped away, uncertain whether he had hit anyone on board.	里奥体型精瘦，是个烟瘾很大的人。他讲述了自己上一次开枪的经历。一年前的一个深夜，他看到一艘大船未经允许就向他的船靠近，于是朝它开了枪。之后他加速行驶，离开了那里，并不确定自己是否击中了船上的某个人。
Asked whether he reported the shooting to the police, Rio crinkled his face as if he did not understand. After several silent minutes, he asked: "Why would anyone report that?"	当被问到后来是否向警方报告了这次开枪事件，里奥皱起了眉，好像不太明白。沉默了几分钟后，他问道，“有谁会上报这种事？”
Floating Armories	海上武器库
About 25 miles offshore from the United Arab Emirates in the Gulf of Oman, a half-dozen private security guards sat on the upper deck of the Resolution, a St. Kitts and Nevis-flagged floating armory. After the men traded war stories about past encounters with pirates, the conversation soon turned to a shared concern: the growing influx of untrained hires into the booming $13 billion-a-year security business.	在距离阿曼湾(Gulf of Oman)里的阿拉伯联合酋长国(United Arab Emirates)25 英里的海面上，停泊着“决心”(Resolution)号，一艘插着圣基茨和尼维斯(St. Kitts and Nevis)国国旗的海上武器船。五六个私人保安坐在这艘船的上层甲板上。在互相讲述了自己过去和海盗交手的经历之后，他们的话题很快转向一种共同的担忧：在这个日益兴盛的价值 130 亿美元的安全服务行业中，正在不断涌入大量未经培训的新手。
"It's like handing a bachelor a newborn," one guard said, describing how	“就像把新生儿递给一个单身汉，”一名保安说道，他在描述一些新招募的保

some of the new recruits react when given a semiautomatic weapon. Many of the new hires lack combat experience, speak virtually no English (despite a fluency requirement), and do not know how to clean or fix their weapons, said the guards, most of whom spoke only on the condition of anonymity for fear they would be blacklisted from jobs. Some of the recruits show up to work carrying ammunition in Ziploc bags or shoe boxes.	安在面对半自动武器时的反应。很多新手缺乏实战经验，基本上不会说英语（尽管这一行业有相关要求），不知道如何清理和维修武器，保安们说道。他们大多数都要求在不具名的情况下接受采访，因为担心暴露身份会被列入招工黑名单。有些新手提着装在密封塑料袋和鞋盒里的武器前来工作。
The maritime security industry includes fewer fly-by-night companies today than it did several years ago, according to the guards. But the potential for mishandling attacks — with possibly deadly consequences — has increased over the past year or so, they argued, because the shipping industry has been cutting costs, shifting from four-man security teams to teams of two or three less experienced men.	保安们表示，如今在海上安全行业里，不可靠的公司比几年前少了。但他们认为，错误应对袭击的潜在危险在过去一年却增加了，有可能带来致命后果。因为航运业一直在削减开支，每艘船上的保安人员从四人减少为两三个不太有经验的人。
The 141-foot Resolution is among several dozen converted cargo ships, tugboats and demining barges that have been parked in high-risk areas of the Red Sea, Persian Gulf and the Indian Ocean, usually just outside national waters. The guards pay as little as $25 per night to stay on the ship (the charge for carrying the men to and from client ships is often several thousand dollars), and check their weapons into a locked storage container upon arrival. Then they wait, sometimes for weeks, for their next job.	除了 141 英尺长的“决心”号，还有几十艘货船、拖船和排雷驳船进行了改装。它们停泊在红海、波斯湾和印度洋的高危海域里，通常就在刚刚驶出国家领海的地方。保安们只需缴纳每晚 25 美金的费用，就可以在船上住宿（而将他们送上客户船只或接回的费用往往是数千美元）。一上船他们就把武器锁在船上的储藏柜里。然后开始等待下一份工作，有时一等就是数周。
Somali piracy spurred many governments to encourage merchant vessels to arm themselves or hire private security, a break from the longstanding practice of nations having a near monopoly on the use of force. Meanwhile, growing terrorism concerns led port officials globally	受索马里海盗的刺激，各国政府鼓励商船自我武装，或雇佣私人保安，打破了长久以来国家对武器使用权近乎垄断的局面。但与此同时，对恐怖主义的担忧日益增长，也使全球的港口官员对携武器进入国家领海区域的做法实行更严格的限制。海上武器船应运而生，成为解决海上武器供给的途径。

to impose tighter restrictions on weapons being carried into national waters. Floating armories emerged as a solution.
On the Resolution, security “team leaders,” most of them American, British or South African military veterans, explained what makes gun battles at sea so different from those on land.	在“决心”号上，保安“队长们”解释了海上枪战和陆地上有多么不同。他们大多数是来自美国、英国或南非的退伍军人。
“Between fight or flight,” said Cameron Mouat, a guard working for MNG Maritime, a British company that charters the Resolution. “Out here, there’s just fight.” There is no place to hide, no falling back, no air support, no ammunition drops, he said. Targets are almost always fast moving. Aim is usually wobbly because the ship constantly sways.	“陆地上你可以选择战斗或是逃跑，”英国 MNG 海事公司(MNG Maritime)的雇员卡梅伦·莫阿特(Cameron Mouat)说道，这家公司租了“决心”号。“在这里，你只能选择战斗。”无处可藏，无处可退，没有空中支援，也没有弹药补给，他说。目标几乎永远都在快速移动。因为船不停摇晃，也经常瞄不准。
Some ships are the equivalent of several football fields in length, too big, these guards contended, for a two- or three-man security detail to handle, especially when attackers arrive in multiple boats.	这些保安认为，有些船有几个足球场加起来那么长，船体过大，两三个保安难以应付整个船只的安保工作，尤其是在周围有好几艘船同时发动袭击的情况下。
Discerning threats is difficult. Semiautomatic weapons, formerly a pirates’ telltale sign, are now found on virtually all boats traversing dangerous waters, they said. Smugglers, with no intention of attacking, routinely nestle close to larger merchant ships to hide in their radar shadow and avoid being detected by coastal authorities. Fishing boats also sometimes tuck behind larger ships because they churn up sea-bottom sediment that attracts fish.	在海上，辨识威胁也比较困难。他们表示，半自动武器曾经是海盗船的标志，但现在几乎在每一艘穿越危险水域的船上都可以看到。没有攻击意图的走私贩经常将船藏身于更大的商船的背后，好躲避雷达追踪，避免被沿海当局发现。不少渔船有时也会紧跟在大船后面，因为大船搅动的海底沉积物会吸引鱼群觅食。
“The concern isn’t just whether a new guard will misjudge or panic and fire too soon,” explained a South African guard. “It’s also whether he will shoot soon enough.” If guards hesitate too long, he said, they miss the chance to take preventive measures that can help avoid fatal force, like firing warning shots, flares or water cannons, or incapacitating an	“让人担心的不仅在于，一个保安新手会不会因误判或太紧张而过早射击，”一位来自南非的保安说道。“还在于他能不能及时射击。”他表示，如果保安犹豫太久，就会错过采取预防措施的机会，比如发枪警告，用照明弹或高压水炮发出警告，或打坏正在靠近的船只的引擎，这些措施可以帮助避免发生致命的武力冲突。

approaching boat's engine.
The armories themselves can be crucibles of violence. Guards climbing off another floating armory, the Seapol One, pulled out their smartphones and showed pictures of the infested, cramped, trash-strewn cabins where eight men bunked.	武器船本身可能就是滋生暴力的地方。从另一艘这样的船“Seapol 一号”上下来的安保人员拿出智能手机，展示了蚊虫滋生、拥挤不堪、垃圾遍地的船舱的图片。每个船舱住着八个人。
Like most floating armories, the Seapol One, run by the Sri Lankan firm Avant Garde Maritime Services, had no armed security of its own to police its guests or protect against pirates who might seek to commandeer the arsenal. Most coastal nations oppose the armories, though they can do little to stop them since they are situated in international waters.	像大多数海上武器船一样，由斯里兰卡公司先锋海事服务公司(Avant Garde Maritime Services)运营的“Seapol 一号”没有自己的武装安全人员，不能在其客户中维持秩序，也无法防止海盗控制武器船。大多数沿海国家都反对武器船的存在，但因为它们停泊在国际海域，这些国家对此无能为力。
None of the guards interviewed knew of any fatal clashes on the armories. But there was no shortage of friction, they said. A Latvian guard, weighing more than 300 pounds and well over six feet tall, relieved himself in the shower because he could not fit in the bathroom stalls. Confronted by other guards, he refused to clean it up.	接受采访的保安都没听说过武器库上发生过什么致命冲突。但他们表示，这里不乏各类摩擦。一名体重 300 多磅（超过 140 公斤）、身高远超六英尺（约合 1.83 米）的拉脱维亚保安，因进不去厕所隔间，而在淋浴间里大小便。被其他保安发现以后，他拒绝清理自己秽物。
Several days earlier a heated argument erupted between two South African guards and their team leader. Unpaid for nearly a month, the men had been abandoned by their security company and left on the Seapol with no way to get back to port.	几天前，两名南非保安和自己的队长发生了激烈争执。他们已经一个月没领到工资，被自己所在的保安公司抛弃了，滞留在“Seapol 一号”上，无法返回港口。
Kevin Thompson, a British guard, described intense boredom and isolation, which some guards relieved with occasional drinks of forbidden alcohol or by lifting weights, assisted by steroids. Describing the armories, he said, “They’re basically psychological pressure cookers.”	英国保安凯文·汤普森(Kevin Thompson)描述了船上生活的极度无聊与隔绝，有些保安会通过偶尔喝点酒来缓解，而这在行业里是不允许的，也有一些通过锻炼肌肉来解闷，用类固醇类激素辅助。在描述武器船时，他说，“它们基本上就是一个心理高压锅。”

Unsolved Killings	未解死亡事件
The video of the killing of the four men speaks to a survival-of-the-fittest brutality common at sea, according to a dozen security experts who reviewed the footage. They speculated that one gunman, quite likely a private security guard, did all the shooting, using a semiautomatic weapon. And, they said, the four ships at the scene were probably associated with one another, perhaps by shared ownership. "You don't rob a bank in mixed company," one former United States Coast Guard official explained.	至于开头提到的有四人被杀害的视频片段，十多位观看了视频的安全专家表示，它说明在海上有一种普遍存在的适者生存的残酷法则。他们猜测，这起屠杀是由一名持半自动武器的枪手一人完成的，很可能是一名私人保安。他们还表示，视频中出现的四艘船或许相互有关联，有可能归属同一公司。“你不会以混合团伙的形式抢银行。”一名前美国海岸警卫队官员解释道。
Last summer, the police in the Fijian capital of Suva closed their investigation into the shootings. They reasoned that the incident did not occur in their national waters, nor did it involve their vessels. Since no Fijian mariners had been reported missing, they concluded none of their citizens were among the victims.	去年夏天，斐济首都苏瓦的警方结束了对这宗枪击案的调查。他们给出的理由是，此事并未发生在斐济海域，也不涉及该国船只。而且没有斐济海员被上报失踪，他们也就得出了未有本国公民遇害的结论。
When governments investigate incidents like this, their goal is typically not to find the culprit, said Glen Forbes from OceanusLive, the maritime risk firm. "It's to clear their name."	海上风险公司 OceanusLive 的格伦·福布斯(Glen Forbes)表示，当政府调查此类事件时，目标往往不是找到凶手，“而是卸脱自身的干系。”
The video, which includes people speaking Chinese, Indonesian and Vietnamese languages, shows three large vessels circling the floating men. A banner that says "Safety is No. 1" in Chinese hangs in the background on the deck of one of the ships. A fourth vessel, which maritime records indicate is a 725-ton Taiwanese-owned tuna longliner called Chun I 217, passes by in the background.	视频里出现了操汉语、印尼语和越南语的人，画面显示三艘大型船只围着那几名飘浮的男性遇害者转。背景中，一条船的甲板上悬挂着中文的“安全第一”条幅。画面远处，另有一艘船经过。海事纪录显示，这是725吨的台湾鲔鱼延绳捕捞船“春亿217号”。
Lin Yu-chih, the owner of the Chun I 217, which remains at sea, said that he did not know whether any of the more than a dozen other ships	春亿217号目前仍在海上。船东林毓志(Lin Yu-chih)表示，他并不清楚自己拥有或运营的十几艘船当中是否还有其他的船在案发时经过。谈到枪击现场

he owns or operates were present when the men were shot. "Our captain left as soon as possible," Mr. Lin said, referring to the shooting scene.	时，林先生说，“我们船长赶紧离开了。”
Though the date of the shooting is unknown, he said that he believed it occurred in 2013 in the Indian Ocean, where the Chun I 217 has been sailing for the last five years.	尽管枪击案发生的具体日期不明，但他表示自己认为是在 2013 年的印度洋上。过去五年里，春亿 217 号一直在印度洋上航行。
Mr. Lin declined to release any details about the crew of the Chun I 217 or the report he said he asked the captain to write about the killings after the Taiwan police contacted his company. Mr. Lin, a board member of the Taiwanese tuna longliners association, said the private security guards on his ships were provided by a Sri Lankan company, which he declined to name. The Taiwan prosecutor's office, which is looking into the matter, declined to comment.	林先生拒绝公布有关春亿 217 号船员的任何详细信息。台湾警方曾联络他的公司，而他表示自己随后要求船长撰写了一份有关此事的报告，不过他也不愿透露其中的细节。林先生是台湾鲔延绳钓协会的理事。他表示，旗下船只上的私人保安来自斯里兰卡的一家公司，但他不肯说出具体的公司名。正在调查此事的台湾检察署也拒绝置评。
With one of world's largest tuna fleets, Taiwan's fishing industry is among the nation's biggest employers and most politically powerful sectors.	台湾拥有的鲔鱼捕捞船队的规模位居世界前列，因而渔业是该地就业人数最多、政治影响力最大的行业之一。
Two Taiwanese fishing officials later said that the company authorized to put private security guards on Taiwanese ships was Avant Garde Maritime Services, the same business that runs the Seapol One, the armory in the Gulf of Oman. The company declined to answer questions about its guards or its floating armories.	台湾的两名渔业官员后来表示，获得授权在这些台湾船只上进行安保工作的企业叫做先锋海事服务公司，恰好就是在阿曼湾经营海上武器船“Seapol 一号”的那家公司。该企业拒绝回答有关旗下保安或海上武器船的问题。
Tzu-Yaw Tsay, the director of the Taiwanese fisheries agency, declined during an interview to release the Chun I 217's crew list or captain's name. He suggested, though, that the men in the water were most likely pirates who had been rebuffed.	台湾渔业署署长蔡日耀(Tzu-Yaw Tsay)接受采访时不愿透露春亿 217 号船员的名单或船长的姓名。不过，他表示水中的那些人很可能是行凶未遂的海盗。

"We don't know what happened," Mr. Tsay then acknowledged. "So there's no way for us to say whether it's legal."	"我们不知道发生了什么，" 蔡署长随后承认。"所以我们也没办法说是不是合法。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150720/c20oceans-violence	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150720/c20oceans-violence
Obama to Push U.S. Trade in Kenya as China's Role Grows	中美在肯尼亚面临商业竞争
VOI, Kenya — After spending their days digging in the red-clay earth to build a railroad between Nairobi and the sprawling port city of Mombasa, the Chinese workers here retreat to metal trailers surrounded by barbed wire and armed guards.	肯尼亚沃伊——白天，为了在内罗毕与港口大城市蒙巴萨之间修一条铁路，他们在红土地上进行挖掘作业。结束一天的工作后，这里的中国工人，回到了四周有铁丝网和武装守卫的金属房里。
Each morning as they file out and each evening as they trudge back, they are greeted by morale-boosting banners like the one hanging on the fence at this camp, which lies a few hours from Mombasa: "When you feel grateful, you become great, and eventually attract great things."	每天早上鱼贯而出，晚上疲惫归来时，他们都会看到鼓舞士气的横幅。在这个距离蒙巴萨几小时路程的营地里，围栏上就挂着这样一条横幅，上面写着："心怀感恩，立人筑业"。
It is just one of scores of worker camps around the country. Roads, office buildings, schools and major infrastructure projects across Kenya have been built by the Chinese, a pattern repeated in many parts of the continent.	这只是肯尼亚全国许多工人营地中的一个。肯尼亚各地的公路、办公楼、学校和大型基础设施项目，都是由中国人修建的。非洲大陆很多地方的建设也都是这一模式。
Trade between China and Africa, valued at $222 billion in 2014, has been rising swiftly and is now about three times the amount of trade between the United States and the African continent, according to figures from the World Bank and the American government.	2014年，中非贸易额达2220亿美元。来自世界银行和美国政府的数据显示，中非贸易一直在迅速增长，现在约是美国与非洲贸易额的三倍。
That is an imbalance President Obama hopes to start correcting.	奥巴马总统希望开始纠正这种不平衡。
Mr. Obama's return to his father's homeland on Friday was, of course, part of a presidential trip laden with great personal significance. Islamist extremism and security were to be another focus, given the growing	周五，奥巴马回到了他父亲的祖国。作为此次总统出访的一部分，这对他个人肯定具有重要意义。考虑到青年党(Shabab)对肯尼亚构成了日益加剧的威胁，伊斯兰极端主义和安全问题也将是一个重点。自2011年以来，索马里

threat Kenya faces from the Shabab, the Somali extremist group responsible for some 400 deaths there since 2011.	极端组织青年党已造成大约 400 人死亡。
But Mr. Obama's trip also presents a unique opportunity to rebuild the strained relationship between Kenya and the United States, and central to accomplishing that will be shoring up the economic ties between the two nations in the face of competition by China.	但奥巴马此行也代表着一个修复肯尼亚与美国之间紧张关系的难得机会，而要实现这一点，最重要的是与中国展开竞争，增强美国与肯尼亚之间的经济往来。
Mr. Obama, speaking to the BBC, said China had been "able to funnel an awful lot of money into Africa, basically in exchange for raw materials that are being extracted from Africa."	在接受 BBC 的采访时，奥巴马称中国一直“能向非洲输入大量资金，换取正在从非洲开采出来的原料”。
"What is certainly true is that the United States has to have a presence to promote the values that we care about," he said.	“有一点是肯定的，美国必须参与进来，从而推进我们所重视的价值观，”他说。
Mr. Obama is in Kenya to play co-host to the first Global Entrepreneurship Summit in sub-Saharan Africa. Over the weekend, he is also expected to sign several "government to government" agreements making it easier for American companies to invest in Kenya.	奥巴马前往肯尼亚是为了共同主持首次在撒哈拉以南非洲举办的全球创业峰会(Global Entrepreneurship Summit)。根据预期，他还会在周末签署几项“政府间”协议，让美国企业在肯尼亚的投资更为便利。
That could help shape a deal involving a consortium of private American firms that is under negotiation, potentially laying the groundwork for one of the largest Western investments in infrastructure projects in Kenya's history.	这可能有助于促成一宗交易，其中涉及一个由美国私营企业组成的财团。这宗交易可能会为将来的一笔巨额投资奠定基础，那将是西方在肯尼亚历史上规模最大的基础设施投资之一。
"This is a mega-project and it will be a game changer for this region," said Issa Timamy, the governor of Lamu County, along the Kenyan coast.	“这是一个大项目，会改变地区的格局，”位于肯尼亚沿海地区的拉木县县长伊萨·提马米(Issa Timamy)说。
The economic thrust is part of a broader effort to strengthen a relationship that was forged during the Cold War but has become tense	推动经济是增强两国关系的广泛行动的一部分。美国与肯尼亚之间的关系建立于冷战期间，近年来变得紧张。

in recent years.
In 2007, just before Mr. Obama took office, more than 1,000 people died and 600,000 people were displaced from their homes during election-related violence in Kenya.	2007年，就在奥巴马上台前，肯尼亚发生了与选举有关的暴力事件，造成1000多人死亡，60万人流离失所。
The current Kenyan president, Uhuru Kenyatta, was charged by the International Criminal Court with helping to orchestrate and finance the violence.	肯尼亚现任总统乌胡鲁·肯雅塔(Uhuru Kenyatta)被国际刑事法院(International Criminal Court)指控参与策划和资助了当时的暴力事件。
When Mr. Kenyatta ran for president in 2013, American officials did not hold their tongues. The Obama administration's top official for Africa at the time issued a veiled warning, reminding Kenyans that "choices have consequences."	肯雅塔2013年竞选总统时，美国官员没有沉默。当时，奥巴马政府负责非洲事务的最高官员发出含蓄的警告，提醒肯尼亚人“选择都是有后果的”。
When Mr. Kenyatta took office, he pointedly said it was time for Kenya to look east instead of west. He chose to go to Beijing and Moscow on his first trip out of the country.	上台后，肯雅塔针锋相对地表示，肯尼亚是时候往东边，而不是往西边看了。首次出访时，他选择了北京和莫斯科。
But circumstances have changed considerably since then. In September 2013, gunmen stormed a fancy shopping mall in Nairobi, killing dozens of civilians in an attack claimed by the Shabab on a gleaming symbol of Kenya's prosperity.	但自那时以来，形势已经发生了大变化。2013年9月，持枪者突袭内罗毕一家高档购物中心，造成数十名平民死亡。该购物中心是肯尼亚繁荣的光辉象征。事后，青年党宣称对袭击负责。
The United States, viewing the siege as a direct threat to Western tourists and even as a possible prelude to similar attacks on American soil, helped investigate and continued its assaults on the Shabab in Somalia.	美国认为那场围攻是对西方游客的直接威胁，甚至可能是美国本土发生类似袭击的前奏。美国对调查给予了帮助，并继续在索马里打击青年党。
Then the charges against Mr. Kenyatta at the international court were dropped, frustrating human rights advocates but reducing the diplomatic tensions of working with a head of state who was on trial for	后来，国际刑事法院撤销了对肯雅塔的指控。此事令人权倡导人士感到失望，但却减少了与一名面临反人类罪审判的国家领导人合作时的外交摩擦。 crimes against humanity.

The two countries are working closely to counter Islamist extremism, and Western officials say that the relationship is greatly improved.	眼下，两国正在就打击伊斯兰极端主义展开密切合作。西方官员称，双方关系得到了极大改善。
Now American officials and investors are focusing on another front: trying to compete with China in the race to do business in Africa.	现在，美国官员和投资者关注的是另一条战线：与中国竞争，和非洲国家发展经贸关系。
The multibillion-dollar deal being negotiated, which involves major American companies like Bechtel, includes construction of a new port in Lamu, a pipeline to connect it with the oil fields of Kenya and Uganda, an 880-megawatt natural gas power plant, and a railway from the port that would connect to existing rails in Nairobi and then stretch to Ethiopia and South Sudan.	正在谈判中的协议价值数十亿美元，涉及柏克德(Bechtel)等美国大公司，包括在拉木县建设一个新港口，并修建一条连接拉木和肯尼亚及乌干达油田的管道、一座 880 兆瓦的天然气发电站，以及一条从拉木港口出发，在内罗毕接入现有路网，然后再向埃塞俄比亚和南苏丹延伸的铁路。
It would be an enormously complicated undertaking, and even people involved in the project cautioned that the deal is not done until it is formally signed. But a project of this scale would affect the lives of millions of people not just in Kenya, but across East Africa.	这会是一项极其复杂的任务，就连参与该项目的人都告诫称，除非正式签署，否则协议就不算敲定。但这种规模的项目会影响肯尼亚，乃至整个东非数百万人的生活。
The hope is that the deal will also provide a model for future cooperation by the American government, the private sector and developing nations on large-scale infrastructure projects.	人们希望这项协议也能为美国政府、私营部门和发展中国家未来在大型基础设施项目上的合作提供一个范本。
There have been months of fierce negotiations and strong competition from the Chinese, but Mr. Timamy, the governor of Lamu, said everything was in place for an announcement timed to coincide with Mr. Obama's visit.	激烈的谈判已进行了数月，并且遇到了来自中国的激烈竞争。但拉木县县长提马米表示，一切都已到位，就等着宣布了。宣布协议的时间被定在奥巴马到访时。
"This shows the improvement in relations between Kenya and the U.S.," he said. "For a while relations there — relations were a bit fraught. This is a new beginning for Kenya and our traditional ally, the U.S., and other	"这表明肯尼亚和美国之间的关系有所改善，"他说。"有一段时间，两国关系有点紧张。对肯尼亚和我们的传统盟友美国，以及其他西方国家来说，这是一个新的开始。"

Western countries.”
Improving security in Kenya and the region has also been a central concern in the negotiations surrounding the new port, pipeline, rail and power plant project, often referred to as “the American package.”	前述新港口、管道、铁路和发电站项目通常被称作“美国套装”。在围绕该计划的谈判中，改善肯尼亚和该地区的安全局势也是一个核心问题。
In April, an assault claimed by the Shabab on a Kenyan university in the town of Garissa left about 150 people dead. In June 2014, militants attacked in Lamu County, killing at least 60 people.	4月，肯尼亚加里萨镇一所大学遭遇袭击，大约150人遇害。青年党称对袭击负责。2014年6月，武装分子在拉木县发动袭击，导致至少60人丧生。
There is hope that investment in the rural communities will spur economic growth, diminishing the appeal of radicals.	人们希望对农村社区的投资能刺激经济增长，降低激进分子的吸引力。
Often, big projects in Africa have reaped windfalls for outside companies, with little return for residents. Mr. Timamy argued that through bitter experience, people here know better now.	通常，非洲的大项目会让外来企业获得暴利，当地居民却几乎得不到什么回报。提马米称，有过痛苦的经历之后，人们现在更清醒了。
“This is not the Africa of the ‘50s, ‘60s, ‘70s or even ‘80s,” he said.	“这已经不再是50年代、60年代、70年代甚至80年代的非洲了，”他说。
The package includes elements intended to have a positive social impact through programs involving education, clean water and, ultimately, local employment.	“美国套装”包含的一些元素，旨在通过涉及教育、清洁的水，并最终带动当地就业的项目，来产生积极的社会影响。
Part of the appeal of the project to the Kenyan government is that it will not require Kenya to invest any funds or take on debt. It is supposed to be financed entirely by the private sector.	对肯尼亚政府来说，该项目的部分吸引力在于，它不会要求肯尼亚投入任何资金或承担任何债务。根据预期，该项目将全部由私营部门出资。
The agreement, according to people familiar with the negotiations, would commit the Kenyan government to work with a Kenyan developer, Aeolus Kenya Ltd., and the international companies with whom it has signed letters of agreement.	据了解谈判情况的人士介绍，协议要求肯尼亚政府与肯尼亚开发商 Aeolus Kenya Ltd.及外国企业合作。肯尼亚政府已同相关公司签署了协议书。
Gerrishon K. Ikiara, an economist at Nairobi University and a former permanent secretary to the minister of transport, said it was often	内罗毕大学经济学者、前运输部长常务秘书格里肖恩·K·伊基亚拉(Gerrishon K. Ikiara)说，和西方公司合作，常常要比和中国合作复杂得多。 much more complicated working with Western companies than with the Chinese.

"China does not concern themselves with a lot of local issues and politics," he said. As a result, he said, deals can be negotiated relatively quickly.	他说，“中国对很多当地的问题和政治不感兴趣。”他表示，于是就能相对快速地把协议谈妥。
China, he said, also completes projects on time.	他说，而且中国也会按时完成项目。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150726/c26kenya	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150726/c26kenya
Calling Obama 'Our Son,' Kenyans Nod Knowingly at His Critique	肯尼亚人欣然聆听奥巴马的演讲
NAIROBI, Kenya — Shaking off the morning chill, they walked down dirt pathways and past burning piles of trash. It would cost 10 shillings — about a dime — to see the speech, but they wanted to see the man.	肯尼亚内罗毕——他们冒着清晨的寒意，经过一堆堆焚烧的垃圾，沿着肮脏的道路而行。看演讲要花费 10 先令（约合人民币 6 角），但他们想看看演讲者。
Inside a shack made of pressed tin sheets, the roof held up by tree trunks, they gathered early Sunday morning to hear President Barack Hussein Obama on television.	上周日清晨，他们聚集在一个由锡板搭建的棚子里，在树干支撑的屋顶下，观看奥巴马总统做电视演讲。
During Mr. Obama's whirlwind visit to his father's homeland, people around Kenya often referred to him as "our son." But what they heard Sunday was more like a lecture from a stern but loving father.	肯尼亚是奥巴马父亲的祖国，他在这里进行旋风式访问期间，肯尼亚人经常称他为“我们的儿子”，但在上周日，他们听到的更像是一个严厉但心怀关爱的父亲在演讲。
And they could not have been happier. Even if they were at times skeptical on a point in Mr. Obama's speech, they said his message would be absorbed and, they hoped, bring change.	他们快乐极了。尽管对奥巴马演讲中的一些论点将信将疑，但他们也表示他的主张会广为接受，并希望这能带来变化
"He is saying what we need to hear," Simon Oudo said as he watched.	“他说的话，正是我们需要听到的，”西蒙·奥多(Simon Oudo)一边看一边说。
When Mr. Obama criticized the "cancer of corruption" that infects every corner of life, Mr. Oudo, 25, nodded knowingly.	当奥巴马批评“腐败之癌”感染了生活的每个角落时，25 岁的奥多心知肚明地点点头。
"I have no job," he said. He scrapes by on the 50 shillings he earns for each car he washes. In a good week, he can take home 1,000 shillings,	“我没有工作，”他说。他靠洗车谋生，每洗一辆赚 50 先令。运气好的时候，他每周赚 1000 先令，约合 60 元人民币。 or $10.

"There are many jobs," Mr. Oudo said. "But many people buy those jobs. It is corruption. It is killing us."	"有很多就业机会,"奥多说。"但是有很多人花钱买工作。这就是腐败,它正在害死我们。"
Mr. Obama's speech was directed to Kenyans, but it was likely to resonate in any city or village on the continent, many facing the same struggles and challenges.	奥巴马这次演讲针对的是肯尼亚人,但它很可能也会在非洲大陆上的任何一个城市或村庄引起共鸣,因为很多人都面临同样的困境和挑战。
In Kibera, a rough and worn slum in Nairobi, Kenya's capital, it was the sense of personal connection with Mr. Obama that made this moment different.	基贝拉是肯尼亚首都内罗毕一处破旧颓败的贫民窟。在这里,人们觉得与奥巴马之间有着一种亲切的情感纽带,因此这个时刻也显得尤为特别。
When the president spoke of his grandfather's struggles working as a cook in the British military, there was a hushed silence in the shack. Most of the men there wore battered shoes, and their hands were worn from labor. They knew about struggle.	当总统说到,自己的祖父在为英国军方当厨师时经历的挣扎时,棚子里陷入了片刻沉默。这里的男子大多穿着破旧的鞋子,双手在劳动中变得粗糙。他们知道挣扎是什么意思。
"He was referred to as a boy even though he was a grown man," Mr. Obama said of his grandfather, adding, "A young, ambitious Kenyan today should not have to do what my grandfather did, and serve a foreign master."	"尽管他已经成年,但还是被称为'男孩',"奥巴马谈到他的祖父时说,"如今,肯尼亚有抱负的年轻人不应该像我祖父当年那样,服侍外国主人。"
They cheered.	他们发出欢呼声。
"You don't need to do what my father did, and leave your home in order to get a good education and access to opportunity," Mr. Obama said. "Because of Kenya's progress, because of your potential, you can build your future right here, right now."	"你们不需要像我父亲那样,为了获得良好的教育和发展机遇而背井离乡,"奥巴马说。"因为肯尼亚在进步,你们有潜力,所以现在你们在这里就可以创造自己的未来。"
They burst out in enthusiastic shouting.	他们爆发出了热烈的呼喊。
Kibera is only a short walk from new office buildings and fancy restaurants, a testament to Kenya's growing prosperity.	从基贝拉走一小段路,就来到了新建成的办公楼和高档餐厅。它们是肯尼亚日渐繁荣的证明。

When Mr. Obama came to Kenya in 2006 as a senator, he visited this area.	2006年以参议员身份到访肯尼亚时，奥巴马就参观过该地区。
Mohamed Abdul Rahim Suleiman met him that day, and on Sunday, he wore two Obama buttons on his chest as proof.	那天，穆罕默德·阿卜杜勒·拉希姆·苏莱曼(Mohamed Abdul Rahim Suleiman)见过奥巴马。而周日当天，他在胸前别了两枚和奥巴马有关的徽章，那是上次会面的证据。
The words on one button — “Change. Courage. Hope.” — were also the words echoed in the shack, grandly known as San Siro Stadium. It is usually filled with people watching soccer. A chicken scurried across the floor as the headline on the TV declared, “Obama’s Grand Return.”	徽章上写着“改变、勇气、希望”，这几个词也在被大气地称作圣西罗体育场(San Siro Stadium)的棚子里回荡着。这里通常挤满了足球观众。电视上的摘要新闻宣布“奥巴马的隆重回归”时，一只鸡快速地从地上跑过。
To a person, the people watching the speech said they believed Mr. Obama’s return would help their country.	就个人而言，观看演讲的人表示，他们相信奥巴马的回访会帮助自己的国家。
“We all trust Obama,” said Solomon Mujivane, 49. “We are very proud of him. We know he does not see tribe. When he speaks about corruption, our leaders will listen.”	“我们都信任奥巴马，”49岁的所罗门·穆希万(Solomon Mujivane)说。“我们为他感到非常骄傲。我们知道他不会在意部落的差别。当他说到腐败时，我们的领导人会听的。”
But even among this adoring crowd, there was some cynicism. At one point, a group of men burst into laughter, shouting in Swahili, as Mr. Obama talked about corruption.	但即便是在崇拜他的这群人里，也有一些冷嘲热讽。当奥巴马谈及腐败时，一群男子一度大笑起来，用斯瓦西里语喊着什么。
“Corruption is everywhere,” Rashid Seif, 32, explained, pointing at another young man. “Just ask that man.”	“腐败无处不在，”32岁的拉希德·赛义夫(Rashid Seif)指着另一名年轻男子说。“问那个人就知道了。”
Apparently, he was taking a bit off the top of the entry fee for watching the speech.	他似乎从观看演讲的入场费中扣下了一部分。
Mr. Obama’s call for better treatment of women — unlike descriptions of his personal history and calls to end corruption — was met mostly with silence. He got a laugh when he compared a society that limits its women to a team that does not use half its players.	奥巴马呼吁改善女性的待遇时，没有像他讲个人经历和反对腐败时那样引起共鸣，观众大都报以沉默。他将限制女性的社会比作一半球员未能得到利用的球队，观众笑了起来。

"That's stupid," Mr. Obama said.	"那样做是愚蠢的,"奥巴马说。
But there was only one woman in the room.	但这间屋里只有一名女性。
Elizabeth Nakhungo, 36, sat quietly with a broad smile. When asked what she thought about the president's speech, her husband answered for her.	36岁的伊丽莎白·诺亨戈(Elizabeth Nakhungo)安静地坐着,笑容满面。被问道感觉奥巴马总统的演讲怎么样时,她丈夫替她做了回答。
"She loved it," he said.	"她很喜欢,"他说。
The crowd was largely quiet as it listened to what at times felt like a sermon. One young man leaned over to a friend as Mr. Obama discussed his own journey and whispered, "Obama is really telling the whole story of all Kenyans."	奥巴马的演讲有时像是在布道,倾听的人群大多数时候都比较安静。当奥巴马讲述自己的人生历程时,一名年轻男子侧身向朋友低声说,"奥巴马真的是在讲述所有肯尼亚人的故事。"
Mr. Oudo, the car washer, does not know what tomorrow will bring. He expects, though, that it will be a struggle to pay for food. Life will be hard.	以洗车为生的奥多不知道明天会发生什么。但他料想,那会是一场为购买食物而开展的斗争。生活仍将艰辛。
"But today, it is a beautiful day," he said. "We thank this great man for coming to Kenya."	"但今天很美好,"他说。"我们感谢这个伟人来到肯尼亚。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150727/c27nairobi	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150727/c27nairobi
American Hunter Is Accused of Killing Cecil, a Beloved Lion in Zimbabwe	美国牙医猎杀非洲明星狮子引发众怒
Cecil, a 13-year-old lion, wandered out of his sanctuary in a national park in Zimbabwe this month, following the scent of a potential snack.	本月,13岁大的狮子塞西尔(Cecil)循着一只猎物的气味,走出了它在津巴布韦一座国家公园里的保护区。
At the other end of Cecil's search was a lure, placed there by hunters who, conservationists say, wanted their prey to cross into unprotected territory so they could kill it.	塞西尔追踪的那种气味,是一个陷阱。动物保护人士表示,猎人放置食物是希望猎物进入非保护区域以便猎杀。
Cecil, well known to those who visited the Hwange National Park in western Zimbabwe for his jet black mane, was beheaded, according to	塞西尔是津巴布韦西部的万基国家公园(Hwange National Park)的熟面孔,黑色的背鬃为游客所知。然而据保护人士表示,这只狮子已被斩首,尸体被

conservation officials. His corpse was left to rot in the sun.	留在在太阳下腐烂。
Zimbabwean officials said that Dr. Walter J. Palmer, an American hunter known for killing big game with a bow and arrow, killed Cecil, and is being sought on poaching charges.	津巴布韦官员表示，杀害西塞尔的是美国人瓦尔特·J·帕尔默(Walter J. Palmer)医生。这位因使用弓箭猎杀大型猎物而出名的猎人，已经因为盗猎而被当局追查。
Johnny Rodrigues of the Zimbabwe Conservation Task Force said Cecil was lured out of a protected game preserve one night in early July by a hunting party that tied a dead animal to a car.	津巴布韦保护工作组(Zimbabwe Conservation Task Force)的约翰尼·罗德里格斯(Johnny Rodrigues)表示，在7月初的一个晚上，一群猎人用绑在车上的动物死尸，将塞西尔诱出禁猎保护区。
The first shot, which the authorities say came from Dr. Palmer's crossbow, was not enough to kill the lion. Cecil was tracked for nearly two days before Dr. Palmer killed him with a gun.	当局表示帕尔默的弩发出了第一击，但未能杀死这只狮子。猎人后来追踪塞西尔两天，才让帕尔默医生用枪将之杀死。
The details of the lion's death have outraged nature enthusiasts and conservationists around the world who are troubled by wealthy big game hunters who pay tens of thousands of dollars for licenses to kill protected animals for trophies and sport.	狮子被害的细节引发众怒。富有大型猎物猎人用数万美元取得执照，出于获取狩猎纪念品或运动的目的猎杀保护动物，这让世界各地的自然爱好者与保护人士头痛不已。
Some conservationists argue that, if done responsibly, the selling of expensive licenses to hunters on the prowl for big game can help pay for efforts to protect endangered species. In 2013, the Dallas Safari Club in Texas fought for the right to sell at auction a permit for the hunting of a black rhino in Namibia, setting off a debate over the practice.	一些保护人士称，向追踪大型猎物的猎人出售昂贵执照的做法，只要操作得当，可以成为濒危物种保护的一个资金来源。达拉斯狩猎旅行俱乐部(Dallas Safari Club)就曾致力于拍卖在纳米比亚狩猎黑犀牛的执照，引发了一场争议。
The group argued that a limited hunt helped thin the herd of weak rhinos so the population could grow, and that the $350,000 paid in 2014 by a reality show host to hunt the animal would help fund Namibia's conservation efforts.	这个组织辩称，有限的狩猎可以减少弱小犀牛的数量，有助于犀牛数量的增长。一名真人秀主持人在2014年支付35万美元购买执照，这笔钱可以用来资助纳米比亚的动物保护工作。
In 2009, Dr. Palmer, a dentist from Minnesota, paid $45,000 at an auction to help fund preservation of an elk habitat in California.	2009年，来自明尼苏达的牙医帕尔默曾在一场拍卖会上花了4.5万美元，用于资助加利福尼亚州一处麋鹿栖息地的保护工作。

A big-game hunter known for his skills in hunting without firearms, Dr. Palmer was profiled in 2009 in The New York Times, when he shot an elk dead from 75 yards with a compound bow in pursuit of a new bowhunting record. The Telegraph in Britain reported on Tuesday that he paid around $54,000 for the opportunity to hunt a lion.	帕尔默是一名大型动物猎人，以不用枪械的狩猎技巧著称。为了刷新弓箭狩猎的纪录，他在2009年用复合弓从75码（约合68米）远处射杀一只麋鹿，《纽约时报》曾撰文报道。英国《每日电讯报》(The Telegraph)周二报道他为了狩猎狮子的机会，花了5.4万美元取得执照。
Thousands of people have signed a petition, intended for Zimbabwe's president, demanding justice for Cecil, and angry animal rights supporters have gone online to express their outrage at Dr. Palmer.	为了替塞西尔伸张正义，有数千人联名向津巴布韦总统请愿。支持动物权益的人士也在网上表达对帕尔默的愤怒。
Once he was named as the hunter who killed Cecil, Dr. Palmer's dentistry website was taken offline, and social media users quickly created a parody Facebook page for his office. His Yelp page was also overrun with indignant commenters.	被指认为杀害塞西尔的凶手后，帕尔默的牙医诊所网站便无法连线，社交媒体用户很快在Facebook上建立嘲讽该诊所的专页。帕尔默的Yelp页面也被愤怒的评论淹没。
The Minneapolis Star Tribune reported on Tuesday that Dr. Palmer's dentistry office had abruptly closed. A makeshift memorial featuring plush animal toys had been set up outside the office on Tuesday afternoon.	明尼阿波利斯《明星论坛报》(The Minneapolis Star Tribune)周二报道，帕尔默医生的诊所突然中止营业。在周二下午，办公室外有人用动物绒毛玩偶堆建起一个临时纪念地。
In a statement, Dr. Palmer defended his actions, saying that he believed what he had done was legal.	帕尔默医生在声明中为自己的行为辩护，表示他认为自己所为都是合法的。
"I had no idea that the lion I took was a known, local favorite, was collared and part of a study until the end of the hunt," Dr. Palmer said. "I relied on the expertise of my local professional guides to ensure a legal hunt."	"在猎得这只狮子以前，我不知道我猎杀的是一只受当地人喜爱的知名动物，并且佩戴了项圈，属于研究对象，"帕尔默医生说。"我仰赖我在当地的专业向导来确保狩猎合法。"
He said he had not yet been contacted by the authorities in Zimbabwe.	他表示津巴布韦当局尚未与他联络。
Dr. Palmer has past legal problems related to hunting. He faced probation after he pleaded guilty in 2008 for making a false statement	帕尔默过去也曾因狩猎而惹上法律问题。2008年在威斯康星州一只黑熊被杀一案中，他承认自己没有将黑熊的被杀地点如实告知联邦官员，因此面临

to federal officials about where, exactly, a black bear was killed in Wisconsin.	缓刑判决。
Attempts to reach Dr. Palmer on Tuesday at his home and his office were unsuccessful.	本报周二试图联系帕尔默的家和办公室未果。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150729/c29lion	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150729/c29lion
Obama, on China's Turf, Presents U.S. as a Better Partner for Africa	奥巴马和中国争夺非洲
ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia — Without ever quite saying so explicitly, President Obama used his four-day trip to Africa to suggest that the United States offers an alternative to China's aggressive courtship of the continent.	埃塞俄比亚的斯亚贝巴——虽然没有明说，但奥巴马总统在为期四天的非洲之行中表达了这样的意思：面对中国在这片大陆极力示好的举动，美国为非洲提供了另一个选择。
At a time when China has surpassed the United States as a trading partner and left its mark throughout Africa, Mr. Obama essentially made the argument that Washington offers a better, more empowering vision for Africa's future.	作为非洲的贸易伙伴，中国目前已经超越美国，而且在非洲各地留下了足迹。奥巴马基本上是在表示，华盛顿为非洲的未来提供了一种更好的、更具赋权性质的愿景。
Whether he succeeded in this mission remained to be seen. But at all of his stops, he laid out the case that Africa should be wary of China's appetite for oil for its own use and instead embrace an American relationship that seeks to foster economic growth, democracy, health care, education and electrification.	他是否成功地完成了这一使命仍有待观察。但每到一个地方，奥巴马都表示，非洲应该警惕中国获取石油供自己使用的胃口，转而努力与美国发展关系，后者能促进经济、民主、医疗保健、教育和电气化的发展。
"The United States isn't the only country that sees your growth as an opportunity, and that is a good thing," Mr. Obama told African leaders in a speech here in Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital, before returning to Washington. He urged Africans to do business with everyone.	"把你们的增长看作机遇的国家不只有美国，这是一件好事，"奥巴马对非洲领导人说。他是在返回华盛顿之前，在埃塞俄比亚首都亚的斯亚贝巴发表演讲时说这番话的。他敦促非洲要与所有人做生意。
"But economic relationships can't simply be about building countries' infrastructure with foreign labor or extracting Africa's natural	"但是，经济关系不能仅限于靠外国劳工来建设国家的基础设施，或是开采非洲的自然资源，"他说。"真正的经济伙伴关系必须要对非洲有益。要为非 resources," he said. "Real economic partnerships have to be a good deal for Africa. They have to create jobs and capacity for Africans."	洲人创造就业机会，提升他们的能力。”

"That," he added, "is the kind of partnership America offers."	“美国提供的伙伴关系就是这种类型，”他说。
But the depth of the challenge was all around Mr. Obama. He was delivering that message at the gleaming headquarters of the African Union, built with Chinese money. Outside the building, a jumbo screen bore the name of Xinhua, the Chinese state news agency. Throughout Africa are highways, railroads and airports that have been or will be upgraded by China.	但这个挑战的严峻程度在奥巴马身边就显而易见。他是在非洲联盟(African Union)闪闪发亮的总部说这番话的，该建筑用中国的资金建成，楼外的巨型屏幕上印有中国国家通讯社新华社的名字。中国已经在非洲各地翻新改建了很多公路、铁路和机场，还将继续这么做。
Indeed, China's news media mocked Mr. Obama's visit, casting it as a weak effort in a contest he was losing.	事实上，中国媒体对奥巴马访非进行了嘲笑，形容那是在一场必败的比赛中，无力地挣扎。
"Obama's high-profile visit has one more purpose, which is offsetting China's growing influence in this continent and recovering past U.S. leverage," said a column in Global Times, an English-language Chinese newspaper. "His diplomatic rhetoric," it added, "can't conceal the notion that the U.S. is nervous about its rise, taking China as a rival in Africa."	“奥巴马高调访非还有一个目的，就是要抗衡中国在非洲日益增强的影响力，恢复美国过去在那里的势力，”《环球时报》英文版的一篇专栏文章说。“他的外交辞令无法掩饰美国对中国崛起的担忧，在非洲，美国把中国当作了对手。”
China has far outpaced the United States in economic interaction with Africa since Mr. Obama took office. While trade between the United States and Africa rose from $33 billion in 2002 to a high of $142 billion in 2008, it has since declined to $73 billion last year and is falling still more this year.	从奥巴马上任以来，中国与非洲的经济往来已经远远超过了美国。虽然美国和非洲之间的贸易额从2002年的330亿美元，增加到2008年1420亿美元的高点，但之后就开始了下滑。去年下降到了730亿美元，今年还会下降更多。
China, by contrast, doubled its trade with Africa over just four years, to $222 billion last year.	中国则相反，在短短四年内，它与非洲的贸易额翻了一番，去年提高到了2220亿美元。
By 2013, Africa had become China's second-largest source of crude oil imports, shipping 1.3 million barrels a day, or 23 percent of what Beijing	到2013年，非洲已成为中国第二大原油进口来源地，每天向中国输出130万桶，相当于北京进口原油总量的23%，对外关系委员会(Council on

was buying abroad, according to a report by the Council on Foreign Relations. China's largest suppliers of crude include Angola, Equatorial Guinea, Nigeria, the Republic of Congo and Sudan, all countries with troubled histories in terms of democratic governance.	Foreign Relations)的一份报告显示。中国最大的原油供应国包括安哥拉、赤道几内亚、尼日利亚、刚果共和国和苏丹，所有这些国家在民主治理方面有不堪的历史。
China provides low-interest loans to countries with poor credit ratings in exchange for oil and mining rights. Last year, China unveiled a $12 billion package of credit and development funding for Africa. China expects to provide $1 trillion in financing to Africa by 2025, much of it for roads, bridges and other critical structures.	中国向信用评级不佳的国家提供低息贷款，以换取石油和采矿权。去年，中国推出了一项价值 120 亿美元的非洲信贷和发展方案。到 2025 年，中国提供给非洲的资金预计达 1 万亿美元，其中大量资金用于公路、桥梁和其他关键设施。
Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, the Ethiopian foreign minister, said his country has strong relations with the United States but wants more economic ties. "One area that lags behind is trade and investment," he said. "In terms of trade and investment, considering the very long historic ties that we have, it's really not as one would expect, and the main focus during our bilateral discussion was that."	埃塞俄比亚外长特德罗斯·阿达诺姆·吉布雷耶苏斯(Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus)表示，埃塞俄比亚与美国关系稳固，但希望能有更多的经济往来。“一个落后的领域是贸易和投资，”他说。“考虑到我们的历史往来非常悠久，在贸易和投资领域，现状真的不如人们希望的那样，我们双边讨论的主要焦点也集中在这里。”
Last year, Mr. Obama hosted dozens of African leaders for a summit meeting in Washington, and this was his fourth trip to sub-Saharan Africa as president. Before his trip, he signed an extension of the African Growth and Opportunity Act, a trade preference program, and he brought with him various announcements of increased investments or aid.	去年，奥巴马在华盛顿接待了几十位前去参加一场峰会的非洲领导人。这一次也是他担任总统以来第四次访问撒哈拉以南非洲。出访前，他签署了延长贸易优惠项目《非洲增长与机遇法案》(Africa Growth and Opportunity Act)有效期的法案，在访问途中还宣布了多项增加投资或援助的举措。
At a conference for entrepreneurs, he announced more than $1 billion in financing for start-up businesses in Africa raised from banks and philanthropists, and he said his administration would host another forum next year "to mobilize billions of dollars in new trade and	在一场面向创业人士的会议上，他宣布将把从银行和慈善人士那里筹集到的逾 10 亿美元资金，投给非洲的初创企业，并表示他领导的政府将在明年举办另一个论坛，“以期筹集数十亿美元，开展新的贸易和投资。” investment.”

While most American trade in the region is with Angola, Nigeria and South Africa, he said he was increasing trade missions to places like Ethiopia, Mozambique and Tanzania.	尽管美国在该地区主要贸易伙伴是安哥拉、尼日利亚和南非，但他表示会向埃塞俄比亚、莫桑比克和坦桑尼亚等地增派贸易代表团。
Here in Addis Ababa, he visited a food production factory financed with American help, inspected the first in a series of new Boeing Dreamliners bought by Ethiopia and announced more plane purchases. He brought with him business executives like Steve Case, a founder of AOL. And Mr. Obama promised that his two-year-old Power Africa program to bring electricity to remote corners of the continent was building momentum despite its struggles.	在亚的斯亚贝巴，他参观了一家获得美国资助的食品加工厂，视察了埃塞俄比亚购买的一系列新型波音梦幻客机(Dreamliners)中的第一架，并宣布该国将购买更多飞机。与他同行的企业高管包括美国在线(AOL)创始人之一史蒂夫·凯斯(Steve Case)。奥巴马还承诺，他推出已有两年的“电力非洲”(Power Africa)计划尽管困难重重，但势头越来越强。该计划旨在让非洲大陆的偏僻角落能用上电。
“China has over the last several years, because of the surplus that they’ve accumulated in global trade and the fact that they’re not accountable to their constituencies, have been able to funnel an awful lot of money into Africa, basically in exchange for raw materials that are being extracted from Africa,” Mr. Obama told the BBC in an interview before his trip.	“过去几年里，因为中国在全球贸易中积累了很多盈余，而且不会受到民众问责，该国得以向非洲投入巨额资金，基本上是为了换取从非洲开采出来的原料，”奥巴马在出访前接受BBC的采访时说。
He said he considered Chinese trade “a good thing” but added that what he wanted “to make sure, though, is that trade is benefiting the ordinary Kenyan and the ordinary Ethiopian and the ordinary Guinean and not just a few elites and the Chinese, who then get the resources that they need.”	他说自己认为与中国的贸易是“好事”，但又接着表示，他想“确保做到的是，贸易要有益于肯尼亚、埃塞俄比亚和几内亚的普通民众，而不仅仅是少许精英和获得了资源的中国。”
That competition with China seemed to influence how Mr. Obama handled the difficult issues of human rights and democracy. In his speech at the African Union, he called on long-entrenched leaders to	与中国的竞争似乎影响了奥巴马对人权和民主这两个难题的处理。在非盟发表讲话时，他呼吁长期在位的领导人下台，让位于政界的新鲜血液。虽然有机会在会议期间直接向肯尼亚和埃塞俄比亚的领导人施压，要求其为推动自

step down in favor of fresh blood. But given the chance to directly press the leaders of Kenya and Ethiopia during meetings to do more to expand democracy in their countries, he chose a less confrontational tone.	己国家的民主做出更大努力，但是他选择了一种不那么咄咄逼人的口吻。
Aides described that as a more “constructive” approach that would not alienate potential friends and would ultimately prove more effective. While human rights groups had urged Mr. Obama not to visit places with checkered human rights records, like Ethiopia, the president’s advisers said that would simply push them into China’s camp.	助手称这是一种更具“建设性”的方式，不会疏远潜在的朋友，并且最终会更有效。尽管人权组织敦促奥巴马，不要访问埃塞俄比亚等人权记录不良的地方，但总统的顾问表示，那么做只会把它们推向中国的阵营。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150730/c30prexy	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150730/c30prexy
Myanmar Frees Loggers From China Amid a Broader Amnesty	缅甸特赦囚犯，150 余名中国伐木工获释
Days after a court in Myanmar sentenced more than 150 Chinese citizens to life in prison for illegal logging, resulting in objections from Beijing, the national government said on Thursday that they would be freed as part of a broader amnesty.	几天前，缅甸一家法院曾因非法砍伐判处 150 多名中国公民无期徒刑，引发了中国的反对。但缅甸中央政府周四表示，作为更大规模特赦的一部分，这些工人将被释放。
Hong Lei, a spokesman for the Chinese Foreign Ministry in Beijing, said Myanmar had notified China that the amnesty for nearly 7,000 prisoners, which Myanmar had announced earlier in the day, would include the Chinese loggers. China had been in “close communication” with Myanmar over the issue, Mr. Hong said.	中国外交部发言人洪磊表示，缅甸已通报中方，当天早些时候宣布的对于近 7000 名囚犯的大赦，将包括中国伐木工人。洪磊称，中国与缅甸保持了“密集沟通”。
The Chinese were arrested in January on suspicion of illegal logging in Kachin State, which borders Yunnan Province in China. Kachin is rich in natural resources, including jade and wood, and many Chinese cross the border from Yunnan to capitalize on that.	今年 1 月，这些工人因涉嫌在与云南接壤的克钦邦非法伐木而被捕。克钦邦的玉石和木材等自然资源丰富，很多中国人从云南越境，去开采那里的资源。
A court in Myitkyina, the state capital, on July 22 sentenced 153 of the	7 月 22 日，该邦首府密支那的一家法院判处 153 名中国人无期徒刑，另外

Chinese to life in prison and two others to shorter sentences. China objected, calling on Myanmar to free the prisoners and return them to China.	两人的刑期短一些。中国提出反对，要求缅甸释放囚犯，并将他们交还中国。
All 155 were being released under the amnesty, according to Mr. Hong.	洪磊称，这 155 人全部将在大赦中获释。
U Mong Gwang, a liaison officer with the Kachin Independence Organization, which controls part of the State, said on Thursday that the Chinese had been freed and deported. "People in the town are surprised at the news," Mr. Mong Gwang said. "They were just sentenced eight days ago."	控制着克钦邦部分地区的克钦独立组织(Kachin Independence Organization)的联络办主任蒙光(Mong Gwang)在周四表示，中国工人已获释并已被遣返。“人们对这个消息感到吃惊，”蒙光说。“他们八天前才被判刑。”
An official at Myanmar's Information Ministry said he had no further details of the prisoner amnesty.	缅甸信息部的一名官员称，关于特赦囚犯一事，他没有进一步的细节。
U Bo Kyi, joint secretary of the Assistance Association for Political Prisoners, a rights group, noted that the amnesty was announced days before a scheduled visit by Yanghee Lee, the United Nations' special rapporteur on Myanmar. Mr. Bo Kyi called for Myanmar to free more political prisoners, saying that only a handful were among those released on Thursday.	人权组织政治犯援助协会(Assistance Association for Political Prisoners)的联合秘书波基(Bo Kyi)指出，特赦是联合国缅甸问题特别报告员李亮喜(Yanghee Lee)计划到访之前几天宣布的。波基要求缅甸释放更多政治犯，称周四获释的囚犯中只有少许政治犯。
Some Burmese expressed anger on social media and elsewhere about the release of the Chinese. "It is very clear that the Myanmar government is afraid of China," U Thein Than Oo, a lawyer in Mandalay, the country's second-largest city, said in an interview.	对于中国工人获释一事，一些缅甸人在社交媒体和其他地方表达了愤怒。“很明显，缅甸政府害怕中国，”律师登丹乌(Thein Than Oo)在该国第二大城市曼德勒接受采访时说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150731/c31myanmar	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150731/c31myanmar
Death of Mullah Omar Exposes Divisions Within Taliban	塔利班头目之死揭示组织内部危机 (英文) https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150731/cc31taliban	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150731/cc31taliban
After Killing of Cecil the Lion, Delta Joins Airline Ban on Game Trophies	猎狮新闻促使航空公司决定禁运猎物

The recent killing of a popular lion named Cecil by an American dentist in Zimbabwe sparked considerable outrage on social media and elsewhere against safari hunting. The event has also brought to light the role that airlines play in transporting trophy kills as cargo, and may have contributed to changing airline policy.	近期, 美国牙医猎杀明星狮子塞西尔(Cecil)一事在社交媒体和世界各地激发了人们对狩猎的愤怒。此事也暴露了航空公司把遭到猎杀的动物作为货物运输的事实, 或将有助于转变现有的航空政策。
On Monday, Delta Air Lines became the latest carrier to change its rules about transporting hunting trophies. Its announcement came as a group of airlines including Air France, KLM, Iberia, IAG Cargo, Singapore Airlines and Qantas signaled last week they would ban the transport of trophy-hunting kills, according to Paul Ferris, the campaign director at SumOfUs.org, a consumer-based petition agency in Brooklyn, which has pressed for changing cargo policies.	周一, 达美航空(Delta Air Lines)成为最新一家针对运送猎物的运输规定作出修改的航空公司。总部位于布鲁克林的消费者请愿机构 SumOfUs.org 的活动总监保罗·费瑞斯(Paul Ferris)表示, 除达美外, 法国航空(Air France)、荷兰皇家航空(KLM)、西班牙国家航空(Iberia)、国际航空集团(IAG Cargo)、新加坡航空(Singapore Airlines)和澳洲航空(Qantas)在上周均表示将禁止运送猎物。SumOfUs.org 致力于推动货运政策的修改。
"Airlines and other large travel corporations would be foolish to ignore the public reaction to the killing of Cecil the lion, and growing concern about the plight of endangered species," Mr. Ferris said.	"如果无视公众对塞西尔被杀的反应和对濒危物种面临的困境与日剧增的担忧, 航空公司和其他大型旅行公司无疑是愚蠢的," 费瑞斯说。
Such a ban was initiated by South African Airways in April, and Emirates, Lufthansa and British Airways later joined. These airlines pledged not to carry big game trophies, including elephants, rhinos, lions and tigers as cargo.	这样的禁令最初是由南非航空(South African Airways)在今年4月发起的, 随后阿联酋航空(Emirates)、汉莎航空(Lufthansa)和英国航空(British Airways)也加入其中。这些公司承诺不会再运输大型猎物, 包括大象、犀牛、狮子和老虎。
One major holdout had been Delta, which has direct service between the United States and countries in Africa. But bowing to pressure from some travelers and activists, and an online petition on Change.org, Delta changed its position too.	之前, 其中一个拒不让步的公司就是达美。这家公司拥有美国和多个非洲国家之间的直飞航线。不过, 面对来自旅客和活动人士的压力, 还有在 Change.org 网站上的请愿行动, 达美也让步了。
"Effective immediately, Delta will officially ban shipment of all lion, leopard, elephant, rhinoceros and buffalo trophies worldwide as	"达美航空将正式在全球范围内禁止以货物形式运输任何狮子、豹、大象、犀牛和水牛, 立即生效," 达美航空发言人摩根·达兰特(Morgan Durrant)说。

freight,” according to a statement by Morgan Durrant, a Delta spokesman. “Prior to this ban, Delta’s strict acceptance policy called for absolute compliance with all government regulations regarding protected species. Delta will also review acceptance policies of other hunting trophies with appropriate government agencies and other organizations supporting legal shipments.”	“在此项禁令之前， 达美严格的货物收寄政策完全遵守了各国政府对保护物种的全部规定。达美也将与相关政府机构和其他组织一起审核其他猎物的收寄政策， 以支持合法运输。”
Still resistance to change can run deep. South African Airways initially banned trophy cargo after a shipment of elephant tusks marked as machine parts bound for Kuala Lumpur was discovered during a stop in Australia. But since July there have been reports that SAA lifted the ban and has resumed shipping trophy kills.	当然， 对于变革的顽强抵抗还是存在的。南非航空起初发起对猎物运输的禁令， 是因为运往吉隆坡的一单货物标记为机械部件， 但在澳大利亚经停时被发现是象牙。不过， 从7月开始就有报道称， 南非航空已经取消禁令， 又开始重新运输被杀的猎物。
Americans make up the bulk of non-African hunters. About 15,000 American tourists visit Africa on hunting safaris every year, according to Conservation Force, a nonprofit group that advocates responsible hunting. Currently, 11 African countries issue lion-hunting permits, including Zimbabwe, South Africa, Namibia and Tanzania.	在来自非洲之外的猎人中， 美国人占了很大一部分。根据倡导良心狩猎的非营利组织“保护力量”(Conservation Force)提供的数据， 每年有 1.5 万名美国游客前往非洲进行狩猎游。目前， 有 11 个非洲国家颁发猎狮许可， 其中包括津巴布韦、 南非、 纳米比亚和坦桑尼亚。
Of those, South Africa’s hunting industry is the biggest, estimated to be worth around $675 million, according to the Professional Hunters Association. And just as important, it is woven into the luxury sector of the travel industry, with fees that can reach $55,000 to hunt lions, for example.	按照职业猎人协会(Professional Hunters Association)公布的数据， 在这些国家中， 南非的狩猎行业规模最大， 估计产值在 6.75 亿美元左右。同样重要的是， 狩猎还与豪华旅游业结合了起来。比方说， 猎狮的收费可达 5.5 万美元。
Many of the ranches in Africa where big game is hunted have their own luxury accommodations. Such is the case with Bushman Safaris, the outfitters used by Walter Palmer, the Minnesota dentist.	非洲的不少大型动物猎场配有豪华住宿服务。猎杀塞西尔的明尼苏达牙医瓦尔特·帕尔默(Walter Palmer)采用的装备供应商布须曼游猎公司(Bushman Safaris)即为一例。
Luxury hotel chains do not condemn trophy hunting or ban hotel	连锁豪华酒店并不会谴责为了获得纪念品而进行的狩猎活动， 也不会禁止宾

guests from big-game hunting, even though it does little for the local economy. Less than 3 percent of the revenue from trophy hunting goes to local guides, business owners or people living in communities near the animals, according to a report by the think tank Economists at Large.	客猎杀大型动物，尽管此类活动对当地经济贡献寥寥。根据智库“自由经济学家”(Economists at Large)发布的一份报告，狩猎活动的收入中，不到3%流向了当地导游、企业主或是居住在临近动物领地的社区里的民众。
Many conservationists are concerned that the laws regulating trophy hunting can be ambiguous and often lead to poaching.	许多动物保护人士感到忧心忡忡，他们认为规范狩猎活动的法规措辞模糊，而且往往会导致偷猎。
African lion population numbers vary, but many estimate there were about 100,000 a century ago. Today, there are around 35,000. Lion populations had been stable, but because they dropped noticeably in the last three years, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has proposed listing the lion as a threatened species.	各方对非洲狮种群规模的估算不一，不过许多说法认为一个世纪前约为10万头。目前的数据则为3.5万头左右。狮子的种群规模曾经较为稳定，但在过去三年里显著缩小，因此美国鱼类和野生动物管理局(United States Fish and Wildlife Service)提议将之列为受威胁物种。
While this would not eliminate trophy hunting, it would regulate it through a permit system for importing sport-hunted trophies into the United States. Opponents to the listing are concerned that the agency's proposal would hamper conservation funds raised by the fees collected for trophy hunting. A decision is expected by January 2016.	尽管进入名录并不会消灭狩猎行为，但会使其接受监管，方式是推出将猎取的动物运入美国的进口许可制度。反对把狮子列入名录的人士担心，管理局的这项提议会阻碍通过狩猎来筹集保护基金。有关这项建议的决定将于2016年1月做出。
But while the pace of federal regulation moves slowly, conservationists said airlines like Delta and other travel corporations are in a much better position to press for change.	不过，尽管联邦监管方面步伐缓慢，动物保护人士表示，在推动变革上，达美等航空公司和其他类别的旅游企业所处的位置要有利得多。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150804/c04update-hunting	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150804/c04update-hunting
Widespread Child Sex Abuse Case Rocks Pakistan	巴基斯坦性侵儿童案触碰恋童癖禁忌话题
HUSSAIN KHAN WALA, Pakistan — Pakistani officials have initiated an investigation into allegations that a gang of men sexually abused more than 200 children and sold videos of the abuse.	巴基斯坦侯赛因汗瓦刺——巴基斯坦官员对一些男子展开了调查。他们被控性侵200多名儿童，并且销售性侵视频。

The accusations have rocked the country, drawing the attention and condemnation of human rights activists and politicians in a case that involved subjects long considered taboo here.	这些指控震动了全国，也吸引了人权活动人士和政治人物的关注和谴责。该案件涉及的问题，长期以来在这里被视为禁忌。
At least 280 children under the age of 14 from three villages in eastern Punjab Province were said to have been subjected to sexual abuse by a gang of 15 men, who made videos to extort money from the children and their parents. Seven of the accused have been arrested, police officials said Sunday.	在巴基斯坦东部旁遮普省的三个村庄，据称有 15 名男子性侵了至少 280 名 14 岁以下儿童，他们还拍摄了视频，来向孩子及其父母勒索钱财。警方周日透露，该团伙中已有 7 人落网。
The accusations of abuse started trickling out last month as victims began to report it to the police, and last Tuesday, hundreds of residents staged a protest, accusing the police and local politicians of protecting the gang members and ignoring the accusations. Some of the protesters clashed with the police, and dozens of people were injured, including several police officers.	上个月，陆续有受害者向警方报案，性侵事件的规模开始逐渐显露。上周二，数百名的居民举行抗议，指责警方和当地政治人物包庇团伙成员，忽视这些指控。一些抗议者与警方发生冲突，导致数十人受伤，其中包括几名警员。
On Saturday, details of the abuse were carried by The Nation, a Lahore-based English-language newspaper, which reported that the gang members had drugged and intoxicated their victims, some as young as 6, and had recorded hundreds of videos. Some of the children stole jewelry and money from their parents to pay the men to stop them from making the videos public, according to the reports. The newspaper said many of the videos were sold to buyers and pornographic websites overseas.	周六，总部设在拉合尔的英文报纸《国家》(The Nation)披露了性侵事件的细节，报道称一些受害者年仅 6 岁，团伙成员给受害者下药麻醉他们，并录制了数百则视频。有报道称，一些孩子从父母那里偷来珠宝和钱交给团伙，以免他们公开视频。该报称，很多视频都被出售给了买家和海外色情网站。
The coverage prompted an outpouring of outrage on social media, especially on Twitter.	这篇报道在社交媒体上引发了愤怒，尤其是在 Twitter 上。
Pedophilia remains a taboo subject in Pakistani society. Human rights	在巴基斯坦社会，恋童癖仍然是一个禁忌话题。人权活动人士说，该国性侵

activists say that child abuse is rampant in the country and that homeless children, as many as 1.5 million according to some estimates, are particularly vulnerable.	儿童的情况很猖獗，无家可归的儿童特别容易受侵害。据一些人估计，巴基斯坦无家可归的儿童多达 150 万。
However, provincial officials in Punjab played down the scale of the abuse and said that only seven cases had been registered by the police so far and that they were in possession of only 30 videos.	然而，旁遮普省的官员淡化了性侵事件的规模，说警方迄今只立案七宗，只掌握了 30 则视频。
Most of the victims and gang members are from Hussain Khan Wala, a dusty farming village in the Kasur District of Punjab Province, near the border with India and about an hour's drive from Lahore, the provincial capital.	受害者和团伙成员大多来自侯赛因汗瓦刺，这个尘土飞扬的农业村靠近印巴边境，属于旁遮普省的卡苏尔区，距离该省省会拉合尔大约一小时车程。
"This group was active since 2007 when they were school students," Shahzad Sultan, a senior police official said in an interview on Sunday, referring to the suspects. He said most of the videos involved consensual sex between teenagers.	"这个团伙从 2007 年开始作案，当时他们还在学校读书，"周日，警队高层沙赫扎德·苏丹(Shahzad Sultan)在采访中谈到犯罪嫌疑人时说。他表示，大多数视频都是青少年之间两厢情愿的性行为。
Local police officials say the allegations became public only after a land dispute arose between two rival groups in the village. Mr. Sultan said that the videos of consensual sex were being used now as part of an effort by one party in the dispute to discredit or intimidate members of the other group with accusations of child abuse. "The videos are old," he said.	当地警方的官员称，村里两个敌对团体之间出现土地纠纷后，相关指控才得以公开。苏丹称，现在纠纷中的一方用录下来的两厢情愿的性行为视频，来败坏对方成员的名声，或是用性侵儿童的指控来恐吓对方。"视频是以前拍摄的，"他说。
The man identified as the main suspect, Haseem Amir, said in an interview that his uncle had bought the land under dispute now and that members of another family who opposed the sale were now accusing him and his friends of child abuse.	被指认是主要嫌疑人的男子哈西姆·阿米尔(Haseem Amir)在接受采访时称，纠纷涉及的土地是自己的叔父买下来的。反对这笔交易的另一个家族的成员，现在指控他和朋友性侵儿童。
The seven suspects who were arrested are ages 16 to 25. Mr. Amir, 25,	被捕的七名嫌疑人年龄在 16 至 25 岁之间。25 岁的阿米尔否认自己参与了

denied that he was involved in blackmail and extortion. "We made some mistakes while we were teenagers in school," he said, alluding to the sex videos. "We used to record videos and share with one another just for fun."	敲诈勒索。“我们十几岁时还在上学，犯过一些错误，”他暗指性视频。“我们过去会录制视频，彼此分享，但只是为了好玩。”
But Muhammad Ashraf, the father of one of the accusers, who filed a complaint to the police on Sunday, said his son, 20, was abused as a student five years ago, but did not tell the family at the time.	但其中一名原告的父亲穆罕默德·阿什拉夫(Muhammad Ashraf)称，他儿子今年 20 岁，但五年前还是个学生时，儿子遭到性侵，只是当时没有告诉家人。阿什拉夫已在周日向警方报案。
After video clips surfaced about two months ago, "we came to know about it," Mr. Ashraf said.	阿什拉夫称，大约两个月前，视频片段浮出水面，“我们才知道”。
"My son was disturbed and sad," Mr. Ashraf said. "He asked us to lodge the case. He used to steal money and some valuables, and says he used to give it to the blackmailers."	“我儿子感到不安，很伤心，”阿什拉夫说。“他让我们正式起诉。他过去偷过钱和一些贵重物品，说都给了敲诈他的人。”
In one video, a boy is seen crying after he is sexually abused, and tries to cover his face with a hand to hide from the camera. In another video, a man orders a boy to smile as he films him while the boy is abused.	在其中一段视频中，一名男孩在被性侵后大哭，并试图用一只手遮住脸，以躲避镜头。在另一段视频中，一名男子在拍摄一个男孩遭受性侵的过程中，命令男孩要面带微笑。
A senior police official, who spoke on the condition of anonymity for fear of offending local sensibilities, said the case involved a "mixture of social deviants" and behaviors that reflected changes in Pakistani society. "Such acts of teenage homosexuality are becoming common practice," the officer said.	警方的另一名高官表示，此案涉及的“社会偏常者”和行为，反映了巴基斯坦社会发生的变化。“青少年之间的这种同性性行为正在变得普遍，”这名官员透露。因为害怕伤害当地人的感情，他要求匿名。
Opposition politicians said over the weekend that they planned to take up the issue of child abuse in Parliament on Monday.	反对派政治人物周末表示，他们计划周一在议会提出虐待儿童的问题。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150810/c10pakistan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150810/c10pakistan
Protecting the Internet, but Depriving India's Poor	Facebook 为印度穷人提供免费网络引争议
New Delhi — The last time Prime Minister Narendra Modi visited the	新德里——印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)上一次访问美国时曾和

United States, he stood with Hugh "Wolverine" Jackman and declared, for some reason, "May the force be with you." This month, when he meets the Facebook co-founder Mark Zuckerberg in Menlo Park, Calif., Indians hope their leader won't yell, "Don't be evil."	"金刚狼"休·杰克曼(Hugh Jackman)同台，出于某种原因，他说了一句“愿原力与你同在”。本月，当他和 Facebook 创始人马克·扎克伯格(Mark Zuckerberg)在加州的门洛帕克市见面时，印度民众希望自己的领导人别喊出“不作恶”来。
But if he does end up shouting Google's motto in Facebook's headquarters, some Indians would be pleased. For that is what they wish to tell Facebook.	但如果他最后真的在 Facebook 总部说出这句谷歌(Google)格言，有一部分印度人会比较高兴。因为这正是他们想对 Facebook 说的。
Mr. Modi wants every Indian to get online, and Mr. Zuckerberg has figured out a way to do this. But the Modi government has been under pressure from the minority of Indians who consume most of the nation's bandwidth to pass legislation that would deny free Internet access to the poor.	莫迪想让所有印度人都用上网络，扎克伯格想到了一个实现的方法。但莫迪政府受到来自少数印度民众的压力，这些人享用着印度大部分带宽，却想要通过一项不给穷人提供上网途径的法案。
In February, Facebook and its partners introduced Internet.org in India, a diminished but free Internet for the more than 100 million mobile subscribers of Reliance Communications. More than 75 percent of Indians do not use or have access to the Internet, but almost every Indian has a mobile phone. So, millions of Indians now have access, in seven languages, to dozens of websites and applications, including BBC News, Wikipedia and, of course, Facebook.	今年 2 月，Facebook 及其合作伙伴将 Internet.org 引入了印度，它可以让印度信实通信公司(Reliance Communications)的 1 亿手机用户享受到不完整但却完全免费的网络。超过 75%印度人不上网或没有上网途径，但他们几乎人手一部手机。所以，现在有数百万印度人可以浏览几十种网站和应用，包括 BBC 新闻、Wikipedia，当然还有 Facebook，这些服务有七种语言可以选择。
Internet.org would not have drawn much rage if not for something else that was going on. Weeks after the initiative emerged, an Indian telecom operator tried to introduce a service that would make it free or cheap or faster for people to gain access to some applications that have a commercial agreement with the operator.	如果不是因为还有一些其他的事，Internet.org 不会引起太多怨愤。这一计划推出几周后，一家印度通信运营商试图引入一项服务，可以让人们免费或以更低的价格或更快的速度下载一些与该运营商有商业协议的应用。
There is a global movement against strategies that corrupt the open	目前全球在进行一场运动，反对破坏互联网开放属性的策略，印度也加入了

nature of the Internet, and Indians joined the lament. The movement ended up including Internet for the poor among the offending telecom strategies. This was a flawed, principled stand. And it fit well in the history of the Indian elite deploying ideology to the detriment of the poor — central planning instead of a market economy, a focus on higher education over primary education and rocket science over virology.	控诉的一方。这场运动最终把为穷人提供网络列为不合理的电信策略。这是一个有缺陷的、坚持原则的立场。它与印度精英阶层宣传对穷人不利的意识形态的历史一脉相承，这些人强调中央计划，而非市场经济；重视高等教育大过基础教育；重视火箭科学大过病毒研究。
Mr. Zuckerberg has been at pains to tell Indians that his offer of free Internet to the poor does not violate any ethics. Facebook does not charge for any application that wishes to be on Internet.org, and it does not post ads on the Facebook pages of the users. Also, the company does not pay Reliance to provide the free service. Mr. Zuckerberg has said that any telecom operator would be allowed to carry Internet.org. A Facebook spokesman told me, "We are actively in discussions with other mobile phone operators in India."	扎克伯格一直在竭力让印度人明白，他给贫穷阶层提供的免费网络服务并不违反任何道德准则。Facebook 不向任何希望出现在 Internet.org 上的应用收费，不在用户的 Facebook 页面上发广告。而且，Facebook 也不为信实通信公司提供的免费网络服务买单。扎克伯格已经表示，任何通信运营商都可以为其用户提供 Internet.org 的免费应用。一位 Facebook 发言人告诉我，“我正在积极地和印度的其他手机运营商进行商谈。”
He said that "more than 40 percent of those coming online via" Internet.org are so intoxicated by the idea of connectivity that they soon pay the telecom operator for data and enjoy the full expanse of online life. So, the telecom operator has commercial rewards in offering an exceptional social service. It is an idea that can transform India.	他表示，通过 Internet.org 免费应用接触到网络后，有“超过 40% 的人都非常沉醉于联网的感觉，会很快给通信运营商付费购买流量，以享受完整的网络乐趣。所以，通信运营商在提供一项杰出的社会服务的同时，也可以获得商业回报。这是一个可以改变印度面貌的观念。
The elite Indian condemnation of Internet for the poor is cloaked in righteous objections. For instance, that it is "restrictive," thereby violating the fundamental spirit of the web. But Internet.org is limited because data is expensive, not because it promotes some websites over others. In fact, it is paid Internet that is restrictive because it denies the	印度精英阶层反对为贫穷阶层提供网络，有一些表面看似正当的理由。比如，他们指责它是“限制性的”，因此违反互联网的基本精神。但 Internet.org 之所以有所限制，是因为数据太昂贵，而不是为优先推广某些网站。事实上，真正有限制的是付费互联网，因为它们把不能付费的人挡在了门外。

web to those who cannot pay.
Another objection is that the poor would think Facebook is the Internet as many in other nations do. But then in India "xerox" is a verb that means photocopying, and many think the Internet is an American company. If the whole world were surveyed, it would come across as generally ill informed. Many are ignorant because they never had the opportunities, like being connected, to be informed.	他们反对的另一个理由是，印度贫穷阶层会和其他国家的许多人一样，认为 Facebook 就代表互联网。但在印度，“xerox”只是意为“复印”的动词，不代表施乐公司，还有很多人认为“互联网”就是一个美国公司。如果在全球进行问卷调查，印度人会给人以孤陋寡闻的印象。很多人那么无知，是因为他们没有机会接触网络等获取新知的途径。
Also, there is a view that free Internet is just a ploy by Facebook to capture new markets. The history of modern India is proof that corporate self-interest is often more useful to society than altruism.	还有一种观点认为，网络只是 Facebook 为了占领新市场而策划的阴谋。现代印度发展的历史证明，企业的自利往往比利他主义对社会更有益。
Mr. Modi, instead of banishing Internet.org, may consider uploading government websites on it. Facebook is discussing that possibility with his team.	莫迪可能会把印度政府网站放在 Internet.org 上，而不是驱逐它。Facebook 正和他的团队就这一可能进行讨论。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150917/c17iht-letter	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20150917/c17iht-letter
Uber Driver in India Is Found Guilty of Rape	印度优步司机绑架强奸女乘客被判有罪
NEW DELHI — A former driver for the ride-sharing service Uber was convicted by a Delhi court on Tuesday of raping a female passenger last year.	新德里——周二，拼车服务公司优步(Uber)的一名前司机因去年强奸女性乘客被德里一所法院宣判有罪。
The former driver, Shiv Kumar Yadav, was also convicted of kidnapping, in addition to rape while endangering the life of a woman, for an assault in New Delhi in December on a 26-year-old passenger who said she had fallen asleep in his vehicle and woken up in a secluded location with Mr. Yadav beside her in the back seat. A sentencing hearing is expected on Friday, and Mr. Yadav faces a maximum sentence of life in prison.	法院对去年 12 月发生在新德里的这起侵犯事件裁定，司机希夫·库马尔·亚达夫(Shiv Kumar Yadav)除了危及一名女性的生命安全并对其实施强奸，绑架的罪名亦成立。受害人是一名 26 岁的女性乘客，她说自己在车的后座上睡着了，醒来后发现身处偏远地区，而亚达夫在后座，就在自己身边。周五，法院将举行量刑听证会，亚达夫最高可面临终生监禁。

“Obviously we will be asking for that,” the public prosecutor in the case, Atul Srivastava, told the Indian news channel NDTV.	“我们显然会提请法官采纳这样的刑罚，”该案的公诉人阿图尔·斯里瓦斯塔瓦 (Atul Srivastava)对印度的新闻频道新德里电视台 (NDTV)说。
The “Uber rape case,” as it became known in Delhi, elicited widespread concern over the dangers of ride-hailing services in a country like India, where there have been a number of prominent rape cases in recent years, and in cities like New Delhi, where women have difficulty finding safe transport after dark.	这起事件在德里被称为“优步强奸案”。它引发了人们对于当地叫车服务危险性的广泛忧虑。在印度，引人注目的强奸案近年来频频发生。而在新德里，女性在天黑后难以找到安全的交通方式。
The government banned Uber in the Delhi region after the case came to light, but Uber and other ride-hailing services resumed operating in what the company has called “regulatory ambiguity.”	此事曝光后，政府禁止了优步在德里的业务。但优步以“监管不明”为由令这类叫车服务后来得以恢复营业。
The criminal case against Mr. Yadav was delayed in March when the Delhi high court granted Mr. Yadav’s appeal calling for 13 witnesses, including the victim, to be re-examined. But the Supreme Court immediately stayed that order, then struck it down in September, the Press Trust of India reported.	对亚达夫的刑事指控一度于今年3月延迟。当时，德里高等法院同意了亚达夫的申诉，决定重新审核13名目击证人，其中包括受害人。但据印度报业托拉斯通讯社 (Press Trust of India)报道，最高法院立即阻止执行这一决议，并在9月宣布其无效。
The victim withdrew a lawsuit against Uber in California in September.	同样在9月，受害人撤回了先前在美国加利福尼亚州向优步提出的诉讼。
When the episode in December occurred, Mr. Yadav was free on bail in connection with at least three other serious criminal cases, including one of rape, in the state of Uttar Pradesh, and his employment by Uber drew sharp public criticism of the company, which was accused of not doing enough to ensure the safety of its passengers. The Delhi police are investigating whether Uber was criminally negligent in the December case, a senior police official, Brijendra Kumar Yadav, said on Tuesday.	去年12月该起事件发生时，亚达夫正处于保释期。他和其他至少三起发生在印度北方邦的严重刑事案件有关，其中包括一桩强奸案。优步雇佣亚达夫的行为也使该公司面临尖锐的舆论指责。人们控诉优步在保证乘客安全方面做得不够。周二，高级警官布里杰达拉·库马尔·亚达夫 (Brijendra Kumar Yadav)称，德里警方正在调查，优步是否须对12月的案件负刑事过失之责。
In January, Uber announced that it would institute background checks	今年1月，优步宣布将在印度建立背景调查机制。优步印度分公司的总裁阿

in India. In a statement on Tuesday, the president of Uber India, Amit Jain, hailed the verdict against Mr. Yadav.	米特·杰恩(Amit Jain)于周二发表声明，对亚达夫一案的判决结果表示欢迎。
"Sexual assault is a terrible crime, and we're pleased he has now been brought to justice," Mr. Jain said in the statement, drawing attention to Uber's enhanced background checks and new technology as "a result of the lessons we learned from this awful case."	"性侵犯是极为可怕的罪行，我们很高兴他如今已被绳之以法，"杰恩在声明中称。他还强调，优步"已从这骇人听闻的案件中吸取教训"，大力加强了背景调查并采取了新的技术手段。
Mr. Yadav's trial began and concluded in less than a year, a relatively quick period for a rape case in India, which can languish in criminal and legal proceedings for years. More than 85 percent of rape cases in India were pending trial at the end of 2014, according to the National Crime Records Bureau of India, and rape cases had a conviction rate of less than one-third.	亚达夫一案从开庭到结案花了不到一年的时间，在印度的强奸案中算得上迅速。在印度，强奸案有可能会在刑事和司法程序上拖延多年。据印度国家犯罪统计局(National Crime Records Bureau)的资料，在2014年底，印度尚有85%的强奸案待审，而强奸案的定罪率不超过1/3。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151021/c21india	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151021/c21india
Hundreds Killed After Afghanistan and Pakistan Are Hit by Huge Quake	阿富汗巴基斯坦发生7.5级强震，逾200人丧生
KABUL, Afghanistan — A deadly earthquake hit northern Afghanistan and Pakistan on Monday afternoon, causing heavy damage and sowing panic across one of the world's most impoverished and war-torn regions.	阿富汗喀布尔——本周一下午，阿富汗和巴基斯坦北部地区发生地震，造成重大损失，也在世界上最贫穷、最饱受战争蹂躏的地区之一引发了恐慌。
At least 208 were reported killed, with 131 or more of them in Pakistan, and that figure seemed likely to rise significantly, officials in both countries said.	据报道至少有208人丧生，其中逾131人在巴基斯坦。两国官员都说，这一数字很有可能大幅上升。
Buildings were jolted and broke down in the shaking, sending people pouring into city streets in Peshawar and Islamabad in Pakistan, and in Kabul, the Afghan capital.	地震发生时，在巴基斯坦的白沙瓦和伊斯兰堡，以及阿富汗首都喀布尔，建筑物在地震中发生了晃动和破裂，人们纷纷涌上街道。
"All the while, I was looking at the towering building, fearing it would	"我一直在盯着这座高楼大厦，担心它随时会崩塌，把我压在下面，"白沙瓦

come crashing on me anytime," said Muhammad Ali, a vendor in a shopping area of Peshawar. "The whole building was swinging from one side to the other."	一座购物区的商贩穆哈默德·阿里(Muhammad Ali)表示。“整座楼晃来晃去。”
The quake, which struck at 1:39 p.m. and registered a preliminary magnitude of 7.5, was centered in the Hindu Kush mountain range, about 160 miles northeast of Kabul. The quake's depth was reported at 132 miles, the U.S. Geological Survey said, and its effects were felt as far away as New Delhi.	地震发生在下午 1 时 39 分，初步测定震级为 7.5 级，震心位于喀布尔东北约 160 英里的兴都库什山脉。美国地质调查局(U.S. Geological Survey)称地震深度为 132 英里（约 210 公里），震感远及新德里。
In one of the worst scenes in Afghanistan, at least 12 young students were killed at a girls' school packed with as many as 900 people in the northern province of Takhar, said Sunatullah Taimoor, a spokesman for the provincial governor. Most of the victims were crushed to death in a panicked stampede to leave the building, a rented four-story house in the city of Taliqan.	阿富汗最惨烈的受灾场面之一发生在塔哈尔省。省长发言人桑纳图拉·泰摩尔(Sunatullah Taimoor)说，该省北部一所 900 人的女校中，至少有 12 名年轻学生丧生。大多数死难者的死因是，在恐慌中逃离大楼时发生了踩踏。学校位于塔洛甘(Taliqan)，是一座租来的四层楼房。
"The neighbors had to bring wooden ladders, remove the windows and help the students out," said the school's principal, Abdul Hai.	“邻居们搬来木梯，拆掉窗户，帮助学生逃出来，”该校校长阿卜杜勒·海(Abdul Hai)说。
Officials in both countries declared emergencies.	两国官员都宣布进入紧急状态。
In Pakistan, provincial authorities in Peshawar said at least 63 people had been killed in surrounding Khyber-Pakhtunkhwa province. Severe tolls were also expected in other remote regions of the north, including in the Federally Administrated Tribal Areas.	巴基斯坦白沙瓦的省政府机构表示，在该市所属的开伯尔-普什图省的周边地区，至少有 63 人丧生。在北方的其他偏远地区，包括联邦直辖部落地区(Federally Administered Tribal Areas)，预计也出现了严重损失。
In the northern city of Peshawar, Mehreen Ali, 30, a dentist, said she was sitting in a car outside a shopping plaza when the vehicle started shaking.	在北部城市白沙瓦，30 岁的牙医莫瑞恩·阿里(Mehreen Ali)说，当时她正在一所购物广场外，坐在一辆车上，突然车身开始摇晃。
"I thought the car was shaking as the driver was leaning against it," Ali	“我本以为车子摇晃是司机靠着它的缘故，”阿里说。“然后，突然之间，我看

said. "Then suddenly, people started coming out of the building in front. People were staring at the building as if it was about to fall as it shook."	到人们从楼里冲出来。人们盯着建筑物，好像它晃着晃着就会倒下一样。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151027/c27quake	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151027/c27quake
President Robert Mugabe of Zimbabwe Turns Down Confucius Peace Prize	津巴布韦总统穆加贝拒领孔子和平奖
One organizer of the Confucius Peace Prize had said he hoped that President Robert Mugabe of Zimbabwe would come to China to accept the prize, which he was awarded this year over finalists including Bill Gates, the founder of Microsoft, and Ban Ki-moon, secretary general of the United Nations.	一位孔子和平奖的负责人曾表示，他希望津巴布韦总统罗伯特·穆加贝 (Robert Mugabe) 可以来中国领奖。穆加贝与微软创始人比尔·盖兹 (Bill Gates)、联合国秘书长潘基文 (Ban Ki-moon) 同跻该奖决选名单，并从中脱颖而出。
The organizer, Qiao Wei, said last week that the prize committee, which is registered in Hong Kong, would arrange a lavish reception in the Diaoyutai State Guesthouse in Beijing if Mr. Mugabe came to receive the prize in person. Mr. Mugabe, 91, has been president for 28 years and has been criticized by Western governments for widespread human rights abuses.	这位负责人譙达摩上周表示，如果穆加贝愿意亲自前来领奖的话，评奖委员会——一个在香港注册的机构——会在北京的钓鱼台国宾馆举办一场隆重的招待会。现年 91 岁的穆加贝当了 28 年的津巴布韦总统，一贯因侵犯人权遭到西方诸国的谴责。
But a Zimbabwean news organization, NewsDay, has reported that Mr. Mugabe decided to reject the prize after learning that it had nothing to do with the Chinese government.	不过，根据津巴布韦新闻机构 NewsDay 的报导，穆加贝在得知主办单位与中国政府毫无关联之后，决定拒领这个奖项。
"The Chinese government informed the Zimbabwean government that it was not associated with the conferring organization," George Charamba, a spokesman for Mr. Mugabe, told a reporter. "The matter ended there, as far as the government and the president were concerned."	"中国政府告知我国政府，他们与这个授奖单位无关，"穆加贝的发言人乔治·查朗巴 (Geroge Charamba) 告诉记者，"对政府与总统而言，此事便到此为止。"
Mr. Charamba said the organizers of the prize had contacted the	查朗巴表示，该奖项负责人曾联络津巴布韦驻北京大使馆，告知使馆官员穆

Zimbabwean Embassy in Beijing to inform officials of Mr. Mugabe's selection. The prize includes 500,000 renminbi, or nearly $80,000.	加贝获选一事。这个奖项的奖金为 50 万元人民币。
He added that it was right for the spokesman of Mr. Mugabe's party, ZANU-PF, to have praised the prize organizers earlier for their "gesture of respect and good will towards the president."	而穆加贝所属政党非洲民族同盟-爱国阵线(ZANU-PF)发言人稍早赞扬了奖项主办方“对总统的尊敬与善意”，查朗巴称这是正确之举。
"What the government did not, and should not do, is to stop an organization wishing to show respect and good will from doing so, as best it knows how," Mr. Charamba said in the interview. "The president receives many prizes without even knowing, approving or receiving them. What is dramatic in this case is that oppositional interests drew a revolver at the mentioning of an honor or prize to Robert Mugabe."	“政府不曾也不该制止任何在尽其所能表达尊敬与善意的组织，”查朗巴在访问中说。“总统在不知情、不认可或不接受的情况下得过很多奖。这一次得奖格外热闹的是，见到有人向罗伯特·穆加贝表达敬意或嘉奖，一些对立的利益方拔出了手枪。”
News of the selection of Mr. Mugabe for the Confucius Peace Prize spread quickly last week. It drew condemnation by opposition politicians in Zimbabwe and ridicule by many others across the globe.	穆加贝获得孔子和平奖的消息在上周迅速传开，引发了他在津巴布韦的政敌的抨击，还有来自世界各地的讪笑。
Previous recipients of the prize include Fidel Castro, the former Cuban leader, and President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia. The first winner, in 2010, was Lien Chan, a former chairman of the Kuomintang in Taiwan, who learned of the prize after being contacted by journalists for comment. He did not attend the award ceremony in Beijing, and the organizers instead made a symbolic presentation in which a young girl accepted a bundle of money.	此奖早先的得奖人包括前古巴领导人菲德尔·卡斯特罗(Fidel Castro)以及俄国总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)。2010 年的第一届得主则是台湾前国民党主席连战，而他是在记者和他联系请求置评之后才知道自己得奖了。连战并没有出席在北京举办的颁奖典礼，于是主办单位象征性地请一位小女孩公开领受了一笔奖金。
The prize was started in 2010 as a rejoinder to the Nobel Peace Prize, whose committee that year honored Liu Xiaobo, a jailed dissident Chinese writer. Mr. Liu is serving a 11-year prison sentence for subversion and his wife, Liu Xia, is under house arrest. China has	孔子和平奖于 2010 年创立，意在与诺贝尔和平奖分庭抗礼，后者把他们该年度的桂冠颁给身陷囹圄的中国异议作家刘晓波。刘晓波因颠覆国家政权罪正在服 11 年有期徒刑，他的妻子刘霞则被软禁在家。中国政府已对诺贝尔奖委员会所在国挪威进行了经济与外交制裁。

imposed economic and diplomatic punishments on Norway, where the Nobel committee is based.
The first committee to give out the Confucius Peace Prize had tenuous ties to the Ministry of Culture, and a feud resulted in the splitting of the group and the ministry trying to distance itself from the prize.	该奖的首届评审委员会与中国文化部有着微妙的关系,但后来由于委员会的内部斗争导致分裂,使得文化部试图与他们保持距离。
A Zimbabwean opinion writer who uses the pen name Nathaniel Manheru, widely believed to be Mr. Charamba, has belittled the award in his regular column.	一位署名纳森奈尔·曼荷如(Nathaniel Manheru),但被普遍认为就是查朗巴本人的津巴布韦评论人士,在他的专栏中对孔子和平奖表达了不屑之意。
"The wires are awash with reports that some Chinese outfit — Confucius something — decided to award him a peace prize," Mr. Manheru wrote. "He is not involved; he is not there to received the rumored prize."	"现在新闻传得满天飞,说这个叫孔子什么的中国团体决定颁给他一个和平奖,"曼荷如写道。"不过他没有参与;他不会去领这个传说中的奖项。"
Mr. Manheru added that "not even his system takes note of the so-called award."	曼荷如还表示"他的政府也不会去理会这个所谓的和平奖。"
"The supposed recipient is mum, here even, not a whit Confucian," he wrote. "Just what is the story? Even some little institution, so far away from us, seeking to raise its own profile by forcing an association with Robert Mugabe, creates a threatening factor for the opposition!"	"这位据说得到奖项的人沉默寡言,也跟儒家没半点关系。"他写道,"现在到底在演哪出?一个远在天边的小团体都要借着与罗伯特·穆加贝强攀关系来彰显自己,同时给反对他的人创造攻击的把柄。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151028/c28sino-mugabe	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151028/c28sino-mugabe
SupermealX, India's Soylent, May Be Nutritious, but Will It Make the World a Better Place?	为穷人提供的营养餐是否也需要可口一些?
NEW DELHI — Is the right to food the same as the right to tasty food? The answer, like the answer to any question that involves human nature, is complicated because it does not involve mere facts.	新德里——"享有食品的权利"是否等同于"享有美食的权利"呢?就像涉及人性的所有问题一样,这个问题的答案也很复杂,因为它不仅仅和事实有关。
Ever since an American electrical engineer invented a food that	美国一位电气工程师发明了一种食品,它消除了觅食和烹饪的不便,包含了

abolishes the inconveniences of foraging and cooking, and contains all the nutrition a human body is known to require but is devoid of the substances that harm, there has been talk that it can end not only the problems of the overfed but also the underfed. After all, it is in the tradition of Silicon Valley-blessed projects to invent a solution for the rich that eventually "makes the world a better place," to borrow an expression used by tech billionaires and comedians.	已知的人体所需要的所有营养，而且不含有害物质。自那以后，就有人说它不仅避免过度饮食，也能解决营养不良的问题。毕竟，这遵循了硅谷项目的传统：为富人创造一个解决方案，最终可以“让世界变得更美好”——借用科技产业的亿万富翁和喜剧演员的话来说就是这样。
What if India procures or makes a food like Soylent and distributes it at a great discount to all its malnourished?	如果印度弄到或者制造出类似 Soylent 的食品，并以很大的折扣提供给该国所有营养不良的人呢？
The thought has crossed many minds, including an Indian fitness entrepreneur who has created his own version of Soylent, called SupermealX, which he recently began selling online. His first paid customers will receive the food in a few weeks.	这个想法划过了很多人的脑海，包括印度一名从事保健行业的企业家。他研制出了自己的 Soylent，名叫 SupermealX，最近已经开始在线销售。他的第一批付费顾客将在几周后收到产品。
Harsh Batra, 32, is a lean and fit man who has the habit of testing his own blood. He was an early adopter of Soylent, and as he watched his health improve he grew serious about making his own version.	今年 32 岁的哈什·巴特拉(Harsh Batra)身形精瘦，有给自己验血的习惯。他很早就开始服用 Soylent，看到自己的健康状况改善时，他便开始认真考虑研制自己的代餐饮料。
SupermealX, which has been certified by Indian regulators as fit for human consumption, is yellowish and has a tinge of vanilla flavor. Like Soylent, it derives proteins, sugars, fats, vitamins and minerals from both regular food and synthetic sources, but Mr. Batra has to import most of the ingredients. As a result, SupermealX in India, at 290 rupees a 500-milliliter meal (about $4.60 a pint), is almost as expensive as Soylent is in the United States.	SupermealX 呈淡黄色，有微微的香草味道，印度监管机构已经认证该产品适合人体食用。和 Soylent 一样，它的蛋白质、糖、脂肪、维生素和矿物质是从常规食品和合成物中提取的，但巴特拉不得不进口大部分配料。因此，SupermealX 在印度的价格几乎和 Soylent 在美国一样贵，能代替一顿饭的 500 毫升饮料售价 290 卢比（约 28 元人民币）。
The Indian government spends about 3 to 4.5 rupees per lunch in the midday meal program that it provides to millions of poor	印度政府有一项针对数以百万计的贫困小学生的午餐计划，每顿午饭补助 3 到 4.5 卢比。午餐要提供 450 到 700 卡路里的热量，具体要视孩子的年龄

schoolchildren. The midday meal, which provides 450 to 700 calories, depending on a child's age, derives most of its calories from grain-based carbohydrates. Grain, especially rice and wheat, is cheap in India because of government subsidies. Nutritious vegetables are expensive. When the poor eat at all, they usually fill their bellies with starch.	而定，大部分热量都来自以谷物为基础的碳水化合物。在印度，因为政府补贴，谷物，特别是大米和小麦价格便宜。有营养的蔬菜价格不菲。穷人即使能吃得上东西，通常也是塞一肚子的淀粉类食物。
Angus Deaton, the 2015 Nobel laureate in economic science, and the economist Jean Drèze, observed in 2009 in an influential paper that the "anthropometric indicators of nutrition in India, for both adults and children, are among the worst in the world," he wrote. "Indeed, according to the National Family Health Survey, the proportion of underweight children remained virtually unchanged between 1998-99 and 2005-06 (from 47 percent to 46 percent for the age group of 0-3 years). Undernutrition levels in India remain higher than for most countries of sub-Saharan Africa."	今年的诺贝尔经济学奖得主安格斯·迪顿(Angus Deaton)曾在 2009 年与经济学家让·德雷兹(Jean Drèze)发表了一篇颇有影响力的论文。文中写道，“在印度，成年人和儿童的体质指标几乎是全世界最糟糕的。实际上，从全国家庭健康调查(National Family Health Survey)的数据来看，在 1998-99 年到 2005-06 年期间，体重不足的儿童比例几乎没变（在 0-3 岁儿童中的比例从 47%降至 46%）。印度的营养不良水平依然高于撒哈拉以南非洲的大部分国家。”
The situation for the poor has not vastly improved in the past decade. It would appear that a drink with all the nutrients a body needs, which can be stored in powder form for several months and has been created for the rich, would be an excellent idea for India's poor, too. For every meal that a customer purchases, Mr. Batra plans to give one away free to an impoverished child in the care of a chosen organization. But the poor have yet to taste his food. "I have no idea how they are going to react," he said in an interview. "In a few weeks I will know."	过去 10 年，穷人的情况没有很大改善。一种含有人体所需的所有营养、能以粉末的形式储存好几个月，并且已经为富人研制出来了的饮料，对于穷人来说似乎也是一个好主意。巴特拉计划，顾客每出钱购买一份，他就向一个由选定组织照顾的贫困儿童免费赠送一份。但穷人还没尝过他的产品。“我不知道他们会有什么反应，”他在接受采访时说。“几周后就知道了。”
The issue of taste is significant. People, including the poor, eat not only because they have to, but because they enjoy it. Also, society is	口味这个问题很重要。人，包括穷人，吃东西不仅是因为需要吃，还因为他们享受这个过程。社会也习于认为，因为穷人没钱买其他的好食物，就让他

conditioned to believe there is something objectionable about the poor being made to drink a tasteless subsidized potion because they cannot afford the other kind of good food. There are movies in which people consuming tasteless but utilitarian nutrition is depicted as evidence of dystopia.	们喝一种政府补贴但寡淡无味的代餐，这种做法难以接受。在一些电影里，人们食用寡淡无味却有用处的营养品的情景，便被当成了反乌托邦的迹象。
Images of India's poor being given a drink that is ideal for feeding the survivors of a calamity could be politically problematic. They would suggest that India is a disaster zone. Some might ruminate, by pure statistics, it is.	这种代餐供应给灾难之后的幸存者是很理想的，但把它拿给印度的穷人喝，在政治上可能有问题。那样做会让人以为印度是灾区。但一些人可能会思忖，单纯从统计数据来看，这个国家的确是灾区。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151029/c29letter	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151029/c29letter
Russian Airliner Crashes in Egypt, Killing 224	俄罗斯客机在埃及坠毁，机上 224 人无人生还
MOSCOW — A Russian charter flight ferrying 224 passengers and crew to St. Petersburg from the Red Sea resort of Sharm el-Sheikh, Egypt, crashed soon after taking off early Saturday, killing everyone onboard, officials in Egypt and Russia said.	莫斯科——埃及及俄罗斯官员称，周六在西奈半岛坠毁的俄罗斯客机机上 224 人无人生还。这架客机原定从红海度假圣地沙姆沙伊赫飞往圣彼得堡，在起飞后不久坠毁。
The plane, an 18-year-old Airbus A321-200, disappeared from radar screens about 25 minutes after it took off, according to official accounts.	官员表示，这架机龄 18 年的空中客车 A321-200 客机在起飞 25 分钟后就从雷达上消失了。
Hossam Kamal, the Egyptian transportation minister, denied that anything abnormal had happened before the plane disappeared. Earlier news reports in Egypt, citing officials, said the pilot had radioed that he was having technical difficulties and wanted to make an emergency landing.	此前有埃及媒体援引当地官员报道称，该客机的飞行员曾与地面联络，称飞机有技术故障，并请求紧急降落。埃及交通部长 霍萨姆·卡马尔(Hossam Kamal)否认了这一说法，称在飞机失联前没有任何不正常的迹象。
"Communications between the pilot and the tower were very normal — no distress signals occurred," Kamal said at a news conference.	"飞行员和塔台间的通讯很正常——没有任何不幸的征兆。"卡马尔在新闻发布会上说。

The Egyptian government sent military crews and 50 ambulances to the crash site in an area called Hasana, a mountainous region about 46 miles south of El-Arish, the main city in the part of the Sinai Peninsula where the crash occurred. The ambulances began taking the 129 bodies recovered to military helicopters, senior officials said. All 224 people onboard the plane died, the Russian Embassy in Cairo said in a brief statement on Twitter.	坠机发生在西奈半岛主要城市阿里什(El-Arish)以南 46 英里的山区哈萨纳地区，埃及政府已派出军队和 50 辆救护车赶赴坠机地点。官员称救护车已从现场移走 129 具尸体。根据俄罗斯驻开罗大使馆在 Twitter 发布的一份简报，机上 224 人全部遇难。
Hours after the crash, a branch of the Islamic State operating in Sinai claimed responsibility. There has been no indication that the branch has the kind of weapons needed to bring down a plane from a high altitude. The other possibility would be a bomb planted or carried onboard.	坠机发生数小时后，伊斯兰国(ISIS)在西奈半岛的一个分支组织声称对此事负责。没有任何迹象表明该组织拥有可以击落在高空飞行的飞机的武器。但也有可能是机上被放置了炸弹，或有人携带炸弹登机。
Maxim Sokolov, the Russian transportation minister, issued a statement rejecting reports that the plane had been the target of a terrorist attack.	俄罗斯交通部长马克西姆·索科洛夫(Maxim Sokolov)发表了一份声明，称没有证据表明飞机成为攻击目标。
"This information cannot be considered credible," Sokolov said.	"这种报道不能被认为是真实可信的。"索科洛夫说。
Air France and Lufthansa said Saturday that they would avoid flying over the Sinai Peninsula as a precaution until further notice.	法国航空公司和汉莎航空公司周六表示，在得到进一步通知前，它们将停止飞越西奈半岛以防万一。
The plane was flying at 31,000 feet when it suddenly began to descend. The general range of the shoulder-fired missiles, commonly known as Manpads, that have been used against Egyptian military helicopters in the region is much lower, around 20,000 feet.	飞机消失时的飞行高度为 31000 英尺。而该地区武装组织用来攻击埃及军方直升机的肩扛发射的导弹(Manpad)所能达到的高度仅为 20000 英尺。
An Egyptian government statement said the plane had been carrying 217 passengers, including 17 children, and seven crew members. Everyone onboard was Russian, most from the St. Petersburg region, except for three passengers from Ukraine and one from Belarus.	埃及政府的一份声明显示，这架飞机共载有 217 名乘客，其中包括 17 名儿童，此外还有 7 名机组成员。除了 3 名乌克兰人和 1 名白俄罗斯人外，所有乘客均为俄罗斯人，绝大部分来自圣彼得堡地区。

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151101/c01plane	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151101/c01plane
Former Uber Driver in India Gets Life Sentence for Rape	印度 Uber 司机因强奸乘客被判终身监禁
NEW DELHI — A Delhi court sentenced a former driver for the ride-sharing service Uber to life in prison on Tuesday for raping a passenger, said Atul Shrivastava, the public prosecutor who argued the case.	新德里——本周二，参与了诉讼的检察官阿图尔·希里瓦斯塔瓦(Atul Shrivastava)说，一名拼车服务 Uber 曾经的司机因强奸乘客被德里一家法院判处终身监禁。
Shiv Kumar Yadav, the former driver, was found guilty on Oct. 20 of rape while endangering the life of a woman, kidnapping and criminal intimidation. Life imprisonment until his natural death was the maximum sentence, Mr. Shrivastava said.	10月20日，这个名叫希夫·库马尔·亚达夫(Shiv Kumar Yadav)的司机被判定强奸并危及一名女性生命、绑架以及刑事恐吓罪名成立。希里瓦斯塔瓦说，终身监禁至自然死亡是最高量刑。
Mr. Yadav was convicted of raping a 26-year-old woman in New Delhi. The woman said that she had booked a ride with Uber in December and had then fallen asleep in the vehicle, only to wake up in a secluded location and to find that Mr. Yadav had climbed into the back seat with her.	亚达夫因在新德里强奸一名26岁的女子被定罪。该女子说，她在12月通过Uber订了车，然后在车上睡着了，结果在一个僻静的地方醒来，发现亚达夫爬到了她坐的后座上。
The case highlighted the difficulties women face finding safe transportation in a capital city already perceived as dangerous for them, and it drew public criticism of Uber for not doing enough to ensure the safety of its passengers. The Delhi government banned Uber in the region after the attack, but the company has since resumed operating. Uber announced in January that it would begin background checks for drivers in India.	新德里本来就被视为一个对女性不安全的城市，此案突显了女性在那里找到安全的交通工具的难度。一些人公开批评Uber在确保乘客的安全方面做得不够。这起事件发生后，德里政府在本地区禁止了Uber服务，但公司之后恢复了经营。Uber今年1月宣布，将在印度开始对司机进行背景调查。
Mr. Yadav's wife and two daughters accompanied him in the courtroom, the Press Trust of India reported.	据印度报业托拉斯通讯社(Press Trust of India)报道，亚达夫的妻子和两个女儿当时也来到了法庭。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151104/c04india	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151104/c04india

Prosecutors in Oscar Pistorius Case Ask Appeals Court for Murder Conviction	南非检方要求改判“刀锋战士”谋杀
LONDON — South African prosecutors told an appellate court on Tuesday that Oscar Pistorius, the Olympic runner who was found guilty of culpable homicide in the killing of his girlfriend, should have been convicted of the more serious crime of murder.	伦敦——周二，南非检方就奥斯卡·皮斯托瑞斯(Oscar Pistorius)枪杀女友一案提起上诉。检方认为，此前被判处过失杀人罪的皮斯托瑞斯，本应被判处更重的谋杀罪。
They argued that the trial judge who acquitted Mr. Pistorius of murder last year erred when she accepted his argument that he had thought he was aiming at an intruder when he fired four shots through a locked bathroom door at his Pretoria home in February 2013. The shots killed his girlfriend, Reeva Steenkamp, 29, a law school graduate and budding reality-television star.	检方认为，初审法官不应该接受皮斯托瑞斯的辩词，在去年判决其谋杀罪不成立。当时，皮斯托瑞斯辩称，2013年2月，他在比勒陀利亚的家中朝浴室上锁的门连开四枪时，以为枪击目标是一名入侵者。他开枪杀死的人，是他的女友里瓦·斯廷坎普(Reeva Steenkamp)，一位29岁的法学院毕业生，同时也是崭露头角的真人秀明星。
The offense for which Mr. Pistorius was convicted in September 2014 — culpable homicide, roughly equivalent to manslaughter — was not the correct one, the prosecutors argued before the Supreme Court of Appeal in Bloemfontein.	在位于布隆方丹的最高上诉法院(Supreme Court of Appeal)，南非检方提出，皮斯托瑞斯在2014年9月被判处过失杀人罪，该判决有误。
Mr. Pistorius's early release from prison last month infuriated Ms. Steenkamp's family, as well as women's rights groups, which argue that he deserved a harsher sentence. He is to spend the remainder of his sentence, about four years, under house arrest and "correctional supervision," and he is staying in the home of his uncle Arnold Pistorius, a wealthy businessman.	皮斯托瑞斯上个月获准提早出狱，激怒了斯廷坎普的家人和妇女权益团体。他们认为，皮斯托瑞斯应该受到更严苛的惩处。出狱后，皮斯托瑞斯将受到软禁和“改造管教”，在他的富商叔叔阿诺德·皮斯托瑞斯(Arnold Pistorius)的家中度过剩下的四年刑期。
The trial riveted South Africa and raised issues of class, celebrity, violence against women and race in a country that is still grappling with its sense of identity two decades after the fall of apartheid. It also	皮斯托瑞斯一案在南非受到极大关注，引发了民众对阶层、名人、种族、针对妇女的暴力等议题的热议。在废除种族隔离二十年之后，南非依然深陷在身份认知的漩涡当中。这位双腿截肢、同时参加过奥运会和残奥会，堪称全

offered two starkly competing narratives of one of the world's most famous disabled athletes, a double-amputee who has competed at the Olympic Games as well as the Paralympics.	世界最著名残疾人运动员之一的“刀锋战士”，在这案件中，呈现出了两张截然不同的面孔。
The defense depicted Mr. Pistorius, 28, as a caring boyfriend who, feeling vulnerable because he was not wearing his prosthetic legs at the time, fired his gun to protect himself and Ms. Steenkamp. Prosecutors sought to present him as a brash and jealous man with a love of guns who killed Ms. Steenkamp in a violent rage after an argument, and who then concocted a cover-up.	辩方描绘的皮斯托瑞斯，是一个28岁的贴心男友，事发时因为没有戴着假肢而深感无助，而他开枪是为了保护他自己和女友斯廷坎普小姐。检方则力图证明，他脾气暴躁，又爱吃醋，还喜欢枪支。在和女友争吵后，他勃然大怒杀死了对方，随后又编造了谎言。
Presenting its case before five judges on Tuesday, the prosecution argued that the trial judge, Thokozile Matilda Masipa, had wrongly applied the legal principle of dolus eventualis – the notion that a person should be held accountable for the consequences of their actions if they are foreseeable. Mr. Pistorius shot to kill when he fired into the bathroom, the prosecutors said, even if he believed, as the defense argued, that Ms. Steenkamp was in the bedroom.	周二，检方向五名法官提交上诉时声称，初审法官托柯齐莱·玛蒂尔达·马西珀(Thokozile Matilda Masipa)错误运用了“未必故意”(dolus eventualis)法律原则：即如果行为造成的后果是他本人可以预期的，则当事人应当对此负责。检方认为，皮斯托瑞斯向浴室开枪射击是为了杀人，即使如辩方所称，他认为女友斯廷坎普当时在卧室。
“The court should have rejected his evidence as impossible, if the court took into account the circumstantial evidence,” the chief prosecutor, Gerrie Nel, told the court. “The court should’ve rejected his evidence because he was a poor witness.”	“如果法庭采信间接证据，就应该拒绝承认他的证词，因为根本不可能成立，”首席公诉人格里·内尔(Gerrie Nel)向法庭表示，“法庭本不该采信他的证据，因为他不是一个可信的证人。”
He added: “On the objective facts, the accused cannot escape a conviction of murder.”	他补充道，“从客观事实出发，被告人不可能脱身谋杀罪。”
But the defense, which also presented arguments on Tuesday, reiterated its stance that Mr. Pistorius had feared for his life when he fired the shots that killed Ms. Steenkamp.	但辩方同样在周二提出申辩，重申其立场，称皮斯托瑞斯开枪射杀斯廷坎普，是因为他害怕自己的生命受到威胁。

The appellate court could overturn Mr. Pistorius's previous conviction, or order a new trial. At least one of the appellate judges indicated that a retrial was not the preferred option. If convicted of murder, Mr. Pistorius could face 15 years behind bars.	上诉法庭可能推翻皮斯托瑞斯案此前的判决，或者命令重新审理。至少有一位上诉法院的法官表示，重审不是最佳办法。如果被判处谋杀罪，皮斯托瑞斯就会面临十五年的牢狱生涯。
Mr. Pistorius was not present at the hearing, which was televised.	皮斯托瑞斯没有出席电视转播的聆讯。
June Steenkamp, Ms. Steenkamp's mother, sat stoically in the courthouse. In an interview with Sky News on Tuesday, she called for Mr. Pistorius to face a tougher punishment.	斯廷坎普的母亲琼·斯廷坎普(June Steenkamp)，神情坚毅地坐在法院里。周二在接受天空新闻台(Sky News)的采访中，她呼吁让皮斯托瑞斯面对更加严峻的惩罚。
"He killed her, and he's been in jail for 11 months, and it's too short a time for taking someone's life," she said. "Even though I don't want to hurt him in any way, he has to face the truth."	"他杀害了她，而他在监狱里待了 11 个月，这对于夺取他人生命的罪行而言，实在太短了，"她说道，"虽然我无意伤害他，但是他必须面对真相。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151104/c04pistorius	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151104/c04pistorius
A Castle Receives a Weekly Delivery of Delhi's Secret Desires	14 世纪印度古堡聆听德里全城的秘密
NEW DELHI — Those wishing to know the secret desires of the people of Delhi can find them here, in petitions pinned to the wall of a 14th-century castle, addressed to supernatural beings created of smokeless fire.	新德里——如果想知道印度德里人的私密愿望，在这里可以找到答案：在这座建于 14 世纪的城堡的墙壁上，钉满了祈愿信，那是写给由无烟之火创造的神灵的。
The people who pour into Firoz Shah Kotla every Thursday hold a variety of views about the djinn, or genies, wish-fulfilling but capricious creatures described in Islamic cosmology and "The Arabian Nights."	每周四，人群如潮水般涌入菲罗兹沙古堡(Firoz Shah Kotla)。对于伊斯兰教旨和《一千零一夜》中描绘的可以满足愿望的神秘莫测的精灵(djinn)，他们有着各自的看法。
There are those who believe that djinn take the form of talking crows, or airborne fireballs, or bearded men in white robes. Some contend that they number 40,000, and that they have their own prime minister, or that they register their presence with a peculiar scent.	有些人认为，精灵能化身为会说话的乌鸦、空中飞来飞去的火球，或是身披白袍的长须长者。另一些则主张，神灵有四万之多，也拥有自己的总理，或以特殊的气息彰显着他们的踪迹。
Everyone agrees that djinn are very fast readers, which is good, because	大家一致认为精灵读东西飞快。这是幸事一桩。因为当周四夜幕降临，人潮

by sunset on Thursdays, when the humans stream out of the castle onto the Grand Trunk Road and leave the premises to their rightful owners, they are drowning in paperwork.	散去、重回大干路，将城堡还归其主时，精灵们会被大量的请愿信淹没。
"Oh Allah, my sister should never talk nonsense and should not answer back," reads one letter, left for a famously magnanimous djinn known as Nanhe Miyan, or "Little Mister."	"哦，安拉，我的姐妹不该再瞎说，也不该回嘴，"一封信上这样写道。信是留给一位名叫"小先生" (Nanhe Miyan)的待人宽宏的精灵的。
One female applicant, after some prefatory flattery, asks Little Mister to knock down the charges against her sons so that they can make bail. Another asks the djinn to provide for the construction of a new latrine, and also to do something about her husband's disposition.	另一名女请愿人，在写完开篇的奉承话后，请求"小先生"减轻她的几个儿子受到的指控，让他们得到保释。另一人则请求精灵，帮助修建一座新的厕所，同时改变她丈夫的性格。
"Please seal his lips," the letter reads. "He spits dirty abuses. He should become gentle and stop consuming liquor. He should not keep bad company. He wastes money like anything."	"请封上他的嘴，"信上写道。"他口出恶言，挥霍无度。希望他变得和善，不再酗酒。不再与恶人为伍。"
And so it goes. A woman clad all in white, who estimates her age at 80, or possibly 90, visits every Thursday to petition for improvements in her "three nasty daughters-in-law." A snub-nosed tailor from Old Delhi visits when he is racking his brain, unable to complete an especially difficult dress, and wondering why he calls himself a tailor at all.	如此种种。一位自称耄耋之年的全身素白的老妇人，每周四都会前来祈祷，希望她那"三个坏媳妇"改邪归正。一个来自旧德里的塌鼻子的裁缝，每当绞尽脑汁也没法裁剪出一件特别难做的衣服、沮丧自己不配成为裁缝的时候，都会前来祈祷。
"When I go home, I find that I can make the dress," he said happily. "That happens because of the djinn."	"我回家后，就发现能做出那件衣服了，"他开心地说。"这完全是精灵的功劳。"
Delhi has been reinvented so many times by so many powers that it can be difficult to know where its heart is — in the edifices left behind by the British or the austere medieval tombs of the Mughals. By comparison, there is nothing so extraordinary about the ruins of the castle, built by the sultan Firoz Shah Tughlaq, now squeezed between a	德里曾无数次在不同政权手中跌宕变换。很难决定，究竟是英国人留下的宏伟建筑，还是莫卧儿王朝留下的中世纪古朴陵墓，更能代表这座城市的灵魂。相比之下，这座城堡由图格鲁克王朝苏丹菲罗兹沙(Firoz Shah Tughlaq)修建，它的废墟如今挤在一座板球场和环路当中，除了历经这座城市七百年的变幻风云，也并没有那么非同寻常。

cricket stadium and the Ring Road, except that they have survived the metastasis of the city for 700 years.
But if you sit long enough on a Thursday, you can see the past in living people. Anand Vivek Taneja, an anthropologist at Vanderbilt University who is writing a book about djinn veneration here, traces the letter-writing tradition to a form of governance that was common in 14th-century Delhi, when royal guards were removed and subjects were allowed to enter the palace to directly petition the Tughlaq sultan.	在周四，若坐得久些，便可以从此刻的人群身上感受到历史的痕迹。范德比尔特大学(Vanderbilt University)大学的人类学专家阿南达·维维克·塔内加(Anand Vivek Taneja)正在写一本关于此处精灵崇拜的著作。他将写信请愿的传统追溯至14世纪的德里，当时这是一种常见的统治形式。彼时，皇家侍卫会让开戍守的大门，让庶民进入皇宫，直接向图格鲁克王朝的苏丹请愿。
Among the most faithful is Shyam Lal, 63, who has been coming on Thursdays for 45 years. He credits the djinn with a series of wondrous occurrences, including the great luck of getting a job with the Railways in 1973 and the blessing of his retirement in 2012. He acknowledged, with a shrug, that he is Hindu, as are many of the visitors.	63岁的希亚姆·拉尔(Shyam Lal)是最虔诚的请愿人之一，他45年来每周四都会来到这里。他将很多神奇事件归功于精灵，比如精灵让他行了大运，帮他在1973年得到印度铁路公司的一份工作，并保佑他在2012年顺利退休。他耸耸肩承认，像很多来访者一样，他是印度教教徒。
"I know djinn are Muslim, but I have faith," he said. "I don't care. The distinctions are meaningless."	"我知道精灵是穆斯林，但我有信仰，"他说。"我不在乎。这种区别没什么意义。"
Last year, after his son and daughter-in-law were catastrophically wounded in a motorcycle accident, Mr. Lal's requests to the djinn were reduced to one: That, though his daughter-in-law had died, his son, Deepak, a 34-year-old software executive, should somehow live. To pay for treatment, Mr. Lal sold his house. He lost 37 pounds. He came to the djinn every Thursday.	去年，他的儿子和儿媳在摩托车事故中严重受伤，拉尔将向精灵提出的愿望减少到一个：尽管儿媳丧了命，他希望儿子迪帕克(Deepak)——34岁的软件公司高管——能活下来。为了支付治疗费用，拉尔卖掉了房子。他的体重减轻了37磅，每周四都前来向精灵祈愿。
In March, after Mr. Lal had emptied his savings to pay for 10 months of care, Deepak died. Asked if the djinn had failed him, Mr. Lal replied that the thought had not occurred to him. Instead, he noted a piece of amazing luck. On the day of the accident, perhaps because it was so	今年3月，在拉尔花光积蓄，支付了10个月的医疗费用后，迪帕克最终离世。当被问及是否对精灵感到失望时，拉尔回答，他从未这样想过。相反，他指出了——一个神奇的幸运之处。发生事故的那一天，可能是因为天太热，他的儿子和儿媳将年幼的孩子留在了家中。 hot, his son and daughter-in-law had left their baby at home.

"We see our son in that child," he said. "We spend the whole day with him."	"看到那孩子就好像看到了儿子,"他说,"我们整天都跟他待在一起。"
It was getting late. Shadows were slanting down over the blackened walls of the castle, and in a row of cavernous, smoke-filled alcoves where people go to establish contact with the djinn, bats chirped at frequencies inaudible to the human ear. Mr. Lal stirred and rose to his feet; he was expected home for dinner.	天色渐晚。阴影覆盖到被熏黑的城堡墙壁上,一排排烟雾缭绕的幽深龕窟,是人与精灵联络的地方,蝙蝠发出人耳几乎听不到的鸣叫。拉尔站了起来;家人在等他吃晚饭。
"Now I will take my scooter and I will go to my home," he said. "I cannot say what will happen tomorrow."	"我现在要骑着我的踏板车回家了,"他说。"我不知道明天会发生什么事情。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151111/c11delhi	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151111/c11delhi
In Rebuke to Kirchner, Argentines Elect Opposition Leader Mauricio Macri as President	阿根廷总统大选反对派候选人马克里获胜
BUENOS AIRES — Argentine voters handed a victory to Mauricio Macri in the country's presidential election on Sunday, delivering a mandate to an opposition political figure seeking to roll back some of the protectionist economic measures of the departing president, Cristina Fernández de Kirchner.	布宜诺斯艾利斯——周日,阿根廷的选民在总统大选中,将胜利送给了毛里西奥·马克里(Mauricio Macri)。即将离任的总统克里斯蒂娜·费尔南德斯·德基什内尔(Cristina Fernández de Kirchner)提出过一些保护主义的经济政策,赢得治国大权的马克里将试图取消这样的举措。
With votes from 99 percent of polling places counted, Mr. Macri, the mayor of Buenos Aires and a former president of Boca Juniors, one of Argentina's most popular soccer teams, was leading with 51.4 percent of the vote, according to election officials, against 48.5 percent for Daniel Scioli, a former speedboat racer and vice president under former President Néstor Kirchner, who died in 2010. Mr. Scioli conceded defeat on national television on Sunday night.	选举官员透露,当99%的投票站都计票完毕后,马克里以51.4%领先,超过了丹尼尔·肖利(Daniel Scioli)的48.5%。马克里曾任布宜诺斯艾利斯的市长,也曾任博卡青年队(Boca Juniors)主席,该队是阿根廷最受欢迎的足球队之一。丹尼尔·肖利曾为快艇选手,也担任过前总统内斯托尔·基什内尔(Néstor Kirchner)的副手,前总统基什内尔于2010年过世。周日晚间,肖利在全国性电视台上承认败选。

Running a largely nonconfrontational campaign in a society that has grown increasingly polarized under Mrs. Kirchner, who succeeded her husband in 2007, Mr. Macri, 56, stunned the political establishment in October by forcing the race into a runoff and maintaining his surge in recent weeks. He ran to the right of his rivals, blending plans to overhaul the economy and promote the tolerance of various points of view on social issues.	德基什内尔于 2007 年接替丈夫领导阿根廷，在她任内，社会渐趋两极分化。56 岁的马克里在选战中对抗性不强，他在 10 月使体制内政治人士大吃一惊，因为他让这场选举进入了仅剩两名候选人的第二轮投票，而且他在几周以来一直人气高涨。他的立场比对手更右派，将各种计划糅合在一起，意图改革经济，并且在社会议题上包容各种不同观点。
Mr. Macri's relatively narrow victory revealed deep fissures in Argentina after 12 years of governance by Mrs. Kirchner and her husband, with many voters expressing concern over the direction of the economy and frustration with Mrs. Kirchner's blistering attacks on critics in the news media, business establishments and rival political parties.	马克里的险胜也揭露了阿根廷过去 12 年来在德基什内尔和她的丈夫治理之下所产生的深深裂缝。许多选民表达了对经济走向的关切，也对德基什内尔在媒体上抨击对手政党和商业界的做法感到失望。
"Cristina divided the country and destroyed it morally," said Dimitri Javakhishvili, 67, an immigrant from Georgia who works as a doorman at a building here in the neighborhood of Recoleta. Mr. Javakhishvili acknowledged that Mr. Macri could face challenges in trying to govern when Mrs. Kirchner's political movement moves into the opposition.	"克里斯蒂娜让这个国家产生分裂，又从道德上摧毁了它，"67 岁的格鲁吉亚移民迪米特里·贾瓦基什维利(Dimitri Javakhishvili)现在是雷科莱塔地区的门房。在德基什内尔的政治势力转为反对派时，他认为马克里治理国家的尝试可能会面对挑战。
Still, Mr. Javakhishvili said, "At least he's something new; he's something fresh."	不过，贾瓦基什维利也说："至少他是新面孔，他让人耳目一新。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151123/c23argentina	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151123/c23argentina
Obama, at Conference, Says U.S. Is Partly to Blame for Climate Change	巴黎气候大会开幕， 多国领袖表态
PARIS — President Obama told world leaders who gathered northeast of Paris on Monday for a climate conference that the United States is at least partly to blame for the life-threatening damage that environmental change has wrought, and he urged world leaders to join	巴黎——美国总统奥巴马周一向聚集在巴黎东北郊参加全球气候大会的各国领导人表示，美国对气候变化引起的危及生命的损害至少负有部分责任，他敦促各国领导人同他一起努力解决这个问题。 him in fixing the problem.

"I've come here personally, as the leader of the world's largest economy and the second-largest emitter," Mr. Obama said, "to say that the United States of America not only recognizes our role in creating this problem, we embrace our responsibility to do something about it."	奥巴马说，“作为世界最大经济体和第二大温室气体排放国的领导人，我本人来这里要说的是，美国不仅认识到我们在制造这个问题上所起的作用，而且我们欣然接受我们为解决问题需要承担的责任。”
In a speech interrupted by repeated beeps warning that he had exceeded his time limit, Mr. Obama said in Le Bourget that the climate conference represented an important turning point in world history because the leaders attending the meeting now recognize the urgency of the problem. "No nation — large or small, wealthy or poor — is immune," he said.	奥巴马在勒布尔热的演讲屡次被嘟嘟声打断，提示他已超时。在演讲中他表示，这个气候会议是世界史上的一个重要转折点，因为出席此次会议的领导人现已意识到气候问题的紧迫性。他说：“没有任何一个国家——无论是大国、还是小国，富国、还是穷国——能免受影响。”
The greatest threat to reaching a binding climate accord may be a loose coalition of developing nations, led by India, who argue that they should not be asked to limit their economic growth as a way of fixing a problem that was largely created by the others, and Mr. Obama conceded that point.	对达成具有约束力的气候协议的最大威胁可能是一个以印度为首的发展中国家松散联盟，这些国家认为，他们不应该为解决这个在很大程度上是其他国家造成的问题而被要求限制他们的经济增长，奥巴马承认了这一点。
"We know the truth that many nations have contributed little to climate change but will be the first to feel its most destructive effects," he said.	他说，“许多国家对气候变化没有起多大的作用，但气候变化最具破坏力的影响将首先殃及它们，我们知道这个事实。”
He promised money to help the poorest nations transition to economies that depend less on burning fossil fuels, but he said a delay was not acceptable.	奥巴马承诺提供资金，以帮助最贫穷的国家过渡到对化石燃料不再那么依赖的经济体，但他表示，推迟行动是不可接受的。
"For I believe, in the words of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., that there is such a thing as being too late," Mr. Obama said. "And when it comes to climate change, that hour is almost upon us."	“因为我相信，用马丁·路德·金的话来说，有为时过晚的事情，”奥巴马说。“就气候变化而言，这个时刻近在眼前。”
Mr. Obama also repeated an argument, lampooned by some	奥巴马还重提了一个说法，既气候大会是对 11 月 13 日在巴黎及附近地区发

Republicans, that the climate conference was a fitting response to the terrorist attacks that cost the lives of 130 people in and around Paris on Nov. 13.	生的、造成 130 人死亡的恐怖袭击的恰当回应。一些共和党人嘲讽这种说法。
"What greater rejection of those who would tear down our world than marshaling our best efforts to save it," he said.	奥巴马说，“对那些想要撕裂这个世界的人来说，我们为挽救世界而竭尽全力是对他们再大不过的反击。”
About 150 world leaders were expected to gather at the opening of the talks in a heavily guarded convention center as a show of encouragement and support for efforts to forge a historic agreement to jointly curb greenhouse-gas emissions, in an effort to stave off the worst effects of climate change.	预计有大约 150 个国家的领导人将在一个戒备森严的会议中心出席谈判的开幕，以表达对达成一个共同遏制温室气体排放的历史性协议的鼓励和支持，这是延缓气候变化所造成的最坏影响的努力。
Mr. Obama has staked much of his legacy on ensuring success here, spending much of the past year courting the leaders of China, India and other major emitters in hopes they would finally agree to slow their rapidly rising use of coal and other carbon-intensive fuels.	奥巴马冒着失去许多政治遗产的风险，要确保这次会议的成功。在过去一年中，他花了很多时间试图得到中国、印度及其他主要排放国领导人的支持，希望他们最终会同意降低自己国家迅速增长的煤炭及其他碳密集型燃料的使用。
President François Hollande of France greeted Mr. Obama just eight hours after the two paid a surprise late-night visit to the Bataclan, the concert hall where dozens of people were killed on Nov. 13, as part of a coordinated series of attacks in and around Paris.	法国总统弗朗索瓦·奥朗德对奥巴马表示欢迎，八小时前，他俩出人意料地在深夜前往巴塔克兰。在 11 月 13 日巴黎发生的协同的袭击中，有几十人在这个音乐厅丧生。
At the brief visit last night, Mr. Obama, Mr. Hollande and Anne Hidalgo, the mayor of Paris, each laid a white rose before standing in silence in front of the building for several minutes.	在昨夜的短暂凭吊中，奥巴马、奥朗德，以及巴黎市长安妮·伊达尔戈(Anne Hidalgo)分别在该建筑物前摆放了一支白玫瑰，然后站立默哀片刻。
They stopped at the site immediately after Mr. Obama landed at Orly Airport and was driven through the quiet and largely blocked-off streets of Paris.	他们在奥巴马抵达巴黎奥利机场之后马上前往此地，所乘坐的车辆从巴黎基本上封闭的安静街道上经过。
Mr. Obama, Mr. Hollande and their staffs have spent much of the last	奥巴马、奥朗德，以及他们的工作人员，在过去一年里花了大量时间，为气

year making meticulous plans for the climate talks, but the attacks in Paris scrambled those plans. Now, the agenda for the two leaders has been expanded, with their coordinated war against the Islamic State taking much of their attention.	候谈判制定详细的计划。但是，巴黎的袭击事件打乱了这些计划。现在，这两位国家领导人的议事日程已有所扩大，他们共同打击伊斯兰国的努力占了他们大部分的精力。
Mr. Hollande arrived at the climate talks at 7:46 a.m. and was greeted by Foreign Minister Laurent Fabius, who was accompanied by Mr. Hollande's former partner, the current minister of ecology, Ségolène Royal.	奥朗德于早上 7 点 46 分来到气候谈判会场，迎接他到来的是外交部长洛朗·法比尤斯(Laurent Fabius)，陪同法比尤斯的是奥朗德的前伴侣、现任生态部长塞戈莱纳·罗亚尔(Ségolène Royal)。
Mr. Hollande then went inside only to emerge moments later to stand at the doorway and give a highly choreographed series of quick handshakes to the world leaders expected to attend the conclave here.	奥朗德进门后又很快走了出来，他站在门口，与前来参加巴黎会议的世界各国领导人进行了经过精心设计的一系列快速握手。
Shortly after his arrival, Mr. Obama got together with President Xi Jinping of China in a meeting of the leaders of the world's two largest carbon-polluting countries.	奥巴马到后不久就会晤了中国国家主席习近平，中美两国是世界上最大的碳污染国。
Citing climate change as "a huge challenge," Mr. Xi said it was "very important for China and the United States to be firmly committed to the right direction of building a new model of major country relations," including by "partnering with each other to help the climate conference deliver its expected targets."	习近平称气候变化是“一个巨大的挑战”，他说，“中美两国牢牢把握构建新型大国关系的正确方向”极为重要，两国应“合力推动本届气候变化大会实现预期目标”。
Sitting beside Mr. Xi at the end of a long table, Mr. Obama said in remarks made before a phalanx of reporters that the partnership between the two men on climate discussions — despite a host of differences on issues including cybersecurity and military presence in the South China Sea — had been an essential part of the lead-up to the global conference.	奥巴马与习近平一起坐在一个长桌的一端，他在记者队伍前发表讲话时说，他们两人在气候讨论上的伙伴关系，是这个全球会议召开前准备工作的重要组成部分，虽然他们在包括网络安全和中国在南中国海的军事存在等问题上仍有很大分歧。

"As the two largest economies in the world and the two largest carbon-emitters, we have both determined that it is our responsibility to take action," Mr. Obama said, adding: "And so our leadership on this issue has been absolutely vital, and I appreciate President Xi's consistent cooperation on this issue."	"作为世界上两个最大的经济体和两个最大的碳排放国，我们已经共同决定，我们有责任采取行动，"奥巴马说，并表示："因此，我们在这个问题上的领导能力至关重要。我非常感谢习主席在这个问题上始终如一的合作。"
Among the first leaders to arrive was Secretary General Ban Ki-moon of the United Nations, Prime Minister Prayuth Chan-ocha of Thailand and the Sultan Qaboos bin Said al-Said of Oman.	首批抵达的领导人包括联合国秘书长潘基文(Ban Ki-moon)、泰国总理巴育·占奥差(Prayuth Chan-ocha)和阿曼苏丹卡布斯·本·赛义德·阿勒赛义德(Qaboos bin Said al-Said)。
Most of these leaders will depart Paris within days, leaving behind ministers who will negotiate an accord over the next two weeks that would for the first time commit almost every country to limiting its emissions.	大多数领导人都将在几天内离开巴黎，留下各国部长参与未来两周一项协议的谈判，以便第一次实现让几乎每一个国家都做出排放量限制的承诺
So far, at least 170 countries have put forth emissions plans.	迄今为止，至少已经有 170 个国家提交了排放计划。
Besides the officials from all over the world, the event is expected to get a lift from prominent business leaders and philanthropists. Some of them are using the talks to announce substantial donations to help the cause of reducing emissions, developing alternative energy sources, conservation, and aiding poor and low-lying countries expected to be most affected by climate change.	除了世界各地的官员之外，这次大会预计也将获得著名商界领袖和慈善家的支持。他们中一些人正在利用这次谈判的机会宣布捐赠大笔款项，来帮助减少排放、开发替代能源、保护资源，并为那些地势低洼、受气候变化影响最严重的贫困国家提供帮助。
The Breakthrough Energy Coalition, a group of business and philanthropy leaders led by the Microsoft founder Bill Gates who have a combined total of $350 billion in private wealth, have pledged to invest in moving clean-energy technologies from laboratories to the marketplace.	一些企业和慈善业领导者组成的突破能源联盟(Breakthrough Energy Coalition)承诺投入资金，推动清洁能源技术从实验室走向市场。该组织的领导者是比尔·盖茨(Bill Gates)是微软公司创始人，个人财富总计达 3500 亿美元。
It is hoped that the pledge, along with one by 19 countries, including	此外，美国等 19 个国家也承诺会加倍投资能源科技领域，到 2020 年达到

the United States, to double their investments in energy technologies to $20 billion by 2020 will help convince poor countries that they will be given significant help in transitioning to a new economic model that relies less on the use of carbon.	200 亿美元。希望这些承诺将有助于让贫困国家相信,在过渡到新经济模型、减少碳依赖的过程中,他们会获得大量帮助。
In one of many such expected announcements, the State Department pledged $248 million to help the world's least-developed countries move toward a future that is less reliant on carbon, but there were already signs, however, that the world's poor are not yet mollified.	预期会有大量这样的公告发布,其中之一是美国国务院(State Department)的承诺:提供 2.48 亿美元用于帮助世界上最不发达的国家迈向碳依赖程度较低的未来。但是已经有迹象显示,穷国的态度尚未软化。
Prime Minister Narendra Modi of India said on the opening day of the summit meeting that poor nations have the right to burn carbon to grow their economies.	印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)在峰会开幕日表示,贫困国家有权使用碳能源来发展经济。
"Justice demands that, with what little carbon we can still safely burn, developing countries are allowed to grow," he wrote in a column published in The Financial Times. "The lifestyles of a few must not crowd out opportunities for the many still on the first steps of the development ladder."	"我们仍然可以安全燃烧的碳不多,但发展中国家有增长的权利,这是正义的呼声,"他在《金融时报》(The Financial Times)发表的一篇专栏文章中写道。"很多人仍然处在发展阶梯第一步,绝不能因为少数人的生活方式而破坏他们的机会。"
Citing statistics showing that carbon pollution last year was equal to the year before while economic growth continued, Mr. Obama rejected arguments that cleaning up the world's air would be too costly or lead to poorer lifestyles.	统计数字显示,去年的碳污染与前年持平,但经济增长仍在持续,奥巴马援引这些数据,反驳了清洁全球空气过于昂贵或会降低生活品质的说法。
"We have proved that strong economic growth and a safer environment no longer have to conflict with one another," he said.	"我们已经证明,强劲的经济增长和更安全的环境不一定是冲突的,"他说。
Mr. Modi was elected last year on a platform of improving the country's economic standing. India is in the midst of a coal rush, with plans to double the use of coal by 2019.	莫迪在去年当选总统,其纲领是改善印度的经济状况。该国目前处在煤炭使用的热潮期,计划到 2019 年增加一倍的煤炭使用量。

In October, Mr. Modi unveiled a climate plan highlighted by a rapid increase in the use of solar, hydropower and wind energy. India's carbon emissions would continue to rise — tripling from 2005 levels by 2030 — but at a slower pace than usual.	今年 10 月份，莫迪推出了一个气候计划，亮点是太阳能、水能和风能利用的快速增长。印度的碳排放量将继续上升——到 2030 年达到 2005 年水平的三倍——但增速慢于往常。
In exchange, India was demanding free technology from other countries as well as significant financial aid. India has some incentives to cooperate with broader plans to curb emissions. Some studies suggest that more Indians could be displaced as a result of rising seas than those from any other country, cities in India are already among the world's most polluted, and nearly a fifth of deaths in India are caused in part by air pollution.	作为交换，印度要求其他国家提供免费的技术以及大笔财政援助。有一些诱因可以促使印度参与合作，开展更广泛的排放遏制计划。一些研究表明，印度因海平面上升而迁徙的人口数量，将超过其他任何国家，而印度城市已经成为世界上污染最严重地方之一，该国近五分之一的死亡和空气污染有一定关系。
Republicans in Congress and those vying to become the next president have vowed to block or overturn much of Mr. Obama's efforts here. The president is hoping that the international pact will have a life of its own that will outlive any future leader, although fervent opposition in the Senate means that any agreement here will not be a formal treaty, which would need approval from lawmakers.	国会的共和党人以及下一届总统之位的角逐者已经发誓，要阻止或推翻奥巴马在这方面的诸多努力。奥巴马希望这份国际协议拥有自己的生命，比将来任何一位领导者都更加长寿，但参议院发出的强烈反对声音，意味着在这里签订的任何协议都不会是正式条约，因为那需要获得国会议员的批准。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151201/c01prexy	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151201/c01prexy
Peruvian Indians Travel to Paris to Fight for Their Existence	气候谈判上的秘鲁印第安人面孔
LE BOURGET, France — They live in the jungle, wear their traditional attire every day, not just on special occasions, and though many of them have never traveled this far from home, they don't have much time for sightseeing.	法国勒布尔热——他们生活在丛林中，每天都穿传统服饰，而不仅仅是在特殊场合才穿着，虽然他们中的很多人从来没有到过离家这么远的地方，但却没有太多时间来观光。
The 21 Peruvian Indians attending the Paris climate talks this week (about 30 more are expected to arrive next week) have traveled more	参加本周巴黎气候谈判的这 21 名秘鲁印第安人(还有约 30 名预计于下周到达)奔波 6300 多英里，来为自己的生存而战。

than 6,300 miles to fight for their survival.
"The reason for our existence is our land, where we have our own governance, economy and cultural practices," said Lyndon Pishagua Chinchuya, 43, of the Yanesha community in the Peruvian Amazon. "We are here at COP 21 to show the world the importance of recognizing land tenure as a method of climate mitigation," referring to the climate talks.	"我们的土地是我们存在的原因，在那里，我们有自己的治理机制、经济和文化习俗。我们在这里的 COP 21 大会上向世界展示，认识到土地使用权是减缓气候变化的一种方法，这很重要，"43 岁的林登·皮沙瓦·琴苏亚(Lyndon Pishagua Chinchuya)说，他来自秘鲁亚马孙地区雅尼莎(Yanesha)社区。COP 21 指的是巴黎气候谈判。
With their face paint, beads and feathers, the Peruvian Indians stand out in a gathering of more than 40,000 people who are mostly wearing Western business suits.	参加大会的 4 万多人中，大多数都穿着西式商务套装，而这些秘鲁印第安人脸上涂抹着颜料，戴着珠子和羽毛，相当引人注目。
Their attire is part of their strategy.	装束是他们的战略的一部分。
Like most people attending these climate talks, the Peruvian Indians are not among the negotiators, though they are advising the Peruvian negotiating team. They are here to raise awareness for their situation. Their visit was financed by a grant the government of Norway made last year, when Peru hosted the annual United Nations climate talks, now in their 21st year.	秘鲁印第安人虽然会为秘鲁谈判小组提供建议，但和参加这些气候谈判的大多数人一样，他们也不是谈判者。他们来到这里，是为了提升大家对其状况的意识。此行的费用是挪威政府在去年提供的，当时秘鲁在主办一年一度的联合国气候变化谈判，现在谈判进行到了第 21 年。
Peru is rich in biodiversity, but land degradation, water pollution and deforestation are endangering the homes of the Yanesha and others. Conflicts with companies that seek to exploit the region's minerals and timber are on the rise.	秘鲁拥有丰富的生物多样性，但那里的土地退化、水质污染和森林砍伐现象给雅尼莎人和其他人的家园造成了危害。一些公司想开发该地区的矿产和木材，他们与当地居民的冲突正在日益加剧。
Though Peruvian law ostensibly recognizes the land rights of indigenous communities, much of the title to the land has not been formalized, making disputes hard to resolve. Arbitration and litigation are expensive and difficult to access.	虽然秘鲁法律名义上承认土著社区的土地权，但很大一部分土地所有权尚未形成正式文件，导致纠纷难以解决。仲裁和诉讼很不方便，也很昂贵。

Esther Diquez Rojas, 32, a member of the Ashaninka indigenous community, said that her village was already seeing more intense and severe flooding, less predictable rainfall and a decline in the population of the bagre, a kind of catfish eaten in the community.	32 岁的艾斯特·迪奎·罗哈斯(Esther Diquez Rojas)来自阿沙宁卡(Ashaninka)土著社区,她说村子里遭遇了更加猛烈、更加严重的洪涝灾害,降雨变得更加难以预测,该社区食用的一种名叫巴格雷的鲶鱼,数量也在减少。
None of the four Peruvians had ever traveled to Paris, or ventured this far from home.	这四名秘鲁人之前都没有来过巴黎,也从来没有到过离家这么远的地方。
Hector Martin Manchi, 49, joked that he had been “to the moon” — but only after drinking ayahuasca, a plant-based medicine known for its psychoactive properties.	49 岁的海克特·马丁·曼奇(Hector Martin Manchi)开玩笑说自己到了“月亮”——但这是喝过死藤水之后;死藤水是一种植物源药物,以其精神活性著称。
Mr. Martin Manchi, who is also from the Ashaninka community, said he had traveled to the end of one of the Paris subway lines just to see what he would find, but had no time for museums. “It’s expensive to tour Paris,” he said.	马丁·曼奇也来自阿沙宁卡社区,他说自己去过了巴黎一条地铁的终点站,只是为了看看那里有什么,但他没有时间去博物馆。“在巴黎游览很贵,”他说。
Miguel Samaniego Arroyo, 34, an activist with the Interethnic Association for the Development of the Peruvian Rainforest, said he opposed the distinction between “developed” and “developing” people — one of the most common themes of the climate conference.	34 岁的米格尔·萨马涅戈·阿罗约(Miguel Samaniego Arroyo)是秘鲁雨林族群发展协会(Interethnic Association for the Development of the Peruvian Rainforest)的一名活动人士。他说他反对“发达”人群和“发展中”人群之间的区分——这是此次气候大会最常见的主题之一。
“We don’t want the private-sector way of life imposed on us,” he said. “Everyone develops in their own way.”	“我们不想被强加上私营经济生活方式,”他说。“人人都在用自己的方式发展。”
Asked what he hoped to impart to the powerful decision-makers meeting here, Mr. Samaniego Arroyo responded: “What we want the most is for people in the city to respect the jungle — to know that the jungle is here and that people are living here. The Amazon is a living being, not just resources.”	被问到想对正在这里开会的有权有势的决策者说些什么时,萨马涅戈·阿罗约回答说:“我们最想要的是城里人尊重丛林,知道丛林就在这里,知道有人生活在这里面。亚马孙雨林是有生命的,不仅仅是资源。”
Gesturing at this reporter’s laptop, he added: “You have to highlight that	他一边用手对着记者的笔记本电脑示意,一边接着说:“必须强调如果大自

if nature disappears, we disappear.”	然消失了，我们也会消失。” https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151202/c02climate-peru	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151202/c02climate-peru
The Doomsday Scam	ISIS 的“终极武器”幻想（三）：缝纫机里的黑魔法
Read Part 1 of this series here.	ISIS 的“终极武器”幻想（一）：神秘的红水银
Read part 2 of this series here.	ISIS 的“终极武器”幻想（二）：坚定的信徒
Read Part 4 of this series here.	ISIS 的“终极武器”幻想（完）：末日骗局
Safi al-Safi, an unaffiliated rebel and small-time smuggler specializing in weapons, antiquities and forged documents, sat in an open-air cafe beside the Syrian-Turkish border. He was smoking scented tobacco from a water pipe while discussing the cross-border mercury trade. “Red mercury has a red color, and there is mercury that has the color of dark blood,” he said. “And there is green mercury, which is used for sexual enhancement, and silver mercury is used for medical purposes. The most expensive type is called Blood of the Slaves, which is the darkest type. Magicians use it to summon jinni.”	萨非·萨非(Safi al-Safi)是一名独立作业的反叛者，也是三流走私客，专门偷运武器、古董和假证件。他坐在叙利亚和土耳其边界的露天咖啡座，边抽着调味水烟，边讨论这桩跨国水银交易。“红水银颜色是红色，也有暗红色的，”他说，“还有绿水银，可以用来助性，银水银是医疗用途。最贵的一种叫‘奴隶之血’，是颜色最深的那种，魔术师用它来招唤精灵。”
This primer — passionate, thorough, outlandish to its core — fits a type. In meetings with smugglers in several towns along the border, red mercury inhabited the fertile mental terrain where fear and distrust of authority meet superstitious folklore. Descriptions of the material varied slightly in detail and sharply in price, and there were ample contradictions. But there was a remarkable consistency in several intricate legends and origin stories, even among people who did not know one another and who were separated by many miles.	这名入门者有热情、周密、非常古怪，是一种典型。在边界附近几座城镇的走私者聚会中，红水银占领了这群人的心灵沃土。他们心里不信任、也惧怕当局，还迷信谣言。各种对于红水银的描述在细微处有些许差异，而在价格上波动甚大，也有很多互相抵触的地方。但尽管这些人互不认识，活动范围也相去甚远，在各种错综复杂的传说和起源故事中，还是有一个值得注意的相同之处。
Another smuggler, Faysal, who said he was awaiting results of vetting by the United States government to join a Pentagon-backed force	另一名走私者费萨尔(Faysal)说，他在等美国政府对自己进行背景调查的结果，看能否参加由五角大楼支持的反伊斯兰国部队（这个计划后来被撤回）。

opposing the Islamic State (the program has since been dropped), continued the lesson. "It has two different types: hot and cold," he said. The cold form, which other smugglers sometimes call "spiritual mercury," he said, "can be found in Roman graveyards." He added: "Kings and princes and sultans used to take it to the graves with them."	他接过了话头。“红水银有两种类型，热的跟冷的，”他说。冷的那种有时会被其他走私者称为“灵性水银”，他说，“能够在罗马人的墓地找到。”他补充道：“君王、王子、苏丹都会以它陪葬。”
This type of red mercury, the smugglers said, has been recovered by Middle Eastern grave robbers for at least several decades. "In previous generations, old women wore it in a necklace to keep the devil's eye away," Faysal said. More recently, rich men shopped for cold red mercury as either an aphrodisiac or to improve their sexual performance.	这种红水银，两名走私者表示，已经被中东盗墓者开采至少好几十年了。“前些世代，老妇人会将红水银装进项链里，驱赶恶魔之眼，”费萨尔说。最近，想购买冷红水银的有钱人若不是拿它来当春药，就是用来加强性功能。
The substance was so valuable that dishonest traders, al-Safi said, often trafficked in fake red mercury. "In my village at least 15 people trade in it," he said. "They buy normal mercury, and they color it. They use red lipstick and put a little on a spoon and heat the spoon until it turns to powder, and you put the powder in the mercury, and you mix it, and it becomes that color. This is how you cheat it."	萨菲表示，这种物质极具价值，一些奸商经常倒卖假的红水银。“在我们村，买卖红水银的至少有15人，”他说。“他们买普通的水银，然后染色。他们在勺子上放一点口红，然后加热勺子直到口红变成粉末状，再将粉末加入水银中，混合一下，水银就变成红色的了。就是这么作假的。”
Identifying such cheats was easy, the smugglers said, because real red mercury is attracted to gold but repelled by garlic. Wise buyers bring gold and garlic to test the product before cash changes hands. "You put a drop on a plate and you approach it with garlic, and that drop is going to move away," a third smuggler, Abu Zaid explained. "But if you put red mercury on a plate and move a piece of gold under the plate, the red mercury is going to move with it."	这两名走私者表示，很容易识破这种骗局，因为真正的红水银会与黄金相互吸引，但与大蒜相互排斥。聪明的买家在付钱交易前，会带着黄金和大蒜验货。“滴一滴红水银到盘子里，然后拿着大蒜接近它，这滴红水银会移开，”第三个走私者阿布·扎伊德(Abu Zaid)说。“但如果你滴一滴到盘子里，然后在盘子底部移动金子，红水银会跟金子一起动。”
Cold red mercury, these smugglers said, could not be used for nuclear	这些走私者表示，冷的红水银不能用于核武器；热的红水银才行，而这种水

weapons; that was the role of hot red mercury, which had a more recent origin. Only sophisticated laboratories manufactured it, and the hot red mercury available in Syria had come from the Soviet Union — usually, according to Raed, another smuggler, “in a specially maintained box with equipment and a manual and special gloves.”	银的历史比较短暂。据另一名走私者拉伊德(Raed)透露，只有先进的实验室才能制造它，在叙利亚可以买到的热的红水银来自苏联——通常“放在一个专门维护的盒子里，里面还装有设备、一份说明书及专用手套。”
Abu Zaid said hot red mercury was sometimes offered for sale in Syria and could be useful for the Islamic State, which has a cadre of former Iraqi officials who would know how to harness its power. But he cautioned that buyers could easily make a grievous mistake. “It is not only about getting the red mercury,” he said. “The very small box needs special equipment to open it, and special reactors to work with it. If you open this box, a radius of eight kilometers around you will be destroyed.”	阿布·扎伊德表示，热的红水银有时在叙利亚兜售，可能对伊斯兰国有用。伊斯兰国拥有由伊拉克以前的官员组成的领导层，他们知道如何利用它的威力。但他警告，买家很容易犯一个严重错误。“光获得红水银是不够的，”他说。“还需要特殊设备才能打开这个小盒子，需要特殊反应器引起反应。如果你打开盒子，方圆八公里的地方都会被摧毁。”
This was especially dangerous, because hot red mercury could also be harvested from junkyards and seamstress shops. Al-Safi described how this came to pass. To prevent the weapons-grade material from falling into the wrong hands during what he called “the American occupation” of the former Soviet Union, he said, Russians safeguarding the stock late in the Cold War cached tiny reservoirs of red mercury in sewing machines and radios bound for export, which were then scattered throughout the Arab world. (Another version of the same tale says that red mercury is hidden in old television sets.)	这是极其危险的，因为也可以从废物堆积场和裁缝店获得热的红水银。萨菲讲述了如何做到这一点。他表示，在“美国占领”前苏联期间，为了阻止武器级别的材料落入坏蛋之手，冷战后期保护储备的俄罗斯人将小份的红水银分藏在准备出口的缝纫机和收音机里，然后这些产品运往了阿拉伯世界的各个地方。（另一版类似的传言称红水银藏在旧电视机里。）
These rumors have been circulating for years, once driving prices for old sewing machines as high as $50,000 in Saudi Arabia, according to a 2009 Reuters report. Often the most-sought-after machines were the	这些谣言已经流传多年，根据路透社 2009 年的报道，此类消息一度将沙特阿拉伯地区的旧缝纫机的价格推高至 5 万美元。胜家(Singer)的机器通常最为抢手——鉴于这是一家美国生产商，其实并不符合这套苏联传说的逻辑。

Singer brand — which, considering that Singer was an American manufacturer, did not quite align with the Soviet fable. No matter. Abu Omar also insisted that old sewing machines were a red-mercury source. “Specific machines,” he said, “with a butterfly logo on them.” He said he knew this from experience because the red mercury used in the jihadists’ chlorine experiment in Ras al-Ain had come from his grandmother’s machine.	没关系。阿布·奥马尔还坚称，的确可以从旧缝纫机中取出红水银。“某些机器上，”他说，“有蝴蝶图标的那种。”他表示，这是自己的经验之谈，因为圣战分子在拉斯埃恩进行氯试验使用的红水银就是从他祖母的缝纫机中取出的。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151202/c02redmercury3	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151202/c02redmercury3
The Doomsday Scam	ISIS 的“终极武器”幻想（完）：末日骗局
Read Part 1 of this series here.	ISIS 的“终极武器”幻想（一）：神秘的红水银
Read part 2 of this series here.	ISIS 的“终极武器”幻想（二）：坚定的信徒
Read part 3 of this series here.	ISIS 的“终极武器”幻想（三）：缝纫机里的黑魔法
If all of this seems like a bad and ever-expanding joke, it can work that way. When I mentioned the garlic-and-gold tests and red mercury’s supposed qualities as a sexual stimulant to Peter Zimmerman, the nuclear physicist, his answer came quickly. “Take that with a grain of red mercury,” he said.	如果说这整件事看起来像是一个越开越大的糟糕玩笑，就当它是玩笑吧。当我向核物理学家彼得·齐默尔曼(Peter Zimmerman)提起大蒜-黄金的检验方法及红水银所谓激发性欲的功效时，他很快给出了回答。他说，“用的时候可只能用一点。”
Jokes may be as useful a means as any of understanding red mercury, considering another origin theory that has made the rounds for years: that the hoax has roots in an intelligence-service put-on, a disinformation campaign of phony news articles planted decades ago in Russian newspapers by the K.G.B. and one of its successors, the F.S.B.	考虑到另一种流传多年的关于红水银起源的说法，笑话对于理解它，或许像其他理论一样有用。那种说法称，红水银是源于情报机构的骗局，克格勃(KGB)及其后继机构之一联邦安全局(FSB)，在几十年前开展了虚假情报战，利用俄罗斯报纸发表虚构的新闻文章。
There are other variants of this story, including one in which Washington and Moscow collaborated in circulating red-mercury stories to flush out nuclear smugglers and to waste terrorists’ time.	这个故事还有其他版本，比如称华盛顿和莫斯科联手传播红水银的故事，以暴露核武走私者，浪费恐怖分子的时间。虽然负责拆弹及遏制大规模杀伤性武器的美国士兵及军官向我讲述了这个版本的故事，但话又说回来，没有证

American soldiers and officers in bomb-disposal and counter-W.M.D. jobs shared that version with me, although, once again, no one had evidence for its veracity. It was something that they had heard on their jobs and a story they admitted that they liked — the thinking being that if the Four Lions wanted to shop for photon torpedoes, let them shop; that would be preferable to how the Islamic State otherwise spends its time. (Abu Omar, for example, said the Islamic State had also sought his help in abducting Western journalists.)	据表明其真实性。这不过是他们在工作中听到的故事，他们也承认喜欢这个版本。其中的想法就是，如果“四头狮子”（Four Lions，典出同名英国讽刺电影——译注）想要购买“光子鱼雷”，就让他们买吧；伊斯兰国做这些事，比花时间做别的事更好。（例如，阿布·奥马尔表示，伊斯兰国还请他帮忙绑架西方记者。）
And yet the U.S. military and its allies, too, had found themselves expending resources on the hoax. In early 2011, a European military unit in Afghanistan handed over supposed red mercury to their American colleagues at Task Force Paladin, the command charged with countering and analyzing improvised bombs. The handoff triggered an international counterproliferation response, according to several American soldiers familiar with the events and an officer who participated in the operation but requested anonymity because parts of it remain classified.	但美军及其盟友发现，自己也因为这个骗局耗费了很多资源。在2011年初，一支驻阿富汗的欧洲部队将所谓的红水银交给了帕拉丁特遣部队(Task Force Paladin)的美国同事，该部队负责反制并分解自制炸弹。据几名知情的美国士兵及一名参与行动的军官透露，这一举动引发了一场国际联手反核扩散行动。由于部分信息仍属保密，这名军官要求匿名。
Task Force Paladin alerted the 20th Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear, Explosives Command, the primary U.S. Army unit trained to eliminate threats of W.M.D., that they had an unknown substance that could be dangerous material. Back at the command's headquarters in Maryland, teams of specialists in nuclear disablement and chemical response were packed into a C-5 military-transport jet and rushed to Bagram Air Base, where they were shown two small, lead-lined containers. One was about the dimensions of a quart-size Mason jar;	帕拉丁特遣部队向第20司令部，即化学、生物、放射性、核或常规高爆炸物司令部(20th Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear, Explosives Command)发出警报，称他们有一种可能是危险材料的不明物质。第20司令部是美国陆军经过专门训练，用以消除大规模杀伤性武器威胁的主要部队。在该司令部位于马里兰州的总部，负责核武去功能化和应对化学武器的几组专家，挤进了一架C-5军用运输机，赶往巴格拉姆空军基地(Bagram Air Base)。接下来，他们在那里看到了两个内部镀铅的小容器。其中一个容器与一夸脱（约0.9升）的果酱罐差不多大，另一个容器与一品脱（约470毫

the other roughly the size of a pint glass.	升) 玻璃器皿一样大。
The nuclear-disablement team went first but found no sign that the containers held anything radioactive. They then passed the job to the chemical-warfare specialists and bomb-disposal techs. External tests on the containers were inconclusive, the officer involved said, so the soldiers took up the unenviable task of breaching the vessels to find out what exactly was inside. Wearing protective suits and breathing apparatuses, they put the first lead-lined container inside an airtight glove box within what the officer called a “secure, reinforced” shipping container, and then monitored it from afar by video as the spinning bit from a remote-controlled power drill plunged through the container’s soft wall. Out spilled ordinary mercury, the old standby of red-mercury scams. The second container was empty. In all, the officer said, the mercury amounted to “about a quarter or half cup.”	核武去功能化小组首先出动,但没有发现显示上述容器装有任何放射性物质的迹象。他们便将工作交给了化学战专家和拆弹技术人员。参与行动的那名军官表示,对容器进行的外部测试没有定论,因此,士兵们承担起一项危险任务——弄破容器,看看里面究竟是什么。穿上防护服、戴上呼吸面罩的士兵们将第一个衬铅容器放到了这名军官所说的“安全加固的”海运集装箱中的密闭隔离箱里,然后利用遥控电钻旋转的钻头钻入容器柔软的外壳,在远处通过视频监控。结果溢出来的是普通水银——红水银骗局中老掉牙的替代品。第二个容器则是空的。这名官员表示,总共有“大约四分之一或半杯”水银。
The American soldiers quietly packed up and flew home. Their mission is memorialized in the Army’s classified records with a title — Operation Chimera — that members of the American bomb-disposal community said suggested a certain sense of humor about the whole affair. How the Europeans had been deceived is not publicly known. (One American familiar with the events said a European special-forces team had been lured into a bad buy.) On that matter, the American military declined to comment.	这些美国士兵悄悄整理行装,飞回美国。陆军的机密档案记载了这个名为“喀迈拉行动”(Operation Chimera,喀迈拉是古希腊神话中狮头羊身蛇尾的吐火女怪,意为妄想——译注)的任务。美国拆弹人员表示,这个名称透露了整件事情的滑稽之处。欧洲人如何被骗则不为人知。(一名美国知情人士表示,一支欧洲特种部队曾遭到引诱,做了一笔不合算的买卖。)关于此事,美国军方拒绝置评。
This was hardly the worst of the hoax’s real-world effects. In southern Africa, it has cost lives. According to a regional and especially cruel variation of the legend, the substance is found in conventional military	这绝不是这场骗局给真实世界造成的最坏影响。在非洲南部,它夺走了一些人的生命。根据当地流传的一种极其残忍的说法,常规军火中有红水银,特别是在地雷里。只要足够勇敢,就能通过拆开这些军火来提取这种物质。私

munitions, particularly land mines, there to be claimed by anyone daring enough to take them apart and extract the goods. Tom Dibb, the program manager in Zimbabwe for the Halo Trust, a private mine-clearing organization, said he and the local authorities have documented people being killed in explosions while hunched over land mines or mortar bombs with hand tools.	有排雷组织光环信托(Halo Trust)在津巴布韦的项目经理汤姆·迪布(Tom Dibb)表示, 他和当地相关机构对此类事件有所记录, 比如有人在弯着腰利用手工工具拆卸地雷或迫击炮时丧了命。
In the bloodiest incident, in 2013, six people were killed near Harare, Zimbabwe's capital, by a blast in the home of a faith healer. One victim was an infant. Dibb spoke with the police and said "they were pretty convinced that it was a tank mine being taken apart for red mercury." In another case, which Dibb examined himself, two men were killed and another wounded as they tried harvesting land mines for red-mercury extraction from a minefield. The most recent death that the Halo Trust investigated occurred on Nov. 1, Dibb said, when a 22-year-old man, Godknows Katchekwama, was killed while trying to dismantle and remove red mercury from an R2M2, a South African antipersonnel land mine about the size of a tuna can.	最血腥的事件发生在 2013 年, 当时位于津巴布韦首都哈拉雷附近的一名巫医家中发生爆炸, 导致六人死亡, 其中包括一名婴儿。迪布与警方交谈过, 说“他们非常确信, 是有人在拆卸反坦克地雷以获取红水银。”在另一起迪布亲自查看过的案件中, 一些人试图从布雷区获得地雷以提取红水银, 结果导致两人丧生, 一人受伤。迪布表示, 光环信托调查的最新死亡案例发生在 11 月 1 日, 当时 22 岁的男子格得诺斯·卡彻瓦马(Godknows Katchekwama)在试图拆卸 R2M2 地雷获取红水银时殒命。南非的这种杀伤人员地雷跟金枪鱼罐头一样大。
The explosion outside Harare prompted Michael P. Moore, who manages the Landmines in Africa website, to start a second site, the Campaign Against Red Mercury, which documents hoaxes and urges people not to believe them. Moore said he tried tracing how the meme leapt from sewing machines to explosive devices but could not figure it out. Public-education campaigns were needed, he said, because "it's enough of a pervasive myth that it's not going to go away anytime soon. And people are dying."	哈拉雷附近发生的爆炸促使“非洲地雷”网站(Landmines in Africa)的运营者迈克尔·P·莫勒(Michael P. Moore)创办了第二家网站“反红水银运动”(Campaign Against Red Mercury)。后者记录各种相关骗局, 并呼吁人们不要相信。莫勒表示, 他试图查出有关红水银来源的传说如何从缝纫机跳到了爆炸装置, 但没有弄明白。他表示, 需要开展公众教育宣传活动, 因为“这是一个普遍流传的谣言, 不会很快消散。有人因此死亡。”

The Crocodile kept inquiring about red mercury for more than a year, Abu Omar said, pressing for results. He reached out one last time on WhatsApp in June 2015. At the time, Kurds were attacking the Islamic State in Tal Abyad, and the commander also sought what he called “thermal panels” to deceive the weapons-guidance systems on American warplanes. But by November of this year, Abu Omar was still empty-handed. By then Tal Abyad had fallen to the Kurds, and the Crocodile had gone silent, leaving the quest without a sponsor for now.	阿布·奥马尔表示，“鳄鱼”在一年多的时间里不断询问有关红水银的交易，一直催促。他最后一次是通过 WhatsApp 进行联系的，那是在 2015 年 6 月。当时，库尔德人正在叙利亚城镇泰勒艾卜耶德攻击伊斯兰国，指挥官还想搞到他口中的“热板”，准备用它来骗过美国战机上的武器制导系统。但到今年 11 月，阿布·奥马尔仍然没有拿到红水银。此时，泰勒艾卜耶德已被库尔德人占领，鳄鱼杳无音讯，导致目前没有人资助搜寻红水银的计划。
Abu Omar had kept busy with other work; he said he had recently delivered 23 commercial drones to the jihadists. He remained a storehouse of red-mercury yarns. Word was that the Kurdish fighting groups opposing the Islamic State had been buying up the stuff. “People I know sold it to Kurds three times,” he said. And eight red-mercury warheads had been found in the Aleppo countryside, too. The story was similar to one from Reyhanli, another Turkish border city, where smugglers insisted that rebels in Idlib had overrun a military checkpoint and captured a few grams of red mercury. This material was said to be available for sale, although no one who said this could arrange to see it. It led to an obvious question: If Syria’s military possessed red-mercury weapons, why hadn’t it used them? Why would an imperiled force with a well-documented disregard for restraint forgo uncorking such a weapon as its garrisons fell?	阿布·奥马尔忙于其他工作；他自称最近向圣战者交付了 23 架商用无人机。他那里还有一大堆关于红水银的传言。比如说，反伊斯兰国的库尔德武装团体一直在试图买进这种东西。他说，“我认识的人与库尔德人做了三次买卖。”有人还在阿勒颇乡村地区发现了八枚红水银弹头。这个故事与土耳其的另一座边境城镇雷伊汉勒流传的说法类似。那里的走私者坚称，伊德利卜省的叛乱分子已经占领了一个军事检查站，并缴获了几克红水银。红水银据称是可以买到的，但这么说的人没有一个能安排查看商品。这带来了一个明显的问题：倘若叙利亚政府军拥有红水银武器，为什么不使用呢？这支处境不妙、明显不顾克制的部队在要塞失守的情况下，为何会放弃动用这种武器呢？
If red mercury seemed a perfect fit for the particular nature of this brutal, shadowy war — an apocalyptic weapon for a terrorist group driven in part by the belief that we are approaching the return of the	红水银看起来非常符合这种残忍、神秘的战争的本质，是一个可以为恐怖组织所用的末日武器，这在一定程度上是因为，恐怖分子相信我们正在迎来马赫迪的回归、异教徒的最终失败，以及世界末日。但它非常难以获得。除了

Mahdi, the final defeat of infidels and the end of the world — it was not making itself easy to get. All this, and the police were drawing near. In June, Turkish news agencies reported another red-mercury bust, this time of a pair of Georgians. And Abu Omar said an associate of his had managed to obtain the material, only to be arrested in Ankara before he could unload it. The authorities released him but kept his red mercury, he said, for themselves. "His phone was monitored," Abu Omar said, and thus the bad turn.	前述的种种问题，警察的脚步声越来越近。今年6月，土耳其新闻机构报道了另一场因为红水银开展的逮捕行动，这次是两名格鲁吉亚人。阿布·奥马尔表示，他的一名伙伴拿到了这种材料，结果还没来得及出售，就在安卡拉被逮捕。阿布·奥马尔说，当局将他释放，但留下了他的红水银。阿布·奥马尔表示，“他的电话遭到监听，”因此发生了这种事情。
None of this was verifiable, either. The Turkish government declined to answer questions about its red-mercury arrests over the last two years. And his friend? Abu Omar said he had fled to Sweden. He provided a link to the man's Facebook profile, but the man was not replying to requests. You can't be too careful in the red-mercury game.	但这些说法都是无法证实的。在过去两年间，土耳其政府拒绝回答有关红水银逮捕行动的问题。他的朋友呢？阿布·奥马尔表示，他已经逃到瑞典了。他提供了一个转向该男子Facebook个人资料的链接，但该男子没有回复请求。在红水银游戏中，再怎么谨慎也不为过。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151203/c03redmercury4	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151203/c03redmercury4
China's Slowdown Tarnishes Economic Boom in Copper-Rich Zambia NDOLA, Zambia — Pulling up in his white Mercedes S.U.V., Liu Youbin shouted over the din of the construction site where Chinese supervisors in red uniforms and helmets watched over a couple of dozen Zambian workers. He vaunted the speed of Chinese construction crews, later handing out a pamphlet that read, "Dollar Hill Shopping Mall, Wholesale City & Amusement Park. Coming Soon!!!"	中国“金主”光环黯淡，赞比亚经济遭遇重挫 赞比亚恩多拉——刘友斌（音）停下他白色的奔驰SUV，在建筑工地的嘈杂声中高声呼喊。在工地里，中方监督人员穿戴着红色的制服和安全帽，监督着一群赞比亚工人。他吹嘘完中方建筑团队的速度，又递过来一本小册子。上面写道，“金碧山购物广场(Dollar Hill Shopping Mall)，批发城、游乐场，即将开幕！”
But for all the frenetic activity, Mr. Liu could not hide his pessimism. Plans for the mall here were drafted five years ago, he said, when Zambia's economy was roaring.	尽管工地一派熙攘，刘友斌也无法隐藏他的悲观情绪。他说，修建这座购物广场的计划五年前就已草拟，当时赞比亚经济还在蒸蒸日上。
"Before, everything was great," he said. "Now, we lose money every	"从前一切都很好，"他说。"现在，我们每天都在亏损。"

day.”
For more than a decade, this mineral-rich nation in Southern Africa offered prime evidence of the continent’s rise, its soaring economy propelled by China’s seemingly insatiable appetite for its copper. Deepening ties brought new roads, hospitals, stadiums, all built by the Chinese, most completed ahead of schedule.	十多年前，非洲南部这个矿产丰富的国家，鲜明地体现了非洲大陆的腾飞。中国对其铜矿仿佛永无休止的渴求，推动了赞比亚经济的高速发展。深化的双边关系带来了新的道路、医院和运动场，全部都由中方修建，大多数都是提前完工。
But China’s economic slowdown has caused Zambia’s economy to tumble. Thousands of jobs have been lost, and the outlook is now so grim that Zambia recently held a national day of prayer to revive its currency, one of the world’s worst performers this year.	但如今，中国经济增速放缓让赞比亚经济也跌了跟头。成千上万的工作岗位不复存在，由于经济前景如此糟糕，赞比亚最近举办了全国性祈祷日，祈求该国货币恢复元气。赞比亚货币今年的表现堪称全世界最糟。
The emergence of a new consumer class across Africa in the past decade, as well as growth and investment in the service sector, fueled hopes of sustained economic expansion on the continent. But the quick downturn in recent months in many of Africa’s fastest-growing economies suggests how much of the impressive growth in the past decade and a half was still driven by a boom in commodities — one supercharged by China.	过去十年里，非洲各国新兴的消费阶级崛起，服务业投资增长，让人深信非洲大陆的经济会持续扩张下去。但最近数月里，非洲增长最快的一些经济体在短时间内遭遇重挫。这表明，过去十年非洲国家受人瞩目的增长，在很大程度上仰赖大宗商品行业的繁荣，而这又深受中国影响。
Now, China’s demand for raw materials has cooled, as it tries to shift its economy away from construction, investment and exports to one driven by consumption and services. That transformation is already jolting countries in Africa, from those with diversified economies, like South Africa, to those dependent on a single export, like Zambia or Angola, even as the Chinese government and businesses express long-term commitment to the continent.	如今，中国对原材料的需求已然冷却，中国正试图将经济模式从建筑、投资和出口导向，转向消费和服务。这种转型已经撼动了非洲国家，无论是像南非一样多元化的经济体，还是像赞比亚、安哥拉一样依赖单一出口的国家，即使中国政府和企业都表达了对非洲大陆的长期承诺。
The Chinese president, Xi Jinping, arrived in South Africa on	周三，中国国家主席习近平抵达南非访问，他将出席为期两天的外交峰会，

Wednesday for a visit that will include a two-day diplomatic summit meeting, the China-Africa forum, the sixth such event since 2000.	即中非合作论坛(China-Africa forum)。这是自 2000 年以来的第六届。
In a sign that China is moving beyond its focus on Africa's raw materials – and perhaps in response to critics who say that the benefits to Africa from that focus have been limited – Mr. Xi is expected to announce plans to help bolster industrialization and manufacturing.	根据预期，习近平将宣布一些计划，支持非洲提振工业化和制造业，这一迹象显示，中国已不再仅仅关注非洲的原材料。有观点认为，中国对原材料的关注让非洲受益有限，这些计划或许也是在回应此类批评。
Chinese businesses are still investing in Zambia and elsewhere. South Africa recently said that China had pledged $50 billion to help it industrialize, including the deployment of 200,000 Chinese industrial managers to train locals.	中资企业的投资依然遍布赞比亚等国。南非近期宣称，中国已经承诺投资 500 亿美元，用于支持南非工业化，包括派遣 20 万名工业管理人员培训当地人才。
"It's going to be interesting to see how much capacity, strength or will China has toward Africa during this period," said Ross Anthony, the acting director of the Center for Chinese Studies at Stellenbosch University in South Africa. "If they play it right and show commitment irrespective of their own domestic issues, that could really cement relations between China and Africa, because there are many people in Africa that are still sitting on the fence."	"中国在这段时期会向非洲倾注多少能量、实力或决心？观察这一点是很有意思的事，"南非斯坦陵布什大学(Stellenbosch University)中国研究中心代理主任罗斯·安东尼(Ross Anthony)说。"如果中国措施得当，尽管存在国内问题仍笃定坚持，就会极大加强中国和非洲的联系，因为非洲还有很多人持观望态度。"
Here in the Copperbelt of Zambia, two mines have closed in recent weeks, after their owners blamed the low price of copper and Zambia's worsening electricity shortages for rendering their businesses unprofitable. Six thousand workers have lost their jobs. But the shock was compounded by the fact that one of the mines had a Chinese owner, the China Nonferrous Metals Company.	最近几周，在赞比亚的铜带省(Copperbelt)有两座矿场关门。老板称铜价太低，而且赞比亚电力短缺的问题日趋严重，让他们的事业无法获利，6000 名员工因此失业。更惊人的是，其中一家矿场的老板是中国人，属于中国有色矿业集团。
"People expected China, or Chinese companies, to be the last to retrench workers," said Godfrey Hampwaye, an economic geographer	"很多人以为中国，或者说中国企业是最不可能遣散员工的，"赞比亚大学的经济地理学者，也是中非关系的专家高非·翰浦威(Godfrey Hampwaye)表

at the University of Zambia and an expert on relations between China and African countries. "People thought China was Africa's best friend."	示。“大家觉得中国是非洲最好的朋友。”
Zambia's president, Edgar Lungu, who faces an election next year, recently spent five days touring the Copperbelt in an attempt to assuage rising anger, but he was often met with jeers.	赞比亚总统埃德加·伦古(Edgar Lungu)明年将面临一场选举，他最近花了5天时间在铜带省巡回视察，试图安抚民众越来越高的怒气，但常常受到民众嘲讽。
China surpassed the United States in 2009 as Africa's biggest trading partner. But as its demand for commodities has diminished — helping to bring down the worldwide prices of everything from copper, iron ore and oil to coal, diamonds and gold — many other African governments are confronting yawning holes in their budgets.	在2009年，中国超越美国，成为非洲最大的贸易伙伴，但是随着中国对大宗商品需求的下降，其他许多非洲政府也都面临着日益加剧的预算缺口。中国需求的下降，也帮助压低了全世界铜、铁矿、石油、煤炭、钻石、黄金等几乎所有商品的价格。
Some previously high-flying, commodity-dependent countries, like Zambia, Angola and Ghana, have borrowed heavily from international creditors in recent months to raise badly needed cash. With creditors now demanding higher interest rates, the debt load of some African nations has started to increase, a decade after the debts of many African countries were written off.	之前增长飞快、依赖大宗商品出口的国家，如赞比亚、安哥拉、加纳，最近几个月向国际债权人借了许多钱，以筹集它们急需的现金。由于债权人要求提高利息，一些非洲国家的债务负担也开始加剧。许多非洲国家的债务在十年前被豁免后，如今又开始负债。
The continent's two biggest economies, Nigeria and South Africa, are slowing down, contributing to what the International Monetary Fund said would be 3.75 percent growth in sub-Saharan Africa in 2015, the slowest rate since 2009.	非洲大陆最大的经济体尼日利亚和南非增长速度趋缓，因此国际货币基金组织(IMF)预计，撒哈拉以南非洲地区在2015年的增长率将为3.75%，为2009年以来的最低水平。
In some nations that sell commodities to China — including Angola, the Democratic Republic of Congo and the Republic of Congo — authoritarian governments with shrinking resources to quiet political challengers are responding with increasing force.	在一些向中国出口大宗商品的国家，如安哥拉、刚果民主共和国、刚果共和国，专制政府用以平息政治挑战的资源越来越少，于是越来越多地通过武力予以回应。
Here in Zambia, as well as in many other African nations, there are few	在赞比亚，跟非洲许多其他国家一样，几乎没有迹象可以看出，政府曾利用

signs that governments used the profits from the commodities boom to diversify their economies and to make them less dependent on foreign investors and less subject to cycles of boom and bust. Copper, which makes up more than 70 percent of Zambia's exports, is now worth less than half of its peak price just a few years ago.	大宗商品繁荣的收益，促进经济多样化，从而不再那么依赖外资，不再那么容易受到经济繁荣与萧条的周期性冲击。铜占赞比亚出口额的70%，现在的铜价跟几年前的高峰相比，只剩不到一半。
"The time for reckoning has come because we have been putting all our eggs in one basket," said Nkole Chishimba, the president of the Zambia Congress of Trade Unions, the country's largest labor umbrella organization. "Zambia, since independence in 1964, has talked about the need to diversify beyond copper, and we have just missed another great opportunity to do that."	"报应来了，因为我们一直把鸡蛋放在同一个篮子里，"该国最大的工会联盟赞比亚工会联合会(Zambia Congress of Trade Unions)主席尼蔻乐·希姆巴(Nkole Chishimba)说。"赞比亚自1964年独立以来，一直都有经济多样化的讨论，不能只依赖铜矿，但我们刚刚又错失了一个良好机会。"
Zambia could have used revenues from the copper boom to develop other areas, like agriculture and tourism, Mr. Chishimba and others said.	希姆巴和其他人都说，赞比亚原本可以拿铜价高企时的营收来发展其它产业，像是农业和观光业。
Some Chinese here say they will keep doing business as Zambia rides out its current slump.	有些在当地的中国人说，只要赞比亚度过这段低潮，他们会继续在这边做生意。
"Long-term, this place is still a good investment," said Mr. Liu, 35, the businessman behind the new shopping center here, near the Levy Mwanawasa Stadium, one of two stadiums that China has built in Zambia.	"就长远来看，这个地方还是不错的投资，"35岁的刘友斌说。他在这里投资的一个新购物中心，离利维·姆瓦纳瓦萨体育场(Levy Mwanawasa Stadium)很近，这是中资建设的两座体育场之一。
His family, which is from Fujian Province, founded Mei-Mei Zambia Limited about eight years ago as a manufacturer of concrete blocks, and is expanding its business by building the shopping center.	刘友斌的家族来自福建省，8年前他的家族成立了美美赞比亚有限公司(Mei-Mei Zambia Limited)，生产混凝土块，现在正通过修建购物中心拓展业务。
Many Chinese noted that China's engagement with Zambia dated back to Mao Zedong, under whom China built a railway linking Zambia and Tanzania in the mid-1970s, a huge project that still earns China good	许多中国人指出，中国跟赞比亚的关系在毛泽东时代就开始了。在70年代中期，他让中国在赞比亚和坦桑尼亚之间建了一条铁路，那是一件规模浩大的工程。一直到现在，非洲民众都因此对中国抱有善意。

will on the continent.
That history, and the business opportunities here, still draw Chinese like Yu Qi, 26, a physician from Jiangxi Province. After completing his residency, Mr. Yu said, he joined his large family in Zambia, where he helps manage a copper mine in Chingola, about 100 miles northwest of here.	这样的历史以及当地的商业机会，仍然吸引着像于齐（音）这样的中国人。他来自江西，是一名26岁的医生。他有许多家人在赞比亚，实习结束后，他来到这里，帮忙经营一家位于钦戈拉的铜矿，位于距此地100英里的西北方。
"Zambia's full of opportunity," he said.	"赞比亚处处是机会，"他说。
An uncle, he explained, had stayed in Zambia after completing a government project two decades ago. He founded a company that now has several divisions and employs 10 family members, including Mr. Yu, who runs China Copper Mines in Chingola.	他解释道，二十年前，他叔叔完成了一项政府项目后，就留在赞比亚开了一家公司，现在已经有了许多部门，也雇用了10名家庭成员，包括于齐，他现在经营着钦戈拉的中国铜矿有限公司(China Copper Mines)。
One of the mine's owners, Richard Zhang, 54, began working in the copper industry in Jiangxi Province in 1982, just a few years after China embraced market policies.	其中一间矿场的老板，理查·张(Richard Zhang)，在中国经济市场化几年后的1982年，就开始在江西省从事矿业。
"Twenty or 30 years ago, China was also very poor, even poorer than this stage of Africa," Mr. Zhang said. "After we bring these new ideas and technology to Africa, maybe after 20 or 30 years, Africa can maybe surpass China. I would be happy to see that."	"二、三十年前，中国非常穷、比现在的非洲还要穷，"张先生说。"我们将这些新想法、新技术带来非洲之后，可能再过二、三十年，非洲能超越中国。我乐见其成。"
From the early stages of China's economic modernization, the government ensured that Western and Japanese companies seeking to do business in China, including in the copper industry in Jiangxi, transferred skills and technology.	从中国经济现代化的早期开始，政府就保证，寻求在中国市场做生意的西方或日本企业必须将技术、工艺一并转让，包括在江西的铜矿也是如此。
But Zambia and other African nations appear to have failed to benefit broadly from the commodities boom, whether by not negotiating better terms with Chinese companies, not insisting on technology	但是赞比亚和其他非洲国家似乎无法从价格大涨的出口商品中获利，因为它们并没有跟中国公司协调出更好的合作方式、没有坚持技术转移、也没有利用原材料的营收来推动经济多样化。

transfers or not using the revenues from raw materials to diversify their economies.
"We have to look inwards as sub-Saharan Africa," said Kryticous Nshindano, the executive director of the Civil Society for Poverty Reduction Zambia, a good-government organization. "Is it an issue of leadership, institutions, corruption? We know what we're supposed to do, but why are we not doing what we're supposed to do?"	"我们必须要在撒哈拉以南非洲进行自我审视，"赞比亚削减贫困公民组织(Civil Society for Poverty Reduction Zambia)的执行总监克里蒂格·纳许达诺(Kryticous Nshindano)说。"这是领导力、制度、还是贪腐的问题？我知道我们应该做什么，但我们为什么没有做该做的事？"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151203/c03zambia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151203/c03zambia
Oscar Pistorius Guilty in Murder of Reeva Steenkamp, Appeals Court Rules	南非"刀锋战士"杀害女友案改判谋杀罪
JOHANNESBURG — South Africa's top appeals court ruled on Thursday that Oscar Pistorius, the Olympic star known as the Blade Runner, was guilty of murder in the 2013 killing of his girlfriend, Reeva Steenkamp, overturning a lower court's conviction on the lesser charge of manslaughter.	约翰内斯堡——周四，南非最高上诉法院裁定，被称作"刀锋战士"(Blade Runner)的奥运明星奥斯卡·皮斯托瑞斯(Oscar Pistorius)在2013年杀害女友里瓦·斯廷坎普(Reeva Steenkamp)一事上的谋杀罪名成立，推翻了下级法院较轻的误杀定罪。
Mr. Pistorius has already served about a year in prison and is now under house arrest for the previous conviction; a murder conviction carries a minimum sentence of 15 years in prison.	皮斯托瑞斯已在狱中服了大约一年的刑。因为之前的定罪，他目前被软禁在家。谋杀罪名将让他至少要在狱中服刑15年。
The appeals court sided with state prosecutors on central points, saying that the manslaughter conviction, technically called culpable homicide, had been based on a misinterpretation of laws and an erroneous dismissal of circumstantial evidence.	上诉法院在核心问题上与国家公诉人意见一致，称此前的误杀定罪——严格来说叫过失杀人——是基于对法律的误读做出的，且错误地没有考虑旁证。
The court said that Mr. Pistorius, who has said repeatedly that he accidentally killed his girlfriend when he believed his home had been broken into, should have foreseen that his actions would cause the	法院称，皮斯托瑞斯应该预见到自己的行为会导致他人死亡。皮斯托瑞斯多次声称自己是不小心杀死女友的，因为他以为有人闯进了自己家中。 death of a person.

Mr. Pistorius, 29, who has been under house arrest since October, is expected to remain at home pending a new sentence.	从10月开始, 29岁的皮斯托瑞斯一直被软禁在家中。等候新判决期间, 他预计仍会留在家中。
He was not present when five judges of the Supreme Court of Appeal in Bloemfontein delivered their verdict. Ms. Steenkamp's relatives, who were in court, embraced upon hearing the ruling.	布隆方丹最高上诉法院的五名法官宣读裁决结果时, 皮斯托瑞斯不在场。法庭上, 斯廷坎普的亲人听到判决后相互拥抱。
"As a result of the error of laws referred to and on a proper appraisal of the facts, he ought to have been convicted not of culpable homicide on that count but of murder," Judge Eric Leach said.	"因为之前引用了错误的法律, 在对事实进行了准确的评估后, 他本应被定为谋杀罪, 而不是之前认定的过失杀人罪," 法官埃里克·利奇(Eric Leach)说。
The appeals court ordered the lower court to hand a new sentence to Mr. Pistorius, who became the first double amputee to compete in the Olympic Games, in London in 2012.	上诉法院下令下级法院重新对皮斯托瑞斯量刑。在2012年的伦敦奥运会上, 皮斯托瑞斯成为首名双腿截肢的奥运选手。
The court's ruling revives a long-running legal battle that transfixed South Africa last year with its touchstone themes of celebrity, violence against women, crime and home intrusions. In a unanimous ruling, the appeals court described the case as "a human tragedy of Shakespearean proportions."	法院的裁决让这场旷日持久的官司重新回归大众视野。去年, 因为名人、针对女性的暴力、犯罪和入室侵扰这样的标准主题, 这场官司震惊南非。上诉法院做出了一致裁决, 称该案是“莎士比亚级别的人间悲剧”。
Mr. Pistorius's family said it had "taken note" of the ruling by the appeals court, the second-highest court in the country, but had not decided on its next steps.	皮斯托瑞斯的家人称已“注意到”上诉法院的裁决, 但尚未决定下一步怎么办。最高上诉法院是南非层级位列第二的最高法院。
"The legal team will study the finding, and we will be guided by them in terms of options going forward," the family said in a statement.	"法律团队会研究裁决, 我们将在接下来的选择上接受他们的指导," 皮斯托瑞斯的家人在一则声明中说。
Legal experts said Mr. Pistorius could try to take his case to the Constitutional Court, but it was unclear whether that court would regard it as a matter under its jurisdiction.	法律专家称, 皮斯托瑞斯可以尝试将案件提交至宪法法院(Constitutional Court), 但尚不清楚该法案是否认为该案在其管辖权下。

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151204/c04pistorius	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151204/c04pistorius
In Nigeria, Chinese Investment Comes With a Downside	尼日利亚，中国投资援建阴影之下
Read part 2 here.	尼日利亚，中国投资与援建的阴影之下（二）
LAGOS, Nigeria — Emeka Ezelugha was excited to open a computer training center. He could teach his countrymen some skills and earn a living.	尼日利亚拉各斯——能自己开办一家电脑培训中心，埃梅卡·埃泽卢格(Emeka Ezelugha)感到很高兴。他可以给自己的同胞传授技巧，又能以此谋生。
But soon after the center opened in a rough, two-story concrete building in Lagos, Nigeria, a blaze broke out in the main classroom. The flames incinerated 30 desktop computers, as well as televisions and air-conditioners.	但培训中心刚刚在尼日利亚拉各斯一座简陋的两层混凝土建筑里开业不久，它的主课堂就发生了一场火灾。大火烧毁了30台台式电脑，外加几台电视和空调。
The culprit was unmistakable: one of two dozen power strips in the classroom. The faulty equipment was made in China, even though the salesman said it was British.	罪魁祸首不会搞错，就是教室里使用的24个电源插板中的一个。这有问题的插板是中国制造的，不过他买的时候销售人员说是英国的。
"The guy tried to convince me it was from the U.K. — I was surprised when it happened," Mr. Ezelugha said.	"当时那家伙一个劲让我相信这东西是英国的——真没想到，后来发生这样的事，"埃泽卢格说。
Across this populous African nation, low-cost Chinese goods are everywhere, evidence of Beijing's growing dominance in global trade. The trade flow has helped keep life affordable for millions of Nigerian families, at a time when the country is struggling with economic stagnation and plunging prices, as well as the deadly costs of the Boko Haram insurgency.	在人口众多的尼日利亚，廉价的中国商品到处都是，这是北京在全球贸易中日益占主导地位的一个证明。此时的尼日利亚苦于经济停滞和物价暴跌，博科哈拉姆(Boko Haram)叛乱也带来不少人员伤亡，和中国的贸易往来有助于让数百万尼日利亚家庭过上可以负担的生活。
But shoddy or counterfeit products are a national problem in Nigeria, Africa's largest economy, where impoverished consumers have few alternatives. Some shoddy goods are benign, like the Chinese-made shirts, trousers and dresses with uneven stitching and stray threads that	但假冒伪劣产品也成为尼日利亚这个非洲第一大经济体面临的一个全国性问题，在这里，贫穷的消费者几乎没什么其他选择。有些劣质商品谈不上有什么危害，比如中国制造的针脚不匀、线头凌乱的衬衫、裤子和裙子，它们遍布尼日利亚的街边市场。但新住宅和新办公室普遍使用的来自中国的电

fill street markets. But electrical wiring, outlets and power strips from China, ubiquitous in new homes and offices, are connected to dozens of fires a year in Lagos alone.	线、电源插座和插板，则与这里发生的不少火灾有关，这类火灾单单拉各斯一年就有几十起。
The relationship between China and Nigeria is a complex web of dependency, one replicated in dozens of developing countries around the world, like Chile, Ethiopia and Indonesia. While such ties are integral to China's global ambitions, they also pose new and unpredictable challenges for Beijing. China has lent heavily to commodity-exporting countries, which are now struggling with low commodity prices. At the same time, China's highly competitive manufacturing sector has devastated many smaller-scale rivals across Africa, Asia and Latin America.	中国和尼日利亚的关系是一个相互依赖的复杂网络，这种关系在智利、埃塞爾比亚和印度尼西亚等几十个发展中国家也都一样存在。尽管这些关系对中国实现其全球野心必不可少，但它们也给北京带来难以预料的新挑战。中国一直向大宗商品出口国提供大量贷款，如今这些国家都在竭力解决物价低的问题。与此同时，中国特别有竞争力的制造业还摧毁了遍布非洲、亚洲和拉丁美洲的不少小型竞争对手。
To support its swelling trade in Nigeria, China is funneling billions of dollars to build roads, rail lines, airport terminals, power plants and other desperately needed infrastructure. China is the top lender to Nigeria, where political instability and violence have made Western interests skittish.	为了给它在尼日利亚规模不断增大的贸易活动提供支持，中国正往那里输送数十亿美元资金，用于修建公路、铁路、机场、发电站和其他急需的基础设施。中国是尼日利亚最大的债主，后者政治局势不稳定，暴力冲突频仍，小心翼翼的西方国家很少涉足。
Nigeria, in turn, has become the biggest overseas customer of Chinese construction companies. It is an important market for Beijing, at a time when China's own growth is slowing.	反过来，尼日利亚也成为中国建筑企业最大的海外主顾。对北京而言，它是一个重要的市场，尤其考虑到中国自身的增长正在放缓。
But China's extensive reach is now meeting resistance in Nigeria, part of the broader risks for Beijing's global strategy.	但中国的广泛延伸开始在尼日利亚遭遇阻力，这是北京的全球战略所面临的更大风险。
In Abuja, the capital, the new government is conducting anticorruption investigations into large Chinese construction contracts signed by the previous leadership. Nigerian state governments are struggling to pay	在尼日利亚首都阿布贾，新政府正对前任领导层与中国签署的一些大型建筑项目合同进行反腐调查。其中有不少项目，尼日利亚各个州政府都难以为之买单，中国有可能会因此损失惨重。

for many of those projects, exposing China to potentially heavy losses.
In Kano, angry protesters in the streets blame widespread joblessness on China, which is manufacturing African fabric designs in shimmering hues more cheaply than Nigeria. Employment in Nigeria's textile and apparel sector has plummeted to 20,000 people, from 600,000 two decades ago.	在卡诺，街道上有愤怒的抗议者将这里普遍存在的失业问题归罪于中国，因为中国也在制造色泽鲜亮的非洲图案织物，价格比尼日利亚本地的有优势。尼日利亚纺织服装行业的用工数量已经从二十年前的 60 万暴跌到 2 万。
In Lagos, authorities are trying to stamp out subpar Chinese electric goods. Imported power strips and wiring have inadequate copper to handle Nigeria's 240-volt system, said Wanza Kussiy, the chief safety officer of the Nigerian government's Standards Organization.	在拉各斯，当局正试图清除质量欠佳的中国电子产品。尼日利亚标准局 (Standards Organization) 首席安全专员万扎·库西 (Wanza Kussiy) 表示，进口电源插板和电线中铜的份量不够，支撑不了尼日利亚 240 伏特的电压。
Zhang Sen, the vice secretary general of China's government-controlled Electronic Product Association, said that the group was reviewing Nigeria's fires. "We still need to do some research before we can say the quality of the Chinese products is to blame," he said.	受中国政府管治的电子产品协会 (Electronic Product Association) 副秘书长张森 (音) 表示，该机构正在评估尼日利亚发生的火灾。“我们需要做一些研究，才能确定它们是否是由中国产品质量问题引起，”他说。
Nigerian authorities are stymied. Corruption is endemic, making it more difficult to enforce safety standards. And Chinese goods are so dominant that consumer have few other choices.	尼日利亚当局进退维谷。腐败丛生，使它更加难以执行安全标准。而因为中国商品占据市场，消费者很少有其他选择。
In Lagos, Mr. Ezelugha borrowed heavily to reopen his computer training center after the fire. But the power strips are still made in China. He couldn't find anything else.	在拉各斯，火灾发生后，埃泽卢格借了很多钱，重开了电脑培训中心。但里面使用的电源插板还是中国制造的。他买不到别的。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151206/c06chinatrade	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151206/c06chinatrade
In Nigeria, Chinese Investment Comes With a Downside	尼日利亚，中国投资与援建的阴影之下 (二)
Read part 1 here.	尼日利亚，中国援建和投资的阴影之下 (一)
Idle Factories, Idle Hands	闲置的工厂，闲着的工人

Kano's cloth industry started in the walled ancient city, a labyrinth of mud brick houses and dirt roads.	卡诺的织布业始于城墙围绕的古城，这是一座泥砖房屋和土路构成的迷宫。
The city's blue dye has long been made from the leaves of local indigo plants, which are crushed and mixed with cooking ashes and potassium. Swaths of white cotton fabric are dunked in the dye, which fills six-foot-deep pits lined with animal skins.	很久以前，该城就已在使用来自本地靛蓝植物的叶子制造的蓝色染料，染料用被粉碎的树叶子与做饭留下的灰烬和钾混合而成。长条的白色棉织物被投入染坑中，染坑深六英尺，用动物皮做内衬。
But employment at the centuries-old dye pits has dropped to 250 people, from nearly 1,500 a decade ago. Chinese companies produce virtually identical patterns of fabrics using synthetic dyes, and their sales now dominate in Kano's open-air market.	但是，这些百年老染坑雇佣的工人，已从十年前的近 1500 人减少到如今的 250 人。中国企业用合成染料生产图案几乎相同的面料，这种面料的销售目前在卡诺的露天市场上占有主要的份额。
"They are learning our arts and taking them to their country and doing them similarly to us, and bringing the goods back to Nigeria and selling them to our people," said Bala Ibrahim, 45, who has labored in the pits since his early teens. Now he spends whole days idle.	"他们在学习我们的艺术，把这些艺术带回他们的国家，做出与我们相同的东西，再把成品运到尼日利亚，出售给我们的人民，" 现年 45 岁的巴拉·易卜拉欣(Bala Ibrahim)说，他从十几岁起就一直在染坑工作，而如今他整日无所事事。
Such stories are common across Nigeria's garment industry. The city's tanneries, which made Moroccan leather from goatskins for centuries, have laid off most of their staffs. Dozens of modern fabric factories on the outskirts of Kano have closed.	这样的故事在整个尼日利亚的服装业很常见。卡诺城中几个世纪以来一直在使用山羊皮制造摩洛哥皮革的工厂，如今裁掉了他们的大部分员工。卡诺郊外的数十家现代面料工厂也已经关闭。
In theory, Nigeria should have a manufacturing edge, at least in labor-intensive industries like sewing.	按理说，尼日利亚应该有一个制造业优势，至少在像制衣这样的劳动力密集型的产业。
With high unemployment in Nigeria, factory owners can easily find workers willing to accept the minimum wage, just $80 a month. By comparison, garment factories in coastal China now pay around $550 a month and still can't find enough workers.	由于尼日利亚的高失业率，工厂老板很容易找到愿意接受最低工资的工人，他们每月只拿 80 美元（约合 500 元人民币）。相比之下，中国沿海地区的服装厂现在需要支付每月约 550 美元的工资，但仍找不到足够的工人。
Despite the high cost of labor, it remains cheaper and easier to	尽管劳动力成本升高，但在中国批量生产服装仍保持着更便宜也更容易的优

mass-produce garments in China.	势。
One obstacle to setting up a large-scale sewing industry like Bangladesh's is that Nigeria imposes significant tariffs on imported fabric, a legacy of its past as a big producer of hand-woven fabric and as a large grower of cotton. Another challenge is that electricity from Nigeria's national grid is unreliable. So operations must rely on diesel generators, buying fuel at a cost per kilowatt-hour generated that is six times what garment makers in China pay.	在尼日利亚建立像孟加拉国那样的大型服装制造业所面临的一个障碍是，尼日利亚对进口面料征收高额关税，这是尼日利亚作为手工织布生产大国和棉花种植大国的过去遗留下来的。另一个挑战是，尼日利亚的国家电网电力供应不稳定。所以工厂必须依靠柴油发电机，工厂为每千瓦小时付出的燃料成本是中国工厂付出电费的六倍。
The Nigerian government wants to revive manufacturing, particularly given low prices now for its oil exports. Abdulkadir Musa, the recently retired permanent secretary of Nigeria's ministry of industry, trade and investment, said the government was mulling reductions in tariffs on garment materials that are not produced in Nigeria, possibly including buttons. "We want to start that all over now that oil is no longer at a high price," Mr. Musa said, adding that overreliance on oil exports "has been more of a problem for us than a solution."	尼日利亚政府希望重振制造业，尤其是在石油出口的价格目前很低的情况下。前不久退休的尼日利亚工业、贸易和投资部常任秘书长阿卜杜勒卡迪尔·穆萨(Abdulkadir Musa)表示，政府正在考虑降低非尼日利亚产生的、可能包括纽扣在内的服装材料的关税。“目前石油的价格不再高，我们需要开始考虑所有的问题，”穆萨说，他还表示，对石油出口的过度依赖“对我们来说，一直是更大的问题，而不是一种解决方案。”
For now, Nigerians just can't compete.	目前，尼日利亚人根本无法竞争。
Chimezie Cyril Okwuosa scrimped for years to set up his own small garment factory near Lagos in 2005. He had 25 sewing machines, 30 workers and a noisy diesel generator. The factory failed within five years.	齐米日·西里尔·奥卡乌奥萨(Chimezie Cyril Okwuosa)省吃俭用了好几年，于2005年在拉各斯附近办了自己的小服装厂。他有25台缝纫机、30名工人，以及一台噪音很大的柴油发电机。不到五年，他的工厂就倒闭了。
"I was spending so much on diesel that at the end of the day, I had no profit — and some days, there was no diesel at all, and I could not operate," Mr. Okwuosa said.	“我花那么多钱买柴油，到一天结束的时候，我已经没有任何利润可言，有些日子根本买不到柴油，我也开不了工，”奥卡乌奥萨说。
Mr. Okwuosa now runs Greentomato Apparels, a small-scale importer	奥卡乌奥萨现在经营“绿番茄服装店”(Greentomato Apparels)，这是一家出

of children's trousers. He pays $2.50 a pair to a factory in Guangzhou, China, and then only 10 or 12 cents a pair for shipping. He sells the pants for about $3.25 a pair, leaving him a small profit margin.	售进口儿童裤子的小店。他每条裤子付给中国广东一家工厂的买价是 2.50 美元，然后只需再付每条 10 或 12 美分的运费。他出售每条裤子的卖价约为 3.25 美元，让他稍有赢利。
The collapse of manufacturing is more than just a financial issue.	制造业的崩溃不只是一个经济问题。
It has also fanned worries about the possible spread of Boko Haram, an insurgency condemned for its large-scale abductions and sexual enslavement of women and girls. Boko Haram has drawn young men to its ranks in destitute northeastern Nigeria, the country's poorest region.	这个问题也引起人们对博科哈拉姆(Boko Haram)可能扩张的担忧，该激进组织因大规模绑架妇女和女童、迫使她们充当性奴而受到谴责。博科哈拉姆已经从尼日利亚最贫穷的东北部地区吸引了青年男子加入其行列。
Emir Muhammadu Sanusi II, the traditional ruler of Kano in northern Nigeria, has seen the devastation up close. Outside his palace, a low maroon building with battlements, is a large burn mark. Late last year, a group linked by the government to Boko Haram set off three bombs in a large crowd and then used automatic weapons to spray bullets at the survivors. As many as 500 people were killed.	尼日利亚北部城市卡诺的传统酋长穆罕默达·撒努斯二世 (Emir Muhammadu Sanusi II) 已经与这种破坏有近距离的接触。他的宫殿是一座栗色、带城垛的低层建筑，宫殿外面有一个烧焦的痕迹。去年年底，一个政府认为与博科哈拉有关的组织，在宫殿外的一群人中引发了三枚炸弹，然后用自动武器扫射幸存者，导致最多 500 人死亡。
"The Chinese basically copy every textile product in Nigeria," Emir Sanusi said. "I worry about what could happen to Kano when we have a large number of youths and large numbers of industries are down."	"中国人基本上山寨了尼日利亚的每一种纺织产品，"撒努斯酋长说。"我对卡诺会发生什么很担心，我们有大批青少年，而这里的许多行业都不景气。"
A Flood of Chinese Steel	中国钢铁的洪流
At a Lagos steelyard of Dorman-Long Engineering, the only activity on a recent afternoon was the welding of an oil storage tank. With the steep drop in world oil prices, longtime customers like Exxon Mobil and Royal Dutch Shell are no longer commissioning as many helipads and footbridges for their offshore drilling platforms.	近日一个下午，在多曼-龙工程公司(Dorman-Long Engineering)位于拉各斯的一个钢铁货场，唯一的活动就是焊接一个石油储罐。随着世界石油价格的急剧下降，像埃克森美孚(Exxon Mobil)和荷兰皇家壳牌(Royal Dutch Shell)这样的长期客户不再需要为海上钻井平台采购那么多的停机坪和人行桥了。
The locally owned engineering firm had expected Chinese construction	这家本地工程公司曾预计，中国在尼日利亚经营的建筑公司可以帮助缓解这

companies operating in Nigeria to help offset the slump. But Chinese construction companies, mostly state-owned, have largely imported their steel girders, reinforcing beams and other materials from home.	种低迷形势。但那些建筑公司大多是中国国有企业，主要使用从中国进口的钢梁、加固梁等材料。
"I just don't see a lot of local content in what they do," said Timi Austen-Peters, the company's chairman.	"他们对本地产品用得不多，"多曼-龙工程公司的董事长提米·奥斯汀-彼得斯(Timi Austen-Peters)说。
Infrastructure financed and built by China was supposed to be the great hope for Nigeria.	中国资助和修建的基础设施本应该是尼日利亚的巨大希望。
Nigeria endured coups and a civil war in the 1960s, then effectively nationalized many foreign-owned companies in the 1970s. Nigeria developed a reputation for breaking or renegotiating contracts, antagonizing many foreign partners.	尼日利亚在 20 世纪 60 年代经历了政变和内战，在 20 世纪 70 年代事实上又将很多外国公司收为国有。因此尼日利亚有了一种喜欢撕毁合同重新谈判的名声，很多国外合作伙伴对它怀有戒备之心。
The risks have prompted Western companies to demand very fat profits before putting money into the country — returns on the order of 25 to 40 percent a year. Their Chinese counterparts have been willing to accept 10 percent or less.	由于存在这样的风险，在将资金投入该国之前，西方企业需要看到非常丰厚的利润——每收益率在 25%至 40%。而他们的中国同行愿意接受 10%或更低的收益率。
"Unless the West changes its risk assessment, the Chinese will beat them to the African market," said Osadebe Osakwe, a former Nigerian banker who is now the managing director of North China Construction Nigeria. The company is a subsidiary of a state-owned enterprise in Beijing. "The Chinese are trying to prove that they can do what the Western companies can do and they can do it better."	"除非西方调整风险评估的方式，否则中国将在非洲市场击败他们，"奥萨德比·奥萨奎(Osadebe Osakwe)表示。他曾经在尼日利亚银行业工作，目前担任华北建设尼日利亚公司(North China Construction Nigeria)的董事总经理，那是北京一家国有企业的子公司。"中国正在努力证明自己可以做到什么，西方公司可以做的，它们可以做得更好。"
Chinese companies have piled into the country. Mostly state-owned Chinese construction companies have started $24.6 billion worth of projects since 2005, the highest of anywhere in the world, according to the American Enterprise Institute, a Washington research group.	中国企业正大举进入尼日利亚。华盛顿研究团体美国企业研究所(American Enterprise Institute)的资料显示，自 2005 年以来，以国有企业为主的中国建筑公司已经开始在尼日利亚开展了价值 246 亿美元的项目，高于世界上其他任何地方。

"Africa has a real demand for infrastructure and industrial developments – in those areas, China has strong ability and surplus capacity to invest and build," China's prime minister, Li Keqiang, said during a visit to Nigeria last year.	"非洲有基础设施和产业发展的现实需求，在这些方面，中国有较强的投资建设能力和富余产能，"中国总理李克强去年访问尼日利亚时表示。
But as demand at home falters, Chinese companies have been shipping huge quantities of steel girders, piping and other industrial materials at extremely low prices to emerging markets like Nigeria. So there is little benefit for local players like Dorman-Long Engineering that used to fabricate much of this equipment.	但是，随着本国需求疲软，中国企业以极低的价格将钢梁、管材等工业材料大量出口到尼日利亚这样的新兴市场。于是，曾经制造过很多这类材料的本土公司，像多曼-龙工程等等，就没有什么利润可赚了。
Executives at Chinese construction companies say they do buy some local materials. But they add that China's exports are often more readily available and better made, so they can be quickly and reliably included in complex projects.	中国建筑公司的高管说，公司购买了当地的一些材料。但他们也说，中国出口的材料往往更容易买到，而且质量更好，因此可以快速可靠地运用到复杂的工程项目中。
The new Nigerian government is starting to question whether all the construction projects are in the country's best interest. Many projects, like new international or refurbished airport terminals in Lagos, Abuja, Kano and Port Harcourt, help the country's elite but may do less for the poor.	尼日利亚新政府已经开始质疑，这些建设项目是否都符合该国的最大利益。很多项目，比如在拉各斯、阿布贾、卡诺和哈科特港新建或者翻新国际机场航站楼的项目，虽然有益于该国的精英阶层，但对穷人可能用处不大。
The new government is now searching for signs of fraud, corruption or other misconduct in existing contracts. President Muhammadu Buhari of Nigeria announced on Aug. 10 that his government had already found that hundreds of millions of dollars were mysteriously diverted from one Chinese-backed rail project to other government projects, although it was not immediately clear if corruption was involved.	新政府目前正在现有合同项目中寻找欺诈、贪腐或其他舞弊行为的迹象。尼日利亚总统穆罕默杜·布哈里(Muhammadu Buhari)在8月10日宣布，政府发现有数亿美元资金，从中国援建的一个铁路项目被神秘地转移到了其他政府项目，目前尚不清楚是否存在贪腐行为。
Bullet Train Boondoggle	不实用的高铁

The pride of the previous Nigerian administration, which left office in May, was supposed to be a new passenger train line that links Abuja to Kaduna. With trains traveling at nearly 120 miles per hour, the $874 million line is supposed to cut the three-hour highway trip in half.	一条连接阿布贾和卡杜纳的旅客列车新线路,本应是今年5月离任的尼日利亚上届政府的骄傲。该铁路总造价8.74亿美元,建成后列车时速可达120英里,将三个小时的高速公路行程削减一半。
But the line may not draw many passengers.	但该线路可能无法吸引很多乘客。
A graceful new train station is a 40-minute drive from downtown, surrounded by cornfields and cow pastures. The extension of the line into downtown Abuja has been severely delayed, and money is running short for its completion. And even though Nigeria desperately needs more freight trains, the rail line with its fragile-looking bridges is too lightly built to support heavily laden cargo cars.	雅致的新火车站与市中心相距40分钟车程,四周环绕着玉米地和奶牛牧场。连接到阿布贾市中心的工程已经被严重推迟,完工需要的资金所剩不多。而且,即便尼日利亚迫切需要更多的货运列车,这条铁路及其外形纤弱的桥梁都太轻,无法支撑载重货运车厢。
The fate of the line — like dozens of Chinese projects around Nigeria — is a potential problem for Beijing.	这条线路的命运——就像北京在尼日利亚各地开展的几十个项目一样,对北京来说是一个潜在的问题。
Infrastructure projects in Nigeria have been fueled by the same manic lending that has also created mountains of debt for China's economy at home. State-controlled Chinese banks have lent money at rock-bottom interest rates in deeply indebted Nigeria.	推动在尼日利亚兴建这些基础设施的疯狂贷款,也给中国国内经济带来巨额债务。中国国有银行以最低利率把钱借给负债累累的尼日利亚。
They have done so based on the assumption that the Chinese government will repay them if Nigeria cannot.	这样做是基于一个前提:如果尼日利亚还不上钱,中国政府一定会还钱。
A little-known Chinese government agency, Sinosure, has guaranteed the loans. Sinosure insured $427 billion worth of Chinese exports and overseas construction projects around the world in 2013, the most recent year available. The Export-Import Bank of the United States, by comparison, issued just $5 billion worth of credit in each of the last two years.	鲜为人知的中国政府机构中国出口信用保险公司(Sinosure)为这些贷款提供了保险。该公司最近的数据是2013年的,那年它为价值4270亿美元的中国出口商品和海外工程提供了保险。相比之下,美国进出口银行(Export-Import Bank)在过去两年中,每年只提供了价值50亿美元的贷款。

Nigeria is a particularly shaky bet for China. The corruption investigations could prompt the government to cancel contracts outright. Government revenue has dropped by more than half since the fall in world oil prices, so the country may not have the money to make good on the Chinese deals.	对于中国来说，尼日利亚一个风险特别高的赌局。腐败调查可能会导致尼日利亚政府直接取消合同。自从世界石油价格下跌以来，该国政府的收入已经下降了一半以上，因此可能没有足够的资金来支付与中国的交易。
The riskiest projects of all may be those like the high-speed rail line that are widely viewed as the previous administration's vanity projects.	在所有项目中，风险最大的可能就是高铁这种被广泛视为上届政府的政绩工程的项目。
A Chinese construction manager at the new station on Abuja's outskirts, who identified himself only as Mr. Zhang, said the project would be finished by next March. It was only behind schedule, he added, because of shipping delays.	在阿布贾郊区的新车站，一名中国建筑经理说，该项目将于明年3月完工。他只透露自己姓张，声称工程落后于计划时间完全是因为发货延迟。
"We're waiting for materials from China," Mr. Zhang said, "like toilets."	"我们正在等物料从中国发过来，"张先生说，"比如厕所等等。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151207/c07chinatrade	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151207/c07chinatrade
Indians, Hit Hard by Climate Change, Closely Watch Paris Talks	印度深陷环境危机，坚持先脱贫再治理污染
MUMBAI, India — Under a fingernail moon at Sassoon Docks, Parumati Mangela, a fisherwoman, sat on her haunches, grimacing. Something strange is happening over the Arabian Sea, she said: "The sky is getting hot more and more," perhaps because something has angered the goddess Lakshmi.	印度孟买——弯月当空，渔女帕努马提·曼吉拉(Parumati Mangela)蹲坐在沙逊码头，面露不安神色。阿拉伯海发生了奇怪的事情，她说：“天气越来越热，”也许是什么事激怒了拉克希米(Lakshmi)女神。
As Mangela rounded up village women to pray at the water's edge, state fisheries scientists were tracking worrying changes deep below, where in the last half century average surface temperatures have risen three-tenths of a degree Celsius, or half a degree Fahrenheit. This warming is driving familiar species into cooler waters, they say, replaced by species traditionally found hundreds of miles to the south,	曼吉拉把村里的妇女召集到一起，在水边进行祈祷，而对这种令人担忧的变化，印度渔业科学家进行了深入追踪，在过去的半个世纪里，海水表面的平均温度上升了半个华氏度，相当于0.3摄氏度。他们说，由于升温，人们熟悉的物种迁徙到了更凉爽的水域，而此前生活在数百英里以南的物种，比如印度马鲛鱼和长头小沙丁鱼，则迁移到了这里。

like Indian mackerel and oil sardines.
At the climate talks in Paris, India's negotiators have staked out an adamant position: While India is vulnerable to global warming, raising a vast population out of poverty remains the national priority. The government plans to double use of domestic coal to more than a billion tons by 2019, and maintains that the legal obligation for action on climate change should fall on developed countries, which burned huge amounts of fossil fuels for decades.	在巴黎举行的气候谈判中，印度谈判代表表达了坚定的立场：虽然印度很容易受到全球气候变暖的冲击，但让广大人口摆脱贫困仍然是印度的政策重点。印度政府计划到2019年，让国内煤炭消耗量翻一番，达到逾10亿吨，并同时坚称，对气候变化采取行动的法律义务应该由发达国家担当，因为它们数十年来使用了大量的化石燃料。
But few countries have so much at stake as India. For the last month, the front pages of major newspapers have been dominated by one environmental crisis after another: City-dwellers are up in arms about hazardous levels of air pollution, which has already damaged the lungs of about half of Delhi's schoolchildren. And last month brought torrential rains and flooding in the southern city of Chennai, evoking the erratic weather that climate experts warn about.	但很少有哪个国家像印度这样容易遭受气候变化的危害。上个月，该国主要报纸的头版被一个接一个的环境危机所占据：城市居民极力反对严重的空气污染，德里大约一半的学童，肺部已经遭受了损害。上个月，印度南部城市钦奈遭遇了暴雨和洪灾，气候专家曾警告过会出现这种难以预测的天气。
"People are experiencing far more, and the impacts are far more severe," said Arivudai Nambi Appadurai, a climate risk specialist for the World Resources Institute, whose family weathered the flood in Chennai. "It is right there in front of them. You experience it, you believe it. It's not something happening far away that you read about in the newspaper."	"人们经历的冲击要多得多，其影响程度也要严重得多。事情就摆在他们眼前，你经历过就会相信。这不是你在报纸上读到的那种发生在遥远地方的东西，"世界资源研究所(World Resources Institute)的气候风险专家阿利乌戴·纳姆比·阿帕度拉(Arivudai Nambi Appadurai)说。他的家人就亲历了钦奈的洪灾。
Ashok Lavasa, secretary of India's Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change, said negotiators were aware of the impact climate change is having on the country, which includes more than 4,000 miles of coastline and 1,200 islands. But India takes the view that developed	印度环境、林业与气候变化部秘书阿索科·拉瓦萨(Ashok Lavasa)说，谈判者知道气候变化对印度的影响，该国有超过4000英里(约6400公里)长的海岸线和1200座岛屿。但印度认为，像美国这样的发达国家在历史上对这个问题负有责任，必须在解决方案中承担最大的义务，这是1997年的《京

countries, like the United States, are historically responsible for the problem, and must take the biggest steps on a solution, a notion enshrined in the 1997 Kyoto Protocol. Lavasa would like to see that legal divide continue, even though developing economies are expected to become the largest greenhouse gas emitters in the 21st century.	都议定书》(Kyoto Protocol)中的一个原则。拉瓦萨希望能继续坚持这样的法律责任划分, 即便发展中经济体预计将成为 21 世纪最大的温室气体排放国。
"When you talk about historic obligations, we are not reinterpreting those agreements," Lavasa said.	拉瓦萨说, "在谈论历史责任的时候, 我们并不是在重新阐释这些协定。"
Four thousand miles from the Paris talks, a familiar smog has settled over India's large cities, reducing the midday sun to a pale, blurry wafer. The pollution, a dangerous mix of suspended particles from kerosene stoves, vehicles, diesel generators and burning crops and firewood, is at the same high level as last year. But awareness has soared, said Joshua S. Apte, an assistant professor of environmental engineering at the University of Texas at Austin, who has studied Delhi's air pollution since 2007.	在巴黎谈判会场的 4000 英里之外, 熟悉的雾霾笼罩了印度的各大城市, 让正午的太阳显得苍白而模糊。煤油炉、车辆、柴油发电机, 以及燃烧秸秆和木柴产生的悬浮颗粒物混合在一起, 形成了这种危险的空气污染, 其严重程度与去年持平。但人们的意识已经大大增强, 德州大学奥斯汀分校 (University of Texas at Austin) 的环境工程助理教授约书亚·S·阿普特(Dr. Joshua S. Apte)说。他对 2007 年以来, 印度德里的空气污染状况进行过研究。
Though global warming and air pollution have distinct causes, the issues overlap in the minds of many young urban Indians — the group that is far more likely to support limiting greenhouse gases, the Pew Research Center found in a survey conducted ahead of the climate talks. And some climate experts are reminded of the pollution protests that broke out in Chinese cities last year, prompting the Chinese premier to declare a "war on pollution."	虽然全球变暖和空气污染是由不同的原因造成的, 但印度很多年轻的城市居民认为, 这些问题有重叠的部分。皮尤研究中心(Pew Research Center)在气候谈判开始前进行的调查发现, 这一群体支持限制温室气体排放的比例远远更高。这让一些气候专家想起了去年中国一些城市爆发的针对污染的抗议活动, 这些抗议活动促使中国总理"向污染宣战"。
"The media, in a way that couldn't happen in Beijing, has made this such an issue that policy makers can't be seen to be avoiding it," Apte said.	阿普特表示, "媒体已经使之成为一个严重的问题, 政策制定者不能让公众发觉自己在逃避。这样的情况不会出现在北京。"

For farmers and fishermen, the changes associated with a warming climate have emerged gradually.	对于农民和渔民来说，气候变暖带来的变化已经逐渐显现。
Vinay D. Deshmukh, a fisheries scientist who headed a marine research center in Mumbai, recalled his puzzlement around seven years ago, when he first saw boats coming back loaded with oil sardines, a fish whose northernmost range traditionally ended 400 miles to the south. The fish, he said, were "emaciated," with bulbous heads and little flesh on their bodies. He formed a hypothesis: The sardines, "running away from the hot water to survive," had wandered so far that they no longer had a familiar stock of phytoplankton.	渔业科学家维纳伊·D·德希穆克(Vinay D. Deshmukh)是孟买一家海洋研究中心的负责人。他回忆起了大约七年前的困惑，当时他第一次看到渔船载着长头小沙丁鱼归来，这种鱼的最北分布区通常在孟买以南 400 英里处。他说，这些鱼很“消瘦”，头是鼓凸的，身上肉很少。他提出了一个假设：这种沙丁鱼“为了生存逃离了温度较高的海域”，但它们逃得太远，找不到那些熟悉的浮游植物了。
Since then, the oil sardines have expanded their range 900 miles, turning up in the nets of fishermen as far north as Bangladesh. Mumbaiers, meanwhile, showed so little interest in eating sardines that they are now ground up as a supplement for animal feed.	此后，长头小沙丁鱼将活动范围扩展了 900 英里，出现在北至孟加拉国的渔民的渔网中。但孟买人对这种沙丁鱼不感兴趣，于是把它们碾碎，制成了动物补充饲料。
Chabi Gayakard, scanning the crowd for paying customers at Sassoon dock, shook her head disapprovingly when asked about the sardines.	查比·格亚卡德(Chabi Gayakard)正在沙逊码头寻找愿意付钱的买家。当被问到这种沙丁鱼时，她不以为然地摇了摇头。
"The hotter it gets, the more they come," she said. "Upper-class people don't eat them." A friend, standing over the limp body of a dead shark, suggested that God had sent waves of heat as a punishment, after "watching how we humans behave."	"越热就越多，"她说。"上层人不吃这种鱼。"她的一个朋友看着脚下鲨鱼瘫软的尸体说，神降下了热浪惩罚人类，因为神“看到了我们人类的所作所为”。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151211/c11india	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151211/c11india
First Saudi Women Elected to Local Councils	沙特迎来里程碑时刻：女性首次参与选举并胜出
RIYADH, Saudi Arabia — In elections that allowed Saudi women to vote and run for office for the first time, more than a dozen women won seats on local councils in different parts of the country, officials said on	沙特阿拉伯利雅得——官方周日表示，在沙特阿拉伯举行的第一次允许女性参加投票和竞选公职的选举中，有十多名女性在不同地区的地方议会中赢得席位。

Sunday.
While the move was hailed by some as a new step into the public sphere by women in this religious and conservative monarchy, the local councils have limited powers and the new female members will make up less than 1 percent of the elected council members nationwide.	这一举动被一些人称赞为这个宗教色彩浓厚的保守君主制国家在允许女性参与公共事务方面进入新的阶段，但地方议会职权有限，而且女性将不超过全国范围内当选的议会成员的1%。
The participation of women in the vote was a milestone in a very gradual social shift for a country that deprives women of many basic rights, barring them from driving and from making many important decisions without the approval of a male relative.	沙特阿拉伯剥夺了女性的很多基本权利，禁止她们开车，也不允许她们在没有男性亲属许可情况下做出许多重大决定。在这样的国家进行的非常缓慢的社会变迁中，女性参与投票堪称一个里程碑。
Yet attitudes have shifted as more women have begun working outside the home and the kingdom's youthful and well-connected population has become better acquainted with the rest of the world.	不过，随着有更多女性开始在外工作、该国出身良好的年轻人更加了解外面的世界，针对女性的这些态度在发生改变。
The previous Saudi monarch, King Abdullah, promised in 2011 to let women run and vote in local council elections and two years later added 30 women to the Shura Council, an appointed advisory body. His successor, Salman, has allowed those decisions to stand.	上任国王阿卜杜拉(King Abdullah)曾在 2011 年承诺，允许女性在地方议会选举中参与竞选和投票，并在两年后给委任的顾问机构舒拉议会(Shura Council)增加了 30 名女性成员。他的继任者萨尔曼(Salman)保留了这些决策。
But the kingdom's economic, foreign and military policies are set by members of the royal family and ministers appointed by the king. The country has never had a female minister.	但沙特阿拉伯的经济、外交和军事政策均由皇室成员及国王任命的各部大臣制定。该国还不曾出现过女性大臣。
The kingdom's 284 local councils handle municipal issues, and candidates campaigned to fix roads, improve health care access and open public parks. Only two-thirds of the council members are elected; the rest will be appointed by the government.	沙特阿拉伯有 284 个地方议会负责处理市政事务，候选人竞选的是谁来管理修路、提高医疗保健覆盖面和建设公园等事务。仅有三分之二的议会成员是选举出来的，其他的将由政府任命。
It was unclear late Sunday exactly how many women had won across the country, as results in many districts were announced locally.	至周日晚间，外界依然不清楚全国到底有多少女性赢得了选举，因为许多地区的选举结果只在当地宣布。

Reuters reported that 17 women had won, citing a news website affiliated with the Saudi Interior Ministry. The Associated Press put the number at 19.	路透社(Reuters)援引沙特阿拉伯内政部的一家附属新闻网站的消息报道,有 17 名女性当选。美联社(The Associated Press)的报道则将这个数字列为 19 人。
Just under 1.5 million of the kingdom's 20 million citizens had registered to vote, and the government on Sunday put voter participation at 47 percent. The government does not have statistics on numbers of eligible voters.	在沙特阿拉伯的 2000 万公民中,只有不到 150 万人做了选民登记。该国政府周日表示,选民投票率为 47%。政府没有提供合格选民的统计人数。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151214/c14saudi	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151214/c14saudi
U.S. and Cuba at Odds Over Exodus of the Island's Doctors	因向往美国而叛逃的古巴医务工作者
As he came of age in Cuba, José Angel Sánchez enrolled in medical school for the usual reasons: to help the sick and to make a better living than most in his destitute eastern town. But he had another motive, too.	当古巴的何塞·安赫尔·桑切斯(José Angel Sánchez)逐渐长大的时候,他选择了就读医学院,原因很平常:救死扶伤,并过上比东部贫困家乡的大部分人更好的生活。但他还有另一个目的。
"It was also a way out of Cuba," said Dr. Sánchez, 29, who moved to the United States in September, four years after he graduated as a general practitioner.	"这也是离开古巴的一条出路,"如今 29 岁的桑切斯医生说。他四年前从大学毕业,成为一名全科医师,于今年 9 月移居美国。
Dr. Sánchez's escape route was set up by the United States government, under a 2006 program that offers American residency to Cuban medical workers posted overseas. It is a door through which thousands of Cuban health workers have emigrated — and one that President Raúl Castro is determined to close.	桑切斯的逃离路线由美国政府设立,是一个于 2006 年颁布的为派驻海外的古巴医务工作者提供美国居留权的签证项目。这是一扇让数千名古巴医务工作者得以移民美国的大门——也是一扇古巴总统劳尔·卡斯特罗(Raúl Castro)决心关闭的门。
One year after Cuba and the United States announced their thaw, policies like this, which hail from a more hostile era, show that diplomacy after five decades of tensions will not be as easy as the raising of embassy flags. The number of Cuban medical professionals who defected for residency in the United States reached a record this	在古巴与美国宣布关系解冻一年后,像这样诞生于较为敌对时期的政策表明,50 年关系紧张之后的外交往来不会像在使馆升起国旗一样简单。为美国居留权而叛逃的古巴医疗专业人士的规模今年创下了历史记录,这对两国间新近恢复的关系造成了负面影响,迫使古巴奋力阻止这些人的大批离去。

year, putting a crimp in the newly restored relations between the two countries and forcing Cuba to scramble to stop the exodus.
The Department of Homeland Security fast-tracks residency for Cuban medical professionals who defect, but it has been slowed by the swell of applications, accusations of fraud and delays that left hundreds of people like Dr. Sánchez stranded in Colombia for months this year.	美国国土安全部为叛逃的古巴医疗专业人士开设了获得居留权的快速通道，但申请量的增加、欺诈指控和延迟减缓了它的速度，导致几百名像桑切斯医生这样的人今年在哥伦比亚滞留数月。
In April, 18 months into his two-year medical posting in Venezuela, Dr. Sánchez traveled to Bogotá, Colombia. There, he applied for the Cuban Medical Professional Parole Program at the United States Embassy. But the process, which normally takes four to six weeks, stretched to five months. "I always planned to leave — somehow," said Dr. Sánchez, now a medical assistant in Paterson, N.J.	桑切斯医生参加了为期两年的委内瑞拉医疗外派。在工作了 18 个月后，他于今年 4 月来到哥伦比亚的波哥大。他在那里的美国大使馆申请了“古巴医疗专业人士豁免项目”(Cuban Medical Professional Parole Program)。但这个通常历时四至六周的过程持续了五个月。桑切斯医生说，“我一直计划离开，不管用什么方式。”他目前在新泽西州的帕特森担任医务助理。
Cuba denounced the program in recent weeks as the two nations met to discuss American immigration rules that give Cubans special opportunities to enter the United States and become residents.	最近几周，两国会面讨论了给予古巴人特殊机会来进入美国并成为居民的美国移民政策，古巴在会上谴责了该项目。
With so many Cubans worried that the coveted status will melt away now that diplomatic relations have been established with Havana, there has been a wave of people from all professions leaving the island over the past year.	许多古巴人担心，既然美国已与古巴政府建立外交关系，这一令人向往待遇将会消失。在这样的担忧之下，来自各种职业的大批人群在过去一年内离开了该岛国。
That has created a migration crisis, the Castro government contends, stranding thousands of Cuban migrants in Central America as they try to make their way over land to the United States.	卡斯特罗政府声称，这制造了一场移民危机，导致数千名试图通过陆路进入美国古巴移民滞留中美洲。
The issue is a potent reminder, analysts say, of the stubborn differences that continue to divide the two governments despite the thaw. Robert Muse, a Washington-based lawyer who specializes in United	分析人士表示，这个问题是一个强有力的警示，表明尽管关系解冻，但挥之不去的分歧仍将阻隔两国政府。罗伯特·缪斯(Robert Muse)是常驻华盛顿的一名律师，为美国-古巴法律专家，他把医疗专业人士豁免项目称为“布什政

States-Cuban law, called the medical workers program an “exploding cigar left over by the Bush administration” that President Obama should eliminate.	府遗留的爆炸雪茄”，而奥巴马总统应该予以废止。
“No country is going to welcome engineered defections of its nationals,” Mr. Muse said. The United States, he said, was “not acting in the spirit of normalized relations.”	“没有哪个国家会欢迎其国民被策划叛逃，”缪斯说。美国“没有本着关系正常化的精神行事。”
Cuba’s health system is a source of great international prestige for the government, which provides free training to thousands of Cubans and poor foreign students. The state offers universal, if far from perfect, medical care to its citizens and has won praise — even from the Obama administration — for sending medical brigades to help overseas.	古巴的医疗体系为成千上万的古巴人和贫穷外国学生提供免费培训，是古巴政府良好国际声望的一大来源。即使远称不上完美，但该国为国民提供了全民医疗，并因输送医疗队帮助其他国家而赢得赞誉——甚至赢得了奥巴马政府的赞誉。
Medical diplomacy is also an indispensable source of income: Cuba rents out the services of tens of thousands of doctors, nurses and dentists to other developing countries in exchange for billions of dollars’ worth of oil and cash.	医疗外交也是古巴必不可少的收入来源：古巴向其他发展中国家出租成千上万名医生、护士和牙医的服务，换得价值数十亿美元的石油和现金。
Such rewards, though, are won on the backs of medical professionals who work for little money in tough conditions, doctors say.	不过，医生们表示，这些回报都是在医疗专业人士的身上榨取的，他们在恶劣的条件下工作，收入十分微薄。
Dr. Lino Alberto Neira, an orthopedic surgeon who practiced in Cuba for 23 years before he left for Miami in 2013, said that his monthly salary of $25 back home barely lasted four days. He got by with tips from patients who worked in tourism, he said.	利诺·阿尔贝托·内拉(Lino Alberto Neira)是一名骨科医生，在 2013 年来到迈阿密之前，他曾在古巴执业 23 年。他说，自己在古巴的月薪为 25 美元，只能勉强撑得过四天。他依靠从事旅游业的患者的小费度日。
“Someone who cleans floors in a hotel is supporting you,” said Dr. Neira, speaking from Miami. “That’s very humiliating.”	“酒店清洁地板的工人在支撑着你。这太丢脸了，”身在迈阿密的内拉医生说。
Cuba more than doubled some doctors’ salaries last year, to about $70 a month. But faced with such small salaries at home, many doctors	去年，古巴将部分医生的月薪提高到 70 美元，增加了一倍有余。不过，面对国内如此低廉的薪水，许多医生接受派驻海外，以获得额外收入。

accept a posting overseas to make extra money.
Still, they earn only a fraction of what the host country pays Cuba for their work.	然而，与他们服务的国家支付给古巴政府的钱相比，他们获得的收入只是九牛一毛。
Dr. Mara Martínez, a dentist who is Dr. Sánchez's fiancée, said she was a staunch supporter of the Cuban revolution but became disillusioned when she arrived in Venezuela to find that she had to work six days a week and sleep three to a room for a salary of $210 a month. Venezuela, she was told by her supervisors, was paying $7,000 per month for her services.	桑切斯医生的未婚妻玛拉·马丁内斯(Mara Martínez)是一名牙医，自称是古巴革命的坚定支持者。但是，当她来到委内瑞拉，发现自己每周得工作六天、三人同住一屋、月薪仅 210 美元时，她的幻想破灭了。主管人员告诉她，委内瑞拉每月为她的服务支付了 7000 美元。
More than 7,000 Cubans have been approved for residency since the program began almost a decade ago, according to United States Citizenship and Immigration Services.	美国公民及移民服务局(United States Citizenship and Immigration Services)称，自从近 10 年前这个项目开始实施起，已有 7000 多名古巴人通过它获得美国的居留权。
According to Homeland Security statistics, 1,663 Cuban medical professionals posted overseas were accepted to enter the United States in the 2015 fiscal year, a 32 percent increase from the year before. The number of doctors admitted to the program has more than tripled since 2011, when 386 people were approved.	国土安全部的统计数据 displays, 2015 财年，共有 1663 名在海外工作的古巴医疗专业人士获得了美国签证，相比于前一年增长了 32%。而相比于 2011 年——当年有 386 人通过审核——经由这个项目获得签证的医生人数增长了两倍多。
Cuban officials have repeatedly assailed the medical parole program as a "reprehensible practice" aimed at "stealing" Cuban talent. A State Department official, who spoke on the condition of anonymity, said the United States "does not recruit Cuban medical professionals," but simply gives them a voluntary route to residency.	古巴官方不断抨击这个医疗豁免项目，说它旨在“攫取”古巴人才，“应该受到谴责”。美国国务院一位不具名的官员表示，美国“并不招募古巴医疗专业人员”，只是给他们提供自主获得居留权的途径。
In the spring, American approvals of doctors seeking asylum through Colombia slowed considerably, in what analysts took to be a gesture of good will as the United States prepared to open an embassy in Havana.	今年春季，对于古巴医生通过哥伦比亚寻求庇护的申请，美国的审批速度大大降低。分析人士认为这是美国因为准备在哈瓦那重开大使馆而做出的友好表示。美国国务院否认签证延迟和两国关系转暖之间存在任何联系，并表示

The State Department denied any connection between the delays and warming relations, and said there were no “immediate plans” to scrap the parole program.	不会很快废除豁免项目。
The Department of Homeland Security suggested that the delays were the result of the increased number of applicants. Dr. Martínez said that out of a group of 250 or so medical workers who were stranded, along with her and Dr. Sánchez, all but a dozen were eventually given residency.	国土安全部指出，签证延迟是因为申请人数增多。马丁内斯医生表示，在包括她和桑切斯医生在内的大约 250 名签证申请被延迟的医疗人员中，只有十多人最后没有获得居留权。
An American official who was not authorized to discuss the issue publicly said that the program had been held up because some applicants had presented fraudulent credentials, which caused the government to rigorously review documents.	一名没有被授权公开谈论此事的美国官员称，这个项目进展缓慢是因为有一些申请者提交了假资格证明，而这导致美国政府开始严格审核申请材料。
The Cuban government said it raised the issue of the program during migration talks with American officials late last month, but Cuban officials did not respond to emails or calls requesting further comment.	古巴政府表示，在上月末与美国官员进行有关移民的对话时，古巴曾提出有关这一项目的问题，但古巴官员没有回应时报通过邮件和电话提出的进一步置评的请求。
According to the United Nations, Cuba has one of the world’s highest rates of physicians per capita. But with so many deployed overseas, medical workers are fewer and less experienced than before the large overseas deployments began in the early 2000s, health workers and ordinary Cubans complain.	据联合国统计，古巴的人均拥有医生比率位居全世界最高之列。但医务工作者和古巴普通民众抱怨，因为有太多医疗人员派驻海外，所以相比于本世纪初大规模海外派遣开始之前，现在国内医疗人员的人数减少，经验也不比以前。
Medical professionals from any country who migrate to the United States often find that their credentials are inadequate and that the jobs that are available pay poorly.	从任何国家移民到美国的医疗专业人员往往都会发现，自己的从业资格不够，能找到的工作薪资也比较低。
In Miami, Dr. Neira is caring for an older Cuban man and studying to be a nurse because his Cuban qualifications are not recognized. In	在迈阿密，内拉医生正在照顾一名年纪较大的古巴人，同时在为成为护士而进行学习，因为他的古巴资质在这里不被认可。在帕特森，桑切斯医生在内

Paterson, Dr. Sánchez, who works on a ragged downtown strip in a job that pays $15 an hour, said he planned to do the same. First, though, Dr. Martínez, his fiancée, will try to get her dentistry license.	城一片破旧的区域工作，薪水为每小时 15 美元。他说自己也有同样的计划。不过，首先他的未婚妻马丁内斯会试着拿到牙医资格证书。
There are days, said Dr. Sánchez, especially weekends, when Paterson gets him down. "You start to think about family," he said. "About your neighborhood. About what everyone would be doing on a Sunday. About the baseball game."	桑切斯说，有些时候，尤其是周末，帕特森会让他感到沮丧。“你会开始想家，”他说。“想你的社区。想别人周日都在干什么。想棒球赛。”
Still, he enjoys his freedom and appreciates how Americans mind their own business. He would like to move to Miami, where there is year-round sunshine and a big Cuban population. "We depend on our own efforts, on getting our careers off the ground," he said. "We're going to make it."	不过，他享受现在拥有的自由，也很欣赏美国人不多管闲事。他想搬到迈阿密，那里整年都有阳光，还有很多古巴裔人口。“我们靠自己的努力，靠自己的事业出现起色，”他说。“我们会做到的。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151221/c21cubadoctors	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151221/c21cubadoctors
Navy SEALs, a Beating Death and Claims of a Cover-Up	海豹突击队虐囚丑闻（一）：模糊的红线
The three Navy SEALs stomped on the bound Afghan detainees and dropped heavy stones on their chests, the witnesses recalled. They stood on the prisoners' heads and poured bottles of water on some of their faces in what, to a pair of Army soldiers, appeared to be an improvised form of waterboarding.	目击者回忆称，三名海军海豹突击队(Navy SEALs)成员踩在被绑起来的阿富汗囚犯，将沉重的石头砸向他们的胸膛。他们踩在囚犯的头上，还向其中一些人的脸上倒了几瓶水，在两名陆军士兵看来，这仿佛是即兴发挥的水刑。
A few hours earlier, shortly after dawn on May 31, 2012, a bomb had exploded at a checkpoint manned by an Afghan Local Police unit that the SEALs were training. Angered by the death of one of their comrades in the blast, the police militiamen had rounded up half a dozen or more suspects from a market in the village of Kalach and forced them to a nearby American outpost. Along the way, they beat them with rifle	几个小时之前，也就是 2012 年 5 月 31 日天亮后不久，一颗炸弹在由阿富汗地方警察部队把守的检查站爆炸，该部队正在接受海豹突击队的培训。警察部队的一名成员在爆炸中死亡，愤怒的警方民兵在卡拉什村的市场围捕了至少六名嫌疑人，并将他们带到了附近的一个美国军事基地。他们在途中用枪托和汽车天线殴打嫌疑人。

butts and car antennas.
A United States Army medic standing guard at the base, Specialist David Walker, had expected the men from SEAL Team 2 to put a stop to the abuse. Instead, he said, one of them "jump-kicked this guy kneeling on the ground." Two others joined in, Specialist Walker and several other soldiers recounted, and along with the Afghan militiamen, they beat the detainees so badly that by dusk, one would die.	在该基地站岗的美国陆军医生戴维·沃克(David Walker)以为，海豹突击队第二分队会阻止虐待行为。但相反，他表示，其中一人“跳起来踢一名跪在地上的囚犯”。据沃克和其他几名士兵透露，又有两名士兵加入其中，与阿富汗民兵一起殴打囚犯，由于用力过猛，其中一人在黄昏前死亡。
The four American soldiers working with the SEALs reported the episode, which has not previously been disclosed. In a Navy criminal investigation, two Navy support personnel said they had witnessed some abuse by the SEALs, as did a local police officer. Separately, an Afghan detained with the man who died provided a detailed account of mistreatment by American troops and Afghan militiamen in an interview with The New York Times.	四名与海豹突击队共事的美国士兵上报了这起之前未被披露过的事件。在海军开展的刑事调查中，两名海军后方人员表示，他们目睹了海豹突击队的一些虐待行为，一名当地警察也看到了这些情况。另外，一名与死亡男子关押在一起的阿富汗人在接受《纽约时报》采访时，详细讲述了美国士兵和阿富汗民兵的施虐行为。
The SEAL command, though, cleared the Team 2 members of wrongdoing in a closed disciplinary process that is typically used only for minor infractions, disregarding a Navy lawyer's recommendation that the troops face assault charges and choosing not to seek a court-martial. Two of the SEALs and their lieutenant have since been promoted, even though their commander in Afghanistan recommended that they be forced out of the elite SEAL teams.	但海豹突击队的司令部不顾海军律师的建议，即对士兵们提出袭击指控，而是选择不将此事提交军事法庭，只举行了通常只适用于轻微违纪的闭门纪律听证会，并裁定第二分队的队员没有过失。此后，其中两名海豹突击队成员及其上级军官获得晋升，尽管他们在阿富汗的指挥官建议，应该把他们开除出精锐的海豹突击队。
"It just comes down to what's wrong and what's right," Specialist Walker said in a recent interview. "You can't squint hard enough to make this gray."	"这归根结底是对与错的问题，"沃克最近接受采访时说。"没办法睁一只眼闭一只眼，假装没问题。"
Even before the beatings, some of the SEALs had exhibited troubling	甚至在殴打发生之前，一些海豹突击队成员就有一些令人不安的举动。据士

behavior. According to the soldiers and Afghan villagers, they had amused themselves by tossing grenades over the walls of their base, firing high-caliber weapons at passing vehicles and even aiming slingshots at children, striking them in the face with hard candy.	兵及阿富汗村民透露，他们曾向基地围墙外扔手榴弹，利用大口径武器射击过往的车辆，甚至还将弹弓对准儿童，用硬糖打他们的脸部，以此取乐。
Abuse of detainees is among the most serious offenses an American service member can commit. Several military justice experts, who reviewed a Naval Criminal Investigative Service report on the case at the request of The Times, said that it had been inappropriate for the SEAL command to treat such allegations as an internal disciplinary matter and that it should have referred the case for an Article 32 review, the equivalent of a grand jury, to consider a court-martial.	虐待囚犯属于美国服役人员可能犯下的罪行中最严重的一档。几名军事司法专家应时报要求，查看了海军刑事调查局(Naval Criminal Investigative Service)有关该案的报告，他们表示海豹突击队指挥部将这些指控当作内部纪律问题处理是不恰当的，应该将此案提交军事法庭，根据军法第 32 条举行听证——相当于召集大陪审团。
"It's unfathomable," said Donald J. Guter, a retired rear admiral and former judge advocate general of the Navy, in charge of all its lawyers. "It really does look like this was intended just to bury this."	"这是难以理解的，"退役海军少将、前海军军法署署长唐纳德·J·古特(Donald J. Guter)说。"这看起来确实像是有意隐瞒。"海军军法署负责管理海军的所有法务人员。
Navy officials defended the handling of the case, saying the SEAL captain who oversaw it had had full authority to decide it as he saw fit. The captain, Robert E. Smith, who was then in charge of SEALs based on the East Coast and is now a military assistant to the secretary of the Navy, said in a recent statement that the Team 2 members had denied abusing the detainees. Captain Smith said that he had found inconsistencies in the soldiers' accounts when they were questioned five months later, and that conflicting statements from the Army and Navy witnesses "did not give me enough confidence in their overall accuracy to hold the accused accountable for assaults or abuse, or warrant Article 32 proceedings."	海军官员们为案件的处理方式做出辩解，称海豹突击队队长可以按照自己认为适当的方式全权处理此事。当时担任驻东海岸海豹突击队分队队长的罗伯特·E·史密斯上校(Robert E. Smith)，现在是海军部长的军事助理。他最近发表声明称，第二分队的队员否认虐待囚犯的说法。史密斯表示，相关士兵在事件发生五个月后提供的口供并不一致，而且陆军及海军目击者提供的证词相互矛盾，"不足以令我相信证据的总体准确性，无法追究被控实施攻击或虐待行为的人的责任，或启动军法第 32 条规定的程序"。

While he said it was “evident” that the Afghan militiamen had mistreated the detainees and that the SEALs had not reported it, he dismissed charges for failing to make such a report.	虽然他表示，“很明显”，阿富汗民兵虐待囚犯，而海豹突击队却没有报告此事，但对于未能上报的指摘，他不以为意。
What happened in Kalach involved just one death in a conflict that has taken thousands of lives, but it had broader consequences. Instead of winning over the local population, the goal of the mission, the reported abuse further alienated villagers. It drove some previously cooperative Afghans to leave for Taliban-controlled areas, residents said.	尽管这里的冲突已经夺走了数千人的生命，而卡拉什村发生的事情只涉及一起死亡案例，但它却带来了更广泛的影响。美国驻军的目标是赢得当地民众的支持，但报告的虐待行为不仅无助于实现这一目标，反而进一步疏远了村民。居民们表示，此事导致之前愿意合作的阿富汗人，前往了由塔利班控制的地区。
The SEALs’ failure to restrain the Afghan Local Police, who were supposed to protect villages but instead often terrorized them, helped erode confidence in the American and Afghan governments, whose forces have repeatedly been accused of abusing or killing civilians. During the United States’ engagement in Afghanistan, now stretching into its 15th year, the American military has expanded the mandate for SEALs, sometimes assigning them roles for which they are neither suited nor trained.	海豹突击队没能制止阿富汗当地警察的行为，后者本该保护村民，但却经常恐吓他们，这削弱了人们对美国 and 阿富汗政府的信心。阿富汗部队也经常被迫指控虐待或杀死平民。美国向阿富汗派出部队迄今已是第 15 个年头，其军方一直扩大针对海豹突击队的授权，有时候让他们担当了并不合适自己、也不曾进行相关训练的角色。
Brushing away serious charges, military justice experts said, reflects a breakdown of accountability that feeds the perception that SEALs and other elite Special Operations units get undue leeway when it comes to discipline. In murky wars with unclear battle lines, they warned, that can corrode ethical clarity and undermine morale.	军事司法专家表示，对严重的指控置若罔闻，显示出问责失败，这让人们愈发觉得海豹突击队和其他精英特种部队在纪律方面获得了不合理的宽松对待。他们警告，在模糊战线上进行的不清不白的战争中，这有可能会损害腐蚀人的道德水准，损害部队的精神面貌。
“What’s the message for the 10,000 guys that were in the same moment and said, ‘No, we’re not crossing this line?’” asked Geoffrey S. Corn, a former military lawyer who was the Army’s senior expert adviser on the law of war. “It diminishes the immense courage it takes	“对于成千上万个处于同一局势之中并说出‘不，我们不要越过红线’的士兵，这代表着什么？”曾担任美国军方在战争法方面的高级专家顾问的前任军队律师杰弗里·S·科恩(Geoffrey S. Corn)问道。“不去跨过合法武力和非法暴力之间的界限需要巨大的勇气，而该事件会削弱这种勇气。” to maintain that line between legitimate and illegitimate violence.”

This account of the events at Kalach, in southern Afghanistan’s Oruzgan Province, and how the Navy handled them is based on interviews with dozens of current and former military personnel. Reporters located victims and other villagers in Afghanistan and tracked down the four American soldiers who made the abuse allegations, who are now scattered across the United States. Most were initially reluctant to speak.	有关阿富汗南部乌鲁兹甘省卡拉什发生的这些事，以及美国海军如何处理它们的描述，是基于对几十位现任和前任军方工作人员的采访。记者找到了受害人及其他阿富汗村民，也找到了四名提出虐待指控的美国士兵，这四个人现在分布在美国不同地区。他们中的大多数一开始都不愿意开口。
The Times also obtained the report prepared by the Naval Criminal Investigative Service, including sworn statements by Army, Navy and Afghan witnesses. All names were redacted in the document, acquired through the Freedom of Information Act, but several people familiar with the investigation confirmed them. The report was reviewed by four former military lawyers and a civilian military law expert.	《纽约时报》也拿到了由海军刑事调查局(Naval Criminal Investigative Service)撰写的一份调查报告，其中包括陆军、海军和阿富汗证人所做的宣誓证词。在这份通过《信息自由法》获得的文件里，所有的名字都被涂黑，但几名熟悉相关调查的人士确认了他们的身份。这份报告也经过了四名前任军队律师和一名平民身份的军事法专家的审阅。
In addition to describing misconduct by the SEALs, villagers complained that the Americans had empowered the local militia to act with impunity — taking goods from shops in the market, ransacking homes and delivering a rifle butt to the belly of those who resisted them.	除了指责海豹突击队滥用职权，村民们还抱怨美国人任由当地民兵组织无法无天——从市场上的商店里任意拿走商品，洗劫平民家庭，拿步枪枪托击打反抗他们的人。
The Afghan militiamen in Kalach “were like dogs, and the Americans were the masters,” said Hajji Ahmad Khan Muslim Gizabe, a prominent elder there. “The masters would follow behind the dogs, telling them what to do.”	卡拉什的阿富汗民兵“就像狗一样，美国人则是它们的主人，”在当地德高望重的知名人物哈吉·艾哈迈德·汗·穆斯利姆·吉扎比(Hajji Ahmad Khan Muslim Gizabe)说。“主人会跟在狗的后面，告诉他们做什么。”
Mr. Gizabe said that he had been among the Afghans who aided Hamid Karzai, the future president, in 2001 when he was flown into Oruzgan with American forces to foment resistance to the Taliban. But after what happened in 2012, he said, “I cannot support the Americans.”	吉扎比说，在2001年，后来当选总统的哈米德·卡尔扎伊(Hamid Karzai)随美国军队来到乌鲁兹甘省，鼓动人们抵抗塔利班，当时，他是帮助卡尔扎伊做事的阿富汗人之一。但他说，2012年的事发生之后，“我无法再支持美国人。”

Read Part 1 of this serial here.	(一) 模糊的红线
Read Part 2 here.	(二) 美国兵进村了
Read Part 3 here.	(三) 酷刑拷打
Read Part 4 here.	(四) 谁在说谎
Read Part 5 here	(完): 证词谜团
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151222/c22seals1	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151222/c22seals1
China Plans a New Silk Road, but Trading Partners Are Wary	中国新丝绸之路的坎坷：地缘政治错综复杂
ANKARA, Turkey — As tensions in the Mideast and Ukraine rose in recent years, Turkey had moved to jointly manufacture a sophisticated missile defense system.	土耳其安卡拉——随着中东和乌克兰紧张局势在近几年升温，土耳其曾着手与人合作建造一个尖端的导弹防御系统。
But Turkey abruptly abandoned the plan just weeks ago in the face of strong opposition from its allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.	但是在遭到北约盟国的强烈反对后，土耳其几周前突然放弃了这项计划。
Their main objection: Turkey's partner, a state-backed Chinese company. Western countries feared a loss of military secrets if Chinese technology were incorporated into Turkey's air defenses.	他们的主要理由是：土耳其的合作伙伴，一家有政府背景的中国企业。西方国家担心，如果土耳其的防空系统采用中国技术，他们的军事机密可能泄露。
As one of its highest economic and foreign policy goals, China has laid out an extensive vision for close relations with Turkey and dozens of countries that were loosely connected along the Silk Road more than 1,000 years ago by land and seaborne trade.	作为经济和外交政策的最高目标之一，中国规划了一个广泛的愿景，想通过开展陆地和海上贸易，来与土耳其和上千年前“丝绸之路”上的几十个国家建立紧密关系。
But Beijing's effort to revive ancient trade routes, a plan known as the Belt and Road Initiative, is causing geopolitical strains, with countries increasingly worried about becoming too dependent on China.	不过，北京试图重启这条古老贸易路线的“一带一路”计划正在制造地缘政治压力，这些国家越来越担心会变得过度依赖中国。
Kazakhstan has limited Chinese investment and immigration for fear of being overwhelmed. Kyrgyzstan has pursued warmer relations with	哈萨克斯坦担心自己难以招架，对中国投资和移民进行了限制。吉尔吉斯斯坦希望增进与俄罗斯的关系，用来平衡北京的影响力。

Moscow as a balance to Beijing.
With the missile deal, Turkey was turning toward China partly to reduce its reliance on NATO. "Our national interest and NATO's may not be the same for some actions," said Ismail Demir, Turkey's under secretary for national defense.	通过该导弹协议，土耳其是在转向中国。这在一定程度上是为了减少对北约的依赖。“在一些行动上，我们的国家利益和北约的利益可能不一致，”土耳其国防部副部长伊斯梅尔·德米尔 (Ismail Demir) 说。
But the deal immediately raised red flags in the West.	但协议立即遭到了西方的反对。
Besides the technology issues, the Chinese supplier, the China National Precision Machinery Import and Export Corporation, was the target of Western sanctions for providing ballistic missile technology to Iran, North Korea, Pakistan and Syria. So Turkish exports based on a partnership with China National Precision could have also been subject to sanctions.	除了技术问题，因向伊朗、朝鲜、巴基斯坦和叙利亚提供弹道导弹技术，这家名为中国精密机械进出口有限公司的供应商是西方的制裁对象。因此，在和该公司合作的基础上进行的土耳其出口可能也会受到制裁。
Complicating matters, China and Russia are close allies on many issues. Russia is especially distrusted here because of its military intervention in Syria and its annexation of Crimea from Ukraine. And Turkey had been a close American ally ever since it sent a large contingent of troops to fight North Korea and China during the Korean War.	让情况愈发复杂的是，中国在很多问题上都是俄罗斯的亲密盟友。但在这里，因为入侵叙利亚并从乌克兰夺去了克里米亚，俄罗斯特别不得土耳其的信任。而且自从在朝鲜战争期间派遣一支庞大的军队同朝鲜和中国作战之后，土耳其一直是美国的亲密盟友。
The Chinese missile project "was one of the things that really made people say "Turkey is shifting, wow,"" said Mehmet Soylemez, an Asian studies specialist at the Institute for Social and Political Researches, an independent research group in Ankara. "China wants to remake the global financial and economic structure."	涉及中国的导弹项目“确实是一件让人惊呼‘土耳其在转变’的事情”，位于安卡拉的独立研究机构社会政治研究所 (Institute for Social and Political Researches) 亚洲问题专家穆罕默德·索伊莱梅兹 (Mehmet Soylemez) 说。“中国想重塑全球金融和经济结构。”
With its wealth and markets, China is a tantalizing partner.	凭借其财富和市场，中国是一个令人垂涎的合作伙伴。
Many countries along the former Silk Road are frustrated by the difficulty of developing closer economic ties to the European Union.	丝绸之路沿途的很多国家，都恼于难以同欧盟发展更紧密的经济往来。而且它们担心，美国主导的大型地区性贸易协议“跨太平洋伙伴关系协定” (Trans

And they are alarmed that the American-led Trans-Pacific Partnership, a major regional trade deal, could give an edge to Malaysia and Vietnam.	Pacific Partnership, 简称 TPP)可能会让马来西亚和越南占据优势。
"So many years, we have been kept waiting at the edge of the E.U., and people are losing hope," said Sahin Saylik, the general manager of Kirpart Otomotiv, a large Turkish auto parts manufacturer. "Turkey is not in the Trans-Pacific Partnership and problems in the Arab world are pushing Turkey to have other alternatives."	"这么多年了, 我们一直徘徊在欧盟大门口, 大家都快不抱希望了,"沙欣·塞利克(Sahin Saylik) 说。他是土耳其大型汽车配件生产商科派公司(Kirpart Otomotiv)的总经理。"土耳其没有加入 TPP, 阿拉伯世界的各种问题又迫使土耳其做出其他选择。"
But the relationship with China is lopsided. Turkey imports $25 billion a year worth of goods from China, while exporting only $3 billion there.	然而, 与中国的关系是一边倒的。土耳其每年从中国进口价值 250 亿美元的商品, 而出口却仅有 30 亿美元。
In Turkey, stores are full of Chinese goods, from vacuum cleaners to tableware. Chinese companies have purchased coal and marble mines, as well as a 65 percent stake in Turkey's third-largest container port. China is helping build nearly a dozen rail lines, and it is already a military supplier, selling lower-tech battlefield rockets to Turkey.	在土耳其, 商店里充满了从吸尘器到餐具在内的各种中国商品。中国公司购买了土耳其的多座煤矿和大理石矿, 并且拥有土耳其第三大集装箱码头 65% 的股份。中国在帮助建设十几条铁路, 并且已是土耳其的军火供应商, 在向其出售技术含量较低的火箭弹。
Companies are increasingly turning to China for cost reasons, buying components or importing fully assembled products. Arzum, one of Turkey's best-known appliance manufacturers, did the engineering and marketing for its popular new Okka single-cup Turkish coffee brewers locally. But the brewers are manufactured in southeastern China.	出于成本方面的考虑, 越来越多的公司转向中国购买零部件或进口成品。Arzum 是土耳其著名的家电生产商, 它在本地设计和推广其热销的新款 Okka 单杯土耳其咖啡机。但是, 这些咖啡机是在中国华南地区制造的。
"Ten years ago, Turkey didn't exactly see the threat of China for manufacturing," said T. Murat Kolbasi, Arzum's chairman. "The threat has to be changed to the opportunity."	"十年前, 土耳其并没有看到中国制造业的威胁。"Arzum 董事长 T·穆拉特·科尔巴希(T. Murat Kolbasi)说。"威胁必须转变成机遇。"
Chinese companies can quickly sever ties as well.	中国公司也可能会迅速地断绝关系。
The state-controlled China Machinery Engineering Corporation	国有企业中国机械设备工程股份有限公司突然退出了一项 3.846 亿美元的交

abruptly backed out of a $384.6 million deal to buy a 75 percent stake in the electricity grid of Eskisehir and nearby provinces in Turkey. It happened days after national elections in Turkey last June cast uncertainty on the future of the industry's regulations.	易，不再购买土耳其埃斯基谢希尔及周边几个省份电网 75%的股份。土耳其今年 6 月的全国选举对电力行业未来的监管带来了不确定性，而退出一事就发生在选举之后几天之内。
China Machinery provided no official reason to Turkish Electricity for canceling the deal. The Chinese company declined to comment.	这家中国公司没有向土耳其电力(Turkish Electricity)提供取消交易的官方原因，并拒绝就此事置评。
The Turkish Electricity Distribution Company, a nationwide grid company, is suing the Chinese company in an effort to collect a breakup fee. Mukremin Cepni, chief executive of Turkish Electricity, said that he had worked 18 months on the Eskisehir deal and was unenthusiastic about any more tie-ups with China.	全国性的电网企业“土耳其配电公司”(Turkish Electricity Distribution Company)正起诉这家中国公司，以期获得违约赔偿。土耳其电力公司首席执行官穆克雷米·塞帕尼(Mukremin Cepni)表示，他为埃斯基谢希尔的项目工作了 18 个月，如今对与中国的合作不再抱有热情。
"I won't think well of them, because personally I struggled a lot, and their going away without giving any reason exhausted us," said Mr. Cepni.	"我不会对他们有好感，因为我个人投入了很多，他们的不告而别耗尽了我们的热情，"塞帕尼说。
Ethnic issues have further complicated China's relations. Many countries in the region are Muslim, and versions of Turkish are spoken in more than a dozen countries, partly a legacy of the Ottoman Empire.	民族问题使得与中国的关系进一步复杂化。该地区的许多国家信奉伊斯兰教，有十几个国家说不同版本的土耳其语言，有一部分是因为受到当年奥斯曼帝国的影响。
That history has fanned regional tensions over Beijing's stringent policies toward the Uighurs, Muslims in China's Xinjiang Province who speak a Turkic language. Beijing has blamed Uighurs for a series of attacks on Han Chinese from eastern China.	在这种历史背景下，北京当局对新疆说突厥语族语言的维吾尔穆斯林执行的严苛政策加剧了该地区的紧张局势。北京谴责维吾尔人对中国腹地的汉人进行了一系列攻击。
When China suppressed Uighur protests in 2009, Recep Tayyip Erdogan, the Turkish prime minister at the time, condemned the actions as "a kind of genocide." Last July, Turks and Uighurs held two rounds of protests in Istanbul and Ankara.	2009 年中国镇压维吾尔人的抗议活动时，当时任土耳其总理的雷杰普·塔伊普·埃尔多安(Recep Tayyip Erdogan)谴责了这些行动，称之为“一种种族灭绝”。今年 7 月，土耳其人和维吾尔人在伊斯坦布尔和安卡拉进行了两轮抗议活动。

Now the president of Turkey, Mr. Erdogan is prioritizing ties with China. He calmed the anti-Chinese protests last summer by urging his countrymen to be wary of rumors on social media about China's treatment of the Uighurs.	而现在，作为土耳其总统的埃尔多安却将与中国的关系视作重中之重。他平息了今夏的反华抗议，呼吁国人警惕社交媒体上有关中国如何对待维吾尔人的传闻。
Nationalistic Turkish groups like Anatolia Youth, previously outspoken about the Uighurs, have responded by softening their stance toward China. Mahmut Temelli, the chairman of Anatolia Youth's foreign relations council, said that he believed that on missiles, "the bid should have remained with China."	之前曾力挺维吾尔人的一些土耳其民族主义团体，比如安纳托利亚青年团 (Anatolia Youth)，做出了响应，软化了对中国的立场。该团体的外交关系委员会主席马哈茂德·泰梅尔利 (Mahmut Temelli) 表示，他认为，在导弹问题上，“应该保持与中国的合作。”
The missiles became an international issue two years ago, when Turkey's defense ministry announced it favored a Chinese bid. It beat out an American offer to sell fully built Patriot missiles, as well as similar deals with Western Europe and Russia.	两年前，导弹一事成为了国际议题，当时土耳其国防部宣布倾向于接受中国的投标。这击败了来自美国的出售成套爱国者导弹的投标，以及西欧和俄罗斯的类似提议。
Turkey wanted to churn out missiles, potentially for export in a few years, and to stop relying on NATO's occasional deployments of Patriots. "You cannot protect a 911-kilometer border just with Patriots," said Merve Seren, a security specialist at the Foundation for Political, Economic and Social Research, a pro-government public policy group in Ankara.	土耳其希望大量生产导弹，也许几年后还能出口，不再依赖北约偶尔部署的爱国者。“只用爱国者导弹保卫不了 911 公里的边界线，”梅尔韦·塞伦 (Merve Seren) 说。他是安卡拉一家亲政府的公共政策团体“政治、经济与社会研究基金会” (Foundation for Political, Economic and Social Research) 的安全专家。
And F-16 fighters, like the two that shot down the Russian warplane, cannot be on patrol continuously, Mr. Demir, the defense undersecretary, said. Missile systems can be ready around the clock.	土耳其国防部副部长德米尔认为，F-16 战斗机——像击落俄罗斯战机的那两架——无法连续巡逻，而导弹系统可以全天待命。
As the Syrian conflict worsened, NATO's limited supply of Patriot missiles meant that it sent only enough to protect three Turkish cities. NATO had begun to withdraw them when the Russian warplane was	随着叙利亚冲突的恶化，北约有限的爱国者导弹供应意味着，这些部署的导弹仅够保护三座土耳其城市。而且，在俄罗斯战机被击落后，北约还开始撤回这些导弹。

shot down.
“NATO’s deployment of air defense systems is on and off,” Mr. Demir said, just hours after the the episode with the Russian warplane, videos of which played on the television in the background. “I don’t know if it if gives a message that your partners can rely on.”	“北约的防空系统部署时断时续，”德米尔说，仅在土耳其与俄罗斯战机事件之后的几个小时，视频在电视上播放，充当背景。“我不知道它是否在给出伙伴可以依靠的讯息。”
But Turkey had a huge blind spot with the missile project.	不过，土耳其的导弹计划中有一个巨大的盲点。
Turkish military analysts compared on a long list of variables, like missile range and the willingness to share technology and manufacturing. The analysis was approved by a committee including the defense minister, generals and Mr. Erdogan, Mr. Demir said.	土耳其的军事分析师比较了一系列变量，如导弹射程以及分享技术和合作制造的意愿等。德米尔称，该分析报告获得了由国防部长、军队将领和总统本人组成的一个委员会的批准。
But nobody consulted the foreign ministry on how Turkey’s allies would react, partly because NATO had already tolerated Greece’s acquisition of Russian air defense missiles from Cyprus. “They were informed after the process was completed,” Mr. Demir said. “It was not treated as a special project that will have a lot of political results.”	但是，没有人向外交部咨询土耳其的盟友会有什么反应，其中部分原因是，北约容忍了希腊通过塞浦路斯购买俄罗斯的防空导弹。德米尔说，“他们在事情完成后才得到通知。此事并没有被当成会有诸多政治后果的特殊计划。”
Within days of the announcement about China’s leading bid, NATO organized a campaign to overturn the decision. President Obama, Western European heads of state and top NATO commanders contacted Turkish leaders.	在宣布中国在竞标中领先后，几天之内，北约便组织了意在推翻该决定的行动。美国总统奥巴马、西欧各国领导人以及北约的主要指挥官轮番与土耳其领导人接触。
NATO officials have been cautious, saying any country has a right to choose its own equipment. But they have publicly expressed concern that Chinese missiles might not be compatible with NATO equipment – and privately that they were loath to share technical details to make compatibility possible.	北约官员一直出言谨慎，声称任何国家都有权选择自己的装备。但是，在公开场合，他们表示担心中国的导弹可能与北约的装备不兼容——而在私下里，他们也不愿分享技术细节以实现这种兼容。
Last month, Turkey opted to go ahead on its own. It will probably	上月，土耳其选择了自行完成部署计划。它很可能会将一些零部件转包给海

subcontract some components to foreign manufacturers, possibly China National Precision.	外生产商，其中或许就包括中国精密机械进出口有限公司。
An engraved metal plate from China National Precision in a polished rosewood box still sat on a shelf outside Mr. Demir's office the morning the Russian warplane was shot down. Hours of negotiating with Chinese arms makers has forged a relationship that will make future military cooperation easier, Mr. Demir said.	在俄罗斯战机被击落的那个上午，在德米尔办公室外面的书架上，放着一块雕刻的金属板。这块装在精美的黄檀木盒中的金属板就来自这家中国精密机械公司。德米尔表示，经过与中国军火商无数个小时的谈判，双方缔结的关系将使今后的军事合作变得更加方便。
"There is a value," he said, "in the time we have spent with these companies."	"我们花时间与这些公司交涉是有价值的，"他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151225/c25chinadefense	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151225/c25chinadefense
Iraqi Forces Retake Center of Ramadi From ISIS	ISIS 连续遇挫，伊拉克军队收复重镇拉马迪
BAGHDAD — Breaking a seven-month occupation by the Islamic State, Iraqi troops on Monday retook most of Ramadi, the most populous city in western Iraq, overrunning a government compound held by the terrorist group at the city center and dealing a setback to its deadly hold on large parts of the country.	巴格达——伊拉克军队在周一夺回了对拉马迪大部分区域的控制权，结束了伊斯兰国对该地长达七个月的占领。政府军在市中心攻破了由该恐怖组织控制的政府大楼，并打击了伊斯兰国对伊拉克大片区域的残暴控制。拉马迪是伊拉克西部人口最多的城市。
Iraqi soldiers continued to face stiff resistance by Islamic State fighters in several pockets, and their hold on Ramadi — achieved after a week of fierce fighting with help from American fighter jets that pounded enemy positions — remained tenuous. In Washington, Pentagon officials warned that it would be premature to declare outright victory.	在一些互不相连的小块区域，伊拉克政府军仍然面临着伊斯兰国武装分子的顽强抵抗。在美军战斗机猛攻敌军阵地的支援下，政府军经过了一周才控制拉马迪，但政府军的控制尚不稳固。在华盛顿，五角大楼的官员们警告，现在宣布完全取得胜利还为时过早。
But if the government manages to hold Ramadi, it could prove pivotal to the efforts to beat back the Islamic State in Iraq and, ultimately, to reverse the group's gains in Syria as well. The Obama administration is hoping that a victory in Ramadi also could help vindicate its strategy of	但如果政府军能够持续掌控拉马迪，对于击溃伊斯兰国在伊拉克的势力，以及最终扭转该组织在叙利亚的斩获，将是关键的一步。奥巴马政府认为，在拉马迪取得的胜利还能在一定程度上证明其策略的正确性，即主要依靠空军来支援伊拉克及其他在地面作战的盟友。

relying largely on air power to aid Iraqi and other partners fighting on the ground.
The Ramadi campaign was the latest in a string of defeats for the Islamic State, which has lost as much as 40 percent of the Iraqi territory it conquered last year. Iraq's prime minister, Haider al-Abadi, who announced the city's "liberation" on Twitter on Monday night, has vowed to now focus on recapturing Mosul, a larger city in the north that the Islamic State seized in 2014.	伊斯兰国最近遭遇了一系列挫败，拉马迪之战是最新一例。该组织已经丧失了去年夺取的伊拉克领土的40%。伊拉克总理海德尔·阿巴迪(Haider al-Abadi)周一晚间在 Twitter 上宣布该市已经获得“解放”，阿巴迪宣称，目前主要将集中力量夺回摩苏尔。这座位于伊拉克北部规模更大的城市，在2014年被伊斯兰国占领。
The battle for Ramadi, which had proceeded in fits and starts since the summer, was waged partly by Sunni tribesmen whom U.S. troops had trained to fight alongside the forces of the Shiite-dominated government. If it continues, such cooperation — a delicate alliance, given Iraq's long history of sectarian violence — could help corrode the Islamic State's claim to represent all of Sunni Islam.	从夏季以来断断续续开展的拉马迪之战，在一定程度上是由逊尼派部落成员发动的。他们接受了美军的训练，与什叶派主导的政府麾下的军队并肩作战。由于伊拉克教派之间长期存在暴力冲突，这个联盟颇为微妙。但如果合作能持续下去，就有助于驳斥伊斯兰国自称能代表伊斯兰教逊尼派的说辞。
The retaking of the city center began around 8 a.m., when government tanks and bulldozers breached the walls around the local government complex. Brig. Gen. Ahmed al-Belawi, the leader of a battalion of Sunni tribal fighters, said the remaining militants either fled or were killed. State television broadcast images of soldiers raising the Iraqi flag above the compound, and singing the national anthem. The number of casualties was unclear.	夺回市中心控制权的行动始于上午8点，当时政府军的坦克和推土机推倒了当地政府大楼周围的墙壁。逊尼派部落武装的首领艾哈迈德·贝拉维准将(Brig. Gen. Ahmed al-Belawi)表示，剩下的武装分子要么逃走要么被杀了。官方电视台播放了士兵在政府大楼上高举伊拉克国旗，唱国歌的画面。伤亡人数不详。
A military spokesman, Brig. Gen. Yahya Rasool, declared the city "liberated," but other Iraqi officials later offered more cautious assessments.	军方发言人叶海亚·拉苏尔准将(Brig. Gen. Yahya Rasool)宣布该市“获得解放”，但其他伊拉克官员后来给出了较为谨慎的评价。
By the evening, a military commander, Maj. Gen. Ismail al-Mahlawi,	到晚上，军方指挥官伊斯梅尔·马拉维少将(Maj. Gen. Ismail al-Mahlawi)估

estimated that the government controlled 75 to 80 percent of the Ramadi area. Insurgents were still in control of several suburbs.	计，政府控制了拉马迪 75%到 80%的区域。叛乱分子仍旧控制着郊区一些地带。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151229/c29iraq	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151229/c29iraq
Syrian Journalist Who Documented ISIS Atrocities Is Killed in Turkey	叙利亚记者在土耳其遭暗杀，曾拍摄反 ISIS 纪录片
ISTANBUL — A Syrian journalist and filmmaker who documented atrocities by the Islamic State in Syria and trained hundreds of citizen journalists has been killed in a Turkish town near the Syria border, rights activists said Monday, calling the death an assassination.	伊斯坦布尔——人权活动人士周一表示，一名叙利亚记者和电影人在靠近叙利亚的土耳其边境城市遭到暗杀。受害者曾记录过伊斯兰国(Islamic State)在叙利亚的暴行，并培训了数以百计的公民记者。
The killing of the journalist, Naji Jerf, in Gaziantep, Turkey, happened on Sunday, one day before he and his family were scheduled to fly to France, where they were seeking asylum. Unconfirmed news reports from Gaziantep said that he had been shot to death.	这位名为纳吉·杰夫(Naji Jerf)的记者周日在土耳其加济安泰普(Gaziantep)遇害。他和家人原定于周一飞往法国，他们正在寻求法国的庇护。从加济安泰普传来的未经证实的消息称，他在遭受枪击后身亡。
Mr. Jerf had recently posted on YouTube a documentary on the killing of Syrian activists during the Islamic State's occupation of the Syrian city of Aleppo in 2013 and 2014. It was recently broadcast by the television network Al Arabiya.	杰夫最近在 YouTube 上发布纪录片，揭露伊斯兰国在 2013 年到 2014 年占领叙利亚阿勒颇期间，杀害叙利亚活动人士的状况。阿拉伯电视台(Al Arabiya)近期播放了这部纪录片。
His death was the latest in a string of killings of activists and observers who have drawn attention to human rights abuses during the nearly five-year civil war in Syria.	叙利亚内战已经进行了将近五年，一些活动人士和观察员揭露了这期间的人权侵犯状况。目前已经有好几位这样的人士遇害，杰夫是最近的一位。
In October, Ibrahim Abdel Qader, a co-founder of Raqqa Is Being Slaughtered Silently, an acclaimed effort by citizen journalists to document Syrian human rights abuses, and an activist, Fares Hammadi, were killed in southeastern Turkey.	今年 10 月，“拉卡正被悄然屠城”(Raqqa Is Being Slaughtered Silently)的联合创始人易卜拉欣·阿卜杜勒·卡迪尔(Ibrahim Abdel Qader)，以及一位活动人士法雷斯·哈马迪(Fares Hammadi)在土耳其东南部遇害。“拉卡正被悄然屠城”是由公民记者开展的一项备受赞誉的行动，旨在记录叙利亚发生的人权侵害行为。
On Dec. 16, gunmen killed Ahmad Mohammed al-Mousa, a member of	该组织得名于叙利亚东北部城市拉卡，即伊斯兰国总部所在地。12 月 16 日，

Raqqa Is Being Slaughtered Silently, which takes its name from the northeast Syrian city of Raqqa, the Islamic State's headquarters. Mr. Mousa was killed in the Syrian city of Idlib, which is held by rebels opposed to President Bashar al-Assad. Members of the group have gone into hiding.	一些枪手在叙利亚伊德利卜市(Idlib)杀害了该组织成员艾哈迈德·穆罕默德·穆萨(Ahmad Mohammed al-Mousa)。伊德利卜由对抗总统巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar al-Assad)的反政府武装占据。“拉卡正被悄然屠城”的成员随后躲藏起来。
Mr. Jerf had directed a documentary about Raqqa Is Being Slaughtered Silently, which in November won an International Press Freedom Award from the Committee to Protect Journalists, a New York-based advocacy group.	杰夫曾执导过关于“拉卡正被悄然屠城”的纪录片,今年11月获得了保护记者委员会(Committee to Protect Journalists)颁发的国际新闻自由奖(International Press Freedom Award)。该委员会设在纽约,是一个倡导团体。
"Syrian journalists who have fled to Turkey for their safety are not safe at all," Sherif Mansour, the Middle East and North Africa program coordinator for the Committee to Protect Journalists, said in a statement. "We call on Turkish authorities to bring the killers of Naji Jerf to justice swiftly and transparently."	“逃往土耳其寻求安全的叙利亚记者,现在完全没有安全可言,”保护记者委员会的中东和北非项目协调员谢里夫·曼苏尔(Sherif Mansour)在一份声明中说。“我们呼吁土耳其当局迅速并透明地将杀害纳吉·杰夫的凶手绳之以法。”
The Turkish authorities have opened an investigation into the killing, Turkish news agencies reported.	土耳其新闻机构报道,该国当局已开始调查这起案件。
Aref Krez, a Syrian activist who had worked with Mr. Jerf and had become close to him and his family, said that Mr. Jerf had confided his fears about being killed. He had approached French officials in Turkey to discuss applying for asylum, after having received death threats from Islamic State militants via Facebook and his cellphone. "He was mostly worried about his family because he knows what he was doing and could expect the consequences," Mr. Krez said.	叙利亚活动人士阿里夫·克里兹(Aref Krez)曾与杰夫共事,并与他及其家人成为密友,他说杰夫曾透露过,担心自己会遇害。杰夫在 Facebook 和自己的手机上都收到过伊斯兰国武装分子的死亡威胁,于是找到了驻土耳其的法国官员,讨论申请庇护的事情。“他主要是担心自己的家人,因为他知道自己在做什么,也能预料到后果,”克里兹说。
Mr. Krez said Mr. Jerf had told him that he discovered a bomb in his car a month ago.	克里兹说杰夫一个月前曾告诉他,他在自己的车里发现了一枚炸弹。

"He was loved and respected by everyone," Mr. Krez said. "He had a kind heart and his door was wide open to everyone. He believed in the idea of citizen journalists and believed in what they did, so he dedicated his time to train them."	"所有人都喜爱他，尊重他，"克里兹说。"他心地善良，对每个人都敞开大门。他相信公民记者的理念，相信他们的行动，所以他花时间来培训他们。"
Mr. Jerf had encountered trouble with Mr. Assad's government for his activism. In late 2012, he was detained and tortured, then fled to Jordan and then Turkey, Mr. Krez said. Mr. Jerf was as critical of the Islamic State as he was of Mr. Assad's government.	杰夫伸张人权的行动曾遭到阿萨德政府的打压。他在 2012 年年底被政府羁押，并遭受了酷刑折磨，之后他逃往约旦，然后抵达土耳其，克里兹透露。杰夫既批评阿萨德政府，又批评伊斯兰国。
Gaziantep, about 60 miles north of Aleppo, has become one of the most favored cities for Syrian refugees fleeing the violence. Mr. Jerf's death heightened concerns about security there.	加济安泰普位于阿勒颇以北大约 100 公里，是叙利亚难民逃离暴力的首选城市之一。杰夫的死，加剧了人们对那里是否安全的顾虑。
"Gaziantep now doesn't feel safe," Mr. Krez said. Many media activists he knows, he said, have secured visas to other countries and are thinking of leaving.	"加济安泰普现在感觉并不安全，"克里兹说，他认识的很多媒体活动人士已经获得了前往其他国家的签证，正在考虑离开那里。
Mr. Krez said he was considering sending his wife and daughter out of the city for their safety.	克里兹说，他正在考虑把妻子和女儿送出该城，以确保安全。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151229/c29turkey	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151229/c29turkey
A Chinese Company in India, Stumbling Over a Culture	印度神山之侧能否容许中国建厂？
SHINDE, India — When a Chinese truck company wanted to open a factory in India, its president looked at sites that had a mountain in back and a river in front — especially auspicious locations in the traditional practice of feng shui.	印度辛德——一家中国卡车公司想在印度开工厂时，公司总裁看上了一片地皮，那里靠山临水，按照风水的讲究是特别吉利的位置。
The company, Beiqi Foton Motor, found a seemingly ideal spot, securing 250 acres of farmland in this western Indian village. Foton wants another 1,250 acres nearby to build an industrial park for	北汽福田汽车公司(Beiqi Foton Motor)找到了一个看似完美的地点，买到了印度西部这片 250 英亩(约 1 平方公里)的农田。福田希望再拿下附近 1250 英亩的土地，为供应商建一个工业园区。

suppliers.
But the mountain here is sacred to many Hindus. For at least 2,000 years, the cliffside caves have been home to generations of monks. One of the most revered Hindu saints is said to have attained a pure vision of his god during the 17th century while meditating in the highest cave overlooking what is now Foton's site.	但是对许多印度教徒来说这座山是神圣的。在至少 2000 年的时间里，峭壁上的石窟里居住过一代代的僧侣。一位很受尊敬的印度教圣人，据说在 17 世纪时清晰而真切地看到了神明，当时他就是在这里最高的洞窟中冥想，俯视着现在属于福田公司的土地。
The culture clash was immediate.	文化冲突当即出现。
Foton erected barbed-wire fences and hired uniformed guards to keep out trespassers. Cattle herders and Hindu pilgrims have repeatedly trampled the fences. The monks do not want a noisy neighbor.	福田公司架起了铁丝网，还雇佣了穿制服的保安阻挡穿行的人。放牧的人和印度教朝圣者一再踩踏栅栏。僧侣们也不想要吵闹的邻居。
"In today's life, spirituality and science are both important, and neither should deny the other," Kailash Nemade, a monk, said during a pause from chanting religious poems. "But this factory should not come here, because it will ruin the spirituality of the mountain."	"在当今的生活中，灵性和科学都重要，谁也不应该否定谁，"僧人卡拉什·尼玛德(Kailash Nemade)在诵读经文的间歇说。"但是这座工厂不应该来这里，因为它会破坏山的灵性。"
Chinese companies have embarked on ambitious overseas expansion efforts, snapping up land in dozens of countries to build factories, industrial parks, power plants and other operations. While the investments provide critical support for many economies, Chinese businesses are struggling to navigate complex cultural, political and competitive dynamics.	中国公司已经开始了雄心勃勃海外扩张的努力，在几十个国家抢购土地，修建工厂、工业园区、发电厂和其他设施。虽然投资对于支撑许多经济体起到关键作用，但中国企业在复杂的文化、政治和竞争形势中寻找方向，却举步维艰。
China's economic slowdown this year, along with a stock market plunge and a currency devaluation, have not deterred the country's companies. Many have accelerated their global shifts as their home market becomes less attractive.	中国经济今年的放缓，还有股市暴跌及货币贬值，都未能阻止中国公司。许多企业因为国内市场吸引力下降，加速了向全球的转移。
But Chinese enterprises lack the experience of their Western	但是中国企业缺乏西方同行的经验，后者花了几十年的时间发展国际业务。

counterparts, which have spent decades developing international operations. As Chinese companies have built their businesses largely at home, they haven't had to address the same challenges.	而由于中国企业大部分的业务都在国内，此前并不需要应对相同的挑战。
In China, companies with strong Communist Party connections can bulldoze communities and religious sites. The Chinese government bans independent labor unions. While strikes and other labor protests are becoming more common, they are quickly squelched by the government if they show signs of spreading.	在中国，与中国共产党关系密切的公司，可以铲平居民区和宗教场所。中国政府禁止独立工会。虽然罢工和其他劳工抗议变得越来越普遍，但如果有蔓延的迹象，很快就会被政府压制。
As Chinese companies now venture overseas, they are dealing with a wave of resistance.	随着中国企业现在开始涉足海外，它们要应对一波阻力。
In Africa, workers at Chinese-run oil fields and copper mines have gone on strike over low pay and dangerous working conditions. The Myanmar government halted China's construction of a hydroelectric dam there after protests over environmental damage and the displacement of villagers. And in Nicaragua, residents have resisted the planned resettlement of villages to make way for a canal proposed by a Chinese businessman.	在非洲，中国人开的油田和铜矿的工人，因为工资低和工作条件危险举行了罢工。在缅甸，民众抗议一座水电站破坏环境、迫使村民流离失所，之后政府终止了水电站的建设。而在尼加拉瓜，一名中国商人提议修建一条运河，为了给运河让路，计划对数座村庄进行重新安置，但当地居民对此进行了抵制。
In India, Foton's experience provides a look into the internal struggle that countries face.	在印度，福田公司的经历让我们窥见了各个国家内部面临的挣扎。
India desperately needs outside investment to support the 13 million young people entering its labor force every year and to begin relieving chronic unemployment in its countryside. Indian and Western factories within a few miles of Foton's site have created thousands of jobs.	印度迫切需要外部投资，来为该国每年增加的1300万年轻劳动力大军提供工作机会，并着手缓解农村地区长期的失业问题。距福田公司的工地几英里外的印度工厂和西方工厂，已经创造了数以千计的就业岗位。
Western companies have tried to tread more carefully in India, in some cases learning from past mistakes. They have worked closely with	西方企业在涉足印度市场时，都努力采取了更加谨慎的态度，有些还从过去的错误中吸取了教训。他们与当地社区紧密合作，向居民们介绍自己的项目。

communities, explaining their projects to residents. The companies have typically sent teams of executives, often with overseas experience.	这些公司通常会派出由高管组成的团队，这些高管一般都有海外工作经验。
Foton strongly defends its plans. The company says that its plant and supplier park will create a much-needed economic boost.	福田非常看好其计划。该公司声称，其工厂和供应商园区，将带来迫切需要的经济助推。
"Because of these projects, the employment of thousands of people, even tens of thousands, will be accomplished," said Zhao Jingguang, Foton's executive vice president.	"因为这些项目，可以令数千乃至数万人实现就业，"福田汽车副总裁赵景光表示。
But Foton keeps revising production plans and delaying construction. With the project stalled, the promised jobs have not materialized.	但是，福田在不断地调整其生产计划，建设也受到拖延。由于项目停滞，承诺的工作岗位没有兑现。
Foton's corporate style has also caused friction. It managed the project mainly from Beijing, sending executives to India for two-week visits. When Foton's Indian managers needed to work with the main office, they sat through videoconferences that lasted hours.	福田的企业经营风格也造成了摩擦。公司对该项目管理主要通过北京进行，他们会派遣一些高管，到印度进行为期两周的访问。当福田的印度经理们需要与总部共同开展工作时，要坐下来开长达数小时的视频会议。
Mr. Zhao denies that the company picked the location for its feng shui, which the Chinese government condemns as superstition. Still, he acknowledged that "there is a river, should be good feng shui."	赵景光否认公司选择该地块是因为风水，中国政府称风水是迷信。不过，他承认，"有条河，风水应该不错。"
But the land deal has been less than harmonious.	但是，土地交易过程并不那么和谐。
Regulations mandate that factories be located at least 500 meters from temples, preventing construction on half of Foton's site. A state agency also reserved land for a 15-yard-wide dirt access road to help pilgrims reach a footpath to the caves.	当地法规要求工厂至少要距离寺庙 500 米，这使得福田的地块有一半不能施工。一个政府机构还保留了一条约 14 米宽土路，供信众们前往通向石窟的步道。
Despite Foton's efforts, many villagers and monks say the factory would still be too close. Pilgrims, who can number over 5,000 during religious festivals, would have only a half-acre site to pitch their tents.	尽管福田做了许多工作，许多村民和僧人仍然认为工厂离得太近了。在宗教节日期间，信众人数可能会超过 5000 人，但却只有约 2000 平方米的场地可以搭建帐篷。
Sitting cross-legged in a pink-painted cave, the monks' leader, a Hindu	僧侣的首领是一位名叫维什瓦纳特·马哈拉吉(Vishwanath Maharaj)的印度

holy man named Vishwanath Maharaj, listened closely when asked for his view on Foton's plans. But he merely gave a slight smile and shrugged his shoulders, preserving his 35-year vow of silence.	教圣人，他盘腿安坐在涂成粉红色的洞窟中，在被问及他对福田公司建设计划的想法时，他细心聆听。但是，他只是微微一笑，耸了耸肩膀，坚守其35年的不语戒。
When President Xi Jinping of China arrived in India a year ago for a visit, he was welcomed at each stop by gleaming military honor guards, including a row of turbaned cavalry lancers on horseback.	一年前中国国家主席习近平访问印度时，在每一站都受到了仪仗队的列队欢迎，其中还有一排包着头巾手持长矛的骑兵。
Mr. Xi and his host, Prime Minister Narendra Modi of India, smiled as a succession of deputies and executives exchanged more than a dozen commercial and cultural agreements with one another. One of the agreements called for the creation of the supplier park, where Foton would rent out space to Chinese parts manufacturers.	习近平和东道主印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)，微笑地看着一群副手和高管互相交换了十几项商业和文化方面的协议。其中的一项协议要求建造一个供应商园区；福田公司将在这个园区里，向中资零部件制造商出租厂房。
China and India both want to strengthen their economic ties, even as their militaries remain wary of each other. The $300 million Foton project, including the plant and the industrial park, is one of China's largest investments in India.	中国和印度都希望加强经济联系，尽管两国的军队仍然互相警惕。福田公司包括工厂和工业园区在内的3亿美元的项目，是中国在印度最大的投资之一。
"Your vision cannot be too small," Mr. Zhao said. "Nowadays, people say you must have an international vision."	"眼界不能太窄，"赵景光表示。"当今时代，人们都说必须要有国际化的视野。"
Following the lead of the United States, Japan, Europe and other big economies, Chinese companies are diversifying overseas to find new customers, markets and opportunities.	在美国、日本、欧洲及其他大型经济体的带领下，中国企业也在进军海外，寻找新的客户、市场和机遇。
A decade ago, China's overseas purchases of companies, land, equipment and other physical assets totaled just $20 billion a year. Last year, China's total was $120 billion. It trails only the United States, and American overseas investments have been heavily aimed at limiting taxes.	10年前，中国每年在海外购买的公司、土地、设备和其他实物资产的总价值仅为200亿美元。而去年，这个数字已经达到了1200亿美元，规模仅次于美国。美国的海外投资中，很多是为了避税。

Pune and its environs have long been a hub of foreign investment, tracing their industrial roots to a munitions factory built in 1869 under British rule. Big assembly plants now churn out Chevrolets, Mercedes, Mahindras and other cars. A Corning plant makes fiber-optic cables. A General Electric factory creates wind turbines.	长期以来，浦那及其周边地区一直是外国投资的中心。它们的工业基础可追溯至 1869 年修建的一座兵工厂，当时还处在英国的统治下。如今，这里有大量雪佛兰(Chevrolets)、梅赛德斯(Mercedes)、马恒达(Mahindras)和其他汽车被运出规模庞大的组装厂。康宁(Corning)在这里有一家生产光纤电缆的工厂。通用电气(General Electric)也开设了一家制造风力发电机的工厂。
For Foton, India offered cheaper labor than its home country and a strong market for its products. India's position between Southeast Asia and Africa provided a natural hub to supply other developing markets as well.	对福田来说，印度劳动力成本比中国低，并为其产品提供了一个蓬勃的市场。同时，印度地处东南亚和非洲之间，是一个天然的枢纽，可用来向其他发展中国家供货。
Even without the supplier park, Foton has leased the biggest site in the area, 250 acres, for 95 years. Corning, G.E. and others nearby have less than 100 acres apiece for their factories. A Bridgestone tire factory occupies 185 acres.	虽然没有供应商园，福田仍租下了该地区 250 英亩（约合 1520 亩）的最大地块，租期 95 年。康宁、通用电气和附近其他企业的工厂各自占地都不到 100 英亩。普利司通(Bridgestone)的一座轮胎厂占地 185 英亩。
In Shinde, speculators have bid up the price of land, expecting that the state government will buy it and lease it to Foton. But many villagers are opposed to selling, since the deal would eliminate much of the farmland that is left.	在辛德，投机者抬高地价，以为邦政府会买地并将其租给福田。但很多村民反对卖地，因为卖地协议会导致剩下的很多农田消失。
Kaluram Kendale, who grows onions and raises buffalos, does not want to sell. He is upset that the state government already forced him to sell five of the 12 acres that his family farmed for generations.	以种洋葱、养水牛为生的卡卢拉姆·肯达勒(Kaluram Kendale)就不想卖地。他感到不安，因为邦政府之前就已经逼他把家里世代耕种的 12 英亩地中的五英亩卖掉了。
"If I sell the land, it's one-time money," he said. "But my land is beautiful, it's fertile, and it's a permanent source of income for my family."	"卖地带来的收入只是一时的，"他说。"但我的地美丽、富饶，是我家的永久收入来源。"
Chhaya Shinde, who grew up in a mud-walled sharecropper's cabin with dirt floors, was a star student, learning to read and write Hindi and Marathi, the local tongue.	查亚·辛德(Chhaya Shinde)在一间佃农住的小屋里长大。小屋的墙和地面都是泥的。在学习读写印地语和当地的语言马拉地语方面，辛德是一名优等生。

Her father, unlike most in her impoverished hamlet, wanted his daughter to get an education. He paid $16 a year for Ms. Shinde to attend a school in a nearby village. She dreamed of becoming a social worker to help the elderly.	不同于那个贫穷村子里的大部分人，她的父亲希望女儿接受教育。他每年花16美元让女儿去邻村上学。辛德梦想着成为一名社工，帮助上了年纪的人。
Ms. Shinde's education ended after Foton came to town.	福田来了后，辛德的学业戛然而止。
While landowners got paid for their fields, sharecroppers got nothing. Ms. Shinde's father, a millet farmer, lost much of his income. Ms. Shinde had to drop out of school a year ago.	土地的所有人收到了钱，但佃农什么都没得到。作为一个种杂谷的农民，辛德的父亲失去了大量收入。一年前，她不得不辍学。
"I had no money," said a tearful Ms. Shinde, 18. "I was at home, so I had to be married off."	"我没钱，"18岁的辛德泪眼婆娑地说。"我待在家里，所以不得不被嫁出去。"
Since the arrival of Foton, the gulf between the rich and the poor here has widened.	自从福田来了以后，这里的贫富悬殊扩大了。
The Panmands, who owned the land where Ms. Shinde's family farmed, sold half of their 58 acres for the Foton factory and two other factories. With the proceeds, they built a 10-bedroom villa with a large courtyard and a fish pond.	辛德一家种的地是潘曼德家的。潘曼德家原本有58英亩地，现在一半的地卖给了福田和另外两家工厂。他们用卖地的收入建了一栋有10个卧室、一个大院子和一个鱼塘的别墅。
"For people who are rich, it's beneficial because they can buy a lot of things," said Vijay Panmand, 28. "But for the poor, it is not good. Where will they work?"	"对有钱人有利，因为他们能买很多东西，"28岁的维贾伊·潘曼德(Vijay Panmand)说。"但对穷人没有好处。他们要去哪儿工作？"
When Suresh Ghanwat sold land, he invested a portion of the money in a three-story apartment building, renting out the top and bottom floors. He also set up a concrete-block business, producing a daily profit of $80.	苏雷什·甘瓦特(Suresh Ghanwat)出售土地后，用部分钱盖了一栋三层住宅，并将顶层和底层出租。他还开始做混凝土砖生意，每天可以赚80美元。
But many families are like Ms. Shinde's, trying to survive in cramped, dark cabins.	但很多像辛德家一样的家庭都试图在狭窄、黑暗的小屋里存活。

Indian laws on land deals are fairly generous by developing-country standards, calling for compensation for tenant farmers and sharecroppers. But to qualify, they need to live on the land or record the arrangement in official logs. Ms. Shinde's family did neither.	以发展中国家的标准来看，印度的土地交易法相当慷慨，要求为佃农提供赔偿。但要想具有赔偿资格，他们需要居住在这片土地或将这种协议记入官方记录。辛德家两点都不符合。
Ms. Shinde, who wears a pair of simple barrettes to hold back her dark hair and slim golden bangles that encircle each wrist and ankle, now labors part time on one of the Panmand family's remaining fields.	辛德用一对简单的发夹夹住一头黑发，每个手腕和脚腕都戴着纤细的金镯子，她目前兼职在潘曼德家剩下的某一块田地里劳作。
"I wish they had never come here," she said of Foton, wielding a hand-held scythe to cut pearl millet. "Those who were rich became richer, and the poor, poorer."	"我希望他们从未来过这里，"她提到福田汽车时说，一边说一边挥舞着长柄大镰刀收割御谷。"富人越来越富，穷人越来越穷。"
When Foton acquired the land here three years ago, young babul trees sprouted as soon as the farmers left. Today, Foton's site has roughly 12,000 full-grown babul trees, a widely loathed plant with two-inch thorns.	福田汽车公司三年前收购了这里的土地，农民们刚离开，幼小的巴布尔橡胶树就发芽了。如今，福田工厂所在的地方已经拥有大约 1.2 万棵完全长成的巴布尔橡胶树，人们都很厌恶这种带有两英寸（约合 5 厘米）长的刺的植物。
Their height, up to 10 feet, brings a tree preservation ordinance into play. When Foton eventually starts building, it will have to get permission from the forestry ministry to cut the trees down.	这些树木最高达到 10 英尺（约合 3 米），促使相关部门实施树木保护条例。当福田公司最终开始建厂时，该公司将需要获得林业部的许可，才能砍树。
As the babul trees flourish, Foton's leadership has agonized over what to build, according to five former executives. The original plan called for welding, assembling and painting heavy-duty trucks.	据福田公司的五名前管理人员透露，随着巴布尔橡胶树的繁茂生长，福田公司的领导层在苦苦思索该建什么。最初的计划是打算在这里建厂用于重型卡车的焊接、组装和涂漆。
The plan shifted to building delivery trucks, and then to assembling sport utility vehicles and cars. In that time, Foton's Indian operation has had four chairmen and at least three executive vice presidents.	计划变成建造了运货卡车，然后是组装运动型多功能车和小汽车。当时，福田的印度公司设有四名董事长，至少三名执行副总裁。
Mr. Zhao of Foton said the company hoped to start building the factory at the end of this year, or early next. The first vehicle most likely will not	福田公司的赵景光表示，该公司希望从今年年末或明年初开始建造工厂。可能至少要到 2017 年才能出产第一辆汽车。 roll off the factory line until at least 2017.

The supplier park looks less certain.	供应商园的选址看起来没那么确定。
Both the Beijing government and the New Delhi establishment regard the deal as important. But Foton did not enlist the support of local bureaucrats, and a civil servant in Mumbai could ultimately derail the project.	北京政府和新德里的相关机构都认为这是一项十分重要的交易。但福田公司没有争取获得当地官员的支持，最终，孟买的一名公务员就可以阻拦这个项目。
The state land agency, the Maharashtra Industrial Development Corporation, has to approve the deal. And the agency's chief executive, Bhushan Gagrani, has resisted, citing a dearth of farmland and earlier disputes with families like the Ghanwats. He wants to steer the supplier park farther inland, where unemployment is more acute and farmland abundantly available.	该邦土地管理机构——马哈拉施特拉邦工业发展委员会(Maharashtra Industrial Development Corporation)需要批准这项交易。该委员会的负责人布尚·盖格拉尼(Bhushan Gagrani)以缺少农田，以及之前与甘瓦特家等家庭发生的争议为由拒绝批准。他希望将供应商园引入内陆，那里的失业情况比较严重，但有大量可以利用的农田。
But the alternative sites would require supply trucks to haul parts for several hours. Foton, Mr. Gagrani said, did not send anyone even to look at them.	但在别的地点开设园区将需要补给车行驶几个小时运送零部件。盖格拉尼表示，福田公司甚至没有派人来察看这些场地。
The Indian prime minister, accompanied by an entourage that included Mr. Gagrani, traveled to China in mid-May. Chinese officials pressed the case for the Foton supplier park again.	今年5月中旬，印度总理在盖格拉尼等人的陪同下前往中国。中国官员再次就福田供应园事宜施压。
But a deal may not be possible now.	但现在或许不太可能达成协议。
Foxconn, the Taiwanese contract manufacturer, has decided to build a mobile phone factory nearby. Foxconn negotiated its deal directly with the state government.	台湾代工厂富士康(Foxconn)决定在附近建造一个手机工厂。富士康直接与该邦政府谈判达成交易。
"Any land left," Mr. Gagrani said, "we are giving to Foxconn."	"所有剩下的土地，我们都会留给富士康，"盖格拉尼说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151230/c30chinaland	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151230/c30chinaland
'Victory' in Guinea as W.H.O. Deems It Free of Ebola Transmissions	世卫组织宣布几内亚埃博拉疫情结束

The World Health Organization announced Tuesday morning that Guinea was free of Ebola virus transmission for the first time since the epidemic was detected there in March 2014.	世界卫生组织于周二上午宣布，自从几内亚在 2014 年 3 月发现埃博拉疫情以来，该国首次结束了埃博拉病毒的传播。
All three of the West African countries hardest hit by the epidemic — Guinea, Liberia and Sierra Leone — have now documented stopping the original chain of infections that experts believe began in December 2013 with the undiagnosed illness of a young boy, Emile, in the village of Meliandou in Guinea’s forest region.	三个埃博拉疫情严重的西非国家——几内亚、利比里亚和塞拉利昂——目前的记录都表明它们已经终止了最初的传染链，专家们认为这个传播链始于 2013 年 12 月，当时小男孩埃米尔(Emile)的疾病未得到确诊，他生前住在几内亚森林地区的墨利安杜村。
“This is a very big victory for the nation and the people of Guinea,” said Fode Tass Sylla, a spokesman for the country’s Ebola task force. He thanked other countries, the health organization and private charities for their support.	“这对几内亚国家和人民来说是一个非常大的胜利，”几内亚抗击埃博拉行动发言人福德·塔斯·塞拉(Fode Tass Sylla)说。他对其他国家、世界卫生组织，以及私人慈善机构的支持表示感谢。
Two 21-day incubation cycles of the virus have passed since the last person in Guinea with the illness, a 3-week-old girl, twice tested negative for the virus. The country now enters a three-month period of heightened surveillance during which the virus could re-emerge, as it has done twice in neighboring Liberia after that country ended transmission. (In mid-January, human-to-human transmission linked to those cases could be declared ended.)	几内亚的最后一位埃博拉患者是一个 3 周大的女婴，自从她的两次病毒检测均呈阴性之后，两个潜伏期已经过去，埃博拉病毒的潜伏期是 21 天。目前，几内亚全国进入了三个月的高度监测期，其间病毒可能会复发。这种情况曾在邻国利比里亚发生，埃博拉病毒曾在利比亚结束传播后两度再现。（明年 1 月中旬可能会宣布与这些重现病毒有关的，人与人交叉传播的传染链的结束。）
“We will continue to monitor the situation,” Guinea’s minister of health, Col. Rémy Lamah, a physician, said in a telephone interview. “I congratulate everybody who participated in the fight against Ebola.”	“我们将继续监视有关情况，”几内亚卫生部长、医生雷米·拉马上校在接受电话采访时说。“我向所有参加抗击埃博拉病毒的人表示祝贺。”
The epidemic killed more than 11,000 people and sickened more than 28,000 across 10 countries, according to estimates released by the World Health Organization. Responders initially failed to recognize the	据世界卫生组织发布的估计，这次埃博拉病毒爆发导致 11 万以上的人死亡，并在 10 个国家导致逾 28 万人患病。流行性疾病的应对者最初没有意识到这次病毒爆发的范围和危险程度，让病毒得以迅速跨国界传播，在世界各地引

extent and danger of the outbreak, which quickly crossed borders and inspired fear all over the world.	起恐慌。
Since then, local, regional and international efforts have been made to end the outbreak.	自那以后，为结束这次爆发，地方、区域和国际社会做出了大量努力。
"It's important to take a pause and be thankful for where we've arrived at and get to work rebuilding that health system and making it more resilient for the future," said Dr. Rick Brennan, director of Ebola response and coordination at the health organization's headquarters in Geneva.	"停顿一下，为我们目前的成就感到欣慰，并让我们开始重建该卫生系统，使其在未来适应性更强，是很重要的，"主管埃博拉病毒协调响应的瑞克·布伦南(Rick Brennan)博士在日内瓦世界卫生组织总部说。
The Guinean government announced plans for a celebration with well-known musicians on Wednesday in Conakry, the capital, although some residents said that the country should instead focus on prayer and mourning the dead. Some Guineans expressed hope that the declaration would lead to a resumption of international trade and travel.	几内亚政府宣布了周三在首都科纳克里举行有知名歌手参加的庆祝活动的计划，但也有一些居民表示，国家应该把精力集中在祈祷和哀悼死者上。有些几内亚人对这一宣布将有助于恢复国际贸易和旅游表达了希望。
"I think now I will get my visa to go to China to buy my goods," said Dian Diallo, a food importer working in the vast Madina market in Conakry.	"我想，我现在能拿到签证去中国购买货物了，"在科纳克里巨大的马迪纳市场工作的食品进口商迪安·迪亚洛(Dian Diallo)说。
"I did not go to hajj this year, and I hope to go to Mecca in 2016 if there is no Ebola," Mr. Diallo said.	迪亚洛说，"我今年没去朝觐，如果不爆发埃博拉病毒的话，希望2016年能去麦加。"
Other Guineans, however, were still focused on what was lost. Camara Fode Abdulai, a fruit seller who survived Ebola, spoke through tears as he described the deaths of 13 members of his family from the disease. He said he worried that other countries would not act quickly enough if another outbreak emerged, adding that customers and even friends still fear coming near him. "Today, I am not doing any business," he said.	但其他几内亚人的注意力仍集中在其所失上。卖水果的卡马拉·福德·阿卜杜拉(Camara Fode Abdulai)是埃博拉病毒的幸存者，他流着泪讲述了他家死于该病的13名成员。他说他担心，如果病毒再次爆发的话，其他国家不会尽快采取行动，他还说，客户、甚至朋友仍害怕与他接近。"我今天什么生意都没有，"他说。

The World Health Organization has documented 10 episodes since March in which a flare-up of Ebola has been linked to the persistence of the virus in certain parts of survivors' bodies, including the testes. Scientific investigations pointed to sexual transmission in several cases. One baby is thought to have contracted Ebola from the breast milk of a survivor.	自今年3月以来，世界卫生组织已记录到10次埃博拉的复发，这些复发与继续存在于幸存者包括睾丸在内的身体某些部分的埃博拉病毒有关。科学研究也发现了几例通过性传播的情况。还有一个婴儿被认为是从幸存者的母乳中感染了埃博拉病毒。
Yet in other cases, how the virus re-emerged to cause illness remains a mystery. In November, two brothers and their father contracted the disease in Liberia many weeks after Ebola transmission had ended there. Genetic sequencing showed the virus in the boys to be nearly identical to a strain that had circulated in that country in August 2014, suggesting that it had come from a survivor, according to Dr. Mosoka Fallah, an Ebola response coordinator for the Liberian Ministry of Health.	然而，在许多情况下，病毒如何重新出现导致疾病仍是一个谜。今年11月，埃博拉的传播在利比里亚结束了好几周之后，两个兄弟和他们的父亲感染了病毒。据利比里亚卫生部的埃博拉响应协调员莫索卡·法拉赫(Mosoka Fallah)博士的说法，基因测序显示，那两个男孩身上的病毒与该国2014年8月爆发的病毒株几乎相同，这表明病毒来自一名幸存者。
He added, however, that scientists reported on Monday that they had been unable to derive genetic sequences from samples that might have established a precise link to the new cases.	但法拉赫补充说，科学家周一的报告说，他们没有能够从可能与新病例建立确切联系的样品中得到基因序列。
Dr. Brennan said the World Health Organization was exploring experimental drugs that may help eradicate the last traces of Ebola in people with persistent virus, and experimental vaccines that could help protect their intimate contacts.	布伦南说，世界卫生组织正在探索一些可能有助于消除持续留在人体里的埃博拉病毒的实验性药物，也在探索可能帮助保护与病毒残留体内者有密切接触的人的试验性疫苗。
Guinea's last patient, the three-week old girl whose mother died of Ebola, is extremely rare in having survived Ebola at such a young age, Dr. Brennan said. She received two experimental treatments: the antibody combination ZMapp and an antiviral compound made by the	关于几内亚最后一个病人，即母亲死于埃博拉的那名3周大女婴，布伦南说，年龄这么小的患者能挺过埃博拉是极为罕见的。医生对她采取了两种实验性的疗法：抗体组合药物ZMapp以及制药公司吉利德(Gilead)生产的抗病毒复方药物。

pharmaceutical company Gilead.
"She's doing quite well," said Dr. Letizia Di Stefano, medical coordinator for Doctors Without Borders in Guinea. The group, which treated Ebola patients throughout the outbreak, has been following up on the baby's care and plans a celebration to mark the end of Ebola transmission in the country.	"她的情况很不错，"无国界医生组织(Doctors Without Borders)在几内亚的医疗协调员莱蒂齐亚·迪斯蒂法诺(Letizia Di Stefano)博士说。该组织在疫情爆发期间一直在治疗埃博拉患者，它也一直在对这名女婴的护理状况进行随访，还计划举行集会，庆祝该国消灭埃博拉疫情。
"We are quite happy at the moment," Dr. Di Stefano said. She added that thousands of survivors, many of whom are experiencing health problems, would need continuing medical assistance and psychological support.	"现在我们很高兴，"迪斯蒂法诺说。她还表示，在数以千计的幸存者中，很多人都有健康方面的问题，需要持续的医疗救助和心理支持。
Of all the countries where Ebola spread, the virus proved hardest to eradicate from Guinea, experts said. In several cases, Ebola response workers and others who tried to dispel rumors about the illness were attacked, and some were killed.	专家表示，事实证明，在埃博拉蔓延的所有国家中，最难根除这种疫情的是几内亚。有若干次，埃博拉应对团队的人员，以及试图破除公众对这种疾病传播的谣言的人士，遭到了袭击，有些还被杀害。
"There was always an undercurrent of public distrust," said Dr. Thomas R. Frieden, director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta. He traveled to Guinea four times during the outbreak and sent teams of experts to work there alongside colleagues from Canada and the Democratic Republic of Congo.	"公众的不信任一直萦绕不去，"亚特兰大美国疾病控制与预防中心(Centers for Disease Control and Prevention)的主任托马斯·R·弗里登(Thomas R. Frieden)医生说。在埃博拉爆发期间，他曾前往几内亚四次，并派遣专家小组前往那里，与来自加拿大和刚果民主共和国的同事并肩作战。
Unlike in Liberia and Sierra Leone, where treatment centers in major cities were overwhelmed and dramatic scenes of suffering on the streets inspired public mobilization, in Guinea the epidemic simmered at a relatively low level for many months. Consequently, when Ebola reached new areas in the large country, communities did not fully appreciate its seriousness.	在利比里亚和塞拉利昂，各大中城市的治疗中心里人满为患，街道上上演着一幕幕痛苦的悲惨场面，公众的意识也因之提升。而在几内亚，疫情却是以相对较低的水平发酵了很长一段时间。因此，在这个幅员广阔的大国里，当埃博拉病毒蔓延到新的地区时，当地社区并不会完全意识到它的严重性。

"In a way, their lack of explosive spread worked against them," Dr. Frieden said.	"从某种程度上讲，没有出现爆炸性的传播反倒成了障碍，"弗里登说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151230/c30ebola	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151230/c30ebola
Russia Expands Sanctions Against Turkey After Downing of Jet	俄罗斯因坠机事件加大对土耳其制裁
MOSCOW — Russia broadened its sanctions against Turkey on Wednesday to bar new Turkish construction and curb tourism activities in Russia, an expansion of measures put in place last month after Turkey shot down a Russian warplane under disputed circumstances.	莫斯科——俄罗斯于周三扩大了对土耳其的制裁范围，禁止土耳其建筑企业开展新项目，并控制俄罗斯的旅游活动。上个月土耳其击落了一架俄罗斯战机，事件的具体情形存在争议。此事促使俄罗斯采取了制裁，而新的举措加大了制裁力度。
Turkish construction companies currently working on skyscrapers, soccer stadiums and other projects in Russia can continue, but Turkish firms will be prohibited from signing new contracts after Jan. 1.	目前在俄罗斯建造摩天大楼、足球场及其他项目的土耳其建筑企业可以继续施工，但1月1日以后，禁止土耳其公司签署新合同。
Turkish companies are participating in all aspects of Russia's infrastructure development, including the construction of stadiums for the 2018 World Cup soccer championship. In fact, it was a Turkish firm that in the 1990s refurbished the very government building where the Russian cabinet met this week to adopt the new sanctions.	土耳其企业参与了俄罗斯基础设施建设的方方面面，比如建造2018年世界杯足球赛的体育场。实际上，一家土耳其公司在1990年代翻修了政府大楼，而俄罗斯内阁本周就是在那栋大楼里开会，决定要采取新的制裁举措。
The new restrictions prohibit firms owned or based in Turkey from "activities in architecture, engineering, technical testing" of buildings. The expanded sanctions also prohibit Turkish citizens or companies from operating tourism agencies in Russia. Turkey is a popular destination for Russian tourists.	新举措禁止土耳其拥有或总部位于土耳其的公司，“参与建筑的设计、工程和技术检测工作”。新制裁举措还禁止土耳其公民或企业在俄罗斯经营旅行社。土耳其是一个很受俄罗斯游客欢迎的旅游目的地。
The ban is the latest in Russia's escalating trade disputes with countries it is at odds with on foreign policy, which include members of the European Union and former Soviet states like Georgia and Ukraine.	俄罗斯与那些在外交领域存在争端的国家之间，产生了不断升级的贸易争端，比如与欧盟，以及与格鲁吉亚和乌克兰等前苏联国家。此次的禁令是其中最新的争端。
After Turkey shot down a Russian jet in November, asserting it had	土耳其于11月击落一架俄罗斯战机，声称该战机从叙利亚进入了土耳其领

crossed into Turkish airspace from Syria, President Vladimir V. Putin canceled energy projects, banned fruit and vegetable imports and hinted at more retribution to come.	空。之后，俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)取消了能源项目，禁止从土耳其进口水果和蔬菜，并暗示会采取更多惩罚举措。
"We shall remind them many a time what they have done and they will more than once feel regret for what they have done," Mr. Putin said this month in an address to Parliament.	普京本月对议会发表讲话时表示，“我们应该常常提醒他们都做了些什么，他们会不止一次地为自己的所作所为感到后悔。”
On Dec. 9, Russia's state nuclear company, Rosatom, suspended work on a $20 billion nuclear power plant in Akkuyu, Turkey.	12月9日，国有的俄罗斯国家原子能公司(Rosatom)暂停了土耳其阿库尤(Akkuyu)核电站项目的施工，该项目投资额为200亿美元。
Russia is the largest market for Turkish exports after Germany, with about $6 billion worth of goods in 2014, or 4 percent of all exports. And it was the biggest source of Turkish imports in 2014, with $25 billion or 10 percent of total goods, according to an analysis by Renaissance Capital.	俄罗斯是土耳其出口商品的重要市场，规模仅次于德国。2014年土耳其向俄罗斯出口了价值大约60亿美元的商品，占出口总额的4%。复兴资本(Renaissance Capital)的一项分析报告显示，2014年土耳其共计从俄罗斯进口了价值约250亿美元的商品，占其进口总额的10%，俄罗斯是它的第一大进口来源国。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151231/c31russia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20151231/c31russia
Bahrain, Sudan and United Arab Emirates Join Diplomatic Feud Against Iran	巴林苏丹与伊朗断交，阿联酋降低对伊外交级别
TEHRAN — Three Sunni-led countries joined Saudi Arabia on Monday in severing or downgrading diplomatic ties with Iran, worsening a geopolitical conflict with sectarian dimensions in one of the world's most volatile regions.	德黑兰——三个由伊斯兰教逊尼派主导的国家在周一加入沙特阿拉伯的行列，与伊朗或切断外交关系，或调降外交级别，使得这个全球局势最为诡谲的区域里，因宗教教派而生的地缘政治冲突更形恶化。
The diplomatic protests from the three countries — Bahrain, Sudan and the United Arab Emirates — came as Iran accused Saudi Arabia of using an attack on the Saudi Embassy in Tehran two days earlier as a pretext for diverting attention from its problems.	来自巴林、苏丹、阿联酋三国的外交抗议，起因是沙特阿拉伯位于德黑兰的大使馆在两天前遭到攻击，而伊朗控诉沙特以此攻击事件为借口，企图引开人们对沙特自身问题的注意。
Iranian protesters ransacked and set fire to the embassy on Saturday,	沙特阿拉伯政府近来处决了47名死刑犯，其中包括一位什叶派神职人员，

along with the Saudi Consulate in Iran's second-largest city, Mashhad, after the Saudis executed a Shiite cleric who had criticized the Sunni kingdom's treatment of its Shiite minority. The Shiite cleric was among a group of 47 people who were executed.	他生前曾批评逊尼派王国对待境内什叶派少数民族的政策。处决后，伊朗抗议民众于周六洗劫并放火焚烧了沙特大使馆，位于伊朗第二大城马什哈德的沙特领事馆也同样受到攻击。
The relations between Iran and Bahrain, a Shiite-majority island nation with a Sunni monarchy, were already poor, with Bahrain accusing Iran of meddling in its internal affairs by backing various Shiite opposition groups since the start of the Arab Spring, in 2011.	伊朗与巴林的外交关系原本就十分不和，后者是一个奉行逊尼派君主政体、但人口以什叶派信徒占多数的岛国。巴林控诉伊朗自2011年“阿拉伯之春”发端以来，在巴林境内支持多个什叶派反政府团体，藉此干预巴林内政。
In October, after accusing Iran of shipping weapons to the island, Bahrain recalled its ambassador in Tehran and expelled the Iranian chargé d'affaires in its capital, Manama.	十月，巴林在指责伊朗向其境内输送武器后，召回了驻德黑兰大使，并将伊朗驻巴林首都麦纳玛的代办驱逐出境。
In a statement on Monday, Bahrain said the attack on the embassy and consulate in Iran occurred "without the slightest regard for values, the law or morality" and "confirms a determination to spread devastation and destruction, and provoke unrest and strife in the region by providing protection and support for terrorists and extremists and the smuggling of weapons and explosives for use by its affiliated terrorist cells."	在周一发表的声明中，巴林表示，在伊朗发生的使馆与领事馆攻击事件，是“完全无视价值观、法律与道德”的表现，而且“证实了该国一心要扩大灾难和毁坏的规模，借由庇护与支持恐怖分子、极端分子，来引发临近地区的动乱不安，并偷运武器和爆炸物供其下属恐怖主义组织使用。”
Sudan on Monday expelled the Iranian ambassador in Khartoum, the capital, in protest at the attack on the embassy, the Iranian news agency Fars reported.	伊朗新闻通讯社法尔斯(Fars)报道，为了对伊朗的使馆攻击事件表达抗议，苏丹亦于周一将伊朗大使自该国首都喀土木驱逐出境。
The United Arab Emirates, which had already formally protested the embassy attack, on Monday downgraded its ties by recalling its ambassador to Tehran and ordering a reduction in the number of Iranian diplomats stationed in the Emirates.	阿联酋先前已正式公开抗议这次攻击事件，而他们在周一时又调降了与伊朗的外交级别，召回驻德黑兰大使，并下令减少派驻阿联酋的伊朗外交人员数目。

"This exceptional step has been taken in the light of Iran's continuous interference in the internal affairs of Gulf and Arab states, which has reached unprecedented levels," the emirates' Ministry of Foreign Affairs said in a statement.	阿联酋外交部在一份声明中表示：“我们采取这些额外的措施，是为了因应伊朗不断干预波斯湾区与阿拉伯联邦国家的内政事务，而这种干预已达到前所未有的程度。”
For its part, Iran, which has arrested dozens of protesters suspected of involvement in the assault on the embassy and consulate, said that Saudi Arabia was using the episode to distract attention from problems at home.	而在伊朗方面，政府逮捕了数十名涉嫌攻击各使领馆的抗议人士，并表示沙特阿拉伯是在利用这次事件引开大家对沙特国内问题的注意。
"Saudi Arabia, gripped by crises inside and outside its territories, follows the policy of increasing regional tensions," a Foreign Ministry spokesman, Hossein Jaber Ansari, said at a weekly news briefing on Monday, in remarks that were broadcast live by the state-run news channel Irinn.	“沙特阿拉伯在执行造成区域情势愈发紧张的政策之后，深陷国内外的诸多危机之中，”伊朗外交部发言人侯赛因·贾贝里-安萨里(Hossein Jaber Ansari)在周一举行的每周例行新闻通报会上表示，国有媒体 IRINN 对他的发言进行了现场转播。
Another official, the deputy foreign minister Hossein Amir Abdollahian, accused Saudi Arabia of making "strategic blunders," saying it had contributed to the rise of terrorism in the region and "conspired to bring oil prices down."	另一位伊朗官员、副外交部长侯赛因·阿米尔·阿卜杜拉辛(Hossein Amir Abdollahian)则指责沙特阿拉伯正在犯下“策略上的愚蠢错误”，称沙特助长了该地区的恐怖主义行动，并且“密谋使油价下跌”。
Mr. Abdollahian told the semiofficial news agency Fars that the execution of the Shiite cleric, Sheikh Nimr al-Nimr, was the latest such blunder.	阿卜杜拉辛告诉半官方新闻社法尔斯，沙特处决了那位什叶派神职人员谢赫尼米尔·尼米尔(Sheikh Nimr al-Nimr)，就是这种愚蠢错误的最新一例。
The United Nations, the United States and the European Union have condemned the executions, which the Saudis carried out against people it said were guilty of terrorism-related charges.	联合国、美国和欧盟皆对此次处决表示谴责，沙特称被处决的人所犯罪行涉及恐怖主义。
The Iranian vice president, Eshaq Jahangiri, said that cutting ties with Tehran was Saudi Arabia's "loss," the semiofficial news agency Tasnim	据半官方通讯社塔斯尼姆(Tasnim)报道，伊朗副总统埃斯哈格·贾汉吉里(Eshaq Jahangiri)说，和德黑兰断绝外交关系是沙特的“损失”。

reported.
"Iran is a great country in the region and should be treated with respect," he said. "When Iran treats you with self-restraint, you must learn, and put experienced executives in charge," Mr. Jahangiri was quoted as saying.	报道引用贾汉吉里的话称，“伊朗是本地区的一个伟大的国家，应该得到尊敬，”他说。“当伊朗采取克制的态度来对待你，你应该吸取教训，让有经验的官员主事。”
"Saudis are advised to stop acting in a disruptive, hasty, illogical and emotional manner as well as works, because they are the ones who will face losses in cutting ties with Iran," Mr. Jahangiri reportedly added.	“我们建议沙特不要再采取一种胡闹的、草率的、乖戾的、情绪化的行为和处事方式，因为和伊朗断绝关系最终损失的是他们，”贾汉吉里在报道中说。
While condemning the move by Saudi Arabia, officials in Iran reiterated comments on Sunday from its supreme leader, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, that the attacks were not productive.	尽管对沙特阿拉伯的举动表示了谴责，伊朗官员在周日重申了最高领袖阿亚图拉阿里·哈梅内伊(Ayatollah Ali Khamenei)的表态，称攻击使馆没有益处。
"We do not achieve anything by attacking embassies and setting them ablaze," a hard-line prayer leader, Ahmad Khatami, told the Iranian Student News Agency on Monday. "We condemn the crimes of al-Saud, but we don't consider attacking the Saudi Embassy or Consulate an appropriate act," he said, referring to the House of Saud, Saudi Arabia's ruling family.	“攻击使馆，放火焚烧，这些行为是达不到任何目的的，”态度强硬的教长阿赫马德·哈塔米(Ahmad Khatami)在周一对伊朗学生通讯社(Iranian Students' News Agency)说。“我们谴责阿勒沙特的罪行，但我们不认为攻击沙特大使馆或领事馆的行为是得当的。”此处阿勒沙特指的是统治沙特阿拉伯的沙特家族(House of Saud)。
Russia — a tactical ally of Iran, which, like Russia, supports the embattled government of Syria's president, Bashar al-Assad — offered on Monday to mediate the escalating conflict.	俄罗斯作为伊朗的战略盟友——两国都是目前处境艰难的叙利亚总统巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar al-Assad)的支持者——在周一提出，愿意出面调停这场正在升级的冲突。
The state-run news agency RIA Novosti in Moscow quoted a diplomat as saying that Russia had developed good relations with both countries through the so-called Vienna group, which is working on a resolution of the Syria conflict, and that he hoped those ties could help resolve the Iran-Saudi Arabia dispute.	莫斯科的国有通讯社俄罗斯新闻社(RIA Novosti)引用一位外交官的话说，俄罗斯已经通过被称为“维也纳小组”的机制和两国建立起良好的关系。该小组致力于为叙利亚冲突寻找解决方案，这位外交官希望，这种良好关系能有助于解决伊朗和沙特的争端。

The agency did not identify the Russian diplomat, and it was unclear from the report whether Moscow had formally made the mediation proposal to either side.	俄新社没有公开该俄罗斯外交官的身份，目前尚不能确认莫斯科是否已经向双方正式提出调停。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160105/c05saudi	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160105/c05saudi
Streets, if Not the Air, Clear Out as Delhi Tests Car Restrictions	印度汽车尾号限行，街道清静了空气没见好
NEW DELHI — Traffic was flowing smoothly Monday morning on Outer Ring Road in South Delhi, usually jammed at that hour by subway construction and cars. An upscale market was dotted with free parking spaces. Monkeys ambled down one street in the colonial heart of the capital, easily dodging the few cars.	新德里——周一上午，在通常都会因地铁施工和车流而发生拥堵的时间段里，南德里外环路上交通顺畅。一家高端市场里分布着不少免费停车位。在散发着殖民气息的首都中心区域的一条街上，猴子在漫步，轻而易举就避开了稀稀落落的车辆。
It was the fourth day of traffic restrictions imposed by the government of the metropolitan Delhi region, part of a series of measures meant to reduce pollution. The two-week experiment, which began on Friday, has been derided in many quarters of Delhi, where having a car and driver is a status symbol, and rush hour is usually a clamor of horn blowing, triple parking and bumper-to-bumper traffic.	这是德里大都会区政府实行交通管制的第四天，限行是一系列意在减少污染措施的一部分。为期两周的尝试是从上周五开始的。在德里的很多地方，这件事遭到了嘲笑。在这里，有车有司机是一种地位的象征，高峰时段通常是一幅鸣笛声四起、停车混乱、保险杠贴着保险杠的景象。
Under the policy, private cars are allowed on the streets on alternate days depending on their final license plate numbers, with Sundays exempt. It calls for penalties of around $30 for scofflaws, and its success is to be gauged by daily pollution measurements. In 2014, a World Health Organization study ranked New Delhi's air quality the worst of nearly 1,600 cities surveyed.	根据相关政策，除周日外，私家车只能根据车牌最后一位数字的单双号隔天上路。该政策要求对违反者处以大约 30 美元的罚款。成功与否有待每天的污染数据来衡量。在世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)2014 年的一项研究中，新德里的空气质量在近 1600 座接受调查的城市中垫底。
In a release issued last week, the Delhi government said that the traffic police and the divisional commissioner would deploy teams to 120 traffic points and that the Transport Department would check for	在上周发布的一份声明中，德里政府称交警和分区长官将向 120 个交通要塞部署工作人员，交通部会检查超载现象和嘟嘟车的“不当行为”。

overcharging and “misbehavior” by auto rickshaw drivers.
More than 1,200 drivers were caught violating the policy on Monday, according to the Press Trust of India, a news agency.	据新闻机构印度报业托拉斯(Press Trust of India)报道,周一当天,有1200多名司机被发现违规。
Skeptics questioned how the measure would be enforced. The Delhi regional government is run by the Aam Aadmi Party, and the police come under the federal government and its Bharatiya Janata Party. Arvind Kejriwal, the Delhi chief minister, has long clashed with the Delhi police.	持怀疑态度的人士质疑相关措施如何执行。德里地区由凡人党(Aam Aadmi Party)执政,而警察机构则由联邦政府及领导该政府的人民党(Bharatiya Janata Party)管理。德里首席部长阿尔温德·凯杰里沃(Arvind Kejriwal)和德里警方长期不和。
But perhaps the most entrenched barrier is a Delhi elite used to having drivers standing by at all times. Some of those citizens, members of the capital’s upper classes, are up in arms about the change.	不过,最大的障碍或许是习惯了随时都有司机待命的德里精英阶层。他们中的部分人属于首都的上层阶级。对这一变化,他们竭力反对。
Promila Bij, 57, a South Delhi resident, swept into a taxi on Monday morning — the third she had called after two other companies said they had no cars. She arrived at work in West Delhi more than an hour late, she said later in a telephone interview, while her three cars and two drivers were sitting idle at home: All three have license plates ending in odd numbers, which were barred from the road on Monday. When she reached her office, where she works for a nongovernmental organization, she canceled meetings that regularly take her to the satellite city of Gurgaon and to central Delhi.	今年57岁的普罗米拉·比杰(Promila Bij)住在南城。周一早上,她钻进了一辆出租车。这是她叫的第三辆车,此前的两家公司均表示没车了。后来接受电话采访时,她说自己赶到西城上班的地方时晚了一个多小时,而她的三辆车和两个司机却闲在家里:她这几辆车的车牌最后一位都是单数,周一均不能上路。她在一家非政府组织任职,到办公室后取消了会议。她的会议往往会在卫星城古尔冈及城中心举行。
“I cannot come because I don’t have my driver or car,” she said. “If you want to call me snooty, all right, I am, because that is my lifestyle and that’s how I work.”	“我来不了,因为没车没司机,”她说。“如果想说我自以为高人一等也没关系,我就是这样,因为这就是我的生活方式和工作方式。”
“You can’t say, ‘Change your lifestyle’ at the snap of a finger,” she added.	“你不能打个响指就说,‘改变你的生活方式,’”她说。
To accommodate the carless, the government said it would provide	为了满足无法开车的人的需求,政府表示会增加3000辆公交车。此事在报

3,000 extra buses. It took out newspaper advertisements, and the chief minister delivered a folksy radio spot on the measure.	纸上登了广告，首席部长还在广播上安排了一档亲民栏目。
"We are truly overwhelmed by the response we have received so far," Mr. Kejriwal told reporters outside his home on Friday. "Delhi will show the way to the rest of the country."	"我们真的被迄今为止收到的反馈淹没了，"凯杰里沃周五在自家房子外面对记者表示。"德里会给全国其他地方指明方向。"
But it is not clear that Delhi's experiment will actually reduce pollution, especially as the rules are riddled with exemptions.	然而，德里的尝试会不会真的减少污染还是个未知数，特别是在相关规定有很多例外的情况下。
Women are allowed to drive any car any time of day, seen as a nod to safety in a city where women face dangers on public transit. Two-wheelers — motorcycles and scooters, which experts say made up the majority of the nearly nine million vehicles on the road as of March in Delhi — are also exempt. Cars using compressed natural gas, and those belonging to senior government officials and judges, can be on the roads any day as well.	女性在一天里的任何时段都可以开任何号码的车。在这座女性在公共交通工具上面临危险的城市，这被视作一种安全保障。两轮的摩托车和踏板车也是例外。专家称，截至3月，该市路面上有近900万辆机动车，而两轮车占了大部分。使用压缩天然气的车，以及政府高官和法官的车也可以随时上路。
Even as the government declared that the policy resulted in lower levels of particulate matter in the air on Friday compared with the same day last year, environmental experts cautioned that the effect would be limited. At noon on Monday, the air quality index measured by the United States Embassy reached 445, well into the "hazardous" level.	就在政府声称限行政策使周五当天空气中的颗粒物水平同比实现下降时，环境问题专家告诫，实际效果可能很有限。周一中午，美国大使馆测得的空气质量指数为445，完全属于“有害”水平。
Some Delhi residents approved of the move. Amit Bhandari, a graphic designer, waited patiently for the Metro in a South Delhi station. He began taking the Metro last week, in anticipation of the traffic changes, and said he thought that they should continue.	一些德里居民同意限行举措。平面设计师阿米特·班达里(Amit Bhandari)在南城的一座地铁站耐心地等车。料到交通会出现变化后，他从上周开始坐地铁。他说自己认为这些措施应该坚持下去。
"We Delhi-ites are into showoff," he said. "Bigger cars mean you are in a more elite class. That culture needs to go."	"我们德里人喜欢炫耀，"他说。"车越大，说明越是精英。这种文化应该消失。"

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160106/c06delhi	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160106/c06delhi
El Chapo, Escaped Mexican Drug Lord, Is Recaptured in Gun Battle	筹拍电影泄行踪，墨西哥毒梟第三度落网（英文）
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160110/cc10mexico	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160110/cc10mexico
Antarctic Life: No Dogs, Few Vegetables and 'a Little Intense' in the Winter	在南极洲安一个家：冰雪严寒中的智利小镇
VILLA LAS ESTRELLAS, Antarctica — Children at the schoolhouse here study under a portrait of Bernardo O'Higgins, Chile's independence leader. The bank manager welcomes deposits in Chilean pesos. The cellphone service from the Chilean phone company Entel is so robust that downloading iPhone apps works like a charm.	南极洲星之镇——在这里，学校里的孩子们在智利独立领袖贝尔纳多·奥希金斯(Bernardo O'Higgins)的画像下学习。银行经理欢迎用智利比索存款。智利电信公司 Entel 的手机服务非常强大，下载 iPhone 应用的速度像飞一样。
The inhabitants here say it could be any Chilean village. Except that Villa Las Estrellas is in Antarctica.	这里的居民说它就像一座智利村镇，唯一的区别是星之镇坐落在南极洲。
Fewer than 200 people live in this outpost founded in 1984 during the dictatorship of Gen. Augusto Pinochet, when Chile was seeking to bolster its territorial claims in Antarctica. Since then, the tiny hamlet has been at the center of one of Antarctica's most remarkable experiments: exposing entire families to isolation and extreme conditions in an attempt to arrive at a semblance of normal life at the bottom of the planet.	现在有不到 200 人在这片边远之地生活。它成立于奥古斯托·皮诺切特(Augusto Pinochet)独裁统治时期的 1984 年，当时智利正在寻求加强在南极的领土要求。自那以后，这座小村庄一直是南极洲一项非凡实验的中心：将多个完整家庭置于与世隔绝的极端条件下，试图在星球最南端达到正常生活的样子。
"It gets a little intense here in winter," said José Luis Carillán, 40, who moved to Villa Las Estrellas three years ago with his wife and their two children to take a job as a teacher in the public school. He described challenges like trekking through punishing wind storms to arrive at a schoolhouse concealed by snow drifts, and withstanding long stretches with only a few hours of sunlight each day.	"冬天这里有点难熬，"40 岁的何塞·路易斯·卡里兰(José Luis Carillán)说。他三年前带着妻子和他们的两个孩子搬到了星之镇，在公立学校找了一份教师的工作。他讲述了这里的许多困难，比如穿过狂风前往积雪掩盖的校舍，忍受每天只有几个小时能看到阳光的漫长日子等。

"But this place is unique," Mr. Carillán said. "Only a few people on earth step foot in Antarctica, and fewer still live here for long periods of time."	"但是这个地方是独一无二的," 卡里兰说。"地球上只有少数人能踏上南极洲, 而长时间在这里居住的人更少。"
The United States, China, Russia and most other nations with research stations in Antarctica tend to frown on bringing anyone but researchers and support teams to the planet's coldest and windiest continent. But Chile and a neighbor in South America, Argentina, have taken a rare route to putting down stakes here, nurturing small Antarctic settlements that include families with children.	美国、中国、俄罗斯和其他大多数在南极洲设有研究站的国家, 往往不赞成把除研究人员和技术支持团队之外的任何人带上这片地球上最寒冷、风力最强劲的大陆。但智利和它的南美洲邻居阿根廷, 都采取了罕见的路线: 两国在这里投下赌注, 为包括有孩子的家庭的南极小型定居点提供给养。
Argentina founded its Antarctic outpost even earlier, in 1953. The settlement, on Graham Land at the northern end of the Antarctic Peninsula, is called the Esperanza Base. It also has a school, a cemetery and even a scout troop claiming to be the southernmost in the world. Esperanza Base's motto sums up what it is like for some who have moved to Antarctica: "Permanence, an act of sacrifice."	阿根廷甚至早在 1953 年就成立了南极居民区。这个定居点位于南极半岛北端的葛拉汉地, 名为埃斯佩兰萨基地(Esperanza Base)。它有一所学校和一座墓地, 甚至还有一支自称驻扎在世界最南端的童子军。对移居南极洲的人来说, 埃斯佩兰萨基地的口号为他们的形象做了总结: "天长地久是一种牺牲行为。"
Villa Las Estrellas, in the South Shetland Islands off the tip of the Antarctic Peninsula, has emerged as a coveted hub for flying into a continent in flux as various nations bolster their scientific research.	星之镇位于同南极半岛顶端隔海相望的南设得兰群岛。对于许多支持各自科学研究的国家来说, 它成了让大批人员飞往南极大陆的一座理想枢纽。
The Chilean Air Force transports researchers from various countries on C-130 Hercules military planes that make the three-hour trip to Punta Arenas, a city of nearly 125,000 near the southern tip of Chile, several times a month. A sign at the air base near Villa Las Estrellas points out that the city of Iquique in northern Chile is only 4,675 kilometers, or 2,905 miles, away.	智利空军每月数次使用 C-130 大力神军用飞机运送来自不同国家的研究人员, 飞行三个小时前往智利南端一座拥有约 12 万 5000 人口的城市——蓬塔阿雷纳斯。星之镇附近空军基地的一座标牌指出, 这里距智利北部城市伊基克仅为 4675 公里。
Most of the students at the village's small school, who generally number less than a dozen, are the children of air force officials who	在村里这座小小的学校上学的孩子通常不到十几个人, 大多是负责管理基地的空军官员的子女; 有些家长说, 这种与世隔绝的体验会增强家庭纽带。星

operate the base; some of the parents say the isolating experience strengthens family bonds. That Villa Las Estrellas is so remote — its name can be translated as Hamlet of the Stars, since the lack of artificial light pollution here enhances gazing into the heavens — sits just fine with many who live here.	之镇是那么地偏远——因为缺乏人造光污染，人们可以清晰地凝视星空，因而有了这个名字——正好合了住在这里的许多人的心意。
“People in the rest of Chile are so afraid of thieves that they build walls around their homes,” said Paul Robledo, 40, an electrician from Iquique (pronounced E-key-kay). “Not here in Antarctica. This is one of the safest places in the world.”	“智利其他地方的人非常害怕被盗，所以建了围墙来保护自己的家，”40岁的伊基克（发音为 E-key-kay）电工保罗·罗夫莱多(Paul Robledo)说。“在南极洲就不是这样。这是世界上最安全的地方之一。”
What Villa Las Estrellas gains as a sanctuary from crime, though, it loses in some other comforts.	尽管星之镇是免于犯罪的世外桃源，但也在生活舒适方面有所欠缺。
Animals like Adélie penguins and elephant seals can be glimpsed around the village, but those used to the companionship of dogs are out of luck. All dogs were banned because they might introduce canine diseases to Antarctic wildlife.	村庄周围可以瞥见像阿德利企鹅和海象等动物，但对那些习惯于狗的陪伴的人来说运气可是不佳。这里禁止养狗，因为它们可能会将犬类疾病给南极野生动物。
Air force families live in small homes here, while researchers stay at the spartan lodging operated by the Chilean Antarctic Institute, sleeping in bunk beds not unlike those found on an aircraft carrier. A Ping-Pong table in the living room offers some diversion. They take their meals together in a cramped canteen.	在这里，空军家庭生活在小院里，而研究人员则住在智利南极研究所(Chilean Antarctic Institute)开设的简陋小屋内，睡在和航空母舰上那种双层床一样的床铺上。客厅的一张乒乓球台提供了一些娱乐活动。吃饭则是他们一起在一间狭小的食堂里解决。
Recently, the menu for lunch was a dish containing mashed potatoes, chicken and ground beef, washed down with Fanta orange soda. For dinner that day: ditto, though the Fanta was replaced by Coca-Cola.	近日，午饭菜单是一道包含土豆泥、鸡肉和碎牛肉的菜，还有芬达橙味汽水。当天的晚餐：菜式同上，虽然用可口可乐代替了芬达。
After one Chilean scientist suggested that a nutritionist might be needed here, Enrique Nicoman, 59, the cook at Villa Las Estrellas, made	一位智利科学家提出这里可能需要营养师，星之镇 59 岁的厨师恩里克·尼克曼(Enrique Nicoman)明确表示，这种意见是不受欢迎的。

it clear that such comments were not welcome.
"It's not like there's a market nearby with fresh vegetables," said Mr. Nicoman, who worked for years as a cook in the Chilean Navy before moving here. "I mean, we're in Antarctica, where everything needs to arrive by plane or sea vessel."	"这里可不像其他附近有新鲜蔬菜市场的地方，"尼克曼说。在搬到星之镇以前，他在智利海军做了多年的厨师。"我说，我们是在南极洲，一切东西都需要通过飞机或者海轮运过来。"
Using one's imagination is essential for making the most out of living in a place with a lot of downtime indoors. In his book, "Antarctic Impressions," the Russian volcanologist Vladimir Kiryanov described how some at Russia's research bases playfully carved out their own territorial claims, inventing the Dukedom of Pinsk, the Principality of the Treasure Hunter Yury Kharchuk and the sovereign state of Immortia.	生活在一个有大量室内无所事事时间的地方，利用想象力对充分享受生活来说是必不可少的。在《南极印象》(Antarctic Impressions)一书中，俄罗斯火山学家弗拉基米尔·基里亚诺夫(Vladimir Kiryanov)讲述了俄罗斯研究基地的一些人，如何幽默地开辟出自己的领土要求，创造了平斯克公国(Dukedom of Pinsk)、寻宝者尤里·卡尔丘克侯国(Principality of the Treasure Yury Kharchuk)和主权国家不朽提亚(Immortia)。
A gym allows the Chileans at Villa Las Estrellas to play an occasional game of indoor soccer against visiting researchers from Russian and Chinese bases. A small chapel perched above the settlement offers a quiet place to pray.	这里的健身房让星之镇的智利居民可以同从俄罗斯和中国基地来访的研究人员偶尔踢一场室内足球赛。坐落在定居点之上的一座小教堂，能够为人们提供一个安静的地方进行祈祷。
Some here say that those who adapt to stretches of relative seclusion in Antarctica can find it hard to re-adapt when they return to mainland Chile. They call this condition "hermit's syndrome," describing the shock of socializing with family and friends after long periods in Antarctica.	这里有人说，那些适应了南极洲长时间相对隐居生活的人，可能会发现当返回智利大陆时很难重新适应当地的生活。他们称这种情况为“隐士综合症”，用以描述长期在南极居住后重新与亲友交往带来的冲击。
Technology is supposed to ease such communication. Some rely on Skype to talk to loved ones back home; others simply use their cellphones.	技术本应方便交流。一些人依靠 Skype 与家乡的亲人交谈；还有一些人则使用手机。
But new technologies can also reinforce how far Antarctica remains from the rest of the world.	但新技术也会拉大南极洲与世界其他地方的距离。

The dating app Tinder, for instance, works well enough in Villa Las Estrellas. But some researchers joke that the village's gender imbalance (only about 10 percent of inhabitants here are women) and small population show that such services may not have been intended with Antarctica in mind.	例如，在星之镇用约会应用 Tinder 是不成问题的。但一些研究人员开玩笑称，星之镇性别比例失衡（女性居民只占 10%）、人口稀少的现实说明，此类服务可能不是为南极洲设计的。
No wonder letting off steam here is serious business. At a recent barbecue to celebrate making it an entire year in Antarctica, Chilean Navy personnel in Villa Las Estrellas drank bottles of pisco, a brandy made in Chile, and of Great Wall, a Chinese red wine given to them by guests — researchers from China's aptly named Great Wall research station.	难怪发泄多余精力在这里成为一件严肃的事情。最近为庆祝驻守满一周年而进行的烧烤活动中，星之镇的智利海军人员喝了很多智利生产的白兰地皮斯科酒和中国的长城牌红酒。这些红酒是中国的研究人员赠送的，而他们的南极科学考察站恰好也叫长城。
Despite the challenges, many Chileans still covet a chance to live in Villa Las Estrellas. "This is one of the world's last frontiers," said Macarena Marcotti Murúa, 25, a veterinarian who arrived in November to work at the post office.	尽管面临重重挑战，很多智利人仍然渴望有机会到星之镇居住。“这是世界上最后的未被开发的地带之一，”25 岁的兽医马卡雷那·马尔科蒂·穆鲁那 (Macarena Marcotti Murúa) 说。他 11 月到达这里，之后在邮局工作。
Some are drawn here by a sense of adventure, others by higher salaries than in Chile for comparable jobs. Residents of Villa Las Estrellas seem to have their own reasons for moving to Antarctica.	有人因为想冒险来到了这里，还有人则因为相同的工作在这里能获得更高的薪水。星之镇的居民似乎都有搬到南极洲的理由。
"I approach this like a vacation," said Robinson Montejó, 59, the manager, and only employee, of the branch here of the Chilean Banco de Crédito e Inversiones. Inevitably, he spends a lot of time alone, waiting for the occasional customer to come in from the cold. "This is the right place for a little peace and quiet."	"我把它当成度假，"59 岁的鲁滨逊·蒙特霍 (Robinson Montejó) 说。他是智利信贷与投资银行 (Chilean Banco de Crédito e Inversiones) 星之镇分行的经理及唯一员工。不出所料，他很多时间都孤身一人，等待着偶尔有冰寒之地的顾客来办事。他说，"这里很安宁。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160111/c11chile	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160111/c11chile
Sean Penn Sat for Secret Interview With 'El Chapo,' Mexican Drug Lord	丛林中的贩毒史：西恩·潘采访墨西哥毒梟

Joaquín Guzmán Loera, the Mexican drug lord known as El Chapo, started out in business not long after turning 6, selling oranges and soft drinks. By 15, he said in an interview conducted in a jungle clearing by the actor and director Sean Penn for Rolling Stone magazine, he had begun to grow marijuana and poppies because there was no other way for his impoverished family to survive.	墨西哥大毒梟、綽號“矮子”(El Chapo)的喬奎因·古茲曼·洛埃拉(Joaquín Guzmán Loera)剛6歲的時候就開始做生意，賣的是橙子和飲料。在一片丛林空地接受演員兼導演西恩·潘(Sean Penn)為《滾石》雜誌(Rolling Stone)進行的採訪時，他說，自己15歲時已經開始種植大麻和罌粟。這是因為他的家庭貧困，別無他法。
Now, unapologetically, he said: “I supply more heroin, methamphetamine, cocaine and marijuana than anybody else in the world. I have a fleet of submarines, airplanes, trucks and boats.”	他毫無歉意地聲稱，現在，“我提供的海洛因、冰毒、可卡因和大麻比世界上任何人都多。我有一支由潛艇、飛機、卡車和艦船組成的隊伍。”
Though his fortune, estimated at $1 billion, has come with a trail of blood, he does not consider himself a violent man. “Look, all I do is defend myself, nothing more,” he told Mr. Penn. “But do I start trouble? Never.”	儘管他那約10億美元的財產血跡斑斑，他卻並不認為自己是個暴徒。“其實，我只是自衛而已，”他告訴潘。“我會先挑起麻煩嗎？絕對不會。”
The seven hours Mr. Guzmán spent with Mr. Penn, and the follow-up interviews by phone and video — which began in October while he was on the run — marked another surreal turn in his long-running effort to evade the Mexican and American authorities. Mr. Guzmán, one of the world’s most wanted fugitives, who had twice escaped jail, was captured in his home state of Sinaloa in northwest Mexico on Friday after a gun battle with the authorities.	古茲曼與潘一起度過的七小時，以及通過電話和視頻進行的後續採訪——始於去年10月他在逃的時候——標志著他長期試圖逃脫墨西哥和美國當局追捕的又一個離奇回合。古茲曼是全世界最臭名昭著的通緝犯之一，曾兩次越獄。上週五，他在與當局槍戰後於墨西哥西北部的家鄉錫那羅亞州被抓獲。
Mr. Guzmán’s comments also mark a stark admission that he has operated a drug empire. Interviewed by a group of reporters in 1993 after a previous arrest, he denied that he engaged in drug dealing. “I’m a farmer,” he said, listing his produce as corn and beans. He denied that he used weapons or had significant funds.	古茲曼的言論也標志著他明確承認了他經營著毒品帝國。在1993年被捕後接受一群記者採訪時，他否認自己從事毒品交易。“我務農，”他說，自稱種植玉米、豆類等產品。他否認曾使用武器或擁有大量資金。

The interview with Mr. Penn, believed to be the first Mr. Guzmán has given in decades, was published online Saturday night, along with a video portion of the interview.	潘的采访据信是古兹曼几十年来的第一次。文章于周六晚上在网上公布，并附上了采访视频。
The interviews were held in a jungle clearing atop a mountain at an undisclosed location in Mexico. Surrounded by more than 100 cartel troops, and wearing a silk shirt and pressed black jeans, Mr. Guzmán sat down to dinner with Mr. Penn and Kate del Castillo, a Mexican actress who once played a drug kingpin in the soap opera "La Reina del Sur," according to Rolling Stone.	这些谈话在墨西哥一处秘密地点的一片山顶丛林空地中举行。《滚石》报道，在超过 100 名贩毒集团武装人员的包围下，古兹曼穿着丝绸衬衫和熨过的黑色牛仔裤，坐下来与潘和凯特·德尔卡斯蒂略(Kate del Castillo)共进晚餐。德尔卡斯蒂略是墨西哥演员，曾经在肥皂剧《南方女王》(La Reina del Sur) 中演过毒枭。
Even though Mexican troops attacked his hide-out in the days after the meeting, necessitating a narrow escape, Mr. Guzmán continued the interview by BlackBerry Messenger and in a video delivered by courier to the pair later.	墨西哥军队在这次碰面的几天后攻击了古兹曼的藏身地。九死一生的古兹曼仍然通过黑莓的即时通讯工具 BBM 接受采访，后来还用信使给潘和德尔卡斯蒂略送去了一则视频。
The story provides new details on his dramatic escape from prison last summer, when he disappeared through a hole in his shower into a mile-long tunnel that some engineers estimated took more than a year and at least $1 million to build. The engineers, Mr. Penn wrote, had been flown to Germany for specialized training. A motorcycle on rails inside the tunnel had been modified to run in the low-oxygen environment, deep underground.	《滚石》的文章为古兹曼去年夏天的惊人越狱提供了新细节。当时，他消失在淋浴区的一个洞中，通过一英里的隧道出逃。一些工程师估计，隧道花了一年多的时间挖掘，花费至少为 100 万美元。潘写道，建隧道的工程师为此坐飞机到德国进行了专门培训。隧道内部的轨道摩托车经过改装，可以在地下深层的低氧环境中运行。
Mr. Penn's account is likely to deepen the concern among the Mexican authorities already embarrassed by Mr. Guzmán's multiple escapes, the months required to find him again and his status for some as something of a folk hero. Mr. Penn describes being waved through a military road checkpoint on his way to meet Mr. Guzmán, which Mr.	由于古兹曼多次逃脱，时隔多个月才再次被捕，又有人视他为民间英雄，墨西哥当局已是处境难堪，潘的说法很可能会进一步加深该国政府官员的担忧。潘描述，在前去见古兹曼途中，他们在一处军事关卡被挥手放行，他猜测可能是因为军人认出了古兹曼的儿子。潘说，在某段乘坐备有地面雷达干扰装置的小型飞机的旅途中，他被告知集团获内部人员告密，军方部署了一

Penn suggested was because the soldiers recognized Mr. Guzmán's son. Mr. Penn said he was also told, during a leg of the journey taken in a small plane equipped with a scrambling device for ground radar only, that the cartel was informed by an insider when the military deployed a high-altitude surveillance plane that might have spotted their movements.	架高空侦察机，可能已经注意到他们的行动。
In the end, the Mexican authorities said Friday night that Mr. Guzmán had been caught partly because he had been planning a movie about his life, and had contacted actors and producers, which had helped the authorities to track him down. Mr. Penn's story says Mr. Guzmán, inundated with Hollywood offers while in prison, had indeed elected to make his own movie. Ms. del Castillo, whom he contacted through his lawyer after she posted supportive messages on Twitter, was the only person he trusted to shepherd the project, the story says. Mr. Penn heard about the connection with Ms. del Castillo through a mutual acquaintance, and asked if he might do an interview.	最后，墨西哥当局于周五夜间表示，之所以能抓获古兹曼，部分是因为他正在筹拍一部有关自己生平电影，并联络了多名演员和制片人，从而帮助当局追查到了他的下落。潘的文章称，古兹曼在狱中收到大量的好莱坞邀约，实际上选择了要自己拍摄这部电影。文中称，德尔卡斯蒂略在 Twitter 上发表支持言论后，古兹曼透过律师与她接触，认定她是唯一一个他信任让其牵头进行电影项目的人。潘透过一名共同熟人得知德尔卡斯蒂略与古兹曼的关系，并向其询问能否进行采访。
It is not clear whether the contacts described in the story are the ones that led to Mr. Guzmán's arrest. Mr. Penn wrote that he had gone to great lengths to maintain security while arranging to meet Mr. Guzmán. He described labeling cheap "burner" phones, "one per contact, one per day, destroy, burn, buy, balancing levels of encryption, mirroring through Blackphones, anonymous email addresses, unsent messages accessed in draft form." Nevertheless, he wrote, "There is no question in my mind but that DEA and the Mexican government are tracking our movements," referring to the United States Drug Enforcement	目前没有人知道是不是这篇文章里提到的接触导致了古兹曼被捕。潘写道，在安排与古兹曼会面时，自己竭尽全力采取措施保证安全。他描述了自己给廉价的“即抛型”手机做标记，“每次联络用一个，每天用一个，销毁、抛弃、购买，权衡加密级别，用 Blackphone、匿名的电邮地址和未发送的邮件草稿来展开镜像联络。”尽管如此，他写道，“我脑中明确无误地知道，DEA 和墨西哥政府一定在追踪我们的一举一动。”DEA 是美国禁毒署(United States Drug Enforcement Administration)的缩写。一名因事项保密而不愿具名的墨西哥政府官员称，当局知晓古兹曼与潘的会面。

Administration. A Mexican government official, speaking on the condition of anonymity to describe confidential matters, said the authorities were aware of the meeting with Mr. Penn.
Mr. Penn and Mr. Guzmán spoke for seven hours, the story reports, at a compound amid dense jungle. Mr. Guzmán does not speak English, and the interview was conducted in Spanish through translators.	文中称，潘与古兹曼在茂密丛林中的一处建筑里谈了七个小时。古兹曼不懂英语，因此采访透过译员以西班牙语进行。
It was not immediately clear what the ethical and legal considerations of the article might be. In a disclosure that ran with the story, Rolling Stone said it had changed some names and withheld some locations. An understanding was reached with Mr. Guzmán, it said, that the story would be submitted for his approval, but he did not request any changes. The magazine declined to comment further Saturday.	这篇文章可能涉及的道德和法律问题，目前仍是未知数。在与文章一同刊登的公开声明中，《滚石》杂志称其改变了部分名称并隐瞒了部分地点。它说，杂志与古兹曼达成了谅解，文章会交予他过目批准，但他并没有要求作出任何改动。周六的时候，《滚石》拒绝进一步置评。
A Mexican official said late Saturday that all actors and producers who met with Mr. Guzman, which includes Mr. Penn, were under investigation. But it remained unclear whether the circumstances of the meeting were the subject of inquiry or the individuals themselves would face scrutiny from the Mexican government.	一名墨西哥官员在周六晚间表示，所有与古兹曼会面的演员及制片人都在接受调查，其中包括了潘。但目前尚不清楚，调查的内容是会面的具体情况，还是他们个人将面对墨西哥政府的严查。
The topics of conversation turned in unexpected directions. At one stage, Mr. Penn brought up Donald J. Trump, the Republican presidential candidate; there were some reports that Mr. Guzmán had put a $100 million bounty on Mr. Trump after he made comments offensive to Mexicans. "Ah! Mi amigo!" Mr. Guzmán responded.	古兹曼与潘交流的话题有一些出人意料之处。潘一度提及共和党总统候选人唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump); 有报道称，特朗普对墨西哥人口出恶言之后，古兹曼对他悬赏了1亿美元。“得了吧！我的朋友！”古兹曼如此回应。
He asked Mr. Penn whether people in the United States were interested in him and laughed when Mr. Penn told him that the Fusion channel was repeating a documentary on him, "Chasing El Chapo."	他问潘，美国民众是否对自己感兴趣。当潘告诉他，Fusion频道在重新制作关于他的纪录片《追捕“矮子”》(Chasing El Chapo)时，古兹曼笑了起来。

In a wider-ranging interview, for which Mr. Penn submitted questions that were put to Mr. Guzmán on video by one of his associates, he detailed his childhood and said he had tried drugs during his life but had never been an addict and had not touched them for 20 years. He said that he was happy to be free, and that the pressure of evading the authorities was normal for him.	在进一步的采访中，潘事先提交了一些问题，由古兹曼的一名熟人提问并拍摄成视频。古兹曼在视频中详细回忆了自己的童年，透露自己曾尝试过毒品，但从未上瘾，而且20年没有再碰过。他表示很高兴重获自由，而躲避当局的压力对他而言再正常不过。
Pushed on the morality of his business, he said it was a reality “that drugs destroy. Unfortunately, as I said, where I grew up there was no other way and there still isn’t a way to survive, no way to work in our economy to be able to make a living.” If he disappeared, he said, it would make no difference to the drug business.	当被逼问自己从事的买卖有何道德问题时，他说“毒品毁人”的确是事实，但“不幸的是，就像我说过的那样，我长大的地方别无选择，今天依然如此，无法在我们的经济中找到谋生手段。”就算自己消失了，他说，毒品生意也不会受到任何影响。
Asked about the violence attached to his work, he said in part it happened “because already some people already grow up with problems, and there is some envy and they have information against someone else. That is what creates violence.”	当被问到与他的毒品事业有关的暴力行为时，他表示之所以发生暴力，部分“是因为本来有些人本来就麻烦缠身，心生嫉妒，又有了对付别人的把柄。结果就产生了暴力。”
Mr. Guzmán, Mr. Penn said, was familiar with the final days of Pablo Escobar, the Colombian drug boss who had previously been the world’s most notorious and who died in a shootout with the authorities. How, he asked, did Mr. Guzmán see his last days? “I know one day I will die,” he said. “I hope it’s of natural causes.”	潘表示，古兹曼对哥伦比亚大毒枭帕布罗·埃斯科巴(Pablo Escobar)的下场心知肚明。埃斯科巴曾是世上最恶名远扬的毒枭，在与当局的枪战中毙命。潘问古兹曼如何看待自己的下场。“我知道有一天我会死去，”他说。“我希望是自然死亡。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160111/c11rollingstone	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160111/c11rollingstone
How Rolling Stone Handled Ramifications of El Chapo Exclusive	西恩·潘专访毒枭引发争议：该让古兹曼审核吗
Several months ago, Jann Wenner, a founder of Rolling Stone magazine, received a call from the actor Sean Penn.	数月前，《滚石》杂志(Rolling Stone)的创办人扬·温纳(Jann Wenner)接到了演员西恩·潘(Sean Penn)打来的一通电话。
Mr. Penn, Mr. Wenner said in an interview on Sunday, wanted to discuss	温纳在周日的访谈中表示，潘当时是想和他讨论一件要事，但又不想在电话

something important. But he did not want to speak openly over the phone, so the two began to speak elliptically about a potential project.	上讲得太直白，所以他们就拐弯抹角地谈起了一个可以进行的计划。
That vague conversation was the beginning of what eventually became an article, written by Mr. Penn, that rocked both Mexico and the United States when it was published Saturday night. It was an exclusive interview with Joaquín Guzmán Loera, the notorious drug kingpin known as El Chapo, that was conducted while Mr. Guzmán was on the run from the authorities after an audacious escape from a Mexican prison last year.	这一席模糊的谈话最终演变成潘执笔的一篇文章。此文在周六晚间发表后，在墨西哥与美国均造成了轰动。这是一篇独家专访，主角乔奎因·古兹曼·洛埃拉(Joaquín Guzmán Loera)是个恶名昭彰的毒梟，人称“矮子”(El Chapo)。古兹曼去年刚自墨西哥监狱脱逃成功，肆无忌惮，接受潘访问的时候仍然在逃。
The 10,000-word article includes accusations of cooperation between the military and Mr. Guzmán's Sinaloa cartel, as well as Mr. Guzmán's acknowledgment of his status as a drug dealer and his thoughts about the ethical implications of his business. Mr. Guzmán, whose escape from prison — his second — made him one of the most wanted fugitives in the world, was caught on Friday, before the article was published.	在这篇长达一万单词的文章里，潘声称墨西哥军方和古兹曼领导的锡纳罗亚贩毒集团有勾结，古兹曼则自称是个毒品贩子。对于自己的生意牵涉的道德问题，他也发表了看法。古兹曼在这次越狱——已是他第二次逃狱——之后，成为全世界最臭名昭著的逃犯，而他也在文章公之于世之前，就在上周五被抓获了。
But after its publication, questions have been raised about the ethics for the magazine in dealing with Mr. Guzmán, a criminal being sought on charges of drug trafficking and murder, and in allowing him to approve what would ultimately be published about him. The Republican presidential candidate Marco Rubio, speaking Sunday on "This Week," on ABC News, acknowledged Mr. Penn's "constitutional right" to meet with Mr. Guzmán, but called the interview "grotesque."	然而这篇文章刊出后，众人开始质疑，《滚石》杂志和古兹曼的往来是否有违专业伦理。古兹曼是个背负走私毒品与谋杀罪名的逃犯不说，滚石还允许他审核这篇关于他本人的文章。周日时，共和党总统候选人马尔科·卢比奥(Marco Rubio)在ABC新闻台的《本周》(This Week)节目上表示，他承认潘有“受到宪法保障的权利”去和古兹曼见面，但他还是认为这次专访很“诡异”。
Steve Coll, the dean of the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism, said he was concerned by the editorial approval offered to	哥伦比亚大学新闻研究生院的院长史蒂夫·科尔(Steve Coll)也表示，他对《滚石》允许古兹曼染指编辑权一事感到不安。不过科尔还是说，最终，“不论

Mr. Guzmán. But ultimately, he said, "scoring an exclusive interview with a wanted criminal is legitimate journalism no matter who the reporter is."	记者是谁，做成一篇通缉要犯的独家专访，还是在合理的新闻范畴之内。”
Mr. Wenner said that he did not think it was plausible that the magazine would become embroiled in the legal case against Mr. Guzmán. "They got their man, so what do they need us for?" he said. "There is nothing we can add anymore."	温纳表示，他并不认为《滚石》杂志会因此卷入和古兹曼有关的法律案件。“想抓的人都已经抓到了，还找我们做什么呢？”他反问道。“我们没有可以再帮忙的地方了。”
A lawyer for the magazine, and its managing editor, Jason Fine, were eventually brought in to help with the editing process. Work on the article was completed about two weeks ago, Mr. Wenner said, but because of Rolling Stone's production cycle, those involved were subjected to an excruciating wait for the next issue, during which time Mr. Guzmán was captured.	身兼《滚石》杂志律师与执行主编二职的杰森·法恩(Jason Fine)，最终也加入到这篇文章的编辑工作中。温纳透露，文章大约在两周前就完稿了，不过为了配合杂志的刊印周期，所有当事人不得不熬过漫长的等待，直到新一期出刊为止。古兹曼也就是在这段期间被捕获的。
The reporting and editing of the article were closely held, in part, to avoid the authorities. "I was worried that I did not want to provide the details that would be responsible for his capture," Mr. Wenner said. "We were very conscientious on our end and on Sean's end, keeping it quiet, using a separate protected part of our server for emails."	文章的报道与编辑工作进行得非常隐密，部分原因就是为避开当局。“我很担心，因为我不想提供可能导致古兹曼被捕的线索，”温纳表示。“我们这边非常小心，西恩也是，行事低调，只透过公司服务器上受到保护的独立部分收发电邮。”
Around Thanksgiving, as Mr. Penn negotiated with Mr. Guzmán and his intermediaries to include a video component of the interview, which was eventually sent to him by courier, the magazine was convinced that it would have to resist pressure from the authorities in the United States and Mexico who would want to learn as much as they could about Mr. Guzmán's whereabouts.	感恩节前后，潘与古兹曼及其中间人进行了协商，希望在采访中纳入视频部分——最终这则视频通过信使交给了潘。在协商期间，《滚石》确信，美国和墨西哥当局会希望从杂志这里得到尽可能多的有关古兹曼下落的消息，而杂志必须抵挡住这种压力。
"We made sure we didn't have any information to give them, other than	"我们要确保，除了刊登出来的东西，手里没有任何值得交给他们的信息，”

what we published," he said. "But we would have done everything that a traditional journalism operation would have done in terms of protecting sources."	他说。“不过，我们本来也会按照传统新闻机构保护信源的标准竭尽所能。”
Mr. Wenner said that Mr. Guzmán seemed to have become careless with those he contacted while on the run, and would most likely have been tracked whether or not Mr. Penn wrote an article. In fact, the meeting between Mr. Guzmán and Mr. Penn had been monitored by the authorities, according to a Mexican official with knowledge of the operation. That led to an October raid on Mr. Guzmán's compound in the state of Durango in which he managed to evade capture but which gave the authorities more intelligence about his movements.	温纳表示，在逃跑过程中，古兹曼似乎对自己的对外联络有所松懈，不管潘有没有写这篇文章，当局都可能追查到他的踪迹。实际上，根据一名知情的墨西哥官员的说法，古兹曼与潘的会面受到了当局的监控。这导致古兹曼在杜兰戈州的藏身处10月份遭到突击行动的打击，虽然他本人侥幸逃脱，但让当局掌握了有关他行踪的更多情报。
There is a long history of journalists interviewing subjects who were either on the run from the authorities or who were considered unsavory for other reasons. Osama bin Laden was interviewed through the late 1990s, after he had declared jihad on the United States (though before the Sept. 11 attacks). In 2013, the former basketball star Dennis Rodman went to North Korea to meet with that country's repressive dictator, Kim Jong-un, for Vice.	新闻工作者采访躲避当局追捕的对象或因其他理由而臭名昭著的人物的做法由来已久。90年代末，奥萨马·本·拉登(Osama bin Laden)宣布向美国发起圣战之后（但在9·11袭击之前），曾多次接受采访。2013年，退役的篮球明星丹尼斯·罗德曼(Dennis Rodman)代表Vice前往朝鲜与该国的独裁者金正恩(Kim Jong-un)会面。
As for giving Mr. Guzmán final approval over the article, Mr. Wenner said: "I don't think it was a meaningful thing in the first place. We have let people in the past approve their quotes in interviews."	至于允许古兹曼对文章进行最终审核一事，温纳表示：“首先我认为这并没有什么意义。我们过去一直让信源审核在采访中的引语。”
Mr. Guzmán, he said, did not speak English and seemed to have little interest in editing Mr. Penn's work. "In this case, it was a small thing to do in exchange for what we got," Mr. Wenner said.	他说，古兹曼不会英语，没有表现出对编辑潘的文章有什么兴趣。“就这次的情况而言，这是为了我们得到的东西而做的小小交换。”
Still, critics of Rolling Stone remain unconvinced. Andrew Seaman, the	不过，这并未说服批评《滚石》的人士。职业记者协会(Society of Professional

chair of the ethics committee for the Society of Professional Journalists, wrote in a blog post that “allowing any source control over a story’s content is inexcusable.”	Journalists)的伦理委员会主席安德鲁·西曼(Andrew Seaman)在博客上撰文指出, “任何允许信源掌控文章内容的做法都是不可原谅的。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160112/c12rollingstone	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160112/c12rollingstone
Istanbul Suicide Bombing Kills 10; Turkey Blames ISIS	伊斯坦布尔恐袭 10 人死亡, 土耳其谴责 ISIS
ISTANBUL — On any given day, the heart of this city’s historic district, where the monuments of three empires — Roman, Byzantine and Ottoman — collide with a mix of majesty and tranquillity, is a bustling center of tourism, one of the world’s most visited places.	伊斯坦布尔——这座城市中心地带的古老街区汇聚着三大帝国——罗马、拜占庭和奥斯曼帝国——的古迹, 交织着庄严和宁静的气氛, 一年到头, 这里都是繁华的旅游中心, 是世界上观光客最多的地方之一。
Mixing among German tourists on Tuesday morning, not far from the celebrated Blue Mosque, the authorities said, was an Islamic State operative from Syria in his late 20s, wearing a vest of explosives and determined to kill as many people as possible.	土耳其当局说, 本周二上午, 在距离著名的蓝色清真寺不远的地方, 一群德国游客中混进了一名来自叙利亚的伊斯兰国(Islamic State)行动人员, 他大约 30 岁年纪, 身穿炸药背心, 一心要炸死尽可能多的人。
The attack left 10 tourists dead, all foreigners, and like other terrorist strikes in recent months in Paris; Beirut, Lebanon; Mali; Egypt; and Baghdad, it resonated far beyond Turkey as civilians were again cut down while going about their daily lives.	这次袭击造成了十名游客遇难, 全都是外国人。就像近几个月在巴黎、黎巴嫩的贝鲁特、马里、埃及和巴格达发生的其他恐怖袭击一样, 它的影响远远超出土耳其的国境, 因为平民再一次在日常生活中遭到了杀戮。
“Today, Istanbul was hit,” said Angela Merkel, the German chancellor, in a statement. “Paris has been hit. Tunisia has been hit. Ankara has been hit before.”	“今天, 伊斯坦布尔遭受了袭击,” 德国总理默克尔在一份声明中说。“巴黎已经被袭。突尼斯已经被袭。安卡拉之前也已经被袭。”
She continued, “Once again, international terrorism is showing its cruel and inhuman face today.”	她说: “今天, 国际恐怖主义再一次展示了它的残忍与冷酷。”
The attack at a bustling center of tourism here underscored what security and political analysts say is an inevitable and grim byproduct of the fight against terrorism and the self-declared Islamic State: Attacks	安全和政治分析人士说, 打击恐怖主义和自封的伊斯兰国必然带来严峻的副作用, 这在本次繁华旅游中心发生的袭击中就突显了出来: 针对“软目标”的袭击虽然数量不多, 但很可能持续下去, 时不时出现一次, 令人不寒而栗。

against so-called “soft targets,” while few in number, are likely to continue with chilling regularity.
Tuesday’s bombing came as the Islamic State faces increasing pressure from an international military coalition — of which Turkey and Germany are members — that has accelerated attacks on the group’s oil infrastructure and has recently driven it from one of its key cities in Iraq, the provincial capital Ramadi.	周二爆炸发生之际，一个国际军事联盟正在对伊斯兰国施加越来越大的压力——土耳其和德国都是该联盟成员——它加快了对伊斯兰国石油基础设施的打击，最近还把它从伊拉克重镇、省会城市拉马迪赶了出去。
“It’s clear that they’ve diversified their strategy and are determined to target more soft targets outside their areas, that is, in Syria and Iraq,” said Daniel Benjamin, a scholar at Dartmouth and a former coordinator for counterterrorism at the State Department during President Obama’s first term. He added, “There is a paradoxical situation where they seem to be inflicting more pain while at the same time they are suffering setbacks.”	“很明显，他们在推进战略的多元化，决心超出他们的区域，也就是在叙利亚和伊拉克之外，攻击更多的软目标，”达特茅斯学院(Dartmouth)学者丹尼尔·本杰明(Daniel Benjamin)说，他在奥巴马第一个任期中担任过美国国务院反恐工作协调人。他还表示，“事情出现了两面化，一方面他们似乎在造成更多的痛苦，另一方面他们自己也陷入了不利境地。”
The Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL, did not immediately claim credit for the attack Tuesday, but Prime Minister Ahmet Davutoglu said it appeared that the attacker — whom President Recep Tayyip Erdogan identified as Syrian — had connections with the terror group.	伊斯兰国也被称为 ISIS 或 ISIL，他们没有立即表示对周二的袭击事件负责，但土耳其总理艾哈迈德·达武特奥卢(Ahmet Davutoglu)说，袭击者似乎与伊斯兰国有联系——总统雷杰普·塔伊普·埃尔多安(Recep Tayyip Erdogan)称袭击者是叙利亚人。
For Mr. Erdogan, the participation of a Syrian is likely to complicate his government’s cooperation with the European Union in stemming the flow of migrants from Turkey’s shores to Europe, while also steeling his resolve to keep Syrians out of Turkey altogether.	埃尔多安政府正在与欧盟合作，阻止移民从土耳其海岸前往欧洲。对埃尔多安而言，一名叙利亚人参与本次袭击很可能会令这种合作变得复杂，同时也促使他下定决心要阻止叙利亚人进入土耳其。
Already the country has effectively shut its southern border with Syria to new refugees. Last week, it instituted new visa regulations for Syrians arriving by air, a decision that stranded hundreds of Syrians at the	土耳其实际上已经关闭与叙利亚的南部边界，不让新的难民进入。上周，他们还针对乘飞机抵达的叙利亚人制定了新的签证规定，导致数以百计的叙利亚人滞留贝鲁特机场。 airport in Beirut.

It's unclear if the bomber specially looked for Germans to kill. "By targeting Germans, ISIS seems intent on creating an anti-refugee backlash in Europe, hoping to fuel already rising anti-Islam sentiments on the continent," said Soner Cagaptay, an expert on Turkey at the Washington Institute for Near East Policy.	目前还不清楚这起袭击是否特意针对德国人。“欧洲大陆的反伊斯兰教情绪已经在发酵，ISIS 袭击德国人，似乎希望助长这种情绪，想在欧洲引发一股反难民的逆流，”华盛顿近东政策研究所(Washington Institute for Near East Policy)的土耳其问题分析师索内尔·恰阿普塔伊(Soner Cagaptay)说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160113/c13turkey	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160113/c13turkey
Iran's Swift Release of U.S. Sailors Hailed as a Sign of Warmer Relations	“擅闯”事件大事化小，美国伊朗走出冷冻期？
TEHRAN, Iran — Iran's release of 10 U.S. Navy sailors on Wednesday, less than 24 hours after they were detained on the Persian Gulf, is being hailed in both countries as a sign that their relations have evolved since the signing of the nuclear accord last summer.	伊朗德黑兰——伊朗周三释放了 10 名美国海军士兵。他们的获释距离在波斯湾被扣留不到 24 小时。两国均称这一迹象表明，自去年夏天签署核协议以来，两国关系得到了发展。
Secretary of State John Kerry thanked the Iranians "for their cooperation in swiftly resolving this matter" and suggested in a statement that the quick resolution of the issue was a product of the nearly daily back-and-forth that now takes place between Washington and Tehran, after three decades of hostility and stony silence.	美国国务卿约翰·克里(John Kerry)感谢伊朗“为迅速解决此事而给予的合作”，并在一份声明中表示，此事得以快速解决，是美伊几乎每天都在进行沟通的结果，此前两国经历了 30 多年的敌视和冰冷的沉默。
In an appearance later Wednesday at the National Defense University in Washington, Mr. Kerry said that his focus on diplomacy with a country "we hadn't talked to for 35 years" before the nuclear negotiations had paid off.	周三晚些时候现身华盛顿国家国防大学(National Defense University)时，克里表示他重视与伊朗的外交关系，称在核谈判显出成效之前，“我们 35 年没说过话”。
"These are always situations that as everybody knows, if not properly handled, can get out of control," Mr. Kerry said. "We can all imagine how a similar situation might have played out three or four years ago." The crew members of two patrol boats were detained on Tuesday after	“正如大家知道的那样，这些情况如果处理不当，就可能失控，”克里说。“我们都能想象到，如果三四年前出现类似的情况会怎么样。”两艘巡逻船上的船员是周二被扣留的。伊朗官方新闻媒体称，巡逻船“擅自闯入”了一个重要海军基地附近的伊朗水域。过去发生的类似事件，如 2007 年英国海军被扣

what Iranian state news media described as “trespassing” in Iranian waters near a major naval base. Similar episodes in the past, like the seizure of British marines in 2007, have developed into prolonged standoffs that further alienated Tehran and the West.	留一事，都发展成了旷日持久的对峙，导致伊朗和西方进一步疏远。
This time was different. The Pentagon and the State Department initially said that one of the boats had experienced mechanical problems en route to Bahrain from Kuwait in a routine mission on Tuesday, and that the Iranians appeared to have accepted the explanation.	这一次却不同。五角大楼和国务院起初表示，在周二从巴林前往科威特执行任务的路上，其中一艘船出现了机械故障，并称伊朗似乎接受了这个解释。
On Wednesday morning, however, after the crew members and boats were returned, defense officials said they no longer believed that mechanical problems were the cause, noting that both boats returned to United States custody under their own power.	然而，周三上午，当人员和船只被交还后，国防部官员称他们不再认为机械故障是事件的原因，称两艘船都是自己回到美国的保护范围内的。
Defense officials said that they were still trying to untangle the chain of events that led to the episode. Of particular note, they said, was the question of how the military lost contact with not one, but two boats. Several officials noted that the crew members were relatively young, junior enlisted sailors. For now, questions about the incident itself seemed secondary to how it was resolved. While the countries still have a long way to go before normalizing relations, analysts say a less charged atmosphere that allowed the speedy resolution is a reflection of changing priorities in Tehran and Washington.	国防部官员称他们仍在尝试理清造成此事的一连串事件。他们表示，特别要注意的问题是，军方是如何与不止一艘而是两艘船失去联系的。几名官员指出，相关船员都是相对较年轻的低级别士兵。目前，相对于如何解决此事，有关事件本身的问题似乎是次要的。尽管两国关系正常化还有很长的一段路要走，但分析人士称，让此事得以迅速解决的这种不那么剑拔弩张的氛围，反映出伊朗和美国的重点正在转变。
“The top leadership of the Islamic Republic of Iran is not looking for any tension with America,” said Nader Karimi Joni, a journalist aligned with Iran’s reformists who once served in the Islamic Revolutionary Guards	“伊朗伊斯兰共和国的最高领导人不希望与美国发生任何冲突，”曾在伊斯兰革命卫队(Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps)服役的纳德尔·卡里米·约尼(Nader Karimi Joni)说。现在是一名记者，并支持伊朗改革派的约尼接着表

Corps. Under President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, he added, the "whole system sought tension."	示, 马哈茂德·艾哈迈迪内贾德(Mahmoud Ahmadinejad)总统领导下的"整个体系都在寻找冲突"。
He continued: "Now, things have changed. Both sides, America and Iran, are in direct contact and they seek détente. Currently there is no need for anti-Americanism."	他接着说:"现在, 情况变了。美伊双方直接接触, 寻求缓和关系。目前不需要反美情绪。"
The sailors' release was announced shortly before 10 a.m. on an Iranian state-run news channel, IRINN. "The detained U.S. sailors, after it was realized that their entry into Iran's territorial waters was unintentional, and after the sailors apologized, were released into international waters in the Persian Gulf," the channel reported, attributing the statement to the Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps.	美国海军获释的消息是快到早上10点时, 通过伊朗官方新闻频道 IRINN 宣布的。"在了解到美国海军进入伊朗水域是无意的, 且对方做出道歉后, 被扣美国海军被送回了波斯湾的国际水域," 该频道报道说, 并称相关声明出自伊斯兰革命卫队。
The United States Naval Forces Central Command in Bahrain confirmed the release, saying in a statement that there were "no indications that the sailors were harmed during their brief detention" and that the Navy would "investigate the circumstances that led to the sailors' presence in Iran."	设在巴林的美国海军中央司令部(United States Naval Forces Central Command)证实了人员获释的消息, 并在一份声明中称"没有迹象表明船员在短暂被扣期间受到了伤害", 还说海军方面将"对导致船员进入伊朗水域的情况进行调查"。
The sailors were being flown to an American military facility in Qatar, where they were to be debriefed and given medical exams, a senior Defense Department official said.	获释船员已经乘飞机前往美国位于卡塔尔的一处军事设施。国防部的一名高级官员称, 在那里, 他们将就此事进行汇报并接受体检。
The defense secretary, Ashton B. Carter, released a statement commending the "timely way in which this situation was resolved" and thanked Mr. Kerry "for his diplomatic engagement with Iran to secure our sailors' swift return."	国防部长阿什顿·B·卡特(Ashton B. Carter)发表了一份声明, 称赞"此次事件得到了及时解决", 并感谢克里"为让我们的船员快速回归而与伊朗进行的外交斡旋"。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160114/c14ships	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160114/c14ships
Iran Complies With Nuclear Deal; Sanctions Are Lifted	伊朗履行核协议, 欧美解除对伊制裁

VIENNA — International inspectors confirmed Saturday that Iran had dismantled large sections of its nuclear program, as agreed in a historic agreement last summer, paving the way for the lifting of oil and financial sanctions by the United States and other world powers.	维也纳——国际核查人员在周六确认，伊朗履行了去年夏季达成的历史性协议，拆除了其核计划的大量设施，为解除美国等世界大国对伊朗实施的石油及金融制裁铺平了道路。
The announcement came just hours after Iran said it had released four Americans, including a Washington Post reporter, Jason Rezaian, as part of a prisoner swap with the United States. U.S. officials said the two deals were negotiated separately, but Secretary of State John Kerry had made it clear in recent weeks that he was engaged in behind-the-scenes talks on the fate of the Americans, and clearly wanted the issue cleared up before the nuclear agreement went into effect.	就在上述声明公布的几小时之前，伊朗表示已释放四名美国人，其中包括《华盛顿邮报》(Washington Post)记者贾森·礼萨安(Jason Rezaian)，以此作为与美国达成的囚徒交换计划的一部分。美国官员称这两项协议是通过互不关联的谈判达成的，但国务卿约翰·克里(John Kerry)最近几周明确表示，他参与了涉及这些美国人命运的幕后谈判，明显希望该问题在核协议生效前得到解决。
In a statement, the director general of the International Atomic Energy Agency, Yukiya Amano, said that “agency inspectors on the ground verified that Iran has carried out all measures required under the JCPOA, to enable implementation day to occur,” using the abbreviation for the accord, the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action.	国际原子能机构(International Atomic Energy Agency)总干事天野之弥(Yukiya Amano)在声明中表示，“现场的核查人员证实，伊朗完成了开始执行联合全面行动计划(Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action, 简称 JCPOA)所要求的全部必要步骤。”
In recent weeks, Iran has shipped 98 percent of its nuclear fuel out of the country, destroyed the innards of a major plutonium-producing reactor and mothballed more than 12,000 of the centrifuges that enrich uranium.	最近几周里，伊朗将 98% 的核燃料运送出国，摧毁了一座主要的钚反应堆的内部构造，并封存了 1.2 万余台浓缩铀的离心机。
For President Barack Obama, the lifting of the sanctions — a step attacked by Republicans in Congress, who voted unanimously against the nuclear deal — is a major step in ending more than three decades of hostility between the two countries. In the waning months of his	对于美国总统贝拉克·奥巴马来说，解除制裁——此举遭到共和党议员的抨击，他们曾一致投票反对这项核协议——是朝着终结两国 30 多年来的敌对状态迈出的重要一步。在总统任期的最后几个月，此举能够实现奥巴马曾经做出的扭转两国关系的承诺，显然会成为其政绩的一项决定性要素。

presidency, it fulfills a promise Obama made to reverse course in the countries' relations, and will clearly be one of the defining elements of his legacy.
Iran's actions, he has argued, will assure the United States at least a year's notice if Iran races to build a bomb, and it ends peacefully a confrontation that led to some of the most severe economic sanctions ever, sabotage of Iran's facilities by a U.S.-Israeli cyberoperation and periodic threats of military action if Iran failed to relent. His critics in Congress claim that the effort is dangerously naïve, and that Iran will use the roughly $100 billion in frozen assets it will receive to support terrorism and other misadventures and, after a few years, when attention has turned elsewhere, will return to surreptitiously building a nuclear weapon.	他提出，伊朗采取的这些措施将能保证，如果该国赶制核弹，美国至少能提前一年获知。此举还和平地终结了两国的对立状态。这种对立导致美国采取了有史以来最为严厉的经济制裁措施，美国和以色列还联合开展了黑客行动来破坏伊朗的核设施，并不时威胁，如果伊朗不退让，美国将会开展军事行动。批评奥巴马的国会议员声称，这种做法过于天真，非常危险，伊朗将会利用解冻的大约1000亿美元资产来支持恐怖主义和其他恶行，几年之后，当外界的注意力转移到其他地方时，伊朗会重新秘密打造核武器。
Speaking to reporters late Saturday night at the IAEA's headquarters overlooking the Danube here, Kerry said that he had now achieved his goal: rolling back Iran's facilities so far that the United States would have at least a year's notice if the country were to race for a bomb. "We would know it almost immediately and we would have time to respond appropriately," he said.	克里周六深夜在俯瞰多瑙河的国际原子能机构总部对记者们表示，他现在实现了目标：在很大程度上削弱了伊朗的核设施，如果伊朗赶制核弹，美国至少有一年的回旋余地。“我们会几乎立即知道，有时间做出适当回应，”他说。
The completion of the deal comes at a crucial time for the Iranian government of President Hassan Rouhani, who came to power vowing to get rid of the crippling sanctions and faces a critical parliamentary election at the end of February. Iranian officials raced to dismantle the facilities quickly — U.S. intelligence agencies had estimated it would take far longer — so that they could go to the polls with news that the	该协议的实施时机，正值伊朗总统哈桑·鲁哈尼(Hassan Rouhani)领导的政府处于关键期。上台执政时，他承诺让伊朗摆脱带来极大破坏的制裁。他将在2月末迎来至关重要的议会选举。美国情报机构原本预计他们花费的时间要长得多，但伊朗官员快速拆除了核设施，以便在举行投票时能够宣布，资产——主要来自石油销售——已被解冻，可以用来支撑该国陷入萎缩的疲弱经济的发展。 frozen assets, mostly from oil sales, had been released, and could be used to prop up an ailing, contracting economy.

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160117/c17iran	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160117/c17iran
U.S. Imposes New Sanctions Over Iran Missile Tests	美国针对伊朗导弹试验实施新制裁
WASHINGTON — The Obama administration announced Sunday that it was imposing new, more limited sanctions on some Iranian citizens and companies for violating United Nations resolutions against ballistic missile tests. The move came less than 24 hours after the White House lifted broader sanctions against Iran for its nuclear program.	华盛顿——奥巴马政府于周日宣布，因为一些伊朗公民和公司违背联合国禁止进行弹道导弹试验的决议，将对他们施加较为有限的新制裁。而在不到24小时之前，白宫才刚解除了因为核计划而对伊朗施加的广泛制裁。
The announcement, which was prepared several weeks ago but delayed by the Treasury Department, was made shortly after a Swiss plane carrying Americans freed by the Iranian authorities departed Tehran. The release of the Americans came a day after Iran and the United States concluded delicate negotiations on a prisoner exchange tied indirectly to the completion of a nuclear agreement.	一架载有伊朗当局释放的美国人的瑞士飞机飞离德黑兰后不久，奥巴马政府就宣布了上述新制裁举措。这一措施是在几周前拟定的，但被财政部(Treasury Department)推迟发布。伊朗与美国结束有关囚犯交换的棘手谈判一天之后，伊朗释放了美国人。交换囚犯与美伊核协议的实施有着间接的联系。
President Obama on Sunday hailed the agreements with Iran as the beginning of what he hoped would be a new era of constructive relations between two nations, which have been long estranged over ideology and regional ambitions.	周日，奥巴马总统称赞与伊朗达成的协议，称希望这能开启两国间建设性关系的新时代。一直以来，两国关系都因为意识形态及地区野心而疏远。
"This is a good day," Mr. Obama said in a televised statement from the White House.	"今天是个好日子，"奥巴马在白宫发表电视讲话时说。
"We have a rare chance to pursue a new path, a different, better future that delivers progress for both our peoples and the wider world," said Mr. Obama, who has staked his political credibility on the opening with Iran. "That's the opportunity before the Iranian people. We need to take	"我们有一个不可多得的机遇来寻求新道路，寻求一个不同的、更好的未来，推动我们两国人民及世界的进步发展，"奥巴马说。"这是摆在伊朗人民面前的机会，我们需要抓住这个机会。"奥巴马在与伊朗开启新关系的问题上，赌上了自己的政治信誉。 advantage of that.”

But Mr. Obama vowed to continue monitoring Iran’s nuclear program to ensure it does not cheat and said he would work to restrain any aggressive behavior by Iran, including terrorist activity and human rights abuses.	但奥巴马信誓旦旦地表示,会继续监控伊朗的核计划,以确保伊朗不会作弊,并表示自己将会努力遏制伊朗的任何过激行为,比如恐怖活动及侵犯人权的行为。
He also noted the new sanctions on those involved with Iran’s recent ballistic missile tests conducted in violation of United Nations restrictions, but he did not elaborate or dwell on that dispute.	他还提到了对那些违背联合国限制,参与伊朗近期弹道导弹试验的人员所施加的新制裁,但对于这一争端他没有详细阐述。
In a statement, the Treasury Department said it was targeting for sanctions “11 entities and individuals involved in procurement on behalf of Iran’s ballistic missile program” and “five Iranian individuals who have worked to procure ballistic missile components for Iran.”	财政部在一份声明中表示,该部将会对“11个代表伊朗弹道导弹项目进行采购的实体和个人”及“五名为伊朗采购弹道导弹部件的伊朗人”实施制裁。
While the optics of the back-to-back sanctions announcements might seem to suggest that Washington was imposing new measures to make up for those that were lifted Saturday, they are actually nowhere near comparable.	尽管紧接着宣布的制裁仿佛显示出,华盛顿实施新制裁,是为了弥补周六解除的制裁,但前后两宗制裁实际上毫无可比性。
The action taken Saturday allowed Iran to re-enter the world’s oil markets; according to some estimates, by the end of the year its exports may increase by a million barrels a day, yielding roughly $30 million a day in revenue at current prices. Its ships will be able to enter and leave foreign ports, and its people will have access to global financial markets. With a few strokes of a pen, Mr. Obama and Secretary of State John Kerry released more than $100 billion in frozen funds, mostly from past oil sales.	周六解除制裁之后,伊朗得以重新进入世界石油市场。据估计,到今年年底,伊朗原油的日出口量可能会增加100万桶,按照当前价格计算,每天会带来大约3000万美元的收入。伊朗的船只将可以进出外国港口,伊朗人将可以进入全球金融市场。奥巴马和国务卿约翰·克里(John Kerry)挥笔签字之后,伊朗1000多亿美元的冻结资金就得到了解冻,其中大部分资金来自过去的石油销售。
The new sanctions are mostly aimed at individuals and some small	新制裁主要针对被控向伊朗输送关键技术的个人及一些小公司,比如碳纤维

companies accused of shipping crucial technologies to Iran, including carbon fiber and missile parts that can survive re-entry forces. The sanctions are so focused on those individuals and firms that most Iranians will never feel them, and the amounts are comparatively tiny.	和能够承受重新进入大气层时的各种作用力的导弹部件。由于制裁针对这些公司和个人，大多数伊朗人不会受到影响，而且制裁范围相对较小。
Mr. Obama also announced Sunday that, in addition to the completion of the nuclear deal and the prisoner swap, the United States and Iran had resolved a three-decade-old financial dispute. The United States will return Iranian money held since the hostage crisis of 1979-81 with interest — but far less than Iran had been seeking, Mr. Obama said.	除了协议的实施和囚犯交换计划，奥巴马在周日还宣布，美国和伊朗解决了一场持续 30 年的金融纠纷。奥巴马表示，美国将退还自 1979 年至 1981 年的人质危机以来扣押的伊朗资金，并支付利息，但金额远低于伊朗寻求的目标。
Administration officials had denied that the missile sanctions were being delayed for political reasons.	政府官员否认涉及导弹的制裁举措是因为政治原因推迟的。
Relatives of three of the freed Americans — Jason Rezaian, Amir Hekmati and Saeed Abedini — expressed joy after getting phone calls from the State Department that their family members were en route to Switzerland and then on to an American air base in Germany. The three men arrived first in Geneva on Sunday, accompanied by Mr. Rezaian's wife, Yeganeh Salehi, and mother, a State Department official, Brett McGurk, said in a Twitter message. They then continued on to Germany.	三名获释的美国人——贾森·礼萨安(Jason Rezaian)、阿米尔·赫克马提(Amir Hekmati)、赛义德·阿伯蒂尼(Saeed Abedini)——的亲属接到美国国务院的电话，得知他们正在前往瑞士的途中，随后会前往美军位于德国的空军基地，他们都表示感到非常高兴。国务院官员布雷特·麦古尔克(Brett McGurk)在 Twitter 上表示，这三名美国人在礼萨安的妻子耶加内·萨利希(Yeganeh Salehi)和他的母亲陪同下，首先于周日抵达日内瓦。他们随后前往了德国。
The fourth American freed in the exchange, Nosratollah Khosravi — whose incarceration had not been reported until the prisoner exchange was announced Saturday — was not on the plane, American officials said. It was not immediately clear why.	美国官员表示，第四名获释的美国人努斯拉图拉·荷斯拉维(Nosratollah Khosravi)没有乘坐这架飞机。目前尚不清楚原因。在囚犯交换计划于周六获得公布之前，没有有关荷斯拉维遭到囚禁的报道。
Iran's president, Hassan Rouhani, did not address the prisoner swap on Sunday. At a news conference, he said that since the sanctions were	伊朗总统哈桑·鲁哈尼(Hassan Rouhani)周日没有提到囚犯交换计划。他在新闻发布会上表示，制裁已经解除，伊朗已经向外国投资敞开大门，甚至欢迎

lifted, the door had opened for foreign investments in the country, even by American companies.	美国公司投资。
"They can invest here anytime, but they have their own obstacles to do so," Mr. Rouhani said. He did not comment on whether the lifting of the sanctions after two years of talks with world powers, including the United States, would lead to more cooperation by Iran in Syria. Instead, he promised Iran a new and better future.	"他们任何时候都可以来投资，但他们有自己的阻碍，"鲁哈尼说。伊朗在与包括美国在内的世界大国开展了两年的谈判后，制裁得以解除，但鲁哈尼没有评论这是否会促使伊朗在叙利亚开展更多合作。他承诺会给伊朗带来更好的新未来。
The family of Mr. Hekmati, 32, a former Marine incarcerated in Iran longer than any of the others, issued a statement expressing relief that he was out of Iran.	赫克马提的家人发表声明称，得知他离开伊朗后，他们松了一口气。32岁的赫克马提曾在海军陆战队服役，与其他人相比，他被囚禁的时间最长。
"It is hard to put into words what our family feels right now," the family said. "But we remain in hopeful anticipation until Amir is in our arms."	"很难用语言表达我们家人现在的感受，"他的家人说。"但我们仍然满怀希望地期待着阿米尔回到我们的怀抱。"
The family of Mr. Rezaian, 39, the Washington Post's Tehran correspondent, also expressed enormous relief after an agonizing 24 hours between when the exchange was publicly disclosed and when they received confirmation that the Americans had left.	39岁的礼萨安是《华盛顿邮报》(Washington Post)驻德黑兰记者。他的家人表示，从对外公布交换计划到确认这些美国人已经离开伊朗，他们度过了煎熬的24小时后，终于如释重负。
Mr. Rezaian was arrested in July 2014 on vague charges that included spying. The Washington Post and news media advocates around the world defended his innocence and protested increasingly loudly about his case.	礼萨安在2014年7月因为间谍罪等模糊的指控被捕。《华盛顿邮报》及世界各地的媒体倡导人士都捍卫他的清白，并愈发大声地就该案提出抗议。
"I am incredibly relieved that Jason is on his way home," Mr. Rezaian's brother, Ali Rezaian, said in a statement. "He is a talented journalist, who was simply doing his job fairly, accurately and lawfully."	"贾森正在回家的途中，这让我倍感安心，"礼萨安的兄弟阿里·礼萨安(Ali Rezaian)在声明中说。"他是一名出色的记者，他只是在正当、准确、合法地工作。"
He added: "Today is an incredible day for all of us."	他还表示，"今天对我们来说是不可思议的一天。"
Naghmeh Abedini, the wife of Mr. Abedini, a 35-year-old pastor from	35岁的阿伯蒂尼是一名来自爱达荷州博伊西的牧师。他的妻子纳赫梅·阿伯

Boise, Idaho, said she had been up all night awaiting the State Department's phone call. "They have finally left Iranian soil!" she said in a text message.	蒂尼(Naghmeh Abedini)表示, 她整晚没睡, 等待国务院的电话。她在短信中称, "他们终于离开伊朗领土了!"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160118/c18iran	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160118/c18iran
Desperate for Slumber, Homeless Encounter a 'Sleep Mafia'	印度“被子黑帮”垄断流浪汉的睡眠生意
DELHI, India — When midnight approaches in Old Delhi and a thick, freezing fog settles over the city, the quilt-wallah Farukh Khan sits on his corner, watching the market for his services come to life.	印度德里——临近午夜的旧德里, 城市笼罩在一团浓稠、冰冷的雾中, 做被子生意的法鲁克·汗(Farukh Khan)坐在自己的摊位里等待开张。
They shuffle up one by one, men desperate for sleep. The bicycle rickshaw pullers, peeling one of his 20-rupee, or 30-cent, quilts off a pile, fold their bodies into strange angles on the four-foot seats of their vehicles. The day laborers curl their bodies on the frigid sidewalk, sometimes spooned against other men for warmth.	他们一个个拖着步子走上前来, 都是些困倦不堪的男人。他的那些 20 卢比 (约合人民币 2 元) 一条的被子堆在一起, 三轮车夫们过来揭下一张, 把身体弯成一个别扭的角度, 躺在四英尺高的车座上。一些打零工的蜷缩在阴冷的人行道上, 有时候要几个男人挤在一起取暖。
Those who cannot afford to pay Mr. Khan build fires, out of plastic if necessary, and crouch over them, waiting for the night to be over.	那些拿不出被子钱的就得自己生火, 有时候连塑料都烧, 他们蹲在火边, 盼着夜晚快点过去。
Does any city have a more stratified sleep economy than wintertime Delhi? The filmmaker Shaunak Sen, who spent two years researching the city's sleep vendors for a documentary, "Cities of Sleep," discovered a sprawling gray market that has taken shape around the city's vast unmet need for shelter. In some places, it breeds what he calls a "sleep mafia, who controls who sleeps where, for how long, and what quality of sleep."	还有哪座城市像冬日里的德里, 有如此阶层分明的夜宿经济? 电影人沙乌纳克·森(Shaunak Sen)用两年时间拍摄了纪录片《睡城》(Cities of Sleep), 研究这里做夜宿生意的摊贩, 他发现, 由于收容住所的极度紧缺, 这座城市出现了一个庞大的灰色市场。某些地方已经滋生他所说的“夜宿黑帮, 他们决定谁睡在哪, 睡多久, 睡眠质量如何。”
The story of privatized sleep follows a familiar pattern in this city: After decades of uncontrolled growth, the city government's inability to provide services like health care, water, transport and security has given	睡眠的私有化跟这座城市的一个规律是相符的: 经过几十年不加管控的增长, 市政府无力提供医疗、水、交通和安全等服务, 从而成就私营产业的崛起, 它们的效率够高, 能够满足那些出得起钱的人的需求。

rise to thriving private industries, efficient enough to fulfill the needs of those who can pay.
But shelter, given Delhi's extremes of heat and cold, is often a matter of survival. The police report collecting more than 3,000 unidentifiable bodies from the streets every year, typically men whose health broke down after years living outdoors. Winter presents especially brutal choices to homeless laborers, who have no place to protect blankets from thieves in the daytime hours. Some try to hide them in the tops of trees.	然而，由于德里酷热和严寒的极端天气，上无片瓦的境况是可以致命的。据警方的报告，每年在街头发现的无名尸在 3000 具以上，这些一般都是连年露宿街头致健康崩溃的男性。无家可归的劳工在冬天要面临残酷的选择，他们在白天工作时没有地方妥善放置自己的毯子，会被偷走。有的会设法藏到树上。
The moral quandary of making this into a business is at the center of Mr. Sen's film, which had its premiere at a Mumbai film festival in November. One of his subjects, Ranjit, takes a protective attitude toward his regular "sleepers," as he calls them, allowing them to drift off to sleep watching Bollywood films for 10 rupees a night. Another, a hard-nosed businessman called Jamaal, increases his price to 50 rupees, from 30, when the temperature drops.	把这事变成一桩生意的道德窘境，是森's 影片关注的焦点，该片已于去年 11 月在孟买一个电影节上首映。他的其中一个拍摄对象兰吉特(Ranjit)，对自己的熟客是呵护有加的，他管这些人叫他的“睡客”，他们可以看着宝莱坞电影睡去，一晚上收费 10 卢比。还有一个精明冷血的商人叫贾马尔(Jamaal)，会在降温时把价格从 30 卢比涨到 50 卢比。
In one scene, when a man pleads, "Sir, I am a poor man, I'll die," Jamaal chuckles and replies: "You're not allowed to die. Even that will cost 1,250 rupees."	片中有这样一段，一个人哀求说，“先生，我是个穷人，我会没命的，”贾马尔微微一笑，答道：“你没资格死。死也要花 1250 卢比呢。”
"Look, sleep is the most demanding master there is; no one can stop it when it has chosen to arrive," Jamaal says in the film. "We were the first to recognize the sheer economic might of sleep."	“你看，这地方最不通人情的主子，就是睡觉了；困劲上来，谁也挡不住，”贾马尔在片中说。“我们最早意识到睡觉是个巨大的经济力量。”
Like many of this city's businesses, sleep vendors are both highly organized and officially nonexistent. In Mr. Khan's neighborhood, four quilt vendors have divided the sidewalks and public spaces into	和这座城市的许多生意一样，夜宿贩子也有严密的组织，但在明面上它们并不存在。在汗所在的街区，四个被子摊贩把人行道和公共空间分成四份，夜幕降临后，他们的顾客在凹凸不平的宿地自行安排位置。有的人多年来每晚

quadrants, and when night falls, their customers arrange themselves into colonies of lumpy forms. Some have returned to the same spot every night for years.	都会去同一个地方睡觉。
A drunken man, his hair matted, stumbled up to Mr. Khan and begged. "Brother, please," he pleaded, and Mr. Khan uttered a curse under his breath, then grabbed a quilt and thrust it at him.	一个头发打着结的醉汉摇摇晃晃走向汗，乞求他。“兄弟，求你了，”他说，汗低声咒骂了一句，抓起一条被子扔向他。
"If I don't give him the blanket, he will freeze to death," he said.	"你要不给他个盖的，他会冻死，”他说。
Earlier in the week, this had happened, just a block away from Mr. Khan's spot. The morning street sweeper had tried to rouse a sleeping man from the sidewalk, but he pulled back the blanket and saw that the man's feet were stiff.	这样的事，本周早些时候就发生了，就在离汗的摊位一个街区开外。早晨扫街的工人想把一个正在人行道上睡觉的人叫起来，他把那人的毯子扯开，发现他的双脚已经僵硬。
The man, who was around 35, had been stumbling around drunkenly the night before. No one knew who he was; a police officer asked some other men to go through his pockets, in hopes of finding identification, but they were empty. He covered the body with a sheet, and it lay on the sidewalk until the mortuary workers came, at sunset.	死者 35 岁左右，前一天的晚上曾醉醺醺地在这一带走动。没人认识他；一个警察让别人去翻找他的口袋，希望能找到身份证明，但里面什么也没有。他用一张床单盖上尸体，一直就这样放在人行道上，直到傍晚殓房工人才来。
A cluster of "pavement dweller" deaths prompted India's Supreme Court to rule in 2010 that the country's large cities must provide shelter for 0.1 percent of the population. This winter, Delhi expanded its shelter system to accommodate more than 18,000, but vacancy rates are high and the number of homeless is vast — likely more than 100,000, said Ashwin Parulkar, who researches homelessness at the Delhi's Center for Policy Research.	一系列“人行道居民”死亡事件促使印度最高法院在 2010 年做出裁决，要求各大城市为无家可归者提供住处，数量要达到人口的 0.1%。今年冬天，德里对其收容系统进行扩容，可接纳超过 1.8 万人，但空置率很高，而无家可归者的数量巨大。在德里政策研究中心(Center for Policy Research)从事无家可归者研究的阿什文·帕鲁尔卡(Ashwin Parulkar)说，这个数字可能超过了 10 万人。
The sleep vendors, Mr. Parulkar said, thrive where the government has failed.	帕鲁尔卡说，是政府失能给夜宿摊贩带去商机。

"They are exploiting them," he said. "There is a slew of public policies for these people that are supposed to bypass this kind of exploitation."	"他们在利用这一点,"他说。"针对这些人设计了很多公共政策,本应该避免这样的借机牟利。"
Mr. Khan, who has been here for eight years, says he extends credit for regular customers to a limit of 100, or occasionally 200, rupees. (Several shivering men, who had spent through the night around a smoldering fire nearby, snorted in disbelief upon hearing this.) He considers boundaries between vendors so sacred that he will not step across them. He makes regular payments to the police and street sweepers so they do not disturb his sleepers, and maintains close relations with the local pickpockets so that he can tell them whom not to rob.	在这里已经经营了八年的汗说,他会给熟客一个100卢比的赊欠额度,有时候可以达到200卢比。(几个瑟瑟发抖的男人对这说法表示怀疑,他们刚刚围着一个闷燃的火堆过了一夜。)摊贩之间的边界在他眼里是神圣的东西,他一脚都不会踩过去。为了让自己的睡客免受打扰,他会定期付费给警察和扫街工人,跟当地的扒手搞好关系,这样就可以告诉他们不要去抢某些人。
"It's hard," he said, "but what would happen if I was not here? More people would die."	"很难的,"他说,"但是这里要是没有我会怎么样?死的人会更多。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160119/c19delhi	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160119/c19delhi
Zika Warning Spotlights Latin America's Fight Against Mosquito-Borne Diseases	里约奥运会在即,兹卡病毒肆虐拉美
RIO DE JANEIRO — In the campaign against mosquitoes, Brazil has deployed soldiers to destroy habitats where the insects thrive. Colombia is releasing swarms of mosquitoes treated with bacteria that limit their capacity to spread disease. Mexico is testing the first vaccine against dengue fever, a mosquito-borne virus raging throughout the region.	里约热内卢——为了消灭蚊子,巴西派遣士兵去摧毁蚊子滋生的栖息地。哥伦比亚放出了大批经过细菌处理的蚊子,该细菌可以限制蚊子传播疾病的能力。而墨西哥正在测试第一支登革热疫苗,这种蚊媒病毒正在整个地区肆虐。
Yet at each turn, mosquitoes are outwitting their human opponents, a challenge highlighted by the United States' decision to advise pregnant women to postpone traveling to more than a dozen Latin American or Caribbean countries and Puerto Rico where mosquitoes are rapidly	但是在每轮战斗中,蚊子都击败了人类对手,美国的一个决定更是突显了该问题的严重性——美国建议,计划前往十多个拉丁美洲和加勒比国家以及波多黎各的孕妇,应延期出行,因为在这个地区,蚊子正迅速扩大兹卡病毒(Zika)的传播范围。这种病毒可能导致婴儿出生时就患有脑损伤,目前这种

expanding the reach of Zika, the virus linked to a surge in cases of infants born with brain damage.	病例出现了激增。
The warning by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta has intensified a debate across Latin America over the hemisphere's growing vulnerability to mosquito-borne diseases. These concerns are especially acute in Brazil, the region's largest country, where officials hope that tourism can help revive a beleaguered economy as they prepare to host the 2016 Summer Olympics in Rio de Janeiro.	西半球对蚊媒传染病日益脆弱的防线，已经在拉丁美洲各地引发了争论，而亚特兰大的美国疾病控制与预防中心(Centers for Disease Control and Prevention)发布的这项警告，更是加剧了这种争论。在巴西，人们的担忧尤为严重。巴西是该地区最大的国家，2016年夏季奥运会将在这里的里约热内卢举办，官员们寄望旅游业能有助于重振该国陷入困境的经济。
Henrique Alves, Brazil's tourism minister, took issue with the C.D.C.'s warning on Saturday. He argued that the Brazilian authorities were adopting measures to prevent Zika from intensifying in the country, even though health officials were investigating more than 3,500 cases of microcephaly, a previously rare condition linked to Zika in which infants are born with abnormally small heads.	巴西旅游部长恩里克·阿尔维斯(Henrique Alves)对美国疾控中心上周六发布的警告表达了不满。阿尔维斯说，巴西当局正在采取措施，防止兹卡在该国蔓延；但是该国卫生官员正在调查逾 3500 起婴儿小头症(microcephaly)病例，这种与兹卡有关的疾病以前很罕见，患病婴儿在出生时头部小得不正常。
Asked in a telephone interview if Brazil was a safe destination for pregnant women, Mr. Alves responded, "I think so, without a doubt," emphasizing that his government's decision to refrain from travel alerts regarding Zika coincided with World Health Organization's policies.	当被问及巴西作为旅游目的地对孕妇是否安全时，阿尔维斯在电话采访中说：“我想是的，毫无疑问。”他强调，巴西政府决定暂不发布有关兹卡的旅游警告，与世界卫生组织(WTO)的政策是一致的。
Mr. Alves added that he expected the Zika outbreak to ease to the point so that the Olympics here in August would not be affected.	阿尔维斯还说，他预计兹卡疫情将会有效缓解，不会影响 8 月在这里举办的奥运会。
Yet others in Brazil applauded the C.D.C.'s alert, pointing to the country's struggle not just with Zika, a virus with origins in Uganda that is thought to have made the leap to Brazil in 2014, but also with two other mosquito-borne viruses, dengue and chikungunya. Last year,	但在巴西，其他人却对美国疾控中心发出的警告提出了称赞，指出该国不仅在努力控制兹卡病毒，还在与另外两种蚊媒病毒——登革热和基孔肯雅热(chikungunya)抗争。据信，源于乌干达的兹卡病毒于 2014 年传播至巴西。去年，巴西登记的登革热病例超过了 160 万例，有 863 人死于这种疾病。

Brazil registered more than 1.6 million cases of dengue, a virus causing fever and joint pain, with 863 people dying from the disease.	这种病毒会引起发烧和关节痛。
Those infected with Zika usually experience mild or no symptoms. It is not known whether the virus alone causes microcephaly or if it occurs only if the mother has had a previous infection, like dengue.	感染兹卡病毒的人通常出现轻微症状，或没有症状。目前尚不清楚小头症是否由这种病毒单独引起，还是只在母亲之前感染过登革热等病毒的情况下，才会发病。
Zika has emerged as a health threat elsewhere in Latin America. In El Salvador, cases of Zika have escalated since it was first reported at the end of November. As of last week, 3,836 cases had been reported, and the government raised the alert level in 47 municipalities where the illness had been detected. The government is planning intensive fumigation campaigns in those areas.	兹卡病毒还在拉丁美洲其他地方蔓延，成为健康威胁。在萨尔瓦多，自11月末首次通报兹卡病例以来，感染人数急剧增加。截至上周，该国已有3836个报告病例。政府在47个出现病例的市镇提高了警戒级别。政府正计划在这些地区开展密集的喷雾消毒行动。
El Salvador's Health Ministry is particularly concerned about the rise of cases of Guillain-Barré syndrome, which leads to paralysis, usually temporary; researchers are exploring a possible link between Guillain-Barré and Zika. Forty-six suspected cases of the syndrome had been reported as of last week, Violeta Menjívar, the Health minister, said in a radio interview.	格林-巴林综合症病例的增加令萨尔瓦多卫生部尤其担心，这种疾病会导致瘫痪，瘫痪症状通常是暂时的。研究人员正在探究格林-巴利综合症与兹卡病毒之间的潜在联系。该国卫生部长维奥莱塔·蒙吉瓦尔(Violeta Menjívar)在接受电台采访时表示，截至上周，上报的格林-巴林综合症疑似病例已达到46例。
Dr. Pablo Kuri Morales, Mexico's undersecretary for Prevention and Health Promotion, said in a telephone interview on Saturday that Mexico had diagnosed 15 cases of Zika, 10 of them in the state of Chiapas, on the border of Guatemala. He added that the authorities were preparing a television and radio campaign to warn everybody, especially women of reproductive age.	周六，墨西哥疾病预防与健康促进部(Prevention and Health Promotion)副部长巴勃罗·库里·莫拉莱斯(Pablo Kuri Morales)博士接受电话采访时表示，墨西哥已经诊断出15个兹卡病例，其中10例出现在靠近危地马拉边境的恰帕斯州。他还表示，当局正在准备发起电视及电台宣传，对所有人发出警告，特别是针对育龄妇女。
Dr. Kuri said the C.D.C. was "within its rights" to issue the travel warning, but he argued that the blanket admonition did not make sense when	库里博士表示，美国疾控中心“有权利”发布旅游警告，但他辩称，墨西哥只有三个州出现兹卡病例，发布这种一刀切的警告不合情理。他表示，携带病

the virus has appeared in only three Mexican states. The mosquitoes that carry the virus, he said, could not survive in the high altitudes of the central plateau, including Mexico City.	毒的蚊子无法在高海拔的中央平原存活，包括墨西哥城。
"I think it's good to have these warnings," he said, "but these things should be explained to people."	"我觉得发布警告是正确的，"他说。"但应该向人们说明这些情况。"
In Washington, administration officials said the decision to issue a travel alert on Friday developed quickly at the end of the week and set off a flurry of diplomatic efforts to inform officials in the countries named in the alert.	在华盛顿，政府官员表示，相关机构很快就在周末做出了于周五发布旅游警告的决定，并开展一系列外交努力，通知了警告所涉及国家的官员。
Officials said the notification process forced the C.D.C. to postpone a news conference that had been planned for Friday afternoon, ultimately delaying an announcement until that evening.	官员们表示，这个通知程序迫使疾控中心推迟了原本定于周五下午召开的新闻发布会，最终延迟到晚上才公布消息。
Aside from anecdotal accounts, it seems too early to tell how the alert will affect travel. In Brazil, Olympic officials emphasized that the Games will take place in August, during the Southern Hemisphere's winter. The dryer, cooler weather around that time is thought to reduce the presence of mosquitoes, though virologists warn that the insects can transmit viruses year-round in Brazil.	除了各种传言，现在断定这种警告会如何影响旅游还为时过早。在巴西，奥运官员强调，奥运会将在8月举行，那会儿是南半球的冬季。人们认为，到时候干燥、凉爽的天气会致使蚊子减少，尽管病毒学家警告称这种昆虫能够全年在巴西传播病毒。
"Rio 2016 will continue to monitor the issue closely and follow guidance from the Brazilian Ministry of Health," said Philip Wilkinson, a spokesman for the committee organizing the Games.	里约奥组委发言人菲利普·威尔金森(Philip Wilkinson)表示，"2016 里约奥组委将持续密切关注这个问题，并听从巴西卫生部的指导。"
Dr. Isaac I. Bogoch, a tropical infectious disease specialist at the University of Toronto who is part of a team modeling the potential for Zika to spread, warned that the Olympics could serve as a catalyst for the virus, which some researchers believe may have arrived in Brazil	多伦多大学(University of Toronto)热带传染病专家伊萨克·I·博格赫(Isaac I. Bogoch)博士警告称，奥运会可能成为这种病毒的催化剂，一些研究人员认为，这种病毒可能是在举办另一场体育盛事——2014年世界杯——期间传播到巴西的。博格赫参与了一个通过建模来研究兹卡病毒潜在传播范围的小

during another sports mega-event, the 2014 World Cup.	组。
"There will be people traveling to Brazil from all over the world," Dr. Bogoch said in an email.	博格赫博士在邮件中表示,“世界各地的人都会前往巴西。”
"The concern is that infected individuals will travel back to their home country and introduce the virus to new regions."	"令人担心的是,那些感染病毒的人会回到自己国家,将病毒带到新区域。"
Dr. Bogoch and other researchers determined that Zika had the potential to rapidly spread to other parts of the world, according to findings published last week in the British medical journal The Lancet.	英国医学期刊《柳叶刀》(Lancet)上周发表的文章显示,博格赫及其他研究人员确定,兹卡病毒可能会迅速传播至世界其他地区。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160119/c19zika	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160119/c19zika
Afghan Woman's Nose Is Cut Off by Her Husband, Officials Say	阿富汗年轻女子惨遭丈夫割鼻
KABUL, Afghanistan — A young woman has been hospitalized in northern Afghanistan and is hoping to travel to Turkey for reconstructive surgery after her husband cut off her nose, the police and the woman's family said on Tuesday.	阿富汗喀布尔——警方和一名年轻女子的家人周二表示,在被丈夫割去鼻子后,该女子在阿富汗北部的医院接受治疗,现在正希望去土耳其做整形手术。
The woman, Reza Gul, 20, was attacked by her husband with a knife on Sunday in Shar-Shar, a village in an impoverished and Taliban-controlled part of Faryab Province. Reza Gul was in stable condition on Tuesday in a hospital in Maimana, the provincial capital, according to a spokesman for the Faryab police, Sayed Massoud Yaqubi.	这名女子叫列扎·古尔(Reza Gul), 20岁。周日当天在沙尔-沙尔村,她被丈夫持刀袭击。该村位于法里亚布省,所在地区处于塔利班的控制下,经济贫困。据法里亚布警方发言人赛义德·马苏德·雅各比(Sayed Massoud Yaqubi)称,列扎·古尔在省会迈马纳的一家医院接受治疗,情况稳定。
Maroof Samar, a doctor who is the acting director of public health in Faryab, said Reza Gul had been in "very critical condition when she was brought in, she had lost much blood."	现为法里亚布代理公共卫生局长的医生马鲁夫·萨马尔(Maroof Samar)称,列扎·古尔“送来时失血过多,情况非常危险”。
Throughout the six years Reza Gul and her husband, Muhammad Khan, 25, had been married, he and his family members had regularly abused her, beating her and binding her in chains, said Reza Gul's mother,	列扎·古尔的母亲扎尔古娜(Zarghona)称,和25岁的穆罕默德·汗(Muhammad Khan)结婚后的六年里,列扎·古尔经常被穆罕默德·汗及其家人虐待,他们或是打她,或是用链子把她捆起来。扎尔古娜说,穆罕默德·汗常

Zarghona. Mr. Khan regularly went to Iran for work, returned for a few months during which he abused his wife, then left her with his family members, she said.	去伊朗工作，回家待几个月后，又把妻子留下和他的家人一起生活。在家期间，他会虐待妻子。
"This infidel cut off my daughter's nose," Zarghona said. "If I catch him, I'll tear him to pieces."	"这个异教徒割掉了我女儿的鼻子，"扎尔古娜说。"如果抓到他，我要把他撕成碎片。"
Though Reza Gul brought her severed nose to the hospital, the facility was not equipped to handle the complicated surgery needed to reattach it. Dr. Samar said the governor of Faryab had enlisted the Turkish Embassy in Kabul to help arrange travel to Turkey for surgery and treatment. Reza Gul received a national identity card on Tuesday, he said, which she will use to apply for a passport to get to Turkey as soon as possible.	列扎·古尔把她被割下的鼻子带去了医院，但重新把鼻子接上所需的手术颇为复杂，医院没有进行这种手术的能力。萨马尔称，法里亚布省省长已经请喀布尔的土耳其大使馆帮忙安排列扎·古尔去土耳其接受手术和治疗。他说，列扎·古尔在周二拿到了一张身份证，她将用这张身份证申请护照，尽快前往土耳其。
Her plight has again brought attention to endemic violence against women in Afghanistan, which the United Nations Development Program rated one of the worst countries in the world to be born female. Despite more than a decade of efforts to enact an Afghan legal system that protects women, and more than $1 billion in legal aid from the United States alone, Afghan women remain particularly vulnerable to abuse. And their attackers, for the most part, are only rarely punished.	列扎·古尔的遭遇再次引起了外界对阿富汗国内针对女性的猖獗暴力的关注。阿富汗被联合国开发计划署(United Nations Development Program)列为全世界女性生存环境最恶劣的国家之一。尽管为在阿富汗实行保护女性的法律制度而做出的努力持续了十多年，并且单是美国就提供了十多亿美元的法律援助，但阿富汗女性依然特别容易遭到虐待。而行凶者中基本上只有很少的人受到惩罚。
On Sunday afternoon, Zarghona said, Reza Gul and Mr. Khan got into an argument over his having taken his uncle's 6- or 7-year-old daughter as his fiancée, with the intention of making her his second wife this year. During the dispute, Mr. Khan erupted into a rage, took a knife and cut off his wife's nose, said Zarghona, who goes by a single name.	扎尔古娜说，周日下午，列扎·古尔和丈夫发生了争吵，起因是穆罕默德·汗让他六七岁的外甥女做了自己未婚妻，并打算让其在今年成为他的第二个妻子。扎尔古娜说，争执过程中，穆罕默德·汗勃然大怒，拿刀割下了妻子的鼻子。人们称呼扎尔古娜时，只用一个单名。
Mr. Khan and one of his brothers then threw Reza Gul on the back of a	扎尔古娜说，然后，穆罕默德·汗和一个兄弟把列扎·古尔扔到一辆摩托车上，

motorcycle with the intention of taking her away to kill her, Zarghona said. But news of the attack spread quickly in the village, causing an uproar, and Mr. Khan fled for his life.	想把她带走杀了。但关于此次袭击的消息很快便在村子里传开,引起了骚动。穆罕默德·汗只好逃走。
"I went to the Taliban," Zarghona said. "I asked them: 'Is this the Islam we are following? My daughter's nose chopped off? But you are doing nothing about it. I want justice.'"	"我找到塔利班,"扎尔古娜说。"我问他们:'这是我们信奉的伊斯兰教吗?让我女儿的鼻子被人割掉?你们却什么都不做。我想要个公道。"
"They got really angry and now they are searching for the boy," she said. "I hope they find him before the police do."	"他们真的生气了,现在正在找他,"她说。"我希望他们在警察之前找到他。"
Mr. Yaqubi, the police official, said the authorities had heard that "the Taliban has already arrested Muhammad Khan, and he is presently in their custody."	警官雅各比称,当局听说"塔利班已经逮捕了穆罕默德·汗,将他关起来了。"
"We don't know what they plan to do with him, but we will follow the case and bring him to justice."	"我们不知道他们打算怎么处置他,但我们会跟进此案,将他绳之以法。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160120/c20afghanistan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160120/c20afghanistan
U.S. Drops Bombs Not Just on ISIS, but on Its Cash, Too	美军轰炸 ISIS 金库,炸毁数千万美元钞票
WASHINGTON — With sanctions, blacklists and other measures doing little to financially break the Islamic State, the United States has turned to a far simpler tactic to empty the group's coffers: It is literally blowing them up.	华盛顿——当制裁和黑名单等措施对从财政上遏制伊斯兰国(Islamic State)没有起到多大作用的时候,美国转向了一种简单得多的战术来掏空该组织的金库:直接将其炸掉。
American warplanes have struck nine depots where the group is believed to have stashed tens of millions of dollars in cash, said Col. Steven H. Warren, a spokesman for the American-led coalition. The strikes began in the summer and the latest came Monday in Mosul, Iraq, he said, showing a video in which plumes of cash could be seen fluttering about in the moments after a building was demolished by a	美国牵头的盟军的发言人史蒂夫·H·沃伦上校(Steven H. Warren)透露,美国战斗机对九处仓库进行了轰炸,据信其中藏匿了价值数千万美元的现金。他称,这类袭击行动始于去年夏季,最近一次发生在本周一,地点位于伊拉克的摩苏尔。他还展示了一则视频,显示一处建筑被炸弹摧毁后喷洒出大量现金。 bomb.

Colonel Warren, who spoke via video teleconference from Baghdad, could not say how much money had been destroyed in Mosul — “tens of millions of dollars” was the estimate offered — or whether the bills were Iraqi dinars, American dollars or some other currency. But he did offer up a catch phrase for the tactic: “Strike the Daesh cash, as we call it around here.”	沃伦身处巴格拉，通过视频会议宣布了这一消息。他不愿透露摩苏尔有多少钱被销毁，也不肯说这些钱是伊拉克第纳尔、美元还是别的什么现钞，只提供了“数千万美元”的估值。不过，他给出了这种战术的一种上口的名称：“我们这边喜欢说，炸飞达伊什(Daesh)的钞票。”
Daesh, the Arabic name by which many in the Middle East derisively refer to the Islamic State, may not actually rhyme with cash (its pronunciation is closer to “da-ish” than “dash”). But the military appears confident that bombing cash depots is helping to sap the financial strength of the Islamic State, which American officials and experts believe may be bringing in around $1.5 billion to $2 billion a year.	达伊什是中东地区通用的对伊斯兰国的阿拉伯语蔑称，其实与英语的 cash 并不怎么押韵（它的发音更接近“da-ish”，而非“dash”）。不过，军方看来信心十足，相信轰炸金库有助于削弱伊斯兰国的财力。美国官方和专家认为，伊斯兰国的年收入可能在 15 亿到 20 亿美元之间。
“Striking these cash collection points hurts this enemy,” Colonel Warren said. “They operate on cash, right? There is no credit in” the Islamic State.	“轰炸这些金库能削弱敌人，”沃伦说。“他们要靠现金来运作，对吧？”伊斯兰国“没有信贷”。
That may not be strictly true. Western officials and experts who track Islamic State finances say there are examples of the militants using oil or other goods to procure needed supplies, including ammunition and other military equipment. And how much cash the Islamic State is actually storing in depots, rather than laundering through regional banks and money transfer businesses, is an open question.	这一点也许并不那么绝对。追踪伊斯兰国财务状况的西方官员和专家表示，有例子说明，这些激进分子在用石油等物品来换取所需的补给，包括弹药等军事装备。而且，比起通过地区银行和生意转账洗的钱，伊斯兰国到底在这些仓库里储存了多少现金也是个未知数。
In fact, Treasury Department officials charged with undermining Islamic State finances were saying as recently as November — months after the military began striking cash depots — that the United States and its allies	实际上，就在去年 11 月，美国财政部负责破坏伊斯兰国财政状况的官员还称，美国及其盟友难以切断该组织的现金流，而此时距离军方开始轰炸这些金库已过去了好几个月。

were having trouble cutting the flow of money to the group.
That is in large part because of how the group obtains money, wringing it from the people and territory it controls, which limits the impact of sanctions and financial blacklists. The Islamic State has looted roughly $1 billion from bank vaults across Syria and Iraq, and it exacts taxes, tolls and traffic fines from those who live under its control. It makes millions of dollars a month smuggling oil. It traffics in looted antiquities and ransoms for kidnapped foreigners, and drums up donations from wealthy supporters in the Persian Gulf.	这在很大程度上与该组织获取资金的方式有关，它会从自己控制的地区和居民那里榨取钱财，而这会影响制裁和金融黑名单等措施的效果。伊斯兰国从叙利亚和伊拉克各个银行的保险库掠夺了大约 10 亿美元，还向它控制区域的居民收取税费和交通罚款。通过走私石油，它每月能获得数以百万美元计的利润。它的其他获利方式还包括卖掉抢来的古董，绑架外国人索取赎金，从波斯湾地区富裕的支持者那里募集款项。
Still, there are indications that the Islamic State's finances have been under pressure in recent months with some reports indicating that the group had to cut pay to some fighters. If that is the case, experts say it is probably because of military setbacks, such as the loss of Ramadi, Iraq, which deprived the Islamic State of a bustling commercial center whose inhabitants and businesses the militants could extort, tax and fine.	不过，也有迹象表明，伊斯兰国的财务状况最近几个月出现了压力，有一些报道显示该组织不得不消减一些战士的军饷。专家表示，如果情况果真如此，可能是因为它在军事上遭遇挫败，比如失去了对伊拉克拉马迪的控制。而失去这么一个繁忙的商业中心意味着无法再向那里的居民和生意人榨取钱财、课税或收缴罚款。
The falling price of oil, which the militants typically sell for about half the going rate, has also had an impact, said a European official who tracks militant finances and spoke on the condition of anonymity to discuss intelligence.	一名追踪调查武装组织财务状况的欧洲官员称，石油价格下跌也有影响。武装分子通常会以现行市场价格的大约一半出售石油。这名官员要求匿名讨论情报问题。
Airstrikes against oil tankers and wells controlled by the Islamic State have also cut into the group's earnings, though it is hard to quantify how deeply at this point, the official said.	该官员称，对伊斯兰国控制的油轮和油井的空袭也减少了该组织的收入，不过此时还难以量化这种影响。
The military, for its part, insists its attacks on the Islamic State's oil smuggling operations and cash depots is making a difference.	军方自己坚称，它对伊斯兰国石油走私业务和现金存放地点的袭击发挥了作用。

"A combination of taking away their ability to earn money by striking oil and taking away the money that they have on hand by striking the Daesh cash really puts the squeeze on them," Colonel Warren said.	"通过打击石油业务夺走他们的赚钱能力，通过销毁达伊什的现金夺走他们手上的钱，双管齐下，这真让他们感受到了压力，"沃伦说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160121/c21isiscash	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160121/c21isiscash
China Deepens Its Footprint in Iran After Lifting of Sanctions	解除制裁的伊朗继续对中国敞开大门
ZARRINABAD, Iran — Rising from the yellowish, treeless plains so typical for central Iran stands a square labyrinth of pipes and conveyor belts, topped by a silver chimney that glitters in the summer sun.	伊朗扎里纳巴德——在伊朗中部典型的没有树木的黄色荒原上，可以看到一片由纵横交错的管道和传送带组成的方形区域，银色烟囱耸立其间，在夏日的阳光下闪闪发光。
Sanctions against Iran failed to halt the construction of the complex, a steel mill that went into operation in September and now churns out ingots and billets. The sanctions also did not stop Sheng Kuan Li, a Chinese businessman, from pouring $200 million into the project.	针对伊朗实施的制裁没能阻止这个钢铁厂的建设，它于去年9月建成投产，现在正大量制造铸锭和小钢胚。制裁措施也没能阻止中国商人李盛宽（音）为这个项目注入2亿美元资金。
Mr. Li is one of many Chinese investors who in recent years worked around the sanctions imposed on Iran by the United States and other world powers over Tehran's nuclear program.	李盛宽是最近几年绕过美国等大国针对德黑兰核项目所实施的制裁，在伊朗进行投资的中国人之一。
His steel mill and other similar endeavors are the result of a strategic pact that gives China a much-needed western gateway to Middle Eastern markets and beyond, and that has saved Iran from international isolation and economic ruin.	他的钢铁厂和其他类似投资都是一项战略协定带来的成果，该协议给中国提供了它所急需的进入中东及其他市场的西部入口，也使得伊朗免于被国际社会孤立和陷入经济崩溃。
On Saturday, both countries agreed to increase trade to $600 billion in the coming decade.	周六，两国达成协议，计划在接下来的10年里将两国的贸易额增至6000亿美元。
That agreement was made during a meeting between Iran's leaders and China's president, Xi Jinping, who late last week became the first foreign leader to visit Iran after most international sanctions were lifted. China has relied on Iranian oil and views the country as a vital link in Mr.	这项协议是在伊朗多位领导人和中国国家主席习近平于上周晚些时候举行会晤时签署的，习近平因此成为大多数国际制裁解除后第一位访问伊朗的外国领导人。中国依赖伊朗的石油，将伊朗看作习近平的丝绸之路战略中至关重要的一环，这个宏大的战略试图将中国的经济影响力向西扩展。

Xi's so-called Silk Road strategy, an ambitious agenda that seeks to extend China's economic influence westward.
"Where we had to stand on the sidelines, the Chinese have been filling the void," said a European diplomat who spoke on the condition of anonymity to discuss strategic considerations. "They are way ahead of all of us."	"在所有我们不得不退出的市场，中国都在填补那里的空缺，"一名选择匿名谈论这些战略考量的欧洲外交官说。"他们远远跑在了我们所有人的前面。"
The deep Chinese footprint in Iran does not manifest itself only in the tens of thousands of inexpensive cars that have flooded the streets of Tehran in the past few years. Investors like Mr. Li, who has built two other factories here, as well as Chinese state companies, are active all over the country, building highways, digging mines and melting steel.	过去几年，德黑兰街道上挤满了成千上万价格低廉的汽车，但中国在伊朗的深入存在不仅仅体现于此。像李盛宽这样的投资者——他在这里另外还建了两座厂——在伊朗全国各处都能看到，还有不少中国国有企业在这里建设高速公路、挖矿和炼钢。
In Tehran, the Chinese have been involved in the construction of a huge elevated expressway and the building of the Niayesh Tunnel, which at more than three and a half miles will be one of the longest urban tunnels in the world. The city's metro system was built from scratch, starting in 1995, with Chinese capital and Chinese engineers. The train cars that run on it are Chinese, too.	在德黑兰，中国人一直在参与建设一条巨大的高架快速道以及尼亚耶什隧道(Niayesh Tunnel)，这条预计长逾3.5英里的隧道将成为世界上最长的都市隧道之一。同样在中国资本和中国工程师的参与下，德黑兰的地铁系统从1995年开始建设，在这些线路上行驶的地铁车辆也是由中国制造。
"Westerners visiting the capital often wonder how we managed to pull off such ambitious projects during the heaviest sanction regime in history," said Mohammad Reza Sabzalipour, Iran's World Trade Center representative. "Well, we did it with the help of our Chinese friends."	"去德黑兰旅行的西方人往往会惊讶于我们怎么会在历史上制裁最严厉的时期建成这些雄伟的工程，"伊朗驻世界贸易中心代表穆罕默德·礼萨·萨布扎利普尔(Mohammad Reza Sabzalipour)说。"事实上，是我们的中国朋友帮我们实现了这一点。"
Thirst for cheap crude oil and enthusiasm for the Silk Road project, which incorporates the goal of unlocking China's isolated western provinces, brought the Chinese to Iran, the only country in the Middle East where the United States had no presence.	对廉价原油的的渴求，对内含开发中国偏僻西部省份这一目标的丝绸之路计划的热情，把中国人带到了伊朗，带到这个中东地区唯一完全没有美国势力存在的国家。

Iran had long welcomed the relationship, but after sanctions started to squeeze the economy at the end of the last decade, the country gained a special status, and China's slow but steady advance here began.	伊朗一直对这样的关系持欢迎态度，但自上一个10年末期针对伊朗的制裁开始挤压其经济空间之后，中国获得了一种特殊地位，自此开启了它在伊朗缓慢而稳健的发展。
"We are Iran's biggest trading partner for six years in a row," Mr. Xi wrote in an open letter to the Iranian people, Xinhua, China's state news agency, reported on Thursday, a day before his arrival on a Middle East tour that will also take him to Saudi Arabia and Egypt.	据中国官方通讯社新华社周四报道，中国国家主席习近平在给伊朗人民的一封信中写道，“中国连续六年保持伊朗第一大贸易伙伴国地位。”周四是习近平前往中东访问的前一天，这次出行他还将访问沙特阿拉伯和埃及。
During the Iran-Iraq war, China sold weapons, including Silkworm missiles, to Iran.	在两伊战争期间，中国曾对伊朗销售包括蚕式导弹在内的多种武器。
China looked the other way when the Iranians sought to advance their missile technology, and assisted in developing the country's nuclear energy program.	当伊朗试图发展自身的导弹技术时，中国装作没看见，还帮助伊朗发展核能源项目。
"After the revolution we exchanged the Western frowns with the smiles from the East," said Asadollah Asgaroladi, one of Iran's wealthiest businessmen and the head of the Iran-China chamber of commerce. "They continue to smile at us."	“伊朗伊斯兰革命发生后，我们不再理会西方紧皱的眉头，而是拥抱来自东方的微笑，”伊朗最富有的商人之一、伊中商会会长阿萨杜拉·阿斯加拉迪 (Asadollah Asgaroladi)说。“他们持续友好地对待我们。”
So the two countries, which were connected by the old Silk Road, have embarked on building a new one.	因此，这两个曾经由古老的丝绸之路连接起来的国家，已经开始修建一条新的丝绸之路。
"China has considerable strength in capital, technologies, equipment and other areas," Mr. Xi wrote in his letter. "Iran has rich resources, ample labor force and huge market potential, and it is in the crucial stage of industrialization and modernization."	“中国在资金、技术、设备等领域有较强的实力，”习近平在信中写道。“伊朗拥有丰富的资源、充裕的劳动力和巨大的市场潜力，正处在工业化、现代化的关键阶段。”
In the last decade, trade started gravitating toward China and away from Germany, Iran's traditional partner, with a business volume of more than $30 billion annually. Iran exported $19 billion in crude oil and	德国曾是伊朗一直以来的合作伙伴，过去10年里，伊朗贸易开始偏离德国，转向中国，伊中每年贸易量超过300亿美元。2013年，伊朗出口了190亿美元的原油和石化产品，进口了170亿美元的商品和服务。

petrochemical products and imported $17 billion in goods and services in 2013.
Iran's other big petroleum customers, South Korea and Japan, were persuaded by the United States to halve their purchases of Iranian light crude.	韩国和日本也是伊朗的石油大客户，但美国说服它们各自将伊朗轻质原油的购买量削减了一半。
China did not play along.	中国不理睬这一套。
"They are an independent country," Mr. Asgaroladi said. "They don't allow the Americans to tell them what to do. So they buy our oil, now and in the future."	"他们是一个独立的国家，"阿斯加拉迪说。"他们不会听命于美国人。所以他们会购买我们的石油，无论是现在还是未来。"
On Saturday, the Chinese president sat down with Iran's supreme leader, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, who told him that "Iranians had never trusted the West." That was why Iran was seeking more cooperation with independent countries, Ayatollah Khamenei said, clearly indicating China.	上周六，中国国家主席与伊朗最高领袖阿亚图拉阿里·哈梅内伊(Ayatollah Ali Khamenei)座谈，哈梅内伊对他说："伊朗从来不信任西方。"这就是为什么伊朗正寻求与独立国家进行更多合作的原因，他的这番话明显是在指中国。
In order to ease Chinese oil payments to Iran, a bank was created, Mr. Asgaroladi said.	阿斯加拉迪说，为了方便中国向伊朗支付石油款，他们成立了一家银行。
Although that institution, the Bank of Kunlun, was formed to handle oil money, Reuters, quoting a Western intelligence report, said in 2014 that the elite Quds Force of the Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps also used the bank for payments.	2014年，路透社(Reuters)援引西方情报报告称，虽然这家"昆仑银行"创立的目的是结算石油款项，但伊斯兰革命卫队的精锐部队圣城军(Quds Force)也通过这家银行付款。
The Chinese may have no qualms about buying Iranian oil, but they take care not to violate United States sanctions on banking transactions because of their extensive use of American banks, Mr. Asgaroladi said.	中国人可能会毫不犹豫地购买伊朗石油，但阿斯加拉迪说，他们也很小心地避免触犯美国对银行交易的制裁。
"The Ministry of Oil's money is deposited in accounts in this bank," he said. "We use 30 to 40 percent to make cash payments for purchases	"石油部的资金存在这家银行的账户里，"他说。"我们用其中30%到40%的钱从亚洲其他地区购买产品，其余的钱则用来为伊朗的项目提供资金，以及

elsewhere in Asia, and the rest is used to finance projects in Iran and buy Chinese items.”	购买中国产品。”
During a visit last summer to Mr. Li’s steel mill, near the village of Zarrinabad, Chinese laborers were sweeping in preparation for its opening.	去年夏天到扎里纳巴德村附近参观李的钢铁厂时，中国工人正在进行大扫除，为开工做准备。
Speaking through an interpreter, Mr. Li said that he became interested in Iran after relatives told him that it was an interesting place to invest, and that he came here in 2010. While he refused to go into details of how the money for the project arrived, he said it involved a “private transfer,” essentially a money swap that was based on trust and that avoided traditional banking routes.	在通过翻译交谈时，李盛宽说，之前有亲戚告诉他，到伊朗去投资会很有意思，这引起了他的兴趣，于是2010年他来到了这里。他拒绝详细解释项目资金是如何转到这里的，但表示其中涉及“私人转账”，基本来说，这种资金转手是在信任的基础上进行的，避开了传统的银行转款方式。
Mr. Asgaroladi said Mr. Li had received financing through the Chinese government but did not say how that money made it to Iran. “We do a lot of bartering,” he said.	阿斯加罗拉迪说，李得到了中国政府的资金支持，但他没说钱是怎么进入伊朗的。“我们开展了大量的易货贸易，”他说。
“If all goes well, we will have a yearly output of 600,000 tons of steel,” an assistant to Mr. Li said. In August, the plant — which has a private train, 700 mostly Chinese employees and a huge exhaust tower — was officially opened in the presence of Iranian and Chinese officials.	“如果一切顺利，我们的钢产量将达到每年60万吨，”李的助理说。去年8月，该工厂正式投产的时候，伊朗和中国都有官员到场。该工厂自己有一列火车，厂里矗立着巨大的排气塔，700多名工人以中国人为主。
China took the opportunity the sanctions offered, said Mr. Sabzalipour, the Tehran World Trade Center representative. Of course, for outsiders, it seems as if the Chinese have ignored the economic cordon against Iran, he said.	德黑兰世界贸易中心代表萨布扎利普尔说，中国抓住了制裁的机会。当然他也说，在外界看来，这好像是中国人无视了对伊朗的经济封锁。
“On the other hand, I think it was never the intention to destroy our economy, just make us feel pain,” he said. “So perhaps the Americans intentionally looked the other way when China threw us this lifeline.”	“另一方面，我认为制裁的目的从来都不是破坏我们的经济，只是让我们吃点苦头，”他说。“所以，当中国把这条生命线递给我们的时候，美国人可能就装着没看见。”

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160125/c25iran	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160125/c25iran
Egyptian Museum Officials Face Tribunal for Damaging King Tutankhamen's Mask	埃及图坦卡蒙黄金面具修复中受损
CAIRO — Eight Egyptian museum officials are to face a disciplinary tribunal for their role in a botched repair job that caused lasting damage to the famed golden burial mask of King Tutankhamen, one of the country's most prized artifacts, the country's administrative prosecutor has said.	开罗——埃及行政检察官表示，八名博物馆员将面临纪律审裁，因为他们对一次拙劣的图坦卡蒙黄金面具修复工作负有责任。著名的图坦卡蒙法老黄金丧葬面具是埃及最珍贵的文物之一，而前述修复工作给它造成了持久的损伤。
The judicial action is the latest step in an embarrassing saga at the state-run Egyptian Museum in Cairo that started in August 2014 when workers accidentally knocked the beard from the 3,300-year-old artifact as they repaired a light fixture in its display case, and then made things worse by trying to glue it back on.	此次诉讼是一场发生在埃及博物馆(Egyptian Museum)的尴尬事件的最新进展。事情始于2014年8月，当时开罗这座国家博物馆的工人在修理面具展柜里的一个灯具时，不慎将这件有3300年历史的文物的胡子撞掉，然后他们又试图把胡子粘回去，导致情况进一步恶化。
Tourists took photos of museum employees as they reattached the blue-and-gold beard using an insoluble epoxy resin that left a visible ring of glue around the edge of the beard. Fears that the damage was irreversible proved unfounded, however, after German experts carefully removed the epoxy and restored the solid gold mask using beeswax, the adhesive used by the ancient Egyptians.	博物馆员工使用不溶性环氧树脂，将蓝金两色的胡须粘回到面具上时，游客拍下了他们的照片。修复行动在胡须边缘留下一圈明显可见的胶水。有人担心这种破坏是不可逆的，不过事实证明并非如此，德国专家小心翼翼地去除了环氧树脂，并用古埃及人使用的粘接剂——蜂蜡——修复了纯金面具。
The mask was returned to public display last month, albeit with some fine scratches caused by improvised earlier attempts to remove the glue stains using a sharp object. In a statement, the administrative prosecution authority, which investigates legal violations involving public servants, accused eight officials, including a former director of the museum and a former head of restoration, of "gross negligence and	上月，面具回到了公开展示区，不过工作人员最初尝试用尖锐物体去除胶渍的时候，在面具上留下一些细微划痕。负责调查涉公务员违法行为的行政检察机关发表声明，指控八名馆员犯有“重大过失，公然违反科学和专业规则”，其中包括博物馆的一名前任馆长以及前修复工作负责人。

blatant violation of scientific and professional rules.”
“In an attempt to cover up the damage they inflicted, they used sharp instruments such as scalpels and metal tools to remove traces of the glue on the mask, causing damage and scratches that remain,” the statement said.	“为了掩盖他们造成的破坏，他们用手术刀和金属工具等锋利的器械去除面具上的胶水痕迹，结果造成了持续的损伤和划痕，”声明称。
The accused officials have been suspended from their jobs and now face possible dismissal and heavy fines, but they will not go to prison.	遭到指控的馆员已被停职，可能会面临解雇和重金罚款，但不会入狱。
The scratches to the mask will not be visible to most visitors, according to Monica Hanna, an archaeologist and a member of Egypt’s Heritage Task Force, an initiative to protect the nation’s cultural heritage. Ms. Hanna blamed the debacle on declining standards at the 104-year-old museum, which is home to the world’s largest collection of mummies and other Pharaonic antiquities but has become increasingly neglected in recent years.	考古学家莫妮卡·汉娜(Monica Hanna)说，大多数游客不会看到面具上的划痕。她是旨在保护埃及文化遗产的文物工作组(Heritage Task Force)的成员。汉娜把这件事归咎于埃及博物馆的水平下降。这座博物馆有 104 年历史，是世界上最大的木乃伊和其他法老文物收藏馆，但是近年来，它遭受了越来越严重的忽视。
“There’s been a shift in the people working there,” she said. “The experienced people have retired and the new ones do not have adequate training.”	“那里的工作人员青黄不接，”她说。“经验丰富的人退休了，新人又没有接受过充分培训。”
Ms. Hanna said part of the collection was set to be shifted to two new museums in the coming years – the Grand Egyptian Museum, an $800 million project under construction near the Giza pyramids and scheduled to open in 2018, and the National Museum of Egyptian Civilization, which has been completed but is yet to open to the public.	汉娜说，未来几年，那里的部分文物将被转移到两座新的博物馆——一座是耗资 8 亿美元的大埃及博物馆(Grand Egyptian Museum)，正在吉萨金字塔附近施工建设，计划于 2018 年开放；另一座是已经竣工但尚未对公众开放的埃及文明国家博物馆(National Museum of Egyptian Civilization)。
The mask of Tutankhamen, an enigmatic young king, was discovered by the British archaeologist Howard Carter at the Valley of the Kings in 1922. It set off a global fascination with Egyptology that became a	1922 年，英国考古学家霍华德·卡特(Howard Carter)在帝王谷发现了神秘的少年法老图坦卡蒙的面具。从此之后，埃及古物学受到全球热捧，成为埃及旅游业的基石。

cornerstone of Egypt's tourism industry.
That industry has suffered badly in recent years, first because of the unrest that followed the fall of President Hosni Mubarak in 2011, then because of the turmoil that erupted in 2013 after the military deposed President Mohamed Morsi of the Muslim Brotherhood.	近年来, 埃及旅游业遭受了重创。最初是因为 2011 年埃及总统胡斯尼·穆巴拉克(Hosni Mubarak)倒台后发生的骚乱, 然后在 2013 年, 军方推翻穆斯林兄弟会(Muslim Brotherhood)出身的总统穆罕默德·穆尔西(Mohamed Morsi)之后, 埃及又出现了动荡。
Tourists have been attacked by Islamist extremists; eight Mexicans were killed by Egyptian security forces when they were mistaken for militants; and in October a suspected bomb brought down a Russian airliner, killing 224 people near a Red Sea resort.	游客遭到伊斯兰极端分子的攻击; 八名墨西哥人被埃及安全部队误认为武装分子并开枪射杀; 去年 10 月, 一架俄罗斯民航客机疑遭炸弹袭击, 224 人命丧一处红海度假胜地附近。
In recent months, though, Tutankhamen became the focus of renewed interest after the British Egyptologist Nicholas Reeves promoted a tantalizing theory that behind his burial chamber lies the long-sought tomb of Queen Nefertiti.	但是近几个月来, 图坦卡蒙引起了新一轮的兴趣, 因为英国的埃及古物学者尼古拉斯·里夫斯(Nicholas Reeves)提出了一个很吸引人的假说, 称图坦卡蒙的墓室背后隐藏着久寻不见的纳芙蒂蒂王后(Queen Nefertiti)墓。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160125/c25kingtut	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160125/c25kingtut
African Economies, and Hopes for New Era, Are Shaken by China	中国经济放缓打碎“非洲梦”
JOHANNESBURG — Years of rapid economic growth across sub-Saharan Africa fueled hopes of a prosperous new era. To many, the world's poorest continent was finally emerging, with economies that were no longer dependent on the fickle global demand for Africa's raw resources.	约翰内斯堡——多年以来, 撒哈拉以南非洲国家的经济快速增长让人们对一个繁荣新时代充满希望。对许多人来说, 这个世界上最贫穷的大陆终于开始脱贫, 这些国家的经济将不再依赖全球对非洲原始资源的变化无常的需求。
But as China's economy slows and its once seemingly insatiable hunger for Africa's commodities wanes, many African economies are tumbling, quickly.	但是, 随着中国经济的放缓, 中国对非洲大宗商品曾经看似得不到满足的胃口在消失, 而许多非洲国家的经济也开始下滑, 速度颇快。
Since the start of this year, the outlook across the continent has grown grimmer, especially in its two biggest economies, Nigeria and South	自今年初起, 整个非洲大陆的经济前景开始变得严峻, 特别是在非洲的两个最大经济体, 尼日利亚和南非。随着非洲最大的贸易伙伴中国宣布, 该国

Africa. Their currencies fell to record lows this month as China, Africa's biggest trading partner, announced that imports from Africa plummeted nearly 40 percent in 2015.	2015年从非洲的进口额暴跌了近40%，尼日利亚和南非的货币本月跌到创纪录的低点。
"We can see what drove the growth in Africa when demand goes away," said Greg Mills, the director of the Brenthurst Foundation, a Johannesburg-based economic research group. "Well, demand has gone away, and it's not pretty."	"需求消失时，我们能看到是什么在驱动非洲的经济增长，"总部设在约翰内斯堡的经济研究机构布伦舍斯特基金会(Brenthurst Foundation)的格雷格·米尔斯(Greg Mills)说。"好吧，现在需求消失了，前景可真不怎么样。"
The International Monetary Fund has in recent months sharply cut its projections for the continent. Credit rating agencies have downgraded or lowered their outlook on commodity exporters like Angola, Ghana, Mozambique and Zambia, which were the darlings of international investors until just over a year ago.	国际货币基金组织(International Monetary Fund)在最近几个月里多次降低对非洲经济发展前景的预期。信用评级机构也降低了他们对安哥拉、加纳、莫桑比克和赞比亚等大宗商品出口国的预期或信用级别，而这些国家一直是国际投资者的宠儿，直到一年多以前。
Many economists expect South Africa, the continent's most advanced and diversified economy, to slide into a recession this year, a projection disputed by the government. As Africa's biggest exporter of iron ore to China, South Africa is suffering from a slump in mining, as well as in other sectors like manufacturing and agriculture.	许多经济学家对非洲大陆发展程度最高、最多样化的经济体南非的预测是，该国经济今年会陷入衰退，尽管南非政府对这一预测持有争议。作为向中国出口铁矿石最多的非洲国家，南非正在遭受矿业、制造业，及农业等领域的低迷。
Like the currencies of many commodity-exporting nations, South Africa's rand has declined sharply in recent months because of the worldwide fall in prices of raw materials and because of poor government policies. The weak rand will make it more painful for South Africa, which is experiencing the worst drought in a generation and is usually an exporter of agricultural products, to import corn, the nation's staple.	与许多大宗商品出口国的货币一样，随着全球原材料价格下跌，加上政府的政策不力，南非兰特的汇率在最近几个月里大幅下跌。南非通常向外出口农产品，但这个国家正在经历这代人所见过的最严重的旱灾，需要进口该国的主食玉米，疲软的兰特加深了这个过程的痛苦。
Higher food prices could pose a challenge to the government of the	食品价格的上涨可能为该国总统雅各布·祖马(Jacob Zuma)的政府带来挑

nation's president, Jacob Zuma, who is confronting widening public anger over rising income inequality and whose party, the African National Congress, is expected to face serious challenges in municipal elections this year.	战。随着收入不平等的持续扩大，公众的愤怒持续上升，这些都摆在祖玛面前。他所在的政党非洲人国民大会，预计在今年的市政选举中面临严峻考验。
Nigeria, Africa's biggest economy and oil producer, is reeling from the crash in crude prices, at the same time President Muhammadu Buhari tries to deal with Boko Haram, the Islamic extremist group that has long terrorized the nation. With oil accounting for 80 percent of government revenue, the government may also lack the resources to quell potential unrest in the Niger Delta, the source of the country's oil.	非洲最大的经济体及石油生产国尼日利亚，对原油价格的崩溃感到震惊而困惑，同时，总统穆罕穆杜·布哈里(Muhammadu Buhari)试图应对长期在该国制造恐怖的博科哈拉姆(Boko Haram，旧译“博科圣地”)，一个伊斯兰极端组织。在南非政府的收入中，80%来自石油出口，政府还可能缺乏资源来平息尼日尔三角洲地区可能出现的动荡，那里是该国的石油产地。
Nigeria's currency, the naira, collapsed to record lows this month after Nigeria's central bank placed restrictions on the sale of American dollars to protect its shrinking foreign reserves. The currency fell to about 300 naira to the dollar in Nigeria's black market, down from about 240 early last month.	尼日利亚央行为了保护正在缩水的外汇储备，对美元结汇加以限制，但随后，尼日利亚货币奈拉在本月贬值到创纪录的低点。在尼日利亚的黑市上，汇率已跌至300奈拉兑1美元，上月初的汇率是240奈拉左右。
Weakening currencies will make it harder for Nigeria — and many other African governments — to repay China for loans used to build large infrastructure projects. The tumbling naira and China's downturn are also reverberating across private businesses, large and small.	货币走低将让尼日利亚及非洲许多其他国家的政府更难偿还中国为建设大型基础设施项目提供的贷款。奈拉的暴跌及中国经济的低迷也影响到大大小小的私有企业。
Happiness Awonegbe, a businessman in Lagos, Nigeria, whose companies import paper, tires and other goods from China, said the restrictions on the dollar had made it difficult for him to place orders with Chinese suppliers. When he can place an order, his Chinese suppliers now take 50 days to fill it instead of 30, apparently because of reductions in their workforce, Mr. Awonegbe said.	尼日利亚拉各斯的商人海辟内斯·阿旺奈格贝(Happiness Awonegbe)经营从中国进口纸张、轮胎和其他商品的公司，他说，对美元结汇的限制已经让他向中国供应商下订单变得困难。而当他能够下订单时，他的中国供应商现在需要50天才能供货，以前是30天，显然是因为中国厂家削减了员工，阿旺奈格贝说。

"We are feeling so much this spillover effect," said Mr. Awonegbe, who employs 50 people. "What happens in China affects Nigeria."	"我们极大地感受到外溢效应，"阿旺奈格贝说，他的公司有 50 名雇员。"中国发生的事情在影响尼日利亚。"
As the slumping economies have underscored the continent's growing vulnerability to changes in China, they have quieted much of the heady talk of "Africa rising," a catchphrase that symbolized the continent's fortunes. Growing consumer demand and an emerging middle class, while real in many African nations, are insufficient to offset a fall in the continent's main driver of growth, which remains commodities.	这些经济体的下滑凸显出，对于发生在中国的变化，非洲大陆的承受能力正在减弱，人们也不大再提"非洲崛起"这个一度令人兴奋的话题，那曾是非洲大陆前途的象征。不断增长的消费需求以及新兴的中产阶级，虽然是许多非洲国家的现实存在，但还不足以弥补非洲大陆经济增长主要驱动力的减少，这种驱动力仍是大宗商品。
But experts also see bright spots on the map. While previously high-flying commodity exporters, like Angola and Zambia, have been hit hardest by China's slowdown, other countries are showing greater resilience.	不过，专家们也看到了地图中的亮点。此前迅速增长的大宗商品出口国，比如安哥拉和赞比亚，成为了中国经济放缓中受灾最严重的地区，但其他一些国家则显示了更大的弹性。
"The 'Africa rising' narrative wasn't true, but neither is the diametrically opposed argument that Africa is no longer rising," said Simon Freemantle, a senior political economist at Standard Bank, a South African bank. "The truth is obviously in between."	"非洲崛起'的说法虽不正确，不过与其截然相反的说法'非洲不再崛起'也同样不正确，"南非标准银行(Standard Bank)的高级政治经济师西蒙·弗里曼特尔(Simon Freemantle)说。"实际情况显然处于两者之间。"
"What we're going to see going forward is far more fragmentation and divergence across the continent," Mr. Freemantle added. "And what's going to determine that divergence is how prudent countries have been during the good times. Have they embedded macro reforms? Have they saved?"	"在非洲大陆，参差不齐的情况会变得远远更加严重，"弗里曼特尔说。"决定各国差异的主要因素，是他们在繁荣时期是否审慎行事。是否进行了宏观改革？是否有所储备？"
Mr. Freemantle said East African countries, including Kenya and Ethiopia, which have been forced to diversify their economies in part because of their dearth of commodities, will probably continue to enjoy robust growth.	弗里曼特尔说，肯尼亚、埃塞俄比亚等东非国家不得不推进经济的多样化，部分原因就是他们缺乏大宗商品资源，这些国家很可能会继续保持强劲。

Even Nigeria, which remains dependent on oil, has experienced growth in other sectors in the past decade. A rising middle class has led to the emergence of Western-style shopping malls. A booming entertainment industry helped Nigeria overtake South Africa as the continent's biggest economy in 2014.	连依然依赖石油的尼日利亚，过去十年也在其他领域取得了进展。中产阶级的崛起带来了西式购物中心的出现。蓬勃发展的娱乐业推动该国超越南非，成为 2014 年非洲大陆最大的经济体。
Still, experts say, most nations failed to take advantage of the boom years to carry out long-term changes to their economies. They failed to deal with some of the biggest obstacles to sustained growth — like the severe lack of electricity across the continent — and spur industries that would create jobs. In South Africa, where a chronic shortage of power has constrained the economy, the unemployment rate hovers around 25 percent.	不过，专家说，大多数国家没有利用繁荣期进行长远的经济改革。既没有消除持续增长面临的一些巨大障碍——比如非洲各地严重缺电——并也没有刺激那些可以创造就业机会的行业发展。在南非，电力的长期短缺已制约了经济发展，失业率徘徊在 25%左右。
Zambia, whose economy depends on copper exports, has suffered from waning demand from China and a drop in copper prices. Mines have closed, and thousands of jobs have been lost in recent months.	赞比亚的经济依赖于铜出口，中国的需求减弱和铜价下跌给该国造成了冲击。最近几个月，一些矿山被关停，数以千计的就业岗位被削减。
Critics say Zambia could have taken advantage of the boom by negotiating better terms with Chinese companies, including securing technology transfers or employment for infrastructure projects. Zambia used revenue from copper to increase the salaries of civil servants but did not invest in potential growth industries, like tourism and agriculture.	批评人士说，赞比亚本来可以好好利用繁荣期，在和中国的公司谈判中获取更有利的条件，比如确保技术转让，要求基础设施项目提供就业岗位等。但赞比亚把铜矿收入用来增加公务员的工资，没有在旅游业、农业等有增长潜力的行业上进行投资。
Edith Nawakwi, a former finance minister in Zambia and now leader of an opposition party, said large infrastructure projects were often wasted opportunities that failed to lead to economic development. African leaders, Ms. Nawakwi said, could have asked the Chinese to	赞比亚前财政部长伊迪丝·那瓦克(Edith Nawakwi)现在是反对党领袖，她表示，大型基础设施项目经常错失良机，没能带动经济发展。那瓦克说，非洲领导人本应要求中国修建那种可以进一步推动区域一体化、商业和贸易的基础设施。 build infrastructure that would have furthered regional integration, business and trade.

"What we need is a change in the way we approach China," Ms. Nawakwi said. "You get from China what you ask for."	"我们需要改变与中国打交道的方式,"那瓦克说。"中国给你什么,取决于你跟它要什么。"
Last month, in a summit meeting here with most of Africa's leaders, President Xi Jinping of China pledged $60 billion in development assistance to the continent and promised to support "Africa in achieving development and prosperity."	上个月,在大多数非洲领导人参加的峰会上,中国国家主席习近平承诺提供600亿美元,援助非洲发展,还承诺支持非洲"实现发展和繁荣"。
Robert Mugabe, Zimbabwe's president and the chairman of the African Union, heaped praised on China as a counterpoint to Western powers. Many delegates to the summit meeting said China, unlike the West, treated Africans as equals.	非洲联盟主席、津巴布韦总统罗伯特·穆加贝(Robert Mugabe)称赞中国是一支可以制衡西方列强的力量。峰会上很多代表都表示,中国对待非洲人很平等,与西方不同。
But with the impact on Africa of China's downturn and a growing trade imbalance — China exported $102 billion to Africa last year but imported only $67 billion from the continent — skeptical voices are increasing.	但是,随着中国经济下行给非洲造成冲击,以及贸易不平衡的加剧——去年中国对非洲出口额为1020亿美元,进口额为670亿美元——怀疑的声音也与日俱增。
"The Chinese are not romantic anymore about their relations with Africa — far from it," said Ibbo Mandaza, a political analyst and businessman in Zimbabwe. "For them, it's purely economic."	"中国与非洲的关系不再浪漫——与浪漫相距甚远,"津巴布韦政治分析人士、商人伊波·曼达扎(Ibbo Mandaza)说。"对他们来说,这就是纯粹的经济往来。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160126/c26africaecon	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160126/c26africaecon
ISIS Video Appears to Show Paris Assailants Earlier in Syria and Iraq	ISIS 视频出现巴黎恐袭凶手的身影
PARIS — The Islamic State released a video on Sunday apparently showing footage of the men who carried out the November attacks in Paris while they were in Syria and Iraq, where they are pictured carrying out executions, including beheadings.	巴黎——上周日,伊斯兰国(Islamic State)公布了一段视频,看起来是去年11月发动巴黎袭击案的团伙在叙利亚和伊拉克时的情况,其中有他们执行死刑,将囚徒斩首的画面。

If the identities of all of the men in the video are confirmed, it would be the first evidence that the group that killed 130 people in coordinated attacks in Paris on Nov. 13 had been sent from the Islamic State's base in Syria.	如果视频中所有人的身份得到确认，那么这将是第一个证据，表明是伊斯兰国在叙利亚的大本营派遣这伙人开展了去年11月13日在巴黎的有组织的袭击，导致130人丧生。
The video makes it clear that the Paris attacks were not just inspired by the Islamic State, but rather carried out by core members of the terrorist group, who had been trained and vetted in Syria before being tapped to carry out attacks on European soil. It also aims to show that the assailants – nearly all of whom had European passports – had been carrying out atrocities in the group's name long before their return to Europe.	这段视频清楚地表明，巴黎袭击案不仅仅是受到了伊斯兰国的激发，而且还是这个恐怖组织的核心成员开展的，这些人在欧洲境内开展袭击之前，曾在叙利亚接受过培训。视频旨在表明，这些袭击者——几乎所有人都持有欧洲护照——在返回欧洲前，已经以伊斯兰国的名义开展暴力活动多年。
It is unclear why it took the Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL, more than two months to release the video, which also includes numerous images of the Paris attacks. Under the headline "Target Area: Paris," it shows frantic televised scenes of soccer players and fans reacting to explosions at the Stade du France, and chaos on the streets near the Bataclan and other venues where the mass shootings took place.	伊斯兰国也称为 ISIS 或 ISIL。目前还不清楚他们为什么两个月之后才公布了这段视频。视频标题为《目标区域：巴黎》(Target Area: Paris)，其中还包括很多巴黎袭击案的影像，它截取的电视图像包括法兰西大球场(Stade de France)爆炸时足球运动员和球迷的反应，巴塔克兰音乐厅(Le Bataclan)等娱乐场所发生大规模枪击事件时，附近街道的混乱场面。
Charlie Winter, a senior researcher at the Transcultural Conflict and Violence Initiative at Georgia State who monitors jihadist propaganda, said if the group had published the video immediately after the Nov. 13 attacks, it would have been swallowed in the wave of coverage.	乔治亚州的跨文化冲突和暴力机构(Transcultural Conflict and Violence Initiative)对圣战宣传进行了跟踪研究，该机构资深研究员查理·温特(Charlie Winter)表示，如果这段视频在11月13日袭击后立即发布，会被铺天盖地的报道所淹没。
"We know that their propaganda wing is very patient and happy to bide their time until the product they have is deemed to be perfect," he said.	"我们知道，他们的宣传部门很有耐心，乐意等候时机，直到他们认为作品已臻完美，"他说。
The Islamic State began teasing the release of the video last week in	伊斯兰国上周在其网络月刊《达比克》(Dabiq)上发布了这段视频的截屏，

Dabiq, its monthly magazine, where a still image of the video appeared. Several of the assailants pictured in Syria or Iraq are seen wearing what appear to be lapel microphones suggesting that they were recording themselves.	显示几个袭击者在叙利亚或伊拉克的情景，他们似乎佩戴着领夹麦克风，说明正在录制画面。
The existence of a prerecorded video is important in the debate on whether the attackers were sent by the Islamic State itself or were simply inspired to act in its name. In some of the most devastating terrorist attacks, including the 2005 London bombings, the assailants recorded statements that they were acting on behalf of Al Qaeda.	存在这种预先录制的视频很重要，因为人们在争论袭击者是由伊斯兰国派遣的，还是受其激发自行开展行动。在一些破坏性极大的恐怖袭击中，包括2005年伦敦爆炸案，袭击者都录下了声明，自称是以基地组织(Al Qaeda)的名义开展行动。
A possible motivation for the new extended video is to avoid the confusion that followed the January 2015 terrorist attack on the satirical magazine Charlie Hebdo in Paris, where the absence of such a video caused analysts to doubt if Saïd and Chérif Kouachi had been sent by Al Qaeda in the Arabian Peninsula, as they claimed. At least one of the brothers is known to have traveled to Yemen to train with the terrorist group, and more than a year later, most experts agree that it played a role in the attack, though the extent of control-and-command remains a matter of debate.	发布这段新的长视频也可能是为了避免混淆。巴黎讽刺杂志《查理周报》(Charlie Hebdo)在2015年1月遭受恐怖攻击时，没有这样的视频出现，因此分析人士怀疑赛义德(Saïd)和谢里夫·库瓦奇(Chérif Kouachi)兄弟未必像他们自称的那样，受到阿拉伯半岛基地组织的差遣。不过人们已经知道，兄弟俩中至少有一个曾经前往也门，接受恐怖组织的培训。一年多后的现在，大多数专家认为恐怖组织在《查理周报》袭击案中发挥了作用，但对于恐怖组织在多大程度上安排和指挥了那起袭击，人们仍然存在争论。
In the ISIS video released Sunday, seven of the Paris attackers are shown addressing the camera, one by one, on a windswept dune. The youngest of the group, Bilal Hadfi, 20 – who wept when he said goodbye to his mother in Belgium before leaving for Syria last year – is shown with a prisoner kneeling at his feet.	在上周日公布的这段 ISIS 视频中，七名巴黎袭击者在刮着大风的沙丘上，一个接一个对着摄像机讲话。这些人中最年轻的是20岁的比拉尔·哈德菲(Bilal Hadfi)，去年他在比利时告别母亲，前往叙利亚的时候，曾经流下眼泪——在视频中，一个囚犯跪在他的脚下。
He pushes the man to the ground and beheads him.	他把这名男子推倒，然后将其斩首。
Samy Amimour, from the Drancy suburb of Paris whose 67-year-old	萨米·阿米穆尔(Samy Amimour)来自巴黎郊区德朗西，他67岁的父亲曾前

father traveled to Syria in a failed attempt to retrieve him, smiles as he holds a captive's head.	往叙利亚，试图将他带回，但没有成功。在视频中，他面带微笑，抓着一个俘虏的头。
And Omar Ismail Mostefai, who detonated a suicide vest inside the Bataclan concert hall, is shown holding another victim by the nape of his neck. "Know that we have received an order from the emir of the believers to kill you wherever you are," he says, using the honorific for the leader of the Islamic State, Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi.	还有在巴塔克兰音乐厅内引爆自杀背心的奥马尔·伊斯梅尔·穆斯塔法伊(Omar Ismail Mostefai)，他在视频中捏着另一个受害者的后颈。“要知道，我们已经接到了信徒的埃米尔的命令，无论你在哪里，都会杀掉你，”他说。“信徒的埃米尔”指的是伊斯兰国领导人阿布·贝克尔·巴格达迪(Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi)。
One of the few attackers who is not shown executing a captive is Abdelhamid Abaaoud, who appears in a room with the Islamic State flag.	视频中有几名袭击者没有给囚犯行刑的画面，其中包括阿卜杜勒哈米德·阿巴乌德(Abelhamid Abaaoud)，他手持伊斯兰国旗帜出现在一间屋子里。
"We will not stop fighting you in every part of the world regardless of whether you are on a tourism trip or a work trip," he says in French, according to a transcript provided by SITE Intelligence, which monitors jihadist statements. "So expect more. Expect a mujahid to show up to kill you."	“我们会不停地在世界各个角落发起袭击，不管你是在旅行还是出差途中，”他用法语说道，该信息来自监测圣战分子声明的赛德情报集团(SITE Intelligence)提供的一份复印件。“所以等着吧，还会有更多袭击，等着一名圣战战士前去杀你。”
The video also states that ISIS has plans to attack Britain. It shows images of politicians, including Prime Minister David Cameron, as they authorize military action against the group.	伊斯兰国还通过这个视频表示，它计划对英国发起袭击。视频中出现了包括英国首相戴维·卡梅伦(David Cameron)在内的多名政治人士的形象，他们已经批准对该组织采取军事行动。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160127/c27isis	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160127/c27isis
El Salvador's Advice on Zika: Don't Have Babies	对抗兹卡病毒的绝望方案：两年内不要生育
SAN SALVADOR — When in human history has an epidemic become so alarming that a nation feels compelled to urge its people not to have children for two years?	圣萨尔瓦多——人类历史上，何时有一种传染病令人惊慌到使一个国家觉得必须呼吁国民两年不生孩子？
Grappling with a mosquito-borne virus linked to brain damage in infants, El Salvador is doing just that, advising all women in the country	萨尔瓦多就正在这么做。该国正在努力应对蚊子携带的一种病毒，而这种病毒和婴幼儿的脑损伤有关。萨尔瓦多建议，全国女性不要在2018年之前怀

not to get pregnant until 2018 — the equivalent of a Hail Mary pass that, to many here, only illustrates their government's desperation.	孕。对这里的很多人来说，这相当于最后一搏，不过是表明了政府的绝望。
"It's not up to the government; it's up to God," said Vanessa Iraheta, 30, who is seven months pregnant with her second child. "I don't think the youth will stop having children."	"这事不是政府说了算，是上天说了算，"30岁的瓦妮莎·伊拉赫塔(Vanessa Iraheta)说。"我觉得年轻人不会停止生孩子。"她已有七个月的身孕，是第二胎。
The virus, known as Zika, has rattled Latin America and the Caribbean, particularly Brazil, where more than a million people have been infected and nearly 4,000 children have been born with microcephaly, a rare condition in which babies have unusually small heads.	这种病毒名为"兹卡"(Zika)，让拉丁美洲和加勒比地区陷入了恐慌，特别是巴西。在巴西，超过100万人感染，近4000个孩子出生时患有小头症。小头症颇为罕见，患此症的婴儿头部特别小。
Other nations around the region have issued warnings similar to El Salvador's, with officials in Colombia and Ecuador urging women to put off becoming pregnant for months, or until the dangers of the virus are better understood.	该地区的其他国家也发布了和萨尔瓦多类似的警告，其中哥伦比亚和厄瓜多尔的官员力劝女性推迟怀孕，先观察数月，或是等到对该病毒的危险有更好的了解之后。
But El Salvador's advice to stop having children for two full years struck many experts as particularly sweeping, leaving them to wonder when else a nation has tried to halt its birthrate in the face of an epidemic.	但萨尔瓦多给出的整整两年不生孩子的建议让很多专家觉得特别笼统，使他们好奇还有哪个国家在面对传染病时曾试图阻止民众要孩子。
"I can tell you that I have never read, heard or encountered a public request like that," said David Bloom, a professor of economics and demography at the Harvard School of Public Health.	"我可以告诉你，我本人从来没看到、听到或是遇到过这样的公开要求，"哈佛大学公共卫生学院(Harvard School of Public Health)的经济学与人口学教授戴维·布卢姆(David Bloom)说。
If El Salvador's advice sounds like a cry for help, critics say, that's because it is.	批评人士称，如果说萨尔瓦多的建议听着像是呼救，那是因为它本来就是。
"I mean, the futility of saying something like this," said Dr. Ernesto Selva Sutter, a leading public health expert in El Salvador, shaking his head. "Are you going to stop having sex?"	"嗯，说这种话毫无意义，"萨尔瓦多国内著名的公共卫生专家埃内斯托·塞尔瓦·萨特(Ernesto Selva Sutter)摇着头说。"你会停止性生活吗？"
This small nation is already home to an epidemic of gang violence,	这个小国目前已是帮派暴力泛滥成灾。这导致每年数万年轻人北逃，并让政

pushing tens of thousands of its young people to flee north every year and stretching the government thin. By one estimate, El Salvador earned the unenviable title of being the Western Hemisphere's most violent country.	府苦不堪言。根据一个估算的数字，萨尔瓦多落下了西半球暴力最严重的国家这个不值得羡慕的头衔。
Now the Zika virus is crashing through its doors. With at least 5,000 cases of Zika in a nation of six million, more than 1,500 in the last month alone, the government has been scrambling for solutions. It has dispatched teams of fumigators and treated water supplies to combat the Aedes mosquito, which also carries diseases like dengue, yellow fever and chikungunya.	如今，兹卡病毒正在这里肆虐。在这个人口 600 万的国家，至少出现了 5000 例兹卡病例，单是上月便有 1500 多例。政府在争分夺秒地寻找解决方案，已派出了消毒队伍，并对供水进行了处理，以对付伊蚊。这种蚊子还会传播登革热、黄热病和基孔肯雅热等疾病。
Standing water, which allows the insects to breed, is a fact of life here, as are the pools of trash cloaking many city streets in the dense neighborhoods that carve through the hillsides of the capital.	死水会滋生蚊虫，但在这里，死水无处不在，很多城市街道上覆盖着的那一堆堆垃圾也是。首都的山坡之间分布着人口密集社区，其中有纵横交错的街道。
One community leader said that a government clinic in his neighborhood shut down three months ago after repeated threats from the gangs, the kind of conditions that experts say make it harder to treat and combat the virus.	一名社区领袖称，在受到犯罪团伙的多次威胁后，他所在社区的政府诊所三个月前关门了。专家称，这种情况增加了治疗和抗击卡兹病毒的难度。
The country's vice minister of health, Dr. Eduardo Espinoza, said the recommendation to stop having children was not the government's principal approach to the epidemic, but rather a "secondary" strategy stemming from "the fact that these mosquitoes exist and transmit this disease."	该国卫生部副部长爱德华多·埃斯皮诺萨(Eduardo Espinoza)表示，建议暂停生孩子并不是政府应对兹卡疫情的主要策略，而是“次要”策略，并称采取这一举措源于“一个事实，即这类蚊子是这种疾病的携带者和传播者”。
"We see ourselves obligated to make this recommendation to partners trying to get pregnant," he said.	“我们认为自己有义务向想要怀孕的伴侣提出这个建议，”他说。
The World Health Organization said it would not recommend	世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)表示不会建议推迟两年怀孕。 suspending pregnancies for two years.

"There are many questions that need to be answered before making that recommendation," said Dr. Marcos Espinal, the director of communicable diseases for the Pan American Health Organization.	"在提出这一建议之前,有很多问题需要回答,"泛美卫生组织(Pan American Health Organization)传染性疾病预防负责人马科斯·埃斯皮纳尔(Marcos Espinal)说。
One of the most important, he said, is whether the country is at the peak of its epidemic. "You have to assess the risk in making such a recommendation of how it will impact the birthrate of a country," he said.	他表示,一个极为重要的问题是,该国是否处于疫情的高峰期。"在给出这类建议时,必须要评估它将怎样影响一国出生率的风险,"他说。
Other experts said that Zika had brought nations like El Salvador into uncharted territory.	其他一些专家称,兹卡把萨尔瓦多这样的国家带进了未知领域。
"I have never seen or read of any instance of a government warning its citizens not to get pregnant," said Dr. Howard Markel, who teaches the history of medicine at the University of Michigan.	"我从来没在现实生活或是书本里看到过政府告诫民众不要怀孕的情况,"在密歇根大学(University of Michigan)教医学史的霍华德·马克尔(Howard Markel)说。
Dr. Markel cited other medical warnings related to pregnancy: Pregnant women are cautioned by doctors to stay away from anyone with rubella, for instance, because it causes devastating birth defects, including microcephaly.	马克尔提到了其他一些和怀孕有关的医学警告:比如,医生会告诫孕妇远离风疹患者,因为风疹会导致严重的先天畸形,包括小头症。
Early in the AIDS epidemic, when there was no treatment and mothers frequently passed H.I.V. to their babies, he added, "there was some sotto voce debate about whether it was morally ethical for a doctor to advise a woman not to get pregnant because of the risk to her child."	他接着说,艾滋病流行初期,患者得不到治疗,母亲经常会把艾滋病病毒传给孩子,当时"对于医生因孩子面临风险而劝女性不要怀孕是否符合伦理道德,有过一些低声争论"。
"But no one said, 'It's verboten; don't do it.' "	"但没人说,'这是禁止的,不要这么做。'"
"Even if the religious leaders can help us combat these mosquitoes, we still feel obliged to make this recommendation to the couples," he said, referring to the advice to avoid getting pregnant.	"即便宗教领袖能帮助我们抗击这些蚊子,我们依然觉得有义务对夫妻双方提出这个建议,"他指的是避免怀孕的建议。

Like the government, the Roman Catholic Church in El Salvador seems unprepared for a confrontation. The archbishop has yet to weigh in. Over the weekend, when many expected him to discuss the issue, he was sick and unable to say Sunday Mass. The auxiliary bishop, Gregorio Rosa Chávez, indicated that there would be a meeting of bishops next week that might yield some answers.	和政府一样，萨尔瓦多的罗马天主教会似乎也未对一场对抗做好准备。大主教还未介入。周末，很多人以为他会谈论此事，但他却生病了，无法主持周日的弥撒。辅理主教格雷戈里奥·罗萨·查韦斯(Gregorio Rosa Chávez)表示，下周会召开主教会议，可能会得出一些答案。
"Certainly this is a new theme, and it has to be looked at calmly," he said in an interview. "I think that the church is going to take this very seriously. I would just wait a little."	"的确，这是一个新议题，必须平静对待，"他在接受采访时说。"我认为教会会严肃对待。我要等等看。"
Waiting does not appear to be a problem for some women. Unlike the birthrate in many developing nations, El Salvador's is already low, and the fear of Zika infecting a child seemed to rank third or fourth on the list of reasons many women cited for not wanting to get pregnant.	对一些女性来说，等待似乎并不是问题。和很多发展中国家的出生率不同，萨尔瓦多当下的出生率已经相当低了。而且在很多不想怀孕的女性给出的原因中，担心孩子感染兹卡似乎只排在第三四位。
First, they say, is the violence. Gangs operate with impunity, and the war between them, as well as with the police, has produced homicide levels not seen since the country's civil war that ended in 1992.	她们说，排在第一位的原因是暴力。犯罪团伙肆无忌惮，它们之间以及它们与警方的交战造成的杀人案件，达到了该国 1992 年内战结束以来从未有过的程度。
Women also mentioned economic fears, with severe underemployment and more than a third of the population living under the poverty line.	女性还提到了对经济的担忧。该国失业问题严重，且逾三分之一的人们生活在贫困线以下。
"It's not a question of this disease," said Sara Galdamez, 21, accompanied by her 3-year-old daughter and husband. "Honestly, it's a question of economics and, well, the state of security."	"不是这个病的问题，"21 岁的萨拉·加尔达梅斯(Sara Galdamez)说，3 岁的女儿和丈夫陪在她身边。"说实在的，是经济和安全状况的问题。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160127/c27zika	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160127/c27zika
Researchers Weigh Risks of Zika Spreading at Rio Olympics	兹卡病毒扩散阴影笼罩里约奥运
RIO DE JANEIRO — With about 500,000 people expected to visit Brazil	里约热内卢——鉴于今年预计会有大约 50 万人来巴西观看在这里举办的奥

for the Olympics here this year, researchers are scrambling to figure how much of a risk the Games might pose in spreading the Zika virus around the world.	运会, 研究人员正在争分夺秒地研究, 奥运会把兹卡病毒传播到全世界的风险有多大。
Infectious disease specialists are particularly focused on the potential for Zika to spread to the United States. As many as 200,000 Americans are expected to travel to Rio de Janeiro for the Olympics in August. When they return to the Northern Hemisphere and its summer heat, far more mosquitoes will be around to potentially transmit the virus in the United States.	传染病专家尤其关注的是兹卡(Zika)扩散到美国的可能性。今年 8 月, 去里约热内卢观看奥运会的美国人预计会多达 20 万人。等他们在炎炎夏日回到北半球时, 美国可以传播该病毒的蚊子将大大增多。
Brazilian researchers believe that Zika, which has been linked to severe birth defects, came to their country during another major sports event – the 2014 World Cup – when hundreds of thousands of visitors flowed into Brazil. Virus trackers here say that the strain raging in Brazil probably came from Polynesia, where an outbreak was rattling small islands around the Pacific.	巴西研究人员认为, 和严重的先天畸形有关联的兹卡病毒, 是在另一场体育盛事, 即 2014 年的世界杯期间传播到他们国家的, 当时有成千上万的游客涌向巴西。这里的病毒追踪人员称, 在巴西肆虐的这种病毒可能来自波利尼西亚。当时, 那里爆发的疫情让太平洋上的周边小岛紧张不安。
As many as 1.5 million people are believed to have contracted the virus in Brazil since then, and the authorities are now investigating thousands of reported cases of babies being born recently with brain damage and abnormally small heads. Zika has spread to more than 20 nations and territories in the Western Hemisphere, according to the World Health Organization, illustrating how quickly the epidemic can expand even without a big international gathering.	据信从那时以来, 已有多达 150 万人在巴西感染了该病毒。汇报的数据显示, 最近出生的数千名婴儿出现了脑损伤和头部小得不正常的现象。当局现在正在调查这些病例。据世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)介绍, 兹卡已经扩散到了西半球的 20 多个国家和地区。这表明即便没有大型的国际活动, 这种传染病也能迅速扩散。
By itself, the virus is not normally life-threatening, and most people who become infected have no symptoms at all.	该病毒本身通常不会危及生命, 大部分感染者根本不会有什么症状。
The big question is whether Zika is responsible for the huge increase in	巴西的医生、医院及其他医疗官员在过去几个月里反映, 先天畸形大幅增多,

birth defects reported by doctors, hospitals and other medical officials in Brazil over the last few months. That connection has still not been proved.	于是引出了一个大问题: 这是否应该归咎于兹卡? 不过两者之间的联系依然未得到证实。
"There is more and more concern that there may be a causal relationship, but a lot of the work so far is to rule out other possible causes," Dr. Bruce Aylward, an assistant director general at the World Health Organization, said on Thursday, adding that it might take six to nine months to know for sure.	"人们越来越担心可能存在因果关系, 但迄今为止的大量工作都是在排除其他可能的原因," 世卫组织助理总干事布鲁斯·艾尔沃德(Bruce Aylward)在周四说。他接着表示, 可能需要六到九个月的时间才能知道确切答案。
Asked whether the W.H.O. would advise people not to travel to Brazil for the Olympics, he replied: "I would think that would be very, very unlikely."	在被问及世卫组织是否会建议人们不要去巴西看奥运会时, 他回答说: "我认为那是非常非常不可能的。"
American officials in the United States said Thursday that there was little likelihood of a Zika outbreak in the United States, adding that the country's long history of mosquito control efforts had curbed other mosquito-borne diseases, like dengue or chikungunya, in the past.	美国国内的官员周四称, 美国爆发兹卡疫情的可能性微乎其微, 并接着表示, 美国控制蚊患有悠久的历史, 抑制住了蚊虫携带的其他一些疾病, 如登革热和基孔肯雅病。
But because the virus can be carried in a person's blood to a new country, then passed to others by mosquito bites, researchers are trying to determine whether a big global event like the Olympics could add to the global transmission of the disease.	但因为兹卡病毒可以通过人的血液进入另一个国家, 再通过蚊虫叮咬传染给其他人, 研究人员正在努力确定像奥运会这样的全球性大型活动, 是否会导致该疾病在全球传播。
"Infected travelers departing from Brazil are expected to return to regions that have the potential to sustain transmission," said Moritz Kraemer, a scholar at Oxford University who researches the global spread of viruses, emphasizing that many travelers would return to their home countries during the summer. "So the international spread of the virus might increase substantially due to higher activity of mosquitoes."	"离开巴西的被感染游客, 预计会回到适宜传播的地区," 牛津大学(Oxford University)研究病毒全球扩散的学者莫里茨·克雷默(Moritz Kraemer)说。他强调, 很多游客回到各自国家时都是夏季。"因为蚊子夏季更活跃, 所以该病毒在全球扩散的可能性可能会显著增加。"

Using worldwide temperature profiles and air travel routes, Mr. Kraemer and other researchers found that more than 60 percent of the population of the United States lives in areas where Zika can be transmitted during the Northern Hemisphere's summer, when the Games will be held. A much smaller number, about 23 million people, live in parts of the United States where Zika can be transmitted year-round, like Florida and Texas, the researchers found.	通过研究全球温度曲线及空中旅行路线，克雷默等研究人员发现，美国逾60%的人口居住的地方处在北半球夏季——也就是奥运会举行的时候——兹卡病毒可能传播的区域。佛罗里达州及德克萨斯州等地兹卡病毒可能全年传播，但涉及的人口要少得多，约有2300万人。
In the Southern Hemisphere, by contrast, it is summer right now, and mosquitoes are rapidly spreading the disease in Brazil and other warm parts of Latin America and the Caribbean.	相比之下，南半球现在是夏季，蚊子正在巴西等拉丁美洲及加勒比海地区的温暖区域迅速传播兹卡病毒。
That may pose a particular risk for big events like Brazil's Carnival, which goes into full swing next month, but Olympics officials emphasize that it will be winter in Rio when the Games are held, which could limit the spread of mosquito-borne diseases.	这可能会给重大活动造成威胁，尤其是巴西将于下个月全面开展的狂欢节。但奥委会官员强调，里约奥运会将在冬季举行，或许会限制蚊媒疾病的传播。
Even so, Brazilian virologists contend that mosquitoes can still easily transmit viruses in Rio and other tropical cities year-round, pointing out that Zika may have begun spreading in Brazil during its winter in 2014.	即便如此，巴西病毒学家认为蚊子仍然可以轻易地全年在里约等热带城市传播病毒，并指出兹卡病毒可能就是于2014年冬季开始在巴西传播的。
Brazil has been the worst-hit country in the Western Hemisphere and the authorities are under intense pressure domestically to contain the Zika epidemic right away, regardless of the Olympics.	巴西是西半球受影响最大的国家，且不论奥运会，巴西当局在国内正承受着立即遏制兹卡疫情的巨大压力。
Mario Andrada, a spokesman for the Rio Olympics organizing committee, said that there had been no discussions about canceling the Games or moving them to another city because of Zika.	里约奥运组委会发言人马里奥·安德拉达(Mario Andrada)表示，组委会并未因为兹卡病毒而讨论取消或更换城市举办奥运会的事宜。
He added that teams were reviewing Olympic venues daily to eliminate problems like stagnant water where mosquitoes can breed. He said	他还表示，相关团队每天都会检查奥运场馆，以消除积水等问题——蚊子可以在积水中繁衍。他表示，官员们还在设法解决担心感染兹卡病毒的运动员

officials were also seeking to work on the “psychological aspect” of athletes being fearful about getting Zika by guaranteeing a supply of mosquito repellent and by keeping teams from every nation informed about the virus.	的“心理层面”问题，保证提供驱蚊剂，并及时告知每个国家的代表团有关该病毒的消息。
“The risk is no joke, so we will maintain this inspection program until the end of the Paralympics,” Mr. Andrada said, referring to the multisport event that will be held in September, after the Olympics.	“这种威胁不是玩笑，因此我们将保留这个检查计划，直到残奥会结束，”安德拉达说。残奥会包括多个项目，计划在奥运会闭幕后于9月进行。
The fears over Zika are merely the latest challenge to the Rio Olympics. Sailors have complained angrily about competing in the city’s sewage-infested bay. Prosecutors have asserted that builders paid bribes to win contracts for Olympic venues. Clashes have broken out over evictions to make way for Olympic projects. Deep spending cuts have come as Brazil reels from its worst economic slump in decades.	对于兹卡的担忧只是里约奥运会面临的最新挑战。帆船运动员愤怒地抱怨要在该市充满污水的海湾举行比赛。检察部门声称建造商为获得奥运会场馆的建筑合同而行贿。为给奥运工程让路而赶走居民的行为引发了多次冲突。由于陷入数十年来最严重的经济滑坡，巴西还在大幅削减开支。
“Plagued by so many problems, Rio is clearly in a league of its own among host cities of the Olympics in recent memory,” Andrew Zimbalist, a scholar who specializes in sports economics at Smith College, said.	“里约受到了诸多问题的困扰，与近些年举办奥运会的城市相比，明显不属于一个级别，”史密斯学院(Smith College)研究体育经济学的学者安德鲁·津巴利斯特(Andrew Zimbalist)说。
While anemic ticket sales had already been disappointing organizers, concerns are growing that travelers from the United States and other countries could cancel plans to visit because of Zika.	门票销售不佳已经让组织方感到失望，同时人们又愈发担心美国及其他国家的旅行者可能会因为兹卡病毒而取消计划。
“People have called to ask, ‘If this explodes, how would I cancel my trip?’” said Anbritt Stengele, president of Sports Traveler, a company in Chicago which specializes in travel packages for major sporting events. She said that about 15 percent of her clients who had booked trips for the Olympics had called in recent days to ask about the Zika virus and	“不少人打电话来问，‘如果疫情爆发，我该如何取消行程？’”芝加哥旅行公司 Sports Traveler 的总裁安布利特·施滕格勒(Anbritt Stengele)说。这家公司主推针对重大体育赛事的旅行项目。她表示，预定了奥运会之旅的客户中，大约有 15% 近日致电询问有关兹卡病毒的情况，讨论调整行程的可能性。

the possibility of modifying their trips.
"It's a tricky situation for us, because everything is paid for in advance — airfare, hotels, ground transportation," Ms. Stengele said. She said most of the vacation groups traveling to the Summer Olympics include women and families with children.	"对我们来说，情况相当棘手，因为所有费用都是提前支付的，机票、酒店和地面交通都是这样，"施滕格勒说。她表示，大多数开展夏季奥运会之旅的度假团都包含女性和有小孩的家庭。
"This is a completely different demographic," she said, compared with the largely male tourists who attended the 2014 World Cup. "The Olympics is about families."	与2014年世界杯以男性为主的游客群体相比，"这次的人口构成完全不同，"她说。"奥运会是全家观看的活动。"
Now athletes and fans alike are trying to determine whether it makes sense to travel to Rio. Alysia Montaño, an American runner who competed at the United States Track and Field Championships while eight months pregnant, said the Zika virus could affect her decision to bring her young daughter, who will turn 2 in August, to the Games.	此时此刻，运动员和体育迷都在设法决定是否应该去里约。曾经在怀孕八个月的时候参加美国田径锦标赛的跑步项目运动员阿莉西亚·蒙塔诺(Alysia Montaño)表示，兹卡病毒可能会影响她带年幼的女儿一起参加奥运会的决定。小姑娘将于8月迎来2岁生日。
"The greatest thing is that I will not be a pregnant woman at the Olympics," said Ms. Montaño, who is hoping to compete in Rio. "Having my daughter there is really, really important to me, but I'll need to consider if she'll be a spectator at home or at the Games themselves."	"最棒的是，我这次参加奥运会的时候不是孕妇了，"希望在里约参加竞赛的蒙塔诺说。"女儿在场对我来说真的非常非常重要，但我需要考虑，是让她留在家看电视，还是到现场观看比赛。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160201/c01brazil	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160201/c01brazil
Killing of Pilot Highlights Tanzania's Struggle With Poachers	坦桑尼亚偷猎猖獗：不仅屠杀大象还杀人
ARUSHA, Tanzania — Roger Gower, an experienced British helicopter pilot, was flying low over a wildlife reserve near the Serengeti National Park in Tanzania on Friday, searching for signs of poaching, when he spotted an elephant carcass. He circled back for a closer look.	坦桑尼亚阿鲁沙——周五，经验丰富的英国直升机飞行员罗格·高尔(Roger Gower)低空飞越坦桑尼亚塞伦盖蒂国家公园附近的野生动物保护区，以搜寻偷猎迹象。他发现了一具大象尸体，因此折返进行近距离观察。
Then gunshots rang out from below. Apparently he had happened on the carcass just after the elephant had been killed, and the poachers	然后下面就响起了枪声。他似乎是在大象刚被杀后就偶然发现了这具尸体，偷猎者仍在现场。 were still on the scene.

A bullet punctured the underside of the helicopter and sliced through Mr. Gower's leg and shoulder. He managed to crash-land the helicopter, but died of his injuries soon afterward.	一颗子弹穿透了直升机底部，以及高尔的腿部和肩部。他成功地进行了紧急降落，但后来很快就因为伤势过重而死亡。
"It's tragic, what happened, but this is the reality of what's going on," said Frank Pope, the chief operations officer for Save the Elephants, a prominent wildlife organization in neighboring Kenya. "You've got desperate people who are armed and committing a crime. When you're doing antipoaching operations, you're on the sharp end."	"发生了这种事，非常悲惨，但这就是我们周围的现实情况，"拯救大象(Save the Elephants)首席运营官弗兰克·波普(Frank Pope)说。"那些铤而走险的人全副武装，犯下罪行。开展反偷猎行动时，大家处于矛盾最尖锐的位置。"拯救大象是邻国肯尼亚的知名野生动物保护组织。
Dozens of wildlife rangers have been killed in recent years across Africa, as elephant poaching has reached a frenzied pitch. Tens of thousands of elephants have been slaughtered for their ivory by the poachers, who have grown increasingly militarized and more ruthless.	近些年来，随着偷猎大象活动日益猖獗，非洲各地有数十名保护区巡逻员被杀。偷猎者屠杀了数以万计的大象以获取象牙，这些偷猎者变得愈发军事化，也越来越残忍。
Tanzanian officials said on Monday that they were closing in on the poachers who shot at Mr. Gower's helicopter, and that they had already arrested several accomplices, including two who the authorities said had helped hide the poachers.	坦桑尼亚官员在周一表示，他们正在追捕击中高尔直升机的偷猎者，他们已经逮捕了几名共犯，当局称其中两名共犯曾帮助偷猎者藏身。
According to Pratik Patel of the Friedkin Conservation Fund, a nonprofit wildlife charity that employed Mr. Gower as a pilot, the suspects in the shooting are Tanzanian and have poached in the area before. "We know their names," Mr. Patel said.	弗里德金保护基金会(Friedkin Conservation Fund)的普拉提克·帕特尔(Pratik Patel)表示，涉嫌开枪的是坦桑尼亚人，之前曾在该地区偷猎。就是该非营利性野生动物慈善组织雇佣了高尔担任飞行员。帕特勒表示，"我们知道他们的名字。"
Tanzania's elephant population has declined drastically because of poaching, to just 43,000 in 2014 from 109,000 in 2009.	坦桑尼亚的大象数量因为偷猎活动而大幅减少，从2009年的10.9万头减少到2014年的4.3万头。
The country's National and Transnational Serious Crimes Investigation Unit has arrested several high-profile suspects recently, including Yang	坦桑尼亚国家及跨国重罪调查组(National and Transnational Serious Crimes Investigation Unit)最近已经逮捕了几名备受瞩目的嫌疑人，其中包

Feng Glan, a Chinese woman who Tanzanian officials say is "the ivory queen," responsible for exporting thousands of tons of ivory to China. She is awaiting trial in Dar es Salaam, the country's largest city.	括被坦桑尼亚官员称为“象牙女王”的中国女子杨凤兰。杨凤兰曾将数千吨象牙运至中国。目前，她正在该国最大城市达累斯萨拉姆候审。
Both poachers and wildlife rangers across Africa have turned to military-style tactics. In October, poachers killed three rangers and a military officer who were conducting an antipoaching operation in Garamba National Park in the Democratic Republic of Congo.	非洲各地的偷猎者和野生动物保护区巡逻员都采用了军事化手段。去年10月，偷猎者杀死了三名巡逻员和一名军官，他们当时正在刚果民主共和国的加兰巴国家公园(Garamba National Park)开展反偷猎行动。
Wayne Lotter, the director of the PAMS Foundation, a nonprofit organization that supports antipoaching efforts in Tanzania, said that elephant poaching in the country decreased in 2015 but that it remained a serious problem.	PAMS 基金会(PAMS Foundation)主任韦恩·洛特(Wayne Lotter)表示，该国偷猎大象的活动在2015年有所减少，但仍然是一个严重问题。该非营利性组织为坦桑尼亚的反偷猎举措提供支持。
"The more you go after them," Mr. Lotter said, "the more situations where confrontation between poachers and rangers will take place. There are going to be risks."	"你越追捕他们，"洛特说。"偷猎者与巡逻员对抗的情况越多。就会有风险。"
Mr. Gower, originally from Birmingham, England, had spent much of the last decade working in East Africa, often flying antipoaching patrols, a mission his friends said he believed in deeply.	来自英国伯明翰的高尔过去十年大部分时间都在东非工作，经常飞行巡逻，开展反偷猎行动。高尔的朋友表示，他对自己的任务有着强烈的认同感。
"Very reliable, very safe pilot," said Tom Lithgow, who knew Mr. Gower from a previous wildlife job. "He was a special character, he had a great sense of humor, he loved cricket and he loved his family."	"他是非常可靠、非常谨慎的飞行员，"之前从事野生动物工作时认识高尔的汤姆·利思戈(Tom Lithgow)说。"他个性独特，很有幽默感，他喜欢板球，很爱他的家人。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160202/c02tanzania	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160202/c02tanzania
Zika Virus a Global Health Emergency, W.H.O. Says	WHO: 兹卡疫情构成全球突发公共卫生事件
The World Health Organization declared the Zika virus and its suspected link to birth defects an international public health emergency on Monday, a rare move that signals the seriousness of the outbreak	世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)周一宣布，兹卡病毒及其与一些先天缺陷之间可能的关联，已经构成国际关注的突发公共卫生事件。这种少见的举动显示了兹卡疫情的严重性，并为各国提供了强有力的新工具来与之

and gives countries powerful new tools to fight it.	对抗。
An outbreak of the Zika virus, which is transmitted by mosquitoes, was detected in Brazil last May and has since moved into more than 20 countries in Latin America. The main worry is over the virus's possible link to microcephaly, a condition that causes babies to be born with brain damage and unusually small heads. Reported cases of microcephaly are rising sharply in Brazil, ground zero for the disease, though researchers have yet to establish a direct link.	兹卡病毒(Zika)主要由蚊子传播, 巴西去年5月检测到了这种病毒, 疫情蔓延到了拉丁美洲的20多个国家。主要令人担心的地方是, 这种病毒可能与婴儿小头症(microcephaly)存在联系, 会导致婴儿脑损伤和小颅畸形。巴西目前是婴儿小头症爆发的中心地带, 报告病例正在急剧增加, 但研究人员尚未确定兹卡和它之间的直接联系。
At a news conference in Geneva, Dr. Margaret Chan, the director general of the W.H.O, said that clusters of microcephaly in regions with Zika cases "constitute an extraordinary event and a public health threat to other parts of the world."	在日内瓦举行的新闻发布会上, 世界卫生组织总干事陈冯富珍博士(Dr. Margaret Chan)说, 兹卡疫情地带大量出现婴儿小头症患者, "这构成了一个非同寻常的事件, 对世界其他地区形成了公共卫生威胁。"
She added that "international reponse is needed to minimize the threat in infected countries and reduce risk of international spread." Dr. Chan said case control studies on the connection between Zika and microcephaly will start in the next two weeks.	她还表示, "国际社会需要对此做出反应, 在爆发兹卡的国家把威胁降到最低程度, 并减少国际传播的风险。"陈冯富珍说, 兹卡和婴儿小头症之间联系的病例对照研究将在未来两周内启动。
The official "emergency" designation can trigger action and funding from governments and non-profits around the world. It elevates the W.H.O. to the position of global coordinator, and gives its decisions the force of international law. The agency is trying to cast itself as a global leader to revive its reputation after a faltering response during the Ebola epidemic in West Africa.	官方正式宣布该疫情属于"突发公共卫生事件", 可以引发世界各地政府和非营利组织的行动和资金投入。此举让世卫组织处在了全球协调机构的位置, 它做出的决定也具有了国际法的效力。该机构之前在西非爆发埃博拉疫情时应对不力, 现在它正在试图发挥全球领导者的作用, 努力重振声誉。
"Can you imagine if we do not do all this work now and wait until all these scientific evidence to come out, people will say why didn't you take action?" Dr. Chan said.	"如果我们现在不开展这些工作, 一直等到充分的科学证据出现, 大家会说你们为什么不采取措施, 这种情况你能想象吗?"陈冯富珍说。

The current outbreak of Zika has taken the world by surprise. It was first identified in 1947 in Uganda, and for years lived mostly in monkeys. But last May in Brazil, cases began increasing drastically. The W.H.O. has estimated that four million people could be infected by the end of the year. It is spreading fast in the Americas because people there have not developed immunity.	目前的兹卡蔓延状况令世人始料未及。这种病毒最早是1947年在乌干达发现的，多年来主要在猴子间传播。但是从去年5月开始，巴西的兹卡病例急剧增加。据世卫组织估计，到今年年底可能会有400万人感染。在美洲，兹卡疫情正在迅速蔓延，因为那里的人还没有对兹卡形成免疫力。
The W.H.O. has declared a public health emergency three times since 2007, when it first established the procedure – for the influenza pandemic in 2009; in 2014 when polio seemed resurgent; and in August 2014 for Ebola. Some experts applauded the decision to add Zika to the list.	相关程序2007年首次制定以来，世卫组织已三次宣布突发公共卫生事件，分别是2009年的流感大流行、2014年似有复苏之势的脊髓灰质炎和2014年8月的埃博拉。一些专家对于把兹卡列为突发公共卫生事件的决定表示称赞。
“This should be a global wake up call,” said Lawrence O. Gostin, director of the O’Neill Institute for National and Global Health Law at Georgetown University. But he added: “The main question on my mind is whether they will back up their words with decisive action.”	“这应该是对全球的一个警告，”乔治城大学奥尼尔国家与全球卫生法研究所(O’Neill Institute for National and Global Health Law at Georgetown University)主任劳伦斯·O·戈斯坦(Lawrence O. Gostin)说。但他接着表示：“我头脑里的主要问题是，他们会不会采取切实的行动证明自己说的话。”
Zika’s rapid rise and the specter of associated birth defects have major implications in a warm region with struggling economies and vast flows of tourists. Brazil is preparing to host the Olympics this summer, and Zika is complicating those plans. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has advised pregnant Americans to avoid travel to the region.	在一个经济举步维艰且有大量游客涌入的温暖地区，兹卡的迅速蔓延，以及像幽灵一样萦绕在周围的先天畸形，会产生重大影响。巴西正在筹备将于今年夏天主办的奥运会，兹卡让这些计划变得复杂。美国疾病控制和预防中心(Centers for Disease Control and Prevention)已经建议该国的孕妇避免前往该地区。
Still, American officials have taken pains to underscore that the virus does not pose a major threat to the United States, where mosquito control efforts are robust and effective.	但美国官员仍极力强调，兹卡病毒不会对蚊患控制举措稳健、有效的美国构成重大威胁。
But now that an emergency has been declared, the W.H.O. can issue	但现在，宣布为突发事件后，世卫组织便能发布全球出行建议。至关重要的

global travel advisories, and crucially, coordinate global efforts to combat the mosquitoes that spread Zika, a role that is badly needed as mosquito populations are fluid and know no boundaries. The agency will also help coordinate surveillance efforts, including tracking and tallying cases of Zika and microcephaly.	是，该组织可以在全球协调消灭传播兹卡病毒的蚊子的行动。现在非常需要该组织的这种作用，因为蚊虫是流动的，且边界无法阻拦。该机构还会参与协调监控行动，包括追踪和记录兹卡病例和小头症病例。
The last time the W.H.O. declared a public health emergency was when Ebola was tearing through West Africa. But the agency was strongly criticized for weighing in very late, and many global health experts said it was unlikely that the agency's director, Dr. Chan, would let that happen again.	世卫组织上次宣布国际突发公共卫生事件，是埃博拉在西非肆虐的时候。但因为介入得非常晚，该机构受到了强烈的指责，很多全球卫生专家称，世卫总干事陈冯富珍不太可能会让这种情况再发生。
"The W.H.O. took a very serious hit to their reputation," said Dr. Ron Waldman, a professor of global health at the Milken School of Public Health at George Washington University. "They do have to be mindful of the politics, but they have to get the science right, too. They don't have much room for slip-ups."	"世界卫生组织的声誉严重受挫，"乔治·华盛顿大学米尔肯公共卫生学院(Milken School of Public Health at George Washington University)全球卫生教授罗恩·瓦尔德曼(Ron Waldman)说。"他们的确要当心政治，但他们也要做出正确的科学论断。他们没有太多出错的余地。"
Zika and Ebola are very different. Ebola was incredibly deadly, and it spread through contact with bodily fluids. Zika is not known to be fatal, and it has mild symptoms for most people. So far, the evidence is inconclusive that the virus is the cause of the birth defects, so some health officials had been cautious about drawing too dire a picture.	兹卡和埃博拉有很大不同。埃博拉的致死率非常高，是通过体液接触传播的。兹卡据信不致命，大部分人的症状都不严重。迄今为止，兹卡病毒造成先天畸形的论断仍未完全证实。因此，一些卫生官员态度谨慎，不愿把形势描述得非常严峻。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160202/c02zika	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160202/c02zika
Doubt Brews at Munich Conference Following U.S.-Russian Accord on Syria	叙利亚问题难解，慕尼黑安全会议暗战不休
MUNICH — The failure of world powers to quell the five-year conflict in Syria, the Russian military intervention there and the spread of Islamic	慕尼黑——各个大国未能平息长达五年的叙利亚冲突，再加上俄罗斯的军事干预，以及伊斯兰恐怖主义的传播，给在这里举行的一年一度的安全会议蒙

terrorism overshadowed an annual security conference here, which came as Europe falters ahead of a new effort to cope with its refugee crisis.	上了阴影。这次会议的举行，还恰逢欧洲在应对难民危机的一些新举措方面犹豫不决的时候。
The somber tone of the meeting was reflected in comments Sunday by a senior German official close to Chancellor Angela Merkel who said that Russia was unlikely to respect a new accord on ceasing hostilities in Syria given the aggressive hand it has played there and the advantage it has gained by using armed force.	这次会议的沉重基调，在与德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)关系密切的一名德国高层官员周日发表的评论中可见一斑。此人表示，考虑到俄罗斯在其中一直采取的强势立场，以及该国通过使用武力获得的利益，它不太可能尊重旨在终止叙利亚敌对行为的一项新协议。
Adding to the gloom, France indicated during the meeting it would not join a German plan to redistribute more refugees in Europe. Days before a new European summit, the rebuff underscored Europe's failure to unite around a response to more than one million migrants even as Russian actions and rhetoric unsettles Europe, and particularly Germany.	让气氛更为沉重的是，法国在会议期间表明，它不打算加入德国的一项计划，即在欧洲重新分配更多难民。一次新的欧洲峰会将在几天后举行，此时法国的断然拒绝，突显了欧洲未能团结一致应对上百万移民的问题，且不说俄罗斯的行动和危言耸听已经使欧洲陷入不安，尤其是德国。
In addition to a drumbeat from Russian media that Europe's way of life is under threat because of the migrants, Prime Minister Dmitri A. Medvedev on Saturday warned the conference about a looming slide into a new Cold War.	在这方面，除了有俄罗斯媒体大肆宣扬欧洲的生活方式因大批移民进入而面临威胁，俄罗斯总理德米特里·A·梅德韦杰夫(Dmitri A. Medvedev)也在周六向与会各国发出警告，存在走向一场新冷战的潜在危险。
A blunt assessment of Russia's intentions from Norbert Röttgen, chairman of the foreign affairs committee in the German Parliament, followed biting criticism from Senator John McCain over the American-Russian accord, announced in Munich on Friday, to get aid into some Syrian regions and implement a truce plan for the devastated country.	继美国联邦参议员约翰·麦凯恩(John McCain)对周五对外宣布的美俄协议发出尖锐批评之后，德国议会外交事务委员会主席诺伯特·勒特根(Norbert Röttgen)又对俄罗斯的意图做出了直言不讳的评价。该协议的目标是将援助物资送至叙利亚的某些地区，以及促使这个满目疮痍的国家实施停战计划。
The criticism from Mr. Röttgen and Mr. McCain came against the	勒特根和麦凯恩的批评出现的背景是，来自叙利亚的消息表明，运送援助物

backdrop of news from Syria that no aid trucks had yet moved toward needy regions there and illustrated how thoroughly the Middle East chaos had dominated the conference, which usually focuses on the trans-Atlantic alliance.	资的卡车不曾抵达最需要它们的地区。这些批评也显示出，这个通常将焦点放在跨大西洋联盟上的会议，如今彻底地被中东地区的混乱这一议题主导。
However, the United Nations mediator for Syria, Staffan de Mistura said Sunday that United Nations aid convoys were planned for Tuesday or Wednesday. "They will represent an initial test of the Munich commitments," Mr. de Mistura said in an email exchange Sunday.	不过，联合国叙利亚问题调停人斯塔凡·德米斯图拉(Staffan de Mistura)周日表示，联合国计划于周二或周三派出援助车队。“这代表着对在慕尼黑做出的承诺的初步践行，”德米斯图拉在周日通过邮件进行的采访中表示。
As for a pause in fighting, he said he expected it to apply to "all areas of Syria except for areas controlled by ISIS and Al Nusra," referring to the Islamic State militant group and the Nusra Front, which both the United States and Russia regard as terrorist groups.	至于停战问题，他表示希望这一点能在“叙利亚所有地区”实现，“除了被伊斯兰国(ISIS)和努斯拉(Al Nusra)控制的区域。”这里指的是激进团体伊斯兰国和努斯拉阵线，二者被美国和俄罗斯都视为恐怖组织。
That provision would allow Russian and Syrian forces to continue airstrikes over parts of Aleppo, where Nusra fighters are thought to be present. A State Department official said last week that different rebel groups are "intermingled" on the battlefield. President Obama spoke by phone with President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia on Saturday to discuss the agreement made Friday and to "stress the importance of rapidly implementing humanitarian access to besieged areas of Syria and initiating a nationwide cessation of hostilities," a statement from the White House said Sunday.	这一安排将允许俄罗斯和叙利亚武装继续对阿勒颇部分地区进行空袭，那里被认为是努斯拉阵线武装分子盘踞的地方。美国国务院一名官员上周表示，在战场上，不同的反叛团体“混杂在一起”。白宫周日发布声明表示，奥巴马总统周六通过电话与俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)讨论了周五达成的协议，并“强调了让叙利亚受困地区迅速获得人道援助，以及让整个国家开始结束敌对行为的重要性”。
"President Obama emphasized the importance now of Russia playing a constructive role by ceasing its air campaign against moderate opposition forces in Syria," the statement said.	“奥巴马总统强调，现在让俄罗斯通过停止对叙利亚温和反对派武装的空袭，扮演一种具有建设性的角色，非常重要，”声明中写道。
Underlining the complexity of the situation in Syria, Turkey over the	周末期间，土耳其炮击了由美国支持的库尔德民兵在叙利亚北部的一些阵

weekend shelled positions held by a Kurdish militia that is backed by the United States in northern Syria. Turkey's state-run Anadolu Agency said Turkish artillery units fired at Kurdish fighters in the Syrian town of Azaz in Aleppo Province, saying it was in response to incoming Kurdish fire, The Associated Press reported.	地, 突显出叙利亚形势的复杂性。据美联社报道, 土耳其官方的阿纳多卢通讯社(Anadolu Agency)表示, 土耳其炮兵部队炮击了叙利亚阿勒颇省阿扎兹的库尔德武装人员, 并表示此举是对库尔德武装进犯火力的回应。
Prime Minister Manuel Valls of France, meanwhile, on Saturday rejected a German proposal for a quota system for distributing refugees in Europe.	与此同时, 法国总理曼纽尔·瓦尔斯(Manuel Valls)在周六驳回了德国的一项提议, 即采取配额制度来分配各个欧洲国家负责安置的难民人数。
Discussion at the conference on Sunday focused on the plan to cease hostilities in Syria within a week and recriminations about the failure of the Obama administration, and others, to have intervened more forcefully or to have anticipated the spreading turmoil.	周日的会议主要讨论了在一周内实现叙利亚停火的计划, 也反过来指责了奥巴马政府及其他国家的政府, 没能采取更为有力的干预行动, 也没有预料到会出现大规模蔓延的动乱。
Mr. McCain, the chairman of the Senate Committee on Armed Services, said on Sunday he wished he could regard the truce plan as a breakthrough. More likely, he said, it was a move that "permits the assault on Aleppo to continue for another week," thus locking in Russian military superiority and allowing the forces of President Bashar al-Assad of Syria to take back more territory from rebels.	美国联邦参议院军事委员会(Senate Committee on Armed Services)主席麦凯恩周日表示, 他希望能把停战计划看作一种突破。但他觉得这更像是“容许针对阿勒颇的袭击再延续一周”的举措, 这样会进一步确立俄罗斯军队在那里的优势, 也会让叙利亚总统巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar al-Assad)从反对派手中夺回更多领地。
Mr. McCain, who traditionally heads the congressional delegation to Munich each year, suggested that Mr. Putin was relying on ever more powerful shows of force to reassert his country's role as a dominant global power. "His appetite is growing with the eating," Mr. McCain said, adding, "We have seen this movie before in Ukraine."	基本上每年都会带领美国国会代表团参加慕尼黑会议的麦凯恩表示, 普京想依靠更多地展示军事实力, 来重申俄罗斯作为全球主导强国的地位。“他的胃口越吃越大,” 麦凯恩说, “在乌克兰问题上, 我们已经见识了这一点。”
Mr. Röttgen was also strongly critical of Russia. He urged Western powers to learn from events in Syria, particularly in regards to Europe's	勒特根也对俄罗斯非常不满。他敦促西方大国从叙利亚的诸多事件中吸取教训, 尤其是在涉及欧洲安全的问题上。他表示, 欧洲需要在国防上作出更多

security. He said that more needed to be spent on defense and that Europe, while still needing the United States, should not rely on America for its safety.	投入,而且尽管欧洲依然需要美国,但不能单纯依赖美国来保障自身的安全。
"Russia has gained the upper hand in the region and this is by historical measure a novelty," Mr. Röttgen said. "They have done so by the use of armed force."	"俄罗斯在这一地区占得上风,这在过去不曾有过,"勒特根说。"他们是通过使用武装力量实现了这一点。"
Other speakers at the conference singled out the Obama administration for failing to act in 2013 after President Obama said use of chemical weapons by Mr. Assad would cross a "red line" that demanded American action.	在会上,其他发言者还把枪口单独对准了奥巴马,指出2013年表示阿萨德使用化学武器就是越过"红线",会促使美国采取行动之后,奥巴马政府并没有真的采取行动。
Back then, Russia again intervened, using its influence to get Mr. Assad to agree to put all chemical weapons under United Nations supervision for removal and destruction. Mr. McCain said that that move had destroyed Washington's credibility, particularly with Saudi Arabia, who he claimed had planes ready to fly air raids on Syria when Mr. Obama accepted the Russian-backed plan on chemical weapons.	当时,俄罗斯再次介入,利用其影响力让阿萨德同意在联合国监督下,将所有化学武器进行清除或销毁。麦凯恩表示,此举损坏了华盛顿的信誉,尤其是对沙特阿拉伯而言。他声称,沙特已经准备好派战机对叙利亚发起空袭的时候,奥巴马却接受了俄罗斯支持的清除化学武器的计划。
Tammam Salam, the prime minister of Lebanon, a country of 4.5 million people that is sheltering 1.5 million Syrians, recalled that he had tried in vain last year to warn the same conference of the consequences "if you don't do something serious, and quick."	有450万人口的黎巴嫩先后收留了150万名叙利亚难民。该国总理塔马姆·萨拉姆(Tammam Salam)回忆,去年在同一会议上,他曾警告,"如果你们不快速采取严肃的行动",就会产生后果。
Now, he said, the Europeans are finally paying attention and took the lead in raising $11 billion worth of aid pledges at a recent conference in London. "It would have been much better if they had woken up sooner," Mr. Salam said.	他表示,现在欧洲人终于开始注意到这个问题,在伦敦最近举行的一场会议上,他们带头征集了价值11亿美元的援助承诺。"如果他们早一些清醒过来,情况会比现在好得多,"萨拉姆说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160215/c15munich	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160215/c15munich

Zika Virus in Colombia Presents Complicated Choice About Abortion	孕期感染兹卡是否应该堕胎?
CÚCUTA, Colombia — Margarita Rosa Barrios was six weeks pregnant when she began to feel the symptoms that every expecting mother here has come to dread: swollen eyes, aching joints, three days of fever. Just as she feared, she had the Zika virus.	哥伦比亚库库塔——怀孕六周的时候, 玛加丽塔·罗莎·巴里奥斯(Margarita Rosa Barrios)开始感到身体出现了一些让这里的准妈妈们感到恐惧的症状: 眼睛肿胀, 关节疼痛, 持续发烧三天。正如自己所担忧的, 她感染了兹卡病毒。
Ms. Barrios, 24, knows that thousands of babies have been reported born with abnormally small heads during the Zika epidemic in neighboring Brazil and that researchers there say the virus is to blame.	24 岁的巴里奥斯知道, 兹卡(Zika)疫情在邻国巴西蔓延期间, 据称有成千上万的婴儿出生时出现头异常小的症状, 研究人员表示, 这是由兹卡病毒造成。
And Ms. Barrios is not expecting just one child. She is carrying twins.	况且, 巴里奥斯怀的不只是一个孩子, 而是双胞胎。
Nearly 3,000 pregnant women in Colombia are in Ms. Barrios's agonizing position, having recovered from Zika only to be left in a terrible dilemma. Unlike in Brazil, in Colombia some expecting mothers are being given the choice to to end their pregnancies, under laws that allow abortions in some cases.	哥伦比亚有将近 3000 名孕妇处在和巴里奥斯一样的痛苦中, 她们在感染兹卡病毒后康复, 跟着却陷入了这种可怕的两难境地。与巴西的情况不同, 在哥伦比亚, 法律允许在某些情况下人工流产, 一些怀孕妇女有了终止妊娠的选项。
Colombia has emerged as the second front in the battle against Zika in the Americas. At least 25,000 Colombians have contracted the virus, a number officials say could surge to 600,000.	在美洲地区, 哥伦比亚新近成为对抗兹卡病毒的第二个战场。至少有 2.5 万名哥伦比亚人感染了这种病毒, 有官员表示, 这个数字可能会激增至 60 万。
But unlike in Brazil — where there have been an estimated 1.5 million infections dating to 2014 — in Colombia the first cases of Zika were detected only in October. Most pregnant women who have contracted the disease in this country have not given birth yet, and no cases have been confirmed of infants born with abnormally small heads, a condition known as microcephaly.	不过, 与 2014 年已经有大约 150 万感染病例的巴西不同, 哥伦比亚去年 10 月才出现了第一批兹卡病毒感染病例。在这里, 感染病毒的孕妇大多还没生产, 还没出现婴儿出生时头异常小的确诊病例, 这种症状被称为小头畸形症。
This has put women here in Colombia in the difficult position of considering — and, in some cases, having — abortions even before any	这使哥伦比亚的女性陷入需要考虑人工流产的艰难境地, 有些已经这么做了——尽管该国还没有出现小头畸形病例。

microcephaly cases have appeared in the country.
“There’s a lot we don’t know about this disease,” Fernando Ruiz Gómez, Colombia’s deputy health minister, said. “What we know is there’s a growing disparity between what we’re seeing in Colombia with Zika and the experience in Brazil.”	“关于这种疾病，我们不了解的地方还有很多，”哥伦比亚卫生部副部长费尔南多·鲁伊斯·戈麦斯(Fernando Ruiz Gómez)说。“我们所知道的是，我们在哥伦比亚看到的兹卡病毒感染情况，与在巴西的经验有越来越大的差异。”
Colombia is one of the few nations in Latin America with abortion laws that allow women to terminate pregnancies under a variety of circumstances, including rape, birth defects that make a fetus unable to survive outside the womb or when there are risks to the pregnant woman’s physical or mental health.	哥伦比亚是拉丁美洲为数不多的有堕胎法允许女性在多种情况下终止妊娠的国家之一。这些情况包括强奸、会导致胎儿无法在子宫外存活的先天缺陷，或存在损害孕妇生理和心理健康的风险。
While legal abortions remain rare in Colombia, there are signs that the law is undergoing a major new test. Some medical officials say that microcephaly is grounds for abortion and that they will offer the procedure to pregnant women if the fetus shows signs of the condition.	尽管合法堕胎在哥伦比亚并不多见，但有迹象显示，这项法律正在经受一次重大的新考验。一些卫生官员表示，小头畸形症可以成为堕胎的理由，如果胎儿有患此类病症的迹象，他们会给孕妇提供堕胎服务。
Others have gone further.	其他人在这方面走得更远。
Ms. Barrios says her doctors offered to perform an abortion, even though there is no evidence that the babies she is carrying have microcephaly.	巴里奥斯表示，她的医生提出可以给她进行堕胎手术，尽管并没有证据显示她怀的胎儿患有小头畸形症。
“The doctor asked me if I might be ready to have two deformed children,” she said. “How do you tell a mother that?”	“医生问我是否做好了生出两个畸形儿的准备，”她说。“怎么能跟一个母亲讲这种话？”
Vanesa, a 28-year-old woman in the coastal city of Barranquilla, said she decided to end her pregnancy after she contracted Zika. An ultrasound showed what doctors said could be a deformity, possibly microcephaly.	28岁的瓦妮莎生活在沿海城市巴兰基亚，她表示，在得知自己感染兹卡病毒后，她决定终止妊娠。超声波扫描显示，她怀的胎儿可能如医生所说有先天畸形，而且有可能是小头畸形症。
“I cried a lot,” said Vanesa, who asked that her full name be withheld	“我哭得很厉害，”瓦妮莎说。她要求报道时不使用她的全名，因为她不想让

because she did not want others to know she had an abortion. "We are Catholics, and we prayed to God. We decided not to have the baby."	其他人知道自己堕胎了。“我们是天主教徒，会向上帝祷告。我们决定放弃这个胎儿。”
The issue is all the more complex because the scientific link between Zika and microcephaly in infants has not been proved. International health officials say the connection is "strongly suspected," but they warn that it may take months to know for sure.	这个问题正变得愈加复杂，因为兹卡病毒和婴儿患小头畸形症之间存在联系这一点，还没有得到科学证明。有多名国际卫生官员表示，他们对这种联系持“强烈怀疑”态度。但他们也警告，这个问题的答案可能要在数月之后才能确定。
Even if Zika does cause microcephaly, there is often no way to predict how a baby will be affected. Infants with microcephaly can endure a wide range of mental and physical disabilities, while some, about 10 percent, have no limitations.	即使兹卡病毒不会引起小头畸形症，往往也无法预测胎儿会受到怎样的影响。患小头畸形症的婴儿有可能会有各种各样的心理和生理残疾，但也有大约 10%的这种婴儿没有什么缺陷。
Zika has already spread to 250 cities and towns in Colombia. It is here in Cúcuta, a city of 650,000 on the border of Venezuela that sits squarely in the range of the mosquitoes that transmit the virus, along with two other diseases, dengue and chikungunya.	兹卡病毒已经在哥伦比亚的 250 个城镇传播开来。靠近委内瑞拉边境、有 65 万人口的库库塔，正好处在会传播这种病毒的蚊子滋生的区域，这种蚊子还会传播另外两种病毒，即登革热和基孔肯雅热。
On the streets here in Cúcuta, it is now difficult to find a person who has not had Zika or known someone who did. Entire families have come down with symptoms.	在库库塔街头，现在很难找到一个不曾感染兹卡病毒或不认识此类感染者的人。很多是全家人都染上了这种病。
At the center of town is a large tent camp where dozens of homeless Colombians sleep after having been forced out of Venezuela last year for not having proper visas. Across the street is a culvert swarming with mosquitoes.	这个城市的中心有个不小的帐篷营地，有数十个无家可归的哥伦比亚人住在里面，他们在去年因没有合格的签证文件而被迫离开了委内瑞拉。街对面有一个涵洞，里面聚集了成群的蚊子。
Two pregnant women live in the camp. Neither has contracted Zika yet, according to residents, but it is assumed that everyone will be infected here at some point.	有两名孕妇生活在这个营地。这里的住户称，这两人都还没有感染兹卡病毒，但他们认为最终这里所有的人都会感染。
Marlenia Ortiz, a 37-year-old mother of five, said one of her children	37 岁的马琳娜·奥提兹(Marlenia Ortiz)是五个孩子的母亲，她说其中有一个

had already contracted Zika. Last year, the entire family was infected with chikungunya, she said.	孩子已经染上兹卡病毒。她说，去年他们一家人都曾感染基孔肯雅热。
"Not one person in my family escaped it," she said. "The same will happen with Zika."	"家里没一个人能逃脱，"她说。"这次的兹卡病毒也是一样。"
Scrambling for a response to the disease, Colombian officials have warned women to postpone getting pregnant for months, until more is known about the virus and its effects on infants.	哥伦比亚官员正在绞尽脑汁寻找应对这种疾病的方法，他们提醒女性最好将怀孕计划推迟几个月，直到医学界掌握更多有关这种病毒的信息，更了解它对婴儿的影响。
But in recent months, the country has made progress on what could be an innovative way of controlling the disease. Iván Darío Vélez, a tropical disease specialist at the University of Antioquia in Colombia, said scientists there had successfully bred a mosquito that was resistant to Zika, dengue, chikungunya and yellow fever.	不过，最近几个月，在有可能带来控制这种疾病的创新方法的研究上，这个国家取得了进展。哥伦比亚安蒂奥基亚大学(University of Antioquia)热带疾病专家伊万·达里奥·贝莱斯(Iván Darío Vélez)表示，那里的科学家已经成功繁殖出一种可以抗兹卡、登革热、基孔肯雅热病毒和黄热病的蚊子。
To create the strain, Dr. Veléz infected mosquitoes with bacteria that block the insects from picking up the virus. When the mosquitoes breed with ones that are susceptible to the disease, their progeny are shielded.	为了培育这种品种，贝莱斯博士让一些蚊子染上一种可以阻止昆虫携带兹卡病毒的细菌。当这些蚊子和容易染上兹卡的蚊子交配后，其后代就会具备这种抵抗力。
"The results are encouraging," Dr. Vélez said, citing a recent pilot project near Medellín in which 80 percent of mosquitoes were rendered unable to transmit Zika.	"结果很令人振奋，"贝莱斯以麦德林附近最近进行一个试点项目为例说道。在这个项目中，研究人员已经实现让80%的蚊子无法传播兹卡病毒。
At the main hospital here, more than 80 pregnant women have come in with the virus since October, said its director, Dr. Juan Agustín Ramírez.	库库塔这家主要医院的院长胡安·阿古斯丁·拉米雷斯(Juan Agustín Ramírez)博士说，自去年10月以来，有80%的孕妇都是携带着兹卡病毒前来就诊。
About 35 percent of the women arrived in the first trimester, when microcephaly is most likely to develop, he said.	其中大约有35%的孕妇是在妊娠头三个月住进医院，那是最有可能出现小头畸形症的阶段，他说。
Dr. Ramírez said the hospital had not performed any Zika-related	拉米雷斯还表示，该院还没有进行过和兹卡病毒有关的堕胎手术，但他肯定

abortions, but he was firm that any women whose fetuses showed signs of the condition would be offered the procedure.	地表示, 任何女性都会得到堕胎的选择, 只要她的胎儿有患小头畸形症的迹象。
No woman, he said, should be forced to carry "a child that, in a few words, is useless to society."	他表示, 任何女性都不该被迫养育一个“简单来说, 对社会无益的孩子”。
Ms. Barrios ultimately did not find herself in that position.	巴里奥斯最终没有走到堕胎的那一步。
After recovering from the virus, she discussed her pregnancy and the doctors' offer of an abortion with her husband. An ultrasound showed that their twin fetuses were developing normally, she said, and the couple turned down the procedure.	从病毒感染中康复之后, 她就自己怀孕的情况和医生提出的堕胎建议与丈夫商量。她说, 后来她做了个超声波扫描, 显示肚子里的双胞胎发育正常, 夫妇二人于是拒绝了堕胎的提议。
But Ms. Barrios remains on edge.	不过, 巴里奥斯仍然感到不安。
She continues to have regular ultrasounds to check for birth defects. As a Catholic, she said, she will accept whatever is discovered when the babies arrive.	她还在定期做超声波检查, 查看胎儿有无先天缺陷。她说, 作为一名天主教徒, 孩子生出来后, 不管是什么样, 她都会接受。
"If it's something that God wants, then so be it," she said.	“如果那是上帝的旨意, 就顺其自然,”她说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160216/c16colombia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160216/c16colombia
University Student in New Delhi Arrested on Sedition Complaint	印度大学生以煽动暴乱罪名被捕
NEW DELHI — The police have arrested the president of a student union here on a complaint of sedition, a news agency reported, the latest controversy to hit one of the country's highly politicized universities.	新德里——一家新闻机构报道称, 警方以煽动暴乱为由逮捕了一名学生会主席, 这是印度一家高度政治化的大学近来一系列争议事件的最新一起。
A group of students at Jawaharlal Nehru University in New Delhi organized a protest on Tuesday on the third anniversary of the execution of Muhammad Afzal, also known as Afzal Guru, who was found guilty of involvement in an attack on Parliament in 2001 which left nine dead. His hanging ignited protests across the country over the	周二, 也就是穆罕默德·阿夫扎尔(Mohammad Afzal)——又名阿夫扎尔·古鲁(Afzal Guru)——被处决三周年的那天, 新德里尼赫鲁大学(Jawaharlal Nehru University)的一些学生组织了抗议活动。阿夫扎尔参与了致九人死亡的2001年袭击议会行动, 后被判有罪。阿夫扎尔遭受绞刑一事在全国范围内引发抗议, 特别是在他的家乡克什米尔邦, 人们不满在此类情况下使用死

use of capital punishment in such cases, particularly in Kashmir, his home state. Tuesday's protest was also in support of the rights of Kashmiri people.	刑的做法。
Police on Friday arrested Kanhaiya Kumar, the student union president, and a Delhi court remanded him to police custody for three days, The Press Trust of India reported. The complaint against Mr. Kumar was for criminal conspiracy and sedition, which can carry a sentence of three years to as much as life imprisonment. Rajan Bhagat, a police spokesman, confirmed that a complaint had been filed on Thursday, but gave no further details. .	印度报业托拉斯(Press Trust of India)报道称,周五,警方逮捕了学生会主席坎哈伊亚·库马尔(Kanhaiya Kumar),新德里的一家法院将他交给警方拘押三天候审。库马尔被控犯有共谋罪和煽动罪,这些罪行可能会判处三年监禁到无期徒刑。警方发言人拉詹·巴贾特(Rajan Bhagat)确认已于周四提出控告,但没有透露更多细节。
On Tuesday, some people at the protest shouted slogans in favor of Muhammad Afzal and Pakistan, according to The Press Trust. Mr. Kumar told the court on Friday that he did not know the identity of all those shouting the slogans, and dissociated himself from their views.	据印度报业托拉斯报道,周二,一些抗议者呼喊支持穆罕默德·阿夫扎尔和巴基斯坦的口号。库马尔在周五告诉法院,他不清楚那些呼喊口号的人的身份,并表示他和他们的看法并不相同。
"A person can have a dissenting opinion under freedom of expression, but you become a traitor only if you incite violence," Vajinder Singh, Mr. Kumar's lawyer, said in an interview on Friday with ANI news agency.	"一个人拥有言论自由,可以提出异议,但只有在煽动暴力的情况下,才算是反叛,"库马尔的律师瓦金德尔·辛格(Vajinder Singh)周五接受印度亚洲国际新闻网(ANI)采访时说。
Mr. Kumar contended instead that he was only in the vicinity because he was trying to break up a clash between those protesting the death penalty and right-wing students, according to The Press Trust. He said he believed he was arrested because he defeated a candidate from a right-wing students' group for the presidency of the students' union.	据印度报业托拉斯报道,库马尔坚称当时他在那一带是因为他试图劝阻抗议死刑的人与右翼学生之间的冲突。他表示,他认为自己被捕是因为他击败了来自右翼学生组织的学生会主席候选人。
But after a string of terrorist attacks in India, the issue of punishing the perpetrators provoked strong reactions.	但印度发生一系列恐怖袭击后,惩罚犯罪者的问题引发了强烈反应。
"If anyone raises anti-India slogans and questions the unity, integrity	"如果有人提出反印度的口号,质疑这个国家的统一、完整和主权,他们无

and sovereignty of the country, they will not be forgiven in any way," Rajnath Singh, India's Home Minister, said in a televised interview on Friday. "Whatever has happened at J.N.U., I have given the required instructions to the police commissioner and there should be strict action taken against them." Mr. Singh is a member of the right-wing Bharatiya Janata Party.	论如何都不会得到原谅，“印度内政部长拉杰纳特·辛格(Rajnath Singh)在周五播放的电视采访中说道。“无论尼赫鲁大学发生了什么事情，我已经向警察局长发出了必要的指示，会对他们采取严厉措施。”辛格是右翼政党人民党(Bharatiya Janata Party)的成员。
On Saturday, the campus of Jawaharlal Nehru University was on lockdown, with armed police guarding the entrances. Local media reported that protests over Mr. Kumar's arrest continued on Saturday.	周六，尼赫鲁大学的校园被封锁，入口处由武装警察把守。当地媒体报道称，周六，针对库马尔被逮捕一事的抗议活动仍在继续。
Mr. Bhagat, the police spokesman, said that the investigation continued, and he declined to comment further.	警方发言人巴贾特表示，调查还在进行中，但拒绝进一步评论。
The turmoil is the latest to trouble Indian universities. In January, universities across the country erupted in protests after a doctoral candidate at Hyderabad University who was a Dalit, or a member of India's untouchable caste, hanged himself in a student residence. He and four other students were barred last August for allegedly attacking a member of a right-wing student group, and had been expelled from student residences.	麻烦频频的印度大学此前已经发生过多起动荡事件。今年1月，海得拉巴大学(Hyderabad University)的一名博士研究生在学生宿舍上吊后，全国各地的大学都爆发了抗议活动，这名学生是达利特人——印度的贱民阶层。去年8月，他和其他四名学生据称攻击了一名右翼学生组织的成员，因此遭禁，并被赶出学生宿舍。
After the episode, students staged protests at universities across the country over the hostility faced by Dalit students, many blaming the government of Narendra Modi for empowering right-wing student groups.	此事发生后，学生们就达利特学生遭受的排斥在全国各地的大学举行抗议活动。很多学生指责新任总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)领导的政府助长了右翼学生组织的势力。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160216/c16india	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160216/c16india
Syrian Hospitals in Crossfire as Battlefield Grows More Chaotic	叙利亚战局恶化，连累医院学校遭受空袭
BEIRUT, Lebanon — The prospect of a wider war loomed over an	黎巴嫩贝鲁特——周一，在叙利亚北部一片日趋混乱的战场上，战火眼看就

increasingly chaotic battlefield in northern Syria on Monday, as fast-moving clashes pitted United States allies against one another and tensions continued to grow between two major powers, Russia and Turkey.	要蔓延开来，瞬息万变的冲突局势令美国的盟友们彼此对抗，俄罗斯和土耳其这两个大国之间的对峙气氛也持续加剧。
Taking advantage of fierce Russian airstrikes, Kurdish-led forces advanced headlong into shrinking rebel territory in the northern part of Aleppo Province, infuriating the insurgents and their principal backer, Turkey, which threatened "a severe response" if the Kurds moved farther.	库尔德人领导的军队利用俄罗斯开展的猛烈空袭，向阿勒颇省北部地区正不断收缩的叛军领土进发，令叛乱分子和他们的后台土耳其震怒。土耳其发出威胁，称如果库尔德人继续推进，他们将做出“严厉回应”。
The situation has pitted a dizzying array of warring parties against one another, vividly illustrating the notion that the enemy of my enemy is, as often as not, my enemy, too. Tensions have never been higher between Kurds and Syrian Arab rebels, who now accuse the Kurds of opportunistically attacking them in league with Russia and the Syrian government to advance their goal of seizing territory along the border with Turkey.	这种局面已经在交战各方之间引起了一系列纠葛不清的对抗，生动地表明我的敌人的敌人，很多时候也是我的敌人。库尔德人和叙利亚阿拉伯叛军之间的关系空前紧张，后者指责库尔德人乘人之危，与俄罗斯以及叙利亚政府军联合攻击他们，目的是在土耳其边境一带争夺地盘。
Those clashes are fueling a risky escalation of tensions, especially between Turkey and Russia. And they are pitting two American-backed groups against each other, since both the Kurds and many rebel groups in Aleppo receive American support.	这些冲突正在加大局势升级的可能性，尤其是土耳其和俄罗斯之间。而且这也在美国支持的两个组织之间引发了对抗，因为库尔德人和阿勒颇的很多反叛团体都得到了美国支援。
As always, caught in the middle are civilians, with four hospitals being bombed in a single day on Monday and Turkey and the Syrian insurgents accusing Russia of targeting them deliberately in an effort to drive them out of the area. Two of the hospitals were supported by Unicef, including a pediatric and maternity hospital, and at least 50	平民一如既往地夹在中间，本周一有四所医院遭到轰炸。土耳其和叙利亚叛乱分子指责俄罗斯刻意打击医院目标，企图把它们赶出该地区。联合国发言人法尔汗·哈克(Farhan Haq)说，其中两所医院是由联合国儿童基金会支援的，包括一所儿科和产科医院，共有 50 人在这些袭击中丧生，其中包括一些儿童。

people were killed in all of the attacks, including children, said Farhan Haq, a United Nations spokesman.
Physicians for Human Rights, an organization that has been tracking attacks on health care workers and infrastructure amid the Syrian conflict, says that 697 health care workers have been killed in 336 attacks on medical sites, the vast majority of them carried out by the Syrian government and its allies.	医生促进人权协会(Physicians for Human Rights)对叙利亚冲突中医护人员和基础设施遭受的袭击进行了跟踪调查, 该组织说, 在医疗站点遭受的 336 次袭击中, 共有 697 医护人员丧生, 其中绝大多数袭击都是由叙利亚政府及其盟友开展的。
Two of the hospitals hit on Monday were in Azaz, a major prize in the fierce battles unfolding in Aleppo Province. One was struck by what residents and the Turkish government said was a ballistic missile. A school housing displaced people was also hit, residents said.	在阿勒颇省, 战斗正在激烈进行, 本周一遇袭的医院中, 有两所位于该省重镇阿扎兹。居民和土耳其政府说, 其中一家医院被弹道导弹击中。居民还说, 一所用来安置无家可归者的学校也被击中。
The attacks came as Kurdish militias and Arab allies advanced closer to Azaz, a critical border town, and overran Tal Rifaat, a town on the road to the border from the city of Aleppo.	袭击发生的时候, 库尔德民兵和阿拉伯盟友正在步步逼近边境要塞阿扎兹, 并一举攻占了从阿勒颇到边境途中的小镇塔尔里法特。
Turkey, which views the Kurds as its worst enemy in the region and does not want to see more Kurdish-controlled areas along its border, shelled the advancing forces, led by the Kurdish-led Syrian Democratic Front, for a third day in a row.	这支正在推进的部队由库尔德人领导的叙利亚民主阵线(Syrian Democratic Front)率领, 视库尔德人为该地区最大敌人的土耳其不希望看到他们在边境上控制更多区域, 连续三天向这支部队发起火炮袭击。
"We will not let Azaz fall," Turkey's prime minister, Ahmet Davutoglu, told reporters on his plane en route to Ukraine, according to the semiofficial Anadolu News Agency. He threatened "a severe response" if Kurdish forces advanced on the town.	半官方的土耳其阿纳多卢通讯社(Anadolu News Agency)称, 土耳其总理艾哈迈德·达武特奥卢(Ahmet Davutoglu)在飞往乌克兰的途中告诉记者, "我们不会让阿扎兹陷落, "他还扬言, 如果库尔德人的部队继续向阿扎兹挺进, 土耳其将作出"严厉回应"。
The advances were made by the Syrian Democratic Front, whose most powerful elements are Syrian Kurdish militias, the People's Protection Units, or Y.P.G., but which also includes some Arab forces. The United	领导这次推进的组织叙利亚民主阵线以叙利亚库尔德民兵"人民保护部队"(People's Protection Units, 简称 YPG)为主, 但也含有一些阿拉伯部队。美国支持叙利亚民主阵线向东进发, 打击伊斯兰国, 但 YPG 被土耳其视为

States supports the S.D.F. in battles against the Islamic State farther east, but Turkey – a crucial American ally and NATO member – considers the Y.P.G. a terrorist group.	恐怖组织。土耳其是美国的重要盟友，也是北约成员国。
American admonitions to both the Turks and the Kurds to refrain from attacks appeared to have little immediate effect.	美国告诫土耳其人和库尔德人不要开展袭击，但似乎没有什么明显效果。
The Kurdish advances raised Turkish fears that they were aiming to unite the two Kurdish enclaves in northern Syria, now separated by a patch of Syrian rebel territory and a larger area controlled by Islamic State. The larger fear is of Kurdish separatism in southeast Turkey, which could be inflamed by the formation of a de facto Kurdish state in the chaos of northern Syria and Iraq. Mr. Davutoglu specifically declared that Turkey would not allow the enclaves to unite.	土耳其对库尔德人的推进感到不安，担心这会将叙利亚北部的两个库尔德人聚居地连成一片；目前它们是被叙利亚境内的叛军据点和伊斯兰国占领的一大块区域隔开的。更大的担忧是，这样一来，在叙利亚和伊拉克北部就形成了一个事实上的库尔德国，那么土耳其东南部的库尔德分裂分子就可能揭竿响应。达武特奥卢明确宣布，土耳其不会允许这两个库尔德人聚居地连成一片。
Russia's Foreign Ministry declared that Turkey, by shelling the Kurds as they battled insurgents, was providing "direct support for international terrorism." It also insisted that the American-led coalition against the Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL, was responsible for the hospital bombing in Maarat al-Noaman, though United States military officials said there were no coalition strikes in the area.	俄罗斯外交部宣布，土耳其在库尔德人与叛乱分子作战的时候炮轰他们，是“对国际恐怖主义的直接支持”。俄罗斯还坚称，是美国领导的打击伊斯兰国联军轰炸了迈阿赖努阿曼镇(Maarat al-Noaman)的医院，不过美国军方官员说，联军并未对该地区进行过打击。
One of the hospitals that was struck, in the town of Maarat al-Noaman, was hit by four missiles in two sets of attacks within a few minutes of one another, according to the medical charity Doctors Without Borders, which supports the site.	为迈阿赖努阿曼镇上的一所医院提供支援的医疗慈善机构无国界医生(Doctors Without Borders)声称，该医院在几分钟内遭受两次袭击，被四枚导弹击中。
Both Russian and Syrian warplanes operate over the area, in the insurgent-held Idlib Province. Residents said that at least seven people were killed, including five patients, a staff member and a guard. Eight	俄罗斯和叙利亚战机都在这个区域开展过行动，它所在的伊德利卜省被叛军占据。居民说，至少有七人在袭击中丧生，其中包括五名病人，一名工作人员和一名警卫。他们说至少八名工作人员失踪，被埋在瓦砾中，而且还有数

more staff members were missing in the rubble, they said, and an unknown number of patients were also missing.	目不详的病人失踪。
The charity added that about 15 other buildings had been struck in residential areas nearby.	该慈善组织还表示，附近居民区大约还有 15 栋建筑遭到攻击。
It was the second time in a week that a hospital working with Doctors Without Borders had been hit. The charity said an affiliated hospital was bombed on Feb. 9 in Dara'a Province in southern Syria.	这是与无国界医生合作的医院一周内第二次遭到攻击。该慈善组织表示，他们在叙利亚南部德拉省的一家下属医院在 2 月 9 日遭到轰炸。
"This appears to be a deliberate attack on a health structure, and we condemn this attack in the strongest possible terms," Massimiliano Rebaudengo, the Doctors Without Borders head of mission, said about Monday's strike on its affiliate. Deliberate attacks on medical facilities are forbidden under international law.	"这看来是针对医疗机构的蓄意攻击，我们对该事件予以最强烈的谴责，"无国界医生项目主管马西米利亚诺·勒巴登戈(Massimiliano Rebaudengo)提到下属医院周一遭袭事件时说。国际法禁止蓄意攻击医疗机构的行为。
The hospital had 30 beds, 54 staff members, two operating rooms, clinics and an emergency room, and its destruction leaves 40,000 people without medical care, the charity said.	该组织表示，该医院原有 30 个床位，54 名工作人员，两间手术室、门诊室和一间急诊室，医院遭袭导致四万人无法得到医疗护理。
Three people were killed and six were injured elsewhere in Maarat al-Noaman, at the National Hospital, residents said.	居民们表示，迈阿赖努阿曼镇国立医院(National Hospital)有三人遇难，六人受伤。
Russian officials have said their country's airstrikes do not target civilians and have not killed any, though the United States and allied insurgent groups say that Moscow has bombed indiscriminately.	俄罗斯官员曾表示，俄罗斯的空袭没有针对平民，没有导致平民死亡，但美国及与其结盟的叛乱组织表示，莫斯科方面展开了对目标不加区别的轰炸。
Syrian antigovernment monitoring groups say that Russian strikes have been the largest single cause of deaths in the war this year, and that they have killed hundreds of civilians, hitting schools, medical facilities and residential areas.	叙利亚反政府监察组织表示，俄罗斯的袭击行动是今年战争中最大的致死原因，他们杀害了数以百计的平民，袭击学校、医疗机构和居民区。
Doctors Without Borders has found its hospitals increasingly under fire	无国界医生发现，该组织在冲突地带设立的医院遭到越来越多的攻击。去年，

in conflict zones. American airstrikes killed 42 people at an affiliated hospital in Kunduz, Afghanistan, last year. The charity's hospitals have also been hit in a Saudi Arabian air campaign in Yemen.	美国在阿富汗昆都士开展的空袭行动导致一家下属医院 42 人死亡。沙特阿拉伯在也门开展的空袭行动也攻击了该组织的医院。
The latest strike came amid days of escalation along the Syria-Turkey border, despite — or, experts say, perhaps because of — the United States and Russia having agreed on Thursday in Munich to work toward a cease-fire, said to be starting by the end of this week.	最新的攻击行动发生时，叙利亚-土耳其边境局势连日持续恶化，即便美国和俄罗斯周四在慕尼黑一致同意设法达成停火，据称要在本周末开始——在专家看来这可能恰恰是恶化的原因。
On Monday, though, Russia's Ministry of Foreign Affairs said its warplanes would keep attacking rebel positions even after the cease-fire goes into effect, saying it considered the rebels to be terrorists.	但俄罗斯外交部在周一表示，停火协议生效后，俄罗斯战机仍将继续攻击叛乱分子所在的地方，称俄罗斯将叛乱分子视作恐怖分子。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160216/c16syria	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160216/c16syria
Boutros Boutros-Ghali, Former U.N. Secretary General, Dies at 93	前联合国秘书长加利逝世，享年 93 岁
Boutros Boutros-Ghali, an Egyptian diplomat who led the United Nations in a chaotic 1990s tenure that began with hopes for peace after the Cold War, but failed to cope with genocide in Rwanda and Bosnia and ended in angry recriminations with Washington, died Tuesday in an Egyptian hospital. He was 93.	周二，埃及外交家布特罗斯·布特罗斯-加利(Boutros Boutros-Ghali)在埃及一家医院去世，享年 93 岁。在 1990 年代，他领导联合国度过了动荡的时期。上任伊始，人们寄望他能带来冷战后的和平，但在处理卢旺达和波斯尼亚大屠杀失利后，因为与华盛顿激烈地相互指责而终结任期。
His death was confirmed by the office of Secretary General Ban Ki-moon. Ban later made a brief appearance before reporters at the United Nations, calling Boutros-Ghali "a memorable leader who rendered invaluable services to world peace and international order."	联合国秘书长潘基文(Ban Ki-moon)的办公室证实了他去世的消息。潘基文随后在驻联合国记者前短暂露面，将布特罗斯-加利称为“一位难以忘怀的领导人，对世界和平和国际秩序作出了宝贵贡献”。
The website of Al Ahram, Egypt's state-owned newspaper, said Boutros-Ghali died Tuesday in a hospital in Giza. He and his wife, Leia Maria Boutros-Ghali, had no children, Egyptian diplomats said.	埃及官方报纸《金字塔报》(Al Ahram)网站称，周二加利在吉萨的一家医院离世。据埃及外交官透露，他和夫人莱亚·玛利亚·布特罗斯-加利(Leia Maria Boutros-Ghali)没有孩子。

A generation before violent protests boiled over in Cairo in 2011, Boutros-Ghali was a keystone of Egypt's old guard diplomacy, a senior minister to President Hosni Mubarak and to his slain predecessor, Anwar Sadat. He seemed to meet the tests of character and experience when, in 1992, he became the sixth secretary general of the United Nations, the first African and the first Arab to hold the post.	与 2011 年开罗爆发的暴力抗议相比，加利年长了一代人，他曾被认作是埃及老派外交势力的核心人物。加利曾担任胡斯尼·穆巴拉克总统(Hosni Mubarak)及遇刺前总统安瓦尔·萨达特(Anwar Sadat)的外交国务部长。1992 年，他似乎满足了品格和经验的考验，成为了联合国历史上第六任秘书长，也是首位担任这一职务的非洲人和阿拉伯人。
The scion of a politically active Coptic Christian family, he accompanied Sadat on his historic olive-branch mission to Jerusalem in 1977, then played a pivotal role in the Camp David accords. He was at the White House when Sadat, Prime Minister Menachem Begin of Israel and President Jimmy Carter signed the 1979 treaty ending a 31-year state of war between Egypt and Israel, a breakthrough in the history of the Middle East conflict.	加利来自一个积极投身政治的科普特基督徒家族。1977 年，在出访耶路撒冷，向以色列伸出橄榄枝的历史性访问中，他随同萨达特总统左右，之后他又在《戴维营协议》(Camp David accords)的签署中扮演了重要角色。当埃及总统萨达特、以色列总理梅纳赫姆·贝京(Menachem Begin)和美国总统吉米·卡特(Jimmy Carter)在 1979 年签署和平条约，终结埃及和以色列之间长达 31 年的交战状态时，加利也在白宫，见证了中东冲突的历史性突破。
Boutros-Ghali took the helm determined to subdue aggression and pursue peace after the fall of Soviet Communism and a relaxation of East-West tensions that had long hamstrung the United Nations. He also resolved to attack the organization's bloated bureaucracy and chronic money problems.	在联合国掌舵后，加利决心压制敌意，寻求在苏联解体后维持和平，并缓和长期困扰联合国的东西方之间的紧张。他也决心精简联合国冗杂的官僚体系，并克服长期的财政问题。
But he faced daunting tasks. Civil wars in Somalia and the secessionist states of Yugoslavia had already begun. Murderous conflicts between Hutus and Tutsis were hurtling toward genocide in Rwanda. And 60,000 U.N. peacekeepers were already thinly posted in a dozen trouble spots, including Cambodia, El Salvador, Angola and Mozambique.	但他面临了重重困难。在索马里，以及在南斯拉夫意欲解体的成员国，内战已经爆发。胡图族(Hutu)和图西族(Tutsi)之间的残酷斗争，引燃了卢瓦达大屠杀。而联合国维和部队的六万名士兵早已分散在一系列动荡地区，包括柬埔寨、萨尔瓦多、安哥拉和莫桑比克。
While he had said early on that he would not seek a second term as secretary general, Boutros-Ghali ran again. Late in 1996, the Security	虽然他很早就曾宣称不会寻求连任，但加利依然再次竞选联合国秘书长。1996 年底，安理会的投票压倒性地支持他连任。但美国驻联合国大使马德

Council voted overwhelmingly to give him another term. But Madeleine Albright, in her last days as the U.S. delegate to the U.N., cast a decisive veto as one of the five permanent council members. Boutros-Ghali thus became the only secretary general denied a second term.	琳·奥尔布赖特(Madeleine Albright)在她任期最后几天, 作为五个常任理事国之一的代表, 投出了关键的否决票。加利就此成为唯一一位未能连任的联合国秘书长。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160217/c17boutros-ghali	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160217/c17boutros-ghali
Second Sedition Arrest in India as Former Lecturer Is Held	学生抗议不休, 印度再捕一名前教师
NEW DELHI — The police in New Delhi arrested a former university lecturer on suspicion of sedition early Tuesday, the second arrest in a week on the colonial-era charge, as student and teacher protests against the government continued.	新德里——随着师生对政府的抗议活动的延续, 新德里警方于周二早上以涉嫌煽动罪为由逮捕了一名曾经的大学讲师。这是一周来警方第二次动用这条殖民时期的罪名来施行拘捕。
The arrest of the lecturer, S.A.R. Geelani, came just days after the police arrested the student union president of Jawaharlal Nehru University, Kanhaiya Kumar, on a sedition charge.	这位讲师名为 S·A·R·吉拉尼(S.A.R. Geelani)。就在他被捕的几天前, 警方以煽动颠覆的罪名拘捕了尼赫鲁大学(Jawaharlal Nehru University)的学生会主席坎哈伊亚·库马尔(Kanhaiya Kumar)。
India's sedition laws, which date back to the British Raj, mandate prison terms ranging from three years to life. Though the Supreme Court has ruled that sedition charges apply only to speech that incites violence, the law has been used in recent years on apparently political targets: a cartoonist in Mumbai, or a group of Kashmiri students cheering the Pakistani cricket team, among others.	印度有关煽动罪的法条能追溯到英国殖民时期, 可以判处三年监禁到无期徒刑。尽管最高法院裁定, 煽动罪名仅适用于挑起暴力的言论, 但这条法律近年来还是用在了一些似乎是政治目标的人身上, 比如孟买的一名漫画家, 还有为巴基斯坦板球队助威的一群克什米尔学生。
The police did not specify the exact grounds for Mr. Kumar's arrest, though it seems to involve an event on Feb. 9 on the third anniversary of the execution of a Kashmiri militant, Muhammad Afzal, also known as Afzal Guru, for his involvement in an attack on Parliament in 2001 that left nine dead. Mr. Kumar was present at a protest surrounding the anniversary where the participants chanted slogans police described as	警方没有明确指出拘捕库马尔的具体依据, 不过这件事看来与 2 月 9 日纪念克什米尔武装分子穆罕默德·阿夫扎尔(Mohammad Afzal)——又名阿夫扎尔·古鲁(Afzal Guru)——遭处决三周年的一场活动有关。此人被执行死刑的原因是 2001 年参与了一场针对国会的袭击行动, 袭击致九人死亡。库马尔出现在了围绕纪念日展开的抗议活动的现场。德里警察局长 B·S·巴锡(B.S. Bassi)称, 抗议活动参与者在那里高喊口号, 而警方认为这些口号“反对国

"anti-national," said the Delhi police commissioner, B.S. Bassi.	家”。
Though the university called off the event, videos circulated on television and online afterward showing people shouting slogans condemning Mr. Afzal's execution and calling for India to be "split into pieces." After the protest, a speech by Mr. Kumar was circulated online condemning a right-wing group and presenting himself and fellow students as the true defenders of the Constitution.	尽管尼赫鲁大学叫停了活动，但后来电视和网上流传的视频显示，抗议者高喊口号谴责阿夫扎尔被处决一事，呼吁让印度“四分五裂”。抗议活动过后，库马尔进行的一番演讲在网上传播，其中谴责了一个右翼团体，并称自己和同学是宪法的真正捍卫者。
Legal experts said it would be difficult to prove sedition based on the content of the speech, which did not call for violence, but some said that the authorities were not concerned about making the charge stick.	法学专家表示，这番讲话并未呼吁诉诸暴力，很难借此证明煽动罪名。不过，一些人认为，当局并不关心怎么让指控成立。
"If it is brought to the court, in my view there is no case against him," said Raju Ramachandran, a Supreme Court lawyer. But, he said, "in the meantime you've intimidated and harassed."	“如果提交到法庭，我的观点是没有依据让他的罪名成立，”最高法院的律师拉朱·拉马钱德兰(Raju Ramachandran)说。不过，“与此同时，你受到了恫吓和骚扰。”
He added: "It has a chilling effect, in a sense, because people would tend to think twice before expressing their views on sensitive subjects."	他还说：“在某种程度上，这会让人不寒而栗，因为人们再在敏感话题上表达观点时，会三思而后行。”
A police official, Jatin Narwal, said that Mr. Geelani, formerly of Delhi University, has been arrested on the same charges of sedition and criminal conspiracy after organizing an event at the Press Club of India, where a group of people shouted slogans hailing Mr. Afzal, the Press Trust of India reported.	警方官员贾廷·纳瓦尔(Jatin Narwal)称，曾在德里大学(Delhi University)供职的吉拉尼以同样的煽动与共谋罪名被捕。印度报业托拉斯(Press Trust of India)报道，他在印度记者俱乐部(Press Club of India)组织了一场活动，其间有人高喊赞扬阿夫扎尔的口号。
It was not clear whether Mr. Geelani had shouted the slogans, and Mr. Narwal declined to give details about the case. Mr. Geelani had been charged with involvement in the 2001 Parliament attack, but the Delhi High Court overturned his conviction in 2003, citing a lack of evidence.	尚不清楚吉拉尼是否喊了这类口号，纳瓦尔也拒绝给出此案的细节。吉拉尼曾被控涉嫌2001年袭击国会的行动，但德里高等法院以缺乏证据为由在2003年推翻了对他的判决。
Mr. Kumar's arrest led to chaos on Monday at a Delhi court, where he	周一的时候，库马尔被捕一事在德里一家法院造成了混乱。他本应出席一场

was to appear at a hearing on whether to extend his detention. He never got there as a mob scene developed, with a number of men wearing black lawyers' coats forcibly evicting reporters and attacking students and professors from Jawaharlal Nehru University who had come to support Mr. Kumar, reporters present said. Eventually, the hearing was held elsewhere, and Mr. Kumar was remanded to two more days of police custody.	决定是否延长其羁押期的聆讯，然而法院里群情激奋，他并未露面。在场的记者表示，一群身穿律师黑袍的男性强行驱逐记者，还攻击了前来声援库马尔的尼赫鲁大学的师生。后来，聆讯移到别处举行，结果是允许警方再关押库马尔两天。
Om Prakash Sharma, an assemblyman in Delhi from the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party, was seen beating a man outside the court in a video that circulated widely online. In a televised interview with India Today, Mr. Sharma said that he had been attacked by the man, who had been shouting anti-India slogans and was fighting back.	在一则网上广泛传播的视频中，画面显示来自执政的人民党(Bharatiya Janata Party)的德里议员奥姆·普拉卡什·夏尔马(Om Prakash Sharma)，在法院外殴打一名男性。接受《今日印度》(India Today)的电视采访时，他表示自己被这名高喊反印度口号的男性攻击了，当时是在反击。
"They will hit you, abuse Mother India and then what will you do? Will you pray to him?" he said.	"他们打了你，侮辱了祖国母亲，那你要怎么办？难道是向他祈祷吗？"他反问道。
On the sprawling campus of Jawaharlal Nehru University, a wellspring for generations of left-leaning academics and politicians, students gathered on Tuesday to protest Mr. Kumar's arrest. As the students held a sign reading "Release Comrade Kanhaiya," teachers formed a human chain around them to protect them from assault, though there were no clashes.	尼赫鲁大学是几代左倾学者与政界人士的摇篮。周二的时候，一些学生在宽敞的校园里集结，抗议库马尔被捕。学生们举着一个写有“释放坎哈伊亚同志”字样的标语牌，老师们则围在他们身边，组成人链保护他们免受攻击。不过，并没有冲突爆发。
"Who are these people to teach nationalism to this progressive university?" asked Bikash Mishra, a 30-year-old Ph.D. candidate in environmental science. "In a university, students should be free to discuss anything."	"这帮人凭什么教我们这所进步派大学，什么叫民族主义？"30岁的环境科学博士研究生比卡什·米什拉(Bikash Mishra)诘问道。"在大学里，学生应该有讨论任何问题的自由。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160217/c17india	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160217/c17india

Conspiracy Theories About Zika Spread Along With the Virus	兹卡病毒肆虐之地，阴谋论谣言满天飞
SALVADOR, Brazil — The Zika virus, some Brazilians are convinced, is the inadvertent creation of a British biotech company that has been releasing genetically modified mosquitoes to combat dengue fever in Brazil. Others here and elsewhere see it as a plot by global elites to depopulate the Earth and install a “one-world government.”	巴西萨尔瓦多——一些巴西人确信，兹卡病毒是英国生物技术公司无意间制造的，该公司一直在巴西释放转基因蚊子，以对抗登革热。还有一些来自世界各地的人则认为，这是全球精英阶层旨在减少地球人口，建立一个“单一世界政府”的阴谋。
And after a group of Argentine doctors asserted that a larvicide, not the mosquito-borne Zika virus, was to blame for a surge in cases of the birth defect known as microcephaly, Brazil's southernmost state went so far over the weekend as to ban the use of the larvicide in its drinking water — even though scientists and health officials insist there is no such link.	而一些阿根廷医生声称，导致先天性小头症病例增加的是一种杀虫剂，而不是蚊媒传播的兹卡病毒，随后巴西最南端的州上周末甚至开始禁止对饮用水使用这种杀虫剂，尽管科学家及卫生官员坚称不存在这种关联。
Like Zika itself, rumors about it have replicated with viral ferocity through social media and word of mouth, frustrating the Brazilian authorities as they grapple with a poorly understood pathogen whose origins and implications are still something of a mystery.	相关传闻就像兹卡病毒本身，通过社交媒体和口口相传疯狂传播，令正在应对这种人类知之甚少的病原体的巴西当局十分苦恼，该病原体的源头及影响仍然是个谜。
With many of the rumors started and spread abroad, Brazil's Health Ministry has been scrambling to do damage control.	由于很多谣言都是在海外传开的，巴西卫生部正在紧急行动起来，防止影响扩大。
In a statement on Monday, the government noted that microcephaly, which causes brain damage, was also growing in communities that did not use the larvicide, pyriproxyfen, and declared bluntly, “The association between the use of pyriproxyfen and microcephaly has no scientific basis.”	在周一发表的声明中，政府指出那些没有使用杀虫剂、蚊蝇醚的社区，也在不断出现会引起脑损伤的小头症病例，并明确指出，“使用蚊蝇醚与小头症之间的关联没有科学依据。”
Graham B. White, a medical entomologist who is a consultant to the U.S. Defense Department on disease-carrying insects, called the	医学昆虫学家、在带病昆虫问题上为美国国防部提供咨询的格雷厄姆·B·怀特 (Graham B. White)称，阿根廷医生的说法是“荒谬”和“不可信”的。

Argentine doctors' assertion "ridiculous" and "not credible."
White said that the larvicide did not work through the nervous system, the part of the developing fetus affected by microcephaly. He noted that it had been approved by the World Health Organization and had been widely used for years to treat drinking water in places where mosquitoes breed.	怀特表示，小头症会影响正在发育中的胎儿的神经系统，而这种杀虫剂不通过神经系统发挥作用。他指出，这种杀虫剂获得了世界卫生组织(World Health Organization)的认可，多年来广泛用于处理滋生蚊虫的饮用水。
None of which was mentioned in myriad posts on Facebook and Twitter, where the American actor Mark Ruffalo was among those sounding the alarm, with a post on Monday that was shared nearly 500 times.	Facebook 和 Twitter 上的各种敲响警钟的帖子并没有提到这些信息，其中包括美国演员马克·鲁法洛(Mark Ruffalo)，他周一发布的帖子已被转发将近 500 次。
Though Brazil is at the center of an epidemic now affecting more than two dozen countries, many of the dubious claims about Zika are born abroad, their purveyors a well-known coterie of critics of genetically modified crops and creatures.	兹卡病毒已经蔓延至 20 多个国家，虽然巴西是疫情的爆发中心，很多有关兹卡病毒的可疑说法都源自国外，散布谣言的是那些众所周知的批评转基因作物和生物机构。
With reputable-sounding names like The Ecologist and Global Research, they produce slick websites that weave facts, half-truths and pseudoscientific analysis into sinister assertions. They trace the hidden hand of "Big Pharma" spreading disease for profit and claim that billionaires like Bill Gates are closeted eugenicists seeking to address overpopulation by promoting poisoned childhood vaccines.	《生态学家》(The Ecologist)和全球研究(Global Research)等听起来有声望的机构纷纷创建漂亮的网站，将事实、半真半假的描述及伪科学分析编造成邪恶的断言。它们列举那些为盈利而传播疾病的“大制药公司”幕后黑手，并声称比尔·盖茨(Bill Gates)等亿万富翁私下里都是优生主义者，他们寻求通过推广有毒的儿童疫苗来解决人口过剩的问题。
Brazil, where mistrust of government is high, is fertile ground for such theories to gain traction.	巴西人民极不信任政府，为此类观点的继续传播提供了沃土。
Nailma Souza, 40, who owns a nail salon in Salvador, a city that has been hit hard by the outbreak, is certain that Zika was concocted to divert attention away from a cure for cancer that the authorities want	40 岁的尼尔玛·苏扎(Nailma Souza)在萨尔瓦多开了一家美甲店，该市是兹卡疫情的重灾区。苏扎坚信兹卡病毒是一场阴谋，目的是转移对政府希望保密的癌症治疗方法的注意力。 to keep secret.

"The Brazilian government wants to patent the drug to make money, but the investigators behind it want to give it away for free," Souza said after showing a video, purportedly made by a Brazilian actress, pleading for the cancer drug to be released. "The government is involved in this, for sure. They always want to get our money."	"巴西政府希望取得这种药物的专利权，以便盈利，但背后的调查人员希望免费发放药物，"苏扎说，在此之前她展示了一段据称由巴西女演员制作的请求发放抗癌药物的视频。"政府肯定参与了。他们总是想从我们身上捞钱。"
Claudio Maierovitch, the Brazilian Health Ministry's director of surveillance of communicable diseases, said there was a danger that fear and scant scientific information would lead people to ignore the government's exhortations about protecting themselves from mosquito bites and removing standing water that allows mosquitoes to breed.	巴西卫生部传染病监测部门主任克劳迪奥·梅罗韦奇(Claudio Maierovitch)表示，恐惧心理及科学信息的缺乏可能会导致人们无视政府的劝告，即防止蚊虫叮咬，清除滋生蚊虫的积水。
"Everything about Zika is new, and there is an aura of mystery about it, which leaves everyone open to new stories and new ideas about where it came from," Maierovitch said. "The biggest risk is that people don't do enough preventive procedures because they don't believe Zika is dangerous or that the disease even exists."	"有关兹卡病毒的一切都是前所未闻的，有一种神秘的气氛，导致大家可能听信有关其源头的新传闻、新想法，"梅罗韦赫说。"最大的危险在于，人们没有采取足够多的预防措施，因为他们认为兹卡并不危险，或者这种疾病根本不存在。"
Michel Misse, a sociologist at the Federal University of Rio de Janeiro, said that rumors and conspiracy theories played an outsize role in Brazilian society, and that the spate of crises buffeting the Brazilian government made people question and doubt authority.	里约热内卢联邦大学(Federal University of Rio de Janeiro)社会学家米歇尔·米塞(Michel Misse)表示，谣言和阴谋论在巴西社会中发挥了巨大作用，巴西政府接二连三遭遇危机，使得人们质疑、怀疑其权威性。
"Given the political moment we are living in," he said, "a lot of people are not happy with our government, and it definitely plays a role when it comes to believing rumors that blame the government for things that are going wrong."	"鉴于我们目前所处的政治时刻，"他说。"很多人对我们的政府感到不满，这在一定程度上促使他们相信一些谣言，认为是政府引发了一些不好的事情。"
Some Zika skeptics have been especially focused on a British company	一些对兹卡病毒持怀疑态度的人尤其关注 2011 年在巴西释放转基因蚊子的

that began releasing genetically modified mosquitoes in Brazil in 2011 in an effort to stem a deadly outbreak of dengue fever. The company, Oxitec, inserts a modified gene into male mosquitoes so that when they mate with females in the wild, they will produce offspring that die before they reach adulthood.	英国公司, 该公司此举是为了阻止致命的登革热的疫情爆发。Oxitec 公司将一种经过改造的基因植入雄性蚊子, 使它们与雌性蚊子在野外交配繁衍出还没成年就会死亡的后代。
Discover magazine is among the authoritative sources that have disproved the allegation that the engineered mosquitoes are behind the Zika outbreak, born last month on a Reddit board devoted to conspiracy theories. Still, the dubious link has been picked up and expanded by scores of other outlets, including the anti-Western website Russia Today, the British tabloid The Daily Mail and conspiracy-minded websites like Natural News.	经过遗传工程处理的蚊子导致兹卡疫情爆发的说法, 最初出现在 Reddit 的一个专门讨论阴谋论的版块, 一些权威信源对此提出了驳斥, 《发现》(Discover) 杂志就是其中之一。但还有数十个机构在提出并传播这种令人怀疑的关联, 比如反西方的今日俄罗斯(Russia Today)网站、英国小报《每日邮报》(The Daily Mail)及 Natural News 等推崇阴谋论的网站。
"It's fantasy," Hadyn Parry, Oxitec's chief executive, said in an interview. "If children weren't involved and people weren't getting sick, it would be quite an amusing fantasy, but this is quite serious and irresponsible."	"这是幻想, "Oxitec 公司首席执行官哈迪恩·帕里(Hadyn Parry)接受采访时说。"如果没有涉及儿童, 人们没有得病, 那么这是一个相当逗乐的幻想, 但就目前来说, 这是十分严重和不负责的。"
Brazilian health officials and scientists say the Oxitec program has reduced mosquito populations in affected areas by up to 90 percent, though its expansion is being held up by the government for technical reasons.	巴西卫生官员及科学家表示, Oxitec 公司的项目将受感染区域的蚊子数量减少了 90%, 但出于技术原因, 政府阻止了该项目的扩展。
"If politicians start pandering to those opposed to genetically modified mosquitoes without scientific basis to their arguments," warned Tanjim Hossain, a research fellow at the University of Miami who specializes in mosquito control, "they are going to end up really hurting people."	"如果政治人士开始迎合那些没有科学依据就反对转基因蚊子的人, "迈阿密大学(University of Miami)蚊虫控制研究员但吉姆·侯赛因(Tanjim Hossain)警告称, "他们最终会给人民带来严重的伤害。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160217/c17zikaconspiracy	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160217/c17zikaconspiracy
Car Bomb Strikes Military Convoy in Ankara, Killing 28, Officials Say	土耳其首都发生爆炸, 至少 28 人死亡

ISTANBUL — A car bomb exploded in the Turkish capital, Ankara, on Wednesday, striking a convoy of buses carrying Turkish soldiers and killing at least 28 people, government officials said.	伊斯坦布尔——土耳其政府官员表示，周三该国首都安卡拉发生了一起汽车炸弹爆炸事件，炸弹击中一个载有土耳其军人的车队，导致至少 28 人死亡。
The convoy was attacked when the buses had stopped for a red light, officials said. Deputy Prime Minister Numan Kurtulmus said 61 people were injured.	官方表示，爆炸是在车队停下来等红灯时发生的。土耳其副总理努曼·库尔穆什(Numan Kurtulmus)称，有 61 人在这次袭击中受伤。
The prime minister, Ahmet Davutoglu, canceled a planned trip to Brussels after the attack, and President Recep Tayyip Erdogan postponed a visit to Azerbaijan, according to his office. “Our determination to respond in kind to attacks taking place inside and outside our borders is getting stronger with such acts,” Mr. Erdogan said in a statement. “It must be known that Turkey will not shy away from using its right to self-defense at any time, any place or any occasion.”	事件发生后，土耳其总理艾哈迈德·达武特奥卢(Ahmet Davutoglu)取消了原计划的前往布鲁塞尔的行程。根据来自总统办公室的消息，雷杰普·塔伊普·埃尔多安(Recep Tayyip Erdogan)也推迟了对阿塞拜疆的访问。“随着此类事件的发生，我们以同样方式回应境内外袭击的决心正在增强，”埃尔多安在声明中表示。“必须让外界知道，土耳其不惮于在任何时候、任何地点或场合行使自卫的权利。”
The large explosion took place close to the Parliament headquarters, government buildings and a residential military facility in the central Kizilay district, according to local media reports.	据当地媒体报道，这场大爆炸发生的地点接近位于城中心克孜拉伊区的国会总部、多个政府大楼和一个军事住宅区。
Omer Celik, a spokesman for the ruling Justice and Development Party, said on Twitter that the explosion was an act of terrorism, although he did not provide details. No group immediately claimed responsibility.	执政的正义与发展党(Justice and Development Party)发言人厄梅尔·切利克(Omer Celik)在 Twitter 上表示，这起爆炸属于恐怖袭击，不过他并没有提供任何细节。目前也没有任何组织宣称对这起爆炸负责。
Images broadcast on television showed a large fire and smoke in the area. As many as 20 ambulances were dispatched to the scene, according to CNN Turk, a private broadcaster.	电视上播出的画面显示，这一地区出现了大火和浓烟。据私营传播机构 CNN 土耳其台(CNN Turk)报道，有多达 20 辆救护车被派往了事故现场。
The explosion Wednesday comes four months after the capital was rocked by the deadliest terrorist attack in the country’s modern history, when two suicide bombers — believed by the government to have links	就在四个月前，安卡拉发生了该国近代史上最严重的一次恐怖袭击，当时两名自杀式人弹袭击了在安卡拉举行的一场和平集会，导致 100 多人死亡。政府认为那两名袭击者和伊斯兰国(Islamic State)有关联。

to the Islamic State — struck a peace rally in Ankara, killing more than 100 people.
In recent months, Turkey has stepped up its cooperation with the American-led coalition fighting the Islamic State in Syria, and has been attacked several times. Last month, a suicide bomber killed at least 10 tourists in Istanbul's popular Sultanahmet district.	最近几个月，土耳其加快了与以美国为首的打击叙利亚境内伊斯兰国的联盟的合作，也因此遭遇了多次袭击。上个月，一名自杀式袭击者在伊斯坦布尔深受游客欢迎的苏丹艾哈迈德一带发动攻击，导致至少 10 名游客死亡。
In a separate conflict, the Turkish military has been carrying out a large-scale counterinsurgency campaign against Kurdish militants in the country's volatile southeast, after the breakdown of a fragile peace process in July.	另一方面，自一项脆弱的和平进程在去年 7 月中断以后，土耳其军队一直在动荡的东南部地区对库尔德激进分子的反叛运动进行大规模镇压。
Since December, many towns have been under round-the-clock curfews as Turkish military forces have clashed with Kurdish militants from the Kurdistan Workers' Party, known as the P.K.K., who have been fighting for autonomy and more rights for three decades. The P.K.K. has previously carried out several attacks on military targets in Turkey, but usually in the southeast.	因为土耳其军队与来自库尔德工人党(Kurdistan Workers' Party, 简称 PKK)的库尔德激进分子的冲突, 很多城镇自去年 12 月以来一直实施全天候宵禁。过去 30 年, PKK 一直在为争取库尔德人自治和获得更多权利而斗争。之前, 它曾在土耳其境内针对军事目标发起多次袭击, 但基本都是在东南部地区。
The Turkish Army on Wednesday also shelled positions held by Kurdish militias in northern Syria that it deems to be an extension of the P.K.K. for a fourth day in a row. The government fears that the Syrian Kurds' expansion across Turkey's 560-mile border with Syria will fuel separatist ambitions among Turkey's own Kurds.	周三, 土耳其军队还连续第四天炮击了库尔德民兵在叙利亚北部占领的几个阵地。土耳其认为这是 PKK 的势力延伸区域。土耳其政府担心, 叙利亚的库尔德人在两国 560 英里长的边境那头扩展地盘, 会助长土耳其本国库尔德人的分离主义野心。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160218/c18turkey	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160218/c18turkey
Obama Going to Cuba; First Visit by U.S. President in 88 Years	奥巴马将访古巴, 美国总统 88 年来的第一次
WASHINGTON — President Obama will travel to Cuba in March, the White House announced on Thursday, making a historic visit as part of	华盛顿——白宫在周四宣布, 奥巴马总统将于 3 月访问古巴, 此次历史性访问是终结美国与冷战期间的对手半个多世纪以来的疏远状态, 实现关系正常

an effort to end more than a half-century of estrangement and forge normalized relations with a Cold War adversary.	化的努力的一部分。
The administration announced that Mr. Obama and the first lady will make the two-day trip on March 21 — the first by a sitting president in 88 years, when Calvin Coolidge visited — as top Commerce, Treasury and State Department officials were meeting privately with their Cuban counterparts in Washington for talks aimed at expanding business ties between the two nations.	奥巴马政府宣布，奥巴马及第一夫人将于3月21日对古巴进行为期两天的访问——这是继卡尔文·柯立芝(Calvin Coolidge)之后，88年来美国在任总统首次访问古巴，与此同时，商务部、财政部及国务院高层官员将在华盛顿与古巴的对应官员进行私下会面，讨论扩展两国商业关系事宜。
Penny Pritzker, the commerce secretary, opened the discussions on Wednesday, calling on the government of Cuba to open its economy to American business and investment. She said the Cubans must do more to help facilitate commerce after the thaw between the two nations.	美国商务部长佩妮·普利茨克(Penny Pritzker)于周三开启了这场讨论，呼吁古巴政府开放经济，接受美国公司及投资。她表示，两国关系回暖后，古巴人必须采取更多举措，促进商业发展。
Ms. Pritzker said her department had acted aggressively since Mr. Obama's December 2014 announcement to pave the way for American companies to do business in Cuba, granting 490 authorizations amounting to $4.3 billion last year alone — a roughly 30 percent increase over the previous year.	普利茨克表示，自奥巴马总统在2014年12月宣布为美国公司进入古巴创造条件后，商务部积极行动，去年一年发布了490项授权——总额达到43亿美元，同比增长大约30%。
"But we need help from the Cuban side," Ms. Pritzker said. "The U.S. companies that are attempting to do business in your country continue to face challenges."	"但我们需要古巴方面的帮助，"普利茨克说。"那些尝试在古巴开展业务的美国公司仍然面临挑战。"
She added: "Without specific changes on your side that allow the private sector to engage, our changes will not unlock the opportunities for the Cuban people that both of us want to see."	她还表示，"古巴方面不做出具体改变，不允许私营领域参与，我们的改变无法为古巴人民开创双方都希望看到的机会。"
The talks, which began in a wood-paneled library at the Commerce Department within view of the White House, represent the latest effort	谈话在商务部的一间有木饰板墙面的图书室举行，窗外可以看到白宫。奥巴马在一年前开始推动政策转变，此次谈话是这种转变的最新一次努力。但美

by the Obama administration to push forward with the policy shift the president set in motion just over a year ago. But the process is vastly complicated by the American statutory trade and commercial embargo that has been in place for decades and that only Congress can lift.	国数十年来的法定贸易及商业禁运措施，令这一进程变得极其复杂，只有国会可以解除相关禁令。
The president plans to visit Argentina after he leaves Cuba.	奥巴马总统计划在结束对古巴的访问后前往阿根廷。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160219/c19prexy	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160219/c19prexy
As Air Worsens, New Delhi Turns to Masks. The Flashier the Better.	在印度，防雾霾口罩变成时尚配饰
NEW DELHI — It isn't just sweaters the kindergartners are wearing as they pour out of their classrooms onto the lawns of the American Embassy School in India's capital city.	新德里——在印度首都的美国大使馆学校，当幼儿园的孩子们涌出教室奔向草坪时，身上不只是穿着毛衣。
They are also wearing face masks.	他们还戴着口罩。
The school does not require students to wear air filtration masks against the polluted air here, the worst in the world, in the estimation of the World Health Organization. But it has created what its director calls "a culture of acceptance" around wearing them.	据世界卫生组织的估计，新德里是世界上空气污染最严重的地区。学校没有要求学生戴上防污染的空气过滤式口罩，但该校校长称学校创造了一种戴口罩的“接受文化”。
It helps that they come in wild prints, made by a San Francisco company, many in fabrics from this year's spring and summer collections of a top Indian fashion designer, Manish Arora . The Tiger's Den, the campus store, has sold 800 this school year alone.	口罩上的花哨印花起到了一定推动作用，这些口罩由旧金山的一家公司生产，其中许多使用了印度顶级设计师曼尼什·阿若拉(Manish Arora)今年春夏服装系列中的面料。校园里的虎穴商店(Tiger's Den)这一学年卖出了 800 只口罩。
With expatriates and health-conscious Indians leading the way, residents of the Delhi metropolitan area of 25 million people are finally taking steps to protect themselves from the health-threatening atmosphere, as people in Beijing and some other heavily polluted Asian cities have already done.	在市区人口达 2500 万的新德里，居民们在外籍人士及有健康意识的印度人带领下终于行动起来，像北京及其他污染严重的亚洲城市的人们一样，保护自己不受威胁健康的空气的侵害。
New Delhi has long been covered with smog, but concerns escalated in	新德里早就被雾霾笼罩，但在 2014 年初，担忧开始加剧，当时世界卫生组织

early 2014, when the W.H.O. study ranked New Delhi the worst. Then the American Embassy here began making its air pollution data publicly available. A government pollution board stepped up its efforts to consistently measure and report its findings.	织的研究将新德里列为污染最严重的城市。后来美国驻新德里大使馆开始公布空气污染数据。政府污染控制委员会加大努力,不断测量并汇报相关结果。
"The catalyst was the data becoming available," says Paul Chmelik, director of the American school.	美国学校校长保罗·赫梅利克(Paul Chmelik)说,“现在可以获得数据,这是一种催化剂。”
Shri Ram School, an elite private school, canceled sports day this winter because strenuous activity was deemed unsafe in such polluted air. The Delhi High Court asked the government to take action to improve the air, saying that living in New Delhi was like “living in a gas chamber.”	精英私立学校施利拉姆学校 (Shri Ram School)今年冬季取消了运动会,因为人们认为在污染严重的空气中进行剧烈运动是不安全的。德里高等法院 (The Delhi High Court)要求政府采取行动改善空气状况,称在新德里感觉像是“住在毒气室”。
In January, the government restricted private cars in New Delhi to alternate days during a two-week test. To general surprise, the city’s famously lawless motorists actually followed the plan. The government plans to repeat the driving rules in April.	1月,政府对新德里私家车隔日出行的限行政策进行了为期两周的试验。令大家感到意外的是,该市一向目无法纪的司机们竟然遵循了这项政策。政府计划在4月再次实行这套驾车规定。
Air purifiers, from $50 to $1,000, have been flying off the shelves. And an Indian entrepreneur has been selling high-end, designer air masks in Khan Market, among the most expensive retail areas in the world.	空气净化器非常畅销,价格从50美元到1000美元不等。一名印度创业者一直在可汗市场(Khan Market)售卖由设计师设计的高端口罩,可汗市场是世界上价格最贵的零售市场之一。
When the store’s owner, Jai Dhar Gupta, began selling the masks in January 2015, he estimated that he would sell about 10,000 a year. He sold that many in nine days.	商店老板贾伊·达尔·古普塔(Jai Dhar Gupta)从2015年1月开始出售这种口罩,当时他估计一年可以卖出1万只口罩。实际上他九天就卖出了这么多。
A New Delhi native who used to own a call center company in San Francisco, Mr. Gupta developed a serious respiratory illness while training for a marathon in 2014, and recovered only after he began using an air filtration mask made by Vogmask. He became the company’s Indian distributor a year ago.	古普塔是新德里本地人,曾在旧金山开了一家电话客服中心。2014年进行马拉松训练时,古普塔患上严重的呼吸道疾病,在开始使用威隔(Vogmask)制造的空气过滤式口罩后才慢慢恢复。古普塔在一年之前成为该公司在印度的经销商。

This winter, he says, he has been selling 500 to 700 masks a day from two retail stores in the New Delhi area as well as the school shop and a website.	他表示，今年冬季，他在新德里开设的两家零售商店、学校商店及一家网店每天可以卖出 500 到 700 只口罩。
The masks, when properly fitted, filter out 99 percent of airborne particles and are certified as personal protective equipment by agencies of the Chinese and South Korean governments, according to the company.	该公司声称，这种口罩如果佩戴恰当可以滤除 99% 的空气颗粒物，而且它被中国及韩国政府机构认证为个人防护用品。
Vogmask has been manufacturing the masks in South Korea since 2012, and plans to begin making them in India this year. Reusable and made from a patented fabric, they retail for about $35, a price that is out of reach for the majority of Indians.	威隔从 2012 年开始在韩国生产口罩，并计划今年开始在印度生产。这种由专利面料制作的口罩可重复使用，零售价为 35 美元，这超出了大多数印度人的承受范围。
Foreign companies and nonprofits were among the early adopters. The Red Cross office in New Delhi bought masks for all of its employees this winter. Abid Malik, who works there, wears his mask while jogging.	外国公司及非营利机构是最早的使用者之一。新德里红十字会办公室今年冬季为所有员工购买了这种口罩。其工作人员阿比德·马利克(Abid Malik)会戴着口罩慢跑。
"Before using it, I used to cough all the time," he said. "Now I feel better."	"在使用这种口罩之前，我一直咳嗽，"他说。"我现在感觉好多了。"
Surendra Singh, 49, got an air filtration mask when his nonprofit company distributed them to all 30 employees this winter. "We were all really panicked about the air," he said.	今年，49 岁的苏伦德拉·辛格(Surendra Singh)获得一只空气过滤式口罩，他所在的非营利公司今年冬季向全部 30 名员工分发了口罩。他说，"我们都对空气污染感到恐慌。"
He asked for the black mask with two air filters, which was advertised as the best design for active people, and wears it during his commute on three buses.	他要了一种带有两个空气过滤阀的黑色口罩，并在需要换乘三辆公交车的通勤期间佩戴。广告宣称这种口罩是针对活跃人士的最佳设计。
On a rainy morning last month, he was the only one on the bus with his nose and mouth covered. This made him the subject of intense curiosity and concern among commuters who still widely regard the masks with suspicion.	上月一个下雨的早晨，他是公交车上唯一一个遮住口鼻的乘客。他引起了周边上班人士的强烈好奇和关注，他们普遍对这种口罩持怀疑态度。

Asked why they were staring at him, most people said they were worried that he was sick, perhaps with tuberculosis. Others said they suspected he was mentally ill.	被问到为什么盯着他看时，大多数人表示，他们担心他生病了，或许是得了结核病。还有人则表示他们怀疑他有精神病。
"Is he mad to wear that mask?" asked a 24-year-old hairdresser, Sonu Kumar.	"他戴着这种口罩，他是疯了吗？"24岁的美发师索努·库马尔(Sonu Kumar)问道。
As Mr. Singh got off the bus and began walking in the morning drizzle across a pedestrian footbridge toward his office, a 21-year-old student named Liaqat Ali was huddled with dozens of passengers under the bus shelter, continuing to stare.	当辛格下车，开始在蒙蒙细雨中穿过行人天桥朝着办公室走时，与几十名乘客挤在候车亭的21岁学生里阿卡特·阿里(Liaqat Ali)仍在盯着他看。
"I think maybe he is so sick that he will die if he does not wear that mask," Mr. Ali said.	阿里说，“我觉得他可能病得很严重，可能不戴口罩就会死。”
That attitude has restricted sales in India, Vogmask's co-founder Wendover Brown says. Her sales in China are four times as high.	威隔的联合创始人温德沃·布朗(Wendover Brown)表示，这种态度限制了口罩在印度的销售。这种口罩在中国的销售量是印度的四倍。
At the American school, the administration held forums to discuss the pollution, created a committee to develop an action plan and asked the campus store to stock the masks.	在这所美国学校，管理部门举行论坛讨论污染问题，成立委员会制定行动计划，并要求学校商店储备口罩。
A year ago, mask wearers were in the minority at school, but now most students wear them, says a parent, Aurelia Driver.	学生家长奥里莉亚·德里弗(Aurelia Driver)表示，一年前，学校里戴口罩的学生属于少数，如今大多数学生都戴上了口罩。
She sends her children to school with masks on their faces, attached by elastic bands so the masks can hang around their necks when indoors.	她送孩子们上学时一直戴着口罩，口罩上有松紧带，在室内的时候可以挂在脖子上。
What began as a grim necessity has for many children become something of a fashion accessory, she said. "Having something fun and cool makes it something the kids want to wear," she said. Another mother said she had bought them for her daughters after they pleaded for them, arguing that all the other kids had them.	她表示，起初对很多孩子来说是必需品的东西变成了一种时尚配件。她说，“这些口罩有趣，够酷，孩子们都想戴。”另一位母亲表示，女儿们想要口罩，说是别的孩子都有，所以她就给她们买了。

The school has instituted a policy against students doing aerobic activity without wearing protective masks when the particulate levels reach the hazardous range.	该学校制定了政策，当颗粒物水平达到危险范围时，禁止学生在没有戴上防护口罩的情况下做有氧运动。
That led the girls' varsity soccer team to put in an order this month for masks for the entire team.	这促使学校的女子足球队本月为全队订购了口罩。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160302/c02masks	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160302/c02masks
A Swedish Girl, ISIS and a Cautionary Tale of Global Terrorism	追随男友参加圣战，瑞典问题少女脱险归国
MARK MUNICIPALITY, Sweden — It was a running-away-from-home nightmare for the age of global terrorism. Marilyn Nevalainen, a pregnant teenager, decided to follow her boyfriend last year when he set out to wage jihad, leaving the lakes and forests of southwest Sweden for life under the Islamic State in the desert heat of Iraq.	瑞典马克市——在全球恐怖主义时代，这是一段离家出走的可怕经历。玛丽莲·内瓦莱宁(Marilyn Nevalainen)是一名怀孕的少女，去年在男友出发参加圣战的时候，她决定追随其步伐，离开瑞典南部的湖泊山林，前往伊拉克的酷热沙漠地区，在伊斯兰国(Islamic State)的统治下生活。
Apparently lacking any clear idea of what she was getting herself into, she ended up with militants near Mosul, with a new baby to care for and her boyfriend dead on an Iraqi battlefield.	内瓦莱宁显然不清楚她会遭遇什么，她最终加入摩苏尔附近的武装分子，同时还要照顾新生儿，而她的男友战死在了伊拉克战场上。
Remarkably, Nevalainen, now 16, and her infant son made it out alive. Much remains unknown about how she turned up two weeks ago in Kurdish-controlled northern Iraq, and she has not spoken publicly beyond a brief television interview in which she contended that she had followed her boyfriend without knowing "what ISIS means, what Islam is, nothing." She is now back in Sweden.	不可思议的是，现年16岁的内瓦莱宁和她还在襁褓中的儿子活了下来。她于两周前出现在由库尔德人控制的伊拉克北部地区，但过程不为人知。她除了接受简短的电视采访外，没有公开讲话。内瓦莱宁接受采访时称，她跟随男友前往伊拉克时并不知道“伊斯兰国是什么，伊斯兰教是什么，什么都不知道”。她现在已经回到瑞典。
Europe has been troubled for several years by the number of its young people who have run off to join the Islamic State, and it is increasingly concerned about the potential for them to come home to carry out terrorist acts in their native countries. Nevalainen stands out as a rare	几年来，不少年轻人离开家园加入伊斯兰国，这种情况令欧洲备受困扰，越来越担心他们可能有朝一日回国开展恐怖行动。内瓦莱宁的相关情况非常罕见，从而引人关注。她作为一名年轻的欧洲人，无意中进入圣战分子领地的核心，加入了伊斯兰国，最终却又获得自由。

case in which a young European went unwittingly into the heart of jihadi territory, ending up with the Islamic State, also known as ISIS, and was freed.
Her story seems less one of ideology than of teenage rebelliousness and naiveté gone awry in a world where, with a bit of determination, a young woman can travel unchallenged from Sweden to the war zones of the Middle East.	这更多的是一个叛逆、天真的少年误入歧途的故事，而不是有关意识形态的故事。在当今世界，年轻女性凭着一片决心，就可以畅通无阻地从瑞典前往中东战区。
The second of at least four daughters of Pasi and Ann-Kristin Nevalainen, she grew up in a village in Sweden's rural Mark municipality. It was a childhood troubled enough that her family voluntarily placed her in the care of a foster family, according to neighbors and social services officials.	帕西·内瓦莱宁和安-克里斯廷·内瓦莱宁(Pasi and Ann-Kristin Nevalainen)至少有四个女儿，内瓦莱宁是她们的第二个女儿，她在瑞典马克市的乡村地区长大。据邻居及社会服务官员透露，由于孩童时期麻烦不断，父母主动将她送到寄养家庭。
"She was a problem girl," said a longtime neighbor, who spoke on the condition that she be identified only as Annika. "She didn't like to go to school and the parents tried to help her, but they were too late and she went away. If she didn't get to do what she wanted, she rebelled."	"她是一个问题女孩，"一名老邻居说。"她不喜欢上学，父母试图帮助她，但为时已晚，她离开了。如果不能做自己想做的事情，她就会反抗。"这名邻居要求称她为安尼卡(Annika)。
Annika knew the Nevalainen family from when they lived in Lekvad, a hamlet of winding gravel roads, vast fields and few people. When night falls, the only lights are from the lanterns on distant farm porches.	安尼卡从内瓦莱宁一家住在乐瓦德时就认识了他们，这个小村庄有着蜿蜒的碎石路和大片的田地，但人很少。夜幕降临时，远处农场入口的灯笼是这里唯一的光亮。
By Nevalainen's account, given on Kurdish television once she was out of the Islamic State's territory, she dropped out of school when she was 14 and fell for her boyfriend, a Muslim from North Africa who was five years older and had immigrated to Sweden on his own by 2012, according to records from the Swedish migration board.	内瓦莱宁离开伊斯兰国的领地后出现在库尔德的电视节目中，她称自己14岁辍学，爱上了比她大五岁的男友。瑞典移民局的记录显示，这名来自北非的穆斯林于2012年独自移民到瑞典。
It was a little less than a year after they met that the pair left for Syria, in	两人在认识不到一年后就前往叙利亚，也就是在2015年的夏季。

the summer of 2015.
In a jarring video that appears to be addressed to her parents and was obtained by a Swedish tabloid, the Aftonbladet, a bearded young man who seems to be her boyfriend and identifies himself as Mokhtar Mohammed Ahmed speaks into the camera in Swedish, saying, "You can just forget about this little girl, because she is never coming back."	瑞典小报《晚报》(Aftonbladet)获得了一段似乎是寄给她父母的视频，在这段令人不安的视频中，一名貌似是她男友的蓄有胡须的年轻男子自称是穆赫塔尔·穆罕默德·艾哈迈德(Mokhtar Mohammed Ahmed)，他在镜头前用瑞典语说道，“你们可以忘了这个小姑娘，她永远不会回去了。”
The circumstances of how she eventually did come back remain unclear. Senior Kurdish officials say she was rescued on Feb. 17 by Kurdish special forces without a shot being fired. The officials said they were able to locate her using information derived from her occasional use of the Internet, but they offered no details.	目前尚不清楚她是如何回到瑞典的。库尔德高层官员表示，2月17日，库尔德特种部队在没有开火的情况下将她救出。这些官员表示，她偶尔使用互联网，他们由此得到一些信息，从而确定了她的位置，但没有透露细节。
A sheikh interviewed in the Kurdish city of Irbil said he had been approached to try to get her out by the girl's uncle, who he said worked for UNICEF. The sheikh said he had received photos of landmarks from Tel Keif, a village near Mosul, that Nevalainen was able to send to identify her whereabouts. He claimed he had been able to arrange her escape with smugglers and was supposed to be paid $35,000. He said that the next thing he knew, he saw the girl on television — and that he had never been paid.	一名部族首领在库尔德城市埃尔比勒接受采访时表示，内瓦莱宁的叔叔曾与他联系，试图救她，她的叔叔为联合国儿童基金会(Unicef)工作。这名部族首领表示，他收到有关摩苏尔附近村庄特凯夫的地标的照片，内瓦莱宁寄出了这些照片，以确认她所在的位置。他称自己能够安排她通过走私者逃离，并应为此获得3.5万美元的酬劳。他表示接下来就在电视上看到了她，没拿到那笔钱。
The release of foreigners by the Islamic State is rare; most cases have involved ransoms. Kurdish officials denied that any ransom was paid, and the Swedish government and the girl's parents have declined to provide any details.	伊斯兰国很少释放外国人；大多数情况都是为了赎金而释放相关人员。库尔德官员否认有人付了赎金，瑞典政府及女孩父母拒绝提供任何细节。
Kurdish officials said Ahmed was killed fighting in Ramadi, in western Iraq, sometime last fall. It is not clear if Nevalainen was forced to marry	库尔德官员表示，去年秋季的某个时候，艾哈迈德在伊拉克西部的拉马迪地区作战时死亡。目前尚不清楚，内瓦莱宁是否被迫嫁给另一名作战人员，或

another fighter or if she lived with other women.	是与其他女性一起生活。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160303/c03swedishgirl	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160303/c03swedishgirl
Money Given to Kenya, Since Stolen, Puts Nike in Spotlight	为与李宁竞争，耐克涉嫌贿赂肯尼亚田联
NAIROBI, Kenya — When a Chinese clothing company swooped in and offered to sponsor Kenya's famed runners, Nike panicked, Kenyan officials say.	肯尼亚内罗毕——肯尼亚官员说，当一家中国服装公司突然表示，可以为肯尼亚著名的赛跑运动员提供赞助时，耐克公司(Nike)急了。
"Can we talk about the situation?" a Nike executive wrote to a Kenyan official after hearing the news that the Kenyans wanted to end their deal with Nike. "You and I go back a long way."	"我们能不能谈谈这个情况?"一名耐克高管在听到肯尼亚人想结束与公司的合同后，给该国官员去信说。"咱们的关系可不是一时两时了。"
What followed — according to email exchanges, letters, bank records and invoices, provided by a former employee of Kenya's athletics federation — has led to a major scandal in Kenya, a country in the midst of its biggest war against corruption in years.	据肯尼亚田径协会的一名前雇员提供的电子邮件对话记录、信件、银行记录及费用清单，接下来的事已经发展成为肯尼亚的一大丑闻，这个国家正在进行多年来最大规模的一次反腐败行动。
In a contract signed several years ago, Nike agreed to pay hundreds of thousands of dollars in honorariums and a one-time $500,000 "commitment bonus," which the former employee called a bribe.	在几年前签的合同中，耐克同意支付数十万美元的专家酬谢金、以及一笔50万美元的一次性"承诺奖金"，该前雇员称这是贿赂金。
The money was supposed to be used to help train and support poor Kenyan athletes who dream of running their way out of poverty.	这笔钱本应用于培训和支持贫困的肯尼亚选手，帮他们实现通过赛跑摆脱贫困的梦想。
Instead, it was immediately sucked out of the federation's bank account by a handful of Kenyan officials and kept off the books.	现在却被几名肯尼亚官员从联合会的银行账户立刻抽走，并没有记录到账上。
Nike has denied any wrongdoing, saying in a statement that its payments were intended to help athletes, and it does not appear to be under investigation by U.S. authorities.	耐克否认有任何不法行为，公司在一份声明中说，这笔支付款的目的是为了帮助运动员，公司看来也没有受到美国当局的调查。
But Kenyan authorities are suspicious. They have opened an extensive investigation, and all three Kenyan athletics officials accused of taking	但肯尼亚当局觉得此事可疑。他们已经开始了一个大范围的调查，所有三名被指控收受耐克贿赂的肯尼亚田径官员都已停职。肯尼亚刑事调查部门

money from Nike have been suspended. Investigators with Kenya's Directorate of Criminal Investigations said they had asked Nike repeatedly to provide more information. So far, they say, Nike has refused.	(Directorate of Criminal Investigations)的调查人员说，他们已多次要求耐克提供更多的信息。他们说，耐克到目前为止一直拒绝提供。
"Why was such a huge sum of money paid as commitment?" said one of the detectives, who spoke on the condition of anonymity because he was not authorized to speak publicly. "It's only Nike who can tell us."	"为什么这么一大笔钱是以承诺费的形式支付的?"其中一名调查人员问道，因为没有得到公开发表评论的授权，他要求在本文中匿名。"这只有耐克才能告诉我们。"
John Githongo, one of Kenya's leading voices against corruption, said the U.S. government should pick up this case and "run with it."	在肯尼亚积极倡导反腐败的约翰·吉松戈(John Githongo)表示，美国政府应该调查这件事，而且要"一查到底"。
For more than 20 years, Nike Inc. has been paying the Kenyan national runners' association millions of dollars in exchange for the Kenyans wearing Nike's signature swoosh, superb advertising in the running world.	二十多年来，耐克公司向肯尼亚的国家长跑运动员协会提供了数百万美元，以此换取让肯尼亚运动员穿着有耐克标志的服装和鞋，成为在长跑界的极佳广告。
Kenyan athletes were so outraged when they learned in November that hundreds of thousands of dollars from Nike had been stolen by their bigwigs that they staged a protest at their headquarters in Nairobi, with elite athletes camped out in the grass and holding up signs that read "blood sucers." (Some of the runners never finished school.)	去年11月，在得知来自耐克的几十万美元被协会要人盗用之后，愤怒的肯尼亚运动员在内罗毕的协会总部外举行了一场抗议，一些顶尖运动员在草地上安营扎寨，还举着带有拼写错误的"吸血鬼"字样的牌子。(有些运动员未曾完成中小学学业。)
Now, one question the Kenyan detectives are trying to answer is whether Nike intentionally made it easy for the officials to pocket the money.	如今，肯尼亚调查人员试图回答的一个问题是，耐克是否故意为官员把钱装进自己的口袋提供了方便。
U.S. diplomats in Nairobi, Kenya's capital, said that the U.S. government would be willing to investigate any credible allegations of corruption by U.S. companies, but that they had no specific knowledge of the Nike deal beyond what had been reported in the Kenyan and international	在肯尼亚首都内罗毕的美国外交官说，美国政府愿意就任何对美国公司腐败的可信指控进行调查，但他们目前掌握的情况仅限于肯尼亚和国际新闻报道的有关耐克合同的具体细节。 press.

The allegations go back to 2009, when Kenyan officials, according to the email chain, accused Nike of treating Kenya as a “dumping ground” for substandard Nike clothing.	这些指控回溯到 2009 年，据一连串的电子邮件显示，当时肯尼亚官员指责耐克将肯尼亚作为处理不合格耐克服装的“垃圾倾倒地”。
But those complaints may have been a ruse by Kenyan officials to get out of the Nike contract so they could receive a bribe from another company, said a member of the executive board of Kenya's track and field federation, known as Athletics Kenya.	但是，名为“田径肯尼亚”(Athletics Kenya)的肯尼亚田径联合会的一名执行董事说，这些抱怨可能是肯尼亚官员与耐克解除合同的脱身之计，让他们能够从另一家公司接受贿赂，。
Soon after complaining to Nike, officials at Kenya's running federation struck a new sponsorship deal with the Li-Ning Co., a Chinese sports empire founded by a famous gymnast, Li Ning. A marketing agent, working as a middleman between the Chinese company and the Kenyan federation, then sent nearly $200,000 to Athletics Kenya, money that a top official quickly withdrew.	在向耐克投诉后不久，肯尼亚长跑联合会的官员与李宁有限公司达成了新的赞助协议，这是一家由著名体操运动员李宁创立的中国体育产品巨头。一位在这家中国公司和肯尼亚联合会之间担任中间人的营销代理，在签约后支付给田径肯尼亚近 20 万美元，联合会的一位高级官员很快把这笔钱取走了。
The sports-marketing agent who made the payment, Papa Massata Diack, was recently banned for life by the International Association of Athletics Federations, a global governing body for track and field. Both he and his father, Lamine Diack, a former head of the international athletics association, are under investigation by French authorities in connection with several allegations, including blackmail and bribery.	支付了这笔钱的上述体育营销代理是帕帕·马萨塔·迪亚克(Papa Massata Diack)，他最近已被全球田径管理机构国际田径协会联盟终身取消资格。法国当局正在调查他和他的父亲、曾经担任国际田径协会负责人的拉明·迪亚克(Lamine Diack)，他们与多项指控有关，包括勒索和贿赂。
The Kenyan officials even began talking about designing new Li-Ning uniforms, but they soon learned that shaking off the Nike sponsorship deal was harder than they thought.	肯尼亚官员甚至已开始讨论设计新的李宁制服的事情，但他们很快了解到，摆脱耐克的赞助合同比他们认为的要难。
After they received a letter from a Nike lawyer saying there were no legal grounds to terminate the contract, the Kenyan officials abruptly	耐克公司的律师发函称，终止合同是缺乏法律依据的，肯尼亚官员收到信后突然改变口风。双方洽谈了一份新合同，耐克公司同意每年向田径肯尼亚支

changed course. They negotiated a new contract in which Nike agreed to pay Athletics Kenya an annual sponsorship fee of $1.3 million to $1.5 million – plus $100,000 honorariums each year and a one-time $500,000 “commitment bonus.”	付 130 万到 150 万美元的赞助费——外加每年 10 万美元的酬金和一次性 50 万美元的“签约奖金”。
“Whenever I see the words ‘commitment fees,’ ‘commitment bonuses,’ ‘access fees,’ ‘access bonuses,’ that for me raises a red flag,” said Githongo, a consultant who once headed an anti-corruption unit within the Kenyan government but quit – and fled the country for several years – after death threats. “It’s language used to dress up bribes traditionally.”	“每当我看到‘签约费’、‘签约奖金’、‘续费费’、‘续费奖金’这样的词，就会警觉起来，这些历来都是贿赂的婉转说法。”顾问吉松戈说。他曾是肯尼亚政府反腐败机构负责人，在收到死亡威胁后辞了职，逃离该国数年之久。
Nike executives refused to discuss the contract, issuing a short statement that the money paid to Athletics Kenya was supposed to support the athletes. It said that Nike conducted business with integrity and that “we are cooperating with the local authorities in their investigation,” a point the Kenyan detectives dispute.	耐克高管拒绝讨论这份合同，并发布了一份简短声明，称支付给田径肯尼亚的钱应该是用来帮助运动员的。声明说，耐克公司诚信经营，“正在配合地方当局的调查工作”，但肯尼亚的调查人员说不是这么回事。
Several analysts said Nike could not afford to lose the Kenyans. Running is integral to Nike’s brand – Nike’s founders made some of their first running shoe treads on waffle irons in the 1970s. And Kenyans are integral to running.	一些分析师说，如果失去肯尼亚的合同，耐克会大伤元气。公司创始人在 1970 年代用华夫饼铛制作了最早跑鞋鞋底——跑步是耐克品牌不可或缺的一部分。而肯尼亚人又是跑步运动不可或缺的。
In the documents, Nike provided detailed instructions on how the $100,000 yearly honorarium was to be used (to cover travel costs and phone bills, among other things). No details were provided for the commitment bonus, though, even after the former employee, who worked as an administrative assistant and in other jobs at Athletics Kenya for more than 10 years, wrote to a Nike executive asking him.	在文件中，耐克提供了每年 10 万美元酬金如何使用的详细说明（支付旅费和电话费等等）。但对签约奖金却没有提供任何细节，即使那名在田径肯尼亚担任行政助理和其他职务 10 多年的前雇员，在写信询问耐克高管之后也仍未澄清。

In a sworn statement provided to Kenyan investigators, the former assistant said the $500,000 commitment bonus was “bribe money from Nike” so that the top officials could pay back the $200,000 from the scuttled deal with the Chinese company and then make even more by agreeing to sign up again with Nike. The former administrative assistant requested that his name not be revealed, saying it was extremely dangerous to expose high-level corruption in Kenya — a sentiment shared by others.	在向肯尼亚调查人员提供的宣誓声明中，这名前助理说，50 万美元的签约奖金是“耐克的贿赂款”，高级官员同意与耐克续约，不仅能偿还与中国公司交易泡汤牵扯的 20 万美元，还能赚更多的钱。这位前行政助理不愿具名，他说，揭露肯尼亚高层腐败问题极其危险——其他人也有相同的看法。
“Put that away! You could get killed for that!” exclaimed a member of Athletics Kenya's board, his eyes widening when a reporter pulled out the amended contract from Nike listing the $500,000 commitment bonus during an interview at a quiet Nairobi restaurant.	“赶紧收起来！这东西能要了你的命！”田径肯尼亚的一名董事惊呼。当时他正在内罗毕一家安静的餐厅接受采访，当记者拿出那份修改后列有 50 万美元签约奖金的耐克合同时，他瞪大了眼睛。
The board member said he, too, had received death threats for speaking out about corruption and asked that his name not be used.	这名董事表示，他也收到了死亡威胁，揭露腐败就会送命。他要求不具名。
Analysts said this case was especially tricky because it did not appear to fall under the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, the U.S. law that covers crimes involving U.S. companies and foreign government officials. The Kenyan running association, while it receives some government money, is not a Kenyan government agency. “The world of sports has evolved in a governance hole,” said Roger Pielke Jr., a political scientist at the University of Colorado.	分析人士表示，本案尤为棘手，因为美国虽然有一部涉及美国公司和外国政府官员犯罪的《反海外腐败法》(Foreign Corrupt Practices Act)，但本案却似乎不属于它的管辖范围。田径肯尼亚虽然收过政府的一些钱，却不是肯尼亚的政府机构。“体育世界是在一个治理真空中演化的，”科罗拉多大学 (University of Colorado) 政治学家小罗杰·皮尔克 (Roger Pielke Jr.) 说。
He noted that sports federations, like Athletics Kenya and FIFA, international soccer's governing body, which is embroiled in its own corruption saga, often fell between the cracks of the rules that governed businesses, public agencies and traditional nonprofit	他指出，像田径肯尼亚和国际足联(FIFA)这样的体育联合会，尽管拥有企业、公共机构和传统非营利组织的特点，却往往不受这三者的治理规则的管辖。作为国际足球管理机构的国际足联已经深陷腐败丑闻。 organizations, even though sports federations have qualities of all three.

Pielke said bribery, embezzlement and “unsavory, improper business practices” were common.	皮尔克说，贿赂、挪用公款和“令人讨厌的不正当商业行为”很常见。
“I hear it all the time from sporting officials,” he said. “To survive in this world, these are the rules of the game.”	“我经常从体育官员那里听说这些事，”他说。“为了在这个世界上生存，这些就是游戏规则。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160307/c07kenya	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160307/c07kenya
Ex-President of Brazil, Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva, Faces Charges	巴西前总统卢拉涉洗钱遭指控
Prosecutors filed charges on Wednesday against former President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva, one of Brazil’s most prominent political figures, shaking the country’s already anxious political establishment.	周三，巴西检方对前总统路易斯·伊纳西奥·卢拉·达席尔瓦(Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva)提起指控。达席尔瓦是巴西最重量级的政坛人物之一，此举撼动了本已处于焦虑之中的该国政治权贵。
The charges, brought by prosecutors in São Paulo State, are connected to claims of money laundering and misrepresentation of assets involving a luxury apartment in the beachfront city of Guarujá. It is unclear what the specific charges are.	指控由圣保罗州的检方提出，涉及洗钱行为，以及与海滨城市瓜鲁雅的一套豪华公寓有关的资产瞒报。具体的罪名则尚不明朗。
Federal investigators say that Mr. da Silva effectively acquired the property, a claim he denies, and that O.A.S., a construction company, paid for improvements at the apartment with funds that may have come from the giant graft scheme at Petrobras, the national oil company.	联邦检察部门称，达席尔瓦实际上购入了这处房产，而公寓的整修费用则由OAS 建筑公司支付，其中的钱款可能来自巴西国家石油公司(Petrobras)的巨额贪腐案。
The charges came after Mr. da Silva, 70, was held for questioning and his home raided by the police last week.	在提出指控之前，现年70岁的达席尔瓦上周被警方扣押问话，他的家也遭到了突击搜查。
While a judge still needs to decide whether to accept the charges and put Mr. da Silva on trial, the positioning of the former president at the center of the Petrobras scandal is focusing scrutiny on him — and his handpicked successor, President Dilma Rousseff. Mr. da Silva, who was	目前仍需由法官裁定是否接受检方指控并让达席尔瓦受审，不过，将这位前总统推至巴西国家石油公司丑闻的中心意味着，他本人及其亲手选定的继任者迪尔玛·罗塞夫(Dilma Rousseff)正成为调查的焦点。在2003年到2010年间，达席尔瓦担任巴西总统，目前也仍在执政的左翼劳工党中拥有无可匹

president from 2003 to 2010, still wields unrivaled sway in the governing leftist Workers Party. Mr. da Silva's supporters have condemned the legal maneuvering against him, contending it is part of a media conspiracy to oust Ms. Rousseff and prevent Mr. da Silva from running again in 2018.	敌的影响力。支持达席尔瓦的人士一直谴责针对他的法律行动，认为这是媒体阴谋的一部分，目的是逼迫罗塞夫下台并阻止达席尔瓦在 2018 年再次竞选总统。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160310/c10brazil	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160310/c10brazil
Iran Tests More Missiles in Message to Israel and Biden	伊朗试射两枚导弹，意在震慑敌对国家
TEHRAN, Iran — The Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps of Iran conducted a second successive day of missile tests Wednesday, firing two rockets that it said hit targets more than 850 miles away.	伊朗德黑兰——周三，伊朗伊斯兰革命卫队连续第二天进行导弹试射，射出两枚导弹，击中了超过 850 英里（约合 1370 公里）之外的目标。
The missiles were launched from the eastern part of the Alborz mountain range that hugs the Caspian Sea in northern Iran, the semiofficial news agency Tasnim reported.	半官方通讯社 Tasnim 报道称，导弹是从位于伊朗北部环绕里海的厄尔布尔士山脉东部射出的。
While Iran has riled conservative critics of last summer's nuclear deal with a succession of missile tests, it is not clear whether the latest activity violates any proscriptions.	尽管伊朗一系列导弹试射的举动，惹恼了去年夏天核协议的保守派批评者，但并不清楚最新的举动是不是违反了任何禁令。
Before the signing of the accord with the United States and international powers, Iran was barred under U.N. Security Council Resolution 1929 from any work on ballistic missiles capable of carrying nuclear warheads. That resolution was revoked with the nuclear deal and replaced by Security Council Resolution 2231, which "calls upon" Iran to abstain from such activity.	在与美国和其他世界大国签署协议之前，伊朗受到联合国安理会 1929 号决议的约束，不得研发任何可以携带核弹头的弹道导弹。在核协议签署后，该项决议已被撤销并由安理会 2231 号决议取而代之，后者“呼吁”伊朗克制此类活动。
Tehran says that it has a right to pursue defensive weapons systems and that, since it has given up any semblance of a nuclear program, it cannot in any event be working on a nuclear capability.	德黑兰方面表示，伊朗有权研发防御性武器系统，而且该国已经放弃了任何类似核计划的活动，无论何种情况下都无法研发核能力。

"We have huge reserves of various range ballistic missiles that are ready to target enemies and their aims, at any time, from different points of the country," Brig. Gen. Hossein Salami, the deputy commander of the Revolutionary Guards, told reporters on the sidelines of the missile-firing drills in Kavir, Qum province, the semiofficial Fars news agency reported.	半官方的法尔斯通讯社报道称，在导弹试射演练的间隙，革命卫队副司令侯赛因·萨拉米准将(Brig. Gen. Hossein Salami)在库姆省卡维尔表示，“我们拥有射程各异的大量远程弹道导弹，随时准备从全国不同地点瞄准敌人和目标。”
The Obama administration concluded that an earlier round of missile tests in the fall violated the new resolution and prepared a list of sanctions against individuals and businesses involved in the launchings. It then infuriated congressional Republicans by delaying its application until after the nuclear deal went into effect.	奥巴马政府认定，去年秋天举行的上一轮导弹试射违反了新的决议，而且对参与发射的个人和企业准备了一系列制裁措施。但奥巴马政府直到核协议生效后才开始实施制裁，这让国会的共和党人怒不可遏。
The administration has not yet said whether it believes these tests violate the resolution. A State Department official said the matter would be raised at the Security Council, and congressional Republicans promised to introduce new sanctions against Iran.	奥巴马政府尚未表示，是否认为这些试射行动违反了决议。国务院一位官员表示，将会在安理会提及此议题，国会共和党人则承诺会针对伊朗推出新的制裁。
Iranian commanders seemed to go out of their way to antagonize Western governments, as well as to impress upon regional rivals like Saudi Arabia the extent of their arsenal.	伊朗军方似乎是在刻意地激怒西方国家的政府，并试图凭借本国强盛的武力，来让沙特阿拉伯等地区竞争对手刮目相看。
"Taking into account that Hezbollah has stored more than 100,000 missiles," Salami said, "the Islamic Republic possesses 10 times more missiles of different types, and its power is unlimited."	"如果估算真主党(Hezbollah)手中有逾 10 万枚导弹库存，"萨拉米说。"那么伊斯兰共和国拥有的各种导弹就有十倍，而且其威力是无限的。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160310/c10iran	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160310/c10iran
ISIS Detainee Tells U.S. of Militants' Plan to Use Mustard Gas	美国抓获 ISIS 化学武器专家
WASHINGTON — An Islamic State detainee currently in U.S. custody at a temporary detention facility in Erbil, Iraq, is a specialist in chemical	华盛顿——伊斯兰国的一名化学武器专家被美国抓获，目前收押在伊拉克埃尔比勒的一个临时羁押场所。国防部官员称，美军人员正就此逊尼派武装组

weapons whom U.S. military officials are questioning about the militant Sunni group's plans to use the banned substances in Iraq and Syria, defense officials said.	织欲使用违禁物质袭击伊拉克和叙利亚的计划，对此人进行审讯。
The detainee was identified by officials as Sleiman Daoud al-Afari, a chemical and biological weapons expert who once worked for Saddam Hussein's Military Industrialization Authority.	美国官员称，这名被扣押人员名为苏莱曼·达吾德·阿法里(Sleiman Daoud al-Afari)，曾在萨达姆·侯赛因(Saddam Hussein)的军事工业化管理局(Military Industrialization Authority)担任生化武器专家。
Al-Afari, described by the military as a "significant" Islamic State operative was captured a month ago by commandos in an elite American Special Operations force, has, under interrogation, provided his captors with details about how the group had weaponized mustard gas into powdered form and loaded it into artillery shells, the officials said.	美军形容阿法里是伊斯兰国的“重要”人员。他于一个月前被美军一支特种部队的精英突击队抓获。美军官员称，他在接受讯问时，向看守他的人员详细供述了，伊斯兰国如何将芥子气制作成粉末，并装载到导弹弹壳里。
One official said the gas was not concentrated enough to kill anyone, but that it could maim people.	一位官员说，该化学气体的浓度还不足以致命，但能使人致残。
As is protocol, Defense Department officials notified the International Committee of the Red Cross, which monitors the treatment of detainees, that they were holding an Islamic State fighter. The Red Cross acknowledged in a statement on Tuesday that it had visited the detainee but gave no other information.	美国国防部官员依照条约，向负责监督在押人员有否受到虐待的国际红十字会(International Committee of the Red Cross)，通报了美军收押一名伊斯兰国战斗人员的情况。国际红十字会在周二发出的一份声明称，已对犯人进行了探视，除此之外没有透露其他信息。
Defense Department officials insist that the United States has no plans to hold the detainee or any other captives indefinitely, and that they would be handed over to the Iraqi and Kurdish authorities after they had been interviewed. The officials say they did not intend to establish a long-term U.S. facility to hold Islamic State detainees, and Obama administration officials have ruled out sending any to the United States	国防部官员坚称，美国并无计划长期关押抓获的囚犯和其他人员，这些人员将在讯问之后，交给伊拉克和库尔德当局。官员还表示，美国无意建立长期的关押场所来囚禁这些人员，奥巴马政府官员也排除了把他们送到位于古巴关塔那摩湾的美军监狱的可能性。

military prison at Guantánamo Bay, Cuba.
Al-Afari was captured last month, shortly after the arrival in Iraq of a new Special Operations force that is made up primarily of Delta Force commandos. They are the first major U.S. combat force on the ground there since the United States pulled out of the country at the end of 2011.	阿法里于上个月被抓获，这发生在美军一支特种部队抵达伊拉克后不久。这支队伍主要由三角洲部队(Delta Force)的成员组成，他们自 2011 年美军撤离伊拉克之后，第一支返伊的美军主要地面部队。
Before this, the U.S. military has largely fought the Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL, with airstrikes, killing large numbers of Islamic State fighters in Iraq and Syria. But the 200-member Special Operations team has been given the task of killing and capturing Islamic State operatives, the latter in particular to use in gathering intelligence.	在此之前，美军对伊斯兰国（又称 ISIS 或 ISIL）主要采用空袭的方式进行打击，在伊拉克和叙利亚击毙了大量伊斯兰国作战人员。但这支 200 人的特种部队，此次执行的任务是击毙或抓获伊斯兰国的作战人员，后者主要目的是收集情报。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160310/c10military	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160310/c10military
Obama and Canada's Justin Trudeau Promote Ties and Climate Plan	加拿大总理“破冰”访美，与奥巴马谈减排合作
WASHINGTON — Justin Trudeau, the prime minister of Canada, met with President Barack Obama on Thursday for the first official visit by a Canadian leader in 19 years, a diplomatic honor made possible in part by new pledges of cooperation on combating climate change.	华盛顿——加拿大总理贾斯汀·特鲁多(Justin Trudeau)周四与奥巴马总统举行会晤，这是加拿大领导人 19 年来首次正式访问美国。这一外交荣誉之所以成为可能，还要部分归因于为对抗气候变化而加强合作的新承诺。
Obama and Trudeau announced Thursday morning new commitments to reduce planet-warming emissions of methane, a chemical contained in natural gas that is about 25 times as potent as carbon dioxide and that can leak from drilling wells and pipelines.	奥巴马和特鲁多周四早晨宣布了减少甲烷排放的新承诺。甲烷会造成地球变暖，天然气中含有这种化学物质，其变暖效应约为二氧化碳的 25 倍，它可能从油气井和管道中泄漏出来。
In a joint statement, the leaders promised that their two countries would “play a leadership role internationally in the low carbon global economy over the coming decades.” As part of the announcement, United States officials said they would immediately begin a new push to	两位领导人在联合声明中承诺，两国将“在未来几十年中，在低碳全球经济领域发挥国际领导作用”。作为声明的一部分，美国官员表示，他们会立即开始推动新举措，监管现有石油和天然气设施排放的甲烷，不过在奥巴马任期结束之前完成这一工作的可能性不大。

regulate methane emissions from existing oil and gas facilities, though finishing that process before the end of Obama's tenure is unlikely.
"Methane is upwards of 20 times more potent than carbon dioxide in warming the planet," said Gina McCarthy, the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. "It has become clear that it is time for the EPA to take additional action to regulate existing sources in the oil and gas sector."	"就导致地球变暖而言，甲烷的威力比二氧化碳的20倍都高，"国家环境保护局(Environmental Protection Agency)局长吉娜·麦卡锡(Gina McCarthy)说。"很明显，环保局是时候采取一些新的措施，监管石油和天然气行业现有的甲烷来源了。"
Obama and Trudeau also pledged new cooperation in preserving the Arctic and focusing on biodiversity, science-based decision-making, indigenous people and building a sustainable Arctic economy. The two nations also promised to accelerate the carrying out of agreements made in climate talks in Paris last year.	奥巴马和特鲁多还宣称，会采取新的合作保护北冰洋，同时关注生物多样性、原住民、基于科学作出决策，以及建立一个可持续的北冰洋经济。两个国家还承诺，要加速实施去年巴黎气候会议签署的协议。
While Canada and the United States have long been close allies, Obama's efforts to confront global warming had become a major point of contention with Trudeau's predecessor, Stephen Harper, who sought to aggressively expand Canada's oil industry.	尽管加拿大和美国是长期的盟友，但奥巴马抗击全球变暖的努力，却是与特鲁多之前的上一任总理史蒂芬·哈珀(Stephen Harper)产生分歧的一个重要原因。哈珀曾大力扩张加拿大的石油产业。
As Obama became more determined to leave behind a lasting environmental legacy, he delayed and eventually rejected construction of the Keystone XL pipeline, which would have transported nearly a million barrels a day of heavily polluting oil from Alberta to refineries on the Gulf Coast.	随着奥巴马在环境领域留下持久政治遗产的愿望愈发笃定，他拖延了Keystone XL管线的建设，并最终将其否决。这条管线本来可以每天把近100万桶污染影响极强的原油，从加拿大艾伯塔省输送到墨西哥湾沿岸。
Obama's rejection of the pipeline severely strained relations with Harper.	奥巴马否决这条管线的举动，严重影响了他与哈珀的关系。
But Trudeau's election last year signaled a shift in policy that was welcomed by the White House. Trudeau did not criticize Obama's	但是特鲁多去年的当选，传递出了政策转变的信号，这受到了白宫的欢迎。特鲁多并没有批评奥巴马否决管线的做法，特鲁多宣称会奉行与奥巴马政策

rejection of the pipeline, and Trudeau has pledged to pursue an ambitious environmental agenda to coincide with Obama's policies.	相符的雄心勃勃的环保议程。
The two leaders will meet privately on Thursday to discuss military cooperation, efforts to combat terrorism, improvements in trade and environmental concerns.	两位领导人将于周四私下磋商，讨论军事合作、打击恐怖主义、促进贸易及环境议题。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160311/c11prexy	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160311/c11prexy
As India Collaborates With Japan on Islands, It Looks to Check China	反制中国海上活动，印度日本在印度洋联手
PORT BLAIR, India — India and Japan are in talks to collaborate on upgrading civilian infrastructure in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, an Indian archipelago seen as a critical asset to counter China's efforts to expand its maritime reach into the Indian Ocean.	印度布莱尔港——印度和日本正在讨论有关改善安达曼和尼科巴群岛民用基础设施的合作事宜，为了反制将海上活动范围扩展至印度洋的中国，这个群岛将是一个关键。
The first project being discussed is a modest one: a 15-megawatt diesel power plant on South Andaman Island, as described in a proposal submitted late last month to the Japanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs.	讨论的首个项目规模并不大：上个月早些时候提交给日本外务省的方案计划在南安达曼岛建造一座 15 兆瓦的柴油发电厂。
But the collaboration signals a significant policy shift for India, which has not previously accepted offers of foreign investment in the archipelago. The Andaman and Nicobar Islands are northwest of the Strait of Malacca, offering control of a so-called choke point that is one of China's greatest marine vulnerabilities.	但此次合作预示着印度的一项重大政策转变，印度之前没有接受针对该群岛的外部投资。安达曼和尼科巴群岛位于马六甲海峡西北部，可以对一个所谓的阻塞点进行控制——那是中国最大的海上软肋之一。
It is testimony to the unfolding relationship between India and Japan, which is also funding a $744 million road building project in the northeastern Indian border regions of Mizoram, Assam and Meghalaya. Like the Andaman and Nicobar chain, the northeastern region is a strategic area that has remained relatively undeveloped because of its separation from the mainland.	这也证明了印度与日本关系的演变，日本还为耗资 7.44 亿美元的筑路项目提供资金，在印度东北部的米佐拉姆邦、阿萨姆邦、梅加拉亚邦边境地区修建道路。就像安达曼和尼科巴群岛一样，东北部地区也属于战略区域，但由于与大陆分离，该地区发展相对落后。

Japan's marshaling of official development assistance in the region has drawn less attention than the effort that China calls "One Belt, One Road," a network of roads, railways and ports intended to link China to the rest of Asia and to Europe.	与中国的“一带一路”——通过公路、铁路及港口网将中国与亚洲其他地方及欧洲连接——相比，日本在该地区的官方发展援助举措没有引起那么多的关注。
But it fits logically into the web of strategic projects taking shape as Prime Minister Narendra Modi of India enters into closer relationships with Japan, Australia and the United States, as well as regional powers like Vietnam, to counter China's growing influence.	随着印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)与日本、澳大利亚、美国及越南等亚洲大国建立更紧密的关系，以对抗中国日益增加的影响力，一张战略计划的网络正在形成，而上述项目与该战略是相契合的。
A senior Indian official, who spoke on the condition of anonymity to discuss internal deliberations, said that China's project would be answered by "a more decentralized, local but organic response."	一名印度高层官员表示，中国的计划得到的将是“更加分散、区域化但有组织的回应”。由于讨论涉及内部的商谈细节，这名官员要求匿名。
The official described proposed infrastructure projects in the Andamans as "not of a big scale, and not of a big value," but added that New Delhi was intent on developing its "frontier" regions.	这名官员称安达曼群岛的基础设施计划的“规模和价值不是很大”，但还表示新德里计划发展“边境”地区。
"The idea that the frontier should be left undeveloped, I think people have rejected that approach," the official said. "There is a realization that it doesn't help to leave part of any part of India undeveloped."	“有人认为不应该开发边境地区，我觉得人们反对这种做法，”这名官员说。“人们意识到印度任何地方发展落后都没有好处。”
Japan's vision for contributions in the island chain goes far beyond the proposed power plant. The plan was submitted in Tokyo more than a year after Japan's ambassador made a visit to Port Blair on South Andaman Island and, in a meeting with the territory's top official, offered financing for "bridges and ports."	日本针对该群岛的援助计划远不止发电厂项目。日本大使曾访问位于南安达曼岛的布莱尔港口，与该地区最高官员举行会晤，并提出愿意提供资金建造“桥梁和港口”。一年多以后，东京方面收到了上述方案。
Akio Isomata, minister for economic affairs in the Japanese Embassy, said the country's aid agency, Japan International Cooperation Agency, could only respond to "formal requests" from the Indian government.	日本大使馆经济事务部长明尾伊桑(Akio Isomata, 音)表示，该国的援助机构国际协力机构(Japan International Cooperation Agency)只能回应印度政府的“正式请求”。

He added that Japan would consider “any other requests” on the Andaman and Nicobar chain or elsewhere and was eager to use official development assistance to enhance India’s “connectivity” with countries that are members of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations or the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation.	他还表示，日本会考虑有关安达曼和尼科巴群岛或其他地方的“其他请求”，并迫切希望利用官方发展援助计划增加印度与东南亚国家联盟(Association of Southeast Asian Nations)或南亚区域合作联盟(South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation)成员国的“联系”。
“We usually start with small projects and go bigger,” he said.	“我们通常从小项目开始，然后扩大规模，”他说。
He said construction of the power station could start in the next fiscal year, which begins in April.	他表示，发电厂的建设工作会从下一财年开始，也就是4月。
The Andaman and Nicobar chain is made up of 572 islands, a vast majority of them uninhabited, stretching around 470 miles north to south.	安达曼和尼科巴群岛由572个岛屿组成，从北向南跨越大约470英里，其中大部分岛屿无人居住。
Used as a penal colony by the British Raj, the island chain was occupied by Japan for three years during World War II, a period that older islanders recall with dread. Jawaharlal Nehru, the prime minister of India at the time, secured the archipelago for his country in the distribution of property that accompanied the British withdrawal from the subcontinent, beating out bids by Australia and Pakistan.	该群岛在英国殖民时期被当作流放地，二战期间被日本占领了三年，年长的岛民回忆称那是一段恐怖时期。随着英国退出印度次大陆，时任印度总理贾瓦哈拉尔·尼赫鲁(Jawaharlal Nehru)在财产分配过程中压倒澳大利亚和巴基斯坦，为印度获得该群岛。
The islands’ importance has increased along with China’s naval expansion. The chain’s location makes it an ideal base for tracking naval movements in the Strait of Malacca, a long, narrow funnel between Malaysia and Indonesia. The strait provides passage for China’s fuel imports from Africa and the Middle East, around 80 percent of its total fuel imports.	随着中国的海上扩张，这些岛屿变得愈发重要。该群岛地理位置优越，是跟踪马六甲海峡海上行动的理想基地，马六甲海峡是位于马来西亚与印度尼西亚之间的狭长通道。非洲及中东进口燃料经由该海峡运往中国，占中国燃料进口总量的大约80%。
Nevertheless, change has come slowly to the islands, where almost all the undeveloped land is set aside for indigenous tribes and wildlife. A	尽管如此，这些岛屿慢慢发生改变，几乎所有未开发的岛屿都被留给当地土著和野生动物。有一项计划已经讨论了十多年，即从印度东海岸金奈市开始

plan to lay undersea optical fiber cable from Chennai on India's east coast, so that residents can finally have high-speed Internet access, has been under discussion for more than a decade. Until last year, no flights landed after dark because there were no runway lights at the Port Blair airport.	铺设海底光缆，以便居民享受高速互联网接入。布莱尔港口机场直到去年才开始有天黑以后降落的航班，因为此前没有跑道灯。
Defense analysts from the West regard the island chain with envy and a degree of confusion.	对于这道岛链，西方防务分析人士的态度是羡慕中也有一丝困惑。
"Almost every year, I see some senior Indian military official say we have major, major plans in store for the Andamans, and you're going to see them soon," said Jeff M. Smith, author of "Cold Peace," a book on the Chinese-Indian rivalry. "Everybody waits for the big story to hit on the Andamans, year after year, and it doesn't happen."	"我几乎每年都听到一些印度高级军官说，我们对安达曼群岛有非常重要、非常重要的计划，你们很快就会知道，"《冷和平：21世纪的中印竞争》(Cold Peace)作者杰夫·M·史密斯(Jeff M. Smith)说。"每个人都等待安达曼群岛发生大事，但年复一年，什么也没发生。"
A decision to accept Japanese investment there, he said, "would be a sign that the Modi government is getting out of this feedback loop and moving on some of these aspirations."	他表示，接受日本对该地区的投资的决定"预示着莫迪政府正在摆脱这种循环，朝着其中一些目标前进"。
India has taken "serious note" of the presence of Chinese submarines in the Indian Ocean in recent years, Adm. Robin K. Dhowan, the chief of India's navy staff, told a news channel in 2014. In January, India announced that it would deploy Israeli-made aerial "Searcher" drones and two Boeing P-8I maritime surveillance aircraft, developed for anti-submarine warfare, to the Andaman and Nicobar chain.	2014年，印度海军参谋长罗宾·K·多万上将(Adm. Robin K. Dhowan)接受新闻频道采访时说，印度已经"特别注意"中国潜艇近些年来在印度洋出没的情况。今年1月，印度宣布该国将在安达曼和尼科巴群岛部署以色列生产的"搜索者"(Searcher)无人机和两架为反潜战研发的波音 P-8I 海上侦察机。
Airstrips at the northern and southern tips of the archipelago are being lengthened to accommodate the long-range surveillance planes.	该群岛北端及南端的简易跑道正在扩建，以适应远程侦察机的需要。
Japan is hardly the only country interested in taking a role in developing the island chain. India and the United States are said to be	日本并不是唯一对推动群岛发展感兴趣的國家。防务分析人士表示，印度和美国据称即将达成一项海上后勤协议，这意味着美国船只未来可能获准停靠

close to concluding a maritime logistics agreement, meaning that U.S. ships might be allowed to make port calls in the Andaman and Nicobar Islands in the future, defense analysts say.	安达曼和尼科巴群岛的港口。
The chain's location provides a "perfect geographic position" for maritime aerial surveillance, said Rory Medcalf, head of the National Security College at Australian National University.	澳大利亚国立大学(Australian National University)国家安全学院(National Security College)的院长罗里·梅德卡尔夫(Rory Medcalf)表示, 该群岛为进行海上空中监视提供了“完美的地理位置”。
"If India were more open to allowing friendly foreign countries access and awareness in the Andamans, it would find them more forthcoming as well," he said.	他说, “如果印度更加开放, 允许友好的国家进入、了解安达曼群岛, 印度会发现, 这些国家会更友好。”
In Port Blair, there is the feeling that the outside world, once distant, is drawing nearer.	在布莱尔港, 此刻有一种曾经遥远的外部世界越来越近的的感觉。
The front page of the Andaman Express, a daily newspaper, is typically devoted to small-town news about motorcycle accidents and stove explosions. But a recent report on the presence of a Chinese naval submarine in Andaman waters mentioned, almost as an aside, that the archipelago "would become the primary target of the People's Liberation Army if China and India go to war."	《安达曼快报》(Andaman Express)的头版通常刊登有关摩托车事故和火炉爆炸的小镇新闻。但最近一篇有关中国海军潜艇进入安达曼海域的报道提到——几乎是一带而过——如果中印开战, 该群岛“会成为中国人民解放军的主要目标”。
Talk like that has brought an edge of apprehension to the quiet life on the island, said R.V.R. Murthy, a professor of history at Mahatma Gandhi Government College. Murthy lives on a hilltop, and in January, when officials in New Delhi announced the positioning of aerial drones at Port Blair's airport, he could peer down from his house and spot them.	圣雄甘地政府学院(Mahatma Gandhi Government College)历史教授 R·V·R·穆尔蒂(R.V.R. Murthy)表示, 这样的传闻扰乱了岛屿的平静生活, 引起一些担忧。今年1月新德里官员宣布在布莱尔港口机场部署无人机的时侯, 住在山顶的穆尔蒂从家里向下看就能看到这些无人机。
"In the old days," he said, a little wistfully, "this was the safest place in the world."	“以前, ”他有点感伤地说道, “这是世界上最安全的地方。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160314/c14andaman	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160314/c14andaman

To Maintain Supply of Sex Slaves, ISIS Pushes Birth Control	野蛮强奸行为的现代手段：ISIS 对性奴强制避孕
DOHUK, Iraq — Locked inside a room where the only furniture was a bed, the 16-year-old learned to fear the sunset, because nightfall started the countdown to her next rape.	伊拉克杜胡克——被锁在一个房间里，仅有的家具是一张床，这个 16 岁的少女变得害怕黄昏，因为那标志着她很快会遭到下一次强奸。
During the year she was held by the Islamic State, she spent her days dreading the smell of the ISIS fighter's breath, the disgusting sounds he made and the pain he inflicted on her body. More than anything, she was tormented by the thought she might become pregnant with her rapist's child.	在被伊斯兰国(Islamic State)关押的一年里，她无时无刻不在畏惧那名 ISIS 武装人员的难闻口气，他令人作呕的声音，以及他令她的身体承受的疼痛。最令她备受煎熬的，是自己可能会怀上强奸者的孩子这个想法。
It was the one thing she need not have worried about.	这件事她倒不必担心。
Soon after buying her, the fighter brought the teenage girl a round box containing four strips of pills, one of them colored red.	买下她之后不久，这名 ISIS 武装人员就给了她一个圆圆的盒子，里面有四排药片，其中一排是红色的。
"Every day, I had to swallow one in front of him. He gave me one box per month. When I ran out, he replaced it. When I was sold from one man to another, the box of pills came with me," explained the girl, who learned only months later that she was being given birth control.	"每天，我必须在他面前吞下一片药。他每月给我一盒。药吃完后，他就另外拿来一盒。当我被一个人卖给另一个人的时候，也带着药盒，"这个女孩解释。数月后，她才知道那是避孕药。
It is a modern solution to a medieval injunction: According to an obscure ruling in Islamic law cited by the Islamic State, a man must ensure that the woman he enslaves is free of child before having intercourse with her.	这是一条中世纪禁令的现代解决方案。伊斯兰国援引的伊斯兰教法中有一条看似不起眼的规定：一个男子在与性奴性交之前，必须确保她没有怀孕。
Islamic State leaders have made sexual slavery as they believe it was practiced during the Prophet Muhammad's time integral to the group's operations, preying on the women and girls the group captured from the Yazidi religious minority almost two years ago.	伊斯兰国的头目把性奴变成了该组织运行机制中不可或缺的一环，他们相信先知穆罕默德时代就是这么做的。差不多两年前从雅兹迪宗教少数派中抓获的成年女性和女童，成了他们的剥削对象。
To keep the sex trade running, the fighters have aggressively pushed	为了保持性奴交易的进行，ISIS 武装人员积极避免让受害者怀孕，以便能够

birth control on their victims so they can continue the abuse unabated while the women are passed among them.	持续虐待这些在他们之间买卖的女性。
More than three dozen Yazidi women who recently escaped the Islamic State and who agreed to be interviewed for this article described the numerous methods the fighters used to avoid pregnancy, including oral and injectable contraception, and sometimes both.	近期逃离伊斯兰国的近 40 名雅兹迪女性同意就这篇文章接受采访。她们讲述了 ISIS 武装人员采取的多种避孕方法，包括口服和注射避孕药，有时两者都使用。
In at least one case, a woman was forced to have an abortion in order to make her available for sex, and others were pressured to do so.	至少在一个案例中，一名女性被迫堕胎，目的是让她可以继续提供性服务，其他一些女性也曾受到这么做的压力。
Some described how they knew they were about to be sold when they were driven to a hospital to be tested for pregnancy. They awaited their results with apprehension: A positive test would mean they were carrying their abuser's child; a negative result would allow Islamic State fighters to continue raping them.	有些人说，自己被带到一家医院，进行早孕测试，这时她们就知道自己即将被出售了。她们忧虑地等待着测试结果：结果为阳性就意味着她们怀上了强奸者的孩子，阴性则意味着 ISIS 武装人员会继续强奸她们。
The rules have not been universally followed, with many women describing being assaulted by men who were either ignorant of the injunction or defiant of it.	这条规则并没有得到普遍遵守，很多女性说，侵犯她们的一些男人或者不知道这条禁令，或者不遵守它。
But overall, the methodical use of birth control during at least some of the women's captivity explains what doctors caring for recent escapees observed: Of the more than 700 rape victims from the Yazidi ethnic group who have sought treatment so far at a United Nations-backed clinic in northern Iraq, just 5 percent became pregnant during their enslavement, according to Dr. Nagham Nawzat, the gynecologist carrying out the examinations.	但整体而言，定期采取避孕措施——哪怕只是在部分被囚禁的女性身上——解释了为什么会出现照顾近期逃脱的受害者的医生们所观察到的情况：目前为止，有 700 多名来自雅兹迪少数教派的强奸受害人，到位于伊拉克北部由联合国支持的一家诊所寻求治疗，其中只有 5% 的人在被囚禁期间曾经怀孕。这一数字来自开展这项调查的妇科医生纳加姆·纳瓦扎特(Nagham Nawzat)。
The captured teenage girl, who agreed to be identified by her first initial, M., was sold a total of seven times.	那位被伊斯兰国掠走的少女总共被卖过七次。她同意以名字的首字母 M 称呼她。

When prospective buyers came to inquire about her, she overheard them asking for assurances that she was not pregnant, and her owner provided the box of birth control as proof.	在潜在买家来询问她的情况时，她无意中听到他们要求确保她没有怀孕，她当时的主人就拿出避孕药盒作为证据。
That was not enough for the third man who bought her, she said. He quizzed her on the date of her last menstrual cycle and gave her a version of the so-called morning-after pill, causing her to start bleeding.	不过，对于第三个买她的人来说，这样的证据不足以让他安心。他盘问她最近一次月经的时间，然后给了她吃了一种所谓的紧急避孕药，导致她下体出血。
Finally he came into her room, closed the door and ordered her to lower her pants. The teenager feared she was about to be raped.	最后他来到她的房间，关上门，命令她脱下裤子。这名少女担心自己即将被强奸。
Instead he pulled out a syringe and gave her a shot on her upper thigh. It was a 150-milligram dose of Depo-Provera, an injectable contraceptive.	但他却拿出一支注射器，在她大腿上打了一针。那是150毫克剂量的安宫黄体酮(Depo-Provera)，一种注射避孕药。
When he had finished, he pushed her back onto the bed and raped her for the first time.	打完针之后，他把她推倒在床上，第一次强奸了她。
Thousands of women and girls from the Yazidi minority remain captives of the Islamic State, after the jihadis overran their ancestral homeland on Mount Sinjar on Aug. 3, 2014. In the months since then, hundreds have managed to escape.	自圣战分子在2014年8月3日入侵雅兹迪人位于辛贾尔山的祖居之地以来，有数以千计的雅兹迪少数教派成年女性和女童被伊斯兰国囚禁。之后这些月里，只有数百人设法逃脱。
Many of the women interviewed for this article were initially reached through Yazidi community leaders, and gave their consent. All the underage rape victims who agreed to speak were interviewed alongside members of their family.	为这篇报道接受采访的女性，有不少是记者首先通过雅兹迪社群领袖联系上，然后说服她们接受采访。所有同意发声的未成年强奸受害者，都是和家人一起接受的采访。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160314/c14isispregnancy	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160314/c14isispregnancy
Putin Orders Start of Syria Withdrawal, Saying Goals Are Achieved	普京下令从叙利亚撤军
MOSCOW — President Vladimir Putin of Russia Monday ordered the withdrawal of the “main part” of Russian forces in Syria, a surprise move	莫斯科——俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir Putin)本周一下令，从饱经战火的叙利亚撤出俄罗斯的“主力”军队。这一举动出人意料，而普京给出的

that he said was justified by the “overall completion” of Moscow's military mission in the war-ravaged country.	理由是，莫斯科在叙利亚的军事任务已经“在整体上完成了”。
Putin's order, reported by the state news media, came as the war in Syria was about to enter its sixth year and a United Nations mediator in Geneva was trying to revive peace talks to stop the conflict, which has displaced millions and created a humanitarian catastrophe.	官方新闻媒体报道了普京的这一指令。叙利亚战争即将进入第六个年头，日内瓦的联合国调解员正在尝试重启和谈，让各方停火。这场战争已经导致成百上千万人失去家园，造成了人道主义灾难。
Russia has operated a naval base on the Syrian coast since the Soviet period, but Putin's order seemed to relate to warplanes operating from a new air base in Latakia that since September have carried out intensive bombings against rebels fighting to topple President Bashar Assad of Syria. Putin said the withdrawal would not mean the closing of the Latakia base, and he gave no indication when the withdrawal would be concluded.	自苏联时期起，俄罗斯就在叙利亚海岸拥有一座海军基地，但普京此次下达的指令似乎涉及空军。去年9月以来，俄罗斯战机从拉塔基亚的一座新空军基地起飞，对试图推翻叙利亚总统巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar Assad)的反对派武装进行了密集轰炸。普京表示，撤军并不意味着关闭拉塔基亚的空军基地，他也没有指明撤军的完成日期。
Since Russian warplanes began their campaign on Sept. 30, Assad has gained ground against rebel forces and headed off the risk that his regime, Russia's closest ally in the Middle East, might collapse.	阿萨德是俄罗斯在中东最亲密的盟友。自从俄罗斯战机于去年9月30日开始行动以来，阿萨德在打击叛军方面获得了不少进展，其政权崩溃的风险也大大降低。
“I believe that the tasks put before the defense ministry have been completed overall,” Putin told Defense Minister Sergei K. Shoigu and Foreign Minister Sergey V. Lavrov at a meeting in the Kremlin Monday evening. “Because of this, I have ordered that from tomorrow the main part of our military groups will begin their withdrawal from the Syrian Arab Republic.”	“我认为，国防部的任务已经在整体上完成了，”周一晚上在克里姆林宫举行的会议上，普京对国防部长谢尔盖·K·绍伊古(Sergei K. Shoigu)和外交部长谢尔盖·V·拉夫罗夫(Sergey V. Lavrov)说。“因此我下令，我们在阿拉伯叙利亚共和国的军队主力将从明天开始撤离。”
The Kremlin said Putin had telephoned the Syrian president to inform him of the Russian withdrawal, but gave no details of Assad's reaction to the move, saying only that he had expressed thanks for Russia's help	克里姆林宫表示，普京已致电叙利亚总统，向他通报了俄罗斯的撤军决定。但克里姆林宫并没有谈到阿萨德的具体反应如何，只是说，他对俄罗斯的帮助表示感谢，并称赞了俄罗斯军人的“专业精神和英雄气概”。

and had praised the “professionalism and heroism” of Russian servicemen.
Putin’s announcement appeared to catch the United States and other Western countries by surprise.	普京此举似乎出乎了美国等西方国家的意料。
Josh Earnest, the White House press secretary, said he had not seen reports of Russia’s possible withdrawal from Syria, but the Obama administration has frequently expressed frustration with Russia’s continued military support for Assad.	白宫新闻发言人乔希·欧内斯特(Josh Earnest)表示, 他还没有看到俄罗斯可能从叙利亚撤军的报告。不过, 对于俄罗斯持续为阿萨德提供军事支持, 奥巴马政府多次表示过失望。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160315/c15russia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160315/c15russia
Baby’s Killing Tests India’s Protection of an Aboriginal Culture	杀婴案与印度海岛上的“石器文明”
OGRABRAJ, India — The police on South Andaman Island know what to do when members of the isolated Jarawa tribe venture into the villages that surround them, hoping to snatch rice and other prized goods, like cookies, bananas or, for some reason, red garments.	印度奥格拉布拉杰——如果与世隔绝的加洛瓦(Jarawa)部落成员冒险进入围在他们四周的村庄, 希望抢到大米及他们珍爱的其他物品, 如饼干、香蕉或者——令人费解的——红色衣物时, 南安达曼岛上的警察知道该怎么做。
The policy is to send the Jarawas back into the 300 square miles of forest that has been set aside for the tribe, where they are expected to survive by hunting and gathering, as they have for millenniums. Inspector Rizwan Hassan, whose precinct includes a “buffer zone” beside the tribe’s reserve, is under clear orders: to interfere as little as possible in the traditional life of the tribe, which India prizes as the last remnant of a Paleolithic-era civilization.	他们的政策是把那些加洛瓦人送回那片 300 平方英里的森林。外界估计, 在为该部落留出的那片森林里, 加洛瓦人保留着数千年来的传统, 以狩猎和采集为生。印度很重视加洛瓦部落, 视其为旧石器时代文明的最后痕迹。在该部落的保护区旁边有一个“缓冲区”, 是里兹万·哈桑(Rizwan Hassan)巡官的辖区之一。他接到的命令很明确: 尽可能少干涉部落的传统生活。
This did not prepare him for the criminal complaint that was registered at his station in November. A 5-month-old baby was dead, and witnesses came forward willingly, leaving the police, for the first time in history, confronting the prospect of arresting a Jarawa on suspicion of	但去年 11 月他的警局接到的一起报案还是让他不知所措。一个五个月大的婴儿去世, 多名目击者自愿站了出来。这使警方有史以来首次要面对这样一个局面——以涉嫌杀人为名逮捕一名加洛瓦人。 murder.

The Jarawas, whom one geneticist described as “arguably the most enigmatic people on our planet,” are believed to have migrated from Africa around 50,000 years ago. They are very dark-skinned, small in stature and until 1998 lived in complete cultural isolation, shooting outsiders with steel-tipped arrows if they came too near.	加洛瓦人据信是在大约 5 万年前从非洲迁徙至当地的。一位遗传学家曾表示，加洛瓦人“可以说是地球上最神秘的人”。他们的肤色非常深，身材矮小。在 1998 年之前，他们过着文化上完全隔绝的生活。外来者靠得太近时，他们会向对方射钢头箭。
After the tribe made peace with its neighbors, India took steps to minimize contact between the Jarawas and the world that surrounds them, hoping to avoid the catastrophes that befell aboriginal people in other countries, like the United States and Australia, when settlers passed on germs and alcohol.	在该部落与周围的邻居和平共处后，印度采取多项措施，把加洛瓦人与周围世界的接触降到最低，希望以此避免发生在其他国家的土著居民身上的灾难。比如在美国和澳大利亚，外来者将病菌和酒精传给了土著居民。
Nevertheless, contact is occurring. Outreach workers visit the tribe's camps, and Jarawas receive medical treatment in isolation wards at hospitals. Poachers strike up illicit relationships with members of the tribe, trading food for help in harvesting crabs or fish.	然而，接触还是在发生。志愿者会去该部落的营地，加洛瓦人会在医院的隔离病房接受治疗。部落成员与从事非法捕捞的人狼狈为奸，通过协助他们捕捞螃蟹或鱼来换取食物。
It is as a result of such an encounter, the police believe, that a baby boy with a lighter skin color than usual was born to an unmarried Jarawa woman last spring, evidence that alien genes had found their way into an undiluted pool.	警方认为，正是这样的接触导致去年春天一名未婚加洛瓦女子生下了一个肤色比常人浅的男婴。这件事证明这个部落的纯正血统里已经掺入了外来基因。
Concern for a Baby	对一个婴儿的关切
Among the first to be alerted about the birth of a mixed-race baby was M. Janagi Savuriyammal, a 24-year-old tribal welfare officer whose office sits beside a crocodile-infested creek at the edge of the tribe's reserve.	M·贾娜吉·萨乌瑞亚玛尔(M. Janagi Savuriyammal)是最早发觉这个混血婴儿出生的人之一。这名 24 岁的部落福利干事的办公地点，就位于该部落保护区边缘地带一条有鳄鱼出没的小溪旁。
It is no secret that the tribe has, in the past, carried out ritual killings of	这个部落过去曾经杀害寡妇生的婴儿，或更为罕见的、父亲是外来者的婴儿，

infants born to widows or — much rarer — fathered by outsiders. Dr. Ratan Chandra Kar, a government physician who wrote a memoir about his work with the Jarawas, described a tradition in which newborn babies were breast-fed by each of the tribe's lactating women before being strangled by one of the tribal elders, so as to maintain “the so-called purity and sanctity of the society.”	进行献祭。这已经不是什么秘密。政府委派的内科医生拉坦·钱德拉·卡尔 (Ratan Chandra Kar) 撰写过一部回忆录，记叙他在加洛瓦的工作经历。他在书中描述了一种部落传统，即让部落里的哺乳期妇女依次给这类新生儿喂奶，之后再由一名部落长老将其勒死，以维持“这个社群所谓的纯正和神圣”。
He said he was aware of at least seven such cases in his 12-year tenure. The faces of the children haunted him, he wrote in his book, but he added that he was “never ready to interfere in the customs and rituals of the tribe.”	他表示，在 12 年的任期内，他至少知道七次这样的事。他在书中写到，那些婴儿的脸经常会浮现在他的眼前，但他也表示，自己“从没想过要干涉这些部落习俗和仪式”。
Savuriyammal took a different view. When she learned that some members of the tribe “did not want the baby to grow up,” as she put it, she and her staff began a campaign of persuasion, presenting arguments against killing the child and, at one point, posting a social worker near the camp to watch over him.	萨乌瑞亚玛尔的想法不一样。当她知道一些部落成员，用她的原话讲，“不想让这个婴儿长大”时，她就和手下的职员开始进行劝说行动，向部落人讲不该杀这个孩子的理由，还一度派了一名社会工作者在部落营地附近守护。
She was not the only one who felt the child was in danger. Rooby Thomas, who oversees care of Jarawa patients at a hospital near the reserve, saw the baby when his mother brought him in for a checkup and was so alarmed when she saw his skin tone that she set up a screen to hide him.	她不是唯一一个觉得这个孩子面临危险的人。罗比·托马斯(Rooby Thomas) 在位于保护区附近的一家医院工作，负责给加洛瓦部落的病人看病。在那个婴儿的母亲带他来做体检时，她见到过他。在看到他那与众不同的肤色时，她非常担心，赶快搭起一个幕帘，把他隐藏起来。
“I isolated that baby from the other Jarawa,” she said. “I heard they usually kill non-Jarawas.”	“我把那个婴儿和其他加洛瓦人隔开，”她说。“我听说他们通常会把非加洛瓦部落的后代杀死。”
Five months had passed when Savuriyammal received an alarmed call from a member of her agency's field staff. She rushed to the camp to find the baby missing and his mother crying silently.	五个月后，萨乌瑞亚玛尔接到她所在的部落福利办公室一名外勤人员打来的警报电话。她连忙冲到部落营地里，发现那名婴儿已经不见了，她的母亲正在沉默地哭泣。

Two witnesses, both women, told the police that on the previous night they had seen a Jarawa man, Tatehane, drinking liquor with an outsider who had entered the reserve illegally.	两名女性目击者告诉警方，在前一天晚上，她们看到加洛瓦男子塔特阿纳 (Tatehane)和一名非法进入保护区的外来者在一起喝酒。
Tatehane then slipped into the mother's hut and took the baby from her side before she awoke, a local newspaper reported, citing the two witnesses. The witnesses later found the baby's body on the sand, drowned.	据一家当地报纸报道，之后塔特阿纳溜进了那名母亲的小木屋，趁她没有醒来，抱走了她身边的婴儿。后来，这两名目击者在沙滩上发现了那名男婴的尸体，他已经被淹死了。
Savuriyammal filed a criminal complaint with the police, but they were in unknown territory: In 200 years of fatal clashes between tribesmen and British and Indian settlers, no member of the tribe had ever been named as a suspect in a crime.	萨乌瑞亚玛尔向警方提起了刑事申诉，但他们进入的是一个未知的领域：在部落人和英国、印度定居者之间延续两百年的流血冲突中，没有任何一个部落成员曾被指控为案件中的犯罪嫌疑人。
The authorities arrested the two nontribal men identified in the criminal complaint: a 25-year-old believed to have fathered the child, who was accused of rape, and a man who gave Tatehane liquor and was accused of abetting murder and interfering with aboriginal tribes.	当局逮捕了与这起案件有关的两名部落外男子：一名25岁的男性据信是这个婴儿的父亲，他被控强奸；另一名给塔特阿纳提供烈酒的男性，被控挑唆谋杀和扰乱土著部落。
But they did not arrest the Jarawa man, Tatehane, even though he was accused of murder, instead appealing for guidance from the department of tribal welfare, said Atul Kumar Thakur, the South Andaman police superintendent, who is overseeing the investigation. Hassan was not authorized to speak about the case.	但负责调查这起案件的南安达曼县警察局警司阿图尔·库马尔·达古尔 (Atul Kumar Thakur)表示，他们没有逮捕加洛瓦人塔特阿纳，尽管他被控谋杀，而是呼吁部落福利部门对他进行引导。哈桑没有被获准谈论这起案件。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160315/c15tribes	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160315/c15tribes
Obama Arrives in Cuba, Heralding New Era After Decades of Hostility	奥巴马历史性访问古巴，破冰之旅不平坦
HAVANA — President Obama touched down in Cuba on Sunday, becoming the first American leader to visit in nearly nine decades. His trip, the result of a stunning policy reversal 15 months ago, holds the	奥巴马总统周日抵达古巴，成为将近90年来第一位访问该国的美国领导人。他此次得以成行，是15个月前一项惊人的政策逆转的结果。两国的隔阂是冷战的最后一缕阴霾，此次访问有望驱散阴霾，让这两个长期的对手建立更

potential to forge closer ties between longtime adversaries and exorcise one of the last ghosts of the Cold War.	紧密的关系。
Just hours before Air Force One arrived at José Martí International Airport, however, the challenges of working more closely with Cuba became apparent as police officers, surrounded by pro-government demonstrators, detained dozens of protesters at a weekly march of the Ladies in White, a prominent dissident group.	然而，就在空军一号抵达何塞·马蒂国际机场(José Martí International Airport)仅仅几个小时之前，与古巴建立更紧密关系的挑战表露了出来：在古巴著名异见团体“白衣女士”(Ladies in White)的每周游行中，警方在亲政府示威者的环绕之下，逮捕了游行中的数十名抗议者。
The protest, which occurs on most Sundays outside a church in the Miramar district of Havana, was widely expected to be a test of Cuba's tolerance for dissent during Mr. Obama's trip. The arrests confirmed that the government was maintaining and intensifying its repressive tactics ahead of the visit.	大多数周日，这种抗议都会在哈瓦那米拉马尔区的一座教堂外举行。这场抗议被广泛视为一个考验，可以显示出古巴在奥巴马访问期间对异见人士有多大的容忍度。逮捕行动证明，在这次访问之前，政府维持并强化了打压措施。
"We thought there would be a truce, but it wasn't to be," said Elizardo Sánchez, who runs the Cuban Commission on Human Rights and National Reconciliation, noting that the arrests took place "in the moment that Obama was flying in the air to Cuba."	"我们以为会暂时休战，但不是这样，"古巴人权及国家和解委员会(Cuban Commission on Human Rights and National Reconciliation)领导人埃利萨多·桑切斯(Elizardo Sanchez)指出，逮捕行动发生在"奥巴马乘飞机前往古巴的时候"。
The question of how to handle political opposition to President Raúl Castro's government is one of many political thicket that Mr. Obama will have to navigate here.	如何对待古巴总统劳尔·卡斯特罗(Raúl Castro)政府的政治反对派，这是奥巴马肯定会在这里遇到的政治难点之一。
Berta Soler, the head of the Ladies in White, is one of a dozen dissidents invited to meet with Mr. Obama on Tuesday at the United States Embassy. Other dissidents said, however, that it was not clear if she would attend because of her opposition to the American president's policy of engagement.	"白衣女士"领袖贝尔塔·索莱尔(Berta Soler)是本周二应邀前往美国大使馆与奥巴马见面的十几名异见人士之一。然而其他异见人士说，尚不清楚她是否会到场，因为她反对美国总统的破冰政策。
Mr. Obama also arrives with a great deal of support for his effort to	奥巴马的到来也获得了大量支持。由于他努力想让这两个老对手进行交往，

bring old enemies together, both among the Cuban people, who describe Mr. Obama as a transformative figure, and within the United States, where interest in Cuba has already begun to swell.	古巴和美国的一些公众把奥巴马视为一个变革性的人物。美国境内对古巴的兴趣已经变得浓厚起来。
The president, who arrived with the first lady, Michelle Obama; their daughters, Sasha and Malia; and his mother-in-law, Marian Robinson, will begin and end his trip as a tourist in chief. He planned to stroll through Old Havana on Sunday and attend an exhibition baseball game between an American major-league team and Cuban players on Tuesday.	奥巴马总统将与第一夫人米歇尔·奥巴马(Michelle Obama), 他们的女儿萨莎(Sasha)和玛丽亚(Malia), 以及他的岳母玛丽安·罗宾逊(Marian Robinson)一同前往古巴。奥巴马将作为“首席游客”来开始和结束他的行程, 他计划周日到哈瓦那旧城漫步, 周二出席美国大联盟球队和古巴球员之间的棒球表演赛。
In between, his itinerary is shaped by the contradictions that still complicate the United States' relationship with Cuba: a meeting on Monday with Mr. Castro at the Palace of the Revolution, the seat of the Communist government, and another on Tuesday with the group of dissidents who have been victims of government repression.	其间, 他的行程安排也体现了制约古巴与美国双边关系的一些矛盾: 周一他与卡斯特罗在共产党政府的革命宫(Palace of the Revolution)会面, 周二他与遭受政府压迫的异见人士团体会面。
Mr. Obama was accompanied by a large delegation of members of Congress from both parties who are eager to support his call to lift the trade embargo against Cuba, which still looms as an obstacle to the rapprochement the president is seeking.	陪同奥巴马前往古巴的国会议员代表团人数众多, 由两党议员组成, 他们积极支持奥巴马对解除古巴贸易禁运的呼吁; 贸易禁运依然是一个障碍, 阻挡在奥巴马寻求和解的道路上。
Also along for the journey were dozens of American business executives seeking lucrative opportunities on the island.	另外还有数十名美国企业高管参加了这次访问, 他们希望在古巴寻找赚钱的机会。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160321/c21prexy	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160321/c21prexy
Obama Says Cuba Embargo Does 'Not Serve Our Interests'	奥巴马: 制裁古巴不符合我们的利益
HAVANA — President Obama said Monday that he was confident the trade embargo on Cuba would end, a move that President Raul Castro, standing beside him, endorsed.	哈瓦那——奥巴马总统周一表示, 他相信对古巴的贸易禁运会结束。站在他身旁的古巴总统劳尔·卡斯特罗(Raul Castro)对此表示支持。

"What we did for 50 years did not serve our interests or the interests of the Cuban people," Mr. Obama said. "We continue to have serious differences, including on democracy and human rights," he said, noting that if Cuba made changes on those fronts it would help persuade Congress to lift the embargo.	"我们过去 50 年的做法不符合我们的利益，也不符合古巴人民的利益，"奥巴马说。"我们依然存在严重的分歧，包括在民主和人权问题上，"他说。奥巴马指出，如果古巴在这些领域做出改变，将有助于说服国会解除禁运。
Mr. Obama and Mr. Castro spoke to reporters and took questions Monday afternoon after their historic meeting. Mr. Castro had not done so before, but the American side had been eager for him to permit questions this time.	周一下午，在历史性的会面结束后，奥巴马和卡斯特罗向记者发表讲话并接受提问。卡斯特罗以前没这么做过，但这一次，美方热切期望他允许提问。
That led to a few tense moments. In a response to a question about the existence of political prisoners in Cuba, Mr. Castro claimed there were none. "Give me a list of political prisoners and I will release them," he said.	这导致紧张场面几度出现。在回答一个关于政治犯的问题时，卡斯特罗声称古巴没有政治犯。"给我一个政治犯名单，我就放人，"他说。
With this visit, both men have ventured into diplomatic territory that had eluded their predecessors, amid mutual mistrust dating from Theodore Roosevelt's charge up San Juan Hill to the Cuban missile crisis and beyond. Profound differences still divide the two nations economically and politically, including the United States trade embargo and Cuban human rights issues.	对于此次访问，双方领导人都冒险进入了被前任领导人避开的政治领域。两国间的不信任可以追溯到西奥多·罗斯福(Theodore Roosevelt)冲上圣胡安山、古巴导弹危机，以及其他事件。深层次的分歧依然使两国在经济和政治上相互隔离，包括美国的贸易禁运和古巴的人权问题。
American officials said Mr. Obama had planned to raise the issue of Cuba's repressive tactics, on display in the days leading up to the president's visit as the government detained dissidents who could cause a diversion from the official script.	美国官员称奥巴马打算提及古巴专制的统治手段。在奥巴马访问古巴的前几天，古巴政府羁押了一些可能会干扰官方口径的异见人士。这个问题从羁押事件中就可见一斑。
The Cubans, accustomed to exerting tight control over everything that happens on the island, have spent weeks admonishing citizens against	习惯了严格控岛上一切事物的古巴方面，用了数周时间劝阻民众不要扰乱奥巴马的访问，不要在奥巴马访问期间质疑政府的权威。 disrupting Mr. Obama's visit or questioning government authority during the trip.

In a colorful welcome ceremony at the Palace of the Revolution before the talks began, Mr. Obama and Mr. Castro shook hands warmly before they strolled amicably past an honor guard and assembled dignitaries.	会谈开始前，古巴在革命宫(Palace of the Revolution)举行了欢迎仪式，现场五彩缤纷。奥巴马和卡斯特罗热情握手后，友好地检阅仪仗队和聚集在一起的政要。
Mr. Obama appeared to make a point of walking over to the Cuban military band leader as the ceremony concluded to congratulate him on its performance of "The Star-Spangled Banner" — a national anthem that is unlikely to be in its repertoire.	欢迎仪式结束时，奥巴马似乎表明了态度。他走到古巴军乐队指挥的跟前，称赞乐队演奏美国国歌《星条旗永不落》(The Star-Spangled Banner)的水平。这首歌恐怕并不是这支乐队的常规曲目。
"Good job," Mr. Obama was overheard saying.	有人听到奥巴马说，“演奏得很好。”
Mr. Obama also shook hands with an array of American and Cuban officials, who were lined up on opposite sides of the long, narrow room.	在那间狭长的房间里，美国和古巴的一众官员分两边一字排开。奥巴马与他们一一握手。
The choreography of Monday's session has preoccupied the American and Cuban governments for weeks. Both are determined to showcase a new dynamic of friendship and engagement while insisting they have conceded none of their principles.	数周来，美国和古巴两国政府一直在专注地安排周一的活动。双方都决心，既要展现新的友谊和交流动态，又要坚持表明各自都未放弃任何原则。
Monday's session was the presidents' third face-to-face meeting since the new policy was announced in December 2014.	周一两国总统自2014年12月宣布新政策以来，第三次进行面对面的会晤。
They met and shook hands in April 2015 at a summit meeting of Western Hemisphere nations in Panama City, and they spoke in September on the sidelines of the United Nations General Assembly, when Mr. Obama told Mr. Castro he would like to visit this year if the conditions were right.	2015年4月在巴拿马城参加一场西半球国家峰会时，两人会面握手。同年9月，两人再次在联合国大会的间隙举行会谈。会谈期间，奥巴马对卡斯特罗表示，如果条件合适，他愿在今年访问古巴。
In Havana on Monday, many Cubans still seemed uncertain about whether they had permission to try to see Mr. Obama, never mind	周一当天在哈瓦那，很多人似乎依然不确定政府是否会允许他们去看一眼奥巴马，更别说表达观点了。全哈瓦那的人似乎都在不停地问，奥巴马可能会 express a point of view. Cubans all over the city seemed to be constantly asking where Mr. Obama would be — and then not going.	去哪里——但问过以后却并不会真的去。

Outside the venue at the edge of Old Havana where the president was scheduled to meet with American business leaders and Cuban entrepreneurs in the afternoon, most of the people waiting for his arrival were foreign tourists.	奥巴马定于下午在哈瓦那老城边上，会见美国企业领袖和古巴企业家。在会见场地外面，等着奥巴马到来的人，大部分是外国游客。
When asked questions about Mr. Obama’s visit, several Cubans outside a small store with a view of the location turned away without saying a word. State security agents — some uniformed, others wearing jeans and mirrored sunglasses — simply watched and listened.	在一家能看到那里的小店外面，被问到有关奥巴马来访的问题时，几个古巴人一言不发地把脸扭了过去。国家安全特工只是看着，听着，他们一些人穿着制服，另一些人则穿着牛仔裤，戴着太阳镜。
A few blocks away, Cubans and foreigners found themselves running into American lawmakers and V.I.P.s touring the city.	几个街区外，古巴民众和外国人发现自己碰到了在哈瓦那参观的美国议员和贵宾。
Senator Patrick J. Leahy of Vermont was spotted by the cathedral; Representative Charles B. Rangel of New York was also easy to find. Walking the streets with a single aide, wearing a seersucker suit and a Tampa Bay Rays baseball cap, Mr. Rangel said he could not have been happier. He spent decades in Congress working to end the Cuban embargo.	有人在大教堂旁边发现了佛蒙特州参议员帕特里克·J·莱希(Patrick J. Leahy)。纽约州众议员查尔斯·B·兰盖尔(Charles B. Rangel)也很好找。走在大街上的他只带了一个助手，穿着一身泡泡纱面料的衣服，戴着一顶坦帕湾光芒队(Tampa Bay Rays)的棒球帽。兰盖尔说自己非常高兴。在国会任职的数十年里，他一直致力于结束对古巴的贸易禁运。
He said he was confident that restored relations would yield benefits for Cubans and Americans.	他说他相信恢复外交关系会给古巴和美国民众带来好处。
“I never knew we could bring such a crack in the wall,” he said. “We’re creating the right conditions for when change really comes.”	“以前从来没想到我们能取得这么大的进展，”他说。“我们正在创造适当的条件，迎接变革的到来。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160322/c22prexy	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160322/c22prexy
Stay or Go? Cuban Entrepreneurs Divided on Where to Stake Futures	开放私营经济能留住向往美国的古巴人吗?
HAVANA — As an inside joke about all the cookies they scorched on the	哈瓦那——安东尼和桑德拉·卡马乔·罗德里格斯(Antonio and Sandra

road to establishing a successful bakery, Antonio and Sandra Camacho Rodríguez named their Havana sweets shop the Burner Brothers.	Camacho Rodríguez)把他们的哈瓦那甜食店命名为“火炉兄弟”(Burner Brothers), 这个名字隐含有一个只有他们才懂的笑话——在拥有一家成功的面包店之前, 他们烤焦了无数的曲奇。
To them, it was a metaphor for the relentless trial and error it took for two inexperienced and untrained chefs — she is a doctor, and her brother was a salesman — to start a business in a communist country that was taking its first steps in private enterprise.	对他们来说, 它象征着两个既没有相关经验又没有受过专业培训的厨师——她是一名医生, 她弟弟是一名推销员——为了在一个刚刚允许开办私营企业的社会主义国家开启创业之旅, 所付出的不懈努力和所犯的各种错误。
As tens of thousands of Cuban millennials give up on Cuba and head north, the Camachos are part of an expanding class of entrepreneurs who are opting to remain, betting on Cuba’s future despite serious challenges.	当成千上万千禧一代的古巴人放弃自己的祖国、选择北上的时候, 一个日益扩大的创业者群体选择留守, 他们相信古巴尽管面临严峻的挑战, 但它的未来一定会更好。卡马乔姐弟俩就是这个群体中的一员。
“There’s an extremely powerful emerging market right now in Cuba,” said Mr. Camacho, 26, standing in their tiny shop, where cookies are 10 cents each, in Havana’s Vedado neighborhood. “To me, it’s easier to become part of an emerging market than to try to make it in some other country, where the market was created years ago.”	“古巴现在是一个极具影响力的新兴市场,”说这话的时候, 26岁的卡马乔正站在他和姐姐位于哈瓦那维达度区的小店里, 他们的曲奇每个售价10美分。“对我而言, 成为一个新兴市场的参与者, 要比去其他国家开店, 在已经成形多年的市场里打拼来得容易。”
As President Obama met with President Raúl Castro of Cuba on Monday, a surprising statistic loomed over the two leaders: More than twice as many Cubans went to live in the United States last year than in 1959, when Mr. Castro’s brother Fidel came to power and unleashed a wave of migration that altered South Florida forever.	美国总统奥巴马和古巴总统劳尔·卡斯特罗(Raúl Castro)在周日的会面, 被一个出人意料的统计数据笼罩着: 去年前往美国定居的古巴人比卡斯特的兄长菲德尔(Fidel)上台的1959年多了一倍还不止——那一年发生了一波永远改变南佛罗里达州的移民潮。
While Mr. Obama attended a conference Monday afternoon with American business leaders and new entrepreneurs who are breathing life into a dying economy here, Cuba is bleeding doctors, small-business owners, construction workers and waitresses. Even with	当奥巴马在周一下午出席一个会议, 会见美国商业领袖以及为古巴垂死的经济注入活力的新生代企业家时, 古巴的医生、小企业主、建筑工人和女服务生正在流失。尽管新涌现出了一些餐馆老板和旅店老板, 但更多美容师放下了剪刀, 更多农民把他们的庄稼抛在了身后。

the country's new restaurateurs and innkeepers, more beauticians have put down their clippers and more farmers have left their crops behind.
"I think some people suffer from a lack of vision," Mr. Camacho said. "Many people also live in a precarious situation, in humble surroundings or even extreme poverty."	"我觉得有些人吃了眼界狭窄的亏,"卡马乔说。"还有很多人颠沛流离,或者生活在简陋的环境中,甚至处于赤贫状态。"
Recent migration patterns cast doubt on how much faith Cubans have in private-sector reforms. Last week, after Costa Rica cleared out dozens of shelters filled with Cuban migrants, sending them on the United States, 1,000 more showed up at its border with Panama.	近来的移民迹象让人不禁怀疑,古巴人到底对私营部门改革抱有多大信心。上周,哥斯达黎加清理了数十个挤满古巴移民的收容所,把他们送往美国。随后,又有一千多人出现在了哥斯达黎加和巴拿马边境。
"If you take a census of Cuba now, I'm not sure what would be left," said Jenny Heredia Ocaña, 33, a former hospital administrator who recently closed her beauty salon in Havana and left for the United States.	"如果你现在对古巴做一次普查,我不确定会是什么结果,"33岁的珍妮·埃雷迪亚·奥卡尼亚(Jenny Heredia Ocaña)说。奥卡尼亚最近关闭了她在哈瓦那的美容院,动身前往美国。她以前曾是一名医院管理人员。
On her way she was marooned for months in Costa Rica, shuffling between migrant shelters where she encountered thousands of fellow Cubans.	抵达美国前,她困在哥斯达黎加长达数月之久,穿梭在不同的移民收容所之间,遇到了数千名古巴同胞。
Federal figures show that at least 63,000 Cubans moved to the United States last year, the bulk of them crossing the southwestern border on foot. More than 250,000 Cubans have been granted residency during the Obama administration alone – enough to populate a city almost the size of Orlando, Fla.	美国联邦机构的数据显示,去年至少有6.3万古巴人移居美国,他们中的大多数都是步行穿过东南方边境的。仅奥巴马执政期间,就有超过25万古巴人取得了居留权——几乎相当于佛罗里达州奥兰多市的人口规模。
In 2014, 122,000 Cubans were on the waiting list to join their families, one of the longest lists for American visas in the world.	2014年,12.2万古巴人在等待与家人团聚,这是世界上最长的美国签证等候名单之一。
"If the Cuban economy continues to falter, many Cubans will vote with their feet," said Richard E. Feinberg, the author of "Open for Business," a book about Cuba's new economy.	"如果古巴经济继续衰退,很多古巴人会用脚投票,离开古巴,"《开门营业》(Open for Business)的作者理查德·E·范伯格(Richard E. Feinberg)说,这是一本有关古巴新经济的著作。

Yet even as tens of thousands of Cubans have given up on their homeland, millions have opted to stay.	不过，尽管有数万古巴人已放弃故土，还是有数以百万计的人选择了留下。
"Maybe 50,000 or 75,000 people left — that still means 11.2 million are still there," said Mr. Feinberg, whose book includes a chapter on millennials who have opted to remain in Cuba.	"可能有 5 万或 7.5 万人离开,这意味着有 1120 万人还留在古巴,"范伯格说,他的书中有一章专门讲述了选择留在古巴的千禧一代。
Under new rules that allow private enterprise, the Cuban government had issued about 496,000 small business licenses by the end of last year. Nearly one-third of those business owners are young people.	截止去年年底，在允许建立私人企业的新规之下，古巴共计发放了 49.6 万个小型企业营业执照。其中有将近三分之一的企业主是年轻人。
"When people started to travel and could do so without being forced to stay abroad, it changed life here — the way people lived, the way they dressed," said Emisleidy Maza Ramos, 27, who holds a number of jobs, including at her boyfriend's food delivery business. "There's a difference in the air."	"当人们开始旅行，而且不用担心因为旅行而被迫流落海外时，这里的生活就发生了变化——人们生活的方式,穿着的方式,"27 岁的埃米斯雷迪·马萨·拉莫斯(Emisleidy Maza Ramos)说，她同时身兼多职，其中包括在男朋友创办的送餐公司工作。"这里的气氛不一样了。"
Igor Thondike, who worked as a glassmaker in Cuba and recently moved to Tampa, Fla., said many new business owners back home could not get materials. Shoemakers, he said, could not find leather and "lost their investments."	以前在古巴做玻璃工匠的伊戈尔·桑代克(Igor Thondike)，最近搬到了佛罗里达州坦帕市，他表示，古巴的许多新企业主拿不到做生意的原材料。他说，有制鞋商因买不到皮革进行生产，而"损失了自己之前的投资"。
Ihosvany Oscar Artiles Ferrer, 44, a veterinarian who worked in Camagüey but recently moved to Queens, said the lack of wholesalers to buy supplies from made it difficult to eke out a profit.	44 岁的兽医伊霍什瓦尼·奥斯卡·阿蒂莱斯·费雷尔(Ihosvany Oscar Artiles Ferrer)之前在巴西的卡马圭工作，最近移居到了纽约市的皇后区。他表示，因为古巴缺少批发商，企业主无从购买原料，很难赚到什么钱。
"The private business is like a handkerchief the government puts over everything to be able to say to the United Nations that in Cuba people own small businesses," Mr. Artiles said.	"私人企业就像是手帕，政府把它盖在所有东西上，然后就对联合国说，古巴人民可以做自己的小生意，"阿蒂莱斯说。
"In the beginning, almost all of us were revolutionaries," he added. "But now, we quit all that because we don't believe in Fidel, in the revolution,	"一开始，我们所有人几乎都是革命派，"他记者说。"但现在，我们放弃了那一切，因为我们不相信菲德尔，不相信革命、社会主义或别的一切。"

in socialism or anything.”
The Obama administration clearly hopes that as the Castro government moves toward economic reform and Washington permits more commerce and travel, more Cubans will stay put, slowing the steady stream of exits that has contributed to a broader migration crisis.	奥巴马政府显然希望，随着卡斯特罗政府走向经济改革，华盛顿能进一步对它开放商业和旅游机会，这样就会有更多古巴人留在本国，由此减缓该国人口外流的速度，以避免美国遭遇更大范围的移民危机。
But Cuba also benefits from those who leave. Many businesses on the island begin with the remittances émigrés send back from the United States. The Camachos said that it took about $25,000 to start a business like their cookie company, and that they were fortunate to count on American citizens in their immediate family.	但古巴也从离开的人身上获得了好处。岛上的许多生意是因为有移居美国古巴人寄回汇款，才得以开启。卡马乔姐弟表示，要开一家他们这种曲奇店，需要大约 2.5 万美元的启动资金，他们幸运地仰仗在美国的直系亲属筹得了这笔钱。
Benjamin J. Rhodes, the White House’s point man on Cuba, said last week that “greater economic activity in the island is going to be good for the Cuban people.”	白宫的古巴事务负责人本杰明·J·罗兹(Benjamin J. Rhodes)上周表示，“在岛上开展更多经济活动，将会有益于古巴人民。”
“It’s going to be a source of empowerment for them,” said Mr. Rhodes, the president’s deputy national security adviser. “It’s going to improve their livelihoods.”	“这会成为增强他们信心和能力的一个源泉，”任总统副国家安全顾问罗兹说道。“可以提高他们的生活水平。”
But Cuba’s foreign minister, Bruno Rodríguez, scoffed at the empowerment reference and blamed Washington for the exodus. Many Cubans have said they have rushed to leave because they fear that after normalizing relations, Mr. Obama will do away with migratory policies that give Cubans special status in the United States.	但古巴外交部长布鲁诺·罗德里格斯(Bruno Rodríguez)对这种赋权予古巴人民的言论嗤之以鼻，并将大批古巴人的离开归咎于华盛顿。很多古巴人曾经表示，他们之所以争相离开古巴，是因为担心两国关系正常化之后，奥巴马会废除给予古巴人在美特殊身份的移民政策。
Such American laws are “selective, politically motivated and encourage illegal, unsafe and disorderly migration,” Mr. Rodríguez said at a news conference on Thursday.	此类美国法规是“有选择性的，有其政治动机，而且会鼓励非法、危险和混乱的移民，”罗德里格斯在周四进行的一场新闻发布会上说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160322/c22stay	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160322/c22stay

Despite Renewed Ties With U.S., Cuban Dissidents Are Just as Vulnerable	奥巴马访问期间古巴严防异见人士
During President Obama's visit to Cuba, Zaqueo Báez will be on lockdown.	在美国总统奥巴马访问古巴期间，扎奎尔·贝兹(Zaqueo Báez)会被置于严防之下。
You might have seen video of Mr. Báez on YouTube.	你也许在 YouTube 上看过贝兹的视频。
He is the Cuban opposition activist who rushed past the security cordon during Pope Francis's visit to Havana in September, in an effort to tell the pope a thing or two about human rights in Cuba.	他是古巴的反对派活动人士，在教皇方济各(Pope Francis)去年9月访问哈瓦那期间，他冲过安保警戒线，试图告知教皇关于古巴人权的一两件事。
Mr. Báez made it to the popemobile, and Francis gently laid his hand on Mr. Báez's head. The dissident then threw leaflets in the air, raised his arms in victory and was carried away by security forces.	当贝兹追上了教皇座驾，方济各温和地将一只手放在他的头上。这位异议人士随后向空中散扔传单，举起双臂以示胜利，直到被安保人员拖走。
"I told him, 'Fidel Castro is a liar,' " Mr. Báez, 40, told me recently in an interview. "He said, 'Yes, my little son, I already know it.' "	"我告诉他，'菲德尔·卡斯特罗是个骗子，' "最近接受访问时，今年40岁的贝兹告诉我。"他回答，'是的，我的孩子。我已经知道了。'"
It was a daring move in a country where the government has a history of cracking down on political activism.	身处一个政府有着压制政治活动历史的国家，这堪称惊人之举。
Mr. Báez served 55 days in jail and, in an effort to prevent an encore performance during Mr. Obama's trip, he has spent the past few days at the Havana headquarters of the Patriotic Union of Cuba.	贝兹在监狱服刑了55天，以防他在奥巴马访问期间故伎重演。过去几天，他待在古巴爱国联盟(Patriotic Union of Cuba)的哈瓦那总部。
"There are state security agents, national police, patrol cars and uniformed officers parked outside, they do not let me leave," he said. "If I try to go to the corner for a coffee, I will be arrested."	"到处都是国家安全探员、警察、巡逻车队和制服人员守在外面，他们不让我离开，"他说。"如果我试图去街角买杯咖啡，都会被捕。"
Such tactics — and the dozens of arrests on Sunday at the weekly march of Ladies in White, a prominent dissident group, just hours before Mr. Obama landed — are expected to be raised on Tuesday during a meeting between Mr. Obama and Cuban dissidents at the	这些手段——以及周日，在奥巴马抵达前数小时，著名异见团体“白衣女士”(Ladies in White)的每周集会上几十人被捕——都会在奥巴马周二在美国驻哈瓦那大使馆和古巴异见人士会谈期间被提出。

American Embassy in Havana.
The invitees include the leader of Mr. Baez's group, José Daniel Ferrer; a well-known blogger, Yoani Sánchez; and a Roman Catholic editor, Dagoberto Valdes Hernández.	受邀者包括贝兹所在团体的领导人何塞·丹尼尔·费雷尔(José Daniel Ferrer)、著名的博客作者扬尼·桑切斯(Yoani Sánchez), 以及某罗马天主教刊物的主编达戈韦托·巴尔德斯·埃尔南德斯(Dagoberto Valdes Hernández)。
"I have always been ready for dialogue with anyone, including the Cuban government," Mr. Valdes said. "Despite that, they have considered me as a counterrevolutionary and dissident. I am a pro-democracy worker."	"我一直乐意和任何一方对话, 包括和古巴政府," 巴尔德斯表示, "尽管, 他们认为我是反革命分子、异见分子。我只是一名支持民主的劳动者。"
The Cuban government considers the dissidents to be traitors and agents for the American government.	古巴政府将这些异见人士视作叛国者和美国政府的间谍。
In November, 1,447 activists were arrested, the most in decades, according to the Cuban Commission on Human Rights and National Reconciliation, an independent organization.	根据独立机构古巴人权及国家和解委员会(Cuban Commission on Human Rights and National Reconciliation)的数据, 在去年11月, 有1447名活动人士被捕, 是过去几十年之最。
Guillermo Fariñas, a Santa Clara dissident known for going on frequent hunger strikes, said he was arrested about 18 times last year.	来自圣克拉拉的异见人士吉列尔莫·法里尼亚(Guillermo Fariñas)表示, 他在过去一年被逮捕了18次。他因经常进行绝食抗议而为人所知。
"Yes, things have changed since relations were restored," Mr. Fariñas told me. "Beatings have increased, threats have increased. Impunity has increased. Aggressiveness has increased."	"是的, 随着双边关系的恢复, 许多事情都改变了," 法里尼亚告诉我。"打击加大了, 威胁增多了。有恃无恐的现象更普遍了, 攻击性也加剧了。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160323/c23cubadissident	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160323/c23cubadissident
As Siblings Again Unite to Unleash Terror, Experts Ask What Drives Them	为什么这么多恐怖分子是兄弟?
The identification of Khalid and Ibrahim el-Bakraoui as suicide bombers in the deadly Brussels attacks is confronting investigators and counterterrorism experts with a disturbingly recurrent question: Why	哈立德·巴克拉维(Khalid el-Bakraoui)和易卜拉欣·巴克拉维(Ibrahim el-Bakraoui)被确认是在布鲁塞尔开展致命攻击的自杀式炸弹袭击者, 这给调查人员及反恐专家提出一个令人不安的复现问题: 为什么有这么多恐怖分 do so many terrorists turn out to be brothers?	子是兄弟?

The Bakraouis join a list of brothers involved in nearly every major terror attack on Western soil since three sets of Saudi siblings were among the 19 hijackers who carried out the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks in the United States. Before then, the grim roster included 19th-century French anarchists, militants in Southeast Asia and the Jewish extremists who assassinated Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin of Israel in 1995.	2011年9月11日,19名劫机者在美国实施恐怖袭击,其中包括三对沙特阿拉伯兄弟,此后,几乎每一次在西方国家开展的重大恐怖袭击行动都有兄弟参与,其中包括巴克拉维兄弟。在那以前,这份恐怖的名单里还包含19世纪法国的无政府主义者、东南亚的武装分子和1995年暗杀以色列总理伊扎克·拉宾(Yitzhak Rabin)的犹太极端分子。
For terror groups, brothers can be ideal recruits. They radicalize each other while reinforcing a sense of purpose and ideological calling. They keep watch on each other to ensure an attack is carried out. One new study suggests that up to 30 percent of members of terrorist groups share family ties.	对于恐怖组织来说,这种兄弟档属于理想成员。他们在推动彼此激进化的同时,强化使命感和意识形态的召唤。他们互相监督,确保袭击的实施。一项新研究发现,高达30%的恐怖组织成员存在亲属关系。
Siblings also present a formidable challenge for law enforcement. They often live in the same house. They can communicate easily, without using cellphones that are vulnerable to surveillance. And the glue of family can often — though not always — serve as insurance against one member of a cell betraying the mission to the authorities.	这种兄弟档还给执法行动带来难以对付的挑战。他们通常住在一起。他们很容易沟通,不用使用容易遭到监控的手机。这种家庭关联经常——尽管并非总是——可以成为一种保障,防止组织成员将任务内容泄露给当局。
“Brothers would likely be exposed to similar radical messages, and they might well debate and brainstorm together about them,” said Audrey Kurth Cronin, an author and scholar at George Mason University. “And if you can rely on a family member in your plotting, it’s probably less likely that they’ll go to the police. It’s a question of security and trust.”	“兄弟们可能会接收到同样的激进信息,他们可能会一起好好讨论,进行头脑风暴,”乔治·梅森大学(George Mason University)学者、作家奥德里·库尔思·克罗宁(Audrey Kurth Cronin)说。“如果你在密谋的过程中可以依赖家庭成员,那他们不太可能去告诉警方。这是有关安全和信任的问题。”
That the Brussels bombings were carried out by brothers is particularly striking because they appear to be connected with the Nov. 13 terror assault on Paris that killed 130 people. The Bakraouis are suspected of	布鲁塞尔爆炸袭击行动是由兄弟开展的,这一点尤其引人注目,因为他们似乎与11月13日巴黎恐怖袭击事件有关,那次的袭击导致130人死亡。相关部门怀疑巴克拉维兄弟与上周在布鲁塞尔被捕的萨拉赫·阿卜杜勒萨拉姆

belonging to the same terror cell as Salah Abdeslam, who was arrested last week in Brussels and is considered the only surviving participant in the Paris assault. Mr. Abdeslam's brother, Ibrahim, detonated a suicide belt at a cafe during the Paris rampage.	(Salah Abdeslam)属于同一恐怖组织，后者被认为是巴黎袭击事件中唯一活下来的参与者。他的兄弟易卜拉欣(Ibrahim)当时在巴黎的一家咖啡馆引爆了自杀腰带。
The list goes on: in January 2015, the Kouachi brothers, Chérif and Saïd, gunned down 12 people in the Paris offices of the French satirical newspaper Charlie Hebdo; the Tsarnaev brothers, Dzhokhar and Tamerlan, carried out the 2013 bombings at the Boston Marathon.	这样的例子还有很多：2015年1月，库阿希兄弟——赛义德(Saïd)和谢里夫(Chérif)——在法国讽刺报纸《查理周报》(Charlie Hebdo)位于巴黎的办公室枪杀12人；萨纳耶夫兄弟——焦哈尔(Dzhokhar)和塔梅尔兰(Tamerlan)2013年制造了波士顿马拉松爆炸袭击事件。
"Violent extremism spreads through social contact, and for most people, siblings are a big and important part of their social environment," said J. M. Berger, a terrorism analyst and co-author of "ISIS: The State of Terror." "You may feel you can talk to a sibling about matters you can't discuss with others."	"暴力极端主义通过社会关系传播，对于大多数人来说，兄弟是其社会环境中的很大且很重要的一部分，"恐怖主义问题分析人士J·M·伯杰(J.M. Berger)说。"你可能觉得可以跟兄弟讨论一些无法跟别人诉说的事情。"伯杰与人合著了《ISIS：恐怖之国》(ISIS: The State of Terror)一书。
The same dynamics that inform any sibling relationship are at play among brothers who radicalize, experts said. It is often the older brother who influences the younger one, though not always: At Charlie Hebdo, investigators believe, the younger brother, Chérif, was the more militant.	专家们表示，兄弟关系中的规律在那些激进化的兄弟中也有所体现。通常是哥哥影响弟弟，但也并非总是如此：调查人员认为在《查理周报》袭击案中，更为激进的是弟弟谢里夫。
In the case of the Boston Marathon bombers, who were from a Chechen immigrant family, investigators found a complex dynamic. To all outward appearance, Dzhokhar, a college student, was far better integrated into American life, and more sociable, than his glum, troubled older brother, Tamerlan, who died in a shootout with the police after the bombing.	在波士顿马拉松爆炸袭击案中，袭击者来自车臣移民家庭，调查人员发现一个比较复杂的情况。大学生焦哈尔从外表上看更好地融入了美国生活，比他那阴郁、麻烦不断的哥哥塔梅尔兰更为友善，爆炸发生后，塔梅尔兰在与警方的枪战中死亡。
Defense lawyers for Dzhokhar Tsarnaev tried to portray him as being	焦哈尔·萨纳耶夫的辩护律师试图称他遭到哥哥威吓，参与密谋，但波士顿的

bullied by his older brother to participate in the plot, but a Boston jury rejected that argument and recommended the death penalty.	陪审团决绝接受这一理由，建议判处死刑。
Mia Bloom, co-author of "All in the Family: A Primer on Terrorist Siblings," cited scholarly research showing that as many as a third of the people terror groups send to carry out attacks came from the same family. Examples abound of jihadists marrying a sister or daughter to another jihadist family in order to build alliances.	米娅·布鲁姆(Mia Bloom)援引学术研究称，在恐怖组织派去实施袭击的人员中，有多达三分之一的人来自同一家庭。圣战分子娶另一名圣战分子的姐妹或女儿以建立联盟的情况数不胜数。布鲁姆与人合著了《一家人：恐怖分子兄弟初探》(All in the Family: A Primer on Terrorist Siblings)一书。
"These groups are always worried about infiltration," Ms. Bloom said. "When a family member tried to join, it's a great vetting mechanism. Then they know they can trust them."	"这些组织总是担心渗透问题，"布鲁姆说。"当一名家庭成员试图加入时，这是一个非常棒的审查机制。他们知道他们可以相信这些人。"
In carrying out an operation, siblings sometimes work in tandem. The Kouachi brothers burst into the Charlie Hebdo offices together. On Sept. 11, the three pairs of Saudi siblings initially sat side by side aboard the airliners that hit the World Trade towers and the Pentagon. The national 9/11 commission reported that one of them, Nawaf al-Hazmi, had pleaded with Osama bin Laden to let his younger brother Salem join the mission, and they ended up in the fifth row of American Airlines Flight 77 bound for Washington.	在开展行动时，兄弟有时会互相合作。库阿希兄弟一同冲入《查理周报》办公室。9月11日，三对沙特阿拉伯兄弟并排坐在冲向世贸大厦和五角大楼的飞机上。国家"9·11委员会"(9/11 Commission)报告称，其中一人——纳瓦夫·哈米兹(Nawaf al-Hazmi)曾请求奥萨马·本·拉登(Osama bin Laden)准许他的弟弟萨利姆(Salem)加入任务小组，他们最终坐在了飞往华盛顿的美国航空77号班机的第五排座位上。
But Ms. Bloom said her research showed that siblings were often purposely sent to different locations, as with the Abdeslam brothers in Paris (Salah drove a fellow plotter to the soccer stadium; Ibrahim detonated a suicide vest at a cafe).	但布鲁姆表示，她的研究显示，兄弟通常会被有意派往不同地方，比如阿卜杜勒萨拉姆兄弟在巴黎的行动(萨拉赫开车载着同伙进入足球场，易卜拉欣则在咖啡馆引爆自杀式炸弹背心)。
"The reason for this is the fear that if the siblings are sent to the same location, one might convince the other to defect, because of the love of their sibling," said Ms. Bloom, a professor of communications at Georgia	"他们之所以这么做是担心如果把这些兄弟派到同一个地方，其中一人或许会出于兄弟之情，说服另一人叛变，"乔治亚州立大学(Georgia State University)传播学教授布鲁姆说。她还表示，当被派去不同的地方时，"他们

State University. When sent to different locations, she added, "They will each go through with it because they do not want to disappoint their sibling and they cannot face the idea of going on without them."	都会完成任务，因为他们不想让兄弟失望，他们无法想象一个人继续执行任务的情形。”
The Belgian authorities said on Wednesday that Ibrahim el-Bakraoui, 29, set off one of the two bombs at the airport, and his brother Khalid, 27, the one at the subway station more than an hour later; it remains unclear whether Khalid was first at the airport.	比利时当局在周三表示，29岁的易卜拉欣·巴克拉维在机场引爆了两枚炸弹中的一枚，他的弟弟——27岁的哈立德一个多小时之后在地铁站引爆炸弹；目前尚不清楚哈立德起初是否在机场。
In her study, Ms. Bloom identified a similar case of Chechen suicide bombers in Russia in 2004: Amanat Nagayeva blew herself up on a flight from Moscow to Volgograd, killing everyone on board; a week later, her sister Rosa killed herself and 10 other people outside the Rishkaya subway station in Moscow.	布鲁姆在研究中发现，2004年车臣自杀式爆炸袭击者在俄罗斯的行动与之类似：阿马纳特·纳格叶娃(Amanat Nagayeva)在从莫斯科飞往伏尔加格勒的飞机上引爆自己，导致机上所有人员遇难；一周之后，她的姐妹罗莎(Rosa)在莫斯科里加地铁站外自杀，并导致其他10人死亡。
Law enforcement officials are puzzling over how to detect terror cells within a family.	执法官员在苦心思索如何发现一个家庭中的恐怖团伙。
"Our traditional counterterror capabilities were designed to pick up the communications and interaction between an attacker and the command and control structure of the organization," said John Cohen, who until 2014 served as the counterterrorism coordinator at the Department of Homeland Security and is now a professor of criminal justice at Rutgers University.	"我们传统的反恐能力就是发现袭击者与指挥者之间的交流与互动，以及组织的指挥结构，"罗格斯大学(Rutgers University)刑事司法教授约翰·科恩(John Cohen)说，科恩在国土安全部(Department of Homeland Security)担任反恐协调员至2014年。
Psychologists who study terrorism say that the two-person cell may be a recent adaptation to increased security measures — whether they are brothers, as in Brussels, Paris and Boston, or husband and wife, as in the San Bernardino, Calif., attacks in December that killed 14.	研究恐怖主义的心理学家表示，这种两人的团伙或许是恐怖组织最近为了应对强化的安全举措而进行的调整，无论他们是兄弟，比如布鲁塞尔、巴黎和波士顿的事件，还是夫妇，比如去年12月在加州圣贝纳迪诺枪杀14人的夫妇。
"What's powerful about these pairs is that they increase capacity for	"这些组合的强大之处在于，他们增加了破坏的威力，但并不会提高被发现

doing damage but not the vulnerability to detection, because of the tightness of the tie," said Clark McCauley, a research professor at Bryn Mawr College who has studied radical groups. "It's a creative solution; you get more hands to help than a lone wolf, but the same kind of security."	的几率, 因为这种联系很紧密, "一直从事激进组织研究的布林莫尔学院(Bryn Mawr College)教授克拉克·麦考利(Clark McCauley)表示。"这种办法很聪明; 比独狼多了人手来帮忙, 又不需要增添安全措施。"
Radical groups through history have long included siblings, lovers and friends, whether the Symbionese Liberation Army in California, the Weather Underground, the Marxist Red Brigades in Italy or the Baader-Meinhof gang in Germany.	历史上, 激进团体一直有同时招募手足、情侣和友人的传统, 无论是加州的共生解放军(Symbionese Liberation Army)、地下气象人(Weather Underground)、意大利的马克思主义红色旅(Marxist Red Brigades), 还是德国的巴德尔-迈恩霍夫帮(Baader-Meinhof)。
In those larger group situations, experts say, members try to one-up each other, pushing the group to endorse ever more violent action. This dynamic is likely muted in sibling or relative pairs, but the more radical member still often pulls the other along, McCauley said, especially if they feel imminent threat.	专家表示, 在人数更多的时候, 成员之间会想要一争高下, 于是让整个团体投入到越来越暴力的行动中去。麦考利称, 这种竞争在手足或亲戚构成的两人组合中大概受到了抑制, 但更激进的那一个还是往往会拉上另一个, 尤其是他们感觉到威胁迫在眉睫的时候。
Prosecutors in Belgium announced Wednesday that they had found a suicide note, or will, that one of the brothers, Ibrahim, had left on his computer, saying he was in a "bad situation" and risked arrest, after the authorities caught Salah Abdeslam on Friday. Ariel Merari, an Israeli scholar thought to have interviewed more terrorists than anyone, has described this sensation of urgency a "10 minutes to midnight feeling" — in other words: time to act.	比利时的检察部门周三宣布, 他们找到了兄弟二人中的易卜拉欣在电脑上留下的遗书或遗嘱, 其中表示, 在当局上周五抓到萨拉赫·阿卜杜勒萨拉姆(Salah Abdeslam)之后, 他"处境不妙", 面临被捕的危险。普遍认为, 以色列学者阿里埃勒·梅拉里(Ariel Merari)采访的恐怖分子比其他人多。他把这种紧迫感描述为"离午夜只差 10 分钟的感觉"——换句话说就是: 赶紧行动。
Experts are still examining how often uninvolved family members may be aware of terrorist' plotting. A 2014 study in the Journal of Forensic Sciences analyzed the behaviors of 119 "lone-wolf" terrorists and found that in nearly two thirds of the cases, family and friends knew the	专家们还在研究, 置身事外的家庭成员对恐怖分子的谋划有所了解的几率有多大。《司法鉴定期刊》(Journal of Forensic Sciences)在 2014 年刊登的一篇文章分析了 119 名"独狼"恐怖分子的行为, 发现在近三分之二的案件中, 亲友知晓恐怖分子从事暴力行为的意愿。不过, 在有些例子中, 亲戚是坚决

person wanted to commit an act of violence. But in some cases, relatives are strongly opposed: The U.S. terrorist known as the Unabomber, Ted Kaczynski, for instance, was finally caught and convicted because his brother, David, had alerted the authorities to his suspicions.	反对的：比如，人称“大学炸弹客”的美国恐怖分子泰德·卡辛斯基(Ted Kaczynski)之所以最后落网并被定罪，是因为他的弟弟戴维(David)对当局举报了他的嫌疑。
Little is yet known about the relationship between the Bakraouis, who are of Moroccan origin and grew up in Laeken, a working-class neighborhood in Brussels, not far from the Royal Palace. Their father, Jamal El Bakraoui, is a devoted Muslim and a retired butcher, according to Marcelline Mertens, a neighbor. Mertens recalled the brothers as ordinary teenagers, not especially religious, who disappeared from the neighborhood about five or six years ago. During this period, they were separately convicted of crimes including carjacking and engaging in a shootout with police.	巴克拉维兄弟之间的关系到底如何，我们还没什么了解。二人是摩洛哥后裔，在离布鲁塞尔王宫不远的蓝领社区拉肯长大。邻居马塞利娜·梅尔滕斯(Marcelline Mertens)称，他们的父亲贾迈勒·巴克拉维(Jamal el-Bakraoui)是虔诚的穆斯林，曾是肉贩，现已退休。在梅尔滕斯的记忆中，兄弟二人青少年时期普普通通，宗教色彩并没有特别浓厚，但五六年他们从社区消失了。在此期间，他们各自从事了一些犯罪行为，包括抢劫汽车，与警方对射等。
Bloom, the author who estimated that up to 30 percent of members of terror groups share family ties, warned that extremists were trying to recruit entire families in Europe, portending the possibility of yet another evolution in jihadism. "Right now, we are seeing a lot of siblings carrying out these attacks," she said. "The trend we are anticipating is parent and child."	布鲁姆证明，恐怖团体当中，至多有30%的成员有亲属关系。她警告，极端分子正在欧洲尝试招募整个家庭，而这预示着圣战主义可能又一次在进行演化。“现在，我们看到有不少是手足一起实施这类袭击，”她说。“我们预计趋势是父母与子女的组合。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160324/c24brothers	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160324/c24brothers
Mudslinging Trumps the 'Middle Way' in Tibetan Exiles' Election	“变味”的流亡藏人政府领导人选举
DHARAMSALA, India — It is often said that the lower the stakes, the more vicious the politics. And so it might be said of the just-concluded campaign for political leader of the Tibetan government in exile, which,	印度达兰萨拉——人们常说，越是无关紧要的地方，权斗越残酷。刚刚结束的藏人流亡政府政治领导人竞选活动，大概就可以这样看，毕竟以达赖喇嘛的至高地位，这次选举有些像在给一个在位总统选副总统。

given the exalted status of the Dalai Lama, was a bit like voting for the vice president to a sitting president.
The final round in the second election for a leader of the Central Tibetan Administration, as the exiled Tibetan government is known, concluded last weekend, though the results will not be known until April. Still, the proceedings showed just how hard it is to build a democracy under the leadership of a man who, though 80 years old, semiretired and dedicated to democratic principles, is revered as a Godlike figure by Tibetans.	名为藏人行政中央(Central Tibetan Administration)的流亡政府的第二次领导人选举, 于上周末结束最后一轮投票, 不过结果要到四月才能揭晓。然而整个过程还是显示出, 在一个被藏人奉若神明的人领导下, 建起一个民主政体有多么困难, 尽管此人已届八十高龄, 处于半退休状态, 并且笃信民主原则。
Largely absent from the discussion in the campaign was the question of how to win freedom for the nearly six million Tibetans living in China, an issue that has consumed the exiled Tibetan community for almost six decades. It is viewed as disrespectful to the man the Tibetans call His Holiness to question the "middle way" strategy that he set in motion nearly 30 years ago, in which he softened his demand for independence, instead seeking self-governance within the Chinese government. It has been an effort to draw China into a dialogue that by most accounts has failed.	竞选中甚少谈及的一个问题是, 如何让生活在中国的近六百万藏人获得自由, 过去将近六十年里, 这个问题一直深深困扰着流亡藏人社群。被藏人敬称为“尊者”的达赖喇嘛近三十年前开始采取“中道”策略, 而质疑这个策略就是对他的不敬。“中道”淡化了他的独立主张, 转而寻求在中国政府框架内实现自治。这种争取与中国展开对话的努力, 在多数人看来是失败的。
Instead, the election devolved into mudslinging and sycophancy. The hot topics were the audacity of the current political leader, Lobsang Sangay, who is running for re-election, to have his portrait displayed in the Washington office, and the drinking habits of his opponent, Penpa Tsering, the speaker of the exiled parliament.	选举转而演变成一个中伤对手和谄媚的局面。最热门的话题包括现任政治领袖、寻求再度当选的洛桑森格(Lobsang Sangay)竟敢在华盛顿办公室里摆出自己的肖像, 还有他的对手、流亡议会的议长边巴次仁(Penpa Tsering)的酗酒问题。
The campaigns "have been tearing each other apart, harping on petty, trivial issues," said Dhardon Sharling, 34, a member of the parliament,	这场竞选“正在造成大家的分裂, 在一些琐碎、次要的事情上不依不饶,”34岁的议员达珍夏林(Dhardon Sharling)说, “我们最应该谈的是如何解决西藏

“when all we should be talking about is how we will resolve Tibetan’s issues, how we’ll take the Sino-Tibetan dialogue forward.”	的问题，如何推进汉藏对话。”
Mr. Sangay, 48, was on the defensive from the start of his re-election campaign, forced to answer at every stop why he had put his own portrait on the wall of the group’s new Washington office instead of a picture of the Dalai Lama. It did him no good, it seemed, to explain that his portrait had been hung in the basement, and that there were 13 other pictures of the Dalai Lama in the Washington office.	在寻求连任的过程中，现年 48 岁的洛桑森格从一开始就在为自己辩解，他每隔一段时间就要被迫回答一个问题：为什么他在流亡政府驻华盛顿办公室的墙上挂着自己的肖像，而不是达赖喇嘛的。他说自己的肖像是挂在地下室里，而华盛顿办公室另外还挂着 13 幅达赖喇嘛的照片，这个解释似乎没什么帮助。
The current Dalai Lama, who is part of the lineage of spiritual leaders of the Tibetan people that dates back to the 14th century, has been championing the cause of democracy for his people since he fled to India in 1959 after China claimed Tibet and began a campaign to repress its religion and culture. (He has refrained from commenting in this campaign, and few people know how closely he was following the dialogue on the elections. His secretaries did not respond to requests for interviews.)	1959 年中国对西藏提出领土主张并发起镇压其宗教和文化的行动后，达赖喇嘛逃亡到了印度，作为始自 14 世纪的藏人精神领袖的当代传人，他从此开始向藏人宣扬民主。（他对本次竞选不作评论，也很少有人知道他是否在密切关注本次竞选中的讨论。他的秘书没有回应采访请求。）
He set up his residence and an exiled government on a mountainside outside of Dharamsala, in northern India. And as he promoted the cause of freedom for the people he had left behind, he gradually relinquished his own political authority. An exiled parliament was set up, a cabinet, and finally, in 2011, the job of elected political leader, known as the sikyong.	他将自己的住所以及一个流亡政府设在了印度北部城市达兰萨拉郊外的一座山上。在为那些留在藏区的人争取自由的同时，他渐渐放弃了自己的政治权力。流亡议会和内阁相继成立，最终在 2011 年设立了一个叫做“司政”的民选政治领袖职位。
Even as he gave up his political role, the Dalai Lama retained his position as the spiritual and cultural leader of the Tibetan people. A democratic election for a people without a country is a complicated	然而，尽管已经放弃了其政治角色，达赖喇嘛始终是藏人的精神和文化领袖。无国之民的民主选举是件复杂的事，在印度有四十多个投票点，另有数十个分布在全球各地。登记选民约有 8.8 万人，比美国多数的市长选举还少。

affair, with voting in more than 40 locations in India, and dozens more around the globe. Registered voters number about 88,000, fewer than in most mayoral elections in the United States.
Even as the free-for-all ensued in the election, a 16-year-old committed suicide in early March by settling himself on fire in Dehradun, India, an eight-hour drive from Dharamsala, a reminder of the deep frustration in the exiled community over the lack of progress in winning any measure of freedom in Tibet. One hundred and forty-four Tibetans have killed themselves in this way during the past 20 years.	在人们为了选举吵作一团的同时，三月初还有一位16岁藏人在距离达兰萨拉八个小时车程的台拉登自焚，在藏区自由事业几无进展的情况下，这一事件让人再次看到流亡藏人社群那深深的沮丧感。过去20年里，已经有144名藏人以这种方式自杀。
Despite the absence of their candidates in the election final, there is a vocal minority of voters who refuse to support the middle way strategy, favoring a fight for full independence.	部分选民明确表示不支持“中道”策略，并主张为全面独立而进行斗争，尽管在最终的选举中他们作为少数派并没有自己的候选人。
Lukar Jam Atsok, 44, a writer who was imprisoned in China before escaping into India years ago, ran in the preliminary contest for political leader, arguing that the Dalai Lama could be considered a traitor for having given up full independence for Tibet in his negotiations with the Chinese.	现年44岁的作家卢卡将阿筑(Lukar Jam Atsok)曾在中国被囚禁，几年前逃到了印度，他参与了政治领导人的初选，提出达赖喇嘛在和中国人的谈判中放弃了西藏的全面独立，也许可以把他当叛徒来看待。
“If a person does not believe in independence, whether he’s my father or the Dalai Lama, I do not agree with that person,” he said in Tibetan in an interview. “I am not saying the Dalai Lama is a traitor, but if you consider the political history, then he is one.”	“只要一个人不相信独立，不管他是我的父亲还是达赖喇嘛，我都是不认同的，”他在用藏语接受采访时说。“我不是说达赖喇嘛是叛徒，但如果从政治史的角度看，那他就是个叛徒。”
But far from promoting a dialogue, Mr. Atsok’s comments prompted his public condemnation from Mr. Sangay and Mr. Tsering, and he was removed from the final vote.	然而其言论并没有促成讨论，而是遭到洛桑森格和边巴次仁的公开谴责，他也被从最终的投票环节剔除。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160324/c24dharamsala	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160324/c24dharamsala

A Quandary for Europe: Fighting a War on ISIS Within Its Borders	欧洲困境：本土反恐战争该怎么打
LONDON — When the United States declared war on Al Qaeda after the Sept. 11 attacks, American leaders took the fight to the militant group’s hide-outs in Afghanistan, a faraway and failing state, with an invasion and occupation.	伦敦——“9·11 事件”爆发后，美国对基地组织宣战时，其领导人采用了入侵和占领的方式，对该武装组织位于阿富汗的藏身之地发起了打击，那是一个与美国相距遥远的问题国家。
But for Europe’s leaders, who now consider themselves at war with the Islamic State after large-scale terrorist attacks at home, the challenge is more complicated: The enemy’s hide-outs are ghettoized parts of Paris, Brussels and other European cities that amount to mini failed states inside their own borders.	当大规模恐怖袭击在欧洲本土发生之后，欧洲领导人现在认为自己与伊斯兰国(Islamic State)处在战争状态，但他们面临的挑战更加复杂：因为敌人藏在巴黎、布鲁塞尔和其他欧洲城市里的少数族裔聚居区，那是它们自己境内的问题国家。
While France and Britain have joined the United States in bombing Islamic State targets in the Syrian city of Raqqa and other areas controlled by the group, also known as ISIS and ISIL, Europe has faced a much harder time understanding and dealing with its own citizens who have abetted the Islamic State’s ascent. These are mostly third-generation Muslim immigrants, who have become radicalized in poor communities left to develop outside the national culture.	伊斯兰国也称为 ISIS 和 ISIL。虽然法国和英国已经在与美国一道，对叙利亚城市拉卡以及被该组织控制的其他区域开展轰炸行动，但在理解和对待本国公民对伊斯兰国的崛起给予的支持时，欧洲面临着更困难的问题。这些人大多是第三代穆斯林移民，住在与国民文化脱节的贫困社区，逐渐变成了激进分子。
Those communities are incubators that figure prominently in the Islamic State’s two attacks on Paris since January 2015, and the triple bombing on Tuesday in Brussels.	伊斯兰国自 2015 年 1 月以来对巴黎发起的两起袭击，以及本周二在布鲁塞尔发生的三连环爆炸案中，这些社区发挥了孵化作用，扮演了重大角色。
Resolving the problem, political analysts say, does not require simply more intelligence cooperation and shared lists of people suspected of being radicals and fighters returning from Syria. European governments must also develop internal strategies to deal with the threat at home — the deep social problems of racism and radicalism, along with the	政治分析人士说，解决这个问题不仅仅需要加强情报合作、共享疑似激进分子以及从叙利亚返回的作战人员的名单。欧洲各国政府也必须制定内部策略，应对本国境内的威胁——种族主义和极端主义构成了深刻的社会问题，此外还有安保方面的两难局面，因为加强安全引发了民众对监控、司法和公民自由的担忧。

security dilemma, which raises concerns about surveillance, justice and civil liberties.
"You can bomb Raqqa, and you may consider that to be war, but you're not going to bomb Molenbeek or Schaerbeek or St.-Denis, unless you're ready for civil war," said François Heisbourg, president of the International Institute for Strategic Studies, referring to heavily Muslim areas of Brussels and Paris.	"你可以轰炸拉卡，可能觉得那是战争，但你没办法轰炸莫伦贝克、斯哈尔贝克或圣但尼，除非你准备打内战，"国际战略研究所(International Institute for Strategic Studies)所长弗朗索瓦·埃斯堡(François Heisbourg)说。他指的是布鲁塞尔和巴黎的穆斯林聚居区。
President François Hollande of France and his prime minister, Manuel Valls, have repeatedly described Europe's fight against the Islamic State as war; Mr. Heisbourg called that an "extremely dangerous" use of the word.	法国总统弗朗索瓦·奥朗德(François Hollande)和总理曼纽尔·瓦尔斯(Manuel Valls)曾多次把欧洲对伊斯兰国的打击称为战争；埃斯堡说，那是一个"极其危险"的词。
"It starts with Raqqa and can end up with the Algerian civil war, and that would be the ultimate victory of Daesh," he said, using an Arabic term for the Islamic State. "They want to divide our societies against ourselves."	"它从拉卡开始，可能会以阿尔及利亚内战而告终，但那将是'达伊沙'(Daesh)的最终胜利，他们希望我们的社会自相残杀，"他说。达伊沙是阿拉伯语，指伊斯兰国。
Even more, Mr. Heisbourg argued, "talking of war dignifies Daesh, which wants to be seen as having a state and an army of warriors and martyrs." For angry, poor and isolated young Muslims in Europe, "to be seen as the downtrodden victims of Western colonialism and iniquity, fighting the holy war against the arrayed legions of the crusaders," is precisely what the Islamic State advertises.	更进一步说，埃斯堡认为，"说那是战争，是在助长达伊沙的士气，因为它希望大家认为它拥有国家、战士和烈士。"对于欧洲那些愤怒、贫穷、被孤立的穆斯林年轻人来说，"把自己看成是遭受西方殖民主义和不公正对待的受害者，参加对抗十字军的圣战"恰恰是伊斯兰国的宣传方针。
The dual nature of the European struggle against the Islamic State separates it from the American "global war on terrorism" and deeply complicates it, argued Raffaello Pantucci, director of international security studies at the Royal United Services Institute, a	防务研究机构皇家三军联合研究所(Royal United Services Institute)的国际安全研究主管拉菲洛·潘图奇(Raffaello Pantucci)说，由于欧洲与伊斯兰国的对抗具有这种双重性，它不仅和美国的"全球反恐战争"不同，而且复杂性倍增。 defense-oriented research institution.

"We need a dual response," he said, more bellicose on the Islamic State abroad but less bellicose at home, emphasizing longer-term social work in isolated and disenfranchised communities.	"我们需要予以双重回应,"他说,在境外要更积极地对抗伊斯兰国,但在境内不要那么好斗,要强调在被孤立、权利被剥夺的社区开展长期的社会工作。
The objective, he said, is to counter radical voices who often provide paths into meaning for young men who have been petty criminals. Most of the European terrorist suspects were known to the local police.	他说,我们的目标是反对一些激进的观点,犯过轻微罪行的年轻人往往能从这些观点中找到意义。大多数欧洲恐怖嫌疑人当地警方都认识。
"There is a realization that this is not a war you can bomb or shoot your way out of, but you have to deal with individuals who are radicalized at home, to examine the reasons that they are exploring this other identity," said Mr. Pantucci, who wrote a book on the issue: "We Love Death as You Love Life: Britain's Suburban Terrorists."	"人们认识到,这不是一场靠轰炸或开枪就能结束的战争,你必须对付本国境内的激进分子,了解他们探索这种另类身份的原因,"潘图奇说。他曾经就这个问题写了一本书,名为《我们热爱死亡就像你们热爱生命:英国的郊区恐怖分子》(We Love Death as You Love Life: Britain's Suburban Terrorists)。
Important pockets of the disenfranchised and isolated are embedded in most European countries, he said: Bradford in England, heavily Kashmiri and home to the London subway bombers of July 7, 2005; largely Muslim East Birmingham, where organized crime and radicalism spring from the same roots; and the heavily immigrant suburbs or banlieues of France's big cities.	他说,大多数欧洲国家都有一些被孤立、权利被剥夺的重要社区:比如英国的布拉德福德是克什米尔人密集区,2005年7月7日伦敦地铁爆炸案主犯就来自那里;以穆斯林为主的东伯明翰,滋生了有组织犯罪和极端主义;还有法国大城市的郊区,移民密集的地方。
Belgium, already divided by language and with a plethora of local and state federalisms and police forces, provides a special example. More so than elsewhere, Belgium allowed the self-ghettoization, or self-isolation, of ethnic communities in the name of multiculturalism and day-to-day peace.	比利时是一个特例,它被不同的语言所割裂,拥有过多的本地和国家联邦机制以及警察部队。比利时以维持族群多元化,维持日常相安无事为名,对自我形成贫民窟的过程,或者自我隔离的状况放任不管,程度更甚于其他国家。
Mr. Heisbourg said that the result was "a disaster for counterterrorism." These were "no-go areas for the authorities, who have found it very	埃斯堡说,结果就形成了"反恐活动的重灾区"。这里有"主管机构去不了的地方,他们很难找到线人和情报提供者",他指出,很多参加了法国袭击行动

difficult to get informants and human intelligence,” noting that many of the French citizens who carried out attacks in France lived or were hosted in Brussels neighborhoods like Molenbeek.	的法国公民就住在布鲁塞尔的居民区，比如莫伦贝克。
Some political scientists, like Olivier Roy, a scholar of Islam at the European University Institute, argue that Islam is not the cause of radicalization, but serves neatly as the vehicle for radicalized anger from disenfranchised Muslim youth.	欧洲大学学院(European University Institute)伊斯兰教学者奥利维尔·罗伊(Olivier Roy)和其他一些政治学家认为，伊斯兰教不是激进化的原因，但对于权力遭到剥夺的穆斯林青年来说，它是怒气激进化的一个很好载体。
For that, Europe has few easy answers, especially as the Islamic State seeks to manipulate European fears of terrorism and migration. Gilles Kepel, a French sociologist who has studied radical Islam and the banlieues, has argued that part of the Islamic State’s intention is to mobilize fears of the “enemy within,” create further rejection of European Muslim citizens and radicalize them at home, to create a kind of civil war between European Muslims and the “crusader states.”	在这一点上，欧洲几乎没有容易的解决办法，尤其是在伊斯兰国试图操纵欧洲对恐怖主义和移民的恐惧时。研究伊斯兰教激进派和郊区问题的社会学家吉勒·凯佩尔(Gilles Kepel)称，伊斯兰国的部分意图是调动对“内部敌人”的恐惧，造成欧洲穆斯林民众受到进一步的排斥，从而让他们在国内变得激进，以便在欧洲穆斯林和十字军国家之间制造一种内战。
In dealing with terrorism through denial of nationality, abuses of civil liberties or an indefinite state of emergency, Mr. Heisbourg warned “you may create the conditions where you end up with the civil war in European societies that Daesh clearly wants.”	埃斯堡警告称，用拒绝入籍、滥用公民自由或宣布无限期紧急状态来应对恐怖主义，“可能会为欧洲社会最终爆发内战创造条件，而这显然正是达伊什(Daesh)所希望的”。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160324/c24europe	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160324/c24europe
Global Crises Shadow, and Overshadow, Obama’s Foreign Trips	奥巴马的外交旅行总是“不是时候”?
WASHINGTON — When President Obama woke up in Havana on Tuesday to news that explosives had ripped through an airport and a subway in Brussels, it was a familiar, if disconcerting, feeling: another foreign trip overshadowed by violence elsewhere in the world.	华盛顿——周二那天，身在哈瓦那的奥巴马总统注意到布鲁塞尔的机场和地铁发生爆炸的新闻时，应该会有一种熟悉的不安之感涌上心头：他的出国访问之旅因为发生在世界其他地方的暴力事件而蒙上阴影，已经不是第一次了。
Mr. Obama embarked on the juggling act of a traveling commander in	危机当前，作为一位出门在外的三军统帅，奥巴马开始一心二用：早上，他

chief faced with a crisis: a morning briefing on the terrorist attacks with officials in Washington inside a specially equipped secure communications room, and an expression of condolence and support for the Belgian people inserted at the last minute into his speech to the Cuban people.	在一个具有特殊装备的安全通讯机房里连线华盛顿的官员，听取了有关恐怖袭击的简报；他在结束自己向古巴人民发表的演讲之前，加入了对遇难者的哀悼和对比利时人民的支持。
"We stand in solidarity with them in condemning these outrageous attacks against innocent people," Mr. Obama declared in the Gran Teatro de la Habana. "We will do whatever is necessary to support our friend and ally Belgium in bringing to justice those who are responsible."	"我们坚定地站在他们一边，强烈谴责针对无辜平民的残暴袭击，"奥巴马在哈瓦那大剧院(Gran Teatro de la Habana)表示。"我们将采取一切必要的举措，帮助我们的盟友比利时把为此负责的相关人等绳之以法。"
Mr. Obama's disrupted trips — he has had at least three before this one — speak to a broader tension that has run through his foreign policy from the start: between his efforts to cultivate ties with old foes or expand the United States' influence in new regions, and the pull of the nation's perennial obligations in the Middle East.	奥巴马被扰乱的古巴之旅——类似的情况此前至少发生过三次——显示了他的外交政策中大范围存在的矛盾之处——他要努力和美国的宿敌增强联系，或把美国的影响力扩大到新的地区，但又受到美国对中东承担的一贯责任的牵引。
In November, Mr. Obama set off on a round-the-world trade and economic mission to Turkey, Malaysia and the Philippines. Hours before he left, terrorists attacked in Paris, killing 130 people. Rather than showcase the Trans-Pacific Partnership, his Asian trade agreement, the president ended up fielding questions about how to battle the Islamic State and whether to bar Syrian refugees from entering the United States.	去年 11 月，奥巴马开启了一次环游世界的经贸之旅，访问了土耳其、马来西亚和菲律宾。就在他踏上归途之前几个小时，恐怖分子袭击了巴黎，导致 130 人死亡。访问接近尾声的时候，总统没能推广他的亚太贸易协议——"跨太平洋伙伴关系协定"(Trans Pacific Partnership)，而是忙于回答如何与伊斯兰国(Islamic State)作斗争、是否要禁止叙利亚难民进入美国之类的问题。
In March 2011, Mr. Obama landed in Brazil for a five-day tour of South America. In between efforts to promote economic ties with Brazil, he ordered American warplanes to Libya as part of a NATO mission to	2011 年 3 月，奥巴马抵达巴西，对南美洲国家进行为期 5 天的访问。在竭力促进美巴两国经济关系的过程中，他命令美国战机前往利比亚执行北约(NATO)的任务，以防止穆阿迈尔·卡扎菲上校(Col. Muammar el-Qaddafi)

avert a slaughter in Benghazi by Col. Muammar el-Qaddafi.	在班加西发起一场大屠杀。
Twenty months later, Mr. Obama was in Southeast Asia for a historic visit to Myanmar, with which he had opened diplomatic ties. But he found himself huddled with Hillary Clinton, the secretary of state, struggling with how to respond to a military clash between Israel and Hamas in Gaza. Mrs. Clinton flew to Israel and Egypt to negotiate a cease-fire.	12 个月后，奥巴马在东南亚对缅甸进行具有历史意义的访问，和缅甸建立了外交关系。但访问期间他不得不和时任国务卿希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)凑在一起，苦苦思索如何应对以色列和哈马斯在加沙的军事冲突。
In Cuba on Tuesday, Mr. Obama stuck to his schedule, going to a baseball game between the Cuban national team and the Tampa Bay Rays. But inevitably, given the political season, he was second-guessed back home: Gov. John Kasich of Ohio and Senator Ted Cruz of Texas said he should either return to Washington to direct the response to the attacks or fly straight to Belgium.	本周二，奥巴马没有改变自己在古巴的行程，观看了一场古巴国家队对阵坦帕湾光芒队的棒球比赛。但鉴于美国正处于大选季，他在国内难免受到非议：俄亥俄州州长约翰·卡西奇(John Kasich)和得克萨斯州参议员特德·克鲁兹(Ted Cruz)说，他本应返回华盛顿坐镇指挥，应对恐怖袭击，或者直接飞往比利时。
Hours after the last pitch had been thrown, Donald J. Trump wrote on Twitter that Mr. Obama should leave the game immediately and go home, where the president “under a serious emergency belongs!”	比赛结束几个小时后，唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)在 Twitter 上写道，奥巴马应该立即停止观赛回国，这才是处于“紧急状态”的总统应该做的。
Mr. Obama’s decision set up a memorable moment in the middle of the game. The president, wearing sunglasses, khaki slacks and a white shirt, was asked by an ESPN reporter whether he had thought about skipping it.	奥巴马的决定在比赛中创造了一个难忘的时刻。ESPN 的一名记者询问戴着墨镜、身穿卡其布裤子和白色衬衫的奥巴马，他是否想过放弃观赛。
“It’s always a challenge when you have a terrorist attack anywhere in the world, particularly in this age of 24/7 news coverage,” Mr. Obama said. “You want to be respectful and understand the gravity of the situation, but the whole premise of terrorism is to try to disrupt people’s ordinary lives.”	“世界任何地方发生恐怖袭击都是一个挑战，特别是在这种全时新闻报道的时代，”奥巴马说。“你想表示尊重，了解事态的严重性，但恐怖主义的目的就是试图扰乱人们的日常生活。”

For the president, who travels with a full complement of national security and communications aides, the biggest disruption from a crisis like the one in Brussels is not logistical but thematic. The issues he had hoped to highlight — in this case, his diplomatic opening to Cuba — were eclipsed by round-the-clock coverage of violent images from somewhere else.	奥巴马带着完整的国家安全及通信助手团队出行，对他来说，布鲁塞尔恐怖袭击这样的危机造成的最大破坏不是后勤方面，而是主题方面。他希望强调的问题——这次是他对古巴打开外交大门——却因为对其他地方的暴力事件的全天候报道而黯然失色。
For all the sophisticated communications gear that follows the president around the world, the White House has struggled to get its message right when he is overseas during a crisis. Last fall, at a meeting of the Group of 20 countries in Antalya, Turkey, Mr. Obama played down fears about the Islamic State, five days after the mass killings in Paris.	尽管奥巴马前往世界各地时会携带先进通讯设备，当出现危机而总统又在海外时，白宫还是难以准确地传达他的信息。去年秋季，也就是巴黎发生大规模屠杀事件的五天之后，奥巴马在土耳其安塔利亚参加 20 国集团会议时，淡化了对于伊斯兰国(Islamic State)的担忧。
His low-key manner played poorly in the United States, which was already in the heat of a primary season. By the time Mr. Obama arrived at his next stop, in Manila, several Republican candidates were calling for the United States to bar all refugees from Syria. That, Mr. Obama said in a news conference with the Philippine president, Benigno S. Aquino Jr., would amount to a “recruitment tool” for the Islamic State.	他低调的处理方式在美国效果不佳，当时美国已经进入激烈的初选季。奥巴马抵达下一站马尼拉时，几名共和党候选人呼吁美国禁止叙利亚难民入境。奥巴马在与菲律宾总统贝尼尼奥·S·小阿基诺(Benigno S. Aquino Jr.)举行新闻发布会时表示，这对于伊斯兰国来说，相当于“招募工具”。
Even Mr. Obama’s holidays are routinely disrupted by events in the Middle East. In August 2014, critics faulted him for returning to the golf course on Martha’s Vineyard in Massachusetts after condemning the beheading of an American freelance journalist, James Foley, by an Islamic State fighter. (The president later said that was a mistake.)	甚至连奥巴马的假期都经常被中东的事件扰乱。2014 年 8 月，批评人士指责奥巴马在谴责美国自由撰稿人詹姆斯·福利(James Foley)遭伊斯兰国作战人员斩首一事，回到马萨诸塞州玛莎葡萄园岛(Martha’s Vineyard)打高尔夫。(总统后来表示这是一个错误。)
In December 2009, Mr. Obama was on his first Christmas holiday in Hawaii as president when a 23-year-old Nigerian man tried to blow up	2009 年 12 月，奥巴马前往夏威夷欢度他作为总统的第一个圣诞节，当时一名 23 岁的尼日利亚男子试图炸毁一架正在飞往底特律的西北航空公司客

a Northwest Airlines jetliner en route to Detroit. On that occasion, the president came under criticism for waiting several days before speaking out about the episode. It was a mistake he did not make again.	机。在那个时候，奥巴马过了几天才就该事件做出回应，因此遭到批评。他后来再也没有犯过这种错误。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160324/c24obama	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160324/c24obama
German Economy, Once Europe's Leader, Now Looks Like Laggard	中国等新兴市场需求不振，德国经济告急
FRANKFURT — China is cutting back on mining machinery as its economy slips. The United Arab Emirates and other Middle Eastern countries are no longer awash in oil money, putting luxury car brands at risk. Russia, still facing Western sanctions, cannot buy as much high-tech energy equipment.	法兰克福——中国在经济不景气之际，削减了购置采矿机械的费用。阿拉伯联合酋长国等中东国家的石油收入不再数不胜数，令豪车品牌前景堪忧。俄罗斯仍旧面临西方的制裁，无法购买多少高科技能源设备。
The downshift in the emerging markets is leaving Germany vulnerable — and, by extension, Europe.	新兴市场增长放缓让德国乃至整个欧洲都变得很脆弱。
As many businesses in the region struggled just to tread water in recent years, German companies prospered by selling the goods and technology that emerging countries needed to become more modern economies. As they did, Germany's strength served as a counterweight to the economic malaise, financial turmoil and Greek debt drama that dragged down many European countries.	近年间，欧洲的很多企业都在挣扎求存，德国企业却通过出售新兴国家发展成为更现代化的经济体所必须的产品和技术而兴旺发达。由于德企的兴旺发达，德国经济在很多欧洲国家都被经济衰退、金融风暴和希腊债务危机拖住脚步之际稳住了局势。
Now, Germany, which accounts for the largest share of the European economy, is looking like the laggard. Compared with the economies of other countries in the region, Germany's has been more deeply tethered to emerging markets. And the political climate is only adding to the uncertainty, as Germany deals with a wave of migrants and a potential exit of Britain from the European Union.	如今，德国作为欧洲最大的经济体，似乎正在成为拖后腿的那一方。与该地区的其他国家相比，德国经济和新兴市场的联系最为紧密。此外，德国正在应对移民潮和英国退出欧盟的可能性，这种政治氛围只会让不确定性有增无减。
Against that backdrop, the country's export engine is sputtering, while	在上述背景下，德国的商业信心受到了损害，其出口引擎在重压下开始发出

business confidence is eroding.	喘息之声。
During the good times, the German manufacturer Eickhoff Bergbautechnik sold 20 machines a year as China dug ever more coal mines to feed its energy-hungry factories. The machines, shearer loaders that use giant spinning claws to scrape coal or potash from underground seams, sell for up to 4 million euros, or about $4.6 million apiece.	经济景气的时候，中国为了满足那些能源紧缺的工厂的需求，所开采的煤矿越来越多，德国制造商艾柯夫采矿技术有限公司(Eickhoff Bergbautechnik)一年能卖出 20 套机械设备。每套设备——即采煤机，可以利用旋转的巨爪把煤或者钾盐从地下矿层中开采出来——售价高达 400 万欧元，约合 460 万美元。
Last year, the company sold just eight. With profit dropping, Eickhoff laid off about 10 percent of its local work force of 300.	去年，该公司只卖出了 8 套设备。由于利润下滑，艾柯夫裁掉了 300 名本地雇员中的 10%。
"We are going from an unbelievable boom to a down phase," said Karl-Heinz Rieser, the managing director of Eickhoff.	"我们正从令人难以置信的繁荣期过渡到萧条期，"艾柯夫的董事总经理卡尔-海因茨·里泽(Karl-Heinz Rieser)说。
Less torrid sales at Eickhoff and hundreds of other midsize German exporters translate into slower overall economic growth. Suppliers of mining equipment generated exports of €6.2 billion in 2012, according to the German Engineering Federation, an industry group. Last year, those exports fell to €3.5 billion, a trend that has played out in a number of industries.	艾柯夫以及数百家中型德国出口商的销售业绩都不像以前那样火爆，这意味着经济总体增速在放缓。行业组织德国机械制造商联合会(German Engineering Federation)称，采矿设备供应商在 2012 年创造了 62 亿欧元的出口收入。去年，它们创造的出口收入下降到了 35 亿欧元，这种趋势在许多行业里都有所显现。
As exports have slipped, the mood in Germany has turned glum.	在出口下滑之际，德国的氛围也变得沉郁起来。
Pessimists outnumbered optimists in February for the first time since late 2014, according to the survey of business managers by the Ifo Institute in Munich, which is considered a reliable predictor of the growth. Although there was a small uptick in March, manufacturers remain wary. If confidence remains weak, they are likely to cut back plans to invest in new equipment or hire people, prompting growth to slow.	慕尼黑的德国经济信息研究所(Ifo Institute)针对企业经理人的调查显示，今年 2 月，持悲观态度者超过了持乐观态度者，这在 2014 年末以来尚属首次。该研究所的调查结果一向被当成经济增长的可靠风向标。商业信心指数在 3 月份有所弹，但制造商们仍保持谨慎。如果信心依然不足，它们有可能减少用于购买新设备的支出，或者削减用人计划，这会让经济增速继续下降。

A weaker German economy would have political consequences for Europe.	疲软的德国经济可能会给欧洲政坛带来影响。
As much as other Europeans like to bash the Germans, it is doubtful that the eurozone could have survived its recent debt crisis without Germany's checkbook. Germany contributes more than a quarter of the financing for the European Stability Mechanism, the new bailout fund used to prevent the total collapse of countries like Greece.	尽管其他欧洲人很喜欢抨击德国人，但如果没有德国的支票簿，欧元区能否挺过近两年的债务危机是值得怀疑的。德国为新成立的、旨在防止欧盟成员国像希腊那样崩盘的救助基金——“欧洲稳定机制”(European Stability Mechanism)——提供了超过四分之一的资金。
For producers around the eurozone, German shoppers also filled the void left by struggling Spaniards, Italians and Portuguese. When auto sales entered a deep slump beginning in 2009, Germans bought not only Volkswagens and Mercedeses but also Italian Fiats and French Renaults.	此外，对欧元区各地的生产商而言，德国买家曾经填补过挣扎求存的西班牙人、意大利人和葡萄牙人留下的空缺。当汽车销售从2009年开始进入低谷的时候，德国人不仅会买大众(Volkswagens)车和奔驰(Mercedeses)车，还买了意大利人的菲亚特(Fiats)车和法国人的雷诺(Renaults)车。
"It's the biggest market in Europe," Thierry Koskas, the executive vice president of sales at Renault, said in an interview. "Due to the weight of this market, it's big volume for us and it's important."	"它是欧洲最大的市场，"雷诺集团销售部执行副总裁蒂埃里·科斯考什(Thierry Koskas)接受采访时说。"鉴于这个市场的权重，对我们来说它的体量很大，它很重要。"
The changing economic picture also threatens to undercut the influence of Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany.	正在变化的经济格局还可能让德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)的影响力受到损害。
The country's financial strength has made it the dominant political power. Though protesters in Greece were known to burn effigies of Ms. Merkel over her harsh austerity policies, she helped impose a measure of discipline among bickering eurozone leaders.	德国凭借自己的财力成为了占据主导地位的政治大国。虽然希腊的抗议者在默克尔实施严厉的紧缩政策期间公开烧毁了她的画像，但她帮助在争吵不休的欧洲领导人中间建立了某种纪律。
But there has been a tonal shift in recent months.	不过，近几个月来，情况有了变化。
Austria and other countries have defied Ms. Merkel's wishes on how to handle the influx of refugees from Syria. While she wanted to preserve Europe's openness, her counterparts instituted border controls.	奥地利等国家公开反对默克尔想要采取的应对叙利亚难民潮的措施。她想要保持欧洲的开放性，其他国家的领导人却在推行边境管控措施。

"Germany's political standing in Europe has declined in the last number of quarters from a position of undisputed hegemony just to one where they are the most important country," said Jacob Funk Kirkegaard, a senior fellow at the Peterson Institute for International Economics in Washington. "It has been more difficult for Berlin to herd the cats."	"近几个季度以来，德国在欧洲政治地位有所下降，它原本是欧洲无可争议的霸主，现在却只是欧洲最重要的一个国家，"华盛顿彼得森国际经济研究所(Peterson Institute for International Economics) 高级研究员雅各布·芬克·柯克加德(Jacob Funk Kirkegaard)说。"柏林方面聚拢'散沙'的工作变得更为棘手了。"
During the last decade, Germany has been something of a shopping mall for developing countries. If a country was mechanizing its farms, German companies like Claas made the tractors and grain harvesters. If a country needed a factory to produce liquid oxygen or one to bottle beer, German companies like Linde or Krones could design, equip and build the whole plant.	过去 10 年间，德国有点儿像为发展中国家而设的大型购物中心。如果一个国家想要推行农业机械化，科乐收(CLAAS)等德国公司会为其制造拖拉机和谷物收割机。如果一个国家需要生产液态氧或者灌装啤酒的工厂，林德(German)、克朗斯(Krones)等德国企业可以为其设计、装备、建造整个工厂。
Soaring demand from China, as well as places like Russia, Brazil and Kazakhstan, made Germany nearly impervious to the woes of its neighbors. While more than one-fifth of the work force in Spain is jobless, German unemployment has fallen to only 4.3 percent, lower than that of the United States. When Eickhoff, the mining company, had to lay off workers, many of them found jobs at sister companies.	来自中国、俄罗斯、巴西和哈萨克斯坦的需求急剧增加，令德国几乎完全没有机会体验其邻国所遭受的那种困境。当西班牙的失业率超过 25%的时候，德国的失业率跌至仅 4.3%，比美国还低。当采矿技术公司艾柯夫不得不裁员的时候，许多被裁掉的人在其兄弟公司里找到了工作。
China has been particularly good to German automakers, and therefore to the whole country. Autos are Germany's biggest export and one of the most important sources of jobs. China last year became the biggest market for the German sports car maker Porsche, surpassing the United States for the first time.	中国对德国汽车制造商乃至整个德国尤为友好。汽车是德国最重要的出口产品，也是该国工作岗位的主要来源。去年，中国首次超过美国，成为德国跑车制造商保时捷(Porsche)的最大市场。
But there are signs of trouble. Growth in the Chinese auto market is expected to be around 4 percent this year, half what it was last year. "We will continue to grow," Detlev von Platen, the head of sales for	但现在有迹象表明，麻烦来了。据预计，中国汽车市场今年的增长率是 4%，只有去年的一半。"我们的销售额会继续增长，"保时捷的销售业务负责人德特勒夫·冯·普拉滕(Detlev von Platen)接受采访时说。"不过增速不像以前那

Porsche, said in an interview. "But not as quickly as before."	样快。”
The Middle East is another boom market turned troubled. Civil war in Syria and plunging oil prices have hurt the confidence and buying power of countries like Kuwait.	中东是另外一个原本生机勃勃、现在却遇到麻烦的市场。叙利亚内战和暴跌的油价损害了科威特等国家的商业信心和购买力。
German exports to oil-producing countries fell 7 percent last year. The decline hurt sales of companies like Voith, based in Heidenheim in southern Germany, which produces motors used to pump large quantities of oil in refineries or drilling sites. "Customers in these industries are postponing or stopping investments," said Dirk Böckenhoff, a spokesman for Voith.	去年，德国对产油国的出口额下降了7%。这让福伊特(Voith)等公司的销售额受到了拖累。福伊特的总部位于德国南部城市海登海姆，其马达产品被用于在炼油厂或钻探地点泵送大量石油。“来自这些行业的客户正在推迟或停止投资，”福伊特的发言人德克·贝肯霍夫(Dirk Böckenhoff)说。
No matter where German executives look, they struggle to identify any region that is booming the way that China did until recently.	不论德企高管望向何处，他们都难以看到像不久前的中国那样正在蓬勃发展的区域。
Growth in the United States is looking mixed. Brazil is in the midst of a severe recession. And Russia has suffered from low commodity prices and political tension with the West.	美国的发展状况似乎有好有坏。巴西正在经历严重的衰退。俄罗斯因为低廉的大宗商品价格和与西方国家紧张的政治关系而备受困扰。
Iran poses an opportunity, since sanctions have been lifted and the country has been opening up. German companies are rushing to exploit the new market. The engineering and electronics giant Siemens last month signed an agreement to deliver electricity-generating equipment to Mapna, an Iranian power and transportation conglomerate.	伊朗存在机会，因为制裁已经被解除，该国已经打开国门。德国企业正蜂拥而入，开发这个新市场。上个月，机械制造及电子巨头西门子(Siemens)与伊朗的电力及运输集团MAPNA签订了一份协议，将为后者提供发电设备。
But Iran, with an economy smaller than Turkey's, is not big enough to support German growth. And German companies will probably have to adapt to a growth rate that is closer to the mediocre eurozone average of about 1 percent – making it a member of the pack rather than the	但经济体量小于土耳其的伊朗，不足以支撑德国的增长。欧元区的平均经济增速是1%左右，德国公司恐怕不得不适应与这一平庸数字接近的增长率——这会让德国从欧元区的领导者变成普通一员。 leader.

Mr. Rieser, the maker of coal mining equipment, says his company is reacting to the slowdown by introducing machines for different segments of the market. He does not expect to have to cut any more jobs.	经营煤矿开采设备的里泽说，为了应对经济减速，他的公司正在推出针对不同细分市场的机械。他预计公司不会进一步裁员。
But he added, "There are a lot of firms that are smaller than us that have a lot more trouble."	但他补充道，“很多规模比我们小的公司，遇到的麻烦比我们多得多。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160406/c06germanecon	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160406/c06germanecon
Fireworks Go Wrong at Kerala Temple in Southern India, Killing Many	印度寺庙因燃放烟花发生爆炸，死伤过百
MUMBAI, India — A series of explosions early Sunday caused by a fireworks display during a religious festival at a temple in the southern Indian state of Kerala left 106 people dead and hundreds more injured, the local authorities said.	印度孟买——据当地政府消息，周日凌晨，印度南部喀拉拉邦的一座寺庙发生一系列爆炸，已造成 106 人死亡，数百人受伤。爆炸是由于燃放烟花造成的，当时正值宗教节日。
P. T. Chacko, a spokesman for Chief Minister Oommen Chandy of Kerala, said that the fireworks display had been specifically forbidden by district officials but that the temple had gone ahead anyway.	喀拉拉邦首席部长欧门·昌迪(Oommen Chandy)的发言人 P·T·查科(P. T. Chacko)表示，燃放烟花已被地区官员明令禁止，但寺庙仍然进行了燃放。
A firework landed in the building where the fireworks were being stored, setting off multiple explosions that leveled several buildings, killing and injuring people, K. Hari Kumar, a fire officer at the scene, said in a telephone interview.	现场的一位消防员 K·哈利·库马尔(K. Hari Kumar)在电话采访中说，燃放烟花时火星掉落在储存烟花的建筑内，引发了多次爆炸，导致数座建筑物倒塌及人员伤亡。
"It was not a fire. It was one big blast and after that many surrounding buildings and electrical lines collapsed," Mr. Kumar said.	“不是起火。是一次大爆炸，爆炸过后许多周围的建筑和电线发生了倒塌，”库马尔说。
Mr. Kumar said the explosions began around 3 a.m., and rescue operations were still underway as of 9:30 a.m., with some people still trapped. The force of the explosions caused buildings and electrical	库马尔称爆炸发生在凌晨三点左右，上午 9 点 30 分时援救行动仍在进行，一些人仍然被困。他说爆炸导致 50 英尺外的建筑和电线倒塌。 lines to collapse as far as 50 feet away, he said.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi commented on the incident on Twitter, saying, "Fire at temple in Kollam is heart-rending & shocking beyond words." Television stations reported that the prime minister would visit the temple site Sunday.	总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)在 Twitter 上对事件发表评论, 称, "发生奎隆(Kollam)的寺庙大火令人痛心和震惊, 无法用语言形容。"电视台报道称, 总理将于周日前往寺庙所在地。
Puttingal temple, where the explosions occurred, lies in the coastal town of Kollam, about 40 miles from the state capital of Thiruvananthapuram. Locals believe that a goddess appeared on an ant hill that is now the site of the Hindu temple.	发生爆炸的普亭格尔(Puttingal)寺位于沿海城镇奎隆, 离邦首府特里凡得琅(Thiruvananthapuram)大约 40 英里远。当地人相信, 曾有女神出现在一座蚁丘上, 蚁丘所在地即是如今这座印度教寺庙。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160410/c10temple	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160410/c10temple
Musings From the Dalai Lama: Mosquitoes Are Ungrateful, for Starters	当达赖喇嘛和孩子们聊天时, 他聊些什么
NEW DELHI — On Friday, the students of the American Embassy School in New Delhi filed into the school's auditorium to greet an unusual visitor: The 14th Dalai Lama, who will celebrate his 81st birthday this summer. They arranged themselves on the floor and gazed up at the Buddhist leader, who spoke for an hour and 40 minutes without notes.	新德里——周五, 新德里美国大使馆学校(American Embassy School)的学生涌入学校礼堂, 欢迎一位不同寻常的访客: 将在今夏迎来 81 岁生日的十四世达赖喇嘛。在地上坐好后, 他们抬头凝视着这位佛教领袖。后者脱稿演讲了一小时四十分钟。
Among the school's students are the children of Ellen Barry, South Asia bureau chief of The New York Times. Ms. Barry, who watched via livestream, was not planning to write about the event, but sent colleagues an email about the often humorous, sometimes moving, discussion. It was worth sharing.	该校的学生中包括《纽约时报》南亚分社社长埃伦·巴里(Ellen Barry)的孩子。通过实况转播观看演讲的巴里并不打算就此事撰写文章, 但她给同事发了一封电子邮件, 讨论这场常常幽默风趣, 时而又颇为感人的演讲。这封邮件值得分享。
His speech was at times very funny — he said Japanese food "sometimes looks like decoration, not real food," and that he occasionally felt, after finishing a Japanese meal, people might understandably feel inclined to go out and find a restaurant.	他的演讲时而妙趣横生。他说日本料理"有时候看着像装饰品, 而不是真正的食物", 还说自己偶尔会觉得, 吃完日餐后人们可能想要出去找家餐馆, 这是可以理解的。

Discussing the English, he described a man coming up to him in London to praise the way he answered, simply, "I don't know," when he did not know the answer, and said "I thought, 'Oh, Englishmen feel difficult to say 'I don't know.' "	在谈到英国人时, 他说自己在伦敦时, 一名男子找到他, 称赞他回答问题的方式, 因为他在不知道答案时会说“我不知道”。他说, “当时我想, ‘噢, 英国人觉得‘我不知道’这句话很难说出口。’”
When fifth graders asked their guest about whether he had pets (he does, dogs and cats), he went on a really hilarious riff about mosquitoes, who, he said, "don't have any sense of appreciation."	当五年级的学生问这位来客是否养宠物(他养, 有狗和猫)时, 他说了一段真的令人捧腹的话, 是关于蚊子的。他说蚊子“没有任何感恩之情”。
He said when he is in a good mood and he knows he is not sick, he will allow mosquitoes to feed on his blood (since he is the Dalai Lama) and said "their whole body becomes red" and then they fly, "but there is no indication of appreciation," a feeling that so provoked him that he had approached scientists to inquire whether insects are even capable of gratitude. He said that, as he gets old, his cat is also getting old, and he imitated a doddering old cat, and it was very funny.	他说在他心情好, 并且知道自己没病的时候, 会允许蚊子吸自己的血(因为他是达赖喇嘛), 还说“它们整个身子都变红了”, 然后就飞走了, “但没有感谢的迹象”。这种感觉让他很愤怒, 于是他找到科学家, 询问昆虫是否具备感恩的能力。他说随着自己年事渐高, 他的猫也年纪渐长。他还模仿了一只老态龙钟的猫的样子, 非常有意思。
At some point, it seemed like he happily might go on talking for three or four hours. He was in the middle of telling a parable about a Jain monk from the sixth century B.C. when an administrator interrupted him and he guffawed. (His laugh is alternately a snicker, a chuckle or a fully liberated guffaw.) He said, "I am always telling my audience that once this person's mouth opens, then he will blah blah blah continuously, that is my weakness." Then he just kept barreling on very cheerfully for another quarter of an hour.	在某一刻, 看起来他可能会开开心心地继续说上三四个小时。当他正在讲一则与公元前六世纪的一名耆那教僧人有关的寓言故事时, 一名管理人员打断了他, 他大笑了起来。(他时而窃笑, 时而低声轻笑, 有时又会彻底放开地大笑。)他说, “我总是对观众说, 这个人一旦张开嘴, 他就停不下来。这是我的缺点。”之后, 他又兴高采烈地讲了一刻钟。
He also said some serious, important stuff, which may have gone over my 5-year-old's head.	他也说了一些严肃、重要的话。在我五岁儿子的脑海里, 这些话可能已经被遗忘了。
That the institution of the Dalai Lama is outdated, and emerged from	他说, 产生于封建制度的达赖喇嘛制度已经过时了, 他对自己“终结了”这个

the feudal system, and that he is proud to have “ended” it (debatable whether this has really happened). He criticized Sharia law, which he said was created for a nomadic civilization. He said the same thing about the Hindu caste system — that it was a remnant of a different age that must be abandoned, left behind.	制度（事实是否如此有待商榷）感到自豪。他批评伊斯兰教法，称那是为游牧文明创造的。他对印度教的种姓制度持同样的态度，称其是另一个时代的残迹，必须废除。
He said the next Dalai Lama could be a woman (and that physical attractiveness serves dharma, which in Buddhism means “cosmic law and order”). He said China is modernizing and many Chinese support the Middle Way, a policy that softened Tibetan demands, calling for self-governance within China. He criticized Chinese hard-liners, saying they are missing that part of the brain that controls common sense.	他说，下一世达赖喇嘛可能是一名女性（并称外表的吸引力服务于佛法。在佛教中，佛法指的是“宇宙的规律和秩序”。）他说中国正在实现现代化，很多中国人支持中道。该政策淡化了藏人的主张，寻求在中国政治框架内实现自治。他批评中国的强硬派，称他们的脑子里缺少了负责常识的那一部分。
And he said it was sad that people are able to “simply remain indifferent” to the suffering of other people, while “even animals, in a small herd, one animal is sick and another animal is licking.”	他说，“即便是在一小群动物里，一个生病了，另一个也会舔舐安慰”，而人们却能够对其他人的苦难“完全无动于衷”，这一点令人伤心。
There were times when he came off as goofy. At one point, while instructing the children in the importance of being compassionate, he said that a decade or two from now “I may be in hell,” and that he would come back to check whether the younger generation had created a more compassionate world. If not, he continued, “I will be able to report that hell will expand, that 21st century people are ready to come to hell.”	有时候，他的玩笑也仿佛有些古怪。演讲期间，在教孩子们心怀同情的重要性时，他说一二十年后“我可能已经在地狱里了”，并表示他会回来检查年轻一代是否创造了一个更富有同情心的世界。他接着说，如果没有，“我就会反映说，扩建地狱吧，21世纪的人做好来地狱的准备了”。
(This will take some explaining to my kindergartner. Do Buddhists even believe in hell?)	（这需要我给孩子们解释一下。佛教徒相信地狱的存在吗？）
But over all, the Dalai Lama was sharp as a tack — aside from my father and Bob Dole, I don’t think I have encountered an 81-year-old man so	但总的来说，达赖喇嘛思路清晰。除了我父亲和鲍勃·多尔(Bob Dole)外，我还没遇到过能像这样把握自己思维的81岁老人。

much in control of his mind.
Part of the talk — when he spoke about the passage of time, and the end of his own life — were moving, beyond what I expected.	我没料到的是，演讲的部分内容，也就是他谈到时光流逝，自己的生命即将结束时，很感人。
He told this story: When he was a boy, his tutor kept two different whips — one ordinary whip for his brother, and another whip which was yellow, which he described as a “holy whip for holy student, Dalai Lama.”	他讲了这样一个故事：当他还是个孩子时，他的老师准备了两根不一样的鞭子，一根是给他兄弟准备的普通鞭子，另一根是黄色的，他说那是“为神圣的学生达赖喇嘛准备的圣鞭”。
The Dalai Lama smiled a little as he told this. “Even if the holy whip” is used, he said, “I don’t think there is any difference in holy pain. It is just pain.”	说起这个故事时，达赖喇嘛露出了微笑。“即便用的是圣鞭，”他说，“我也不觉得神圣的疼痛有什么不一样。就是痛而已。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160411/c11lama	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160411/c11lama
Chinese Scions’ Song: My Daddy’s Rich and My Lamborghini’s Good-Looking	中国富二代移民：父辈的财富和漂亮的兰博基尼
Andy Guo, an 18-year-old Chinese immigrant, loves driving his red Lamborghini Huracán. He does not love having to share the car with his twin brother, Anky.	18岁的安迪·郭(Andy Guo)是一名中国移民，喜欢开自己那辆红色兰博基尼“飓风”跑车。他不喜欢的，是和自己的双胞胎兄弟安基(Anky)分享这辆车。
“There’s a lot of conflict,” Mr. Guo said, as a crowd of admirers gazed at the vehicle and its vanity license plate, “CTGRY 5,” short for the most catastrophic type of hurricane.	“有很多矛盾，”安迪说道，有一群人正用羡慕的眼神盯着这辆车看。同样吸引眼球的还有它的个性车牌——“CTGRY 5”，即最高等级飓风的简写。
The 360,000-Canadian-dollar car was a gift last year from the twins’ father, who travels back and forth between Vancouver and China’s northern Shanxi Province and made his fortune in coal, said Mr. Guo, an economics major at the University of British Columbia.	安迪现在在不列颠哥伦比亚大学(University of British Columbia)主修经济学，他说这辆价值36万加元（约合180万人民币）的跑车，是父亲去年送给他们兄弟俩的礼物。他父亲在山西做煤炭生意发家，如今往来于温哥华和山西两地。
The car is more fashion than function. “I have a backpack, textbooks and laundry, but I can’t fit everything inside,” he lamented. And that is	这辆车有些中看不中用。“我就一个背包、一些课本和换洗衣服，车里都装不下，”他抱怨说。这还不是最糟糕的。“有一次，一个警察把我拦下来，就

not the worst of it. "A cop once pulled me over just to look at the car," he said.	为了看看这辆车，"他说。
China's rapid economic rise has turned peasants into billionaires. Many wealthy Chinese are increasingly eager to stow their families, and their riches, in the West, where rule of law, clean air and good schools offer peace of mind, especially for those looking to escape scrutiny from the Communist Party and an anti-corruption campaign that has sent hundreds of the rich and powerful to jail.	中国的快速经济增长让不少农民变身为亿万富翁。许多富裕的中国人越来越渴望将家人和财富安置到西方国家。那里有能让他们感到安心的法治社会、干净的空气和好学校。尤其是那些企图逃避中国共产党及其反腐运动的严格审查的人，这场运动已经将成百上千的权贵投入狱中。
With its weak currency and welcoming immigration policies, Canada has become a top destination for China's 1 percenters. According to government figures, from 2005 to 2012, at least 37,000 Chinese millionaires took advantage of a now-defunct immigrant investor program to become permanent residents of British Columbia, the province that includes Vancouver. This metropolitan area of 2.3 million is increasingly home to Chinese immigrants, who made up more than 18 percent of the population in 2011, up from less than 7 percent in 1981.	因为有低汇率和友好的移民政策，加拿大成为中国 1% 阶层的移民首选地。据加拿大政府统计，在 2005 年至 2012 年间，有至少 3.7 万名中国百万富翁通过现已撤销的一个投资移民项目，成为了温哥华所属的不列颠哥伦比亚省的永久公民。这个人口 230 万的大都会区，正成为越来越多中国移民的聚居地，华裔在当地人口中的比例，已经从 1981 年的 7%，增长为 2011 年的 18%。
Many residents say the flood of Chinese capital has caused an affordable housing crisis. Vancouver is the most expensive city in Canada to buy a home, according to a 2016 survey by the consulting firm Demographia. The average price of a detached house in greater Vancouver more than doubled from 2005 to 2015, to around 1.6 million Canadian dollars ($1.2 million), according to the Real Estate Board of Greater Vancouver.	很多居民表示，大批中国资金涌入，在当地造成了一场保障性住房危机。咨询公司 Demographia 在 2016 年的一项调查显示，温哥华成为加拿大房价最高的城市。据大温哥华区房地产委员会(Real Estate Board of Greater Vancouver)统计，自 2005 年至 2015 年，大温哥华区一座独立住宅的均价翻了不止一倍，达到约 160 万加元（约合 800 万人民币）。
Residents angry about the rise of rich foreign real estate buyers and	有些居民对来自海外的富裕购房者和空置房主——尤其是来自中国的——的

absentee owners, particularly from China, have begun protests on social media, including a #DontHave1Million Twitter campaign. The provincial government agreed this year to begin tracking foreign ownership of real estate in response to demands from local politicians.	增加感到愤怒，开始在社交媒体上抗议，包括在推特上开展 #DontHave1Million(没有 100 万美元)宣传活动。应地方政治人士的要求，不列颠哥伦比亚省省政府今年决定开始追查房地产海外产权。
The anger has had little effect on the gilded lives of Vancouver's wealthy Chinese. Indeed, to the newcomers for whom money is no object, the next purchase after a house is usually a car, and then a few more.	不过，这些愤怒情绪对温哥华的富有华人的光鲜生活几乎没什么影响。实际上，这些不缺钱的新移民买完房子，通常接着就会买一辆车，然后再买几辆。
Many luxury car dealerships here employ Chinese staff, a testament to the spending power of the city's newest residents. In 2015, there were 2,500 cars worth more than $150,000 registered in metropolitan Vancouver, up from 1,300 in 2009, according to the Insurance Corporation of British Columbia.	在这里，不少豪华车经销商都雇有中国员工，这也算是这些新居民购买力的一种证明。据不列颠哥伦比亚保险公司(Insurance Corporation of British Columbia)统计，大温哥华区价格在 15 万美元以上的注册车辆，从 2009 年的 1300 辆，上升到了 2015 年的 2500 辆。
Many of Vancouver's young supercar owners are known as fuerdai, a Mandarin expression, akin to trust-fund kids, that means "rich second generation." In China, where the superrich are widely criticized as being corrupt and materialistic, the term provokes a mix of scorn and envy.	温哥华有不少年轻的超级跑车车主被称为“富二代”，这种称呼类似美国的“信托基金子女”。在中国，超富阶层被普遍指责为腐败和物质主义，富二代这个词既透出一种鄙视，也包含着羡慕。
The fuerdai have brought their passion for extravagance to Vancouver. White Lamborghinis are popular among young Chinese women; the men often turn in their leased supercars after a few months in order to play with a newer, cooler status symbol.	富二代将他们对奢华的追求带到了温哥华。年轻的华裔女性流行开白色兰博基尼；男性则往往租一辆超跑玩几个月，然后就换一辆更新、更酷的地位象征。
Hundreds of young Chinese immigrants, along with a handful of Canadian-born Chinese, have started supercar clubs whose members come together to drive, modify and photograph their flashy vehicles, providing alluring eye candy for their followers on social media.	成百上千的年轻中国移民和一些在加拿大出生的华裔，创立了多个超级跑车俱乐部。成员们会聚在一起飙车，改装和拍摄自己炫酷的跑车，向他们在社交媒体上的关注者展示着诱人的玩物。

The Vancouver Dynamic Auto Club has 440 members, 90 percent of whom are from China, said the group's 27-year-old founder, David Dai. To join, a member must have a car that costs over 100,000 Canadian dollars, or about $77,000. "They don't work," Mr. Dai said of Vancouver's fuerdai. "They just spend their parents' money."	温哥华赛车俱乐部(Vancouver Dynamic Auto Club)的创办人戴维·戴(David Dai)表示, 该俱乐部有 440 名成员, 其中有 90%来自中国。要加入这个俱乐部, 你必须拥有一辆价格超过 10 万加元(约合 50 万人民币)的车。"他们不工作,"戴维说到温哥华的富二代。"就花父母的钱。"
Occasionally, the need for speed hits a roadblock. In 2011, the police impounded a squadron of 13 Lamborghinis, Maseratis and other luxury cars, worth $2 million, for racing on a metropolitan Vancouver highway at 125 miles per hour. The drivers were members of a Chinese supercar club, and none were older than 21, according to news reports at the time.	他们对速度的追求, 偶尔也会遭遇挫折。2011 年, 警方曾扣押 13 辆跑车, 原因是车主们在温哥华一条城区高速路上以每小时 125 英里的车速飙车。这些车中有兰博基尼、玛莎拉蒂和其他豪华跑车, 总价值 200 万美元。据媒体当时报道, 开车的人都是一个中国跑车俱乐部的成员, 而且年龄都低于 21 岁。
On a recent evening, an overwhelmingly Chinese crowd of young adults had gathered at an invitation-only Rolls-Royce event to see a new black-and-red Dawn convertible, base price $402,000. It is the only such car in North America.	近日的一个晚上, 一群几乎为清一色华裔的年轻人, 聚集在劳斯莱斯的一场仅限受邀嘉宾的活动上, 欣赏该公司新推出的黑红色"黎明"(Dawn)敞篷跑车。这款车售价 40.2 万美元起, 整个北美仅此一辆。
Among the curious was Jin Qiao, 20, a baby-faced art student who moved to Vancouver from Beijing six years ago with his mother. During the week, Mr. Jin drives one of two Mercedes-Benz S.U.V.s, which he said were better suited for the rigors of daily life.	在一众好奇的嘉宾中, 就有长着一张娃娃脸的乔锦(Jin Qiao, 音)。今年 20 岁的他是个艺术生, 六年前和母亲一起移民到了温哥华。乔锦这周开的是家里两辆奔驰 SUV 中的一辆, 他说这种车更适合应对复杂的日常路况。
But his most prized possession is a $600,000 Lamborghini Aventador Roadster Galaxy, its exterior custom wrapped to resemble outer space. A lanky design major who favors Fendi clothing and gold sneakers, Mr. Jin extolled the virtues of exotic cars and was quick to dismiss those who criticized supercar aficionados as ostentatious. "There are so many rich people in Vancouver, so what's the point of showing off?" he said.	但他最珍贵的资产是一辆价值 60 万美元的兰博基尼 Aventador"银河"双座敞篷跑车, 有着仿若外太空景象的定制外观。这名身材瘦长的设计专业学生喜欢芬迪(Fendi)的服饰, 喜欢金色的运动鞋。乔锦称赞了进口车的各种优点, 并急切地反驳那些指责超级跑车爱好者是炫耀的说法。"温哥华富人这么多, 炫耀有什么意义?"他说。

Asked what his parents did for work, Mr. Jin said his father was a successful businessman back in China but declined to provide details. "I can't say," he stammered with evident discomfort.	当被问及父母的职业时，金先生表示他的父亲是一名成功的中国商人，但他拒绝透露细节。“我不能说，”他不自在地支吾着说。
Because of high import and luxury taxes, supercars are often 50 percent cheaper in Canada than in China. And in Canada, Chinese immigrants said, people are far less likely to question how they obtained their wealth.	由于中国高额的进口和奢侈品税，超级跑车在加拿大的价格往往较在中国低50%。而且据中国移民称，在加拿大，人们会更少地询问其他人财富的来源。
"In Vancouver, there are lots of kids of corrupt Chinese officials," said Shi Yi, 27, the owner of Luxury Motor, a car dealership that caters to affluent Chinese. "Here, they can flaunt their money."	“在温哥华有很多中国腐败官员的子女，”27岁的老板史毅然（音）如是说。他拥有的Luxury Motor汽车销售店专门向中国富豪销售豪车。“在这里，他们可以炫耀自己的财富。”
Some Chinese immigrants think a supercar is a poor investment, because its value decreases over time. "Better to spend half a million dollars on two expensive watches or some diamonds," said Diana Wang, 23, a University of British Columbia graduate student who said she owned more than 30 Chanel bags and a $200,000 diamond-encrusted Richard Mille watch.	一些中国移民认为超级跑车并不是好的投资手段，因为其价值随着时间而缩水。“花50万美元买上两块手表或一些钻石更好。”23岁的戴安娜·王这样说道。作为一名不列颠哥伦比亚大学的研究生，她拥有30多个香奈儿包和一块价值20万美元、镶满钻石的理查德·米勒(Richard Mille)手表。
Ms. Wang, a star on the online reality show "Ultra Rich Asian Girls of Vancouver," normally drives her parents' Ferrari or Mercedes-Maybach when she visits them in Shanghai. But in Canada, her parents gave her a strict car budget of 150,000 Canadian dollars ($115,000), so she drives the less-flashy Audi RS5.	作为网络真人秀《温哥华的巨富亚裔女孩》(Ultra Rich Asian Girls of Vancouver)节目中的明星，王女士在回上海看望父母时一般会开着他们的法拉利或迈巴赫轿车。但在加拿大时，由于她的父母将买车的预算限制为15万加元（约合75万元人民币），她只能驾驶一辆低调得多的奥迪RS5。
"I could be in danger if people saw me in a supercar," she said, her Breguet watch, worth more than a BMW, glinting in the sunlight as she drove the Audi through town.	“如果别人看见我开着一辆超跑，我可能会面临危险。”她说。而当她开着奥迪穿城时，她价值超过了一辆宝马汽车的宝玑(Breguet)表在阳光下闪闪发光。
Four years ago, to learn the value of money after her friends criticized	四年前，当朋友们批评了她的消费习惯后，为了了解钱的价值，王女士花了

her spending habits, Ms. Wang spent three days on the streets of Vancouver, playing homeless. She said she had left her mansion with no phone, identification or wallet, wearing Victoria's Secret pajamas and $1,000 Chanel shoes.	三天时间在温哥华街上体验“流浪”的生活。她说自己将手机、身份证件和钱包都留在了自己的别墅里，但穿着维多利亚的秘密(Victoria's Secret)牌睡衣和价值 1000 美元的香奈儿(Chanel)鞋。
While in voluntary poverty, she lined up for donated food and felt the sting of humiliation after she was kicked out of a Tim Horton's fast-food restaurant for falling asleep at a table. The experiment, she said, gave her a new appreciation for her parents' financial support.	在这段自愿的贫困生活体验中，她曾为领取免费食物而排队；也曾因在提姆霍顿(Tim Horton's)快餐店的桌子上睡着后被赶出门而感到羞耻。她表示，这样试验使她对父母在经济上的资助产生了感恩之心。
"Before that experience, I never looked at a price tag," she said. "Now I do."	"在这段经历前，我购物从不看价签。"她说，“现在我会看了。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160412/c12vancouver	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160412/c12vancouver
Panama Papers Leak Casts Light on a Law Firm Founded on Secrecy	巴拿马文件背后的律所（上）：“巨型洗钱机器”
Read the second chapter: Panama Papers Leak Casts Light on a Law Firm Founded on Secrecy	阅读《巴拿马文件背后的律所（下）：财富与隐私》
MEXICO CITY — The two men came together in an era of political and economic uncertainty in Panama: One a reserved German immigrant whose father served in the armed wing of the Nazi party, the other a gregarious, aspiring novelist whose family opposed Panama's military dictatorship.	墨西哥城——正值巴拿马政治与经济动荡之际，两个男人在这里相遇了：一位是内敛的德国移民，父亲曾在纳粹党内的武装派别工作；另一位则是爱好交际、颇有抱负的小说家，家人曾经反对巴拿马的军事独裁政权。
With the nation still under the sway of Gen. Manuel Noriega, the pair merged their small law firms in 1986, creating what would become a powerhouse of secretive offshore banking for the elite. Over the next three decades, Jürgen Mossack and Ramón Fonseca expanded their practice to a staff of 500, with affiliate companies around the world and a client list of the powerful, the famous and, sometimes, the infamous.	当时是 1986 年，国家还在曼纽·诺列加将军(Gen. Manuel Noriega)统治之下，两人把各自的小型律师事务所合并起来，创立的新律所后来成为一个强大的机构，专为精英阶层提供秘密离岸银行服务。在接下来的 30 年里，于尔根·莫萨克(Jürgen Mossack)与拉蒙·冯塞卡(Ramón Fonseca)把他们的业务扩展为拥有 500 名员工、在全球开办分公司的大公司，客户名单上既有位高权重人士，也不乏各界名人，有时还会有臭名昭著的人。

In January, a prosecutor investigating the sweeping corruption in Brazil publicly called their law firm "a huge money launderer."	今年1月，一位调查巴西猖獗腐败现象的公诉人公开将他们的律所称为“巨型洗钱机器。”
The partners had become very wealthy, and Mr. Fonseca leveraged the firm's success to gain an influential role in the upper ranks of politics. He told associates that he wanted to clean up the government, serving as a special adviser to President Juan Carlos Varela until the corruption scandal in Brazil forced Mr. Fonseca to resign this year.	这对搭档早已非常富有，冯塞卡先生利用律所的成功，成为了政界上层举足轻重的人物。他当上了胡安·卡洛斯·巴雷拉总统(President Juan Carlos Varela)的顾问，对同僚们说自己希望净化政府，直到巴西的腐败丑闻迫使冯塞卡于今年辞职。
In an interview, he said that entering politics was, in part, a way of giving back. "I believe in sharing the pizza," he wrote. "At least to give others one slice."	在采访中，他说自己进入政界，部分原因是希望有所回馈。“我相信披萨是要分享的，”他写道，“至少要给别人一块。”
The firm, Mossack Fonseca, was built on assurances of bulletproof privacy for its clients. But its operations were laid bare this week by a vast leak of millions of documents that have helped expose the proliferation of shell companies and tax havens for the world's wealthiest people. The revelations have already prompted Iceland's prime minister to step aside and spurred criminal investigations on at least two continents.	这家名叫莫萨克-冯塞卡(Mossack Fonseca)的公司建立在承诺严格保护客户隐私基础之上。但是这个星期，随着数百万份文件的泄露，它的交易也大白于天下，这些文件令大量激增的壳公司，乃至世界上最富有者们的逃税避难所得以曝光。它们已经促使冰岛首相辞职，并在至少两个大洲引发了犯罪调查。
The leak has also brought more scrutiny to Panama's financial and legal sectors, just as the country's leadership was trying to shed its longstanding reputation as a haven for the loot of the criminal and corrupt. In February, Panama was removed from a watch list maintained by an international agency that sets standards to combat money laundering and terrorism financing, but it remains under scrutiny as a haven for tax evaders.	这次泄露事件还令人们开始对巴拿马的金融与法律机构详加审视，长期以来，巴拿马被视为犯罪和腐败者销赃的安全港，目前这个国家的领导者正力图摆脱这种形象。2月，巴拿马被一家致力于减少洗钱与恐怖分子融资的国际机构从观察名单上移除，但它仍然被视为逃税者们的避风港，受到密切关注。
Panama's president has vowed to cooperate with any judicial	巴拿马总统郑重宣告，政府会配合一切与这些泄露的信息有关的司法调查，

investigations stemming from the leaked information, which could put him in the awkward position of allowing an inquiry into his former adviser.	这可能会引起对他前顾问的调查，令他处境尴尬。
Mossack Fonseca has denied that it committed any wrongdoing, and Mr. Fonseca proclaimed his firm's innocence.	莫萨克-冯塞卡拒绝承认律所做了任何不正当行为。冯塞卡宣称自己的律所是清白的。
"At the end of this storm the sky will be blue again and people will find that the only crime is the hacking" of the firm's documents, he said in an hourlong interview conducted over the messaging platform WhatsApp.	"风暴过后，天空就会恢复湛蓝，人们会发现，唯一的罪行就是黑客行为，"他在通过信息平台 WhatsApp 接受长达一小时的采访时说。
But some in Panama who know Mr. Fonseca say the leak's contents are at odds with how he has tried to portray himself and his role in the country.	但是有些身在巴拿马并了解冯塞卡的人说，这些泄露的内容和他力图呈现给外界的形象，以及他在这个国家扮演的角色是不一致的。
Carlos Guevara Mann, a fellow party member and former government official, said he had once asked Mr. Fonseca, already a successful novelist, why he would bother with politics. The lawyer, he recalled, told him that he wanted to set straight the nation's human rights record.	和他同属一党的前政府官员卡洛斯·格瓦拉·曼恩(Carlos Guevara Mann)说，自己曾经问过当时已经是成功小说家的冯塞卡，他为什么要费力从事政治。他回忆，这位律师告诉他，自己希望整顿这个国家的人权纪录。
"When you match that conversation with the fact that the firm was providing services to all of those notorious human rights violators — Qaddafi, Mugabe, Assad and Putin — it really is repugnant," Mr. Mann said.	"事实是，这家律所为几乎所有臭名昭著的人权侵犯者提供服务——卡扎菲(Qaddafi)、穆加贝(Mugabe)、阿萨德(Assad)和普京(Putin)，再想想他的那番话，真是让人厌恶，"曼恩先生说。
Among the leaked documents was an email exchange obtained by the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists, in which the firm's top partners realized they had worked for years with clients from Iran who had been listed on a sanctions list published by the United	在泄露的文件当中，有一份往来的电子邮件被国际调查报道记者同盟(International Consortium of Investigative Journalists)获取，邮件中，律所的两位最高领导意识到，他们服务多年的伊朗客户名列美国政府与联合国公布的制裁名单。

States government and the United Nations.
"This is dangerous!" Mr. Mossack wrote in an email to Mr. Fonseca and others at the firm. "A red flag should have been raised immediately."	"这很危险!"莫萨克在给冯塞卡和律所其他人的电子邮件中写道。"必须马上竖起警惕的红旗。"
Mr. Mossack placed blame for the oversight on employees in the law firm's London office who were "not doing their due diligence thoroughly, (or maybe none at all)."	莫萨克责备律所伦敦办事处的雇员过于疏忽, "不够细致彻底(也许根本什么都没做)。"
The leaks have roiled Panama's legal and banking sectors, bedrocks of the country's economy, and chilled Panama's business class. The country's bar association has come to the firm's defense, saying the leak amounted to an attack on the country's reputation.	这些泄露的文件令巴拿马的法律机构和银行机构大为愤怒, 这两个行业是这个国家经济的基础, 巴拿马的商务阶层亦感到不安。该国的律师协会已经站出来为这家律所辩护, 说泄密事件已经上升到对这个国家声誉的攻击。
"Terrible damage is being done to them, to all lawyers and their country at large," José Alberto Alvarez, the association's president, said in a news conference on Monday.	"他们遭受了严重的损害, 所有的律师, 以及他们的祖国遭受了严重的损害," 协会主席何塞·阿尔贝托·阿尔瓦雷斯(José Alberto Alvarez)在周一的新闻发布会上说。
There is a lot at stake for Panama, a country whose economy heavily relies on the legal and financial services industries.	巴拿马的经济严重依赖法律和金融服务业, 目前这个国家存在大量问题。
The rise of Mossack Fonseca coincided with the emergence of Panama as a capital of the worldwide offshore banking industry. The increasing flow of global capital across borders during the 1970s and 1980s fueled a market for lawyers and accountants capable of sheltering the money, and Panama was primed to take advantage of the boom.	莫萨克-冯塞卡公司崛起之时, 巴拿马正在成为全球离岸银行之都。在 20 世纪 70 年代到 80 年代, 全球跨国资本日益增加, 催生了一个能提供隐蔽资金服务的市场, 由律师和会计师组成, 巴拿马早已做好准备, 在这股浪潮中占领先机。
Beginning in the early 1900s, its station as a trade and shipping center — at the intersection of two continents and at the convergence of the Pacific Ocean and the Caribbean Sea — made it an obvious candidate for offshore accounting. International ships flew the Panamanian flag to take advantage of its advantageous corporate tax structure, which	从 18 世纪初开始, 位于太平洋与加勒比海交汇处, 连接两大洲的巴拿马便是贸易与航运的中心, 也因此成为离岸会计的当然之选。国际航船纷纷竖起巴拿马的旗帜, 以便从巴拿马对公司有利的税务结构中获利——有些专家说, 巴拿马的税制几乎是直接从美国的特拉华州照搬而来。

some experts say was copied almost directly from the state of Delaware.
"Because it has always been at the center of international trade, it was a natural fit for things like offshore finance and international offshore tax planning," said Victor Fleischer, a professor at the University of San Diego School of Law. "I don't know if it is justified or not, but people have always thought of Panama as a little bit shady."	"它一直都是国际贸易的中心，所以自然而然地适合离岸金融和国际离岸税务规划等事宜，"圣地亚哥大学法学院教授维克多·弗莱舍(Victor Fleischer)说。"我不知道这样是否合理，但人们总是觉得巴拿马这个地方有点可疑。"
The firm was aggressive and nimble, capable of responding to an evolving regulatory landscape. Its reputation flourished.	这家律所强势而敏锐，有能力适应不断变化的监管环境，名声日益兴隆。
But other Panamanian law firms joined the fray, too, including larger and more prominent practices than Mossack Fonseca.	但是其他巴拿马律所也参与到竞争中来，包括比莫萨克-冯塞卡更大、更有名的律所。
"All the important Panamanian law firms have a division like this," said Roberto Eisenmann, the founder of the newspaper La Prensa in Panama.	"所有重要的巴拿马律所都有一个类似这样的部门，"巴拿马报纸《快报》(La Prensa)的创始人罗伯托·艾森曼恩(Roberto Eisenmann)说。
In fact, Mossack Fonseca is just one of countless firms around the globe dedicated to a worldwide industry that harbors trillions of dollars and may deprive nations of as much as $200 billion in tax revenues each year, tax and legal experts say.	事实上，税务与法律专家们说，全世界每年的洗钱金额都以万亿美元计算，逃税金额大约在 2000 亿美元，莫萨克-冯塞卡律所只是全世界从事这个行业的无数律所之一。
Mossack Fonseca's founding partners bought large homes in exclusive neighborhoods in Panama City as well as luxurious weekend retreats. Growing up, their children borrowed the company plane and took friends on trips.	莫萨克-冯塞卡的两位创始人在巴拿马城的高档地段购置了豪宅，拥有若干豪华周末别墅。他们的子女已经成年，可以借用公司飞机，呼朋唤友到处旅游。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160414/c14panama1	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160414/c14panama1
Revelations From Panama Papers Are Old News for Africans	在非洲，"巴拿马文件"不是新闻
JOHANNESBURG — Outsiders have long claimed the moral high	约翰内斯堡——一直以来，外界总是站在道德制高点上，指责非洲权贵阶层

ground in accusing African elites of endemic corruption.	的腐败猖獗。
But, by what seems an example of the law of unintended consequences, the disclosures from the Panama Papers of dubious financial dealings by a vast global cast of political and business leaders have — however briefly — flipped the perspective.	但是，这也许是意外后果定律的一次呈现，在“巴拿马文件”(Panama Papers)曝光了一大批从事可疑金融交易的全球政治和商界领袖之后，人们的看法出现了翻转——无论这个翻转多么短暂。
True, a clutch of senior officials and relatives of political leaders from African nations have been identified in the leak of millions of documents from a Panamanian law firm relating to offshore havens that can facilitate the circumvention of taxes.	诚然，非洲国家一些高级官员和政界领导人的亲属也出现在了名单中——上千万份文件从巴拿马一家律师事务所泄露，涉及用于避税的离岸公司。
But, unusually, attention has been focused on Westerners, including David Cameron, the British prime minister, who was forced to begrudgingly acknowledge that his own wealth at one time included shares in a fund set up by his father and managed offshore.	然而，不同寻常的是，这次人们的注意力集中在了西方人身上，其中包括英国首相戴维·卡梅伦(David Cameron)，他只能不情愿地承认，之前有一段时间，自己拥有父亲创办和管理的一家离岸公司的股份。
There has been no suggestion of illegality. But the disclosure tapped a vein of rage for Britons laboring under the government's austerity measures who saw the papers as signaling a parallel universe of fiscal duplicity inhabited by the privileged and the rich.	目前尚未发现非法的迹象。但此事的曝光令很多在政府紧缩措施下饱受煎熬的英国人怒火中烧，他们认为，巴拿马文件让他们看到的是一个由特权阶级和富人把持着的财务欺诈平行宇宙。
"Every so often, the presentational masks acquired down the years by British conservatism slip," the columnist John Harris wrote in The Guardian, and "the upshot is a sudden and sobering look at what the Tories might actually stand for."	"每隔一段时间，英国保守派维持多年的表象面具就会滑落，"专栏作家约翰·哈里斯(John Harris)在《卫报》(The Guardian)中写道，"人们就会猛然清醒地意识到，保守党真正代表的是什么。"
The view from here is different. Long before the Panama Papers were published, African governments were made explicitly aware of the damage inflicted by financial practices that have robbed countries of tens of billions of dollars a year.	非洲的状况有所不同。早在巴拿马文件曝光之前，非洲各国政府就明确意识到了这种做法给国家财政造成的损失：每年从这些国家掠走数百亿美元。

"Over the last 50 years, Africa is estimated to have lost in excess of $1 trillion in illicit financial flows," said a report last year by an African panel headed by Thabo Mbeki, a former president of South Africa. "This sum is roughly equivalent to all of the official development assistance received by Africa during the same time frame."	"在过去 50 年里, 非法资金流动给非洲造成损失估计超过 1 万亿美元, "去年的一份报告指出。"这笔款项大约相当于同一时期非洲收到的官方发展援助资金的总和。"该报告由南非前总统塔博·姆贝基(Thabo Mbeki)领导的一个非洲专家小组发布。
The consequences run deep. About 414 million Africans live on less than $1.25 a day. On average, the report said, Africans' per capita share of their continent's economic output is only one-fifth of the global average.	后果是严重的。约 4.14 亿非洲人每天依靠不足 1.25 美元生活。该报告称, 平均而言, 非洲大陆经济产出的人均水平是全球平均水平的五分之一。
"Poverty in Africa is also multidimensional, in the sense of limited access to education, health care, housing, potable water and sanitation," the report said. "This situation puts the loss of more than $50 billion a year in better perspective."	"从受教育机会、医疗、住房、饮用水和卫生资源缺乏的角度来说, 非洲的贫困是多方面的,"报告说。"从这种状况出发, 可以更好地理解每年超过 500 亿美元的损失意味着什么。"
In other words, for people living threadbare lives, scrambling to get by in bleak shanties, subsisting in gray economies, every dollar spirited to some far-flung tax haven plays into a zero-sum game that makes their existence even more precarious.	换句话说, 人们过着勉强糊口的生活, 在破败的窝棚里艰难度日, 在黯淡的经济中挣扎求生, 而偷偷转移到远方避税天堂的每一美元, 都参与了这种零和游戏, 让人们的生存变得更加艰辛。
Africa is "the continent worst hit by illicit financial flows," said Patrick Smith, the editor of Africa Confidential, a respected newsletter.	非洲是"非法资金流动最严重的大陆", 帕特里克·史密斯(Patrick Smith)说。他是卓有声望的时事通讯《非洲秘密》(Africa Confidential)的编辑。
The Panama Papers have identified about 30 members of Africa's political and business elite as having done business with the Panamanian firm at the center of the scandal, Mossack Fonseca, including Khulubuse Zuma, a nephew of President Jacob G. Zuma of South Africa.	巴拿马文件已经曝光了大约 30 名非洲政商权贵与丑闻中心莫萨克-冯塞卡(Mossack Fonseca)律所的生意往来, 其中包括南非总统雅各布·G·祖马(Jacob G. Zuma)的侄子库鲁布斯·祖马(Khulubuse Zuma)。
It is a measure of the current plight of Mr. Zuma, who is facing calls for	作为正面临辞职呼吁的总统, 其家庭成员的名字出现在巴拿马文件中所引起

his resignation, that the naming of a family member in connection with the Panama Papers has stirred far less controversy in his country than Mr. Cameron's predicament has in Britain.	的争议，远远不及卡梅伦在英国，这表明了他所处困境的程度。
Mr. Cameron said he sold the contentious stake shortly before he became prime minister in 2010 and paid the requisite taxes.	卡梅伦说，他在 2010 年就任首相不久之前就出售了这些股份，并付清了所需的税款。
Mr. Zuma, for his part, has been censured by his country's highest court for flouting the Constitution, and his story reflects a familiar battle between legitimacy and the politics of survival.	而祖马得到的是南非最高法院的斥责，说他藐视宪法，他的故事，反映了合法性和生存政治之间的一种司空见惯的对抗。
But the Panama Papers also evoked the newest chapter in a wider continental struggle, played out this time in hidden dealings and sleight-of-hand bookkeeping.	但是，巴拿马文件也揭示了非洲大陆长期挣扎历程中的最新篇章，这一次是在隐蔽的交易和账目的花招中上演的。
"First came the slave traders, then the colonizers carrying off rubber and diamonds, then the mercenaries of the Cold War years," Tom Burgis, the author of an authoritative study of Africa's exploitation, wrote in The Financial Times last year. "Today, those accused of plundering Africa belong to a more prosaic breed: accountants."	"最初是奴隶贩子，接着是掠走橡胶和钻石的殖民者，然后是冷战时期的佣兵，"汤姆·布吉斯(Tom Burgis)去年在《金融时报》上写到，他曾写过一篇非洲遭受掠夺状况的权威研究报告。"如今，被指掠夺非洲的人，来自更乏味一些的职业：会计。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160415/c15letter	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160415/c15letter
Panama Papers Leak Casts Light on a Law Firm Founded on Secrecy	巴拿马文件背后的律所（下）：财富与隐私
Read the first chapter: Panama Papers Leak Casts Light on a Law Firm Founded on Secrecy	阅读《巴拿马文件背后的律所（上）：“巨型洗钱机器”》
But despite their parallel ascents in business and society, Mr. Mossack and Mr. Fonseca apparently kept their social lives separate. Friends and associates describe their personalities as completely distinct.	但尽管两人在商业领域和社会地位方面双双崛起，莫萨克和冯塞卡似乎拥有各自不同的社交生活。朋友和同事们说他们两人的个性完全不一样。
Mr. Mossack was born in Germany in 1948, and during World War II, his father was a member of the Waffen-SS, according to United States	莫萨克于 1948 年生于德国，国际调查报道记者同盟获取并披露的资料中显示，根据美国军方情报机构文件，“二战”期间，他的父亲是武装党卫军

Army intelligence files obtained and provided by the International Consortium of Investigative Journalism. The family moved to Panama in the 1960s where, according to the intelligence files, Mr. Mossack's father offered to spy for the C.I.A.	(Waffen-SS)的成员。根据这份军方情报机构文件, 20 世纪 60 年代, 莫萨克一家搬到巴拿马。在那里, 莫萨克的父亲主动提出愿意为美国中情局从事间谍工作。
Mr. Mossack has maintained a low profile, eschewing the party scene of Panama's high society while adopting a disciplined approach to his work. Though he is more focused on the day-to-day operations, he has so far declined to comment publicly about the document leak.	莫萨克一直保持着低调, 回避巴拿马上流社会的各种派对, 工作中保持着纪律严明的风格。他尽管更多负责公司的每日运营事务, 但目前仍然拒绝公开评论文件泄露事件。
Mr. Fonseca, by contrast, has for years been something of a man about town. Born in Panama in 1952, he studied at the London School of Economics and later worked for several years at the United Nations in Geneva — "trying to save the world," as he described it in the interview.	相比之下, 冯塞卡多年来一直喜欢社交。他 1952 年出生于巴拿马, 曾在伦敦政经学院(London School of Economics)求学, 后来在日内瓦为联合国工作了几年——“努力拯救世界”, 他接受采访时这样说。
It was then, he said, that he first began to ponder writing a novel. Decades later, in the 1990s, he became famous as a novelist, twice winning Panama's highest literary prize.	他说, 就是在那段时间他开始考虑写小说。几十年后, 在 20 世纪 90 年代, 他写小说出了名, 两次获得巴拿马最高文学奖。
But he had even greater ambitions: politics. One day, when complaining to his father about the shabby state of Panamanian politics, the elder man snapped at him. "My father told me: It's not fair to criticize the bullfighter from your seat," he wrote in the interview. "Enter the ring!"	但他还有更大的野心: 从政。有一天, 他向父亲抱怨巴拿马衰败的政治局势时, 父亲斥责了他。“我父亲对我说: 坐在看台上批评斗牛士是不公平的, ”他在接受采访时写道, “你自己上场试试!”
By the 2000s, he was well ensconced with the Panameñista party and became a close adviser to Mr. Varela. After Mr. Varela became president in 2014, Mr. Fonseca joined his cabinet as an adviser.	到 21 世纪初, 他已经在巴拿马主义党(Panameñista party)树立了地位, 成为巴雷拉(Varela)的亲密顾问。2014 年, 巴雷拉当选总统后, 冯塞卡以顾问身份进入内阁。
Within Mossack Fonseca, both founding partners had swagger. Former employees said the firm had a staff of aides, whose job it was to arrange	两位创始人在莫萨克-冯塞卡律所都趾高气扬。前雇员们说, 该律所有一群助理, 专门负责在富有客户光临时安排酒店、车辆和娱乐活动, 比如游览旧

hotel, car service and entertainment for wealthy clients when they came to town — like tours of the old city or the Panama Canal.	城或巴拿马运河。
“There were no kings or princes that I remember,” said Tarina Rodríguez, adding that she worked at the firm for three years and served as the “head of hospitality.” The visitors, she said, “were very low-key businessmen, who wanted to keep a low profile.”	“我不记得接待过什么王公贵族，”塔里娜·罗德里格斯(Tarina Rodríguez)说。她补充说，自己在这家律所工作了三年，担任“礼宾部长”。她说，那些访客“是非常低调的商人，不想引人注目”。
Several former employees described a disciplined culture, arguing that the partners appeared to run an ethical business. Mr. Mossack and Mr. Fonseca, they said, were sticklers for compliance, insisting on detailed procedures concerning most business matters at the firm.	几位前雇员称该律所纪律严格，两位合伙人经营的似乎是正当生意。他们说，莫萨克和冯塞卡都坚决要求服从，要求公司的大部分业务执行详细的流程。
“There were so many processes you had to follow,” said Mileidy Castillo, who said she worked at the firm from 2011 to 2013.	“有非常多的程序要遵守，”米莱迪·卡斯蒂约(Mileidy Castillo)说。她说自己从2011年至2013年在该律所工作。
Experts say, however, that checking boxes is not the full measure of compliance. Rather, it comes with a law firm’s willingness to push its clients to reveal the true identity of those involved in offshore transactions, and the source of their money.	不过，专家们说，认真核查不代表遵纪守法。是否遵纪守法在于一家律所是否愿意敦促客户透露离岸交易参与者的真实身份以及资金来源。
“Too often, these offshore firms are willing to take on just about any customer and follow their instructions,” said Jack Blum, a former Senate investigator who now specializes in examining money laundering and tax evasion.	“很多时候，这些离岸公司乐于接纳任何客户并遵从他们的指示，”前参议院调查员杰克·布卢姆(Jack Blum)说。他现在专门调查洗钱和逃税。
As offshore accounts have multiplied during the past several decades, they have increasingly been used to launder money, evade taxes or finance terrorism. Those seeking to break the law have often enjoyed the same secrecy as accounts used for legitimate purposes.	过去几十年，离岸账户大量增多，越来越多地被用于洗钱、逃税或资助恐怖主义活动。意图违法的账户通常也享有和用于合法目的的账户同样的私密性。
An international transparency movement developed over the past	在过去10年里，在重要国际机构的带领下，国际透明运动不断发展。但是

decade, spearheaded by major international agencies. But Panama, long accustomed to following its own path, was far behind in compliance.	巴拿马长期以来习惯于我行我素，落后于国际准则很远。
"In the last 25 years or so, there has probably been 15 years of almost no regulation," Mr. Eisenmann said of Panama.	"在过去的大约 25 年里，很可能有 15 年的时间几乎没有监管，"艾森曼恩这样评论巴拿马。
In 2014, the Financial Action Task Force put Panama on its list of countries where transparency and accountability systems were woefully lacking, a major blow to the nation. Mr. Varela quickly pushed through legislation to address the issue, leading to Panama's removal from the list in February.	2014 年，金融行动工作组(Financial Action Task Force)将巴拿马加入了严重缺乏透明度和问责制的国家名单，给该国造成重大打击。巴雷拉很快推动立法，应对这个问题，今年 2 月，巴拿马被从名单上移除。
But Panama has been more reluctant to follow a transparency initiative started in 2009 by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. While most other international financial centers, like the British Virgin Islands, the Cayman Islands and Singapore, quickly agreed to the initiative, Panama held back.	但是关于经济合作与发展组织(Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development)2009 年开始的透明行动，巴拿马表现的没有那么配合。其他大部分国际金融中心很快同意参与这一行动，比如英属维尔京群岛、开曼群岛和新加坡，但巴拿马没有加入。
"Panama is the last major holdout that continues to allow funds to be hidden offshore from tax and law enforcement authorities," the group's secretary general, Angel Gurría, said in a statement on Monday.	"巴拿马是最后一个拒不合作的重要国家，它继续允许资金离岸隐藏，以逃税或躲避执法，"周一，经合组织秘书长安赫尔·古里亚(Angel Gurría)在了一项声明中说。
But several tax experts pointed out that Panama, in its refusal to comply with international transparency standards, is in esteemed company: the United States.	但是，几位税务专家指出，巴拿马在拒绝服从国际透明标准这一点上有个很大牌的同伴：美国。
Foreign nations have had trouble getting information about accounts their citizens hold in America as well.	其他国家也很难获得本国公民在美国持有的账户信息。
"Panama isn't the real story," said Matt Gardner, the executive director of the Institute on Taxation and Economic Policy, a research group	"巴拿马不是真正的重头戏，"华盛顿调查机构税收和经济政策研究所(Taxation and Economic Policy)的执行主管马特·加德纳(Matt Gardner)

based in Washington. "This leak is giving a window into a much broader world, but it should be understood as giving a window into how things work in the U.S. as well."	说,“这次泄露打开了一扇窗口, 让我们看到更大范围的问题, 不过它也给我们提供了一个了解美国的窗口。”
Since the data leak last weekend, both the firm and Mr. Fonseca have said that they are not responsible for the actions of the shell companies they create.	自从上周末数据泄露之后, 这家律所和冯塞卡本人都表示, 他们对自己创造的空壳公司的行为不负有责任。
In the interview on Wednesday, Mr. Fonseca said that the company was careful to vet clients, and that it would drop any it discovered with a "bad reputation." But he was insistent that his clients were lawyers, accountants and intermediaries — not dictators, for instance.	在周三的采访中, 冯塞卡说, 他的公司在审查客户方面非常谨慎, 如果发现任何客户“声誉不好”, 就会放弃。但是, 他坚持认为, 自己的客户是律师、会计和中介, 而不是独裁者之类的人。
"We are like a car factory who sells its car to a dealer (a lawyer for example), and he sells it to a lady that hits someone," he wrote in a message. "The factory is not responsible for what is done with the car."	“我们就像一个汽车制造厂, 把车卖给交易商(比如一个律师), 律师又把车卖给一位女士, 这位女士把人给撞了, ”他在一条消息中写道, “这家工厂对汽车事故可没有责任。”
Mr. Fonseca said his firm tried to determine "to the best of our knowledge" the actual owner of a shell corporation.	冯塞卡说, 自己的公司总是“尽最大努力”确定空壳公司真正的所有者。
"The industry is becoming more regulated and serious about being used by the bad guys and we welcome this," he wrote, adding, "But pls remember that 15 years ago the term due diligence was unknown."	“这个行业的监管变得更严格了, 在防止被坏人利用这一点上也更加认真, 我们欢迎这种趋势, ”他还写道, “但是请记住, 15年前人们还不知道尽职调查这个词。”
Over the years, courts and government investigators have occasionally managed to puncture Mossack Fonseca's shield of secrecy.	过去几年, 法院和政府调查者偶尔能打破莫萨克-冯塞卡律所的保密外壳。
In Brazil, Mossack Fonseca was linked to a corruption investigation into bribes paid to politicians by companies doing business with the state-run oil company. Investigators began focusing on the firm after finding an array of apartments in the names of relatives of an imprisoned politician.	在巴西, 莫萨克-冯塞卡律所卷入一场腐败调查——与国营石油公司做生意的一些公司向政客行贿。调查者发现多套公寓在一位遭监禁的政客的亲戚名下, 随后开始关注了这家律所。

Recent litigation in the United States uncovered a connection between a shell company set up in Nevada and Mossack Fonseca's headquarters in Panama. The breakthrough came after almost three years of legal wrangling by the plaintiff, one of the world's best-financed hedge funds, run by the billionaire Paul Singer.	最近在美国的一桩诉讼发现内华达州的一家空壳公司与莫萨克-冯塞卡律所的巴拿马总部有关系。原告是在将近三年的法律争取之后才取得这一重大突破的。原告是世界上资金最充足的对冲基金公司之一，经营者是亿万富翁保罗·辛格(Paul Singer)。
The hedge fund was trying to track down money that had been siphoned from public coffers in Argentina into illegal shell companies. The hedge fund owned $1.7 billion of Argentine debt dating to the nation's financial crisis in the early 2000s, and the country was refusing to pay it.	这家对冲基金公司努力追踪从阿根廷公共金库抽取到非法空壳公司的资金。这家对冲基金公司拥有 17 亿美元的阿根廷国债，最早是在 21 世纪初阿根廷金融危机时期购买的，该国拒绝偿还。
But the hedge fund's task was not so simple. A shell company known as MF Nevada was claiming that it had no relationship with Mossack Fonseca.	不过，这家对冲基金公司的任务不是这么简单。一个名为 MF Nevada 的空壳公司声称自己跟莫萨克-冯塞卡律所没有关系。
Even the judge found this hard to believe, at one point asking the company's lawyer what the "MF" in MF Nevada stood for, according to a court transcript.	甚至连法官都觉得难以置信。根据法庭记录，法官曾问过该公司的律师，MF Nevada 中的 MF 代表什么。
"I don't know," the lawyer responded, eliciting laughter in the courtroom.	"我不知道，"这位律师回答说。这在法庭上引来一片哂笑。
During questioning, the person listed on the incorporation documents acknowledged that she took her directions from individuals at Mossack Fonseca. The federal judge in Nevada found that the shell company was essentially an alter ego of Mossack Fonseca, in effect granting the hedge fund access to information ordinarily held behind the law firm's impenetrable facade in Panama.	在质问环节，公司文件上列出的那个人承认，她接受莫萨克-冯塞卡律所一些人的指示。内华达的联邦法官发现，这家空壳公司实际上是莫萨克-冯塞卡律所的另一个身份，让上述对冲基金公司有机会接触到了莫萨克-冯塞卡巴拿马总部的保密信息。
"As attorneys we have the duty to provide privacy," Mr. Fonseca said in	"作为律师，我们有责任保护客户的隐私，"冯塞卡在接受采访时说。

the interview.
He feels his firm, in particular, has been robbed of it.	他感觉自己的公司被剥夺了这个权利。
Mr. Fonseca said he was currently working on a novel about an investigative journalist who is "honest and looking for the truth without agendas." And he has already begun outlining another book.	冯塞卡说，目前正在写一本小说，关于一位“别无目的，只为寻找真相的诚实的”调查记者。而且他已经开始构思另一本小说。
The working title: "Is privacy a lost human right?"	暂时拟定的标题是：《隐私权是我们丧失的又一项人权吗？》
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160415/c15panama2	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160415/c15panama2
Dilma Rousseff Is Impeached by Brazil's Lower House of Congress	巴西众议院通过对总统罗塞夫的弹劾
BRASÍLIA — Brazilian legislators voted on Sunday night to approve impeachment of Dilma Rousseff, the nation's first female president, whose tenure has been buffeted by a dizzying corruption scandal, a shrinking economy and spreading disillusionment.	巴西利亚——周日晚上，巴西国会议员投票通过了对总统迪尔玛·罗塞夫 (Dilma Rousseff) 的弹劾。罗塞夫是巴西首位女性总统，在她任内，巴西曝出惊人的贪腐丑闻，经济下滑，幻灭丛生。
After three days of impassioned debate, the lower house of Congress, the Chamber of Deputies, voted to send the case against Ms. Rousseff to the Senate. Its 81 members will vote by a simple majority on whether to hold a trial on charges that the president illegally used money from state-owned banks to conceal a yawning budget deficit in an effort to bolster her re-election prospects. That vote is expected to take place next month.	在历时三天、群情激昂的辩论后，国会下院，即众议院投票将针对罗塞夫的议案提交至参议院。81名参议院议员将通过简单多数投票决定是否对罗塞夫进行审判，她被指控非法使用国有银行资金掩饰财政预算的漏洞，以谋求连任。参议院投票预计将在下个月进行。
Those pressing for impeachment had to win the support of two-thirds of the 513 deputies in the lower house; the decisive 342nd vote for impeachment happened at about 10:10 p.m. Eastern time. The final vote was 367 for impeachment, 137 against and 7 abstaining. Two deputies did not vote.	弹劾的迫切要求获得了下院 513 名议员中三分之二的支持，决定性的第 342 张赞成票在东部时间晚上 10 点 10 分被投出。最终的投票结果为 367 票赞成，137 票反对，7 票弃权。有两名议员未投票。
If the Senate accepts the case, Ms. Rousseff will step down temporarily	如果参议院受理该案，在对罗塞夫的命运进行商议期间，她将暂时下台。副

while it deliberates her fate. Vice President Michel Temer, a constitutional law scholar and seasoned politician, will assume the presidency.	总统米歇尔·特梅尔(Michel Temer)将担任总统职位,他是一位宪法法律学者和经验丰富的政治家。
Given the larger-than-expected margin of deputies voting for impeachment, some political analysts said the Senate was likely to remove Ms. Rousseff from office, a ruling that would require a two-thirds majority.	鉴于投票弹劾的代表人数超出了预期,有政治分析人士指出参议院很有可能将罗塞夫免职,这一决议需要获得三分之二赞成票才能通过。
"Politicians know how to read society pretty well, and they can sense that the people want her out," said Paulo Sotero, the director of the Brazil Institute at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in Washington.	"政客们非常懂得如何了解民情,他们可以感觉到人们想让她下台",位于华盛顿的伍德罗·威尔逊国际学者中心巴西研究所主任保罗·索特罗(Paulo Sotero)说。
Ms. Rousseff can still appeal to the Supreme Federal Tribunal, Brazil's highest court, though it has rejected previous motions to have the impeachment measure dismissed.	尽管此前巴西的联邦最高法院已多次驳回要求取消弹劾的动议,罗塞夫仍然可以上诉。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160418/c18brazil	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160418/c18brazil
Ecuador Earthquake Kills Hundreds in Huge Wave of Collapses	厄瓜多尔遭遇数十年来最强震,死伤惨重
QUITO, Ecuador — The strongest earthquake to strike Ecuador in decades left the Andean nation traumatized on Sunday, with collapsed buildings in a swath of destruction stretching hundreds of miles.	厄瓜多尔基多——厄瓜多尔遭受数十年来最强的地震袭击,令这个位于安第斯山脉的国家蒙受巨大损失。周日,倒塌的建筑物绵延数百英里。
At least 246 people were killed and 2,527 injured, mostly in the northwestern coastal area of Manabí, the government said.	该国政府通报,地震造成至少 246 人死亡、2527 人受伤,主要来自厄瓜多尔西北部沿海的马纳维省。
President Rafael Correa cut short a visit to Europe and declared a national emergency after the 7.8-magnitude earthquake struck on Saturday night, shaking the central coast. The effects could be felt in the capital, Quito, and into parts of Peru and Colombia.	地震于周六晚间发生,震级为 7.8 级,直达中部海岸地区。总统拉斐尔·科雷亚(Rafael Correa)缩短了访问欧洲的行程,宣布全国进入紧急状态。厄瓜多尔首都基多、邻国秘鲁和哥伦比亚的部分地区有震感。

Portoviejo, the provincial capital of Manabí, and Pedernales, a resort town, appeared to have sustained the most damage, with about 370 buildings destroyed.	马纳维省省会波托维耶霍与度假小城佩德纳莱斯遭受的损失似乎最为严重，大约有 370 座建筑物被毁。
Viviana Baquezea, 34, a florist, was driving back to her home in Portoviejo, accompanied by her parents and an employee, when the earthquake struck. They were met by a scene of destruction.	地震来袭的时候，34 岁的花商薇薇安娜·巴奎兹(Viviana Baquezea)正开车返回波托维耶霍的居所，同行的还有她的父母及一名员工。他们目睹了灾害现场。
"It looks like a war zone," Ms. Baquezea said by telephone from Portoviejo. "It's incredible what was happened to us — that our city is destroyed and we're experiencing such anguish and pain."	"看上去就像是打过仗，"巴奎兹在波托维耶霍通过电话接受采访。"发生在我们身上的事情难以置信——我们的城市被摧毁了，我们正在经历痛苦和煎熬。"
"We don't have food or water, there are no supermarkets, and we're surviving with what we had in our homes," she added.	"我们没有食物和水，没有超市，靠着家里仅存的东西维生，"她说。
José Vaca, a television producer for OromarTV, said the seconds in which the earth refused to stay still seemed to last forever.	OromarTV 的电视制片人何塞·巴卡(José Vaca)称，地震发生的那段时间似乎持续了很久。
"We were preparing to transmit a local football game when everything started to shake and the people fled in panic," he said of a game in Portoviejo. "I had to to avoid being crushed by the people. I have some scrapes. But what I see around me is really terrible, startling and very sad."	"我们正准备转播一场本地的足球比赛，结果所有东西都开始晃动起来，人们仓皇逃离，"他说的是波托维耶霍的一场比赛。"我不得不防着被人挤倒。身上擦伤了几处。但我看到周围的情景真是很可怕，令人震惊，非常悲惨。"
Ecuador has a history of destructive earthquakes, but the one on Saturday, which by some accounts lasted more than a minute, is believed to have been one of the most powerful since the 1970s. Some geologists said its force was 20 times greater than the deadly earthquake that struck southern Japan early Saturday.	厄瓜多尔以前也遭遇过不少严重的地震灾害，但是上周六发生的这次，据信是 1970 年代以来威力最大的地震之一。一些人说它的持续时间超过了一分钟。有地质学家认为，它的威力比日本南部周六凌晨经历的强震大 20 倍。
The quake had a depth of nearly 12 miles. Several aftershocks, some as strong as magnitude 5.6, followed. The earthquake's center was 16	这次地震的震源深度近 12 英里（约合 20 公里），之后发生了多次余震，有几次高达 5.6 级。美国地质调查局(The United States Geological Survey)

miles southeast of Muisne, Ecuador, the United States Geological Survey said.	称，震中位于厄瓜多尔穆伊斯内东南 16 英里处。
About 4,600 members of the National Police and 10,400 members of the armed forces were mobilized as part of the emergency response. Hundreds of doctors, health professionals and rescue workers were heading toward the hardest-hit areas.	该国派出大约 4600 名警员、1.04 万名武装部队人员参与应急行动。数以百计的医生、医务人员和救援人员正在向受灾最严重的地区进发。
The president's emergency decree gives the government expanded authority and a state of emergency in six of the country's 24 provinces. Deaths were reported in the northern provinces of Esmeraldas, Manabí and Guayas.	总统颁发紧急法令，赋予政府更大的权限，全国 24 个省中有 6 个进入紧急状态。北部省份埃斯梅拉达斯、马纳维和瓜亚斯均有死伤报道。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160418/c18ecuador	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160418/c18ecuador
U.S. Comes Up Short on Corporate Transparency	反避税行动，美国为何执行双重标准
PARIS — Journalists have done their job, again, with another enormous leak of documents outing a global list of rich and powerful people who hid their wealth in offshore companies.	巴黎——借着又一批海量文件的外泄，记者们再度克尽职责，揭露了世界各地利用离岸公司隐藏财产的富豪与政要的名单。
This time, prompted by the Panama Papers, several European governments have followed up with new measures intended to rip away the veil of secrecy that is costing them billions of dollars in tax revenues.	这一回，在“巴拿马文件”的推动下，数个欧洲国家的政府跟进新措施，试图揭开使它们损失无数税收的隐秘机制的面纱。
"Populist outrage doesn't by itself collect a single extra pound or dollar in tax or put a single criminal in jail," said George Osborne, the chancellor of the Exchequer in Britain, at a news conference on Thursday in Washington.	"光是群情激愤，连一个子儿的税收也讨不回来，也不会有哪怕一个犯人因此被关进监狱，"周二时，英国财政大臣乔治·奥斯本(George Osborne)在华盛顿的一场记者会上如此表示。
To that end, the biggest economies in the European Union — Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Spain — announced a plan to automatically	为了达成目标，英国、法国、德国、意大利和西班牙这欧盟五大经济体，针对空壳公司与海外资产信托的真正持有人——即“实益”所有人——宣布了一 share information about the true, or "beneficial," owners of shell companies and overseas trusts.	项资讯自动分享计划。

This is good news for the global campaign to expose the ill-gotten gains of the corrupt and the secretly held wealth of tax evaders who benefit from a system that rewards anonymity.	一些逃税者受益于一种奖励匿名的金融体系, 透过贪腐与藏匿财富赚取不当利益。对于致力于让这些不义之财曝光的全球倡议活动来说, 该计划是个好消息。
But there is one major player that is coming up short, and that is the United States, which in 2015 ranked third, behind Switzerland and Hong Kong, in a financial secrecy index published by the Tax Justice Network, a nonprofit organization based in Washington.	不过, 在这整局棋中有一个关键的角色表现得不尽如人意, 那就是美国。2015年, 美国在非营利组织税收正义网(Tax Justice Network)公布的金融保密指数中排名第三, 仅次于瑞士和香港。
The Obama administration has recently taken steps to require banks to check the identities of clients setting up companies and to track the ownership of expensive real estate.	奥巴马政府近来已展开行动, 要求银行验证欲建立公司的客户身份、追查高价房地产的所有人。
Resistance to greater corporate transparency is still strong at the state level, however, where companies and corporations are registered.	然而, 加强金融透明度一事, 仍遭到负责注册公司企业的州政府的强烈抗拒。
Attention has focused on Delaware, Wyoming and Nevada, which aggressively market tax advantages for offshore companies. But in fact, full disclosure of ownership is not required in any of the 50 states.	其中的主要焦点在特拉华、怀俄明与内华达。这三州都十分积极地推销离岸公司在当地享有的税赋优惠。不过事实上, 在美国的 50 个州里, 没有任何一州要求财产所有人充分公开身份。
This has created an enormous black hole not only for tax inspectors but also for law enforcement officials who "can't follow the money," said Tom Cardamone, managing director of Global Financial Integrity, a research and advocacy group based in Washington. "What we have in place is complete secrecy, and it is secrecy that is the problem," he said.	华盛顿研究暨倡议团体全球金融诚信组织(Global Financial Integrity)的执行主任汤姆·卡达蒙(Tom Cardamone)表示, 这不只给税务稽查员带来极大阻碍, 也让执法官员无法"追踪现金流"。"我们现有的制度是完全保密的, 而这种保密性就是问题所在," 卡达蒙说。
A bipartisan bill to make the states require disclosure of ownership is now before Congress, but it has stalled.	一份让各州要求揭露财产所有人身份的提案已经送入美国国会。该法案由来自两党的人员共同提交, 目前却遭到搁置。
Opposition comes from the American Bar Association, the U.S.	提案的反对压力来自美国律师协会(American Bar Association)、美国商会

Chamber of Commerce and a less-known but powerful lobby, the National Association of Secretaries of State. That final group fears a loss of revenue for state budgets if more transparency is required, said Robert Palmer, campaign director at Global Witness, an anticorruption organization.	(U.S. Chamber of Commerce), 以及一个较不知名但颇具影响力的游说团体：全美州务卿协会(National Association of Secretaries of State)。反贪腐组织全球见证(Global Witness)的倡议主任罗伯特·帕尔默(Robert Palmer)表示, 州务卿协会担忧的是, 州级预算收入可能会因为对财务透明度的要求提高而流失。
"Passing legislation in the U.S. is challenging," he said.	"要在美国通过法案是很大的挑战," 帕尔默说。
Failure to respond to the worldwide clamor for financial accountability looks hypocritical from afar, considering the United States' aggressive extraterritorial pursuit of foreign companies that violate its Foreign Corrupt Practices law and its demands that foreign banks provide information about accounts held by American citizens.	从外人的眼光看来, 考虑到美国是如何积极行使治外法权以声讨违反该国《反海外腐败法》(Foreign Corrupt Practices Act)的外国公司, 又是如何要求国外银行提供美国公民的帐户资料的, 这个国家未能回应全球对金融问责性的大声疾呼就显得颇为虚伪了。
"Though the U.S. has been a pioneer in defending itself from foreign secrecy jurisdictions it provides little information in return to other countries, making it a formidable, harmful and irresponsible secrecy jurisdiction," according to a Tax Justice Network report.	税收正义网在报告中指出：“虽然美国在海外带头保护自身利益不被金融不透明的制度所侵害, 但其他国家却几乎不能获得它提供的资讯作为回报。这使得美国在秘密资产方面成为一个难以应付、害人不浅又不负责任的管辖地。”
Though legislation in the United States has faltered, other countries began moving ahead with the creation of registries of corporate beneficial owners even before the Panama Papers came to light. Such a registry will be available to the public in Britain on June 30, while national registries required by the European Union will be ready by 2017, although access to their information will be more restricted.	虽然美国的立法进程遭受了挫折, 但其他一些国家已经开始取得进展, 甚至在巴拿马文件曝光前便已着手建立企业实益拥有人登记制度。从6月30日开始, 英国将把此类登记信息向公众开放, 欧盟要求的全国性登记将于2017年准备就绪, 不过对登记信息的查询会受到较为严格的限制。
Pressure is now growing on Britain to force its overseas territories — like the British Virgin Islands, which is home, on paper, to more than half of the companies revealed by the Panama leak — to follow suit, a subject sure to dominate an anticorruption summit meeting in London next	目前, 英国面临着与日俱增的压力, 希望它去强制自己的海外属地——比如英属维尔京群岛, 被巴拿马文件曝光的公司, 有一半以上在名义上设在该地——采取类似举措, 而这必然成为将于下月在伦敦举行的一场反腐峰会的主要议题。 month.

Transparency advocates hope similar pressure will build in the United States to shine a light on what Mr. Osborne called “those hiding spaces, those dark corners of the global financial system” right in its own backyard.	支持提高透明度的人士希望类似的压力也能在美国积聚起来，迫使它点一盏灯，照亮奥斯本所说的“全球金融体系之中那些存在于美国自家后院的隐秘空间，那些黑暗的角落。”
As Mr. Palmer says, “I don’t think we should have to rely on journalists.” https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160420/c20letter	正如帕尔默所言，“我认为我们不应该只能依赖新闻记者。” https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160420/c20letter
Missing Mexican Students Suffered a Night of ‘Terror,’ Investigators Say	墨西哥 43 名遭绑架学生的最后一夜
MEXICO CITY — Municipal police officers encircled the bus, detonated tear gas, punctured the tires and forced the college students who were onboard to get off.	墨西哥城——市里的警察围住了这辆大巴，施放了催泪瓦斯，刺穿了轮胎，迫使车上的大学生下来。
“We’re going to kill all of you,” the officers warned, according to the bus driver. A policeman approached the driver and pointed a pistol at his chest. “You, too,” the officer said.	大巴司机表示，警察发出威胁，“我们会把你们都杀掉。”一名警员逼近司机，用手枪指向后者的胸口，并说道：“包括你。”
With a military intelligence official looking on and state and federal police officers in the immediate vicinity, witnesses said, the students were put into police vehicles and taken away. They have not been seen since.	按照目击者的说法，一名军事情报官当时在旁观看，州级和联邦警员就在附近，而学生们被塞进了警车带走。然后他们就彻底消失了。
They were among the 43 students who vanished in the city of Iguala one night in September 2014 amid violent, chaotic circumstances laid bare by an international panel of investigators who have been examining the matter for more than a year. The reason for the students’ abduction remains a mystery.	2014 年 9 月的那个晚上，有 43 名学生在伊瓜拉市失踪，他们即在其中。一个国际调查委员会对此事进行了一年多的研究，还原了当晚混乱的暴力场景。然而，学生们被绑走的原因仍然是个谜。
Despite apparent stonewalling by the Mexican government in recent months, the panel’s two reports on the case, the most recent of which	尽管墨西哥政府最近几个月似乎进行了阻挠，但委员会对本案出具的两份报告对围绕学生失踪的种种事件进行了极为详尽的描述，最新的这份于周日公

was released on Sunday, provide the fullest accounting of the events surrounding the students' disappearance, which also left six other people dead, including three students, and scores wounded.	布。事件还导致包括三名学生在内的其他六人死亡，数十人受伤。
The reports describe a night of confusion and terror for the students and city residents, and a seemingly clinical, coordinated harvest by Mexican law enforcement officials and other gunmen operating in and around Iguala, in Guerrero, one of Mexico's poorest and most violent states.	根据文中的描述，当晚对学生和伊瓜拉居民而言充满了困惑与恐惧，而对伊瓜拉城内外采取行动的墨西哥执法官员及其他持枪者而言，却似乎是一场干净利落的协调打击行动。伊瓜拉位于格雷罗州，而那里是全墨西哥最贫穷、暴力活动最猖獗的州之一。
The government said 123 people, including 73 municipal police officials, had been detained on organized-crime charges in relation to the night's events, and the Mexican authorities have linked the Iguala police force to a powerful drug gang.	政府公布，有 123 人因涉嫌与当晚事件有关的有组织犯罪被捕，其中包括 73 名市级警察。墨西哥当局还认定伊瓜拉警方与一个强大的贩毒黑帮有牵连。
The 43 students were undergraduates at Escuela Normal Rural Raúl Isidro Burgos, a teachers college, in Ayotzinapa, with a history of activism.	这 43 名学生在坐落于阿尤兹纳帕的劳尔·伊西德罗·布尔戈斯乡村师范学院 (Escuela Normal Rural Raúl Isidro Burgos) 念本科。该校素有活动主义传统。
They were among about 100 students who headed out on the evening of Sept. 26, 2014, with a plan to steal some buses. This was a tradition that students at the school had done for many years: They would take the buses, use them to transport their peers to an event and then return them when they were done. The bus companies and the authorities mostly tolerated it.	2014 年 9 月 26 日晚，包括他们在内的大约 100 名学生出动，计划偷走几辆大巴。这是该校学生进行了多年的一项传统：他们会开走大巴，用来运送同伴去参加活动，完事后再返还。公交公司和当局对此基本采取默许态度。
The plan for the outing that evening was to secure several buses to carry students to a march in Mexico City several days later to commemorate a student massacre that had occurred in 1968.	当晚行动的计划是搞到几辆大巴载着学生去墨西哥城，参加几天后举行的悼念 1968 年学生遭屠杀的活动。
Riding in two buses they had commandeered on earlier occasions, they	他们乘坐早前征用的两辆大巴，来到伊瓜拉城郊一条主干道等待，计划拦下

stationed themselves on a main road on the outskirts of Iguala, planning to intercept a few buses.	几辆车。
"All of us were happy, having a blast, relaxed, happy with the drivers, playing," a student later testified, according to the panel's first report. It relied on testimony from survivors, government security officials and other witnesses as well as reports from an interagency government command center.	"我们都兴高采烈，很开心、放松、跟司机有说有笑，玩玩闹闹的，"委员会在第一份报告中援引一名学生后来的证词写到。该报告取材于幸存者、政府安全官员和其他一些目击者的证词，加上政府跨部门指挥中心的多份报告。
But the region's security forces were already onto the students' plans. The federal police stepped up patrols near the buses, and the command center linking local, state and federal police forces, as well as the military, kept tabs on the students.	然而，那一地区的安全部队已经盯上了学生的计划。联邦警察加强了大巴附近的巡逻，而协调地方、州级和联邦警力的指挥中心与军方均在监控他们的行为。
At 8:15 p.m., the students made their first strike, boarding a bus that had stopped in front of a restaurant. The driver knew the drill; bus companies generally instruct drivers that in the event of a student hijacking, they should remain with the buses to ensure their safe return.	晚上8点15分，学生第一次出手，登上了停在餐厅门前的一辆车。司机很清楚这一套；公交公司一般会告诉司机，学生劫车的时候，他们应该待在车内，保证安全返还。
The bus driver said he needed to make a pit stop at Iguala's central bus station. At the station, the driver surprised the students and locked them in the bus.	大巴司机声称，他需要在伊瓜拉巴士总站停留一下。到达总站的时候，司机做出了让学生意外的事情，把他们锁在了车上。
Around 9:15 p.m., the students in the two other buses arrived at the station and freed their classmates. The group commandeered three more buses, leaving behind one that had no driver. The five buses then left for Ayotzinapa, three heading toward Iguala's northern beltway, two toward the southern beltway.	到了9点15分前后，另外两辆大巴的学生来到了总站，放了车上的同学。这群学生随后又征用了三辆大巴，留下了没有司机的那辆车。五辆大巴开始向阿尤兹纳帕进发，其中三辆驶向伊瓜拉的北环路，两辆驶向南环路。
Then the shooting began.	不久后，枪声响起。
Several police cars pursuing the three northbound buses started firing	追逐往北开的三辆大巴的几台警车开始向空中鸣枪，但威胁动用暴力手段并

warning shots into the air. But the threat of violence did not deter the students.	未让学生们动摇。
A group of them left the buses and started throwing rocks at a police car that had blocked their path until the car drove away. At another point, a student sneaked up behind a police officer and tried to disarm him. As other police officers came to their colleague's aid, the student ran away, and a police bullet ricocheted and struck him, lightly wounding him.	有一群人下了车，开始往一辆堵在路上的警车扔石块，直到这辆车撤走。一名学生一度溜到一名警员的身后，企图卸除他的武装。随着其他警察来前来支援同伴，这名学生转身逃跑。警察的一枚子弹弹射击中了他，致其轻伤。
As the convoy resumed its northward course through the city, police bullets hit the buses. The students threw themselves flat on the floor but ordered the drivers to keep going.	随着三辆大巴恢复经由市区往北的行程，警方的子弹不时击中车身。学生们急忙爬到了地上，却命令司机继续前行。
Near the beltway, however, the police had blocked the road with a vehicle. Several students got off the buses and tried to lift the cruiser out of the roadway, but officers posted on the highway opened fire on the group, forcing the students to seek cover behind the buses. Investigators later counted 30 bullet holes in one of the buses.	不过，在环路附近，警方用一辆车堵住了路。几名学生下了大巴，试图将这辆巡逻车搬离路面。可是，部署在路上的警察朝他们开了枪，迫使学生躲到了大巴的身后。调查人员后来在其中一辆大巴上数出了 30 个弹孔。
As bullets flew and windows shattered, one of the students, Aldo Gutiérrez, was shot in the head. The first call to an emergency dispatch number was received at 9:48 p.m. Police officers shot at students who tried to rush to Mr. Gutiérrez's aid.	子弹横飞、玻璃粉碎，学生阿尔多·古铁雷斯(Aldo Gutiérrez)头部中弹。打给急救号码的第一个电话在 9 点 48 分接通。警察对跑去援救古铁雷斯的学生开了枪。
Another student was shot in a hand; the bullet sheared off several fingers. He sought shelter behind a truck, where two police officers ran over to him, and kicked and punched him. A third student was struck in an arm by a bullet. Ambulance crews managed to retrieve the three wounded students and take them to a hospital, along with a fourth	又一名学生手部中枪；子弹削掉了他的几根手指。他躲到了一辆卡车后面，但两名警员跑过去，对他拳打脚踢。还有一名学生手臂中弹。救护车上的医护人员设法救下三名受伤的学生，加上一名发了哮喘的学生，把这四人拉到了医院。 student who suffered an asthma attack.

"They all felt confusion, terror and helplessness," wrote the panel, five lawyers and human rights experts from around Latin America.	"他们都感到困惑、惊恐、无助，"由来自拉丁美洲各地的五位律师和人权专家组成的调查小组写道。
At one point, the police made a group of students who were hiding in the third bus disembark and lie on the ground. About 10:50 p.m., they were taken away in six or seven patrol cars. They are among the 43 students who disappeared.	一度，警方让躲在第三辆巴士上的一群学生下了车，躺在地上。晚上10点50分左右，这群学生被六七辆巡逻车带走。他们都在失踪的43名学生之列。
Meanwhile, the two buses that took the southerly route had also run into trouble. About 9:40 p.m., just as the three-bus convoy was intercepted near the northern beltway, the police cut off one of the southbound buses, shattered its windows with tree branches and shot tear gas inside to flush out the passengers.	与此同时，两辆往南开的巴士也遇到了麻烦。晚上9点40分左右，就在三辆巴士组成的车队在北边的环城公路附近遭到拦截时，警方拦下了一辆向南开的巴士，用树枝砸碎玻璃，并投放催泪弹，迫使乘客下车。
The passengers were pulled from the bus and taken away: the rest of the 43 missing students.	里面的乘客被人从车上拽下来并带离现场：他们是43名失踪者当中余下的那些人。
Elsewhere in the city, the police had stopped the other southbound bus. The students on board, who had received word by telephone of the other attacks, got off the bus and fled into woods.	在城里的另外一个地方，警方拦下了另外一辆向南开的巴士，车上的学生已经从电话中得知其他人遇袭的消息，他们下车后逃进了树林里。
Elsewhere, on routes leading from Iguala to Ayotzinapa, at least two roadblocks were set up by unidentified gunmen, and one by police officers from the city of Huitzuco. Two civilians were wounded by gunfire at one of the roadblocks.	此外，身份不明的枪手至少在从伊瓜拉通往阿约辛阿帕镇的路上设置了两处路障；警方则至少在从维楚科城通往该镇的路上设置了一处路障。两名平民在一处路障附近被枪手所伤。
The expert panel concluded that "the joint action shows a coordinated modus operandi to stop the flight of the buses."	专家组得出的结论是，"此次联合行动表明，为了截断巴士的行进路线，相关人等采用了协同作战的方法。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160426/c26iguala	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160426/c26iguala
Harvard Research Fellow Re-elected as Head of Tibet's Government in	藏人流亡政府现任政治领袖获连任

Exile
NEW DELHI — The current political leader of Tibet’s exiled government, Lobsang Sangay, won re-election by a decisive majority, the election commission announced Wednesday, and he pledged to push harder for a dialogue with China to resolve the future of Tibet.	新德里——藏人流亡政府选举事务署本周三宣布，现任政治领袖洛桑森格 (Lobsang Sangay) 在本届选举中以大幅优势获得连任。他承诺，将更努力地推动与中国的对话，争取为西藏确立一个明朗的未来。
“My principal objective will be to resolve the issue of Tibet through the middle way approach,” Mr. Sangay said in a telephone interview.	“我的主要目标是通过中道策略来解决西藏问题，”洛桑森格在接受电话采访时说。
The “middle way” approach was set in motion by the Dalai Lama, the spiritual and political leader of the Tibetan people, nearly 30 years ago, in which he softened his demand for independence for the approximately six million Tibetans living in China, instead seeking self-government for them within China.	“中道”策略由藏人精神与政治领袖达赖喇嘛 (Dalai Lama) 在将近 30 年前制定，软化了要求中国藏区大约 600 万藏人独立的主张，转而寻求在中国境内自治。
The Dalai Lama, 80, gave up his political role five years ago in favor of elections to choose a sikyong, a role similar to prime minister. Mr. Sangay, a research fellow at Harvard Law School, was chosen in the first election in 2011.	现年 80 岁的达赖喇嘛在五年前放弃了自己的政治职位，改用选举方式来挑出一名类似于首相的“司政”。洛桑森格是哈佛大学法学院研究员，在 2011 年的首次选举中当选。
Both candidates for the sikyong of the Central Tibetan Administration, as the exiled government is known, favored the middle way approach, even though a vocal minority believe in fighting for full independence for Tibet. Mr. Sangay, 48, won 33,876 votes, while Penpa Tsering, the speaker of the exiled Parliament, secured 24,846 votes, Sonam Choephel Shosur, the election commissioner, said at a news conference.	这一流亡政府名为“藏人行政中央”(Central Tibetan Administration)。虽然有不容小觑的少数人信奉为藏区的完全独立而奋斗，但两位司政候选人均支持中道。选举事务署总署长索南曲培修索 (Sonam Choephel Shosur) 在新闻发布会上宣布，现年 48 岁的洛桑森格赢得了 33876 票，而他的对手、流亡议会的议长边巴次仁 (Penpa Tsering) 获得了 24846 票。
The Tibetan exile community, spread around the world but mostly living in India, elects a sikyong and Parliament every five years. About	藏人流亡社群分布在全球各地，但主要居住在印度，每五年他们会通过选举产生一名司政和一届议会。约 90377 人登记投票。本次选举在 3 月举行，

90,377 people are registered to vote. The election was held in March, and it took a month to gather and count the ballots.	集中和统计选票花了一个月时间。
Mr. Sangay, in the interview, said that while the Chinese government had thus far refused to engage in a dialogue with him, he would use international forums to pressure China to speak with representatives of the Dalai Lama, as it has in the past.	洛桑森格在采访中表示，虽然中国政府迄今拒绝与他对话，他仍会在国际论坛上向中国施压，让他们重复先例，与达赖喇嘛的代表对话。
In addition, he said he would continue his focus on improving educational opportunities for Tibetan exiles and improving their economic opportunities.	此外，他表示，自己将继续侧重于在教育和经济上为流亡藏人增加机会。
The Dalai Lama, after fleeing China in 1959, built a government in exile in the northern Indian town of Dharamsala over the years.	达赖喇嘛 1959 年逃离中国，后在印度北部小城达兰萨拉建立了流亡政府。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160428/c28tibet	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160428/c28tibet
Divided Aleppo Plunges Back Into War as Hospital Is Destroyed	叙利亚战况升级，阿勒颇医院遭轰炸
BEIRUT — Syria's divided city of Aleppo plunged back into the kind of all-out war not seen in months Thursday, witnesses and health workers said as they reeled from government airstrikes that demolished a hospital in the insurgent-held side and from retaliatory mortar assaults by rebels on the government-held side.	贝鲁特——本周四，据目击者和医疗人员称，被割据的叙利亚城市阿勒颇重新陷入了数月未见的全面战争。政府军空袭了武装分子占据的地带，炸毁了一所医院，而武装分子对政府军占据的一侧进行了报复性的迫击炮攻击。
At least 27 people including three children and six staff members were reported killed in the strike on the hospital, which turned it into a smoking pile of rubble Wednesday night, and 20 were reported killed in airstrikes Thursday. At least 14 people, mostly civilians, were killed in the mortar attacks on government-controlled areas, said officials at a hospital where casualties were streaming in throughout the day Thursday.	据报道，至少有 27 人在医院遭受的空袭中丧生，其中包括三名儿童和六名医院工作人员。周三晚上，这所医院变成了一堆冒着烟的废墟。周四的报道称，有 20 人在空袭中丧生。而在政府控制区的一所医院里，官员称至少有 14 人在针对该区的迫击炮袭击中丧生，其中大多数是平民，周四一整天不断有伤员被送到该医院。

The deadly destruction in Aleppo punctuated a drastic escalation in fighting over the past week that has shattered a partial truce in a war that has consumed Syria for more than five years.	阿勒颇发生的这些伤亡惨重的摧毁行动，是过去一周中战况急剧升级的体现。叙利亚内战已经持续了五年多时间，一个局部停火协议现在已遭撕毁。
The escalation also threatened to derail renewed attempts at peace talks in Geneva by the United Nations.	战况的升级，可能也会扰乱联合国在日内瓦再次举行和谈的尝试。
Once Syria's commercial center, Aleppo has been an intermittent combat zone for much of the war, split into insurgent and government halves. It had enjoyed somewhat of a respite because of the partial cease-fire — until now.	阿勒颇曾是叙利亚的商业中心，它先后成了多场战役的战区，现在被武装分子和政府军各占据了一半。局部停火协议给这座城市带来了稍加喘息的机会——但现在情况变了。
There was no indication that the Syrian government forces of President Bashar Assad and their Russian allies were any closer to retaking the entire city. But it had become apparent in recent days that the truce was unraveling in the surrounding area, with more airstrikes by the government and increased shelling by rebels.	没有迹象表明叙利亚总统巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar Assad)领导的政府军及其俄罗斯盟友，离夺回整座城市更进了一步。但最近几天，周边地区的停火状态明显被打破，政府军的空袭增加，反政府武装也加强了炮击。
The location of Al Quds hospital, the destroyed facility on the rebel side of the city, was well known, and the hospital was assisted by the international charity Doctors Without Borders.	被炸毁的圣城医院(Al Quds)位于该市被反政府武装控制的一侧。医院的位置众所周知，且该医院得到了国际慈善机构无国界医生组织(Doctors Without Borders)的援助。
"This devastating attack has destroyed a vital hospital in Aleppo, and the main referral center for pediatric care in the area," the head of the charity's Syria mission, Muskilda Zancada, said in a statement. "Where is the outrage among those with the power and obligation to stop this carnage?"	"被这场毁灭性的袭击摧毁的医院在阿勒颇至关重要，也是该地区主要的儿科护理转诊中心，"无国界医生组织的叙利亚项目负责人穆斯希达·桑卡达(Muskilda Zancada)在一份声明中说。"那些有能力、有义务结束这场大屠杀的人的愤怒哪里去了？"
Russia's military denied it was responsible.	俄罗斯军方否认其应对此事负责。
The International Committee of the Red Cross called on all parties to stop indiscriminate attacks and to avoid harming civilians or Aleppo	红十字国际委员会(International Committee of the Red Cross)呼吁各方停止肆意袭击，避免伤及平民，并称否则阿勒颇将面临一场新的人道主义灾难。 would face what it called a new humanitarian disaster.

"Wherever you are, you hear explosions of mortars, shelling and planes flying over," said Valter Gros, who heads the Red Cross' Aleppo office. "Everyone here fears for their lives and nobody knows what is coming next."	"不管在哪里，都能听到迫击炮、火炮声和飞机在头顶飞过的声音，"红十字阿勒颇办事处的负责人瓦尔特·格罗斯(Valter Gros)说。"在这里，人人都担心自己的生命安全，没人知道接下来会发生什么。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160429/c29syria	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160429/c29syria
Russia's Economic Pain Reveals Limits to Putin's Power	俄罗斯经济陷入泥潭，普京不是万能的
PIKALEVO, Russia — The factory meeting room where the Russian leader Vladimir V. Putin browbeat one of Russia's richest tycoons in front of cameras from state television has become a shrine, hallowed ground where Mr. Putin showed a path out of economic pain for ordinary people and calmed a spasm of worker unrest.	俄罗斯皮卡列沃——弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)曾在一家工厂的会议室里，对着官方电视台的摄像机恫吓一名财富在俄罗斯排名前列的富豪。此后，这间会议室成了一处圣地，普京在这里为普通人指出了一条摆脱经济阵痛的道路，平息了一系列工人骚乱。
"It all happened here. This is where he solved the future of our factory," Sergey Lyakhov, a manager at the sprawling plant, said, proudly showing off the tidy third-floor conference room.	"所有事情都是在这里发生的。在这里，他解决了我们厂的前途问题，"在这家庞大的工厂担任经理的谢尔盖·利亚霍夫(Sergey Lyakhov)自豪地炫耀着这间位于三楼的整洁会议室。
But that was nearly seven years ago, when Mr. Putin, now president, was prime minister. Today, the economic troubles that Mr. Putin came here to make a big show of solving are back, only worse and involving far more intractable problems than just the "trivial greed" of tycoons that Mr. Putin blamed for Pikalevo's tumult in 2009.	但那已是近七年前的事情了。现在是总统的普京，当时还是总理。如今，普京当年来这里大张旗鼓地要解决的那些经济困难又回来了，并且比当年更严重。2009年时，普京认为巨头们那种"不值一提的贪婪"是皮卡列沃动荡的罪魁祸首。而如今的经济困难涉及的问题，远比那时更棘手。
Pikalevo, about three hours east of St. Petersburg, and the rest of Russia are now mired in the country's longest recession since Mr. Putin came to power at the end of 1999, with the World Bank warning last month that the nation's poverty rate would increase this year to 14.2 percent of the population, "undoing nearly a decade's worth of gains."	现在，圣彼得堡以东约三小时车程处的皮卡列沃和俄罗斯其他地方均陷入了衰退。这是自普京1999年末掌权以来，俄罗斯经历的最漫长的衰退。上月，世界银行(World Bank)警告称，俄罗斯今年的贫困率将升至该国人口的14.2%，"抵消了近十年的进步"。

Russia's current crisis, though largely caused by market forces beyond the Kremlin's control, notably a slump in the prices of oil and gas, has pushed Mr. Putin into a corner. After years of taking credit for a booming economy, which also had little to do with his actions, and casting himself as a can-do leader capable of untying the toughest economic and political knots, he faces a crisis that has exposed the stark limits of his power and prowess.	俄罗斯当前的危机主要是由不在克里姆林宫控制范围内的市场力量，尤其是石油和天然气价格大跌造成的。尽管如此，这场危机把普京逼进了角落里。多年来，他一直把和他所采取的行动几乎毫无关系经济繁荣归为自己的功劳，并把自己塑造成一位无所不能的领导人，能够解决最困难的经济和政治问题。而如今，他面临的这场危机赤裸裸地暴露了他的权力和能力的极限。
A recent rebound in oil prices has lifted hopes in the Kremlin that the worst of Russia's economic storm has passed, but it has also highlighted just how much Mr. Putin's fortunes depend on unpredictable and uncontrollable outside forces like the energy market or the economic sanctions imposed by Europe and the United States.	最近，石油价格反弹让克里姆林宫燃起希望，以为俄罗斯经济风暴最糟糕的阶段已经过去了，但这也突显了普京的命运严重依赖于无法预测、无法控制的外部力量，如能源市场或欧洲和美国实行的经济制裁。
Mr. Putin's power, for example, does not touch the torrent of slurry, a muddy sludge used to make cement, that now flows uselessly into an overflowing storage pit. The sludge is a byproduct of alumina production at Pikalevo's biggest industrial plant, and it used to feed production at an adjacent cement factory. But that factory, hammered by slumping demand as a result of Russia's recession, has slashed production and takes only 20 percent or less of the brown muck it used to buy.	比如，普京的权力触及不到汹涌如注的泥浆。如今，用来生产水泥的泥浆只能白白流入一个已经满溢出来的蓄水坑。它们是皮卡列沃最大的工业工厂生产氧化铝时的副产品，过去被旁边一家水泥厂用作生产原料。但因为经济衰退导致需求下降，那家水泥厂大幅减产，对这种褐色泥浆的用量仅为以前的20%甚至更少。
As leader of the world's biggest country, a nuclear power intent on asserting itself on the world stage, Mr. Putin has far more pressing concerns than Pikalevo's myriad troubles. But throughout his 16 years in power, whether as president or prime minister, Mr. Putin has presented an image of an omniscient and omnipresent leader	俄罗斯是世界上最大的国家，也是一个一心想在世界舞台上坚持自己主张的核国家。作为其领导人，普京面临的问题远比皮卡列沃的各种困难更紧迫。但在当权的16年里，不管是担任总统还是总理，普京呈现出的形象都是一位无所不知、无处不在的领导人，关注自己领导的国家存在的最细微问题，并有能力去应对它们。

interested in and capable of addressing his country's most microscopic concerns.
"He is ultimately responsible for everything that happens in Russia," said Maxim Volkov, the chief executive of the Pikalevo factory visited in 2009 by Mr. Putin, the largest of three interdependent but, since the collapse of the Soviet Union, separately owned plants. "This is very good but also very bad."	"他是俄罗斯发生的一切事情的最终责任人，"普京 2009 年在皮卡列沃视察的那家工厂的首席执行官马克西姆·沃尔科夫(Maxim Volkov)说。"这一点非常好，也非常不好。"那家工厂是三家相互依存，但自苏联解体后便各归其主的工厂中规模最大的。
While praising Mr. Putin as a "tough and efficient" leader who ended the drift and decay that characterized the rule of President Boris N. Yeltsin in the 1990s, Mr. Volkov said the concentration of power in the Kremlin had left the president "responsible for all the idiots who work under him" and for solving all the county's quarrels and problems, no matter how small.	尽管称赞普京是一位"强硬且高效"的领导人，终结了 90 年代鲍里斯·N·克林钦(Boris N. Yeltsin)以迷茫和衰落为特征的统治，但沃尔科夫称，权力集中在克里姆林宫导致普京要"为手下所有的蠢货负责"，并且要负责解决全国所有的争吵和问题，无论是多小的问题。
"The government simply cannot resolve every dispute in this country," he said.	"政府根本无法解决这个国家的所有争端，"他说。
For 16 years, however, the Kremlin, aided by hagiographic reports on television, has been telling and, to a large degree, convincing Russians that, in the case of their leader, one man could do just about anything and everything.	但 16 年来，在电视上圣徒列传式的报道的帮助下，克里姆林宫一直告诉俄罗斯民众，并在很大程度上让他们相信，就他们的领袖而言，他几乎有能力做任何事情，所有事情。
His visit to Pikalevo in 2009 helped construct this image. But the problem he solved then was relatively simple: The three separate private owners of a once-unified industrial combine could not agree on the price of the products they supplied to one another and which each needed to keep going. Starved of vital supplies, they halted production, leaving workers without work and Pikalevo's 22,000 residents without	那次 2009 年对皮卡列沃的视察帮助构建了这一形象。但他当时解决的问题相对简单：一个曾经属于一体的工业联合企业分家后，三个相互独立的私人业主无法就向彼此供货的价格达成一致。而这些货品又是他们继续经营所必需的。必要供给的缺失带来了停产，导致工人没有工作，皮卡列沃的 2.2 万名居民没了供暖和热水。愤怒的民众堵住了附近的一条联邦高速公路，以示抗议。

heat and hot water. Angry residents blocked a nearby federal highway in protest.
In just a few minutes, during a televised meeting in June 2009 with the owners, including Oleg V. Deripaska, a billionaire aluminum magnate who owns the biggest of the three factories, Mr. Putin put everything right. Describing the owners as “cockroaches,” he accused them of making “thousands of people hostages to your own ambitions, your nonprofessionalism and maybe simply your trivial greed; it is absolutely unacceptable.”	在 2009 年 6 月，普京与工厂的所有者召开了一次会议，包括三家工厂中最大的那家的老板、身为亿万富翁的铝业大亨欧柏嘉(Oleg V. Deripaska)。电视台对会议进行了转播。会议期间，普京只用了几分钟时间便把一切都处理好了。他称几家工厂的老板是“蟑螂”，谴责他们让“成千上万的人成了你们的野心、你们的不专业，或许完全就是你们那不值一提的贪婪的人质；这是绝对不能接受的。”
The owners, fearful of losing their assets, swiftly ended their quarrel. Behind the scenes, the Kremlin leaned on Gazprom, the state-controlled gas giant, to cut the price of energy to the Pikalevo plants and on state-owned banks to provide cheap credit.	害怕失去资产的工厂老板迅速结束争吵。在幕后，克里姆林宫分别向国有天然气巨头俄罗斯天然气工业股份公司(Gazprom)和国有银行施压，要求前者降低面向皮卡列沃几家工厂的能源供应价格，后者则为那些工厂提供廉价贷款。
The factory at the center of those troubles, Mr. Deripaska’s alumina plant, is now pumping out its primary product, a chemical compound used in aluminum smelting, as well as hot water for the whole town and a tide of slurry for the adjacent cement factory that no longer wants it.	这些麻烦的中心是欧柏嘉的氧化铝厂。如今，这家工厂正在不断出产其主打产品，即熔炼铝时要用到的一种化合物，以及供应整个城镇的热水和供旁边那家水泥厂使用的泥浆，但那家水泥厂不再想要这些如潮水般的泥浆了。
And this, in a nutshell, is the Kremlin’s current nightmare: With low global energy prices and Western sanctions over the Ukraine conflict crimping Russia’s prospects of recovery, the economy has hit a wall. It simply cannot compete with China, the United States or even the European nations that Russian state media constantly portray as fading has-beens. The easy and popular fixes the Kremlin used in the past to resuscitate the economy – or at least placate the public – have all	简而言之，这便是克里姆林宫眼前的噩梦：在全球能源价格低迷，西方因乌克兰冲突而实行的制裁导致俄罗斯复苏前景黯淡的情况下，经济陷入了泥沼。它根本无法与中国、美国乃至被俄罗斯官方媒体一直称作正在衰落的、风光不再的欧洲国家竞争。克里姆林宫过去用来重振经济——或者说至少是用来安抚民众——的那些简单却广受欢迎的解决办法，都已经用尽了。 been exhausted.

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160504/c04russia	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160504/c04russia
Senate Passes Bill Exposing Saudi Arabia to 9/11 Legal Claims	美参院通过提案，允许 9·11 死者家属起诉沙特
WASHINGTON — A bill that would let the families of those killed in the Sept. 11 attacks sue Saudi Arabia for any role in the terror plot passed the Senate unanimously on Tuesday, bringing Congress closer to a showdown with the White House, which has threatened to veto the legislation.	华盛顿——周二，一项提案在参议院获得一致通过，令国会与白宫进一步走向摊牌。根据该提案，9·11 事件丧生者的家属可以就沙特阿拉伯在那起恐怖袭击中发挥的作用提起诉讼。白宫已威胁要否决这项立法。
The Senate's passage of the bill, which will now be taken up in the House, is another sign of escalating tensions in a relationship between the United States and Saudi Arabia.	提案在参议院获得通过后，现在将被提交给众议院考虑。这是美国和沙特之间的关系趋于紧张的又一迹象。
Obama administration officials have lobbied against the bill, a view that White House spokesman Josh Earnest reiterated after the vote. And the Saudi government has warned that if the legislation passes, it might begin selling off up to $750 billion in Treasury securities and other assets in the United States before they face a danger of being frozen by U.S. courts.	奥巴马政府的官员一直在开展游说活动，反对该提案。在参议院投票后，白宫新闻发言人乔希·欧内斯特(Josh Earnest)重申了这一立场。沙特政府警告，如果通过立法，它可能会开始抛售高达 7500 亿美元的美国国债和在美国境内的其他资产，以免它们面临着被美国法院冻结的风险。
Many economists are skeptical that the Saudis would deliver on such a warning.	对于沙特是否会兑现这样的警告，很多经济学家表示怀疑。
Questions about the role Saudi officials might have played in the Sept. 11 plot have lingered for more than a decade, and families of the victims have used various lawsuits to try to hold members of the Saudi royal family and charities liable for what they allege is financial support of terrorism. But these moves have been mostly blocked, in part because of a 1976 law that gives foreign nations some immunity from lawsuits in	关于沙特官员在 9·11 袭击中可能扮演的角色，有些疑问十多年悬而未决。受害者家属声称沙特皇室和慈善机构的一些成员给恐怖活动提供了资金支持，并对这些人发起了多次诉讼。但是，这些行动绝大部分遭到了阻拦，部分原因是 1976 年的一项法律使得外国在美国法院诉讼中拥有一定的豁免权。

U.S. courts.
The Senate bill carves out an exception to the law if foreign countries are found culpable for terrorist attacks that kill U.S. citizens within the United States. If the legislation were to pass both houses and be signed by the president, it could clear a path for the role of the Saudi government to be examined in the Sept. 11 lawsuits.	参议院通过的提案给该法设定了一种例外情况：外国在美国境内参与了针对美国公民的恐怖袭击。倘若提案在两院获得通过，总统也同意签署，它就可能会为在 9·11 诉讼中调查沙特政府的作用扫清障碍。
"If the Saudis did not participate in this terrorism, they have nothing to fear about going to court," said Sen. Chuck Schumer, D-N.Y. "If they did, they should be held accountable."	"如果沙特没有参与这个恐怖活动，他们就不怕走上法庭，"纽约州民主党参议员查克·舒默(Chuck Schumer)说。"如果他们参与了，就应该被追究责任。"
Sen. John Cornyn, R-Texas, said the legislation was written in such a way that Americans would not be subject to legal action taken by other nations.	德克萨斯州共和党参议员约翰·科宁(John Cornyn)表示，这项立法在措辞上有讲究，不会让美国人成为其他国家法律行动的目标。
"I do believe that there's going to be some saber rattling, some threats, but I think that they are hollow," Cornyn said.	"我相信，会出现一些舞刀弄枪、进行威胁的现象，但我认为它们只是虚张声势，"科宁说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160518/c18saudi	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160518/c18saudi
EgyptAir Flight Believed to Have Crashed at Sea; Egypt Cites Possible Terrorism	官员称埃航失事客机或遭恐怖袭击
CAIRO — An Egyptian jetliner carrying 66 people from Paris to Cairo abruptly swerved, vanished from radar and plunged into the Mediterranean early Thursday, shortly before it was scheduled to land.	开罗——周四凌晨，一架载有 66 人的埃及客机从巴黎飞往开罗的途中，在预定降落时间之前不久突然转弯，从雷达上消失，坠入地中海。
Egyptian officials issued conflicting information about whether wreckage had been found and suggested terrorism was a more likely cause than technical failure.	对于残骸是否已经找到，埃及官员发出了相互矛盾的信息。他们还表示，比起技术故障，坠机原因更有可能是恐怖袭击。
The loss of the flight, EgyptAir 804, was the second civilian aviation disaster for Egypt in the past year. It immediately resurrected fears and	埃及航空公司 804 航班的失事，是埃及民航在一年之内遭遇的第二次空难。它立刻唤起了人们的担忧与猜测，不仅针对埃及航空旅行的安全和保障，还

speculation about the safety and security of Egyptian air travel and broader questions about terrorism against civilian air travel.	涉及到更大层面的恐怖主义威胁民用航班安全的问题。
Egypt and Greece mounted an intense search-and-rescue operation in the southern Aegean Sea, and, on Thursday afternoon, the Greek authorities said debris believed to be from the wreckage had been found at a site around 205 nautical miles southeast of Crete and 190 nautical miles south of the Greek island of Karpathos.	埃及和希腊在爱琴海南部开展了紧张的搜救行动。周四下午,希腊当局表示,在克里特岛东南 205 海里、卡尔帕索斯岛以南 109 海里的某处找到了一些残骸,据信属于这架飞机。
EgyptAir reported "the finding of wreckage of the missing aircraft" in a Twitter posting. But hours later EgyptAir's vice chairman, Ahmed Adel, was quoted by CNN as saying no wreckage had been found yet.	埃及航空公司(EgyptAir)在 Twitter 上称“失踪飞机残骸找到”。但数小时后,CNN 引述埃及航空副董事长艾哈迈德·阿德尔(Ahmed Adel)的话说,尚未发现该航班的残骸。
"We stand corrected on finding the wreckage because what we identified is not a part of our plane," he was quoted as saying. "So the search and rescue is still going on."	"我们纠正了找到飞机残骸的说法,因为确认它们不属于我们的飞机,"CNN 引述他的话报道。"因此搜救仍在进行中。"
The Egyptian civil aviation minister, Sherif Fathi, told a news conference in Cairo that it was premature to draw conclusions about the cause of the crash, but he quickly acknowledged that it might be terrorism.	埃及民航部长谢里夫·法特希(Sherif Fathy)在开罗举行的新闻发布会上告诉记者,目前得出坠机原因的结论为时过早,但他也当即承认,可能是恐怖主义。
The jetliner, an Airbus A320, departed Paris at 11:09 p.m. on Wednesday. The pilot spoke to Greek air traffic controllers at 2:26 a.m. and nothing seemed out of the ordinary, officials said. Three or four minutes later, the plane made its last normal radar contact.	这是一架空客 A320 客机,周三夜里 11 时 09 分从巴黎起飞。官员称,凌晨 2 时 26 分,飞行员还与希腊空中交通管制员进行过交谈,似乎没有什么异常。三四分钟后,飞机进行了最后一次正常的雷达联系。
At 2:37 a.m., shortly after entering Egyptian airspace, the plane made a 90-degree turn to the left and then a full circle to the right, first plunging to 15,000 feet from 37,000 feet and then to 9,000 feet. At that point it disappeared from radar, the Greek defense minister, Panos Kammenos, said at a news conference on Thursday afternoon.	凌晨 2 点 37 分,在进入埃及领空后不久,飞机突然向左 90 度大转弯,然后向右绕了一整圈,高度从 3.7 万英尺骤降到 1.5 万英尺,然后又降至 9000 英尺。希腊国防部长帕诺斯·卡梅诺斯(Panos Kammenos)在周四下午的新闻发布会上表示,就在这时它从雷达上消失了。

Flight 804 was carrying 56 passengers, including three children; seven crew members; and three members of airline security personnel.	埃航 804 航班上载有 56 名乘客，其中包括三名儿童；此外还有七名机组人员，以及三名航空安全人员。
The twin-engine aircraft's North Africa itinerary in the past two days was possibly more worrisome. Flightradar24 data showed it had flown round trips between Cairo and Asmara, Eritrea, and between Cairo and Tunis before flying to Paris. American and European officials have expressed concerns about security gaps in North African airports.	这架双引擎飞机在之前两天里安排的北非行程可能更加令人担忧。Flightradar24 的数据表明，在飞往巴黎之前，它曾在开罗和厄立特里亚的阿斯马拉、开罗和突尼斯之间进行了往返飞行。美国和欧洲官员不时对此非机场的安全漏洞表达担忧。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160520/c20plane	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160520/c20plane
Afghan Intelligence Says U.S. Drone Killed Taliban Leader in Pakistan Updated.	奥巴马确认美军无人机击毙塔利班头目曼苏尔
KABUL, Afghanistan — The leader of the Taliban in Afghanistan, Mullah Akhtar Muhammad Mansour, was killed by a U.S. drone strike, the Afghan intelligence agency said on Sunday.	最新消息：白宫确认曼苏尔死于无人机空袭。奥巴马总统在河内发表的一份声明中，称其死亡是一个“重要的里程碑”。奥巴马表示：“我们已经清除了一个组织的领导人，正是这一组织持续策划并发动对美国与其盟军的袭击。”
Some Taliban commanders vehemently denied that Mansour was present in the area of the strike, which occurred on Saturday near the Afghan border in the Pakistani province of Baluchistan, but a statement from the intelligence agency, the National Directorate of Security, was unambiguous.	阿富汗喀布尔——阿富汗情报机构周日表示，阿富汗塔利班头目阿赫塔尔·穆罕默德·曼苏尔(Akhtar Muhammad Mansour)毛拉在美国无人机袭击中身亡。
"Akhtar Muhammad Mansour, the leader of the Taliban group, was killed around 3:45 p.m. yesterday as a result of an airstrike in Dalbandin area of Baluchistan Province in Pakistan," the statement said. "He had been under close surveillance for a while, until his vehicle was struck and destroyed on the main road in the Dalbandin area."	上周六的这次袭击发生在巴基斯坦的俾路支省与阿富汗接壤的地区，塔利班一些指挥官否认曼苏尔在场，但情报机构阿富汗国家安全局(National Directorate of Security)在声明中使用了极为肯定的措辞。
	"塔利班集团头目阿赫塔尔·穆罕默德·曼苏尔昨天下午 3:45 左右，在巴基斯坦俾路支省达尔地区的一次空袭中丧生，"声明说。"此人处在严密监视下已经有一段时间，直到他的汽车在达尔地区的主要道路上被击中并摧毁。"

The United States did not offer confirmation of its own.	美国并没有予以确认。
"We are confident, but at this point we do not have indisputable facts that he is dead," said Brig. Gen. Charles H. Cleveland, a spokesman for U.S. forces in Afghanistan, said on Sunday.	"我们很有把握，但在目前，他已死亡一事并非无可争辩的事实，"周日，美军驻阿富汗发言人查尔斯·H·克里夫兰(Charles H. Cleveland)准将说。
Pakistan was not informed of the strike beforehand, said a senior U.S. official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.	一名不愿具名的美国高级官员说，袭击的消息并未事先透露给巴基斯坦。
Pakistan's foreign ministry issued a statement Sunday denouncing the attack as a violation of the country's sovereignty. In the statement, the ministry said a man carrying a Pakistani passport under the name of Wali Muhammad was targeted in the strike along with his driver. It was not immediately clear if either was Mansour.	巴基斯坦外交部周日发表声明，谴责这次袭击侵犯了该国主权。外交部在声明中表示，一名男子及其司机遭到了袭击，该男子持有的巴基斯坦护照上的名字叫瓦利·穆罕默德(Wali Muhammad)。目前尚不清楚两人中是否有一人是曼苏尔。
Secretary of State John Kerry, speaking on Sunday in Naypyidaw, the capital of Myanmar, where he was visiting the nation's new civilian government, was the first senior official to talk about the targeted attack. He repeatedly referred to Mansour in the past tense.	国务卿约翰·克里(John Kerry)是首位谈论这次袭击的高级官员，周日他正在缅甸首都内比都访问该国新上任的文职政府。提到曼苏尔时，克里一再使用过去时。
"We have long said that Mansour posed an imminent threat to us and to Afghan civilians," Kerry said. "This action sends a clear message to the world that we will continue to work with our Afghan partners."	"我们一直都说，曼苏尔对我们和阿富汗平民构成了迫在眉睫的威胁，"克里说。"这次的行动向大家发出了明确信息，我们将继续与阿富汗伙伴一起合作。"
Mullah Hameedi, a top Taliban military commander in southern Afghanistan who confirmed a strike in the border area but denied that Mansour was there, said: "We are going to persuade Mullah Mansour to publish his audio record to confirm he is alive."	哈米迪(Hameedi)毛拉是塔利班在阿富汗南部的最高军事指挥官之一，他证实边境地区发生了袭击，但否认曼苏尔在场。他说："我们会说服曼苏尔毛拉发布一段音频，以证明他还活着。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160523/c23afghanistan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160523/c23afghanistan
EgyptAir Was Aware of Threats to Security, Including One Scribbled on Plane	埃航失事航班曾遭政治活动人士破坏

CAIRO — In an eerie coincidence, the EgyptAir jetliner that plunged into the Mediterranean on Thursday was once the target of political vandals who wrote in Arabic on its underside, “We will bring this plane down.”	开罗——上周四坠入地中海的埃及航空公司(EgyptAir)客机曾经遭到过政治活动人士的破坏,这样的巧合令人不寒而栗。当时那些人用阿拉伯语在机身下面写着:“我们要把这架飞机弄下来。”
Three EgyptAir security officials said the threatening graffiti, which appeared about two years ago, had been the work of aviation workers at Cairo Airport. Playing on the phonetic similarity between the last two letters in the plane’s registration, SU-GCC, and the surname of Egypt’s president, Abdel Fattah el-Sisi, some workers also wrote “traitor” and “murderer.”	埃航的三名安全官员说,这些威胁性的涂鸦大约在两年前出现,是开罗机场的航空工人写的,因为这架飞机的注册名是SU-GCC,最后两个字母与埃及总统阿卜杜勒-法塔赫·塞西(Abdel Fattah el-Sisi)的姓氏读音相似。一些工人还写上了“叛徒”和“凶手”。
The officials, who were interviewed separately and who spoke on the condition of anonymity to describe the airline’s security procedures because they were not authorized to speak publicly, said the graffiti had been linked to the domestic Egyptian political situation at the time rather than to a militant threat. Similar graffiti against Mr. Sisi, a former general, was scrawled across Cairo after the military ousted the elected president, Mohamed Morsi, in 2013.	这些官员分别接受了采访,因为没有获得公开谈论该航空公司安全措施的授权,他们都不愿具名。三人表示,那些涂鸦和当时埃及国内的政治局势有关,不属于激进式威胁。塞西之前是个将军,军方在2013年推翻民选总统穆罕默德·穆尔西(Mohamed Morsi)之后,开罗到处都有类似的涂鸦。
Since then, the airline has put into effect a variety of new security measures in response to Egypt’s political turmoil, jihadist violence and other aviation disasters like the crash of a Russian plane that killed 224 people in October. EgyptAir has fired employees for their political leanings, stepped up crew searches and added extra unarmed in-flight security guards. Three such guards died in Thursday’s crash of Flight 804.	自那之后,埃航新增了多种安全措施,来应对埃及的政治动荡、圣战暴力以及其他航空灾难——比如去年10月俄罗斯飞机坠毁致224人丧生的那场空难。埃航解雇了政治倾向明显的员工,加强了登机安检,还增加了不带武器的飞行安全警卫人数。上周四坠机的804航班上就有三个这样的警卫丧生。
Whether those moves were sufficient remained an open question on Saturday as experts pored over data emitted by the plane in its final	这些措施是否已经足够,截至上周六仍是存在疑问的,专家们对飞机最后关头发送的数据进行研究,希望找到有关坠机原因的线索。法国航空事故调查

minutes for clues as to what had brought it down. The French air accident investigation authority confirmed that the data showed that several smoke alarms had been activated while the plane plunged toward the sea.	部门证实, 数据显示, 在飞机坠入大海的时候, 有几个烟雾报警器已被激活。
But they cautioned that the signals, sent by a monitoring system on board the Airbus A320 jetliner, did not offer enough information to conclude what had caused the crash.	但他们也告诫说, 这些信号是通过这架空客 A320 的机上监控系统发送的, 它们没有提供足够的信息, 难以从中推断出坠机原因。
“These are not messages that enable us to interpret anything,” said Sébastien Barthe, a spokesman for France’s Bureau of Investigations and Analysis. “If there is smoke, it means that there is potentially a fire somewhere, but it doesn’t tell us where the fire is, and it doesn’t help us establish whether it is something malevolent or something technical.”	“我们无法靠这些消息来解释任何东西, ”法国调查与分析局(Bureau of Investigations and Analysis)发言人塞巴斯蒂安·巴特(Sébastien Barthe)说。“如果有烟雾, 就可能有什么东西在燃烧, 但这并不能告诉我们哪里起了火, 也不能帮助我们确定它属于恶意破坏还是技术故障。”
In an audio message released Saturday, Abu Muhammad al-Adnani, the official spokesman of the Islamic State and the head of a unit dedicated to external attacks, denounced the American-led military campaign against the group but did not mention the EgyptAir crash.	在上周六发布的一段音频中, 伊斯兰国(Islamic State)官方发言人、专门负责应对外部攻击的阿布·穆罕默德·阿德纳尼(Abu Mohammed al- Adnani)谴责美国领导军事行动打击他们, 但没有提到埃及航空公司的坠机事件。
EgyptAir’s security procedures last came under scrutiny in March when a passenger on a domestic flight pretended to be wearing an explosive vest and forced the plane to land in Cyprus. The crisis was resolved within hours when the man, later determined to be psychologically troubled, surrendered. The Egyptian authorities were quick to post surveillance videos that they said showed he had been searched before boarding the flight.	埃及航空公司的安全措施上次引起关注是在今年3月份, 当时一个国内航班的乘客假称穿着炸弹背心, 迫使飞机在塞浦路斯降落。那名男子在数小时后投降了, 危机也随之解决, 后来确认该男子存在心理障碍。埃及当局很快发布了监控视频, 他们说, 视频显示此人在登机前接受过检查。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160523/c23security	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160523/c23security
Three Shipwrecks and Over 700 Deaths as Migrant Crisis Flares on	三天三起船难, 超 700 名移民葬身地中海

Mediterranean
ROME — The migrant ships kept sinking. First came a battered, blue-decked vessel that flipped over on Wednesday as terrified migrants plunged into the Mediterranean Sea. The next day, a flimsy craft capsized with hundreds of people aboard. And on Friday, still another boat sank into the deceptively placid waters of the Mediterranean.	罗马——移民乘坐的船只接二连三地翻沉。首先是上周三，一艘甲板刷成蓝色的破旧的船翻沉，惊恐的移民坠入了地中海。第二天，一艘脆弱的船倾覆，导致数百人落水。上周五，又有另一艘船沉入了地中海看似平静的水中。
Three days and three sunken ships are again confronting Europe with the horrors of its refugee crisis, as desperate people trying to reach the Continent keep dying at sea. At least 700 people from the three boats are believed to have drowned, the U.N. refugee agency announced Sunday, in one of the deadliest weeks in the Mediterranean in recent memory.	三天三次沉船事件，让欧洲再次直面难民危机的可怕之处：绝望者试图抵达欧洲大陆，却不断有人葬身大海。联合国难民事务署周日宣布，三艘据信已翻沉的船只导致至少700人丧生。这是近来地中海地区死亡最为惨重的一周之一。
As summer approaches, human trafficking along the North African coastline traditionally kicks into a higher gear. Taking advantage of calm conditions, smugglers in Libya send out more and more migrants toward Italy, often on unseaworthy vessels. Drowning deaths are inevitable, even as Italian coast guard and navy ships race to answer distress calls. Last year, more than 3,700 migrants died in the Mediterranean, a figure that could be surpassed this year.	随着夏季来临，通过北非海岸的线路进行偷渡的事件往往会进入高发期。利比亚的蛇头捉住水面平静的时机，把越来越多的移民运往意大利，所用的船只往往并不适宜航行。尽管意大利海警和海军舰艇忙于应对遇险呼叫，但溺水死亡的事件不可避免。去年有逾3700名移民葬身地中海，而今年有可能超过这个数字。
In a statement Sunday, the U.N. Children’s Fund said many of the migrants who drowned in the past week were believed to be unaccompanied adolescents.	联合国儿童基金会在周日的一份声明中表示，过去一周中丧命的很多移民据信是无人看护的青少年。
The grisly week also underscored the complex problem that the refugee crisis poses for Europe. The Continent’s leaders have signed a	这悲惨的一周也突显了难民危机给欧洲带来的复杂问题。欧洲大陆的领导人与土耳其签署了一项有争议的协议。到目前为止，该协议大幅减少了进入希

controversial deal with Turkey that so far has sharply reduced the migrant flow into Greece.	腊的移民人数。
Yet closing the Greek route has shifted attention to the longer, more dangerous sea route from Libya to Italy. As of Wednesday, roughly 41,000 migrants had been rescued at sea after leaving Libya, nearly the same number from the same period last year, according to the United Nations and the International Organization for Migration.	然而，希腊的路线被封堵之后，关注的焦点就转移到了航程更长、危险性更大的利比亚至意大利的海上航线。联合国和国际移民组织(International Organization for Migration)的数字显示，截至上周三，大约有 4.1 万移民离开利比亚后在海上获救，几乎与去年同期的数字持平。
The potential for a sudden increase in traffic is clear: An additional 4,000 migrants were rescued on Thursday alone, the same day that as many as 550 people died on the second migrant boat that sank.	偷渡人数突然增加的可能性是显而易见的：仅在上周四，就有另外 4000 名移民获救，同一天有至多 550 人随第二艘移民船一起葬身大海。
"This week was a massacre," said Giovanna Di Benedetto, a spokeswoman in Sicily with Save the Children, the nonprofit humanitarian group.	"这周的遇难者太多了，"人道主义非营利组织救助儿童会(Save the Children)在西西里岛的发言人乔万娜·迪贝内代托(Giovanna Di Benedetto)说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160530/c30migrants	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160530/c30migrants
Modern Slavery Estimated to Trap 45 Million People Worldwide	人权组织发布全球奴隶指数：中国第二
About 45.8 million people around the world are trapped in modern versions of enslavement, a human rights group reported Tuesday, 28 percent more than it last estimate two years ago.	一家人权组织本周二通报，全球约有 4580 万人受困于现代奴役形式，比两年前的估算数据高出 28%。
The organization, the Walk Free Foundation, attributed the increased number in its report, the 2016 Global Slavery Index, to improved data collection and research methodology. Whether enslavement is increasing or decreasing remains unclear.	这家机构名为自由行走基金会(Walk Free Foundation)。在名为《2016 年全球奴隶指数》(2016 Global Slavery Index)的报告中，它把这一人数的增加归结于数据搜集和研究方法的改善。奴役状况本身是加剧了还是减缓了则并不清楚。
The organization said it had derived the index from 42,000 interviews conducted in 53 languages. Some form of modern slavery exists in all 167 countries covered by the index, it said.	该机构表示，它根据 53 种语言进行的 4.2 万次访谈编制了这个指数。在指数覆盖的全部 167 个国家中，均存在某些现代奴役形式。

Unlike historical definitions of slavery in which people were held as legal property, a practice that has been universally outlawed, modern slavery is generally defined as human trafficking, forced labor, bondage from indebtedness, forced or servile marriage or commercial sexual exploitation.	在历史上，奴隶制是指把人当作合法财产对待。这种做法已被普遍禁止。现代奴役形式则通常定义为人口贩运、强迫劳动、债务奴役、强迫或奴役型婚姻，以及商业化的性剥削。
The Walk Free Foundation’s report said more than half the population of modern slaves are in five countries – India, with 18.35 million, China, with 3.39 million, Pakistan, 2.13 million, Bangladesh, 1.53 million, and Uzbekistan, 1.23 million.	自由行走基金会的报告称，现代奴役形式一半以上的受害者分布在五个国家——印度 1835 万、中国 339 万、巴基斯坦 213 万、孟加拉国 153 万，以及乌兹别克斯坦 123 万。
The report found that North Korea had the highest per capita level of modern slavery, at 4.37 percent of the population, followed by Uzbekistan, at 3.97 percent, Cambodia, 1.65 percent, India, 1.4 percent, and Qatar, 1.36 percent.	该报告表示，现代奴役形式受害者比例最高的是朝鲜，占人口总数的 4.37%，接下来是乌兹别克斯坦的 3.97%、柬埔寨的 1.65%，印度的 1.4%，以及卡塔尔的 1.36%。
While India is home to more enslaved people than any other country, the Walk Free Foundation report said it had made “significant progress” in measures to address the problem. Those included toughened criminal penalties for child prostitution and forced marriage, as well as improvements to protect victims.	虽然印度的受奴役者比其他任何国家都多，但自由行走基金会的报告认为，该国为应对这一问题采取的措施获得了“显著进步”。这些措施包括对儿童卖淫和强迫婚姻现象加重刑事处罚，加强对受害者的保护等。
The report also cited what it described as “significant progress” in antislavery actions by other governments since publication of the last report in 2014. The British government, for example, introduced the Modern Slavery Act last year, which can penalize violators with life imprisonment terms, and the United States amended a law to ban the importation of goods made with forced or child labor.	文中还提到，自上一版报告 2014 年发布以来，其他一些国家的政府也在反奴役行动上取得了“显著进步”。例如英国政府去年推出了《现代奴役法案》(Modern Slavery Act)，违反其中条款的人可以适用于终身监禁的处罚。美国也修订了一项法律，禁止进口使用强迫劳工或童工制造的商品。
The countries with the lowest per capita rates of modern slavery –	现代奴役形式人均水平最低的国家——定义为总人口的 0.02% 及以下——有

defined as 0.02 percent of the population or less, were: Luxembourg, New Zealand, Ireland, Norway, Denmark, Switzerland, Austria, Sweden, Belgium, Australia, Canada, Spain, Britain, France, Germany and the United States.	卢森堡、新西兰、爱尔兰、挪威、丹麦、瑞士、奥地利、瑞典、比利时、澳大利亚、加拿大、西班牙、英国、法国、德国和美国。
The Walk Free Foundation was founded in 2012 by Australian philanthropists, Andrew and Nicola Forrest, and developed what it described as the world's first all-encompassing global estimate of slavery with country-by-country data.	自由行走基金会成立于2012年，由澳大利亚慈善家安德鲁与妮古拉·福雷斯特(Andrew and Nicola Forrest)创办。基金会开发了一套评估体系，称其是世界上首个按国家评估全球各种奴役形式的系统。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160601/c01slavery	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160601/c01slavery
Riding Out Storms, and Loneliness, in the Ocean Search for Flight 370	在致命的风浪里，搜寻MH370残骸
FREMANTLE, Australia — For Scott Miller, part of a team searching for the remains of a doomed Malaysia Airlines flight, the worst hours in a lifetime at sea came when his 215-foot vessel was caught last year between two powerful tropical cyclones and lashed by hurricane-force winds.	澳大利亚弗里曼特尔——对参加马来西亚航空公司(Malaysia Airlines)一架失事航班残骸搜寻工作的斯科特·米勒(Scott Miller)来说，在海上经历的人生中最危险的那几个小时发生在去年。当时，他所在那艘215英尺(约合65米)长的船被困在两个强大的热带气旋之间，经受着飓风级别的狂风的袭击。
The largest wave "was like an eight-story building coming at the boat," said Mr. Miller, the chief ocean floor surveyor aboard the ship, the Fugro Equator. "It was quite scary, the waves were the biggest I've ever seen."	最大的那个波浪“就像一栋八层高的建筑，直逼我们的船而来”，在“辉固赤道号”(Fugro Equator)上担任首席海底勘测员的米勒说。“相当吓人，是我所见过的最大的浪。”
For Micah Hunter, the supervisor of the sofa-size sonar equipment towed behind the vessel, the most difficult moments were when a tow cable began fraying as the so-called towfish was being hauled up from near the ocean floor in late April.	对负责操作“辉固赤道号”船尾那台长沙发大小的声呐设备的迈卡·亨特(Micah Hunter)来说，最难的时候是在四月底。当时，他们正把称作拖鱼的设备从海底附近拖上来，一根牵引索开始出现断丝。
Two of the cable's steel strands suddenly snapped, with one of them driving all the way through his left pinkie and out the other side, despite a protective glove. The other strand penetrated deep into his left index	牵引索的两股钢绞线突然断了。一股径直穿透他左手的小指，飞了出去，尽管他当时戴了防护手套。另一股深深扎进他左手的食指。

finger.
And for Rhiannon Woolhouse-Williams, an ocean floor surveyor who is the only woman in the 30-member crew and also the youngest at 23, the hardest part has been living at sea far from her home and friends in New Zealand.	海底勘测员里安农·伍尔豪斯-威廉斯(Rhiannon Woolhouse-Williams)是船上 30 名工作人员中唯一一名女性,也是最年轻的。对 23 岁的她来说,最困难的是要远离新西兰的家人和朋友,在大海上生活。
For more than two years, crews aboard the Fugro Equator and other vessels have been searching the southern Indian Ocean for the remains of Malaysia Airlines Flight 370, which disappeared during a flight from Kuala Lumpur to Beijing on March 8, 2014.	在两年多时间里,“辉固赤道号”和其他船上的工作人员一直在南印度洋搜寻马来西亚航空公司 MH370 航班的残骸。2014 年 3 月 8 日,该航班在从吉隆坡飞往北京途中失踪。
Month after month, the crews braved mountainous seas and loneliness to answer a mystery that has confounded the globe, with little to show for their efforts.	时间一点点过去,为了揭开一个令全球困惑的谜团,他们勇敢面对一望无际的大海和孤独,但他们的努力却几乎没有换来什么成果。
Ms. Woolhouse-Williams joined Fugro, a Dutch company managing the search on a contract from the Australian government, right after her graduation from college in late 2014. She soon began a long series of six-week voyages to some of the most remote waters ever searched.	辉固(Fugro)是一家荷兰公司,与澳大利亚政府签订了合同,负责进行搜寻工作。2014 年底大学一毕业,伍尔豪斯-威廉斯就加入了该公司。很快,她便开始了一系列漫长的航行,去的是一些最偏远的水域。每次航行持续六周时间。
“Before I went there, I couldn’t understand how isolated you were,” she said in an interview on the back deck of the Equator after it arrived in Fremantle, the port the serves Perth, Australia, to pick up supplies in early May. “We didn’t see any other vessels for weeks.”	“去那里之前,我想不到会有多孤独,”她五月初在“赤道号”船尾甲板上接受采访时说。当时船停靠在澳大利亚珀斯的港口弗里曼特尔补充给养。“我们好几周都看不到其他任何船。”
The Fugro Equator has repeatedly found fields of debris on the deep ocean floor, 12,000 to 15,000 feet below the waves. Each time, spirits have soared as the crew members hoped that they had found the missing plane.	“辉固赤道号”多次在 1.2 万到 1.5 万英尺深的海底发现散落着残骸的区域。每一次,大家都精神振奋,希望自己找到了失踪的飞机。
The first time they found a debris field, they were so excited that Fugro	第一次发现散落着残骸的区域时,他们非常激动,辉固公司甚至通知了澳大

even notified the office of Prime Minister Malcolm Turnbull of Australia, who was traveling in Europe, to be ready to make an announcement.	利亚总理马尔科姆·特恩布尔(Malcolm Turnbull)的办公室, 让其做好宣布这一消息的准备。当时, 特恩布尔正在欧洲。
Each time, the Equator or one of the other vessels has sent down an unmanned, remotely operated device to examine the wreckage with very high-resolution sonar and sometimes with cameras as well. But every time, the debris has turned out to be from previously unknown shipwrecks.	每一次, “赤道号”或其他船只都会放一台遥控的无人设备下去检查残骸。这种设备配备了分辨率非常高的声呐, 有时候还带摄像头。但每一次, 残骸都被证明是来自之前不知道的失事船只。
The shipwrecks seldom look the same, and the most recent one looked so much like a plane on images from the towed sonar device that it initially fooled Mr. Miller. “As it scuttled past on the screen, I called up everyone in Fugro,” he said. “When we went past that one, I was certain we’d found MH370.”	那些沉船的样子千奇百怪。他们上一次发现的那艘失事船只, 从拖曳声呐设备发回的图像上看非常像一架飞机, 以至于一开始骗过了米勒。“当它在屏幕上急速划过时, 我给辉固的所有人打了电话,”他说。“当我们经过那艘船的时候, 我确定我们找到了MH370。”
But it proved to be a steel vessel that had landed more upright on the ocean floor and with less damage than others they had located.	但后来, 事实证明那是一艘钢铁船, 以接近直立的姿势沉到了海底, 受损程度比他们之前发现的其他船小。
For Capt. Andreas Ryanto Molyo, the commander of the Fugro Equator, the worst moment came during the same confluence of storms that alarmed Mr. Miller. Powerful gusts started forcing rain into the ship’s ventilation system through a vent on the back of the vessel, threatening to cripple the engines and electrical systems.	“辉固赤道号”上的指挥官安德烈亚斯·里安托·莫利奥(Andreas Ryanto Molyo)船长经历的最危急时刻, 也发生在让米勒感到惊慌的那场暴风雨期间。狂风裹挟着暴雨, 通过船后部的一个通风孔进入通风系统, 可能会严重破坏发动机和电力系统。
Engineers opened a joint in the ventilation tubing and drained the water. The crew was lucky that the weather was cool and the intake fan in the ventilation system was not running, so it did not short-circuit, Captain Molyo said.	工程师们打开通风管道上的一个连接处, 把水排了出来。莫利奥船长说, 他们很幸运, 因为天气凉爽, 通风系统里的进气风扇没转, 所以才没短路。
The waves were so steep and violent that crew members who wanted to sleep tried an old sailor trick of tucking life vests under the sides of	海浪又大又急, 想睡觉的人尝试了一个古老的水手诀窍, 把救生衣塞在床垫边缘, 以避免被甩出去。 their mattresses to avoid being tossed out.

But as the ocean became even more tumultuous, Ms. Woolhouse-Williams found that even that was not enough, and she tried to stay in her bunk with one leg braced against the wall and the opposite hand against the meager, bolted-down furniture.	但随着大海变得愈发狂暴，伍尔豪斯-威廉斯发现这样还不够，躺在床上的她试着用一条腿顶着墙，另外一边的手顶着用螺栓固定着的简单家具。
"You kind of sleep propped against the wee bedside table," she said. Fugro has dispensed more than 300 prescriptions for seasickness to crew members, who said that few had been immune.	"睡觉的时候几乎是顶着小床头柜的,"他说。辉固给船上的工作人员发了 300 多份治疗晕船的药。他们说，几乎没人不晕船。
The sonar equipment was hauled up from near the ocean floor — a six-hour process — and safely lashed down before the cyclones hit, but there was not enough time to flee the area entirely.	气旋到来之前，声呐设备被从海底附近拉了上来——这个过程持续了六个小时——并牢牢捆住，但船没有足够的时间完全撤离该海域。
Fugro has changed its procedures since then and now provides color maps to the crew of incoming storms instead of numerical weather information, said Steve Duffield, the managing director of Fugro's ocean survey operations in Australia. It is also quicker to interrupt the search if a tropical cyclone threatens, he said.	辉固的澳大利亚海洋勘测业务总经理史蒂夫·达菲尔德(Steve Duffield)说，在那以后公司改变了做法，现在会给船上人员提供彩色地图，标明即将到来的暴风雨，而不是数字形式的天气信息。他说，如果可能出现热带气旋，公司还会更迅速地停止搜寻。
Crew members said that they were not ready to end the search for Flight 370. They still hope to locate the aircraft on the seafloor and its black boxes, with the goal of unlocking the mystery of why the plane went astray.	船上的工作人员说，他们没有打算结束对 MH370 航班的搜寻，仍希望能在海底找到那架飞机和它的黑匣子。他们的目标是解开飞机消失之谜。
"Everyone is still really invested in finding it, and no one has given up yet on finding it," Ms. Woolhouse-Williams said. "It would be hard to be out here if you didn't believe."	"大家真的还是在很投入地找，没人放弃找到它的希望，"伍尔豪斯-威廉斯说。"没有信念的话，在海上会很难。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160603/malaysia-airlines-mh370	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160603/malaysia-airlines-mh370
Turkey Pursues Cleric Living in U.S., Blamed as Coup Mastermind	谁是土耳其政变的幕后主脑?

ISTANBUL — Turkey's president, Recep Tayyip Erdogan, says that a mild-mannered Muslim cleric living in self-imposed exile in rural Pennsylvania was pulling the strings of a coup attempt last week that almost succeeded in taking over the state, and killing Mr. Erdogan himself.	伊斯坦布尔——土耳其总统雷杰普·塔伊普·埃尔多安(Recep Tayyip Erdogan)说,上周末遂政变的幕后操纵者,是一位举止温和的穆斯林神职人员,目前他因自我流放,居住在宾夕法尼亚州农村。政变几乎成功地接管了政府,差点杀死了埃尔多安。
Now, Mr. Erdogan says that many thousands of Turkish citizens — soldiers, policemen, bureaucrats, teachers, judges, lawyers and many more professions — are all part of the cleric's movement and must be punished. Tens of thousands of people have already been arrested or suspended from their jobs in the four days since the coup failed, after a night of violence that plunged the country into chaos.	埃尔多安现在说,数千名土耳其公民,包括军人、警察、政府官员、教师、法官、律师和许多其他的职业工作者,都是该神职人员运动的一部分,他们必须受到惩罚。政变发生的夜晚,暴力使土耳其陷入混乱,政变失败后的四天里,已有几万人被逮捕、或被暂时停职。
Mr. Erdogan and the cleric, Fethullah Gulen, have been adversaries in recent years, and Turkey has said before that Mr. Gulen must be extradited by the United States. Now, though, Mr. Erdogan appears determined to get him back, a matter that threatens to aggravate relations between the two NATO allies.	埃尔多安与那位名叫费特胡拉·居伦(Fethullah Gulen)的神职人员近年来一直是对手,土耳其以前曾表示,美国必须将居伦引渡回国。而现在,埃尔多安似乎已下决心要他回来,该问题将危及这两个北约盟国之间的关系,走向进一步恶化。
But who is Mr. Gulen? And is it possible he is behind such a vast conspiracy?	居伦是什么人?他有可能是如此巨大阴谋的幕后策划者吗?
James F. Jeffrey, a former American ambassador to Turkey now at the Washington Institute for Near East Policy, called the organization a "cultlike" movement, and said no one really had solid information about its size and aims. But many experts on Turkey, Mr. Jeffrey included, say the followers of Mr. Gulen have sought to gain power within Turkey by infiltrating state institutions, most successfully the judiciary and the police.	前美国驻土耳其大使、现在华盛顿近东政策学院工作的詹姆斯·F·杰弗里(James F. Jeffrey)称该神职人员的组织是一个“类似邪教”的运动,并说,关于该组织大小和目的,目前尚没有人真正有可靠信息。但是,包括杰弗里在内,许多研究土耳其问题的专家说,居伦的追随者一直在寻求通过渗入国家机构,在土耳其国内获得权力,他们在司法和警察部门最为成功。

“They are a state within a state,” he said. “They have infiltrated many places.”	“他们是一个国中之国，”杰弗里说。“他们已经渗透到很多地方。”
In the past, Mr. Gulen has been embraced by American officials as a moderate Islamic leader: someone who promotes interfaith dialogue, leads a worldwide network of charities and secular schools, favors good relations with Israel and opposes harder-line Islamist movements like the Muslim Brotherhood and Hamas.	过去，作为一名温和派的伊斯兰领袖，居伦曾受到美国官员的欢迎：他推动不同信仰间的对话，领导着一个由慈善机构和世俗学校构成的全球网络，支持与以色列建立良好关系，反对诸如穆斯林兄弟会和哈马斯等强硬派的伊斯兰运动。
In Turkey, his supporters have long filled the ranks of the police, judiciary and, to a lesser extent, the military, something Mr. Gulen has encouraged in speeches. Having fled the country in 1999 as Turkey’s old secular elite charged him with trying to overthrow the state, he landed in the United States, where a former C.I.A. official helped him get a green card.	在土耳其国内，他的支持者进入警察和司法部门工作已有很长时间，也有人在军队工作，但人数不是那么多，居伦在演讲中鼓励支持者们这种做法。1999年，由于当时统治土耳其的世俗精英指控他试图推翻政府，他逃离了土耳其，来到美国，一名中央情报局前官员帮助他拿到了绿卡。
The darker suspicions of his movement have emerged as a central plotline in the aftermath of the failed military coup in Turkey, with Mr. Erdogan accusing him of being the mastermind of the conspiracy.	土耳其发生未遂军事政变之后，他的运动中更阴暗的可疑点已作为事件的中心情节浮出水面，埃尔多安指责他是阴谋的主谋。
Turkish officials on Tuesday, including Prime Minister Binali Yildirim, raised the pressure on the United States to hand over Mr. Gulen, promising to send dossiers of evidence of his role in the plot.	包括总理比纳利·耶伊尔德勒姆(Binali Yildirim)在内的土耳其官员周二向美国施加压力，要求把居伦送回国，并答应将其在阴谋中所起作用的证据提交给美国。
The White House said on Tuesday that it received an electronic file from Turkey on the matter, though it was unclear that it was a formal extradition request.	白宫周二表示，已经收到土耳其发来有关此事的电子文件，但目前还不清楚，那是否是正式的引渡请求。
“The Department of Justice and the Department of State will review those materials consistent with the requirements of the extradition treaty between the United States and Turkey that’s been on the books	“司法部和国务院将审查这些材料是否符合美国与土耳其之间的引渡条约要求，有关法律已经建立了30多年了，”白宫发言人乔希·欧内斯特(Josh Earnest)说。

for more than 30 years now," Josh Earnest, the White House spokesman, said.
On Tuesday, Mr. Erdogan and Mr. Obama spoke by telephone, with Mr. Obama offering help to investigate the coup, but giving no indication in a statement by the White House of a willingness to promptly send Mr. Gulen back.	周二，埃尔多安和奥巴马总统通了电话，奥巴马表示愿意为调查政变提供帮助，但在白宫发布的声明中，奥巴马没有给出愿意很快把居伦送回土耳其的任何迹象。
Mr. Yildirim said Turkey was intent on destroying the Gulen movement "by its roots." And the government has moved quickly, raising concerns it is more interested in silencing all opposition than rooting out those behind the coup.	耶尔德勒姆说，土耳其决意“从根子上”挫败居伦的运动。政府已迅速采取行动，这让人担忧它更感兴趣的是噤声所有反对派，而不是铲除政变背后的推手。
Nearly 35,000 members of the military, police and judiciary have either been arrested or dismissed. On Tuesday, the government suspended more than 15,000 members of the Education Ministry, forced more than 1,500 university deans to resign and revoked the licenses of 21,000 private schoolteachers.	有近 3.5 万名军队、警察和司法部门人员已被逮捕或被开除。周二，土耳其政府暂停了教育部超过 1.5 万职工的工作，迫使 1500 多位大学的院长辞职，撤销了 2.1 万名私立教师的许可证。
All of them, officials said, are suspected of having some link to Mr. Gulen.	官员说，所有这些人都会被怀疑与居伦有瓜葛。
The Turkish military, in a statement, blamed the "Fethullah Terrorist Organization" for the coup plot, and said the plotters had held at gunpoint the military's chief of staff, demanding that he sign a document supporting the coup, which he refused to do.	土耳其军方在一份声明中指责“费特胡拉恐怖组织”策划了政变阴谋，并说策划者曾持枪扣押了军队的总参谋长，要求他签署一份支持政变的文件，被他拒绝了。
Mr. Gulen, a mystic preacher of the Sufi branch of Islam who lives in a secluded compound in the Poconos, in Pennsylvania, has become a central point of tension between the United States and Turkey. One Turkish official said he believed the United States played a role in the	居伦是伊斯兰教苏菲派分支的一名神秘的神职人员，住在宾夕法尼亚州波科诺斯一个僻静的院子里，他已经成为美国与土耳其关系紧张问题的一个焦点。一位土耳其官员说，他认为美国在政变中起了作用，国务卿约翰·克里周日驳回了这种指责，称其“不负责任”。不过，一家亲政府报纸的主编周二在

coup, an accusation Secretary of State John Kerry dismissed on Sunday as "irresponsible." Still, in a front-page column on Tuesday, the editor in chief of a pro-government newspaper wrote, "The U.S. Tried to Assassinate Erdogan!"	头版发表的评论文章中写道,“美国试图暗杀埃尔多安!”
At the very least, the prospect of a contentious extradition process is likely to complicate relations between the allies at a time when the United States is relying on Turkey as a crucial partner in the fight against the Islamic State.	在美国打击伊斯兰国的斗争中,土耳其是其重要的伙伴,在此之际,有争议的引渡程序的前景最起码有可能让这两个盟国之间的关系复杂化。
Referring to the United States, Mr. Yildirim said, "we would be disappointed if our friends told us to present proof even though members of the assassin organization are trying to destroy an elected government under the directions of that person." He added, "At this stage there could even be a questioning of our friendship."	耶尔德勒姆在提到美国时说,“在那个人的指导之下,该刺客组织的成员在试图摧毁一个民选政府,如果我们的朋友还要我们拿出证明,那我们会很失望。”他补充说,“这种情况甚至让人有可能对我们的友谊产生怀疑。”
Mr. Kerry has said Turkey, as part of the extradition process, must provide evidence that withstands scrutiny in an American court — something analysts say Turkey does not have.	克里曾表示,作为引渡程序的一部分,土耳其必须提供能禁得住美国法院审查的证据,分析人士说,土耳其没有这样的证据。
On Tuesday, Mr. Gulen again denied any involvement. "Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan today once again demonstrated he will go to any length necessary to solidify his power and persecute his critics," Mr. Gulen said in a statement. "It is ridiculous, irresponsible and false to suggest I had anything to do with the horrific failed coup. I urge the U.S. government to reject any effort to abuse the extradition process to carry out political vendettas."	周二,居伦再次否认与政变有任何牵连。“土耳其总统雷杰普·塔伊普·埃尔多安今天再次证明,他在巩固自己的权力、打压他的批评者上愿意拿出任何可能的手段,”居伦在一份声明中说。“暗示我与可怕的未遂政变有任何关系是可笑、不负责任和毫无根据的。我敦促美国政府拒绝任何滥用引渡程序进行政治报复的努力。”
Turkish officials may be certain about Mr. Gulen's actions and motives, but the nature of his movement has long confounded analysts and	虽然土耳其官员也许对居伦的行为和动机深信不疑,但其运动的性质一直让土耳其的分析人士和外交官员困惑,部分原因是因为这个组织不透明,其成

diplomats in Turkey, partly because the organization is opaque and individuals do not openly declare allegiance to it.	员不公开宣布效忠该组织。
Mr. Jeffrey said it would have been hard for Gulen followers, as Islamists, to infiltrate the armed forces, which have been a stronghold of secularism in Turkey.	杰弗里表示，作为伊斯兰教徒，居伦的追随者很难渗透到武装部队中，后者是土耳其世俗主义的坚实阵地。
In diplomatic cable written in 2009, and made public by WikiLeaks, Mr. Jeffrey detailed how Mr. Gulen came to exile in the United States. He left Turkey in 1999 after being charged with plotting to overthrow the state. The charges, Mr. Jeffrey wrote, were based on a sermon Mr. Gulen had given in which he said, "our friends, who have positions in legislative and administrative bodies, should learn its details and be vigilant all the time so they can transform it and be more fruitful on behalf of Islam in order to create a nationwide restoration."	维基解密(WikiLeaks)公开的一些2009年的外交电文详细记述了居伦流亡至美国的经过。1999年被控图谋推翻政府后，他离开土耳其。杰弗里写道，那些指控的依据是居伦举行的一场布道。他在布道时说，“我们那些在立法和行政机构中任职的朋友，应该去了解细节，并时刻保持警惕，这样才能改变它，才能代表伊斯兰教取得更多成果，以便创造一场全国范围内的复辟。”
Mr. Gulen was later acquitted, in absentia, on all charges.	后来，居伦被缺席裁决所有罪名不成立。
Mr. Erdogan and Mr. Gulen were once Islamist allies, at war with Turkey's old secular elite. After Mr. Erdogan's Islamist Justice and Development Party came to power more than a decade ago, they teamed up to tame the military, which overthrew four elected governments last century. A series of sensational trials, which were overseen by Gulen-affiliated judges and prosecutors and were later determined to have relied, in part, on fabricated evidence, sent hundreds of officers to prison and seemed to have secured civilian control over the military.	埃尔多安和居伦一度是伊斯兰盟友，共同对付老一辈的土耳其世俗权贵。在埃尔多安领导的正义与发展党(Justice and Development Party)十多年前掌权后，他们联袂合作，控制了军队。在上个世纪，军队推翻了四届民选政府。在居伦的嫡系法官和检察官主持下，一系列引起轰动的审判把成百上千名军人送进了监狱，似乎确保了文官对军队的控制。后来这些审判被认定在一定程度上是基于捏造的证据。
But three years ago, the two men had a bitter falling out as Mr. Gulen opposed the leader's increasingly autocratic tendencies. Mr. Erdogan	但三年前，因为居伦反对埃尔多安越来越独裁的趋势，两人发生了激烈的争吵。埃尔多安指责居伦利用之前攻击军方的那些法官，对他手下倚重的高官

accused Mr. Gulen of orchestrating a corruption inquiry of top officials close to Mr. Erdogan, using the same prosecutors who had targeted the military.	展开腐败调查。
Ever since, they have been enemies, and this week the government accelerated its efforts to purge the state of anyone it believes is affiliated with Mr. Gulen, or directly involved in the coup.	自那以后，两人彼此为敌。本周，政府加紧行动，要将被认定属于居伦嫡系或直接参与了政变的官员清洗出政府。
Ibrahim Kalin, Mr. Erdogan's spokesman, said on Tuesday that the United States should turn him over to Turkey.	埃尔多安的发言人易卜拉欣·卡林(Ibrahim Kalin)周二表示，美国应该将居伦移交给土耳其。
"Why hold him?" he said. "Send him to Turkey to let him go through the judicial process here and if he can prove that he is not guilty, then he can go back."	"为什么留着他?"他说。"把他送回土耳其，让他走完这里的司法程序，如果能证明自己无罪，那么他可以回去。"
Turks have long suspected that Mr. Gulen was an American agent, and inflaming the conspiracy theories is the fact that Graham E. Fuller, a former C.I.A. official who was once stationed in Istanbul, wrote a letter to support Mr. Gulen's application for a green card.	土耳其长期怀疑居伦是美国特工。曾派驻伊斯坦布尔的前中央情报局(CIA)官员格雷厄姆·E·富勒(Graham E. Fuller)写信支持居伦申请绿卡这件事，让阴谋论愈演愈烈。
Mr. Fuller, in an interview with The New York Times in 2014, said he did so on his own, not on behalf of the American government.	2014年接受《纽约时报》的采访时，富勒称那是个人行为，不代表美国政府。
In the letter, he said he wrote, to the effect, "of all the movements I've studied, this one is probably least likely to be a security threat."	他说自己在信中写道，"在我研究过的所有派别中，这一个成为安全威胁的可能性也许是最低的。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160721/fethullah-gulen-erdogan-extra-dition	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160721/fethullah-gulen-erdogan-extra-dition
Safari Guide Accused of Killing Tourist in Masai Mara Reserve in Kenya	中国导游在肯尼亚袭击本国游客，一死一伤
NAIROBI, Kenya — In the vaulted dining room of the Keekorok Lodge, guests gathered Monday night for a feast overlooking one of the most spectacular vistas in Africa: the game-studded Masai Mara National	肯尼亚内罗毕——周一晚上，在奇科洛旅馆(Keekorok Lodge)的拱形屋顶餐厅里，客人们一边享受美食，一边俯瞰非洲最壮观的景点之一：散布着野生动物的马赛马拉国家保护区(Masai Mara National Reserve)。

Reserve.
Suddenly an argument broke out at one of the tables, apparently over who was going to sit where. The authorities said an enraged Chinese safari guide whipped out a pocketknife and sank it into the chest of a Chinese tourist, killing her.	突然，一张桌子旁边发生争吵，似乎是因座位问题而起。当局称，一名愤怒的中国游猎导游抽出一把小折刀，刺进一名中国女游客的胸膛，导致对方死亡。
On Wednesday, Kenyan police officials said they were holding the safari guide, whom they identified as Li Changqing, 47, a Chinese citizen who speaks little English but decent Swahili, on suspicion of murder.	周三，肯尼亚警方表示他们以涉嫌谋杀为由扣押了那名游猎导游。他们说涉事导游是47岁的中国公民李昌勤（音），并表示他几乎不会说英语，但斯瓦西里语说得很好。
"I won't say we are surprised — we are shocked," said Abdi Jillo Galgalo, a Kenyan police commander. "This is a place where you go to relax with the family and leave the stress behind. We've never heard of anyone even slapping someone out here."	"我们不是感到意外——我们是震惊，"肯尼亚警察指挥官阿卜迪·希略·加尔加洛(Abdi Jillo Galgalo)说。"这是一个和家人一起放松，将压力抛诸脑后的地方。我们甚至从没听说过有人在那里打架。"
The Masai Mara reserve is one of Africa's brightest jewels. It is an undulating sheet of wavy grass and thorn trees covering hundreds of square miles, home to lions, leopards, cheetahs, rhinos, zebras, elephants, gazelles, vultures, crocodiles and hippos.	马赛马拉保护区是非洲最明亮的宝石之一，占地数百平方英里，地势连绵起伏，覆盖着丰茂的绿草和荆棘，是狮子、非洲豹、猎豹、犀牛、斑马、大象、瞪羚、兀鹫、鳄鱼和河马的家园。
At this time of year, it also hosts thousands of tourists. They flock in from all corners of the world to witness the "Great Migration," when an estimated 1.5 million wildebeests and zebras trudge across the Masai Mara in seemingly endless herds looking for fresh grass to eat, while being stalked by lions and other predators.	在一年中的这个时候，保护区还会迎来成千上万名游客。为了一睹“大迁徙”的景象，他们从世界各个角落纷沓而至。在大迁徙期间，估计会有150万头牛羚和斑马为了吃到鲜草而步履艰难地穿过马赛马拉。它们的队伍看上去无穷无尽。在这期间，狮子和其他捕食者会偷偷接近它们。
Mr. Galgalo said that he had spoken to the assailant.	加尔加洛称自己和凶手交谈过。
"He looks like somebody who has a lot of anger," Mr. Galgalo said, adding that the assailant was "strong and stout" and did not show much emotion.	"他看上去非常愤怒，"加尔加洛说。他还表示凶手看上去“壮实且强硬”，未表现出太多情绪。

The Kenyan authorities said that Mr. Li also attacked the victim's husband, who remains hospitalized with stab wounds to his stomach. They said that members of the Keekorok Lodge staff rushed to stop Mr. Li before he could kill him.	肯尼亚当局表示，李昌勤还袭击了受害者的丈夫，后者腹部受了刀伤，仍在医院接受治疗。他们表示，奇科洛旅馆的工作人员急忙跑上前去，防止李昌勤自杀。
The Daily Nation, a Kenyan newspaper, reported that Mr. Li had a favorite table at the lodge and that the argument had started after he asked the couple to sit at a different table and they refused.	肯尼亚《民族日报》(Daily Nation)报道称，李昌勤在旅馆有一张最喜欢坐的桌子，在他要求那对夫妇坐另一张桌子遭拒后，双方发生争吵。
Mr. Galgalo said that when he asked Mr. Li why he had attacked the couple, the assailant replied in Swahili, "They insulted me."	加尔加洛说，当他问李昌勤为什么袭击那对夫妇时，凶手用斯瓦西里语回答说，“他们侮辱我。”
Mr. Li, who the Kenyan authorities said was a professional safari guide who had been in the country for several years, is being held in a jail in Narok, a town near the Masai Mara. The reserve is about a six-hour drive west of Nairobi, the capital.	肯尼亚当局称，李昌勤是一名职业游猎导游，已在该国居住多年。目前，他被关押在马赛马拉附近的纳罗克镇的监狱里。马赛马拉在首都内罗毕以西大约六小时车程的地方。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160811/safari-tour-guide-kenya	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160811/safari-tour-guide-kenya
Chinese-Canadians Fear China's Rising Clout Is Muzzling Them	中国海外影响力增加，加拿大华人担忧自由
TORONTO — Canada's prime minister, Justin Trudeau, is due in China on Tuesday for a much anticipated visit, hoping to reset what had been an up-and-down relationship under the previous government. Closer ties, Mr. Trudeau says, would release untapped prosperity at home and promote Canadian values like good governance and the rule of law in China.	多伦多——加拿大总理贾斯汀·特鲁多(Justin Trudeau)周二将抵达中国开始一次期待已久的访问，他希望调整中加关系。两国关系在加拿大上届政府时期一直起起伏伏。特鲁多表示，更密切的关系会释放加拿大国内蕴藏的繁荣，也会在中国推进善政与法治等加拿大价值观。
But many Chinese-Canadians say the opposite is happening. They say the growing economic clout wielded in Canada by China, Canada's largest trading partner after the United States, is leading to an erosion of their own freedom — specifically their freedom to speak openly about	但是，许多华裔加拿大人说，与这种期待相反的事情正在发生，作为仅次于美国的加拿大第二大贸易伙伴，中国对加拿大施加的日益增长的经济影响力正在侵蚀他们所享有的自由，特别是公开谈论中国威权主义状况的自由。为加拿大的许多中文出版物撰稿的记者、还有活动人士及其他人说，他们面临

China's authoritarian state. Journalists who write for the many Chinese-language publications in Canada, along with activists and others, say they are under increasing pressure to promote the interests of the Chinese government.	着为中国政府利益代言的越来越大的压力。
"It's gotten worse and worse," said Jonathan Fon, 67, a Toronto paralegal, freelance writer and critic of China's Communist rulers. Mr. Fon, who emigrated from China in 1992, said publications that had once printed his opinion articles now routinely rejected them because of worries about political and financial fallout. "They will not take my contributions, even though we're friends," he said.	"情况越来越糟糕，"67岁的乔纳森·冯(Jonathan Fon)说，他是多伦多的一名律师助理，也是一名自由撰稿人和中国共产党统治的批评者。冯先生1992年从中国移民加拿大，他说，曾经发表他的观点文章的出版物，现因担心政治和财政后果，经常拒绝他的文章。"他们不接受我写的东西，虽然我们是朋友，"他说。
In the past decade, China has embarked on an ambitious effort to promote its image abroad, including a multibillion-dollar overseas expansion by Chinese state media and a network of Confucius Institutes, which teach Chinese language and culture while disseminating the Communist Party's viewpoints. In Western countries, analysts say, the party exerts influence over Chinese immigrants and students through embassies, consulates and community organizations, as well as business interests with the financial leverage to shape local Chinese-language media coverage.	过去十年中，中国一直在海外推行宣传自己形象的雄心勃勃的计划，中国官媒花了数十亿美元努力向海外扩张，政府还建立了一个孔子学院网络，在教授中国语言文化的同时，宣传共产党的观点。分析人士说，在西方国家，中共通过驻外使领馆和社区组织对中国移民和学生施加影响，也通过商业利益的金融杠杆作用来影响海外中文媒体对中国的报道。
"China is not shy about using overseas Chinese communities to advance its interests abroad," said Minxin Pei, an expert on Chinese politics at Claremont McKenna College in California. "What's brilliant about the Chinese government's interest strategy is that it exploits the freedoms of Western democracies against Western democracies."	"中国并不忌讳利用海外华人社区来推动中国的海外利益，"加州克莱蒙特麦肯纳学院(Claremont McKenna College)的中国政治问题专家裴敏欣说。"中国政府海外利益策略的绝妙之处在于，它利用西方民主制度的自由来反对西方民主。"
Even some Canadian officials who are eager for closer ties have	甚至一些渴望与中国建立更密切关系的加拿大官员也在这样做，他们在人权

weighed in, expressing support for Beijing on human rights and trying to discourage negative coverage of China. That has provoked anger in Canada, where many see China as a threat to their way of life, and underscored the challenge faced by Mr. Trudeau, who took office in November, as he seeks more engagement after a decade of sometimes chilly ties under his predecessor.	问题上对北京表示支持，并试图阻止有关中国的负面报道。这种做法在加拿大激起了人们的愤怒，许多加拿大人把中国看作是对他们生活方式的威胁，这些问题也凸现了特鲁多在寻求与中国建立更多接触上所面临的挑战，特鲁多于去年 11 月出任总理，在其前任领导期间，中加关系有时较为冷淡。
Mr. Trudeau's weeklong visit will culminate in a Group of 20 economic summit meeting in the Chinese city of Hangzhou. But his trip is also intended to help Canadian businesses gain greater market access to China's growing middle class, encourage Chinese capital investment in Canada, and attract big-spending Chinese tourists and university students to Canada.	在为期一周的访问中，特鲁多将在结尾时参加在中国杭州举行的 20 国集团经济峰会。他此行还有其他的目的，那就是帮助加拿大企业在为中国不断增长的中产阶级服务的市场上获得更大的份额，鼓励中国资本投资加拿大，以及吸引出手阔绰的中国游客和大学生到加拿大去。
The Canadian foreign minister, Stéphane Dion, said in an interview that the government's pursuit of closer engagement with nondemocratic countries, including China, would allow it to promote human rights while protecting Canadian interests.	加拿大外交部长斯特凡纳·迪翁(Stéphane Dion)在一次采访中表示，政府寻求与包括中国在内的非民主国家建立更密切的关系，将会让加拿大在促进人权的同时保护本国利益。
"We'll try to make sure that Canada will be part of the solution, to make these countries more free than they are today," he said.	迪翁说，“我们将尽力确保加拿大是解决方案的一部分，使这些国家变得比他们现在更自由。”
Asked about complaints that Beijing was putting pressure on Chinese-Canadians, Mr. Dion said he and Mr. Trudeau were "very strongly against any attempt to muzzle public opinion in Canada." He noted that many Chinese-Canadians were clearly not afraid to criticize Beijing.	当被问及有关北京对华裔加拿大人施压的抱怨时，迪翁说，他和特鲁多“非常强烈地反对任何压制加拿大公众舆论的企图”。他指出，许多华裔加拿大人显然并不害怕批评北京。
But recent events have kept the issue in the spotlight.	但是，最近发生的一些事件让问题暴露在聚光灯下。
In June, during a news conference in Ottawa, China's visiting foreign	今年 6 月在渥太华举行的新闻发布会上，前来访问的中国外交部长王毅斥责

minister, Wang Yi, berated a Canadian reporter for asking Mr. Dion a question about human rights in China. "You have no right to speak of this," Mr. Wang said.	了一名加拿大记者，因为她问了迪翁有关中国人权的问题。“你没有发言权，”王毅说。
A week later, Michael Chan, a Chinese-Canadian who was Ontario's provincial minister of citizenship, immigration and international trade, defended China's human rights practices in a column on a Canadian Chinese-language website, 51.ca. Making no mention of China's use of torture, illegal detention or other systemic abuses, Mr. Chan argued that China's rights record should be viewed positively, in the context of economic development.	一周后，安大略省的公民移民和国际贸易部部长、华裔加拿大人陈国治 (Michael Chan) 在加拿大的一个中文网站 51.ca 上发表文章，捍卫中国在人权问题上的做法。陈国治在文章中不提中国使用酷刑、非法拘禁或其他系统性虐待等问题，他指出，应该在经济发展的背景下积极地看待中国的人权记录。
"People are living with freedom," he wrote, praising Beijing for improving Chinese people's "basic livelihood," allowing them to travel and study abroad.	他写道，“民生自由了。”他称赞北京让中国人的“民生丰富了”，让他们出国旅游和留学。
Outrage soon followed both officials' remarks — as did consequences for some writers who criticized them.	这两位官员的言论很快受到愤怒的声讨，有些出来批评他们的作家也很快也看到了后果。
A Chinese writer said he had lost his column in the Global Chinese Press, based in British Columbia, after the newspaper was pressured over his criticism of Mr. Wang and Mr. Chan, according to a report in The Globe and Mail. A Chinese-Canadian freelancer in Toronto who uses the pen name Xin Feng received death threats online for chastising Mr. Wang in a column.	一位华人作家说，总部设在不列颠哥伦比亚省的环球华网取消了他的专栏，据《环球邮报》(The Globe and Mail) 报道，环球华网因发表该作家批评王毅和陈国治的文章而受到压力。一名家住多伦多、笔名“新风（音）”的加拿大华裔自由撰稿人说，自己因批评王毅在网上收到了死亡威胁。
"Be careful that your whole family doesn't get killed," one person posted. "Be careful when you walk outside!"	有个人发帖说，“小心点，不然杀了你全家。你出门时小心点！”
A year ago, the editor in chief of a Chinese-language newspaper in Ontario said she had been fired for publishing a commentary critical of	安大略省一家中文报纸的主编说，一年前，她因发表了一篇批评陈国治的文章而被解雇。她把原因部分地归咎于来自多伦多中国领事馆的不满。

Mr. Chan. She blamed that, in part, on complaints from the Chinese consulate in Toronto.
In Ontario, which includes Toronto and its suburbs, Chinese-language journalists and media executives say self-censorship has become widespread because of the economic pressures on their outlets. They fear boycotts by pro-Beijing advertisers and the loss of distribution deals with Chinese state media publications.	多伦多及其郊区都属于安大略省，该省的中文记者和媒体主管们说，由于他们出版物面临的经济压力，自我审查已变得相当普遍。他们担心受到亲北京广告商的抵制，也担心失去与中国国家媒体出版物签署的发行合同。
Ontario has more than 30 Chinese-language news outlets, mostly free newspapers, and the majority of them appear to avoid reporting that would anger China's leaders.	安大略省有 30 多家中文新闻媒体，其中大数多是免费报纸，这些报纸大都避免可能激怒中国领导人的报道。
Jack Jia, 54, the publisher of the Toronto-based Chinese News Group newspaper and website, said China's influence had "grown stronger and stronger" in recent years. "They want to control everything," Mr. Jia said.	54 岁的贾宁扬(Jack Jia)是总部位于多伦多的《大中报》和其网站的出版人，他说，中国的影响近年来已“越来越大”。“他们想要控制一切，”贾宁扬说。
He said China's consul general in Toronto and her deputy had asked him several years ago to stop publishing ads from practitioners of Falun Gong, a spiritual movement banned as an "evil cult" in China. He refused.	他说，中国驻多伦多的总领事及她的副手几年前曾要求他不刊登来自法轮功人员的广告，中国认为法轮功是“邪教”，在国内禁止这一精神运动。他拒绝了。
Today, he said, as immigration from China has soared, Chinese officials have gained more leverage. "They can threaten, because most media employees have family back in China," Mr. Jia said.	他说，如今，随着来自中国的移民数量猛增，中国官员的影响力也在加大。“他们可以对人们进行威胁，因为大多数媒体雇员在中国仍有家人，”贾宁扬说。
A Chinese-language reporter in Toronto, who asked not to be identified in order to protect her job and her relatives in China, said her editors now regularly deleted quotations that were critical of Beijing, and reviewed article ideas specifically to head off coverage that might	多伦多的一名中文新闻记者称，她的编辑现在经常删除批评北京的引语，并会专门审核报道选题，以便拦下可能会给中国政府造成不良影响的报道。为了保护自己的工作 and 在中国的亲属，这名记者要求不具名。 reflect poorly on the Chinese government.

"When I came to Canada, I felt some freedom, but now there are so many restrictions," the reporter said. "It's everywhere now."	"来加拿大的时候，我感到了一些自由，但眼下限制这么多，"这名记者说。"现在限制无处不在。"
A spokesman for the Chinese Embassy in Ottawa declined to answer questions about China's involvement with ethnic Chinese communities in Canada.	中国驻渥太华大使馆的发言人拒绝回答有关中国参与加拿大华人群体事务的问题。
Political attitudes vary widely among the roughly 1.5 million ethnic Chinese living in Canada. While pride in their heritage is widespread, many bristle at what they say is mounting pressure to express loyalty to Beijing, both from local media and from other Chinese-Canadians.	在生活在加拿大的大约 150 万华人中，政治态度各异。尽管他们普遍对自己的文化传统感到骄傲，但很多人带有愤怒情绪，称来自当地媒体和其他加拿大华裔的向北京示忠的压力越来越大。
"As a Canadian, you should share Canadian values — freedom, democracy and human rights," said Harry Xu, 54, a Toronto real estate broker who emigrated from China 10 years ago. "These principles are important to us, but some Chinese immigrants are confused."	"作为一个加拿大人，就应该认同加拿大的价值观——自由、民主和人权，"十年前从中国移民加拿大的多伦多 54 岁房地产经纪人哈里·徐(Harry Xu)说。"这些原则对我们很重要，但一些中国移民糊涂了。"
Activists in Canada critical of Beijing have found themselves targets for intimidation. Not long after Zang Xihong, 54, a prominent Chinese human-rights activist, emigrated to Canada 27 years ago, she said, she began receiving menacing phone calls from Chinese state security agents at her home in the Toronto suburbs.	身处加拿大的对北京持批评态度的活动人士发现，自己成了被威胁的目标。27 年前，中国著名人权活动人士臧锡红移民加拿大。她现年 54 岁，表示移民后不久，就开始接到中国国安人员打到她位于多伦多郊区的家里的威胁电话。
In recent years, she said, the harassment has grown more ominous. Her face and phone numbers have been digitally inserted into pornographic escort ads, she said; hackers have posted photos stolen from her computer; and articles have appeared online accusing her of embezzlement. She has also been sued by a man who claims she was responsible for his cousin's death in China.	近年来，她说，骚扰变得愈加恶劣。她说，她的头像和电话号码被人用数码技术放进了色情陪同广告中；黑客公布了从她电脑里盗取的照片；网上出现了指控她贪污的文章。她还被一名男子起诉，对方声称她要对他在国内的同辈亲属的死负责。

Ms. Zang said the Canadian authorities had told her that they could take no action because most of those activities were protected free speech, leaving her powerless, she said, to escape the long arm of the Chinese government or its supporters.	臧锡红称，加拿大当局告诉她，他们无法采取行动，因为这些行为大部分属于受保护的言论自由。她说，这让她无力摆脱中国政府或其支持者无处不在的触手。
"When I fled from China, I suddenly realized they are here already," she said. "Where else can I go?"	"逃离中国时，我突然意识到他们已经在这里了，"她说。"我还能去哪儿？"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160829/chinese-canadians-china-speech	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160829/chinese-canadians-china-speech
Canadian Kevin Garratt, Held 2 Years on Spy Charges in China, Is Released	中国释放涉间谍罪的加拿大公民
OTTAWA — A Canadian man who worked with a charity that provided food to North Koreans returned to Canada on Thursday after being held in China on espionage charges for just over two years.	渥太华——一名加拿大男子在被中国以间谍指控关押逾两年后，于周四回到加拿大。该名男子曾为一家向朝鲜提供食物的慈善机构工作。
The family of the man, Kevin Garratt, who is from Vancouver, British Columbia, said in a brief statement that he was deported after a court hearing in Dandong, China, on Tuesday.	该男子是来自不列颠哥伦比亚省温哥华市的凯文·加勒特(Kevin Garratt)，他的家人在一份简短声明中说，周二，在中国丹东一家法庭聆讯后，他被驱逐出境。
"The Garratt family thanks everyone for their thoughts and prayers, and also thanks the many individuals who worked to secure Kevin's release," the statement said.	"加勒特一家感谢大家的关心和祈祷，同时也感谢许多为凯文获释做出努力的人，"该声明说。
Mr. Garratt's detention dampened relations between Canada and China, particularly under the previous Conservative government. Early this month, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau raised Mr. Garratt's case during a visit to China.	加勒特的拘留影响了加拿大与中国的关系，特别是在上届保守党政府时期。本月初，贾斯汀·特鲁多(Justin Trudeau)总理访问中国期间曾提起加勒特的案子。
Mr. Garratt and his wife, Julia Dawn Garratt, were operating a coffee house in China near the border with North Korea as part of a Christian	2014年8月被逮捕时，加勒特和他的妻子朱莉亚·唐·加勒特(Julia Dawn Garratt)在中国与朝鲜边境附近经营一家咖啡馆，那是他们的基督教授助工

aid mission when they were both arrested in August 2014. Chinese officials later said that they were being held on "suspicion of stealing and spying to obtain state secrets."	作的一部分。中国官员后来说，他们因“涉嫌窃取、刺探国家机密”而被拘留。
Ms. Garratt was released on bail and allowed to leave China. But Chinese officials announced in January that Mr. Garratt would be tried on the charges.	加勒特女士被保释，并获准离开中国。但中国官员在今年1月宣布，加勒特先生将会因那些指控受审。
The couple's arrest was among the measures China took against members of Christian aid groups active near the border with North Korea at the time.	为打击活跃在朝鲜边境附近的基督教援助组织成员，中国采取了一系列措施，逮捕这对夫妇也是其中之一。
In a sermon posted online but no longer available, Mr. Garratt said that he had been told by God during a prayer meeting to move to Dandong and open a cafe.	在一份发布于网上、但现已无法找到的布道中，加勒特先生说，他在一个祈祷会上听到了上帝的召唤，让他去丹东，开一个咖啡馆。
"We're trying to reach North Korea with God, with Jesus and with practical assistance," Mr. Garratt said in the sermon, which was for a time on the website of the Terra Nova Church in Surrey, British Columbia.	"我们正在试图到达朝鲜，带去上帝、耶稣和实际的援助，"加勒特先生在布道中说，曾有一段时间，这个布道出现在不列颠哥伦比亚省萨里市特拉诺瓦教会的网站上。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160918/canada-kevin-garratt-spy-china-north-korea	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160918/canada-kevin-garratt-spy-china-north-korea
Canada Agrees to Talks on Extradition Treaty With China	加拿大同意与中国协商签署双边引渡条约
Canada has agreed to negotiate a bilateral extradition treaty with China, breaking with a longstanding opposition over concerns about China's lack of due process and other human rights violations, according to a joint communiqué quietly posted on the website of the Canadian prime minister's office.	据悄悄发布在加拿大总理办公室网站上的一份联合公报显示，加拿大已经同意与中国进行协商，签署一份双边引渡条约。长久以来，加拿大一直对此类条约持抵制态度，原因是担心中国缺乏正当程序，存在其他侵犯人权的行为。
The announcement, which has prompted criticism by human rights	这则招致人权倡导人士批评的通告发布一天后，北京将加拿大传教士凯文·加

advocates, came a day before Beijing deported a Canadian missionary, Kevin Garratt, who had been detained in China on espionage charges for more than two years. The government of Prime Minister Justin Trudeau last week denied that it had made any concessions for Mr. Garratt's release, though the timing has led many to believe the deportation was part of a deal that will also grant the Chinese authorities an official role in identifying Chinese nationals who entered Canada illegally.	勒特(Kevin Garratt)驱逐出境。之前，此人被中国以间谍指控关押了两年多。加拿大总理贾斯汀·特鲁多(Justin Trudeau)的政府上周否认自己为争取加勒特被释放做出了妥协，尽管这时机上的巧合，使很多人认为加勒特被驱逐出境是协议的一部分，而该协议也将赋予中国当局一种官方身份，使之可以指认非法进入加拿大境内的中国公民。
China has long wanted bilateral extradition treaties with Western nations that it claims have become havens for corrupt officials who have fled. Beijing has increased diplomatic pressure in recent years amid a series of anti-corruption campaigns led President Xi Jinping, which critics say are more about settling political scores and bolstering public loyalty for the governing Communist Party than ending endemic graft.	长期以来，中国一直希望与西方国家达成双边引渡条约，声称这些国家已经成为逃逸腐败官员的避难所。最近几年，在国家主席习近平领导的一系列反腐运动中，中国向外施加了更多外交压力。批评人士表示，这些反腐行动更多是为了解决政治恩怨，为增强公众对执政的共产党的忠诚，而非终结普遍的腐败。
The United States, Britain and New Zealand have refused to negotiate such treaties, and Australia has not ratified one that it signed with China in 2007, largely over concerns including the systemic use of torture to extract confessions, show trials and the imposition of the death penalty for noncapital crimes.	美国、英国和新西兰已经拒绝就此类条约进行协商，澳大利亚没有正式批准2007年与中国签署的一项协议，主要是担心中国存在系统性刑讯逼供，审判走过场，对不该判死刑的犯罪行为判死刑等问题。
Under Mr. Xi, China has detained hundreds of human rights lawyers, has given a life sentence to Ilham Tohti, a Uighur economics professor critical of Beijing's ethnic policies in the troubled Xinjiang region, and has been accused of abducting Hong Kong booksellers.	在习近平领导之下，中国拘押了数百名人权律师，判处维吾尔经济学教授伊力哈木·土赫提(Ilham Tohti)无期徒刑，还一直被指责绑架香港书商。土赫提曾对北京在问题重重的新疆地区实行的民族政策提出批评。
"The extraordinary weaknesses in China's due process and fair trial	"有充分的证据证明，中国在正当程序和公正审判权方面极其薄弱，"人权观

rights are well documented," said Sophie Richardson, China director for Human Rights Watch. "China wants this treaty to create a veneer of legality for fundamentally abusive tactics. Beijing will then also be able to say to other governments, 'Canada signed one, why won't you.'"	察组织(Human Rights Watch)中国部主任芮莎菲(Sophie Richardson)说。“中国希望签署这个条约，是要为其本质上为权力滥用的策略提供合法的外衣。接下来，北京就可以对其他政府说，‘加拿大已经签了，你为何不签。’”
In-depth talks on an extradition treaty will occur in the coming months, according to an article published last week in the state-controlled China Daily newspaper. "The two countries do not have major political or legal obstacles and have established good cooperative foundation," it said.	上周发布在政府控制的《中国日报》上的一篇文章显示，在接下来的几个月里，双方将就引渡条约进行深入的讨论。“两国不存在重大的政治和法律障碍，并且已经建立了良好的合作基础，”文中写道。
Canadian officials did not publicly mention that the two countries had agreed to begin discussions on an extradition treaty as part of a high-level national security dialogue established during Mr. Trudeau's recent visit to China.	加拿大官员没有公开提及，两国同意开始就引渡条约进行商讨，是特鲁多最近访问中国期间确立的高层国家安全对话成果的一部分。
The agreement was signed on Sept. 12 by Daniel Jean, the Canadian national security adviser, and Wang Yongqing, secretary general of the Central Political and Legal Affairs Commission of the Chinese Communist Party. It established short-term objectives that include allowing both countries to share the ill-gotten financial assets of suspected Chinese fugitives in Canada and completing negotiations on a one-year pilot project "where Chinese experts will be invited to assist in the verification of the identity of inadmissible persons from mainland China" to prepare for their repatriation.	该协议是在9月12日由加拿大国家安全顾问达尼埃尔·让(Daniel Jean)与中央政法委秘书长汪永清共同签署。它确立了一些短期目标，包括允许两国共享身在加拿大的中国在逃嫌疑人非法获得的金融资产，完成就一个为期一年的试点项目进行的协商。在该项目中，“中国专家将被邀请协助核查不被允许从中国内地来加拿大的人员的身份，”以便将他们遣返回国。
In 2011, Canada extradited a Chinese billionaire accused of corruption, Lai Changxing, after a 12-year legal battle in Canadian courts, but only after Ottawa received assurances he would not be tortured or executed.	2001年，在加拿大法庭上审理了12年，并得到中国承诺不会对其采取刑讯或处以死刑之后，加拿大遣返了被指控腐败的中国亿万富翁赖昌星。之后，赖昌星在中国被判处终身监禁。去年，美国遣返了一名被指控贿赂的中国商

Mr. Lai was sentenced to life in prison in China. The United States last year returned a Chinese businessman accused of bribery.	人。
In an emailed statement, Canada's Foreign Affairs Ministry said the promotion and protection of human rights were a priority in Canada's relationship with China, and that the recent discussions included extradition and transfers of offenders, "where we have stressed that Canada is governed by very high standards," it said.	加拿大外交部在一份邮件声明中表示, 促进和保护人权是加拿大与中国关系的一个重点, 最近的协商包括驱逐和移交罪犯。“我们已经强调过, 政府是以极高的标准在管理加拿大这方面的事务,” 文中表示。
Yet critics of the agreement say it is another sign of Mr. Trudeau's capitulation to China that ultimately does little to protect Canadian interests or values, while strengthening Beijing's hand.	但批评该协议的人士表示, 这是特鲁多向中国低头的又一个表现, 而这样的妥协最终不会对维护加拿大的利益或价值有什么帮助, 反倒会增强中国的控制力。
"It really confirmed my worst worries about what we would have to do to get the concessions from China that we want," said Charles Burton, a former Canadian diplomat, who accused Beijing of using Mr. Garratt as a bargaining chip for negotiations on an extradition treaty and the pursuit of a free-trade deal and greater access to Canadian mining resource.	“为了让中国做出我们需要的妥协, 我们肯定要做点什么, 此事说明我最担心的情况已经出现,” 曾担任加拿大外交官的查尔斯·伯顿(Charles Burton)说。他指责北京将特鲁多作为筹码, 进行包括引渡条约在内的谈判, 还力图达成自由贸易协议, 获得更多的加拿大矿产资源。
While Mr. Trudeau has championed Mr. Garratt's return as a result of closer engagement with Beijing, the outcome has highlighted a lopsided relationship in which China has the leverage, whether by halting $1.5 billion in Canadian canola exports or having unjustly detained Mr. Garratt, Mr. Burton said.	伯顿表示, 尽管特鲁多支持以加强与北京合作换取加勒特回国, 但这种结果却突显了一种不平衡的关系。中国是占上风的, 不管是中断加拿大价值15亿美元的芥花籽油出口, 还是不公正地关押加勒特, 都是如此。
"We don't seem to have the linguistic and cultural expertise and political knowledge to defend our interests against a very sophisticated diplomatic engagement by China, which seems to always come out on top," he said.	“在面对与中国的复杂外交关系时, 我们似乎不具备维护自身利益所需的语言和文化专业技能, 也缺乏足够的政治认知。最后似乎总是中国获胜,” 他说。

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160921/canada-agrees-to-talks-with-china-on-extradition	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20160921/canada-agrees-to-talks-with-china-on-extradition
Nepal Releases 41 Tibetans Detained While on Pilgrimage	中国严加防范藏人参加达赖法会
Forty-one Tibetans who were detained by the Nepalese police while they were on a bus bound for India have been released to a Nepalese human rights group, an advocate for Tibetan rights said Friday.	一名藏人权利倡导者上周五表示，遭到尼泊尔警方羁押的 41 名乘坐大巴前往印度的藏人，现在已被释放，移交给了一个尼泊尔人权团体。
The advocate, Kate Saunders, of the International Campaign for Tibet, said early Friday in London that the human rights group, the Human Rights Organization of Nepal, and other contacts in Kathmandu, Nepal's capital, had told her that immigration officials and the police had allowed all the Tibetans to be released.	人权团体“国际声援西藏运动”(International Campaign for Tibet)的成员凯特·桑德斯(Kate Saunders)上周五在伦敦说，尼泊尔人权组织(Human Rights Organization of Nepal)以及其他在尼泊尔首都加德满都的联系人告诉她，移民官员和警察已经同意释放所有藏人。
Ms. Saunders said the Tibetans were mostly from Kham and Amdo, Tibetan regions now ruled by China, and were on a pilgrimage to sacred sites in Nepal and India. It is likely that they planned to go in January to an important Buddhist ceremony, the Kalachakra teaching, in Bodh Gaya, an Indian city, she said.	桑德斯说，这批藏人大多来自目前由中国统治的康区和安多藏区，前往尼泊尔和印度的圣地朝圣。她表示，他们很可能计划明年 1 月前往印度城市菩提伽耶(Bodh Gaya)，参加重要的佛教仪式时轮金刚灌顶法会。
It is unclear what those Tibetans will do now. They could end up at the Kathmandu transit center of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees. From there, many Tibetans make their way to India, against China's wishes. Ms. Saunders said the Tibetans were in a "very precarious situation."	目前还不清楚这些藏人接下来会怎么样。他们最后可能会被移交给联合国难民署的加德满都过境中心。许多藏人违背中国政府的愿望，从那里进入印度。桑德斯说，这些藏人处于“非常危险的境地”。
The Human Rights Organization of Nepal did not respond to an email asking for an update on the situation of the Tibetans.	尼泊尔人权组织没有回复要求了解这批藏人状况的电邮。
The Dalai Lama, the spiritual leader of the Tibetans, is expected to teach at the Kalachakra gathering from Jan. 3 to Jan. 14. He offers this	达赖喇嘛是藏人精神领袖，预定在 1 月 3 日至 1 月 14 日在时轮金刚灌顶法会上传法。他定期在不同地方举办这种法会，很多藏人试图前往菩提伽耶，

teaching regularly at different places, and many Tibetans try to make their way to Bodh Gaya, the site where the Buddha attained enlightenment, when the Dalai Lama travels there from his home in northern India to teach.	那是佛陀开悟之地。届时达赖喇嘛会从他在印度北部的居住地前往那里。
In 2012, Chinese security officials detained hundreds of Tibetans after they returned from the Kalachakra in Bodh Gaya. Many of them were released later. The Chinese government opposes the Dalai Lama and calls him a “splittist,” but Tibetans remain devoted to him, and many try to travel to India to see him.	2012年，中国安全官员羁押了从菩提伽耶参加时轮金刚灌顶法会返回的数百名藏人。其中很多人后来获得释放。中国政府反对达赖喇嘛，称他为“分裂主义者”，但藏人仍然效忠于他，很多人试图前往印度去见他。
Since a widespread uprising across Tibetan regions in 2008, the Chinese government has increased its security presence on the Tibet-Nepal border and has prevented many Tibetans from leaving. The number of Tibetans making their way to Nepal has plummeted. China is also exercising greater influence over Nepal, and Tibetans in Nepal complain of more detentions there and a ban on anti-China protests.	自2008年藏区发生大范围的骚乱以来，中国政府加强了在藏尼边境的安全部署，从而阻止了很多试图离开的藏人。前往尼泊尔的藏人数量急剧下降。中国也对尼泊尔施加了更大的影响，尼泊尔的藏人抱怨那里出现了更多的羁押事件，还禁止人们举行反华抗议。
Ms. Saunders said Chinese officials were making great efforts to prevent Tibetans from traveling to Bodh Gaya this year for the Dalai Lama’s teaching.	桑德斯说，中国官员正在大力防范藏人今年前往菩提伽耶参加达赖喇嘛的法会。
“What we know is that the Chinese authorities have tightened controls on Tibetans, in some areas going from house to house to confiscate people’s passports,” she said.	“我们所知的是，中国当局加强了对藏人的控制，在一些地区挨家挨户地没收居民的护照，”她说。
“In the last few weeks, government officials have confiscated passports in the Tibetan areas of Qinghai and Gansu, and according to some sources, also in Sichuan and the Tibet Autonomous Region,” she added. “Some Tibetans who have already arrived in Nepal and India for	“在过去几周里，政府官员在青海和甘肃的藏区没收护照，有消息说，四川和西藏自治区也在没收护照。”她表示，“一些计划参加朝圣和菩提伽耶宗教仪式已经抵达了尼泊尔和印度的藏人，收到了返回的命令，当局对他们的家人施加了压力。”

pilgrimage and for attending the religious ceremony in Bodh Gaya have already been ordered to return, and their families pressured by the authorities."
"So no doubt for this group of 41, things will be very difficult," she said, "particularly given that they will now be on the radar of the Chinese authorities in Nepal, given the nature of the relationship between the two governments."	"对于这 41 人来说, 情况将会非常困难,"她说。"尤其是考虑到两国政府之间的关系性质, 以及如今他们将出现在中国当局的雷达上。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161121/nepal-tibetans-china	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161121/nepal-tibetans-china
Michael Flynn, a Top Trump Adviser, Ties China and North Korea to Islamists	特朗普幕僚称中朝是激进伊斯兰主义盟友
What if someone were to tell you that China and North Korea are allied with militant Islamists bent on imposing their religious ideology worldwide?	如果有人告诉你, 中国和朝鲜是激进伊斯兰主义者的盟友, 一心想把他们的宗教意识形态强加给全世界, 你会怎么想?
You might not agree. After all, China and North Korea are officially secular Communist states, and China has blamed religious extremists for violence in Muslim areas of its Xinjiang region.	你可能不同意这个说法。毕竟中国和朝鲜在官方上是世俗共产国家, 中国还指责宗教极端分子在新疆的穆斯林地区开展了暴力活动。
But such an alliance is the framework through which retired Lt. Gen. Michael T. Flynn, the pick of President-elect Donald J. Trump for national security adviser, views the two East Asian countries. To the list of pro-jihadist anti-Western conspirators, General Flynn adds Russia, Cuba and Venezuela, among others. (Never mind that he has recently had close financial and lobbying relationships with conservative Russian and Turkish interests.)	但是在候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)挑选的国家安全顾问、退役中将迈克尔·T·弗林(Michael T. Flynn)看来, 这两个东亚国家就是激进伊斯兰主义者的盟友。弗林将军的这份亲圣战反西方阴谋者名单上还有俄罗斯、古巴和委内瑞拉等国家的名字。(不要在意他最近与保守派俄罗斯和土耳其利益集团之间存在密切的财务和游说关系。)
By appointing General Flynn, Mr. Trump has signaled that he intends to prioritize policy on the Middle East and jihadist groups, though the	特朗普对弗林将军的任命, 显示他打算优先考虑关于中东和圣战组织的政策, 尽管奥巴马政府似乎向特朗普强调了处理朝鲜核计划事务的紧迫性。弗

Obama administration seems to have stressed to Mr. Trump the urgency of dealing with North Korea's nuclear program. General Flynn is an outspoken critic of political Islam and has advocated a global campaign led by the United States against "radical Islam." He once posted on Twitter that "Fear of Muslims is RATIONAL."	林将军一向是政治伊斯兰直言不讳的批评者，主张开展以美国为主导的全球反“伊斯兰激进派”运动。他曾经在 Twitter 上说：“对穆斯林的恐惧是合理的。”
General Flynn is about to take on what many consider the most important foreign policy job in the United States government. He is expected to coordinate policy-making agencies, manage competing voices and act as Mr. Trump's main adviser, and perhaps arbiter, on foreign policy.	弗林将军将要承担的是一份在许多人看来属于美国政府中最重要的外交政策工作。人们期望他协调政策制定机构，处理争锋相对的意见，作为特朗普在外交政策上的主要顾问，或许还是仲裁者。
General Flynn's peers in the Army have praised him for his work gathering intelligence in Iraq and Afghanistan. But senior officials have criticized him for being a poor manager as director of the Pentagon's Defense Intelligence Agency. After being forced from the job in 2014, he began denouncing the Obama administration in public, saying the White House refused to acknowledge important intelligence on growing jihadist threats and their ideological foundations.	对于弗林在伊拉克和阿富汗开展的情报搜集工作，他在美国陆军的同事表示了称赞。但是高级官员批评他在五角大楼担任国防情报局(Defense Intelligence Agency)局长时管理不善。2014 年被迫离职后，他公开谴责奥巴马政府，称白宫拒绝承认关于日益增长的圣战威胁及其意识形态基础的重要情报。
He then wrote a book, with a co-author, on his military career and the need to intensify the campaign against Islamic extremists. The book, "The Field of Fight: How We Can Win the Global War Against Radical Islam and Its Allies," published in July, is one of the few places where General Flynn has discussed his views on China and North Korea. The mentions are infrequent, but they give some clue as to how he views the Asian nations.	之后，他与人合写了一本关于自己军事生涯的书，解释为什么需要进一步反对伊斯兰极端分子。这本书的名字叫《战场：我们如何赢得反对激进伊斯兰及其盟友的全球战争》(The Field of Fight: How We Can Win the Global War Against Radical Islam and Its Allies)，于今年 7 月出版。弗林将军在其中少见地讨论了他对中国和朝鲜的看法。虽然着墨不多，但也给出了一些线索，显示他如何看待这两个亚洲国家。
Here are the most relevant passages. In the introduction, General Flynn	下面是最具相关性的段落。在序言中，弗林将军说他写这本书的目的之一是：

says one of his goals in writing the book is:
"to show you the war being waged against us. This administration has forbidden us to describe our enemies properly and clearly: They are Radical Islamists. They are not alone, and are allied with countries and groups who, though not religious fanatics, share their hatred of the West, particularly the United States and Israel. Those allies include North Korea, Russia, China, Cuba, and Venezuela."	"为了证明这场战争是针对我们的。这届政府禁止我们正确而清晰地描述敌人：他们是伊斯兰激进派。他们并非单枪匹马，而是与一些国家与组织结成了联盟——尽管它们并非宗教狂徒，但它们对西方一样有仇恨情绪，尤其是对美国和以色列。这些盟友包括朝鲜、俄罗斯、中国、古巴和委内瑞拉。"
He tries to further explain that alliance through a vague mention of a common ideology:	他试图通过模糊地提到共同的思想意识而进一步解释那个联盟：
"There are many similarities between these dangerous and vicious radicals and the totalitarian movements of the last century. No surprise that we are facing an alliance between Radical Islamists and regimes in Havana, Pyongyang, Moscow, and Beijing. Both believe that history, and/or Allah, blesses their efforts, and so both want to ensure that this glorious story is carefully told."	"这些危险凶残的激进分子与上世纪的极权主义运动有很多相似之处。难怪我们面对着的是伊斯兰激进派与哈瓦那、平壤、莫斯科和北京政权的联盟。他们都相信，历史以及（或）安拉站在他们一边，所以他们都想确保自己的光辉故事能被仔细讲述。"
Early in his career, General Flynn served with the 25th Infantry Division in the Asia-Pacific region. He writes: "This opened up my eyes to the type of enemies we saw across a wide swath of the Asia-Pacific rim. There were many, and still are."	事业初期，弗林在亚太地区的第25步兵师服役。他写道："这打开了我的眼界，让我看到了亚太地区广大范围内的各种敌人。当时我们在这里有很多的敌人，现在依然如此。"
General Flynn also gives a bit more detail on how he sees this global alliance:	弗林还更详细地描述了他对这个全球联盟的看法：
"The war is on. We face a working coalition that extends from North Korea and China to Russia, Iran, Syria, Cuba, Bolivia, Venezuela, and Nicaragua. We are under attack, not only from nation-states directly, but also from Al Qaeda, Hezbollah, ISIS, and countless other terrorist	"战争已经打响。我们面对的是一个正在发挥作用的联盟，它从朝鲜、中国蔓延到俄罗斯、伊朗、叙利亚、古巴、玻利维亚、委内瑞拉和尼加拉瓜。我们正遭受攻击，不仅直接来自这些国家，而且来自基地组织(Al Qaeda)、黎巴嫩真主党(Hezbollah)、伊斯兰国(ISIS)以及其他无数恐怖主义组织（我将

groups. (I will discuss later on, the close working relationships between terror groups and organized criminal organizations.) Suffice to say, the same sort of cooperation binds together jihadis, Communists, and garden-variety tyrants.	在后面讨论恐怖主义组织与有组织的犯罪集团之间的紧密协作关系)。简而言之，相同的合作把圣战者、共产主义者和普通的暴君联系在了一起。
"This alliance surprises a lot of people. On the surface, it seems incoherent. How, they ask, can a Communist regime like North Korea embrace a radical Islamist regime like Iran?"	"这个联盟令很多人感到吃惊。表面上看，他们似乎没有联系。他们问，朝鲜这样的共产主义政权怎么会接受伊朗这样的激进伊斯兰政权？"
General Flynn goes on to discuss reports that North Korea has cooperated with Iran and Syria on nuclear programs and trade. He asserts that Iran is the "linchpin" of the global anti-Western network. He writes:	弗林接着讨论了那些关于朝鲜与伊朗和叙利亚在核项目和核贸易中展开合作的报道。他坚称，伊朗是全球反西方联盟的"关键角色"。他写道：
"The mullahs have already established strategic alliances in our own hemisphere with Cuba and Venezuela, and are working closely with Russia and China; a victory over the 'Great Satan' in Iraq will compel the smaller Middle Eastern countries to come to terms with Tehran, and make the region much more inhospitable to us and our friends and allies."	"那些毛拉已经在我们的半球与古巴和委内瑞拉建立了战略联盟，并且正与俄罗斯和中国密切合作。在伊拉克对'大恶魔'(Great Satan)的胜利将迫使中东的一些小国与德黑兰和好，令那个地区对我们以及我们的朋友和盟友更不友好。"
Finally, General Flynn writes that if the United States loses the global war, one result will be living under "the grim censorship we see in groups such as the Islamic State, Al Qaeda, and the Taliban or from nations like Iran, North Korea, and Cuba."	弗林最后写道，如果美国输掉了这场全球战争，一个后果是我们将生活在"严格的审查制度之下，就像我们在伊斯兰国、基地组织和塔利班等组织以及在伊朗、朝鲜和古巴等国看到的那样"。
The appointment of General Flynn has caught the attention of some Chinese scholars and analysts. They appear to be wary. Last week, Shi Zehua, an associate professor of international relations at Beijing Foreign Studies University, wrote in an opinion piece in The Beijing	对弗林的任命已经引起一些中国学者和分析人士的关注。他们看似抱有戒备之心。上周，北京外国语大学国际关系副教授史泽华在《新京报》的一篇评论文章中写道，弗林"有严重的伊斯兰恐惧症，对白人至上主义充满同情"。

News that General Flynn "has serious Islamophobia and is full of sympathy toward white supremacy."
Mr. Shi added:	史泽华还写道:
"Along with his style of bigoted behavior, a strong desire for state power and being in charge, and a lack of sense of the big picture, will he destroy American political values and its foreign policy traditions, together with Trump the political illiterate? It is really hard to say."	"再加上偏执的行事风格、对国家权力强烈的控制欲及大局观的缺乏，会不会和特朗普这位政治白丁一起毁掉美国的政治价值观和外交政策传统呢？还真不好说。"
John Delury, a scholar of Chinese history and the Koreas at Yonsei University in Seoul, South Korea, shared these thoughts after reading General Flynn's book:	韩国首尔延世大学(Yonsei University)研究中国历史和朝鲜半岛问题的学者鲁乐汉(John Delury)在读完弗林的书后与我们分享了以下观点:
"General Flynn seems to be all about one thing — fighting 'radical Islam' — and that means Asia goes on the back burner. Obama was trying to 'pivot' from costly wars in the Middle East to economic opportunity in Asia, a strategy that was still in-progress and that Hillary Clinton would have stuck with. But Flynn has no concept of the importance of Asia. For him, America needs to become single-minded in the top priority — destroying radical Islam, at home and abroad.	"弗林似乎只关心一件事——打击'伊斯兰激进派'——那意味着，亚洲要靠后站。奥巴马曾试图把重心从中东昂贵的战争转向亚洲的经济机会。这一战略仍在进行中，希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)本可能继续执行。但弗林对亚洲的重要性一无所知。对他来说，美国只需要关心首要问题——在国内和国外摧毁伊斯兰激进派。
"Flynn's obsession with eliminating radical Islam is likely to color his view of everything else — including key strategic questions facing East Asia like the rise of China, resurgence of Japan and nuclear breakout of North Korea. Running the National Security Council is all about juggling priorities, keeping your eye on the ball while maintaining strategic balance. Flynn doesn't come across as much of a juggler. For him, there is only one ball out there.	"弗林对消灭伊斯兰激进派的痴迷很可能会影响他对其他所有事情的看法——包括东亚的很多关键战略问题，比如中国的崛起，日本的复兴，以及朝鲜的核突破。掌管国家安全委员会(National Security Council)完全是关于平衡各个重要问题，在把眼光投向最重要的地方的同时，保持战略平衡。弗林看起来不太会统筹兼顾。他眼里只有一个目标。
"If Flynn is able to press his global war on radical Islam, America's rivals	"如果弗林能够推进针对伊斯兰激进派的全球战争，那么美国在亚洲的对手

in Asia will seize the opportunity to further their interests. China can speed up its march to displace the U.S. as the architect of Asian security. North Korea can finish its drive to joining the nuclear club. Life will also change for America's Asian allies, who will no longer be able to count on U.S. commitment to their development and defense. And America's role as a promoter of human rights and liberal values — a contested and problematic mission, albeit a noble one — could become a thing of the past.	将抓住这个机会扩大自己的利益。中国能够加速取代美国成为亚洲安全的设计师。朝鲜能够完成自己加入核武器俱乐部的目标。美国的亚洲盟国面对的局面也将发生变化，他们将不再指望美国对他们的发展和防卫做出的承诺。美国作为人权和自由观念倡导者的角色——一个充满争议和问题的高尚使命——可能也会成为过去时。
"Here's an example of how Flynn's global war on radical Islam could have unanticipated side effects on Asian security. In his book, Flynn links North Korea to his 'enemy number one,' the Islamists, by citing Pyongyang's military and economic ties to Syria and Iran. Well, what if the North Koreans promised an envoy from Trump — who said he's willing to talk to Kim Jong-un — that they would cut their links to radical Islam and even give the Americans some intell based on their years of cooperation? Nonproliferation guarantees, which the North Koreans put out as bait throughout the Obama years, to no effect, could serve as a starting point for resumed U.S.-D.P.R.K. negotiation under a Flynn foreign policy. The old dictum stands — my enemy's enemy is my friend. Flynn is crystal clear who the enemy is, radical Islam. Anyone who shows eagerness to fight the Islamists buys a seat at Flynn's national security table."	"弗林针对伊斯兰激进派的全球战争可能对亚洲安全产生意想不到的负面影响。比如，弗林在书中把朝鲜与他的'头号敌人'伊斯兰主义者联系在一起，他的根据是平壤与叙利亚和伊朗的军事和经济联系。呃，如果朝鲜向特朗普的特使承诺——特朗普曾表示愿意与金正恩会谈——他们会切断与伊斯兰激进派的联系，甚至可以根据他们之间的多年合作向美国提供一些情报呢？在奥巴马任期内，朝鲜抛出了一个诱饵，那就是不扩散核武器的承诺。虽然它没起到任何作用，但可以用作美朝在弗林外交政策下重新进行谈判的起点。还是那句老话——敌人的敌人是朋友。弗林清楚地表明，自己的敌人是伊斯兰激进派。任何表现出打击伊斯兰主义者热情的人都能在弗林的国家安全计划中占有一席之地。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161201/michael-flynn-trump-adviser-china-north-korea	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161201/michael-flynn-trump-adviser-china-north-korea
Trump Suggests Using Bedrock China Policy as Bargaining Chip	特朗普宣称美国不受“一个中国”原则约束

WASHINGTON — President-elect Donald J. Trump, defending his recent phone call with Taiwan’s president, asserted in an interview broadcast Sunday that the United States was not bound by the One China policy, the 44-year diplomatic understanding that underpins America’s relationship with its biggest rival.	华盛顿——候任总统唐纳德·J·特朗普(Donald J. Trump)为自己与台湾总统最近的通话做出辩护。他在周日播出的电视采访中坚称，美国不受一个中国政策的约束，尽管这项协议在过去 44 年里一直是美国与其最大对手外交关系的基础。
Mr. Trump, speaking on Fox News, said he understood the principle of a single China that includes Taiwan, but declared, “I don’t know why we have to be bound by a One China policy unless we make a deal with China having to do with other things, including trade.”	特朗普在福克斯新闻频道表示，他明白包含台湾的一个中国原则，但他宣称，“我不知道为什么我们必须受到一个中国政策的束缚，除非我们与中国达成一个必须涉及其他方面的协议，包括贸易。”
“I mean, look,” he continued, “we’re being hurt very badly by China with devaluation; with taxing us heavy at the borders when we don’t tax them; with building a massive fortress in the middle of the South China Sea, which they shouldn’t be doing; and frankly, with not helping us at all with North Korea.”	“我是说，你看，”他接着讲道，“中国的货币在贬值，我们因此受到极大的伤害；他们对我们收取巨额关税，我们却没有对他们这么做；他们在南海中间建了一个巨大的要塞，尽管不应该这么做；而且坦白讲，他们在朝鲜问题上根本没有帮到我们什么。”
Mr. Trump is not the first incoming Republican president to question the One China policy, but his suggestion that it could be used as a chip to correct Chinese behavior sets him apart, several Asia experts said. While Mr. Trump has been praised by some Republicans for taking a new look at China policy, his stance could risk a backlash by Beijing, the analysts said.	数名亚洲问题专家表示，特朗普不是第一个质疑一个中国政策的共和党候任总统，但只有他提议可以将之作为纠正中国行为的筹码。分析人士表示，尽管特朗普以新眼光看待中国政策，受到了一些共和党人的称赞，但他的立场可能会面临北京的强烈反对。
Not since 1972, when President Richard M. Nixon and Mao Zedong enshrined the One China principle in the Shanghai Communiqué, has an American president or president-elect so publicly and explicitly questioned the agreement, which resulted in the United States’ ending its diplomatic recognition of Taiwan in 1979.	自 1972 年理查德·M·尼克松(Richard M. Nixon)总统和毛泽东在《上海公报》(Shanghai Communiqué)中确立了一个中国政策以来，还没有一位美国总统或候任总统如此公开、明确地质疑这项协议。因为该协议，美国在 1979 年终止了对台湾的外交承认。

The Chinese government issued no immediate response to Mr. Trump's remarks. But the comments are likely to reignite a debate that erupted nine days ago when he took a congratulatory phone call from President Tsai Ing-wen of Taiwan.	中国政府没有立即对特朗普的声明做出反应。但这些言论有可能会重新激起9天前的一场争论，当时他接听了台湾总统蔡英文(Tsai Ing-wen)打来祝贺他当选的电话。
At first, Mr. Trump played down the implications of the call, saying he was just being polite. Later, his aides said he was well aware of the diplomatic repercussions of speaking to Taiwan's leader. Lobbyists for Taiwan, including the law firm of former Senator Bob Dole of Kansas, spent months laying the groundwork for the call.	一开始，特朗普淡化了这次通话的含意，称他只是出于礼貌。后来，他的助手表示，他很清楚与台湾领导人通话会带来什么样的外交后果。此前，有多名为台湾服务的说客花了数月时间为这次通话铺路，包括前堪萨斯州参议员鲍勃·多尔(Bob Dole)的律所。
On Friday, China's senior foreign policy official, Yang Jiechi, met with Lt. Gen. Michael T. Flynn, whom Mr. Trump has designated as his national security adviser, according to a person told about the meeting. It was not clear what the two men had discussed.	据知情人士称，中国外交政策方面的高层官员杨洁篪周五与陆军中将迈克尔·T·弗林(Michael T. Flynn)举行了会面，后者已经被特朗普指定为国土安全顾问。目前还不清楚两人讨论了哪些问题。
Some Republican foreign policy experts — including John R. Bolton, who is believed to be a front-runner for the post of deputy secretary of state — have praised Mr. Trump for shaking up a decades-old diplomatic agreement.	对于特朗普动摇了一项有着数十年历史的外交协议，一些共和党外交政策专家对他表示赞赏，其中包括最有可能被任命为美国副国务卿的约翰·R·博尔顿(John R. Bolton)。
As a candidate, Ronald Reagan criticized the decision to abrogate recognition of Taiwan; after his election, he invited a delegation from Taiwan to attend his inauguration, antagonizing Beijing.	罗纳德·里根(Ronald Reagan)在竞选期间就曾以总统候选人的身份，对于取消对台湾的外交承认进行了指责；当选之后，他又邀请一个台湾代表团参加了自己的就职典礼，此举招致北京的敌意。
In 1982, as president, Reagan pushed for the so-called Six Assurances, one of which was a reaffirmation that the United States did not formally recognize Chinese sovereignty over Taiwan. Still, he abided by the terms of the 1979 joint communiqué that established relations between the United States and China.	1982年，里根还以总统的身份推动通过了所谓的“六项保证”(Six Assurances)，其中一条是重申美国不会正式承认中国人对台湾的主权。不过，他依然遵守了1979年联合公报中的条款，该公报确立了美国与中国的外交关系。

But Mr. Trump's suggestion that the policy could be wielded as a chip in a broader negotiation with China has implications not just for Washington's relationship with Beijing, several experts on Asia said, but also for America's support for Taiwan.	但几位亚洲问题专家表示，特朗普提出的将一个中国政策作为筹码与中国进行更广泛谈判的提议，不仅会影响华盛顿和北京的关系，也有可能影响美国对台湾的支持。
"By putting One China up for grabs, Trump will suck all the oxygen out of the U.S.-China relationship, and it risks eventually trading away U.S. support for Taiwan for another U.S. interest," said Evan Medeiros, a former senior director for Asia at the National Security Council.	"通过将一个中国政策待价而沽，特朗普会抽空美中关系中所有的氧气，而且有可能为换取美国的另一项利益最终放弃美国对台湾的支持，"曾任美国国家安全委员会亚洲事务主任的埃文·梅代罗斯(Evan Medeiros)说。
"There are good reasons why eight presidents since 1972 have relied on the One China policy," he added. "This is one area where the Trump team would do well to heed the lessons of history instead of bucking them in the uncertain hope of getting something."	"自1972年以来的八位总统选择延续一个中国政策，是有充分理由的，"他接着讲道。"这是特朗普团队需要好好处理的领域，那样才能吸取历史教训，而非在不确定能得到什么的情况下贸然反对。"
Jeffrey A. Bader, Mr. Medeiros's predecessor in the Obama administration, said the One China policy had "always been seen as a foundation of the relationship."	于梅代罗斯之前在奥巴马政府担任同一职位的杰弗里·A·贝德(Jeffrey A. Bader)表示，一个中国政策"一直被视为中美关系的一个基础"。
"Now Trump apparently sees it as part of a broader set of new transactions," he said. "Mixing trade with an issue seen by Beijing as involving sovereignty is likely to produce an angry Chinese backlash and worsen both issues."	"现在特朗普显然把它看作一系列范围更广泛的新交易的一部分，"他说。"把贸易和被北京视为关涉主权的问题混为一谈，有可能引发愤怒的中国人的反弹，使这两个问题都恶化。"
Mr. Trump, however, did not appear worried about inflaming Beijing. He repeated in the Fox News interview many of the criticisms he has made about China, particularly on trade and currency manipulation. He also emphasized what he said was China's unwillingness to help curb the nuclear ambitions of its neighbor North Korea — an issue that foreign policy experts believe could confront Mr. Trump as the first	然而，特朗普似乎并不担心激怒北京。他在接受福克斯新闻频道(Fox News)采访时，重提了他之前对中国的诸多指责，尤其是在贸易和货币操纵问题上。他也强调了他所说的北京不愿帮助遏制其邻国朝鲜的核野心——外交政策专家认为这个问题有可能引发特朗普在任期间的第一场地缘政治危机。 geopolitical crisis of his presidency.

The president-elect said he would not tolerate having the Chinese government dictate whether he could take a call from the president of Taiwan. He reiterated that he had not placed the call, and described it as "a very short call saying, 'Congratulations, sir, on the victory.'"	这位候任总统表示，他不会容许中国政府决定他能否接台湾总统的电话。他重申并不是他打的电话，还说那是“非常简短的通话，是为表示‘先生，恭喜你获胜’”。
"Why should some other nation be able to say I can't take a call?" Mr. Trump asked. "I think it actually would've been very disrespectful, to be honest with you, not taking it."	"为什么其他国家可以说我不能接一个电话?"特朗普问。“老实讲，我觉得不接那个电话真的会非常无礼。”
The Chinese government, which once viewed Mr. Trump favorably as an alternative to the hawkish Hillary Clinton, has struggled to respond to Mr. Trump's unorthodox approach. China's foreign minister, Wang Yi, initially played down the significance of the phone call, calling it a "petty action by the Taiwan side" that he said would not upset the longstanding policy of One China.	相比于鹰派的希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)，中国政府之前一度看好特朗普，如今则艰难地对特朗普的非传统举动做出反应。中国外交部长王毅一开始淡化了这次通话的重要性，称它是“台湾方面搞的一个小动作”，不会改变一个中国的长期政策。
But as Mr. Trump has repeated his campaign criticisms of China — and as his statements about Taiwan have rippled throughout the region — Beijing has noticeably hardened its tone. It warned him last week, in a front-page editorial in the overseas edition of People's Daily, that "creating troubles for the China-U.S. relationship is creating troubles for the U.S. itself."	但是，随着特朗普重复他在竞选期间对中国的批评，随着他关于台湾的言论在整个地区蔓延，北京的语气明显强硬起来。上周，《人民日报》海外版在一篇头版社论中警告，“给中美关系制造麻烦，就是给美国自己制造麻烦。”
In a pointed rejoinder to Mr. Trump, the editorial said that pushing China on Taiwan "would greatly reduce the chance to achieve the goal of making America great again."	这篇社论还对特朗普进行了措辞严厉的回应，称在台湾问题上挑衅中国，“‘让美国再次伟大’的目标就会大打折扣。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161212/trump-taiwan-one-china	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161212/trump-taiwan-one-china
Record Number of Journalists Jailed in 2016, Press Advocacy Group	今年各国记者入狱人数破纪录，土耳其中国最多

Says
At least 259 journalists have been jailed around the world this year, a press advocacy group reported on Monday, the most since it began a detailed annual census of imprisonments in 1990.	一个新闻自由倡导团体本周一说，今年全球各地至少有 259 名记者遭到监禁。这是自 1990 年开始进行详细的年度统计以来人数最多的一年。
The group, the Committee to Protect Journalists, attributed the increase largely to a surge of imprisonments in Turkey after the failed military coup against President Recep Tayyip Erdogan in July.	这个名叫保护记者委员会(Committee to Protect Journalists)的团体称，这一增长主要是由于 7 月份针对土耳其总统雷杰普·塔伊普·埃尔多安(Recep Tayyip Erdogan)的军事政变失败后，被监禁的记者剧增造成的。
At least 81 journalists — almost a third of the total — were incarcerated by the Turkish authorities in relation to their work, the group said in announcing the 2016 figures, “the highest number in any one country at any time.”	至少有 81 名记者——几乎占总数的三分之一——因为新闻工作而遭土耳其当局监禁，该团体在公布 2016 年的数字时说，这比“任何一个国家任何时候的数字都要高”。
Among those imprisoned were Mehmet Baransu, a former columnist and correspondent for the daily newspaper Taraf, who was accused of obtaining secret documents, insulting the president and membership in a terrorist organization. He is facing a maximum sentence of 75 years.	被监禁的人中，日报《立场报》(Taraf)的前专栏作家和记者穆罕默德·巴兰苏(Mehmet Baransu)被指控获得秘密文件、侮辱总统和加入恐怖组织，面临最高 75 年的刑期。
The committee also cited an Oct. 31 raid on the offices of Cumhuriyet, Turkey’s oldest secularist daily newspaper, where at least a dozen journalists were detained on accusations of producing propaganda for outlawed Kurdish separatists and a banned organization run by Fethullah Gulen, a cleric and political rival of Mr. Erdogan’s.	该团体还提到 10 月 31 日土耳其查抄了历史最悠久的世俗主义日报《共和国报》(Cumhuriyet)的办公室，至少有十多名记者遭到羁押，他们被指控为库尔德分离主义分子和一个被禁的组织制作宣传内容。该组织是由埃尔多安的政敌、神职人员费特胡拉·居伦(Fethullah Gulen)领导的。
Mr. Gulen, who lives in Pennsylvania, has been accused by Turkish investigators of fomenting the attempted coup against Mr. Erdogan, a charge that Mr. Gulen has denied. The Turkish government has said it wants the United States to extradite him.	居伦现居美国宾夕法尼亚州，土耳其调查人员指控他企图煽动针对埃尔多安的未遂政变，居伦否认了这一指控。土耳其政府表示希望美国将其引渡回国。
The 259 total for 2016 shattered the previous global record of 232	2016 年 259 名记者被监禁的数字打破了 2012 年全球 232 名的记录。去年

journalists imprisoned in 2012. Last year, 199 journalists were jailed, the group said.	有 199 名记者身陷囹圄。
After Turkey, the biggest jailers of journalists were China, where at least 38 had been incarcerated as of Dec. 1; Egypt, with 25; Eritrea, with 17; and Ethiopia, with 16.	排在土耳其之后的是中国,截至 12 月 1 日至少有 38 人被监禁;之后是埃及, 25 人; 厄立特里亚, 17 人; 埃塞俄比亚, 16 人。
For the first time since 2008, Iran was not among the top five jailers, the committee said, counting eight journalists in Iranian prisons compared with 19 a year earlier.	该团体说,自 2008 年以来,伊朗一直没有进入前五位,今年伊朗关押了 8 名记者,而去年是 19 名。
The group attributed the decline partly to the release of many of those who had been sentenced after a 2009 crackdown following a disputed presidential election.	该团体将这种下降部分归因于 2009 年充满争议的总统大选后,在打压行动中被判刑的新闻工作者获得了释放。
Nonetheless, the Iranian authorities are still imprisoning journalists for their work. The group cited the example of Keyvan Karimi, a filmmaker who was sentenced in 2015 to six years in prison and 223 lashes for a documentary about political graffiti.	尽管如此,伊朗当局仍然在监禁记者。该团体提到了凯万·卡里米(Keyvan Karimi)的例子。他是电影制作者,2015 年因为拍摄了一部关于政治涂鸦的纪录片而被判处 6 年监禁,笞刑 223 鞭。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161214/record-number-of-journalists-jailed-in-2016-press-advocacy-group-says	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161214/record-number-of-journalists-jailed-in-2016-press-advocacy-group-says
Norway and China Restore Ties, 6 Years After Nobel Prize Dispute	刘晓波事件 6 年后,中国与挪威宣布关系正常化
LONDON — China and Norway said on Monday that they would normalize diplomatic relations, six years after the decision to award the Nobel Peace Prize to the imprisoned democracy advocate Liu Xiaobo opened a rift between the countries.	中国与挪威政府周一宣布两国关系实现正常化。六年前,由于挪威诺贝尔奖评选委员会把诺贝尔和平奖颁给牢狱中的中国民主人士刘晓波,中国与挪威交恶。
Neither nation explained the timing of the normalization of ties, but analysts said that Norway was hoping to revive talks on a trade deal that stalled after the Nobel committee awarded the 2010 prize to Mr.	两国都没有解释这次关系正常化的时间节点有何意义,但有分析认为,挪威希望重启与中国的贸易谈判。2010 年诺奖委员会向刘晓波颁奖,谈判陷入停顿。

Liu, a literary critic and political essayist.
The announcement on Monday accompanied a surprise visit to Beijing by the Norwegian foreign minister, Borge Brende, who met with Premier Li Keqiang.	周一，挪威外交大臣布兰德意外访华，与总理李克强进行了会晤。
"Through meticulous and numerous conversations, the two sides have, over the last years, reached a level of trust that allows for resumption of a normal relationship," they said in a joint statement, which made no reference to Mr. Liu nor to human rights.	在一则联合声明中，双方表示：“经过多次细致的对话，双方在过去几年达到了一定程度的信任，可以恢复正常关系。”声明没有提及刘晓波，也只字未提人权。
The Chinese foreign minister, Wang Yi, said in a separate statement that "Norway deeply reflected upon the reasons why bilateral mutual trust was harmed, and had conscientious, solemn consultations with China about how to improve bilateral relations."	中国外交部长王毅在另一份声明中说：“挪威方面对损害双方互信的原因进行了深刻反思，并与中方就如何改善双边关系进行了认真、严肃的磋商。双方就汲取教训、恢复互信达成了重要共识。”
Mr. Liu was arrested in December 2008. Now 60, he has been serving an 11-year prison sentence for "inciting subversion of state power" by organizing a petition urging an end to one-party rule.	外交部发言人华春莹在答记者问时，把刘晓波获奖一事称为“诺贝尔和平奖事件”，说中挪关系因此“严重受损”。当时，两国并未断绝外交关系，但双边贸易谈判被搁置，损害了挪威的三文鱼产业。
The Norwegian Nobel Committee, which is composed of five members appointed by Parliament, awarded the prize to Mr. Liu for "his long and nonviolent struggle for fundamental human rights in China." The committee is independent of the government, though its membership reflects the political composition of the legislature.	2013年9月，挪威选民罢黜了中左翼政府。新上台的保守派政府誓称将改善与中国的关系。自那以来，挪威方面采取了若干象征性的步骤，包括2014年归还圆明园文物。同年5月，达赖喇嘛访问挪威，挪威首相未与其会面。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161219/china-norway-nobel-liu-xiaobo	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20161219/china-norway-nobel-liu-xiaobo
Couple Held in China Are Free, but 'Even Now We Live Under a Cloud'	加拿大“间谍”夫妇讲述在中国被关押经历
MISSISSAUGA, Ontario — When the restaurant elevator doors opened onto a crowd of people, many holding video cameras, Kevin and Julia	安大略省米西索加——当餐厅的电梯门打开时，一大群人（其中有不少手持摄像机者）出现在凯文和朱莉娅·加勒特(Kevin and Julia Garratt)面前，他们

Garratt thought they had stumbled into a wedding party.	还以为偶然碰上了一场婚礼。
But this was no celebration. In a flash, the Garratts were snatched by men and shoved into separate cars. They would not see each other for more than two years.	但这不是一场庆祝活动。转瞬间，加勒特夫妇就处于一群男子的控制之下，被推进不同的汽车里。在之后两年多的时间里，他们将不能互相见面。
On the night of Aug. 4, 2014, the Garratts, Canadian Christian aid workers who lived in the northeastern Chinese city of Dandong, did not know they were in the hands of China's feared Ministry of State Security. The men drove Ms. Garratt, 55, to an office building and demanded that she sign a document stating that she agreed to be investigated.	那是在2014年8月4日的晚上，居住在中国东北丹东市的加拿大基督教援助工作者加勒特夫妇还不知道，他们是被中国的国家全部抓走的。抓他们的男子开车把55岁的加勒特女士带到一座办公楼，要求她在一份表示她同意接受调查的文件上签名。
"Investigated for what?" she asked. It was only after a translator said the words "suspect" and "spy" that she understood. In another room, her husband was hearing the same chilling accusations.	"调查什么?"她问道。只是在一名翻译说出"涉嫌"和"间谍"两词后，她才明白了。在另一个房间里，她的丈夫正在听到同样的可怕指控。
Scared and bewildered, the Garratts signed. "I seriously thought they would realize they'd made a mistake, they'd say sorry, and we'd go home," she said.	既害怕又不知所措的加勒特夫妇在文件上签了字。朱莉娅说，"我真的觉得他们会意识到他们犯了一个错误，他们会说对不起，我们就能回家了。"
The Garratts gave their account of their arrest and detention in an interview on Dec. 12, nearly three months after finally being reunited in Canada.	去年12月12日，在他们在加拿大重新团聚将近三个月之后，加勒特夫妇在一次采访中描述了自己被逮捕和拘留的经历。
The Garratts suspect they were unwitting pawns in a gambit by the Chinese government to prevent Canada from extraditing a Chinese spy to the United States. The detention of the couple transfixed Canada and proved deeply damaging to the country's relations with China.	加勒特夫妇觉得，他们无意中充当了一场较量的卒子，中国政府想用他们来阻止加拿大将一名中国间谍引渡到美国。这对夫妇的被拘留震惊了加拿大，也给加拿大与中国的关系造成了严重损害。
The couple's account provides a rare glimpse into the workings of China's opaque state security system. Their interrogations may also	他们的描述，让人们难得可以窥见中国不透明的国家安全系统的运作。对他们的审讯也可能提供了一些线索，以揭示中国的全球间谍网的巨大波及范

reveal clues about the vast reach of China's global espionage network and the lengths to which the Chinese government will go to protect it. During the couple's monthslong detention, for example, they said, they were frequently threatened with execution or told that they would be sent to a North Korean gulag.	围、以及中国政府为保护这个网络不遗余力的程度。比如他们说，在他们被拘留的几个月里，他们经常受到死刑的威胁、或被告知他们将被送往朝鲜的劳改营。
At a time of Ottawa's warming relations with Beijing, the Garratts' experience highlights the risks Canada and other nations face in engaging with China. Though they are now back in Canada, the Garratts say they do not feel entirely safe, describing a series of unnerving incidents suggesting that the Chinese government may be trying to keep tabs on them and their relatives.	在渥太华与北京的关系变暖的时候，加勒特夫妇的经历凸显了加拿大以及其他国家在与中国交往中所面临的风险。虽然加勒特夫妇现已回到加拿大，但他们说，他们并不感到完全安全了，他们描述的一系列令人不安的事件表明，中国政府可能仍在试图监视他们和他们的亲属。
"Even now we live under a cloud," said Mr. Garratt, 56.	"即使在现在，我们仍生活在阴影之下，"56岁的加勒特先生说。
Until their highly publicized detention, the Garratts' only claim to fame was owning Dandong's top-rated destination on TripAdvisor: Peter's Coffee House. They lived in China on and off for 30 years, raising their four children there and moving the family from Vancouver to Dandong, a gritty city on the North Korean border, in 2007. Mr. Garratt said he had wanted to address the suffering of those living across the border by providing aid to orphanages and a school for the disabled in North Korea.	他们因被拘留而受到媒体的广泛报道之前，加勒特夫妇只是在 TripAdvisor 上小有名声：他们拥有的彼得咖啡室被 TripAdvisor 评为丹东的最佳目的地之一。他们断断续续地在中国居住和生活了 30 年，四个孩子都在那里长大，他们还在 2007 年把家庭从温哥华搬到了丹东，一座位于中朝边境附近的小城市。加勒特先生说，他想通过为孤儿院和朝鲜残疾人学校提供援助的方式，为解决生活在边境那边的人的痛苦做点事。
Peter's Coffee House, named for one of their sons, quickly became a hub for expatriates, local Chinese curious about the outside world — and state security agents suspicious of the Garratts and their customers, who included the occasional American or Canadian diplomat.	彼得咖啡室是用他们一个儿子的名字命名的，咖啡室很快成为外国人以及对外界感兴趣的当地老百姓聚会的场所，怀疑加勒特夫妇及其顾客（其中偶然包括了美国和加拿大的外交官）的国家安全部特工也是那里的常客。
Ms. Garratt taught international trade and management at a local	加勒特女士在当地一所大学教国际贸易和管理，丈夫负责经营咖啡馆，组织

university while her husband ran the cafe, organizing weekly "English Corner" language exchanges. In their spare time, the couple volunteered around Dandong, often taking Chinese orphans ice skating.	每周的“英语角”进行语言交流。在业余时间，这对夫妇在丹东当志愿者，经常带着中国孤儿去溜冰。
One evening, the Garratts were invited to a restaurant dinner by Chinese acquaintances who told them that they wanted advice about how their daughter could apply to the University of Toronto.	一天晚上，夫妇俩认识的中国人请他们去餐馆吃饭，表示想向他们打听自己的女儿该如何申请加拿大多伦多大学。
But the dinner, along with its aftermath upon the couple's emergence from the restaurant's elevator, was a trap: The setup had been put in motion by the arrest, six weeks earlier in Vancouver, of Su Bin, a Chinese aviation entrepreneur whom the United States had accused of conspiring with two Chinese soldiers to steal secret United States military data.	但这顿晚餐，以及这对夫妇一走出餐厅的电梯后发生的事情，是个陷阱：中国航空创业者苏斌六周前在温哥华被逮捕后，这个陷阱就已经设下了。美国指控苏斌伙同两名中国军人窃取美国的机密军事数据。
Those supporting the Garratts say the couple were simply chess pieces in a larger geopolitical skirmish.	支持加勒特夫妇的人说，他们不过是一个更大的地缘政治冲突中的棋子。
"The Chinese made it clear that the Garratt case was designed to pressure Canada to block Su Bin's extradition to the U.S.," said James Zimmerman, an American lawyer in Beijing hired by the family to lobby Canadian and Chinese government officials for their release.	“中国人明确表示，加勒特案的目的是为了给加拿大施压，不要把苏斌引渡到美国，”在北京的美国律师詹姆斯·齐默尔曼(James Zimmerman)说。加勒特家雇他对加拿大和中国政府官员进行游说，争取让夫妇俩获得释放。
In an emailed statement about the Garratts' detention, Global Affairs Canada, the department that handles Canada's diplomatic relations, declined to comment on the question of an exchange, but said, "Senior government officials were raising the case at every opportunity."	在关于加勒特夫妇羁押事件的电邮声明中，加拿大外交部门拒绝对交换问题予以置评，但表示：“高级政府官员每次有机会都会提出这个问题。”
The Chinese Embassy in Ottawa denied that the Garratts' detention was linked to Mr. Su. "We don't think it is related to any other cases," an embassy spokesman said in an email.	中国驻渥太华大使馆否认加勒特夫妇被羁押与苏斌有关。使馆发言人在一封电邮中说：“我们认为这与其他案件无关。”

According to the Garratts' account, after signing the investigation document Mr. Garratt was driven to the couple's apartment, where agents ransacked their possessions, grilled him about the contents of the kitchen cabinets and then carted off schoolbooks and computers in the family's suitcases. After a heated exchange, the men allowed Mr. Garratt to take a pair of Bibles back to the detention center.	根据加勒特夫妇的讲述，在签署调查文件后，加勒特先生被带到夫妇俩的公寓，特工仔细搜查了他们的财产，盘问他橱柜里的东西，然后把这家人行李箱里放的教科书和电脑搬走了。经过一番激烈的争执，这些人允许加勒特先生带两本圣经回拘留中心。
His wife was already at the compound, an extralegal detention center on the outskirts of the city, confined to a separate isolation cell that had a couch, a bed and a small window covered in opaque plastic. During the next six months, they said, they never knew the other was there.	他的妻子已经被关押该城郊外的一个非法拘留中心里，单人牢房里有一张沙发、一张床和一个覆盖着不透明塑料膜的小窗口。他们说，在接下来的六个月里，他们都不知道对方就关在那里。
But neither was ever alone.	但单人牢房里并非只有他们。
Rotating pairs of guards sat on the couch in each of their cells, staring silently at them and writing down their every move. Harsh lights remained on 24 hours a day. To stay sane, Ms. Garratt said, she prayed, read books provided by the Canadian Consulate and each day drew a cryptic picture of something she was grateful for in the back of her Bible, afraid anything written would be confiscated.	每班两个守卫轮流坐在他们各自牢房的沙发上，默默凝视他们，写下他们的一举一动。每天 24 小时房间里都有强烈的灯光。加勒特女士说，为了不丧失理智，她做祈祷，阅读加拿大领事馆提供的书，由于担心自己写的任何东西都会被没收，她每天都在圣经的背面画上一幅含义模糊的画，表达内心的感激。
They each faced daily six-hour interrogations by a team of three men. Armed with years of emails, Skype messages and surveillance records, the interrogators accused the Garratts of "hosting" foreign diplomats at their coffee shop, taking orders from Canada's intelligence agency and stealing state secrets, the couple said.	他们各自每天都会被一个三人小组审讯 6 个小时。夫妇俩说，审讯者掌握了他们多年来的电子邮件、Skype 消息和监控记录，指责加勒特夫妇在咖啡店里“招待”外国外交官，接受加拿大情报机构的指示，以及窃取中国国家机密。
The agents showed them photos of United States and Canadian diplomats who had visited their coffee shop. The interrogators claimed Mr. Garratt's photos of street scenes in Dandong and views of North	特工向他们展示了去过咖啡店的美国和加拿大外交官的照片。审讯者声称，加勒特先生拍摄丹东街景以及鸭绿江对岸的朝鲜景色是在开展间谍活动，即使游船上的游客每天也拍摄同样的照片。

Korea across the Yalu River were espionage, even though tourists on riverboat trips took the same photos every day.
Ms. Garratt was forced to write confessions detailing her every conversation with embassy officials, a difficult task considering she had spoken to many foreign customers and did not know who they were. They also made her list the names, relationships and phone numbers of people in China and Canada she had emailed, going back more than a decade.	加勒特女士被迫写下口供，详细说明她与大使馆官员的每次谈话，由于她曾与许多外国顾客交谈过，而且并不知道对方是谁，所以这个任务相当困难。他们还让她列出十多年里与她有过电邮往来的中国人和加拿大人的名字、关系和电话号码。
"When they pushed really hard, they'd threaten to take my son," she said, referring to Peter, who was studying at a university in China at the time.	"当他们要使出杀手锏的时候，就威胁要对我儿子下手，"她说，指的是当时在中国的一所大学学习的彼得。
Security officers used a variety of coercion tactics. "They threatened execution many times," Mr. Garratt said with a shudder. In one exchange, the interrogators described a 2009 meeting in Vancouver between the couple and an agent from the Canadian Security Intelligence Service, who had wanted to ensure their volunteer work in North Korea was not violating United Nations sanctions. When Ms. Garratt asked how the interrogators had known about the meeting, one of them said, "We have people in the U.S., Canada, everywhere."	安全官员使用了各种高压手段。"他们多次用死刑来威胁我，"加勒特先生颤抖着说。在一次审问中，审讯者提到了2009年加拿大安全情报局的一名特工和夫妇俩在温哥华的一次碰面，希望确保他们在朝鲜的志愿工作不会违反联合国的制裁。加勒特女士问审讯者是如何知道那次会面的，其中一名审讯者说："我们在美国、加拿大有人，到处都有人。"
Canadian officials declined to discuss the Garratts' treatment, but the couple's account squares with those of many people who have been in Chinese detention.	加拿大官员拒绝讨论加勒特的遭遇，但夫妇俩的叙述，和很多在中国遭到过羁押的人的说法一致。
Their isolation ended as suddenly as it began. In February 2015, Ms. Garratt was released on bail and returned to their apartment. In the meantime, her husband was charged with espionage and transferred to	释放就和关押一样突然。2015年2月，加勒特女士获准保释，回到了夫妇俩的公寓。同时，她的丈夫遭到间谍罪名指控，并被转移到了一所监狱的医疗病房。

a prison medical ward.
During the 19 months he spent there, a rumor circulated among the guards that he would be released as part of a prisoner exchange.	他在那里待了 19 个月，在这期间，警卫中有传言说，他将作为交换的囚犯获得释放。
But in February, Mr. Su waived his challenge to extradition and cut a deal with the United States. Once that happened, "Beijing was stuck with a weak case of espionage against the Garratts and little bargaining leverage to get much of anything out of Ottawa," said Mr. Zimmerman, the American lawyer.	但是在 2 月，苏斌放弃了对引渡的抵抗，并与美国达成了交易。美国律师齐默尔曼说，这种情况发生后，“北京说加勒特夫妇是间谍就站不住脚了，而且基本上没有了与渥太华讨价还价的筹码。”
In August, just days before Prime Minister Justin Trudeau of Canada arrived in China for a Group of 20 summit meeting, Ms. Garratt was allowed to leave the country. Two weeks later, Mr. Garratt was taken to court, where a judge read out an eight-page guilty verdict in Chinese; the next morning, he was put on a plane bound for Tokyo, but only after agreeing to pay more than $14,000 in fines and signing a document promising not to speak with the news media about his detention. Much of that money, he said, had been dedicated to a North Korean orphanage.	8 月，就在加拿大总理贾斯汀·特鲁多(Justin Trudeau)来中国参加 20 国集团(Group of 20)峰会的几天前，朱莉娅获准离开中国。两周后，加勒特先生被带上法庭。在法庭上，一名法官用中文宣读了一份长达八页的有罪判决。第二天早上，他被送上一架飞往东京的飞机。但在那之前，他同意支付超过 1.4 万美元的罚款，并在一份文件上签名，承诺不会同新闻媒体讲述自己被拘押的经历。他说，那笔钱中的很大一部分本来是用于朝鲜一家孤儿院的。
Mr. Trudeau called while Mr. Garratt was en route to Vancouver, where the family tearfully reunited. Just days later, China and Canada agreed to discuss a landmark free trade deal and an extradition treaty. The government has denied that it made any concessions to China for Mr. Garratt's release.	在加勒特先生前往温哥华途中，特鲁多给他打了电话。在温哥华，加勒特一家含着泪团聚了。仅过了几天，中国和加拿大同意讨论一份具有里程碑意义的自由贸易协议和一项引渡条约。政府否认曾为了加勒特先生的获释而向中国做出过任何让步。
Yet the Garratts do not feel entirely free. In recent months, relatives have encountered strange interference on their phones, computers have gone haywire, and strange cars parked outside their homes drive	但加勒特一家并不觉得完全自由了。最近几个月，他们的亲戚在打电话时会受到奇怪的干扰，电脑会出乱子，并且当有人走近时，停在屋外的陌生车辆便会开走。 away when someone approaches.

Most of all, the Garratts feel grief at losing the lives they built over 30 years. "That's the sadness that overwhelms us," Mr. Garratt said. "We were just trying to help people in need. That's all we did."	尤其是,加勒特一家对失去了他们用 30 多年时间经营的生活感到伤心不已。"这是最让我们难过的事情,"加勒特先生说。"我们只是想帮帮需要帮助的人。仅此而已。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170104/canadian-couple-china-detention	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170104/canadian-couple-china-detention
Trump's Trade War May Have Already Begun	特朗普打响贸易战, 把全球合作的大旗让给中国
LONDON — America's traditional allies are on the lookout for new friends.	伦敦——美国的传统盟友正在寻找新朋友。
They have heard the mantra "America First" from the new president, divining a Trump doctrine: global cooperation last. Europeans have taken note of Mr. Trump's denigration of the European Union and his apparent esteem for the Russian president, Vladimir V. Putin. In Asia and Latin America, leaders have absorbed the deepening possibility that Mr. Trump will deliver on threats to impose punitive tariffs on Mexican and Chinese imports, provoking a trade war that will damage economic growth and eliminate jobs around the world.	它们听到了新总统说的“美国优先”。这句咒语阐明了特朗普主义: 全球合作放在最后。欧洲注意到了特朗普对欧盟的贬低和对俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)的明显尊重。在亚洲和拉美, 领导人承受着不断增加的可能性: 特朗普会兑现对墨西哥和中国进口货物征收惩罚性关税的威胁, 引发一场贸易战, 破坏全球的经济增长和就业。
Some allies are shifting focus to other potential partners for new sources of trade and investment, relationships that could influence political, diplomatic and military ties. Many are looking to China, which has adroitly capitalized on a leadership vacuum in world affairs by offering itself — ironies notwithstanding — as a champion for global engagement.	一些盟友正在把焦点转移到其他潜在的合作伙伴身上, 寻找新的贸易和投资来源。这些关系可能会影响政治、外交和军事往来。很多都看向了中国; 通过主动支持参与全球事务——真是颇具讽刺意味, 它巧妙地利用了国际事务中的领导真空。
"We've always said that America is our best friend," Jeroen Dijsselbloem, president of the Eurogroup — comprising finance	"我们一直说美国是我们最好的朋友," 由欧元国家的财长组成的欧元集团(Eurogroup)主席杰伦·戴塞尔布卢姆(Jeroen Dijsselbloem)本月在瑞士达沃

ministers from countries sharing the euro currency — said in an interview with The New York Times on the sidelines of the World Economic Forum in Davos, Switzerland, this month. “If that’s no longer the case, if that’s what we need to understand from Donald Trump, then of course Europe will look for new friends.”	斯出席世界经济论坛(World Economic Forum)期间接受《纽约时报》的采访时说。“如果情况变了，如果这就是我们需要从唐纳德·特朗普那里领会到的意思，那欧洲当然会寻找新朋友。”
“China is a very strong candidate for that,” he added. “The Chinese involvement in Europe in terms of investment is already very high and expanding. If you push away your friends, you mustn’t be surprised if the friends start looking for new friends.”	“中国是一个非常有力的候选人，”他接着说。“就投资而言，中国对欧洲事务的参与程度已经非常高了，并且还在不断扩大。如果把朋友推开了，就不要对朋友开始寻找新朋友感到惊讶。”
On Wednesday, Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany spoke by telephone with Premier Li Keqiang of China. “The two spoke in favor of free trade and a stable world trade order,” a German government spokesman later said in a written statement.	周三，德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)和中国总理李克强通了电话。“双方支持自由贸易和稳定的世界贸易秩序，”德国政府发言人在随后的书面声明中说。
The swift reassessment of trade relations — a realm in which Mr. Trump is directly threatening the order that has prevailed since the end of World War II — only amplifies the potential for a shake-up of the broader geopolitical framework.	迅速地重新评估贸易关系只是增加了更广泛的地缘政治框架发生巨变的可能性。在贸易关系领域，特朗普正在直截了当地威胁自二战结束后盛行至今的秩序。
Mr. Trump has already criticized NATO as obsolete while demanding that member states pay more, calling into question the alliance that has maintained security across much of Europe for more than six decades. He has provoked fears of a clash with China beyond issues of commerce by taking a congratulatory call from the president of Taiwan, the self-governing island that Beijing claims as part of its territory. In shutting American borders to people from predominantly Muslim countries, Mr. Trump risks inflaming tensions with Middle Eastern	特朗普指责北约(NATO)过时，同时要求成员国支付更多费用，并对北约在六十多年里维持欧洲大量地区的安全表示怀疑。他接听台湾总统的祝贺电话，引发了对美中之间除了商贸问题之外爆发其他冲突的担忧。北京声称实行自制的岛屿台湾是自己的领土。特朗普向来自以穆斯林为主的国家的人关闭美国边境的做法，可能会加剧与中东国家的紧张关系，同时扩大同民主盟友在基本价值观上的分歧。

nations while widening a void with democratic allies over basic values.
Through the fractious campaign, weary sophisticates dismissed the extreme talk from the Trump camp as political bluster. Even if he won, he would never follow through on his threats, particularly in trade where his business sensibilities would prevail.	在整个失控的竞选期间,不胜其烦的见多识广者对特朗普阵营发表的极端言论不以为意,认为它们不过是政治上的口出狂言。即便赢了,他也绝不会兑现自己的威胁,尤其是在他的商业智慧会占上风的贸易领域。
But that conventional wisdom looks to be crumbling. First, Mr. Trump delivered on a promise to withdraw from the Trans-Pacific Partnership, a trade agreement forged by the Obama administration in part as a counter to China's growing influence.	但这种传统观点看上去正在瓦解。首先,特朗普兑现了退出“跨太平洋伙伴关系协定”(Trans-Pacific Partnership)的承诺。该贸易协议由奥巴马政府制定,在一定程度上是为了抗衡中国不断增加的影响力。
Then, on Thursday, his administration appeared to embrace a Republican proposal to impose a 20 percent tax on all imported goods while asserting the proceeds would pay for a wall along the Mexican border. Word of the tax emerged as President Enrique Peña Nieto of Mexico canceled a visit to Washington to protest the promised wall — resonating as the potential first salvo in a trade war.	然后是周四,他领导的联邦政府似乎支持共和党对所有进口商品征税20%的提议,并主张这些收入可用于在墨西哥边境沿线修筑一道墙。传出征税的消息时,墨西哥总统恩里克·培尼亚·涅托(Enrique Peña Nieto)取消了访问华盛顿的计划,以抗议特朗普承诺的那道墙——一场贸易战的首个回合风雨欲来。
“I’m incredibly concerned that the Trump people mean what they say,” said Chad P. Bown, a trade expert at the Peterson Institute for International Economics. “One would hope that they are using this as a negotiating tactic. But even if you are, that’s an extraordinarily dangerous game to play, because, right now, the communication to the world is not flowing clearly.”	“我非常担心特朗普的人说话是当真的,”彼得森国际经济研究所(Peterson Institute for International Economics)的贸易专家查德·P·鲍恩(Chad P. Bown)说。“有人会希望他们是在把这作为一种谈判技巧。但即便如此,这也是一个非常危险的游戏,因为现在,与世界的交流并不清晰、流畅。”
The communication on Thursday came through Mr. Trump’s press secretary, Sean Spicer, who during the administration of George W. Bush, promoted the job-creating magic of free trade as a spokesman for the United States Trade Representative.	周四的交流是通过特朗普的新闻秘书肖恩·斯派塞(Sean Spicer)披露的,他在乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)政府工作期间曾以美国贸易代表办公室发言人的身份宣扬自由贸易创造工作的魔力。

Pressed to explain how Mr. Trump would force Mexico to pay for the wall, Mr. Spicer said an import tax would do the trick. He soon clarified the tax was merely one option on a crowded buffet table.	斯派塞被要求解释特朗普将如何强迫墨西哥为边境墙掏钱，他说，进口税会做到这一点。之后他很快澄清，说这项税收只是摆得满满的自助餐桌上的其中一个选择。
At a news conference on Friday, Mr. Trump reported having had “a very good call” with the Mexican president. But he did not sound conciliatory. Mexico “has outnegotiated us and beat us to a pulp through our past leaders,” he said. “I’m not going to let that happen.”	在星期五的新闻发布会上，特朗普说，他与墨西哥总统进行了“非常好的电话会谈”。但他的语气听上去没有缓和。墨西哥“在和我们过去的领导人谈判时占了上风，把我们打得一塌糊涂，”他说。“我不会让这种情况发生。”
Within the business world, the prospect of substantial tariffs seems so damaging that many assume it will never happen.	在商业世界中，高额关税的前景具有极大破坏性，许多人认为它永远不会发生。
Three decades ago, Alan Russell, a former commercial airline pilot, set up the Tecma Group of Companies, which runs factory operations for multinationals in Mexico. Today, the company employs some 7,000 Mexican laborers, most of them in factories clustered around Ciudad Juárez. They make components for the automotive, electronics, aerospace and medical device industries.	三十年前，前商业航空公司飞行员艾伦·罗素(Alan Russell)建立了 Tecma 集团公司，在墨西哥为跨国公司运营工厂。今天，公司雇佣了大约 7000 名墨西哥工人，其中大部分都在华雷斯城的诸多工厂之中工作。他们为汽车、电子、航空航天和医疗器械行业制造组件。
Mr. Trump’s words have provoked fear among the members of Mr. Russell’s work force. “They hear the administration is going to shut down Nafta and deport everyone, and it scares them,” he said, referring to the North American Free Trade Agreement.	特朗普先生的话令罗素的工作人员感到恐惧。“他们听说，行政部门将废弃 NAFTA，驱逐每个人，他们非常害怕，”他说的 NAFTA 是指《北美自由贸易协议》(North American Free Trade Agreement)。
But in the end, he said, business will carry on.	但是到头来，他说，公司业务还会继续下去。
“In 31 years, I’ve been through rapid inflation, devaluations, three major recessions, the violence period and multiple presidential administrations, and every year trade has increased,” he said. “We’ve been through worse. Trade is like life itself. It will figure a way.”	“31 年来，我经历了快速通货膨胀、多次货币贬值、三次大衰退、暴力时期和多个总统政府，但每年贸易都在增长，”他说。“我们经历过更糟糕的情况。贸易就像生活本身。它会找到自己的办法。”
Most experts have similarly assumed the responsibilities of governance	大多数专家也同样假定政府治理的责任会令特朗普在贸易方面的姿态缓和

would temper Mr. Trump's trade posture. Given that nearly one-third of all American trade is conducted with China and Mexico, a rupture risks severe economic damage.	下来。鉴于近 1/3 的美国贸易同中国和墨西哥有关，与它们关系破裂将冒着严重经济损失的风险。
The three countries are intertwined in the global supply chain. China makes components that go into auto parts manufactured in the United States. Those parts are delivered to factories in Mexico that produce finished vehicles sold to Americans. Calling such vehicles Mexican imports misses that much of the value is produced in the United States, employing American labor.	这三个国家在全球供应链中交织在一起。中国制造的零部件会混入美国制造的汽车零部件。这些零件交付给墨西哥的工厂，生产卖给美国人的成品车。把这种汽车称之为墨西哥进口的人忽略了它们大部分的价值是在美国生产，雇用美国劳工。
"The idea of trade wars these days, what politicians have in mind is really a 19th-century or early 20th-century conception of trade," said Gianmarco I.P. Ottaviano, a trade economist at the London School of Economics. "You don't even know who you're going to hurt with these kind of things. You're probably going to destroy American jobs in the end."	"这些日子以来政治家们考虑的贸易战争其实是 19 世纪或 20 世纪初的贸易概念，"伦敦经济学院的贸易经济学家乔马克·I·P·奥塔维亚诺(Gianmarco I.P. Ottaviano)说，"你甚至不知道动用这种东西伤害的会是谁。你最终可能会毁掉美国的工作。"
Mr. Trump owes his office in no small measure to factory workers who have come to view global trade as a mortal threat to their livelihoods. But their sentiments are grounded not in ideology, but in a desire for jobs at decent wages. If Mr. Trump impedes imports, he could put some of these voters out of work.	特朗普之所以能够当选，那些工厂工人帮助不小，他们已把全球贸易视为对自己生计的致命威胁。但他们的情绪并不植根于意识形态，而是源于对一份有体面工资的工作的渴望。如果特朗普阻碍进口，他可能令这些选民中的一部分人失去工作。
Beyond the economic effects, Mr. Trump's refashioning of trade has already altered global alignments.	除了经济效应之外，特朗普对贸易进行的重塑已经改变了全球格局。
In emphasizing "America First," Mr. Trump has generated a widespread sense that the country is surrendering its global leadership position. Britain's abandonment of the European Union has enhanced the view	在强调"美国优先"时，特朗普制造了一种波及甚广的印象，即美国正在放弃其全球领导地位。英国放弃欧盟增强了一种观点：国际一体化的时代已经被一个新的时代所接替，在这个时代，同民族主义相关的问题是最重要的。

that a period of international integration has devolved to a new era in which nationalist concerns are paramount.
On Friday, as Mr. Trump hosted British Prime Minister Theresa May, he only increased the sense that he disdains Europe.	上周五，特朗普会见英国首相特丽莎·梅(Theresa May)时，更让人感受到他对欧洲的蔑视。
"Brexit's going to be a wonderful thing for your country," he told Ms. May at a news conference, before recounting his frustrations with the union's bureaucracy. "Getting the approvals from Europe was very, very tough."	"脱欧对你的国家将是一件很棒的事，"他在一次新闻发布会上告诉梅，并表达自己对欧盟官僚的沮丧。"从欧洲获得批准非常、非常困难。"
With both countries pursuing nationalist aspirations and multilateral institutions seemingly endangered, the world suddenly seems short of responsible supervision.	由于两国都追求民族主义抱负，多边机构似乎受到威胁，因此世界突然之间好像缺少了负责任的监管。
China is working to assume the mantle. President Xi Jinping of China last week used an address in Davos, to submit his nation's bid as a reliable champion of expanded trade.	中国正在努力承担起责任。中国国家主席习近平上星期在达沃斯发表演讲，提出他的国家是贸易扩张的可靠捍卫者。
China does not have free elections. China jails labor organizers, while lavishing credit on state-owned enterprises. All of this makes Mr. Xi an ironic choice as an icon for free trade. Yet Mr. Xi's speech was so successful that it won the embrace of business people and world leaders alike.	中国没有自由选举。中国把劳工组织者关进监狱，同时为国有企业提供慷慨的信贷。因此将习近平视为自由贸易标志人物这一点显得颇具讽刺性。但习近平的演讲非常成功，赢得了商界人士和世界领导人的欢迎。
At a lunch in Davos two days after Mr. Xi's address, a Berlin-based private equity fund manager, André Loesekrug-Pietri, stood in a dining room full of more than 100 people and predicted the dawning of a new era.	在习近平发言两天后，在达沃斯的一次午餐中，一家位于柏林的私募股权基金的经理安德烈·勒塞克鲁格-彼得里(André Loesekrug-Pietri)在一个挤着100多人的餐厅里预测一个新时代的到来。
"We heard a Chinese president becoming the leader of the free world," he said.	"我们听到一位中国主席正在成为自由世界的领导人，"他说。

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170203/trumps-mexico-china-tariff-trade	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170203/trumps-mexico-china-tariff-trade
U.S. Wary of Its New Neighbor in Djibouti: A Chinese Naval Base	美国警惕在吉布提的新邻居：中国军事基地
DJIBOUTI — The two countries keep dozens of intercontinental nuclear missiles pointed at each other's cities. Their frigates and fighter jets occasionally face off in the contested waters of the South China Sea.	吉布提——这两个国家分别把数十枚洲际导弹对准对方的城市。它们的护卫舰和战斗机偶尔会在南海争议水域对峙。
With no shared border, China and the United States mostly circle each other from afar, relying on satellites and cybersnooping to peek inside the workings of each other's war machines.	中国和美国没有共同的边境线，多数时候处于遥相周旋的状态，依靠卫星和网络侦听去窥探对方战争机器的内部运转情况。
But the two strategic rivals are about to become neighbors in this sun-scorched patch of East African desert. China is constructing its first overseas military base here — just a few miles from Camp Lemonnier, one of the Pentagon's largest and most important foreign installations.	但这两个战略对手即将在这片被阳光炙烤的东非沙漠上成为邻居。中国正在这里建设自己的首个海外军事基地，距离五角大楼最大、最重要的海外基地之一莱蒙尼尔营(Camp Lemonnier)只有几英里。
With increasing tensions over China's island-building efforts in the South China Sea, American strategists worry that a naval port so close to Camp Lemonnier could provide a front-row seat to the staging ground for American counterterror operations in the Arabian Peninsula and North Africa.	眼下正值中美关系因中国在南海造岛变得日益紧张，美国战略人士担心，一个离莱蒙尼尔营如此近的军港，可能会让美国在阿拉伯半岛和北非的反恐行动暴露在对方的眼皮子底下。
"It's like having a rival football team using an adjacent practice field," said Gabriel Collins, an expert on the Chinese military and a founder of the analysis portal China SignPost. "They can scope out some of your plays. On the other hand, the scouting opportunity goes both ways."	"就像一支敌对的足球队正使用附近的训练场，"研究中国军事问题的专家、分析门户网站"洞察中国"(China SignPost)创始人高攻博(Gabriel Collins)说。"他们可以仔细观察你们的表现。另一方面，窥探的机会是双向的。"
Established after the terror attacks of Sept. 11, 2001, Camp Lemonnier is home to 4,000 personnel. Some are involved in highly secretive missions, including targeted drone killings in the Middle East and the	莱蒙尼尔营建于2001年9月11日的恐怖袭击发生后，里面驻扎着4000人。其中一些人会参与高度机密的任务，包括在中东和非洲之角的无人机定点清除行动，以及上月在也门的一场导致一名海豹突击队队员丧生的突袭行动。

Horn of Africa, and the raid last month in Yemen that left a member of the Navy SEALs dead. The base, which is run by the Navy and abuts Djibouti's international airport, is the only permanent American military installation in Africa.	莱蒙尼尔营的运转由美国海军负责，毗邻吉布提的国际机场，是美国在非洲的唯一永久性军事设施。
Beyond surveillance concerns, United States officials, citing the billions of dollars in Chinese loans to Djibouti's heavily indebted government, wonder about the long-term durability of an alliance that has served Washington well in its global fight against Islamic extremism.	除了担心受到监视，美国官员还以中国向负债累累的吉布提政府提供数十亿美元计的贷款为由，对一直大力配合在全球范围内抗击伊斯兰极端主义的吉布提与华盛顿的盟友关系能否长久表示怀疑。
Just as important, experts say, the base's construction is a milestone marking Beijing's expanding global ambitions — with potential implications for America's longstanding military dominance.	专家称，同样重要的是，该基地的建设堪称一个里程碑，标志着北京日益扩大的全球野心——以及对美国长期以来的军事主导地位的潜在影响。
"It's a huge strategic development," said Peter Dutton, professor of strategic studies at the Naval War College in Rhode Island, who has studied satellite imagery of the construction.	"这是一个重大的战略动向，"罗德岛海军战争学院(Naval War College)战略研究教授、对该设施的卫星图像做了研究的彼得·达顿(Professor Dutton)说。
"It's naval power expansion for protecting commerce and China's regional interests in the Horn of Africa," Professor Dutton said. "This is what expansionary powers do. China has learned lessons from Britain of 200 years ago."	"这是为了保护通商以及中国在非洲之角的地区利益而进行的海军力量扩张，"达顿说。"这是扩张性国家会做的事情。中国从200年前的英国身上汲取了经验教训。"
Chinese officials play down the significance of the base, saying it will largely support antipiracy operations that have helped quell the threat to international shipping once posed by marauding Somalis.	中国官员极力淡化该基地的重要性，说它未来主要是为反海盗行动提供支持——得益于这类行动，索马里海盗对国际航运构成的威胁已经受到遏制。
"The support facility will be mainly used to provide rest and rehabilitation for the Chinese troops taking part in escort missions in the Gulf of Aden and waters off Somalia, U.N. peacekeeping and humanitarian rescue," the Defense Ministry in Beijing said in a written	"中国在吉布提建设的保障设施将主要用于为执行亚丁湾和索马里海域护航、联合国维和、人道主义救援等任务的中国海军提供休整补给保障，"被问及相关问题的中国国防部在一份书面回复中表示。

reply to questions.
In addition to having 2,400 peacekeepers in Africa, China has used its vessels to escort more than 6,000 boats from many countries through the Gulf of Aden, the ministry said. China's military has also evacuated its citizens caught in the world's trouble spots. In 2011, the military plucked 35,000 from Libya, and 600 from Yemen in 2015.	国防部称，除了往非洲派驻了 2400 名维和人员，中国已利用其舰只在亚丁湾为来自多个国家的 6000 余艘船只护航。中国的军队还曾帮助被困在动荡地区的本国公民撤离。军队在 2011 年从利比亚转移了 3.5 万人，在 2015 年从也门转移了 600 人。
As China's navy has assumed these new roles far from home, its commanders have struggled to maintain vessels and resupply them with food and fuel.	当中国海军在远离本土的地方扮演这类新角色的时候，指挥官一直面临着舰只维护以及食品和燃料补给方面的难题。
Capt. Liu Jianzhong, a former political commissar of a Chinese destroyer plying the Gulf of Aden, said the lack of a dedicated port in the region took a toll on personnel forced to spend long stretches at sea.	曾在一艘在亚丁湾执行任务的驱逐舰上任政委的刘剑忠上校表示，由于该地区缺少专用港口，人员曾被迫长时间待在海面上。
"For six months, we didn't reach the shore, and a lot of sailors had physical and psychological problems," he told the state-run China Military Online. To that end, the new base will include a gym, the ministry said.	"六个月没靠过岸，很多官兵在心理、身体上都出了问题，"他告诉国有媒体中国军网。国防部称，为此，新基地将配有一个健身房。
Professor Dutton said Beijing would most likely try to "acclimatize" the world by using the facility for commercial purposes when it begins operating this year and then gradually increase the number and variety of warships that dock there.	达顿教授说，这个基地于今年开始投入使用时，北京极有可能先将该设施用于商业目的，从而让世人适应它的存在，然后逐渐增加驻扎在那里的军舰的数量和种类。
"It will be relatively incremental in the forward deployment of naval power. You are not going to see a Yokosuka," he said, referring to the base for the United States Seventh Fleet in Japan.	"海军力量的前沿部署将是相对渐进式的。你不会看到另一个横须贺，"他指的是美国第七舰队在日本的基地。
In its written answers, the ministry said that China was not budging	国防部在书面回复中称，中国并未偏离"防御性"的军事政策，这个基地也不

from its “defensive” military policy and that the base did not indicate an “arms race or military expansion.”	是“军备竞赛或军事扩展”的标志。
In recent years, China has moved aggressively to increase its power projection capabilities through the rapid modernization of its navy. Military spending has soared, with Beijing’s defense budget expected to reach $233 billion by 2020, more than all Western European countries combined, and double the figure from 2010, according to Jane’s Defense Weekly. In 2016, the United States spent more than $622 billion on the military, Jane’s said.	近年来，中国一直积极采取行动，通过快速推进海军现代化增强自身的力量投射能力。根据《简氏防务周刊》(Jane’s Defense Weekly)的报道，中国的军事开支急剧上升，到2020年，北京方面的国防预算预计将达2330亿美元，是2010年的两倍，比所有西欧国家的国防预算总和还要高。《简氏防务周刊》称，2016，美国的军事开支为6220余亿美元。
These days, Chinese naval vessels, including nuclear submarines, roam much of the globe, from contested waters of the Yellow Sea to Sri Lanka and San Diego.	最近，世界上的很多地方，从黄海的争议水域到斯里兰卡和圣地亚哥，都有包括核潜艇在内的中国海军舰只出没。
China’s decision to establish an overseas military installation comes as little surprise to those who have watched Beijing steadily jettison a decades-old principle of noninterference in the affairs of other countries.	中国正逐渐抛弃不干涉他国内政这一奉行数十年的原则，对于目睹这一过程的人来说，建立海外军事设施的决定毫不意外。
The shift is an outgrowth of China’s evolution from an impoverished slumbering introvert to deep-pocketed mercantilist with economic interests across the globe.	这种转向是中国从沉睡的、不问世事的穷国，蜕变为财力雄厚、在全球各地拥有经济利益的重商主义者的产物。
Half of China’s oil imports sail through the Mandeb Strait, the choke point off Djibouti that connects the Mediterranean Sea and the Indian Ocean. Across Africa, state-owned companies are investing tens of billions of dollars in railways, factories and mines.	中国进口的石油半数要经由曼德海峡运送，那是吉布提附近连接地中海和印度洋的咽喉要道。在非洲各地，中国国有公司正把数百亿美元投向铁路、工厂和矿场。
And the millions of Chinese citizens who live and work overseas have come to expect that the government will look out for their interests — a	此外，千百万生活和工作在海外的中国公民期待政府关注他们的利益——近年来最能说明这一点的例子是，北京不得不从饱受战火蹂躏的利比亚和也门

point driven home in recent years when Beijing was forced to rescue Chinese nationals from strife-torn Libya and Yemen.	解救中国公民。
"The facility in Djibouti is a very interesting lens through which to view China's growing capabilities and ambitions," said Andrew S. Erickson, an expert at China's maritime transformation at the Naval War College and the editor of the book "Chinese Naval Shipbuilding."	"吉布提的这个设施，为我们提供了非常有趣的视角，让我们一窥中国日益增长的能力和雄心，"海军战争学院研究中国海上转型问题的专家、《中国海军造船大业》(Chinese Naval Shipbuilding)一书的编辑艾立信(Andrew S. Erickson)说。
"Not only will it give them a huge shot in the arm in terms of naval logistics, but it will also strengthen China's image at home and abroad."	"它不仅会在海军后勤方面给他们注入巨大的活力，还会让中国在国内和海外的形象得到改善。"
A low-rise encampment built adjacent to a new Chinese-owned commercial port, the 90-acre base is designed to house up to several thousand troops and will include storage structures for weapons, repair facilities for ships and helicopters, and five berths for commercial ships and one for military vessels.	该基地是占地 90 英亩的低层营地，毗邻一个为中国所有的新商业港口而建，旨在容纳数千名士兵，包含武器储存设施、船只和直升机维修设施，以及五个商业船只泊位和一个军舰泊位。
At the base's front gate recently, Chinese workers in construction helmets waved away a reporter who tried to ask questions. China's Defense Ministry declined a request to tour the site.	最近，戴着施工安全帽的中国工人在基地大门口赶走了一名试图问问题的记者。中国国防部拒绝了参观该基地的申请。
American officials say they were blindsided by Djibouti's decision, announced last year, to give China a 10-year lease for the land. Just two years earlier, Susan Rice, the national security adviser under President Barack Obama, had flown here to head off a similar arrangement with Russia.	吉布提去年宣布把一块地租给中国，租期 10 年，此举令美国官员措手不及。就在两年前，贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)总统的国家安全顾问苏珊·赖斯(Susan Rice)还曾飞抵这里，阻止吉布提与俄罗斯达成类似的协议。
Shortly afterward, the White House announced a 20-year lease renewal that doubled its annual payments for Camp Lemonnier, to $63 million, and a plan to invest more than $1 billion to upgrade the installation.	不久后，白宫宣布美国将续租基地 20 年——莱蒙尼尔营的年租金由此增加一倍，达到 6300 万美元——还打算投入逾 10 亿美元资金，对这一设施进行升级。
If the Pentagon's current base restrictions are any guide, American and	如果遵照五角大楼当前在莱蒙尼尔营推行的限制性规定行事，那么美国士兵

Chinese troops are unlikely to be sharing beers any time soon. American officials, citing possible security threats, keep most personnel confined to the 570-acre rectangle of scrubland, which is a 10-minute drive from the center of Djibouti city. It is a policy that stirs some discontent among those who often spend yearlong stints at Camp Lemonnier without venturing outside.	和中国士兵短期内是不大可能凑到一起喝啤酒的。美国官员以可能存在安全威胁为由，把大多数人员的活动范围限制在占地 570 亩、距离吉布提城中心 10 分钟车程的长方形灌木丛林地内。这一规定让那些常常得在莱蒙尼尔营待上一年、不能到外边去的人有些不满。
By contrast, French military personnel can often be seen jogging through the city and socializing with locals. Americans who work for the United States Embassy also live in the community and say they feel little threat to their safety.	相比之下，人们常常能看到法国军事人员在城里闲逛，和当地人交际。为美国大使馆工作的美国人也住在那里，他们说基本没觉得自己的安全受到了威胁。
Life on base can be monotonous, broken up by visits to the fitness center or meals at the camp's Subway sandwich outlet. Capt. James Black, the camp's commanding officer, said one of his primary challenges was to provide salubrious distractions for those stationed here. The distractions include free Wi-Fi, a movie theater, Texas Hold 'em tournaments and the occasional soccer match with Italian and German troops.	基地的生活颇为单调，有时可以到健身中心健身，或者到军营的赛百味 (Subway) 三明治店就餐。军营的指挥官詹姆斯·布莱克 (James Black) 上校说，他面临的主要挑战之一，是为驻扎在这里的人提供有益的消遣。其中包括免费 Wi-Fi、一家电影院、德州扑克大赛，以及偶尔与意大利和德国军人踢球。
"We're like a landlocked aircraft carrier," Captain Black said during a recent tour of the installation, which is blasted in summer by broiling heat. "Part of my job is to create opportunities to give people a break and attend to their mental health needs."	"我们就像内陆的一艘航空母舰，"布莱克最近在夏天巡视热浪滚滚的营地时说。"我的一部分工作是创造机会让大家透口气，满足他们的精神健康需求。"
Local residents also crave more face time with the Americans. Some say Camp Lemonnier personnel could play a more active role in helping to alleviate Djibouti's crushing poverty by building schools, painting hospitals or simply taking part in language exchanges.	当地居民也渴望更多地与美国人打交道。一些人表示，莱蒙尼尔营的人可以通过建造学校、粉刷医院或者只是参加语言交流，在帮助缓解吉布提的极度贫困方面扮演更为积极的角色。

Others, like Mohamed Ali Basha, the owner of a Yemeni-style restaurant that serves grilled fish and massive discs of baked flatbread, said he would welcome business from military personnel.	其他一些人, 比如一家供应烤鱼和巨大的烤饼的也门风味餐厅的老板穆罕默德·阿里·巴沙(Mohamed Ali Basha)则表示, 欢迎军事人员来光顾。
"I don't understand why the Americans are so obsessed with security here, but I would be happy to close the restaurant for them if they would come," Mr. Basha, 26, said. "Just call in advance."	"我不明白为什么美国人如此担忧这里的安全问题, 但如果他们来的话, 我会乐于为他们关门营业," 26岁的巴沙说。"只要提前说一声。"
In interviews, Djiboutian officials expressed little concern that two strategic adversaries would be sharing space in a country the size of New Jersey. It helps that the Chinese are paying $20 million a year in rent on top of the billions they are spending to finance critical infrastructure, including ports and airports, a new rail line and a pipeline that will bring desperately needed drinking water from neighboring Ethiopia.	两个战略对手将在一个面积如新泽西州那么大的国家里共享空间, 对此吉布提官员在采访中几乎没怎么表现出担忧。除了投入几十亿美元为关键的基础设施建设提供资金——包括多座港口和机场, 以及一条可以将急需的饮用水从邻国埃塞俄比亚运至这里的新铁路线和管道, 中国人还会每年支付 2000 万美元的租金, 这起到了一定作用。
Critics say the surge of loans, which amount to 60 percent of the country's gross domestic product, raises concerns about China's leverage over the Djibouti government should it fall behind on debt payments.	批评者指出, 贷款激增——已经达到该国国内生产总值的 60%——引发了这样的担忧, 即如果吉布提无力偿还贷款, 中国将对该国拥有多大影响力。
"Such generous credit is itself a form of control," said Mohamed Daoud Chehem, a prominent government critic. "We don't know what China's intentions really are."	"这么慷慨的贷款本身就是一种控制," 知名政府批评人士穆罕默德·达乌德·谢希姆(Mohamed Daoud Chehem)说。"我们不知道中国真正的意图是什么。"
But on the city's dusty, potholed streets, most people are pleased to see China joining the club of a half-dozen foreign militaries that have a presence here, among them Japan, Italy and Britain. Also here is a large contingent of French soldiers who stayed on after 1977, when the colony formerly known as French Somaliland gained independence.	但是在这座城市坑坑洼洼、尘土飞扬的街道上, 大多数人乐于看到中国加入包括日本、意大利和英国在内的六国驻军俱乐部。这里还有一支规模不小的法国军队, 是在这个之前被称为法属索马里的殖民地于 1977 年获得独立后留下来的。

Abdirahman M. Ahmed, who runs Green Djibouti International, an environmental social enterprise, said many people viewed foreign militaries as a stabilizing force, given their country's diminutive size, its lack of resources and the potential threats from neighbors like Ethiopia, Somalia and Eritrea, where expansionist sentiments continue to burble.	环境社会企业绿色吉布提国际(Green Djibouti International)的负责人阿卜迪拉赫曼·M·艾哈迈德(Abdirahman M. Ahmed)表示, 考虑到自己国家规模极小, 缺乏自然资源, 以及受到扩张主义情绪膨胀的埃塞俄比亚、索马里和厄立特里亚等邻国的潜在威胁, 许多人将外国军队看作一种稳定力量。
"We don't see any problem having the Chinese here," he said. "They provide revenue and help play a deterrence to those who would love to annex Djibouti."	"我们不觉让中国人待在这里有什么问题,"他说。"他们为我们带来收入, 也可以对想要吞并吉布提的国家起到威慑作用。"
The plethora of foreign troops, some say, also served as a bulwark against the jihadist violence that has destabilized other countries in the region. Djibouti, whose population of 900,000 embraces a moderate form of Sunni Islam, has not been entirely spared: In 2014, a double suicide bombing at a downtown restaurant popular with foreigners killed a Turkish national and wounded 11 people. The Shabab, the Somali-based militant group, later claimed responsibility, saying the attack was motivated by the presence of so many Western troops in Djibouti.	有些人说, 大量外国军队也可以充当抵御圣战暴力的力量, 正是圣战暴力令这个地区的其他国家陷入动荡。吉布提有 90 万人口, 信奉逊尼派伊斯兰的一个温和教派, 它也没有幸免: 2014 年, 在市内一家受外国人欢迎的餐厅内, 两枚自杀式炸弹炸死了一名土耳其公民, 炸伤 11 人。后来索马里的武装团体青年党(Shabab)声称对此负责, 说这次攻击是因为吉布提的大量西方军队存在。
For American military strategists, the security implications of the Chinese base are unclear, though practically speaking, many experts say the military threat is minimal.	对于美国军事战略家来说, 中国基地的安全隐患尚不清楚, 虽然实际上许多专家说它的军事威胁是微不足道的。
"A port like this isn't very defensible against attack," said Philip C. Saunders, director of the Center for the Study of Chinese Military Affairs at the National Defense University. "It wouldn't last very long in a war."	"像这样的港口对攻击没有什么防御能力,"美国国防大学中国军事研究中心主任孙飞(Philip C. Saunders)说。"在战争中坚持不了多长时间。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170227/us-djibouti-chinese-naval-base	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170227/us-djibouti-chinese-naval-base

A Breezy Resort, and a Thorny Agenda, for Trump's Meeting With Xi Jinping	风景很美问题很多，习近平与特朗普的首次会晤
WASHINGTON — When President Trump and President Xi Jinping of China sit down for their first meeting next month in Palm Beach, Fla., they may benefit from the balmy breezes and tranquil views at the Mar-a-Lago resort: Relations between the United States and China are as complex and chilly as they have been since the early days of the Reagan administration.	华盛顿——特朗普总统和中国国家主席习近平下个月将在佛罗里达州棕榈滩举行首次会晤，马阿拉歌庄园(Mar-a-Lago)宜人的微风和宁静的景色对他们很有好处：自从里根政府上台以来，中美之间的关系从未如此复杂与冷淡。
The list of issues that could open a new rift between these two men is long, such as the deployment of American antimissile batteries in South Korea, Mr. Trump's campaign threats of a trade war or escalating tensions over the South China Sea and Taiwan.	有很多问题都可能在这两个人之间造成新的裂痕，例如在韩国部署美国反导系统的决定，特朗普在竞选时威胁要开展的贸易战，以及南海和台湾局势的升级。
The debate over where to hold Mr. Trump's meeting with Mr. Xi captures the underlying angst. Chinese officials pushed for an invitation to Mr. Trump's private resort, American officials said, because it would be more relaxed and informal than a summit meeting at the White House. Equally important, it would reduce the pressure on the two leaders to produce any agreements, which in the current environment is viewed as unrealistic.	特朗普与习近平在什么地方会面引发的争论，展示了这种潜在的焦虑。美国官员说，中国官员强烈要求去特朗普的私人度假村，因为在那里举行首脑会议比在白宫更加轻松和非正式。同样重要的是，那会减少两个领导人签订任何协议的压力，在当前形势下，要签订协议可能不太现实。
Inside the Trump administration, the visit lays bare the unsettled nature of policy toward China. The White House is divided into camps, with a fiercely ideological, anti-China faction vying against more pragmatic elements. Mr. Trump's son-in-law, Jared Kushner, has emerged as an influential, moderating voice. He is heavily involved in planning the presidential visit, a senior official said, and took part in a National	在特朗普政府内部，这次访问暴露了其对华政策的不稳定性。白宫分为了两个阵营，一方是强烈的以意识形态为主导的反华势力，另一方更加务实一些。特朗普的女婿贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)已经成为了一个具有很大影响力的调停者。一位高级官员说，他深度参与了此次访问计划，并在周一参加了讨论朝鲜和中国议题的国家安全委员会会议。

Security Council meeting on Monday at which North Korea and China were discussed.
While Mar-a-Lago appears set as the meeting site, White House officials said the agenda for the meeting was still being worked out. Secretary of State Rex W. Tillerson plans to meet with the Chinese president this week in Beijing to determine the major priorities, after which the two sides will announce the visit — probably the most closely watched so far of Mr. Trump’s young presidency.	虽然马阿拉歌庄园被选为会面地点，但白宫官员说，会议议程仍在制定中。国务卿雷克斯·W·蒂勒森(Rex Tillerson)计划本周前往北京会见中国国家主席，确定主要的优先事项，此后双方将宣布进行这次访问——这可能是特朗普上台短短这段时间以来，最受外界关注的一次访问。
On Monday, the White House press secretary, Sean Spicer, underscored the challenges. The meeting, he said, would “help defuse tensions over North Korea.” China has bitterly protested the deployment of an American system officially called the Terminal High Altitude Area Defense, designed to help South Korea shoot down incoming North Korean missiles.	星期一，新闻秘书肖恩·斯派塞(Sean Spicer)强调了这些挑战。他说，这次会面将“有助于缓解朝鲜的紧张局势”。中国对韩国部署美国的“萨德”(Terminal High Altitude Area Defense)系统进行了强烈抗议，该系统旨在帮助韩国击落朝鲜发射过去的导弹。
For all the Chinese complaints, several experts said the antimissile system would probably be a temporary irritant, compared to looming clashes over trade and territorial claims in the South China Sea.	尽管中国的种种抱怨，有几个专家表示，相较于贸易和在南海的领土要求所导致的正在逼近的冲突而言，反导系统可能只是一个暂时性的麻烦。
The Trump administration is also expected to sell Taiwan a robust package of weapons, a gesture that reliably infuriates China. This time, a sale would revive memories of Mr. Trump’s unorthodox decision to take a phone call from Taiwan’s president and publicly question the “one China” policy, which undergirds the United States-China relationship.	预计特朗普政府还会加强对台军售，这种姿态肯定会激怒中国。这一次，军售会让人想起特朗普那些打破传统的决定：接听台湾总统的电话，并公开质疑美中关系的基石“一个中国”政策。
“The differences between China and the United States are deeper than during the first years of the Clinton or the Reagan administrations,	奥巴马政府的亚洲事务高级主管埃文·S·梅代罗斯(Evan S. Medeiros)说，“中美之间的分歧比克林顿或者里根政府的头几年要深，那已经是历史上的困难

which were historically difficult periods,” said Evan S. Medeiros, who served as senior director for Asian affairs during the Obama administration. “It’s a big agenda, and it’s a very competitive agenda.”	时期了。这是一个很大的议程，也是一个竞争性非常强的议程。”
Mr. Medeiros said domestic political pressures on both sides complicated the situation. Mr. Xi is preparing for the 19th National Congress of the Chinese Communist Party this fall, at which he hopes to tighten his grip on power. Mr. Trump ran for the presidency on a stridently anti-China platform, accusing the Chinese, wrongly, of manipulating their currency, and threatening to impose a 45 percent tariff on Chinese imports.	梅代罗斯说，双方国内的政治压力让局势变得更加复杂。习近平正在为今年秋天的中国共产党第十九次全国代表大会做准备，想要加大对权力的掌控。特朗普竞选期间强硬反华，错误地指责中国是货币操纵国，并扬言要对中国进口征收 45%的关税。
The architects of that policy — Stephen K. Bannon, the president’s chief strategist, and Peter Navarro, the director of the National Trade Council — wield sizable influence in the White House, though neither has made his voice heard on China, at least publicly.	这一政策的构架师——总统的首席策略师史蒂芬·K·班农(Stephen K. Bannon)和国家贸易委员会主席彼得·纳瓦罗(Peter Navarro)在白宫中展现了巨大的影响力，尽管大家没有听到过他们对中国的说法，至少在公开场合没有听到过。
Mr. Navarro, a former professor of economics at the University of California, Irvine, wrote books with titles including “The Coming China Wars” and “Death by China.” In a recent speech to the National Association of Business Economists, he asked, “How come a Chinese company can set up production on U.S. soil and sell freely into our market when a U.S. company producing on Chinese soil must take on a 50 percent joint venture Chinese partner — and run the very real risk of losing its intellectual property?”	纳瓦罗曾任加州大学欧文分校的经济学教授，他的作品包括《即将到来的中国战争》(The Coming China Wars)和《致命中国》(Death by China)。近期在美国企业界经济学家联合会(National Association of Business Economists)发表演讲时，他问道：“为什么中国公司能在美国的土地上开工厂，在我们的市场上随意出售产品，而美国公司到中国生产产品就只能和中国合作伙伴开合资企业，占股 50%——而且还要冒着失去知识产权的风险？”
In an interview, however, Mr. Navarro declined to discuss the evolving China policy, saying it was still “top secret.”	然而在接受采访时，纳瓦罗拒绝讨论制定中的中国政策，说那仍然是“最高机密”。
Mr. Bannon, who served in the Navy in Asia, once warned on his radio	班农在美国海军服役时曾被派驻亚洲，他曾在广播节目中警告说：“在五到

show, "We're going to war in the South China Sea in five to 10 years. There's no doubt about that. They're taking their sandbars and making basically stationary aircraft carriers and putting missiles on those. They come here to the United States in front of our face — and you understand how important face is — and say it's an ancient territorial sea."	十年内，我们将在南海开战，这是毫无疑问的，他们正在那里修筑沙洲，相当于修建静立不动的航空母舰，并且将导弹放在那里。他们当着我们的面径直走到美国面前——你们知道面子有多重要——说那里自古就是中国的领海。
Since entering the White House, however, Mr. Bannon has also been low-key on China. He did not take part in the National Security Council meeting on North Korea, though a much-noted provision of Mr. Trump's presidential memorandum on the organization of the council guarantees him a seat at principals committee meetings.	然而，自从进入白宫以来，班农在中国问题上也很低调。他没有参加国家安全委员会(National Security Council)关于朝鲜问题的会议，尽管特朗普在组建该委员会的备忘录中设置了一个著名的条款，保证他可以参加该委员会的重要会议。
While Mr. Bannon and Mr. Navarro have been less vocal than some outsiders expected, Mr. Kushner has emerged as a central player. He helped orchestrate a fence-mending phone call between Mr. Trump and Mr. Xi last month, in which Mr. Trump pledged to abide by "one China," the four-decade-old policy under which the United States recognized a single Chinese government in Beijing and severed its diplomatic ties with Taiwan.	尽管班农和纳瓦罗不像一些外部人士预计得那么霸气外露，但库什纳已经成了一名核心成员。他参与安排了上月特朗普和习近平的通话。在那通修复关系的通话中，特朗普承诺遵守已有四十年历史的“一个中国”原则。按照这个原则，美国只承认北京的中国政府，并断绝了与台湾的外交关系。
Mr. Kushner and his wife, Ivanka Trump, have curried favor with China's ambassador to the United States, Cui Tiankai. Ms. Trump and her daughter, Arabella, attended a reception at the Chinese embassy to celebrate Lunar New Year. Mr. Kushner is conferring with Mr. Cui about the upcoming visit.	库什纳和妻子伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)还巴结中国驻美大使崔天凯。伊万卡·特朗普曾带着女儿阿拉贝拉(Arabella)参加中国大使馆的春节招待会。库什纳则正在同崔天凯商讨即将到来的访问相关事宜。
On Monday, at the National Security Council meeting, there was a vivid illustration of Mr. Kushner's unusual role. He was seated at the table in	周一，在国家安全委员会(National Security Council)会议上的一幕，生动地表现出了库什纳与众不同的角色。据两名目击者称，当参谋长联席会议主

the Situation Room when Gen. Joseph F. Dunford Jr., the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, walked in. Seeing no chairs open, General Dunford headed for the back benches, according to two witnesses. Mr. Kushner, they said, quickly offered his chair to General Dunford, and took a seat along the wall.	席小约瑟夫·F·邓福德上将(Gen. Joseph F. Dunford Jr.)走进军情室时，库什纳正坐在桌子旁边。看到没有空位置后，邓福德朝后面的长凳走去。他们说，库什纳迅速把座位让给了邓福德，自己坐到了一个靠墙的位置上。
Mr. Kushner's involvement in China policy is a delicate situation because he has been pursuing a Chinese company, Anbang Insurance Group, to invest in the redevelopment of 666 Fifth Avenue, a skyscraper that is the flagship of his family's real estate company. On Monday, Bloomberg News reported that Anbang had agreed to invest more than $400 million.	库什纳参与对华政策事务这件事颇为敏感，因为他一直在争取中国企业安邦保险集团投资第五大道 666 号的重新开发。那栋摩天大楼是其家族房地产公司的旗舰资产。周一，彭博社(Bloomberg)报道，安邦已同意投资逾 4 亿美元。
North Korea will be an early test of the administration's approach. The White House reacted coolly to a Chinese proposal that the North Koreans halt missile tests in return for the United States and South Korea agreeing to suspend joint military exercises viewed as important by both allies. Experts predicted Mr. Xi would reiterate that proposal with Mr. Trump and tell him that the ball is now in America's court.	朝鲜问题将是对特朗普政府态度的早期考验。白宫对中国提议的朝鲜停止导弹试验，美国和韩国相应地取消联合军演反应冷淡。两个盟友都很重视军演。专家预计，习近平会向特朗普重申该提议，并告诉特朗普球在美国这一侧。
"Divisions over China are nothing new," said Michael J. Green, who was senior director for Asia in the George W. Bush administration. "But they are more extreme right now, because the premises of this administration are more extreme and unilateralist."	"围绕中国问题的分歧不稀奇，"曾在乔治·W·布什(George W. Bush)政府担任亚洲事务高级主任的迈克尔·J·格林(Michael J. Green)说。"但它们现在的极右翼色彩更浓，因为这届政府的前提就是更极端，更加信奉单边限武主义。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170315/xi-jinping-trump-mar-a-lago	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170315/xi-jinping-trump-mar-a-lago
London Attacker Khalid Masood Had 20-Year Police Record	伦敦恐袭凶手身份公布：有 20 年犯罪记录
BIRMINGHAM, England — A 52-year-old man with a long criminal record who been had been investigated for ties to violent extremism	英国伯明翰——当局周四宣布，在英国议会大楼外发起致命袭击的凶手是一名有多项前科的 52 岁男子，当局曾经调查过他与暴力极端组织的关系。同

carried out the deadly attack outside the British Parliament, the authorities announced on Thursday, as the Islamic State group claimed responsibility for the assault.	时，伊斯兰国组织声称对这次袭击负责。
Details about the man, Khalid Masood, a native of England who recently lived in the city of Birmingham, emerged the day after the attack, which took the lives of a police officer, a British schoolteacher and an American tourist and injured more than 40 people.	这名男子名叫哈立德·马苏德(Khalid Masood)，出生在英格兰，近期住在伯明翰市，关于他的细节在袭击的第二天获得披露。这次袭击导致一名警察、一名英国教师和一名美国旅客身亡，40多人受伤。
"Yesterday, an act of terrorism tried to silence our democracy," Prime Minister Theresa May told Parliament, addressing colleagues who a day earlier had been placed on lockdown. "We are not afraid, and our resolve will never waver in the face of terrorism."	"昨天，恐怖主义行为试图扼杀我们的民主。我们无所畏惧，我们的决心，在恐怖主义面前绝不会摇摆不定。"首相特丽莎·梅(Theresa May)对议会成员说。此前一天，这些议会同僚得到了封锁保护。
Masood had a record of convictions, stretching from 1983 to 2003, for assault, weapons possession and violations of public order. But he was not the subject of any current investigation, and "there was no prior intelligence about his intent to mount a terrorist attack," the London police said.	马苏德在1983年至2003年期间曾多次被定罪，罪名涉及袭击、拥有武器和违反公共秩序。但他目前没有涉嫌任何调查，而且"没有关于他打算发动恐怖袭击的事前情报"，伦敦警方说。
In remarks to lawmakers, before the police identified Masood, May said the attacker was "a peripheral figure" whom MI5, Britain's domestic counterintelligence agency, had examined for links to violent extremism. She added that he was not "part of the current intelligence picture," that "there was no prior evidence of his intent or of the plot" and that "our working assumption is that the attacker was inspired by Islamist ideology."	在警方确认马苏德的身份之前，梅向议员发表讲话时说。英国国内情报机构军情五处(MI5)在筛查暴力极端主义组织的联系人时，把这名袭击者作为"周边人物"审查过。她还说，他并没有"进入情报部门的视野"，"此前没有证据证明他的意图或计划"，而且"我们现在的假设是，袭击者是受到了伊斯兰主义意识形态的激发"。
Authorities emphasized that they thought the assailant had acted alone, and that they did not expect any further attacks.	当局强调，他们认为凶手是单独行事的，他们不认为会发生进一步的袭击事件。

The authorities raided six properties across the country on Thursday, detaining eight people in London and in Birmingham. On Hagley Road, a commercial street in Birmingham, several people were arrested on Wednesday night in a raid on an apartment above a Persian restaurant. It was not clear what connection they had to Masood.	当局周四突击搜查了全国的六个地方，在伦敦和伯明翰拘捕了八人。周三晚上，在伯明翰的商业街哈格利路，当局突袭了一家波斯餐厅楼上的一套公寓，逮捕了几人。目前还不清楚他们与马苏德有什么联系。
Officials on Thursday reduced the death toll from the London attack to four from five, including Masood. He used the rented vehicle to mow down scores of pedestrians on Westminster Bridge, killing two of them: Kurt W. Cochran, an American tourist in his 50s, and Aysha Frade, 43, a British teacher. He then proceeded on foot to the gates of Parliament, where he fatally stabbed a police constable, Keith Palmer, 48, before being shot dead by the police.	周四，官员将伦敦袭击事件中的死亡人数从五人减少到四人，其中包括马苏德。他使用租来的车辆，在威斯敏斯特大桥冲撞数十名行人，造成两人死亡，分别是 50 多岁的美国游客库尔特·W·科克兰(Kurt W. Cochran)，和 43 岁的英国教师艾莎·弗拉德(Aysha Frade)。然后他步行到议会大楼门口，在那里刺死了 48 岁的警察基思·帕尔默(Keith Palmer)，随后被警方击毙。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170324/london-attack-uk	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170324/london-attack-uk
Thieves Take a Chunk of Change, All 221 Pounds of It, From a Berlin Museum	谁偷了世界上最大的金币？
BERLIN — You could never palm it, flip it or plunk it into a vending machine, but apparently it can be pinched: The world's largest gold coin, a 221-pound Canadian monster called the Big Maple Leaf, was stolen overnight from the Bode Museum in Berlin, police said Monday.	柏林——你永远不能把它放在掌心、抛起，或者将其塞进自动售货机里，但似乎它可以被顺走：警方周一表示，世界上最大的金币——重达 221 磅（约合 100 公斤）、名叫“大枫叶”的加拿大巨币在夜里被人从柏林的波德博物馆(Bode Museum)偷走了。
The coin is about 21 inches in diameter and more than 1 inch thick, with a head of Queen Elizabeth II on one side and a maple leaf on the other. Its face value is 1 million Canadian dollars, but by weight of gold alone it is worth much more than that — as much as $4.5 million at current market prices. The Royal Canadian Mint struck one as a demonstration in 2007 — “Because we can,” the mint says on its	这枚硬币的直径大约 21 英寸（约合 53 厘米），厚逾 1 英寸（约合 2.5 厘米），一面是女王伊丽莎白二世的头像，另一面是枫叶。其面值为 100 万加元，但仅以黄金的重量计算，其市场价值高达 450 万美元，远超面值。加拿大皇家造币厂(The Royal Canadian Mint)在 2007 年制作了一枚这样的硬币用于展示——“因为我们有能力做出来”，铸造厂在其网站上说——之后又多了几枚，供有钱的收藏家购买；到目前为止，已售出五枚。 website — and then made a few more for well-heeled collectors to buy; five have been sold so far.

Berlin police said in a statement that burglars had apparently broken in through a window above the commuter railway tracks at the back of the museum. Officers found a ladder lying on the elevated railway's roadbed. Police declined to say whether there were security cameras monitoring that window, but they said the coin had been kept behind bulletproof glass.	柏林警方在一份声明中说,窃贼是从博物馆后面通勤铁路上方的一扇窗子破窗而入的。警察发现一架梯子躺在高架铁路的路基上。警方拒绝透露是否有安全摄像头监控该窗口,但他们说这枚硬币是用防弹玻璃保护起来的。
The museum is near the Hackescher Markt, a public square in Berlin that is home to a number of late-night bars and cafes. Police appealed for clues from anyone who had been in the area.	博物馆附近是哈克市场(Hackescher Markt),这是柏林的一处公共广场,有一些深夜酒吧和咖啡馆。警方呼吁曾到过该地段的人提供线索。
Given the coin's weight, authorities said they suspect that more than one person must have been involved in the crime. A police team that specializes in art crimes has been called in to investigate.	鉴于硬币的重量,当局表示,他们怀疑是团伙作案。一个专门从事艺术品犯罪的警察小组已经接到参与调查的通知。
The Bode Museum is part of the complex belonging to the Stiftung Preussischer Kulturbesitz, on an island in the Spree River. In addition to paintings, sculptures and other works of art, the museum displays what it says is one of the largest collections of coins and medals in the world, with about 500,000 objects. The Big Maple Leaf appeared to be the only thing the thieves took.	波德博物馆所在的建筑物属于普鲁士文化遗产基金会(Stiftung Preussischer Kulturbesitz),位于在施普雷河的一个岛上。除了绘画、雕塑和其他艺术作品之外,该馆还拥有世界上最大的硬币和奖牌收藏,数量大约为50万件。“大枫叶”似乎是盗贼偷走的唯一藏品。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170328/gold-coin-berlin-stolen	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170328/gold-coin-berlin-stolen
India's 'Phone Romeos' Look for Ms. Right via Wrong Numbers	印度的“手机罗密欧”:故意拨错号寻找女友
LUCKNOW, India — In a glass-sided call center, police constables clicketyclack on computer keyboards, on the trail of a particularly Indian sort of criminal.	印度勒克瑙——在一个带玻璃墙的呼叫中心里,警员敲打着电脑键盘,追踪印度一种特别类型的犯罪。

The “phone Romeo,” as he is known here, calls numbers at random until he hears a woman’s voice, in the hope of striking up a romantic attachment. Among them are overeager suitors (“Can I recharge your mobile?”), tremulous supplicants (“I am talking to you, madam, but my body is shaking”) and the occasional heavy breather (“I want to do the illegal things with you”).	这种做法叫“手机罗密欧”，指的是随机拨打手机号码，直到接听者是女性，目的是希望与对方开始浪漫关系。这些人当中有热情过分的追求者（“我可以为你充话费吗？”），有胆小的乞求者（“我在和你说话，女士，但我的身体在抖。”）和偶尔沉重喘息的人（“我想和你做一些不合法的事情。”）。
Intentionally dialing wrong numbers is a labor-intensive way to find a girlfriend. But it is increasingly common in a range of countries — Morocco, Papua New Guinea, Bangladesh and India are examples — where traditional gender segregation has collided head-on with a wave of cheap new technology.	故意拨错号码来寻找女朋友，这是很费精力的事情。但在摩洛哥、巴布亚新几内亚、孟加拉国和印度等国家，等随着传统的性别隔离与价格低廉的新技术浪潮的碰撞，这种做法正变得日益常见。
India is justly proud of its mobile-phone revolution. Call tariffs are among the world’s cheapest, and competition has sent the price of broadband plummeting. An estimated 680 million Indians use cellphones now, with three million new ones coming online every month. India’s leaders promote mobile platforms as a sign of social progress, a better way to distribute subsidies and obtain information about health care and agricultural conditions.	印度有理由为该国的手機革命感到自豪。这里的电话费率是世界上最便宜的，竞争导致了宽带价格暴跌。估计现在有 6.8 亿印度人使用手机，而且每月增加 300 万新用户。印度领导人宣扬移动平台是社会进步的标志，也是一种更好地分配补贴、获取关于医疗保健和农业情况信息的途径。
An unintended consequence is that social barriers between men and women are collapsing. Reports of phone stalking have increased exponentially, leading to growing complaints of harassment. But an unknown number of such calls are successful, resulting in what an American anthropologist has labeled “wrong-number relationships.”	但一个意外的结果是，男女之间的社会壁垒正在坍塌。有关电话骚扰的报告呈指数级增加，导致骚扰投诉越来越多。不过，成功产生一段如同一位美国人类学家所说的“拨错号的爱情”的数据，则不得而知。
“It’s a new thing,” said Julia Q. Huang, a fellow in the anthropology department of the London School of Economics, who has written a	“这是一种新情况，”伦敦政治经济学院(London School of Economics)人类学系研究员茱莉娅·Q·黄(Julia Q. Huang)说。她曾就孟加拉国年轻女性之间

scholarly paper on the practice among young women in Bangladesh. "It's covert, it's risky, it's experimenting with that outside world which they don't have much access to."	的这种现象写过一篇学术论文。“它隐秘，有风险，是对那个她们没有太多机会接触的外部世界进行的尝试。”
At the police call center in Lucknow, in northern India, roughly 700 calls come in every day, mostly from women complaining of persistent calls from strange men. The Hindustan Times recently reported that phone recharging outlets were selling the numbers of young women to interested men, charging 500 rupees, about $7.60, for a "beautiful" girl and 50 rupees for an "ordinary" one.	印度北方城市勒克瑙警方的呼叫中心，每天差不多都会接到 700 通电话，大多是女性打来投诉陌生男性的骚扰电话。《印度斯坦时报》(Hindustan Times)近日报道称，有些手机充值店正把年轻女性的号码卖给对此感兴趣的男性，每个“漂亮”女性的号码要价 500 卢比（约合 53 元人民币），“普通”女性的则是 50 卢比。
Recently, a complaint came from Geetika Chakravarty, 24, a makeup artist who grew up traveling the world with her father, a diplomat. After she returned to India from Canada last year, she posted her phone number in the contact section of a salon's Facebook page and received so many calls from unknown men that she blocked 200 separate numbers.	不久前，24 岁的杰提卡·查克拉瓦蒂(Geetika Chakravarty)打来了投诉电话。查克拉瓦蒂是一名化妆师，成长过程中曾随当外交官的父亲周游世界。去年从加拿大返回印度后，她在一家沙龙 Facebook 主页的联系信息部分贴出了自己的电话号码，但由于陌生男性打来的电话实在太多，她不得不拉黑了 200 个不同的号码。
"I do not know what their mind-set is," she said. "Sometimes they call and say, 'I love you.' Sometimes they call and say, 'I want to talk to Sonia,' and I would say, 'I am not Sonia,' and they would say, 'O.K., can I talk to you?'"	“我不知道他们是什么心态，”她说。“有时候他们打过来说，‘我爱你。’有时候他们打过来说，‘我想找索尼亚(Sonia)’，我说‘我不是索尼亚’，他们则会说，‘好的，能跟你聊聊吗？’”
But the most persistent among them was from a man who would call three or four times a day, urging her to meet him somewhere. When she blocked his number, he would call from another. She began to worry that he would track her down in person.	但他们之中有一个人最为执着，每天会打来三四次，催查克拉瓦蒂跟他在某个地方见面。一个号码被拉黑，他就换一个号码打过来。查克拉瓦蒂开始担心他会跟踪自己。
"He sounded like a creepy Indian guy to me," Ms. Chakravarty said.	“我觉得，他听上去像是一个令人毛骨悚然的印度男人，”查克拉瓦蒂说。
When the police traced the number, the person they found at the end	警方通过追踪其号码发现了这个人，他的真名叫普雷姆塞格尔·蒂瓦里

of it was Premsagar Tiwari, whose given name in Hindi translates as "Sea of Love." Mr. Tiwari, 24, turned out to be a high-strung, pencil-necked man who grew up in two small rooms in the corner of the down-at-heel government school where his father worked as a night watchman.	(Premsagar Tiwari), 名字的意思是“爱之海”。蒂瓦里现年 24 岁，是一个神经紧张、脖颈纤细的男人。他父亲在一所破败的公立学校当过守夜人，学校角落里的两间小屋便是他长大成人的地方。
Outside his window, young women came and went in their crisp school uniforms. But the night watchman's son could not approach them.	身穿挺括校服的年轻女孩在他窗外来来去去。但守夜人的儿子不能接近他们。
"The way he was built," said Satyavir Sachan, the constable assigned to the case, "it didn't seem he could talk to girls."	"他的成长环境就是这样，"负责调查该案的警员沙蒂亚维尔·萨川(Satyavir Sachan)说，"他当初似乎无法和女孩们说话。"
Poring through Mr. Tiwari's call records, Mr. Sachan found that he was using eight SIM cards, some registered under false names, to contact more than 500 women. The activity occupied, by police estimates, two to three hours a day.	萨川仔细察看了蒂瓦里的通话记录，发现他使用八张 SIM 卡联系了 500 多名女性——有些 SIM 卡是用假名字登记的。据警方估计，他每天要花两三个小时打电话。
Summoned to the police station, Mr. Tiwari confessed readily and with clasped hands he beseeched the police not to imprison him. His phone calls, he explained in an interview, should better be understood as part of his search for a soul mate.	被叫到警察局以后，蒂瓦里立即坦白了一切，他双手紧合，恳求警方不要把自己关起来。接受讯问时，他解释说，自己打出的电话应该被更好地理解成寻找灵魂伴侣的部分努力。
"One person is enough to fulfill you," Mr. Tiwari said. "I have nobody. The person you love will be somewhere, there, standing last in line. You have to reach them somehow. And when you find that someone, you stop looking."	"只要有一个人就可以让你满足，"蒂瓦里说。"我连一个人也没有。你爱的人肯定在某个地方，站在最后边。你得以某种方式找到他们。等你找到某个人时候，你就会停止寻找。"
He said he had heard many stories of men and women meeting over social media and going on to marry.	他说，男男女女在社交媒体上相遇然后喜结连理的故事，他听过很多。
"I may be a failed man," he said, "but I am very passionate."	"我或许是一个失败的男人，"他说，"但我非常有激情。"

The police were not impressed, and held him in custody for 15 days.	警方不为所动，他被拘留 15 天。
An inverse story was unfolding in Bangalore, where Umakanti Padhan, a moon-faced 16-year-old garment factory worker, tried to call her sister-in-law. She misdialed and found herself accidentally conversing with Bulu, a railway worker eight years her senior.	在班加罗尔发生了一个与此截然相反的故事。脸庞圆圆的 16 岁服装厂女工乌马坎蒂·帕德安(Umakanti Padhan)本想打给嫂子，却拨错号码，阴差阳错地和比她大 8 岁的铁路工人布卢(Bulu)通了话。
She hung up, alarmed. At home, beginning at puberty, she had been prohibited from speaking with any adult man, including her brothers and cousins.	她颇为惊恐，把电话挂断了。以前在家里，她从青春期开始便不得和任何成年男性交谈，包括她的兄弟和表亲。
Ten minutes later, Bulu called back and told her that he liked the sound of her voice. "When I hear your voice, it feels like someone of my own," he said. "I feel like talking to you all the time."	十分钟后，布卢回拨过来，说他喜欢她的声音。“我一听到你的声音，就觉得我的那个她出现了，”他说。“我真想一直都和你交谈。”
So she agreed. Every night, she slipped out to the roof of her Bangalore workers' hostel, where she shares a room with 11 other young women, and spoke to Bulu about mundane things: how their shifts went and what they had eaten that day.	她同意了。每天晚上，在班加罗尔一处工人宿舍和另外 11 个年轻女孩共住一个房间的她，都会溜到屋顶上和布卢聊些日常琐事：譬如轮班的情况，以及那天吃了什么。
"He's told me everything that ever happened to him from the time he was a kid," she said. "I don't know whether it is good or bad, but I trust him. I know he will not betray me."	“他把自己从小到大经历过的所有一切都讲给我听，”她说。“我不知道这是好是坏，但我信任他。我知道他不会背叛我。”
Ms. Huang, the anthropologist, said the women she met in Bangladesh were often happy to engage in telephone courtships with anonymous strangers, and some maintained five or six at once. Phone contact, they told her, was safer because it presupposed physical distance. Also, it forced the men on the other end of the line to listen to them for long stretches.	人类学研究员茱莉娅·Q·黄说，她在孟加拉遇到的一些女性常常颇为享受匿名陌生人在电话里的追求，会同时和五六个人保持联络。她们告诉她，电话联络更为安全，因为是以保持物理距离为前提。此外，这种方式迫使电话另一端的男人长时间听她们说话。
"It's one of those boundary-expanding experiences that allow you to	她说，“这是那些拓展边界的体验之一，让你得以考虑以前没有过的机会。”

think about opportunities that were not previously available," she said. Young women, she said, described these relationships with "kind of a fearful excitement."	她还说，年轻女性将这种关系形容为让人“有点儿恐惧、有点儿兴奋”。
For the young men, she said, "dialing random numbers is like playing the lottery and seeing what comes up." Often, she said, they approach it almost as a competitive sport, vying to see "who is more skilled at keeping a woman on the phone for a long time."	她说，对年轻男性而言，“随机拨打号码就像在抽奖，然后等着出结果。”她说很多时候，他们几乎把这当成了竞技运动，想要分出“谁才是最善于让女人长时间不挂电话的人”。
As for Ms. Padhan and her boyfriend, 11 months have passed and they still have not met in person.	至于帕德安和她的男友，整整 11 个月过去了，他们仍未见面。
Her roommates roll their eyes at her naïveté.	室友们对她的天真幼稚报以白眼。
But when their shifts are finished, they, too, retire to stairwells and corners of the rooftop for the covert nightly call. From there, it is possible to look across the rooftops of other boardinghouses and see figures hunched over their cellphones, in all directions, a wide-angle shot of young India in pursuit of love.	但下班后，她们也会躲到楼梯间或者屋顶的某个角落，打隐秘的夜间电话。人们从那里可以鸟瞰其他宿舍的屋顶，看到四面八方摆弄手机的身影——他们是广角镜头中追寻爱情的印度年轻人。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170329/indias-phone-romeos-look-for-the-right-one-through-wrong-numbers	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170329/indias-phone-romeos-look-for-the-right-one-through-wrong-numbers
France Investigating Police Killing of Chinese Man in Paris	华人男子在巴黎遭警察枪杀，引发抗议骚扰
The French authorities confirmed on Tuesday that they were investigating the fatal shooting by the police of a Chinese man at his home in Paris during the weekend. A lawyer for the man's family said the killing was not justified, and the Chinese government called for a thorough investigation.	法国当局于周二证实，他们正在调查周末巴黎警方在一名中国男子家中将其射杀的事件。该男子家人的律师说枪杀是没有正当理由的，中国政府要求对之进行彻底调查。
Members of the Chinese community in Paris have been protesting the killing, and the demonstrations turned violent on Monday night, with	政府官员说，巴黎华人社区成员一直在抗议这起枪杀事件，周一晚上，示威游行变为骚乱，警方逮捕了 35 人。 the police arresting 35 people, officials said.

The death of the man, identified in news reports as Liu Shaoyo, 56, comes at a time of heightened unease in France's Asian community. Many Asian immigrants live in poorer neighborhoods in eastern Paris and the capital's eastern suburbs. Last year, the death of a Chinese tailor who had been beaten by a gang of youths in a Paris suburb prompted protests.	新闻报道确认，死者刘少尧现年 56 岁，他的死亡正值法国亚裔社区处于高度不安状态。许多亚裔移民生活在巴黎东部及巴黎以东郊区较贫穷的社区。去年，一名华裔裁缝在巴黎郊区遭一群青年殴打致死，引发了若干抗议事件。
The police went to Mr. Liu's home on Sunday, according to French news accounts, in response to a call from a neighbor. An officer shot Mr. Liu, who was holding a pair of scissors, as the door opened.	根据法国新闻报道，警方于周日接邻居报警去了刘家。一名警察在开门时开枪打中了手拿剪刀的刘少尧。
Although the exact circumstances of Mr. Liu's death remained unclear on Tuesday, and the police declined to comment, local news organizations quoted police sources who said Mr. Liu had moved to assault one of the officers on his doorstep.	周二晚上，刘少尧死亡的具体情形尚不清楚，警方亦拒绝发表评论，但当地的新闻机构援引警方消息，称刘少尧对家门口的一名警官进行了攻击。
Mr. Liu's relatives disputed that account, and said the shooting was not an act of self-defense, according to their lawyer, Calvin Job.	刘少尧的家人通过律师卡尔文·约伯(Calvin Job)对此表示异议，并表示枪击不是自卫行为。
Mr. Liu, an unemployed father of four, was making dinner for his children, cutting fish with the scissors, Mr. Job said. There were loud bangs on the door, and Mr. Liu went to answer, scissors in hand. But, Mr. Job said, Mr. Liu had not yet reached the door when the police forced it open and shot him as he stood next to his daughter.	约伯说，失业的刘少尧是四个孩子的父亲，当时他正在为孩子准备晚饭，用剪刀收拾鱼。听到有人大声敲门，刘少尧手里拿着剪刀去开门。但是，约伯说，还没等刘少尧开门，警方就破门而入，向他开枪，当时他正站在女儿身边。
"I understand the anger in the community," Mr. Job said in an interview. Several of his clients of Asian ancestry had complained of police violence recently, he said.	约伯在接受采访时说：“我理解社区的愤怒。”他说，他的几个亚裔客户最近都在控诉警察暴力。
The national police disciplinary body was set to hear from Mr. Liu's	国家警察纪律机构定于周二下午向刘少尧家人取证。他们的律师说，他们还

relatives on Tuesday afternoon. His relatives' lawyer said they would also file a complaint.	会提出投诉。
Some of the roughly 150 protesters who gathered at a police station in the 19th arrondissement in northeast Paris, where Mr. Liu was killed, threw objects at officers and set cars on fire. Three officers were said to have been lightly wounded, according to Agence France-Presse.	刘少尧是在巴黎东北部十九区殒命的,约 150 名抗议者聚集在当地一个警察局,向警官投掷物品,并点燃了几辆汽车。据法新社报道,三名警官据称受了轻伤。
The deadly beating last year of Chang Chaolin, a tailor who had lived in France for a decade, drew attention to security concerns in Aubervilliers, the northern suburb where he resided. That case highlighted a pocket of racial conflict in France, where the integration struggles of Muslims, the largest religious minority in the country, had been getting the most attention.	去年,在法国居住了十年的裁缝张朝林被殴打致死,在他居住的巴黎北郊奥贝维埃引发了安全关切。该案件凸显了法国小区域内的种族冲突,穆斯林是该国最大的宗教少数团体,它在融入社会方面的挣扎受到最大的关注。
The local authorities had promised improvements in neighborhood policing by providing translation services for people who wanted to report crimes, for instance, after a round of protests in the summer of last year.	去年夏天的一系列抗议活动之后,地方当局已经答应改善邻里警务,例如为报案的人提供翻译服务。
But Tamara Lui, president of the community organization Chinese in France, said the population had not seen a noticeable change in the security situation, saying she was astonished by the "disproportionate force" used by the police against Mr. Liu.	但法国华人社区组织负责人雷丹宇(Tamara Lui)说,人们并未感觉安全形势有了明显改变,她说,警方对刘少尧"过度使用武力"令她感到震惊。
"We are not the only victims, we never say that," she said in a phone interview from Paris. "But we feel powerless and abandoned by the state."	"我们不是唯一的受害者,我们从来没有这样说,"她在巴黎接受电话采访时说。"但我们感到无能为力,感到被这个国家抛弃。"
She said the best way to soothe the community and prevent further violence would be to release a "credible and coherent version of the	她说,安抚社区,防止进一步暴力的最好办法就是发布"可靠和前后一致的事实真相"。 facts.”

While she condemned any violence in response to Mr. Liu’s death, she said that she had no control over the protests. “It’s almost like a time bomb,” she said adding that other immigrant communities facing similar issues had pledged to join the Asians’ fight.	一方面，她谴责因刘少尧的死亡而导致的任何暴力事件，但她也说自己无法控制抗议活动。“这几乎就像是一枚定时炸弹，”她补充说，面临类似问题的其他移民社区也承诺加入亚裔的战斗。
Thousands of people have taken part in several marches since February, when the police seized a 22-year-old black man who then accused the officers of raping him with a baton.	自二月份以来爆发了数次有几千人的游行，当时警方控制了一名 22 岁的黑人，后来此人指控警务人员用警棍强奸他。
In 2005, the deaths of two teenagers who were running from the police in Clichy-sous-Bois, another Paris suburb, ignited weeks of rioting and marches against police brutality in cities around France, starting a national debate on the integration of immigrants.	2005 年，在另一个巴黎郊区克利希，两名正在逃出警局的青少年死亡，引发了数周的骚乱，并在法国各地的城市导致了反对警察暴行的游行，从而带来了关于移民融合问题的全国讨论。
On Tuesday, a spokeswoman for China’s Foreign Ministry said that the country attached “great importance” to Mr. Liu’s killing and demanded that France “thoroughly investigate the incident and take effective measures to ensure the safety and legal rights of Chinese nationals in France.”	周二，中国外交部发言人说，中方对刘少尧的遇害“高度重视”，并要求法国“尽快查明真相，并采取切实有效措施保障在法中国公民安全与合法权益。”
The French Foreign Ministry, in a statement on Tuesday, said that an investigation was underway. “The security of all Chinese nationals in France is a priority for the French authorities,” the ministry said.	法国外交部周二在一份声明中说，相关调查正在进行中。声明表示：“法国所有华人的安全是法国要务。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170329/paris-police-shooting-chinese	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170329/paris-police-shooting-chinese
Elephants Get a Reprieve as Price of Ivory Falls	大象的福音：中国象牙价格下跌
NAIROBI, Kenya — Finally, there’s some good news for elephants.	肯尼亚内罗毕——大象终于迎来了一些好消息。
The price of ivory in China, the world’s biggest market for elephant tusks, has fallen sharply, which may spell a reprieve from the intense	中国是世界上最大的象牙市场，目前那里象牙的价格大幅下滑，可能会令过去十年来的严重偷猎得到缓解。 poaching of the past decade.

According to a report released on Wednesday by Save the Elephants, a respected wildlife group in Kenya, the price of ivory is less than half of what it was just three years ago, showing that demand is plummeting.	据肯尼亚备受尊敬的野生动物保护组织“拯救大象”(Save the Elephants)周三发布的报告显示,目前象牙的价格不及三年前的一半,显示出需求大幅下滑。
Tougher economic times, a sustained advocacy campaign and China's apparent commitment to shutting down its domestic ivory trade this year were the drivers of the change, elephant experts said.	大象专家说,这一改变是由日益低迷的经济,持续的宣传运动,以及中国对于今年内终止国内象牙贸易的明确承诺带来的。
"We must give credit to China for having done the right thing," said Iain Douglas-Hamilton, president and founder of Save the Elephants. "There is still a long way to go to end the excessive killing of elephants for ivory, but there is now greater hope for the species."	"我们必须赞扬中国做了正确的事,"拯救大象组织总裁兼创始人伊恩·道格拉斯-汉密尔顿(Iain Douglas-Hamilton)说。"要结束为获取象牙而对大象进行的过度杀戮,目前还有很长的路要走,但现在这个物种有了更大的希望。"
Elephants have been slaughtered by the thousands in recent years in what appeared to be an insatiable quest for ivory. Employing a wide range of tools, including helicopters, military-grade weaponry and poisoned pumpkins, poachers have brought down herd after herd. The poachers have also killed scores of wildlife rangers.	近年来,数千头大象遭到宰杀,显然是出于对象牙贪得无厌的追求。偷猎者使用各种工具屠杀了一个又一个象群,包括直升机、军用武器和下毒的南瓜。偷猎者还杀死了数十名野生动物保护员。
The tusks have been spirited out through a network of African gangs and corrupt government officials. A vast majority of ivory ends up in China, where a rapidly growing middle class has coveted it for bracelets, combs, statuettes and other status symbols. That demand has pushed the price of ivory so high that the tusks from a single elephant could be worth more than $100,000. That, in turn, encouraged many hunters and traders in Africa to ruthlessly pursue more elephants.	通过非洲黑帮和腐败的政府官员网络,这些象牙被悄悄运出境外。绝大多数象牙最终都会来到中国,那里快速增长的中产阶级觊觎象牙手镯、梳子、雕像和其他身份标志。这种需求使得象牙的价格变得极高,一对象牙的价格可能超过10万美元。反过来这又鼓励非洲的许多猎人和贸易商无情地猎杀更多大象。
But the ivory boom may be over.	但象牙贸易繁荣可能已经结束。
According to Save the Elephants, the wholesale price of an elephant	据“拯救大象”报道,2014年,象牙的批发价格为每公斤2100美元,上个月

tusk was $2,100 a kilogram in 2014. Last month, it was $730.	变成了 730 美元。
This may be a sign of how a sustained global advocacy campaign can actually work. For several years, celebrities, political leaders and passionate wildlife advocates around the world have been urging China to put a stop to its ivory trade. In China, there are officially registered shops selling ivory and a thriving black market doing the same. Last December, China responded, announcing it was shutting down all ivory commerce by the end of 2017. It seems the price of ivory has dropped in anticipation of the ban; many analysts believe it will soon drop further.	这可能是持续的全球宣传运动最终生效的标志。几年来，世界各地的名流、政治领袖和热情的野生动物倡导者一直在敦促中国停止象牙贸易。在中国有得到正式注册的商店在出售象牙，繁荣的黑市也是如此。去年 12 月，中国做出了回应，宣布到 2017 年底终止所有的象牙贸易。似乎因为对这一禁令的预期，象牙的价格已经出现下跌；许多分析师认为很快还会出现进一步下跌。
Researchers for Save the Elephants said the Chinese ivory business seemed depressed, with vendors pessimistic about their future. Many are replacing ivory jewelry and trinkets with items made from alternative materials, like clamshell. According to the report, China plans to shut ivory factories at the end of this month and close all retail outlets by the end of the year.	“拯救大象”的研究人员表示，中国象牙业似乎很低迷，卖家对他们的未来感到悲观。许多人正在用蚌壳等替代材料来制作牙雕珠宝和小饰物。据报道，中国计划在本月底关闭象牙作坊，并在年底之前关闭所有零售店。
But there still seem to be some high rollers out there who want their ivory.	但是，似乎还有一些挥金如土的人想得到象牙。
In one store in Nanjing, researchers saw “a 38-layered magic ball,” made from ivory, selling for $248,810.	在南京的一家商店里，研究人员看到了一个由象牙制成的“38 层魔法球”，售价为 248810 美元。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170330/ivory-elephants-china	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170330/ivory-elephants-china
150 Years After Sale of Alaska, Some Russians Have Second Thoughts	把阿拉斯加卖给美国 150 年后，俄罗斯人后悔了？
The reassertion of Russia’s greatness has been a motif of Vladimir V. Putin’s presidency, and his projection of military might and cyberpower is in part why Russian-American relations are at their lowest point since	弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)担任总统期间一心想要恢复俄罗斯的伟大荣光，而他对军事力量和网络攻击能力的投射，在某种程度上导致俄美关系处于冷战结束以来的最低点。

the end of the Cold War.
So the 150th anniversary on Thursday of Russia's sale of Alaska to the United States — an event few Americans may notice — was a day of mourning for some hard-right Russian nationalists who see the transaction as a gigantic blunder by the ailing czarist empire, one that reverberates as the major powers vie for influence over the Arctic and its natural riches in an age of climate change.	因此，周四作为俄罗斯将阿拉斯加卖给美国的 150 周年纪念日——可能没什么美国人会注意到这件事——成了某些极右派民族主义者的哀悼日。他们认为这项交易是孱弱的沙皇帝国犯下的一大错误，其影响一直延续到今天这个气候变化时代——眼下，一些大国正竞相争夺对北极及其自然资源的控制权。
"If Russia was in possession of Alaska today, the geopolitical situation in the world would have been different," Sergey Aksyonov, the prime minister of Crimea, told a Crimean television network this month.	"如果俄罗斯现在还拥有阿拉斯加，世界地缘政治局势就会是另一番景象，"本月，克里米亚总理谢尔盖·阿克肖诺夫(Sergei Aksyonov)告诉克里米亚一家电视网。
A niche military magazine, Military-Industrial Courier, recently ran a two-part article headlined "The Alaska We've Lost," grumbling about what could have been.	小众军事杂志《军工信使》(Military-Industrial Courier)最近刊发了一篇分上下两部分、题为《我们失去的阿拉斯加》的文章，不满地设想了事情本来会是什么样子。
Even Sergey V. Lavrov, Russia's foreign minister, was asked about Alaska in a recent interview with a Russian newspaper. "The anniversary may, of course, trigger diverse emotions," he said. "But it is a good occasion to refresh memories of Russians' contribution to exploration of the American continent."	就连俄罗斯外长谢尔盖·V·拉夫罗夫(Sergey V. Lavrov)最近接受俄罗斯一家报纸采访时，也被问到了与阿拉斯加有关的问题。“诚然，这个纪念日会激起各种各样的情绪，”他说。“但这是一个很好的机会，可以让我们重温俄罗斯人为探索美洲大陆作出的贡献。”
Mr. Putin, asked about Alaska during a call-in show that year, said "we don't need to get worked up about this." At the International Arctic Forum in Arkhangelsk, Russia, on Thursday, however, he said that American activities in Alaska could destabilize world order. "What we do is contained locally, while what the U.S. does in Alaska, it does on the global level," he said, calling the American development of a missile system there "one of the most pressing security issues."	当年，在一个热线节目上被问及阿拉斯加相关问题的普京曾说，“我们没必要为此费神。”但他于周四在俄罗斯阿尔汉格尔斯克出席国际北极论坛(International Arctic Forum)时却表示，美国在阿拉斯加的活动可能会破坏世界秩序的稳定。“我们的所作所为的影响仅限于当地，而美国在阿拉斯加做的事情，会产生全球层面的影响，”他说。他还把美国在那里部署导弹系统称为“最紧迫的安全问题之一”。

No one, of course, is seriously suggesting that Russia retake Alaska like it annexed Crimea in 2014 from Ukraine. But the differences in how the sale is remembered in Russia and the United States — and, crucially, among Alaska’s indigenous communities — points to the state’s history as a cultural and religious crossroad.	当然了，没有谁当真建议俄罗斯应该像在 2013 年侵吞乌克兰的克里米亚一样，夺回阿拉斯加。但俄国人和美国人对于这项交易有着不同的记忆——至关重要的是，阿拉斯加的各原住民社区对此也有着不同的记忆——由此突显出阿拉斯加作为一个文化和宗教十字路口的历史。
Russians started to settle Alaska in 1784, setting up trading posts and Eastern Orthodox churches, mostly along the coast. By the 1860s, having lost the Crimean War to Britain, and fearful that Britain would seize Alaska in any future conflict, the czar decided to strike a deal.	俄罗斯人从 1784 年开始在阿拉斯加定居，建设贸易站和东正教堂——大多都是沿海岸而建。到 1860 年代，已经在克里米亚战争中输给英国的沙皇，担心未来一旦发生冲突，英国便会占领阿拉斯加，于是决定达成一项交易。
The sea otters who were the heart of then-thriving fur trade had almost been wiped out, and the Russians also feared that if gold were discovered — as it would be, in the Klondike Gold Rush that started in 1896 — the Americans might overrun the territory, said Susan Smith-Peter, a historian at the College of Staten Island in New York.	纽约史泰登岛学院(College of Staten Island)的历史学者苏珊·史密斯-彼得(Susan Smith-Peter)说，对当时蓬勃发展的皮毛贸易极为重要的海獭此前几乎被赶尽杀绝了，俄国人还担心，如果发现黄金——就像在始于 1896 年的克朗代克淘金潮中所发生的那样——美国人或许会蜂拥而至。
“From the Russian point of view, the deal made a lot of sense,” she said. “They could irritate Britain, and they could have a closer relationship with the United States.”	“从俄国人的角度看，这项交易非常有意义，”她说。“他们可以刺激英国，还可以拉近同美国的关系。”
The United States also thought the purchase would position it closer to trade with China, and fend off any British thoughts of encroachment on the West Coast, said Gwenn A. Miller, a historian at the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester, Mass.	马萨诸塞州伍斯特圣十字学院(College of the Holy Cross)的历史学家格温·A·米勒(Gwenn A. Miller)说，美国也觉得买下阿拉斯加可以让它离中国更近，便于与之开展贸易，还可以遏制英国人对西海岸的不轨图谋。
“It was really about Manifest Destiny,” she said, “about expanding the U.S.”	“它其实关乎昭昭天命(Manifest Destiny),”她说，“关乎美国的扩张。”
The treaty — setting the price at $7.2 million, or about $125 million today — was negotiated and signed by Eduard de Stoeckl, Russia’s	俄国驻美大使爱德华·德斯多克尔(Eduard de Stoeckl)和美国国务卿威廉·H·苏厄德(William Henry Seward)达成并签署了阿拉斯加易手协议，作价

minister to the United States, and William H. Seward, the American secretary of state. It was mostly considered beneficial to both countries, but some critics derided it as “Seward’s Folly” or “Seward’s Icebox” — and even now, scholars debate whether it was a bargain.	720 万美元，约合今天的 1.25 亿美元。当时，大多数人都认为此项交易对两个国家都有好处，但一些批评人士却戏谑地称之为“苏厄德的蠢行”或“苏厄德的大冰箱”——直到现在，还有学者争论这笔买卖是否划算。
In some Russian quarters, the sale has left a bitter aftertaste. “Along with Alaska, you sold out your Russian people,” Vladimir Kolychev, a history enthusiast, wrote in a poem last fall, addressed to Czar Alexander II.	在俄罗斯的某些地方，阿拉斯加的转手留下了苦涩的余味。“和阿拉斯加一道被你出卖的，是俄罗斯人民，”去年秋天，历史爱好者弗拉基米尔·科利切夫（Vladimir Kolychev）在写给沙皇亚历山大二世(Alexander II)的诗中表示。
In Washington, the anniversary was to be commemorated on Thursday with a luncheon at the National Press Club, a State Department reception and a concert with music by the composer John Luther Adams, who spent much of his life in Alaska. In Alaska, talks, lectures, art exhibitions and other events will continue through Alaska Day, Oct. 18, which marks the formal transfer of the territory. Alaska became the 49th state in January 1959.	在华盛顿，一些庆祝活动于周四举行，其中包括全美新闻俱乐部(National Press Club)的一场午餐会，国务院的一场招待会，以及把大半生时间都给了阿拉斯加的作曲家约翰·路德·亚当斯(John Luther Adams)作品专场音乐会。在阿拉斯加，研讨、讲座、艺术展等活动将一直持续到 10 月 18 日，即阿拉斯加日(Alaska Day)，它是这片土地被正式转交给美国的标志。阿拉斯加在 1959 年成了美国的第 49 个州。
When the Russians arrived in Alaska, they conscripted the people living along the coasts to hunt sea otters. After the land’s sale, the indigenous groups were freed, but the Americans brought their share of problems, said Sergei A. Kan, a professor of Native American studies at Dartmouth College in New Hampshire.	俄国人当初抵达阿拉斯加时，曾征募住在海岸边的人们去狩猎海獭。土地转手后，原住民获得了自由，但在新罕布什尔州达特茅斯学院(Dartmouth College)从事美国原住民研究的谢尔盖·A·卡恩(Sergei A. Kan)教授说，美国人也制造了一些问题。
“The Russian era was about paternalistic control, but the Russian goal was not to transform life radically, but to harness the people for economic purposes,” Mr. Kan said. “With the Americans, it was accompanied with a much more forceful Westernization.”	“俄国人做主的时代进行的是家长式控制，但俄国人的目标不是从根本上改变人们的生活，而是利用他们达成经济目的，”卡恩说。“与美国一起到来的，则是更具强迫性的西化进程。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170331/alaska-russia-sale-150	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170331/alaska-russia-sale-150

'I Buried My Own Children': A Syrian Father's Grief	一位叙利亚父亲的悲恸：我埋葬了自己的孩子
Aya and Ahmad, 9-month-old twins, were among the 86 people killed in Tuesday's gas attack in Khan Sheikhoun, Syria. Their father, Abdul Hameed al-Yousef, asked a photographer to take pictures as he held their bodies.	周二在叙利亚汉谢洪(Khan Sheikhoun)发生的毒气袭击事件中，有86人遇难，其中包括9个月大的双胞胎艾雅(Aya)和艾哈迈德(Ahmad)。他们的父亲阿卜杜勒·哈米德·阿勒优素福(Abdul Hameed al-Yousef)要求摄影师拍下自己抱着两具尸体的照片。
He turned the babies' faces toward the camera and said, "tell them, 'goodbye dad.'"	他把宝宝的脸转向相机，说：“跟他们说，‘爸爸再见’”。
In an interview with a local activist, Mr. al-Yousef described the start of the airstrikes at 7 a.m.	阿勒优素福在接受当地一名活动人士采访时说，空袭是在上午7点开始的。
He said his children began to cough and he handed them to their mother and told her to flee the town. He went to check on his brothers and their children. They were struggling to breathe. He saw people fall in the street and begin foaming at the mouth before losing consciousness himself.	“我带着妻子和孩子离开了家，”他边哽咽边说。“就在我们离开的时候，差不多过了五分钟，我们就开始闻到恶心的味道。”
Later, he found out his wife and babies had died. And he buried them.	他说孩子们开始咳嗽，于是他把孩子交给妻子，让她逃离这个城镇。他去看看兄弟和侄子怎样了。这时他们感到呼吸很困难。他看见人们纷纷倒在街上，开始口吐白沫，然后他自己也失去意识。
He walked through the graves, calling out the names of other family members who were also killed and buried in the graveyard, pausing at each, and sobbing.	后来他发现妻子和孩子都死了。他将他们安葬。
After the burial, "I saw Ahmad and Aya, and carried them close to my heart," Mr. al-Yousef said in the interview. "We buried them, I took Ahmad and Aya and buried them. I buried my own children."	他在墓地里穿行，呼喊其他遇难、埋葬于此的家人的名字，他在每座墓前停留、抽噎。
He said he had lost at least 25 members of his extended family in the attack.	“我看到了艾哈迈德和艾雅，抱他们抱在我怀里，”他在葬礼后接受采访时说。“我们埋葬了他们，我把艾哈迈德和艾雅带到墓地，埋葬了他们。我埋葬了”

	我自己的孩子。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170407/syrian-father-buries-children	他说在这次袭击中，失去了至少 25 名家族成员。
Dozens of U.S. Missiles Hit Air Base in Syria	美国发射巡航导弹打击叙利亚空军基地
WASHINGTON — The United States carried out a missile attack in Syria on Thursday night in response to the Syrian government’s chemical weapons attack this week that killed more than 80 civilians, American officials said.	华盛顿——美国官员称，周四晚间，美国在叙利亚进行了导弹袭击，以回应叙利亚政府本周的化学武器袭击。此次化武袭击造成 80 多名平民丧生。
Dozens of Tomahawk cruise missiles were fired at an air base in Syria, military officials said. They said the strike occurred at about 8:45 p.m. Eastern Time, that the target was the Shayrat airfield and that the strike had hit planes, fuel, spare parts and the runway.	军方官员称，美军向叙利亚的一个空军基地发射了数十枚“战斧”(Tomahawk)巡航导弹。他们表示，袭击发生在美国东部时间晚上 8 点 45 分左右，目标是沙伊拉特机场，击中了飞机、燃料、配件和跑道。
According to one military official, 50 Tomahawks were launched from two Navy warships.	据一名军官称，美国从两艘海军舰船上发射了 50 枚“战斧”导弹。
The official said that the cruise missile strike was at the more limited end of the military options presented to President Trump Thursday by Defense Secretary Jim Mattis. The cruise missile strike, the official said, was intended to send a message to Mr. Assad about the American intention to use military force if he continues to use chemical weapons.	这名军官称，导弹袭击是周四国防部长吉姆·马蒂斯(Jim Mattis)向特朗普总统提供的军事打击方案中较为有限的一种。该官员称，本次导弹袭击旨在向阿萨德(Assad)发出一个信号：如果他继续使用化学武器，美国打算使用武力。
It was the first time that the White House had ordered military action against forces loyal to Mr. Assad.	这是白宫首次下令对忠于阿萨德的部队采取军事行动。
The speed with which the Trump administration responded — and remarks earlier in the day by American officials who said that options were still being considered — appeared intended to maximize the element of surprise and sharply contrasted with the methodical scrutiny of the use of force by the Obama administration.	特朗普政府的回应速度——以及当天早些时候美国官员的评论，他们表示仍在考虑相关选择——似乎意在最大限度地造成意外的效果，并与奥巴马政府对使用武力的有条不紊的审议形成鲜明对比。

It was Mr. Trump's first order to the military for the use of force — other operations in Syria, Yemen and Iraq had been carried out under authorization delegated to his commanders — and appeared intended to send a message to North Korea, Iran and other potential adversaries that the new commander in chief was prepared to act, and sometimes on short notice.	这是特朗普首次向军方下令使用武力——美国在叙利亚、也门和伊拉克的其他军事行动是他那些获得授权的指挥官展开的——似乎旨在向朝鲜和伊朗等潜在对手发出信号，表明这位新任三军统帅愿意采取行动，有时速度还会很快。
The airstrikes were carried out less than an hour after the president concluded a dinner with Xi Jinping, the president of China, at his estate in Mar-a-Lago in Florida, sending an unmistakably aggressive message about Mr. Trump's willingness to use the military power at his disposal.	这次空袭是在特朗普总统与中国国家主席习近平在佛罗里达州马阿拉歌庄园共进晚餐后不到一个小时进行的。它发出了一个明确的强硬信号：特朗普打算按照自己的意愿使用那些可供动用的武力选项。
Mr. Trump authorized the strike with no congressional approval for the use of force, an assertion of presidential authority that contrasts sharply with the protracted deliberations over the use of force by his predecessor, former President Barack Obama.	特朗普动用了总统权力，未经国会批准就授权进行打击，这与前任总统贝拉克·奥巴马就使用武力展开的冗长讨论形成鲜明对比。
Unlike Mr. Obama, who weighed — and ultimately rejected — the use of a similar strike at targets after Syria used chemical weapons in 2013, Mr. Trump moved with remarkable speed, delivering the punishing military strike barely 72 hours after the devastating chemical attack that killed 80 people this week.	2013年，叙利亚使用化学武器后，奥巴马经过权衡，最终拒绝进行类似的袭击。而特朗普则以惊人的速度采取行动，在本周的毁灭性化学袭击导致80人丧生后的短短72小时内进行了惩罚性军事打击。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170407/us-said-to-weigh-military-responses-to-syrian-chemical-attack	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170407/us-said-to-weigh-military-responses-to-syrian-chemical-attack
Airstrike in Syria Overshadows Meeting Between Trump and Xi	佛州晚宴上，习近平被告知美国空袭叙利亚
PALM BEACH, Fla. —President Trump welcomed President Xi Jinping of China here for a first meeting on Friday that ended up being less about great-power collaboration than a chance for the Chinese leader to	佛罗里达州棕榈滩——特朗普总统上周五在这里与中国国家主席习近平举行的首次会晤，与其说是关于大国合作，不如说是为中国领导人提供了一次目睹美国军事力量真实展示的机会。

witness a raw display of American military might.
Hours after Mr. Trump ordered Tomahawk cruise missiles to be fired on a Syrian airfield, he pressed Mr. Xi to use China's leverage to curb another rogue government, North Korea's. Mr. Trump repeated his warning that if China did not do more, the United States would act on its own to constrain the belligerent actions of North Korea's dictator, Kim Jong-un.	就在特朗普下令向叙利亚的一个飞机场发射战斧巡航导弹的几小时后，他向习近平施压，要求中国用其杠杆来遏制另一个捣蛋政府朝鲜。特朗普再次警告说，如果中国不采取更多措施的话，美国会自行采取约束朝鲜独裁者金正恩好战行为的行动。
The president also brought up the chronic trade imbalance between China and the United States. A senior administration official said Mr. Trump had told Mr. Xi that the two sides needed to begin addressing that deficit immediately, prompting China to propose a 100-day plan to overhaul the trade relationship between the world's largest economies.	特朗普还提到中美之间长期存在的贸易不平衡问题。政府的一位高级官员说，特朗普对习近平说，双方需要立即开始解决美中贸易赤字的问题，这促使中国提出一个旨在修复世界上两个最大的经济体之间贸易关系的百日计划。
Secretary of State Rex W. Tillerson said Mr. Trump had told the Chinese leader that there needed to be "concrete steps to level the playing field for American workers." A second senior administration official said the tone in the one-on-one exchanges on trade had been "tough," though he said there was chemistry between the two men.	美国国务卿雷克斯·W·蒂勒森(Rex W. Tillerson)说，特朗普对中国领导人说，需要“为美国工人获得公平竞争环境采取具体步骤”。另一位政府高级官员说，就贸易问题进行的一对一交流气氛颇为“强硬”，但他表示，两位领导人之间有诚挚的表现。
The 100-day project was the only tangible announcement to come out of a meeting that few expected to be much more than a get-acquainted exercise, held at Mr. Trump's palm-fringed resort, Mar-a-Lago. In the end, even the rituals of superpower summitry were largely overshadowed by the drama unfolding in the eastern Mediterranean Sea.	百日计划是这次会晤后宣布的唯一实际性内容，这个在特朗普的棕榈树环绕的马阿拉歌(Mar-a-Lago)庄园举行的会晤，被更多地认为是为了让他们相识。就连超级大国元首之间的礼仪，最后也在很大程度上被地中海东部发生的戏剧性进展蒙上了阴影。
Around 8:40 p.m. on Thursday, as the leaders were finishing a dinner of pan-seared Dover sole and dry-aged prime New York strip, Mr. Trump	上周四晚大约8点40分，两位领导人快吃完主菜为平锅干烤多佛比目鱼和干式陈上等纽约牛条的晚宴时，特朗普对习近平说，他已下令向叙利亚发射

told Mr. Xi that he had ordered a barrage of missiles to be fired at Syria to punish it for the deadly chemical weapons attack by the government of Bashar al-Assad. According to Mr. Tillerson, Mr. Xi told the president he understood that a military response was necessary “when people are killing children.”	一批导弹，作为对巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar al-Assad)政府使用致命化学武器的惩罚。据蒂勒森说，习近平对特朗普说，他理解“在有人屠杀孩子的时候”，采取军事行动的必要性。
Mr. Tillerson’s account of Mr. Xi’s reaction was somewhat more supportive than the Chinese government’s official response. On Friday, a Foreign Ministry spokeswoman, Hua Chunying, repeated China’s call for a “political settlement” in Syria to prevent the situation from deteriorating further.	蒂勒森描述的习近平的反应，比中国政府的官方回应表达了更多支持的成分。上周五，外交部发言人华春莹重申了中国“政治解决”叙利亚问题的呼吁，以防止局面进一步恶化。
Administration officials said the missile strike had not disrupted the meeting. In fact, they said, it might have strengthened Mr. Trump’s hand as he called on the Chinese to exercise more pressure on North Korea. While officials noted that North Korea poses different, and in some ways more formidable, challenges than Syria, the parallel of a rogue government that possesses weapons of mass destruction was not lost on the Chinese.	政府官员表示，导弹打击并未搅乱会晤。他们说，事实上，该行动也许为特朗普呼吁中国对朝鲜施加更大压力增添了优势。官员指出，虽然朝鲜构成的挑战与叙利亚的不同，而且朝鲜在某些方面更难对付，但中国人不是没有注意到这两个拥有大规模杀伤性武器的无赖政府的相似之处。
Mr. Xi told Mr. Trump he agreed that the threat posed by North Korea had reached a “very serious stage,” according to Mr. Tillerson. Days before the meeting, Pyongyang tested another intermediate-range ballistic missile. But the Chinese made no new offers about how to deal with Mr. Kim’s government, according to an American official.	据蒂勒森说，习近平对特朗普说，他同意朝鲜构成的威胁已达到了“非常严重的程度”的说法。就在举行会晤的几天前，平壤再次测试了一枚中程弹道导弹。但是，中国并没有就如何对付金正恩政府的问题提出新提议，据一名美国官员说。
The Chinese also brought no concessions on trade to the meeting, beyond the 100-day plan. Mr. Trump intends to sign an executive order to penalize countries for dumping steel into the American market, a	除了百日计划外，中国也没有在会晤期间在贸易问题上作出让步。特朗普打算签署一项行政命令，惩罚向美国市场倾销钢铁的国家，这主要是针对中国的。政府官员拒绝讨论命令的细节，也不清楚他们是否将其告知了中国人。

move that would be aimed at China. Administration officials declined to discuss the order, and it was not clear whether they had presented it to the Chinese.
"There are areas where they clearly want to work with us," said the Treasury secretary, Steven Mnuchin. He said the administration's "objective is to increase our exports to them."	"在有些方面，他们明确表示要与我们一起努力，"财政部长史蒂文·努钦(Steven Mnuchin)说。他说，政府的"目标是增加对中国的出口"。
Wilbur Ross, the commerce secretary, said the 100-day plan was ambitious, given that trade negotiations usually stretch for years. "It's a very big sea change in the pace of discussions," he said.	商业部长威尔伯·罗斯(Wilbur Ross)说，考虑到贸易谈判通常需要多年的时间，百日计划显得雄心勃勃。他说，"这是谈判速度的翻天覆地的变化。"
In their spare public comments, the two leaders glossed over longstanding sources of friction. Facing each other under chandeliers and across a horseshoe table at Mar-a-Lago, the presidents spoke of their budding personal ties.	两位领导人在不多的公开言论中，掩饰了给两国关系制造摩擦的长期因素。两位领导人在马阿拉歌庄园的吊灯下和一张马蹄形会议桌旁面对面就座，谈了他们刚刚发展起来的个人关系。
"We have made tremendous progress in our relationship with China," Mr. Trump said, adding, "Lots of very potentially bad problems will be going away." Mr. Xi replied in Mandarin that the talks had accomplished many things, "most important being deepening our friendship and building a kind of trust in keeping with the Sino-U.S. working relationship and friendship."	"我们在与中国的关系方面取得了巨大的进步，"特朗普说，并补充说，"许多潜在的糟糕问题将会消失。"习近平用中文回答说，会晤已经实现了许多东西，"最重要的是加强了我们的友谊，建立了一种符合中美关系和友谊的信任。"
The summit meeting bore similarities to President Barack Obama's meeting with Mr. Xi at the Sunnylands estate in Southern California in 2013, though it was shorter. Before lunch, Mr. Trump took Mr. Xi on a brief tour of the manicured grounds at Mar-a-Lago, gesturing to points of interest and the vista of the Atlantic Ocean beyond.	这次首脑会议和巴拉克·奥巴马总统2013年在加利福尼亚州南部"阳光之乡"(Sunnylands)庄园与习近平的会晤很相似，虽然这次的时间更短些。午餐前，特朗普带着习近平从马阿拉歌修剪整齐的草坪上走过，指点着有意思的地方和大西洋的远景，简短介绍了庄园。
On Friday morning, Mr. Trump's wife, Melania, and Mr. Xi's wife, Peng	周五上午，特朗普夫人梅拉尼娅和习近平夫人彭丽媛参观了一所以艺术、舞

Liyuan, visited a middle school that specializes in arts, dance, music and theater. They listened as 80 girls sang "Astonishing," a song about the empowerment of women. On Thursday evening, Mr. Trump's granddaughter Arabella sang in Mandarin to the two couples, and her brother Joseph greeted them.	蹈、音乐和戏剧为专长的中学。她们听了 80 名女学生演唱的名为 Astonishing 的歌曲，这是一首关于赋予女性权力的歌曲。周四晚，特朗普的外孙女阿拉贝拉(Arabella)用普通话给特朗普夫妇和习近平夫妇表演了歌曲，她的弟弟约瑟夫(Joseph)迎接了他们。
The two sides also agreed to create a new high-level dialogue, led by Mr. Trump and Mr. Xi, to discuss issues ranging from diplomacy and security to economics and social problems. On Friday morning, Mr. Trump's top advisers kicked off the dialogue, meeting for breakfast with their Chinese counterparts at two tables on the patio at Mar-a-Lago.	双方还同意开展以特朗普和习近平为首的新高层对话，讨论从外交与安全到经济与社会等问题。周五一大早，特朗普最高级别的顾问与他们的中国同行在马阿拉歌院子里的两张桌子上共进早餐，开始了双边对话。
In addition to Mr. Xi and his wife, the Chinese delegation included four members of the Politburo — a rare turnout of Communist Party brass to an American summit meeting. Mr. Xi invited Mr. Trump to visit China in 2017, and the president accepted, though Mr. Tillerson said he would have to consult a calendar to see if it could happen this year.	中国代表团除了习近平和夫人外，还包括四名政治局委员，这么多名共产党高层人员出席这次美国的首脑会议颇为罕见。习近平邀请特朗普于 2017 年访问中国，总统接受了邀请。但蒂勒森说，他仍需要查看今年的日程安排，看看是否有时间。
Reading from a White House statement, Mr. Tillerson said the United States sought a relationship with China based on "mutual interest." That is one of several phrases that the Chinese government frequently uses, and it can be interpreted to mean deferring to Beijing's interests on delicate issues like Taiwan, Tibet or the South China Sea.	蒂勒森在宣读白宫发表的声明时说，美国在“共同利益”的基础上寻求与中国的关系。“共同利益”是中国政府常用的几个词之一，一种可能的解释是，在台湾、西藏或南海等需要小心处理的问题上，遵从中国的利益。
American officials said the Chinese had pushed for the United States to use several other phrases in the statement, including "win-win solutions," which Mr. Tillerson used during a visit to China last month and for which he was criticized by China experts. The Chinese also pushed to issue a joint statement, which the Trump administration	美国官员说，中国人曾想让美国在声明中使用其他词汇，包括“合作共赢”，蒂勒森上个月访华时曾使用这个说法，受到中国问题专家的批评。中国人也曾推动双方发表一项联合声明，但特朗普政府拒绝了 this 建议。 rejected.

Mr. Tillerson did not say whether Mr. Trump had pressed Mr. Xi on specific human rights issues.	蒂勒森没有说特朗普是否在具体的人权问题上向习近平施压。
"I don't think you have to have a separate conversation, somehow separate our core values around human rights from our economic discussions, our military-to-military discussions or our foreign policy discussions," he said. "They're really embedded in every discussion."	"我不觉得需要进行单独的讨论，将我们围绕人权问题的核心价值，与我们关于经济、军事、或外交政策的讨论以某种方式区分开来，"蒂勒森说。"它们其实贯穿在每个讨论之中。"
Perhaps the greatest difference between this meeting and the ones Mr. Xi held with Mr. Obama had to do with the environment, a major area of cooperation between the two countries during the previous administration. Mr. Trump has made it clear that climate change is no longer a priority for the United States, and the Chinese appeared to drop it from the agenda as well.	也许，这次会晤与习近平和奥巴马几次见面的最大不同之处在环境问题上。特朗普已明确表示，气候变化不再是美国的首要问题，中国看来也没有把环境问题放在这次议程上。
"That was not a major part of the discussion," Mr. Ross said, "nor do I recall the Chinese specifically raising it."	"那不是讨论的主要部分，"罗斯说，"我也不记得中国人明确提出了这个问题。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170410/airstrike-in-syria-overshadows-meeting-between-trump-and-xi	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170410/airstrike-in-syria-overshadows-meeting-between-trump-and-xi
Trump Recycles Overstated Campaign Claims About China and Trade	关于中美贸易，特朗普的话有几分真实？
WASHINGTON — Even days before he was scheduled to meet with President Xi Jinping of China, President Trump had yet to abandon his exaggerated election rhetoric on China and trade.	华盛顿——就在与中国主席习近平会晤的数日之前，特朗普总统仍未放弃在中国和贸易问题上的竞选说辞。
Mr. Trump "is still in the raucous campaign mode," said James Zimmerman, former chairman of the American Chamber of Commerce in China. "Raising issues such as currency manipulation and the size of the trade deficit may play well to the underinformed base, but not to	特朗普"仍处在呱噪的竞选模式下"，中国美国商会前主席吉莫曼(James Zimmerman)说。"他拿货币操纵和贸易逆差说事，对于消息不灵通的选民可能有些作用，但对那些清楚情况的人就不行了。" those that understand the issues.”

Here’s an assessment of claims Mr. Trump has made about China and trade since his inauguration.	以下就是自从特朗普就职以来，他对中国和贸易的看法。
Mr. Trump claimed on Sunday a $500 billion trade deficit with China.	特朗普周日声称美国对华贸易有 5000 亿美元的逆差。
“We have to do better because our deficit with China, as you know – $504 billion. That’s a year.”	“我们得做得更好，因为就像你知道的那样，我们对华贸易赤字达到了 5040 亿美元。那还仅仅是一年的量。”
This is exaggerated. The United States imported about $463 billion in goods from China in 2016, but it also exported about $116 billion worth.	这夸大了事实。美国 2016 年从中国进口大约 4630 亿美元的东西，但也出口了约 1160 亿美元的东西。
That’s an overall goods deficit of about $347 billion in 2016, in addition to a services surplus of about $37 billion, according to the Bureau of Economic Analysis, for an overall deficit of $310 billion.	经济分析局的资料显示，2016 年全年产品赤字约为 3450 亿美元，而服务盈余约 370 亿美元，因此整体赤字为 3100 亿美元。
For context, the difference in the actual goods deficit and what Mr. Trump claimed – $157 billion – is larger than the entire economy of Hungary.	比较一下，实际商品赤字和特朗普所说的数字相差 1570 亿美元，这比匈牙利整体经济规模还庞大。
Mr. Trump also characterized China as the world champion of currency devaluation.	特朗普还把中国说成是货币贬值的世界冠军。
“You know when you talk about, when you talk about currency manipulation, when you talk about devaluations, they are world champions.”	“你知道，当谈到操纵货币，谈到贬值，他们就是世界冠军。”
This is misleading. Mr. Trump’s claim would have been more accurate a few years ago. China did keep its currency, the renminbi, artificially cheap at one point, but now faces the opposite problem.	这有误导性。若是放在几年前，特朗普的说法要准确得多。当时中国确实在操纵货币，人民币一度被人为维持在较低价位，但现在问题反过来了。
As China’s economic growth slowed, so did the flow of capital into the country – and the value of its currency dropped. In recent years, China has taken to selling dollars to keep its currency from depreciating more.	随着中国经济增长放缓，资本流入该国速度放缓，人民币的价值在下滑。近年来，中国已经在卖掉美元，防止人民币进一步贬值。

Under current United States law, the Treasury Department will specifically monitor a country's currency if it meets three criteria: a large trade surplus, a material current account surplus (meaning the country is a net lender) and "persistent one-sided intervention in the foreign exchange market." As of October 2016, China met the first two criteria, but not the third.	根据美国现有法律，一个国家的货币若是符合三个标准，财政部就会对其进行专门监测。这三个标准是：大量贸易顺差、明显的国际收支经常项目顺差（意为该国是净贷款人）和“持续单向地干预外汇市场”。到2016年10月，中国符合前两条，但不符合第三条。
Mr. Trump has blamed China and other countries for job losses in the United States.	特朗普指责中国和其他国家导致美国人失业。
"The field has not been a level field. Jobs have been leaving our country, going to China and Mexico and lots of other places, and you'll be seeing what's happening over the next few weeks. It should be very interesting for you to watch."	"这个领域还没有实现公平。工作岗位已经从我们国家流失，转移到了中国和墨西哥等很多地方，你会在接下来几个星期看到发生了什么事。你们会看到非常有趣的事情。"
This needs context. Like Mr. Trump's criticism of currency manipulation, this talking point about China's impact on jobs is outdated. While Mr. Trump does broaden his claim to "other countries," he also ignores a huge driver in the shift in the labor market: automation in the United States.	这需要看上下文。就像特朗普批评中国操纵货币一样，中国影响到美国工作岗位的说法也已经过时。虽然特朗普还提到了“其他国家”，但他忽视了劳动力市场转型的巨大动力：美国的自动化进程。
Independent studies have found that Chinese imports have cost the United States jobs; one analysis pinned the number to at least two million from 1999 to 2011. But rising wages and costs mean that China is currently facing more competition from other Asian countries and may be losing jobs to them.	一些独立研究发现，中国进口的商品确实导致了美国工作岗位减少。一项分析称，从1999年至2011年，这个数字至少为200万。但是，工资和成本上涨也意味着中国目前正面临来自其他亚洲国家的更多竞争，中国的工作岗位可能也会流失到这些国家。
Productivity gains have also displaced jobs and according to other research are a much bigger factor than trade with China. A study from Ball State University found that out of about 5.6 million manufacturing	其他研究显示，生产力提高也是导致工作岗位减少的一个因素，而且是比美中贸易远远更重大的一个因素。来自鲍尔州立大学(Ball State University)的一项分析认为，从2000年到2010年制造业失去的大约560万个工作岗位

jobs lost from 2000 to 2010, 13.4 percent of those losses were due to trade and 87.8 percent because of technological advances.	中, 13.4%要归结于贸易亏损, 87.8%归结于技术进步。
Mr. Trump blamed China's entry into the World Trade Organization for the U.S. manufacturing decline.	特朗普说, 是中国加入世界贸易组织, 导致了美国制造业的下滑。
"Since China joined, that's another beauty, the World Trade Organization in 2001, the United States has lost many more than 60,000 factories."	"这又是另一个好事了, 自从中国 2001 年加入世界贸易组织之后, 美国的工厂已经减少了 6 万多家。"
True, but ... Mr. Trump has repeated this statistic at rallies before and after his election. While his figure is accurate, there's debate around the implied causal link.	这倒是真的, 但是.....特朗普在选举之前和之后, 都在集会上再三提到这个统计数字。虽然他的数字是准确的, 但其隐含的因果关系存在着争议。
Census Bureau data does show that the number of manufacturing establishments decreased by more than 70,000 from 2001 to 2014. But economists disagree on how much of this is because of China's entry, with some pointing again to automation as a driver.	美国人口普查局(Census Bureau)的数据显示, 从 2001 年到 2014 年, 制造业机构的数量确实减少了 7 万多个。但是经济学家不同意这是中国加入世贸组织造成的, 有些人指出, 自动化进程也在其中发挥了作用。
The manufacturing decline in the United States is also in line with changes in Western Europe and Japan, the Congressional Research Service pointed out in a January report. The report also notes that the United States "appears to have outperformed many other wealthy countries in the growth of manufacturing value added in recent years."	美国国会研究服务局(United States Congressional Research Service)在今年 1 月份的报告中指出, 美国制造业下滑和西欧、日本的变化是一致的。报告还指出, "从制造附加值来说", 美国"近年来的增长似乎超过很多富裕国家"。
Mr. Trump has characterized importing into the Chinese market as 'impossible.'	特朗普说, 把美国产品出口到中国市场是"不可能的"。
"So we take in things free, and yet, if you want to take a plant or you want to do something, you want to sell something into China and other countries, it's very, very hard. In some cases, it's impossible. They won't even take your product."	"所以我们敞开接受他们的东西, 但是如果你想建一个厂, 或者想要做什么事, 你想把东西卖给中国和其他国家, 这就非常非常困难了。在某些情况下, 这是不可能的。他们甚至不会接受你的产品。"

This is exaggerated. Mr. Trump spoke of import taxes China levied on the United States in a March 2016 interview with The Times, but overstated the scope of these duties.	这夸大了事实。特朗普 2016 年 3 月在接受《纽约时报》采访时谈到对中国对美国征收进口税，但夸大了征税规模。
The United States does charge an average tariff of 3.5 percent. That's lower than China's average tariff of 9.9 percent, but on par with rates in other developed countries like Australia, Japan, Canada and the European Union.	美国的平均关税是 3.5%。这比中国的平均关税 9.9% 低，但与澳大利亚、日本、加拿大等其他发达国家以及欧盟的税率差不多。
Some 160 countries, including China, also charge a steep value-added tax on domestic and foreign products alike. But these costs are largely shouldered by consumers.	包括中国在内的约 160 个国家对本国和进口商品都征收高额的增值税。但这种成本在很大程度上由消费者承担的。
Both China and the United States have placed blanket bans on certain imports (for example, bald eagles in the United States), but none that target only each other, according to the W.T.O's database on import restrictions, though China does limit imports on American-made movies and other media and genetically modified agricultural products.	中国和美国都对某些进口（例如美国的白头鹰）实施了全面禁令，但是从世贸组织的进口限制数据库来看，中国和美国并没有什么限制是专门针对对方的，尽管中国确实对美国电影、其他媒体和转基因农产品有一些限制。
"But over all, since China joined W.T.O. in 2001, more and more American goods and services are allowed into the country without significant restrictions," Mr. Zimmerman said.	"从总体来看，自从中国 2001 年加入世贸组织，就有越来越多的美国商品和服务获许进入该国，没有什么明显的限制，"吉莫曼说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170410/fact-check-trump-china-trade Trump's Shift on Russia Brings Geopolitical Whiplash	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170410/fact-check-trump-china-trade 美俄关系急转直下，华盛顿面临新冷战？
WASHINGTON — A week ago, President Trump was accused of being a tool for the Russians, an unwitting agent of influence, so full of admiration that he defended President Vladimir V. Putin against critics who called him a killer.	华盛顿——一周之前，特朗普总统还被人指责为俄罗斯的工具，是不自知的俄罗斯影响力代理人，而且还维护被批评者称为杀人犯的普京，对其充满了钦佩之情。
Now, Mr. Trump is in a diplomatic clash with Mr. Putin's Russia, his	现在，特朗普与普京治下的俄罗斯处在了外交冲突之中，特朗普政府指责莫

administration accusing Moscow of trying to cover up a Syrian chemical weapons attack on civilians and his secretary of state delivering us-or-them ultimatums.	斯科试图掩盖叙利亚对平民的化武袭击，他的国务卿下达了“选我们还是选他们”的最后通牒。
Even in a presidency marked by unpredictability, the head-spinning shift from coziness to confrontation has left Washington and other capitals with a case of geopolitical whiplash. The prospects of improving Russian-American relations were already slim given the atmosphere of suspicion stemming from Kremlin meddling in last year's election, but the détente once envisioned by Mr. Trump has instead deteriorated into the latest cold war.	即便是在一个以不可预测为特征的总统任期内，从温馨关系到对抗的转折也陡然得令人头晕，这已经令华盛顿和其他国家的政府遭受到了地缘政治的无情打击。虽然克里姆林宫干预去年美国大选引发的怀疑气氛已经令改善俄美关系的前景变得黯淡，但特朗普曾经设想过的关系缓和竟然恶化成了最新的冷战。
For Mr. Trump's camp, the abrupt turnaround simply proved how false the conspiracy narrative was from the start. "If there was anything that Syria did, it was to validate the fact that there is no Russia tie," said Eric Trump, the president's son.	对于特朗普阵营来说，这种突然转向只是证明了阴谋论说法从一开始就是非常错误的。总统的儿子埃里克·特朗普(Eric Trump)说，“如果叙利亚这事儿起到了什么作用，那就是证明了我们的竞选班底和俄罗斯没有关系。”
For some critics, it seemed to be a cynical way of distracting attention from the multiple investigations into possible contacts between associates of Mr. Trump and Russia even as Moscow was trying to help Mr. Trump win the presidency.	在一些批评者看来，这似乎也是一种让人起疑的方式，用来分散人们对特朗普的助手和俄罗斯之间可能存在联系的多个调查的关注，当时莫斯科试图帮助特朗普赢得总统位置。
Either way, it suggested that the relationship between the two powers could be volatile in the months to come, subject to the impulsive reactions of a president with no prior experience in foreign policy, the often strident responses of a Russian leader given to his own moments of pique and the clashing national interests of both countries in key areas around the world.	无论如何，这表明两国之间的关系在未来几个月可能会出现波动，特朗普在外交政策上没有任何经验，行事冲动，而普京出于怒火，也出于两国在全球重点地区的国家利益冲突，常常做出尖锐的回应。
"I was skeptical from the beginning that it would be possible for the	目前在乔治城大学工作、专注俄罗斯问题的前美国情报人员安吉拉·斯坦特

United States and Russia, after all that happened in the last few years, to engage in a successful reset," said Angela Stent, a former national intelligence officer on Russia now at Georgetown University. "What's surprising is how quickly we returned to the status quo ante we had at the end of the Obama administration."	(Angela Stent)表示：“从一开始，我就怀疑，经历了过去几年的事情之后，美国和俄罗斯之间的关系是否真地能够重置。令人惊讶的是，我们竟然这么快就回到了奥巴马政府末期的状态。”
John R. Beyrle, a former ambassador to Moscow, said the extremes of the relationship were being exaggerated and it would probably settle back into the middle. "Levels of trust have deteriorated so much that these initial meetings will produce little in the way of agreements and the investigations into likely Russian interference in the election cast a huge shadow that both sides need to acknowledge," he said.	前美国驻莫斯科大使约翰·贝尔勒(John R. Beyrle)说，这种关系极端化情况遭到人为夸大，它可能会恢复到中间状态。他表示：“信任水平已经大大恶化，最初的一些会面几乎不会达成协议，调查俄罗斯可能干预美国总统选举的事情可能会投下巨大阴影，这一点双方都需要认识到。”
Mr. Trump is the fourth president in a row who came into office determined to reboot the relationship with Moscow, an ambition that often eluded the other three. The difference is that the hacking of Democratic email during last year's election, for which intelligence agencies blamed Russia, made Mr. Trump's embrace of Mr. Putin politically problematic.	特朗普是连续第四任在上任时决心重新启动与莫斯科关系的总统，这个抱负让其他三位知难而退。所不同的是，由于情报机构把去年选举中民主党邮件被黑事件归咎于俄罗斯，因此特朗普拥抱普京会引发政治问题。
His willingness to overlook Russia's annexation of Crimea, its armed intervention in eastern Ukraine and, until now, its support for President Bashar al-Assad's government in Syria mystified many experts. He called Mr. Putin "a stronger leader" than President Barack Obama, praised him for "doing a great job" and expressed hope that he would be "my new best friend." Michael Morell, a former acting C.I.A. director, wrote last fall that Mr. Trump seemed to be an "unwitting agent of influence" for Moscow.	特朗普愿意无视俄罗斯吞并克里米亚、对乌克兰东部的武装干涉，以及直到现在其对叙利亚阿萨德政府的支持，这让很多专家感到困惑不解。特朗普说普京是比奥巴马总统“更有力”的领导人，并称赞他“做得很好”，表示希望他能成为“我最好的朋友”。前 CIA 代理局长迈克尔·莫雷尔(Michael Morell)去年秋天写道，特朗普似乎是莫斯科影响力“不自知的代理人”。

By Tuesday, after Mr. Trump ordered a missile strike against Syria in retaliation for using chemical weapons on its own people, Secretary of State Rex W. Tillerson arrived in Moscow with a harsh warning that Russia had better give up its support of Mr. Assad. He was greeted with a cold shoulder, denied a meeting with Mr. Putin as no secretary of state has been on a first visit to Moscow going back to the days of Cordell Hull in World War II. Back in Washington, the White House held a briefing accusing Russia of shielding Syria's chemical weapons attack on civilians.	周二, 在特朗普下令对叙利亚进行导弹袭击以报复他们对人民使用化学武器后, 国务卿雷克斯·蒂勒森(Rex Tillerson)带着俄罗斯最好放弃支持阿萨德的强烈警告抵达莫斯科。结果他受到冷遇, 想与普京会晤遭拒, 自第二次世界大战科德尔·赫尔(Cordell Hull)时期以来, 还没有哪个国务卿第一次访问莫斯科遭到这种对待。而在华盛顿, 白宫在吹风会上指责俄方袒护叙利亚对平民实施化学武器袭击。
The Russians have responded with harsh language of their own. On Tuesday, Mr. Putin compared Mr. Trump's action in Syria to President George W. Bush's invasion of Iraq in 2003. And Prime Minister Dmitri A. Medvedev suggested that Mr. Trump has turned out not to be what he presented himself to be during last year's campaign.	俄罗斯人用尖锐的言辞做出了回应。普京周二将特朗普在叙利亚的行动与2003年小布什入侵伊拉克相提并论。总理梅德韦杰夫则表示, 特朗普不是他在去年竞选期间表现出来的那种人。
"That's it," he wrote on Facebook last week. "The last remaining election fog has lifted." In the end, he said, Mr. Trump was "broken by the existing power machine" in Washington.	"就是这样," 他上周在 Facebook 上写道。"剩下的最后一个选举迷雾已经揭开了。"最后他说, 特朗普"被华盛顿现有的权力机制打败了"。
Mr. Morell said on Tuesday that despite calling Mr. Trump a virtual Russian agent, he always believed Russian behavior would lead to a parting of the ways. "This seems to be happening now," he said. But he noted that Mr. Trump has left it to Mr. Tillerson and others rather than speaking out himself.	莫雷尔周二称, 尽管自己称特朗普是俄罗斯事实上的代理人, 但他一直相信, 俄罗斯的行为会导致双方分道扬镳。"现在这一幕似乎正在上演," 他说。但他指出, 特朗普把事情丢给了蒂勒森和其他人, 而不是亲自发声。
"He needs to do that, and he needs to be critical of the large number of other aggressive actions that Putin has undertaken over the past two years," Mr. Morell said.	"他需要这么做, 需要对普京在过去两年里采取的大量其他咄咄逼人的行动持批评态度," 莫雷尔说。

Aides to Mr. Trump have been frustrated at the focus on the Russia investigations and the assumptions that the president's associates did something wrong even though several officials have said no evidence has emerged that proves collusion with Russia. They blame the media for creating a false narrative that they see as now disproved. How, they ask, could Mr. Trump's team have made secret deals with Russia if his own secretary of state cannot even get a meeting?	特朗普的幕僚对于把焦点放在涉及俄罗斯的调查上,以及尽管几名官员已表示没有证据证明与俄罗斯共谋,但仍有人认为总统的亲信做错了事感到不满。他们指责媒体制造了一种他们认为现在已经证明是虚假的错误叙事。他们质疑,如果国务卿都见不到普京,特朗普的团队如何能同俄罗斯达成秘密交易?
"It's interesting that we went from all of these direct links to Russia to now are we disappointed that we can't even get a meeting with him," Sean Spicer, the White House press secretary. "There is a bit of irony in the question."	"有意思的是,从一开始是所有这些与俄罗斯的直接联系,到现在是失望地得知我们甚至连他的面都见不着,"白宫发言人肖恩·斯派塞(Sean Spicer)说。"这个问题有点讽刺。"
The back-and-forth over Russia left lawmakers trying to make sense of it.	围绕俄罗斯问题的反复促使国会议员试图把事情弄清楚。
"It speaks to the broader incoherence of this administration's foreign policy," said Senator Chris Murphy, Democrat of Connecticut. "The change in rhetoric on Russia is head-spinning. I'm glad to see it and I hope it continues, but so far the only thing we know about this administration's foreign policy is that it will probably change in a week or two."	"它证明了本届政府的外交政策整体上不连贯,"康涅狄格州民主党参议员克里斯·墨菲(Chris Murphy)说。"有关俄罗斯的言辞发生的变化令人晕头转向。看到这里我很高兴,我希望它能继续下去,但迄今为止,关于本届政府的外交政策,我们只知道它可能会在一两周后发生变化。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170413/assess-trump-russia-ties	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170413/assess-trump-russia-ties
Trump Says It's Likely Russia Knew of Syrian Gas Attack in Advance	特朗普宣布美俄关系处于"历史最低点"
WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump said on Wednesday that Russia likely knew of the Syrian government's plan to gas its own people in advance of a chemical weapons attack last week in northwestern Syria, asserting that U.S. relations with Moscow were at	华盛顿——特朗普总统周三表示,在叙利亚政府上周在该国西北部发起化武袭击之前,俄罗斯可能就已经知晓他们对人民施放毒气的计划,并声称美国与莫斯科的关系处于"历史最低点"。 an "all-time low."

Asked whether it was possible that Syrian forces could have launched the chemical attack without Russia's knowledge, Trump said: "It's certainly possible; I think it's probably unlikely."	在被问及叙利亚部队是否可能在俄罗斯不知道的情况下发动化武袭击的时候，特朗普说：“这当然是可能的；我认为可能性不大。”
"I would like to think that they didn't know, but certainly they could have. They were there," Trump said of the Russians during a news conference at the White House with Jens Stoltenberg, secretary-general of NATO.	“我倒是愿意他们不知道，但肯定他们可能是知道的。他们就在那里，”特朗普与北约秘书长延斯·斯托尔滕贝格(Jens Stoltenberg)在白宫举行的新闻发布会上提到俄罗斯人时说道。
The remarks amounted to an explosive suggestion at a time of heightened tension between the United States and Russia after the chemical attack, which was followed by U.S. missile strikes on the airfield in Syria from which it was launched.	特朗普发表此番爆炸性言论，正值美俄紧张关系在化武袭击之后加剧之际，之前，美国向涉及这次袭击的叙利亚机场发射了导弹。
The remarks were the latest evidence of Trump's turnabout on President Vladimir Putin of Russia, a leader he praised during the presidential campaign but has now moved to isolate since the Syrian chemical weapons attack.	这个言论是特朗普对俄罗斯总统普京的态度发生转弯的最新证据，竞选期间特朗普对普京赞赏有加，但自叙利亚化武袭击发生以来，他现在变得疏远普京。
Trump also made a stark reversal on NATO, which he derided as obsolete during his bid for the White House, but said Wednesday had transformed into an effective alliance since he took office.	特朗普对北约的态度也出现了明显的逆转，他在争取入主白宫期间嘲笑北约过时，但周三却说，自他上任以来，北约已经变成了一个能办事的联盟。
Trump attributed his change of heart to unspecified transformations within NATO that he said were a direct response to criticism he had leveled that the alliance was not doing enough to combat terrorism.	特朗普将态度上的改变归功于北约内部的转变，但没有具体说是哪些内容，只是说转变是对他批评北约打击恐怖主义不力的直接回应。
"I complained a long time about that," Trump said, "and they changed."	“我抱怨很长时间了，”特朗普说，“他们做出了改变。”
It was not clear what the president was referring to; NATO forces have been fighting alongside the United States in Afghanistan for more than	特朗普指的是什么并不清楚；但北约部队十多年来一直与美国在阿富汗战斗，重点是打击包括塔利班在内的恐怖主义集团。

a decade, an effort focused on combating terrorist groups including the Taliban.
His comments came hours after a senior White House official said the Trump administration had supported the admission of Montenegro into NATO in part to counter the influence of Russia in the small Balkan nation. Speaking on the condition of anonymity, the official cited "credible reports" that Moscow backed a plot for a violent election day attack there last fall.	在他发表这番言论的数小时前，白宫一位高级官员说，特朗普政府支持黑山加入北约，以抵制俄罗斯在这个巴尔干小国的影响。这位官员不愿具名，但表示这个消息来自一些“可信的报告”，它们显示莫斯科是黑山去年秋天选举日一个暴力袭击计划的幕后黑手。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170413/trump-russia-syria	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170413/trump-russia-syria
Wounded by 'Fearless Girl,' Creator of 'Charging Bull' Wants Her to Move	“华尔街公牛”想要赶走“无畏的女孩”
NEW YORK — “Charging Bull” had a message for “Fearless Girl” on Wednesday, and it was more “Get out of my space” than “Here’s looking at you, kid.”	纽约——周三，《华尔街公牛》(Charging Bull)给《无畏的女孩》(Fearless Girl)发出了一个讯息。这个讯息的内容与其说是“敬你，孩子”，不如说是“给我让开”。
The message actually came from Arturo Di Modica, the sculptor who created “Charging Bull” nearly 30 years ago. He also copyrighted and trademarked the 3-1/2-ton sculpture that stands near Wall Street. Since March 7, “Charging Bull” has faced off against “Fearless Girl,” a statue of a girl posed with her fists on her hips that was commissioned by State Street Global Advisors, a financial firm based in Boston.	这个讯息实际上是雕塑家亚托罗·迪·莫迪卡(Arturo Di Modica)发出的。他在近30年前创作了《华尔街公牛》这件作品，并拥有这尊位于华尔街附近，重达3.5吨的雕塑的版权和商标权。自3月7日以来，《华尔街公牛》一直与《无畏的女孩》对峙。后者是一尊一个小女孩双手叉腰的雕塑，由总部设在波士顿的金融公司道富环球投资(State Street Global Advisors)委约创作。
Di Modica said “Fearless Girl” was an insult to his work, which he created after the stock market crashes in the late 1980s. “She’s there attacking the bull,” he said.	迪·莫迪卡称，《无畏的女孩》是对自己作品的侮辱。《华尔街公牛》是他在80年代末股市崩盘后创作的。“她是在攻击公牛，”他说。
Even as Di Modica was denouncing “Fearless Girl” at a news conference in Midtown Manhattan, South Street Global’s home page highlighted	就在迪·莫迪卡于曼哈顿中城的新闻发布会上谴责《无畏的女孩》时，道富环球投资的主页还把该雕塑放在突出的位置，因为它传递了有关“女性的领导

the statue for its message about "the power of women in leadership" and urged "greater gender diversity on corporate boards."	力量"的讯息，并呼吁"增加董事会的性别多样性"。
Di Modica and his lawyers did not disagree with that idea at a news conference — "None of us here are in any way not proponents of gender equality," said one of Di Modica's lawyers, Norman Siegel, a former executive director of the New York Civil Liberties Union. They demanded that "Fearless Girl" be moved somewhere else.	在新闻发布会上，迪·莫迪卡和他的律师并不反对这个观点。"我们谁都不反对性别平等，"迪·莫迪卡的律师之一、前纽约公民自由联盟(New York Civil Liberties Union)负责人诺曼·西格尔(Norman Siegel)说。他们要求将《无畏的女孩》移至其他地方。
Mayor Bill de Blasio, who spoke out in support of "Fearless Girl" last month, reiterated its importance on Twitter on Wednesday: "Men who don't like women taking up space are exactly why we need the Fearless Girl."	周三，曾在上月发声支持《无畏的女孩》的纽约市长白思豪(Bill de Blasio)在 Twitter 上重申了它的重要性："不喜欢女性占用空间的男性，正是我们需要《无畏的女孩》的原因。"
"Fearless Girl" was seen by many as a unifying symbol during International Women's Day last month. Chelsea Clinton and actress Jessica Chastain posted on Twitter expressing support for the statue.	在上月的国际妇女节期间，很多人认为《无畏的女孩》是一个统一标志。切尔西·克林顿(Chelsea Clinton)和演员杰西卡·查斯坦(Jessica Chastain)都曾在 Twitter 上发帖表示对该雕塑的支持。
But Wednesday, Siegel said, "Principle trumps popularity, and there are principles here."	但西格尔周三说，"原则高于受欢迎，这里涉及多项原则。"
For his part, Di Modica became emotional, explaining later that when he had heard about "Fearless Girl," his reaction was to go to the site in Lower Manhattan and try to do something to end the faceoff between the two statues. "I said, 'Now I'm going to turn around the bull myself,'" he recalled.	迪·莫迪卡变得情绪激动。他后来解释说，听说《无畏的女孩》时，他的反应是去位于曼哈顿下城的现场，尝试做点什么，以便结束两尊雕塑之间的对峙。"我说，'现在我要自己去让公牛转个身，'"他回忆说。
The lawyers said that "Fearless Girl" had subverted the bull's meaning, which Di Modica defined as "freedom in the world, peace, strength, power and love."	律师称《无畏的女孩》颠覆了公牛的意义。迪·莫迪卡把公牛的意义定义为"世界上的自由、和平、坚强、力量和爱"。
Because of "Fearless Girl," Siegel said, "Charging Bull" no longer carries a	因为《无畏的女孩》，西格尔说，"《华尔街公牛》传递的不再是积极、乐观

positive, optimistic message,” adding that Di Modica’s work “has been transformed into a negative force and a threat.”	的讯息”。他接着表示，迪·莫迪卡的作品“被人变成了一种负面力量和威胁”。
The lawyers accused State Street Global of commissioning “Fearless Girl” as a site-specific work that was conceived with “Charging Bull” in mind. They said that that had improperly commercialized Di Modica’s statue in violation of its copyright. They asserted that the city had violated his legal rights by issuing permits allowing the 4-foot-tall “Fearless Girl” to stand across from the 11-foot bronze bull without Di Modica’s permission.	律师指责道富环球投资是把《无畏的女孩》作为一件摆放在特定场所、构思时便想到《华尔街公牛》的作品进行委约的。他们表示这是对迪·莫迪卡的雕塑不正当的商业化，侵犯了它的版权。他们还声称纽约市未经迪·莫迪卡的允许就签发许可证，允许4英尺（约合1.2米）高的《无畏的女孩》摆放在11英尺（约合3米）高的铜牛对面，侵犯了他的合法权利。
Siegel and other lawyers for Di Modica released letters they had sent to the mayor; Ronald P. O’Hanley, the president and chief executive of State Street Global; and Harris Diamond, the chairman and chief executive of McCann Worldgroup, State Street Global’s marketing agency. Among other things, the letters demanded the removal of “Fearless Girl.”	西格尔和迪·莫迪卡的其他律师发布了一封信，已经寄给了市长、道富环球公司(State Street Global)总裁兼首席执行官罗纳德·P·奥汉利(Ronald P. O’Hanley)以及该公司营销机构麦肯国际集团(McCann Worldgroup)董事长兼首席执行官哈里斯·戴蒙德(Harris Diamond)。信件提出了移除《无畏的女孩》等要求。
Anne McNally, a spokeswoman for State Street Global, said the firm was reviewing the letter. She added, “We continue to be grateful to the city of New York and people around the world who have responded so enthusiastically to what the ‘Fearless Girl’ represents – the power and potential of having more women in leadership.”	道富环球公司的发言人安妮·麦克纳利(Anne McNally)表示，该公司正在研究这封信。她说：“我们继续感谢纽约市和世界各地的人们，他们对《无畏的女孩》所代表的含义——让更多女性成为领导者的力量和潜力——有如此热烈的回应。”
Siegel said he had filed Freedom of Information requests for city records about the permits for “Fearless Girl.” It was initially issued a one-week permit, but after it became a social media sensation, de Blasio announced that the permit was being extended. The mayor said that the sculpture could remain until next year’s International Women’s	西格尔说，他为了获得《无畏的女孩》的城市安放许可证，提交了自由信息(Freedom of Information)申请。这件雕塑最初获得的许可证期限为一个星期，但在社交媒体上引起轰动之后，白思豪宣布对许可证延期。市长说，雕像可以留到明年的国际妇女节。

Day.
In March, the mayor called the statue a symbol of “standing up to fear, standing up to power, being able to find in yourself the strength to do what’s right.” He also said the timing of the placement of “Fearless Girl” mattered, coming early in Donald Trump’s presidency and not long after the women’s rights marches that followed his inauguration. “She is inspiring everyone at a moment when we need inspiration,” the mayor said.	3月份，市长称这座雕像代表的是“敢于面对恐惧，面对权贵，可以找到自身的力量去做正确的事情”，他还说，安置《无畏的女孩》的时机是很重要的——在唐纳德·特朗普就任总统之初，就职仪式后的妇女权利游行之后不久。市长说：“当我们需要灵感的时候，她给大家带来启迪。”
Siegel said he hoped that the dispute over the two statues could be resolved amicably. But he added, “We never dismiss the possibility of litigation.”	西格尔说，他希望两个雕像的争端能够友善地解决。但他也说：“我们从不排除诉讼的可能性。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170414/bull-girl-sculptor	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170414/bull-girl-sculptor
Erdogan Claims Vast New Powers After Narrow Victory in Turkish Referendum	土耳其修宪公投终结议会制，总统将扩权
ISTANBUL — A slim majority of Turkish voters agreed on Sunday to grant sweeping powers to their president, in a watershed moment that the country’s opposition fears may cement a system of authoritarian rule within one of the critical power brokers of the Middle East.	伊斯坦布尔——周日，土耳其选民以微弱多数同意赋予他们的总统广泛权力，这堪称一个分水岭时刻，该国反对党担心此举可能会巩固中东最关键的权力掮客国家的独裁统治制度。
With nearly 99 percent of votes in a referendum counted on Sunday night, supporters of the proposal had 51.3 percent of votes cast, and opponents had 48.7 percent, the country’s electoral commission announced.	土耳其选举委员会宣布，在周日晚近 99%的全民公投已清点票数中，这项提议的支持者占 51.3%，反对者占 48.7%。
The result will take days to confirm, and the main opposition party said it would demand a recount of about 37 percent of ballot boxes, containing around 2.5 million votes.	这个结果将需要数天时间进行确认。该国主要的反对党表示，需要对大约 37%的投票箱重新计票，其中包含约 250 万张选票。

But on Sunday night the result was already a political reality, as President Recep Tayyip Erdogan hailed his victory in front of a crowd of supporters in Istanbul. "We are enacting the most important governmental reform of our history," he said.	但是，当土耳其总统雷杰普·塔伊普·埃尔多安(Recep Tayyip Erdogan)在伊斯坦布尔面对一群支持者为自己的胜利欢呼时，周日晚上的计票结果已经变成了一种政治现实。“我们在实施本国历史上最重要的政府改革，”他说。
The constitutional change will allow the winner of the 2019 presidential election to assume full control of the government, ending the current parliamentary political system.	这次修宪将允许 2019 年总统大选的获胜者完全掌控政府，由此终结目前的议会政治制度。
The ramifications, however, are immediate. The "yes" vote in the referendum is a validation of the current leadership style of Erdogan, who has been acting as a de facto head of government since his election in 2014 despite having no constitutional right to wield such power. The office of Turkey's president was meant to be an impartial role without full executive authority.	然而，其后果却是即时的。公投中的“赞成”票是对埃尔多安目前的领导风格的一种认可——自 2014 年当选以来，他一直在扮演着事实上的政府领导者角色，尽管他并没有获得行使这种权力的宪法权利。土耳其总统办公室本该扮演一个没有完全行政权力的中立角色。
The result tightens Erdogan's grip on the country, which is one of the leading external actors in the Syrian civil war, a major way station along the migration routes to Europe and a crucial Middle Eastern partner of the United States and Russia.	这种结果加强了埃尔多安对土耳其的控制，这个国家是叙利亚内战主要的外部角色之一，是通往欧洲的移民路线上一个重要的中转站，也是美国和俄罗斯在中东一个关键的合作伙伴。
The opposition questioned the legitimacy of the referendum after the election board made a last-minute decision to increase the burden needed to prove accusations of ballot-box stuffing. At least three instances of alleged voter fraud appeared to be captured on camera.	在选举委员会于最后关头决定增加证明指控投伪造选票的难度后，反对党对公投的合法性表示质疑。镜头似乎至少捕捉到了三起据称是选票伪造行为的例子。
"We are receiving thousands of complaints on election fraud," said Erdal Aksunger, deputy head of the main opposition party, the Republican People's Party, known as the CHP. "We are evaluating them one by one."	“我们收到了数千个有关选举造假的投诉，”主要的反对党共和人民党（Republican People's Party，简称 DHP）的副主席埃达尔·阿克松格(Erdal Aksunger)说。“我们在一个个地对它们进行评估。”

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170417/turkey-referendum-polls-erdogan	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170417/turkey-referendum-polls-erdogan
Prince Harry Says He Sought Counseling Over His Mother's Death	哈里王子剖白丧母之痛：多次濒临全面崩溃
LONDON — Prince Harry has said in a new interview that he suffered for years after the death of his mother, Princess Diana, before finally getting help about three years ago at the urging of his elder brother, Prince William.	伦敦——哈里王子(Prince Harry)在近日一次采访中说，母亲戴安娜王妃(Princess Diana)去世后，他曾忍受多年的痛苦，还是在哥哥威廉王子(Prince William)的敦促下，三年前终于开始寻求帮助。
The candid statement by the prince, in a podcast released Monday by The Daily Telegraph, is the latest indication of a shift within the British monarchy toward greater openness, led by a younger generation. The two princes, along with William's wife, the Duchess of Cambridge, are leading a campaign called Heads Together to end stigma around mental illness.	哈里王子在《每日电讯报》(The Daily Telegraph)周一发布的一个播客里开诚布公，这是年轻一代引领的英国君主制进一步转向开放的一个最新迹象。两位王子和威廉的妻子剑桥公爵夫人正在领导一个名为 Heads Together 的运动，希望为精神疾病洗脱污名。
Harry, 32, said that not dealing with the trauma had contributed to years of "total chaos" in his late 20s.	现年 32 岁的哈里说，他在接近 30 岁的时候有好几年处在“完全的混乱”中，一个原因就是没有处理丧母导致的心理创伤。
"I can safely say that losing my mum at the age of 12, and therefore shutting down all of my emotions for the last 20 years, has had a quite serious effect on not only my personal life but my work as well," he said.	"我可以很有把握地说，由于在 12 岁时失去妈妈，我在过去 20 年里封锁了所有情绪，这给我的个人生活和工作都带来了非常严重的影响，"他说。
He added: "I have probably been very close to a complete breakdown on numerous occasions when all sorts of grief and sort of lies and misconceptions and everything are coming to you from every angle."	他还说："当各种各样的悲伤、谎言和误解以及一切从四面八方向你涌过来时，我多次濒临全面崩溃。"
In the podcast, Harry said he had tried to cope with the tragedy by not talking about it.	哈里在播客中说，他应对这个悲剧的方式，就是对其尽量闭口不提。
"My way of dealing with it was sticking my head in the sand, refusing to ever think about my mum, because why would that help?" he said. He	"我处理这件事的方法就是把头埋在沙子里，拒绝去想我妈妈，因为那又有什么用呢？"他说。他回忆自己曾经这么想："这只会让你伤心，不会让她回

recalled thinking: "It's only going to make you sad, it's not going to bring her back.' So from an emotional side, I was like, 'Right, don't ever let your emotions be part of anything.'"	来', 所以从情感的角度来说, 我的方式就是: '好吧, 永远不要对任何东西付诸感情。'"
Harry, who spent 10 years in the British armed forces and served two tours in Afghanistan, said in the interview that his struggles had consumed much of his 20s. (He was 27 in 2012, when tabloids published images of him naked while partying in Las Vegas, which prompted him to apologize for having "let my family down.")	哈里在英国部队工作了十年, 两次前往阿富汗服役。在接受采访时他表示, 20 多岁的大部分时间都忙于心里的挣扎。(2012 年他 27 岁时, 小报登出了他在拉斯维加斯派对上的裸体照片, 后来他为“让我的家人失望”道了歉。)
The prince also praised the virtues of getting professional help.	哈里王子也赞扬了获得专业帮助的好处。
"Some of the best people or easiest people to speak to is a shrink or whoever — the Americans call them shrinks — someone you have never met before," he said. "You sit down on the sofa and say: 'Listen, I don't actually need your advice. Can you just listen?' And you just let it all rip."	他说: "倾吐心声的最好或最容易的对象之一是心理医生——美国人称之他们为 shrink——或是你以前从未见过的人," 他说。"你坐在沙发上说: '听着, 我实际上不需要你的意见。你能听我说话吗?' 然后你就把心里的一切倾吐出来。"
Asked about counseling, he said he had received it "more than a couple of times, but it's great."	在被问到心理咨询的情况时, 他说他“接受过好几次治疗, 但感觉不错”。
He credited his brother with telling him: "Look, you really need to deal with this. It is not normal to think that nothing has affected you."	他说这要归功于哥哥告诉他: "听我说, 你真的需要去面对这个问题。认为你没有受到任何影响, 是不正常的想法。"
Harry also said that boxing had helped.	哈里还表示, 拳击也对他有所帮助。
"That really saved me because I was on the verge of punching someone, so being able to punch someone who had pads was certainly easier," he said.	"这真是救了我, 我当时处在很想打人的状态, 所以能拳打带有防护垫的人显然好受些," 他说。
He added that staying quiet about emotional suffering in distress was "only ever going to make it worse," and he urged people in such situations to seek help.	他还提到, 对情绪上的困扰保持沉默, 一味忍受痛苦, "只会让它变得更糟", 还力劝有同样处境的人寻求帮助。

"You will be surprised, firstly, how much support you get," he said.	"一开始，你会惊讶自己能得到那么多支持，"他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170418/uk-prince-harry-death-princess-diana	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170418/uk-prince-harry-death-princess-diana
Theresa May Calls Early Election in U.K., Seeking Stronger Mandate for 'Brexit'	英国首相宣布将提前大选
LONDON — Clearly anxious about her thin majority in Parliament before complicated negotiations on the British exit from the European Union, Prime Minister Theresa May on Tuesday called for a snap election for June 8, a vote that her opponents will bill as a verdict on her tough brand of Brexit.	伦敦——在英国进行复杂的脱欧谈判之前，首相特丽莎·梅(Theresa May)明显对她的政党在议会的微弱优势感到担忧。周二，她要求在6月8日提前举行大选，这个投票将被反对者视为她强势脱欧态度的明证。
In breaking her often-repeated vow not to call an early election before 2020, May emphasized the need for unity in Parliament before undertaking what promises to be complex and tortuous negotiations on Britain's exit from the bloc.	之前梅曾再三保证说不会在2020年之前进行选举，现在她打破承诺，强调需要先实现议会内的团结一致，然后再进行可能复杂而曲折的英国脱欧谈判。
"The country is coming together, but Westminster is not," May said in a sudden appearance outside the prime minister's residence at 10 Downing St., adding that she had "only recently and reluctantly come to this conclusion."	梅突然出现在唐宁街10号首相官邸外面，表示：“整个国家正在团结起来，但威斯敏斯特却没有”，她说这是自己“最近才不情愿地得出的结论”。
Having fired the starting gun for two years of talks with Brussels and the other 27 members of the European Union only last month, May is already facing divisions within her own Conservative Party. She is clearly counting on a strong performance in June — before those talks get serious and difficult, before the British economy is seen to be hit and before critical German elections in the fall — to carry her government through the exit, hard or soft, which she has promised to	就在上个月，梅开启了与布鲁塞尔和欧盟其他27个成员国为期两年的谈判过程，现在她自己的保守党内已经出现了分裂事态。她明显寄望于6月份会有强劲表现——在脱欧谈判变得严肃而艰难、在英国经济被认为遭到冲击，以及重要的德国选举在秋季举行之前——以便带领政府走过脱欧历程，无论是硬脱欧还是软脱欧，她已经许下过承诺。 deliver.

The financial markets bid up the pound on the news, apparently anticipating a Conservative sweep that would give May the mandate to override hard-liners in her own party who might resist concessions to the European Union in return for market access – the so-called soft Brexit.	消息传出后，金融市场哄抬英镑，似乎预测保守党将大获全胜，让梅可以压倒自己党内的强硬派，因为他们可能会抵制“软脱欧”——即对欧盟做出让步，以便获得进入欧盟市场的许可。
Certainly, the Conservatives’ election prospects look promising. They are riding high in the opinion polls, with the Labour Party under Jeremy Corbyn in disarray, the centrist Liberal Democrats weak and the shambolic far-right U.K. Independence Party, if anything, more a threat to Labour than to the Tories.	当然，保守党的选举前景看上去相当光明。在民意测验中，保守党声势高涨，杰里米·科尔宾(Jeremy Corbyn)的工党处境不妙，中间派别自由民主党走弱，乱哄哄的极右派别英国独立党(UK Independence Party)如果说有什么影响的话，那它对工党的威胁比对保守派更大。
But the decision does carry political risks for May. For a politician who has cultivated a reputation as a straight shooter who puts country before party, the about-face on early elections could smack of opportunism. And in a year of election surprises, embittered but highly motivated voters from the Remain camp could coalesce behind one of the parties to register their anger over leaving the bloc.	但这一决定也确实给梅带来了政治风险。对于一个已经树立起把国家置于党派之上的正直声望的政客而言，在提前选举问题上转变态度有机会主义之嫌。而且，在一个选举结果出人意料的年份，留欧阵营里愤怒而高度踊跃的选民可能会聚集在某一个党派之后，发泄他们对脱欧的愤怒。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170419/uk-theresa-may-general-election	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170419/uk-theresa-may-general-election
France’s Presidential Vote on Sunday: Why It Matters	7个问题快速看懂法国大选
French voters will go to the polls on Sunday for the first round of presidential elections. In the wake of electoral upheavals around the world, including the victory of Donald J. Trump and Britain’s decision to leave the European Union, the vote is one of several in Europe being closely watched worldwide.	周日，法国选民将前往投票站，参加总统选举第一轮投票。在世界各地发生包括唐纳德·J·特朗普胜选、英国公投脱欧在内的种种选举动荡之后，这是欧洲的若干场受到世人密切关注的选举之一。

What is France deciding?	法国人将就什么做出决定？
The president wields broad powers — although the prime minister, as the head of government, also plays an important role in the constitutional system, as does Parliament. Presidents are elected for a five-year term, for a maximum of two consecutive terms. The incumbent, François Hollande, a Socialist, has struggled to reduce unemployment and has had to deal with a string of deadly terrorist attacks.	总统拥有广泛的权力——尽管作为政府负责人的总理像议会一样，也在宪政体制中发挥着重要作用。总统当选后任期为五年，最多只能连任一届。信奉社会主义的现任总统弗朗索瓦·奥朗德(François Hollande)，在降低失业率方面一直面临着重重困难，还不得不应对一连串致命的恐怖袭击。
The demands are high for the next president to keep the country safe, jump-start its economy and manage the sometimes competing goals of improving the labor market and the maintaining a social safety net. France's role in the European Union is also in question.	人们都盼着下一任总统能够保障这个国家的安全，快速重振经济，并管控好有时会相互冲突的两个目标——改善劳动力市场环境和维护社会保障网。法国在欧盟中的角色也进入了讨论范围。
Elections for the National Assembly, France's lower and more powerful house of Parliament, are in June, and whoever wins the presidency will want to secure a favorable legislative majority.	权力更大的议会下议院，也就是国民议会(National Assembly)的选举将于6月举行，不论谁当选总统，都会希望确保其阵营在立法机构中占据对其有利的多数席位。
When and how will voting take place?	投票将于何时、以何种方式举行？
As with many elections in France, this one has two rounds. The first round, on Sunday, includes 11 candidates. If no one wins a majority, the top two vote-getters will proceed to a runoff on May 7. (No one has won the first round outright since direct popular voting for the presidency began in the 1960s.)	像法国的很多选举一样，总统选举投票分两轮进行。第一轮的时间定在周日，共有11名候选人。如果没有人赢得多数选票，得票最多的前两名候选人将在5月7日对决。(法国总统从1960年代开始经由直接普选产生以来，还没有人能在第一轮中直接胜出。)
The elections are across France and in its overseas territories; there are 45.7 million registered voters. The vast majority of voting is by paper ballot, counted by hand: There is no electronic voting and very few voting machines. Campaign spending is limited, and equal media	选举在法国本土及其海外领地举行；登记在册的选民共有4570万。绝大多数选民会填写纸质选票，计票工作由人工完成：不实行电子投票，投票机也很少。竞选费用是受到限制的，还存在关于同等媒体曝光机会的强制性规定。 exposure is enforced.

Who is running?	参选者都有谁?
Only a few of the candidates are considered serious contenders:	只有少数几个候选人被视作强劲的竞争者:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ François Fillon, a conservative from the center-right Republican party. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ 弗朗索瓦·菲永(François Fillon), 系保守派人士, 来自中间偏右的共和党(Republican party)。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Benoît Hamon, of the mainstream left-wing Socialist Party, who has dropped to single digits in the polls. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ 本努瓦·哈蒙(Benoît Hamon), 来自主流左翼政党社会党(Socialist Party), 民调支持率已跌至个位数。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Marine Le Pen, the leader of the far-right National Front. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ 马琳·勒庞(Marine Le Pen), 极右翼政党国民阵线(National Front)的领导者。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Emmanuel Macron, an independent centrist. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ 埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron), 独立的中间派人士。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Jean-Luc Mélenchon, a hard-left candidate who created the France Unbowed movement. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ 让-吕克·梅朗雄(Jean-Luc Mélenchon), 极左翼候选人, “不屈法国”(France Unbowed)运动的创办者。
Of the candidates, Ms. Le Pen has arguably drawn the most attention from journalists, because of her hard-line stance on immigration, her grim warning that a declining France is losing its identity and her party's record with Jews and Muslims, among other communities.	在这些候选人当中, 颇具争议性的勒庞因其对移民问题的强硬立场, 关于衰落的法国正失去自我认同的严酷警告, 及其所在政党对待犹太人、穆斯林等群体的过往记录, 最受媒体记者关注。
Personal integrity and political corruption have become major issues: Mr. Fillon is enmeshed in an embezzlement scandal, and Ms. Le Pen has faced questions about her use of her position as a member of the European Parliament. These controversies have given lesser-known candidates the opportunity to jab and mock their counterparts during live debates.	个人诚信以及政治腐败已经成了大问题: 菲永深陷贪污丑闻, 勒庞则面临着与她担任欧洲议会(European Parliament)议员期间对这一身份的运用有关的质疑。这些争议给了不太知名的候选人在现场辩论中刺激和嘲弄对手的机会。
Mr. Macron and Ms. Le Pen are slightly ahead, but the four front-runners are neck-and-neck in the latest polls, creating uncertainty about who will make it to the runoff. Up to a third of possible voters, according to	马克龙和勒庞的支持率稍微高一点, 但在最近的民调中, 排在前四位的候选人不相伯仲, 因此难以预计谁能进入最终的对决。最近的民调显示, 可能参加投票的选民中, 有多达三分之一尚未决定投给谁。

the latest polls, are still undecided.
Why does France matter?	法国为什么很重要?
A nation of 67 million, France is the world's sixth-largest economy, one of five permanent members of the United Nations Security Council and a nuclear power. It is one of the oldest allies of the United States, having helped secure American independence from Britain. It is the world's most visited country. Since the French Revolution, the nation has often been seen as a beacon of democratic ideals.	作为一个拥有 6700 万人口的国家, 法国是世界第六大经济体, 联合国安理会五个常任理事国之一, 以及一个核大国。它是美国最早的盟友中的一个, 曾帮助美国脱离英国走向独立。它是世界上游客最多的国家。自从法国大革命以来, 它常常被视为民主理念的灯塔。
French foreign policy could change significantly if one of the candidates who favor friendlier ties with Russia or weakening the European Union is elected.	如果主张与俄罗斯建立更友好关系或削弱欧盟的候选人当选, 法国的外交政策可能会发生重大变化。
How have international events influenced the election?	国际事件如何影响着选举?
■ Britain's decision to leave the European Union has spurred talk of a similar move in France, sometimes called a "Frexit." Two of the main candidates, Mr. Mélenchon and Ms. Le Pen, want, for very different reasons, to renegotiate France's place in the bloc. Should negotiations fail, both have said that they would organize referendums on a departure from the bloc or from the euro currency zone.	■ 英国脱离欧盟的决定, 激起了关于法国采取类似行动——有时被称为“法国脱欧”(Frexit)——的讨论。两名主要候选人, 梅朗雄和勒庞出于截然不同的原因, 想要重新就法国在欧盟中的位置展开磋商。两人都说过, 如果磋商失败, 他们会就脱离欧盟或欧元区事宜组织公投。
■ The election of President Trump gave a boost to the candidacy of Ms. Le Pen: It suggested that such an upset was possible in France, and the National Front hopes to ride a similar wave of discontent about immigration and globalization. But some of Mr. Trump's actions, like the one to launch airstrikes in Syria, have led Ms. Le Pen to distance herself from him.	■ 特朗普总统的当选, 让勒庞作为候选人的地位有所提升: 其当选意味着法国也有可能出现这种逆袭, 国民阵线希望可以利用类似的对于移民问题和全球化的不满浪潮。但特朗普的一些行为, 比如下令在叙利亚开展空袭, 让勒庞忙于和他划清界线。
■ Questions have also been raised about whether Russia is trying to	■ 关于俄罗斯是否会设法影响选举结果的问题也被提了出来。

influence the results.
When will we know the results?	我们什么时候能知道结果?
The French news media cannot publish results before the last polling stations close at 8 p.m. Because the four front-runners are polling so closely, the winners might not become clear until later. Official results will be available on the website of the French Interior Ministry.	法国媒体不能在最后一批投票站于晚上 8 点关闭前揭晓结果。因为民调支持率最高的四位候选人不相伯仲，可能要再晚一些才能清楚地知道谁是胜利者。可以在法国内政部的网站上查阅官方统计结果。
What happens next?	接下来呢?
A televised debate between the two finalists is scheduled for May 3, four days before the runoff on May 7. The winner of the runoff will take office by May 14.	进入下一轮的两名候选人将于 5 月 3 日进行电视辩论，并于四天后的 5 月 7 日进行终极对决。胜出者将于 5 月 14 日就职。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170421/france-election	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170421/france-election
A Chunk of the Arctic Stops By for a Photo Shoot	巨型冰山搁浅加拿大小镇，成观光景点
An iceberg ran aground over Easter weekend just off the small Newfoundland town of Ferryland, population 465, drawing knots of tourists eager to catch a glimpse.	在今年复活节的周末，一座冰山在只有 465 个居民的纽芬兰小镇费里兰附近搁浅，渴望一瞥它的风采的游客络绎不绝。
Some are locals or travelers who happened to be nearby, but many are a special Canadian breed, the iceberg chaser – people who flock to the coasts of Labrador and Newfoundland at this time of year hoping to see the huge frozen chunks of broken glacier that drift by on a stretch of sea known as Iceberg Alley.	有些是碰巧在附近的本地人或旅行者，但也有很多是加拿大的一个特殊群体：冰山追逐者。他们在每年的这个时候涌向拉布拉多和纽芬兰海岸，希望看到破裂冰川的巨大冰块漂过一段被称为冰山巷(Iceberg Alley)的狭窄海域。
The berg at Ferryland rises about 15 stories above the waterline – and that is only about 10 percent of its mass. Some of the submerged ice comes into view when the berg is seen from above.	费里兰的冰山水面以上的部分大概有 15 层楼高，那只是它的十分之一左右。从上方能看到部分被淹没的冰体。
"Most folks can't wrap their heads around how big it is," Barry Rogers, the owner of Iceberg Quest Ocean Tours, a Newfoundland tour	"大多数人无法想像它到底有多大，"纽芬兰旅行社 Iceberg Quest Ocean Tours 的所有者巴里·罗杰斯(Barry Rogers)周四在接受采访时表示。 operator, said in an interview on Thursday.

Iceberg season starts in April, and there has been a bumper crop this year. More than 600 bergs have drifted into the North Atlantic shipping lanes so far, a count not usually reached until late May or early June, according to the International Ice Patrol of the United States Coast Guard in New London, Conn. The typical amount for April is closer to 80.	冰山季从每年的4月份开始,今年的冰山尤其多。据康涅狄格州新伦敦市的美国海岸警卫队(United States Coast Guard)国际冰情巡逻队(International Ice Patrol)称,到目前为止,已有600多个冰山漂入北大西洋航道,往年要到5月底或6月初才能累积这么多。4月份的总数通常是近80个。
Heavy winds have blown several icebergs close to shore — a boon for iceberg chasers, but a nuisance for the local fishing industry. The entrance to the harbor in St. John’s, the provincial capital, is “plugged solid,” Mr. Rogers said. “A lot of our fisher folks are just tied onto the wharf, waiting for the ice to move offshore.”	大风把几座冰山吹到了靠近海岸的地方,对冰山追逐者来说,这是福音,但给当地的渔业造成了困扰。罗杰斯称,省会圣约翰的海港入口“被堵死了”,“很多渔民只能困在码头,等待冰山漂离海岸”。
The stunning view that is causing traffic jams of onlookers on the coast road is actually a snapshot of the iceberg’s death throes, 15,000 years in the making. What began as snowflakes falling on Greenland during the last ice age has crept to the sea in a glacier and then broken off, probably sometime in the last three years, to float slowly out into Baffin Bay. Bumped and nudged by one another and by melting pack ice, the bergs eventually get caught up in the southbound Labrador Current and sail down Iceberg Alley.	壮观的景象导致岸边路上出现大量观众,引发交通堵塞,但这实际上是冰山死亡剧痛的缩影,属于一个持续了1.5万年的过程。上一个冰川期飘落在格陵兰岛上的雪花后来变成冰川,伸向大海,很可能在过去三年的某个时候,它分裂开,慢慢漂入巴芬湾。这些冰山和融化的浮冰相互碰撞推挤,最终被向南流的拉布拉多洋流捕获,沿着冰山巷航行。
Exposed to the warmer sun of spring and summer in lower latitudes, the bergs begin to shrink and to develop large crevices that channel floods of meltwater. If they come near shore, the bergs may bottom out on the ocean floor and come under immense pressure as the seawater stops supporting their weight. Falling tides are often the final straw,	这些冰山暴露在低纬度春季和夏季较为温暖的阳光下,开始缩小,出现巨大的裂缝,融化的雪水从裂缝中汹涌流出。如果靠近海岸,它们可能会落到海床上,承受巨大的压力,因为海水不再能支撑它们的重量。落潮通常是最后一击,导致搁浅的冰山突然破裂,形成巨浪。 causing the grounded iceberg to break up suddenly into the waves.

"They can tumble down in a New York second," Mr. Rogers said. "Sometimes it's as loud as a cannon shot."	"它们可能在转瞬之间崩溃，"罗杰斯说，"有时像发射大炮一样轰然巨响。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170421/iceberg-ferryland-newfoundland	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170421/iceberg-ferryland-newfoundland
Paris Shootout Leaves Police Officer and Gunman Dead	巴黎香榭丽舍大道发生枪击案，一名警察身亡
PARIS — A gunman jumped out of a car, killed a police officer and wounded two others on the Champs-Élysées in central Paris Thursday night, French officials said.	巴黎——法国官员说，周四晚上，一名枪手从汽车上跳下，在巴黎市中心的香榭丽舍大道上射杀一名警察，射伤另外两人。
The gunman was shot dead by police as he tried to flee on foot, Pierre-Henry Brandet, a French Interior Ministry spokesman, told the BFMTV news channel.	法国内政部发言人皮埃尔-亨利·布莱德特(Pierre-Henry Brandet)告诉BFMTV 新闻频道说，枪手试图徒步逃跑时被警方击毙。
President François Hollande, addressing the nation from the Élysée presidential palace, not far from where the shooting occurred, said that French authorities were "convinced" that the shooting pointed to a terrorist act.	法国总统弗朗索瓦·奥朗德(François Hollande)在距离枪击案不远处的爱丽舍宫总统府发表讲话，说法国当局"确信"这起枪击事件属于恐怖主义活动。
And, late Friday, the Islamic State issued a statement claiming responsibility for the shooting.	周五晚些时候，伊斯兰国(IS)发表声明，称对这起枪击案负责。
Brandet said that shortly before 9 p.m. Paris time a car pulled up to a police vehicle that was parked on the famous boulevard.	布莱德特说，当地时间快到晚9点时，一辆汽车靠近停在这条著名大道上的一辆警车。
The man opened fire on the police vehicle with an automatic weapon, killing an officer. He then "tried to leave by running away while aiming at, and trying to target, other police officers," Brandet said.	这名男子使用自动武器朝警车开火，杀死一名警官。然后"他试图离开，一边跑一边瞄准，试图向其他警察开枪"，布莱德特说。
"He managed to wound two others and was shot dead by the police forces," Brandet added. It was not immediately known if anyone else	"枪手在被警方击毙之前，又射伤了另外两个人，"布莱德特说。现在还不知道袭击者的车里是否有其他人。 was in the attacker's car.

Brandet said that the exact sequence of events was still unclear, as was whether the assailant had acted alone. He denied reports that a second officer had died and said that the identity of the gunman had not been clearly established. The officers, he said, had been "deliberately targeted."	布莱德特说，凶手是否单独行事，以及事件发生的确切顺序尚不清楚。他否认了还有一名警员遇难的报道，声称枪手的身份尚未查明。他说枪手是“特意针对”这些警官的。
Hollande said he would convene a national security meeting Friday morning and that a national tribute would be paid to the slain officer.	奥朗德说，他将于周五上午召开国家安全会议，被害警官将受到全国哀悼。
Hollande said that a passer-by had also been wounded in the shooting, but he did not say how badly or provide other details.	奥朗德说，一名路人在枪击事件中受了伤，但没有提到伤情严重程度和其他细节。
The Islamic State statement, on the group's Amaq news agency, was published first in Arabic and later in French. Citing a "source," it said that the attack was the work of someone named Abu Yousuf al-Belgiki, "who is one of the soldiers of the Caliphate."	伊斯兰国通过其阿玛克新闻社(Amaq)发表声明，首先发布的是阿拉伯文，然后是法文版本。它援引“知情人士”的消息称，枪手名叫阿布·优素福·艾比利基(Abu Yousuf al-Belgiki)， “是一名哈里发战士”。
French media reported that officials had issued an arrest warrant for a suspect who had arrived by train from Belgium.	法国媒体报道说，警方发出了针对一名从比利时乘坐火车抵达法国的疑犯的逮捕令。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170421/paris-champs-elysees-shooting	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170421/paris-champs-elysees-shooting
Emmanuel Macron and Marine Le Pen Are Poised to Advance in French Election	法国大选：政治新手和极右翼政客晋级决胜轮
PARIS — In France's most consequential election in recent history, voters on Sunday endorsed Emmanuel Macron and Marine Le Pen — one a political novice, the other a far-right firebrand — both outsiders but with starkly different visions for the country, early returns and projections indicated.	巴黎——早期投票结果和预测显示，在周日举行的法国近些年最重要的选举中，埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)和马琳·勒庞(Marine Le Pen)得到了选民的支持。这两人一个是政治新手，一个是极右翼狂热分子。两位都是局外人，但对法国的憧憬却截然不同。

The result was a full-throated rebuke of France's traditional mainstream parties, setting the country on an uncertain path at a critical moment when France's election could also decide the future of the European Union. The two candidates appeared to be headed to a runoff on May 7.	对法国的传统主流政党来说，这是一记响亮的耳光。在法国的选举可能也决定着欧盟未来的关键时刻，这个结果让法国走上了一条前途未卜的道路。两名候选人似乎都将进入5月7日的决胜选举。
Mr. Macron, a former investment banker, abandoned traditional parties a year ago to form his own movement with an eclectic blend of left and right views. He campaigned on a pro-European Union platform, coupled with calls to overhaul the rules governing the French economy.	一年前，曾经的投资银行家马克龙放弃传统政党，成立了自己的政党。该政党兼容并蓄，结合了左翼和右翼观点。他的竞选纲领支持欧盟，并呼吁改革法国经济的管理规章制度。
"The French people have decided to put me ahead of the first round of the vote," Mr. Macron told jubilant supporters at a rally in Paris. "I'm aware of the honor and the responsibility that rest on my shoulders."	"法国人民决定让我在第一轮投票中领先，"马克龙在巴黎的一场集会上对欢欣鼓舞的支持者说。"我清楚自己肩上的荣誉和责任。"
Ms. Le Pen's success is a victory for skeptics who oppose the European Union and for those who want to see more "France first" policies to restrict signs of Muslim faith in public, like the wearing of head scarves.	勒庞的成功对反对欧盟，以及希望看到更多的"法国优先"政策，以限制公共场所的穆斯林信仰标志，如戴头巾的人来说，是一个胜利。
"The great debate will finally take place," Ms. Le Pen said on Twitter. "French citizens need to seize this historic opportunity."	"大辩论最终会上演，"勒庞在Twitter上说。"法国公民要抓住这个历史机遇。"
Ms. Le Pen spoke later to supporters in the small town of Hénin-Beaumont in northern France, and although the final results were unclear, she could claim a victory of sorts. Not only will she be in the runoff for the first time, but she also got a higher percentage of votes than she did in 2012, and a higher percentage than her father, Jean-Marie Le Pen, did in 2002, when he made it to the second round as the candidate for the far-right National Front.	随后，勒庞在法国北部小镇埃南博蒙(Hénin-Beaumont)对支持者发表了演讲。尽管最终结果尚不得而知，但她也算取得了胜利。她不仅将首次进入决胜选举，得票率也比她自己在2012年的选举和她父亲让-马琳·勒庞(Jean-Marie Le Pen)在2002年的选举要高。2002年，让-马琳·勒庞以极右翼政党国民阵线(National Front)候选人的身份进入第二轮投票。
She said the outcome was "an act of French pride, that of a people who	她说，这个结果是"法国骄傲的表现，是一个民族抬起头，对自己的价值观

are raising up their heads, that of a people sure of their values and confident of the future.”	和未来有信心的表现”。
Few analysts give her much of a chance of winning in the second round, however. Even before official results were announced, the political establishment was rallying behind Mr. Macron, warning of the dangers of a victory by Ms. Le Pen’s National Front.	然而，认为她在第二轮中有很大的获胜机会的分析人士很少。哪怕是在正式结果公布前，政治建制派还在团结一致地支持马克龙，警告民众注意勒庞的国民阵线获胜会带来的危险。
Bernard Cazeneuve, the sitting Socialist prime minister, called Ms. Le Pen’s project “dangerous and sectarian” and said it would “impoverish, isolate and divide” the country.	来自社会党的现任总理贝尔纳·卡泽纳夫(Bernard Cazeneuve)称勒庞的方案“危险且具有派系特征”，并表示它会导致法国陷入“贫穷、孤立和分裂”。
“It will inevitably lead to the end of Europe and of the euro, and, eventually, to France’s relegation,” he said. “The National Front cannot be the future of our country.”	“它必然会造成欧洲和欧元的终结，最终导致法国地位下降，”他说。“国民阵线不能成为我国的未来。”
For now, voters narrowly embraced Mr. Macron’s centrist calls for change over more strident appeals from the far left and the far right for France to fortify itself against immigration and globalization.	在选民中，马克龙要求改革的中间派呼声，暂时以微弱的优势领先于极左翼和极右翼更强硬的呼吁。极左翼和极右翼要求法国对移民和全球化持更强硬立场。
His success also suggests that despite multiple terrorist attacks in France recently, a message of outreach to immigrants and an acceptance of Muslims as well as of ethnic diversity has some currency. Ms. Le Pen campaigned stridently against Muslim immigration, linking it to security threats, and she may have benefited from a final surge of support after a terrorist attack in Paris on Thursday.	马克龙的成功也表明，尽管法国最近发生多起恐怖袭击，但接纳移民和接受穆斯林及族群多样性的观点依然有一定的市场。勒庞在竞选期间大力反对穆斯林移民，把它和安全威胁联系在了一起。巴黎周四发生的恐怖袭击可能对她有利。袭击发生后，她的支持率出现激增。
In his address to supporters as the returns were still being tabulated, Mr. Macron emphasized that he wanted to be the president of all of France. But the results showed that the country remains deeply divided.	随着投票结果仍在公布过程中，马克龙对支持者发表演说，强调他希望成为法国的总统。但相关结果显示，该国依然存在严重的分歧。
Four candidates with markedly different views came within a few points	在周日的投票中，四名观点截然不同的候选人彼此之间的差距都在几个百分

of one another in the vote on Sunday, suggesting that the fight about what vision of France will dominate the future is far from over.	点之间。这表明，有关法国的未来将由哪一种愿景主宰的斗争远没有结束。
The far-left candidate, Jean-Luc Mélenchon, refused to accept early projections that indicated his defeat.	极左翼候选人让-吕克·梅朗雄(Jean-Luc Mélenchon)拒绝接受显示他已失败的早期预测。
But the mainstream right candidate, François Fillon, conceded, saying that he had failed to “convince” the French. “The obstacles put on my path were too numerous, too cruel,” he said, obliquely referring to embezzlement scandals that swirled around his campaign.	但主流右翼候选人弗朗索瓦·菲永(François Fillon)则承认了失败，称自己未能“说服”法国民众。“我一路上遇到的障碍太多，太残忍，”他说，间接指围绕他的竞选出现的多起挪用公款丑闻。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170424/emmanuel-macron-marine-le-pen-france-election	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170424/emmanuel-macron-marine-le-pen-france-election
Prince Philip: King of the Awkward and Offensive One-Liner	菲利普亲王的失言语录：在中国待久了会变眯缝眼
Brusque, avuncular, and with a reputation for being overly plain-speaking, Prince Philip has over seven decades been a formidable presence at the side of Queen Elizabeth II as she made the countless round of dinners, ceremonies and other engagements expected of the British monarch.	过去七十多年里，在英国女王举行不计其数的晚宴、仪式以及其他英国君主所需履行的义务时，那个看起来唐突、慈爱、以讲话过于直白著称的菲利普亲王(Prince Philip)一直是她身边一个令人敬畏的存在。
A product of the “stiff upper lip” era, the prince, 95 — who Buckingham Palace announced on Thursday was stepping back from his public duties — has over the years produced a remarkable collection of politically incorrect, tone deaf and, on occasion, outrageous one-liners that have been gleefully recorded by generations of British journalists.	虽说出身于“绷紧上唇”的时代，现年95岁的菲利普亲王——白金汉宫周四宣布他将卸去公职——在过去多年里留下了不少政治上不正确、牛头不对马嘴甚或极端无礼的俏皮话，这些都被一代代英国记者愉快地记录在案。
We have compiled some notable examples here.	这里汇集了其中一些知名的例子。
“I declare this thing open, whatever it is.”	“我宣布这东西开幕，不管它是啥。”
— On a visit to Canada in 1969	——1969年访问加拿大
“Everybody was saying we must have more leisure. Now they are	“之前所有人都在说我们必须有更多的空闲时间。现在他们却在抱怨自己失 complaining they are unemployed.”	业了。”

– During the 1981 recession	——1981 年大衰退期间
“It looks as if it was put in by an Indian.”	“它看起来像是一个印度人装上去的。”
– Pointing to an old-fashioned fuse box in a factory near Edinburgh in 1999	——1999 年在爱丁堡附近的一座工厂里指着一个老式保险丝盒说道
“Deaf? If you are near there, no wonder you are deaf.”	“聋的？如果你住那儿附近，听得见才怪。”
– To young deaf people in Cardiff, Wales, in 1999, referring to a school’s steel band	——1999 年对威尔士加的夫的失聪少年说道，他指的是一所学校的钢鼓乐队
“If you stay here much longer, you’ll all be slitty-eyed.”	“你们在这儿待得太久，会全都变成眯缝眼。”
– To British students in China, during a 1986 state visit	——1986 年的国事访问期间对身在中国的英国留学生讲道
“You managed not to get eaten, then?”	“那么，看来你成功地避免被吃了？”
– Suggesting to a British student in 1998 who had been trekking in Papua New Guinea that tribes there were still cannibals	——1998 年对一名曾在巴布亚新几内亚徒步跋涉的英国学生说，那里的部落当时还是吃人的
“You look like you’re ready for bed!”	“你看起来已经准备去睡觉了！”
– To the president of Nigeria, who was dressed in traditional robes	——对身着传统礼服的尼日利亚总统讲
“So who’s on drugs here? He looks as if he’s on drugs.”	“这里有谁是吸毒的？他看起来好像在吸毒。”
– To a 14-year-old member of a Bangladeshi youth club in 2002	——2002 年对一个孟加拉国青年俱乐部里一名 14 岁的成员讲道
“Ah, so this is feminist corner then.”	“啊，这么说这里就是女权主义角了。”
– To a group of female Labour lawmakers at a party at Buckingham Palace in 2000	——2000 年在白金汉宫举行的一场派对上对一群工党女议员讲道
“We go into the red next year. I shall probably have to give up polo.”	“我们明年要出现赤字了。我可能得放弃打马球了。”
– 1969	——1969 年
“We don’t come here for our health. We can think of other ways of enjoying ourselves.”	“我们不是为了健康到这儿的。要是让自己玩得开心，我们有的是其他方式。”
– On a tour of Canada in 1976	——1976 年访问加拿大

"You are a woman, aren't you?"	"你是女的，对吧？"
— When accepting a figurine from a woman during a visit to Kenya in 1984	——1984 年访问肯尼亚期间从一名女子手上接过一个小雕像时
"How do you keep the natives off the booze long enough to pass the test?"	"你怎么让本地人保持长时间不喝酒，长到可以通过驾照考试的？"
— To a driving instructor in Oban, Scotland, in 1995	——1995 年在苏格兰奥本对一名汽车驾驶教练说。
1962: Philip Sails Into Sea of Mishaps	1962 年：菲利普亲王海上遇险
"The Duke of Edinburgh was thrown into the sea today when his sailboat capsized off the Isle of Wight and half an hour later he escaped serious injury when the boom of a crane crashed near him."	"今天，爱丁堡公爵的帆船在怀特岛附近倾覆，公爵落入大海。半小时后，一座塔吊的吊臂在他身边倾塌，所幸伤情无大碍。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170505/c05philip	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170505/c05philip
Macron Decisively Defeats Le Pen in French Presidential Race	法国大选马克龙轻松获胜，欧盟如释重负
PARIS — Emmanuel Macron, a youthful former investment banker, handily won France's presidential election on Sunday, defeating staunch nationalist Marine Le Pen after voters firmly rejected her far-right message and backed his call for centrist change, according to partial returns.	巴黎——年轻的前投资银行家埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)周日轻松赢得了法国总统大选，击败了坚定的民族主义者马琳·勒庞(Marine Le Pen)，部分选举结果显示，选民坚决抵制她的极右主义主张，支持马克龙呼吁的中间派改革。
Macron, 39, who has never held elected office, will become the youngest president in the 59-year history of France's Fifth Republic after leading an improbable campaign that swept aside France's establishment political parties.	39 岁的马克龙之前从未竞选过公职，他在这次竞选活动中异军突起，大胜法国的各个建制派政党，将成为法国第五共和国 59 年历史上最年轻的总统。
Macron's victory offered significant relief to the European Union, which Le Pen threatened to leave. His platform to loosen labor rules, make France more competitive globally and deepen ties with the EU was also likely to reassure a global financial market jittery at the prospect of a Le	马克龙胜选让欧盟如释重负，因为勒庞曾威胁要脱欧。马克龙主张放松劳动法，让法国在全球更具竞争力，加深与欧盟的联系，因此这也会缓解勒庞可能胜选所引发的全球金融市场的焦虑。

Pen victory.
Her loss provided further signs that the populist wave that swept Britain out of the EU and Donald Trump into the White House may have crested in Europe, for now.	勒庞的失败是民粹主义浪潮在欧洲可能已经暂时见顶的一个新迹象。在这波浪潮的席卷下，英国退出了欧盟，特朗普进入了白宫。
"It is a great honor and a great responsibility," Macron said, using a video link to address thousands of flag-waving supporters who gathered on the plaza of the Louvre, where he held his victory celebration. "A new page is opening."	"这是巨大的荣誉，也是重大的责任，新的一页正在翻开。"马克龙说。他利用视频向卢浮宫广场上成千上万挥舞旗帜的支持者讲话，他在那里举行了胜选庆祝活动。
With 50 percent of the vote counted, Macron had 62 percent of the vote, compared with 38 percent for Le Pen, according to the official count from the Interior Ministry.	根据内政部的官方统计，在计票工作进行到 50% 时，马克龙获得了 62% 的选票，勒庞赢得了 38%。
The outcome was nonetheless a watershed for Le Pen's party, the far-right National Front, giving it new legitimacy even as the results showed that the party remains anathema to much of the French electorate for its history of anti-Semitism, racism and Nazi nostalgia.	虽然选举结果表明，绝大多数法国选民无法接受勒庞的极右翼政党国民阵线(National Front)反犹、支持种族主义，以及对纳粹抱有好感的历史，但这个结果对该党来说仍然是一个分水岭，给予了它新的正统性。
Although Macron won by a wide margin, the share of votes that went to Le Pen and the high abstention rate — the worst turnout since 1969 — indicated the challenges he faces in building a base of support for his program.	虽然马克龙以大幅优势胜选，但是勒庞赢得的选票份额之高以及此次选举的投票率之低(创下了自 1969 年以来的新记录)，表明马克龙在为自己的计划培养支持者方面，还面临着挑战。
Le Pen conceded the election not long after polls closed in France, saying voters had chosen "continuity," denying Macron his outsider status and linking him to the departing Socialist government, in which he served as economy minister.	勒庞在投票结束后不久就承认败选，称选民选择了"连续性"，否认了马克龙的局外人地位，并将他与即将离任的社会主义政府联系起来，他在该政府中担任经济部长。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170508/emmanuel-macron-france-election-marine-le-pen	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170508/emmanuel-macron-france-election-marine-le-pen

Why Macron Won: Luck, Skill and France's Dark History	马克龙为何获胜？运气、技巧和法国的“黑历史”
PARIS — The French presidential runoff transcended national politics. It was globalization against nationalism. It was the future versus the past. Open versus closed.	巴黎——法国的总统决选超越了国家政治层面。它是全球化与民族主义的角力，是未来与过去的对抗，是开放与封闭的对决。
But in his resounding victory Sunday night, Emmanuel Macron, the centrist and political novice, won because he was the beneficiary of a uniquely French historic and cultural legacy, where many voters wanted change but were appalled at the type of populist anger that had upturned politics in Britain and the United States. He trounced far-right candidate Marine Le Pen, keeping her well under 40 percent, even as her aides said before the vote that anything below that figure would be considered a failure.	但是，周日晚上，中间派政治新手埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)的压倒性胜利则得益于法国独特的历史和文化遗产：很多选民想要做出改变，但对颠覆英美政坛的那种民粹主义愤怒感到恐惧。马克龙轻松战胜了极右翼候选人马琳·勒庞(Marine Le Pen)，后者的支持率大大低于40%，尽管她的助手们在投票前表示，只要低于这个数字，就算是失败。
His victory quickly brought joy from Europe's political establishment, especially since a Le Pen victory would have plunged the European Union into crisis. But in the end, Macron, only 39, a former investment banker and an uninspired campaigner, won because of luck, an unexpected demonstration of political skill, and the ingrained fears and contempt that a majority of French still feel toward Le Pen and her party, the National Front.	欧洲的政治建制派立刻为他的胜利感到欢欣鼓舞，尤其是考虑到假如马琳·勒庞获胜，欧盟将陷入危机。年仅39岁的前投资银行家马克龙在竞选过程中表现得平淡无奇，但他最终凭借运气、出人意料的政治技巧，以及大部分法国人对勒庞及其政党国民阵线(National Front)依然怀有的根深蒂固的恐惧和蔑视获得了胜利。
For the past year, a pressing political question has been whether widespread public frustration against Western political establishments had morphed into a global populist movement. Britain's vote to leave the EU in June, followed by the presidential election of Donald Trump in the United States, created the impression of a mounting wave. Le Pen, stalwart of the European far right, was the next truly big test.	过去一年里的一个迫切的政治问题是公众对西方政治体制的广泛失望是否已演变成全球民粹主义运动。去年6月英国投票脱离欧盟，后来唐纳德·特朗普当选美国总统，这些都给人造成一种该股浪潮在不断上涨的印象。欧洲极右翼坚定分子勒庞曾是下一个真正的考验。

But Le Pen's challenge was different because French history is different. She has spent the last six years as president of the National Front single-mindedly focused on one objective: erasing the stain of her party's association with the ex-collaborationists, right-wing extremists, immigrant-hating racists and anti-Semites who founded it 45 years ago.	但由于法国独特的历史，勒庞面临的挑战也不相同。在过去六年里，作为国民阵线的领袖，她专注于一个目标：抹去该党的最大污点，那就是与前二战通敌者、右翼极端分子、憎恨移民的种族主义者，以及反犹太者的联系。45年前，正是这些人成立了该政党。
She knew — as her father, the party patriarch Jean-Marie Le Pen, always refused to acknowledge — that she would always be a minority candidate as long as she reminded the French of perhaps the greatest stain in their history, the four years of far-right rule during World War II. Inside and outside the party this process was called “undemonization” — a term suggesting the demons still associated with her party. The French do not want them back.	她知道——正如她的父亲、该党创始人让-玛丽·勒庞(Jean-Marie Le Pen)一直拒绝承认的——只要法国人想起该国历史上最大的污点，也就是二战期间那四年的极右统治，她就永远是少数派候选人。在该党内外，这个过程被称为“去妖魔化”——这个词意味着她的政党依然与妖魔联系在一起。法国人不希望他们回归。
“There was no choice. I couldn't vote for Le Pen. You're not going to vote for the extremist,” said Martine Nurit, 52, a small-restaurant owner who had just cast her ballot in Paris' 20th Arrondissement on Sunday. She had voted for the far-left candidate Jean-Luc Mélenchon in the first round, on April 23, and it was with “not an ounce of joy” that she voted for the “business-oriented” Macron in the second.	“我没有别的选择。我不能投票给勒庞。你不能支持极端主义者，”周日，52岁的小餐馆老板玛蒂娜·尼里(Martine Nurit)在巴黎第20区投票后表示。在4月23日的第一轮投票中，她投给了极左候选人让-吕克·梅朗雄(Jean-Luc Mélenchon)，她表示，在第二轮投票中支持“以商业为导向”的马克龙，她“没有一丝喜悦”。
“Mostly, I voted against Le Pen,” she said.	“我主要是投票反对勒庞，”她说。
In the end Marine Le Pen failed to “undemonize,” spectacularly. She failed during the course of the campaign, when her angry rallies drew the Front inexorably back into the swamp from which it had emerged. And then she failed decisively in one of the campaign's critical moments, last week's debate with Macron, when she effectively “redemonized” herself and the party, as many French commentators	最终，马琳·勒庞完全未能“去妖魔化”。她在竞选活动中未能做到这一点，她那些愤怒的集会不可逆转地把国民阵线拉回它当初诞生的泥潭之中。然后，在竞选的一个关键时刻，她再次失手——正如很多法国评论人士指出的，在上周与马克龙的辩论中，她实际上“重新妖魔化了”自己和该政党。

noted.
It was an hourslong tirade against Macron, laced with name-calling and epithets, and woefully deficient in substance. She appeared lost on subject after subject, fumbling on one of her signature issues — withdrawing from the euro — that is opposed by a majority of French. Something essential about Le Pen, and the National Front, had been revealed to France.	那是对马克龙长达数小时的抨击，点缀着辱骂和贬低，可惜缺乏实质性内容。她似乎在一个又一个主题上迷失，在她标志性的脱欧问题上支支吾吾——脱欧遭到大部分法国人反对。勒庞和国家阵线最重要的一面呈现在了法国人面前。
Macron, on the other hand, demonstrated a quality that French voters, unlike many Anglo-Saxon ones, have long found essential in their successful candidates: cool mastery of the critical issues confronting the country. Where Le Pen repeatedly lost herself in the weeds, Macron sailed right through them. Whether he will be able to translate that knowledge into action is another question.	而马克龙则表现出法国选民长期以来认为成功候选人最重要的素质：能够冷静地把握国家面临的关键问题——在这一点上，法国选民与很多美英民众不同。勒庞多次迷失在无关紧要的事情上，而马克龙始终保持清醒。他是否能将相关知识转化为行动是另一个问题。
Macron's final correct bet was that French voters, like those elsewhere, were disgusted by the mainstream parties, having judged the policy prescriptions of both the establishment right and left as failures in dealing with France's multiple ills. He positioned himself in the center, drawing on left and right, balancing protection of the French welfare state with mild encouragement for business, in an attempt to break through France's employment and productivity stagnation.	马克龙最后赌对的一点是，与其他地方的选民一样，法国选民对主流政党感到厌恶，认为左翼和右翼建制派的政策方案都不能解决法国的多重弊病。他把自己定位在中间，吸收左翼和右翼的观点，在保护法国的福利制度与温和地鼓励商业之间取得平衡，试图打破该国的就业和生产停滞状况。
But Macron's pro-market views stirred much opposition. Mélenchon not only refused to endorse him, but also encouraged the idea that Macron and Le Pen were equivalent menaces — a calculation endorsed by many far-left voters. Nearly half the first-round electorate voted for candidates hostile to the free market and to capitalism. Even if they	不过，马克龙鼓励市场的观点遭到很多人反对。梅朗雄不但拒绝支持他，而且认为他带来的威胁与勒庞相当——这是很多极左选民的看法。在第一轮投票中，近半数的选民把票投给了敌视自由市场和资本主义的候选人。即便他们周日为避免国家落入勒庞之手而投票给马克龙，那也是不得已而为之。

voted for Macron Sunday to save the country from Le Pen, they did so without enthusiasm.
Without an established party behind him, Macron's most immediate hurdle will be in June's legislative elections for France's Parliament. He has promised to field candidates in all 577 parliamentary districts, but whether he can do so is unclear. Nor is it clear how many Socialists will support his program.	马克龙身后没有一个历史悠久的政党,他马上会遇到的障碍就是6月份的议会选举。他承诺在所有577个议会选区中安排候选人,但能否做到尚未可知。也不清楚有多少社会党人会支持他的计划。
The National Front could win as many as 100 seats in the new Parliament, according to some analyses, making it a formidable opposition party. Indeed, even as Le Pen was soundly defeated on Sunday, she still managed a showing that not too long ago would have been unthinkable. And in her concession, she made it clear that she was already looking toward the parliamentary elections, and the future.	据某些分析称,国民阵线在新议会中能赢得多达100个席位,成为一个强大的反对党。实际上,虽然勒庞在周日被彻底打败,但她取得的成绩在不久之前还是不可想像的。她在败选演讲中明确表示,她已经在展望议会选举和未来。
Then there is the potential opposition represented by Mélenchon, who won in some of France's biggest cities — Marseilles, Toulouse and Lille — and is already claiming the mantle of Macron's principal opponent on the left. His voters, as much as Le Pen's, do not trust Macron.	马克龙可能还会面对以梅朗雄为代表的人士的反对。梅朗雄在马赛、图卢兹和里尔等一些大城市获得了胜利,并已声称自己是马克龙最主要的左翼对手。他的选民和勒庞的选民一样不信任马克龙。
Macron, in his uncharacteristically brief and sober victory speech Sunday night, recognized that he had many people to win over.	周日晚上,马克龙在不同寻常的简短冷静的胜选演讲中承认,自己还需要赢得很多人的支持。
"My responsibility will be to unite all the women and men ready to take on the tremendous challenges which are waiting for us, and to act," Macron said. "I will fight with all my power against the divisions that undermine us, and which are tearing us apart."	"我的责任将是团结所有准备迎接我们面临的巨大挑战并采取行动的女人和男人们,"马克龙说。"我将竭尽全力去对抗危害我们、毁灭我们的各种分裂。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170508/why-macron-won-france	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170508/why-macron-won-france
Why the Macron Hacking Attack Landed With a Thud in France	以美国为鉴,法国人提防黑客搅乱大选

PARIS — Maybe it was the suspect timing of the leaked documents. Or the staggering amount and possibility that some were fake. Or a feeling among the French that, having witnessed how hacking may have altered the American election, they would not fall for the same ploy.	巴黎——或许是因为文件泄露的时机比较可疑，或者是数量太惊人，以及想到其中有些可能是假的，再或者是法国人的一种感觉——他们见证了黑客有可能改变了美国的大选——让他们不愿落入同样的圈套。
Whatever the reasons, newspapers and broadcasters in France have so far conspicuously avoided reporting any details of what was described Friday night as a “massive” pre-election hacking attack on Emmanuel Macron’s campaign.	不管是出于什么原因，截止目前，法国的报纸和广播电视媒体一直避免报道有关周五晚埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)竞选团队选前遭所谓“大规模”黑客袭击的任何细节。
The bereft coverage extended into Monday night, well after a 44-hour legal ban on election reporting surrounding the Sunday vote had lifted.	这种不报道的情况持续到周一晚上，当时法律规定的周日投票报道44小时禁令已经失效有一段时间。
By then it was clear that the hacked material — regardless of what it might contain — had caused no ill effects on the campaign of Macron, who won decisively over the far-right candidate Marine Le Pen.	到那时，已经可以明确被窃取的材料——无论里面可能包含什么——没有对马克龙的竞选活动产生什么不良影响，后者击败极右翼候选人马琳·勒庞(Marine Le Pen)，赢得了决定性的胜利。
Unlike the presidential campaign in the United States, where hacking of Hillary Clinton that was traced to Russia may have played a role in her defeat by Donald Trump, news of the hacking operation in France was met with silence, disdain and scorn.	在美国的总统竞选中，被认为来自俄罗斯的黑客对希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)采取的行动，可能对唐纳德·特朗普击败她起到了一定的作用，与此不同的是，法国人对这场黑客袭击表现出沉默、蔑视与不屑。
The contrast may have been amplified further by the absence of a French equivalent to the thriving tabloid culture in Britain or the robust right-wing broadcast media in the United States, where the Clinton hacking attack generated enormous negative coverage.	因为法国没有英国那种繁荣的小报文化，也没有美国强大的右翼广播媒体，这种差异可能被进一步放大。在美国，针对克林顿的黑客袭击激起了无数负面报道。
“We don’t have a Fox News in France,” said Johan Hufnagel, managing editor of the leftist daily Libération. “There’s no broadcaster with a wide audience and personalities who build this up and try to use it for their own agendas.”	“在法国，我们没有福克斯新闻频道(Fox News)，”左翼日报《解放报》总编(Libération)约翰·胡夫纳格尔(Johan Hufnagel)说。“没有一个影响广泛的广播电视机构和名人放大此事，将之用于自己的议程。”

He also said that French voters, with the benefit of hindsight, suspected any signs of destabilization that may have affected the vote in the American presidential election and Britain's so-called Brexit referendum in June to leave the European Union.	他还表示，因为有美国和英国的前车之鉴，法国选民对有可能影响了美国总统大选和去年6月英国脱欧公投的任何不稳定迹象都有所警惕。
"French voters didn't want to get into that game," Hufnagel said. "They were mentally prepared after Trump and Brexit and the Russians, even if it's not clear they're behind it."	"法国选民不想落入那种圈套，"胡夫纳格尔说。"在特朗普、英国脱欧、俄罗斯人那些事发生后，他们在心理上有所准备，尽管目前并不清楚这次是否是他们主使。"
Some Macron supporters initially feared that the reports of the hacking and his inability to respond could be devastating on the eve of voting.	马克龙的一些支持者最初担心有关黑客袭击的报道、以及他无法做出应对的现实，会在选举前夕造成毁灭性的影响。
The hacking lit up social media, especially in the United States, where far-right activists have joined together to spread extremist messages in Europe.	这场袭击在社交媒体上引起轩然大波，尤其是在美国，那里的极右翼活动人士联合起来在欧洲传播极端主义的讯息。
On Election Day, the French-language version of Sputnik, the Russia news outlet, played up social media coverage of the leaks.	在选举日，俄罗斯卫星通讯社(Sputnik)法语版在社交媒体上大肆报道这次信息泄露事件。
But the leaks did not get much traction in France, where news outlets respected the blackout. The documents landed at the eleventh hour, without time for journalists to scrutinize them properly before the ban went into effect.	但泄密的消息没有在法国引起太大的注意，这里的新闻媒体遵守了政府发布的禁令。记者们在最后一刻才拿到文件，来不及在禁令生效之前对它们进行充分的核实。
The news media also heeded an admonition by the government's campaign regulatory body not to publish false news. Macron's campaign said that fake documents had been mixed in with authentic ones.	新闻媒体也听从了政府竞选活动监管机构发出的警告，即不得发布虚假信息。马克龙的竞选团队表示，这些文件中有真的，也有假的。
There were also reports that Macron's campaign, well aware that it was a hacking target, had deliberately fed hackers false information in responding to phishing emails, which may explain why the leaked data	也有报道称，马克龙的竞选团队深知自己会成为黑客的目标，在收到钓鱼邮件后，故意用虚假信息给黑客喂料，这或许可以解释为什么外泄信息直到竞选快要结束时才被传播开去。 was disseminated late in the campaign.

"You can flood these addresses with multiple passwords and logins, true ones, false ones, so the people behind them use up a lot of time trying to figure them out," The Daily Beast quoted Mounir Mahjoubi, the head of Macron's digital team, as saying.	"你可以大批量地给这些地址发去各种密码和登录信息，有真有假，如此一来地址背后的人就得花很多时间去分辨，"每日野兽网站(The Daily Beast)援引马克龙竞选团队数字部门负责人穆尼尔·马哈古比(Mounir Mahjoubi)的话称。
Hufnagel said that Libération would take time to evaluate and verify the leaked documents before writing any articles about them.	胡夫纳格尔说，《解放报》在撰写关于外泄文件的任何文章之前，都会花时间对其加以评估和证实。
Le Monde, the country's leading daily, said in an article published Saturday that it would also scrutinize the leaked material before writing.	法国权威日报《世界报》(Le Monde)在周六发表的一篇文章中称，它也会在撰写文章前对外泄文件进行审核。
"If those documents contain revelations, Le Monde of course, will publish them, after having investigated in accordance with our journalistic and ethical rules, without letting ourselves be manipulated by the publishing agenda of anonymous actors," the newspaper said.	"如果这些文件含有揭露性信息，《世界报》当然会在依照我们的新闻和伦理守则进行调查后，将其公之于众，而不会让自己受到匿名行动者的发表议程的操纵。"
After that blackout ended Sunday night, most news outlets said only that the French authorities had opened an investigation.	禁令于周日晚间解除后，大多数媒体只是表示，法国当局已经启动了调查。
That reticence stretched across the landscape of newspapers in France, regardless of political leaning — Several weekly newsmagazines — the conservative Le Point, the centrist L'Express and the left-leaning L'Obs — also held back.	这种缄默席卷了法国报界，无论采取什么政治立场，几家新闻周刊——保守派的《快报》(L'Express)、中间派的《新观察家》(L'Obs)和左派的《观点》(Le Point)——也没有报道。
The Macron campaign has said little about the hacking and leaks beyond a statement late Friday night — just minutes before the blackout began — describing the operation as "massive and coordinated" and an effort to destabilize French democracy.	马克龙的竞选团队除了在上周五深夜，也就是禁令马上就要生效时发了一份声明，几乎未就此次黑客入侵和文件泄露置评。声明称，这是一场"大规模的协同"行动，旨在颠覆法国的民主。
For now, it appears the attack turned up mostly mundane documents. Although the coverage has hardly been comprehensive, no real	目前看来，这场网络攻击所触及的似乎大多是颇为普通的文件。虽然报道还谈不上全面，但到目前尚未发现真正的猛料。 smoking guns have been uncovered.

"The good news is that there was an attempt at destabilization that didn't work," said Céline Pigalle, the top editor at BFM-TV, a private broadcaster. "The elements weren't strong enough. But what would have happened if they had been?"	"好消息是，颠覆企图没有得逞，"私立广播机构 BFM-TV 的主编赛琳·皮加尔 (Céline Pigalle)。“料不够猛。但如果料足够猛，会发生什么？”
Pigalle said the late-breaking document dump provided a reason to revise the news blackout law. It was created to give citizens time to reflect before voting, but in the era of social media, it gives anyone with a Twitter account an edge over France's respected news outlets.	皮加尔说，在禁令即将生效前发生的文件泄露事件，为修改新闻管制法规提供了一个理由。出台这样的法规是为了让公民在投票前有时间去思考，但在社交媒体时代，它让任何一个拥有 Twitter 账户的人，都比受尊重的法国媒体更有优势。
"It denies the world as it exists today, when social media don't stop," she said.	"它对现今的状况视而不见，社交媒体可不会停下来，"她说。
The National Front, Le Pen's party, has a vexed relationship with the mainstream news media, which it has at once scorned and used.	对勒庞领导的国民阵线(National Front)来说，与主流媒体之间的关系一直是一个颇为棘手的问题——它既谴责主流媒体，又要利用它们。
The National Front does not have the equivalent of a Bill O'Reilly or a Sean Hannity, the right-wing commentators who helped shore up Trump's presidential bid. While French commentators such as Éric Zemmour, a regular on radio and television who has a column in Le Figaro, have fed into a sense of decline and insecurity that the National Front tried to capitalize on politically, neither he nor other so-called neo-reactionary commentators endorsed the far-right party.	国民阵线没有可与比尔·奥莱利(Bill O'Reilly)或肖恩·汉尼提(Sean Hannity)相提并论的人物的支持，这两名右翼评论员曾帮助提振特朗普的选情。一些法国评论员，比如常常上广播和电视节目，还为《费加罗报》(Le Figaro)写专栏的埃希克·泽穆尔(Éric Zemmour)，虽然帮助催生了一种国民阵线试图在政治上加以利用的没落和不安全之感，但他和其他所谓的新反动主义评论员都没给这个极右翼党派背书。
In the United States, reaction to the Macron leaks was more animated, and Hillary Clinton took to Twitter to comment. "Victory for Macron, for France, the EU, & the world. Defeat to those interfering w/democracy. (But the media says I can't talk about that)."	在美国，马克龙文件外泄事件引发了更为热烈的反应，希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)在 Twitter 上发表了评论。“马克龙、法国、欧盟乃至整个世界的胜利。干扰民主的那些人的失败。(但媒体说我不能谈论这个)。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170509/macron-hacking-attack-france	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170509/macron-hacking-attack-france

France's First Lady, a Confidante and Coach, May Break the Mold	是伴侣也是老师，引发性别论战的法国第一夫人
PARIS — If France's president-elect has broken every rule in the political playbook, consider Brigitte Macron, the country's next first lady.	巴黎——如果说法国候任总统打破了政治教科书中的所有规则，那你可以想想这个国家的下任第一夫人布丽吉特·马克龙(Brigitte Macron)。
She met her future husband, Emmanuel, when he was 15 and she was his 39-year-old drama teacher, married with three children. She and his parents at first tried to discourage him from pursuing her, and she has said they did not have a "carnal" relationship when he was in high school, but he eventually won her over.	她在未来的丈夫埃马纽埃尔(Emmanuel)15岁的时候与他相遇，当时她是一名39岁的戏剧老师，已婚，有三个孩子。一开始，她和他的父母试图劝他不要追求她，并说他们在他上高中时不曾发生“性”关系，但他最终赢得了她的芳心。
By all accounts, she was present at every stage of his political evolution, coaching him on his speeches and public demeanor, and she is the one he turns to for an unsparing critique. He treats her as an equal partner and says she will define her future role.	据各方讲述，布丽吉特见证了马克龙在政治上演进的每个阶段，指导他的演讲与公共礼仪，在需要的时候给他提供不留情面的批评。他则把她当作平等的伴侣来对待，说她会定义自己未来的角色。
France being France, this unusual couple is already stirring a lively and erudite debate about sexism, ageism, masculinity, contemporary marriage, political stagecraft and what a modern French first lady should actually be.	即便是在法国，这对不同寻常的夫妇也已经激起一场激烈而有启发性的争论，话题涉及性别歧视、年龄歧视、男子气概、现代婚姻、政治表演，以及一名现代法国第一夫人到底应该是什么样。
"It's like a breath of fresh air in this country," said Natacha Henry, a writer on gender issues. "I think he won because he didn't do any kind of macho performance, and that's what we need. If she's done that for him, great."	"就像给这个国家吹来了一股新鲜的空气，"关注性别问题的写作者娜塔莎·亨利(Natacha Henry)说。"我觉得他之所以能赢，是因为他不做任何显示大男子主义的表演，这正是我们需要的。如果是她帮助他做到了这一点，那太好了。"
Some women see the Macrons as breaking with a pattern of powerful men adorning themselves with younger women; others say French history is replete with examples of younger men seeking out older women, from Henri II's affair with Diane de Poitiers in the 16th century on.	有些女性认为，马克龙打破了权势男性用年轻女性装点自己的模式；也有人表示，从16世纪亨利二世(Henri II)与戴安娜·德普瓦捷(Diane de Poitiers)的情事算起，法国历史上不乏年轻男子追求年长女子的例子。

To some, Emmanuel Macron, 39, is a welcome antidote to past hypermasculine French politicians, and he surrounds himself with strong female advisers and models an egalitarian marriage. Others have mocked him as being under the thumb of a mother figure and even accused him of a gay affair, which he was driven to publicly deny.	对有些人而言，39岁的埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)是对法国过去那些极度大男人化的政客的一种矫正，他身边有不少强势的女性顾问，他示范着一种平等主义的婚姻。也有人嘲笑他受制于一个母亲般的人物，甚至指控他是同性恋，这遭到他的公开否认。
The candidate he defeated, Marine Le Pen, could not resist a dig at the marriage during their final debate: "I can see you want to play this teacher and pupil game with me, but it's not really my thing."	在最后一场竞选辩论中，被他击败的候选人马琳·勒庞(Marine Le Pen)禁不住挖苦他的婚姻：“看得出来，你是想跟我玩那套老师和学生的游戏，但这真不是我的菜。”
In the days after the election, social media posts went viral criticizing the way the couple have sometimes been portrayed in the press: she as a predatory "cougar" and he as a "boy toy"; Brigitte Macron, 64, has been called everything from a grandmother making his tea to a "cagole," a French term for a bimbo. If the ages were reversed, her defenders pointed out, no one would have blinked an eye.	选举结束后的几天里，社交媒体大量传播着一些帖子，猛烈抨击了媒体有时描绘这对夫妇的方式：她是一头掠夺年轻男性的“女色狼”，他则是只“小狼狗”；64岁的布丽吉特·马克龙被冠上各种名号，从给他泡茶的祖母，到“cagole”，即法语中表示性感无脑女子的词。她的支持者指出，要是把两人的年龄调换，就没人会说什么了。
"Madame Macron's age is a feminist issue here," Henry said. "I was at the hairdresser's at a very small town in Orléans the day he was appointed minister of economy, and all the ladies were so happy she was so much older than him. We're so fed up with these older guys with young actresses."	“马克龙夫人的年龄在这里是一个女权主义议题，”亨利说。“他被任命为经济部长时，我正在奥尔良一个小城镇的美发店里，在场所有的女士们都为她的年龄比他大那么多而感到十分高兴。我们真是看够了那些老男人和年轻女演员的搭配。”
The Macrons both grew up in the northern city of Amiens, Brigitte Macron as the sixth child of a family whose chocolate business was a local institution founded in 1872. She married a banker in 1974 when she was 21, had two daughters and a son, and taught French, Latin and drama in high school.	马克龙夫妇都成长于北部城市亚眠，布丽吉特·马克龙是家里的第六个孩子，这个家族从1872就开始在当地经营巧克力生意，其产品在那里颇受尊崇。她在1974年，也就是自己21岁的时候嫁给了一名银行家，生了两个女儿、一个儿子，在高中教法语、拉丁语和戏剧。
Like many schoolboys, Emmanuel Macron developed a crush on his	像许多男学生一样，埃马纽埃尔·马克龙喜欢上了自己的老师。布丽吉特·马

teacher. Brigitte Macron, during an interview she gave in 2016 to Paris Match magazine, described falling in love: "I felt that I was slipping, too," she said. "I then asked him to go to Paris" to finish his education, and his parents were also eager to separate them.	克龙在 2016 年接受《巴黎竞赛》(Paris Match)杂志采访时描述了这段恋情：“我感觉自己也要陷进去了，”她说。“之后我让他到巴黎”去完成学业，他的父母也急于将他们分开。
While the age of sexual consent in France is 15, it is illegal for teachers to have sex with students under the age of 18; Brigitte Macron told the authors of a book about the couple that they did not consummate the relationship while he was in high school. She declined a request for an interview.	尽管法国允许发生性关系的年龄是 15 岁，但老师与 18 岁以下的学生发生性关系是违法的；布丽吉特·马克龙告诉撰写一本以他们为主题的书的作者，在他上高中时，他们没有把关系发展到那种程度。她拒绝了时报了采访请求。
Candice Nedelec, an author of a book on them, "Les Macron," said Emmanuel Macron would emerge backstage from a campaign appearance and reflexively ask, "Where's Brigitte?"	以他们两人为主题的著作《马克龙夫妇》(Les Macron)的作者康迪斯·内代莱克(Candice Nedelec)说，埃马纽埃尔·马克龙会在竞选活动中露面后回到后台时，条件反射地问，“布丽吉特在哪里？”
Macron has sometimes come off as wordy, theoretical or hard to follow. Brigitte Macron told him bluntly to cut parts of his campaign book because they were too boring, Nedelec said. The documentary shows Brigitte Macron rehearsing a speech with him, telling him that he had not spoken loudly enough.	马克龙有时会给人以啰嗦、喜欢理论、让人跟不上他思路的感觉。内代莱克表示，布丽吉特·马克龙会直言不讳地告诉他，去掉竞选手册中的一部分，因为它们太乏味。这部纪实作品提到，布丽吉特·马克龙在跟他一起为演讲进行排练时，会直言他声音不够大。
"During a presidential campaign, it's usually the king and his court," Nedelec said. "She's the one who won't hesitate to tell him the truth."	“在一场总统竞选中，通常出现的是国王与他的大臣，”内代莱克说。“而她是那个会毫不犹豫告诉他真相的人。”
Leah Pizar, an expert in Franco-American relations who worked in the Clinton White House, said Brigitte Macron served as his gatekeeper: "You want to get to him, you go through her."	曾在克林顿政府供职的法美关系专家利娅·皮萨尔(Leah Pizar)表示，布丽吉特扮演着看门人的角色：“想搞定他，得先过了她这一关。”
In this, Brigitte Macron also appears maternal, protecting her husband as many French wives are expected to do. She is seen chiding him not to eat junk food on the trail in a documentary that followed his	在这方面，布丽吉特·马克龙也显得有些母性化，在保护着她的丈夫，就像许多法国妻子被期待的那样。在一部纪录片里，可以看到她在竞选途中斥责他，让他不要吃垃圾食品。这部片子的拍摄者跟拍他的竞选活动历时数月。

campaign for several months.
But Marlène Schiappa, a campaign adviser on gender issues, and others who know the couple warn against painting her as a Pygmalion figure.	但性别问题方面的竞选顾问马莱娜·夏帕(Marlène Schiappa)及其他了解这对夫妇的人士发出警告, 称不该把她描绘成皮格马利翁式的人物。
They say that he frames policy and that she is more of a sounding board, contributing only on issues she knows well, including education, culture and women's rights. Nedelec said Macron had urged her husband to include proposals for smaller classes for students in disadvantaged areas.	他们表示, 政策是他制定的, 她更像是一个决策咨询人, 只在自己非常了解的议题上提供意见, 比如教育、文化和女性权利。内代莱克表示, 马克龙曾力劝她丈夫纳入为落后地区的学生提供小班授课的提案。
She and one of her daughters pushed him to help advance women in politics; he has pledged that half the candidates his party will field in the coming legislative elections will be women and that he will appoint many women to his Cabinet.	她和她的一个女儿曾经力劝他帮助提高女性在政界的地位; 他承诺在接下来的议会选举中, 他的政党提名的候选人有一半会是女性, 还说他会自己的内阁中任命许多女性成员。
Some of these may be issues that Brigitte Macron takes up as first lady, a role that is undefined in France and has no government-paid staff — and polls show the French public wants to keep it that way, said Robert Schneider, who wrote a book about first ladies in France.	其中有些议题或许是布丽吉特·马克龙以第一夫人的角色提出, 这是一个在法国没有明确定义的角色, 手下也没有政府聘用的工作人员——曾撰写过一本有关法国第一夫人的著作的罗伯特·施奈德(Robert Schneider)提到, 有调查问卷显示, 法国公众希望继续保持这种状况。
Nedelec said that she had spoken with Brigitte Macron a few days ago and that Macron was thinking about Michelle Obama as a model. "Brigitte said she knows it was her husband who was elected and not her," Nedelec said.	内代莱克表示, 几天前她与布丽吉特·马克龙交谈过, 后者正在考虑以米歇尔·奥巴马(Michelle Obama)为榜样。"布丽吉特说她知道是她丈夫, 而不是她当选了法国总统," 内代莱克说。
Yet in a television interview after he made it to the presidential runoff, her husband made it clear that she was not vanishing: "She will have a say in what she wants to be. She will have a presence, a voice, a look. She will have it privately by my side as she always has, but she will have a public role because that's how it goes."	然而在进入总统决选后接受电视采访时, 她的丈夫曾明确表示她不会消失: "她会在自己感兴趣的任何领域拥有发言权。她会有一个位置, 可以发声, 可以旁观。就像一直以来, 她私下里在我身边会是这样的, 但她也会有一个公共角色, 因为情况就是这样。"

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170512/brigitte-macron	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170512/brigitte-macron
Cyberattack's Impact Could Worsen as Computers Are Turned On Monday	多国遭遇大规模网络攻击，威胁恐继续升级
LONDON — Security experts are warning that the global cyberattack that began on Friday is likely to be magnified in the new workweek as users return to their offices and turn on their computers.	伦敦——安全专家警告说，随着用户纷纷开始返回办公室，打开自己的计算机，上周五开始的全球网络攻击可能会在新的工作周里进一步扩大。
Many workers, particularly in Asia, had already logged off on Friday when the malicious software, stolen from the United States government, began proliferating across computer systems around the world. So the true impact of the attack may emerge on Monday as employees return and log in.	上周五，从美国政府偷来的恶意软件开始在世界各地的计算机系统中蔓延的时候，许多工作人员、尤其是亚洲的工作人员已经不在计算机上。因此，这次攻击的真正影响也许在员工周一上班、登录计算机时才会表现出来。
Moreover, copycat variants of the malicious software behind the attacks are likely to spread, since the malware uses mostly open-source code and is easily replicable.	此外，制造攻击的恶意软件的模仿变异版本可能会扩散，这个恶意软件主要使用开源代码，因此很容易复制。
Rob Wainwright, the executive director of Europol, the European Union's police agency, said on Sunday that the attacks had hit 200,000 computers in more than 150 countries.	欧盟警察机构欧洲刑警组织(Europol)执行主任罗布·温赖特(Rob Wainwright)周日表示，这次攻击已经危害到 150 多个国家的 20 万台计算机。
"At the moment, we are in the face of an escalating threat," he told the British network ITV on Sunday. "The numbers are going up. I am worried about how the numbers will continue to grow when people go to work and turn their machines on Monday morning."	"此时此刻，我们正面临着一个逐步扩大的威胁，"他周日对英国独立电视台(ITV)说。"受攻击机器的数字正在上升。我对周一早上人们上班、打开他们的计算机后，这个数字将怎样继续增长很担心。"
Among the organizations hit were FedEx in the United States, the Spanish telecom giant Telefónica, the French automaker Renault, universities in China, Germany's federal railway system and Russia's powerful Interior Ministry. The most disruptive attacks infected Britain's	攻击已经危害到许多机构，其中包括美国的联邦快递、西班牙的电信巨头 Telefónica、法国的汽车制造商雷诺、中国的一些大学、德国的联邦铁路系统，以及俄罗斯有影响力的内政部。破坏性最大的攻击感染了英国的国民健康服务系统(National Health Service, 简称 NHS)，一些手术不得不重新排

public health system, where surgeries had to be rescheduled and some patients were turned away from emergency rooms.	时间，还有些病人被急诊室拒之门外。
"We haven't seen spikes of new attacks yet, but that's a strong likelihood," said Matthieu Suiche, founder of Comae Technologies, a cybersecurity company based in the United Arab Emirates. "We could see more attacks if people start to copycat this attack," he added.	位于阿拉伯联合酋长国的网络安全公司 Comae Technologies 的创始人 Matthieu Suiche 说，“我们尚未看到新攻击的急剧上升，但有很大的这种可能性。”他补充说，“如果人们开始模仿这种攻击的话，我们会看到更多的攻击。”
A 22-year-old British researcher who uses the Twitter name MalwareTech has been credited with inadvertently helping to stanch the spread of the assault by identifying the web domain for the hackers' "kill switch" — a way of disabling the malware.	多亏一名在 Twitter 上使用 MalwareTech 网名的 22 岁的英国研究者识别出了黑客的“自毁开关”(kill switch、也就是让恶意软件失效)网站域名，从而无意中帮助阻止了攻击的扩大。
On Sunday, MalwareTech was one of many security experts warning that a less-vulnerable version of the malware is likely to be released. On Twitter, he urged users to immediately install a security patch for older versions of Microsoft's Windows, including Windows XP. (The attack did not target Windows 10.)	包括 MalwareTech 在内的许多安全专家周日警告说，这个恶意软件的一个更难对付的版本很可能被释放出来。MalwareTech 在 Twitter 上呼吁用户马上为老版本的微软 Windows 操作系统（包括 Windows XP）安装安全补丁。（这次攻击没有针对 Windows 10 系统。）
Robert Pritchard, a former cybersecurity expert at Britain's defense ministry, said that security specialists may not be able to keep pace with the hackers.	英国国防部前网络安全专家罗伯特·普里查德(Robert Pritchard)说，安全专家可能无法与黑客保持同步。
"This vulnerability still exists, other people are bound to exploit it," he said. "The current variant will make its way into antivirus software. But what about any new variants that will come in the future?"	“这个漏洞依然存在，其他人一定会利用它，”他说。“针对目前恶意软件版本的防御将进入防病毒软件。但是，将来出现新的变异版本怎么办？”
All it would take is for a new group of hackers to change the original malware code slightly to remove the "kill switch" and send it off into the world, using the same email-based methods to infiltrate computer systems that the original attackers used, experts said. The Microsoft	专家们说，只需要一群新黑客出来，稍微修改一下原版恶意软件的代码，把其中的“自毁开关”删除，并将新版本释放出来，用与最初攻击者使用的基于电子邮件的相同方法入侵计算机系统。微软的补丁会有所帮助，但是，给大型机构的所有机器打补丁需要时间。 patch will help, but it will take time to install across large organizations.

Governments around the world were bracing themselves for the start of the workweek.	世界各地的政府正在为新工作周的开始做准备。
"This is crucial for businesses when reopening on Monday: Please beware and anticipate, and take preventive steps against the WannaCry malware attack," Indonesia's communication and information minister, Rudiantara, who like many Indonesians uses only one name, said at a news conference.	"这对企业周一重新开张至关重要:请采取提防和先行措施,采取步骤预防'想哭'(WannaCry)恶意软件的攻击,"印度尼西亚信息与通讯部长鲁迪安塔拉(Rudiantara)说,和许多印尼人一样,这位部长只用单名。
He advised those hit by the malware against paying the $300 to $600 in Bitcoin demanded as ransom to regain access to encrypted data, since there was no assurance that the extortionists would decrypt the files as promised.	他劝告受到恶意软件攻击的人,不要为了把被加密的数据换回来,用比特币支付被勒索的300到600美元的赎金,因为无法保证敲诈勒索者会按他们承诺的去做,对文件进行解密。
At least one Indonesian hospital, Dharmais Hospital in Jakarta, was affected. Abdul Kadir, the hospital director, said in an interview that the computer system was struck early on Saturday, but that it had not affected patient care.	至少有一家印尼医院受到了影响:雅加达的达摩医院(Dharmais Hospital)。院长阿卜杜勒·卡迪尔(Abdul Kadir)在接受采访时表示,医院的计算机系统周六早些时候受到攻击,但没有影响病人的护理。
In China, several universities reported malware problems, including Shandong University in the northeast, which urged faculty and students to update their software as quickly as possible.	中国有几所大学也报告了恶意软件的问题,其中包括山东大学,该校敦促教师和学生尽快更新他们的软件。
"There is often no other way to decrypt the file, except to pay a high ransom to decrypt and recover the documents, learning materials and personal data," the notice warned on Saturday.	山大周六发的通知公告说,"往往没有其他办法解密文件,只有支付高额赎金才能解密恢复文件,对学习资料和个人数据造成严重损失。"
Microsoft has complained for years that the large majority of computers running its software were using pirated versions. The spread of hacking attacks has made legal versions of software more popular, as they	微软多年来一直抱怨,大多数运行其软件的计算机使用的都是盗版。黑客攻击的蔓延使合法的正版软件更受欢迎,因为正版软件通常自动提供安全更新的升级。 typically provide automatic updates of security upgrades.

But Edward J. Snowden's release in 2013 of extensive information about hacking by the United States government, some of it aimed at monitoring China's rapid military buildup, alarmed the Chinese leadership. The leak by Mr. Snowden, a former National Security Agency contractor, helped accelerate a broad push to develop Chinese-brand software and hardware that would be hard for Western intelligence agencies to penetrate but that would still allow monitoring of the population by Chinese security agencies.	但是,爱德华·J·斯诺登(Edward J. Snowden)2013年公布了关于美国政府从事黑客攻击的大量信息,其中有些攻击的目的是监视中国军事力量的迅速增长,这让中国领导人感到震惊。斯诺登是国家安全局(National Security Agency)前承包商雇员,他的披露帮助加快了大力推动开发国产硬件的努力,国产硬件将会让西方情报机构更难渗透,但仍会允许中国安全机构监视老百姓。
In Britain, the fallout from the attack continued on Sunday. Two opposition parties, the Labour Party and the Liberal Democrats, asserted that the governing Conservative Party had not done enough to prevent the attack. With a general election scheduled for June 8, officials have been racing to get ahead of the problem.	周日,黑客攻击的后果在英国继续发酵。工党和自由民主党这两个反对党都断言,执政的保守党对防止这次攻击没有采取足够的措施。由于6月8日的大选在即,政府官员正在加快步伐,赶在问题出现前将其解决。
Britain's defense minister, Michael Fallon, told the BBC on Sunday that the government was spending about 50 million pounds ($64 million) to improve cybersecurity at the National Health Service, where many computers still run the outdated Windows XP software, which Microsoft had stopped supporting.	英国国防部长迈克尔·法伦(Michael Fallon)周日对英国广播公司说,政府正在花约5000万英镑(约合4.4亿元人民币)来改进国民健康服务系统的网络安全,该系统中有许多机器仍在运行过时的Windows XP软件,微软早已停止了对这个老操作系统的支持。
At the National Health Service, employees said they had been cautioned about their computer use.	国民健康服务部门的员工表示,他们已经得到了关于计算机使用的警告。
"We are all being extra careful," said Greg Elston, a paramedic at St. Mary's Hospital in central London. "We've been instructed not to open email attachments on our phones."	"我们都格外小心,"伦敦市中心圣玛丽医院的医务辅助人员格雷格·埃尔斯顿(Greg Elston)说。"我们被指示不要在手机上打开电子邮件的附件。"
Nancy Harper, who accompanied her mother to the hospital on	周六陪母亲到该医院拍X光片的南希·哈珀(Nancy Harper)说:"NHS仍依赖

Saturday for an X-ray, said: "It's concerning that the N.H.S. was dependent on these outdated systems. If your average person has access to cheap cloud storage these days, then hospitals should be using similar backup methods. I hope this was a wake-up call."	这些过时的系统令人担忧。连普通老百姓都能使用廉价的云端存储，医院早就该用类似的备份方法了。我希望这次攻击给他们敲响了警钟。”
Others praised the service for maintaining services despite the strain. Himmat Sandut, who took his mother to the emergency room after she collapsed at home, said his experience had been smooth and fast.	也有人称赞该部门，尽管有攻击的压力，仍能坚持提供服务。希姆马特·桑德特(Himmat Sandut)在母亲在家中晕倒后带她来急诊室就诊，他说，看病的经历很顺利，也很快。
"I was worried we would be faced with a huge queue, but we were seen within 10 minutes, and they've now given my mum a bed," he said on Saturday. "I'm surprised and impressed under the current circumstances."	“我担心我们可能会要排大队，但 10 分钟内我们就见到了大夫，现在他们已给我妈安排了床位。”他在周六说。“考虑到目前的情况，我感到很惊讶，这也给我留下了很好的印象。”
The least-functioning part of the hospital appeared to be the elevator, which got stuck on Saturday before resuming operations — in the wrong direction.	这家医院里毛病最多的东西似乎是升降梯，周六，有人曾一度被困在电梯里，虽然电梯后来恢复了运行，但却是朝着相反的方向。
"Was the elevator hacked as well?" one man said jokingly, causing an elevator packed with tense doctors and nurses to erupt in laughter. "Are we going to have to pay a ransom to get out?"	“电梯是不是也被黑客入侵了？”一名男子开玩笑地问道，令多名挤在电梯里的神经紧张的医生和护士大笑起来。“我们需要支付赎金才能出去吗？”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170515/cyberattacks-hack-computers-monday	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170515/cyberattacks-hack-computers-monday
In Beijing, Putin Plays Two Piano Tunes From His Childhood	除了谈“一带一路”，普京在中国还秀了钢琴才艺
MOSCOW — He has ridden shirtless on a horse in Siberia, piloted a hand glider with migratory birds, swum with dolphins, tossed judo opponents, and dived into the depths of Lake Baikal and the Black Sea.	莫斯科——他在西伯利亚赤膊骑马，驾驶悬挂式滑翔机和候鸟一起飞行，与海豚一起游泳，抛起柔道对手，潜入贝加尔湖和黑海的深处。
He is Russia's president, Vladimir V. Putin, who added to his public repertory of feats on Sunday by showing off his skills as a pianist.	他就是俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)，周日，他还炫耀自己演奏钢琴的技能，在他公开的才能种类中又添加了一项。

He was in Beijing for the “One Belt, One Road” initiative, a $1 trillion plan for infrastructure and economic development in some 60 countries. And while waiting at a state guesthouse of China’s president, Xi Jinping, Mr. Putin sat down at a grand piano and played two tunes: “Evening Song,” by Vasily Solovyov-Sedoi, and “Moscow Windows,” by Tikhon Khrennikov.	他因为“一带一路”的倡议来到北京，这个 1 万亿美元的项目计划带动 60 多个国家的基础设施建设和经济发展。在国宾馆等待的时候，普京坐在一架大钢琴旁，演奏了两首曲子：瓦西里·索洛维约夫-谢多伊(Vasily Solovyov-Sedoi)的《黄昏之歌》和吉洪·赫连尼科夫(Tikhon Khrennikov)的《莫斯科之窗》。
Both songs are from the late 1950s, when Mr. Putin, 64, was a child and the Soviet Union was emerging from the shadow of Stalin, who died in 1953.	这两首歌皆创作于 1950 年代末，现年 64 岁的普京当时还是孩子，苏联正在走出 1953 年去世的斯大林的阴影。
The performance seemed casual, but it was clearly not spontaneous — a cameraman was on hand, and video of the impromptu recital quickly circulated on Russian state media.	表演显得很随性，但显然不是偶发的——摄影师就在旁边，这个即兴演奏的视频在俄罗斯的国家媒体上迅速流传。
The recital showed perhaps a softer side of Mr. Putin, an authoritarian leader who has been in power since 1999 and has often appeared eager to be seen as manly.	这样的独奏展示了普京柔和的一面，自 1999 年掌权以来，普京一直被视为一个专制领导人，显得经常热衷于表现男子气概。
“Evening Song,” usually performed with lyrics by Aleksandr Churkin, was written in 1957 and is considered an unofficial anthem of St. Petersburg, Mr. Putin’s hometown, formerly known as Leningrad.	《黄昏之歌》写于 1957 年，通常表演搭配的是亚历山大·丘尔金(Aleksandr Churkin)填写的歌词，它是普京家乡圣彼得堡的非官方市歌。圣彼得堡以前被称为列宁格勒。
Here are some of the lyrics:	部分歌词如下：
“The city over the free Neva, the city of our glorious labor, listen Leningrad, I am singing to you my heartfelt song.”	“自由的涅瓦河畔的城市，是我们光荣的劳动者之城，听吧列宁格勒，我在对你唱着由衷的歌。”
In the 1980s, fans of the St. Petersburg soccer team Zenit turned it into an unofficial anthem for the team.	在 1980 年代，圣彼得堡泽尼特足球队的球迷把它变成了一首非官方的市歌。
The other tune, “Moscow Windows,” usually performed with lyrics by the poet Mikhail Matusovsky, is a tune about friendship. Some lyrics	另一首《莫斯科之窗》通常配合诗人米哈伊尔·马图罗夫斯基(Mikhail Matusovsky)的歌词演唱。这是一首关于友谊的歌曲，其中一些歌词是：

read:
"As in the past I am ready to stand under your window, and I always rush toward the rays of light coming out of it as to a date with my youth."	"像过去一样，我准备站在你的窗下，我总是急于奔向那里透出的光亮，就像年轻时奔向恋人。"
Mr. Putin performed both tunes without a vocal accompaniment.	普京弹奏了这两首歌曲，没有人伴唱。
It was not the Russian leaders first time playing music in public: He performed "Blueberry Hill" at a 2010 charity event attended by celebrities like the actors Sharon Stone and Gérard Depardieu in St. Petersburg, and "Moscow Windows" at a 2014 event at the Moscow Engineering Physics Institute.	这并非普京第一次在公共场合弹奏音乐：2010年，他在圣彼得堡的一个慈善活动上弹过《蓝莓山》，演员莎朗·斯通(Sharon Stone)和杰拉尔·德帕迪约(Gérard Depardieu)等一些名人也出席了该活动。2014年，普京在莫斯科工程物理研究所的一个活动上也弹奏过《莫斯科之窗》。
Mr. Putin's spokesman, Dmitri S. Peskov, told journalists in Beijing that "while Mr. Putin was waiting for a bilateral meeting with Xi Jinping, the president studied some papers, prepared for the meeting and also played piano," as quoted by Gazeta.ru, a Russian news website.	据俄罗斯新闻网站 Gazeta.ru 报道，普京的发言人德米特里·S·佩斯科夫(Dmitri S.Peskov)在北京对记者表示：“普京当时正在等待与习近平会晤，总统研究了一些资料，为会面做准备，还弹了一下钢琴。”
China's propaganda chiefs did not appear to be amused that President Xi had been upstaged to some extent at his own conference, and official Chinese news media pointedly made little mention of the piano performance.	中国主管宣传的领导似乎不乐意看到习近平在自己的会议上被抢风头，中国官方媒体没有怎么提及普京弹琴的事。
Mr. Putin's piano playing seemed to strike a chord with Chinese social media users. Female users posted notes online saying he was handsome (Mr. Putin has long been popular among Chinese women as a symbol of manliness.) Other social media users were quick to suggest that their country's leaders also had musical talent.	普京演奏钢琴的事在中国的社交媒体上引起了兴趣。女性用户在网上说他很帅气（普京长期以来都很受到中国女性的青睐，觉得他是男子气概的象征）。其他社交媒体用户很快也列出中国领导人的音乐才能。
One user of Weibo, a popular Chinese microblogging site, posted one photo of Mr. Putin, plus six pictures of former President Jiang Zemin	在人气社交媒体微博上，一位用户贴了普京的照片，然后加上前主席江泽民演奏乐器的六张照片，乐器有钢琴、中国传统长笛、两种传统弦乐器，甚至

playing the piano, a f traditional Chinese flute, two different kinds of traditional stringed instruments and even a Hawaiian guitar.	还有夏威夷吉他。
That Weibo posting had a single-word rebuff to Mr. Putin: "Ability."	那条微博帖子用一个词来怼普京：“本事”。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170515/vladimir-putin-piano-one-belt-one-road-beijing	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170515/vladimir-putin-piano-one-belt-one-road-beijing
Indian Girl, 10, Was Raped Repeatedly. Now She May Have to Give Birth. NEW DELHI — A 10-year-old girl who was repeatedly raped by her stepfather, and who is now at least 20 weeks pregnant, may be forced to give birth because of India’s restrictive abortion law.	印度女孩多次被继父强奸，怀孕 20 周可能被迫生产 新德里——一名 10 岁的女孩多次被自己的继父强奸，如今已经怀孕至少 20 周，但由于印度的法律严格限制堕胎，她可能会被迫生产。
In a case that has become a glaring example of both impunity for rapists and a lack of women’s reproductive rights in India, a court must decide whether the pregnant girl is entitled to an abortion.	这起案件已经变成强奸者在印度免于惩罚、女性生育权缺失的突出例证。法院必须决定这名怀孕的女孩是否有权堕胎。
A medical board in the northern Indian state of Haryana said on Monday that the girl’s life had not been endangered by the pregnancy, a necessary condition under the law for most abortions conducted after 20 weeks. India enacted that law in part to discourage the widespread termination of female fetuses in a part of the world where boys are preferred.	周一，印度北部哈里亚纳邦(Haryana)的一个医学委员会表示，这名女孩的生命并没有因为怀孕而受到威胁。依据印度法律，那是怀孕 20 周以后进行大多数堕胎手术的必要条件。印度颁布这项法律，部分原因是为了阻止一些地方普遍存在的打掉女胎的行为，因为人们更愿意要男孩。
In making its determination, the medical board said a court would have to determine whether the girl’s case meets the legal threshold of “exceptional circumstances” that justify an abortion.	该医学委员会表示，法院在做裁决时必须确定这名女孩的案子是否满足堕胎“特殊情况”的法律门槛。
The case came to light last Wednesday when the police received a tip on a help line dedicated to crimes against women. The caller was the girl’s mother, said Pankaj Nain, the police chief of Rohtak district in Haryana State.	上周三，警方在一个致力于打击针对女性犯罪的救助热线上获得线报之后，这个案件得以曝光。哈里亚纳邦罗塔克区警察局局长潘卡杰·纳恩(Pankaj Nain)表示，打来电话的是女孩的母亲。

Investigators found that the girl had been “repeatedly raped by her stepfather over a period of time,” said a police inspector at a Rohtak police station devoted to crimes against women.	调查人员发现，这名女孩“在一段时间里多次被继父强暴”，罗塔克警察局一名专门负责针对女性犯罪的警督说道。
“We found the girl in very miserable condition,” said the inspector, Garima, who, like many Indians, goes by a single name. The girl’s mother and stepfather worked as day laborers on construction sites, and her stepfather, who was in his early 20s, would exploit her mother’s absence to rape the girl, said Dr. S. K. Dhatarwal, the head of the forensic medicine department at Rohtak’s Post Graduate Institute of Medical Sciences.	“我们发现这个女孩情况非常糟糕，”像许多印度人一样只用一个单名的警督加里马(Garima)说道。罗塔克医学研究所(Rohtak’s Post Graduate Institute of Medical Sciences)法医部主任 S·K·达塔瓦勒(S. K. Dhatarwal)表示，这名女孩的母亲和继父在建筑工地做临时工，20岁出头的继父会趁母亲不在的时候强奸她。
The victim was examined by a medical board consisting of seven doctors, Dr. Dhatarwal said. They concluded that she was 10 to 12 years old, and that her pregnancy exceeded 20 weeks.	达塔瓦勒表示，受害人接受了由七名医生组成的医学委员会的检查。他们得出结论，称她的年龄在10岁到12岁之间，怀孕时间已经超过20周。
“She is traumatized and not able to speak properly,” Dr. Dhatarwal said. “She was not able to understand what was going on with her. She was subjected to sexual intercourse several times.”	“她受到了精神创伤，无法正常说话，”达塔瓦勒说。“她无法理解自己的遭遇。她被迫进行了几次性交。”
Two other recent rapes in the region have reinforced India’s reputation as dangerous for women. The badly mutilated body of a woman in her early 20s was found last week, and medical examiners said the bones in her head had been shattered and sharp objects inserted into her vagina.	该地区最近发生的另外两起强奸事件强化了印度对女性而言十分危险的名声。上周，警方发现一名20岁出头的女子遭到严重损害的尸体，法医表示她的头骨被击碎，有尖锐的物体插入了她的阴道。
“It was a brutal sexual assault-cum-murder,” said Dr. Dhatarwal, who also supervised the medical examination in that case. He said the woman’s assailants had tried to smash her head and disfigure her face to make it unrecognizable.	“这是一起残忍的性侵谋杀案件，”同样负责监督该案件医学检查工作的达塔瓦勒说。他表示，袭击这名女子的人试图击碎她的脑袋，毁掉她的容貌，好让人认不出来。
The victim’s relatives said she had been harassed by one of the men	受害人的家属表示，被怀疑强奸的两名男子有一人之前骚扰过她。在这起案

suspected in the rape. The police have made two arrests in the case.	件中，警方已经逮捕了两名嫌疑人。
Also last week, a young woman was dragged into a moving car by a group of men as she was walking home after midnight. The police said she was raped repeatedly for hours in the moving car, then thrown onto the road in the city of Gurgaon just south of New Delhi.	也是在上周，一名女子在午夜之后走路回家时被一群男子拖入一辆开动的轿车。警方表示，她在那辆开动的车上遭到持续数个小时的强暴，之后被扔到了新德里以南古尔冈市的路边。
The cases recalled the 2012 rape of a physiotherapy student in Delhi who had boarded a private bus with a male friend after seeing a movie at a mall and was fatally injured during a sexual assault.	这些案件让人想起了 2012 年在德里发生的公交车强奸案，受害者是一名物理治疗专业的女学生，她和一个男性朋友在购物中心看完电影之后，登上了一辆私营的公交车，在遭受性侵过程中因重伤不治身亡。
The death of the woman, who became known as “Nirbhaya,” or “fearless,” infuriated many Indians, who had become exasperated by the casual harassment of women in public spaces.	这个姑娘后来被称为“Nirbhaya”，意思是“无所畏惧”。她的死亡激怒了很多印度人，他们对女性在公共场所遭到随意骚扰十分愤怒。
Five men were sentenced to death in that case, and last week India’s Supreme Court upheld the verdict.	涉案的五名男子被判处死刑，上周，印度最高法院维持了原判。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170516/india-rape-abortion	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170516/india-rape-abortion
India Allows Abortion for 10-Year-Old Rape Victim	印度法院允许遭继父强奸怀孕的 10 岁女孩堕胎
NEW DELHI — An Indian court ruled on Tuesday that doctors were free to carry out an abortion on a 10-year-old girl who was raped and impregnated by her stepfather.	新德里——一家印度法院周二裁定，只要医生愿意，就可以给一名遭继父强奸而怀孕的 10 岁女孩堕胎。
Indian law severely restricts access to abortion after 20 weeks, except when the life or health of the mother is endangered. A medical board in the northern Indian state of Haryana determined that the girl’s pregnancy was nearing the 21-week mark and that it posed no danger to the mother.	印度法律严格限制在怀孕 20 周后堕胎，除非母亲的生命或健康遭受威胁。印度北部哈里亚纳邦(Haryana)的一个医疗委员会确定，该女孩怀孕接近 21 周，妊娠对母亲没有任何危害。
But the law also allows for abortions under “exceptional circumstances,” and the medical board petitioned the court for a decision on whether	但是，法律也允许在“特殊情况”下实施堕胎，该医疗委员会向法院提出申请，以确定这种情况是否符合标准。

this situation met the criteria.
Dr. S. K. Dhatarwal, head of the forensic medicine department at the Post Graduate Institute of Medical Sciences, Rohtak, said that, with the court decision, the medical board had determined that it was in the girl's best interest to perform the procedure as soon as possible.	罗塔克医学研究所(Post Graduate Institute of Medical Sciences, Rohtak)法医部主任 S·K·达塔瓦勒(S. K. Dhatarwal)博士表示, 有了法院的裁决, 医学委员会决定, 尽早实施堕胎手术符合这个女孩的最大利益。
If the pregnancy were allowed to proceed further, he said, she "will face psychological trauma; the pregnancy is not that advanced now." On that basis, he added, "We have started the process during the day today."	他说, 如果让妊娠继续下去, 女孩会面临心理创伤; "现在的月份还不算大"。在此基础上, 他表示: "我们今天已经开始了手术过程。"
The case came to light last week after the girl's mother called a help line for women. Investigators found that the girl's stepfather, a day laborer in his early 20s, had raped her repeatedly when her mother went to work on construction sites.	这个案件是上周曝光的, 当时女孩的母亲打了一条女性求助热线。调查人员发现, 女孩的继父——一个 20 出头的打零工者——趁女孩的妈妈到建筑工地上班时多次对其实施强奸。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170517/india-abortion	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170517/india-abortion
Police in England Report Fatalities at Ariana Grande Concert	英国曼彻斯特发生自杀式爆炸袭击, 数十人死伤
Updating:	更新: 曼城警方表示, 一名男子引爆了"一个简易爆炸装置", 并在爆炸中丧生。警方认为他是独自行事, 但正试图确定他是否是更大的网络的一部分。其他官员说, 警方正在调查有关装置使用螺母和螺栓作为弹片的报道。
MANCHESTER, England — At least one explosion thundered through a Manchester concert arena on Monday night just as a performance by the pop star Ariana Grande ended in what the police described as a "terrorist incident." They said at least 22 people were killed and 59 wounded as panicked spectators including children screamed and fled.	英国曼彻斯特——星期一晚上, 流行歌手阿丽亚娜·格兰德(Ariana Grande)在曼彻斯特体育场的演唱会结束之际, 发生了至少一起爆炸。警方称之为"恐怖主义事件", 他们表示至少有 22 人遇害、59 人受伤, 包括许多孩子在内的现场观众恐慌不已, 尖叫并四处逃散。
There was no immediate word from the police on the precise cause of the blast but it immediately evoked the terrorist attacks in Paris in	警方暂时并未说明爆炸发生的确切原因, 但这一事件立刻令人回想起 2015 年 11 月在巴黎发生的恐怖袭击, 其中就包括在金属乐队"死亡之鹰"(Eagles

November of 2015, which included a deadly assault inside a concert arena where the Eagles of Death Metal had been playing.	of Death)演唱会现场发生的致命袭击。
"This is currently being treated as a terrorist incident until the police know otherwise," the Manchester police said in a Twitter posting.	"在警方有更确切消息前, 该事件被作为恐怖主义事件处置。"曼彻斯特警方在一则推文中表示。
People at the concert at the Manchester Arena said they heard what sounded like explosions at the end of the show around 10:30 p.m.	在曼彻斯特体育场参加这场演唱会的人说, 在晚上10点30分左右, 演出结束时听到了疑似爆炸声。
One concertgoer, Sasina Akhtar, told The Manchester Evening News that there had been an explosion at the back of the arena after the last song. "We saw young girls with blood on them, everyone was screaming and people were running," she said.	现场观众萨希娜·阿赫塔尔(Sasina Akhtar)告诉《曼彻斯特晚报》(The Manchester Evening News)说, 在最后一首歌唱完后, 体育场后部发生了爆炸。她说:"我们看到年轻女孩身上有血迹, 大家都在尖叫, 有人在跑动。"
Ariana Grande, a 23-year-old singer with a big voice who started her career as a star on a Nickelodeon TV series, is on an international tour supporting her 2016 album, "Dangerous Woman."	23岁的阿里安娜·格兰德是一位知名歌手, 曾是尼克国际儿童频道(Nickelodeon TV)一部剧集中的明星, 现在正在进行国际巡回演唱会, 为她2016年德专辑《危险女人》(Dangerous Woman)做宣传。
The tour was scheduled to continue on Thursday at the O2 Arena in London. Two additional acts, Victoria Monét and Bia, performed as openers.	根据计划, 下一场演唱会将于周四在伦敦O2体育馆举行。另外两名歌手维多利亚·莫内(Victoria Monét)和比亚(Bia)担任开场嘉宾。
"Ariana is O.K.," said her publicist, Joseph Carozza. "We are further investigating what happened."	"阿里安娜情况还好,"她的公关人员约瑟夫·卡罗扎(Joseph Carozza)说:"我们正在调查发生了什么事情。"
Videos posted on Twitter showed concertgoers running and screaming from their seats. Hannah Dane, who attended the performance, told The Guardian that she had heard "quite a loud explosion heard from inside the Manchester Arena."	在Twitter上发布的视频显示, 观众们离座跑动、尖叫。观看表演的汉娜·丹恩(Hannah Dane)告诉《卫报》, 她听到"曼彻斯特体育场内部传来了很大的爆炸声"。
She added, "It shook, then everyone screamed and tried to get out".	她说:"太震惊了, 大家都尖叫起来, 试图逃出去。"
The Manchester Arena, opened in 1995, can hold up to 21,000 spectators; it was not clear how many people were in the crowd for the	曼彻斯特体育场于1995年开放, 可容纳2.1万名观众; 目前不清楚参加演唱会的人有多少。 concert.

The stadium is next to a train terminus, Victoria Station, which was evacuated.	体育场旁边是维多利亚火车站，那里的人员也被撤离了。
Karen Ford, a witness, told the BBC that she was leaving the concert when “everyone was just getting out of their seats and walking toward the stairs when all of a sudden a huge sound, which sounded like an explosion, went off.”	目击者卡伦·福特(Karen Ford)当时正要离开演唱会现场，她告诉 BBC，“就在大家刚刚离开座位，走向楼梯的时候，突然间发出一声巨大的声音，像是爆炸声。”
“Everyone tried to push people up the stairs,” she recalled, adding that in the chaos, people tried to push past a woman in a wheelchair as children screamed.	“大家推推攘攘爬上楼梯，”她回忆说，情况很混乱，人们试图从一个坐轮椅的女人身边挤过去，小孩在尖叫。
She said there was no smoke, just one very loud bang. “It was very, very loud.” She said her husband thought he had heard a second explosion.“there were shoes on the floor,” left behind by people who had fled, she recalled.	她说现场没有烟雾，只有一声非常响的爆炸声。“真是非常、非常响，”她说，她丈夫感觉听到第二次爆炸声，“地板上有鞋子，”是逃离的人留下的，她回忆说。
“Just chaos,” she said. “I was trying to tell people to calm down.” She added that the crush of people trying to flee created a perilous situation: “We were being crushed.”	“当时一片混乱，”她说。“我试图告诉大家要冷静。”她说，试图逃跑的人造成了一种危险的局面：“我们被人推来撞去。”
Outside, Ms. Ford said, parents awaited their children who were attending the concert, checking their smartphones in a panic. “Everyone was trying to find each other.”	福特说，在体育场外面，一些父母正在等待着看演唱会的孩子，他们惶恐地检查智能手机。“每个人都在试图找到对方。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170523/ariana-grande-manchester-police	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170523/ariana-grande-manchester-police
Sea Lion Grabs a Girl Off a Dock, and Social Media Turns on Her Parents	投喂海狮，小女孩被拖入水中
Signs posted along the Steveston docks in Richmond, British Columbia, a popular tourist spot, do not mince words: Don’t feed the sea lions,	不列颠哥伦比亚省里士满的史蒂夫斯顿码头是一个非常受欢迎的旅游景点，这里的沿岸贴满了直白的告示：不要投喂海狮，因为被海狮咬一口“可能造

because a bite "can cause very serious infections that may lead to amputation of a limb or even death."	成非常严重的感染，最终可能导致截肢甚至死亡”。
But people will be people, much to the frustration of the harbor authorities. On Saturday, a young girl and her family were feeding bread to a sea lion when the animal lurched up and grabbed the girl by the dress, pulling her off the dock and underwater for a few horrifying moments.	但是，令海港当局失望的是，人性就是如此。星期六，一个小女孩和家人向一头海狮投喂面包，海狮突然跳起来，拽着女孩的衣服，把她从码头拖到水里。整个过程持续了不长的时间，却令人惊恐不已。
A man leapt into the water to pull her out, and it appeared that the only damage was a lost pair of glasses. A bystander caught the drama on video.	一个男人跳进水中把她拉出来，最后唯一的损失似乎就是丢了一副眼镜。一个旁观者把这刺激的一幕拍成了视频。
"You wouldn't go up to a grizzly bear in the bush and hand him a ham sandwich, so you shouldn't be handing a thousand-pound wild mammal in the water slices of bread," Robert Kiesman, the chairman of the Steveston Harbour Authority, told CBC News.	“你不会走近树丛里的灰熊，递给它一个火腿三明治，所以你也不应该向水中的一头一千磅重的野生哺乳动物投喂面包。”史蒂夫斯顿海港管理局局长罗伯特·基斯曼(Robert Kiesman)在接受 CBC 新闻采访时说。
The girl's family quickly hustled the shaken child away, perhaps eager to leave because of signs that threaten fines of up to 100,000 Canadian dollars for "disturbing" a marine mammal.	女孩的家人很快就带着浑身发抖的小孩离开了，他们可能很急着离开，因为有告示威胁说，“打扰”海洋哺乳动物的罚款高达 10 万加元。
But the internet lit up with scorn for the parents.	但是互联网上充斥着对那对父母的鄙视。
This is not the first time social media has weighed in on such matters. Last year, parents of a boy who tumbled into a gorilla's den at a zoo in Cincinnati received a public scolding after the zoo staff shot and killed the gorilla for fear that it would kill the child.	这不是社交媒体上第一次对这种事情展开讨论了。去年，一个男孩在辛辛那提的一个动物园里跌进大猩猩的笼子，动物园工作人员担心大猩猩会杀死小孩，于是开枪射杀了大猩猩，之后男孩的父母受到公众的责骂。
Attacks by sea lions happen occasionally when humans venture too close.	当人类冒险靠近时，海狮偶尔会袭击人类。
In 2006, a sea lion bit 14 swimmers and chased 10 out of the water near	2006 年，在旧金山渔人码头海滩关闭之前，一头海狮在海滩附近的水里咬

San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf before the beach was closed. In 2009, a sea lion snatched a 5-year-old girl off the dock of a West Vancouver marina. She surfaced about two meters away with a bite on her hand. And in 2007, a sea lion attacked a 13-year-old girl who had been surfing behind a speedboat in Australia. The girl suffered cuts to her throat and a broken jaw and lost three teeth, but survived.	了 14 名游泳者, 并将 10 人逐出了那片水域。2009 年, 在西温哥华一座船坞的码头上, 一头海狮把一个 5 岁女孩拖进水里。她在两米开外浮出水面, 手上被咬了一口。2007 年, 在澳大利亚, 一头海狮袭击了一名跟随快艇冲浪的 13 岁女孩。她的喉咙被割开, 下巴骨折, 失去了三颗牙齿, 但还是活下来了。
The mammals are carnivorous but generally eat fish, so are probably not looking to make a meal of a human being. But their bites can be deadly because of the rich mix of bacteria and fungi found in their mouths and on their huge teeth. For centuries, sealers and others who handle pinnipeds have suffered from "seal finger," an infection contracted from bites or contact with dead seals.	这些哺乳动物是肉食性的, 但它们通常吃鱼, 所以不大可能是想拿人类作为一顿美餐。但是被它们咬了却可能会送命, 因为它们的嘴里和巨大的牙齿上布满各种各样的细菌和真菌。几个世纪以来, 捕猎海豹以及其他鳍脚类动物的人经常患上“海豹指”, 就是指被海豹咬了或是接触海豹尸体后受到的感染。
In Saturday's episode, the sea lion does not appear to have broken the girl's skin, but she is fortunate that the animal quickly let go. Sea lions can dive hundreds of feet and stay underwater for 10 minutes or more.	在星期六的事件中, 海狮似乎并没有咬破女孩的皮肤, 不过海狮迅速放开了她, 这一点也是非常幸运的。海狮可以潜水数百英尺, 在水下呆 10 分钟乃至更长的时间。
In 2015, a seal lion snatched a man from his boat off the coast of Mexico, he wrote in a news article, and dragged him 25 to 30 feet beneath the surface. He survived because he had experience free diving, going deep without the benefit of scuba tanks.	2015 年, 在墨西哥海岸沿岸, 一头海狮从船上拖走了一名男子, 事后他在 一则新闻故事中写道, 自己被拖到水下 25 至 30 英尺的地方。他之所以能够生还, 是因为他有自由潜水的经验, 可以不带气瓶就潜入深水。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170523/canada-sea-lion-grabs-girl	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170523/canada-sea-lion-grabs-girl
Manchester Arena Explosion: What We Know and Don't Know	关于曼彻斯特爆炸: 我们知道些什么?
Three hours after an explosion rocked Manchester Arena in England at the end of a performance by the pop star Ariana Grande, here is what is known.	流行歌手阿丽亚娜·格兰德(Ariana Grande)在英国曼彻斯特体育场的演唱会结束之际, 现场发生爆炸。事件发生 3 小时后, 以下是已知的信息。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • At least 22 people were killed and some 60 people wounded in an 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 爆炸发生于周一晚上 10 时 35 分, 地点为场馆主厅外的前厅处。事件造成

explosion around 10:35 p.m. on Monday in the foyer outside the main hall of the arena.	至少 22 人遇难，约 60 人受伤。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The police said they were treating the case “as a terrorist incident.” They believe the blast came from a man who set off an “improvised explosive device” and that he died in the blast. Prime Minister Theresa May planned to hold a crisis response meeting on Tuesday. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · 警方表示，他们会以“恐怖主义事件”处理此案。他们相信，爆炸起于一名男子引爆了“简易爆炸装置”，而该名男子于爆炸中身亡。英国首相特丽莎·梅(Theresa May)计划在周二召开危机应对会议。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The crowd was filled with teenagers and other young fans of Ms. Grande, a 23-year-old American singer. She was not hurt. Shortly before 4 a.m., she tweeted, “broken. from the bottom of my heart, i am so so sorry. i don’t have words.” 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · 人群中满是青少年和 23 岁的美国歌手格兰德的粉丝。格兰德没有受伤。凌晨 4 点前，她在推特上发文：“心碎。我打从心底感到遗憾。我无话可说。”
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • People described a scene of pandemonium and mayhem after the explosion. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · 据人们描述，爆炸发生后现场一片混乱。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The arena, built in 1995, can fit up to 21,000 people; it was not clear how many were inside on Monday evening. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · 曼彻斯特体育场建于 1995 年，可容纳 2.1 万名观众；目前尚不清楚参加演唱会的人有多少。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Manchester Victoria station, a rail terminal next to the arena, was evacuated. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · 场馆旁边的火车站曼彻斯特维多利亚站(Manchester Victoria)已被疏散。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Rail service at the terminal, a major transportation hub in the city, was suspended late Monday night and will remain suspended all of Tuesday. At least one explosion occurred in a foyer of the Manchester Arena, which connects to the rail station, the police said. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · 周一深夜，该站的铁路服务已经暂停，并将在周二全天继续停运。此站是曼彻斯特城的一个主要交通枢纽。警方称，曼彻斯特体育馆前厅至少发生了一次爆炸，而体育馆与火车站相连。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Manchester’s light rail service, Metrolink, was also suspended at the station. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · 该站的曼彻斯特轻铁(Metrolink)服务也已暂停。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The explosion evoked memories of the November 2015 terrorist attacks in Paris, which targeted a concert hall and a soccer stadium, 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> · 这一事件令人回想起 2015 年 11 月在巴黎发生的恐怖袭击，当时袭击的目标包括一个音乐厅，一个足球场以及数家酒吧和餐厅。 along with bars and restaurants.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> •The Conservatives, Labor, Scottish National Party and Liberal Democrats agreed, in light of the attack, to suspend campaigning for the June 8 general election. 	由于此次袭击，英国保守党、工党、苏格兰民族党以及自由民族党一致同意暂停为6月8日大选进行的竞选活动。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Terrorism remains a significant threat in Britain. On March 22, a 52-year-old British man rammed a car into a crowd of pedestrians on Westminster Bridge, outside Parliament, killing four of them. He then fatally stabbed a police officer guarding Parliament before he was fatally shot by the police. The Islamic State claimed responsibility for the attack. 	· 恐怖主义对英国仍然是一个重要威胁。3月22日，一名52岁的英国男子在议会大厦外的威斯敏斯特桥(Westminster Bridge)上，开车撞向行人，造成4人死亡。之后，他持刀刺杀一名负责守卫议会的警察，随后被警方击毙。伊斯兰国宣称对该事件负责。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Britain has been on the second-highest terrorism alert level since August 2014. The level, "severe," means that an attack is highly likely, and is only one level below the highest, "critical." Britain raised it in 2014, citing increasing threats by the Islamic State. The threat level, which is set by the country's security service, MI5, has stayed at "severe" ever since. 	· 自2014年8月以来，英国一直处于恐怖主义警报级别中第二高的“严峻”级别，意味着恐怖袭击极有可能发生，仅次于最高级别“危急”。2014年，由于伊斯兰国日益增加的威胁，英国提高了警报级别。自那时起，英国的安全服务部门军情五处(MI5)就将警报级别维持在“严峻”水平。
WHAT WE DON'T KNOW	我们尚不了解的情况
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • NBC News, citing American intelligence officials, reported that the explosion was the work of a suicide bomber, but that account could not be immediately confirmed. 	· 美国全国广播公司(NBC News)报道称，美国情报官员表示爆炸是由人体炸弹引起的，但该描述并未得到及时确认。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The type of weapon or bomb used in the attack. The authorities believe the blast came from either an abandoned backpack or a suicide bomber, a senior American intelligence official said. British officials said they were investigating reports that the explosive device contained nuts and bolts as shrapnel. 	· 用于袭击的武器或炸弹类型。

• The identity of the attacker or attackers, and a motive. No individual or group has taken responsibility for the explosion.	· 袭击者（们）的身份和动机。尚无个人或组织宣称对爆炸负责。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170523/manchester-arena-bombing	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170523/manchester-arena-bombing
Unusual Place for a President's Family on a Foreign Trip: Center Stage	特朗普一家的外交之行呈现一个权力家族化的美国
JERUSALEM — At an Israeli children's hospital, Melania Trump handed out blue canvas backpacks filled with Dr. Seuss books and emblazoned with a picture of the White House. At a forum in Saudi Arabia on combating extremism, Ivanka Trump stood in for her father when he got tired. And in Israel, Jared Kushner stuck by his father-in-law's side as President Donald Trump pushed for peace in the Middle East.	耶路撒冷——在以色列的一家儿童医院里，梅拉尼娅·特朗普(Melania Trump)赠送了一些蓝色帆布背包，包上印着一张白宫的照片，里面装着苏斯博士(Dr. Seuss)的书。在沙特阿拉伯举行的一个有关抗击极端主义的论坛上，伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)在父亲感觉疲惫的时候代替他出场。在以色列，贾里德·库什纳(Jared Kushner)在岳父唐纳德·特朗普总统推动中东和平进程时陪伴在他左右。
The president's first foray overseas is giving the rest of the world its first real glimpse of America's new governing structure — a White House that has quickly become an all-in-the-family business, standard practice in Saudi Arabia, but rare in the United States.	这位总统的首次海外访问让世界其他地方第一次对美国的新政府结构有了真正的了解——一个很快沦为家族企业的白宫，这在沙特阿拉伯是常规，但在美国十分罕见。
During the president's nine-day, multicountry trip that began Friday, the world is learning — and Americans are being reminded of — the significant overlap between blood relations and policy advisers in the current White House. For Trump, they are almost interchangeable.	在美国总统周五开启的、为期九天的多国访问期间，外界看到——美国人则得到提醒——在目前的白宫内，血缘关系与政策顾问出现不容忽视的重叠。对特朗普而言，二者几乎没有区别。
"It is extremely rare that a president would bring family members, other than a spouse, and ask them to assume a public role on a foreign trip," said Carl Sferrazza Anthony, the historian at the National First Ladies' Library.	"一位总统会带配偶之外的家庭成员出访，且让他们在外交旅途中承担公共角色，这是极为罕见的，"国立第一夫人图书馆(National First Ladies)的历史学家卡尔·斯费拉扎·安东尼(Carl Sferrazza Anthony)说。
Anthony said presidents often brought their children or other relatives on foreign excursions. But he added, "In terms of the Trumps assuming public roles, this is unprecedented."	安东尼表示，美国总统出访通常会带上孩子或其他亲属。但他接着讲道，"特朗普一家承担各种公共角色的情况却是前所未有的。"

The president's daughter Ivanka and her husband, Kushner, have offices in the West Wing and are top White House advisers. The couple reportedly received a rabbinical pass to travel with the president on Air Force One on Friday, so they could be by his side. (As Orthodox Jews, they are not supposed to travel in a vehicle on the Sabbath, which begins Friday at sundown and continues until sundown Saturday.)	总统女儿伊万卡和她丈夫库什纳是白宫的高级顾问，在白宫西翼有自己的办公室。据称这对夫妇是获得了犹太教教士的豁免，才得以在周五登上空军一号与总统一起出行，好陪伴他左右。（作为正统派犹太人，他们原本不该在安息日乘交通工具出行，这个时间始于周五日落时分，持续到周六太阳下山。）
Melania Trump, America's reticent and reserved first lady, has all but shunned the spotlight since her husband was elected. Overseas, though, she has been willing to play the role of global ambassador, stepping out a bit as she accompanies her husband. Wherever she goes, she draws attention.	自丈夫当选以来，沉默内向的美国第一夫人梅拉尼娅·特朗普一直在躲避聚光灯。不过在海外，她倒是愿意扮演全球大使的角色，在陪着丈夫时相对多地去抛头露面。不管出现在哪里，她都会引起注意。
When she arrived in Israel on Monday, a microphone caught a bit of private flattery from the prime minister's wife. "I talk every place about her," Sara Netanyahu told Donald Trump after Air Force One landed.	周一抵达以色列时，一个麦克风捕捉到了以色列总理的夫人私下里的一点恭维。“我走到哪儿都会说起她，”莎拉·内塔尼亚胡(Sara Netanyahu)在空军一号落地后对唐纳德·特朗普说道。
The family-first approach has drawn mostly positive coverage overseas since the Trumps left Washington, especially in Saudi Arabia, where the country's sprawling royal family is synonymous with its governing elite.	离开华盛顿之后，特朗普一家采取的家庭第一的做法在海外大体获得了正面报道，在沙特阿拉伯尤其如此，这里成员众多的王室就相当于该国的统治精英。
But not all the attention has been kind. On Monday, television cameras at the airport arrival ceremony in Tel Aviv captured what appeared to be an annoyed Melania Trump slapping away her husband's hand when he tried to hold hers.	但不是所有的关注都是善意的。在周一于特拉维夫机场举行的欢迎仪式上，电视台拍到的一段镜头似乎显示梅拉尼娅有些恼怒，在丈夫试图拉她时弹开了他的手。
The video clip of Melania Trump flicking away the president's hand quickly went viral on Twitter and was posted on the website for Haaretz, an Israeli newspaper, under the headline: "Well this is embarrassing."	梅拉尼娅弹开总统的手的视频片段迅速在 Twitter 上传播开来，并被发布到以色列报纸《国土报》(Haaretz)的网站上，标题是《呃，这下尴尬了》(Well this is embarrassing)。

A spokeswoman for Melania Trump did not respond to an email seeking comment on the video.	梅拉尼娅·特朗普的发言人没有回应时报通过邮件就这段视频发出的置评请求。
In Saudi Arabia, Ivanka Trump represented her father at a round-table discussion with female entrepreneurs and Princess Reema bint Bandar, the daughter of Prince Bandar bin Sultan, the long-serving Saudi ambassador to the United States.	在沙特阿拉伯，伊万卡·特朗普代表父亲与几名女企业家和沙特公主丽玛·宾特·班达尔(Reema bint Bandar)进行了一场圆桌讨论，这位公主是班达尔·本·苏丹(Bandar bin Sultan)亲王的女儿，后者曾长期担任沙特驻美国大使。
After the session, the princess told a reporter that Ivanka Trump is broadly seen in the country as a symbol of empowerment, in part because many people can easily relate to the fact that she is part of a powerful family enterprise.	会议结束后，公主告诉记者，伊万卡·特朗普在沙特被普遍视作赋权的象征，部分原因在于许多人可以很容易地联系到这样一个事实，即她属于一个有权势的家族。
On Sunday night, when the president skipped a Twitter forum on combating extremism, Ivanka Trump filled in, taking to the stage to greet hundreds of young audience members and to explain the policy purposes of the event.	周日晚，总统缺席了一场有关抗击极端主义的 Twitter 专题讨论会，伊万卡·特朗普代替他走上舞台，向在场的数百名年轻听众打招呼，并解释了这场活动的政策目标。
"Ultimately this young generation across the Arab world is a generation that can build tolerance, hope and peace," she said. "That's what today has been focused on."	"最终，阿拉伯世界年轻的一代将是构建起宽容、希望与和平的一代，"她说。"这是我们今天关注的重点。"
A White House aide later said that Donald Trump's schedule had run very late that day and that he was exhausted. The comment was mocked on Twitter by the president's critics, who noted the nine-day trip had just begun two days earlier.	一位白宫助手后来表示，唐纳德·特朗普当天的日程进行到很晚，他已经精疲力竭。这种说法在 Twitter 上遭到总统批评者的嘲笑，他们指出九天的旅程才不过进行两天。
In Saudi Arabia, it was impossible to ignore the comparisons between Kushner, 36, and Mohammed bin Salman, deputy crown prince of Saudi Arabia, 31. Both represent a younger generation, in power in their countries largely because of their family ties, yet with vast portfolios.	在沙特阿拉伯，你无法忽视 36 岁的库什纳与沙特 31 岁的副王储穆罕默德·本·萨勒曼(Mohammed bin Salman)的相似性。两人都代表着更年轻的一代，主要因自身的家族关系在各自国家手握大权，同时掌控着规模巨大的投资组合。

Kushner has briefed reporters, helped negotiate Saudi deals for weapons and business that totaled almost $400 billion, and is one of the president's closest advisers on foreign policy and diplomacy. Over the weekend, Kushner attended almost all of the president's meetings with the Saudi royal family.	库什纳给记者开发布会，协助谈判总额近 4000 亿美元的沙特武器与商业协议，同时还是总统在对外政策与外交事务上关系最密切的顾问之一。上周末，他出席了总统与沙特王室进行的几乎所有会面活动。
"The president asked us to plan a trip that would help unite the world against intolerance and terrorism and we have made great progress towards that goal in Saudi Arabia," Kushner said in a rare, on-the-record statement just before the president departed from Riyadh for his stop in Jerusalem.	"之前总统让我们制定一趟出访活动，要有助于让世界联合起来应对不宽容和恐怖主义，在沙特阿拉伯，我们朝那个目标迈进了一大步，"在总统就要离开利雅得前往耶路撒冷时，库什纳在了一项罕见的公开声明中这样讲道。
On Monday, Kushner accompanied Trump as he spent hours with Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Israel's president, Reuven Rivlin, discussing how to accelerate efforts to achieve peace. On Tuesday, Kushner will be with his father-in-law when he meets with Mahmoud Abbas, the president of the Palestinian Authority.	周一，当特朗普与以色列总理本雅明·内塔尼亚胡(Benjamin Netanyahu)和总统鲁文·里夫林(Reuven Rivlin)花数小时谈论如何加快实现和平的努力时，库什纳就陪在特朗普身旁。周二，当特朗普与巴勒斯坦民族权力机构(Palestinian Authority)主席马哈茂德·阿巴斯(Mahmoud Abbas)会面时，他也会在场。
All three members of the Trump family joined Donald Trump on Monday as he became the first sitting president to make a pilgrimage to the Western Wall, Judaism's most holy place for prayer. Even as many cameras clicked to capture Trump's moment of reflection, others were pointed at his wife and daughter, who were doing the same in a section reserved only for women to pray.	当唐纳德·特朗普在周一成为首位朝拜耶路撒冷最神圣的祈祷之地哭墙的现任美国总统时，三位家庭成员都加入了他的行列。即便在许多镜头闪烁着捕捉特朗普沉思的瞬间时，也一些指向了他的妻子和女儿，她们在专供女性使用的地方祈祷。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170523/trump-family-overseas-trip	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170523/trump-family-overseas-trip
Chinese Merchants Thrive in Senegal, Where People 'Needed Stuff'	远渡重洋，中国人把小商品批发市场开到塞内加尔
DAKAR, Senegal — Fresh out of college and frustrated by the paucity of job prospects at home, Cao Qihan, 23, did what generations of	塞内加尔达喀尔——刚从大学毕业不久的曹启韩（音）现年 23 岁，由于对国内就业机会稀少感到沮丧，他走上了一条其雄心勃勃的中国前辈曾经走过

ambitious Chinese had done before him: He rolled the dice and ventured to a far-off, utterly unfamiliar land, where people speak languages he doesn't understand.	的道路：他孤注一掷去了一个遥远且完全陌生的地方，那里的人说话用的语言他一个都不懂。
But unlike compatriots chasing dreams of a better life in North America, Europe or Australia, Mr. Cao bought a plane ticket to Senegal, a country of 14 million that has roughly 2,000 Chinese residents.	但是，与那些去北美、欧洲或澳大利亚追求更美好生活梦想的同胞不同，曹启韩买了一张去塞内加尔的机票，这个有 1400 万人口的国家只有大约 2000 名华人居民。
Mr. Cao had relatives in Dakar, the capital, but little idea of what to expect.	虽然曹启韩在首都达喀尔有亲戚，但他几乎不知道到那里能指望什么。
"We Chinese think Africa is uncivilized and dangerous, but it's turned out to not be so bad," he said just weeks after his arrival, as he stuffed dumplings at his family's restaurant in Dakar's expanding Chinatown. "I think I'll stay a while."	"我们中国人认为非洲不文明而且危险，但事实证明并不那么糟糕，"他在来到这里几周后说。"我觉得，我会在这儿住一段时间。"他的家人在达喀尔不断扩大的中国城里开了一家饭馆，他说此番话时，正在饭馆里包饺子。
These days, more than 200 Chinese-owned shops line Boulevard du Général de Gaulle, a gritty thoroughfare that slices through the middle-class neighborhood of Centenaire and ends at the city's imposing Grand Mosque.	这些日子里，戴高乐将军大道两旁已有 200 多家中国人开的商店，这条经过桑特奈尔中产阶级社区的充满活力的大道的一头就是达喀尔雄伟壮观的大清真寺。
The cramped shops heave with rhinestone-slathered jewelry, stacks of plastic kitchenware and women's shoes adorned with bows and bling. Everything is made in China, and few items sell for more than $5.	狭窄的商店里摆满了镶嵌着大块莱茵石的首饰、成堆的塑料厨具，以及装饰着蝴蝶结的珠光宝气的坤鞋。所有的东西都是中国制造，几乎没有售价超过 5 美元的。
Unlike vibrant Chinatowns the world over, Dakar's Chinese enclave is a charmless, rough-and-tumble affair that offers little appeal to those not in the market for wholesale goods. There are no Buddhist temples and few restaurants, and most of the day its sidewalks have a decidedly languid feel.	与世界各地热闹非凡的唐人街不同，达喀尔的这块中国飞地没有魅力，却充满竞争，对那些不在批发市场上寻找商品的人们几乎没有吸引力。这里没有佛寺，也没有几家餐馆，白天的大部分时候，这里的人行道上有一种显然懒洋洋的感觉。
Most shopkeepers are originally from Henan, a poor, densely settled	这里的店主大多数是河南人，河南是中国中部的一个人口稠密的贫穷省份，

central province whose population of 94 million rivals that of Egypt.	河南的人口为 9400 万，与埃及的不相上下。
Within China, migrants from Henan are often regarded with distrust, victims of discrimination based on a vague but commonly held notion that they are prone to criminality. Many toil in the most menial of jobs, working as truck drivers, farmers or laborers.	在中国国内，来自河南的移民经常被人以怀疑的眼光看待，他们是一种歧视的受害者，这种歧视来自人们模糊但普遍持有的观念，认为河南人有犯罪倾向。许多河南人干的是最低报酬的工作，当卡车司机、农民或体力劳动者。
"This is how life is for us," said Zhu Haoming, 58, a brash, fast-talking man with an easy smile. "We have to leave home to make a living. If you find a good place, you end up pulling in your friends, even if it's on the other side of the world."	"这就我们的生活，"58 岁的朱昊明（音）说，这位急性子、讲话很快的男子说话时面带微笑。"我们为了谋生必须背井离乡。如果你找到了一个好地方，你会把你的朋友也带过来，即使这个地方在世界的另一头。"
A pioneer of sorts, Mr. Zhu arrived here 17 years ago from Henan to set up a trade show for Chinese products. He never left.	朱昊明算是一位先驱，17 年前，他从河南来这里为中国产品举办展销会后，一直没有离开。
"I realized that China had lots of stuff and the people here needed stuff, so it was a good match," he said.	"我意识到，中国有很多东西，而这里的人们需要东西，所以这是个很好的般配，"他说。
Mr. Zhu opened a shop selling artificial flowers and unintentionally became the nucleus of a growing Chinese presence in Dakar that has come to dominate the wholesale trade in low-cost consumer goods.	朱昊明开了一家出售假花的商店，无意之中成了达喀尔不断增长的中国社区的核心，这个中国社区已经主导了低成本消费品的批发贸易。
For strivers seeking opportunity abroad, Senegal seldom makes the list of choice destinations, but the ease of obtaining a visa often trumps the misgivings that many Chinese have about Africa.	对想到国外寻求机会的奋斗者来说，塞内加尔几乎上不了可供选择目的地的名单，但获得签证的便利往往能战胜许多中国人对非洲的疑虑。
New arrivals usually start off working for a wholesaler they know from home and then set off on their own as soon as they have saved enough for their first batch of goods.	新到者通常从为他们在老家认识的批发商打工开始，然后，在攒够了购买他们第一批货物的钱后，尽快自己开店。
Life is seldom easy. The hours are long, the profits thin and the loneliness unrelenting. Men often come on their own, but even married couples tend to leave children back home to be raised by grandparents.	生活很少有容易的时候。他们的工作时间很长，利润很低，孤独感不断袭来。男人们常常独自来这里，即使是已婚夫妇也往往把孩子留在家乡，交给祖父母带养。

On a recent afternoon, as the midday heat thinned the sidewalk crowds to a trickle, bored shopkeepers watched Chinese films on their phones while their Senegalese workers dusted the shelves and chatted with one another in Wolof, the lingua franca, which few Chinese understand.	最近的一个下午，中午的炎热已把便道上的人流变成了偶尔的人影，无聊的店主们在手机上看着中国电影，他们雇的塞内加尔工人们在用掸子打扫货架，同时在使用这里通用的、没有几个中国人能听懂的沃洛夫语聊天。
My query about life in Senegal uncorked a torrent of complaints from the bosses: too many competitors, too few customers and rising prices for the merchandise bought during annual buying trips to China.	我对塞内加尔生活的询问打开了店主们抱怨的话门：太多的竞争对手、太少的客户，以及每年一次的回国采购期间，商品的价格越来越高。
Wang Xu, 34, who sells brightly colored bangles with his younger brother, attributed slow sales to the growing glut of entrepreneurs from China. "To make matters worse, Senegalese have less and less money to spend," he said.	34岁的王旭（音）与弟弟一起销售色彩鲜艳的手镯，他把销售低迷的原因归于越来越多的中国商人。“更糟糕的是，塞内加尔人能花的钱越来越少，”他说。
There was also grumbling about pilfered merchandise — and the indifference of the local police — but mostly a longing for home and those left behind. Again and again, the phrase "chi ku" was offered up, a well-worn expression of Chinese forbearance that means to eat bitterness.	还有人抱怨商品被盗——以及当地警方的漠不关心，但人们谈的主要是乡愁和对留守家乡者的思念。他们一次又一次地用到“吃苦”这个词，这个颇为陈腐的说法表达的是中国人忍耐辛苦的态度。
"My son is growing up without a father," Mr. Wang said flatly, lighting another cigarette, part of his two-pack-a-day habit.	“我儿子正在父亲不在身边的情况下长大成人，”王旭平静地说，边说边点起了一根香烟，他每天习惯性地抽掉两包烟。
For Senegalese, the arrival of Chinese wholesalers has been a mixed blessing. The low-end merchandise they import sustains countless peddlers, many of whom fan out into the countryside and even to other countries in West Africa. Less pleased are the Senegalese traders who used to travel to China to buy the same goods but have been squeezed out.	在塞内加尔人眼里，中国批发商的到来即是好事、也是坏事。中国人进口的低端商品让数不清的小贩有了谋生之道，他们中的许多人把这些商品贩卖到农村，甚至贩卖到西非其他国家。而那些曾经去中国购买同样货物的塞内加尔批发商们却被挤出了市场，这令他们颇为不快。
Jean Noel Faye, 38, who hawks women's shoes at a ramshackle	38岁的让·诺埃尔·法耶(Jean Noel Faye)在达喀尔一个破烂不堪的露天市场

outdoor market in Dakar, said he had little sympathy for the well-to-do Senegalese merchants who complain about the Chinese and their rock-bottom prices.	上销售女鞋，他说，他对那些抱怨中国人及其最低价格的塞内加尔商人们没有多少同情。
"Without the Chinese, we would have nothing to sell," said Mr. Faye, who earns about 80 cents on every pair. "Those who have negative impressions of the Chinese are already rich."	"没有中国人，我们会没东西可卖，"法耶说，他每卖一双鞋能赚 80 美分。"那些对中国人印象不好的人已经发了财了。"
Ordinary Senegalese do have legitimate complaints: about shoddy electronics, tainted medicines and the Chinese trawlers that compete with local fishermen for plummeting fish stocks.	普通的塞内加尔人的确也有合情合理的抱怨，比如劣质电子产品、假冒伪劣药品，以及与当地渔民竞争正在迅速减少的渔业资源的中国拖网渔船。
Residents who work in Chinese-owned shops gripe about low pay and what might be charitably described as a yawning culture gap. "We really don't have anything in common with the Chinese," one shop assistant said, emphasizing the lack of a shared language. "Their only reason to come to Senegal is to make money."	在中国人开的商店里打工的当地人抱怨薪金过低，也抱怨也许可以宽容地描述为巨大文化差距的东西。"我们与中国人真的没有什么共同之处，"一位店员说，他强调双方缺少一种共同语言。"他们来塞内加尔的唯一原因是为了赚钱。"
But expressions of gratitude are more common, a sentiment bolstered by the cornucopia of Chinese-backed projects that have improved life in this dog-eared, traffic-clogged city. There are miles of new and refurbished roads, a sumptuous national theater and clusters of gleaming exercise equipment that draw multitudes of fitness-crazed Senegalese to a seaside promenade at dusk.	不过，感激的表达更为普遍，得到中国支持的大批项目也助长了这种看法，这些项目改善了这座交通堵塞的老城市里生活。这里有长长的新建和翻新道路，还有一个华丽的国家大剧院，以及把许多热衷于健身的塞内加尔人在黄昏时段吸引到海滨步行大道的闪闪发光的运动器材组合。
The two communities, though, live in separate worlds. Mr. Zhu, the pioneering wholesaler of synthetic flowers, said he knew of only two mixed marriages during all his years in Senegal. At Jade Sea, Blue Sky, the Chinese restaurant that employs Mr. Cao, the newly arrived migrant, Senegalese patrons are a rarity.	然而，当地人和中国人的社区生活在截然不同的世界里。靠出售假花立业的先驱批发商朱昊明说，他来塞内加尔的这么多年里，只知道两次中国人与当地人通婚的事情。在"蓝天碧海"这家雇用了新到移民曹启韩的中国饭馆里，很少看到塞内加尔顾客。

During lunch one recent afternoon, the restaurant's private dining rooms were packed: one with young engineers helping to build the city's new airport expressway, another with toughened Fujianese merchants riding out a bout of political instability in nearby Gambia. A third room was occupied by Wu Haohong, a recently arrived businessman with a nervous laugh and an ample belly.	在最近一天的午餐时段，这家饭馆的几个包间都挤得满满的，其中一间里是帮助修建通往达喀尔新机场的高速公路的年轻工程师们，另一间里是躲避邻国冈比亚这阵子的政治不稳定的饱经风霜的福建商人。第三间被最近来这里的商人吴浩洪（音）包了，他挺着大肚子，笑声听起来有点神经质。
Briskly working his way through a box of blue-tipped Chinese cigarettes, Mr. Wu extolled the opportunities of Africa but said migrants from China sometimes chose the wrong place to settle down. He knows from experience: He spent seven years in Angola but left after being robbed at gunpoint one too many times.	吴浩洪大讲特讲着非洲的机会，同时接二连三地抽掉了一盒带有蓝色过滤嘴的中国香烟，但他说，来自中国的移民有时选择了错误的地方定居。他的结论来自自己的经历：他曾在安哥拉度过了七年的时间，在多遭遇持枪抢劫之后，他离开了那里。
"Even the police in Angola are bandits," he said, explaining why he abandoned his building supply business and moved to Senegal, opening a karaoke parlor catering to single Chinese men — and staffed by young Chinese women in crop tops who provide furtive, short-term companionship.	"就连安哥拉的警察也是土匪，"他说，他正在解释自己为什么放弃了在安哥拉的建筑材料供应业务，搬到塞内加尔来开了一家卡拉OK厅，这是为了满足单身中国男子的需求，厅里雇佣的年轻中国女子穿着露肚脐眼的短上衣，她们暗中地为顾客充当临时伴侣。
"The truth is that chaotic places can be good for business because it thins out the competition," he said. "But everyone has their limits."	"其实，混乱的地方对经商也可能有好处，因为那会让竞争对手的数量减少，"他说。"但每个人都有自己的极限。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170524/chinese-merchants-thrive-in-senegal-where-people-needed-stuff	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170524/chinese-merchants-thrive-in-senegal-where-people-needed-stuff
Terror Alert in Britain Is Raised to Maximum as ISIS Claims Manchester Attack	英国将恐怖袭击威胁调至最高级别
MANCHESTER, England — Britain's prime minister put the nation on its highest level of alert on Tuesday and deployed the military to work with the police over fears that another terrorist attack was imminent.	周二，出于对很快会再次发生恐怖袭击事件的担忧，英国首相将该国恐怖袭击威胁调至最高预警级别，并且部署军队与警方协同合作。

The announcement came as the police continued to investigate whether the Monday night bombing at a pop music concert in Manchester that killed 22 people, including children, was part of a broader conspiracy.	通告发布之际，警方正在继续调查发生在周一晚间的爆炸事件是否属于一场更大的阴谋。爆炸发生于曼彻斯特一场流行音乐演唱会上，造成包括儿童在内的 22 人死亡。
"It is a possibility we cannot ignore that there is a wider group of individuals linked to this attack," Prime Minister Theresa May said in Manchester after a meeting of her top security officials.	"我们不能忽略的一种可能性是，有一个更大的团伙和这次袭击有干系。"特丽莎·梅在同最高安全官员召开会议后称。
Earlier in the day, the police raided the home of Salman Abedi, the man they identified as the bomber; he died in the blast. Chief Constable Ian Hopkins of the Greater Manchester Police said that the investigation was focusing on determining "whether Mr. Abedi was acting alone or as part of a network."	当天早些时候，警方突击搜查了被认定为袭击者的萨勒曼·阿贝迪(Salman Abedi)的家，阿贝迪在袭击中身亡。大曼彻斯特地区警察局局长伊恩·霍普金斯(Ian Hopkins)称，调查的重点在于确定"他是单独行动，还是属于一个团伙"。
A senior United States official said on Tuesday night that Mr. Abedi had traveled multiple times to Libya, where his parents immigrated from, but did not know the timing of his last trip. The official was not authorized to discuss the information publicly and spoke on the condition of anonymity.	周二晚间，一名美国高级官员称阿贝迪曾多次前往利比亚，但不清楚他最后一次前往该地的时间，阿贝迪的父母是利比亚移民。该官员未获得公开讨论这一信息的授权，他要求匿名。
By raising the national threat level from severe to critical, Ms. May suggested "not only that an attack remains highly likely, but that a further attack may be imminent."	这是英国第三次把恐怖主义威胁上调到危急级别。
It was only the third time that Britain had raised the threat level to critical.	2006 年 8 月 10 日，在挫败了一个用液体炸弹炸毁飞越大西洋的大型客机的阴谋后，英国政府第一次把恐怖主义警报级别上调到"危急"。
"This morning, I said that the Joint Terrorism Analysis Center – the independent organization responsible for setting the threat level on the basis of the intelligence available – was keeping the threat level under	第二次是在 2007 年 6 月 30 日。当时，两名男子开着一辆 SUV 撞向格拉斯哥机场(Glasgow Airport)的入口，把车变成了一个可能会造成人员伤亡的火球。 constant review," Ms. May said in a statement.

It has now concluded, on the basis of today's investigations, that the threat level should be increased, for the time being, from SEVERE to CRITICAL. This means that their assessment is not only that an attack remains highly likely, but that a further attack may be imminent," the statement said.	在政府周二晚上采取行动的几个小时前, 警方确认是阿贝迪制造了周一晚上的袭击。这次袭击事件是自 2005 年以来, 英国伤亡最惨重的恐怖袭击。
The first time that the terror level was raised to critical occurred on Aug. 10, 2006, after the government foiled a plot to blow up transatlantic airliners with liquid bombs.	阿贝迪住的地方距离体育场仅 3.5 英里(约合 5.6 公里)。周一晚上 10 点 30 分前后, 阿贝迪在体育场的一个公共大厅里引爆一枚自制炸弹。炸弹爆炸时, 正值美国流行歌手阿丽亚娜·格兰德(Ariana Grande)的演唱会结束, 成群结队的年轻人已开始离场, 很多人要前往附近的一个火车站。
The second time was on June 30, 2007, after two men slammed an S.U.V. into entrance doors at Glasgow Airport and turned the vehicle into a potentially lethal fireball.	据邻居称, 阿贝迪和家人住在法洛菲尔德区埃尔斯莫尔路的一处房子里。周二下午, 警方突击搜查了那里。为了进到屋内, 警方先引爆了一场控制爆炸。
The government's actions on Tuesday night came hours after Mr. Abedi was identified by the police as the bomber who carried out Monday night's assault, Britain's deadliest terrorist attack since 2005, an explosion that killed 22 people and injured 59 others at Manchester Arena.	一个叫莉娜·艾哈迈德(Lina Ahmed)的邻居说自己对阿贝迪家了解甚少。“他们真的不和任何人说话,”她说。“如果路过的话, 他们人很好。”她说阿贝迪家偶尔会在房屋外面悬挂利比亚国旗。
Mr. Abedi, whose parents had emigrated from Libya and who lived in a house just 3.5 miles from the arena, where he detonated a homemade bomb in a public concourse around 10:30 p.m. on Monday. The bomb exploded as a concert by the American pop star Ariana Grande was ending and as crowds of teenagers had begun to leave, many for an adjacent train station.	另一个叫法尔扎纳·科苏尔(Farzana Kosur)的邻居说, 阿贝迪教《古兰经》(Quran)的母亲曾出国大约两个月。
Mr. Abedi died in the attack.	居民对警方的行动感到震惊。“我们眼看着这种袭击在巴黎发生, “17 岁的邻

	居托马斯·库尔(Thomas Coull)说。“没想到会发生自己家门口，真的就是家门口。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170524/manchester-arena-attack	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170524/manchester-arena-attack
In Manchester, a Loud Bang, Silence, Then Screaming and Blood	狂欢变成噩梦：曼城爆炸案幸存者回忆喋血时刻
MANCHESTER, England—It was that moment after the music ends. The pop star Ariana Grande had finished the encore of her “Dangerous Woman” concert, and the shrieks of teenagers and others had subsided. The stage show was over, the arena lights had gone up, and fans were clutching pink balloons that had dropped from the rafters — souvenirs from a special night.	英国曼彻斯特——那是音乐刚刚停止的时刻。流行歌星阿丽亚娜·格兰德(Ariana Grande)完成了自己“危险女人”(Dangerous Woman)演唱会的返场演唱，人群的尖叫声也平息了下来，他们当中有不少是十几岁的青少年。舞台上的表演结束了，体育馆的灯光亮了起来，粉丝们抓住从场地上方掉落下来的粉色气球，作为这个特别夜晚的纪念品。
Lisa Conway, 49, had secretly bought tickets a month earlier and booked a room at the nearby Park Inn Hotel. It was a surprise for her 14-year-old daughter, whose favorite artist is Ms. Grande. Mother, daughter, father and son came down from Glasgow, but the father and son skipped the show for a night on the town. The concert was a bonding trip, one of those markers of adolescence, and a small, tentative step into the adult world.	一个月前，49岁的莉萨·康韦(Lisa Conway)悄悄买了门票，在附近的公园酒店(Park Inn Hotel)订了一间房。这是送给她14岁的女儿的惊喜，女儿最喜欢的艺人是格兰德。母亲、女儿、父亲和儿子从格拉斯哥来到这里，但父子俩没去看演出，而是去城里享受夜生活。这场演唱会是加深母女感情的旅行，是女儿青少年时期的一个里程碑，是进入成人世界的试探性的一小步。
Then, with the arena still tingling with the exhilaration of the music, came the explosion.	然后，就在体育馆内还涌动着音乐带来的狂欢时，忽然传来爆炸声。
“It was meant to be a dream, not a nightmare,” Ms. Conway said Tuesday morning while eating breakfast at the hotel, trembling as she struggled to contain tears. “There were children, blood, shoes, splattered all over the floor.”	“这个夜晚本来应该像一场美梦，而不是恶梦，”周二早上，康韦在酒店里吃早餐时说。她颤抖着，努力不让眼泪掉下来。“孩子、血、鞋子，都散落在地板上。”
She added: “How can I explain any of this to a 14-year-old? She hasn’t said a word since she woke up from two hours’ sleep.”	她还说：“我怎么跟一个14岁的孩子解释这一切？她睡了两个小时，醒来后一句话也没说。”

The explosion at Manchester Arena on Monday night — carried out, the police said, by a man who died in the blast — was the worst terrorist attack in Britain since 2005, with at least 22 people dead and dozens more injured. The man was later identified as Salman Abedi, 22, a Briton whose family emigrated from Libya. Although the Islamic State claimed responsibility for the attack, the police said they were still investigating whether Mr. Abedi, who lived in Manchester, had acted alone or as part of a larger plot.	周一晚间曼彻斯特体育馆的爆炸是自 2005 年以来英国最严重的恐怖主义袭击，至少导致 22 人死亡，数十人受伤。警方称，引发爆炸的男子已在爆炸中死亡。警方后来确定了他的身分，他是随家人从利比亚移民来的 22 岁英籍男子萨勒曼·阿贝迪(Salman Abedi)。虽然伊斯兰国声称对此次袭击负责，但警方表示，他们仍在调查阿贝迪是单独行动，还是属于一个更大计划的一部分。他生前住在曼彻斯特。
Terrorism has its own language and symbolism, whether it is an assault against a satirical newspaper in Paris or the bombing of a luxury hotel in Mali. The violence is intended to stoke fear and to deliver a message. And it was the message of the Manchester blast that was so chilling: the slaughter of teenagers, the anxiety of parents who had been waiting to take their children home, the frantic search for loved ones amid chaos and sirens.	恐怖主义有自己的语言和象征，不管是在巴黎针对一个讽刺性报刊办公室的袭击，还是在马里一家奢华酒店的爆炸。这些暴力行动是为了引发人们的恐惧，传递一个信息。而曼彻斯特爆炸传递的信息格外可怕：杀害青少年，引发他们父母的担忧——他们在等候带着孩子回家，在混乱和警报声中疯狂地寻找自己最亲近的人。
Already, questions are emerging about whether the arena was properly secured. Investigators said the explosion occurred in a foyer, though it was not yet clear whether this referred to a public space between the arena and the nearby Manchester Victoria rail station or to an area inside the security perimeter of the arena.	人们已经在质疑体育馆的安保措施是否充分。调查人员表示，爆炸发生在一个门厅里，不过尚不清楚，这指的是体育馆与附近曼彻斯特维多利亚火车站之间的一个公共空间，还是体育馆安保范围内的一个区域。
Concert organizers said security had been tight, with close checks of ticket holders. But some concertgoers described a much looser environment.	演唱会组织者声称，安保措施非常严密，对持票者进行了严格检查。但有些演唱会观众表示，检查相当宽松。
"Our bags were searched as we were going into the arena, but only quickly," said Caitlin McCoy, 23. "I had a secret pouch in my purse — it	"我们进入体育馆时，他们检查了我们的包，但是检查得很快，"23 岁的凯特琳·麦科伊(Caitlin McCoy)说。"我的包里有一个秘密的小袋子——里面只装

only had makeup in it — but they did not look into it. They seemed to be more concerned about finding alcohol than anything else.”	着化妆品——但他们没有检查那个小袋子。他们似乎更关心是否有人带酒，对其他的不怎么关心。”
The concert began around 7:35 p.m., and after two warm-up acts, Ms. Grande took the stage. Once a child star on the television network Nickelodeon, Ms. Grande, 23, is known for her strong voice and, like other child stars, has sought to evolve with her fans as they grow up together.	演唱会大约于晚上 7:35 开始，在两个暖场表演后，格兰德登上了舞台。23 岁的格兰德曾是尼克洛迪恩电视台(Nickelodeon)的童星，她以高亢的嗓音闻名，和其他童星一样，她努力和粉丝们一起成长。
Her debut album in 2013, “Yours Truly,” reached No. 1 on the Billboard 200 in the United States, and her May 2016 “Dangerous Woman” album signaled her progression into more mature themes. The title song is about wanting to be a “bad girl” as a form of empowerment — to be strong and fearless — and the album quickly went to the top of the Official Albums Chart in Britain.	她 2013 年的首张专辑《挚爱》(Yours Truly)曾登上美国“公告牌”(Billboard)前 200 名排行榜的榜首，她 2016 年 5 月发布的《危险女人》专辑标志着她转向更成熟的主题。主打歌是关于想变成一个“坏女孩”，拥有力量，强壮无畏。那张专辑很快登上了英国官方专辑排行榜(Official Albums Chart)的榜首。
As Ms. Grande finished her encore and left the stage around 10:30 p.m., the lights went up and people began streaming toward the exits. Then came what one person described as an “almighty explosion.” Some witnesses recalled smelling sulfur. A gush of air whooshed through the arena. For an instant, no one knew what had happened. Some people wondered if some of the pink balloons had burst.	晚上 10 点半左右，格兰德完成返场演唱，离开舞台，体育馆的灯光亮起，人们开始涌向出口。这时突然传来爆炸声，有人称，爆炸的声音“非常大”。有些目击者回忆说，闻到了硫磺的味道。一股烟雾在体育馆弥漫开来。一开始，没人知道发生了什么。有些人还在想，是不是有些粉色气球爆炸了。
At first, Ms. McCoy told herself it could not be a bomb. The pall of white smoke made her think it was a firework released after the final song, a last pyrotechnic from the spectacular stage show. “I thought a bomb would look different, sound different,” she said. “I don’t know why.”	一开始，麦科伊心想，那不可能是炸弹。那一团白色烟雾让她以为是最后一首歌之后放的烟火，是这场壮观的舞台演出的最后一个烟火装置。“我以为炸弹爆炸的样子和味道跟这个不一样，”她说，“我不知道为什么会那样想。”
When Ms. McCoy and her friend Amy Hedley had taken their seats in the upper tier of the arena, they had remarked to each other on the	麦科伊和朋友埃米·赫德利(Amy Hedley)在体育馆的上层看台落座时，谈论过观众的年龄多么小。“大部分是十多岁的女孩，”她说，“平均年龄在 14 岁

youthfulness of the crowd. "It was mostly teenage girls," she said. "The average age would have been about 14."	左右。”
The power of the blast shook the arena, and many people started screaming and running. Outside the hall, parents had been waiting to pick up their children. Diane Burnett, from Edinburgh, was looking for her 17-year-old son at the time of the explosion. "It was a loud bang, and then silence, and then loads of girls screaming," she said. "You didn't know what it was, whether it was a train crashing."	爆炸的威力撼动了整个体育馆，很多人开始尖叫、奔跑。在体育馆外，父母们本来等着接孩子。爆炸发生时，来自爱丁堡的黛安·伯内特(Diane Burnett)正在寻找自己17岁的儿子。“那是一声巨响，然后是一片沉默，然后是很多女孩在尖叫，”她说。“你不知道发生了什么，不知道是不是火车撞了。”
Another parent, Kevin Pickford, rushed into the main entrance to search for his two daughters. "There was an announcement, asking people to leave slowly and calmly," he recalled. But panic was overtaking the calm.	另一位父亲凯文·皮克福德(Kevin Pickford)冲进主入口，寻找自己的两个女儿。“广播里要求人们慢慢地、平静地离开，”他回忆说。但是，恐慌让人们无法保持冷静。
"Everyone was crying and screaming," said Sophie Tedd, 25, who attended the concert with her friend Jessica Holmes. "Nobody knew which way to go."	“所有的人都在哭喊，”25岁的索菲·泰德(Sophie Tedd)说。她和朋友杰西卡·霍姆斯(Jessica Holmes)一起观看了这场演唱会。“没人知道该往哪儿走。”
One older woman in a wheelchair was trapped in the tumult as another spectator shouted at the crowds to let her through.	一位坐轮椅的年龄稍长的女人被困在了骚乱中，另一名观众对着人群大喊，希望人们给这个坐轮椅的女人让个路。
Molly Cronin, 18, described a mini-stampede of panicked fans. "Kids were getting crushed, and we were trying to help them," she said, noting that the timing of the blast seemed "deliberate."	18岁的莫莉·克罗宁(Molly Cronin)表示，当时，恐慌的粉丝们基本上是在惊慌逃窜。“孩子们被吓坏了，我们努力帮助他们，”她说。她认为爆炸的时机似乎是“特意”选择的。
Outside, police officers were quickly on hand, trying to direct people to safety. "They were telling us to run, to keep running, away from Victoria station," Ms. Tedd said. Fleets of wailing ambulances were pulling up to the scene.	在体育馆外，警察很快到达现场，努力把人们引导到安全地带。“他们让我们跑，一直跑，远离维多利亚车站，”泰德说。一队队拉着警报的救护车来到现场。
Few people, though, knew where to go. A police cordon quickly took	不过，没人知道该去哪儿。警察很快拉起了警戒线。当地的酒店打开大门，

shape. Local hotels opened their doors, offering sanctuary to the stranded.	为陷入困境的人提供避难场所。
Inside the arena, Louise Reid, 48, was leading her 15-year-old daughter, Patty, toward the exit when the crush of people overwhelmed them. "I turned around and then felt like hundreds of people were falling on me," she said, describing how the power of the crowd swept her away from her daughter. "I couldn't turn back. I felt so helpless."	在体育馆内, 48 岁的路易斯·里德(Louise Reid)正带着 15 岁的女儿帕蒂(Patty)往出口走, 但拥挤的人群把她们冲散了。“我回过头, 感觉有成百上千人向我压过来, ”她在描述人群的力量怎么把她和女儿冲散时说。“我回不去。我觉得很无助。”
When she reached the area where the blast had occurred, Ms. Reid was horrified, she said. Parents and others were frantically looking at bodies, trying to identify loved ones, until security guards ushered everyone out.	里德称, 她到达爆炸发生的地方时, 觉得非常恐惧。父母们和其他一些人在疯狂地查看尸体, 努力找到自己心爱的孩子, 直到保安把大家都带了出去。
Ms. Reid was one of the frantic parents, searching for her daughter. "But Patty never came out, and I refused to leave until I was forced away by the paramedics and the police," she said. "I didn't know what to do, where to go. I didn't have a phone. I just kept screaming for Patty."	里德也是那些疯狂的父母之一, 她在寻找自己的女儿。“但我一直没找到帕蒂, 我拒绝离开, 直到被医护人员和警察强行带走, ”她说。“我不知道该怎么办, 该去哪儿。当时我没带电话。我只能不停地呼喊帕蒂的名字。”
Three hours passed before the police found Patty at a nearby hotel. "Three hours of not knowing whether my daughter was dead or alive," Ms. Reid said, with tears streaming down her cheeks as she sat in the home of a resident near the arena.	三个小时后, 警察在附近的一个酒店找到了帕蒂。“我有三个小时不知道女儿的死活, ”里德说。她在体育馆附近一个居民家中坐着讲述这些时, 眼泪不停地从脸颊上往下流。
"How do we go back to normal after this?" she asked. "The tragedy shows that this can happen anywhere, at any time."	“经过这件事, 我们怎么回到正常的状态?”她问道。“这场悲剧表明, 这种事可能会在任何时候、在任何地方发生。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170524/uk-manchester-attack-survivors	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170524/uk-manchester-attack-survivors
They Went to Manchester Arena as Homeless Men. They Left as Heroes.	从无家可归者到曼彻斯特的英雄
LONDON — For Chris Parker, the arena's entrance area might have	伦敦——对于克里斯·帕克(Chris Parker)来说, 体育场的入口处可能似乎是一

seemed like a good place to ask people for money. Stephen Jones had found a spot nearby to sleep.	个向人讨钱的好地方。斯蒂芬·琼斯(Stephen Jones)则在附近找了一个地方睡觉。
Now, the two men, both homeless, are being praised as heroes for helping victims of the Manchester Arena bombing.	现在, 这两个无家可归的男子由于帮助曼彻斯特体育场爆炸案受害者, 被赞为英雄。
As Manchester and the rest of Britain were trying to come to terms with the country's deadliest terrorist attack in more than a decade, the two men are being hailed on social media for their selflessness and courage.	就在曼彻斯特和英国其他城市试图接受该国十多年来死伤最大的恐怖主义袭击之际, 这两名男子因为无私和勇敢在社交媒体上获得了称赞。
Mr. Parker, 33, was panhandling when the bomb exploded, according to local news reports. The force of the blast knocked him to the floor, but he was unfazed.	据当地媒体报道, 在炸弹爆炸时, 33岁的帕克正在行乞。爆炸的威力把他掀翻在地, 但他处变不惊。
Rather than running for safety, he went to the aid of victims, comforting a girl who had lost her legs, wrapping her in a T-shirt, and cradling a dying woman in his arms.	他没有跑向安全地带, 而是去为受害者提供帮助, 他安慰一个失去了双腿的女孩, 用一件T恤把她包起来, 还把一个垂死的女人抱在怀里。
Mr. Jones, 35, says he pulled nails out of children's arms and faces.	35岁的琼斯说, 他把钉子从一些孩子的手臂和脸上拔了出来。
"Just because I am homeless doesn't mean I haven't got a heart, or I'm not human still," he told ITV News. "I'd like to think someone would come and help me if I needed the help," he said, adding that he had been overcome by an "instinct" to pitch in.	"我无家可归, 这并不意味着我没有心, 不是人类," 他对ITV新闻说。"我想, 如果我需要帮助, 是会有人来帮助我的," 他还说, 是参与的"本能"促使他采取行动。
"It was children," he continued. "It was a lot of children with blood all over them and crying and screaming."	"他们是些孩子," 他继续说。"有很多孩子全身是血, 哭着, 尖叫着。"
Mr. Parker told the news agency Press Association that amid the smoke and the shrieks after the explosion, he saw a little girl. "I wrapped her in one of the merchandise T-shirts, and I said, 'Where is your mum and daddy?' She said, 'My dad is at work, my mum is up there,'" he was quoted as saying.	帕克告诉报联社(Press Association), 在爆炸后的烟雾和尖叫声中, 他看到一个小女孩。"我用一件T恤包着她, 问: '你妈妈和爸爸在哪儿?' 她说, '我爸爸在工作, 我的妈妈在那里。'" 报道引用他的话说。

He also said he had tried to help an older woman who had head and leg injuries, but that she died in his arms.	他还表示，他曾试图帮助一名头部和腿部受伤的老年妇女，但是她死在了他怀里。
"She was in her 60s, and she had been with her family. I haven't stopped crying," he told the Press Association. "The most shocking part of it is that it was a kids' concert."	"她 60 多岁，和她的家人来的。我一直在哭，"他告诉报联社。"最令人震惊的地方就是，这是以孩子为主的演唱会。"
After his actions became known, an online fund-raising page was set up for Mr. Parker. By early afternoon on Wednesday it had raised 30,000 pounds, or almost $40,000.	帕克的事迹传出之后，有人为他开了一个在线筹款页面。周三刚到下午，就已经筹集到 3 万英镑（约合人民币 26 万元）。
Another fund, for Mr. Jones, was listed on the JustGiving site.	在 JustGiving 网站上，也有一个为琼斯筹款的项目。
The tragedy may have also helped to heal a family rift. After hearing about what Mr. Parker had done, his mother reached out.	这起悲剧可能也有助于治愈一道家庭裂痕。在听说帕克的事迹之后，他的母亲伸出了手。
"This is my son and I am desperate to get in touch with him," she wrote on the fund-raising page. "We have been estranged for a very long time, and I had no idea he was homeless. I am very proud of him, and I think he might need me right now."	"这是我的儿子，我非常想与他取得联系，"她在筹款页面上写道。"我们疏远已经很长时间了，我不知道他无家可归。我为他感到骄傲，我认为他现在可能需要我。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170525/homeless-hero-manchester	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170525/homeless-hero-manchester
European Visits by Trump and Obama Are a Study in Contrasts	特朗普和奥巴马同时去欧洲，气氛截然不同
BERLIN — The contrast could not have been more stark.	柏林——对比不可能更强烈。
Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany started Thursday in Berlin with the 44th president — the one she has called "dear Barack." She spent the afternoon in Brussels with the 45th, Donald Trump, whose election she greeted with a stern reminder to respect shared values like equality and freedom.	周四，德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)在柏林与一直被她唤做"亲爱的奥巴马"的第 44 任美国总统一同开启了新的一天。当天下午，她又在布鲁塞尔和第 45 任总统唐纳德·特朗普(Donald Trump)会面，当初祝贺后者当选时，她只是严肃地提醒说要尊重自由、平等之类双方共同的价值观。
Barack Obama was in Berlin to help celebrate 500 years since Martin Luther's Reformation, and received a rock-star welcome from tens of	贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)来到柏林是为了参加马丁·路德宗教改革 500 周年纪念活动，在勃兰登堡门前像个巨星般受到热烈欢迎。当这位前总统盛

thousands at the Brandenburg Gate. It was all bonhomie, waves and warm words, as the former president praised Merkel's "outstanding work, not just here but around the world," particularly with refugees.	赞默克尔“为这里乃至全世界做了杰出的工作”——尤其是关于难民的工作时，人们感受到的是友好的氛围，看到的是挥手致意，听到的是暖心的言辞。
Barely two hours later, Merkel was among the European leaders who greeted Trump coolly at NATO headquarters in Brussels, where few casual words, let alone warm ones, were exchanged, as the new American president once again castigated allies for not paying their fair share of bills.	仅仅两个小时后，默克尔便和其他欧洲领导人一道，在布鲁塞尔的北约(NATO)总部矜持地欢迎了特朗普。当美国新任总统再度严厉批评盟友们没支付足够的费用时，两人甚少正式交换看法，更别提说些暖心的言辞了。
For Europeans, the juxtaposition served as an unavoidable reminder of the contrasts between the men — their personal styles, their relations with America's allies and the values and priorities they embody.	这种并置肯定能让欧洲人注意到奥巴马和特朗普之间的强烈反差——包括他们的个人风格，他们与美国的盟友的关系，以及他们所体现的价值观、所看重的事项。
It was also a demonstration, however coincidental, of the political shadow boxing that has found an unlikely arena in Europe, the new center of the contest between liberal democracy and far-right populism.	尽管事出巧合，但这也是一场隔空发生的政治拳击表演——在欧洲这个新近成为自由主义民主和极右派民粹主义斗争中心的地方，这场表演找到了一个出人意料的舞台。
While Obama is the leader Europe prefers, Trump's sudden ascendance has been seen as a challenge to America's commitment to Europe, both its unity and its security, as well as the values that underpin the Western alliance.	奥巴马是欧洲更青睐的领导人，而特朗普的突然崛起一直被视为一种挑战——面临挑战的是美国对欧洲在统一和安全方面的承诺，以及让西方联盟得到巩固的价值观。
The impression was underscored once again on Thursday when Trump demurred from explicitly endorsing America's commitment to NATO's principle of collective defense.	周四，由于特朗普没有按照惯例明确重申美国将恪守北约共同防御原则，这种印象再度被加强。
Neither president has remained aloof from Europe's politics as the stakes have mounted this year with critical elections that have so far beaten back the far-right populism that helped thrust Trump to power	欧洲今年有若干场关键的选举，截至目前，在去年帮助特朗普上台的那种极右派民粹主义潮流遭到了阻击。由于涉及更大的利害关系，两位总统都没有与欧洲政治保持距离。

last year.
Each man has, in fact, made his preferences clear at important moments in a kind of political proxy war. Obama, who remains wildly popular in Europe, was not shy about weighing in on France's presidential race and endorsing the centrist reformer Emmanuel Macron, the winner.	事实上，在一种政治上的代理人战争中，两人均在重要时刻表明了自己的偏好。在欧洲仍然广受欢迎的奥巴马不加避讳地影响法国的总统竞选，给身为中间派改革者的赢家埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)背书。
Trump, on the other hand, lauded Macron's far-right opponent, Marine Le Pen, and posted a message on Twitter saying a terror attack in Paris in April would "have a big effect on presidential election!" Ultimately it did not.	特朗普则称赞了马克龙的极右翼对手马琳·勒庞(Marine Le Pen)，还发推文称，巴黎四月份的一场恐怖袭击会“对总统选举产生重大影响！”结果并非如此。
For European leaders like Merkel, striking a balance between coaxing Trump into a deeper understanding with America's traditional allies, while remaining true to their own political principles, is proving to be tricky.	事实证明，对默克尔等欧洲领导人来说，在劝诱特朗普与美国的传统盟友达成更深谅解和忠于自己的政治原则之间保持平衡，是高难度动作。
German government officials say Merkel telephoned Trump when it became clear she would meet both presidents on the same day, to dispel any impression of a slight.	德国政府官员称，默克尔在明确得知她将在同一天会见两位总统时，曾给电特朗普打过电话，以免对方有受到轻慢之感。
But the coincidence of scheduling — Obama's invitation was issued a year ago, though accepted only last month — nonetheless presented Merkel with an opportunity for her to demonstrate that both sides need each other, and to show voters at home that she is a world leader as she campaigns for a fourth term.	不过，日程上的巧合——对奥巴马的邀请是一年前发出的，但直到上个月才被接受——无论如何都给默克尔提供了一个机会，让她得以展示双方都彼此需要，并在谋求第四个任期之际让本国选民看到她是一个世界性领导人。
"It is wonderful timing for her, a combination of good luck and good strategizing," said Jan Techau of the Richard Holbrooke Forum at the American Academy in Berlin.	"对她来说这是一个绝好的时间安排，是好运气和好谋划的结合，"柏林美国研究院(American Academy)理查德·霍布鲁克论坛(Richard Holbrooke Forum)的扬·特肖(Jan Techau)说。

She was with Obama, “the good American who everyone is already missing,” and then with Trump, “the other America which needs to be dealt with. And that is what is so crucial – of course she needs the relationship with Trump, but she can relativize that with pictures with Obama at the church meeting,” Techau added.	她先和奥巴马一起现身，那是“人人都已经开始怀念的美国好人”，然后是特朗普，代表着“需要应对的另一个美国。而这正是至关重要之处——与特朗普的关系当然是她需要的，但她可以用和奥巴马一起出席宗教集会的画面淡化这一点”，特肖补充道。
Yet, in Brussels, there were no evident breakthroughs.	不过在布鲁塞尔并没有出现明显的突破性进展。
As for Obama, usually trips by ex-leaders generate little public interest and consist of collecting obscure awards, like the media prize Obama was due to accept in the German spa town of Baden-Baden later on Thursday.	说到奥巴马，前领导人的行程通常不太会引起公众的兴趣，一般都是去领取不起眼的奖项，比如奥巴马周四晚些时候要在德国温泉小镇巴登巴登领取的传媒奖。
But while Obama has generally avoided making overtly political statements during his travels, his every movement, gesture and word have become objects of scrutiny at a highly politicized time.	尽管旅行期间奥巴马总是避免公开发表政治宣言，但在这样一个高度政治化的时刻，他的每一个动作、姿态以及他说出的每一个字都经受着审视。
Obama took his first step back onto the world stage earlier this month, at a food and technology conference in Milan, where he sprinkled his political stardust on Matteo Renzi, the center-left former Italian prime minister who is hoping for a comeback.	奥巴马于本月初首次重返国际舞台，在米兰出席一个关于食品和科技的会议，用自己的政治魅力点亮了希望卷土重来的中左翼意大利前总统马泰奥·伦齐(Matteo Renzi)。
The themes and settings of this week scarcely spelled neutrality, or reserve, analysts noted. “The entire week is more about symbolism than it is about substance,” Techau said. “It is state theater at the highest level.”	分析人士指出，本周的主题和场合几乎与中立或保留意见无缘。“整个星期与其说关乎本质，还不如说关乎象征意义，”特肖说。“这是最高层级的世界舞台大戏。”
Obama did not mention Trump once during his 90-minute appearance in Berlin. But he did take some veiled swipes, noting, for instance, that when dealing with migration, “we can’t hide behind a wall,” alluding to Trump’s plan to build a wall along the Mexican border.	在柏林现身的90分钟里，奥巴马一次也没有说起特朗普的名字。但他的确隐晦地有所提及，比如他说，处理移民问题时，“我们不能躲在一堵墙后面，”暗指特朗普修建美墨边境墙的计划。

In Brussels, Merkel, was similarly discreet as she unveiled a piece of the Berlin Wall, whose fall in November 1989 marked NATO's triumph in the Cold War against the Soviets.	在布鲁塞尔，默克尔为一块柏林围墙残片揭幕时同样颇为谨慎。柏林墙于1989倒塌，标志着北约在冷战中击败苏联。
"To find convincing answers for the future," she said, "it is good to know what we achieved in the past."	"知道我们在过去取得的成就，"她说，"有助于为未来找到令人信服的答案。"
Trump, the New Yorker, presented a large chunk of the North Tower of the World Trade Center where the first hijacked plane made impact on Sept. 11, 2001, leading NATO allies for the first time to invoke the collective defense clause, Article V, which European leaders were hoping Trump would endorse.	纽约客特朗普则展示了一大块世贸中心北楼残片。2011年9月11日，第一架被挟持的飞机撞向世贸中心北楼，引得北约盟友首次启用共同防御条款，也就是欧洲领导本来希望特朗普为之背书的第五款。
Instead, Trump wasted no time in reminding Europeans that most of them are not paying their way in defense, and that this is "not fair" to the American taxpayer.	特朗普却争分夺秒地提醒欧洲人，他们中的大多数人都没有交足防御费用，这对美国纳税人来说"并不公平"。
While the atmosphere in Brussels was tense, in Berlin Germans and foreigners exulted in the chance to see and hear Obama live.	布鲁塞尔那边的氛围颇为紧绷，而在柏林这边，有机会见到奥巴马本人并听他说话的德国人和外国人都欣喜若狂。
Austin Joseph, 27, a native of Atlanta, said he left the United States two days after Trump's election and swiftly settled in Berlin. "They talked to each other with decency and respect," he said after Obama's appearance with Merkel. "That is what we need more of nowadays."	27岁的亚特兰大人奥斯丁·约瑟夫(Austin Joseph)说，他在特朗普当选总统两天后离开了美国，迅速在柏林定居。"他们带着礼貌和尊重彼此交谈，"他在奥巴马与默克尔一同现身后表示。"这正是我们现如今更需要的东西。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170526/c26obamatrump	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170526/c26obamatrump
Trump Condemns 'Alleged Leaks,' After Complaints From Britain	曼彻斯特爆炸案细节披露引发"泄密"风波
BRUSSELS — President Donald Trump on Thursday condemned "leaks of sensitive information," responding to a complaint by Britain's prime minister, Theresa May, over disclosures of details from the investigation into Britain's deadliest terrorist attack since 2005.	布鲁塞尔——特朗普周四谴责了"泄漏敏感信息"事件，以回应英国首相特丽莎·梅(Theresa May)的抗议。遭到泄露的细节和2005年以来英国伤亡最大的恐怖袭击调查有关。

“The alleged leaks coming out of government agencies are deeply troubling,” Trump said in a statement. “These leaks have been going on for a long time, and my administration will get to the bottom of this. The leaks of sensitive information pose a grave threat to our national security.”	“这里所说的泄漏来自政府机构，这非常让人困扰。”特朗普在一份声明中说，“类似的泄漏已经持续很长时间了，我的行政部门将会深入调查此事。敏感信息的泄露对美国的国家安全构成了严重威胁。”
He added: “I am asking the Department of Justice and other relevant agencies to launch a complete review of this matter, and, if appropriate, the culprit should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.”	他还说：“我要求司法部和其他有关机构对这件事进行全面检讨，如果适当的话，肇事者应该受到法律的严惩。”
Trump has angrily criticized leaks from his government, many of them revealing information that has been embarrassing or politically damaging to him. In his first month in office, he called for a Justice Department investigation into what he said were “criminal leaks.” Just as he left Washington to start his nine-day overseas trip and again while he has been traveling, more leaks disclosed details about his private conversations.	特朗普愤怒地批评了其政府泄漏消息的状况，其中很多人透露了让他感到尴尬或给其政治上带来损害的信息。在他任职的第一个月，他要求司法部对他所说的“犯罪泄漏”进行调查。就在他离开华盛顿开始为期九天的海外出访时，更多的泄漏事件曝光了他的私人谈话。
But two dimensions of the latest controversy are new: The disclosures in this case are about a terrorism investigation led by a foreign ally, and the British government has brought its complaints to a receptive audience.	但最近这次争议有两个方面是新的：本次披露的信息涉及一个外国盟友领导的恐怖主义调查，而且英国政府把抗议发到了一个乐于倾听的听众那里。
In a statement, May’s office said she would bring up the matter at a NATO gathering in Brussels on Thursday evening and would “make clear to President Trump that intelligence that is shared between our law enforcement agencies must remain secure.”	在一份声明中，梅的办公室表示，她将于周四晚上在布鲁塞尔举行的北约组织会议上提出这件事，并将“向特朗普总统表明，执法机构之间分享的情报必须做到安全”。
In what appears to be another effort to assuage British anger, Secretary of State Rex W. Tillerson will go to London on Friday to meet with	英国外交部称，美国国务卿雷克斯·蒂勒森(Rex Tillerson)周五将到伦敦会见外交大臣鲍里斯·约翰逊(Boris Johnson)，以表达“曼彻斯特发生恐怖袭击之

Foreign Secretary Boris Johnson “in an expression of U.K.-U.S. solidarity following the terrorist attack in Manchester earlier this week,” the British Foreign Office announced. The two men “will write messages of condolence for the victims of the attack and hold talks on a range of foreign policy issues,” the statement said.	后英美的团结一致”，这似乎是另一个平息英国愤怒情绪的努力。声明说：“两人将向袭击的受害者写慰问信，并就一系列外交政策问题举行会谈。”
May’s statement followed expressions of outrage by top law enforcement officials after The New York Times published images on Wednesday of the fragments, backpack and battery used by Salman Abedi, the 22-year-old bomber who killed 22 people and injured 64 outside the Manchester Arena as a pop concert ended Monday night. The Times did not disclose the source of its information.	《纽约时报》周三发表了袭击者萨勒曼·阿贝迪(Salman Abedi)使用的爆炸物碎片、背包和电池，引起了英国最高执法官员的愤怒，梅的声明就是在这之后发表的。袭击者阿贝迪 22 岁，本周一晚上，在曼彻斯特体育场举行的一场流行音乐演唱会结束时发生的爆炸致 22 人死亡，64 人受伤。《纽约时报》没有透露其消息来源。
The National Police Chiefs’ Council in Britain called the leaks a breach of trust, adding: “This damage is even greater when it involves unauthorized disclosure of potential evidence in the middle of a major counterterrorism investigation.” The disclosure of potential evidence “undermines our investigations and the confidence of victims, witnesses and their families,” it added.	英国的全国警察局长理事会(Police Chiefs’ Council)称这起泄露事件是对信任的破坏，他们还说：“在大规模反恐调查过程中涉嫌未经授权地披露潜在证据，这种危害就更大。”“披露潜在证据”破坏了我们的调查和受害者、证人及其家属的信任”，声明说道。
On Thursday, Manchester’s top police official, Chief Constable Ian Hopkins, joined the chorus of criticism, saying that the disclosure “has caused much distress for families that are already suffering terribly with their loss.”	周四，曼彻斯特最高警察官员、警察局长伊恩·霍普金斯(Ian Hopkins)加入了批评者的队伍，他说披露这些消息“对已经遭受损失的家庭造成了很大的伤害”。
Earlier in the day, the BBC reported that the Manchester police would no longer share details of the investigation with American counterparts. But Thursday evening, after May had new assurances from Trump, the police announced that intelligence sharing had resumed – if it had ever	当天早些时候，BBC 报道说，曼彻斯特警方将不再与美国同行分享调查的细节。但周四晚上，梅从特朗普那里得到新的保证后，警方宣布情报分享已经恢复——如果曾经中止过的话。

stopped in the first place.
But Mark Rowley, an assistant commissioner in charge of counterterrorism at Scotland Yard and an officer on the Police Chiefs' Council, said in a statement released later on Thursday that "while we do not usually comment on information-sharing arrangements with international law enforcement organizations, we want to emphasize that, having received fresh assurances, we are now working closely with our key partners around the world including all those in the 'Five Eyes' intelligence alliance," which includes most prominently the United States.	但苏格兰场反恐主管助理专员、全国警察局长理事会成员马克·罗利(Mark Rowley)在周四晚些时候发表的声明中表示：“虽然我们通常不会就与国际执法机构的信息共享安排发表评论，但我们要强调，在得到新的保证后，我们现在正在与世界各地的重要合作伙伴密切合作，包括‘五只眼’(Five Eyes)情报联盟中的合作伙伴，其中最主要的是美国。”
The Times said in a statement:	《纽约时报》在一份声明中说：
The images and information presented were neither graphic nor disrespectful of victims, and consistent with the common line of reporting on weapons used in horrific crimes, as The Times and other media outlets have done following terrorist acts around the world, from Boston to Paris to Baghdad, and many places in between.	刊出的图像和信息既没有对受害者做直接表现，也没有对他们表现不尊重，符合对恐怖罪行中所使用武器的报道的通用标准，就像《纽约时报》和其他媒体在世界各地报道恐怖主义行为时所做的事情一样，不管是在波士顿、巴黎、巴格达，还是在其他很多地方。
Our mission is to cover news and inform our readers. We have strict guidelines on how and in what ways we cover sensitive stories. Our coverage of Monday's horrific attack has been both comprehensive and responsible.	我们的使命是报道新闻，为读者提供信息。对于如何报道敏感故事，以及以怎样的方式报道，我们有严格的指导规范。我们对周一恐怖袭击的报道不仅全面，而且负责任。
We cover stories about terrorism from all angles. Not only stories about victims but also how terrorist groups work, their sources of funding, how they recruit. Acts of terrorism have tremendous impact on how we live, on how we are governed and how we interact as people, communities and nations. At times the process of reporting this	我们从各个角度报道恐怖主义事件。不仅有关于受害者的故事，还有恐怖组织的工作方式、资金来源、他们如何招聘新人。恐怖主义行为对我们的生活方式，我们的受统治方式，以及我们与公众、社区和国家的互动方式产生了巨大的影响。有时候，我们的记者是冒着人身风险在进行报道。我们做这些事情，是因为它是我们使命的核心。

coverage comes at personal risk to our reporters. We do it because it is core to our mission.
The first disclosures in the Manchester bombing case came on Tuesday, when U.S. television networks, in particular NBC and CBS, revealed the name of the Manchester bomber, citing U.S. officials. (The name had also been circulating on social media.)	曼彻斯特爆炸案的细节首次披露是在周二，一些美国电视台，尤其是NBC和CBS，引用美国官员的话，披露了曼彻斯特袭击者的名字（这个名字也在社交媒体上传播开来）。
Then, on Wednesday, The Times published crime scene photographs of a possible switch to initiate the explosion and parts of the bomb itself. The Times report also pointed out precisely where the bomb had been placed. The Times did not cite its sources, but it attributed its account to “preliminary information gathered by British authorities.”	然后在周三，《纽约时报》发布了犯罪现场的照片，上面是一个可能引发爆炸的开关，以及炸弹碎片。时报也精确地指出了炸弹的放置位置。时报没有引用其来源，但是说这些内容来自于“英国当局收集的初步资料”。
U.S. news organizations have not been alone in disclosing information that appears to have originated with British intelligence. France’s interior minister, Gérard Collomb, said Wednesday that Abedi had “most likely” traveled to Syria, and on Thursday, a German magazine, Focus, cited unnamed German officials saying that Abedi had gotten paramilitary training there.	并不只有美国新闻机构披露了似乎来源于英国情报的信息。法国内政部长热拉尔·科隆(Gérard Collomb)周三表示，阿贝迪“极有可能”前往过叙利亚，周四，德国新闻周刊《焦点》(Focus)援引一位未具名的德国官员的话，说阿贝迪在那里进行了准军事训练。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170526/trump-may-leaks-manchester	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170526/trump-may-leaks-manchester
China Sees an Opening in Rift Between Trump and Germany	地缘政治大洗牌，欧洲送走特朗普迎来中国
BERLIN — Exit President Trump, offending almost everyone. Enter China, eager to talk.	柏林——在几乎冒犯了每个人之后，特朗普总统走了。然后中国来了，热切地想和欧洲对话。
In a geopolitical whirl this week, the new American president had barely left Europe to face his Russia troubles at home before Chancellor Angela Merkel, the Continent’s No. 1 leader, suggested that Mr. Trump’s America was no longer a reliably close ally.	在本周的地缘政治旋风中，美国的新总统刚刚离开欧洲，回国去面对他的“通俄门”风波，欧洲大陆的头号领导人默克尔就表示，特朗普治下的美国不再是欧洲可靠的盟友。

An outcry ensued, with analysts on both sides of the Atlantic talking of an epochal shift in relations. And that was even before reports began to emerge from the White House on Wednesday that Mr. Trump was expected to withdraw from the landmark 2015 Paris climate accord.	这引发了强烈的抗议，大西洋两岸的分析人士都在谈论美欧关系的巨变，而到了周三，白宫有消息出来，说特朗普预计将退出具有里程碑意义的2015年巴黎气候协定。
But as Ms. Merkel's busy diplomatic schedule this week seemed to indicate, she might have other options.	但正如默克尔本周忙碌的外交日程表明的那样，她可能还有其他选择。
On Monday and Tuesday, Ms. Merkel hosted a big Indian government delegation, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi, whom her spokesman made a point of calling a "reliable partner." Then, on Wednesday, the chancellor welcomed Li Keqiang, the prime minister of China.	周一和周二，默克尔接待了一个印度政府大型代表团，其中包括印度总理纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)。她的发言人特别强调莫迪是一个“可靠的合作伙伴”。然后，到了周三，默克尔欢迎中国总理李克强到访。
The timing of the visits has intensified speculation that in the current febrile state of global politics, China in particular may prove a steadier ally on climate change and free trade than Mr. Trump, even if it comes with its own tensions and complexities.	这些访问的时机加剧了人们对当前全球政治狂热状态的猜测，尤其是，中国在气候变化和自由贸易方面可能会是比特朗普更加可靠的盟友，虽然这也自有其紧张状况和复杂性。
"Trump's turn away from America's classic leading role is having a destabilizing effect," wrote Henrik Müller, a professor at Technical University of Dortmund, in his weekly column on the global economy for Der Spiegel. "One consequence: Global economic policy is sorting out in a new way. The other two big economies — the E.U. and China — are seeking new partners to work on the international problems."	“美国的典型角色是领导者，特朗普偏离这个角色会破坏稳定。”多特蒙德工业大学(Technical University of Dortmund)的新闻学教授亨里克·穆勒(Henrik Müller)在《明镜周刊》(Der Spiegel)的每周全球经济专栏中表示，“其中一个后果就是：全球经济政策以新的方式洗牌。另外两个大型经济体——欧盟和中国——正在寻求新的合作伙伴应对国际问题。”
China's prime minister underscored Germany's importance by stopping in its capital for two days of talks before going on to the European Union headquarters in Brussels, where Mr. Trump made such a poor impression last week.	中国总理在德国首都进行为期两天的谈判，然后前往布鲁塞尔的欧盟总部。特朗普上周正是在布鲁塞尔给人留下了很糟的印象。

He clearly frustrated Ms. Merkel by proving impervious to her requests, and those of other Europeans, to commit to staying in the Paris climate accord. Yet Ms. Merkel, campaigning for a fourth term from voters who cherish the environment but rarely coddle American presidents, insisted there was no rift.	默克尔和欧洲其他领导人要求特朗普继续留在巴黎气候协定中，他却无动于衷，这显然让默克尔感到失望。默克尔正在争取她的第四个任期，选民们非常珍惜环境，对美国总统不太热络，但默克尔仍然坚称和美国没有裂痕。
But the Chinese view Mr. Trump's harsh behavior in Europe as a gift to be capitalized on. It helps Beijing carry through on a long-term vision of China and the European Union joining together as a geostrategic balance against the United States, some Chinese analysts said.	但是，中国人认为，特朗普在欧洲的恶劣行为是值得利用的礼物。一些中国的分析人士表示，这有助于推进北京长期以来的愿景，即中国和欧盟携手，与美国进行地缘战略抗衡。
"Possibly we will see an important shift in the China-U.S.-E.U. triangular relations, with China and the E.U. moving closer while the U.S. and E.U. drift apart," said Wang Dong, assistant professor at the School of International Studies at Peking University. "Premier Li and Chancellor Merkel will likely reaffirm their commitments to upholding the Paris agreements."	"我们可能会看到中美欧三角关系发生重大转变，中国和欧盟走得更近，美国和欧盟疏远，"北大国际关系学院副教授王栋说，"李克强和默克尔可能会重申坚持巴黎协定的承诺。"
Baohui Zhang, professor of international relations at Lingnan University in Hong Kong, sensed major changes afoot, too. "Li should be seen from a different perspective now by his hosts," he said. "I think Europe in general and Germany specifically are collectively experiencing a paradigm shift in their perceptions of U.S.-Europe relations."	香港岭南大学国际关系教授张泊汇也认为会出现重大变化。"东道主现在应该从不同的角度来看李克强了。"他说。"我认为欧洲作为一个整体，正在对美欧关系看法发生转变，其中又以德国尤甚。"
In Berlin, that view is shared by some analysts. Before the United States election, sharp tensions were visible between Europe and China, particularly over Chinese investment in strategic or military companies, said Björn Conrad, a leading researcher at the Mercator Institute, a Berlin think tank on China. Now, "there is a shift going on."	在柏林，一些分析人士也抱有这样的观点。柏林智库墨卡托中国研究中心(Mercator Institute)的资深研究员孔弼永(Björn Conrad)表示，在美国进行总统选举之前，欧洲和中国之间关系紧张，尤其集中在中国对欧洲的战略性或军事性公司的投资问题上，但现在，"情况变了"。

“Obviously, if you feel you are losing a very important partner, you have to be on the lookout for alternatives,” Mr. Conrad said.	孔弼永说：“显然，如果你觉得你失去了一个非常重要的合作伙伴，那么就不得不寻找替代品了。”
But that view is not universal, and others see a more calibrated calculation.	但是这种观点并不是所有人都赞同，另外一些人看到的是目的性更强的算计。
“For Berlin, the relationship with China is not a tool to achieve more influence globally,” said Volker Stanzel, a former German ambassador to both China and Japan. “Improvement of that relationship seems sensible in order to pursue Germany’s economic interests in China better,” he said, particularly at a time when China is wavering in its commitment to allow more leeway to foreign companies operating in China.	“对于柏林来说，德中关系并不是为了在全球获得更大影响力的工具。”前德国驻华和驻日大使史丹泽(Volker Stanzel)表示。“为了更好地追求德国在中国的经济利益，改善这种关系似乎是明智的，特别是在中国犹豫不决是否要兑现为在中国经营的外国公司留出更多空间的承诺之际。”
Ms. Merkel, who has visited 10 Chinese provinces in 11 years in power, insisted in Beijing last summer on reciprocity for foreign companies.	默克尔当总理这 11 年来，访问过 10 个中国省份，去年夏天她坚持要求中国对外国公司采取互惠互利的做法。
In February, Germany, France and Italy presented the European Commission with a request to set up screening of incoming foreign investment.	今年 2 月份，德国、法国和意大利向欧盟委员会提交申请，要求对外商投资进行筛选。
Germany, in particular, was concerned about two murky deals involving Chinese investors: the takeover of the robot maker Kuka and an ultimately unsuccessful bid for the high-tech Aixtron.	有两起涉及中国投资者的复杂交易让德国尤其担心：一是收购机器人制造商库卡(Kuka)；另一起是收购高科技公司爱思强(Aixtron)，但最终没有成功。
The balance between security and the need for capital in a globalized world is a central concern for both Europe and Japan as they move forward with China.	在一个全球化世界中，对安全和对资本的需求应该如何保持平衡，这是欧洲和日本在向中国走近过程中的一个重大担忧。
The Chinese government has presented itself this year as the chief proponent of globalization as a source of prosperity — a stark divergence from Mr. Trump’s protectionist instincts and rejection of	今年，中国政府展示自己作为全球化主要支持者的形象，认为全球化是繁荣之源，这与特朗普的保护主义本能、对多边贸易协议的排斥、对更传统的双边协议的青睐形成鲜明对比。

multinational trade deals in favor of more old-fashioned bilateral accords.
President Xi Jinping of China delivered the keynote speech at the World Economic Forum in Davos, where he positioned China as the guarantor of free trade. Despite widespread criticism from Western companies and analysts of China's failure to open up its economy, European business leaders applauded.	中国国家主席习近平在达沃斯的世界经济论坛(World Economic Forum)上发表了主题演讲, 将中国定位为自由贸易的担保人。尽管西方国家的公司和分析人士广泛批评中国没有开放自己的经济, 但欧洲的商业领袖们还是鼓掌欢迎。
Next, Mr. Xi just hosted a conference in Beijing for its Belt and Road initiative, which is scheduled to bring vast Chinese-led investment in bridges, rails and ports to Europe, as well as other parts of the world.	之后, 习近平在北京为“一带一路”计划举行会议, 该计划旨在将中国在桥梁、铁路和港口方面主导的投资带到欧洲和世界各地。
Mr. Xi is expected to push that initiative at the next global gathering of note, the G-20 summit meeting hosted by Germany in Hamburg in early July.	预计习近平会在下一个著名的全球聚会上推广该计划, 也就是7月初德国在汉堡主办的 G-20 峰会。
That China is sending its two most senior leaders here twice in just over a month underscores how seriously Beijing takes Germany — and Ms. Merkel, who, according to current opinion polls, is expected to win national elections in September.	在短短一个多月时间内, 中国最重要的两位高级领导人两次来到这里, 表明中国对德国和默克尔非常看重。根据目前的民意调查, 默克尔有望在今年9月的全国大选中获胜。
Mr. Stanzel, the former ambassador, cautioned, however, that the frequency of meetings at many levels did not necessarily signify accord.	不过, 前大使施坦策尔对此表示警惕, 他认为, 很多层次的频繁会晤不一定意味着和谐。
“We see a long process of increasing frustration with how China implements its reform plans,” he wrote in an email. That requires frequent and intense contacts, “which may give the impression that they become warmer.”	“中国实施自己改革计划的方式带来了漫长的、不断加重的沮丧情绪,” 他在接受电子邮件采访时说。这种情况需要通过频繁密切的接触来缓解, “这可能给人造成一种关系更热络的印象”。
Marcel Fratzscher, president of the German Institute for Economic Research, concurred that replacing America with China “is not a good	德国经济研究所(German Institute for Economic Research)主任马塞尔·弗拉茨舍尔(Marcel Fratzscher)也认为, 用中国取代美国“不是一个很好的交

swap.”	换”。
“Germany has a lot more to fear from the Chinese than from the United States,” he said on the sidelines of a conference on American-German relations, taking place right by the Brandenburg Gate where former President Barack Obama appeared with Ms. Merkel last week before the Trump meetings in Brussels and Italy.	“德国对中国的担忧远远大于对美国,”他在一场关于美德关系的会议期间说。该会议就在勃兰登堡门举行。上周,默克尔在比利时和意大利与特朗普会晤之前,曾在这里与前美国总统贝拉克·奥巴马一同亮相。
Mr. Fratzscher, for one, argued for more German interest in India, whose delegation had just arrived to attend an investment conference with Ms. Merkel in a nearby hotel. India ranks about 24th on the list of trading partners for export-oriented Germany, between Ireland and Finland.	弗拉茨舍尔就认为,德国应该更多关注印度。当时,印度代表团刚刚抵达,准备在附近一家酒店与默克尔举行一场投资会议。对于以出口为主导的德国来说,印度在其贸易伙伴榜单上大约名列第24位,在爱尔兰和芬兰之间。
This week, Ms. Merkel pledged support to get stalled talks between India and the European Union moving. India’s high customs tariffs and bureaucracy — protections it argues a developing country needs — have delayed progress for a decade.	本周,默克尔承诺给予支持,让印度与欧盟对话摆脱僵持局面。印度的高关税和官僚主义——它认为,这是自己作为发展中国家所需要的保护——导致十年来对话没有进展。
Similarly, it remains to be seen if she can prod the Chinese to level the playing field for foreign companies and overcome the tensions standing in the way of a deeper partnership with Beijing as relations with Mr. Trump’s America sour.	同样地,她能否敦促中国为外国公司提供公平的竞争平台,以及在与特朗普政府的关系恶化之际,能否克服障碍,与中国建立更深厚的伙伴关系,仍需拭目以待。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170601/china-sees-an-opening-in-rift-between-trump-and-germany	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170601/china-sees-an-opening-in-rift-between-trump-and-germany
Q. & A.: The Paris Climate Accord	假如美国退出,巴黎气候协定命运如何?
President Donald Trump is said to be considering withdrawing the United States from the Paris climate agreement, a landmark accord reached in 2015 between 195 countries that seeks to avoid some of the	据说,唐纳德·特朗普总统正在考虑让美国退出巴黎气候协定,这是2015年195个国家达成的标志性协定,旨在遏制全球温室气体排放,避免气候变化造成的一些最严重后果。 worst effects of climate change by curbing global greenhouse gas emissions.

The White House says it has not yet reached a final decision on Paris, and hundreds of corporations and world leaders are lobbying the United States to stay in the pact. Within the administration, some senior officials, including Secretary of State Rex Tillerson, have warned the president that the diplomatic repercussions from leaving could be severe.	白宫表示，它尚未就巴黎协定做出最终决定，成百上千个公司和一些国家领导人正在游说美国不要退出该协定。在特朗普政府内部，包括国务卿雷克斯·蒂勒森(Rex Tillerson)在内的一些高级官员已经提醒总统，退出该协定可能造成严重的外交后果。
A U.S. withdrawal would not scuttle the Paris accord, but it could seriously weaken global efforts to avoid drastic climate change. Here's a primer on how the Paris agreement works — and what could happen if the United States leaves.	美国的退出不会破坏巴黎协定，但会严重削弱避免重大气候变化的全球努力。下面是一份关于巴黎气候协定运作方式的入门资料，以及如果美国退出，可能会发生的情况。
What does the Paris climate deal actually do?	巴黎气候协定到底是做什么的？
A: Under the Paris agreement, every country submitted an individual plan to tackle its greenhouse gas emissions and then agreed to meet regularly to review their progress and prod one another to ratchet up their efforts as the years went by.	答：按照巴黎协定，每个国家提交自己应对温室气体排放的计划，然后定期会面，评估进展，相互敦促，逐步加大努力。
Unlike its predecessor treaty, the Kyoto Protocol, the Paris deal was intended to be nonbinding, so that countries could tailor their climate plans to their domestic situations and alter them as circumstances changed. There are no penalties for falling short of declared targets. The hope was that, through peer pressure and diplomacy, these policies would be strengthened over time.	和之前的《京都议定书》(Kyoto Protocol)不同，巴黎协定是没有约束力的，所以每个国家可以根据国内情况制订自己的计划，并根据情况变化作出调整。如果没有实现宣称的目标，也不会受到惩罚。协定是希望通过其他国家的压力和外交手段逐步加强这些政策。
Under the deal, the Obama administration pledged to cut domestic greenhouse gas emissions 26 to 28 percent below 2005 levels by 2025	按照该协定，奥巴马政府承诺到2025年，将国内温室气体排放量减少到低于2005年排放量的26%至28%，并承诺在2020年之前，向较贫困国家捐

as well as to commit up to $3 billion in aid for poorer countries by 2020. (The United States has delivered $1 billion to date.) China vowed that its emissions would peak around 2030 and that it would get about 20 percent of its electricity from carbon-free sources by then. India would continue to reduce its carbon intensity, or CO2 output per unit of economic activity, in line with historical levels.	助 30 亿美元（到目前为止，美国已经捐了 10 亿美元）。中国预测本国的温室气体排放量将在 2030 年左右达到最高值，它承诺，届时，大约 20% 的电将来自无碳能源。印度将根据其历史水平逐渐降低碳强度，也就是每单位经济活动的二氧化碳排放量。
While the current pledges would not prevent global temperatures from rising more than 2 degrees Celsius above preindustrial levels, the threshold deemed unacceptably risky, there is some evidence that the Paris deal's "soft diplomacy" is nudging countries toward greater action. A recent study from the Grantham Research Institute found that the mere existence of the accord had prodded dozens of countries to enact new clean-energy laws.	虽然目前的这些承诺不足以阻止全球温度比工业化前水平上升 2°C 以上（上升 2°C 被视为无法接受的危险上限），但有些证据表明，巴黎协定的“软外交”促使很多国家采取了更多行动。格兰瑟姆研究院(Grantham Research Institute)最近的一项研究发现，单是这项协定的存在就已促使数十个国家颁布了新的清洁能源法律。
How would the United States withdraw from Paris?	美国将如何退出巴黎协定？
A: Because the deal is nonbinding, there are no penalties if the United States pulls out.	答：因为该协定没有约束力，所以如果美国退出，不会受到惩罚。
The Trump administration can invoke the accord's formal withdrawal mechanism, which takes four years — though U.S. officials could stop participating in any future climate talks immediately. A future administration could, if it chose, rejoin.	特朗普政府可以执行该协定的正式退出机制，那将花费四年时间，不过美国官员可以立刻停止参与未来的任何气候对话。如果未来的政府愿意，可以再次加入。
More radically, the Trump administration could withdraw from the underlying United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, signaling a withdrawal from all U.N.-sponsored climate discussions. It is not yet clear which option the Trump administration would choose, if it decides to leave.	更激进的方式是，特朗普政府可以退出更基本的《联合国气候变化框架公约》(United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change)，表明自己要退出联合国主持下的所有气候讨论。尚不清楚如果特朗普政府决定退出的话，会选择哪种做法。

If the United States does leave, it would join Syria and Nicaragua as the only two countries not participating in the accord.	如果美国退出，它将加入叙利亚和尼加拉瓜的行列，成为世界上仅有的三个未加入该协定的国家之一。
The United States could also face serious diplomatic repercussions for leaving. Europe, China and other countries may threaten to withhold cooperation on issues the Trump administration cares about. In a more extreme case, other countries could decide to impose carbon tariffs on the United States.	美国可能也会面临退出造成的严重外交后果。欧洲、中国以及其他国家可能会威胁终止在特朗普政府关心的一些问题上的合作。在更极端的情况下，其他国家可能决定对美国征收碳关税。
What would this mean for the fight against climate change?	这对应对气候变化意味着什么？
A: Withdrawal by the United States could seriously undermine global efforts to tackle global warming — but much will depend on how other countries react.	答：美国的退出会严重削弱全世界对抗全球变暖的努力，但在很大程度上将取决于其他国家会做何反应。
Leaders in Europe, China and India have insisted that they will carry on tackling global warming without the United States. But the precise shape of future climate talks remains an open question.	欧洲、中国和印度的领导人表示，美国退出后，他们将继续对抗全球变暖。不过，未来气候对话的确切情形依然无从判断。
One possibility is that, with the world's second-largest emitter pulling out, other countries may feel inclined to relax their own plans to curb greenhouse gases. "Even in places like Europe, you have industry groups worried about competitiveness," said David G. Victor, a professor of international relations at the University of California, San Diego. A U.S. withdrawal, he notes, "makes the politics in other countries that much harder."	一种可能是，全球第二大排放国退出之后，其他国家可能会倾向于放松遏制温室气体排放的计划。“即便在欧洲这样的地方，有些行业组织也担心竞争问题，”加州大学圣迭戈分校(University of California, San Diego)的国际关系教授戴维·G·维克多(David G. Victor)说。他指出，美国退出“会让其他国家的相关政治变得更加困难”。
Developing countries like India, Indonesia, and the Philippines may be more reluctant to tackle their emissions if the United States pulls back on promised aid to help them adjust to the worst effects of climate change.	如果美国收回承诺，不再帮助印度、印度尼西亚和菲律宾等发展中国家为气候变化最恶劣的影响做出调整，那么，这些国家可能更不愿意应对排放问题。

Not everyone is so pessimistic, however. Luke Kemp, a climate policy expert at Australian National University, suggests that other countries may choose to redouble their pursuit of cleaner energy in the face of recalcitrance from the Trump administration. "In the short term you could see a galvanizing effect," he said.	不过，不是所有的人都这么悲观。澳大利亚国立大学(Australian National University)的气候政策专家卢克·肯普(Luke Kemp)表示，面对特朗普政府的顽固，其他国家可能会选择加强对更清洁能源的追求。“在短期内，你可能会看到一种激励效果，”他说。
China, the world's largest emitter, is poised to assume a dominant role in future talks. The country is investing heavily in wind, solar and nuclear power in an attempt to level off its once-insatiable coal consumption. But it is unclear how far China's leaders will go in pressuring other countries to raise their ambitions. In the past, China has argued against rigorous transparency standards to review nations' progress.	全球最大排放国中国准备在未来的对话中扮演主导角色。该国正在风能、太阳能与核能上大量投资，以减少一度无法得到满足的煤炭消费。但是，中国领导人在迫使其他国家提高标准方面究竟会走得多远，目前尚不清楚。过去，中国曾经反对评估国家进展方面的严格透明标准。
But the rest of the world will have a lot of heavy lifting ahead of it: Current pledges, when added up, put the planet on pace to warm 3 degrees Celsius or more above preindustrial levels, an outcome with a far greater risk of destabilizing ice sheets in Greenland and Antarctica, higher levels of sea-level rise, more destructive heat waves and droughts, and the loss of vital ecosystems like coral reefs.	不过，世界其他国家还面临着重任：目前的承诺累加起来依然会让地球的温度朝着比工业化前上升3°C或更高的方向发展，这会极大增加以下风险：格陵兰岛和南极洲的冰原破裂，海平面上升，出现更多破坏性热浪和干旱，失去珊瑚礁等重要生态系统。
One final variable: A future U.S. administration could always change course on climate policy – and even try to rejoin the agreement once Trump is out of office.	最后一个可能的变数：未来的美国政府始终可以改变气候政策路线，甚至可能尝试在特朗普下台后，立刻重新加入该协定。
"Other countries are constantly judging each other's positions in the world," Victor said. "If it looks like this administration is only going to last for four years, you might see other countries continue to push along on climate and not give up on the U.S. just yet."	“其他国家在不断评价彼此在世界上的位置，”维克多说。“如果这届政府似乎只会维持四年，你可能会看到其他国家继续在气候问题上努力，暂时不会放弃美国。”

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170601/qa-the-paris-climate-accord	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170601/qa-the-paris-climate-accord
Trump Hands the Chinese a Gift: The Chance for Global Leadership	美国大步退出世界舞台，中国迎来战略机遇
WASHINGTON — President Trump has managed to turn America First into America Isolated.	华盛顿——特朗普总统已经成功地把“美国优先”变成了“美国孤立”。
In pulling out of the Paris climate accord, Mr. Trump has created a vacuum of global leadership that presents ripe opportunities to allies and adversaries alike to reorder the world’s power structure. His decision is perhaps the greatest strategic gift to the Chinese, who are eager to fill the void that Washington is leaving around the world on everything from setting the rules of trade and environmental standards to financing the infrastructure projects that give Beijing vast influence.	通过退出巴黎气候协定，特朗普制造了一个全球领导力真空，为美国的盟友和对手一同奉上了重塑世界权力结构的大好机会。他的决定对中国人来说或许是最棒的战略礼物。他们正急于填补华盛顿在世界各地留下的所涉甚广的空缺——从制定贸易规则和环境标准，到为那些会带给北京巨大影响力的基础设施项目提供资金。
Mr. Trump’s remarks in the Rose Garden on Thursday were also a retreat from leadership on the one issue, climate change, that unified America’s European allies, its rising superpower competitor in the Pacific, and even some of its adversaries, including Iran. He did it over the objections of much of the American business community and his secretary of state, Rex W. Tillerson, who embraced the Paris accord when he ran Exxon Mobil, less out of a sense of moral responsibility and more as part of the new price of doing business around the world.	特朗普周四在玫瑰园发表的言论，意味着美国将退出应对气候变化议题的领导者行列，而这一议题曾把美国的欧洲盟友、它在太平洋地区日渐崛起的超级大国竞争对手，乃至包括伊朗在内的它的一些敌人团结起来。他不顾美国商界很多人以及国务卿雷克斯·W·蒂勒森(Rex W. Tillerson)的反对，做出了这一决定。蒂勒森在掌管埃克森美孚(Exxon Mobil)期间便对该协定表示了支持，他这样做与其说是出于道德责任感，不如说是在世界各地做生意的新代价。
As Mr. Trump announced his decision, the Paris agreement’s goals were conspicuously reaffirmed by friends and rivals alike, including nations where it would have the most impact, like China and India, as well as the major European Union states and Russia.	在特朗普宣布自己的决定之际，巴黎协定的目标高调地得到了美国的朋友和对手的一致重申，其中包括中国、印度等将会受到最大影响的国家、欧盟主要成员国以及俄罗斯。
The announcement came only days after he declined to give his NATO allies a forceful reaffirmation of America’s commitment to their security,	宣布这一消息仅仅几天之前，特朗普曾拒绝向北约盟友坚定地重申美国对它们的安全承诺。再往前数几个月，他抛弃了一项名为“跨太平洋伙伴关系协

and a few months after he abandoned a trade deal, the Trans-Pacific Partnership, that was designed to put the United States at the center of a trade group that would compete with — and, some argue, contain — China’s fast-growing economic might.	定”（Trans Pacific Partnership, 简称 TPP）的贸易协议。TPP 的签订旨在把美国置于一个贸易集团的核心位置，该集团将与中国日益增长的经济实力相抗衡——也有人说是对其加以遏制。
“The irony here is that people worried that Trump would come in and make the world safe for Russian meddling,” said Richard N. Haass, the president of the Council on Foreign Relations, who was briefly considered, then rejected, for a top post in the new administration. “He may yet do that,” Mr. Haass added, “but he has certainly made the world safe for Chinese influence.”	“颇为讽刺的是，人们曾担心特朗普上台后，会为俄罗斯的干预之举创造条件，”曾短暂地成为新政府高级职位候选人，后被放弃的外交关系协会(Council on Foreign Relations)主席理查德·N·哈斯(Richard N. Haass)说。“他或许还没这样做，”哈斯继续说道，“但他已经显然已经为中国拓展其影响力创造了条件。”
The president, and his defenders, argue that such views are held by an elite group of globalists who have lost sight of the essential element of American power: economic growth. Mr. Trump made that argument explicitly in the Rose Garden with his contention that the Paris accord amounted to nothing more than “a massive redistribution of United States wealth to other countries.”	总统以及为他辩护的人表示，秉持此类观点的是一群信奉全球主义的精英，他们忽略了为美国的权力提供支撑的基本要素：经济增长。特朗普在玫瑰园明确地指出了这一点，他说《巴黎协定》只不过是“把美国的财富大把地再分配给其他国家”。
In short, he turned the concept of the agreement on its head. While President Barack Obama argued that the United Nations Green Climate Fund — a financial institution to help poorer nations combat the effects of climate change — would benefit the world, Mr. Trump argued that the American donations to the fund, which he halted, would beggar the country.	简而言之，他颠覆了这项协定的概念。贝拉克·奥巴马(Barack Obama)总统曾说，联合国绿色气候基金(United Nations Green Climate Fund)——一家帮助较为贫困的国家对抗气候变化影响的金融机构——将让世界受益；特朗普却说，美国对该基金的捐助会让美国变得很穷——他已经停掉了这项捐助。
“Our withdrawal from the agreement represents a reassertion of America’s sovereignty,” Mr. Trump said.	“我们退出协议代表着重申美国的主权，”特朗普说。
That, in short, encapsulates how Mr. Trump’s view of preserving	简而言之，这体现了特朗普对维持美国实力的理解，与可追溯至哈里·S·杜鲁

American power differs from all of his predecessors, back to President Harry S. Truman. His proposed cuts to contributions to the United Nations and to American foreign aid are based on a presumption that only economic and military power count. "Soft power" — investments in alliances and broader global projects — are, in his view, designed to drain influence, not add to it, evident in the fact that he did not include the State Department among the agencies that are central to national security, and thus require budget increases.	门(Harry S. Truman)的所有前任这方面的理解均有不同。他提议削减上交联合国的经费和美国对外援助经费,这是基于只有经济和军事实力才重要的假设。在他看来,“软实力”这种东西——对结盟和更广泛的全球项目的投资——只会耗尽而不是增加影响力。这一点在他没有把国务院算作对国家安全颇为重要,因而须增加预算的机构这个事实中表现得淋漓尽致。
It will take years to determine the long-term effects of his decision to abandon the Paris agreement, to the environment and to the global order. It will not break alliances: Europe is hardly about to embrace a broken, corrupt Russia, and China's neighbors are simultaneously drawn to its immense wealth and repelled by its self-interested ambitions.	他退出《巴黎协定》的决定对环境和全球秩序的长远影响要数年才能确定。这不会打破联盟:欧洲不太可能去拥抱一个凋敝、腐败的俄罗斯,而中国的邻居既被它巨大的财富所吸引,又厌恶它自私自利的野心。
But Mr. Trump has added to the arguments of leaders around the world that it is time to rebalance their portfolios by effectively selling some of their stock in Washington. Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany has already announced her plan to hedge her bets, declaring last weekend after meeting Mr. Trump that she had realized "the times when we could completely rely on others are, to an extent, over."	但特朗普让世界各国的领导人有了更多的理由,认为是时候通过大力卖出在华盛顿的部分股份,来重新平衡自己的投资组合了。德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)已经宣布了她的对冲止损计划。上周末,在同特朗普举行了会晤后,默克尔声称她意识到,“我们可以完全依赖他人的时代,在一定程度上来说结束了”。
That may be temporary: It is still possible that Mr. Trump's announcement on Thursday will amount to a blip in history, a withdrawal that takes so long — four years — that it could be reversed after the next presidential election. But for now it leaves the United States declaring that it is better outside the accord than in, a position	这也许是暂时的:特朗普周四的表态依然有可能只是历史进程中的一个小波折。退出要花很长时间——四年——以至事情可能会在下一届总统选举之后发生逆转。但目前,这让宣称退出协定比留下更好的美国,处在迄今为止除自己外只有叙利亚和尼加拉瓜占据的位置。(叙利亚没有参加是因为它深陷内战,尼加拉瓜则是因为它认为全球最富裕的一些国家做出的牺牲不够。)

that, besides America, has so far only been taken by Syria and Nicaragua. (Syria did not sign on because it is locked in civil war, Nicaragua because it believes the world's richest nations did not sacrifice enough.)
But it is the relative power balance with China that absorbs anyone who studies the dance of great powers. Even before Mr. Trump's announcement, President Xi Jinping had figured out how to embrace the rhetoric, if not the substance, of global leadership.	但吸引所有研究大国角力的人的，是与中国的相对力量平衡。早在特朗普宣布这个决定之前，中国国家主席习近平就已经明白，在言辞上该怎样承担起全球领导者的角色，不管实际行动如何。
Mr. Xi is no free trader, and his nation has overtaken the United States as the greatest emitter of carbon by a factor of two. Only three years ago, it was a deal between Mr. Obama and Mr. Xi that laid the groundwork for what became the broader Paris agreement.	习近平并不是自由贸易主义者，他领导的国家已经取代美国，成为最大的碳排放国，排放量是美国的两倍。就在三年前，奥巴马与习近平达成的一项协议，为整个巴黎协定的前身奠定了基础。
Yet for months the Chinese president has been stepping unto the breach, including giving speeches at the annual meeting of the World Economic Forum in Davos, Switzerland, that made it sound like China alone was ready to adopt the role of global standard-setter that Washington has occupied since the end of World War II.	但数月来，习近平一直在填补真空，包括在瑞士达沃斯的世界经济论坛(World Economic Forum)年会上发表讲话。那些讲话听上去像是只有中国准备好了接替华盛顿自二战结束后一直占据的全球标准制定者的角色。
"What the Paris accord represented, in a fractured world, was finally some international consensus, led by two big polluters, China and the United States, on a common course of action," said Graham T. Allison, the author of a new book, "Destined For War: Can America and China Escape Thucydides's Trap?"	"《巴黎协定》代表着支离破碎的世界之中终于有了一点国际共识，由中国和美国这两个大的污染国家领衔，展开一项有共同目标的行动，"新书《注定一战：美国和中国能否逃脱修昔底德陷阱？》的作者格雷厄姆·T·艾里森(Graham T. Allison)说。
"What you'd expect us to do is sustain our position by maintaining our most important relationship around the world and address what the citizens of our allies consider their most important problems: economic	"你本来还期待我们能在世界各地维持极其重要的伙伴关系，解决盟国人民心目中最重要问题：经济发展和一个对子孙后代而言具备可持续性的环境，从而保持我们在世界上的位置，"他补充说。"相反，我们却在主动退出。"

growth and an environment that sustains their children and grandchildren," he added. "Instead, we are absenting the field."
That sentiment was evident on Thursday in Berlin. Just hours before Mr. Trump spoke, China's premier, Li Keqiang, stood alongside Ms. Merkel, and used careful words as he described China as a champion of the accord. China believed that fighting climate change was an "international responsibility," Mr. Li said, the kind of declaration that American diplomats have made for years when making the case to combat terrorism or nuclear proliferation or hunger.	周四在柏林，这种情绪很明显。就在特朗普发言前几个小时，中国总理李克强与默克尔并肩而立，他用审慎的措辞来描述中国是这项协议的捍卫者。李克强说，中国相信应对气候变化是一项“国际责任”——多年来，为打击恐怖主义、核扩散或饥饿，美国外交官员经常做出这种宣言。
China has long viewed the possibility of a partnership with Europe as a balancing strategy against the United States. Now, with Mr. Trump questioning the basis of NATO, the Chinese are hoping that their partnership with Europe on the climate accord may allow that relationship to come to fruition faster than their grand strategy imagined.	长期以来，中国一直认为，对与欧洲建立伙伴关系的探索是一种平衡战略，可以用来对抗美国。如今，特朗普既然开始质疑北约的基础，中国人希望他们与欧洲在气候协定方面达成的伙伴关系可以让中欧关系全面开花结果，大大早于其宏大战略所设想的日期。
Naturally, the Chinese are using the biggest weapon in their quiver: Money. Their plan, known as "One Belt, One Road," is meant to buy China influence from Ethiopia to Britain, from Malaysia to Hungary, all the while refashioning the global economic order.	当然，中国人也在小心翼翼地使出他们最重要的武器：金钱。他们的计划被称为“一带一路”，希望在从埃塞俄比亚到英国，从马来西亚到匈牙利的范围内，用金钱为中国换来影响力，同时重塑全球经济秩序。
Mr. Xi announced the sweeping initiative last month, envisioning spending $1 trillion on huge infrastructure projects across Africa, Asia and Europe. It is a plan with echoes of the Marshall Plan and other American efforts at aid and investment, but on a scale with little precedent in modern history. And the clear subtext is that it is past time to toss out the rules of aging, American-dominated international	习近平上月宣布了一项全面举措，计划斥资 1 万亿美元投资非洲、亚洲和欧洲的超大型基础设施项目。这个计划有点像马歇尔计划(Marshall Plan)以及美国在援助和投资方面的其他工作，但其规模在现代史上几乎没有先例。这其中蕴含着明确的潜台词：以美国为主导的老一套国际体系早该抛弃，该按中国的条件做买卖了。 institutions, and to conduct commerce on China's terms.

https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170602/climate-accord-trump-china-global-leadership	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170602/climate-accord-trump-china-global-leadership
As Trump Exits Paris Agreement, Other Nations Are Defiant	保卫气候协议，世界“反美阵线”形成
UNITED NATIONS — Leaders from around the world maintained a defiant front Thursday after President Donald Trump announced that he would withdraw the United States from the Paris Agreement.	联合国——周四，唐纳德·特朗普总统宣布他将让美国退出《巴黎协定》(Paris Agreement)，世界各国领导人随即形成了针对他的反抗阵线。
French President Emmanuel Macron, speaking in English before switching to French, said he believed Trump was making a mistake, then extended an offer to Americans: “Tonight, I wish to tell the United States: France believes in you, the world believes in you. I know that you are a great nation. I know your history, our common history. To all scientists, engineers, entrepreneurs, responsible citizens who were disappointed by the decision of the president of the United States, I want to say that they will find in France a second home.	法国总统埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)先用英语，后用法语发言，说他相信特朗普犯了一个错误，然后向美国人提出建议：“今晚，我想告诉美国：法国相信你，世界相信你。我知道你是一个伟大的国家。我知道你的历史，我们的共同历史。我想说，所有对美国总统的决定感到失望的科学家、工程师、企业家，以及负责任的公民，他们可以在法国找到第二个家园。”
Miguel Arias Cañete, the European Union's commissioner for climate, said Trump's decision had “galvanized us” and promised that “this vacuum will be filled by new broad committed leadership.”	欧盟气候委员米格尔·阿里亚斯·卡涅特(Miguel Arias Cañete)表示，特朗普的决定“激励了我们”，并承诺“这个真空将由全身心投入的新领导力量填补。”
The leaders of France, Germany and Italy swiftly issued a statement expressing “regret” and rejected Trump's assertion that he would renegotiate the deal.	法国、德国、意大利的领导人迅速发表了一项声明，表示“遗憾”，并表示不接受特朗普就该协议展开重新谈判的主张。
“We therefore reaffirm our strongest commitment to swiftly implement the Paris Agreement, including its climate finance goals, and we encourage all our partners to speed up their action to combat climate change,” the statement read.	“我们在此重申，我们以最坚定的决心致力于迅速执行《巴黎协定》，包括其气候资金目标，我们鼓励所有合作伙伴加快行动，应对气候变化，”这份声明说。

Christina Figueres, the former U.N. official who led the negotiations, said that under the agreement the United States cannot even submit its intention to withdraw until November 2019, after which the process would take a year.	主导谈判的前联合国官员克里斯蒂安娜·菲格雷斯(Christina Figueres)说, 根据协议, 美国直到 2019 年 11 月才能提交退出意图, 之后的退出程序还需要一年时间。
"You cannot renegotiate individually," she said. "It's a multilateral agreement. No one country can unilaterally change the conditions."	"你不能分别重新谈判,"她说。"这是一个多边协议。没有任何国家可以单方面改变条件。"
In his comments Thursday, Trump took aim at the Green Climate Fund designed to help poor nations deal with the havoc of climate change, calling it a vast scheme to redistribute wealth. Figueres described the fund as a "political message" of help from rich countries to poor countries that have done little to wreck the atmosphere.	在周四的评论中, 特朗普把目标对准旨在帮助贫穷国家处理气候变化破坏的绿色气候基金(Green Climate Fund), 称之为重新分配财富的巨大阴谋。菲格雷斯将该基金描述为富国释放的"政治信息", 表明它们在帮助那些几乎没有对大气造成任何破坏的穷国。
Mayors from Sweden to Australia pushed back against the U.S. announcement. "What's heartbreaking is the damage governments can do in a short time when they're in power," said Clover Moore, the mayor of Sydney. "But where national action falters, as we see in the USA tonight, we see more and more city governments stepping up to provide the leadership we urgently need."	从瑞典到澳大利亚, 许多市长都批驳了美国的声明。"令人心碎的是, 一旦他们掌握权力, 政府在短时间内就能造成这样的破坏,"悉尼市市长克洛弗·摩尔(Clover Moore)说。"但是, 正如我们今晚在美国看到的, 当国家的行动出现摇摆的时候, 就会有越来越多的城市政府站出来, 提供我们迫切需要的领导力。"
Mary Robinson, a former U.N. special envoy for climate change, said in a biting statement: "The U.S. reneging on its commitment to the Paris Agreement renders it a rogue state on the international stage."	前联合国气候变化特使玛丽·罗宾逊(Mary Robinson)在一份措辞犀利的声明中说: "美国违反对《巴黎协定》的承诺, 使其成为国际舞台上的流氓国家。"
Before the announcement, U.N. envoys from rich and poor countries alike said they were sticking to the agreement, with or without the United States. New diplomatic alliances were forming, with Europe, India and China pledging to uphold their end of the deal.	在特朗普宣布该消息之前, 来自富国和穷国的联合国特使都表示, 不管有没有美国参与, 他们都将坚持这个协议。欧洲、印度和中国都承诺遵守自己在协议中的部分, 新的外交联盟正在形成。
Even some of Washington's most reliable allies warned that the United	即使华盛顿的一些最可靠的盟友也警告说, 美国会在国际舞台上遭到孤立。

States would find itself isolated on the international stage.
Arias Cañete insisted the Paris Agreement “will endure,” and he said the “world can continue to count on Europe for global leadership in the fight against climate change.”	阿里亚斯·卡涅特坚称，《巴黎协定》“将会持续下去”，他说，“在应对气候变化的战斗中，世界可以继续依靠欧洲来充当全球领导者的角色。”
Premier Li Keqiang of China, in Berlin for meetings with Chancellor Angela Merkel, said Thursday before Trump’s decision that his country remained committed to the fight against climate change and to participating in international efforts for a greener world.	周四，在特朗普宣布这一决定之前，中国总理李克强在柏林与德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)会晤时表示，中国会继续致力于抗击气候变化，并参与各种国际努力，建设一个更环保的世界。
China, the world’s biggest emitter of carbon dioxide, stands to gain international credit for standing by the Paris Agreement, but it would not be able to fill the void on its own if the United States abandoned the treaty.	中国是世界上最大的二氧化碳排放国，它因支持《巴黎协定》而逐渐在国际上获得赞誉，但如果美国放弃条约，它也无法自己填补空白。
“China will continue to uphold its commitments to the Paris climate agreement,” Li said, confirming a position his country agreed to alongside the United States in 2014, in what proved to be a watershed moment for the ultimate passage of the landmark accord the following year.	“中国将会继续履行巴黎协定承诺，”李克强表示，2014年，中国在这一问题上和美国达成了同一立场，这被证明是具有决定性意义的时刻，使得具有里程碑意义的巴黎协定终于在翌年获得通过。如今，中国再次重申了自己的立场。
Merkel, who welcomed the Chinese commitment as “encouraging,” has been a leader in the global push for climate action since 1992, when she played a crucial international role in the passage of the world’s first climate treaty, the Kyoto Protocol.	默克尔对中国的承诺表示欢迎，称之为“鼓舞人心”。1992年，她在通过世界首个气候条约《京都议定书》(Kyoto Protocol)当中扮演了至关重要的国际角色，此后在全球推动气候行动中一直发挥着领导作用。
She pointed to future cooperation between Brussels and Beijing, making clear the similar intention in Europe to move ahead with potential partners to fill any vacuum created by Washington’s absence.	她提到布鲁塞尔与北京未来的合作，表明欧洲也有类似意图：推动潜在合作伙伴以填补华盛顿缺席所造成的真空。
Merkel and India’s leader, Narendra Modi, pledged their support for the	默克尔和印度的领导人纳伦德拉·莫迪(Narendra Modi)于周三在柏林会见期

climate accord during meetings in Berlin on Wednesday.	间承诺支持气候协定。
The Paris Agreement entered into force in the General Assembly hall last November, just days before the U.S. presidential election. And it was at the U.N. this week that the isolation of the United States was palpable.	去年 11 月美国总统大选的前几天,《巴黎协定》在联合国大会大厅内生效。而本周,美国在联合国显然孤立无援。
Several Western diplomats said they could not fathom why the White House would join the tiny clique of nations — like Syria and Nicaragua — that had not signed the accord. The last time the United States' standing had fallen so low was during its invasion of Iraq, several said.	几位西方国家的外交官说,他们不能理解白宫何以效仿叙利亚和尼加拉瓜,加入没有签署协议的小国家行列。有几位外交官说,上一次美国的世界地位下降到这么低的地步,还是在它入侵伊拉克的时候。
"Humanity is at a fork in the road," said Kai Sauer, the ambassador from Finland. "One hundred and ninety countries going on one path, and the United States, Syria, Nicaragua going on another? It seems a bit strange. This definitely also changes how we are looking at the United States."	"人类正位于一个岔路口,"芬兰常驻联合国代表凯·绍尔(Kai Sauer)说。"190 个国家走上一条路,而美国、叙利亚、尼加拉瓜走上另一条路?这看起来有点奇怪。但这也绝对改变了我们对美国的看法。"
If the United States does withdraw, "the system of global climate governance won't totally collapse, but it will be shaken," said Zhang Haibin, a professor at Peking University who studies international environmental politics.	如果美国确实退出,"全球气候治理体系不会完全崩溃,但它会动摇,"北京大学研究国际环境政治的教授张海滨说。
"The international community may expect China to play a leading role," he said. "But in my view, China doesn't have the capacity to single-handedly play the role of global hero. Instead, we'll need to work closely with the European Union and the BASIC countries," he said, referring to a negotiating bloc that includes Brazil, South Africa, India and China.	"国际社会可能期望中国发挥领导作用,"他说。"但是在我看来,中国没有能力单枪匹马地扮演全球英雄角色。相反,我们需要同欧盟和基础四国紧密合作,"他所说的基础四国指由巴西、南非、印度和中国组成的谈判集团。
"Collective leadership will be more important," he said.	"集体领导会更重要,"他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170602/climate-paris-agreement-trum	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170602/climate-paris-agreement-trum

p-china	p-china
Trump Will Withdraw U.S. From Paris Climate Agreement	特朗普宣布美国将退出巴黎气候协定
WASHINGTON — President Donald Trump announced Thursday that he will withdraw the United States from participation in the Paris climate accord, weakening global efforts to combat climate change and siding with conservatives who argued that the landmark 2015 agreement was harming the economy.	华盛顿——特朗普总统周四宣布，他将让美国退出巴黎气候协定，此举削弱了全球为防止气候变化而做出的努力，与美国保守派的立场一致。保守派认为，2015年这个具有里程碑意义的协定正在危害美国经济。
But he will stick to the withdrawal process laid out in the Paris agreement, which President Barack Obama joined and most of the world has already ratified. That could take nearly four years to complete, meaning a final decision would be up to the American voters in the next presidential election.	他将坚持开始巴黎协定的退出程序，这个协定是奥巴马总统加入的，已经在全球大部分地区获得了批准。退出程序可能需要将近四年时间才能完成，意味着最后的决定将取决于美国选民在下一届总统选举中的选择。
Still, Trump’s decision is a remarkable rebuke to fellow heads of state, climate activists, corporate executives and members of the president’s own staff, all of whom failed this week to change Trump’s mind with an intense, last-minute lobbying blitz.	尽管如此，特朗普的决定是对其他国家元首、气候活动人士、企业高管以及总统自己幕僚的叱责，他们原本希望最后一刻的大力游说，能让特朗普改变想法。
“In order to fulfill my solemn duty to protect America and its citizens, the United States will withdraw from the Paris climate accord but begin negotiations to re-enter either the Paris accord or an entirely new transaction on terms that are fair to the United States,” the president said. “We are getting out. But we will start to negotiate, and we will see if we can make a deal that’s fair. And if we can, that’s great.”	“为了履行我保护美国及其公民的庄严义务，美国将退出巴黎气候协定，但是会在对美国公平的条件下重新加入巴黎协定或一个全新交易，”总统说。“我们将退出这个协定，但是我们将开始谈判，看看能否达成一个公平的协定。如果可以的话，那就太棒了。”
Obama, in a rare assertion of his political views as a former president, castigated the decision.	作为前任总统，奥巴马罕有地对自己的政治观点进行了维护，严厉谴责了该决定。
“The nations that remain in the Paris Agreement will be the nations that	“仍然留在巴黎协定中的国家，将会从新增的就业机会和新生的产业中获益。”

reap the benefits in jobs and industries created," he said in a statement. "I believe the United States of America should be at the front of the pack. But even in the absence of American leadership; even as this administration joins a small handful of nations that reject the future; I'm confident that our states, cities, and businesses will step up and do even more to lead the way, and help protect for future generations the one planet we've got."	他在一份声明中说：“我相信美利坚合众国应该走在前面。但即使没有国家的领导，即使这个政府加入了少数拒绝未来的国家行列，我相信，我们的州、城市和企业将会站出来发挥领导力，为子孙后代保护好我们的地球。”
Most Republicans applauded the decision.	大多数共和党人赞扬了这一决定。
"I applaud President Trump and his administration for dealing yet another significant blow to the Obama administration's assault on domestic energy production and jobs," said Sen. Mitch McConnell of Kentucky, the majority leader.	多数党领袖、肯塔基州参议员米奇·麦康奈尔(Mitch McConnell)表示：“我赞赏特朗普总统及其政府再次出手大力回击奥巴马政府对国内能源生产和就业机会造成的冲击。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170602/trump-paris-climate-agreement	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170602/trump-paris-climate-agreement
London Attacks: 'It Was Utter Horror'	恐惧笼罩伦敦心脏地带：目击者回忆恐袭发生时
LONDON — It was a warm, drizzly Saturday night, and the bars at Borough Market were packed, as usual. Tucked below an offramp of London Bridge, near the banks of the Thames, the market is a warren of narrow streets populated with trendy bars and restaurants, where some people had just finished watching the Champions League soccer final.	伦敦——这是一个温度宜人的周六夜晚，飘着毛毛细雨，博罗市场里的酒吧和平时一样人满为患。这里靠近泰晤士河岸，坐落在伦敦桥的驶出坡道之下，狭窄密集的街道上布满时尚的酒吧和餐厅，有些人刚在酒吧里看完欧冠足球决赛。
Then came the loud bang of a crashing van. Then came three men slashing at patrons with knives. Then screams, sirens, chaos — and, finally, gunfire as arriving police officers shot the three assailants dead.	然后传来撞车的巨响。有三名男子用刀向游客们砍去。之后是尖叫声、警笛声与一片混乱的声音，最后传来枪声，赶到的警察击毙了三名凶手。
"A huge group of people started running towards us," said Graham Forester, who was in a taxi arriving at Borough Market as the attack	“一大群人跑向我们，”格雷厄姆·福斯特(Graham Forester)说，袭击开始后，他坐着出租车到达博罗市场：“一个女人对着我的出租车司机尖叫，要他掉

unfolded. "One woman screamed at my cabby, telling him to turn around. One guy fell over really badly, while he was running, and I saw a pool of blood on the pavement.	头。一个人跑着跑着就倒在地上，状况非常糟，我看到人行道上有一大滩血。”
"A group of young girls, dolled up for the night, were running in their high heels, crying."	“一群晚上出来玩的年轻姑娘打扮得漂漂亮亮，她们穿着高跟鞋，边跑边哭。”
Parts of the area around the market remained cordoned off by police Sunday morning, as authorities continued to investigate the three men who carried out Britain's third major terrorist attack in less than three months.	周日上午，市场周边部分地区仍被警方封锁，官方仍在调查三名男性凶手，这是不到三个月内英国遭到的第三次重大恐怖袭击事件。
Seven people were killed, with dozens more injured, some in critical condition. Little was known about the assailants, but if their goal was to sow fear by striking a location filled with people, Borough Market and nearby London Bridge were ideal targets.	事件中有七人遇难，数十人受伤，有些人仍处于危急状态。关于袭击者的情况，目前人们几乎一无所知，但如果他们的目标是通过袭击人员密集的地方，以达到散布恐惧的目的，博罗市场和附近的伦敦桥堪称理想目标。
Popular with tourists and teeming with night life, London Bridge is a transport hub, with an adjacent rail and underground station near tourist attractions such as the Shard, the city's tallest building; Shakespeare's Globe Theater; and the Tate Modern art gallery.	伦敦桥一带拥有丰富的夜生活，到处都是游客，是一个交通枢纽，在附近的火车站和地铁站下车，可到达伦敦最高建筑碎片大厦(Shard)、莎士比亚环球剧院(Shakespeare's Globe Theater)和泰特现代艺术馆(Tate Modern)等旅游景点。
The area was filled with people at 10:08 p.m. Saturday when a white van roared across the bridge, jumping the curb and plowing over pedestrians on the sidewalk.	周六晚十点零八分，正值这一带人头攒动之际，一辆白色面包车在桥上咆哮而过，冲上人行道撞倒行人。
"We were close to the bridge, about to drive over it, and then traffic suddenly stopped," said a witness, Lorna Murray. "People got out of their cars and started running towards us."	“我们离桥很近，正要开车过桥，这时交通突然停滞了，”目击者洛娜·穆雷(Lorna Murray)说。“人们从自己的车子里冲出来跑向我们。”
"We saw the white van that apparently rammed into people," she added.	“我们看到一辆白色面包车，似乎是冲进了人群之中，”她说。

As victims lay strewn on the bridge, the van crashed into a guardrail along an offramp above Borough Market. Three men jumped out carrying long knives and raced into the market area. Patrons who had spent an evening in pubs or restaurants suddenly realized they were under attack.	桥上到处都是倒下的受害者，与此同时，在博罗市场上方的坡道，面包车撞上一道护栏停了下来。三名拿长刀的男子从车上跳下来，进入市场区域。在酒吧或餐馆度过了一个晚上的顾客突然意识到他们正在遭受袭击。
The rampage lasted only eight minutes before police vehicles arrived at the scene. Almost immediately, officers began ordering people to leave the area, even as they confronted the three assailants. Each of the men was wearing what appeared to be an explosive vest – but those turned out to be fake. A British Transport Police officer was injured as other officers shot and killed the assailants.	暴行仅持续了八分钟时间，警车就赶到了现场。面对三名攻击者，警察们几乎是马上就开始命令人们离开这个地区。每名攻击者都穿着看似自杀爆炸背心的衣物，但事后被证明是假的。一名英国交通警察受伤，其他警察射杀了袭击者。
No one knew if the attack was over, or if other assailants remained at large.	当时没有人知道袭击是否就此结束，抑或是否还有其他凶手在逃。
Hotels in the area were evacuated. Alarms went off inside deserted lobbies, as members of the staff went door-to-door telling guests to get out.	该地区的酒店遭到疏散。警报声在人员散尽的大堂里响起，员工们逐个房间敲门，通知客人离开。
Panicked people sprinted across bridges, many of them in their pajamas. Children were crying, and some hotel guests were huddled up, waiting in the cold.	恐慌的人群冲过桥去，许多人只穿着睡衣。孩子们哭叫起来，一些酒店的客人们挤作一团，在寒冷中等待。
"I was asleep and didn't even know anything was going on until the alarm went off and we were told to evacuate the hotel immediately," said Emily Sutton, a guest at the Novotel London Tower Bridge, across the river, who was sitting on a bench wrapped in a duvet.	"我睡着了，甚至不知道发生了什么事情，直到警报响起，我们被告知要立即撤离酒店，"艾米丽·萨顿(Emily Sutton)裹着一床羽绒被坐在长凳上说，她是河对岸诺富特伦敦塔桥酒店的客人。
"When we got out, there were police and sirens everywhere," she said. "People running and screaming. It was utter horror."	"我们出门时，到处都是警察和警笛，"她说。"人们边跑边叫。真是太恐怖了。"

Another guest, Danny Farre, walked down the street, carrying her 9-year-old daughter on her shoulders. "This is a complete nightmare; we are stuck here while there are maniacs on the loose and nobody is helping us," she said. "They could be anywhere. This is out of control."	另一位客人丹尼·法尔(Danny Farre)肩扛着九岁的女儿走在街上。“这完全是一场噩梦；我们被困在这里，疯子们却逍遥法外，没有人帮助我们，”她说。“他们可能在任何地方。完全失控了。”
But police quickly took control of the situation, rushing into some bars and ordering patrons to lie on the ground as they searched for possible suspects. A report of another attack in Vauxhall raised fears that some sort of broader, coordinated assault was underway, until authorities later established that the event was unrelated.	但是，警方迅速控制了局面，他们冲进一些酒吧。要求顾客们卧倒在地，并寻找可能的嫌疑人。关于沃克斯豪尔的另一次袭击的报道令人们担心这是某种范围更广阔的协同袭击，直到当局后来确定两起事件之间没有联系。
Parts of Central London were almost immediately placed on high alert. Sirens wailed as ambulances rushed the injured to hospitals across the city.	伦敦市中心的部分地区几乎立即进入了高度戒备状态。救护车鸣响警笛，将受伤人员迅速送到这座城市的各个医院。
Helicopters hovered over the Borough Market area as crowds of people continued to evacuate. Witnesses described scenes of horror as ambulances rushed to treat the wounded and people fled in panic.	随着人群持续疏散，直升机也开始博罗市场上空徘徊。目击者描述着恐怖的场面，救护车冲进现场治疗伤员，人群在恐慌中逃离。
Les Hunter, 33, was among the crowds that had managed to get away. Hunter, from Liverpool, was visiting a friend in London and stepped out of a pub about 10:15 p.m. He saw people fleeing and heard gunshots.	33岁的莱斯·亨特(Les Hunter)当时也在逃生的人群之中。他从利物浦来到伦敦访友，晚上10:15左右，他离开一家酒吧，看到人们四散逃跑，并且听到枪声。
"We went back into the pub and people starting running in telling us to get down and hide," he said. "I ran up to the gents and hid, but when I looked out the window, I saw a guy with blood all over his face and T-shirt."	"我们回到酒吧，人们开始跑进来，告诉我们要卧倒和隐蔽，"他说。"我跑进男厕所藏了起来，但是从窗口看到一个满脸是血的人，T恤上也全是血。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170605/london-attacks-scene	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170605/london-attacks-scene
London Attack Suspect Known as Abs Appeared in Film About Extremists	伦敦恐袭凶手曾现身“圣战”纪录片

LONDON — Everyone called him “Abs.” He gave out Halloween candy to children and taught them how to play Ping-Pong.	伦敦——大家都叫他“阿卜斯”(Abs)。他在万圣节给孩子们发糖果，还教他们怎么打乒乓球。
But Khurum Shazad Butt was not the typical resident of the East London neighborhood of Barking. He dressed in the religious gown of a conservative Muslim — with a tracksuit and sneakers underneath. He turned up in a Channel 4 documentary, “The Jihadis Next Door.” And now London’s Metropolitan Police have identified him as one of the three men who carried out the deadly terror attack Saturday at London Bridge and Borough Market.	但胡鲁姆·沙扎德·布特(Khurum Shazad Butt)并不是典型的东伦敦巴金地区居民。他穿着保守派穆斯林恪守教规的长袍，下身着运动服和运动鞋。他曾出现在第四频道(Channel 4)的纪录片《隔壁的圣战者》(The Jihadis Next Door)中。现在，伦敦警察厅(Metropolitan Police)确认他是周六在伦敦桥和博罗市场(Borough Market)制造了致命恐怖袭击的三名男子之一。
Butt and his accomplices drove a van onto the sidewalk of London Bridge, running over pedestrians, before jumping out of the vehicle and stabbing patrons at the bars and restaurants of Borough Market. They killed seven people and injured dozens before they were shot and killed by police less than 10 minutes after the rampage began.	布特和同案犯驾驶一辆厢式货车冲上伦敦桥的人行道，撞倒多名行人。后来在博罗市场，他们从车里跳出来，持刀袭击酒吧和餐厅里的顾客。他们共造成七人死亡，数十人受伤。最终，在暴行开始不到 10 分钟后，他们被警方击毙。
It was the van that struck a chord with Ken Chigbo, one of Butt’s neighbors in Barking.	正是那辆厢式货车，触动了布特在巴金的邻居肯·奇格博(Ken Chigbo)。
“He approached me about a week ago, making conversation, and found out I’m moving home,” Chigbo recalled in a phone interview Sunday, before police had officially identified Butts as one of the attackers. “He was just being polite. Then he said, ‘Look, Ken, where did you get your van from? How much did you pay? Do they do it in automatic?’”	“大约一周前，他走到我跟前，和我聊天，发现我正要搬家，”奇格博周日接受电话采访时回忆说。那时，警方尚未正式确认布特是袭击者之一。“他彬彬有礼。然后说，‘嘿，肯，你的厢式货车是从哪里买的？花了多少钱？它们有自动挡功能吗？’”
Another neighbor said Butt lived with his wife and young children, including a newborn, in the Elizabeth Fry Apartments on Kings Road in Barking.	另一名邻居说，布特和妻子及年幼的孩子，包括一个新生儿，住在巴金国王路上的伊丽莎白·弗莱公寓(Elizabeth Fry Apartments)。
On Monday evening, police identified Butt, 27, and another man, Rachid	周一傍晚，警方确认 27 岁的布特和另一名男子、30 岁的拉希德·拉德万

Redouane, 30, as two of the three people who carried out the attack. Butt was a British citizen who was born in Pakistan. Redouane had claimed to be Moroccan and Libyan, police said, and also sometimes used a pseudonym, Rachid Elkhdar. Authorities are still trying to confirm the identity of the third attacker.	(Rachid Redouane)是制造此次袭击的三人中的两人。布特是出生于巴基斯坦的英国公民。警方说，拉德万自称是摩洛哥和利比亚混血，有时候还化名拉希德·埃尔赫达尔(Rachid Elkhdar)。当局仍在努力确认第三名袭击者的身份。
Police confirmed that Butt “was known” to them and to MI5, the British intelligence service. “However, there was no intelligence to suggest that this attack was being planned and the investigation had been prioritized accordingly,” police said in a statement. “The other named man, Rachid Redouane, was not known.”	警方证实他们和英国情报机构军情五处(MI5)“知道”布特这个人。“然而，之前没有情报显示有人在策划这场袭击，因此应该优先调查，”警方在一份声明中说。“对于另一名公布了姓名的男子拉希德·拉德万，我们事先并不了解。”
Butt appeared briefly in a Channel 4 television documentary last year about extremists living in Britain. The film featured a number of British Muslim men expressing their support for violence.	去年，布特曾短暂地出现在第四频道一部有关生活在英国的极端分子的纪录片中。该片介绍了许多表示支持暴力的英国穆斯林男子。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170606/london-attack-suspect-known-as-abs-appeared-in-film-about-extremists	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170606/london-attack-suspect-known-as-abs-appeared-in-film-about-extremists
5 Arab States Break Ties With Qatar, Complicating U.S. Coalition-Building	多个阿拉伯国家与卡塔尔断交
BEIRUT — Egypt, Saudi Arabia and three other Arab countries severed all ties with Qatar early Monday, in a renewal of a four-year effort to isolate it and in a sign of a new boldness after a visit to the region by President Donald Trump.	贝鲁特——埃及、沙特阿拉伯和另外三个阿拉伯国家周一早些时候切断了与卡塔尔的所有联系，这是四年来它们努力孤立卡塔尔的最新发展，表明它们在唐纳德·特朗普总统访问该地区之后变得更加大胆。
In an abrupt move that surprised many in the region, the five Arab states not only suspended diplomatic relations, as they have in the past, but also cut off land, air and sea travel to and from Qatar and ordered their citizens to leave the country.	在这个令该地区很多人感到震惊的突然举动中，这五个阿拉伯国家不仅像过去那样中断了与卡塔尔的外交关系，还切断了与它的海陆空联系，并要求本国公民离开卡塔尔。

Qatar, like other monarchies in the Persian Gulf, is a close ally of Washington, and it hosts a major U.S. military base that commands the U.S.-led air campaign against the Islamic State group.	跟波斯湾的其他君主制国家一样，卡塔尔也是华盛顿的亲密盟友，美国在那里设有一处大型军事基地，指挥美国领导的打击伊斯兰国团体(Islamic State group)的空中行动。
As such, the feud among regional allies threatens to stress the operations of the U.S.-led coalition and complicate efforts in the region to confront Iran – but could also be a heavy economic blow to Tehran, if Qatar is forced to sever ties.	因此，该区域盟友之间的互相敌视有可能会影响到美国领导的联盟开展行动，让该地区对抗伊朗的努力变得复杂起来——但如果卡塔尔被迫切断和伊朗的联系，也可能对德黑兰造成沉重的经济打击。
Secretary of State Rex Tillerson offered Monday to broker the impasse in hopes of preserving the Trump administration’s efforts to create broad coalitions against Iran and terrorist groups in the Middle East.	国务卿雷克斯·蒂勒森(Rex Tillerson)周一表示愿意进行斡旋打破僵局，希望能维护特朗普政府为打击伊朗和中东地区恐怖主义集团而结成广泛联盟的努力。
“We certainly would encourage the parties to sit down together and address these differences,” Tillerson said.	“我们当然会鼓励各方坐下来解决这些分歧，”蒂勒森说。
The severing of all connections by Bahrain, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates and Yemen created an immediate crisis for Qatar.	巴林、埃及、沙特阿拉伯、阿拉伯联合酋长国和也门切断了和卡塔尔的所有联系，这给卡塔尔立刻带来了危机。
Qatar imports almost all of its food, about 40 percent of it directly from Saudi Arabia. There were reports of runs on food markets after the announcements Monday.	卡塔尔的食物几乎全部依靠进口，约40%来自沙特阿拉伯。周一的消息公布后，有报道称一些食品超市出现抢购。
Saudi Arabia said it was taking the action to “protect its national security from the dangers of terrorism and extremism.” The Foreign Ministry of Qatar released a statement saying the action had “no basis in fact” and was “unjustified.”	沙特阿拉伯说，他们是在采取行动“保护国家安全免受恐怖主义和极端主义的危害”。卡塔尔外交部发表声明说，这一举动“没有实际依据”，是“不合理的”。
There was no other clear event in the region that might have precipitated the renewal of the campaign against Qatar. But it followed a recent visit to Saudi Arabia by Trump, who made clear that he strongly backed Saudi Arabia in its push against both Iran and against	该地区没有其他明显事件导致这些国家突然重拾对卡塔尔的孤立。但这是在特朗普近期访问沙特阿拉伯之后出现的，当时特朗普明确表示，他坚决支持沙特阿拉伯打击伊朗和穆兄会(Muslim Brotherhood)式伊斯兰主义团体的努力。特朗普的支持可能鼓励了其他逊尼派国家再次孤立卡塔尔。

Muslim Brotherhood-style Islamist groups. Trump's support may have helped encourage the other Sunni states to renew their campaign against Qatar as well.
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170606/qatar-saudi-arabia-egypt-bahrain-united-arab-emirates	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170606/qatar-saudi-arabia-egypt-bahrain-united-arab-emirates
At Least 12 Killed in Pair of Terrorist Attacks in Iran	伊朗首都遭罕见连环恐怖袭击
Assailants with rifles, explosives and women's disguises stunned Iran on Wednesday with audacious attacks on the parliament building and tomb of its revolutionary founder, the worst terrorist strike to hit the Islamic republic in years.	周三，装扮成女性的袭击者携带着步枪、炸药，对伊朗的议会大楼和革命之父的陵墓发动大胆袭击，制造了这个伊斯兰共和国多年以来最严重的一起恐怖袭击事件。
At least 12 people were killed and 42 wounded in the pair of assaults, which lasted for hours and clearly took Iran's elite security forces by surprise. The six known attackers also were killed, official media said, and five suspects were reported detained.	两起袭击事件显然让伊朗的精英安全部队措手不及，整个过程持续了数小时，至少有12人遇难，42人受伤。据官方媒体报道，6名已知的袭击者身亡，另有5名嫌疑人被捕。
Iran's Islamic Revolutionary Guards Corps blamed Saudi Arabia and the United States for the assaults even as responsibility for them was asserted by the Islamic State, the Sunni extremist group that has taken credit for a staccato of terrorist attacks around the world in the last few weeks.	伊朗的伊斯兰革命卫队将这次袭击的责任归咎于沙特阿拉伯和美国，虽然逊尼派极端主义团体伊斯兰国(IS)已经表示对此事负责，该团体在过去几周里认领了世界各地的一系列恐怖袭击事件。
If the Islamic State's claim is true, that would be its first successful attack in Iran, which is predominantly Shiite Muslim and regarded by Sunni militants as a nation of heretics. Iranian-backed forces in Iraq and Syria are helping battle the Islamic State.	如果伊朗伊斯兰国的说法是属实，那么这将是它第一次在伊朗成功开展的袭击事件。伊朗以什叶派穆斯林为主，被逊尼派武装分子视为异端国家。伊朗支持的武装团体在伊拉克和叙利亚参与打击伊斯兰国。
Tensions in the Middle East were already high following a visit by President Donald Trump last month to Saudi Arabia, Iran's rival. Saudi	特朗普总统上个月访问了伊朗的对手沙特阿拉伯之后，中东局势变得十分紧张。沙特阿拉伯本周一带领该地区的一些国家与卡塔尔断绝了来往，后者与

Arabia led a regional effort on Monday to isolate Qatar, which maintains good relations with Iran.	伊朗保持着良好的关系。
In a statement, the Revolutionary Guards Corps said: "The public opinion of the world, especially Iran, recognizes this terrorist attack — which took place a week after a joint meeting of the U.S. president and the head of one of the region's backward governments, which constantly supports fundamentalist terrorists — as very significant," a reference to Saudi Arabia's ruling monarchy.	伊朗革命卫队在一份声明中表示：“世界舆论，特别是伊朗，认为这起恐怖袭击事件非常严重——它发生在美国总统和该地区一个落后政府的首脑举行联合会议后的一周内，这些落后政府一直在支持原教旨主义的恐怖分子。”这指的是沙特阿拉伯的国王。
Expressions of sympathy from world leaders for the victims poured in after the assaults. But hours elapsed before a condolence statement from the Trump administration, which has called Iran the world's leading state sponsor of terrorism.	世界各国的领导人纷纷对遭受袭击的遇难者表示了同情。但是直到数小时之后，称伊朗资助恐怖主义的特朗普政府才发表了吊唁声明。
"The United States condemns the terrorist attacks in Tehran today," the State Department said. "We express our condolences to the victims and their families, and send our thoughts and prayers to the people of Iran. The depravity of terrorism has no place in a peaceful, civilized world."	“美国谴责今天在德黑兰发生的恐怖袭击事件。”国务院说，“我们向受害者及其家属表示哀悼，向伊朗人民传达我们的哀思和祈祷，在一个和平、文明的世界中，罪恶的恐怖主义没有容身之所。”
Eleven of the victims died at the parliament building, and one at the mausoleum of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, father of the 1979 revolution. Four of the assailants were killed at the parliament, and two at the mausoleum. Five were men, and one mausoleum assailant was a woman.	11名遇难者死于议会大楼，一人死于1979年伊朗革命之父阿亚图拉·鲁霍拉·霍梅尼(Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini)的陵墓。袭击者中四人在议会丧生，两人在陵墓丧生。其中五个是男人，死于陵墓的袭击者中有一个是女性。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170608/iran-parliament-attack-khomeini-mausoleum	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170608/iran-parliament-attack-khomeini-mausoleum
Syrian Boy Who Became Image of Civil War Reappears	曾令人心碎的“叙利亚男孩”变成了宣传工具？
A young Syrian boy who captured the world's attention last year when	去年，一个叙利亚小男孩满脸血迹和灰尘的照片在互联网传播，吸引了全世界

images of his blood- and dust-covered face spread across the internet has re-emerged this week – in interviews on news outlets with ties to the Syrian government.	界的关注。本周他再次露面——出现在与叙利亚政府有联系的新闻媒体的采访中。
The boy, Omran Daqneesh, came to symbolize the plight of civilians besieged by government forces in eastern Aleppo when his family's home was bombed in August and local activists shared photos and video of the frightened Omran on social media.	这个小男孩名叫奥姆兰·达克尼什(Omran Daqneesh)，去年8月，他在阿勒颇东部的家被炸毁的时候，当地的活动人士在社交媒体上分享了他受到惊吓的照片和视频，这让奥姆兰成为了平民在政府部队围城行动中陷入困境的象征。
Now, he and his family have appeared in a series of televised interviews on news channels supportive of President Bashar Assad, apparently part of a calculated public relations campaign by the Syrian government.	现在，他和他的家人出现在一些支持巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar Assad)总统的新闻频道的一系列采访中，这显然是叙利亚政府精心策划的公关活动的一部分。
These are the first images of Omran – his cheeks pudgier, his face cleaner – that have been broadcast since he was rescued by volunteer emergency workers. At the time, his family had refused to speak to the news media.	这是奥姆兰被应急志愿者救出——当时他的家人拒绝和新闻媒体交谈——拍摄那张著名照片之后第一次出现在镜头前，现在他的脸长胖了，也干净了。
The latest interviews appear on outlets that favor the Syrian government: Russian-, Iranian- and Lebanese-run state television, and on Syrian channels that have backed Assad in his six-year war against opposition forces.	一些亲叙利亚政府的媒体播出了这些最新采访：包括俄罗斯、伊朗和黎巴嫩的国家电视台，以及在阿萨德和反对派武装这六年的战争中支持前者的叙利亚媒体。
In an interview with the Russian outlet Ruptly, Omran turns to the camera and tells the interviewer hesitantly, "I am Omran Daqneesh. I am 4 years old."	在接受俄罗斯全球视频新闻社(Ruptly)采访时，奥姆兰把头转向摄像机，犹豫地对采访者说，“我是奥姆兰·达克尼什。我4岁。”
Initial information from activists in Syria had indicated Omran was 5 at the time of the attack, illustrating how difficult it has been to verify the facts of his story.	叙利亚活动人士最初的数据显示，袭击发生时，奥姆兰是5岁，这表明验证他的故事是否属实有多么困难。
Omran's father, Mohamad Kheir Daqneesh, said in an interview on	奥姆兰的父亲穆罕默德·海尔·达克尼什(Mohamad Kheir Daqneesh)在接受

Iranian state TV that he feared for his son's safety after the first images spread across the internet.	伊朗国家电视台采访时表示，儿子的第一张照片在互联网上传播开后，他对儿子的安全非常担心。
"I changed Omran's name so no one will know him, and I changed his haircut, so no one will film him or recognize him," Daqneesh told Hosein Mortada, a journalist with Iran's Al-Alam News.	"我给奥姆兰改了名字，这样就不会有人知道是他了，我还改变了他的发型，这样就没有人会给他照相或认出他来了，"达克尼什对伊朗 Al-Alam 新闻台的记者侯赛因·穆尔塔达(Hosein Mortada)说。
In the clip, Omran's once shaggy hair is cropped.	在视频中，奥姆兰曾经乱蓬蓬的头发剪短了。
After the Syrian civil war began in 2011, the Daqneesh family stayed in eastern Aleppo despite an intensifying government siege to rid the area of opposition fighters, leading some to assume that the family supported the rebels.	在 2011 年叙利亚内战点燃之后，这家人一直都居住在阿勒颇东部——尽管政府军为了清除反对派武装加强了对该地区的围困，所以一些人认为他们支持叛乱分子。
But many families stayed in the divided city to protect their property.	但是，有很多家庭留在这座分裂的城市中，想要保护自己的财产。
"I stayed in Syria. This is my country, where I grew up and lived and my children will grow up in it," Daqneesh said in another interview that was broadcast Monday. He also criticized the opposition fighting to oust Assad. "They are the ones who hurt us and our country and displaced the people," he said.	"我留在叙利亚。这是我的国家，我长大和生活的地方，我的孩子们也将在这里长大。"达克尼什在周一播出的另一个采访中说。他还批评反对派为推翻阿萨德而打仗的行为。"他们才是伤害我们和我们国家，让人们流离失所的人，"他说。
Syrians appearing on state television or on channels associated with the Assad government are not able to speak freely. The government exerts tight control over all information broadcast about the war, including interviews with civilians.	在国家电视台，或在和阿萨德政府有关的媒体上出现的叙利亚人，他们无法自由发表言论。政府对所有和战争有关的信息都进行了严密的控制，其中包括对平民的采访。
Speaking to a pro-government news outlet in Aleppo, Daqneesh recounted the night of the attack, which left one of his sons, 10-year-old Ali, dead.	在阿勒颇，达克尼什对一个亲政府新闻媒体讲述了在袭击发生的那天晚上，他 10 岁的儿子阿里(Ali)丧生的事情。
The sudden nature of the "strike" — as Daqneesh called it — left him scrambling to rescue his children. He said he first found Omran and	按达克尼什的说法——"打击"发生得很突然，他在匆忙之中想救孩子。他说自己先找到了奥姆兰，带他去了安全的地方，然后再返回寻找妻子和其他孩

carried him to safety before returning to search for his other children and his wife.	子。
Daqneesh did not say who was behind the attack, but he said he did not hear planes overhead before his house was shaken. This contradicts accounts from emergency medical workers and local journalists who at the time reported Syrian government or Russian airstrikes.	达克尼什没有说这次袭击是谁发动的，但他表示，在他的房屋晃动之前，并没有听到天上有飞机在飞。这与急救医务人员和当地记者的说法相矛盾，他们当时说是叙利亚政府或俄罗斯发动了空袭。
Volunteer emergency responders, known as the White Helmets, arrived shortly after the home was hit and helped evacuate the family, Daqneesh said.	达克尼什说，在他家被击中之后不久，被称为“白头盔”(White Helmets)应急志愿者就赶到了，帮助他营救家人。
"They took Omran, got him to the ambulance, where they filmed him," Daqneesh said. "It was against my will. I was still upstairs in the house."	"他们带走奥姆兰，把他送上救护车，在那里给他摄了像，"达基涅什说。"这违背了我的意愿。我当时还在房子的楼上。"
Daqneesh said he was pressured by opposition activists after Omran was released from the hospital to "talk against the Syrian regime and the state," adding that he had been offered money to do so, which he refused.	达克尼什说，奥姆兰出院之后，反对派活动人士给他施压，要他“抹黑叙利亚政权和国家”，他们愿意出钱让他这么做，但他拒绝了。
Supporters of the government and opposition activists have been quick to accuse each other of using Omran to further their own agenda.	政府支持者和反对派活动者很快就互相指责说，对方在利用奥姆兰进一步推动自己的议程。
Last year, after the images of Omran galvanized international attention around the plight of besieged civilians in Aleppo, Assad told Swiss television he thought the whole incident was a hoax — "part of the publicity of those White Helmets."	去年，奥姆兰的照片引起了国际社会对平民在阿勒颇围城中所处困境的关注之后，阿萨德对瑞士电视台表示，他认为整个事件是一场骗局——“白头盔的一个宣传活动”。
"This is a forged picture, not a real one," Assad said at the time.	"这是伪造的照片，不是真的，"阿萨德当时说。
Now, Assad is using Omran and his family, who are living in an area controlled by government forces, to endorse his view of the war and discredit the opposition.	现在，阿萨德却正在利用奥姆兰和他的家人来支持他对战争的看法，抹黑反对派。这家人目前住在一个由政府部队控制的地区。

In several of the interviews broadcast this week, Daqneesh claimed it was the rebels who had tried to intimidate him.	在本周播放的几次访谈中，达克尼什声称试图恐吓他的是叛军。
"They wanted to use his photo and use him," Daqneesh said, adding that armed men also threatened to kidnap Omran.	"他们想利用他的照片，利用他，"达克尼什说。他还表示，武装人员还威胁要绑架奥姆兰。
A prominent opposition activist, Abdelkafi al-Hamdo, who fled Aleppo in December, said he had heard reports that Omran's father was recently contacted by Musa Omar, a pro-opposition journalist, who offered donations and asked if Omran could be on camera.	知名反对派活动人士阿卜德尔卡菲·艾尔-哈姆多(Abdelkafi al-Hamdo)在12月份逃离阿勒颇时表示，他听到有报道说，一位亲反对派记者穆萨·奥马尔(Musa Omar)近期接触过奥姆兰的父亲，表示愿意提供捐款，并问奥姆兰是否可以出境。
"Omran's father said, 'No, I don't need the money and I don't want my child to be on cameras,'" Hamdo said in a WhatsApp group message. "But can Omran's father say no to the regime?"	"奥姆兰的父亲说：'不，我不需要钱，我不想让孩子出境，'哈姆多在一个WhatsApp群组消息中说。但是，奥姆兰的父亲可以对政权说不吗？"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170608/omran-daqneesh-syria-aleppo	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170608/omran-daqneesh-syria-aleppo
Kenyans Fear Chinese-Backed Railway Is Another 'Lunatic Express'	中资建造的天价铁路，肯尼亚人感叹太疯狂
NAIROBI, Kenya — With sloping, charcoal-gray walls that resemble the elegant curves of a luxury car, Nairobi's sleek new railway station, built by China, looks more like an airport terminal reserved for wealthy Kenyans and their private jets.	肯尼亚内罗毕——由中国建造的内罗毕新火车站造型优美，有着类似豪华轿车优雅曲线的深灰色倾斜墙面，看起来更像是肯尼亚有钱人及其私人飞机专用的机场航站楼。
Given the price tag, it might just as well be.	从它高昂的建造成本看，似乎也是如此。
President Uhuru Kenyatta's government spent $4 billion on a 300-mile railway connecting the capital to the Indian Ocean port of Mombasa, the most expensive infrastructure project since Kenya's independence 54 years ago and one-fifth of its national budget.	乌胡鲁·肯雅塔(Uhuru Kenyatta)总统花40亿美元修了一条300英里(约合480公里)长的铁路，将首都与印度洋港口城市蒙巴萨连接起来，这是肯尼亚独立54年来造价最高的基础建设工程，相当于国家预算的五分之一。
Eager to portray it as a major achievement ahead of national elections in August, Mr. Kenyatta opened the so-called Standard Gauge Railway last Wednesday. But the fanfare was overshadowed by a concern that	肯雅塔急于在八月份的全国大选之前将之塑造成自己的一项重大业绩，于是在上周三开通了所谓的内罗毕标准轨铁路(Standard Gauge Railway)。但这大张旗鼓的声势被一种不断加重的担忧蒙上了阴影，让许多肯尼亚人有些担

has been snowballing for months, filling many Kenyans with mild terror: How can the country repay its monstrous debt to China?	心：这个国家要如何偿还欠中国的巨额债务呢？
China's Eximbank accounts for about 90 percent of the Nairobi-Mombasa project. The loan has already pushed the Kenyan debt above 50 percent of output, and imports of Chinese supplies and materials required to build the railway are making people anxious about Kenya's worsening trade imbalance with China.	中国进出口银行为内罗毕—蒙巴萨项目提供了大约90%的资金。这项贷款令肯尼亚的债务比国内产值高出50%，而且修建这条铁路需要从中国进口物资，这也令人们对肯尼亚与中国日益恶化的贸易不平衡心存担忧。
The Kenyan government says that the railway will increase gross domestic product by 1.5 percent, and that the loan will be paid back in about four years. The government is also aiming to run the trains on electricity.	肯尼亚政府表示，这条铁路将使国内生产总值增加1.5%，这项债务会在大约四年时间里偿清。政府还打算在这条线路上跑电力火车。
Ken Mugane, a Nairobi businessman who went on a test ride a few days before it opened officially, said the train was impressive, echoing widespread opinion that it would improve trade and reduce congestion. The Express service cuts travel time by about half — to five hours from 10.	在正式通车几天前体验过试运行的内罗毕商人肯·穆甘雷(Ken Mugane)表示，火车给他留下深刻印象，这与一种普遍存在的观点一致，即它将提升贸易，减少拥堵。这条高速铁路能将这段旅途的时间缩短近一半——从10小时减少至5小时。
But very little of it conjured an image of Kenya, he said, except maybe for the landscape. "It needs to look like it's ours," he said. "After all, we're going to pay for it through our noses, aren't we?"	但他表示，你除了沿途的风景，它一点也不肯尼亚。“它需要看起来像是我们的，”他说。“毕竟，辛辛苦苦为它埋单的是我们，对吧？”
Small details seemed designed to remind Kenyans that the project wasn't a free ride, he joked. Pamphlets were in Chinese. Some staff members wore uniforms of red and gold — the colors of China's flag. Even the music on the train wasn't Kenyan, he complained.	他开玩笑说，小细节的设计似乎是为了提醒肯尼亚人，该项目不是顺风车。车上的小册子用的是中文，部分工作人员穿的制服是红色和金色——中国国旗的颜色。他抱怨说，就连火车上的音乐都不是肯尼亚的。
The biggest surprise, Mr. Mugane said, was seeing a sculpture of Mao Zedong at the Mombasa station. (It was actually of Zheng He, a	穆甘恩说，最惊讶的是在蒙巴萨站看到了一尊毛泽东雕塑。（那其实是15世纪航海到达东非的中国探险家郑和。）他指出，正在把塑像安放在基座上那

15th-century Chinese explorer who sailed to East Africa.) The man putting it on a plinth was Chinese, Mr. Mugane noted. "Even that wasn't being done by a Kenyan," he said ruefully.	名男子也是中国人。“就连这件事都不是肯尼亚人做的，”他不满地说。
Despite such misgivings, Kenya wouldn't have had its first new railway for more than a century – the last one was built by the British in 1901 – if it weren't for Chinese loans and China's strong record of getting projects built on time. It took less than four years for the line to be completed.	尽管存在此类疑虑，但如果不是中国的贷款和中国按时完工的良好记录，肯尼亚也不会建成一个多世纪以来的首条新铁路——上一条铁路是英国在1901年修建的。这条铁路施工耗时不到四年。
China's state-run news media has celebrated its completion as demonstrating a Chinese commitment to African development.	中国官方新闻媒体称赞说，它的完工彰显了中国对非洲发展的责任感。
The new Kenyan line "bears the Kenyan people's dream for this century of striving for national development and prosperity," a Chinese vice foreign minister, Zhang Ming, said in Nairobi this month. "This also shows China's firm support for Kenya achieving independent and sustainable development."	肯尼亚这条新铁路“承载着肯尼亚人民致力于国家发展繁荣的世纪梦想”，中国外交部副部长张明本月在内罗毕说。“也体现了中国对肯尼亚实现自主可持续发展的坚定支持。”
But on Kenyan television, reports about the railway's opening invariably turned to its inflated cost, and to questions of corruption. On one show, a politician who had switched allegiances from the opposition to Mr. Kenyatta's party and who extolled the railway's virtues was quickly submerged by calls from viewers. "You are lying," one person said. "You were bribed."	但在肯尼亚的电视上，有关该铁路通车的报道无一例外地转向了它巨大的成本和腐败问题。在一档节目上，一名从在野党加入肯雅塔所在政党并宣扬该铁路优点的政客，很快便被观众的电话淹没。“你在撒谎，”其中一人说。“你被贿赂了。”
As a result of the railway's gargantuan cost, and the equally enormous task of repaying China, some Kenyans already have a nickname for it: the Lunatic Express 2.	因为该铁路成本巨大，并且偿还中国贷款的任务同等艰巨，一些肯尼亚人给它起了个绰号：2号疯狂铁路。
The name Lunatic Express was coined more than a century ago to	疯狂铁路这个名字是一个多世纪以前发明出来的，指的是英国殖民时期一条

describe a colonial British railway so costly it was considered a "gigantic folly," even by the standards of the Empire. The 660-mile line linked Lake Victoria with Mombasa. Thousands of laborers, most of them Indians, died from harsh working conditions, disease, hostile tribes and even man-eating lions.	造价非常昂贵，以至即便是按照帝国的标准也被认为“愚蠢至极”的铁路。该铁路全长 660 英里，连接了维多利亚湖和蒙巴萨。数千名劳工死于恶劣的工作条件、疾病、心怀敌意的部落，甚至是吃人的狮子，其中大部分是印度人。
In recent years, riding the train had become an act of lunacy itself. Passengers boarded a rusting, creaking millipede overtaken by trucks, buses and grazing animals that had claimed parts of the railway as resting spots.	近年来，乘坐那趟火车本身成了一种疯狂的行为。乘客像是登上了一条锈迹斑斑、嘎吱作响的千足虫，被卡车、大巴和吃草的动物甩在身后。动物甚至占领了部分铁路，将其作为栖身之地。
The SGR, its Chinese successor, travels much faster, averaging 74 miles an hour, and is designed to carry 22 million tons of cargo a year. Its construction involved little foreign labor or murderous animals. The lunacy, many Kenyans say, is the idea of generations being chained to China, long after Mr. Kenyatta and his coterie leave office.	代替它的标准轨铁路运行速度大大提升，平均时速 74 英里，设计的年载货量为 2200 万吨。它的施工几乎没有涉及外国工人和致人死亡的动物。很多肯尼亚人说，它的疯狂之处在于，在肯雅塔及其集团下台很久后，一代又一代人将仍和中国拴在一起。
"It's madness," said Samuel Nyandemo, a senior lecturer in economics at Nairobi University, who was visibly outraged. Why, he almost shouted, is the railway twice as expensive as a similar project in neighboring Ethiopia or Morocco? And why was the tendering process done behind closed doors, if not to allow Kenya's political elite to pocket vast sums of kickbacks?	"真是疯了，"内罗毕大学(Nairobi University)的经济学高级讲师塞缪尔·尼安德莫(Samuel Nyandemo)说。他的愤慨之情溢于言表，几乎喊了起来。这条铁路为什么比邻国埃塞俄比亚或摩洛哥类似的项目贵一倍？如果不是为了让肯尼亚的政治精英能够赚取巨额回扣，为什么不公开进行投标？
"This is another type of lunacy," he said.	"这是另一种疯狂，"他说。
There are parallels between the old Lunatic line and its replacement, said Elias Randiga, the assistant director of the Railway Museum in Nairobi, a stone's throw from the original Nairobi Station.	紧邻原来的内罗毕车站的内罗毕铁路博物馆(Railway Museum)助理馆长埃利亚斯·兰迪加(Elias Randiga)说，旧疯狂铁路和它的替代品之间有诸多相似之处。
Shabby and dilapidated, it had imposing lettering on one wall that read	老车站破败不堪、摇摇欲坠，一面墙上醒目地写着“一等车厢订票、购票处”

(as if to drive the point that lower classes weren't welcome), "Upper Class Booking and Ticketing Office."	(似乎是为了明确不欢迎低等人群这一点)。
Opened in 1899, the building was constructed on marshland used by Maasai pastoralists to graze their cattle. The name Nairobi is derived from the Maasai word meaning "a place of cool waters."	1899年对外开放的该建筑是建在马赛族牧民用来放牛的一片沼泽地上的。内罗毕这个名字源自马赛语中的一个词，意思是“凉水之地”。
Today, a cacophonous, chaotic city shoves itself onto the grounds of the prim Victorian station. "Matatu" buses unceremoniously dump off passengers, while businessmen in suits buy fruit from village women. A bright-red election bus spilling over with President Kenyatta's supporters recently snarled traffic, as some hopped off and strutted to Kenyan pop music and the honking horns of irritated drivers.	如今，城市的喧闹和混乱蔓延到了一本正经的维多利亚时代风格的车站四周。“马塔图”公交车随意下客，身着西服套装的商人则向村妇购买水果。前不久，一辆挤满肯雅塔总统的支持者的鲜红色选举大巴堵塞了交通，一些人跳下车，在肯尼亚流行音乐和愤怒的司机按响的汽车喇叭声中阔步前行。
The British railway, Mr. Randiga said, was built to extract and ship out natural resources from the African interior, something that many Westerners frequently accuse China of doing.	兰迪加说，英国修建那条铁路是为了发掘并把自然资源从非洲内陆运出来。现在，很多西方人经常以这个理由指责中国。
The Indian laborers working for the British faced a hostile environment, including the sheer physical challenge of laying down 17,000 miles of track that climbed into mountains and then descended into the Great Rift Valley.	当年为英国工作的印度劳工面临的环境颇为险恶，包括仅凭人力铺设先是穿山越岭，然后又要下到东非大裂谷(Great Rift Valley)中的1.7万英里铁轨。
More than 4,000 people died during the railway's construction. Among them, dozens were killed and eaten by lions, including one British man who was dragged out of his bed by one. "Tsavo camp remained very much a man-eater's chophouse," wrote Charles Miller in "The Lunatic Express," a book about the railway's construction, referring to the region that became Tsavo National Park.	铁路施工期间，4000多人死亡。其中数十人是被狮子吃掉的，包括一名英国男子。他被一头狮子从床上拖走。“察沃营地依然很像一家食人动物餐厅，”查尔斯·米勒(Charles Miller)在介绍该铁路的修建过程的著作《疯狂铁路》(The Lunatic Express)中写道。他指的是后来成为察沃国家公园(Tsavo National Park)的相关地区。
Lion attacks were so bad that Indian laborers went on strike, Mr.	兰迪加说，狮子袭击人类的情况非常严重，以至于印度劳工开始罢工。“当

Randiga said. "There was a myth among Indians that they were targeted because they ate spice and lions liked spice," he said, taking out a small plastic box from a drawer and presenting it. In it were century-old claws that belonged to one of the lions, yellowed and smooth like pieces of ivory. ("I keep them under lock and key," he said.)	年，印度人中流传着一个错误观念，认为他们成为攻击目标是因为他们吃香料，而狮子也喜欢香料，“他说，并从抽屉里取出一个小塑料盒给我们看。盒子里放着一个世纪前的某头狮子的爪子。它们已经变成了黄色，光滑得像象牙制品。（“我把它们锁了起来，”他说。）
The Chinese railway has also not been without controversy. At least 10 elephants were killed during construction when they collided with trains, according to Save the Elephants, a nongovernmental group.	中国修建的这条铁路也不是没有争议。据非政府组织“拯救大象”(Save the Elephants)称，施工期间，至少 10 头大象被火车撞死。
Just as there has been local opposition to the Chinese-made railway over land issues, the British were attacked by a tribe led by a man who had prophesied that an "Iron Snake" would lure its people and colonize them.	就像中国修建的这条铁路因为土地问题而遭到地方的反对一样，英国人当年也受到一个部落的袭击。率领该部落的男子预言，一条“铁蛇”会引诱民众，并对他们进行殖民统治。
"Which turned out to be true," said Mr. Randiga.	“结果预言成真，”兰迪加说。
He proceeded to recite a poem by a British politician, Henry Labouchere, who opposed the railway's construction back in the early 1900s. It says, in part:	他接着背诵了 20 世纪初反对修建该铁路的英国政治家亨利·拉布歇雷 (Henry Labouchere) 的一首诗。其中几句写道：
Where it is going to, nobody knows.	没人知道，它去哪里。
What is the use of it, none can conjecture.	没人明白，它有何用处。
What it will carry there's none can define.	没人清楚，它将装载什么。
It is clearly nought but a lunatic line.	它很明显，只是一条疯狂铁路。
Mr. Randiga paused, and laughed. "We have the same debate today."	兰迪加停下来，并笑了起来。“我们如今进行着同样的争论。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170609/kenyans-fear-chinese-backed-railway-is-another-lunatic-express	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170609/kenyans-fear-chinese-backed-railway-is-another-lunatic-express
Theresa May Projected to Lose Her Majority in U.K. Parliament	英国大选：民调显示执政党将失去议会多数席位
LONDON — Following a tumultuous, unpredictable snap election,	伦敦——周四晚上投票结束后的英国出口民调显示，在一场动荡的、无法预

Prime Minister Theresa May, a Conservative, appeared on the verge of losing her overall parliamentary majority, according to a national exit poll released just after voting ended on Thursday night.	测的提前选举之后，首相特丽莎·梅(Theresa May)领导的保守党处在了失去议会多数席位的边缘。
If confirmed by the actual vote count, the result would be a major setback for May. She called this election three years early, expecting to cruise to a smashing victory that would win her a mandate to see Britain through the long and difficult negotiations with the European Union about Britain's exit from the bloc.	如果实际票数和民调一致，这个选举结果对梅来说就是一个重大挫折。她提前三年进行这次选举，本来是希望在议会中大获全胜，获得带领英国进行长期艰苦的脱欧谈判的授权。
According to the exit poll, which has been a good guide to the outcome of recent elections, May seemed to have lost the extraordinary gamble she made in calling the election – and Britain may be on track for a hung Parliament. Poll results found that the Conservatives would remain the largest party, but they were on track for only 314 seats, down from 331 won in 2015, and 12 votes short of a majority.	但是从此次的出口民调来看——它对最近一些选举结果的预测非常具有参考价值——梅似乎已经在她呼吁提前选举的豪赌中成为了输家——英国可能会出现一个无多数党的议会。民调显示保守党仍将是最大的党派，但是他们在2017年可能只会获得314个席位，少于2015年的331个席位，距离多数票还差12席。
The opposition Labour Party, led by Jeremy Corbyn, appeared on track for 266 seats, up 34. And the Scottish National Party is also projected to be down to 34 seats from 56.	由杰里米·科尔宾(Jeremy Corbyn)领导的反对派工党(Labour Party)有望获得266个席位，增加34个。苏格兰民族党(Scottish National Party)的席位预计将从56个席位减少到34个。
If the poll is accurate, Britons confounded expectations and the betting markets once again. Indeed, once again, Britain could be faced with renewed political uncertainty as it soon must begin negotiations with leaders in Brussels on withdrawing from the European Union.	如果这个民调是准确的，那么英国人再次出乎了人们和博彩市场的预期。的确，英国有可能再一次面临着政治上的不确定性，因为它很快就不得不在布鲁塞尔与各国领导人进行脱欧谈判。
Official results are expected to begin arriving within an hour or so, with the final outcome not likely known until early Friday morning. But the British pound fell sharply after the exit poll projected that the Conservatives would not win a majority.	官方结果预计将在一个小时候后陆续出现，最终结果可能要等到周五凌晨。在出口民调预计保守党不会赢得多数之后，英镑汇率大幅下滑。

Within seconds of the exit poll being broadcast, the pound lost more than 2 cents against the dollar, falling from $1.2955 to $1.2752.	在出口民调公布几秒钟后，英镑兑美元就跌了 2 美分多，从 1.2955 美元跌至 1.2752 美元。
Given the two terrorist attacks that took place during the campaign, security was tight on Thursday as Britons voted, with a heavy police presence.	鉴于在竞选活动期间发生的两次恐怖主义袭击事件，周四英国投票时戒备森严，有大批警察到场。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170609/theresa-may-britain-election-conservatives-parliament	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170609/theresa-may-britain-election-conservatives-parliament
Chinese Couple Abducted in Pakistan Have Been Killed, Officials Say	巴基斯坦官员确认两名中国籍公民遇害
ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Two Chinese citizens abducted last month in southwestern Pakistan have been killed, a senior Pakistani official said on Monday, though he did not indicate who was responsible for their killings.	巴基斯坦伊斯兰堡——巴基斯坦的一名高官周一表示，上月在该国西南部遭绑架的两名中国公民已遇害，但他没有说明谁应对此事负责。
The official, Interior Minister Chaudhry Nisar Ali Khan, said in a statement that the Chinese couple — Lee Zing Yang, 24, and Meng Li Si, 26 — had been kidnapped in the city of Quetta on May 24 by unknown gunmen.	巴基斯坦内政部长乔杜里·尼萨尔·阿里·汗(Chaudhry Nisar Ali Khan)在一份声明中说，这两名中国人——24 岁的李鑫杨(音)和 26 岁的孟丽思(音)于 5 月 24 日在奎达市(Quetta)遭身份不明的武装分子绑架。
He said they were in the country on legally issued business visas, but he suggested there were reports that they may have been proselytizing in an area of predominantly Muslim Pakistan where Islamist militants are active.	他说他们是持合法签发的商务签证留在巴基斯坦的，但他表示有报道称他们可能一直在巴基斯坦一个以穆斯林为主，且伊斯兰派武装分子活跃的地区传教。
Last week, the Islamic State claimed that its fighters had kidnapped and killed Mr. Lee and Ms. Meng, according to a statement issued by the extremist group's news agency, Amaq.	上周，极端组织伊斯兰国(Islamic State)通过其通讯社阿玛克新闻社(Amaq)发表声明，称是自己的武装分子绑架了李孟二人。
The presence of the Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL, in Pakistan is a delicate subject for the government, which has long played down	对巴基斯坦政府来说，又名 ISIS 或 ISIL 的伊斯兰国在该国的存在是一个敏感的问题。长期以来，尽管新的攻击不断，但政府一直淡化该组织在巴基斯

the group's activities in southwest Pakistan despite new attacks.	坦西南部的活动。
Last month, the Islamic State said it had carried out a suicide bombing in Mastung, in the same province where the Chinese couple was abducted, that killed at least 25 people and injured 30, including Abdul Ghafoor Haideri, deputy chairman of the Pakistani Senate.	上月，伊斯兰国自称在默斯东(Mastung)制造了一起自杀式炸弹袭击，造成至少 25 人死亡，30 人受伤，包括巴基斯坦参议院副主席阿卜杜勒·加富尔·海德里(Abdul Ghafoor Haideri)。默斯东与两名中国公民被绑架的地方同属一个省。
At the beginning of this month, Pakistani troops operating in the same area killed 12 militants with an extremist group seeking to establish an ISIS foothold in the province, the military said.	军方称，本月初，在同一地区开展行动的巴基斯坦军队杀死了 12 名武装分子，他们所属的极端组织试图在该省建立一个 ISIS 的立足点。
It was after that operation that ISIS said it had killed the Chinese couple, though Pakistani military officials put pressure on the news media not to publicize the ISIS claim until the government could confirm the couple were dead. Almost all newspapers in the country, many of which observe self-censorship when it comes to reporting on sensitive national security issues, complied with the military's orders.	正是在那次行动过后，ISIS 宣布已杀害这两名中国人，但巴基斯坦军方向新闻媒体施压，让它们不要报道 ISIS 的说法，直到政府证实两人遇害。该国几乎所有的报纸都服从了军方的命令。在该国，涉及报道敏感的国家安全问题时，很多报纸都会进行自我审查。
The killing of the Chinese couple comes at a time when China is expanding its outreach in Pakistan under a multibillion dollar economic cooperation initiative known as One Belt, One Road, which includes joint infrastructure and industrial projects.	两名中国公民被杀一事，发生在中国根据一项投资数十亿美元的经济合作计划，在巴基斯坦扩大自己的影响力之际。名为“一带一路”的该计划包括共同建设基础设施和工业项目。
A number of Chinese have been traveling to Pakistan for this initiative, also known as the China-Pakistan Economic Corridor. There are growing concerns over the security of foreigners working on the venture.	很多中国人因为又名中巴经济走廊(China-Pakistan Economic Corridor)的该计划前往巴基斯坦。因该计划而去巴基斯坦工作的外国人的安全日益令人担忧。
Mr. Khan, the interior minister, said in his statement on Monday that the two Chinese who were killed had been acting as missionaries, even though they were in the country on business visas, ostensibly to learn	巴基斯坦内政部长汗在周一的声明中说，遇害的两名中国人持有的是商务签证，表面上是在一韩国商人在奎达开办的技术学校学习乌尔都语，但他们一直在传教。

Urdu at a technology institute owned by a Korean businessman in Quetta.
The minister said that while the government was trying to ensure security for foreigners in Pakistan, the "visiting foreigners were equally bound to abide by the terms and conditions of their visas and inform local authorities about their movements and activities."	他还说，尽管政府努力确保在巴外籍人员的安全，但“来访的外籍人员同样必须遵守所持签证的条款，并向地方当局报告自己的行踪和活动”。
At least 70,000 visas were issued to Chinese nationals last year, according to the Pakistani interior ministry. "This year, in the first five months, at least four to five thousand visas have already been issued to the Chinese," said Sarfraz Hussain, a spokesman for the Interior Ministry.	据巴基斯坦内政部称，去年向中国公民至少发放了七万个签证。“今年前五个月，至少已有四五千个签证发放给了中国公民，”内政部发言人萨尔夫拉兹·侯赛因(Sarfraz Hussain)说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170613/pakistan-chinese-couple-killed	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170613/pakistan-chinese-couple-killed
Across Russia, Protesters Heed Navalny's Anti-Kremlin Rallying Cry	反政府示威浪潮席卷俄罗斯
MOSCOW — A wave of anti-government demonstrations rolled across Russia on Monday as thousands of people gathered in scores of cities to protest corruption and political stagnation despite vigorous attempts by authorities to thwart or ban the rallies.	莫斯科——周一，反政府示威浪潮席卷俄罗斯，成千上万的抗议者聚集在多个城市，抗议腐败和政治进程停滞，虽然当局试图极力挫败或禁止这些集会。
Police detained the architect of the national protests, Kremlin critic Alexei Navalny, as he emerged from his apartment building to attend a rally that he had forced into the center of Moscow. He was sentenced to 30 days in prison. There were scattered reports of hundreds of detentions elsewhere, too.	这次全国性抗议活动的策划者、克里姆林宫的批评者阿列克谢·纳瓦尔尼(Alexei Navalny)从公寓大楼走出，前往莫斯科市中心参加其强力推进的集会时，遭到警方羁押。他被判入狱30天。其他一些地方也传来了数以百计的人遭拘留的报道。
The protests were the broadest anti-government outpouring in Russia in years, with people in more cities heeding Navalny's call than his last series of demonstrations in March.	这些抗议活动是俄罗斯多年来最广泛的反政府爆发，与3月份的上一波示威游行相比，本次有更多的城市响应了纳瓦尔尼的号召。
Organizers in more than 200 cities across Russia had filed requests to	俄罗斯超过200个城市的组织者提出申请，要在周一举行示威活动，他们

hold demonstrations Monday, trying to revive a popular opposition that had been somnolent since a violent crackdown in 2011 and 2012. Protests unfolded Monday in more than 100 cities as the sun moved westward, even in some where they had been banned outright.	试图恢复 2011 年和 2012 年暴力镇压之后一直保持沉默的民众反对活动。周一，随着太阳从东到西，有一百多个城市举行了抗议活动，甚至是在一些游行被完全禁止的地方。
Russian news media reported an estimated 5,000 people turned out in the Siberian city of Novosibirsk, the largest crowds since demonstrations in 1991 calling for the dissolution of the Soviet Union. Protest organizers estimated 4,000 participants in the southwestern Siberian city of Omsk, and 2,000 in Irkutsk, in eastern Siberia, though the police estimates in those cities were less than half of those totals.	俄罗斯新闻媒体报道，在西伯利亚的新西伯利亚市，有 5000 人参加了游行，这是自从 1991 年呼吁苏联解体以来规模最大的一次示威游行。示威组织者估计，西伯利亚西北部城市鄂木斯克有 4000 人参加，西伯利亚东部的伊尔库茨克有 2000 人参加，尽管根据这些城市的警方估计，参加人数不到上述数字的一半。
In Moscow, Navalny set the stage for a confrontation with the police by insisting that demonstrators ignore the officially sanctioned venue and gather instead on Tverskaya Street, the main boulevard leading toward the Kremlin and Red Square.	在莫斯科，纳瓦尔尼做好了与警方对峙的准备，他坚持要求示威者无视官方批准的游行场地，而是聚集到通往克里姆林宫和红场的主要大道特维尔大街上。
After he was detained, his wife posted a picture of the incident on his Twitter account with the caption "Happy Russia Day!" – referring to the national holiday Monday. In addition, workers at his headquarters reported that their electricity and internet connection, used to transmit updates from around the country, had been severed.	在他遭拘留后，他妻子在他的 Twitter 帐户上张贴了一张相关图片，写道：“俄罗斯国庆快乐！”周一是国庆日。此外，他总部的工作人员表示，那里的电力和互联网连接已被切断，无法再传送全国各地的最新消息。
Initial reports from OVD.info, an independent organization that tracks arrests, said around 670 people had been detained in Moscow and 300 were arrested in St. Petersburg.	追踪逮捕信息的独立组织 OVD.info 发布初步报告，称大约有 670 人在莫斯科被羁押，300 人在圣彼得堡被捕。
In Vladivostok, home to Russia's Pacific fleet, where at least 11 protesters were detained, according to OVD-Info, the protest crowds were peaceful if wily in their efforts to avoid the riot police.	OVD-Info 的消息称，在俄罗斯太平洋舰队的基地符拉迪沃斯托克，至少有 11 名抗议者被羁押，抗议人群努力避开防暴警察，显得巧妙又平静。

The rally broke up after riot police officers plunged into the crowd and dragged away several protesters.	防暴警察冲入人群，拖走了几个示威者之后，集会就散开了。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170613/russia-aleksei-navalny-kremlin-protests	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170613/russia-aleksei-navalny-kremlin-protests
Masquerading as Reporter, Assassin Hunted Putin Foes in Ukraine	假记者行刺女狙击手，遭遇武力还击
KIEV, Ukraine — Ukrainians have long struggled with fake news from Russia, but last week, they discovered something even more insidious: a fake journalist.	乌克兰基辅——乌克兰人长期以来一直在与俄罗斯的假新闻做斗争，但是上周，他们发现了更阴险的事：一名假记者。
The man was tall and dapper. He wore a dark suit and spoke with a French accent. When he met politicians in Kiev, he introduced himself as Alex Werner, a reporter with the French newspaper Le Monde.	这个男人身材高大，衣冠楚楚。他穿着黑色西服，讲话带有法语口音。他在基辅与政治人士会面时，自称亚历山大·沃纳(Alex Werner)，说自己是法国《世界报》(Le Monde)的记者。
“He was elegant, calm and confident,” recalled Amina Okuyeva, who is a minor celebrity in Ukraine because she served with her husband as a volunteer soldier in the war against separatists in the eastern part of the country. Mr. Werner had interviewed her several times.	“他优雅平静，充满自信，”阿明娜·奥库耶娃(Amina Okuyeva)回忆说。因为和丈夫一起在该国东部打击分裂分子的战斗中担任志愿战士，她在乌克兰小有名气。沃纳采访过她几次。
It was midway through one of those purported interviews, in a terrifying flash of gunpowder, that Mr. Werner’s true identity came to light: He was, in fact, a Chechen assassin, the Ukrainian authorities now say.	在一次假冒的采访中，在一道可怕的枪火闪光中，沃纳暴露出自己的真实身份：现在，乌克兰当局称，他实际上是车臣的一名杀手。
Under the guise of a journalist, the assassin, Artur Denisultanov-Kurmakayev, tried to murder Ms. Okuyeva and her husband, Adam Osmayev, Ukraine’s Interior Ministry said.	乌克兰内政部表示，杀手阿尔图尔·丹尼索尔塔诺夫-库尔马卡耶夫(Artur Denisultanov-Kurmakayev)以记者的身分做掩护，试图谋杀奥库耶娃和她丈夫亚当·奥斯马耶夫(Adam Osmayev)。
The plot went awry because Ms. Okuyeva was also armed, and the details of the attack and its aftermath are now shedding light on Kiev’s role as a testing ground for what Ukrainian officials say are hybrid war	这个阴谋失败了，因为奥库耶娃也带有武器。本次袭击的细节和后续发生的事情表明，基辅成了乌克兰官员所称的俄罗斯混合战争行为的一个试验场，其中包括暗杀行为。

activities by Russia, including assassinations.
The attack was the third high-profile killing or attempted killing in Kiev that the Ukrainian authorities have attributed to the Russian security services, but the first in which the accused killer impersonated a journalist.	这次袭击是在基辅发生的乌克兰当局归罪于俄罗斯安全机构的第三起备受瞩目的刺杀或未遂刺杀，但它是第一起杀手假冒记者的案件。
In a statement published June 3, Le Monde said it “wants to stress that none of its journalists are in Ukraine at the moment and that its staff does not include an Alex Werner. Le Monde firmly condemns any impersonation of its journalists or of its title, for whatever purpose.”	《世界报》在6月3日发表的声明中表示，它“想强调，在那个时间点，它在乌克兰没有任何记者，它的员工中没有亚历山大·沃纳。《世界报》强烈谴责为任何目的假冒它的记者或头衔的行为”。
In 2006, the Russian government legalized targeted killings abroad of people posing terrorist threats, resuming a Soviet-era practice. But the Kremlin has never acknowledged using the authority granted under the law and has vehemently denied specific accusations, including those in Ukraine.	2006年，俄罗斯政府认定在国外定点杀死具有恐怖主义威胁的人士合法，重新开始实行苏联时代的做法。不过，克里姆林宫从未承认使用过自己依法获得的这项权力，激烈否认具体的指控，包括在乌克兰发生的那些刺杀。
As “Mr. Werner,” Mr. Denisultanov-Kurmakayev had lived for more than a year in Kiev, mingling with politicians and anti-Russian activists before the shooting on June 1.	丹尼索尔塔诺夫-库尔马卡耶夫以“沃纳”的身分在基辅住了一年多，在6月1日行刺前，与政治人士和反俄罗斯活动人士打成一片。
The cover was good but not flawless, Ms. Okuyeva said in an interview, her first with a foreign news organization since the attempted murder. She was accompanied by two bodyguards who were on high alert throughout the interview.	奥库耶娃在遭到未遂刺杀后首次接受外国新闻机构采访时表示，丹尼索尔塔诺夫-库尔马卡耶夫的假冒身分很好，但并非没有漏洞。她在采访过程中一直有两名保镖陪伴，他们始终处于高度警戒状态。
One indication that Mr. Denisultanov-Kurmakayev was not who he said he was: He always carried a notebook but never bothered to write in it, Ms. Okuyeva said. He wore an expensive-looking suit, also a hint that something may have been amiss.	奥库耶娃称，丹尼索尔塔诺夫-库尔马卡耶夫身分造假的一个迹象是：他总是带着一个笔记本，但从来不在上面写东西。他身穿看似非常昂贵的西服，那也表明，这里面可能有问题。

There was nothing unusual in the request for an interview, however. "The press often asked for interviews," Ms. Okuyeva said. "The media loves to write about us."	不过，采访要求并不罕见。“报纸经常要求采访我们，”奥库耶娃说，“媒体喜欢写我们的故事。”
Ms. Okuyeva and Mr. Osmayev, both ethnic Chechens, are well known in Ukraine. In 2012, the Russian government accused Mr. Osmayev of plotting to kill Vladimir V. Putin, who was then the prime minister. Mr. Osmayev was arrested in Ukraine, but his extradition to Russia was blocked by the European Court of Human Rights.	奥库耶娃和奥斯马耶夫都是车臣族人，他们在乌克兰相当知名。2012年，俄罗斯政府指控奥斯马耶夫谋划杀害时任总理弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)，奥斯马耶夫在乌克兰被捕，不过将他引渡到俄罗斯的要求被欧洲人权法庭(European Court of Human Rights)阻止。
After the Ukrainian revolution in 2014, he was released, and he and his wife joined a unit of ethnic Chechens fighting in the war in the east, the Dzhokhar Dudayev battalion. Mr. Osmayev has been its commander since 2015. Ms. Okuyeva served as a sniper, wearing a camouflaged head scarf at the front.	2014年乌克兰革命后，他被释放，他和妻子加入了一个在东部作战的车臣小分队，也就是焦哈尔·杜达耶夫(Dzhokhar Dudayev)的队伍。奥斯马耶夫从2015年起担任指挥官。奥库耶娃担任狙击兵，她戴着迷彩头巾，冲在 frontline。
Gaining fame as enemies of Russia carried risks. The couple knew they were targets. "Putin is personally interested in getting rid of us," Ms. Okuyeva said.	获得俄罗斯敌人的名声是有风险的。这对夫妇知道自己是刺杀目标。“普京本人很想干掉我们，”奥库耶娃说。
The putative Mr. Werner met three times with the couple in Kiev coffee shops from May 20 until June 1, explaining that he planned an in-depth article.	从5月20日到6月1日，假冒的沃纳和这对夫妇在基辅的咖啡馆会面了三次，他声称自己打算写一篇深度报道。
Before the fourth meeting, Ms. Okuyeva said, he asked the couple to pick him up in their car and drive to the French Embassy, and he also said he had a gift from his bosses at Le Monde.	奥库耶娃说，第四次会面前，他让这对夫妇开自己的车接他去法国大使馆，还说他在《世界报》的上司给他们捎了一件礼物。
"There were a lot of small, strange things, and my intuition told me not to meet with him," Ms. Okuyeva said, but she ignored the misgivings.	“有很多奇怪的小事，我的直觉告诉我不要跟他会面，”奥库耶娃说。但她忽视了这些疑虑。
As they drove, Mr. Denisultanov-Kurmakayev asked the pair to stop the	在车子行驶过程中，丹尼索尔塔诺夫-库尔马卡耶夫让这对夫妇停车接受采

car for an interview and to sit in the back to receive the gift, which he carried in a festive red cardboard box.	访，坐在后排座位上接受礼物，他把礼物放在一个很喜庆的红色纸盒里。
As the couple sat in the back seat of the car, Mr. Denisultanov-Kurmakayev said, "Now, here is your gift," Ms. Okuyeva said. He opened the box, pulled out a gun and opened fire on Mr. Osmayev.	奥库耶娃说，他们夫妇俩坐到后排座位上后，丹尼索尔塔诺夫-库尔马卡耶夫说，“现在，请看你们的礼物”。他打开盒子，拿出枪，朝奥斯马耶夫开枪。
A shot hit Mr. Osmayev on the right side of his chest. But he was not immediately incapacitated and struggled with the shooter for control of the gun. Ms. Okuyeva, however, long fearful of assassination attempts, was carrying a pistol under her coat, as well as a tube of the blood-clotting agent Celox in her purse. She shot Mr. Denisultanov-Kurmakayev four times as he and her husband fought. Both were gravely wounded but survived.	有一枪击中了他的右胸。不过，他没有马上失去行动能力，开始与枪手搏斗，争夺手枪。奥库耶娃一直担心遭到暗杀，所以外套里面总是藏着一把手枪，手包里也总是放着一管止血用的赛菲凝(Celox)。在丹尼索尔塔诺夫-库尔马卡耶夫和她的丈夫搏斗时，奥库耶娃射中了前者四次。两人都严重受伤，但都活了下来。
"I will always be thankful," Mr. Osmayev said in an interview of his wife's quick draw. "Because of her reaction, we are both alive today."	"我会一直感激她，"奥斯马耶夫在采访中提起妻子的快速反应时说。“因为她的反应，我们两个今天才都能活下来。”
The survival of the assassin could elevate the importance of the case, should investigators obtain his cooperation.	杀手活了下来，可能会提升这个事件的重要性——前提是调查者能让他有所配合。
In March, a former Russian lawmaker who fled to Ukraine, Denis N. Voronenkov, was gunned down on a sidewalk outside the Premier Palace hotel in Kiev. Mr. Voronenkov's bodyguard shot and killed the attacker. Last year, a car bomb killed a journalist, Pavel Sheremet, on a central street of the capital, and no arrests were made.	今年3月，逃往乌克兰的前俄罗斯议员丹尼斯·N·沃罗年科夫(Denis N. Voronenkov)在基辅总理官酒店(Premier Palace)外的人行道上被枪杀。沃罗年科夫的保镖击毙了袭击者。去年，记者帕维尔·舍列梅特(Pavel Sheremet)在基辅市中心一条大街上被汽车炸弹炸死，行凶者至今仍然逍遥法外。
After the attack on Mr. Osmayev and Ms. Okuyeva, Ukraine's Interior Ministry and lawmakers blamed the Russian intelligence services. Ukraine's SBU intelligence agency, however, has said there is	对奥斯马耶夫和奥库耶娃的袭击发生后，乌克兰内政部和多名议员指责俄罗斯情报机构。不过，乌克兰的情报机构国家安全局(SBU)表示，没有足够的证据可以确定假冒记者的杀手是俄罗斯特工，但也并没有排除这种可能性。

insufficient evidence to determine whether the killer pretending to be a journalist was a Russian agent, but it has not ruled out that possibility.
"For the world community, what is important is we have proof Russia is committing terrorist acts in other countries," said Anton Gerashenko, a lawmaker. "His tongue may loosen to say who sent him here and why," he said of Mr. Denisultanov-Kurmakayev.	"对全世界来说，最重要的是，我们有证据证明，俄罗斯正在其他国家进行恐怖主义活动，"议员安东·杰拉申科(Anton Gerashenko)说。"他可能会松口说出是谁以及为什么派他到这里，"杰拉申科在提到丹尼索尔塔诺夫-库尔马卡耶夫时表示。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170613/ukraine-assassin-russia-putin-amina-okuyeva	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170613/ukraine-assassin-russia-putin-amina-okuyeva
Fire at Grenfell Tower in London Kills at Least 12	伦敦高层公寓大火，近百人伤亡
LONDON — A fire transformed a high-rise apartment tower in West London into an inferno early Wednesday morning, sending at least 78 people to hospitals and raising fears that others might have been trapped inside. The Metropolitan Police said that 12 people had died and warned that the figure would almost certainly rise.	伦敦——周三凌晨，一场火灾将西伦敦的一栋高层公寓楼变成地狱，至少有78人送医救治，而且越来越让人担心还有其他人可能困在楼里。伦敦警察称死亡人数为12人，并警告说这个数字几乎肯定还会上升。
"In my 29 years of being a firefighter, I have never, ever seen anything of this scale," said Dany Cotton, commissioner of the London Fire Brigade.	伦敦消防局局长达尼·科顿(Dany Cotton)表示："我当消防员29年来，从未见过这样大的火灾。"
By late afternoon, firefighters from all over London were still searching for victims and working to extinguish the remnants of the blaze, which was reported at 12:54 a.m. London time in Grenfell Tower, in the North Kensington area. A police commander, Stuart Cundy, called the fire London's worst "in many, many years" and said it would be "a long operation" to locate and identify the victims.	下午晚些时候，来自整个伦敦的消防员仍在寻找受害者，扑灭残余的火焰。起火的是北肯辛顿地区的格伦费尔大厦(Grenfell Tower)，收到报警是伦敦时间凌晨零时54分。警方主管斯图尔特·坎迪(Stuart Cundy)称这是伦敦"很多、很多年来"最严重的火灾，并说要找到所有受害者、查明他们的身份将会是一个"长期行动"。
The fire was the latest tragedy in a country that has seen three deadly terrorist attacks since March, two in London and one in Manchester.	今年3月以来，英国已经发生了三起致命恐怖袭击，两次在伦敦，一次在曼彻斯特；而这场火灾是该国面对的最新一场悲剧。首相特丽莎·梅(Theresa

The office of Prime Minister Theresa May said she was “deeply saddened” by the disaster and would convene a 4 p.m. meeting to coordinate the government’s response.	May)的办公室表示，她对这起灾难“深感悲痛”，并将于下午 4 时举行会议，协调政府的应对行动。
At a 1 p.m. news conference — 12 hours after the fire broke out — Mayor Sadiq Khan confirmed that some residents were still missing. “If you are somebody who lives in the building and has left safely, please let us know you are safe,” he said. “Obviously, we want to make sure that everyone is accounted for.”	火灾发生 12 小时后，伦敦市长萨迪克·汗(Sadiq Khan)在下午 1 点的新闻发布会上确认，有些居民仍然处在失踪状态。他说：“如果你住在这栋楼里，已经安全离开了，请让我们知道你是安全的。显然，我们想确保查明每个人的情况。”
Constructed in 1974, Grenfell Tower has 24 stories, with 120 apartments across 20 residential floors; it is owned by the local government and managed by an outside company. A refurbishment was completed last year. The cause of the fire was not immediately known, but a tenant group had complained for years that the management company was inattentive and that the building was at risk of a deadly fire.	格伦费尔大厦建于 1974 年，总共 24 层，有 120 套公寓分布在 20 个住宅楼层；它的所有者是地方政府，物业管理是外部公司。去年该大楼才完成了一次翻新。火灾的原因尚不清楚，但是一个租户团体多年来一直抱怨物业管理不善，存在发生致命火灾的风险。
Forty fire trucks and more than 20 ambulances were sent to the scene. The London Ambulance Service said it had taken 68 patients to six hospitals, and that 10 others had gone on their own; 18 were in critical condition.	共有 40 辆消防车和 20 多辆救护车派往现场。伦敦救护中心表示，他们已将 68 名病人送往 6 家医院，另有 10 人自行前往医院就医；有 18 人情况危急。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170615/fire-london-apartment-building	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170615/fire-london-apartment-building
Russian Military Says It Might Have Killed ISIS Leader	ISIS 首领被击毙？俄罗斯说正在核实
Russia’s military said on Friday that it is looking into whether a Russian airstrike in the Syrian desert killed Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi, the self-declared caliph of the Islamic State, in what would be a major military achievement for Russia.	俄罗斯军方周五表示，正在核实俄军在叙利亚的空袭行动是否击毙了伊斯兰国(ISIS)的首领阿布·巴卡尔·巴格达迪。如果信息属实，这将是俄罗斯的一次重大军事成就。

In a statement issued to Russian news agencies, the Defense Ministry said that the Russian Air Force struck a meeting of Islamic State leaders on May 28 outside the city of Raqqa, Syria, the group's de facto capital, possibly killing Mr. Baghdadi, one of the world's most wanted terrorists.	俄罗斯通讯社发布的一则声明称，俄空军 5 月 28 日袭击了 ISIS 组织在叙利亚拉卡的一场会议，可能击毙了巴格达迪。但声明措辞谨慎，说明俄方还不能完全确定。
The statement, however, was written cautiously, suggesting that the Russian military remained uncertain about whether the strike had killed Mr. Baghdadi, a prize sought by several countries in the long struggle against the Islamic State.	拉卡是 ISIS 事实上的首都，正面临着美国支持的库尔德人和阿拉伯国家武装力量的地面攻击。美国领导的西方国家与阿拉伯国家联军也在对拉卡实施空袭。
"According to information which we are checking through various channels, the leader of the Islamic State, Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi was at the meeting and the strike destroyed him," the statement said.	巴格达迪从公众视线中消失已经有一段时间。去年 11 月，ISIS 发布了一条录音，号召他的部队在摩苏尔顽强对抗美国支持的伊拉克武装力量。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170616/baghdadi-russia-isis	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170616/baghdadi-russia-isis
Maldives, Tourist Haven, Casts Wary Eye on Growing Islamic Radicalism	度假天堂马尔代夫也为恐怖主义担心
MALÉ, Maldives — This island paradise made news recently for a reason other than its pristine beaches and high-end resorts: the gruesome killing of a liberal blogger, stabbed to death by multiple assailants.	马尔代夫马累——这个岛上的人间乐土最近不是因为其未受污染的海滩和高档的度假胜地、而是因为其它的原因上了新闻：岛上发生了一名自由派博客作家被多名凶手刺死的骇人听闻的事情。
The killing in April of Yameen Rasheed, 29, a strong voice against growing Islamic radicalization, has amplified safety concerns — particularly for foreign tourists, a highly vulnerable group and one that the islands' economy depends on. It is no idle threat, in a country that by some accounts supplies the world's highest per-capita number of foreign fighters to extremist outfits in Syria and Iraq.	29 岁的亚明·拉希德(Yameen Rasheed)曾强烈批评日渐增长的伊斯兰激进化，他在今年 4 月被杀，这件事加剧了人们对安全的担心，尤其是在外国游客中。外国游客是个极易受危害的群体，而这个岛国的经济依赖于他们。对此地来说，这不是吓唬而已，据某种估计，马尔代夫为叙利亚和伊拉克的极端主义团伙提供的外国战士人数占全国人口的比例在世界上最高。
Last summer, the government introduced the country's first state policy on terrorism, calling for increased safety awareness at resorts and security assessments at seaports and in airports.	去年夏天，马尔代夫政府首次颁布了该国针对恐怖主义的政策，呼吁度假岛提高安全意识，并对海港和机场进行安全评估。

In January, the Republic of Maldives' Islamic Ministry released policy recommendations that included a provision instructing tourism companies to provide visitors with written rules on how to conduct themselves in a Muslim country.	今年1月，马尔代夫共和国的伊斯兰事务部发布了政策建议，其中一项指示旅游公司为游客提供在穆斯林国家该如何表现的书面规定。
But critics say these initiatives are cosmetic, doing little to standardize safety policies, and have come only after international stakeholders pressured Maldivian authorities to acknowledge the threat extremism poses to visitors.	但批评人士说，这些举措是装点门面，对把安全政策标准化没有多少作用，而且这些举措只是在国际利益相关方对马尔代夫当局施加了压力、迫使其承认极端主义对游客构成威胁之后才发布的。
The Maldives' unusual approach to tourism, in which a single island houses a single resort, has also meant that entire islands without robust security teams are vulnerable to being seized.	马尔代夫的每个岛都是一个单独的度假胜地，这种不同寻常的旅游方式也意味着，一个没有强大安全队伍的岛屿很容易发生整个岛都被控制的事情。
A collection of about 1,200 islands in the Indian Ocean, the Maldives hosted 1.2 million visitors last year, including more than 30,000 Americans.	马尔代夫由印度洋上约1200个岛屿组成，去年共接待了120万名游客，其中包括3万多美国人。
It was governed as a moderate Islamic nation for three decades under the autocratic rule of the former president, Maumoon Abdul Gayoom. But after the country made a transition to democracy in 2008, space opened up for greater religious expression, and conservative ideologies like Salafism cropped up.	马尔代夫曾被前总统穆蒙·阿卜杜尔·加尧姆(Maumoon Abdul Gayoom)专制统治了30年，那个时期，它被视为是一个温和的伊斯兰国家。但是，该国于2008年过渡到民主制度后，为更多的宗教表达开放了空间，冒出了萨拉菲主义等保守的意识形态。
"You can't say all of Salafism is radical Islam," said Azra Naseem, a Maldivian researcher on extremism at Dublin City University. "But it's a form of Islam that's completely brought into the Maldives from Saudi Arabia and other places. Now, it's being institutionalized, because everybody in the universities, in the Islamic Ministry, they are all spreading this form of Islam. Within that, of course, there will be jihadis."	"你不能说萨拉菲主义全都是激进的伊斯兰教，"在都柏林城市大学研究极端主义的马尔代夫人阿兹拉·纳西姆(Azra Naseem)说。"但这是一种完全是从沙特阿拉伯和其他地方流入马尔代夫的伊斯兰教旨。如今，这种意识形态正在制度化，因为大学里的所有人、伊斯兰事务部里的所有人都在传播这种形式的伊斯兰教。这种情况下，当然会有圣战。"

Over the years, efforts to report on radical cells have been met with violent resistance. In 2014, a prominent Maldivian journalist who wrote about secularism and extremism, Ahmed Rilwan Abdulla, was abducted.	多年来，对激进小组进行报道的努力一直遇到暴力的抵抗。2014年，写过关于世俗主义和极端主义文章的马尔代夫知名记者艾哈迈德·里万·阿卜杜拉 (Ahmed Rilwan Abdulla) 被人绑架。
Rasheed was part of a campaign dedicated to finding Abdulla, who was a close friend and is still missing.	阿卜杜拉目前仍处于失踪状态，拉希德参与了努力寻找阿卜杜拉的活动，他们两人是亲密的朋友。
Police said they had arrested seven suspects in May in Rasheed's killing, including two men captured in CCTV footage at the crime scene. But those close to Rasheed have expressed little hope that the case will be solved without pressure from outside the Maldives.	警方表示，已在5月份逮捕了与拉希德被杀案有关的七名嫌犯，其中包括两名被犯罪现场的闭路电视录下来的男子。但是，与拉希德关系密切的人表示，在没有来自马尔代夫之外的压力的情况下，他们对此案的侦破不抱多少希望。
Last month, the lawyer representing Rasheed's family submitted a complaint to the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights calling for an independent and international investigation.	上个月，为拉希德家人担任代理的律师向联合国人权事务高级专员办事处提出申诉，要求对此案进行独立的国际调查。
The last major attack in which foreigners were injured here occurred almost a decade ago when a group of militants detonated a homemade bomb at a public park in the capital, Malé, injuring a dozen tourists. But occasionally, the security of visitors has been breached in other ways.	最近一次导致人员受伤的袭击外国人事件发生在将近10年前，当时一群武装分子在首都马累的一个公园引爆了一枚自制炸弹，造成十几名游客受伤。但是，游客的安全偶尔也会受到其他方式的破坏。
Last year, two resorts were robbed by groups of masked intruders, and security guards were tied up. Robberies at resorts are rare. But Ismail Ali, a police spokesman, said in an interview with The Maldives Independent that when they do happen, they are often inside jobs. Gaining access to most of the islands, he added, is relatively simple.	去年，两个度假岛曾遭到一群蒙面入侵者的抢劫，保安人员被绑了起来。很少有度假岛发生抢劫的事情。但警方发言人伊斯梅尔·阿里 (Ismail Ali) 在接受《马尔代夫独立报》的采访时表示，确实发生抢劫案时，往往是内部人作案。他还说，大部分岛屿相对来说很容易到达。
"Most of the resorts have one official access point. There are security posts set up to monitor who comes on and off the island," he said. "But like any island, it's fairly easy to enter from other sides as well."	"大多数度假岛都有一个正式登岛的地方。那里有一些安全岗哨负责监督谁上了岛、谁离开了，"他说。"但是像所有岛屿一样，从其他地方登岛也很容易。"

The tourism industry has mostly remained off limits as a target for terrorism, but security experts say many resorts are ill equipped to fend off an attack on par with those that have occurred in places like Tunisia and Bali, Indonesia.	旅游业在很大程度上还未成为恐怖袭击的目标，但安全专家说，许多度假岛都没有能力抵御像在印度尼西亚的巴厘岛和突尼斯等地发生过的那种规模的袭击。
A security chief from a resort in a northern atoll of Maldives said the country's resorts are not prepared, adding that regulations and policies from the government were needed to address the issue. The security chief spoke on the condition of anonymity because of a fear of being targeted by the government, which has a history of jailing individuals who discuss sensitive issues.	马尔代夫北部的一个环礁度假岛负责安全的头目表示，国内的度假岛尚未做好准备，他还表示，需要政府出台法规和政策来解决这个问题。这位负责安全的人要求不透露姓名，因为害怕成为政府打击的目标，马尔代夫政府有监禁讨论敏感问题者的历史。
Abeer Ismail, the information officer at the Ministry of Tourism, said that as far as he knew, no safety concerns had been raised officially by any resorts.	旅游部的信息官员艾米尔·伊斯梅尔(Abeer Ismail)说，据他所知，还没有一个度假岛正式表达过任何安全担忧。
Complicating those security measures, many say, is an expectation from high-end clientele that they will not be inconvenienced.	许多人说，让采取安全措施变得更复杂的一个问题是，高端游客对不给他们制造不便的期望。
Brig. Gen. Zakariyya Mansoor, director general of the National Counter Terrorism Center, a recently formed government office spearheading efforts to increase security preparedness, agreed that it was challenging to identify noninvasive solutions and maintain the tranquil environment expected by tourists.	扎卡里亚·曼索尔准将(Brig. Gen. Zakariyya Mansoor)是最近成立的政府机构国家反恐中心的总干事，该中心将带头加强安全防范工作，曼索尔承认，找到非干扰的解决方案，维护游客对宁静环境的预期，是有挑战性的工作。
But he said the country was well prepared to handle terrorist threats, pointing to the national policy on terrorism and the regular staging of simulated attacks at tourist facilities for training purposes.	但他表示，该国已经为对付恐怖主义威胁做好了准备，他指出国家已经出台了针对恐怖主义的政策，并为了培训定期在旅游设施进行模拟攻击。
"There are certain criteria that every resort must meet in terms of safety and security," Mansoor said. "Resort owners and resort operators are	"在安全和保安方面，每个度假岛都必须达到一定的标准，"曼索尔说。"度假岛的业主和经营者与我们非常配合。"

very cooperative with us.”
Ibrahim Hussain Shihab, a spokesman for the president of the Maldives, Abdulla Yameen, wrote in an email that the government takes all breaches of security, including thefts, seriously, and that security forces are “more than adequately trained.” As such, he said there was no immediate need for security forces at the resorts to carry firearms.	马尔代夫总统阿卜杜拉·亚明(Abdulla Yameen)的发言人易卜拉欣·侯赛因·希哈布(Ibrahim Hussain Shihab)在一封电子邮件中写道，政府认真对待一切有损安全的行为、包括盗窃，国内的安全部队“受过充分的训练”。他说，因此，度假岛对携带武器的安全部队没有紧迫需求。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170620/maldives-islamic-radicalism	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170620/maldives-islamic-radicalism
Madrid Transit Officials Tackle ‘El Manspreading’	男人注意了：公交车上请勿岔开腿！
That annoying habit some men have of spreading their legs on buses and trains, encroaching on seats next to them, has become so universal that one word crosses language barriers to describe it.	一些男性喜欢在做公交车和火车时把腿张开，蚕食临近的座位。这个令人讨厌的习惯如此普遍，以至出现了一个跨越语言障碍的词来描述它。
Now, commuters in Madrid are the latest global denizens to fight “El Manspreading,” that scourge of crowded buses and trains.	现在，马德里的通勤族，成了全球反抗拥挤的公交车和火车上“男性岔腿而坐”(El manspreading)现象的最新群体。
This month, public transportation officials in the Spanish capital are telling passengers to, literally, keep their knees together instead of letting them drift apart. In doing so, they joining cities from New York to Seattle, and countries from Japan to Australia, in trying to battle the impulse that, let’s face it, mostly men have perpetuated.	本月，西班牙首都马德里的公共交通官员请乘客真正做到并拢膝盖，不要岔开双腿。此举让他们加入了从纽约到西雅图等城市，以及从日本到澳大利亚等国家努力阻止这种冲动的行列中。直面现实吧，主要是男性保持着这种冲动。
The new campaign in Madrid employs an image of a little red figure with legs splayed, taking up two seats, with a slash mark across it, the universal symbol for “don’t do this.” It is part of a lineup of other common antisocial breaches of commuting etiquette, such as smoking and propping feet on seats, that are discouraged in a small, enclosed space shared by dozens of people.	马德里新发起的这场活动使用了一个双腿岔开、占据两个座位的小红人的形象，上面划了一个叉，也就是通用的“不要这么做”符号。岔腿而坐属于一系列常见的、令人讨厌的有违通勤礼仪的行为，其他还有吸烟和把脚放在座位上。在多人共处的狭小、封闭空间里，这些行为都不应出现。
“El Manspreading is an English term that describes the position of men	“El Manspreading 是一个英语术语，指的是男性坐下时双腿分得过开，占据

who open their legs excessively when they sit, occupying the seats next to his, among other situations," said a statement from the Municipal Transport Company said, when announcing the campaign last week.	了邻座等情况下的姿势，"市运输公司(Municipal Transport Company)上周宣布这场活动的一份声明中说。
"The mission of this new pictographic icon is to be a reminder of the need to maintain civic behavior and to respect the space of everyone on board the bus."	"这个新图标的任务是提醒人们须保持文明的行为，尊重车上所有人的空间。"
The campaign was inspired by an online petition promoted by a women's rights collective, Microrrelatos Feministas, that had garnered more than 13,000 signatures as of Monday.	这场活动是受了女权团体 Microrrelatos Feministas 在网上发起的一封请愿信的启发。截至周一，请愿信已征集到了逾 1.3 万个签名。
"All means of transportation have a sticker explaining that we must make room for pregnant women, people with a baby carriage, seniors and people with disabilities," the petition said. "But there is something else that affects us practically every day we ride on public transport: manspreading."	"所有交通工具上都有一张贴纸，解释我们必须为孕妇、推婴儿车的乘客、老人和残疾人留出空间，"请愿信上写道。"但还有一种情况几乎每天都会在我们乘坐公共交通工具时影响我们：男性岔腿而坐。"
"It is not difficult to spot women with their legs closed and very uncomfortable because there is a man next to her who is invading her space," it said. "It is not a question of bad education, but just as women have been taught to sit with our legs close together (as if we had to hold something between our knees) men have conveyed hierarchy and territoriality, as if the space belonged to them."	"不难发现因为邻座的男子侵占自己的空间而并拢双腿，并感到非常不舒服的女性，"请愿信说。"这不是不良教育的问题，仅仅是女性接受的教育是我们坐下时要并拢双腿（像是必须用膝盖夹住什么东西似的），而男性传递出的是等级和领土，就像空间属于他们似的。"
The campaign picked up traction on social media with the hashtag #MadridSinManspreading, or Madrid without manspreading, with people sharing cartoons of the social phenomenon.	在 #MadridSinManspreading（马德里罪恶岔腿男）或"马德里不要男性岔腿而坐"的标签下，这场活动在社交媒体上引起了关注，人们纷纷转发这种社会现象的漫画。
With the campaign, Madrid, a city of more than 3 million people, joins others around the world trying to tackle the posture, the bane of many	通过这场活动，人口逾 300 万的马德里加入了全球其他城市的行列，一起努力应对这个姿势带来的问题。它影响了很多通勤族。据时报报道，2014

commuters. In 2014, New York City's Metropolitan Transportation Authority announced a series of public service advertisements to stop once and for all the "lay-it-all-out sitting style that more than a few men see as their inalienable underground right," according to a Times report on the campaign.	年，为了彻底解决“被为数不少的男性视为不可剥夺的秘密权利的全身舒展坐姿”，纽约市大都会运输署（Metropolitan Transportation Authority，简称MTA）公布了一系列公益广告。
"Dude ... Stop the Spread, Please" reads the caption of one of the posters, showing an image of riders forced to stand as a man nearby takes up two seats.	其中一幅海报上写着“伙计，请不要岔开腿”，上面是多名乘客被迫站着，附近一名男子占了两个座位的场景。
Worldwide campaigns aim to stop it	遏制这一现象的全球行动
Cities over the years have promoted campaigns trying to curtail the behavior. In Japan, the Tokyo Metro's illustrated subway posters suggest manspreading is an etiquette breach. But in Toronto, a petition said banning manspreading was sexist. "This sets a very bad precedent as men opening their legs is something we have to do due to our biology," it said.	多年来，已有多座城市开展活动，试图阻止这一行为。在日本，东京地下铁株式会社(Tokyo Metro)在地铁上张贴带插画海报，提示男性岔开腿坐是一种失礼。但在多伦多，一封请愿信说禁止男性分开腿坐是性别歧视。“这开了一个非常不好的先例，因为男性分开腿是我们因为生理原因而不得不这么做，”请愿信上写道。
The competition for space is often handled not by the police or transit officials, but on the spot between commuters who speak up to those perceived to be lacking in common courtesy.	对空间的争夺往往不是由警察或运输官员来处理，而是当场在通勤者之间解决的。这些同情者会向那些被认为缺乏公德的人提出自己的意见。
Stuart Green, a spokesman for the Toronto Transit Commission, said in a telephone interview that the commission has not detected any trend in official complaints in its customer service logs. "Our bylaws cover general interference in a seat, like putting a bag or feet on the seat," he said.	多伦多运输委员会(Toronto Transit Commission)发言人斯图尔特·格林(Stuart Green)在接受电话采访时说，该委员会尚未在其顾客服务记录的正式投诉中发现任何倾向。“我们的规章制度涉及对乘坐行为的整体约束，如把包或脚放在座位上，”他说。
Despite the word "manspreading," some authorities have made their campaigns less specific about the gender of those perpetrating it. In	尽管这个词叫“男性岔腿而坐”，一些机构的活动对有此行为的人的性别没有那么明确的针对性。在宾夕法尼亚州，东南宾夕法尼亚运输署(Southeastern

Pennsylvania, the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority started a “Dude It’s Rude” passenger etiquette campaign that aimed to reform customer travel habits in general, including an emphasis on taking up space on only one seat for riders of any gender.	Pennsylvania Transportation Authority)启动了一场“伙计，这么做不礼貌”的乘客礼仪活动，旨在从整体上改变乘客的出行习惯，包括强调任何性别的乘客都只能占一个座位上的空间。
In Seattle, the Sound Transit system tackled the problem not with an image of a man, but a purple octopus with eight long tentacles draped over neighboring seats.	在西雅图，海湾运输署(Sound Transit)系统应对这个问题时，用的不是一个男性，而是一条紫色章鱼将八根触须伸向邻座的形象。
After the M.T.A.’s campaign, the phenomenon prompted discussion in Australia, where frustrated commuters regularly document their experiences with the phenomenon on crowded trains, trams and buses, ABC News in Australia reported. They brought in a body language expert to try to make sense of it all.	据澳大利亚的《ABC 新闻》(ABC News)报道，MTA 那场活动过后，这一现象在澳大利亚引发了讨论。在该国，感到不满的通勤族经常记录他们在拥挤的火车、有轨电车和公交车上遇到这种现象的经历。他们找来了一位身体语言专家，试图解释这个现象。
“Manspreaders are known to be confident,” said the expert, David Alssema. “Confident people take up more space in a room. If you see a popular person on the couch they are in usually in the middle — arms out, legs spread. They are trying to show their persona of confidence and lot of people see confidence as a winning quality,” he told the station.	“岔开双腿被认为是自信的表现，”这位名为戴维·阿尔塞马(David Alssema)的专家说。“在一个房间里，自信的人会占据更多的空间。如果看到一个受欢迎的人坐在长沙发上，他们常常都坐在中间，胳膊伸直，两腿分开。他们是在努力表现自己的自信形象，很多人认为自信是一种制胜的品质，”他对该频道说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170620/manspreading-madrid	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170620/manspreading-madrid
Otto Warmbier’s Death Dims Chances of Improved U.S. Relations With North Korea	一个美国青年的死牵动美朝中韩多边关系
SEOUL, South Korea — When a senior United States official visits North Korea, it is usually taken as a sign that tensions between the adversaries are easing somewhat. That is particularly true when the official brings home a newly freed American captive.	韩国首尔——每当美国高级官员访问朝鲜时，人们一般都会将其视为是这两个对手之间紧张局势有所缓解的迹象。如果该官员能带着一名新近获释的被朝鲜关押的美国人回家，则更是如此。

But the trip made last week by Joseph Y. Yun, the top United States envoy on North Korea, was starkly different. The American prisoner he brought home, Otto Warmbier, had been in a coma for most of the 17 months he spent incarcerated in the North. On Monday, Mr. Warmbier, a 22-year-old college student, died at a hospital in Cincinnati, where his parents blamed Pyongyang's "awful, torturous mistreatment" of their son.	不过, 美国国务院的朝鲜问题特别代表尹汝尚(Joseph Y. Yun)上周的访问却截然不同。他带回家的美国囚犯奥托·瓦姆比尔(Otto F. Warmbier)在被朝鲜监禁的 17 个月里, 大部分时间都处于昏迷状态。周一, 22 岁的大学生瓦姆比尔在辛辛那提的一家医院去世, 他的父母指责平壤对儿子进行了“恶劣虐待”。
Analysts said anger over Mr. Warmbier's death would dim, if not scuttle, any prospect of a less antagonistic relationship in the near future between Washington and Pyongyang, which is still holding three other Americans. The White House has quietly pushed for the release of all the Americans as a first step toward better relations, and President Trump has sometimes publicly indicated a willingness to talk with the North's leader, Kim Jong-un, about its pursuit of nuclear arms and missiles capable of striking the United States.	分析人士说, 瓦姆比尔的死亡所引起的愤怒, 让华盛顿和平壤在不久的将来不再那么对抗的前景变得暗淡, 如果不是让这种前景变得不可能的话, 平壤仍关押着另外三名美国人。白宫一直在暗中推动平壤释放所有的美国人, 将其作为建立更好关系的第一步, 特朗普总统有时还公开表示, 愿意与朝鲜领导人金正恩进行对话, 讨论朝鲜寻求能够打击美国的核武器和导弹的问题。
"I believe it's going to set back any serious discussion about a diplomatic dialogue until this is cleared up," former Gov. Bill Richardson of New Mexico, an expert on North Korea who has helped extricate Americans held there, said of Mr. Warmbier's death. "I think the first objective has to be to get the three other Americans out, and get a full explanation of what happened to Otto Warmbier."	“我相信, 在这件事得到解决之前, 任何关于外交对话的严肃讨论都将受到挫折, ”新墨西哥州前州长、朝鲜问题专家比尔·理查森(Bill Richardson)说, 他指的是瓦姆比尔的死亡。“我认为, 首要目标是要让其他三名美国人获释, 并得到在瓦姆比尔身上发生了什么事情的充分解释。”
Jae H. Ku, director of the U.S.-Korea Institute at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, agreed that moves toward diplomacy would be delayed. "I think it's going to be slowed down. There is going to be a lot of anger and venting of frustrations," he said.	约翰·霍普金斯大学美韩研究所主任具宰会(Jae H. Ku)也表示走向外交的行动将会推迟。“我觉得会慢下来。会有很多愤怒和沮丧的发泄, ”他说。

But other analysts said that however horrific the case might be, the Trump administration was unlikely to let it upset the momentum toward dialogue it has built in recent months. They said that Mr. Yun's trip was the first fruit of those efforts and that North Korea may have freed Mr. Warmbier to open up space for diplomacy with Washington, even if they anticipated the anger that his condition would provoke in the United States.	但有些分析人士则表示，不管这件事多么令人震惊，特朗普政府不太可能会让近几个月来通向对话的势头受到打击。他们说，尹汝尚的这次访问是这些努力的首个成果，朝鲜释放瓦姆比尔的做法也许是为与华盛顿开展外交打开空间，即使朝鲜对瓦姆比尔的状态会在美国会引起愤怒有所预料。
A statement on Monday from Mr. Trump about Mr. Warmbier condemned the North for its "brutality," but he and Secretary of State Rex W. Tillerson both stopped short of announcing fresh sanctions in response.	特朗普在周一发布的关于瓦姆比尔的声明中谴责了朝鲜的“暴行”，但他和国务卿雷克斯·W·蒂勒森都没有在对此事的回应中宣布新的制裁措施。
Mr. Warmbier was visiting North Korea as part of a tour group when he was detained at the Pyongyang airport in January 2016. Two months later, he was sentenced to 15 years of hard labor for the "hostile act" of trying to steal a propaganda poster off the wall of his hotel.	瓦姆比尔于2016年1月平壤机场被扣押，之前他曾作为旅游团的成员在朝鲜旅游。两个月后，他因试图从他的酒店的墙上偷走宣传海报的“敌对行为”被判处15年劳役。
In a series of low-key communications with the North Koreans in recent months, the Trump administration pushed for the release of Mr. Warmbier and the three other Americans as a first step toward improving ties, according to South Korean officials and others familiar with the process, who spoke on the condition of anonymity because of the sensitivity of the matter.	据韩国官员及其他熟悉情况的人士说，在最近几个月里与朝鲜的一系列低调接触中，特朗普政府在劝说朝鲜释放瓦姆比尔和其他三名美国人，将其作为迈向改善关系的第一步。这些知情者由于所讨论问题的敏感性要求不具名。
When Mr. Yun held a secret meeting with Choe Son-hui, a senior negotiator from the North Korean Foreign Ministry, in Oslo last month, the North Koreans agreed to look into the matter, these people said. But this month, the North Koreans came back with shocking news: They	这些人说，上个月，尹汝尚在奥斯陆与朝鲜外交部的高级谈判代表崔善姬进行秘密会晤时，朝鲜同意研究释放的问题。但是这个月，朝鲜人带回来的是令人震惊的消息：他们说瓦姆比尔已经昏迷了一年多，他们让美国人把他带回家去。

said Mr. Warmbier had been in a coma for more than a year and told the Americans to take him home.
North Korea has said it released Mr. Warmbier on "humanitarian grounds" but did not explain his medical condition. It has told American officials that Mr. Warmbier fell into a coma after contracting botulism, according to his family.	朝鲜表示，释放瓦姆比尔是出于“人道主义考虑”，但没有解释他的病情。据瓦姆比尔的家人说，朝鲜方面告诉美国官员，瓦姆比尔因感染了肉毒杆菌而陷入昏迷状态。
American doctors found "extensive" brain damage but could not say what had caused the injury. They found no evidence of botulism, or that Mr. Warmbier had been beaten, as one American official had asserted.	美国医生查出了“大面积”的脑损伤，但不能确定造成伤害的原因。他们没有发现感染肉毒杆菌、或像一位美国官员所称的瓦姆比尔遭到殴打的证据。
"Perhaps his condition deteriorated and the authorities decided it was better to release him in a coma than as a corpse," said John Delury, a North Korea expert at Yonsei University in Seoul. "North Koreans might have feelers out to see if there is a deal to be made with the Trump administration, and releasing Mr. Warmbier is a way to move that process along, while also removing what could be an obstacle down the road."	“也许他的病情恶化了，所以朝鲜当局决定，最好是让他在昏迷状态获释，而不是把尸体送回美国，”首尔延世大学的朝鲜问题专家鲁乐汉(John Delury)说。“朝鲜人可能在做一种试探，看看是否能与特朗普政府做交易，释放瓦姆比尔是推动这个过程的一种方式，同时也消除了可能会阻挡道路的障碍。”
Mr. Warmbier's death comes at a delicate time in international diplomacy surrounding North Korea. Senior Chinese and American officials are due to meet in Washington this week, and United States officials planned to press their counterparts to do more to rein in Pyongyang's nuclear pursuits.	瓦姆比尔的死亡发生在围绕着朝鲜的国际外交活动的微妙时刻。中国和美国的高级官员按计划将于本周在华盛顿会晤，美国官员打算向其中国同行施压，让他们在遏制平壤的核努力上更有作为。
China, North Korea's main ally, is a strong advocate for negotiations over the North's nuclear program, and Mr. Warmbier's death seemed unlikely to change that. At a daily news briefing in Beijing, a Foreign	中国是朝鲜的主要盟友，并坚决主张以谈判的方式解决朝鲜的核问题，瓦姆比尔的死亡似乎不大可能会改变中国的立场。外交部发言人耿爽在北京今天的例行记者会上说，瓦姆比尔的死亡是“一起不幸的事件”，但没有对朝鲜对

Ministry spokesman, Geng Shuang, called the death “really a tragedy” but stopped short of reprimanding North Korea for its treatment of Mr. Warmbier.	待瓦姆比尔的做法表示谴责。
Shi Yinhong, a professor of international relations at Renmin University in Beijing, said that China would not punish North Korea over a human rights issue. “What makes China take steps is a missile or nuclear test, not the death of an American student,” he said.	北京人民大学国际关系教授时殷弘说，中国不会在人权问题上惩罚朝鲜。他说，“让中国采取步骤的是导弹或核试验，而不是美国学生的死亡。”
Another Chinese analyst, Cheng Xiaohe, an associate professor of international relations at Renmin University, said Mr. Warmbier’s death illustrated the “failure of North Korea’s hostage diplomacy” because it would strengthen “hard-liners” in the Trump administration. He said there could be retaliation from the United States unless Pyongyang took a step like freeing the three remaining American captives.	另一名中国分析人士、人民大学国际关系副教授成晓河说，瓦姆比尔的死亡表明了“朝鲜人质外交的失败”，因为这会加强特朗普政府中的“强硬派”。成晓河说，除非平壤采取比如释放其余三名被关押的美国人的步骤，否则可能会遭到美国的报复。
“I believe the U.S. will not let the issue slip away quietly and will take retaliatory actions soon if North Korea fails to make a conciliatory move regarding the detainees,” he said.	“我相信，如果朝鲜在被拘押者的问题上不作出和解行动的话，美国不会让这个问题不声不响地消失，美国将采取报复行动。”
Mr. Warmbier’s case has drawn new attention to the other three American prisoners in North Korea, who Mr. Yun was allowed to meet when he visited Pyongyang.	瓦姆比尔的情况引起了人们对被朝鲜关押的其他三名美国囚犯的最新关注，尹汝尚在访问平壤期间被允许与这三人见面。
They are Tony Kim, a volunteer accounting teacher in his mid-50s who had taught at the Pyongyang University of Science and Technology, arrested in April for unknown reasons; Kim Hak-song, who also worked for the same university and did agricultural work, also arrested for unknown reasons, in early May; and Kim Dong-chul, 63, a businessman who has been serving a 10-year sentence of hard labor since April 2016,	他们中的一位是 50 多岁的托尼·金(Tony Kim)，他曾在平壤科技大学任教，义务教授会计学，今年 4 月被捕，原因不明。另一位是在同一所大学工作的金学松(Kim Hak-song)，他从事农业工作，于 5 月初被捕，原因也不明。第三位是 63 岁的商人金东哲(Kim Dong-chul)，自从 2016 年 4 月以来一直在服 10 年苦役的徒刑，罪名是间谍罪。

on spying charges.
Six South Koreans and a Korean-Canadian also remain in North Korean captivity on various criminal charges. South Korea's president, Moon Jae-in, said on Tuesday that his government would redouble efforts to free the South Koreans from the North. He also sent a message of condolences to the Warmbier family, saying it was "deeply deplorable that North Korea does not respect the universal standards and values of human rights," according to his office.	六名韩国人和一名韩裔加拿大人也因为各种刑事指控被朝鲜关押。韩国总统文在寅周二表示，他的政府将加倍努力，争取让被朝鲜关押的韩国人获释。他还向瓦姆比尔的家人表示了慰问，据韩国总统府发布的信息，文在寅说，“朝鲜不尊重人权的普适标准和价值观，令人极为愤慨。”
Mr. Moon, who took office in May, is more open to dialogue with North Korea than any of his recent predecessors. He is scheduled to meet with Mr. Trump in Washington this month and is expected to urge the president to talk to Pyongyang, saying that sanctions alone have failed to change the North's behavior. But South Korean officials feared that idea would be a harder sell after Mr. Warmbier's death.	五月份就任总统的文在寅比其最近的所有前任都更愿意与朝鲜进行对话。他按计划将于本月在华盛顿与特朗普会面，预计他会敦促特朗普与平壤对话，文在寅曾表示，只是采取制裁未能改变朝鲜的行为。但是，韩国官员担心，瓦姆比尔去世后，说服他们接受这个想法将会更加困难。
Still, there was cautious hope here that if North Korea and the United States negotiated the release of the other three Americans, it could eventually pave the way for far more complicated talks over how to contain or dismantle North Korea's nuclear weapons programs.	尽管如此，如果朝鲜和美国能谈成释放其他三名美国人事宜，这可能最终会为更为复杂、关于如何遏制或捣毁朝鲜核武器项目的谈判铺平道路。
"Over the years, South Koreans have grown weary as tensions kept rising and the North's nuclear program kept advancing," said Yang Moo-jin, a professor at the University of North Korean Studies in Seoul. "There is a growing sense that we needed change, a breakthrough."	"多年来，随着紧张局势不断加剧，朝鲜的核计划不断发展，韩国人对这个问题越来越不感兴趣，"首尔的朝鲜问题研究大学的教授杨武仁(Yang Moo-jin)说。"越来越多人意识到，我们需要改变做法，需要有一个突破。"
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170621/otto-warmbier-north-korea	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170621/otto-warmbier-north-korea
Who Wants to Be King? No One, Prince Harry Says	哈里王子：没人想当国王，但世界需要君主制
Prince Harry, who is fifth in line to the British throne, has said that he	在英国王位继承顺序中排第五的哈里王子(Prince Harry)表示，他觉得王室

does not think anyone in the royal family wants to be king or queen, but that the family of Queen Elizabeth II will carry on the succession out of a sense of duty.	中没有哪位成员想当国王或女王,但伊丽莎白二世女王的家族会出于责任感将王位继承下去。
"We're involved in modernizing the British monarchy," the prince, 32, told Newsweek in an interview published online on Wednesday.	"我们在做将英国君主政体现代化的工作,"这位32岁的王子在接受《新闻周刊》(Newsweek)采访时说。该采访于周三在网上公布。
"We are not doing this for ourselves but for the greater good of the people," he said. "Is there any one of the royal family who wants to be king or queen? I don't think so, but we will carry out our duties at the right time."	"我们这样做不是为了自己,而是为了民众更广泛的利益,"他说。"王室中有谁想当国王或女王吗?我觉得没有,但我们会在恰当的时间履行自己的责任。"
The prince also said that his personal priority was to lead an "ordinary" life. He credited his mother, Princess Diana, who died in a car crash in Paris in 1997, with inspiring him to do so.	哈里王子还表示,对他个人来说,最重要的是过"普通"的生活。他表示,那是因为母亲戴安娜王妃(Princess Diana)鼓励他这样做。1997年,戴安娜王妃在巴黎因车祸去世。
"My mother took a huge part in showing me an ordinary life, including taking me and my brother to see homeless people," Prince Harry was quoted as saying, referring to his elder brother, Prince William. "Thank goodness I'm not completely cut off from reality. People would be amazed by the ordinary life William and I live."	"母亲积极向我展示普通人的生活,包括带我和哥哥去看望无家可归的人,"哈里王子在接受采访时说。他指的是哥哥威廉王子(Prince William)。“幸好我没有完全与现实隔绝。人们会为我和威廉过的普通生活感到惊讶。”
"I do my own shopping. Sometimes, when I come away from the meat counter in my local supermarket, I worry someone will snap me with their phone," he added. "But I am determined to have a relatively normal life, and if I am lucky enough to have children, they can have one too. Even if I was king, I would do my own shopping."	"我自己购物。有时,我到附近的超市购物,离开肉类柜台时,总担心有人用手机偷拍我,"他还说。"但我下定决心要过相对正常的生活,如果我幸运地有了孩子,他们也可以过正常的生活。就算我当了国王,我还是会自己去购物。"
Asked if he thought too much "ordinary" might make the royal family too accessible and take away its mystery, the prince said: "It's a tricky balancing act. We don't want to dilute the magic."	采访者问他是否想过,太"普通"可能会令皇室显得太易于接近,从而让它失去神秘感,这位王子回答:"这是一个复杂的平衡问题。我们并不想冲淡神秘色彩。"

“The British public and the whole world need institutions like it,” he said.	“英国公众和全世界需要这样的体制，”他说。
The interview took place at the prince’s two-bedroom cottage at Kensington Palace in London. The report included anecdotes from the prince’s official appearances over the past year, where it said members of the public were “thrilled to be talking to, as one said, ‘an actual prince.’ ”	采访在这位王子位于伦敦肯辛顿王宫(Kensington Palace)的两居室寓所里进行。报道中提及这位王子在过去一年中正式亮相时的一些轶事，据说公众“为能够与‘一位真正的王子’（一位民众的原话）交谈而感到非常兴奋”。
In the line of succession, Prince Harry comes after his father, Prince Charles; Prince William; and Prince William’s children, Prince George and Princess Charlotte.	在王位继承顺序方面，哈里王子排在父亲查尔斯王子(Prince Charles)、威廉王子、威廉王子的孩子乔治王子(Prince George)和夏洛特公主(Princess Charlotte)之后。
His remarks were his latest to indicate a shift within the British monarchy toward greater openness, led by a younger generation. In a podcast released in April, Prince Harry shared rare details of the private life of a member of the royal family when he spoke of suffering emotionally for years after the death of his mother before finally getting help.	他的这些言论是他最近一次表明，英国君主政体内部在更年轻一代的领导下变得更为开放。在今年4月发布的播客中，哈里王子分享了自己作为皇室成员的私生活中的一些罕见细节，他提到母亲去世后，他有很多年遭受情感上的折磨，直到最后获得帮助。
In the Newsweek interview, he again brought up the impact that her death had on him, particularly as a 12-year-old child who walked in his mother’s funeral procession with the eyes of the entire world on him.	在接受《新闻周刊》采访时，他再次提到母亲的去世对自己的影响，尤其是自己12岁那年，在全世界的注视下，走在母亲葬礼的队伍中。
“My mother had just died, and I had to walk a long way behind her coffin, surrounded by thousands of people watching me while millions more did on television,” he told the magazine.	“我的母亲刚刚去世，而我却不得不跟在她的棺柩后面走很长的路，周围有成千上万人看着我，还有成百上千万人通过电视看着我，”他对该杂志说。
“I don’t think any child should be asked to do that, under any circumstances,” he said. “I don’t think it would happen today.”	“我觉得，不管在什么情况下，都不应该要求任何一个孩子做这样的事，”他说。“我觉得这种事如今不会发生。”
He has also denounced, in an unusual statement issued through his spokesman last November, the “racial undertones” of British news	去年11月，他通过自己的发言人发布了一项不同寻常的声明，谴责英国新闻报导对他新女友的“种族影射”，以及社交媒体对她的骚扰。他的女友是美

coverage and social media harassment of his new girlfriend, the American actress Meghan Markle, whose mother is black and whose father is white.	国女演员梅根·马克尔(Meghan Markle), 她的母亲是黑人, 父亲是白人。
On June 15, Prince Harry, who told Newsweek that he often wanted to be "something other than Prince Harry," rolled up his sleeves, sampled food from carts and chatted with people during an official appearance at Borough Market near the Thames, less than two weeks after terrorists went on a stabbing rampage there.	哈里王子向《新闻周刊》表示, 他经常希望自己“不是哈里王子, 而是其他人”。6月15日, 他在泰晤士河畔博罗市场(Borough Market)正式亮相, 挽起袖子, 品尝食品车上的食物, 与人们交谈。不到两周前, 恐怖分子在那里进行了疯狂的持刀屠杀。
The monarchy and the costs used to support it have often been the subject of scrutiny, such as last November when a decision to renovate Buckingham Palace at a cost of £369 million (about $456 million) came amid years of national budget cuts.	君主体制以及支持它的费用经常成为人们审视的对象, 比如, 近几年, 英国全国都在削减预算, 而去年11月, 王室却决定花费3.69亿英镑(约合4.56亿美元)装修白金汉宫。
Prince Harry's remarks in Newsweek renewed discussion on social media about whether the monarchy was outdated.	哈里王子在《新闻周刊》上的言论在社交媒体上再次引发关于君主政体是否已过时的讨论。
"Prince Harry wants us to see him as an ordinary chap, who does his own shopping — but he is not," wrote James Moore, a columnist, in the Independent. "It is true that he was exposed to the darker side of life in Britain while growing up, but he will never know the feeling of wondering whether he has enough money to pay for that shopping at the till.	"哈里王子想让我们把他视为一个自己购物的普通小伙子, 但他不是," 专栏作家詹姆斯·摩尔(James Moore)在《独立报》(The Independent)上写道。"的确, 他在成长过程中看到过英国社会更黑暗的一面, 但他永远也不会知道盘算自己是否有足够的钱支付购物车里的东西的感觉。"
"That said, a gilded cage is still a cage, and escape is next to impossible," he wrote.	"尽管如此, 镀金的鸟笼依然是鸟笼, 逃离几乎是不可能的," 他写道。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170623/prince-harry-monarchy-britain	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170623/prince-harry-monarchy-britain
Putin-Era Taboo: Telling Why Some Soviets Aided Nazis	普京时代的禁忌: 那些苏联人为何支持纳粹

PODOLSK, Russia — As a former Soviet factory director, Vladimir Melikhov survived the brutal business turf wars of the 1990s to make a fortune in construction. Now he devotes his energy and money to what, in the Russia of President Vladimir Putin, has become a truly risky enterprise: digging into Russian history.	俄罗斯波多利斯克——作为前苏联一家工厂的厂长，弗拉基米尔·梅里克霍夫 (Vladimir Melikhov) 艰难度过了 20 世纪 90 年代残酷的商业地盘争夺战，在建设行业中发了财。现在，他将精力和钱财全部投入到探究俄罗斯历史上来，在弗拉基米尔·普京 (Vladimir Putin) 总统领导下的俄罗斯，这已经成为一个真正冒险的事业。
Melikhov has founded a private museum that is devoted to the memory of the “anti-Bolshevik resistance” and that delves into a singularly taboo topic — why many Cossacks and other persecuted Soviet citizens welcomed, at least initially, Hitler’s invasion of the Soviet Union in June 1941.	梅里克霍夫成立了一个以纪念“反布尔什维克抵抗运动”为主题的私人博物馆，这个博物馆探究一个特别触犯禁忌的话题——为什么许多哥萨克人和其他受迫害的苏维埃公民，至少在最初对希特勒在 1941 年 6 月入侵苏联表示欢迎。
The museum, housed in a three-story building he built himself on his private estate in Podolsk, south of Moscow, makes no attempt to glorify Nazi collaborators. But it has enraged the authorities by focusing on the relentless persecution that followed Russia’s 1917 Bolshevik Revolution, creating fertile ground for anti-Soviet treachery during a war that cost 25 million Soviet lives.	这个博物馆设在一栋三层的建筑里，楼是梅里克霍夫在莫斯科南部波多利斯克的私人庄园里自己盖的。博物馆并不企图美化纳粹合作者，但却激怒了当局，因为它关注的是俄罗斯在 1917 年的布尔什维克革命之后发生的残酷迫害，这种迫害为二战中的反苏维埃背叛创造了沃土，有 2500 万苏联人在二战中丧生。
“What they really don’t like is that I make people think about what happened in the past and what is happening today,” Melikhov said.	“他们真正不喜欢的是，我让人们想起了过去发生的事情，以及今天正在发生的事情，”梅里克霍夫说。
As a result, he has been denounced on state television as a traitor, Russian border guards have defaced his passport to prevent him from leaving the country, and he has faced a string of seemingly trumped-up criminal charges. On Tuesday, a court in Podolsk found him guilty of illegal weapons possession and sentenced him to a year of “restricted freedom” — house arrest or some other limits on his movements.	结果是，他被国家电视台谴责为叛国者，俄罗斯边境警卫损坏了他的护照，不让他出国，他也面临着一系列看起来是捏造的刑事指控。周二，波多利斯克的一个法庭裁定他犯有非法拥有武器罪，并判处他一年“限制自由”——即软禁或对他的行动加以其他限制的惩罚。
The hostility of the Russian state toward Melikhov is a measure of how	俄罗斯政府对梅里克霍夫的敌意反映了第二次世界大战(俄罗斯人称二战为

the history of World War II, which Russians know as the Great Patriotic War, is a sensitive topic — particularly at a time when Putin and his allies constantly refer to the conflict to fortify their legitimacy.	伟大的卫国战争)历史是个敏感的话题,尤其是在普京及其盟友不断提到二战、用其来巩固自己的合法性的时候。
They cast themselves as the true heirs of wartime patriots and vilify their foes — like the anti-corruption campaigner Alexei A. Navalny, who orchestrated nationwide protests against the Kremlin on June 12 — as sellouts akin to Nazi collaborators.	这些人把自己说成是卫国战争爱国者的真正继承人,把自己的敌人——比如在6月12日组织了全国范围内针对克里姆林宫的抗议活动的反腐斗士阿列克谢·A·纳瓦利内(Alexei A. Navalny)——诋毁为像纳粹合作者那样的出卖者。
With communism ditched and liberal capitalism largely discredited as an alternative, the Soviet Union’s victorious 1941-45 struggle against Nazism has become the untouchable cornerstone of a new state ideology built around a sanitized history of patriotic sacrifice, discipline and national unity.	摒弃了共产主义,作为另一选择的自由资本主义在很大程度上也名声扫地,所以,苏联在1941到1945年的反法西斯战争中取得胜利的历史,已成为国家新意识形态不可触及的基石,新意识形态是围绕着一个以为国献身、纪律和民族团结为内容,经过净化的历史建立的。
“The myth of the Great Patriotic War is the founding myth of contemporary, post-1991 Russia,” said Serhii Plokhii, a Russian-born history professor at Harvard. “Anything that challenges that myth, understood as the victory of the unified Russian people over the hostile West, or introduces shades of gray into the black-and-white picture of the battle between good and evil, is rejected and attacked.”	“伟大的卫国战争的神话,是1991年后的当代俄罗斯的建国神话,”在俄罗斯出生的哈佛大学历史教授谢尔海伊·普洛克海伊(Serhii Plokhii)说。“这个神话被理解为团结一致的俄罗斯人民与西方敌对力量作斗争的胜利,任何挑战这个神话的东西,或在其善与恶斗争的黑白描述中引入灰色的东西,都将被拒绝和受到攻击。”
Melikhov is not the only one to be singled out. A state committee in Moscow recently vetoed a decision by scholars in St. Petersburg to award a doctoral degree to Kirill Alexandrov, a historian. His dissertation, on the Committee for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia, an outfit set up in 1944 with German support to rally opposition to Stalin’s regime, was deemed insufficiently patriotic.	梅里克霍夫不是唯一一个被挑出来的人。莫斯科的一个国家委员会最近否决了圣彼得堡一些学者授予历史学家基里尔·亚历山德罗夫(Kirill Alexandrov)博士学位的决定。他撰写的关于“俄罗斯人民解放委员会”(Committee for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia)的论文被认为不够爱国,该委员会成立于1944年,曾受德国支持,目的是把反对斯大林政权的人召集起来。
Melikhov believes that his principal crime, as far as officials are	梅里克霍夫认为,就官方而言,他的主要罪行不只限于他在波多尔克斯的博

concerned, is not just the matter-of-fact treatment of reviled traitors at his museum in Podolsk, and another museum of his near Rostov-on-Don in southern Russia.	物馆、以及他在俄罗斯南部顿河畔罗斯托夫附近的另一个博物馆，对令人不齿的叛徒给予了实事求是的处理。
A bigger problem, he said, is that any open discussion of the choices Russians made during the war undermines Putin's efforts to rally Russia around the heroism of the past and his hostility to the internal and external enemies that the Kremlin presents as besieging the country.	他说，一个更大的问题是，任何对俄罗斯人在卫国战争中做出的选择的公开讨论，都会削弱普京团结俄罗斯的努力，这种团结是围绕的是过去的英雄主义、以及普京对被克里姆林宫描述为围困俄罗斯的内外敌人的敌意。
"The Soviet Union collapsed, but the Soviet system of rule and thinking has stayed the same," Melikhov said. "There was monopolization of political power, monopolization of economic power, monopolization of mass media, monopolization of civil society. Today, the basic elements of this Soviet system are all being put back in place."	"虽然苏联崩溃了，但苏联的统治制度和思想还一直保持着，没有改变，"梅里克霍夫说。"仍然存在着政治权力的垄断、经济权力的垄断、大众媒体的垄断、民间社会的垄断。如今，苏维埃体系的基本要素都已被复原。"
The evidence presented against Melikhov at his trial consisted of a rusty 19th-century gun from his museum collection and a stash of bullets that did not fit any weapon in his possession. Melikhov said investigators had planted them.	在梅里克霍夫的审判中提供的证据包括，他的博物馆收藏的一只 19 世纪的生锈的枪，以及一些和他拥有的武器不配套的子弹。梅里克霍夫说，那是调查人员栽的赃。
"I struggled against many bandits in the 1990s, but now it is even worse: You can't fight back against our officials," he said in an interview at his estate, a fenced-in compound of brick buildings, lush gardens and a pond built atop a Soviet-era waste dump.	"我在 20 世纪 90 年代曾与许多土匪作斗争，但现在更糟糕，你不能对抗我们的官员，"梅里克霍夫在他的庄园里接受采访时说，这个庄园建在苏联时代用废弃物堆积起来的小山顶上，四周有围墙，里面有几座砖瓦建筑，还有郁郁葱葱的花园和一个池塘。
If not for his interest in history, Melikhov, 60, would seem a good fit with Putin's vision of a resurgent Russia built around traditional values and muscular patriotism.	如果不是因为他对历史的兴趣，60 岁的梅里克霍夫似乎很符合普京复兴俄罗斯活力的愿景，这种复兴是建立在传统价值观和强大的爱国主义之上的。
Melikhov is a descendant of Cossacks, the rugged horsemen who secured the frontiers of the Russian empire and whose members have	梅里克霍夫是哥萨克人的后裔，粗犷的哥萨克骑兵稳固了俄罗斯帝国的边缘地区，自 1991 年苏联解体以来，其成员一直处于各种民族主义事业的前列。

been in the forefront of various nationalist causes since the 1991 collapse of the Soviet Union. He is also an Orthodox Christian and has built a handsome wooden church next to his house in Podolsk.	梅里克霍夫也是东正教的基督徒，他在自己的波多尔斯克房子旁边，用木头盖了一座漂亮的教堂。
But years of work collecting and reading old books and documents have convinced Melikhov that what Putin and his allies in the Orthodox Church and elsewhere celebrate as Russian tradition grossly distorts the past.	但是，材料收集、阅读旧书和文件的多年工作让梅里克霍夫相信，普京及其在东正教和其他地方的盟友所庆祝的俄罗斯传统，是对过去的大肆扭曲。
He said that while Putin had helped lift Soviet-era suspicion of Cossacks, who mostly sided with anti-Bolshevik forces during Russia's 1917-22 civil war, he had forgotten the core of the Cossack creed.	他说，虽然普京帮助解除了苏联时期对哥萨克人的怀疑，哥萨克人在1917到1922年间的俄罗斯内战中站在了反布尔什维克力量的一边，但普京忘记了哥萨克信条的核心。
"The most important value for a Cossack has always been his own freedom," Melikhov said.	"哥萨克人最重要的价值从来都是自身的自由，"梅里克霍夫说。
That reading of Cossack tradition, which many still associate with pogroms and brutal service to an expanding Russian empire under the czar, has helped Melikhov win unlikely support from Russian liberals.	对哥萨克传统的这种解读，虽然在许多人眼里仍与俄国对犹太人的杀戮、以及为沙皇统治下的俄罗斯帝国扩大版图所提供的残暴服务联系在一起，但却使梅里克霍夫赢得了俄罗斯自由派人士看似不可能的支持。
One prominent fan is Andrey Zubov, a liberal historian who was removed from his post at a prestigious Moscow institute after he compared Putin's 2014 seizure of Crimea from Ukraine to Hitler's annexation of territory in 1939. Zubov promptly earned himself a place on a list of "traitors" assembled by Putin's supporters.	梅里克霍夫的一位有名的粉丝是自由派历史学家安德烈·朱波夫(Andrey Zubov)，朱波夫曾在莫斯科的一家著名研究所工作，在把普京在2014年从乌克兰夺回克里米亚与希特勒在1939年吞并他国领土作比较后，他被单位除名。朱波夫很快就上了普京的支持者们编制的一个“叛徒”名单。
"Communism is obviously dead as an ideology," he said. "There is no communism. But there is a Soviet way of thinking, a Soviet form of imperialism that survives and that authorities want to protect from historical facts."	"共产主义作为一种意识形态显然已经死亡，"他说。"共产主义没有了。但仍存在着苏维埃思维方式，苏维埃式的帝国主义仍继续存在，当局想把这些东西不顾历史事实地保护起来。"
Melikhov said the latest case against him had been orchestrated not by	梅里克霍夫说，近期针对他的案子，不是由波多尔斯克的当地检察官策划的，

local prosecutors in Podolsk but by the Federal Security Service in Moscow, the domestic intelligence arm of the old Soviet KGB, after he publicly supported an anti-Kremlin political party before parliamentary elections last year.	而是由莫斯科的联邦安全局策划的，该局的前身是苏联时代克格勃的国内情报部门。在去年的议会选举前，在表示公开支持一个反克里姆林宫的政党后，他被立了案。
He also opposed the annexation of Crimea, the prime litmus test of supposed treachery, a label that Melikhov said was being applied to those who merely disagreed publicly with the Kremlin.	他也反对吞并克里米亚，这是判断是否所谓背叛的首要试金石，梅里克霍夫说，这个标签被用到那些只不过是不同意克里姆林宫的人身上。
That, he said, is what makes his two museums so threatening: They prod the thousands of ordinary Russians who have visited to think about their own history and question simple labels like patriot and traitor. They also amplify questions that professional historians have quietly raised about official accounts of the war.	他说，那才是让他的两个博物馆如此具有威胁性的原因：它们让数以千计参观过博物馆的普通俄罗斯人思考自己的历史，质疑像爱国者和叛徒这样的简单标签。它们也把专业历史学家对官方的卫国战争描述提出的静悄悄的质疑进一步放大了。
Those official versions tend to play down Stalin's 1939 pact with Hitler, his murderous purge of military officers in the 1930s and the relentless persecution of perceived internal enemies before the Nazi invasion.	官方的版本倾向于淡化斯大林与希特勒在 1939 年达成的条约，斯大林在 20 世纪 30 年代对军官进行的屠杀清洗，以及在纳粹入侵之前对被视为是内部敌人的无情迫害。
Writing in the museum guest book, a visitor said, "Thank you to the creators and curators of this museum for the opportunity to look at those pages of our history that the official authorities try to hide from us."	一名参观者在博物馆的留言簿中写道：“感谢这家博物馆的创建者和策展者，你们给人们提供了一个机会，让他们能看我们的史书中那些官方当局试图隐藏起来的页面。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170623/vladimir-putin-russia-vladimir-melikhov	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170623/vladimir-putin-russia-vladimir-melikhov
China Is Among Worst Human Trafficking Offenders, State Dept. Says	美国将中国列为贩卖人口最严重国家
WASHINGTON — China is among the worst offenders for its failure to crack down on human trafficking within its borders, according to a strongly worded State Department report released Tuesday.	华盛顿——据美国国务院周二发布的一份措辞严厉的报告，中国未能打击境内的人口贩卖活动，属于问题最严重的国家之列。

In its annual assessment of global efforts to end forms of modern slavery, the State Department dropped China to the lowest tier this year, as it did with the Democratic Republic of Congo and the Republic of Congo.	美国国务院发布了其对结束现代奴役全球努力的年度评估，今年的报告把中国降到最低类，也把刚果民主共和国及刚果共和国降到了该类。
Those three nations joined 20 others already in that designation, including Iran, North Korea, Russia and Venezuela.	这三个国家加入进了其他 20 个已经属于该类的国家之列，这些国家包括伊朗、朝鲜、俄罗斯和委内瑞拉。
Forced labor among drug addicts, and among ethnic minorities including the Uighurs, was listed as a key reason China dropped to the lowest tier, as were reports that the country continued to forcibly repatriate North Koreans despite threats that Pyongyang would punish such returnees with prison and forced labor.	报告把吸毒成瘾者的强制劳动、以及包括维吾尔族在内的少数民族的强制劳动列为将中国降到最低类的关键原因，还有一个原因是，有报告称，中国继续强迫遣返朝鲜人，尽管有平壤将用监禁和强制劳动来惩罚这些被遣返者的威胁。
The report was presented in a formal announcement Tuesday attended by Secretary of State Rex W. Tillerson and Ivanka Trump, the president's daughter.	报告是本周二正式宣布的，国务卿雷克斯·W·蒂勒森(Rex W. Tillerson)和美国总统的女儿伊万卡·特朗普(Ivanka Trump)出席了宣布活动。
Mr. Tillerson was criticized in March for failing to attend the release of the department's annual human rights report, in what was considered a rare breach of a longstanding tradition by secretaries of state.	蒂勒森此前因没有出席今年 3 月的国务院年度人权报告发布会而遭到批评，他的缺席被认为罕见地违背了多位国务卿立下的长期传统。
The fierce criticism of China promises to accelerate a rapid worsening of relations with the Asian nation that had briefly benefited from good feelings generated by an April summit between President Trump and President Xi Jinping of China at Mr. Trump's Florida resort, Mar-a-Lago.	对中国的激烈批评预示着美国与这个亚洲国家关系的迅速恶化，中美关系曾因今年 4 月中国主席习近平与特朗普总统在特朗普位于佛罗里达州的马阿拉歌度假庄园举行峰会所产生的好感而短暂受益。
Mr. Trump decided to brush aside his fierce campaign criticisms of China's currency and trade practices in hopes that China would rein in North Korea's nuclear and missile programs. But Mr. Trump acknowledged last week that China has done little to pressure the	特朗普决定不把自己在竞选期间对中国在货币和贸易上通常做法的激烈批评付诸行动，希望以此作为交换，使中国制止朝鲜的核武器和导弹计划。但特朗普在上周承认，中国几乎没有对朝鲜政权施压，这标志着特朗普政府的首要外交政策的一个失败。 regime in Pyongyang, marking a failure of one of the administration's top foreign policy priorities.

The Commerce Department is expected this week to announce that the domestic steel industry must be saved from foreign imports, beginning a process that could lead to significant tariffs being placed on imported steel, an action that is likely to infuriate the Chinese.	美国商务部预计将在本周宣布，必须保护国内钢铁行业不受外国进口的危害，从而开启一个可能导致对进口钢铁征收高额关税的过程，这种做法可能会激怒中国人。
Thus, Tuesday's designation of China as among the world's worst offenders in human trafficking is part of a cascade of signals coming out of Washington that relations between the United States and China could soon plunge, just as relations between the United States and Russia are reaching depths not seen since the Cold War.	因此，周二的报告将中国列为世界上最严重的人口贩卖国之一，是华盛顿接连发出的信号的一部分，表明美国与中国的关系即将出现急剧滑坡，而与此同时，美国与俄罗斯的关系正在降到冷战以来未曾有过的低点。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170628/china-human-trafficking	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170628/china-human-trafficking
Global Cyberattack: What We Know and Don't Know	全球多国再遭勒索软件攻击
A quickly spreading ransomware attack is hitting countries across the world including France, Russia, Spain, Ukraine and the United States, just weeks after a ransomware attack known as WannaCry.	就在“想哭”(WannaCry)勒索软件攻击数周后，另一个勒索软件正在世界各地迅速蔓延，法国、俄罗斯、西班牙、乌克兰和美国等国均已受到波及。
What We Know	我们已经知道的信息
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Several private companies have confirmed that they were hit by the attack, including the American pharmaceutical giant Merck, the Danish shipping company AP Moller-Maersk, the British advertising firm WPP, the French multinational Saint-Gobain and the Russian steel, mining and oil companies Evraz and Rosneft. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 几家私人公司证实遭到了攻击，其中包括美国制药巨头默克(Merck)、丹麦航运企业马士基(AP Moller-Maersk)、英国广告公司 WPP、法国跨国公司圣戈班(Saint-Gobain)和俄罗斯钢铁、采矿和石油公司耶弗拉兹(Evraz)和俄罗斯石油公司(Rosneft)。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Photographs and videos of computers affected by the attack show a message of red text on a black screen. The message read: "Oops, your important files have been encrypted. If you see this text then your files 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 计算机遭受攻击后，照片和视频会在黑屏上显示红色文字信息：“糟糕，你的重要文件已被加密。如果你看到此文，表明文件已加密，不能再访问。也许你试图自己恢复文件，但那是在浪费时间。”

are no longer accessible because they have been encrypted. Perhaps you are busy looking to recover your files but don't waste your time."
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Kaspersky Lab, a cybersecurity firm based in Moscow, reported that about 2,000 computer systems had been affected by the new ransomware. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 莫斯科的网络安全公司卡巴斯基实验室(Kaspersky Lab)报道说, 大约有 2000 个计算机系统受到这种新型勒索病毒的影响。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Cybersecurity researchers first called the new ransomware attack Petya, as it bore similarities to a ransomware strain known by that name, which was first reported by Kasperksy in March 2016. But Kaspersky later said that its investigation into the new attack found that it was a type of ransomware that had never been seen before. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 网络安全研究人员在最开始的时候表示, 因其相似性, 新的这波攻击使用的是勒索病毒 Petya; Petya 由卡巴斯基在 2016 年 3 月首次报告。但卡巴斯基后来表示, 他们对这次攻击进行调查后发现, 以前没有见过这种勒索病毒。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ESET, a Slovakia-based cybersecurity company, said the first known infection occurred early on June 27, through a Ukrainian software company called MeDoc. MeDoc denied that its program was the initial infection point. In a Facebook post, the firm wrote, "At the time of updating the program, the system could not be infected with the virus directly from the update file," though an earlier message confirmed that its systems had been compromised. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ESET 是一家位于斯洛伐克的网络安全公司, 它们表示, 首例已知的感染发生在 6 月 27 日早些时候, 位于一家名为 MeDoc 的乌克兰软件公司。MeDoc 否认了其程序是初始的感染点。该公司在 Facebook 上一篇帖子中写道: "在更新程序的时候, 系统不会从更新的文件中直接感染这种病毒," 尽管早期的消息证实该公司的系统已被感染。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Symantec, a Silicon Valley cybersecurity firm, confirmed that the ransomware was infecting computers through at least one exploit, or vulnerability to computer systems, known as Eternal Blue. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 硅谷网络安全公司赛门铁克(Symantec)证实, 这种勒索病毒至少利用了 "永恒之蓝"(Eternal Blue)这个电脑系统的漏洞来传播。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Eternal Blue was leaked online last April by a mysterious group of hackers known as the Shadow Brokers, who have previously released hacking tools used by the National Security Agency. That vulnerability was used in May to spread the WannaCry ransomware, which affected hundreds of thousands of computers in more than 150 countries. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • "永恒之蓝"是去年 4 月被神秘的黑客组织"影子经纪人"(The Shadow Brokers)泄露到网上的, 他们以前就曾经发布过美国国家安全局(National Security Agency)使用的黑客工具。这个漏洞在 5 月份被用来传播"想哭"勒索软件, 导致 150 多个国家数以十万计的计算机受到感染。

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ESET and several other cybersecurity companies have identified at least one other exploit used in the attack known as PsExec, which takes advantage of a single computer that has not been updated with the latest software in a network to spread infections by looking for — and using — administrative credentials. By using PsExec, the ransomware continued spreading across systems that had been updated, or patched, after the WannaCry outbreak last month. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ESET 和其他几家网络安全公司已经确认，这次攻击至少还利用了一个 PsExec 的漏洞，它会通过搜索管理员证书来控制并利用网络中没有更新到最新软件的单一计算机来传播病毒。通过使用 PsExec，这个勒索软件仍然可能在上个月“想哭”爆发后已经更新了系统或打了补丁的系统中传播。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Several cybersecurity researchers have identified a Bitcoin address to which the attackers are demanding a payment of $300 from their victims. At least some of the victims appear to be paying the ransom, even though the email address used by the attackers has been shut down. That removes the possibility that the attackers could restore a victim’s access to their computer networks, even once ransom is paid. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 几位网络安全研究人员确定了一个比特币地址，攻击者要求受害者向该地址支付 300 美元赎金。至少有部分受害者似乎正打算支付赎金，虽然攻击者使用的电子邮件地址已被封。这就是说，即使支付了赎金，攻击者也无法让受害者重新访问他们的计算机网络。
What We Don’t Know	我们不知道的信息
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Who is behind the ransomware attack. The original Petya ransomware was developed and used by cybercriminals, and variations have been sold through dark web trading sites, which are accessible only by using browsers that mask a user’s identity, making it difficult for cybersecurity researchers to track. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 谁是这个勒索软件攻击的始作俑者。最早的 Petya 勒索病毒是由网络犯罪分子开发和使用的，暗网交易网站上有其各种变体出售。暗网只能通过可以掩盖用户身份的浏览器进行访问，因此网络安全研究人员难以追踪暗网上的活动。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The motives for the attack. Cybersecurity researchers ask why, if the goal of the attack was to force victims to pay ransom, more care was not taken to protect the email address through which attackers could communicate with their victims, or to provide multiple avenues for payment. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 攻击的动机是什么。网络安全研究人员想知道：如果这次攻击目的是迫使受害者支付赎金，那么为什么攻击者没有花更多的心思去保护可以和受害者沟通的电邮地址，也没有提供多种付款渠道呢？
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How much bigger this attack will get. Cybersecurity researchers say 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 这次攻击的规模将会有多大。网络安全研究人员说，像“想哭”一样，勒索

that like WannaCry, the ransomware infects computers using vulnerabilities in the central nerve of a computer, called a kernel, making it difficult for antivirus firms to detect. It also has the ability to take advantage of a single unpatched computer on a network to infect computers across a vast network, meaning that even systems that were updated after WannaCry could potentially become vulnerable again.	软件利用计算机中心神经“内核”中的漏洞感染计算机，让防病毒公司难以发现。它还可以利用网络上的单个未打补丁的计算机，感染一个巨大网络中的其他计算机，这就意味着，即使系统在“想哭”之后进行了更新，也可能再次遭受感染。
What Is Ransomware?	什么是勒索软件？
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ransomware is one of the most popular forms of online attack today. It typically begins with attackers sending their victims email that includes a link or a file that appears innocuous but contains dangerous malware. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 勒索软件是当今最流行的在线攻击形式之一。通常，一开始是攻击者向受害者发送电子邮件，其中包含一个链接或文件，看起来没有什么问题，但里面藏有危险的恶意软件。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Once a victim clicks on the link or opens the attachment, the computer becomes infected. The program encrypts the computer, essentially locking the user out of files, folders and drives on that computer. In some cases, the entire network the computer is connected to can become infected. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 受害者点击链接或打开附件后，计算机就会被感染。这个程序会加密计算机，导致用户无法访问电脑里的文件、文件夹和驱动器。在某些情况下，该计算机连接的整个网络都有可能被感染。
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The victim then receives a message demanding payment in exchange for attackers unlocking the system. The payment is usually requested in Bitcoin, a form of digital currency. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 然后受害者就收到要求支付赎金消息，以换取攻击者解锁系统。通常是要求用比特币进行支付，那是一种数字货币。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170628/global-ransomware-hack-what-we-know-and-dont-know	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170628/global-ransomware-hack-what-we-know-and-dont-know
In Russia's Far East, a Fledgling Las Vegas for Asia's Gamblers	俄罗斯远东的“拉斯维加斯”瞄准中国赌徒
ARTEM, Russia — On Russia's eastern rim, where endemic corruption and bureaucratic sloth conspire to hold back the economic dynamism enriching the rest of Asia, a shimmering palace rises from a dark forest	俄罗斯阿尔乔姆——在俄罗斯的东部边缘，普遍存在的腐败和官僚机构的怠惰一起阻碍着当地经济活力，亚洲其他地区则正是因为这种活力致富。如今，一座闪烁的宫殿在这里的黑森林中拔地而起，以一种看似不可思议的努力力

in an improbable effort to tap into the wealth of nearby China, Japan and South Korea.	图吸纳附近中国、日本和韩国的财富。
At a time when few Chinese or other investors want to take a gamble on Russia, the forest property, 4,000 miles east of Moscow, beckons deep-pocketed Asians who not only do not mind risk but delight in it — and are ready to wager their money on the baccarat tables and roulette wheels of the Russian Far East’s fledgling answer to Las Vegas.	在几乎没有中国或其他国家的投资者想在俄罗斯冒险的时候，这个位于莫斯科以东 4000 多英里（约合 6400 多公里）的森林中的建筑正在向荷包丰满的亚洲人招手，这些人不仅不在乎风险，而且以其为乐，他们已准备好用自己的钱在这里的百家乐牌桌上和轮盘赌台上下赌注。这是俄罗斯远东与拉斯维加斯媲美的初步尝试。
Tigre de Cristal, the lone casino so far in what the authorities in nearby Vladivostok hope will become a vast “integrated entertainment zone” with eight different betting palaces, is Russia’s biggest gambling complex. Financed largely by a Hong Kong company, Summit Ascent, it is also the single biggest Chinese investment in a region that President Vladimir V. Putin has tried to turn into a showcase of Russia’s “pivot to the East.”	附近的符拉迪沃斯托克的官员希望建成拥有八座赌宫的巨大“综合娱乐区”，水晶虎宫(Tigre de Cristal)是其中迄今为止唯一建成的一座，也是俄罗斯目前最大的赌场。这个赌场主要由一家香港公司凯升控股(Summit Ascent)提供资金，是中国在该地区最大的一笔投资，俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)试图将这个地区展示为俄罗斯“向东转移”的榜样。
Ever since Nikita S. Khrushchev stopped off in the Russian Far East after a trip to California in 1959 and decreed that Vladivostok had become “a second San Francisco,” the port city’s formidable assets — great natural beauty, location in Asia and a highly educated population — have stirred bold dreams. These have all been followed by bitter disappointment.	1959 年，尼克塔·S·赫鲁晓夫访问美国加利福尼亚州之后，在俄罗斯远东地区曾做过短暂停留，他当时曾宣布，符拉迪沃斯托克已成为“第二个旧金山”，自那时起，这座港口城市丰富的资产——众多的自然景色、亚洲的地理位置，以及拥有高学历的人口——曾激发过大胆的梦想。但随之而来的都是令人失望的结果。
Under Mr. Putin, Moscow has poured billions of dollars into the area, paying for huge bridges, a new university campus and other costly state-directed projects. But despite ever closer relations between Moscow and Beijing, said Artyom Lukin, an international studies professor at the Far East Federal University, “Russia has realized that free	在普京总统领导下，莫斯科已经向这个地区注入了数十亿美元的投资，花钱修建了大桥，盖了新的大学校区，还投资了国家下达的其他耗资巨大的项目。但是，在远东联邦大学研究国际问题的教授阿尔乔姆·卢金(Artyom Lukin)说，尽管莫斯科与北京之间的关系越来越密切，但“俄罗斯已经意识到，免费的中国资金不会到来。”

Chinese money is not coming.”
Chinese gamblers are arriving, however, if only because gambling is illegal in their own country, except in Macau on the southern coast near Hong Kong, and because the forest northeast of Vladivostok offers the only accessible casino for the more than 100 million Chinese who live in provinces just across the border from Russia.	不过，中国的赌徒正在到来，不仅因为除了南部沿海离香港不远的澳门外，在他们自己的国家赌博是非法的，也因为符拉迪沃斯托克东北部的森林为那些生活在中俄边境以南省份中的 1 亿多中国人提供了唯一一座容易到达的赌场。
Li Yunhui, a 45-year-old businessman and gambler from Mudanjiang, a Chinese city about 150 miles from Vladivostok, said the Russian casino lacked the amenities and service of established gambling centers like Macau, but added: “At least it is close. And the air is clean.”	45 岁的商人李云辉（音）是来自牡丹江的赌徒，牡丹江距符拉迪沃斯托克约 150 英里（约合 240 公里），他说，俄罗斯的赌场缺少像澳门那样的著名赌博中心所拥有的便利设施和服务，但他补充道：“至少这里很近。而且空气很干净。”
He said he had visited Vladivostok regularly since the early 1990s and could not fathom why Russia had lagged so far behind China in building its economy. “It feels like a developing country here. This is how China was decades ago,” he said. He added that he had tried to set up a small business in Vladivostok but had despaired at all the red tape: “What you can do in a day in China takes weeks here.”	他说，自 20 世纪 90 年代初起，他经常来符拉迪沃斯托克，他不能理解为什么俄罗斯在经济建设方面远远落后于中国。“感觉这里就像是一个发展中国家。中国几十年前就是这个样子，”他说。他还说，他曾试图在符拉迪沃斯托克设立一家小型企业，但这里严重的官僚作风令他绝望：“在中国一天能干成的事儿，在这里要干几个星期。”
The gambling venture is itself a showcase of how slowly things gets done. Government officials began pursuing the idea nearly a decade ago. They enlisted a well-connected local businessman, Oleg Drozdov, to build the hotel and casino complex now housing Tigre de Cristal. But Mr. Drozdov was arrested in 2013 on corruption charges after the ouster of the Primorye region’s disgraced former governor, Sergey Darkin.	这家博彩企业本身就是做事缓慢的体现。政府官员差不多十年前就开始想干这件事情。他们找到了一位人脉关系好的当地商人奥列格·德罗兹多夫(Oleg Drozdov)来修建水晶虎宫目前所在的酒店和娱乐建筑群。但在 2013 年，在俄罗斯远东滨海边疆区名誉扫地的前行政长官谢尔盖·达尔金(Sergey Darkin)被迫下台后，德罗兹多夫因腐败指控被逮捕。
Summit Ascent, the Hong Kong company that now owns 60 percent of the casino venture, took over the concrete shell left by Mr. Drozdov’s	如今拥有赌场 60% 股份的香港公司凯升控股接管了德罗兹多夫的建筑工人留下的水泥外壳，与其他投资者一起又投入了 2 亿美元后完成了施工，赌场

builders and, after investing $200 million with other investors, finished the construction and opened the casino at the end of 2015. The company, which reported a modest profit for last year, now plans to invest an additional $500 million to build a second luxury hotel, a golf club, extra gambling rooms and other facilities in the same entertainment zone.	已于 2015 年底投入使用，这家公司去年上报了不太多的利润，公司现在打算再投资 5 亿美元，在同一娱乐区里兴建第二座豪华酒店、高尔夫俱乐部，以及更多的赌场设施。
Four other casinos planned by other companies, due to be open by now, are far behind schedule. Empty plots of land with scant signs of construction dot the forest. A Russian court recently canceled the casino project of a Russian developer because it was too slow in getting off the ground.	其他公司计划建设的另外四个赌场原定近期开业，但目前远远落后于预定计划。森林里的几片空地上没有多少施工的迹象。俄罗斯的一家法院最近取消了一个俄罗斯开发商的赌场项目，因为工程进度太慢。
Eric Landheer, Summit Ascent's director for corporate finance and strategy in Hong Kong, said that his company had "first mover advantage and a monopoly," but that it did not want to be alone in the forest for long because gamblers preferred a more vibrant cluster of casinos.	凯升控股在香港的公司财务和战略总监蓝博文(Eric Landheer)说，他的公司有“先发优势和专营权”，但公司不希望很长时间都是森林里唯一的一家，因为赌徒们喜欢更有活力的赌场群。
Gambling has a long and often troubled history in Russia, where attitudes have been shaped by the Orthodox Church, which opposes casinos as the devil's work, and by the writings of Fyodor Dostoyevsky, a gambling addict who explored the allure and perils of addiction in his novel "The Gambler."	赌博在俄罗斯有着漫长、且经常是坎坷的历史，俄罗斯人对赌博的态度受东正教的影响，东正教反对赌博，认为那是魔鬼使的坏，也受费奥多尔·陀思妥耶夫斯基(Fyodor Dostoyevsky)作品的影响，陀思妥耶夫斯基有赌博瘾，他在小说《赌徒》中探讨了赌瘾的诱惑和危害。
A champion of traditional Christian values, Mr. Putin banned casinos and slot machines in 2009, complaining that too many Russians "lose their last penny and pensions through gambling."	普京提倡基督教传统价值观，他曾在 2009 年对赌场和老虎机下了禁令，他抱怨说，太多的俄罗斯人“把养老金赌光了，落得身无分文”。
Having Chinese and other foreigners lose their money, however, is	不过，让中国人和其他外国人去输钱显然没问题。事实上，他们输掉的钱现

apparently not a problem. Indeed, their losses now cover the salaries of around 1,000 Russians working for the Tigre de Cristal casino and provide a badly needed source of income for the Primorsky region around Vladivostok, a city that, aside from corruption-addled, state-funded infrastructure projects, has struggled to attract outside investment. Closed to foreigners during the Soviet era, the city now has regular flights to and from Harbin, Beijing and other Chinese cities, and can also be reached by road and train.	在支付着在水晶虎宫赌场工作的约 1000 名俄罗斯人的工资，并为符拉迪沃斯托克周围的滨海边疆区提供了迫切需要的收入来源，这个城市除了深受腐败困扰的国家基础设施项目外，一直在努力吸引外资。这里在苏联时代不对外国人开放，如今该市有定期往返于哈尔滨、北京等中国城市的航班，开车或坐火车也能来这里。
To make the fleecing of foreigners and a restricted number of Russians possible, Moscow gave permission for the establishment of four special gambling zones. The westernmost of these, in Kaliningrad, targets gamblers from neighboring Poland, while the others are in the resort town of Sochi and in the Siberian region of Altai.	为了敲外国人和为数不多的俄罗斯人的竹杠，莫斯科批准设立了四个特别的赌博区。最西边的在加里宁格勒，针对的是来自邻国波兰的赌徒，其他的两个分别在度假城市索契和阿尔泰的西伯利亚地区。
Russians are also allowed to gamble at the Tigre de Cristal, so long as they show their passports and register. This has not gone down well with Russian priests and those who see casinos as a poor substitute for healthy economic development.	俄罗斯人也可以在水晶虎宫赌博，只要他们出示护照并进行登记。俄罗斯牧师、以及那些认为赌场不能成为健康经济发展的替代品的人无法接受这一点。
"Anyone who has read Dostoyevsky knows all the problems that gambling brings," complained Andrei Kalachinsky, a veteran journalist in Vladivostok. "The spread of prostitution will definitely create jobs, but what kind?"	"任何读过陀思妥耶夫斯基的人都知道赌博带来的所有问题，"符拉迪沃斯托克的一位资深记者安德烈·卡拉辛斯基(Andrei Kalachinsky)抱怨说。"扩大卖淫一定会创造就业机会，但那是怎样的就业机会呢？"
Transportation infrastructure has been another problem. A new highway connecting the casino area to the Vladivostok airport turns into a mud track in the final stretch. A winding road to the center of Vladivostok, around 35 miles away, is so clogged with traffic that Yuri	交通基础设施是另一个问题。从赌场区通往符拉迪沃斯托克机场的新高速公路，在最后一段变成了一条烂泥路。通往符拉迪沃斯托克市中心的一条长约 35 英里（约合 56 公里）的蜿蜒道路经常堵车，以至于普京派驻俄罗斯远东地区的特使尤里·特鲁涅夫(Yuri Trutnev)提议开通渡轮服务，以缩短前往赌

Trutnev, Mr. Putin's envoy for the Russian Far East, proposed opening a ferry service to speed up the journey to the casino.	场所需的时间。
The authorities have also been sluggish in delivering on a promise of visa-free entry for visitors from China and other selected countries. Despite the delay, Chinese can still obtain visas relatively easily if they sign up for a tour, and their numbers visiting Vladivostok and the surrounding Primorsky last year more than doubled to around 300,000.	当局在履行对中国和其他几个国家的游客实行无签证入境的诺言上行动缓慢。尽管如此，如果参加旅游团的话，中国人仍可以相对轻松地拿到签证，去年前来符拉迪沃斯托克及周围的滨海边疆区的中国人数翻了一番多，达到了 30 万人。
Yuri Kuchin, an opposition member of the Vladivostok City Council, said local bureaucrats usually hindered rather than helped foreign investments, dragging their feet on most issues unless there is a financial benefit for themselves. While a bitter critic of the government, he said he supported the foreign-led casino project as a source of jobs and a good way to squeeze out illegal gambling dens in the area, which he said were often protected by corrupt officials.	符拉迪沃斯托克市议会的反对派议员尤里·库钦(Yuri Kuchin)说，当地官僚通常阻碍、而不是帮助外国投资，在很多事情上拖手拖脚，除非有自己的经济利益。虽然他激烈批评政府，但他支持这个外国人领头的赌场项目，认为它提供了就业，也是把该地区的非法赌博活动挤出去的好办法，他说非法赌博通常受到腐败官员的保护。
The Primorye Development Corporation, the government agency now responsible for the project, declined to say what was being done to combat illegal clubs or explain how the casino project fit into the region's overall development strategy.	目前负责这个项目的政府机构滨海边疆区发展公司(Primorye Development Corporation)拒绝透露打击非法赌博俱乐部的情况，也拒绝说明这个赌场项目在该地区整体发展战略中的地位。
A number of foreign projects in Vladivostok have fizzled, including two five-star Hyatt Hotels that were supposed to have opened for business five years ago but are still under construction. Yet the Tigre de Cristal casino, though delayed by various mishaps like the arrest of a local business partner, is now not only up and running, but is making a profit.	符拉迪沃斯托克的一些外国项目已以失败告终，其中包括两家五星级的凯悦酒店，酒店本该在五年前开业，但目前仍在建设中。尽管水晶虎宫赌场项目也因各种各样的原因推迟，比如一位当地商业伙伴被逮捕，但这家赌场现在不仅已经开始运营，而且还在盈利。
Lawrence Ho, Summit Ascent's chairman and son of the Macau gambling tycoon Stanley Ho, acknowledged in a report to investors that	凯升控股的董事长是澳门赌博巨头何鸿燊(Stanley Ho)的儿子何猷龙(Lawrence Ho)，他在一份写给投资者的报告中承认，“这一年中没少有挑

the “year has not been without its challenges” but said, “Over all, I am very optimistic about the potential of our investment in the jewel of the Russian Far East.”	战”，但表示，“总而言之，我对我们在俄罗斯远东这块宝地投资的潜力非常乐观。”
The most lucrative sources of business at the casino are Chinese high-rollers recruited by so-called junket operators, agents who find gamblers, provide credit, make travel arrangements and manage private V.I.P. rooms at the casino. For these services, the casino pays the junket operators a chunk of what it wins from their clients – more, Mr. Landheer said, than the 40 percent to 50 percent paid to them in Macau.	赌场最有利可图的业务来源是中国的狂赌者，他们是中介通过所谓的公费旅游招募来的，这些中介先要找到赌徒，然后为他们提供信贷、安排旅行，并在赌场为他们提供私人的贵宾间。作为对这些服务的报酬，赌场把其从赌客那里赢来的钱的相当部分支付给中介公司，蓝博文说，比澳门支付给中介的40%到50%还要高。
All the same, Tommy Li, a junket manager from northeastern China, complained that Vladivostok offered few of the attractions of Macau and was far too cold in winter. Its only real appeal for Chinese gamblers, he said, is its proximity.	虽然如此，来自中国东北的中介经理汤米·李(Tommy Li)抱怨说，符拉迪沃斯托克的吸引力比澳门小得多，而且冬天这里太冷了。他说，这里对中国赌徒的唯一真正的吸引力是它很近。
One of his main gripes is that there are not enough prostitutes, who he said were far more readily available, and cheaper, in Macau. Mr. Landheer, the corporate finance director, said his company was not in the business of providing prostitutes and would “like to see all illegal activities eliminated.”	他的一个主要抱怨是，这里没有足够多的妓女，他说，澳门有更多、而且更便宜的妓女。担任公司财务总监的蓝博文表示，自己的公司没有提供妓女的业务，而且“希望看到所有非法活动被取缔”。
But, he added, there “are many other service providers” in Vladivostok ready to satisfy all the gamblers’ needs.	但他也说，符拉迪沃斯托克有“许多其他服务的提供商”，为满足赌徒的所有需求做好了准备。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170703/russia-vladivostok-gambling-casinos	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170703/russia-vladivostok-gambling-casinos
Deportation a ‘Death Sentence’ to Adoptees After a Lifetime in the U.S.	何处是我家：被美国家庭收养却没能成为美国人
SEOUL, South Korea — Phillip Clay was adopted at 8 into a U.S. family in	韩国首尔——菲利普·克莱(Phillip Clay)8岁时被费城的一个美国家庭领养。

Philadelphia.
Twenty-nine years later, in 2012, after numerous arrests and a struggle with drug addiction, he was deported back to his birth country, South Korea. He could not speak the local language, did not know a single person and did not receive appropriate care for mental health problems, which included bipolar disorder and alcohol and substance abuse.	在 29 年后的 2012 年，经历了数次被捕以及同药物上瘾的斗争后，他被遣返回出生国韩国。他不会说当地语言，谁也不认识，躁郁症、酗酒和滥用药物等精神问题也没有得到适当治疗。
On May 21, Clay ended his life, jumping from the 14th floor of an apartment building north of Seoul. He was 42.	5 月 21 日，克莱从首尔北部一个公寓楼的 14 层跳下，结束了自己的生命。享年 42 岁。
To advocates of the rights of international adoptees, the suicide was a wrenching reminder of a problem the United States urgently needed to address: adoptees from abroad who never obtained U.S. citizenship. The Adoptee Rights Campaign, an advocacy group, estimates that 35,000 adult adoptees in the United States may lack citizenship, which was not granted automatically in the adoption process before 2000.	对国际被领养者权利的支持者来说，他的自杀让人沉痛地想起那些从未获得美国公民身份的海外被领养者，这是美国迫切需要解决的一个问题。据倡导团体被领养者权利运动(Adoptee Rights Campaign)估计，美国有 3.5 万成年被领养者没有公民身份——在 2000 年之前，公民身份不是在领养过程中自动授予的。
Clay is believed to be just one of dozens of people, legally adopted as children into U.S. families, who either have been deported to the birth countries they left decades ago or face deportation after being convicted of crimes as adults. Some did not even know they were not U.S. citizens until they were ordered to leave.	像克莱这样的人据信有几十个，他们被美国家庭合法收养，成年后因遭判刑，已被遣返或即将被遣返回数十年前离开的出生国。有些人在被下令离开时，甚至不知道自己不是美国公民。
Adoptees from other countries, like Vietnam, Thailand and Brazil, have faced deportation. But the sheer number of children adopted from South Korea, once a leading source of children put up for adoption abroad, has made it the most visible example of the issue, and of the enormous challenges returnees face as they try to once again navigate	来自越南、泰国和巴西等其他国家的被领养者也面临遣返问题。但是，韩国曾是海外领养儿童的主要来源，有大量儿童被美国家庭领养，所以在这个问题上，韩国被领养者成为最明显的例子，它也反映出被遣返者再次在一个陌生文化中生活所面临的挑战。这一次，他们几乎没有任何协助。

a foreign culture, this time with little or no assistance.
Many have nowhere to go, often living on the streets. In South Korea, one deportee served a prison term for robbing a bank with a toy gun. Another, who like Clay had mental health problems, has been indicted twice on assault charges.	很多人无家可归，经常露宿街头。在韩国，有一名被遣返者因为用玩具枪抢银行而服刑。还有一个和克莱一样，患有精神疾病，因人身攻击两次被起诉。
“Deportation is like the death sentence to them,” said Hellen Ko, a chief counselor at the government-run Korea Adoption Services, who monitored Clay as a caseworker. “They had a hard time adjusting to life in America. It gets even harder for them when they return here.”	“对他们来说，被遣返就像是被判死刑，”政府运营的韩国领养服务中心(Korea Adoption Services)首席顾问海伦·高(Hellen Ko)说。她是负责监管克莱的社工。“他们曾经艰难地适应了在美国的生活。返回这里生活更加艰难。”
“All I had was $20 on me; I didn’t know where I was,” Monte Haines said, recalling the day he landed at Seoul’s gateway airport after being deported in 2009, more than 30 years after a U.S. family adopted him. “There was nobody there to talk to.”	“当时，我身上只有 20 美元，不知道自己身在何处，”蒙特·海恩斯(Monte Haines)回想 2009 年被遣返后抵达首尔海关机场时的情形。三十多年前，他被一个美国家庭收养。“没有可以交谈的人。”
Americans have adopted more than 350,000 children from abroad since the 1940s, according to the Adoptee Rights Campaign, and the United States left it to the parents to secure citizenship for the children.	据被领养者权利运动称，从 1940 年代起，美国从海外收养了逾 35 万名儿童。按照美国当时的规定，父母需要为这些孩子申请公民身份。
But some did not understand that their children did not automatically become citizens when they completed the adoption. Other adoptees have said that their parents were put off by the cost and paperwork of the citizenship process, or that they essentially abandoned them.	但是有些父母并不知道，完成领养手续后，那些孩子并不能自动变成美国公民。还有些被领养者表示，他们的养父母因为申请公民身份所需的费用和文件而放弃了，也有些父母是实质上抛弃了他们。
In 2000, Congress passed the Child Citizenship Act, which granted automatic citizenship to children adopted by U.S. citizens. But the law did not retroactively benefit adoptees who were already legal adults.	2000 年，国会通过了《儿童公民法》(Child Citizenship Act)，将公民身份自动授予美国公民所领养的儿童。但这一法律没有追溯效力，已经在法律上成为成年人的被领养者无法从中受益。
“As a child, I didn’t ask to be sent to the United States. I didn’t ask to learn the English language. I didn’t ask to be a culturalized American,”	“我小时候，并没有要求被送到美国。也没有要求学习英语。也没有要求成为文明的美国人，”亚当·克雷珀塞(Adam Crapser)说。去年，41 岁的他被遣

said Adam Crapser, who was deported to South Korea last year, at age 41, after 38 years in the United States. "And now I was forced back to Korea, and I lost my American family."	返回韩国，之前他在美国生活了 38 年。“现在，我被迫返回韩国，失去了自己在美国的家庭。”
Crapser, who left behind a wife and three daughters in the United States, was abandoned by his first adoptive parents and abused by his second. He accumulated a criminal record over the years, including a conviction on burglary charges.	克雷珀塞在美国有妻子和三个女儿。他曾被第一对养父母抛弃，遭到第二个领养家庭虐待。这些年来，他有很多犯罪记录，包括因入室行窃而被判刑。
But in recent years, he had begun turning his life around and applied for a green card in 2012. That triggered a background check, leading to the deportation proceedings that flipped his life upside down.	但是近些年，他开始扭转自己的人生。2012 年，他申请绿卡。结果引发了背景核查，导致了让他的生活彻底倾覆的遣返程序。
"They waited until I had a family, and they waited until I had children," he said. "They waited until I had something to lose."	"他们一直等到我有了家庭，有了孩子，"他说。"一直等到我有了可以失去的东西。"
Crapser, who had never traveled abroad while living in the United States, said he "could not read a sign" when he landed at Incheon Airport outside Seoul. Korean faces and the language swirling around him came as "a complete shock," he said.	克雷珀塞在美国生活时从未出过国。他说，到达首尔郊外的仁川机场时，他“连标识牌都看不懂”。他说，周围的韩国面孔和语言让他“完全不知所措”。
His deportation put a strain on his relationship with his wife in the United States, and he has not seen his daughters in 15 months. Living out of suitcases in a tiny studio in Seoul, Crapser said that he struggled to keep himself busy to fight depression and that his job opportunities were extremely limited.	被遣返后，他与在美国的妻子的关系变得十分紧张，他已经 15 个月没有见到女儿们了。他住在首尔的一个小开间里，四处奔波。他说，他努力让自己忙起来，以对抗抑郁，他的工作机会非常有限。
"The language is the biggest barrier because of how late I came back here to Korea," he said.	"语言是最大的障碍，因为我这么大年纪才返回这里，"他说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170703/south-korea-adoptions-phillip-clay-adam-crapser	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170703/south-korea-adoptions-phillip-clay-adam-crapser

A Cold War Summit Offers Lessons for Trump Before Putin Meeting	美苏峰会，一段特朗普需要了解的历史
A new president inexperienced in the intricacies of superpower politics meets his Russian rival for the first time. There are disputes over Crimea, nuclear weapons and completely different conceptions of an acceptable status quo as Washington and Moscow vie for global influence. The Americans arrive with an unclear agenda; the Russians have a very clear one.	在错综复杂的超级大国政治之中，没有经验的新总统第一次会见了他的俄罗斯对手。华盛顿和莫斯科在争夺全球影响力的过程中，就克里米亚与核武器等问题存在争议，对于何谓可接受的现状也有着完全不同的观念。美国人在会面时没有明朗的议程；俄罗斯人的议程却很清晰。
While it sounds like the coming encounter between President Trump and the current Russian leader, Vladimir V. Putin — an encounter scheduled for Friday — this actually was a description of President John F. Kennedy’s first face-to-face session with Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev of the Soviet Union in June 1961.	这听起来像是特朗普总统和现任俄罗斯领导人弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)即将于周五到来的一次会面，但其实是在描述 1961 年 6 月，约翰·F·肯尼迪(John F. Kennedy)总统与苏联总理尼基塔·S·赫鲁晓夫(Nikita S. Khrushchev)的第一次面对面会谈。
“You know, Mr. Kennedy, we voted for you,” Khrushchev said, as he recalled in his 1970 memoir. It is a line that, if one believes American intelligence reports, Mr. Putin could repeat, but probably will not.	“你知道，肯尼迪先生，我们的票是投给了你的，”赫鲁晓夫在 1970 年的回忆录中称自己当时这样说道。如果有人相信美国情报机构的报告，那么普京也大可以重复这句话，但他很可能不会那么做。
But it is the other lessons of that meeting in Vienna — which stretched over two days, three meals, a clumsy effort by Khrushchev to charm Jackie Kennedy and a tough one to threaten her husband — that might be useful to the Trump White House. It was one of the most remarkable leader-to-leader encounters of the Cold War, a story of caution about the dangers of walking into such a session without clear strategic goals.	那次会议在维也纳举行，为期两天，共同进餐三次，赫鲁晓夫笨拙地对杰姬·肯尼迪(Jackie Kennedy)施展魅力一次，摆出强硬姿态吓唬她的丈夫一次——但那场会议得出的其他经验教训可能对特朗普的白宫有用。那是冷战时期最引人注目的领导人会面之一，它警示人们，如果没有明确的战略目标就参与这样的会议，将会有多么危险。
Minutes after the meeting was over, Kennedy told James Reston of The New York Times that it had been an incredibly rough session, for which he had been ill-prepared.	会议结束几分钟后，肯尼迪对《纽约时报》的詹姆斯·雷斯頓(James Reston)说，这是一场非常艰苦的会议，他并没有做好准备。
“Worst thing in my life,” Kennedy said, according to later histories of the	“这是我人生中最糟糕的一件事，”据史料记载，肯尼迪当时说。“他把我给活

event. "He savaged me." (Mr. Reston, perhaps protecting the background nature of the conversation even long after Kennedy's death, did not quote the conversation directly in his memoir, "Deadline.")	吞了。”(可能是考虑到这场对话的背景, 雷斯頓直到肯尼迪去世很久之后, 也没有在他的回忆录《截止日期》[Deadline]中直接引用这段对话。)
Mr. Reston expressed surprise that the young president came out of the meeting — then, as now, in a time of deteriorating relations with Moscow — determined to show his toughness, someplace. "And the place to do it, he remarked to my astonishment, was Vietnam!" Mr. Reston recalled.	让雷斯頓感到惊讶的是, 这位年轻的总统离开这次会议之后——当时和现在一样, 美俄关系正处在恶化阶段——便决心在某个地方展现自己的强硬。“我惊讶地听到他对我说, 这个地方就是越南!”雷斯頓回忆。
How much of this history is known to Mr. Trump and his aides is a mystery. Both Lt. Gen. H.R. McMaster, the president's national security adviser, and Steve Bannon, one of Mr. Trump's closest political advisers, are deeply steeped in both ancient and American history — and General McMaster wrote a book about the flawed decision-making in Washington over the war Vietnam.	特朗普和他的助手们对这段历史了解多少, 目前不得而知。总统的国家安全顾问 H.R. 麦克马斯特(H.R. McMaster)中将和特朗普最亲密的政治顾问之一史蒂夫·班农(Steve Bannon)都曾深入研究古代史和美国史——麦克马斯特将军还写过一本书, 讨论越战期间华盛顿的错误决策。
Still, General McMaster sent a bit of a shiver through Washington last week when he said that the meeting with Mr. Putin on Friday had "no specific agenda." He added: "It's whatever the president wants to talk about."	不过, 麦克马斯特上周在华盛顿的讲话让人有点担心, 他说周五同普京的会议“没有具体的议程”。他补充说: “总统想说什么就说什么。”
Historians who have focused on the Kennedy-Khrushchev interaction say the lesson of the encounter is that having no agenda is a bad idea.	研究肯尼迪与赫鲁晓夫之间互动的历史学家说, 那次会面的教训是: 没有议程是一个坏主意。
Michael Beschloss, the presidential historian who has written extensively on the meeting, said that one lesson from the Vienna encounter "is that when two leaders of important world powers have their first meeting as heads of state, the results can be very dangerous	研究美国总统的历史学家迈克尔·贝施洛斯(Michael Beschloss)写过大量关于那次会议的文章, 他说维也纳会议的一个教训是, “当两个重要世界大国的领导人第一次以国家元首身份会面时, 结果可能非常危险, 除非议程已被双方精心筹备, 除非两个领导人都把一些经验丰富的官员带进会议室, 并让

unless the agenda has been carefully planned by both sides, and unless each leader has a number of experienced officials in the room who are a significant part of the discussions.”	他们成为讨论的重要组成部分。”
There are differences, to be sure.	当然，这两次会面之间也是有区别的。
Kennedy entered the meeting as a hawk, after warning of a nonexistent “missile gap” between the United States and the Soviet Union. Mr. Trump enters after more than a year in which he has never had an unkind word to say about Mr. Putin, or his authoritarian rule — and has disputed the accounts of American intelligence officials who say the evidence is beyond doubt that Mr. Putin himself ordered the meddling in the American elections.	肯尼迪在会面之初采取的是一种鹰派姿态，此前他刚警告，美俄两国之间存在一种“导弹差距”——这是无中生有。而特朗普在会面之前这一年多的时间以来，从来没有对普京或他的威权统治说过一句坏话，并且还对美国情报官员的说法提出异议，后者称有确凿证据表明，普京亲自下令对美国选举进行干预。
Kennedy did start with a theme that it is easy to imagine Mr. Trump adopting: That the United States and its adversary had to understand each other’s views. But one of the many heated debates between Kennedy and Khrushchev was over the question of meddling in the affairs of other countries.	肯尼迪先从一个主题切入，很容易想象这个主题同样被特朗普采纳，那就是美国及其对手必须了解彼此的观点。但是肯尼迪和赫鲁晓夫之间就干涉其他国家这个话题展开了激辩。
According to Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., the historian who was given notes of the meeting for his book “A Thousand Days,” the two leaders argued about which one spent more time manipulating elections and other leaders.	历史学家小亚瑟·M·施莱辛格(Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr.)在他的《一千个日子》(A Thousand Days)一书中写过这次谈话，他描述两位领导人就双方究竟谁花了更多时间来操纵其他国家的选举和领导人这个话题争论不休。
“How could we work anything out when the United States regarded revolution anywhere as the result of Communist machinations?” Khrushchev was paraphrased as telling the president. “It was really the United States which caused revolution by backing reactionary governments,” he said in comments that Kennedy took as part warning,	“如果美国把世界各地的革命都视为共产主义阴谋的结果，我们怎么能讨论出任何事情呢？”施莱辛格这样复述赫鲁晓夫对总统说的话，“革命其实是由美国对反动政府的支持引起的。”施莱辛格在评论中说，肯尼迪觉得这话半是警告，半是训斥。 part lecture.

In response, Kennedy noted Khrushchev's pledge to back wars of national liberation — something the Soviet Union, like Russia today, attempted through tools including the kinds of "information operations" conducted more recently in the United States and Europe. That was the beginning of a lengthy, often ideological debate. The gruff Kremlin leader believed the United States was out to humiliate the Soviet Union and to contain Communist power. Each viewed the other as the aggressor.	作为回应，肯尼迪指出，赫鲁晓夫承诺要恢复民族解放战争——就像如今的俄罗斯一样，当时的苏联也试图通过前不久在美国和欧洲进行的“信息行动”等手段发起这类战争。之后，双方就开始了冗长而又往往带有意识形态色彩的辩论。粗鲁的克里姆林宫领导人认为，美国力图羞辱苏联，遏制共产主义势力。双方都将对方视为侵略者。
"I want peace," Mr. Schlesinger quoted Khrushchev as saying, "but if you want war, that is your problem."	“我想要和平，”施莱辛格引用赫鲁晓夫的话说，“但如果你想要战争，那是你的问题。”
Kennedy responded, "It is you, and not I, who wants to force change." The two men then got into a spat about the Western protection of Berlin, and the benefits of capitalism versus Communism.	肯尼迪回答说：“想要用武力带来改变的人是你，而不是我。”之后两人就西方对柏林的保护，以及资本主义与共产主义的优劣口角起来。
Mr. Trump's past comments suggest that he is unlikely to engage in similar discussion. Neither he nor Mr. Putin wants to waste much time on ideological debate. Mr. Trump has expressed doubt that Russia is trying to settle old scores in the region, or restore its past influence.	特朗普先生过去的言论表明，他不太可能做类似的讨论。他和普京都不想浪费太多时间进行意识形态辩论。特朗普曾表示，他怀疑俄罗斯是否真的试图在该地区了结宿怨，或谋求恢复过去的影响力。
And in an interview that Mr. Trump gave to The New York Times last year, the then-presidential candidate said he was not especially inclined to continue sanctions over Russian activity to destabilize Ukraine, or its seizure of Crimea. In fact, the White House has been looking to weaken sanctions against Moscow.	而去年特朗普在以总统候选人身份接受《纽约时报》采访时表示，他并不特别倾向于继续因俄罗斯颠覆乌克兰或占领克里米亚的行动对其进行制裁。事实上，白宫一直在试图削弱对莫斯科的制裁。
One of the big questions is whether Mr. Trump will press for the return of Crimea to Ukraine and an end to Russian activity to destabilize the	最大的问题之一是，特朗普是否会敦促克里米亚回归乌克兰，并敦促俄罗斯结束对乌克兰政府的颠覆活动——这些都是过去几年里美俄对话的固定内

Ukrainian government — regular talking points for the past several years. And Mr. Trump and his secretary of state, Rex W. Tillerson, seem unlikely to press Russia on its military support of the Syrian government.	容。特朗普和他的国务卿雷克斯·W·蒂勒森(Rex W. Tillerson)似乎不太可能会就俄方对叙利亚政府的军事支持方面施压。
What that 1961 summit meeting was really about, of course, was each man taking the other's measure — and this one will be, too. Khrushchev was uncertain whether Kennedy "intended to be more belligerent toward the Soviet Union than Eisenhower had been, or not," Mr. Beschloss said. "Kennedy studied for it but went in with excessive faith in his ability to think on his feet."	当然，1961年的首脑会议上最重要的一点是，两人都在估量对方的实力——这一次也会是这样。赫鲁晓夫不确定肯尼迪“对待苏联是否会比艾森豪威尔更加好斗”，贝施洛斯说，“肯尼迪研究了这一点，但他出席会议时，对自己随机应变的能力过于自信了。”
Mr. Trump clearly shares that self confidence. And no one should expect Mr. Trump to declare that he was savaged, or to admit that the meeting went badly, even if it turns out that way. After all, Mr. Trump always talks about his abilities to make a deal.	特朗普显然有着同样的自信。没有人会指望特朗普宣布自己“被活吞”，或者承认会面非常糟糕，即使结果真的是这样。毕竟，特朗普先生总说自己擅长做交易。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170706/a-cold-war-summit-offers-less-ons-for-trump-before-putin-meeting	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170706/a-cold-war-summit-offers-less-ons-for-trump-before-putin-meeting
Trump, in Poland, Asks if West Has the 'Will to Survive'	特朗普：西方文明面临衰落风险
WARSAW, Poland — President Donald Trump said Thursday that Western civilization was at risk of decline, bringing a message about "radical Islamic terrorism" and "the creep of government bureaucracy" to the one European capital he views as most hospitable to his nationalist message.	波兰华沙——周四，特朗普在这个对他的民族主义信息最为友好的欧洲首都，表示西方文明有衰落的风险，并发出了“激进的伊斯兰恐怖主义”和“政府的官僚主义正在蔓延”的信息。
Trump, who broke with tradition by attacking U.S. leaders and institutions while abroad, delivered his message in a speech to a friendly Polish crowd before a two-day summit meeting of Group of 20	特朗普还打破传统，在国外批评美国领导人和机构；他在去德国汉堡参加为期两天的G20峰会之前，在一个演讲中向友好的波兰民众传达了自己的信息。

leaders in Hamburg, Germany.
Hours later, he flew from Warsaw to Hamburg, where he held a low-key private meeting with the German chancellor, Angela Merkel, who perhaps best symbolizes the deep skepticism shared by Western leaders toward Trump's persona and his policies, ranging from addressing climate change to confronting Russia.	几个小时后，他从华沙飞到汉堡，与德国默克尔进行了低调的私人会晤。默克尔也许最能象征西方领导人对特朗普的个性和政策的深刻怀疑，这些政策包括应对气候变化、对待俄罗斯的方式等等。
In what may be a foretaste of the scene in Hamburg, 12,000 protesters vowing to disrupt the summit meeting converged for a protest Thursday night called "Welcome to Hell." Police said some protesters attacked officers with bottles, poles and iron bars. Up to 100,000 protesters were expected in the coming days.	周四晚上，可能是作为预演，1.2 万名誓言要扰乱峰会的抗议者聚集在一起，高喊“欢迎来到地狱”。警方表示，有些抗议者用瓶子、杆子和铁棒攻击警察。预计未来几天将有十万人参加抗议活动。
Trump roused his Polish hosts by recounting the country's history of resistance to invaders, including Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union. But he said nothing about the right-wing government's crackdown on judges and journalists and its refusal to accept more migrants, policies that have upset European Union leaders. He instead praised Poland as a defender of liberty in the face of existential threats.	通过讲述波兰抵抗纳粹德国、苏联等侵略者的历史，特朗普引燃了波兰东道主的情绪。但他对于波兰右翼政府打压法官和新闻记者，以及拒绝接受更多移民的政策只字不提，这些政策令欧盟领导人很不满。特朗普而是赞扬波兰在面对生存威胁时捍卫了自由。
"The fundamental question of our time is whether the West has the will to survive," he said. "Do we have the confidence in our values to defend them at any cost? Do we have enough respect for our citizens to protect our borders? Do we have the desire and the courage to preserve our civilization in the face of those who would subvert and destroy it?"	"我们这个时代的根本问题是，西方是否有生存的意志。"他说，"我们是否对我们的价值观有信心，不惜一切代价来捍卫它们？我们对公民是否有足够的尊重，来保护我们的边境？面对那些颠覆者和破坏者，我们是否有愿望和勇气来维护我们的文明？"
Pressed at a news conference earlier in the day about Russian interference in the American election, he said that "nobody really	当天早些时候，特朗普在新闻发布会上谈到俄罗斯干涉美国大选一事时表示，"没有人真的清楚"是否有其他国家卷入其中。他指责奥巴马总统去年夏

knows" if other countries were involved. He blamed President Barack Obama for not responding publicly after learning about reports of possible election meddling last summer.	天在了解到选举可能被干预之后没有做出公开回应。
Trump — who is under pressure to confront Putin during their first face-to-face meeting in Hamburg on Friday over his attempts to sway the election — delivered a mixed message on Russia, one tailored for his Polish audience, the other straight out of his Putin playbook.	特朗普本周五将在汉堡和普京举行首次会面，他承受着要和普京当面对质干预选举一事的压力。特朗普在俄罗斯问题上发出了矛盾的信息，一个是专门针对波兰听众的，另一个是他对普京的常用表态。
The president made his sharpest criticism of Moscow since taking office, urging Russia to "cease its destabilizing activities in Ukraine and elsewhere and its support for hostile regimes, including Syria and Iran," and asserting that it must "instead join the community of responsible nations in our fight against common enemies and in defense of civilization itself."	特朗普发布了上任以来对莫斯科最严厉批评，敦促俄“停止在乌克兰和其他地方开展破坏稳定的活动，停止支持叙利亚和伊朗等敌对政权”，并声称“在我们对付共同的敌人和维护文明本身的斗争中”俄罗斯必须“加入负责的国家一边”。
And Trump moved to reassure Poland and other allies fretful about Russia's aggression, making a full-throated endorsement of the collective defense principle that undergirds NATO, something he was unwilling to do during his first trip to Europe in May.	特朗普还对波兰及其他对俄罗斯的侵犯感到不安的盟友进行了安抚，表示要全力支持构成北约基石的集体防务原则，他5月份首次访问欧洲期间还不愿这样表态。
"The United States has demonstrated not merely with words but with its actions that we stand firmly behind Article 5, the mutual defense commitment," Trump said.	特朗普说：“美国已经表现出，我们不仅在口头上，而且在行动上坚决恪守北约第五条款的共同防务承诺。”
But he also said he was not entirely convinced that Russia was solely responsible for interference in the 2016 election, breaking with U.S. intelligence agencies, which have agreed that the efforts emanated from Moscow and were directed by Putin.	但他也表示，不完全相信2016年选举遭到干预的事情全部由俄罗斯负责，这和美国情报机构的说法不一。情报机构认为干预行动来自莫斯科，是由普京下令执行的。
"I think it was Russia, and it could have been other people in other	当有人要求特朗普以“是或者否”来回答关于俄罗斯干预选举的问题时，他说，

countries," Trump said when asked for a yes-or-no answer to the question about Russian meddling. "Nobody really knows for sure."	"我认为这是俄罗斯干的，而它可能也会是其他国家的其他人干的。没有人真的清楚。"
To back up his message about uncertainty, he recalled the intelligence failures that preceded President George W. Bush's decision to invade Iraq in 2003. "Everybody was 100 percent sure that Iraq had weapons of mass destruction," Trump said. "They were wrong and it led to a mess."	为了支持自己这种不确定的说法，特朗普提到了小布什 2003 年做出入侵伊拉克的决定之前的那次情报失误。"当时大家都百分之百肯定伊拉克拥有大规模毁灭性武器。"特朗普说，"他们错了，结果搞得一团糟。"
The U.S. president also had harsh words for North Korea, after its recent test of a new long-range missile, but he refused to say what steps he would take to punish Pyongyang.	朝鲜日前进行了远程导弹试验之后，特朗普也对朝鲜放狠话，但他拒绝详细描述会对平壤采取什么惩罚措施。
"We'll see what happens — I don't like to talk about what we have planned — but I have some pretty severe things that we're thinking about," Trump said at the news conference, standing next to his Polish counterpart, Andrzej Duda. "They are behaving in a very, very serious manner, and something will have to be done about it."	和波兰总统安杰伊·杜达(Andrzej Duda)一起参加新闻发布会时，特朗普表示："我们将会看到事件的展开——我不想讲我们计划好的事情——但是我们正在考虑一些非常严厉的事情。他们的行为非常非常严重，对朝鲜必须要采取一些行动。"
After meeting with Merkel in Hamburg on Thursday evening, Trump dined with Prime Minister Shinzo Abe of Japan and President Moon Jae-in of South Korea, discussing a response to the latest threats from the North.	周四晚上在汉堡与默克尔会面后，特朗普与日本首相安倍晋三和韩国总统文在寅共进晚餐，讨论了如何应对朝鲜的威胁。
Asked by a reporter whether he had given up on President Xi Jinping of China, whom Trump has repeatedly criticized for failing to pressure North Korea to de-escalate, the president said, "Never give up." The two are to meet separately in Hamburg on Friday or Saturday.	特朗普一再批评中国主席习近平没有对朝鲜施压，以逆转事态升级，当记者问他是否放弃了习近平时，特朗普说："永不放弃。"周五或周六，两人也将在汉堡见面。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170707/donald-trump-poland-speech	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170707/donald-trump-poland-speech
For Russia, Trump-Putin Meeting Is a Sure Winner	美俄首脑会谈，普京稳赢不输
MOSCOW — With the long-awaited first meeting between President	莫斯科——盼望已久的弗拉基米尔·普京总统(Vladimir Putin)和唐纳德·特朗

Vladimir Putin and President Donald Trump finally in sight, the Kremlin is hoping at a minimum to inject some clarity into a relationship marred by contradictions, anxiety, scattered recriminations and, on occasion, astonishing bonhomie.	普总统首次会面终于就在眼前了。克里姆林宫希望借此机会至少能对两国关系做出一些澄清，这段关系被蒙上了矛盾、焦虑、广泛的批评，以及偶尔令人惊讶的温情。
"As for the policy of the U.S. administration, we have to understand first what it will involve," Sergey A. Ryabkov, the deputy foreign minister, told a conference of foreign policy experts from both countries in Moscow last week. "This is what we are actually trying to do, in an utmost active manner, right now."	"至于美国政府的政策，我们首先必须了解它会涉及哪些方面，"俄罗斯副外交部长谢尔盖·A·亚布科夫(Sergei A. Ryabkov)上周在莫斯科的一个有两国外交政策专家参与的会议上说。"这实际上是我们现在正在非常努力去做的事情。"
Whatever the outcome of the encounter Friday – which although on the sidelines of the Group of 20 summit meeting of world leaders in Hamburg, Germany, is expected to overshadow it – the Kremlin is betting that Putin can stage manage the event so that he comes out looking like the stronger party.	不管周五的会晤结果如何——虽然是在德国汉堡举行的二十国集团领导人峰会的场外进行，但预计它会盖过峰会的风头——克里姆林宫认为，普京能够掌控会晤，让自己看似更强的一方。
If nothing much emerges from the meeting, analysts said, the Kremlin can repeat the standard Russian line that Trump is weak, hamstrung by domestic politics.	分析人士表示，如果会晤没有产生很多成果，克里姆林宫可能会重复标准的俄罗斯论调，称特朗普软弱，被国内政治力量束缚。
But if Trump agrees to work with Putin despite the litany of Russian transgressions beginning with the annexation of Crimea and ending with its interference in the 2016 presidential election, he will also look weak while Putin can claim that he reconstructed the relationship.	但是，如果特朗普同意与普京合作，不理睬俄罗斯的一连串侵犯——从吞并克里米亚到干预2016年美国大选——他也会看起来很软弱，而普京则可以声称自己重建了俄美关系。
"It is a win-win situation for Putin," said Andrei V. Kolesnikov, a political analyst at the Carnegie Moscow Center.	"对普京来说，这是一个双赢的状况，"卡内基莫斯科中心(Carnegie Moscow Center)的政治分析师安德烈·V·科列斯尼科夫(Andrei V. Kolesnikov)说。
Putin nevertheless does face some hurdles. First and foremost, it is unclear what he has to offer in exchange for U.S. cooperation – other	不过，普京的确也面临着一些障碍。首先，目前尚不清楚他会为了换取美国合作做出哪些让步——除了在叙利亚的合作，以及对在他们看来饱受美国

than collaboration in Syria and great sympathy for Trump's plight at the hands of what Russia refers to as the American "deep state," including the news media.	“深暗势力”(deep state)折磨的特朗普表示同情。在他们看来，那股势力包括新闻媒体。
There is some speculation that Trump might be glibly walking into a trap where he will be played by the Russian leader. On the American side, Trump's national security adviser, Lt. Gen. H.R. McMaster, said last week that there was "no specific agenda — it's really going to be whatever the president wants to talk about."	也有人猜测，特朗普可能很容易掉入一个陷阱，被俄罗斯总统戏耍。在美国方面，特朗普的国家安全顾问 H·R·麦克马斯特(H.R. McMaster)将军上周表示，“没有具体的议程——确实就是总统想说什么就说什么。”
By contrast, Putin will surely show up with finely honed talking points designed to forge closer cooperation and to reaffirm Russia's old Soviet role as the equal of the United States in umpiring global affairs.	相比之下，普京肯定会带着精心打磨的谈话要点，努力达成更密切的合作，重申俄罗斯在仲裁国际事务中与美国旗鼓相当的位置，就像苏联那样。
"Putin will try to exploit that advantage," said Vladimir Frolov, a prominent columnist who writes frequently on foreign policy. Putin has made it his mission to curb what he considers the dangerous impulse of all U.S. presidents, including Trump, to interfere globally without consulting other powers.	“普京会努力利用那个优势，”经常就外交政策撰写文章的著名专栏作家弗拉基米尔·弗罗洛(Vladimir Frolov)说。普京认为，他的职责是抑制来自美国总统的一切在他看来存在危险的念头，并在不与其他大国磋商的情况下干预全球事务，这是针对所有美国总统的，包括特朗普。
Some in the United States, and in the West in general, view Putin with new distrust given the sense that Russia has abandoned cooperation in favor of actively working to undermine Western alliances and open, democratic systems.	美国以及整个西方社会的某些人对普京产生了新的不信任，因为感觉俄罗斯放弃了合作，转而努力破坏西方同盟以及开放、民主的政治体系。
Yet, Trump has shown little stomach for condemning Russia, and both presidents will most likely want to avoid as much as possible the topic of Russian meddling in the 2016 election.	不过，特朗普对谴责俄罗斯没有任何兴趣，两位总统很可能会尽量避免谈论俄罗斯干预 2016 年美国大选的话题。
The Kremlin has watched, chagrined, as the Trump administration rolled back various positions stated during the campaign — his	克里姆林宫失望地看到，特朗普政府收回了竞选期间表达的很多立场，比如他对北约存在必要性的质疑，或者他对俄罗斯的克里米亚政策的认可。

questioning of the viability of NATO, for example, or his expressions of sympathy for the Russian position on Crimea.
"The Kremlin is astonished that the president cannot behave like a real president, like ours, so what can they do in this situation?" Kolesnikov asked.	"克里姆林宫惊讶地发现，美国总统无法像一位真正的总统那样行事，比如我们的总统那样，所以在这种情况下，他们能做什么呢？"科列斯尼科夫问道。
Commentary in the official Russian media suggested that Moscow was baffled by the lack of a confirmed agenda, while various senior officials and the Kremlin press service have listed possible talking points that cover virtually every major international issue.	俄罗斯官方媒体的评论文章表明，莫斯科为美国缺乏确定的日程感到迷惑，而多位俄罗斯高级官员以及克里姆林宫的新闻机构已经列出了可能的谈话要点，它们几乎覆盖所有的主要国际问题。
Syria, where there has been a measure of uneasy military coordination, is of "particular importance," according to the Kremlin list.	根据克里姆林宫的清单，叙利亚"尤为重要"，那里已经在展开一些忐忑的军事合作。
Asked last month about possible outcomes from meeting Trump, Putin said, "On the Syrian problem and the Middle East in general, it is clear to all that no progress will be made without joint constructive work."	上个月，当被问及与特朗普会晤可能产生的成果时，普京表示，"大家都明白，在叙利亚问题和整个中东问题上，如果没有协同的建设性努力，就无法取得任何进展。"
Cooperation from Washington on Russia's plan to create "deconfliction zones" inside Syria would go a long way toward reviving Russia's role as a key power in the Middle East. While both leaders have expressed an interest in working together on counterterrorism, the United States still wants to see President Bashar Assad step down.	俄罗斯在叙利亚境内设立"去冲突区"的计划得到了华盛顿的合作，该计划将特别有助于复兴俄罗斯作为中东主要力量的角色。虽然两位领导人表达了在共同打击恐怖主义方面的兴趣，但美国依然想要看到巴沙尔·阿萨德总统 (Bashar Assad)下台。
Another main item on the Russian agenda will be what it lumps together as "strategic stability," including nuclear weapons. Russia wants the United States to remove the new missile defense shield based in Romania and Poland. In return, analysts said, Putin might respond to accusations about a new Russian missile that the United States says violates the historic 1987 treaty on limiting	俄罗斯日程上的另一个主要项目将是被统称为"战略稳定"的话题，包括核武器。俄罗斯想让美国移除在罗马尼亚和波兰部署的新导弹防御系统。分析人士表示，作为回报，普京可能会回应关于一种俄罗斯新型导弹的谴责，美国称那种导弹违背了1987年关于限制中程核武器的历史性条约。 intermediate-range nuclear weapons.

Economic sanctions applied after the Ukraine crisis could come up, since Russia is struggling to revive its economy in the face of low oil prices and an uneven investment climate. In terms of Ukraine, Dmitry S. Peskov, Putin's spokesman, said Wednesday that the meeting was too short to discuss Ukraine with the needed detail.	乌克兰危机后实施的经济制裁也可能被提及，因为面对低油价和不均衡的投资气候，俄罗斯正在努力振兴自己的经济。普京的发言人迪米特里·S·佩斯科夫(Dmitry S. Peskov)周三表示，这次会晤的时间太短，不够谈论乌克兰问题中的必要细节。
On Tuesday, Russia and China announced a joint effort to address the North Korea crisis, with the first step an agreement by the United States and South Korea to freeze military maneuvers in exchange for Pyongyang freezing its nuclear missile program. Putin is deemed likely to seek Trump's endorsement of the deal.	周二，俄罗斯和中国宣布了一项解决朝鲜危机的共同努力，第一步是达成一个协议，美国和韩国停止军事演习，作为交换，平壤停止核导弹计划。外界认为普京很可能会寻求特朗普对此协议的支持。
But that poses problems for the U.S. military, potentially limiting its freedom of movement in the Pacific and possibly eroding the U.S.-South Korean deterrent.	但那会给美军带来问题，可能会限制它在太平洋活动的自由，损害美韩的威慑力。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170707/donald-trump-vladimir-putin-g20	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170707/donald-trump-vladimir-putin-g20
Feeling That Trump Will 'Say Anything,' Europe Is Less Restrained, Too	特朗普 G20 受孤立，欧洲对美国不再客气
HAMBURG, Germany — The Europeans have stopped trying to paper over their differences with President Donald Trump and the United States.	德国汉堡——欧洲人已经不再试图掩饰他们和特朗普以及美国之间的分歧了。
Traditionally respectful of U.S. leadership and mindful of the country's crucial role in European defense and global trade, European leaders normally repress or soften their criticism of U.S. presidents. Europeans were generally not happy with President Barack Obama's reluctance to involve the country in Libya and Syria, for example, or his tardiness to	欧洲领导人历来尊重美国的领导权，顾及它在欧洲防务和全球贸易中的关键作用，通常会咽下或软化对美国总统的批评。比如，之前奥巴马总统不愿意让美国卷入利比亚和叙利亚问题，而且迟迟未能加入到在乌克兰对俄罗斯显而易见的国际对抗中，欧洲人虽然普遍对此感到不爽，但他们很少出言批评。

engage in what clearly became an international confrontation with Russia in Ukraine, but their criticism was quiet.
But at the Group of 20 summit meeting of the world's industrialized nations, public splits with Trump were the order of the day. Those rifts have been reflected in European domestic politics, too, from Britain and France to Germany, where Chancellor Angela Merkel has said that Europe must "take our fate into our own hands" and stop "glossing over" clear differences.	但在此次全球工业化国家 G20 峰会上，欧洲人纷纷表现出与特朗普之间的分歧。从英国、法国到德国，这些裂痕也反映在了欧洲的内部政局中，德国总理默克尔表示，欧洲必须“把命运掌握在自己的手中”，不要再“掩饰”明显的分歧。
The new French president, Emmanuel Macron, whose election has given renewed confidence to the Europeans, said bluntly: "Our world has never been so divided. Centrifugal forces have never been so powerful. Our common goods have never been so threatened."	法国新总统马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)的当选给欧洲人重新带来了信心，他坦率地说道：“我们的世界从未如此严重分化。离心力从未如此强烈。我们的公共利益从未遭受过这么大的威胁。”
Macron, who waved his iPhone around during the meeting as a symbol of global trade, sharply criticized those like Trump who do not support multilateral institutions but push nationalism instead.	马克龙在会议期间挥舞 iPhone，将其作为全球贸易的象征，他尖锐地批评了那些不支持多边机构而是推动民族主义的人，比如特朗普。
"We need better coordination, more coordination," Macron said. "We need those organizations that were created out of the Second World War. Otherwise, we will be moving back toward narrow-minded nationalism."	"我们需要更好的合作，需要更多的合作，"马克龙说。"我们需要那些在第二次世界大战之后创立的组织。否则，我们将回到狭隘的民族主义道路上。"
Trump and the British vote to leave the European Union "have proved to be great unifiers for the European Union," said Mark Leonard, director of the European Council on Foreign Relations. "There is a renewed sense of confidence in Europe after the French election," the apparent retreat of populism, an increase in economic growth and the prospect of Merkel's re-election in September, he said.	欧洲对外关系委员会(European Council on Foreign Relations)主任马克·伦纳德(Mark Leonard)表示，事实证明，特朗普当选和英国脱欧公投“对欧盟的统一发挥了极大作用”。他说：“在法国大选之后，公众对欧洲的信心愈发增强”，民粹主义出现明显败退，经济增长在上扬，默克尔也有望在 9 月获得连任。

“There is an increased willingness to be assertive toward Trump, who makes Merkel look like a figure of international importance,” Leonard said. “If the election is about who can save the international world order from Trump,” he added, then Merkel’s opposition seems unimportant and she finds an eager partner in Macron. “They egg each other on and feel more self-confident together and help keep Europe together, too.”	“对特朗普采取强硬态度的意愿越来越强，他让默克尔看起来像是一个有国际重要性的人物，”莱昂纳德说。“如果是选谁能拯救国际世界秩序、使之免于被特朗普破坏，”他接着讲到，那默克尔似乎没什么敌手，而且她找到了一个态度积极的合作伙伴马克龙。“他们相互鼓励，在一起感觉更加自信，也一起帮助维持欧洲的团结。”
Jan Techau, director of the Richard Holbrooke Forum at the American Academy in Berlin, said: “There is now a more openly confrontational language with the United States. The European public is already outspoken about Trump, but now there is a more outspoken European leadership that won’t paper over these divisions anymore.”	柏林美国研究院(American Academy)理查德·霍布鲁克论坛(Richard Holbrooke Forum)的主任扬·特肖(Jan Techau)表示，“现在，与美国对抗的公开言辞更多了。欧洲公众之前对特朗普讲话就已经不客气，现在出现了更加直言不讳的欧洲领导层，他们也不再掩饰这些分歧。”
If Europeans had previously felt constrained because of their security dependency, Techau said, there is now a feeling that “Trump has no constraints and will say anything, and now the Europeans feel they can do the same.” And, he said, “that means less respect for each other, and less mutual confidence.”	特肖表示，如果说之前因为在安全问题上依赖美国，欧洲人还会有所顾忌的话，现在的感觉则是，“特朗普不加约束，口无遮拦，欧洲人觉得自己也可以想说什么就说什么了。”他还表示，“这意味着对彼此的尊重减少，相互的信任程度也降低了。”
François Heisbourg, a French security analyst, agrees. “The reticence has gone away,” he said. “On an issue-by-issue basis, there is apparently no penalty for playing hardball with Trump without necessarily affecting security, on climate for example.”	法国安全分析师弗朗索瓦·埃斯堡(François Heisbourg)也同意这种观点。“沉默消失了，”他说。“单就一个个议题来说，对特朗普采取强硬姿态——比如在气候问题上与之对抗——似乎不会有什么不利的结果，也不一定不会对安全问题产生影响。”
The strains were most visible here on climate policy and trade. Trump’s withdrawal from the Paris accord was widely condemned, with Merkel saying she deplored the move, and all the leaders aside from Trump signing up to language that called the agreement “irreversible.”	在气候政策和贸易方面，这种紧张关系最为明显。特朗普退出巴黎协议的举动招来广泛的谴责，默克尔就对此表示了强烈的不满。除特朗普外，20国集团的所有领导人达成一致，称这份协议“不可逆转”。
“Whatever leadership is,” said one senior French diplomat, who was not	“不管领导力意味着什么，”一名法国高级外交官说。“都不会是以多数票被击

authorized to speak by name and insisted on anonymity, "it is not being outvoted, 19-1."	败，19比1。“因为没有被授权谈论此事，这名外交官要求匿名。
The climate debate in the meeting displayed how hard it is to isolate the richest, most powerful country in the world.	会上有关气候问题的争论显示了要孤立这个世界上最富有、最强大的国家有多么困难。
The Americans did try to persuade some countries, like Turkey and Poland, which Trump visited just before going to Hamburg, to move toward the U.S. position on climate, but they were rebuffed. Turkey's president, Recep Tayyip Erdogan, said later that his country might still be in play, depending on money. The U.S. withdrawal, he said, jeopardized compensation for developing countries to cope with compliance.	美国曾竭力劝说土耳其、波兰——特朗普在前往汉堡前刚刚访问了这两个国家——等国家在气候问题上转向美国的立场，但遭到了拒绝。土耳其总统雷杰普·塔伊普·埃尔多安(Recep Tayyip Erdogan)后来表示，他的国家或许还会参与其中，这取决于钱的多少。他表示，美国的退出会危及对发展中国家配合规则做出的补偿。
Prime Minister Theresa May of Britain, her authority weakened at home after a botched election gamble, also tried to balance Trump's deep unpopularity in Britain with her need for U.S. support for the country's exit from the European Union and for future trade deals. She was criticized for not making the climate issue one of her four priorities, and found comfort in Trump's promise of a "very powerful" trade deal for a post-Brexit Britain that could be completed "very, very quickly."	英国首相特丽莎·梅(Theresa May)也竭力平衡特朗普在英国非常不受欢迎的情况，因为她需要美国对英国脱欧的支持，也需要为未来的贸易协议考虑。在一场政治赌博式大选失利之后，她在英国的权威已经不比从前。她被指责没有将气候问题当作自己的四个首要议题之一，但她在特朗普的一项承诺中找到了安慰，后者称一项支持脱欧后的英国的“十分有力”的贸易协议将会“以非常非常快的速度”完成。
May even expressed the hope that Trump might change his mind on Paris, though Merkel did not agree. And in the end, all wavering members sided with the 19, not the one.	梅甚至表达了特朗普或许会改变在巴黎协议上的想法的希望，但默克尔认为他不会。最终，所有犹豫不决的成员国都站在了19的一边，而不是1的一边。
The White House saw progress nonetheless. "The vast majority of the G-20 supports the president's vision for universal access to affordable and reliable energy, including finding ways to burn fossil fuels more cleanly and efficiently," said George David Banks, a special assistant to	然而，白宫却从中看到了进步。“20国集团的大多数成员都支持总统有关全民享受廉价、可靠的能源的想法，包括找到以更清洁、更有效的方式燃烧化石燃料的办法，”总统在国际能源与环境问题上的特别助理、在20国集团峰会期间担任美国气候问题首席谈判代表的乔治·戴维·班克斯(George David

the president on international energy and environment and lead negotiator for climate change during the G-20 conference.	Banks)说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170710/donald-trump-europe	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170710/donald-trump-europe
Australian Journalist's Trump Teardown Goes Viral Amid Interest in G-20	澳大利亚记者严厉批评特朗普视频走红网络
In an Australian news broadcast that seems to have resonated with Americans, a political journalist delivered a scathing evaluation of President Trump's performance last week at the Group of 20 summit meeting in Hamburg, Germany.	一则澳大利亚新闻的播放似乎引起了美国人的共鸣, 节目中一位政治记者对特朗普总统在上周德国汉堡的 20 国集团峰会 (Group of 20 , 简称 G20) 中的表现做出了尖刻的评价。
The journalist, Chris Uhlmann, said in a segment originally broadcast on the program "Insiders," that Mr. Trump was an "uneasy, lonely, awkward figure" at the meeting and that the president "has no desire and no capacity to lead the world."	这位名叫克里斯·乌尔曼(Chris Uhlmann)的记者在最初于“内情”(Insiders) 节目中播出的一个片段里表示, 特朗普在会议上是一个“不安、孤独、尴尬的人物”, 他“没有领导世界的愿望和能力”。
The video immediately took hold on social media, and by Sunday morning had been viewed more than a million times on Twitter and Facebook — further emphasizing how viral videos, once reserved for cute kitties and humorous mishaps, have become increasingly political, and that interest in these gatherings of world leaders is no longer just for policy wonks.	这段视频迅速攻占了社交媒体, 周日早上, 在 Twitter 和 Facebook 上被观看了超过一百万次——这进一步表明, 一度被视为只针对可爱小猫和幽默事故的网红视频, 如今变得越来越有政治色彩; 也表明对世界领导人的这些聚会感兴趣的不再只有政策专家。
On the Facebook page for Occupy Democrats, a leftist advocacy group, the video has received nearly one million views.	在左派倡导组织“占领民主党”(Occupy Democrats)的 Facebook 页面上, 该视频已被观看近百万次。
Another viral moment from the gathering, this one a GIF, appears to show Chancellor Angela Merkel of Germany, who hosted this year's event, rolling her eyes at President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia. One tweet alone — accompanied by the words "Mansplaining, G20 style" —	这次会议上还有一个时刻也在网上广为传播, 是一个 GIF 动画, 上面似乎是主持今年会议的德国总理安格拉·默克尔(Angela Merkel)冲着俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·V·普京(Vladimir V. Putin)翻白眼。仅仅这样一条图片推文——配有文字“G20 式男人说教”——就得到了大约 8.2 万次转发和 16.6 万次点赞。 has about 82,000 retweets and 166,000 likes.

While Google data on this year's G-20 conference is still being calculated, search interest in the United States appears to have surged compared with past years; interest in the G-20 had been weak since 2008.	虽然关于今年 G20 会议的谷歌(Google)搜索数据仍在计算中,但比起往年,美国的搜索兴趣似乎有所增长;此前,自 2008 年以来,对 G20 的兴趣一直不强。
And Mr. Trump spurred more interest in the conference as it approached, dominating the G-20 in Google queries in the run-up to the gathering.	在会议前夕,特朗普引起了更多关注,在会议预备到召开阶段,他的名字在谷歌关于 G20 会议的查询中占主导地位。
As the event unfolded, Mr. Trump's name continued to lead global searches in Google, even as queries for other world leaders rose and fell.	随着会议进行,特朗普的名字继续在谷歌的全球搜索中居于领先地位,虽然对其他世界领导人的搜索有上升也有下降。
In part, the uptick is quite likely because Americans are now exposed to foreign perspectives as social streams cross during global summits.	这种增长的部分原因在于,在全球首脑峰会期间,随着社交媒体内容的交叉传播,美国人现在要面对外国人的看法。
In the "Insiders" video, Mr. Uhlmann, the politics editor at the Australian Broadcasting Corporation, the country's main public broadcaster, assessed Mr. Trump in bold and brash terms. His commentary would be out of line for American journalists, who are supposed to strive for objectivity and to keep opinions to the editorial pages.	在“内情”视频中,澳大利亚主要公共广播机构,澳大利亚广播公司(Australian Broadcasting Corporation)的政治编辑乌尔曼以大胆直接的态度对特朗普做出了评价。对于美国记者来说,这类评论是越过了界限,因为记者应该力争客观,意见看法要留给评论与观点栏目。
"What did we learn?" Mr. Uhlmann asked about Mr. Trump's stint at the conference. "We learned that Donald Trump has pressed fast forward on the decline of the United States as a global leader."	"我们学到了什么?"乌尔曼就特朗普在会议上的讲话发问。"我们了解到,唐纳德·特朗普按下了全球领导者美国的衰落快进键。"
In November, another harsh critique of Mr. Trump, also delivered via video, went viral. The Irish Labour senator Aodhan O'Riordain condemned the results of the United States election, calling the then president-elect a "fascist." It has been viewed 3.3 million times on the	11 月份,另一个严厉批评特朗普的视频也在网上大肆传播。爱尔兰工党参议员奥登·奥里亚丁(Aodhan O'Riordain)谴责美国大选的结果,称当时的候任总统是“法西斯主义者”。这个视频已在该参议员的 Facebook 页面上被观看了 330 万次。 senator's Facebook page alone.

Domestic leaders like Representative Maxine Waters, Democrat of California, have gained traction by using pointed language toward Mr. Trump as well. She called him "a weak & impotent leader" in a July 6 tweet that was liked more than 54,000 times.	国内领导人,如加利福尼亚民主党众议员马克西姆·沃特斯(Maxine Waters),也通过发表对特朗普的尖刻言辞获得了关注。她在7月6日的推文中称他为“软弱无能的领袖”,获得了5.4万多个赞。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170710/trump-g20-viral-australian-journalist	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170710/trump-g20-viral-australian-journalist
India, U.S. and Japan Begin War Games, and China Hears a Message	印美日海上联合军演,向中国发出信号
NEW DELHI — The navies of India, Japan and the United States began a set of war games on Monday with a particular target: submarines capable of sliding unannounced into the deep waters of the Indian Ocean, silently taking positions near the Indian coastline.	新德里——周一,印度、日本和美国海军开启了一系列演练,此次演习针对的是一个具体的目标:能潜入印度洋深海,悄悄在印度海岸线就位的潜水艇。
It is not a mystery whose submarines are at issue. Last month, the Indian Navy announced a plan to permanently station warships to monitor movement through the Strait of Malacca, where many Chinese vessels enter from the South China Sea. And in recent weeks, navy officials here have reported a "surge" of Chinese military vessels entering the Indian Ocean.	针对的是哪国潜艇,已经谈不上秘密。上月,印度海军宣布了一项军舰永驻计划,以监测通过马六甲海峡的活动——有许多中国船只从南海进入那里。最近几周,印度海军军官报告,进入印度洋的中国军舰数量“大增”。
Routine maritime exercises have long served as a gauge of India's uneasy relationship with China, prompting a shrug or a blast of condemnation, depending on the circumstances.	长久以来,常规海上演习一直是评估不稳定的印中关系的一个依据,根据形势的不同,有时不被在意,有时激起谴责。
The annual series of naval exercises, known as the Malabar series, began in 1992. This year's event was the largest to date, and the first to feature carriers from all three navies. The games are unfolding under tense circumstances, nearly a month into an aggressive standoff	这项一年一度的军事演习始于1992年,被称为“马拉巴尔”系列。今年的军演是迄今为止规模最大的一次,也首次出现了三支海军都派出航母级军舰的情况。军演的时机恰逢印中关系趋于紧张,两国在喜马拉雅山的边防部队陷入对峙已经近一个月。 between Chinese and Indian border forces in the Himalayas.

On Sunday, the Chinese Embassy in New Delhi took the unusual step of warning its citizens to be especially cautious traveling in India for the next month.	周日，中国驻新德里大使馆采取了不同寻常的措施，警告其公民下个月前往印度旅行时要特别小心。
Against that backdrop, the influx of Chinese warships into the Indian Ocean is another indicator of Beijing's displeasure, said retired Adm. Anup Singh, who has overseen the exercises in the past.	曾在过去监督这项军演的退役海军上将阿努普·辛格(Anup Singh)表示，在这种背景下，中国军舰进入印度洋被看作显示北京不满的另一个信号。
"They are deliberately upping the ante in order to flag their posture to people who are concerned," Admiral Singh said. "The Indians, the Japanese and the Americans. So they deliberately do it as a pinprick."	"他们在故意加大赌注，好向关心这一问题的人表明自己的态度，"辛格说。"也就是印度人、日本人和美国人。所以他们故意这么做，以刺痛对方。"
Though India's Navy is dwarfed by China's, India holds a strategic advantage in the Andaman and Nicobar archipelago, which stretches 470 miles to the northwest of the Strait of Malacca, a "choke point" connecting the South China Sea to the Indian Ocean.	尽管印度的海军实力不敌中国，但印度在安达曼-尼科巴群岛拥有战略优势，这些岛屿绵延 470 英里，直抵连接南海与印度洋的"交通枢纽"马六甲海峡的西北部。
This position, which could be used to put pressure on Chinese supply lines, is an increasing focus of cooperation between India, the United States and Japan. Monday's China Daily, an English-language government newspaper, referred apprehensively to the maritime exercises in an editorial, noting that the Indian Ocean is one of China's main conduits for trade and oil imports.	这样的位置可以被用来给中国的补给线施压，因之越来越成为印度、美国和日本合作的重心。周一，中国的官方英文报纸《中国日报》(China Daily)在一篇社论中以担心的语气提到这次海军演习，指出印度洋是中国进行贸易和石油进口的主要通道之一。
"It is China that should feel 'security concerns,'" it concluded.	"应该存在'安全顾虑'的是中国，"文章总结道。
China's submarine fleet has expanded rapidly in recent years. The country has assumed control of Pakistan's Gwadar Port, finalizing plans to sell eight submarines to Pakistan, and opening its first overseas military logistics supply facility in Djibouti.	最近几年，中国的潜艇舰队迅速扩大。这个国家已经控制了巴基斯坦的瓜达尔港口，确定了向巴基斯坦出售八艘潜艇的计划，并在吉布提设立了自己的首个海外军事后勤基地。

For Indian leaders, who for centuries have focused on contested northern borders, this has required a sudden shift in attention to 4,700 miles of southern coastline, along which much of the country's security and energy infrastructure is concentrated.	对几百年来一直将焦点放在有争议的北方边界的印度领导层而言，这需要他们将注意力突然转向 4700 英里长的南部海岸线，印度的大多数安全与能源基础设施都集中在那里。
"This is a tectonic shift in India's security calculus, that it has to protect its southern flank," said Brahma Chellaney, a professor of strategic studies at the Center for Policy Research. One response, he said, would be "a concert of democracies to rein in these muscular activities."	"在印度的安全考量中，必须保障自己的南翼安全是一种结构性的转变，"政策研究中心(Center for Policy Research)战略研究教授布拉马·切拉尼(Brahma Chellaney)说。他还表示，一种可能的反应是"民主国家展开合作，以遏制这些强势的行动。"
Both Japan and the United States have expressed eagerness to team up with India on its maritime frontier. Last month, the United States agreed to sell India 22 advanced surveillance drones, which could be deployed to the Strait of Malacca and used to track Chinese naval movements. The drones can be used in concert with the American-made P-8I Poseidon surveillance aircraft, which are already staged on the Andaman and Nicobar Islands.	日本和美国都表达了在印度海上前线与之展开合作的愿望。上月，美国同意向印度出售 22 架先进的无人侦察机，可以被部署在马六甲海峡，追踪中国海军的行动。这些无人机可以与美国制造的 P-8I 海神侦察机配合使用，后者已经被部署在安达曼-尼科巴群岛。
The Indian government has signaled that it is willing, after many years of resistance, to expand security infrastructure on the archipelago. In May, a wildlife board approved the creation of missile testing and surveillance facilities on Rutland Island, a project first proposed in 2013.	在抗拒多年之后，印度政府终于释放出信号，表示愿意扩大这座群岛的安全基础设施。今年 5 月，一个野生动物委员会批准了 2013 年首次提出的一项计划，将在拉特兰岛建造导弹测试与监控设施。
Last year, Japan became the first foreign government allowed to build infrastructure on the archipelago — a 15-megawatt power plant. But it is eager to break ground on a range of other connectivity projects, said Darshana M. Baruah, a research analyst at Carnegie India. When Mr. Modi visited Japan last year, the two leaders agreed on a plan to develop "smart islands," as part of a set of projects in sensitive frontier	去年，日本成为首个获准在这座群岛建造基础设施的外国政府——他们将建起一座 15 兆瓦的发电厂。但卡内基印度中心(Carnegie India)研究分析师达尔莎娜·M·巴鲁阿(Darshana M. Baruah)表示，日本还渴望在其他关联项目上取得突破。去年莫迪访问日本时，两国领导人达成一致，计划发展"智能岛屿"，作为在敏感的边境地区开展的一系列项目之一。 areas.

This week's naval exercises will involve the United States' Nimitz, a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier; India's I.N.S. Vikramaditya, a Russian-made aircraft carrier; and Japan's JS Izumo, a helicopter carrier, as well as 13 other warships and submarines. Japan is participating for the second year in a row. A decade ago, China was infuriated when the three countries teamed up with Australia for naval exercises, applying immediate diplomatic pressure that prompted Australia to withdraw.	参加本周海军演习的将会有美国的核动力航空母舰尼米兹号(Nimitz)、原为俄罗斯制造的印度“超日王号”(I.N.S. Vikramaditya)航空母舰、日本的直升机母舰“出云号”(JS Izumo), 以及另外 13 艘军舰和潜艇。日本是连续第二年参加这项军事演习。十年前, 这三个国家与澳大利联合进行海军演习, 激怒了北京, 后者立即向澳大利亚施加外交压力, 最终迫使其退出。
This year, Australian military officials asked for their country to take part as an “observer,” but India rejected the idea.	今年, 澳大利亚军方请求以“观察员”的身份参加这次军演, 但印度拒绝了这一提议。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170711/india-us-japan-war-games-china	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170711/india-us-japan-war-games-china
North Koreans in Russia Work 'Basically in the Situation of Slaves'	俄罗斯的朝鲜“奴隶”劳工
VLADIVOSTOK, Russia — Across Western Europe and the United States, immigrants from poorer countries, whether plumbers from Poland or farmhands from Mexico, have become a lightning rod for economic anxieties over cheap labor.	俄罗斯符拉迪沃斯托克——在西欧和美国各地, 从相对贫穷的国家而来的移民, 不论是来自波兰的管道工, 还是来自墨西哥的雇农, 都已经成为由廉价劳动力引发的经济焦虑的引雷针。
The Russian city of Vladivostok on the Pacific Ocean, however, has eagerly embraced a new icon of border-crushing globalization: the North Korean painter.	不过, 符拉迪沃斯托克这座太平洋岸畔的俄罗斯城市, 正急切地张开双臂欢迎碾压国境线的全球化大潮中的新偶像: 朝鲜油漆工。
Unlike migrant workers in much of the West, destitute decorators from North Korea are so welcome that they have helped make Russia at least the equal of China — Pyongyang's main backer — as the world's biggest user of labor from the impoverished yet nuclear-armed country.	与西方世界的很多移民工人不同, 来自贫困但却拥有核武器的朝鲜的贫穷粉刷匠非常受欢迎。俄罗斯能成为至少可以和平壤的主要支持者中国平起平坐的朝鲜劳动力最大使用国, 他们功不可没。

“They are fast, cheap and very reliable, much better than Russian workers,” Yulia Kravchenko, a 32-year-old Vladivostok homemaker, said of the painters. “They do nothing but work from morning until late at night.”	“他们手脚麻利、便宜，而且非常可靠，比俄罗斯工人好多了，”现年32岁的符拉迪沃斯托克家庭主妇尤利亚·克拉维琴科(Yulia Kravchenko)谈及这些油漆工时说。“从早上到深夜，他们一门心思努力工作。”
The work habits that delight Vladivostok homeowners are also generating sorely needed cash for the world’s most isolated regime, a hereditary dictatorship in Pyongyang closing in on a nuclear weapon capable of hitting the United States. Just last week, the North reached a milestone by testing its first intercontinental ballistic missile.	让符拉迪沃斯托克的屋主们笑逐颜开的工作习惯，也正转换成世界上最孤立的政权——越来越接近于拥有射程可抵美国的核武器的平壤世袭独裁政府——所急需的现金。就在上周，朝鲜抵达了一个里程碑，试射了自己的首枚洲际弹道导弹。
Squeezed by international sanctions and unable to produce many goods that anyone outside North Korea wants to buy — other than missile parts, textiles, coal and mushrooms — the government has sent tens of thousands of its impoverished citizens to cities and towns across the former Soviet Union to earn money for the state.	朝鲜受国际制裁钳制，无法生产国境以外的民众想要购买的很多产品——除了导弹部件、纺织品、煤炭和蘑菇——因此政府把数以万计的贫穷国民派往前苏联各地的城镇，去为国家赚钱。
Human rights groups say this state-controlled traffic amounts to a slave trade, but so desperate are conditions in North Korea that laborers often pay bribes to get sent to Russia.	人权团体称，这种受控于国家的人员流动与奴隶贸易没太大差别，但由于朝鲜国内的情况太过令人绝望，劳工常常为了能被派往俄罗斯而行贿。
North Korean laborers helped build a new soccer stadium in St. Petersburg to be used in next year’s World Cup, a project on which at least one of them died. They are working on a luxury apartment complex in central Moscow, where two North Koreans were found dead last month in a squalid hostel near the construction site. They also cut down trees in remote logging encampments in the Russian Far East that resemble Stalin-era prison camps.	朝鲜劳工帮助在圣彼得堡建造了一个明年世界杯期间用得上的新足球场，他们中至少有一个人死于该项目。他们目前正在建造位于莫斯科市中心的豪华公寓楼，上月有两名朝鲜人被发现死在工地附近一处肮脏的宿舍里。他们还在俄罗斯远东地区类似斯大林时代劳改营的偏远伐木营地里砍伐树木。
But they have left their biggest and most visible mark in Vladivostok,	但他们通过为家居维修公司提供劳务，在符拉迪沃斯托克留下了最大也最显

providing labor to home repair companies that boast to customers how North Koreans are cheaper, more disciplined and more sober than native Russians.	著的印记。那些公司会向客户吹嘘朝鲜人与俄罗斯本地人相比有多便宜、守纪律、头脑清醒。
"Surprisingly, these people are hardworking and orderly. They will not take long rests from work, go on frequent cigarette breaks or shirk their duties," promised the website of a Vladivostok company.	"这些人令人意想不到地勤勉有序。他们不会在工作期间长时间休息，不会频繁地跑出去吸烟，也不会推卸责任，"符拉迪沃斯托克的一家公司在网站上如此承诺。
The home repair industry stands at the more benign end of North Korea's labor export program. Painters and plasterers are not generally subjected to the brutal mistreatment endured by North Koreans working in Russian logging camps or on construction sites.	家居维修行业在朝鲜的劳务出口计划中占据着待遇比较好的一端。油漆工和抹灰工通常不会像在俄罗斯伐木营地里或建筑工地上工作的朝鲜人那样，遭到野蛮的虐待。
Though rigidly controlled by minders from the Workers' Party of Korea, the ruling party in Pyongyang, they do not, on the whole, live in what the State Department in its recently released annual report on human trafficking called "credible reports of slave-like conditions of North Koreans working in Russia."	他们虽然受到出身于本国执政党朝鲜劳动党(Workers' Party of Korea)的监管人的严格控制，但整体而言，其生活与美国国务院在最近发布的人口贩卖状况年度报告中的描绘并不相符，国务院说"有可靠的举报显示，在俄罗斯工作的朝鲜人过着奴隶般的生活"。
All the same, they still suffer from what human rights groups say is a particularly egregious feature of Pyongyang's labor export program: Most of their earnings are confiscated by the state.	即便如此，他们仍然深深受害于人权团体口中平壤劳务出口项目的一个尤为令人震惊的特征：大部分收入都被收归国有。
A lengthy report on North Korean workers in Russia issued last year by the Data Base Center for North Korean Human Rights, a group in Seoul, said the Workers' Party of Korea seizes 80 percent of the wages earned by forestry workers and at least 30 percent of the salaries paid to laborers working in construction. Further money is taken to cover living expenses, mandatory contributions to a so-called loyalty fund and other "donations."	首尔人权团体朝鲜人权数据库(Data Base Center for North Korean Human Rights)去年发布长篇报告称，朝鲜劳动党会拿走林业工人 80%的工资，以及建筑业劳工至少 30%的工资。还有一些钱被额外扣掉，用于支付生活费、强制性捐款给所谓的忠诚基金以及进行其他"捐赠"。

This “exploitative structure,” the report said, constitutes “one of the fundamental causes of the North Korean workers’ inhumanly hard labor in Russia.”	报告称,这种“盘剥结构”是“朝鲜工人在俄罗斯从事不人道的艰苦劳动的根本原因之一”。
The human rights group estimated that the North Korean authorities earn at least $120 million a year from laborers sent to Russia, a vital source of income for a family dynasty founded, with Moscow’s backing, by Kim Il Sung in 1948 and now headed by his 33-year-old grandson, Kim Jong Un. It put the number of North Koreans working in Russia at nearly 50,000, though other studies say the number is 30,000 to 40,000, which is still more than in China or the Middle East, the other principal destinations.	据朝鲜人权数据库估计,朝鲜当局每年可以从被派往俄罗斯的劳工身上赚取至少 1.2 亿美元,这对金家王朝来说是一个重要的收入来源。朝鲜政权于 1948 年由金正日(Kim Jong-il)在莫斯科支持下创立,现在的掌舵者是他的孙子、现年 33 岁的金正恩(Kim Jong Un)。该团体认为共有近 5 万朝鲜人在俄罗斯工作,不过另有研究显示人数在 3 万至 4 万之间,这仍然多于别的主要目的地的朝鲜工人数量,不管是中国或中东。
The Russian boss of a Vladivostok decorating company that employs scores of North Koreans said the amount of money seized from salaries had increased substantially over the past decade, rising to a current monthly rate of 50,000 rubles, or $841, from 17,000 rubles a month in 2006. He said his highest-paid workers now lose half or more of their monthly salary through confiscation, while the leader of each construction squad of around 20 to 30 laborers takes an additional cut of about 20 percent in return for finding painting jobs for his men.	符拉迪沃斯托克一家雇用了很多朝鲜人的装修公司的俄罗斯老板说,过去十年间,从工资中被拿走的数额大幅增长,从 2006 年的每月 17000 卢布增至当前的每月 50000 卢布(约合 841 美元)。他说他手下赚得最多的工人会因收入被充公而损失月薪的一半甚至更多,与此同时,每支由二三十名劳工组成的建筑队的头头,都会向队里的人额外收取约 20% 的费用,作为帮他们找油漆工工作的回报。
The Russian asked that he not be identified because he feared that Workers’ Party supervisors would punish his laborers or prevent them from working with him.	这个俄罗斯人要求匿名,因为担心劳动党监管人会惩罚他手下的劳工,或阻止他们为他工作。
The increased rate of confiscation followed a sharp fall in the value of the ruble against the dollar, a troubling development for a regime that wants dollars, not rubles.	充公数额不断提高发生在卢布对美元骤然贬值后——对一个想要美元而非卢布的政权来说,卢布贬值是很糟糕的事情。

But the jacking up of the amount of rubles seized more than compensated for the ruble's fall, reflecting Pyongyang's desperate hunt for more cash since Kim Jong Un took power in December 2011 and ramped up North Korea's missile and nuclear programs.	不过，充公卢布数额的猛增，超过了弥补卢布贬值所需的幅度，这反映出自金正恩于2011年12月上台并快速推进朝鲜的核项目和导弹项目以来，平壤当局对更多现金的极度渴望。
International sanctions and a Chinese ban on imports of North Korean coal in February after a series of missile tests have steadily squeezed Pyongyang's other sources of foreign revenue. That has left the export of labor, along with a string of state-run restaurants and other small businesses in Vladivostok and elsewhere, as one of the regime's shrinking list of ways to generate hard currency.	国际制裁以及中国在朝鲜开展一系列导弹试验后出台的暂停进口其煤炭的禁令，逐渐挤压着平壤的其他海外收入来源。这让劳务出口，还有大量设在符拉迪沃斯托克以及其他地方的国有餐厅等小企业，成了平壤政权手上越来越少的用于获取硬通货的工具之一。
The Russian boss said North Koreans work "crazily long hours" without complaint and call him at 6 a.m., even on weekends, if he has not yet shown up to tell them what to paint or plaster. "They don't take holidays. They eat, work and sleep and nothing else. And they don't sleep much," he said. "They are basically in the situation of slaves."	前述俄罗斯老板称，朝鲜人会毫无怨言地工作“极长时间”，如果他到了早上6点尚未现身并告知该给什么东西刷漆和抹灰，他们就会给他打电话，哪怕是周末也不例外。“他们不放假。他们的生活里只有吃饭、工作和睡觉。而且他们睡得不多，”他说。“他们的状态基本上就像奴隶。”
All the same, he added, North Koreans still want to work in Russia, where, despite the hardships and confiscation of a big chunk of their wages, they can live better and freer than they do at home.	不过他补充说，朝鲜人还是乐于来俄罗斯工作，在这里尽管很辛苦，而且工资中的很大一部分会被充公，但比起在国内，他们可以生活得更好，更自由。
"It is not slave labor but hard labor. And it is much better here than in North Korea," Georgy Toloraya, a former Russian diplomat in Pyongyang, said.	“他们不是奴工，而是苦工。而且这里的生活比朝鲜好得多，”前俄罗斯驻平壤外交官多格奥尔基·托洛拉亚(Georgy Toloraya)说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170712/north-korea-russia-migrants	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170712/north-korea-russia-migrants
Whale Strikes and Kills Canadian Rescuer After He Helps Free It	加拿大渔民解救鲸鱼后被鲸鱼撞死
A fisherman who had for years volunteered to help untangle endangered whales from fishing lines was struck and killed by a whale	一个加拿大政府机构周一称，一位渔民在加拿大新不伦瑞克海岸帮助解救一头鲸鱼之后遭重击遇难，这位渔民常年自愿帮助解救被捕鱼绳困住的鲸鱼。

off New Brunswick, Canada, on Monday shortly after helping in its rescue, a Canadian agency said.
The volunteer, Joe Howlett, was on a Department of Fisheries and Oceans “fast response” vessel and helping to cut lines from an entangled North Atlantic right whale, the department’s minister, Dominic LeBlanc, said in a statement.	加拿大渔业与海洋部(Department of Fisheries and Oceans)部长多米尼克·勒布朗(Dominic LeBlanc)在一份声明中表示, 志愿者乔·豪利特(Joe Howlett)当时正在该部“快速响应”船上, 帮助切断一只被困的北大西洋露脊鲸身上的绳索。
Mr. Howlett, who was a member of the Campobello Whale Rescue Team, was struck just after the whale was cut free and began to swim away in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.	豪利特是坎波贝洛岛鲸鱼拯救队(Campobello Whale Rescue Team)成员, 他是在鲸鱼刚被解救、开始游离圣劳伦斯湾时被击中的。
“They got the whale totally disentangled, and then some kind of freak thing happened and the whale made a big flip,” Mackie Green of the team told The Canadian Press. Mr. Green started the rescue team with Mr. Howlett in 2002.	“他们完全解开了鲸鱼身上的绳索, 然后发生了一件反常的事, 鲸鱼猛地翻了个身,” 该团队的麦基·格林(Mackie Green)对加拿大新闻社(The Canadian Press)说。格林和豪利特 2002 年创立了该救援队。
This was the first human fatality in the history of the Atlantic Large Whale Disentanglement Network, a consortium of trained authorized responders who work along the east coast of Canada and the United States, the Center for Coastal Studies in Provincetown, Mass., said in a Facebook post.	马萨诸塞州普罗温斯敦的海岸研究中心(Center for Coastal Studies)在 Facebook 上发帖称, 这是大西洋大鲸鱼解救网(Atlantic Large Whale Disentanglement Network)历史上的第一起人员伤亡事故, 该团体由受过训练、获得授权的救援人员组成, 在加拿大和美国东海岸展开工作。
In his statement, Mr. LeBlanc said participating in whale rescue operations “requires immense bravery and a passion for the welfare of marine mammals” and described Mr. Howlett as an “irreplaceable member of the whale rescue community.”	勒布朗在声明中表示, 参与鲸鱼救援行动“需要巨大的勇气以及保护海洋哺乳动物的热忱”, 称豪利特是“鲸鱼拯救团体中不可取代的成员”。
He added: “There are serious risks involved with any disentanglement attempt. Each situation is unique, and entangled whales can be unpredictable.”	他还表示: “任何一次解救行动都有很大的风险。每次的情况都不一样, 被困鲸鱼的举动可能很难预测。”

Mr. Howlett was remembered on Wednesday as a dedicated volunteer who helped save dozens of whales in the last 15 years. The International Fund for Animal Welfare said in a statement that he "lived and breathed" that mission.	周三，在豪利特的追悼会上，人们怀念这位忠诚的志愿者，在过去 15 年里，他帮助拯救了几十头鲸鱼。国际爱护动物基金会(International Fund for Animal Welfare)在一份声明中称，豪利特与这项使命“同呼吸、共命运”。
Jerry Conway of the Canadian Whale Institute in Campobello, New Brunswick, told The Canadian Press that Mr. Howlett had freed another North Atlantic right whale only a few days earlier in roughly the same area.	新不伦瑞克坎波贝洛岛加拿大鲸鱼协会(Canadian Whale Institute)的杰里·康韦(Jerry Conway)在接受加拿大新闻社采访时表示，就在几天前，豪利特在差不多同一个区域解救了另一头北大西洋露脊鲸。
"He is a very knowledgeable fishermen, and who better to do disentanglements than a fisherman who knows the knots and the ropes and the gear?" he said.	"他是一位知识非常丰富的渔民，还有谁能比精通打结、绳索和齿轮的渔民更擅长解开绳索呢?"他说。
Mr. Howlett was featured in a video by the International Fund for Animal Welfare that explained how rescuers use hooked knives at the end of long poles to rescue whales ensnared in fishing ropes.	豪利特曾出现在国际爱护动物基金会的视频中。那个视频讲述了救援人员如何使用绑在长杆末端的小刀解救被捕鱼绳捆住的鲸鱼。
Being entangled makes it difficult for a whale to dive or swim, which are crucial for feeding. The rescue highlighted in the video took five hours to complete after the whale got lines wrapped around both its flippers and through its mouth.	被绳索捆住的鲸鱼很难潜水或游泳，而这些对它们的捕食极为关键。视频重点讲述的一次救援花了五个小时才完成，因为那头鲸鱼的鳍和嘴巴都被绳索捆住了。
The North Atlantic right whale is one of the most endangered large whales, with an estimated 500 left, conservationists say.	保护工作者表示，北大西洋露脊鲸是最濒危的大型鲸鱼之一，估计只剩下 500 头。
As of July 6, seven right whales were reported dead in the last month in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the Marine Animal Response Society in Halifax, Nova Scotia, said on its Facebook page.	新斯科舍省哈利法克斯的海洋动物响应协会(Marine Animal Response Society)在自己的 Facebook 网页上称，截至 7 月 6 日，上个月在圣劳伦斯湾已有七头露脊鲸被报告死亡。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170713/whale-rescuer-killed-canada	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170713/whale-rescuer-killed-canada
Trump Tells First Lady of France: 'You're in Such Good Shape'	特朗普评价法国第一夫人：“你身材真好”

Shortly after President Trump arrived in France on Friday for an official visit, he took a moment to tell the country's first lady, Brigitte Macron, what he thought of her physical appearance.	特朗普总统于周五对法国进行正式访问，抵达不久后，他花了一点时间告诉这个国家的第一夫人布丽吉特·马克龙(Brigitte Macron)，他对她的体型外貌的看法。
"You're in such good shape," Mr. Trump told Mrs. Macron, who was standing in a grand marble hall with her back to a camera that recorded the incident. He then turned to the president of France, Emmanuel Macron, and said, "She's in such good physical shape."	"你身材真好，"特朗普对马克龙夫人说，当时两人在一个宏伟的大理石大厅里，马克龙夫人背后的一台摄像机记录下了这一事件。然后，特朗普转向法国总统埃马纽埃尔·马克龙(Emmanuel Macron)说："她的体型可真好。"
"Beautiful," Mr. Trump said, turning to the first lady of France. She appeared to grab Mr. Trump's wife, Melania, by the arm and take a step backward. Mrs. Trump stood next to her, smiling.	"真美啊，"特朗普转向法国第一夫人说。她似乎抓住特朗普的妻子梅拉尼娅(Melania)的手臂，向后退了一步。特朗普夫人站在她身边，微笑着。
The encounter happened during a tour of the Hôtel National des Invalides, a museum complex in central Paris that houses the tomb of Napoleon Bonaparte. It was broadcast live on a Facebook video stream on Mr. Macron's official Facebook account. A clip of the episode soon spread widely online and in the news media.	这一幕是在双方访问巴黎市中心的综合博物馆荣军院(National des Invalides)期间发生的，那里是拿破仑·波拿巴(Napoleon Bonaparte)的墓地。马克龙的官方 Facebook 帐户对这次出行做了现场直播。这段插曲的视频片段很快在网络和新闻媒体中广为流传。
Mr. Trump has repeatedly commented publicly on the physical appearance of women he has encountered either as a presidential candidate or as president — including the comedian Rosie O'Donnell and, now, the first lady of France.	在竞选总统期间和担任总统之后，特朗普一再公然评论自己遇到的女人的外貌，其中包括喜剧演员罗西·奥唐奈(Rosie O'Donnell)，现在又轮到法国的第一夫人。
Last month, Mr. Trump was criticized by members of both parties for attacking the cable news host Mika Brzezinski in a string of tweets, describing her as "low I.Q. Crazy Mika" and claiming that at a past meeting she had been "bleeding badly from a facelift."	上个月，特朗普先生遭到两党成员批评，因为他发了一系列推文攻击有线台新闻主播米卡·布热津斯基(Mika Brzezinski)，说她是"低智商疯子米卡"，还说以前有一次见面时，她的脸"刚做了拉皮手术，不住渗血"。
Earlier in June, Mr. Trump interrupted an Oval Office phone call with the prime minister of Ireland, Leo Varadkar, to comment on the	6月初，特朗普在椭圆形办公室同爱尔兰总理利奥·瓦拉德卡(Leo Varadkar)通电话时突然中断下来，就爱尔兰国家广电机构驻华盛顿记者凯特里奥娜·佩 physical appearance of Caitriona Perry, a Washington correspondent for Ireland's national broadcaster.	里(Caitriona Perry)的外貌发表评论。

"And where are you from?" Mr. Trump said to Ms. Perry. "Go ahead. Come here, come here. Where are you from? We have all of this beautiful Irish press."	"你是哪个媒体的?"特朗普对佩里说。"往前走, 到这儿来, 到这儿来。你是哪个媒体的? 这么多美丽的爱尔兰媒体都来了。"
After Ms. Perry introduced herself, Mr. Trump told Mr. Varadkar, "She has a nice smile on her face so I bet she treats you well."	佩里做过自我介绍之后, 特朗普对瓦拉德卡说:"她的笑容很美, 我猜她肯定对你不错。"
Mr. and Mrs. Trump are in France to celebrate Bastille Day, the French national holiday, and to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the American entry into World War I, a conflict largely fought on French soil.	特朗普夫妇正在法国庆祝其国庆日巴士底日, 并纪念美国参加第一次世界大战 100 周年, 这场战争大部分是在法国领土上进行的。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170714/trump-france-brigitte-macron	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170714/trump-france-brigitte-macron
Colleagues of Princeton University Scholar Convicted of Spying in Iran Express Shock	美籍华裔学者因间谍罪在伊朗被判刑 10 年
Colleagues of an American student from Princeton University who was jailed in Iran on spying charges expressed shock on Monday, calling him a gifted and innocent history scholar whose ordeal has traumatized his family and community.	普林斯顿大学(Princeton University)一名美国学生在伊朗因间谍罪身陷囹圄, 他的同事对此深表震惊, 称他是一位才华横溢的、无辜的历史学者, 此番磨难令他的家庭和社区遭受创伤。
Academics and Iran experts said the arrest and punishment of the student, Xiyue Wang, first announced Sunday in Iran, may chill scholarly ties between the United States and Iran, subverting promises of more openness from its president, Hassan Rouhani.	这名学生叫王夕越, 周日他在伊朗被判入狱, 学者和伊朗问题专家表示, 他的被捕和判刑可能会令美国与伊朗之间的学术关系降温, 破坏总统哈桑·鲁哈尼(Hassan Rouhani)提高开放性的承诺。
"This kind of situation makes me wake up in a cold sweat," said Bruce Carruthers, the director of the Buffett Institute for Global Studies at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. "It is a deeply worrisome event,	"这种情况让我惊出一身冷汗,"位于伊利诺州埃文斯顿的西北大学巴菲特全球研究所(Buffett Institute for Global Studies at Northwestern University)所长布鲁斯卡鲁瑟斯(Bruce Carruthers)说。"这事非常令人担忧, 我向上帝 and I hope to God that it is not a trend or harbinger of things to come.”	祈望这不是一连串事情的趋势或预兆。”

Despite the history of hostility between the United States and Iran, scholarly exchanges have survived. But Mr. Wang’s case, Mr. Carruthers said, shows that “a visitor like that can be a bargaining chip.”	尽管美国与伊朗之间有过节，两国的学术交流倒是没有间断。但对于王夕越的案子，卡鲁瑟斯表示，“像这样的访问者也能成为一个讨价还价的筹码。”
Mr. Wang, 37, a naturalized American citizen from China, was arrested in Iran last August while researching Persian history for his doctoral thesis. He had been examining and scanning public records of events during the 19th and early 20th centuries.	王夕越现年37岁，来自中国，后来加入美国籍，去年8月他在伊朗被捕时，正在为博士论文研究波斯历史。他阅读和扫描了19世纪和20世纪初一些事件的公开记录。
Iran’s judiciary, which broke the news on Sunday of Mr. Wang’s arrest and punishment, said Mr. Wang had entered the country “under the cover of a researcher,” had secretly worked for American and British intelligence via a “spider web” of connections and had digitally archived 4,500 documents.	伊朗司法机关周日发布了王夕越被捕并被判刑的消息，称王夕越“以研究员的身份为掩护”进入该国，秘密地通过联络人“蜘蛛网”，为美国和英国的情报机构工作，利用数字设备存档了4500份文件。
Mr. Wang was sentenced to 10 years in prison, which could further irritate relations with the United States, where Iran’s incarceration of Americans has been a festering issue.	王夕越被判处十年监禁，可能会进一步激化两国关系，伊朗监禁美国人是个很拉仇恨的问题。
Princeton University acknowledged after the announcement that it had known about Mr. Wang’s arrest but had sought to keep it quiet, respecting his family’s wishes while working with the State Department and other channels to secure his release. Mr. Wang has a wife and a child in the United States.	普林斯顿大学在伊朗的声明出来后承认，学校早已知道王夕越被逮捕一事，但出于对其家人愿望的尊重，学校一直保持缄默，同时和国务院以及其他渠道合作，争取让他获得释放。王夕越在美国有妻子和一个孩子。
In a statement to Princeton faculty, students and staff on Monday, the university’s president, Christopher L. Eisgruber, explained the school’s earlier silence, saying it reflected “the recommendation of multiple advisers inside and outside of government who counseled us that	周一，校长克里斯托弗·L·埃斯格鲁伯(Christopher L. Eisgruber)向教职员工和学生发表的一份声明中，对该校之前的沉默进行了解释，说是因为“政府内外多名顾问建议，高调宣传可能会损害该生的利益”。 publicity might be harmful to our student's interests."

Mr. Wang's colleagues were frank in their anger about what had befallen him.	对于王夕越的处境，他的同事们直率地表达了愤怒之情。
"Xiyue Wang is an unbelievable scholar, father, and classmate," Elaine Ayers, a doctoral candidate in the history of science, wrote on her Twitter account. "Beyond concerned for his safety and wellbeing."	"王夕越是一位非常好的学者、父亲和同学，"科学史专业的博士候选人伊莱恩·艾尔斯(Elaine Ayers)在她的 Twitter 账号上写道。"我们对他的安全和健康非常担心。"
Anna Lind-Guzik, a graduate student in Russian history, wrote: "This is nuts! Xiyue Wang is a friend. We did all our coursework together. Hes a kind family man, great scholar & furthest thing from a spy."	俄罗斯历史专业的研究生安娜·琳德-古济克(Anna Lind-Guzik)写道："这真是疯了！王夕越是我的朋友。我们一起学了所有课程。他是一个善良的居家男人，是出色的学者，绝对不是间谍。"
Mr. Wang's thesis adviser, Professor Stephen Kotkin, strongly defended Mr. Wang's work in a statement sent via email, describing him as a linguistically gifted doctoral candidate.	王夕越的论文导师史蒂芬·科特金(Stephen Kotkin)教授力挺其在伊朗的活动，科特金通过电邮发表声明，称王夕越是一名有语言天赋的博士候选人。
Mr. Kotkin also implicitly criticized the Iranian judicial authorities, saying they made a colossal misjudgment about what constitutes espionage. "The documents Wang read and collected during his time in Tehran are 100 or more years old," Mr. Kotkin said.	科特金还含蓄地批评了伊朗司法当局，说他们对间谍活动出现了巨大的误判。"他在德黑兰时阅读和收集的文件是 100 多年前的了，"科特金说。
Trita Parsi, the president of the National Iranian American Council, a group that has advocated for improved relations with Iran, also described the accusations against Mr. Wang as ridiculous. "From the evidence made public by Iran's judiciary against Mr. Wang, it appears that his only crime was to read books at a public library," Mr. Parsi said.	主张改善美伊关系的倡导团体伊朗裔美国人全国理事会(National Iranian American Council)会长特里塔·帕尔西(Trita Parsi)也说伊朗对王夕越的指责很可笑。帕尔西说："从伊朗司法部门公开的证据来看，王夕越唯一的罪行似乎是在公共图书馆看书。"
He also said Mr. Wang's prosecution reflected efforts by hard-line opponents of Mr. Rouhani to sabotage his effort to promote interactions with the West.	他还说，王夕越被起诉反映了鲁阿尼的强硬派对手试图破坏他促进伊朗与西方互动的努力。
"This serves to deter those who want to study in the country," he said.	"出了这种事，一些想去伊朗学习的人就会望而却步，"他说。"他们看到鲁阿"

"As they see Rouhani having greater success, things like this, precisely because they're so absurd, will have a chilling effect."	尼取得了更大的成功，像这样的事情会产生一种寒蝉效应，原因恰恰是因为它们太荒唐了。”
Mr. Wang's case also reverberated in Beijing, his birthplace, where he had always shown a penchant for foreign languages.	王夕越的案子也在他的出生地北京引起了反响，他从小在这里就表现出了对外语的喜爱。
According to Chinese news media accounts, Mr. Wang went to the United States when he was 19 and studied at the University of Washington and at Harvard University, focusing on southern Asian languages and religion in Middle Asia.	据中国新闻媒体报道，王夕越 19 岁前往美国，在华盛顿大学和哈佛大学读过书，专业是南亚语言和中亚的宗教信仰。
He became proficient in Pashto, a language spoken in Afghanistan, Iran and Pakistan, and for a time worked as a translator for the International Committee of the Red Cross in Kandahar, Afghanistan, where he helped Afghans traumatized by violence and death from the American-led war against the Taliban.	他熟练掌握了阿富汗、伊朗和巴基斯坦使用的普什图语，曾经在阿富汗坎大哈的红十字国际委员会担任翻译工作。在那里，他为一些遭受创伤的阿富汗人提供帮助；这些人在美国人领导的反塔利班战争中经历了暴力和死亡。
An article titled "Me and the Taliban, Face to Face" about Mr. Wang, posted in 2010 on the Red Cross's Chinese-language website, described Kandahar as "the most dangerous place in the world" for a translator.	王夕越 2010 年在红十字国际委员会的中文网站上发表了一篇文章，名为《我和塔利班面对面》，他说对翻译而言，坎大哈是“是世上最危险之地”。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170719/iran-student-prisoner-spy-princeton-xiyue-wang	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170719/iran-student-prisoner-spy-princeton-xiyue-wang
Bodies of Swiss Couple Buried in Glacier for 75 Years Are Identified	冰封 75 年，瑞士夫妇遗体终获鉴定
In 1942, a Swiss shoemaker and his wife set out across a glacier to milk their cows, which were grazing in a neighboring area. The couple, the parents of seven young children, were never seen again.	1942 年，瑞士一个鞋匠和妻子出门穿过一片冰川，去给在附近吃草的奶牛挤奶。此后，人们再也没见过这对有七个年幼孩子的夫妇。
On Wednesday, the mystery of what happened to the couple was finally solved as the police formally identified two mummified bodies found last week in an Alpine glacier as those of Marcelin Dumoulin, 40,	周三，警方正式确认上周在阿尔卑斯山脉的一片冰川里发现的两具已变成木乃伊的遗体，属于 40 岁的马塞兰·迪穆兰(Marcelin Dumoulin)和他 37 岁的妻子、职业为教师的弗朗辛(Francine)，这对夫妇遭遇了什么谜团也终于

and his wife, Francine, a 37-year-old teacher.	被解开。
A ski resort worker stumbled upon their bodies on Thursday near a ski lift about 8,600 feet above a village, Les Diablerets. Along with the couple's well-preserved World War II-era clothes, other clues to their identity included a book and a watch.	周四，一个滑雪度假村的工作人员在比莱迪亚布勒雷村高出大约 8600 英尺（约合 2600 米）的滑雪缆车附近意外发现了两人的遗体。除夫妇二人保存完好的二战时期的衣服外，其他能证明他们身份的线索还包括一本书和一块表。
Stéphane Vouardoux, a spokesman for the police in the canton of Valais, the area near where the couple disappeared, said in a telephone interview on Wednesday that DNA testing had confirmed that the bodies were the Dumoulin. He said the discovery had brought a sense of closure to the couple's two surviving daughters, and ended the uncertainty about the tragedy that had haunted locals for decades. The evidence strongly suggested, he added, that the couple had died in an accident.	在这对夫妇失踪时所在区域附近的瓦莱州，警方发言人斯特凡纳·武尔杜 (Stéphane Vouardoux) 周三接受电话采访时说，DNA 检测证实他们是迪穆兰夫妇。他说，此次发现让这对夫妇仍在世的两个女儿终能释怀，也让有关这场困扰当地民众数十年的悲剧的不确定性画上了句号。他说，证据有力地表明，这对夫妇死于一场意外。
"It is definitely them — until now, all we had was hope," Mr. Vouardoux said, adding that the news had reduced several residents to tears. "This, once and for all, puts an end to a story that has deeply marked the village. For years, people have been asking questions: 'What happened to them? Why couldn't we find them?' Now we know the truth."	"肯定是他们——在此之前，我们一直心怀希望，"武尔杜说，并接着表示这个消息让多位居民落泪。"这件事让一个深深影响了这个村子的故事永远结束了。多年来，人们一直在问：'他们遇到了什么事？我们为什么找不到他们？'现在，我们知道了真相。"
After the couple disappeared 75 years ago, the police searched the area for weeks. The seven Dumoulin children — five boys and two girls — were separated and went to live with families in the area. Every year on Aug. 15, some of the siblings would climb the glacier to pray.	75 年前，这对夫妇失踪后，警方在该地区搜寻了数周。迪穆兰家的七个孩子——五个男孩，两个女孩——被迫分开，和该地区的不同家庭生活。每年的 8 月 15 日这一天，七个兄弟姐妹中的一些人都会爬上那片冰川祈祷。
Speaking before the DNA identification, Marceline Udry-Dumoulin, 79, one of the couple's daughters, said she had been convinced that the bodies were her parents after learning that the resort worker had seen	夫妇两的其中一个女儿、79 岁的马塞利娜·于德里-迪穆兰 (Marceline Udry-Dumoulin) 在 DNA 鉴定之前发表讲话时说，得知那名工作人员看到了她母亲的衣服和鞋子后，她就相信那两具遗体是她的父亲和母亲。她回忆自

her mother's clothes and shoes. She recalled saying, "You have my mother, you don't need to look further."	已当时说,“你们已经找到我母亲了,不用再找了。”
Ms. Udry-Dumoulin said she now had one priority: giving her parents a proper funeral and burial, however belated.	于德里-迪穆兰说,她现在的头等大事只有一件:让父母得到迟来已久的哀悼仪式,体面下葬。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170720/switzerland-glacier-bodies-1942	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170720/switzerland-glacier-bodies-1942
Cecil the Lion's Son Xanda Killed by a Trophy Hunter	悲剧重演:非洲明星狮子之子被射杀
Two years after Cecil the Lion was killed in a national park in Zimbabwe, sparking international outrage, his son Xanda was killed in a trophy hunt.	两年前,狮子塞西尔(Cecil)在津巴布韦的一个国家公园被杀死,引起了国际社会的愤慨。而今,它的儿子赞达(Xanda)在一次战利品狩猎中被杀死。
The lion was shot on July 7 in a hunting area just outside Hwange National Park in Zimbabwe, according to Andrew Loveridge, an Oxford University researcher who had studied both Cecil and his son. Xanda, who was 6 years old, was wearing an electronic collar that was put on by researchers to monitor his movements.	牛津大学(Oxford University)研究员安德鲁·洛夫里奇(Andrew Loveridge)称,7月7日,这头狮子在津巴布韦万基国家公园(Hwange National Park)外的一个狩猎区被射杀。洛夫里奇之前一直在研究塞西尔和它的儿子。赞达六岁了,戴着一个电子项圈,那是研究者们为监视它的行动而放置的。
"As researchers we are saddened at the death of a well-known study animal we have monitored since birth," Mr. Loveridge said in an email.	"作为研究者,我们为一只著名研究动物的去世感到悲伤,从它出生起,我们就一直在监视它,"洛夫里奇在接受电子邮件采访时表示。
The Telegraph reported that Richard Cooke, of the company RC Safaris, had led the hunt, though it was not immediately clear who killed the lion.	《每日电讯报》(The Telegraph)报道称,这次狩猎活动是RC狩猎公司(RC Safaris)的理查德·库克(Richard Cooke)带领的,不过暂时不清楚是谁杀死了那头狮子。
"Richard Cooke is one of the 'good' guys," Mr. Loveridge told The Telegraph. "He is ethical and he returned the collar and communicated what had happened. His hunt was legal and Xanda was over 6 years old so it is all within the stipulated regulations."	"理查德·库克还算是'好的',"洛夫里奇在接受《每日电讯报》采访时说。"他有职业道德,归还了项圈,告诉了我们事情的经过。他组织的狩猎是合法的,赞达已经超过六岁了,所以都符合管理规定。"
Mr. Cooke could not be reached for comment on Thursday.	周四,我们未能联系到库克置评。

The pride spent "considerable time outside the protection of the park," Mr. Loveridge said. Xanda was shot about two kilometers from its edge in Ngamo Forest, in an area where hunting is legal.	洛夫里奇称，这个狮群“有大量时间是呆在公园的保护区外”。赞达是在离恩加莫森林(Ngamo Forest)边缘约两公里的地方被射杀的，在那个区域狩猎是合法的。
The lion, who was part of a pride of three females and seven cubs, was first collared for study in July 2015, with a GPS satellite collar added in October 2016, Mr. Loveridge said. The researchers traced his whereabouts until his death.	这个狮群中包括三头雌狮和七只幼狮。洛夫里奇说，赞达第一次被戴上项圈做研究是在2015年7月，2016年10月又给它加了一个GPS卫星定位项圈。研究者们一直在追踪它的行踪，直至它死亡。
Cecil was 13 when he was killed by Dr. Walter J. Palmer, an American dentist, in July 2015. Like Xanda, he had wandered outside of his sanctuary in Hwange National Park. Dr. Palmer apologized for the killing but became the target of threats and harassment.	2015年7月，塞西尔13岁时被美国牙医瓦尔特·J·帕尔默(Walter J. Palmer)杀死。和赞达一样，它也走到了万基国家公园保护区之外。帕尔默为射杀致歉，但依然成为了威胁和骚扰的对象。
"The killing of Xanda just goes to show that trophy hunters have learned nothing from the international outcry that followed Cecil's death," said Masha Kalinina, an international trade policy specialist for Humane Society International.	"赞达被杀表明，战利品狩猎者没有从塞西尔被杀引起的国际愤慨中吸取一点教训，"国际人道协会(Humane Society International)的国际贸易政策专家玛莎·加里宁娜(Masha Kalinina)表示。
"Xanda was a well-studied lion like this father and critical to conservation efforts in Zimbabwe," she said. "To stop lions slipping into extinction, it is critical that countries like Zimbabwe keep as many lions alive as possible and shift away from the trophy hunting industry."	"和父亲一样，赞达也是一头经过很多研究的狮子，它对津巴布韦的动物保护努力非常重要，"她说。"对避免狮子灭绝来说，很重要的一点是，津巴布韦等国要让尽可能多的狮子存活，取缔战利品狩猎产业。"
The Humane Society said that fewer than 30,000 African lions remain.	国际人道协会表示，非洲现在只剩下不到三万头狮子。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170721/cecil-lion-son-xanda	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170721/cecil-lion-son-xanda
China and Russia Hold First Joint Naval Drill in the Baltic Sea	中俄首次在波罗的海举行联合军演
MOSCOW — Chinese and Russian warships practiced together in the Baltic Sea on Tuesday, in the first joint naval exercise the two countries have held in the area, which has been a focus of heightened tensions	莫斯科——本周二在波罗的海，中国和俄罗斯军舰进行了两国在该地区的首次联合海军演习；在俄罗斯与西方加剧的紧张局势中，波罗的海是一个焦点。

between Russia and the West.
All sides appeared eager to avoid inflaming the tensions. The NATO alliance, which has six member nations on the Baltic, noted matter-of-factly that the naval drills were being monitored "as a matter of routine." Chinese and Russian commanders insisted that the exercises were not aimed at any third country.	各方似乎都渴望避免加剧紧张局面。北约(NATO)在波罗的海拥有六个成员国，它公事公办地表示，把此次海军演习“当作常规活动”来监测，而中俄两国指挥官则坚称演习并不针对任何第三国。
China and Russia have been holding joint military exercises for more than a decade; they started holding joint naval drills in 2012. The countries see their budding military partnership as a way to show that they do not stand alone, despite efforts by the West to isolate them over various disputes.	十多年来，中俄两国一直在举行联合军演。从2012年起，他们也开始举行联合海军演习。其他国家认为，这种日益成长的中俄军事伙伴关系是在表达一种态度：就算西方在各种争端中试图孤立这两个国家，他们也并非孤立无援。
NATO, which has repeatedly complained in the past about snap Russian military exercises that were not announced in advance, said on Tuesday that it had been aware of plans for the Russo-Chinese naval maneuvers, called Joint Sea 2017, for several weeks. The alliance said it arranged for allied navies to greet the Chinese vessels last week as they headed for the Baltic Sea.	北约曾经多次抱怨俄罗斯不提前宣布军事演习，但本周二，北约表示，几个星期之前它就获悉了两国的“Joint Sea 2017”海军演习计划。北约还表示，它上周安排了盟国的海军前往波罗的海迎接中国军舰。
Piers Cazalet, the acting spokesman for NATO, said that the naval drills in the Baltic Sea "are an example of China's growing military capabilities and its increasingly significant global role."	北约代理发言人皮埃尔·卡扎莱(Piers Cazalet)说，波罗的海的海上演习“是中国日益增长的军事能力及其日益重要的全球角色的例证之一”。
Though China's rapidly growing navy is still focused mainly on the seas around China, particularly the disputed South China Sea, it has extended its reach far beyond, venturing into the Mediterranean, the Baltic and other distant seas.	虽然中国快速增长的海军仍然主要侧重在中国附近的海域，特别是有领土争议的南海，但是它已经把触角伸到了远得多的地方，到达地中海、波罗的海和其他远海。
China, whose leader, Xi Jinping, has established close ties with	中国领导人习近平和俄罗斯总统普京建立了密切的联系，不过中国没有认可

President Vladimir V. Putin of Russia, has not endorsed Russia's annexation of Crimea. But neither has it joined Western calls for Russia to hand the peninsula in the Black Sea swiftly back to Ukraine.	俄罗斯吞并克里米亚。但是它也没有和西方一起，呼吁俄方将黑海上的这个半岛马上归还给乌克兰。
China and Russia share a distaste for Western-style democracy and stress traditional values and the primacy of order, seeing themselves as superior alternatives to Western models rooted in political pluralism.	中国和俄罗斯都嫌弃西方式民主，强调传统价值和秩序至上，认为本国模式优于政治多元化基础上的西方模式。
The naval exercises this week include three Chinese ships and around 10 Russian vessels, led by a joint command center in Baltiysk, a port in the Russian enclave of Kaliningrad that serves as the home base for Russia's Baltic Fleet.	本周的海军演习有3艘中国军舰和大约10艘俄罗斯军舰参加，联合指挥中心设在波罗的斯克(Baltiysk)，这个港口位于俄罗斯的飞地加里宁格勒州(Kaliningrad)，是俄罗斯波罗的海舰队的主要基地。
At a joint ceremony over the weekend, Russian and Chinese naval commanders said the main aim of the exercise was "to train and improve cooperation procedures at sea," according to the Russian defense ministry.	俄罗斯国防部称，两国在周末举行了一个联合仪式，双方海军指挥官说，该演习的主要目的是“在海上训练和改进合作程序”。
Last year, the two countries held a joint naval exercise in the South China Sea, which China claims in its entirety, including all the islands, islets and reefs in it, in defiance of rival claims by other countries in the region and opposition from the United States.	去年，两国在南海举行了联合海军演习。中国声称拥有整个南海的主权，包括所有岛屿、小岛和珊瑚礁。该地区其他国家对这些领土主权的声明，以及美国的反对，都遭到了中国的无视。
The Baltic Sea is also fraught with geopolitical tension. Baltic nations like Estonia often complain that Russian warplanes and naval vessels operate too close to their borders without warning.	波罗的海的地缘政治局势也很紧张。爱沙尼亚等波罗的海国家经常抱怨说，俄罗斯的战机和军舰在没有提前警告的情况下过于接近其边界。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170726/china-russia-baltic-navy-exercises	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170726/china-russia-baltic-navy-exercises
International Monetary Fund Based in Beijing? Maybe, Its Director Says	十年后，IMF总部会迁至北京吗？
WASHINGTON — Christine Lagarde, the managing director of the	华盛顿——国际货币基金组织(International Monetary Fund)总裁克里斯蒂

International Monetary Fund, joked on Monday about donning “dream binoculars” and seeing the possibility of relocating the group’s headquarters to China.	娜·拉加德(Christine Lagarde)周一开玩笑说，她举起了“梦想的望远镜”，看到了将该组织总部迁至中国的可能性。
“We might not be sitting in Washington D.C.,” Ms. Lagarde said at a Center for Global Development event here in which she envisioned what the I.M.F. might look like in 2027.	“届时我们可能就不是坐在华盛顿了，”拉加德在这里的一场全球发展中心(Center for Global Development)活动中说道，她在讲话中展望了2027年的IMF会是怎样的一番模样。
Ms. Lagarde may joke, but her comments reflect a concern that world leaders have about the changing role of the United States in global organizations. The articles of the organization say the headquarters should be the country of the member with the largest economy.	拉加德也许是在开玩笑，但她的话反映了世界领导人的一种关切，他们担心美国在国际机构中的角色将发生改变。IMF章程规定总部应该设于其成员国中的最大经济体中。
When the United States, Britain and other global powers met in Bretton Woods in 1944 near the end of World War II to stabilize the world’s economies, the United States’ overwhelming economic power was reflected in the decision to base both the I.M.F. and the World Bank in its capital. It is a decision that is sometimes questioned given the growth of economies like India and China.	1944年第二次世界大战行将结束之际，美国、英国及其他大国齐聚布雷顿森林，以求稳定世界经济，IMF和世界银行(World Bank)总部皆设于美国首都的决定，反映了这个国家无与伦比的经济实力。而鉴于印度、中国等国的经济增长，这个决定时常遭到质疑。
Beijing has signaled its eagerness to play a greater role in the global economy with the rise of Chinese-backed regional institutions, such as the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank, a rival to the World Bank.	随着由中国支持的地地区性机构的崛起，比如与世界银行分庭抗礼的亚洲基础设施投资银行(Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank)，北京已经表现出在世界经济中发挥更大作用的意愿。
And since President Trump gained the White House on an anti-globalization platform, pledging to withdraw from the Paris climate change agreement and rewrite longstanding trade agreements, world leaders, including Ms. Lagarde, have closely observed the changing global role of the United States.	特朗普总统凭借反全球化的竞选纲领入主白宫，誓要退出巴黎气候变化协定，重写一些缔结已久的贸易协议，自那以来，包括拉加德在内的世界领导人一直在密切关注美国的全球角色转变。
Speaking to a packed audience in the capital, Ms. Lagarde did play	美国这个国家正在和IMF走向不一样的方向。在其首都的众多听众面前，拉

down the impact of the United States pursuing an agenda that diverged from that of the I.M.F.	加德的确淡化了美国这种做法的影响。
"The world is changing, that is No. 1," Ms. Lagarde said, pointing out that emerging and low-income countries now contribute around 60 percent of total GDP and 80 percent of global growth.	"首先，世界在改变，"拉加德说，她指出如今 GDP 总额的 60%左右来自新兴国家和低收入国家，全球增长的 80%来自于它们。
"No. 2, one needs to look at the deeds more than the creeds and what is actually being done. Where is money actually being invested?"	"其次，人们应该多看行动，少谈信条，看看实际上在做些什么。什么地方是真的在投资？"
Despite Ms. Lagarde's comments, analysts point out the United States' veto power at the I.M.F. gives Washington a crucial role in the institution. The fund's leadership is careful to keep the White House on its side following every change in administration.	然而分析人士认为，尽管有拉加德的这番话，美国在 IMF 的否决权让华盛顿依然在这个机构内扮演着关键角色。伴随着美国政府的每一次换届改变，基金组织领导层一直在小心翼翼地保持与白宫的紧密关系。
"There is no doubt she must be deeply concerned by the turn we have taken in Washington but there is no advantage to her in using inflammatory language," said Benn Steil, a senior fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations.	"我们在华盛顿的转向无疑会让她深为担忧，但是煽动性的言辞对她没什么好处，"对外关系委员会(Council on Foreign Relations)高级研究员本·斯太尔(Benn Steil)说。
"At the end, she is a servant of the shareholders and of course, one in particular has overwhelming power with the organization, so the best she can do is prod."	"说到底她是股东的仆人，当然，她是一个在该机构有着无上权威的仆人，因此她最多就是做出一些激励。"
In her remarks on Monday, Ms. Lagarde also discussed the I.M.F.'s latest World Economic Outlook, in which it forecast 3.5 percent growth in the global economy this year, picking up to 3.6 percent in 2018.	在周一的讲话中，拉加德还谈到 IMF 最新发布的《世界经济展望》(World Economic Outlook)，其中预测今年全球经济增长为 3.5%，到 2018 年会增至 3.6%。
It revised its forecasts downward for Britain, given the risks around Brexit, and for the United States, given what Ms. Lagarde labeled "less obvious fiscal development and less rapid infrastructure investment than we had initially thought."	鉴于脱欧的风险，报告下调了对英国的预期，而由于拉加德称美国的"财政发展和基建投资未能达到我们预想的程度"，因此也被下调。

She identified the major medium-term risks to the world economy as inequality, the “backlash” against globalization, international trade and technological breakthroughs.	她认为世界经济中期主要风险是不平等，以及对全球化、世界贸易和技术突破的“抵触”。
She warned of those who feel left behind by globalization — those who feel “there is nothing there for them, as a result of which, populist voices can actually carry the day and prevail over other forces” — a group political analysts have identified as driving Mr. Trump’s win in November.	她提醒人们注意那些感到被全球化遗弃的人——他们觉得“自己从中得不到任何好处，因此民粹主义的声音就开始响亮起来，压过了其他力量”——一些政治分析人士认为，正是这种声音促成了特朗普在去年十一月的胜利。
Having joked about the possibility of the I.M.F. headquarters relocating to Beijing in ten years, she also flagged concerns around China’s commitments to the Paris accord.	在笑称 IMF 总部十年后可能迁至北京后，她也表达了对中国的巴黎协议承诺的忧虑。
“It will be critically important in order to secure staff eagerness to travel that the climate change commitments made by China be actually respected and acted upon,” Ms. Lagarde said.	“要确保工作人员愿意漂洋过海，十分关键的一点是中国对气候变化的承诺真正得到尊重，并且有所行动，”拉加德说。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170726/christine-lagarde-international-monetary-fund	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170726/christine-lagarde-international-monetary-fund
For China’s Global Ambitions, ‘Iran Is at the Center of Everything’	中国“一带一路”计划，伊朗发挥关键作用
NEYSHABUR, Iran — When Zuao Ru Lin, a Beijing entrepreneur, first heard about business opportunities in eastern Iran, he was skeptical. But then he bought a map and began to envision the region without any borders, as one enormous market.	伊朗内沙布尔——北京企业家林祚汝（音）第一次听说伊朗东部的商业机会时，他颇为怀疑。不过他买了张地图，并开始把该地区想象成一个没有任何边界的巨大市场。
“Many countries are close by, even Europe,” Mr. Lin, 49, said while driving his white BMW over the highway connecting Tehran to the eastern Iranian city of Mashhad recently. “Iran is at the center of everything.”	近期的一天，49岁林祚汝在连接德黑兰和伊朗东部城市马什哈德的高速公路上驾驶着自己的白色宝马，他边开车边说，“许多国家、甚至欧洲都离这里不远。伊朗是一切的中心。”

For millenniums, Iran has prospered as a trading hub linking East and West. Now, that role is set to expand in coming years as China unspools its "One Belt, One Road" project, which promises more than $1 trillion in infrastructure investment — bridges, rails, ports and energy — in over 60 countries across Europe, Asia and Africa. Iran, historically a crossroads, is strategically at the center of those plans.	几千年来，作为连接东西方的贸易枢纽，伊朗一直很兴旺发达。现在，随着中国推进其“一带一路”计划，承诺在欧洲、亚洲和非洲的 60 多个国家的基础设施——桥梁、铁路、港口和能源——上投资逾 1 万亿美元，伊朗的这个角色将在未来几年里扩大。历史上是一个枢纽的伊朗，如今坐落在这些计划的战略位置上。
Like pieces of a sprawling geopolitical puzzle, components of China's infrastructure network are being put in place. In eastern Iran, Chinese workers are busily modernizing one of the country's major rail routes, standardizing gauge sizes, improving the track bed and rebuilding bridges, with the ultimate goal of connecting Tehran to Turkmenistan and Afghanistan.	正如一个庞大地缘政治拼图的小片，中国的基础设施网络正在一片一片地组装起来。在伊朗东部，中国工人正忙着让该国的主要铁道路线实现现代化，包括将轨距标准化、改进道床、重建桥梁，最终目的是将德黑兰与土库曼斯坦和阿富汗连接起来。
Much the same is happening in western Iran, where railroad crews are working to link the capital to Turkey and, eventually, to Europe. Other rail projects will connect Tehran and Mashhad with deepwater ports in the country's south.	许多同样的事情也在伊朗西部上演着，修建铁路的人正在那里将德黑兰与土耳其连接起来，并最终连到欧洲。其他铁路项目将把德黑兰和马什哈德与伊朗南部的深水港口连接起来。
Once dependent on Beijing during the years of international isolation imposed by the West for its nuclear program, Iran is now critical to China's ability to realize its grandiose ambitions. Other routes to Western markets are longer and lead through Russia, potentially a competitor of China.	西方因伊朗的核计划曾对其实施制裁，在该国被国际社会孤立的那些年里，伊朗曾一度依赖北京，而如今，伊朗对中国实现其宏大野心的能力来说至关重要。通往西方市场的其他路线更长，而且要经过俄罗斯——中国潜在的竞争对手。
"It is not as if their project is canceled if we don't participate," said Asghar Fakhrieh-Kashan, the Iranian deputy minister of roads and urban development. "But if they want to save time and money, they will choose the shortest route."	“并不是说，如果我们不参与的话，他们的计划就会取消，”伊朗负责道路和城市发展的副部长阿斯加尔·法克里耶-卡山(Asghar Fakhrieh-Kashan)说。“但是，如果他们想节省时间和金钱的话，他们会选择最短的路线。”

He added with a smile: "There are also political advantages to Iran, compared to Russia. They are highly interested in working with us."	他微笑着补充：“与俄罗斯相比，伊朗也有政治优势。他们对与我们合作非常感兴趣。”
Others worry that with the large-scale Chinese investment and China's growing presence in the Iranian economy, Tehran will become more dependent than ever on China, already its biggest trading partner.	也有人担心，由于大规模的中国投资、以及中国在伊朗经济中日益重要的地位，德黑兰将比以往任何时候都更依赖中国，中国已经是伊朗最大的贸易伙伴。
China is also an important market for Iranian oil, and because of remaining unilateral American sanctions that intimidate global banks, it is the only source of the large amounts of capital Iran needs to finance critical infrastructure projects. But that, apparently, is a risk the leadership is prepared to take.	中国也是伊朗石油的一个重要市场，而且，美国仍保持着对伊朗的单方制裁，让全球的银行不敢与伊朗做生意，中国就成了伊朗投资关键的基础设施项目所需的大笔资金的唯一来源。但是很显然，伊朗领导人对冒这个险已做好了准备。
"China is dominating Iran," said Mehdi Taghavi, an economics professor at Allameh Tabataba'i University in Tehran, adding that the "Iranian authorities do not see any drawbacks to being dependent on China. Together, we are moving ahead."	“中国在主导伊朗，”位于德黑兰的阿拉梅赫·塔拜塔贝大学(Allameh Tabataba'i University)的经济学教授迈赫迪·塔伽维(Mehdi Taghavi)说，他补充道，“伊朗当局看不到什么依赖中国的弊端。我们正在携手向前迈进。”
It is not just roads and rail lines that Iran is getting from China. Iran is also becoming an increasingly popular destination for Chinese entrepreneurs like Mr. Lin. With a few words of Persian, as well as low-interest loans and tax breaks from the Chinese and Iranian governments, he has built a small empire since moving to Iran in 2002. His eight factories make a wide variety of goods that find markets in Iran and in neighboring countries.	伊朗从中国得到的不仅是公路和铁路。对像林祚汝这样的中国企业家来说，伊朗也越来越具吸引力。在低利率贷款、以及中国和伊朗两国政府提供的税收优惠的帮助下，只会说几句波斯语的林祚汝自2002年来到伊朗，已在这里建立了一个小王国。他的八家工厂生产的各种各样的商品，均在伊朗和周边国家找到了市场。
"You can say that I was even more visionary than some of our politicians," Mr. Lin said with a laugh. Since 2013, when the "One Belt, One Road" plan was started, he has had dozens of visitors from China and multiple meetings with the Chinese ambassador in Tehran. "I was a	“你可以说，我甚至比我们的一些政客们更有远见，”林祚汝笑着说。自从“一带一路”计划于2013年开始以来，他已经接待了几十名来自中国的访客，并与中国驻德黑兰的大使举行过几次会面。“我是带头的人，他们希望听听我的经验，”他说。

pioneer, and they want to hear my experiences," he said.
Mr. Lin established his factories along what will be a key part of the trade route — a 575-mile electrified rail line linking Tehran and Mashhad, financed with a $1.6 billion loan from China. When completed and attached to the wider network, the new line will enable Mr. Lin to export his goods as far as northern Europe, Poland and Russia, at much less cost than today.	林祚汝沿着即将成为贸易路线的一个关键地段修建了工厂。这条电气化铁路是用中国 16 亿美元的贷款修建的，全长 575 英里（约 925 公里），连接德黑兰和马什哈德。在这条铁路修好，与更广泛的铁路网络连接起来之后，林祚汝将能把自己的商品出口到遥远的北欧、波兰和俄罗斯，而且成本会比现在的低得多。
"I am expecting a 50 percent increase in revenue," Mr. Lin said. He lit another cigarette. "Of course, Iran's economy will also grow. China will expand. Its power will grow."	"预计收入将增加 50%，"林祚汝说，他又点上了一根香烟。"当然，伊朗的经济也将增长。中国将进一步扩张。中国的力量将继续增长。"
He played Chinese pop music in his car and tapped his fingers on the wheel. "Life is good in Iran," he said. "The future is good."	他在汽车里播放着中国的流行音乐，用手指随着节奏敲打着方向盘。"伊朗的生活很不错，"他说。"未来很好。"
Iranians who spotted Mr. Lin driving between his factories waved and smiled. Having mastered a few basic phrases in Persian over the years, he said "hi" and "goodbye" to some of his 2,000 employees. Iranians are hard workers, he said, but he does not like their food. "We grow our own vegetables and eat Chinese food," he said. "Just like home."	看到开着车往返于自己的工厂之间的林祚汝的伊朗人微笑着向他挥手。已经在多年的时间里掌握了几个基本波斯文短语的林祚汝，对自己 2000 名员工中的一些人说了"你好"和"再见"。伊朗人工作很勤奋，他说，但是他不喜欢伊朗的食物。"我们自己种菜，做中国饭吃，"他说。"就像在家里那样。"
Even when the boss was out of earshot, workers in his factories said that they were very happy with the Chinese. "They pay every month on time and only hire people instead of fire," Amir Dalilian, a guard, said. "If more will come, our economy will flourish."	即使老板听不见时，他工厂里的工人也说，他们很喜欢中国人。"他们每月按时支付工资，只雇人，不解雇人，"担任保安员的阿米尔·达里利安(Amir Dalilian)说。"如果有更多的人来，我们的经济将会发展得更快。"
When finished, the proposed rail link will stretch nearly 2,000 miles, from Urumqi, the capital of China's western region of Xinjiang, to Tehran. If all goes according to plan, it will connect Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Uzbekistan and Turkmenistan, China's state-owned paper,	建成后，这条在建的铁路全长将达到 2000 英里（约合 3200 公里），把中国西部新疆地区的首府城市乌鲁木齐与德黑兰连接起来。如果一切顺利的话，这条铁路还将连接到哈萨克斯坦、吉尔吉斯斯坦、乌兹别克斯坦和土库曼斯坦，据中国官方报纸《中国日报》报道。轨道间距需要调整，需要修建新的

China Daily, wrote. Track sizes need to be adjusted and new connections made, as well as upgrades to the newest trains.	铁路，还要把列车升级到最新型号。
In a 2016 test, China and Iran drove a train from the port of Shanghai in eastern China to Tehran in just 12 days, a journey that takes 30 days by sea. In Iran, they used the existing track between Tehran and Mashhad, powered by a slower diesel-powered train. When the new line is opened in 2021, it is expected to accommodate electric trains at speeds up to 125 miles an hour.	在 2016 年的一次测试中，中国和伊朗人仅用了短短 12 天的时间，就把一节火车从中国东部的上海港口开到了德黑兰，如果走海路的话，需要 30 天的时间。他们在伊朗段使用了德黑兰到马什哈德之间的现有轨道，上面行驶的是速度较慢、以柴油为动力的火车。新铁路预计将在 2021 通车，将启用电动列车，时速预计将达每小时 125 英里（约合 200 公里）。
Mr. Fakhrieh-Kashan, an English speaker who oversees negotiation of most of the larger international state business deals, said the Chinese initiative would do much more than just provide a channel for transporting goods. "Think infrastructure, city planning, cultural exchanges, commercial agreements, investments and tourism," he said. "You can pick any project, they are all under this umbrella."	会说英语的法克里耶-卡山负责伊朗大多数大型国际商务的谈判工作，他说，这个中国项目将带来更多的东西，不仅仅是提供一个货物运输的通道。“还有基础设施、城市规划、文化交流、商业协议、投资和旅游，”他说。“任何你能想出来的项目，都在这个计划之下。”
Business ties between Iran and China have been growing since the United States and its European allies at the time started pressuring Iran over its nuclear program around 2007. China remains the largest buyer of Iranian crude, even after Western sanctions were lifted in 2016, allowing Iran to again sell oil in European markets.	自从美国及其欧洲盟国在 2007 年前后，因为伊朗的核计划开始对该国施压以来，伊朗与中国的商业往来一直在增加。中国一直是伊朗原油的最大买家，即使是在西方于 2016 年解除了制裁，允许伊朗再次向欧洲市场出售石油之后。
Chinese state companies are active all over the country, building highways, digging mines and making steel. Tehran's shops are flooded with Chinese products and its streets clogged with Chinese cars.	中国国有企业在伊朗各地都很活跃，从事着修建高速公路、采矿和炼钢等业务。德黑兰的商店里充斥着中国的产品，街道上都是中国产的汽车。
Iran's leaders hope that the country's participation in the plan will enable them to piggyback on China's large economic ambitions.	伊朗领导人希望，参与“一带一路”计划将让他们能搭上中国巨大经济野心的便车。
"The Chinese plan is designed in such a way that it will establish	"这个中国计划是这样设计的，它将在全球一半的地方建立中国的霸权，"法

Chinese hegemony across half of the world," Mr. Fakhrieh-Kashan said. "While Iran will put its own interests first, we are creating corridors at the requests of the Chinese. It will give us huge access to new markets."	克里耶-卡山说。“虽然伊朗会首先考虑自身的利益，但我们正在中国的要求下开辟一条走廊。这条走廊将让我们能进入巨大的新市场。”
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170726/iran-china-business-ties	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170726/iran-china-business-ties
Freed From ISIS, Yazidi Women Return in 'Severe Shock'	ISIS 性奴逃出魔掌，却难摆脱被蹂躏的噩梦
SHARIYA CAMP, Iraq — The 16-year-old lies on her side on a mattress on the floor, unable to hold up her head. Her uncle props her up to drink water, but she can barely swallow. Her voice is so weak, he places his ear directly over her mouth to hear her.	伊拉克沙里亚——这位 16 岁的少女侧卧在就地放置的床垫上，无法抬头。叔叔扶她起来喝水，但她几乎无法下咽。她的声音很微弱，叔叔直接把耳朵凑在她嘴边，才能听到她的声音。
The girl, Souhayla, walked out of the most destroyed section of Mosul this month, freed after three years of captivity and serial rape when her Islamic State captor was killed in an airstrike. Her uncle described her condition as "shock." He had invited reporters to Souhayla's bedside so they could document what the terror group's system of sexual abuse had done to his niece.	女孩名叫苏海拉(Souhayla)，本月从摩苏尔毁损最严重的区域生还；在身陷囹圄、遭到三年持续强奸、直到囚禁她的伊斯兰国成员在空袭中丧生之后，她才获得自由。叔叔说她处在“震惊”中。他邀请记者到苏海拉的床边，记录下伊斯兰国的性虐待制度对侄女的残害。
"This is what they have done to our people," said Khalid Taalo, her uncle.	她的叔叔哈立德·塔洛(Khalid Taalo)说：“这就是他们对我们的人做的事情。”
Since the operation to take back Mosul began last year, approximately 180 women, girls and children from the Yazidi ethnic minority who were captured in 2014 by the Islamic State, or ISIS, have been liberated, according to Iraq's Bureau for the Rescue of Abductees.	根据伊拉克被绑架者营救局(Bureau for the Rescue of Abductees)的统计，收复摩苏尔的行动自从去年开始后，约 180 名在 2014 年被伊斯兰国抓走的雅兹迪少数民族妇女、女孩和儿童获得了解救。
Women rescued in the first two years after ISIS overran their ancestral homeland came home with infections, broken limbs and suicidal thoughts. But now, after three years of captivity, women like Souhayla and two others seen last week by reporters, are far more damaged,	ISIS 蹂躏雅兹迪人故土后，头两年获得解救、回到家中的女性往往身体受到感染、断手断脚，心怀自杀的念头。但现在，经过三年的囚禁，记者们上周见到的苏海拉和其他两名妇女受到的伤害更大，迹象显示她们遭受了非同寻常的心理伤害。 displaying extraordinary signs of psychological injury.

"Very tired," "unconscious" and "in severe shock and psychological upset" were the descriptions used by Dr. Nagham Nawzat Hasan, a Yazidi gynecologist who has treated over 1,000 of the rape victims.	"非常累", "没有了意识", 以及"严重震惊和心理障碍", 这是治疗了 1000 多名强奸受害者的雅兹迪妇科医生纳加姆·纳扎特·哈桑(Nagham Nawzat Hasan)对她们的描述。
"We thought the first cases were difficult," Hasan said. "But those after the liberation of Mosul, they are very difficult."	"我们本以为第一批例子很惨。"哈桑说, "但收复摩苏尔之后看到的情况更惨。"
The shock expresses itself in women and girls who sleep for days on end, seemingly unable to wake up, said Hussein Qaidi, the director of the abductee rescue bureau. "Ninety percent of the women coming out are like this," he said, for at least part of the time after their return.	被绑架者营救局局长侯赛因·加伊迪(Hussein Qaidi)表示, 处在"震惊"中的妇女和女孩往往连续昏睡多日, 似乎无法醒来。他说, "90%的女性被救出来后都是这样的", 至少回来后有一段时间是这样的。
Both Souhayla and her family asked that she be identified as well as photographed, in an effort to shed light on their community's suffering. Her uncle posted her image on Facebook immediately after her release with a description of what ISIS had done to her.	苏海拉和她的家人要求记者写下她的故事, 拍下照片, 以便揭示雅兹迪人遭受的痛苦。她的叔叔在她获得自由后, 立即在 Facebook 上贴了她的照片, 并描述了 ISIS 对她的蹂躏。
For over a year, Taalo said, he had known his niece's location, as well as the name of the Islamic State fighter holding her. He enlisted the help of a smuggler who at great risk photographed Souhayla through the window of the house where she was being held and sent the images to her family.	塔洛说, 一年多前, 他就已经知道了侄女的下落, 还知道扣留她的伊斯兰国武装分子的名字。他向一个蛇头寻求帮助, 对方冒着巨大的危险, 在囚禁她的房子窗户外拍摄了苏海拉的照片, 发给她的家人。
But it was too perilous to try a rescue.	但是要想救出她就太危险了。
Souhayla escaped on July 9, two days after an airstrike collapsed a wall in the building where she was being held, burying another Yazidi girl who had been held alongside her and killing the captor who had abused them, her uncle said.	她的叔叔说, 一次空袭之后, 关押地点的一面墙倒塌, 将一名跟她一起被囚禁的雅兹迪女孩埋在了下面, 同时杀死了虐待她们的人, 两天后的 7 月 9 日, 她逃了出来。
At that point, she was strong enough to clamber through the rubble	那会儿, 她坚强地爬过瓦砾, 走到最近的一个伊拉克关卡。 and make her way to the first Iraqi checkpoint.

When her family drove to pick her up, she ran to embrace them.	当她的家人开车来接她的时候，她跑过去拥抱他们。
"I ran to her and she ran to me and we started crying and then we started laughing as well," said Taalo, the brother of Souhayla's father, who remains missing after the Islamic State took over their hometown. "We stayed like that holding each other, and we kept crying and laughing, until we fell to the ground."	"我跑向她，她跑向我，我们开始哭起来，然后又大笑，"苏海拉的叔叔塔洛说道。她父亲在伊斯兰国占领他们的故乡后就一直处于失踪状态。"我们一直搀扶着对方，我们一直哭一直笑，直到我们跌倒在地。"
But within hours, she stopped speaking, he said.	不过，在几个小时之后，她就不能说话了，他说。
By the time they reached the camp where her mother and extended family had found refuge after the Islamic State overran their village, Souhayla slipped into what appeared to be unconsciousness. The doctors who examined her have prescribed antibiotics for a urinary tract infection. She also shows signs of malnutrition.	在伊斯兰国占领他们的村庄后，她母亲和一家人就在一个营地避难；当他们到达这个营地时，苏海拉似乎失去了意识。给她做体检的医生开了抗生素，用来治疗她的泌尿道感染。她还有营养不良的迹象。
Neither explain her extreme symptoms, said her family and one of the doctors who examined her.	她的家人和给她做体检的其中一个医生说，这无法解释她的极端症状。
"I'm happy to be home," she whispered with difficulty into her uncle's ear, in response to a reporter's question, "but I'm sick."	"我很高兴回家了，"在回答记者的问题时，她艰难地对着叔叔的耳朵小声说道，"但我病了。"
The Islamic State had been ruling Mosul for two months in 2014 when the group's leaders set their sights on Sinjar, a 60-mile-long, yellow massif to the north. Its foothills and mountain villages have long been the bedrock of life for the Yazidi, a tiny minority who account for less than 2 percent of Iraq's population of 38 million.	在2014年，伊斯兰国曾统治摩苏尔两个月时间，当时这个组织的领导人将目光投向了该市以北的辛贾尔，那是一片60英里（约合97公里）长的黄色山丘。很早以前，那里的山麓丘陵和山村就是雅兹迪人生活的故土。雅兹迪是少数民族，在伊拉克3800万总人口的占比不到2%。
The centuries-old religion of the Yazidi revolves around worship of a single God, who in turn created seven sacred angels. These beliefs led the Islamic State to label the Yazidi as polytheists, a perilous category in	雅兹迪的的宗教有数百年历史，他们崇拜单一的神，而这位神创造了七位神圣的天使。因为这种信仰，伊斯兰国将雅兹迪人称为多神教徒，属于该恐怖主义集团规定的危险类别。

the terrorist group's nomenclature.
Relying on a little-known and mostly defunct corpus of Islamic law, the Islamic State argued that the minority's religious standing rendered them eligible for enslavement.	伊斯兰国引用一个鲜为人知的、大部分已经不再使用的伊斯兰法律，称雅兹迪人的宗教信仰让他们有资格奴役这个少数民族。
On Aug. 3, 2014, convoys of fighters sped up the escarpment, fanning out across the adjoining valleys. Among the first towns they passed on their way up the mountain was Til Qasab, with its low-slung concrete buildings surrounded by plains of blond grass.	2014年8月3日，伊斯兰国武装分子成扇形跨越相邻的山谷，快速爬上陡坡。他们上山途中经过的第一批城镇包括蒂尔盖塞卜(Til Qasab)，这里一片片金色的草地包围着低矮的混凝土建筑。
That's where Souhayla, then 13, lived.	13岁的苏海拉就住在这里。
A total of 6,470 Yazidis on the mountain were abducted, according to Iraqi officials, including Souhayla. Three years later, 3,410 remain in captivity or unaccounted for, Qaidi of the abductee rescue bureau said.	伊拉克官员说，那座山上共有6473人遭到了绑架，其中包括苏海拉。三年后，被绑架者营救局表示，其中有3410人仍然遭到囚禁，或下落不明。
Officials say recent escapees are also showing an unusual degree of indoctrination.	官员们说最近逃出来的这些人，被洗脑的程度也非同寻常。
Two Yazidi sisters, ages 20 and 26, arrived at the Hamam Ali 1 refugee camp, where they drew the attention of camp officials because they wore face-covering niqabs and refused to take them off, despite the fact that Yazidi women do not cover their faces.	两名雅兹迪姐妹，分别为20岁和26岁，她们到达哈马姆阿里(Hamam Ali)难民营后，因为戴着遮面的尼卡布面巾，并且拒绝取下，而引起了营地官员的注意；雅兹迪妇女本来并没有遮面的习惯。
They described the Islamic State fighters who raped them as their "husbands" and as "martyrs," said Muntajab Ibraheem, a camp official and director of the Iraqi Salvation Humanitarian Organization.	营地官员、伊拉克救世人道主义组织(Iraqi Salvation Humanitarian Organization)主任蒙塔加布·易卜拉欣(Muntajab Ibraheem)说，她们把强奸自己的伊斯兰国武装分子称为“丈夫”和“烈士”。
In their arms were the three toddlers they had given birth to in captivity, the children of their rapists. But they refused to nurse them, said the smuggler sent by their family to fetch them. He and camp officials filled out paperwork so that the children could be given to the state, he said.	她们还带着被囚禁期间生下的三个幼儿，都是强奸者的孩子。家人派来带她们回家的蛇头说，她们拒绝给孩子喂奶。蛇头说，他和营地官员填写了申请表，以便把孩子们交给国家。

A video recorded on the smuggler's phone shows what happened when the sisters saw their family for the first time after their return. Their relatives rushed to embrace the gaunt women. They cried.	蛇头用手机拍下一段视频，显示了两姐妹回来后第一次见到家人的场景。他们的亲戚跑过来拥抱两个憔悴的女人。大家哭了起来。
Their mother, distraught, stepped behind the tent, trying to steady herself.	她们的母亲心烦意乱，在帐篷后面走来走去，试图稳定自己的情绪。
A day after the video was taken, reporters went to see the women, and they could no longer stand. They lay on mattresses inside the plastic walls of their tent.	这段视频拍下的一天后，记者去看望她们，这时她们已经不能再站立了。两人躺在塑料帐篷里的床垫上。
Despite the loud voices around them and the flow of visitors, despite their mother's wail, they did not budge.	尽管她们周围闹哄哄的，探视者来来去去，母亲在一旁恸哭，她们却一动不动。
Cars pulled up outside, bringing relatives carrying pallets of orange soda. They left the tent, hands over their mouths, trying to hold back sobs.	汽车在外面停下，亲戚拿着许多橘子汽水下了车。离开帐篷的时候，他们用手捂着嘴巴，极力压抑着啜泣。
Family members said that except for a few brief moments, the women have not awakened since then, over a week ago.	家人说，自那之后，除了有时会清醒几分钟之外，她们一直处在昏睡状况，已经一个多星期了。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170728/isis-yazidi-women-rape-iraq-mosul-slavery	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170728/isis-yazidi-women-rape-iraq-mosul-slavery
Putin, Responding to Sanctions, Orders U.S. to Cut Diplomatic Staff by 755	普京要求美国驻俄外交使团削减 755 名员工
MOSCOW — President Vladimir Putin announced on Sunday that the U.S. diplomatic mission in Russia would have to cut its staff by 755 employees by Sept. 1, a response to the new U.S. sanctions that escalated the tensions between Washington and Moscow.	莫斯科——普京总统周日宣布，美国驻俄罗斯的外交使团必须削减 755 名员工，这是对美国推出新的制裁措施导致华盛顿与莫斯科之间紧张局势升级的回应。
"Over 1,000 employees — diplomats and technical workers — worked and continue to work today in Russia; 755 will have to stop this	官方电视台 Rossiya1 的视频和国际文传电讯社(Interfax)提供的讲话记录显示，普京说：“目前有 1000 多名员工——外交官和技术工作者——在俄罗斯

activity," he said, according to both a clip shown on state-run Rossiya 1 television and a transcript provided by the Interfax news agency.	工作；之后将有 755 人不得离岗了。”
Although the reduction in U.S. diplomatic staff had been announced on Friday, in response to a law passed in Congress last week expanding sanctions against Russia, the president's statement was the first to confirm the large number of embassy personnel involved.	上周国会通过了扩大对俄制裁的法案，俄罗斯在周五就公布了美国外交官数量将被削减的回应措施，但普京的声明首次确认了受影响的使馆人员的庞大数量。
Speaking in a television interview on the Rossiya 1 network, Putin said that Russia had run out of patience waiting for relations with the U.S. to improve.	普京在接受 Rossiya1 电视台采访时说，他们等待俄美关系的改善已经等得不耐烦了。
"We waited for quite some time that maybe something will change for the better, had such hope that the situation will somehow change, but, judging by everything, if it changes, it will not be soon," Putin said in the interview, according to Interfax news agency.	据国际文传电讯社的报道，普京在采访中说：“我们等了很长一段时间，觉得事情也许会好转，我们满心希望会有所变化，但是从各种情况来看，就算会有变化，那也不是很快就会有的。”
Although the initial news alerts in Russia said that Putin had ordered 755 Americans out of the country, the president had actually ordered an overall staff reduction. Not all of those leaving their posts would be Americans expelled from the country.	虽然俄罗斯最开始的新闻推送显示，普京已经下令驱逐 755 名美国人，但实际上，总统的命令是削减整体员工数量。并不是所有离岗的美国人都会被驱逐出境。
Russia has additional options available for further measures against U.S. interests, Putin warned, without going into details. But for the moment, he said, he is opposed to using them. "I hope it will not come to this," he said.	普京警告说，俄罗斯还有更多的选择，可以采取进一步的行动来削弱美国的利益，不过他没有提供细节。他表示，就现在来说，他不同意使用这些手段。“我希望不会走到这一步，”他说。
Russia has been accused of interfering in the U.S. presidential election, including releasing hacked emails embarrassing to the campaign of Hillary Clinton.	俄罗斯被指控干涉美国总统大选，包括公布用黑客手段盗取的电子邮件，让希拉里·克林顿(Hillary Clinton)的竞选活动难堪。
Putin has denied any Russian interference in the U.S. election, saying	普京否认俄罗斯干涉美国大选，声称有人利用美国内部的反俄情绪开展政治

that anti-Russian sentiment in the U.S. was being used to drive an internal political battle.	内斗。
On Friday, the U.S. Embassy in Moscow issued a short statement in which the outgoing American ambassador, John F. Tefft, expressed "his strong disappointment and protest" over the cuts.	上周五, 美国驻莫斯科大使馆发表了一份简短声明, 即将离任的美国驻俄罗斯大使约翰·F·特福特(John F. Tefft)在声明中对人数削减表示了“极大的失望和抗议”。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170731/russia-sanctions-us-diplomats-expelled	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170731/russia-sanctions-us-diplomats-expelled
Behind the Sudden Death of a $1 Billion Secret C.I.A. War in Syria	白宫内情: CIA 秘密行动突然告终
WASHINGTON — The end came quickly for one of the costliest covert action programs in the history of the CIA.	华盛顿——中央情报局(CIA)有史以来最昂贵的秘密行动计划之一即将结束。
During a White House briefing early last month, the CIA director, Mike Pompeo, recommended to President Donald Trump that he shut down a four-year-old effort to arm and train Syrian rebels. The president swiftly ended the program.	上月初在白宫参加简报会时, 中央情报局局长迈克·庞皮欧(Mike Pompeo)建议唐纳德·特朗普总统停止一个历时四年、旨在武装和训练叙利亚反对派的计划。总统迅速做出终止它的决定。
The rebel army was by then a shell, hollowed out by more than a year of bombing by Russian planes and confined to ever-shrinking patches of Syria that government troops had not reconquered. Critics in Congress had complained for years about the costs — more than $1 billion over the life of the program — and reports that some of the CIA-supplied weapons had ended up in the hands of a rebel group tied to al-Qaida further sapped political support for the program.	当时, 反对派军队已是空壳, 被俄罗斯飞机超过一年的轰炸掏空, 其活动范围越来越小, 仅限于叙利亚境内尚未被政府军攻克的零散区域。美国国会中的批评者多年来一直抱怨该计划成本太高——从始至终共耗资超过 10 亿美元——此外, 有报道称中央情报局提供的一些武器最终落入了一个与基地组织有牵连的反对派团体手中, 这让该计划进一步丧失了政治支持。
While critics of Trump have argued that he ended the program to curry favor with President Vladimir Putin of Russia, there were in fact dim views of the effort in both the Trump and Obama White Houses — a rare confluence of opinion on national security policy.	特朗普的批评者认为, 他叫停这一计划是为了讨好俄罗斯总统弗拉基米尔·普京(Vladimir Putin), 但无论在特朗普的白宫还是奥巴马的白宫, 其实都有人对该项目持悲观态度——两者在国家安全政策方面很少有这样的交集。

The shuttering of the CIA program, one of the most expensive efforts to arm and train rebels since the agency's program arming the mujahedeen in Afghanistan during the 1980s, has forced a reckoning over its successes and failures. Opponents say it was foolhardy, expensive and ineffective. Supporters say that it was unnecessarily cautious, and that its achievements were remarkable given that the Obama administration had so many restrictions on it from the start, which they say ultimately ensured its failure.	中央情报局的这个计划，是自该机构在 1980 年代武装阿富汗圣战组织以来费用最高昂的行动之一。该计划被叫停，让人不得不去思考它的成功与失败之处。反对者说它鲁莽、昂贵而又低效。支持者则认为它谨慎到了过头的程度，而且鉴于奥巴马政府从一开始就将太多限制加诸其上，它取得的成果堪称惊人——他们说正是那些限制最终导致了它的失败。
The program did have periods of success, including in 2015 when rebels using tank-destroying missiles, supplied by the CIA and also Saudi Arabia, routed government forces in northern Syria. But by late 2015 the Russian military offensive in Syria was focusing squarely on the CIA-backed fighters battling Syrian government troops. Many of the fighters were killed, and the fortunes of the rebel army reversed.	该计划的确取得过片刻的成功，其中包括在 2015 年，反对派利用中央情报局以及沙特阿拉伯提供的反坦克导弹，击溃了叙利亚北部的政府军。但到了 2015 年末，俄罗斯开始将其在叙利亚境内的军事攻势对准得到中央情报局支持的反叙利亚政府军武装。很多武装人员被杀死，反对派军队的处境急转直下。
Charles Lister, a Syria expert at the Middle East Institute, said he was not surprised that the Trump administration ended the program, which armed and trained thousands of Syrian rebels. (By comparison, a $500 million Pentagon program that envisioned training and equipping 15,000 Syrian rebels over three years, was canceled in 2015 after producing only a few dozen fighters.)	中东研究所(Middle East Institute)叙利亚问题专家查尔斯·利斯特(Charles Lister)说，特朗普政府叫停这个武装和训练了成千上万叙利亚反对派武装人员的计划，并不让他感到意外。(相比之下，五角大楼的一个预计耗资 5 亿美元、用三年时间训练和武装 1.5 万名叙利亚反对派的项目，刚刚培养出几十名武装人员，便于 2015 年被取消。)
"In many ways, I would put the blame on the Obama administration," Lister said of the CIA program. "They never gave it the necessary resources or space to determine the dynamics of the battlefield. They were drip-feeding opposition groups just enough to survive but never enough to become dominant actors."	"在很多方面，我都会把问题归咎于奥巴马政府，"利斯特谈及中央情报局的计划时说。"他们从未给予它必要的资源或空间，去决定战场上的态势。靠着他们像挤牙膏一样提供的支持，反对派团体可以勉强存续下去，但绝对无法成为主导力量。"

Trump has twice publicly criticized the effort since he ended it. After The Washington Post first reported on his decision, Trump tweeted that he was ending “massive, dangerous, and wasteful payments to Syrian rebels fighting Assad.” During an interview with The Wall Street Journal last month, the president said many of the CIA-supplied weapons ended up in the hands of al-Qaida — presumably a reference to the al-Qaida-affiliated Nusra Front, which often fought alongside the CIA-backed rebels.	叫停该计划后，特朗普曾两度公开对它加以批评。《华盛顿邮报》(The Washington Post)率先报道了特朗普的决定，随后特朗普发推称，他要终结“用于叙利亚反阿萨德武装的巨大、危险而又不必要的开销”。上月接受《华尔街日报》(The Wall Street Journal)采访时，总统说中央情报局提供的很多武器都落入了基地组织手中——他指的可能是基地组织的分支、常常和中央情报局支持的反对派并肩战斗的努斯拉阵线(Nusra Front)。
Michael V. Hayden, a former CIA director, said the president’s comments “might give the agency pause with regard to how much he will have their backs on any future covert actions.”	中央情报局前局长迈克尔·V·海登(Michael V Hayden)说，总统的言论“可能会让中情局感到踌躇，不确定他将在多大程度上支持他们今后的任何秘密行动”。
Gen. Raymond A. Thomas III, the commander of U.S. Special Operations Command, said during a conference last month that ending the CIA program was a “tough, tough decision.”	美国特种作战司令部(U.S. Special Operations Command)司令雷蒙德·托马斯三世(Raymond Thomas III)上将上月的一场会议上表示，叫停中央情报局的计划是一个“非常艰难的决定”。
“At least from what I know about that program and the decision to end it, it was absolutely not a sop to the Russians,” he said. “It was, I think based on an assessment of the nature of the program, what we’re trying to accomplish, the viability of it going forward.”	“至少就我对该计划以及叫停决定的了解来看，这绝不是为了安抚俄罗斯，”他说。“我认为相关决定是以对该计划的本质、我们试图达成的目标，以及继续实施计划的可行性的评估为基础。”
A CIA spokesman declined to comment.	中央情报局的一名发言人拒绝置评。
President Barack Obama had reluctantly agreed to the program in 2013 as the administration was struggling to blunt the momentum of Syrian government forces loyal to President Bashar Assad. It soon fell victim to the constantly shifting alliances in Syria’s six-year-old civil war and the limited visibility that U.S. military and intelligence officials had over what was occurring on the ground.	2013年，在奥巴马政府难以遏制忠于巴沙尔·阿萨德(Bashar Assad)总统的叙利亚政府军的势头之际，贝拉克·奥巴马总统很不情愿地同意了这个计划。很快，它就因为叙利亚六年内战期间同盟关系不断变化，以及美国军方和情报界官员对当地实际情况了解有限而受到拖累。

Once CIA-trained fighters crossed into Syria, CIA officers had difficulty controlling them. The fact that some of their CIA weapons ended up with Nusra Front fighters — and that some of the rebels joined the group — confirmed the fears of many in the Obama administration when the program began. Although the Nusra Front was widely seen as an effective fighting force against Assad's troops, its al-Qaida affiliation made it impossible for the Obama administration to provide direct support for the group.	由中央情报局培训的武装人员一旦进入叙利亚境内，该机构就很难控制他们了。他们从中央情报局处拿到的武器，有的最终落入努斯拉阵线武装人员手中——一些反对派还加入了努斯拉阵线——这让计划实施之初奥巴马政府中很多人的担忧得到了证实。努斯拉阵线被普遍视为一支可以有效对抗阿萨德军队的力量，但它是基地组织的分支，因此奥巴马政府不可能为它提供直接的支持。
John O. Brennan, Obama's last CIA director, remained a vigorous defender of the program despite divisions inside the spy agency about the effort's effectiveness. But by the final year of the Obama administration, the program had lost many supporters in the White House — especially after the administration's top priority in Syria became battling the Islamic State, also known as ISIS or ISIL, rather than seeking an end to Assad's government.	奥巴马在任期间的最后一名中央情报局局长约翰·O·布伦南(John O. Brennan)曾积极为这一项目辩护，尽管该间谍机构内部对此项行动的有效性看法不一。但到了奥巴马政府执政的最后一年，该计划在白宫失去了很多支持者，尤其是在对抗伊斯兰国（Islamic State，又称 ISIS 或 ISIL）——而非寻求终结阿萨德政府的统治——成为奥巴马政府在叙利亚的重中之重以后。
During one meeting in the White House Situation Room at the end of the Obama administration, with CIA-backed rebels continuing to lose ground in the face of withering Russian air bombing, Brennan pressed the case that the United States continue to back the effort to topple Assad, according to one person who attended the meeting.	奥巴马政府执政末期，当中央情报局支持的反对派在俄罗斯人猛烈的空袭之下节节败退的时候，一场会议在白宫局势研究室内召开。据一名参会者透露，布伦南在会上坚称，美国应该继续支持该计划，以便推翻阿萨德。
But Susan E. Rice, the national security adviser, shot back. "Make no mistake," she said, according to the person in the meeting. "The president's priority in Syria is fighting ISIS."	但时任国家安全顾问苏珊·E·赖斯(Susan E. Rice)出言反对。前述参会者称，赖斯说：“别搞错了，总统在叙利亚的首要目标是打击 ISIS。”
Backed by Russian aircraft, Syrian government forces gradually began to reclaim areas near the Turkish border that had long been rebel	叙利亚政府军在俄方飞机的支持下，逐渐开始收复靠近土耳其边境的一些长期充当反对派要塞的地区，最终把很多反对派赶回了陷入包围的阿勒颇。

strongholds, and eventually pushed many of the rebels back to the besieged city of Aleppo.
Aleppo fell to Syrian government troops in December.	阿勒颇于去年 12 月被叙利亚政府军攻陷。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170804/cia-syria-rebel-arm-train-trump	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170804/cia-syria-rebel-arm-train-trump
Denmark's Prince Henrik Wanted to Be King. So He'll Protest for Eternity.	丹麦亲王不满地位和头衔，不愿与女王合葬
COPENHAGEN — Prince Henrik of Denmark has been married to the country's queen for 50 years, and he has been carrying a grudge the whole time. Now, in an act of protest, he says he no longer wishes to be buried by her side, the Royal Danish House announced on Thursday.	哥本哈根——丹麦的亨里克亲王与该国王后的婚姻已经持续了 50 年，但他一直心有积怨。如今，为示抗议，他说自己不希望去世后葬在她身边，丹麦王室于周四宣布了这一消息。
Behind the decision lies decades of frustration over what he sees as unequal treatment.	这个决定背后是他几十年来的沮丧，他一直认为自己遭受了不平等的待遇。
Henrik, now 83, married Queen Margrethe II in 1967, and was later bestowed with the title of the queen's prince consort. But what he really wanted was to be king — or in this case "king consort."	现年 83 岁的亨里克于 1967 年与玛格丽特二世女王结婚，后来被赋予以女王的配偶亲王称号。但他真正想要的是成为国王——或者在他的情况下来说，是“配偶国王”。
"It is no secret that the prince for many years has been unhappy with his role and the title he has been awarded in the Danish monarchy," the Royal Danish House's director of communications, Lene Balleby, told the tabloid newspaper BT. "This discontent has grown more and more in recent years."	"多年来，亲王对丹麦君主政体授予他的角色和称号感到不满，这已经不是什么秘密，"丹麦王室的通讯联络主管莱内·巴列比(Lene Balleby)告诉小报《BT》。"近年来，他的不满情绪越来越多。"
"For the prince, the decision not to be buried beside the queen is the natural consequence of not having been treated equally to his spouse — by not having the title and role he has desired," Ms. Balleby added.	"对于亲王来说，做出不埋葬在女王身边的决定是很自然的，因为他没有得到身为配偶的平等待遇——没有得到他所期望的头衔和角色，"巴列比补充道。
The prince has not announced where he would like to be buried	亲王尚未宣布自己希望被埋葬的地点。

instead.
Queen Margrethe II, 77, serves as Denmark's head of state and is responsible for signing all laws passed by Parliament. But the country's legislative powers have been in the hands of elected governments since 1849.	现年 77 岁的玛格丽特女王二世是丹麦国家元首，负责签署议会通过的所有法律。但是自从 1849 年以来，该国的立法权一直掌握在民选政府手中。
Henrik's complaints about his title and position have increased in recent years, but he also made his grievance known publicly more than three decades ago when he complained about not receiving his own annual salary.	近年来，亨里克对自己的头衔和位置的抱怨有所增加，但在 30 多年前，他也曾公开发过牢骚，抱怨没有收到年薪。
"The first hint came around his 50th birthday when he said on TV he found it difficult to ask his wife for pocket money for cigarettes," said Stephanie Surrugue, a journalist and author of a biography of the prince, titled "Loner."	"第一个迹象是他 50 岁生日时在电视上说的话，他说很难启齿向妻子讨要买烟的零花钱，"亲王的传记《孤独者》(Loner)的作者、记者史蒂芬妮·苏拉格(Stephanie Surrugue)说。
He eventually did receive a salary and staff, but he never got the title he wanted.	他最终得到了一份工资和一组工作人员，但他从来没有得到他想要的头衔。
The Danish court's reasoning is that the practice is in line with that of other European royal families, but that has not mollified Henrik.	丹麦王室的理由是，这种做法与其他欧洲王室的做法是一致的，但这种说法没有安抚住亨里克。
"He has said he loves his wife, but has difficulties with the queen as an institution," Ms. Surrugue said. His ambition is not to be crowned regent, she said, but in many ways "he doesn't feel treated as part of the ruling couple."	苏拉格说，"他说过他爱妻子，但是和身为国体一部分的女王相处很难。"她还表示，他的夙愿并不是成为加冕的摄政王，但是在许多方面，"他感到自己没有被视为执政夫妇的一部分。"
"That's what his protest is about," she said.	"这就是他要抗议的东西，"她说。
The prince retired from most of his official duties last year and is rarely seen in public. Ms. Balleby said that the couple's marriage and the queen's work would not be affected by Henrik's change of plans on his	从去年开始，亲王已经从大部分的官方任务中退下来，很少在公共场合出现。巴列比说，亨里克对自己安葬地点安排的改变，不会影响二人的婚姻和女王的工作。 final resting place.

Denmark has long prided itself as a nation that has for centuries aimed for gender equality, but Henrik's call for equal rights has often been mocked.	长期以来，丹麦一直以该国过去几个世纪中都在争取两性平等而自豪，但亨里克对平等权利的呼吁往往遭到嘲笑。
"It's absolutely ridiculous," Karen Sjoerup, an associate professor at Roskilde University who specializes in gender issues, told Politiken, a daily newspaper, of the prince's demands for gender equality. "The court is not based on equality, but on the right of inheritance," she said. "The law on gender equality does not apply to the royal court."	"这是绝对可笑的，"罗斯基勒大学专门从事性别问题研究的克伦·舍约普(Kraren Sjoerup)副教授在接受日报《政治家》(Politiken)采访时这样评价亲王对性别平等的要求。"王室的决定不是基于平等，而是基于继承权，"她说。"关于两性平等的法律不适用于王室。"
When Henrik married Margrethe, who was then crown princess, he was a successful diplomat in the French foreign service and a member of the nobility.	同亨里克结婚时，玛格丽特已是女王储，亨里克则是一位成功的法国外交官，也是一名贵族。
In marrying Margrethe, he exchanged his career for an undefined role as the queen's spouse — a first in the history of Denmark, where all previous monarchs had been male aside from a 14th-century queen, who was married to the king of Norway.	与玛格丽特结婚时，他的职业就成了角色并不分明的女王配偶——这是丹麦历史上第一次出现女王配偶，之前所有的君主都是男性，除了14世纪一位与挪威国王结婚的女王。
Without a title familiar to — and respected by — the public, Henrik has felt that his efforts to promote Denmark have gone unappreciated.	亨里克没有一个被公众所熟悉和尊重的头衔，他认为自己为宣传丹麦所做出的努力没有得到欣赏。
For at least seven years, Bjorn Norgaard, a sculptor, has been working on a glass sarcophagus carried by silver elephants that is designed to hold both the queen and the prince in Roskilde Cathedral after their deaths.	雕塑家比约恩·诺加德(Bjorn Norgaard)至少已经花了七年时间打造一尊由银质大象支撑着的玻璃棺。原本，待女王与亲王去世后，他们的遗体便会放在其中，在罗斯基勒大教堂下葬。
But now, the royal court said, when the time comes the queen will rest there alone.	但是现在王室称，当时间到了，女王会独自在这座玻璃棺中安眠。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170804/denmark-prince-henrik-burial	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170804/denmark-prince-henrik-burial

-wishes	-wishes
Fire Engulfs Tower in Dubai, One of the World's Tallest Buildings	迪拜 86 层摩天大楼“火炬塔”突发火灾
A fire erupted early Friday morning in Dubai in one of the world's tallest residential buildings, enveloping a side of the 86-story Torch Tower and spouting burning debris to the streets below.	周五凌晨，位于迪拜的世界最高住宅楼之一突发大火，迅速吞噬了 86 层高的“火炬塔”的一侧，不断有燃烧的碎片掉落到地面街道上。
The fire broke out around 1 a.m. in the 1,100-foot skyscraper in the northern end of the densely populated Marina district, and the flames stretched dozens of floors. Firefighters from four fire stations were deployed and helped all the residents evacuate, the Dubai Media Office said on Twitter. No one appeared to be injured.	这座 1100 英尺高的摩天大楼在大约凌晨 1 点起火。大楼位于人口密集的码头区北端，火势蔓延了数十层。迪拜媒体办公室(Dubai Media Office)在 Twitter 上称，当局派遣了来自四个消防站的消防员前去救火，并协助所有居民撤离。目前未有伤亡报告。
The fire was brought under control around 3:30 a.m., the authorities said.	当局表示，凌晨 3:30 左右，火情得到控制。
The fast-spreading blaze resembled a 2015 fire at the Torch Tower, when about 60 floors of the building became engulfed in flames. Investigators concluded that the tower's exterior cladding, made of aluminum panels with combustible plastic cores, helped accelerate the flames.	迅速蔓延的火势与 2015 年“火炬塔”发生的大火相似，当时大楼有约 60 层被大火吞噬。调查人员得出结论称，大楼的外墙由铝板制成，带有易燃的塑料芯，加速了火势蔓延。
Flammable cladding has contributed to at least three other towering infernos in recent years in Dubai, the most populated city in the United Arab Emirates. Dozens of giant apartment buildings and hotels have been erected there in the last two decades. On New Year's Eve in 2015, a fire started by an electrical short in the Address Hotel, a 63-story tower, quickly spread to consume the entire building.	在迪拜，近年来可燃外墙的覆层至少导致了另外三场大火。迪拜是阿拉伯联合酋长国人口最密集的城市。过去 20 年，有数十座巨型公寓楼和酒店大楼拔地而起。在 2015 年新年前夜，高 63 层的阿德瑞斯酒店(Address Hotel)因电路短路起火，火势迅速蔓延并吞噬了整栋大楼。
After that fire, the Dubai Civil Defense announced restrictions in 2016 on using exterior paneling on new construction, including forbidding it	那场大火过后，迪拜民防局(Dubai Civil Defense)在 2016 年对新建筑使用外墙板颁布了限制措施，包括禁止在九层以上的大楼使用外墙板。但是新规定

on towers taller than nine floors. But the new rules did not immediately apply to older buildings. About 70 percent of the high-rise buildings in the United Arab Emirates were constructed with the flammable panels, The National reported in 2012.	未立刻被应用到之前建的大楼。据迪拜《全国报(The National)》在 2012 年报道，阿联酋大约有 70%的高楼在建造时使用了可燃外墙板。
Flammable paneling played a major role in a fatal inferno in June at the Grenfell Tower in London, which killed at least 80 people. The United States has stricter restrictions on the use of this type of paneling.	易燃外墙板也是导致伦敦格伦费尔塔(Grenfell Tower)6 月的致命大火的主要原因，那场大火导致了至少 80 人死亡。美国对使用这种外墙壁板有更严格的限制。
https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170804/torch-tower-dubai-fire	https://cn.nytimes.com/world/20170804/torch-tower-dubai-fire